TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

OFF THE TRACKS — Twelve cars of the Chessie System railroad derailed between Northville and Plymouth Monday afternoon, causing railroad officials to spend approximately a full day righting the cars and repairing damage to the track. The derailment occurred near the viaduct near Northville Road and Five Mile. According to Chessie Superintendent Sam

Allison, four cars were seriously derailed while eight were only minor derailments. Allison said the cause of the derailment was still under investigation Tuesday. Northville Township Police were called to the scene to assist briefly in traffic control.

Millage vote set April 29 for schools

Although the Northville Board of Education still has not reached agreement on several projected budget outlays, it has set Saturday, April 29 as the date for a millage election.

But even the setting of the election date came hard.

Only after proponents pointed out that an election is needed to decide a 3-mill renewal issue were they able to persuade at least one member Monday that the election is needed.

Trustee James Lewis initially balked at setting the election before the board has reached a conclusion on how many additional mills will be needed.

"I'm not sure we have to move at this particular meeting, particularly since we have not yet finished our (budget) deliberations," Lewis argued.

Other board members, however, reminded Lewis that even if no additional millage were asked an election would be needed to let voters decide whether or not to renew 3 mills.

Superintendent Raymond Spear also argued that if the board did not establish a date now it might find other elections conflicting with the April 29 date.

The millage amount to be asked, Spear added, need not be decided for several more weeks.

The board finally voted 6-0 to set the date, with Board Treasurer Karen Wilkinson being absent.

Board members agree renewal of 3 mills that expire this year is essential. What they don't know yet, however, is how many additional mills may be needed. They've been treading water on this issue pending resolution of the differences between desired and realistic programs.

According to one estimate it would take 14.6 additional mills to close the gap but everyone concedes that such a tax increase is beyond reality.

Thus, last week and Monday and continuing tonight (Wednesday) the board has been trying to reach consensus on the level of programs that ought to be funded.

Of the two issues taken up Monday—extra curricular sports and the program for gifted children—only on the latter were board members able to agree and then only with some expressed reservations.

Concerning sports, the board agreed 5-1 (Lewis casting the negative opinion) that the program should be expanded to a tune of $15,000, primarily to equalize girls sports. Proposal to provide for a full-time athletic director was set aside.

Lewis' major objection to this outlay was that without knowing the direction the board might take later on some academic improvements he was not prepared to decide the sports issue.

"We're taking these one at a time and I'm trying to see how each fits into the total package," he said. "I would prefer not to commit dollars here until we've discussed the academic side (gifted program)."

Other board members agreed that equalization of girls sports is needed, but they disagreed over a full-time athletic director. Presently a high school assistant principal serves in this capacity; the district has not had an athletic director since the 1974-75 school year.

Board Vice-president Douglas A. Whitaker suggested leaving the athletic director a part-time post but adjusting his duties by farming out some of the responsibilities to others.

Added Lewis: "I appreciate the value (of an athletic director and equalization of girls sports) but I don't consider it my number one priority."

Board Secretary Christopher Johnson, on the other hand, strongly recommended the full-time directorship for the benefit of all students. "I think it is intelligent to have an athletic director," he said, "and not waste the intelligence of a principal."

Spear warned that equalization of girls sports will mean additional responsibilities for the present part-

Library proposal

New budget raises questions

It hasn't been formally discussed as yet but the proposed 1978-79 library budget already has raised some eyebrows.

The budget, which calls for a $13,258 increase, has been presented to both the city council and the township board.

At its meeting last week, the township board called for an immediate meeting of the joint financial committee of the board and council when its members expressed misgivings about the library proposal.

Nothing specific was mentioned by the board, although several members said it (budget) raised a number of questions that needed answering.

At the same time the township board learned from its representative on the recreation commission, James Nowka, that the recreation budget will be completed soon and it, too, will be ready for review by the finance committee.

At its meeting last week the council recognized that the new library budget might be disputed and it, too, suggested reactivation of the joint finance study committee.

Biggest change in the new library budget, which runs from April through March, is a substantial increase in capital outlay to be used primarily for enlarging the book stock and other library materials.

The budget suggests that $4,100 represented by rent savings, last year's amount of $5,500 for books, and an additional amount of $6,900 be used for new book purchases and replacements for a total outlay of $16,500. In addition, it suggests $1,000 be reserved for equipment.

The book outlay is included in the library's contribution to the Wayne-Oakland Federated Library System, which operates the local library. This contribution, less revenue credits, is shown as increasing from $44,411 to $59,653.

The budget calls for the township to pay 57.9 percent or $53,917 and the city 42.1 percent or $39,246.

This division is calculated on the basis that 45 percent of the library cost be shared equally, while 55 percent be shared on a state equalization basis. Thus, 45 percent of the cost is divided 22.5 percent for the city, 22.5 for the township; and for 55 percent the cost division is 19 percent for the city, 58.5 percent for the township.

Plans call for moving of the library from its present location in the lower level of the Northville Square shopping center to a new addition at the city hall by July of this year. It is the resulting savings ($4,100) in this anticipated rent reduction that would be used for book purchases.

The library has been located in the Square since July of 1975. Original annual rental rate was $14,000, but since June of 1977 the rent has been $18,000.

Thus, if the library move take place in July as planned, the library will owe $4,500 for Square rent (April-June), while utilities and janitorial services for the new library addition for the period July to March, 1979 will be $9,400.

Cost for Square rent and utility and janitorial costs in the new location, therefore, would total $13,900. The difference between this $13,900 cost and the present $18,000 annual Square rental would be used for book purchases.

It is estimated that a full year utility and janitorial charge in the new quarters would total an estimated $13,000. Thus, if the city and township should choose in future years to continue applying the difference between this cost and the present $18,000 rent budget, $5,000 would be available for book purchase.

No rental charge is to be made by the city for the new library, which the city plans to finance either by a bond issue or with grant monies and/or race track revenues.

Architectural plans for the addition are being prepared now. Those plans are to include, in addition to the library facility, suggested additions to the city police station and the fire station.

Car-truck crash

Two children killed here

A car-truck collision on slippery pavement claimed the lives of two young Northville sisters Saturday.

Lisa Bobek, age nine, and Lori Bobek, 11, were killed in the mishap which occurred on Eight Mile Road just east of the Northville city limits. Injured in the crash were another sister, 13-year-old Linda, and the girls' mother, Mrs. Clara Bobek.

Mrs. Bobek, 40, was listed in satisfactory condition Monday at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington, where Linda remained in serious condition. According to a hospital spokesman, both Linda and her mother required surgery following the accident.

The crash occurred in Novi Township, approximately 250 feet east of Old Novi Road.

The Bobeks apparently were on their way to Dearborn to pick up the girls' father, Kenneth, at his job when the accident occurred at approximately 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

According to Sergeant M. Gier of the Michigan State Police, Mrs. Bobek apparently lost control of her Ford L.T.D. and slid into the path of an oncoming pickup truck being driven by Edward Gourlay, 21, of Northville. Police said the Bobek car was struck on the passenger side, where both Lisa and

NEWS BRIEFS

BETTING at Northville Downs is averaging $383,500 through the first 18 nights of the current 84-night season. That's a whopping 27.1 percent increase over last year. Saturday night the mutual handle total was $603,188. The record betting for one night at the Downs was set during the fall Jackson-at-Northville meet — $687,000. Attendance is up 2.6 percent with an average of 2,760 fans nightly.

MORE THAN 90-percent of Northville Township's property taxes have been collected, Supervisor Wilson Grier reported last week. What's more, he said the township "is doing very well" in the collection of delinquent taxes. The township board has extended the deadline for payment of taxes to February 28, from February 14.

THE TOWNSHIP attorney has been directed to prepare a proposed business registration ordinance for consideration by the township board. Supervisor Wilson Grier recommended the ordinance last week, noting that the township is finding that some businesses have operated in the township without knowledge of township officials, thus escaping taxes. The ordinance probably would call for a registration fee of about $5.

CONVINCED that home fire detection devices can save lives, the township is looking into the possibility of purchasing large quantities of them for resale at near cost to township homeowners. Meanwhile, the board is considering the possibilty of an ordinance requiring fire detection devices in all older homes that are placed up for sale.

NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP'S 1978 assessment factor has been set at 1.74, Treasurer Richard Henningsen said last week. That means a 5.5 percent increase over last year's factor of 1.65. However, a spokesman with the county bureau of taxation emphasized that this is only a tentative rate and that it may be changed later. The new rate for the city has not yet been released by the county.

CONSTRUCTION of the new township hall complex is running about 52 days behind schedule, according to Supervisor Wilson Grier, who predicts the April completion date may be delayed until June or July.

HOWELL—A member of the Livingston County Board of Commissioners demanded that Sheriff Charles Hards resign in the wake of a Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) anti-pollution fine of $28,500 assessed against his department. The fine was for using leaded instead of unleaded gas in pumps.

BRIGHTON—Dr. Thomas Barton, former owner of The Brighton Argus, died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor at the age of 57.

SOUTH LYON—Stricter licensing regulations are written into the taxicab ordinance adopted unanimously by the city council here.

SOUTH LYON—You've heard the saying, "government is a thankless job." Apparently, it's a pretty true statement here where a survey indicates only five area residents out of 100 think the city mayor is a leader and only two out of 100 pegged the township supervisor as a leader. Both are political fixtures in local government. The superintendent of schools fared better, with 11 of 100 saying he was a leader. All told, 64 people out of 100 surveyed were unable to identify any community leaders at all.

SOUTH LYON—It's back to cat and mouse. Martin Brosnan, South Lyon High School principal, has closed the outdoor high school smoking area, and he knows this will drive smokers into the lavatories, back stairways and odd corners of the building. A state attorney general's ruling limited smoking in the designated area to those students 18 years old and older. But Brosnan said younger students were found loitering there also.

SOUTH LYON—Robert T. Moore has traded his South Lyon city council seat for some Florida sunshine. He resigned, effective Friday, and will move to Bonifay, Florida to take the position of general manager of a real estate development.

NEW HUDSON—Detroit Osteopathic Hospital Corporation has purchased an option on property here for the site of its proposed ambulatory care clinic. The 53-acre parcel is located on Milford Road just north of the New Hudson Cemetery on the west side of the street.

NOVI—The City of Novi could be facing another legal battle over its ongoing construction program of mile roads. Construction of a curb and gutter road has been tentatively approved for Nine Mile from Novi to Taft Road. However, a petition stating opposition was signed by 21 of the 31 landowners along the portion proposed to be paved.

NOVI—Providence Hospital's temporary medical facility on Meadowbrook just south of Ten Mile is now accepting its first patients. The facility will be replaced by a more complete ambulatory care complex that is expected to be constructed by the spring of 1979 at a cost of $4.1 million.

NOVI—The city has purchased a new $57,000 fire truck, with delivery expected within four months.

WALLED LAKE—Plans for a major addition to the Walled Lake commercial district, including a K-Mart store, have been revealed to the planning commission here. The 109,000 square foot project would include a 60,000 square foot K-Mart, a 37,800 square foot retail building and 3,500 square foot building to house a bank.

WALLED LAKE—Voters in the school district here will be asked to renew 10 mills for operating expenses for 10 years at a special election to be held Tuesday, March 21.

GOOD TIME WINE by Jim Roth

When you walk into a wine store, you may get very confused by the number of wines available. Basically, there are only four types of wine. Table wine is made from fermenting the juice of freshly squeezed grapes. Sparkling wines, like champagne, are made by adding bubbles to this basic formula. Fortified wines are made by adding brandy, and the last type, aromatic wines, get their special taste and aroma from herbs, roots, flowers, or spices. All true wines fall into one of these categories.

There's no need to be confused by the large choice of wines we stock at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. We're here to help with your selections and happy to be of service. For a delicious meal try lobsters. We have live lobsters in our own tanks and will explain how to cook and serve. Bring your children when you come here. They will enjoy seeing the live lobsters swimming in our tank. Open: 9 a.m.-10 p.m. Mon. thru Sat., Noon-6 p.m. Sun.

WINE WISDOM:
The best American wines are considered to be dry table wines.

Funds available for home work

A housing rehabilitation program has been launched in Northville Township that could mean up to $4,000 for each qualified household.

The program was set into motion upon receipt of $42,000 of federal funds by the township for this purpose.

Donald Riffenburg has been designated as the township's housing coordinator for the program.

According to an information letter prepared by Riffenburg, only residents who own and live in their homes in one of the designated areas are eligible. This includes those residents buying their homes on land contracts or mortgages.

The target area is roughly bordered by Northville Road on the west, Haggerty Road on the east, Five Mile Road on the south, and Six Mile Road on the north. The area excludes Northville Commons and Northville Colony subdivisions.

Applications are being taken by Riffenburg at the township hall.

If after investigation, which will include an inspection of the house, it is found that the householder qualifies, he may be awarded up to $4,000 to cover the cost of repairs or improvements.

Generally, the work must be aimed at bringing the house up to township codes. These may include wiring, roof repairs, repairs or improvement of heating systems, etc.

"The purpose of the program," explained Riffenburg, "is to provide an opportunity for home improvements to people who cannot otherwise meet minimum housing standards and it is hoped that senior citizens and others on limited, fixed incomes will take advantage of this opportunity."

Property owners, he said, may add their own monies to those federal monies received to cover repairs that exceed $4,000.

Here are the family sizes and incomes to qualify:

Family of one with a maximum income of $10,200; family of two with a maximum of $11,700; three, maximum $13,100; four, maximum, $14,600; five, maximum $15,500; six, maximum $16,400; seven, maximum $17,300; and eight and more, maximum $18,200.

No funds, according to Riffenburg, will be given for work on homes that require only very minor repairs. Homes must need some work to meet the current housing code, he said. "There must be actual violations of the code."

According to the housing coordinator, inspections of homes will occur only after it appears that an applicant qualifies. An inspector from the township building department and Riffenburg will schedule an appointment for the inspection.

Grants need not be repaid. However, Riffenburg pointed out a lien "will be signed on the property for the amount of the grant."

A list of contracts will be prepared by the housing department, and from these bids will be received by the township. The "lowest and best" bids will be accepted by the township, but should a householder desire a different contractor than the one chosen he must pay the difference out of his own funds, he explained.

According to Supervisor Wilson Grier, Northville Township was one of several Wayne County communities to receive federal funds for this purpose. Application for the grant was made last summer.

He's nominated for A.F. academy

Northville High School announced the nomination of William Winters and Julie Millen to the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland; Gregory Harper to the Military Academy at West Point, New York; and John Pirog to the Air Force Academy.

Horwath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Horwath of 1016 Jeffrey Drive, will compete for a vacancy at the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Earlier, Broomfield (R-Birmingham) had

All except Pirog, who is from Novi, come from Northville.

Under the competitive appointment system used by Broomfield, final appointments will be made by selection board at the academies.

Girl Scouts entertain parents, post sponsor

When fourth, fifth and sixth grade girls in Highland Lakes-King's Mill Girl Scout Troop 737 invited parents to their badge award ceremony last Monday night at Silver Springs School, they also prepared a dinner.

Before the official awarding of badges by Lieutenant William Tomczyk of the Michigan State Police Northville Post, the girls and their parents enjoyed a buffet spaghetti dinner.

As part of their fulfillment of a merit badge the Girl Scouts had sent out invitations to their parents earlier and had rehearsed the candlelight ceremony, Leader Karen Moffatt reports.

A certificate of recognition was presented to Lieutenant Tomczyk for the post, which sponsors the troop, by Lynn Bills and Jackie Nichols.

Other members of the troop of 17 are Molly Weisenberger, Richelle Harrington, Jennifer Curtice, Kathy Ludwick, Jana Hadous, Sarah Stock, Ann Werthheimer, Kim Austin, Shelly Hadous, Kelley Moffatt, Jackie Nichols, Andrea Nader, Jani Mendola, Lee Schwope, and Lisa Newmyer.

City planners reject incomplete applications

After returning two site plan approval petitions to applicants for additional information, Northville City Planning Commission last Tuesday sought ways for applicants to be better informed when picking up applications at city hall.

Application of Vern Bodker, 630 Baseline, to build a storage shed on an existing foundation was returned for complete details of planned building and landscaping.

Bodker said he wanted to build a frame building on a foundation at the old lumberyard adjacent to the cider mill, both of which have been burned out. In the spring, he explained, he wants to build a 6,000 square foot building to be rented.

Application of Richard Flajole to change from residential use to a real estate office of property at 402 South Main at the southwest corner of Johnson, zoned for business, was returned as the plan did not meet scale size and did not conform to parking regulations.

Flajole said he plans to use the house as Homestead Realty office without making changes in the structure.

The commission asked its planner, Ronald Nino, to meet with city hall employees handling applications to see if they can inform applicants on regulations. It was suggested that sample applications be made available for examination.

List December fire costs

December expenses for the Northville Township Fire Department totalled $2,876.79, according to a report submitted to the township board last week.

Here's how Fire Chief Robert H. Toms listed that expense:

Fire fighting, men, 1,086; fire fighting, officers, $237.60; arson aid for police department, $36; chief's salary, $1,115.38; J. M. Harris (NFA books), $183.63; communications service, $57.15; Boron Oil, $16.67; Michigan Bell, $31.86; and communication service, $112.50.

Toms said nine fires occurred in the township during the month. Costs ranged from a high of $645.60 at the Parmenter's Cider Mill fire to a low of $61.20 for a kitchen fire at 42237 Westmeath.

Former Mayor Allen tapped to head EDC

A. Malcolm Allen, former Northville mayor, was elected president of the Northville Area Economic Development Corporation at the annual EDC meeting last week.

Other officers of the corporation are: William Miron, vice-president; Steven Walters, secretary; and William Milne, treasurer.

Directors include: John Carlo, term expires 1979, Milne (1979), Wes Henrikson (1979), Wilson Grier (1980), James Lewis (1980), and Bruce Turnbull (1980).

Officers of the EDC committee are: Miron, chairman; Allen, vice-chairman; and Walters, secretary.

The corporation is the financial arm of the EDC, while the committee is the working organization that develops and superintends EDC projects.

The Northville Area Economic Development Corporation should not be confused with the new EDC recently established by the city. The latter group, like a similar one in the township, was established, for specific projects within the municipality it serves. The corporation headed by Allen is an old organization, whose interests in encouraging development and expansion of business and industrial activities throughout the Northville School District.

A letter of resignation from John Canterbury was accepted with regret, and the corporation voted to present him with an appropriate recognition plaque. Canterbury, who was the driving force behind the creation of the EDC and has been instrumental in its activities over the years, plans to move from Northville.

Mothers' March area chairman Shirley Millard checks out with Postmaster John Steimel

Obesity program

Area mothers

They're peeling off fat begin March this week

What is it like to weigh 400, 600, or 800 pounds? "My greatest goal is to be weighed on an ordinary bathroom scale," says Douglas (not his real name), a patient in the obesity program at The University of Michigan Hospital.

"Dr. Schteingart (David E. Schteingart, head of the program), told me I'll be fighting the problems of obesity all my life."

Doug, along with four other patients, is undergoing a drastic weight reduction program in a semi-inpatient setting for the extremely obese.

When Doug has lost 100 pounds, he will be able to cook his own meals. When he has lost weight down to an employable 250 pounds, he will rejoin his wife and children. Doug has 200 pounds to go to reach his goal.

"It's hard," says Doug, "to leave your family and come to live here. At first I kept thinking, I owe them I owe them. Now I know that I only owe this year to myself. I'm taking this one year out of my life and I'm hoping to add 15 or 20 years to the end."

The obesity patients, many of whom are on disability payments because of their weight, are treated at the U-M by an interdisciplinary team of doctors, social workers, dietitians, occupational therapists, exercise physiologists, and others. The program is part of the Clinical Research Unit, a federally funded research setting for patients.

When patients first arrive, they stay in the hospital and go on a fast for a few days. Others are put on a maintenance diet for the first 20 days to determine how many calories it takes to maintain their weight.

For Mike, it was 3,800

For the next seven days mothers will be ringing doorbells throughout the Northville community to aid the March of Dimes goal — "for every pregnancy there is a healthy mother and a healthy baby."

Six chairmen this year are working directly with Northville March of Dimes chairman John Steimel, Northville postmaster.

Neighborhood captains and marchers will have information kits describing the continuing fight against birth defects.

The Mothers' March officially began Tuesday throughout the Metropolitan Detroit area and will continue through January 31 with all local collections to be returned to the Northville post office by February 1.

Chairmen working with Steimel and their areas are Mrs. Marian E. Suckow, 917 Novi Street; Mrs. Shirley Millard, 49041 Ridge Court; Mrs. Charlene Frellick, 20219 Woodhill; Mrs. Ann Tsoucaris, 18945 Edenderry; Mrs. Trudy Austin, 41369 Leidel Court; and Mrs. Mary Williams, 41537 Sunnydale.

In announcing the 1978 Mothers' March, Eleanor M. Price, Metropolitan Detroit community director, explains that the March of Dimes strives to meet its goal of healthy mother and baby "through educational programs on nutrition and research to protect the unborn and the newborn."

Yagiela receives award

Dale F. Yagiela of Northville Township has been presented the Distinguished Service Award by the Plymouth Jaycees.

The award was presented Friday night at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth where Lieutenant Governor James J. Damman was the guest speaker.

Twenty-eight-year-old Yagiela lives with his wife, Elaine, and their five month old daughter, Heather, at 19524 Fry Road.

He is employed as director of the Youth Center activities of Growth Works, Inc., a non-profit Plymouth community organization.

Nomination of Yagiela was made by the Reverend Father Kenneth MacKinnon, pastor of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church; by David Smith, a Southfield attorney; and by Gary E. Hall, D.D.S. of Plymouth.

In his letter of nomination, which was reflected in words of praise at the presentation Friday, Smith wrote in part:

"Dale's whole life is dedicated to helping the young people of the Plymouth community to find direction in their lives and thereby become a positive asset to our community and society in general."

"Dale has worked extremely long hours, upwards of 13 hours per day, throughout his six years as director of the Youth Center, and his dedication goes well beyond the requirements of the job."

He has received extremely low pay throughout that period of time for a person with his abilities and education. Dale holds a bachelor's degree in political science, a teaching certificate and is presently nearing completion of his master's degree in education and community development. He was employed as a teacher prior to his becoming director of the Youth Center.

"For the first year of his employment at the Youth Center, he worked for the community without any pay whatsoever. From that time forward, his salary was set at minimum teacher salary of approximately $8,000 per year. However, because of the organization's lack of the necessary funds to meet all of its obligations, he has received substantially less than this small salary in most years."

"Dale has been instrumental in obtaining philanthropic and governmental funds for the betterment of the Plymouth community. Primarily through his efforts, the Growth Works organization obtained a $64,000 grant from the Archdiocesan Campaign for Human Development Fund."

DALE YAGIELA

"Working with the City of Plymouth administration, Dale has assisted in obtaining a $42,000 federal grant for renovation of the Youth Center building...."

"Dale is presently working with the Plymouth school system in an effort to obtain a substantial federal grant to provide job training for young people in the Plymouth community. He spends many hours of his free time working on this project. This is another example of his concern for the human needs of the individuals in our community."

Board sets April 29 election time AD, who will have little or no time for non-AD work.

Citizen Larry VanderMolen reminded the board that earlier in the meeting it had discussed hiring a firm to study the administrative organization to better utilize such personnel. "Shouldn't you wait for that study before talking about more jobs?" he asked.

Concerning that study, the board tabled the subject because it was unable to agree on the firm to hire.

The $15,000 for sports that five of the six members agreed upon would provide, among others, for the addition of girls' varsity golf, girls varsity cross-country, junior varsity softball, one additional swim coach at each junior high, varsity soccer for boys at the high school, and continuation of full ninth grade volleyball and basketball for junior high girls.

It was the funding of the gifted children program where most board discussion and divergent opinions center — even though members finally reached a consensus.

Total recommended funding was pegged at $45,000, but the board agreed to cut this figure back to $10,000.

Presently, the program is unfunded locally. It operates currently with federal funds ($17,500) which is expected to be continued for another year but at a lesser amount (perhaps $10,500 to $12,000).

By adding $10,000 of local monies to federal monies, board members are hopeful the program can be expanded to the junior high level (it is presently limited to the elementary level), provide for planning to pinpoint gifted children needs at the high school, and to provide for in-service training of teachers.

Relative to expansion to the junior high level, Director of Instruction Nancy Soper said the cost for such an expansion has been pegged at $13,000.

Secretary Johnson argued strongly for local funding of the program at the recommended $45,000 level. The district, he said, cannot rely upon federal monies.

Trustee Charles Peltz, however, said he could not vote to extend the program to the high school level until the kinds of needs have been defined. "I'm inclined to feel we can deal with talented high school kids under the existing program. I just don't know what we would do with the additional money (at the high school level)."

Although Lewis opined that the recommended $45,000 outlay was unrealistically high, he took the position that the gift children program should provide for the entire K-12 program. Nevertheless, when other members and Spear suggested the $10,000 would provide some planning monies for expansion of the program to the high school and for in-service training, he appeared to support the $10,000 outlay.

Pointing out that much of the program's success at the elementary level is reflected by volunteer work of parents and interested volunteer citizens, Trustee Marjorie Sliger said it is time the district begins putting some of its own money into the program.

Help is needed, she asserted, and the returns "are tremendous. I feel we should at least fund to $10,000."

Mrs. Sliger said, "It would be ideal if we could afford $45,000, but in view of the total package, I'm not sure we can ask for more than $10,000."

Referring to the volunteers, Mrs. Soper said they are fast becoming frustrated because, despite the program's success, the district has not been inclined to support it.

Lewis took the position that with some in-service training of existing personnel the program could fly without additional paraprofessionals.

Citizen Joseph Fiorilli was angered by the board's reluctance to fund the program by at least $45,000.

"This is the ultimate purpose of education," he said. "Education of the gifted child should be your number one priority. Leadership (in society) comes out of gift children. If it costs a million dollars, who cares... it ought to be in there."

Such education, he asserted, demands a commitment of teachers and the community. He suggested that one way to minimize cost might be to use money to send (secondary) students to Schoolcraft College.

Fiorilli later ripped the board for underestimating its income in developing the budget.

Specifically, he said the estimated state equalized valuation should be eight percent, not six percent. In addition, he contended the board has not accurately projected additional income that will result from new housing developments, and he scored the board for not considering a reduction in the number of administrators as a means of saving money.

"This (financial) burden cannot be placed solely on students and parents. Administrators must share the burden."

Thousands of dollars could be saved, he said, if the board utilized Schoolcraft College instead of adding teachers and/or funding programs locally. He contended paying a student's tuition at Schoolcraft for certain programs would be less costly than adding personnel locally.

Furthermore, Fiorilli suggested the board consider changing the school year so that it runs from March 1 to December 31, thus saving on utilities.

This board, he charged, simply is not looking for innovative ways of saving money and maximizing its available resources.

He also attacked the newspaper for misleading the public. "Its reporting (on current budgeting matters before the board) is not objective. It is a house organ for the board because the wife of the editor sits on the board."

C. D. Sparling marks 83rd

Clarence D. Sparling of 43753 Galloway, a Northville resident since 1970, is marking his 83rd birthday today. (Wednesday).

He was founder and first president of the C. D. Sparling Company, manufacturers of hospital equipment. The firm now is located in Plymouth.

Mr. Sparling is a veteran of World War I and a life member in the Masonic Blue Lodge and the Knights Templar, Detroit No. 1, and also the Moslem Shrine of Detroit.

Promoted

Several officers from the Northville Post of the Michigan State Police have received promotions or citations recently.

Two laboratory officers at Northville have been promoted to the rank of Specialist IV (Lieutenant). They are Marvin H. Bendickson, in firearms, and Chester S. Romatowski, polygraph.

Bendickson is 35. Romatowski is 42.

Six officers received citations this month. They included Detective Sergeant Joseph Krease, Lab Specialists Donald Plautz, James Hauncher and John Schoonover, and Troopers John McAllen and Ronald Schuster.

In addition, one area citizen, David Leammis, was cited by the State Police for good citizenship.

Cost versus projected income

School board members have been meeting much of January to determine the cost of restoring programs recommended by administrators, teachers, citizens and themselves.

The total cost of the wide ranging, 17-item package was pegged at $2.5 million, more than present taxes will provide. A figure far beyond both legal and practical limits for additional taxes.

Beginning last Wednesday (and continuing with another budget study session tonight), the board has been struggling to pare the requests down to size.

It hasn't been easy. Last week, the board agreed to include the following in a bid for a tax hike:

$70,000 for additional textbooks, $25,000 to start an elementary band program, $42,000 of offer six class hours a day in the high school, $10,500 for exterior and interior painting, $2500 for a new crossing guard, and $5000 to begin studying competency based testing.

Some other areas were left out with the most notable being the reopening of the Main Street School for about 200 to 250 elementary students.

Although some board members still support the idea of using the school for classroom purposes, the cost of $100,000 to $190,000 was seen as too expensive since the district has adequate space elsewhere.

A state mandated lunch program will begin next year, but the board declined to allocate money for it.

"There has to be a point where a board has to take a stand and say (to the state), 'Look, we don't want you mandating how we spend our educational dollars.' I say that point is now," said Trustee Marjorie Sliger.

Several areas, though, are still open for debate.

Capital outlay, for instance, has been severely neglected in past years. The total request for capital purchases for next year is a staggering $1.1 million.

Spear recommended that the figure be reduced to an admittedly insufficient $200,000. Several board members — mindful of the criticism last year when the high school fell into disrepair — questioned if that were enough.

This year, Trustee Charles Peltz reminded, the district had the use of $400,000 in residual bond money that won't be available next year.

Other areas still open for debate are vocational education, extracurricular activities, salary adjustments for non-union employees, programs for gifted and talented students, and recommendations from staff and the North Central study.

Some board members also worried about the enrollment projections used to estimate next year's revenue. Trustee James Lewis called it a form of "Russian Roulette."

Spear is projecting an enrollment of 4300 next year even though student population has dropped from 4472 in 1975 to 4219 this year.

Since this year's senior class is about 120 students larger than the kindergarten class, it will take about 200 additional students moving into the district by the end of September for the district to hit the 4300 mark.

The figure is crucial since the state school aid formula provides $1400 for each student.

If, as Spear pointed out Wednesday, the enrollment is 4259 next year, revenue projections will be shy by $70,000 even though enrollment has increased by 31.

Spear's optimism is based on his talks with area builders who are constructing large subdivisions in Northville Township and the Novi City portion of the school district.

The key question is how many of these homes can be built, sold and occupied before the fourth Friday in September when the official school population is computed.

This is not a new problem for Northville. One of four major reasons for previous cutbacks has been incorrect enrollment projections, according to Spear.

The others, he said, were three state aid cuts by the governor in seven years, millage defeats and poor budget management in the 1974-75 school year which caused a deficit.

Hearing set on South Center CBD zoning request

A public hearing has been scheduled for 8 p.m. February 21 on the petition of Steve Folino to rezone property on South Center across from the race track from residential (R-2) to Central Business District (CBD) commercial.

The hearing was set by the city planning commission after Folino presented signatures of residents of the property from Fairbrook to the city parking lot, encompassing lots 215 to 222 with a sole objector.

Dorothy Busch, owner of lot 222 at 280 South Center at Fairbrook, did not agree to the rezoning petition.

Folino first appeared before the commission in December requesting rezoning of lots 219 and 220 of Northville Plat No. 3, which, he said, are owned by his mother who now lives with him. He told the commissioners that he has had the house listed twice and has not been able to sell it as residential because of its location across from the track.

At the December meeting Folino was advised to seek signatures of neighboring homeowners as rezoning of the entire section "would be received more favorably" than would an individual application, looked upon as "spot" zoning.

Folino asked the commission to explain the difference between CBD and General Commercial District (GCD) zoning.

City planning consultant Ronald Nino said the CBD is a "more restrictive" commercial zoning and appropriate to this request as the property joins CBD zoning.

With adjacent Wing Street now being extended at its south end the commission questioned whether rezoning should be considered for that section also. Nino stated he "questions if the Wing Street extension will be much used" and felt that this would not be the basis for a property zoning change.

He said he would be more likely to recommend professional office (PBO) zoning for the area, pointing out that this zoning "usually gets a better finish architecturally."

Rather than creating more commercial, Nino suggested to the commission, it might be good to get more people in residential property to support the business area which he said, has a 65 percent vacancy right now. (Northville Square).

The commission continued its discussion of Nino's comments on site plan approval made January 3.

Nino contended that the commission should "not be involved in purely architectural changes."

He said, "It doesn't make sense that both the historical commission and the planning commission look at architecture."

"The commission should be responsible for bulk and scale but not for English Tudor or other design."

Commission chairman C. Thomas Wheaton repeated his feeling that there should be involvement with architecture, saying "We live here, and someday some years from now, someone will say, 'Why did you let that happen?'"

Nino said that within Old Northville the commission has authority "with state law behind it."

Wheaton said he feels the commission has an obligation to "have compatibility with the surrounding community."

Charles Freydl agreed, saying the commission has had success in suggesting to applicants that revisions be compatible with existing architecture.

It was agreed that the commission was to study its previous recommendations to the city council to be prepared for further discussion later.

Board approves Reef rezoning

Rezoning of the Jan Reef property on Eight Mile Road near Meadowbrook Country Club zipped through without a ripple last week.

Accepting the recommendation of the planning commission, the Northville Township Board raised only one question as they unanimously approved changing the zoning of nearly 42 acres from R-1 to R-2 to permit denser development.

Siegal-Tuomaala Associates plans to develop 65 single family homes on the site.

As per recommendation of the planning commission, a covenant in the deed will provide that eight or nine acres of the property be left as open space to be developed by the subdivision association.

On hand for the board's action last week Tuesday was Reef and his attorney, Philip Ogilvie.

Although initially the proposed rezoning drew strong objection from surrounding property owners, none spoke up when the planning commission made its recommendation in December and none appeared to object at last week's board meeting.

In response to a question by Trustee James Nowka, Ogilvie assured the board that the restriction written in the deed, setting aside eight or nine acres for open space, is legally binding.

The attorney explained that the "eight or nine" stipulation was not pinned down more definitely because approval of other agencies, such as Wayne County, may require minor adjustments in the plans.

He said there definitely will be "at least eight" acres of open space, possibly nine. Plans remain firm that the development will contain only 65 homes, he said.

It was the planning commission's concern that the R-2 zoning would permit a maximum of 86 homes that led to the suggestion of the deed restriction. The restriction, which sets aside acreage for open space, effectively limits construction to 65 homes.

Perhaps the most significant conclusion to come out of the planners' discussion was a consensus that the township's R-1 zoning is no longer viable in view of housing development economics. Only a few township parcels, including Meadowbrook Country Club, remain in this classification. The lot sizes represented by this classification are seen as too large to expect development given today's cost of land and housing, planners and the commission's consultant, George Vilican, observed.

Although planners came up with no specific recommendation relative to R-1 zoning, it is expected that this subject will be taken up later with possible action to eliminate R-1 zoning in the township.

Eight Mile property sale announced

A plan for a subdivision of single family homes is expected to be presented to the Northville Township Planning Commission for some 60 acres of land west of the First United Methodist Church.

According to Supervisor Wilson Grier, the property has been sold by the Salvation Army to Angelo Spagnoli, a Plymouth township area developer and builder.

Grier said Spagnoli has not discussed specifics with him, but has indicated he plans a single family residential subdivision in concurrence with existing zoning.

Presently zoned R-2, the classification means homes built on a minimum of 110-foot lots.

The property fronts on Eight Mile Road, runs south to Woodhill, and east to the city limits.

One of a kind

The 19 chandeliers in the state capitol building in Lansing are "one of a kind" — designed especially for the building by Tiffany's of New York. Weighing between 800-900 pounds apiece and composed of Upper Peninsula copper, iron and pewter, they can be seen by visitors to the Capitol Building on one of the approximately 16 tours offered per day, seven days a week, according to the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce.

Police Blotter

Two sentenced for township crimes

Two men convicted of crimes in Northville Township were sentenced last week.

Thomas Slusarczyk, 25, of Detroit, was sentenced to a minimum of 5½ years in Jackson Prison in connection with the assault of a Department of Natural Resources officer in Highland Lakes last summer.

Slusarczyk, convicted of the charges by a jury in December, got two years without possibility of parole for committing a felony with a firearm. Under terms of a new Michigan law, such a sentence is mandatory in felony cases involving firearms.

Slusarczyk was also sentenced to from 3½ to 10 years for assault with intent to commit great bodily harm less than murder. He was sentenced by Judge Joseph Moynihan in Wayne County Circuit Court, where he had earlier been found innocent on a related charge of unarmed robbery.

Slusarczyk and another man jumped DNR conservation Officer Michael Hanson last June when Hanson attempted to ticket the two men and two women for littering near Lake Success.

The second assailant has never been identified.

Hanson said the two men jumped him, punched him, stabbed him with a sharp object and held him at gunpoint with his own .38 snub-nosed revolver. Hanson said he had been walking his dog when he saw the men and women throwing wine and liquor bottles into the lake. Hanson did not require hospital care for his injuries.

In another case in Wayne County Circuit Court last week, Judge James E. Mies sentenced Joseph M. Place, 18, of Redford, to two years on probation for the theft of a computerized, electronic scale from the Federal Mogul Corporation last October 17.

Place was also assessed $330 in court costs.

The young Redford man was convicted of stealing the scale from Federal Mogul, 17000 Northville Road, and transporting it to a home in Detroit, where police speculated, it was to be used by drug dealers in measuring their wares in grams.

Through the combined efforts of police from Northville Township and Redford, the scales were recovered without any apparent damage approximately 10 hours after they were stolen.

Last week, meanwhile, was a relatively quiet one for township police, although they were called to investigate one breaking and entering and two larcenies from autos.

Someone apparently worked a door loose to gain entry to Papa Geppeto's Restaurant in the Northville Plaza shopping center on Seven Mile Road. Between January 13 and 17, the thieves got away with a stereo system, microwave oven, several sets of scales and two containers of wine.

Two township residents went to their cars last week only to discover that they no longer had hubcaps. A set of hubcaps valued at $120 was stolen from the driveway of 16495 Old Bedrod while a set worth $100 was lifted from a parking lot at 15670 Northville Forest Drive.

In city...

City police also investigated the theft of a set of hubcaps last week. These caps, worth an estimated $158, were stolen from 128 Walnut Street.

A British subject and his wife were arraigned last week in district court for charges of violation of the controlled substances act.

Victor Nicholas Szczepanski and his wife, Mary Fay, pleaded not guilty to the charges. Szczepanski was freed on $3,000 personal bond while his wife was freed on $1,000 personal bond. They are scheduled to appear in court to face the charges February 2.

The Szczepanskis were arrested by state police January 15 after police said they had found nearly 10 pounds of marijuana in their home.

They're peeling off fat

calories. For Joanne, it was 3,200.

"I was absolutely stuffed," says Joanne. "They give you all this food and you have to eat it by midnight. One night they walked in with my nine o'clock snack, and I was still trying to work on ice cream, cake, strawberries, potato chips and bread and butter from supper." When Joanne's nine-year-old niece found out all that Joanne was eating, she said: "Come home, Auntie, them guys are dumb."

"Now I'm being educated as to how many calories things have," Joanne says. "Before I would eat tons of fried potatoes saturated in butter. Now I could tell you how to fry liver in Teflon pans and it's good. Liver has only 40 calories per ounce, you know."

The regimented life style is "hard to swallow," says one patient. But they are here to lose and they have seen others win and lose. A former patient is mentioned in hushed tone. She went from over 300 pounds to 180. She stayed there eight days and then ate her way up 50 pounds very rapidly. According to the others, she found out she was not Raquel Welch and started the weight gain.

Doug says that at times he is ready to pack his bags, although he is not hungry and he has lost 60 pounds in five weeks. Starvation tends to suppress appetite. On 400 calories a day of hospital food, his body is in a state of ketosis. That means the body is using its own stores of fat to live. He uses a ketostick three times a day in his urine. When it turns bright purple, it is a sign the fat is on the way out.

It is an enormous adjustment, say the patients, to get used to yourself as a thinner person. Mike says that the only way he can really tell is when he catches a glance of himself in the mirror. He literally jumps with surprise. Ellen, another patient with only 60 pounds to go, says one day she saw her reflection in a window and cried out thinking that someone was following her too closely. She laughed with glee when she found out it was she.

OBITUARIES

MARY ELLEN WHITE

Service for Mary Ellen White, 75, of 41743 Onaway Drive, was held at 10 a.m. last Friday at Our Lady of Victory Church with Father Gerard Hadad officiating. Interment was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery in Detroit.

Rosary was held January 19 at Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated.

Miss White was a member of OLV and of the Northville Senior Citizens Club. She came to the area four years ago from Detroit.

She died January 17 at Botsford General Hospital after an illness of several years.

Miss White leaves four sisters, Sister Waneta White, IHM; Elizabeth White of Novi; Lucille Wilson of Bartlett, Illinois; Loretta Novickas of Birmingham, Michigan.

She was born April 12, 1902, in Detroit to David and Elizabeth (Peace) White.

MARGARET HOWE

Margaret Rose Howe, 67, of 102 South Rogers, who moved to Northville from Walled Lake in 1970, died January 18 at Botsford General Hospital after an illness of several years.

The Reverend Guenther C. Branstner of Northville First United Methodist Church officiated at the service at 11 a.m. Saturday at Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated. Interment was in Walled Lake Cemetery.

Mrs. Howe was the mother of Michael Howe of Northville and the sister of Carl and Pat Rowland of Kentucky and of William Rowland of Tennessee; and the grandmother of one.

She was born March 24, 1910, in Murray, Kentucky, to William and Maddie (Farris) Rowland. She was preceded in death by her husband Emmette in 1957.

GEORGE T. YOUNG

Funeral services were held for George Thomson Young, 86, of 905 Spring Drive, at 1 p.m. last Thursday at Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated. The Reverend Lloyd Brasure of First Presbyterian Church, where he was a member, officiated. Interment was in Acacia Park Cemetery in Birmingham.

Mr. Young died January 17 at his home after a year's illness.

A Northville resident since 1961, he was retired district manager of Raybestos Manhattan, Incorporated, of Detroit.

He was a World War I veteran, a 50-year Shriner in Oriental Lodge No. 240, F & AM of Detroit, a life member of Meadowbrook Country Club and Detroit Athletic Club.

He was born February 24, 1891, in Glasgow, Scotland, to Robert and Mary (Newton) Young. He was married to Rita Young who survives.

He also leaves a son, Dr. Richard Young of Farmington Hills, grandchildren, Thomas C. Young of Romulus and Mrs. Patricia Lapham of Farmington; a great-grandson, Mathew Patrick Lapham.

JEAN E. GERISCH

Services for Mrs. Jean E. Gerisch, 59, of Novi were held Saturday at the Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home at 22401 Grand River with the Reverend V. F. Halboth officiating. Interment was in Acacia Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Gerisch, a homemaker, moved to the community five years ago. She was a member of Grace Lutheran Church in Redford.

She died January 18 at home after a long illness.

She was born April 25, 1918, in Ohio to John and Frances (Caldwell) Goldsworthy.

She leaves her husband, Albert; daughters, Mrs. George (Frances) Phelps, Carol and Patricia.

ELLEN GILLAN

Funeral services were held Sunday for Mrs. Ellen Gillan, 78, of 855 East Commerce Road in Milford at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home with the Reverend Henry P. Stenner officiating. Interment was in Oakview Cemetery in Royal Oak.

Mrs. Gillan, a member of the Milford Presbyterian Church, died at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak January 19.

She was born October 15, 1899, in Scotland to Samuel and Agnes (Muir) Quig.

She leaves her husband, James B.; a daughter, Mrs. Michael (Leslie) Nave of Milford; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Leslie and Mrs. Catherine Wood of Ontario; and two grandchildren.

Car makers don't build the rustproof car and no car dealer can deliver the real rustproofing you get with the exclusive Ziebart process.

Don't be misled by some sweeping references to "anti-corrosion methods" used in building some 1977 cars. Real rustproofing must be done after the car is built. And it must cover every critical area inside and under the car. That's the proven Ziebart method. There are no shortcuts. That's why your Ziebart Dealer uses nine different patented spray tools to reach rust-prone areas. That's why he uses a rustproofing sealant that actually penetrates welded seams where rust can start. Your Ziebart Dealer can deliver a rustproofed 1977 car because that's his business—and he knows it. Call him.

Speaking for The Record

It's political featherbedding

We've never liked featherbedding by unions, and we're equally displeased when politicians play their own game of featherbedding by creating unnecessary jobs for themselves or their friends at the expense of taxpayers.

That's why this newspaper isn't cheering over the Wayne County Board of Commissioners' decision to appoint a couple of its members to salaried executive positions at the top of the county's department of public works.

Public works has been removed from the road commission — a move we applaud because the road commission already is weighted down with a variety of non-road responsibilities, not the least of which is operation of Metro Airport.

With this change the board of commissioners placed public works, whose responsibility would include the proposed Super Sewer in Western Wayne County, under a special DPW board made up of commissioners. While the make-up of this DPW board has upset some suburban communities, its purpose is not questioned.

It is the next step that concerns us.

The commission now has created two top level public works directorships, and these high-paying jobs are to go to two commissioners, one of whom is Royce Smith, whose district includes a portion of Northville Township. These two administrative posts would answer to the public works board — former commissioners answering to commissioners.

County commissioners try to justify Smith's appointment by suggesting it will placate suburban communities who dislike the public works board make-up. For some reason, the simpler and far less expensive alternative escapes them — namely, appointing one or two out-county commissioners to the public works board.

While we have nothing against Commissioner Smith, who appears to be representing his district well, we don't think he or any other commissioner should be given an executive's job in the DPW. Nor do we think the job itself is necessary.

Specifically, we dislike the creation of another executive level where none is needed. Commissioners Smith and Chester Wozniak would be inserted into $35,000 and $30,000 chairmanship jobs, respectively, reigning over the present professional manager, who incidentally will be paid in excess of $40,000 annually for running the DPW.

Public works has an ample number of very qualified, experienced professionals on its staff to direct and operate the department. They can report and be responsible to the already-established DPW board of commissioners.

Smith and Wozniak were elected to the commission posts they sought at $16,000 per year. Doubling their salaries and then naming two (non-elected) commissioners to their old positions could hardly be described as electorate responsiveness.

Plain and simple, it's political featherbedding.

VFW rezoning

Residential property owners in the "Bealtown" or southeastern section of the city will be displeased to learn that the city council is taking another look at the rezoning petition of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

But we believe that re-examination of this very controversial issue is deserving.

The planning commission, after much study, recommended some time ago that the rezoning be denied. VFW officials have now carried their request to council, which must make the final decision.

A council study session on the matter has been scheduled and, very likely, another public hearing — this one conducted by council — will follow.

The issue pits homeowners, who fear a zoning change will adversely affect their property values and destroy the residential character of their neighborhood, against a long-existing organization which seeks to provide at its own expense additional parking for its members and guests.

Specifically, the VFW wants to rezone two house lots behind the post to permit additional parking in the backyards of these two houses. The post faces South Main, the two house lots face Yerkes Street.

The houses, located on the lots in question, are owned by the VFW and are slated to remain.

While we agree with homeowners who say the VFW erred badly by purchasing and developing the parking lot property before gaining the necessary zoning and permit, we do not agree that the VFW is the ogre that some have painted it.

As a matter of fact, we're pleased that the VFW sees fit to at least try to solve a parking problem that has taxed the patience of neighbors and city officials. It could, after all, simply do nothing and let the parking problem become an even greater neighborhood nuisance and a community traffic hazard.

Also, we don't agree that rezoning would adversely affect adjacent property values.

It could, however, affect the appearance of an otherwise residential street. And something must be said for preservation of old residential neighborhoods. Homeowners in this section take no less pride in their dwellings than homeowners in other sections of the city.

The fact that the VFW plans to leave the houses on the property as income producers would be, at best, only a temporary facade.

The controversy poses some tough questions. And no matter what decision is reached by council, it will be an unpopular one. In the final analysis, however, that decision must reflect the good of the entire community and not just the VFW or Bealtown.

This may, indeed, involve an area wider than the parking lots in question.

Speaking for Myself

Spike heels

Silly . . .

The faddish return of spike heels is the return of one of the aberrations women seem to go through from time to time.

Remember the old days of the whalebone corset (the hourglass figure syndrome), the bound feet of the Japanese girls, the extended lips of the Ubangi Tribe, the many tight necklaces extending the neck of another tribe, pierced ears of many nations? All of these mutilation techniques were supposedly done in the name of beauty.

It seems strange to me that many of the self-flagellation beauty items throughout the ages have been perpetrated by women on women. Men, on the other hand, have generally utilized clothing items as their efforts toward beauty — the "zoot suit", head dress items, fancy shirts and costumes.

Spike heels, other than making the wearer look taller, can only lead to some disfigurement of the body. Most women wearing very high spikes appear to be ready to fall over. The shoes cannot possibly be comfortable and, if the gals wear them for beauty's sake, as far as I am concerned they can go barefoot.

Photographic Sketches . . .

By JIM GALBRAITH

Wild grapes in Hibernation

Sophisticated . . .

One of the most difficult human achievements to maintain is the ability to stand up straight and walk.

During my early teen days I'd spend hours walking with a book on my head, trying to attain that model-like stance. But to no avail, according to my mother and the nuns at school.

It wasn't until I owned a pair of real, high heels that I realized I had found the solution to my problem. The high heel made me stand up straight. I had to walk with shoulders back and head up, or I'd fall out of my shoes.

Imagine my delight in finally achieving a goal that had seemed so elusive!

Another virtue is in the area of balance — longer skirts need a higher heel. There is a smoother transition from skirt to leg to shoe, when all areas are more evenly proportional.

I'm sure that others can enumerate other virtues. However, the virtue of better posture and that of better balance will keep me in high heels for a long time to come.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Winter blows in early along the Riff River and snow lasts until spring.

It locks out intruders and locks in a man who calls himself Dizzy. That's the way he wants it. He's a loner who got tired of dodging pots and pans and, in a moment of fury, walked out on his wife and his job a quarter century ago.

His plywood shack can't be much more than a tiny black dot now, snuggled down in the white carpet beneath the pines and the single oak he has known intimately for all these years.

I've never seen it in winter, but his own descriptions are vivid:

"That ol' wind comes barreling in across that opening and before you know it the snow is right up to your armpits. It pushes up against the windows and buries the doggone pump. The road all the way out to the pavement's gone 'til spring. Nothin' moves 'cept maybe my runny nose if I stay out in the biffy too long."

The late Jerry Hartman, Novi's former principal, and I met him accidentally one late October morning while creeping along a path in the woods in search of deer. We were right up alongside him when he stepped from behind a tree and coughed. We nearly wet our pants with fright.

"Mister, that's a good way to get killed," one of us said.

"That's what I was thinking," he replied. "You're on my land."

We became friends, however, and in later years we returned, visiting with him in the woods and at his makeshift home. Most of it was outfitted with odds and ends he had salvaged from the dump. But it was comfortable and reasonably clean.

One day as we paused by his pump, after helping ourselves to cups of water, we asked him if he didn't get lonely.

"Who can get lonely in the woods?" he replied matter-of-factly. "I've got everything a man ever wanted. And nobody here to contradict me. Loneliness is for people who ain't got nothin' 'cept other people to make life

Trapper's mom likes 'yes' vote

To the Editor:

Thank you Mayor Vernon, Councilmen Johnston and Nichols for your yes votes regarding the ordinance to allow the young men of the community to continue underwater trapping, a long established part of American heritage. As the state allows above ground trapping, it is too bad they had to be denied this privilege as they are licensed trappers and pay a fee to the state and abide by state regulations.

The opposing group which is headed up by a non-resident of Northville dwelled on the dangers the trappers present to domestic animals (cats and dogs) and young children. I would like to report no injury to either children or pets due to traps. You will find your greatest threats to children and domestic animals lurking in your household. I am referring to household cleaning materials containing poisons, the medicine cabinet, gasoline and not to be forgotten the match. Check with your local emergency care centers and compare the number of children treated for poison and burns in lieu of caught in a trappers trap.

Next, let us consider motor vehicle accidents. In the City of Northville the past few months we have experienced injury and or death involving domestic animals, wild animals and children. Recently I witnessed a beautiful German Shepherd dash onto Eight Mile Road in the line of traffic, only to be hit by an unsuspecting motorist and the animal lay dead on the highway. A wild duck enjoying the good life at the Ford Valve Plant pond decided to wander and crossed South Main Street only to cause a two vehicle accident and get struck down himself. A small young boy on his way to the American School stepped from the curb only to be hit by a car. Perhaps to make the City of Northville safer for animals and humans we should pass an ordinance banning the use of motor vehicles within the city of Northville. This would also be a big money saver for the taxpayer; no street repair, no snow-removal, less police officers, no garbage pick up, etc. Who would favor this action?

Yes, the tax dollar is providing numerous tot parks for the young but what specific recreational area is designated for the teens? By trapping they are providing their own recreation and spending money at no cost to the taxpayer. These young men that sat in the council chamber on January 16, 1978 and battled for their rights are sportsmen, using due care and control, proper equipment and abiding by state and local regulations, respecting both animals and children.

Residents of this city, let's not let any future rabble rousers take the precious time of our councilmen to consider unnecessary local ordinances that are already provided by the state.

May our young trapping sportsmen of today be our future councilmen with consideration for youth of tomorrow.

Respectfully,
Mother of a trapper

'He abuses his authority'

To the Editor:

Many mornings I sat patiently in my car while traffic was halted as horse after horse crossed the intersection of Seven Mile and Center Street. I admit I didn't always like it but the track is part of Northville so I accepted it and the safety (as well as the convenience, I suspect) of the horses and their drivers is at stake.

On Saturday evening, January 7, my daughter was sitting on Seven Mile with her left turn indicators on waiting to turn north onto Center Street. When she was waved on she began her turn and was stopped by the officer on duty. He did not allow her to complete her turn nor allow her to return to her lane on Seven Mile but forced her to drive illegally in the wrong direction, on the shoulder to the LEFT of oncoming traffic.

Anyone familiar with Seven Mile and Hines Drive knows the getting back onto the road from that position with race track traffic flowing heavily would be a hazard for even an experienced driver. In fact, when she told me what had happened I found it so incredulous I had her repeat it over and over certain I had misunderstood what she was saying.

I always respected the police, their responsibilities and have taught my children to do the same. However, I feel this officer abused his authority in the most outrageous manner. Where on the scale does the safety of the citizens fall? It also brings up a question I've had and ignored. Out of curiosity who do the traffic directors around the track answer to? Who pays them? Who was on duty that evening?

Sincerely,
A concerned tax payer

News report criticized

To the Editor:

I must object to Tim Richard's attempts to create controversy between the Schoolcraft College Faculty and the Board of Trustees. Certainly your newspaper might discover a higher level of journalism, than to resort to such tactics.

Juvenile Code hearing

A public forum on proposed state juvenile code revisions will be held by three area legislators at 8 p.m. tonight in the Livonia Bentley High School auditorium. The three, shown reviewing the pending legislation are (left to right) State Rep. Jack Kirksey, Wayne County Commissioner Mary E. Dumas and State Rep. Robert Law, all Republicans from Livonia. They scheduled the forum to get public reaction to the juvenile code revisions of the Clodfelter House committee which attempted to compromise differences over a state commission's controversial recommendation that non-criminal "status offenses" be removed from juvenile court jurisdiction.

A recent article, about the tentative millage election implies that the faculty is somehow to blame for the board's decision regarding the postponement of such an election. Before printing such nonsense, you might interview faculty members to determine the truth. You would have discovered that faculty leaders were not contacted, for a support request, prior to the board's decision. This completely negates your reporter's comment claiming, "the Faculty Forum had shown little enthusiasm for taking part in a millage campaign." Why not print the truth, for a change?

While serving as an active leader in the two millage campaigns for the college, I am proud to mention the fact that the Northville School District passed the millage on both occasions. Why not print the facts about the long hours of hard work, dedicated to the cause, by those of us who sacrificed our time and energy for the future of our community? We, the residents of the Northville School District, worked hard in the millage campaigns and the results prove the value of our work.

Sincerely,
Larry D. VanderMolen

'State highways rival battlefield'

To the Editor:

Monday, December 26th, brought to a screeching halt the lives of a young mother, father and unborn baby. Two children were left without their parents. Parents who had devoted 100 percent of their short parenthood to their boys.

Friends and relatives have gathered and questioned. Where is the justice of a legal system that would return a drivers license to a young man who had already accrued 18 points against his driving record. A young man who had an outstanding warrant in Washtenaw County for drinking and driving?

Where is the justice? Who will it be next? Will it be you or your family? This CANNOT be allowed to continue. Unless tragedy touches your life personally it's very easy to sit back and remain inactive.

Our Michigan highways are rivaling the battlefields of Vietnam in death statistics. The U.S. is out of Vietnam now because people voiced their objections loudly to lawmakers and politicians. The only way we can improve the safety of our families is to make our voices heard. Write your legislators and Governor Milliken and tell them you want laws to be passed to:

1. Prevent drivers with recurrent bad driver's records to receive their licenses back. Driving should be a privilege.
2. Drinking and drunk drivers should be jailed and their licenses suspended indefinitely.
3. Double bottom tankers should be banned from Michigan Highways.

Our streets should become safer to travel on. Let's put to an end or reduce these paid one statistics that leave our families with only memories.

Senior Citizens report full year

To the Editor:

Here is a brief review of Senior Citizens Activities 1977:

During the past year the following trips and activities were enjoyed by members of Northville Senior Citizens Club.

- February, a bus trip to Chelsea.
- March, attended an English boiled dinner at the American Legion Hall.
- April, a bus trip to the home of corn flakes, Kellogg's at Battle Creek.
- June, a trip for country style chicken. Where? you guessed it, Frankenmuth at the Bavarian Inn.
- May, to Kensington Park for a picnic and a guided tour of the park.

July, the club's annual picnic at The Willows. Ham furnished by the City followed by bingo with our good member, Bob Hennings, serving as caller and awarding prizes.

August, another picnic at Kensington. November, a bus trip to Jack Miner's bird sanctuary and Point Pelee, also Saturday trips to the Tiger Ball games.

There were weekly and Saturday night card games at the Senior Center, also monthly films shown at the library, followed by refreshments.

Garden plots and seeds were furnished by the township, with ploughing and discing sponsored by Rotary. Photos taken in Novi for I.D. cards — sponsored by Kiwanis.

In addition to this each week a bus was furnished to provide shopping trips for those with transportation problems.

Add to this the daily nutrition dinners of hot meals, many of the meals delivered to shut-ins by volunteers, project supervised by Mary Schnell and other gracious ladies, sponsored by Wayne County Office of Aging.

Let's not forget the monthly potlucks and the delicious homemade food and desserts which were followed by various musical and dancing groups. By the way, the potluck roast beef was furnished by the City and prepared by the fine chef, Michele Fisher, and her kind helpers at the Presbyterian Church that is our home for potluck dinners, the fellowship hall, kitchen and furnishings of the church for which we are indeed grateful.

miserable. I was lonely in the city, but not no more."

"But in winter, when you can't get around, isn't that lonely?"

"No, sir, that's when the woods is best. Nobody's snooping around. No cars, no hunters, no nothin'."

"It's quiet," he added, as if the fall stillness around us was noisy. "A guy can really get in some thinkin' then. Don't ever worry about me in winter. I'm buried in quiet, while you're fighting God knows what."

Dizzy betrayed himself, however. Invariably, he urged us to visit "a little longer." And once he gave us a hint of what companionship really means by lamenting the loss of a field mouse that had died after keeping him company all winter.

"See you next year," he'd say as we would leave.

"Dizzy is really dizzy," Jerry and I concluded. But is he? His Rifle River home is grand in the fall. But in winter, well, only the man "buried in quiet" really knows.

Senator Geake offers area services guide

Northville residents can find out about governmental and community services available to them by contacting State Senator R. Robert Geake.

Geake has compiled a handy "Governmental and Community Services Guide" which lists where people living in Northville may go for information and assistance.

"Within Wayne County, there are numerous public and private agencies, some of which receive tax dollars to support their operations, that are experts in solving particular problems," Senator Geake noted. "Of course, if you don't know what they do or how to get ahold of them, you can't use them. That's why I have prepared this Guide — to help Wayne County residents who I represent get the most from their government."

The compact, 25-page Guide is divided into 10 sections on money, consumer protection, employment, legal aid, counseling and guidance, emergency assistance, tax information, public officials, health, and other miscellaneous services. It directs Northwestern Wayne County residents who need information about Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid, taxes, career development, social services, and various other programs, to the proper governmental or community agency. It contains the addresses and telephone numbers of the agencies, as well as those of area police departments and hospitals, and elected public officials.

Copies of the free "Governmental and Community Services Guide" may be obtained by writing to Geake, State Capitol, Lansing, MI 48909.

NOTICE OF ENACTMENT CITY OF NORTHVILLE

The City Council of the City of Northville, following a public hearing Monday, January 16, 1978 at City Hall, has adopted an ordinance to amend Section 7-135 of Title 7, Chapter 1, Streets, Sidewalks and Public Places, Article IV — Snow and Ice as follows:

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 7-135 OF CHAPTER 1, STREETS, SIDEWALKS AND PUBLIC PLACES, ARTICLE IV — SNOW AND ICE.

The City of Northville ordains:
Section 7-135 SIDEWALKS: SNOW, ICE: REMOVAL REQUIRED — No person shall permit any snow or ice to remain on the sidewalks in the front, rear or sides of any house, premises, building or lot owned, occupied or controlled by him, longer than 24 hours after the same has fallen or formed; and where either has fallen or formed on any such sidewalk, such owner, occupant or his agent as above provided shall within 24 hours after the same has fallen or formed, remove said snow or ice, or caused a sufficient quantity of salt, sand or ashes to be strewn thereon in such a manner as to render the same safe for persons walking thereon.

NO SNOW AND/OR ICE REMOVED FROM PRIVATE PARKING LOTS AND DRIVEWAYS SHALL BE MOVED, DEPOSITED OR PUSHED INTO, OR ACROSS ANY STREET OR ALLEY IN ANY MANNER WHICH IMPEDES TRAFFIC OR SUBSTANTIALLY REDUCES THE MAINTAINED ROADWAY SURFACE. (The capped sentence is the amendment to this Section.)

Section 2 Effective Date. This amendment to snow removal ordinance shall become effective 10 days after enactment and following publication thereof

NOTICE OF ENACTMENT CITY OF NORTHVILLE

The City Council of the City of Northville, following a public hearing Monday, January 16, 1978 at City Hall, has adopted an ordinance to Regulate the Trapping of Animals in the City of Northville under Title IV, Chapter 16, Section 1 as follows:

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE TRAPPING OF ANIMALS IN THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE AS DEFINED HEREIN.

The City of Northville ordains:

Section 1. All trapping of animals within the City limits is prohibited except for the following:

(a) Underwater Trapping during the trapping season(s) established by the State of Michigan.

(b) The trapping of rodents within the confines of any building unless prohibited by State law

(c) Where the State of Michigan determines that trapping of certain animals is necessary for disease control. In such instances the trapping must be done in accordance with the regulations established by the state

Section 2. All traps found on public lands, lands open to the general public or private property, unless same is completely enclosed by fencing, outside of the trapping season(s) shall be confiscated by the City.

Section 3. Penalty. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to a fine of not more than $100.00 or imprisonment for a period of not to exceed 90 days, or both, such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the Court.

Section 4. Effective Date. The effective date of enactment of this ordinance shall be 10 days after enactment and following publication thereof.

Ford's feathered friends

You might say everything is just ducky at the Northville Ford Valve Plant. At least, as far as approximately 250 ducks are concerned, everything is just fine. Once again this winter, the ducks have congregated at the Valve Plant's pond, where numbers of ducks have been enjoying themselves and entertaining workers and passing motorists for the last 25 years or so. According to Ford General Supervisor Pat Modos, there are about as many ducks around this year as there were last — except that there are more white ducks and two Canadians have joined the crowd. Modos says the ducks help keep plant morale up, even during the darkest days of winter, and he figures the $250 a month the plant spends on corn for the ducks is well worth the price. The quackers don't have to worry about getting laid off, either — their feeding is negotiated as part of the company and union contract.

Gourlay was westbound on Eight Mile when the Bobek car, traveling eastward, slid into his path. After treatment for a broken nose, cuts and bruises, Gourlay was released from Botsford Hospital.
Sergeant Gier said he expected no charges to be filed in connection with the accident.
The Bobeks have lived in the Northville area since last August, moving to their home at 21915 Cumberland from Dearborn Heights. The girls' father, Kenneth, is employed as a draftsman in the body engineering division of the Design Center of Ford Motor Company in Dearborn.

Both Lisa and Lori Bobek were students at Amerman Elementary in Northville, Lisa in the fourth grade and Lori in the sixth grade. Both girls were also members of Troop Number 234 of the Junior Girl Scouts.
Linda was described by neighbors as a popular babysitter in the neighborhood.
Services for the Bobek sisters were set for 1 p.m. today (Wednesday) at Cherry Hill Presbyterian Church, Cherry Hill and Telegraph. Funeral arrangements were handled by Querfeld Funeral Home, Dearborn.

Teamwork, best effort propel spikers to victory

Teamwork paid off again for Northville's volleyball squad last week.

Displaying some of their best efforts of the season the Mustangs steamed past two more opponents, hiking their overall record to 5-1.

Sparked by Cheryl DeHoff and Susie Heinzman, the defending Western Six champs picked up their third straight conference triumph when they coasted to a 15-7, 15-10 win over Walled Lake Western Monday.

"I would have to say that was the best the girls have looked all year," coach Steve McDonald said of his squad's performance. "It was a great overall team effort."

DeHoff, who McDonald said "played an outstanding all-around game," had three serves for points, four of eight spikes good for points, and three dinks. Heinzman, meanwhile, matched DeHoff with four spikes good for points and added five serves good for points as well.

Four days later the Mustangs fought back from a first-set defeat and crept to a 15-17, 15-10, 16-14 non-league victory over Ypsilanti. In the last set Ypsilanti jumped out to a 6-0 lead but couldn't hang on.

"We have this thing about letting the other team get out front early," McDonald acknowledged, "but it was an extremely good game."

This time captain Lorri Hopping and Kim Kratz paced the winning effort. Hopping had 14 serves, four of them good for points, while adding four spikes and a dink. Kratz served 13 times, four of them for points, and had five spikes and two dinks good for points.

Saturday the local girls traveled to Schoolcraft for the annual Schoolcraft Invitational. Competing against 34 other schools, Northville failed to qualify for the finals by placing among the top 12.

"We just don't have the depth to do well at tournaments," McDonald said, noting that he had to bring a contingent of jayvee girls along to supplement his eight-player varsity roster. Still he noted another good team effort and credited Julie Millen and Terry Myers with coming off the bench and putting in strong performances.

The Mustangs' next meet takes place Friday when they travel to Walled Lake Central for a non-conference match-up. Last night they played a critical game at Plymouth Canton, a school McDonald figures will be the team's chief threat to the conference crown. Northville's next home contest will be next Tuesday against Farmington Harrison beginning at 7 p.m.

Tankers roll in final two events and edge stubborn Hawks, 95-77

Farmington Harrison proved to be a tougher cookie than Northville bargained for in swimming action last week.

Competing in their own pool, the Mustangs had to come from behind in the last three events of the meet for a 48-35 victory over the Hawks Thursday.

The win hiked Northville's Western Six record to 4-0 this season and left the team with a 4-0-1 mark overall.

Although not considered a particularly strong swimming school this year, Harrison stayed in contention right up to the last event. After the first nine events in the 11-event meet, in fact, the two schools were tied at 33-33.

The Mustangs swept to 1-2 finishes in both the breast stroke and 400-yard free style relay, though, to sew things up. Tim Cahill won the breast stroke in 1:02.9 while Brady Kramer placed second in 1:10.2.

Cahill then joined Rick Bargert, Derek Gans and Dan McMann for a second-place finish in the free style relay in 3:45.3, 10.5 seconds behind the winning Northville combination of Mark Yanoschick, Carl Haynie, Jamie Pitak and Tom Cahill.

"The splits those kids had were just fantastic," coach Ron Meteyer said of his free style relayers, noting that Tom Cahill's 52.1 clocking was his best ever for the 50 free and that McMann apparently knocked several seconds off his previous best effort.

"They really went wild in that one. I think they were a little bit worried."

Northville had opened the meet with a 1-3 finish in the medley relay. Bill Lockwood, Tim Cahill, Gans and Bargert combined for a winning time of 1:51.0 while Terry Walters, John Zimmerman, McMann and Lauren Demrose placed third in 1:56.9.

Haynie followed with a first-place finish in the individual medley, setting a personal best in 2:08.5, and Yanoschick swam to victory in the 50 free style in 22.8.

Harrison bounced back with 1-2 and 1-3 finishes in diving and the butterfly, though, and suddenly it was 25-20 in favor of the Hawks. Northville's Paul Cooper finished third in diving with 168.45 points, bettering his previous best by 20 points, while Gans was runner-up in the fly in 1:04.1.

Yanoschick (50.5) and Bargert (55.6) went 1-2 in the 100 free style to vault the local team back into the lead, but it was short-lived. Harrison's 1-3 placement in the 500 free, broken up by Bruce Hackmann's 5:30.8 second-place finish, gave the visitors a 31-28 lead with just three events to go.

Haynie then won the back stroke with a personal best of 58.3 and Lockwood came in third in 1:02.6 to knot things up and set the stage for Northville's final burst.

Two of the Mustangs' stiffest tests of the season take place this week. Last night they met Plymouth Salem in a make-up meet at the Rocks' home pool and tomorrow they host Class B powerhouse Milan.

Meteyer was particularly worried about last night's meet with Salem, which is quickly becoming one of Northville's top non-conference rivals. The two schools have split their meets in the last two years, each winning by a single point.

Meteyer acknowledged that "we're really going to have our hands full" this week, especially considering the absence of some of the team's top swimmers. Matt Sullivan, Northville's record-setting breast stroker, has been severely ill over the past two weeks and may not be back at all while Steve Pyett, a team captain at the start of the season, dropped off the squad last week.

"Milan has such strength that the areas we figured on hitting them hard in" are now up for grabs because of the loss of those swimmers, Meteyer noted.

Tomorrow's meet will get under way at 7 p.m. in the high school pool. Next Tuesday the Mustangs travel north for a non-conference meet with another state powerhouse, Rochester, beginning at 7 p.m.

Downs is off to a strong start

Attendance is up 2.6 percent and mutuel handle up 27.1 percent through the first 18 nights of harness racing at Northville Downs this year.

The Downs completed its third week of action Saturday when the season's best crowd, 4882, wagered $603,188. That brought the week's figures up to 16,879 (an average crowds of 2813) and $2,379,259 (an average of $396,543 nightly). For the year the local track has attracted an average crowd of 2760 per night and has had an average mutuel handle of $383,500.

Matmen lose last two

Northville wound up the dual portion of its Western Six wrestling competition last week, dropping its final two meets to Waterford Mott and Farmington Harrison.

The losses leave the Mustangs with a 4-10 overall mark this season, 1-4 in the Western Six, entering Saturday's conference meet at Plymouth Canton.

Competing with only nine grapplers at Mott last Tuesday, Northville suffered a 52-21 setback. The Corsairs picked up 24 of their winning points on voids caused by the shortage of Mustang wrestlers.

"The flu hit us," coach Gary Emerson explained, noting that over half his squad was missing from the meet.

Of those who did compete only five ended up winning their matches. Brian McVeigh pinned his opponent in the third period of the 105-pound match while Jeff Lindemier at 119 pounds, John Cole at 126 and Don Lucas at 138 all won on decisions. Bill Blanchard won his match at 112 pounds on a forfeit.

Two days later, in their last home meet before the Western Six clash, the Mustangs lost to conference contender Farmington Harrison.

Their only individual victor was Lindemier, who won an 11-10 decision at 112 pounds. Blanchard, a sophomore, however, had Northville's most impressive showing of the meet when he battled Harrison's defending league champ down to the wire before dropping a 6-4 decision at 105 pounds.

On Saturday Blanchard again came on strong, placing third at 105 in the Holly Invitational. After pinning his first-round opponent Blanchard lost 4-0 to the number one seed, then won a 6-0 overtime match and beat Novi's Dan Williams 13-2 in the consolation finals.

He was one of four Mustangs who placed in the 10-school tourney, won by Novi with 173½ points. Northville finished seventh.

Jack Lancaster, wrestling at 178, placed fourth in the tourney while Matt Baker, who pinned three of his four opponents, finished third at 191. Chris Friel took second at heavyweight after pinning his first two opponents and then getting pinned by Lake Fenton's Lee Rogers in the finals.

Looking ahead to the Western Six meet, Emerson feels this year's championship is up in the air.

"I think it's going to be an interesting league meet," he says. "I can't see a clear favorite. I don't think anybody's going to be real dominant."

His own team, he notes, is strongest at the light and heavy weights but somewhat weak in-between. Brian Faustyn, who's been out almost all season with an injury, may be back in time to help the Mustangs at 155 or 165.

Other local hopefuls include Blanchard at 105, Lindemier at 112, Lurvey at 119, Lucas at 138, Baker at 191 and Friel at heavyweight. Lucas, however, is presently sitting out with a shoulder injury and bad knees.

Last year's contingent placed third overall in the league tourney and came home with two individual titles.

Northville's last dual meet of the season takes place next Wednesday, March 1, when the Mustangs host Novi and Garden City West beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Open swimming is offered

The Northville Recreation Department is sponsoring open swimming at the high school pool on Monday and Wednesday evenings and on Saturday afternoons between now and the end of March.

Costs for swimming there on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 8:30 are 50 cents for students, 75 cents for adults and $1.50 for families.

On Saturdays open swimming takes place from 3:30 to 5 p.m. and costs 65 cents for students, a dollar for adults and $1.50 for families.

Jeff Norton (34) goes up with a crowd of Mott rebounders

That one bad quarter dooms Mustangs twice

The Mustangs just couldn't put four good quarters of basketball together last week, and the result was two more frustrating losses.

Following a fourth-quarter collapse that cost them an 83-69 game against Livonia Clarenceville last Tuesday the local cagers tried rallying from a 12-point first stanza deficit at Waterford Mott three nights later but fell short, 75-73.

The defeats dropped Northville's overall record to 5-8 this season and left them in third place with a 3-3 mark in the Western Six, a game and a half behind league-leading Plymouth Canton.

On Tuesday the Mustangs fought back from a 35-29 halftime deficit against Clarenceville and knotted things up at 55 apiece entering the final stanza, only to see their efforts go to waste.

"As is our case, we seem to have one bad quarter every ball game," coach Walt Koepke noted. "I thought we were in pretty good shape for three quarters.

"Our defense wasn't really that bad. It's just that they were shooting exceptionally well. Clarenceville, I had thought, would be one of the toughest teams on our schedule, and they were."

Bill Peterson sparked the Trojans' late-game surge by netting 20 of his game-leading 26 points in the second half.

John Horwath topped the Mustangs with 22 points while Jeff Norton added 14, Joe Schimpf 12, Doug Harding 10 and Pete Wright nine. Three nights later Mott jumped out to an 18-6 lead after one quarter and held on for a 75-73 triumph. Northville canned only three of 16 shots from the floor during the first eight minutes and hit on just 27 of 70 for the night.

The Mustangs never led in the game, but missed three chances to tie it up in the last minute of action.

"We did a lot of things very well," Koepke said of the Mott defeat, "but it was that darn first quarter that killed us. We tried to zone them early, but they shot us up pretty well there."

He did feel, however, that his squad showed plenty of poise in the second half. After falling behind 41-25 at halftime and 45-25 early in the second half the Mustangs rallied to within four (55-52) by the end of the third quarter.

"I was pleased with the way we hung in there," Koepke said. "It was amazing being 16 points down at halftime and then almost catching them."

Another bright spot for the local squad was its reduction in turnovers. The team had been averaging over 20 per game through the first two months of the season but had only 12 against Clarenceville and 18 against Mott.

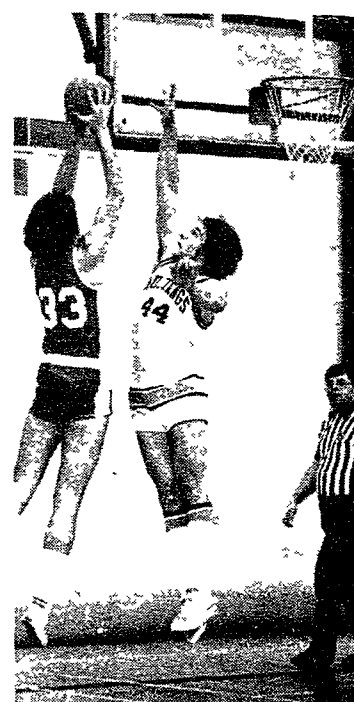

Regardless of that, though, the Mustangs are now .500 in conference play and must depend on at least one other Western Six squad to knock the Chiefs off in order to stay in the running for a title.

Wright led the Mustangs against Mott with 22 points, 14 of them in the second half, while Horwath added 14, 12 in the second half, and Norton and Schimpf 12 apiece. Harding nabbed 16 rebounds to top that category while Wright and Schimpf snared 10 apiece.

Northville's next game takes place Friday when the squad travels to Livonia Churchill for a conference match-up with the Chargers.

Gymnasts fall, 71-42

Hampered by the loss of two of their top members, Northville's gymnasts suffered a 71-42 loss at North Farmington last Wednesday.

Juniors Sue Kinnaird and Dena Irwin missed the meet because of illness, and as a result only two girls managed to place.

Sally Nair came in second in vaulting with a 6.3 while Britt Evans finished third in both vaulting and floor exercise.

"It was just sort of a bad night altogether," coach Debbie Davis said of the meet. "For the most part they (the girls) did as best as could be expected of them... (but) we'll just have to chalk this one up to experience."

The gymnasts are now 1-4 on the season. Tonight they host Oak Park and Plymouth Salem in the first of two tri-meets they'll have this season. The meet starts at 7 p.m. in the high school gym.

OLV coasts, 60-20

Powered by a hot shooting performance and an unyielding defense, Our Lady of Victory ran off with a 60-20 victory over Garden City St. Raphael last Saturday.

Carl Lang hit for eight points in the first period as the Cougars jumped out to an early lead and never looked back. They enjoyed their biggest scoring spree of the season in the second period when nine players combined for a total of 24 points.

Eleven locals broke in to the scoring column as coach Gene Wagner substituted freely throughout the game for the second straight week.

Lang led all scorers with 12 points while Terry Nadeau had 11, Tim McLaughlin and Pat Foley seven each, Bob Isom and Ted Sledz five each, Tim Wagner four, Dave Bach three and Kevin McDermott, Tim McClorey and Rick Paler two apiece.

OLV, now 8-3 overall this year, encounters its stiffest test of the season this Saturday when the team travels to Plymouth for a crucial CYO league match-up with arch-rival Out Lady of Good Counsel.

The Plymouth squad, unbeaten in CYO action this season, handed the Cougars their only league defeat of the year in December.

Years in Suburban League were among school's best

BY MIKE LASH

This is the second in a six-part series looking into the history of basketball at Northville High School. This week's article covers the 18 years during which the team competed in the Suburban League. The story is based on information acquired from old newspapers and yearbooks as well as from talks with area residents.

Success marked Northville's basketball years in the old Suburban League.

Throughout its 18-year stint with the conference the local squad failed to finish first, second or third only five times. Four of those four seasons, however, took place during Northville's first nine years.

After placing third in its initial season with the Suburban League (1923-'24), the club suffered two sub-.500 seasons before starting a slow recovery period that eventually led to some of its most successful cage years in history.

Coach A. K. Miller, who took over the basketball program in 1923, was at the helm when Northville opened its 1924-'25 season with surprisingly easy non-league victories over Walled Lake and Rossford High, a defending state champion from Ohio. Harry German, who later became mayor of the village, was the local squad's captain.

Once into league competition, though, the cagers went into a tailspin and probably finished about fourth in the six-team conference, which also included Plymouth, Farmington, Dearborn, Redford and Wayne. Their only consolation was a strong showing in the Class C district tournament at Ypsilanti, where they advanced to the fourth round (semifinals) before losing a 16-13 game to Jackson St. Mary's.

A year later Ypsilanti Roosevelt replaced Redford in the league and Northville, coached by George Walker, improved slightly. Members of the team included Terry Thompson, Del Campbell, Lyman Frazer, Richard Smith and Albert Stage.

It wasn't until 1926-'27, though, that the team made any sort of run at a Suburban League championship.

Ray "Duke" Doeksen was the coach that season; his starting lineup included Ted Watts and Eddie Wood at forward, Richard Smith and Lawrence LeFevre at guard, and Carlisle Lovewell at center.

Behind them the local cagers opened up with four victories in their first five league games, including a thrilling 13-12 victory over Farmington, a team they hadn't beaten in close to a decade despite playing them twice annually.

Going into the final game of the season they had a 6-2 record and a shot at the league title, but Dearborn snuffed those hopes with an 18-11 triumph.

In Doeksen's second year they again came close, but heartbreaking losses to Farmington (29-27 in overtime) and Ypsilanti Roosevelt (29-26) cost them the title.

In 1928-'29 the crown again came within Northville's grasp, but again the late-season blues hit. This time it was even more frustrating.

With rookie coach Jones at the helm the club rolled to eight consecutive victories to open the season, Northville's longest winning streak in its history up to that time.

Captaining that team was forward Bob McCordle. Watts was at the other forward slot while LeFevre played center and John Leavenworth and James Huff guard.

Their first loss came at the hands of perennial rival Plymouth on February 1. Playing at home before over 400 people, their largest crowd of the season, the local hoopsters suffered a 15-13 setback in a game that had the fans on their feet throughout the final quarter.

In the next two weeks they defeated Farmington and Ypsilanti Roosevelt to remain one game ahead of second-place Dearborn, but then the roof caved in.

First Dearborn tied them for the league lead with a 16-13 triumph February 22. Then, a week later, a mediocre Wayne club dealt them a 25-23 loss in the season finale, costing Northville a co-championship and dropping them into a tie for second with Farmington.

Adding insult to injury, University High of Ann Arbor extended the local squad's losing streak to three with a 23-8 thrashing in the first round of the Class C districts at Ypsilanti.

The early '30's were among Northville's weakest in the Suburban League.

With Belleville now competing in place of Ypsilanti Roosevelt, Wayne stormed to championships in 1930 and '31 while Northville struggled near the bottom of the heap.

In 1930, under coach W. R. Stephens, and captain George Greenlee, the team fared well until losing its last two league games and ended up 5-5 in the conference, 11-8 overall.

Coach Harold Ruggles took charge of the squad for the 1930-'31 season but, despite having four seniors in the starting lineup, the team was unable to win more than two league games and finished in a tie for the last place with Plymouth.

Both victories, at that, were tight ones. Charles Dusenbury, a reserve forward, hit a long jumper in the last 30 seconds for an early-season 16-14 win over Plymouth while Charles Riffenburg, a starting forward, dumped one in with 15 seconds to go for a 19-18 thriller over Farmington.

Things didn't improve the following year. With only four varsity players (Riffenburg, Dusenbury, David Meinzinger and Howard Beach, the team captain) back the cagers failed to win a league game. Trenton, a new addition, won the title while Dearborn finished second.

Times were changing, though, and so were Northville's basketball fortunes.

The Suburban League, for one thing, was drastically re-aligned. In 1932-'33 Northville competed against Farmington, Melvindale, Trenton, Berkley and Van Dyke Lincoln while Plymouth, Belleville, Dearborn and Wayne moved on to bigger conferences.

With Henry Hoffman, Paul Baldwin, Irvin Marburger, Leo Kohler, Dayton Deal, Don Bray and Irvin Ware leading the way the "Ruggle-ites" improved to 5-3 in the league and finished 5-7-1 overall, including a 20-20 deadlock with state powerhouse Ypsilanti Lincoln. They finished in a tie with Melvindale for second place, one game behind league champ Farmington.

The following year basketball underwent a major change when, instead of jumping off at center court after every basket, teams were allowed to simply

Two squads unbeaten

Park Haus and Goat Farm remained the only two unbeaten teams in Northville men's recreation basketball last Thursday.

Paced by Don Scheffeld's 17 points, defending league champ Park Haus romped to an 82-58 victory over the Cavaliers, extending their record to 3-0 on the season. Jeff Moon and John Pantalone added 14 points for the winners while Rick Hunter topped the Cavaliers with 16 points.

Goat Farm, meanwhile, kept pace with a 57-54 win over third-place Wack Pack. Mark Lisowski led the winners with 14 points while Gary Lisowski pitched in 13 and Howard Inch 12. Brian Gulick topped all scorers with 28 points for Wack Pack.

In other men's cage action Thursday Zayti-Long picked up its first victory of the season when it knocked off Brodie's Muffler, 54-50. Jim Long dumped in 18 points to spark Zayti while league-leading scorer Al Schultz and Dave Bart shared top honors for Brodie's with 17 points apiece.

Late bucket wins it

Chris Baetz scored just two points for the Trail Blazers in fifth-sixth grade junior basketball action last Saturday, but they couldn't have come at a more opportune time.

Baetz netted his lone bucket in the last minute of play to give his team a come-from-behind 19-17 victory over the Mustangs. The victory kept the Trail Blazers tied for first place with a 3-0 record while dropping the Mustangs to 2-1.

Doug Doyle paced the winners, who overcame a 14-10 halftime deficit, with 11 points while Jeff Metz topped the Mustangs with seven.

Suburban league years were good

Cagers ruled roost in mid-'30's

take the ball in from out-of-bounds. The scores increased and in mid-'30's, under rookie coach Ted Watts, the local cagers finished 6-4 in the league, good for third place behind co-champions Farmington and Trenton, and went 9-5 overall. And then came 1935. It was a spectacular year in several respects. Northville had seven of its eight varsity players from 1934 returning (only Baldwin had graduated). It had four seniors (Hoffman, Marburger, Deal and Bray) who had been regulars since their sophomore year. And it had poise. The "Wattsmen" rolled to a perfect 14-0 regular season record, won the Suburban League title by a landslide, knocked off Class C powerhouse University High of Ann Arbor for the first time in Northville's history (12-11 in the second game of the season), became the first squad in four years to beat Farmington on the latter's home court, and even tacked on two scrimmage victories. They handed Melvindale its first loss in eight games with a 23-19 triumph on January 18, then outscored their next two opponents 92-17. Defending champion Trenton was so intent on beating Northville that they saved their entire starting lineup for the game by playing their second stringers against Van Dyke a week prior to their mid-February meeting with Watt's crew. The maneuver cost them a place in the league standings (they were beaten by a weak Van Dyke quintet) and they lost to Northville anyway, 19-16. The local squad completed its perfect regular season with a victory over Melvindale on February 22. Even the second team sparkled, winning its first 10 games of the season and finishing 13-1 overall. The starting lineup that year consisted of Hoffman and Deal (forwards), Marburger and Cloyce Myers (guards) and Bray at center. Backing them up were Bill Duguid, Bob Lyke, Essie Nirider, George Westphall and James Hochkins.

The dream team finally folded in the Class C districts when they lost a 25-23 heartbreaker to Ypsilanti Lincoln in the semifinals after edging University High 20-16 in the opener. But a winning tradition had been built. Despite losing all five starters for its 1935-'36 season Northville stormed to a co-championship, its only two losses in 14 games coming in overtime thrillers (22-20 and 20-19) with fellow co-champion Melvindale. Paced by Westphall, Hochkins, Nirider, Lyke, Tom Gregory, Bruce Turnbull and Chuck Bishop the local squad then rolled all the way to the regional finals, winning five tournament games in the progress, before losing. Ironically, Watts took over the coaching duties at Melvindale the following year and led them to an undisputed Suburban League crown. Under rookie mentor Elliott Barr, though, Northville was again a competitive club and finished in a tie for second with Redford Union, which had replaced Farmington in the conference the year before. Both sported 7-3 league records. With Turnbull, Bishop, Westphall, Hochkins and Fred Scott leading the way the locals then put on yet another impressive showing in the state tourney. They again advanced to the regional finals but, hampered by a first-quarter injury to scoring star Chuck Bishop, they dropped a 21-18 heartbreaker to Dundee after leading throughout the first three quarters of the contest. Under new coach Harry Smith Northville almost won its third league title in four years in 1937-'38, but a late-season 21-13 loss to Melvindale dropped them to second. Led by Bishop, Albert Boelens, Benny Duguid, Marvin Schoultz, and Eber Lester the team wound up 7-2 in league play, one game behind repeating champ Melvindale, and 10-3 overall. Ypsilanti Lincoln knocked them out of the districts with an 18-17 victory in the second round. Northville's final years in the Suburban League were similar to their first.

Although they remained fairly strong, the local cagers had to play second fiddle to stronger schools. Duguid returned to captain the 1938-'39 squad, but an early-season injury kept him out much of the year. George Houghton, Jack McCrumb, Cecil Nirider, Leonard Fritz, Walt Myers and Dick Larkin kept the team in contention, but Melvindale would up with their fourth title in a row while Northville finished in a tie for second with Berkley. Interestingly enough the school had grown enough to become a Class B Competitor. Because of it the cagers bowed out of the state tourney in the first round after closing their regular season with a 6-3 record in the league and 8-6 overall. If nothing else, the 1939-'40 season was memorable because it marked the first time Northville sports teams became known as the "Mustangs." On November 21, 1939, Eugene Reaves won a season ticket to that year's basketball games for choosing the name in a contest. The judges felt it was a fitting emblem because of the community's ties with horse shows and horse racing. The new name failed to spark any more success, though. Northville, paced by Holcomb, Fritz, Houghton, Bob Orr and Jim Funke, went 6-4 and placed third in the Suburban League. Despite a return to Class C status the Mustangs bowed out of the state districts with a 33-19 loss to University High in their tourney opener. They wound up 6-9 overall. As if anxious to move on, Northville ended its association with the Suburban League with a meager 4-6 mark in 1941. Under first-year coach Neville "Tex" Walker the Mustangs remained strong throughout the first half of the season but lost their final three league contests and closed with a fourth-place finish. Including a 26-18 loss to Saline in first-round district action, Northville ended the season with a 5-10 mark overall. Members of that final Suburban League crew included Holcomb, Funke, Bob Boyden, Bill and Tom Widmaier, Louis Eaton, Sid Junod, Ray Hartner and Lawrence "Punk" McArthur. The following year Northville went independent, then entered a competitive conference known as the Oakland County League in late 1942. Next: New leagues and the 1940's-early '50's era

Jayvees explode early

The reserve bench was emptying particularly early for Northville's powerful jayvee basketball squad last week. Paced by Bob Crisan and Dan Bartels the Mustangs rolled to huge halftime leads and coasted in games against Livonia Clarenceville and Waterford Mott last Tuesday and Friday. Crisan scored 19 points and nabbed seven rebounds as coach Omar Harrison's crew burst out to a 25-4 first-quarter lead and cruised past Clarenceville, 65-54, on Tuesday. By halftime the margin was 43-19, and from there Harrison emptied his bench. Bartels chipped in 13 points and 11 rebounds. Three nights later the Mustangs, sparked by a 27-8 scoring outburst in the second quarter, jumped out to a 51-20 halftime bulge and rolled over Mott, 74-43. "The kids just came out smokin'," Harrison said of the early routs, adding that the win over Mott marked the first time Northville has ever beaten the Corsairs twice in one jayvee season. Bartels had 19 points, all in the first half, and 12 rebounds to lead the onslaught while Crisan canned 20 points and Harry Couyoumjian 12. Crisan and Rob Ade had seven rebounds apiece. The Mustangs also had strong bench help from guards Russ Gans and Dean Guard, whom Harrison credited with "a strong floor game." The victories hiked Northville's overall jayvee record 12-1 this season.

Athletes of the week

BILL BLANCHARD

SUSIE HEINZMAN

With underclassmen like Bill Blanchard, Northville's wrestling hopes are looking very bright in the next couple years. The lightweight sophomore, who grapples in the 105-pound class, improved his season record to 13-7 last Saturday when he easily won three of four matches, losing only on a decision to the number one seed, to finish third in the 10-school Holly Invitational. He has now placed third in three of the last four tournaments he's competed in.

Susie Heinzman is a major reason Northville's defending Western Six volleyball champs have started off their 1978 season just the way they ended it in 1977. Last week the bubbly junior led her team in both spikes and serves, helping the Mustangs to an impressive 15-7, 15-10 win over Waterford Mott. According to her coach she was also an excellent setter in what he called Northville's best game of the season.

Super sewer contract draws support, objections

Wayne County's attempt to persuade western suburban communities to sign a contract to engineer the proposed sewer either fell flat or gained some ground — depending on who is making the assessment.

Northville city officials returning from a meeting of suburban communities with the county DPW with a feeling that perhaps 12 of the 18 comnunities in the sewer district are now ready to sign.

"Not on your life," said Canton Township Supervisor Harold Stein, however. "There's a lot of them who have misgivings, not just us... Northville Township, Van Buren, Sumpter, Romulus, Rockwood and some others I can't remember."

"I think there were about 12 of them who indicated preliminary support for it (contract), with perhaps three or four others who expressed misgivings. The others were not present," said Northville City Manager Steven Walters.

Stein said he and other communities will not sign the contract because it does not give the suburbs direct control over sewer rates.

City officials said the contract has nothing to do with sewer rates.

"This contract," said City Attorney Philip Ogilvie, "is not for the construction and operation of the super sewer. It's only intended to give the county a way to get money for engineering. Another contract will be required for construction and operation and it's in that contract where Stein should try to get the rate controls he wants."

Ogilvie said that even though the engineering phase contract did not have to have anything in it about rate controls, the county DPW had included some wording in it to "at least show that down the line we're going to have some say in rate structures."

Nevertheless, Stein insisted that this second phase contract must address itself specifically to control rates before he and other suburban leaders will authorize contract signing.

"They've (county DPW) put words in there to allow for a rate review board, but such a board would have no power. It's just a political ploy," said Stein, who bristled because his own recommendation for wording had not been in-

JOSEPH P. DAGHER

Local man authors text

Students in the United States, Canada, Australia and Great Britain will soon have the opportunity of using a new textbook on technical writing by a Schoolcraft College Instructor.

Just released by Prentice-Hall, Inc., "Technical Communication: A Practical Guide" is Joseph P. Dagher's third college English textbook.

Its main purpose, according to Dagher, is to teach students how to speak and write more purposefully about their occupations. He currently is utilizing the text in his technical writing classes, English 116, at Schoolcraft.

"Writing an English textbook is something like inventing and introducing a new product in the marketplace," Dagher contends.

"Before a publisher is willing to invest large sums of money to publish it, he makes sure that the book has something new or different to enable it to surpass the intense competition."

Instructor Dagher, who lives in Northville at 18234 Jamestown Circle, says "Technical Communication" stresses the importance of nonverbal elements along with the verbal. It explains and illustrates, for example, how the dynamics of human interaction as well as charts, graphs, drawings, and a variety of patterns of organization are as important as the words spoken or written.

The book also emphasizes the concept that written communication results from the effective translation of thoughts originating in spoken form... thinking is talking to ourselves... into written form. The reader must then learn how to translate it again into an oral form he or she understands.

Along with helping students to use what they learn about technical communication in writing a variety of letters and technical reports, the book instructs them in how to speak, listen, and read that kind of material more effectively.

In addition to three textbooks, Dagher has written two manuals providing instructors throughout the United States with suggested methods and materials for teaching English, including technical communication.

"I'm happy," he says, "that many other instructors and students in institutions as far away as the Midway Islands and Hawaii, and as prestigious as Fordham and Syracuse University, find the same principles I use at Schoolcraft effective."

Registration: February 6

Late registration for Schoolcraft College continuing education and community services classes will be held on February 6.

Students can late register or make course adjustments from 2:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the Waterman Campus Center. A late fee of $1 is charged to new registrants. No fee is charged for course adjustments.

Resident tuition is $15.50 per institutional credit. Non-residents pay $26. Tuition and fees may be paid by cash or check, and both Visa and Master Charge are accepted.

The blue and white tabloid schedule listing nearly 170 courses was mailed to area residents and scheduled to reach all homes in the district the first week of January.

Haze Wilson, Community Relations Manager, Livonia, offers you this telephone tip:

Teach your children how to use the phone in an emergency!

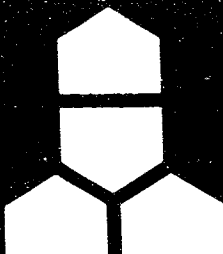

Anyone can have an emergency at home that calls for fast, intelligent use of the phone... a sudden illness, accident, fire. Hopefully, you already have a list in your phone book or elsewhere near the phone, giving the numbers of your doctor, hospital, poison control, police, fire department and your home address. But, if you have children at home, would they know how to use the phone in an emergency? Make sure they do.

Show them where you keep the emergency numbers and how to call the operator, if necessary. Your babysitter should be told who to call, too. Know if 911 can be dialed for fire, medical and police help in your area. Nobody likes to think about emergencies at home. But, it's better to give it a little thought now, than be sorry you didn't later. Why not check out the family on your emergency phone call procedure right now?

If you're confused about carpeting consider an area rug. It acts to hold a furniture arrangement together and becomes the focal point of your room. For the conventional size sofa, an eight foot square rug works well. Major upholstered pieces can be placed off the rug which then forms the boundary for a seating group. Area rugs are available in a rich variety of colors, designs and textures, velvety smooth or long looped and shaggy. Be selective in choosing the right size and pattern for your room. Create an island area at home and solve your carpeting needs.

Brighten up your home this new year with new wallpapers from GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER, 107 N. Center St., 349-7110. Let us help you avoid the costly and disappointing mistakes so common in decorating your home. We will help you select just the right colors and shades of FULLER-O'BRIEN PAINTS to create the effect most pleasing to you. # Local woman's brother is a new U.S. astronaut

The wild blue yonder was brought a bit closer to a Northville family last week.

Susan McGrath, who lives with her family at King's Mill Cooperative, learned Monday that her brother—Air Force Captain Brewster Hopkinson Shaw, Jr.—was selected as one of 35 astronauts who will orbit the earth in the 1980s.

Shaw, 32, a test pilot and instructor at Edwards Air Force Base in California's Mojave Desert, was the only Michigan native chosen among the first new American astronauts in a decade.

He grew up in Michigan's Thumb, but his family has an extensive Northville background.

Mrs. McGrath said her brother was excited when she talked with him

Tuesday night, but he told her that he didn't think the full force of the selection would hit him until he, his wife and three children move to Houston this summer.

"It's pretty astounding. I can't believe it myself," said Mrs. McGrath, who moved here from Farmington with her husband, Michael, in 1969.

Mrs. McGrath said her brother's interest in flight was probably inspired by their father who flew a biplane "in his younger days."

He always thought it would be nice to be an astronaut, she said.

Shaw learned to fly while attending the University of Wisconsin. After he earned his master's degree, Shaw got a desk job with an engineering company "which he didn't like at all," said his sister.

He joined the Air Force in 1968 where he began establishing a record that will take him to the Johnson Space Center in Houston in July.

"He graduated first in almost every single class he's been in," said his proud sister. "He's just done a superb job."

More than 8000 men and women applied for positions as mission specialists and pilots for the space shuttles than begin in 1979.

Shaw was one of only five pilots chosen. The 35 astronauts include six women, three black men and a Japanese-American, the first non-white, non-male astronaut since the space program began in 1959.

Shaw will be eligible for flights in 1980, the second year of the shuttle operations. Prior flights will be manned by the present corps of 27 astronauts.

By 1985, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) expects to launch as many as 60 flights a year, carrying up to seven astronauts at a time.

To become an astronaut, Shaw had to meet rigorous standards, according to Mrs. McGrath.

Before his selection, he was flown to Houston where he underwent a battery of tests and questioning.

"They asked him everything, even about his sisters," said Mrs. McGrath. "He didn't tell me what they asked him."

"I guess they are being quite selective."

Shaw learned of his selection about 9 a.m. Monday morning. The announcement was made 90 minutes earlier but Shaw wasn't available at that time. He was out flying.

Although Mrs. McGrath and her brother grew up in Cass City, the Shaw family has deep roots in the Northville area.

"There are five generations of ancestors here, back to my great-great-grandfather, buried in Riverside Cemetery on Plymouth Road," she said.

Beginning in 1836, her great-great-grandfather and great-grandfather farmed 80 acres of land on Six Mile Road "four miles northeast of Plymouth."

"Grandfather Shaw went to Northville High School."

Township adds 2 precincts

Two new precincts have been created in the township, reflecting population increases and changing population and registration centers.

According to Northville Township Clerk Clarice Sass, the number of precincts has been increased from eight to 10.

The number of registered voters in the township as of January 5, 1978 is 6,369, she reported.

Mrs. Sass told township board members last week that the new precincts will be located in the Northville Commons-Colony area and in Highland Lakes.

The old Precinct 6 has been divided, with Northville Colony and the new colony subdivision becoming Precinct 10, while Northville Commons remains in Precinct 6.

Similarly, Highland Lakes subdivision has been divided in half, with one section retaining the Precinct 2 label while the other half becomes Precinct 9.

Contract stirs debate

cluded in the draft. Stein is a leader in the attempt to form a separate Western Wayne County authority empowered to operate the sewer system upon its completion.

City of Northville has balked at joining the organization, just as Stein and others are balking at signing the DPW contract.

A DPW spokesman told the Northville council earlier that if the suburbs refuse to sign the contract, it will wash its hands of the super sewer project and collect from the suburbs the $200,000 investment the county has made in planning to date.

This "either or" ultimatum did not accompany the contract draft, however, and the DPW made no reference to it in meeting with suburban communities last week.

1973 energy crisis spurs little more carpooling

By ROLLY PETERSON

In 1973 gasoline prices began soaring as a fuel shortage scare gripped the nation

The cost of a gallon of gasoline jumped from about 30 cents before the scare to 40 and 50 cents. Now the price of a gallon of gas ranges from 59 to 69 cents—or about double the 1973 cost.

Many in 1973 proclaimed car pooling as one means of helping to combat rising fuel costs and the apparent shortage. Car pooling was seen as the wave of the future.

While pooling has continued to rise since 1974, the increase has not been as dramatic as some first thought it would be. They apparently underestimated how deeply ingrained in the American psyche the convenience of owning your own car had become.

Bill Schram, manager of the car pool parking lot program for the State Department of Highways and Transportation, maintains there has been a significant increase in the number of persons statewide resorting to car pools. And he sees the state's program as a microcosm of what is happening in Michigan.

At the end of 1974, Schram points out, the DHT had 300 parking spaces and 200 of them were being occupied. At the end of 1977, the state had 1,200 parking spaces in its lots throughout Michigan and 800 cars were using those lots.

The 1978 projection, he says, is 1,600 parking spaces in state lots along major roadways and over 1,000 cars being parked in those lots.

There are no state figures indicating how many others may be pooling their commuting efforts. Thus trying to determine how many are pooling is difficult.

"A whole lot of people are using private lots—shopping malls, city lots, and abandoned gas stations," Schram says, adding that where the state does not have lots, commuters still use road shoulders to park their cars.

"Last year," he said, "we saw lot use jump for no apparent reason. Maybe, it's a reflection of the times, the matter of people hearing more and more about energy and energy conservation. So they go to car pools."

Who is using these 69 state lots? Schram says that origin-destination studies conducted by the DHT indicate that price conscious people are car pooling. "I find a lot of people work in the auto industry," he said.

"If we have another energy crisis scare," Schram ventured, "there will be a big move to car pooling."

And if people try pooling, he noted, they are likely to find that car pooling is not as bad as they thought. And Schram also believes that there will be, as a result, a snowballing effect.

"What is needed," Steve Vertalka of the DHT said, "is some type of incentive to get people out of their cars. A dramatic savings might do it."

Vertalka maintains that there are many benefits today to car pooling, among them:

- Reduction of gas consumption.
- Money savings.
- Reduction in vehicle maintenance costs.
- Reduction in insurance costs.
- Reduction in the need for as frequent car replacement.

In addition, Vertalka points out, there are these secondary benefits:

- Social exchange.
- Elimination of the need to cope with day-to-day driving conditions, especially in winter.
- Less mental strain.
- Fewer vehicles on the highway.

Vertalka is optimistic about the relatively new van pooling program for state employees. Currently, 17 departments, 37 vans and approximately 370 people are involved in the program.

It's estimated at current numbers that there will be an annual savings of 2.5 million miles and 170,000 gallons of gasoline due to the van pooling program. The dollar savings also is significant—over $100,000 a year.

Vertalka says the van program operates this way. The state purchases a van in lieu of cars and assigns the van to one person who is responsible for driving and maintenance of the vehicle, but pays no riding fee.

He picks riders up at their homes or at car pool lots and transports them to their common destination. The riders, in turn, pay costs for lease or purchase, as well as operating and maintenance.

Charles Uray, Jr., chief deputy director of the DHT, predicts that there will be more than 100 vanpools in operation by January, 1980 for state employees.

"Ultimately," he added, "some 10,000 vanpools can be expected to provide home-to-work transportation for more than 100,000 Michigan residents."

The DHT currently is studying the possibility of adding eight car pool parking lots in the Wayne-Oakland-Macomb and St. Clair area and another three lots in the Livingston-Ingham-Jackson-Washtenaw-Hillsdale-Lenawee and Monroe area.

Some lots are getting what Schram calls deluxe treatment. The largest lot (98 cars) in the state—at the I-96 and Milford Road intersection—was paved this past year, the first state pool lot to be paved. And the I-96 at Spencer Road lots in Brighton are scheduled to be paved this year, Schram said, and trees will be planted there also.

Cost of paving a lot and adding shrubbery is $40,000 to $50,000.

"Livingston County," Schram says, "is ideally suited for vanpooling and car pooling. It's saturated with car pools."

The DHT would like to establish more car pool lots in Oakland County, Schram noted, but there is a lack of expressway right-of-way in that county. This means if the state wishes to establish more lots, it will cost considerable money.

"I would like to go to shopping malls and execute leases or such to provide more pool parking," Schram said.

Legislature packed with priorities

By WARREN M. HOYT

LANSING — The legislature during the 1977 session became better recognized for lack of action than action.

With the opening of the second half of the 79th Legislature, the drafting board is packed with priority items set forth by both the governor and the Democratic-controlled legislative leaders.

The Legislature must waste no time this year in beginning to deal with the massive state budget and other major items dealing with the people's problems and the state's future.

Another pressure point facing members in the 1978 election year which finds the governor's office up for grabs along with all 148 Senate and House seats open. The pressure to complete Lansing business will be felt as lawmakers will want to write an impressive record at the earliest possible date and get back to home districts to campaign to retain current offices or higher ones.

Governor Milliken offered no surprises in his State of the State address when he listed as top priority items transportation, energy, worker's compensation and crime. The same items were outlined last year with little final results gained on any of the issues.

House Speaker Bobby Crim stressed passage of a statewide transportation package to increase financing for roads and public transit systems. However, 1978 will not be a good year for such programs as they include gasoline and weight tax increases and legislators always get gun shy when considering anything resembling tax hikes during an election year.

The Legislature must collectively show fortitude and place re-election in the backs of their minds to deal with the state's problems now and for the future betterment of the state. A year's delay could prove disastrous in the overall well being of the people.

The Senate must act quickly on major bills to keep pornography away from minors, toughen drug penalties for major drug dealers, rewrite and consolidate the state's health code and revamp nursing home regulations.

The House faces less weighty problems as that chamber has completed action on those matters, but immediately facing the lower chamber is a series of bills to tighten up the state's campaign finance law. Minority Republicans are charging foul claiming Democrats are using their collective power to restrict political power of business under the guise of cleaning up definitions and closing loopholes in the law.

John Woodford, director of the Department of State Highways and Transportation, notes that Michigan has been selected as one of three states to participate in a documented Federal Highway Administration demonstration project known as Positive Guidance

The program is proposed tool for both problem analysis and solution development which can result in an increased level of safety to the motoring public without undertaking the expense of reconstruction.

Positive Guidance combines the traffic engineering and human performance capabilities under varying traffic operational facilities and conditions.

In helping to eliminate system failures by providing information which will increase the probability that the driver will select the speed and path proper for the operating conditions of the highway, Positive Guidance can provide high-payoff, short-range solutions to safety and operational problems at relatively low cost.

Michigan has 6,449,001 licensed drivers of records, of which 2,993,135 are female. The median age of drivers is 35 years.

Of the 5,887,812 drivers whose records are studies, 91.3 percent were accident-free drivers and .86 2 percent were violation-free drivers.

Plant life talk slated

January 1975, about 3,000 of our native plants are either endangered or threatened. This amounts to about 10% of our native plant species. Why are these plants in danger?

Why are they important? Why are any plants important and vital to our existence? These and other questions will be considered by Naturalist Pat Carlson through the use of slides and discussion.

This 1½-hour program is for families and individuals only; however, advance registration is required.

Japanese teenager finds happiness with new hosts

By JEAN DAY

What threatened to be an unhappy adventure in the United States for Suzumi Nishimatsu appears headed for a happy ending.

Suzumi is an 18-year-old exchange student from Osaka, Japan, now living with the Jack Hinman family at 916 Novi Street. The family has a special closeness with the young guest as 17-year-old Elaine Hinman was an exchange student living with Suzumi's family in Japan last summer.

When Suzumi decided to participate in the Youth for Understanding Program, the Hinmans indicated they would like to be her host family. Regulations of the program do not usually allow this direct exchange, however, and Suzumi was placed with a family in Balton, Minnesota.

It turned out to be an unfortunate choice for a youngster accustomed to living in the center of a busy city like Osaka. Balton had a population of 700, and the host family didn't have a youngster her age.

When Suzie, as Suzumi is being called by her American friends, came to see the Hinmans at Christmas, she expressed her disappointment.

The Ann Arbor office of Youth for Understanding was contacted and proved understanding. Basically, Suzie's foster mother, Florence Hinman, explains, program officers feel the role exchange from guest to host does not always work out.

In this case, an exception was made and Suzie became part of the Hinman household.

Along with Elaine, she's a senior at Northville High School. The two do not have classes together, however. The exchange student is busy with typing, geometry, U.S. history, art, sociology, and, says Suzie, "lunch hour," a favorite time.

"I feel really comfortable here," the Japanese teenager said last week as she was pictured with her Northville "sisters." Younger sister is Diane, an eighth grade student at Cooke Junior High.

Suzumi's an only child. Her mother is an elementary school teacher while her father is employed with the city water department in Osaka. She called them at Christmas and was delighted that it was "so clear."

Suzumi expresses herself very well in English. Mrs. Hinman says she has grasped word meanings quickly.

"English is required in Japan," Suzie explains, telling how she has studied the language since seventh grade. As she does not receive credit for her Northville schooling, she will not graduate until March, 1979. She then plans to go to a four-year college in Japan. She would like to take Japanese literature and social programs.

"I'd like to interpret or come back here and teach Japanese," she confides.

Suzie was in the American "uniform" of jeans and sweater as she talked last week. The same clothes are worn in Japan, she says, but not to school. The public senior she attends has a student uniform.

She brought with her the traditional ceremonial gown, a richly colored kimono in golds, oranges and greens with chrysanthemums and stylized pine trees forming the pattern. The flowers are re-embroidered with gold thread.

Explaining that it takes a half an hour to put on the complete costume, Suzie modeled the kimono over her jeans.

Like her visit, it looks like a happy East-West merger.

Snow Drop's new

Girl Scouts offering six cookie varieties

Like something new?

Then order a box of "Snow Drops."

That's the new variety of Girl Scout cookie being offered in the annual sale that starts next Monday — right in the middle of winter.

The new cookie is one of six varieties for which about 275 local Girl Scouts will be taking orders in the sale that supports Girl Scouting activities.

New area chairman for the annual cookie sale is Dorothy Sanders of 330 Eaton. She will be directing the selling campaign of 15 troops at Moraine, Amerman, Silver Springs, Winchester, St. Paul's Lutheran and Our Lady of Victory schools.

"The cookies still are $1.25 a box, the same price for the last two years," Mrs. Sanders reports, showing the assortment offered.

In addition to the Snow Drop, a chocolate cake-like cookie topped with marshmallow frosting, there are the traditional peanut butter patties, thin mints, vanilla sandwich cremes, shortbreads and P.B.'s (oatmeal cookie filled with peanut butter frosting).

Order-taking will continue through February 12. Cookies will be paid for on delivery.

Deliveries will be made between February 27 and March 11.

The new cookie is a rather sweet addition, Mrs. Sanders says, admitting that she likes the traditional peanut butters. But there's something for everyone — with chocolate lovers sticking to the thin mints.

The local scouts are among the nearly 7,000 Girl Scouts, ages 9 to 18, in the Huron Valley Council comprising scouts in Western Wayne, Washtenaw, Livingston and Northern Monroe counties participating in the sale.

Council goal this year is to have boxes sold, six percent more than the 370,080 boxes sold last year.

Profits from the sale will help fund the construction now underway of a large troop house at Camp Crawford in Washtenaw County and will underwrite camp maintenance and development of Camp Linden in Livingston County, and Camps Crawford and Hilltop in Washtenaw.

Profits also are spent for troop activities, such as special trips, projects and troop equipment.

In announcing the cookie sale, Mrs. Sanders emphasizes that the purchase

Here's cheers for junior class 'Winter Escapade'

By JEANDAY

Northville High's junior class deserves a special cheer. By a solid four-to-one vote at a class meeting, it was decided to hold the annual winter dance sponsored by the juniors at Meads Mill Junior High in the cafeteria — rather than at a hotel or club.

It's discount price, too, because the class has had a series of successful fund-raisers, including the recent bird seed sale.

Suzy Heinzman, ticket chairman, will have tickets at $6 a couple for the "Winter Escapade" semi-formal (which means long dresses for girls and suits for boys) to be held Saturday, February 11.

Dancing beginning at 8 p.m. will be to music of the "Gliders," a five-piece band with a female vocalist. Theme song will be "How Deep Is Your Love?"

"We've set aside $100 for decorating," reports Greg Bach, class president. Sue Pegrum heads the decorating committee. Karen Boll is in charge of advertising. Bach is taking care of refreshments.

"You and a guest are invited to come dance," read the invitations designed by Cheryl Latous that are being printed in the graphics class at the high school. Teachers and administrators are on the guest list for the event which for several years has replaced the Junior Prom. The junior-sponsored dance is open to all high school students.

Prudence Hartt, fiance honored

Friends of her parents honored Prudence Hartt and her fiance, Arun Pande of Bombay, India, at a couple shower last Saturday evening at the Main Street home of the William Davises. Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Evans were co-hosts for the party which ended with a midnight supper of crepes and pastries for the 28 attending.

Detroit friends also will be feting the bride-elect February 4. Pru is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hartt of 777 Thayer Boulevard. While a collegian, she was on the editorial staff of The Northville Record. Both she and her fiance are mid-December graduates of The American Graduate School of International Management, better known as the Thunderbird School, in Arizona. Both received masters degrees.

They will exchange vows in an afternoon ceremony March 4 in the Mill Race Historical Village.

Lanes' trip was festive reunion

The Christmas trip Gloria and Walter Lane took to Europe also was a reunion with their daughter, Julie, who flew to London from Australia where she teaches school.

Now just back from England and France, the Lanes report they found themselves "following in President's Carter's footsteps" on their itinerary.

After spending Christmas in London, the three took the train to Dover, crossing to Dunkirk. They visited the Normandy beaches just ahead of President Carter but were just after him at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Paris where the wreath he laid still was in place.

Because Julie had studied in Brittany during her sophomore year at Michigan State University, the family received a rare invitation to visit a family she had been pen pals with and had seen previously. In preparation for the trip Gloria Lane had studied French at Schoolcraft and was delighted that her attempts in French "endeared us to the family — we were celebrities," Mrs. Lane, relates mentioning "we even had an aperitif with grandma before dinner."

The Lanes rented a car and visited the now — isolated Normandy beaches Walter Lane had seen in World War II. This followed a festive Christmas in London where hats and noisemakers were supplied by the hotel along with the feast.

Daughter Julie had done her student teaching in England. For a year and a half she has been teaching French in Australia at St. Arnaud 150 miles north of Melbourne. She was interviewed and chosen for the post when recruiters visited University of Michigan.

Bohn family news

When active Northville residents Richard and Nancy Bohn were transferred to the Panama Canal Zone by Ford Motor Company, their daughter Marjorie remained in Michigan. She's now a freshman at University of Michigan and recently was initiated into Alpha Gamma Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority. For this term the Zetas have planned a little siblings' weekend, a pledge formal at the Hyatt Regency and hosting of State Day on campus.

Couple sets May date

CYNTHIA McRANNOLDS

Announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Jean McRannolds, to Mark Robert Hosbach of South Lyon is made by Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Singleton of 378 Fairbrook Court.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hosbach of Rouge Street.

Both are Northville High School graduates with the bride-elect a member of the Class of 1972 and her fiance, the Class of 1971. A 1975 graduate of Schoolcraft College, she is a hearing clerk with the Bureau of Hearings and Appeals in Southfield.

He attended Schoolcraft and Macomb Community College and is an apprentice with Forge Die and Tool Corporation in Farmington Hills.

They have set a May 20 wedding date.

IT'S NEW — Dorothy Sanders, Northville Girl Scout area cookie chairman for the annual door-to-door order taking that begins next Monday, samples the "Snow Drop," a chocolate-cake-like cookie that's a new offering in the six-cookie variety being sold at $1.25 a box. That's the same price as last year.

of cookies helps keep fees low for the Girl Scouts attending the camps as the sales funds go to the operating costs.

The girls also get experience, she points out, in meeting the public, keeping accurate records and handling sums of money.

Girl Scouts coming to the door are asked to be in uniform, she says, but it may be hidden under a warm coat. Scouts also are permitted to take telephone orders.

This year the Girl Scouts have an attractive color order card picturing all six tasty varieties. They hope you'll take a look and order some or all.

Surprise, teacher!

Surprised and delighted, Michele Hazzard, eighth grade teacher at Our Lady of Victory School, unwraps a high chair at the maternity shower given by her class Friday at school. The surprise event, planned by her students and their parents, was held in the church social hall. Mrs. Hazzard, who also serves as assistant principal at OLV, will be taking a two-month leave early in February to have her first child.

Son and twin daughters are first babies in families

Identical twin daughters were a double Christmas gift to Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Hill of San Antonio, Texas. Mrs. Hill is the former Mandy Northrop of Northville.

The babies are the couple's first children and were born December 21. Betsy Russell Hill weighed six pounds, four ounces at birth while Megan Blake Hill weighed six pounds, eleven ounces.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ross Blake Northrop of Northville. Mrs. Northrop has just returned from visiting her daughter and family in Texas. Betsy is her namesake.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hill of San Antonio. The babies also have a great-grandmother, Mrs. Russell Hill, Sr. of San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. David Jerome of 46270 Bloomcrest have named their first child James David Lewis Jerome. He was born January 16 at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak with a birth weight of seven pounds, fifteen ounces.

Mrs. Jerome is the former Kathleen (Kathi) Schmidt.

Grandparents are the Reverend George Jerome of Novi and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schmidt of Grand Rapids.

Paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Ruth Enright of Livonia. Maternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Lewis Solomon of Grand Rapids.

Replaces spring musical

Four-night review planned at high school

A four-night "Review" to be held in April is being planned to replace the traditional spring musical at Northville High School.

It's to be a community-participation show, according to Kurt Kinde, high school drama teacher and producer of the school musical. Everyone from preschooler to senior citizen is invited to audition by appointment February 22, 23 or 25.

"This year we will be making major improvements in the auditorium, hopefully, a new grand drape, control booth and lighting equipment," Kinde explains, noting that "to cover costs of the improvements we have decided not to have the traditionally expensive musical and to try to tap some of our local unexposed talent in a 'Review'."

He adds that the show will not be a "gong-show" type but a community spring musical review.

"We would like especially to encourage organizations such as Senior Citizens, Rotary and the Jaycees to become a part," Kinde explains.

Any person residing in the Northville Public School District, without age restriction, is invited to participate.

Acts will include original works, creative character, comic routine, animal acts, baton, gymnastics, ventriloquist, song, mime, musical instruments, film, circus act, dance, vaudeville or any act suitable as family entertainment. Acts may run from three to 15 minutes in length.

Prizes are to be awarded with competition being by age category.

First prize is $100; second, $75; $50, third; $25, fourth; and $10 each honorable mention.

Audition reservations should be made by calling 227-2558 on or before February 20. Auditions will be held in the high school auditorium from 3 to 6 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, February 22 and 23; and noon to 4 p.m., 7 to 9 p.m., Saturday, February 25.

Onstage rehearsals will be scheduled with a technical one for all acts at 7 p.m. April 5. Full dress rehearsals will be April 10-13.

Northville High School Band will be able to provide musical accompaniment and the drama club will provide lighting, sound, props, make-up, costumes or scenery upon request.

Performance dates are Friday, April 14, Pee-Wee Night (0-13 years old); Saturday, April 15, On-the-Hill Gang (high school students and alumni); Friday, April 21, Over-the-Hill Gang (adults and families); Saturday, April 22, King of the Hill Gang (best acts — award night).

Band director Robert Williams, Kinde and the audience by ballot will be judging.

Ticket costs will be $2 each night for adults or $7 for a four-night ticket; children, $1 a night or $3 for all four

For women

Opportunities offered

The Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center is offering a number of opportunities for those who vowed to make 1978 a year for self-improvement.

An Adult Re-Entry Program will be offered every Wednesday beginning January 25 from 1:30 to 3 p.m. at the Center. Counselor Shirley Emerson will lead small group discussions giving participants an opportunity to explore new directions.

The program is offered without charge, however, individuals should call 591-6400, extension 430 to reserve a space.

Two career workshops are also scheduled. Introduction to Career Planning will be offered at three different times: January 24 from 9 a.m. to noon and 7 to 10 p.m., and January 25 from noon to 3 p.m. Counselor Bill Heise will introduce the primary issues for individuals making career plans and mid-career changes.

A workshop on Job-Hunting Techniques is being offered three different times: January 26 and February 14 from 9 to noon, and March 23 from 1 to 3 p.m. Counselor Jean Pike will lead a discussion with persons who have selected a career, but are seeking employment or wishing to change jobs. A well-planned job search including locating opportunities, resume writing and interviewing will be discussed.

These workshops will meet in Room 210 of the Liberal Arts Building without charge. Individuals who plan to attend should call the continuing education office at 591-6400, extension 404.

New Horizons, a four-session workshop will meet Mondays, January 23 through February 13, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in Room 200 of the Liberal Arts Building. Registration is $5.

Meads Mill students concentrate on career choices

Judy King, a ninth grade student at Meads Mill Junior High, is interested in accounting as a career.

Although Judy still has three years of high school to complete before she has to make a career choice, she already has had guidance in this direction.

Early last Friday morning she was one of four Meads Mill students using its career education center, set up by the school's two counselors with encouragement from Principal Ronald Horwath.

Because the counselors had an early interest in this area, Horwath says, the school is ahead of most in the field of career education, recently mandated by the state to be taught from kindergarten up.

A popular feature in the center is a Microfiche, a television-like instrument into which information cards are inserted. A survey of the occupation the student may have an interest in then is flashed on the screen. The student sitting in a booth in front of the Microfiche is able to read information on the screen on the career, aptitudes needed and opportunities available.

In the career center are catalogues from colleges so that a student can check early to see if such subjects as language are required by a college in which he may be interested.

There also are file indexes of career materials.

"If a student knows which career he or she is interested in, it's easiest," explains David Adair, who operates the center with fellow counselor Jeff Radwanski.

"A student who knows he's interested in science subjects can be shown careers relating to botany and biology."

The counselors have a file of all Meads Mill students and aim to see each at the center several times a year.

Horwath stresses that the program is working only through cooperation of the classroom teachers who extend their subject studies to explore careers in those areas. They also permit students to visit the center during classroom time.

Seventh grade students all receive the Kuder test; Eighth graders take the California Occupational Preference test; and ninth graders, the differential aptitude measuring ability.

The new center has acquired a complete military file, listing occupations and opportunities in U.S. service.

"A student who may be interested in engineering but may not have funds for college can see the opportunities through the military service," Adair points out. The center, he adds, also has information on apprenticeship programs.

A student aide is stationed in the center throughout the day to help students look up information. She gets a written report crediting her work at the end of the semester, as do all student aides in the building, Horwath notes.

Meads Mill was well under way with its career program before such guidance was mandated by Public Act 97, an act, Adair explains, that will insure teaching about careers from kindergarten through 12th grade.

At the lower elementary levels, he says, "the thrust will be awareness" of careers available.

Aiding in furthering the teaching of career education in Northville schools is a state grant of $5,000 of which Meads Mill received $1,200. The counselors also have learned that the school is in line for a federal grant.

With such funds they hope to purchase an additional Microfiche and expand the center.

They're also planning a series of career days with the first on science to be February 22. A social studies one will follow in March.

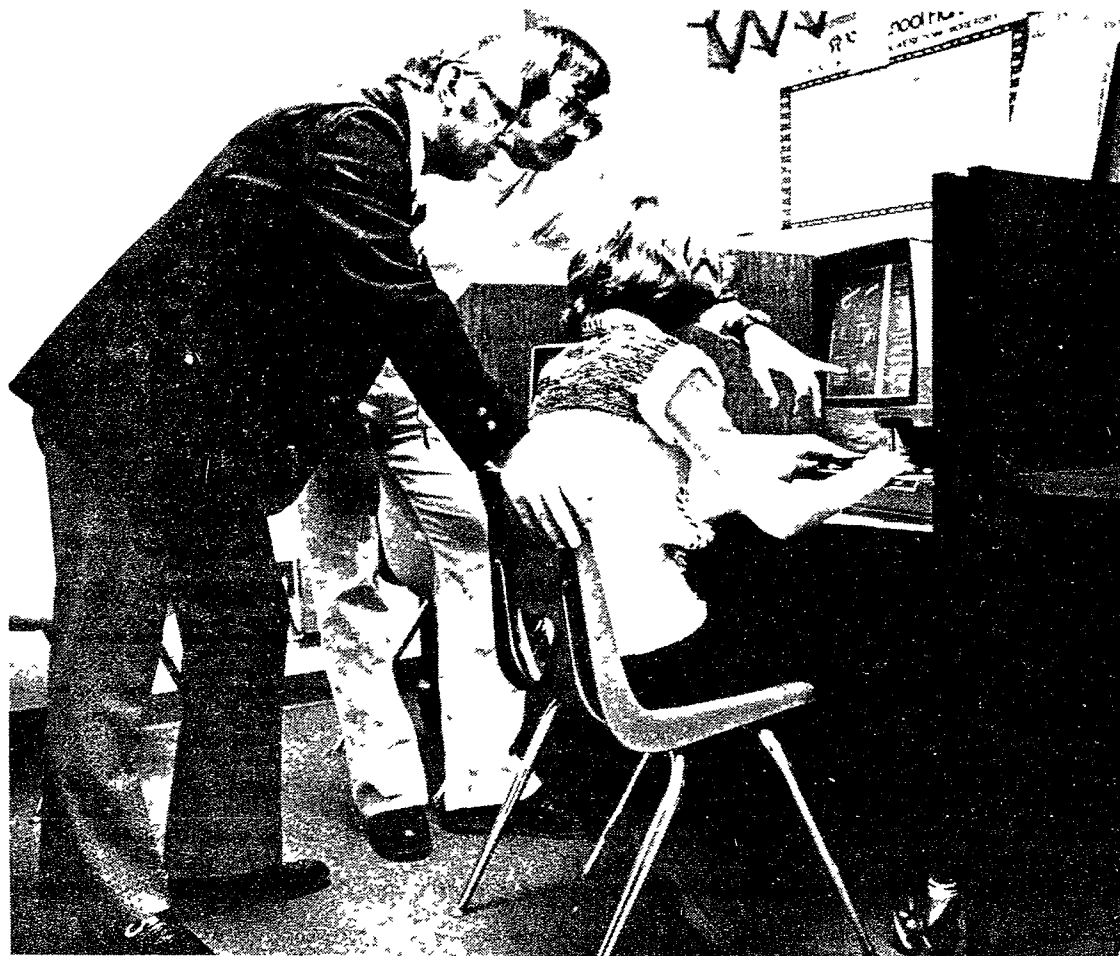

The counseling staff is working with a PTA committee and the AAUW to gain participation of adults now working in occupations being studied.

On the PTA committee are Mrs. Lois Housman, Mrs. Ann Bischoff, Mrs. Glenda Buist and Mrs. Margaret Denhof.

The counselors will be stressing job skills, how to behave in an interview and ways to prepare a resume as the center expands.

"It used to be that we saw only students with problems," Adair recalls, "but a needs assessment showed us that such counseling was a minor factor and that students rated career help high."

That's why Meads Mill is ahead with its career center and why Adair and Radwanski say they're "hoping for bigger things" in this area.

College offers opportunities

According to facilitator Jane Kaake, this is not a career workshop, but "a positive, supportive, small group experience in self-awareness which has proven to be a good first step for many women." The workshop provides an opportunity for informal exchange of ideas, personal re-evaluation and goal setting.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Women's Resource Center at extension 430. Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

Handbooks going out

Editor's Note: Northville PTA news is compiled by parent-volunteer Marge Ercoli, 348-9350. The column appears on the last Wednesday of the month during the school year.

PTSA COUNCIL NEWS

All of us in your Northville Coordinating Council want to welcome everyone back and hope 1978 will be a successful year for all.

Our Science Fair chairman, Judy Dore 349-1052, reports all the schools are preparing for their Science Fair. Each school this year will host its own fair in the next few weeks. We hope all parents will try to visit their child's school and observe the students' science displays.

Each of the schools has received copies of the PTSA handbooks, and they will be distributed to the PTSA membership as soon as possible.

Mrs. Bo Hall, and Mrs. Mary Ann Mitchell spent many hours putting the handbook together and have volunteered to take on the job again next year. Our sincere thanks to both gals for a job well done and also to the merchants of Northville, and surrounding cities, for their advertising. We hope everyone will keep the book handy for needed school information and as your own "yellow pages" for shopping in our area.

ance and exits of the northeast and southeast parking lots. The program was expedited by Sharon Lang. A safety committee is now being formed to make as many necessary changes in dangerous traffic situations as possible.

The Science Fair for Amerman students will be set up Monday, February 13, during school hours. The students will be encouraged to view the fair on the 14th, and parents will be invited to an open house from 7 to 8:30 p.m. that evening to see the exhibits. The students taking part in the fair will receive participant ribbons.

Thursday, February 9, interested families will be invited to attend a "Football Hour" with University of Michigan All-American from the past, Al Wistert. Mr. Wistert is one of three brothers who played as All-American with U. of M. He plans to show films and share some of his experiences. Refreshments will be served.

The Amerman Family Sing-A-Long and bon fire December 14 brought out about 250 persons who shared the warmth of the fire, the holiday spirit and hot chocolate.

Ann Jarvi, the music teacher, led the students and parents in song. The fire was built in split barrel-type drums raised on bricks which provided warmth and atmosphere.

Friday morning, January 20, the lower elementary children were fortunate enough to view a presentation by the Molby Marionettes, entitled, "Snow Queen". The play depicted the story of the love of a little girl and boy for each other in spite of the efforts of the evil snow queen who abducts the little boy.

WINCHESTER

"A sunny vacation is just a dream away," say Judy Kramer and Donna Nawrot, co-chairmen of Winchester's mother and daughter night.

They hope to chase the winter blues away on the evening of February 9 for girls of the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades and their moms. A fashion show and slide presentation on sunny vacation spots will be featured.

A dessert and punch and coffee will be served.

A Parent Visitation Day was held January 13. Many mothers and some fathers and preschool brothers and sisters came to visit and observe the early morning activity.

The Campbell Soup Contest began as of the first of the year. Gwen Olsen says a goal of 12,500 labels has been set. She has collected enough Chunky Soup labels for an extra bonus. A preliminary reservation has been sent into the company for items the school would like.

Junior Entertainment Series chairman, Evelyn Benefield, reports that a marionette show for kdg.-3 was held January 19. Sometime during the week of February 6, the Livonia Youth Quartet will perform.

Glenda Buist reports that "notices of intention" to enter the Science Fair were distributed and must be returned by January 27. Winchester's Science Fair will be held in the spring. William Lenz will be the teacher representative.

Circle February 27 on your calendar. That's the evening the Board of Education will meet at Winchester.

An Orff instrument donated by the PTA was presented to the music department the evening of the Christmas program.

SILVER SPRINGS

Students and staff at Silver Springs are only a couple of weeks into 1978, but they are moving ahead quickly with plans formulated in 1977.

Our school student council members are very active with their many projects. They are busy counting and sorting Campbell Soup labels. They hope to reach their goal and get two portable soccer goals and some map and globe media center materials.

They did so well at their first pizza sale last December, they are making plans to use their newly earned capital to its best advantage. Plans are being explored concerning establishing a school store similar to the High School Hill Top store, only on a smaller scale. They met last week with teachers, Mrs. Janice Probst and Wayne Saunders, and the Merchandising II class at the high school.

They explained how a store must be organized and about the inventory and how to operate it. They invited the class representatives back to visit S.S. to help them finalize their plans with the student council members. We all wish these young business executives much luck and success.

A sweatshirt sale is being held by the Movement Education Program. Their Spring Fun Run is tentatively planned for May 6, and, though warm weather seems far off, those sweatshirts will be perfect outfits to run in come May. Anyone wondering just what the Movement Education Program is? There will be a demonstration put on by the K-1-2 classes today (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. in Silver Springs gym.

The 1978 Science Fair at S.S. will be held in the Media Center with participants from the lower, middle and upper levels. Mrs. Lynn Sherman, our Science Fair teacher rep., reports the students are very enthusiastic and anxious to get their displays started. They will be shown from February 20-23 with the evening of February 22 for parent viewing.

Next month one of our classes will be studying a communications unit, in particular, the post office. They will turn the school into a mini-post office, with each classroom having its own zip code. All the skills of a post office will be studied with every class learning along with Mrs. Lynn Sherman's third and fourth graders.

The PTSA at S.S. scheduled three Family Swim Nights. The K-1-2's night was January 12, 3-4 graders, January 24, and the 5-6 graders have the pool reserved for February 23.

If keeping active was a New Year's resolution at S.S., it's one that hasn't been broken!

MEADS MILL

The school board conducted a regular meeting session at Meads Mill on January 23 as part of the practice of rotating meetings in each of the district's seven schools this year.

For the first time, Meads Mill is happy to have a forensics team with Mrs.

Wilma Castillo as the teacher. Class met January 23 to make plans for the semester.

Yearbook sales are underway. Pictures are being taken. Mrs. Brenda Irish and Mrs. Barbara Sansone are in charge of the Yearbook project.

A Career-Education Day is scheduled for 8-10 a.m. February 22, for all students. "Careers in Science" will be the theme. There will be many parents and other outside professionals coming in to help. Later on another career education day will be scheduled covering other career categories.

The Student Council has taken charge of a rotating hall-guard squad during lunch hours. This service of the students is working out very well.

Bagel sales on Wednesday during the lunch hours continue to be successful. School pennants are being sold for $1.50 at lunch time, and at sporting events. Another lunch-time bake sale is scheduled for February 24.

Glenda Buist reports that "notice of intention" to enter the Science Fair were distributed and must be returned by January 27. Winchester's Science Fair will be held in the spring. William Lenz will be the teacher representative.

Circle February 27 on your calendar. That's the evening the Board of Education will meet at Winchester.

An Orff instrument donated by the PTAA was presented to the music department the evening of the Christmas program.

Symphony family concert's Sunday

The Plymouth Symphony's Family Concert, an annual event since 1952, will be presented at 4 p.m. this Sunday at Plymouth-Salem High School auditorium.

This particular concert, always planned to excite young people as well as seasoned music lovers, is exceptional in both respects.

Not only will it feature the father and son combination of Louis B. Stout Sr. and Jr., but the symphony's own outstanding young trumpeter, Arthur E. (Skip) Larson, Jr.

Also appearing will be a group of young violinists from the Suzuki Association of Plymouth, all trained in the renowned Suzuki method.

Conductor for this concert will be Clark Etienne Suttle, a young man formerly of Livonia now living in Ann Arbor where he is a lecturer in music at the University of Michigan and also conductor and musical director for Eastern Michigan University orchestra.

The Stouts, both French horn virtuosos, have performed with symphony orchestras all over the country, as well as appeared on television shows and special lecture-demonstrations of the senior Stout's creation, "The Horn, from the Forest to the Concert Hall."

Sunday's program is as follows:

Overture to "The Magic Flute" by Mozart;

"Pumpkin Eater's Little Fugue" by McBride;

"Bouree" by Handel;

"Allegro" by Suzuki;

"Twinkle Variations" by Suzuki.

Suzuki violins will perform "Concerto for Trumpet and Orchestra (first movement)" by Hummel with Arthur E. Larson, Jr., trumpet.

Following intermission will be "Concerto No. 5 for Two Horns and Orchestra" by Rosetti with Louis J. Stout, Sr. and Louis J. Stout, Jr., French horns;

"Peacock Variations" by Kodaly.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased at the door, or prior to the January 29 concert date, at: Arnold Williams Music, Inc., Ford and Canton Center roads, Audette Office Supply, Beitner Jewelry, Book World and Heide Florist.

Adult tickets are $3.50; Senior Citizens, $1.75 and students (K-12) are free.

The Girl Scouts will provide baby-sitting service.

This program, as all Plymouth Symphony programs, is made possible in part by the State of Michigan through an operational grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Those featured in Sunday's concert have impressive musical backgrounds: Suzuki Vilonis is a well-known educator and violinist. He has founded a school of education in which music is taught to young children as the mother language is taught. He stresses the belief that all children have natural ability, or talent.

The Plymouth Suzuki Association was founded six years ago and has grown to more than 30 students, ranging in age from four to 10. Every child has a private and group violin lesson each week. There also is daily parent-supervised practice.

Clark Etienne Suttle holds a bachelor of music in double bass performance and a minor instrumental conducting. He is a master of music in conducting granted in 1976. Both degrees are from the University of Michigan.

Currently he is a lecturer in music at U-M, double bass performance, and conductor and musical director for Eastern Michigan University orchestra.

Louis J. Stout, Jr., is a teaching fellow at the University of Michigan and is horn instructor at Heidelberg College in Ohio. He performed as solo horn of the Air Force Academy Band for four years.

He has performed often with his father, Professor Louis J. Stout, Sr., who has taught horn at the University of Michigan and Chicago School of Music as well as at New England Music Camp.

He has recorded extensively with the Chicago Symphony and commercially.

He has published "English Folk Songs" and "Special Fingerings for Horn."
