Spring fling

Take Easter vacation and mix it with a warm sun and you've got yourself the sights and sounds of spring. Photographer Jack Margolis captured spring in this picture of youngsters playing on the grounds of Main Street Elementary School this past week. Spring dug in to stay this week but it was back to school for students who had enjoyed a week of respite from the classroom.

Court date is next in zoning squabble

The owner of a controversial 60-acre land parcel on Seven Mile Road has gone to court to try and force Northville Township to approve a 224-unit apartment complex.

The action came after last Tuesday night's planning commission decision to approve the plans contingent on the result of an attempt to rezone the property to its original single family residential status.

Such a rezoning would prohibit the apartments.

Attorneys for Dr. Waldemar E. Gizynski, who owns the land on the north side of Seven Mile east of Northville Road, said the commission's decision amounted to "delaying tactics" that were "beyond the scope" of the board's powers.

A circuit court date has been set for Monday before Judge Horace W. Gilmore.

The legal action is the latest but not wholly unexpected step in what has been a 12-year saga surrounding the Seven Mile Road property.

In 1967, following more than a year of discussion, the planning commission rezoned the land to residential multiple after Dr. Gizynski proposed a convalescent home and retirement village.

Those plans were eventually scrapped in favor of an apartment complex which, in one form or another, has been before the township since 1972.

The property in question is a relatively narrow but deep strip of vacant land parallel to and west of Marilyn Street.

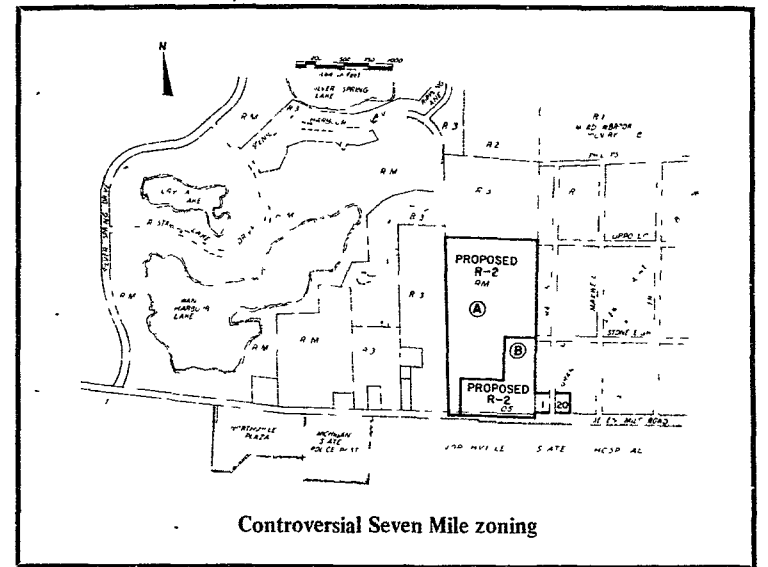

Adjacent landowners to the east in Grandview Acres have staunchly objected to the apartments and their protests triggered a rezoning hearing scheduled for Tuesday night.

Last Tuesday, the commission recommended final approval for half of the project and preliminary approval for the rest subject to the meeting of requirements spelled out by the township planning consultant and engineer and contingent on the rezoning result.

Board members Marvin Gans, Kenneth Sewell, Mark Lysinger, J. Craig Bowlby and William Zapke all voted "yes." Bernard Baldwin, chairing the meeting in place of absent William Bohan, did not vote because there was no tie but indicated he agreed with the board's action.

Gizynski's attorneys have said that the rezoning attempt itself is improper since it is aimed at preventing the apartments which are an allowed use under the township zoning plan.

Plan new subdivision in city near Rogers

Preliminary plat for an "Ole Village" subdivision was on the agenda of Northville City Planners for a first hearing Tuesday night.

It is being developed by Denis Roux, who says he expects to build custom homes on the 10 or 11 lots in the parcel located south of Eight Mile and east of Lexington boulevard off Potomac and extending to Rogers.

The preliminary hearing last night was to replot existing lot 440 on the city plat, an area of more than seven acres and one of the largest lots in the city. It had been owned by the Hay family.

Roux said he already has had inquiries about the building lots and expects to have colonial homes of from 2,500 to 2,800 square feet and ranches containing about 2,000.

The planners also were holding a public hearing on an amendment to the zoning ordinance to cause the zoning map to conform to action taken at a 1974 public hearing changing two lots on north Rayson east of Center from Residential-2 to PBO (professional and business office).

Bar in dispute

Whether or not a Center Street downtown building should be returned to an earlier use as a bar appears now to be in the hands of the State Liquor Control Commission.

However, in tabling action pending the commission's ruling, council members questioned the wisdom of another bar in the central business district.

"I wonder if it is needed, under any circumstances," said Councilman J. Burton DeRusha as Mayor Paul Vernon observed that it would be the fourth bar within a block area.

School incumbents may run

2 board seats still uncontested

The Northville school board election, which has attracted candidates by the droves in recent years, is on the verge of being an uncontested race won by the incumbents.

Karen Wilkenson, the board treasurer who is completing a four-year term, and James Lewis, elected to fill a one-year vacancy last summer, have both picked up nominating petitions for the two four-year seats that will be on the June 12 ballot.

But as of Monday, a week before the filing deadline date, no one else has even made an inquiry at the school board office concerning the upcoming election.

"I haven't even had a phone call," said Thomas Goulding, administrative assistant for finance.

Someone with an inclination to enter the race can still do so with relative ease. All it takes is 20 signatures from registered school district voters.

The petitions must be submitted to the school board office no later than 4 p.m. next Monday (April 10).

No incumbent has sought re-election to the Northville board since the current president, John Hobart, in 1975. The last two elections have brought five new faces to the seven-member board.

Two years ago, Christopher Johnson and Marjorie Sliger headed a field of seven after President Orlo Robinson and Martin Rinehart did not seek re-election.

Last year, Lewis, Douglas Whitaker and Charles Peltz were elected to terms of one, two and four years. They replaced President Sylvia Gucken and Robert Mandell, who both moved out of the district, and Roger Niuewkoop, who did not seek re-election.

There are several theories for what appears to be a lack of candidates this year.

First, there are no burning issues to compare with those that have sometimes rocked the school district recently. Now that Superintendent Raymond Spear has resigned, the most important topic is the April 29 millage election which will be over before board campaigns get off the ground.

Second, both terms this year are for four years and few people may want to make the time commitments that the non-paying job requires.

Of late, the board has been meeting almost every Monday until nearly midnight. Twice weekly meetings have not been uncommon, especially when committee meetings are considered.

Board members are also given voluminous reading material and must often contend with home phone calls from district parents and taxpayers.

Third, some may take a look at the financial disclosure and campaign financing forms and decide the hassle is not worth it.

Three candidates last summer innocently forgot to mail in one of three reports to Oakland County officials and were threatened with $10-a-day fines. In each case, the fines were far above the meager campaign expenditures.

In fact, once a board candidate files a nominating petition, he or she must file financial reports even if no money is ever spent.

Downs meet nears end

Saturday night will mark the end of harness racing at Northville Downs until October 23 when Jackson's fall meet opens the 1978-79 season.

Meanwhile, Northville Downs continues to enjoy an 11 percent increase in mutual handle as its current meet draws to a close. Saturday night betting hit a new high for the year with a total mutual handle of $646,810. Attendance was 5,558.

Through last Saturday night, the 76th night of racing for the Downs' meet, betting averaged $403,890 nightly with a total mutual handle of $30,695,899. Total attendance to date has been 230,186, an average of 3,029, down 2.1 percent from last year.

NEWS BRIEFS

'DOING FINE' — that's the report this week on John Genitti, Jr., owner of John's EMB Food-Meat Market at 108 East Main, who suffered a coronary March 28. He is out of the intensive care coronary unit at St. Mary Hospital, his family reports, but is not expected to be released from the hospital for several days. Then, says his wife, Toni, he'll be "in circulation" shortly.

WHILE City of Northville officials press for county improvement of Eight Mile Road east of Novi Road, officials of the Wayne County Road Commission have indicated that Eight Mile Road from Taft west to Napier "will probably be resurfaced this summer."

OPEN DOOR Christian Church has closed its purchase of the building (formerly Drawbridge Restaurant at the corner of Center and Dunlap streets) from Metropolitan Savings Association. In the process, the parking assessment for the building in the amount of $18,000 for 12 parking space credits, plus accumulated interest for $3,164 was paid by the seller to the city's parking fund.

CITY COUNCIL was to receive the city manager's proposed 1978-79 budget this week, with the first budget meeting slated for next Monday night.

NO PARKING on one side of four different streets in the city has been ordered by city council. They include the west side of Linden between Dunlap and Randolph, west side of Rogers for 100 feet south of Main, west side of Carpenter between Lake and Baseline, and the north side of Walnut from Center to East. Narrowness of street or traffic volume prompted the ban. Other streets in the city also are being considered for a similar ban.

HAVING urged Wayne County to consider shoulder improvements on Eight Mile Road east of the C&O viaduct, council was miffed this week by the county's reply that indicated the problem could be solved with widening of Eight Mile between Center and Novi roads. Council fired off another letter to the county, pointing out the hazard that is causing traffic accidents and traffic fatalities lies east of the viaduct.

Detector sale ends April 15

April 15 is an important deadline in Northville Township and it has nothing to do with the IRS.

After that date, the township fire department will discontinue its immensely successful smoke and fire detector sale.

"There's still about 130 left," said Captain Donald Riffenberg after Saturday's sale at the A&P grocery store in Northville Plaza.

About 200 were sold Saturday bringing to 2300 the total number of detectors sold by the department in little more than a month.

"There probably won't be any more big sales. We've hit about every decent spot," said Riffenberg.

The Honeywell four-stage alarms will continue to be sold at the volunteer department's engine house, located in the Wayne County Child Development center property, east of Sheldon Road and north of Five Mile Road.

Even though there have been successful sales at several subdivisions and in Northville City, the department is still selling 20 to 30 detectors a day, said Riffenberg.

"We hope to get rid of the remaining 130 by April 15. That's when the rebate program ends," he said.

The department has been selling the detectors for $19.95 which is its cost from Honeywell. Buyers can receive a $5 rebate from Honeywell if they mail the company proof of purchase by April 15.

After that date, the department plans to ship any unsold alarms to the company.

Fire Chief Robert Toms said the non-profit sale was started to improve the safety of Northville-area homes. He has been delighted with the success of the sale.

It may be coincidence, but he points out there have been a shortage of fires since the department began peddling the detectors in February.

This month, for instance, the township department has had only three runs. Two of those were mattress fires at state institutions and the third was a minor car fire Monday morning.

Persons wanting more information about the detectors should call 455-5535.

Reading and math

Northville scores on state test

Opinions vary on the validity of state assessment tests given annually to all Michigan fourth and seventh graders. One thing is certain. If the math and reading scores were graded on a class curve, Northville Public Schools would rate "straight A" marks.

Only four of 85 Wayne, Oakland and Macomb county school districts had a higher average percentage of students than Northville who scored at "acceptable" levels on the achievement tests given last fall.

Three of these — Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham and Novi — are in Oakland County. The only Wayne County school district to score higher than Northville was Grosse Pointe.

Most school officials shudder when they see assessment test scores used as comparisons among school districts. Rather, they say, the tests pinpoint weaknesses in both the state and individual education systems.

Statewide, for example, students scored relatively low on math problems about metrics. Northville seventh graders also had problems with story problems and fractions although the percentage of students scoring at "acceptable" levels in math was the third highest in Wayne County.

The "acceptable" level was arbitrarily set by the state department of education in this manner.

A number of objectives, ranging from 18 in fourth grade reading to 45 in seventh grade math, were devised for each test. A student was said to have mastered an objective if he answers correctly four of the five questions on that topic.

Mastering 75 percent of the objectives gives the students an "accept-table" score.

Thus, Northville's 86.2 score in seventh grade reading means that 86.2 percent of the seventh grade students correctly answered at least four of five questions on at least 15 of the 20 objectives.

Northville's other scores were 75.8 in fourth grade reading, 92.6 in fourth grade math and 68.5 in seventh grade math.

It is wise not to jump to conclusions when looking at these totals. For instance, it is probably not valid to assume that Northville is doing a much better job in fourth grade math than in seventh grade because of the wide discrepancy of the scores.

The results more likely indicate that the seventh grade test was more difficult since almost every school district in the three-county area scored lower in seventh grade math than in any other area.

Northville's average score on the four tests was 80.8. That trails only Bloomfield Hills (88.8), Birmingham (88.1) and Novi (84.2) in Oakland County and Grosse Pointe (86.2) in Wayne County.

Romeo's 76.55 was the highest score in Macomb County.

Only Novi scored higher among Northville's adjacent school districts. Farmington, Livonia, South Lyon and Plymouth ranged from 75.7 to 73.8.

Individual test scores are sent home to parents. Cumulative scores by building are also tabulated and are public record.

Governor William Milliken wants the tests expanded to the tenth grade.

Test results are not designed to indicate if a teacher, building or school district is doing a "good" or "bad" job.

The 75 percent "acceptable" figure chosen by the department of education is convenient for compilation purposes, but no one can say for sure what Northville's 86.2 seventh grade reading score means in terms of the reading program.

And, as Director of Instruction Nancy Soper pointed out last fall, the Michigan assessment tests measure only "minimal expectations in math and reading. We have expectations far above that (in Northville)."

If the tests show anything conclusively, it is that the highest scores generally come from the more affluent and better educated suburban families.

Below is a list of the cumulative average scores for the 64 Wayne and Oakland county school districts.

Drop-in center eyed for Northville

Troubled Northville youngsters — potential runaways, girls worried about pregnancy and those who just need someone to talk to — may find that help is around the corner.

A drop-in counseling center, staffed by volunteers with professional training, is being considered in Northville.

The Northville Chamber of Commerce board of directors will discuss the idea next week at its regular meeting (7:30 p.m. Thursday, city hall). Attending will be representatives from schools, churches, police departments and the district court probation office.

"We want input from their experience and to get their suggestions on whether it (a drop-in center) is needed," said Chamber President Marge Cinader.

Mrs. Cinader became interested in the center after a representative from an area youth agency spoke to her daughter's high school class.

"Kids have so many questions and a lot of parents won't talk to them or they won't talk to their parents," said Mrs. Cinader.

A center, she said, might operate two days a week. It would be someplace where kids "can go and start to get some answers. If you can keep one kid out of trouble, it's worth it."

Barbara Bergman, who works for Out Wayne County Youth Services Coalition, Inc., said that the non-profit youth agency would be happy to lend its expertise should the community decide to form a drop-in center.

"If the community is interested, we could pick up the ball and run with it," she said. "Without community support, you can't do it."

People often have unfounded worries about drop-in centers because they don't understand what they are, she said.

Basically, a center provides information, referral services and a sympathetic ear for problems which kids might not be able to talk to their parents about.

Such subjects include but are not limited to sex, drugs, venereal disease, peer pressure, group acceptance and family problems.

"It's a place where kids can come a couple nights a week and talk about what's coming down," said Mrs. Bergman.

Although a center may distribute educational material about drugs, "we do not deal with substance abusers," said Mrs. Bergman.

"We are not equipped, funded or knowledgeable for drug counseling. Any time a kid is high, we will make a referral to a drug counseling center."

Kids who are high on drugs are not allowed to use center facilities because they "endanger other kids and make it look as though we tolerate it."

The coalition does not have the money to staff a center in Northville, but it will train community volunteers to man the volunteers.

The type of training "depends on what the community wants."

Northville had a short-lived drop-in center six years ago. One of its founders, high school counselor Jack Wickens, said there is still "some need" for a center today.

"I don't know the extent but we can see signs of student alienation up here just in terms of the vandalism," he said.

When he and former counselor Vic Temple started the center in 1972, "We found that high school counseling was one of the last places that some kids who need help would go. We thought that the best deal was getting a center away from the high school."

The center was housed in a store that was torn down to make way for the Northville Square shopping plaza. The inability to find a better location and the emergence of the Our House drop-in center in Plymouth spelled the end of the Northville project.

Some of the promoters of the Northville center are hoping a church will provide space two nights a week

Millage panel advised: Take message door-to-door

A veteran of an unsuccessful millage campaign in nearby Livonia had a blunt message Monday night for a steering committee that hopes to pass a 5.5 mill hike in Northville.

It's time to get out of committee meetings and strategy sessions and get down to some old-fashioned hard work, said James Carlson of the Livonia-Northville Education Association.

"If you are just going to present the material, I don't think you are going to win," he said. "You are going to have to do a little evangelizing."

Door-to-door campaigning, phone surveys and coffee klatches where people can "actually question a school board member or a student" are required to pass a millage, he said.

The important thing, he stressed, is to reach the parents of elementary, junior high and high school students rather than concentrating on the standard civic and community groups.

"Livonia probably had 100 different meetings and probably only got to 400 different voters," he said.

A Livonia tax hike was defeated by a

2-1 margin on February 27, the same day that the Northville school board decided to seek 5.5 additional mills for 10 years.

On the basis of past elections, Northville officials have predicted that more than 2000 "yes" votes are necessary for the April 29 issue to pass.

"We knew how many votes were needed in Livonia, too," said Carlson. The 8700 "no" voters were no surprise, he said, but the millage supporters only got out a few more than 4000 "yes" votes.

"Meetings and good press won't pass the millage," he warned. "The only way is to get out there and advocate your concerns with the people who count."

Toward that end, the parent-teacher groups of Northville's seven schools have been assigned the task of getting 400 positive voters to the polls.

The groups will use voter registration lists, coffee klatches, school meetings and a lot of enthusiasm to reach that goal.

A general distribution fact sheet and a position statement by the steering committee are undergoing final touches and both will be available within the next week.

The last time Northville had a successful millage election (June of 1977), "we went door-to-door during the last two weeks with handouts," recalled Joan Roth who, along with Joseph Fiorelli, chairs the steering committee.

The committee consists of parents, teachers, interested citizens, students, school board members and administrators.

Northville Education Association President Barbara LeBoeuf said there are 350 teachers living in the Northville school district and efforts would be made to insure that the positive voters from that group make it to the polls.

Board trustee Marjorie Sliger said she had set up about nine speaking engagements for board members and administrators before various groups. Another half-dozen appointments were likely, she said.

The League of Women Voters may be sponsoring a pro-and-con debate about the merits of the millage later this month.

The committee meets next on Wednesday, April 12, at 7:30 p.m.

Council to buy bulldozer

Three costly department of public works matters were taken up by the Northville City Council Monday.

Of the three, only one was resolved. Council approved the purchase of a $10,000 bulldozer.

The two unresolved matters include the purchase of water pumping equipment for the city's water tower, and a request for reimbursement of damages to a home resulting from a sewer back-up.

Purchase of the bulldozer was strongly recommended by the DPW Superintendent Bud Hartner, who told council that rental of a bulldozer for city work has proved very costly. Furthermore, he noted that use of the city's back-hoe equipment for bulldozing work has resulted in costly damages.

The used bulldozer is to be purchased from Kocian Excavating Company of Northville.

The bulldozer could very likely pay for itself through rental savings and given the fact that much of its value would be retained should the city decide to sell it within two years, Hartner said.

The DPW superintendent said there are a number of on-going projects in the city that require use of a dozer. Among them are Allen Terrace senior citizens complex, development of the municipal parking lot at Hutton and Main Street, development of new water lines, and recreational field preparations.

Presently, even when the city does rent a dozer, the DPW often must delay a project until the renting company can schedule its use, said Hartner.

Hartner also recommended that council consider the purchase of pumping equipment for the water tower and reservoir near the high school.

Cost estimates of this equipment, which will be in excess of $20,000, is to be supplied council later this week.

Next Monday night council members will tour the water reservoir-tower facility with Hartner to get a better understanding of the equipment needed.

According to City Manager Steven Walters, the equipment is required in large part to assure adequate water pressure to township areas west of the city. Part of the cost, he observed will be shouldered by the township. How much the township's share might be has yet to be determined, he said.

A request by Dale L. Gloer of 804 Springfield Drive for reimbursement of $819 of carpet damage resulting from a sewer back-up has been referred to the city's liability insurance company.

Meanwhile, the city is checking the Lexington Commons sewer line to determine if the sewer back-up represents city negligence.

According to Gloer the back-up destroyed the carpeting and damaged furniture and walls in the finished basement.

Initial investigation, according to Hartner and City Manager Steven Walters, indicated that a detergent build-up in the sewer line created the problem. However, it has not yet been determined if debris of other kinds also may have been responsible.

The sewer is now working properly, said Hartner.

Gloer told council his insurance does not cover the damage.

Cardiologist to speak

Review Movement Ed

Troy cardiologist Joseph Arends will highlight tomorrow (Thursday) night's meeting to review and evaluate Movement Education in the Northville schools.

Arends, who preaches a doctrine of preventing heart attacks with exercise and good health habits, will speak on "Movement Education Programs for Better Health."

Movement Education is an experimental alternative to the traditional gym classes offered in most schools. Northville schools have received grant money to try the program in Silver Springs and Winchester elementary schools.

Thursday night's meeting begins at 8 p.m. in the board of education building, 303 West Main Street.

Movement Education is based on the belief that school gym classes should stress life-long exercise for everyone rather than stressing team sports for the above-average athletes.

Arends, an avid jogger, strongly believes in the concept. He says Americans are overweight, under-exercised and poorly educated about physical fitness.

He runs as many as 40 miles a week and insists that the staff in his Troy office also jog regularly.

Dr. Arends works throughout the state with teachers, parents and students to help them develop and implement life-long individual cardiovascular fitness and nutrition programs.

Late last summer, he spoke with Northville teachers about jogging, heart care and good health.

Thursday's meeting is part of a review to see if Movement Ed should continue in the Northville system. There are critics of the program who say necessary skills are ignored or shortchanged and who claim children do not get the same physical training that they do in standard gym classes.

Thursday's meeting will include a slide presentation of Northville's movement ed program and a panel discussion which will last until 9:45 p.m.

Solicitations trigger dispute

"Give once for all," means exactly that to Councilman Wallace Nichols.

If Nichols had his way the city would ban all door-to-door solicitations except the single United Foundations campaign.

He's made that point clear on several occasions, casting the long "no" vote when an agency requests approval for solicitation in the city.

"It's a matter of principle," he has asserted.

Monday night he picked up support from another council member that led to a rare 2-2 tie vote. (Councilman Stanley Johnston was absent).

The tie means the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation failed to secure council approval to solicit funds here in May.

Voting "no" with Nichols was Councilman Dewey Gardner, who noted that Juvenile Diabetes Foundation request is a new one — not one of those drives that have received council approval in the past.

When the Muscular Dystrophy Association request to solicit funds came up shortly thereafter, Gardner voted with two other council members in granting permission Nichols voted "no."

The United Foundation is suppose to be a "give once for all" campaign, but slowly it is being eroded, with one agency after another going off on its own to conduct separate campaigns, observed Nichols.

"There are just so many straws we can carry," he said.

Obviously miffed, Mayor Paul Vernon said he as a council member, did not want to "pick and choose" agencies that should receive council approval. "My choice to give or not to give will be made at the door."

"It seems unreasonable to me to say that if an agency is not a member of the U-F it cannot solicit funds in the city," said the mayor.

Councilman J. Burton DeRusha said he is not offended by such solicitations, particularly when he considers the worthy causes they represent.

"It's a personal choice of the individual" to give or not to give, he said.

"I've nothing against the Diabetes Foundation a member of my family is dying from the disease, but I get sick of all these agencies coming to us I see a difference with local charities," said Gardner.

"It's a matter of feeling duped," said Nichols. "It must end somewhere."

The muscular dystrophy drive is one that has been approved for years, said Gardner, and hence he has no objection to continuing council support of the MD drive.

Council approval or disapproval may be academic.

According to City Manager Steven Walters there is no legal requirement that agencies obtain council approval. It's simply a matter of endorsement, of alerting the police department when solicitations are occurring.

A HILF/KELLER PRODUCTION

County urges haste in super sewer impact study

The Wayne County Board of Public Works has urged federal officials to "Act swiftly and approve the construction of the Huron Valley Wastewater Control System to abate serious water pollution problems that have reached the crisis stage."

The appeal was made by Wayne County Commissioner William Sullivan, chairman of the board of public works, at a March 30 public meeting in Trenton sponsored by the Region V office of the U.S. Environmental and Protection Agency (EPA).

"Sewage disposal problems are critical in the 18 communities that make up the Huron Valley District," Sullivan told the EPA officials.

"Even as we talk, recreation areas are being severely polluted, sewage is backing up into family basements, building permits are being denied and people are drawing water in jugs from their town hall because their well water is contaminated and unfit to drink," he testified.

The proposed system would serve 14 Western and Downriver Wayne County communities, plus Walled Lake, Commerce Township and Novi in Oakland County and S. Rockwood in Monroe County. Sumpter Township in Wayne County has experienced contaminated wells, resulting in a small outbreak of hepatitis, he said.

Sullivan said that EPA approval was essential in order to obtain 75 percent federal funding for the project which will cost a minimum of $165 million to construct. At stake, Sullivan says, is at least $125 million in federal funds — plus the economic, recreational and health needs of the people who live in the area now, or those who want to build there.

He said the EPA has reneged twice on commitments to complete its Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) which involves assessing the social, economic and environmental impact of the proposed Huron Valley System and approximately four alternative proposals for sewage disposal.

"For every month that the project is delayed, the cost goes up an additional $2 million due to inflation," Sullivan pointed out. "This sewage disposal project is an urgent priority. We strongly urge you to re-examine your needs and projected deadlines for the completion of the EIS."

Sullivan said that a recent EPA letter informed the Department of Public Works that a promised October completion date could not be met because it was necessary to analyze 1977 census forms. He said the board of public works and its consultants would cooperate fully in securing the necessary data.

In addition to urging swift action by the EPA, Sullivan made a strong case for approval of the Huron Valley Wastewater Control System, as the most "cost-effective alternative" and the one that would provide the "broadest water quality improvement."

Sullivan cited the following advantages:

—Thirteen of the 14 Wayne County communities and the City of Novi have executed their respective agreements for financing the local share of the planning and design phases of the system.

—Since 1960 at least five major studies have concluded that the HVS is the best solution to the wastewater problem. This includes an endorsement by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, which has also emphatically rejected alternate plan V-B which calls for expansion of existing treatment plants.

—The system will save the citizens in the study area up to $2 million per year in comparison with expansion of existing treatment plants.

—The comparatively lower operating costs of the Huron Valley System (HVS) would save the average family of four at least $20 per year in their water bills, with substantially greater savings in some localities.

—The HVS would achieve permanent water quality improvement in the recreation-oriented lower Huron River by bypassing the river and discharging directly into Lake Erie. Alternate V-B, however, would continue to discharge into the Huron River.

—The system would also protect the Middle Rouge River — an area that attracts five million recreationists annually, and Sterling State Park on Lake Erie where swimming has been prohibited for the last two seasons.

—The system is superior in terms of energy conservation. Gravity will move the wastewater, and the single large treatment plant will be more efficient than several smaller plants.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has issued a "notice of intent to deny" future sanitary sewer permits in seven downriver communities — which, in effect, amounts to a building ban.

Township salaries told

Recently awarded Northville Township salary hikes ranged from seven to 31 percent, according to Supervisor Wilson Grier.

"The wage schedule reflects the work of the (Salary Review) Commission and the Township Board of Trustees to bring township employees closer to a fair wage base on surrounding communities."

"While wages are still below most surrounding communities, the Board of Trustees feel that appropriate steps have been taken to correct the inequities in future years."

The greatest percent of increase was awarded police dispatchers, whose wage rate was increased from $3.50 to $4.60, or 31 percent.

Here are the wage rates of all other employees:

Clerical, up 23 percent from $3.50 to $4.30; water and sewer (Field Rating

No. 1), up 16 percent, from $4.90 to $5.70; water and sewer (Field Rating No. 2) up 15 percent, from $4 to $4.60;

Water and sewer superintendent, up 13 percent from $13,150 to $14,820; supervisor, up 12 percent from $18,000 to $20,208 (highest paid executive in the township by one dollar); deputy clerk, up 11 percent from $12,662 to $14,000; police chief, up 9 percent from $18,600 to $20,207 (second highest paid executive);

Treasurer, up 20 percent from $2,500 to $3,000; deputy treasurer, up 9 percent from $10,062 to $11,000; clerk, up 9 percent from $14,800 to $16,200; fire chief, up 7 percent from $14,500 to $15,500; building inspector, up 7 percent from $15,500 to $16,500; administrative assistant, up 25 percent from $10,000 to $12,500; and head dispatcher/secretary, up 25 percent from $9,000 to $11,250.

Rotarians give funds for Philippine students

Northville Rotarians have contributed nearly $300 to help sponsor schooling for high school students in the Philippines.
The money will assist nearly 20 students through one full year of high school, according to Rotarian C. A. Smith, who noted that cost of a year's education is about $15.
The local club contributed the money through Rotary International's World Community Service program, making the specific recommendation that female students also be included.
"We hope this is opening a door of entrance to a truly worthy venture between Lucena (Philippines) and Northville Rotary clubs," the local committee in charge of the project said. Members of the local club hope to "prove themselves to be Rotary Goodwill Ambassadors in fact and actions."

The students, according to Smith, are to be screened and selected by the Lucena Club.
In another matter, Smith and Rotarian Philip Ogilvie, co-chairmen, of the Northville club's Easter lily project, announced that contributions from its recent street sales has risen to $840.
Monies for this project are used to aid crippled children and adults in Wayne County.

Three art classes offered

Yes, Schoolcraft College does plan to offer three art courses inadvertently omitted from its 1978 spring continuing education schedule.
The schedule, located in the middle section of the college's spring and summer day and evening class announcement, was mailed to every home in the college district during the week of March 20.

The three omitted courses are Introductory Drawing (CS 3055) which meets 6:30-9:30 Monday evenings; Drawing II For Adults (CS 3078) 6:30-9:30

Wednesday evenings, and Introductory Ceramics (CS 3081) 7 to 10 also on Wednesday evenings.
The three are among the nearly 85 continuing education and community services classes being offered in the schedule.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE
by Jim Roth
Americans drink much less wine than most Europeans but we have much more choice of our wines than do people from other countries. If you lived in Rome, it would be hard for you to find a German wine. In Germany, only German wines are readily available. In Spain, you could not easily find a bottle of French wine. And a Frenchman living in Bordeaux would even have a tough time buying a bottle of Burgundy. But in the United States, most wine stores stock wines from 15 to 20 countries with up to 500 different varieties.
A wide variety of imported as well as domestic wines and beers are stocked by us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. For your next party serve your guests genuine draft beer. We have keg beer in both 1/4 and 1/2 barrels, and all the equipment necessary for you to serve it. Open: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m.-10 p.m., Sun. Noon-6 p.m.

MONTHLY POLICE REPORT FOR FEBRUARY: Mayor Vernon commented on the continuing downward trend of major crime. He also mentioned vandalism was substantially down.

Councilman DeRusha asked if the City received any reimbursement for the vandalism.

The City Attorney advised him that a Juvenile goes to either Oakland or Wayne County Juvenile Court — the City gets practically nothing. If the Juvenile is 17 or older some restitution can be made on all damages done or the juvenile can be put on a work detail.

Councilman DeRusha asked if the City should be asking for restitution to make vandalism distasteful to the juvenile.

The City Attorney discussed the ordinance he is bringing up at the MML meeting in Lansing on March 22, where city attorneys would handle their own violations bureau.

A discussion followed between the City Manager and the City Attorney as to whether it would be practical to standardize the filing of an affidavit to request restitution to the City for vandalism involving minors.

Mayor Vernon stated Mayor Allen had appointed Councilman Nichols and Johnston to a vandalism and curfew study committee. He asked this be reactivated, and since Councilman Johnston is serving on several other committees, he appointed Councilman DeRusha to serve with Councilman Nichols.

He asked that they consider a more restrictive curfew and contact the high school for their views. He requested the committee to come back to Council with a recommendation in the near future.

COMMUNICATIONS: Communications from the City of Novi and Johnson and Anderson, Novi's Planning Consultants, regarding Novi's sewer connections and sewage capacity.

Communication from Wayne County Board of Public Works, Royce Smith, relating to an increase in sewage disposal rates by the City of Detroit again.

Communications from Congressman Broomfield and Senator Riegle with a copy of Riegle's letter to the President relating to the city of Northville's effort to recoup snow removal costs incurred during the "Big Snow."

Communication from Representative Fessler regarding a public transit system in the Tri-County area. Also a communication from Representative Fessler thanking the City for the Resolution relative to legislation which would permit package liquor sales at gasoline stations.

PUBLIC HEARING ON ORDINANCE TO AMEND TITLE 5.

CHAPTER 1, SEC. 5-101 ET SEQ: The City Clerk read the notice of public hearing as published. Mayor Vernon opened the public hearing and asked for any comments from the audience, there being none he closed the public hearing.

The City Manager noted two minor changes in the ordinance Sec 9/29 (b) should be 8 27 (b) and in the same paragraph Sec 8 27 should actually be 8 27 (a).

Motion by Councilman Nichols support Councilman DeRusha to adopt the Ordinance as corrected.

Motion carried unanimously. STAR CAB CO. LICENSE: Mr. Charles Henry stated he did business in Novi and Plymouth and would like to have a license in Northville to service his customers here.

He was directed to get his cars inspected by the Police Department.

The City Clerk was asked to get the previous resolution of rates for Council.

RESOLUTION — NORTHVILLE ESTATES PAVING ASSESSMENT BONDS: The City Manager presented the Resolution offering the bonds for sale for the Northville Estates Paving Assessment.

Motion by Councilman Johnston support by Councilman DeRusha to adopt the Resolution as presented.

Motion carried unanimously. LOAN FOR ALLEN TERRACE BOND PAYMENTS: Communication from the City Manager stating the April interest payment on Allen Terrace bonds in the amount of $72,000 is due on March 30. Because the City at the present time has a lot of assets but their cash is tied up in the Northville Estates Paving, it was suggested the City Council ask the Building Authority loan to the City $72,000 for up to 90 days at the current available interest rate.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha support by Councilman Johnston to authorize the City Manager to negotiate a loan with the Building Authority for $72,000 on March 30, 1978, for up to 90 days at the interest rate currently available.

Motion carried unanimously. HURON VALLEY SEWER SYSTEM: Notice of an Environmental Impact Study Meeting to be held March 30, 1978 in Trenton, Mich from 7:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. The Mayor, City Manager and Councilman DeRusha plan on attending.

POLICE CAR BIDS: The bids for two police cars (1) one full sized and (1) one intermediate car on March 15, 1978 at 11:00 a.m. at the City Hall by the City Engineer, City Clerk and Controller as follows:

John Mach Ford	2-Full size

TRANSFER OF CLASS C LIQUOR LICENSE — WILLIAM E. BOYD: Communication from the City Manager relative to the need for parking spaces to be purchased for the proposed Ramsey's Bar at 145 N Center Street. No plans have been submitted for Planning Commission review of the change of use as yet.

Mr. Boyd was advised to come in and discuss this with the City Manager.

Also discussed was the fact that the Open Door Church was within 500', and the effect this would have on the bar's proposed location.

This would be brought back for next meeting, with a report from the City Attorney.

ZONING: a. Sign Ordinance Provision for Business Center Signs — Tabled until next meeting. b. Site Plan Review (Article VI of Zoning Ordinance) — Tabled until next meeting.

APPOINTMENT — PLANNING COMMISSION: Mrs. Lois Winters, 1046 Bristol Court, has been submitted as a replacement for Lyn Bourne who resigned from the Planning Commission. Mr. Bourne's term expires on June 30, 1978.

Discussion followed on obtaining applications and trying to interest people from all areas of the City to serve on boards and commissions.

Councilman Johnston recommended appointing Mr. Wm Tucker, Chigwidden, to the Board because of his experience in construction work. Mr. Tucker had signified earlier he would be willing to serve.

Mrs. Winters would be asked if she were willing to serve on the Zoning Board of Appeals when Jean Dykstra's term expires on June 30, 1978.

Motion by Councilman Johnston support Councilman DeRusha to appoint William Tucker, 21147 Chigwidden to the Planning Commission subject to his acceptance. His term will expire June 30, 1978.

Motion carried Unanimously. MISCELLANEOUS: Detailed Feasibility Study. Central Business District Letter of proposal from Planning Consultant Nino for a detailed feasibility study for the CBD and costs involved was presented.

Mayor Vernon commented the Downtown Development Committee recommended this study be implemented.

Councilman Nichols commented he thought the City already had this information. He also stated he would like more time to digest the study.

Mayor Vernon commented this study was much more detailed than anything they have.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha support Councilman Johnston to implement Planning Consultant Nino's Detailed Feasibility Study of the Central Business District at a cost not to exceed $11,500.

Water & Sewer Connection Fees for Multiple Family Developments: The City Manager explained that multiple family units pay the same sewer and water connection fees as single family units. Many cities charge 50% and up for multiples. It is proposed the City charge the same connection charge plus 50% of that charge of each dwelling unit in excess of one.

Motion by Councilman Johnston support by Councilman Nichols to publish for a public hearing to be held April 3, 1978 to amend the Water Ordinance Section 7-318 (f) and Section 328 (f), and Sewer Ordinance Section 7-402(b).

Motion carried unanimously. Annual Tax Rebates: Communication from the City Manager showing the projected total for the FY to be $664,883 00.

A summary of the attendance records of all members of the various Boards and Commissions was presented.

Councilman Nichols had a complaint about the parking on Linden between Dubur and Dunlap. He indicated that parking on both sides of that street may be causing a serious traffic problem.

Mayor Vernon commented other streets should also be looked at by the Police Department.

Councilman Nichols commented on the inconsistency of the Oakland County Assessments. He submitted a list of properties on S Ely Dr with the assessment increase. He asked who a factor couldn't be applied.

The City Attorney asked approval for the Rotary to solicit funds for their charitable projects on Friday, March 24 and Saturday March 25 from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. except the race track where collections would be made from 7:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Motion by Councilman Johnston support by Councilman Nichols to approve the request or the Rotarians to solicit funds March 24 and 25.

The City Attorney advised that a committee was being formed to meet at Hazel Park to have input into the racing code. He stated time was of the essence to appoint someone to the committee.

Motion by Councilman Nichols support Councilman DeRusha to appoint the City Attorney as the City's representative to the Race Track Committee.

Motion Carried Unanimously. Meeting adjourned at 11:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

NOTICE OF ENACTMENT CITY OF NORTHVILLE

The City Council of the City of Northville, following a public hearing Monday, April 3, 1978 in the City Hall has adopted an ordinance to amend Article 4 Section 4.04(c) of the Zoning Ordinance as follows:

The City of Northville Ordains

That Section 4.04(c) of the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Northville is hereby amended to read as follows. All spaces shall be provided adequate access by means of maneuvering lanes, except in the Central Business District with approved attendant parking. Attendant parking is defined as the use of an off street area whereon parking of vehicles is permitted in a pattern which does not meet the minimum parking space, maneuvering lane and access drive dimensions as set forth in this ordinance because an attendant is provided to direct vehicles while parking. All attendant parking lots shall have parking spaces and maneuvering lanes striped in accordance with the standards provided in this ordinance for non-attendant lots, for use when the attendant is not required to be on duty. ### Speaking for The Record

Millage reflects public's request

On the last Saturday of this month voters will decide if they are willing to pay for what they want in Northville's public school system.

The 5.5 mill package proposed by the administration and board of education is not designed to keep the system hanging in there at its present clip. About 2.2 mills would do that.

It is a response to concerned parents and staff members who have asked that quality be restored to local schools.

It means spending some money (about $175,000) for maintenance of buildings; adding staff to improve teaching and supervision; replacing and adding to textbooks; providing band at the sixth grade level; permitting high school students to take six class hours; making extra-curricular program improvements, especially for girls; providing programs in vocational education and for gifted children; restoring departmental chairmen at the high school; and adding crossing guards where needed.

The request is defensible. Interested taxpayers can obtain an item-by-item explanation of every dollar.

In the minds of concerned parents, teachers and administrators it is not a request for whipped cream on the educational pie.

It is what they want because it is what they believe our children need.

And it will cost about $960,000... or 5.5 mills added to each school tax bill... or $137.50 per year to the owner of a $50,000 home.

We repeat. The question taxpayers will decide on April 29 is whether or not they are willing to pay for what they have said they want.

We're proud of 'em

Congratulations are in order for the Northville Township Fire Department, which has just completed a very successful sale of fire detectors that cannot help but make our community a safer place in which to live.

Thanks to the hours of volunteer, unpaid sales effort of the firemen, nearly 2,500 detectors were sold at cost to homeowners in the township and surrounding areas.

With an average daily sale of 40 detectors, the fire department had sold all but 130 of its 2,622 detectors as of last week. The remainder were expected to be gone "in a few more days."

"We're simply delighted," said Fire Chief Robert Toms. "We happened to stumble on something that was obviously needed in our community and our residents responded beyond our expectations."

The sales campaign, he noted, has already paid off in a reduction of township fires — not just because people have installed detectors in their homes but "because the sale has made them more fire conscious, more aware of the need for fire prevention."

We're proud of the department's successful campaign. More importantly, we're pleased it places as much emphasis on the prevention of fires as it does on battling fires.

The Record congratulates you as does the community!

Welcome home!

"March fans it, April christens it, and May puts on its jacket and trousers," observed Thoreau.

Spring.

It comes stumbling into Northville, tripping over a mound of snow here, one there, and then settles in our yards and in our trees to stay... we hope.

Spring.

We see it on Randolph Street where crocuses have pushed through still icy soil; we hear it in the trees of Cass Benton Park where robins sing its praise; we smell it on Six Mile Road when rain washes the lawns; and we feel it in the warmth of the sun that nibbles away the edges of our short days.

Spring.

We welcome it to Northville, cheer its christening, and April fools that we be, we trust in winter's departure and now eagerly await the jacket and trousers.

Speaking for myself

Criminal rehabilitation

NECESSARY . . .

"We take on a burden when we put a man behind walls and that burden is to give him a chance to change. If we deny him that, we deny his status as a human being, and to deny that is to diminish our own humanity and plant the seeds of future anguish for ourselves."

—Chief Justice Warren E. Burger

In far too many cases, the prison, the reformatory, and the jail provide the least effective type of correctional disposition. There is strong evidence that institutions frequently create more crime than they prevent. We know today incarceration alone is inadequate to deter recidivism.

Simply warehousing humans is offensive to me. Unacceptable high recidivism rates, the destructive impact of incarceration and the largely illusory nature of societal protection gained through confinement (98 out of 100 incarcerated offenders return eventually to their communities) also causes me to question the effectiveness of that warehousing.

Rehabilitation is a confusing term defined by many and understood by few. For me, rehabilitation equals change, and thus as Justice Burger charges, rehabilitation programs should provide the opportunity for offenders to change. Provided opportunities to change behavior, some people will do so.

Luella Burke
Brighton

QUESTIONABLE . . .

Some new studies are challenging the effectiveness of rehabilitation programs charging that they don't work. Too many inmates have come out of the prisons just as committed to crime as when they went in or even more so. And crime rates have continued to soar.

Currently, the parole boards release a prisoner when they decide he's been rehabilitated. This has turned prisons into drama schools. Prisoners have become wise to this and acting rehabilitated has become common among inmates.

With a few isolated exceptions, the rehabilitative efforts that have been reported so far have had no appreciable effect on recidivism. The only area rehabilitation seems to be making any headway in at all is at the local level with the young first offender. However, we have not been in rehabilitation long enough to really have concrete figures showing success or failure on the local level.

Society demands we must keep on trying. Try, if you will, a new deterrent to crime — certainty of punishment!

Remember Lorenzo Jones?

Jack Hoffman's column

Having watched parts of the CBS birthday celebration this past week, I found the most interesting segments to be those dealing with radio shows out of the past.

I was a senior in high school when the first television set appeared in our home. Until then my only viewing of TV occurred, of all places, among tombstones in the yard of Northville Mike Allen's business place in Mt. Morris Township.

The TV set was positioned in a little shed in the yard to attract attention to his monument business. The set was finally removed, however, when throngs of excited kids began using Allen's tombstones as stools while watching TV wrestling.

For many of us radio was every bit as exciting as television is today. This, then, is a column to test the memories of those who fondly remember the old shows.

1. Everyone may remember Henry and Fanny Barbour of One Man's Family. The Barbours had five children, Paul, Hazel, Claudia, Clifford and who?

2. The principal characters of Amos n' Andy were members of a lodge (Named what?)

3. The Backstage Wife was Mary Noble, but who was the Broadway matinee idol she married?

4. Bob Burns, the "Arkansas Traveler" in the Bob Burns Show, had a musical instrument after which a WW II weapon was named. It was called?

5. One of the most successful of shows was the sports newsreel featuring Bill Stern. The show theme ended with these words: "Take his advice and you'll look keen/ You'll get a shave that's smooth and clean/ You'll be a ———."

6. The manager of Duffy's Tavern opened the show by answering the telephone with the words, "Hello, Duffy's Tavern, where the elite meet to eat." What was his name?

7. What was the address of Fibber McGee and Molly?

8. Remember the blood curdling words, "Turn out your lights. Turn them out!!!"? What was the name of the show?

9. Kay Kyser of the Kollege of Musical Knowledge was nicknamed the what?

10. Lorenzo Jones was a "a story with more..." what?

11. What soap sponsored Ma Perkins for most of its 27 years on the air?

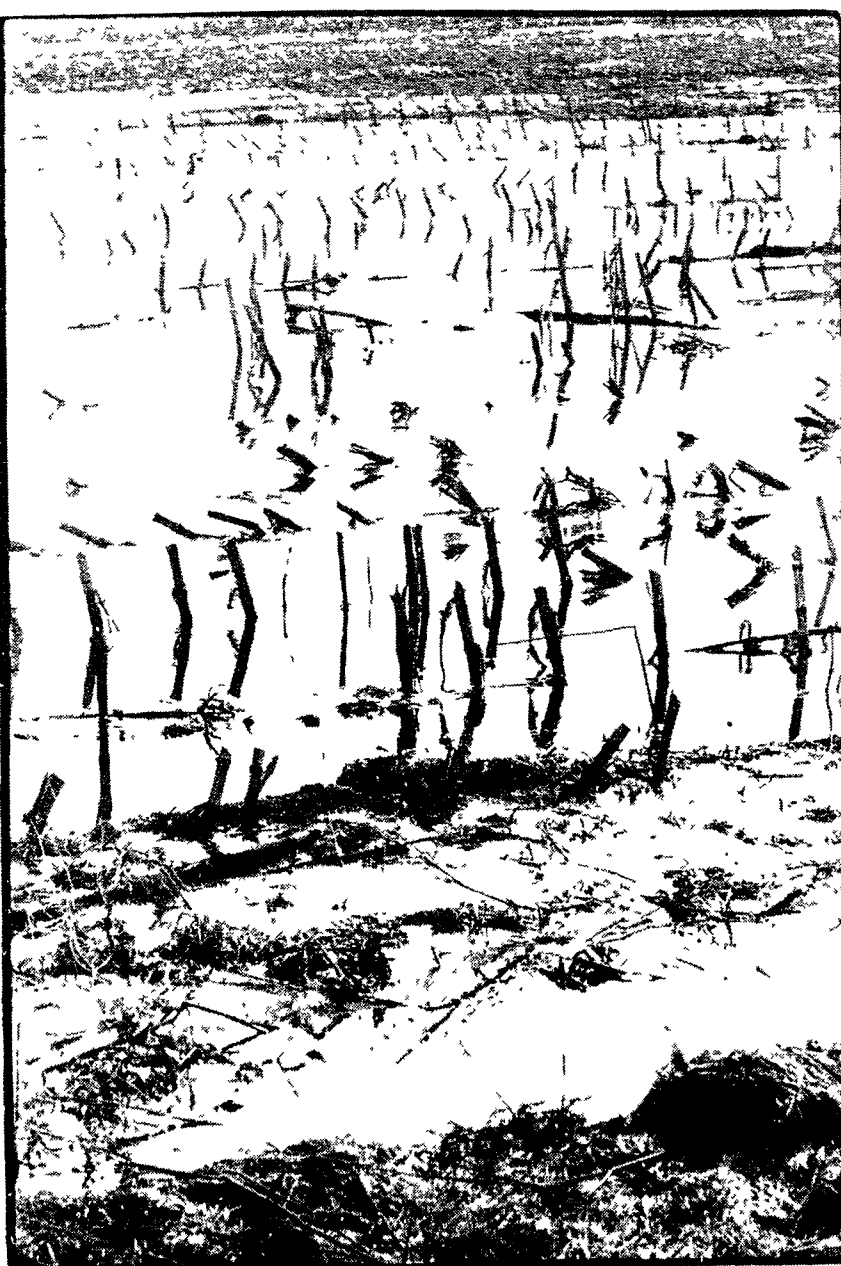

12. Mr. Keen was a what?

13. Our Gal Sunday was a favorite serial drama. What was the manor of Lord Brinthrope named?

14. Friends and cohorts of Tom Mix were called what?

15. Who was the doctor in the show Young Widdier Brown?

Answers: 1. Jack; 2. Mystic Knights of the Sea Lodge. 3. Larry Noble. 4. Bazooka. 5. Colgate brushless fan. 6. Archie. 7. 79 Wistful Vista. 8. The Hermit's Cave. 9. The Old Professor. 10. ## News From Lansing

By R. Robert Geake
State Senator

Young people in Michigan will have a chance this summer to help clean up our environment, and get paid for it at the same time, if the House gives its approval to a bill passed recently by the Senate.

The bill, SB 1350, would appropriate $5 million to hire up to 6,000 youths to work on conservation-related projects in Michigan this summer.

Under the bill, the jobs would last for 10 weeks, and would be open to youths between the ages of 15 and 21 who would be paid the minimum wage of $2.65 per hour. One-third of the money would go to the State Dept. of Natural Resources to hire young people to work on state conservation projects, while the other two-thirds would go to local governments to enlist youths to work on their local environmental projects approved by the Department.

Last summer Northville Township received a grant under this program for over $10,000 and was able to employ 30 to 40 young people (some part-time and others full time) to construct a baseball diamond at the new recreation area being developed at Six Mile and Winchester. The project was delayed because of bad weather and, as a result, the time limit for using the state money ran out and it had to be completed with local funds.

The bill establishing this year's program won unanimous approval by Senate members who believe it will accomplish two goals — providing meaningful employment for young people, and improving the environmental and recreational resources of our communities.

The House is expected to take the bill up soon, with an eye toward having the program enacted into law prior to the time when schools let out for summer vacations.

Many constituents have complained to me that the state's property tax appeals process is too complicated and time-consuming. Legislation has now been introduced in the Michigan Senate to streamline this process.

The bill, SB 1456, would allow those who believe the assessed valuations on their properties are unfair to appeal directly to their local assessors' offices, rather than through the county and state appeals structure.

Sponsored by my Republican colleague, Senator Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo, the measure would specifically permit owners in Michigan to have their land commercially appraised within 30 days of receiving their assessment notices.

If the appraiser's valuation turned out to be 96 percent or less than the original valuation, the assessor would have to issue a revised valuation based on the average between the original and commercial assessments, and the property owner would get reimbursed for the cost of his commercial assessment!

Disputes 7 Mile zoning editorial

To the Editor:

The editorial in The Northville Record of March 29, 1978 has created some confusion on my part regarding the proposed Northridge Apartments.

It is quite true that we, as a neighborhood, objected to the multiple zoning in 1967 on the grounds that Dr. Gizynski would build the proposed nursing home complex or retirement village, and not apartments.

At that time, Mr. Littell told us, and our township officials, that Dr. Gizynski is an "honorable man" and if he states that he will build a nursing home then he WILL build a nursing home. On that basis, and over our objections, the land was rezoned to R-M. To our knowledge, there was no further action on the property.

Five years ago, a potential homebuyer in our neighborhood approached the township, questioning the R-M zoning of the Gizynski land. He was told by our officials and by Mr. Mosher that it was zoned R-M for a nursing home.

At the February 28, 1978 township meeting, Mr. Littell stated that, due to the 1974 recession, it was no longer profitable to build a nursing home complex, but it was not until 1976 that the public was officially informed of the intent to build apartments. A plan was submitted to build one, two, and three bedroom apartments. We immediately presented our objections to the township.

Our objections in 1967 were, and still are:

1. The possible use of the R-M zoning to build multiple dwellings and not the promised nursing home. The present proposal is not consistent with well-planned zoning and development.
2. The potential hazard of increased traffic on Seven Mile Road.
3. The effect of the proposed proposal on neighborhood property values.

There is a vast difference in the mobility and traffic flow of a multiple family unit as opposed to that of a retiree settlement. With a waiting list at every "adults only" apartment complex in Northville, it is difficult to believe that the developer would not find a retirement village a profitable venture.

We ARE concerned about the undesirable effects of apartments on our neighborhood, but we strongly object to the editorial translation of the word "undesirable" as meaning "black."

Several of us have lived near apartments where there is drug dealing, thefts, and the need for constant police surveillance. The tenants of these apartments were NOT black.

At the February 28, 1978 meeting, I challenged Mr. Zinn on his statement that the owners could control the nature of the renters. This is not legally possible or desirable. Not one of us has the right (nor do we ask it) to stand in front of the apartments and choose the individual tenants.

The editorial also claimed we were unfair to the developer and that we were "switching horses in mid-stream." I can only feel that the above accusations must be laid at Dr. Gizynski's doorstep.

Our objections have not changed since 1967. Time has only proven them valid!

This issue will not be resolved to everyone's total satisfaction. The legal aspects are still to be determined but, please, may we present — fairly — the facts on both sides and avoid further distortions, misinterpretations and rosy promises??

We do NOT believe that Dr. Gizynski and Mr. Littell were guilty of deliberate manipulation and we do NOT believe that our neighborhood is guilty of bigotry and unfair practices. It is not our intention to "punish" the developer and we do feel that we have some legitimate concerns about the outcome.

Sincerely,
Zouwan Chisnell

Sees millage as snow job

To the Editor:

Once again, voters, in the Northville School District are faced with a millage election in the near future. Accompanying the campaign for millage increases, comes the proverbial Citizens Advisory Committee, like bees swarming around honey. They are buzzing around the same nest, tenderly cared for by that Great Beekeeper-our Superintendent. Lo and behold, they get their information from his office, and prepare to fly out among the community, pollinating our homes with sweet tidings of joy and happiness.

But we are not ready to be stung again. Citizens Advisory Committees have had their fling in the past. Remember the promises about the 3.9 mills passed a few years ago? We were promised everything imaginable, but the Board hired five new administrators, cut many classes at the high school, and failed to provide textbooks for our students. Clearly, the current advisory committee is headed in the same direction.

Moreover, the strategy adopted by the committee is repugnant. They want to identify the positive voters, give little publicity to the millage election, and hope that the negative voters stay at home. What a travesty of the concept of democracy!

Furthermore, the Board has established a Saturday date for the millage election, to insure a small turnout. Their hope is based upon the idea that few negative voters will bother to come to the polls, because many residents are traveling on the weekends. They believe hardly anyone will be concerned about the election, and the positive vote will sneak in, leaving the taxpayers without an excuse for failing to express their sentiments.

Why has a supposedly objective committee already adopted the label "Pro-Millage" STEERING Committee? Is there some relationship to the BULL they are feeding us?

The Blizzard of 78 is not over, because the biggest snow job is coming in April. Our residents should get their boots on, because the biggest Flakes will be descending upon us in the next few weeks.

Sincerely,
Larry D. VanderMolen

State hospital accredited

Accreditation of Northville State Hospital has been announced by V. A. Stehman, M.D., acting director, Michigan Department of Mental Health, and John J. Zuglich, hospital director.

Full two-year accreditation was granted by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals after an on-site visit early in the year revealed substantial improvements had been achieved.

Last year the hospital was granted a one-year accreditation following appeal of a non-accreditation decision and a resurvey.

The Joint Commission is the national standard-setting and accreditation organization for general and psychiatric hospitals, extended care facilities and residential facilities for the mentally retarded.

ARE YOU FREE?

Everyone serves a master. Either you serve sin or you serve Christ. The service of sin is an oppressive slavery which ends in death. But to know Christ as Savior and to serve Him out of love is freedom. He said, "If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed, and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." John 8:31,32.

We at Mt. Zion invite you to come to our services and join us in learning to know Christ, the only one who can truly liberate us.

Court date next in squabble

Furthermore, they said, it is beyond the planning commission's authority to do more than study the proposal on anything other than its conformity to township regulations.

"We don't object to those concerns of the planning consultant and the engineer," said attorney James Littell. "We are prepared to meet those requirements."

But, he said, by reserving approval until the rezoning matter is settled the planning commission has gone "further than the law allows."

The writ of mandamus filed Friday asks the court to order the commission "to approve the plan without that condition," he said.

Lysinger said that the township's attorney had informed him that the commission's motion was proper.

As far as the apartment plan itself, the major objection listed Tuesday was access, which is limited to a single road off busy Seven Mile

"Traffic standing by itself is not sufficient reason to stop a development," said Littell. "Take my word for it."

"It (the plan) is not perfect. I don't know of any plan that is. We'll do the very best we can do to solve this specific problem."

The discussion of the traffic problem led to a brief exchange between the attorney and Lysinger

"The thing that bothers me," said Littell, "is that the problem was never raised in 1976 (when the preliminary site plan was approved)."

"What has happened factually in those two years? I guess you know what I am talking about."

"If that's an innuendo, I take exception to it," said Lysinger.

"No innuendo," replied Littell. "I think you feel it too."

Earlier in the meeting, Lysinger had asked how the developers could guarantee who their tenants would be without being discriminatory.

Littell and attorney George Zinn said certain restrictions — such as no pets or children, limiting the number of occupants to an apartment, and aiming at certain minimum income levels — could be established.

In a letter to the township planning commission, the Dalby Corporation — which will manage the apartments — said a "screening process" would be used to attract tenants in the $20,000 to $25,000 income bracket.

Many prospective tenants already live in Northville area, the letter said.

In other action, the commission returned plans to developers who wish to convert 80 acres of land in the Beck, Eight Mile area into a 160-home development.

Many neighbors attended the meeting to complain that excess water draining off the completed project would flood their property. Their fears were heightened when a representative for the developers said the project called for "massive grading."

The commission delayed giving elementary approval until more drainage information is provided.

Bar in dispute

The applicant, William Boyd, seeks relocation of a bar in the building immediately north of The Northville Record building. Until recently the building housed a flower shop.

Boyd previously owned and operated a bar at this location, but with the development of the Drawbridge Restaurant he closed his bar (Ramsey's Bar) and sold his license to the Drawbridge. When the restaurant went bankrupt, the court returned the license to Boyd.

In a written communications to the council, City Attorney Philip Ogilvie advised city officials that the proposed bar is located within 500 feet of a church (Open Door Christian Church) and, under the law, the church has an opportunity to protest the bar's establishment.

And in the event of such a protest, the law provides that the commission must hold a public hearing before reaching a decision.

Still unclear, however, is whether or not Open Door is technically a church in the eyes of the liquor control commission. The commission recognizes a church only if it is a tax exempt establishment. When the commission surveyed the area earlier this year, Open Door did not yet have title to the building and therefore was not tax exempt.

Since then the Northville Board of Review has given the church a tax-exempt status.

Boyd reminded council Monday night that when he applied to the liquor control commission for use of the license in his Center Street property it was long before Open Door acquired the Drawbridge Restaurant building.

Nevertheless, Mayor Vernon emphasized that the church question is for the liquor control commission to decide, not the council. He recommended the commission be informed that Open Door is indeed tax exempt today.

Meanwhile, council has tabled action. Once the liquor control commission rules on the church question, council intends to take up the matter again.

And when that happens it could be tough sailing for Boyd, since some council members don't like the idea of a bar at this location. The council's position could influence the liquor control commission's ultimate decision.

"I'm not against bars as such; I recognize them as a necessary evil. But their location must be carefully considered, and right now I question the value of such an activity at that location," said DeRusha.

Not counting the American Legion or Eagles establishments, three other bars are located with the CBD — Joe's Little Bar, Winner's Circle Bar, and Northville Lanes Bar, noted the mayor.

Ironically, the current issue has two buildings returning to earlier uses. The Drawbridge building originally was a church and it has now returned to that use, and Boyd's building formerly was a bar.

Boyd plans extensive exterior and interior remodeling of the building. The exterior plan already has been approved by the Northville Historical District Commission.

In tabling the license question, council also set aside the matter of parking spaces required for the proposed bar. Council concluded that until the liquor license question is settled, the matter of parking spaces is "academic."

Speed blamed for accidents

To the Editor:

A major factor in the number of auto accidents on Eight Mile Road, just east of the city limits, in my opinion is because traffic going west on Eight Mile seem to exceed the speed limit going down the hill prior to approaching the curves where the latest accidents have occurred. This is particularly true of trucks, especially the large gravel trucks.

When one observes this hour after hour, day after day it is a miracle more innocent people are not killed or injured. No matter how fast they go, no police agency ever stops them or tickets them and when there is an accident it is always claimed the other car and driver were at fault.

Also, why a police department cannot see that at least reflectors are installed on the island on Eight Mile just east of Griswold I cannot understand. This is really a dangerous area of the road.

'Girls' sports shortchanged

To the Editor:

It's not fair, it's just not fair! As student manager for the high school girls softball team I see a lot of pain that the coaches must go through because we don't have a J.V. softball team. The pain in having to "cut" good ball players again because of no J.V. softball team. It's not fair. The boys have a J.V. team.

The boys also have uniforms. So don't give us the J.V. team we have a right to, but at least give us uniforms. We also have a right to them. You sure wouldn't see the boys' track team wearing tennis uniforms or the boys baseball team wearing basketball uniforms, would you?

We need help. Parents help... we need it very bad! With what we have now we might have to play shirts and skins... and would you want your daughter to do that?

Captaining this year's club is Doug Marzonie, a .304 hitter last season

Mustang pitching's weak, but defense looks strong

There's going to be a lot of new faces around when Northville's varsity baseball squad takes to the diamond next week.

Sporting what head coach Bob Kucher calls "the youngest team I've ever had" — and he's been here quite a while — the Mustangs may be somewhat hard-pressed to match last year's third-place finish in the Western Six.

After all, only four players are back from a club that finished with a mediocre 11-14 record, 4-6 in league play.

But Kucher isn't about to dwell on the negative.

"I like this team," the veteran coach, who's headed the Northville club over six of the past 14 years, says of his junior-dominated squad. "We're a pretty young club, but everybody's had some sort of experience. We have a bunch of players with good attitudes and good hustle out there this season, and I'm kind of looking forward to coaching them."

Gone from his 1977 club are five starters, including first team All-

League catcher Greg Armstrong, a .363 hitter, and second team All-Leaguers Nick Hamp and Donny Dales in the outfield and Dave Heckerl at pitcher.

Back, however, is second-team All-League selection Doug Marzonie, a senior shortstop Kucher considers "one of the most outstanding players in the area."

Marzonie, who'll captain this year's squad, was a .304 hitter as well as a dependable infielder in '77. He started at second base but was switched to short during the high school season and remained there when he played last summer.

Other returnees include seniors Pete Wright, a third-year starter who'll get the nod at first base, and Dan Thomas and junior Don Borthwick.

According to Kucher Thomas, last year's number two catcher behind Armstrong, has "good, long ball power" and enjoyed a strong season with Northville's summer ball club. He was also a part-time designated hitter for the Mustangs last year.

Borthwick "can play almost anywhere but will probably be in center field most of the season. Although only a junior, Borthwick is in his third year with the varsity.

"They say you build a team through the center," Kucher says, noting returning players at catcher, shortstop and center field.

But the one position the Mustangs are lacking in through the middle is the most important. His three top pitching prospects have no varsity experience at all.

Up from the jayvees are senior Tim Doyle and junior Dave Austin. Doyle, who pitched the most innings of any of the junior Mustang hurlers last year, was 3-5 and compiled a 3.40 ERA while Austin was 5-2 with a 1.36 ERA. Both are right-handers.

Kucher's third man is junior Mike Lauck, a right-hander who played Connie Mack ball last summer and "looked pretty good."

"Basically all three are good control pitchers," Kucher says. "We're kind of going into this season with an inexperienced staff, but you never know

Lorri Hopping

Chris Suddendorf

2 spikers are All-League

Both co-captains on this year's Mustang volleyball squad have been chosen to the 1978 All-Western Six first team.

Seniors Lorri Hopping and Chris Suddendorf, who led Northville to a 9-7 overall record and a third-place finish in the league, were two of six girls named to the elite contingent. The others were Sue Rich and Stacy O'Toole of Livonia Churchill and Kelly Heaton and Lori Peck of Plymouth Canton.

In addition to Hopping and Suddendorf two other Mustangs received mention in the balloting. They were juniors Kim Kratz, who made the All-League second team, and Diane Perpich, who made the third team.

Suddendorf was the leading server and setter for Northville this year as well as the team's most accurate spiker. She had 167 serves the past year and 158 of them were good, and was good on 90 percent (66 of 73) of her spikes.

Hopping, a second team selection last year, finished as the Mustangs' second leading server and second leading spiker. She had 153 good serves and 90 spikes for the season.

Kratz was Northville's top spiker with 95 spikes during the season while Perpich had 81 spikes to rank third on the team in that category.

The Mustangs wound up 4-6 in the Western Six this season, five games behind league champion Livonia Churchill, whose only loss this year was to Northville.

Local swimmers sparkle

Two local junior high school girls won individual titles at the 1978 Michigan AAU championships in Royal Oak last month. Both are swimmers for the Livonia Spartan Aquatic Club.

Allison Farquhar, a ninth-grader at Meads Mill, set state records in winning both the 100 and 200-yard breast strokes for 13-14 year olds. She won the former in 1:08.09 and the latter in 2:26.35, qualifying her for the National Junior Olympics in both events.

She also swam the breast stroke leg on her team's winning 400-yard medley relay unit, which posted a time of 4:12.3.

Her winning individual times apparently placed her among the nation's top 10 13-14 year-old swimmers in both events.

Kathy White, meanwhile, won the 50-yard breast stroke for 11-12 year olds with a time of 34.6 and also placed sixth in the 100 breast stroke.

Medley squad finishes 5th in Spartan Relays

A fifth-place finish by Northville's distance medley relay unit gave the Mustangs their only points at the Spartan Relays in East Lansing last weekend.

With three sophomores and a senior taking part in the event, the Mustangs finished the two-and-a-half mile race in just under 11:20. Sophomore Tom Doyle ran the mile leg in 4:55 while sophomore Harry Couyoumjian had a 3:21 in the three-quarters leg, senior John Monagle a 2:06 in the half mile and sophomore Ken Weber a :55 in the quarter.

Other strong performances were turned in by seniors John Coram and Brian Prom in the 60-yard low hurdles.

Coram was clocked in 7.5 while Prom had a 7.7. Coram also leaped 19'8" in the long jump.

"We looked at it as kind of a diagnostic meet," coach Ed Gabrys said later, explaining that he wasn't as concerned about getting placements as much as he was about analyzing his runners in the meet. "I think we learned a lot from it."

The Mustangs are scheduled to open their regular season tomorrow at Brighton, a team Gabrys feels "meets us where our strength is." Like Northville, Brighton is particularly strong in distance events. The local squad's originally scheduled opener with Dearborn Fordson last night was cancelled.

how well they might do. A lot depends on the defense."

And the defense, he feels, "will be one of our strong points this year, both the infield and the outfield."

Besides Marzoni and Wright, infield starters will probably include junior Jeff Norton at third base — he played shortstop for last year's jayvees — and one of three potentials at second base. Juniors Jerry Sherwood, Mike McClure and John Millen are all battling for starting berths at that slot. McClure was last year's jayvee second baseman while Sherwood and Millen are transfers.

In the outfield Kucher will be looking at two more juniors — Bob Heckerl and Mike Lurvey — and senior Paul LaVoie in addition to Borthwick. All three were jayvees' players last season, although LaVoie put in sometime with the varsity as well.

A good bet to see action as a utility player is Jim Behen, normally a catcher who also plays infield and outfield. Behen's only a sophomore but, according to Kucher, "played good summer ball" with the Connie Mack league and should stick it out with the varsity.

Looking at the rest of the Western Six, Kucher figures the "odds-on favorite" to win this year's title would have to be defending champ Plymouth Canton, which finished 9-1 last season and returns most of its starters.

"Canton is head and shoulders above the rest of the league," Kucher acknowledges, "but any of the other five schools could wind up second."

As far as the Mustangs are concerned, he feels the big question marks are the team's pitching and hitting. Marzoni is the only returning letterman who hit above .280 last season.

"The big thing is that we're lacking so much varsity experience," he says, "and that's a factor we're going to have to overcome. I think we have good quickness and a lot of good arms in the outfield, though.

"I just hope we can get off to a good start and maintain a good attitude. That's probably the most important part of the game."

The Mustangs open their season with a home contest against Livonia Bentley next Wednesday. Their Western Six season starts April 19, when they travel to Waterford for a game with Mott.

FRED HOLDSWORTH, 1970 grad, is currently a pitcher with major league baseball's Montreal Expos. The 6'1" veteran right-hander started his major league career with the Detroit Tigers in 1972 and later played with the Baltimore Orioles, where he compiled a 4-1 record in 1976. Last summer he was traded to Montreal and started six games for the Expos, compiling a 3-3 record and a 3.21 ERA in 42 innings of work. Despite suffering arm troubles during spring training, Holdsworth made the team and will presumably be a fifth starter for the Expos this season. During his senior year at Northville, Holdsworth compiled a 12-1 record and guided the Mustangs to a Wayne-Oakland League co-championship, winning the title clincher with a shutout in the final game of the regular season. He was one of five Northville players selected to that year's All-League squad and competed in football and basketball here as well. Holdsworth and his wife Laura still reside in Northville, but plan on moving to Montreal later this year. Mrs. Holdsworth, interestingly enough, had the couple's first child last Wednesday, just about the time final cuts were being made. It's a baby girl named Elizabeth Ann.

SUE MAHONEY, 1975 grad, has been running with area track clubs since her days with the Mustangs. After graduating from Northville High she competed as a distance runner with Detroit's Motor City Striders for two years and was a member of the Fleet Club, a women's track club in Ann Arbor, last summer. During her senior year at Northville Mahoney set school records in both the mile and two mile runs, the former in 5:58 and the latter in 12:35. Those records still stand. She currently works as a printer at Copy Boy Printers in Northville.

JOE DEVEREAUX, 1976 grad, is currently an AAU diving instructor for the Ann Arbor Swim Club. Devereaux, a sophomore student at the University of Michigan, competed on the U-M swim team in his freshman year and was one of three Wolverine divers to qualify for the AAU National Springboard and Platform Diving Championships in Texas last summer. He has been studying physical education at the university the past two years but plans on switching into business next semester. Devereaux was the Mustangs' top diver and a co-captain in his senior year at Northville and combined with Scott Knapp to give the team 1-2 sweeps of the Western Six meet's diving competition in both his junior and senior seasons. He still holds the single-meet school record in that event with 285.10 points.

Playoffs start next week

Northville's recreation basketball playoffs will get under way next Tuesday with two games at Cooke Junior High School.

Unless cellar dweller Zayti-Long pulls a major upset and defeats unbeaten Goat Farm in its regular season finale tomorrow night, they'll be playing the loser of tomorrow's Wack Pack-Park Haus game in a contest starting at 8:45 p.m.

The other match-up pits the Cavaliers, presently holding down fourth place in the local league, against fifth-place Brodie's Muffler. Tip-off time for that one is 7:15 p.m.

The top two clubs in the six-team circuit, Goat Farm and the winner of the Wack Pack-Park Haus contest, receive automatic byes for Tuesday's opening round.

Second-round action will be held later in the week, when Goat Farm takes on the winner of the Cavaliers-Brodie's game and the second-place finisher clashes with the winner of Tuesday's other contest. The winners of those two games then battle for the playoff championship.

Last year's playoff champion was Goat Farm, then called Northville Charley's. Charley's edged out Moonkin Toys, which is now Park Haus, in a 100-99 thriller. Moonkin had won the regular season title with a 9-3 record.

Goat Farm bombed, 93-38

Goat Farm's hopes in the Class A state recreation basketball tournament last weekend came to an abrupt halt in the first round.

Competing among 35 other teams, most of them from cities far bigger than Northville, the local recreation league champs suffered a 93-38 loss to Battle Creek. That immediately knocked them out of the single elimination tourney, which was divided into Classes A, B and C, of which A was the biggest.

Eventual Class A state champ was Pontiac, which edged Rouge-Ecorse 82-80 in the finals.

Complementary color harmony is the harmony of colors which are directly opposite each other on the color wheel. For example, green and red are complementary colors, as are blue and orange, and purple and yellow. To achieve harmony in a room in which you use complementary colors, however, you must use good judgement as to the quantity of color and its position. One color looks best in the presence of only a small portion of its complement, rather than an equal portion. Use complements of colors sparingly to set off the original color.

Retirement request

ONU gets Canterbury gift

When John S. Canterbury of Northville retired from the Ford Motor Company he had a better idea.

Instead of a retirement party, Canterbury asked his co-workers to make a gift to an unrestricted scholarship fund at Canterbury's alma mater, Ohio Northern University in Ada, Ohio. Many of Canterbury's colleagues responded favorably to his suggestion, and money was raised for one full quarter's tuition for a deserving student.

Canterbury began his career with the Ford Motor Company in 1951 and was executive director of the supply staff of the company at the time of his retirement. He has made his retirement home in Florida.

Canterbury was awarded an honorary doctor of business administration from Ohio Northern University during commencement exercises held on campus in 1977.

A native of Marion, Ohio, Canterbury was graduated from Ohio Northern in 1938 with an A.B. degree. He continued his education as a teaching fellow in the graduate school of business at the University of North Carolina and was a Sloan Fellow at the University of Denver where he earned a master degree in 1941.

From 1941-44, Canterbury was senior management engineer with the J.F. Jacobs and Company and during two of those years served as management consultant for the United States Bureau of the Budget. He served in World War II as an officer in the U.S. Navy and from 1946-49 was on the staff of the Navy Finance Center as special assistant to the commanding officer. For two years prior to taking a position with Ford, he was director of organization and management.

Canterbury is a member of the United Methodist Church in Northville and has been active in community affairs here. From 1955-67 he was a city councilman and served as mayor pro-tem for ten of those years. In 1965 he held the position of president of the Northville Area Economic Development Corporation.

The recipient of numerous civic and community service awards, Mr. Canterbury was named Northville's "Outstanding Contributor to Civic Programs." He has also received an Ohio Northern University Citation in 1958 and Alumni Award in 1970.

Harper named to Academy

Northville High School graduate Gregory Harper has been appointed to the United States Military Academy.

Harper, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harper of 47010 Dunsany, was appointed by Congressman William Broomfield (Rep.—Birmingham).

Harper graduated from Northville High School in 1977 and has been attending the Military Academy Prep School in Fort Monmouth, New Jersey.

Five other area youths remain in contention for possible appointments. Final announcements will be announced by the Academy before May.

Youths interested in attending one of the service academies in 1979 should write to Broomfield, 2435 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Salvation Army plans appreciation dinner

The Salvation Army will hold its annual Appreciation Dinner at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth on Monday evening, April 17.

Featured speaker at the event, which provides a once-a-year opportunity to report to the community on the work of the Army and to recognize those who have assisted, will be Captain Carol A. Bryant, administrator of the Chicago Booth Memorial Hospital.

Residents of the Northville-Plymouth-Canton area served by the local Salvation Army unit are invited to attend the dinner meeting. Tickets are $7 each and may be obtained at the offices of The Northville Record, 104 West Main Street, or by calling Salvation Army offices in Plymouth, 453-5464.

Captain Bryant is a career Salvation Army officer whose parents and maternal grandparents were also officers of the Army.

Captain Bryant studied Health Administration at Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas and was appointed administrator of Wauwatosa Booth Memorial Hospital. In 1971 she became administrator at Chicago Booth.

She holds a Fellowship in the American Academy of Medical Administrators and was recently elected president of the Chicago North Side Commission on Health Planning, an association consisting of 16 hospitals on Chicago's north side.

Special music, presentation of awards and a brief business report by Lt. William Harfoot, commanding officer of the Plymouth Corps.

Officers listen in on sale of dope

Northville Township Police arrested a young Northville man for delivery of nearly a pound of marijuana last Wednesday night minutes after they monitored the sale with a concealed listening device.

Rail hearing slated tonight

A special committee to study railroad safety will conduct the first in a series of public hearings tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at Novi High School, 24062 Tapp Road, State Representative Richard Fessler (R-Union Lake) announced.

Fessler requested that the first hearing be scheduled in Novi because there have been three derailments there recently of trains carrying hazardous material," Fessler, a member of the special committee, said.

"I'm not convinced that railroad safety in this state is what it should be. Several months ago I wrote Governor Milliken urging him to transfer the Railroad Safety Division by executive order from the Department Highways and Transportation to a regulatory agency, preferably the State Police, Division of Highway Safety Planning.

"In response to this letter, I learned that the Governor has appointed a special task force to investigate railroad safety."

and Livonia made the arrest in the man's home where he lives with his parents shortly after an undercover narcotics agent bought three-quarters of a pound of marijuana for $305.

Michael Key, 21, 42287 Ludlow Court, pleaded not guilty at his district court arraignment and is out on $5000 personal bond. His preliminary examination on the felony, which carries a maximum four-year sentence, is Friday.

Township police say they received a tip about the impending sale Wednesday and stationed themselves near the home while an area undercover narcotics agent went inside.

The sale was made about 9:38, they say, and the arrest about four minutes later.

Police say they confiscated about 2½ pounds of marijuana.

In the township

A builder showed up for work Tuesday morning at the Colony II Subdivision on Six Mile Road east of Bradner and discovered something was missing.

One hundred sheets of interior plywood, valued at $1500, had been hauled off during the night apparently by thieves who backed a truck onto the building site.

Township police are investigating.

An employee of the Northville State Mental Hospital wants to press assault and battery charges against a patient who, she said, threw her to the floor and kicked her.

The attendant, who is 5'4" and weighs 130 pounds, said she saw the patient, a 5'9" woman weighing 213 pounds, demanding cigarettes from another patient.

When the employee tried to intervene, she told state police the patient said "just because you have long hair, that doesn't mean you can boss me around," threw her on the floor and kicked her in the knee.

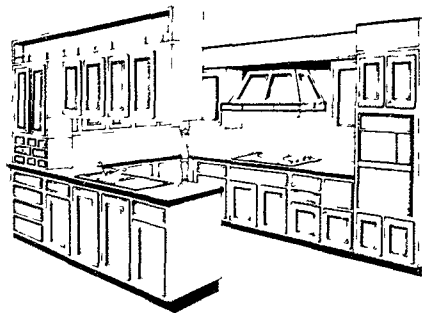

Troopers said the patient agreed there had been contact, but said she was acting in self defense because the employee had pushed her.

The employee told troopers that the patient has been violent in the past, especially since her drug dosage had been reduced.

A state trooper had a rough time Saturday. While he was on duty, a light perched atop a tall pole in the post parking lot fell and smashed into the trunk of his personal car.

In Uniform

Second - Lieutenant Jonathan W. Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher D. Booth, 21202 Lujan, recently was presented the Air Assault Badge upon graduation from the Air Assault School at Ft. Campbell, Kentucky.

Trainees learned to rapidly and safely exit a helicopter from a variety of difficult situations. Whether descending into tree tops or lowering themselves or injured soldiers down sheer drops, the graduates are highly proficient.

Lieutenant Booth entered the Army in July of last year.

The lieutenant received a B.S. degree in 1977 from Western Illinois University at Macomb, where he also received his commission through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps program.

Private Jon M. Alspaugh, 601 Reed Court, recently joined the United States Army Delayed Entry Program. Private Alspaugh, who will graduate from Northville High School this year will go on active duty August 30.

Now serving at Lakenheath RAF station, England, with a U.S. Air Forces in Europe unit is Air Force Technical Sergeant Thomas W. Weidner, son of Mrs. Margaret M. Weidner of 18603 Jamestown Circle.

Sergeant Weidner, a precision measuring equipment technician, was previously assigned at Charleston AFB, S.C.

The sergeant, a 1959 graduate of Northville High School, received an associate degree in 1961 from DeVry Institute at Chicago.

His wife, Ruth, is the daughter of Mrs. Peggy Reynolds of Hemet, California.

Coast Guard Seaman Apprentice Richard F. Endress, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Endress of 19550 Clement Road, participated in the seizure of a Japanese fishing vessel in the Bering Sea.

He is serving as a crew member aboard the Coast Guard cutter Confidence, homeported in Kodiak, Alaska.

On February 23, this cutter seized the vessel Sachi Maru No. 22, south of the Pribilof Islands in the Bering Sea. The Japanese vessel had been fishing in a "no trawl zone" in violation of the Fisheries Conservation and Management Act.

Laden with a half-full load of fish, Sachi Maru was transported to Kodiak and turned over to the U.S. marshal.

Confidence is a 210-foot-long, medium endurance cutter with a crew of 66 officers and enlisted men. She is designed for search, rescue and law enforcement duties and can accommodate a search and rescue helicopter.

A 1969 graduate of Northville High School, and a 1974 graduate of Rochester Institute of Technology, New York, with a Bachelor of Fine Arts, he joined the Coast Guard in December, 1976.

Pfc. Samuel Hollis, USMC, has returned to his duty station at Kaneohe Bay, Oahu, Hawaii after spending his leave in Michigan and Wisconsin visiting friends and relatives.

Pfc. Hollis successfully completed motor transport school prior to coming home on leave.

Marvin L. Katke, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Katke, 42253 Scenic Lane, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Staff Sergeant Gary Musil, the Air Force recruiter here, Katke will commence four years active duty on May 19, undergoing six weeks' basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

The Air Force has guaranteed that Katke, a 1975 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School, will then receive Administration Specialist training, and upon completion be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Navy Fireman Recruit Ralph E. Twydell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Twydell of 18579-2 Innbrook, has reported for duty aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Albany, operating from Gaeta, Italy.

He joined the Navy in October 1977.

At Northville ISEP

Murray Batten finally got a firsthand look at Northville's school for the mentally retarded.

To no one's surprise, he was impressed by what he saw.

Batten, state director for special education, was in Northville three weeks ago to tour three of the locations where about 800 mentally retarded youngsters from two area state residential centers attend school daily.

"He wanted to see if the program was all it was being touted to be," said Leonard Rezmierski, Northville special education director.

Batten could not be reached at his Lansing office last week, but Rezmierski said there was no doubt that he agreed with his staff's laudatory assessments.

And no wonder. Northville is unique in that the local school system rather than the intermediate school district administers the education of patients from the Plymouth Center for Human Development and the Northville Residential Training Center.

Beyond that, Northville's Institutional Special Education Program (ISEP) has been a national pace setter and innovator.

Almost coinciding with Batten's visit was the release for general distribution of the ISEP curriculum, the first of its kind for extremely low functioning students.

Researched, written and compiled exclusively by the ISEP staff, the 10-volume curriculum is being treated as a godsend by other special education programs across the country.

Many could not believe that the price, including handling and mailing, is only $25. One buyer, who expected the cost could be as high as $400, ordered 10 sets instead of one, said Rezmierski.

"We didn't want to be carpetbag-gers," said Rezmierski in explaining that the price only covered direct costs. The many hours spent in over a year of development were not competed into the curriculum price tag.

Another popular item is ISEP's Health Policies and Procedures Handbook which sells for only $5.

In October, ISEP will host a workshop to deal with the curriculum and other highlights of the Northville program.

One of those highlights is a short, simple and clear abuse policy which was adopted by the Northville board of education more than two years ago.

The policy provides well-defined and expedient — within 24 hours — procedures for investigating abuse charges.

Late last year, Rezmierski was chastised by mental health officials when he criticized the Plymouth Center for not having a similar policy.

Last month, however, the center's director was reassigned and the state mental health director resigned after detailed newspaper accounts of neglect and abuse at the institution.

Rezmierski, however, said he is not looking for the public to praise the abuse policy or any other ISEP program.

"I don't care if people rave about it, but it seems to work," he said.

Last month, Batten got to see how it worked on three levels.

He saw two Northville locations. One, Main Street Annex, is for the blind and deaf. The other, Cooke Junior High School, is one of two schools which has classrooms for both the retarded and normal students.

He also got to see Parkway School in Dearborn Heights, one of several schools rented by the district solely for special education students.

Last day for tabs

This was the line of last-minute buyers for 1978 license tabs at its peak near noon last Friday. It extended along the corridor of Northville Plaza Mall on Seven Mile where the Northville Secretary of State's license office is located. Manager Mary Spearman reports that 926 tabs were sold Friday, but that business was brisk all week with 700 sold March 27 as the final week began. Previously, from 350 to 450 tabs had been sold daily. Ms. Spearman praised her staff, saying that last-minute buyers were "whipped through." She estimated the final-day wait was about 45 minutes at the peak and 15 minutes at other times. The office closed at 7 p.m., only a half hour later than usual after taking care of everybody in line, she added.

It's a Panorama

High school to open doors to all

There's big doings being planned at Northville High School and everybody's invited.

And that means Everybody. High school administrators, faculty and students are putting together the district's first Panorama, a three-hour open house which Assistant Principal Barbara Campbell said will be a "curriculum extravaganza."

Panorama will be from 5-8 p.m. on Friday, April 21 preceding the 8 p.m. Talent Show produced by Kurt Kinde. A family spaghetti dinner will be served during the three hours.

But the main course will be the exhibits, demonstrations performances and slide shows prepared by the various departments.

It's all designed not only to get people to see the high school building, but to get a better idea of what goes on inside the classrooms.

"We are hoping that community members will come up here and look us over," said Dr. Campbell. "Our goal is to feature all of the areas of the high school and invite the community to see what we are about."

All of the teachers, who Principal George Aune said were enthused about the project, will be on hand to talk about their field of specialty and to answer questions.

Several students will also be integral parts of Panorama. For instance, the auto shop presentation will show how students work on cars.

In the math department, teachers will show how they use games, computers and other techniques to make learning easier and meaningful.

The entire school, from the gym and swimming pool to the cafeteria, will be open to the public.

Dr. Campbell said she hopes entire families will come to the hilltop school for the spaghetti dinner, tour the school and then attend the Talent Show which is being offered this year in lieu of the Spring musical.

School officials obviously want to show off the building which got a bad image in late 1976 when people went to the high school for swine flu shots and came back complaining about its poor appearance and housecleaning.

"But this is more than just public relations," said Dr. Campbell. "I think it's public information. There is only one high school in this community and a large number of people are not getting into the building."

For this reason, all members of the community — whether or not they have children in the school system — are urged to visit Panorama.

Dr. Campbell said she would especially like to see elementary and junior high school students and their parents.

"We would like the student at American (Elementary School) to look across the street and say, 'This is my high school,' and be proud of it," she said.

There will be charges for the dinner and the Talent Show. Panorama is free

MD month proclaimed

Northville Township Supervisor Wilson Grier has proclaimed Muscular Dystrophy Month throughout the township.

Calling upon citizens of the township to support the 1978 March appeal by Muscular Dystrophy Association, the supervisor noted that the annual drive begins May 15 and extends to June 15.

The campaign seeks funds to support an all-out research attack against the crippling, muscle-wasting disease and to provide clinic and patient services.

Some 250,000

Americans are victims of muscular dystrophy, most of them children, in whom it is nearly always fatal. Neither the cause of the disease nor an effective treatment for it has yet been found.

The 1978 volunteer chairman of the campaign in the township is Lisa Krinsky.

Bargaining procedure challenged

Open teacher negotiations to public?

School boards, teachers and more specifically, the public are the losers as "labor relations experts" gain more and more control of the collective bargaining process, according to Charles W. Cheng, a former teacher union organizer in Michigan.

Author of the book, Altering Collective Bargaining: Citizen Participation in Educational Decision Making, Cheng suggests ways to include parents in the bargaining process.

He challenges teachers to re-examine the policies their leaders have pursued, suggesting ways of opening up the bargaining process to the public. He contends it can be done without sacrificing the gains which teachers' unions have won.

That challenge extends also to school boards which, Cheng notes, are losing their authority to administrators who jealously resist encroachment by laymen into the field of education in general and into collective bargaining in particular.

The educational bargaining process, says Cheng, has given rise to a "new class of professionals consisting of union staff, board of education negotiators, and neutral third parties (arbitrators and mediators).

"And, as the scope of bargaining has expanded, community groups have discovered that these new professionals compose yet another impenetrable layer in the educational power structure."

Bargaining based on private sector practice is not appropriate for public education, he asserts.

As the range of bargaining subjects continue to widen, more and more educational policy matters are decided in the private negotiation process by fewer and fewer people.

Tracing the growth of bargaining centralization, Cheng notes that, "Both the union leadership and the board's chief negotiators preferred a centralized bargaining structure and the concentration of power this entailed.

"Centralization enabled union staff to maintain structural control in two board and significant areas: day-to-day relations with school administrators; and relations with the union rank-and-file, who came to rely on the union power 'downtown' — an image that union leaders promoted.

"The school administration's negotiating office cooperated, recognizing that it would be easier to deal with the known quantity of union officialdom than with a volatile rank-and-file."

Cheng contends that the "expertise" of the professional bargainer often lies more in labor relations than in education. "It is not uncommon for negotiators to be unfamiliar with public schooling," he notes.

Furthermore, in some cases the interests of school and administrators involved with bargaining do not coincide with the interests of the school board — all of which means the present closed method of collective bargaining not only is costing the public a direct voice in what happens within their schools but it is undermining the school board's policy making, he points out.

Just as collective bargaining has led to the transfer of power from board members to professional bargainers, so too, has power of rank-and-file teachers been transferred to their union leaders.

Entrance of third parties — arbitrators and mediators — further erodes the local control. Placement of local issues in their hands, he suggests, means decisions are being made by persons not accountable to the public interest.

"In summary, then, a new class of professionals in unions, schools, and the state bureaucracies now wield enormous influence in the operation of large urban school systems. Through formal and informal processes of bargaining, these new technocrats force school boards, teachers, and community members further away from a crucial arena where far-reaching educational policy decisions are made," Cheng states.

Cheng, who wrote his book while at Harvard University and who now is on the staff of the University of Southern California, cites five "promising" examples of reform that could provide for public participation in the bargaining process, which in most school districts across the country currently occurs in secret.

1. Encourage unions and boards to seek community input during the formation of bargaining demands.
2. Establish multi-level bargaining whereby supplementary agreements to the master contract are negotiated with regional and/or local school boards.
3. Permit citizens to view negotiations in open bargaining sessions.
4. Grant observer status to community groups and allow observers to report to the public.
5. Introduce multi-party negotiations in which a third force would be formally recognized at the bargaining table.

Here briefly is how he describes each of these proposals:

April sky

'Old Moon' reflects earthshine

"During the second week of April should be a good time to observe the 'earthshine' on the crescent moon," University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh says.

Often called "the Old Moon in the New Moon's Arms," the earthshine is the faint illumination, caused by the reflection of sunlight from the earth, on the part of the moon not illuminated by sunlight.

"Within the horns of the moon, pointed upward, may be seen the faint outline of the rest of the moon lighted up by the sunlight reflected from the earth," Professor Losh says.

"Although the earthshine is always visible at the crescent state, it is earlier to see when the moon is higher in the sky as it is at this time of year," Professor Losh says.

The earthshine, she notes, "often exhibits a pinkish glow, which is not due to the moon itself, but to the earth's atmosphere. The explanation of this phenomenon although probably observed from earliest times, was first given by Leonardo da Vinci."

On April 9 the moon and Venus will be only 3 degrees apart, Professor Losh says. "The moon overtakes Jupiter on April 13, Mars on April 16, and Saturn on April 18. This is a month for observing these four bright planets, and also to watch the change of position of the moon from night to night."

Among spring constellations making their appearance toward the east and south are Corona Borealis, Hercules, Hydra, and Corvus, the U-M astronomer says.

"Corona Borealis, or the Northern Crown, rises in the northeast after dark," Professor Losh notes. "It is composed of seven fairly bright stars set in a circle at about equal distances apart. The brightest star is referred to as Gemma, the Pearl of the Crown, or Alphecca, the Bright One of the Dish.

"Lying along the horizon toward the south is a long constellation, Hydra, or the Water Snake, underlying Leo and Virgo."

The Way It Works

"My NAME is Sohn Q. Public. I AM the owner of Sohn Q. Public Grocery Store."

"My NAME is Add M. Strator I AM the MANAGER of S.Q.P. Grocery Store."

"Our NAMES ARE Elected O. Fishals. We decide how S.Q.P. Grocery Store should operate."

"We meet privately to decide how much S.Q.P. employees should be paid."

"My NAME is Ellie Mentury Teacher. I work in the S.Q.P. Grocery Store."

"I pay the bills AND provide money for raises. Elected O. Fishals tell me if the deals Add AND Ellie MAKE in their secret meetings ARE O.K. I am not smart enough to attend the meetings. I only pay the bills."

Community Input

A number of school districts already provide or have provided for this procedure. In California, for example, state law requires boards of education to make public all initial bargaining proposals and to give the public an opportunity to respond at open board meetings. Cheng suggests an extension of this approach would be for union and board to simultaneously solicit community input in drafting new contract proposals.

Multi-level Bargaining

Used frequently in private industry, this process has corporations and central unions negotiating an overall settlement for all employees covering such general issues as salaries and fringe benefits, while supplementary agreements which address specific issues arising from local concerns are negotiated at the shop level.

In education, he suggests, district-wide contracts could be supplemented by agreements negotiated between local administrators and teachers with parent and community participation.

Open Bargaining

Commonly referred to as "goldfish bowl bargaining," this procedure has been used in a variety of ways in a number of different places. Basically, it provides for attendance by the public at negotiation sessions but it prohibits public participation in the deliberations.

Cheng notes that the process involves "no complex plan of implementation" and the "bilateral structure remains intact." Nonetheless, open bargaining does place the issues before the public and the press, perhaps enabling citizens to influence the position of negotiators through various forms of pressure and lobbying.

"Furthermore, public bargaining may make negotiations less of a covert ritual between the two chief adversaries."

Observer Status

This procedure involves permitting community groups to send observers to negotiations. In some cases observers may provide public reports, while in others they agree to remain silent until bargaining is concluded.

Multi-Party Bargaining

Most radical of the approaches, this procedure would have community groups become formal parties to the negotiations.

Although multi-party bargaining has not yet occurred in public school negotiations at the primary and secondary levels, Oregon and Montana have enacted laws calling for student participation in bargaining at the college level. Three Massachusetts state colleges also provide for student participation.

In examining this proposal, Cheng says, "A number of problems must be solved if multi-party bargaining is to be a workable alternative to the current bilateral structure. For instance, the process of establishing ground rules for negotiations would become more complex in multi-party talks.

Although decisions "are more difficult with three parties than with two," Cheng emphasizes that "every day we successfully resolve problems among multiple parties; clearly the dilemma is not insurmountable."

In reviewing these proposed methods of "opening up" bargaining, Cheng concludes that there is little evidence to imply automatic success, but he adds, "there is reason to be somewhat optimistic."

Examples in a couple different school districts "indicate that multi-level and multi-party bargaining are not necessarily unrealistic.

"By the same token," he adds, "California's new teacher-bargaining law illustrates that lobbying efforts can succeed in bringing at least one form of citizen input into negotiations. Even the goldfish-bowl approach implemented (in a number of school districts), while not permitting citizen participation, does place negotiations before the general public."

THE LIGHT TOUCH BY: ANN L ROY

"Don't forget some day a woman could become President."
"Maybe so, but you have to be over 35 to be President, and where are you going to find a woman who will admit she's over 35?"

"You're my second choice!" the little old lady said to the candidate.
"Thank you," gushed the politician "and who is first choice?"
"Anybody who is running against you," she replied.

"I've come," said the woman politician "to ask you to support me."
"I'm sorry, miss," replied the man, "but you're too late. I've been married for years."

Got a headache? New drug research may provide cure

Headaches can be so severe they control the lives of their victims. But when relief comes, the patient finds he has a new "problem" — creating a pain-free life style. Many can't believe the pain is really gone for good.

These are the findings of Joel R. Saper, M.D., neurologist at The University of Michigan Hospital who has seen more than 2,000 patients for the treatment of headache during the past three years. He is currently engaged in a research project on a new use of the drug Inderol for headaches.

"The pain of a headache is unlike other pain. It generally cannot be ignored," says Dr. Saper. "It affects the control center of the body. But after many years of anticipating and living with pain, its relief requires some adjustment."

For eight years one of his patients, engineer Hollis Clymer, would run from his office to a darkened conference room several times a day and rock back and forth until the headache was over. If no one was around he would scream or cry.

He found that rocking back and forth helped the excruciating burning and twisting pain he would feel for 20 minutes up to 14 times daily. Even so he kept meticulous records of his attacks, trying to treat his headaches as he would any engineering problem.

When he finally found Dr. Saper he had been all over the country seeking relief. He said he was told by one doctor, in effect, to go home and suffer; "many of my patients commit suicide with your kind of headache." "Dr.

Saper took a look at my 'Record Book of Headaches' and told me he would begin a search for something to help me," Clymer said.

Dr. Saper tried Lithium (a drug not traditionally used for headache problems). "At first I would have the warning signs of a headache. My left shoulder started to tingle and I felt the pain start to move up my jaw. I was just about to run from my office to the conference room, but the headache didn't come. My first day in eight years without wanting to die. I came home to my wife and I cried like I was reborn."

"Believe me, I had started the process to suicide more than once. Now I've accepted an assignment overseas for a few weeks. The big difference in my life? No headaches. I know that I had the pain, but I really can't re-create it."

Clymer's wife says that her husband thought people thought of him as a freak. "He wanted me to keep the headaches a secret. That was hard. People would stare at him when he was contorted and in pain, covering his head. It got to be that we were both virtual recluses. Even after the Lithium began to work, I would look at him and say 'Are you sure? Are you sure?' When he took his first drink (drinking brought on attacks) I was terrified. But after six weeks of no headaches, well, we just began to live."

By the time Doris Branham saw Dr. Saper, she was spending five to six days in bed, then was up for three or four, "rushing around, getting the laundry done and groceries in" before the next headache. Unlike many headache patients, Mrs. Branham had not traveled the United States looking for a cure. Her doctor had told her she was a sinus headache sufferer.

Under Dr. Saper's care, it was found that she was a migraine sufferer. The headaches occurred on both sides of the head, but only on one side at a time. Unlike Clymer's "cluster headaches" which come in one half hour attacks, the migraine is a very bad headache that can last for days. At one point, one side of her face got frostbitten because she had held ice to it for so long.

"At that time, I didn't even want to admit that I had the headaches," she said. "I would wake up with one in the morning, and my husband would say, 'How do you feel?' I would say 'fine.'"

Branham and her daughter as well became a part of Dr. Saper's study on the use of Inderol for headaches. "The good thing," say the Branham's, "was that we weren't just part of the study, and if Inderol didn't help us, then goodbye. We were told that he would stay with us until something was found that worked."

"There is a strange part of being well," said Mrs. Branham, "I have so much time on my hands that used to be filled with having a headache. Now, I am able to take classes and my daughter is running for a position in her union."

Hollis Clymer's wife recently found him taking two aspirin. "Why? What's happening," she asked?

"Honey, I think I have just a regular headache."

Propose Juvenile Code revisions

By WARREN M. HOYT

LANSING — The Michigan Legislature this session has taken on the tasks of total rewrites of the Public and Mental Health Codes, the Criminal Code, the Probate Code and now has sets its sights on a revisions of the Juvenile Code.

Legislation was introduced revising the state's juvenile code to redefine status offenses, establish runaway counseling and shelter facilities and provide new procedures for bringing juveniles to trial as adults. Action in the House may come as early as this spring as a result of a special committee which began work on the revision last August.

Four pending bills would completely alter Michigan's current juvenile code that was adopted in 1944 which has become archaic and unresponsive to modern times and needs.

The most controversial part of the package will deal with status offenders. The bills redefine status offenses into three categories: school truancy; running away from home; and breakdowns in the parent/child relationship.

The current code also lists disobedience, immorality, idleness, frequenting tavern and associating with immoral people in the status offender category.

Under the proposed revised code, community resources would have to be completely exhausted before court actions could be taken in runaway and truancy cases. A statewide system of runaway shelter and counseling centers would be established, at an estimated of $5 to $8 million.

The new package also establishes new procedures for bringing a juvenile to trial as an adult if the juvenile is accused of committing a felony. Under the current system, a juvenile can be waived into trial as an adult after the court considers juvenile and adult programs, the public's right to protection and the juvenile's character record.

Under the revised code, procedures would be set for violent and non-violent felonies. A juvenile accused of a violent felony may be tried as an adult if the court feels the juvenile programs are inadequate, the adult facilities are more suitable and the public interest demands it.

For non-violent felonies, the court would also have to consider the offense's seriousness and a record of previous offenses.

The state's economy has a strong, resilient base and has substantial potential for renewed growth, according to a recent Department of Commerce report. But the report concluded that several initiatives are needed by government, labor and business to take advantage of the potential.

The federally-funded study identifies Michigan's strengths as having personal per capita income at a level 10 percent higher than the national average, and being situated in the center of a 1,000-mile circle that contains 50 percent of the total U.S. personal income generated each year.

The report also notes the state has a well-developed industrial base, a comparatively favorable energy picture and a highly trained work force.

Suggestions made by the one-year study include a new business advancement corporation to encourage participation of the sector in statewide economic development; state and local government support for urban land banks in economically depressed areas that have a shortage of industrial land suitable for development; and a new business information center in southeastern Michigan to small businesses with managerial training and technical and capital acquisition assistance.

Governor William G. Milliken, in presenting the report to the legislature, said that exactly which of the proposed solutions are put into effect will be determined after a vigorous examination of the study recommendations in terms of feasibility.

Since the inception of the Michigan State Lottery, a total of $1 billion has been tossed in the hopper to take a chance on striking it rich.

After paying prizes and the cost of administering the program, more than $500,000,000 has been deposited in the state's general fund to help meet the rising cost of providing goods and services to Michigan residents.

The lottery, through a system of voluntary taxes, has singled-handedly stopped necessary tax hikes the state would have had to impose to meet those citizen needs with spiralling costs.

Under the strong hand of lottery czar Gus Harrison, the Michigan State Lottery has become the most successful lottery in the nation.

Dank Day at The Clinic

The sky is covered with palarish gray,
The earth is laden with fog;
Mist sifts down on this drip-dreary day;
Some call it Michigan smog.

Everything seems to be in a jumble;
The out-patient lots are jammed full.
Inside, one lift isn't working at all —
Oveloads stack up in the hall.

The doctors are straining themselves at the bit —
The nurses are climbing the walls;
Orderlies hunt for scarce wheel-chairs
For the sick who are waiting a call.

But somehow, the rain will come to an end
As things simmer down on the floors.
The night staff is cool
And all is serene
In the calm that evening restores.

Inroads

Our neighbors are leaving us, one by one,
Leaving the homes they had known for so long
Through the years of beginning; now, one by one
They depart, because they're alone.

Time was, when the houses were happy and light,
As they sheltered their families and friends,
And none foresaw the eroding plight
That the years brought about toward the end.

First one, then another have gone from these shores
And the place where their memories had grown;
Gone are the keepsakes they treasured indoors —
All gone, because they're alone.

We hardly knew some folk who have gone,
But we always knew they were there,
And we knew if ever there were a real need
We would go to each other to share.

We who remain feel a void and remorse
In the loss of these neighbors of old,
As the inroads of time mark their altering course
With our loneliness, yet untold.

Charles E. Hutton

Homefront

I've just received a lot of chuckles from reading Jack Hoffman's "colyume," —
Having withstood some similar ruckles
If I merely maneuvered a broom.

"You're kicking up dust from the basement," she cried
As I carefully wielded the brush...
"I can't even see a speck down here,"
I lied, as I mushed with a hush.

It couldn't get into the laundry room
With everything closed up tight,
But I feel a surge of impending doom
That somehow, I ain't doing it right.

Charles E. Hutton

August

August is one last lush hurrah
Before the cool, crisp days of fall,
The humid, hanging low of summer
When the pregnant nature calls
And all the green, the growing vegetation
Answers back with basketful and sack
And the aching picker's back.
The fat, protruding time of year
Is here.

JAMES C. SZYMANSKI of Howell, a district agent with the Prudential Insurance Company's Flint district office, is featured in the January-February issue of a company magazine, the North Central Star.

The publication is distributed to more than 2,000 sales and service representatives in nine north central states.

Szymanski is one of six agents appearing in an article about how inflation has greatly increased the public's need for life insurance.

"With inflation constantly increasing the price of everything, families need to supplement their social security benefits with a life insurance program that provides monthly income until at least the children have left home and are self-sufficient," Szymanski said. "Otherwise, a family could be faced with some severe economic problems if something should happen to the breadwinner."

Szymanski has been serving policyholders in the Howell area since he joined Prudential as an agent in 1973. He was selected for the feature article because of his successful efforts to educate the public about how inflation has outdated most insurance programs.

According to Prudential statistics tabulated for the north central territory, the public has greatly increased purchases of larger life insurance policies to offset the inroads of inflation.

"There's been more than a 600 percent increase since 1972 in the purchase of life insurance policies with face amounts $50,000 and greater," Thomas F. Smith, manager of Prudential's North Central Home Office Underwriting Division, said.

In 1972 the number of large amount cases stood at 1,159. By 1977 that figure jumped to 7,686, Smith explained.

And the total volume for large cases in North Central's territory amounted to $80 million in 1972 compared to 1977's $532 million total, he added.

COLLECTOR'S BARN, INCORPORATED located at 227-R Hutton in Ware Square in Northville, is the community's newest antique shop. It is owned and operated by Norma G. Weiser, a resident of Wayne for 27 years and a collector herself. She previously assisted her husband in his ferrous and non-ferrous steel scrap business. Her shop, located at the rear in the new Ware Square complex, features a general line of antiques and collectibles. The Barn's slogan is "something old—something new." Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

OWNER OF LAUREL HILL GIFT PLACE, Mary Ann Hapiak, holds "the largest piggy bank in the world" which she won together with a $100 prize as a finalist in a national Libbey Glass of Illinois Owens Corporation competition. She was one of 12 finalists chosen from among 20,000 entries. Her shop has been open in Northville for two years but moved the beginning of this year to Highland Lakes Shopping Center at 42475 Seven Mile from Northville Plaza Mall.

She was one of two winners in Michigan, which, she reports, pleased the Libbey Glass company's district manager as winners most often come from such states as California, known for their artistic populations.

Her winning decorative exhibit, submitted on a color slide, utilized a square, palm leaf basket bound with a ribbon with feathers in the tie. It was filled with rice straw and centered with a Libbey Glass tube filled with flowers created of feathers, with a salad oil candle at the top. It featured natural colors. The winning exhibit, Mrs. Hapiak explains, had to be released to Libbey Glass. She found the entry blank in a gifts and decorators order magazine.

Mrs. Hapiak has had a request from Vermont to manufacture the decorative arrangement and is making plans to wholesale it.

MICHIGAN BELL said in its annual report that 1977 was a "good year" for both its customers and the company.

David K. Easlick, company president, said the telephone company moved "an encouraging step forward" during the year in its struggle to regain financial vitality.

Just as important, he said, customers were provided with service that "ranked with the best anywhere" at rates that were below average compared with other states.

"The challenge before us now is to build on the financial recovery we've begun," Easlick said. "Our continuing ability to serve customers well depends on it."

Easlick termed last year's financial progress "markedly better" than in 1976 when Michigan Bell's earnings rate showed a slight improvement after three successive years of decline.

He attributed 1977's results to a combination of cost-cutting technology, self-help marketing efforts, a resurgent Michigan economy and "more realistic" rates.

She's area's first supermarket hostess

Northville residents who do their grocery shopping on Tuesdays or Wednesdays at the Seven Mile A & P are being greeted by Betty Clark, the grocery chain's only hostess in this part of the country.

She's on duty those days through the efforts of the store's new manager, Bob Michaud, former manager of the Southfield store where she also works. Michaud instituted the "personal help" service of a store hostess.

Both Michaud and Mrs. Clark wear the A & P "uniform" of bright red jacket and blue slacks to be identified easily by customers.

Of Mrs. Clark's lapel is a daisy button with the question, "May I help you?"

A former teacher and home economist, Mrs. Clark is to be available from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays in the store on Seven Mile just east of Northville Road in the Northville Plaza Mall.

She's here, explains Michaud who took over store management in March, because "people do need help when they come into big supermarkets."

Last Wednesday morning Mrs. Clark was memorizing all the specials in the newspaper ad to be able to direct customers. In the two weeks that she's been working here she's also locating all merchandise in the store.

Her appearance in the store is planned to "give a personal touch" to shopping. It is intended to be a real help to senior citizens, to shoppers who want ideas for different ways to use weekly specials and to hostesses wondering what to buy for entertaining.

"I'm also working with people on restricted diets," she mentions, suggesting that people on salt-free or cholesterol-controlled diets from their doctors bring them in for her help.

"There are many ways for dieters to have palatable meals," she declares.

Mrs. Clark, who has been with A & P for four years, is experienced in helping customers. She's been with the Southfield A & P at 10 Mile and Telegraph and will continue hostess duties there three days a week.

Michaud formerly managed the Southfield store and it is through him that Betty Clark is in Northville, too. A Livonia resident, he also has managed the Farmington store and has worked in 17 of the chain's stores, five as manager.

Recalling that he started as a grocery "bagger", Michaud announced that the Northville store will have that service from late morning right through the day from now on.

"I spend a lot of time on the floor," the new manager stresses, "and if Betty isn't around I hope people will come to me for any help they need."

"We are here to serve," he repeated, saying that A & P has "highest quality products and high standards." He plans to increase the store's stocks and emphasizes that he and Mrs. Clark want to know if a customer is seeking something that isn't on hand.

"We'll try to get it," he promises. Mrs. Clark reveals that Michaud increased sales volume at the Southfield store by 47 percent with his wide-stocking policy and personal attention.

Mrs. Clark, the mother of two college students, 19 and 23 years old, also must have helped. She received her home economics degree from the University of Tennessee and exemplifies southern hospitality as she welcomes shoppers in the store.

"I can give recipes for cog au vin (chicken stewed in wine) or Chicken Cordon Bleu," she enthused with an eye on the week's chicken specials.

"We'll help anyone planning a party to make up deli-trays themselves or we will do it for them," she continues, mentioning that amounts often are a problem for a hostess. "Just tell me how many you're having," she says.

Anyone planning a big event, may call ahead to make a special appointment to see Mrs. Clark. The number is 348-1617.

Want a different centerpiece for your hors d'oeuvre table? Mrs. Clark suggests hollowing out a cabbage and putting the sterno in the center.

The hostess also is available to work with students. "I taught merchandising and marketing right on the floor in our Lincoln Park store," she recalls, telling how both junior and senior high home ec classes learned to read labels and unit tags.

"We had the butcher cut up a whole side of beef to show all the cuts from beef tenderloin on."

The meat department, the A & P staffers add, will cut meat as the customer wishes and will take special orders.

It's all part, they say, of the Northville store's desire to serve area residents "in a professional way."

On their identifying red jackets are three initials, "PTC," that stand for "Please the Customer."

That's why Mrs. Clark's in Northville.

Mike Swavely was shopping with list and computer when greeted by hostess Betty Clark and manager Bob Michaud

Jaycettes seek Woman of the Year nominations

By JEAN DAY

Northville Jaycettes again are seeking nominations from local groups and individuals for their annual Woman of the Year award. "We're looking for an outstanding volunteer who is active in the community," explains Connie Qualman, chairman.

There is no age limit for the woman to be cited, but the deadline for nominations is April 19. Mrs. Qualman may be contacted at 349-8437, or Mrs. Carol Northrop at 349-5706, for applications. They also are being mailed to local organizations.

This year, for the first time, the Jaycettes will honor their Woman of the Year at a joint dinner in May with the Northville Jaycees as they announce their Outstanding Young Man of the year.

Last year's Woman of the Year was Jane Watts, a past president of the League of Women Voters, who was nominated by that organization. She was chosen from 10 outstanding nominees whose contributions have added much to the community.

Infant seats available

The active Northville Jaycee Auxiliary always seems to have several projects going concurrently. Buckle-up-Babe, a new safety project instituted last year to protect infants in cars, still is available. The auxiliary owns 10 infant "love seats" which it makes available to Northville parents of newborns through nine months old. Rental fee is a nominal $15 with $10 refunded when the seat is returned.

Marion Wilcox, 349-7358, is chairman for this project. Date for the auxiliary's annual art auction is April 29. Barbara Llewellyn, chairman, reports that it is being given by Fine Arts Gallery of Detroit at the Farmington Community Center with proceeds to go to the American Cancer Society. Sculpture as well as graphics and oils will be featured.

Mothers' Club dance upcoming

Tickets are selling well for the Northville Mothers' Club spring dinner dance to be held April 15 at Meadowbrook Country Club, according to Mary Whiteside, chairman. Spring flowers and the club's traditional hurricane lanterns, which recently were refurbished by Sue Wright, will be used for decoration. Philip Tallieu's five piece group will be playing.

Some tickets are still available from Mrs. Whiteside, 349-8472, or her co-chairman, Jean Boll, 349-5863. They are $25 a couple with profits to go to school projects.

They'll get garden tips at Ren-Cen

Northville branch members of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will receive horticultural tips from the expert gardeners who tend the indoor plants at the Plaza Hotel in the Detroit Renaissance Center next Monday. The group will lunch at The Summit, the rotating restaurant on the 71st floor.

This excursion is the April meeting for the branch. Members interested in going are to make reservation with Ruth Whitmyer, 349-0340. A bus is to leave from Northville Square parking lot at 9:30 a.m. sharp. Because of the number of bus seats, only a limited number of guests may be invited.

Here's chance to become a Docent

Grass should be green and flowers sprouting in the Mill Race Historical Village off Griswold by May 7. Semi-annual general meeting of the village Docents will be held at 1 p.m. that Sunday in the old library building, Claudia Berry, chairman, announces.

At this time anyone interested in becoming one of the Mill Race guides is invited to attend the meeting. Chairmanships for the coming year will be discussed and an update given on furnishings in the Hunter and Yerkes houses. Mrs. Berry anticipates that the village will re-open for visitor tours May 21.

Their cruise yielded 'points'

Arthur and Bette Greenlee and Harry and Dorothy Hartshorne received an unexpected "bonus" on their recent vacation in the Caribbean. Their cruise included an amazing number of activities, Mrs. Hartshorne mentions. Among them was a bridge tournament which both couples entered. All finished with master points. They also survived a three-mile horseback ride to a fortress atop a mountain in Haiti.

Library poster winners

Top winners in the poster contest sponsored by Friends of Northville Library are, from left, Marianne Rothermel, seventh grade, Meads Mill, whose poster, promoting "To Live a Lie" won in the 7-9 grade category; Kelly Norton, sixth grade, Our Lady of Victory, whose poster promoting "The Big Joke" won for 5-6 grade; and Jon Steinhauer, third grade, Silver Springs, whose poster for "Moominland Midwinter" won for 3-4 grade. Appropriately, their posters and all others submitted will be displayed in the library in Northville Square this week, which is National Library Week. Each winner received a paperback. Certificates of honorable mention went to Steve Smith, Brett Llewellyn, Richard Smith, Kirsten Henny, Allison Kugler, Russell Rothermel, Mellanee Urbahns, and John Llewellyn.

Laura Nigro, Brian Nieber wed in home ceremony

Laura A. Nigro became the bride of Brian A. Nieber in a 2 p.m. afternoon ceremony March 18 at the home of her parents, Sam and Gail Nigro, of 880 Horton.

The bridegroom is the son of Allen and Audrey Nieber of 21878 Bedford.

Officiating at the double-ring service was the bride's great-grandfather, the Reverend Leslie Colver of Croswell, a retired Methodist minister.

For the ceremony the bride chose a daytime-length dress of tan polyester fashioned with long sleeves. Crochet detailing marked the oval neckline. She carried a nosegay arrangement of roses.

Attendants for the couple were Vicki Huntley and Jerry VanHellemont.

A reception followed at the Nigro home. Afterward, the newlyweds left for Seattle, Washington, where the bridegroom is beginning a career with Owens Corning Fiberglas.

He and his bride both are Northville High School graduates. He was graduated with honors from Michigan State University in December, 1977.

The bride attended MSU for three years and will be completing her education at the University of Washington in Natural Resource Development.

Northville PTA-PTSA News

Council to elect new slate of officers this month

EDITOR'S NOTE: Northville PTA-PTSA news is compiled by volunteer Marge Ercohl, 348-9350.

COUNCIL NEWS

The council has made up its new slate of officers for next year, and will vote upon them in April. Mrs. Dolores Yahover will be the new president; she is vice-president now. We want to wish Dolores luck and congratulations.

The council is busy working to get voters out to the polls to vote on the millage. We urge everyone to consider the children and make your vote count.

Council will be hosting its annual Teachers Awards Luncheon at Amerman Library April 18. Mrs. Fran Nicholas is our chairman for this event. Joan Roth, president

COOKE JUNIOR HIGH

Cooke Junior High has much to be proud of. In recent competition at the M.S.B.O.A. District Band Festival, Cooke's symphonic band was honored with a first division rating, and Michael Rumbell, band director, was told that his band was the best at the festival.

In the first Forensic competition of the year at the University of Michigan Cooke's team took first place in six of the seven categories they entered. Mary Freydl, Cooke's forensic coach, has done a fine job with her team.

In the Detroit News Scholastic Writing Award Contest nine Certificates of Merit were awarded to ninth graders and of those two were also awarded the Top Key award.

The Cooke PTA "t-shirt" sale is underway and sales are good. Orders will be taken after Easter for the sixth graders coming to Cooke in September.

Cheerleaders have been chosen for the 1978-79 school year. The ninth grade team includes: Lorie Coolman, Diane Darrow, Karen Longridge, Kelly Morrison, Heidi Schultz, Kim Smith, and Annette Wasik. The eighth graders are Chrissy Kreutzberg, Mary Roos, Laura Santos, Katie Sherman, and Pam Stephens. The seventh graders are Jill Anger, Jody Folino, Kathie McConville and Julie Wickens.

The co-ed track team will be starting practice soon and is being coached by Dave Pevovar.

Cy Nichols is coaching the seventh and eighth grade girls for intermural volleyball.

The ninth grade girls' volleyball team ended its season with a dinner at Little Caesar's with coaches Carlee Stevner and Carol Pasco. They didn't have a winning season, but it was a fun one.

Ronnie Abraham

MEADS MILL

The girls volleyball team ended the season with an exceptional record of eight matches won and two lost. Congratulations, Girls!

An all-school activity day with dancing and games in the gym was held on March 22 after school.

April 7 is the end of the marking period. Report cards will go home with the students April 14.

The PTA Executive Board will meet April 12.

A second Career Day is being planned. This time the math and social studies will be explored April 18 is the scheduled date.

Bagels are sold every Wednesday during the lunch hours.

The next PTA lunch-hour bake sale will be April 28.

Joan Leinonen

AMERMAN

Eager students happily took part in a popcorn sale at Amerman this past month. The popcorn was sold in bags for 10 cents. Profits from the sale, $72, were donated to the Allen Terrace, senior citizens housing.

The Spring Fling, a mother-daughter fashion show held March 9 at Amerman, was a great success thanks to Karen Brown and her committee. The mothers modeled clothes from Claire Kelly and the daughters, representing each grade, modeled clothes by the Little Angels Shop in Plymouth. Flower arrangements decorating the gym were donated by IV Seasons. Clair Kelly was the commentator with spring music provided by Ann Jarvi, Amerman's music instructor.

The family portrait PTA fund-raising project proved to be a successful venture with one-third of the school's families taking part. Portraits were taken at Amerman by a representative of McFerran's Studio. A profit of $5 each was turned over to the PTA fund.

A PTA general meeting open to all parents will be held the evening of April 25. Sister Karen Hawver, a superb speaker, highly recommended by Virginia Kricetz will speak on "The Goals of Misbehavior". After the program the PTA will hold election of officers.

Amerman will be hosting the annual awards banquet sponsored each year by the PTA Co-ordinating Council April 18. The salad luncheon will honor Northville teachers who have given several years of service to the schools.

Jackie Payne

MORaine

Parents of Moraine's fourth and fifth graders were treated to a most enjoyable spring concert March 13 in the Moraine multi-purpose room. Under the direction of Jan Brachei the students gave an outstanding performance.

A special treat for the "old folks" was a selection of songs from the fifties which all the moms and dads thoroughly enjoyed! The program closed with the spirited Moraine School song.

The day before spring vacation Moraine students and their teachers held a carnival.

A wide variety of games and activities with prizes for the lucky winners and participants was a big success.

Shortly after returning to school in April, Moraine students and their families will be looking forward to our annual pancake supper to be held April 13 from 5:30-7:30 p.m. Projects for our science fair will be on display that evening.

Nancy Rosselot

SILVER SPRINGS

As doors re-open after the break there are a number of projects to be continued. The Media Center started a "Hobby Week" that has turned into a gala affair. The youngsters are proudly sharing treasured collections. There are displays of dolls from around the world, beer cans, bottle caps, ceramics, stuffed animals, rock and shells, just to name a few.

Even the teachers are collectors. Ms. Modrack (Chris) has a kite collection, Mrs. Celeste Matestic has salt water fish. There are dolls that Miss Linda Sweet has been collecting, and our Steve Sutherland has his barber shop quartet.

The "week" will be expanded to allow more boys and girls to share their hobbies. They are even planning a student assembly for puppets, magic show and unicycles.

Another large program at S.S. is the science curriculum pilot program (SCIS) this spring. Teachers visited the SCIS facilities in Pontiac during the summer and have been involved with in-service training throughout the year.

Science through SCIS is concerned with three components: 1) teaching the content, (facts, concepts & scientific theories), 2) developing the scientific process (observing, classifying, describing, measuring and interpreting data from experimentation), 3) developing a positive attitude toward science by encouraging curiosity and guiding judgments based on the evidence.

To the lighter side of the projects, the school has planned on April 8 a Family Photo Day that is open to all families of Northville. A photographer will be at school to take pictures of the family, the children, and mom and dad. For $5 you choose your favorite pose; it is a 11x14-inch color picture and you may buy extras in time for Mother's Day.

We invite anyone interested to drop by Silver Springs School during normal school hours this week and make arrangements to have your family photo taken.

The PTSA also has planned a family roller skating evening April 19 at the new Bonaventure Rink.

The school yearbooks will soon be coming out; the candid photographer has been very busy catching everyone by surprise.

Spring looks busy at S.S. we have another Fun Run planned, the sixth grade party, a teachers luncheon, Michigan Week activities, Safety Week, Olivia de Havilland will share highlights of her career with Northville Town Hall at 11 a.m. this Thursday at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. Chairwoman Florence Booms announces that a capacity crowd has made reservation for the celebrity luncheon following. Miss De Havilland's appearance concludes the current series. In addition to two Academy Awards she has received nominations for three other films. "Gone With the Wind," "Captain Blood" with Errol Flynn and "Hush, Hush Sweet Charlotte" were among her successes.

Newcomers giving spring coffee Friday

The spring coffee being given by Northville Newcomers from 9:30 to 11 a.m. this Friday at Innsbrook Clubhouse is a "thank you" to everyone who worked on club projects during the year and also is an invitation to anyone who has lived in the Northville school district for less than two years to join the group, according to President Beverly Walsh. Prospective members who would like more information may call Nancy Naszradi, membership chairman, 348-

WINCHESTER

Father and son night was held March 9. The boys and their fathers enjoyed two films: a Three Stooges' movie and a film highlighting a special year in sports.

Fathers were asked to take part in a physical activity test, called the "Step Test", for three minutes. Afterward their pulses were checked and Tom Pallas discussed the results of the testing with the audience. Charts were given to the fathers for further testing and tabulating of results should they wish to continue the tests at home.

Also during the evening a boy 2959, who also is serving as coffee chairman.

Innsbrook Clubhouse is located in the apartment project behind the A&P on Seven Mile. All current Newcomers are invited to drop by.

representing the upper-el classes demonstrated the proper way to do sit-ups to the fathers.

Coming up in April will be the Lower Elementary Evening on April 13. A two-part program is being planned for children in grades one to three and their parents.

A marionette or magic show will be given in the Rondello for one group of parents and children, while the other group of parents is entertained by their children in the multi-purpose room. Miss Markovich will direct the children in a musical program. Midway through the evening the groups will switch rooms.

March 16 a morning PTA meeting was held in the multi-purpose room. A Movement Education Presentation was made by children of the following classrooms: Mrs. Devendorf, Mrs. Rondello, Mrs. Coutts, Mrs. Najarian, Mrs. Schaaf, and Mrs. Glothober. Mr. Pallas, movement education facilitator, explained the program to the large group of mothers who attended.

Following the program the election of next year's PTA officers was held. Continuing in their positions for a second year are Mrs. Betty Lynn Nowka as president and Mrs. Lee Baumann as vice-president. Mrs. Judy Kramer was elected secretary, and Mrs. Ann Guldbert, treasurer.

The PTA provided treats for the three top classes in the Campbell Soup Label Drive. The lucky classes were: first—Mr. Rowland's fourth grade; second—Mrs. Kelly's sixth grade; and third—Mr. Rosinski's fourth grade. A total of over 18,000 labels was collected, enabling Winchester to obtain some metric teaching aids, sports equipment, gym games and special books for the library.

An Art Appreciation Program is being developed by Mrs. Pat Moore and her committee. They are selecting appropriate prints to be presented to the classrooms by a group of volunteer mothers. Sometime in May a workshop will be available in the Birmingham-

West Bloomfield area for those mothers who wish to attend. Pat hopes to implement a basic program by the fall semester. Additional prints are to be added each year.

Mrs. Virginia Hassell has replaced Mrs. Rondello as a teacher in a 2-3 split classroom. A letter was sent home to the parents to explain why the change was necessary at this time. Winchester parents send along congratulations to Mrs. Rondello in her new position as Gifted and Talented Program coordinator.

Winchester will hold its Kindergarten Roundup the first full week in May. Definite dates will be forthcoming so please pass these dates on to your neighbors who do not have children in school when the flyer is sent home.

Northville Building Authority
Counties of Wayne and Oakland, Michigan

Minutes of a Regular meeting of the Commission of the Northville Building Authority, Counties of Wayne and Oakland, Michigan, held at the City Hall, Northville, Michigan, on the 22nd day of September, 1977 at 7 o'clock p.m., Eastern Daylight Time.

PRESENT: Commissioners Amerman, Hoffman.
ABSENT: Commissioners Freydl.

The following preamble and resolution were offered by Commissioner Hoffman and supported by Commissioner Amerman:

WHEREAS, the City of Northville, Michigan (the "City"), and the Northville Building Authority (the "Authority"), have entered into a certain Full Faith and Credit General Obligation Contract of Lease dated as of May 26, 1976, (the "Contract") pursuant to which the Authority is acquiring certain senior citizens housing facilities (the "Project") to be leased to the City; and

WHEREAS, the City and Authority have determined that it is necessary and advisable to have the Authority acquire as a part of the Project to be leased to the City a fire protection sprinkler system including all necessary related equipment (the "Project Improvements"); and

WHEREAS, the total cost of acquiring the Project Improvements is estimated to be the sum of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000); and

WHEREAS, the Authority proposes, in accordance with the authorization contained in said Act 31, as amended, to provide at this time for the issuance of bonds of the Authority in the aggregate principal sum of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000), in anticipation of the full faith and credit general obligation contractual commitments of the City under a supplement to the Contract to finance the cost of the Project Improvements; and

WHEREAS, the Authority and the City have approved, executed and authorized delivery of the supplement to the Contract (the "Supplemental Contract"), a copy of which has been delivered to and is on file with the Secretary of the Authority and the City Clerk endorsed with reference to this Resolution and the date of its adoption; and

WHEREAS, a Notice of Intention of Entering into the Supplemental Contract has been or will shortly be published in accordance with said Act 31, and the Supplemental Contract will be effective upon the expiration of forty five (45) days following said publication unless a proper petition for an election on the question of the Supplemental Contract becoming effective is filed with the City Clerk within said period of time; and

WHEREAS, all things necessary to the authorization and issuance of said bonds under the provisions of the Constitution and laws of the State of Michigan, and particularly the aforesaid Act 31, as amended, have been done and the Authority is now empowered and desires to authorize the issuance of such bonds;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE NORTHVILLE BUILDING AUTHORITY AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Definitions. Wherever used in this Resolution or in the bonds to be issued hereunder, except where otherwise indicated by the context:

(a) "Act" shall mean Act 31, Public Acts of Michigan, 1948 (First Extra Session), as amended.

(b) "Authority" shall mean the Northville Building Authority organized pursuant to the provisions of the Act, or its successor.

(c) "Bonds" shall mean the Building Authority Bonds, Series 77A in the principal amount of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000) authorized to be issued by this Resolution.

(d) "Commission" shall mean the Commission of the Authority, the legislative and governing body of the Authority.

(e) "Contract" shall mean the Full Faith and Credit General Obligation Contract of Lease dated as of May 26, 1976, heretofore made, executed and delivered by the Authority and the City as referred to in the preamble hereto.

(f) "City" shall mean the City of Northville, Counties of Wayne and Oakland, Michigan, or its successor.

(g) "Cash Rental" or "Cash Rentals" shall mean the full faith and credit general obligation Cash Rentals as provided for and defined in Section 3 of the Supplemental Contract to be paid annually to the Authority by the City for retirement of the Bonds.

(h) "Project Improvements" shall mean the fire protection sprinkler system as described in the preamble hereto, to be acquired pursuant to the provisions of this Resolution and the Supplemental Contract.

(i) "Project" means the Project as defined in the Contract.

(j) "Supplemental Contract" means the Supplement to Full Faith and Credit Contract of Lease entered into between the Authority and City and described in the preamble to this Resolution.

Section 2. Declaration of Necessity. It is hereby determined to be necessary and advisable for the Authority to acquire the Project Improvements for the use of the City as provided and specified in the Supplemental Contract.

Section 3. Estimated Cost; Period of Usefulness. The total estimated cost of the Project Improvements, including the payment of the incidental expenses specified in Section 4 thereof, in the amount of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000), is hereby approved and confirmed, and the estimated period of usefulness of the Project, including the Project Improvements, is determined to be not less than forty (40) years.

Section 4. Authorization of Bonds. For the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring the Project Improvements, including the payment of architects' fees, legal and financing fees, and other expenses incidental to the financing, there shall be borrowed in anticipation of the payment of Cash Rentals by the City under the Supplemental Contract the sum of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000), and in evidence thereof there shall be issued bonds of the Authority in the principal amount of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000).

Section 5. Bond Terms. The Bonds shall be designated BUILDING AUTHORITY BONDS, SERIES 77A, shall be payable out of the Cash Rentals, and shall be coupon Bonds of the denomination of $5,000.00 each, dated as of November 1, 1977, numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 upwards, registrable as to principal only in the manner hereinafter provided, and payable serially as follows:

$10,000—November 1st of each year from 1979 to 1983, inclusive;
$15,000—November 1st of each year from 1984 to 1993, inclusive.

The Bonds shall bear interest at a rate or rates to be determined upon public sale thereof, not exceeding ten per cent (10%) per annum, payable on May 1, 1978, and semi-annually thereafter on November 1st and May 1st of each year. Both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at a bank or trust company qualified to act as paying agent, located in the State of Michigan, to be designated by the manager of the account purchasing the Bonds and approved by the Authority. A co-paying agent similarly qualified and approved, but located either within or without the State of Michigan, may also be designated.

Bonds of this issue shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

Section 6. Execution of Bonds. The Chairman and Secretary of the Commission shall execute the Bonds on behalf of the Authority and affix the seal of the Authority thereto, and the Chairman of the Commission shall execute the interest coupons attached to the Bonds with his facsimile signature. Upon execution of the Bonds the Treasurer, or such other officer as shall be designated by the Commission, shall deliver the Bonds to the purchaser thereof as determined by the Commission upon receipt of the purchase price therefor.

Section 7. Security for Bonds; Lien. The Bonds and the attached coupons shall be issued in anticipation of and payable from the Cash Rentals received by the Authority from the City pursuant to the Supplemental Contract, which Cash Rentals are general obligations of the City for the payment of which the City in the Supplemental Contract has pledged its full faith and credit pursuant to the provisions of the Act. The City has further covenanted and agreed that each year it will levy ad valorem taxes upon all taxable property within its boundaries in amounts which, taking into consideration estimated delinquencies in tax collections, will be sufficient to pay the Cash Rentals under the Supplemental Contract becoming due before the time of the following year's tax collections. Such taxes, by virtue of Article IX, Section 6 of the Michigan Constitution and the Act, must be levied by the City without limitation as to rate or amount and in addition to any other taxes which the City may otherwise be authorized to levy, to the extent necessary to pay such Cash Rentals; provided that if at the time of making any annual tax levy there shall be funds on hand earmarked and set aside for the payment of said Cash Rentals becoming due prior to the next tax collection period, then such annual tax levy may be reduced by such amount. To secure the payment of the principal of and interest on the Bonds, all such Cash Rentals are hereby pledged solely and only for the payment of the Bonds, and a statutory first lien is hereby established upon and against such Cash Rentals for such purpose.

Section 8. Remedies. The holder or holders of said Bonds representing in the aggregate not less than twenty per cent (20%) of the entire issue then outstanding may, by suit, action, or other proceedings, protect and enforce the aforesaid statutory lien and enforce and compel the performance of all duties of the officials of the Authority, including, but not limited to, compelling the City by proceedings in a court of competent jurisdiction or other appropriate forum to make the Cash Rental payments required to be made by the Supplemental Contract and requiring the City to certify, levy and collect appropriate taxes as herein authorized and as may be required by the Contract to be so certified, levied and collected by the City for the payment of Cash Rentals required to be paid by the Supplemental Contract.

Section 9. Operation of Project. Pursuant to the terms of the Contract and Supplemental Contract, the operation, maintenance and management of the Project, including the Project Improvements and all costs and expenses with respect thereto shall be the obligation of the City.

Section 10. Operating Year. The Project, including the Project Improvements, shall be operated on the basis of a fiscal year corresponding with that of the City.

Section 11. Cash Rentals. The Cash Rental as provided in Section 3 of the Supplemental Contract is hereby established and fixed as the Cash Rental authorized by the Act to be charged to the City for the use of the Project Improvements. Said Cash Rental shall be entirely net to the Authority and is estimated to be sufficient to provide for the payment of the interest upon and the principal of all the Bonds as and when the same become due and payable. Such Cash Rental shall not be reduced until such time as all Bonds and the interest thereon are paid in full or sufficient funds for their payment in full have been provided. Such Cash Rental may be increased by the Authority, as provided in the Supplemental Contract.

Section 12. Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. There shall be established and maintained with such bank or trust company where the principal of and interest on the Bonds are primarily payable a separate depository account designated BUILDING AUTHORITY BONDS, SERIES 77A, BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND (hereinafter sometimes called the "Bond and Interest Redemption Fund"). The Cash Rentals paid to the Authority shall be deposited as received into said Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, together with any premium or accrued interest received upon delivery of the Bonds, any advance payments of Cash Rentals made by the City under the Supplemental Contract, any unexpended balance of Bond proceeds credited to debt service, and any other moneys attributable to Bond payment. All sums held in said Bond and Interest Redemption Fund shall be used solely and only for the payment of the principal of and interest on the Bonds herein authorized, together with any call premiums thereon.

The Commission may establish such other funds and accounts and provide for deposits thereto as it shall from time to time deem appropriate and necessary.

Section 13. Proceeds of Bond Sale. The proceeds of sale of the Bonds shall be deposited in an account with a bank or trust company to be designated by the Commission, designated 1977A CONSTRUCTION FUND, except that from the proceeds of sale of the Bonds, upon receipt thereof, a sum equal to the accrued interest and any premium on the Bonds shall be deposited into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. The moneys in said 1977A Construction Fund shall be used solely and only to pay costs of the Project Improvements and any engineering, architectural, legal, financing or other expenses incident thereto on authorization of the Commission of the Authority in accordance with the provisions of the Supplemental Contract. Any unexpended balance of the proceeds of the sale of Bonds remaining after completion of the Project Improvements may be used for the improvements or enlargement of the Project or for other projects of the Authority leased to the City if such use be approved by the Municipal Finance Commission and the City. Any remaining balance shall be paid into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund and the City shall receive a credit for the amount of such balance against the Cash Rentals next due.

Section 14. Investment of Funds. Moneys in any funds and accounts of the Authority may be invested by the Authority in United States government obligations or obligations of the principal of and interest on which are guaranteed by the United States government or in interest-bearing time deposits as shall from time to time be determined by the Commission. In the event such investments are made, the securities representing the same shall be kept on deposit with the depository or depositories of the fund or funds from which such investments are made, and such securities and the income therefrom shall become a part of such funds.

Section 15. Covenants of Authority. The Authority covenants and agrees with the successive holders of the Bonds and coupons that so long as any of the Bonds remain outstanding and unpaid as to either principal or interest:

(a) The Authority will punctually perform all of its obligations and duties under this Resolution, the Contract, and the Supplemental Contract, and will collect, segregate and apply the Cash Rentals and all other rentals, payments and other funds to be received thereunder in the manner required under this Resolution and the Supplemental Contract.

(b) The Authority will maintain and keep proper books of record and account relating to the operation of the Project, including the Project Improvements, and all rentals and payments received therefrom pursuant to the Contract and the Supplemental Contract. Not later than three (3) months after the close of each operating year the Commission will cause to be prepared a statement, in reasonable detail, sworn to by its chief accounting officer, showing the cash receipts and disbursements during such operating year, the assets and liabilities of the Project, including the Project Improvements, at the beginning and close of the operating year, and such other information as may be necessary to enable any taxpayer of the City or any holder or owner of the Bonds, or anyone acting in their behalf, to be fully informed as to all matters pertaining to the financial operation of the Project, including the Project Improvements, during such year. A certified copy of said statement shall be filed with the City Clerk and a copy shall also be sent to the manager or managers of the account purchasing the Bonds. The Commission shall also cause an annual audit of such books of record and account for the preceding operating year to be made by a recognized independent certified public accountant, and shall mail such audit to the manager of the syndicate or account purchasing the Bonds. At the option of the Authority, the aforesaid audit may be submitted in place of the aforesaid statement required above.

(c) The Authority will not sell or otherwise dispose of any substantial portion of the Project in a manner which might impair the security for the Bonds until all of the Bonds have been paid in full, both as to principal and interest, or until such full payment has been duly provided for, and will not do or suffer to be done any act which would affect the Project in such a way as to impair or affect unfavorably the security of the Bonds.

Section 16. Additional Bonds. Nothing contained in this Resolution shall be construed to prevent the Authority from issuing additional bonds pursuant to the Act, in anticipation of either full faith and credit general obligation contract payments or revenue contract payments, to finance the construction of additions to the Project or any new buildings or projects within the scope of its corporate powers, but said bonds shall be payable out of, and have a first lien on, the rentals or payments contracted for in connection with such new projects, and shall in no way have any lien on or be payable out of any of the Cash Rentals pledged to the payment of the Bonds of this authorized issue or any additional bonds issued to complete, repair or alter the Project in accordance with the authorization provided in the Contract. The Authority shall have power to issue additional Bonds to complete, repair or alter the Project as authorized in the Contract.

Section 17. Contract with Bondholders. The provisions of this Resolution, together with the Contract and Supplemental Contract, shall constitute a contract between the Authority and the holder or holders of the Bonds from time to time, and after the issuance of any of such Bonds, no change, variation or alteration in the provisions of this Resolution, the Contract, or the Supplemental Contract, may be made which would lessen the security for the Bonds. The provisions of this Resolution, the Contract and Supplemental Contract shall be enforceable by appropriate proceedings taken by such holder or holders, either at law or in equity.

Section 18. Bond and Coupon Form. The Bonds and coupons shall be in substantially the following form:

The bonds of this issue are issued in anticipation of and are payable from the proceeds of certain cash rentals required to be paid to the Authority by the City of Northville, Wayne and Oakland Counties, Michigan, pursuant to a certain Supplement to Full Faith and Credit General Obligation Contract of Lease dated _____, 1977, (The "Supplemental Contract") between said City and said Authority, whereby the City is leasing and paying additional rentals for fire protection improvements to a senior citizen housing project being acquired by the Authority for the use of and lease to the City in accordance with the provisions of Act 31, Public Acts of Michigan, 1948 (First Extra Session), as amended. Said cash rentals are full faith and credit general obligations of the City payable from ad valorem taxes which must be levied by the City without limitation as to rate or amount to the extent necessary to make such payment. The Authority has irrevocably pledged to the payment of the bonds the cash rental payable by the City, as set forth in the Supplemental Contract, the total of said cash rental payments being sufficient in amount to pay promptly, when due, the principal of and interest on the bonds of this issue, and a statutory first lien on such cash rentals has been created by the bond authorizing resolution for such payment.

Bonds of this issue are not subject to redemption prior to maturity. For a complete statement of the funds from which and the conditions under which this bond is payable and the general covenants and provisions pursuant to which this bond is issued, reference is made to the above-described resolution and supplemental contract.

This bond may be registered as to principal only in the name of the holder on the books of the paying agent and such registration noted on the back hereof by said paying agent, after which no transfer shall be valid unless made on the books and noted hereon in like manner, but transferability by delivery may be restored by registration to bearer. Such registration shall not affect the negotiability of the interest coupons.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by law precedent to and in the issuance of this bond and the series of bonds of which this is one have been done and performed in regular and due time and form, as required by law.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Northville Building Authority, by its Commission, has caused this bond to be signed in its name by the Chairman and Secretary of said Commission and its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed and has caused the annexed interest coupons to be executed by the facsimile signature of the Chairman of said Commission, all as of the first day of November, A.D., 1977.

Section 2. Declaration of Necessity. It is hereby determined to be necessary and advisable for the Authority to acquire the Project for the use of the City as provided and specified in the Contract.

Section 3. Estimated Cost; Period of Usefulness. The total estimated cost of the Project, including the payment of the incidental expenses specified in Section 4 hereof, which estimated cost is One Hundred Forty Thousand ($140,000) Dollars, is hereby approved and confirmed, and the estimated period of usefulness of the Project is determined to be not less than twenty (20) years.

Section 4. Authorization of Bonds. For the purpose of paying the cost of acquiring the Project, including the payment of engineers' fees, legal and financing fees, and other expenses incidental to the financing, there shall be borrowed in anticipation of the payment of Cash Rentals by the City under the Contract the sum of One Hundred Forty Thousand ($140,000) Dollars, and that in evidence thereof there be issued in anticipation of such full faith and credit general obligation Cash Rentals negotiable Bonds of the Authority in the principal amount of One Hundred Forty Thousand ($140,000) Dollars.

Section 5. Bond Terms. The Bonds shall be designated NORTHVILLE BUILDING AUTHORITY BONDS, SERIES 77-B and shall be payable out of the Cash Rentals. The Bonds shall be coupon Bonds, of the denomination of $5,000.00 each, dated as of November 1, 1977, numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 upwards, registrable as to principal only in the manner hereinafter provided, and payable serially as follows:

$ 5,000—November 1st of each year from 1978 to 1985, inclusive;

$10,000—November 1st of each of the years 1986 and 1987.

The Bonds shall bear interest at a rate or rates to be determined upon public sale thereof, not exceeding eight percent (8%) per annum, payable on May 1, 1978, and semi-annually thereafter on November 1st and May 1st of each year. Both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at a bank or trust company qualified to act as paying agent, located in the State of Michigan, to be designated by the manager of the account purchasing the Bonds and approved by the Authority. A co-paying agent similarly qualified and approved, but located either within or without the State of Michigan, may also be designated.

Bonds of this issue will not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

Section 6. Execution of Bonds. The Chairman and Secretary of the Commission are hereby authorized and directed to execute said Bonds when issued and sold for and on behalf of the Authority and affix the seal of the Authority thereto, and the Chairman of the Commission is hereby authorized and directed to execute the interest coupons to be attached to said Bonds by causing his facsimile signature to be affixed thereto. Upon the execution of said Bonds and the attached coupons the same shall be delivered to the Treasurer of the Commission or such other officer as shall be designated by the Commission, who is hereby authorized and directed to deliver said Bonds and the attached coupons to the purchaser thereof as hereafter determined by the Commission upon receipt of the purchase price therefor.

Section 7. Security for Bonds; Lien. The Bonds and the attached coupons shall be issued in anticipation of and payable from the Cash Rentals received by the Authority from the City pursuant to the Contract, which Cash Rentals are general obligations of the City for the payment of which the City in the Contract has pledged its full faith and credit pursuant to the provisions of the Act. The City has further covenanted and agreed that each year it will levy ad valorem taxes upon all taxable property within its boundaries in amounts which, taking into consideration estimated delinquencies in tax collections, will be sufficient to pay the Cash Rentals under the Contract becoming due before the time of the following year's tax collections. Such taxes, by virtue of Article IX, Section 6 of the Michigan Constitution and the Act, must be levied by the City without limitation as to rate or amount and addition to any other taxes which the City may otherwise be authorized to levy, to the extent necessary to pay such Cash Rentals; provided that if at the time of making any annual tax levy there shall be funds on hand earmarked and set aside for the payment of said Cash Rentals becoming due prior to the next tax collection period, then such annual tax levy may be reduced by such amount. To secure the payment of the principal of and interest on the Bonds, all such Cash Rentals are hereby pledged solely and only for the payment of the Bonds, and a statutory first lien is hereby established upon and against such Cash Rentals for such purpose.

Section 8. Remedies. The holder or holders of said Bonds representing in the aggregate not less than twenty percent (20%) of the entire issue then outstanding may, by suit, action, or other proceedings, protect and enforce the aforesaid statutory lien and enforce and compel the performance of all duties of the officials of the Authority, including, but not limited to, compelling the City by proceedings in a court of competent jurisdiction or other appropriate forum to make the Cash Rental payments required to be made by the Contract and requiring the City to certify, levy and collect appropriate taxes as herein authorized and as may be required by the Contract to be so certified, levied and collected by the City for the payment of Cash Rentals required to be paid by the Contract.

Section 9. Operation of Project. Pursuant to the terms of the Contract, the operation, maintenance and management of the Project and all costs and expenses with respect thereto shall be the obligation of the City.

Section 10. Operating Year. The Project shall be operated on the basis of a fiscal year corresponding with that of the City.

Section 11. Cash Rentals. The Cash Rental as provided in Section 3 of the Contract is hereby established and fixed as the Cash Rental authorized by the Act to be charged to the City for the use of the Project. Said Cash Rental shall be entirely net to the Authority and is estimated to be sufficient to provide for the payment of the interest upon and the principal of all the Bonds as and when the same become due and payable. Such Cash Rental shall not be reduced until such time as all Bonds and the interest thereon are paid in full or sufficient funds for their payment in full have been provided. Such Cash Rental may be increased by the Authority, as provided in the Contract.

Section 12. Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. There shall be established and maintained with such bank or trust company where the principal of and interest on the Bonds are primarily payable a separate depository account designated BUILDING AUTHORITY BONDS, SERIES 77-B BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND (hereinafter sometimes called the "Bond and Interest Redemption Fund"). The Cash Rentals paid to the Authority shall be deposited as received into said Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, together with any premium or accrued interest received upon delivery of the Bonds, any advance payments of Cash Rentals made by the City under the Contract, any unexpended balance of Bond proceeds credited to debt service, and any other moneys attributable to Bond payment. All sums held in said Bond and Interest Redemption Fund shall be used solely and only for the payment of the principal of and interest on the Bonds herein authorized, together with any call premiums thereon.

The Commission may establish such other funds and accounts and provide for deposits thereto as it shall from time to time deem appropriate and necessary.

Section 13. Proceeds of Bond Sale. The proceeds of sale of the Bonds shall be deposited in an account with a bank or trust company to be designated by the Commission, designated PARKING LOT IMPROVEMENTS CONSTRUCTION FUND, except that from the proceeds of sale of the Bonds, upon receipt thereof, a sum equal to the accrued interest and any premium on the Bonds shall be deposited into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. Said moneys in said Construction Fund shall be used solely and only to pay costs of the Project and any engineering, legal, financing or other expenses incident thereto on authorization of the Commission of the Authority in accordance with the provisions of the Contract. Any unexpended balance of the proceeds of the sale of Bonds remaining after completion of the Project or for other projects of the Authority leased to the City if such use be approved by the Municipal Finance Commission and the City. Any remaining balance shall be paid into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund and the City shall receive a credit for the amount of such balance against the Cash Rentals next due.

Section 14. Investment of Funds. Moneys in any funds and accounts of the Authority may be invested by the Authority in United States government obligations or obligations the principal of and interest on which are guaranteed by the United States government or in interest-bearing time deposits as shall from time to time be determined by the Commission. In the event such investments are made, the securities representing the same shall be kept on deposit with the depository or depositories of the fund or funds from which such investments are made, and such securities and the income therefrom shall become a part of such funds.

Section 15. Covenants of Authority. The Authority covenants and agrees with the successive holders of the Bonds and coupons that so long as any of the Bonds remain outstanding and unpaid as to either principal or interest:

(a) The Authority will punctually perform all of its obligations and duties under this Resolution and the Contract, and will collect, segregate and apply the Cash Rentals and all other rentals, payments and other funds to be received thereunder in the manner required under this Resolution and the Contract.

(b) The Authority will maintain and keep proper books of record and account relating to the operation of the Project and all rentals and payments received therefrom pursuant to the Contract. Not later than three (3) months after the close of each operating year the Commission will cause to be prepared a statement, in reasonable detail, sworn to by its chief accounting officer, showing the cash receipts and disbursements during such operating year, the assets and liabilities of the Project at the beginning and close of the operating year, and such other information as may be necessary to enable any taxpayer of the City or any holder or owner of the Bonds, or anyone acting in their behalf, to be fully informed as to all matters pertaining to the financial operation of the Project during such year. A certified copy of said statement shall be filed with the City Clerk and a copy shall also be sent to the manager or managers of the account purchasing the Bonds. The Commission shall also cause an annual audit of such books of record and account for the preceding operating year to be made by a recognized independent certified public accountant, and shall mail such audit to the manager of the syndicate or account purchasing the Bonds. At the option of the Authority, the aforesaid audit may be submitted in place of the aforesaid statement required above.

(c) The Authority will not sell or otherwise dispose of any substantial portion of the Project in a manner which might impair the security for the Bonds until all of the Bonds have been paid in full, both as to principal and interest, or until such full payment has been duly provided for, and will not do or suffer to be done any act which would affect the Project in such a way as to impair or affect unfavorably the security of the Bonds.

Section 16. Additional Bonds. Nothing contained in this Resolution shall be construed to prevent the Authority from issuing additional bonds pursuant to the Act, in anticipation of either full faith and credit general obligation contract payments or revenue contract payments, to finance the construction of additions to the Project or any new buildings or projects within the scope of its corporate powers, but said bonds shall be payable out of, and have a first lien on, the rentals or payments contracted for in connection with such new projects, and shall in no way have any lien on or be payable out of any of the Cash Rentals pledged to the payment of the Bonds of this authorized issue or any additional bonds issued to complete, repair or alter the Project in accordance with the authorization provided in the Contract. The Authority shall have power to issue additional Bonds to complete, repair or alter the Project as authorized in the Contract.

Section 17. Contract with Bondholders. The provisions of this Resolution, together with the Contract herein referred to, shall constitute a Contract between the Authority and the holder or holders of the Bonds from time to time, and after the issuance of any of such Bonds, no change, variation or alteration of the provisions of this Resolution or the Contract may be made which would lessen the security for the Bonds. The provisions of this Resolution and the Contract shall be enforceable by appropriate proceedings taken by such holder or holders, either at law or in equity.

Section 18. Bond and Coupon Form. Said Bonds and coupons shall be in substantially the following form:

It's vests, sandals, dirndls

Natural colors newest for spring

By JEAN DAY

When dirty snow finally disappears and green grass sprouts, men, women and children all begin to think about their wardrobes as they shed heavy, winter clothes.

But putting together a super-looking spring wardrobe while keeping to a budget isn't always easy.

At its spring fashion show in Detroit Sears, Roebuck and Company stressed that "wonderful merchandise at affordable prices" is stocked in area stores, including Twelve Oaks in Novi, and in the new spring and summer catalog.

The firm has come up with a new concept termed "item dressing" — once called coordinates — that make it possible to get maximum use out of basics without throwing out all you own.

You can buy a skirt or blouse in the bigger, looser look to combine with what you already have, getting the most out of your basic clothes.

The big color news for spring, Sears fashion directors Mary Lou Bildor and Paul Rogers pointed out, is neutrals with clothes in natural colors featured.

For women, Ms. Bildor reported, Sears stores are filled with gathered and shirred full skirts, open necked shirts with elasticized waists, natural color sweaters and blazer jackets.

"Must" accessory with this new look is a strappy sandal. The shawl is big again this spring to coordinate with the full skirt, and open-front vests are worn over the full blouses.

It's a soft and pretty look, and it's available in a designer collection also from Sears catalog. There's a 10-piece pastel wardrobe complete with shoes, hat and purses in the designer group. In soft cream in a blend of cotton, polyester and silk are a blazer jacket at $45, skirt, softly shirred at $15, trousers at $20.

A print tunic top is $17 and is an example of "item" dressing as it also can be combined with matching challis floral skirt at $19.

The Sears fashion/activities director agrees that "the eye has to get adjusted to the bigger, looser look" and noted that some women have been buying clothes a size smaller than usual to achieve a more modified one.

For men spring fashion is similar in concept to that for women, Paul Rogers, Sears men's fashion expert stated, as easy-to-wear pieces were shown. Neutral is the color for a dress-up in suits with matching vests. White jeans are popular for spring.

"Leisure suit is a bad word right now," he stated, revealing that it has been replaced with the kaiki safari suit.

A more classic look is back, the men's store fashion director said, with v-neck sweaters worn with shirts with casually turned back cuffs and turned up collars.

Because children are always outgrowing their clothes, the biggest family clothing expenditure goes to children, Jack Simpson, children's wear fashion director, pointed out.

While older girls are wearing pastels like their mothers, he told area fashion reporters, Sears believes in crayon bright color for kids. There's still the lace and eyelet trims that little girls like. Eyelet appeared on a red-and-white crisp tablecloth check for girls. A bright blue and yellow shirt for boys was combined with the new bone color pants.

Spring 1978 fashion features that are new include:

For men, full raglan jackets, straight leg pants, a layered shirt look with a beige shirt worn over a checked, one, and turned up collars.

For kids, there's a middy look in a whole Winnie the Pooh middy collection.

For women, tier skirts, scarves worn

WHAT IS "RETIREMENT PLANNING?"

Planning for retirement, like planning for a career, requires careful consideration and calls for many decisions to be made. Retirement planning can be summed up in the answers you provide to these four questions:

1. When should I retire? (at 60? at 65? or at 67?)
2. What shall I do after I retire? (Here's a clue: be useful, help others, stay mentally and physically alert, be active.)
3. With how much income can I comfortably retire? Will I have it? If not, how do I plan now, to attain it?
4. Where will I live? (Consider climate, type of residence, desired lifestyle, economics, health)

If you would like more information of retirement, stop in or phone us. Your questions and comments on this and other subjects are welcome — in private or publicly through this column.

regimental stripes for walking and jogging and tennis outfits that depart from traditional white. Men's shorts are tan. For racketball, shorts are high-cut and combined with tank or t-shirts. For the family that jogs (or plays tennis) together, stays together, says Sears.

In South Lyon

Depot to be open on home tour

A Victorian brick house, two homes of Gothic design, a former Methodist parsonage, and a ranch style contemporary home and a unique depot will make up the 1978 South Lyon home tour. Sponsored by the South Lyon Area Historical Society, the tour is scheduled for May 18. Tickets at $2.50 each, go on sale next week at all South Lyon area merchants and from society members. The Marquis Shop in Northville, the Brighton Argus and Walled Lake News offices will also have tickets available. A stop at the relocated Witch's Hat Depot which the historical society is turning into the first museum for South Lyon is also included on the tour. The pointed "hat" design, originating in France, is reportedly found in only four other depot buildings in the United States. Luncheon on tour day will be served by members of Rebekah Lodge 485 at the Oddfellow Hall for a $3 donation at the door. The home of Brian and Cheryl Brown at 616 East Lake Street in South Lyon is the oldest one on this year's tour. The large two-story Victorian house in circa 1869. The present owners have filled it with lovely antiques. Dennis and Toni Rynicke are the owners of the denim-blue Victorian Gothic home at 235 West Lake Street. Deviating from the classic round tower, the house design includes six gables and a square tower and is copied after a home first built in Carey, Ohio by relatives of the original owner, Mrs. Angie Smith. Again, the furnishings here include many authentic and interesting antiques. 1889 was the construction year of the Victorian-style former Methodist parsonage, recently renovated by Jan and Ted Coombs. Antiques, including a wooden ice box and an RCA Victor victrola, are scattered among the Colonial furnishings. The home is located at 317 East Lake Street. Just across the street at 324 East Lake is the Gothic 1880's home of Mrs. Jean Tilford, also a 1978 tour home. Antiques abound in this dwelling as well. The ranch home of Steve and Fran Showerman completes the tour and has contemporary furnishings with period accents. It nestles in the attractive woodsy area at 630 Woodland Drive.

Library makes 'book calls' to homebound readers

Northville Public Library makes house calls — or to be more exact, "Book Calls." This is a unique service through which volunteers, assigned by the library, deliver books to homebound patrons, explains Anne Vargo, community service librarian. Anyone who cannot come to the library because of illness, physical handicap, or lack of transportation is eligible to receive this free service. Volunteers make visits to homebound patrons once every three to four weeks. All that is required to be a volunteer is a car, an interest in people and books, and a few hours each month. This program has been going on at the library for almost three years now, and because of it, many people have renewed their interest in reading. For those with restricted vision, the library offers books in large print, cassettes and cassette players, and "Talking Books" (books that have been recorded). More volunteers currently are needed to help expand this service. Those who wish to volunteer their time to make book calls should contact Ms. Vargo at 349-3020.

Youth Symphony lists concert

Third program of the Livonia Youth Symphony's 20th season will be given at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 9, in Livonia-Churchill High School. Northville participants will include Pamela Korody, Drew Farkas and Tom Nulty in the "Senior Orchestra" and Frederick Hoops in the "String Orchestra." Five beginning soloists from the String Orchestra and four advanced musicians from the Senior Orchestra will be featured. Lester Farkas of Northville conducts the senior group while Judith Culler directs the strings. Members of the youngest of the three LYS orchestras are from elementary and junior high grades with the youngest performer this season being a second grader. The youth symphony has the distinction of being the oldest supporting symphony in the American Symphony Orchestra League that teaches symphonic literature to the very young. Handel's "Little Fugue" will be the opening number, followed by a five soloist violin number. Mozart's "Dance Suite" and Isaac's "Quinto-Quinto Suite" complete the string program. "Overture to Oberson" will open the senior program. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for all students and senior citizens. The April 23 concert will feature the Junior Orchestra.

Would you pay $1,000 for $1,584?

HARRY JUST HEARD ABOUT FIRST FEDERAL'S OFFER. I HAVEN'T SEEN HIM MOVE THAT FAST SINCE THEY READ UNCLE CHARLES WILL.

We pay 7.75% annual interest on a six-year certificate savings account; no place pays a higher rate of interest, and many places (possibly the one where you're saving) are not allowed to pay as much.

To earn this high interest—which is an effective annual rate of 7.98%—just deposit $1,000 or more and leave it in the account for the full six years. When you do, your $1,000 will increase by more than half and total $1,584.

As you can see in the chart, this account is just one of many certificate savings plans we offer, all designed to help you have more money than you started with. Any of these accounts—even more than one—can be opened in addition to your First Federal Regular Savings Account. In fact, our Regular Savings Account is how many people get the $1,000 for the certificate account.

Come and talk with us about your savings goals. We'll help

Type of Account	Minimum Amount	Annual Rate	Effective Annual Rate	How and When Paid*
One-Year Certificate*	$1,000	6.50%	6.66%	Paid and compounded quarterly.
2½-Year Certificate*	$1,000	6.75%	6.92%	Paid and compounded quarterly.
4-Year Certificate*	$1,000	7.50%	7.71%	Paid and compounded quarterly.
6-Year Certificate*	$1,000	7.75%	7.98%	Paid and compounded quarterly.

*Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate savings accounts you plan how much to put where and for how long. We'll even explain how to get a check each month for the interest you earn. If you already have a regular savings account or a maturing certificate somewhere else, just bring your passbook with you and we'll have the funds transferred to First Federal. You'll find it pays to do that.

We know what money is for.
