Court settles 7 Mile apartment fight

Theater marquee signals another chapter in a long history

Closed P&A to reopen

Interior remodeling planned

Northville's P&A Theater played to its last audience last week Tuesday night.

But movie-goers need not panic. The theater will reopen, probably in late July, sporting a remodeled interior, a new owner, a new name, and perhaps the same local manager.

That's the word from Inga Zayti, owner of the building, who was bombarded with citizen concerns following the theater's closing.

"We're definitely going to have a theater in Northville, but it will be a much nicer place," she told The Record.

Earlier, theater business owner, Gregory Hohler, said, "a piece of me died" when he announced the P&A's surprise closing. "I sold popcorn there as an eight-year-old when my father owned and operated it 23 years ago."

Gregory Hohler's father, Edward, is retired now. Until the the closing, the 31-year-old son was the sole owner of the P&A and the Civic Theater in Farmington.

"I'll concentrate my attention now on the Civic," he said.

Hohler said he decided to close last week after receiving a notice from Mrs. Zayti to vacate the premises by the end of the month. "I could have stayed a few more weeks, but there didn't seem much purpose to doing that. It was a shock to me... my being asked to leave."

"We never made much money... it was a struggle much of the time, but we were making it."

"By keeping our prices down, $1.25, we managed to compete against the larger places. Those prices have been the key to keeping our heads above water."

"I'm disappointed and very sad," he added.

No more sad than Frances Doeksen, a widow and mother of three children and nine grandchildren, who had worked for Hohler and his father for the past 15 years, much of the time as the manager.

"I couldn't sleep last night," she said last week Wednesday. "That theater has been awfully close to me. I've turned the key in the lock to open it up every night, seven days a week, for years. Right now I can't believe I won't be opening the doors tonight."

"Last night was sad for all of us... Mr. Hohler, too."

It was shortly after 8 p.m. when Hohler told her, "I have some bad news."

He had been busying himself purposely with other matters, trying to work up courage to tell Mrs. Doeksen. "We're going to close the theater," he said finally.

Neither knew of Mrs. Zayti's plan for the building.

But Mrs. Doeksen confided, "I've got my fingers, my arms and my heart crossed."

Later, Mrs. Zayti said Mrs. Doeksen definitely fitted into her plans. "I hope I can get her; she's great."

Mrs. Zayti said she will utilize part of the theater lobby to expand her store, the Marquis.

As for the theater area itself, however, she said plans for extensive interior remodeling... carpeting, new seats, air conditioning, heating system, redecorating, and perhaps some other physical changes.

Mrs. Zayti said she has done a good deal of research on the history of the local theater and on similar theaters in other communities. She has had a consultant inspect the theater's interior and to assess its potential.

"The acoustics are excellent, and he (consultant) tells me the stage with a

Only two run for board seats

The June race for the Northville board of education could be more of a stroll.

Only two candidates met Monday's deadline for filing petitions and, unless there is a write-in campaign, they are assured of filling the two four-year posts that expire this year.

Filing were incumbent Treasurer Karen Wilkinson who is seeking her second four-year term and Michigan Bell executive Richard Barron who said he didn't decide to become a candidate until Sunday.

Barron said he made his decision when he learned that incumbent James Lewis would not seek re-election.

Lewis, a frequent board and administration critic who was elected last year to fill a one-year vacancy, took out nominating petitions but then decided not to run.

In a letter to the board, Lewis cited increasing business pressures and family needs for his decision.

Barron, a Michigan Bell vice-president for personnel who lives at 2100 Chigwidden Drive, said the lack of candidates spurred him to run.

"It really would be dreadful if we had an unfilled slate," he said. "It would be embarrassing to the community to have a key job like that not sought by anybody."

Barron said Lewis had been a "force on the board" and praised his efforts in the areas of curriculum and standards of performance.

Barron said he learned Sunday from friends that Lewis was not going to run. He said Lewis, who is in New Orleans on business, did not inform him of his decision.

Lewis, president of a Birmingham advertising firm, campaigned hard last summer for the removal of Superintendent Raymond Spear.

Spear, who has been superintendent in Northville for 11 years, resigned last month to take the superintendent's post in DeWitt. His resignation made it unnecessary for what would have likely

Consent judgment sets building restrictions

The controversial planned 224-unit apartment proposal off Seven Mile Road near Grandview Acres Subdivision has received a court ordered green light to proceed.

Visiting Circuit Court Judge Larry L. Emmert handed down a consent judgment Monday afternoon that, in effect, mandates all of the agreements made earlier by the developing firm in its site plan.

The consent judgment was agreed to by the developer, township officials, and adjacent property owners.

Attorney for Dr. Waldemar E. Gizynski, who owns the land on the north side of Seven Mile near Marilyn, took the matter to court when the township planning commission approved the apartment complex site plan contingent as the result of an attempt to rezone the property to its original single family residential status.

How the consent judgment would affect last night's public hearing on the proposed rezoning was uncertain Tuesday morning.

Township Supervisor Wilson Grier said he guessed the hearing would proceed as scheduled, but he indicated that rezoning of the land on which the apartments would be located is out of the question.

He said that, following public comments, the planning commission "probably" will narrow its study to the front portion of the Gizynski property, which is zoned for office development.

The 10 acres of the Gizynski property that are zoned for office development are not part of the consent agreement, noted the supervisor, "so I think the planning commission, after hearing from the consultant at its next regular meeting, probably will try to determine what zoning would be best (for the 10 acres)."

James Littell, attorney for Gizynski, said he would oppose any attempt to rezone the 10 acres back to a single family residential classification.

The 10 acres front on Seven Mile Road, while the 29-acre apartment property is located behind (north) the 10 acres, with a narrow strip leading to Seven Mile Road to provide road access to the apartment complex, to be called North Ridge Apartments.

With the issuance of the consent judgment, Littell withdrew his client's demand for $140,000 damages against the township, the township planners and the township building official.

Littell said the damages would have covered the investment costs made by the owner and developer thus far in planning and preparing for the apartment development.

The attorney brought suit against the township, in the wake of the planning commission's contingency approval of the site plan, contending the planning commission's decision amounted to "delaying tactics" that were "beyond the scope" of the commission's powers.

Concerning the proposed first phase of the apartment development, representing 112 apartment units, Littell said construction would begin as soon as the building permit is issued — perhaps as early as next week.

The court judgment makes the following requirements of the developer, which Littell said were earlier agreed to by his client:

1. No vehicular access is to be permitted to and from Grandview Acres and Gizynski is to vacate street right-of-way from his property to Grandview Acres.

2. Twenty-five feet of undisturbed open space is to be provided and maintained by the developer between Grandview Acres and the development.

3. A four-foot high berm or ridge of soil is to be created along the western side of the Gizynski property to prevent spillage into the 25 feet of undisturbed land.

4. No portion of the apartment buildings shall be closer than 50 feet of the nearest abutting property line.

5. All receptacles for the receipt of mail for the apartments shall be within the apartments unless otherwise required by the U.S. Postal Service.

6. Acceleration and deceleration lanes shall be installed on Seven Mile Road at the entrance to the apartment complex.

7. Garbage or refuse receptacles east of the north-south access road must be located on the opposite side of the apartment structure from the closes abutting property line with Grandview

Escape-proof rooms bring perils

HAMBURG — With little or no opposition from the 40 residents on hand, Hamburg Township elected officials received raises at a relatively quiet annual meeting highlighted by a hefty $9,400 wage increase for the supervisor. His salary was boosted to $22,000, making him one of the highest paid supervisors in the area.

HOWELL — It's a year after the start of the renovation of the century-old Livingston County Courthouse and everything is on schedule and keeping with the budget — almost. It looks like the various county departments now scattered around the Howell area will have to wait a little longer to move back in as the March deadline for occupancy has come and gone.

HARTLAND — A record township general fund budget of $313,300 was presented to residents at the annual township meeting — but as in years past, the preliminary budget was not balanced. Presently, expenses outweigh anticipated income by $101,700.

GENOA — Township officials here have received pay increases — but it took four votes at the annual meeting before they became a reality. The supervisor's salary was increased 11.9 percent (from $7,150 to $8,000), while the clerk's and the treasurer's salaries were increased by 13.6 percent (from $6,600 to $7,500).

SALEM — Salem officials and employees of the township have received five-percent increases. The supervisor will get $7,560, the clerk and treasurer, $6,300.

SOUTH LYON — The city council here voted 3-1 to accept the first reading of an ordinance requiring the installation of smoke detectors upon the construction, sale, transfer or major renovation of residential units within the city.

LYON TOWNSHIP — The township board here took a step in a long march to prohibit gasoline powered motor boats from operating on Lake Angela. Board members approved a suggested law banning the engines, written by the Department of Natural Resources, by a 3-2 vote.

SOUTH LYON — The city council has approved payment of $50 to a secret witness whose assistance allowed police to locate and arrest a breaking and entering suspect. It marked the second time since the Secret Witness program was instituted five years ago that a witness has received payment for a tip.

NOVI — Assessor John Merrifield has computed the city's total state equalized valuation at approximately $215 million — more than $5 above the projections indicated just a few months ago. Of the $215 million, about 81 percent is located within the boundaries of the Novi School District, giving the district an SEV of about $174 million.

NOVI — A grievance protesting the disbanding of the Novi traffic bureau filed by the Novi Police Officers Association has been denied by a voluntary labor arbitrator.

New city ordinances for parking, hook-ups

Three ordinance amendments were adopted by the Northville City Council last week following public hearings at which no citizens offered any comments.

They include:
—An ordinance concerning attendant parking in the central business district.
—An ordinance concerning sewer connection fees.
—An ordinance concerning water connection fees.
The latter two ordinances amendments provide for fees to be charged for multiple family unit developments in the city.
Both add this wording to the ordinance:
"For residential structures with two or more dwelling units, the connection charge shall be that which would be charged to a single family dwelling for the same size connection, plus 50 percent of that charged for each dwelling unit in excess of one."
The attendant parking amendment concerns procedures and requirements of those businesses that qualify for and request this special parking accommodation.
As corrected the ordinance reads:
"All spaces shall be provided adequate access by means of maneuvering lanes, except in the central business district approved with attendant parking."
"Attendant parking is defined as the use of an off street area whereon parking of vehicles is permitted in a pattern which does not meet the minimum parking spaces, maneuvering lane and access drive dimensions as set forth in this ordinance, because an attendant is provided to direct vehicles while parking."
"Approval of attendant parking use must be obtained from the planning commission as part of the building site and land use approval."
"Attendant parking shall be permitted only in connection with the operation of a commercial parking lot, or in connection with the operation of a business, or activity, which has peak operating periods, as defined by the planning commission, such as restaurants, dining lounges, etc., and any permit for the use of attendant parking shall be conditioned upon the applicant's agreement that he shall have a person, or persons employed whose principal duty during peak operating periods is to park and retrieve automobiles for customers of applicant's business and further that the granting of a permit for attendant parking will not have an adverse effect upon neighboring business, or their parking facilities."
"The definition of "peak operating periods" shall be made a part of the building site and land use approval and shall be reviewed by the planning commission if there is a change in peak operating periods."
"All attendant parking lots shall have parking spaces and maneuvering lanes striped in accordance with the standards provided in this ordinance for non-attendant lots for use when the attendant is not required to be on duty."
"In all cases of off street parking the driving of a vehicle from a parking stall, or space directly onto a street is expressly prohibited."

Two long-time residents die

One of Northville's most colorful oldtimers, Fred Wendt, will be buried in Rural Hill Cemetery tomorrow.

The 91-year-old father and grandfather died Tuesday at Beverly Manor Convalescent Home in Novi.

Funeral service will be conducted tomorrow (Thursday) from Casterline Funeral Home at 11 a.m., with the Reverend Guenther C. Branstner, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Northville, officiating.

A Masonic service will be held tonight at 8 p.m. at the funeral home.

A former long-time postal employee, Mr. Wendt earlier had owned and operated an auto repair shop that at one time had been a stone blacksmith shop at the northeast corner of Main and Hutton streets.

Although he had been in ill health for the past two years, having been in and out of the hospital nearly a dozen times, Mr. Wendt maintained a zest for life that amazed even his closest friends.

Last year, after having undergone another bladder operation and despite failing eyesight, he came back to his home at 452 Butler Street and within hours was walking around the block and greeting old friends.

"This life's been too good to me to give it up," he laughingly told a Northville Record reporter. "What I can't see, I can hear and what I can't see or hear I can remember."

Born August 18, 1886, in a Sandusky, Michigan log cabin, he was the son of August and Lucretia (Murley) Wendt.

Mr. Wendt told a reporter last year that he had moved to Northville "about the turn of the century," carrying his furniture into town with a dray and a team of horses.

One of his first jobs was digging potatoes on a farm that today is a subdivision and the site of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church.

Other early jobs here included operating the apple press at Parmenter's Cider Mill, working as a jelly stuffer in a local bakery, as a coal loader, as a metal craftsman for Simpson Scale Works, and as a machine operator at the Ford Valve Plant.

Before arriving in Northville he had spent a number of years as a shipbuilder, a brass specialist, a farm owner, a sugar beet worker, and as a clerk in his father's furniture-undertaking business in Sandusky.

He was proud of the fact that he was never without a job. He worked hard and regularly. In his 28 years with the Northville Post Office, he never missed a day of work. He retired from the post office in 1956 at the age of 70, having worked under four different postmasters.

One of Mr. Wendt's early homes was located on what then was called Plymouth Avenue (South Main). It was situated on the east side of the street — the railroad running behind it, the streetcar past the front door.

When the county turned the street into a boulevard, his house was moved to River Street where he continued to live until the property was purchased by Northville Downs and the house was torn down.

"Living next to the track was great," recalled Mr. Wendt last year. "I don't think I missed a night of racing all the years I lived there. I knew every driver, every groom, every horse around." He bought stock in the Northville Driving Club primarily to get a free pass to the races. He wore a path to the track.

Mr. Wendt played trumpet in some of Northville's earliest bands. Volunteers from farms, factories and stores, they practiced above the streetcar waiting station and performed Saturday nights at the intersection of Main and Center.

"Oh, we had some sweet sounds in those days," he laughed. "So many people turned out to hear us a horse or a car couldn't get down the street."

The Northville Band continued for years, playing regularly as far away as Sand Hill (Redford). It broke up about the time a bandstand broke and a member almost swallowed his trombone, Mr. Wendt said.

Fred and Jeanette Wendt were married 41 years ago. It was the third marriage for Mr. Wendt, whose first wife died of diabetes and his second wife died in a freak automobile accident here.

Jeanette Wendt survives him as do a daughter, Mrs. Lucretia Marden of Midland and three grandchildren.

He was a life member of the Northville Masonic Lodge, 186 F&AM.

JAMES RALPH GIBSON

James Ralph Gibson, who at 90 was one of the oldest native residents of Northville, died Monday night at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

Funeral service will take place tomorrow (Thursday) at 2 p.m. at the Casterline Funeral Home, with the Reverend Lloyd Brasure, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, officiating.

Burial will be in Rural Hill Cemetery. The retired farmer, who was educated at the University of Michigan as an engineer, had operated the Gibson farm at the southwest corner of Sheldon and Six Mile roads most of his life.

When he was born here on August 8, 1887, Northville was still part of Plymouth Township. Plymouth was divided into two townships — the southern half remaining Plymouth and the northern half becoming Plymouth Township — in 1897.

His father, George, in 1882 purchased the farm, including the 145-year-old farmhouse in which James Ralph was living at the time of his death. George Gibson had moved here from Nankin Township where his father, John, had pioneered.

Back in the days when most farmers thought nothing of taking their children out of school to labor in the fields, George insisted his boys attend school. He saw, them through Waterford Elementary School (now the site of Meads Mill Junior High School), Northville High School, and then mustered up enough money to send them off to college.

Two boys, George (the eldest) and Ralph were graduated from the University of Michigan. The two others, Arthur and Robert, went to Michigan Agricultural College (now MSU).

Following graduation, James Ralph tried his hand in the advertising industry, then gave it up to become a civil engineer with the Erie Railroad and later with the Ann Arbor Railroad.

It was while working for the Ann Arbor line, headquartered in Owosso, he met a young stenographer. A romance blossomed and soon James Ralph and Alice were married.

Before she died in 1972, they had raised five children, and into the family has come eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Back in the "railroading days," James Ralph earned about $75.

"My brother (Robert) made more money milking cows," he remembered last year, so James Ralph came back to work with his brother on the family farm in 1920. A year later their father died.

James Ralph worked on the farm until his retirement from active farming 13 years ago. In 1968 he sold the farm, keeping only a couple acres and the picturesque old farmhouse.

The Gibson farm was one of the very first in Northville.

Part of it was pioneered by Abraham B. Markham, who built his log cabin in the forest a short distance west of the present Gibson home.

The Gibson house was built in 1832 by David Phillips. It has been occupied by only three families over the years — Phillips, David Sackett and the Gibsons.

Mr. Gibson was proud to remind visitors that the porch posts were made from trees grown on the farm back before the first white men arrived in Northville. They were cut and hauled by ox-cart all the way to Pontiac to be turned.

As a youngster, Mr. Gibson plowed the fields that had been cleared by Markham, and he remembered finding dishes and other artifacts on the site of the Markham cabin.

Graduated from high school here in 1905 — in a class that included four girls and a boy — Mr. Gibson had served as superintendent of the Waterford School and had been a member of the Northville Township Board of Review for several years.

The son of George and Catherine celebrate his 90th birthday, Mr. Gibson recalled the past and observed that the farm evoked his most cherished memories.

As he looked out over overgrown fields and the unkept orchards waiting for urban development, he said, "Here is where it all started, and here is where it will end."

Years dealt theater fire, theft and economic blows

With the closing of the P&A Theater last week, another chapter in an old local romance with "moving pictures" came to an end.

The P&A operation is relatively new in that history of the local theater.

First "moving pictures" were shown in the old opera house that was located at the southeast corner of Center and Dunlap streets. In those days it was called the Alseium Theatre.

Early advertisements in The Record lauded those silent films that were accompanied by "live" music and lectures.

In 1913, for example, an advertisement for "Oliver Twist" boasted that the film was a five-reeler, "complete with lecture." What's more the show was offering four additional reels, "making a grand performance of over two hours."

The following year, in 1914, workmen began removing an old frame building on Main Street — near the site of the present theater building — to make way for a brand new Alseium building.

As the old Main Street building came tumbling down, one of Northville's pioneers, F. R. Beal, recalled nostalgically that it had been the first frame building in Northville.

"It first stood on the corner where the Lapham bank now stands (northeast corner of Main and Center) and was moved to its present location in 1838," he said.

After the old building was moved east on Main Street, a new building was constructed on the old site at Main and Center. That new frame building, which became the Northville Record office, where the Les Bowden insurance office is located now, and eventually was destroyed by fire. The brick Bowden building replaced it.

But back to the old building being razed in 1914.

"The entire lot west and north of where the building now is, was an apple orchard," remembered Beal.

Before and after its move from the corner, the building was occupied by Samuel and Marshall Mead as a store. These men eventually moved to Waterford (Northville and Six Mile roads) "where they built a flouring mill with 'four run of stone' which was said to be the largest of any in the state," said Beal.

"The post office name (of Waterford) was Mead's Mills and clustered about were two stores, a saw mill, a found, a sash and door factory — where the sash and doors for the first Capitol Building at Lansing were made — and some other small industries, but the mills (about 1843) burned, and eventually wiped out all hope of its being a manufacturing town."

In 1915, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Thompson announced the grand opening of the new Alseium Theatre.

"Of stucco work, the building is a large one," a Record news article said on January 29, 1915, "and includes offices on either side, occupied by the Edison Company and Ray Baker, real estate agent, and living rooms above, besides the theater itself."

"A wide, covered passageway heads thru two large out swinging doors with the cashier's booth between, to the auditorium."

"Inside the theater is in mahogany and white color scheme. The chairs, doors and steps leading to the exits are stained in that color, while the walls and ceiling are kalsomined in white."

The article noted also that the theater seated 500 people, and featured a well proportioned stage equipped with scenery, curtains and dressing rooms.

"An orchestra pit has been fitted up directly in front of and a little below the stage itself, and is cut off from the rest of the theater by a brass rail."

"The screen, placed at a good distance from the machine operator's booth, allows the pictures to be shown clear and in a large size."

To celebrate the opening, the Thompsons, proprietors, were featuring a week of vaudeville, "extra good pictures," and music by the Northville orchestra.

The handsome new building lasted just one decade.

In the early morning hours of Thursday, April 2, 1925, a devastating fire destroyed many of the downtown buildings on the north side of Main Street — including the Alseium.

Despite the efforts of fire departments from Northville, Plymouth, Redford, Farmington and Walled Lake, the fire burned for nearly a day before the last flames were extinguished.

The Thompsons, who had begun their Alseium Theatre operation (first moving pictures in Northville) in a little rented Opera House room, were wiped out. They had neither the money nor the energy to rebuild. Instead, they moved to Wayne where Thompson became the manager of a theatre.

C. R. Horton purchased the site of the old theater, while Kate E. Allen, Harry R. Lusk and Julius E. Kaiser of Plymouth bought the burned out building next door. Owners and managers of the Penniman-Allen Theatre in Plymouth, they began plans immediately for a Penniman-Allen Theater in Northville.

On Tuesday, February 9, 1926 the brand new one-story P&A, which closed last week, was formally opened. It was hailed as one of the finest theaters in Wayne County.

The 90 x 48-foot auditorium contained 750 wicker chairs with cushions. The stage was equipped with 14 sets of scenery and an fire-proof curtain, and a commodious "orchestra pit was provided."

A major feature was a "wonderful Wurlitzer-orchestra unit organ, one of the finest instruments in the state, in fact only Detroit can boast of a bigger or better one."

For the opening, the capacity crowd was treated to an organ recital by Sidney Harris, together with a violinist and three vocal numbers before the lights were lowered for a "colored reel" of "The Voice of the Nightingale."

It was followed by "Little Annie Rooney," with Mary Pickford as the star.

Said The Record:

"The opening of the new playhouse was a great event, in Northville's history and as a community we are to be congratulated upon having such a modern, well equipped and delightfully pleasant theatre. The management is deserving of hearty commendation and our best wishes."

Although the owners were delighted with their new theater building, they felt the single story, architectural lines were inappropriate for a theater. So later that same year they began building the second story, dividing it into offices.

The next three decades were good ones for the P&A.

But in the late 1940's and early 1950's, the advent of television proved too great an attraction for many of the would-be movie goers. Patronage at the local theater steadily declined until in the summer of 1951, owner Lust was forced to close the theater for several months.

In a burst of optimism, he reopened the P&A on November 4, 1951, hoping patronage might return. The first film upon reopening was the "Flying Leathernecks" starring John Wayne.

But on June 15 the following year, general manager Margaret Wilson announced the theater's closing once again. The last show was the African Queen starring Humphrey Bogart and Katharine Hepburn.

To add insult to injury, thieves gave the P&A a last blow, breaking into the theater just before it closed to rob the theater safe.

The P&A remained closed until late in 1954 when Edward Hohler, operator of the Civic Theater in Farmington, announced its reopening. A wide, cinescope screen and stereoscopic sound were installed to make the theater more attractive.

Samuel Stremich was the local manager.

The succeeding years were tough financially for the new theater business owner, but he refused to give it up, finally retiring and passing ownership and operation on to his son.

It was his son, Gregory, who called it quits last week when his lease for the theater building was not renewed.

little work could be one of the finest small stages in the area. I'd like to do something so that it (the stage) could be used for theater purposes," she said.

With the P&A's passing, both Hohler and Mrs. Doeksen expressed the same regret: the last film shown "was a disgrace."

An R-rated movie titled "The Choir Boys," it was labeled "trash" by Hohler. "I'm ashamed it was our last."

Mrs. Doeksen said: "Of all the good movies we have had over the years, it had to be that one. One of the worst."

Having seen perhaps 600 or 700 movies while being employed at the P&A, Mrs. Doeksen, whose late husband, Ray, was a Northville High School coach, says her personal favorite movies over the years were Doctor Zhivago, Gone With The Wind, Sound of Music and Camelot.

Mrs. Doeksen's last child had entered college when "my husband said, okay, you can go to work. He was like that: he felt our first responsibility was raising our children."

"I didn't really like movies, but my girls had worked at the P&A so I took the job."

As manager of the theater, Mrs. Doeksen had a variety of different jobs — many times sharing the work of other theater employees that, at the time of closing, included an usher, four girls, and three projectionists.

"I've had a awfully nice working relationship with Mr. Hohler over the years. He treated me fine, and I think I did a good job for him."

"The P&A meant so much to me."

"I'll miss it... and I think the community will, too."

Apartment dispute settled by court

Acres, and these receptacles must be enclosed on three sides by a fence.

8. Outside lighting must be placed and shielded to prevent illumination being transmitted to Grandview Acres lands.

9. Covered carports for the parking of one automobile for each apartment must be provided. Other parking must occur east of the north-south access road.

10. No apartment unit shall contain more than two bedrooms. Phase I and Phase II of the development cannot have more than 112 units in each.

11. No occupancy permit can be issued until tennis courts or other community facilities have been completed.

12. Water, sanitary sewer, storm sewer, grade and drainage, roads and walkways must comply with township ordinances and regulations, and construction must not interfere with existing drainage in Grandview Acres.

13. Upon providing plans meeting all building, electrical, refrigeration, heating, fire, plumbing and other construction codes, the developer must be issued a building permit. Aluminum siding on the apartments must be provided.

Northville attorney Charles Simkins, who represented the dissenting neighboring property owners in Grandview Acres, said he entered the consent agreement because "a supervised RM development is much more favorable than an unsupervised R-2 development."

He said the restrictions listed in the court order represented "concessions" by the developer.

"Everything in the consent judgment are things that are not required in the zoning ordinance," he said.

Although the developer had indicated agreement earlier, Simkins said that the court order is the "vehicle by which we can enforce them."

Simkins said his clients have been "aware all along" that the apartments will not contain as many people as residential development under R-2 zoning.

But, until the concessions were guaranteed, he said they were not "willing to take that chance."

Only two are running been a split board vote on extending his contract even though he rated "satisfactory" on his evaluation.

In his letter, Lewis said the decision not to run was an "agonizing" one.

"Reluctantly, I've come to the conclusion that, in the face of increasing business pressures as well as family needs, I simply cannot commit to a four-year term on the board," he wrote.

Mrs. Wilkinson, who lives at 45871

Fermanagh Drive, becomes the first incumbent to seek re-election since President John Hobart in 1975.

The shortage of candidates is a far cry from the last two Northville school board elections.

In 1976, Marjorie Sliger and Christopher Johnson led a field of seven who were running for two four-year terms.

Last year, eight candidates vied for terms of various lengths which were won by Lewis, Charles Peltz and Douglas Whitaker.

Walking for senior citizens

Jaycee President Bill Zapke (right) hands Northville City Manager Steven Walters a $500 check for the Allen Terrace Senior Citizens Home. The money is part of the 30-percent of the Walk's proceeds that is returned to local and metropolitan charities through sharing groups and Jaycee projects. All told, $19,000 in pledges has been collected from last year's Walk. Seventy percent of that goes to Project Concern which benefits needy children in the United States. This year's walk, which Zapke said promises to be the largest ever, is Saturday, June 3.

For Jaycees

Zapke lands state post

William Zapke, president of the Northville Jaycees, has been elected to the State Jaycee Executive Committee—the first time in the history of the local organization that one of its members has held such a post.

Winner of several awards, Zapke was elected district director of the Michigan Jaycees. His district includes Northville, Canton, Livonia, Plymouth, Belleville and Salem.

He was elected by unanimous vote at the recent regional Jaycee meeting.

Northville Jaycees swept the awards presentation.

The local chapter won region, state and national citations for membership recruitment and retention.

Jaycee Paul Docherty was awarded the Outstanding S.P.O.K.E. of the Year award at the district level. This is an award presented to a first-year Jaycee for outstanding accomplishments.

Vice-President John Stilson received both district and regional S.P.A.R.K. of the Year awards.

Zapke also received the State Presidential Award of Honor for outstanding service. Persons wishing to learn more about the Northville Jaycees may do so by writing the Northville Jaycees, P.O. Box 241, Northville, 48167.

Panorama time

Dinner, visitations, show at NHS

Activity at the high school is at a peak as a plan hatched last fall nears its fruition.

It was at an October PTSO meeting when the idea of Panorama night to display the workings of the high school was first discussed with Principal George Aune.

Now that night is less than 10 days away and school officials are hoping for a large turnout for what one administrator called an "curriculum extravaganza."

Teachers from all high school departments will be at the school Friday, April 21, from 5-8 p.m. to show how their classes run and to answer questions.

Classroom demonstrations will run continuously as students recreate what goes on daily at the hilltop school.

"We're eager to get the community into the classroom," said Assistant Principal Barbara Campbell.

To add to the festivities, the band boosters are hosting a spaghetti dinner which will be served the entire three hours.

Tickets ($2.50 for adults, $1.50 for students aged 5-12 and children under five, free) can be purchased in advance at the high school or from any band member. Adults pay 50 cents more at the door.

At 8 p.m., the third round of the Talent Show will begin in the auditorium.

There is no charge for Panorama itself.

Student guides and maps will help visitors find their way around the school where they will find anything from auto work in process in the shop class to a forensics demonstration.

All parts of the school, including the gym, pool and entire vocational facilities, will be open. Art students will be working on projects. Math teachers will explain new teaching techniques.

Dr. Weldon Petz, a Farmington principal and an authority on Abraham Lincoln, will be giving a talk in the social studies department.

There have been special preparations for the big night. Ethnic food will be served by the foreign language department. Super graphics will appear magically (thanks to hard work by students) in the halls.

The highly touted jazz band and the concert band, fresh from its Quebec appearance, will be performing.

Some township residents get new phone numbers

New telephone numbers for some southern Northville Township homeowners will provide them with a wider variety of services as well as more efficient emergency dialing, according to a Michigan Bell spokesman.

Most of the Northville residents affected by the April 1 change live south of Sunnydale in Northville Colony subdivision.

Formerly, they had Plymouth exchanges of 453, 455 or 459. Now they and about 1200 other customers, many in Plymouth Township, share a new 420 exchange.

The switch was made because growth in the area has overloaded the central offices where the old exchange phone calls were routed.

Those with 420 exchanges will be able to subscribe to such services which forward calls when no one is home, allow commonly-called numbers to be dialed with two digits, and provide for three-way phone calls, according to Bell's Hazen Wilson.

It will also make the 911 emergency number more efficient for Northville Township residents when the program begins here later this year.

Persons with the old Plymouth exchanges would reach the Plymouth City emergency dispatcher if they dialed 911, Wilson explained. Now, with the 420 exchange, they will reach the Northville Township dispatcher.

If you don't know the new number of a friend who formerly had a 453, 455 or 459 exchange, don't fret. Calls to the numbers that were changed April 1 will be intercepted for a year and an operator will inform the caller of the new number.

The area where the numbers were changed is bordered roughly by Edward Hines Parkway on the west, Schoolcraft on the south, Eckles on the east and Six Mile Road on the north except in Northville Township where the northern boundary dips down to Sunnydale.

Customers whose numbers were changed were informed on the cut-over date several months ago.

Citizen muscle persuasive

Rayson rezoning rejected by planning commission

A dozen concerned Rayson Street area residents proved a week ago Tuesday night that governmental bodies can be responsive to citizens' desires.

What began as a routine public hearing to correct an error in the city zoning map, changing two lots on north Rayson east of Center from Residential-2 to Professional and Business Office (PBO), became a plea "to keep them residential."

The hearing had been scheduled by the Northville City Planning Commission at the request of the city council after it was discovered that lots 651 and 652a had not been changed to PBO on the zoning map after they were so zoned in a 1974 public hearing.

Since the zoning map carries the legal authority, the hearing was necessary to change it.

Kenneth Harrison of 119 Rayson presented a petition which he said was signed "by everybody on the block" asking that the property stay residential.

In the four years since the original rezoning, he pointed out, the area of older homes had been upgraded as new residents like himself had moved in and renovated the houses. He presented "before" and "after" pictures of his home.

One of the two lots in question is vacant, and residents cited it as a desirable "buffer" between adjoining commercial.

Mrs. Ronald Hebert of 321 Rayson spoke about the restoration taking place in the area and stated that she was "appalled at the growing commercialism," adding that they had "never dreamed this was going to happen."

Arnold Hix of 114 Rayson told the commission, "We've lived on the property for 45 years, and I'm very concerned about what's going on now."

His property abuts property owned by James Bress. Bress has brought plans to the commission to move the Detroit News station from the corner to an adjacent house as part of an overall plan that will have a fast-food operation occupying the corner.

The Bress property already is zoned General Commercial District (GCD) on the south side of Rayson.

City Planner Ronald Nino told the residents that the area, with the exception of the two missed lots, was zoned PBO north to Lake Street.

He gave his opinion that "zoning should carry out the (city's) master plan" and stated he felt the change to PBO met the test of reasonableness and consistency.

Zoning, he said, should be consistent with the needs of the marketplace, and repeated his belief that Northville needs more BPO-type property.

But when the motion was made to recommend rezoning the lots to BPO, the commission listened to the residents, voting 4-2 not to do so.

Lesa Buckland and Luke Durst voted yes with no votes following from Donald Fee, Charles Freydl, who was serving as chairman in place of vacationing Thomas Wheaton, William Tucker and Bruce Turnbull. James Cutler, whose realty office occupies the north corner of Rayson, abstained.

Tucker then motioned to recommend to the council that the rezoning be denied and it passed unanimously, with Cutler again abstaining.

At the conclusion of the meeting Bress presented revised plans for his Keim Real Estate property to the commission which asked for a report from Nino and from its own committee on zoning headed by Cutler with Fee and Turnbull serving on it.

Hix expressed the hope that the new plans would upgrade the property, complaining that he daily has "to pick up newspapers" from his yard. He also mentioned that the back of the gas station lot "has been filled with trash for 15 years."

On recommendation of the planner, the commission voted unanimous approval to preliminary plat plans of Denis Roux for an "Ole Village" subdivision east of Lexington off Potomac and connecting to North Rogers, on which he plans to build 10 or 11 homes.

CITY OF NOVI PLANNING BOARD
Gary Roberts, Secretary
CITY OF NOVI COUNCIL
Geraldine Stipp, Clerk

To the Supervisor and Clerk of the Township of Northville, Wayne County, Michigan.

Sirs:

You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held on Thursday, March 16, 1978, decide and determine that the certain street described in the minutes of said Board should be a County road under the jurisdiction of the Board of County Road Commissioners. The minutes of said meeting fully describing said street are hereby made a part of this notice, and are as follows:

Minutes of the regular meeting of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, held at the Board's offices, 415 Clifford Street, Detroit, Michigan, at 9:00 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, Thursday, March 16, 1978.

Present: Vice-Chairman Herron and Commissioner Burton.

Commissioner Burton moved the adoption of the following resolution:

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, that it hereby accepts the dedication to the use of the public of the following described road and it is hereby taken over as a county road and made a part of the county road system of the County of Wayne:

Movement Ed makes its pitch...

Movement Education made its pitch last week in Northville and backers of the three-year experimental program were up to the challenge.

Armed with slide shows, consultants, a noted cardiologist and a gymful of statistics, instructors explained the method and philosophy of Movement Education to an interested audience at the school board offices Thursday night.

Backers say the program differs from typical physical education classes which often emphasize a few team sports — such as basketball or baseball — which are often dominated by the top athletes.

In contrast, say supporters, Movement Ed is designed to teach youngsters lifelong physical fitness skills and ingrain positive attitudes toward exercise.

The theory has been put in practice at all Silver Springs Elementary School grades and in grades one and two at Winchester Elementary School.

The program is funded by a state grant and is being evaluated at both the state level and by the school board which must decide if Movement Ed will replace traditional gym class in the school system.

A typical Movement Ed class begins with a "fitness component" which may include running, jumping rope and other exercises designed to improve the heart, the lungs and coordination.

These exercises also include stretching for body flexibility, agility drills and push-ups and pull-ups to improve upper arm strength which is a common weakness.

Then the class moves into an "athletic" component which includes learning such skills as ball handling, striking, dribbling and passing. Much of these skills relate to — but are not limited to — established sports.

These skills eventually are combined to allow for team sports.

There is a "gymnastics" component which teaches body control and management. Exercises both with and without gymnastic equipment are taught.

Finally, a "dancing" component gets students acquainted with moving to the beat of a drum and then to music.

An important part of Movement Education is that the student is encouraged to set goals for himself rather than merely competing with others.

"We work to encourage competition with self," explained teacher Chris Modrack.

Exercises are devised to allow for individual differences and abilities so that each student can realize success.

The net result, say the teachers, is that an improved self-concept in the physical fitness arena has "profound effects" on the child's social, emotional and academic success.

"If each day I climb higher on the rope until I reach the top, can I learn my multiplication tables?" asks Modrack by way of an example.

Students who invent their own games and rules in Movement Education may use the same techniques for a social studies project.

But the main goal in Movement Education is to make physical fitness a part of the student's lifestyle.

Part of this is accomplished by getting the student into the gym several times a week. Classroom teachers are instructed about how to conduct the class by Movement Ed consultants.

Exercise is promoted as a fun way to insure good health rather than as a hated-drudgery. Student running clubs have formed and both elementary schools have hosted Fun Runs for both youngsters and parents.

The result: the child who can run a mile is the rule rather than the exception.

Dr. Joseph Arends, a Troy cardiologist who believes heart attacks and strokes can be prevented by jogging and good health habits, praised the program.

"Most physical education classes are totally ill equipped" because they emphasize skill rather than fitness, he said.

"You can be the most uncoordinated person in the world and still be physically fit," he said.

Instilling good exercise habits — ones that will continue through a lifetime — should be the goal of physical education classes, he says.

Movement Education teachers agree. They hope a student who enjoys jogging and other exercise at an early age might say, "Maybe, I'll do it forever."

Navy Seaman Recruit Martin J. St. Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. St. Lawrence of 1065 North Center, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois.

During the eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in his studies were seamanship, close-order drill, Naval history and first aid.

He joined the Navy in January 1978.

39500 FIVE MILE ROAD (Between Eckles & Haqqerty) 420-2228 OPEN 7 DAYS 9 A.M. TO DUSK

... but board asks for data

Northville's school board decided Monday night not to expand its Movement Education program until it sees how children in the innovative physical fitness classes compare with those taking traditional gym.

That data should be available by the board's next meeting on Monday, April 24.

Movement Education is a three-year, state-funded experiment in selected Northville elementary schools. Its goal is to instill in children at an early age that physical exercise is a lifelong necessity for good health.

It differs from traditional gym, say backers, because it emphasizes movement skills for all youngsters rather than team sports and competition for the athletically talented.

The program is used in all Silver Springs Elementary School grades and in the lower Winchester Elementary School grades.

Some critics say Movement Ed students are no more fit than traditional gym students. They also say most students don't like jogging for jogging's sake and would rather be playing sports such as basketball.

Dr. Robert Dixon, a University of Michigan professor who serves as the program's evaluator, disagrees with the criticism.

"I could say that the children at Silver Springs are more physically fit than any other student in the district, perhaps the state," he said at Monday's meeting.

He said almost all Silver Springs students can run a mile in six to 12 minutes and most students over the age of 10 could run two miles.

School board members, however, wanted supportive data before expanding the program and agreeing to increase the teaching staff from 2½ to three positions.

This is the last year for state grant money, but Superintendent Raymond Spear said demonstration funding might be available since the Northville project is a pilot program in Michigan.

It isn't one of my favorite quotations, but some wag once said that "freedom of the press belongs to the man who owns one."

Philip H. Power owns several. But these days he might be wondering just how advantageous it is to be owner of a couple dozen community newspapers.

At this particular time he is not Publisher Philip H. Power. He is Philip H. Power, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate.

The other day one of his campaign staff PR men informed a reporter for a Power-owned newspaper in East Lansing that Candidate Power would be making a speech in the area.

"Maybe," the PR man suggested, "you would like to send a photographer to the meeting."

"Sorry," came the reply, "we never cover such events."

Power's campaigners don't bother to send press releases to our clump of newspapers (The Northville Record, Novi-Walled Lake News, South Lyon Herald and Brighton Argus), which he also owns. He knows our policy.

We concentrate on local politics. Our cut-off point is through state representative, state senate and congressional levels.

An exception to this rule is that for a period of about six weeks prior to elections we run a page or two of news from the "campaign trail." We pick up most of the political blurbs with emphasis on local campaigns and issues, but broad enough so that area voters may be familiar with everything on the ballot.

If a state-wide candidate appears at a local function, we publish notice of the event. Depending upon local interest, we might follow up with coverage.

We do not, for example, endorse state-wide or national candidates, other than candidates for

The candidate response for the Northville Board of Education is both surprising and disappointing.

Two four-year terms attracted a field of two candidates. So the ballot will barely contain enough names to cover the board vacancies and there will be no opportunity for choice.

Perhaps, because it appeared that both candidates would seek re-election, it is an indication the public is satisfied with the board's performance. Or maybe the task of defeating an incumbent is considered too difficult. Or maybe the job holds little appeal for most citizens.

Whatever the reasons, one incumbent will be re-elected; the other hesitatively slid out of his local congressional districts. It is our contention that we have no special knowledge beyond local issues and candidates. Our big brothers — the metro dailies, TV and wire services — can provide the public with information on state-wide and national candidates and issues.

Recently we received a call at The Record from a Power PR man. He said Power had been invited to a fund-raising breakfast for the Northville Township supervisor. "Would we be interested in covering the event?"...which was taking place the following morning.

"No," we responded. In the first place the local press had not been invited. If we had been informed of the event by the sponsors, we certainly would have published notice of the affair. We might have sent a reporter to the breakfast.

We did, for example, attend a recent fund-raiser for State Senator Robert Geake. He invited The Record. And, incidentally, U.S. Senator Robert Griffin was there.

But political campaign bashes do not occupy a front burner on the list of priorities for the community newspaper.

The important point to be recognized is that Phil Power IS a newspaperman. And he DOES understand how the business operates.

He might even suspect there's a good chance that the fact he owns the newspapers could be a handicap in gaining local coverage.

The press is always trying to prove its purity and objectivity.

So, Good Luck, Candidate Power.

But don't come around to The Record, News, Argus or Herald expecting any special favors.

In this case, freedom of the press does not necessarily belong to the guy who owns one.

year-old seat leaving the field open for a lone non-board member candidate.

Unquestionably, both candidates are well qualified. But it is still disappointing to find from a community of thousands only two willing to serve as members of the board governing the school district.

The lack-of-interest situation is not consistent with citizen participation in school affairs. Normally, Northville can boast of strong citizen involvement in activities of the school district.

Hopefully, this is just an "off year" for school board candidacy.

School board elections occur each June. Maybe next June candidates will be busting out all over.

ALAN LASH

YES . . .

Are the Tigers for real? Is the pope Catholic? No, spring training was not a fluke. During spring training the Tigers showed me that they are a very capable and close-knit organization with the potential to give anyone — and that includes New York and Boston — fits.

The trades Detroit made have all been pluses and have enabled them to add depth to last year's weak positions. The Tom Veryzer-Charley Spikes trade, for instance, was a steal that now enables Trammel and Whitaker to take over at positions they're quite capable of handling. Jack Billingham and Jim Slaton have given them their third and fourth good starting pitchers.

The outfield is deep at every position, with not only good fielding but excellent power everywhere. Kemp and LeFlore will be two bonafide All-Star candidates. The infield, too, is deep and except for Trammel and Whitaker has some reasonable experience.

As far as pitching goes Billingham and Slaton have bolstered the staff and Fidrych and Rozema should be able to duplicate their first season. The bullpen is also quite able, as past statistics have proven, and that includes Hiller.

May and Parrish are two adequate catchers. Parrish should come around, if he doesn't rush himself, sometime in mid-season.

All in all the Tigers have a solid nucleus, but they're just a hair short on experience as a team. If they avoid injuries they're a shoe-in for third. And who says they can't take first?

Alan Lash
Howell

BILL MILLER

NO . . .

First, let me say that I am a total Tiger fan. It would be great to see them challenge for first but they just have not made the changes to acquire the necessary depth.

This is most evident in the pitching staff. I believe it is necessary for the starters to win 70 games if a team is going to be in contention.

Assume Fidrych wins 20, Rozema and Slaton win 15 and Billingham wins 10. In each case, that's as many or more than the pitcher won last year and it still only adds up to 60 victories.

Where will they get the rest of the wins? Not from the relief staff, I'm afraid. John Hiller has lost his greatness. The rest are unimpressive.

A strong team in any sport has to be strong up the middle. Even though the new Detroit infielders may be promising, their inexperience is going to cost the Tigers some games.

The outfield may tell the story best of all. There, Detroit has the hitters to score a lot of runs. But the defense, at best, is shaky.

The Tigers won't play many 2-1 games.

Finally, Detroit failed to make the biggest trade of all. They should have traded Ralph Houk for Billy Martin.

Third is the best possible finish for Detroit.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Closing of the Northville P & A Theater last week saddened a lot of people, including myself.

But we're buoyed by the promise of the building's owner that the closing is only temporary, that the theater's interior will be remodeled and that, under a new owner, it will resume operation in the summer.

If the closing were permanent Northville would be the loser... as countless other small towns across the country have been losers when competition, primarily from television, forced closing of the family movie house.

Despite its financial struggle, the P & A managed to survive, while others failed, by offering reasonably good films for exceptionally good prices. After all, how many movies have you seen recently where the box office price was $1.25?

I'm reminded of the demise of the Radio City Music Hall in New York — another theater closing tragedy.

Having been there but once, I still cannot forget my amazement over the admission price last spring. For $4 we saw a first run movie, heard a symphony orchestra, heard several vocal performances, enjoyed comedians, and then watched a fantastic dancing show.

For my money it was the best bargain in New York or anywhere else.

Reminiscent of the newspapering days of Mark Twain, the Newberry News of the UP tells it like it is.

In a recent news story outlining the candidates in the village primary, the editor wrote:

"...Johnson said Paul Stewart Quinn had filed for a candidate for village trustee. After the deadline passed for withdrawing, Quinn apparently said he could not be a candidate because he was moving out of the area, which is probably just as well because no one knew who he was anyway."

"Spring Track"

Readers Speak

How about some positive things?

To the Editor:
I have been reading nearly every week Mr. Larry VanderMolen's diatribe about what's wrong with Northville.

Dear Mr. VanderMolen, why not use your creative mind to positive thinking as opposed to negative criticism? How about some positive proposals which will benefit the whole community?

I can think of many positive things to do, in spite of being physically handicapped, my husband and I have done these things for many years:

1. Offer your services to FISH as an emergency driver. Phone 349-4350.

2. Go up to the high school during Panorama week, talk with Dr. Barbara Campbell and see for yourself what the great Student Congress is doing. For instance, I chatted briefly with the president, Bob Krinsky.

3. They collect clothing and shoes for patients at Northville State Hospital.

4. They have cleaned and painted the lavatories and halls.

5. They purchased a large planter to make their school look better.

6. They provide peer counseling for other students so they will feel better about themselves and help them cope with the pressures of this time and age.

7. And they do this BEFORE school (7 a.m.) every Tuesday morning!

Personally, I think they're a great group of students! They are involved in their community in a positive way. And they are our future leaders.

Talk with Jack Wickens, who is trying to establish a drop-in center to help our trouble teenagers. He has six children and still manages to help others in need.

If helping others is not your bag, fine — but please stop knocking everything that is positive in our community.

After Ray Spear is gone, think about how you will get your kids. Or run for school board and have a say in our schools. If they're so bad, how come our kids tested so high in reading and math in Michigan?

Smile, spring is coming to Northville. It has been a rough winter for all of us in Northville. But spring does come eventually every year.

You might contact the Jaycees. They're a great bunch of guys, and they do many, many positive things for our community.

Then there is C. A. Smith. He's 85 and in spite of many personal tragedies he always has a pleasant, cheerful attitude, even while he's freezing while selling Goodfellow papers.

Please try to quit knocking us who do try to help others.

Sincerely,
Shirely Matthews

Prison not stopped

To the Editor:

The prison has not been stopped in Northville! There are positive plans to build a facility like Jackson Prison right in this area.

Their argument is they already own the ground housing some women, so let's use that facility to house 600 murderers, rapists, etc.

That's like saying we build hand grenades now, so why not build atomic bombs.

It's going to become a reality unless we get some of these politicians to promise if elected, they will not let it happen.

Truly yours,
Robert H. Stone
895 Grace St.

Yes vote for quality

To the Editor:

The Northville School community is facing a most important millage vote on Saturday, April 29. Our school board has devoted many long hours in study meetings reviewing the basic requirements of the district plus recommendations from citizens' curriculum committees on the elementary, junior high, and high school levels to finally arrive at a 5.5 mill requirement for operational needs.

There are some facts to be faced. Despite increased construction of new homes, the decline in birth rate has resulted in fewer children enrolling in kindergarten than are being graduated each June. Therefore, the increase in tax rate due to building offset by inflation costs and decreasing state aid results in a shortage of revenue needs in the school district.

The cost of 5.5 mills will add a net $44.00 per year to the tax on a home worth $40,000; will add a net $66.00 to a home worth $60,000; or will add a net $110.00 to a home worth $100,000.

Perhaps these amounts could figure out to the cost of a dinner out for four people or a weekend ski venture for a family.

The issue involves a question of value. Is a good education valuable? Is it worth a few extra dollars a year? Do you realize that the market value of your home is directly related to the quality of education in your school district?

Our children are important. Their education is important. We must, as parents and responsible citizens concerned about quality education for our children, vote YES on April 29.

Sincerely,
Bette Lynn Nowka
President
Winchester PTA

Vernon says thanks

To the Editor:

This "Letter To The Editor" privilege is being used because it seems to be the only way to reach many of the people who contributed to the Easter Seal Telethon and made my appearance on Sunday, April 2 so pleasant.

Members of the Northville Rotary Club sold emblems of the Easter Seal Society at various locations throughout the Northville community on Good Friday and the following Saturday. Thank you to those who contributed in that way and to members of Northville Rotary Club whose personal contributions helped raise a total of one thousand dollars.

Thanks also to John Carlo, Essie Nirider, Dewey Gardner, Phil Ogilvie, George Miller Sales and Service, Les Bowden Insurance, Bloom Insurance, Ely Fuel, Northrop Funeral Home and American Legion Post No. 147 for their generous pledges to the Easter Seal Telethon.

The entire Northville community can be proud of their contribution to the Easter Seal Telethon Campaign.

Sincerely,
Paul R. Vernon, Mayor
City of Northville

Track coach cared

To the Editor:

Now that the High School Track season is under way, we felt it would be appropriate to express a few thoughts about former Northville High Track Coach Ralph Redmond, who retired from coaching track just this past season.

First of all, Coach Redmond was very successful. Redmond coached several young men to state championships and runner-up spots. In addition there were numerous state meet placers, regional and league champions. There were also team championships during Redmond's years.

Furthermore, and far more important than winning or losing, Coach Redmond tried to instill a sense of fortitude and sportsmanship in the young men he coached. Redmond was always willing to put in extra hours to help out the "track kids" whether it be after practice, over weekends, during holidays or over the summer months.

Most of all, Coach Redmond really cared. If Coach Redmond could be financially compensated for all of the extra hours and extra concern he gave to young people involved with Northville Track, he would be a millionaire, but then again, money can't buy that sort of thing. Thanks Coach Redmond.

Sincerely,
James Porterfield, track '71-74
Bill Pettit, '72-74
and many other former "track kids."

News

From Lansing

By R. Robert Geake
State Senator

Article XII of the Michigan Constitution provides for three ways in which it may be amended. All require a vote of the people, but the manner in which the question is brought before the people varies.

The first method is by resolution and a two-thirds vote of both houses of the legislature. One such resolution proposes an end to the automatic funding of the State Department of Civil Service at one percent of the total state payroll. If two-thirds of the members of both houses agree, this question will be put before the voters in the coming November general election.

The second, and best known, method is by petitions signed by ten percent of the total number of voters who cast votes for governor in the most recent gubernatorial election. This method is commonly attempted when proponents of a proposal are unable to get two-thirds of the legislators to agree to it. Five interesting petition drives are presently underway to amend the constitution.

To be successful, the organizers must be able to deliver petitions bearing 265,702 valid signatures of registered voters to the Elections Division of the Secretary of State's office in Lansing by July 10.

These five petition drives, in the order of their success to date, are as follows:

—a proposal to raise the legal drinking age back to 21 currently has about 16,000 signatures or 6 percent of its goal. The proposal is backed by most church groups and related organizations who are dissatisfied with the legislature's recent compromise raising the drinking age to 19 effective next December 3. Petitions and information are available from Allen B. Rice, Coalition for 21, Box 10212, Lansing, MI 48901.

—a proposal to limit state spending

(and therefore, taxes) to its current level as a percentage of total taxpayer income has approximately 55,000 signatures, or nearly 21 percent of its goal. The proposal is backed by Taxpayers United and most chambers of commerce in the state. It is similar to Proposal C which was narrowly defeated two years ago. Petitions and information are available from Richard Headlee, Taxpayers United, 24133 Northwestern Highway, Southfield, MI 48075.

—a proposal to permit capital punishment for certain crimes has already achieved 265,000 signatures, or 50 percent of its goal. Most police organizations are backing the drive. Petitions and information are available from State Representative Kirby Holmes, Box B, Utica, MI 48087.

—a proposal to finance schools through a voucher plan whereby parents would receive a voucher from the state to use as tuition payment when enrolling their children in any school, — public, parochial, or private. It would also end the use of property taxes as a source of school funding. The proposal is supported by private and church related schools and opposed by public school interest groups such as the school boards' association and the Michigan Education Association. Organizers report having garnered 190,000 signatures, or nearly 72 percent of their goal. Information and petitions are available from Mary K. Roach, 700 N. Washington, Lansing, MI 48906.

—a proposal to allow the state police to form a union has achieved an incredible 205,000 signatures, or 77 percent of its goal. It is supported by the State Police Troopers Assoc. and organized labor in general. Information and petitions are available from the Troopers Petition Drive Committee, 6840 S. Cedar, Lansing, MI 48910.

The third method of revising the constitution is by calling a state constitutional convention. The question of whether or not such a convention should be held will be on the November, 1978 ballot also, for all the voters to decide.

Talent galore

High school student Kerry Sullivan does some last-minute checking in preparation for the four-night Talent Show which begins this weekend in the auditorium. The competition schedule: Friday, April 14, Coming Up the Hill, for pre-high school students; Saturday, April 15, On Top of the Hill, for high school students; Friday, April 21, Over the Hill for adults; and Saturday, April 22, King of the Hill awards night. All performances begin at 8 p.m. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12. "Season" tickets for all four nights cost $6 for adults and $4 for students.

Rent subsidy available

Are rental costs taking too much of your monthly income?

If you're the head of a low or moderate income household and your answer is "yes", there's a rent subsidy program that may be of assistance, according to Donald Riffenburg.

Riffenburg is coordinating the rental subsidy program in the Northville area for the Department of Social Services "Rent Allowance Program."

Here are the family incomes that qualify for the program: One person, $10,200; two, $11,700; three, $13,100; four, $14,600; five, $15,500; six, $16,400; seven, $17,300; and eight or more, $18,300.

Persons in the city or township of Northville wishing an application for the rental subsidy program may call Riffenburg at 453-9090.

Track squads both bow to Brighton

Lack of depth costs Mustangs in openers

It was cold and overcast in Brighton last Thursday.

The description might also be an accurate portrayal of Northville's opening track performance of the '78 season. Unable to compensate for a lack of depth and an exceptionally slow start in the field events, the Mustangs dropped a 102-56 decision to Brighton in their first dual meet of the year. It was the first time ever that the Bulldogs have beaten Northville in dual meet competition.

"I don't want to make any excuses and say it was an off day," coach Ed Gabrys said afterwards, although he acknowledged a weaker showing in the distance events than he'd expected. The Mustangs were also missing three veteran runners.

"The problem is that we're just not at the point where we want to be right now. We need a lot more work, and we need to build up a little confidence.

"The kids are disappointed, I know. But the meet's behind us now, it's history. We're looking ahead to our next few meets, and hoping that some of our younger kids can fill in for us."

And there's apparently a lot of filling in to do.

Northville, in fact, nabbed only 20 of a possible 52 placements in the meet's 13 individual events, and only five of a possible 20 in the field events, where they were outscored 40-15. In the only four events they won — the shot put, 880 run and low and high hurdles — the Mustangs had but two other placements to back up their winners, and thus never picked up more than seven points (11 is the maximum) in any one event.

"Our lack of depth killed us," Gabrys admitted. "We're going to have to find those third and fourth places if we're going to start winning some meets."

Among the team's brighter spots were its hurdling performances and an 880 race Gabrys termed "classic."

Brian Prom had his best times ever in winning both the 330 low and 120 high hurdles, and was Northville's only double winner. He had a 40.4 in the lows, just .9 seconds off the school record, and followed that up with an impressive 16.1 in the highs, half a second ahead of his closest rival. He added second places in the long jump (19'10") and the 220 (24.3).

Sophomore Rob Marzonie also showed well in the highs, placing third at 18.1 in his first varsity dual meet.

John Monagle, meanwhile, came out of nowhere in the last 400 yards of the

'Not where we want to be,' says boys' coach

880 and nipped Brighton's Steve Leach at the finish. His time was 2:05.8, just .1 second ahead of Leach.

"He ran a very smart race," Gabrys said of his middle distance ace, noting that Monagle was in the middle of the pack, far behind the leaders, at the 440 mark. "He waited until the right moment to make his move (on the straightaway), then held on down the stretch."

Sophomore Harry Couyoumjian also came on strong at the end, finishing third in 2:07.2 after struggling in the middle of the pack through much of the race.

Northville's best performance in the field events was turned in by Tim Ellis, who easily won the shot put with a toss of 47'8". Ellis, only a junior, also placed second in discus with a 113' throw and ran an 11.2 in the 100-yard dash to place fourth, just .1 second behind teammate Myles Couyoumjian, who wound up second.

The Mustangs also had strong showings from sophomore Ken Weber in the 440 (53.9 in the open 440, 53.0 in his mile relay leg), Ray Coram in the long jump (19'8") and 220 (24.5) and Myles Couyoumjian in the 440 (54.5).

But they just couldn't keep up with Brighton in the distance events, an area Gabrys had expected to help carry his team through the meet. The Mustangs had only a pair of third and fourths to show for their efforts in the mile and two mile.

"That's where we're going to have to strengthen up," Gabrys said. "We ran 'em up in cross country — better than that, in fact — and I was hoping we'd do well against them in the long races."

Northville also failed to win any of the three relay races, bungling several key hand-offs.

The Mustangs' next meet takes place tomorrow afternoon when they travel to Livonia Franklin for a non-league match-up. Next Tuesday they'll compete in a tri-meet in Livonia against Stevenson and Plymouth Salem before running their first home meet against Redford Thurston on Thursday.

Girls overwhelmed in tri-meet

Northville's girls found out what it takes to build a powerful track squad in its season opening tri-meet a Brighton last Wednesday.

Unfortunately the solution lies in having plenty of tracksters turn out for the team and that's something the Mustangs can't do much about at the moment.

"We were in a whirlwind there," coach Bob Prom said in reference to Brighton's huge number of team members, somewhere in the neighborhood of 70. That dwarfed the 16-girl contingent that Northville showed up with.

And it also gave the Bulldogs an immense advantage over their opponents. They wound up with 92 points in the meet while Wayne Memorial placed second with 38 and Northville last with 14.

"Considering that we had only 16 girls, I was pleased," Prom said of the Mustangs' performance. "I certainly wasn't satisfied, but we did all right."

"I was especially impressed with the relay teams."

Northville's 440 and 880 relays, in fact, both finished second behind

Brighton. The former, consisting of Lissa Carter, Chris Spigarelli, Mary Dooley and Liz Pixley, was clocked in 54.59. It was the first time the four had run the event together, and they were only 1.3 seconds off the girls' school record.

Leslie Dilts, Kristy Iversen, Carter and Spigarelli combined for a 1:56.2 time in the 880 relay, and that's roughly five seconds off the varsity mark.

The teams top showing of the day, though, came in the 220, where junior Ann Dayton took Northville's only first place with a 28.9 clocking. Dayton also finished second in the 880 in 2:36.

Other Mustangs who placed in the meet were Yvonne Swayze, who took a fourth in the discus with a throw of 82'10"; Carter, who leaped 14'3" in the long jump for a fourth; Spigarelli, who ran the 100-yard dash in 12.5 for a fourth; and Iversen, who had a 6:29 in the mile run for another fourth.

Prom also noted several strong showings by girls who didn't place. Among them were Laura Willoghby's two mile run, in which she sliced a full 40 seconds off her previous best time; Laurie Leinonen's performance in the 440, where she lowered her previous best by five seconds; and Kathy McMillan's 100-yard dash, in which she cut her time by 1.4 seconds.

Northville's next scheduled meet was to be tomorrow against Livonia Franklin, but the meet has been cancelled and rescheduled for April 22.

The Mustangs will next see action at Saturday's Farmington Harrison

Relays. According to Prom the team's "880 and spring medley relay could play very high there."

The spring medley quartet will probably include Dayton and Iversen plus a pair of girls from among Carter, Spigarelli, Dooley and Dilts.

The team's next dual meet takes place a week from tomorrow when they travel to Redford Thurston.

Downs finishes strong

Northville Downs finished its most successful racing season to date last week with sizable gains in both attendance and total mutual handle.

During the final six nights of racing in its 82-night 1978 meet the local track drew an attendance total of 21,054, which averages out to 3509 per night. That's an increase of 12.7 percent over last year's overall figures.

Mutuel handle, meanwhile, totalled $2,722,498, or $453,750, up a whopping 24.1 percent. Saturday night's handle was $673,339, the highest take of the year.

Final overall figures released on the '78 season show that the Downs had a total mutuel handle of $33,418,397, or an average of $407,541, this year and that was up 11.5 percent.

Overall attendance, however, dipped 1.6 percent to 251,240, or 3064 nightly.

Originally scheduled to have an 84-night meet, the Downs had to cancel two racing dates because of January's severe blizzard. The meet began on January 2 and ended last Saturday.

Meteyer steps down as head swim coach

Ron Meteyer, who's guided Northville's swimming squad to two straight Western Six championships and a 24-3-1 record over the past two seasons, announced his retirement from coaching last week.

In an emotion-choked speech at Wednesday's awards banquet Meteyer cited family reasons for his decision to step down.

"It's probably the hardest thing I've had to do since I started teaching here," the 29-year-old father of two sons, who's been a full-time science teacher as well as sponsor of the National Honor Society the past seven years, said.

"There were a lot of factors involved in the decision. For one thing it (coaching) affects my teaching performance."

"But the main factor, the overwhelming factor, is that it takes away so much time from my kids. If it were just a matter of taking time away from my own schedule it would be all right, but the one thing I can't deal away is my children's time. That's something that doesn't belong to me."

Meteyer had a big pair of shoes to fill when he took over the coaching reins from Ben Lauber two years ago. In his eight years at the Northville helm Lauber had guided the Mustangs to three league titles, one state championship and a 96-8 record in dual meets.

But Meteyer maintained the winning tradition by building yet another powerhouse. Last year's (1977) squad reeled off 14 straight dual meet victories before losing its finale to powerful Bloomfield Hills Andover, then went on to win the Western Six crown and finish 14th in the Class A state finals.

Beset by illnesses this season the Mustangs dropped to a 10-2-1 dual meet record, but then romped to their fourth straight league title and sent three more swimmers to the state finals.

During Meteyer's tenure Northville lost just once in Western Six competition — dropping a 42-41 heartbreaker to Plymouth Canton earlier this season — and twice finished runner-up to Trenton at the tough Redford Union Relays.

Reminiscing about the past two seasons, Meteyer made it clear his decision to retire was no reflection on the job itself.

"I can't complain about that," he said, "and the kids have been just super. I hope that someday I can get back into coaching because I've enjoyed it immensely."

He added, though, that it would probably be several years before he could return. According to athletic director Ed McLoud no particular person is being considered yet to replace Meteyer.

Banquet honors Mustangs

Four Mustang swimmers received trophies for their accomplishments this year at the squad's annual awards banquet last Wednesday.

Among those honored were record-setting senior backstroke Carl Haynie, who was voted most valuable swimmer by his teammates, and senior butterflyer Derek Gans, named the team's most improved swimmer.

In addition Dan McMann, Tom Cahill and Haynie received trophies for being the high sophomore, junior and senior point-getters for the Mustangs.

Soccer time

Soccer season's right around the corner for the more than 600 Northville youngsters involved in this year's recreation-sponsored Western Suburban Soccer League program, which includes teams from all over the western metropolitan area. Although set back one week because of water-soaked fields, the two-month long '78 spring schedule will include a full slate of games, with action getting under way this weekend. Games originally scheduled for last weekend will be played at the end of the season instead. Pictured above are members of the 14-and-under Northville Rowdies, practicing for their upcoming battle against Livonia.

Tight games mark end of cage season

It seemed only appropriate that the junior basketball season should end as it did last weekend.

Climaxing a season that's been full of close games and tight league battles, eight of Saturday's 11 contests were decided by eight points or less — four of them by four or less — two of the three leagues wound up with first place deadlocks.

In seventh-eighth grade action the Hawks deprived the Kings of an outright championship with a 33-29 victory that left all four league teams within one game of each other at season's end.

Sparked by Scott Faustyn the Kings had jumped out to a 15-12 halftime edge, but the winners outscored them 11-6 in the third stanza and held on for the victory. Richard Burgett paced the Hawks, who tied the Kings for first with a matching 6-5 record, with 10 points. Tim Hendra chipped in eight and Steve O'Hare five while the losers were led by Faustyn with nine points and Jackie Nixon with six.

In the week's other seventh-eighth grade contest the Jazz bounced back from a 30-29 deficit at the end of three quarters to trim the Suns, 42-36. The win left the two tied for third place with 5-6 marks.

Jeff Traudt topped the Jazz with 12 points, 10 of them in the second half, while Craig Lafferty added 10 and Chris McCormick and Steve Harrison seven apiece.

Winding up their season with a seven-game winning streak in the fifth-sixth grade league, the Pistons rolled past the Huskies 42-26 to maintain their first place deadlock with the Titans, who were 22-21 victors over the Mustangs. The two co-champions closed with 10-1 records.

The Pistons jumped out to a 24-18 halftime lead and were safely in command the rest of the way. They were led by Bob Craske with 10 points, Steve Starcevic with nine, Dave Naar with eight and Dan Perpich with seven.

Todd Deal and Doug May, meanwhile, topped the Huskies with seven points each while Brian Burgett added six.

The Titans had to battle back from a 15-12 third-quarter deficit for their victory. Thanks to a six-point spurt by Bob Guldberg they outscored the Mustangs 10-6 in the final stanza to share the league title with the Pistons.

Guldberg finished with eight points altogether while Matt Meyers and Steve Schrader chipped in six apiece. The Mustangs were led by Jeff Metz with seven points and Jay Bartling with six.

In other fifth-sixth grade action the Trail Blazers retained sole possession of third place with a 20-18 triumph over the Ocelots, the Royals romped past the Hurons 42-13, the Wolverines nipped the Tartars 35-32 and the Spartans shaved the Bulldogs 27-26.

The Trail Blazers had to hold off a late Ocelot rally for their victory. They were led by Scott Bush with five points and Doug Doyle and Jeff Smith with four apiece while Dave Longridge topped the losers with 10 points.

Thanks to a 14-point effort by Adam Swallow and 10 by Jim Allen the Royals stormed out to an 18-10 halftime lead and coasted, holding their opponents scoreless in the last quarter. Drew Paredes and Dave Denhoff topped the Hurons with four points apiece.

Paced by Todd Hahn's 17 points and 12 points by Mike Sylvester the Wolverine overcame an 18-17 halftime deficit for their win. The Tartars were led by Chris Hauser with 12 points and Scott Gala with 10.

The Spartans got some last-quarter heroics from Mickey Newman to post their first triumph of the season. Newman had five points in the final stanza to help the winners overcome a 22-20 third-quarter deficit. he led all scorers in the league with 21 points in the contest while Kelly Bell chipped in four. Brian Jennings had 12 points and Randy Eppers six for the Bulldogs.

The only league with an outright champion, the third-fourth grade, was also the only circuit with an unbeaten squad. The Cougars finished their season with a perfect 11-0 mark with a 30-22 triumph over the Spartans.

Paul Newitt had 17 points as the winners overcame a cold start — they were trailing 12-10 at the half — while Seah McLaughlin added eight. Kirk Morrison paced the Spartans with 14 points.

In other action the Warriors clinched third with a 25-17 victory over the Wolverines and the Chips routed the Bullets, 18-4.

Paced by Matt Peltz the Warriors broke open a low-scoring battle — they led only 7-4 at halftime — with a 13-0 outburst in the third quarter for their win. Peltz had seven points, five in the third quarter, while Donny Norton topped the team with eight points. Gary Lampela netted 12 for the Wolverines.

The Chips cracked a scoreless first quarter by spurting past the Bullets 8-4 in the second and breezing. Dave Hall led the winners with 10 points while Kevin Alexander scored all four of the Bullets' points.

Records, records

Ever wondered who holds the longest standing track record at Northville High? What the most prolific year for breaking records was? Who holds the most number of records? How the boys' and girls' times match up? If so you're probably one of many captivated by statistics, and the above might help satisfy some of your inquisitiveness. Listed are the varsity records for both boys and girls, with the years they were set printed in parentheses and the times or distances listed afterwards.

Wack Pack wins battle for second

Wack Pack put the lid on second place last Thursday — and they heard nary a squeak from Park Haus in the process.

Exploding for 62 points in the second half, the Pack roared from behind for its sixth straight victory this year, a 98-77 romp over Park Haus that gave the winners undisputed possession of second place in the men's recreation basketball league and an automatic bye in the first round of this week's playoffs.

Sparked by Brian Gulick's 10-first-quarter points, Wack-Pack jumped out to an early 26-20 advantage but then faltered, slipping to a 40-36 deficit by halftime.

Behind a well-balanced scoring attack Wack Pack outscored its rivals 33-20 in the third stanza, and from there on in breezed to its ninth victory in 12 outings this season.

As usual Park Haus was led by Jeff Moon, who finished off an outstanding season with 33 points, 21 of them in the first half, to capture the league scoring championship. It marked the fifth time this season Moon has tallied 28 or more points in a game. Earlier in the year he scored 49 points in the league's top single-game individual performance.

Backing him up were Howard Bennett, who had 19 points, and Dennis Diem, who added 17.

Wack Pack, meanwhile, had no less than six players in double figures. Ed McGowan led the onslaught with 19 points, 15 of them in the second half, while Doug Rooney pitched in 18, Howard Boyer 15, Gulick 14, Mike McFawn 13 and Jim Cahill 12. Rounding out the winners' scoring were Tony Zerbo with three points and Jack Cahill and John Davidson with two apiece.

Northville girls place

Three Northville girls representing the Clarenceville Swim Club took part in the recent Michigan AAU short course swimming championships held in Royal Oak.

In the 11-12 year old category Trisha Settles of Cooke Junior High took third place in the 50-yard freestyle (26.8) and 12th in the 50-yard butterfly (31.3). She also helped her team place fourth in the 200-yard free relay (1:54.0) and eighth in the 200-yard medley relay (2:10.8).

Kim Storm of Meads Mill, swimming in the 13-14 year old division, placed fifth in both the 50 (25.7) and 100-yard (56.5) freestyles. Her team came in third in the 400-yard free relay (3:55.1), fourth in the 800-yard free relay (8:43.0) and eighth in the 400-yard medley relay (4:36.0).

Kyle Roggenbuck of Northville High took third in the 50-yard freestyle (25.1) and 10th in the 100 free (56.6) in the 15-18 year old championships. In addition her team placed seventh in the 800-yard free relay (8:23.6) and sixth in the 400-yard medley relay (4:21.5).

Wallpaper is fun! In fact, there's nothing more exhilarating than shopping for the perfect paper to achieve a particular effect in your home. Remember to choose a design appropriate to the period of furniture in your room. Provincial or Early American patterns are small florals, or geometric patterns and scenic papers. More formal furniture needs more formal wallpapers. Remember that dark shades in paper shrink a room; light shades enlarge it. Low ceilings seem higher if patterns are vertical on the wall.

For the finest selection of wallcoverings in the area, come in to GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER, 107 N. Center St., 349-7110. We have many, many books to choose from and our prices are very competitive. Why pay top dollar for wallpaper? We discount wallpaper 15% to 25%. We do not charge for any additional shipping fees. Coordinate our papers with our fine line of FULLER O'BRIEN PAINTS. GREEN'S is open from 9 'til 5 daily and Thur. & Fri. nites 'til 9.

TUNING UP — Northville VFW Post 4012's pool ace, Al Pethers, lines up a shot in practicing for the post's upcoming for the state VFW championship tournament at Davison. Watching the action is the team captain, Bill Wolverton. The 21-member Northville team qualified for the state tourney by its outstanding performances in district and divisional competition.

VFW pool sharks eye state title

Northville VFW members are sharpening up their shots in preparation for the state pool tournament to be held in Davison (near Flint) on Saturday, April 22.

The 21 member squad from Northville Post 4012 qualified for the state tournament in district and divisional competition.

Competing against a host of metropolitan Detroit area teams over the past several months, Post 4012 brought home first and fourth place divisional trophies. It won the divisional championship trophy by defeating the Romanowski and Livonia VFW teams.

Winning pool tournaments is nothing new for the local VFW post. Its trophy cases are filled with prizes won over the years, including a state championship and three district championships.

According to team captain Bill Wolverton, the local squad came within a shot of winning the Downriver divisional competition. Northville lost out to Ecorse, however, in the 25th and last game before the winner was determined.

Serving as co-captain of Post 4012's pool team is Bill Durham.

Saturday is deadline for fire alarm sale

All good things must come to an end and such is the case with the Northville Township Fire Department smoke detector sale.

Just like taxes, your chance to buy one of the four-stage alarm ends on April 15.

"We have a training session on Saturday, so they will be available at noon," said Chief Robert Toms.

Only 80 of the 2622 Honeywell alarms are left at the fire hall, located in the Wayne County Child Development Center east of Sheldon Road between Five Mile and Six Mile roads.

The devices cost $20 but if you hurry up and buy one, Honeywell will mail you a $5 rebate. The cost includes the necessary battery which normally sells from $1.79.

The township fire department started the sale in February in an effort to improve home fire safety in and around Northville.

After obtaining a cut rate price from Honeywell, the volunteer fire fighters sold the alarms at cost, frequently staging sales at convenient community centers.

Northville residents responded so enthusiastically to the sale that shipments of 400 were gone almost as soon as they arrived.

The 2542 that have been sold as of Monday represent more than $50,000 in sales. There are still 80 left, though, and Toms wants to see them go.

"We've got to sell them," he said. "We don't want to eat them and we don't want to send them back."

One, two or more smoke and fire detectors not only make a home safer, but Toms likes to think it makes the community more fire conscious.

In the last five weeks during which the sale has been most heavily publicized there have only been four fires in the township. Three of those were mattress fires set by patients at state institutions.

"If you light a match in Highland Lakes, somebody will put it out," laughed Toms.

The township fire hall is generally manned during normal working hours but persons who wish to purchase an alarm may call 455-5535 before making the trip.

Don't be railroaded by hot ties

This guy comes to your door, see, and he tells you he's got some authentic railroad ties left over from a nearby landscaping job. It's going to be too much of a hassle to haul them back to his office so he'll let you have them for $5 apiece.

Pretty good deal, right? After all, a hunk of wood that size would cost maybe $20 from the lumberyard and then it wouldn't have that special treatment applied for the railroad companies.

All right, so you are a little suspicious. But if they are "hot" you aren't going to get burned.

Ah, but you can and will if railroad officials spot new ties on your lawn instead of below the rails where they should be.

At best, you'll be out the ties and the money you spent for them. At worst, you'll be prosecuted for receiving stolen property.

"The railroad does not give away nor do we sell our new railroad ties," said C&O police officer Robert Radigan. "We're very hard and fast about that."

He is not sympathetic with people who claim they didn't know the ties were stolen.

"A person paying $5 for a railroad tie generally has reason to believe it was stolen," he said. "You can't buy wood for that price. They cost us (the railroad) $12 apiece and we buy them by the million."

Work crews replacing old ties generally have to leave the new ones lying beside the track, explained Radigan. Many times, these ties are swiped.

"It's not confined to any one area," said Radigan, an eight-year veteran with C&O. "It (the theft) is throughout the system. People feel they can help themselves to them."

It's no trivial matter. Last year in the Howell area alone, C&O lost nearly 1700 ties worth about $20,000. About 1000 of those ties were recovered.

"We will prosecute anyone dealing, stealing, selling or in possession of stolen railroad property," warned Radigan.

Earlier this month, a 29-year-old Pinkney man was fined $80, given a year's probation and ordered to work 40 hours on community service projects for stealing ties near Chilson Road between Howell and Brighton.

Even if there is no prosecution, it is risky to buy stolen ties.

A year ago, C&O officials spotted new ties — which carry identification markings — in the front lawn of a Northville Township resident.

No arrest was made, but the man lost the ties and whatever money he had spent on them.

The railroad company does sell old ties, but from a central location not door-to-door. People can also obtain letters of permission and injury waiver forms from C&O which allow them to pick up tie butts from along rail beds.

Otherwise, even trespassing on railroad property, much less stealing the ties, is illegal. C&O pays rewards of up to $500 for information leading to conviction for railroad theft and vandalism.

"There always seems to be a rash (of thefts) in the spring," said Radigan. "If we can get information to people, maybe we can close the market for stealing."

It's a big task. Radigan works in a district that stretches from Holly to Toledo and from Fowlerville to Beech-Daly Road.

People with information about possible rail theft may call Captain Mike Nelson in Dearborn (842-5886) or the district office (427-4780).

Spring concert at Schoolcraft

The Schoolcraft College music department will present its annual spring concert at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Churchill High School Auditorium.

The program, under the direction of Bradley Bloom, includes two large choral works and a selection by pianist Donald Morelock.

They are Henry Purcell's opera, "Dido and Aeneas", Igor Stravinsky's "Symphony of Psalms" and a composition by Chopin.

The Purcell opera, described as "tuneful and entertaining," will be performed by singers and dancers accompanied by a string ensemble.

Principal roles will be sung by Jeannene Barret, Heidi Hepler, Stephen Hale, Allison Geller, Sharon Pagen, Nancy Delewski, Audrey Malkiewicz, Melanie Ornatowski, Shawn O'Neal and John Drake. Dance choreography is by Jean Newell, and the string ensemble includes faculty members Anne Harter Jones, viola da gambist, and Robert W. Jones, harpsichordist.

Written in 1680 for students of a girl's finishing school, all parts of the original opera, including the chorus of sailors, were female voices.

In the up-to-date version being staged by Schoolcraft, both men and women dance and sing.

Stravinsky's composition, written in 1930, combines the elements of symphony and cantata, and draws the texts of its three movements from the Latin Vulgate version of the Psalms.

This performance will make use of a two-piano arrangement of the orchestral part specially prepared for the occasion.

Pyramid power

Winchester Elementary School fourth graders and their teacher Larry Rowland (behind the peak) thought they would make their Egyptian studies more realistic. So they built a pyramid. This paper-mache and wood-frame effort may not be as imposing as the ones it was modeled after, but it didn't take 20 years to build either.

'Really enthused'

Silver Springs opens student store Monday

A bunch of little people are hoping for a big Grand Opening as Northville's newest business opens its doors Monday.

There won't be any bands, ribbon cuttings or windy politicians (Are there any other kind &), but the proprietors of the Silver Springs Super Store are still optimistic.

The proprietors are nearly 40 second through sixth graders at the Highland Lakes elementary school who will be running the district's first grade-level student store three days a week.

They've gotten a lot of help from four Northville seniors who undertook the store as an independent study project.

"Mostly, they (the elementary students) are going to run it on their own," said Janet Mahoney, one of the four seniors. "They are really enthused about it and that's good."

Janet and Gayle Rice helped plan the store, Kay Doherty assisted with the buying and Lon Russell helped the kids set up the books.

All four have been involved with the high school's student store, The Hilltop Shop, which opened last spring.

It was a visit by the Wayne Saunders' merchandising class, which runs the Hilltop Shop, that got Silver Springs students interested in their own store.

Three days a week — Monday, Wednesday and Friday — the store will be open for about a half hour before school and for about an hour during lunch.

A rotating staff of 26 salespersons will man the store's display table under the supervision of two student managers. Students are also in charge of book-keeping, display and checking and receiving.

The school will offer a variety of school supplies including memo pads, pencils, rulers, and tote bags as well as penants, T-shirts and health foods.

"We're proud of ourselves," said Janet who along with Gayle met regularly with the students to form the store and plan for its opening.

"It was a lot of hard work. We only had an hour a day so we organized the information the night before and passed it out."

"The kids were good at asking questions. They weren't afraid to say, 'Hey, I don't understand this.'"

A survey taken to determine if students would patronize a store was positive, said Janet who is sure the business will be a success.

"Kids are always running out of pencils," she explained. "I think it's going to work."

Thankless job

Role of constable facing erosion of duties

By DAVID RAY

The vice-presidency of the United States is about as useful as a pitcher of warm spit.

A vice-president of the United States — either John Nance Garner or Thomas R. Marshall, I'm not sure which — said that.

And so, if the vice-president of the United States, who at least gets to preside over the most prestigious deliberative body in the world, has a thankless job, consider the case of the township, village or city constable.

There are few duties, and even less pay, for members of Michigan's constabulary.

A few years ago, the Michigan Legislature, in its infinite wisdom, decided that local units of government could set its number of constables somewhere between one and four. Local officials, however, were not given the power to abolish the post.

Now comes State Representative Richard D. Fessler, a Republican from Union Lake, who has taken one small step toward turning some of Michigan's 6,000 elected constables out of office.

Fessler last week introduced a pair of bills that would allow certain townships (i.e. those with a population of more than 30,000 which is, to say the least, only a handful of the townships in the state) to abolish the office of constable. The Republican lawmaker offered the legislation at the request of West Bloomfield Township, which, obviously, is one of the townships with more than 30,000 residents.

The office of constable was created by state law in the late 1800's, Fessler noted.

However, with the reform of Michigan's court system in the early 1960's, the job was significantly reduced in terms of its duties and powers.

When the Legislature gave townships the power to set the number of constables, it allowed cities to abolish the post. And, further, the laws mandated that constables, if they were to continue to perform police duties, must meet minimal law enforcement training requirements.

Two years ago, the Commerce Township Board opted to drop one constable's post, which was vacant at the time anyway, to provide only one constable.

The incumbent constable did not run for re-election; in fact, no one filed nominating petitions from either political party to seek the post.

There were no write-in votes cast in the August primary, but, in November, Reynold Lanni garnered seven write-ins to win the two-year post. William Carr received one write-in vote, according to the Oakland County Clerk's Office.

In the year and a half since his election, Lanni has not performed any duties for the township, according to Commerce Clerk Robert McGee, although he has served some papers for the 52nd District Court.

A two year old Oakland County directory lists John Zimmer as Novi Township's constable. Since that time, he has become a policeman in the city of Novi.

Voters in another western Oakland County township elected a young constable four years ago. He went out and bought a uniform and a gun, only to discover that the township didn't have any work for him. The constable called the local newspapers to complain about his situation and ended up resigning a short time later.

The mayor of a downriver Detroit community used to have one of the city's constables attend City Council meetings to help keep the usually unruly sessions orderly.

However, the head of the Michigan Constables and Court Officers' Association, John Briganti of Southgate, says that there are many statutory functions that constables can handle.

The problem, he added, is that local officials don't know the duties of the constable's office and, apparently concerned over possible liabilities, don't give the constables much responsibility.

In an effort to improve the situation, the constables' association sponsors seminars designed to teach the elected constables about their jobs, Briganti said.

Yet, other than Fessler's legislation, it appears that state lawmakers are not prepared to do away with the elective post.

Whitmore Lake's constable, Elmer Klump, is still active

Television survey

Plenty of sex for kids

A Michigan State content and children's University of television viewing habits confirms

Americans eating too little, too much

More than 75 percent of Americans are not eating enough fruits, vegetables, breads, cereals and dairy products; and 50 percent are eating more than enough meat. These facts were revealed at a nutrition conference recently held on the Michigan State University campus.

The conference, "Diet and Health — USA," was held to provide an accurate nutrition profile of today's American consumers, and to address the increasing need for nutrition education in this country.

When Americans' eating habits are compared with the recommended diet for the Basic Four Food Groups, the majority of consumers are eating too little food from three of the food groups and half are overeating from the fourth group, according to G. Burton Brown, director of research services for General Mills.

Brown and Dr. Ivy Celender, vice president and director of nutrition for General Mills, reported on the results of the company's research document which analyzed 32 recent studies of U.S. consumer knowledge, attitudes and practices about nutrition. The studies were done by government, industry, educational institutions and marketing research firms.

This document provided a new profile of what American consumers know, believe and practice in their everyday eating habits and it covers eight food and nutrition related areas.

what many parents already believe: their kids' favorite shows include plenty of sex.

In a typical viewing week, a child will see intimate sexual acts, both implied and explicit, 30 to 40 times. The child also sees up to 50 instances of alcohol usage during the week, say the researchers.

Funded by the U.S. Office of Child Development, the MSU study of "Substance Use and Sexual Intimacy on Commercial Television" was directed by Dr. Bradley

Greenberg, professor and chairman of communication at MSU, and graduate student Carlos F. Fernandez-Collado.

Results of the MSU content analysis of TV series found that the prime time period (9 to 11 p.m.) presented intimate sexual behavior most frequently — at a rate of 2.7 incidents per hour; that intercourse between unmarrieds was found seven times as often as intercourse between husband and wife, and that Saturday morning shows depicted no intimate sex behavior or alcohol consumption.

A survey of 300 fourth, sixth, and eighth graders was included in the research to identify favorite shows of youngsters. The kids' favorite shows are mostly in prime time. Saturday morning shows accounted for just a small portion of their viewing week, the researchers found.

High on the favorites list were crime shows and situation comedies which depicted heterosexual intercourse at a rate of two occurrences per hour.

APRIL 16-22 has been proclaimed Private Property Week by the mayors of Novi and Northville and by the supervisor of Northville Township. In the top picture, Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall (left) presents the proclamation signed by Mayor Romaine Roethel to Conrad Jakubowski (center), president, and to Jared Benedict, executive vice-president of the 3,600-member Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors. Above, Jakubowski and Benedict accept the same proclamation from Northville Township Supervisor Wilson Grier. Below, Northville Mayor Paul Vernon displays the proclamation with Jakubowski, while local Realtors look on.

AS PART of a national observance, officials of 15 area communities have officially proclaimed April 16-22 as Private Property Week.

The annual observance is spearheaded by the 500,000 members of the National Association of Realtors with programs conducted by local units such as the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR).

"This special week is viewed as an opportunity to remind all Americans of one of their basic rights — that of owning homes, land and other real property," said Conrad Jakubowski, WWOCBR president.

IT WAS Vice-President Thomas Marshall who said, "What this country needs is a good five cent cigar."

If Mr. Marshall were alive today, he wouldn't have that cigar, but he could buy a nickel sandwich at Hickory Farms of Ohio.

Between April 27 and April 30, the Hickory Farms store at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi will be offering nickel sandwiches to all who visit the store. They'll be made of rye bread, Beef Stick summer sausage and Swiss cheese with Sweet-Hot mustard added. Because of the anticipated demand, two sandwiches will be limited per person.

An unusual feature of the offer is that the store will not retain the proceeds from the sandwich sales. They will be donated to the Muscular Dystrophy Association in the name of Hickory Farms of Ohio and those interested citizens who purchased sandwiches.

The sandwich sale will be a feature of a celebration identified as Old-fashioned Nickel Days. All bulk cheeses are a nickel off per pound while all other items are five cents off the regular price.

A NEW hair styling business has opened in the new Northville shopping center, Highland Lakes, at 43223 West Seven Mile Road.

It is Zareh's Universal Coiffure, owned and operated by Zareh Markosian.

Assisting Markosian as a hair stylist is Amy Enos. Styling is provided for both men and women.

Trained in Europe, Markosian has been a hair stylist for 10 years. This is his first business.

Zareh's Universal Coiffure is open Monday, 12 to 8 p.m.; Tuesday and Wednesday, 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.; Thursday and Friday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.; and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

GERALD HAYNES, owner of Gerald's Salons in Northville, Franklin and Dearborn, is presenting a special, "Fashion Fitness Is the Total You," from 2 to 4 p.m., Sunday, April 30, in the Hubbard Ballroom of the Hyatt Regency Hotel, Dearborn. Hair fashions for spring and summer will be by Gerald's staff as Channel 2's Robbie Timmons narrates.

There also will be couture fashions by seven young student fashion designers from Rina Frisone's School of Design, body toning by Vic Tanny, make-up using Orlane products by Wanda D'Angelo and nutrition using natural foods by Ellen Kahn, owner of Bettelle's Gourmet and Natural Foods. Health foods will be served. Tickets at $5 are available at Gerald's Salon, 41012 Five Mile in Northville or at the door.

Haynes says the program was planned as "glowing, healthy hair is a barometer of the rest of the body." Instruction will be given in hair cutting, coloring, home care, permanenting and repair. he predicts hair for spring will be shorter, smoother, lighter.

'Orphaned' animals explained

Baby animals is the subject of discussion during an hour-long program to be held at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark on Saturday, April 22 at 9 a.m.

Wild animals begin raising families during the spring season. It is a time, that people often find baby animals that appear to be "lost" or "abandoned".

However, Park Naturalist Steve Horn says that when we understand how wildlife raise their offspring, we know that the little-ones have not been left alone.

Horn will discuss through slides how wildlife parents care for their young and what you should or should not do if you find a baby animal this spring. (No live animals will be used in this program.)

This free program is offered to families and individuals and advance registration is required.

Vehicle Entry Permits are required (Annual: regular — $5 or senior citizen — $1 or daily — $1).

For information/registration contact the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark — Phone 685-1561 (Milford).

THOMAS E. QUAINÉ of Northville has been promoted to manager of patient accounting at the Children's Hospital of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Patient accounting includes both the third party billing and the collection function of the hospital's finance department.

Quaine's previous experiences "have always been challenging and he has enjoyed taking on 'tough jobs,'" officials at the hospital noted.

During World War II, he was with the Army Air Corps, returning to Detroit after the war.

In 1948 he joined Remington Rand Univac and worked there for 17 years. As regional office manager, his region included nine states.

In 1965 he took on the job of computerizing Ford Hospital's accounting system. Then in 1973, he joined the financial staff of the Children's Hospital.

His professional memberships include the National Administrative Management, the National Office Management Association, and the Hospital Financial Management Association.

Soon, Quaine will be taking his national board examination to become certified as a professional hospital financial manager.

Energy Outlook:

Returning to Normal.

The nation's longest coal strike has now become history and shipments of coal are returning to normal. For Detroit Edison customers this means you have all the electricity you need, but we hope you will continue to use it wisely.

Unlike many other states, Michigan was able to avoid mandatory power cutoffs through careful planning and the cooperation of business, government and consumers. By buying electricity from outside sources and by burning alternate fuels like natural gas and oil, Detroit Edison was able to stretch its supply of coal and help avoid shutdowns and layoffs. Of course, this was more expensive and the costs will be reflected in higher electric bills for April, May and June. For the average customer using 500 kilowatt hours, this could amount to between $2 and $3 more than billed in March.

The recent crisis once again points out the need for energy consciousness on the part of everyone. So while coal is beginning to move again, Detroit

Edison would like to remind all its customers to use good judgment in their use of electricity. This especially holds true for major energy users like refrigerators, furnace blowers, air conditioners and electric clothes dryers. The more wisely these appliances are used, the more the savings in energy and money will count up.

Detroit Edison thanks you for your cooperation during the coal strike and reminds you to save where it really counts. The power is in your hands.

In Search of Artificial Paradises

On and on... desiring what we lost long ago,
On and on... desiring to relive our birth,
On and on... desiring real comfort and peace,
The search goes on; Can man recreate a Godly creation?

In search of a second Garden of Eden,
A paradise of comfort and peace,
In search of life of perfect efficiency,
The search goes on; Will we ever attain that end?

God's perfect Garden of Eternal Joy,
Lost to a sin, mankind's debt,
The years show our advances,
Toward that heavenly state of life on earth.

Travelling through time looking, hoping, searching...

For some truth, some explanation,
Only resulting in false answers and comforts,
false gods,
A piece of the present, a piece of today???

In the attempt of paradise,
Us Adams and Eves of sophistication have created,
A world of synthetic surfaces and porous imitations,
An emptiness, an unnatural peace — an artificial paradise.

When true silence is a fruitful peace,
And when the earth is barren of true paradise,
Searching enlightens life,
As life is searching.

The endless searching gives purpose to life,
An aim that exceeds mankind's grasp,
But... growth stops, people die in heart,
When an answer IS created on earth...

Can man recreate a Godly creation?
In search of answer we struggle,
On and on... only to artificial paradises,
On and on... we search for the answer on earth,
When the answer is above and beyond...

There was some of Melanie in gracious 'pro' Olivia de Havilland . . .

Olivia's still a star

By JEAN DAY

"Thank you for recognizing me," still very pretty star Olivia de Havilland told her Northville Town Hall audience last Thursday as she carefully mounted the podium, wearing high heels and a straight-line apricot dress.

The brown-eyed, now becomingly blonde actress responded to the applause, saying, "I'm grateful for the warm and reassuring welcome, for the years do pass and pounds do accumulate."

She's still petite at 62, though, requiring an extra step to be seen at the podium.

The two-time Oscar winner had been viewed by many in the capacity TH audience at the Plymouth Hilton Inn earlier this month on the televised showing of the Academy Award Presentations April 3.

She said she found it "quite thrilling" to have been selected to give an Oscar to Margaret Booth.

After confessing that she had not voted for this year's award candidates because she lives in Paris and has not seen the films, Miss de Havilland stated she intends to do so while she is in this country where she has eight more lectures scheduled.

Speaking of Margaret Booth, the woman to whom the Academy Awards audience gave a standing ovation, Miss de Havilland told her celebrity luncheon audience, "It's a great art to be a cutter. It can make or break a film. Margaret Booth has been in the industry for 62 years, starting with silent films. It's also unusual for a cutter to be a woman."

The black jersey gown she wore for the presentation was designed especially for the evening by Edith Head, she revealed.

Her straight-cut, waistless dress with matching lighter-hue apricot scarf that she chose for Town Hall was one she wore in her latest film, "The Swarm." It's about killer bees and is due to be released July 14. It also features Frederick Murray, Henry Fonda and Richard Widmark, Miss de Havilland said.

Miss de Havilland was both pretty and charming, evoking memories of her role as Melanie in "Gone With the Wind," as she chronicled her rise to stardom as she, as an understudy, stepped into the part of Hermia in "Midsummer Night's Dream" in the Hollywood Bowl on September 17, 1934, at the age of 18.

In both her prepared talk and the informal question-and-answer session following luncheon at which she responded gracefully, sometimes agilely sidestepping a personal query, the star proved she still is a real professional.

Asked for instance, if the well-known feud between herself and her sister, Joan Fontaine, still is going on, Miss de Havilland responded simply, "Yes." Then she smiled and looked for the next question.

"Are you still married?"

"Yes and no."

During her talk she explained that her second marriage had been to "the secretary, general of the Parish Match" whom she met in 1953 when invited to attend the Cannes Film Festival. She is understood to be separated.

She told her audience she has "lived for over 20 years in the City of Light six blocks from the Arc de Triomphe in a tall, narrow house with a little garden below."

She has two children. The older, Benjamin, from her marriage to Marcus Goodrich, she said, is getting his master's degree in statistical mathematics. Her daughter, from her French marriage, is a fourth-year law student at the University of Paris.

They do not have acting aspirations, she stated.

"Benjamin, when he was eight, was one of the smallest boys in a French boarding school in the country. He was cast as the Virgin Mary in a play and it completely turned him off."

Of her own career, she observed, "There were trials, tribulations and prizes, too."

After her success with the Shakespearean production she signed with Warner Brothers, but called Jack Warner "the warden," saying he did not like or trust actors. In those days stars, she said, were signed to seven-year contracts.

From Shakespeare she went to a baseball picture, "Alibi Ike," then, "The Irish in Us" and, finally, "Captain Blood."

"In 'Captain Blood' Errol Flynn was the leading man. Certainly he was the most beautiful leading man in the whole world, and I shyly and secretly fell in love with him."

"I asked him what he most wanted out of life and he said 'to be successful.' I said I wanted respect for difficult work well done. That picture must have given him what he wanted."

In their second film together, "Charge of the Light Brigade," Flynn paid her "attention," Miss de Havilland revealed, by placing a dead snake in the pantaloons she was about to wear.

In 1938, she continued, "I was restless and despairing regarding my roles when Melanie and 'Gone With the Wind' came along."

Saying that Warner did not like to loan out his stars, Miss de Havilland mentioned that Jimmy Stewart was exchanged for her. She characterized Melanie as "a perfectly happy woman."

The picture opened in Atlanta, she recalled, in December, 1939.

"Jack Warner forbade me to go to the premiere, but I did go and was put on suspension."

Miss de Havilland explained that the Friends, patients to pay tribute to Dr. Atchison

By JEAN DAY

Some memories are unerasable.

Like the black, stormy late winter night when hours of a high fever had left me unconscious of time and place. I was hardly aware of the anxious face of my daughter when the doorbell rang.

It was Dr. Russell M. Atchison, saying, "I wanted to see for myself how your mother is, Laurie." We often wondered how he managed to drive up our icy hill.

I remember, earlier, when the doorbell rang another time after my husband's unexpected fatal heart attack. Then Dr. Atchison wanted to know what he could do for us.

I have other memories, too. So have the hundreds of patients for whom this general practitioner's skill and caring have made the difference in crisis situations.

For such reasons, some of his patients who have become friends, too, decided to honor Russell McRae Atchison during his 40th year of practice in Northville.

This is happening at a testimonial dinner and dance at Meadowbrook Country Club at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 6.

The planning committee anticipates that as many as 300 will be honoring him that evening.

"We know, though, that we have missed some who would want to be invited," says Mrs. H. O. Evans, who has been taking invitation responses. Others serving on the committee with her and her husband are the William Davises, Richard Amblers and William Sligers.

There still are some reservations available for the evening which promises to fill the club to capacity. Mrs. Evans asks anyone who may not have been contacted and who would like to attend to call her at 349-0474.

It's mayor's first wedding

Northville Mayor Paul Vernon officiated at his first marriage ceremony at 5 p.m. last Friday at city hall. Before doing so, he consulted with former Mayor Malcolm Allen, who had been the officiating dignitary at several while serving as mayor.

Participants were John Ward of Livonia, former son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Roy, and Gloria Mesaid of St. Clair Shores, a widow.

Originally, it was planned that the ceremony and reception would be at the Roy home on West Fanner Court. Then it was discovered that Mayor Vernon legally could not perform the ceremony outside the city, and the Roys live in Northville Township.

Therefore, it was decided to have the legal city hall ceremony and to repeat it at the Roy home, with organ music, and then a sit-down dinner, complete with cake and flowers. Among the guests was the bridegroom's daughter, the Roys' granddaughter, Julie, 8.

She's an Irish beauty

Florence Booms, Town Hall chairman who introduced Olivia de Havilland last Thursday, was showing pictures to friends of her own family's "celebrity." The Booms' daughter, Ruth Ann, was first runner-up for queen in the Detroit St. Patrick's Day parade and a member of the court, riding along Woodward Avenue in the annual parade of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Ancient Order of Hibernians. Pretty Ruth Ann, 18, is a senior at Ladywood High School in Livonia.

The Richard Booms and Donald DiComos (Mrs. DiComo is TH vice chairman) had the fun of entertaining Miss de Havilland the night before her lecture. They dined at Hillside Inn where the star gracefully signed autographs.

They vacationed together in Florida

Sandpiper Cove Condominiums in Destin, Florida, were the spring vacation spot for three Northville families. Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Swayne, Dr. and Mrs. John Starcevic and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davis enjoyed the par-three golf course, tennis courts, pools and beach. They were joined by the Michael Slavichs of Racine, Wisconsin, former Northville neighbors of the Swaynes; Dr. and Mrs. Michael Luberto of Grosse Pointe and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bougegrain of Sterling Heights.

The combined children numbered 18 — with 16 being teenagers. The group participated in the "First Annual Polish Imitation Golf/Golf Classic" with Bougegrain and his daughter, Paula, sharing low net prize. Debbie Bauer of Northville, a guest of the Slavichs, and Dr. Starcevic also were winners. More seriously, Mark Swayne received runner-up trophy in the Sandpiper Cove-sponsored tennis tournament. He competed for more than 10 hours during the two-day tournament. Norm Davis and son John also participated.

AAUW book bargains

Sheila Norgren, left, chairman for the Northville-Novl branch, American Association of University Women, used book sale, and Carolyn Kugler, chairman of markers, are discovering there will be bargains in children's books, both for young and junior high ages, as well as in encyclopedias, mysteries and paperbacks. "Interestingly," Mrs. Norgren adds, "there are a lot of medical books." The sale will be held during mall hours, 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., this Friday and Saturday, at Twelve Oaks Mall. Prices range from five cents upward with most, the women stress, marked less than a dollar.

Question-answer meeting on millage set by LWV

A Northville School millage information meeting has been scheduled from 8 to 10 p.m., Thursday, April 20, in the Northville city council chambers by the Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi League of Women Voters.

The meeting is to be completely a question-and-answer session, Mrs. Gretchen Pugsley, league voter service chairman, explains.

Questions from the audience will be answered by representatives from the school board and from administration. It is an open meeting with anyone interested invited.

Mrs. Pugsley may be contacted at 349-3555 for more information.

Talk to focus on problems of L-D at secondary level

"Programs in Secondary Special Education" will be discussed by an expert at the April meeting of the Plymouth, Canton, Northville chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD).

R. Hunt Riegel, Ph.D., will speak at 7:30 p.m. April 19 in Plymouth Pioneer Middle School cafeteria.

Dr. Riegel is project director, Title IV-C in the Plymouth Community Schools, a model resource room project planned to enlarge the coordination of students' educational programs between general education teachers and resource room teachers.

The speaker received his Ph.D. from University of Minnesota in 1972 with a major in special education and minor in speech-communication. He is a member of both the American Educational Research Association and the University Advisors in Learning Disabilities in Michigan.

Prior to his present position, Dr. Riegel was assistant professor in special education, 1973-77, at Western Michigan University.

He was a resource person in 1977 for the Michigan Department of Education, task force on special education. From 1974-77 he was coordinator, learnabilities program at WMU.

All parents of children with learning disabilities or suspected learning disabilities are invited to attend the meeting which will have special interest for parents of children in or entering secondary level education.

Olivia de Havilland's a super star six-month suspension was then added to the end of her seven-year contract time, saying that, through suspensions, contracts could be extended for years.

"Then I did something no actor had ever done before. I went to court seeking declaration relief." The case was won by Miss de Havilland in lower courts but was taken by Warner to the California Supreme Court, which confirmed the two previous rulings.

"From that day on," the actress told her audience with satisfaction, "no actor had to fear serving the same time twice. You can look in the law books under 'D' and read the de Havilland Decision."

Only a year later she played in "To Each His Own," which, along with "The Heiress," earned her Oscars.

At the luncheon Miss de Havilland was asked about some of the famous with whom she has worked.

On Elizabeth Taylor:

"She's in the same predicament I'm in. She could lose weight."

Of her favorite friend in films:

"I'm very fond of Bette Davis and think of her as my best friend in the business."

Of leading men:

"James Cagney and Charles Boyer have to be my favorites. They were so courteous and generous."

Of sex and nudity in movies today:

"I think explicitness is rather a disadvantage. We had the Hayes Office which we complained about. However, writers had to be creative — and seeing Rhett Butler carry Scarlett up those stairs, and, then the next morning, seeing her smug smile, was more expressive than seeing it all."

"I'm sorry nudity has become required. I think it's debasing to have to share your body with so many people."

How does she stay so beautiful with no wrinkles?

"I haven't washed my face in 20 years. My French doctor told me about a skin cleanser and I have a prescription for a cream with yeast in it. I avoid the sun, too."

And what age would Olivia de Havilland most like to be?

"I like being the age I am."

Town Hall chairman Florence Booms, star Olivia de Havilland share a laughing moment

What Really Counts

Columnists, comedians, and commentators all seem to have something to say about funeral service.

What's important to us, however, is what's said about us by the families we serve.

Art club to view scrimshaw work

A scrimshaw demonstration will highlight the meeting of Three Cities Art Club at 8 p.m. today (Wednesday) at the Plymouth Credit Union.

It will be given by Jeff Neil, an expert at carving scenery on tusks.

Members and guests also will be taken on a "safari" to Africa by Hazel Rogers who recently returned from a trip there. As the theme for the month, members are asked to bring "Your Favorite Media in Pictures or Crafts."

Plans are being made for a judged art show to be on display at the First National Bank of Plymouth. It is the club's second annual judged show with Edee Joppich of Farmington serving as judge.

Speaker

A Christian Science lecturer, Patricia Angus, will speak on "Eternity Now," in a special program at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 1100 West Ann Arbor Trail on April 14 at 8 p.m. She will be introduced by Richard Moore, first reader of the Plymouth church which is sponsoring this free lecture.

Don Hughes to talk

Open Door Church holds four-day teaching seminar

A four-day teaching seminar has been scheduled at Open Door Christian Church at 145 North Center in Northville, beginning at 6 p.m. this Sunday.

It will continue with sessions at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Monday through Wednesday.

It is being conducted by Don Hughes, a positive teaching minister from Tulsa, Oklahoma, and formerly a Baptist minister in Westland. He is the son of a Baptist minister and later was ordained a Southern Baptist minister himself.

In 1962, he states, he received "The Word" and began speaking in tongues and also praying for the sick.

He is the author of "Satan Underfoot" and "Fruit of the Lips." He also is the editor of "Reigning Life" publication and has taught at Trinity Bible College. He frequently speaks of gospel businessmen's fellowships.

We're Glad You Asked

HARRY J. WILL Funeral Homes, Inc.

With a Will—
There's a way

If you own anything — a car, house, savings account, anything with monetary value — you should have a will. With a will, you save your loved ones considerable time and money in the handling of your estate. Further, you are assured that your estate will not be executed by strangers, but by people you know and trust.

How do you make a will? First, see your lawyer. It's not all that expensive for most estate planning. He has the forms, knows the requirements of the state, and probably enough of your personal affairs to help in preparing for future management of your estate.

You may change your will whenever and however you wish. The important thing is to get started and to do it right away.

You may also include provision for funeral arrangements as part of the will. We can provide counseling, without obligation, on this aspect of your will, but only this particular aspect.

We welcome your questions and comments — privately or publicly, through this column.

Plimpton to open next series

George Plimpton, called "the contemporary Walter Mitty," will open Northville Town Hall's 1978-79 season October 12, it was announced at the final program of the current series last Thursday.

He will be followed by party-giver Allison LaLand November 2; Dr. Murray Banks, March 8, 1979; and Broadway-television personality Bob Wright, April 12, 1979.

When he appears on Northville Town Hall's 17th season, Dr. Banks will have the distinction of being the first repeat lecturer. His talk, "What To Do Until the Psychiatrist Comes," is the second most frequently given talk in the world. In announcing next season's selections, Florence Booms, TH chairman, noted that the price for the four lectures remains at $15. They will continue to be held at the Plymouth Hilton Inn on Northville Road.

Sponsored by Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Church, the series has become an area-wide event with proceeds shared with charities in Northville, Novi, Plymouth, Farmington, Livonia and South Lyon.

Half of the profits, the TH committee points out, are given to Our Lady of Victory Church Lady's League with the other half donated to charities who apply to the TH Board of Awards.

Deadline for application is May 31 with letters to be sent to Northville Town Hall, Box 93, Northville, 48167, marked, Attention, Board of Awards.

Ticket applications should be sent to the same address with stamped, self addressed envelope included.

Celebrity luncheons will follow each of the lectures. Unlike the lectures, they may be reserved and paid for individually. They will be $6.50 each or may be pre-paid at $26 for the series. Checks and self-addressed envelopes should be sent to Mrs. Frank Shokaluk, Box 93.

Baby sitters also are available through Our Lady of Victory School. For information, call Mrs. Robert Hodson, 349-7888.

In announcing the new series, Mrs. Booms called the speakers "both entertaining and informative."

George Plimpton, the season opener, is known for having done a multitude of unlikely things and then writing about them very well. He quarterbacked with the Detroit Lions, pitched to the All-Stars in Yankee Stadium, played bridge with Oswald Jacoby, tennis with Pancho Gonzales and percussion with the New York Philharmonic under the baton of Leonard Bernstein.

Then he wrote about what makes champions tick. His first achievement after Harvard and Cambridge was to be one of the founders of "The Parish Review," a highly esteemed literary magazine.

Allison LaLand, who frequently appears on radio and television, gives a complete dimension to the party scene and is known as Washington's "hostess with the mostest."

She attended Greenbriar and Agnes Scott colleges and pursued a career in public relations in Atlanta where she gained a reputation as one of that city's successful hostesses. Her profession and her art took her to San Francisco and then Washington.

She will give helpful hints about entertaining as she relates tales about hers.

Hostess LaLand originally made her name as a party-giver with the Nixon people. Last fall, The Washington Star newspaper gave her credit for having "finessed the political changes with style, and the skill of a survivor."

The article mentioned that she had been coached in party giving by the late Perle Mesta, a fellow Christian Scientist, and had been helped in making her mark on Washington by "six inheritances in recent years."

Dr. Murray Banks, in addition to being a top platform speaker, is a writer and adjunct professor of psychology at Northwood Institute. He also had been a psychology professor at several other institutions, including University of Memphis and Northern Michigan University. He is a graduate of New York and Columbia universities.

His books include "How to Live With Yourself," "Things My Mother Never Told Me," "How to Overcome an Inferiority Complex."

"He entertains royally while he subtly instructs," says Mrs. Booms.

Bob Wright, star of Broadway stage in "Kiss Me Kate" and "Man of La Mancha," will combine song with wit, humor and stories of backstage life in "Musical Theatre Cavalcade" when he concludes the new season.

He will present musical highlights of hits, including "Beggars Opera," "Applause" and "My Fair Lady."

He has been entertaining theatre goers for a couple of decades and also is a television favorite, having been seen on Hallmark Hall of Fame, the U.S. Steel Hour, Jack Paar Show and the Mike Douglas show.

Clean Water: How do you manage that? Find Out at Public Hearings April 17-20

How we use our water is everybody's business. This is why, in 1972, Congress passed the federal Water Pollution Control Act — an act that provided a way for citizens and local elected officials to work together developing plans to prevent and correct the abuse of our water.

Such a plan has been completed recently by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments. Last August, you saw and supported portions of the plan that will establish an areawide water quality board to monitor pollution control.

At one of eight regional public hearings, April 17 through 20, you can find out how abuse of our water can be stopped by treatment of municipal wastewater, disposal of treatment residuals (known as sludge), and control of urban and rural runoff (known as nonpoint pollution), through the Council's water quality management plan.

Prepare Yourself With Background Information

Come to the hearings prepared. You owe it to yourself, and to the future of clean water in Southeast Michigan. Background information on the Water Quality Management Plan can be picked up at any one of the following regional Clean Water Information Centers now and through the week of the hearings:

Macomb Intermediate School District
44001 Garfield Rd., Mt. Clemens

Ellis Branch Library
3700 S. Custer Rd., Monroe

Washtenaw County Building
101 E. Huron St., Ann Arbor

Howell Recreation Center
925 W. Grand River Ave., Howell

City of Birmingham Municipal Building
151 Martin St., Birmingham

Southeast Michigan Council of Governments
800 Book Building, Detroit

Michigan National Bank
800 Military St., Port Huron

Come and Tell Us What You Think

We want to know what you think about the Council's plan. About how to stop the abuse of our water, clean it up, and keep it that way. You will have the chance to comment on the plan at any one of the following regional public hearings:

	Afternoon — 1 p.m.	Evening—7:30 p.m.
Monday April 17	ALLEN PARK Allen Park City Hall Municipal Auditorium 16850 Southfield Rd.	MONROE Monroe County Community College Cafeteria 1555 S. Raisinville Rd.

Symphony lists final concert

Sixth and final concert of the regular season for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will be at 4 p.m. Sunday, April 16, in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium.

This concert will be a special treat to all attending when the Manhattan Savoyard production of "The Mikado" by Gilbert and Sullivan is presented.

All the singers in this troupe come from fine operatic backgrounds. They bring to their roles not only fine voices, but years of training, and specialization in their roles as experienced artists in this particular style of performing, comments Frances Lang, symphony society president.

The Manhattan Savoyards have been acclaimed throughout the country for their stylish productions of "The Mikado", "H.M.S. Pinafore", "The Pirates of Penzance", and Victor Herbert's "Naughty Marietta."

Robert Singer, producer-director, has been a leading bass-baritone in the Savoy repertoire during a career spanning more than 20 years. This production marks the third "Mikado" which Singer has directed, as well as performed in.

As an added attraction on April 16, Audrey Paul, Plymouth artist, will have a one-man showing of original oil paintings and sculpture prior to concert and during intermission.

The Plymouth Symphony League will be serving coffee during the intermission and Girl Scouts will provide baby-sitting for preschool-age children.

Tickets for "The Mikado" are, adult, $5; senior citizen and student (k-12), $2.50.

They will be available at the box office 10 minutes prior to curtain time or at various local locations; Beitner Jewellery, Heide Florist, Book World, Audette Office Supply, or A. Williams Music.

This program is made possible, in part, by a grant from the State of Michigan through the Michigan Council for the Arts, and through support from the Plymouth Symphony League.

Reunion slated by Maybury San Annual reunion of former employees of Maybury Sanatorium will be held Friday, April 28, at Nicky's at Idyl Wyld Golf Club, chairman Harriet Gibson announces.

Dinner at 7:30 p.m. is to follow a happy hour at 6:30 p.m. As usual, the evening promises to be filled with reminiscences, says Mrs. Gibson.

Letters have been sent to 284 former employees of the tuberculosis sanatorium. To date about 100 are expected with deadline for reservations set for April 14.

The first reunion, Mrs. Gibson recalls, was held in 1969. Former employees at first met several times a year, but now the reunions are held only once a year.

Questers study depression glass

Station No. VI Questers will meet at 12:30 p.m. today at the home of Mrs. George Harrison, 45602 Green Valley, Plymouth, for their April meeting.

Ms. Nancy Carlson will be the guest speaker.

Her topic will be depression glass. Depression glass has become a collector's item today, and many Questers have pieces of depression glass they would like to know more about.

Mrs. Joseph Bongiovanni will serve as co-hostess.

Plans for a trip to Lebanon, Ohio, for a day of browsing and antiquing will be discussed.

Library to show film on life of Michelangelo

"The Secret of Michelangelo," an award-winning film about the work of this great artist, will be this month's feature in the Senior Citizen film program sponsored by the Northville Public Library.

Narrated by Christopher Plummer, the hour-long color film presents close-up details of the frescoed ceiling of the Sistine Chapel.

The program will take place at 2 p.m. Thursday, April 20, in the Northville Square mall. There is no charge for admission.

Those who wish to attend should register in advance at the library or by calling 349-3020.

Alcohol Awareness sessions set for May

Another Alcohol Awareness Program, sponsored by the 35th District Court and the Northville Jaycees, is scheduled in May.

The four session program will be held at the District Court in the Plymouth City Hall, 201 South Main Street.

Here's the schedule:

Tuesday, May 2 — Dr. Frank Hollingsworth, Ph.D., will discuss "Pharmacology of Alcohol, the effect on body-physical."

Tuesday, May 9 — Dr. Hollingsworth will present a program titled, "Progression of Alcohol Disease Concept."

Tuesday, May 16 — A two member A.A. panel and a two-member Alanon panel will lead a discussion on how alcohol affected their lives and how A.A. or Alanon helped them.

Tuesday, May 23 — A film on alcoholism will be shown.

Each of the sessions will get underway at 8 p.m.

Open to the public, the program is open to anyone curious about alcohol or alcoholism
