

Those blisters could aid needy

Veteran walkers will tell you it begins on a high note, gets a little uncomfortable about midway, grows downright painful by the three-quarter mark, and then becomes exhilarating at the finish line.

The "thank goodness it's over" feeling at the end is topped only by the pride of accomplishment and the satisfaction of knowing it was all worth the blisters and the sunburn, say previous participants.

"It's this realization that what you're doing helps others that has made our annual walk so popular," says Jaycee publicist Gregory Dawson as the local young men's and young women's organizations prepare to stage the 1978 addition of the Walk for Mankind.

Dawson and other members of the Northville Jaycees and Northville Jayettes estimate that more than 2,000 persons — mostly students — will be on hand at Northville Downs when the grueling 30 kilometer walk gets underway at 8:30 a.m.

That's a larger turnout than last year, says Dawson, who points out that some of the participants will be coming from neighboring communities where similar walks are not conducted.

Purpose of the Walk for Mankind is to raise money for Project Concern — a non-profit organization supported by Jaycees to aid needy

Top of the Hill

Valedictorian Diane Kleckner and salutatorian Brian Odom head an impressive Northville High School graduating class. The two will be among 160 seniors who will be honored tonight at the annual Honors Convocation which kicks off the final countdown to graduation day on June 8. Read about Diane and Brian on Page 14-A.

Big countdown for graduation starts Friday

Time is winding down for the 350 seniors at Northville High School who will graduate next week.

Plans for the last hectic days were detailed recently by high school officials. It will be a busy seven days beginning with Friday morning's senior breakfast and concluding with the all-night party following Thursday's June 8 commencement exercises.

After Friday's breakfast, the seniors will be fitted for caps and gowns and then, if circumstances are right, they will practice for the big night with the proper degree of pomp.

Sunday at 9 a.m., Dr. James Luther, the new pastor at the First Baptist Church of Northville, will give the address at baccalaureate services in the high school.

Class President Eva Erdos will welcome the Sunday morning audience and Julie McDaniel will offer an opening prayer. A piano solo by Margie Boland and readings by Kim DeRusha and Frank Bustamante precede Dr. Luther's address.

Scott Fisher will give the closing prayer.

Thursday's 109th commencement exercises will begin with an invocation by the Reverend Lloyd Brasure, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Students then take center stage with the salutatory address by Brian Odom, a foreign farewell from Jacqueline Chua and Diane Kleckner's valedictory address.

Raymond Spear, who will head the DeWitt system next year, will then speak to the seniors who were in second grade when Spear became Northville's superintendent in 1967.

While this is Spear's last Northville graduation, it will be the first one for High School Principal George Aune who will present the class and hand out the diplomas.

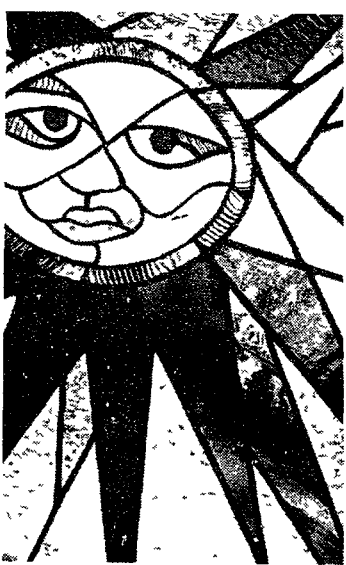

NEWS BRIEFS

TEACHERS AND students are teaming up for a special high school production to illustrate the effects a June millage defeat will have on education. The student body will view the two half-hour shows which begin Friday morning at 9 a.m. in the high school auditorium. All citizens of the community are welcome to attend.

PUBLIC HEARING on the controversial zoning issue concerning properties on Rayson Street will be held at next Monday's Northville City Council meeting. Earlier, the planning commission recommended against a zoning change. The council meeting will get underway at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

FIRST planned face-lifting since disclosure of the downtown improvement project has drawn the praise of the Northville Historical District Commission. The plan, which goes now to the planning commission, was revealed last week by John Genitti, who proposed to improve the front of his Main Street store, John's E.M.B. Foods. The plan, according to the historical district commission, enhances the exterior of the building while carrying out the Victorian theme of the CBD.

ELECTION probably will be set for the August primary on an electrical franchise involving the Detroit Edison Company. Officials see it as a non-controversial issue since Edison is the only firm offering electrical service in the area.

PUBLIC review of the proposed downtown improvement project, which was disclosed to business owners last month, was held at the city hall last night.

Township considers senior citizen village for vacant center

An "elderly village" which might comprise a "total senior citizen community" is being eyed for 125 acres which were formerly a part of the Wayne County Child Development Center in Northville Township.

The township has been awarded $10,000 to conduct a feasibility study of possible development of the eastern portion of the Child Development Center property, where the township offices are now located.

The money represents a small portion of the township's 1977-78 Block Grant funds, once earmarked for construction of a township library. Supervisor Wilson Grier announced a reallocation of those funds at the May 18 township board meeting.

Most of the $137,900 originally earmarked for the library project has been designated for development of a sewage system for the Park Gardens subdivision, located in the southeastern portion of the township, north of Five Mile Road between Haggerty and Bradner Roads.

According to Grier, $127,900 has been approved for the Park Gardens project. The remaining $10,000 will go to Vilican-Leman and Associates, township planning consultants, for preparation of the feasibility study.

That study should commence in June and probably will take approximately six months to complete, according to George Vilican. A contract for the study was approved by Wayne County last week, Vilican said, and work on the project should begin soon.

Vilican described the proposed study as a "market analysis" of the potential of senior citizen housing for the land. He said he sees a potential of developing not only housing but also ancillary services such as small shops and commercial operations at which residents of the development might work.

Vilican said he thought such a development could serve a "good cross-section of economic groups" but he added that he does not foresee the development incorporating low-income or subsidized housing.

"There is a great demand for housing for the elderly but it's not being done too well," Vilican said. "I see such a project being developed primarily by private enterprise, perhaps by involving church groups and private entrepreneurs."

Vilican said he does not envision such a development engendering the controversy which has followed recent senior citizen proposals in the nearby communities of Southfield and Birmingham, which have turned down senior citizen housing when it was tied to low-income housing.

"That problem arises when you have to deal with the Michigan Housing Authority, which requires a certain number of low-income units to accompany a certain number of senior citizen units," the well-known planner said. "But if you can get private enterprise involved, you don't have to face that factor."

"We don't want to get into that," Vilican stated. "We're going to try to be as objective as hell but we're also going to look at it from the township's point of view."

In addition to assessing the impact of a senior citizen development, the planners also will be looking at what the impact on the township would be if the property were developed as routine, single-family residential land.

"We'll project what that would mean but I doubt if that would be the way to go simply because there is already so much good, single-family land in the township," Vilican said.

Vilican said he has a "gut feeling" that a senior citizen development might be a good idea partially because the former Child Development Center property presently is a drain on the county.

"The county always needs money and because of that, it often looks for things which can generate revenue quickly. But I don't think that is necessarily what the township planning commission would like to see. The county has to spend money maintaining the property now. Maybe simply clearing the land

Elementary electives on line if millage fails

The Northville board of education changed its mind Wednesday and decided to drop elementary art, music and physical education if two June 12 millage issues fail.

The seven teachers for these classes had not been included among the 25 layoffs that the board says will be necessary if voters defeat tax hike requests of 2.6 and 2.9 mills.

That all changed Wednesday night during a millage strategy session when school board members realized that the elementary schools were relatively unscathed by the proposed cuts.

Twenty of the 25 teaching positions on the chopping block were in the high school and junior high school.

Of the five positions originally cut from the elementary school, three were in response to a lower student enrollment projected for those grades next year. Even so, some elementary classes will have as many as 34 students next year.

The seven positions now cut from the elementary school will be distributed among the upper six grades for more favorable classroom sizes.

If the millages fail, the secondary grades will still lose 14 teachers and be forced to five-hour days. The high school will also lose a counselor and a librarian.

All extracurricular activities including sports will also be eliminated.

Northville school officials say the $450,000 that 2.6 additional mills would raise is needed to maintain the current program. The second issue on the ballot, 2.9 mills, would raise $500,000 to reinstate curtailed programs.

A third and lesser heralded issue on the ballot is a request to borrow $1 million for major maintenance and purchases. If approved, this issue would not raise taxes.

Finally, two school board positions are also on the ballot but the race has generated little interest since the only two candidates, Richard Barron and incumbent Karen Wilkinson, are running unopposed.

In April, an attempt for 5.5 additional mills was defeated 2-1 by district voters.

Selling school's land won't help, says Spear

Northville Township Supervisor Wilson Grier's proposal to sell school property and use the revenues to lower taxes was termed impossible and impractical by the district's top official.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said Friday that even if the district wanted to sell 130 acres purchased four years ago for a future high school site, the money from the sale could not be re-allocated to the general fund as Grier suggested in a letter to the editor last week.

"Any money we make from the sale of that property would have to be put in the debt retirement fund," said Spear.

The property, located north of Six Mile Road and west of Sheldon, was purchased with funds from a $10 million bond issue that also built three new schools in the district. It will take more than 20 years to pay off those bonds, said Spear.

If the land were sold to reduce the debt retirement, it would mean a tax reduction of less than $4 a year for the average property owner, he added.

In his letter, Grier said that existing structures and temporary classrooms could handle short-term growth rather than building new schools.

"Too many school districts build monuments with 30- and 40-year debt retirement schedules only to find that those investments were not necessary," he wrote.

The school district is probably less than 50 percent developed, said Spear who has envisioned a Northville enrollment as high as 20,000 students.

HARTLAND—By a 4-0 vote the Hartland Township Board rezoned 110 acres at the Parshallville Mill Pond from AR (agricultural-residential) to UR-1 (single family residential). But the prospect is the rezoning may go on the ballot for township residents to make the decision, if a sufficient number of signatures is garnered on referendum petitions.

NEW HUDSON—State Senator Kerry Kammer (D-Pontiac) has asked Attorney General Frank J. Kelly to consider intervening on behalf of Michigan residents opposing development of a children's park amusement center at Kensington Metropark.

BRIGHTON—Former Congressman Wilbur D. Mills, himself a recovering alcoholic, will be on hand for the 25th anniversary of Brighton Hospital in August.

HOWELL—Over a year of facelifting of the century-old Livingston County Courthouse is coming to an end and the grand re-opening dates have been set for Saturday and Sunday, June 10 and 11.

SOUTH LYON—South Lyon's Economic Development Corporation has scrapped plans to develop a 123-acre site in the city's northeast side as an industrial park in reaction to the storm of protests from Tanageray Hills Subdivision.

SOUTH LYON—"Overall" the South Lyon Board of Education is "very pleased" with Superintendent Jack Meeder's performance last year and over his three years in office. So said Board President Lawson Letzring at a board discussion on Meeder's evaluation.

SALEM—In a surprise move four township board members voted to reject all bids on construction of the proposed fire hall. Reason given was that the low bid — which came in more than $40,000 under what the architect had estimated — was given by a firm that was unable to obtain a performance bond. The next low bidder submitted a figure that was about $36,000 greater than had been estimated.

SOUTH LYON—Centennial Middle School will get a new roof this summer, paid for by a bond issued by the school district. The repairs are needed because cracks in the original roof let water leak into second floor classrooms. The school is relatively new.

NOVI—The city council has reaffirmed its commitment to minimum lot widths of 80-feet. The action came in response to a proposal from Councilwoman Martha Hoyer that 60-foot lots be permitted in some sections of the city as an inducement to single-family residential development.

NOVI—Construction of a 16-lane bowling alley and two buildings of retail stores has been proposed as the second phase of the Novi Road Development. Phase one of the Novi Road Development consisted of construction of the Goat Farm Tavern on the west side of Novi Road, north of Ten Mile Road.

WOLVERINE LAKE—The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has completed its review of the proposed lake restoration project here and is prepared to forward an application for a 50-percent federal grant for the $600,000 program to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Appreciating art

Catherine Sellas (behind art print) is one of several Amerman Elementary School mothers who regularly lectured students this year about art appreciation. Using prints of works by Rembrandt, Picasso, Van Gogh and other masters, the volunteers lectured on topics such as space and perception to help the students understand why certain works are considered valuable. "The students were enthusiastic," said Mrs. Sellas. "I'd venture to say that these kids could talk better about art than three-quarters of the community."

Board candidates respond to LWV

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is biographical information together with answers to questions asked by the League of Women Voters, Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi

Chapter, of the two unopposed candidates for the Northville Board of Education. The material was edited by the League to conform with length chapter requirements.

KAREN WILKINSON

Age 41, 45871 Fermanagh Drive; B.A. Albion College, mathematics and Spanish; former middle school teacher and member of curriculum council; president of Michigan Council of Cooperative Nurseries; president of Northville PTA Area Council; member of Michigan Department of Education pre-primary committee; chairman of Northville School Board finance, curriculum and policy subcommittees.

What are your personal goals and objectives as a member of the School Board?

My main objective is to represent the community's best interest in a knowledgeable manner. This entails listening objectively to all viewpoints, fairly weighing all available information and making decisions that will best serve all the students, not just special-interest groups.

Discuss your opinion of the role of the school board relative to the administration.

Briefly, the board of education determines policies and administrators implement these policies, although frequently the line between the two may be indistinct. In all cases, each group should take the responsibility for not assuming the other's role and should "check" the other if an overlap occurs.

City fetes employees

A near capacity crowd was on hand Thursday as the City of Northville held its 1978 Recognition Dinner at the First United Methodist Church of Northville. The program feted employees and members of city boards and commissions. Master of ceremonies was City Manager Steven Walters; Mayor Paul Vernon delivered a congratulatory appreciation address; the Reverend Miss Elizabeth Etz gave the invocation; and Councilman Stanley Johnston showed color films he had taken of recreation department activities a quarter century ago. Recognition to employees of long standing was paid by Walters, who indicated that special service award pins be presented later to employees. Employees cited for five years or more: Al Cox, 7 years service, David DeLauder, 8; James Daniel 7, Martha Gross 9, William Harrison 6, Hugh Jordan 9. Bruce Jerome 7, Cathy Keller 6, Norman Kubitskey 6, Donald Lancaster 6, Theodore Mapes 8, James Petres 6, George Piedot 5, Roger Rathburn 6, Gerald Ryan 6, and Alan Zielinski 5. For 10 years or more: Phyllis Bell 12, Royal Keller 14, and Howard Reeves 11. For 15 years or more: Charles Nichols 17, Alice Ritchie 18, Julius Saner 19, Louis Westfall 15. For 30 years or more: Herman Hartner, Jr. and Robert Moe, both having 32 years of service — longest in the city. Above at the head table (l to r) are: Councilman Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Walters, Mayor and Mrs. Vernon, and the Reverend Miss Etz.

Police rescue driver from overturned truck

A large rubbish truck turned over on Six Mile Road in eastern Northville Township yesterday morning shortly before 11 a.m., pinning the driver between the cab and its hydraulic lifting device for several minutes.

It took more than 20 policemen, firemen and volunteers to lift the up-sidedown cab far enough to free the man who was taken to a nearby hospital by the Novi Ambulance Company.

The driver, who was unidentified, worked for Roman Rubbish Removal in Dearborn Heights.

He was westbound on Six Mile Road west of Haggerty when he apparently lost control of the truck.

The packer left the road on the south side, travelled at least 100 feet before hitting a car parked in a driveway, and then rolled another 30 feet before tipping over on its top.

The truck was apparently heading to a landfill off of Six Mile Road on the west side of the township.

Residents who live along Six Mile Road said they plan to petition the Wayne County Road Commission to lower the speed limit in that area from 50 to 35 miles per hours.

There was no evidence Tuesday that the truck involved in Tuesday morning's crash was speeding.

County roadworkers are presently blacktopping the westbound lane of that stretch of Six Mile Road, making it temporarily a few inches higher than the eastbound lane.

Some observers yesterday speculated that the driver might have lost control when the truck's left wheels slid over the lip in the road between the two lanes.

Parade, tributes highlight Memorial Day

Small American flags decorated each grave in the veterans' plot in Rural Hill Cemetery as veterans' groups and local dignitaries gathered there Monday morning for traditional services that paid tribute to those who had served our country and also to those now in service.

Sunshine filtered through trees on the hillside where the crowd, estimated to be somewhat smaller than in some years, gathered to hear the brief addresses following the Memorial Day parade.

The parade, starting at 10 a.m. at the American Legion Post home, Center and Dunlap, returned to an older route as it moved south on Center to Main, taking Main west to Wing and south to Cady and west to the Cady Street Cemetery where a brief memorial service was held.

The parade then continued along Cady to Rogers and into Rural Hill Cemetery, pausing at the bridge to honor those who had died at sea.

Marching in the parade and flanking speakers at the rural Hill site were Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, members of American Legion Lloyd H. Green Post and Auxiliary and VFW Post 4012 and Auxiliary, and Northville High School Marching Band under the direction of Robert Williams.

Also participating were local police departments, sheriff's department and state police as well as fire departments.

Raymond Hood of the Legion post introduced Legion and VFW officers and auxiliary heads and Representative Jack Kirksey and called upon Past VFW Commander Lawrence McArthur for the keynote address.

"There are some who could away with the Veterans Administration," McArthur warned, declaring such action would "place widows on welfare," and urging those attending to contact their legislative representatives to protest. He concluded by paying tribute to those who had died in service by reading "The Unknown Soldier."

Northville Mayor Paul Vernon, taking John Truslow Adams' "The American Dream" as his theme, declared he believes "the American Dream is still as alive today as it ever was."

Some, he recalled, believed it began with the War for Independence while others felt it started with the Civil War.

Citing Lincoln's brief Gettysburg Address, and mentioning it was little noted at the time, Mayor Vernon suggested "a re-dedication to principles for which others died."

The Reverend Lloyd Brasure, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation and benediction. He asked that those who are in service today also be remembered in Memorial Day prayers.

Taps were played by Rick Frost and Viki Purcell of the Northville High Marching Band. This is an honor reserved for senior trumpet players in the marching band.

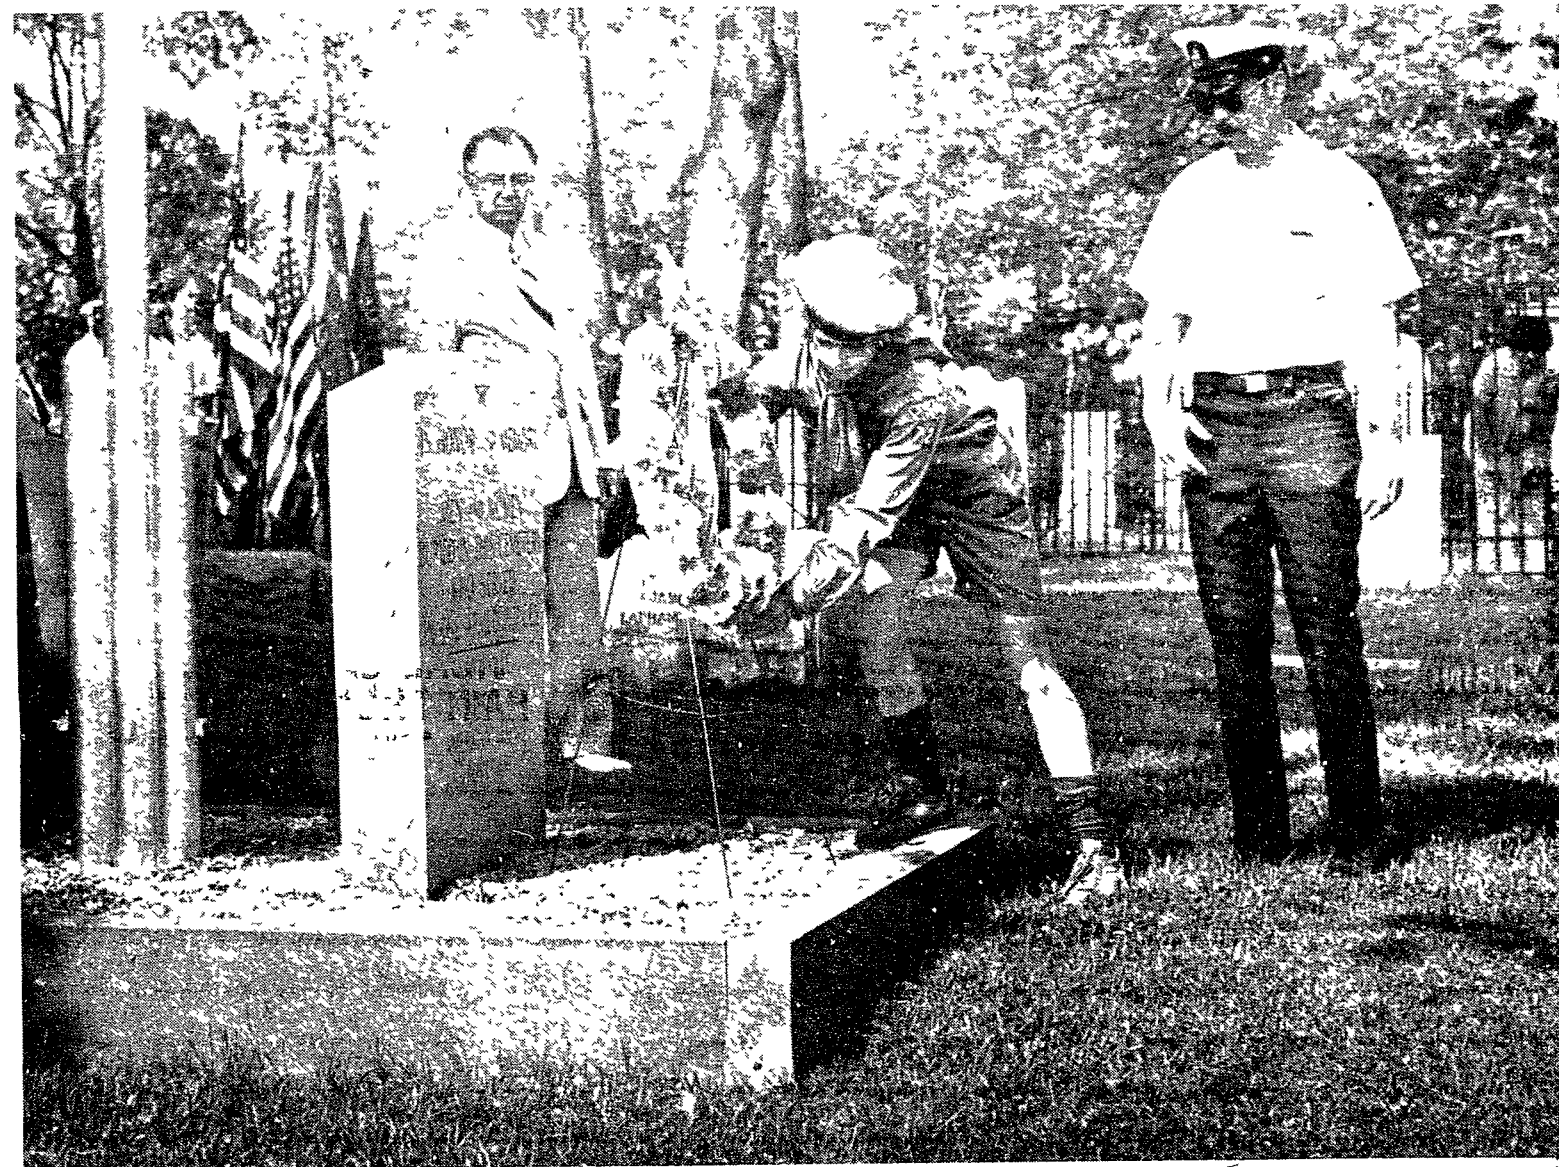

Riflemen then fired a three-volley salute. Salutes also were fired at the Cady Street Cemetery and at the bridge entrance.

At the conclusion of the Rural Hill Memorial Service, the groups marched back to the American Legion Post Home where Guernsey Dairy continued a long tradition of giving ice cream bars to marchers.

Many families also remembered their own relatives buried in the cemetery, decorating graves with geraniums and other flowers in both the older and the newly opened sections.

ISEP Field Day is for participant

Next week's ISEP Field Day events can't match the Indianapolis 500 for speed. But they run laps around the Indy 500 race cars when it comes to uniqueness.

How do log rolls and food cart races grab you?

Those are just two of the imaginative activities that await 800 mentally retarded youngsters Wednesday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at Burger School in Garden City.

Each of the participants is a resident of either the Plymouth Center for Human Development or the Northville Residential Training Center, two state-run institutions located in Northville Township.

The education of most of these residents is the responsibility of Northville schools' Institution Special Education Program (ISEP), a state-funded operation which rents buildings and classrooms in five school districts.

Wednesday's Field Day was the brainchild of ISEP physical education teachers who saw it as an alternative to the national Special Olympics.

"Special Olympic activities are too high for most of our kids," said Lorel Rigsby, a physical teacher at Parkway School.

"Plus our children aren't that competitive. They participate in order to please the people they are working with."

Wednesday's agenda includes traditional track and field events and team games in addition to some innovative events, such as the food cart races, which have been adapted to meld with the youngsters' abilities.

The Field Day will emphasize physical fitness, enjoyment and participation. Each youngster will receive a ribbon and each school a trophy.

Teachers also hope to see some valuable social experiences.

"We want to see if there is interaction between the kids from different schools and if they recognize that this is a special event," explained Ms. Rigsby.

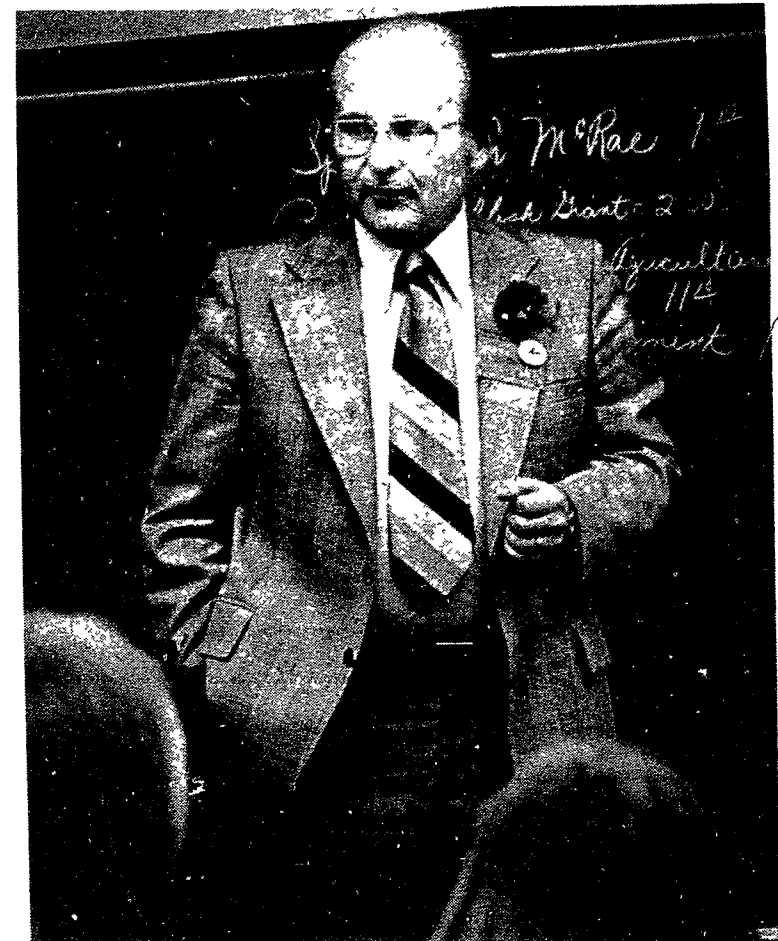

The Field Day will also be a study in the logistics of running an ambitious outdoor activity with 800 youngsters who each have special needs.

"Most of them (the kids) require one-to-one supervision," so the entire ISEP staff will be involved, said Ms. Rigsby. Volunteer help for the day is also welcome.

A number of dignitaries — including sports celebrities, legislators, the Northville school board and superintendents and mayors of communities with ISEP buildings — have been invited.

If there is rain Wednesday, the entire thing will be pushed back a week to June 14. Burger School is on Beechwood Street, just northeast of the Merriman-Ford Road intersection.

Shop talk

John McRae, plant manager for Ford Motor Company at Woodhams, was one of several representatives who stopped in for Career Day at Winchester Elementary School Thursday. As part of the school's Michigan Week program, the business people enjoyed breakfast and then told students how they got interested in their profession and why they enjoyed it. Most of the speakers live in Northville.

Superintendent search is reduced to 9 men

The search for a new Northville superintendent has been narrowed to nine men. None of the finalists from 83 applicants will be named by the school board until each appears for his public interview.

Interviews before the full board began last night (Tuesday) and continue tonight and on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week.

"Because any one of the candidates could back out up to the time that they could be interviewed, they (board members) did not want them identified until the night of the interview," said President John Hobart.

Michigan's new Open Meetings Law requires that superintendent candidates be interviewed in public meetings but permits the applicants to request that their credentials be kept confidential.

It is not known how many of the final nine candidates had requested this confidentiality. Friday, Hobart said school officials had not been able to reach one of the nine to confirm an interview date.

It is known that all nine of the finalists are men, eight are from Michigan and none is presently in the Northville system.

Once the interviews are completed, the board is expected to make its final choice sometime prior to the June 30 resignation date of Superintendent Raymond Spear.

Spear, who has been an administrator in Northville for 16 years including 11 as superintendent, will become superintendent of the DeWitt system on July 1.

Township ducks ticket fee

Thanks all the same, but Northville Township would just as soon not pay for its traffic tickets.

That was the upshot of a brief discussion at the May 18 meeting of the Northville Township Board.

It seems the township recently ran low on traffic tickets and when Police Chief Ronald Nisun requested more from 35th District Court, he was told the township could have them — but for $99.84 per thousand, which is $99.84 per thousand more than the township ever has paid before.

"It came out of the blue as far as I was concerned," Police Chief Ronald Nisun told the township board. "So I called up Judge (Dunbar) Davis and asked him about it. He said the court would like us to pay for the tickets but the court could continue to pay for them if our budget was too tight."

Whereupon Trustee Dr. John Swenckowski promptly moved that the 35th District Court be asked to continue providing the township with tickets — due to "budgetary considerations."

The motion passed unanimously.

Summer work ahead for Student Congress

Two-thirds of the class representatives to Northville High School's Student Congress will be working throughout the summer in preparation for the 1978-79 school year.

The 16 students, who will be juniors and seniors next year, will meet several times with the four Student Congress officers elected recently by the entire student body, according to next year's President Sherryl Wissman.

Next year's sophomores will not elect officers and representatives until next fall when they enroll at the high school. Meeting during the off-school hours this summer will be good practice for the new Student Congress.

Because of a more restrictive attendance policy adopted by the school board this year, the student government sessions will again be conducted in the early morning hours before classes begin.

The 28-member organization includes eight students from each class — four class officers and four Student Congress representatives — in addition to four officers elected at large.

Next year's senior officers are: Co-presidents Greg Bach and Brett Blanchard, Secretary Sue Pegrum, Treasurer Karen Boll and Representatives Bob Daniels, Mary Wheatley, Mark Harper and Rob Hallowsay.

The Student Congress officers are President Sherryl Wissman, Vice President Kelly Mikton, Secretary Suzie Heinzman and Treasurer Cheryl LaTouf.

Obituaries

Former principal dies

Colonel Harry B. Smith, 69, who was principal of Main Street Elementary at the time of his retirement to Florida in June, 1968, died May 26 at Fort Myers Community Hospital in Florida.

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the chapel of the Metz Funeral Home in Cape Coral, Florida, with interment in Lee Memorial Park in Lee County, Florida.

Colonel Smith and his wife moved to Cape Coral where they had purchased a home immediately upon his retirement. A community reception marked Colonel Smith's retirement from Main Street Elementary where he served as principal for 13 years.

He joined the Northville School System as a high school teacher in 1937 and was called into active service in World War II. He had been an Army Reserve Officer since graduation from Michigan State University, attaining the rank of a full colonel and retiring at that rank after 31 years of service.

Colonel Smith returned to the Northville system after World War II to become a mathematics teacher and driver education instructor. He later was athletic instructor.

He became Main Street principal in 1955. He was a member of Northville Rotary Club.

He was born November 28, 1908, in Michigan to Bryce and Bessie (Harvey) Smith. He was married to Marjorie Stuber, who survives.

He also leaves two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie O'Hara of Orlando, Florida; Joan Lockwood of Denver; two sons, Richard Stuber of Ann Arbor, Robert Stuber of Kenton, Michigan; a brother, Everett Smith of Rochester, New York; and nine grandchildren.

The family suggests that memorials may be given to the American Heart Association.

ABBIE C. GLUNZ

Services for Mrs. Abbie C. Glunz, 80, of 19467 Eddington in Highland Lakes were held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at Our Lady of Victory Church with Father Alphonse Babonas officiating.

Interment was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery with arrangements by Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home.

Mrs. Glunz was born April 5, 1898, in Detroit, to Theodore and Frances (Walsh) Terski and married Frank Glunz in 1919. He preceded her in death in 1950.

A homemaker, Mrs. Glunz died May

COLONEL HARRY B. SMITH

28 at Oak Hill Nursing Home. She was a member of Our Lady of Victory Church.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Thomas (Dorothy) Quaine of Northville; a son, Donald Glunz of Dearborn; a brother, Julian Terski of Warren; three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

FRED VanVALKENBURG

Services for Fred VanValkenburg, 58, of 16765 Haggerty Road, were held May 25 at Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated, with Dr. James H. Luther of First Baptist Church officiating. Interment was in Rural Hill Cemetery.

Mr. VanValkenburg, a maintenance mechanic at Hawthorn Center, was a life resident of the community, a World War II veteran and a member of the Independent Order of Foresters.

He died May 22 at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor after an illness of seven weeks.

He was born August 27, 1919, in Northville to Harvey and Thersa (Heintz) VanValkenburg and married Eltrym Wilson.

He leaves his wife; a son, Gary VanValkenburg of Plymouth; sister, Mrs.

Dorothy Sarvis of Northville; and two granddaughters, Cheryl and Michele.

PAULINE S. REID

Pauline S. Reid, 56, of Redford died May 26 at the home of her sister, Mrs. Muri (Gladys) Lamb, at 20005 Westview Drive in Northville Township.

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home with Dr. James O. Banks officiating. Interment was at Bell Branch Cemetery in Redford.

Mrs. Reid was a member of O.E.S. Kindness Chapter No. 523, Lola Valley Temple.

She was born December 7, 1921, in Michigan to Howard and Lilly S. (Irish) Fritsch and married Sam Reid who survives.

She also leaves a daughter, Mrs. John (Cheryl) Weeks; brothers, Henry Howard and Jack Fritsch; sisters, Mrs. Lamb, Mrs. Ed (Dorothy) Horgan, Mrs. Wilson (Ida) Sparks, and Mrs. Robert (Lois) Richardson; and two grandchildren. She was preceded in death by a son.

MARGARET A. FRITZ

Services for Margaret A. Fritz, 55, of 720 Grace Street, a Northville resident for 40 years, were held May 26 at Casterline Funeral Home Incorporated.

The Reverend Robert A. Mitchinson of First United Methodist Church of New Hudson officiated. Interment was in Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens in Novi.

Mrs. Fritz died May 23 at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor after an illness of two years.

A U.S. Marine Corps World War II veteran, Mrs. Fritz was retired from Burroughs Corporation in Plymouth.

She was born January 24, 1923, in Dexter to Thomas W. and Viretta G. (Austin) Bell and was married to Harold H. Fritz, who survives.

She also leaves a daughter, Mrs. Gary (Kristie) Mobarak of Northville; sisters, Mrs. Wilma Stall of Ypsilanti, Mrs. Gladys Bartell of Bakersfield, California; Mrs. Joan Bailey of Marenisco, Michigan; brothers, Mark and Joe Bell of Northville, Claude Bell of Dexter, Warren Bell of Ypsilanti, Howard Bell of Manchester; and two grandchildren, Kimberly and Michelle.

Student heart starters

More than 50 students in a Northville High School health class completed a Michigan Heart Association Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation course last week. It was taught by Northville City Policeman James Petres

Housing funding finds no takers

Donald Riffenburg has a rather unique problem. He had $42,000 to give away but he's having trouble finding people who want it.

Hard to believe? Well, there are some strings attached.

The $42,000 Riffenburg has to disperse is money allocated to Northville Township under the Wayne County Community Development Block Grant program and it is earmarked for housing rehabilitation. Individuals can receive a maximum of $4,000 and they must meet certain qualifications in order to receive funds.

Even so, Riffenburg, director of the township's housing rehabilitation program, is finding it surprisingly difficult to spend the township's allocated funds.

"We've had 14 people apply for the program so far and of those 14, four have qualified," Riffenburg explained. "We are taking bids on these four projects and we expect work to begin on at least one of them within the next month."

The township was awarded the housing funds late last year and Riffenburg started working on their dispersal in January. Township officials have pinpointed two geographical areas where the funds are to be spent and Riffenburg has distributed literature to people living in those areas.

It would seem that, by now, at least some of the money would have been awarded. But the progress has been slow.

Part of the problem, according to Riffenburg, may be that people receiving the grants must sign a three-year lien on their homes. Some people have demonstrated reluctance to do so, even though the grant is an outright one and none of the money has to be repaid after three years.

Another thorn which has cropped up is that the Park Gardens subdivision, one of the areas for which rehabilitation funds were targeted, has since been scheduled to receive other Block Grant funds. The main problem in the subdivision, according to Riffenburg, is faulty septic systems. But the township has received the green light to spend $127,900 for construction of a sewage system for the area and as a result, Riffenburg can't allocate housing rehabilitation monies for upgrading of septic systems.

The Park Gardens sub is in one of two areas targeted for the housing funds. The general area around Park Gardens, between Haggerty and Bradner Roads and north of Five Mile to Six Mile, comprises that area. The second region where funds are to be allocated is the Franklin Road area near Six Mile and Northville Roads.

Purpose of the housing rehabilitation funds, Riffenburg said, is to help get all homes within target areas on something of an equal footing.

"There are many older homes in the area which just need a little work to upgrade them," Riffenburg pointed out. "But if the owners are elderly and on a fixed income, they just don't have the money to spend on improvements. Or if a family has six or seven kids and only $17,000 coming in, it's pretty hard to stretch that money far enough to do everything."

In order to qualify for housing rehabilitation grants, applicants must have housing code violations in their homes and meet certain income criteria. A couple, for instance, may make no more than $12,750 per year and a family of five is limited to earnings of $16,900 per year.

"In order to qualify, a home must have code violations such as leaking plumbing, faulty wiring or a bad heating system," Riffenburg explained. "But once we're in that home, we can do more, like installing insulation, repairing roofing and even painting."

The work Riffenburg has scheduled so far includes installation of an entire heating unit in one home, placement of a foundation under another and re-wiring in another. Actual work on the homes has not begun yet, Riffenburg said, because it has been difficult to find contractors and to square away all the necessary paper work.

"We take at least two bids on each project and it's rather hard to get bids because most contractors aren't interested in doing such small jobs. They have a short season in Michigan and they need to make their money while they can," Riffenburg noted.

"Also, some work can only be done in the warm weather and so waiting for the weather to break has slowed things down, too."

Now that warm weather has arrived, Riffenburg is anxious to get approved projects rolling — and just an anxious to secure new projects. The housing rehabilitation director can be reached at 453-9090 or through the township offices at 459-1710.

In the meantime, Riffenburg, also assistant chief of the township fire department, is not finding it difficult to keep busy. He's already filling out applications for more housing rehabilitation monies for next year.

City, township back 3 bills

Three out of four isn't bad. The City of Northville sought support from the township on four legislative issues at the regular township board meeting May 18 and came away with help on three of the four for a .750 batting average, a mark any Detroit Tiger would envy.

Township board members did not vote to support the city in its opposition to House Bill 6250, legislation currently before the state house which would require cities to erect more "no parking" signs within corporate limits.

However, the township board did support the city on two other state legislative fronts: in its opposition to Senate Bill 1517, which would require county sheriffs to patrol township roads; and in support of Senate Bill 1065, which would permit cities to expand their violation bureaus to include such offenses as littering, refuse storage and handling, noxious weeds, trailer storage and snow and ice control violations.

The township also lent its support to both Northville and Novi regarding the creation in Congress of a suburban caucus, which would address problems and legislation of special interest to suburban communities.

In annual Schoolcraft competition

Mustanger cops six journalism awards

Northville High School newspaper, The Mustang, and its staffers, walked off with six awards in the Fourth Annual High School Journalism Contest sponsored by Schoolcraft Community College.

Competing against nearly 20 other suburban Detroit high school newspapers, The Mustang won:

- Honorable mention for Best Newspaper.
- First place for Page One Typography.
- Honorable mention for Personal Column.
- Second place for Analysis, Interpretive, or Investigative Reporting.
- Honorable mention for Analysis, Interpretive, or Investigative Reporting.
- Third place for Advertising.

Staffers from the metro high school newspapers and their advisors were hosted at an awards luncheon at the college.

Three of the six awards went to Mustang staffers. Lorraine Hopping won two of them — both in the Analysis, Interpretive, or Investigative Reporting category, while Krysta Van Renterghem took the honorable mention in the Personal Column category.

Ms. Van Renterghem won with her column, Congress Corner. Said the judge: "Congress Corner does an excellent job of organizing a large variety of news about Student Congress which may not be worth headlines but is of value to students. A good effort is made to make the routine interesting."

Ms. Hopping won second place with her series on student cheating.

Said the judge: "This was based on a survey which showed the 3.0-3.4 GPA students were doing the most cheating. It also revealed that a few teachers have a real understanding of the problem while others are lost at sea."

She won an honorable mention for a piece titled, "Holiday Shopping Easy: For Shoplifters." For this article the judge said, "Profile of a shoplifter. Good quotes from three local managers."

In the coveted Best Newspaper category, the judge said of The Mustang: "An exceptionally fine newspaper. Clean and attractive, it is packed full of interesting reading. Excellent typography, lots of art, excellent editorial page."

The judge who awarded The Mustang first place in typography said:

"Three pictures, all fair to very good, showed a variety of activities — a play, a classroom, mural graphics. There was little variety in headline size, so editor made up for it by using a variety of head lengths. Attractive (flag or nameplate) had seasonal art — Canada geese in Thanksgiving issue. An easy winner."

For advertising, the judge said of The Mustang: "Gread ad sales effort. Some originality but too many business card ads. Wide variety of businesses represented. Excellent!"

The contest, supervised by Doug Johnson, advisor for Schoolcraft College's student newspaper, The Campus Globe, contained a total of 12 categories.

Hundreds of entries were reviewed by judges, who were:

Jack W. Hoffman, editor of The Northville Record, Best Newspaper category; Tim Richard, editorial director for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Typography; Judith Serin, science reporter for The Detroit Free Press, Newswriting; Cyndi Meagher, columnist for The Detroit News, Feature Writing-General; Barbara Hoover, entertainment writer for The Detroit News, Feature Writing-Personality Sketches;

Steve Barnaby, Farmington editor for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Editorial; Emory Daniels, community editor of the Plymouth Observer, and Elinor Graham, suburban life editor of the Plymouth & Canton Observer, Personal Columns; Tim Richard, Analysis, Interpretive, or Investigative Reporting, Joe Falls, sports columnist for The Detroit Free Press, Sports category and Sports Column category; Chuck Thurston, entertainment staff writer for The Detroit Free Press; and W. Edward Wendover, editor and publisher of the Plymouth Community Crier.

Thrown from car, he escapes death

A South Lyon man escaped probable death Thursday night when he was thrown from a speeding car as it flipped end-over-end down Seven Mile Road after hitting a driveway culvert.

Daniel H. Vogel, Jr., 19, 22850 Chubb Road, was released from St. Mary Hospital in Livonia on Memorial Day.

He was taken there after he was found lying next to a telephone pole about 35 feet from where his yellow Trans Am came to an upside-down rest across both lanes of Seven Mile Road just west of Beck.

Northville Township Police are still investigating the accident but a spokesman said it was unlikely that they could provide courtroom evidence that Vogel, the only known occupant of the car, was driving.

Witnesses said that the Trans Am had passed them at an estimated speed of "better than 100 miles per hour" prior to the crash, said police.

The driver apparently lost control of the car when it went off the road near the Thomson Gravel Pit.

The car slid sideways for about 150 yards as the driver tried to correct himself, according to police.

Then the Trans Am shot across to the other side of the road, struck the culvert head-on and began flipping back end over front end.

Vogel's life was probably saved when he was thrown from the car after it hit the culvert, said police.

The Trans Am came to rest on its roof and anyone sitting in the front seat would likely have been crushed, they said.

Writing-arts festival slated

According to its coordinator, Schoolcraft College's second Summer Writing and Arts Festival promises "activities for artists, writers and citizens of all ages."

That's the word from Arthur J. Lindenberg who has scheduled more than half a dozen new offerings for the writing and arts festival, July 3-28, on the Schoolcraft campus.

"In addition to writer's workshops, public poetry readings, and art exhibitions," Lindenberg said, "we are offering exciting things in theatre, basketry, photography, and printmaking."

"We'll also have a practicum in professional marionette theatre which I feel elementary teachers, especially, could find helpful."

The practicum will be taught by Raymond Masters from 6 to 10 Tuesday and Thursday evenings. It will cover the construction and design of wooden marionettes, including their balancing and stringing. A number of meetings will be held in Master's studio in Plymouth.

The basketry workshop meets from 6 to 10 p.m. on Thursdays and will be taught by Theresa Ohna. It will cover the making of reed, splint and Indian style coil baskets.

John Stehney will teach an advanced photographic techniques workshop which will meet from 6 to 10 Monday and 6 to 8 Tuesday evenings. Not a course for beginners, it will cover advanced concepts and procedures relating to film, composition and laboratory techniques.

In addition to those named, including festival coordinator Lindenberg who teaches fiction and poetry, the faculty consists of Daniel Minock, poetry; Deborah Richardson, poetry and fiction; Robert Dufort, graphics, and Bob Gregory, theatre.

Four artist and writers-in-residence have been announced for this summer. They are poets John Woods and Eric Greinke, photographer Lynwood Bartley, and artist Cynthia DeBolt.

Woods will lead a discussion and present a poetry reading at 8 p.m. July 10 and 12, respectively; Greinke will present a reading and lead discussion at 8 p.m. July 24 and 25.

Bartley will exhibit his photographs from July 10-13 in the Bradner Library. The library will also house an open exhibition for local artists from July 17-27.

Passersby failed to help

Several drivers stopped, rolled down their windows and gawked but did not offer any assistance while a young area man was being attacked by three motorcyclists 10 days ago.

The 22-year-old victim, whose identity is being withheld by police, was released from the hospital Friday after he was treated for a punctured lung.

He was stabbed twice in the side when a fight broke out after he stopped to aid a biker he had accidentally hit with his car.

The assault took place across the street from the Jokers motorcycle club which is on the Novi City side of Eight Mile Road, a few miles west of Northville.

"Men and women stopped and looked (at the fight) They rolled their windows down and gawked," said Northville Township Investigator Phil Presnell.

"He yelled for help, for them to call the police. As far as we know, nobody called any police department." Presnell has asked that any witnesses to the attack, which occurred shortly after 11 p.m. on Sunday, May 21, call him at 459-1700.

Police have a composite drawing of the man they believe did the stabbing and who is being sought on a charge of attempted murder.

They also have a sketch of a young woman sought as a material witness. They believe she is the person who struck the victim's wife when she came to the aid of her husband.

When the young man finally managed to elude his attackers, he and his wife managed to drive their car into the city where they flagged down a motorist who took him to the police.

He was in the hospital until Friday and now he is home recuperating, according to the Presnell.

"He'll be off work quite awhile," he added.

Although the incident happened outside their club while a party was going on inside, Jokers say neither they nor members of any of the half-dozen other clubs in attendance were responsible.

More likely, said a spokesman, it was the work of "civilians" attracted by the club's "open door policy" at parties.

The Jokers have a party scheduled for Saturday, June 24 at the clubhouse they have owned for nearly 10 years.

Northville Township Offices

Snow Pay Day

It was hot and sunny last week, and there were no traces of snow in Northville Township. Just the same, Township Supervisor Wilson Grier (left) was ready and willing to accept a check for snow removal. Presenting Grier with a

Vandy grant goes to Eltinge

John L. Eltinge of Northville is one of eight graduating high school seniors who have been awarded honor scholarships at Vanderbilt University's College of Arts and Science.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Eltinge, 45754 Fermanagh, he plans to major in physics at Vanderbilt.

The winners, announced by Jacques V. Voegel, dean of the college, will receive scholarships valued at $5,000 annually and renewable for four years.

Based primarily on academic excellence, the Harold Stirling Vanderbilt scholarships are given to students who have demonstrated, qualities characteristic of the late Mr. Vanderbilt, who served as president of the Board of Trust from 1954 to 1968.

Those qualities include "a lively intellect, sound scholarship, tenacity of purpose, versatility and commitment to excellence in worthwhile endeavors."

Township nixes water main bids

The Northville Township Board May 18 acted positively on a recommendation from the township water and sewer commission, rejecting a bid for installation of a 16-inch master metered water supply connection at the intersection of Five Mile and Sheldon Roads.

The water and sewer commission had expected bids on the project to come in at $90,000 or less. However, the sole bid received was for $117,900. It was the commission's recommendation that the bid be rejected and the township engineer be directed to explore alternative possibilities. Township board members concurred.

In related action, the board approved the purchase of a sewer cleaning machine for a price of $15,000. The machine is to be purchased from Jack Doherty Supplies, Inc., 19430 Gerald Avenue, Northville Township.

The board also approved a recommendation from the township planning commission, granting stage one preliminary plat approval to North Beacon Woods subdivision, a 166-lot development proposed on 83.6 acres south of Eight Mile Road and just west of the City of Northville.

Classroom for RV owners

Schoolcraft College will offer an introductory course on Recreational Vehicles for six Tuesdays beginning June 13.

Designed for new owners of camping and travel trailers, pickup campers, motor homes and other camping vehicles, the course will help people get better acquainted with their vehicles.

Instructor Ernie Hickman, a well-known writer and lecturer on RV's, will help participants learn new skills on June 13, 20 and 27. The class will not meet on July 4 when class members can try out their equipment. Campers then report back for July 11, 18 and 25 sessions to discuss their experiences.

Registration for families is $25 while the individual fee is $20. The class will meet in Room T-220 of the Applied Science Building near the north parking lot where participants can park and practice new skills on their vehicles.

Individuals may obtain registration or further information by calling community services at 591-6400, extension 409. Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF WAYNE

EDWARD REED and CAROL REED, his wife, all named plaintiffs and all others similarly situated, vs.
Defendant-Appellants.

Combined Notice of Pendency of Class Action and of Hearing on Proposed Settlement

TO: ALL PAST OR PRESENT MEMBERS OF KING'S MILL COOPERATIVE, a Michigan non-profit corporation who were subjected to an increase in their monthly carrying charges pursuant to "equalization".

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a Hearing will be held at 9:00 a.m. on June 30, 1978 (or at such adjourned time or times as the Court may, without further notice, direct), before the Honorable John M. Wise, Judge of the Circuit Court of the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, City-County Building, Detroit, Michigan to determine whether the Proposed Settlement in the case captioned, Civil Action No. 72 208 351 CZ should be approved and confirmed by said Circuit Court as fair, reasonable and adequate including provisions for attorney's fees and that a claim of appeal by the Defendant-Appellants be dismissed.

FURTHER NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that this action has been ordered to be maintained as a Class Action for the purposes of this Proposed Settlement for certain residents who were or are living in Phases I through VI of KING'S MILL COOPERATIVE, Northville, Michigan.

The rights set forth below only extend to proper members of the Class.

This Notice is sent to inform you of the designation of the Class and the Proposed Settlement of the Class Action litigation so that as a claimant you may make appropriate decisions on what procedure you may wish to take in relation thereto.

At the Hearing on the Proposed Settlement any member of the Class who has not requested exclusion therefrom as hereinafter provided may appear and show cause, if there be any, why the Proposed Settlement of the Class Action should not be approved as fair, reasonable and adequate thereby resolving all matters in controversy in accordance with the terms of the Proposed Settlement and/or why the claim of appeal by Defendant-Appellants should not be dismissed. No person shall be recognized or heard in the Class Action unless on or before June 26, 1978, a Notice of Intention to Appear, which shall include a statement of the basis for objection together with a Memorandum of Supporting Authorities is filed in the Class Action and received at the office of David R. Kratze, P.C., Suite 1218 Travelers Tower, 26555 Evergreen Road, Southfield, Michigan 48076, Plaintiffs-Appellees' counsel in said Class Action, and a copy to John F. Langs, Esquire, Schatzberg, Patterson & Langs, 42nd Floor, Penobscot Building, Detroit, Michigan 48226, Defendant-Appellants' counsel in the Class Action.

DEFINITION OF PLAINTIFFS' CLASS

The membership of Plaintiffs' class for purposes of this Agreement and the above entitled litigation, is hereby defined as including all current and former members of King's Mill Cooperative who occupied or are now occupying units located in phases or sections 1-6 of King's Mill Cooperative, Northville, Michigan provided that such occupancy occurred on or before November 30, 1977 and were subjected to an increase in their monthly carrying charges pursuant to the "equalization".

DESCRIPTION OF THE LAWSUIT PROPOSED TO BE SETTLED

On February 7, 1977, the Opinion of the Court was entered which found the policy of equalization "adopted by the Board of Directors of King's Mill Cooperative was totally inequitable". In an Order of Judgment entered May 19, 1977, the Court ordered that the Defendant-Appellants, through their Attorney, render an accounting disclosing for each unit a break-down of the carrying charges and the effect of "equalization" on each member, as well as, an accounting of each member's equity in the Cooperative. In addition, the Court ordered pecuniary damages of twelve thousand ($12,000.00) dollars against the individual Board members, jointly and severally.

POSITION OF DEFENDANT-APPELLANTS

The Defendant-Appellants contend that the original action of the Board of Directors was both fair and justified and that the increase in carrying charges imposed was neither inequitable nor illegal. They further contend that the accounting ordered by the Court would entail substantial and unnecessary expenses for accountants and clerical time which even if expended, would not provide any meaningful data. They also dispute the size of Plaintiffs-Appellees' class and assert that any reduction in that class would reduce the amount of any damages due under the Judgment. Defendant-Appellants also assert that because of the question as to the number of Plaintiffs' class, a final total liquidated judgment has not been rendered by the Court. Moreover, it is the belief of Defendant-Appellant that the action taken by the previous Board of Directors in adopting the challenged resolution helped eliminate the former vacancy problem and its resulting losses in income to the Cooperative thereby changing a large vacancy situation into a fully occupied status with long waiting lists of potential resident members with resulting benefits to the entire membership of all 455 units.

POSITION OF THE PLAINTIFFS-APPELLEES

Plaintiffs-Appellees have successfully garnished, and currently have in their possession three hundred twenty thousand ($320,000.00) dollars. In addition, pursuant to a Stipulation and an Order entered January, 1978 Plaintiffs-Appellees have a right to an additional thirty thousand ($30,000.00) dollars which is payable five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars per month. It is the belief by the Plaintiffs-Appellees that the filing of the lawsuit and the pendency of this cause and the removal of the previous Board of Directors has changed the Cooperative from a large vacancy situation to a fully occupied status with a waiting list of potential resident members. The benefits thus received so far have been expressed by way of a growing community and the tangible benefits that result thereby. Plaintiffs-Appellees contend that there are no proper grounds for Appeal and in the unlikely event of an unfavorable ruling by the Court of Appeals, the likely result would be a new trial which would involve additional legal expense of many thousands of dollars.

STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT

The following description of the terms of the Stipulation of Settlement is a summary only. Reference is made to the full text of the Stipulation of Settlement which is on file with and available for inspection at the Wayne County Circuit Court, as well as at the offices of King's Mill Cooperative and is available by writing counsel for Plaintiffs-Appellees at Southfield, Michigan. The Settlement Agreement provides for immediate payment of three hundred fifty thousand ($350,000.00) dollars from the Cooperative plus twelve thousand ($12,000.00) dollars in personal judgments for a total of three hundred sixty two thousand ($362,000.00) dollars and upon payment the judgment will be satisfied. Credit will be given for the monies currently in the possession of Plaintiffs-Appellees' Attorney. The total figure also includes an award of approximately one-hundred eighteen thousand ($118,000.00) dollars for attorney fees for the prevailing Plaintiffs-Appellees' attorneys plus further awards to be made by the Court for fees and costs. In addition, a maximum of seventeen thousand five hundred ($17,500.00) dollars has been allowed and paid as attorney fees to Defendant-Appellant's current counsel for their defense of this action. Defendant-Appellants have also paid former counsel substantial attorney fees and costs in this matter.

FILING OF PAPERS

No Class member will be heard and no papers submitted by or on behalf of any Class member will be received or considered by the Court at or in connection with the Hearing on Settlement except as the Court in its discretion may otherwise direct, unless the Class member desiring to be heard or to submit papers, files said papers with the Clerk of the Court and serves copies upon David R. Kratze, Esquire of David R. Kratze, P.C. at 1218 Travelers Tower, 26555 Evergreen Road, Southfield, Michigan 48076, Attorneys for Plaintiffs-Appellees and upon John F. Langs, Esquire at Langs, Schatzberg, Patterson & Langs at 42nd Floor, Penobscot Building, Detroit, Michigan 48226, Attorneys for Defendant-Appellants on or before June 26, 1978.

WAIVER OF RIGHTS TO RECEIPT OF ALLOCATED DISBURSEMENT SETTLEMENT

Any member of the Plaintiffs-Appellees' Class may elect to waive and relinquish all rights to the return or receipt of said member's allocated share of the distribution of the final settlement after deductions of costs, attorney fees and expenses provided for in the settlement or by Order of the Court. If a Class member elects to waive his or her right to receipt of disbursement, a Waiver and Affidavit form must be completed and returned to David R. Kratze, P.C. at 1218 Travelers Tower, 26555 Evergreen Road, Southfield, Michigan 48076 on or before August 30, 1978. Forms are available at the offices of the Attorneys for both parties. The waiver form will have to be signed by any member and his or her spouse, witnessed by two people and notarized.

ELECTION TO BE EXCLUDED FROM CLASS ACTION

Any member of the Class may elect to be excluded from the Class Action by executing and mailing a written request for such exclusion to the Clerk of the Court and the attorneys for the Plaintiffs-Appellees and Defendants-Appellants as follows:

1. James R. Killean, Clerk, Wayne County Circuit Court City-County Building Detroit, Michigan 48226
2. Langs, Schatzberg, Patterson & Langs John F. Langs, Esquire 42nd Floor Penobscot Building Detroit, Michigan 48226
3. David R. Kratze, P.C. David R. Kratze, Esquire 1218 Travelers Tower 26555 Evergreen Road Southfield, Michigan 48076

A request for exclusion must state the name and address of the person making the request; a specific request for exclusion from the Class Action; contain the caption of the case or be on a form which can be obtained at the office of either counsel. A member of the Class Action making a proper and timely request for exclusion, upon approval by the Court, will not be bound by any judgment entered in the Class Action and each opt out claimant will then only be able to pursue his or her individual claim. If a member of the Class who fails to submit a request for exclusion by noon, August 30, 1978, will be deemed a party to this Action and bound by the terms of any order or judgment in this Action including approving the Settlement Agreement for relief as to any claims which any member of the Class has against the King's Mill Cooperative or the named Defendant Board of Director members.

A member of the Class who has not requested an exclusion therefrom may (but is not required to) enter an appearance personally in the Class Action or through counsel. A member of the Class not appearing will have his interest represented by counsel for the Class.

Only 3 file for board in township

Unless there is a flurry of last-minute filing activity, the August primary election in Northville Township is likely to be little more than a formality.

With less than one week remaining before the deadline for filing nominating petitions, only three township board incumbents have filed so far — and no one has yet filed to oppose them.

Treasurer Richard Henningsen last week joined Supervisor Wilson Grier and Clerk Clarice Sass in filing nominating petitions for the August vote. All three are Republicans. The only other person to file petitions so far has been Township Constable James Schrot.

Deadline for filing nominating petitions is 4 p.m. next Tuesday, June 6. Petitions are available at the township hall, open from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. weekdays.

Persons wishing to file as Republicans must submit petitions bearing no fewer than 13 signatures and no more than 48. Those wishing to seek election as Democrats must submit petitions with a minimum of 50 signatures and a maximum of 76.

In addition to the positions of supervisor, clerk and treasurer, two other seats on the township board are up for election this year. James Nowka and Mark Lysinger currently hold two-year trustee positions but neither man has yet filed petitions to seek re-election.

Life-saving vials offered here

Someone in your home collapses and you've forgotten what medication is essential for the person's life.

If it happens you might look in the refrigerator for the clue.

That's the advice of the Northville city Fire Department which has launched a Vial-of-Life campaign here in cooperation with the Wayne County Office on Aging.

Public safety personnel see the program as the difference between life or death.

"The campaign is aimed at placing a 'Vial of Life' in the refrigerator in homes so that police officers, firemen or ambulance crews will have all the vital information at their fingertips," explains city fire department Captain Charles Gross.

The tiny vial will contain the medical histories of all residents in the home.

According to the ambulance company owner here, John Early, his crews often respond to situations where the person is unconscious or is suffering from a stroke and therefore unable to tell the emergency workers what they need to know.

Free vials are available at no cost, simply by telephoning the city hall, 349-1300. Township residents may contact the township hall at 459-1710.

"We think the 'Vial of Life' is so important we're not leaving it to the chance that residents will come in to pick up a vial. Where possible we'll deliver them," said Gross.

Firemen will point out the spot near the right, inside of the refrigerator where the vials should be placed for quick location.

Follow the signs and hold on tight

Pity the poor lost traveler along Eight Mile Road in Northville.

Depending on where he intends on going he might find himself driving straight up, straight down, straight ahead or straight into a church called "Randolph St." — if he's following the signs, that is.

The signs are those along a stretch of road between Taft and Griswold, strewn about as if something resembling a hurricane had visited the area.

In the mile-long stretch between Taft and Griswold, in fact, no less than 14 signs are noticeably bent, decapitated, toppled over or otherwise abused.

And that can make finding one's way around downright confusing for somebody unfamiliar with the area.

Imagine driving west on Eight Mile just west of Griswold, for instance. Just west of Griswold you'll encounter a sign that points towards Novi — which, if you really believe what you see, will send you knifing through a guard rail and plummeting some 20 feet down a grass embankment on the south side of the road. The sign has been ripped off whatever posts it once had and now rests comfortably against the north side guard rail.

It's hardly as befuddling, though, as the pair that stand — maybe teeter's a better word — on the west side of town.

Traveling east just after getting into the city you'll see two mangled signboards intended to clear up the problems caused by Taft, Eight Mile and Randolph Street all forking off in one area. Just try figuring out what they mean, though.

The leaning sign that warns travelers of an upcoming curve on Eight Mile, for instance, not only directs you the wrong way — it heads you straight into the ground.

That curve you're looking at, reads the other sign, is Taft Road, while Eight Mile is what you used to think was Randolph Street.

And what happened to Randolph?

Randolph, says the sign, is over to your right — yes, right in the parking lot there where the new church has been built.

Or how about the sad-looking pair at the corner of Eight Mile and Novi Road, on the center median there? The one facing south that reads "Do Not Enter" tilts crazily to the east while the other, a twisted post facing north and reading "No Turn on Red," leans the other way.

Use your imagination a little and you might see them as a pair of poor, long-lost drunks — and that, in fact, might be just who caused the signs to get that way.

Other signs along the stretch have been completely felled and some even stolen.

So what's causing all the dishevelment?

Some of it, obviously, is the work of careless drivers. Snow plows and cars out of control on icy roads have taken their toll, too.

But according to a spokesman for Norton Yard in Livonia, the branch of the Wayne County Road Commission responsible for maintaining most of the signs in that area, much of it's also due to vandalism.

"I know of cases where kids just pull up, put their bumper to it (the sign) and push until it goes over," he says. "I guess they don't have anything better to do."

The results are hundreds of ruined signs per year in the Northville area — and, for some people perhaps, a lot of confusion.

CITY OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the City Council of the City of Northville will hold a public hearing Monday, June 5, 1978, in the Northville City Hall at 8:00 p.m. to consider the adoption of an ordinance to grant to the Detroit Edison Company the right to transmission, transforming and distribution of electricity for public and private use, and to transact a local electric business within said City as follows:

TO ADOPT AN ORDINANCE TITLE VII, CHAPTER 10, OF THE CODE OF ORDINANCES FOR THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE AS FOLLOWS:

The City of Northville Ordains:
SECTION 7-1001 - Permission is hereby granted to THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY, a corporation organized and existing concurrently under the laws of the States of Michigan and New York, its successors and assigns, to construct, maintain and operate in the public streets, highways, alleys and other public places in the City of Northville, Wayne and Oakland Counties, Michigan, all needful and proper poles, towers, mains, wires, pipes, conduits and all such lines and other apparatus requisite for the transmission, transforming and distribution of electricity for public and private use, and to transact a local electric business within said City, subject, however, to all conditions and restrictions hereinafter contained.

Section 7-1002 - The conditions of the foregoing grant are as follows:

A. The grantee shall do no injury to any street, highway, alley or other public place, or to any shade trees, or in any manner disturb or interfere with any water or gas pipes, or with any public or private sewer, now or hereafter laid or constructed by any authorized person or corporation.

B. The City may, in its discretion, grant permission for the trimming of trees when necessary to make the lines safe and accessible, such trimming to be done under its supervision.

C. The construction of the said lines shall be in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Michigan Public Service Commission or its successor.

D. The said grantee, before entering upon any street, highway, alley or other public place for the purpose of erecting and constructing any poles, mains, wires, pipes, conduits, or other apparatus, shall in writing notify the City or its representatives of the proposed construction, and shall, if the City so requires, file with them a sufficient plan and specification, showing the nature and extent of the proposed erection and construction.

E. No street, highway, alley or public place shall be allowed to remain open or encumbered by the construction work of the said grantee for a longer period than shall be necessary to execute the said work, and the grantee shall at all times conform to all ordinances of the City, now or hereafter in force, relative to the fencing and lighting of obstructions and excavations.

F. The grantee shall save the City harmless from any judgment that may be recovered against the City by reason of the wrongdoing or negligence of the said grantee in the erection and maintenance of said poles, mains, wires and other apparatus or construction.

G. Said grantee, shall make due provisions upon five days notice in writing by raising its wires or otherwise, for the passage of any barn, building or other structure on or over any street, highway, or public place occupied by the mains, wires, poles and apparatus of said grantee.

Section 7-1003 - In consideration of the granting of this franchise grantee agrees that its rates and charges for electric service in the City of Northville shall not exceed its rates and charges for like service elsewhere in its service area, as evidenced by its uniform rate schedules at the time on file with and approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission. It is understood that the grantee is subject to regulation by the Michigan Public Service Commission and that any order, rule, or regulation by that Commission, or its successor, will prevail over any regulation herein contained or provided for in case of conflict.

Section 7-1004 - This grant shall take effect if said grantee shall, within fifteen days from the date of the passage of this Ordinance, file with the City Clerk its written acceptance of the terms of the same, and upon the confirmation of this grant, by the affirmative vote of a three-fifths majority of the electors of said City, voting thereon at a regular election to be held on Tuesday, the 8th day of August, 1978, as provided for by the Statutes and the State Constitution.

If not confirmed by the electors voting at said election, this Ordinance shall be null and void.

Section 7-1005 - This Franchise and Ordinance shall be and remain in force for thirty (30) years from and after the date of its confirmation by the electors of the City of Northville, Wayne and Oakland Counties, Michigan.

Section 7-1006 - Nothing in this grant shall be construed to alienate the title of the public in and to any street, highway, alley or public place or any portion thereof, neither shall anything herein be construed in any manner as a surrender by the City of Northville of its legislative power with respect to the subject matter hereof, or with respect to any other matter whatsoever; nor as in any manner limiting the right of the said City of Northville to lawfully regulate the use of any street, avenue, highway or public place within its jurisdiction.

SPEAKING
By BILL SLIGER

I'm not an expert on senior citizen complexes, but I've seen a number of fine facilities. Yet none can compare to Northville's Allen Terrace.

Barring possible labor disputes in the construction industry, Allen Terrace should be open for occupancy July 1.

Last week City Manager Steve Walters and I toured the nearly-completed project. He's been "mother-henning" it since ground-breaking about a year ago.

It happens that my mother resides in a similar apartment complex for senior-citizens in Battle Creek. So comparisons can be made on how Allen Terrace provides for the various accommodations that are so important to elderly people who may be experiencing apartment-living for the first time. For most, home has always been a house, a single-family dwelling.

Allen Terrace is a city of Northville development. It is not federally or state funded. Its rental income will finance retirement of building bonds. The city helped get the project started by acquiring the beautifully-wooded, hillside site, formerly the location of Eastlawn Convalescent Home.

Because the city's plans were not subject to outside agency scrutiny, attention to quality and local preference have taken priority over lowest price. Thus, it seems apparent to me at least, Allen Terrace has been constructed with the comfort and well-being of its residents in mind, and that it is being built to last for many generations.

Among the features at Allen Terrace that seem most impressive to me include:

- Security at the entrance. Visitors can gain entry to a small area outside the lobby where each of the 101 apartment units can be contacted by direct line. A television monitor connected to channel 3 of the resident's TV set reveals the identity of the caller, who may gain admission if the resident wishes to release the door lock.
- A patio on floor-level and balcony on upper-level apartment units.
- All apartment units have finished walls.
- Combination air conditioning and heating units have individual thermostatic controls for each room in all apartments.
- Sprinkler system throughout entire complex in case of fire.
- Emergency call activators in bedroom and bathroom of all apartments so that help can be summoned if needed.

—Conveniently located lounge areas on all floors for use by residents at any time and to provide extra space when visitors may crowd apartment.

—Beauty shop, laundromat, library and arts and crafts areas.

—Meeting area on main floor with attached kitchen facilities so that refreshments may be served.

Northville's Housing Commission conducted a survey prior to making plans for Allen Terrace. And the results indicated that most senior citizens in Northville who would wish to live in the proposed complex could afford to pay $225 per month.

While applications are still being taken (in case of last-minute cancellations), the 100 available apartments have been reserved. The 101st apartment will be occupied by a couple who will manage Allen Terrace. In addition a director of activities has been employed.

For those who may find the cost too high, a subsidy fund has been established. The city hopes that community residents will make donations to this fund. Some have already been received; others have indicated that contributions to Allen Terrace will be provided in their wills; other individuals and organizations have made donations for furnishings and other facilities at Allen Terrace.

Thus far less than 20 percent of the first residents of Allen Terrace have applied for subsidy assistance.

Another source of income that will help establish the Allen Terrace subsidy fund, says Manager Walters, will be the sale of three acres of land north of the complex that is not required. Presumably, it will be sold to a developer for multiple dwelling units.

Meanwhile, when the demand is sufficient and it is financially feasible, the city still retains enough land to add another 100 senior citizen apartments to Allen Terrace. Plans already provide for this addition along the rear portion rising to six floors.

It is interesting to note that the first residents of Allen Terrace will include perhaps five married couples, about 92 widows and only two or three widowers.

And I guess that ought to tell us guys something about our prospects for the future.

It's about 50 to one we'll never make it to Allen Terrace!

MRS. GUY BUNYEA

YES . . .

It's difficult not to at least sympathize with the idea of a strike after monitoring the plight of the American farmer over the past decades.

My husband and I love farming. We like to work in the soil. We used to have one of the largest farm operations in Wayne County, but each year it gets more difficult to make a living at it.

Ten years ago, all we did was farm, but in recent years we've had to diversify just to make a go of it. In the winter, we do some snowplowing and we also have a trucking operation, hauling gravel and bulldozing.

We used to milk cows but now we just plant cash crops. Farming is a risky business at best and the financial rewards aren't all that great.

For example, two years ago we had 700 acres of corn planted and the money we got for the corn wasn't even enough to pay for the fertilizer used to plant the corn. This doesn't even take into account the cost of rent, labor, gas, seed and insecticides.

We sympathize with the thought of farmers going on strike. Maybe something drastic like a strike would wake up America to the plight of the farmer. But we will be planting crops this year, although we're down to 120 acres of corn. We have to try to make a living.

Mrs. Guy Bunyea
Area farm wife

LESLIE STEELE-SMITH

NO . . .

I feel that farmers should not strike. One of the main reasons is the increase this will cause in the cost of living.

The cost of produce now is exceptionally high and the effects of the strike will drive them even higher. This will have an adverse affect on the total cost of living in the United States, since everyone needs the product that farmers produce.

Secondly, and probably the most important, is the fact that even in the United States and most assuredly in other countries there are people who are starving.

Farmers, in many cases, are plowing fields under because of the strike. These persons, "Everybody's bread and butter," have always before taken much pride in this responsibility.

This strike will also waste seed, fertilizer, man hours, etc. which affects other areas of our economy.

I can sympathize with the farmer who is trying hard to make a living and finding it difficult with high taxes and the spiraling cost of living, not to mention machinery and equipment.

However, I don't feel a strike is the answer. Because in order to help their situation, they need the income from production of crops.

By not producing them or plowing them under, they are not realizing this objective.

In fact, they are adding fuel to the fire that put them in this predicament in the first place... adding to the already out-of-hand cost of living.

COLUMN

Eileen Roddy, city clerk of Fenton, shares my fascination for tramping through old cemeteries. So it was natural, I suppose, that we would be introduced to each other as "cemetery freaks" during a Michigan Week dinner in Fenton last week.

During an ensuing discussion of our hobby, she mentioned that her great grandfather is buried in Northville. She had never visited his grave, however.

His name was Sylvester Babcock, she said, and he died in 1878.

Anyway, I offered to check the local cemetery records and to look for her grandfather's obituary in our newspaper. Having done this countless other times for other people, I should have known it wouldn't be easy.

There is no listing of his grave in Northville cemetery records and no obituary for Sylvester Babcock appeared in any of the editions of The Northville Record during the year 1878.

But as nearly always happens, I found some interesting things (perhaps uninteresting to others).

A letter to the editor was carried in the March 9, 1878 edition of the newspaper from Dr. W. J. Kendrick, a local physician who was attempting to dispel a rumor then circulating in the community.

It was carried under a small headline reading, "A different version to the Babcock opium story."

In his letter, Dr. Kendrick vigorously denied having administered too much opium and thus causing Mr. Babcock's death. He had been treating the patient for a "diseased hand," and, having "lanced" and "poulticed" it, the doctor had advised Mr. Babcock that he could, if he wished, place a few drops of opium on the wound to relieve the pain.

Dr. Kendrick claimed the wound was "discharging" and that therefore an insufficient amount of opium could have been absorbed through the skin to cause death.

News

From Lansing

By R. Robert Geake
State Senator

When the controversial lobbyist regulation bill was recently reported to the full Senate for debate, most Capitol observers predicted that the discussion would be heated, and they were right!

Initial debate on the bill, now known as Substitute Senate Bill 674, centered around proposed amendments relating to whom should be required to register as a lobbyist and report funds spent on influencing the outcome of legislation, and whether lobbyists should be allowed to make loans to public officials.

As reported from the Senate Judiciary Committee, the bill would have required all professional lobbyists who come in daily and direct contact with public officials to register with the state, and to file itemized reports on their expenditures every three months.

Under amendments narrowly adopted during debate on the bill, however, that provision was revised to require those who spend more than $1,000 a year lobbying to register and disclose their expenditures.

Like most controversial bills, the lobby reform bill itself has come in for some heavy lobbying. Representatives from the UAW, their retirees locals, and Common Cause have all been in my office this past week to urge adoption of their favorite amendments to the bill. Since membership in these groups is heavily dominated by the Democratic Party, Republicans are naturally suspicious and each proposed amendment is examined carefully for possible partisan advantage or disadvantage.

Proponents of one set of amendments argued that anyone who spends any funds in an attempt to influence legislation should be considered a lobbyist and required to register, with heavy penalties for failure to do so. This could cover everyone from the citizen who spends 15 cents for a stamp to tell me their views to the senior citizens association which spent many hundreds of dollars recently chartering buses to bring them to Lansing for Senior Power Day to lobby for more tax breaks and relief on utility bills for seniors.

Opponents have expressed fears that the views of people who are not really professional lobbyists, but who spend some money contacting their public officials, would be intimidated and stifled by the amendments.

The other set of amendments, which would have specifically prohibited personal loans from lobbyists to lawmakers, was defeated, much to the dismay of my Republican colleagues and I in the senate. We are of the opinion that public officials should be allowed, just like anyone else, to take out commercial loans from banks to purchase cars and so forth, but we believe personal loans from lobbyists to legislators should be prohibited as an obvious possible source of undue influence.

What are your personal goals and objectives as a member of the School Board?

1. Achieve community commitment to an agenda for district performance ("How good do we want our schools to be and what are we willing to do to get there?")

2. Establish clear lines of authority and communication.
3. Establish an effective system for performance evaluation of Superintendent, Administrative Staff, Principals and Teachers.

Discuss your opinion of the role of the School Board relative to the Administration.

The relationship between Board and Administration is defined by statute. The Board proposes policy and the Superintendent implements such policy.

- Responsibility of the Board is:
1. State District goals and priorities.
 2. Determine the job responsibilities of the administrative staff.
 3. Evaluate the performance of the superintendent.
 4. Review and approve district operating budget.

CBD improvement plan draws fire

To the Editor:

I have, for the past two weeks, been trying to understand why anyone would want to change the Northville shopping district. After talking to other residents of Northville I find I am hardly alone. It seems apparent to me that the only people who favor this new downtown renovation are the downtown merchants and the committee members who dream up these "New York City" ideas.

I feel that we have something in Northville which is quite unique; a thing of the past, a small town with a small town atmosphere. Northville is a highly sought after area so why is there always someone trying to make this like any other town, full of new malls, squares and shopping areas? It's quite obvious that other plans for similar additions haven't proven to be all that successful for Northville city or township. Haven't we learned anything from these mistakes?

If we go ahead and re-do downtown Northville and this re-decorating doesn't bring the anticipated revenue, then don't try to tell me that we taxpayers won't pay for that mistake. You want to have only 18 parking spaces on Main Street, saying we'll just have to walk a little further.

Well, what about the senior citizens of Northville. Do you think this will encourage shopping? I am hardly a senior citizen but I like the conveniences of parking close to the stores I am in. To park directly in front of the store I'm shopping in is my ultimate goal.

And you want to take our convenient parking lot and make a park. What makes you think anyone will use this park any more than the park behind the city offices? I'll agree the gazebo will certainly be utilized, and if you want to know what for, ask any Highland Lake resident about the parties in their now boarded up gazebo.

You want us to park in our lower level parking area while the farmers market is on the upper level. Do you think these patrons will walk through the market and go to "John's" for instance to buy produce? No, they'll buy from the market, and where is the added revenue for our own grocer?

Another possible change would be the elimination of the dime store. How can you do this to us? Even Twelve Oaks doesn't have a dime store. But, just think, it would help the sales at the T.G.Y. store, so there goes your potential shoppers and added revenue.

Northville has a reputation for ignoring the majority of the public and going through with these big ideas. This helps account for an almost vacant, unwanted shopping square, too many schools and a new defunct ESY program. These planning committees should spend more time trying to fill the now vacant front on Center Street (Jones Florist) and the Northville Square.

There's nothing wrong with the downtown shopping area; a lot of time and money has already been spent upgrading the appearance of the buildings and re-doing won't bring any more shoppers but may very well cause a loss.

Remember, any place can become a big city with the big city atmosphere but few places can be the quaint, small town of Northville. So, why not leave well enough alone. Leave your "New York City" ideas for New York City.

Story on bells, publicity lauded

To the Editor:

All of us in Great Lakes Regional Group of the American Bell Association sincerely appreciate the publicity you gave us.

We also appreciated the article you printed about the old American Bell & Foundry Company in Northville many years ago. I have sent the article to the editor of our Bell Tower and I'm sure it will be published when she has space.

We all especially enjoyed our meeting in Northville and hope to come back again.

Criticizes board on 2nd millage try

To the Editor:

It would appear that, either the Northville School Board does not hear, or refuses to believe what the taxpayers of the school district have said. When the voters turned down the recent millage request by a two to one margin, the Board promptly ignored what the voters said and scheduled another tax increase try for the June election. To add insult to injury, we are now getting the usual threats of the loss of sports, extracurricular activities, busing, etc. if we do not cave-in to the millage increase demand.

It seems that every millage increase requested has been asked in order to retain or to restore sports and extracurricular activities; however, soon after the election, the millage increase quietly turns into higher salaries and more administrators, and we are soon asked again to approve another increase in our taxes to fund the same programs we approved a year or two before. I, for one, am tired of this old horse manure, and would propose the following solution to the voters of the Northville School District:

First, we again turn down the millage increases requested on June 12, 1978. Second, we petition the School Board for a vote on millage increases earmarked and restricted to specific uses as follows:

- Sports, 0.5 mills, $87,000 revenue.
 - Extracurricular activities, 0.2 mills, $35,000 revenue.
 - Student supplies and books, 0.7 mills, $122,000 revenue.
 - Maintenance of plant and equipment, 1.0 mills, $175,000 revenue.
 - Music, 0.1 mills, $17,500 revenue.
 - Capital and equipment replacements, 0.5 mills, $87,000 revenue.
 - Total mills 3.0, total revenue $523,500.
- Third, we do not renew the three mills that will expire next year, but use the above earmarked millage items to replace that expiring millage. We could call it the "last time over the barrel election."

I can hear the screams from the School Board that we are taking away their ability to manage the finances of the school district, but that is the intent of the earmarked millage. I have come to the conclusion that school boards and politicians do not intend to use our tax money as we want it used, but rather they use our money as they believe it will best suit the needs of the bureaucratic system. The above proposal for earmarked millages will force big brother and big sister to use our money exactly as we want it used, or not use it at all.

The millage amounts above are only tentative, and will require study to determine the proper funding needs for each specific use; however, we have some time until the three mills expire next year. In the meantime, I do not intend to be stamped into approving a millage right now so that the School Board will have buckets of money to give everyone in the upcoming labor union negotiations. My own tax contribution to the school system is increasing 25 percent or 10 mills this year just from assessment increases, and I am going to vote no on any and all additional increases until those increases are earmarked for some pretty specific uses.

Word choice called sexist

To the Editor:

After reading the May 3rd article regarding the qualifications of the next Superintendent of the Northville Public Schools, the Northville's Women's Caucus protests the comment regarding the sex of potential candidates. While we appreciate the author's acknowledgement of Title IX issues, both the selection of pronouns and the specific comments regarding the likelihood of the appointment of a woman to the job of superintendent betray the cause of equal opportunity.

Since Title IX guidelines prohibit discrimination and to avoid perpetuating sex-role stereotypes, we will expect future articles to reflect a neutral viewpoint.

Sincerely yours,
The Women's Caucus

Charging that the rumor was being circulated in town "with a malicious intent," Dr. Kendrick concluded his letter, "I would also state that is is not from the friends of the deceased that these stories have been started, but from parties not at all connected with the family."

Since there was no first name mentioned in the letter, there was no way of knowing if it was Mrs. Roddy's relative.

But, in contacting the clerk, she exclaimed, "That's him! I have his death certificate and it lists his death as a suicide. But my grandmother (Mr. Babcock's daughter) always claimed it wasn't true... that he had died from taking too much pain medicine."

All of which confirms that the clerk's great grandfather did die in Northville, but where he is buried remains a mystery.

Besides the letter to the editor, The Record of that year contained a long front page story, datelined London, describing a fantastic but still experimental device that was drawing widespread public skepticism.

The device, suggested the article without indicating where or by whom it was being developed, might permit a person "to literally bottle a speech and reproduce it months hence..."

"We might conceive every house furnished with... drums and vibrating plates, each stored with some speech, the speaker of which has long since been dead," the article said, suggesting also that it was not altogether inconceivable that one day the voices of opera stars might be "bottled" for reproduction later.

That "vibrating diaphragm" is indeed bringing voices of the dead to life today, one hundred years later.

It was this invention in 1877 that first stamped Thomas Edison as a genius in the public mind.

It is attributed to Edison's acute powers of observation and deduction rather than to any set series of experiments.

He was tinkering one summer day with his 'automatic telegraph repeater,' when by accident he set the disk to spinning at high speed. He noticed a whining sound which seemed to rise and fall in direct relation to indentations on the disk.

An idea was born.

Edison drew a crude sketch of an odd looking instrument and gave it to one of his men to produce.

"What's it for, boss?" the workman asked. "Don't seem to make much sense."

Edison, who liked a touch of mystery, waved him away with his cigar. "You'll see when you bring it back. I think you'll be surprised."

Later, when the completed instrument was delivered, Edison stunned those around him by announcing, "This machine must talk."

Carefully wrapping a sheet of tinfoil around the cylinder, Edison placed the needle at the starting position, picked up the long mouthpiece and began turning the crank, reciting in a loud voice, "Mary had a little lamb/Its fleece was white as snow..."

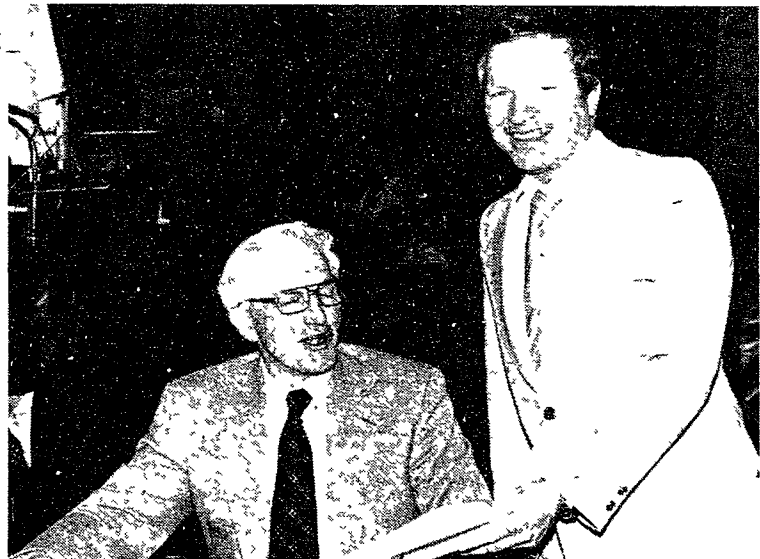

Upon completing the verse, he replaced the needle at the starting point against the foil and again turned the crank.

As the disbelieving workmen listened with Edison, an eerie voice came from the spinning cylinder, "Mary had a little lamb..."

The miraculous "talking machine," the phonograph, was born.

Word of advice

Newly elected State Representative Everitt "Abe" Lincoln, the junior member of the House of Representatives, (left) receives encouragement from State Representative Jack Kirksey (R-Livonia). Up until the time of Lincoln's election, Kirksey was the junior member of the House. He happily relinquishes that distinction and passes on his advice on how to cope with the new duties and responsibilities of representing the people. Both men were elected in special elections to fill vacated seats.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE
by Jim Roth

In 1861, a thirsty governor of California sent an ambitious Hungarian named Agoston Haraszthy to Europe to bring back cuttings from the famous European vineyards for transplanting in California. Haraszthy was chosen because he had established a reputation for himself as a winemaker by his wines from the Sonoma Valley. So Agoston went and brought back one hundred thousand cuttings, of fourteen hundred varieties. They were all neatly labelled and packaged. But the Civil War had come to the US and people were not interested in wines. Haraszthy and his sons tried to plant as many as the vines as they could throughout California, but were unable to keep track of them all.

We are able to bring you a complete choice of fine wines from the United States and Europe. Before you buy any stop by and see us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. We give a 10% discount off of our already low prices for wine purchased by the case. Open: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m.-10 p.m.; Sun. Noon to 6 p.m.

Breezing through Northville on a song and a dance

Diane Kleckner and Brian Odom didn't go through Northville High School on a song and a dance. But they could have.

Music is definitely in the blood of the valedictorian and salutatorian for the class of 1978.

Diane, the valedictorian, is a member of both the choir and the marching band and an avid jazz and tap dancer. Ditto for Brian who has been a band student for his entire six years at Northville and hopes to continue in college.

But there the similarities end. Diane, the daughter of Luther and Shirley Kleckner, 1056 Allen Drive, will study agriculture and natural resources at Michigan State University next fall which, she says, will prepare her for a possible wildlife management career and a short jaunt in the Peace Corps. Brian, the son of Howard and Nancy Odom, 797 Springfield Drive, is looking south to Ann Arbor where he plans to study business and law at the University of Michigan. The top honor students aren't rigidly set in their ways, however. Both want to test the waters a bit before making career commitments. "I want to try the different programs (at MSU) to see what interests me," says Diane. "I haven't decided where I fit in." Joining the Peace Corps after college is an "idea that just came to me a couple of years ago." After that, though, she is uncertain. She has been interested in animals for a long time, but "cleaning cages and barns" discouraged her from becoming a veterinarian. Since her family moved here when she was four, she has been in the Northville Public School system from start to finish. The system has been good for her partly because "I've had my own motivation. Even if I have a teacher I don't like, I'll study in spite of it." One of her favorite classes was a course in human physiology taught by John Edwards. Active in several clubs and a participant in a couple of high school plays, Diane is also a member of the high school choir which is probably in its last year. That's too bad, she says, because the "talent in the school is there. But it's being run by band teachers and a lot of kids take elective classes like choir just so they can get easy credit." She would like to see more support given to the entire music program from elementary grades on up. Brian Odom would definitely second that motion. Even though he is opting for law and business studies, he plans to try out for the Michigan marching and jazz bands as a freshman. "U of M is in the family," he says in explaining his college choice. And his father's CPA work triggered his interest in the business world. "He handles finances and I like that," says Brian. "I would really like to handle a business' finance." In light of the drastic cuts ahead should a June millage issue fail, Brian itches to get a look at the school district's books. "I'd like to see how they manage the money." Brian, who spent three of his elementary school years at the private Roepers school, had generally good things to say about the Northville system. "I like the teachers," he says. "They are easy to get along with. Most all of them know their stuff." But the outlook for next year has got a lot of students worried, he adds. Because students may be limited to only five class choices, they will have to sign up for the required basics and pass up desired electives. "It's a subtle way of dropping art and band," he says. Both students will address their classmates during commencement exercises on June 8.

Honors Convocation fetes seniors

The mother was pleased when her son received an invitation to tonight's (Wednesday's) Honors Convocation at Northville High School. But, knowing his grades weren't that high, she was also perplexed. "It's something I've always hoped for," she said. "But I know there must be some kind of mistake."

There wasn't. Her son and along with about 160 other seniors and a handful of undergraduates will gather at the high school auditorium at 7 p.m. to receive a host of awards. Many indeed will have sparkling academic records. All seniors who have compiled a 3.0 ("B") or better average will be honored. So will students who scored well on a variety of competitive tests including the ACT, the National Merit and the Michigan Competitive Mathematics exams. But scholastic achievers are not the only ones in the spotlight. Recognition is also awarded to students who have captured art, music and writing awards. All in all, the Honors Convocation is one of the high school's most successful events and one of the top public relations tools for the school district. In recent years, the number of students and parents attending the pre-convocation banquet has strained the capacity of the cafeteria. But when someone suggested last year that the banquet be dropped, howls of protest from proud parents quickly quashed the idea. This year, organizers hope they have reached an acceptable compromise that, they say, may even be an improvement. Instead of a big dinner before the convocation where everyone is cramped and somewhat ill at ease, a buffet will be served following the ceremonies. At that time, so the theory goes, people will be excited about the awards and the set-up will encourage more conversation among students, parents and teachers. Also, while the students did not have to pay for the banquet, their parents did and the cost was rising steadily. There will be no charge for the buffet. The Northville High School jazz band will begin playing at about 7 p.m. with the award presentations beginning about 30 minutes later.

Wayne County gradually phased out its usage of the Child Development Center property, finally abandoning it in 1973. The land has been proposed for a number of uses since then, including a controversial proposal which would have seen it developed as a state prison.

The $137,900 allocated to the township last year under the federal Block Grant program has been earmarked for construction of a township library until late last year, when township residents strenuously objected to dissolution of the present, jointly-operated, city-township library.

Township board members abandoned plans to construct a separate library after residents objected and the City of Northville offered to construct a new facility for joint library operations. The sewage system for Park Gardens was set as top priority earlier this year when the township board picked projects to submit for the next fiscal year's Block Grant program. According to Grier, the $127,900 will be used to defray cost of the initial planning and construction of the Park Gardens system. More money will be needed to complete the system, Grier said, adding that indications are the township may receive an additional $89,900 in Block Grant funds later this summer to apply to the Park Gardens project. Total cost of the sewage system, Grier estimated, may run above $400,000. The supervisor also said the township may receive another $10,000 this summer to spend on a review of the township master plan. Official dispersal of this year's Block Grant funds is to take place July 1, Grier said. The Park Gardens project was set as top priority earlier this year after the board heard horror stories about present septic conditions in the subdivision. Hopes are that a sewer line can be run from Park Gardens east along Five Mile and then south along Haggerty, joining a Plymouth Township interceptor to the Rouge River.

Selling school's land won't help, says Spear

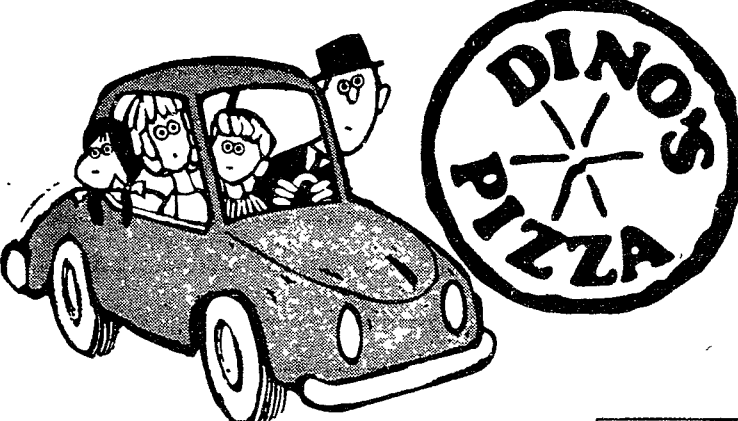

Continued from Page 1 An eventual student population only half that large would still be more than twice the 4200 now attending Northville schools, he said. Even without growth, he added, the present high school is 20 years old and will have to be replaced someday. "There is no question in my mind that the day is going to come when this district is going to need a new high school," said Spear. "When that day comes, we'll have a site." Spear also criticized Grier's estimate that the land was worth about $7000 an acre. "I wouldn't recommend that the board sell for $7000 an acre when we paid $6000 or more an acre," he said. Likewise, Spear said the Main Street school board building — which Grier also wants sold — was worth far more than the "in excess of $100,000" cited by Grier in his letter. "The building was appraised in 1969 at between $400,000 and $500,000," said Spear. The former recreational building now houses the district's central office administrators and staff. By the end of the year, these operations will move to the nearby and unused Main Street Elementary School. Spear found it "ironic" that Grier would suggest the sale, since the building's future use now hinges on the Northville Recreation Commission, a joint city-township venture. Once the administrators move out, the school district is willing to lease the building to the commission for a dollar, said Spear.

Mankind's walk is Saturday

Continued from Page 1 families throughout the United States and other parts of the world. Participants may, if they wish, earmark up to 20 percent of the money they earn for charities and organizations of their choice. For example, a group of local youngsters will be contributing part of their earnings to the United States Olympic team. Participants earn their money by obtaining sponsors who agree to pay a specified amount of money for each mile walked by the participants of their choice. Most of the participants already have secured their sponsor forms. The walk will get underway a little earlier this year than in previous walks "because many wanted to finish earlier," explains Dawson. Exact route of the walk will not be disclosed until the morning of the walk for safety reasons. It will cover both the city and the township of Northville. Jaycee representatives, Northville Mayor Paul Vernon, and other officials will lead the army of participants over the first mile of the walk to the first check-point station at Northville's historic well near the Ford Motor plant. Even before the group reaches the first check-point, however, one group of participants will have already passed that point. These are representatives of Northville's track team, says Dawson. They plan "to run or jog the entire 30 kilometers." City and township police will patrol the route as will members of the Northville CB Club, which will provide communication for supervising Jaycees. Their vehicles will be identified. A surprise "Super Star" of television or recording fame will appear along the route, according to Dawson. Two physicians will be stationed at key points along the walk's route to administer first aid if necessary. Several of the check-points will provide foot-powder and bandages for blisters. Check-point stations also will provide refreshments. Mid-way through the walk the Jaycees and Jaycettes will serve a light lunch for participants. Among the groups sponsoring check-point stations are: Northville City Council, Northville Kiwanis Club, Northville State Police Post, Schoolcraft College Student Activities, Northville Township, League of Women Voters, Civitan Club, Lexington Commons Association, Explorer Scouts, and the staff of State Representative Jack Kirksey. Co-chairpersons of the walk are Jaycee David Llewellyn and Jaycette Rose Zapke. Dawson explains that Project Concern is a publicly supported tax-exempt international health care organization which operates 38 hospitals and clinics at home and in five other countries on behalf of the most desperately needy people of the world. Headquartered in San Diego, California, Project Concern staffs medical and dental clinics in Appalachia and on the Navajo Reservation in eastern Arizona and northwestern New Mexico. Major facilities also operate among those of desperate need in Hong Kong, Bali, Guatemala, Mexico, and Bolivia.

Softballers' upset bid falls short in pre-districts

Northville lost its first-round game of the 1978 Class A state softball tournament last Friday.

But oh, how they tried. And oh, how close they came to pulling off a major upset.

Scrapping right down to the final out, the host Mustangs suffered a 4-3 defeat at the hands of powerful Ann Arbor Pioneer. Pioneer sported an 11-3 record against strong Class A competition going into the game, and even coach Mary Minor had acknowledged beforehand that Northville's chances of winning seemed slim at best.

For six innings, though, it was Northville that looked the part of favorites.

Thanks to a brilliant pitching performance by Julie Abraham and a bit of timely hitting in the second inning the Mustangs never trailed until the final inning, when Pioneer scored three times to overcome a 2-1 deficit. And even then the local girls wouldn't fold.

Northville jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the second. Julie McDaniels led off the inning by reaching base on an infield error. Subsequent singles by Nancy Schalachter and Kathy Phillips pushed both runs across.

The Ann Arbor Club's only run — and its only hit in the first six innings, for that matter — came in the fourth on a two-out single followed by three infield errors by Northville.

The roof fell in in the top of the seventh, though Pioneer opened the inning with four straight solid hits, sending home three quick runs, before Abraham got the next two batters to pop out. Outfielder Chris Suddendorf then made a sensational running catch of a fly ball down the leftfield line to prevent any further damage.

The game was far from being over, though. With two outs and the score 4-2 in the last of the seventh Kim DeRusha, pinch hitting for Phillips, hit a ground single to left. She went to second on a passed ball and scored on a base hit by Kim Kurzawa before a pop out ended the threat and Northville's hopes for a major upset.

Abraham was almost flawless through the first six innings, giving up just one hit and retiring the first eight batters she faced in order. Eight Pioneer hitters, though, reached base on errors, although the fourth inning was the only time the visitors were able to capitalize.

Abraham gave up only one walk in the game — a sixth-inning pass that loaded the bases with one out. A force out from shortstop Susie Heinzman to Schlachter at the plate and a fly out to center ended that threat, though.

For its part Northville scrounged up seven hits, Kurzawa led the attack with three singles while Schlachter, Abraham, DeRusha and Sheri Metz chipped in one apiece.

The Mustangs wound up their season with an 8-6 record overall, 6-4 in the Western Six.

Harrison win is track squad's third straight

A dual meet track season that started anything but bright ended on a high note for Northville's boys last Tuesday.

Exhibiting some of the depth they'd been lacking earlier in the spring, the Mustangs romped to a 100½-54½ victory over Farmington Harrison. The win was Northville's third straight in Western Six dual meet action after a pair of early losses to Waterford Mott and Livonia Churchill.

Coach Ed Gabry's squad won only nine of 16 events against Harrison, but picked up second places in 12 of the meet's 13 individual events and had six third-place and eight fourth-place finishes.

John Monagle and Ray Coram were both double winners for the Mustangs. Monagle won the 880-yard run in 2:02 and the mile in 4:48 while Coram paced the long jumpers with an 18'3¼" leap and took the 220 in 24.0.

Rob Burnham (pole vault), Myles

Couyoumjian (100-yard dash) and Tim Ellis (shot put) also nabbed first in individual events while Northville's 440 and 880 relay teams added two more victories.

The big difference in the meet, though, was the Mustangs' abundance of second-place finishers. Among them were Steve Jensen (pole vault), Brian Prom (long jump), Bob Crisan (high jump), Brian Turnbull (two mile), Tom Doyle (one mile), Rob Marzonie (low and high hurdles), Harry Couyoumjian (880 run), Jim Weston (440), Andrew Walsh (100-yard dash), Myles Couyoumjian (220) and Ellis (discus).

Third-place finishers for Northville included Coram (low hurdles), Crisan (high hurdles), Prom (440), Dan Troher (220) and Luigi Folino (discus and shot put).

The victory left the Mustangs with a 3-2 record in Western Six dual meet competition going into this afternoon's league meet at Farmington Harrison.

227 N. BARNARD, HOWELL, (517) 546-9320Finish league slate unbeaten*Netters blank Harrison, WesternThe Mustangs are as ready as they'll ever be for this afternoon's Western Six tennis meet on Northville's home courts.Bouncing back from a disappointing third-place showing at the regionals the weekend before, the local netters finished off their dual meet season with 7-0 victories over league foes Farmington Harrison and Walled Lake Western last Monday and Tuesday.That gave Northville a perfect 10-0 Western Six record for the third straight season and stretched the team's unbeaten streak to 38 meets dating back to early 1975, when they lost to Waterford Mott.The Mustangs went three sets only once in both meets, with Lance Carter somewhat struggling at third singles against Harrison and first doubles partners Steve Pyett and Steve Laffler going the route against Western.

Northville wound up with a 16-1 overall record in dual meets this spring, the only loss coming to Class B powerhouse Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook
(5-2) last month. Over the past three years the Mustangs have a remarkable 47-2 dual meet record under coach Bob Simpson."It's been a good season," the veteran coach said of this year's team, but warned of a letdown in the league meet."We can't lay our rackets on the court now," he said. "We have to be ready, because it's still possible for somebody to nose us out for the title."Northville's closest challengers are Harrison and Livonia Churchill. Both have 7-3 Western Six records and both have lost twice to the Mustangs this season by lopsided margins.State Farm rebounds for 3rd straight winState Farm, which won the local National League men's softball title a year ago with a 17-1 record, is off and running again in its attempt to capture the American League crown this season.Led by Ted Gores and Dan Delaney the local sluggers cruised to their third straight victory without a loss last Monday, beating the Cyclones 17-11.After falling behind 10-3 in the first four innings the winners exploded with rallies of four, four and six runs in their last three chances for the win.Gores had four hits in the game, including a two-run triple in the team's clutch six-run seventh inning, while Delaney added a pair of doubles and a single. Bobby LaPlante had three hits and Cliff Griggs a three-run first-inning homerun for the Cyclones.The Village Blues, meanwhile, opened defense of their 1977 American League championship with a 21-7 victory over Kountry Katerers. Jerry Dettler and Gary Winemaster led the winning effort with four hits apiece.Dettler had five RBI's and Winemaster four as the Blues slammed six round trippers in the game — two by Winemaster and one each by Dave Conlin, Todd Eis, Tom Eis and Dettler. BobMcGuire and Tom Folino topped the losers with two hits each.Winner's Circle remained the league's only other unbeaten club with a 13-8 victory, its second straight, over Rizzo Real Estate. Jim Hostetler had three hits and five RBI's to pace the Circle, which exploded for six-run rallies in the second and fifth innings.
Gary Lisowski cracked a two-run homer and a run-scoring single for Rizzo.In other American League action last week Sheehan's-On-The-Green, sparked by Larry Pink's six hits in two games, rebounded from a pair of season-opening losses with victories over Spicer Tool (13-12) and Kountry Katerers (20-10); Jim Long went 5-for-5 and Sam Pink and Doug Anglin added three RBI's each to lead Zayti-Long to a 15-12 win over Cap 'n' Cork; Little Caesar's, getting three hits each from Rick Hunter and Mike Leahy, survived a nine-run last-inning outburst by Jim Storm Insurance for a 13-12 triumph; and Spicer romped to a 24-14 win over Zayti, with Joe Bishop cracking five hits and Mark Richmond adding four hits and four RBI's.G League contenders fall, Dodgers take 1stTwo teams were toppled from the ranks of the unbeaten in G League junior baseball action last week, leaving the Dodgers as the only club still sporting a perfect record.Sparked by John Marc-Anderson's 3-for-3 effort and a five-run outburst in the fifth inning the Yankees upset the Pirates 6-4 last Monday, handing the Pirates their first loss in five games.The Pirates had a 2-1 lead going into the bottom of the fifth but the Yankees, powered by Scott Swienkowski's run-producing triple, overcame the deficit and went ahead 6-2. The Pirates scored their last three runs in the sixth, two on a triple by Tim Ruffing.Four days later it was the Pirates playing the role of spoilers in a 10-5 triumph over the Cubs, the Cubs' first loss in four games this season.Tim Clark's three-run first inning triple got the Cubs off to a quick 5-0 lead.
Pirate pitchers Rich Van Buren and Tim Ruffing handcuffed the Cubs on just one hit in the last five innings, though, while their own team erupted for 10 runs. Frank Meyers had three doubles in three at-bats to pace the winners' hitting assault.Earlier in the week the Cubs had won their third straight game with a 21-10 thrashing of the Reds. Tom Ross went 3-for-3 and had four RBI's while Tim Clark had a double, a single and four RBI's to pace the winners. Billy Herguth had two hits in two at-bats to lead the Reds.The Dodgers, meanwhile, picked up their fifth and sixth straight victories of the season, beating the Mets 14-8 on Tuesday and the Indians 18-8 Saturday.

In Tuesday's contest Cam Ramsey sparked a four-run first-inning rally by the Mets with a three-run homer. The Dodgers, though, retaliated with three of their own, two on a fence-clearing blast by Paul Havalala, to stay within range and eventually win.Four days later Ramsey again starred for the Mets, this time belting a two-run double in the top of the seventh to lift the Mets to a 7-5 extra-inning victory over the Yankees. The hit was Ramsey's fourth of the game, and it was his third double.The Mets had trailed 5-1 going into the sixth, but erupted for four runs to tie the game and send it into overtime.
In one of the top pitching performances of the week Tim Blanchard and Jered Cole combined for a one-hitter to lead the Astros to an 11-1 victory over the Phillies Wednesday. Ron Lisowski blasted two homeruns, a triple and seven RBI's to pace the Astros' hitting assault.Three days later the Phils suffered their fourth loss of the year when the Giants, powered by Steve Smith's three hits, including a three-run triple in the first, romped to a 12-6 victory. Kelly Bell went 3-for-3 for the Phils.The win was the Giants' third of the week. Earlier they'd beaten the Padres 4-2 and the Cardinals 12-7.In the latter game Greg Wendel smashed a grand slam to cap a five-run rally in the first, helping the Giants

Lance Carter won three-setter against Farmington Harrison

Third baseman Jeff Norton (10) catches Southfield player in a rundown as catcher Jim Behen (1) and pitcher Tim Doyle (13) look on

No-hitter downs Mustangs

They call it a manager's nightmare. Northville, despite getting 13 free passes to first base, went down to defeat without even a squeak in last Friday's Class A pre-district baseball opener against Southfield. Southfield pitcher Dave Smith, you see, threw a no-hitter at the Mustangs, going all the way in a 10-2 victory.

"I couldn't believe it," a disappointed coach Bob Kucher said afterwards. "We had more than enough opportunities for scoring, especially early in the game, but we just didn't hit the ball. I felt if we could've just moved the ball around a little we might've won it."

As it was, though, Northville managed to get only four balls in fair territory all afternoon. Smith struck out 12 and walked 11 while hitting two batters for the win. He gave up at least one walk in every inning.

The Mustangs' only runs came in the first and fourth innings. They tallied one in the first on a double steal after Jeff Norton had led off with a walk and gone to third on a stolen base and passed ball while Dan Thomas was hit by a pitch.

The other came in the fourth when Don Borthwick walked, stole second, advanced to third on two more walks and came home on a wild pitch.

Southfield, meanwhile, picked up eight of its runs with four-run rallies in the fourth and seventh innings and added single tallies in the fifth and sixth.

Mike Lauck took the pitching loss for Northville, going three and two-thirds innings and giving up four runs. Tim Doyle went the rest of the way, allowing six runs in three and a third innings of work.

The Mustangs wound up with a 5-12 overall record this season, losing their last 10 games in a row after getting off to a 5-2 start.

Girls lose

Northville's girls finished a winless Western Six dual meet track season with a 77-57 loss at Farmington Harrison last Thursday.

Lissa Carter was the team's only double champion. She won both the long jump and low hurdles while placing second in the 220 and fourth in the 100-yard dash.

Northville's other victories were posted by Yvonne Swayze in the shot put, Lisa Youngquist in the discus, Michelle Moulds in the 880 and Kristy Iversen in the mile.

Among the squad's second-place finishers were Audrey Reigner (high jump), Ericka Smith (shot put), Laura Willoughby (two mile), Lisa Moulds (880), Ann Dayton (440) and Swayze (discus).

Other Northville girls who placed in the meet were Liz Pixley (third in the low hurdles, fourth in the long jump), Maureen Settles (fourth in the shot put), and Mary Dooley (fourth in the 440) and Chris Vanderwouw (fourth in the mile).

Athlete of the week

Tennis tourney is next week

Schoolcraft College will host its fourth annual open tennis tournament between June 8 and 11 on campus. Matches will be played between 6 and 10 p.m. June 8 and 9, and from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Singles and doubles competition for men and women are available. Entries, due next Monday (June 5) are $5 for singles and $7 for doubles teams. Registration materials are available by calling 591-6392 or 591-6400, extension 409.

Register for Colts

Registration applications for the 1978 Northville-Novi Colts, a member of the Western Suburban Junior Football League, are now available. Final registration will take place June 17, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the Our Lady of Victory social hall in Northville.

The Colt program is open to all boys aged nine through 13 in the Northville, Novi and South Lyon areas. The cut-off date for age determination is September 1, 1978.

For further information and registration forms contact Bill Greer at 349-8231 or Howard Schrack at 348-9283.

G League round-up overcome a 3-0 deficit and giving them a lead they never relinquished. Doug May had a two-run double to spark the Cards' three-run first-inning outburst.

In other G League action last week the Astros nipped the Reds 7-6, the Padres trimmed the Indians 10-7, the Phils clipped the Braves 6-4 and the Padres blanked the Braves 5-0.

KIM KURZAWA

Northville's softball squad almost came away with an upset victory over Ann Arbor Pioneer in its pre-district opener last Friday, and much of the credit goes to Kim Kurzawa. Kurzawa, a sophomore, had three of the Mustangs' seven hits in the game and almost rallied them back from a 4-2 deficit in the bottom of the seventh. Her two-out single knocked in a run, cutting Pioneer's gap to one, and kept Northville's hopes alive.

Northville Lab's in groove again

Northville Laboratories looks ready, willing and able for a shot at its third straight women's softball title this year.

Despite a late rally by the Thunderbird Flyers last week the defending local champs, formerly called Casterline, hung on for an 18-14 victory, their 25th in a row over the past three seasons. The win left them tied with Wishing Well Manor and the Choo Chooettes atop the women's league, all with 2-0 records.

Northville lab stormed to a 17-1 lead in the first three-and-a-half innings of last Tuesday's game before the Flyers caught fire, getting 10 runs in the bottom of the fourth and three more in the fifth to close the scoring.

Louise Hopping cracked four hits and Renee Letarte and Eve Williams three each while Denise MacDermaid blasted a pair of homeruns to lead the winners. Debbie Hohnke, Sue Booth, Terry Stevenson and Marlene Taylor paced Thunderbird with two hits apiece.

In other women's action last week Wishing Well, sparked by Diane Townsend's three hits and an 11-run fourth inning, roared past Alhambra 25-7; the Choo Chooettes parlayed Betty Kemp's four hits and a nine-run first inning into a 20-9 victory over Suburban Communications; and Dave's Trim Shop dumped Nichols Realty-Saints 23-1, with Vicki Morland and Pam Socrant both going 4-for-4 at the plate for the winners.

Big meets are today

League meets take place this afternoon in three sports for Northville athletes.

The Mustangs, coming off their third consecutive season without a loss in conference competition, will host the Western Six tennis championships beginning at 8:30 a.m. on the local courts. Finals will start at about 2:30 p.m.

All matches except the first two rounds of doubles play will take place at the high school courts. The doubles matches will be held at the Fish Hatchery.

Both track squads will take to the road for their league get-togethers. The boys will compete at Farmington Harrison, with field events scheduled to start at 3:30 p.m., preliminaries for running events at 4:30 and finals at 7.

The girls will be trying their luck at Walled Lake Western. Field events there are slated for 3:30 p.m. while pre-lims for running events get under way at 4:30 and finals at 6.

At Schoolcraft

Tennis classes open

Schoolcraft's summer tennis program is underway at the local college.

Classes are being taught by Pat Page, a Schoolcraft graduate who currently attends the University of Detroit on a tennis scholarship and has been a local instructor for five years.

In addition to group classes which begin the week of June 18, Page hopes to develop a new junior excellence and travel team. The team will provide an opportunity for high school tennis players to improve their game by meeting and experiencing consistent area competition.

Page also plans to schedule special one-day clinics covering techniques like the two-handed backhand, serving and how to play doubles successfully. Private lessions will be available as well and can be arranged on an individual basis. For further information call the tennis house

Golfers get early aces

Brooklane Golf Course recorded its first hole-in-one of 1978 last Tuesday (May 23).

Sandra Nielsen, a Dearborn resident, used a six-iron to ace the par three 152-yard first hole. It was her first hole-in-one in five years of golfing.

George Purcell, who lives at 44855

Thornapple in Northville, aced the 148-yard third hole at Travis Pointe Country Club in Ann Arbor last Tuesday (May 23).

Purcell used a seven-iron to get his first hole-in-one in five years of golfing and the second at Travis Pointe this spring.

Gifts to increase your pleasure while we increase your wealth.

We're having a little celebration to mark the announcement of two new First Federal savings plans—our Six Month (26-Week) Investment Certificate Savings Account and our Eight-Year 8% Certificate Savings Account.

It's a party where everything is for you. You get to learn about these two new accounts, as well as all the other First Federal Cash-MasterSM Savings Accounts, and you also get to choose a gift (free or at substantial savings) when you make a qualifying deposit to any First Federal Savings Account.

We think you'll be very pleased with the selection of stylish luggage. There's a complete assortment to choose from, including overnights, weekenders, even month-longs. We're sure you'll enjoy using these bags.

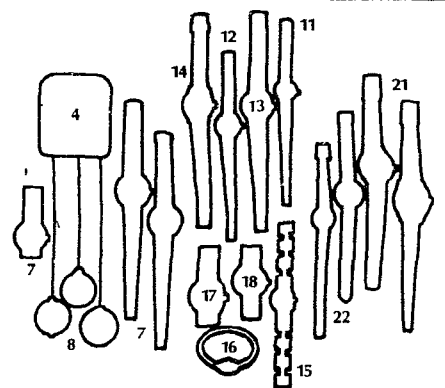

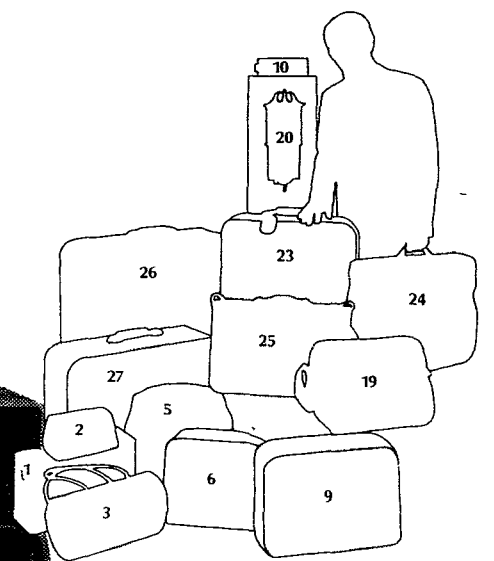

And to make sure you get to the airport or grandma's house or wherever on time, we also have a wide selection of fine watches in a wide range of styles, including men's, women's, goldtone, silvertone, wrist models, pendants, even one for your suitcase.

So check the gift chart to see how easily you can get one of these fine gifts. And check the savings rate chart to see how you'll benefit by having a savings account at First Federal.

We know what money is for.

New Northville course fills classroom gaps for 150 bright kids

The inquisitive child who follows every "because" answer with another "why" question poses a dilemma for the public school teacher.

Tailoring a class to meet only the intelligent student's needs is unfeasible because the rest would be left behind. But the standard fare often leaves the bright child bored, frustrated and often beset with the idea that somehow he or she doesn't fit in.

"The majority of dropouts have high IQ's. We're losing our top kids, not the one on the bottom," says Rosemary Rondello, coordinator of Northville's fledgling Academically Talented Program.

Many of these students find no challenge or stimulus in school, she says. Furthermore, some discover that being an intellectual cut above their classmates can put them out of step with the social mainstream.

A classic example is the Northville girl who was suspended for smoking. She has an asthma which prevents her from inhaling tobacco, but she was holding a cigarette in an attempt to break the social barrier created by her above-average intelligence.

The state-funded Academically Talented program tries to ease these growing pains with weekly after school lunches.

There, 150 elementary school youngsters solve brain teasers, play academic games and talk with each other about the problems of being gifted.

But that's only one part of the program which has been running full tilt in the district since Easter.

The main thrust is the two hours a week the students spend on in-depth study which includes 90-minute field trips and a half hour for discussion and analysis.

With the aid of four paid paraprofessionals, students explore topics related to wildlife, energy, food or shelter.

In each case, the instructors impress upon the students the logical development and common threads in each area as they have developed through time.

"The thinking process that is going on is important," says Ms. Rondello. "These are high-powered kids and we are trying to hit the higher levels of thinking."

A recent Friday afternoon found Mary Smolenski's energy students studying the stream at Waterford Park off Edward Hines Drive.

From there, they will advance to the water wheel, the power plant and, perhaps, a modern Edison facility.

At the same time, Paula Skuratowicz was giving her food class a lesson in the nutrition that can be found in violets, dandelions and cattail roots.

"These kids have gone to that park and never looked at the stream the way they are looking at it now," says Ms. Rondello.

Once the instructors whet the appetite of the intelligent student, they find the youngsters eager and willing to learn. Gloria Laudy's shelter class was expanded to the animal world at the insistence of her students.

"We like that. That's what we're trying to promote," says the project coordinator.

The wildlife class is taught by Sharon Pisko.

In all instances, students compile a research diary to record what they have observed.

"We want them to analyze what they see and then synthesize," explains Ms. Rondello, an educator for 13 years.

The third part of the Academically Talented Program gives students the option of taking an Authors component which deals with writers, writing and publishing a newspaper, or a Math section where youngsters will study the binary system and construct a computer.

All told, the academically talented youngsters spend about four hours a week in the program.

Parents are happy with the program, says Ms. Rondello, but they wish it could be continued in the junior high school. The April millage defeat knocked out local money that would be used for continuing the program beyond grade six.

The elementary program had been discontinued this year until state funds became available. Similarly, the PLUS elementary school program for gifted art and music students continues to operate only because of teacher and parent volunteers.

In Uniform

Navy Seaman Daniel J. Phelan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phelan of 387 Welch, is participating in exercise "Solid Shield '78."

He is assigned to the replenishment oiler USS Kalamazoo, homeported in Mayport, Florida.

Conducted in the Atlantic coastal waters off North Carolina, plus Camp Lejeune, N.C. and Fort Stewart, Ga., this 10-day exercise involves more than 28,000 personnel. Participants include the Army's 18th Airborne Corps, the Navy's Atlantic Fleet, the Atlantic Fleet Marine Force and the Air Force's Tactical Air Command and Military Airlift Command.

"Solid Shield '78" is the 16th in a series of annual, joint-service exercises emphasizing command and control of military forces in a simulated combat environment. This year's maneuvers include amphibious and airborne assaults, naval blockade operations, personnel evacuations and tactical air operations in support of ground forces.

"Solid Shield '78" is under overall command of Admiral Isaac C. Kidd, Jr., U.S.N., the commander-in-chief, Atlantic.

A 1974 graduate of Northville High School, Phelan joined the Navy in November 1975.

In 19th district

Broomfield files first

Congressman William S. Broomfield has filed petitions nominating him for re-election as Representative from the 19th Congressional District.

The petitions, filed with officials in Lansing, were signed by residents of the District which consists of parts of Oakland and Livingston Counties.

According to Lansing officials, the Broomfield petitions were the first ones to be filed for a Congressional seat this year.

Broomfield is the ranking Republican on the House International Relations Committee, and on the Subcommittee on Special Small Business Problems of the House Small Business Committee.

Kiwanis horse show

Reflecting a general decline in show entries throughout the Midwest, the annual Northville Kiwanis Club-ASHAM horse show didn't attract the number of entries of past years but club officials were nevertheless delighted with the three-day show over the Memorial Day weekend at Northville Downs. Monies from the project are used by the club to finance its program for local handicapped children. Above, left, aboard Yermeh Rafferchan owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hembrey of Northville is Jim Master. At the right above is Martha Bergadine aboard Zeebars Dude. Below is rider Susan Darville, Ringmaster David Ryan, Kiwanis member, and watching the action is the Joseph O'Doherty family.

Reduce superintendent control, says study

A school-financed organization report has recommended that the Northville superintendent's power be decentralized and that the central administrative format be reshaped by establishing the new positions of two assistant superintendents.

It was not clear if the study by area management consultants was recommending additional administrators. Some of the positions in the restructured organization chart could be charged in full or in part to the state-financed education program for 800 mentally retarded youngsters who live in two institutions within the school district's boundaries.

The board of education received the 30-page report, complete with a proposed organization chart, last week but took no other action.

Basically, the consultants suggested a new administrative layer by creating two new assistant superintendent positions — one in charge of instruction and the other overseeing all administrative services such as finance, personnel, transportation and maintenance.

The two assistant superintendents would answer directly to the superintendent and would be in charge of five department heads responsible for the day-to-day functions of the schools.

"The Northville Public Schools cannot continue to operate under its current organization structure" which offers "no rational nor logical tracks (for) lines of authority and communication," the report said.

"Several principals in the course of our interviews identified the superintendent as their direct superior. Others indicated they reported to the director of instruction and/or the director of personnel."

Job descriptions for Northville principals indicate they report directly to the superintendent.

Combined with central office staff, that means the superintendent's "span of control would include a dozen people, which is about six more than most authorities would recommend in a school system setting," said the report.

A "pure line organization" with one person in direct control has "severe limitations" in a complex, diverse system with many employees, said the Consultants.

These limitations "can produce frustrations, conflict, demoralization and either a lower level of output or a lower quality of output," they said.

The report suggested a "matrix form of organization" with the superintendent and his two assistants as the chief architects of long-term planning.

At the next level would be directors of K-12 instruction, special education, finance, personnel and general services. Another step down would find coordinators for K-12, special education and athletics.

A full time athletic director had been approved by the board if the ill-fated April millage had passed.

The proposed organization chart would make the director of Northville's Institution Special Education Program (ISEP) answerable to the assistant superintendent for instruction rather than directly responsible to the superintendent.

Curriculum for ISEP students in Northville's two institutions for the mentally retarded often centers on such basic acts as eating, dressing and toilet training rather than academic training.

The consultants said the move was suggested to merge inefficient "parallel" operations such as personnel and bookkeeping.

The study was conducted by Dr. Albert Canfield, president of Humanics, Inc., Northville; G. J. Bologna, president of George Odiorne Associates, Inc. of Plymouth and Dr. Donald Starr, vice president of Humanics.

During a month of interviews with Northville administrators, they made these findings:

—Job descriptions are often unclear and need updating. For example, the administrative assistant for finance job description says he reports to the director of finance, a position no longer used in Northville.

—Some administrators felt goals "were imposed rather than freely derived" and resented their lack of input in goal-making.

—Communications was called the "weak link" in the management structure. Several said staff meetings were long, frequent, dominated by a few people and loaded with hidden agendas.

Some complained that too much time was occupied answering school board inquiries. Others said they were swamped with paper, calling the central office a "memo factory."

—Principals said that "low level chores" were robbing them of time for planning curriculum, coaching teachers and visiting classrooms. As much as one-fifth of their workday involves monitoring hallways, bathrooms, parking lots, cafeterias and buses.

Principals also objected to their lack of control over custodians. The consultants recommended that custodians be placed under the direction of building principals who are responsible for the upkeep of their schools.

Michigan Indians displaced

The story of our Native Americans

By BRIAN DEMING

One September day in 1839 the citizens of the small farming community of Howell looked on as a procession of hundreds of Indians, escorted by federal troops, stopped at the village square.

Even the most cynical observers of the event were touched by the gloomy band of people, forced to leave the only land they knew and go west to the plains beyond the Mississippi River.

But the melancholy display soon moved on and the people of the Livingston County village resumed their autumn chores. The land that had once been the domain of tribes of nomadic and semi-nomadic hunters and gatherers now belonged to the farmer.

That solemn trail of displaced Indians that journeyed through Oakland and Livingston counties that fall was a poignant symbol of a process that had begun centuries before and would continue for many years; a process started by missionaries and trappers, completed by farmers, ranchers, soldiers and legislators; a process that left in its wake the shattered culture and the decimated and scattered population of Native Americans.

The removal of Indians from southeastern Michigan over a century ago was part of a plan drawn up in a treaty signed in 1837 between the United States government, represented by Indian Commissioner Henry R. Schoolcraft, and chiefs and delegates of the Saginaw tribe, part of the larger Chippewa tribe.

Actually the plan was poorly executed and many Indians whom the government had intended to settle on the western plains never made the western journey. Some settled in Canada, and a substantial number settled elsewhere in Michigan, particularly Isabella County and near Athens in southern Michigan. Other bought land and stayed in southeastern Michigan.

The recent immigration of white settlers to the area and the subsequent efforts by the government to obtain land for these settlers meant dramatic changes were due for the native Michigan Indians — primarily Chippewa or Ojibwa, Potawatomi and Ottawa.

But disruption to the Great Lakes Indian culture began years before an English speaking white man ever set foot on Michigan soil.

According to Chris Peebles, anthropologist at the University of Michigan, the fur trade shattered the Indian culture long before whites threatened to settle extensively in Michigan.

First the French, then the English, established trading posts in Michigan, notably at Detroit and Michilimackinac in the seventeenth and eighteenth century. At these posts the Indians would trade fur pelts for jewelry, brass and iron utensils, cloth, and guns, which at first supplemented and then replaced traditional leather clothing and stone, wood, and bone weapons and utensils.

White man, primarily through missionaries, also introduced new religions to the Indian.

The Indians thus became dependent on the fur trade and white man's culture long before significant white settlement of the region.

The dependence actually made settlement somewhat easier for whites. Peebles says, for example, that Indians left Michigan's upper peninsula in great numbers of their own accord in the nineteenth century because of the decline of the fur trade.

The dependence, however, because it altered the Indian way of life, has made it difficult for anthropologists to understand precisely what Indian life was like according to Peebles, before it was affected by western civilization.

Scientists have determined that Indians lived in the Great Lakes region as early as 10,000 B.C. Since those people, known as Paleo-Indians, occupied this land several other prehistoric cultures thrived for a time here, the most recent being what are known as the late Woodland Indians.

Present-day Michigan Indians are descendents of Algonquin stock that may have moved into the Great Lake region perhaps only shortly before contact with European Civilization.

They probably arrived near the St. Mary's River and there separated into the three distinct tribes — the Chippewa (or Ojibwa), the Potawatomi, and the Ottawa.

Other tribes known to have occupied or visited Michigan near the time of white man's arrival include the Huron, Miami, Menominee, Sioux, Cree, Kickapoo, Fox, and Sauk. However, none of these tribes dominated the region as the related tribes known as "The Three Fires" the Potawatomi, Chippewa, and Ottawa.

The name Chippewa means "puckered", perhaps derived from the unique style of their moccasins which were puckered at the seams.

They, like the Potawatomi and the Ottawa, lived, in early times, in oval, domed-shaped, rectangular homes made of bark or matting, or the skins of animals laid over bent poles.

Their economic life consisted mainly of hunting, trapping and fishing. The Chippewa depended very little on agriculture.

Clothing was not elaborate — the main articles being moccasins, leggings, breechcloth, and robe. Women wore dresses made of deerskin.

The dependence on hunting, trapping and fishing resulted in a loose social organization that allowed small groups to function alone for long periods. Thus, during the winter when the limited resources could not support large populations, extended family units left the main group to hunt for fur-bearing animals.

Religious life of the Chippewa centered around the Midewewin or Great Medicine Society, into which tribesmen, who had experienced supernatural visions were initiated.

The Chippewa believed that spirits inhabited natural objects, thus controlling forces of nature. A boy, when he was 10 or 12-years old, would be taught the tribe's religion by his father.

The boy would then fast for several days until his special God — the sun, or thunder, perhaps — would reveal itself in a dream. The boy would then worship that deity all his life.

The "People of the Place of the Fire," or Potawatomi, depended more on agriculture than the Chippewa, raising corn, tobacco, melons, peas, and potatoes.

During the winter hunt, not just the family, but an entire village would move as a unit to new territory.

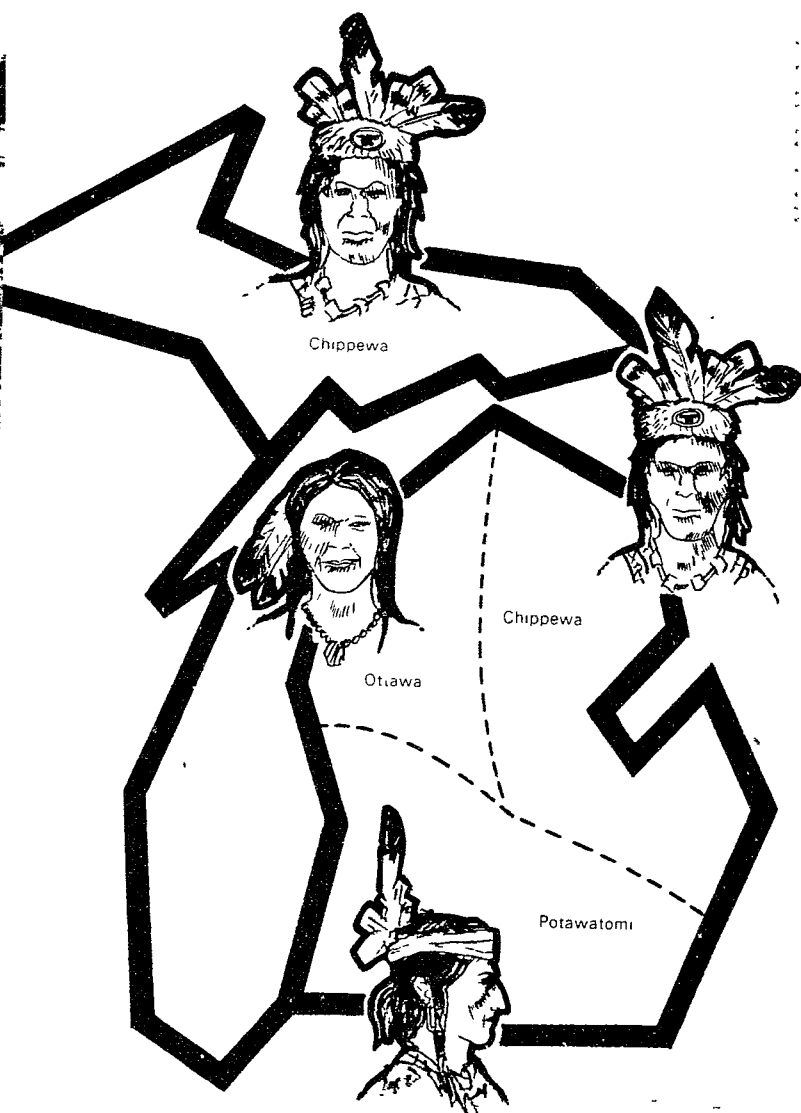

The political system of the Potawatomi was similar to that of other Michigan Indians except that the chief, who was the spokesman for the tribe, seemed to possess more power.

The Potawatomi believed in the Great Spirit as well as other numerous spirits including the Spirit of Fire, of the Water; and spirits of the East, North, West, and South.

Traditional life in the Ottawa tribe differed from the Potawatomi and the Chippewa in that men usually left the greater part of their families at the village in the summer and did not travel as far on winter hunts.

When white settlers first came to southeastern Michigan they found just remnants of these tribes. One report

Everlasting flowers possible

If you can air-dry the blossoms or buds with no special desiccants and if the dried petals or bracts are tough and adhere tenaciously, the flower can properly be called an "everlasting."

Nowadays, many kinds of flowers can retain their colors and not shed petals when dried with warm sand or silica gel, but these are not called everlastings. They are too fragile, especially in a humid environment.

Experienced flower arrangers strip off most of the foliage and hang clusters of everlastings in a dry room. Newspaper or tissue hoods will keep the blossoms free of dust.

Everlastings were indispensable during the Victorian age for brightening dark and bric-a-brac crowded parlors. Especially valued were the flowers that retained delicate pink, blue and yellow colors after drying.

For awhile, when modern home furnishings of plastic and metal were "in," interest in everlastings languished. Now, however, with antique or "Americana" decor coming back, interest in everlastings is greater than ever.

Everlastings have a natural affinity for warm or weathered wood colors and textures, primitive pottery or old pewter containers.

Bunches of dried flowers purchased from a florist can cost a bundle of money. At considerably less cost you can grow your own for decorating your home and for creating gifts of lasting value.

Most everlastings grow quickly and easily from seeds.

Annual everlastings are planted outdoors in late spring and harvested in late summer. In short season areas, seeds should be started indoors and seedlings transplanted after frost danger is past.

Ammobium alatum "Winged Everlasting" 2 to 3 ft., large white doubled daisy flowers. Winged stems.

Celosia cristata and plumosa "Cockscomb" and "Celosia." The cockscomb or crested celosia is preferred over the feathery plumed celosia because of its greater durability when dried.

Celosia varieties range in height from 1 to 3 ft.; the taller varieties are better for stem length. Colors include deep red, scarlet, gold and rose shades.

Comphrena globosa "Clove Amaranth" 1½ to 2 ft., thumbnail size, clover-like blossoms in white and vivid lavender, cerise, rose, purple, and red and gold shades.

Gomphocarpus fruticosus (no common name), 3 ft. Grown for its downy thimble sized fruits, bronze and yellow-green in color.

Helianthus annuus "Sunflower." The single flowered varieties, "Red and Gold" and "Red," develop large bushy plants. Blossoms are smaller, and more numerous than of the mammoth sunflower. Harvest blossoms before they are fully open. The double flowered types don't dry well.

Helichrysum bracteatum

(monstrosum) "Strawflower." Varieties range from 1½ to 3 ft. in height. The generally available strawflowers have a wide range of colors, from white to yellow, gold, rose, and wine shades.

For best keeping quality, harvest at bud or half open stage and replace the fragile stems with fine-flexible florist's wire.

Limonium species "Statice." Three species of limonium, growing from 1 to 3 ft. high produce clusters or spikes of tiny parchment-like flowers on wiry stems. White, yellow, blue, pink and rose colors.

Nigella damascena "Love in a Mist" or "Devil in a Bush" 1 to 1½ ft. White, pink and blue colors in lacy baskets of thread-like leaves. The decorative seed pods will dry by hanging but flowers must be dried in sand or silica gel.

Xeranthemum annuum "Common Everlasting" or "Immortelle." Plants 2 to 3 ft. high with 1½-inch diameter daisy-like blossoms on long stems. White, violet-blue, pink and purple blossoms.

Primrose path

At least 3,000 primroses are blooming in the gardens at the Arthur Witzke home at 45731 Fermanagh in Northville. The yellow blossoms vie with tulips and other spring flowers as eye-catchers on a hillside setting that slopes to a natural pond.

Here's tips on how to keep salad bowl full

You should have little trouble turning your garden into a movable salad bowl if you sow vegetable seeds once a week over the planting period.

Here are some other tips on the tender treatment of your plants.

- Be sure not to crowd your vegetables. Thin most of them while they are still seedlings to give the entire crop room. Remember that radishes, lettuce and other leaf vegetables should be thinned just at the point when they are good enough to eat.

- When sowing seeds directly in the garden, mulch between all the rows, but not on top where the young plants will come up. Wait till the plants are well formed, then weed around them if necessary, and mulch again.

- Be sure to treat your vegetables for soil insect pests before planting. Use an insecticide evenly over the surface of the soil then mix it in. One insecticide is Spectracide® Crawling Insect Control Granules with Diazinon®. This all-purpose insecticide controls many harmful insects that attack onions, radishes, cabbage, carrots and many others.

- Though your vegetables are food for you, they in turn need food, too. Spectrum® Earth Care Professional Plant Food (20-20-20) is now available, which can be used effectively on all growing plants. Mix one tablespoon in every gallon water for your vegetables. Feed every one to two weeks by drenching the soil thoroughly.

- Remember, too, that your garden should never be located too close to the north side of buildings or too near shade trees or tall growing hedges.

By treating your vegetables well, you'll have no trouble making a grocery list, since many of your groceries may be growing in your own garden.

Moss indicates lawn problem

Turfgrass specialists will tell you that the presence of moss in your lawn indicates a problem area, according to The Fertilizer Institute.

Moss in turf can be associated with a number of factors — low fertility, poor drainage, improper watering, high soil acidity, too much shade, or compacted soil.

Often, a regular program of fertilization using today's lawn fertilizers specially formulated for your area will prevent moss from becoming a problem.

If moss already is established in lawn areas, the first step in eradicating it is vigorous raking. If a large area is involved, check with your garden supply dealer for one of the control compounds available.

After removal, be sure to correct the basic cause, then use management practices which will produce a healthy, vigorous turf.

It's a plant challenge

The Iron Cross begonia (Begonia masoniana) is an attractive gift plant that rarely lives longer than a few months in the home.

Keeping it healthy is a challenge to even the most skilled houseplant tender.

Michigan State University horticulturists point out that the main problem with this fancy-leaved begonia is its preference for high humidity.

Overwatering is another frequent problem, leading to crown rot.

A healthy Iron Cross begonia is a mound of puckery, lopsided, heart-shaped light green leaves marked with a dark, irregular splotch that suggests the shape of the German Iron Cross.

To stay healthy, the plant needs bright, diffused sunlight or artificial light, daytime temperatures of 80-85 degrees F, a night minimum of 60-65 degrees, humid air and water applied often enough to keep the soil moist but not soaking wet.

Pot in a soil high in organic material and fertilizer.

TELEPHONE CUSTOMERS "overwhelmingly" favor adoption of a new method of paying for Directory Assistance that would save money for all customers except those few who make heavy use of the service.

By a margin of 6-1, customers voiced support for Directory Assistance charging based on individual usage in a statewide survey conducted for Michigan Bell by Market Opinion Research, Inc.

Donald M. Lambe, Michigan Bell assistant vice president, said adoption of the kind of plan favored by customers in the survey would result in consumer savings of about $15 million annually.

These savings, Lambe said, would be passed directly back to customers in the form of credits on their monthly bills.

"Considering that a charging plan would provide monthly savings for nine out of 10 customers, I don't think it's surprising to see this kind of strong support," Lambe said.

The statewide survey represents a part of "an extensive and thorough" effort by Michigan Bell to listen to and learn what consumers think should be done about a major problem — the rising costs of providing Directory Assistance, he said. The cost amounted to about $27 million last year and is expected to double to $55 million annually by 1982.

"Contrary to the popular myth that Directory Assistance is 'free,' all customers currently share in its cost," Lambe said. "Last year, about $8.40 — or 70 cents a month — in Directory Assistance costs was included in the monthly rate of the average customer."

"The statewide survey shows that customer sentiment is clear — they want people who use Directory Assistance service to pay for it, not those who don't," Lambe said.

According to the MOR survey most customers support a Directory Assistance plan providing savings for customers who make fewer than 10 calls a month, with a 20-cent charge for each call over 10.

One plan selected would provide for savings of up to 50 cents a month. Customers who make no more than five Directory Assistance calls a month would receive the full 50-cent savings; those who made six calls would save 40 cents, seven calls would yield a 30-cent savings — and so on up to 10 calls a month which would be the "break-even" point.

Lambe said 21 other states already have Directory Assistance charging plans in effect and that nine out of 10 customers in those states are saving money as a result. Adoption of Directory Assistance charging in Michigan, he said, would give Michigan Bell customers the same kinds of savings.

"FIBER ART: DEFINITE DESIGNS" is a one-woman show of the work of Judy Kaye, formerly a teacher of design and textiles, being presented at The Art Gallery Incorporated at 459 South Main in Plymouth. After the opening Sunday, June 4, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., the show will run through June 24 during regular gallery hours of 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Sundays.

"The Art Gallery Incorporated is pleased to present a fresh combination of craftsmanship and art into a dynamic, exciting new medium of 'fiber art,'" states Carol Swienkowski, a Northville owner of the gallery, in announcing the exhibit. Award-winning artist Judy Kaye is Detroit-born, educated at Michigan State University and Wayne State University with graduate hours at Eastern Michigan University. She has exhibited in many mid-western states and in national shows and has shown in many galleries in Michigan and Ohio. Bell Telephone, American Motors and Dow Chemical are a few of the corporations who have collected her work.

'More staffers, smaller hospitals'

By WARREN M. HOYT

In the wake of reports of patient abuse in the state's mental institutions, a special governor's task force has reported more and better trained staff and smaller institutions are needed to minimize abuse and neglect.

Wilbur Cohen, chairman of the task force, said the panel substantiated the occurrence of both abuse and neglect at state institutions and concluded the abuse will continue as long as such large facilities are maintained in the state.

"A big institution breeds frustration, breeds lashing out by patients, breeds reactions by staff. No matter how much money we pour into the system, we should not build and maintain such large institutions," he said.

The report, of no less than 25 recommendations, endorsed the Department of Mental Health's policy for smaller institutions and for more community-based services.

Cohen said abuse at the Plymouth Institution for the Mentally Retarded resulted both because of the system and because of individual transgressions. He acknowledged abuse at Plymouth was "covered up," but not in an organized fashion but by individuals not complying with regulations.

The task force said its investigation found serious deficiencies in disciplinary actions, medical care, programs, procedures and institutional neglect.

The panel added the recommendations of a separate special panel within the Department of Mental Health would cost an estimated $85 million per year with about $10 million being required for start-up costs, and another $2.5 million to carry out a federal order for more staff.

Governor William G. Milliken said he could not offer a commitment of a level of additional funding, but said priorities may have to be reset both within the department and throughout state government to free up the needed funds.

Recommendations of the task force also included the establishment of separate, well-defined criteria of abuse and neglect and the training program for direct care staff.

Employees of the institutions were further encouraged to cooperate with investigations of abuse and neglect.

- Your lawn is mowed, groomed and fed in one pass
- Inside this unique mower the grass is cut and the clippings are re-cut into tiny mulch particles and fed back to the lawn
- No more raking, bagging and hauling clippings.
- Your lawn is naturally fed so you save on expensive fertilizer
- Save money now! Save time and work through both grass cutting and leaf clean up seasons
- This is the mower that started the mulching revolution. The largest selling Mulching Mower in the industry

LET THE ARMY HELP YOU WITH COLLEGE

Last year there were over 200,000 enrollments in college courses by people in the Army. They attended classes on post. They studied at nearby colleges and universities, and the Army paid up to 75% of their tuition and fees. Our educational benefits are in addition to the job training you'll receive, the salary you'll earn, the travel opportunities you'll have, and the 30 days paid vacation you'll get every year. If you'd like to find out more about all the educational benefits the Army has to offer, see or call your local Army Representative. Army Opportunities 477-6835 or 363-6650.

describes the Chippewa and Potawatomi people first seen as "scattered, dispirited, and cowed" as a result of disastrous encounters in earlier battles with whites.

But little is known about specific Indian activity in Livingston and in western Oakland County prior to this time. Permanent settlements were apparently rare but Indians traveled extensively along the Shiawassee War Trail and the Grand River Trail.

The area was also a hunting ground for the Indians although one reported Indian tradition states that the area was avoided by Indian hunters as haunted through it teamed of wildlife.

The tradition states that at one time the Sauk and Ojibwa tribes roamed the region before the Ottawas and the Chippewas allied to drive them out.

The Ottawas and Chippewas succeeded in driving the Sauk and Ojibwas west to Wisconsin and Illinois after slaughtering their braves, most notably at a place called Skull Island in the Saginaw River.

When the Chippewas and Ottawas began hunting the region young hunters would mysteriously fail to return to camp. The newcomers reasoned that the land was haunted by the spirit of murdered Sauk warriors and hunted elsewhere.

Whether or not the area is still haunted by Sauk warriors, there are still Indians living in this area.

In fact, depending on your definition of Indian, there may be more Indians in Livingston and Oakland County than there ever were.

According Larry Balber of Walled Lake, Indian Education Coordinator for Oakland County, there are probably 4,500 Indians in the county, including a variety of tribes not native to Michigan, even Aztec and Eskimo. But about 75 percent, says Balber, are Woodland Indians.

In Livingston County, 582 of 20,288 schoolchildren are considered to be American Indian. Janet Foster, American Indian Program Coordinator at Brighton, says that 100 of the 251 Indian students at Brighton are descendants of Woodland Indians.

The remainder are related to a variety of American tribes including Blackfeet, Cherokee, Chickasaw, Cree, Creek, Dakota, Navahoe, Oneida, Seminole, Seneca, Shawnee, Sioux, and Arapahoe.

It is ironic that in the land of immigrants, most of whom assimilated relatively easily into the dominant culture, the actual natives were left behind, segregated, and denied rights of other Americans.

It is not surprising then that those same Indians today, when most of the obstacles to assimilation have been lifted, seek more vigorously than ever to preserve their Indian culture.

Country Lair

The sunsets are forever sand and hills they run together people take it slow there there's time to sit and talk there it's no wonder I left my soul there no wonder I find my feet bare
I feel like going back too to the quiet and noise too of lakeshore perseverance and natural appearance the city and suburbia is getting on my nerves
I don't know how much longer the feelings' getting stronger as I look out over yonder
I find that it ain't there the hills with valleys courting the lakes with moon still sporting the magic of the ageless country lair.
Here the sun falls over housetop and rises over street stop but I shouldn't be complaining (and with time life will be changing
I'll be out with the trees before too long —
I can see it with this song —

Douglas Spring Bouza

How Love Can Leave So Fast

When someone is close to you
It's Love,
It leaves us all behind—
With the Flying Dove.

Seeing it go by—
That's Love too.
It would make me cry—
Right next to you.

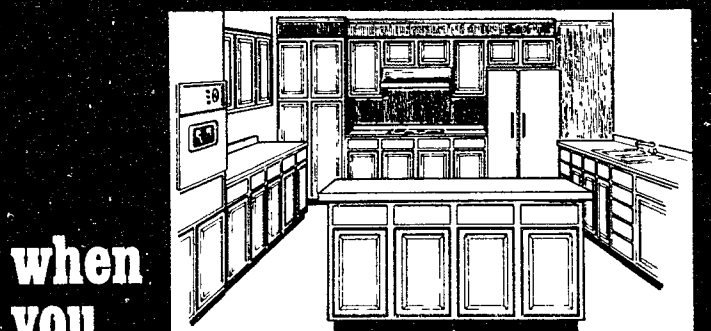

Do you want to be with me?
Just remembering

That Flying Dove.

Torrential Treat

Oh, please, yank it
All out of the sky.
Pull strings of it to Flay windows, home nests —
Patch each dry place
With wettest cement.
Call the gods to cry
And make thunder with Their hands on Tough kettledrum clouds —
Lash scarves of it Around raincoats and necks;
Prick at brick buildings,
Fill tulip cups,
Until a greening ripple
Of grass takes over
In utter calm.

New National Smoker Study:

Merit Scores High Marks On Five Key Points!

'Enriched Flavor'™ cigarette proven major alternative to high tar smoking—see results below

Can MERIT taste hold its own against leading high tar brands?

Does MERIT satisfy smokers over a long period—or are MERIT smokers slipping back to old high tar favorites?

Read the bottom-line results of new research conducted with smokers like yourself.

Research Confirms Breakthrough

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers rate MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested!

Cigarettes having up to twice the tar.

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT.

And in detailed interviews conducted among current MERIT smokers?

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT smokers not considering other brands.

First Major Alternative For High Tar Smokers

MERIT has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy.

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is what it claims to be: The first major alternative to high tar smoking.

Colorful Tiffany glass is created in local studio

Etched on a glass-paneled doorway at 121 East Main Street in downtown Northville is the lettering, "Tiffany Art Glass."

It looks as though this might be a firm in existence since the 1920's, but not so.

Sandwiched between Black's Hardware and Foltyn's Pastry Shoppe, the door leads to a new business that fills the second floor showroom-workroom with colorful stained glass displays.

Area residents who may not have climbed the stairs to meet the two young owner-craftsmen have seen their work, however, in the stained glass decorations at the new Little Caesar's on Seven Mile just east of the railroad crossing.

John Zawadski and Joe DeLoye are artisans who design and make colored glass items ranging from table boxes to lamp shades and windows in their spacious loft.

"We can take almost anything in glass and make it fit," declares Zawadski, explaining that he and his partner fit old glass into windows and also design new ones.

But the work takes time and is not cheap.

"The price can go from $18 a square foot to $100 a square foot, depending on the detail involved," Zawadski says.

He illustrates the reason the multi-colored glass items are so expensive by showing a Tiffany-style dragonfly lampshade in golds and greens.

The design is an original from 1904. It contains oval green glass jewels as well as copper filigree on the dragonfly wings. The filigree alone was $50, Zawadski mentions, adding that "it took a day to put on." The shade sells for $600.

The dragonfly shade is displayed on a solid brass antique floor lamp which the owners plan to keep. A potted palm and wicker chair carry out the setting.

Catching the light from the windows are an orange "mandala," a concentric organization of geometric shapes with the image of a deity, a Victorian geometric-style glass in blues and an art deco glass that Zawadski describes as a design taken from a cigarette holder of the period.

"It's a nice spring flower," the designer-craftman explains, as he shows two window glasses with an iris motif.

Some buyers hang glass "light catcher" windows on chains inside existing windows while others have stained glass ones made to order to fit into window frames.

How did the glassmakers happen to establish their firm in Northville?

John Zawadski recalls that he and his partner were working at a studio in Ferndale after both, who were friends previously, had independently taken stained glass courses.

"My partner was driving through Northville last March and noticed the 'for rent' sign, and we thought it would be a good place to work," Zawadski continues, mentioning that second-floor rent is less than ground floor and they feel this is low enough to enable them to maintain the business.

In fact, business has been sufficient

For senior party

Circus tickets in mail

"It's sharing your last chance to be with people you've grown up with," explains Peggy Meyer, one of the parents on the committee planning the annual all-night party for graduating Northville High seniors following commencement exercises June 8.

With about 375 in this year's graduating class the committee already expects well over 300 to attend.

"It's not a dating event," Mrs. Meyer emphasizes for parents who may have their first child graduating and who may not be familiar with the party tradition.

Invitations are going in the mail today to all graduating seniors, including those who completed school in January, for the party. There is no cost to the student, but parents of seniors are asked to contribute $10 toward the cost of the festive evening which includes dancing in the high school cafeteria, swimming in the pool, snacks throughout the evening and breakfast.

"Greatest Class on Earth" with a circus motif is the theme of this year's salute to the Class of 1978.

Admission to the evening will be by a circus ticket designed in three colors by the Frank Kastners. An accompanying flyer mailed with it to each senior explains that the ticket is their admission.

There is a parent security force on duty throughout the evening, although parents have made it a point not to be too visible at the party. Once admitted, a student may not return if he or she leaves the party.

Holden Caulfield's five piece band, with a vocalist, will be playing rock and disco music for the dancing, Tim Lemon, entertainment chairman, has announced.

The party tradition began when parents of graduates became concerned about post-commencement activities and conceived the idea of a final get-together that would insure a safer, fun evening. The tradition survived the lowering of the drinking age to 18 with security checks against bringing alcohol to the party.

Mrs. Meyer has been explaining to parents of graduating seniors who ask if an outside date may accompany the graduate that this never has been permitted.

The committee parents always have felt that this is one reason the tradition has survived. It is a class party and final get-together.

While the committee has had a good response from parents, more $10 contributions still are needed. They should be sent to treasurers, Angie and Paul Baetz, 20132 Whipple Drive, with checks made out to Northville Senior Class Party.

'GREATEST CLASS' PARTY—Getting ready to put invitations in the mail today to Northville High Seniors inviting them to the "Greatest Class on Earth" annual seniors-only party following commencement June 8 are, from left, Pat Wright, Dorothy Thomas and Mary Hubbard. Mrs. Thomas and her husband are responsible for the flyer describing the party, which has a circus theme.

Announce engagements

Lemon—VanBuren

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Lemon of Foner Court West announce the engagement of his daughter, Lori Ann, to Private Mark John VanBuren.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William VanBuren of West Nine Mile Road.

They are planning a July 15 wedding at Our Lady of Victory Church with Father Gerard Hadad officiating.

The bride-elect is a 1978 graduate of

Her fiancé attended Northville High School and presently is in the U.S. Army Military Police.

LORI LEMON

Musial—Myers

Announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Kim Marie, to Brian Franklin Myers of Northville is made by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Musial of Southgate.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Myers of Bloomcrest Drive.

The couple had met at Alma College where Brian received his BS degree in 1974. He is a 1970 graduate of Northville High School.

The bride-elect attended Alma and Michigan State University, receiving her BA degree from MSU in 1977.

An evening wedding is planned for September 16 at St. Mary Magdalen Church of Melvindale.

Teens-on-move capture laurels

By JEAN DAY

Young people of our community are on the move, traveling and winning laurels.

Karen Toms, known locally as "the girl with the prettiest smile" even before she captured the title of Airstream International Teen Queen last July 4 at the 20th Airstream rally at Montana State University exhibition center in Bozeman, Montana, is preparing to crown a new queen.

Karen, who's now 16, is the daughter of Northville Township Fire Chief Robert Toms and Mrs. Toms of Sunnysdale Lane. The young teen won her crown and title in a 23-state competition last year as she smiled and played such country western pieces on her guitar as "Heartaches by the Number" and "Silver Threads."

The family will be traveling to Ames, Iowa, this July 4 where Karen will be performing again before giving her crown away. Karen is pictured strumming her way to her title in the June, 1978, issue of "Friends," the Chevrolet owners' magazine, which did a six-page spread on the Airstream rally. It was a rally that drew more than 12,000 people and 4,000 gleaming aluminum-skinned Airstream travel trailers.

Karen's also pictured in formal gown and crown in the May, 1978, issue of "Blue Beret," The Airstream and Wally Byam Caravan Club International magazine. Karen thanks her supporters for cheering her on to her title and advises other teens to compete. She had been first runner-up in talent when she first competed in 1976 and, with the encouragement, decided to make the winning try last year.

Karen is the youngest of five daughters in the Toms family. Her mother, Loretta Toms, describes her performances as "more lively" than just country western, "more in the Linda Ronstadt style." This summer Karen will be visiting her sister, Patty Lindberg, and brother-in-law in Arizona where she will appear with a country western band.

Mrs. Toms and daughters Louise and Loretta are back from a trip to Hawaii. They found Donnie and Marie Osmond were vacationing in the hotel adjacent to theirs and posed for pictures. Mrs. Toms confesses that they were on the beach until the very last minute so that she "had to get on plane with my shorts on."

Trio's bound for Sweden

Three Northville students will have much to tell their fellow eighth graders at Cooke Junior High next fall. They are flying from Metropolitan Airport June 21 in a group of 10 area students on a month-long Children's International Summer Village exchange to Sweden.

Participating are Frank Firek, son of the Frank Fireks of Connemara, Craig Zollars, son of the Ronald Zollars of Napier Road, and Holly Sellen, daughter of the Robert Sellens of Caldwell. Each will be part of a Swedish family, mostly living in Stockholm suburbs, that will have a child in the family that is

EDITOR'S NOTE: Northville PTA-PTSA news is compiled monthly during the school year by volunteer Marge Ercoli, 348-9350. It appears on the last Wednesday of the month with the next column to be in September. Mrs. Ercoli has agreed to continue coordinating the column for the 1978-79 year.

COUNCIL NEWS

This is the last PTA/PTSA section till fall and I want to take this opportunity to express a few words of thanks. We want to say "Thank You" to Jean Day and The Record for giving us the opportunity to bring the school news in to your homes each month. It couldn't have been done without the help of the volunteer publicity moms from each school. I enjoyed working with them and look forward to next year with some of the same gals and a few new names. The whole PTA/PTSA Coordinating Council joins me in thanking Mrs. Joan Roth for her year as President of Council and for the six years she has given the Northville schools' PTA's. Thanks to her family also for sharing her with us. Joan is a very special mom! The new 1978-79 PTA/PTSA Coordinating Council Board member are: Dolores Yanover, president; Glenda Buist, vice-president; Mary Ann Russell, recording secretary; Susan Foster, corresponding secretary; Virginia Hosmer, treasurer.

Board committee chairmen are Fran Nicholas, legislation; Judy Kramer, health; Lynn Hahn, school board representative; Janis Stevenson; Junior Entertainment Series; July Dore, science fair; Bo Hall, handbook; and Marge Ercoli, publicity. First meeting of the new board will be at 9:30 a.m. June 21 at the home of Mrs. Ercoli. We wish all a sunny summer, and we'll see you in the fall.

Marge Ercoli
Council publicity chairman
AMERMAN

cream social is scheduled for Friday, June 9, at Amerman. Co-chairmen Marcia Greiner and Elaine Talsma are busily taking care of last minute details with the help of their committee. The children at Amerman look forward to this evening of popcorn, cones, sundaes, punch, cookies, pie and cakes for 10-cent tickets. The tickets will go on pre-sale Thursday and Friday, June 8 and 9, at 11 tickets for $1. Adults taking part also look forward to working at the cake walk, dipping ice cream and numerous other responsibilities. Before school is out for summer and again when school resumes, Sharon Lang, safety chairman, is planning to visit each classroom to educate children on the purpose of the Helping Hand program. Children will be informed on when they are to use these homes and the responsibilities of these people who display the sign. Last Friday, the Wind Ensemble from Northville High School played for the upper elementary children as part of the Junior Entertainment Series. The musicians also used this time to familiarize the children with the different instruments.

SILVER SPRINGS

June is just around the corner and the end of the 1977-78 school year is nearing. The staff and students have the remaining days filled with many activities, besides those final days of studies.

Michigan Week started off with an assembly and flag-raising ceremony Monday morning. That evening a dessert "Thank You" party was hosted by the staff at S.S. for all the volunteer helpers, the school board also was invited. That evening S.S. also hosted the monthly School Board meeting. Students held a talent show May 24 for the enjoyment of their fellow students, teachers and parents. There were some stars shining during the performance, with beaming parents watching. The PTSA new and old board held a new kindergarden moms tea at the home of Mrs. Dolores Yanover, the retiring past President for two years. We are proud that Mrs. Yanover will be the new Coordinating Council President

Jaycettes, Mizpah Circle elect officers for year

Mrs. Douglas Bolton was elected leader of Mizpah Circle, King's Daughters, at the circle's May meeting. Other 1978-79 officers are Mrs. William Brown, co-leader; Mrs. Oscar Hammond, treasurer; Mrs. Harold Dayton, recording secretary; Mrs. Roland Tabor, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Harry Duerson, financial secretary. Plans for the annual bake sale at the Chamber of Commerce sidewalk sale

July 29 are under way. Next circle meeting will be a potluck luncheon at 12:30 p.m., June 6, at the United Methodist Church. Rose Zapke took office as president of the Northville Jaycee Auxiliary June 1. Other officers for the 1978-79 year are Marion Wilcox, vice-president, Pat Orr, secretary; Cathy Totzkay, treasurer; Nancy Brasgalla, Joan Fogle and Carol Northrop, directors. Connie Qualman is new chairman of the board. Because they received only three nominations for the Auxiliary Woman of the Year Award, the Jaycettes announce that all three will be honored in the fall when the Jaycees tap their Outstanding Young Man of the community. Many organizations, who usually submit the name of a nominee, have not done so, Mrs. Qualman reports, inviting any groups who wish to call her during the summer at 349-8437 to add a nominee to the list of honorees.

Christian Women luncheon's June 8

A "Ties That Bind" luncheon program is planned by Christian Women's Club for noon Thursday, June 8, at Mayflower Meeting House.

Patsy Clairmont of Brighton will speak on "Spiritual Ties." A duet of Ken Cornwall and Daisy Redmond will present "Song Ties."

Reservations for a child care nursery and luncheon must be made by June 1 with Dorothy Mowery, 420-0472. Luncheon is $5.25.

Alum party to precede dance

Northville Newcomers Club Alumni group will gather for cocktails before the annual Newcomers dinner dance at 8 p.m. this Saturday at Meadowbrook Country Club. Linda and Terry Heaton are opening their home at 16115 Portis for the get-together for alumni couples with advance reservations being taken by Diane Spade and Sue Eppers. Newcomer Club members are holding their pre-dinner cocktail party in the Mill Race Historical Village.

Club picnics

An outdoor plant auction at a potluck picnic at 12:30 p.m. next Tuesday, June 6, will close the year for the Country Girls Garden Club. Mrs. Robert DeHoff of 41660 Rayburn is hostess for the picnic. Members are bringing plant starts from their yards for the auction.

A&P meat is tender. Because A&P standards are tough.

We never forget that simple fact at A&P.

Great eating is the single standard to all the meat we buy and sell. And, since we've been feeding Americans for more than 100 years, we've developed quite a bit of expertise in choosing just the right meat for our A&P stores.

Let's start with beef.

For beef to taste good, it has to come from a good animal.

That's why we've set up strict standards for choosing beef.

We begin by buying only Western beef. From grain-fed cattle. And that grain is mostly corn.

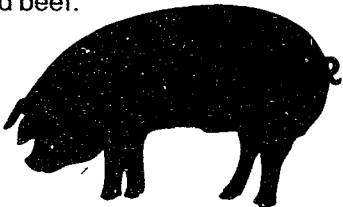

Only then does the meat have the bright red color, the firmness and the marbling that means juicy eating.

What about age?

Our buyers choose only yearling beef. Young beef is tender beef. And our beef has to cook up tender.

It's our buyers who are tough. Not our beef.

You taste the results every time you serve our steaks, roasts, and freshly ground beef.

Let's talk about Pork.

Our young porkers have been raised on grain. And that grain is mostly corn.

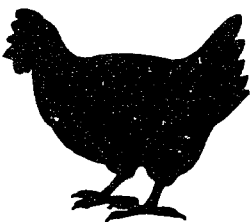

The meat should be bright pink. With a thin covering of firm white fat. Bones should be red and porous. And the whole finish should actually sparkle.

What about hams?

Ours are top quality No. 1 hams.

You'll see everything from back ribs to whole hams in the "Country Farm Pork Store" section of your local A&P.

All about Chicken.

One of the secrets of tasty chicken is freshness.

At A&P, we buy birds from nearby suppliers. So they're as fresh as you can possibly buy.

And these chickens have been raised with tender eating in mind. Their diet is soybean meal and corn. And they're pampered and kept confined when they're growing.

We choose birds that weigh 2½ lbs. and up because that gives you the best meat-to-bone ratio.

And our chickens are shipped chilled. But not frozen.

Look for the date on each chicken package in the meat case. It's one more assurance of our chickens' freshness.

Why our meat is inspected four times.

There are many supermarkets who stop with the government inspection for wholesomeness.

But we only start there.

All our meat and poultry is inspected at the packer, once more at the distribution centers, and once again when it reaches our store.

Four pairs of eyes are better than one.

And they'll turn down anything not quite up to standard.

That's four times more assurance of buying the kind of meat and poultry that lives up to your standard.

It's got to be good. Or it will never get into our meat case.

Care and handling. And why it's so important.

To stay fresh, meat must stay cold.

That's why we ship our meat to the stores in refrigerated trucks. With the temperature carefully controlled at 32° - 35°.

Any higher might mean a chance to spoil.

Any lower would freeze it. And that should be your option when you get the meat home.

And we follow through sanitation standards to assure cleanliness and purity in handling meat from the packers to our store meat case.

Clean is beautiful.

The Butcher's Bible. Or how we cut and trim.

Every butcher in every one of our stores follows our meat-cutter's guide.

It's a sixty-four page book, crammed with precise instructions on the best way to cut every cut.

Our butcher trims away excess bone, fat and waste. So when you pay for meat, you get meat.

But value is only part of the story.

There's a way to cut meat so that it cooks up at its best. Our butchers use this skill with every cut.

You'll call it delicious.

Ask the man who knows.

You're going to have some questions about meat. No matter how many years you've been shopping and cooking.

Your A&P Butcher Shop manager is a meat expert. He'll be happy to talk to you—about the right cut for your favorite recipe. Or how many pounds it takes to feed eight people. And he'll gladly cut something you don't see in the meat case.

After all this, a money-back guarantee.

If you've read this far, you have a pretty good idea of our high meat standards.

But we don't leave it at that

The meat we sell you must meet your standards.

Or we'll give you your money back

It's that simple

What is the best beef for fondue? What is the best roast for a slow-cook pot? How long can cooked beef be frozen? Is it wise to refreeze thawed, uncooked beef?

A&P's butchers answer these questions and many more every day of the week. They're glad to help you, because then they know you'll take your purchase home and cook it right. You'll be happy with your meat purchase . . . and so will we

LWV sets discussion, ERA sale

An election discussion and a fund-raising for the Equal Rights Amendment are upcoming June events scheduled by the League of Women Voters of Plymouth, Northville, Canton and Novi.

"Elections and Campaigns" will be the topic of discussion at a meeting of the league at 12:45 p.m. next Wednesday, June 7, at the home of Barbara Suhay, 954 Penniman in Plymouth.

Ms. Suhay, a political science teacher at Schoolcraft College and government chairperson for the league, will speak on the election process — primaries (open and closed), party conventions, presidential primaries, campaigns and campaign financing.

Dessert will be served. Child care is available at the home of Pat Morse by calling 453-4077. The public is cordially invited, the league states

A garage sale is one of a series of fund raising events of the league to help raise monies for ERA. It will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday and Friday, June 15 and 16, at the home of Barbara Toor, located at the corner of Bradner Road and Roberta.

The national LWV has committed itself to raise more than a million dollars to help ERA campaigns in key unratified states

Kari Miller, president of the league said, "We are determined to ensure passage of this amendment before time runs out in 1979. The bulk of the money will be used to operate ERA campaign offices in key unratified states."

Ms. Miller added that "if citizens are interested in helping us achieve this important goal, they can make a contribution to the effort by sending their dollars to Johanne Fechter, 397 North Evergreen, Plymouth, 48170."

Serving the Northville, Novi and Wixom area for 3 generations

Church sells oil paintings

Holy Cross Episcopal Church, 46200 West 10 Mile, is sponsoring an oil painting open house from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. There will be coffee and a bake sale in conjunction with it.

English and American paintings in custom wooden frame will be sold by the missions committee through the Artistic Institute of Detroit.

Tickets at $1 may be purchased in advance or at the door with a door prize included. It will not be necessary to be present to win.

Christian Academy sets fund-raising event

Plymouth Christian Academy, a Christian education school which has been holding classes through eighth grade in Northville's Main Street School, is raising funds for its own building.

Upcoming fund-raiser is a "Trash 'n Treasures" garage sale featuring toys, baby items, large and small appliances, records and tapes, tools, kitchen utensils, plaques and wall decorations as well as crafts and baked goods.

Planners promise that purchasers at the sale will find "things are being sold at garage sale prices, too."

It is to be Saturday, June 3, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Calvary Baptist Church, 43065 Joy in Canton.

The academy, which now is in its second year, has about 200 students enrolled.

Reverend Willis conducts seminar

A four-day Charismatic Teaching Seminar with the Reverend Elbert Willis is scheduled by Open Door Christian Church at 145 North Center in Northville for June 1-4.

The Reverend Willis attended Louisiana College and was graduated from the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

After seven years as a pastor, he states, he was "baptized in the Holy Spirit and 'received a healing' in his body. Shortly thereafter, he explains, God told him that "he was giving him the privilege of living by faith."

The Reverend Willis resigned and started the Lafayette Charismatic Teaching Center. Later the Charismatic Bible College was begun, offering diplomas for completion of 30, 60 and 100 hours.

The speaker is the author of 12 books and started "Fill the Gap," a teaching paper which goes into more than 200,000 homes. He travels widely teaching the "full faith message and is used by God in the gifts of healing, word of knowledge and prophecy," the Open Door church explains.

Seminar hours are 7 p.m., Thursday; 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday; 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday.

encourage them to rent a small store in Center next to Cloverdale Dairy for a storage area. They'll also be able to use the window to display their work.

Zawadski had taken an art course at Michigan State University but was unemployed in 1974 when he decided to fill his time with a stained glass class.

Family and friends began to ask him to make pieces.

"Now I do most of the designing," he relates, "and my partner, who used to manage a clothing store, is the financial wizard.

"People come in to see what kind of stained glass we can make, and we're willing to do anything."

A walk-up visitor stopped by last week to ask if the glassmakers would lead a window from a church 150 years old.

Zawadski didn't think it would be a problem. He mentions that the firm is doing a renovation for the Wayne Congregational Church that had burned.

Older glass is considered more brittle to work with, but the partners have a stunning example of what can be accomplished as they show a clear glass, beveled antique fanlight designed to arch across the top of an entry.

Purchased as an antique, the piece had to be completely reassembled and leaded.

"To give you an idea of costs," Zawadski pointed out, "one tiny piece was missing and had to be ordered at a cost of $28." The window is priced at $500.

You can buy glass in the shop for a mere two cents, however. The men sell glass centers that craftsmen like to use in all sorts of projects for two to four cents.

They also sell books on stained glass and patterns for making windows and shades.

This spring they're holding eight-week classes limited to 10 students.

"Everybody makes a window — a sunshine face or a tulip," the teachers explain. Next class will be in the fall.

Students should be able to make such items as the leaded boxes the shop sells for $10 to $60, Zawadski mentions, after they take the class.

The class works with a myriad of colorful glass that is neatly stacked in partitions along one side of the work benches. The owners order their glass from firms in the East. There are pieces of Blenko's glow-through colors as well as glass from such companies as Milton. "We call regularly to see what's available," explains the designer as he points to the flowing blue pieces in the Victorian geometric window. After all, it's those brilliant bits of color that capture sunbeams — and customers' fancies.

Home Decorating with

Howard & Lois Green

There is nothing that makes a room look more inviting than the appearance that the room is used and enjoyed. It's fairly easy to achieve this affect in your home. Just think of the activities that go on in your household and arrange groups or combinations of groups that will take care of them all. Each major chair in your living room should be within reach of a table containing ash tray, etc., and should be faced so that those entering the room can be seen and welcomed. Tables may also contain books, lamps and other accessories.

At GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER, 107 N. Center St., 349-7110, we are more interested in helping our customers decorate their homes beautifully and in good taste than in just selling merchandise. We welcome you to come in and browse whether you need our products now or not. We would like you to find out what we have and what we can do for you. GREEN'S is the home of FULLER O'BRIEN PAINTS, a paint for the interior and exterior of your home. We have all the necessary supplies for the do-it-yourself painter to do a most professional job.

for '78-79. The tea was well attended and some new friendships were made over a cup of tea.

Those "older guys and gals", the sixth grade moms are busy working on the plans, and it promises to be a real send off.

The safety patrol from S.S. is planning an end of the year trip to Bob-Lo. Everyone agrees these boys and girls give a lot of themselves to their school and have earned a day of fun.

The finale of the year will be the "Old Fashion" Children's Fun Fair. It will be this Friday and promises to be even more fun than last year's. Games of skill, lots of prizes and a variety of super eats! We invite everyone to spend the evening with us from 5:30 to 9 p.m.

Last of all we'd like to thank this year's PTSA Board for a very good year — thanks to Nancy Fieldman and her staff for working with us. Good Luck to the new board and a happy summer to all!

WINCHESTER

May has been a busy month for Winchester students and their parents.

May 10 the sixth graders met with Meads Mill counselors to discuss their class schedules for next year; and then on the morning of May 17 visited Meads Mill to observe some classes and tour the school. Parents were invited to attend a seventh grade orientation May 23 at Meads Mill.

Diane Korowin, plant sale chairman, and her assistants did a fine job coordinating this year's PTA plant sale May 19. Their efforts were greatly appreciated as the sale was a big success.

Young and old participated in Winchester's Family Fun Run May 20. This event consisted of walking, jogging and jogging over a course set up throughout the school grounds and a portion of Northville Commons. Many of the participants completed a mile and some went two miles; but a few hardy souls, including Milt Jacobi, principal, and Tom Pallas, movement ed facilitator, were reported to have completed THREE MILES!

Raymond Spear, superintendent of schools, was presented with Winchester's own "Doctor of Humanities" award citing his many contributions to Northville's schools at the third annual career breakfast May 25. The breakfast is Winchester's way of thanking men and women of the community who speak to the students about their careers during Michigan Week.

A tour of the school and a visit to many of the classrooms highlighted Grandparents-Relatives Visitation Day May 26.

Many early-arriving Memorial Day visitors enjoyed the opportunity of seeing their grandchildren (nieces, nephews, cousins) in their everyday environment and were rewarded with glowing smiles everywhere they went.

The last PTA school function of this school year is Family Night this Thursday from 7-8 p.m. An art and science fair is planned for the evening. The children's Science Fair entries and many of their art projects will be on display.

Plan to attend and celebrate the end of another successful school year.

COOKE JUNIOR HIGH

Seventh graders took a field trip to Greenfield Village May 12 for the 29th annual "Country Fair of Yesteryear." This fair was designed to show students what a community event of the 19th century was like.

There was a band orientation May 17, in the Cooke cafeteria for all incoming seventh graders who will be attending Cooke or Meads Mill.

Letters were sent to all parents of incoming seventh graders to attend an orientation May 24 in the cafeteria.

June 6 the symphony and concert bands will be giving a concert at 6 p.m. in the cafeteria and June 9 the seventh grade band will also be having a concert at 6 p.m.

In observance of Michigan Week Chuck Hayes had his seventh grade science classes sprucing up around Cooke and planting new flowers.

Wedding bells will be ringing in July for two of Cooke's teachers. Kathy Piette will marry Bill Lenz, a teacher at Winchester, and Michael Rumbell will also be getting married the same week. Congratulations to you both!

Report cards are to be mailed out as soon as possible after June 14, the last day of school.

Have a safe and happy summer.

Ronnie Abraham

MEADS MILL JUNIOR HIGH

The Weather Station donated by the PTSA is in working order and on display for anyone who wishes to see it.

The last after-school activity will be a dance from 7 to 9 p.m. June 12 with a live band.

Picnics are planned for all the grades on the last week of school.

Ninth graders will be going to Hines

Park today. After the fun and games, buses will pick them up and transport the students to the high school where they will have a chance to see a play given by the high school students. The PTSA will be donating the pop for all of the picnics.

There will be an honors assembly the last day of school with certificates for those students receiving a 3.5 or above grade point average, and also for any students participating in sports this year.

As this school year is drawing to a close, Meads PTSA wishes to thank all mothers who have given their time and abilities to help our PTSA function as a successful unit. We wish continuing success for the 1978-79 incoming officers.

a counterpart of the visitor. The goal is to get to know other people and other ways of living. The students learned of the CISV program through Cooke counselor Gladys Cohen.

Their Highland Fling's tops

Elizabeth Grover of 20826 Chigwidden has won the first place trophy in the "16 and over Pre-Championship Class" at the 11th Great Lakes Highland Dance Competition held May 20-21 at Oakland University. The annual event attracts dancers from throughout the United States and Canada.

Other Northville dancers who participated in the competition and won 24 individual dance medals were Jeri Brundage, Leslie Grover, Beth and Mary Ross, Sharon Alspaugh and Chris Townsend. Also participating were Heather Neil of Novi and Dayna Bolla, a former Northville resident. They are students at the Bill Weaver School of Highland Dancing here and danced with Julie Berry and Heather and Victoria Brennan, other class members.

Businesswomen elect

Marlene Danol, a past president of the Northville Business and Professional Women, was elected first vice-president of the state federation at the Michigan state Convention of Business and Professional Women held May 19-21 on Mackinac Island.

Twenty Northville chapter members attended the convention, as did Mrs. Danol's daughters. Next's year the state meeting will be held at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn.

Louise Cutler was installed as president for her second year at the club's May 22 meeting at Idylwyld Golf Club. Other officers are Ruth Houston, vice-president; Dr. Carol Geake, secretary; Berenice Ellis, treasurer. Past district director Connie Fitzner of Garden City was the installing officer.
