School millage, bond squeeze by

No lay offs; 2.9 mills fail

Northville school district voters narrowly approved a 2.6-mill tax hike Monday, thereby allowing the current school programs to continue and avoiding 25 teachers lay offs.

With not quite 30 percent of the district's 11,220 registered voters going to the polls, Proposition 1 passed by 99 votes, 1680-1581.

By an even slimmer margin of 77 votes, voters approved a $1 million bond issue, Proposition 3, which will provide funds for maintenance and major repair of buildings.

Amerman and Winchester precincts carried the issue, which won 1667-1590.

The only defeat of the night was Proposition 2, a request for 2.9 additional mills to reinstate program cuts in past years. Voters rejected the issue by better than a 2-1 margin, 2189-1072.

Incumbent Treasurer Karen Wilkins and newcomer Richard Barron were unopposed in the school board race and were elected to four-year terms.

Proposition 1, which passed in four of six precincts to overcome deficits in the city and Moraine voting districts, will increase the total school tax rate by about six percent and add $450,000 to next year's operating budget.

Without the additional 2.6 mills, the school board had said it would be necessary to lay off 25 teachers, shorten the secondary school days, limit busing to elementary school students and drop all extracurricular activities including sports.

"We're very, very appreciative," said Board Vice President Douglas Whitaker after the final precinct reported. "We'll do our best to see that people get a good value for their support of the school district."

"I think it was a vote for the kids," added Trustee James Lewis.

Superintendent Raymond Spear had the only sobering note of the election night by telling the board that it could face another millage fight next year

"You're not going to balance in 1979-80 without additional money" unless some expenses are dropped, he said.

Next year, 3.0 mills approved in the mid-70s are up for renewal.

Proposition 1's victory was the first millage increase approved by voters since April 3, 1976, and only the second additional millage success in the last six tries, dating back to August 18, 1975.

Last April 30, voters soundly rejected a 5.5-mill request by a 2-1 margin.

Monday's ballot divided that package into two parts — Proposition 1, the 2.6

Some area millages passed

Millage elections in area school districts Monday night were a mixed bag of results.

For the most part, voters limited their approval to either small or renewal millage requests.

In Plymouth, for instance, 3.0 renewal mills passed relatively easily, 5622 to 3640, but requests for 1.5 additional mills for operation and half-a-mill for maintenance were defeated by similar margins.

The biggest setback was in Livonia where voters turned down a request for 5.7 mills for the second time this year. The 3700-vote defeat means pink slips for about 290 teachers.

In Novi, a 1.0-mill increase passed by 62 votes, 1017 to 955. The same issue had been rejected earlier this year.

The second time was also the charm for the Brighton school district which passed a 10.6 mill package, 1835-1476, that had lost by eight votes in April.

The 10.6 mills includes 7.25 renewal and 3.35 additional mills.

Board assails step raises

Northville school board members took a slap at the step system of built-in annual wage hikes Monday, calling it "deceptive" and something the district can no longer "live with."

By a 5-1 vote, the board rejected an administrative proposal for a new secretary's pay scale and did not even consider the new salaries proposed for district office administrators.

Administrators said the board's delay could cost the district money in the long run.

Board members said their action was not aimed at secretaries, who last week offered to take a one percent pay cut to help the district, but was a protest against annual salary steps.

"I'm raising an issue that I will continue to raise in our contracts," said Trustee Charles Peltz. "I know it (the step system) is a cherished tradition in education, but I think it's a very deceptive sort of thing."

The board objection centered on an administrative recommendation to offer the districts secretaries and clerks a 6½ percent pay increase next year.

Board members noted, however, that with the built-in step increases, the actual offer was an average 9½ percent increase and as high as 12.5 percent for those on the bottom step.

Employees on the top step, which is reached in five years, would only be receiving the 6½ percent increase.

Peltz said the step system penalized the longterm employee and suggested a merit system be adopted.

Director of Personnel Burton Knighton said that if the secretary's wages weren't settled by July, they would continue to work full work years, rather than the shorter ones that had been agreed on.

That would mean an increased cost to the district, he said.

Superintendent Raymond Spear warned the board that it was inviting more bargaining units by bringing up the steps question with the district's only two non-union employee groups.

He suggested approving Monday's salary recommendations and putting all employees "on notice" that step increases would be an issue next year.

But Trustee Marjorie Sliger said the growing taxpayer revolt no longer allowed the board to procrastinate on the issue.

"The taxpayer is talking. Look at California," she said. "He (the taxpayer) is not saying next year. He's saying right now. A 12½ percent increase... I just don't think that we can live with it."

"I'm hearing you say, Mrs. Sliger, that the ballgame has changed," said Spear.

"You bet it has," she responded. Several board members sought to table the action on the secretary's wages until the steps question could be studied further.

But Treasurer Karen Wilkinson, the only board member to vote in favor of ### Happy Father's Day!

Whether it be the apprehension of the challenge or the pain of a skinned knee, a dented fender, or a lost ballgame, there is no more soothing remedy than that bond of understanding tenderness between father and

Tax fight gains steam

By LENORE BECHTEL

"The average person works until May 29 to pay his taxes. People are fed up."

Richard H. Headlee: "The problem is there has been no definition of the economic pie."

So said Richard H. Headlee, who is determined to solve citizens' tax dilemma by giving voters an opportunity to vote for tax limitation in November.

Headlee, chairman of the 13,000-member Taxpayers United for Tax Limitation, spearheaded the movement to freeze state and local taxes at their present level — approximately 9.7 percent of the total personal income in the state.

He predicts voters will pass the proposed Michigan constitutional amendment by a two to one margin and that no legislative candidate opposing the measure will be elected.

"The problem is there has been no definition of the economic pie," he said. "With this amendment, there will be. When this passes, if you're in government, plan to operate on the share of the economic pie you've got now."

Area legislators and officials have mixed opinions of the proposed amendment. State Senator Robert Geake, R-Northville, and State Representative Thomas Sharpe, R-Howell, support it. State Senator Jack Kirksey, R-Livonia, will vote against it, and State Senator Kerry Kammer, D-Pontiac, who represents Brighton, has not taken a final position on the issue.

Northville City Manager, Steve

Walters will vote for it only if, after studying the amendment, he's convinced that it offers protection to keep the state from reducing local support as a way of solving state fiscal problems.

Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara thinks it will be a boon to local government, but Novi Assistant

'Super' search to be narrowed to 3 candidates

The first phase of Northville's "Great Superintendent Search" is complete and there is the proverbial pause in the action before Phase II gets underway.

Board of education members interviewed the last three of eight finalists Tuesday and Wednesday, but were not scheduled to meet again on the superintendent questions until last night (Tuesday).

Part of the reason for the delay is to give board members time to catch their breath and review their notes after 16 hours of interviews.

And part of the reason was a tight schedule which included high school graduation on Thursday, a formal board meeting on Thursday and the last-minute campaign for Monday's millage election.

Last night, the board hoped to reduce the number of candidates to about three although the procedure has not been established.

From those finalists, the board hopes to zero in on a consensus favorite. An undetermined number of board members would then be selected to visit that candidate's school district for a closer look.

The board would like to reach an

NEWS BRIEFS

IT'S STILL a long way off, but the annual International Festival sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, has already received permission for four street banners advertising the October 6, 7, and 8 event at Northville Downs.

REHEARSAL for the ecumenical community choir, which will perform for the Fourth of July early morning service at the Mill Race Historical Village, will be held at the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday, July 2 at 7 p.m. Anyone wishing to participate is urged to attend the rehearsal. Several churches in the community will take part in the special public service that will get underway at 8 a.m. Kenneth Clum will direct the choir.

SUMMER JOBS for area youth, ages 15-21, are available through the Northville Public Schools thanks to a $35,000 grant from the Department of Natural Resources. The jobs pay $2.65 an hour, last for 10 weeks beginning June 19 and involve mostly outdoor work including park beautification, building city nature trails and cleaning township drainage ditches of overgrowth. Those interested in applying should call Mike Burley at 349-3400.

TWO CANDIDATES for township offices withdrew their names by the deadline last Friday, Clerk Clarice Sass announced Monday. Betty Lennox, for whom a petition for supervisor was filed, and James Pasco, whose petition was for trustee, both withdrew. Incumbent Wilson Grier will be opposed only by Don Thomson for supervisor. Running for two trustee posts will be incumbent James Nowka, William Zapke and William Greer.

DELAY of the opening of Allen Terrace senior citizens apartment complex appears a certainty because of the sheet metal workers strike that has stopped this kind of critical work on the site here. Even if the strike were settled this week, officials estimate that the delay will have already cost two weeks time. Officials had hoped to open Allen Terrace by the end of this month.

HOWELL — Thirteen Republicans and nine Democrats filed for a chance at one of the eight seats on the Livingston County Board of Commissioners.

HAMBURG — Going after the $20,000 job of supervisor here is Democrat Francis Shehan, the incumbent, Democrat Theresa Reese, one of the board's chief critics, and Republican Donald DeWolf.

HOWELL — Governor William Milliken was on hand for the ribbon cutting ceremony signalling the official reopening of the county court house. The renovated building is on the National Register of Historic Buildings.

GREEN OAK — A 25-year-old Detroit man was shot and killed by a Green Oak Township police officer when police responded to a reported breaking and entering at the home of a 71-year-old township woman who had been beaten by the intruder. The shooting took place within a half mile of the scene of the April murder of an 85-year-old woman who was brutally stabbed and assaulted in her home.

SOUTH LYON — The police chief's job here appears to be on the line as he and Mayor John Noel reportedly are on a collision course. Led by the mayor, the council voted 5-0 to dump a federally funded crime prevention program that many merchants praised and which police say was responsible for a dramatic drop in juvenile crime.

SOUTH LYON — Cheryl Scheffer, South Lyon's talented sophomore runner, successfully defended her State Class B two-mile run championship at Otsego in a time of 11:05.5, one second off her winning time as a freshman.

NEW HUDSON — For the first time in 30 years, the name of William K. Smith will not appear on the ballot in Lyon township. The long-time supervisor decided not to seek re-election, leaving the field open to candidates Gwendolyn Knapp, township trustee, and Robert Root, chairman of the planning commission.

NOVI — A proposal that would limit the number of building permits issued in Novi annually has been introduced to the city council. The proposed growth limitation ordinance would require Novi to limit the number of permits issued yearly to 436 — well below the number expected to be issued this year.

Life-saving 'frige

Northville-city firemen have launched their campaign to have "Vials of Life" placed in refrigerators throughout the city. In cooperation with the county health department, firemen are urging homeowners to fill out medical forms on members of the family and placing them in plastic vials stored in refrigerators. Purpose, according to Chief Bud Hartner (left), is to locate the medical information in a familiar place where they can be quickly obtained in emergency situations by firemen or ambulance attendants not familiar with the house. One of the first to install the vial was the parents of the Hartner, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hartner, Sr., (above), 325 South Rogers.

'Horses and buggies could benefit sale'

"Anybody got some horses and buggies?" If so, Charles Lapham has an idea that could earn a local organization some money during the annual Sidewalk Sales Day this year.

Because the annual event has grown so large, it has flooded the city parking lots with shoppers' cars. To cope with the growing number of cars, arrangements have been made with Robert Cole for use of his South Center Street parking lot next to Northville Downs, says Lapham.

"I figure if someone with horses and buggies ran a little taxi service between Cole's parking lot and the downtown street sales they could pick up a few bucks and add an extra touch of class to this big event."

Sidewalk Sales Day will occur on Saturday, July 29.

And because participation has grown by leaps and bounds, Lapham emphasizes the importance of making early reservations. "Better to reserve a space now than take the chance of not finding one later on," says Lapham, who heads up the events.

Reservations can be made for $12.50 for each space.

If past experience is an indication of what can be expected to happen this year, spaces reserved by clubs and organizations will out-number participation by merchants.

"What started out as a predominately merchant oriented event has become a 'total town participation' with a fair like atmosphere," notes Lapham. "In fact, merchants are dwarfed by organizational participation."

Persons and organizations wishing to make reservations may send their checks together with names, phone numbers, and the types of merchandise to be sold to Charles Lapham Sidewalk Sales, 120 East Main Street, or telephone 349-5175.

Bach, John Marzonie, Luigi Folino and John Bock, Jr. For the next eight days they will be participating in mock elections and conducting government of a mythical 51st state in East Lansing.

Boys State delegates named here

Eight Northville boys who will be seniors in the fall at Northville High School are checking in at the 41st annual American Legion Wolverine Boys' State today on the Michigan State University campus, postmaster John Steimel, legion chairman, announces.

Participants and their local sponsors are Greg Bach, Northville Mothers' Club; John Bock, Jr., Northville Rotary; Steve Dragon, Northville Jaycees; Luigi Folino, Casterline Funeral Home; Clifford Griggs, Northville Lodge No. 186, F & AM; John Marzonie, Lloyd H. Green Post No. 147; Mike McNamara, Northville Kiwanis; and Brian Turnbull, Lloyd H. Green Post No. 147.

For eight days they will be among 1,150 young men who will live in Brody Hall learning about government by setting up a mythical 51st state and running for city, county and state offices.

In addition to campaigns and elections, the participants will have athletic clinics and competitive sports as well as a band and glee club.

Selection of the Boys' State representatives, planners explain, is the responsibility of the sponsoring organizations. They are asked to consider candidates with demonstrated leadership qualities; with an awareness of government; mental alertness; vigor, enthusiasm and responsibility; and ability to get along with others.

All participants in the program signed up to be considered, Northville High School counselor RoseMarie Forsythe reported, and wrote statements telling why they would like to represent Northville High at Boys' State.

All were highly qualified and their grade point averages were checked, she added. Their statements were sent to Steimel with the applications.

There were more applicants than sponsors, she said, saying she "was very disappointed" that all could not participate in the program and hoped that perhaps two more sponsors might be found for another year.

City planners to look at 8 Mile sub plan

Plans for the development of all or a large portion of the largest remaining piece of vacant land left in the city, 135 acres on the north side of Eight Mile between Northville Estates on the west and Lexington Commons on the east, are due to be viewed by city planners soon.

A preliminary discussion of uses for the property was on the June 6 agenda of the commission, but was postponed at the developer's request to the June 20 meeting next week.

Planner Ronald Nino reported that Ernest Fournier, representing those interested in developing the property, would bring the presentation to the next meeting.

Now zoned single family residential, the property, the last piece of significant size in the city, is being considered for development, Nino said, by the group which has a contingent offer to purchase a part of the land.

Fournier, when contacted at the Thompson Brown office on 12 Mile last week, said that he represents Four Real Estate Investments, Incorporated, but that he is not ready to discuss development at this point.

He indicated that only 82 of 135 acres are under consideration and that they are about Lexington Commons.

Nino told the planners that Planned

Unit Development (PUD) had been discussed for the property, now zoned single family. It was Nino's understanding, however, that initially at least, all 135 acres were being considered for a planned community development with seven acres to be commercial, 40 multiple and the balance single family.

Under present zoning, he told the commission, about 150 single family units could be built. He added that the developers were "shooting for 250 units."

He said he had advised that they should consider "scaling back" or "shooting for rezoning."

Commission members expressed surprise that there was a possibility of additional commercial requests being made, pointing to vacancies in Northville Square that already exist.

City Manager Steven Walters stated last week that he had not been contacted by the developing group and that at this point plans were "basically gossip." He added that he had "heard talk of Kroger going in the commercial development" but had had absolutely no contact with the firm.

Walters said the largest piece of the property is known as "the McDonald farm" but that there are several other owners of smaller pieces.

Auditor change possible

Proposals are being sought by the City of Northville for an auditing firm.

After having employed Icerman, Johnson & Hoffman, for some 20 years or more, council had decided to consider a change.

To date only Icerman and the Northville firm of Lee Holland have voiced interest in the job. Others are expected, however.

At its meeting last week council decided it could not make an intelligent decision based on only two firms.

Sub plan goes to board

The Northville Township Board of Trustees will be asked at their 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow night to give tentative approval to the proposed 166-lot North Beacon Woods subdivision to be located on 83.6 acres south of Eight Mile Road, just west of the City of Northville.

Residents of Whipple Estates and Taft Colony — some whose lots adjoin the proposed subdivision — have protested the aesthetic aspects of flattening rolling land and constructing the straight streets in the subdivision. They have also expressed concern over drainage.

The Northville Township Planning Commission twice turned down plans for the subdivision, but approved revised plans at their May 30 meeting. The new plans eliminated road access from Eight Mile Road and the proposed subdivision into Whipple Estates.

Opponents have objected that the lot sizes in the proposed subdivision do not conform with the adjoining development.

The new plans call for lots 12,800 square feet or greater, the minimum being less than 1/3 acre, while lots in Whipple Estates are about one acre. All lots will be at least 100 feet wide, with approximately 7.2 of the 83.6 acres reserved for parks.

The board also will be asked to give tentative approval to the proposed Elizabeth Town Subdivision, a seven-lot plan south of Seven Mile, east of Beck Road.

School safety studied

Efforts to improve traffic conditions at Amerman Elementary School are being made by city officials.

Last week Mayor Paul Vernon appointed Councilman Wallace Nichols and Stanley Johnson as council representatives to meet with similar representatives of the Northville School Board to consider corrective proposals of an Amerman traffic subcommittee.

Earlier, the mayor and the city manager, Steven Walters, met with subcommittee members to get a first-hand look at the traffic problems in the vicinity of the school and to discuss various means of solving them.

Some of the suggestions coming out of that meeting have been im-

Despite loophole, police to enforce fireworks law

A legal loophole large enough to shoot a Roman Candle through has created some uncertainty among local police about enforcing fireworks laws at the explosive Fourth of July holiday nears. Both township and city police — but not state police — will make arrests based on existing ordinances and District Court Judge Dunbar Davis said he would uphold those arrests.

The confusion began when a U.S. District Court judge in Grand Rapids told Michigan State Police that they could no longer enforce state restrictions on fireworks containing less than two grains of powder.

Michigan law prohibits private use of firecrackers with more than one-quarter grain of powder "except as otherwise permitted," ruled the judge. That opened the door for the in-state sale of ladyfingers, Roman Candles, fountains, pinwheels and other fireworks containing less than the federal limit of two grains, or 130 milligrams, or powder.

Salesmen trying to cash in on the court's decision may be misled by fireworks manufacturers who are indicating the ruling is more widespread than it is.

"The majority of fireworks are still illegal," said Lt. George McKenzie of the Fire Marshall's Division at the Michigan State Police Post in Northville.

"All the ruling said was that the Michigan State Police could not enforce the law."

Township and city police, said McKenzie, can still enforce either their own ordinances or state statutes.

Both Northville City and Township have ordinances which prohibit fireworks "except those which are permitted by state laws."

Township police said they would make arrests for the use of fireworks.

City police said they were waiting for an opinion from City Attorney Philip Ogilvie.

Monday night, the city council instructed Ogilvie to enforce the firecracker ordinance. At least two Northville stores are selling fireworks, said Ogilvie.

Judge Davis said he would convict violators of the ordinances and leave it up to circuit court judges to decide any appeals.

Legislation has been introduced in the Michigan House to eliminate the troublesome clause from the state fireworks statute.

Until then, or until the state attorney general issues an opinion, the decision to enforce the law will apparently be left up to local authorities.

Even the more liberal two-grain maximum restricts the use of many firecrackers, including the powerful cherry bombs and M80s.

For the most part, the contents of firecrackers have to be weighed to determine if they are illegal.

"You can't tell just by looking at them," said McKenzie. Some large firecrackers, he said, may have tiny amounts of powder.

Even firecrackers that make loud noises may have less than two grains of explosive or flammable material, he said.

"The secret is to pack it so tight that when it goes off, it makes a bigger noise," he explained.

$31 million county jail gets start

Construction of the new Wayne County jail anticipated for two years will begin next month following a June 2 dedication ceremony at the construction site.

Caissons for the 600-cell unit will be sunk on July 5, and the entire $31.7 million three-unit project will be completed 33 months later.

The facility will include the 600-cell structure beside Recorder's Court, an adjacent two-story parking garage, and next door to that a two-story office and administration building.

Located directly south and east of Detroit police headquarters at 1300 Beaubien, the facility will be built on an "L" shaped land parcel straddling Macomb Street between Beaubien and St. Antoine.

Part of the east section just behind the police building is now a parking lot, and part is a miniature park. The south section is another parking lot.

All mayors in the county, township supervisors, public safety officers, and some state corrections officials were invited to the dedication ceremony.

The 13-story cell unit will be 25 feet lower than Recorder's Court, and will feature an exterior similar in appearance. Also, the exterior of the parking and administration units will resemble St. Mary's church in the area.

It will employ about 200 people, all potential Greentown patrons, in addition to those already working in the sur-

School urges adults to use career center

Midnight oil burned at Schoolcraft College last weekend as an administrative budget committee put together a 1978-79 spending plan to place before the board of trustees this week.

Trustees will work on the budget in a meeting beginning at 8 p.m. tonight. If necessary, they will schedule a special meeting June 21. A public hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. June 28.

"We're short right now about $700,000," said Kenneth Lindner, vice-president for administrative affairs and budget committee chairman, last Friday.

Although he was unable to fill in details, he hinted broadly that "some things are going to fall by the wayside" without additional revenue.

Operating revenue is expected to total $11.1 million, said Lindner. Debt retirement will cost another $668,000.

Here are the prospects for the community college's three main sources of revenue:

• Property taxes — The tax base (state equalized value of all homes and businesses) is nearly $2.1 billion, up about eight percent. It will bring in about $3.7 million in operating revenues. The voted tax rate will remain at 1.77 mills because two millage increases were rejected by voters in 1976 and '77.

• State aid — The Michigan Legislature hasn't completed work on aid bills, and the house and senate have different versions. Averaging them, however, Lindner looks for an increase of 14 percent. That would put total state aid at about $4.8 million.

• Student tuition and fees — This is the only area over which the college has any control. Lindner indicated little increase could be expected from natural growth. He wouldn't say whether the administration would recommend an increase. Current tuition and fee rates per credit hour are $15.50 for district residents, $26.50 for other residents of Michigan and $39.50 for out-of-state residents. Last year this item raised $2.4 million, or nearly a quarter of the budget.

"Four years ago," said Lindner, "we told the board there would be shortfall of revenue in five to six years of about $1 million.

"We're short right now about $700,000."

"Budget requests are up nine percent, and we can't fund it. We've got to take some strong stands. We've got to make some strong decisions."

A complicating factor this year is that the college is negotiating new contracts with two employee groups — the Faculty Forum and the Association of Office Personnel. The groups have announced they will bargain cooperatively; that is, one union will not initiate a settlement until the other group is ready to settle.

Other members of the budget committee include: E. F. Peterson, manager of business services; Clara Rousseau, administrative assistant to the president; Fred Stefanski, dean of arts and sciences; Norman Wheeler, assistant dean; Edward McNally, vice-president for student affairs, and John Tomey, director of financial aids.

Need job?

Computer may help

You don't have to be a student to hunt for job information on the new computer terminal at Northville High School.

The state-funded Michigan Occupation Information Survey terminal is open to the community, according to Curriculum Coordinator Michael Burley.

MOIS contains information about 350 Michigan professions including wages, education required, working conditions, and characteristics of people who are successful in the various fields.

Students use MOIS in the high school career center to try and match interest with professions.

In the past, the information has been stored on micro-fiche, but last week the school began using a new terminal tied to a computer with all the MOIS data in its memory bank.

The terminal is financed through the Wayne County Office of Manpower.

Burley said the community is encouraged to use the system, even in the summer when school is not in session. Aides will be available to assist interested persons from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Funding for the countywide program is assured for a least five years, said Burley.

Paraquat spells poison for pot smokers

By RICH PERLBERG

A Vietnam-era herbicide is at the center of a relatively unheralded controversy that could affect the health and lives of American marijuana smokers — including those in Northville — for years to come.

The herbicide is paraquat, a substance so lethal in its pure form that one-tenth of an ounce can cause agonizing death within 24 hours.

Since 1975, with encouragement and money from the United States, the Mexican government has sprayed paraquat on marijuana grown illegally along Mexico's western coastal mountain range.

At first, the state department hailed the program as a huge success in slowing the flow of both marijuana and heroin that is smuggled across the Mexican border and into the United States.

Then, slowly, from a ripple that began in underground communication currents and eventually reached government laboratories, came disturbing reports that a sizeable amount of paraquat-tainted marijuana was finding its way into the country.

There is no conclusive proof that the tainted marijuana is a health hazard, but the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Georgia, has found that available evidence suggests that pulmonary fibrosis might occur among long-term heavy users.

The risk of lung damage may be slight, said a center spokesman, but "it is a serious enough possibility that smoking paraquat-contaminated marijuana cannot be considered entirely safe."

Mexico supplies an estimated 60 percent of the marijuana smoked in the United States and local observers of the drug scene say the percentage is at least that high around Northville.

But even though the government is at least partially responsible for the paraquat threat, federal authorities are loathe to provide any safeguards for what is still an illegal substance.

Typical is the response of Leo Dogoloff, an official with the White House Office of Substance Abuse.

In the April 28 issue of Science magazine, he said, "the government does feel some responsibility to smokers, but individuals do have some responsibility to smokers, but individuals do have some responsibility and choice in the matter — they don't have to smoke."

Those aware of paraquat — and many are not — have had to turn to either Michigan Bio-Chem, a Flint laboratory that will analyze marijuana samples for $5, or do-it-yourself kits such as the one sold for $3 by the Ann Arbor Chemical and Apparatus Company.

The problem has been that no independent body will verify the validity of either method.

Particularly questionable are the do-it-yourself kits which use sodium dithionite to detect paraquat.

"I'd suggest that nobody uses the kit because it gives false negatives even when marijuana is coated with paraquat," charged a technician for Flint's Bio-Chem.

Wayne Hruden, the technical director of Ann Arbor Chemical and an "active scientist" for 20 years, defended the kit and said the Flint lab's criticism is based on a competitive fear of losing business.

"They certainly don't want to see our kits out on the market," he said.

A spokesman for the New York State Office of Substance Abuse, which operates its own lab, said the sodium dithionite test is valid, but should only be conducted by professionals.

"The test works fine, not only in our lab but in qualified labs all over the country," he said. "But unqualified people should not perform any tests with chemicals."

Not all labs are reliable, however, and there appears to be no way the average smoker can know which are dependable.

The "test laboratory" sanctioned to Bio Chem by the federal Drug Enforcement Agency allows the lab to legally possess marijuana but is not an endorsement of its quality, according to

The federal government's role in the paraquat hazard can be traced to Mexico's west coast where the large central plateau gives way to the rugged, isolated and virtually inaccessible

'Once it gets into the tissue of the lungs, the body never clears it out.'

Thomas Vernier, DEA director in Detroit.

Government testing for paraquat would be "tantamount to tacit approval" of pot, said Vernier.

His advice to those who fear poisoning: "Just don't blow grass."

U.S. Senator Charles Percy (Dem.-Ill.) objects to the government's benign neglect policy method of dealing with paraquat. He is urging authorities to pressure the Mexicans to discontinue paraquat spraying.

Percy opposes drug use but said, "the U.S. government has a responsibility to ensure that its actions do not foreseeably endanger the health and safety of any of its citizens, drug users included."

That's the position of the National Organization for Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML) which has filed a lawsuit seeking to force the state department to prepare an environmental impact statement on the effects of the paraquat program.

Sierre Madres mountain range.

From this region, 2500 tons of marijuana and 5000 pounds of heroin a year are carefully cultivated for shipment to the United States.

For years, Mexican efforts to eradicate the crops were largely unsuccessful. Farmers, made relatively wealthy in the poverty-stricken area, often greeted drug agents with wrath and sometimes, bullets.

In 1975, the United States government urged Mexican authorities to spray the area with herbicides. To help, American tax money purchased $40 million worth of Bell & Howell helicopters and Cessna airplanes.

The herbicide chosen was Paraquat, a deadly defoliate used in Southeastern Asian jungles during the Vietnam War.

In its pure form, paraquat has caused many accidental deaths in the southwest United States where it was once used commercially. According to one source, paraquat was the "poison of choice" among British suicide victims in the early 1970's.

Some 9500 acres of marijuana were sprayed with paraquat. Another 14,000 acres of poppies were sprayed with the herbicide 2,4-D.

There was one flaw. Paraquat destroys the leaves of the marijuana plant, but only after it is exposed to sunlight for 24 to 48 hours.

Mexican farmers, aware of this, quickly harvested freshly-sprayed marijuana and shipped it north in sun-protected packaging which halted the dessication and left the paraquat in its pure form.

There is little doubt that significant amounts of the tainted marijuana have reached this country.

The Center for Disease Control found evidence of paraquat on 20 percent of marijuana samples confiscated at the Mexican border. When a Chicago pharmaceutical company offered free testing, it found paraquat on 39 of the first 40 samples.

Some Northville residents, using the do-it-yourself kit, said they got positive results.

At first, the National Institute on Drug Abuse downplayed the threat because it said the paraquat was harmlessly burned off when marijuana is smoked.

Recently, however, scientists at the Research Triangle Institute in North Carolina found that as much as five percent of the herbicide remains pure after burning and may be inhaled by the smoker.

If this is true, smoking from one to three contaminated marijuana cigarettes a day could cause irreversible lung damage.

"It's pretty dangerous, said the Bio-Chem technician. "Once it gets into the tissue of the lungs, the body never clears it out. Once you've got it, you've got it."

Although there have been no confirmed cases of marijuana-related paraquat poisonings, there is a fear that the ill effects will not be known for several years.

Reports Science magazine: "At the low doses in the contaminated marijuana, the scarring in humans would build up slowly and it would be sometime before the only probable symptom — extreme shortness of breath — would be noticed."

Ominously, doctors in California, Georgia and Iowa have reported patients — who apparently smoked large amounts of tainted marijuana — who have experienced shortness of breath and who have been spitting up blood.

The scare has reached many local dealers who are now selling Mexican marijuana under different names.

At Bio-Chem, supposedly "Jamaican" grass was found to be contaminated at a level of 550 parts per million. If paraquat is inhaled by marijuana smokers, concentration at that level would almost certainly cause lung damage to heavy users.

Ballot to include county mill proposal

Wayne County, faced with a $12 million budget deficit and rising criminal justice system costs, will ask the voters to approve renewal of an expiring one-mill property levy in the August 8 primary election.

After weeks of consideration, the county board of commissioners June 8 voted unanimously at a special meeting to ask the voters to continue the levy for another five years.

"This is just a renewal — not a tax increase proposal," emphasized Commissioner Samuel A. Turner, chairman of the board's ways and means (financial) committee.

One mill equals $1 per $1,000 assessed valuation and amounts to $1 in the monthly payment for a home with a $12,000 valuation, the average value in Wayne County.

The levy produces nearly $14 million annually to support general county services — including law enforcement, courts, juvenile justice programs, public health and medical services, county parks and senior citizen and job training programs.

Renewal of the millage will still leave a multi-million dollar gap between revenues and costs, said Turner.

"But we decided to hold the line on taxes and ask the voters only to maintain their present commitment while we continue to look for other ways of closing the gap," he commented, adding:

"If the voters get the facts about the mandatory cost increases which have been imposed on the county in recent years, we believe they will agree to the need to continue this modest levy."

The voters first approved the one-mill levy in 1964 and then renewed it in 1968 and 1972.

"Since 1972," Turner said, "our law enforcement costs have increased 91 percent and our costs for court operations have gone up 55 percent."

"But for the first time in years, the crime rate in Wayne County has dropped, so the investment is paying off — but at a price. The price has been cutbacks in human services which are now minimally adequate at best."

Annual cost-cutting efforts have reduced the permanent county payroll by nearly 20 percent — from 9120 to 7461 employees — in the last five years rounding criminal justice complex.

The new parking unit will accommodate 110 vehicles, and 500 more spaces will be available in an existing parking garage across St. Antoine when Detroit General Hospital is relocated. Before construction of the detention facility is completed, the hospital is scheduled to move north to the medical center in the vicinity of Wayne State University.

Location of the facility in the present criminal justice complex saves money because of easy access to the courts, police headquarters and the present jail, officials note. Tunneling between these points can be cheaply constructed to assure maximum security.

RUSTPROOFING. EITHER YOU HAVE IT OR YOU DON'T

Car makers don't build the rustproof car and no car dealer can deliver the real rustproofing you get with the exclusive Ziebart process

Don't be misled by some sweeping references to "anti-rust" methods used in building some 1977 cars. Real rustproofing must be done after the car is built. And it must cover every critical area inside and under the car. That's the proven Ziebart method. There are no shortcuts. That's why your Ziebart Dealer uses nine different patented spray tools to reach rust-prone areas. That's why he uses a rustproofing sealant that actually penetrates welded seams where rust can start. ## John Genitti quits plan post

John Genitti, Jr., resigned from the Northville City Planning Commission at its June 6 meeting for health reasons.

Genitti, a city resident of 417 Dunbar and owner of John's Market, was attending his first meeting since his heart attack March 28.

In accepting his resignation, Chairman C. Thomas Wheaton recognized Genitti's contributions to the city and the commission accepted it with regrets.

Genitti's term, his second, would have expired June 30, 1980.

Terms of three other commission members, James Cutler, Luke Durst and William Tucker, will be expiring this June 30.

At the request of Chairman Wheaton, both Durst and Tucker indicated they would accept a reappointment by the city council which is scheduled to take action on the posts at its June 19 meeting.

Durst was appointed to fill the vacancy created with Burton DeRusha's election to city council last November.

Tucker replaced Lyn Bourne who resigned in February.

For district court

Dunbar Davis won't have primary fight

The reports of an election challenge to District Court Judge Dunbar Davis have been greatly exaggerated.

Contrary to previous stories, the Plymouth judge will face no opposition as he seeks re-election to his six-year post in the 35th District Court.

When last Tuesday's 4 p.m. filing deadline passed, election commission officials in Lansing incorrectly listed two Plymouth attorneys as candidates for Davis' job.

The pair, James McCarthy and Maurice Breen, had actually filed for the newly created second judgeship in the 35th District Court which includes Northville, Plymouth and Canton.

The initial term for the new post will be four years and has attracted a slate of eight candidates.

Three of those are from Northville — City Attorney Philip Ogilvie, 525 Linden Court; Allen Ingle, 47115 Grasmere Road; and Aloysius Suchy, 890 Yorktown.

Also running are McCarthy, Breen and James Garber and Walter Guth of Plymouth and Craig John of Canton.

House race eliminated in primary

There will be no primary race in the state's 35th House of Representatives District now that one of two Democrats who had filed has dropped out of the contest.

Francis J. Curran of Livonia withdrew Thursday leaving a fellow Livonia resident, Joseph P. Horvath Jr., unopposed for his party's nomination.

Running unopposed for the Republican primary is Jack E. Kirksey, a former elementary school principal from Livonia.

Kirksey was elected to the House in a special election last year after Republican Robert Geake of Northville moved up to the Senate.

The 35th district includes all of Northville Township and the Wayne County portion of Northville City.

Geake, whose senatorial district includes the same portions of Northville, is being opposed in the Republican primary by Livonia City Clerk Addison Bacon.

Paul Kadish, the Livonia president of the Schoolcraft board of trustees, is unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Court audit shows excess

Actual shared court expenses for the year ending December 31, 1977 were $17,214.09 less than revenues received from supporting governmental units, according to the audit by Sutherland & Yoe, P.C. of Plymouth.

The audit showed that the City of Northville paid 30.41 percent or $77,110 for operation of 35th District Court, while the City of Plymouth paid 69.59 percent or $179,925 for a combined total of $257,035.

Actual court expenses were $72,929.54 and $166,891.37, respectively, for a total of $239,820.91.

The audit indicates that amounts reimbursable to the supporting units of government are $4,180.46 to Northville and $13,033.63 to Plymouth.

In addition, also payable to Northville and Plymouth are $951.5 and $57, respectively, for expenses incurred by the two units of government on the court's behalf, Sutherland's audit showed.

Suchy seeks judgeship

Aloysius J. Suchy, Wayne County corporation counsel, is one of the three Northville residents seeking nomination for the new four-year judgeship in the 35th District Court.

A resident of Northville, he is vice-president of Lexington Condo Homes Association.

Suchy has been the county corporation counsel since creation of the post in 1971. Prior to that he served, since 1961, as chief of the civil division of the county.

A graduate of Wayne State University, he attended the University of Michigan and Wayne State law schools, receiving his law degree in 1948. He served as president of the Wayne State University Law School Alumni Association.

He is current president of the Michigan Association of County Corporation Counsels, and the immediate past president of the National Association of County Civil Attorneys.

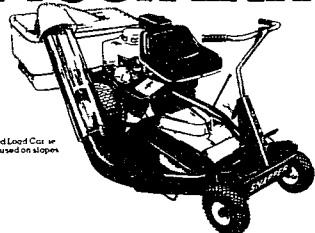

Commenting on his candidacy, he said, "In my 30 years as an attorney, I have sensed that the processes for the administration of justice are very impersonal and, at times, frightening to the litigants. I am a very people oriented person; and if I ever have the privilege of serving as a judge, I would want to serve in a court that was close to the people."

Plan meeting changed

Because the Fourth of July falls on its normal meeting date, Northville City Planning Commission at its June 6 meeting voted to hold July meetings on the second and fourth Tuesday, July 11 and 25, at 8 p.m. instead of the first and third.

Terrace land hearing slated

A public hearing has been scheduled for July 11 to rezone the north 250 feet of Lot 636, site of the Allen Terrace senior citizen apartments, from R-4 multiples to R-3.

Durst of its zoning committee.

Action was taken by the Northville City Planning Commission at the request of the city council as the city plans to sell the approximately three acres to a private developer.

City Manager Steven Walters told the commission that the "more conventional two-story multiple family development allowed under R-3 zoning is more suitable for release of the property to a private developer."

Located at the north side of the new senior citizen complex, the land is adjacent to Baseline Road and the high school.

Present R-4 zoning would permit possible high-rise building and higher density.

The planning commission also asked for a review of the rezoning request by commissioners Lesa Buckland and Luke

GOOD TIME FOR WINE
by Jim Roth

White wines differ from red wine in different ways besides their color. Generally, white wines do not age as well as reds. Many whites are not dry whereas most reds are. To prevent whites from becoming dry, the fermentation must be stopped before all of the sugar has been converted into alcohol. This means the yeasts, which cause fermentation, have to be removed. A vintner can end the fermentation by killing the yeast by adding sulfur, by filtering the yeast out, or by chilling the wine below the temperature at which fermentation can take place.

born 172; Lambertus Becker, Redford 176; Gerhardt H. Obrikat of Northville Union 55; and Orbra E. Smith, Redford 176. Photo by A. J. Maier, past master of Northville Lodge 186 and past high priest of Union Chapter 55, R.A.M.

Bring back 21 is petition goal

Rumors that the drive to put the drinking age question on the state ballot has ended "are not true," declared Allen B. Rice II, co-chairman of Coalition for 21.

The coalition reportedly is a broad-based group of Michigan citizens who have organized for the purpose of raising the state's legal drinking age to 21.

Stories suggesting that the petition drive has ended "are false and are unauthorized," said Rice. "The effort is still underway and alive."

According to Rice Coalition for 21 has set July 1 as "the last goal to reach the required number of signatures (400,000) on the 'drinking age to 21' petitions. Then we will have until July 10 to process, check and submit the signatures to the election division of the Secretary of State office.

The group seeks to amend the Michigan Constitution to raise the legal drinking age to 21.

Local chapter hosts ceremony

In a jointly conducted "Round Robin" at the Northville Masonic Temple recently, chapters of Northville, Redford and Dearborn eight men were exalted to the sublime degree of Royal Arch Mason.

According to a Masonic spokesman, each chapter takes turns with part of the degree work. This year it was the Northville Union's turn for the ceremony with David H. Brown, E.H.P., presiding, assisted by Donald Morris, E.H.P. of the Dearborn chapter and Carl M. Birch, E.H.P. of the Redford chapter, and their officers.

Those exalted included one from Northville Union 55, Gerhardt H. Obrikat; four from Dearborn 172, Holge Junge, Russell W. Hamilton, Charles H. Cook and Patrick Burger; and three from Redford 176, Orbra E. Smith, Lambertus Becker, and Burley B. Reed.

The "Round Robin" was preceded by dinner prepared and served by the women of Orient Chapter 77, Order of Eastern Star, to which the women were invited. After dinner the women were taught how to make little picture frames by Mary Turton, president of the Ladies Auxiliary of Union Chapter, while the men moved to the chapter room.

The exalted class was dedicated to Earl D. Williams, P.H.P. of Dearborn Chapter 172 and district deputy inspector of District 15.

Bowyer earns BA degree

Randall Bowyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bowyer of Northville, graduated from Gordon College, Wenham, Massachusetts, on Saturday, May 20, earning a B.A. degree in psychology. He was one of 212 students awarded degrees for successfully completing the four-year liberal arts program.

FDA appeals

Laetrile legal for some

Michigan cancer patients are taking laetrile legally every day in Michigan while the House Public Health Committee wrestles with six bills to legalize the substance, a member of the committee said Tuesday.

"This is a little known fact, but is true," State Representative Jack Kirksey (R-Livonia) said. "Laetrile is available to terminal cancer patients who have exhausted the conventional treatment methods and whose physicians have signed an affidavit to that effect."

Kirksey said in Rutherford vs. the U.S., a U.S. District Court in Oklahoma issued an injunction against the Food and Drug Administration prohibiting the agency from interfering in the interstate commerce of laetrile.

"The FDA is appealing the case," Kirksey said, "and there is a possibility the decision may be overturned. But for now, if a physician signs an affidavit that a patient has been examined, that terminal cancer has been diagnosed, and that all other cancer treatment methods have been exhausted, that patient may legally obtain laetrile."

Kirksey said the affidavit may be presented to U.S. customs agents if the patient travels to Mexico or Germany to purchase the substance, or an organization in California can act as the purchasing agent.

"We have conducted public hearings on these bills that were under study by a special committee last year," Kirksey said. "Understandably, cancer patients and their families are strong advocates of the therapeutic value of laetrile."

"The medical profession, on the other hand, believes the evidence on laetrile is inconclusive, basically because there is no control group for a study. They argue that patients taking laetrile have also had conventional forms of cancer treatment, are on restricted diets and take large doses of vitamins, and it is difficult to weigh the effect of each."

Kirksey said in testimony on the six bills, cancer patients might prescribe laetrile for themselves rather than having the disease diagnosed by a doctor and a treatment prescribed.

"The real concern over these bills is the possibility, expressed by some, that people who have cancer would opt for laetrile treatment, which is not a proven cure, rather than submit to the conventional treatment, which could save their lives," Kirksey said.

The chairman of the House Public Health Committee, Representative Raymond W. Hood (D-Detroit), has appointed a subcommittee to review the bills during the summer recess and to present recommendations to the full committee in the fall.

Although the special House committee established last year has recommended that laetrile be legalized, Hood said that the scientific evidence presented to the Public Health Committee was inconclusive. Also, there were a number of unanswered questions, such as whether laetrile should be made available only to the terminally ill patient or to any patient; whether it should be sold over the counter or only on a prescription basis; and how to monitor the quality of the product if it is legally manufactured in Michigan.

"These and other questions need to be answered before the committee members will be ready to vote on the issue," Hood said.

"Also, I believe that it is important for the committee to continue its work since the FDA is now appealing the decision of the District Court in Oklahoma. If the decision is overturned, it would make the distribution of laetrile in interstate commerce illegal," Hood concluded.

Citizens tax fight proposal gains steam

City Manager Alex Allie has reservations about it.

How would the proposed amendment work?

It would prevent the total tax bite from escalating as it has done in the past, Headlee said. State and local taxes — including not only property, income and sales taxes, but also gasoline, cigarette and liquor taxes — were 3.8 percent of total personal income 20 years ago, 6.7 percent 10 years ago and approximately 9.7 percent today. The amendment would not cut taxes, but it would freeze the amount of taxes that can be collected to the 9.7 level.

If the amendment passes, future tax revenues would increase only in proportion to increases in individual income. The more money people make, the more taxes could be collected. The Legislature would have the responsibility of dividing the total tax figure among the various tax categories.

How would the amendment help the taxpayer?

For one thing, it would keep property taxes from skyrocketing as they've done in the past, Headlee said. Property assessments would be limited, with values determined by the Consumer Price Index level compiled by the U.S. Department of Labor.

"The amendment would roll back property taxes when they exceed the cost of living," Headlee said.

For another, it would restrain state spending. Although the state population increased only 6.7 in the past 10 years, the number of people on the state payroll has increased 50.3 percent in that time.

Would state services suffer?

Headlee said "no." The amendment would require the state to maintain existing local programs at their current subsidy level for such things as school aid and highways.

"We don't believe schoolteachers, policemen, and firemen should pay the price of inflation and tax reform," Headlee said. "This doesn't hurt schools; this protects them."

The amendment would not force cutbacks in vital government services, he said, but it would prevent the wasting of billions of tax dollars on ill-conceived programs and uneeded state employees.

California voters last week passed a tax reform referendum which Headlee said should not be compared to the one being proposed for Michigan. "The California amendment didn't deal with total state spending as this one does," he said.

It gave California voters a chance to vote themselves property tax cuts, and they voted two to one to slash taxes by an estimated $6 to $7 billion a year. The proposed Michigan amendment would not cut taxes, but would freeze them.

Why did a movement for tax reform have to come from concerned citizens rather than from state legislators themselves?

"In looking at taxation, everyone is against an increase in taxes, but everyone has a demand for increased services," State Senator Kirksey said. "It's a dilemma."

For example, he said, the best the legislature could do to reflect the feelings of the people was to change the drinking law from age 18 to 19 — although most legislators realized a majority of their constituents wanted the age raised higher.

"It's a frustrating kind of thing, but the only thing that means anything in the legislative process is 51 percent of the votes on any issue."

Explaining why tax reform action could not come from the legislature, Senator Geake said, "The large majority party in both houses of the Legislature has regularly supported more and more government programs and higher and higher taxes to finance them."

Senator Kammer said he believes the state budget stabilization fund, adopted by the Legislature almost two years ago, is a step in the right direction to tax reform. The "rainy day fund" takes money out of expenditures and puts them into a savings fund earmarked for emergencies.

"It put a cap on how fast government can grow," Kammer said. "For example, some years state spending increased 10 to 12 percent, and this limits real growth and programs to two percent. I agree that we haven't gone far enough. We have to go further."

Under the proposed constitutional amendment, the "rainy day fund" would receive any excess taxes collected if the excess were less than one percent. If the excess were more than one percent, the sum would be refunded to taxpayers via the income tax.

If funds were needed to meet

State Senator Robert Geake: "I feel the demand for government services is vastly exaggerated by the bureaucracy."

State Senator Jack Kirksey: "Everything will be up for grabs, all at one time."

State Senator Karry Kammer: "We don't really know what will happen at the local level when assessments are frozen."

Novi Assistant City Manager Alex Allie: "A fast growing community like Novi will have problems providing additional services for the additional residents we're gaining."

State Representative Thomas Sharpe: "I would hope the general public would become more aware of this amendment."

Northville City Manager Steve Walters: "I don't see any reasonable way of controlling state spending."

emergencies, taxes could be increased by agreement of the governor and two-thirds of the Legislature. However, the tax increase could be for only one fiscal year and for only the exact amount required to meet the emergency.

Geake, a founding member of Taxpayers' United for Tax Limitation, was on the original legislative advisory committee that helped the group draw up the proposal.

"I strongly support tax limitation which would restrict state spending — and therefore taxes — to the present ratio to personal income statewide," he said. "It would not cause a cutback in present services, but would solve the problem of continuing excessive growth. I feel the demand for government services is vastly exaggerated by the bureaucracy. The greatest increase has been in the welfare department."

Geake said he feels some opponents' fears that the amendment would cause cutbacks in education are unfounded. "Public education needs and deserves a greater portion of public funding, but these funds should come from wasted welfare spending and not from more taxes."

Kirksey has reservations about the proposed amendment, although he agrees with the thrust behind the movement. "State spending has exceeded any new wealth in the state in recent years," he said. "Some form of control is needed, very definitely."

Still, he said he would vote against the amendment. "It will create some problems for citizens in the outstate area. It freezes, basically, the size of the pie, and then it's up to the Legislature to determine the priorities and the amounts given to needs throughout the state."

"The coalition of legislators in the Detroit area — because of their numbers — have effectively been able to receive a lion's share historically of the available money. My concern is that this will continue, and they will not diminish their needs accordingly, and there will not be money available to meet the needs of the rest of the state. I feel suburban areas will not find themselves enjoying the same kind of services they enjoyed prior to this."

Possible program cuts in public schools, dollars pulled out of programs for both the aged and mentally ill and stifling possible expansion of a transportation package to benefit suburban areas are areas of concern to Kirksey.

"It's almost impossible to project the final priorities," he said. "Everything will be up for grabs, all at one time. Each representative and each senator will be doing their individual utmost to safeguard the rights of their constituents, but it will be basically power politics."

Kammer has not decided how he will vote on the proposed amendment, which he said is "a reaction to runaway government spending."

"The thing I'm concerned with is how it will affect our being able to finance education. We don't really know what will happen at the local level when assessments are frozen. School districts expect us to pick up the burden. If our dollars are frozen, I don't know how we could."

Under the proposed amendment, voter approval would be needed for any local tax millage, as is now the case.

If the proposed tax limitation had been in effect the last five years, cities and townships would be better off than now, said Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara.

The Livonia City Council publicized the proposed amendment by passing a resolution supporting it and by declaring May 30 as Tax Independence Day.

"We chose that day," McNamara said, "because every dollar earned until that day is paid in taxes."

A staunch supporter of the amendment, McNamara said, "It will prevent what is a coming potential disaster with inflationary increases in property." The inflationary factor affecting property in Livonia has been running around 5 1/2 percent a year, but it is expected to jump to 18 percent next year, he said.

"California has experienced what we're about to enter into," he said. "In effect, it (the amendment) will prevent in an orderly fashion a huge tax increase from striking the citizens of the state of Michigan."

The aspect of the amendment that would prevent the Legislature from mandating costs without also appropriating money is an attractive feature of the amendment, McNamara said. "For instance, a fireman in Livonia now works 56 hours, then gets time and a half. A bill which has passed the Senate and is in the House would change their hours to 50 before overtime. The city of Livonia would have to pay $100,000 out of the general fund."

hope the general public would become more aware of this amendment and would get out and get the necessary signatures before the deadline.

The deadline, July 10, does not concern Headlee, who at press time has 230,000 of the needed 266,000 signatures. "Our effort has picked up real steam," he said. "It's just a matter of time until we limit federal taxes also. Stick around to the 80's. We'll be after the federal government then."

'We can make the world take notice'

Threatening skies could not deter Northville's 109th graduating class. Some have called it the school's best

Like the road before them, the sky was ominous and threatening, but it was hope and confidence that prevailed Thursday night for Northville High School's graduates.

"The world has not been anxiously awaiting our arrival," Salutatorian Brian Odom cautioned about 370 classmates during the school's 109th commencement exercises at the football field.

Laziness, sloppiness and unexcused absences won't be tolerated at work or in college, he said.

But, he added, "we can make the world sit up and take notice, if we so choose."

Valedictorian Diane Kleckner, who posted the highest grade point average in what some have called the most academically talented class in Northville's history, told students it is the time to take control of their lives.

She asked her classmates if their decisions were the results of pressure from peers and parents.

"Or did you ask for the advice and come up with the decision yourself? It's time you considered your opinion to be the most valid."

Don't set artificial limitations, she urged, because there will be enough real hurdles ahead.

"Now the opportunity exists for seeing what you can do. No goal is too high."

Meshed between these brave words for the future was perhaps the night's most charming speech, a foreign farewell by Jacqueline Chua of the Philippines.

Her mother was a bit concerned about "promiscuous" American boys, recalled Jacqueline, but it was American football games that gave her the most problems.

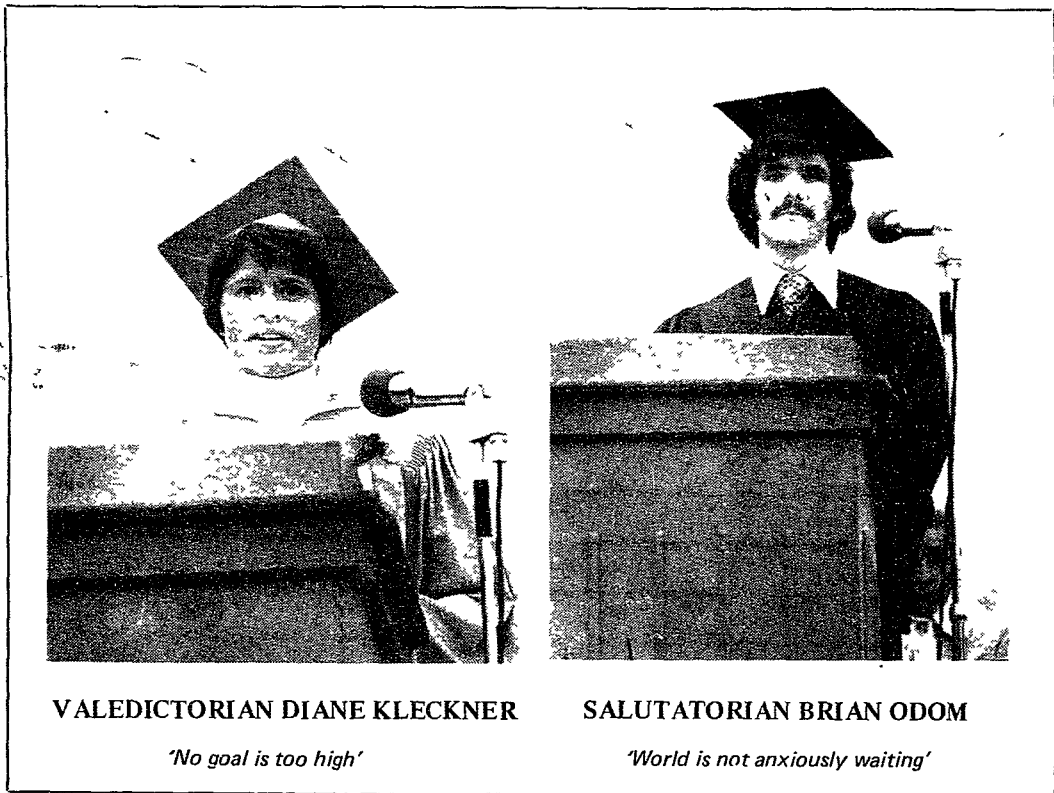

"I went to a lot of them trying to understand the game, but I still don't," she conceded.

She had no trouble getting into the swing of American eating habits. Fudge, Arby's roast beef sandwiches and "my downfall," custard doughnuts, were among her favorites.

Her all-girl Catholic school in the Philippines had stricter discipline, she said, but Northville schools had closer teacher-student relationships.

One of seven foreign exchange students this year, Jacqueline had warm memories of Northville and her adopted family.

She said she grew "mentally, socially and emotionally" in the last 10 months.

Council names Kamp-DiComo for downtown project

Kamp-DiComo, architectural firm for Allen Terrace senior citizens apartment complex, has been named to prepare the implementation plans for downtown improvement.

Northville City Council picked the Livonia based firm over the firm of Ronald Nino, the city's planning consultant, by unanimous 5-0 vote Monday night.

Council based its decision primarily on two factors — a lower fee and greater detail suggested by the Kamp-DiComo proposal.

Kamp-DiComo, whose partner Donald DiComo is a township resident who serves as architectural consultant to the Northville Historical District Commission, suggested an 8.75 percent fee as compared to the 9.9 percent fee of Nino.

But more than the smaller fee, council was impressed with Kamp-DiComo's proposal to offer more architectural advice for merchants in refacing their downtown buildings to conform with the city's adopted Victorian architectural theme.

"Don DiComo knows exactly the kinds of architectural designs wanted, having served for several years on the historical district commission," said Mayor Paul Vernon. "In addition, he has a personal interest in preserving the historical character of the community."

The mayor also noted that the firm's role in development of Allen Terrace, located just south of the high school, has been excellent.

It was Nino who prepared the preliminary plan for the downtown development project.

According to city officials, one of the first projects Kamp-DiComo will undertake will be preparation of preliminary construction documents.

Those documents will deal initially with three projects — Improvement of the north parking lot (behind Main Street stores between Center and Hut-ton streets) and development of the pedestrian walkway to Main Street; development of the park on the south side of Main Street next to the drug store; and street and sidewalk improvements.

At next week's council meeting, officials are expected to slate a public meeting for a proposed Downtown Development Authority Ordinance.

That ordinance will provide for the establishment of the authority, but will involve no financial plan nor will it give to the authority to enter into any financial arrangements relative to the improvement project.

Specific financing plans, involving bonding, will not be authorized until later. City officials emphasized that the authority will have only those financial powers specifically granted by the city council.

Lots of use

Since the Northville Historical Society began renting the New Church School Building in Mill Race Village in early 1977, it has been rented for several weddings and receptions, an art exhibit, an art auction, a wine tasting party, a seminar and a craft demonstration.

Because it became hectic for volunteers to show the building to prospective clients and follow up on rental day, the society has hired Cathy Mock (phone 349-3847) to handle reservations.

In addition to a seating capacity for 100 on the building's main level, kitchen, dressing and bathroom facilities are available in the basement. No liquor is allowed.

No fee is charge for use of the grounds, but groups wanting to use the grounds should check with Mrs. Mock for availability. The fee for the building is $60 for the first hour and a half and $60 for the next three hours.

Mrs. Mock assumed her new duties after the society's annual meeting May 25.

New officers elected at the meeting were Robert Daniel, president; Kenneth Harrison, vice president and John Brugeman, board member. Incumbent officers continuing for another term are John Carter, corresponding secretary; Joan Hoffman, recording secretary, and James Bowden, treasurer.

Oakland County units want to stay in sewer

A U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) proposal to drop Oakland County communities from the long-planned super sewer through Wayne County has trigger strong concerns of Commerce Township.

Formal protest of the EPA proposal was expected to be made by Commerce officials this week.

Meanwhile, Commerce Supervisor Robert Long was trying to set up a meeting of other affected Oakland County communities — Novi and Walled Lake — with EPA project officer for the super sewer, Douglas Ehorn.

EPA announced at a public meeting last month that it was studying the possibility of dropping Oakland from the project because of significant environmental factors.

Novi City Manager Ed Kriewall, only local official at EPA's public meeting, objected to the proposed action and urged the federal agency to extend the interceptor line at least as far north as Novi's northern boundary.

Ehorn said he came up with the proposal to drop Oakland County from the project about a week before last month's public meeting.

Among the reasons cited by Ehorn for dropping Oakland communities from the super sewer project were: high ground water; recreational potential; and the lack of roads. He also said that the sewer availability could promote rapid urban growth in the area, causing a need for public service improvements.

One alternative to the "no action" proposal would be the expansion of the Novi-Walled Lake treatment plant. However, Long said that effluent from an enlarged Walled Lake plant probably would exceed water quality regulations imposed by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) and could prompt the Rouge basin communities in Wayne County to file suit to block the expansion.

Long has said that he is "not for sewers," but added that, if the super sewer or an acceptable alternative is not approved, the state Water Resources Commission of the Department of Natural Resources could initiate enforcement action for possible pollution of the township's lakes and streams.

Officials of the DNR also have expressed concern over the EPA's proposal to drop Oakland from the project and it has hinted that enforcement action may be taken.

Ehorn reportedly was in Lansing at the DNR office when Long attempted to set a meeting with Ehorn and local officials.

Police warn driver, but all's grand

A motorist who has been driving for nearly a half century without receiving a traffic ticket has praised a Northville police officer for stopping her car for a prohibited turn.

Barbara Brogan of Detroit wrote a letter to the city police department praising the officer, who she could not identify, for his courtesy.

Being stopped for the first, time, she wrote, "was a most pleasant" experience.

The letter caught the eye of city council members, who found it hard to believe a motorist would enjoy being stopped. They urged that the letter be placed in the officer's personnel file.

According to City Police Captain Louis Westfall, the officer is Corporal James Petris. Petris warned the motorist but did not issue a ticket, Westfall said.

"The officer was not only professional and exemplary in manner but his dress was impeccable and he was extremely polite," wrote Ms. Brogan. "The officer is to be congratulated and you are to be complimented if this officer is indicative of your entire police force."

Pleased city officials had the letter read at last week's council meeting. One councilman wondered aloud, however, what the reaction of the motorist might have been had she actually been ticketed.

Hearings slated on 8-Mile — Haggerty development

Public hearings on a rezoning request that will pave the way for a major office-commercial development on the northwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty Roads in Novi will be held by the planning board and city council during the next two weeks.

Representatives of Orchard Hill Place Associates have requested that the 89-acre parcel be rezoned from its existing B-2 (community business) and RM-1 (low density multiple family residential) designations to an OSC (office-service-commercial) classification.

The public hearing before the Novi Planning Board is slated for next Wednesday (June 21) at 7:30 p.m. in the School Administration Offices on Taft Road.

The council is slated to make a decision on the rezoning request at a public hearing on Monday, June 26, in the Novi Public Library at 8 p.m.

The request for the rezoning of the 89-acre parcel is the first official step in plans to construct a major office-commercial development on the site.

Representatives for Orchard Hill Place Associates have reported that the development would include:

- a three-story office building that would serve as regional headquarters for a major United States Corporation currently located in New York. The corporation, according to spokesmen, is listed high on Fortune magazine's roll of the top 500 companies and corporations in the United States:

- a seven-story hotel. Spokesmen said that they are negotiating with both Holiday Inn and Ramada Inn as well as several other major hotel chains;

- 400,000 square feet of office space in a series of buildings;

- a "recreation complex" that would include a theater, bowling alley, and racquetball courts; and

- a series of retail stores that would have a client "on the nature of Hudson's" as its major tenant.

Dick Doumanian, a real estate representative with Marathon Oil Company, told The News Monday that he was not yet at liberty to reveal the names of prospective tenants.

"It all hinges on the zoning," he said. "We will have no definite deals until we get the rezoning. At that time, we'll be in a position to sign contracts and release names."

There is some question as to whether the developers will be able to construct a seven-story hotel under the OSC zoning which has been requested. The city council recently voted to restrict the OSC district to mid-rise buildings of three-to-five stories.

Doumanian told the planning board on May 17 that the parcel has a unique topographical feature in that it is bowl-shaped. He said that it is quite possible that the seven-story hotel would not be as high as the three-story office building because of the slope of the land.

Although the planners voted to set the rezoning request for public hearing, City Planning Consultant Charles Cairns of Vilcan-Leman said he was concerned about abutting residentially-zoned property to the north and the west. The proposed Whispering Meadows Subdivision is slated for development under an R-4 zoning to the north of the parcel, while an apple orchard with an accessory commercial use is located west of the property.

Cairns said that the OSC district would appear to be an appropriate zoning for the development, but expressed concern about placing the OSC immediately south of single family residential development.

One avenue which the planning board may explore would be to leave a 20-foot strip of multiple family zoning around the north and west perimeters of the parcel. Planner Donald Gleason suggested that the 20-foot strip would not be large enough for multiple family development and thus would serve as a greenbelt around the Orchard Hill Place development.

Cairns told The News Monday that there is a significant stand of trees along the north property line which would serve as a "tremendous natural buffer."

No estimates of construction costs have yet been released by Orchard Hill Place Associates.

Another major development for the 89-acre parcel was proposed approximately five years ago by Haggerty, Eight Associates. That development, described as a high fashion mall, was proposed to include a Jacobson's, Saks Fifth Avenue, and an Abercrombie and Fitch as well as other retail tenants.

Doumanian reported that the property is still owned by the same group. He added, however, that previous plans never got beyond the preliminary stages.

"We're ready to proceed with plans at this point," he said. "We wouldn't be in for the rezoning of the property if we weren't."

The major difference between 1972 and 1978, he added, is that some 77,000 cars pass Eight Mile daily over the M-275 expressway.

Carlo can't bet on state plans

Unless the state adopts off-track betting permitted in the East, Northville Downs can expect that increasing attendance will necessitate substantial increases in parking accommodations as well as expansion of the track grandstand.

That's the opinion of John Carlo, executive manager of the Downs, who made the observation in a discussion of track needs with city council members Monday night.

If the state should permit off-track betting, the Downs attendance probably will decrease as will on-track betting, said Carlo, who pointed to experiences elsewhere. And that would mean additional parking facilities might not be needed.

However, Carlo conceded that a need for additional parking already exists.

And Mayor Paul Vernon pointed out that when a prime tenant occupies Northville Square, track patrons will no longer be able to use the Square parking lots south of Cady Street.

Carlo, who has had plans drawn for a two-level parking deck south of Cady near Church Street, indicated that he has been reluctant to move forward on this project until he has some indication as to what direction the state may move on off-track betting.

Gimmick betting, especially Trifecta, also adversely affects attendance, Carlo said, as witnessed by what has happened at other tracks where, gimmick betting is promoted.

The Downs executive manager urged council to consider several steps to encourage Downs patronage and enhance the Downs facility:

- Develop and underpass at the Seven Mile Road railroad crossing, where a traffic bottleneck occurs during the racing season.

As has been discussed by local and county officials for more than 20 years, this idea would have Seven Mile moved to eliminate the jog in the road at the Northville Road intersection.

- Widen Cady Street and encourage Center Street traffic to turn on Cady and use Griswold rather than funneling through the heart of the city (along Center to Eight Mile Road).

- Promote development of a storm sewer from Center Street to Beal, north of the Downs on the privately owned Cole property.

Carlo pointed out that in exceptionally heavy rainstorms, such as occurred a few weeks ago, some two inches of water covered the lower level of the Downs clubhouse and grandstand.

Most of this water, he pointed out, is from run-off on the Cole property. Storm water traveling along Center Street, however, has now been diverted from entering the Downs property with development of curbing, he noted.

During the discussion, council members also considered the possibility of changing the one-way direction of Mary Alexander Court to encourage use of the upper level of the parking deck for track parking at night; suggested the Downs announce availability and location of the parking deck over its public address system; and directed the city manager to ask the state to consider erection of a track directional signal at I-275 and Eight Mile roads.

Presently, an existing sign tells freeway motorists to exit at Seven Mile for the race track. Signs at both Seven Mile and Eight Mile, reasoned council members, might help reduce heavy traffic on Seven Mile Road.

Carlo also was asked to have patrons advised, over the Downs public address system, that they may exit on Eight, Seven and Six Mile roads enroute to the track.

Still another suggestion taken under advisement was the erection of a traffic signal at Main Street and Griswold. Such a step, noted officials, not only would facilitate more convenient access to and exit from the Downs it would solve a potentially dangerous intersection problem.

Upon the suggestion of former mayor A. Malcolm Allen, council directed the city attorney to check into requirements of the city ordinance in reference to surfacing of private parking lots.

Allen wondered aloud if paving of the Cole property might not be required upon a renegotiated lease with Downs. Presently, the Downs leases the unpaved lot from Cole for parking. The lot has not been paved, officials noted, because it existed prior to the ordinance.

However, Allen suggested that the "grandfather clause" may be invalidated when the present lease expires.

Main Street '78

DD plan goes to planners

Plans to revitalize downtown Northville, called "Main Street '78," are to be presented to the Northville City Planning Commission for study shortly, Planner Ronald Mino reported to the commission at its June 6 meeting.

City Manager Steven Waters presented proposed amendments to Article VI of the zoning ordinance and a revision of review power of the Historical District Commission to the planners.

He asked that they be ready to discuss the amendment proposals at the next meeting on June 20.

The city council was expected to schedule public hearings on the amendments at its July 10 meeting.

The historical district ordinance revision would, if approved, provide for final approval by the historic district commission of projects located in commercially zoned areas of the district, rather than only advisory authority as is now the case.

Presently, when the commission hears a petition for an exterior change of a commercial building within the historic district, it either recommends approval or disapproval to the planning commission which has the final decision.

The ordinance change, however, would not prohibit the planning commission from reviewing architectural compatibility as part of its site development plan review process.

If the planning commission determines that an architectural revision is desirable after approval by the historic district commission, the planning commission shall "convey such determination to the historic district commission, which shall then reconsider the project."

Council action

Auto taxes, porn resolutions pass

A pair of resolutions, one dealing with automobile taxes and the other with pornography, have been adopted by the Northville City Council.

The latter supports State Senate Bill 1422 that would give cities, townships or villages the right to pass their own anti-pornography ordinances.

Specifically, it was triggered by a fast ruling of the Michigan Supreme Court that now prevents local governments from enacting their own anti-pornography ordinances. It urges enactment of the legislation, and it recommends that the Senate and House continue to work towards a uniform state anti-pornography statute.

The other resolution expresses opposition to House Bill 4408, which provides that $2.50 imposed by Act 266 of 1976 be retained in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Northville officials concurred with Southfield officials who expressed concern "that communities might be lulled into believing that H.B. 4408 repealed all prior taxes (state and local) on automobiles, and imposed a new schedule of taxes as outlined in the bill. Of course, the contrary is true..."

Haze Wilson, Community Relations Manager, Livonia, reminds you:

There are things you can do to control the cost of your phone bill.

We are constantly searching for ways to help you economize on your phone service, but here are just a few ideas on how you can help yourself:

Call when it's least expensive. For example, when you're calling long distance, dial direct and plan your calls for times when the rates are lowest.

Budget Service that's really low budget! Look into the availability of Budget Service if you don't make a lot of phone calls every month. It's the least expensive one-or-two party phone service we offer.

Plan to have all your service installed in one visit. For instance, if you move, plan carefully so the installer doesn't have to make extra trips, for which you may have to pay additional charges. And while you're planning for new service, make sure it's going to be the kind most suited to your needs.

Sometimes, little tips can save you a surprising amount over the long haul. We'll keep trying to help you save.

No person shall be recognized or heard in the Class Action unless on or before June 26, 1978, a Notice of Intention to Appear, which shall include a statement of the basis for objection together with a Memorandum of Supporting Authorities is filed in the Class Action and received at the office of David R. Kratz, P.C., Suite 1218 Travelers Tower, 26555 Evergreen Road, Southfield, Michigan 48076, Plaintiffs-Appellees' counsel in said Class Action, and a copy to John F. Langs, Langs, Schatzberg, Patterson & Langs, 42nd Floor, Penobscot Building, Detroit, Michigan 48226, Defendant-Appellants' counsel in the Class Action.

DEFINITION OF PLAINTIFFS' CLASS
The membership of Plaintiffs' class for purposes of this Agreement and the above entitled litigation, is hereby defined as including all current and former members of King's Mill Cooperative who occupied or are now occupying units located in phases or sections 1-6 of King's Mill Cooperative, Northville, Michigan provided that such occupancy occurred on or before November 30, 1977 and were subjected to an increase in their monthly carrying charges pursuant to the "equalization".

DESCRIPTION OF THE LAWSUIT PROPOSED TO BE SETTLED
On February 7, 1977, the Opinion of the Court was entered which found the policy of equalization "adopted by the Board of Directors of King's Mill Cooperative was totally inequitable". In an Order of Judgment entered May 19, 1977, the Court ordered that the Defendant-Appellants, through their Attorney, render an accounting disclosing for each unit a break-down of the carrying charges and the effect of "equalization" on each member, as well as, an accounting of each member's equity in the Cooperative. In addition, the Court ordered pecuniary damages of twelve thousand ($12,000.00) dollars against the individual Board members, jointly and severally.

POSITION OF DEFENDANT-APPELLANTS
The Defendant-Appellants contend that the original action of the Board of Directors was both fair and justified and that the increase in carrying charges imposed was neither inequitable nor illegal. They further contend that the accounting ordered by the Court would entail substantial and unnecessary expenses for accountants and clerical time which even if expended, would not provide any meaningful data. They also dispute the size of Plaintiffs-Appellees' class and assert that any reduction in that class would reduce the amount of any damages due under the Judgment. Defendant-Appellants also assert that because of the question as to the number of Plaintiffs' class, a final total liquidated Judgment has not been rendered by the Court. Moreover, it is the belief of Defendant-Appellant that the action taken by the previous Board of Directors in adopting the challenged resolution helped eliminate the former vacancy problem and its resulting losses in income to the Cooperative thereby changing a large vacancy situation into a fully occupied status with long waiting lists of potential resident members with resulting benefits to the entire membership of all 455 units.

POSITION OF THE PLAINTIFFS-APPELLEES
Plaintiffs-Appellees have successfully garnished, and currently have in their possession three hundred twenty thousand ($320,000.00) dollars. In addition, pursuant to a Stipulation and an Order entered January, 1978 Plaintiffs-Appellees have a right to an additional thirty thousand ($30,000.00) dollars which is payable five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars per month. It is the belief by the Plaintiffs-Appellees that the filing of the lawsuit and the pendency of this cause and the removal of the previous Board of Directors has changed the Cooperative from a large vacancy situation to a fully occupied status with a waiting list of potential resident members. The benefits thus received so far have been expressed by way of a growing community and the tangible benefits that result thereby Plaintiffs-Appellees contend that there are no proper grounds for Appeal and in the unlikely event of an unfavorable ruling by the Court of Appeals, the likely result would be a new trial which would involve additional legal expense of many thousands of dollars.

STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT
The following description of the terms of the Stipulation of Settlement is a summary only. Reference is made to the full text of the Stipulation of Settlement which is on file with and available for inspection at the Wayne County Circuit Court, as well as at the offices of King's Mill Cooperative and is available by writing counsel for Plaintiffs-Appellees at Southfield, Michigan. The Settlement Agreement provides for immediate payment of three hundred fifty thousand ($350,000.00) dollars from the Cooperative plus twelve thousand ($12,000.00) dollars in personal judgments for a total of three hundred sixty two thousand ($362,000.00) dollars and upon payment the judgment will be satisfied. Credit will be given for the monies currently in the possession of Plaintiffs-Appellees' Attorney. The total figure also includes an award of approximately one-hundred eighteen thousand ($118,000.00) dollars for attorney fees for the prevailing Plaintiffs-Appellees' attorneys plus further awards to be made by the Court for fees and costs. In addition, a maximum of seventeen thousand five hundred ($17,500.00) dollars has been allowed and paid as attorney fees to Defendant-Appellant's current counsel for their defense of this action. Defendant-Appellants have also paid former counsel substantial attorney fees and costs in this matter.

FILING OF PAPERS
No Class member will be heard and no papers submitted by or on behalf of any Class member will be received or considered by the Court at or in connection with the Hearing on Settlement except as the Court in its discretion may otherwise direct, unless the Class member desiring to be heard or to submit papers, files said papers with the Clerk of the Court and serves copies upon David R. Kratz, Esquire of David R. Kratz, P.C. at 1218 Travelers Tower, 26555 Evergreen Road, Southfield, Michigan 48076, Attorneys for Plaintiffs-Appellees and upon John F. Langs, Esquire at Langs, Schatzberg, Patterson & Langs at 42nd Floor, Penobscot Building, Detroit, Michigan 48226, Attorneys for Defendant-Appellants on or before June 26, 1978.

WAIVER OF RIGHTS TO RECEIPT OF ALLOCATED DISBURSEMENT SETTLEMENT
Any member of the Plaintiffs-Appellees' Class may elect to waive and relinquish all rights to the return or receipt of said member's allocated share of the distribution of the final settlement after deductions of costs, attorney fees and expenses provided for in the settlement or by Order of the Court. If a Class member elects to waive his or her right to receipt of disbursement, a Waiver and Affidavit form must be completed and returned to David R. Kratz, P.C. at 1218 Travelers Tower, 26555 Evergreen Road, Southfield, Michigan 48076 on or before August 30, 1978. Forms are available at the offices of the Attorneys for both parties. The waiver form will have to be signed by any member and his or her spouse, witnessed by two people and notarized.

ELECTION TO BE EXCLUDED FROM CLASS ACTION
Any member of the Class may elect to be excluded from the Class Action by executing and mailing a written request for such exclusion to the Clerk of the Court and the attorneys for the Plaintiffs-Appellees and Defendants-Appellants as follows:

1. James R. Killeen, Clerk, Wayne County Circuit Court, City-County Building, Detroit, Michigan 48226
2. Langs, Schatzberg, Patterson & Langs, John F. Langs, Esquire, 42nd Floor Penobscot Building, Detroit, Michigan 48226
3. David R. Kratz, P.C., David R. Kratz, Esquire, 1218 Travelers Tower, 26555 Evergreen Road, Southfield, Michigan 48076

A request for exclusion must state the name and address of the person making the request; a specific request for exclusion from the Class Action; contain the caption of the case or be on a form which can be obtained at the office of either counsel. A member of the Class Action making a proper and timely request for exclusion, upon approval by the Court, will not be bound by any judgment entered in the Class Action and each opt out claimant will then only be able to pursue his or her individual claim, if any. A member of the Class who fails to submit a request for exclusion by noon, August 30, 1978, will be deemed a party to this Action and bound by the terms of any order or judgment in this Action including approving the Settlement Agreement for relief as to any claims which any member of the Class has against the King's Mill Cooperative or the named Defendant Board of Director members.

A member of the Class who has not requested an exclusion therefrom may (but is not required to) enter an appearance personally in the Class Action or through counsel. A member of the Class not appearing will have his interest represented by counsel for the Class.

By Order of the Court
Judge John M. Wise,

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Criticism of "Mainstreet 78", the latest proposal for upgrading Northville's business district, should not be unexpected.

Indeed, there have been a series of proposals and attempts, to pump life into the city's downtown. And not all have been rousing successes.

But the quaint central business district remains alive. And that may be because of the recognition of its importance to both the charm and economic stability of the city.

Whenever any change is advocated, it is most difficult to achieve public understanding and support. The on-going development of Mainstreet 78, as with any plan, is one of revision and refinement. And many of the blocks remain to be fitted into place before it can be declared final.

In several instances the committee has been constructive. As a result, changes have been made. One such example involves parking along Mary Alexander Court, which will be retained in the latest proposal.

In some cases it is the committee's feeling that charges against the plan are unfounded, unfair and untrue.

It would be less than honest to report that these allegations have not been a source of concern to the committee.

The members are volunteering their time to a project that they believe will provide a tremendous boost to the community. And while they do not expect total support and agreement, they are anxious to at least achieve common understanding of what is proposed by Mainstreet 78.

This is, then, an attempt in the committee's behalf to clarify several areas and to broadly outline the concept as perceived in the minds of those who propose Mainstreet 78 for Northville.

Uppermost is the unanimous conviction by committee members that the plan should preserve, not destroy, the uniqueness that is Northville's. Building demolition, commercial gimmickry or modernization tactics are not a part of Mainstreet 78.

Instead, the plan proposes to introduce cosmetic improvements that will create an atmosphere to encourage private enterprise.

The most drastic changes proposed by Mainstreet 78 include one-way traffic and intermittent angular parking on Main street; an arcade from an offstreet parking lot north of Main street stores through to Main street; and a Town Square.

It is impossible in this space to cover all the pro and con discussions conducted by the committee and with involved merchants, but it should be important to note that these recommended improvements have the unanimous support of the committee.

And they have been joined in this support by a recently-retained architectural firm whose principal agent is a Northville resident with strong personal interest in retaining the identity of Northville as we know it.

In response to some misconceptions it should be stated:

1 — The arcade does not propose the elimination of the D & C Store. To the contrary, if it proves to be a feasible part of the plan, it will provide for D & C what it is now seeking, namely more floor space to expand in downtown Northville.

2 — The suggestion that a "farmers market" would detract from local business runs counter to past experience. It has been a most successful attraction previous years and, ironically, the one merchant who may have done the most to promote the farmers market is John Genitti, the owner of John's Market, the merchant who would allegedly be hurt by the attraction.

3 — Offstreet parking is not a problem in Northville today. Customers to fill the parking lots are the problem. The committee believes that creation of a Town Square, similar to the park in the center of Plymouth's downtown, will provide a focal point for the downtown area. And they believe that it will encourage more use of fringe-area free parking lots both by customers and downtown employees.

4 — There is solid evidence that Mainstreet 78 will attract new business and encourage existing merchants to make improvements in their stores. In fact, it has already triggered specific developments. Under the provisions of the Downtown Development Authority act revenues from tax levies against this new taxbase can be used to retire the $1.2 to $1.5 million bond required to make public improvements in the downtown area.

There are other projects directly connected to the success of Mainstreet 78 that are under negotiations and cannot be revealed at this time.

But they are so promising insofar as future business prospects for downtown Northville are concerned that committee members become more excited with each meeting, which usually take place twice weekly.

Rather than ignoring, the committee believes it is responding to community needs and desires. It is convinced that Northville Square will turn around and become a viable attraction to the downtown area. Patience is essential in this matter... and the progress of Mainstreet 78 could play a key role in the future of Northville Square.

Mainstreet 78 won't make a booming shopping metropolis of downtown Northville. But the committee believes it will help businessmen establish an area that can compete with outside shopping centers to the degree that the community will at least maintain its share of the projected growth.

If it is successful, it will be a pleasant place to shop... a busy place for an old fashioned downtown."

YES . . .

I would like to establish the meaning of the word "liberated". It means "set free". What do women today want to be free from? Husbands? Children? Parents? Moral codes? The mold society has placed them in? Truly these liberated women are proclaiming to be at last "set free". I believe they are "too free", too liberated. It has gone too far. It's like a big red shiny apple. It looks good; then you take a bite, and it is rotten in the middle.

Let's take a look at the effects women's lib has had on our society over the past 10 years: a high increase of divorce, abortion, homosexuality, sexual freedom, just to list a few.

The unfortunate part of all this liberation is that it started with selfishness on the part of man, not placing the woman on the same level as himself. Woman was created equal with man — not below, nor above — but equal.

"Who can find a virtuous woman? For her price is far above rubies. Her children arise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her. Charm and grace are deceptive, and beauty is vain (because it is not lasting), but a woman who reverently and worshipfully fears the Lord, she shall be praised." Prov. 31:10, 28, 30.

Oh woman, you beautiful vessel, you were created to be a blessing to all mankind.

Speaking for myself
Are women too liberated?

NO . . .

A woman's place is in the house. . . . and the Senate. . . and wherever else she feels "at home!"

Does the first part of that statement sound familiar? Women have been hearing that for years and have never felt completely comfortable with it.

Our founding fathers neglected to a great part, the "fairer sex." Women have had to instigate legislation in order to gain the right to vote. . . . and that struggle took over 30 years! Now, they are faced with other battles of importance. Equal opportunities in employment, education, athletics and obtaining credit are among the areas that should be based upon qualifications and abilities — not sex. It boggles my mind that these things should have to be legislated. Women in the work force as well as those who choose to be at home benefit from the strides which are being made each year for the equality of women.

Liberated? To be liberated means to be "set free." There isn't any rational way in which one can measure, the degree of freedom or equality for women.

Don't worry, men, equality doesn't constitute superiority!!!

I'm a Weight Watcher.

All of which means I've paid an initiation fee and now am plunking down $3.50 every week for 16 weeks for the privilege of climbing aboard a lying scale and being humiliated in public.

And that means peeling off fat isn't inexpensive.

It taxes the pocketbook and pokes holes in pride. What's more, most of us in the class know we're being conned.

But, heavens to betsy, it's grand!

So grand, in fact, that some folks go right on attending meetings after 16 weeks even though they've lost all the weight they hoped to lose. I suspect they like to flaunt their new bodies among fat people.

Weight Watchers is by no means a non-profit organization. It's a business out to make money off your lard irreverently. Going to your first meeting is a little like going into a temple of laughing, ridiculing money changers; you'd like to toss out the whole bunch of them.

But once you've been baptized with gimmickry, you're hooked and you find yourself wiggling and sloshing your bellies and thighs back to the second meeting.

The long and short of it is that Weight Watchers does help you lose weight.

Its success is owed chiefly to Alcoholics Anonymous, which pioneered the "altogether-now-let's-stop-it" ethic. Alone, the foodaholic goes right on eating no matter how badly he wants to quit. But, in company with other pigsters, he finds himself more able to cope.

I use the pronoun "he" advisedly. The fact is that I and the few other males in the class are lost in a sea of female blubber.

Credit for Weight Watchers' bulging cash registers must also go to its good sense in employing former fat slobbers as "lecturers." They're all pretty comics who carry around big pictures of the big persons they used to be.

The last one to visit our class had the ogling males and the jealous females rolling the

Citizens blast city council rezoning decision

To the Editor:

The recent public hearing on the rezoning of the property on Rayson Street deserves positive public comment. Immediately apparent to all was the open-minded attitude of the city council. Obviously, the council wanted to hear the opinions of the citizens before they made a decision, and only the most uncharitable observer would say the councilmen smirked when Mr. George Patak spoke of the concern of a whole area of town.

The council should be commended for the open, even-handed, fair way they heard the wishes and concerns of all parties to the matter. At least they heard from the citizens AGAINST rezoning openly. The business interest felt no need for openness, apparently, since proponents for the rezoning were conspicuous by their absence. Surely the council had some other arrangements to hear arguments for rezoning, since none were presented at the hearing, and certainly the city council would never consider only one side of an issue before making a decision.

Also it was heartening to see the careful, thoughtful attention given to the pleas of citizens that a lovely residential neighborhood be preserved. The fact that the city attorney caught up on his reading and attended to personal grooming chores, cleaning his ears, must not be taken as an indication that he was uninterested in the proceedings. It should be strongly pointed out that certainly none of the city councilmen cleaned his ears during the hearing.

Then, the tender concern of Councilman Nichols and Mayor Vernon for the citizens who would be hurt by the decision they were about to make, (or announce, as the case may be) comforted and cheered those who listened. Their explanation that PBO zoning was much more desirable than R2 had not occurred to the residents at the meeting. How kind of those gentlemen to point out how much better off were residents who had PBO zoning next door than those who did not.

Of course, the cause of good planning has always been a concern to residents of Northville, but only those people interested merely in making their homes more attractive and in raising children in quiet, safe places would fail to understand the compelling reasoning that says, "Crooked lines and spot-zoning are good planning in Beal Town. Straight lines are good planning on Rayson." Obviously, the selfishness of the residents in both communities did not take into account the differing needs of the businesses involved. Thank goodness the city council cares about the businessmen of the community.

Certainly, it was an experience to see democracy in action in Northville. How inspiring to all to watch those conscientious stewards of Northville's greatest assets, caring for the thriving business community (second only to Twelve Oaks and Forest Place Mall, of course), and operating with the Pledge of Allegiance ringing in their ears... "with liberty and justice for all."

Sincerely,
Jean Harrison

To the Editor:

After attending the City Council meeting on June 5th, it has finally dawned on me what my cardinal sin was... I am a resident of Northville!

The council members, with the exception of Stan Johnston, told me that with their irresponsible action! Many residents attended the public hearing on the Rayson Street zoning issue, many spoke of their concerns about encroaching commercialism down this street. I asked the council why they would not, or could not, come to a compromise situation. A mistake was made on the Master Plan map by a city employee and yet the council would not concede that due to their mistake, Mr. Harrison bought his house thinking it adjacent to a lot zoned R2 after consulting the erroneous map! The only honorable thing to do was to zone the lot adjacent to Mr. Cutler P.B.O. and that next to Mr. Harrison remain R2. My question was totally ignored, not one member of the council attempted an answer.

A letter was read aloud, apparently signed by Mrs. McKinney, 131 Rayson, in opposition to rezoning the lots R2. However, had the council done a little research, they would also have seen that the same Mrs. McKinney had earlier signed a petition in FAVOR of keeping those lots R2.

It is my understanding that the planning commission serves in an advisory capacity specifically for the council's benefit. This is the second instance I know of recently where the city council has totally ignored the well-thought out recommendations of the planning commission put before them. In this case, the planning commission voted unanimously to zone the lots in question R2!

It was also my understanding that city council welcomed interested residents with sound opinions at their meetings and are appalled at the lack of interest in decisions they have to make. The only conclusion I can come to is that the only people whose opinions matter in this community are those of the local business owners and operators; and that residents are necessary evils that may be seen and not heard. Sitting at that meeting, watching and listening, I was reminded of a row of pudgy little Pooch bears, all in the same Honey Pot... and in the words of A. A. Milne: "Oh bears of little brain."

Sincerely,
P. Heather Fee
134 Rayson Street

To the Editor:

It has always been my impression that the American way of government was that elected officials represent the people.

Last week at the Northville City Council meeting many people protested the PBO zoning of two lots on Rayson Street, east of Cutler Realty. Petitions were turned in signed by area residents asking for the lots to remain zoned R-2.

One person suggested because of a hardship on Cutler and adjoining resident, one lot be zoned PBO and the other R-2. However, Mr. Nichols, after stating the he'd abstain, voted against R-2, along with DeRusha, Mayor Vernon and Gardiner. Stan Johnston listened to his electorate and voted for R-2.

I would hope that this does not indicate that our council, excepting Mr. Johnston, is insensitive to the desires of the voters.

Sincerely,
Laura Hixson

Editor's Note: The only way a council member may abstain from voting is by the vote of remaining council members to grant such permission. Nichols did not receive this permission.

Walk aid lauded

To the Editor:

It is with heartfelt sincerity that we extend our congratulations and thanks to the people of Northville.

Through your overwhelming support of this year's Northville Walk for Mankind, that distance walked and sponsored will provide precious human lives with life-giving medical care and health education.

We are especially grateful to Walk Directors, Rose Zapke and David R. Llewellyn, the members of their committee, and the many dedicated volunteers who helped organize and inspire such a successful Walk.

Your community should be proud of the hard work and sacrifices made by these dedicated individuals.

Project Concern also wishes to extend a special thanks to Northville's youth, their parents, neighbors and friends whose generous contributions made this year's Walk so successful.

As planned, several of the proceeds from the Walk will go directly toward vital local community service organizations and charitable causes in the Northville area.

Because you cared enough to be concerned and get involved, many precious human lives will be saved. To this end, we pledge our best efforts.

In shared concern,
David R. Duplanty
Chairman of the Board
Project Concern
San Diego, California

To the Editor:

On June 3rd, the Northville area was the site of the most successful Northville Walk for Mankind yet. Nine hundred children and adults started walking that morning to raise contributions for food and medical supplies for less fortunate people around the world, as well as in our own country. By day's end, 783 of those walkers had completed the 20 mile course. A total of 10,250 individuals "sponsored" these walkers, pledging to donate a certain amount per kilometer to Project Concern. Pledge reminders will be mailed to each sponsor in the next few weeks, and if all pledges are paid, nearly $33,000 will be raised.

The Northville Jaycees and Jaycettes would like to take this opportunity to thank the businesses, groups, organizations, and individuals who contributed to the Walk's success. First, those who donated materials, supplies, facilities or cash: Northville Downs, MultiFeed Corporation, the Northville Chamber of Commerce, Kroger Foods, Dr. Pepper, CKLW, The Northville Record, First Federal of Oakland, Ford Motor Company, One Hour Martinizing, Northville Drug, The Broadside, The Park Haus, MacDonald's, First United Methodist Church, Northville American Legion, and Northville City Hall.

Next, to those who donated their time: Mrs. Margaret Wassell, the Northville CB Club, The Northville and Northville Township Police Departments, Dr. John Swienkowski, Mrs. Irene Totzky, Dr. Kenneth Lawrence. Also to those who ran the checkpoints: Northville City Council, Northville Township, Michigan State Police, League of Women Voters, Northville Kiwanis, Schoolcraft College Student Activities Council, Northville Civitans, State Representative Jack Kirksey, Lexington Commons Association, Northville Explorer Scouts, and Canton Jaycees.

Others to whom the Jaycees and the walkers are indebted include: homeowners along the route who gave encouragement and water (and looked the other way when children walked across their lawns) and service stations which offered their restrooms and kept their pop machines filled.

Most of all, the Walk was made a success by two large groups. We would like to give special heartfelt thanks to the children and adults who were the WALKERS, and the individuals and firms who were the SPONSORS. Without these, there would have been no 1978 Northville Walk for Mankind.

Many thanks again,
Dave Llewellyn, Northville Jaycees
Rose Zapke, Northville Jaycettes

Withdrawal noted

To the Editor:

I want to thank the voters who signed and filed a nominating petition for me for the office of supervisor of Northville Township. I am sorry that, for personal reasons, it had to be withdrawn.

The fact that it was filed is evidence that there is concern in the township over the direction the present administration is taking us.

This concern is over the separation of services that has already taken place.

This concern is over the direction toward more splitting of services that seems to be in the wind.

This concern is for the favoritism that is evidenced to special interest groups coming into and operating in the township.

This concern is over the wasteful and excessive spending that is taking place.

This concern is over a lack of understanding that elected officials should be making decisions that are for the good of all the people in the township.

This concern is over the decisions being made that will affect the present and future growth patterns of the township.

This concern is that honesty seems to be lacking; and they know it should be the basis of good leadership.

This concern is for the petition that was circulated for the township to become the "City of Northville Hills."

This concern is for the growth in the tax rate that will follow in the near future if this direction is not changed.

These are my concerns, too.

There are candidates running for office that have the interests of the township and all its residents as their goals. They have a spirit of cooperation that will be beneficial to this community.

Sincerely,
Betty Lennox

Salutes staff aid

To the Editor:

I want to say "Thank You" to two Amerman Elementary School teachers and the Amerman school secretary for the unselfish giving of their time to take the Amerman School safety boys and girls on an overnight campout last week.

Mr. Van Horn and Mrs. Gove along with Mrs. Crawford spent two great days planning and supervising, cooking for and transporting this large group of kids to Kensington Park. Everyone had a wonderful time because of the efforts of these two dedicated teachers and their helper, Mrs. Crawford.

Thanks go, too, to the numerous parents who came out with their enthusiastic help and their home-baked desserts.

It was a tremendous experience for these young people and one they will long remember.

Shirley Davis

He took our advice

To the Editor:

Thank you for the advice given in your first paragraph of your editorial in last week's edition of The Record.

You stated... "My advice to Northville School District taxpayers is not to read this column."

I took your advice.
Thank you once again.
N. Nick Serkaian

Explains no vote

To the Editor:

As a concerned parent with a child enrolled in the Northville school system, I wish to express my disapproval of the manner in which the school system operates.

I voted NO on the recently defeated 5.5 mill increase in April, although I had voted YES on all previous millage increases over the past four years. I also intend to vote NO on the 2.6 and 2.9 mill requests on June 12. I for one have become fed up with the "shot-in-the-dark" approach used by the school system on what seems like our regular bi-monthly millage attempt.

There appears to be an organization or system in the approach. Rather if 5.5 won't go — then try 2.6 plus 2.9. This is the way it has been each time.

Furthermore I am tired of the negative reasons for the millages. All we seem to get are cute little statements threatening to take services away. Is this progress?

With so many problems prevalent in schools in general, shouldn't we have more firm commitments for specific allocation or earmarked budgeting of the increased revenue?

Municipal government is a very big business dealing with millions of dollars in tax revenue, yet the Northville school district appears to lack any sense of organization, planning, or budgeting which are the primary ingredients of any well run business.

I hope that Northville school board will wake-up and realize that a shabby run campaign with nothing to sell other than threats won't work. Rather offer us the concerned parents and voters a well organized approach, show us what we will get for our increased taxes, and then follow through on your promises lest we continue to wallow in the muck as we have in the past.

This letter will be printed concurrently with the results of our latest millage vote. Pass or fail one thing is for sure, it won't be the last. Before the next one, let's hope that the school board can clean-up their act and present a well planned campaign.

Thief spoils view

To the Editor:

I think I will sell my house across from Chatham's, much as I like the district and the neighbors, and move. All because I hate sitting here and watching a thief rob the Salvation Army box in their lot when people are kind enough to bring things they have no use for down there and put them in the box, knowing the things are meant for the poor.

Yes, this is just as disgusting to me as seeing someone break into a house or rob a store.

Official scorned

To the Editor:

Politicians never cease to amaze me. They serve several years in public office, and commit a host of sins, but just prior to election time they attempt to redeem themselves by reminding us about all the wonderful things supposedly accomplished during their administration. Another common ploy is to save a variety of press releases, statements, and publicity devices for publication before an election, to convince the voters something is happening.

To illustrate this point, the current Northville Township Board reached the ultimate in hypocrisy recently, when it called for another public hearing (July 11) to discuss the Gyzinski property on 7 Mile Rd. As we have seen, it was this same board, with its superb advisors, who sold the majority of our township residents down the river, by quietly meeting with the attorneys representing private interest groups behind closed doors. Consequently, they agreed to the deal without consulting with the public, which subsequently resulted in the approval of the apartment project.

So, in effect, they want to throw us another bone by holding a public hearing to discuss 10 acres of land. Clearly, they hesitate to admit their guilt, when the mud is spread all over their feet. Instead, they attempt to cover up, by telling the peasants that we are privileged to attend another public hearing.

Why not include the salary increases as an item to be discussed at the public hearing? We all know the politicians sold their consciences for more than 10 acres of land in the Gyzinski deal, and certainly for a great amount more than 10 pieces of silver, when they had a chance to stuff their own pockets by increasing salaries. Taxpayers have lost their shirts, but we must not lose our wallets, during the administration of the Golden Fleece.

Sincerely,
Larry D. VanderMolen

aisles with her one-liners. Her monologue alone was worth the price of admission.

People join Weight Watchers for all kinds of reasons: some want to slim down to snag your husband; some are cajoled into it by loved ones; and some have simply tired of the lie that fat rolls are the fault of big bones or ancestry and not that of jelly rolls.

So altogether now, let's make the company rich, pat each other on the back and stone the next sucker who passes us the chip dip.

Big Fourth slated

Mark your calendar for another festive, old-fashioned Fourth of July.

Thanks to the efforts of the Northville Jaycees and the Northville Historical Society, the Independence Day timetable promises to keep area residents involved parading, eating barbecued chicken, square dancing and participating in contests pitching tobacco shoes, spitting horse and eating watermelon.

The day will kick off with an 8 a.m. ecumenical church service at Mill Race Village, followed by a 10 a.m. parade with Detroit Lior.

quarterback Gary Danielson serving as grand marshal.

Activities will continue from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the village, where 15 dealers will sell their wares at a flea market, area artists will display their crafts and the Northwest Territorial Militia will demonstrate their black powder rifles.

Those attending may even get an opportunity to see their favorite (or non-favorite) teacher, civic official or politician fall into the dunk tank. The co-sponsors promise even more surprises to make July 4 a bang-up day.

Parade bill 'needs change'

In the wake of a recent Michigan Attorney General ruling that appropriation of city funds for such events as parades is illegal, lawmakers are pushing legislation to legalize such support before July 4.

Signature needed

EDITOR'S NOTE: If the person who wrote the letter regarding use of cars by township officials will come to this office to sign the letter it will be published. The Record requires that all letters be signed, although writers may request that their name not be used. Still another letter, this one involving vandalism of a house in the Northville School District, awaits a signature for publication.

Superintendent search narrowed agreement with its choice sometime next week, according to President John Hobart. The hoped-for timetable calls for a public announcement of the new superintendent at June 26 board meeting.

That's one week before current Superintendent Raymond Spear leaves for his new position in Dewitt. Spear, who was a superintendent for 11 of his 16 years in Northville, resigned earlier this year.

The search for his successor has resulted in Northville's first public superintendent interviews since the Michigan's Open Meeting Act was passed.

The five nights of interviews, however, drew only a scant number of spectators. The average attendance was about 12.

The board had intended to interview nine candidates but one dropped out on his own. Here's a look at the last three interviewed:

—Dr. Ray Bandlow, superintendent of the Lawton Community Schools for the last two years. He has also spent four years as an administrative assistant and one as a middle school principal.

He taught for three years.

He received his B.A. and M.A. from mills which passed, and Proposition 2, the 2.9 mills which were defeated.

Proposition 2 would have raised about $500,000 to hire new teachers, lower pupil-teacher ratios and improve class offerings at the junior high and senior high schools.

It's substantial defeat in all six precincts Monday was almost a carbon copy of the April 30 vote. In none of the precincts did as many as 40 percent vote "yes."

The cliffhanger was Proposition 3, the $1 million bond issue that nearly was lost in the shuffle.

Because of a rising State-Equalized Valuation and the State School Bond Loan Act, the district could borrow the money without raising taxes but still needed voter approval.

Nevertheless, the bond issue passed in only the Amerman and Winchester precincts where a 230-vote margin was enough to offset a 153-vote deficit in the rest of the district.

To keep things exciting, the Amer-

Eastern Michigan University and the Ph.D. from the University of Michigan.

—Dr. E. James Rymearson, 49, superintendent for the last four years at Flint Beecher and for five years before that at Anchor Bay. He also was a high school principal for eight years and an assistant principal for three.

He taught for four years.

He received a B.A. and M.A. from Eastern Michigan, an M.A. from Michigan, an Ed.S. from Wayne State University and his Ph.D. from Michigan.

—William Pearson, 49, superintendent of Willow Run Public Schools for three years and an assistant superintendent for eight years before that at Wayne-Westland. He also has three years experience as a principal and assistant principal.

For 13 years, he was a teacher.

He received his B.A. and M.A. from Bowling Green State University and his Ed.S. from Eastern Michigan.

They join the five candidates interviewed earlier who are:

Dr. Garth Errington, 44, superintendent at Albion; Dr. Henry Sienkiewicz, 43, assistant superintendent at Warren Woods; Dr. Elvin Peets, 43, superintendent at East Jackson; Donald Keeney, 47, superintendent at Ovid-Elsie and Dr. Ronald Marino, 42, superintendent at Ottawa, Illinois.

man precinct was the last to report. Until it was logged in shortly before midnight, the bond issue was losing by 57 votes.

The money from the bond issue has not been specifically earmarked, but school officials have indicated that it will be used for major projects such as repairing the high school, roof, upgrading heating systems and improving playgrounds.

Monday's vote was reported in piecemeal to the school board as it conducted its regular bi-monthly meeting.

Discussion stopped each time the latest reports were added to charts on the wall. Board members and much of the audience broke into a cheer when the final two precincts reported to seal Proposition 1's victory.

Included in the crowd were some teachers who stood to lose their jobs if the millage failed.

Prior to the election, there were concentrated efforts by various PTA's, students, teachers, administrators and the school board to pass the millage.

Little Hill apartments approved

Unanimous approval was given an addition to Little Hill Apartments and a storage shed at 630 Baseline by Northville City Planning Commission at its June 6 meeting.

Revised plans for a 17-unit addition to Little Hill Apartments, 235 Hutton Street, were approved as owner Orval Hayes and architect Robert Seymour had obtained variances on lot line distances to Arbor Drug Company's building on the south. The board of appeals also had granted a parking space reduction to 34, or two spaces for each unit.

Planner Ronald Nino said he had "no reservations in recommending the plan for approval" and noted that it was one of the best documented in terms of check lists for lighting, landscaping and other requirements of the city ordinance that had been received.

He added, however, that it "maximized density to ultimate capacity."

Asked when he expected to start the two-story addition, Hayes stated he was not certain at this time.

Eleven students honored

Named to the dean's list at Madonna College for high academic achievement during the winter term just completed were 11 Northville students.

Freshmen named to the list were: Roxanne Teeff, legal assistance; Mary Ellen Carney and Barbara Ferguson, learning disabilities.

Junior Estelita majored in nursing.

Also named to the list were seniors: Lynn Knuth, criminal justice; Maureen Frey, nursing and Ketty Arpi, social work.

Dean's list students at Madonna, a coeducational liberal arts college in Livonia, must earn a grade point average of 3.25 or better.

Previous concern of the planners, when Hayes presented his addition before revisions, had been creation of a "corridor" between the apartments and the store with a second-story stairway access on the south side to the apartments. This now has been eliminated with accesses only on the north side.

Site plan approval for a two-phase construction project of Vern Bodker at the east edge of the city on Baseline, as well as architectural approval for a small 36 by 12-foot storage shed, was given by planners.

The motion incorporated recommendation of planner Nino that there be landscaping to the street right of way, paving to the shed and an overall plan for earth contouring when the project is completed.

Planner Donald Fee, a member of the Northville Historical Commission, reported Bodker had contacted him to seek his inspection soon of plans to rebuild the cider mill on adjacent property in the township.

The property in the city where the storage shed is to be built had been the site of a lumber supply company. It was ravaged by fire almost exactly a year ago on June 25. The cider mill also burned shortly afterward.

In discussion before approval was given for the small storage shed, was a larger 60 by 100-foot building planned later, the planner had recommended that Bodker be required to install curbs and gutters for "a neater, more aesthetic look."

the proposal, would not withdraw her motion.

It failed, 5-1. President John Hobart was absent.

Trustee James Lewis was angered that the motion was not tabled.

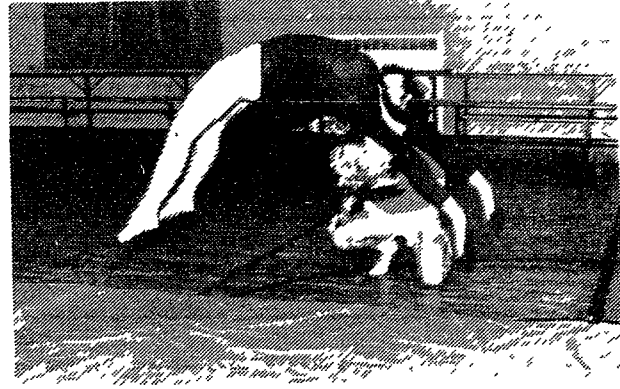

"I strongly resent having to vote against one of my favorite groups of people," he said. "I voted on principle."

In April, Lewis suggested in a public board meeting that the school employees could make a symbolic financial gesture by offering to take one percent pay reductions.

The idea was virtually ignored until the newly-formed Northville Secretarial Clerical and Aides organization offered to take the cut if the rest of the district did likewise.

In addition to the secretaries and central office administrators, the school board must also reach wage agreement this year with the Northville Association of School Administrators which represents building principals.

of July festivities — provided the township comes up with matching funds, are supporting the legislation but urging that it be amended to allow townships to make similar donations.

Meanwhile, City Attorney Philip Ogilvie reminded council this past week that an AG ruling "is just that... an interpretation of law, and not a fact of law."

What concerns Northville councilman about the proposed enabling legislation (HB 6106) is that it deals specifically with home rule cities. They contend the legislation should include townships as well.

Here comes summer!

Bubble gum, sunshine and bleacher seats.
The sounds of cat-calls and encouragement.
Nine eager young ball players ambling out to their positions.
Three dozen screaming, cheering parents watching from lounge chairs and picnic blankets.
Mustachioed heroes digging in at the plate.
An umpire's incessant call of a "steee-rike!"
Yep, summer baseball is here again.
With school doors closed for the season it's time for a whole new group of outdoor sports activists to step in the limelight.
Over the next three months more than 1000 local residents will be competing in softball, baseball and T-Ball in Northville's ever-expanding summer sports programs.
The Northville Recreation Department, in fact, currently sponsors a grand total of 107 teams in T-Ball, junior baseball and men's, women's, co-ed and girls' softball as well as a pair of new clubs in Connie Mack and Mickey Mantle baseball.
Ant it's a good bet that America's favorite pastime — with all its fun and glory — will continue to flourish in the area.
So be prepared — summer baseball's back in town.

Carl's wins National League 'battle of unbeatens'

National League

A pair of unbeaten National League leaders squared off in local men's softball action last Tuesday, and when the dust had cleared Carl's was on top.

Sparked by a balanced hitting attack and a three-run rally in the third inning, Carl's breezed to an 11-6 victory over Sheehan's Little Caesar's.

The win kept Carl's tied with Real Estate II, which blasted the Brew Hogs 14-4, atop the National League pack. Both sport 4-0 records, while Caesar's is now 3-1.

Dan Fisher's solo home run in the second inning helped Carl's to an early 3-0 lead, but Caesar's crept back to within one on the strength of John Osborne's two-run double in the top of the third. One-out singles by Mark Finley and Dave Catton plus a pair of doubles by Harold Wilhelm and Fisher, though, gave Carl's a 6-2 bulge in the bottom of the third and the winners were never seriously threatened again.

Fisher and Jim Schultz each had three hits for Carl's while Joe Bustamante, Darryl McLaughlin, Catton and Wilhelm all had two. Jim Sherwood had a two-run homer and a double and Don Phillippi and Osborne added two hits each for Caesar's.

Real Estate II, meanwhile, went on an early home run rampage on its way to a 14-4 victory over the Brew Hogs Thursday.

Joe Higgins and Kevin Cavanaugh hit back-to-back homers in each of the first two innings as Real Estate II raced off to an 11-0 advantage and coasted.

Mike Schroeder added a three-run blast in the fifth to close out the scoring for the winners, who got only 10 hits but attracted eight walks in the game. Brad Westfall cracked a two-run single and Rick Norton a two-run triple in the fourth to pace the Brew Hogs.

In other National League action last week Community Credit Union crept to within a half game of the divisional leaders with victories over Ely's and the Northville Players.

Led by Ted Moharemmoff and Rick Pariseau, who each had three RBI's, NCCU edged Ely's 13-12 Tuesday. Mike Thelsen had a home run, a double and five RBI's for the losers.

Two days later the local contenders erupted for seven runs in the third and eight more in the fifth to smother the Players, 19-6. John McNally and Ken Jones each belted a home run and a double for the winners while Greg Thomas and Chris Pariseau added three hits apiece. Paul Krause collected three singles to pace the Players.

American League

The Village Blues continued to lead the American League heap with a 15-0 triumph over Rizzo Real Estate last Monday, but Zayti-Long stayed in close range with a 23-2 mauling of Jim Storm

Insurance.

Paced by Ed Kritch, Gary Winemaster and Jim O'Brien the Blues scored in each of the first five innings and won in a mercy. Kritch had a pair of singles and four RBI's, Winemaster a two-run homer and O'Brien two hits and three RBI's for the winners while pitcher Dennis Colligan limited Rizzo to just four base hits in the contest.

Zayti-Long, meanwhile, exploded for 13 runs in the opening frame on the way to its fifth victory in six outings this season. The Sinclair brothers, John and Bill, each blasted two home runs and had 11 RBI's between them to pace the winners.

Four other Zayti players — including

Jim Zayti, Larry Biddle, John Murtha and Rex Balko, collected three hits apiece while Dave Sass topped the losers with two singles.

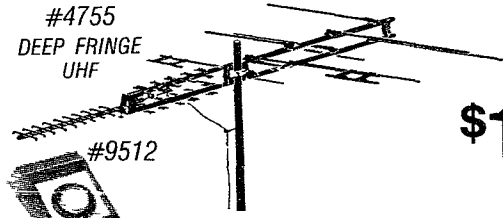

In the biggest upset of the week Little Caesar's, powered by Dennis Rons and Jim Foran, nipped State Farm 9-8.

Rons had a home run and two sacrifice flies for three RBI's while Foran collected three hits, including a run-scoring single in the sixth that proved to be the winning score.

State Farm, which got three hits apiece from Dan Delaney and Gary Metz, rallied from an 8-2 deficit after five innings but couldn't quite catch up. The loss dropped them to 3-2 on the season, while Little Caesar's is now 2-3.

Last-ditch rally keeps Lab perfect

Northville Laboratories almost got derailed by the high-flying Choo Chooettes last week.

The Choo Chooettes, one of the newest additions to this year's local women's softball league, came within three outs of handing Northville Lab, formerly known as Casterline, its first defeat in two years Tuesday, but a last-ditch rally gave the defending champs a 6-5 vic-

Beginner's luck?

Sheldon Schwartz of 23837 W. LeBost Road in Novi experienced a bit of beginner's luck Sunday.

Schwartz, in his first year of golfing, aced the 150-yard third hole at Brooklane Golf Course in Northville. It was the third hole-in-one recorded at Brooklane this spring.

Trailing 5-4 in its last turn at bat in the bottom of the sixth, Lab scored twice on singles by Denise MacDermid, Sally Potter and Dorothy Martin plus a double by Patty Brown, giving the winners their 26th straight league triumph over the past three seasons.

Combined with Wishing Well Manor's 15-10 loss to Northville Record, the victory gave Lab undisputed possession of first place with a 3-0 mark this season.

Lab had taken a 4-2 lead earlier in the game, exploding for four runs in the bottom of the third.

The Choo Chooettes overcame that deficit, though, by scoring three times in the fifth on back-to-back doubles by Betty Kemp and Terry Lapham plus a walk, an error, and base hits by Terry Thomas and Rebecca Terpevich.

Wishing Well, meanwhile, suffered its first loss in four outings despite a 16-hit barrage and fell into a four-way deadlock for second place.

Northville Record stormed out to a 7-0 lead in the first inning and led all the way in the 15-10 triumph.

Lorri Stanford collected a single, a double, a triple and a walk to lead the winners' 16-hit offensive attack while Kathy Rogowski had two singles, a triple and scored four runs. Kathy Elick and Judy Higbee added three hits apiece. Sue Pegrum and Joann Ransom contributed three hits each for Wishing Well.

In other women's league action last week Dave's Trim defeated the Thunderbird Flyers 16-10 and Alhambra picked up its first victory of the season in a 21-15 slugfest with Nichols Saints Realty.

Wendy D Haene, Connie Soncraft, and Gayle Richardson had three hits each in Dave's victory, overshadowing a 4-for-4 performance, including a two-run homer, by the Flyers' Sandy Meyers.

Cindy Warren paced Alhambra's win with three singles, a double and four runs scored while Alice Irey had two singles and a triple for Nichols.

Jim Dales

Bob Gould

JIM DALES, 1976 grad, has been elected co-captain of Harvard University's 1978-79 golf team.

Dales, a sophomore, has been one of the more consistent Crimson players over the past two years. Highlights of his career include medalist scores against Dartmouth and Providence in 1977 and against Tufts and Amherst in 1978.

He also plays jayvee hockey and is active in the Big Brother program and as a disc jockey with the campus radio station. He's currently concentrating in English at the Ivy League school.

During his playing days at Northville Dales was All-League, All-Country and All-Metro. He not only lettered but made All-League in each of his four years here, helping the Mustangs to four straight Western Six titles and a third-place finish in the 1976 Class A state finals.

Dales is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dales, 18715 Sheldon Road.

BOB GOULD, 1977 grad, returned home from Northwood Institute in Midland last weekend after outstanding seasons in both cross country and track.

Gould was Northwood's top cross country runner as a freshman, covering the grueling five-mile event in a time of 26:37 and finishing 19th in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) meet last fall.

He was also the school's top distance runner during track this spring. He placed third in the 5000 meters and fifth in the 10,000 meters at this year's GLIAC outdoor championships, helping Northwood to a third-place overall finish in the eight-school circuit.

During his senior year at Northville Gould placed ninth in the Class A state cross country finals and set school records in both the mile and two mile runs during the track season. In his junior year he won the two mile run at the Western Six league track meet and followed up by winning the mile in his senior year.

Gould, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gould of 908 Ely Court, will start the second year of a two-year advertising program when he returns to Northwood next fall.

DAVE HECKERL, 1977 grad, has returned home for the summer after a successful freshman season with the Yavapai Junior College baseball squad in Prescott, Arizona.

With Heckerl's help Yavapai, the 1977 junior college national baseball champions, went all the way to the finals in national competition earlier this month before losing to Ranger Junior College of Texas, 12-5, in the championship game. The Rough Riders were one of 10 teams (out of 450 nationwide) to qualify for the national tournament, which took place in Grand Junction, Colorado.

The former Mustang pitcher hurled an inning of relief in a game against Florida's Miami-Dade during the double elimination tourney and picked up a save in his team's 9-6 victory.

Yavapai went on to upset top-ranked Meramec (Missouri) Junior College before bowing to Ranger twice in the finals. Earlier in the season the Rough Riders had won the Arizona Junior College state championship and a national regional title.

During his years at Northville Heckerl, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Heckerl of 18585 Sheldon Road, received honors on the All-Western Six baseball squad as a junior and senior. He led the Mustangs in victories with seven in his senior year and was a second-team All-League choice.

He's currently taking a liberal arts curriculum at Yavapai.

Wild bunch?

No, there aren't really wild Indians roaming the grounds of Northville these days. Kids pictured above are actually members of last year's recreation-sponsored Day Camp program, which starts up again next month. Included in the program are seven weeks of organized games on the playground, arts and crafts activities, a trip to the Detroit Zoo and a special event or trip each week. Participants meet each Monday through Friday beginning July 5. Registration for the program, which is open to all area youngsters, ends this Friday (see story below).

Rec department releases summer brochure

With the changing of seasons little more than a week away, the Northville Recreation Department has released its 1978 summer brochure.

Registration for all programs listed in the brochure is taking place between now and Friday at the recreation office, located at 215 W. Main Street.

Among the programs being offered this year are such sports as bowling, golf, swimming, tennis, and track and field; outdoor activities like backpacking, archery shooting, rock climbing, jogging and kayaking and day camp; plus clinics in cheerleading, gymnastics, pee wee baseball and basketball.

Programs that will be starting within the next two weeks include archery, golf and golf lessons, pee wee baseball and a basketball clinic.

The archery class begins next Monday (June 19) and will meet Monday and Wednesday mornings over a period of six weeks. Cost of the class, open to anyone aged eight and above, is $6 per person.

Golf lessons will be conducted by a golf professional from the Oasis Golf Center in Plymouth and begin next Thursday (June 22). The class will meet Thursdays at 9 a.m. for youngsters aged five through 14 and at 10 a.m. for adults. Cost of the class, which lasts six weeks, is $26 per person.

Pee wee baseball will teach five and six-year-old children the basics of baseball and arrange pick-up games with supervision. The program begins Tuesday, June 27, and takes place Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 to 11 a.m. at the Fish Hatchery. Cost of the six-week program is $8.

High school cage coach Walt Koepke will instruct a basketball clinic for both boys and girls starting next Monday (June 19).

The two-week long clinic will meet Monday through Friday at the high school gym and is open to youngsters in grades four through 12.

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders will meet between 9:30 and 11 a.m.; seventh, eighth and ninth graders between 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., and junior and senior high school girls between 12:30 and 2 p.m.

Cost of the clinic, including a tee shirt for participants and trophies for the most improved and best free throw players, is $16.

The first of four sessions of the summer swimming program also begins next Monday with the second session slated to get under way July 3.

To register for all summer programs stop by the recreation office between 8 a.m. and noon or 1 and 5 p.m., or call 349-0203.

Sparked by Ron Beier, who went 3-for-3, the Cubs romped to an 11-3 win over the Angels in F League action last week. The Expos, meanwhile, squeezed by the Braves 7-6 with Todd Bartline getting two solid hits in two official at-bats. Doug Doyle and Dave Longridge split duty on the mound for the Expos, collectively striking out 11 batters.

The Cardinals, thanks to a strong performance by Craig Brown, who went 3-for-3 at the plate, breezed past the Reds 12-5.

It was a different story two days later, though, when the Cards bowed to the powerful Dodgers 12-4.

The Cards managed only two hits while the Dodgers picked up 12. Half of those were collected by Bob Pegrum, Dave DeMatteis and Ron Housman, who each went 2-for-3.

The Phillies, meanwhile, had to survive a late-inning charge for a 7-6 victory over the Angels. Dan Nielsen, Scott Bush and Darren Williams each had perfect showings at the plate for the winners, collecting eight hits among them, to overcome a strong pitching performance by the Angels' Chris McCormick, who the Reds 12-5.

The Giants, pulling convincingly ahead in the last two innings of their contest, knocked off the Pirates 16-12. Scott Gray went 2-for-2 while Bob Townsend was 3-for-4 for the Pirates, but key hits by Mike Sylvester, Chris and Ted Behen sealed the victory for the Pirates.

A strong seven-inning pitching performance by Dave Bach earned the Braves a 21-6 victory over the Cubs. While Chris Baez of the Cubs had a perfect 4-for-4 night at the plate, perhaps the most exciting offensive play of the game was Pat Campbell's successful third-inning bunt.

The bunt started in fair territory, rolled foul and then rolled back into fair territory, and Campbell beat it out for a single.

Tim Parkinson led the Padres with four hits as they downed the Expos 17-1. Jim Thompson went the distance for the Padres with 11 strikeouts.

Kevin Meadows, meanwhile, went the distance for the Mets but lost a tough 8-6 decision to the Braves. Jeff Metz went 3-for-3 for the winners.

In other F League action last week the Expos, despite getting a 3-for-3 performance by Tom Zielke, lost 10-8 to the Giants while the Padres continued their domination of the circuit with a 28-1 romp over the Cardinals.

The Dodgers kept up their winning ways with a 13-11 victory over the Cubs. The Dodgers got off to an early 2-0 lead on David Denhof's first-inning double and scored another in the second. In the Cubs' second Michael Bates tripled to the bases loaded to tie the game, but the Dodgers, sparked by Todd May's two-run triple, bounced back with three in the third and stayed ahead for good.

The Cubs scored two in the third, making it 6-5 until the sixth, when the Dodgers exploded for seven runs on a three-run triple by Jeff Wood and a timely hit by Fred King. The Cubs kept coming, getting a three-run double from Barry Kirsch that highlighted a six-run effort in their half of the sixth, but came up short.

Highlighting last week's G League action, the Reds and Braves ended their losing ways in convincing fashion.

The Reds, who started the season with eight straight losses, won all three of their games last week while the Braves, who got off to an 0-6 start, won twice in a row. The Reds' first win was a 7-6 cliffhanger with the Pirates Ron Demeter and Keith Hale handled the pitching chores for the winners. Hale also had three hits in the game. Their second win was a 13-10 decision over the Padres in a walk-marred contest Mark Olsen had a three-run homer for the losers. Saturday the Reds rolled to their third straight victory, blanking the Phillies 12-0.

The Braves, meanwhile, registered their first win Friday night with a 7-2 triumph over the Giants, then came back Saturday to nip the Cubs 5-4.

Saturday's victory came on a walk-off home run by Brian Fuller's game-tying double followed by Bob Baird's game-winning two-bagger. Fuller had two hits in the game.

The Braves had jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the second, only to see the Cubs rebound with four runs in a third-inning rally highlighted by Tom Ross's two-run triple and doubles by Doug Hansen and John Norton. Tom Storm had two hits for the Cubs.

The Dodgers kept up their winning ways with a 13-11 victory over the Cubs. The Dodgers got off to an early 2-0 lead on David Denhof's first-inning double and scored another in the second. In the Cubs' second Michael Bates tripled to the bases loaded to tie the game, but the Dodgers, sparked by Todd May's two-run triple, bounced back with three in the third and stayed ahead for good.

H League
The Rangers continued their dominance in H League action last week, keeping their unbeaten record intact with a victory over the Dodgers.
Saturday they defeated the Dodgers 14-9 behind the pitching of Scott Griggs, Derek Darkowski, Brian Baldrice and David Wickens. Besides his pitching heroics Baldrice also slammed a home run, a triple and a single while knocking in four RBIs.
The Mets, meanwhile, defeated the Reds 7-1 behind Chris Drew, who pitched three innings without allowing a run. The Reds rallied to load the bases in their last turn at bat, but a spectacular leaping catch by David Kozler ended the threat.
Sparked by the pitching of Mike Ruschak and the hitting of Dan Clark, who broke the game open with a two-run double, the Pirates dumped the Giants 10-4.
In other action last week Greg Stoekel blasted two home runs and shared pitching duties with Steve Hayes in leading the Cardinals to a 17-6 victory over the Padres, while the Expos destroyed the Phillies 19-0. In one of the top pitching duels of the season the Braves, behind the pitching of Steve Wilson, Adam Behen and Steve Lee, edged the Cubs 2-1. Mike Keitenga and Doug Martin were the Cubs' hurlers. The five pitchers combined for 28 strikeouts in the game while walking only seven. Eric Smolenski played outstanding defense at first base.

Four Northville clubs win WSSL soccer titles. . .

Four Northville clubs wound up with divisional championships as the Western Suburban Soccer League closed its 1978 spring season last weekend.

Winning titles for the boys were the 10-and-under, 12-and-under, and 16-and-under Northville Arsenal squads while the 14-and-under Pink Panthers won the girls' only crown.

Interestingly enough three of those clubs included sons or daughters of both Mike McGrath and Bill Butterfield, who both coach WSSL teams themselves.

Playing for the 10-and-under Arsenal squad are Marty McGrath and Brad Butterfield, while Mickey McGrath and Billy Butterfield compete with the 12-and-under Arsenal and Peggy McGrath and Angie Butterfield with the Panthers.

Arsenal's 16-and-under club, while competing without a McGrath or a Butterfield, won its divisional title without any problems last weekend. Completing its second straight season without a loss, Arsenal blasted Farmington no. 1 by an 8-0 count. David McElroy and Gregg May tallied two goals each for the winners while Russ Gans, Les Neal, and Mark and Kevin Swayne added one apiece.

Arsenal's 12-and-under champions, meanwhile, closed their season undefeated and unscored upon with a 6-0 victory over Livonia no. 14. Mickey McGrath scored three goals, Steve Starcevic two and Scott Galla one for the winners. Defensive players for the shutout artists included Matt Meyer (goalie), Mike Sylvester (center fullback), Larry Salmeto (right fullback) and John Govin (left fullback), getting goals from Don Hubbard and Scott Thomas, finished with a divisional co-championship by nipping Livonia no. 18, 2-1, in their regular season finale. Northville United, which beat Farmington no. 3 in a forfeit last weekend, wound up second in their division with a 5-1 record.

The 10-and-under Arsenal club, getting goals from Don Hubbard and Scott Thomas, finished with a divisional co-championship by nipping Livonia no. 18, 2-1, in their regular season finale. Northville United, which beat Farmington no. 3 in a forfeit last weekend, wound up second in their division with a 5-1 record.

In other season-ending boys' action the Rovers swamped Farmington no. 4, 5-1. Brandon Turner scored twice for the winners while brother Benson added another with his first score ever. Eric Donkens, who got credit for a goal he deflected off a Farmington player and into the net, and Toby Balai tallied the other goals.

In girls' action last weekend the Pink

Panthers had to battle back from a two-goal halftime deficit for a 4-3 victory over Farmington no. 3 and the divisional championship. Donna Schlachter and Sharon Campbell had two goals apiece for the title winners.

In other 14-and-under action the Aztecs, competing with only nine players, beat Livonia no. 2, 4-2. Jackie Nixon scored two goals while Marge Muller, who helped offset the player shortage with her play at center halfback, and Michelle Waldman chipped in one apiece.

The 12-and-under Foxes, meanwhile, closed their season by tying 1-1 with Farmington. Lisa Cahill, who scored at least once in every game this year for the Foxes and had 16 goals in all, gave the local girls their only score.

And in 10-and-under action the Aztecs, getting 15 saves from goalies Mandy Olgren, defeated the Pink Panthers 1-0 on a goal by Kristy Pearce.

. . . But tournament is tough on local squads

Tournament action got under way last week for the almost three dozen Northville teams involved in the Western Suburban Soccer League.

Out of the 24 Northville clubs involved in first-round action only six came away with victories.

The most impressive win by a local team was turned in by Northville United of the boys' 12-and-under division. United, sparked by Mike Wissman's hat trick plus some outstanding overall play by Kirk Stasiuk, breezed past Livonia no. 11, 9-1. Joel Grasley and Dirk Nowka each added a pair of goals for coach Gary Sixt's winners while Dan Perpich and Jarod McIntosh kicked in one apiece.

Other 12-and-under boys' action saw the Tornados, paced by Tom Ross's two goals, edge Livonia no. 1 by a 4-2 count. Craig Towalski, scoring on a header off a pass, and Don Graham added one goal apiece. The Rowdies, however, lost a 2-1 overtime thriller to Plymouth no. 5.

Northville's lone 10-and-under winners were the Rovers, who slipped past the Black Knights in one of two all-Northville contests in opening week play. Brandon Turner, playing his last game before moving to Florida with his family, scored all three goals for the victors.

The only other local boys' winner was Northville Arsenal of the 14-and-under division. Playing over the protests of their opponents' coach, Arsenal opened their tournament hopes with a 5-1 victory over Farmington no. 2.

In girls' action, meanwhile, the 12-and-under Pink Panthers blanked the Aztecs 2-0 in another all-Northville showdown. Kim May, on an assist from Kathy Korwin, and Sharon Hubich, on an assist from Anne Schwartz, scored the winner's goals.

Northville's other 12-and-under club, the Stars, got an outstanding performance from center halfback Jill Bremer but lost 2-0 to Plymouth no. 2.

In 19-and-under competition the Stars picked up Northville's only other first-round victory with a 6-2 win over West Bloomfield.

Among the losers in 10-and-under action were the Aztecs, who lost a 1-0 overtime heartbreaker to Livonia no. 5 despite nine saves by goalie Mandy Olgren, who was named player of the game; the Stars, who, hurt by the loss of middle fullback Tiffanie Vickie after taking an early lead on Bowling Horst's goal, dropped a 2-1 decision to Plymouth no. 2; and the Pink Panthers, who lost 3-2 to Farmington no. 2.

Plymouth Center now hiring 130 new staffers

Nearly 130 staffers are being hired at the Plymouth Center for Human Development which has been under siege for the past year for abuse and neglect of its mentally retarded residents.

Some of the blame for the mistreatment has been attributed to a staff which is inadequate in numbers and poorly trained.

As a result of a lawsuit brought by parents and friends of the abused residents, the Northville Township institution has been ordered by a U.S. District Court to increase its staffing.

Plymouth Center spokesmen said that the present hiring is in addition to those called for in the March 3 federal court consent order.

Many of the professional and para-professional positions to be filled will require college degrees in fields related to mental retardation. Experience will also be required.

When possible, the jobs will be filled from available Civil Service registers. Otherwise, the center will recruit qualified people, according to spokesmen.

"It is imperative that we add these staff," said David Rosen, the center's acting director. "Then we can get back on the road to quality programming for our residents and credibility in the community."

"With increased activity we can reduce the possibility of abuse and mistreatment. We can also reduce the amount of medication by providing normal outlets for residents' energies."

Earlier this year, the Detroit Free Press published a series of detailed accounts of physical and sexual abuse, neglect, and cover-up at the center which cares for about 800 mentally retarded people.

state director of mental health, Donald Smith, resigned.

Rosen is the second interim director since Womack's departure. The first, Evelyn Provitt, took a position with the federal department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Funds for the new positions are coming from special legislative appropriations and from funds budgeted for the many center employees who were dismissed following the abuse stories

Among the positions to be hired are:

- 12 program supervisors for the afternoon and midnight shifts at the center's eight resident buildings.
- 16 program assistants for the day shift.
- 50 to 60 nursing supervisors.
- 20 activities/training aides and student assistants.
- A mental retardation program supervisor and mental retardation program assistant.

Student wins $30 for logo

Where would Coca-Cola be without its distinctive script signature? And how can you help but think of RCA when you see that dog sitting next to the Victrola?

Northville High School's new logo does not have that kind of national recognition, but students hope it will gain notoriety of sorts within the community.

Patty's design was chosen from 11 entries. It includes a sun peeking over the water tower perched at the high school's hilltop site.

Student Congress representative Bill Lockwood said the logo will appear on patches, shirts, notebooks and maybe even bumper stickers.

"There's the block 'N' for sports and the honor society has its pins, but there is no schoolwide symbol," he explained.

The new logo earned Patty $30.

2 Northville students on Alma honors list

Two Alma College students from Northville are among those named to the college's term honors list for the second term of the 1977-78 academic year.

Students who achieve a 3.5 grade point average during a term, while carrying a minimum of 13 credits (at least 8 of which are evaluative grades), are named to the term honors list.

They are:

Jean E. Fritz, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Fritz of 903 Spring Dr. and Terri M. Smith, freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Smith of 42132 Westmead Ct.

She earns vet degree

Karen Truan of Northville has earned a doctor of veterinary medicine (DVM) degree from Michigan State University's College of Veterinary Medicine.

The new Dr. Truan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Truan, 17370 Beck Road.

PRESERVATIVE PRESSURE TREATED LUMBER

Anything you build will have extraordinarily long life if you build it with ordinary lumber or plywood pressure treated with preservative chemicals. It won't rot and termites won't bother it even if you don't stain or paint it. Considering how long it lasts, preservative pressure treated wood is surprisingly inexpensive. And if you don't have a project in mind, ask us for a suggestion.

Alhambra braces for its gigantic 'special' picnic

When 40 men throw a picnic for 700 retarded children, they need a lot of help.

Northville resident Ted Marzonie, chairman for such a picnic sponsored by the local Manresa caravan of the Order of Alhambra, says the community is pitching in to make the June 21 event a success.

"I think everyone in Northville is interested in retarded children," Marzonie said. "We should take care of them, and we are."

"The picnic is one of many activities the Order of Alhambra sponsors for retarded children. Each year the order buys all the first Monday's tickets for the Shrine Circus to give some 7,000 retarded children in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties a big day under the big top.

Besides the annual summer picnic, the order also sponsors an annual Christmas party, and caravan members volunteer year around with a variety of services.

The local caravan 40-member adopted Our Lady of Providence, a private home for retarded children, as their pet project, helping with bike repair, making an ice skating rink and fixing broken gym toys.

The children from that home will be coming to the picnic, along with many retarded children who live with their parents in the Northville area. The majority of children will be bused from the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

Along with volunteers who will help at the picnic, approximately 1,100 persons will be eating hotdogs, drinking pop and enjoying the clowns in the Northville athletic area of Hines Park. The clowns are volunteers from the Galacia caravan in Inkster.

Marzonie praises the cooperation given by the community to make the picnic possible.

• Northville Mayor Paul R. Vernon proclaimed June 21 as "Alhambra Day."

• Northville Police Captain Lewis Westfall, Northville Township Police Chief Ronald Nisun and State Police Lt. Bill Tomczyk have pledged to assist in traffic problems.

• Fifteen auxiliary policemen have volunteered to patrol the area during the picnic.

• Wayne County Road Commission supervisors, Roy Rautiola and Jack Shepherd, have assured that the grounds will be prepared for the picnic and cleaned up afterwards. They'll be supplying the many tables needed for the large group.

• Northville City Manager Steve Walters is obtaining the portable toilet facilities needed in addition to the regular ones.

• Novi Ambulance Service will keep a rescue ambulance on the site during the picnic.

• Aids from the Plymouth Center and the Institutional Special Education Program will attend to help with the children.

Marzonie also praises the efforts of the Reverend Father Gerald A. Hadad of Our Lady of Victory church; the Reverend Lloyd G. Brasore of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville; Northville Fire Chief Herman Hartner Jr.; and Dennis Roux, the local caravan's grand commander, for their help in planning the picnic.

At the picnic Marzonie plans to have some games going, especially baseball, and hopes to have some trampolines on the site.

"A lot of the children are blind and deaf, which makes it rough for them to have a good time," he said, "but we try to do it as easily as possible, to let them share the good times also."

To make the good times possible, Marzonie would appreciate more volunteers to help from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on picnic day.

"A lot of assistance is required in feeding them hot dogs, sloppy joes, pop and ice cream," he said.

He also hopes area residents will be generous when the 40 local Alhambra members don their white fezzes and stand on street corners June 24 for a canister drive to raise funds to pay for the picnic. The tab for the day will be around $1,500.

Commerce home restoration required guts

June Byers extends welcome

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Nestled by the banks of the Huron River within sight and sound of Commerce Road lies a treasure that preserves the past for the future.

In the heart of old Commerce Village and situated in one of Oakland County's most colorful settings is the Byers Homestead. A marker near the roadside designates the site as a historical landmark.

According to members of the Commerce Township Area Historical Society, the site dedication in May, 1977, was more than a routine ceremony. They say it was the culmination of years of hard work, research, political action, and trust in a political system that doesn't always work the way we think it should.

The charming, inviting area was in dire straits of being demolished in the early 1970's. The property was slated for destruction since it was directly in the path of the proposed M-275 highway. It seemed a foregone conclusion that the homestead was doomed.

June Rilla Byers, the charming, people-oriented proprietress of the property took a different view. Bent on preserving the site, the former teacher and actress circulated petitions opposing the highway. She travelled to Lansing to debate and discuss the problem with highway officials. She constantly drummed up public support. Opposition grew.

Looking to the area surrounding the historic spot, Ms. Byers' zeal spread to others who carried on the fight to the ultimate death of the highway.

Historians say the Byers site was the home of the first white settler in Commerce Township. Traced to Abram Walrod from New York State, a log cabin was built in 1825. The cabin was replaced with an early Victorian frame house in the mid-1840's. That house, said to be the second oldest in the whole of Oakland County, is still lived in.

The barn, believed to have been a blacksmith shop way back when, is now Byers Country Store. Still standing and used today is a chicken coop, outside kitchen and a good old privy.

Other settlers followed Walrod via the Erie Canal and soon the area blossomed as a center of growth and trade. Businessmen, believing the area would one day become a business center, named their town "Commerce."

south quickly quashed those ideas, making Commerce the quiet, residential area it is today.

But what of the Byers homestead. Says Ms. Byers, "It took just plain guts, ambition and cooperation to bring the horrible looking place to what it is today." Purchased by her parents, the barn was first a bait shop. "Mother didn't know a thing about bait or tackle but she learned quickly and soon had quite a business," reports Ms. Byers.

"The house itself looked like the house that Jack built. Everything was tilted. The porch was at such a terrible angle my father once fell off of it," she added laughing.

She continued. "Weeds were everywhere. We worked, clearing, rebuilding. it wasn't an overnight dream."

Her "escapade with the past" really began in 1950 when mother's bait shop became the country store. Moving bait tanks, fishing tackle was replaced with antiques. Visitors walked the dirt path to the house where more antiques were crowded into the family living quarters.

Aided by two old family friends who now make their home in the historic house, Ms. Byers' dream grew. For 28 years, Forest Jewel and Earle Crowton have added their talents to those of Ms. Byers. Jewel is in charge of all landscaping while Crowton handles all building, repairs and does the cooking.

"The quaintness was made, it was not just here for us to take. What we offer is some down-to-earth humility for the life that surrounds us," says Ms. Byers with enthusiasm.

From an area almost void of trees in 1950 rise dozens of now-towering shade trees. Bushes help to enclose the property blotting out all but a few street sounds and transferring the scene to one of tranquility... a close step to Eden.

Weed-choked grounds and river banks have grown into tidy, well-tended gardens. Flower strewn paths link the various buildings together. An artesian well spilling into a basin adds to the idyllic setting. Ducks, gees, chickens, nine dogs and 11 cats, pigeons and one guinea pig live together in peace.

Once inside the grounds, a visitor feels far removed from rushing cars and noise. The inner yards are a jewel to be treasured.

Visitors are welcome. Collections of

By the end of last summer, a lot of Michigan lawns looked dry and brown. Part of the problem was heat and drought. Another big factor was the sod webworm.

According to Keith Kennedy, Extension entomologist at Michigan State University, the sod webworm was Michigan's biggest lawn insect problem last year. Though lawns now look lush, green and healthy, sod webworms that spent the winter in the soil are already feeding there.

These pests, now in the caterpillar or larval stage, will pupate and emerge as adults probably in early to mid-June this year, Kennedy says. (This is a little later than usual because of the cool weather so far this spring.) These adults will then mate and lay eggs, which will hatch within a week or so and then start the cycle all over again. Several generations may be completed in one summer.

Sod webworms do their damage to lawns while they're in the larval stage. Larvae — cream-colored or light grayish brown caterpillars with dark spots on their bodies and dark head capsules — feed at night on grass blades at or just above the soil level. They may spin silken webs and, as they grow, they form silken tunnels close to the soil surface.

The first signs of feeding damage are irregular brown spots. If larvae are present in large numbers, turf may become completely brown and even die, especially if it's under stress from hot, dry weather.

Kennedy points out that white grubs may also kill grass by feeding on the roots. Some turfgrass diseases cause brown spots, too, and drought injury may be mistaken for sod webworm feeding.

Before spraying for sod webworms, make sure that's the problem. Check the grass near the soil surface, as well as the thatch and the soil for an inch or so below the surface. Fresh green clippings, green fecal pellets and silken tubes or webbing indicate the sod webworm is the problem. If no evidence of feeding or larvae is found, the damage you see is due to some other cause.

The presence of sod webworm adults may also be a clue, he notes. These are the grayish-tan "millers" often seen fluttering around porch lights or flitting erratically across the lawn around sundown. They are about one-half to three-fourths inch long. At rest, they fold their wings around the body.

If a close inspection of the turf reveals that sod webworms are responsible for lawn damage, chemical controls are advised. To make controls more effective, Kennedy suggests mowing the lawn and removing clippings before spraying. Water thoroughly in the afternoon.

Save your fruit

Outsmarting birds no easy task

The only sure-fire, 100 percent guaranteed way to eliminate birds from your home strawberry patch is to plow it up and plant something else.

The second-best way is to protect the ripening fruit with bird netting.

According to Glenn Dudderar, Extension wildlife specialist at Michigan State University, plastic bird netting is an easy, effective and harmless way for home gardeners to be sure that you get to harvest the fruits of your labor.

Bird netting can be used on strawberries, raspberries, blueberries and cherries, he points out. The best method to apply it varies, depending on the crop.

With cherries and raspberries, the net can simply be tossed over the branches or canes. Be sure it trails in several folds on the ground so that the birds can't get under it, Dudderar advises. If they can get under it, they will, and the fruit they don't eat they'll probably knock off the plants as they flap around in a panic because they can't find their way out.

To cover blueberries and strawberries, erect a few posts around the patch to hold the net up away from the plants and throw the net over the posts, he suggests. Make sure that the net trails in several folds on the ground and that there are several inches' clearance between the net and the berries. If the net rests directly on the plants, the birds will simply perch on the net and peck through it.

"Keep in mind that there's no point in protecting your fruit against the birds if your protective device prevents you from getting at the berries to pick them," Dudderar notes. He points out that bird netting tossed loosely over stakes is quite easy to toss out of the way when you want to harvest some berries.

Plastic bird netting is readily available at 1.5 to 2.5 cents per square foot, depending on the quantity you buy. Some brands are guaranteed to last five years and with a minimum of care can last much longer. This makes the annual cost of protecting a small backyard fruit patch quite low.

Though bird netting is the quick, easy way to discourage bird feeding in small fruit, other options are also available.

A chemical bird repellent can be used on cherries to make the fruits taste bad so that birds won't eat them. Use the spray carefully according to label directions, Dudderar advises, and be sure to observe the waiting period between last spray and harvest. The material doesn't taste good to humans either, he notes.

Bird control measures based on scare tactics require the gardener to outsmart the birds. This often is not as easy as it sounds.

"Birds are not brilliant, but they are not stupid — they can learn," Dudderar says. "It doesn't matter whether you use a scarecrow, exploding shotgun shells, twirlers and pie pans, or recorded bird distress calls — if you fall into a routine, the birds will catch on and learn not to be afraid. If you vary your attack, however, you'll keep the birds guessing."

As an example of how birds can outsmart people, Dudderar cites the case of the home gardener who was plagued with starlings. He purchased and erected in the garden a realistic papier mache hawk. The hawk frightened the birds away for about three days. Gradually the birds came to ignore the fake hawk and even perched alongside it.

Frustrated, the gardener removed the hawk from its perch and tossed it onto a picnic table in the yard. Once again the starlings were frightened.

Early beauties

Dianthus or "Pinks" are fast rising in popularity following the introduction of dwarf, early blooming, heat resistant hybrids a few years ago. Newest of these is "Snowfire" which puts on a show of white blossoms with cherry red centers. Plants of "Snowfire" are frost resistant and will bloom weeks before summer flowers. Then, when zinnias and marigolds are at their best, "Snowfire" can be sheared to remove seed heads and give the plants a rest. With a light feeding and regular watering, the plants will recover and bloom again from early fall until killed by heavy frosts. Plants are uniformly six to eight inches in height and branch at the base to produce mounds of blue-gray carnation-like foliage 12 inches across.

Bluish grass needs water

While any good lawngrass can withstand reasonable drought, the elegant new varieties deserve a better fate.

They should be watered at the first signs of wilting to keep them looking their best. Typically this is when the grass turns bluish, and footprints remain visible for some time after the lawn is walked upon.

The amount of water that the lawn uses varies with its location. In windy habitat under full sun, such as might occur in western climates, water loss can reach 2 inches per week.

It's not too late to plant vegetables

Late June is still vegetable planting time. In fact, many vegetables can be planted in July and even August for a fall harvest.

"We usually think of spring as the time to plant a garden," says Jesse Saylor, Michigan State University home horticulture specialist. "But peas, cabbage, lettuce and other crops that do best in cool temperatures can be planted in mid-summer. The gardener who just didn't get the spring garden planted and the gardener who wants to make maximum use of garden space by successive planting after early crops can both benefit from this second chance to plant."

Vegetables to be grown for fall harvest are generally planted as seed directly in the garden. Gardeners should select vegetable varieties carefully, Saylor advises. Choose only varieties recommended for Michigan, and be sure they will have time to mature before severe cold weather sets in.

"Many crops are fairly frost tolerant. Some actually improve in flavor with a light frost," Saylor points out. "They won't

Your trees need fertilizer, too

Shade trees add value as well as beauty to the home landscape.

Often, however, trees are overlooked at fertilization time, according to The Fertilizer Institute. Special attention should be given trees that have roots confined by streets, curbs or other structures. These large plants should be fertilized more often.

Horticulturists advise regular fertilizer applications three times per year — in early spring, again in midsummer, and also in mid to late fall in milder winter regions.

For large trees in open areas, fertilization in early spring, preferably just before new growth begins, often is recommended.

Lawn fertilizers can be used. Also, many manufacturers now prepare special fertilizer blends for trees and other woody ornamentals.

As with all fertilizer products, follow the manufacturer's directions for application rate and placement.

'Truth in renting' bill adopted after compromise

By WARREN HOYT

After nearly two years of negotiation and compromise, the Michigan House has adopted a truth in renting bill prohibiting clauses in residential leases that mislead tenants about their rights but cannot be enforced.

The clauses are primarily the type that attempt to remove responsibilities or obligations from the landlord, even against clear language of state law or the constitution.

Such items include a waiver of a jury trial, removing all culpability from the landlord for negligence or requiring the tenant to pay landlord attorney fees in any court disputes.

Sponsor Representative Mark Clodfelter (D-Flint) said he believes the vast majority of leases currently in existence in the state contain at least one provision.

He said the main goal of the legislation is compliance. "People are unaware of their rights, and if they dispute something, they go along with the lease because they think it is signed and binding," he said.

The bill requires all new leases to contain a warning to tenants advising them that the lease must comply with state law and that questions about legality of any provision should be referred to an attorney or other expert.

Tenants are given the right to demand a landlord correct the lease containing an unenforceable clause and go to court seeking $250 in damages should the landlord refuse to do so within 20 days.

It further permits a court to dissolve a lease agreement if an unenforceable clause is included.

Tenants could recover $500 in damages if the landlord violated clear and explicit provisions of the law and refused to make corrections.

If the violation was not a clear violation of explicit law — something the tenant must prove — the landlord could be subject to the $250 penalty just once when several tenants are involved, but must correct all leases. For clear violations, the 20-day grace period may be waived and each tenant can bring separate actions for damages.

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has gone to bat for the consumers again, this time declaring that a scheduled rate increase for about 20 percent of the subscribers for Blue Cross/Blue Shield should be cancelled or scaled down.

Kelley said he wants to challenge the rate hike at a hearing before Insurance Commissioner Thomas Jones. A hearing has not yet been scheduled.

The proposed higher rates, amounting to a total of about $31 million, are scheduled to become effective July 1, if approved by Jones. The Insurance Bureau, Department of Commerce, has recommended approval.

Kelley said the entire Blues rate structure should be subject to a full review by the commissioner.

"It is clear that these rates could have an enormous impact on the economic well-being of this state. I consider it imperative that a matter of such importance to the subscribers and the general economic welfare of the state be carefully considered in an evidentiary hearing requiring cross-examination of witnesses," Kelley said.

He added his office will review the financial data and cross-examine company and staff witnesses on the reasonableness and necessity of the rate hike.

Use of sawed-off shotguns and rifles would be prohibited under bill recently passed by the Michigan House. Persons convicted of manufacturing, selling or concealing a sawed-off weapon could be sentenced to as much as five years in prison and/or fined $2,500.

The weapons, made literally by sawing down a shotgun or rifle barrel, are considered extremely deadly by law enforcement officers. The weapons are allegedly popular with members of organized crime.

Why are food costs soaring?

Consumers should be cautious when placing the blame for rising food prices, says Sheila Morley, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service consumer marketing specialist.

Food prices have not risen because food businesses are greedily grabbing all the profits they can earn. In most cases, price hikes are due to the increasing costs involved in food production and processing (labor costs, packaging materials, transportation costs, business taxes and energy costs). Prices also rise when food products are in short supply, according to Morley.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture predicts that food costs will climb 4 to 7 percent over last year's level. Most of the price boost during the rest of this year will be on meats, dairy products, vegetable oils, processed fruits and vegetables and possibly sugar products.

Beef prices, which are high and likely to remain so, are an example. "The rise in beef prices is mostly due to the short supply of cattle," Morley says.

Since cattle feed prices were high and beef prices were low, cattle ranchers weren't making a reasonable profit. Like any other businessmen, ranchers decided to trim back herds until beef prices began to rise rather than feed their cattle at a loss," she explains.

The cattle population has dropped by 16 million head over three years, and according to Morley, it takes about three years to build a herd back up again.

"If it's any comfort to consumers, the best cure for high prices is high prices," Morley explains. The high price of beef will encourage ranchers to produce more, and as the supply of beef increases, the price will decline.

"This is the beginning of a cure," she says, "but medicine isn't always as palatable as one might hope."

There is a smaller supply of pork than producers anticipated, which may cause an increase in pork prices around mid-summer. However, marketing specialists predict prices will decline again toward the end of the year.

Outsmarting birds

a while, but they soon returned to consume the gardener's fruit crops.

Dudderar persuaded the gardener to try moving the fake hawk around the yard so that it was in a different location each day. The starlings, unable then to determine whether the hawk was a fake, stayed away from the gardener's yard.

"The same principle holds with all frighteners," Dudderar points out. "If you run string between some stakes in the garden and hang strips of cloth from the string, the fluttering cloth will scare the birds for a day or two. But they'll soon learn not to fear it.

However, if you use cloth strips for a couple of days, then switch to aluminum pie pans, then back to cloth and so on, the birds won't have a chance to get used to any one technique."

A scarecrow will work until the birds figure out that it's harmless. It will be more effective if the gardener moves it frequently and takes its place occasionally to fire off a shotgun, beat on a garbage can lid with a length of pipe or otherwise make some loud, unexpected noise to frighten the birds.

A rubber snake — or even an artfully posed piece of garden hose — will keep birds out of a strawberry patch if the gardener moves it to a new spot every day.

'Restoration guts'

antiques are everywhere, many linked to Ms. Byers' mother's early childhood and beyond.

The Country Store itself is crammed with jars of penny candy, reproductions, antiques, old dolls, toys and miniatures of every description that desire a place in a dollhouse. Each nook and cranny is used displaying eye appealing wares.

Ms. Byers' flair for the dramatic filters down to her arrangements and settings of the miniatures. "Toys are my thing... I love them all."

"To think of the things I threw away.

You know, that idea of 'oh, who'd ever want this old thing anyway,'" she said, shaking her head. "You know, all those special offers for one Wheaties box-top."

At one time connected with Brace Beemer and John Todd in the "Lone Ranger" series, Ms. Byers was the female voice in the famous Detroit radio program. "The Green Hornet", also with Todd, was another series using her talents.

"Now that there is a revival of those old programs, people will pop in to say they heard me on the radio. Oh, it was fun," she said with an ever-present smile.

Open only on week-ends and on special days for tours, June, along with adopted daughters Terry and Brooke, greet everyone. With youngsters on tours, one of the men will appear decked out in farmer overalls, handing out bags of corn for the chickens and ducks. Each child receives a small bag of penny candy as a remembrance.

Scattered throughout the buildings is what Ms. Byers calls "a heritage for children." A lovely carved cherry nickelodeon graces one room, its John Philip Sousa marches filling the house with music.

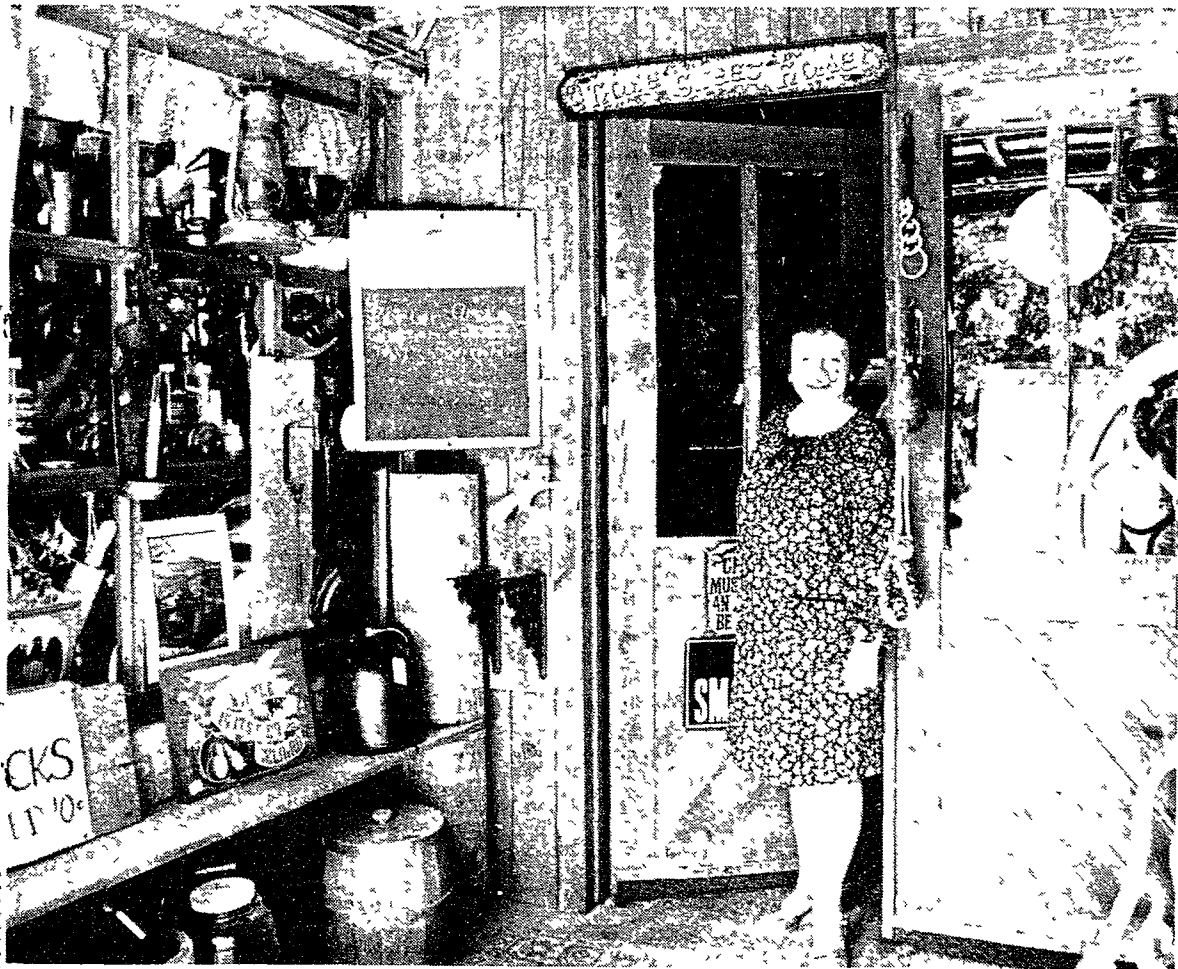

An old wicker carriage, rocking horse, dozens of dolls and iron toys are everywhere. Old Victorian furniture, lamps, and utensils fill the walls and floors.

During the warm months, artists and craftsmen are invited to display their talents in an open air setting. The old country charm is equalled by the old country warmth encouraging all to "sit a spell."

Sweeping her arms to encompass all around her, Ms. Byers claims the whole place developed by friends saying "maybe June would like it." She points to barn wood gracing the walls, fashioned into furniture and made into displays. An old door, rescued from a dump, is another salvaged treasure from a friend.

One hundred year old bushel baskets pour forth their wares. Old cash registers, scales and display cases continue to serve the customers.

A trip to the Byers Homestead is more than a visit to view a few old buildings. A step through the door is a step into the past envisioned by those early Commerce settlers.

Charm of old country store captures visitors take really cold weather, however."

Follow the directions on seed packets for proper planting depth and spacing between plants and rows. Water the seed in to speed germination, and water as needed during dry periods to prevent wilting and keep plants growing vigorously.

Fertilizer probably won't be necessary if you're planting the fall garden as a followup to a spring harvest and you fertilized well in the spring.

In mid-Michigan, you can plant broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, kohlrabi and green onions between June 20 and June 30; snap beans and beets the first two weeks of July; head lettuce, peas and long white radishes the last two weeks of July; Chinese cabbage and kale from June 20 through July 30; leaf lettuce from July 1 through August 15; spinach July 20-30; turnips anytime during July; and red radishes anytime during August.

"WE'RE OUT to win it again," beams James Cutler of Cutler Realty as workmen completed cleaning and repair of the firm's sales office at the northeast corner of Rayson and Center streets in Northville.

He had reference to the city's beautification awards, which the Cutler business place has won five straight times.

James and Louise Cutler purchased the old and rapidly deteriorating building and completely refurbished the exterior and interior several years ago and have used it as their sales headquarters ever since.

Their preservation of the old house won praise of the Historical Society and the Northville Beautification Commission. The commission awarded the firm its fifth certificate at the Michigan Week luncheon last month.

Latest work on the building included rebuilding the chimneys, and repairing and cleaning of the building's exterior.

PONTIAC STATE BANK scored another first in Michigan banking circles recently when it inaugurated "24-hour teller service" at the Pontiac Mall. In so doing, they became the first bank in Michigan to begin regular operation of an automated teller machine at a location completely separate from any branch of their bank.

Last October Pontiac State Bank (PSB) became the first bank in the state to share their ATMS with a credit union. This electronic service, which PSB calls "Bank Now," performs approximately 85 percent of the banking services normally used by consumers.

PSB customers who have special plastic cards can withdraw money from checking or savings accounts, make deposits, transfer funds, obtain cash advances on credit cards, and make loan payments and pay utility bills. The customer completes the transaction simply by pressing the appropriate buttons on the machine.

The new Pontiac Mall facility is an extension of the bank's 24-hour teller network, according to PSB Executive Vice-president William L. Belaney. he said that thousands of the bank's customers regularly use automated tellers at ten of the bank's full-service offices. Now these customers can obtain exactly the same service when they shop in the Mall.

People

People reach to know others... sometimes in many ways of communication. Sometimes it is in vain, other times are found answers... but something there pushes... pushes toward the sunshine of a brand new day... or the heart of another person.

Constantly is found—that being too alone is a form of desperation that should not be. Maybe that is where my destination lies ahead of me... to somehow share life around me with people there that emerge with me day by day.

Cargo Cluster

Slowly slowly turning through the dark night yearning endlessly in hot pursuit directly aiming its lighted chute

Toiling in its basking warmth filling shipfull till the dawn Mighty in its glare and glance it is merely still a pawn

Only with it can the nightly work be done and we its cargo muster Nightly lighting cargo cluster

People say "I wouldn't want to Live-like that" staring through a cage — They wouldn't live with a hippo either, And giraffe pits aren't quite the rage.

What would Zoo residents say of us If they looked in our houses someday? Would they gladly return to their airy homes And say "I wouldn't want to... No Way!"

"Any PSB customer who has received a card to unlock the equipment can use any PSB machine at any time, including the new installation in The Pontiac Mall," Belaney said. "The entire network can save customers many extra trips."

The service is also available to members of participating credit unions. The Pontiac Telephone Employees Credit Union joined the network in 1977 and four other credit unions — T&C Federal, Pontiac Municipal Employees, Pontiac Municipal Employees, Pontiac Area School Employees, and MSU-Oakland University Employees — are in the process of tying into the bank's system. Their members will be able to use the Pontiac State Bank Machines when qualified by their respective organizations.

This cooperative agreement, which is one of the first in the United States, provides the best potential for the development of the automated service, according to Belaney.

So far, nearly three million people have bought his album "The Stranger." His hit song "Just the Way You Are" was a gold record. His recent tours of the U.S., Europe, Australia and Japan were sold-out triumphs.

And his latest hits, "Movin' Out (Anthony's Song)" and "Only the Good Die Young," are bringing him to more people than ever before.

New National Smoker Study:

Important News For 100's Smokers:

Smokers rate taste of MERIT 100's equal to —or better than—leading high tar 100's.

Can low tar MERIT 100's—packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco—measure up to the taste expectations of high tar 100's smokers?

Read the results from a new, nationwide research effort involving smokers who actually taste-tested MERIT 100's against leading high tar 100's.

Results Endorse MERIT Breakthrough

Confirmed: Majority of 100's smokers rate MERIT 100's taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar 100's tested! Cigarettes having up to 70% more tar.

Confirmed: Majority of 100's smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT 100's.

Detailed interviews were also conducted with current MERIT 100's smokers.

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT 100's smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT 100's smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT 100's smokers not considering other brands.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT 100's has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT 100's is what it claims to be: The first major alternative to high tar smoking.

This Sunday's Father's Day

This Sunday, June 18, is the day when a man is glad he's a father.

The third Sunday in June has become the day to "honor Dad" throughout the United States. From steak to cheesecake, fathers will find their favorite foods at the dinner table.

And, if Dad's a sportsman or hobbyist, he may be lucky enough to receive monogrammed golfballs, fishing flies, a new racket or stamp album instead of a tie.

The first observance of Father's Day was in Spokane, Washington, in 1910 when Mrs. John Bruce Dodd with the support of ministers and the YMCA was influential in having the day proclaimed. Her own father had raised six children when his wife had died at an early age. Now the day primarily honors living fathers.

It was not established officially, however, until 1972 when President Nixon signed a Congressional resolution, eliminating the need for an annual designation of the day.

More than gifts and favorite foods, though, is the warm feeling a dad gets when he's "honored" with a wet kiss or a small hand tucked into his.

Sons make these dads 'glad to be fathers'

Among the community's new fathers is Ron Barnum of 515 Reed, whose son, Gregory, was born June 1, 1977. Ron said he would be delighted to represent young dads as he posed for the picture above with little Greg.

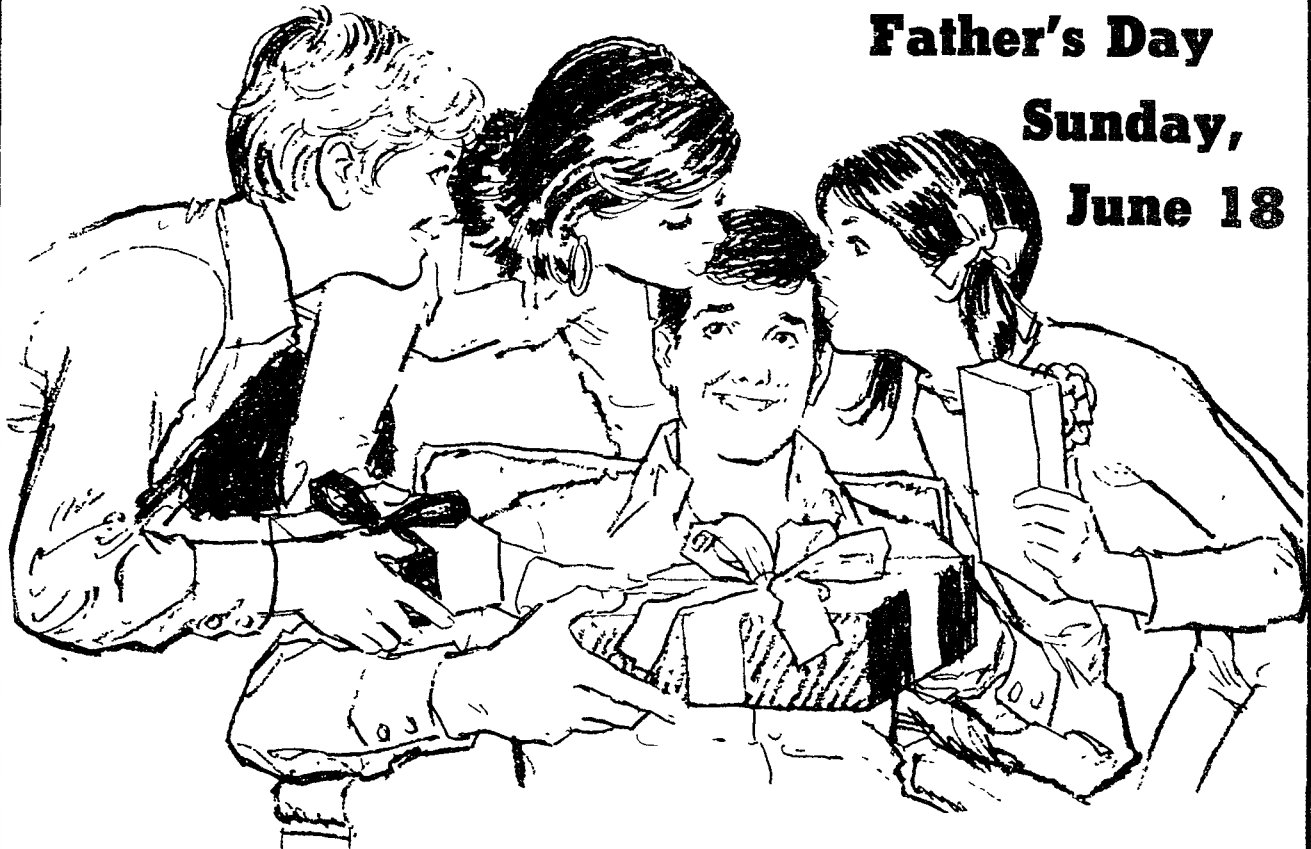

Leland Haines, 16416 Sutters Lane Court, also is a proud dad — four times over. "He's very proud of his four sons," Mrs. Haines confirmed as arrangements were made for Jeffrey, 12, Philip, 10, Timothy, almost 3, and Kevin, who will be a year old August 3, to gather around their dad in the chair which had belonged to his great-grandfather. It's part of a happy Haines family tradition.

Spears moving to lakeside chalet

By JEAN DAY

This Thursday evening at Meadowbrook Country Club friends and co-workers of Superintendent of Schools Raymond Spear will be saying farewell at a buffet-program. The "Good Bye to our 'Super'" invitations depicted a superman with the legend: "Disguised as the mild mannered Ray Spear, the Superintendent fights a never ending battle for good schools."

Marion Zayti who has been taking reservations and heading arrangements with Barbara LeBouef reports that 200 personal and professional friends, former teachers and board members are to be on hand. She adds that the event is open to the community. Among the former teachers expected is Reva Shave, who hopes to be here from Florida.

Northville High Jazz Band will play before the special program at 10 p.m.

The Spears are planning to move about August 1 to the home they have purchased on Lake Geneva a mile and a half from the center of DeWitt where he is assuming duties as superintendent of schools. The chalet home, fronting on a 130-foot beach, is on a heavily wooded site and is "excitingly different," the Spears report.

Spear explains that the lower level, boasting a recreation room with stone fireplace, will be like a summer vacation home with sliding glass doors. He also anticipates being able to "drive right up in snowmobiles" in winter. Main level also has a stone fireplace and windows opening on a deck. There's a deck on the upper level off the master bedroom, too.

Already home for the summer are son Scott, and daughter Carol, who will be a sophomore and a junior, respectively, this fall at Albion College.

The family is hoping the Northville home on Grace, which they moved into five years ago, will be sold shortly. "We've loved it, too," Spear says.

Rosenberg family's moving

Northville is losing one of its active young families as Charles and Pam Rosenberg with their young daughters, Megan, a third grader, and Amy, in first grade, move to a colonial home in Farmington Hills. Their antique-filled condominium on Leidel Court in Highland Lakes was featured on last year's Northville Home Tour.

During the six years they lived here the Rosenbergs became workers in Northville Historical Society and in the township with Chuck having served as trustee and treasurer on the Northville Township Board. Mrs. Rosenberg is the former Pam Kay. She grew up here while her father was principal of Amerman School before he joined the Grosse Pointe Schools administrative staff.

Pam has been attending school at Eastern Michigan University, working toward her master's degree in speech therapy and is doing an internship in Farmington with severely impaired children. She's just two internships and four classes away from her degree.

When the Rosenbergs move June 30, their condo will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ferrise, who formerly lived in

'Greatest Class'

It was back to jeans after last Thursday night's commencement exercises for most of Northville High Class of 1978 as an estimated 90 percent returned for the seniors-only party which featured dancing, swimming and lots of food and conversation into the early hours. This year's party centered on a circus theme, proclaiming the seniors, "The Greatest Class on Earth." The party, given by parents of the graduates, has become a traditional last night get-together for the graduates.

Library announces new offering

"Book Trek into New Worlds" is the theme of this year's summer reading program at the Northville Public Library, which begins Monday.

Beginning readers and students through junior high school age may participate in this six-week program.

The library maintains a reading record for each participant. Those who read 10 or more books by the end of the program receive a certificate.

Many special activities are planned for this year's summer readers, including an art contest, several science fiction film programs and a party on the final day.

Those who wish to join may register at the library beginning Monday, and continuing through Friday, June 30.

Maria Maglia's a first

Not only is Maria Maglia the recipient of the largest local scholarship given a graduating senior of Northville High School this year, but she has the distinction of being the first winner of the new Northville Mothers' Club Life Member award, reports her counselor, Jack Wickens.

Mrs. William Davis was chairman of the life member committee composed of Mrs. William Secord and Mrs. Bernard Bach who selected the club's first recipient for the grant-in-aid. Because the scholarship is to be granted with monies earned during the year, Mrs. Davis explains, the amount may vary in the future.

Maria, older of two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer D. Maglia of 41501 Ladywood Court, will enter Eastern Michigan University in the fall to major in accounting. She's already had professional business preparation, her counselor observes, as she served as office assistant in the principal's office at the high school.

Maria's been in the Northville School System since eighth grade and has been active in Girls' Athletic League, Spanish and German clubs and has taken tennis for three years and swimming for a year.

They played in the Silverdome

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. William Davis headed for Pontiac's Silverdome to see their son, Matthew, and Rick Kennedy in pre-game play at noon before the Express game. Both Matt and Rick are on the West Side Founders soccer team, one, they explain, which the Express management "keeps a closer eye on" for feeders into the team.

Mrs. Davis' sister, Betty Johnson of Somerton, Arizona, here for Matt's graduation from Northville High, and his sister and her husband, Andy and Bob McLaren, also were on hand for the game. The McLarens have been living in Marquette in the Upper Peninsula where Bob, a geologist, has been working with a firm exploring for uranium.

Women's Aglow program will feature testimony

Women's Aglow Fellowship will present a testimony by Mary Titeca at its June breakfast meeting at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

The speaker is to give her personal testimony about "how the power of Jesus Christ delivered her from the bondage of the occult and will offer Biblical teaching on the subject," the fellowship group explains.

Mary Titeca had been a psychic reader and medium and recalls that she was "into psycho-metry for many years before accepting Jesus as Lord and Saviour."

She also had suffered many physical ailments, including a heart condition and a spinal disorder that was considered inoperable. She claims that she "came to Jesus in 1974 through the ministry of Father McNutt" and that the Lord touched her and she "was immediately and miraculously healed and delivered."

Everyone is welcome to attend the meeting which begins with breakfast for which reservations at $5 are required.

Anyone interested is invited to call Mary Louks, 455-6654, or Lorraine Andrews, 455-5569.

Verne story,
'Journey', to be shown

Northville Public Library will celebrate the beginning of summer by showing the film, "Journey to the Center of the Earth," at 2 p.m. Thursday, June 22.

This science fiction film, based on the novel by Jules Verne, tells the story of a band of explorers who descend into the subterranean regions through the funnel of a volcano.

Suitable for all ages, the film runs for approximately two and a half hours.

There is no charge for admission.

How can I help the newly widowed?

It doesn't matter whether one's husband or wife died after a prolonged illness or whether it was a sudden death. The resulting widowhood is a deep-seated impact which may last for days, weeks, even months.

During this period of initial shock, you must help the widow or widower to be ACTIVE. By occupying his or her time with the important details of "getting things together" for everyday living, he (or she) is forced, thankfully, into activity.

With our professional responsibilities and experience, we as funeral directors can be of immediate help. We assist in processing the various legal papers such as Social Security and VA. We handle literally hundreds of details for the family throughout the total service. And we try to help as best we can with the widow or widower in their emotional adjustments. One of our chief goals is to bring peace and comfort to the living in their hours of need. If we can help you in this, please let us know.

Eagans build home in Cuiaba

Missionary pilot flies to remote bases in Brazil

Indians "who have never set foot on concrete, never worn shoes or — sometimes — even clothes, who have seen airplanes, but not cars," have been passengers of missionary pilot Donald Eagan during the past four years in South America.

Eagan, his wife, Janet, and their two small sons who were born in Brazil are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eagan of 19520 Mann Court in Northville.

Before returning to the house they built in Cuiaba in West Central Brazil in July, 1979, the Eagans will be visiting and speaking to Wycliffe Bible Translators' supporters here, in Illinois, Minnesota and California.

Eagan explains that he has been a "support worker" in the Wycliffe non-denominational project involving some 330 people in Brazil alone who are translating the Bible into the world's unwritten languages.

He's been both a pilot and mechanic of a Cessna model 206 six-passenger plane equipped with a Robertson-STOL for short airstrip landings.

During a normal flying day that could begin at 5:30 a.m. and end about 7 p.m. Eagan has been flying workers and supplies to bases of 50 to 70 missionaries, landing on short airstrips carved from the jungle.

His wife has been caring for preschoolers of base families as well as for their own sons. Paul Edmund Eagan II was born on Father's Day, June 16, 1974, exactly a month after they arrived in Brazil. A second son, Timothy Hubert, who will be two in September, also was born there.

"It wasn't at all like delivering a child here," Mrs. Eagan recalls, saying she was fortunate to have a physician who spoke English rather than the Portuguese language of Brazil. Nurses, she adds, are not so well trained as here, and it is customary for a mother-to-be to bring someone with her to the hospital to care for her during her stay.

In spite of such different conditions and a galloping inflation rate of 40 percent a year, the Eagans leave no doubt that they plan to return to their base.

"We'll be going back to our house," says Eagan. It's a ranch style of cement and mahogany with 40-inch overhangs for the heat. It is now rented.

They explain that it's almost necessary to build to obtain a house. Eagan's parents, who are retired, drove to Miami and then flew to Brasilia where Eagan picked them up and flew them to his base, one of five Wycliffe centers in Brazil. They helped construct the home.

The base is populated with Wycliffe missionaries from England, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Australia and includes a Chinese linguist.

The Eagans had met at the Moody Bible Institute from which Mrs. Eagan has a BA degree in Christian education. Eagan still needs 60 credits for a degree and hopes to enroll locally for some next spring on their return from California.

Eagan recalls that they decided to affiliate with the Wycliffe program because it offered the flight training. It is operated in conjunction with a radio program that keeps bases in daily contact.

As they talk about their return to South America, the Eagans express no concerns about their sons' early schooling as there is a base school for kindergarten through 12th grade attended by about 75 youngsters and taught by volunteer teachers. They all are qualified, says Mrs. Eagan, with many being retirees who volunteer for a year. "The children are well-trained in the basics," she feels.

Some of the jungle area that Eagan flies over is steamy, lush and dense while other parts "are very much like our Michigan woods," he relates.

"Making the airstrips takes literally months of backbreaking work, and if workers keep at it, they can keep it cut.

Missionary pilot Donald Eagan and his wife, Janet, with sons Paul and Timothy display mementos

If I haven't landed in an area in a month, though, I fly over first," he explains.

When the couple first went with Wycliffe, Don and Janet attended Portuguese language school for six months. Janet says her husband is much more fluent than she as he uses it more and needs it to speak on the radio.

Every trip he makes is reported to the Brazilian government, Eagan mentions. The bases are operated in agreement with other philanthropic organizations with one of Eagan's passengers last year being Loren McIntyre from National Geographic magazine. An article about the translators appeared in last November's issue.

As they talk about their life in Brazil the Eagans report that "most things cost more" there. As an example they cite their sons' small, plastic tricycle, saying it would cost between $85 and $90 there.

The Eagans receive no salary as such but donate their services and receive their living support from churches and other organizations interested in Wycliffe work.

For this reason they are back in the United States now, telling such congregations as the Elm Baptist Church on Lahser about their activities.

They brought home with them long blow guns and seven-foot bows the Indians of some tribes use in hunting. Some of the arrows, Eagan shows, have flaring tips that kill birds on impact.

The Indians score tips of darts on which they put poison so that they break off after the monkey (which they are used to hunt) is hit.

Monkeys as well as piranhas are native food. Grubs, adds Eagan, are considered raw delicacies. "They're sweet, not bitter," he reports.

Janet Eagan returned with Indian necklaces made with seeds, quills and even tiny fish backbones. She also has rings created of nuts.

In return Indians like very much to get sandpaper, nails, matches and sugar — which they love to eat.

As they speak of the Indians with whom the Wycliffe translators work, teaching them to read and translate, the Eagans are quick to point out that there are tribal differences.

"Some are just out of the stone age while others are quite civilized," says Eagan.

Then he smiles as he recalls one Indian who was fascinated with his Cassina. Supplies for the base, he explains, are carried in a low-slung, bagging pouch underneath the craft.

As this Indian watched the "pregnant" plane, he besought Eagan, "When it hatches, let me have one."

It's memories like this that will make it easy for the Eagan family to return to Cuiaba in a year.

Promotion in Washington

Nancy Nirider, right, of Northville has been assuming an ever-increasing role as assistant to Congressman Carl Pursell in Washington. The Northville High and Michigan State University graduate participates in a State Department briefing on Latin America in Pursell's office. It was one of a series of briefings for the congressman and his key issue and legislative staff members. Thus far they have included other briefings by State Department experts on the Mideast, Asia and Europe. Ms. Nirider joined the Pursell congressional staff last year as a general staff assistant, and since has been promoted to legislative correspondent. In this role she does the bulk of the research in issue-oriented letters received by Pursell, and also performs legislative research. Pictured, from left, are Representative Pursell; Diane Drago, University of Michigan graduate and legislative assistant to Pursell; Leveille (Lee) Jean-Gilles of Ann Arbor, foreign affairs intern; Curt Cutter, State Department Latin American specialist; and Ms. Nirider, who is the daughter of the Essie Niriders of 985 Grace.

Pick garden rhubarb for fresh bread treat

Considered a part of the herb family, rhubarb can be easily grown in the family garden. It can be used in a variety of ways from bread to jelly or even wine.

Why not try some of the following recipes from the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service for the fresh spring crop now available.

Rhubarb Bread

1-1/2 cups brown sugar
2/3 cup liquid shortening
1 egg
1 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
2-1/2 cups flour
1-1/2 cup finely diced rhubarb
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Topping:
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 tablespoon margarine

Stir together in order given. Pour into two well-greased and floured loaf pans. Top with topping. Bake in 350 degree oven for 60 minutes. Do not overbake. This bread freezes well.

To sour milk, add 1-1/2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice to enough milk to make one cup.

Although rhubarb custard and rhubarb-strawberry pie rate high, the addition of a streusel topping makes this one special.

Rhubarb Streusel Pie

4 cups diced rhubarb (fresh or frozen)
3 egg yolks, beaten
3/4 to 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/8 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons cream or evaporated milk
3 tablespoons flour
Topping:
2/3 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 cup flour
4 tablespoons butter or margarine

Line an 8-inch pie pan with pastry; flute edge. Arrange the rhubarb in the unbaked pie shell. Combine other ingredients and pour over rhubarb. Dot top with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees, until rhubarb is tender, about 25 minutes. Meanwhile combine the topping ingredients. Cut in with pastry blender or two knives. Remove pie from oven and sprinkle top with sugar mixture. Return to oven and bake about 10 minutes longer. Serve pie warm.
