

Hot township race tops primary next Tuesday

A Republican primary for all the marbles will be in the limelight Tuesday as Northville voters partake in the primary elections.

There will be state, Congressional and county elections, a couple of propositions and a flurry of non-partisan judicial races (see stories elsewhere), but the contests that will undoubtedly attract the most attention are those in Northville Township.

There, a slate of four is trying to unseat the township government in a race where the primary is everything because there are no Democratic candidates.

The slate — Donald Thomson for supervisor, Donna Boshoven for clerk, Lee Holland for treasurer and William Greer for one of two trustee terms — has run on a slogan "The township needs a change... honest."

The incumbents they are challenging are first-term Supervisor Wilson Grier, Clerk Clarice Sass Treasurer Richard Henningsen and Trustee James Nowka.

A third trustee candidate is planning commission member William Zapke. Two of the three will be elected.

Township and city election officials say there are more than 10,000 registered voters for this election, 6,500 in the township and 3,633 in the city.

The township has five polling places for its ten districts: Precincts 1 and 3 at Moraine School; precincts 2, 8 and 9 at Silver Springs School; precincts 4 and 7 at Meads Mill School; precinct 5 at the Kings Mill Cooperative clubhouse; and precincts 6 and 10 and Winchester School.

The city has four precincts split by the Wayne-Oakland county line. Precincts 1 and 2 vote at city hall and precincts 3 and 4 vote at Amerman School.

Of the township races, the one for supervisor has been the hottest.

Grier, who campaigned two years ago as a "pro-township" candidate to upset incumbent Betty Lennox in the primary election, has been a visible and often controversial supervisor.

He was in the forefront of a campaign to stop a prison proposed here by the state and has publicly taken credit as being the person most responsible for the drive's success.

Since he took office, the township has established its own fire department, splitting from the city.

Grier has drawn some ire. Some residents were critical when he helped circulate petitions to incorporate the township as Northville Heights.

He said that was a ploy to thwart annexation efforts but others questioned the propriety of taking such action without informing the entire board.

He also suffered a setback when township residents protested the use of federal funds to build a library. The objections were strident enough that the money was diverted to funding a sewer project.

Thomson has charged that Grier has not been "honest" with the people.

In an interview published last week in The Record, Thomson implied that Grier mixed private and public business and practiced other questionable ethics.

Grier, also in last week's Record, said Thomson was quick to talk without doing his "homework."

Early in the campaign, Thomson was critical of the new township fire department in a letter to the editor. He has since softened that stance, but he does claim that it is more expensive than the city-township operation although he

State, national races up, too

The ballot that greets Northville voters Tuesday will depend on which side of Eight Mile Road that he or she lives.

The statewide races, of course, are the same in Wayne and Oakland counties and they have a decidedly Democratic twist.

They are William Fitzgerald, Zolton Ferency, Patrick McCullough and William Ralls.

For U.S. Senate, incumbent Robert Griffin is being challenged in the Republican primary by Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson.

On the Democratic side are six men: Anthony Derezinski, Carl Levin, John Ottebacher, Phil Power, Paul Rosenbaum and Richard VanderVeen.

Here's the rest of the partisan primary line up.

WAYNE COUNTY

Northville Township's hottest races are for township offices and for that story, see page one. But there are other contests for voters in the township and the Wayne County portion of Northville City.

State Senator Robert Geake of Northville is opposed by Livonia City Clerk Addison Bacon for the Republican nomination. The winner will face Schoolcraft board of trustees president Paul Kadish who is unopposed in the Democratic primary.

In a race that draws little attention, four Republicans seek the nomination and virtually assured election for county auditor.

They are W. Bernard White, Richard Guzowski, Leonard Proctor and Casmir Senkowski. No Democrats filed.

The county is also seeking renewal on a single mill for five years to continue existing services.

City voters will also be asked to continue a grant of franchise to the Detroit Edison Company. There is no tax involved in this vote, merely a renewal of Edison's right to do business in Northville.

There are no other contested races.

OAKLAND COUNTY

Seven battling for judgeship

Voters in Tuesday's primary elections will be making judicial choices as they decide who will advance to the November general elections in races for appellate, circuit and district court benches.

Seven candidates are seeking the newly created second judgeship for 35th District Court, which covers Northville City, Northville Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and the charter township of Canton.

The two candidates who receive the highest number of votes in the primary election will be on the ballot in November to vie for the 4-year term, $32,600-a-year position as judge.

Crowds filled blocked-off Main and Center streets all day Saturday at the annual Northville sidewalk sale to make the event the "best in history," according to chairman Charles Lapham. This view shows shoppers on the east end of Main Street with craft booths in the center of the street and merchants' wares outside their stores. Shoppers found bargains in summer clothing and household items as well as antiques, artwork and pottery as they strolled the streets.

Petition doesn't sway township planners

Tentative approval given Apple Ridge

The 299 signatures on a petition opposing the proposed North Beacon Woods subdivision made little impact on the Northville Township Planning Commission at its meeting last week.

Commissioners listened to complaints from Whipple Estates and Taft Colony residents, who gained support from other township residents in their petition drive, but the commissioners stood firm in their approval of the 166-lot site plan.

The subdivision is proposed for an 83.6-acre site south of Eight Mile Road, just west of the City of Northville, adjacent to Whipple Estates and Taft Colony.

Objectors contend the site plan violated the intent of the open space requirements of the zoning ordinance because the proposed green area on the southwest corner of the site is swampy land and not centrally located.

Bob Donovan said, "The ordinance says the green area should be a recreational area, a public park within reasonable distance of all residences. Three-fourths of the woods will be completely destroyed. Is this in the spirit in which the ordinance was written?"

Chairman William Bohan said he felt the green area was accessible to all and that the developer was developing his property in the spirit of the ordinance.

Gladys Evans said North Beacon Woods compared unfavorably with a city development proposed for across the street north of Eight Mile Road.

"How do you feel about introducing row housing to the township?" she asked. "It's a beautiful area, but it will be spoiled once you knock down the trees."

George Vilcan, township planning consultant, said the intent of the open space requirement was to preserve nature and to permit active or passive recreation, adding, "We felt the steep topography and wet areas should be saved."

Vice-chairman Bernard Baldwin pointed out that an alternative could be worse, that the developer could have cut down trees in the open space area, filled it and built houses on it.

Tentative preliminary plat approval for Apple Ridge Subdivision, a planned unit development for a 92 acre site on the north side of Eight Mile, was recommended unanimously by Northville City Planners at their July 2 meeting.

The site, immediately west of Lexington Commons Subdivision of single homes and condominiums, is the last large remaining tract of land undeveloped in the city.

Planners and visitors at the meeting, mostly residents of adjacent Lexington Commons, viewed a map showing an Apple Ridge Boulevard entrance from Eight Mile.

Apple Ridge Drive is to wind west and then to the north of the property while Springfield Drive will bend east and north to connect to existing Springfield Drive in Lexington Commons.

Valley Way Drive, McDonald Lane (the property is known as the former McDonald farm) and Elmsmere Drive are the three east-west roads.

The five planned cul-de-sacs for the subdivision of single homes presently are named Valley Way Court, Cottontail Court, Parkview Court, Mallard Court and Island Court.

In recommending approval of the site for about 226 homes, planners incorporated into their motion to the city council two recommendations by planner Ronald Nino and also the notation by chairman Thomas Wheaton that it be subject to a new fee schedule that may replace the present one within 30 days.

Nino requested that a public hearing be held, as required by city regulations for PUD application, with affirmative action as a condition preceding any final preliminary approval of the plat.

He also asked that street grades not exceed a gradient of more than five percent as represented by subsequent engineering drawings.

A third suggestion that a pedestrian easement be provided over one of the most easterly lots to provide a possible link with open space area in Lexington Commons was rejected unanimously by SOUTH LYON — A group of South Lyon citizens who are circulating recall petitions for Mayor John Noel and three city council members say they need only a few more signatures to get the recall on the ballot. Sharon Mayernik, one of the leaders of the move, said she has 240 signatures for the recall of Noel. By law, the circulators need 245 signatures, which represents 25 percent of city residents who voted in the 1974 gubernatorial election. Mayernik said the petitions for the recall of council members, Reynold Sweet, Claude Danielson and Louise Anderson are short about 25 signatures.

SOUTH LYON — City Council has named a new city manager — at least temporarily. He's Paul Meyer who served as city auditor from 1958 until his retirement last fall. Meyer will be the interim city manager until the council finds a permanent successor for Alan Housler, who resigned the position July 7 to accept a similar post in Ionia.

SOUTH LYON — The city should have a new ambulance director within a month. Members of a committee to interview applicants for the job that was vacated by Jack Renwick who resigned as of July 1, said they hope to have a recommendation by the next council meeting on August 14. In the interim, Vicky Brown will continue to fill the roll she has held since Renwick left.

BRIGHTON — Municipality water supplies are beginning to pay the price for the hot summer most people are enjoying. Green Oaks Township has already had to ask Saxony-Wilmore subdivision residents to limit its lawn and garden watering between 9 and 11 p.m. on even numbered days. Brighton City Manager Edward Madere said water usage is much higher than usual, but he anticipates no limits placed on residents. Officials at Howell and Brighton Township also say that water supplies have felt the effects of the hot summer, but claims there has been no emergency situations.

BRIGHTON — There has been no criminal wrongdoing in the Brighton Township assessing situation but there are "undeniable errors" in its assessment rolls. That was the finding of Livingston County Prosecuting Attorney Frank R. Del Vero who wound up his investigation into the matter. Del Vero backed up the complaints of township resident Dorothy Hoskins, who uncovered the fact that a large number of land parcels were left off the rolls. Del Vero severely criticized the township assessor James Fisher and the township supervisor, Thomas Walsh, for their handling of the rolls.

NOVI — Though an investigation has apparently cleared the Novi assessing department of any wrongdoing or incompetence, state and county officials are still considering a request by a Meadowbrook Lake resident for another probe. A letter by Garry Kidd making several charges against the Novi assessing procedures has been forwarded to Oakland County Equalization Director Herman Stephens and state tax official John Markewicz "to determine if they are of any substance." The letter had been received by the Michigan Tax Commission.

NOVI — Unhappy developers have temporarily delayed their request for the rezoning of property in the southeast corner of Novi for the site of a $40 million high rise complex. The developers are upset over the last minute changes in the office-commercial zoning district. In a surprise statement at the July 24 city council meeting, a representative of the Orchard Hill Place Associates said he would return August 14 to inform the council whether the firm would proceed with the current plans, or shift the project to a site on Eight Mile and Haggerty roads.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

by Jim Roth

Once you have decided that you like wines and want to indulge your habit a little more fully, find a good place in your house for a wine cellar. Once a suitable space has been found it is not enough just to throw your wine bottles in. You will want some kind of order and catalogue system. If not too many wines are involved, a chronological order is fine. If a larger selection, we suggest storage by country, age, and type. It would be helpful to make a listing with the names of the wines, shipper, purchase date, vintage and tasting notes.

You'll find a large selection of imported and domestic wines, for gifts, dinner parties or wine cellars by shopping with us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. Wine, by the case, whether a mixed assortment or all of one kind, can be had at a 10% discount off of our already low prices. Hours: 9 a.m. - 10 p.m. Mon. thru Sat., Noon - 6 p.m. Sun.

Township shopping center

More water power sought

Expansion of the Highland Lakes Shopping Center received another setback last week when the Northville Township Planning Commission gave only conditional approval to the proposed final site plan for the development's third phase.

Commissioners told developer T. W. Autry that the site plan would be approved when he submitted a revised drawing extending a water main and eliminating a curb cut on Seven Mile Road.

It was the second time commissioners had asked for the same changes. At their June 27 meeting William Mosher, township engineer, and George Vilcan, township planning consultant, agreed that a proposed entrance from Seven Mile Road would cause serious turning movement conflicts along the busy road.

Mosher also said he and Fire Chief Robert Toms agreed that the proposed 8-inch water main would not supply adequate water to fight a severe fire.

On July 13 Supervisor Wilson Grier met with Mosher, Autry, township attorney Nels Carlson, attorney Vaughn McClain and others to discuss Mosher's recommendation that the 8-inch water main should loop to a connection with the 12-inch water main at Seven Mile Road. The connection would cost the developers approximately $20,000.

Mosher said the agreement at that meeting was that the township does not have an ordinance requiring the recommended water main connection.

"The fire chief and I are definitely of the opinion it would be wise," Mosher said. "If I had the tools to make them put it in, I'd make them."

However, Mosher said the recommendation for the water main connection was made for the developers' benefit, and if they wanted to accept the inherent risks without it, they should be allowed to do so. Mosher said the lack of the water main would not affect the health and welfare of the community.

Commissioner Kenneth Sewell expressed concern about a potential fire hazard. "It's conceivable there could be 150 people in the building when it catches fire," he said.

Mosher said if there were dwellings in the proposed site plan, the proposed water main could be ruled inadequate by township ordinance. However, no such ordinance applies to the expansion plan, which calls for a four-unit office building, including a savings and loan, just west of the National Bank of Detroit building on Seven Mile Road.

Autry contended the commissioners' apprehensions were unfounded because the building would be protected by the water main on Seven Mile Road, as well as with the 8-inch water main on the back of the property.

In his report to commissioners, Mosher said the entrance from Seven Mile Road, only 160 feet from another entrance to the shopping center, was "superfluous, a probable producer of accidents and an unwarranted impediment to traffic."

Vaughn L. McClain, attorney representing the developers, said they would accept, under protest, approval of the proposed final site plan with the disputed curb cut eliminated. He said he reserved the right to take the matter to court.

Vice-chairman Bernard Baldwin said if there were to be a court case, there might as well be two issues — both the curb cut and the water main.

Commissioner William Zapke moved that the proposed final site plan be approved on condition that the water main loop be required and the curb cut eliminated. The motion carried, with Commissioner Mark Lysinger voting against it. Commissioner J. Craig Bowlby was absent.

In other action the planning commission:

—Approved the final site plan for a retail party store west of Northville Road at the corner of the old Six Mile right of way.

—Recommended to the township board stage two final approval of the preliminary site plan for the last phase of the Highland Lakes Subdivision. The plan provides for 41 additional home sites on an extension of Scenic Harbor Drive east of Swan Harbour Lake, north of Seven Mile Road.

—Called a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. September 26 to consider using first class postage instead of registered mail to announce public hearings concerning rezoning petitions. Deputy Clerk Margaret Tegge said the township averages four petitions per month and sends up to 30 letters per petition at the cost of $1.45 per letter.

They'll quiz 'appointees'

The remaining seven members of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees will interview as many as five candidates August 9 as they seek to replace Vice-chairman Ron Cowden, whose resignation took effect August 1.

"I'm pleased at the publicity and interest," said Treasurer Harry Greenleaf, who proposed the questionnaire and interviewing process for making an appointment. "We have new faces that are not familiar to us."

Two new persons entered their applications when the board met July 26.

They are Robert R. Thompson, a Livonia attorney and chairman of the college's small business advisory committee, and Tom Moore, a Northville resident who once taught evening classes at the two-year college.

Others who entered earlier are G.J. (Jack) Bologna, Plymouth management consultant; Richard Hayward, structural steel company executive from Livonia; and James McKeon, real estate man and former City of Plymouth mayor.

Trustees Mark McQuesten and Rosina Raymond argued against the interviewing process.

McQuesten said candidates should contact board members during "non-board meeting hours. Individuals who are interested should take the initiative."

Mrs. Raymond cited the Livonia City Council, which she said was using an informal political procedure in filling a vacancy. "Whoever gets four votes gets the seat. That's the reality."

In reply, Nancie Blatt said, "The 'call me and I'll talk to you' attitude kind of smacks of secrecy." In a group interview situation, she added, "other board members ask questions I hadn't thought of."

Mrs. Blatt and Chairman Paul Kadish cited "the spirit of the Open Meetings Act" for preferring public interviews with candidates.

2nd Nichols interview Thursday

The Northville board of education will meet Thursday night with Larry Nichols, a Livonia schools administrator who is the prime candidate to become Northville's next superintendent.

A dinner meeting, open to the public, has been set for 7:30 p.m. in the Tack Room at the Hillside Inn, 41661 Plymouth Road, Plymouth.

The meeting will serve as a second interview between the school board and Nichols who is director of secondary instruction of Livonia.

The board has prepared a contract but school officials say it will not be offered Thursday night.

If, however, the interview goes well, it is likely that Nichols, the only candidate still in the running, will be offered a contract soon, perhaps within the next week, said board Secretary Karen Wilkinson.

Based on Thursday's interview, board President Douglas Whitaker said he would discuss contract terms with Nichols this weekend.

Details of the contract have not been released but it is believed it is at least equal to a three-year pact with a first-year salary of $39,000 that was offered to then Albion Superintendent Garth Errington earlier this summer.

Northville has been without a superintendent since July 1 when Raymond Spear, who announced his resignation in March, left to take the superintendent's position in Lansing-area system of DeWitt.

Personnel Director Burton Knighton has been serving as acting superintendent.

The board, after culling the resumes of 80 applicants and publicly interviewing eight candidates, offered a contract to Errington in a June meeting at the Hillside similar to the one scheduled Thursday.

Errington agreed verbally to the terms at that time but reneged four days later, citing excessive housing costs and congestion in Detroit. He subsequently accepted the superintendent's job at Grandville, near Grand Rapids.

By the time Errington had changed his mind, the board's second choice, Elvin Peets of East Jackson, had accepted the superintendent's post at Van Buren.

The board resumed its search, interviewing three new candidates, and settled on Nichols. He was not one of the original candidates interviewed but he was recommended by a panel of university placement officials.

Nichols, 43, has spent his entire educational career in Livonia as a teacher, principal and central office administrator. He lives in the Five Mile-Newburgh area of Livonia and the board has indicated he would not be requested to move to Northville if he is named superintendent.

Township campaigning costs candidates $4,000

Pre-primary reports filed before the July 28 deadline by the Committee to Elect Wilson Grier and the Committee to Elect Thomson, Boshoven, Holland and Greer show that the local candidates have spent $4,361.88 on their campaigns.

Most of the Thomson committee's $1,549.74 expenses and Grier's $2,812.14 expenses were for political advertising and the printing of political signs or bumper stickers.

Grier spent $1,350 for a fund-raising breakfast which brought in $4,020 in campaign contributions to help him keep his $20,208-a-year supervisor post.

The Thomson committee spent $341.26 on cocktail parties which brought in $2,036 in contributions.

Grier's pre-primary report lists no contributors beyond the ones published in last week's Record, but 17 additional contributors have jumped aboard the bandwagon for Thomson, Boshoven, Holland and Greer.

These include Lawrence Wright, former township supervisor; James L. Nowka, incumbent trustee running for reelection, and Philip Ogilvie, Northville city attorney who is running for the 35th District Court's second judgeship. All three contributed $25 to the Thomson group.

Grand View struggle continues

The battle is neither won nor lost for Grand View Acres residents who are fighting against the development of an office complex adjacent to their subdivision.

The Northville Township Planning Commission at last week's meeting instructed planning consultant George Vilican to draw a plan showing the potential for the 9.5-acre parcel, whether it be single-family residential, multiple, or a combination of both or either with office services.

Pending Vilican's plan, commissioners tabled the rezoning petition asking that the property be rezoned to single-family residential or another zoning determined by the planning commission.

The parcel is north of Seven Mile Road, south of the proposed Northridge Apartments, parallel to and west of Marilyn.

In his report to commissioners Tuesday night, Vilican said a residential use — either single-family or multiple — would be more appropriate for the land than office services.

Vilican said the 9.5-acre site has a potential for 296,500 square feet of office floor area and a need for 791 off-street parking spaces.

"This is substantially more than this area of Northville Township would demand or could support," Vilican said. "This kind of space represents a very major development."

James E. Littell, attorney for Northville Investors and Dr. Waldemar E. Gizynski, who own most of the property, said the property was never intended to be utilized as a major office development.

"The decision as to whether it is economically viable is one for the owners," Littell said, pointing out that the property development did not have to be all in one building. "We look upon the growth of the community as one which will support office services here."

He said if commissioners rezoned the property to R-2, it could be divided into only 20 lots, and to R-4, it could be divided into only 24.

"If you do this, you are foreclosing on our mortgage," he said. "Then we can't do anything with it but pay taxes on it."

Littell gave commissioners a sign which he said was the only sign posted on the property to announce a public hearing held July 11. The spaces where information about the hearing should have been inserted were blank.

He reminded commissioners that at the July 11 public hearing, he questioned the validity of the hearing, claiming the statute requiring posting of the property and written notices sent to adjoining property owners had not been followed.

Margaret Tegge, deputy township clerk, said the property had been posted, and commissioners asked if anyone in the audience had seen a sign.

Joseph Petro said he saw the sign every morning on his way to work. He said the information on the sign, posted on a telephone pole on the west corner of Marilyn, was written in turquoise ball point pen. Two other persons in the audience said they had seen the sign.

Littell also said the property owner was never sent a letter about the public hearing.

Littell said that rezoning the property to multiple would be more viable economically than rezoning to single-family residential.

Attorney Charles N. Simkins, representing Grand View Acres residents, said Littell was trying to intimidate the commissioners, adding, "I ask the commissioners to read Vilican's letter with the authority he's entitled to."

Commissioners voted to table the rezoning petition pending more information from Vilican about the property's potential, with Commissioner William Zapke and Chairman William Bohan voting 'no.' Commissioner J. Graig Bowlby was absent.

The petition will be considered at the September 26 meeting.

Salem residents stew over kitchen

A group of "concerned citizens" expected to attend last night's Tuesday's Salem Township Board meeting to protest the proposed removal of the kitchen attached to the township hall.

A meeting of "save the kitchen" was called by Sarah Harris, of Seven Mile Road on July 17 and an effort has been made since then to arouse interest in attending the August 1 board meeting as a form of protest.

Mrs. Harris is chairperson of the committee and Elenor Tanner is secretary and Doris Raymond is treasurer. All are members of the Salem Area Historical Society.

The Concerned Citizens Committee is circulating a survey as a method of determining how many township residents wish to "retain the present food serving area and make only necessary repairs (fire wall behind stove and repair leaky roof)".

The township board has stated its intention to eventually remove the kitchen which is an annex to the township hall. As explained by supervisor Philip Brandon, bringing the kitchen up to state health requirements for licensing would be too costly — an estimated $50,000.

Brandon said last Friday that due to the sewer problems in Salem for which the township was first cited more than 10 years ago, no one would be able to obtain a food license to use the kitchen for serving the public even if the kitchen were retained.

A letter to Brandon, with a carbon copy to Sarah Harris, from Robert Colburn, sanitarian of the Washtenaw County Health Department, dated July 18, 1978 details the problems involved in using the kitchen facility. The letter is in response to Brandon's requested

"review of the Salem Township Hall for a food service license."

The letter notes some changes in House Bill 6090 which states that charitable, religious, fraternal, service, civic or other non-profit organizations are exempt from the food service law under certain conditions.

These conditions are stated as follows: (1) when operating a home prepared baked goods sale; (2) when serving home prepared food in connection with one of its meetings; (3) when serving only home prepared food as a part of the community service or fund raising event.

An added sentence under this final exemption states: if any food is prepared on-site then a temporary or permanent food service license would be required from this (the health) department.

Colburn's letter further explains that a temporary food service license would be required for events which did not exceed two weeks such as those held in conjunction with a special event. This would require sampling of the well and the sewage disposal system would have to be checked and show no signs of failure.

To obtain a permanent fixed food service license (for more than two weeks), the water would have to meet the requirements of the Ground Water Quality Control Act and the Safe Drinking Water Act. The sewage disposal system would have to meet the requirements of Washtenaw County and Michigan Guidelines for Subsurface Sewage Disposal, Colburn said in his letter.

The township board has been trying unsuccessfully since 1968 to come up with a solution to the sewage disposal problem in Salem Village.

'Special' world leads to Northville door

By RICH PERLBERG

It is not stretching the truth to say that the world mental retardation story reaches from oil rich Saudi Arabia and impoverished regions of India to Main Street, USA.

It is especially true when Main Street is in Northville and runs past the office of Len Rezmierski.

At this moment, Rezmierski may be bundling professional journals to mail to information-starved specialists in all corners of the world.

For Rezmierski, who directs Northville's unprecedented and innovative education program for 800 mentally retarded youngsters in two area institutions, his efforts are part of a commitment made last month amid the castles, moors and locks of Scotland.

There, while chairing two seminars and presenting a paper on Northville's program at the First World Conference on Future Special Education, Rezmierski got a firsthand glimpse of the global disparity of mental health resources.

"One man from a micro-Asia nation had not seen a journal dated more recently than 1964," said Rezmierski. And while Northville purchases sophisticated buses with lifting mechanisms for wheelchairs, some nations depend on burrows to transport the retarded to school.

The dearth of data and equipment is not always due to finances. One of the world's richest nations, Saudi Arabia, censures health care materials with sex-related contents.

"You're not talking about the government, but you're talking about religion and they are interchangeable (in Saudi Arabia)," said Rezmierski.

Thus, it might have been expected that Northville's Institution Special Education Program (ISEP) was embraced by conference representatives much like a small child takes to Disneyland.

What they heard of ISEP was this:

It has a bus fleet to rival Trailways; a complex food service program; perhaps the world's first detailed curriculum for extremely low functioning kids; a workable health policy; money and community, school and state support.

"They couldn't believe it," said Rezmierski who was at first miffed and then understanding when personal copies of ISEP material disappeared from the room where he spoke.

Rezmierski, with school board approval, is sending ISEP packets free of charge to poor countries, carefully wrapping them in bland trappings so as not to pique the interest of pilfering border guards.

It's an agreement he made in Scotland with mental retardation professionals who impressed him with their interest, drive and willingness to strive for the rights of the handicapped.

"These are bright people putting programs together on a shoestring," he said. "Given what they have to work with, it borders on genius."

The frustrating thing, said Rezmierski, is that there is no reason for third-world nations to be deprived of the latest mental health advances.

"We have the technology," he said. "It's just like we have enough food. The problem is how to distribute it."

Now, the pipe-smoking Rezmierski is no longer talking with a reporter, he is warning to a subject that irritates him terribly.

"Where is the leadership?" he asked rhetorically. "Where is the rudder in the water?"

"We've got the best minds corralled. We should be saying, 'These are the five- and ten-year goals for special education. If they are wrong, fix them along the way. If these goals aren't accomplished, then get out.'"

"Instead, year after year, we are beating the drums for more dollars."

"And we waste..."

Well, not "we" exactly. Rezmierski is proud that ISEP's $5.7 million budget, while healthy, is under what the state would fund.

Last year, ISEP eschewed spending millions for a vocational center and agreed instead on renovating one of its schools for $140,000.

State officials loved the plan, but somehow the appropriation fell through Lansing cracks.

"Fortunately, we have saved enough from the ISEP budget to cover it," said Rezmierski. "We used the money we were going to give back to the state."

Still, there remains an uncomfortable feeling that efficiency isn't necessarily rewarded by the bureaucracy. If you live within the budget, you are cut back; if you spend wildly, you get more. Or so it seems.

"Why aren't the rewards for the people who do their jobs?" asked Rezmierski.

Ironically, Rezmierski and ISEP are probably better known in far corners of the earth than in Northville.

That's because the massive program is virtually invisible since potentially emotional issues barely touch local residents.

The money comes from the state, not from property taxes; the kids are from the institutions, not from Northville; and, except for a few relatively isolated classrooms and a building that the school board has discarded for local use, the retarded youngsters attend school elsewhere, not with "normal" students.

It is precisely this atmosphere that Rezmierski said nurtures "morally decrepit" institutions which are "breeding grounds" for abuse such as the much publicized incidents at the Plymouth Center for Human Development where most ISEP kids live.

He is careful to lay the blame on problems inherent with institutions rather than on the employees.

"We at ISEP talk about taking August off because of burn out. Well, they at Plymouth burn out, too. When we were home and warm during the blizzard, who do you think took care of the kids at Plymouth?"

"It is unfair not to be sensitive to the idea that the institution has one whale of a job to do."

Too big a job, he said. At Scotland, he chaired a seminar whose topic was how to get kids out of the institutions and into community home-care units.

"Parents (of the retarded) have legitimate complaints about being married to the house and the child," he said. "We need adequate centers where they can apply for their kid to be taken care of so they can get a break."

These are some of the issues that the World Conference will take up when it convenes again in three years.

"We'll see if what we've said in 1978 is what we've done in 1981," said Rezmierski.

"Maybe, as a group, we can improve..." He left the tough incomplete.

"Well, maybe that's expecting a bit much."

Len Rezmierski . . . Telling the world about Northville's ISEP program.

Second administrator leaves school system

The Northville school system lost its second administrator in seven days Monday when assistant high school principal and athletic director Eddy McCloud submitted his resignation.

McCloud, who could not be reached Tuesday for comment, asked that the resignation be effective immediately, according to acting superintendent Burton Knighton.

McCloud's resignation came a week after financial head Thomas Goulding surprised the school board by quitting to direct the business and operation functions of the Hartland schools in Livingston County.

Goulding's resignation, coupled with that of Superintendent Raymond Spear earlier this year, leaves the district without the two men closest to the business matters as the crucial budget building process nears.

Goulding, whose resignation is effective at the end of August, has indicated he will assist the board with financial matters after he leaves the district.

Knighton said Goulding's job had been posted throughout the Midwest. The deadline for applying is August 15.

Since 1976, McCloud has served as both assistant high school principal and athletic director for all secondary grades.

The school board has agreed that the athletic director should be a full time position but it has not provided the funding.

McCloud is also the president of the Northville Association of School Administrators which represents the principals and supervisors in Northville's K-12 and special education buildings.

McCloud has been the chief spokesman at the bargaining table for the association whose first-ever contract expired in June.

It is not known who will carry on McCloud's NASA functions. He has been joined at the bargaining table by assistant high school principal Barbara Campbell and special education supervisor Thomas Cey.

The Northville school system has now had four administrative resignations in the last four months and none of the positions have been filled.

Besides Spear, Goulding and McCloud, Special Education Coordinator Donald McGahan resigned in April, the only resignation submitted prior to Spear's.

McGahan's duties have been carried out this summer by a temporary replacement. Director of Special Education Leonard Rezmierski said a reshuffling of job responsibilities would make it unnecessary to name a new coordinator.

Spear's successor could be named this weekend.

Nursing course flunk outs can't repeat

Backed by the board of trustees, the Schoolcraft College administration has declined to let 29 students who flunked a beginning nursing course repeat it the next semester.

Instead, those who fail the first semester Nursing 111 will have to go back onto a years-long waiting list to get into the popular program.

"But I still have a problem with one-third of a class flunking," said Trustee Nancie Blatt, knitting her brows.

Altogether, said President C. Nelson Grote, 90 students entered the associate degree nursing program last fall, and 29 failed Nursing 111.

Because they wished to avoid the long waiting list for readmission, several students appealed to the administration for a chance to repeat the course immediately.

"As we dealt with the problem, it got bigger rather than smaller," Grote told the board.

"We could have created a special section for those who wanted to repeat the course. But we would be setting aside those who were on the waiting list."

"Our recommendation is this: The policy has been understood, known and explained that if a person fails Nursing 111, they return to the waiting list."

Academic Vice-president Fred Stefanski added that allowing immediate repetition of the course would cause the college "to lose credibility with persons on the waiting list."

Grote and Admissions Director Barbara Geil pointed to the possibility of more selective admission to the program. Selective admission would presumably weed out persons likely to flunk.

Students told the board five or six failures had been typical, and as many as 20 persons had flunked. But 29 failures was unprecedented.

Schoolcraft's associate degree in nursing program prepares students for general duty nursing. Students are admitted once a year, in the fall, and attend four 16-week semesters and one eight-week spring semester.

Besides Nursing 111, the first semester's schedule calls for English 101 (composition), Biology 235 (anatomy and physiology), and Psychology 201.

Lest there be questions...

... These are our Pledges & Commitments

We firmly believe that any action taken by the Supervisor or his Administration must recognize the needs of the Township first, whether this action is in reference to proposed issues and services or in reference to negotiations regarding joint services.

The Township Master Plan must be upheld. Growth will happen in the Township and is necessary to restrain taxes, but we will make development occur in the areas planned for it.

The Township must not allow wholesale rezoning or degradation of land values to accommodate developers.

The Township must maintain its identity, but must be aware of situations for cooperation where economics dictate.

The Township must retain the most qualified and experienced people on its Planning, Water & Sewer and other Commissions. This will permit input, feedback and review by the citizens.

The Township needs an open forum to receive citizen input. We will conduct "Town Hall" meetings to regularly hear citizens from all areas of the Township and receive their comments. Our administration will strive to feel the pulse of the people. The door-to-door campaign was our first step!

Republicans Sass, Boshoven battle for clerk's job

EDITOR'S NOTE: Incumbent Clarice Sass and challenger Donna Boshoven are battling for the Republican nomination for township clerk in the upcoming August 8 primary. There are no Democrats running, thus one of the two Republicans is virtually assured election next November. Following is a taped interview of the two treasurer candidates.

Sass . . .

Emphasizing her experience and especially her involvement in many aspects of township government, particularly federal grant monies, incumbent Township Clerk Clarice Sass says there can be no doubt who voters should pick come the August 8 primary.

Although she admits having little solid information about the qualifications of her opponent, Mrs. Sass said she finds one fact especially disturbing. The challenger for the clerk's job, she charged, "has not even voted regularly" in the township since living here.

"I've checked her voting records," the clerk said, "and I've found that except for Presidential elections she hasn't voted in any other township election. If she's so interested in the township why hasn't she been voting? Why wasn't she attending board meetings?"

The clerk said she found that trustee candidate, William Greer, has an even poorer record of voting.

The incumbent said she had other criticisms of the challenger, but she declined to discuss them publicly.

More important to voters, she said, is her (Sass) own performance as clerk and her role on a township board that gets things done. Much of the board's progressiveness, she suggested, is because of her own aggressiveness. Because of that aggressiveness, she said, "sometimes I feel they move too slowly. That's not really a criticism; it's just an observation, because I don't really have any criticisms of this board. I think they've done an excellent job."

Assessing her own role, Mrs. Sass said she has been constantly striving to improve her knowledge of a field that is ever growing in responsibility. She has kept on top of all of the changes in regulations and services affecting the clerk's position, has taken studies in a number of areas such as collective bargaining, and has promoted innovations to enhance the operation of the township.

Mrs. Sass, who lives at 1858-2 In-sbrook, said she is proud of her record in achieving federal grant monies for the township. She said she is regularly researching new ways to obtain these monies for the township to the point where she fashions herself as a "grant expert."

Concerning grant monies, the clerk emphasized that searching for and requesting grants can only be beneficial for citizens of the township. "My position, in view of the federal tax dollars our citizens pay, is that this community deserves as much of this money that can be obtained. After all, if we don't get it, it can end up in Denver, Colorado, or Louisiana or New York or wherever."

Mrs. Sass denied that she has ever been or is now an opponent of joint city-township services. It simply is untrue, she declared. "I've never had any problems with joint services as long as they were equally shared." That, she said, is where she has voiced opposition because it often appeared that the township was being asked to "pick up more than its fair share of the cost."

That is why, she said, that she favored ending the joint fire service and establishment of the township's own department.

The new fire department, she declared, is providing the township with better service at less cost. She said figures comparing only operation show that "the last five months of service with the city cost $24,569, which averages out to $4,932.80 a month. The first seven months that we (township fire department) were in operation it cost us $3,191.29 per month. The first three months of this fiscal year we've expended $10,448.91 for a cost of $3,482.97 per month."

Insisting that this comparison is accurate and considers the same kind of expenditures, the clerk added, however, that establishment of the department required capital expenditures but that these are non-recurring expenditures. Part of that cost, she emphasized, was necessary "just to bring up the condition of equipment used by the city. It was in very bad condition."

Today, she said, because of the board's wisdom, the township has more fire equipment in better shape than it has ever been, has more flexibility, has a full time fire chief, and its department "can service any area of the township, day or night, within seven and 12 minutes, which I think is excellent. And we carry more water than any other department in Southeastern Michigan."

Relative to joint library and recreation services, Mrs. Sass said she sees no likelihood that those services will ever be separated nor does she suggest that they be separated.

Asked what had happened to change the position of the supervisor and herself since telling a public hearing audience that unless the township went ahead with its plans to build a township library it faces loss of those funds because they could not be used for any other purpose, Mrs. Sass said she could remember no such statement.

If anything was stated, she said, it was that the library was the top priority and that the grant had been approved for that priority.

Asked if she was an advocate of charter township government, Mrs. Sass said the only way she would support this form of government would be with the built-in stipulation that taxes could not be raised to the 5-mill maximum without a specific vote of the township. She said it is possible to adopt this form of government but include in it this taxing requirement.

Relative to relationships between the city and township, she suggested that more joint meetings of the township board and city council would help ease the situation. Without face-to-face meetings, "a lot of stories are circulated, a lot of half truths" that promote disagreement.

For example, she said she is "naturally disturbed" by comments of city council members "who advocated strip annexation. It is that kind of rhetoric that foments distrust, she contended.

Asked where and when council members had stated they favored "strip annexation," she replied, "Well, when they were campaigning for office."

"I think we can work together," she emphasized. "We (city and township) compliment each other. I see joint meetings as a number one way (of reducing friction) and I would like to see it happen."

Boshoven . . .

If it's experience voters are looking for come the August 8 election, Donna Boshoven, a Republican challenger for township clerk, readily admits she falls short.

Instead she emphasizes a "hard working" trait and an ability "to get a job done." She cites her job at Southdowns Tennis Club and her association with her husband's business, Stone's Unfinished Furniture stores as evidence of her business and management skills.

"Every job I've ever had, I've taken charge of the situation, and I'm convinced if I am elected clerk I will exhibit the same 'take charge' abilities and perform the duties of clerk fully and well."

That she has not had the experience of a township clerk does not discourage her. "I know I can do it and I'm determined to do it well," she said, pointing out that the incumbent had no more and perhaps less qualifications than herself when she took office.

Obviously, at this point "I'm not more qualified. But I'm prepared to make this more than a full-time job and to demonstrate that I am a 'doer'."

Mrs. Boshoven, who lives at 900 West Main, admitted having been "lax" in active participation in local government (attendance at meetings and irregular township voting), but she added that a growing concern "about what is happening in our township" has sparked a determination "to turn things around."

"If this campaign has done anything, it has been to point up that I have been lax in involving myself in township government. I think many of us fall into this same category. We have been silent too long. It's time we made our voices heard and challenge those in office."

The current board, she said, "has been getting some things done. Of that there's no question. But they've lacked a concern for the people and about how their actions affect people."

"I'm really concerned, for example by their constant push for growth. Instead of letting it happen naturally they've gone out of their way to encourage it."

She said she was "appalled" by the unanimous endorsement of the planned Beacon Woods subdivision by township officials. "You would think that out of all of the officials there would be at least one who would take the side of the people. There were none, and that bothers me a great deal."

CLARICE SASS

Zoning not withstanding, Mrs. Boshoven contended that officials should be exerting pressure on the developer to better use the natural terrain. "Why they (officials) cannot see that lot sizes and how they are laid out in a subdivision are as important to a subdivision as expensive housing is beyond me."

"The people have pointed out, for example, that they are not fighting development of a subdivision but rather how it is developed."

"She resents the attitude of officials that people themselves are responsible for what is happening because they did not protest the zoning. That attitude, she said, is a reflection of the unconcern the board has for people. "Keep in mind that the property was owned by the Salvation Army and there was little or no indication that a change would occur, and even if it did people naturally assumed township officials would, with development, protect the lovely terrain. I can understand the concerns of the people and the township board should, too."

Concerning the controversial zoning on Seven Mile Road, Mrs. Boshoven said, given the facts of the case, there is little if anything to prevent development of offices. But, as in case of Beacon Woods, she said township officials should insist on the best kind of development possible.

Development of lands just to fill up vacant property does not mean good growth or progress. About all it does, she suggested, is to satisfy those officials who equate bigness with excellence.

This same kind of philosophy, she indicated, shows up in officials' insistence on breaking ties with the city. It's an unhealthy competitiveness that is eroding the "togetherness" of Northville. "When I talk to my friends in Farmington or when someone from Detroit asks me about a place to live, I tell them to move to Northville — not to the city or to the township, but to Northville. One does not exist without the other. And it's time officials recognize this and stop their constant bickering."

"We have a business in the city and our home is in the township so I have an interest in both. Our fences have got to be mended; we've got to do more things together."

"Our recreation department, for example, is essential to both communities. So is the library. This talk in the township that 'we can do it better' is ridiculous. We are not big enough to feel we've got to have two of the same thing all the time. For goodness sakes, we're all the same people. Let's promote Northville, not two different places."

Although she admits having no facts and figures to back her up, Mrs. Boshoven contended that establishment of the separate township fire department, while providing a needed service, "undoubtedly cost more money" than did the previous joint service with the city.

"There is no doubt that we needed more service in the township, but that doesn't mean we needed two of everything. I believe we could have had the additional service within the existing department at less cost than now."

The fact that she is a member of a slate of candidates, Mrs. Boshoven insisted "I will vote my personal conviction on every issue. The township board ought not vote alike on everything and I'm sure we (slate) won't vote alike all the time."

No, those aren't the razor blades the men use prior to going on the job. They are the wearing edges of plow-like scrapers beneath road graders and similar "floats" beneath many road commission trucks.

City of Novi grows

A meeting of the State Boundary Commission will be held August 2 in Lansing to choose the effective date for the annexation of seven parcels of Novi Township into the City of Novi.

The commission is expected to select October 2 as the date those parcels will officially join the city.

The struggle by the city to annex these portions of the township has been going on for seven years. A series of court fights have delayed any decision being made by the commission.

Here is a family that really lives in a mobile home

Setting up roots in a Pullman sleeper

Casey Jones would approve. So would Ato Guthrie.

After all, if men can make their livelihoods working in and singing about trains, why shouldn't they be allowed to live in them?

No reason, say Bob and Hope Rendleman who hope to set up rolling roots in a Pullman sleeping car now parked in Northville.

The Rendlemans could not be reached for comment because they spend their summer months aboard a 51-foot cabin cruiser moored on the Detroit River near Wyandotte.

But they will be in Northville Wednesday when they ask the zoning board of appeals for permission to hook their Pullman to city sewer and water systems.

The car now rests on a C&O spur near the D. Stuart Oil Company, 175 Railroad Rendleman, a research engineer in Ann Arbor, picked up the 71-ton silver car for $85,500 from a Long Island scrap dealer who originally asked twice that price.

A new Pullman costs $500,000.

It cost another $1,300 to haul the car from New York to Michigan where they found a home on a siding between Grand Trunk and Ann Arbor railroad tracks in southern Livingston County.

They paid $300 a year to use the track and another $20 a month to lease the surrounding quarter-acre site. The lease was not renewed, however, because that portion of the Grand Trunk line is unused and will be abandoned.

The Pullman car has been renovated so that the four bedrooms in the middle and smoothest riding portion of the car have been converted into comfortable sleeping quarters for the couple and their 17-year-old daughter.

The living room is in the front, the kitchen dining room, bathroom and shower are in the back.

The car is equipped with fireproof washer, dryer, furnace and hot water heaters.

The Rendlemans have kept some of the fold-up beds, porter signal bells, lights and other original fixtures for atmosphere.

A porta-john with a holding tank, however, has replaced the old train toilets that drain directly on the tracks.

Although the car depends on outside hook-ups, it can be attached to a train and become self-sufficient.

The cost for a ride? It's $1.07 a mile to be hauled by a freight train and $1.50 a mile on the smoother passenger trains.

Bob and Hope Rendleman make this car their home

One man's opinion

It would be nice if the truth were self evident — think of all the talking and writing it would save. It is not, as I have found in observing and participating in local Northville politics for some six years. My involvement has been as follows:

City of Northville Beautification Commission, 1972/1976
Northville Bicentennial Commission, 1975/1976
Northville Township Board of Trustees, 1975/1978
Northville Water and Sewer Commission, 1975
Northville Jaycees, 1969/1976
Northville Junior Baseball Coach

I submit these only as evidence of activities which lend to knowledge of local affairs and may give some basis to my opinions. Recall, that in the last election in July, 1976, the Northville Record described me as a man without any particular following, and rest assured that things have not changed since then. However, as a Trustee of Northville Township, I am concerned about several issues and non-issues raised in the present campaign. To run a campaign, one needs issues to bring before the people and if lacking this, non-issues to confuse them.

NON-ISSUES

1. Recreation

There has been NO attempt by the present board or any previous to separate this service. It simply would not be in the best interest of our children. It would be illogical and politically grounds for recall to consider the same. Therefore, to be for ONE recreation department is to be for the status quo, and probably apple pie, another non-issue.

2. Township Hall

The size of the new Township Hall is 14,020 square feet. The present quarters, 11,271 square feet. This is public record and not speculative. The Child Development Center that currently houses the Township facilities, is up for sale, and eventually new quarters will be required. The new Civic Center is not a free building. It was paid for in Federal taxes many times over by residents. But, are we not entitled to have our Federal dollars returned here to benefit the entire Township. The Civic Center is a sign of permanency and viability, which seems to distress those who favor annexation. However, it will in fact service this community well, even should annexation occur. The site itself was chosen because the land was donated and the master plan designated that area for a fire station.

ISSUES

1. Zoning

The Master Plan and Zoning Ordinance of Northville Township were adopted on February 25, 1974, after multiple public hearings and input from professional planners and legal sources to insure orderly development in the Township. If at present, the individual has proper zoning and developed in accordance with the ordinance, the Planning Commission and Board can do little to prevent said development. However, as in the past, we have been able to extract compromises from developers in an effort to uphold not only the ordinance but also desires of the residents of Northville Township. It would be easier, and certainly politically expedient to stand behind every group, small or large, that protest developments affecting them. In many cases, this can be done if legally possible. However, if a plan meets all requirements, it would ultimately end up in court, with the judiciary granting relief to the developer. It seems unlikely, that the people have elected representatives to sidestep controversy and pass the buck on difficult decisions. It would seem the courts are currently telling us more than enough of what we have to do. The legal fees involved will ultimately be borne by the taxpayers, but, more important, should we indiscriminately or arbitrarily not approve conforming developments, we challenge the validity of our own zoning ordinance and Master Plan, and could well risk losing any control over development in the Township. Even though the Township ordinance is only four years old, the Northville Township Board did approve, two months ago, an allocation of $10,000.00 for a review and updating of the Master Plan, and ordinance. This is also a matter of public record.

ISSUES

2. Fire Department

The last twelve months of joint (Township contracting from the City) fire service cost $39,000.00. This agreement called for splitting all capital expenditures, paying wages and fringe benefits, reimbursing any employers for lost time at work by volunteers. The Township was and is growing in population, and it was felt unreasonable to assume the City would invest in expansion of fire services, required mainly by the Township. At this critical point, the Board unanimously formed our Fire Department. The emphasis was on improved service for a growing community and in this, I feel we have succeeded. The budget for this fiscal year is $44,000.00 including, $15,000.00 salary for a full time fire chief. The start-up cost for capital expenditures were $50,000.00 to be paid over a ten year period. The State of Michigan recently forwarded some $15,000.00 for fire protection services, due to the large amount of State land and buildings in our area. This will defray our actual dollar output for fire protection as it is a yearly reimbursement, due to recent State legislation. Also, the Board has never requested additional taxes for operation of our department. It would seem that the investment thus far has been well worth the time and effort expended by the Board and the Department.

3. Joint Services

For the record, the joint services currently shared with the City and Township are as follows:

1. Recreation
2. Senior Citizens
3. Ambulance Service
4. Building Department
5. Library

The opinions expressed above are my own, the facts are a matter of public record. Having never written a letter to the Editor, I feel I have now caught up with the past and possibly the next six or seven years. Some will say it takes a lot of gall to put an ad like this in the newspaper and I would tend to agree with them.

Sincerely,

John J. Swienkowski, D.O.

Aftermath

David Nadeau looks thoughtfully at the overflowing trash container on Main Street late Saturday where sidewalk sale shoppers had attempted to "pitch in" more soft drink cans, cartons, bottles and cups than one mere trash can could hold. A special five-man city DPW crew worked for two hours after the end of the sale cleaning up debris. DPW head Theodore Mapes said the clean-up "was about normal" for the annual sale.

Governor's fund veto worries Schoolcraft board

By TIM RICHARD

Governor William G. Milliken's veto of the community college funding bill has Schoolcraft College officials wondering whether — and how much — they will have to cut the 1978-9 budget.

Milliken vetoed the $120 million bill Saturday, not because it was several millions larger than he had recommended but because the Michigan Legislature attempted to earmark some of the money for certain uses.

The governor, who began his own political career as a trustee of a community college in Traverse City, contended the lawmakers' action "has the potential of restricting local autonomy and could prove detrimental to efficient and effective delivery of educational services."

The bill had earmarked funds for remedial education, student counseling and equipment. One of the bill's co-sponsors, Senator Charles Zollar (R-Benton Harbor), said the bill was designed as an incentive to community colleges to improve in those necessary areas.

The legislature will meet early in September, after the August 8 partisan primaries, to decide whether to override Milliken's veto.

"The legislative leader doesn't feel it can override the veto," Schoolcraft President C. Nelson Grote told the board July 26.

Grote said a bill enacted in September might provide less money than the one passed in July.

"There has been much discussion of tax limitation, the Tisch amendment and others. This will be on the minds of everybody. The governor is talking of reducing the appropriation $3 million. That would be a substantial jolt to this institution."

Assuming cuts were made across the board to all 29 community colleges, a $3 million state aid cut would mean a 2.5 percent loss for everyone.

In Schoolcraft's case, it would mean a cut of something like $100,000. The funding bill which Milliken vetoed would have given Schoolcraft $3.5 million.

As it was the bill gave Schoolcraft some $200,000 less than the local budget committee had earlier estimated.

So the board proceeded to make up the difference by finding $111,000 in a carryover from the previous year's budget and making cuts of $95,000.

The cuts will be made by attritioning some jobs a few months, dipping into a contingency fund and cutting the special maintenance and equipment budget.

The maintenance budget was cut from a total of $175,000 to $125,000 by not building a salt storage structure, not building a walk-drive at the child day-care center, not resurfacing some parking lots and not putting aluminum siding on the women's Resource Center.

Cutting maintenance made trustees particularly unhappy. As buildings have aged, the board has sought to spend $250,000 a year on the physical plant.

"I see a slow deterioration of the campus, particularly the parking lots," said Trustee Mark McQuesten.

• Philip Ogilvie, 59, Northville, has been Northville village and city attorney for more than 23 years. He also served as Northville municipal judge and established the volunteer probation department which now serves the 35th District Court. He has been admitted to practice law in all Michigan courts.

A founder and past president of Schoolcraft College Foundation, Ogilvie is on the Foundation's Board of Governors. He has been volunteer legal advisor for 17 years for the Northville Area Economic Development Committee and the Northville Area Economic Development Committee and the Northville Area Development Corporation. Suchy has been admitted to practice law before the U.S. Supreme Court, the U.S. Federal Court of Appeals, the U.S. District Court and the Michigan

Supreme Court. A former faculty member at both Wayne State University and University of Detroit, Suchy is president of the Michigan Association of County Corporation Counsels, immediate past president of the National Association of County Civil Attorneys and Director of the National Association of Counties.

Northville Township residents and Northville City residents who live in Wayne County will be voting in two circuit court races.

For a full term that ends on January 1, 1985, voters will choose from Robert L. Ziolkowski, Susan Borman, Joan Clarke and William B. McIntyre, Jr.

For new circuit court terms, voters can cast their ballot for two from among James J. O'Donnell, Harold M. Ryan, James A. Hathaway, Richard R. Kubicki and James E. McCarthy.

For Northville voters living in Oakland County, there are two judicial races in addition to the district court contest.

E. Thomas Fitzgerald, Luke Quinn and incumbent Walter P. Cynar are vying for the second district court of appeals term which expires in 1985.

A slew of 13 hopefuls are running for new circuit court terms recently created by the state legislature.

They are Mildred A. Vlatch, Robert C. Williams, Robert C. Anderson, Stuart H. Brickner, Robert E. Cunningham, Judith D. Doran, Michael S. Friedman, Hilda Gage, Bernard L. Kaufman, Bruce Keidan, Albert Kramer, Fred M. Mester and Gene Schnelz. Voters can vote for up to three candidates.

One person who won't be on the ballot is Circuit Court Judge William Beer whose name was removed Monday.

Thomson, a township businessman, owns a car wash and is an owner of a gravel pit.

The other races have not been as controversial.

Interviews with the treasurer and clerk candidates appear elsewhere in this week's Record.

The three trustee candidates have avoided public dart throwing and have concentrated on their own platforms.

Nowka, a four-year trustee, said he wants to maintain joint city-township services; Greer described himself as an independent thinker; and Zapke said carefully controlled growth was his top priority.

Our township choices

Thomson, Boshoven, Holland, Nowka and Zapke

Next Tuesday voters in Northville Township will be punching cards while their counterparts in the city are pulling levers.

Whatever the method for casting ballots in the primary election, it's unlikely that more than one out of five qualified electors will go to the polls.

The turnout percentage should run higher in the township where a hotly contested race for the local board of trustees is being conducted within the Republican party. Democrats did not file for the township board, so Tuesday's nomination is equivalent to election in November.

Both city and township voters will be selecting nominees for U.S. senator and congressman, governor, state legislature, certain county offices and a newly-created district court judgeship.

Also on the ballot is a Wayne County tax renewal proposition.

So there are important decisions for voters to make.

The Record has reached some decisions of its own. They are based upon firsthand observation and interviews. While these recommendations constitute personal opinion, they are impersonal to the extent that the criteria for choice is the welfare of the community.

It should also be noted that incumbent candidates have records to be judged. We do not consider it "negative" reporting to editorially criticize their performances in public office. Sometimes it is not enough to simply state why a challenger is qualified. Indeed, it is often more important and pertinent to state reasons why the incumbent is not.

In the township board race we recommend the following candidates:

For Supervisor — Don Thomson;

For Treasurer — Lee Holland;

For Trustees — James Nowka and William Zapke.

While it is impossible to predict what manner of supervisor Don Thomson would make, he is clearly more qualified through personal involvement and local experience than the present supervisor was when he turned his attention to township affairs for the first time two years ago.

Supervisor Wilson Grier has learned fast. He is an overnight expert. There is no hesitation on his part to tread forward where others might pause to think. Certainly his energy cannot be criticized.

Last week The Record publisher editorially expressed deep concern about the township supervisor's method of operation, the fact that he would seek personal favor from certain agents doing business with the township.

Admittedly, this is a very real hang-up in our attitude towards the supervisor. We think Northville Township deserves better character traits in its highest elective office.

An example of the supervisor's determination to thrust himself into questions of procedure inappropriately (and in behalf of a developer) occurred last week at the planning commission.

The township's engineering consultant, and fire chief, had recommended to planners that the developer of Highland Lakes shopping center should "loop" the water system to provide improved fire hydrant service for the proposed addition to the Seven Mile road center. It has been estimated that the water system loop might cost an additional $20,000.

The developer, understandably, balked at the request preferring instead to make the improvement if and when the final phase of the shopping center is completed sometime in the future.

Enter the supervisor and a meeting with legal and engineering consultants. There's a question, comes word to the planning commission, as to whether the developer can be legally required to provide the loop.

So far the planners have stuck to their guns. Presumably, they feel public safety is at stake. Legal action has been threatened. Meanwhile, final approval for the proposed addition must eventually come before the board of trustees where the supervisor will vote on the issue. He is not a member of the planning commission. Yet there is little doubt that the supervisor has already indicated his opinion on a matter of business that has not yet found its way to the board of trustees, where it is to be given objective review.

Finally, we take strong exception to statements made by both the supervisor and Clerk Clarice Sass concerning the cost of the new township fire department.

It should be noted that, in our opinion, the new township fire department has done an excellent job. It has demonstrated that it is determined to prove its merit, and that is good.

So it is not a question of whether or not the township should have created its own fire department. It did and it has done so successfully. But not more economically. And, really, what difference does it make? If the service is improved and dedicated to providing for the safety of an expanding township, should we not expect to pay more?

But to have elected officials claim improved, duplicate service at less cost is an insult to one's business sense. It is, as a matter of fact, dishonest.

Clerk Sass, for example, uses figures in her statement in this edition to claim that fire service is costing township taxpayers less now than it did under its joint-service contract with the city.

While her figures are accurate, her conclusions are not. She states that "the last five months of service with the city cost us $24,569, which averages out to $4,932.80 a month." Then she goes on to declare that the township department is costing around $3,400 per month.

The bill for the "last five months" (April-August) to which the clerk refers actually included certain unpaid balances from January-March. The total amount paid by the township to the city for its final year of service (12 months from September '76 to August '77) was $37,484.19, an average of $3,124 per month. This was, incidentally, the highest amount ever paid by the township to the city for a year's service.

Not counting capital outlay, the actual cost of operating the township fire department during its first seven months through March was $33,135, an average of $4,700 per month. Add in capital expenses and the per month average exceeds $6,000.

It may very well be worth the expense. This is not the point. It's a matter of telling the public exactly what the facts are.

Thomson, in our opinion, is motivated by sincere community interest and a deep concern about what he sees taking place in township hall.

Certainly, he cannot step into office and operate at the same tempo as the present supervisor. But he will learn and he will do so with caution and consideration for overall community welfare that we believe is now missing.

For harmony of operation it is most important that Boshoven accompany Thomson as clerk. It is difficult to imagine Clerk Sass promoting a theme of teamwork with Thomson.

In our opinion Lee Holland is one of the most capable and qualified candidates on the ticket. We are pleased that young men of this caliber choose to become involved in community politics.

We respect his keen judgment as well as his ability as a certified public accountant.

Both Jim Nowka and Bill Zapke are well suited by ability and experience in local governmental affairs to serve as trustees on the township board.

They are both fair and knowledgeable.

For Northville Township Board of Trustees vote Tuesday for:

U.S. Congress . . . Peterson

Even if he were not intelligent, articulate and candid, L. J. Peterson of Birmingham would easily win our support by default.

That's because his opponent, Betty Collier of Waterford, is so ill prepared for this important 19th District congressional seat — despite her past political activities and previous unsuccessful bid for election.

Both are Democrats. The winner in Tuesday's primary will square off with veteran Congressman William Broomfield, Republican, next November. Peterson, a Presbyterian minister at least represents a viable challenge to the astute incumbent.

Vote for Peterson.

State Senate . . . Ross

Although we have supported State Senator Daniel Cooper in the past, we are persuaded in this primary election to support his bright, aggressive challenger, Douglas Ross, for the Democratic nomination.

Candidate Ross' proven performance in behalf of citizens, primarily as co-director of the Michigan Citizens Lobby, and his obvious interest in serving this outlying area of the 15th Senatorial District, coupled with our deep disappointment over Cooper's lack of contact with constituents and interest in the west half of his district are the predominant factors leading us to this decision.

In our opinion, Cooper has more interest in his private law practice than in the welfare of this area.

Fortunately, in calling for the ouster of Cooper, we have in Ross a candidate with both the credentials and commitment to fill the position admirably.

Vote for Ross.

State Senate . . . Geake

Although we have not been entirely pleased with Incumbent Senator R. Robert Geake, we believe he is far better qualified than his opponent, Addison Bacon, in the bid for the Republican nomination.

Bacon, we believe, lacks enthusiasm and aggressiveness and, in fact, jumped into the race only after learning that Geake would otherwise go unopposed.

We do not agree with Bacon's criticism that Geake has been uncommunicative with local municipal officials within his district. On the contrary, one of Geake's greatest assets is his communicativeness. Perhaps he is more responsive to ordinary citizens than to officialdom, but that is to be admired. After all, he was voted into office to represent the people, not city councils, and township boards.

Vote for Geake.

District Judge . . . Ogilvie

Our single endorsement in the 35th District Court race, where two persons will be nominated for the new four-year judgeship, goes to Philip Ogilvie, this community's municipal attorney for a quarter century.

We are convinced that Ogilvie has all of the credentials to make an excellent district court judge with good working relationships with the district's unopposed judge, Dunbar Davis.

That is not to say, however, that he is without fault. For example, we and others have not been pleased with his procrastination as city attorney in studying issues of law for council and making recommendations to that body.

But none of the judicial candidates are flawless — even Judge Davis, whom we have come to respect as a colorful but excellent judge.

We are impressed with Ogilvie's integrity, his impartiality and sense of fairness, and his judicial astuteness. Like a retired, highly respected circuit court judge, we see in Ogilvie those qualities that indicate he can cope responsibly with cases that come before him.

Vote for Ogilvie.

Proposition 'A' . . . Yes

Proposition A on the primary ballot asks voters to renew a one-mill Wayne County tax levy. We believe it deserves support.

Twice renewed in the past, this five-year levy would help sustain existing county services. Without it drastic cuts will be necessary. Even with it, the county will be facing serious budget problems.

Vote yes on Proposition A.

State Representative . . . Rosman

Three candidates — Elizabeth Geise of Milford, Dennis McCoy of Walled Lake, and Stephen Rosman of Commerce Township — are seeking the Democratic nomination for State Representative from the 24th District.

The winner of the primary will run against Incumbent Republican Richard Fessler of West Bloomfield in November.

While all three appear to be viable candidates, we feel that Stephen Rosman is the best choice for the Democratic nomination.

Articulate and intelligent, Rosman speaks knowledgeably to the issues. We also believe that he has the courage and conviction to introduce innovative approaches to traditional problems as witnessed by his opposition to a freeway through an environmentally-fragile area and his introduction of a proposed growth limitation ordinance.

Vote for Rosman.

Oakland Board . . . Hoyer

A pair of Novi residents — Dennis Murphy and Martha Hoyer — are vying for the Republican nomination for the 24th District seat on the Oakland County Board of Commissioners.

Murphy is the incumbent. He was elected to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Incumbent Republican Lew Coy in a special election in the spring of 1976 and was subsequently elected to a two-year term in the general election in November of 1976. Coy is presently running for his old seat as a Democrat and will face the winner of the Republican primary in the November general election.

Although we do not find her as knowledgeable on county issues as Murphy at the present time, we feel certain that her penchant for hard work will erase this shortcoming.

Vote for Hoyer.

Political sparks fly as primary election nears

To the Editor:

It is high time that Senator Daniel Cooper who is running for re-election in this district made his choice: Does he want to represent us in the Michigan Senate, or does he want to practice law?

Surely we citizens deserve to be represented by a legislator who is willing to make a solid commitment to us. There are too many people living in this district for us to accept just a part time legislator from the only Senator we have.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

After reading Mr. Thomson's comments in last week's Record regarding his concerns over joint services, I felt obligated to let the people of Northville Township know these facts:

During the period of time immediately prior to the re-signing of Thomson Field contract with the Northville Township Recreation Department, in the presence of myself and others, Mr. Thomson stated he was going to see what he could do about holding off this agreement, as he thought the township should have its own recreation department. If the City of Northville wanted to contract for services from the township, they could.

He felt the township was growing and it was necessary for the township to develop its own recreation program.

I'm sure the residents of the township should be very concerned when you, Mr. Thomson, have such a difficult time making up your mind as to what you really want.

While you make innuendo about "a piece of the action," public records in the township hall indicate you had a "piece of the action" when a previous township board relieved you of $2,000 sewer connection fees at your place of business. You are the first and only person to receive that kind of consideration in Northville Township. Honest, Mr. Thomson... I wonder?

To the Editor:

As the parent of a child who has participated in the Junior Baseball program for many years I have had a first-hand opportunity to become aware of the extent of Mr. Thomson's involvement with this community.

Did you know that the beautiful facility, Thomson Memorial Field located on Six Mile Road, is leased to the recreation department for one dollar per year? This includes the revenue from the concession stand which is staffed on a volunteer basis by many parents who support the program. This money, which is a considerable amount, is used for uniforms and equipment for the children involved in the program. Every child in Northville who has been involved in this program benefits from Mr. Thomson's generosity.

I believe Mr. Thomson is a man of integrity with a genuine interest in the welfare of this community.

Sincerely,
Dorothy M. Mueller

To the Editor:

Honest, Mr. Thomson it is interesting to see you are now established with the "Special Interest Group", i.e., Mr. Sliger and Mrs. Lennox who worked hard for annexation. Interesting, because Mrs. Lennox now works for the City of Northville. What have you been promised? What are you promising? It is more interesting because you were one of us that fought annexation. Also, what did the annexation elections cost the taxpayers of Northville Township?

Several thousand dollars which could have been put to a more constructive use for the benefit of us taxpayers. It was time and money down the proverbial drain. You say it is a dead issue — we don't think so. We haven't forgotten Mr. Thomson. Who are you representing?

Another thing you said in the paper that Thomson Athletic Field was leased for one dollar. How much does it cost us taxpayers to support that field? Which is so special to you?

This field is supported by the citizens of Northville Township under the recreation program, which cost the township thousands of dollars but you try for all the glory. No wonder you are so interested in the recreation program.

To the Editor:

In the 7-26-78 edition of The Northville Record, Wilson Grier made the statement that, "I pride myself on the fact that I do my homework and I'm usually right when I come out with my position..." If Mr. Grier had truly done his homework, he would not believe that a two foot berm over a too shallow sewer line at the new township hall would correct the error. If Mr. Grier had done his homework, he would not have stated (Record, 10-19-77) in referring to a grant allocation of $137,900 squired for a township library: "...had already checked with federal representatives... and had learned that amendment of an application is not permitted."

Furthermore, Grier cautioned board members that by suggesting a change, the township could jeopardize the township grant." This was not the case, and when Mr. Grier was subsequently faced with the facts, he was forced to change his "well researched" position. If Mr. Greir had done his homework, he would not have urged the sale of 130 acres of land owned by the School Board in his letter to the editor published in the Record, 5-24-78. In that letter, Mr. Grier suggested that the money from the sale could be reallocated to the general fund. If he had done his homework, Mr. Grier would have known that any money from such a sale would have to be applied to the debt retirement fund as pointed out by Superintendent Raymond Spear (Record 5-31-78.) In that same letter, Wilson Grier advocated the sale for cash assets, the Main Street recreational building. He said that the building, "...must be saleable in excess of $100,000." (Record 5-24-78.) If he had done his homework, Mr. Grier would have known that the building had been appraised in 1969 at between $40,000 and $50,000. If these are examples of Wilson Grier's homework, I find his study methods sorely lacking.

Wilson Grier's present position regarding joint services is that "...he strongly favors their continuation..." (Record, 7-26-78.) His position changes and his credibility suffers the more these issues are approached. If he was consistent in his position, why then did he approach Don Thomson regarding a separate recreation department when the lease on Thomson Field was up a year ago? If he was consistent in his position, why then did he seek the establishment of a separate township library? If he was consistent in his position, why then did he vote against an interim joint services pact on 3-23-77? The credibility of Mr. Grier must certainly become suspect when one considers his position on charter township government. In the Record, 7-26-78, he stated that, "he supports" this form of government. Yet at a Public Forum held by the League of Women Voters on 7-22-76 and reported on in the 7-28-76 edition of the Record, Wilson Grier stated that "...he opposes township charter government..."

Wilson Grier changes his position as frequently as a chameleon changes his camouflage color.

To the Editor:

In the Northville Record of July 26, 1978 I observed a picture of Mr. Donald Thomson and Mr. Paul Folino with the caption they obtained the Wayne County Child Development Center property for recreational facilities. I must dispute this statement as a complete falsehood. As clerk of Northville Township, I personally contacted Wayne County and dealt with them concerning the procurement and continued use of these facilities for the joint Township and City Recreation Department. At no time was Mr. Thomson involved during the time I was negotiating for these facilities.

To the Editor:

Perhaps Mr. Grier should do a little better job with his "homework."

I have been in attendance at all of Don Thomson's coffees and have never heard him indicate that the job of supervisor was a part-time position. When asked if it was a part-time job, Mr. Thomson replied, "I cannot answer since I've never held the job of supervisor."

He also stated he would devote all the time the job necessitates.

I wonder why Mr. William Greer (not to be confused with Wilson Grier) now has become such a concerned candidate for Public Office. In his 8 years as a township resident he has never voted in any election. I don't call him a good citizen. I wonder if he will vote this time.

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to, and for the clarification of, the reference made to the Northville Jaycees in the caption of the picture titled "Recreation Backers" which appeared in your July 19 issue on the Campaign Trail page.

First of all, in light of the recent debates over the political motivations of the 4th of July festivities, it is unfortunate that our organization was mentioned in relationship to this state of candidates.

Again, for the public record, the Northville Jaycees as an organization cannot, will not, and do not support any candidates for office, be it local, regional, or national. If we did, we could have our chapter's charter revoked by the U.S. Jaycees.

Secondly, any inference drawn by the readers that our chapter supports the platform calling for the continuation of existing city-township joint services is also incorrect. Our chapter has no position on this issue.

Thirdly, the theme of the parade was "Support Community Athletics" not Recreation as mentioned in the caption to the picture. Do not misunderstand me at this point. The Northville Jaycees do support the Recreation Department, but support as well the school district's programs and all the other fine local organizations who sponsor and organize community athletics.

We also, as an organization, sponsor and run several programs such as the Junior Champ and Soap Box Derby. This is why the theme of "Support Community Athletics" was chosen so as to recognize all these various aspects of our community life.

In conclusion, the Jaycees only ask that we be recognized as a community service organization who want to make Northville a better and happier place to live, and not as an organization with any political motivations or goals. We have none.

Respectfully Submitted,
Ron Barnum
Secretary-Northville Jaycees

To the Editor:

I live across the street from Mr. Wilson Grier and read with great interest the "Editor's Note" in the July 26, 1978 Record which pertained to the joint interview of Mr. Grier and Mr. Don Thomson. In that note, Mr. Grier claimed that, "an unexpected personal matter required him to be out of town and that he would be unable to keep the joint interview appointment."

By not attending such a joint interview (which I think was a good idea on the part of the Record), Mr. Grier has denied the people an opportunity to have at their disposal additional information helpful in making their selection of Supervisor on August 8th.

I personally saw Mr. Grier at home on July 15th, the day of the scheduled joint interview. What was the real reason Mr. Grier did not attend this pre-arranged joint interview?

Russ Hansen

To the Editor:

In the July 26, 1978 edition of The Northville Record, Mr. Wilson Grier, in reference to me stated: "He just hasn't done his homework." Mr. Grier further stated, "he has a lot of innuendos but he just doesn't have the facts." Mr. Grier, I have indeed done my homework and these are the facts that would have been presented to you if you had appeared for our agreed-upon joint interview on July 15, 1978.

Mr. Grier said that he counts the formation of the township fire department as one of his "greatest achievements." He stated, "We've done the job for less money or the same money that we were paying over a year to the City of Northville..." While the township fire department has done a fine job and is an asset to the community, the facts regarding its cost are these: (1) Under the joint services agreement for the period of 9-1-76 through 8-31-77, fire protection cost the township $3,126.00 per month. (2) For the first seven months, 9-1-77 through 3-31-78, of separate fire service, the cost of operating expenses alone averaged $4,734.00 per month. This represents an increase of over 51%.

Mr. Grier, in speaking of his business association with Art Jahn denied any conflict of interest. As reported in The Record 7-26-78, "...and in no case, declared the supervisor, has he used his office to benefit his business activities." How then does Mr. Grier defend the use of a township truck to plow snow from the empty parking lot of Mr. Jahn's Park Haus restaurant on the morning of January 27, 1978?

Mr. Grier has stated that I consider the job of supervisor to be a part-time position. This is not true. I have always maintained that I am prepared to devote full time to the job or whatever time is required.

Mr. Grier has questioned my sense of commitment to the township. I firmly believe that any action taken by the supervisor must recognize the needs of the township first, whether this action is in reference to proposed services or in reference to negotiations regarding joint services. I can only cite my long service as a member of the Recreation Commission, my service on the township Planning Commission and my willingness to serve on the Wage and Salary Review Board as some examples of my commitment to this community.

Gotta match?

I must, however, question the commitment on the part of Mr. Grier who, although residing in the township since 1961, did not even bother to register to vote until 3-19-76, approximately 4 months prior to his victory in the primary election of that year. This demonstrates to me, that Mr. Grier's commitment is one of convenience only and has been pursued for personal gratification.

To the Editor:

Mr. Bob Terwin's call Thursday, July 27 to discuss the irregularities in the sewer construction for the new township hall was unexpected. However, I thank Bob for reinforcing my opinion that there were errors, omissions and poor judgments associated with that project.

Mr. Terwin, an appointee on the Township Water and Sewer Commission and a supporter of the present supervisor, claimed that changes during construction were to save costs. Since when is cost saving a justification for sub-standard design?

I recognize minor deviations from plans may occur during certain construction projects. A 2 foot change in the depth of the sewer at the apparent discretion of the contractor is not "minor," in my opinion. Further, this project was not "similar to private sewer connections," as Mr. Terwin suggested, since it involved a public sewer in the public right-of-way (Six Mile), serving a public facility and was paid for by public funds.

Part of the problems with this project could have been avoided if the township engineer had reviewed the architect's plans prior to construction. There needs to be a check and balance system among and between the various township departments, commissions and consultants. One hand should not wash the other, regardless of the level of government involvement.

I believe there should be a fact finding committee set up to look into this project and resolve the issues. The results of the fact finding should be presented at a public hearing

Developments
irk citizens

To the Editor:

This letter is intended as a warning to the residents of Northville Township in regards to the mass development of vacant acreage in this area.

The residents of Whipple Estates are presently waging war with both the township board and the planning commission regarding the development of North Beacon Woods. As an association we have petitioned, spoke against, and legally researched all facets of this development and presented these petitions and findings to the board and the planning commission and although they listened, even sympathized with our situation, so far have bent over backwards to pave the way for the developer. We pointed out the shortcomings of the area referred to as green space and were informed that it met all requirements of the ordinance in the judgment of the township planner, and the board concurred, even though our outside legal advisor gave us a completely different interpretation of the ordinance. Now it appears that we are down to the judgment of one individual as to the development of this area.

The members of both the township board and the planning commission have asked, (rather rudely at times) where we were in 1973 at the rezoning of this parcel? Well after much research we found that the then residents protested then as we are now and for the same reason, only to have the parcel rezoned saying R1 was too expensive to develop and would be unattractive to builders and home buyers.

The Detroit News recently ran numerous articles on homes, costing in excess of 60,000 to 250,000 on picturesque lots and surroundings with waiting lists of buyers and yet our Board and Planners are allowing developers to purge the land of all its natural beauty to put in as many homes as possible to increase the tax base.

Citizens should look around this area to see the continuous pillage of woods and the flattening of hills in the name of progress and all according to the ordinances as interpreted by our elected officials, our appointed planners and in the judgment of our paid consultants.

Our current supervisor has promised a complete review of the master plan in August, of course too late for any development now being considered.

This is an election year and many of the incumbents who approved the master plan are up for reelection and some newcomers who state they would like to see smaller lots and more development are running for offices. Citizens beware, the lot next to your's could be a housing development, or a "Trailer Park" after all we do not have one of those, or perhaps another shopping center. The present zoning laws and ordinances are conducive to developers and with the "Cement Cities" they have planned, in the next ten years it will be hard to tell where Westland and Livonia end and Northville Township begins except at tax time.

Yours truly,
William H. Conrick

To the Editor:

After just returning from a Northville Township Planning Commission meeting, I want to identify myself as one of the "selfish" homeowners living adjacent to the proposed North Beacon Woods Subdivision.

Mr. William Bohan, chairman, chose to call us "selfish" tonight because we are concerned tax paying residents.

The Planning Commission chose to ignore the concerns of nearly 300 signatures on petitions. The Planning Commission chose to ignore the voices of concerned residents in attendance. The Planning Commission chose to file letters and petitions ignoring their reason and intent.

So much is said today about apathy at voting time. Voters believe their votes are useless. When the judgment of 10-12 men is greater than the judgment of nearly 300 residents, it is easy to see why apathy prevails.

Mr. Kenneth Sewell, secretary, mentioned to file the petitions before they were even read. It is too bad when we as residents cannot be heard and have nothing to say about what goes on in our township. It almost seems as though issues are decided before a planning commission meeting. Can this be possible?

One needs only to look at surrounding townships at the massive building developments to see how zoning is altered to satisfy developers.

Schools become inadequate, more and more each year, services become inadequate, natural beautiful land is destroyed and taxes soar.

Is this what the residents want?

Sincerely,
Sharon A. Dasher

To the Editor:

Following the last township planning commission meeting July 25th, we feel obligated to inform the township residents of concerns that we should all be sharing.

Our planning commission must make judgments in the township and "must be cognizant of the following objectives:"

"(a) To provide a more desirable living environment by preserving the natural character of open fields, stands of trees, brooks, topography, and similar natural assets;"

"(b) To encourage developers to use a more creative approach in the development of residential areas, thereby designing safety into the street pattern."

In our opinion judgments have been made on the Salvation Army property on Eight mile road that are only in the interest of the developer. We did note that Mr. Spagnoli (the developer) contributed to Wilson Grier and we also noted that rapid approval of this development. It should also be known that Mr. Grier — in behalf of Mr. Spagnoli — approached Whipple residents trying to remove obstacles to the developer.

Again we wonder about esthetics. How can the City of Northville build homes across from the Salvation Army property that will leave the natural terrain and trees, and Mr. Spagnoli claims that the Salvation Army property must be stripped in order to have straight roads. What happens if this development cannot meet the competition from the city? Since our planning commission does not "address itself to esthetics" we wonder what could be built here in desperation?

It would also be of interest to note that Mr. Villican's (township planner) initial response (from Northville township planning commission minutes—March 28, 1978) was that "according to ordinance natural features of land must be preserved but plans submitted do not show how they intend to do this. He feels residents are justified in their concerns." However, stage two was quickly approved by commission.

At the last planning commission meeting, Chairman Bohan stated that the "exclusive" residents of Whipple Estates were "selfish." It is interesting to conjecture as to who is being selfish — the people who are attempting to restrain a builder's liberties according to the intent of the ordinance or a planning commission who seems intent only in making judgments that ease the builder's plans. Without an active board making judgments that will enhance our community, the township will lose its character and identity, which here-to-for has made it a sought after area in which to reside.

a show of hands by the planners after members of the audience strongly objected to the concept.

Sue Holstein, a resident of Lexington Commons at 816 Springfield, told the planners that people in the individual subdivisions pay for maintaining the recreation areas that they use.

She also stated she felt "it would be impossible to police them if they (common green areas) were opened up to bikers and snowmobilers" with connecting paths as Nino had suggested.

Michael Kowalski of 985 Springfield Court echoed her feeling that those who pay for the maintenance of the green areas should be the only users, saying the association had spent $10,000 for shrubbery.

Kowalski questioned whether it was necessary to have an access from the new subdivision through Lexington Commons and was told it was considered needed for fire protection.

Jerome Mittman of 997 Springfield Court told the planners that "it looks like a disservice (to the adjacent property owners) in the size of the lots."

In his analysis and recommendation for the subdivision Nino pointed out that the applicant's proposal achieves only 70 percent of the density permitted and that the area could be developed with as high as 322 dwelling units of which 80 could be multiple.

Mittman also said he could see problems in the future with residents living on the Springfield extension in the new subdivision as they would border the Commons recreation area where tennis courts and a picnic shelter are located.

"Tennis courts are lighted until 11 p.m. at night, which could be annoying, and we've just spent $5,000 on the courts so that there could be hard feelings if other tried to use them."

Ernest Fournier, representing Four Real Estate Investment, Incorporated, and Roy Russell, land planning consultant, who also had laid out Lexington Commons, said they felt the "natural berm" between the two subdivisions would keep the two separated.

Carolann Ayers of 518 Morgan Circle asked the developers what use they envisioned for the green portion of the Planned Unit Development.

Under the PUD designation about 22 acres are being left in green space, much of it along the Randolph Drain.

The petitioners said they planned to leave it alone in its natural state, hoping it could remain a habitat for wildlife. They said there is not enough room for tennis courts or a shelter.

Questioned whether there would be sidewalks, the developers said they are required by city ordinance.

Wheaton told the audience that "this is not the first plan we have seen for the area, but it is far and away the best."

Grading will have to be done to bring the road elevations to the five percent required, Russell told the planners. He said the Department of Natural Resources will have to approve the plan.

Bridges will be built across marsh areas, he added, mentioning that 10 lots on Island court in the north portion of the property will be especially choice as they will be reached by a bridge entrance and surrounded by green space.

In his summation, Nino stated he felt the subdivision was being developed in such a way that "takes away from the hum-drum look of a subdivision and preserves the unique features of the land."

Cycle mishap kills Giles

A Northville man died Friday night when his out-of-control motorcycle ran up an embankment and struck a guide wire, flipping him into the air and onto the pavement of the street on the other side of the hill.

James L. Giles, 26, 8454 West Seven Mile Road, was pronounced dead at Botsford General Hospital at 9:15 p.m., about 30 minutes after the accident.

A preliminary autopsy indicated that Giles died from a broken neck.

The autopsy also said the alcoholic content of Giles' blood was above .20 or more than twice the level that the law considers a person to be intoxicated.

Northville City Police said they believed Giles had been drinking earlier in a nearby park.

According to police, witnesses said that two motorcycles, the second one driven by Giles, had just passed a car as they drove west on Seven Mile Road where it intersects with First and Fairbrook streets.

Giles, said police, left the road and went straight up a grassy incline toward an electrical pole 200 feet away. His bike hit the guide wire sending it and Giles over the hill and out of the witnesses' line of vision.

When police arrived, Giles was lying on his back in the middle of Fairbrook, nearly 45 feet from the guide wire. The bike was resting about 60 feet west where Fairbrook meets First.

The second motorcycle was also in an accident, hitting a telephone pole in Northville Township near the Edenderry-Seven Mile Road intersection about a half-mile west of the fatal accident.

Injured in that accident was Edward J. Appleton, 27, who lived with Giles. Appleton had left the scene before township police arrived but later talked with a township patrolman who said he went to Veterans Hospital in Ann Arbor for treatment.

Donovan quoted a purpose of open space from the zoning ordinance: "To provide a more desirable living environment."

"Are you making more desirable living by allowing denser housing and spoiling the terrain?" he asked.

Nathan Whiteside pointed out that the open space area is also a possible storm retention area. "No one knows how much will be for retention," he said. "A retention area can't count as a park."

Vilcan said any part of the area preserved to catch water would be counted as part of the open space.

The open space option in the ordinance allows a developer to have smaller lots, but no more than the same number of lots that would be allowed if the open space option were not used.

John Dobelak said when the original township ordinance was adopted, local residents objected to the R-2 zoning on the property in question.

"We aren't being heard," he said

"The planning commission and the board of trustees are not listening. We're being short-changed as residents."

Chairman Bohan reminded the objectors that the planning commission had listened when residents objected to a proposed road joining North Beacon Woods to Whipple Drive, and the road had been eliminated from the site plan.

Bohan said the developer was proposing paved streets, sewers and water and meeting the township ordinance.

"Many points you bring up are your personal judgments," he said. "The planning commission has judged the park is accessible. The majority of subdivisions in the township have straight streets. We have in good faith and good conscience reviewed the plans and will be reviewing our ordinance."

Marilyn Donovan, one of the spearheaders of the petition drive, said, "It's time to review judgments."

Commissioners voted to receive and file the petition.

Real Estate Two falls, 13-1

Carl's rolls in National League shoot-out

It was supposed to be the local softball league's Game of the Year.

A clash of giants. The battle of the unbeaten. A struggle right down to the final batter.

Blame Carl's Auto Supply for turning it into a shambles.

The powerful National League leaders left no doubt at all about its superiority last Thursday night, stamped to a 13-1 victory over Real Estate Two in a game that had seemed destined as a cliffhanger.

Both clubs had entered the game with perfect records, Real Estate Two sporting a 14-0 slate and Carl's a 12-0 mark. But, except for a scoreless first inning, the game belonged to Carl's all the way.

After Carl's first four batters went down in order, Harold Wilhelm slapped a single to get things going in the bottom of the second. Jim Schultz sent him home with a triple, Dan Fisher followed with a home run and the rout was on.

Carl's added one more run in the second, scored four times in the third and put the game on ice with a five-run outburst in the fourth.

Real Estate Two's lone tally came in the top of the fourth when Mike Mott smashed a one-out triple and came home on a ground out.

Leading the winners' 17-hit offensive assault were Schultz and Fisher, who each went 3-for-3.

Four other players — Joe Bustamante, Dave Catton, Joe Herter and Wilhelm — went 2-for-3, while Wilhelm and Bob Hubbert cracked two-run homers for Carl's.

Joe Higgins was the only Real Estate Two player with more than one hit (he had two), while Mott's triple was the team's only extra-base hit.

Despite the loss Real Estate Two maintained a fairly safe lead over third-place Sheehan's Little Caesar's. Two days prior to the Carl's game Real Estate Two had snapped Little Caesar's seven-game winning streak with a 12-6 victory.

The winners broke loose for five quick runs in the bottom of the first inning and led the rest of the way, although Sheehan's cut the gap to one (7-6) after a three-run rally in the fourth.

Higgins had the only home run of the game, a two-run blast in the sixth, and went 3-for-4. Kevin Cavanaugh added a pair of doubles and a single for the winners.

Sheehan's, though, rebounded from that loss with a 20-9 victory over the Northville Jaycees on Thursday.

Paul Steckley went 4-for-4, including a home run, and had five RBIs for Caesar's while Stan Tarnowski contributed two singles and two doubles, Steve Gossard a single, a double and a triple, and Bob Phebus a two-run homer.

In other action involving top National League clubs last week Dave Catton went 3-for-4 and Joe Bustamante had a home run to lead Carl's to an 11-2 triumph over the Eagles Tuesday; Pete Zabala cracked five hits and Gary Callender and Mike Price added four apiece to lead fourth-place It's Custard Time to a 23-13 romp over Ely's; and fifth-place OLV, led by Nick Hamp, Ed Naszradi and Bill Brielmaier, walked to 13-3 and 12-2 victories over St. Paul's and the Brew Hogs.

Hamp went 3-for-5, drew three walks and scored five runs in the two games while Naszradi and Brielmaier both went 4-for-6 and had two triples each

2 Northville youths place at Metro meet

Leslie Nadeau brought home her third straight plaque in the triple jump and Scott Robins placed third in the long jump to highlight another successful showing by Northville in last Thursday's annual Metropolitan Youth Fitness track and field meet.

The recreation-sponsored meet, which attracted over 2500 youngsters aged 10 through 15 from 62 communities across southeastern Michigan, was held at Kensington Metropark near Brighton.

Nadeau, competing in the Class A (ages 14-15) bracket for girls, leaped 31'6" to win her event for the second time in three years. Two summers ago she won the Class B (ages 12-13) triple jump with a 31'0" leap, and last year she went 30'11" to place second in Class A.

Scott Robins, meanwhile, sailed 18'8 1/2" in the long jump and finished third in Class A boys' competition.

His sister Sheri, a member of last year's second-place Class A shuttle relay team, made it to the finals of the girls' Class A 50-yard dash competition before finishing fourth.

But the biggest surprise of this year's meet, according to coach Ralph Redmond, was Northville's Class B shuttle relay team. Holly Hubbard, Cindy Eppers, Mike Kaczocha and Mike Hayes combined for a sixth-place finish in the event after qualifying for the finals by placing among the top two in each of their first two heats.

"I think that was really something," Redmond said. "We weren't really expecting too much from them, but we said before the meet that we needed a surprise performance from somebody, and we got it from them."

Also qualifying for the finals — and finishing fifth — was Northville's Class C (ages 10-11) shuttle relay quartet. Kathy Korowin, Steve Starcevic, Vicki Robins and Chris Sixt won their first two heats, but lost their momentum somewhat in the finals after a dropped baton.

"That was probably our biggest heartbreak of the day," Redmond said, noting that the team had won their first heat going away, "but they still did a terrific job."

"They were sort of a makeshift team (two of the runners were last-minute replacements before the meet), so they did well. I'm pretty proud of that little gang."

Redmond also noted that Northville's 38-kid contingent had "more people in the finals this year than we've ever had before."

Last year Northville youngsters won two second-place plaques when Nadeau finished runner-up in the Class A girls' triple jump and the Class A shuttle relay team came in behind Warren in the finals of that event.

The top three finishers in each event were awarded plaques at the meet. Over 140 plaques were presented in all.

Winner of this year's Considine Award, a trophy presented to the city judged best for "sportsmanship, conduct and appearance," was Lapeer.

All of Northville's participants in the meet were part of the local recreation department's summer track and field program. That program winds up this week with a three-day, eight-event "octathlon" which ends this evening at the high school track.

7th annual rotary tourney gets underway next week

Northville's seventh annual Rotary Tennis Tournament will be getting underway a week from this Saturday (August 12) with matches in men's, women's and mixed doubles.

The two-day tourney, open to anyone who lives or works in the city or township of Northville, will be divided into two classes of competition — one for Class A and B netters and the other for Class C and D players.

Local residents or employees interested in taking part in the tourney can pick up applications at Northville Sporting Goods, Moraine Elementary School, Henrikson Insurance Agency and City Hall. All funds from the event will go towards the development of tennis facilities in Northville.

For further details contact tourney chairman Lee Holland (home phone 349-8043, office phone 349-5400) or Wes Henrikson (home phone 349-4607, office phone 349-4650).

High schools switching to metric track

MIKE LASH

Events like the mile, the 440 and the 100-yard dash will soon be a thing of the past in American track and field.

Colleges throughout the nation have already begun a long-awaited changeover to metric events and high schools, acting on guidelines from the National Federation of State High School Associations (NFSHA), aren't far behind.

It's all part of the United States' attempt to convert its current system of measurements to metrics, a conversion the government hopes to accelerate during the next decade.

While sports are technically exempt from the government's plans, the NFSHA has acted on its own in creating guidelines for converting track and field. The NFSHA is the governing body of the state high school athletic associations, and about three years ago it set 1980 as a target date for a national conversion to metric track.

Instead of forcing the issue, however, the NFSHA's rules committee gave each state association the option of deciding whether or not to establish a mandatory date for conversion.

Most states — 29 in all — complied with the committee's recommendation to switch by 1980. Four, in fact — Delaware, South Carolina, Iowa and Kansas — have already switched and five more plan to next spring.

Michigan, however, is one of the states that decided to put things off for the time being.

"The whole thing is based on monetary considerations," says Lonnie Lowery, assistant director of the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA). "It costs anywhere from $2000 to $6000 to change over, and some schools simply can't afford that right now."

According to directives passed by the MHSAA's 18-member representative council — made up of coaches, principals, athletic directors, superintendents and other school officials from throughout the state — each school can decide for itself whether or not to switch to metrics.

"I think the majority of coaches are in favor of eventually switching to metrics," says Lowery, "because the rest of the world is competing that way and (because) it would give them a chance to compare their own kids' times with the rest of the world."

"But when you're talking about that kind of money, I think the schools should be able to decide themselves what the merits are of converting."

Actually, metric tracks aren't much different from current ones. Instead of 440 yards they are 400 meters, or about 438 yards, around.

The metric equivalent of the 100-yard dash is the 100-meter dash; the 220 is the 200 meters; and so on up to the 1600-meter (mile) and 3200-meter (two mile) runs.

That means a school doesn't have to construct a brand new facility to go metric, but it does mean adding two yards worth of asphalt or blacktop on the inside of the track as well as repainting the surface. And that can be costly.

Schools that do make the switch will have to run all their home meets in metrics, which could lead to a bit of confusion for visiting teams accustomed to yardage meets.

It could also lead to some interesting situations at the state level. Conference, regional and even state championship meets, for instance, are not exempt from metrics.

According to Lowery if a regional or state meet is held at a metric track, it will be run accordingly — even if the host school is the only one to have run metric meets before. In order to figure out qualifying times for regionals, and to translate metric times into yardage and vice-versa, a conversion table approved by the MHSAA is used.

And there are already precedents.

Two schools — Class B Hudsonville (near Grand Rapids) and Class D Rapid River (in the Upper Peninsula) — hosted metric regionals this past spring. At least one other — Class D Frankfort (near Traverse City) — conducted its conference meet as well as an invitational at its new metric facility.

Lowery notes that about 15 schools have contacted the MHSAA this year in regard to building metric tracks, indicating that several more regionals may be following suit next spring (sites for regional and state meets won't be determined until this winter, though).

There's even a possibility of a state meet being conducted under the metric format in 1979. Marquette High, a Class A school that traditionally hosts the Upper Peninsula state finals, is considering switching to metrics by next spring. Locally, most athletic directors seem

We provide all the necessary materials you need to finish it yourself. Following our concise, step-by-step instructions, you can complete your dream home at an undreamed-of price.

By finishing it themselves, many Capp customers save thousands of dollars compared to what they'd pay a general contractor to build the same home on the same lot.

Either way, you'll get a home that's uniquely yours. A custom-built home, designed to your personal specifications.

One that will be worth far more than you paid for it the day you move in.

Capp Homes are such a good value they qualify for FHA, VA, Farm Home and conventional mortgages. If you can't get financing from another lender, Capp has millions in mortgage money available at conventional terms to "qualified buyers."

You may even be able to use the equity built up in your present home or building site to get started on a new Capp Home.

Come see for yourself at a Capp Open House. You'll have a chance to inspect a Capp Home that's partially completed, and decide whether you're cut out to finish a Capp Home.

Cross country practice has begun for this fall's Northville High School team, and coach Ralph Redmond is looking for new runners.

Any youngsters interested in joining this year's squad should contact Redmond at 435-8710. The season begins in mid-September.

Tim Sullivan of Northville finished second place in his age division at the seventh annual Stony Creek Distant Run at Stony Creek Metropark near Rochester last Tuesday.

Sullivan, a 15-year-old who competed in division 2 (ages 12 through 16), ran a course marked as two-and-a-half miles in 11:36, 12 seconds behind winner Paul Backus of Sterling Heights. The race attracted 233 competitors in all.

David Greer, who'll be a student at Northville High School this fall, was one of dozens of Michigan youngsters to attend a football camp at Grand Valley State College in Allendale last week.

The camp, offered to senior high school players, was conducted by Grand Valley head football coach Jim Harkema.

Blues rip Caesar's for 13th

The Village Blues kept their unbeaten American League record intact with a 2-3 victory over then second-place Little Caesar's last Monday night.

Sparked by Jerry Deter and Toby Roggenbuck, the Blues erupted for 11 runs in the third inning, breaking open a 3-3 contest, and breezed to their 13th straight triumph. The Blues have now won 41 in a row over the past three seasons.

The Blues sent 15 hitters up during the third-inning explosion, then ran away with the contest with five more runs in the fourth and three in the fifth.

Deter had four hits, including two home runs and five RBIs in the game while Roggenbuck went 4-for-4 with two RBIs. Dave Conlin and Todd Eis also had home runs for the winner, while Mike Counts topped Caesar's with two hits.

Winner's Circle, meanwhile, took over second place with victories over Jim Storm Insurance and Zayti-Long last week.

Stan Nirider smashed home run and three singles and Dave Fendeleit went 3-for-4 to spark the Circle to a 14-win over Jim Storm Monday.

Two days later, Joe Moon walloped two home runs and a double and scored five times to lead Winner's Circle to a 19-1 triumph over Zayti-Long. Bruce Griggs also had three hits apiece for the victors.

Young man's delight

What better way to spend a cool summer afternoon than to shoot a few hoops in the backyard — especially when the backyard's as big as this one? Record photographer David Turnley captures Fred Cook in action in a scene that probably stirs up memories among many of us.

Co-ed leaders squeak by, 6-3

Competition in Northville's co-ed softball league isn't quite evenly matched, but it's undoubtedly a lot closer than it has been in previous years. With little more than three weeks remaining in the season, all five teams are technically still in the running for a league title (at this point last year only three of six teams were still alive, while in '76 the title was already sewed up by this time), although Goat Farm appears to have the inside edge. An example of just how tight things are was league-leading Goat Farm's 6-3 victory over cellar dweller E. F. Hutton Sunday.

E. F. Hutton, which carried a modest two-game winning streak into the contest despite its last-place status, jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the top of the third inning on a two-run homer by Bruce Griggs plus singles by Jim Slater and Betsy Begle.

Goat Farm, aiming for its first crown after two consecutive second-place finishes, cut the gap to 3-1 in its half of the frame, but it wasn't until the bottom of the fourth that the league leaders finally took command. A leadoff walk to Joe Swiss followed by Karen Schwarck's single and back-to-back doubles by Jerry Collins and Pam Soncrant sent three runs home, giving Goat Farm a 4-3 advantage and enough runs to hang on for a victory. The winners added single tallies in the fifth and sixth innings.

Phil Brown, Bobbie Sprinkles and Mark Shimp paced Goat Farm, now 5-1 on the season, with two hits apiece while E. F. Hutton, which dropped to 2-5, was led by Steve Quaderer with three hits and Griggs, Slater and Begle with two apiece.

In Sunday's other co-ed game Rollerama picked up its third victory in eight decisions this season with a 16-9 upset over second-place Mark Finley.

Tied 8-8 after five innings, the winners exploded for five runs in the sixth and three more in the seventh. Jim LaPlante blasted two-run homers in each of the last two innings for the winners and went 3-for-5 during the game while Bob LaPlante added two singles and a triple and Patti Kaercher one single and a triple.

Mark Finley, which dropped to 4-3 with the loss, was led by Cindy and Sue Booth, Joe Bustamante and Mark Finley. Cindy Booth went 4-for-4 and had a double while Sue Booth added a single and double, Bustamante a single and home run, and Finley two singles and a double.

Recreation notes

Summer swim hours

Hours for the Northville Recreation Department's summer open swimming program are 3 to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The program takes place at the high school pool and is open to children and adults of all ages between now and August 12. There is a fee of 50 cents per student, 75 cents per adult and $1.50 per family.

Tickets to several popular American amusement parks are still on sale at the recreation department, 215 W. Main Street. The tickets are discounted up to 23 percent from regular gate prices and are good anytime during the current season. Amusement parks for which tickets are available include Cedar Point, Bob-Lo, Kings Island, Sea World, Old Chicago and Great American.

Register for football

Football season is right around the corner, and that means registration time for youngsters interested in playing for the Northville-Novi Colts this fall.

The Colts program is open to all boys ages nine through 13 who live in the Northville, Novi and South Lyon areas and is designed to teach youngsters the fundamentals of football. Cut-off date for age determination is September 1, 1978.

There are also weight limits of 125 pounds for boys 12 and under and 330 pounds for 13-year-olds.

All boys or girls interested in cheerleading or further information should contact program president Bill Greer at 849-8231.

The Colts are a member of the Western Suburban Junior Football League, and competition gets under way in early September.

Wixom man gets 2nd hole-in-one

John Fullford may have only three years of golfing experience under his belt, but in one area anyway he can claim greater achievement than many a lifetime pro.

The 25-year-old State Police officer from Wixom recorded his second hole-in-one in two summers last Wednesday morning at Brooklane Golf Course in Northville.

Using a nine-iron, he aced the 144-yard fourth hole and wound up with an 18-hole score of 74 over Brooklane's par 60 layout.

Fullford, who says he normally shoots about 44 or 45 over nine-hole par 36 courses, first learned to golf three summers ago while living in Petoskey, and it was there he collected his first ace last summer.

Fullford moved to Wixom about two months ago, and claims his round at Brooklane last week marked only the fourth time he's been out on the links this year.

Trim Shop upsets

Dave's Trim Shop handed the Choo Chooettes a major setback in their attempt to keep pace with front-running Northville Laboratories in women's softball action last week.

Thanks to an eight-run outburst in the third inning, Dave's overcame an early deficit and stormed to a 15-7 upset victory over the second-place club Tuesday.

The win kept Dave's in third place with a 6-3 record, three games behind unbeaten Northville Lab, in the local women's race while the Choo Chooettes fell to 7-2. The Choo Chooettes' only previous loss this season had been a 6-5 setback at the hands of Northville Lab.

Cindy McKnight's leadoff triple triggered a five-run rally for the Choo Chooettes in the opening frame, and after two innings they still held a 5-3 advantage.

In the top of the third, though, leadoff batter Pam Soncrant reached base on an error for Dave's and Gayle Richardson followed with a home run, sparking a rally that sent 13 hitters to and eight runners across the plate.

Dave's added two runs in the fourth and two more in the sixth, while the Choo Chooettes closed their scoring with a pair in the bottom of the third.

Dave's players Sandy Gatter and Patti Sude had three hits apiece to top both teams while Cheryl Cook added a triple and a double and Richardson a home run and single.

In other games involving top women's clubs last week Northville Lab trounced Nichols-Saints Realty 27-7 on Tuesday while the Choo Chooettes recovered from their loss to Dave's with a 24-4 win over Wishing Well Manor on Thursday.

Four other players — Nancy Slater, Louise Hopping, Denise MacDermid and Kimm Adams — belted home runs for Lab.

MacDermid went 5-for-5 and hit for the cycle (home run, triple, double and single), scoring all five times she batted. Adams also went 5-for-6 and scored three runs while Patti Brown cracked a trio of doubles and Slater and Renee Letarte added three hits apiece.

Betty Kemp sparked the Choo Chooettes' victory with a home run, a double and two singles in four trips to the plate while Terry Lapham added a triple and three singles and Sheila Kemp a triple and two singles.

Metric meets are coming, but Michigan won't push to have a wait-and-see attitude about the situation. The reaction of Brighton's Duke Williams is typical. Although Brighton High's three-year-old track can easily be converted to metric by repainting the inside lanes, Williams figures it may be a while before the school changes over. "Our coaches don't care one way or the other, but if none of the other schools we're competing against have metric tracks it doesn't seem worthwhile (to convert)," he says. "We just don't want to be the oddball." Athletic directors at Novi and Hartland, which plan on constructing new track facilities within the next year or so, also figure on playing the waiting game with surfaces that can go both ways. "I would assume we won't run metric meets until the whole state changes over," John Osborne of Novi, one of several school officials who were under the impression that conversion was mandatory by 1980, said when informed of the MHSAA's position. Chris Holman of Hartland figures his school's track squad "isn't ready" to compete in metrics yet, particularly since Hartland is a member of a predominantly Class C league. "We're in a position to do it (convert to metrics) within two years, but for many smaller schools that's a very expensive proposition. I know eventually we'll all have to go metric, but until I know the state finals are metric we'll stick with the way things are now." Dave Stewart of Whitmore Lake, a Class C school that plans on resurfacing its track later this month, explains that converting an old track to metrics is "a rather complicated process" that involves adding blacktop to both ends of the track's oval. Although he feels an eventual changeover may be favorable, Stewart notes that at a cost of "close to $4000" it's better for his school to hold off until conversion becomes necessary. South Lyon, Howell and Northville are among other area schools which have had or will have work done on its tracks, but don't plan on switching to metrics just yet. Another, Walled Lake Central, is in the unfortunate position of having a cinder track and would have to construct brand new facilities in order to convert. And what about converting other sports distances to metrics? Is it likely we'll be seeing cross country and football follow suit? "Cross country is a strong possibility," says Lowery, noting that some schools are planning on changing the present three-mile format to 5000 meters (or about 3.2 miles). This fall's annual Schoolcraft Invitational at Schoolcraft College, in fact, will most likely be 5000 meters. But Lowery doesn't foresee any first-and-10 meters-to-go situations in football. "Football wouldn't be as easy to adapt," he says. "Too many people would be confused, and it's a predominantly American sport anyway. There really isn't any benefit in changing sports like that."

Warming up

It's still a ways off, but Rotarians are already warming up for their second annual benefit softball game with youngsters of the Northville Residential Training School. The big game will be held August 27 at Thomson Field. Monies raised by Rotarians from the game will be used to purchase equipment for children at the center. Last year, for example, proceeds were used to purchase camping equipment. Here, as Paul Folino gets set to swing and Lee Holland calls for the pitch, Dr. R. J. Slating and Don Thomson look on during a meeting to make arrangements for using Thomson Field, donated by the Thomson family to the Northville Recreation Department.

Lobby dollars and legislators

LANSING LOBBYISTS HAVE SPENT THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS TO KEEP DOUG ROSS OUT OF THE STATE SENATE. WHY!

- Because Doug Ross will fight for a tough lobby reform bill that will force Lansing lobbying out into the open and ban gifts to public officials.
- Because as director of the Michigan Citizens Lobby, Doug Ross consistently fought for Michigan's consumers and against the special interest.
- Because Doug Ross had 97% of his campaign contributions from individuals, he won't owe the Lansing lobbyists anything.
- Because Doug Ross is willing to be a full-time State Senator working to make government serve your interests not theirs.
- Because Doug Ross and his campaign volunteers have visited thousands of homes in the 15th District listen to you.

Minister seeks 19th District congressional nod

L. J. Peterson pastor of Northbrook Presbyterian Church in Birmingham who calls himself "the new face on the political scene," says he is running for the Democratic Party nomination for the U. S. representative from the 19th District because it's time to "put up or shut up."

"With Mr. Broomfield in office, the last 15 years have been a frustrating experience," Peterson said. "I finally decided that it wasn't enough just to complain, that it was time to put up or shut up. That's why I'm running."

If Peterson gets by his primary opponent, Betty Collier, in the August 8 election, he will tackle William Broomfield, the long-time Republican incumbent, in November's general election.

Peterson said that Collier is from the "Wallace wing of the party, that segment of the party that's not with the majority," but saves his harshest criticism for Broomfield.

"People are getting fed up with a lot of politicians, and the party label isn't as important as it once was," Peterson said. "Broomfield is an inadequate representative of the 19th District.

"He has never been the author of any effective, meaningful legislation. He's been nothing but an errand boy in Congress, a do-nothing, passive legislator. We need active people to solve our problems."

Peterson, who says he's been a casual participant in politics and whose only involvement in party politics has been as a precinct delegate, charged that Broomfield's only role on the International Relations Committee of Congress has been as "a strong supporter of the Park regime in Korea, a repressive regime."

He also said that Broomfield supported an amendment to the Tuition Tax Credit Bill that would allocate tax monies for private and parochial schools at the elementary and secondary levels, a move, he said, that will sow "the seeds of destruction for public education."

Peterson said that tax reform, not tax limitation, is needed.

"The problem is how to deal with the tax problem," he said. "I'm not for tak-

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Ah, well, it means that I and a few others, I guess, will get a little more sleep.

But it still bothers me that television executives have twice killed the best late show on the tube — America 2-Night and its predecessor, Fernwood 2-Night. They tell us that too few "cult freaks" watched the show to warrant its continuation.

As Barth Gimble would say, "Money talks." Or as his sidekick, Jerry Hubbard, would observe, "It's probably a Communist plot."

The cancellation so infuriated me that I sent the UBS network my first TV zinger: "I hope you step on a wad of Barth's gum!"

We may be "cult freaks," but we "2-Night" lovers resent the implication that we were an unsophisticated audience. Some of the most sophisticated people I know — policemen, mailmen and newspaper editors — watched "2-Night" religiously.

We could always count on the fact that when "2-Night" flashed on the screen, Barth and Jerry would be on the job — unlike the Johnny Carson show where the host seems to be vacationing more than he is working.

What's more, "2-Night's" guests were a good deal more real and often more entertaining than most of Johnny's Hollywood celebrities.

And we found it far more fascinating to learn about Barth's jail encounter in Florida than about Johnny's continuing marital-divorce problems.

We laughed until our sides ached when Barth tried unsuccessfully to wring a few bucks from a lawsuit after being run down by an alleged shopping cart; we were delighted to see guests pay to perform rather than receive money for sloppy exhibitions as on Johnny's show; we found it refreshing that neither Barth nor Jerry had to laugh at their own jokes to cue the audience; and we thoroughly enjoyed "2-Night's" no-hands barred grilling of guests.

Furthermore, "2-Night's" borrowed furniture and Barth's leisure suit and his white pencil mustache were more appropriate and worthy of our attention than Johnny's elaborate sets and his on-the-air advertising of Johnny Carson suits or his overworked golf swing.

With "2-Night" we got meaty, meaningful satire; with Johnny we get warmed over gossip hash.

In short, while too few "cult freaks" watched "2-Night", too many perform on Johnny's show.

Novi to host German youths

A German youth chamber orchestra will present a concert in the Fuerst Auditorium at Novi High School this Sunday (August 6) at 7:30 p.m.

The Jugendorchester of Wilhelmshaven, West Germany, is celebrating its 25th anniversary with a journey to the United States and a concert tour of Michigan.

The 40-piece orchestra consists of students from high schools and universities in Wilhelmshaven and the surrounding area.

The concert is co-sponsored by the Novi Foundation for the Performing Arts and the Blue Lake Fine Arts Music Camp. There is no admission charge.

The Foundation was organized primarily for the benefit of the residents of Novi to promote the performing arts. Such promotion includes sponsorship of Novi residents in music educational programs, public performances in the performing arts, the purchase of musical instruments and other assets, and the rental of facilities to be used in the performing arts.

Blue Lake Fine Arts Music Camp is located in the western part of the state near Muskegon. During the summer, high school students attend the camp for two-week sessions to improve their musical talents.

ing the meat ax approach. What we need to do is tighten up on management, economize on administrative costs and reorder our priorities.

"Tax reform is the real need and that will only come with expenditure reform."

He said that Broomfield can't escape at least partial responsibility "for the (fiscal) mess we're in because he's been part of it for 22 years."

Peterson called the Tisch Amendment to limit taxes in Michigan a fraud and said the Headlee Amendment has merit on the surface.

"It should get the attention of the legislature and congress to bring about needed reform," he said.

He said the Tisch Amendment "in effect will destroy the tax base at the level where it's most needed" — locally.

Peterson said he opposes constitutional amendments as a method of solving ing problems. "It points to a failure of the legislature to do the job and there will be chaos if all these tax limitation proposals are passed."

Inflation, unemployment and energy are other major campaign issues, Peterson said.

Hopefully, we can develop voluntary means to stop the wage-price spiral," he said. "We're not going to stop inflation. But in light of reasonable inflation, we have to develop programs to cure the rise of the wage-price spiral."

This will benefit persons with fixed or limited incomes and the unemployed.

To lower unemployment, "we must encourage expansion of the private sector to create jobs. The government could provide employment of the last resort for others. This would give people the dignity of working and at the same time, we'd be getting more out of our tax dollars."

Peterson said that short, medium and long-range solutions are needed to solve the country's energy problem.

Along the campaign trail, people have likened Peterson taking on Broomfield as a David vs. Goliath battle. Peterson doesn't mind the comparison.

L. J. PETERSON

Betty Collier

She's back trying again

It's the second time around for Betty Collier, a Waterford housewife vying for the Democratic Party nomination in the 19th District's race for U.S. representative.

Collier sought the Democratic nomination in 1976 but lost to Dorothea Becker, who then was defeated in the general election by long-time Republican incumbent William Broomfield.

Collier again has primary opposition in the August 8 election, this time from the Reverend L.J. Peterson, a Presbyterian minister from Birmingham. If she wins the primary, Collier will then have to face Broomfield in November's general election.

Collier, who holds a college degree in political science and business and who has been active in party politics at the local and state level for several years, said she doesn't know that much about her primary opponent, Peterson.

"We've met at a 'meet the candidates' night, but I really don't know him," she said.

And asked if she disagreed with Broomfield's stand on any specific issues, Collier said she couldn't think of any areas of disagreement.

But she did say that "I can't see where he (Broomfield) has done a lot for the district. If you look at Mr. Broomfield's record, he's supported few bills that affect us in Michigan."

Collier said she thought Broomfield hasn't been responsive to the needs of his constituency. "Oh, he has good public relations," she said, "but the problems and concerns of the people aren't being taken care of."

She also said that Broomfield "could fight for more federal money" for the 19th District "I'd like to see more federal money get back to the district," she said.

Fessler backs nursing bill

State Representative Richard Fessler has announced his support for the "intent" of a bill to upgrade conditions in nursing homes (SB 659).

Fessler said he supported the intent of SB 659 because it begins to address the real concerns in nursing homes — the quality of life. "There is nothing in our present licensing statutes that addresses this problem," said Fessler. "We have concentrated too heavily on the bricks and mortar aspects of nursing homes because they are more amenable to regulations."

"The Senior Citizen community has shown us the direction on this issue," he continued. "They have written letters, contacting legislators, and testified as a group at Senior Power Day and at several public hearings. Senior power is more than a slogan. It is a viable political force and it is leading the way on this crucial issue."

Fessler said it was appropriate that senior citizens spearhead the bill since they are the ones most directly affected by nursing homes.

"By the year 2000 the percentage of our population over 65 will increase by 60 percent," he noted. "This will have a major impact on nursing homes as well as the political clout wielded by senior citizens."

Fessler noted that he did not support SB 659 as it is presently written. He stated that he hopes his colleagues in the House would agree that a bill with the highest possible enforceable standards should be passed.

"This will undoubtedly mean amendments," said Fessler. "It is only regrettable that the legislature could not pass the bill before the summer recess, but it still needs more work. The bill is too important to be treated in a cursory manner."

Collier said she will have more to say about Broomfield's stand on the issues and his record if she wins the primary. "We'll have people studying his record and we'll be taking more definite stands," she said.

Collier said that taxes, inflation and energy are the top three concerns of the residents in the 19th District, which includes Oakland County and the townships of Green Oak, Brighton, Hartland, and Tyrone in Livingston County.

She said she supports tax limitation. "I would like to see waste in federal government stopped," she said. "I get so angry when I read articles about wasting taxpayers' money. I don't believe it would be that much of a problem to trim budgets. A lot of things could be cut without hurting. There's a lot of waste."

One area Collier doesn't want to see slashed is federal spending for defense. "I wouldn't like to see defense cut because Russia keeps building," said Collier, who describes herself as "kind of conservative."

Inflation is another area of concern for 19th District residents, Collier said. "The federal government's deficit is so high," she said. "If we keep printing money to keep up with the deficit, inflation will continue. We have to cut the deficit."

On energy, Collier said the country has to examine alternatives, including solar and nuclear energy. "If nuclear energy can be safely used, it would help reduce our dependence on foreign oil," she said.

Collier said she would like to see tax incentives "to encourage people to conserve energy, but not in a way that would be damaging to the economy."

Collier said that in general she is satisfied with the Carter administration. "In some instances he hasn't lived up to his promises, but right at this point, I can't point to any area that I could criticize," she said.

Collier said she is running again because her supporters encouraged her.

"I wasn't really planning to run this time until I was urged by my supporters," she said. "After this, it will be the last time."

ON TOWNSHIP GOVERNMENT

Township Government is the only Government that allows the residents of the Community to determine by popular ballot the amount of taxes that they are willing to pay. The elected Board of Trustees decide on an annual basis after Citizen input how those tax dollars will be spent to serve the best interest of the taxpayer. The Township form of Government is becoming more viable every year as area residents locate in Townships to avoid high City taxes and to have a say in how much they will be taxed for local governmental operations.

ON TAX REFORM

Tax reform is absolutely necessary in the State of Michigan and at the Federal level. Senior Citizens who are living on fixed incomes and in some instances being taxed out of their homes are among those who need immediate relief. Some form of relief allowing Senior Citizens to continue residing in their present homes must be instigated immediately. Middle Class income property owners are also at the point of no return. Because of taxes, single family homes are becoming the exception and not the rule. The Township form of Government unlike the City form of Government has nothing to fear in the immediate reduction in property taxes on a State wide basis. Township operating funds are already limited to those approved by the taxpayer. I endorse and will work for all legislation which is beneficial to Township residents in reducing property tax assessments.

ON TOWNSHIP FIRE PROTECTION

The Volunteer Fire Department of Northville Township under the leadership of Fire Chief Robert Toms has been extremely successful and beneficial to the residents of Northville Township. For the first time in history we have a full time, Class A State Certified, Fire Chief. The efficiency of the Fire Department is a public record and cannot be contested. The Department has qualified and been admitted to the Western Wayne County Mutual Aid Association during the first year of operation. The additional fire protection afforded to the residents of Northville Township in the past year, the fire prevention training and programs that the Department has initiated, make the Fire Department of Northville Township the best buy for the tax dollar in Northville Township today.

A Special Note from the Committee to Elect Wilson C. Grier

In August of 1976 when campaigning for election as Supervisor Northville Township Wilson C. Grier said:

"If you elect me, Wilson Grier, as Supervisor of the Township, I give you my word that I will work within your voted millage, to pursue the most aggressive and active programs for the people of Northville Township."

Please call me if there are any questions at home: 348-9686, work: 459-1710 or drop by in person.

Wilson C. Grier,
Supervisor Northville Township

We know that Supervisor Wilson C. Grier has accomplished exactly what he committed to do since that time. The Township has never been in a better financial position than it is today. In fiscal year ending March 31, 1977, the Township carried forward $114,789. Through Supervisor Wilson C. Grier's day-to-day management of Township Government and his efficiency in accomplishing the maximum benefit for the tax dollar available, he has lived up to all commitments to the taxpayers of Northville Township. Supervisor Wilson C. Grier has demonstrated leadership, ability, initiative and accomplishment of established goals. Re-elect Wilson C. Grier Supervisor in the Republican Primary, August 8, and under his leadership the Township will continue to enforce the fiscal integrity that has been demonstrated so capably in the last two years.

Committee to Elect Wilson C. Grier
David Jerome, Campaign Chairman

ON ANNEXATION

As much as my opponent would like you to believe that annexation is a dead issue, the simple truth is that it is very much an issue. During the City Council election of November, 1977, each of those Councilmen elected made public statements in the November 2, 1977 Northville Record which endorsed piecemeal annexation of Northville Township. The Township tax base, which the City would like to have, is the reason that the Township can perform on 2.5 mills instead of 14 mills which the City has to levy. Any loss of tax base by the Township to the City would require additional operational millage. For that reason, and in order to maintain our low tax rate of 2.5 mills, I will oppose annexation through all means available.

ON TOWNSHIP GROWTH

The Township of Northville already has one of the most prohibitive zoning ordinances in Southeastern Michigan. While surrounding communities have grown with 500-1000 housing starts annually, Northville Township issued less than 100 housing start permits in 1977 and will issue less than 200 housing start permits in 1978. The Township cannot legally prevent growth but it can continue to exercise sound judgment, and ensure that all growth is of a quality nature. The current limited housing starts in Northville Township are approximately $100,000.00 each. That type of quality housing speaks well of the current zoning ordinance, the Planning Commission, the Board of Trustees, and Northville Township.

ON TOWNSHIP POLICE PROTECTION

In the last two years four additional Patrol Officers have been hired to better service the Township. Three additional patrol vehicles have been purchased making a total of five vehicles available for Department use. The Department has grown to meet the desire of the majority of Township residents who expressed that wish by public vote in 1976. The Township Police Department will continue to grow in the coming years to better meet the needs of the Citizens of Northville Township.

ON JOINT SERVICES

The Township currently shares Joint Services in recreation, library, Senior Citizens, ambulance, and the Building Department. I support the continuation of each of those services. Each service must be evaluated on a yearly basis to ensure that the Township Taxpayer is receiving the most benefit for the tax dollar utilized.

Re-Elect Wilson C. Grier

Ump lumps

Abuse doesn't deter their love of the job

By AL SCHULTZ

"Kill the ump!"

That phrase and others like it are heard every summer in every softball league from six year old girls to sixty year old men. And they're all directed at the man in the dark clothes and the little black hat — the umpire.

Umpires are a strange breed. They take all kinds of abuse from coaches, players, and fans, and consider their job to be lonely and thankless. And they love it.

"It has its rewards and its anxieties," says umpire Art Kohn, Jr., "but I love it. I think an umpire has to love his job or he shouldn't be an umpire. If he doesn't feel good about umpiring, it'll show and then he'll be in a lot of trouble."

Kohn is the chief umpire for the Inter-Lakes pigtail league, and is one of the few full time umpires in the area. He umpires 18 games a week and uses his paychecks to help put himself through college.

But most of the umpires in the area are part-timers, moonlighting by catching abuse on the ballfield instead of at home. Some are very good at their second job, and some aren't. And anybody who has played even one game of softball will swear he had one of the ones who wasn't.

"Umpiring is not an easy job," says Kohn. "a person can be sitting up in the stands and think it looks pretty easy, but if that person were running around down on the field he'd know better. An umpire always has to be hustling and keep his mind on the game. If you stop, you're sure to get burned."

Paul DeWalsche umpires in the Walled Lake Community Education leagues, and he summed it up like this: "You can watch a game and talk about a call after it was made. But an umpire has to give the call right away. It's not so easy letting the whole world know what you thought you saw within one second."

Slow decisions are the major enemy of an umpire, not counting wrong decisions. Even umpires can make mistakes, and most of them will admit it.

"I've called some plays slower than I should have," says DeWalsche, "and when I do that, I leave myself open for an argument. I've also made some decisions that were totally wrong, and then I've changed them. An umpire should change his decision if he knows he made the wrong call."

Kohn agrees. "You can change your decision if you do it real fast. You've got to change it before the crowd moans. If you wait until the crowd makes noise, even if you know you blew the call, you can't change it. If you do it then you'll really get it from the other side. Sometimes you just have to eat your mistake."

Managers are the old nemesis of umpires. Rarely is there a baseball or softball game without at least one rhubarb. And generally the umpire wins.

"The managers often don't know the rules," said Kohn. "They think they do, but they don't know them as well as an umpire. I have my biggest problems with men's 'B' league softball. The class 'C' guys don't know the rules and they know they don't know the rules, but they're just out for fun and don't care. The class 'A' ballplayers know the rules and they know that they know the rules and that makes it easy. But the class B league players are the ones who don't know the rules but think they do."

"Generally speaking, I don't think anybody knows the rules," said DeWalsche.

Kohn and DeWalsche, like all umpires, have had more than one run-in with managers and players. Most of them even expect problems to occur during the summer softball season.

"I get hit once a year," said Kohn, "and I just got it for this year. Right square on the jaw. Let's face it, it happens. Sometimes the person gets so steamed up and frustrated that it results in a punch. I've had one of my umpires punched by a 12 year old boy."

Striking an umpire results in an automatic expulsion, but if no physical contact is made, it is up to the ump to decide who gets thrown out and when.

"I never throw anybody out on a spontaneous remark. If I call a guy out sliding into second he may jump up and scream something, but that's spontaneous. He's so upset at being out that he isn't thinking. I try to give them a break on things like that, but if he keeps it up, I'll warn him. If he still persists, I'll throw him out."

Although Kohn may have a more often used thumb than most of the umpires he has much more of a chance to use it, umpiring every day of the week. DeWalsche recalls only throwing out about four people in four years of part-time umpiring.

"There isn't any rule of thumb," says DeWalsche, "but the umpire has to be in charge of the game. If I get too much trouble I'll throw somebody out, but I try not to."

Generally, the game will run smoothly without more than one or two short discussions on calls. But sometimes the trouble doesn't come from on the field, but from people in the stands.

"The coaches are the ones who set the tone for the games," said Kohn. "If they get angry then it spreads to the fans in the bleachers. They can get pretty nasty in adult softball. But the parents of the little leaguers can be a pain to an umpire too."

Sometimes the heated arguments are not with the umpire, but between player

Propositions to crowd November state ballot

By WARREN M. HOYT

Besides the usual number of statewide legislative and local candidates vying for public office, the November ballot will be crowded with at least nine proposals to change the state constitution. Voters will be asked to decide such weighty questions as raising the drinking age, limiting state expenditures, halving property taxes and a voucher system for education.

Petitions were filed to place the voucher system on the ballot which supporters claim will foster "competition for excellence" among schools.

The opposition says the system, which will allow students to attend schools of their choice, is nothing more than parochial and will adversely affect integration programs. Public money will support education in private and parochial schools under the plan and it could dismantle school busing programs. Its purpose is designed to create equality between the affluent and the lower-income families by letting students go to better schools than may be in their districts.

The amendment will eliminate property taxes as the major source of education funding, cutting the taxes therefore by 65 percent, or $1.8 billion. To make up the lost revenue, supporters propose increases in the income, nuisance and property transfer taxes. The model plan requires that vouchers not be used for religious education. Religious schools will have to charge extra tuition for religious education and keep account of that. Another question will be the so-called Meadlee amendment which would limit state spending to actual increases in personal income. The proposal is designed to put a cap on state spending to keep spending in line with personal income increases.

Signatures were filed also to place the so-called Tisch amendment on the November ballot to ask voters to cut property taxes. However, the final signatures were gathered in such a hurry there are serious questions as to whether they will be validated to qualify for the ballot. The Tisch amendment also puts limits on the Legislature, prohibiting it from raising the income tax rate by more than one percent. The amendment also allows local income taxes on one percent for schools. Here is a rundown of other amendments that will probably appear:

Bail Bonds — adopted by the Legislature; authorizes judges to deny bail bonds to accused felons with at least three other serious felony convictions on their records and for certain violent crimes. Investments — adopted by the Legislature; authorizes the state to deposit its funds in credit unions, savings and loan associations or banks. Constitutional Convention — required by the current constitution; asks whether a convention should be called to propose a new constitution. Police Bargaining — initiative petition promoted by the Michigan State Police Troopers Association, authorizes collective bargaining by State Police troopers; provides for binding arbitration for unresolved disputes. Drinking Age — initiative petition promoted by the coalition for 21; raises legal drinking age to 21. Parole — initiative petition promoted by Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, requires persons convicted of violent crimes to serve at least the minimum term before being eligible for parole. Voters must more than ever prepare themselves very well for the November general election.

ROD OEHRING

CRAIG B. LEWIS

BRUCE ROY REALTY, Inc. in downtown Northville has announced the addition of Rod Oehring to its staff of real estate sales personnel.

Oehring is a graduate of Douglas MacArthur High School in Saginaw and obtained a certificate in residential construction at Delta College. He then served as a salesman and as a branch manager for an Ohio firm in charge of sales and service for an 18 county area. Later, he was engaged as sales manager in charge of hiring and training new sales personnel in Saginaw.

Oehring is married, has a 20 month old daughter and resides in Wixom. He is looking forward to a successful career in real estate in the Northville area, said Bruce Roy.

IN RECOGNITION of his proven professionalism, Craig B. Lewis has been designated a Certified Real Estate Brokerage Manager (CRB) by the REALTORS NATIONAL MARKETING INSTITUTE.

Lewis is executive vice president of Rymal Symes Company. He has been in real estate for 10 years and is a member of Birmingham Board of REALTORS, the Western-Oakland County Board of REALTORS, and the Livingston County Board of REALTORS.

He attended the University of Michigan and is a member of the REALTORS Alumni of that university. He specializes in residential brokerage and guaranteed sales and has attained the Institute's CRS (Certified Residential Specialist) designation as well.

In announcing the award, Marketing Institute President Ira Gribin noted that more than 700 designees have attained this profession level of expertise in real estate brokerage. Designees have completed an intensive course of study, as well as demonstrating their skills and specialized knowledge, in addition to successfully concluding a comprehensive written examination conducted by specialists in their field of real estate. "The Marketing Institute, which is dedicated to development and recognition of professionalism, is proud to award these individuals its highest symbol of excellence," he said.

With a membership of more than 43,000 REALTORS and REALTOR-ASSOCIATE throughout the United States, the Marketing Institute is the largest educational affiliate of the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS. The Institute offers publications, training materials and courses in the areas of residential sales, real estate office administration and commercial-investment real estate brokerage. Successful completion of courses in each of these curricula can lead to achievement of a REALTORS NATIONAL MARKETING INSTITUTE professional designation.

Umpires are abuse targets, Poet's Corner

but they still love jobs

and player. If a fight breaks out on the field, the umpire has another job to do — get out of the way.

"When I see an argument that may turn into a fight I warn the instigators. If they don't stop, I'll throw them out of the game," said Kohn.

"When there is actually a fight, I get away from it. Umpires are not boxing referees and they shouldn't try to break it up. Usually guys from the teams come over and pull the fighters apart."

Verbal abuse from the bench is another problem encountered by umpires. While some umpires choose to ignore it, Kohn has a special answer to jibes where he cannot determine the guilty party.

"I go over to the bench and tell them I don't know who the trouble is coming from, but that if it keeps up I'll pick one of them at random to throw out. If it keeps up, I'll keep throwing them out one at a time."

One of the most hateful situations for an umpire is the ballplayer who complains about the umpire to his fellow ballplayers loudly during the game. A good example is an infielder telling the pitcher that the umpire is blowing calls. Many times a player will ride an umpire indirectly for an entire game, complaining about calls, but not to the umpire.

An umpire has to be alert at all times, say Kohn and DeWaelche, and sometimes that can be a bit of a problem.

"The runaway games are really rough on an umpire because he has the tendency to get bored. That's when you're likely to blow a call or just plain miss a play."

Most umpires will generally call the player safe when they haven't seen the play, but both umpires concluded that when the umpire misses a play everybody else sees it.

"It's embarrassing to completely miss something," said Kohn, "but it happens."

Both umpires noted the difference between men's and women's softball, and between girls' softball and boys' baseball.

"The men are more picky about calls," said DeWaelche. "They're out there screaming and yelling and the women are on the next diamond having a good time. I guess it's because most of the women's teams aren't as competitive as the men's."

Kohn, on the other hand, didn't quite see the lady softballers in the same light. "Women are horrible," he says. "They can be every bit as vicious as the men. And men umpires aren't crazy about being chewed out by women."

Kohn wishes all the pigtailed girls would just stay that way, as he has few qualms with the younger girls.

"The little girls are always great," he says. "I mean the real little ones. Most of them are so happy to be playing that they don't give the umpire any trouble. But once the parents start in on the umpire, the girls tend to imitate them. This happens with the older girls a lot."

Kohn trains umpires in the Walled Lake area, and some of the umpires he trains are (oh no) girls. And to make matters worse, the girl umpires have invaded the boys' leagues.

Lisa McNutt, one of Kohn's umpires, claims the boys aren't too thrilled about having a girl umpire. "The boys resent it that I'm a girl and I'm umpiring their game. They think they know more baseball than I do. They also tend to gripe more than the girls' teams do. And the men coaches try to intimidate a girl umpire."

McNutt has been umpiring a little over a year and she hasn't had the nerve to throw anybody out of a game yet. "I should have a couple of times, but I just can't bring myself to do it. The men scream at me that I don't know what I'm talking about, but I've sat through hours of instruction and I know what I'm talking about."

McNutt agrees that umpiring is a lonely and thankless job, but recalled once that a young girl from a losing team came up to her after the game and told her she did a good job.

Kohn also has a fond memory with the little girls' leagues.

"Before the game once when I was approaching the field a little girl came running up to me and asked me if I was going to be their umpire. When I told her I was, she ran back to her teammates and they all began clapping."

Kohn has yet to see that happen in a men's league.

"Umpiring isn't really too bad," he says, "you take a lot of abuse for what you think is the right way to do your job. But once a manager thinks you've wronged his team, he'll remember you. They don't forgive you very easily."

Kohn had an opportunity to visit Japan recently and actually do some umpiring in the country. He says that the umpires are very respected in Japan and that he felt it was an honor to umpire there.

"Do you know what they do in Japan if you blow a call?"

"They bow."

Growing Old

I'm growing old, or so they say my life a withered grape.
I do not know what icky is,
I cannot bake a cake.
I used to run, I used to play,
But now I am too old.
The bread I used to make, one time
Now has turned to mold.
"Sit down now Granny, please, be calm,
We do not want you hurt.
Be pretty, soft, and quiet.
No so loud and not so pert!"
My hands are tired, my body too
But still I love to go,
They try and stop me, they plead, they fuss
I guess they do not know
That the elderly, the aged aren't
An ape in some side show.
So listen to us, don't plead, don't fuss,
You can laugh, enjoy, have fun,
For soon enough we'll all be gone.
TO HEAVEN JAMES, AT ONCE!

Bird Brains

Our friends the birds
That come at dawn
To feed and bathe
As I but yawn,
Return again
For a bird-seed break
About the time
I am awake.
They never seem
To get enough;
I wonder where
They put the stuff!

Scalloped across
Of the bathroom sink...

The can on its back
Blew a zeppelin of foam
Exuding more each time
It burped another blimp...

I'm frantic. This inanimate object
Is so alive. Writhing and leaping—
Who can control the runaway contents
That, wiped away, still journey forth.

Incredible Crow

Look, you incredible crow —
Sit upon that branch
And peer with beady, knowing eyes
Across my rustling corn field,
And I can read your avid mind.
Avarice and greed?
Hunger and a fear of me?
I suspect both motives to be true
How do I know?
I am that incredible crow —
Avaricious, greedy and a little hungry,
Yet, we can be friends we two.
If only you would lose your fear of me
And I would lose by own disgust for you.

Iris borer's a real pest

The major pest of iris in Michigan is the iris borer, and this pink caterpillar causes more damage than all other insects.

Washtenaw County Horticultural Agent, Bobbi Lawrence, advises checking iris for borers when you dig and divide the rhizomes in late summer. Discard and destroy any rhizomes showing borer damage.

The feeding of the waterpillars damages the rhizomes, which often become infected with bacterial rot. This rot reduces the tubers to a putrid mush.

Early signs that borers are present include chewed leaf edges and tear stains. These occur in the spring, when the eggs that overwintered on last year's foliage hatch and the young larvae pierce the leaves and tunnel into the stems. In early July they bore into the rhizome, where they remain to feed and grow.

The adult iris borer is a large brown moth with black markings. It emerges from late August to October and lays eggs on iris foliage to start the cycle all over again.

In addition to removing and destroying infested tubers, conduct a thorough fall cleanup of old leaves, stems and other debris. This eliminates the eggs that would overwinter and hatch out the next spring.

Spraying every two weeks from the time first growth starts in the spring until June 1 will kill the young larvae as they hatch. Malathion or lindane are the recommended chemicals.

Back then nobody had heard of EEE Award homes.

At one time, when they built a house, one of its best features was a big front porch. And the most popular thing a porch could have was a wide, wooden swing.

Nowadays, the most important feature a house can have is energy efficiency because people are very concerned about keeping heating and cooling costs down.

That's why Detroit Edison presents its Energy Efficiency Excellence (EEE) Award to builders whose homes meet maximum standards in energy efficiency. EEE Award homes are properly insulated and are heated and cooled with an energy-saving heat pump, and could save you more than $260 a year in energy costs compared to homes using oil, propane or electric resistance heating.

Major appliances like refrigerators and freezers in EEE Award homes, if provided by the builder, are also energy efficient. Of course, it's important to use and maintain all major appliances properly so they don't waste energy.

If you'd like to visit an EEE Award home, call or stop in at any Detroit Edison Customer Office and ask for the names of builders who have EEE Award homes on display.

Save where it really counts. The power is in your hands.

RIZZO
NORTHVILLE REALTY

We proudly present what we consider to be the finest home in Northville. Truly magnificent, we'll let its history speak for itself.

HISTORY

Well preserved and beautifully maintained, this lovely historic home, constructed in 1843, is one of the oldest and most significant of the town's earliest days.

Built by Arden G. Byington, the original structure is still intact. On November 7, 1845 Sylvester Cochran purchased the property and opened a school called the "Northville Academy". His daughter, Sarah Ann Cochran, later operated the school exclusively for girls in 1857. The school existed until 1860 when Mr. Cochran died and his children sold the property to Asa M. Randolph on February 1, 1866.

Asa Randolph resided here until his death in 1921. His daughter, Arabella, and son-in-law, John Tinham continued to live here during and through the depression. The Randolph family were all fine musicians and were sought out by Mr. Henry Ford when he revived square dancing at Dearborn.

After the depression, J. H. Boyce, a local banker, acquired the property and in turn sold it to Mr. and Mrs. John S. Canterbury who presently own and reside there. Appreciating the historic significance of the home the Canterburys have made many improvements to the house and have perfected the setting so that it exists in natural harmony with the home.

ARE YOU LOSING MORE THAN YOU'RE SAVING?

HOMEOWNERS

Our reason for writing this to you is simply stated: we are alarmed by the number of homes in this area that we are seeing sold for thousands of dollars under market.

Now, we realize, as most of you do, that when a purchaser sees "for sale by owner" what he really reads is "I can save the commission." And, many times, he does end up pocketing the commission himself.

But, apparently, in today's market, the buyer is also realizing a bonus over and above the commission. By selling your homes yourselves not only are you not saving the commission dollars (which you have rightfully earned), you are losing money by placing a lower initial value on your houses than current market conditions indicate. This is an absolutely unnecessary loss to you. Why does this occur?

Frankly, the buyer is more knowledgeable about market trends than are you, the seller. He has inspected more homes like yours than you have, and many others not at all like yours, in a variety of locations and price ranges. He can, therefore, recognize a "steal" more readily than you can recognize your loss.

What we are suggesting to you is that you seek professional help when it comes time to price your property for sale.

Naturally, we hope that Howell Town & Country, Inc. will be one of the firms you'll call in to discuss this vital question. But whether you do or not—please seek outside help from SOME professional, and enjoy the many benefits (other than establishing proper value) that they can offer.* You not only owe it to yourself—you owe it to your neighbors, the value of whose homes (when sold) will depend, in part, upon what your home sells for now.

Very concernedly yours,

HOWELL TOWN & COUNTRY, INC.

*We have a FREE brochure explaining OUR approach to marketing property. It's yours for the asking—no obligation.

He receives sub's backing

The Barton MacFarlane Neighborhood Association of Detroit has endorsed Richard Vander Veen in his bid for the Democratic nod for the U.S. Senate. The 600 member neighborhood association serves the 27,000 voters in the 21st State Representative district of Detroit. They are the only community council in Detroit endorsing and working for political candidates. The 10-year-old group has an impressive history of effectively working with city government and the residents of the area for an improved neighborhood.

In announcing the endorsement, Reginald McGhee, board member and chairman of the Political Action Committee, said, "We wholeheartedly endorse candidate Richard Vander Veen. We feel he will be by far the most electable candidate in the entire state of Michigan. We support him without reservation and will work hard for his election." The president of the association, Joseph W. Williams, joined with McGhee in making the statement.

Vander Veen in expressing his gratitude for the endorsement said, "This proves, once again, that my campaign is catching on with the people of Detroit as well as throughout the state of Michigan. When you look at the endorsements that have been added to this effort, there is only one conclusion to be drawn—I am ahead! Considering the fact that other candidates have only received minor endorsements, I have to conclude that, spite of some candidates so-called 'polls', I am the front runner."

Vander Veen is the Grand Rapids attorney who captured the 5th Congressional seat when Gerald Ford was made Vice-President. He has received the endorsement of the 85,000 member Michigan Education Association, the City Residence Committee of Detroit, The Sheet Metal Workers of Michigan, the Professional Air Traffic Controllers, The Maritime Engineers Benefit Association, the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers (railroad), the Steamship and Airline Clerks, and Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

28 Democrats back McCollough

They include: Senator William Faust, Senate Majority Leader, Westland; Senator Bill Huffman, Madison Heights; Representative Dominic Jacobetti, Negaunee; Senator Joseph Mack, Ironwood; Senator John C. Hertel, Harper Woods; Senator David A. Plawecki, Dearborn Heights; Representative Alfred Sheridan, Taylor; Representative Thomas H. Brown, Westland; Representative Jelt Sietsema, Grand Rapids; Representative Edward Mahalak, Romulus; Representative Thomas J. Anderson, Southgate; Representative Joe Conroy, Flint; Representative Dana Wilson, Hazel Park; Representative Casmer Ogonowski, Detroit; Representative Larry Burkhalter, Lapeer; Representative Daisy Elliott, Detroit; Representative Jack Gingrass, Iron Mountain; Representative Lucille McCollough, Dearborn; Representative George Cushingberry, Jr., Detroit; Senator Jack Faxon, Detroit; Representative Jim Barcia, Bay City; Representative Frank V. Wierzbicki, Detroit; Representative Matthew McNeely, Detroit; Representative Dennis M. Dutko, Warren; Representative Claude Trim, Davisburg; Representative Joyce Symons, Allen Park; Representative William Keith, Garden City; and Senator Arthur Miller, Warren.

In announcing their endorsement of McCollough's candidacy, the group cited his legislative leadership, excellent record of accomplishments and ability to propose workable solutions to the problems facing Michigan residents.

"Pat McCollough has been out front on the issues since coming to Lansing in 1971 as a State Senator," Faust said.

"Whether you're talking about tax reform, political reform, environmental concerns, crime victims compensation or equitable wage rates, you will see McCollough's name at the head of the list of those who have sponsored and fought for these improvements," a coalition member stated.

The legislative leaders also pointed out that McCollough, who was the first gubernatorial candidate of either party to endorse a tax limitation amendment in Michigan, was fighting for tax reform a year ago.

"As Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Pat McCollough last year led the fight to try and force the present administration to keep its promise to roll back the state income tax rate from 4.6 to 4.4 percent. And he was also a leader in bringing about the necessary reform in the state's Single Business Tax," they said.

The coalition singled out McCollough's achievements in authoring the Michigan Clean Water Act, Crime Victims Compensation Act and Political Reform Act.

"Add to that the fact that McCollough was named Conservation Legislator of the Year in 1973 by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and the fact that he was the chief sponsor of the 1974 law that improved Michigan's minimum wage from $1.60 per hour to the present hourly minimum rate of $2.30," they said.

"We think it's obvious that his record as a legislator proves that he not only can provide the leadership this state needs to move ahead, but that he also can accomplish his goals."

"The people of Michigan are looking for a Governor that can lead—not merely react—and that can finish what he starts out to accomplish. His record proves that Pat McCollough will be that kind of Governor."

'Reform plan is in danger'

A fairly good plan to reform the nation's Civil Service system is in danger of being distorted, and causing the federal work force to be thrown back to the old spoils system, warns Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-19th District).

Last March, President Carter offered a plan to revise the much criticized federal bureaucracy and make it more responsive and responsible to the public.

In Congressional committee, however, Democratic Congressmen have been successfully adding amendments, such as one revising the Hatch Act, that have been fought by an unusual coalition of Republicans and a few Democrats supporting the President.

"It has long been recognized that the federal Civil Service system needed major reforms. It has become a system where merit is not the criterion for reward, and poor performance is tolerated. Personnel actions are mired in red tape, delay, and confusion so that good managers find it difficult to administer their programs and the incompetent are kept on because it is too hard to fire them."

"The Congress was presented with a fairly good plan for reforming the Civil Service. Some changes were needed, but additions like the Hatch Act revision seriously undermine the entire concept of Civil Service reform," Broomfield said.

In 1939, the Hatch Act was enacted into law to protect the public, and the federal workers themselves, from abuses of partisan politics within the bureaucracy. It prohibits federal workers from participating in such activities as managing a partisan political campaign, running for partisan office, and soliciting or receiving funds for a political organization.

At the same time, it permits federal workers to exercise the basic rights of registering, voting, and joining and contributing to a political party.

The Hatch Act itself, Broomfield points out, was passed as a reform measure in 1939. By then, flagrant misuse and abuse of the federal work force for political gain had almost become a way of life. Rank and file federal workers were subjected to intense political pressures, and the electoral process was becoming increasingly influenced by the power generated through questionable tactics.

He disputes salary process

Donald Thomson, campaigning in a hotly contested race for Northville Township supervisor, said last week that he wanted to clarify remarks made several weeks ago about township salaries and the Wage and Salary Review Commission.

"With two exceptions, I did not then, nor do I now, question the increases given to the individuals employed at the township offices," he said.

"The two exceptions were and are: the 44 1/2 percent increases received by the supervisor and clerk. I believe the increases granted to the other employees were justified and that those employees are doing a fine job for the township."

"My concern in this matter rested with the manner in which this process of wage increases was presented to the people of the township."

Thomson said it was "not true" that the salary increases were based on recommendations received from the Wage and Salary Review Commission of which he was an appointed member.

"The people were told by the supervisor that the chairman of the Wage and Salary Review Commission had appeared with the commission's recommendations at a budget study meeting this year.

"The facts are:
— the chairman never appeared before the board this year.

— the commission met only once, and that meeting took place well over a year prior to the formation of the present budget.

— the commission had expired several months prior to its chairman's supposed appearance.

— the wage increases granted the supervisor and the clerk exceeded established guidelines.

Thomson said that people were "misinformed" and that the "entire matter was mishandled and misrepresented."

"This cannot be condoned. This cannot be allowed to continue."

'Proposition needs support'

Wayne County Commissioner Mary E. Dumas has announced a $179,000 award for Northville and Northville Township this year under the County's Community Development Block Grant program that solicits and redistributes federal funds for local public works projects.

Northville was given $80,000 and the Township $99,000. Mrs. Dumas presented contracts for these amounts to Northville Mayor Paul R. Vernon and Township Supervisor Wilson C. Grier. The presentation was July 17.

In Northville the funds will be used for public library addition to city hall, improvements on the Ford Field City Park, and general maintenance and development of the downtown commercial district, said Mrs. Dumas.

The township funds are planned for sewer construction in the Park Garden subdivision, and a planning study for future land use, she said.

Mrs. Dumas cited the block grant program as an example of county effort deserving continued support through renewal of Proposition "A" that will appear on the Aug. 8 primary election ballot.

Proposition "A" is a one-mill five-year property tax levy that has been twice renewed since first approved by voters in 1964. It provides about $14 million for the County General Fund that is already threatened with a potential $12 million deficit.

"Without approval of Proposition 'A', it will be impossible to avoid cutting the level of service from many County programs as important as the block grant program, and probably the block grant program itself would be affected," said Mrs. Dumas.

Under the block grant program, she explained, the County organizes willing communities with less than 50,000 population and applies to the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for funds in behalf of the entire group.

With this year's grant, amounting to more than $5 million for the entire County, the program has obtained over $16 million since its inception four years ago. Thirty of the County's 43 local communities participate in the program.

The funds are granted for local projects such as work on parks and neighborhood playgrounds, senior citizens services, improvements on sidewalks, storm drains and water-mains, demolition of substandard buildings, and land acquisition for public programs.

PROPOSITION 'A' SUPPORTERS — Those on hand at a news conference to announce their support for the county 1-mill continuation which will be on the Aug. 8 primary election ballot in Wayne County included Northville Township Supervisor Wilson C. Grier; Chief Circuit Court Judge Richard D. Dunn, chairman of the citizens committee for Proposition "A"; County Commissioner Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia/Northville); and Dr. E. J. Conklin, director of Wayne County General Hospital.

Although the block grant program is administered by the County Office of Program Development and Coordination, projects for expenditure of the grant funds are decided at the community level after both local and County-wide public hearings to determine priorities.

Both the city and township projects are part of three-year community development objectives, Mrs. Dumas pointed out. The library addition in Northville will eventually involve an additional $90,000 of block grant funds, plus $60,000 of general revenue funds from the City, she said.

In addition, she said, development of the downtown commercial could reach an expenditure of $300,000 of block grant funds in the next few years, which would result in improvements that would also help preserve the older residential neighborhood surrounding the area.

Over the next three years, said Mrs. Dumas, the township sewer project is proposed to require $431,000 of block grant money, and a total of $30,000 strictly for land use study and planning.

'Cooper neglects outlying area'

Doug Ross, Democratic challenger in the 15th District for State Senate, says his opponent in the August 8 primary, State Senator Daniel Cooper, has ignored the western part of the district in Oakland County before and during the current campaign.

Citing the South Lyon areas as an example, Ross said that "as far as I know, my opponent has not come here at all during this campaign or in the months preceding the campaign."

In the South Lyon area alone, Ross said he has spent parts of 18 days on the campaign trail.

"I've spent five days in the City of South Lyon campaigning door to door," Ross said. "I've gone up and down every street in the city. I've attended several evening coffees here, spent an afternoon at Michigan Seamless Tube, was here for the Memorial Day parade and have spoken to senior citizens groups."

Ross said he has a "good sense of what the community looks like" and has met a good portion of its residents.

"My campaign reflects the way I intend to hold office," he said.

If elected, Ross said he intends to open a district office, using private funds, in Oakland County, and that he plans to conduct town meetings in the district every few months.

"I think it is kind of disappointing and an insult that my opponent has not come here and campaigned at all," he said.

He assails price rises

"Ten years ago we would have laughed if someone talked about $100 grocery bills or $200 utility bills," recalled Paul Rosenbaum, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate. "But we're certainly not laughing now."

As head of a family of four, Rosenbaum said he knows as well as anyone that in the past 10 years the prices of basic necessities have skyrocketed. Food is up 80 percent, sugar up 114 percent, natural gas up 100 percent, and coal up 150 percent, he noted.

Unemployment, said Rosenbaum, is one of the major contributors to this high rate of inflation. For every one percent of unemployment, the U.S. Treasurer loses $16 billion — $2 billion in benefits and $14 billion in income taxes.

THE BOARD OF Directors of Security Bancorp, Incorporated, at a regular meeting held on July 25, 1978, declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 30 cents per share. This dividend will be paid to shareholders of record August 15, 1978 for distribution on October 2, 1978.

WHITNEY R. KIMBLE, president and chief executive officer of The Brighton State Bank, was elected to the board of directors of Pacesetter Financial Corporation effective June 30.

Kimble has been with The Brighton State Bank for 25 years and during his career has belonged to many professional, trade and civic associations. Currently, he is serving as second vice-chairman, Group 7, of the Michigan Bankers Association.

He is a member of the American Bankers Association, Robert Morris & Associates, the State of Michigan Ski Area Safety Board, member and past president of the Michigan Bank Examiners Association, and member and past president of the Brighton Area Chamber of Commerce.

In other business Pacesetter Financial Corporation announces a three for two stock split which will result in stockholders receiving three shares for each two shares currently held.

This marks the fourth consecutive year that Pacesetter has had either a stock split or a stock dividend. The new shares will be issued August 15 to stockholders of record August 1.

In addition, Pacesetter has declared a cash dividend of $0.20 per share payable September 15 to stockholders of record September 1. This represents a seven percent increase in the current rate after adjusting for the three for two stock split

The larger cash dividend is a reflection of the higher level of earnings that Pacesetter is experiencing this year. This is the 22nd consecutive cash dividend declared by Pacesetter, which began operations in January, 1973.

Recent affiliation of The Brighton State Bank to Pacesetter Financial Corporation brings the number of Pacesetter bank affiliates to seven and increases total assets to over $730 million. These banking affiliates have a total of 52 offices serving 30 communities.

The affiliates are: First Security Bank of Grand Blanc; First National Bank of Cassopolis; First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, Niles; The Owosso Savings Bank; Security First Bank & Trust Company, Grand Haven; Traverse City State Bank; and The Brighton State Bank.

CLARENCE K. TSAI, M.D. has been appointed to the medical staff at McPherson Community Health Center with privileges in internal medicine, general medicine, emergency medicine and minor surgery. Dr. Tsai has been certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine and is a member of the American College of Emergency Physicians. He recently opened his office in the Davis Professional Building in Brighton.

Dr. Tsai and his wife, Huey Shiang, presently reside in Ypsilanti with their two children, Elena, 4, and Edward, 3. They plan to move their family to the Brighton area as soon as Dr. Tsai can complete the transition of establishing his new practice in Brighton and phasing out his current practice in Ypsilanti. During this period of transition Dr. Tsai plans to gradually increase his office hours in Brighton as he reduces his Ypsilanti office hours.

Dr. Tsai received his post-graduate training at St. Joseph Hospital in Chicago and at Christ Hospital in Oak Lawn, Illinois. He holds medical staff privileges at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti and at Saline Community Hospital. His practice in Brighton will include both general practice and internal medicine.

THE HOUSING MARKET faces increased pressure through the next decade from an accelerated rate of new household formations, according to the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors, (WWOCBR).

"The Census Bureau has reported a graduate decline in the average number of persons per household," said Conrad Jakubowski, WWOCBR president. "This figure has now dropped below two and will dip further with an increased number of young singles, divorced people, widows and widowers maintaining their own residences."

By 1990, he said the national population is expected to grow from about 218 million to 243 million. This 25 million increase shows a growth rate of just over two million a year. At the same time, some 18 million additional households will be formed — about 1.5 million a year. This adds up to changes in both the demand and type of housing that will be required, he added.

"As the current rate of new housing starts, we are hard pressed to meet new demands each year considering the number of dwelling units razed or otherwise destroyed," Jakubowski said. "This factor, coupled with constantly rising construction and land costs and the influence of inflation, will mean that the value of most present homes will continue to rise if they are kept in good repair. Many, which have doubled in value since being built, will sell for twice as much in 1990 dollars."

While the WWOCBR president saw this as being especially true of single-family detached homes, he noted that values of townhouses and condominiums should follow the same path based on current trends.

"The no-frills housing concept introduced a few years ago was a good idea, but apparently the timing was misjudged," he said. "The trend continued in the opposite direction with the average new home increasing in size and containing greater amenities."

"There will always be strong demand for these types of homes but, over the next few years, added emphasis will be placed on supplying smaller, more efficient homes that eliminate wasted space and use less energy. A growing shortage of land for development and using costs for improvement indicate that lot sizes will become smaller and there will be more cluster housing."

Jakubowski sees large lawns giving way to smaller outdoor entertainment areas with more formal landscaping surrounding patios and decks.

"Half of all wives are now working outside the home," he said. "By 1990, it is expected that up to 70 percent of women 25 to 44 years old will hold such jobs. Dual incomes will continue to be a major factor in home purchases, but also will push the demand for homes requiring less maintenance both inside and outside."

Vanity plates:

These owners happily pay $25 extra annually for personalized license

Once you've acquired your own personalized license plate, you're usually willing to pay the extra $25 to the State of Michigan to keep it year after year.

That seems to be the case, anyway, with most of the local residents who have what the Secretary of State's office terms "vanity plates."

Glenn Long, owner of Long Plumbing Company on Main Street has "LONG" on the plate of his Buick. In addition to being a form of advertising, it is an identification, says Long.

"It's an easy way of remembering your license when you travel and stop at a motel, and when you buy gas with a credit card," Long and his wife explain, adding that "people do turn around to see if it's you." The plate was a gift from Long's daughter.

All four members of the Dean Lenheiser family of 20627 Lexington have special license plates, and there's a fifth personalized plate on Lenheiser's vintage Thunderbird that reads "Bird 62."

Accountant Lenheiser's car

plate, logically, reads "TAXES." His wife's station wagon bears a plate with the lettering, "YUM YUM."

Marge Lenheiser laughingly remembers that her husband told her if she didn't want "YUM YUM" he would consider "DUM DUM."

Son Scott's car has a plate that is a carry-over from an earlier car. It reads "PHOOEY" because the old Ford was difficult to start and Scott would exclaim, "Phooey, Dad, it's not going to run."

"GAS GUZ" is the descriptive plate on younger son Reese's Buick Riviera.

Mrs. Lenheiser says the family has had the personalized plates ever since they first were offered by the state. She mentions that she has commented to her husband that it costs him an additional $125 a year, but says he enjoys them enough to get his application in early each year to retain the names.

Applications for the vanity plates have to be sent to the Secretary of State's office in Lansing with the extra $25 by June 30 of each year.

She's wearing great great grandmother's dress

By JEAN DAY

This Friday Lorian Tuggle will be wearing a gown first worn by her great-great-grandmother for her simple wedding about 120 years ago in Italy. Lorian, who is 20, will be among 13 young women in competition to reign as queen of Columbus Day festivities in Detroit.

She will be representing Bounamici Lodge (which means "good friends" in Italian) at the run-off to be held at Hillcrest Country Club in Mt. Clemens. The lodge is one of 60 in Michigan and is affiliated with Italian Sons and Daughters of America. The winner of the event this Friday then will represent the Italian-American ethnic community on Columbus Day, which is October 9.

Lorian is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Tuggle of 19801 Smock Road. When Mrs. Tuggle was 15 years old, she recalls, she wore the wedding dress for a similar ethnic festival. She was then Dolores Zaino. The costume was packed away until taken from her grandmother's home in Franklin now for Lorian to wear.

"Weddings were simple home events then," explains Mrs. Tuggle, showing how the white blouse, which has had to be reconstructed, is worn with a lavender skirt of polished silk. Over the skirt goes a green apron, as, Mrs. Tuggle relates, the bride would have put on the apron after the ceremony to help with refreshments. "Grandmother loved the costume so much that it was one of the few things brought from Europe and saved," she adds.

In the competition girls are asked to wear an ethnic costume as well as a bathing suit. It is more desirable to wear an authentic one than a present-day re-creation, Mrs. Tuggle mentions. The family hopes this will bring Lorian good luck — and the Columbus Day crown.

Lorian Tuggle's dress is adjusted by her mother, Dolores Tuggle Southeastern Michigan Chapter of Mensa.

Mrs. Hines, a librarian with the Northville Public Schools, qualified for Mensa on the basis of scores on her examination for her master's degree. The Hineses point out that Army, Navy, SAT and other tests may be used to qualify. Mensa also gives its own tests. Locally, John Snow supervises tests given at Schoolcraft College for Mensa candidates. He may be contacted about them at 363-4769, or Mrs. Hines says she will be happy to give information.

The Mensa society explains that the word "Mensa" is the Latin word for table, saying it is "a round table society where no one has special precedence — Mensa is protean: Its most visible feature is its diversity. It recruits, not like other societies by persuading people to think as they do, but by scientifically selecting people who are able to think for themselves."

A regional gathering of Mensa with chapters from Michigan, Ohio and Indiana in attendance will be held at the Plymouth-Hilton Inn next April, Hines reports. Other local members of Mensa include Joseph Lukomski, Marguerite Loy and Mark Whittlesey.

Here's an invitation for senior citizens

Northville Senior Citizens are invited to "come for lunch." Mary Schnell, supervisor of the Northville Senior Citizen Lunches served daily in the recreation room of Northville City Hall, says the program is open to all seniors who are more than 60 years old, regardless of financial status. It's not even necessary to live in the community to participate in the federally funded program, she adds.

She's concerned that only about 25-28 persons are taking advantage of the lunches when 50 can be served. There's a 50 cent donation, and reservations must be made each Thursday for the following week by calling 349-0203. The lunch program will be moved to Allen Terrace in the fall, Mrs. Schnell reports, but many are not aware it still is going on throughout the summer at city hall.

Students are camping in Greece

Karen Stasiuk, Spencer Sellas and Valissa Tsoucaris, all 13 years old and students at Meads Mill as well as residents of Edenderry, left July 31 for New York City on the first leg of a trip to Greece. For three weeks they will be attending a summer travel camp, Ionian Village, on the Ionian Sea sponsored by the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of the Americas.

As Valissa's brother, Stephen, did last year, the young people will be visiting archaeological sites, Athens and ancient Olympia as well as learning ethnic dancing and speaking Greek. Most of their fellow campers will be from the United States, Spencer's mother explains, as will their counselors. The roster they have been sent indicates, however, they are the only Michigan participants. One of the unusual activities planned is learning how to frame Icons, which will be part of their religious training, she adds. They'll also have traditional camp activities, swimming and doing crafts.

Heather, Jay born in July

A granddaughter, Heather July, born to their son, Richard McCarthy, SRA, and his wife in Bangor, Maine, was the reason for a flying trip east taken last week by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McCarthy, former Northville residents of Clement Road now living on Lake Angela in New Hudson.

Their son is a member of the 765 Radar Group stationed at Charleston, Maine. His wife is the former Deborah Gates of Bangor.

Their baby was born July 19 with a birth weight of seven pounds, two ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Emerson Gazlay of West Canfield in Detroit's Historic District, announce the birth of Jay Emerson Gazlay July 12 at Hutzel Hospital. He weighed seven pounds.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gazlay of Northville and Mrs. Cynthia Forward of Lathrup.

Mrs. Jay S. Pettitt of Benzon, Michigan, is the paternal great-grandmother while Jack Allen of Gaylord is the maternal great-grandfather.

Kinder Care carnival's benefit for dystrophy

Games, fun and prizes are promised at the Kinder Care Carnival being held from 1-6 p.m. today (Wednesday) at the Center at 20675 Silver Spring Drive as a benefit for the fight against muscular dystrophy.

Pat Wiggins, director of the Northville center at the Eight Mile Road entrance to Highland Lakes, explains that Kinder Care Centers nationwide will be sponsoring special events this summer with all proceeds to go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

She stressed that a special benefit to Kinder Care children is that they are learning about helping others through active participation. They will be making the games and decorations as well as operating booths. The public is invited to attend.

Children attending the carnival will be able to obtain a kit so they may hold their own carnivals to earn money for the association. They are hoping for a good attendance, says Ms. Wiggins, "so that one day a cure will be found for muscular dystrophy and related neuromuscular diseases."

Right now is the time to remove spots and spills from your furnishings and rugs to keep your home fresh and sparkling. Don't let those stains settle before taking prompt and appropriate action to remove them. If it's alcohol, one teaspoon of white vinegar to one quart of warm water applied directly on the besotted area will clear up the problem. Let it dry and vacuum up. The same solution will work for blood with dry cleaning solvent applied as a second step and then vacuumed. All traces should then disappear. For light cigarette burns on the carpet, try snipping off the scorched area, then apply the vinegar and water solution. What it takes is some know how and prompt action to rescue your furnishings from household accidents and permanent damage.

MRS. JOSEPH J. VAN HEYDE II

MR. AND MRS. TIMOTHY ANGUS SKINNER

Lou Ann Haynie marries

Lou Ann Haynie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Haynie of 44020 Cottingham Road, added a special bit of sentiment to her marriage to Timothy Angus Skinner July 8 by wearing a traditional gown of off-white satin and Chantilly lace belonging to a close friend of the family, Mrs. Douglas Aberle of Southfield.

Mrs. Aberle and her husband had recently celebrated the 35th anniversary of their wedding. Her gown was fashioned with long sleeves and a sweetheart neckline with skirt extending into a chapel train. With it Lou Ann wore a fingertip off-white veil of illusion and lace.

Her bouquet was white carnations, yellow roses, white gladioli and baby's breath.

The double-ring ceremony took place at 4 p.m. at Antioch Lutheran Church of Farmington with the Reverend William C. Lindholm officiating. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Eileen Stewart of Tampa, Florida, and Thomas Skinner of Detroit.

Wedding music was supplied by Mrs. Barbara Teachout, organist, and Miss Debbie Shoupe and Randy Wilcher of Northville, friends of the couple, who sang "The Wedding Song."

Matron of honor was Mrs. Reid Harp-ster, the former Julie Scott of Northville, for whom Lou Ann had served as honor maid at her wedding a month ago. She wore a burgundy-hue gown and carried an arrangement of baby's breath, white carnations, and yellow roses centered with a coral rose. Her hair piece was burgundy and yellow flowers.

Donna Dumas of Farmington, Christine Brownlee of Northville and Linda Miller of Livonia were bridesmaids in gowns matching that of the matron of honor. Their bouquets were yellow and white flowers.

Dale Stewart, brother of the bridegroom, flew in from Tampa with his wife, Sherry, to be best man.

Ushers were Charles Rosin of Detroit, a friend of the bridegroom since childhood, and Mark Nelson Haynie and Carl Barton Haynie, brothers of the bride.

Mark flew in from a new job in California, and Carl came home from Northern Michigan where he is a counselor at a YMCA camp.

A dinner reception followed for 93 guests and the wedding party at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. A highlight was a six-layer wedding cake that was the gift of a co-worker of the bride, Tina Helmski.

The guest list included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Seneca B. Burchard of Edgewater Park, New Jersey; her great-aunt, Dr. Mary A. Burchard of Jamestown, New York; grandmother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Anne Baker of Detroit; and his aunt and cousins, Mrs. Joanna Cartwright and family of Lincoln Park. His mother was here from Florida.

A wedding trip followed to Niagara Falls and New Jersey, the trip east being a wedding present from the bride's grandmother.

The couple owned and showed horses and met at riding stables and horse shows four years ago.

The bride is a 1977 graduate of Northville High School and now is attending Oakland Community College School of Nursing while working part-time at Sears in Twelve Oaks Mall.

Her husband attended Western High School in Detroit and now is a pressman with News Printing, Incorporated, in Northville.

They are living in Independence Green Apartments of Farmington.

Patricia Sonk wed to classmate

Patricia Eileen Sonk and Joseph J. Van Heyde II, who met as students at University of Notre Dame, were married in a double-ring ceremony at 7 p.m. June 17 in Mercy Chapel in Farmington Hills.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley F. Sonk of 18297 Edenberry Drive. Her bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Helen M. Van Heyde of Columbus, Ohio, and the late Judge Joseph J. Van Heyde.

Father Gerard Hadad of Our Lady of Victory Church officiated at the service in which the bride's parents gave her in marriage.

She wore a gown of embroidered organza over taffeta fashioned with portrait neckline and long sleeves ending with ruffles at the wrists. The skirt extended into a sweep. The bride wore a picture hat of the matching embroidered organza.

Her wedding bouquet of all-white roses with baby's breath tied with white ribbons was a duplicate of the bouquet her mother carried as a bride.

Cheryl Sonk was her cousin's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Janice Gutterman, Peggy Shelly and Inge Knott. Junior bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Julie Sonk, and Jennifer Pilliod.

They wore green and white organza print gowns with narrow straps and carried white roses.

J. Stephen Van Heyde was his brother's best man. Ushers were Bob Dalpos, Mike Desmond, Jack Brabeneck, Tom King, Thomas and Hugh Sonk, brothers of the bride.

After a reception at Meadowbrook Country Club, the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Hawaii.

The bride is a graduate of Ohio Dominican College in Columbus, Ohio, and is in bank management at Banc/Ohio National Bank. Her husband currently is a second year law student at Ohio State University.

They will be making their home in Columbus.

Couples speak vows in church ceremonies

Brundage wedding has yellow-white theme

Kelly Kay Brundage wore a short-sleeve gown of sheer white organza over taffeta for her marriage to Timothy James Casteel at 2 p.m. June 17 in First United Methodist Church of Northville.

The Reverend Guenther C. Branstner officiated at the double-ring ceremony for which the altar was decorated with two baskets of white daisies and yellow carnations. Yellow bows with silk daisies and dried baby's breath marked the family pews.

The bride, daughter of Robert and Shirley Brundage of 42615 Savoy Court, was given in marriage by her father. Her husband is the son of George and Maxine Casteel of New Hudson.

High neckline of the bride's gown was accented with silk Venice lace. White lace daisies edged the hemline and sleeves. She wore a large white hat with white ribbon streamers.

Silk yellow roses and white daisies with dried baby's breath encircled with white lace and tied with white ribbons formed the bridal bouquet.

Terri Brundage was her sister's maid of honor in a yellow taffeta gown featuring seven layers of ruffles at the hem, white lace trim at the short sleeves and neckline, and an embroidered bodice of white daisies. Trailing yellow ribbons decorated her large white hat. She wore white lace gloves and carried a bouquet of silk white daisies and baby's breath.

Another sister, Jeri Brundage, was bridesmaid in ensemble matching the honor maid's but with a yellow daisy bouquet.

Sherrie and Carrie ZeBelle of Muncie, Indiana, identical twin cousins of the bride, were flower girls in yellow gowns with lace ruffles. They carried white wicker baskets of flowers with yellow bows.

Carrying out the white and yellow wedding theme, the bridegroom wore a white tuxedo. Best man Ron Doyle of New Hudson wore yellow as did Randy Casteel of Hershey, Pennsylvania, the groomsmen. Ushers were Roger Casteel of Westland and Joe Mason of Northville.

Alice Brooks was organist and accompanied the vocal and instrumental soloists. Don Hawk of Lima, Ohio, was vocalist, singing "If," "The Wedding Song" and "We've Only Just Begun." Randy Casteel played the trumpet processional, "Trumpet Tune in D Major." Recessional was "Trumpet Voluntary in D Major" and was played by Ms. Brooks.

A reception in the church social room followed. Cory Sea of Ann Arbor provided reception music for 150 guests. The guest list included friends and relatives from Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Northville High School. Her husband was graduated in 1975 from NHS and is employed at Bradford Production, Incorporated, in Southfield. The new Mrs. Casteel works at Hudson's Twelve Oaks Mall.

After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Toronto, the newlyweds are living in their new home in Novi.

The bride's sister, Martha Iams, was her maid of honor. She wore a peach peau de soie dress and carried a dried arrangement of peach and yellow flowers.

David Thomas, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, of Lakewood, Colorado, was best man. John, Joseph and George Iams, brothers of the bride, all of South Bend, ushered.

Guitar and violin music at the wedding were by Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Leech and Douglas Gondek.

Her husband is a graduate of Methacton High School, Fairview Village, Pennsylvania, and Bloomsburg State College where he was a member of Kappa Kappa Psi honorary band fraternity.

Colleen Deibert speaks vows at St. Paul's

Colleen Annette Deibert came home to the church she had attended since childhood for her marriage to David Eugene Beyer at 6 p.m. Saturday, July 1.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Deibert of 9825 Napier Road. Her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beyer of Audubon, Pennsylvania. They met while both were teaching school in Loudoun County, Virginia.

The Reverend Charles Boerger officiated at the double ring service in St. Paul's Lutheran Church at the altar decorated with palms, mum plants and spray bouquets of daisies, mums and gladioli on either side of the center cross. Aisle markers over the crosses were lilies of the valley and white ribbon bows.

The ceremony included the symbolic lighting of a single candle from two held by the couple.

Solist Rachel Price, a friend from Virginia, sang "Wedding Song."

As she was given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white organza gown with embroidered lace detail on the bodice which featured wide, angel sleeves. The skirt, edged with scalloped lace, extended into a full cathedral train. Her three-tier veil was fingertip length.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of gardenias, white rosebuds, ivy and baby's breath.

Denise (Stern) Wegner, a friend of the bride's throughout their school years, was matron of honor in a blouson, floor-length gown in a pastel blue, green and lilac print styled with long sleeves. She carried a lace-cuffed nosegay of daisies, blue carnations and baby's breath with deep purple ribbons.

Bridesmaids wore matching ensembles. They were the bride's sisters, Lorrie Deibert and Kristin Ramsey, and the bridegroom's sister, Patricia Beyer.

Keith Mueller, ring bearer, wore a blue tuxedo, as did the men in the wedding party.

Kinder-Care...Where the Fun Centers on Learning

Forms are available throughout the year at local offices.

The Northville office at 42145 Seven Mile (in Northville Township's Northville Mall by the A & P) has applications on hand but keeps no count of how many are requested.

Lee Belanger of Belanger, Incorporated, on Cady Street and Water Wheel Car Wash, is one who can attest that the annual deadline for application is absolute.

"We have plates reading WHEEL 1," "WHEEL 2," "WHEEL 3," and "WHEEL 4," he recalls, adding, "they are great as wheels are our business, but my wife forgot to send in the application last month."

Four days later she discovered it and called the Lansing office. They told her "no way" so we won't have them for 1979, but we've already sent in for the next year."

The WHEEL plates are on cars of Lee and James Belanger and Vi and Nancy Belanger. The firm manufactures polishing and buffing wheels.

Gloria Teeter says her family's personalized plates also are "a little bit of advertising for what we do."

Her vehicle plates read "WEAVE" on her van while her husband John's Austin-Mini has "WEAVE 2."

"It's not because of the way I drive," laughs Mrs. Teeter, "but because I teach weaving, although I do get teased."

The Teeters operate the Traditional Handcrafts Shop in Mary Alexander Court.

Their daughter, Vikki, rides about town in her Sprite with "VIKKI" plates. Since graduating in June from Northville High, she has been working at Hickory Farms Store in Twelve Oaks Mall.

Another resident with his name on his personal plate is William Zapke. It's "ZAPKE" on his white Eldorado Cadillac. Mrs. Zapke says her husband has retained the plate yearly since they first were issued. She concurs, noting that having the name plate is fun. On a trip to Florida, she recalls, they received much attention in the South with gas station operators making comments like, "Wow, that's the weirdest!"

An exception to the satisfied owners of vanity plates may be one Northville resident who had received his plates first as a gift but did not spend his own $25 later to keep them.

"Sometimes," he observed, "you don't want people to know where you are!"

It's VIKKI on Vikki Teeter's sports car

Gloria Teeter likes plate that's "a bit of advertising for what we do"

John Teeter's plate is self-explanatory

"What can a Chiropractor do for a headache?"

My name is Gunter, and this is my experience with Dr. Albert Reiersen, D.C. While this would help, but it still hung on. I was even having trouble looking out at the bright sunlight outside. After about an hour with no relief, my friend Ann suggested her daughter Denise drive me to Dr. Al's house. I told her I didn't have a headache, but a headache. She just urged Denise to take me anyway, so I went along with her thinking, "What can a Chiropractor do for a headache?" Well, when we got there, he proceeded to examine me, and found out I had what he then called "a cranial subluxation." I might add he also told me that the rest of my spine was in quite good shape. Anyway, he adjusted my cranials and I couldn't believe it, but before getting up from the examining table, my headache was gone. I might add that this condition has not occurred since then.

"Lower Back Pain"
For the past six years, I have been to a number of doctors seeking relief for my low back pain. My problem was not getting better. After Dr. Reiersen analyzed my x-rays and showed me how to rehabilitate my muscles, my lower back pain began to feel stronger. Last week for the first time in three years I played thirty-six holes of golf.

Julep Cup cover girl

This picture of Shelley Millard, 18-year-old daughter of Fred and Shirley Millard of 49041 Ridge Court, on Hobby Horse Hunter, her Morgan, was used on the cover of the program for the Kentucky Julep Cup, Kentucky's only all-Morgan show held June 22-24 at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center by the Kiwanis Club of St. Matthews. Hobby Horse won two seconds at the show but sustained a quarter crack, so could not be shown later. The horse will be in the Mid-Atlantic All-Morgan Show in Pennsylvania later this month, the Millards report. Shelley, a 1978 honor graduate of Northville High, was honored at a delayed graduation party given by her parents last Sunday. She is recipient of the Eastern Michigan University Campus Leader and the Michigan Competitive awards. She plans to come home weekends from EMU this fall to care for her two Morgan horses. She's enrolled at EMU in a legal secretary course that she hopes will lead to a business administration degree.

Jews for Jesus speaker on Open Door program

Al Brickner, of the nationally known Jews for Jesus organization, will be special guest speaker at Open Door Outreach Center Thursday, August 10, at 7:30 p.m.

Open Door Outreach Center is located at 145 North Center in Northville.

Jews for Jesus, under the leadership of Moishe Rosen, is the fastest growing organization of its kind. From an original group of eight, the Jews for Jesus staff has expanded to include over 70 full time field workers.

According to Rosen, their message is that "Jewishness and Christ go hand-in-hand. When people tell us that Judaism and Christianity are mutually exclusive, I encourage them to take a better look at history. Jesus was Jewish. His earliest followers were Jewish."

"We want other Jewish people to know that belief in the Messiahship of Jesus is a viable option."

Jews for Jesus have taken this message to key cities across the country and overseas.

Al Brickner and his wife, Lois, both were raised in Jewish homes and feel a strong commitment to their religious and cultural heritage.

At the same time, they are believers in Jesus, concerned with sharing the Gospel message with their own people.

Brickner has been a believer in Jesus for more than 25 years.

Before joining the staff of Jews for Jesus in 1976, Brickner served as the general director of Israel's Remnant, Inc., a Michigan-based Jewish evangelistic outreach.

He also edited "Ha'Or," a paper devoted to reaching Jewish people with the message of the Messiah and is an accomplished lecturer and speaker.

The Brickners' daughter, Martha Ruth, has been on the staff of Jews for Jesus for two years, and has traveled as a member of the New Jerusalem Players, one of their Mobile Evangelistic Teams.

The Brickners also have a son, David, who studies at Boston University.

CAN FUNERAL DECISIONS BE MADE WISELY UNDER STRESS?

Not always—which is why we recommend planning your own funeral. Caught up in grief and stress, some people may be emotionally unable to cope with making funeral arrangements effectively. They may be tempted to proceed with more costly arrangements than they should.

It should be noted that the psychological value of the funeral has no relationship to its costs. Planning such arrangements may eliminate the possibility of such over-spending. Planning can be accomplished in advance of need, in an atmosphere uncharged with the emotionally distressing circumstances of bereavement.

For details of planning funerals, call us—or stop by for literature. Your questions and comments on this and other subjects are welcome—in private or publicly through this column.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION

At a session of said Court held in the Courthouse Tower, in the City of Pontiac, in the County of Oakland, State of Michigan on July 14, 1978.

The above matter having come before this Court upon the filing of a petition by the City of Novi regarding the laying out, establishing and paving of Nine Mile Road, in and through the City of Novi, Oakland County, Michigan, as more particularly described in said petition, stating that the private property described therein is necessary for a hearing thereon to determine the date upon which the petitioner may take possession of such private property and the date for the impaneling of a jury to determine the just compensation for the taking of such property, now,

On Motion of LAMPERT, FRIED & LEVITT, P.C., Attorneys, IT IS ORDERED that the description of the property and names of the parties in interest as set forth in the petition filed in this cause are incorporated by reference as part of this Order and that personal service of both Order and Petition shall be made upon each party in interest in accordance with the provisions of Act 295 of the Public Acts of 1966.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that where personal service cannot be made in accordance with the provisions of Act 295 of the Public Acts of 1966, a copy of the Order including a copy of the description of the property and parties in interest contained in the Petition be published in the Novi News, a newspaper published and circulated in this county, at least once in each week for three successive weeks prior to the date of the hearing as hereinafter set forth.

2 Novi residents square off for Oakland commission

Hoyer...

Challenging incumbent Republican 24th District Oakland County Commissioner Dennis Murphy in the August 8 primary will be Mrs. Martha Hoyer, a member of the Novi City Council.

The winner of the Murphy — Hoyer contest gains the right to meet Democratic candidate Lew Coy in the November election. Coy held the commissioner's post before Murphy was elected two years ago.

Mrs. Hoyer has campaigned on the issue of Murphy's visibility in the district and has commented on his attendance record, which has been recorded as the second worst among the 27 commissioners in 1977.

"I feel I will devote more time to the job," Mrs. Hoyer states. "I have the time available to devote. I will be in constant contact with not only the public officials, but also the people in my district.

"I feel I can do a good job representing the citizens of the 24th District. I can be vocal if I need to be, or I can establish a rapport and work with people, whichever way I feel is needed to get the job done."

Mrs. Hoyer points to her own attendance record in her three years on the Novi City Council where she has missed only one meeting and states she would continue to attend as many meetings as possible on the county level.

Mrs. Hoyer has also charged that not enough of the funds on the county level are coming back to the 24th District.

"I feel the 24th District is a step-child," Mrs. Hoyer states. "It doesn't receive the funds that are given to the northern section of the district."

Mrs. Hoyer says that the 24th District, on a percentage basis, does not receive as much monies as do those areas of the county which are more densely populated.

As an example, she cites the attention given to the City of Novi last winter concerning the maintenance of roads. Mrs. Hoyer says the city was not given the service or manpower that was extended to other areas of the county.

Novi officials blasted members of the Oakland County Road Commission for lack of attention to maintenance of county roads within the city. At the time, 24th District Commissioner Murphy defended the Road Commission, saying that nothing could have kept the roads in good shape.

No promise is given by Mrs. Hoyer that she will improve the level of maintenance of roads in 24th District cities, but she does say she will seek improvement in that area.

Mrs. Hoyer has also stated she will establish regular office hours in the various communities in the 24th District.

"I think the commissioner should regularly check in with the communities in the district," she states.

Mrs. Hoyer says she would have voted against the county pullout from the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMATA). She says she would not be opposed to local communities picking up a share of the cost of operating the SEMTA Lakes Area Special bus service until the state OCART program takes over in October.

The SEMTA bus has been running into problems recently, since local communities have balked at a request from SEMTA for partial funding of the program.

On the need for additional roads in the area, Mrs. Hoyer favors construction of the original M-275 freeway over the several alternatives that have been introduced.

"I think a north-south artery is definitely needed," Mrs. Hoyer says. "I personally favor the construction of M-275 because the alternatives I've seen do just as much damage to the environment as M-275 would."

She adds that the area seems just to get "patch jobs" instead of new construction.

Mrs. Hoyer also expresses concern at the small area forecasts released by the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

She says none of the seven alternate forecasts are acceptable to her, because all of them place a great deal of emphasis on curtailing growth in the suburbs. She says SEMCOG seems to be "getting a bit dictatorial."

On the Oakland County Organized Crime Task Force, Mrs. Hoyer says "It seems to be quite effective in making headlines for (Oakland County Prosecutor) L. Brooks (Patterson)." She says the effectiveness and need of the force should be justified through figures before it is given funding for the next year.

Mrs. Hoyer supports the county move toward resource recovery — the concept of recycling waste products.

"Something will be needed as the population continues to expand," she says.

She adds the program may cost more to implement if county officials put it off for too long.

Besides her three years on the Novi City Council, Mrs. Hoyer previously served two years on the Novi Planning Board.

Murphy...

"I feel I have done a good job so far," says 24th District Oakland County Commissioner Dennis Murphy, "and I hope the people will vote for me so I can continue to do a good job."

Murphy, who serves as vice-president of the Bank of the Commonwealth in Detroit, faces Novi City Councilwoman Martha Hoyer in the Republican primary August 8. The winner of the Murphy-Hoyer contest faces Democratic candidate Lew Coy in November.

Murphy says he has been very active in winning additional programs for citizens of the 24th district from the county and says the district's share of funds from the county has steadily increased since he took office two years ago.

Murphy points to tax dollars at work in the county Emergency Medical Service program which should get underway soon, the senior citizens' lunch program and work on the Greenway Drain as just some of the areas for which he has been at least partly responsible.

"It's obvious we're getting a good share," Murphy says. "Basically, I'm greedy for the district and I'd like to see more, but obviously we're making some headway. We're making gains."

Murphy says he has attempted to make as many county commissioner meetings as possible and considers himself as well-informed on the issues as any of the other 26 commissioners.

He says every city official in his district realizes he is available and is willing to work on solving any problems they might have.

Murphy says he has maintained a low profile throughout his two-year term.

"I get things done," Murphy says. "I don't go around and brag about it."

Murphy says he has been charged with a low-visibility during his term, but he maintains that charges arise only from the fact that he does not choose to publicize his accomplishments on the board.

The challenge from Mr. Hoyer has irritated Murphy, who claims that Mrs. Hoyer has never been involved in Republican politics before.

"I would classify her as a come-lately Republican," Murphy says. "To my knowledge, she's never done party work, at least not at the county and local level."

Murphy says he would expect a true Republican to view his record and allow him to seek the nomination unopposed.

"It baffles me more than anything else," Murphy maintains.

Murphy has been active in the fight to get the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMATA) to assume total funding of the Lakes Area Special bus service, rather than allowing SEMTA to get shares from each of the communities involved in the program.

Murphy says Oakland County already pays a tax to the state to fund SEMTA and the community share for the service would represent double taxation

Murphy favors withdrawal from the SEMTA system if no "significant strides" are made in the next few weeks.

SEMATA is employing "scare tactics" to win the local funding, Murphy says, and he is prepared to take legal action if necessary against the agency.

On the issue of the Task Force on Organized Crime, Murphy holds an open stance. While admitting the concept of an organized crime task force is "sound," Murphy adds there is a question of its effectiveness and how much of the county's money should be expended on that purpose.

DENNIS MURPHY

YMCA plans 'gifted' class

An eight-day summer class geared to "the accelerated and creative-and-capable student" is a first-time offering of the Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA, Janet Luce, program director, announced this week.

For students in first through eighth grades, the class will be held August 9-18 at Starkweather School in the Old Town section of Plymouth.

Those attending are to bring sack lunches and will be participating in unusual field trips, including visits to a cemetery, hospital, botanical gardens and other sites.

Rick Olenchak, a Ph.D. candidate with two master's degrees and coordinator of the Plymouth TAG program, and Marilyn Finch, a TAG teacher, will direct the program.

Fee is $25 for Y members and $30 for non-members.

It is limited to 25 students.

The difficulty comes in trying to determine its effectiveness, Murphy says, because there are few readily available statistics by which to judge the task force.

Murphy also questions whether the task force is not being used to further Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson's political future. Patterson is running for the United States Senate.

On the M-275 controversy, Murphy supports the construction of a north-south route with limited access.

"The freeway may, or may not, be the answer," Murphy says.

He adds he thinks there has been too much discussion on the project and says he opposes the idea of placing the question of whether a road should be built on the August primary ballot.

"It will only muddy the water again," Murphy says. "I don't think voters will know what they are voting on."

Murphy is not alarmed with forecasts released by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) concerning population projections for communities in the 24th District, particularly Novi.

The figures show an alarmingly slow growth rate for Novi, in direct contrast with predictions of city officials. The forecasts are important, because they would be used in deciding whether federal grants would be approved for a city.

Murphy says he believes there will be changes in the forecasts as more cities register their concern.

Murphy also favors the fixed millage proposal which will be placed on the August primary ballot. The proposal, which would set a limit of 16.46 mills on taxes collected from the county, townships, and school districts, would "save a lot of the duplicate budget process."
