TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Fruits of labor

All those months of hard labor are just now starting to pay dividends at Foreman Orchards where picking of "early apples" is underway. Among the early varieties are Melba and transparent. And according to Lester Bowling, Ralph Foreman's right hand man (in the tree), the next to be picked "about the 25th" of this month will be the wealthy. But the really big crops of apples, ranging from northern spies to the red delicious are still a few weeks away — just as is the cider press operation of Foreman Orchards. Meanwhile, workmen are hurrying to complete the new facilities of Parmenter's Northville Cider Mill that will replace the buildings destroyed by fire last winter. See stories about Foreman Orchards and Parmenter's on Pages 2 and 3-A.

School board voting analyzed weight on split decisions.

The survey, begun last year by then board Secretary Christopher Johnson, indicates some predictable patterns.

Veteran board members John Hobart and Karen Wilkinson, for instance, voted the same on more issues than any other combination. The two newest board members, administration critic James Lewis and Charles Peltz, had a relatively high level of agreement.

But there appeared to be few, if any, ironclad bonds. Peltz, for instance, agreed more often with Johnson and new board President Douglas Whitaker than he did with Lewis.

Johnson, now the board's vice-president, tabulated all 40 of the roll call — or non-unanimous — votes from July to June and then computed how often a board members agreed with each other.

Among his findings:

—John Hobart, who was president during the year, and Mrs. Wilkinson, who was treasurer, voted the same way 77 percent of the time, the highest among all board members.

—Mrs. Wilkinson and Johnson had the lowest level of agreement, voting the same way 40 percent of the time.

—New President Whitaker was the board member most often on the same wave length with his colleagues. Only the Hobart-Wilkinson rating was higher than the ratings Whitaker had with Hobart, Sliger, Peltz and Wilkinson.

—Two of the most disagreeable board members were Lewis and Johnson, agreeing more than half the time with only two other board members. The two didn't vote in a bloc, however, since they only agreed between themselves 46 percent of the time.

The average number of times that each board member agreed with each other works out like this:

Whitaker, 63.7 percent; Hobart 59.4 percent; Wilkinson 59 percent; Peltz 58.4 percent; Sliger 54.3 percent; Lewis 50.7 percent; and Johnson 50.2 percent.

Lewis did not run for re-election this year. He was replaced by Richard Barron.

The individual voting comparisons are:

Hobart-Wilkinson 77 percent, Whitaker-Hobart 75, Whitaker-Sliger 70, Whitaker-Peltz 68, Whitaker-Wilkinson 66, Johnson-Peltz 64, Wilkinson-Sliger 63, Peltz-Lewis 63, Wilkinson-Peltz 58, Hobart-Sliger 55, Whitaker-Johnson 55, Hobart-Peltz 53, Whitaker-Lewis 52, Johnson-Hobart 50; Lewis-Sliger 49, Lewis-Hobart 48, Lewis-Whitaker 48, Lewis-Johnson 46, Peltz-Sliger 46, Johnson-Sliger 46, Johnson-Wilkinson 40.

Township board asks for change in Beacon Woods

Residents of Whipple Estates and Taft Colony won a victory in their long-standing battle against the proposed North Beacon Woods subdivision at the Northville Township Board of Trustees meeting Thursday nights.

Armed with 299 signatures on a petition opposing the proposed subdivision, residents succeeded in getting the board to ask the developer, Angelo Spagnoli, to change the proposed site plan for the 166-lot subdivision.

Trustee Dr. John Swienkowski said the board should find out why they had been told the developer could not change his plans. He then moved that the board support the petition by contacting the developer and asking him to make the subdivision's open space more centrally located.

The petition contends that the proposed site plan does not meet the open space requirements of the zoning ordinance because the proposed green area is a swampy area located in the southwest corner of the development.

The petition also states the lots are "grossly under-sized in an R-2 zone" because of the open space option and lot averaging option.

The township's open space plan allows the developer to reduce the size of lots if some of the land is reserved for park-like open space.

Trustee James L. Nowka supported Swienkowski's motion and received agreement from the board to question the Northville Township Planning Commission about the reasoning employed in permitting lot averaging while reserving a swampy area for the open space.

All board members except Supervisor Wilson Grier voted in favor of Swienkowski's motion.

The action came after Whipple Estates and Taft Colony residents aired their opposition to the subdivision, complaining that township officials have turned a deaf ear to their objections.

"You're not representing the citizenry, and you've made no demands of the developer," said Marilyn Donovan, one of the spearheaders of the petition drive which gained support from other township residents. "We're not alone in our feelings."

Many '77 grads mark NHS low

Three of five Northville graduates responding to a state survey said their high school training did not adequately prepare them for their first year out of school.

The Vocational-Technical Education Survey, prepared by the Michigan Department of Education, was sent to all of Northville's 1977 school year graduates. Some 177, slightly more than half, responded.

On these, 68 — or 38 percent — said their high school education was "excellent" or "good" for their present activities. The rest marked "fair" or "poor."

The response was similar to the survey of 1976 graduates in which 60 of 151 respondents, or 40 percent, answered "excellent" or "good" to the same question.

Curriculum Coordinator Michael Burley, who directed the survey for Northville, reminded the school board Monday night that the students graduated in 1977, not 1978.

"A lot of things have changed," he said. Those changes may be reflected in next year's survey, he added.

The high school was the target of much criticism and the home of low morale in 1977. In 1978, new Principal George Aune enjoyed a much more positive year.

Burley also noted that in the last two years all students have been asked to complete the survey. From 1973 to 1975, the survey's first three years, only vocational education students were surveyed.

As the number of students queried increased, said Burley, the number of positive responses went down.

Burley said he used double mailings and phone calls to encourage former students to return the questionnaires. His efforts worked. Northville had the highest percentage of responses in Wayne County.

Other highlights of the survey: —Nearly 60 percent, or 105 students, said they were employed but only 12, or seven percent, said they used school training "a lot" or "some" of the time.

—Nearly 70 percent of the students responding were in college, a slight decrease from the year before. Only 21 percent, less than half that of the previous year's graduates, said their high school training was used "a lot" or "some" of the time in their major area of study.

—Nearly two-thirds of the responding graduates who took vocational courses at Northville went on to college. The percentage was not much lower than that of the non-vocational students in college.

—Relatives and friends played the biggest role in helping students with their post-high school plans. Of those responding, 90 percent said relatives or friends were a source of help for jobs

NEWS BRIEFS

HIGH SCHOOL students must pick up their registration materials at the high school office (any weekday from 7:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.) before they go through arena scheduling later this month. Registration day is August 28 for seniors, August 29 for juniors and August 30 for sophomores, but the materials should be obtained before then.

NOT ONLY does the city council disagree with a Village of Holly resolution supporting the so-called "Anderson Bill," it disagrees so strongly that in its own resolution council voiced opposition to the bill that would require the return of "unclaimed portions" of bottle deposits to the state. Council members see the bill as confiscatory in nature and generally unfair to business, which already faces "big problems" with the soon-to-be implemented throwaway ban in Michigan.

CITY COUNCIL will take up the planned sale of three acres of land, adjacent to Allen Terrace senior citizens' apartment complex south of the high school, at its second regular meeting of the month on Monday. Last week, council was unable to reach a decision (it voted 2-2) on the sale of the land to the lone bidder, Professional Contractors, Inc., for $90,300.

will be returned to the farm this week where it will be unfrozen and bottled for sale until this year's crop comes in.

"People are always asking how I can have 'good cider' early in August and early September, and I tell 'em it's a little Foreman secret."

Although he's an outdoorsman, Ralph says, "I love working in here (press room and sales area). I don't know what it is, but the crowds and the bustle excite me. And it helps, too, because people like to see and talk with the owner when they come in. My problem is that I'm often so busy I haven't got much time to say much more than 'hello'."

The Foreman Orchards owner has his fingers crossed in hopes that Parmenter's Northville Cider Mill opens this year following last winter's blaze that destroyed Parmenter's

"We're competitors, but frankly I couldn't handle all of the cider business myself. It's just too much, especially on weekends. Plus, don't forget, cider making is really the smallest part of my business. Growing and selling fruit is the big one."

"I think the really important thing about our operations," he beams proudly, "is that both of us see our operations as assets to the community."

Parmenter's new cider mill to open soon

Vern Bodker wiped beads of sweat from his forehead, smiled, waved his hand at the front of the new building and said, "It's going to be nip and tuck but we'll be on stream."

He's pitching in with the construction crew that bustles to complete the new Parmenter's Northville Cider Mill in time for a September opener.

"I'm confident we'll be in business on September 2," the owner said. "Our presses will begin operating that Saturday... the same day we'll start selling."

If he succeeds, Bodker will have done what many thought would be an impossibility late last year when flames consumed one of the oldest, continuously operating businesses in Northville.

Success will mean the unbroken seasonal operation will have been continued into the 107th year at its Base Line location.

Owner of the business for the past 11 years since buying it from the last operating Parmenter family member, Bodker was wiped out last December by the early morning fire.

Not only was much of the main building destroyed but others were sufficiently damaged to require their removal.

Destroyed, too, was much of the old equipment, including the historic old presses.

Authorities labeled it the work of an arson as they did several other fires in the area.

Shocked by the loss of this important piece of Northville's history and facing a financial drain, Bodker pledged almost immediately to rebuild

The new facility won't be as large as the older one, admitted Bodker, "but it's going to be a credit to the community... I'm certain of that. I just couldn't afford to duplicate the size of the original."

Although the cider mill will be a new one, it will retain its historic ties to the past. What's more, Bodker has deliberately chosen a configuration for the new building that reflects the rural past.

It's barn-like appearance will feature a board and batten exterior that will be stained "barn red" in color.

Having 4,000 square feet of floor space, it will feature a large paneled sales area in the front and facilities in the rear for presses, for caramel apple and peanut butter-making equipment, and for doughnut making.

It also will contain a large walk-in cooler for storage of fresh cider.

The entire second level of the building will be used for storage.

Public lavatories are especially designed to accommodate handicapped persons and, said Bodker, "that's important because a large number of our customers come from area hospitals."

The front sales area will be smaller than the former facilities but the owner is confident it will be functional.

Concerning the new presses, Bodker is both excited and apprehensive. There's no doubt, he admitted, that the old-fashioned presses were an attraction. With the new all-stainless steel equipment, the presses will be far more

80 leaving for band camp at Hale

Northville High school's marching band, pom-pom squad and flag corps will be leaving for band camp Monday at 7 a.m. from the high school parking lot.

The contingent, 80 strong, will spend a week at camp Mahn-go-tash-see, a YMCA camp in Hale near Tawas.

During the week that the band takes over the camp, it will be marching for six hours a day, preparing its first half-time show for the fall football season.

The week comes to a big end on Sunday, August 27, when the marching band performs its routine following concerts by both the concert and jazz bands.

Parents are invited. Those who want to also attend the 11:30 a.m. lunch ($2.75 for adults, $1.75 for children under 12) should call Anne Youngquist, 349-8173 by August 20.

The students will return Sunday night, arriving at the high school at approximately 11 p.m.

The cost of the camp is $56 a head, half of which is paid by the student and half paid by money raised throughout the year by band parents.

Fund raising activities included pumpkin bread, luminary and decal sales.

Geake offers report

The funding of K-12 education in Michigan is the subject of a brochure, entitled "School Taxes: 1978 Special Report to Taxpayers," being distributed by Northville State Senator Robert Geake.

"Many people are confused about the formula used to determine where the funding of our state schools comes from and where it goes," Senator Geake pointed out.

"I believe that my constituents will find this pamphlet helpful and I hope it can answer some of the questions that they have concerning school funding," he added.

The brochure contains information on local school financing, state spending for K-12 education, federal funding of Michigan schools, lottery contributions for education, as well as the tax limitation proposal being promoted by the Taxpayers United for Tax Limitation.

Senator Geake presently serves on this organization's advisory committee and has been a leading proponent of tax limitation since 1974.

"The special report has been mailed to those who have indicated previously to me that they wish to be placed on a mailing list for legislative news," Senator Geake noted. "I would be most happy to send it to anyone else who feels it would be helpful to them."

Those who are interested in receiving a copy of the brochure may write or call Senator Geake at the State Capitol, Lansing, MI 48909 or (517) 373-1707.

functional and a good deal more sanitary, but perhaps not as appealing to the oldtimer.

"I'm delighted we won't be using the old cloths and frames. I'm a stickler for cleanliness, but no matter how meticulously we maintained the old equipment there simply was no way to meet the standard of cleanliness I insist on. Sure, I'm a little afraid some people won't like the idea of new presses, but they can be confident of receiving cider quality that can't be topped."

A side viewing area will permit the public to watch the press operation.

The drive and the area in the front and west of the cider mill will be blacktopped. Paving is slated to begin next week. The rear area will be gravelled as it has in the past.

About the only substantial equipment saved from the previous operation, according to Bodker, were the refrigeration tanks (but not the compressors), washer, and the device that dumps the pallets.

So confident is he of the September opener, Bodker already has made arrangements for the purchase of apples from North Carolina. "We buy from there," he said, "to ensure the availability of fresh apples that may not be available that early in Michigan. I'd rather have fresh apples than last year's apples taken from storage."

Bodker intentionally has added the "Northville" to the cider mill name. "We've retained the Parmenter name but added and emphasized Northville because it has more recognition in other metropolitan areas," he explained.

Save Your Firewood Supply

You are indeed a fortunate individual if you have your own supply of firewood - but, whether you have your own stand of trees or purchase your supply by the cord, this is not the time to be wasteful.

Sixty percent of the heat (or BTU's) available from your logs are in the gases released when the logs are burned. With almost every stove on the market today all of this heating energy is lost up the chimney - unburned and unused.

That's right! Most homeowners heating with wood today send 60 percent of their firewood up the chimney in the form of unburned gas.

Not so with the Defiance Volcano. In the Defiance Volcano the gases are mixed with hot air as they enter the secondary combustion chamber resulting in a sheet of flame 18" wide and up to 48"

long. This flame produces heat that far surpasses the heat produced in the primary combustion chamber.

In fact, when you allow your friends and neighbors to view this sheet of flame through the Defiance Volcano inspection port (provided on each unit), they will be utterly amazed at what they see. And as we all know, Seeing IS Believing.

Arrest solves host of crimes

Two Northville Township boys from "well-to-do" families have been arrested by township police who say the pair was responsible for at least 20 home break-ins and several other larcenies in Northville, Plymouth and Livonia.

More arrests are pending, say police. Township police have recovered about $3000 worth of stolen goods — mostly coin collections and jewelry — but they say many other items had already been sold and were most likely unrecoverable.

At least 10 of the break-ins were in Northville Township, mostly in the southeast portion between Bradner and Haggerty roads, including the Northville Commons — Northville Colony area where the boys, both 15, lived.

The arrests and confiscation of stolen material were the result of a two-month investigation. The thefts happened between May and July.

"In some cases, they were real professional," said Investigator Phil Presnell. "They wore Playtex gloves, put masking tape on the windows and used a glass cutter."

The tape was used to prevent the glass windows from breaking.

Homes were broken into during daylight hours and, except for one instance when a resident was sleeping, the homes were unoccupied, said Presnell.

"It wasn't just some spur of the moment thing," said Presnell. "They sat down and planned all this stuff as an easy way to get money. They put the money in their bank accounts."

Among the items recovered by police are sacks of pennies and nickels and paper money collected by hobbyists, three bicycles, a gold coin collection, watches, other jewelry, a pocket calculator, tools and a camera.

A lot of the coins have already been sold to various coin shops in the area and are probably untraceable, said Presnell.

In one instance, the boys exchanged coins stolen from one collector for their $56 face value at a grocery store even though their market value was much higher.

Police said the arrests were the result of tips, leads and investigations. The investigation is continuing because police believe other juveniles may have participated in similar break-ins in the Highland Lakes area.

The two arrested are expected to appear in juvenile court later this summer. They have no prior police record.

"They were very remorseful," said Presnell. "They both came from well-to-do families, but they wanted some easy money."

At the very least, township police say they have solved 10 breaking and enterings and two larcenies in Northville Township, seven breaking and enterings in Plymouth Township and two breaking and enterings and two larcenies in Novi.

Vault taken from home
in Northville

Thieves made off with a large security vault taken Sunday night from the basement of a Grace Court home whose owner may have surprised them.

A tracking dog from the Pontiac State Police Post picked up a strong scent at the home and followed it north to Novi Road just past the city limits.

Northville City Police believe the culprits may have had a car waiting for them there.

The thieves apparently broke in through a rear kitchen window, said police. They rummaged through the homeowners' belongings in the bedroom and living room before lifting the safe-like security box from the basement.

The home's residents were away from 5:30 until 10:45 p.m., but police believe the break-in was sometime after 9 when it became dark

School board meets 78 times in 1977-78

The Northville board of education meets... and meets... and meets.

During the 1977-78 school year (from July to June), the august body convened 78 times on 66 different dates — a rate of 1½ meetings a week for a board that is officially scheduled for 36 sessions a year.

There were 22 regular meetings conducted twice monthly; there were 39 study sessions, some on the third Monday of the month plus a slew for studying the budget, waging millage campaigns and selecting a new superintendent; there were five special call meetings and a dozen executive sessions.

Through it all, Northville's seven board members — who aren't paid a penny for the meetings — maintained an enviable attendance record. Summer vacations, winter colds, children's demands and business appointments notwithstanding, the consensus board attendance was better than 94 percent.

Four board members, in fact, missed only two meetings all year.

They were past President John Hobart, new President Douglas Whitaker, Vice President Christopher Johnson and James Lewis, a trustee who did not seek re-election this year.

Hobart went nearly 11 months before missing his first meeting, a May 24 study session.

New treasurer Charles Peltz and Marjorie Sliger each missed seven meetings and the number would have been smaller except that several times the board conducted more than one session on days they were absent.

Mrs. Sliger actually was absent on only four meeting dates and Peltz five.

Former treasurer and now secretary Karen Wilkinson had the most absences, missing nine meetings on eight days, but she still compiled better than an 85 percent attendance record.

And it should be noted that she missed some of the meetings so she could campaign for the millage before various community groups.

He stands mute

A Dearborn Heights man has been charged by Northville Police with the apparently unprovoked assault and knife threat on a Northville youth.

Robert Fedorko, 30, Dearborn Heights, stood mute to a charge of felonious assault at his arraignment Monday and faces a preliminary examination Thursday, August 24. He is free on $5000 personal bond.

Police have accused Fedorko of approaching several young people on Center Street just north of Main shortly before midnight on Sunday.

Witnesses said Fedorko was looking for a fight and placed a small knife to the neck of a 19-year-old, Jack Gardner, said police.

Fedorko threatened to kill Gardner, according to statements given by witnesses to police.

NOTICE OF ENACTMENT CITY OF NORTHVILLE

The City Council of the City of Northville, following a public hearing Monday, August 7, 1978 has adopted an ordinance to amend the Northville Historic District Ordinance as follows:

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 6-1203 OF THE NORTHVILLE HISTORIC DISTRICT ORDINANCE, BEING CHAPTER 12, TITLE 6, OF THE CODE OF ORDINANCES OF THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE, BY REVISING SUB-PART 3 OF SAID SECTION TO PROVIDE FOR FINAL APPROVAL BY THE HISTORIC DISTRICT COMMISSION OF PROJECTS LOCATED IN COMMERCIALLY ZONED AREAS OF THE DISTRICT, RATHER THAN ONLY ADVISORY AUTHORITY AS IS NOW THE CASE.

The City of Northville ordains:

Section 1. Section 6-1203, HISTORIC DISTRICT COMMISSION, of the Northville Historic District Ordinance, being Chapter 12, Title 6, of the Code of Ordinances of the City of Northville, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 6-1203 HISTORIC DISTRICT COMMISSION

1. Creation of Commission (no change in present wording)
2. Membership of Commission (no change in present wording)
3. Duties and Powers of the Commission — It shall be the duty of the Commission to review all plans for the construction, alteration, repair, moving or demolition of structures in an Historic District and it shall have the power to pass upon such plans before a permit for such activity can be granted. In reviewing the plans, the Commission shall give consideration to (A) the historical or architectural value and significance of the structure and its relationship to the historic value of the surrounding area; (B) The general compatibility of the exterior design, arrangement, texture and materials proposed to be used; and (C) to any other factor, including aesthetic, which it deems pertinent.

The commission shall pass only on exterior features of a structure and shall not consider interior arrangements, nor shall it disapprove applications except in regard to considerations as set forth in the previous paragraph.

The Commission shall have the power to pass on projects in all zoning districts within the Historic District. The power of the Historic District provided herein shall not be construed to prohibit the Planning Commission from reviewing architectural compatibility as part of its site development plan review process as provided in Article VI of the Zoning Ordinance. If the Planning Commission determines that an architectural revision is desirable subsequent to Historic District approval, the Planning Commission shall convey such determination to the Historic District Commission, which shall then reconsider the project and reach a final determination taking the concerns of the Planning Commission into account.

The Commission shall have the power to call in experts to aid in its deliberations within the limitations of its budget.

The Commission shall have the power to issue a Certificate of Approval if it approves of the plans submitted to it for its review. The Inspector of Buildings shall not issue a building permit until such Certificate of Approval has been issued by the Commission.

CITY OF NOVI NOTICE OF ENACTMENT ORDINANCE NO. 78-79 DETROIT EDISON COMPANY FRANCHISE

AN ORDINANCE GRANTING A FRANCHISE TO DETROIT EDISON COMPANY FOR THE TRANSACTING OF AN ELECTRIC BUSINESS WITHIN THE CITY OF NOVI.

THE CITY OF NOVI ORDAINS:

Section 1.01. Permission is hereby granted to THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY, a corporation organized and existing concurrently under the laws of the States of Michigan and New York, its successors and assigns, to construct, maintain and operate in the public streets, highways, alleys and other public places in the City of Novi, Oakland County, Michigan, all needful and proper poles, towers, mains, wire, pipes, conduits and all such lines and other apparatus requisite for the transmission, transforming and distribution of electricity for public and private use, and to transact a local electric business within said City subject, however, to all conditions and restrictions contained in this Ordinance, any Ordinance hereinafter adopted, and the Novi City Charter.

Section 2.01. The conditions of the foregoing grant are as follows:

A. The grantee shall do no injury to any street, highway, alley or other public place, or to any shade trees, or in any manner disturb or interfere with any water or gas pipes, or with any public or private sewer, now or hereafter laid or constructed by any authorized person or corporation.

B. The City may, in its discretion, grant permission for the trimming of trees when necessary to make the lines safe and accessible, such trimming to be done under its supervision.

C. The construction of said lines shall be in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Michigan Public Service Commission or its successor.

D. Subject to the conditions set forth in Section 14.4 of the Novi City Charter, the said grantee, before entering upon any street, highway, alley or other public place for the purpose of erecting and constructing any poles, mains, wires, pipes, conduits, or other apparatus, shall in writing notify the City or its representatives of the proposed construction, and shall, if the City so requires, file with them a sufficient plan and specification, showing the nature and extent of the proposed erection and construction.

E. No street, highway, alley or public place shall be allowed to remain open or encumbered by the construction work of said Detroit Edison Company for a longer period than shall be necessary to execute the said work, and the Detroit Edison Company shall at all times conform to all ordinances of the City now or hereafter enforce, relative to the fencing and lighting of obstructions and excavations. On any failure of the Detroit Edison Company to complete the restoration work in any street, highway, alley or public place upon ten (10) days notice from the City that such restoration work be completed, the City may cause such work to be done. The cost of any such work will be indicated in an itemized report to be furnished to Detroit Edison Company by the City and Detroit Edison Company shall reimburse the City for costs incurred within ten (10) days after receipt of any such report.

F. The Detroit Edison Company shall indemnify and defend the City, its boards, commissions, officers, agents and employees, and any and all other public agencies, and their members, officers, agents, and employees, against any and all liabilities for injury to or death of any person or any damage to any property caused by the Detroit Edison Company, its officers, agents or employees, in the construction, operation, or maintenance of its property, or arising out of the exercise of any right or privilege under the franchise.

G. Said Detroit Edison Company shall make due provisions upon five (5) days notice in writing by raising its wires or otherwise, for the passage of any barn, building or other structure on or over any street, highway or public place occupied by the mains, wires, poles, and apparatus of said Detroit Edison Company.

Section 3.01. In the consideration of the granting of this franchise, Detroit Edison Company agrees that its rates and charges for electric service in the City of Novi shall not exceed its rates and charges for like service elsewhere in its service area, as evidenced by its uniform rate schedules at the time on file with and approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission. It is understood that the Detroit Edison Company is subject to regulations by the Michigan Public Service Commission and that any order, rule, or regulation by that Commission, or its successor, will prevail over any regulation herein contained or provided for in case of conflict.

Section 4.01. The franchise granted herein shall remain in force for thirty (30) years from and after the date of its confirmation by the electors of the City of Novi, Oakland County, Michigan.

Section 5.01. Nothing in this grant shall be construed to alienate the title of the public in and to any street, highway, alley or public place or any portion thereof, neither shall anything herein be construed in any manner as a surrender by the City of Novi of its legislative power with respect to the subject matter hereof, or with respect to any other matter whatsoever; nor as in any manner limiting the rights of said City of Novi to lawfully regulate the use of any street, avenue, highway or public place within its jurisdiction.

Section 6.01. This grant shall take effect upon the confirmation of this grant, by the affirmative vote of a three-fifths (3/5) majority of the electors of said City voting thereon at a regular election to be held on Tuesday, the 8th day of August, 1978, as provided for by the Statutes and the State Constitution.

Work of handicapped

This show features special art

At first glance, it looks like a crude drawing. It's only when you look with your heart that it becomes much more.

It's a pencil sketch of the inside of an ambulance, complete with compartments marked "pills," "medicine," and "IV."

It's the painstaking work of 16-year-old Rodney, a mentally retarded resident of the Plymouth Center for Human Development in Northville Township.

"It's his life," says his art teacher, Linne Thompson.

Rodney has also built a five-car wooden model train which, along with his drawing, will be among the exhibits on display at the second annual ISEP art fair this week.

ISEP (Institution Special Education Program) means school for 800 mentally retarded people under the age of 26 who live in two area institutions.

The Northville school system, with state money, runs the program. Classes are conducted daily at Cooke Junior High School, Moraine Elementary School and the Main Street Annex in Northville and in five schools in neighboring communities.

One of those, Parkway School in North Dearborn Heights, is the site for the art fair. The school is located on the north side of Ann Arbor Trail, between Inkster and Beech-Daly roads.

The fair will run during school hours (8:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m.) Wednesday and Thursday and from 6-9 p.m. Thursday.

On display will be a variety of paintings, drawings, ceramics, sculptures and rugs. Unlike last year, the articles will be for sale with 100 percent of the purchase price going to the artist.

"The work represents all kinds of handicaps," says Ms. Thompson, "from the severely physically handicapped to the severely mentally retarded."

The public is welcome during any of the three days and Thursday night when refreshments will be served.

The students themselves will be touring the fair during the days while county education and mental health officials have been invited to Thursday night's session.

Plymouth extends adult education

Community education is coming to Northville — with a little help from its friends in Plymouth.

Community education, which includes both high school completion courses and enrichment classes that range from auto mechanics to flower arranging, has been a long talked-about goal for the Northville system.

Educators like it because it provides more use of the buildings and better public relations within the community.

Participants like it because it is a relatively cheap, convenient way to complete their high school education or to dabble in new interests.

But the concept has had a difficult time getting off the ground in Northville.

Nearly ten years ago, the district was surveying the community to see if the interest warranted a program, said

Director of Instruction Nancy Soper.

Last year, when the district offered adult education classes, only seven people registered. That was not enough to start a program and the seven were enrolled in neighboring districts.

This year, the district is going to try another angle.

With the school board's blessing, Northville is going to tie in with Plymouth's longstanding Adult Ed-Community Ed program.

Plymouth will provide the staff, administrators, expertise and experience. Northville will provide the classroom space and the students.

This way, said Mrs. Soper, Northville residents will be able to use the local facilities even though the classes are being run by Plymouth.

Under the current game plan, Northville would eventually run its own program as local interest grows.

The board approved the Plymouth connection Monday night. Mrs. Soper said details of the course selections would be available as soon as they are ironed out with Plymouth officials.

Seaman Fauer in fleet test

Navy Gunner's Mate Seaman John S. Fauer Jr., son of Richard J. and Karen A. Schneider of 19524 Mann Court, recently participated in the U.S. Sixth Fleet operation "National Week XXV."

He is assigned to the guided missile cruiser USS Albany, operating from Gaeta, Italy.

"National Week XXV" was a week-long exercise in the Mediterranean Sea involving Sixth Fleet ships and aircraft squadrons. It was the 25th in a series of exercises designed to test naval warfare techniques and proficiency. "National Week XXV" consisted of combat operations, emphasizing antisubmarine and air defense, amphibious warfare and logistics support at sea.

A 1975 graduate of Northville High School, Fauer joined the navy in June 1976.

SPEAKING for The Record By BILL SLIGER

Democrats in Northville Township had to decide last week whether they wanted to cast their ballots for candidates in hotly-contested local races or to register their choices for state and national office.

The same thing happened in Plymouth Township.

City voters throughout the state of Michigan are never faced with that problem. Elections for local officials in cities are held on odd years. And except for three cities in the state local politics are non-partisan.

The state legislature ought to either change local elections in townships to odd years or remove partisanship status. Preferably, both should be done.

Who cares about the party line when looking for the best possible people to provide for needs of the local community? In cities and townships, particularly the size of Northville, people look to their grassroots government for fire and police protection, libraries, recreation programs, parks, water, sewers and zoning.

Traditionally, only Republicans are elected to the Northville Township board of trustees. So all candidates file as Republicans. Last week there were nine Republican candidates seeking five board seats. Barring a write-in campaign in November, the nominees are virtually assured of election.

Local Democrats interested in voting for their preferences in the hotly-contested township board race had to sacrifice their right to register their choices for governor, U.S. senate, etc., nominees.

The same thing happened in Plymouth Township. And in Canton Township most of the candidates for the local board ran as Democrats.

Before the state constitutional convention back in the mid-sixties township elections were held in the spring. There are a number of reasons given why that tradition was changed.

One was to "whip up party interest" by getting candidates of all levels together on the same ballot. Another was economy, the elimination of an extra election. Yet the legislature created an odd-year November election for cities, not townships.

And there are some experts who have another theory on why townships were forced to hold their elections with the state. It seems that when township supervisors were elected in April some popular vote-getters decided to take a fling at state representative or senator. Secure in their office as supervisor, they could attempt to shoot for higher stakes without risk of being out of a job if they failed in November.

Practically speaking, the November ballot has become too crowded and removal of township races would help that problem.

Local elections on odd years are already provided for cities, so it would be no problem to permit townships the same privilege.

And party politics at the local level is a lot of nonsense.

Surprisingly, the executive director of the Michigan Townships Association, Robert Robinson, said the question has not been discussed by the executive board of the powerful townships' lobbying organization. He also expressed a preference for a "strong two-party system" at the local level.

But he said that he would support an effort to switch township elections to odd years to avoid the conflict.

One state legislator, not from this district, has indicated he will investigate the possibility of introducing legislation to change local township elections and do away with partisan politics.

In my opinion local government would gain greater representation and permit broader participation if odd-year elections were permitted and partisanship removed.

If you support such a switch, tell your local township officials and your state legislators, Senator Robert Geake and Representative Jack Kirksey.

If you can just hang in there for another 20 years or so, you should be in line for one whale of a pay raise.

How about $200,000 per year at the low end of the scale, or a million dollars or so for the high average wage earner?

If present trends continue, and if there's any accuracy in the results of a study conducted by a Chicago-based management consulting firm, you'd better be making at least $200,000 annually or you won't be reading a newspaper with your morning coffee, which you won't be able to afford either.

The consultants projected present-day cost patterns of several goods based upon price trends over the past 10 years. They projected the same inflationary spiral into the year 2001.

The study doesn't suggest what one's income might be at the turn of the century. But it's obvious a millionaire would have trouble making ends meet.

If inflation continues at the same pace for the next 23 years that it has over the past 10 years, a Sunday newspaper will cost $70.92.

A bar of soap will sell for $61.12, toothpaste will be a bargain at $62.80 per tube, while a pound of ground beef will be a mere $7.54. A one-pound rump roast sounds like a steal at $2.89.

Coffee must certainly be the leader in price-hiking over the past 10 years. If it continues at the same pace, a pound of coffee in 2001 will cost $39,642.

A small jar of jelly, say the consultants, will cost $113.98.

If you're depressed by prices at the supermarket, take a stroll down to your friendly auto dealer in 2001.

You can buy one of the small, economy models for only $105,000. If you're looking for luxury, the average price of the family-sized car will be $471,240.

Think of the poor 2001 panhandler.

With hat in hand he'll stand on the corner saying "Brother, can you spare $991 for a cup of coffee?"

BILL GLADDEN

NO . . .

Should communities be allowed to grow at a natural pace? Should children? Who should have the power to prevent it?

Would you purchase a commodity knowing that you would be forbidden to use it? What would be the value of such a commodity?

Limit growth? Whom do you ask? The person who has finally managed to leave the big city and can now settle comfortably in his suburban home, or do you ask the man that is still hoping, planning, and working to make his move to the lesser developed communities?

Who supports this limiting of our lands? Is it the one who knows development takes place where there are desirable factors? Has he looked at areas in Michigan that have limitations on their growth now? Real limitations, such as lack of industry, lack of public improvements, lack of access by high speed expressways. If he has seen these limited communities, has he noticed that the demand for property is low, the values are low, and consequently those communities suffer.

Most of the suburban communities in Wayne County and Oakland County have high values because they are desirable. If they are not permitted to expand, grow, and mature in a natural way, they will be stunted, poorly developed areas that can never ripen to their fullest potential.

Speaking for myself

Growth limitation?

STEPHEN ROSMAN

YES . . .

Western Oakland County is under heavy attack by builders and developers. "Progress" threatens to bring urban sprawl to the environmentally sensitive lakes area.

The Growth Limitation Ordinance which I introduced throughout the Lakes Area would encourage growth around existing public services, thus easing future tax burdens on property owners. It would discourage the leapfrogging of urban sprawl and preserve some of the countryside. It would maintain the quality of the environment and the character of the community.

The plan would do all of that without being exclusionary, arbitrary, unreasonable or unconstitutional.

This ordinance is patterned after successful ordinances in Petaluma, California, and Boulder, Colorado. The plan would limit the number of residential building permits issued annually to developers and assign those permits according to a competitive point system. The merit system is based on the public facilities a development would require, its impact on the environment and its relationship to the surrounding area.

Growth Limitation is a tool for communities to insure an orderly and efficient growth of their township or city. Too many of the metropolitan areas assets have been squandered. Western Oakland County should give careful consideration to a plan that could protect its own special assets from being similarly misspent.

Jack W. Hoffman's column

'Chief would drop pants to please press'

CHIEF LEE BeGOLE

A leg draped across the corner of his desk, Lee BeGole shuffled through the deep clutter of papers — the police chief's daily pretense of paperwork.

He liked to go through this ritual especially when I was in his office because he knew it annoyed and amazed me.

"Lee, how in the dickens can you find anything in that pile of trash?" I asked probably for the tenth time in a month.

"My boy, these are valuable materials, and it's all here, right at my fingertips."

In truth, it was all there: last night's PI report, months old correspondence, his Army discharge papers, and last year's burglary statistics, together with sections of the Wall Street Journal, a dog-eared copy of True Detective, lawyers' documentations, and clipped police stories from our paper on which he had scribbled notations of missing "important facts that the people ought to know."

And here and there scraps of paper containing illegible names and telephone numbers. He wrote everything down, later seldom remembering what the notes meant.

For the reporter fighting a deadline, Lee BeGole was exasperating. Getting a story was like peeling an onion, skin by painstaking skin, before the edible core appeared. And all the while the reporter cried for haste. What should take no longer than five to 10 minutes to obtain invariably consumed an hour or more of my time.

The chief mother-henned his department and refused to permit reporters unsupervised access to the files — but not because he was hiding a scandal or because he didn't like the press nosing around. Not at all. The chief would drop his pants to show his underwear if he figured it would get a headline. He simply wanted to be present so he could add "good information" not contained on the Fruit-of-the-Loom label.

"You gotta have gutsy stuff in your paper and you can't get that pawing through a bunch of reports," he had chastised me early on in my baptism into the Novi station.

Lee loved the press. He devoured publicity about his department, the whole of which then included himself and a fat sidekick, and he took great pleasure in adding color to drab police stories. His penchant for color gobbled up huge chunks of valuable newspaper space, but for Lee, who actually measured the inches of a story to ensure that his department was getting adequate coverage, the added lengths gave those stories punch and meaning.

Reporters' time consumed in peeling the onion was unimportant to Lee.

Today he was no different. Before he zeroed in on the case I wanted, he had lumbered through a half-dozen unrelated pieces of blotter trivia, cleaned and fondled his yard-long handgun, and had broken up our conversation with two spontaneous and probably unnecessary telephone calls. And now, just as I was getting at the onion core, his phone rang.

Lee's voice dropped an octave, a clear sign he was trying to impress a stranger on the other end. He probably would have brushed off the tip as a meaningless puff of smoke had I not been present. But since I was eavesdropping, he deliberately worked himself into a lather of exaggerated excitement and signed off. Slamming down the receiver, he bounced from his chair, exclaiming, "It's the Big Story, Jack, let's go!"

"Go where? I haven't got time; I've got a schedule," I protested.

"There's a killer on the loose. The one who knocked off the guy in New Hudson. He's holed-ning the petition, said, "The intent of the ordinance is being violated... We came to Northville because we wanted space, not elbow-to-elbow row housing, small lots on straight streets."

Trustee Mark Lysinger asked for a definition of row housing. "I don't understand the charge of row housing," he said. "These aren't long straight streets, all perpendicular. These streets flow."

Tom Dasher defined row housing as "As much as you can get into the land... density... overcrowding to the character of the land already there."

Dasher said the ordinance aimed to encourage the use of land in accordance with its character. He also expressed apprehensions about water retention plans for the property.

Board members said they had previously given the protestors assurance that the final engineering plans, not yet submitted by the developer, would be provided to them and their input would be heard at the engineering stage of the development.

"The retention basin is further down the line," Nowka said. "These are new things we'll look at very carefully. In any subdivision, there's a tremendous element of risk. When the earth movers come in with their bulldozers, you're running the risk he may affect your property adversely." Nowka said he understood their fears, but felt that subdivision developed in the township had turned out to be a credit to the community.

John A. Dobelek, president of Whipple Estates Homeowners Association, said, "Why be concerned about the developer's personal risks? Why make it easy for him to change the character of the land? We'd like to see larger lots, with a transition between the large and smaller lots."

Elaine Pitak showed the board pictures of flooding which occurred at a house on Park Lane off Five Mile Road when a retaining pond overflowed. The pictures showed water up to the house's front steps, standing in the backyard and filling the crawl space under the house.

"How would you like this in your backyard?" she asked.

Whipple Estates and Taft Colony residents have contended that excessive water problems already exist with the natural drainage that flows from Eight Mile Road down to and beyond Seven Mile Road. The proposed subdivision is slated for 83.6 acres south of Eight Mile Road, just west of the City of Northville, adjacent to Whipple Estates and Taft Colony.

Referring to the area in the site plan that is designated both for water retention and open space, Cheryl Mattingly said, "It's a boggy, black, murky area — there's no pleasure in that land... The builder is trying to make the most money he can in our community. He's going to make out like a bandit, but none of us will benefit by it."

Before moving to support the petition, Swienkowski pointed out that the township had to have different types of zoning, or the ordinance could be thrown out in court. He said the board was correct in approving the preliminary plans for the subdivision, but he could support the petition on the basis of the open space not being centrally located.

In other action the board: • Denied a request for a liquor license for a Chinese restaurant planned for the Highland Lakes Shopping Center. Grier reminded the board they

Woman surprises condominium prowler

A Northville woman surprised a youthful prowler Thursday when she returned to her Lexington Commons condominium while the would-be crook was rummaging through her upstairs bedroom.

The culprit, believed to be in his late teens, escaped through a window, jumped to the ground two stories below and apparently escaped to the west.

A tracking dog, brought in from Bloomfield Township by Northville City police, traced the suspect's scent through a nearby orchard into the Northville Hills Estate subdivision north of Eight Mile Road on the city's west side.

The dog lost the scent in a garage in the subdivision.

The woman, who is 52, told police she left her condominium at 11 Thursday morning and returned at 1:30 that afternoon.

While in her kitchen, she said she heard a noise upstairs and looked outside in time to see the suspect jump from the roof and run through her flower garden.

Police said they found two rolls of pennies, two rings and a gold watch on the bedroom floor where they may have been dropped when the youth was surprised.

Police are still investigating.

The board also approved the appointment of Marie Elizabeth Flack as the new supervisor for the Main Street Annex in Northville.

Ms. Flack's responsibilities include the students who use a few classrooms at Moraine Elementary School and Cooke Junior High School.

She replaces Dena Gruman who resigned earlier this year.

2 boys plead guilty for torching house

Two young Northville Township boys pleaded guilty in juvenile court last week to setting fire to a newly completed home in May.

Sentencing of the youngsters, who were caught when they tried to sell golf balls they had stolen from the home, will be next month.

The two were charged by township police with spraying paint thinner over the main floor and two stairways of the home and then igniting it.

The seven-year-old boy's hair was singed by the quickly spreading fire.

The home was located at the end of Pierson Drive, a rutty, private dirt road that just north off Seven Mile Road a short distance east of the Northville State Hospital.

The fire was one of a dozen arsons that in a span of 12 months plagued an area that covers not much more than a square mile on the township's northeast side.

Police have not tied the two boys to any of the other fires.

The Pierson Drive home had been under construction for about two years. The Dearborn owner of the house had started moving in items at the time of the fire.

Township firefighters said there the fact that the thinner evaporated quickly prevented the fire from being more extensive than it was, although there was considerable damage to the home's interior.

Police said the youngsters apparently broke into the home and stole 12 to 16 dozen golf balls and later returned to start the fire.

and 54 percent said the same of their college choice.

In addition to answering the questions, students were invited to write comments about what they saw as strengths and weaknesses of the high school.

Last year, many of these comments were quite critical and Burley said they would be analyzed again this year.

Several parents were upset with last year's comments, not only because of the content but because many of the statements were characterized by poor spelling and grammar.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE
by Jim Roth

The California Wine Institute recommends, for your drinking pleasure, a hot spiced wine that they call glogg. To make it, crush one tablespoon whole peeled cardamon and combine with two teaspoons whole cloves, one stick cinnamon, and half-cup of raisins, and 1½ cups water. Simmer for about half an hour. Strain the liquid and add it to a fifth of Zinfandel with half cup of sugar. Heat to simmering and pour into cups with raisins and blanched almonds.

We at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477 are happy to recommend wines for your drinking pleasure. We have a complete selection of, both imported and domestic wines, and keep some chilled for immediate use. We also have hot sandwiches, sub-marines, ham and cheese. Plenty of convenient parking. Hours: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., Sunday Noon-6 p.m.

HELPFUL HINT: When making hot spiced wine, make sure you do not let the wine mixture boil.

To all the people who gave so generously of their time & energy to make our victory possible.
Thank You.

Sincerely,
Doug Ross

Unbeaten season's within reach

Carl's wins again in N.L. thriller, 10-8

Carl's player Dave Wert bites the dust at third base after getting tagged out by John Delinski

Carl's Auto Supply, may very well have cleared its final barrier last week on the way to accomplishing something no other Northville softball team has been able to this season.

In a game that had all the makings of a championship contest, the powerful local club all but wrapped up this year's National League crown and a perfect season — with a 10-8 comeback victory over second-place Real Estate Two last Wednesday.

The win was Carl's 16th straight without a defeat this year, and barring an upset against Ely's last night or an unlikely loss to the Northville Jaycees tomorrow they'll finish the summer as Northville's only unbeaten softball squad of 1978. Real Estate Two finished its season with a 16-2 mark.

Just two weeks earlier the two clubs had met in a battle of unbeaten — Carl's was 12-0 and Real Estate Two 14-0 — and Carl's had come out an easy 13-1 victor.

This time, though, Real Estate Two fought the league leaders right down to the final inning before folding.

Carl's got off to an early 4-1 advantage with a four-run outburst in the second inning capped by Mark Finley's two-run triple. Three innings later, after Real Estate Two had battled back to tie the game, the winners went ahead again when Dave Catton's two-run homer triggered a three-run rally to make it 7-4.

But Real Estate Two was far from dead. The second-place National League club scored twice in the bottom of the fifth on an RBI triple by Mike Schroeder plus a sacrifice fly by Bill Norton, then took a 10-9 lead in the sixth on a sacrifice fly by John Delinski and a run-scoring single by Ken McDermott.

That set the stage for a dramatic seventh inning.

Carl's scored three times in the top of the frame on a run-producing single by Joe Bustamente, Finley's second RBI triple of the night and a sacrifice fly by Catton. Real Estate Two loaded the bases in the bottom of the seventh, though, before a groundout ended the game and the second-place club's hopes of catching Carl's.

Finley went 3-for-4 and Catton, Bob Hubbert, Dave Wert and Jim Schultz had two hits apiece to pace the winners while Joe Higgins slammed two triples and a double and Dwight Koslowski added three singles for Real Estate Two.

In other National League action involving top clubs last week Sheehan's Little Caesar's clinched third place with an 11-5 triumph over the Northville Players on Monday but lost a 12-7 decision to Real Estate Two Thursday while OLV, which beat St. Paul's but lost to Carl's, grabbed a share of fourth place with It's Custard Time, which suffered a 15-5 upset at the hands of Ely's.

Sheehan's overcame a 5-4 deficit with seven runs in the fifth and sixth innings in their victory over the Players. Stan Tarnowski smashed two doubles, a triple and a home run and John Osborne went 3-for-3 to pace the winners.

Three days later, though, Real Estate Two handed the third-place club its fifth loss in 17 games with a 12-7 triumph. Koslowski and Brian Smith had three hits each to lead the winners.

OLV, meanwhile, took over fourth place temporarily with a 13-8 victory over St. Paul's Wednesday while It's Custard Time was losing to Ely's. OLV, which scored nine times in the last three innings to snap a 4-4 deadlock, was led by John Crotteau, who went 3-for-4, while Jon Heikinen went 3-for-3 and walked once for St. Paul's.

Mike Theisen had a home run and a double and Phil Palarchio, Rick Steele and Gary Penrod all went 2-for-3 to pace Ely's triumph. That left Custard Time with a 10-7 mark while OLV was 10-6.

35-game winning streak snapped

Dave's Trim shocks Lab

Last week Northville had a pair of teams with long winning streaks in city softball play, this week it has none.

Northville Laboratories, which had reeled off 35 straight wins over the past three seasons, saw its streak come to an abrupt end last week when Dave's Trim handed the team a 14-10 setback.

It was the same fate that befell the Village Blues last week. The first-place American League squad, which had a 33-game winning streak, lost its first city decision in three years to State Farm.

Gayle Richardson and Pam Soncrant combined for eight hits in eight at-bats for Dave's Trim, which battered Northville Lab pitchers Sherry Metz and Sally Potter for 16 hits in all.

Soncrant had three doubles and a triple while scoring four runs. Richardson clubbed two singles, a double and a three-run homer and had six RBI's.

It was Richardson's long blast in the fourth inning that gave Dave's Trim a 9-7 advantage, a lead it never lost. Dave's Trim led 9-7 going into the sixth inning and then scored five times on two walks, two errors and doubles by Soncrant, Richardson and Sandy Gatter to put the game out of reach.

Denise MacDermid's three-run homer brought Northville Lab to within four runs, but Soncrant retired the next two batters on fly outs to cut the rally short.

Jodi Gatter and Connie Soncrant had a pair of hits for Dave's Trim, which hiked its record to 10-3 with the victory. Louise Hopping and MacDermid paced Northville Lab's 10-hit attack with three hits apiece.

In other women's slo-pitch action last week, Pat Brown hit two home runs and a triple to pace Northville Lab to a 26-6, shellacking of Wishing Well.

Northville Lab pounded 21 hits, including 12 for extra bases. The league leaders scored 13 times in the fifth inning. Both of Brown's blasts came in the fifth. Eve Williams also had a two-run homer in the inning.

Gaylen Curtis had a triple and a single for Wishing Well. Sue Pegrum also had two of the seven hits surrendered by the Potter and Metz pitching combo.

Local baseball champs just miss state finals

Northville's E League junior baseball champions came within one inning of being a state finalist last week.

The Dodgers, who won the local E League title with a 16-2 record this summer, went all the way to the semifinals of the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association state playoffs before suffering a tough 5-3 defeat at the hands of Roseville last Thursday in Independence Township near Clarkston.

After capturing the district crown with victories over Grand Rapids and Livonia the week before coach Mark Weaver's club earned a berth in the semis with a 10-2 quarterfinal triumph over Milan.

The Dodgers collected only eight hits in the win, but drew eight walks as well. Paul Luiki had three of the hits, including a leadoff home run in the second inning that got the local squad off the ground.

They added three more runs in both the third and fifth innings, two in the sixth, and one in the seventh.

Luiki had a perfect night at the plate, getting two singles and a walk in addition to his second-inning blast, and knocked in three runs while scoring three himself.

He also picked up the pitching victory, hurling a five-hitter in going the distance. Steve Norton, Lee Belanger and Rob Ade added two hits apiece for the winners.

Roseville, however, ended the Dodgers' hopes for a state championship with a come-from-behind victory in the semis.

Northville got off to a 1-0 lead in the third inning, but Roseville took command with a three-run outburst in the top of the fifth.

The Dodgers bounced back with a pair in the bottom of the frame, though, on back-to-back doubles by Norton and Jimmy Belanger and a successful suicide squeeze by Steve Downey with the bases loaded.

That's the way it stayed until the top of the seventh, when Roseville scored twice on three walks and a pair of errors. The Dodgers went down in order in their last turn at bat.

Downey went 2-for-2 plus the squeeze to lead the Northville effort. The Dodgers wound up 19-3 overall this season and had a 12-game winning streak before their loss to Roseville.

Dave's Trim topples Northville Lab, 14-10

Northville Record, meanwhile, got a clutch two-run single by Kathy Rogowski and then held off a seventh-inning rally by the Thunderbird Flyers to come up with an 8-7 victory.

The contest was tied 5-5 going into the sixth when Kathy Elick doubled with one out and scored on a single by Sheila McIntire. Carol LaFramboise then followed with a single. Following a ground out, and Rogowski brought them both home with a base hit.

Sue Booth's two-run homer in the top of the seventh brought Thunderbird within a run. Pam Bowers and Chris Redmond followed with singles but they were both left stranded when the next two batters were retired.

Dave's Trim earned its second win of the week with a 27-1 pasting of Alhambra. Connie Soncrant banged out two home runs, a single and a double, scoring four runs in the rout.

Richardson also had three hits, including a hom run. Sandy Gatteri had three singles, while sister Jodie had a home run and a single for her evening's work.

Alhambra could manage just three hits off Dave's Trim hurler Pam Soncrant.

The Choo Chooettes turned in the second rout of the evening as it clubbed Nichols-Saints Realty, 31-1, behind a 29-hit barrage.

Betty Kemp accounted for three singles and a double in the rout. Becky Terpevich added a home run, triple and two singles to the cause.

Katerers pull upset

State Farm, which four days earlier had ended the Village Blues' 43-game winning streak, was upended by the Kountry Katerers, 10-3, last Tuesday in Northville American League softball play.

Kountry Katerers scored once in the second inning, three times in the fifth, once in the sixth and five times in the seventh to knock off the second-place club.

Four straight singles and a pair of groundouts accounted for the Katerers' runs in the fourth while the team managed six hits and was aided by two walks in the last-inning surge.

Paul McDonald had the big bat for the Katerers. The slugging leftfielder had two singles and a double. Pitcher Bob McGuire also had three hits to his credit.

State Farm, which had nine hits off Scott McMillin, got three of them from Al Parran. Rick Smoler also had two hits and scored a pair of runs.

In other action, Winner's Circle scored eight runs in the sixth inning to pull out an 11-5 triumph over Cap-n-Cork. Stan Nirider had the big blow in the inning with a home run. Nirider also had two singles to his credit. Dan Taylor added three hits.

Bob Lulac led the losers with a home run and a single. Gary Lesnau had a double and a single while Ron Nisun added a pair of singles.

Little Caesar's, meanwhile, got a home run and a pair of two-run singles from Dennis Rons to power its way past Spicer Tool, 22-0.

The Caesars scored once in the first, eight times in the second, added six more in the third and seven in the fourth to record their 10th victory of the season.

Mike Counts also had three hits in the contest, while Al Schultz chipped in a pair of singles.

Linn Walter, Mark Richmond and John Howeski notched Spicer's only hits of the game.

Spicer Tool was also involved in an 8-8 tie with the Kountry Katerers. Roland Tarrow's run-scoring double tied the game up in the sixth. And neither squad could come up with a run in the final inning. Jim Manderville had a two run homer for Spicer. Franz Regner had two singles and a home run for the Katerers. Ron Wiltzie also had a round tripper.

The Cyclones had only five hits in the first inning but made them account for seven runs, and that was all they needed to defeat Jim Storm, 9-6.

Bob LaPlante led the Cyclone hitting attack with three singles and a sacrifice fly. Brian Odom had a pair of singles, one of them a two-run left in the first inning surge. Jerry Thomas also had a double to his credit. Dale Garrow had two hits for Jim Storm.

Dodgers bow in 2d round

The Dodgers, who finished second to the Padres in this year's F League junior baseball standings, bowed out of the Inter City Tournament with an 18-2 loss to the Livonia Cardinals in the second round last Wednesday at Livonia.

Bob Pegrum had gone 2-for-4 and he and Chris Odom had each scored twice the day before in leading the local squad to a 7-3 first-round victory over East Detroit.

The Dodgers managed only one hit on Wednesday, though, a sixth-inning single by Dave DeMattos, while the Livonia club battered 17 hits and led all the way.

Defeats end long victory strings

The giants have fallen

Oh, what a sad, sad time it's been for the giants of Northville softball as of late.

Two of the longest winning streaks in local recreation sports history — perhaps THE longest ever in the Northville softball program — came to a pair of shocking ends within six days of one another last week.

The losers were the Village Blues, king of the men's softball circuit, and Northville Laboratories, queen of the women's league.

The winners were State Farm and Dave's Trim Shop, and together they topped a pair of powerhouses that hadn't been beaten in more than two years, that had combined for a total of 78 straight victories since early 1976.

First it was the Village Blues, proud possessors of a 43-game string and seemingly untouchable, who met their match a week ago Friday. Two days after sewing up their third straight American League title the Blues suffered a stunning 9-6 loss to second-place State Farm, a team they'd beaten 13-3 earlier in the season.

State Farm, which captured the 1977 National League crown before moving up to the stronger circuit, took advantage of an early surge that produced a 9-0 lead after three innings and held on for its sixth straight triumph.

Gary Metz powered the winners with a home run and two singles and second baseman Alex Parran saved them with some outstanding defensive work, including a leaping stab of a line drive that started a game-ending double play. The Blues had cut the gap to 9-6 with a five-run rally in the sixth inning.

The loss was the Blues' first in 16 games this season and probably prevented them from becoming the first Northville club to ever have back-to-back unbeaten seasons. They came within three games of matching last year's 18-0 mark.

The shock waves from that one had just about settled down some 145 hours later when Northville Laboratories, which won two straight women's titles as Casterline in 1976 and '77, lost a 14-10 thriller to Dave's Trim Shop on Thursday.

Like the Blues, Lab had clinched their third consecutive title just two days earlier and were seeking their second straight unbeaten season. The loss, though, snapped a 35-game winning streak and left Lab 12-1 on the season with just one game remaining. Complete details on the Trim Shop contest are listed elsewhere.

But while the defeats were crushing for the giants, they were all merrier for the winners.

There was plenty of backslapping, plenty of shouting, and undoubtedly plenty of brew put away after each of the victories.

"It was a lot of excitement, that's for sure," State Farm manager Chuck Burke said in reference to his team's upset. "Our guys were just really, really fired up. We felt if we could just keep the ball inside the park we could stay with them."

"I have a lot of respect for those guys (the Blues). We're not as good as the Blues, obviously. I think we can field as well as they can, but we just don't have the long ball hitters they do. But we were ready for 'em in that one."

And, six days later, so was Dave's. "It was great," Trim Shop manager Wendy D'Haene bubbled after her club's victory, which caused more than a few Northville Lab tears. "We were really ready for them (Northville Lab). We were so excited, we just played a super ball game."

There was even one unconfirmed report that all the excitement motivated a long, long distance phone call. Seems one member of Dave's winning team was so happy she felt compelled to call a friend in Colorado to tell of the victory.

It may be a long, long time before Northville softball sees the likes of those types of games again. Too bad. It should happen more often.

Tennis, CC practices are now

Practice begins today (Wednesday) for the Northville High School girls' tennis squad.

The first practice will be at 3 p.m. at the high school courts. Any girls interested in joining should attend The Mustangs, who finished second in their league last year, are coached by Uta Filkin.

Northville's defending Western Six champion cross country squad has begun working out.

Any high schoolers interested in joining this year's team should contact coach Ralph Redmond at 453-8710. The season begins in mid-September and lasts through October.

The Northville-Nowi Colts are still accepting applications for youngsters interested in playing junior football this fall.

The Colts program is open to all boys ages nine through 13 who live in the Northville, Novi, South Lyon areas and is designed to teach youngsters the fundamentals of football. Cut-off date for age determination is September 1, 1978.

Courts to be screened

Plans are underway to develop a natural wind-screen of trees around the tennis courts at Schoolcraft College.

The project, estimated to cost between $4,000 and $5,000, will be financed through private donation, according to Marvin Gans, Schoolcraft's director of athletics.

"What we hope to do is to plant 5-1/2 to 6 feet spruce trees along the berm to the south and west of the tennis courts," Dr. Gans said.

Schoolcraft has 12 all-weather courts, eight of which are lighted for night play. They are in near constant use throughout the summer and other months when the weather permits.

According to Dr. Gans, the natural windscreen idea was suggested by Wes and Sally Henrikson of Northville.

The Henriksons have already pledged funds to the project, as have Dr. Robert Mandell of Farmington Hills, Mitch and Betty Madis of Plymouth, and Dr. Mehdi Kianfar, a political science instructor at the College.

Dr. Gans said the trees will provide a color backdrop for better ball visibility as well as help diminish winds which effect the flight of tennis balls.

He said the spruce trees will cost about $35 each and that 140 are required.

Donations are tax deductible and can be made by cash or check, in any amount, to the Schoolcraft College General Fund.

Persons who contribute a minimum of $100 will have their names listed on a permanent donors honor roll to be located near the tennis courts.

For further information telephone Dr. Gans at 591-6400, extension 480

Northville's gas tax revenues share climbs to $22,418

Revenue from state gas tax edged up a mere 1.8 percent in the second quarter of 1978, giving the City of Northville an additional financial boost.

Northville's share of the gas tax revenues for the second quarter totals $22,418 — up from $22,035 for the same quarter of last year.

Neighboring Novi's share was increased from $45,438 to $48,506.

Other area community shares include: City of Plymouth, $43,857; Livonia, $451,427; Farmington, $39,159; Farmington Hills, $258,086; Walled Lake, $15,659; Waverline Lake Village, $17,411; Wixom, $13,383; South Lyon, $11,207; and Brighton, $16,136.

According to the State Highway Commission, diesel fuel taxes were up 12.9 percent for the April-June period, but license plate fees based on vehicle weight declined by 1.1 percent, producing a 1.5 percent increase in the chief revenue sources for the state Motor Vehicle Highway Fund.

Proceeds are being distributed to the state, counties, cities, and villages after deductions of $14,758,615 in grants and collection costs.

Townships do not share in these monies except through road repair and maintenance of county road departments.

Wayne County's share of the second quarter funds totals $7,182,107, while Oakland County receives $4,198,797. Washtenaw County's share is $1,054,344, and Livingston County's share, $491,250.

The nine-cent-a-gallon gas tax yielded $103,084,832 in the April-June quarter, an increase of $1,867,061 over the second quarter of 1977, the highway commission reported. Revenue from the seven-cent-a-gallon diesel fuel tax totaled $6,404,958, up by $732,144.

Interest earned by the Motor Vehicle Highway

Fund climbed $542,506 to $1,888,159. Including other miscellaneous revenues, gross receipts amounted to $149,328,075, up by $3,646,452, or 2.5 percent.

Hilltop home to be on tour

By JEANDAY

"Welcome — Hilltop Acres" reads the handpainted sign on the red barn at the entrance to 19061 Sheldon Road.

The rambling house at the crest of the hill south of Seven Mile for the past year has been the home of the Donald Baxter family. The Baxters chose its distinctive camel color with cream trim and cranberry accents.

The handpainted sign with pineapple, the traditional symbol of hospitality, is the design of Mary Beth Baxter, who is known for her work on wood and tin.

One reason the Baxters moved from their home on Langfield is that the hilltop site boasted a ready-made artist's studio.

In past months, however, Mary Beth Baxter has had to snatch time from house decorating for her painting. A visit from her parents has helped her prepare for a booth at the Plymouth Fall Festival September 8-9.

"My father," she mentions, "painted the tin blanks for me to decorate." So she intends to have mailboxes, cups, bride's boxes and other tins ready with colorful, painted patterns.

Many Northville homes already are decorated with her door welcome signs with owners' names.

Mrs. Baxter also is finishing painting and papering her home to have it open for the 12th annual Northville Home Tour co-sponsored by the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church and Northville Historical Society September 28.

It will be the second time the hilltop home has been on view. It was on tour in 1973 when the Robert Coates family owned it.

Visitors this year will see many changes. In addition to painting the exterior, the Baxters have painted the inside throughout in antique white with blue and cranberry accents.

The home is a perfect background for the family's collections. It has built-in cupboards and nooks holding "present" cups that in years past told the owner to "Think of Me." This collection was started by Mrs. Baxter for daughters, Heather, 10, and Amy, 7.

Mrs. Baxter's own growing collection of baskets — now numbering about 75 —

In Our Town

Area couples discover five choice inns to visit

By JEAN DAY

It's "the inn thing."

To find an atmospheric inn serving good food has become part of the fun of a summer trip for local residents. Many are reporting marvelous dining in inns that may be former stables or grist and wool mills of a century past.

Six Northville couples earlier this month spent a weekend in Toronto. After touring Yorkville and other attractions, they had brunch at the Doctor's House and Livery Restaurant and Tavern in Kleinburg north of Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeAlexandris, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peltz, Mr. and Mrs. Terence Heaton, Mr. and Mrs. Donn Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holloway and Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson were served brunch around a coffee table in an upstairs room furnished with primitive pieces.

Carol Richardson reports that most of the couples belong to a local gourmet group and thoroughly enjoyed the crabmeat crepes, omelets with ham and tarragon and sausages, among other treats. It's necessary to make a reservation, she warns, but recommends it as a final adventure on a Toronto weekend.

Enroute home the couples also stopped at Aberfoyle east of Kitchener where there's always a Sunday flea market. There's also the Aberfoyle Mill inn where a friend and I had an excellent lunch recently on a balcony that was part of a loft in the stone building. Hanging from the high ceiling were yesteryear farm implements and a sleigh.

Residents who cross to Canada to enjoy Shakespeare at Stratford have been making stops at the Benmiller Inn in Goderich. Among the first to weekend there were the Leonard Kleins who won the outing last fall. It was the prize in a benefit drawing of Northville Historical Society. And it was a delight, says Ruth Klein, of the inn converted from two nineteenth century mills, one a former grist mill and the other a woolen mill.

Today one mill has the dining room while the other boasts a pool and sauna. Food in the stone-floored dining room is excellent, says Mrs. Klein, with fish a house specialty. Again, reservations are a must, she stresses, as the manager explained to them that the inn is filled almost year round — with hikers in summer and cross country skiers in winter.

Ruth Klein also cites the Golden Lamb in Lebanon, Ohio, a stop well-known to southbound travelers on the I-75. The inn is said to be oldest in the Midwest. It serves excellent food and offers lodging in rooms occupied by statesmen and presidents in the past. Baseline Questers stayed there last spring on an antiquing trip to Ohio.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario's oldest community, is drawing local visitors to its summer Shaw festival. Earlier this summer a large group, including the Dean Lenheisers, Milton Wests, Joseph Krupis and Rose Kelly, timed their trip to coincide with a summer art fair. They stayed at the Prince of Wales Hotel, an historic building that opened as Long's Hotel in 1864. new bedrooms presently are being added, Mrs. Lenheiser reports.

There's a bar-lounge where you can have lunch or an after-the-theater drink as well as two dining rooms, one of them a greenhouse where guests eat among potted trees and plants.

Newcomer head's leaving

"I feel Northville is a place where people really embrace you with open arms," said Bev Walsh a bit wistfully last week as she packed for a family move August 26 to New York State. While the move back east is taking the Walshes closer to their home in Connecticut, Mrs. Walsh says they found Northville "special" as people are so friendly.

In their five-and-a-half years here, Bev Walsh herself has done her part to welcome new residents. She served as president of Northville Newcomers Club for the past year. Last Wednesday her Newcomer board had a luncheon for her at Hillside Inn.

The Walshes have sold their home on Langfield and will be living in an apartment until they build a home on the lot they have purchased in the small town of Niskayuna near Albany where Mike Walsh is affiliating with Mechanical Technologies, Incorporated. The couple has two children, Heather, 4, and Mike, 2.

Couple wed with traditional ritual

The rites of a traditional Greek Orthodox wedding ceremony were observed by Margaret Elizabeth Selfridge and Ilyia William Gramas at their June 24 marriage in Saints Constantine and Helen Church in Palos Hills, Illinois.

It included the triple exchange of wedding rings by the best man, Peter Marines of Palos Hills, signifying allegiance to one another and serving as tokens of a life-long union.

A crowning of the couple signifying victory. Glory and love were bestowed upon the newlyweds by the church as well as the royal dignity of family life. Finally, a triple circling of the altar by the couple represented the eternity of the marriage bond.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Selfridge of Lexington Boulevard. They recently returned to Northville after living in Hinsdale, Illinois, for the last four years.

The bridegroom is the son of George Gramas of Lombard, Illinois, and the late Mrs. Bea Gramas

For her marriage the bride wore a traditionally styled gown of antique white organza fashioned with a portrait neckline. The skirt extended into a sweep, and her veil of illusion was fingertip length. She carried an orchid cascade.

Andrea Manolatos of Darien, Illinois, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Tamara Selfridge, sister of the bride, Antigone Hessler, sister of the bridegroom, and Pamela Bongiovanni Selfridge, sister-in-law of the bride. All wore mint green Qiana gowns with halter tops and short jackets. They carried glamellia and baby's breath arrangements.

Ushers were Daniel Interlandi, Todd Gatz and David Selfridge, brother of the bride. Another brother, Miles Selfridge, was ring bearer in beige tails matching those of the bridegroom and his attendants.

The guest list of 200 included visitors from Florida, Oklahoma, Ohio and Indiana as well as Michigan and Illinois.

A wedding trip followed to Greece where the newlyweds spent the month of July, visiting Athens and the bridegroom's grandparents and other relatives on the islands of Corfu and Paxos.

The new Mrs. Gramas attended Northville High School and was graduated from Hinsdale South High School. She attended Southern Illinois University and the College of DuPage.

Her husband graduated from high school in Lombard and attended College of DuPage and Purdue University. He now is manager and part-owner of At's A Nice Restaurant near Chicago.

They will be living in Downers Grove, Illinois.

Emphasis on purposeful play

Two new teachers join cooperative preschool staff

"Sesame Street made a vast difference — more than any other influence it has changed the direction of preschool development."

This is the explanation given by Myrna Hahn for the changes in preschool programs.

This fall Mrs. Hahn and Cindy Hayes are joining Elizabeth ("Biz") Gazlay as teachers for the Northville Cooperative Preschool, the oldest in the area.

The cooperative is changing its name and emphasis from play school to preschool. "There will be planned free play with a purpose," explains Mrs. Hahn.

Mrs. Hahn, who lives in Plymouth, has two sons, Ryan, 5, and Jeffrey, 8, and has been both a mother and a teacher in cooperative nurseries. She has her BA and master's degrees in elementary education from Eastern Michigan University.

She taught a preschool program in Redford last spring and also began to work in the Northville Cooperative.

Mrs. Hayes, a Northville resident of King's Mill who has a son, Brandon, 5, substituted in Northville cooperative last year. She has a BA degree in elementary and special education from EMU.

As the two join Mrs. Gazlay, longtime teacher on the staff, the program is being increased to two sessions in the fall.

Children may be enrolled for three sessions a week on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings or for two on Tuesday and Thursday.

All sessions are from 9 to 11:20 a.m. "Ideally, we try to steer younger children into the two-day-a-week program," says Karen Archer, vice-president of the cooperative. She explains that mothers with children in the programs work about two times a month.

"It's perfect for the non-working mother or for the mother who works part-time," she continues, citing the advantage of a cooperative — "Mom can see her child actively involved with 20 other children. It's often the child's first experience away from home, and it's easier with mother helping."

"The child also is learning to share Mom."

"We had a very innovative board last year," Mrs. Archer recalls, telling how the decision was made to give the nursery a different emphasis.

Three-year-olds today are counting and learning their colors; they're also handicapped if they don't get to play with other children before starting school, the teachers explain.

Asked the difference in emphasis in the cooperative and other area preschools, the teachers say they feel the cooperative preschool experience "offers a more well-balanced child — we teach motor skills and creativity through play."

Mrs. Archer also points to the school's long existence as a big advantage, saying that through the years the cooperative has acquired excellent equipment. Outdoors at the scout-recreation building at 215 West Cady where the cooperative meets are play bars, a slide, play motorcycle and play house with storage shed beneath.

Mothers participating in the program pay $21 a month for the three-day sessions and $16 for the two-day.

Mrs. Archer, who has both four-year-old Erica and Shannon, almost three, in the co-op, says there still are openings in both sessions, but the three-day-a-week one is close to being filled. The new teachers will be teaching three days a week with a maximum of 30 children, while Mrs. Gazlay will have the two-day program with 10-15.

Next Thursday, August 24, a coffee is planned at 10 a.m. at the home of Barbara Glover on Main Street to explain the fall program to mothers who have children enrolled and to any interested mothers. Mrs. Archer may be called at 348-9471 for information.

"Many people who move to the community are finding with the lower birth rate that there are no near playmates for their children and are looking for a way for their youngsters to have the socialization process," Mrs. Hahn says.

She adds that she feels children who have the cooperative experience will be more ready for kindergarten.

"Ultimately we take into account the whole child and his development. We stress small and large muscle development and auditory skills through our play," she states.

Mrs. Hayes, who minored in art at Eastern, plans to emphasize art, music and dramatics.

Also upcoming will be monthly field trips and cooking projects.

Northville has some "great places for three and four year olds to go on field trips," Mrs. Hahn mentions enthusiastically.

"There's an insurance office (Bloom's) with stuffed animals that we've been invited in to talk about, a friendly barber and interesting manhole covers to inspect!"

Home Decorating with Howard & Lois Green

Now that we're all becoming more sports minded, the problem of where to store our gear can be a challenge. Instead of tripping over the trappings of our athletic hobbies, storage for tennis rackets, skis, jogging shoes, skates, and golf clubs to mention a few, requires creative planning. Built-ins, modular units, shelves and closets can be converted with ingenuity to hold bulky items. A large trunk or cabinet is a must for home storage. Heavy peg board and hooks if neatly arranged will keep rackets, skis, and small items off the floor and in order. It makes sense to protect your investment in expensive equipment by planning clear, dry storage space.

When you need decorating ideas for your home, come in and browse at GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER, 107 N. Center St., 349-7110. Collection-filled hilltop house to be open on tour provides accents on top of cupboards, in room corners and hanging from the rafters of the slant-celling in the kitchen.

Everywhere, too, throughout the living rooms are pillows. Some are sewn from antique quilts; others are patchwork designs. One of the most unusual is embroidered with the alphabet and an applique house. It is the result of hours of work and was a gift from Mrs. Baxter's friend, Marty Walters.

Tour visitors also will appreciate the family's collection of old toys. There's a dollhouse inherited from Don Baxter's grandparents. It was called a "Christmas house" and was lighted for the holidays.

Mrs. Baxter just added an ark set found at the Saline show this summer. She's also fond of old stuffed animals, including "Charley," a stuffed monkey auction "find."

On more than two acres high above Sheldon Road in a densely treed setting, the home seems far removed from the heavy traffic below. Visitors park on a circle drive that Don Baxter presently is bordering with a brick path. At the rear is a shimmering blue pool with woods beyond.

Last year the Baxters delightedly gathered walnuts from the old trees, storing them in barn. Only later did they discover that squirrels had discovered and taken the entire hoard.

Visitors will enter from a foyer off the drive. It has a Jenny Lind bed made into a bench. Patchwork pillows on it came from a visit to New York State.

"This was our first antique," says Mrs. Baxter of the red-painted cupboard that once held her daughters' toys.

On the north side of the home is a family room with red rag-rug carpeting and a blue couch filled with colorful pillows. here is the dollhouse Don Baxter made last Christmas for his daughters.

Outside the picture window is a large wisteria vine that a former owner, who stopped by unexpectedly one day, remembered as a "small vine by the outhouse."

Charles Kirby recalled renting the house in the late 1930's. It had been strictly a summer home for a Highland Park family with only three rooms and an outhouse.

The Donald Sobers, who now live in Plymouth, bought the home in the 1940's during World War II from Fred Curtis, who was executor of his sister's estate. Curtis, Sober recalled last week, owned the Curtis building across from Ford Hospital. The house, he said, had to be one of the earliest on Sheldon Road, being one of only three shown on an early topographical map.

It was the Sobers who installed heating and plumbing and added to the house. They lived there about 18 years.

Marion Sober acquired the art studio as surplus from Selfridge Field, where, she understands, it once served as a dormitory. "It cost $25," she recalls, "and $10 to bring it by flattop." Her husband recalls that it also required heating and electricity.

"We sold the house to the Bruce Bradshaws," Mrs. Sober adds, mentioning that he was a decorator at Hudson's "and made it very stunning."

There is a barn on the property that Mrs. Sober thinks may be older than the house. "I bought the view and Don the tractor," she says. Her husband brought stones from a building being demolished at University of Michigan to make a terrace, now a screened porch located off the dining room.

Today the pine-board dining room walls are antique white and have a

Home to be on tour

freshly stenciled border of thistles painted by Mrs. Baxter.

A major addition in the living room is an early mantel for the fireplace that Mrs. Baxter's sister located in Upper New York State.

The fireplace, which was a later addition, is off-center on a brick wall on the north side of the living room. The L-shaped room holds the rolltop desk of Mrs. Baxter's grandfather, Dr. Ben H. Anderson, who was a country doctor in Andersonburg, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Baxter confesses that she has achieved the appealing interiors "by trial and error." The Quincy tan trim that complements the antique white of the living room first was painted a color that turned out "to look like flesh."

Part of the charm of an old house is the rambling floor plan that in this case includes a small television room off the living room. A door in it opens to a compact first-floor laundry.

"I can open the door, wash and watch television," points out the owner.

Up the narrow stairway off the living room are two bedrooms.

Pink wallpaper is used in the bedroom shared by the sisters.

The master bedroom has a slant roof and a queen-size bed that Mrs. Baxter says will "stay with the house" as part of the stair wall had to be removed to bring it in.

If she's on hand during the tour, the enthusiastic collector may point out some choice baskets in her assemblage.

"Michigan isn't known for baskets," she notes, "but those with punched-up bottoms were designed so that the apples they held didn't get crushed." There's a fine example in the living room.

The Baxters' creative abilities and hard work have made their home a showplace full of ideas for visitors.

Gazlays have guests

Julie Lundstedt and daughters, Melissa and Emily, of Danville, California, spent two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gazlay of South Rogers.

They also were at the celebration of Mrs. Lundstedt's grandmother's birthday. Mrs. Jay S. Pettitt of Benzonia was 90 years old.

Seek recorders for blind

"We're desperate for people to help with this worthwhile project," reported longtime volunteer with Recording for the Blind and Northville resident Gladys Weiss last week.

In her plea for other residents to become interested in the program that helps blind students at Wayne State University, Mrs. Weiss points out that both readers and monitors are needed.

Readers are required for general subject matter, but the critical need is for readers of mathematics, computer science and general sciences.

Monitors are needed to run the recording machines and listen through earphones, following the text being read.

Mrs. Weiss has been a Recording for the Blind reader for 15 years with only a short recess when she was unable to volunteer because of time pressures of her job at Green Ridge Nursery.

She presently is accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd Nelson of Novi. The two make a trip to recording studios at Wayne State University about once a week, usually recording for about six hours.

She stresses that it is possible for a volunteer to set her or his own hours, spending as much time as is convenient, from two to eight hours, to provide quality tapes for blind students.

She mentions that it now is an easy trip since the 275 expressway is open and their own parking is available at Wayne.

A variety of college and high school texts constantly is in demand by students striving to become independent adults capable of contributing to society, she explains.

Mrs. Weiss says she will be pleased to explain the program to anyone interested and may be contacted at 349-3190.

"You do have to have a voice audition," she states, "but even if your voice isn't suitable for some reading, it is satisfying to become a monitor."

Other qualifications for the volunteer service are sufficient education and a wide range of interests. Wayne State University recording studio, 833-0048, where Mrs. Weiss volunteers, or Oakland Community College studio, 642-4561, may be called about auditions.

"There's a special sense of achievement," Mrs. Weiss says, "in knowing you're helping young students."

That's what has kept her volunteering for 15 years.

Families host Japanese students on Midwest stop

Four Japanese students sampled life in the Midwest last week in Northville as four families welcomed the tourists into their homes for a six-day visit.

They were among 14 students for whom the Plymouth, Kiwanis Club located host families.

The high school students from Japan ranged in age from 16 to 18 years old and were participating in a special "view of the United States" program that is now 13 years old.

It is a personal project of Suetaka Hatamaka, chairman of the board of Minamihon broadcasting company in Japan.

At least 1,500 Japanese students annually apply to participate in the program and go through three different elimination processes before the final group is selected, Mrs. Joseph O'Doherty of West Main was told as her family hosted a Japanese youth last week. Eight boys and six girls were in the visitor group.

Others welcoming the students were the John Valassis family of 16171 Tiverton, the Gary Boylls of 866 Grace and the Myers Wagner family of West Seven Mile.

Mrs. O'Doherty recalled that she heard of the need for homes in an appeal on radio station WJR. She understands that during the early years of the program students stayed in Ann Arbor. The University of Michigan, which friends of the sponsor apparently had attended, is the reason for the area visit.

After a stop at Disneyland in Los Angeles, the tourists were flown to Atlanta and then stayed in Athens near Oglethorpe University, where the sponsor's son had studied. He now accompanies the students as one of the chaperones.

The visitors then went by bus to Washington, D. C., coming next to Michigan. They will move on to Shenandoah, Iowa, another small community, before continuing the bus tour to San Francisco.

Mrs. O'Doherty says that by traveling by bus the young people are getting an opportunity to see the country "from flat lands to mountains."

She mentions that she and her youngsters were pleasantly surprised at how well their visitor spoke and understood English, although they had been told he probably would not be able to communicate too well.

The young people selected to participate in the adventure, she adds, are not necessarily that would be considered the "intelligentsia" although one is the child of an owner of a company and another a grocery store.

"Our boy's father," she noted, "works on a fishing boat and his mother in a tuna fish factory."

Most students, she observed, had hobbies. Their visitor's was judo, but others were gymnasts or musicians.

Their Plymouth hosts arranged outings for the guests whose host families took them to the airport Thursday.

"We were told just to let them be part of our normal routine," Mrs. O'Doherty explained, saying she hoped that knowing about the program would make it appeal to more families next year.

"They did seem to have difficulty getting homes," she said, calling the project "a super experience" for her youngsters.

Ideally, she added, the sponsor hoped to have the guests in homes with high school age families, but she found her elementary age children enjoyed the experience very much.

She pointed out that it is a capsule-type visit with a person of another land and much easier for most families to manage than the usual year-long exchange programs.

"I recommend it," she said enthusiastically.

Programs help cope with grief

Four daytime series for widowed persons are scheduled at Schoolcraft. They will focus on the stages of grief and personal adjustment. It is advised that all four meetings in a series be attended.

Sister Basso will direct the sessions to be held at Newman House.

They are Session 1, Wednesdays, beginning August 23; session 2, Mondays, beginning November 20; and session 3, Thursdays, beginning March 1, 1979. All will be held from 9:30-11:30.

A program, "Alone Again: Focus Widowhood", will be starting September 21 from 7 to 9 p.m. For further information call the Resource Center.

Master Gardener plan helps

Area gardens great and small are plots of beauty

Woods form the background of Joyce Mellin's country garden on Kenicott Trail in Brighton

By JEAN DAY

He that plants.... loves others besides himself.

Ben Franklin said it about trees, but it's equally true of those who plant shrubs and flowers, creating suburban gardens for all to enjoy.

In the past five to ten years horticulture has become a household word, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service pointed out earlier this year, with area residents seeking more information from their extension services on what, where and how to grow.

Result was the formation of a Master Gardener program to give those who already have a love of gardening some "better ideas." Every gardener enrolled in the programs through Wayne, Washtenaw and Livingston extension services then volunteers 20 hours of service to help other gardeners.

Joyce Mellin in Brighton has completed the 30-hour class and in addition to volunteering in the extension service office has been caring for her own terraced garden on Kenicott Trail. She now has her coveted Master Gardener patch.

Mary Begle in the Northville-Novi area has taken the course and is in the process of accruing her volunteer hours. Both may be called for help.

But there also are many other gardeners throughout the area whose green thumbs create beautiful gardens — large and small.

Alice Painter's garden in a 20 by 20-foot condominium courtyard in Highland Lakes in Northville is capsule-size but contains a fountain, 14 different kinds of roses and a wall of such old-fashioned delights as marigolds, cockscomb, petunias, cornflowers and forget-me-nots.

She's planted both inside and outside her fence and added to available growing space by hanging pots and baskets on the fence itself.

But gardens are demanding. Those who have them know that during this dry summer they've needed constant attending.

As Alice Painter says, gardeners are "the ones with the dirty fingernails."

But looking at the resulting day lilies or roses makes it worthwhile

Harvest Time

You probably don't remember
The screeching, grinding wheels
Of the steam-powered trashing machine!
You'd hear those fearsome squeals

About now, or as late as September
As it roared to its next harvest scene;
It crawled along, clanking and creaking
While its stack belched smoke in between.

The kids would all come a-running
From wherever they happened to be
When they heard the scream of the whistle
Of this monstrous, snorting banshee!

It would stand at the edge of a wheat field
As it chewed out the husks from the grain
And cough and wheeze from the chaff
In a gasp that sounded profane.

Then on to the next eighty acres
Before it began to rain;
Those rumbles, explosions and thrills
Would start all over again!

Charles E. Hutton

Places Within Time

There have been solitary buildings... deep valleys and lonely hills where peace within quiet have been found.

There have been loves in life flowers within the vases in bloom...
mistakes and one night stands that shouldn't have been...
loves that couldn't stay
because they went back to other things.

There have been moments of feeling pain and laughter or wanting to scream out of some new freedom or laugh and laugh until the ceilings of ecstasy crumbled to the floors of existence...

And too, there have been times of exploration in and out of the boundaries of life...
looking, searching, and finding that which is true or real underlying all reality.

And as the true dawn has shone its light through the window... bringing about all the feeling, emotion, time and space...
places in time,
each day will bring more of the same...
as it is life.

Remember?

As I take view of what I see,
The clear blue sky and budding tree.
It's then my heart fills with joy
As I hear the laughter of a girl and boy.

As the grass turns green from the seed we did

And the flowers bloom & the garden grows
The smell of summer floats in on a breeze
Does it make you forget last winter's deep

Landlord Lunacy

Being a Landlord answers no dreams
From hysterical women over washing machines
To grease and oil tracks on hall rugs;
Just think of all the fun when they add bugs.

If that isn't enough, there are always ashes
From cigarettes; and sloppily dumped trashes,
Though designated to incinerators or cans,
Landlord rules can't think up enough bans.

Pick and peck; their group voice rises —
If complaints got rewards they'd get the prizes;
If there was a way a landlord could do it
He'd take each Lease and never renew it.

F. A. Hasenau

August is a busy month for home gardeners. Michigan State University Extension specialists offer these suggestions for timely activities:

—Check maples and other trees for aphids. Affected leaves will be mottled, curled, and glossy and sticky with honeydew. Aphid predators like ladybugs should be present in large numbers. If predators are scarce, you can spray with malathion. This is not recommended, however.

It's too late in the season for the aphids to do any serious damage.
Spraying also wipes out the predator insects.

—Azaleas and oak trees with green-veined, yellow leaves are suffering from an iron deficiency. Iron chelates applied as a soil drench will correct this. Iron implants are also very effective.

—Avoid fertilizing trees and shrubs
now. Fertilizing would stimulate late growth that would be susceptible to winter injury.

—Sycamore, honeylocust and other ornamentals that are heavily infested with lacebugs may be sprayed with Sevin or malathion. Handle all pesticides carefully, but be particularly careful with Sevin — it is extremely toxic to honeybees. Avoid using Sevin near bee colonies. Spray ornamentals late in the day, when bees are less likely to be active.

—Bagworms feeding on ornamentals cannot be controlled by spraying now. Pick the bags off and destroy them.

—Check trees and shrubs transplanted in the past year or two to make sure they are not being girdled by guy wires. Wire or nylon rope around the base of the trunk should have been removed at transplanting time.

—Plant beans, beets, lettuce, peas and radishes for a fall harvest.

—Thin fall vegetables planted in July.

—Check sweet corn for signs of feeding by the corn earworm and European corn borer. Spray with Sevin if necessary.

—Pick tomato hornworms off tomato plants and destroy them. Or spray with Bacillus thuringiensis, a bacterial disease that affects only caterpillars.

—If your tomatoes succumbed to fusarium or verticillium wilt, make a note to buy and grow resistant varieties next year. Also, plant your tomatoes in a new location. The organisms that cause these diseases remain in the soil from year to year.

—Prune out raspberry and blackberry canes that fruited this year.
They won't bear again.

—Make a map of your garden so you can move crops to new locations next year. Plants that are susceptible to the same diseases — for instance, squash, cucumbers and melons; and tomatoes, peppers, eggplant and potatoes — should not follow each other in the same spots.

—Harvest beans, cucumbers, carrots, radishes and other vegetables as they are ready. Allowing cucumbers, summer squash and similar fruits to mature on the vine will stop the plants from producing more.

—Dig potatoes after the tops die.
—Onions for storage should be harvested after the tops turn brown and fall over. Onions for fresh use can be harvested anytime.

—To make celery stalks grow paler, cover the plants for 12 to 15 days to keep light off them.

—Tomatoes with leafspot, early blight and late blight should be sprayed with maneb or tomato sprays containing copper.

—To whiten the heads of cauliflower, wrap them in the larger leaves of the plants when heads are two to three inches across. Harvest heads when they are about six inches in diameter. Self-blanching and green- or purple-headed varieties do not need this treatment.

—Establish a new lawn or renovate an old one between August 15 and September 15. MSU research has shown this to be the best time for lawn establishment in Michigan.

—Prepare and seed bare spots in your lawn. During dry weather, water daily — more than once, if necessary — until the new grass is firmly established.

—Fertilize established lawns in late August with a complete fertilizer. Apply fertilizer just before a rain, or water it in to prevent it from burning the grass.

—Do not use lawn herbicides or weed-and-feed materials containing silvex when the temperature is higher than 75 degrees F. At high temperatures, silvex can damage the lawn and landscape ornamentals.

—Lawns being damaged by white grubs or sod webworms should be treated with dursban or diazinon.
Follow label directions.

—Prepare beds for spring flowering bulbs. Order bulbs now for planting in November.

—Take cuttings from wax begonia, impatiens, fuchsia, coleus and geraniums for growing indoors this winter.

—Divide and transplant lilies, phlox, iris and peonies that need it.

—Avoid fertilizing rose after August 15. Later fertilization would stimulate new growth that would be very susceptible to winter injury.

—Cut back perennials after the foliage begins to die.

Clematis Volucea

Clematises-grow 'em
from stem cuttings

If you have a single clematis plant in your yard and you'd like more, it isn't necessary to plunk down more money for this lovely perennial.

New plants can be started from stem cuttings taken yet this summer to bloom the following year.

Most often thought of as a vine, the clematis comes in a number of varieties — one of which looks nothing like a vine or a "bush." The variety "hendersonii" is a non-climbing plant topped by sky-blue flowers on erect three to four foot high leafed stems. Its curled back petals are faintly perfumed and keep on for many weeks after midsummer.

The more popular clematis, however, are the varieties that grow like bushy vines, supported by stationary objects. Depending upon the kind desired, they grow from three to twelve feet in height.

Clematises like well-drained, slightly acid to neutral soil. Plants should be spaced 18 to 24 inches apart, and the gardener should keep the soil cool and moist during the growing season by covering with compost or peat moss. They thrive in full sun or light shade.

One of the newest hybrids is Clematis Volucea, a vigorous and free flowering hybrid growing eight to 12 feet in height and covered from June to September with four to six inch deep Petunia red flowers with brightly contrasting yellow stamens.

Female doctors:

Dentistry's big cavity

By WARREN M. HOYT

According to a preliminary study released by the Department of Licensing and Regulation, women and minorities in Michigan are discouraged and discriminated against by the state's licensed professions.

Of the 32 professions reviewed, only two had a greater percentage of minorities than the 11.9 percent in Michigan's workforce. These were barbers and medical doctors.

Only six had a greater percentage of women than the 41.6 percent in the workforce and those were in fields traditionally entered by females, such as nursing and cosmetology.

"The number are pathetically low. In some occupations, like electricians and dentists, the numbers of women and minorities are so low you couldn't find them with an x-ray," said Licensing and Regulation Director William Ballenger.

He noted Michigan's licensed occupations run behind the national average for the number of minorities and women employed.

Ballenger said Governor Milliken has done much by increasing the representation of women and minorities on licensing boards. He added, however, that the state must bear a lot of the blame for the situation.

He said some of the problems stem from the "incestuous relationship" between legislators and special interests.

The occupation associations and labor unions, which represent a special interest, have often been able to get legislation written that specifies qualifications or rules for licensing.
Ballenger noted quite often such legislation and/or rules preclude minorities.

Ballenger said another problem is that the "focus brought by the civil rights movement of the 60's really hasn't trickled down to professional societies

Barriers for women and minorities to the licensed professions can include education requirements, societal pressures, photographs on license applications, examinations and other items such as credit records.

The report made 13 recommendations including increasing women and minority representation on state licensing boards; funding at least part of Michigan's regulatory activities with general funds, rather than through licensing fees; determining whether licensing tests are truly job related; and "removing every last trace of the historical power which professional societies and association, as well as labor unions, have held over the appointment of members of the state's regulatory and licensing panels."

Ballenger said the report indicates that while there has not been any blattant discrimination in some professions, the potential for discrimination does exist.

A COMPANY started in 1974 and incorporated in 1977, Kasco Automotive & Industrial Hardware, Inc., is now doing business at 224 South Main Street in Northville.

Kasco sells to automobile dealers, trucking concerns and industrial manufacturing, making shipments throughout Michigan and Ohio. Its product includes some 20,000 nuts, bolts, screws, clips, fasteners, etc.

"Since opening our office on South Main Street, we are encouraging off the street business," said a company spokesperson. "Although we can not stock all the items we sell we can generally make delivery within a few days. As part of this expansion no order is too small to handle, if possible."

A recent special treat for the owners of the company, E. L. (Bud) Kunz and Hazel Kunz, longtime Northville residents, was in seeing the Burt Reynolds movie, "Smokey & The Bandit." The sun roof in all Firebird cars, one of which driven by Reynolds, contains clips sold by Kasco to the company that installs them.

WINNERS of prizes awarded by Northville Vacuum & Appliances have been announced. They are:

First, a Quasar B/W TV, Mrs. Myra Johnson of Northville; second, Eureka upright vacuum, N. C. Boase of Northville; third, Litton Micro-wave cook ware set, Irene Kinnunen of Northville; fourth, Caldric Garbage Disposal, Artil Cogar of South Lyon; and fifth, Zenith clock radio, Martha Wicke of Northville.

Awarding the prizes on behalf of the new store was Ernie Aruffo of Aruffo Custom Floor Coverings.

RIZZO-NORTHVILLE Realty, located at 505 North Center Street, has added an all-new slate blue aluminum siding to its office facility. Owned by Tony Rizzo, the five-year-old business has grown to 25 employees.

COMMUNITY NATIONAL BANK of Pontiac has announced that a cash payment, based on a price of $19.20 per share which is the equivalent of $24 on shares presently outstanding, will be paid stockholders in lieu of issuing fractional shares resulting from a proposed stock split.

Warren H. Eireman, chairman of the board and president, stated that Community National Bank of Pontiac's proposed 25 percent stock split to be effected in the form of a stock dividend will be distributed on October 17, 1978, to the bank's stockholders of record on September 22, 1978.

The bank's Board of Directors voted in June to distribute the proposed stock split subject to the bank's shareholders authorizing the issuance of the additional shares for the stock split and obtaining the required approval of the Comptroller of the Currency. Under the proposal, stockholders of the bank would receive one additional share of the bank's common stock for every four shares they own on September 22, 1978.

Community National Bank currently pays cash dividends at the annual rate of $1.40 per share and the Board of Directors has announced its intention, if conditions permit, to increase the annual cash dividends on the bank's stock by 10.7 percent to the equivalent of $1.55 per share presently outstanding.

After the proposed stock split the bank would have one million shares outstanding compared to its present 800,000 shares and the proposed new annual cash dividend would be at the rate of $1.24 for each of the one million shares then outstanding.

THE J. L. HUDSON COMPANY has announced the opening of the Woodward Shops for Men at the Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi.

These elite shops reflect Hudson's dominance as a quality fashion leader in the men's wear field, according to Hudson's Men's Fashion Director Bob Jackson.

Designer lines will be featured including such names as Calvin Klein, Don Sayres, Cacharel, Pierre Palmain, Arthur Richards, Sal Cesarani, Burberry of London, Nino Cerruti, Givenchy Signature, and St. Pierre of Italy.

Jackson said that the Woodward Shops for Men will appeal to the male customer who likes garments and accessories that feature fine fabrics, quality design, and good tailoring. The shops will attract the male counterpart of the female customer of Hudson's Woodward Shops.

Hudson's is a Detroit-based fashion-oriented specialty department store with 15 locations in Michigan and Toledo, Ohio.

JEAN JORLETT of Northville has been appointed to the position of coordinator of in-service education at Providence Hospital. The appointment was announced by Sister Xavier Ballace, hospital administrator.

Mrs. Jorlett has been an in-service instructor for the past seven years.

Following graduation from Cincinnati's Christ Hospital School of Nursing, she was on the staff of the Miami (Ohio) University Health Clinic and Stouder Memorial Hospital in Troy, Ohio. At Providence she served on medical-surgical units between 1969 and 1971.

Mrs. Jorlett, who earned a baccalaureate degree in education administration at the University of Detroit, is a member of the OHEP and DENT organizations.

WILLIAM T. SHAW, attorney well known for many years as an executive with a long-established Detroit-area residential builder, has been elected branch manager of the Livingston County office of Lawyers Title Insurance Corp.

Edward A. Blaty, vice president and Michigan manager of Lawyers Title, announced the appointment, effective Aug. 1, to fill the branch's top spot being vacated with the retirement of Frank Crawford.

Shaw was an executive with the Bert L. Smokler Co. and its related Standard Mortgage Corp. from 1953 through 1973. He served Ann Arbor Federal Savings & Loan Association until October, 1976, and most recently was with John Adams Mortgage Co.

Shaw received his J.D. degree from the University of Detroit. The father of eight children, he and his wife Susan plan to live in Howell, where the Livingston branch is located. Although retiring, Crawford has agreed to remain with the branch as senior title examiner.

PERRY DRUG STORES, Inc., announced today that students who attain a 3.6 or better grade average through the 1978-79 school year can have free of charge whatever may be their prescription eyeglass requirements at any of the Pontiac-based chain's optical centers.

"This will be the second year for the program. It is aimed at promoting greater awareness of the importance of vision correction for achieving higher levels of education and last year resulted in 52 students receiving free glasses," said Robert A. Shapiro, Perry vice president — professional relations.

THE ARMOR DESIGN COMPANY, located in Fraser since 1975, has moved to Brighton.

Designers of fixtures, dies, tools, gages and special machines, the company is now located at 407 East Grand River across from Lucky Duck Nursery.

Owner Frank Parlove says the company does 90 percent of its work for car manufacturers but also does work for small companies.

FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES are available at Andy's Country Boy Fruit Market which is now open for business in Novi.

The new fruit and vegetable market is located on Grand River Avenue between Novi and Meadowbrook Roads.

The market is owned and operated by Andy Zangkas, a veteran with more than 30 years experience in the produce business, and his wife Frida whose father and brothers are longtime veterans of the produce business.

Terry and Thomas Zangkas, the sons of the owners, are also involved with the new market, making it a real old-fashioned family owned and operated business.

"We want to stress the family aspect of the new store as well as our many years of experience in the produce business," commented Andy Zangkas.

"We want to cater to the needs of the community with fast, courteous family-style service," he added. "We hope to be able to get to know our customers on a first name basis."

Zangkas stated further that the market will attempt to handle every fresh fruit and vegetable available.

Fresh produce is brought to the market every day by area farmers. Additional produce is picked up every morning at 3 a.m. from the Eastern Market in Detroit. Out-of-state produce is also picked up every morning at the Detroit Produce Terminal in Detroit. Out-of-state produce includes mangoes and oranges from Florida, grapes and lettuce from California, and pineapple from Hawaii. The market also has figs, coconuts, plums, green onions, and nectarines — just about every fruit or vegetable available.

In addition to the fresh produce, Andy's Country Boy Market also has all the items that a housewife needs on a daily basis such as milk, eggs, and bread.

Zangkas purchased the market from Fred Zoner earlier this year and is currently celebrating his grand opening with special bargain prices.

The market is open seven days per week from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Sunday.

What did Mama bumble bee say to Papa bumble bee? — "We're going to have a Bee Bee."

A big city sheriff caught a crook and had him photographed from the front, from the back, from one side and the other side. He mailed the 4 photos to all the sheriffs in the U.S. A week later he had a call from a sheriff in a small southern town who said "You know them pictures you sent me? "Yes," said the city sheriff. "Well, I got all 4 of 'em in jail here for you."

Did you hear about the new bride who takes an hour to cook minute rice?
