

Dedicated Rotarian Ed Bogart

Ed goes 42 years with perfect record

Forty two years and Ed Bogart never missed a Rotary Club meeting.

Every week for more than two thousand weeks he donned his hat and headed over to the Rotary Tuesday lunch meeting at the Northville Presbyterian Church for lunch and discussion with Northville's other businessmen. Even after he moved to another community and retired, he kept on in his weekly attendance. And finally, along about Ed Bogart's two-thousandth meeting, somebody noticed it.

Today, Ed Bogart is the proud owner of a gold Rotary pin honoring his perfect attendance record: 1937 to 1979.

2 more policemen seen in township

Police Chief Ronald Nisun asked for four additional police officers and apparently he will get two.

That seemed to be the consensus of the Northville Township Board as it wrestled with the police budget for nearly six hours last week.

The other major conclusion, though it and the other decisions made by the board "are only tentative" until after the total 1979-80 proposed township budget is studied and finally approved later this month, is that the board will use an 8.8 percent guideline for salary increases.

Major obstacle for the board was the number of additional personnel requested by the chief. Some members appeared to favor all of the additions, others wanted fewer. They compromised finally on the two additional officers.

It is unclear as yet if the chief's request for an additional part-time clerk will be supplied.

In giving the green light for two additional officers, the board informally agreed upon a new chain of command.

The net result of its decision is that the number of patrolmen will decrease from eight to seven, but the number of sergeants will increase from one to three, and a new position of lieutenant will be created.

Because it is expected that qualified present officers will be promoted, three patrolmen probably will be moved up (based on tests) to the rank of sergeant, and two of the three resulting patrolmen vacancies will be filled by new hires.

The new position of lieutenant, which probably will be filled by Kenneth Hardesty — the department's present sergeant, is to carry a salary of $20,207.

The salary of the sergeants was fixed at $19,000 — somewhat less than the 8.8 percent guideline.

In his budget, Chief Nisun had suggested a 15-percent raise for himself, the positions of sergeant, and $21,800 for the new lieutenant.

The board, however, pared this back to more closely reflect the 8.8 guideline. His own salary, for example, was raised from $20,207 to $21,985.

The two additional officers means the township police department will increase in size from 10 (including the chief) to 12 (also including the chief) plus 15 auxiliaries.

It will mean, predicted Hardesty, two patrol cars on the road at all times since sergeants also are expected to perform patrol duties.

Unaffected by the 8.8 guideline, however, is the salary of patrolmen who presently are negotiating for a new contract (sergeants and above are ex-

NEWS BRIEFS

VETERAN COUNCILMAN Wallace Nichols, 70, will retire — not as an official but, from business — on Friday after 23 years with Creditors Service, Inc. of National Account Systems. He has been collection manager of the firm's national business division. Nichols' term on the council expires in November. He has not yet indicated if he will seek reelection.

SCOUT SUNDAY will be observed at the 9:30 a.m. service Sunday at First Presbyterian church and at the 12:30 p.m. mass at Our Lady of Victory. This year both Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts will participate and are asked to arrive in uniform at the respective churches 15 minutes before services. Karen Dunnbeck, 349-3732, is in charge of arrangements.

MONDAY is the last date to register for the Tuesday, April 10 election on the proposal to build a city hall addition to house the public library. Clerk Joan McAllister reports that the city hall will be open on Saturday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Monday for registration.

THE ANNUAL settlement day meeting of the Northville Township Board is to be held at 7:30 p.m. next week Thursday. Settlement day is the date, historically, when the township's annual reports of financial and activities of the preceding year are given.

For odd drama, tune in election

Soap, TV's version of mind boggling intrigue, has nothing on Northville politics.

Consider last week's special primary election in Northville Township where a former Republican supervisor, ousted from office in November, won the right to represent Democrats in quest of a vacant township board seat.

And he did it with just 13 write-in votes that he says he didn't seek nor expect.

Mix in a little township hall infighting and you've got yourself the makings of a soap opera.

Not only did former Supervisor Wilson Grier find himself the winner of the nameless Democratic ticket, he couldn't refuse the nomination even if he wanted to.

What's more, Grier hasn't declined it, isn't saying if he's switched party allegiance, and he's claiming partisan politics shouldn't be part of township government — a government structure that he has long argued is the best in existence.

The wash out of all of this soap is that the March 20 run-off for the trustee post will pit last week's Republican winner over four opponents, David Mitchell, against "Democrat" Grier.

But there's more.

Another issue will be on the March 20 ballot — a proposal asking voters for permission to purchase land adjacent to the new township hall.

The latter, according to Clerk Clarice Sass, is necessary under the law if the township board wants to go ahead with its plans to use federal revenue sharing monies to purchase land.

All purchases or sale of land, she explained, must be approved by voters "even though, in this case, federal funds are to be used."

Area wide police-fire force?

Plan unveiled by treasurer of township

Although the township treasurer's surprise proposal for an area wide police-fire department took plenty of flak last week it's still afloat but limping.

Treasurer Lee Holland launched his proposal during a marathon police budget session of the township board last Wednesday that was nearly six hours in length.

Despite his own misgivings, Trustee John Swienkowski concluded, "You've (Holland) put enough time in this to warrant additional information, so I wouldn't object if you pursued it."

With that the board informally gave Holland and Supervisor Donald Thomson authority to discuss the idea with neighboring communities. Board members, however, made it clear — as did Holland himself — that authorization carries with it only permission to discuss the idea to determine if there is any interest — nothing more.

His proposal in a nutshell:

Establishment of a quasi-independent public safety authority to furnish all of the police and fire service for the townships of Northville and Plymouth and the cities of Northville and Plymouth. It would operate something like the existing Northville city-township library commission, with membership representation from each of the four communities.

The treasurer ticked off the advantages and disadvantages of the idea that he contended deserved consideration as an alternate, less costly service than the present multiplicity of services.

Among the advantages of a single, combined service that he saw were these:

- Less cost, with one police and one fire chief instead of four; fewer dispatchers and fewer clerks; less capital expenditure for equipment; less operational maintenance; less legal and administrative expense; one fire marshal instead of four.

- Improved service, particularly in the northwest section of the township, with availability of more specialized equipment and better coordination between communities, and provision of a chain of command.

- Provision of a solution for future growth of this area.

- Provision of expert personnel.

Disadvantages seen:

- Reaching agreement on a formula for assessment of equitable membership costs.
- Plymouth township has a full time fire department and an emergency service as opposed to the part-time, or volunteer services in the other communities.

- The city of Northville has a smaller area than the other potential members.

- Balancing of salaries for personnel (although for some firemen and policemen this would be an advantage).

- Reaching agreement on where the police and fire department headquarters should be located.

Holland admitted there probably are many other disadvantages but that perhaps they could be worked out if the public safety authority idea was discussed by the four communities.

Sergeant Kenneth Hardesty, who had been asked to be present at the budget session in the absence of the vacationing police chief, gave the proposal little chance of success, pointing out that "I know for a fact that Plymouth city would have no part of this so it boils down to a consolidation with the City of Northville and a contract with

Addition to rear of Northville City Hall planned to house public library

Election's April 10

Library proposal ok'd

Public library presently housed in Northville Square

Shall the City of Northville be permitted to borrow $37,000 to build a city hall addition to house the public library?

That's the question voters will decide here when the city holds its second special election within two months on Tuesday, April 10.

The library proposition was approved Monday for presentation to voters in much the same way as Mainstreet 78 was put to voters here in February.

If approved it will permit the city to issue general obligation bonds to finance the project, which has been whittled down to include only the library addition — not the earlier planned additions to the police and fire departments.

Presumably, construction could be completed yet this year, thus allowing the library to move from its present location in the Northville Square back to the city hall where it had been located for many years.

Council earlier decided to eliminate proposed police and fire department additions because of the greater than anticipated cost of the entire project.

Last September council rejected bids on the larger addition which came in at a combined low figure of $471,125 — not including a $30,000 architectural fee or a $40,000 to $50,000 contingency.

New bids on the smaller project are due March 22.

Officials are guessing now that bids will come in under $410,000.

The city proposes paying off the bonds with monies from the public improvement fund and from anticipated community development block (federal aid) grants.

Although operation of the library is jointly financed by the township, it will not share the cost of the addition. It will, however, continue to share operational costs — including maintenance.

The planned addition will be constructed at the southeast section (rear) of the city hall, covering a portion of the existing parking lot. It will not extend into the city hall park.

County orders sewer rate hike

Another utility increase is in the offing here, although local officials say it may be delayed awhile.

Notified this week that the county will increase its sewer rates June 1, Northville councilmen agreed the city should absorb the increase at least until July when the city's new fiscal year begins.

"Let's see what effect it will have on the sewer and water fund before we decide to pass the cost on to city customers," councilmen concluded.

The net effect of the rate increase, according to the city manager, would be a 7 percent hike in local operating costs.

Wayne County says the rate increase reflects an increased cost passed on to it by the City of Detroit, which operates the sewage disposal plant. The county owns the interceptor that carries the sewage to the plant.

HAMBURG TOWNSHIP — Nine-year-old Randy Johnson became a hero here when he crawled out onto the thin ice of the Huron River to save his third-grade classmate from drowning. When J. L. Worley fell through the ice, Randy held onto J. L.'s jacket hood and pulled until both were safely on the river banks. The result? J. L. and his parents are relieved; Randy is modest.

BRIGHTON — Brighton attorney Michael McGivney will launch a class-action suit on behalf of Fonda Lake area residents who are dissatisfied with attempts by the state to stop road salt seepage into their drinking water, the danger of which is still being debated by health and state officials.

NOVI — A major medical center which may be constructed near the Twelve Oaks Mall has run into opposition from the Novi Planning board. Plans were submitted by the Woodland Medical Group, currently located in Detroit, for construction of a 96,000 square foot facility with a complete line of health services. The planning board however, rejected the plan until changes can be made to conform with city zoning ordinances.

NOVI TOWNSHIP — Board will finance the court battle in appellate court to keep the city from annexing seven parcels of township land, even though a circuit court judge told the city to go ahead with annexation.

WALLED LAKE — Construction will begin soon on a new Kroger supermarket in the Commerce Woods Shopping center, scheduled to open in November. Meanwhile, Art Van Furniture submitted a request to the planning board to build a store across from the Twelve Oaks Mall.

WALLED LAKE — Developers of a new Kmart store here have filed suit in Oakland County Circuit court to keep the Economic Development Corporation from being dissolved. Walled Lake Commons Corporation was to have received EDC revenue-sharing bond assistance to build its $3 million Kmart store. Voters decided to eliminate the EDC in a public referendum, but the developers say the vote was not legal.

SOUTH LYON — The price of police protection in Lyon Township may rise. The city of South Lyon, which provides police coverage for the township, has asked for a $50,000 increase in the budget to cover increased operating costs.

NORTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — Now sheriff detectives are saying that the fire which burned the home of a young couple to the ground here may well have been arson after all. Officials are still investigating into why someone may have wanted to burn down the home.

Budget cutting may miss school

An executive order to reduce state spending that would have cost Northville Public Schools $70,000 may not be implemented.

State Senator Robert Geake (Republican-Northville) said Monday that earlier plans to cut state education aid by one percent to balance the state budget may be scrapped.

Instead, said Geake, some $70 million may be stripped from a supplemental appropriations bill to make state revenues match expected expenditures as required by the Michigan Constitution.

The appropriations bill, now before the House, contains additional funding for various departments.

The money was earmarked "for a number of things, none that affects our area that I'm aware of," said Geake.

He said he learned of the new approach to the budget cut from a fellow member of the Senate Appropriations Committee how had conferred with the state's budget director, Gerald Miller.

It would have been the appropriations committee of the House and Senate that would have been asked to approve the anticipated executive order by Governor William Milliken to reduce state education funding by one percent.

A reduction in state spending that will be $60 million to $100 million over budget because of a higher than predicted unemployment rate.

The unemployment rate, however, is not high enough to justify use of the "rainy day fund" established recently to help the state through financial crises.

Geake had said last week that it appeared that only three state funding areas — welfare, mental health and education — appeared large enough to absorb cuts of $60 million or more.

Of these, only education seemed a likely choice.

"No where else can we find the $60 million," Geake said as late as Friday.

The financial imbalance was caused because there was insufficient funds in the social welfare budget so there was no room for cuts in that area, he explained.

And mental health, a traditional source for balancing budgets in the past, cannot be tapped this year because of a federal court order that requires increased spending in light of the abuse scandal at the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

The proposed cut in education brought howls of protests for local school officials who, remembering a similar cut three years ago, said they could ill afford the executive order.

"A $70,000 cut in our budget could be truly devastating," said Northville Superintendent Lawrence Nichols. "I really don't know where we could absorb it."

"We're in probably the skimpiest budget that I've ever worked with in terms of flexibility."

Nichols, in his first year at Northville, noted that this year's budget is so tight that it has no contingency funds.

A $42,000 fund equity reported by school auditors in last year's accounting was needed to balance this year's budget, he said.

Notified Monday night of Geake's news, Nichols said he was pleased. He indicated that, upon hearing of the governor's planned executive order, school officials had strongly voiced their concerns in Lansing.

The executive order, billed as a one-percent cut in "gross membership aid," would have been computed by using most of a school district's revenues as a base.

Thus, Northville with an $8 million operating budget, could have expected a state aid loss of $70,000.

The executive order would have also included all universities and community colleges.

At Schoolcraft Community College, officials said such an executive order would have meant a loss of nearly $50,000.

Honestly, all they want from government is honesty

Honesty is such a lonely word
Everyone is so untrue
— Billy Joel

Songster Joel may very well agree that a modern-day Diogenes could shine his candle down every hall of government and not cast a shadow on an honest man.

Pick a scandal — Watergate, Koreagate, FBI harassment of law-abiding political groups — and there seems to be a pervasive feeling among some government officials that they are above the law.

"We have been sold the idea — particularly by the federal government — that federal officials are no longer public servants but rather our masters," says Ralph Riefstahl.

"Well, per our constitution and per our civil rights, they have no more right to break the law and escape the consequences than we do as private citizens.

Riefstahl is the tri-state director for the American Citizens for Honesty in Government, a fledgling organization with close ties to the controversial Church of Scientology.

ACHG was formed last year by a Scientology pastor who was jailed for contempt of court when he refused to testify before a grand jury.

Scientology holds that by recalling negative experiences a person can free himself from repressed feelings that cripple his life.

Since it was formed in 1950, the church has had running battles with the federal government which suspects Scientology chose religion as a ploy to save millions of dollars in taxes

Scientologists respond that the government is involved in nothing more than expensive harassment and suppression of religious freedom.

Against this backdrop comes the birth of American Citizens for Honesty in Government which, says Riefstahl, already can claim 10,000 volunteer members — each dedicated to "exposing corruption where discovered."

Last week, Riefstahl, a Ferndale resident who restores paintings for a living, was urging mayors in Northville, Novi and Walled Lake to adopt a code of ethics that, he says, has been mouldering on the shelf since the U.S. House of Representatives adopted it in 1958.

He readily concedes that the ethics campaign is a publicity gimmick to reach Everyman who, he says, is the key to a government with integrity.

"We are, in effect, a grass roots movement, seeking to arouse this vast majority of decent, honest, hard working people to the point where they will insist that the government observe the same ethical standards and the same observance of the law and will be subject to the same penalties as they would," he said.

The public, he says, feels that state and federal governments are too massive, impersonal and dishonest to fight.

But, he argues, the majority of government workers are willing to blow the whistle on evil doers except for the fear that they will swing for their efforts.

"We know that there are honest people in government. Instead of penalizing them for exposing honesty, they should instead be rewarded and the dishonest penalized."

The dishonesty, he says, is staggering.

"Last September, the general accounting office estimated — in my mind, conservatively — that federal fraud cost taxpayers $25 billion a year which comes out to $120 for every man, woman and child in this country."

Since the government seems loathe to crack down, the ACHG is picking up the slack by offering up to $10,000 to anyone whose report of government corruption leads to an arrest and conviction.

So far, no one has collected. But, he says, his chapter alone has 25 active "investigations" based on tips.

If this sounds like bounty hunting or a return to Joe McCarthy, Riefstahl says have no fear. The ACHG is careful to make sure that informants aren't merely disgruntled employees, he claims.

"Any group is dependent on its effectiveness on the ethical level of its members and on the wisdom of its organizational structure," he says.

"The proof of the pudding lies in the eating."

It is not accurate to say that the ACHG is a cool, calm, impartial seeker of wisdom and truth.

For while it is true that one of its targets, the FBI, has been repeatedly embarrassed by revelations about unethical and illegal intelligence gathering practices, it is also true that the Church of Scientology has a vested interest in discrediting the nation's foremost police agency.

But Riefstahl, who is both an Episcopalian and a Scientologist, denies that the church is merely trying to protect a lucrative arrangement.

He bristles when it is suggested that there is something improper about the church headquarters being based on a luxurious Sussex, England, estate once

"So what?" he asks. "What's the problem? The right of a church to own property is part of the constitution."

Instead of harassing the church, he says, the government should clean up its own act.

GOOD FOR TIME WINE

by Jim Roth

Beaujolais started the twentieth century as a bar wine in Paris and Lyons. It was rarely shipped, and when it was, it was shipped in casks, not in bottles. Twenty years ago, Parisian Beaujolais drinkers went wild over their wine and the enthusiasm spread to the United States about five years later. Now there is a great rush to get the wine bottled, shipped and tasted. Beaujolais is known to be best when young, so the faster the ship, the better the wine.

We're enthusiastic about the wines we carry at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. If you need help in selecting some for gifts, for a dinner party, or just to have for yourself, don't hesitate to ask our knowledgeable staff for assistance. Open: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m.-10 p.m., Sun. Board meets with council

Schools need money and involvement, PTA is told

There was a mixture of the pragmatic and the idealistic at Monday night's meeting of the Northville board of education and the PTA/PTSA Council in the high school cafeteria.

Although there was a 10-item agenda that was hashed over for 2½ hours, the overriding question was simple: What does the school district need?

"Money" was the pragmatic reply. "Community involvement" was the idealistic response.

"The big problem right now is finance, to come up with enough money to hold the pieces together," said Trustee John Hobart. "That's the main problem facing us for one year, five years, or ten years."

Hobart, a former president and dean of the board with six years experience, said coming to grips with the financial implications is a hard task for new board members.

He said, he, like other members when they were first elected, had grand plans to improve the school system. But he learned that everything hinges on money.

On the other end of the spectrum was Trustee Richard Barron. Elected last June, he is the newest member of the board.

He said a big need is "defining the kind of community we are, the kind of schools we want. The administrators cannot do this without the input of citizens."

The mistaken image of Northville, he said, is one of happy homes where parents are waiting to help and encourage their children.

"We're not that type of community."

A better conception of the community, he said, would help decide whether the school district should be a feeder system for major universities or should concentrate more on vocational programs.

"We've got to work together," he said. "I don't want to do the job alone. I don't think I am capable. Together, we are capable."

The rather small but interested audience spent much of the night discussing maintenance and safety problems.

The appearance of school buildings — broken windows, littered grounds, graffiti on the walls — is a continuing complaint in the district, said several in attendance.

"Day in and day out, the maintenance bothers me," said one woman.

Michael Janchick, the administrative assistant for operations, said that not only financial woes but lack of staff, supervision and training contributed to the problem.

"I don't think it's all money," he said. "Some of it is personnel. I've taken heat for three years. There's no reason to back off now."

But, he added, money will play a major role in providing proper maintenance in the district.

The area receiving the brunt of the complaints is the high school where, he said. "In many homes, there isn't a Mom or a Dad. Or, if there is, they are mighty hard to find."

Janchick said, an architect estimated that $2½ million was needed to properly upgrade the building.

Trying to do patchwork projects with far lesser amounts is akin to "putting out a forest fire with a squirt gun," he said.

"Some day the community is going to have to face it. We're all going to end up paying to bring this (building) back."

Janchick, whose budget has been consistently tight in recent years, said the poor outside appearance at school sites was at least partly due to lack of staff.

He said he could only afford to hire three men who are responsible for the outside maintenance of 180 acres and 10 parking lots.

He said he also had to make priority spending decisions when painting over graffiti would take $4,500 of a $60,000 budget.

"It's not that I like to go along and read this stuff," he said. "At least, they are spelling and punctuating properly." Superintendent Lawrence Nichols said that inadequate funding for maintenance is "a very great concern for us."

He referred to a study by Janchick that projected a need of more than $1 million over the next five years for "catch-up" work.

"That's over $200,000 a year, and we don't have that kind of money in the general budget," he said.

PTA/PTSA Council President Delores Yanover said there will be two separate meetings about curriculum, and the high school.

Election April 28

School tax try still undecided

Northville Public Schools will have a special millage election on Saturday, April 28.

On the ballot there will be a request for at least three mills that expire this year.

But whether there will be a request for additional millage — either in a separate issue or tied to the renewal request — remains to be seen.

And, according to the school system's top administrator, it is uncertain if a recommendation can be made to the board of education Monday night as once planned.

Superintendent Lawrence Nichols said Monday that a budget forecast for the coming school year may not be completed in time for Monday's regular school board meeting (7:30 p.m., board of education room in Main Street Elementary School).

If a decision is not reached soon, the board is going to be pressed for time to establish the size and wording of the millage request.

Although the date for the millage election was reserved several weeks ago, the exact wording does not have to be adopted until a month prior to the election.

It is no secret that the school board, which like many across the state has seen its share of millage failures recently, would like to avoid asking for a tax hike.

The waited-for budget forecast is an attempt to see if the district can offer essentially the same program next year without increasing taxes.

If not, the board wants to know exactly how large an increase is necessary.

Last summer, Northville voters narrowly passed a 2.6-mill increase which the board said was necessary to maintain the current educational program.

The success came only after a larger, 5.5-mill request has been overwhelmingly defeated the previous April.

If your brand new car is totaled will your insurance company pay you for a brand new car?

Some insurance companies think a new car is a used car the minute you use it to drive out of the dealer ship. Not Auto Owners.

With Auto Owners, if you have an accident anytime within 90 days and your new car is a total loss, we'll pay you the total cost of your new car. And with Auto Owners, your new car is covered immediately, automatically, under your previous policy.

So if you're about to get a new car, talk to us at Auto Owners. Maybe you should get a new insurance company, too.

School still uncertain about size of tax try

Faced with the staggering setback, the board split the issue into two parts — the 2.6-mill increase to maintain the program and an additional 2.9 mills to restore cuts made earlier in the decade.

The strategy worked as voters again clobbered the larger request but — by 99 votes of the 3,100 cast — approved the other.

Board members would rather not approach the public so soon with another request to increase taxes. They also don't want to jeopardize the three renewal mills which Nichols said Monday were "vital" to the district.

But the school system is caught in an almost suffocating financial trap by the state school aid formula.

Although Northville's tax base is increasing, thanks to rising property values and considerable residential construction, the school enrollment is plummeting and apparently will continue to do so.

Because of the nature of the state school aid formula, the result is that even as local taxes increase for property owners, the school's education payment from Lansing decreases proportionately.

Though a local homeowner's taxes may increase substantially even if the tax rate is not increased, the school district, in effect, receives only a fraction of the increased tax revenue.

To be a street or not to be a street or even scratch marks on a map?

That's a question before the Northville City Council as it weighs a proposal to vacate West Street through school property between Main and Cady.

Public hearing on that proposal was held Monday, but council delayed deciding the matter until after further investigation.

What began as a formality may yet become a controversy. George Kohs, a Cady Street citizen who wants the street reopened (it's been closed for years), insists the city years ago formally vacated the street.

City records, however, indicate the street wasn't vacated until much more recently when council "traded" the street right-of-way for a piece of school land near the city hall where a library had been planned.

That "trade", however, was automatically nullified when the library never developed. The library proposal, which would have provided for construction of a free-standing building just west of the city hall drive-Cady Street intersection, was scrapped when a hoped for federal grant never materialized.

If the street was vacated years ago, why must it be done again? asked Kohs. And if it hasn't been vacated why do it now?

Reopening the street, said Kohs, would provide

Area wide police-fire force proposed by treasurer

Plymouth Township.

Furthermore, Hardesty argued that the "costs will be higher" in the larger organization than in the present separate departments. He challenged Holland's assumption that the authority would mean fewer dispatchers and clerks, and he predicted a higher cost for patrol vehicles.

Other policemen and firemen also objected to the proposal.

Fireman William Gaul doubted a single chief could run such a large organization. "It would take a super human being," he said, asking the township supervisor, for example, if he thought a single supervisor could do the job of four.

"I don't think it (single chief) is too big a task," the supervisor said.

The supervisor reminded the board that area-wide, the combined communities of Northville and Plymouth would be no larger than normal size townships (the township having been split in half to form Plymouth and Northville shortly before the turn of the century).

Gerry Rodovic of the Police Officers Association of Michigan, said he saw several bigger problems than outlined by Holland i.e. loss of local control and local liability for lawsuits growing out of cases in other member communities.

"Where would you get the manpower?" he asked.

Holland responded by saying it would come from primarily the existing departments.

Fire Chief Robert Toms also warned that the authority would mean greater costs, and he wondered aloud if such an authority would adversely affect the township's receipt of state aid for the local department.

Paramount problem, said Trustee William Zapke, would be the ordinances of the four communities. The authority would mean that these ordinances would have to be changed so that they are similar. For example, he said, the curfew in one community presently may be different in another.

Furthermore, "I don't see how consolidation would help the western part of the township We already have a mutual service (pact)," he said.

Trustee Swienkowski asked the meaning of the "public safety concept" as seen by Holland, and he wanted to know if the authority would be a legal body and how it would be chosen.

Holland admitted he knew little about the "public safety" concept (combination firefighters and policemen). "You are asking details that I cannot answer," he said, pointing out that the first step is to find out if the other communities might be interested in exploring the authority idea. It is possible, he said, that after a discussion with other communities a different concept may emerge. "First, let's find out if there is an answer."

Swienkowski responded by saying that discussion could conclude with a proposal "strictly for a merger."

"That's a possibility," said Holland.

Clerk Clarice Sass, reminding Holland that the township had already explored the public safety concept and had concluded, after talking with Oak Park public safety people, that the cost is "astronomical."

"It just doesn't work," she declared. "A lot of problems just could not be resolved."

Supervisor Thomson said the proposal was given recent impetus because a Plymouth Township official had asked Northville if it might consider contracting to provide police service for that township.

Police, fire costs disclosed

Even before Township Treasurer Lee Holland made his proposal for an area wide police and fire department authority, he ruffled some feathers by disclosing police and fire department costs over the past several years.

He did so to lend credence to his contention that spiralling costs warrant a look at a different, less costly alternative.

Here's what he said those costs are:

1976 — $141,060; March 31, 1977 — $147,435; March 31, 1978 — $213,786; and March 31, 1978, as proposed initially in police chief's budget (but now tentatively revised downward) — $390,927.

Fire

- 12 months ending August 31, 1977, during the period when the department was a joint service between the city and township, $37,484 or $3,124 per month.
 - 7 months ending March 31, 1978, the first months of the separate township department, $33,135 (not including capital expenditures) or $4,700 per month.
 - 12 months ending March 31, 1979, $43,232 but $53,232 if the assistant fire chief's salary is included, for a monthly cost of $4,436.
 - 12 months costs as proposed in the 1979-80 budget of the fire chief, $77,505 or $6,459 per month.
- Trustee John Swienkowski challenged Holland's contention that the assistant fire chief's salary should be included in the current (1978-79) budget. He argued that while he is the assistant chief, his salary is paid by grant monies for unrelated work.
- Holland acknowledged that the assistant chief is being paid to supervise a housing rehabilitation program, but he noted that in reality he is spending most of his time working in his capacity as assistant fire chief. Very little housing rehabilitation has occurred, he said.

(The proposed new fire department budget makes no allocation for an assistant chief's salary, but does provide an $11,000 figure for a fire inspector position not previously been included in the budget).

Elected in November, the treasurer is still bristling over figures the clerk disclosed in that election campaign to support her contention that operation of the separate police department is more economical than was the jointly operated department.

He promised himself that if he were elected he would dig out the costs to disprove the clerk, who he contended purposely tried to deceive township voters.

In a taped interview during the campaign Mrs. Sass, to support her position that the single department was less costly than the joint department, claimed the last five months of service with the city had cost the township $24,569 for an average of $4,913.80. She said the first seven months of operation of the separate township department cost $3,191.29 per month.

"The first three months of this fiscal year (1979-79) we've expended $10,448.91 for a cost of $3,482.97," she said.

Two more policemen likely

cluded). However, it is expected that township representatives at the bargaining table will be insisting upon similar limitation.

It is possible, observed Trustee William Zapke, that the 8.8 figure may represent more than patrolmen had hoped to win. A spokesman for the police union present at the meeting was non-committal.

The 8.8 guideline, suggested by Trustee John Swienkowski, was agreed upon early in the meeting.

Swienkowski, who previously stated he would be influenced by the president's wage guideline of 6.1 percent, pointed out that because of the higher cost of living in the Detroit metropolitan area than in other sections of the country, experts had concluded that 8.8 percent here would be the equivalent of 6.1 percent elsewhere.

In deciding to use the 8.8 figure, however, the board also agreed—

- that in some cases of inequities among specific employees, salaries or wage scales may be increased significantly higher and these are to be called merit increases.
- that the township's wage and salary committee is to be reactivated following approval of this year's budget to re-examine the salary and wage levels and the job classifications.

Once the board had reached its shaky consensus on the number of additional policemen and the salary levels of command personnel, it whipped through the remainder of the chief's budget and pared back most of his requested increases.

Even with those board cuts, however, the non-personnel expenditures projected by the board represent an increase over the anticipated current year police expenditures.

Discounting personnel changes, for example, the chief had asked for a budget outlay of $129,060. The board cut this back to $102,491 — a figure that still represents a $29,891 increase over the anticipated 1978-79 expenditures.

Based on informal board decisions last week, it would appear the cost for command officers in the new budget will total $99,192. In addition, the chief's "executive secretary," three full time dispatchers and one clerk, and three part-time dispatchers and one clerk will cost an additional $58,229.

Command officers and support personnel together represent an outlay of $157,421.

If the seven patrolmen were to receive the same total salaries as did eight patrolmen this fiscal year ($95,346), those salaries plus cost of command officers and support personnel, plus all the other items in the proposed police budget (not including the requested additional part-time clerk) would total $355,258.

Going into last week's budget session, the chief was asking for a total outlay of $397,926. The board appears, informally, to have cut this back to $355,258 given the foregoing variables.

The chief estimated current fiscal year expenditures (through March 31) at $260,369.

Thus, the $355,258 represents an increase of $94,889 over current year anticipated expenditures. However, it should be noted that current year expenditures exceed the original approved 1978-79 police budget and therefore the budget-to-budget increase is greater than $94,889.

Council: 'Mainstreet 78 isn't dead'

Disappointed and a little angry, the Northville City Council Monday indicated it has not given up on the Mainstreet 78 proposal that went down to an election defeat recently.

Meeting for the first time since the election February 20, council referred the matter back to the Downtown Development Authority with a request for recommendations on the next steps.

Meanwhile, however, Councilman Stanley Johnston has asserted that he has absolutely no intentions of giving up on the project and that he will push for its fruition "one way or another."

Other councilmen, though less outspoken, agreed Mainstreet 78 should not be scrapped.

"I just cannot understand it (the 15 percent turnout of the electorate)," said Johnston angrily. "Here was the most important issue to go to voters since perhaps the chartering of the city and 3200 people sit on their duffs (and don't vote)."

"I want it known that this project will be pursued, as far as I am concerned, and I don't want any misinterpretation of my feelings."

Johnston pledged to push the project even if it meant political suicide. If it must become a political issue to arouse the voters, he said, "that is fine with me."

Councilman Wallace Nichols, who agreed with other officials that Mainstreet 78 is too important to the welfare of the community to drop, suggested Johnston cool his ardor because "you may be too close to the trees to see the forest."

"Calm down for two more weeks," said Nichols.

But Johnston was in no mood for calming down. "I've already had plenty of time to think about it," he quipped.

"I'm just as interested in seeing it (Mainstreet 78) come off as the rest of you," said Nichols, who wondered aloud if the plan could not be stripped to "bare essentials" to make it more palatable to voters. His position was: "A little is better than nothing."

Nichols suggested a poll of the community be taken to determine why people voted "no." (The proposition was defeated by a vote of 318 to 260, with only 15 percent of the city's 3,831 voters casting ballots.)

Other council members, however, said their contacts with "no" voters had already given them a good idea for the negative vote: "People just didn't believe we could finance the project without raising their taxes."

The better idea, said Johnston, would be to find out why people didn't vote at all. They certainly could not give the excuse that they were not informed, he added, pointing that the city had distributed a detailed explanation to everyone in the city in addition to news stories on it.

Council members indicated they had been told by some "no" voters that they had voted against the project because they didn't want public monies used to "fix up downtown stores," and Mayor Paul Vernon added that another explanation given was that merchants themselves had not given sufficient evidence of wanting to invest their own monies.

And that triggered another outburst from Johnston, who said people had been purposely misled by some people in the community since not one cent had been earmarked for private property improvement.

"We were not dealing with private property; we were talking about public property — the people's property," he said. "I just don't see how people can take pride in their own homes but cannot take pride in the downtown property that they own."

Vernon restated an earlier observation that non-voters had done themselves a disservice since, by not voting, they jeopardized themselves and their community economically.

He noted that some downtown developers and tenants are having second thoughts about coming to Northville. Furthermore, he noted that if the city council went ahead with the project without going to the voters, as it could legally do, it would cost more money than under the Mainstreet 78 financing plan, and that if another vote on the issue is delayed until November it will also delay construction until next year resulting in spiralling construction cost.

Councilman Dewey Gardner agreed with Nichols that council ought to consider implementing part of the plan now, the remainder later.

One of the alternatives that council has considered is to issue limited tax obligation bonds for the entire project or a portion of it. Such a step, it was noted, would not require an election because bond buyers are pledged only the existing tax levying authority.

However, without the pledged faith and credit of the community behind the bonds, it is anticipated that the project would cost $200,000 more in interest.

Dumas to study DeHoCo

Two Wayne County Commissioners expressing a special interest in the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo) have been appointed to the Corrections Committee of the County Board of Commissioners.

Commissioners Mary E. Dumas from Livonia, and John J. Korney, Detroit, are among the five members appointed to the committee that reports to the Public Safety & Judiciary Committee. The appointments were made by Board Chairman Richard E. Manning.

"These are two of the more industrious commissioners on our board, and I know that their personal concern with law enforcement and public safety will make them invaluable in working on this important chore," said Manning.

Accepting the appointment, Mrs. Dumas pointed out that, "with the DeHoCo facility located so near the district I serve, I feel that our surrounding community sorely needs this representation."

Said Korney: "As well as safety, I'm concerned with possible advantages we may be able to come with. The advantages could be either in the financing required from

Flea market upcoming

The fourth annual flea market of the Rainbow Riders 4-H Club will be held at Schoolcraft College on March 18.

Tables at the market will rent for $2, permitting persons to sell horse equipment, riding apparel and miscellaneous items, a spokesman said.

To be held in the physical education building on the college campus from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., the flea market will be free to the public.

Persons wishing to reserve a table or who may have questions about the project are asked to call either 349-4084 or 685-8270.

She's accepted

Annette H. Isom has been accepted as a member of the freshman class of September 1979 at Saint Mary's College, Notre Dame, Indiana.

a better, more convenient traffic route between Cady and Main since motorists now must use either Rogers or Wing. He suggested that the present traffic pattern encourages congestion and speeding on Cady.

However, Councilman Stanley Johnston cautioned Kohs that reopening of West would significantly increase traffic on Cady in front of his home and other homes on the street.

Kohs emphasized that his suggestion was not prompted by a selfish interest but out of a desire for a better vehicular and pedestrian route for the entire community. With expansion of the post office, he added, West Street would become an important artery.

Unspoken in Monday's discussion was the school-city negotiations over the vacated board offices next to the city hall.

The city wants to acquire the school owned building for recreational purposes. Some officials see the right-of-way ownership as a possible trade-off for the building.

Following another public hearing Monday, council did vote to direct the drafting of a resolution vacating Walnut Street west of East Street. The street does not exist, although legally the right-of-way for the street is provided.

HELEN HOPE ATWELL

Funeral service for Mrs. Helen Hope Atwell, 78, of Grosse Pointe was held at 1 p.m. Monday at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home with the Reverend Victor F. Halboth officiating. Interment was in Grand Lawn Cemetery.

Mrs. Atwell, retired secretary for the J. L. Hudson Company, was the sister of Raymond P. Heyman of Northville and Marie Speaker of Coldwater. She was the mother of Harold Talant of Quincy, Michigan, and Mrs. Dewey (Judith) Overton of Memphis, Tennessee, and the grandmother of six. There also are several great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Atwell died March 1 at South Macomb Hospital after an illness of several weeks. She was born November 25, 1900, to Adolph and Otilia (Hankenratt) Heyman. She was preceded in death by her husband George.

LULU R. CHRISTENSEN

Mrs. Lulu R. Christensen of 39720 Nine Mile, Novi, died March 2 at the age of 97 at Beverly Manor Convalescent Center. She had been ill for the past year.

Mrs. Christensen had been an area resident for 67 years.

Funeral service was held at 1 p.m. Monday at Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated, with Father Leslie Harding of Holy Cross Episcopal Church officiating. Interment was to be in Riverside Cemetery in Plymouth.

Mrs. Christensen was born February 26, 1882, in Wyandotte to William W. and Clara A. E. (Jackson) Roberts and married Alexander P. Christensen, who preceded her in death in 1945.

She leaves a daughter Mrs. Clara E. Johnson of Williamston, sons Howard M. of Midland and Roger of Novi, 12 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

STANLEY O. DYMENT

Stanley Orton Dymont, 84, of 8 Meadowbrook Lane, Northville, died March 2 at St. Mary Hospital after an illness of three weeks. Mr. Dymont, who was retired, had lived in the community for eight years.

Private family service was held at Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated. Interment was in Evergreen Cemetery, Detroit.

Mr. Dymont was born in Hamilton,

Ontario, March 19, 1894, to Orton and Nettie (Cornell) Dymont.

He leaves his wife Nellie Graisley Dymont, daughters Mrs. Myrtle Kinsel of Northville and Mrs. Marie Oemig of Arlington, Illinois, two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

HEDWIG GRACE JACOB

Funeral services for Hedwig Grace Jacob, 85, of 15400 West Seven Mile, Detroit, were held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home with the Reverend Peter D. Thomsen officiating. Interment was in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mrs. Jacob was a member of St. Peter's Danish Lutheran Church. She was a retired housekeeper at Henry Ford Hospital where she died March 2 after a long illness.

She was born February 19, 1894, in Poland. She was preceded in death by her husband Henry in 1978.

She was the mother of Elsie Jacobs and the grandmother of Mrs. Max (Sandra) Thorington of Northville and James Jacobs of Southfield. There is one great-grandchild.

ARTHUR E. MILES

Arthur E. Miles, 23, of Ladywood Court in Northville Township died at Botsford Hospital February 24 of accidental carbon monoxide poisoning.

He lived at home with his parents, Arthur C. and Aurelia F. (Braskow) Miles, and a brother, Dennis L. Miles.

Born October 5, 1955 in Detroit, he moved here with his parents within the past two years from Dearborn. He was a layout designer for the Valeron Corporation.

Besides his parents and brother, he is survived by his grandparents John Esther Braskow of Northville and Mr. and Mrs. John Stefania Jagodzinski.

Funeral service was conducted March 1 from St. Kenneth Catholic Church of Plymouth, with the Reverend Father William Petit officiating.

Burial was in St. Hedwig Cemetery, Dearborn Heights.

JAMES SUGRUE, JR.

James Sugrue, Jr., 59, of 830 West Main Street, died Tuesday. Call Casterline Funeral Home for funeral details.

Northville Township has put in its bids on 21 acres of land in case the state should purchase the property that formerly housed the women's division of the Detroit House of Corrections.

A formal request for 21 free acres of land near the southeast corner of Six Mile and Ridge roads has been presented to State Senator R. Robert Geake of Northville, member of the senate's powerful appropriations committee.

The request was suggested earlier by Township Trustee William Zapke after speaking to Geake about the future use of the former prison property.

Zapke sees the 21 acres as being an ideal future site for water and sewer department facilities, for recreation and for the fire department.

The land is part of a much larger parcel, stretching almost from Beck west to Ridge, from Five to Six Mile. It is presently owned by the City of Detroit. Most of it is vacant, having been used for more than a half century as farm land by DeHoCo.

On the property are the vacant prison buildings of DeHoCo where the state's female felons were housed until a few years ago when the state opened a new facility near Ypsilanti.

Meanwhile, the men's division of DeHoCo on the south side of Five Mile in Plymouth Township continues to operate.

The state became interested in the property back at the time the state was considering purchasing the vacant Wayne County Child Development Center to convert it to a state prison.

So much fuss was raised locally over those plans, Governor William Milliken scuttled them and proposed instead that the state purchase the DeHoCo property and use it for the planned prison.

The Governor's purchase proposal, however, hinges upon appropriation of monies — an appropriation that has not yet been approved.

Zapke figures that if the state does indeed purchase the land for a prison, there's enough extra land to warrant a gift to the township.

"If we don't ask we'll never know if we can have it," he has reasoned.

According to Geake, purchase of the DeHoCo land from Detroit for a new state prison "is still about six months off."

The senator said he had suggested the township consider requesting a portion of the prison land as an alternative to the two-acre site it is trying to get from the State Department of Natural Resources at the southwest corner of Seven Mile and Beck roads.

Geake, who has re-introduced a bill that would facilitate the transfer of the two-acre Maybury State Park property to the township as a site for a new township fire hall, sees technical problems that might delay obtaining of the Beck-Seven Mile site.

In view of those problems, Geake suggested to Zapke that consideration be given for an alternative parcel of land.

Council eyes elimination of 'streets'

the property is so great west of East that it could never become a useable street.

In suggesting the vacating of the right-of-way, however, the city wants to maintain an easement for utility lines and, in view of earlier commitments to property owners on "back lots" west of East, it is prepared to permit a driveway over the easement should it ever become feasible or necessary.

Although Councilman Wallace Nichols preferred keeping the right-of-way, other members argued that vacating would permit development of larger, more compatible homes on the west side of East and thus increase the city's tax base.

Mayor Paul Vernon emphasized that vacating of the Walnut right-of-way would not "landlock" back lots since another right-of-way (High Street) exists north of its present terminus.

Should the addition to Allen Terrace materialize in the future, he pointed out, extension of High Street north would become the access to the undeveloped private back lots. The grade here, he noted, is much more acceptable for a roadway.

Studies DeHoCo

Wayne County, or in an improved system for the prisoners."

The committee was established by the board in June, 1978, to develop programs for housing county inmates after the City of Detroit announced plans to close DeHoCo at the end of the year. (The women's division of DeHoCo, located in Northville Township, is already closed).

Since that time the facility has operated under a circuit court order to continue accepting prisoners while city, county and state authorities negotiate some agreement, said Mrs. Dumas.

Although the facility is owned by Detroit, the county generally houses between 500 and 600 prisoners there and reimburses the city for their upkeep, Korney noted.

"We're exploring all kinds of options, including half-way house concepts, work-release programs, and complete take-over by the state. The state already has full responsibility for females sentenced there," said Korney.

"We can't predict the outcome at this point, but regardless of the final decision, those in the surrounding neighborhoods can now feel more comfortable knowing their interests are cared for on this committee," Mrs. Dumas declared.

Besides DeHoCo, the corrections committee oversees ongoing construction of the county's new $31.7 million detention facility in downtown Detroit, expected to require 33 months to build.

The committee also recommends on needs for the juvenile justice system, and considers staffing, funding and preliminary approval of programs in the Sheriff's department.

Korney and Mrs. Dumas will serve on the committee with Commissioners Samuel A. Turner, from Detroit; R. William Joyner, Plymouth; and Kay L. Beard, Inkster. Turner is chairman of the committee.

College serves up dinner-comedy

The Schoolcraft College student dinner-theater production of "Exit the Body" will be performed on March 23-24 and 30-31 in the Waterman Campus Center.

Directed by Dr. Lawrence Rudick and assisted by Dale Feldpausch, technical director, the cast includes Debra Bunch, Marc Harlow, Scott Muzinski, Karin Rathbun and Karen Weinberg of Livonia; Edwin Clarke, Ellen Clarke, Betty Hancock and Douglas Webster of Northville; and Michael Corliss of Plymouth.

Written by Fred Carmichael, the story is about woman mystery writer Crane Hammond, who rents a New England vacation house for a month of relaxation. The house however, has stolen jewels which are being hunted, and unusual happenings such as the opening and closing of doors add suspense and laughter to the proceedings.

The play's author is a comedy, farce and mystery writer who has been active in summer stock, acting on television and with touring companies in the United States.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. and the play will begin at 8 p.m. The menu features fresh fruit cup Grenadine; lettuce, spinach and mushroom salad with Vealsteak dressing; potted beef steak Provencale, Royale potatoes, brussel sprouts Imperial, assorted rolls and butter, beverage and Bavarian creme pie.

Tickets are $10, must be purchased in advance and are available in the College Bookstore.

Amy Lincoln
on choir tour

Amy Lincoln, an Albion College freshman from Northville, is a soprano in the college choir that began a week-long spring tour Friday.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Lincoln of 18910 Beck Road.

The 72-voice choir, under the direction of music department Chairman Melvin S. Larimer, will be performing in the Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit areas during this sixth annual spring tour.

Women celebrate international day

The Womencenter of Oakland Community College will sponsor the sixth annual celebration of International Women's Day Thursday, March 8, on the third level of J building from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills.

Theme of this year's celebration will be "Women in the Arts." The day will be filled with music, dance and poetry. Local artists will display and sell their works ranging from macrame to photography.

Among the special events planned for the day are:

A creative writing workshop conducted by Sandy Sutherland, English instructor at OCC;

Poetry readings by Margaret Kaminski, co-editor of "Moving Out," and Melba Boyd, a native Detroit active in the political struggles of oppressed people; Music by "Horizon," a women's folk jazz group;

Dance by Gina Lori Riley, a Canadian dance choreographer, and "Friends," the Paradigm Dance Theater.

All the activities planned for the day are free and child care will be provided.

It's best time of the year. . .

Just for a change of pace ... nothing serious this week. So Mainstreet 78 did go down the tube; and Schoolcraft College desperately needs another mill and will stage an election March 26; and the city of Northville will ask voters to guarantee bonds for a new library on April 10; and on March 20 in Northville Township voters will decide between a GOP nominee and a write-in Democrat for trustee. Who cares? Not me ... at least not this week.

This is absolutely the very best time of the year.

Anticipation always exceeds realization. It's looking forward that provides the incentive and drive in life. Reaching the goal is so short-lived that in fact it becomes a letdown.

That's what is super about March; April, May, June, July and August follow.

Think of the sounds, the sights, the feel ... 'play ball', robins singing, crocuses budding, short-sleeve shirts, beautiful green fairways, hot sun, cool, breezy evenings ... it's all just ahead.

September ... not so good, like the autumn of life. Cold days ahead, the beauty of fall is so fleeting.

March is the very best month of the year ... that's why it is favored with 31 days. Enjoy it. Think of the good times ahead.

Go Blue. . . and MSU. . .

We had ordered our tickets to the Michigan-Notre Dame game at the Silver Dome months ago. Frankly, I dreaded going last Sunday. I was dead sure it was going to be a rout. The Irish would surely smother the floundering Maize and Blue.

Like my wife always says ... "ye of little faith." I still don't believe it. Bless that old cotton-picking bald head of Johnny Orr. He and his pumped-up Wolverines played like all the polls said they would before the season began. And Irish Coach Digger Phelps must be wondering what it takes to beat Michigan. He's now 0-5 against Orr.

But it's all over for the Wolverine cagers. So for the NCAA tournament I'll switch my allegiance to the Spartans of MSU.

Certainly they've been the hottest team in the nation down the stretch. And they could come out on top.

If the University of Detroit wins its opener Friday night, the Spartans will face a tough test Sunday. U of D is certain to be sky-high against a home-state rival.

But the Spartans should prevail. MSU is ranked number two behind Notre Dame in its regional competition, but what does the press know?

Michigan State and UCLA loom as the teams to beat. Duke is my outside favorite. Number-one ranked Indiana State and the best college player of the year, Larry Bird, will not hold up in the bigtime.

You're getting old when. . .

A funny thing happened the other day as I started to sign a routine new-employee form.

"Sponseller, Ellen C., Northville Record reporter, date of birth 10-31-55, Sponseller, James W., father, etc."

The information didn't really surprise me. I had taken part in an interview with the young applicant.

But seeing it there in black and white and then signing the form took me back more years than I care to remember have passed.

On that fall day in '55 when Ellen was born to Jim and Doris Sponseller, their first child, Jim and I worked together on the old Plymouth Mail. He was one of the most thorough and respected newsmen I've ever known. He nearly joined me as a partner less than a year later when I bought The Northville Record.

We've barely kept in touch in the intervening years. He's a public relations official with GM's Fisher Body division.

I can't imagine that this young lady with impressive credentials from MSU, Chrysler and a production firm in England can be old enough to assume the kind of responsibilities and assignments that her dad handled so well ... just a few years ago ... when he was about 23 or 24.

It would be impossible for any newcomer to perform like the Jim Sponsellers of the 'old days' ... even another Sponseller.

For example, could Ellen possibly cover a fire like Jim did?

He arrived at the city of Plymouth station so fast that he jumped on the back of the wagon just as Chief Lee BeGole was sliding behind the wheel.

BeGole mistook the scrambling noise of the eager reporter for his crew of firemen. And he roared away to the fire.

Imagine his surprise when he pulled up at the scene to discover the only firefighter was Sponseller armed with pad and pencil.

Ellen replaces an extremely fine, professional reporter on our staff — Lenore Bechtel, who remains a resident of Northville and (I predict) one day soon will become well known as the author of a book she has been retained to write.

Welcome aboard, Ellen. And I hope some day I'll read one of your stories and exclaim: "your dad couldn't have done it better."

Speaking for Myself

Require immunizations?

DR. BERBAUM

YES

Immunizations against the seven so-called "childhood" diseases should be required. The vaccine-preventable diseases of measles, mumps, rubella, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, and polio contributed severely to childhood mortality in the years before vaccine was available.

Let's look at measles. From 1950 through 1959 (the decade before vaccine) there were 5,487,322 cases in the United States, resulting in 4,950 deaths. In addition, measles and its complications (ear infections, pneumonia, encephalitis) caused millions of days of school absenteeism, lost productivity, and lost dollars. In six states where immunization laws were strictly enforced, the rate of measles infection was less than one-fourteenth of the measles rates of other states.

In 1978, Michigan had the highest rate of measles of any state of the nation. In 1978 there were over 100 cases of polio in members of a religious sect in the Netherlands. This happened because the sect did not believe in immunizations and had refused them for their children. In 1978 there were five cases of polio in London, Ontario, Canada — just on Michigan's border.

Our physicians and scientists have worked through the years testing and perfecting vaccines for these and other diseases. They have increased our life span. Would it be wise not to assure our children such protection once it had been found? Can anyone forget those dreadful, fearful years before polio vaccine was discovered? Not those of us who are old enough.

NO

I feel that force immunization is wrong because there are people who are aware that healthy children build their own natural immunity. All viral vaccines have the potential of causing the very symptoms against which they are supposed to protect you as well as secondary encephalitis and nervous system reactions.

Many people today feel that if they choose to understand natural health based on the body's own God-given systems, then they should have the freedom to make that choice. Forced immunization is not only illegal according to Michigan state law, but should be unconstitutional.

Michigan Act 199 of 1966 states that all children enrolling in any school in Michigan shall submit a statement signed by a parent or guardian that the child has not been immunized because of religious convictions or objection.

Good health is based on a natural, balanced diet void of junk food; a balanced, normally functioning nervous system; a positive mental attitude void of excess stress; internal spiritual peace, proper rest and proper exercise.

Today's orthodox health care system does not teach us how to be healthy and stay well. It infers that we will get sick and when we do only that system can help us. Chiropractic, for instance, teaches its patients that a healthy body resists disease and chiropractic treatment is based on removing disease-causing factors.

The present law upholds our freedom to choose which system we prefer: natural immunity or induced immunity.

"Well, how was it?" she asked when her husband returned home from a front row seat at Crisler Arena.

And I replied, "Awful. Oh, the game wasn't so bad but let me tell you a spectator puts his life and clothing on the line by sitting behind the players' bench at a basketball game nowadays."

"What happened?"

"The coaches ... that's what. The tall guy with the bald head ... you know, what his name was, was so mad I thought he would sock the ref and everyone else within range. He's up and down like a yo-yo, screaming obscenities and carrying on like a man gone bananas. His assistant ... the shorty of the Mutt and Jeff duet ... isn't nearly as wild but he's got another problem."

"What's that?" she asked.

"He's a spitter."

"A what?"

"You heard me ... a spitter. They've got four coaches, and the coaches got a pecking order on the bench. The first assistant, the Mutt, sits next to the tall foul-mouth, conveniently in front of the Dixie-cups of water, and every three or four minutes he reaches back and takes a swig."

"Maybe he's thirsty."

"Well, maybe he is. But he swirls it around in his mouth, swallowing a little, and then turns around and lets fly at a slop bucket sitting at the feet of the spectators and behind the two other coaches further down the pecking order."

"That's a spitter," she agreed.

"But that's not the half of it. He doesn't hit the bucket very often."

CITED—Resolutions honoring two members of the Northville Building Authority and the Northville Housing Commission for their key roles in development of Allen Terrace senior citizens apartment building were adopted by city council Monday.

Cited were Russell Amerman, chairman of the building authority, and Nancy Schoultz, secretary of the housing commission. Here Mayor Paul Vernon pins a corsage on Mrs. Schoultz as Amerman looks on.

City resolutions salute Allen Terrace workers

Resolutions citing two city appointed officials for their work in development of Allen Terrace were adopted by the city council Monday.

Singled out for special praise were Russell Amerman, chairman of the building authority for 10 years, and Nancy Schoultz, secretary and a member of the building authority for nine years.

Both people, together with other members of the building authority and housing commission, were instrumental in the senior citizens apartment that "is second to none," said Mayor Paul Vernon.

The resolutions, signed by Clerk Joan McAllister, read in part:

Mrs. Schoultz — "In addition to her normal duties on said commission, she voluntarily worked with the Housing Director, Frances Yoakam to assist in completing leases and moving arrangements for the 100 tenants of Allen Terrace, during which time she worked on a regular basis at the Allen Terrace office, making the process easier for the tenants and rendering an invaluable service."

Amerman — "In the process of construction of Allen Terrace, he demonstrated a dedication to service far above the requirements of his office, in that he visited the site on a daily basis, worked directly with the administration to resolve problems during construction, worked with senior citizens to help keep them informed and contributed hundreds of man hours to the city in the process."

The mayor praised both individuals, and also complimented other members of the authority and the commission together with City Manager Steven Walters.

Other members of the housing commission are: John Stuart, Clarence Harsch, John Steimel and Ray Casterline. Other members of the building authority: Robert Freydl and Jack Hoffman.

Laetrile may get legislative approval

By WARREN M. HOYT

Cancer patients may soon have the option in Michigan to get laetrile on a prescription basis under legislation approved by the House Committee on Public Health.

The bill is virtually identical to a measure passed overwhelmingly by the House last December but the legislation died when the 79th Legislature adjourned.

Under the bill, doctors cannot be disciplined by the state for prescribing laetrile when requested by a patient.

Before receiving the drug, the patient must sign a waiver saying that he or she recognizes that laetrile is not approved by federal authorities and that there are other forms of cancer treatment available.

Laetrile could only be dispensed by licensed pharmacists after receiving a prescription. All laetrile containers would have to carry a notice that the drug is not approved by the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

The bill also allows the manufacture of the drug in the state.

Bill sponsor Representative John Kelsey (D-Warren), whose wife died of cancer, said the principle effect of the bill is to give a person a choice of treatment. "It places a legal and moral obligation on the part of the physician that when he diagnoses a person as terminal he has to tell the patient about laetrile, even though he might not believe in it," Kelsey said.

An Ingham County Circuit Court has affirmed a ruling by the state Financial Institutions Commissioner allowing state-chartered credit unions to offer share draft accounts, services similar to bank checking accounts.

Judge Thomas Brown said the decision was supported by competent, material and substantial evidence.

Credit unions pay interest on dividends on the share draft accounts which are offered by 221 of the 595 state-chartered credit unions.

The ruling may bring about banks paying interest on checking account balances in order for them to now be competitive with the credit unions in this area.

A preliminary report from the legislative commission on the courts has established a set of alternatives designed to unclog the circuit court system of divorce cases and make divorce proceedings more humanistic and provide greater protection for children.

Among the alternatives suggested is a domestic relations agency, existing independently of the court structure, which any married couple could turn to, even if they are not contemplating divorce, for problem counseling.

The agency could also provide pre- and post-divorce counseling and arbitration settlements.

The report also suggests that children of divorcing couples be represented to ensure their protection and rights.

The alternatives could potentially remove almost all divorce proceedings from the court, according to commission staff administrator Terry Kuykendall. He noted the research shows that 96 percent of the divorces are uncontested, but under current Michigan law the couples must still appear before the court before a final divorce decree is granted.

Hearings on revisions to the no-fault insurance law will begin next month by the Senate Commerce Committee.

The Supreme Court last June said the law is conditionally constitutional, but gave the Legislature until December of this year to remedy certain portions of the law.

The proposed revisions are designed to make insurance available to all drivers at fair and reasonable rates and to review cases of motorists whose policies have been cancelled.

"You mean ...?"

"Yup. If the fans aren't getting it, the lower pecking order is. And no sooner has he drained the Dixie-cups and a long comes this kid and he slops 'em full again and a fresh round of spitting begins. I tell you it's a regular cesspool down there."

"How awful," she said.

"You bet your sweet teardrops it is. They got you coming and going."

"What do you mean?"

"Jeff, the tall screaming meany, is waving his fist and stomping his feet. Naturally, you keep your eye on him to see if he's gonna bust a vessel or smack somebody. And just about that time, from the blind side, you get Mutt's mouthwash."

"Don't the other two assistants—complain?"

"Are you kidding? That pecking order keeps 'em so quiet I thought they were student managers. Probably bottle up their complaints and spit all over pictures of Mutt and Jeff when they get home."

"I know how they feel," she said.

"What do you mean?"

"We've got a screaming meany on our bench, too. If he's not hollering about two creases in his pants or a misplaced hammer he's shaking his fist because someone's removed the mister from his greenhouse."

"Touche, my darling. But he doesn't spit."

"That's true, but he's a pipe smoker. And a pipe smoker and a spitter are in the same class. He calls his slop buckets ashtrays and he doesn't very often hit 'em. It's a regular cesspool."

"And pecking order?"

"You betcha. Ever notice the "teardrops" on your portrait?"

If you want odd drama, tune in township election

The setting for Grier's surprise nomination last week was the fact that there were no Democrats running for the post. That being the case, a person could be nominated by just 10 write-in votes.

The fact that Grier had previously called himself a Republican, according to the Wayne County elections director, does not prevent him from carrying the Democratic label in quest of the vacant trusteeship, according to the Wayne County elections director.

And the township board of canvassers confirmed last Wednesday night that the former supervisor had obtained 13 write-ins to qualify his name for the March 20 election.

"It's the first time I've ever been presented with this kind of situation," said County Elections Director Larry Verbiest who searched the law to determine if a reluctant nominee could request that his name not be placed on the ballot.

Later he said he could find nothing in the law permitting a person to withdraw his name from the ballot for a township office. Furthermore, such a person must, whether he is a willing candidate or not, file campaign expenditure documents.

Interestingly, the law does provide for withdrawal of names for other political offices, such as in congress-sional races, but not for township offices, he said.

Still another interesting development occurred over the write-ins. The ballots were sealed immediately following the count in the precincts. Then the sealed ballots were turned in at the township hall along with the election workers' official tally sheets.

But the official tally sheet did not indicate if nine write-ins received by Grier in Precinct 6 (Northville Commons) were Democratic votes or Republican votes. They had to be Democratic to qualify Grier.

Clerk Sass asked the precinct chairman if they were Republican or Democratic and she responded, "They were all Democratic," whereupon "Democratic" was written on the elections tally.

The following day Supervisor Donald Thomas demanded that the ballots be inspected to determine if indeed they were Democratic votes, but was informed by the clerk the sealed ballots could not be opened except by the order of the board of canvassers. And if the board refused to open them then they could be opened only if a recount was demanded, she added.

And a recount could be expensive, she told Thomas.

"I don't care if it costs $500 or a $1000. Some of our board members didn't seem to care about the expense of a needless special election, so why should they care about the cost of making sure the election results are proper," he said.

Thomson was stunned later when he learned that a recount could be demanded only by the person whose votes were in question or his Democratic opponent.

In this case, only Grier and one other Democratic write-in, Louis Zimostrad of 20053 Rippling, (he received one vote), could ask for the recount. None of the Republicans could challenge the outcome of the Democratic vote.

All of this was resolved Wednesday evening when the board of canvassers decided to open the ballots. They found that all nine of the write-ins in Precinct 6 were for Grier as a Democrat.

When contacted by the newspaper, Grier said the write-ins for himself "are as big a surprise to me as to you." Nevertheless, Grier indicated he has not written off the possibility of actively campaigning as a Democrat. "I just learned about it last night (Tuesday)," he said, "and I haven't had time to give it any thought. I'm going to think about it," he added, pointing out he would make an announcement later.

When asked if he had become a Democrat, he laughed and answered, "I've never believed township elections should be partisan. I've always run on the Republican ticket, that's all I can say."

Grier was reached at Arnold Associates in Southfield where he is now working. Arnold Associates, he said, is a land development firm and he, Grier, holds the title of director of industrial and commercial real estate.

There is no way to determine if the write-ins were part of a plan to get the ex-supervisor's name on the ballot or if they were simply an unorganized expression of support. Obviously, Grier did not vote for himself because there were no Democratic votes cast in his precinct, and he said he had voted.

It would appear, however, that the Democratic write-ins probably were cast by Republicans.

If the reaction of Joseph Fiorilli, a township Democrat and periodic township critic, is indicative of others, Democrats aren't going to enjoy having a Republican carrying their banner into the election.

Incensed by the prospect, Fiorilli said, "It's just unbelievable."

Although there is no longer a formal Democratic organization in the township, Fiorilli said neither he nor any other Democrats of his acquaintance had engineered the write-ins.

"We (Democratic friends, had talked about running a candidate but decided against it," he said.

Meanwhile, David Mitchell — the man who won the GOP nod in the primary over four other Republicans, said he "was not surprised" by the move placing Grier's name on the ballot. "I hadn't shared the feelings of some people that Wilson Grier had bowed out of local politics, so consequently what happened doesn't surprise me."

But he expressed disappointment that Grier "hadn't been fairer with the people by running openly — and I find it hard to believe that this could have happened without his knowledge — as did the rest of the candidates on the ballot. We all worked hard, particularly Dorothy Gay, and here someone gets on the ballot by the backdoor."

"Nevertheless, perhaps some good will come of it. Maybe it will put more interest in the election and get people out to vote. I was very disappointed with only 782 people voting in the primary."

"Obviously, I probably wouldn't have campaigned as hard if there had been no opposition. But you can be sure I'll really be working now that he (Grier) is on the ballot with me."

Concerning the proposed purchase of land which voters also will be asked to decide March 20, the board has decided to earmark some $32,000 of the expected federal revenues for the purchase. Some of the property it has in mind is located east of the new township hall.

"It seems to us that the needs of the township may one day require additional land for one purpose or another, but especially for recreation," said Supervisor Thomson. "And the longer we wait the more expensive land will become."

Ed goes 42 years

Northville Rotary Club president Steve Walters and Rotarians Art Radford and C. A. Smith presented it to him last Tuesday in a ceremony in Bogart's home.

Bogart has been a member of the Northville Rotary club since 1931.

"For a few years I didn't pay much attention to having a perfect (attendance) record," he said. "But in '37 I started to try for a perfect attendance and after that I never missed a meeting."

Bogart owned his own store in Northville, E.M.B. Foods, until 1944. He was a justice of the peace, city assessor, bank president and sold real estate until his retirement at age 78 in 1971.

He was president of the Rotary Club in 1947 and its secretary for 12 years. And always he maintained his Tuesday ritual: to attend the Rotary meeting wherever he was. Thus, there was no interruption in 1964 when the Bogarts sold their home here and moved to Plymouth. There was no interruption through the births of his three sons, nine grandchildren, or even the three "or maybe now there are four" great-grandchildren.

In fact, the only thing which has slowed him down is speeding time. Ed Bogart is 86 years old. Last year he fell and injured his hip. Since then he has been on an official leave of absence from the Rotary Club.

Still, they have not forgotten him. His record is intact. His chair is still waiting for him. And it looks like everyone else has about a thousand meetings to catch up on if they want to prove that they, too, know how to persevere.

EMU spotlights Zion

Harry Zion of Northville, 1975 Northville High School graduate, was spotlighted recently in an informational bulletin at Eastern Michigan University where he is majoring in biology.

A recipient of an EMU

Regents Scholarship, Zion's past awards include a presidential scholarship and an endowment scholarship. He is minoring in both chemistry and zoology with a pre-medicine curriculum and carries a 3.89 grade point average.

He is a member of the Stoic Society, has served as director and as an alternate hall governor for Jones Hall where he lives, and he is vice-president of the Biology Club.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Zion of 744 Carpenter, he has completed honors chemistry program and has tutored genetics, zoology, botany and biology.

Zion, a senior at EMU where he will receive his degree in April, was a member of the Art Club and the National Honor Society in high school here. He is currently employed as a disc jockey at Walled Lake's Shadowfax Discotheque.

Lurvey wrestles way to 4th place

Mike Lurvey, a 4th-place finisher in the state finals

Mike Lurvey came back from Western Michigan University with some hardware last weekend.

The spunky senior wrestler, who became one of the first two Northville grapplers to ever qualify for the class A state tournament when he and Matt Baker placed in last month's regionals, battled his way to a fourth-place finish in the 119-pound division of Saturday's state wrestling finals, making him one of six medalists in that weight bracket.

And considering the type of competition he was up against, that was quite a feat.

Going into the tournament, which included 16 regional medalists in each weight class, Lurvey sported a 30-9 record. During the course of the weekend he faced four opponents who had a combined record of 155-11-1 — and he beat three of them.

"He was pretty happy," a proud Coach Gary Emerson said later. "He beat some awfully good people to get that medal, and it made the weekend really worthwhile."

"It was just incredible to see so many good wrestlers in one place — and then to hear Mike's name getting called over and over again."

There really didn't seem much of a chance that Lurvey would even get past his first match. Because he'd barely qualified for the states with a fourth-place finish in the regionals, he had to face a regional champion in Friday's opening round of the double elimination tournament.

The Northville co-captain picked up three second-period points, though, and held on for a 3-1 victory over Grand Rapids Creston's Tom Churchard, who entered the bout with a 34-2 record.

Lurvey then came up with his biggest win of the weekend when he defeated Hazel Park's Brad Wilkerson, 11-4, in his second match.

At one point Wilderson, 35-6-1 going into the match, led 4-0. But according to Emerson he "did a no-no" in the second period.

"He bent Mike's fingers back," Emerson recalled. "You don't do that with Mike."

Lurvey proceeded to take his opponent down and picked up five quick points, and from there on in the match was all his.

That sent him into the semifinals against Belleville's Joe Justine. Justine, who eventually won the state championship and completed the year with a perfect 37-0 record, decisioned him 11-5.

Lurvey bounced back into the consolation finals, though, with a 9-4 win over Keith Masters of Rochester Adams. Masters had entered the state finals with a 54-3 mark and the Michigan high school record for most victories in a single season. One of his three losses had been against Lurvey last month.

The win over Masters sent Lurvey into a rematch with Wilkerson for third-

Mustangs struggle to district win

It wasn't a particularly pretty show, but Northville's cagers came up with a big victory at Livonia Churchill Monday night.

Kept alive through much of the game by Joe Schimpf, the local squad struggled to a 51-47 triumph over the host school in the opening round of the Class A districts.

That marked the first time in four years the Mustangs have so much as won a state tournament game, and the first time they've ever beaten Churchill three times in a single season.

It also gave them one more shot at finishing the year with a winning record. A victory over Livonia Franklin in tonight's district semifinals would give Northville its first winning season since 1975.

On the basis of Monday's performance, though, that won't be easy.

After jumping out to a 15-8 lead in the first quarter, the Mustangs began collapsing. They didn't score a single point through the first four minutes of the second quarter.

Churchill, meanwhile, took advantage of the drought by canning 10 straight points to take an 18-15 lead, and held on for a 23-22 halftime advantage.

When Northville failed to score in the first three-and-a-half minutes of the third stanza, the Chargers opened up a 27-22 bulge. It was then that Schimpf took control.

The 6-3 senior center almost singlehandedly kept the Mustangs in the game for the next three minutes, hitting four straight field goals and two straight free throws to pull his team within three, 35-32.

Colligan will be new grid coach

Next year's seniors shouldn't have much trouble adapting to the ways of Northville's new varsity football coach.

After all, they've been playing for him since the ninth grade.

Dennis Colligan, who came into the Northville school system as a ninth-grade coach at Cooke Junior High in 1976 and has been winning ever since, was officially named as the Mustangs' head grid coach last Friday.

He thus becomes only the fourth coach since 1959 to head up Northville's highly successful football program, succeeding Chuck Shonta.

And that's a mighty big pair of shoes to fill.

Shonta, who resigned last November, took over a faltering program in 1971 and guided the Mustangs to six consecutive winning seasons beginning in 1973.

He compiled a 38-31-1 record during his eight-year reign and consistently turned out some of the top defensive teams in the area. Over the past seven years, in fact, the Mustangs have allowed 30 or more points in a game only once, and in two-thirds of their games have given up one touchdown or less.

But excellent defense and winning football teams are nothing new to Colligan. After coaching Cooke to a 5-1 record in 1976, the 30-year-old Livonian moved up to the high school level and helped Northville's junior varsity club to two outstanding seasons.

In 1977, while he was an assistant to Steve McDonald, the Jayvees rolled up a 7-1 mark. Last fall, when Colligan moved up to the head jayvee position, the team's only loss in nine games was a 13-12 heartbreaker at Walled Lake Western.

During those two years the Mustangs allowed an average of less than five points a game while scoring almost 25 per game themselves.

Colligan, though, gives much of the credit for the jayvee team's success to Shonta's influence.

"I really respect Chuck," Colligan, who worked closely with Shonta during the games last fall, says. "I've never run into a guy who knows football like him. He's a genius with defenses."

Before coming to Northville Colligan had been a coach for five years at Wayne St. Mary's High School, his alma mater.

During his playing days at Wayne he was an All-League and All-Area tackle, helping his team to a 9-0 record and the Second Division Catholic League championship in his senior year. In his four years with the team (he graduated in

Tonight at Livonia

Franklin is next foe

Northville's victory over Livonia Churchill in Monday's opening round of the state districts sends the Mustangs into tonight's (Wednesday's) semifinals against Livonia Franklin.

Franklin, which drew a first-round bye, sports a 12-8 overall record this season while Northville is 11-10. The two clubs met earlier this season, with Franklin coming out on top by a 69-54 count.

Chris Baker, the Patriots' big senior center, paced the victory with 24 points and 20 rebounds and will probably provide the Mustangs with their biggest headaches.

Tonight's game starts at 8:30 p.m. in the Churchill gym, located on the northeast corner of Joy and Newburgh Roads. The winner of that game then plays for the district championship on Friday beginning at 7 p.m.

In tonight's other semifinal match-up Livonia Bentley, a 73-52 victor over Redford Thurston on Monday, takes on Livonia Stevenson in a 7 p.m. contest. Bentley enters the game with an 18-3 record while Stevenson, which drew a first-round bye, is 17-3.

U-M sluggers coming

The Wolverines are coming to town, and kids and coaches in Northville's junior baseball program will have a chance to meet them next weekend.

Moby Benedict, head baseball coach at the University of Michigan, and some of his Wolverine players will be the featured instructors at a baseball clinic on Saturday, March 17.

The clinic will take place between 9:30 a.m. and noon at Northville High School, and is open to all coaches and players involved with the local junior baseball program. Jim Newman of Northville will be in charge of it.

Benedict, who's been coaching Michigan's baseball team at Michigan for the past 17 years, has guided the Wolverines to three Big Ten championships, including last year's, and had one of the conference's top hitters last season in Rick Leach.

The clinic will stress the fundamentals of playing and coaching the game. Northville's junior baseball program will be getting underway next month.

fourth place, and this time the Hazel Park grappler prevailed, 6-5, although Lurvey rallied back from a 5-1 deficit and almost pulled the match out in the final period.

Lurvey thus wound up with a 33-11 record overall this season, although several of his losses came at 126 pounds.

His fourth-place finish also capped an outstanding day for the 119-pound qualifiers from the Walled Lake Western regional. Justine, the state champion, as well as runner-up Rob Parent of Southfield and Lurvey were all from that regional.

Baker, meanwhile, had to face unbeaten Joe Valente of St. Clair Shores South Lake in his opening match in the 191-pound fight. He lost on a pin, then was eliminated on another pin by Todd Fracalossi of Davidson in his second match. Ernie Kovath of Brighton won the 191-pound state title.

All-Area teams to include v-ball

This year's All-Area winter sports selections will have a new twist.

Instead of voting on an All-Area basketball squad only, sports writers from the Northville Record, Novi-Walled Lake News, Brighton Argus and South Lyon Herald will be choosing a dream team of volleyball players as well — in the interest of equal rights, you might say.

The cream of the volleyball crop from the 10 schools in our coverage area will be featured in next week's sports section, while the All-Star cagers, as usual, will appear in our C section.

Watch for it in the March 14 edition of the Northville Record.

4 do well, but it's not enough

Sue Kinnaird, Britt Evans, Any Missel and Hollie Raycraft all had commendable performances in last Saturday's 12-school league gymnastics meet at Bloomfield Hills Andover, but it wasn't enough to prevent Northville from finishing near the bottom of the stack.

The Mustangs, hurt by an extremely weak showing on the uneven parallel bars, wound up in 10th place overall with a total of 72.35 points. North Farmington won the meet with 99.5 points while Bloomfield Hills Lahser was second with 95.35 and Andover third with 94.65.

"The girls did pretty well for the most part," Coach Jack Townsley observed later. "They did well in two events, mediocre in one and very bad in the other."

"But it was a good experience for us. I think we learned a lot."

Actually, Northville didn't come too far from finishing among the upper half of the field. After the top three finishers, the next seven schools were separated by less than 11 points (fourth-place Birmingham Groves had 82.9 points), and sixth-place Walled Lake Central's 78.55 total was just 6.2 better than Northville. A week earlier the Mustangs had scored a school record 76.75 points in a dual meet against Livonia Clarenceville.

But the local girls' hopes of placing well as a team crumbled in the parallel bars competition. Northville's four entrants tallied only 10.30 points, last among the 12-school field, with Kinnaird (3.95) and Raycraft (3.8) recording the team's only above-3 scores.

The Mustangs' best showings came in vaulting and floor exercise. They finished sixth, and were extremely close to finishing fourth, in both events.

Kinnaird earned a 7.7 while Missel and Evans had 7.3's and Raycraft a 6.9 in vaulting, giving the local gymnasts a 22.3 total in that event.

And in floor exercise Northville wound up with 21.65 points. Evans led the way in that event with a 7.55 score while Kinnaird had a 7.2, Raycraft a 6.9 and Missel a 6.75.

In the balance beam competition the Mustangs placed ninth with 18.1 points. Raycraft scored a 6.9, Debbie Bauer a 5.75, Joanne Hendricks a 5.45 and Evans a 4.45 as the local girls came within .7 points of placing sixth in that event.

Northville's only all-around performer was Raycraft, who placed 16th out of 21 girls with a 24.5 score. Kathy Temple of North Farmington was the overall winner with a 34.25 total.

The Mustangs finished their season with a 1-8 dual meet record this year. This weekend two members of the team — Kinnaird and Evans — will be competing in the state regionals at Troy Athens.

Kinnaird qualified for the regionals in vaulting while Evans qualified in floor exercise, and should they do exceptionally well this weekend they'll advance to the state finals the following week.

Pre-registration for Northville's men's, women's and co-ed softball teams will be getting underway later this month in the recreation department offices.

All returning teams should register the week of March 19-23, while others should register the week of March 26-30. Full payment of team fees must be made when registering.

The recreation offices are open between 8 a.m. and noon and between 1 and 5 p.m. daily. For further details call the rec department at 349-0203.

Organizational meetings for men's, women's and co-ed softball league teams are scheduled for tonight and tomorrow in the recreation offices.

The men's league meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight (Wednesday), while the women's league meeting will be held at 7:30 and the co-ed league meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday). The recreation offices are located at the corner of Wing and Main Streets.

The recreation department is looking for volunteers for its senior citizens shopping program.

The volunteers would be responsible for helping senior citizens carry groceries from a bus to their homes on Tuesdays between 1 and 2 p.m.

Anyone interested in helping out should call the recreation office at 349-0203.

Coaches are still needed for the junior league's Sandy Koufax league this summer.

The Sandy Koufax league involves youngsters aged 14 and under, and begins competition in May. If interested call Wade Deal at 348-1129.

Swimming classes that were cancelled on Saturday, February 24, will be made up at the end of this season's session. They will be held at the high school pool.

Last week marked the end of this year's ski club season. No more trips are planned to Alpine Valley until next winter.

Canton loss ends volleyball season

Northville's volleyball team broke a long losing streak in last Saturday's district tournament at Westland John Glenn, but ended its regular season on a sour note two days later.

Sparked by the serving of Stephanie Colovas and strong all-around performances from Kim Kratz and Diane Perpich, the Mustangs came from behind for a 12-15, 15-5, 15-9 victory over Farmington in the opening round of the eight-school districts, but then suffered a 15-8, 15-2 setback against unbeaten Livonia Churchill in the semifinals. Their victory over Farmington snapped a seven-game losing streak.

"I felt good about the way things went," Coach Steve McDonald said of his team's district showing. "The girls were up for the districts and played well throughout the day, but they just couldn't keep up their momentum against Churchill."

The Mustangs had raced out to an 8-2 lead in the first set against Churchill before folding. The Chargers, champions of the Western Six conference, went on to win the district title.

Colovas wound up with 16 serves for the afternoon, 11 of them for points.

McDonald also credited Pam Metz with an "extremely good" game coming off the bench.

Earlier in the week, however, Northville had dropped a tough two-setter against Walled Lake Western, then closed the season with a loss at Plymouth Canton this past Monday.

Last Tuesday (February 27) the Mustangs suffered a 15-13, 15-13 setback at Western, although McDonald questioned the game's officiating. Kratz, with 14 serves and nine serving points, and Susie Heinzman, with 10 serves and six serving points, paced the Mustangs' efforts.

Six days later Canton ended the local spikers' season with a 15-9, 15-9 triumph.

Perpich, Kratz, Heinzman and Cheryl DeHoff all had strong games in a losing cause. Perpich finished with seven spikes and three dinks, Kratz had four spikes, six serves and 10 serve receptions, Heinzman 10 serves and 12 serve receptions, and DeHoff six serves.

The Mustangs finished the season with a 4-11 record overall and were 3-7 in Western Six competition.

Chiefs roll past Northville again

Northville will apparently have plenty to worry about when this year's Western Six swimming meet gets under way tomorrow (Thursday) night.

For the second time this season the Mustangs were upended by Plymouth Canton last Thursday night — and for the second time the Chiefs were very convincing.

Led by record-setting breaststroker Paul Petersen, Canton piled up 10 victories in 11 events and rolled to an easy 113-59 Senior Night triumph, keeping the team's perfect dual meet record intact at 11-0. Earlier this winter the Chiefs had swamped the Mustangs in Northville, 54-29.

Despite Northville's margin of defeat, though, Coach Ron Meteyer wasn't exactly crestfallen.

"Considering the kids we had in there, we didn't do that badly," he said. "We weren't disappointed by our own efforts."

"We knew we were going to lose the meet, although we didn't expect to lose by that big of a margin. We were experimenting a little bit, getting ready for (this week's) league meet."

And his feelings about Northville's chances of winning its fifth straight Western Six crown?

"I feel better about our chances now than I did earlier in the year," he said, noting the return to near-full strength of several of his swimmers.

The Mustangs' lone victory last Thursday occurred in the backstroke, where Brady Kramer edged out Canton's Bob Cline with a 1:00.7 clocking.

Canton, however, won the rest of the events, including both relays, and swept the top two places in five of them.

Petersen and Bob Simrak led the Chiefs with two individual victories each. Petersen won both the 50-yard freestyle and the breaststroke, taking the latter in a school record-setting time of 1:01.2, while Simrak won the 200 and 500-yard freestyles. Cline (individual medley), Steve Gray (diving), Ron Hurley (butterfly) and Dave Tanner (100 freestyle) were also winners for Canton.

That somewhat overshadowed a cluster of outstanding performances by Northville. The local swimmers posted almost a dozen personal best efforts.

Among them were Char Ramsey's 2:02.7 clocking in the 200-yard freestyle and his 5:36.9 clocking in the 500 freestyle, good for fourth and third place respectively.

Rick Barget (third in the 50 freestyle at 23.7, second in the 100 freestyle at 51.7), Dan McMann (fourth in the 50 freestyle at 24.6), Dale Eisher (third in diving with 172.6 points), Dean Guard (third in the butterfly at 1:08.8) and Bill Lockwood (third in the backstroke at 1:04.5) also improved noticeably.

Other top Northville finishers included Paul Cooper (second in diving), Nader (third in the breaststroke), and the second-place medley relay team of Kramer, Tim Cahill, Guard and Beason (1:51.1 clocking).

Canton, though, swept the top two positions in the meet's final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay.

This Thursday and Friday (March 8 and 9) the Mustangs will attempt to defend their Western Six title at Farmington Harrison, where the league meet is being held. Preliminaries get underway at 4 p.m. on Thursday, while the finals are slated to begin at 7:30 p.m. on Friday.

But Mustangs recover

Rebounding from their 54-point loss at Plymouth Canton last Thursday, Northville's swimmers breezed to a 52-31 victory over Walled Lake Western in celebrating their own Senior Night on Monday.

Helped by the return of Russ Gans, who'd missed the last several meets because of an illness, the Mustangs won eight events, including both relays, in closing the regular season with one of their top performances of the year.

Brady Kramer, Tim Cahill, Gans and Rick Barget combined for a 1:48.1 clocking in winning the 200-yard medley relay. According to Coach Ron Meteyer that's one of the team's best times all season.

Northville also won the freestyle relay, with Tom Cahill, Barget, Gans and Char Ramsey combining for a 3:39.8 clocking.

Another pleasant surprise was the team's diving. Paul Cooper (189.2 points) and Gary Beason (149.5 points, his best ever) swept the top two places, bringing the Mustangs back from a 16-15 deficit and putting them ahead for good, 21-17.

Kramer (1:02.2) and Bill Lockwood (1:05.3) in the backstroke and Tim Cahill (1:03.1) and Tony Nader (1:07.9) in the breaststroke also went 1-2 for the local tankers.

Other Northville winners included Tom Cahill (50 freestyle), Gans (butterfly) and Ramsey (500 freestyle). Ramsey's 5:35.7 clocking in the 500 freestyle and his 2:02.3 in the 200 freestyle, good for second place, were personal bests. John Doyle's 6:02.1 clocking in the 500 free was also a personal best and gave the winners a 1-3 finish in that event.

The Mustangs wound up their regular season with an 8-5 dual meet record overall, 6-2 in the Western Six.

Colligan's new grid coach

1967) St. Mary's lost a total of only four games.

Colligan then tried his luck at the college level. He played briefly in his freshman season at Western Michigan University, but, hampered by injuries and schoolwork, decided against going out for the team after that.

He graduated with a bachelor of science degree in education in 1971, and received his masters from Eastern Michigan University three years later. He's currently a teaching consultant in Meads Mill's special education program, and has also coached Northville High's junior varsity baseball team the past two years.

While he doesn't foresee any major revamping of the football squad's style of play, Colligan does admit to planning a few changes next fall.

"I think we're going to be much more of a passing team," he said. "I'm a believer in throwing the football (last year's jayvees averaged 13 passes per game)."

"But a lot depends on what we have to work with. We're going to evaluate our personnel first, and fit (our style of play) around that."

Experience-wise, the Mustangs won't really have a lot. Seventeen starters from last fall's 5-4 club — including 10 offensive starters — will be graduating in the spring. The team's entire starting backfield and interior line on offense will have to be replaced.

"I don't want to call it a rebuilding year," Colligan says, "because it's really not. We'll have a lot of players who saw plenty of action as back-ups, and I think we'll have a real good group of seniors."

"We're going to have trouble at the start of the year (Northville's first three games will be against Redford Thurston, Westland John Glenn and Farmington Harrison — three clubs which beat them last year), but we're potentially a good football club."

And his own attitude about the upcoming season?

"I'm fired up, I really am. I wish we started the season tomorrow. I'm really looking forward to working with these guys again."

"We've always been a competitive football team. I've felt good about every team we've put on the field, and I think I'll be feeling good about this one, too."

Cagers edge Churchill

Mike Wagner and Mike McLaughlin followed with a pair of buckets that gave Northville a 36-35 edge, but Churchill's Chris Harvath hit a jumper as time expired in the third stanza to make it 37-36.

The two teams traded baskets through most of the fourth quarter before Jeff Norton sank a twisting lay-up with 2:03 left to put Northville ahead for good, 45-43. Moments later Wagner made a clean steal and drove the length of the court for a key basket, giving the local club a four-point cushion.

The Mustangs then sweated out a last-minute comeback bid by Churchill, which drew within two points, 49-47, and had possession with 35 seconds left. A traveling call gave the ball back to Northville, though, and Miles Couyoumjian hit two pressure-packed free throws with 28 seconds remaining to close out the scoring.

"We didn't really play that well," Coach Tim Lutes said in assessing the game afterwards. "I think the kids must've gone in with the attitude that we'd beaten Churchill twice already, so this one was in the bag.

"We didn't have anybody willing to shoot the ball until Schimpf took over, though."

Schimpf wound up as the game's leading scorer with 24 points, canning 10 of 16 floor shots and all four of his free throw attempts. Norton added nine points and Wagner seven, while Steve Zaborowski with 16 points and Brian Kersten with 11 topped Churchill.

The Mustangs shot a respectable 53 percent (20 of 38) from the floor and 69 percent (11 of 16) from the charity stripe while Churchill's corresponding figures were 40 and 54 percent.

But Lutes was somewhat disturbed with his team's rebounding. Although Churchill's big man, 6-5 center Ralph Jarrot, sat out almost the entire first half (he committed three fouls in the first two-and-a-half minutes and went to the bench), the Chargers dominated the boards, 36-24.

The Northville coach was more than happy to get the victory, though. And looking ahead to tonight's game against Franklin, he figures on seeing better things.

"I think we'll be ready for them (Franklin)," he said. "I think we'll play a much better ball game. We have to play a much better ball game."

Three nights earlier the Mustangs had closed out their regular season with a 77-69 loss at Plymouth Canton.

That dropped the local cagers into sole possession of third place in the final Western Six standings behind Canton and Waterford Mott. Canton finished the year with a perfect 10-0 record in league play while Mott was 6-4 and Northville 5-5.

Although they blew an early 7-2 lead the Mustangs, sparked by Bob Crisan, kept things close throughout the first half, trailing 22-19 after one quarter and 37-32 at intermission.

Canton gradually pulled out to a 57-48 advantage after three quarters and was up by 16 points before putting in the reserves midway through the fourth quarter. Northville quickly cut the gap back to 10, but missed a potential seven points in the span of a minute on a series of missed lay-ups and free throws.

"We just ran out of gas," Lutes said of his team's last-quarter letdown. "They (Canton) were just a much better ball team, and managed to maintain their lead once they got it."

Crisan scored 16 points in the first half alone and topped both clubs with a total of 22. Schimpf, who was in foul trouble through much of the game, added 19 for the Mustangs while Greg Suckow had nine, Norton seven and Dave Ward six. Schimpf and Ward also had eight rebounds each.

Senior forward Butch King, as usual, paced the winners with 18 points. But according to Lutes, it was forwards Mike Leary and Mike Gollnick who made the difference for the Chiefs. Leary wound up with 15 points and Gollnick had 12, 11 of them in the first half.

Canton's overall regular season record was 16-4, while Northville finished at 10-10.

Athletes of the week

MIKE LURVEY

Northville never had a Class A state wrestling finalist before this year. This winter the Mustangs not only had a finalist (actually they had two), but a state medalist as well in Mike Lurvey. The senior co-captain, whose three-year career at Northville includes 70 victories, battled his way past some of Michigan's best wrestlers in placing fourth at last weekend's 119-pound state finals. He wound up with a sparkling 33-11 record this season.

AMY MISSEL

Coach Jack Townsley calls her "as steady a performer as we have," and Amy Missel was just that in last weekend's league gymnastics tournament at Bloomfield Hills Andover. The junior tumbler posted her always-high scores in vaulting and floor exercises in helping the Mustangs to a 10th-place finish. She posted a 7.3 in the vault, the team's second-best performance in that event, and a 6.75 in floor exercise. Best of all, she'll be returning to the team next year.

Men's leaders win again

Goat Farm and Wack Pack, sparked by stingy defensive efforts, turned the local men's basketball league race into a two-way affair with convincing victories last Thursday night.

Goat Farm, led by Mark Lisowski and Howard Inch, rolled to a 52-30 victory over Little Caesar's while Wack Pack, behind Mark Kleimola's 18 points, breezed past Long Plumbing, 70-46.

That left the two co-leaders with identical 6-2 marks going into the final two weeks of the season and all but eliminated Little Caesar's from the race. Caesar's, which stands at 4-4, must win each of its last two games while the Pack and Goat Farm lose theirs in order to win a co-championship.

Lisowski, who leads the league with an 18.5-point scoring average, erupted for 13 points in the first half, helping Goat Farm to a 21-10 halftime advantage in its win over Caesar's. Inch, second in the league with a 15.4-point average, paced the winner's second-half effort with nine points as Goat Farm limited Caesar's to the lowest point total in one game this season.

Lisowski wound up with 15 points and Inch 13 for the game, while teammates Gary Lisowski and Ronnie Smith added seven and six respectively. Tom Eis topped the losers with 12 points while Todd Eis chipped in eight.

Kleimola was the hot shooter in Wack Pack's triumph. Thirteen of his game-high 18 points came in the second half, and he was 6-of-8 from the free throw line.

The Pack raced off to a 35-24 halftime lead and never looked back.

Jayvees' title hopes die

Northville's hopes for a junior varsity basketball championship ended in the team's season finale at Plymouth Canton last Friday night.

Canton, sparked by a big third quarter, held off a furious last-minute rally by the Mustangs and came away with a 57-54 victory, giving the Chiefs the undisputed Western Six title. The Plymouth squad finished with an 8-2 league record while Northville was 6-4.

"I guess the difference was we just went over there and played poorly," a downtrodden Coach Omar Harrison reflected, noting the team's 36 percent field goal shooting.

The two teams battled it out on even terms throughout the first half, with Canton edging out to a 28-26 lead at the intermission. The Chiefs then went on a 16-8 scoring outburst in the third quarter and never trailed again.

Northville scrambled back from an 11-point deficit with 1:33 left in the game and actually pulled within two at one point, but missed an opportunity to tie things up in the waning seconds.

Duke DuSablón topped the Mustangs with 22 points and had 12 rebounds, while Dave Greer added 13 points and 12 rebounds and Todd Jennings, 10 points.

Here's how UniBank/Cash Management works:

If you have both checking and savings accounts at various financial institutions with a total average balance of $2,000—or if you have an average balance of $2,000 in a single account—it makes good sense to shift your money to a Cash Management Account at National Bank of Detroit.

Here are two reasons why.

First, as long as you average a $2,000 balance in your savings account, the plan has no service charges. Notice that the $2,000 is an average balance. Not a minimum balance.

That means the balance in your account could drop well below $2,000 during some parts of the month, provided you make it up with a higher balance during other parts of the month.

Second, the funds in your savings account earn the highest bank interest allowed by law. When funds are needed in your checking account to cover checks, only the exact amount is transferred—not increments of $50 as is the case with some banks.

This allows you to keep a zero balance in your checking account at all times while earning a maximum 5% annual interest compounded continuously on funds in your savings account. That's an effective annual yield of 5.20%.

So, if your objective is to keep all of your funds earning maximum interest all the time they're not actually needed to pay bills and cover checks, stop in at any nearby National Bank of Detroit office. One of our representatives will gladly answer any questions you may have about NBD's UniBank/Cash Management Account.

Knicks' upset puts Hawks in 1st

The Knicks put an unexpected crimp in the Badgers' plans for this year's seventh-eighth grade recreation basketball championship last weekend.

Roaring back from a seemingly hopeless 15-point halftime deficit, the Knicks lifted themselves out of the league basement with a tremendous second-half flurry that netted them a 38-33 victory.

That left the Badgers one game out of first place going into this weekend's showdown with the league-leading Hawks. The Badgers can nab a share of the league title by winning Saturday's season finale, but their hopes of capturing an undisputed crown were shattered by the Knicks.

No one would have figured that to happen during the first half, though. Led by Bob Pote, the Badgers stormed out to leads of 11-0 and 19-4 in the first two quarters.

Coach John Starcevic's Knicks, though, refused to fold. Powered by Scott Gala, they rallied back to within six, 25-10, by the end of the third stanza, then erupted for 19 more points in the final eight minutes. The winners, now 3-6 this season, were 10-of-13 from the free throw line in the last two quarters.

Gala broke loose for 16 points in the second half and wound up the game's leading scorer with 18 in all. Gil Allen with six points and John Quinn with five supported him, while Pote had 11 points, eight of them in the first half, and Mike Weber seven for the Badgers.

The Hawks, meanwhile, took advantage of the situation by knocking off the Bullets and gaining sole possession of first place. The Hawks are now 7-2 while the Badgers are 6-3.

Sparked by Ernie Bock, the winners rallied from a 16-13 halftime deficit and came away with a 31-28 triumph. Bock had eight of his game-high 10 points in the second half. Mark Koenig added seven points for the Hawks, who won the contest with an 11-6 scoring outburst in the final quarter.

Fred Bauer topped the Bullets, now 2-

7 on the season, with eight points while Jay Bartline chipped in six.

In fifth-sixth grade action, meanwhile, the Rockets and Titans remained tied for first place while the Badgers climbed into a tie for third.

The Rockets, led as usual by Chris Hauser, struggled out to a 17-13 halftime lead and then held on for a 29-23 victory over the Spartans. Hauser topped both clubs with 14 points, 10 of them in the second quarter alone, while teammate Todd Mai added 10. Dave Denhof netted 12 for the Spartans.

The Titans shot out to a 21-12 halftime bulge, but had to stave off a third-quarter rally in beating the Bulldogs, 29-24. The Bulldogs had closed to within three, 25-22, by the start of the final period.

Fred King with 11 points and Matt Peltz with 10 led the Titans, while Kirk Morrison tallied eight points and Mike Hilfinger six for the Bulldogs. The Titans' victory enabled them to stay deadlocked with the Rockets atop the fifth-sixth grade league pack. Both are 8-1.

The Badgers, meanwhile, pulled into a tie for third with a 49-24 triumph over the Trojans. Both the Badgers and Spartans now sport 6-3 records.

Scott Gray was the big man for the Badgers. He exploded for 20 points in the last half and the winners broke open a tight 16-12 game and won going away.

Gray finished with 28 points total, one of the league's top performances this season, while Russ Parker dumped in another 15. Doug May topped the Trojans with 12 points.

In other fifth-sixth grade action the Bobcats breezed past the Wolverines, 31-20, while the Mustangs knocked off the Sun Devils, 36-26.

Bruce Phillips sparked the Bobcats with eight points and Steve Ruschak added six, while Don Norton had 10 points and Rob Cannon seven for the Wolverines.

10. Resolution from the City of Trenton regarding the regulating and/or limiting the pirating of industry from one state to another.

11. Resolution from the City of Trenton regarding tax incentives under Act 138.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS. Mayor Vernon introduced Nancy Joslin, a Northville High School student, who presented a proclamation proclaiming March 17-24 as Muscular Dystrophy Week. He also explained the 3rd annual dance-a-thon will be held at the Novi High School on Saturday, March 23.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Johnston to proclaim March 17 through 24 as Muscular Dystrophy Week.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

POLICE CITATIONS. Captain Westfall presented Certificates of Merit to the following Auxiliary Police Officers for Exemplary Service at the Northville Downs on February 3, 1979:

Sergeant Robert Schronce, Corporal Gary Sablin and Patrolman Michael Green.

A letter from Mr. John Carlo, owner of the Northville Downs, commended the officers.

Mayor Vernon also commended the officers on behalf of the City of Northville.

The City Manager commented their action reflects the quality of their work, which also reflects on the additional training given to the auxiliary officers.

LIBRARY ADDITION-BOND ELECTION. Communication from the City Manager regarding the Library Addition Bond Election, the timetable involved and the bidding. He recommended setting the election date for Tuesday, April 10 with an alternate date of May 22.

Mr. Kevin Hartshorne, 1031 Grace, what was the matter with the library as is.

Mayor Vernon explained the reasons behind the library addition and the temporary rental of the space.

Mr. Hartshorne asked why the city council could not purchase the Northville Square to house the library and city offices.

Mayor Vernon explained this idea had been discussed at great length but was an impractical idea.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Gardner to authorize the City Clerk to petition the Oakland County Election Commission for an election to be held on April 10 with an alternate date of May 22 for approval of a General Obligation bond issue for the library addition.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

EDC APPOINTMENTS: Mayor Vernon stated the EDC would be meeting next week and asked council to wait for their recommendations for appointment.

FIRST OF MICHIGAN FINANCIAL CONSULTANT. Communication from the City Manager regarding the Financial Consultant for Mainstreet 78 Bonds. The Financial Consultant revised the plan to reflect the concerns of the council.

Councilman Johnston stated the cost represented about one tenth of 1% of the project and an in-depth sales plan would be necessary.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Gardner to authorize the Mayor and the City Clerk to sign the Financial Consultant Agreement, if the bond issue has been approved by the voters, on February 20, 1979.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

RECREATION BUDGET. The City Manager explained the $250 for the Master Plan Study was tabled by the Township Board at their last meeting.

Councilman Johnston mentioned the increase in the budget amounts to approximately 0.29 mills. The Recreation Department is asking for an Assistant Director, bulldozer and the Master Plan.

Councilman Nichols stated some of the subsidies are getting rather high, and that higher fees should be considered.

Councilman Johnston remarked that fees such as softball could be increased.

Mayor Vernon mentioned the city would have input when the joint finance committee meets.

MAYORS EXCHANGE DAY. Communication from the City of Marshall confirming Mayors' Exchange Day with the City of Northville.

The City Manager noted Northville was one of five communities to contact Marshall.

RECOGNITION OF POAM AFFILIATION. Communication from the Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM) stating they have filed with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission to be the official Bargaining Agent for the members of the Police Department.

MERC would set a date for a hearing and an election if the city does not voluntarily recognize them.

Councilman DeRusha pointed out the Police Department chose to have the POAM represent them.

Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman DeRusha to publish for Public Hearing on March 5 to vacate Walnut Street from East to High Street.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

REQUEST TO VACATE WALNUT NORTH OF EAST STREET. Communication from the Andrzejewski's who purchased lot 598 and 597 with the intention of constructing two residences, one on each lot. They request that the Walnut Street easement adjacent to Lot 597 be vacated because it would restrict the size of the building site for lot 597. They also listed other reasons for their request.

Councilman Nichols asked if they were not aware of the problems when they purchased the lots.

Councilman Johnston asked if there were any future usage of Walnut Street.

The City Manager mentioned that High Street would possibly be developed and not Walnut Street.

Mayor Vernon stated once Walnut Street is vacated, action cannot be recommended.

Discussion on the lots and sizes followed.

Motion by Councilman Gardner supported by Councilman Johnston to publish for a Public Hearing on March 5 to vacate Walnut Street from East to High Street.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

Meeting recessed at 9:30 p.m.

Meeting reconvened at 9:40 p.m.

WATER CROSS-CONNECTION INSPECTION. Communication from Wayne County Department of Health explaining the Community Cost Allocation and First Program Budget for the Cross Connection Control Program.

The first year cost to the city will be $1,980.

Communication from the City Engineer explaining the cross connection report which has to be filed with the State Health Department, the costs and what would be included.

Also included in the packet was a suggested model Ordinance, First Year Budget, explanation of charges to communities, and a sample agreement.

The City Manager explained the city does not have any option. We either have our own engineers do it or the county's. He recommended we go with the county for a year.

Councilman DeRusha asked if the Headlee Amendment could do something towards helping to fund the program.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Gardner to approve the Mayor and City Clerk to sign the agreement with Wayne County Health Department Ayes: Vernon, DeRusha, Gardner, Johnston, Naves, Nichols.

Motion Carried.

The City Manager would contact the county to see if the city would need help to adopt the ordinance.

LIBRARY BUDGET. Mayor Vernon stated the council will be prepared to give input to our financial committee.

MML LEGISLATIVE CONFERENCE. The MML's Annual Legislative Conference will be held Wednesday, March 21, 1979 in Lansing. Reservations should be made with the City Manager before March 7.

Mayor Vernon asked the City Manager to write MML for an agenda.

DPW BULLDOZER. Communication from Ted Mapes, Superintendent of DPW, suggesting an increase of the water tap fees for a 3/4" or 1" tap from $500.00 to $700.00. Enclosed with his memo was a comparison of fees charged by neighboring cities and townships.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman DeRusha to publish for Public Hearing on March 5 an increase in the water tap fees for a 3/4" or 1" tap from $500.00 to $700.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

MISCELLANEOUS. Memo from the City Manager regarding the Race Track Revenue and comparison of the 1977 and 1978 seasons. The proceeds for 1978 are up over 1977.

Ambulance Quarters. Fire Memo from the City Manager regarding the fire at the City Ambulance quarters at 519 Fairbrook on Friday, February 16, destroying the building to a large extent. No one was injured.

Amendments to Historic and Residential Parking Ordinances: The City Attorney presented two amendments for the council to review and discuss at the next meeting.

Vacate West Street: The City Attorney mentioned that an exchange is now in the process between the Recreation Department and the school board and recommended that West Street be vacated.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Gardner to publish for Public Hearing on March 5 to vacate West Street.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

Respectfully submitted,
Joan G. McAllister
City Clerk

City to interview 4 finalists for police chief here tomorrow

After years of delay and several false starts, the search for Northville City's first police chief in nearly six years is likely to end this week.

Four finalists will face brief interviews before an oral examination board Thursday night at Northville City Hall. Following that, City Manager Steve Walters said his selection for the long-vacant post should be announced "within a day or so."

Among the four men still in contention for the job is Northville City Police Captain Louis Westfall, the city's highest ranking full time police officer who has been in charge of the daily operations for more than five years.

The only other known candidate is Paul McGee, a former director of the Oak Park Public Safety Department where he had worked from 1951 until his retirement a few years ago.

The two other finalists have asked that their identities be withheld unless they are offered the job. This is apparently not in conflict with Michigan's Open Meetings Law.

The oral examination board will consist of three police officers and a Northville citizen.

Walters said each interview will probably last less than 30 minutes. The four-man panel will then rate the hopefuls.

"They will be asked to interview and rank them from best qualified to least qualified and if they feel an outstanding candidate is there, they will note that," said Walters.

"I might end up with two that are outstanding or none."

The examination board will present its findings to Walters Thursday night.

"If things are obvious, within a day or two I'll announce publicly who has been selected," he said.

The examination board consists of Lieutenant William Tomczyk, commander of the Michigan State Police post in Northville; Wayne County Under Sheriff Loren Pittman; John Nichols, police chief for Farmington Hills; and Emery Jacques, a Northville resident and former justice of the peace.

The state's relatively new Open Meetings Act requires interviews by public bodies to fill public positions to be conducted in open sessions.

But because the examination board's roll is an advisory one and because Walters and not the city council will make the police chief selection, the interviews apparently do not have to be open.

Walters said that he has invited city council members to the interviews.

Westfall has been the highest ranking police officer in Northville City since the city's last chief, Samuel Elkins, retired in 1973 and moved to Florida.

Walters, who was named city manager shortly after Elkins left, has said that city officials were reluctant to immediately name a successor until the question of the township's annexation to the city was settled.

But when the possibility of annexation became remote after two defeats at the polls, the selection of a new chief was shoved to the backburner and virtually forgotten.

Even after the issue was revived well over a year ago and applications were sought, the selection process was less than vigorous.

The timetable, which once called for a new chief by fall of 1978, was continually pushed back.

Walters said the delay was mostly because the selection of a new chief was a low priority compared to two other city projects; completion of Allen Terrace senior citizen complex and Mainstreet 78, the downtown development plan that was rejected by voters last week.

Police term death accidental

Northville Township police and the Oakland County Medical Examiner's office have reached different conclusions about the death of a Northville man overcome by his car's exhaust fumes last week.

The medical examiner, based on the fact that the man was found in his locked car with the engine running and the garage door closed, has ruled the death a suicide.

But township police, who say they found no evidence of suicide, say that the death of Arthur E. Miles, 23, was accidental.

Police say he may have been overcome while working on his car.

Police also say that Miles' parents, Arthur C. and Aurelia Miles, 41546 Ladywood Court, will attempt to have the medical examiner change his ruling of their son's death.

Miles was found by his parents shortly after midnight on Sunday morning, February 25, after the couple returned from an evening out, according to police.

Miles, who lives with his parents, was last seen watching television at 5:30, police said.

The elder Miles told police he discovered his son lying on the front seat of his 1971 Camaro with the car doors locked and the motor running. The garage door was closed, he said.

The elder Miles pried open the driver's window, pulled his son out of the car and attempted unsuccessfully to revive him, according to police.

The younger Miles was taken by ambulance to Botsford General Hospital in Farmington where he was pronounced dead at 1:14 a.m.

The medical examiner ruled that death was the result of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Township police said that no suicide note was found either in the garage or in the home.

They said neither Miles' parents nor his brother noticed any depression.

In fact, said a police spokesman, the initial investigation reveals just the opposite.

Miles was working long days at the Valron Corporation in Oak Park. Just two days before he died, Miles received a complimentary evaluation from his supervisor and he also received a raise.

He was attending school on Saturdays and taking a work-related course.

Tour Europe for credit

Schoolcraft College is offering a month-long European tour this spring for the study of geography, art and music.

The tour is open to 30 students and scheduled to get underway the middle of May. It is being led by geography instructor Ralph Miller.

Participants can earn three credits in geography and three in humanities. Art instructor Cecelia Kelly and music instructor Donald Morelock will lead their respective humanities studies.

Among the major cities to be visited are Paris, LePuy, Avignon, San Remo, Rome, Florence, Venice, Salzburg, Vienna and Munich.

Miller is an experienced traveler with 25 overseas trips to his credit. He said the Schoolcraft group will stay in first class European hotels.

"We plan to escape the traditional American scene of jetting half-way around the world to stay in a hotel occupied solely by other Americans."

Costs will be approximately $1,600, but could vary due to the fluctuation of the dollar. The price includes jet flight, local transportation, hotels, meals, concerts and museums and resident tuition.

A limited number of openings remain for the tour so those interested should contact the college's science and fine arts department as soon as possible. The number to call is 591-6400 ext. 510.

Millage election nears

Power failure sheds light on Schoolcraft needs

By TIM RICHARD

Twice in two winters, the electric power has gone out in the Forum Building of Schoolcraft College. "We lost class time — a week once, four days the other time," recalled college President C. Nelson Grote. "Plants and animals had to be moved to temporary quarters. Laboratory specimens and fish were lost. We had to take emergency measures to keep chemicals from freezing. We had to return the pianos."

The Forum is the major general classroom building on the community college campus at 18600 Haggerty, Livonia. Like many other structures, he said, it needs some major maintenance. The same general story is true of the college's equipment, both instructional and institutional. It's getting old and needs updating.

"The board has tried to do it from the general fund," said Grote, recalling how trustees began five years ago to earmark $250,000 a year for major maintenance and the same amount for equipment.

Some work has been done. But nearly every year, a cut in state aid, a hiccup in enrollment or a revenue loss due to the Single Business Tax has disrupted the budget. Major maintenance and equipment have been cut nearly every year.

This year the Schoolcraft board is asking for millage, and major maintenance and equipment are a promised part of the package.

Voters March 26 will be asked to approve one mill for five years for capital expenditures. That will raise about $10 million over the life of the millage.

Maintenance, equipment and some small site improvements would get about $3 million of the package.

"The board has not adopted an exact expenditure schedule by category nor set a dollar value within each category," Grote said. Why not? The biggest reasons are 1) the uncertainties of inflation and 2) the need to get state aid for some building projects.

"We need to repair one fire alarm system. We've put that off every year since I've been here," said Grote, who succeeded founding President Eric Bradner in 1971.

"We need to resurface the parking lots. They haven't been resurfaced since the college was opened (in 1964). The streets have been sealed and patched but haven't been resurfaced."

"We're going to have to replace some chillers (air conditioners) and heating plants," he said, citing a $10,000 study the college had contracted for which showed a centralized heating and air conditioning system would pay for itself in energy savings in a few years.

"Some of our lighting has to be updated."

"One of the Forum power failures was caused by a cable blowout under ground. It's that kind of capital plant investment which must be attended to soon, he said.

"Equipment needs the same kind of updating," Grote went on.

"Some 71 percent of our students are in career programs. In most, they use labs or classes with equipment. We can't afford technological obsolescence."

Grote had made his mark as a vocational-technical dean in Kentucky before being by Schoolcraft. One of his chief assignments was to increase voc-tec offerings. He feels he has done what the community asked.

"It's like your newspaper business with your computerized typesetting. You wouldn't think much of us if we were still teaching people to run a Linotype," he said.

The equipment need goes beyond voc-tec courses, he said. "The language lab in the Liberal Arts Building is original equipment. So are the microfilm readers in the library."

"Even in liberal arts, you're talking about furnishings and carpeting."

"The need to keep updating in automotive is constant. Consider the impact of the diesel engine. Look at emissions controls."

"In electronics we have to update. Secretarial work has gone from $200 mechanical typewriters to sophisticated word-processing electronic equipment. One new curriculum will require an investment of $10,000 to $15,000 (per station). This is controlled by the expectations of business and industry which hire our graduates."

Climate systems technology — the blanket name for heating, air conditioning and refrigeration — is becoming more sophisticated. Grote pointed to a local news story about a Northville Township home powered in part by solar energy.

The classes will begin on Monday, March 19 at 7:30 p.m., according to Viola L. Pudas.

Details about the courses and fees may be obtained by calling Mrs. Pudas at 478-7620 or Mrs. Toivo Hill, 533-7691.

That is just instructional equipment, he said. Schoolcraft also needs to replace much institutional equipment — lawn mowers, tractors, office machines.

"If the millage passes, we could start buying that equipment next year," said Grote, noting the new property tax levy would be seen in the Dec. 1 tax bills. "We'll see the benefits immediately."

New report card waits for Nichols

Northville's new superintendent and the school board's new evaluation form will have their first public meeting tonight.

The encounter is expected to be a cordial one.

Lawrence Nichols, who became superintendent here last summer after a 19-year career as a Livonia educator, sits down with the board at 7:30 p.m. to review his first school board report card.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will be conducted in the board of education room in the top of the Main Street Elementary School.

Nichols, in the first year of a three-year contract, can request that areas of concern be discussed in a closed session.

It is likely, however, that most of the evaluation will be a review of Nichols' initial year of becoming acclimated to the 4,000-student district.

"It's going to be a progress report," said Trustee Marjorie Sliger who chaired the committee that drafted the new evaluation form.

The stated purpose of the evaluation has four parts. It should:

- allow the board to provide direction for the superintendent.
- establish standards of performance.
- measure the extent to which district goals are achieved.
- assist the board in determining the superintendent's contract and compensation.

Prior to tonight's meeting, board members will have filled out a two-part evaluation form by rating the superintendent from "outstanding" to "unsatisfactory" in 14 subject areas.

Half of the categories have to do with his performance as chief executive of the board and are relatively easy to judge.

Samples of these performance areas are: "Keeps the board properly informed on district activities and important problems;" and "Provides enough data and information to explain the administration's point of view in order to facilitate the board's decision making process."

The other half of the areas to be judged fall under the broad brushstroke of "achievement of goals and objectives."

The specific categories under consideration were established jointly by the board and superintendent earlier in the school year.

This year's categories are: instructional improvement; student safety, health and well being; facilities management and planning; management and organization of the district; financial responsibility; performance evaluation of district employees; and community relations.

For each of these categories, Nichols has established more specific — but still rather general — goals. An example: One of four goals under "instructional-improvement" is "Become completely familiar with the K-12 instructional program."

As part of his evaluation, Nichols has prepared what could be called a progress report on his success in achieving these goals.

Although she said there is room for improvement, Mrs. Sliger said she is happy with the new evaluation instrument.

They're tops Sisters win Highland dance

Elizabeth and Leslie Grover of Northville made a complete sweep in their classes at the Highland Dance Competition held by the United States Highland Dance Association at the Southfield Civic Center on Saturday, February 24.

Elizabeth won the best of class trophy in the over 17 open class by taking the first place medal in all four of her dances — the Sailor's Hornpipe, the Irish Jig, the Village Maid, and the Blue Bonnet.

Sharon Alspaugh, also of Northville and a fellow student at the Bill Weaver School of Scottish Dance at Northville, ran a close second to Elizabeth by winning two second place medals and two third place medals.

Leslie Grover, not to be outdone by her older sister, also swept the four dance competitions in the 12 and under class. This was the second consecutive sweep by Leslie during the month of February.

Other medal winners from the Weaver School were Julie (fourth place) and Kathleen Berry (two third place medals) of Livonia, Jeri Brundage (one first and two third place medals) of New Hudson, and Mary Ross (third place) of Northville.

Chris Townsend of Plymouth and Beth Ross of Northville also participated in the competition.

NAAT revitalized

An effort is being made to revive a local organization whose concern is promoting education for gifted children.

The North Association for the Academically Talented (NAAT), which was formed last year, faltered this year because of a lack of leadership, according to a spokeswoman who hopes the organization can begin anew.

Those interested should call 348-9014.

She said it is a relatively easy to contact parents of elementary children who are involved in Northville Public Schools program for the gifted and talented.

But, she said, she would also like to reach parents of gifted students in secondary grades where Northville does not have special programs.

NAAT is a chapter of the Michigan Association for the Academically Talented.

There's just no resting for county road crews

By HOWARD RONTAL

Out of the frying pan and into the fire. With spring just around the corner the people at your local county road commission are saying goodbye to winter. To sudden, unexpected five-inch snowfalls, 16-hour days, 10-foot snowdrifts.

To icy roads, cold that chaps the lips and hands and keeps the salt from melting the snow, equipment failures and the calls from irate motorists who claim they haven't seen a road commission employee since the first snowfall — 1953.

The road commissions will be saying hello to spring; to flooded roads, swampy roads, rutted roads, impassable roads, cracking roads, heaving blacktop, chuckholes the size of furniture crates, little overtime, and to irate motorists who swear they haven't seen a road commission employee since the first pothole — 1593.

And then again, maybe the mere fact that it's March, not one of humanity's favorite months, that has county road crews down in the dumps.

All this gloom and doom came as a shock while trying to research an article on the lighter side of road maintenance.

Don Hallowell, managing director for the Livingston County Road Commission: "This is every dull, boring, monotonous job. Same old garbage day after day."

Charlie Johnson, superintendent of the Oakland County Road Commission, Milford Garage: "The days are never long enough to do what you want to do. You try to do the best you can with what you've got."

maintenance, Washtenaw County Road Commission: "Not a lot you can laugh about anymore because of the low priority of funding in most local communities..."

In overall maintenance the WCRC is only 19 percent through the year but it has used up 26 percent of its budget, he added grimly.

"This means a lot of road improvements won't get done," Anderson said.

"I'm saying my prayers every night for seal coats and paving for our very distressed primary road system."

Dennis Pajot, head of public relations for the Oakland County Road Commission: "There's a crisis every day, seems like."

But Pajot could see some irony in events.

Oakland County had less than 1,500 tons of salt by January, down from 10,600 tons at the first of the year. There was a labor strike at salt mine operations in Canada, he explained.

Now the county has 15,000 tons of salt with the strike over and shipments coming in again. "If we had a blizzard tomorrow we'd be in great shape."

If nothing else, the salt strike produced a bumper crop of imaginative excuses over delayed deliveries. International Salt Company said their "mineshaft broke," said Pajot.

The first story was the best, however. It seems a barge loaded with salt turned over in the Detroit River. Whether or not it's true Pajot doesn't know, but as excuses go he gives it top prize.

In terms of snow, county road personnel admit that it wasn't a very severe winter. But the cold, the sub-zero temperatures, made up for whatever the snow lacked.

A little snow and a lot of cold turn the roads into skating rinks, they agree, and ice is a lot harder to remove from the roads than snow.

More than that, ice bodes ill for the coming spring. The deeper water settles into the cracks in the pavement or underneath the road itself, the deeper cracks, fissures and chuckholes appear when the weather warms up.

Water expands when it's frozen, explains Pajot, no matter what it's contained in. When the container is a crack in the road the ice just splits the crack a little further. Let the water melt, refreeze, and it will make the crack a little bigger.

Add to that mixture 20,000 vehicles per day and one afternoon you've got a road dotted with potholes and hubcaps.

So let it melt now and forever be gone? No, says Hallowell. If it melts too fast on the gravel roads the sub-case will take on too much water and become spongy, ruining not only the surface of the road, but the base as well.

This is the most critical time of the year as far as road conditions are concerned, he said.

With the spring thaw coming up, road commissions need to be stockpiling gravel for repair and maintenance. But Johnson says that we're not far enough into the thaw yet to begin the stockpiling.

"Our big hang-up right now is that we can't get ahold of any gravel. The pits are all froze up," he said.

So, is there anything humorous in the work of life of the county road commissions?

Yes, Johnson said. "When you get a call to bury a dead skunk, but that's only humorous to the guy giving out the assignment."

Owls on tap

A program dealing with one of nature's most interesting avian predators, the owl, will be held at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near New Hudson on Friday, March 16 at 7 p.m.

Designed for nocturnal activities, owls have fascinated man for hundreds of years, said naturalist Steve Horn. "In the past, many feared the owl's presence, believing that they announced misfortune. Yet, others cherished the owls, who to them represented wisdom and integrity. Today few adhere to these old beliefs, but still the fascination exists. If you would like to know more about these birds and their role in the natural world, join us for this 2-hour program.

Advanced registration is required. Vehicle entry permits are required. Annual: regular-$7, senior citizen-$2 or daily-$2.

tion/registration contact the Nature Center at Kensington Metropark - Phone 685-1561 (Milford).

CIRCULATION 437-1662

Hey Kid! Whatcha doin' WEDNESDAY?

We've got a job for you.

Once a week, on Wednesdays, our community newspapers are home delivered by young people just like you (minimum age eleven years old). They're earning money every week and are eligible for our contests for prizes and vacations. More people are reading our newspapers in Northville, Novi, Walled Lake and South Lyon and therefore, we need additional carriers. So if you live around here and aren't doing anything on Wednesday.....

A KEITH EBERSOLE of Northville has been named vice president of quality and supply operations for American Motors Corporation.

A. KEITH EBERSOLE

The announcement of Ebersole's new position was made by W. Paul Tippet Jr., president and chief operating officer for American Motors.

As vice president, Ebersole will be in charge of procurement, plastics, trim and foundry plants, quality and reliability, supply planning and transportation, and timing program control.

He will report directly to Tippet.

Ebersole joined American Motors as vice president of purchasing in 1975 after serving in various executive positions with Ford Motor Company for 18 years.

Tippet also announced that George A. Maddox was named vice president of manufacturing operations. He was formerly vice president of manufacturing.

L'ESPERANCE ELECTRIC COMPANY at 22452 Pontiac Trail, South Lyon, in the Quik Pik shopping plaza, is planning a grand opening in March to provide area residents with the opportunity to come in and "get acquainted."

The business is a family operation owned by Harvey L'Esperance of Post Lane, assisted by his sons, John, Ken, Steve, Duane and Eric. Mrs. L'Esperance (Mary) is a registered nurse.

The new firm is prepared to handle all types of electrical installations and problems and will specialize in providing materials and supplies for "do-it-yourselfers." "We'll even give free advice," L'Esperance says with a smile.

A contractor with 10 years experience in the Pinckney area, L'Esperance is ready to do industrial and commercial installations as well as residential. Industrial and commercial maintenance will also come under his umbrella.

The store on Pontiac Trail will carry a full line of electrical warehouse-type supplies which can be purchased by individuals as well as contractors.

MATTHEW LYBERG SR., HAMBURG WAREHOUSE, Hamburg, has taken a step toward building consumer confidence in the floor covering industry by signing the new code of ethics published by his national trade association.

The Retail Floorcovering Institute's (RFI) code of ethics states:

"We pledge to serve our customers by fairly representing our merchandise, by fairly stating the price of our goods, by servicing the goods we sell and by striving for complete customer satisfaction."

The local floor covering retailer has also signed a statement endorsing the national council of Better Business Bureau's new Standards for Advertising and Selling Carpet and Rugs. This 16-page booklet, to which the RFI contributed technical assistance, is intended to encourage and preserve truthful, accurate and ethical practices in selling and advertising carpet and rugs.

All RFI members who have signed the ethics statement are entitled to display the association's logo in their advertising and in their place of business.

REFURBISHED MARQUIS BOUTIQUE at 133 East Main, Northville, is open again for business and filled with spring fashions. The shop itself is springlike pink-and-white with tiny pink-floral wallpaper on the ceiling and in dressing rooms. Additional dressing rooms have been provided in the remodeling.

RUSSELL FOGG, 19852 Iron Gate Court, Northville has been cited for his sales achievement with the Thompson-Brown Company of Farmington.

According to George Howes, manager of the Farmington office and associate broker, Fogg accumulated more than $500,000 in sales "during just the single month of February."

Fogg's effort, said Howes, is indicative of his sales abilities.

MONSANTO COMPANY announced that Kenneth R. Parsons, a nylon field sales representative for the Plastics Division of Monsanto Plastics & Resins Company, has been chosen as one of 40 Monsanto Master Salesmen for 1978. This is the second time Parsons has been so honored.

The Monsanto Master Salesman Awards Program was started in 1961 to honor the corporation's worldwide field sales representatives who achieve outstanding sales results and who display a high degree of excellence in their profession.

In addition to receiving a custom-tailored jacket, a plaque and a cash award in recognition of their selection as one of Monsanto's top field sales performers in 1978, the Master Salesmen also traveled to St. Louis for a two-day program of conferences and discussions with Monsanto's top executives.

Born in Hartford, Connecticut, Parsons graduated from The Citadel in 1954 with a B.S. degree in commerce. He joined Monsanto in 1959 and is currently a member of the Society of Plastics Engineers.

Parsons is married and has three children. He lives at 22846 Gilbar Drive, Novi.

IN RECOGNITION of proven professionalism, Jeanne Freund has been designated a Certified Residential Specialist (CRS) by the Realtors National Marketing Institute.

JEANNE FREUND

She is a realtor and associate broker with Rymal Symes Realtors in Novi, and she has been in real estate for 12 years and is a member of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors. Her educational background includes a degree from Lansing Business University, courses from Michigan State and the University of Michigan and she specializes in marketing residential property.

Designed specifically for realtors and realtor associates, the CRS is a certification of skill, experience and documented activity in the field of residential real estate.

The CRS designation is the latest development in the Marketing Institute's ongoing efforts to promote education and certification of real estate marketing skills. The CRB and CCIM designations are already recognized as symbols of excellence. The Marketing Institute is an affiliate of the National Association of Realtors offering publications, training aids, audio-visuals and courses for the real estate professional.

FORD DIVISION of the Ford Motor Company recently announced that Del McCormick and Constance Pemberton of John Mach Ford, Northville, have attained membership in the Ford Society of Professional Sales Counselors for 1978.

Society membership can only be obtained by those Ford salesmen who display outstanding sales achievement during the calendar year. McCormick has been employed at John Mach since 1976. Ms. Pemberton since 1977.

ANN M. REITMEYER of Brighton, has been elected an assistant vice-president of the Citizens Mortgage Corporation, a subsidiary of Manufacturers Hanover Corporation.

Mrs. Reitmeyer joined Citizens Mortgage in 1961 as an administrative assistant. She was named a supervisor in 1974 and a department manager in 1976. She was previously with Pontiac Motors. Born in Crystal Fall, Michigan, she is married to Patrick R. Reitmeyer.

NICK LAYOW is the most recent addition to the hair styling staff at David's Head Start Salon in South Lyon. A hair stylist for 21 years, Layow is the former owner of the Fashion Cellar in Northville. He has recently returned with his wife and three sons from California where he had pursued his career for approximately two years. Layow will be specializing in cutting and coloring at David's.

My Family

I remember growing up,
It was not so bad.
We used to make up lots of shows to perform for mom and dad.
I have a lot of brothers,
Four to be exact.
I also have two sisters,
And that's a well-known fact.
There's Peg who is the oldest,
She was momma's little girl.
Her hair was always cutie,
All soft and full of curl.
Brother George is next in line,
He used to be a Marine.
But when I asked him why he quit,
He said, "It's not my scene."
And then there's sister Judy,
Who's rich and works at FORD'S,
I remember her old bedroom,
Her shelves all full of gourds.
Next is brother Michael,
Whose nickname is Michel.
And when he picked on Judy,
She would always tell.
Then who comes next but brother Chris,
We never got along.
When he wanted to get away,
He'd turn up Cheech & Chong.
Then after me, comes red-head Shawn,
My little "Baby Brother."
Whenever I wouldn't let him play,
He'd go and tell my mother.
Although I used to fight with them,
And they would fight with me,
I love them all so very much,
That's how it always will be.
But when I think of long ago,
And when we were just little,
And when big brother George would read to me
— "Hey Diddle, Diddle,"
I think of all the fun we had,
The days all filled with glee,
And then I think of just how much,
I love my family.

On Caucasus

The transfixed rebel, the skeleton,
Shackled to the ageless rock
(The cross, the cliff, the arabesque
Of blood and pain) cries the mule
Indignant lie: "I am one he cannot kill."

The wind through empty canyons cry
That feared to leer the godless sky.
The scourge (indifferent storm)
Quails the bleached and fragile form.

Vestige of a racked face, an icy
Scarapace, retracted in repulse.
Thoughts, ragged in doubt of flesh
And love, extracted what was false.

Bleak, the bones, the empty cage.
Bleak, the years of empty rage.

Reflections

I've written poems,
I've written rhymes,
Loved thinking of all the times
I've sat under a wide oak tree
The sun looking down on me.

I've often thought of words to match
I've even watched some little birds hatch,
And way out along a long-lived limb,
I used to dive and take a swim.

No longer do I have such pleasures,
All my thoughts, my only treasures.
The old oak tree has since been downed,
And in the pond a young boy drowned.

Dan Frazer

Blue . . .

Blue is anger,
Blue is dead,
Blue is raindrops,
Falling on my head.

Blue is the sky,
And so is the sea,
Blue is a dye,
Blue is you and me.

Blue is here,
Blue is there,
Practically blue is everywhere.

Blue is a number,
Blue is gum,
Blue is candy,
Yum... Yum... Yum...

Blue is the water,
Coming out of a fountain,
Blue is the color,
Of a snow capped mountain.

I suppose,
Blue is a scheme,
It is really,
The color,
Of my dream.

A. THOMAS HAHN, JR.

BARBARA J. WRIGHT

Wright, Peggy L. Goff, Mary Bresett, and Patricia T. Greubel

A. THOMAS HAHN, JR. AND BARBARA J. WRIGHT were elected vice-presidents of McPherson State Bank at the bank's recent annual meeting. In addition, five others were named officers of the bank with the title of assistant cashier. These were: Mary Pat Bresett, Roberta Essenberg, Peggy L. Goff, Patricia T. Gruebel and Caroline J. Wright.

Both Hahn and Wright have been assistant vice-presidents and loan officers at the main office in Howell. Hahn joined the bank staff in 1973 following his receipt of a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan and is pursuing his master's degree at Michigan State University.

Ms. Wright has been with McPherson for 15 years and had other banking experience prior to that time. She has filled a variety of managerial positions at the bank over the years and has taken a number of courses through the American Institute of Banking.

Mary Pat Bresett has been a McPherson banker for 11 years and was assistant manager at the bank's Hartland office before taking her present post as manager of the Howell shopping center office. She attended Marygrove College, has done A.I.B. work and had a prior banking background. Bresett is a past president of the Hartland Jaycees and has been active in the Hartland Players.

A member of the Pinckney office staff since 1956, Roberta Essenberg, formerly operations manager is now loan officer. She also has participated in courses through the American Institute of Banking.

Peggy L. Goff is a loan officer at the Brighton office and was in banking for 4 years prior to coming to McPherson in 1973. She has been assistant manager and operations manager of the office from its inception. Goff has been active in the Lansing chapter, American Institute of Banking where she has completed a number of courses and presently serves as secretary of the women's committee of the chapter.

A relatively recent addition to the McPherson staff, Patricia T. Gruebel is personnel manager of the bank and holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. She was in banking in New Jersey, as well as A.I.B. before coming to McPherson in 1977.

Caroline J. Wright is manager of the Hartland office and has been a staff member for 9 years. She too had several years of banking experience prior to her arrival and has participated in A.I.B.

In another recent promotion, Jan Machnis was appointed assistant manager at Hartland.

At the annual meeting all other officers and the incumbent directors were reelected.

Charlie Bakkila and Rick Wahlberg

BUMP SHOP CHARLIE'S at 21061 Old Novi Road, Northville is celebrating its first anniversary this month. Owned and operated by Charlie Bakkila of Salem, the shop specializes in bumping and painting of domestic and foreign vehicles as well as customizing work. He is assisted by Dennis Dormanen and Rick Wahlberg.

A 32nd degree Mason, Bakkila was recently installed as Worshipful Master of the Northville lodge of Free and Accepted Masons 186. He served as charter president of the Salem Jaycees in 1976-77 and was president of the Northville Golf League at Salem Hills.

He and his wife and three children have resided in Salem since 1970.

BRIGHTON RESIDENT PAUL R. GOODALE has been promoted to executive vice-president of Walker Wire & Steel Company, Ferndale. The announcement was made by another Brighton resident, J. Douglas King, who is president of Walker.

Goodale, 36, has been with Walker Wire since 1976, when he represented the company as its Ohio salesman. He spent 11 years prior to that at Penn-Dixie Steel in Kokomo, Indiana. Goodale graduated from Ball State University in 1964 with a degree in business administration. He and his wife Laudine reside with their two children in Brighton.

Walker Wire and its Royal Wire Division form one of the Midwest's largest producers of steel wire and cold drawn bars as well as the largest in Michigan. The company serves wide-ranging industries including automotive, appliance and construction.

C. A. HULL CO. of Walled Lake was the lowest of six bidders, at $4,352,357, for construction of a nine-span plate girder bridge to carry northbound M-99 (Logan Street) over the Grand River in Lansing, the Michigan Department of Transportation announced.

The project was one of 24 highway and airport construction and maintenance projects on which bids were taken February 14 in Lansing.

Hull also was low bidder in a joint bid with Owens & Stroman Excavating Co. of Imlay City at $2,760,946, for construction of one bridge and 3.8 miles of earthwork as part of the planned M-21 Freeway between Lapeer and Wadham.

LAPRIMA MUSIC INC. has inaugurated a special "Keyboard Club" for anyone who purchases a piano or organ at one of its five locations.

LaPrima Music President Dick DeMarco said the Keyboard Club is an attempt to give "our customers a little something extra" for their money.

Anyone who purchases a piano or an organ at LaPrima Music becomes a member of the club. Membership entitles the card-holder to a 10 percent discount on all regularly-priced merchandise and a five percent discount on all sale-priced merchandise.

Club members also receive instant credit up to $1,500, a chance for one-year free service, all service at technicians' rates, and various other benefits including an opportunity to win a winter vacation for two in Florida.

The drawing for the winner of the vacation this year will be held in the community room of the Wonderland Center in Livonia on March 1. The winner will be drawn from the many Keyboard Club members who purchased pianos or organs during the 1978 calendar year at the LaPrima locations in Livonia, Farmington Hills, Southgate, Troy, and the Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi.

John Norton, a nationally-known organist from Kimball International, will open the evening with a concert to entertain the customer representatives who have been invited to attend. The evening will culminate with the drawing for the Florida vacation which includes air fare and hotel accommodations.

DeMarco said the Keyboard Club represents an innovation in the retail musical instrument business.

There will be another drawing for a Florida vacation next year for anyone who purchases a piano or an organ from LaPrima Music during the 1979 calendar year.

ANN ARBOR TRUST COMPANY shareholders have approved a two for one stock split, it was announced today by President George H. Cress. Record date for the split is March 20, and is effective as of April 12, 1979. Action on the stock split was taken at the annual meeting of Ann Arbor Trust Shareholders held Tuesday at the Campus Inn.

Cress confirmed in his report to shareholders, that 1978 earnings reached a record high level of $8.46 per share, compared to $7.14 in 1977. This reflected an increase of 18.5 percent.

The board of directors approved a quarterly cash dividend of 70 cents per share, payable March 15 to shareholders of record on March 1, 1979.

"We will continue to provide the highest level of banking, trust, and related financial services to Washtenaw County and closely adjoining communities," Cress reported to his company's shareholders.

"We will seek and take advantage of attractive new market areas, as well as consider further branching to accommodate our existing customers as the economics permit," he added.

Cress's remarks referred, in part, to Ann Arbor Trust branch activities begun last fall with a trailer branch office in Chelsea, while new branch bank buildings are under construction in both Chelsea and Brighton. These facilities are expected to be completed on or about May 1.

THE SHOWERMAN FAMILY is celebrating their 38th anniversary in the grocery business in South Lyon this week with many "special" specials.

It was on January 2, 1941 that Cortland Showerman and his son Gordon went into business in the "stone" store at the corner of East Lake and Wells streets. Five years later "Gordie" bought his father out when ill health forced Cort's retirement.

In the late '40s, Showerman's moved to the North Lafayette Street location where Jimmy's Meat Market is now. In 1967 Gordie doubled the size of the store, moving to the current location on South Lafayette and Liberty streets.

When Gordie's sons Steve and Mike came into the business in 1971 it was incorporated, with the senior Showerman as chairman of the board. He remains in that capacity even though his sons bought him out in 1974, becoming co-owners of the business. The three Showermans had, in the meantime, built onto the store again in 1973, doubling its size.

Now the plans are for Showerman's IGA to again double in size with groundbreaking for a new building at Pontiac Trail and Nine Mile slated for early May. Completion of that facility is anticipated in the spring of 1980.

A NEW dental office has been opened in Northville by Dr. Peter J. Ehlerdt, DDS, at 18600 Northville Road in the Northville Professional Park Building.

Formerly of Birmingham where he practiced for four years, Dr. Ehlerdt will operate a general family practice here. He is a graduate of the University of Detroit where he received a DDS degree.

Dr. Ehlerdt, 28, lives in Livonia.

State trooper's BPW Young Careerist

For the second year in a row, State Trooper Dorothy (Dotty) McAllen has been named "Young Careerist" of the year by the Northville Business and Professional Women.

Ms. McAllen, member of the state highway patrol stationed at the Northville Post, won the award over three other young women. And unlike last year, when she was forced to drop out of district competition because of vacation, Trooper McAllen will participate in the district race at the Plymouth Hilton Hotel March 19.

"She was qualified to make district last year, so she should be able to make at least state this year," said Simone Sandrock, BPW committee chairperson. "We hope she will be a winner."

The "Young Careerist" competition is held every year to find the young American woman between 21 and 30 years old who is outstanding in career, community service and public speaking.

If Ms. McAllen wins the district competition, she will face state judges at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency Hotel in May, where perhaps she will become eligible for the national finals in Boston this summer. But it is the prospect of meeting many other professional women which is most important to the young trooper.

"This competition gives me a chance to meet other women in the business world," she said. "It is a matter of personal and professional pride."

Not that Trooper McAllen lacks professional pride now, for it seems that to become a "Young Careerist" winner, one needs to possess the same qualities as a state trooper: self-confidence, quick thinking, professional poise, and the ability to speak clearly with individuals and groups.

Dotty McAllen was one of the first women admitted to the state police academy, and one of the first women to

Economist to assess U.S. outlook

Members of the Northville branch of the American Association of University Women will have a firsthand view of the U.S. economic outlook from a professional at their meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 13, in the Cooke Junior High library.

Prantosh Nag, an instructor in economics at Schoolcraft College, will be guest speaker, sharing his assessment of economic indicators such as unemployment, inflation, dollar devaluation, foreign trade deficits and other impacts on the U.S. and world economy.

He also will discuss his personal Gandhian philosophy which puts emphasis on the quality of life instead of material goods.

The speaker studied economics at the University of Calcutta in India and at the University of Minnesota. He has been on the Schoolcraft staff since 1969. He currently is working toward his Ph.D in agricultural economics at the University of Minnesota.

Eleanor Egeland Williams, March program facilitator for the AAUW, says the program has been scheduled as the U.S. and world economy are in a period of rapid change and this is "an opportunity to increase understanding of this economic change." Members and guests are invited.

Refreshments and a social time at 7:30 p.m. will precede the program and business meeting.

In Our Town

'Fat Bob' entertains at OLV

By JEAN DAY

"Fat Bob" Taylor, Detroit's celebrity singing plumber, was one of Northville Town Hall's most popular attractions when he appeared in November, 1973. Monday evening he returned to entertain the committee that makes Town Hall possible.

He was to present an Irish program of song at the annual program and potluck dinner given by Our Lady's League in honor of the Town Hall committee. Shari Zeleznik, who heads Our Lady's League, reported that from invitation responses the choice of Taylor was perfect. The league annually honors the TH committee which has made Town Hall, now in its 18th season, so successful. The league sponsors Town Hall and shares its profits with community organizations each year.

This Thursday at 11 a.m. Northville Town Hall will have Dr. Murray Banks speaking at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Young women invited to "prettifying" program

Northville Jaycettes, an active group of young Jaycee Auxiliary members who through the year sponsor baby-sitting clinics for junior highs, assist with the Junior Miss Pageant and other civic projects, are out to enlarge their membership. They, therefore, are scheduling a membership night for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 22, at the Northville Township Hall on Six Mile.

An appealing program, "Pick a Prettier You," has been

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD E. BAUER

Florida trip follows Caswell-Bauer rites

Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Bauer have just returned from Sarasota, Florida, where they spent their honeymoon. In Florida they attended a mid-winter barbershop quartet convention.

The bride is the former Miss Gladys M. Caswell of Northville. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Caswell.

The couple exchanged vows in a single ring ceremony at 11:30 a.m. January 20 in Calvin Presbyterian Church in northwest Detroit. The Reverend Michael L. Dunkelberger officiated as the bride was escorted to the altar by her nephew, Allen Woodward.

The bride wore a long, blue gown with matching shoes and small headpiece. She carried a cascading white bouquet with greens tied with satin ribbons.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollin P. Woodward attended the couple. Mrs. Woodward, a sister, wore a pink gown and matching headpiece.

Nephews Donald Yonk and Donald Girriddo ushered.

A reception at the Jesters Court followed with 110 relatives and friends attending. Among the guests were members of "The Major Event," an outstanding barbershop quartet, who entertained at the festivities and also sang at the church service. Out-of-town guests attended from Boston, New York and Ohio.

The bride is employed at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital in the accounting department. She has lived in Northville for a number of years, and the couple will live here at 462 East.

Mr. Bauer is retired from Sealtest Foods. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Bauer.

planned under the chairmanship of Marion Wilcox and Carol Northrop. The program on creative hair, beauty and skin care will get professional emphasis from Allan Caplin of the Allart James Salon and Lou Ann Krieger, consultant for Mary Kay cosmetics. There is no charge and those attending will receive gifts and discount coupons.

The Jaycettes are hoping to reach all interested young women of the community. While invitations have been sent to wives of Jaycees, the women stress that it is not necessary to have a husband in the Jaycees to belong. Mrs. Wilcox, 349-7358, or Mrs. Northrop, 349-5706, may be called for reservations through March 18.

Mill Race craft classes scheduled to repeat

Crafts of the past will be taught again this fall at the Mill Race Village, Lucia Danes, who is heading the Northville Historical Society project, reports. Quilting, corn-husk doll making and rug hooking were taught in the village for the first time last year.

"We found the one-day workshops as well received as the classes," Mrs. Danes reports, saying that more will be scheduled this fall. Emphasis will be on authentic crafts professionally taught.

How to gather and dry flowers

Interest in drying and arranging flowers seems only to grow. The Northville branch of the Woman's Farm and Garden Association will see a demonstration by one of its own experts at the March meeting at 12:30 p.m. Monday at the home of Karen Ross, 45835 Fermanagh.

Member Jamie Hove, assisted by her partner, Lynda Neuroth, will speak and demonstrate "Gathering and Using Flowers to Dry." Mrs. Neuroth and her husband, Hans, both Livonia teachers, grow and gather flowers to sell at the Ann Arbor Farmers' Market. Mrs. Hove and Mrs. Neuroth demonstrate together at area flower shows.

Lucky members of the branch and their guests will take home the 12 samples made. Hostesses are Ruth Klein, Ruth Whitmyer, Carol Noffz, Dorothy Horner, Estelle Millington and Diane Ramsey.

Newcomers to dine well

The menu planned for the progressive dinner of Northville Newcomer couples should bring in a lot of early reservations. It will begin with cocktails at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 24. The evening of gourmet dining will continue through hot and cold hors d'oeuvres, leek-potato soup, Jambalaya, broccoli with cheese sauce, wilted spinach salad and yeast French bread, to dessert from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m.

The popular event is open only to Newcomers who may make reservations at $10.50 a couple, plus a passing dish, through March 16 with Karen Hooper, 349-9107.

Community dines, dances to support Mill Race

Northville couples filled Meadowbrook Country Club last Saturday night dining and dancing on the club's new parquet floor at the seventh annual benefit for the Northville Historical Society. The community event raised $1,200 for restoration work in the Mill Race Historical Village.

Chairman Martha Nield pauses by Dick Murphy's 12-piece Big Band Sound with Robert Daniel, historical society president, and Jack Burkman, society chairman, right.

Library shows Minister to talk here film classic

"The Grapes of Wrath" will be this month's featured film for senior citizens at the Northville Public Library.

Based on the novel by John Steinbeck, the film will be shown at 2 p.m. Thursday, March 15.

The program will last about two and one half hours. Refreshments are served and admission is free.

On the same day, from 1-5 p.m., volunteers will be in the library to assist senior citizens in preparing income tax forms.

This service, sponsored by the AARP, is free of charge. For more information, call the library at 349-3020.

Serving not converting is purpose of mission

Is conversion of the "heathen" the big thrust of Methodist missions in India? "No, the work of the missions is to serve the people in whatever way is needed," according to the Reverend Kearney Kirkby, semi-retired pastor of the Brighton United Methodist Church.

Mr. Kirkby now serves as associate pastor of the Novi United Methodist as well as leading an eight-week study of "Images of Aging in Literature" at Colonial Acres in South Lyon where he resides.

"The thrust of the Methodist Church's mission program as well as that of other denominations is first and foremost toward meeting the needs of the Indian people right where they are," the longtime Methodist pastor reports.

He gained considerable insight into this truth first hand last year on an intensive "Journey in Understanding" sponsored by the Division of Missions of the Detroit Annual Conference and the Board of Global Ministries of the West Michigan Annual Conference.

His impressions of the trip and the showing of a portion of the 500 slides he took will be the theme of three upcoming presentations in this area. The first is this Thursday, March 8, at the Northville United Methodist Church. The program begins with a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m.

"One of the first things the sponsors of the seminar did when we arrived in India was to correct our image of the missionary as a person who 'converts' the natives. The work of the missionary is to serve the people," the Methodist pastor reiterated as he described some of his impressions during the month-long sojourn in the land of the Hindu.

"The Hindu faith is not a congregational religion but an individual one. A Hindu can become a Christian but still remain a Hindu. There is no 'battle' between the religions.

"The first thing the missionaries do is to set up clinics for treating the people's needs and schools to help them learn."

Mr. Kirkby explained that 80 percent of the Indian people live in more than 700,000 villages scattered over the highly populated country. Many he said still live as they did 200 years ago.

Yet, he reports that one of the things which made the most lasting impression on him is the impact the small minority of Christians have had on the country. There are less than three percent of the more than 625 million people who are Christians, yet it was obvious to the American study group that this minority has had and is having a favorable impact on the economic and religious nature of the country.

During the travel group's first two weeks in India they stayed at Lucknow and took intensive study on the history of religion in India as well as the political economic background of the country at Lucknow Christian College. While at Lucknow they also visited Isobel Thoburn College, a girls school, which was started in 1870 by the sister of a Methodist bishop.

"The women were thought of as animals in those days in India and were not supposed to be educated. Miss Thoburn had to hire a man with a club to stand guard so that the girls would be allowed to study and learn.

"It's now the 'Vassar' of India and the graduates have gone out into leadership all over the country. One of the graduates, a former president of the college, is an executive of Asian Women United.

"The struggle of women in this country for equality has been relatively easy compared with those in India." The women are still second class citizens there."

One of Mr. Kirkby's most lasting impressions of his trip was of a visit to a village where the missionaries are at work helping the people in every way they can.

"There is a team of doctors who go into the village once or twice a week to a clinic they built where they can treat the people. Most of the treatment is for leprosy and they see 45,000 lepers a year.

"They give them antibiotics which seem to arrest the disease in many cases, even though they can't cure it.

"Mostly, though, they teach the people about Christ by showing them that they are not afraid to touch the lepers. Dr. Patrick tells the lepers that Christ was not afraid to touch them and neither are they.

"It's not contagious but it is dangerous to the people because lepers can't feel such things as fire and are apt to burn themselves at the cooking fires without even realizing it.

Learning

Learning isn't something that ends with high school or college. It should be an ongoing process. At least, that's the way we feel. For as long as we're privileged to serve this community, we want to go on learning new things and finding new ways to make what we do truly helpful to today's families.

Methodist women plan show

Even women who are not antique collectors will appreciate the special decorations being loaned for the fashion show and salad luncheon set for noon Friday, March 23, by the United Methodist Women of Northville at the church.

To carry out a "Sentimental Journey" theme Martha Layman, head of decorations, has gathered old silver mirrors, china, jewelry and albums from members to decorate the tables.

Phebe Huff, general chairperson for the event, is loaning such silver pieces as a Victorian ladle with unusual scrollwork. The silverware belonged to Mrs. Huff's grandmother and one piece bears an 1899 date.

A floral-pattern chocolate set with tiny cups on loan from Mary Long is marked US Prussia.

An album of early-day post cards includes views of the Holly train station, downtown Detroit and even a train wreck. There also are appealing cards sent as Christmas or Easter greetings.

Completing the sentimental theme are lace-edged nosegays made by Phyllis Bowlin.

Kathy Witt is in charge of the luncheon with fashions from New Gal in Town in Plymouth to follow. Hair styles will be by House of Glamour in Plymouth. Pam Lloyd is arranging for the member-models. Karon Frisbie is handling publicity.

Tickets at $3 are available from Shirley DeHoff, 420-2724, or at the church, 349-1144. Reservations may be made for baby-sitting at 50 cents a child when ordering tickets.

Admiring antiques are Martha Layman, Karen Frisbie, Phebe Huff and Phyllis Bowlin.

Bible college head to speak Sunday to Presbyterians

Dr. Wendell Johnston, president and professor at Detroit Bible College located in Farmington Hills, will be guest Lenten speaker at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday at First Presbyterian Church.

Before assuming his present post in 1968, Dr. Johnston was academic dean of the Washington (D. C.) Bible College.

Dr. Johnston has served on the executive committee of the Accrediting Association of Bible Colleges and is on the board of regents of the Dallas Theological Seminary.

Widely traveled, he has visited various mission fields abroad and has toured both the Holy Land and Europe.

A native of Erie, Pennsylvania, Dr. Johnston has pastored churches in Indiana and Texas. He and his wife, Martha, live in Bloomfield Hills. They have three sons.

He received his BA degree from Bob Jones University in Greenville, South Carolina, his master's and doctorate in theology from Dallas Theological Seminary in Dallas, the latter with highest honors in 1961.

Concert

Dr. Robert Jones, professor of organ and university organist at the University of Houston, Texas, who was organist at First United Methodist Church in Northville from autumn, 1962, to summer, 1965, will return to present an organ recital at 7:30 p.m. Sunday on the new Moller organ at the church, 777 West Eight Mile. The program will cover parts of the classical and romantic period. Dr. Jones received his doctorate in musical arts at the University of Michigan. There is no admission charge and the public is invited. An offering will be received.

Minister of gospel music to speak to fellowship

Lee Thomas, well-known minister of gospel music, will be principal speaker at the dinner meeting of the Northville, Plymouth, Livonia chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship at 7 p.m. Friday, March 16, at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Born in a Lutheran home, Thomas began singing in nightclubs and dance halls while serving in the U.S. Navy and built up his own rock and roll group.

Following his receiving the baptism of the Holy Spirit in 1959, he met his future wife, Nancy, who with him "answered the call of the Lord by going into full-time ministry," beginning in Cincinnati. Currently they live in Ashland, Ohio, with their children.

LEE THOMAS

They have recorded several gospel albums and spend much time singing and ministering in churches of many denominations, Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship meetings, Women Aglow, civic organizations, teaching seminars and revivals.

They also have appeared on radio and television stations throughout the United States.

The dinner and meeting are open to the public.

Reservation checks at $8 plus 15 percent gratuity should be made payable to Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship and sent to P.O. Box 5332, Northville, by March 14.

For additional information call 349-0006 or 421-2111.

Area Family Y offers new senior citizen help

The Canton-Northville-Plymouth Family YMCA announces that it has secured funds to broaden its scope of services to senior citizens in the tri-community area.

Beginning early March more extensive coverage will be given to homemaker and chore services.

Homemaker assistance will include light housekeeping, laundry, occasional meal preparation, telephone reassurance and friendly in-home visits for the lonely.

Non-continuous chore services will involve such duties as snow removal, lawn care, minor household repairs like replacing washers in faucets, hand-and-tub rail installation, putting up and taking down storms and screens, window and wall washing.

Also help will be available to clean attics and basements to remove fire hazards for the safety of the client. These services do not include interior or exterior painting, states Jean Campau, Y senior citizens' coordinator.

While the Y can supply the labor for requests, limited funds prevent it from furnishing cleaning supplies or any parts needed for repairs. These costs would be the responsibility of the senior citizen, she explains.

The Y will continue its successful and popular van transportation for seniors in the Plymouth-Northville area.

The van operates Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. It is available for grocery shopping, doctor appointments, drug store, bank, post office and hairdresser. At least a 48-hour notice is required for efficient scheduling.

The program is funded by Title III funds and the Plymouth Community Fund. Additional financial support comes from the city of Northville, City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and the Plymouth Rotary.

Janet Luce, YMCA director, is gratified with the enthusiastic community support.

Service is available to anyone 60 years of age and over. For an application and additional information call 453-2968 or 453-2904.

Trooper named Young Careerist

be put on highway patrol four years ago, which is her current job. Her husband is a state trooper. So is her brother-in-law. And, as one might expect, she speaks glowingly of her career.

"A state trooper can work anywhere—in safety, traffic, arson, intelligence, narcotics, community services divisions," she says. "There is room for advancement with the state police. There are lots of opportunities for women. If a woman is good, and you work hard, they're going to notice it."

Ms. McAllen was selected for state trooper training after passing stiff civil service written and oral exams. She attended the tough training school for state troopers in Lansing for 17 weeks, one of two woman graduates in the 46 students who finished the course.

During her training, she was taught boxing, defense tactics, swimming, use of firearms. She was taken to Fort Custer near Battle Creek and taught how to spin a vehicle, how to engage in high-speed pursuit, how to drive on oil and ice. She learned police and patrol techniques, and along with the practical subjects, she refined her self-control and cool which may have helped her win the B.P.W. award.

Originally from Bay City, Ms. McAllen completed a BS in criminal justice at Michigan State University in 1973, and is currently working on a masters degree there.

She spent two years as a radio operator with the Flint Highway Patrol before she joined the Northville State Police four years ago.

Want to hook a rug, learn to tap dance or write with beautiful penmanship?

Classes in all those skills as well as others are available among the second session of winter offerings of the Canton, Northville, Plymouth Family YMCA.

The popular slim-and-trim class held at First Presbyterian Church in Northville is scheduled for a new six-week session March 6 to April 13, Janet Luce, executive director, announces.

Sessions range from three to seven weeks and are held at various times. Interior design is a one-day workshop to be held three times, March 12, April 9 and May 14.

The YMCA should be called at 453-2904 for information and enrollment.
