

Plymouth officer named police chief

A 22-year veteran of the Plymouth City Police Department agreed Tuesday to fill the long-vacant post of Northville City Police Chief.

Rodney A. Cannon, who is the equivalent of the assistant police chief for the Plymouth department, told City Manager Steven Walters that he was willing to move to Northville to take the job.

"I think we are all set," said Walters. "He's preparing to move in a year when he gets his house in Plymouth remodeled so he can sell it."

City residency was not a requirement for the job, said Walters, "but it was a preference."

Assessment hike under fire

City is going to bat for people in Oakland

Oakland County property owners will find city officials in their corner in the fight against assessment increases in the northern half of the county.

Caught in a bind between the Oakland County ordered assessment hikes averaging 14 percent and the tax limiting Headlee Amendment of eight percent, city council and the board of review appear ready to risk penalties to come down on the side of fairness to the people.

Going into yesterday's first scheduled appeals meeting of the board of review, Chairman James Cutler was predicting an "exciting show down."

Meeting in special session Monday night, the city council discussed its options and concluded that the city's fight to roll back Oakland assessment increases to the Wayne County level could — — Persuade Oakland County, which until now has adamantly refused to roll back its increases, to change its mind and trim assessments at least until next year.

— Force Oakland County to order a state equalizing assessment factor if a large number of Oakland assessments are rolled back by the board of review. And that factor would produce the same net increase.

— Alert the state to step in and take action against the city.

— Persuade Oakland County to confiscate Northville's assessment books — something it has threatened to do this year and last, according to Cutler.

Result in fines and/or jail sentences for city officials found guilty of improperly ordering rollbacks.

Ironically, the confrontation isn't over assessments of individual properties in Oakland County; most of these, according to officials, fall beneath the 50 percent level required by law just as Wayne County properties fall beneath the 50 percent level.

It has been estimated that the average assessment in both sections of the city approximates 35-40 percent of market value.

Rather, the fight has to do with the city's argument that overall properties in Oakland County are assessed disproportionately higher than those in Wayne County and this difference, if left unchanged, will mean Oakland property owners will pay more city and school taxes than their counterparts in the Wayne County section of the city.

The inequity, which even county and state officials would not dispute, is produced because Northville, like only perhaps four other cities in Michigan, lies within two counties. And where this occurs, the state office of management and budget, says assessments must be "averaged" in computing taxes paid in the city.

This averaging, according to City Manager Steven Walters, results in "an unfair disadvantage to the Oakland County city residents and an unwarranted additional tax reduction to the Wayne County residents."

The net effect of the combination of Headlee and the averaging is that Oakland County city taxes increase 11.8 percent while Wayne County city taxes increase 5.3 percent.

The disparity is even greater for school taxpayers, since — despite Headlee — Oakland County taxpayers would be paying school tax increases of 14 percent, Wayne county 7.5 percent increases. Averaging is not allowed for school taxes.

City officials had assumed it could equalize taxes by levying a lower millage in Oakland than in Wayne, which would mean property owners would be paying the same net increase in both counties.

However, the state has said "no," that its interpretation of Headlee is that cities located in two counties must compute the increase by averaging.

Headlee's main tax curbing feature is its disputed section saying the tax yield, resulting from a combination of SEV and millage, cannot exceed the consumer price index (CPI) for the preceding year. The index for 1978 has

Student disdain, parent cop out biggest problems

Students who boldly display their disdain for authority and parents who are unable or unwilling to provide proper guidance at home contribute to one of education's biggest problems, according to Northville's building principals.

Maintaining discipline and dealing with potentially dangerous behavior problems are everyday concerns in junior high and elementary schools as well as the high school, they said.

The principals, during a Monday morning breakfast session with the school board, said the "gimme generation" has grown up to become parents who have trouble coping with the responsibilities of children.

The students suffer, they said. Ronald Horvath, principal at Meads Mill Junior High School, told of a call he made to the mother of a student he had in his office for disciplinary reasons.

"The mother said, 'I don't want to deal with him. Turn him over to juvenile (authorities),'"

"Now the kid is crying in my office because his father is an alcoholic and his mother doesn't love him."

"Parents who were part of the gimme generation are now the gimme parents," said Milton Jacobi, principal at Winchester Elementary School.

School board members listened intently to an hour's worth of similar incidents, theories on their causes and possible solutions.

"It wasn't particularly pleasant but maybe that is what makes it important to hear," said President Douglas Whitaker.

Most Principals said they thought students wanted discipline but were not getting it at home.

Part of the reason, they theorized,

Drain improvement

The long-awaited Randolph Drain improvement is rapidly becoming a reality as construction crews move ahead with tile installation near Randolph and Taft roads. The project, which involves Northville and Novi, is under the jurisdiction of the Oakland County Drain Commission. Although the stream is to be filled in certain portions, such as at Randolph and Taft adjacent to the apartment complex (above), much of the drain will remain relatively untouched to satisfy property owners who opposed changes to picturesque landscape. Next major construction work will be where the drain crosses Center and Hut-ton streets.

Township election's Tuesday

Mitchell faces 'maybe' opponent

It's election time again in Northville Township but no one's predicting any great swell of voter enthusiasm.

In fact some are wondering if the turnout next Tuesday might not even be lighter than the 12-percent turnout of the electorate for the primary on February 27.

The ballot itself is a puzzler.

It was trimmed in size last week with the elimination of a proposal to purchase land, and in the only other issue one of the two candidates for the vacant trustee post isn't even saying if he wants the job.

The land purchase proposal was withdrawn upon the advice of the township attorney, explained Clerk Clarice Sass, because "there just has not been enough time" to publicize the issue or to properly prepare purchase procedures.

Decision to scrap the proposal was an administrative one, she said, based on the advice of the attorney and the engineer. Decision to place it on the ballot was made by the township board February 19 at a special revenue sharing meeting.

Although names of two candidates will appear on the ballot, one of them — former Republican Supervisor Wilson Grier running on the Democratic ticket — would not say as late as Monday if he wants to be elected.

Facing Grier in the election is David Mitchell, winner of the Republican nomination in the primary election.

Grier earned a place on the ballot by garnering 13 Democratic write-in votes in the same election. Because there were no Democrats on the ballot, it required only 10 Democratic write-in votes for nomination.

Following the primary election, Grier would not say if he is now a Democrat, nor would he indicate whether or not he wants or would accept the post if elected. "I'm thinking about it," he indicated each time he was asked.

Even if he didn't want the job, Grier could not withdraw his name from the ballot, according to election officials, because state law does not permit withdrawal from township races.

A willing candidate or not, the fact that his name will appear on the ballot quite likely means he will garner votes in Tuesday's election. All of which places his opponent, Republican Mitchell (unrelated to the former trustee, Richard Mitchell) in a perplexing position.

Mitchell has stated he and his backers will crank up for the election as if Grier were an active, enthusiastic candidate. Those backers, who include among others three board members (Supervisor Donald Thomson, Treasurer Lee Holland and Trustee James Nowka), see no other choice. They can't take the chance that a poor election turnout might permit Grier "to sneak in" by a last minute campaign.

Mitchell won the primary election over four other Republicans. How backers of those defeated primary candidates will vote next week remains a question. If, for example, they threw their support to Grier, the former supervisor could win — particularly if the turnout was as small or smaller than was registered in February.

Out of 6,680 registered voters, only 782 voted for just under 12 percent turnout.

Harmony at track is longshot

By BILL SLIGER

It was just one year ago that fierce infighting on the board of directors of the Northville Driving Club surfaced at the annual meeting.

At that session two incumbent candidates were ousted from the board and the president resigned in protest to actions taken by a newly-formed "voting trust" which now controls the corporate body owning most of the property at Northville Downs harness racing facility.

The annual meeting was convened again last Friday evening at Northville city hall. But because of a technicality, it has been re-called for March 29.

And at that session the axe will fall again — this time on the last remaining board member whose stock is not pledged to the voting trust.

Despite its firm control of the Driving Club, the voting trust has not enhanced its landlord-tenant relationship with Northville Downs. And most observers view this as critical to the future of the track. Cooperation is sorely needed to provide improvements needed to accommodate rapidly increasing business. Additional parking and grandstand facilities rank highest among improvement demands. And the cost for these facilities runs high.

A situation contributing to difficulties must certainly be the fact that the minority Driving Club boardmember who will not be supported by the voting trust for re-election is Margaret Zayti.

She is also recording secretary and one of three owners of Northville Downs.

The new nominees for four positions on the Driving Club's board of directors are James Cutler, Nabiah Karoub and Nanette S. Rakieten along with L.W. Snow, Jr., incumbent board president.

Holdover members whose terms do not expire this year are A.M. Allen, Marshall Davis and William Fenkell.

A host of familiar old Northville names have been giving way to new investors in the Driving Club since formation of the voting trust last year. Gone from the board are both Schraders (N.C., Jr., and III), Clifton Hill, Clayton

THE APRIL 10 bonding proposition to be put to city voters will call for borrowing $370,000 — not $37,000 as indicated by a typographical error in last week's story concerning the proposed addition to the city hall to house the public library.

FIRST robins of the season were reported to The Record

Thursday by Norval Ramsey, who spied two robins on Seven Mile Road near Maxwell. Spring doesn't officially arrive until next week Wednesday.

THE MOONIES were back in town last weekend, trying to collect money for the Unification Church and the dubious Reverend Moon.

This time they were selling peanut brittle. Ringing doorbells and approaching shoppers at Chatham's Supermarket, they asked if one would like to contribute to "church leadership training." Upon closer questioning, they admitted it was for the Unification Church, and smilingly went on their way.

EPA has second thoughts on its sewer proposal

Novi officials who organized a meeting with legislators in Washington to discuss the so-called super sewer got better results than expected. Nearly 35 people turned out for the meeting where an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) official reportedly admitted the alternative to super sewer proposed by the agency is unsatisfactory.

Charles Sutphon, director of the EPA water division for region five, told the group assembled in U.S. Senator Carl Levin's office, that "obviously Plan D will not work."

The EPA has conducted a study of the sewage treatment needs of an area stretching from White Lake Township, south to Sumpter Township and east to Lake Erie. Communities in that area have considered developing a super sewer to serve their needs, but after studying the impact on the environment of that project the EPA instead suggested a scaled down version — Plan D — be constructed.

Local officials have maintained the alternative will not meet the needs of their communities in upcoming years.

The EPA representative told the group that it is working on an alternative solution and the issue still is open. "We hope to have an alternative forthcoming in another month and while it probably won't be acceptable to everyone we hope it will be implementable," Sutphon told the group.

City officials reported from Washington that it appeared the EPA is considering some sort of compromise solution to take care of the needs of more communities.

At the urging of Levin and U.S. Senator Donald Reigle, the EPA agreed to provide a timetable for reaching a solution to the super sewer problem and avoid further procrastination, city officials reported.

A meeting to further work out the details of an alternative to constructing the scaled down super sewer that officials have opposed will be set up between Wayne County Department of Public Works, EPA representatives and staffers from Levin's and Reigle's Detroit offices.

In response to the legislator's request to proceed with plans to develop the sewer as rapidly as possible, the EPA agreed to study the needs of the northern communities while it prepares the technical design for handling the immediate sewage problems for southern communities.

Under the original EPA proposal, new facilities for handling sewage would be constructed for Canton Township and communities to the south and east, stretching to Lake Erie.

Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville, Northville Township and southern Novi would have been served by connecting into the existing Middle Rouge system. Several alternatives for the northern communities of White Lake, Commerce, Walled Lake, Wolverine Lake and northern Novi are under study.

Levin told the EPA officials he had not heard anything good about that original proposal and that he was amazed the agency could consider recommending anything that was so unworkable. Sutphon admitted then that the agency did not like the plan either.

The legislators also questioned why the EPA was allowing sociological, economical and political factors to enter into its decision. Levin requested the EPA to provide at future meetings the rules and regulations of the agency which justify such considerations.

He also told the local officials he understood their frustrations in dealing with the agency as well as the problems in getting information and with general inaccessibility which they encountered.

"I hope this meeting has allowed local officials to vent their legitimate frustrations to the EPA and I'm glad my office and Senator Reigle's office could help facilitate such a meeting. I hope that through this meeting, agreement, cooperation and a final decision on super sewer will be expedited," he said.

City Manager Ed Kriewall said following the meeting it appears as if the legislators' involvement will have an effect on the final outcome of the decision regarding the construction of super sewer.

"If anything comes of this it seems Novi should deserve some form of credit for organizing this," Kriewall said. "It was well attended and I think that showed the legislators a lot of communities are upset about what is happening."

Besides Levin and Reigle representatives from U.S. Representative of fices of William Broomfield, John Dingle, William Ford, and Carl Pursell attended the meeting.

Giant complex planned in Novi

By PHIL JEROME

Plans for a "Northern Renaissance" in the City of Novi have been announced by Trade Association Center, Inc., a firm based in Birmingham.

Specifically, the firm has announced plans to develop a combined office-hotel-convention center on 25 acres of land across from the Twelve Oaks Mall on the west side of Novi Road. Cost of the project has been pegged at $22 million.

Nickolas Booras, president of Trade Association Center, said the development is in response to a tremendous demand for hotel rooms in the Novi area as well as a need for convention and exhibition facilities which not only have access to Detroit Metropolitan Airport but can service Detroit's growing western suburbs.

Booras noted that Novi also has easy freeway access to western portions of the state including Lansing, Kalamazoo, and Grand Rapids.

Booras told The News in an exclusive interview yesterday (Tuesday) that the development has two primary objectives: (1) to provide Novi with a major hotel and (2) to provide the Greater Detroit Area with a multi-faceted convention center in a northern suburb.

"The convention business in the Greater Detroit Area is very limited in terms of facilities," commented Booras. "There is no intermediate step between Cobo Hall and the RenCen Center in Detroit and conventional hotel facilities."

"We hope to be able to fill that need. What we're really looking at is something of a Northern Renaissance in the Metro Detroit Area."

Booras said the project will be similar in scope to the Dallas Apparel Mart which acts as a regional showplace for new fashions where manufacturers and buyers come together approximately 60 times per year to display and sell tomorrow's fashions.

He noted that the Dallas Mart is quite large and draws retail buyers from all 50 states. The Novi Center, on the other hand, is expected to be regional in nature drawing from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois.

"There is no such thing as a national wholesale market anymore," stated Booras. "Regional apparel marts have begun to flourish not only in Dallas, but in Los Angeles, Chicago, and Atlanta."

The remaining days of the year not utilized for apparel shows will be booked for other trade and recreational exhibitions, according to the Trade Center Association president. These would include associations similar to the apparel groups which sell such merchandise as giftware and jewelry.

The development is proposed to include:

—a convention center of approximately 60,000 square feet of multi-purpose floor space for use as an auditorium, trade center, exposition hall, athletic arena, and other uses for which large uninterrupted floor space is required;

—a first class hotel of approximately 250 units to be operated under an agreement with a national hotel organization; and —a five-story office building of approximately 110,000 square feet of floor space.

Booras said the project is unique in that the office spaces will be rented for the most part by tenants who will be using the convention center on a regular basis. The Michigan Women's and Children's Apparel Association has already committed for 50 percent of the office space.

Booras further stated that the group will occupy the first two floors of the office building which will be specially ramped to permit the tenants to move clothing racks between the office and display space to the convention center with relative ease.

Booras reported that he is negotiating with several major hotel chains for the development. The hotel as currently contemplated will contain a 7,500 square foot restaurant-bar area, a 4,600 square foot banquet hall, and a 2,600 square foot lecture hall.

Efforts to accumulate the property for the development have been taking place over the past 1½ years, according to Booras.

The Trade Center Association President said aesthetics will be a primary concern in development plans.

"Our site plans include provisions for reflecting ponds, large setbacks and heavy landscaping," reported Booras. "Our philosophy is to go first class all the way."

"We don't want people to look out their hotel window and see anything but green space," he continued. "All the service functions (trash receptacles, loading-unloading space, etc.) will be submerged so they are hidden from view."

"We want people to drive by and say the development is gorgeous so they'll want to come here to conduct their business in a first class atmosphere."

Booras said that Novi was selected at the top choice for the development over several other areas. The News has learned that Trade Center Association had several other sites tied up prior to completion of negotiations for the property in Novi, but held out on locating elsewhere in hopes that the Novi property could be tied down.

"We could have put this thing anywhere," commented Booras, "but we felt Novi was the top choice."

She directs Mercy program

Dr. Lorraine Berlin of Northville has been named project director for the program on New Teaching Strategies to Improve Nursing Curriculum at Mercy College of Detroit.

Dr. Berlin, an assistant professor of nursing at the college, will implement the new program by holding faculty workshops on physical assessment in May. The program has been made possible by a three-year grant from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The recent recipient of a Ph.D. in curriculum and instruction from the University of Michigan, Dr. Berlin earned her master's degree in nursing from Wayne State University and her bachelor's degree in nursing from Mercy College.

Mercy College offers a four-year bachelor of science degree program in nursing which is accredited by the National League for Nursing.

Students are prepared for the practice of professional nursing through a curriculum based on sound understanding of the natural and social sciences, the humanities, and the analytic process of reasoning.

The college is currently completing construction of a new $3.24 million Health-Science Center which will provide modern laboratory and classroom facilities for nursing and allied health students.

Schoolcraft honors announced by dean

Recognition for outstanding scholarship has been extended to 227 Schoolcraft College students named to the dean's list for the fall semester, 1978.

Those honored were announced by Dean Fred Stefanski of Northville, acting vice president for instructional affairs, who has notified and congratulated each through personal letter.

To be named to the dean's list a student must carry at least 12 hours during the semester, and must earn a 3.5 (B plus) grade point average or better. Dean Stefanski said that 74 of those on the fall list had earned perfect 4.0 grade point averages.

Following are the honored students from Northville:

Lynne E. Autry, Kim A. Balko, Joann A. Cave, Kathleen Dalessandro, Denise M. MacDermaid, Robert R. Peterson, Patricia M. Krause, Mary E. Vicini and Thomas Wetterstroem.

Hoggarth is cited

Frances Schembri Hoggarth of Northville received special recognition for scholastic achievement when she was named to the dean's list at Mercy College of Detroit last semester. She is a freshman in the Medical Record Science program. Her husband is Edward A. Hoggarth.

Let's skate, mate

Tonight's a big night for students at Silver Springs Elementary School, their teachers and family. That's because, thanks to the luck of Third Grader Lee Booher (above, left), all will be going to the Ice Capades, starring Olympic Gold Medalist Dorothy Hammill, at the Olympia in Detroit. Lee's name was drawn in a promotion contest sponsored by Nature Valley Granola Bars made by General Mills and Detroit radio stations WJR and WJLB. Chatting about Lee's good fortune is Scooby-Doo, a regular performer in the Ice Capades.

At Schoolcraft

Millage gains support

Elected officials throughout the Schoolcraft district are backing the college's bid for a millage increase.

The one-mill proposal for five years, earmarked for capital expenditures, has been endorsed by national and state legislators, county commissioners, mayors, a township supervisor and board of education members.

In addition, it has gained the support of the Wayne II County Republican Committee, the Second-Wayne Democratic Party, the Livonia Republican Club and Livonia G.O.P. Women.

If approved at a special election on March 26, the millage would provide funds for new construction, equipment purchase and major maintenance on the 183-acre campus at Haggerty near Seven Mile Road.

College officials have estimated that its cost would be less than 30 cents a week for the typical family of four after tax credits.

Endorsements have been received from Congressman Carl D.

Pursell, State Senators William Faust and R. Robert Geake, and State Representatives Thomas H. Brown, William R. Keith, Jack E. Kirksey, Robert C. Law and Roy Smith.

Among its member K-12 districts, Schoolcraft's millage has been endorsed by resolution of the Northville Board of Education and by board presidents Dr. Samuel J. Prisk, Clarenceville; Mary Jane Schildberg, Garden City; and Douglas A. Whitaker, Northville.

City is going to bat for people

been unofficially pegged at eight percent.

If the Headlee limit, using the state complicated formula, is applied to the city as a whole, it means the Oakland section of the city would end up with a 14 percent SEV increase, or six percent over the CPI, and yet it would receive only a 0.44 mill (2.2 percent) rollback.

The Wayne portion of the city, on the other hand, has a 7.5 percent SEV increase, which is below the CPI limit, and yet it enjoys the same 0.44 mill rollback.

If Headlee were applied to each county portion of the city separately, Oakland would receive a 1.05 (five percent) rollback for a net increase of nine percent. Wayne, on the other hand, would remain at 7.5 percent.

The disparity, emphasized the city manager, is even greater under Headlee when considering the school district. The law provides, he noted, that the maximum millage rate allowed in the largest part of the district applies throughout.

"Since the Wayne SEV increase is not over the CPI increase, there would be no rollback in school millage rates," explained Walters, "and thus the Oakland County portion would pay school taxes against the full 14 percent increase in spite of the CPI increase being eight percent."

City council members admitted they walk a thin line in suggesting rollbacks of Oakland assessment increases. However, they suggested to the board of review, which sought council's advice, that it consider adjustments downward by subdivisions rather than across the board rollbacks specifically prohibited by law.

Council expressed confidence that if tested in court such rollbacks could be justified on the basis that they are made in compliance with the requirement of Headlee.

Nevertheless, there are risks in considering rollbacks by subdivision, officials admitted.

The county is not likely to challenge a relatively few rollbacks, but rollback of increases on perhaps 50 or more homes might compel Oakland to issue a factor to bring all of the assessments back up to the originally ordered 14 percent level. And should this be done, individual assessment inequities could be magnified.

The policy of Oakland County has been to annually increase assessments rather than order an SEV factor. Wayne County's policy, on the other hand, has tended to order a factor in lieu of increasing assessments.

No factor is contemplated by Oakland County this year. Wayne, however, has suggested it will issue a 1.32 factor here. (The factor is a multiplier; it times the assessment equals the SEV).

Council feels so strongly about the unfairness of the Oakland increases that some of its members have volunteered to represent their Oakland subdivisions in appealing assessments before the board of review. The first meeting was yesterday, another is planned Tuesday, March 27.

The board of review, whose members include Cutler, William Milne and Robert Brueck, and the city's assessor, Harold Penn, indicated this week that it may schedule other meetings to accommodate the expected appeals by citizens.

"We've got to take a stand," said Cutler. "It's completely unreasonable to assume that a house on the north side of Base Line, for example, is worth seven percent more than the house on the south side of Base Line when they're selling for the same price."

R. D. Borthwick, president of the Northville Estates Civic Association, is upset over the inequity, but he admitted a worry this week that the fight might result in even higher assessments for his subdivision. Suppose, he wondered aloud at Monday's council meeting, the county decides to not only insist upon the 14 percent increase but also order an additional increase to bring all properties up to the 50 percent level.

Based on sales, houses in Northville Estates, are currently (even with the 14 percent increase) assessed at an average of 35 percent of market value, he said.

Council members admitted the risk exists, but the city manager emphasized that few communities in Michigan are actually assessed at the 50 percent level. The Wayne section may also be at the 35 percent level, said Assessor Penn.

The fact that the Wayne section of the city has the much larger business section, which has been dipping in value in recent years, tends to minimize the increase in assessments on Wayne homes — even though they may be selling for as much money as homes in the Oakland section of the city, it was explained.

Borthwick asked about the comparison of populations of the two sections of the city, and it was disclosed that for the first time in history the number of registered voters in Oakland exceeds that of Wayne County.

And, according to the manager, it can be safely assumed from the voter registration numbers that Oakland's population now probably exceeds Wayne by "a couple hundred" persons.

Councilman Stanley Johnston, the lone member of the council not living in the Oakland section, was one of those officials most willing to contest the Oakland inequity even though the inequity works in his favor as a Wayne property owner.

Councilman J. Burton DeRusha took the position that if adjustments are made by the board of review, based on honest opinion, "the worst that can happen is that they'll tell us we are wrong."

"My only reluctance," he added, "is that some people could be taxed even higher" if cutbacks are ordered locally.

Since City Attorney Philip Ogilvie advised council that the board of appeals cannot make adjustments downward except by specific appeal of property owners, council urged Oakland citizens to appeal either in person or by representatives.

Suggestion by Walters that council appeal on behalf of all Oakland property owners was seen as illegal by Ogilvie. Individual members living in Oakland subdivisions could, however, appeal on behalf of other residents of their subdivision, he said.

"It seems to me an adjustment (downward) is in order," said Mayor Paul Vernon. But he cautioned council and the board of review that the appeals should be based on a subdivision by subdivision basis — not on a total county basis.

MSU senior gets award for scholastics

A Michigan State University senior from Northville was one of 12 women to be given a scholastic award at the Society of Women Engineers' second annual awards banquet at Michigan State University.

Linda Ebersole earned the Agricultural Engineering Award.

The criteria for these awards are outstanding academic achievement and demonstrated support and commitment for women in engineering. All had a 3.5 grade point average or better.

Ms. Ebersole, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Keith Ebersole, 718 West Main, has worked for Ford Tractor in Troy, doing testing and has also worked in the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources designing an apple harvester. She enjoys designing because it makes her feel like an inventor, she said.

Local fire department gets extra $9,000 aid

The Northville Township Fire Department will receive an estimated $9,000 from the state in addition to the $9,000 it has already received, to protect state-owned land and facilities in the township.

The money will cover fire protection for the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital on Seven Mile Road.

The state did not provide the money to the fire department earlier because the hospital mistakenly had reported that it had its own fire-fighting facilities.

When Fire Chief Toms received the $9,000 check last fall, it did not match the $15,900 the department had received for 1978.

In January, Toms and Township Supervisor Donald Thomson fired off letters to Governor Milliken asking for an explanation.

This week, the governor replied. He acknowledged the mistake: "...therefore the township will receive an additional payment to reimburse it for protecting this facility (the Psychiatric hospital)," the letter said.

The money will arrive at the end of the state's fiscal year in October. By November the township should receive state funds for fiscal 1980. Toms estimated next year's allocation should be at least $18,000.

The state money comes to the township under Public Act 289.

The Act specifies that townships should receive state money in order to give fire protection to state land and facilities.

Several state facilities are located in Northville Township, including Maybury State Park, the regional psychiatric hospital, Hawthorn Center, the Wayne County Child Development Center property, the Plymouth Center for Human Development, the State Police post, and the former women's section of DeHoCo.

Toms estimates that 20 percent of township fires are fought on state-owned land.

"But the number shouldn't matter," he said. "If there is only one fire on state-owned land, the state should be willing to protect it."

It is not known exactly how much additional money Northville township will receive. The state estimates the value of the property, the risk and pays accordingly, Toms said. But with last year's payment at almost $16,000, Toms believes the total amount this year should reach $18,000.

The fire department first received state money in 1978, during their first year of operation out of the new Township Hall. Last year's budget was $42,232. With the state money, plus federal revenue sharing funds (matching whatever the township put in,) Toms estimates that the fire department service used only about $6,000 of township money.

"Really, Northville Township taxpayers are getting the best bang for the buck," Toms said.

He and his 26-man volunteer fire department fought over 150 fires last year, averaging about one fire every other day.

Hearing slated

Public hearings on 1979 Oakland County Community Development application will be held Wednesday, March 21 and on Tuesday, March 27 in the Board of Commissioners Auditorium in Pontiac.

The first hearing will start at 7:30 p.m., the second at 1:30 p.m.

Participants in the county's community development grant application include Northville, Novi, Wixom, Walled Lake and Wolverine Lake from this area.

Township planners hold line on rezoning requests

The Northville Township Planning Commission is walking the line between business and residential requests for rezoning, saying that all changes will be considered in the revision of the township's master land use plan.

Both the Northville Commons Association and a developer, Elro Corporation of Troy, made presentations at last Wednesday's commission meeting. Elro Corporation made two requests:

—To rezone 18 acres at the northwest corner of Sheldon and Six Mile from residential to business;

—To rezone 150 acres on the southwest corner of Sheldon and Six Mile from R-2 (residential) to R-3 (residential, but smaller lots).

Northville Commons Association requested that the commission give special consideration on the rezoning of a small strip of land along Six Mile Road between Winchester Drive and Bradner from business to residential.

However, neither group got very far. The planning commission only promised to consider the requests in their revision of the 1973 master plan.

The master plan, a document stating the goals for ideal township development, will be revised by the planning commission through study by township planners Vilcan-Lehman. Although the master plan in itself has no legal muscle, it will be the basis from which a new township zoning ordinance will be drawn up.

However, the plan and new zoning ordinance, won't be finished until late this year. It may not be legal for the commission to stall action on rezoning requests until then. But it also may not be legal to "arbitrarily" make rezoning decisions without benefit of results of the current study of Northville Township, said William Bohan, chairman of the planning commission.

Elro Corporation, developers of the proposed "Hills of Northville" subdivision, presented a preliminary plan for the construction of 251 single family homes. The homes, priced in the $125,000 range, would be built on a 127-acre parcel on the northwest corner of Sheldon and Six Mile roads.

Company Spokesman George Ogilvy also presented a petition to rezone 19 acres on the very corner of Sheldon and Six Mile roads from residential to business, and asked for a public hearing.

Commission Chairman Bohan said he would rather wait until the revision of the master plan is completed before any decision is made on rezoning the parcel.

"We cannot arbitrarily rezone a piece of property without study," he said. "We might be up for a lawsuit and we would lose."

But other commission members disagreed. "We are obligated to review it (the request)," Marvin Gans said. "We can not arbitrarily deny rezoning. This man (George Ogilvy), has a right to get a public hearing within a reasonable length of time. The requests were properly filed," he said.

The divided commission voted to table both rezoning requests of Elro Corporation until Donald Morgan, township attorney, can be consulted.

Elro's preliminary plan for the subdivision was rejected by the commission due to problems with the calculation of how many homes are allowed to be constructed on the property — the developer said 251, city engineers say only 235. It is, literally, back to the drawing board for Elro Corporation.

Interestingly, it is not the first time plans have been made to build on the land. When the late Ralph Gibson sold his land on the north and south sides of Six Mile, west of Sheldon, George Haggerty, owner, tried to develop it. In March 1975, the planning commission rejected Equity Resources Company's bid to build 1,240 apartments, townhouses and single family homes on the property.

Northville Commons Association again requested special consideration on the rezoning of a small strip of land along Six Mile Road between Winchester Drive and Bradner Road.

The land presently is zoned for business and borders directly on the Northville Commons subdivision. The residents want the planning commission to approve the rezoning of it to residential. The association appeared at the January meeting with a petition signed by 475 township residents. Association members appeared again, last week.

Draft policy paper

One little word caused one big headache when a draft policy statement summing up goals for Northville Township's development was approved by the township's planning commission last Wednesday.

Included in the statement, written by commission chairman William Bohan at the request of the board of trustees, was a sentence which included the goal "... to promote the development of the township into a carefully conceived, well balanced and aesthetically pleasing residential community ..."

Commissioners immediately jumped on the word, "promote."

"It sounds like we're on a campaign to promote the development of the township. I don't see it like that," said Commissioner Kenneth McLarty.

Bohan and township planner George Vilcan stuck to their guns. The goal is to "encourage" and "promote" the township — into a carefully conceived community, they said.

But McLarty suggested the word, "control" replace "promote."

Commission Secretary Kenneth Sewell suggested the word "guide." And Township Engineer L. W. Mosher suggested to "direct" would be the best.

It was eventually agreed that the best thing to do would be to send the statement as is and let the township board decide since they have to make the final approval anyway.

Meanwhile, commission members said they are seeking public input on the statement which is designed to give the overall general principles which shall guide future planning in Northville Township.

The draft statement says, in full: "It is the policy of the Township of Northville through the vehicle of its Comprehensive Land Use Plan, Zoning Ordinance and Subdivision Regulations to promote the development of the township into a carefully conceived, well balanced and aesthetically pleasing residential community while respecting and protecting its natural features, preserving its environment and considering recreation for its residents."

"To accomplish this goal, it is the intent of the township through its Land Use Plan to limit office and business uses primarily for the convenience needs of its residents and to limit industrial use patterns to those geographical areas of the Township wherein conflict with adjacent residential development areas will be minimized. These non-residential uses where established by plan should be developed in such a way as to prevent negative impact upon abutting streets, adjacent residential areas and the general environment. It is the intent of the Township to encourage the provision of recreational opportunities for present and future residents of the Township."

"Further, it is the intent of the Township to review proposed revisions to the Land Use Plan and proposals for the development of land in the Towns within the context of their effect on the existing and evolving residential areas of the Township."

"The residents are saying there is a serious question here," said Marge Riker, chairman of the public affairs committee of the association. "When a person purchases his home here and there is empty adjacent land, they don't know what will eventually be there — Quik Pies, party stores or whatever," she said "We just want to maintain the residential atmosphere of this area."

Bohan expressed the commission's concern, but said that the owner of the property would object to a rezoning without proper study. Unless studies backed up a rezoning decision, he said, there would be no defense against legal action by the owner.

"You're asking us to reject a commitment we've made to the owner," Bohan said.

Other commission members agreed that the original residents of Northville Commons knew of the land zoned for business when they moved in, even if the newer residents did not.

Again, commission members agreed to consider the plea in the revision of the master plan.

Until that time, if the owner presented a plan to put a business on the property, he could not be stopped from building it, Bohan said.

Commissioners endorse plan for chartering

Wayne County's Board of Commissioners has reaffirmed its endorsement of a charter commission as the first step toward election of a county executive to administer the nation's third-largest county.

The county legislators voted 14-7 to reaffirm their decision of two weeks earlier to endorse the concept of electing a charter commission to draw up a new county structure.

With the second vote, the board majority rejected a motion by two commissioners that the earlier vote be reconsidered.

The board of commissioners endorsed the charter commission concept February 15, voting 20-1 for a resolution co-sponsored by Commissioners Arthur M. Carter and Rose Mary C. Robinson, both Detroit Democrats. The action was taken in the wake of a proposal by Governor Milliken that the State pay the charter commission election costs for the financially-strapped County.

A "yes" vote by a majority of county voters would establish an elected charter commission to draft a proposed county charter for later submission to the voters in line with Public Act 293, the "County Home Rule Act." A primary election for charter commission candidates would be held on the same ballot.

Main feature of the charter would be an elected executive office, giving the county a single chief executive for the first time. Executive powers are now diffused through various boards, commissions and elective offices.

The board of commissioners has put the charter commission proposal on the ballot twice since the County Home Rule Act was adopted in 1966. It was turned down both times.

However, the proposal gained fresh support recently when Governor Milliken endorsed the concept in his annual budget message and proposed that Act 293 be amended to broaden support for the election of a charter commission.

With his budget message, Milliken endorsed the state's relieving the county of $5.7 million in annual court probation costs, but made his endorsement contingent on the County Board's support of county reorganization.

The board of commissioners reaffirmed its support of the home rule charter concept March 1. In doing so, the majority rejected a motion to reconsider which had been filed by Commissioners Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia/Northville) and R. William Joyner, Democrat representing Plymouth, Canton, Wayne, Belleville, Van Buren, Sumpter and part of Northville Township.

Dumas, Joyner and Commissioner Alex Pilch (D-Dearborn/Dearborn Heights) favor an alternative county executive proposal, available under Public Act 139 of 1973 and known as the "Optional Form of County Government."

Following the majority endorsement of the charter commission approach, the three dissidents launched a campaign to put the "optional form" county executive proposal on the 1980 election ballot. They need to collect some 66,000 voters' signatures and have held meetings in Plymouth and Livonia to enlist petition circulators. A Dearborn meeting is planned.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE
by Jim Roth

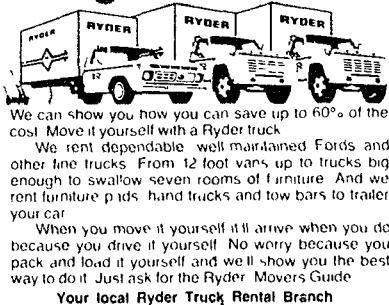

Bananas and wine are extremely versatile. After all, a banana can be eaten with almost anything and prepared in almost any way. There are banana splits, banana flambees, bananas with peanut butter, chocolate covered bananas, baked bananas, fried bananas, etc. Wine also has great possibilities. It can be served hot, cold, or in-between, to refresh in the summer, or warm in the winter. It can be mixed with fruit, liqueur, or harder spirits, with ice, or without, over desserts, in sauces, or flavoring almost anything. I wonder how a banana marinated in wine would taste?

If you have ever wondered how to use wine in cooking, which wines go best with certain foods, or what wines should be served young and those waited to mature, just stop by and talk to our helpful people at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. Hot sandwiches, sub-marines, ham and cheese sandwiches are available, as well as party crackers, pretzels and potato chips. Hours: 9 a.m.-10 p.m. Mon. thru Sat., Noon-6 p.m. Sun.

HELPFUL HINT:
If the cork breaks while extracting it from the bottle, pour the wine through a strainer.

Stockholders meet

Downs, Driving Club still bicker

Pethers, Donald Yerkes and Dr. L.W. Snow. Schrader resigned when his son was not supported by the voting trust for re-election. Hill sold most of his stock and resigned; Pethers was not re-elected and Yerkes, who had resigned last year, and Dr. Snow both passed away during the past year.

Formed back in the days when country fairs were staged at the race track grounds, the Driving Club decided to try harness racing on its fairground site back in the forties. Stock sold in those days for around $10 a share. Until last year's offer by Northville Downs to purchase all of the Driving Club stock at $100 a share its recent market value had been $50 per share.

The trust came into being as a means of opposing a proposed sale of the stock to Northville Downs. At last year's annual meeting the trust introduced itself as owner of 8,447 shares of the 15,000 total, and elected its slate to the board.

The Schraders and Mrs. Zayti did not pledge their stock to the trust. The Snows and Allen, former longtime mayor of the city and now the Driving Club's largest stockholder, were leaders of the trust formation.

Although Mrs. Zayti had indicated a desire to run again for a directorship, the trust did not include her name on its latest slate.

Cutler is a Northville real estate agent who also serves as chairman of the city's board of review, a three-member body responsible for conducting hearings on property assessments. Ms. Rakieten is president of the Jackson Trotting Association which conducts a fall meet at Northville Downs. Ms. Karoub is the sister of James Karoub, a Northville resident who is a well known lobbyist at the state capitol. Karoub reportedly has acquired a substantial number of Driving Club shares and has been a spokesman for the trust. Among his clients are the Hazel Park and Wolverine harness racing tracks. He is a member of the board of directors of Wolverine Harpess Raceway, Inc., of Livonia.

Davis and Fenkell are both businessmen from Southfield.

There are three obvious factors contributing to strained relations now existing between the Driving Club, landlord and holder of the track license, and Northville Downs, tenant and owner of the operator's license.

First, the rebuff of the Downs' purchase offer, which at $100 per share would have placed the total sale price for the Driving Club's interest in the racing facility at $1.5 million.

Secondly, the negotiations that took place last summer between the Driving Club and Downs. While they resulted in the signing of a new 10-year contract, the terms are not what the Downs would have preferred, especially in regards to future track improvements.

And finally the dropping of Mrs. Zayti from the Driving Club board of directors. In addition strong distrust exists between both bodies with Driving Club representatives suggesting that the Downs tried to buy the track so it could move the facility out of the city and the Downs charging that certain interests within the Driving Club are trying to take over the total operation of the track.

Driving Club spokesmen contend that Mrs. Zayti is not being nominated for re-election because her board membership represents a conflict of interest. They say it is impossible for her to represent the best interests of both landlord and tenant in contract negotiations.

Mrs. Zayti responds that minority stockholders (non-trust members) deserve representation on the board. "I am not anti-Driving Club. I am biased against the voting trust," declares the longtime Downs' executive. She says she questions the motives of the voting trust and wonders if its objectives will benefit the community.

Mr. Zayti also declares that she sees no more conflict of interest in her presence on the board than that of Ms. Rakieten, operator of the meet Jackson holds at Northville Downs. And she is quick to point out that Lobbyist Karoub represents the interests of two other harness tracks. "He tried to get 10 racing days away from Northville and Jackson for Wolverine and Hazel Park", charges Mrs. Zayti.

The new 10-year contract between the Driving Club and Northville Downs provides that the Downs will pay one and one-quarter per cent of the mutual handle in rent to the Driving Club. In addition the Downs divides its rental income from the Jackson meet after property taxes are excluded with the Driving Club. Under provisions of the contract the Driving Club also contributes $10,000 towards taxes. Property taxes at the Downs last year amounted to more than $260,000. Whole most of the property is owned by the Driving Club, the agreement has provided that taxes would be paid by the Downs.

Up until this year the Driving Club had agreed to a flat annual rental payment of $65,000. Under terms of the new contract, and with Northville Downs enjoying the best season in its history, the Driving Club's cut of the mutual handle should amount to at least $75,000.

In its contract negotiations last year the Downs urged the Driving Club to accept one per cent of the mutual handle for rent and place the responsibility for making all improvements at the track on the Downs. The Driving Club held out for the higher percentage.

"But we would have accepted the one per cent arrangement if the Downs had given us a voice in where the track improvements would be made," declare Driving Club President Snow and Allen. It's in this area that the tangled affairs of the partnership arrangement between the Downs and Driving Club become even more involved.

While the Driving Club holds title to most of the property at the Downs, the latter has acquired certain key properties crucial to operation of the facility.

Allen and Snow point out that while under the old contract the Downs made all the improvements (new grandstands, clubhouse, parking, etc.) the Driving Club was making a major contribution through its reduced rental arrangement. They suggest that some of the profits left over after new construction and as a result of the reduced rent were used by Executive Manager John J. Carlo and Mrs. Zayti to purchase properties around the track.

Allen and Snow contend that the Driving Club is prepared to make necessary improvements at the track. But they state that the Downs has refused to cooperate. They point to a plan to construct a parking area on Cady street on land owned by the Driving Club, Downs and the city. They said Carlo refused to approve the idea even though the expenses would have been assumed by the Driving Club. The lot would have accommodated 175 cars.

Additionally, the Driving Club spokesmen state that they have presented plans for construction of an indoor parking structure just north of the existing grandstand and clubhouse facility, which would double the present parking capacity.

"We suggested that a charge of $1.50 per car should be made for this covered parking and that the Downs should contribute proceeds after all operating and maintenance expenses towards cost of the building," Allen declared. He said that Carlo didn't like the idea.

Allen and Snow revealed that the Driving Club had also attempted to resolve the problem of dual ownership and operation at the Downs. "We offered to buy or sell on the basis of the state equalized valuation (SEV) formula for the property at the Downs."

They said the SEV of all the Driving Club owned property at the track is approximately $3 million, which is supposed to represent one-half of market value.

"The Driving Club offered to sell its interest for twice the SEV, or market value as recognized by tax assessors," said Allen. This would amount to $6 million, compared to the $1½ million the $100 per share offer made by Carlo would have totalled.

Conversely, Allen said the Driving Club was willing to buy all the Downs' property at twice its SEV value. Downs-owned property has an SEV of $283,000, so the offer to buy out the Downs' interest amounts to $566,000.

In response to the sell offer of $6 million Mrs. Zayti notes that the Downs constructed most of the buildings that account for the property valuation. "We still have $3 million in depreciation over the next 10 years to recapture for construction of the buildings," she stated.

In rebuttal Allen and Snow point out that it wasn't all Downs' money that built the grandstand and clubhouse, but rather Driving Club money not taken in rent.

An interested third-party in the Downs-Driving Club controversy is the City of Northville. Its share of the mutual handle in the form of rebates from the state of Michigan should amount to approximately $725,000 for the 1978-79 meets. This will be a record revenue for the city. Last year the city's take was $679,000. The state limit in rebates to the city is $800,000.

The state racing commissioner's office also keeps its eye on track operations and accommodations for fans. If they are not deemed adequate, the revenues to the state (and cities) suffer. So pressure is exerted on tracks to maintain facilities and make necessary improvements.

Officials of both the Downs and Driving Club are well aware that as the local harness track continues to attract more fans, improved facilities must be provided. The risk of reduced racing dates because of failure to make improvements is too great to permit controversy to continue long.

Allen and Snow expressed confidence that agreement can be reached for long-range improvements at the track. And while parking has become acute on busy nights this season, they do not view the condition critical.

Yet from a cost standpoint Mrs. Zayti predicts that new grandstands and additional parking could cost up to $10 million over the next decade.

Looking over the shoulders of the Driving Club's voting trust and officials of Northville Downs as they attempt to agree upon a master plan for the local harness racing facility will be the state racing commissioner and Northville's city council.

Sub tries to head off special assessment

Northville Estate Civic Association has served notice on the city council that it opposes any special assessment for the paving of Beck Road.

The association made that plain in a letter to the council this week in which it notes that the planned paving "will do nothing for improving property values of the subdivision."

Council has reached tentative agreement with Novi for the Beck Road paving — but that agreement covers only the amounts of money the two municipalities will share. It does not deal with the method each community will finance its share.

Earlier, City Manager Steven Walters told council members that new street construction normally is paid either by the developers or by assessment on adjacent properties.

The city's portion of Beck Road is adjacent to Northville Estates, with 12 lots in that subdivision adjacent to the right-of-way, he noted. "However, these lots do not use Beck Road for access, since they all front on interior subdivision streets for which they have been recently assessed," he added.

"The council must decide whether and to what degree there is special benefit to the adjacent lots, and to Northville Estates as a whole, if special assessments are to be considered as a part of financing Beck Road," the city managers said.

In his letter to council, the association's president, R. D. Borthwick, emphasized that the association "stands in opposition to any special assessment, be it to the subdivision 'at large' or to the owners of the 12 lots abutting."

He cited five reasons for that opposition:

"1. The paving of Beck will do nothing for improving property values in the subdivision. In fact, the project could diminish the value of those 12 lots abutting the road. On the premise that Beck from Eight Mile to 10 Mile roads will be identical in construction and overall character to the already completed portion between 10 Mile and Grand River, fast moving traffic can be anticipated. That in itself will likely discourage potential buyers with small children from purchasing properties abutting the road.

"2. Few residents use Beck now — even in cold weather when the gravel road is hard and in relatively good traveling condition. The natural traffic flow is toward Eight Mile Road as residents move toward the city and I-275 as they travel to work. (Beck could be closed entirely with little or no inconvenience to the residents of Northville Estates.)

"3. In reality, the paving of Beck will benefit the community at large with most of the benefits being to people outside the city — particularly those in the township (south of Eight Mile) and in the City of Novi.

"4. Beck is a county road south of Eight Mile. Therefore, if/when the Wayne County portion of the road is paved, the homeowners fronting the road are not likely to be assessed. The fact of the matter is that because Beck will become a major thoroughfare serving for more than Northville Estates and for that matter, the City of Northville, it should be an Oakland County road.

"5. Our homeowners have within the past year been assessed for the paving of our subdivision streets. (The residents were most happy with the project and willing to pay the assessment because of its inherent effect on property values.)

To assess the abutting properties in Northville Estates, he concluded, "would be grossly unfair."

It has been estimated that the City of Northville's share of the paving project — from 10 Mile south to Eight — would be $161,037. The city's share would cover only that portion of the work from Northville's northern limits to Eight Mile.

Total cost of construction, from Northville's northern boundary to Eight Mile is put at $128,829, with an addi-

GARY M. FOREMAN

Funeral service for Gary M. Foreman, 27, of Livonia is being held at 4 p.m. today (Wednesday) at the Harry J. Will Funeral Home in Livonia. Mr. Foreman died March 9 at Harper Hospital in Detroit of cancer after an illness of two-and-a-half years.

Mr. Gary Morelli of Harper Hospital Chaplaincy staff is officiating at the service. Relatives and friends, will be pallbearers. Interment is to be in Glen Eden Memorial Park Cemetery.

Mr. Foreman was the son of Ralph Foreman, Jr., of Northville and Mrs. Walter Arsneault (Margaret) of Livonia. He was born February 11, 1952, in Detroit.

The young man was raised in the Northville area until he was 15. When his mother remarried, they moved to Livonia in 1967 where he attended Stevenson High School. He worked for his stepfather in Northville as an auto reconditioner.

JAMES J. SUGRUE, Jr.

Funeral services for James J. Sugrue, Jr., 59, of 830 West Main, an area resident for 24 years, were held at 10 a.m. last Friday at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church where he was a member.

Father Gerard Hadad officiated at the service. Interment was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield.

Rosary was said Thursday evening at Casterline Funeral Home, Incorporated.

Mr. Sugrue, a retired real estate salesman with Thompson-Brown Company, died March 6 at St. Mary Hospital after an illness of three years.

He was a charter member of Knights of Columbus Council No. 6762 in Northville, a member of Farmington Elks Lodge No. 1886 and a veteran of World War II.

He was born October 29, 1919, in New Philadelphia, Ohio, to James J. and Martha (Crescio) Sugrue, Sr. He married Geraldine Wolfe.

In addition to his wife he leaves a daughter Mary Sharon Sugrue of Farmington, sons James J. Sugrue III of Northville and John Dowd of Louisville, Kentucky, a brother Michael Sugrue of Canton and four grandchildren.

School energy costs

Increase eats up saving

Northville Public Schools continue to blaze an impressive energy savings path but the benefits to the district have been diminished by skyrocketing inflation.

For the second year in a row, Northville schools are showing significant reductions in their consumption of gas and energy.

But the energy cutbacks do not mean proportional dollar savings. Rapidly increasing utility rates have in fact upped this year's bill from Detroit Edison even though the school district has reduced its use of electricity.

The Consumers Power billing has been reduced but not as much as the school district has cut its use of gas.

What it all means is that while Northville saved $50,000 in reduced utility billings last year, this year the district is barely breaking even despite another year of reduced energy usage.

"We have not been getting any cheaper rates any more than anybody else has," said Superintendent Lawrence Nichols.

On the bright side, the district is paying far less for utilities than it would be if consumption was still at 1977 levels.

And school officials believe that their conservation record is impressive enough to put them in good position to land a federal grant to pursue more energy saving techniques.

Monday night, school operations head Michael Janchick told the board of education that the district has made considerable energy savings in the last year and a half.

In 19 months, he said, Northville schools have saved more than 1.3 million kilowatts of electricity and more than 18,000 MCFs of gas. One MCF represents 1000 cubic feet of gas.

But Janchick also showed how inflation has put a damper on those savings. During the last school year, he reported, Northville cut down the use of gas by 15,310 MCFs. That amounted to a

Kirksey fights state increases

State funding alone will not improve patient care in Michigan's mental health institutions without attitudinal changes too, a Republican member of the House Mental Health Committee said today.

State Representative Jack Kirksey (R-Livonia, Northville) said, "The situation in our mental health institutions won't be greatly improved just by allocating more state funds. The quality of our training must be improved and the way to do it is to encourage a nurturing and sympathetic understanding of mental health patients."

Kirksey, who last year co-sponsored a resolution calling for the creation of a legislative committee to investigate charges of abuse and neglect at the Plymouth Center for Human Development, said he visits mental health facilities unannounced to see how they are operating.

"I think this is part of the responsibility of serving on the House Mental Health Committee," Kirksey said, "and I will continue to do it during the next two years."

Kirksey said Dr. Vernon Stamen, acting director of the Department of Mental Health, recently testified before the Mental Health committee on its attempts to comply with court orders to increase the caliber of the staff in institutions.

"This is the most difficult task hand," Kirksey said. "To illustrate, only about 200 applicants from 1500 recently reviewed by the department were found to have the necessary qualifications and staying power required for the job," Kirksey said.

"Our ability to attract capable people is the challenge we face in trying to ensure adequate and humane treatment of patients. Dr. Stamen explained that it is difficult to maintain morale among the staff when they feel they are under the microscope."

"But there is no doubt in my mind that a good staff is as essential as more funding to bring our mental health system standards up," he continued.

Kirksey said he will closely monitor facilities throughout the state, and will work with Dr. Stamen and Mental Health Chairman Claude Trim in developing methods to attract capable personnel.

Five receive degrees in MSU exercises

Five persons from Northville were awarded degrees at winter term commencement exercises Saturday at Michigan State University.

They and their degrees are:

Joan E. Boor of 42333 Amboy Court, BA in communication; Steven R. Francis of 41757 Onaway, BS in animal husbandry; Kathleen M. Heslip of 21660 Currie Road, BA in communication; Philip

A. Palachio, of 18275 Edenderry Drive, BA in marketing; and Patricia S. Stephens of 46778 Grasmere Road, BS in clothing and textiles.

Gene F. Jankowski, president of CBS Broadcast Group, was the principal speaker at the afternoon commencement ceremonies in the MSU Auditorium.

Principals say

Today's child is bolder

was because of the increasingly transient nature of home and family life.

Nancy Fieldman, principal at Silver Springs Elementary School, said 30 percent of her students come from single-parent homes and another 11 percent live in homes where the parents have remarried.

The number of students who spend all or most of their school career in Northville schools is decreasing, they said. Trustee John Hobart agreed.

"Northville is no more a small town," he said. "With the expressway, Northville is becoming another subdivision. People don't really treat this as a small community anymore. They just happen to plod down here for two to five years."

The principals bemoaned the dwindling respect for persons of authority. Students, they said, no longer fear a summons to the principal's office.

Ralph Redmond, an assistant principal and athletic director at the high school, said students are more open about breaking rules.

"It's really very scary for me to see the athletes who adhere to rules and regulations during the season," he said.

"Once the season is over, they almost flaunt their cigarettes, marijuana, perhaps beer and booze in the parking lot.

"In our day, we would go 40 miles down the road to experiment. Today's students are really bold."

Redmond hit on a common theme when he said his dual role may be too big a job to handle. Principals at the junior high schools have long stressed the need for assistants.

The ideal assistant principal has been described as the "hard guy," the enforcer who would take care of discipline. But more is needed, they said.

"There are enough problems that each school could be assigned a social worker," said David Longridge, principal at Cooke Junior High School.

"I was not trained to be a social worker and I was not trained to be a lawyer. But we've got to give them their Miranda rights and the kids know this.

"We're being asked to do an awful lot of things that we are not trained to do."

The principals made it clear that they were not trying to depict Northville schools as a blackboard jungle. The students, they said, are extremely bright, capable and articulate.

"On a one-to-one basis, you can't beat these kids," said Meads Mills' Horvath. "Verbally, they are terrific."

"My problem is before school, after school, during lunch, when they are passing between classes ... any unsupervised time. Give them a little freedom and they can't handle it."

High School Principal George Aune, who suggested a need for Parent Effectiveness Training, said that the schools must realize their responsibility.

"We do act as the parents of the youngsters when they are under our care and jurisdiction," he said. "We can't throw that responsibility out. We have to keep working on it."

Barbara Campbell, an assistant high school principal, said that it is not all bad that students no longer bow to authority without question.

"I've found if you give them a good reason you generally don't have a problem," she said.

And William Craft, principal at Amerman Elementary School, said today's are not the first students to drink, carouse and show little respect.

"These are not new things," he said. "In ancient Greece, they were worried about the same things."

High costs cut savings

$24,197 savings for the school district.

For the first seven months of this year, the district has reduced gas consumption by another 2,753 MCFs. Even so, the Consumers bill has increased by $6,000.

The story is similar but not so severe for electricity where during the 1977-78 school year the district cut consumption by more than 1 million kilowatts for a savings of $26,416.

This year, another 343,000 kilowatts have been saved. The district's Edison bill has been reduced by not quite $7,200.

Even though there were some obvious reasons for part of the savings — shutting off the air conditioner in the summer at schools that used to house the now-defunct year-round school — school officials were proud of their overall record.

They were also pleased that even after last year's big reduction, they were able to show even more cutbacks this year.

"It is one area I'm proud of," said Janchick. "We've made some real strides here."

Later, however, he told the board that the inexpensive ways to save energy may be becoming a thing of the past.

"We're at the point now where it is going to cost money to save more money," he said.

LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION

SCHOOL ELECTION

NOTICE OF LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION OF THE ELECTORS OF NORTHVILLE PUBLIC SCHOOLS WAYNE, OAKLAND AND WASHTENAW COUNTIES, MICHIGAN

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT:

Please Take Notice that the Board of Education of Northville Public Schools, Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, has called a special election to be held in the School District on Saturday, April 28, 1979.

The following proposition will be submitted to the vote of the electors at the special election:

MILLAGE RENEWAL PROPOSITION

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Northville Public Schools, Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, be increased by 3 mills ($3.00 on each $1,000. of state equalized valuation) for a period of 2 years, 1979 and 1980, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes (this being a renewal of 3 mills for operating purposes which expired with the 1978 tax levy)?

THE LAST DAY ON WHICH PERSONS MAY REGISTER WITH THE APPROPRIATE CITY OR TOWNSHIP CLERKS, IN ORDER TO BE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE AT THE SPECIAL ELECTION CALLED TO BE HELD ON SATURDAY, APRIL 28, 1979, IS THURSDAY, MARCH 29, 1979. PERSONS REGISTERING AFTER 5:00 O'CLOCK, P.M., ON THURSDAY, MARCH 29, 1979, ARE NOT ELIGIBLE TO VOTE AT THE SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION.

Persons planning to register with the respective city or township clerks must ascertain the days and hours on which the clerks' offices are open for registration.

This Notice is given by order of the Board of Education of Northville Public Schools, Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan.

Mitchell faces test Tuesday

Fresh from a victory over four other candidates in the February 27 primary election for Northville Township trustee, David Mitchell probably thought he could enjoy a "breather" in the March 20 runoff.

After all only Republican candidates filed for the vacancy on the local seven-member board.

Mitchell received 372 votes in the primary. Second place went to Dorothy K. Gay with 261 votes. The other three Republicans on the ticket received 63, 42 and 24 votes, respectively.

But Mitchell, a political newcomer, now finds himself locked in a race with a "Democrat" who received 13 write-in votes. And the nominee is no political newcomer.

He may not be a Democrat, either. But who knows? The Democratic candidate, Wilson Grier, isn't saying.

For two years until last November he served as Republican supervisor of Northville Township. His nominating write-in votes came on the Democratic ballot, which would be the only way a non-candidate could be nominated.

It's perfectly legal. And if there are those among us who believe that in Northville Township, where historically only Republicans have been elected, every candidate who has ever run under the Republican banner has indeed embraced the principles of the Grand Old Party, we are probably very gullible, or old-fashioned.

So a winner of 372 votes is pitted against a candidate bringing 13 votes into the race.

In this one-on-one contest Mitchell faces a severe test.

But he has demonstrated that he is a hard-worker. And he has a long record of working in behalf of his community without compensation.

Mitchell holds promise of bringing a fresh, uncommitted vote to the badly divided township board.

Moreover, we find Mitchell to be highly intelligent, capable of articulating his beliefs clearly and a good listener.

He is motivated by a desire to contribute his considerable talents to community improvement. Certainly personal gains, political or otherwise, hold no attraction for Mitchell.

I'll vote for David Mitchell in next Tuesday's Northville Township election.

It's impossible for me to believe that the tax assessors in Oakland county are exercising common sense.

As most property owners in the Oakland county portion of the city of Northville know, the assessments on all properties in that area have been boosted a flat 14 per cent — across-the-board.

I will not argue that this hike might still leave the state equalized valuation (SEV) level well below the 50 per cent of market value that it is legally supposed to represent.

But Oakland county assessors review properties individually every single year, keeping the equalization factor at a constant 1.0.

And that's as it should be. But how in the world can properties get 14 per cent behind in one year if assessors are doing their job?

And why in the name of common sense would the county choose to ignore guidelines set forth in the Headlee amendment? Whether they like the new law or not, it was voted by the people so the bureaucrats and politicians must learn to accept and live with it.

It's true that it is not the assessor's responsibility to worry about the tax-increase guidelines under the Headlee. It is the levy of tax millage that must be adjusted after assessments are set.

But applying a 14 per cent hike flies in the face of the guidelines knowingly setting up a situation where millage rollbacks will be necessary. And particularly in the city of Northville where cooperation is required between two county assessing authorities to avoid inequities it would seem prudent to remove blinders and consider reality.

Instead Oakland county has sought to encourage Wayne county to hike its property assessments 14 percent, just like Oakland county, instead of the seven per cent boost adopted in the Wayne county portion of the city.

Apparently, this represents "cooperation and equity" to Oakland county tax assessors.

In light of the Headlee law it becomes more imperative than ever that the city of Northville bring its entire borders under a single assessing authority.

Property owners in the same city, perhaps living across the street from one another, are not being treated equally.

And where it will become most painfully apparent to the pocketbooks of Oakland county residents will be when school taxes are levied.

I wonder how many caught at least the final hour of the American Film Institute's salute to Alfred Hitchcock on television Monday night as I did?

Viewing the noted director and "master of suspense" from the camera shots taken of him as he sat and observed the many tributes to his career I was saddened to think of the embarrassment that might occur when he attempted to respond. Hitchcock did not look well.

It took two efforts but he struggled to his feet and clutched the Institute's Life Achievement Award. And in what appeared to be an extemporaneous dialogue his remarks were absolutely brilliant.

He was humorous in a perfectly dry sense; he was sad; and he was most grateful.

I'll never worry about Alfred Hitchcock again. The man is obviously a genius. And it didn't take his audience two efforts to leap to their feet in applause when he finished.

Speaking for Myself

Foster care
in neighborhood?

ELEANOR JOHNSON

ARMAND DIGIULIO

YES

There are no statistics on the effect of community placement of the mentally and physically handicapped, as it is a new concept in alternative placement.

We can only speak from experience. In our home, we have five individuals, each with a unique background.

While the capabilities of those who have spent more time at home differs significantly from those who have had more time in an institution, many different people have noticed positive improvement in all five since their placement with us.

Our neighbors have been most kind, understanding and interested in the children and we have had no problems.

NO

It is the duty of the citizens to be aware of the problems involved with mental health and judge the issues on the basis of facts and not emotions.

Because of the ever-increasing federal and state monies allocated for mental health care, the socio-bureaucrats, aided by misguided politicians and working with financially interested self-appointed champions of the afflicted, are attempting to restructure our society by redefining the "family" to include six people afflicted with related handicaps and circumventing deed restrictions freely accepted by the citizens.

In the Leland Acres Subdivisions, the restrictions are not discriminatory as to race, color, or creed, but are designed to maintain the proper environment in which to live and raise good families.

The restrictions specify: single family residences, physical requirements for the homes and adjacent land, and do not allow business establishments.

We feel, in fact, that the benefits to the community, especially the younger members, may be more far reaching than those of the handicapped who are limited in how much they can absorb and progress.

Those in the community in which they are placed can begin to appreciate their own superior positions with humility. And there's no better way to teach the love, patience, kindness, tolerance, peace, joy, goodness and faith, that the Bible states are the fruitages of the spirit, than by examples, not just words.

Now that they've nearly eradicated smallpox, I'm hopeful they'll start working on do-it-yourself wallpapering.

It's a contagious, recurring malady that turns a brave man into a whimpering sissy. There's just no immunity once you're afflicted. So the best advice to the newly married man is to avoid, at all costs, the first encounter.

My mistake was made early on in our marriage when I stepped back from the first strip of paper and said admiringly, "You know it isn't half bad."

It was her cue.

From then on it was paper this, paper that. And just once, in all these years, has she backed down. That was when I threatened to toss her and all her wallpaper into the fireplace she wanted papered.

If wallpapering occurred only as often as the seven-year itch, a man could live with it. But the paste has hardly dried when papering addicts are itching to get started again. They change wallpaper as often as some people change newspaper in their bird cages.

Now her itch has me climbing the walls again.

But there's a new twist.

She brought home some "easy on" pre-pasted stuff that purportedly simplifies the chore. It came equipped with a flimsy plastic water trough.

The directions make it sound easy. But don't be deceived.

The trough is about three feet long, five inches wide and maybe five inches deep. Fill it with water and try carrying it across a room if you dare. A balancing artist might

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator (R-Northville)

Confused about all the new energy credits being offered by the federal and state governments this year? The state has published a new pamphlet, entitled "Energy Tax Credits," containing easy-to-understand explanations of exactly what federal and state energy tax credits and exemptions are currently available. Besides explaining who qualifies for what, the pamphlet also spells out what forms to use, where to obtain them, and where to go for assistance in completing these forms.

Included in the seven-page pamphlet are descriptions of:

- The federal residential energy conservation credit, which applies to insulation, storm windows and doors, weatherstripping and other types of home energy conservation measures;
 - The federal residential renewable energy equipment credit, which applies to solar, wind, geothermal and certain other equipment;
 - The Michigan home heating credit, new this year, which replaces the energy assistance program run by the Michigan Department of Social Services in 1977-78; and
 - Michigan solar tax exemptions to property, sales and use taxes.
- Copies of "Energy Tax Credits" are available by calling the Energy Hotline toll-free at 1-800-292-4704, or by writing the Energy Extension Service, Energy Administration/Michigan Department of Commerce, Post Office Box 30228, Lansing, Michigan 48909.

If you're in the process of filling out your state income tax return, be sure to check and see if you're eligible for a home heating credit. Recent reports from state treasury officials indicate that an estimated 10 to 12 percent of those who are eligible for this credit are not applying for it. An estimated 300,000 Michigan households are believed qualified.

The home heating credit section appears as Part IV on the 1978 General Property Tax Credit and Home Heating Credit Form MI-1040 CR-4, thus allowing you to apply for both your property tax and home heating credits on the same form. Previously, a separate application for the home heating credit was necessary, but not this year.

Not everyone who qualifies for a property tax refund is automatically eligible for the heating assistance payment, the State Treasury Department notes, but there is a relationship between the two programs. The amount of heating assistance is determined by a formula which relates your household income to the number of exemptions you claim. (Senior citizens are entitled to two exemptions and, thus, an even larger home heating credit.)

It will only take you a few minutes more to run through the home heating assistance section to see if you are eligible for a credit. Don't over-look this benefit! The Treasury Department can't make the computation for you, but you can get some help filling out your income tax return if you need it by visiting one of the Department's 22 offices throughout the state.

Kirksey urges keeping lid on state spending

Any effort to raise state revenues this year should be considered an attempt to circumvent the Headlee Amendment, State Representatives Jack Kirksey (R-Livonia, Northville) and Robert Law (R-Livonia, Westland) said Tuesday.

Kirksey and Law cosponsored a resolution urging the legislature to refuse to increase base year revenue, which was introduced in the Michigan House on Tuesday.

"The legislature should recognize that the voters of Michigan gave us a clear mandate when they voted to put a lid on state spending last fall," Law said. "They will be aware of any effort on our part to jack up this year's revenues so we can increase our spending limit from now on. "The people don't want us to do it, and it would be wrong to try." The Headlee Amendment, Law said, puts a lid on state spending by limiting it to a fixed ratio of the amount the state spends in the 1978-79 fiscal year and the total personal income Michigan residents earned in the 1977 calendar year. This figure is calculated by dividing the 1978-79 tax revenues by the 1977 personal income of the state.

"When the voters approved the Headlee Tax Limitation last fall, they curbed state and local government blank check spending for the first time in Michigan's history," Kirksey said. "The Amendment became part of our State Constitution on December 22, and the legislature has begun the task of implementing it."

"I don't think we should thwart the intent of the people by approving any legislation that would increase the Headlee base year."

"This resolution puts the legislature on record. If we refuse to heed the people's mandate, we may be faced with more stringent limitations or cuts in the future," Kirksey continued.

The resolution, signed by 40 House Republicans and 17 House Democrats, will be considered by the House Policy Committee.

Make it if the center of the trough didn't collapse.

The object is to plunge a rolled up strip of paper into the water trough and then unroll it smoothly out of the water and right up on the wall.

The inventor, not the paper, ought to be hanged.

No way is it a one-man operation unless he has four arms that reach from floor to ceiling and he is wearing boots. Blessed with neither, I was up to my elbows in water and waste and a blue funk when the carrier of man's disease returned from a carefully timed shopping trip.

"What's all this water doing on my kitchen floor?" she complained as I struggled to free myself from the confetti.

And then to add insult to injury she said, "I just saw the perfect paper for the living room."

Oh, as much as I hate needles, I'd willingly take a jab once a week if they'd find a vaccination for wallpapering.

Readers Speak

See annexation threat looming

To the Editor:

Once again the volatile issue of annexation emerges amidst a sea of tranquility. As we have seen, the township treasurer's proposal for an area wide police-fire department, is designed to test the waters in preparation for another glorious attempt by the elite, to trot forth annexation proposals. While dreaming about their Downtown Development Project, they have decided to inflict another pseudo-issue upon the voters, to confuse the silent majority into a state of acquiescence. Why do these liberal spenders support projects which always result in increasing costs?

Consequently, the strategy adopted by this group, is that of overwhelming the public with a maelstrom of events and minor issues, while covering up the main objective, selling annexation to a group of frustrated taxpayers. They believe the public might be ripe for acceptance of such malarky, but we refuse to bite into a wormy apple.

Typical of this bitter fruit, is the cost of the additional building to house a public library, in the city of Northville. Actually township residents will be forced to pay more millage, because of increased operational costs, which both the city and the township share. Then they feed us pure baloney about federal block grants being free manna from heaven. Obviously, once the building is constructed, additional cost must be paid for by the local residents.

Another example is the township request for 21 acres of "Free" land. How will the new building project be financed? In juxtaposition with this, is the accelerated bureaucratic growth promoted by the township police chief, as he attempts to add two more police officers to his staff. Moreover, to complete the charade, we discover a township Republican running for trustee on the Democratic ticket. So the melody lingers on, while the bureaucrats play the tune, "Down and Down We Go, Round and Round We Go!"

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

Wilson Grier, past Republican, reluctant Democrat, makes one more try for public office. With a desperation born of political despair, he refuses to disavow his Republican constituency and refuses to acknowledge he is a Democrat. The proverbial eating your cake and having it too.

Based on experience, enthusiasm, dedication and love of the Township, Grier far outdistances his opponent, Mitchell. Actually, based on evaluation of talent, Grier makes this a no-contest election.

Unfortunately, Grier has a talent for making political enemies that cost him the Supervisor's office job. He has enraged the Record by his persistent defense of the Township over the City of Northville. As a consequence, he became the victim of a vicious, unproven editorial by the Record which, historically comes down hard on opponents of the City.

With the election of Mitchell, all candidates but Clerk Sass will be hand picked and backed by the Record. This spells trouble — annexation, trouble.

To the Editor:

Much to my chagrin I see my name in time or desire for political office at this time.

First review a cinch for Nichols

It was a generally "satisfactory" initial evaluation for Northville Public Schools Superintendent Lawrence Nichols, but the board of education made it clear it was more than satisfied.

Board members said it was difficult to judge a superintendent's performance after only seven months on the job especially when half of the evaluation — achievement of goals and objectives — was not specified until four months ago.

Still, the comments made at the annual evaluation meeting last Wednesday had an easily discernible upbeat nature.

"I'm extremely happy with what we've seen and the direction in which we're going," said Trustee Richard Barron. "The board has been dealing with the kind of things we should be dealing with."

Vice President Christopher Johnson praised the way Nichols was "keeping the board informed and especially the follow up" which, he said, was "very outstanding."

Johnson said he was also impressed with the curriculum planning underway in the school district.

President Douglas Whitaker noted that Nichols was completing the "first seven months of the first year of his first superintendency."

Normally, he said, seven months is a time of probation, a time when "certainly you are not expected to demonstrate success in your job but demonstrate potential to achieve that success."

"I have seen evidence of that potential."

Marjorie Sliger, the board trustee in charge of the evaluation committee, said Nichols received a consensus

"more than satisfactory" in four of 14 rating areas and a consensus "satisfactory" in the remaining 10.

At least one or more board member rated him "more than satisfactory" in each category, she added.

"Well, Mr. Nichols, we're pleased that you are here," she said.

The board will complete the evaluation process at its March 26 meeting when it will establish Nichols' salary and conditions of employment for next year.

Nichols, completing the first year of a three-year contract, is currently paid $40,500.

The relaxed atmosphere of the evaluation session was a far cry from last year when, following a similar process, former Superintendent Raymond Spear resigned to become superintendent at DeWitt.

Spear, superintendent in Northville for 11 years, had come under increasing criticism from various segments of the community.

Spear cited displeasure with the wage package offered by the board as reason for his resignation. Following a summer-long search, Northville's school board selected Nichols, a 19-year veteran of the Livonia school system.

Board members made it clear Wednesday that, even though most of their ratings were in the middle of the evaluation chart, they were happy with Nichols' first year on the job.

"It's hard to judge on extremes because of the short time involved," said Treasurer Charles Peltz.

"It should not be interpreted as 'less than satisfactory.' It's just too early in the game. It takes awhile for a style to come through."

"We didn't turn the goals and objectives loose until three-four months ago."

In only one area — facilities management and planning — did Nichols receive any marks lower than "satisfactory." Although his overall grade was "satisfactory," two board members marked "less than satisfactory."

It was a sign of the even-keeled board-superintendent relationship that this topic was discussed in open session even though Nichols has the right to request closed sessions when board members wish to air "areas of concern."

Maintenance and general upkeep of buildings, particularly the high school, has long been a sore point in Northville.

Board members said they realized the road back to acceptable maintenance would be a long and expensive one.

"I know you are working toward it," said Peltz. "When I say evidence, I mean in terms of the community."

"It's been a good beginning, but honeymoons are getting shorter."

Johnson, who rated the category "less than satisfactory," said he wanted to emphasize that the condition of buildings "is really an important area for the community and myself."

Meads Mill toots its horn

It was a clean sweep Saturday for the Symphonic Band from Meads Mill Junior High School.

Competing at a Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association district band festival, the Meads Mill contingent earned first division ratings from each of the four judges.

"The band did a very fine job and received many favorable comments," said Director John Mason.

Mason commended his band students for their hard work and their parents for supporting the band.

The festival, which included about a dozen bands, was hosted by Plymouth Central Middle School.

The performance by Meads Mills makes it eligible for advanced festivals.

Police chief named

Walters said Cannon would probably move to Northville in the summer of 1980 to avoid disrupting his children's school year.

Cannon, 44, has spent all 22 years of his active police career with the Plymouth department which he joined as a patrolman in 1957 after four years in the Navy.

"He has a BS in criminal justice" from Madonna College and he is a 1973 graduate of the FBI academy.

"He is currently the executive officer of Plymouth and has the rank of inspector."

"He has selected from four finalists who were interviewed Thursday night by a four-man oral examination board."

Among the finalists was Louis Westfall, the captain of the Northville City Police Department who has been running day-to-day activities for the past five years.

"Northville has been without a full time chief for that time because, according to city officials, there was first a chance of annexing Northville Township and then there were more pressing matters to consider."

Cannon is not expected to begin work at Northville for at least a month. He will meet with Walters today (Wednesday) to iron out final details of his employment including salary.

Walters, who has the final choice in naming a police chief, said Cannon was ranked highest of the four finalists by the panel.

"He has a very broad background," said Walters. "He's had all of the general courses in management and the formal college training. And the FBI is very strong in substantive areas."

Walters said that Cannon may have earned points with the panel because, unlike two of the other three finalists, he is still active in police work.

"That seemed to have some effect on a couple of the raters," said Walters.

Cannon was one of two finalists whose names were not released beforehand by Walters. The other, a retired police officer who is now working as a security consultant, did not want to be identified unless he got the job.

Besides Westfall, the only other known candidate was Paul McGee, the retired director of the Oak Park Public Safety Department.

The position drew more than 200 applications.

Mitchell and Grier (?)

Mitchell picked up 372 votes to second place Dorothy Gay's 261 votes. Third high was Richard Henningsen, a former treasurer during the period Grier was supervisor, with 63 votes, followed by Kenneth McLarty with 42, and Robert Foust with 24. All of the votes of Mitchell's four opponents total 390.

Clerk Sass said late last week that there just had not been enough election activity to predict a turnout for next week. She reminded voters that the deadline for absentee ballots, which are available at the township hall, is Saturday.

Grier, who was defeated in a bid for re-election as supervisor in the August primary last year (he lost out to the present supervisor, Thomson), bounced back to run as a Republican write-in candidate in the November general election. He lost that election, too.

Presently, Grier works for a land development firm out of Southfield, Arnold Associates, where he holds the title of director of industrial and commercial real estate. He retains a position on the township's economic development corporation, another position on the county EDC, and he is a member of the township's water and sewer board.

Grier, who is married and has two children, lives at 19733 Marilyn.

Prior to joining Arnold Associates, he was involved before and during his tenure as supervisor in the operation of the defunct Park Haus Restaurant here with Arthur Jahn. That business on Northville Road, closed several months ago, is now being sold.

A graduate of Eastern Michigan University with a B.S. degree in history and English, Grier is a veteran and a captain in the United States Marine Corps Reserve.

Mitchell, who is seeking his first political office, lives at 42246 Old Bedford Road with his wife and two children and two foster children.

He holds an associate degree in accounting, having attended Washington, Mercer and Eastern Michigan University. He is an executive with the General Foods Corporation in Livonia. Over the past several years, he has been involved locally in the Northville recreation program.

Local swimmers finish 2nd

It's all Canton in league meet

Northville's four-year stranglehold on the Western Six boys' swimming crown is over.

Plymouth Canton, taking a chapter out of the Mustangs' own championship days, surprised the rest of the league with an exceptional performance in the opening event, the medley relay, and went on to win its first Western Six swimming title ever at Farmington Harrison last Friday.

And the Chiefs did it convincingly. Oh, how convincingly.

They placed four swimmers in all but one of the meet's 10 individual swimming events, they placed at least two swimmers in the finals of each of those events, and they won a whopping seven of a possible 13 events, including both the medley and the freestyle relays.

Canton's final team point total was 364 while Northville, champions of the conference four straight years before this winter, finished second with 272.

"They were just too good for us," Northville Coach Ron Meteyer acknowledged of his team's arch-rivals. "They just had too much depth."

Until Thursday night's preliminaries Meteyer had felt the Mustangs had a fair shot at winning its fifth straight title, despite two lopsided dual meet losses to Canton during the regular season. His squad was the healthiest it's been all year (the Mustangs were plagued by injuries and illnesses throughout most of the winter), his swimmers' times were getting more and more encouraging, and he figured on getting a boost from a victory in the medley relay, an event that's often keyed Northville's championships in the past.

But Canton apparently had other ideas. Although Meteyer didn't figure them for better than a 1:46 or 1:47, the Chiefs rolled to an easy victory in the medley relay preliminaries with a 1:44.9 clocking, then edged out Northville by .6 seconds with a 1:45.0 clocking in the finals.

Even before Friday's finals, though, it was fairly obvious where Canton stood. During Thursday's pre-lims the Chiefs had qualified four swimmers for nine of the 10 individual swimming event finals (altogether 12 swimmers qualified in each event) while Northville qualified three swimmers in nine events and four in only one.

"I wasn't disappointed in the performance of our own kids at all," Meteyer reflected. "Actually I was pleased by the kind of times we were getting (in the finals). I think it was a fine effort."

"I just didn't expect Canton to have so many finalists. They had a little too much for us."

Northville's lone victory of the meet came in an event the Mustangs had been woefully weak in the past few years — diving. Meteyer's squad, in fact, dominated that event, capturing three of the top five places and four of the top nine.

As expected, it was a two-man battle between Northville's Paul Cooper and Canton's Steve Gray. Each diver had won once in competition against each other during the regular season, and Gray commanded the upper edge in the preliminaries.

But it was Cooper's turn in the finals. The Northville senior piled up 333.2 points to Gray's 325.45, giving the Mustangs their first league diving championship since 1976. Gary Beason placed third with 290 points, Dale Fisher fifth with 259 points and Mike Glad ninth with 180 points.

The closest Northville came to winning any other event was in the medley relay. Brady Kramer, Tim Cahill, Russ Gans and Rick Bargert combined for a 1:45.6 clocking to finish .6 seconds behind Canton's Jeff Seippel, Paul Petersen, Ron Hurley and Dave Tanner.

The Mustangs' only other second-place finish came in the breaststroke, where Tim Cahill posted his best time of the year — 1:03.0 — to get the runner-up spot behind Petersen of Canton. Petersen, one of three double individual winners in the finals (he also won the butterfly in a league record-setting 53.5), had a 1:01.9 clocking.

Northville had several third to sixth-place finishers, however. Tim Cahill (2:09.3 in the individual medley), Bargert (51.7 in the 100 freestyle), Kramer (1:01.8 in the backstroke) and Tony Nader (1:06.4 in the breaststroke) were among the team's third-place finishers. Nader's effort was his best ever in the breaststroke, while Bargert's time matched a personal best.

Fourth-place finishers included Russ Gans (200 freestyle), Bargert (50 freestyle) and the freestyle relay team of Beason, Dan McMann, Char Ramsey and Tom Cahill.

Ramsey was one of Northville's two fifth-place finishers with a 5:33.9 clocking in the 500 freestyle, his best ever. Tom Cahill also placed fifth in the 100 freestyle.

Northville's sixth-place finishers included Kramer (individual medley), Cahill (50 freestyle), Gans (butterfly) and McMann (breaststroke).

One of the team's finest efforts of Friday night, though, came in the consolation heat of the breaststroke. Bill Lockwood, who just missed qualifying for the finals with a relatively weak 1:05.5 clocking in the pre-lims, posted his best time of the season — 1:03.8 — to easily win the consolations and place seventh. Cooper also had a surprisingly good effort in the butterfly, placing 12th in an event he'd never swum before this month.

The Mustangs wound up their season with an 8-5 dual meet record overall, 6-2 in the Western Six.

This weekend's Class A state finals marks the end of the swimming season, and unless any Northville divers qualified in last night's regionals at Southfield-Lathrup, Tim Cahill will be the only local swimmer competing. Cahill qualified in the breaststroke.

The team's year-end banquet takes place on Tuesday, April 3.

Meteyer will step down as coach

Ron Meteyer has decided he'll be stepping down as head coach of the Northville swimming team after this weekend's state finals — and this time it's for sure.

Meteyer, who's guided the Mustangs to two Western Six championships, a runner-up spot and a 32-8-1 overall record in his three years at the helm, announced his retirement last year but then returned as coach again, saying he felt that Northville would have to go outside its own school system to get another coach.

After last week's Western Six meet, though, he acknowledged that Assistant Coach Pete Talbot appears ready to take his place. Talbot, a former star swimmer at Northville High himself, became Meteyer's first assistant.

"The big difference between this year and last year is that there's someone in the organization who can take the program over now," Meteyer said, referring to Talbot. "I think he's ready."

Talbot was asked yesterday (Tuesday) whether he'd accept the head coaching job if offered it and he said he would.

Meteyer took over the Northville coaching reins from Ben Lauber, now the school's girls' swimming coach, in 1977. In his rookie season the Mustangs waltzed to a 14-1 dual meet record, a league championship, and a 14th-place finish in the Class A state finals, with the team's medley relay team placing sixth.

The following year Northville went 10-2-1 overall and 7-1 in league meets, losing a one-point meet against Plymouth Canton, and captured its fourth straight Western Six title before slipping to an 8-5 overall mark and a second-place league finish this season.

All-time record set again

In the midst of a record-breaking season Northville Downs established a new record last week by breaking its alltime mark for mutuel handle during a single week.

For the first time in its 36-year history betting hit $3,352,348, an average of $558,725 for six nights of March 5-10.

Recording Secretary Margaret Zayti noted that the increased mutuel handle has also produced the biggest purses for horsemen ever at the Downs.

"We've had six increases in purses this season. And Saturday night the purses were the largest ever at the Downs — $49,100," she reported.

Through last Saturday night, the 60th night of racing in the 84-night meet — mutuel handle at the Downs totalled $27,971,414, an average of $466,190. That's an increase of 17.7 per cent over last year.

Attendance is up 11.9 per cent with 198,461 fans so far this season, an average of 3,308.

Cagers look gutty, but they lose

The tournament trail ended on cue for Northville's basketball team in last week's district semifinals.

But few observers could fault the Mustangs for a lackadaisical effort.

Led by Jeff Norton and Joe Schimpf, the local cagers scrapped and ran and made a contest of it before finally succumbing to a more talented Livonia Franklin unit, 57-54, at Livonia Churchill last Wednesday.

Northville thus ended the season with an 11-11 record overall, including a 51-47 victory over Churchill on Monday's district opener.

Except for one or two key breaks in the waning minutes of the Franklin contest, though, the Mustangs may have been able to lay claim to their first winning season in four years.

Franklin, which had beaten the Mustangs by 15 points earlier in the year, was a solid favorite going into the game. But you wouldn't have known it during the first half.

With Schimpf and Norton leading the way in the first quarter and Mike Wagner coming off the bench to help out in the second, Northville broke out to an early 9-4 advantage, then staved off the Patriots and took a 27-25 lead into the locker room at the half.

Schimpf netted seven points and Norton four to account for all the local team's scoring in the first stanza, which ended with the Mustangs up by one, 11-10.

Franklin jumped ahead at the start of the second period but never led by more than one, thanks in part to Wagner's clutch outside shooting. The junior forward came off the bench to score seven quick points, five of them when the Mustangs were down by a point and in danger of faltering.

Then, after a somewhat sluggish start, Northville went ahead by five late in the third quarter, 40-35, before Franklin began its comeback. While Northville was in a four-minute scoring drought midway through the second half the Patriots reeled off 11 straight points for a 46-40 bulge and they held on the rest of the way.

But the Mustangs never gave up in the final minutes of play. Down by eight points with 3:30 left, they rallied dramatically to tie the score on a basket by Wagner, two straight free throws by Norton and four more by Bob Crisan.

Franklin's Paul Berry hit a long jumper with 45 seconds remaining, though, for what proved to be the game-winning bucket. Northville's last hopes for victory faded when Norton missed a short jumper with five seconds left, and Wagner was called for a foul in the ensuing scramble underneath.

Chris Baker hit the front end of a one-and-one with two seconds showing for the game's final point.

"That's probably the best we've played in at least four or five games," Coach Tim Lutes said in assessing his team's performance afterwards. "Our kids played real well, but they (Franklin) had just enough balance to win it. I think if we could've had one more player in double figures we would've pulled it out."

As it was Norton and Schimpf topped the local club with 18 and 17 points respectively. Wagner added nine while Crisan and Myles Couyoumjian had four each.

Baker, meanwhile, had 18 points to pace the winners. But the key to the Mustangs' surprising first-half performance was the way they shut down Franklin's hot-shooting center.

Baker, who scored 24 points and had 20 rebounds when the two clubs tangled earlier, was double-teamed and managed only seven points plus a handful of rebounds in the first two quarters. He didn't break loose until late in the third stanza, then scored half his points in the final 10 minutes of the contest.

"Joe (Schimpf), Jeff (Norton), Dave (Ward) and Mike (Wagner) did a heckuva job on him," Lutes said of the four players who alternately guarded Baker, adding that Baker is a "great all-around ball player."

But some of his strongest words of praise were reserved for senior guard Myles Couyoumjian.

"He ran the show for us," Lutes said of his 5-9 playmaker. "He did a real good, a real intelligent job of quarter-backing out there, and he played one of his best games defensively."

Couyoumjian picked up four steals and dished out three assists to go along with his four points. Wagner led the team in rebounds with six.

While the Mustangs were only slightly above average in their shooting (44 percent from the field), they were exceptionally mistake-free in their floor play. They committed only nine turnovers.

Franklin's victory advanced the Patriots to last Friday's district finals, where they battled down to the wire before bowing to powerful Livonia Bentley by three points. Franklin wound up 13-9 for the season while Bentley is 20-3.

Northville ended up 11-11 overall and 5-5 in the Western Six Conference, good for third place behind Plymouth Canton and Waterford Mott.

Soccer clinic slated

Registrations are now being taken for the Canton-Northville-Plymouth Family YMCA's soccer coaching and referee clinic, geared particularly for parents who want to work with Little League soccer.

Clinics will take place on March 17, 24 and 31 at Starkweather Elementary School in Plymouth and will be run by Van Dimitriou, head coach at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, and Larry Christoff, head coach at Schoolcraft College.

Fee for each of the clinics, which runs from 10:30 a.m. to noon, is $10 per person. For further information call the 'Y' at 453-2904.

Register for softball

Softball registration gets underway next week for teams who'll be competing in Northville's men's, women's and co-ed recreation leagues this summer.

All returning teams should register next week (March 19-23), while others should sign up the week of March 26-30. Full payment of team fees must be made when registering.

This year's men's league will include 10 American and 10 National Division clubs, while the women's and co-ed circuits will include eight teams each.

The recreation offices are open between 8 a.m. and noon and between 1 and 5 p.m. daily. For further details call the rec department at 349-0203.

for its players and coaches on March 24 at the First Presbyterian Church, located at 200 E. Main Street.

The banquet will take place from 2 to 4 p.m. Anyone interested in helping out at the banquet should call Bruce Griggs at the recreation department, phone 349-0203.

The rec department is still looking for volunteers for its senior citizens shopping program.

The volunteers would be responsible for helping senior citizens carry their groceries from a bus to their homes on Tuesdays between 1 and 2 p.m.

Anyone interested in helping out should call the recreation office at 349-0203.

Coaches are needed for the junior baseball program's Sandy Koufax and Connie Mack leagues this summer.

The Sandy Koufax league involves youngsters aged 14 and under, and adults interested in helping out can call Jim Behen at 349-8709.

The Connie Mack league involves players 18 and under, Dave Mitchell at 420-2463.

The recreation department's junior basketball program will hold a banquet

A meeting of the Northville City and Township Recreation Commission is scheduled for next Wednesday (March 21).

The meeting will take place in the recreation offices beginning at 7:30 p.m.

A baseball clinic for players and coaches in Northville's junior baseball program, featuring University of Michigan head coach Moby Benedict, is slated for this Saturday. Details are listed elsewhere in this section.

Gymnasts fail to place

Northville's two qualifiers at last weekend's regional gymnastics meet in Troy tried but failed in their attempts to qualify for this Saturday's state finals.

Sue Kinnaird, the team's ace vaulter, posted her third-best score of the season in her specialty but still fell far short of placing among the top finishers. Kinnaird, appearing in the regionals for the third straight year, was awarded a 7.4 mark.

Britt Evans, meanwhile, also failed to place among the top finishers in her specialty, floor exercise. Evans had qualified for the regionals by scoring a 7.2 or better four times during the season.

Both girls are seniors.

Jeff Norton

Schimpf, Norton make All-League

For the first time in four years, two Northville players have been selected to the first-team All-Western Six basketball squad.

Joe Schimpf and Jeff Norton, two senior forecourt men who led the Mustangs to a 5-5 record and a third-place finish in the league this season, were among the elite five voted to the team in a balloting of Western Six coaches last Saturday. That marked the first time more than one Mustang has been named to the All-League unit since Scott Leu and Tom Eis made it in 1975.

Schimpf, a 6-3 center and an honorable mention choice last season, led Northville in both scoring and rebounding during conference play this year. He averaged 14.8 points and eight rebounds per game.

Norton, a 6-1 forward, averaged 12.5 points and five rebounds in conference action and was second to Schimpf in both categories.

Other first-team members included senior guards Butch King and Rusty Mandle, both of Plymouth Canton, and senior guard Mike Bryant of Walled Lake Western.

No other Mustang players were named on the second team or honorable mention lists.

The coaches' second-team choices were Tom Schaefer and Mike Miller of Waterford Mott, Dave Turnquist of Farmington Harrison, Ralph Jarrot of Livonia Churchill and Mike Leary of Canton.

Five players were also named honorable mention, including two more cagers from unbeaten league champ Canton.

Ties avoided, 3 league champs are crowned

What do the Hawks, the Titans and the Falcons have in common?

Well, they're all league champions in Northville's youth recreation basketball program, for one thing.

Thanks to an upset in one league and a pair of hard-fought victories by first-place clubs in the other two, potential deadlocks were avoided at the top of all three circuits as the 1979 season came to a close for the rec department's 20 teams.

In the seventh-eighth grade division the Hawks, overcoming a slow start, rallied for a 36-31 triumph over the second-place Badgers to prevent a co-championship in that league. The Hawks had entered the game with a 7-2 record while the Badgers were 6-3, and a victory by the Badgers would have lifted them into a tie for first.

But it wasn't to be. The Hawks went on a 13-4 scoring outburst in the second quarter, wiping out a 13-6 deficit, and took a 19-17 half time lead. They never trailed again.

Ernie Bock topped the winners with 17 points, 13 of them in the last half, while Joe Walker added 10. Scott Bush had nine for the Badgers.

In the other seventh-eighth grade contest the Bullets closed out their season with a 33-25 victory over the Knicks.

Sparked by Steve Peltz and Jay Bartling, the Bullets jumped out to a 15-10 halftime advantage and led all the way. Peltz, Bartling and Fred Bauer, who did all his scoring in the second half, all finished with eight points to top the winners while Scott Gala had 10 points and John Quinn for the Knicks.

A major upset finally decided a season-long race for the fifth-sixth grade championship, meanwhile. And it was a thriller.

The Badgers, getting three big points from Scott Gray in overtime, ruined a brilliant comeback effort and eked out a 31-28 triumph over the Rockets. The Rockets had gone into the contest with an 8-1 record and tied for first place with the Titans.

But, combined with the Titans' 45-25 victory over the Sun Devils, the Badgers successfully deprived their foes of a co-championship, although it was anything but easy.

The winners went on an 11-6 scoring surge in the second quarter to take a commanding 17-8 halftime advantage. Led by Todd Mai, though, the Rockets rallied to within two, 20-18, by the end of the third stanza and then tied things up at 28-28 at the end of regulation.

Gray, however, scored all three points for the Badgers in overtime, including a big basket with seven seconds left, and that was all they needed. The Badgers finished with a 7-3 record.

Gray wound up as the game's leading scorer with 20 points while teammate Russ Parker chipped in six and Kelly Bell five. Mai paced the Rockets with 17 points, 10 of them in the third quarter, while Chris Hauser added seven.

The Titans, meanwhile, used a balance scoring attack in their win over the Sun Devils.

The winners raced out to leads of 12-2 and 25-11 in the first two quarters and never looked back. Bob Guldberg scored 13 points to pace the Titans, whose only loss in 10 games came against the Rockets.

Fred King, Gary Lampela, Matt Peltz and Joel Vogt added seven each for the winners while Tom Ross with 13 points and Scott MacLean with eight topped the Sun Devils.

In last week's other fifth-sixth grade action the Spartans knocked off the Bobcats, 27-20; the Trojans edged the Mustangs, 35-32; and the Bulldogs trimmed the Wolverines, 22-19.

The Spartans crept out to a 19-16

Clinic features 'M' coach

The Wolverines are coming to town, and kids and coaches in Northville's junior baseball program will have a chance to meet them this weekend.

Moby Benedict, head baseball coach at the University of Michigan, and some of his Wolverine players will be the featured instructors at a baseball clinic this Saturday (March 17).

The clinic will take place between 9:30 a.m. and noon at Northville High School, and is open to all coaches and players involved with the local junior baseball program. Other instructors will include Bob Kucher, head baseball coach at Northville High School, and Jim Newman of the junior baseball program.

Benedict, who's been coaching Michigan's baseball team for the past 17 years, has guided the Wolverines to three Big Ten championships, including last year's, and again has a top contender this season.

The clinic will stress the fundamentals of playing and coaching the game. Northville's junior baseball program will be getting underway next month.

Have girls, will travel

A traveling girls' softball team is in the offing in Northville, and organizers are looking for interested players.

The team will be open to all girls who'll be 18 years old or under on August 31 of this year, and will compete in the rapidly growing Inter-Lakes Traveling League.

Registrations will be accepted at the Northville recreation department during the week of March 26 (March 26-30). No fees are to be paid at that time.

The recreation office is located at the corner of Wing and Main Streets and is open between 8 a.m. and noon and between 1 and 5 p.m.

A series of try-outs will then be held in either late April or early May, giving each girl plenty of time to demonstrate her abilities.

Here's our choices

Who's top area volleyball talent?

Power, finesse, team play and all-round skill. These are the vital ingredients on any excellent volleyball squad.

Put these ingredients into one package, mix well and you have the first Sliger Home Newspapers all-area high school volleyball team.

Thirty-two girls from high schools in Howell, Brighton, Pinckney, Hartland, South Lyon, Walled Lake, Novi, Whitmore Lake and Northville have been chosen for first team, second team and honorable mention laurels by sports writers with the aid of area coaches.

Twelve seniors have been selected for first and second team honors.

First team all-area players include Julie Angelcor of Pinckney, Toni Eisinger of South Lyon, Kim Kratz of Northville, Sue Newton of Brighton, Connie Sacco of Walled Lake Western and Delores Thomas of Howell.

On second team all-area are Sheri Alexander of Novi, Sue Huff of Hartland, Fran Lellis of South Lyon, Karen Merrion and Sharon Sredzinski, both of Howell, and Linda Williamson of Brighton.

Player profiles of all first and second team choices follow:

All-area First Team

An excellent all-round athlete, Pinckney's 5-8 senior, JULIE ANGELCOR, was the sparkplug for the Pirates, Ingham County League champions and 12-3 overall.

Already recruited by the University of Detroit for basketball, Angelcor was a dependable 83 percent spiker, including 74 spike aces.

As a setter, Angelcor was even more dependable, placing 96 percent up to her teammates. From the service line, the senior scored 37 aces and as a blocker at the nets she collected 22 blocks for points.

TONI EISINGER, South Lyon's 5-7 senior co-captain, is rated by her coach and opponents as an excellent all-round player.

Known for her hitting prowess, Eisinger led her team in kills with 159 and had an 84 percent spiking efficiency. She was a 91 percent server who paced the Lions in service aces with 99.

South Lyon Coach Sue Feather lauded Eisinger's strong passing, excellent defense and aggressiveness.

"Her aggressive play allows her to get to balls that others would not even try for," Feather said, "and many of her 'errors' have come on plays of this nature."

Leaders remained tied

Sparked by a pair of big first-half efforts, Goat Farm and Wack Pack remained tied atop the men's recreation league basketball loop with convincing victories over Long Plumbing and Little Caesar's last week.

The two clubs thus go into tomorrow (Thursday) night's regular season finales sporting identical 7-2 records.

Goat Farm, led by Ronnie Smith and Mark Lisowski, erupted for 47 points in the opening half on their way to an easy 73-53 victory over winless Long Plumbing. The halftime score was 47-18.

Smith ended up as the game's leading scorer with 23 points, 15 of those coming in the first half, while Lisowski chipped in 21. Howard Inch added 11 and Russ Olsen 10.

Jeff Moon topped Long with 21 points, 17 of them in the second half, while Mark Smolenski tossed in 12 and Stan Nirder seven.

Wack Pack, meanwhile, opened up a 42-18 halftime bulge enroute to an 85-45 triumph over Little Caesar's. The Pack's 85 points represented the highest scoring output of any team this season.

Four players hit double figures for the winners. Hank Bodiya pumped in 28 while Ed McGowen chipped in 14, Howard Boyer 13 and Mark Kleimola 12. Ed Kritch netted 14 points and Tom Eis nine for the losers.

In tomorrow's finales Wack Pack will take on Little Caesar's beginning at 7:30 p.m. while Goat Farm will go against Long Plumbing at 8:30. Both games will take place at Meads Mill.

Lurvey honored at mat banquet

Mike Lurvey, Northville's outstanding senior 119-pound grappler, was honored as most valuable wrestler at the mat team's annual banquet last Wednesday night.

Lurvey, who compiled a 33-11 record on his way to a fourth-place finish in this year's Class A state finals, was one of three Mustangs receiving major awards at the banquet.

Sophomore Steve Platte was honored as Northville's best first-year wrestler while Vilas Allen, a junior, was named the team's most improved wrestler.

There were many reasons why Howell's Highlanders were Capital Circuit, Livingston County, and district tournament champions.

But one of the biggest was DELORES THOMAS who, though sharing spiking responsibilities with teammates Sharon Sredzinski and Donna Grote, Thomas still collected 155 spike aces, put 142 additional spikes in play while committing only 69 errors.

She was equally capable at stopping spikes as she scored 29 points for the Highlanders on blocks.

All-area Second Team

SHERI ALEXANDER, Novi's versatile co-captain, was a vital figure in her team's whirlwind finish this season — the Ladycats won 10 of their last 13 games to close with a 13-10 record and a third place in the Southeastern Conference meet.

The curly-haired senior, an honorable mention choice on this year's All-SEC unit, has been a regular starter on the Ladycat varsity since her sophomore year, and this winter was among the team's top spikers, servers and setters.

She also provided Novi with an asset you can't record on a statistics sheet — leadership.

As far as her coach, Don Barnes, is concerned, Hartland's 5-11 senior, SUE HUFF is unquestionably the strongest spiker in the area. He makes a convincing argument.

Of her 283 spikes, an amazing 179 were aces. That's more than Howell's Thomas or Pinckney's Angelcor.

The Eagles posted a 9-6 record on the season including a second-round loss to Fenton in the district tournament. Hartland, however, was 6-0 in league play with two games to go last week and apparently destined to win the Five-County-Five championship.

FRAN LELLIS, South Lyon's 5-9 senior co-captain, combines strength and versatility. In short, she can do it all.

In her four years as a varsity starter, Lellis has played the setter and hitter positions in near flawless fashion.

South Lyon Coach Sue Feather describes Lellis as "an extremely strong outside blocker, and her front-line play is always smart and often spectacular."

Feather rates Lellis as the team's best server, combining power with consistency.

But her greatest asset is her ballhandling ability, Feather said. "She sets the ball extremely well," the coach said, "and one college scout has told us that she is just the kind of ballhandler that is needed at the college level."

For Howell, KAREN MERRION served in that capacity, setting up spikes for her teammates not less than 614 times. Only 23 times all season did a set go awry. With the 5-4 senior's help as a setter, Howell went 13-1 and won the Capital Circuit, Livingston County and district tournament crowns.

Besides being a potent server (she, as well as teammate Dawn Jeffrey, had 54 service aces this season), SHARON SREDZINSKI was a very capable net and back-court player for the 13-1 Howell Highlanders this season.

She made 195 passes to the setter, safely received 132 serves and put up 51 sets.

Meanwhile, up at the front line, the 5-6 senior belted 141 spike aces and blocked 17 shots for the Highlanders.

LINDA WILLIAMSON, Brighton's 5-8 senior, culminated her third year on the Bulldogs' varsity volleyball squad as team captain and a valuable asset to her team's second-place finish in the league.

She filled her role as the team's number two hitter as she pounded 181 spikes past opponents and passed the ball 352 times, "which is quite a few times," says her coach, Carol Van Sickle.

halftime lead, then outscored the Bobcats 7-2 in the third quarter for their seventh victory against three losses. Dave Denhof led the winners with 18 points while Paul Newitt had eight for the Bobcats. The Trojans had to go into overtime for their victory. After the Mustangs had rallied from an eight-point deficit to tie things up at 32-32 in regulation, Christ Dominique scored his only basket of the game and Doug May tossed in a free throw to win it for the Trojans.

May wound up as the Trojans' leading scorer with 17 points while Doug Hartman added eight. Todd Thomas, who's been averaging almost 25 points per game since the third week of the season, led the Mustangs with 24 points.

The Bulldogs rallied from a 14-7 halftime deficit for their triumph. Kirk Morrison topped the winners with six points while Dave Hall and Ken Slatery added five each. Rob Cannon with eight points and Don Norton with six paced the Wolverines.

In third-fourth grade action, meanwhile, the Falcons clinched a long-awaited league championship with a 26-16 victory over the powerful Vikings.

The Vikings went into the contest with a 7-2 record, one game behind the 8-1 Falcons, and a chance to earn a share of the title. And for two quarters it appeared that just might happen.

Led by Don Hubbard and Matt Mai, though, the Falcons stormed back from a 12-8 halftime deficit and went on a 16-4 scoring rampage in the third quarter. Mai topped both clubs with 10 points while Hubbard and Dave Nadeau added six each. Doug Martin netted 10 for the Vikings.

Despite the loss, two Viking cagers got a special treat from the crowd for their efforts during the contest — and throughout the season, for that matter. Dawn Kucher and Roxanne Serkaian, two girls who rank among the league's most aggressive players, received a standing ovation.

The Cougars, meanwhile, climbed into sole possession of second place with a 15-4 victory over the Spartans. The winners shot out to an 8-2 halftime lead and were never threatened. Sean McLaughlin with eight points and Susan Schraeder with four paced the Cougars.

In the other third-fourth grade contest the Wolverines took advantage of a 7-2 scoring outburst in the first quarter to post a 15-13 victory over the Warriors. Doug Ayers dumped in six points, five of them in the first quarter, to pace the winners while Steve Ruschak added four. Darren Brewer had seven points and Brad Metz four for the Warriors.

Year-end loss costs cagers

Northville's junior varsity basketball squad may not have won the Western Six crown this season, but the Mustangs' games were far from being dull.

Each of the team's last four contests were decided by three points or less, including three league games.

Unfortunately Northville lost two of those league games — one in overtime against Livonia Churchill and one in the season finale against Plymouth Canton — and the results left them in almost an identical situation as the year before.

Both times the Mustangs were in the running for a league title going into their season finale, and both times they lost tight games to finish in a tie for second behind Plymouth Canton.

This year the local cagers, after losing a 57-54 decision to Canton in their final game, wound up 6-4 in the league and 15-5 overall, compared to their 7-3 and 16-4 marks in 1978.

Duke DuSablón led the team in practically every statistical category this season, including points scored and rebounds. He averaged 22.3 points and 11.6 rebounds per game.

The sophomore center also topped the club in field goal (56 percent) and free throw (68 percent) shooting percentage as well as number of jump balls forced (13).

Dave Greer was Northville's second-leading scorer with a 13.5 point average while Greg May, who hit at an 8.5 point clip, was third. Gary Kucher led the club in both assists (50) and steals (60).

As a team the Mustangs, coached by Omar Harrison, averaged over 63 points per game this season while limiting opponents to only 52.

Athletes of the week

RICK BARGERT

BILL LOCKWOOD

Coach Ron Meteyer calls them "the two hardest-working guys on the team," and their efforts have paid off for Northville's swimming squad. Rick Bargent, Northville's ace freestyler, and Bill Lockwood, the Mustangs' long-time backstroke, capped a pair of outstanding seasons by coming through with impressive performances in the finals of last week's Western Six swimming meet. Bargent, who's won more freestyle races than any other Northville swimmer this year, placed third in the 100-yard freestyle races than any other Northville swimmer this year, placed third in the 100-yard freestyle with a 51.7 clocking, matching his personal best, and added a fourth-place finish in the 50 freestyle as well as anchoring Northville's second-place medley relay unit. Lockwood, who's been used in a variety of events depending on where the Mustangs need a reliable swimmer, turned in a strong 1:08.8 clocking to win the consolation finals of the backstroke.

Northville-Noviciers bow out of Adray playoffs

Northville-Novici's hopes of winning post-season honors in the Adray Community Hockey League playoffs went up in smoke last week.

Unable to win either of their last two games after opening up with a pair of victories, the local midget AA icers finished in a three-way tie for first place in a five-team, round-robin tournament involving Blue Division clubs and were eliminated from further competition on the basis of their fewer goals total.

Northville ended up 2-1-1 in the Blue Division playoffs, tying them with Farmington and Flint for first place. Only two teams can qualify for the playoff up with a 4-2 triumph over Farmington, with Horst banging home two goals and Knauer and Todd Vincent one each this time.

Their troubles began against Flint a week and a half ago (March 4). After edging out to a 2-1 lead on goals by David Braeseker and Mike Shingler, the local squad folded in the final five minutes of the game, giving up three quick goals and suffering a 4-2 setback.

Then, with a chance to sew up a finalist berth last Thursday, Northville-Novici failed to hang onto a 1-0 first-period lead and tied Lakeland, 1-1.

Rich Pattison scored the local icers' lone goal on assists from Vincent and Mike Zdanowski 11 minutes into the game. Lakeland, however, knotted things up early in the second period and that's the way it stayed.

Last Sunday (March 11) Northville-Novici recorded their ninth tie of the season when they deadlocked Sterling Heights in a non-league match-up, 1-1.

Both goals came in the first five minutes of the game. Shingler scored on an assist from Knauer with just 1:03 gone, but Sterling Heights retaliated a minute and a half later.

Despite the team's recent misfortunes, their overall record still stands at 30-15-9 this season, and Northville-Novici has been rated by the Hockey Weekly as the fifth-best Midget AA club in the state over the past two weeks.

Plans film program

Legion aids Reye's disease fight

Alarmed at the increasing number of cases in the Detroit metropolitan area of Reye's Syndrome, a lethal children's disease affecting mainly the liver and brain, the Northville American Legion Post 147 is joining the state organization and Reye's Research to publicize symptoms.

A film program on Reye's Syndrome is planned for 8 p.m. April 24 at the post home at 100 Dunlap.

Carol Emsley of the Legion auxiliary, who is assisting in the project, warns that the disease is known to strike after a viral illness, such as the flu or chickenpox.

Parents are asked to watch for the following warning signs: extreme tiredness, persistent vomiting, dilated pupils, listlessness, personality changes, disorientation and convulsions.

Unless successfully treated, Mrs. Emsley states, death can follow within three to four days in a previously healthy child. Age affected is from a few months old to adolescence.

The Legion representatives say they are launching the information drive at this time as cases occur with greatest frequency the early months of the year and the illness seems to favor suburban and rural areas.

Sudden, persistent vomiting is almost often the first sign. Soon after the child may become totally irrational, screaming and striking out and unable to recognize family members or familiar faces.

Forensic team's third at Brighton

Carla Tibble spent a lot of time this season telling her Northville High School forensics team not to expect any team trophies.

After all, the team is only two years old and, with 18 members, isn't all that big.

So it was not unusual that she was trying to make sure all of her team was on the bus rather than listening to the final standings as an invitational tournament ended in Brighton Saturday. But her kids heard the good news. Northville had finished third among the 25 teams — good enough for the team's first trophy.

"I was in a state of shock," Mrs. Tibble said Monday. "I'm still in shock. It's really neat. The kids worked hard."

The team trophy "is really super because every participant on the team contributed to the final score."

More than half of Northville's team advanced to the semi-finals, apparently providing enough points for the high finish.

Three students earned third-place honors.

Senior Tony Han was third in extemporaneous speaking, Kelly Schulz, a junior was third in serious reading and Neal Young, also a junior, was third in humorous reading.

Plymouth Salem was first and North Farmington second.

That was Northville's last chance for a team trophy.

In a week and a half, the team will participate in district competition. Two entries in each area of competition are allowed to enter.

Two graduate from Ferris

Two Northville persons have been awarded degrees at Ferris State College with the completion of the fall quarter.

They are: John W. Bro, 21058 Lujon Drive, bachelor of science in environmental health, and William H. Schueler, 37907 Rhonswood, bachelor of science in business administration.

Former Standard station at Main and Church will be home of Gitfiddler Music Store

Thomas Rice, owner of the Gitfiddler music shop at 339 North Center, is getting ready to expand his business for the second time.

He first opened the shop six years ago on the east side of Center, growing later to his present, rented location.

Rice last week told the Northville City Planning Commission he is purchasing the former Standard station at the southeast corner of Main and Church to increase the business from 250 to 500 students a week. The shop also sells musical instruments.

When he moves to the new location after it is remodeled this spring, Rice said, he expects to have seven studios and a like number of teachers.

Parking for both staff and music students and landscaping were immediate concerns of the planners. James Cutler asked to abstain from the discussion and voting as he stated he was an interested party.

After Rice told the commission that he plans to develop the building with an old-west theme "like my kind of Blue Grass music," the commission informed him that it would be necessary for him first to appear before the Northville Historic District Commission for building approval.

It was determined last year that any building in the historic district would receive the architectural approval from the historic district commission rather than the planning commission.

City Planning Consultant Ronald Nino brought his recommendations to the meeting. He suggested a revised parking plan to provide six instead of seven parking spaces, but with front and side landscaping.

Some of the commissioners did not agree with Nino that there should be fewer parking spaces and indicated that his altered plan could cause problems as some cars would have to back up to exit from the area.

It was pointed out that parents bringing children for lessons that last a half-hour will be able to park in public downtown lots.

Commissioner Lesa Buckland said that parents now usually wait as they are too far from town to do other shopping in the limited time. She suggested they probably would do in-town errands from the new location.

Chairman C. Thomas Wheaton said he personally favored having the seven spaces as the teachers and Rice would need at least that many without provision for students.

Stewart Kissinger, in the interest of landscaping, went the other way and questioned whether three spaces could not be eliminated to provide more greenbelt.

Nino then suggested the possibility of leaving a greenbelt fronting on Main but removing it on the side street. Since the planners do not have legal authority to change requirements, wheaton informed Rice that he will have to go before the board of appeals for any variances. Nino recommended denying plans as presented.

"Whatever you do (to the building) is bound to be an improvement," Wheaton told the applicant. His feeling was echoed by other commissioners who told Rice that they are in no way trying to delay his remodeling.

Rice said he was disappointed not to be able to proceed immediately with plans drawn up by Ron G. Myers and Associates, designers. Myers attended the session with Rice. Rice said he purchased the station a month and a half ago from Standard Oil.

1979 brings out another batch of talent

Tim Murphy, Whitmore Lake guard

Area cagers are honored

The Sliger Home Newspapers area has never been known as a high school basketball haven.

Every winter, though, a bundle of exceptional individuals can be found on the local courts, making it awfully difficult to choose an All-Area squad without leaving a few very talented players off it.

And 1979 is no exception.

This year's fifth annual dream team — selected by sportswriters from the Brighton Argus, Northville Record, South Lyon Herald and Novi-Walled Lake News — is flooded with big, high-scoring, dominating forecourt men. Top-notch forwards extend right down through our honorable mention picks, and that made it downright perplexing separating them from each other.

But there was little doubt about the selection of Howell's Jon Mack to our first team. Mack became only the second player to ever receive first-team All-Area honors two years in a row. The 6-4 senior forward was the area's leading scorer with 22 points per game, leading board man with 15 rebounds per game, and among the leaders in steals (five per game) and assists (four per game).

Other players selected to the first team included Henry Morley of Brighton, Dwayne Ridenour of Novi, Mike Bryant of Walled Lake Western and Tim Murphy of Whitmore Lake. Our second team choices were Dave Pisha and Chris Giorgio of Novi, Craig Bachelor of Brighton, Joe Schimpf of Northville and Joe Yoder of Pinckney.

Following the precedent set during the girl's basketball season, this year's All-Area squad also has a third team, which includes Mike Quanton of Howell, Mike Donovan of Brighton, Harry Nichols of Walled Lake Central, Alan Pittel of Hartland and Mike Hyde of South Lyon.

Howell, Brighton and Novi were the only three clubs to post winning records this season and, as might be expected, they dominated the All-Area selections. Four players from each of those schools received mention.

But if one of those had to be chosen as a team of the year — well, we just wouldn't know where to start. Brighton was the area's only league champion, waltzing to a 16-4 overall record and the Southeastern Conference title with a convincing victory over Milan on the final day of the regular season.

Howell, though, matched the Bulldogs' 16-4 record, and while the Highlanders only finished tied for second in the Capitol Circuit they were one of only three teams to knock off Brighton during the regular season.

Novi was one of the other two — and the Wildcats did it twice, romping to 20 and eight-point victories. Despite that, Novi finished only third in the SEC, but posted its best basketball record ever in the school's 12-year history by going 13-7 overall.

So how do you decide who's the best among 'em? By putting them in the same league, and that's exactly what'll happen next winter when the three become part of the newly-formed Kensington Valley Conference. Should be quite a season.

Jon Mack, Howell forward

Mike Bryant, Walled Lake Western guard

Here's the cream of our '79 crop

There may have been better rebounders than JON MACK. There may have been better shooters. There may have been better defensive players.

"But as an all-around athlete," said Coach Jerry Johnson, "he's got to be the best I've ever coached."

That's quite a compliment from Johnson, in his ninth year at the helm in Howell.

Mack, for the second year in a row an All-Area pick, played not only forward, but guard and center on occasion for the Highlanders, 16-4 in the regular season and second in the Capital Circuit.

He jumped center. He brought the ball downcourt against the press. He wrestled for rebounds. He led the team in scoring. He did everything Johnson asked of him and more.

Shooting 45 percent from the field, Mack averaged over 22 points per game. In rebounding he averaged 15 per game. On top of that he helped out with four assists and five steals per game.

Although Mack has reportedly committed himself to a cage career at Grand Valley State Johnson believes he has the potential to be a Big Ten guard.

DWAYNE RIDENOUR was one of Novi's two big men in the forecourt this season, and also one of the primary reasons that the Wildcats enjoyed their most successful basketball years ever.

Playing on a very well-balanced ball club, the 6-4 senior led his team in scoring with 13.5 points per game and pulled down 13.6 rebounds, an average of over 10 per game. He shot a remarkable 53.6 percent from the floor, tops in the entire area, and added 26 assists.

But one of his biggest assets was his defensive play. Ridenour, named to the

A friend of mine bought one of those big unabridged dictionaries, hoping his young son would use it and increase his vocabulary.

A few weeks later I met him and asked if his son had been using the dictionary.

"No," he admitted, "but I dropped it on my foot the other day — and he learned three new words!"

Tina and her brother Joey were strolling down the midway at a carnival.

"I can't decide," said Joey, "— should I go to the mind reader, or the palm reader?"

"Skip the mind reader," said Tina, "You've definitely got a palm!"

Novi, Brighton, Howell players dominate

ALL-SEC first team, was particularly quick at getting back on defense for a big man, and constantly intimidated opponents, as witnessed by his team-leading 40 blocked shots. Coach Ron Flutur considers him one of the most aggressive players he's coached.

HENRY MORLEY pushed his 6-5 frame inside enough times this year to pull down an average of 16 rebounds per game to lead the SEC champion Brighton Bulldogs in this category. Along with his boarding strength, Morley chipped in 13 points per game at his forward position and has been a starter for the past two years.

One shudders to think where the Wall-ed Lake Western cagers would have finished this year without senior guard MIKE BRYANT. As it was, the Warriors triumphed just five times this season, losing on 15 occasions. But that certainly wasn't Bryant's fault. The 5-10, 165-pound mainstay led the team in scoring this winter, averaging around 17 points per game. Included in that steady performance was a season-high 29 points in a winning effort over Farmington Harrison a couple of weeks back. Mike also lit up the nets for 29 points against Brighton, and canned 20 against Plymouth Canton. Bryant did more than just score, however. In his three-year starting stint at Western, he has distinguished himself as an unselfish player, always alert to pass the ball off to an open teammate. He averaged three assists per game this season and was the team's third-leading rebounder, figures that would undoubtedly have been higher had he not been called on to handle most of the scoring load.

TIM MURPHY did a little bit of everything and a lot of scoring for Whitmore Lake High's basketball squad this season. A 6-1 senior guard, Murphy averaged 19.3 points a game and topped the 30-point mark on four occasions this winter.

Murphy saved his best for last, as he scored a season-high 35 points in a district tournament game last week. Even that wasn't enough, however, as the Trojans lost by one point in overtime.

Statistically, Murphy finished the season with 77 assists, 82 rebounds and 72 steals. He shot 43 percent from the field and 70 percent from the foul line.

While his statistics are impressive, they don't tell the whole story about Murphy's contribution to his team.

"Tim's been our leader," Whitmore Lake Coach Bob Henry said. "He's the man we go to when we need points. He runs our offense. And he's our big play man on defense."

"At the start of the season, Tim was trying to do too much, but since the Christmas break he has been very consistent for us. He's really improved over last year."

When JOE SCHIMPF began coming around at mid-season, Northville's basketball team received a breath of fresh life. The 6-3 senior center and forward, who sat out the first five games because of a high school rules violation the year before (playing recreation basketball), became the Mustangs' team leader on the floor by the end of the season.

Despite a slow start he finished as Northville's leading scorer with 14.3 points per game, leading rebounder with seven per game, and second-leading shooter with a 49 percent accuracy rate from the field and over 75 percent from the free throw line.

He twice hit for 29 points in a game, and when the Mustangs found themselves collapsing in their district opener last week he came through with a series of key buckets to turn the game around and lead Northville to victory. Schimpf was also a first team All-League selection.

Primarily designated as the sixth man when the season began, CRAIG BACHELOR jumped into a starting role when teammate Rich Close separated his shoulder back in December.

Since that time, Bachelor has averaged around 15 points per game in his role as a scorer on the Bulldog squad. His added size effectively gave Brighton a three-forward offense.

An early-season injury was the only thing that slowed NOVI'S DAVE PISHA down this year. Opponents certainly couldn't.

Sidelined for five games by a recurring ankle injury, Pisha pulled down only half as many rebounds as he did in his school record-setting junior year — but he still led the team with an average of 12 per game.

The Wildcats' senior center-forward, in fact, had another outstanding season all around. He was Novi's third-leading scorer with 11.2 points per game, second-leading assists man with three per game, and he had 15 blocked shots to boot.

He was also a very accurate shooter, hitting 47.5 percent from the floor. Capping a brilliant career at Novi — which included first-team All-Area honors last year — he was named to the All-SEC second team.

When it came to shooting in the clutch, there weren't many players better than CHRIS GIORGIO this season.

Novi's 6-1 senior guard consistently pumped in key baskets with his outside shooting, and was the team's second-leading scorer with 12 points per game. He was also a remarkably accurate free throw shooter. After starting slowly he came on late to average 77.3 percent from the charity stripe, and in one late-season span dumped in 34 of 35 tries.

Giorgio also had a school record-setting 107 assists during the regular season, led Novi in steals with 45, and was a second-team All-League selection.

The Most Valuable player on the Pirates this season, JOE YODER led in scoring with 16.6 per game. It's the second straight year that he has grabbed his team's scoring honors.

When Pinckney needed a basket, more often than Yoder provided it.

Builders Show

More gardens to greet crowd

Spring makes its entry in classic splendor at Cobo Hall Saturday, March 17, when the Builders Home, Furniture and Flower Show bursts upon winter-weary Detroiters.

A full third larger than in prior years and with more sponsored gardens than ever before, the traditional show will open at 1 p.m. on St. Patrick's Day, which will be suitably recognized in song and symbol at the opening ceremony.

James Raisin, president of the sponsoring Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, will share honors with civic dignitaries in cutting a garland of green blossoms to open the 61st version of the event, long recognized as the biggest attraction at Cobo Hall in any year. Last year, a record 635,000 persons saw it.

Showgoers will be greeted by a spectacular windmill, brought over from Holland, Michigan, appropriately centering masses of tulips as an introduction to the formal presentation of The Allied Florists Association and the Florists' Transworld Delivery Association.

Beyond will be seven acres of exhibits on the new, and novel and the needed, plus gardens that will have to be seen to be believed.

"Flowers, flowers, flowers is the best way to describe our gardens this year," said James C. Scott, the show's landscape architect for many years.

In all, there will be 12 sponsored gardens compared to a maximum of seven in prior years. As always, biggest of all will be that of the Detroit Recreation Department, 3,000 square feet of water area including a dramatic waterfall, and hundreds of square feet of plantings, decks and plazas.

Art for the home will be very big, for a preliminary count showed seven different exhibits, two of which will have artists at work painting. Entertainment exhibits will cover home music systems, special TV equipment, organs and pianos. Solar energy will be spotlighted by such exhibitors as Detroit Edison Company, and new home services will be featured by Michigan Bell Telephone Company. Modernization too will be very big.

Many exhibitors will have active how-to demonstrations, an approach stressed in Church's Gaslight Village, where a village square will be a focal point for many activities. Action also will be evident at a centrally-located stage where special events are being scheduled for throughout the nine days. Show hours will be from 1 to 11 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays. On both Sundays, the doors will open at 10 a.m., and on the first Sunday, March 18, will remain open until 11 p.m. On the last Sunday, closing will be 9 p.m. after a special two-hour sale of plantings and flowers.

At the door, adult tickets cost $2.75. Senior citizen tickets are $1 and those for children 6-12 cost 75 cents. Adult door tickets have only a single entry for the nail contest which has been a feature of the show for many years.

A plastic house of nails has been filled with thousands of nails of all sizes and is on view in the main lobby of First Federal Savings at Woodward and Michigan downtown. It will remain there until it is moved to Cobo Hall for the start of the show St. Patrick's Day. Entries in the nail contest must be deposited in a box in the Idea Home Exhibit.

After the show, auditors will break the seal, count the nails and determine who wins the $20,000 grand prize.

Poet's Corner

The Challenge

Walking down the street with grim determination and somewhere to go
Speeding blocks away in earnest haste
And trenched in thoughts of things to do
I met a young man
He was almost as good looking as me
What a chump
Then the challenge
"Hey, ... what's happening?"
Comment:
Whether it was threat or promise remains to be seen
Counter punch and cruise
Like aiming without looking Like food for thought without cooking
Like light without day
Like alright with enough
The kid was tough
Hanging tough with gritty stuff

Yesterday's Memories

Today as I stood watching at the birds out on the grass
My thoughts began to wander through the yesterdays of past.

Of gurgling laughs and happy eyes
That could change so fast from shy to sly.
Of little legs that kicked beach balls and rode small trikes and took big falls.
Of clever little words that he said especially the ones when he'd get mad.
Of locked up freezers and bedroom doors no more pulling out dresser doors.
Of playpens where he hated to stay
"Get me out of here, right away!"
With bowls on his head and toys in his arms this cunning little boy had lots of charms.

So it is easy to see just why so many of us fell in love with this guy.

Yesterday is over now but the memories still are clear
Of a little boy we all adored
but lost last year to heaven's door.

Anti-flu drug given clean bill of health

Something can be done about the flu.

This was the principal finding of a report by University of Michigan researchers who have given a clean bill of health to a seldom used anti-flu drug. They found it to be 70 percent effective in preventing Type-A flu and/or its symptoms. Type-A is the most prevalent and serious type of the viral disease.

The new U-M study, reported in the current (March 9) issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, confirms earlier disputed research on Amantadine — a drug which was approved in 1966 as an anti-flu medication, but little used because of criticism of studies of its effectiveness.

The new U-M research, a rigidly controlled, double-blind placebo study, shows Amantadine works well and has minimal, easily recognized side effects, according to the principal author of the research report, Arnold Monto, M.D., professor of epidemiology, U-M School of Public Health.

Co-authors of the study with Dr. Monto are Robert A. Gunn, M.D., Mark G. Bandyk, M.S., and Christopher L. King, M.S. All but Dr. Gunn are with U-M. He is an epidemic intelligence officer of the Center for Disease Control, Atlanta, Ga.

The scientists conducted their research, funded by the National Institutes of Health, during an outbreak of Russian Flu one year ago at the U-M. A total of 286 student volunteers participated.

All were well at the start of the study and half were given the two-pill-a-day flu medication (Amantadine) and the other half placebo (inactive) pills. The researchers were not told which students had the real medicine until the code on the pill packages was broken at the end of the six-week study.

Of the students taking the real drug, a statistical 70 percent protection rate was found. In actual numbers, Dr. Monto said, of the 136 students given Amantadine, 23 or 16.9 percent had clinically confirmed cases of Russian JAMES E. CAMPBELL, who serviced Automobile Club of Michigan members in Livingston County for the last 24 years, has been named manager of Auto Club's Plymouth office, effective April 1.

JAMES CAMPBELL

Campbell, employed by Auto Club in 1955 as a sales representative for the Livingston County area, headed the club's Brighton-Howell offices the last 17 years. The present Livingston County office is located at 8491 East Grand River Avenue in the Brighton Mall.

An active participant in Livingston County community affairs, he was named 1977 "Citizen of the Year" by the Howell Chamber of Commerce.

"Despite my transfer, I will continue to be involved in civic activities in the Howell-Brighton area," Campbell said.

He is vice chairman of the McPherson Community Health Center's Board of Trustees and chairman of the center's long-range planning committee. He has been active in establishing a health center clinic in Brighton.

Previously serving as president of the Howell Junior Chamber of Commerce, Campbell twice received the "Key Man Award" from the Howell Jaycees. He founded and directed the Howell Parks Foundation and the Howell Area Junior Baseball Association, as well as the Paul Bennett Youth Foundation in Howell. He served four years as trustee on the Howell Board of Education.

MARINE PAINTINGS and collector prints of James Clary will be exhibited along with scrimshaw and marine artifacts at the Art Gallery Inc. of 459 South Main Plymouth March 22-25, the owner, Carol Swienkowski of Northville has announced.

A champagne open house will be held 7-9 p.m. on March 22 to launch the show. The show will be continued on Friday, March 23 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, March 24 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and it will conclude on Sunday, March 25 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Clary will be in attendance at The Art Gallery during these hours to discuss his art and marine history.

"Michigan's highly respected marine artist Clary has created three marine historical collections. These limited editions, signed and numbered fine prints are created with ardent affection and respect for the sea, for its ships, and those who sailed them," Mrs. Swienkowski said.

"Clary developed his interest in nautical lore during childhood years spent along the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers. Relying on extensive reading, research, and experience, he brings to his work the most accurate possible interpretation of each ship. His dedication to detail and accuracy has earned Jim Clary renown among collectors and historical institutions throughout the country."

Mr. and Mrs. Aruffo flanked their rug display at the Northville store

LOCATED in Northville for just over one year, the owner of Aruffo's Custom Floorcovering Company reports a "gratifying response from the community" since moving to the Northville Plaza shopping center on West Seven Mile in Northville Township.

Owner and president, Ernie Aruffo and his father established the business in Detroit in 1936.

Of his location in Northville, Aruffo says, "Our residents are concerned and involved in maintaining the fine heritage of stability and responsibility established by the founding fathers, making the area one of the most attractive in the entire southeast section of our state."

Custom designing is a major function of the firm, which allows a variety of patterns, designed by Mrs. Aruffo, to be color coordinated by the buyer and made into any size and shape. Rugs also can be made to match wallpaper or drapery patterns, facilitating the flow of a decorating theme.

The firm also will incorporate the customer's own design, such as a manufacturing logo or hobby-related subject, into a rug for the wall as well as the floor. One such rug was made for Larry Fleming of Thompson Brown Real Estate in which a picture of a 1931 Buick was duplicated for the antique car buff.

Aruffo's daughter, Patricia, an artist in Mt. Pleasant, expands the family tradition by making rugs as art forms. Many of her designs have won awards in juried art fairs throughout the state. Several of her designs are displayed at the Northville store.

DOUGLAS D. SWISS, a Northville High School graduate, has been cited for outstanding service in 1978 for the Jack Demsey Agency in Ann Arbor where he is an agent with the Bankers Life Insurance Company.

DOUGLAS SWISS

Honored at a company meeting in Los Angeles, California, he was presented Honor Council status placing him in the top four percent of all company agents. The award is based on a high degree of professional service extended clients in the Ann Arbor area.

Swiss joined Jack Demsey Associates in 1975 and has provisionally qualified for membership in the Million Dollar Round Table for three out of the last four years. The Million Dollar Round Table is the top three percent of all life insurance people in the world.

Swiss spoke recently to the Detroit Association of Life Underwriters, titling his speech, "Steps to Success."

Swiss is an active member of the University of Michigan Alumni Association, the University of Michigan Dugout Club, the Washtenaw Life Underwriters Association, and the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce.

Graduated from the University of Michigan in 1972, he played with the Detroit Tigers Baseball Club and later served for two years as assistant coach at the U-M.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swiss, now residing in Harbour Springs.

JANE M. LOVELACE of Realty World in Union Lake has been cited by the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR) for surpassing the $2 million mark in home sales and listings during 1978.

WWOCBR President John Cole reported that Million Dollar Club members from 30 communities enabled the organization and its multi-list subsidiary to exceed all previous annual records.

The average for the WWOCBR's members during the year was 4.93 sales with a value of some $215,000. Those figures include a number of part-time sales persons.

Some 358 WWOCBR members surpassed the $1 million mark in sales, including eight from Walled Lake, six from Novi, and five from Union Lake.

WWOCBR members in Walled Lake who joined the Million Dollar Club were Carolyn Trites and James Scowley of Earl Keim of the Lakes; Penelope Nelson and Kathryn Hamilton of Niebauer Realty; and Dorothy Mankvitz, Joseph Mankvitz, Delores Heck, and Barbara Erickson of Century 21-Janisse Matheson.

WWOCBR members in Novi who joined the Million Dollar Club were Frank Hibberd, Doreen Jayko, Madelyn Rice, Thomas Sumiec, and Felix Superfisky, Jr., of Rymal Synes and Morville Lenover of Century 21-Novl.

WWOCBR members in Union Lake who joined the Million Dollar Club were Ellen Orlop and Peter Orlop of Century 21-Cedar Shores; Bradford Glasson of Earl Keim Realty-Union Lake; William England of England Real Estate Company; and Ada Baker of Century 21 of the Lakes.

Flu drug gets okay

Flu. In the unprotected placebo group, 52 of 139 students or 37.4 percent became ill with flu.

"We have concluded that Amantadine is safe and effective in preventing the current Russian Flu Type-A Influenza, as it has been proved effective in the past against other Type-A strains," Dr. Monto said. What this means is that there is a good, short-term medication available now to prevent Type-A Flu.

Real flu is not to be taken lightly, Dr. Monto emphasized. "It is a serious disease. Many 'colds' and other infections are called 'the flu,' but Type-A flu, which causes two thirds of actual influenza, is a very debilitating condition.

"It puts most healthy people in bed for several days and they suffer from weakness for weeks afterward. In the elderly or chronically ill, with heart or lung disease, it can easily progress to pneumonia and, too often, death," he said.

The ultimate flu weapon, the U-M scientist emphasized, will be a broad-spectrum, long-term vaccine which combats most strains.

Psychologist prescribes for happiness

By JEAN DAY

Humor was the sugar coating, but the injection was basic psychology as Dr. Murry Banks kept a packed Northville Town Hall audience laughing last Thursday morning when he presented nine rules as a recipe for living. The New York psychologist used jokes and showmanship in generous measure to illustrate his talk, "So You Think You're Normal," at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. He is the first speaker to be invited to return in the 18 years town hall has been in existence. Chairman Florence Booms mentioned as she introduced Dr. Banks. As it did 12 years ago, his lecture focused on good mental health. "No matter how complicated the reasons," Dr. Banks began, "the psychologist knows you expect more happiness from what you do, or you wouldn't do it. Whatever you do shows something about you, and the psychologist is the one who tries to figure out what you mean. "So many people think they can find happiness in another person," he continued, stressing that "happiness must be found inside yourself. The person who knows how to meet and adjust to problems realizes that it is not the problem but your adjustment that makes you what you are.

"This way you can meet equally your sorrows as well as your joys." The speaker emphasized that health, money, love, fame or fortune do not alone produce happiness.

"If it were health," he said, "then every person who passes his physical would be happy. If it were money, then every millionaire automatically would be happy. Then, riddle me this, why did Marilyn Monroe who had money, fame and fortune kill herself and why did Hemingway and Freddy Prinze blow their brains out?"

He continued, "It is the untroubled heart that lets you enjoy what you've got."

Saying that no one is ever born happy or unhappy any more than a person is born a criminal or polite, Dr. Banks declared this is "why I advise every child to make a careful selection of parents."

He then seriously told his audience that "parents should never give children extra love, attention or toys when they are sick if they don't want to teach them to be sick — that's how people learn how to be good hypochondriacs. Spoil them at any other time."

Dr. Banks called the behavior of those who crawl into a shell when life hands them a dirty deal "turtle behavior" and said that's what the insane do.

Saying he never saw a case of insanity among those who used his nine-point recipe for living, Dr. Banks listed the ingredients:

1. "Do you know how to make the most of what you've got?" Happiness, he said, depends on a person's being happy with what he has.

2. "Do you know how to stay forever young?" Youth, he stated, is not measured by the calendar but by mental and emotional age. He pointed out that the average of 100 insane persons is 21 years old.

3. "The well-adjusted person sets up interesting goals in life." When one goal is accomplished, Dr. Banks continued, the happy person then sets up another. This gives feelings of esteem and worth. "We all want applause," he observed.

4. Live each day as if it is your last on earth — and one day you'll be right." The psychologist declared, "A day you do not live you are never going to live again."

5. "When life hands you lemon, make lemonade. Eddie Cantor lost every cent in the 1929 crash but didn't jump out of a window. He wrote a joke book, 'Caught Short.' Your happiness never depends on what the world does to you, but on how you look at it."

6. "The well-adjusted person knows above all how to live with himself."

7. "The well-adjusted person is never a perfectionist. When you have done your best and receive criticism on your meal or the wallpaper, how do you feel? We both know you can never please everyone." Dr. Banks mentioned that both Saks and Corvette do millions of dollars worth of business each year, but "they aren't trying to please the same people."

8. "The well-adjusted person knows how to laugh at life." No other animals, the speaker declared, except the human know how to laugh. "What do you do," he questioned, "when fate pushes you into a corner and you can't laugh?"

9. "Do you have an educated heart? Do you know how to bring happiness into someone else's life?" This, Dr. Banks told his audience of mostly women, is a top secret for a happy marriage. "When you know something mean and you don't say it, you have an educated heart."

Then the psychologist admitted, "You don't know how something feels until it happens to you."

"We send banks of flowers to someone who can't smell. Life is the time

Phil Donahue tops new series

An early sellout is predicted for Northville Town Hall's 19th season, 1979-80, which will open with Phil Donahue October 1 and conclude with Patrice Munsel April 10, 1980.

Rounding out the four-lecture program will be Detroit Free Press Columnist Nickie McWhirter on November 8 and Lawrence Gichner, speaking on "Collectibles" March 13, 1980.

Chairman Florence Booms announced the stellar line-up for next season at the March program. Tickets will be sold for the season only and again will be priced at $20 for the four lectures. They first are to go on sale at the April 12 current-season lecture featuring Bob Wright. Lectures at 11 a.m. and celebrity luncheons following will continue to be held at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

After giving present town hall ticket holders an opportunity to purchase next-season tickets, the town hall committee will begin accepting mail orders after April 12.

Applications should be sent to Mrs. Richard Kelly, Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville 48167. Checks for $20 should be made payable to Northville Town Hall and must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Booms says she expects the 1979-80 season will be sold out within a month after tickets go on sale.

She suggests that ticket holders make luncheon reservations for the season also as only 200 presently can be accommodated at the luncheons. Luncheons are $7.50 each or $30 for the season. Celebrity speakers appear at the luncheon following the lecture and answer questions from the audience.

PHIL DONAHUE

In order to bring Donahue, one of daytime television's most popular personalities, to Northville Town Hall it was necessary to change the day from the traditional Thursday to a Monday for this lecture only, the committee points out.

Donahue has been called "one of the greatest contributions this country has received from Notre Dame."

The mop-haired Irish Catholic, now 43, may well be America's oldest altar boy. Daily he examines his conscience and turns it into what has been termed "a subliminal mixture of charm and intelligence as he talks to 200 women each weekday while another six-and-a-half million are within sound of his voice."

His Northville Town Hall lecture is to be conducted the same way he conducts his television show. "He will meet and greet the audience, tug, hug, touch, talk, listen, prod, learn and share," his publicity promises.

LAWRENCE GICHNER

Old maps, rare books and art objects are searched out by Collector Gichner for the Smithsonian and other leading museums.

"There are innumerable reasons why people collect — some to preserve for posterity the hardships of the past, others for a sense of significance and a few strictly for investment," he declares.

Today he searches in dusty attics in out-of-the-way places for treasures. He will be speaking at the March 13 lecture on "Collectibles."

NICKIE MCWHIRTER

Glenna S. McWhirter, whose column by-line is Nickie McWhirter, joined the Detroit Free Press staff in 1963 as a feature writer in the women's department and has been with the newspaper ever since. She has been a newsroom feature writer, general assignment and investigative reporter, special projects and business news writer, as well as Sunday Magazine contributor.

She also has served in various editing capacities, including assistant city editor, suburban editor, entertainment editor, and as editor of Tipoff, a news column launched under her supervision. Her by-line column appears four days a week.

PATRICE MUNSEL

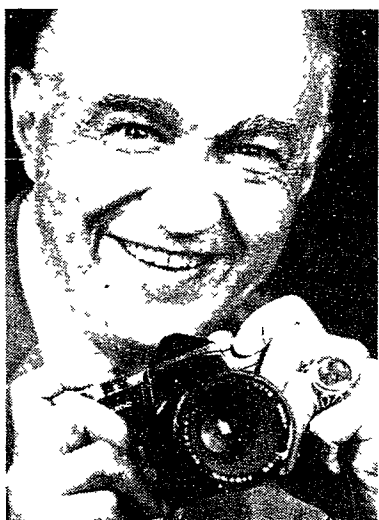

All box office records in the history of Broadway musical theater were broken when Miss Munsel starred in "The Merry Widow" at Lincoln Center. On the Broadway musical stage she has been acclaimed for "Kiss Me Kate," "South Pacific," "The King and I," "Hello Dolly," "My Fair Lady" and "Mame."

This will be her second Northville Town Hall appearance as she speaks on "From Grand Opera to Broadway."

Engaged

A summer wedding is being planned by Pamela Ann Fedak of Oak Park and David B. Freed of Northville. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fedak of Oak Park are announcing the engagement.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley B. Freed of 19312 Old Bridge Court. A 1973 graduate of Henry Ford High School, he attended Michigan State University and presently is employed by the J.L. Hudson Company in its security division.

His fiancée is a 1974 graduate of Farmington High School and is in the public safety department of the City of Oak Park.

They have reserved a July 20 wedding date at First United Methodist Church of Northville.

Gitfiddler show leads benefits

By JEAN DAY

Beating even the first crocus into spring are the many benefits sprouting for good causes.

Twenty-five students and two teachers at the Gitfiddler Music Store will be playing in a public recital at 7 p.m. this Friday at Cooke Junior High as a benefit for Huntington's Disease. Tom Rice, owner of the Gitfiddler, reports his students will be gaining confidence and getting experience while playing for a good cause.

Rice lost his sister to the genetic disease which causes deterioration between the brain and central nervous system, eventually destroying the whole system. Rice and another teacher, Dave Russell, will be performing in the concert which will feature folk, classical and a little Blue Grass on guitar, banjo and piano.

Tickets will be sold at the door at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. Children under 12 will be admitted free. During the three-hour concert, Rice says, some original works by the students will be performed.

MR. AND MRS. OMAR MICHAEL ESSA

Jane Ghannam wed in orthodox service

In orthodox tradition, crowns were crossed on the heads of the bride and bridegroom as Jane Suzanne Ghannam and Omar Michael Essa were married in a 5 p.m. Sunday ceremony, February 18, at St. Mary's Antiochian Church on Merriman Road in Livonia.

The bride is the daughter of Sami and Evelyn Ghannam of 41928 Sunnydale. Her bridegroom, whom she met in 1975 at an Arab convention in Detroit, is the son of Mike and Karimah Essa of Jacksonville, Florida.

The Reverend Father George Shalhoub officiated at the double-ring rites at the altar decorated with red roses and carnations.

The traditional wedding march was played as the bride was escorted by her father. She wore an off-white Qiana gown with lace adorning the scoop neckline and bodice. She carried a bouquet of orchids and roses.

Shirley Ghannam was honor maid for her sister in a wine-colored Qiana gown with scoop neckline and pleated skirt. She carried a bouquet of burgundy and pink carnations with red roses.

Mardi Ghannam of Canton and Valerie Ghannam of Dearborn Heights, sisters-in-law of the bride, and Julie Essa of Jacksonville, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids in rose-hued gowns matching that of the honor maid.

Jed Gazaleh of Jacksonville was best man. Ushers were Mike, Roger and Raymond Essa, brothers of the bridegroom from Jacksonville, Pete Ghannam of Canton and Victor Ghannam of Dearborn Heights, brothers of the bride.

A reception followed at Roma Hall in Livonia for 400 guests, including out-of-towners from Jacksonville, Battle Creek, Jackson and Lansing.

The bride, a 1973 graduate of Northville High School, has been a cosmetologist for seven years and has worked at Salon Rene, Mane Objective and Scissor Palace.

Her bridegroom is a 1971 graduate of Robert E. Lee High School and is a service technician for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Florida.

They will be making their home in Jacksonville.

tickets for an Art Open House to be given from 2-4 p.m. Sunday, April 8, at the Art Gallery at 459 South Main in Plymouth. They are $2 a person for the champagne and hors d'oeuvres reception and chance to go home with a $50 piece of art. It's all a benefit for the league projects, reports Lesa Buckland who is in charge of arrangements with Sandra Walts.

It's the league's second annual art event. Carol Swienkowski operates the Plymouth gallery with Kay Westling. They and Jane Dugan founded it together. The Dugan family moved to El Paso, Texas. Now it appears that Mrs. Swienkowski will be the only founding owner left as Arlen Westling has been sent to Minneapolis with Control Data.

DAR shows fashions to aid Indian school

The "Spring Fling" fashion show planned by Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter, DAR, for Thursday, March 29, at Meadowbrook Country Club will aid St. Mary's Indian School in the Dakotas and Become College in Muskogee, Oklahoma. Tickets at $9 are available from Laura Baumhart, 427-6801, or Bebe Lindhout, 591-6478.

Hospitality hour will begin at 11 a.m. with luncheon following at noon. Fashions will be by Muirheads of Dearborn.

Today members of the DAR chapter are entertaining young people who are winners of the annual historical essay competition. This year's topic was "Travel in the 13 Colonies." Good citizens, selected by their schools, also are honorees with their families at a noon luncheon at Kings' Mill clubhouse.

Jaycettes focus on eyes, skin disease

Northville Jaycettes are selling note cards to aid the Lupus Foundation which helps those with chronic inflammation of infected tissues. The notes are available at Green's Creative Home Center and Sandy's Gifts.

Eyeglasses no longer being used can be donated through the Jaycettes to the Detroit International Mission which sends them to underdeveloped countries. Anyone with glasses to donate may call Joyce Bousquet, 349-7778.

Mothers' Club's in many projects

Northville Mothers' Club, founded to aid youth of the community, is making plans to issue its by-yearly local telephone directory this year. Annual spring dinner dance also is on the agenda for April 28 at Meadowbrook Country Club.

President Sue Wright reports that scheduled meeting dates are being switched about. This Monday at 8 p.m. Marge Longridge will be hostess for a business session with an exercise class slated for April 2 at Winchester Elementary with Barbara Willoughby in charge of arrangements. Bonnie Rinehart will be hostess for an April 2 business meeting at 8 p.m. to finalize dance plans.

Designing women fill flower-arranging classes

To the untaught eye a dried artichoke might not seem like the beginning of a stunning floral arrangement, but don't underestimate the flower head of that thistlelike plant.

Norma Van Gieson of Northville has just completed a large dried arrangement for an antique container using the dried artichoke, lotus lily pods and other dried materials in fall tones. As a member of one of the new design classes held at the 5th Season in Ware's Square, she proudly points out that her large arrangement uses the L-pattern.

Mrs. Van Gieson is one of the many local women quickly signing up for the designer mini-sessions begun at the request of customers during the Christmas season. Three sessions of two hours each started this year.

No one is more surprised than Dewey Gardner, owner of 5th Season, an auxiliary of IV Seasons at 149 East Main, or his partner, Louise Whittington who is supervising the total program.

"There are more than 100 signed now. We didn't realize how hungry people are for such design training, or how successful the classes were going to be," Gardner reports in amazement.

He and Mrs. Whittington are so proud of the work done by the first classes that they are displaying it in the Main Street store window this month.

The arrangements are on fans that can be placed on the wall as well as in traditional containers. They include silk flowers that appear real as well as dried materials.

Mrs. Van Gieson explains why the class was so successful for her, saying, "You get a lot of individual help while you learn the basic patterns."

Ellen Volchoff is so enthusiastic that she hopes to continue with the intermediate and then the advanced classes now being planned by Mrs. Whittington.

On a natural-material fan she created a bedroom wall hanging in gray-blue hues with gold accents.

Mrs. Volchoff even is thinking of going into professional design.

The classes have been taught by Nancy Teeters, Barbara Mitchell and Doreen Vivyan, assisted by Shirley Flannigan and Beth Grieves, manager of 5th Season.

Mrs. Whittington explains that women attending are shown basic forms.

"They learn how to make bows and how to wire and tape flowers and then how to make cute things that could be hospital arrangements or table centerpieces," she outlines.

With imagination, Mrs. Van Gieson recalls, a tiny canister containing a popular tea was emptied and used for an arrangement that utilized cinnamon sticks as part of the design.

The new graduates all found out about the classes by word of mouth and signed up in a notebook at 5th Season for the series which cost $10.

As indication of the great interest locally in flower design Gardner points to filled classes, limited to a workable six or seven women in each, that will continue into summer.

The first graduates whose creations are on display in the store window include Janet Reithmiller, Genny McSweeney, Fran Dziadon, Shirley Davis, Kay Hutchins, Audrey Niemi, Delores Volchoff, Norma Richardson, Win Christianson, Ronnie Wright, Helen Minton, Rosemary Jablonski, Jo Anne White, Betty Jarmusenick, Louise Newitt and Del Lind, as well as Mrs. Van Gieson and Ellen Volchoff.

Jennifer, Katherine born

Jennifer Elaine Beford is the new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Beford, 16351 Winchester Drive. She was born February 23 at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, weighing seven pounds, three ounces.

Welcoming the baby at home are her brother, Matthew Aaron, 2, and sisters, Jimee Elizabeth, 8½, and Kristin Lauren, 11.

The baby also has a paternal grandfather, Mrs. Gertrude C. Beford of Littleton, Pennsylvania.

Katherine Ann Harrison was born February 26 in Minneapolis to Mr. and Mrs. William Harrison, former Northville residents. Mrs. Harrison was Karen Stefanski.

Their daughter's birth weight was seven pounds, 12 ounces. She joins a little brother, Brian Stephen, almost 2, at home.

Maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stefanski of Northville, already have paid a visit to see their new granddaughter. Paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Harrison, also live in Northville.

The baby's maternal great-grandfather is Anthony Stefanski who lives in Goetzville in the Upper Peninsula. Paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Martha Jahn of Northville.

Bel Canto Ensemble giving Easter concert

A program of Easter-season music will be presented by the Bel Canto Ensemble at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, March 25, at Our Lady of Victory Church.

Music is an especially important part of the lives of the young, talented and aspiring group of vocal and instrumental artists beginning their third year together. Among the group's vocal soloists is Marcia Wignes of Northville.

Others are Chris Forestieri, Mary Linlen, Laurel Shepard, Paul Cook, David Krakowski and David Sharp.

The ensemble is under the direction of Sergio Pezzetti, renowned international bass who studied at Morlacchi Conservatory in Perugia, Italy. He has performed at such opera houses as La Scala, Metropolitan, San Carlo in Naples Teatro Dell'Opera in Rome. He also has appeared on the concert stage and has recorded.

He presently is on the voice faculty at Wayne State University and Marygrove College.

He now is sharing his love and feeling for music with young, Detroit-area artists who make up the Bel Canto Ensemble.

"Not only is the group dedicated to music but to a kind of music that moves the soul to sing," he says.

Underlying their extensive repertoire which spans the history of musical literature is the desire to bring out through their work the message of Christian love and sacred music that is inherent in much of what the ensemble chooses to perform.

After a very successful Christmas season, the group now is preparing an Easter series. The program will include two instrumental works, "The Albinoni Adagio" and the "Tartini Adagio," and two arrangements of Easter hymns by the director.

Specializing in soloistic vocal works the group also will present "Deus in Nomine Tuo" by Mielczewski, Bonporti's "Mittite Dulces" and the well-known arias from Handel's Messiah: "Rejoice Greatly" and "Know that My Redeemer Liveth."

The finale will be Bach Kantate 51. Tickets at $2 will be sold after masses at Our Lady of Victory and are available from Barbara Armada, 349-7255.

Y schedules new classes

The Canton, Northville, Plymouth Family YMCA still has openings in its second session of winter classes, Janet Luce, executive director, reports.

Pre-ballet, ballet, jazz, modern dance and tap dance sessions will begin in April. There also are creative movement, tumbling, trim and fitness classes beginning.

Other offerings include awareness, gourmet cooking, calligraphy and cornhusk doll making. The Y office may be called for more information at 453-2904.

LaLeche League meets Thursday

"The Family in Relation to the Breastfed Baby" will be the topic of the next Northville La Leche League meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 15, in the home of Margaret Mazur, 227 North Rogers.

Women Aglow plan breakfast

Rocky Barra, who once was deeply involved in the world of pop music, will be guest speaker at the 9 a.m. breakfast Saturday for Women Aglow at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

"He now lives to share the name of Jesus Christ with all who will listen," program planners report. He plays 11 instruments and uses several in a unique presentation, bringing a message in word and song of abundant life available through Jesus Christ.

After college graduation, he served as a youth pastor. He has appeared on various television and radio programs and has recorded several albums.

Breakfast reservations at $5 are being taken by Mary Louks, 455-6654, and Judy Brilla, 459-9720. Guests are welcome.

Informal discussion will center on management of the first hectic weeks with emphasis on the entire family, as well as tips for mother and baby.

Expectant mothers, mothers with nursing babies and all other interested women are invited.

Last meeting in the series will be April 19 at the same time and place.

'Grapes of Wrath' coming

The Northville Public Library will be showing the film, "The Grapes of Wrath," as part of the monthly series for senior citizens at 2 p.m. Thursday.

The film will run for about two hours. Admission is free and refreshments are served. All age groups are welcome.

On the same afternoon, from 1-5 p.m., a group of trained volunteers from the American Association for Retired Persons will be in the library to assist senior citizens in preparing tax forms.

BENEFITS OF MOURNING CUSTOMS

Attending a wake, making a condolence call, offering help to the bereaved—all are two-way acts of care-giving.

These mourning practices directly benefit the bereaved family and one's self. In her book, "Death, the Final Stage of Growth," Dr. Elizabeth Kubler-Ross advises that the purpose of mourning should be to allow for a full outpouring of grief. Mourning becomes the opportunity for the family to re-group after the loss of a member, especially to be able, then, to continue living, loving, working and enjoying one and other.

By getting this outpouring of grief early, we help to prevent pent-up feelings of guilt and regret from blossoming later with psychologically unhealthy repercussions. "Getting it out of your system" as soon as possible is appropriate therapy in most instances, experts agree.

This is one of a series of brief articles we hope will be helpful. You may ask us questions for yourself and of public interest.

Moraine cluster, OLV Brownies go international

Girl Scouts in at least seven Northville troops did much more than "think" about international friendship on Thinking Day, the birthday of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States.

Traditionally, the Girl Scouts in this country, all members of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAAGGS), take time out annually on Thinking Day to remember scouts throughout the world joined in sisterhood.

The six-troop Moraine Cluster and Brownie Troop 621 at Our Lady of Victory recently marked the day with special events.

Fourteen Brownies from OLV celebrated by crossing the Ambassador Bridge February 24 and entering Canada. At St. Mark's Anglican Church they were welcomed by three packs of the Wyandotte Division of Girl Guides of Canada who had invited the Northville Brownies to participate in their "Revel."

Leader Judy Zimmerman, who organized the project for her Brownies, reports that the American Scouts were surprised to see the Canadian girls wearing dark brown uniforms with long sleeves with sleeve patches.

"Canadian scouts, we found, have a slightly different promise and opening and closing ceremonies.

"But with several different customs and traditions there still was the common denomination of making new friends. In the beginning the girls were shy to mingle, but after many new songs and games shared by all it was a pleasure to see much international friendship," says Mrs. Zimmerman.

Brown Owls of Canadian Pack No. 8 (pack being the equivalent of troop here) presented handmade autograph books to the visitors. They also gave a skit on England while Packs No. 54 and 94 presented skits on Africa and China. Pack No. 8 hosted lunch for the Northville Brownies.

The Brownies gave a Thinking Day cheer and a "recipe" showing the colors of the American flag. They also exchanged friendship sticks bearing name and address with the Canadians.

Special guests at the program were Betty Forget, International Director of Girl Guides in Canada, and Eleanor Masse, Commissioner of Wyandotte Division.

Participating Northville Brownies were Debbie Adamowicz, Teri Beaudoin, Kristen Briemaier, Beth Brugeman, Malinda and Leanne Cote, Lauri and Kristi Fortenberry, Marianne Hancock, Carvie Isabell, Regina Laramee, Cristina Mastroiani, Maureen Williams and Ann Marie Witmer.

Drivers for the day-long outing were

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hancock, Mrs. Sandy Adamowicz and Larry Williams.

Parents were invited to be guests at the Moraine Cluster International Night February 21 at the school.

Each troop, reports Karen Dunabeck, organizer, chose a country to represent with entertainment and dessert.

Brownie Troop No. 214 represented Japan and was in charge of the schedule and program; Brownie Troop No. 644 took the Philippines, did a pole dance and also arranged the dessert table; Brownie Troop No. 116 performed a Norwegian song and dance and was in charge of the flag ceremony with its sister troop, Junior Troop No. 331, representing the United States and telling about each state.

Junior Troop No. 336 sang a Hungarian gypsy song and greeted guests while Junior Troop No. 573, representing France, wrote a play, made costumes and learned a few French words. It was in charge of the candle ceremony.

'A prettier you'

Getting a preview of the Northville Jaycettes' membership night program, "Pick a Prettier You," to be given at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 22, at Northville Township Hall are Rose Zapke and Carol Northrop, seated from left, who are receiving demonstrations from LuAnn Krieger, Mary Kay Cosmetics distributor, and Alan Kaplin, owner of Alan James Salon in Novi. In charge of the project with Mrs. Northrop are Debbie Anderson and Marion Wilcox who may be called for reservations at 349-7358. There is no charge for the program and all interested young women of the community are invited. It is not necessary to be the wife of a Jaycee to become a Jaycette.

Dr. Banks concluded by quoting, "Love isn't love until you give it away."

In presenting his advice, the psychologist said he would much rather treat organs than broken personalities as "a broken finger can be set without the patient's cooperation, but you must have it for treatment to be effective. The patient must want to change."

The speaker quickly touched upon other concerns:

"I think you should eliminate gym from all schools; physical health is important, but the schools are ignoring their greatest responsibility to teach young people to be happy and well-adjusted."

"If you think you are sick, you will be. The best way to become a millionaire is to start a religion. There are many religious frauds — that's a tragedy of Guyana. People who join have a low ability to cope with their problems."

"Fifty years ago you couldn't find a woman with lung cancer. Today because of smoking it's equal. The human head was never designed to be a chimney, but if you're addicted, you won't quit. It's a socially approved perversion. The only hope is to keep young people from starting."

As he concluded his remarks at the celebrity luncheon Dr. Banks confessed that he is on the lecture circuit as his personal therapy. About two years ago he lost his only child, a 13-year-old son, in an accident. His wife had died when the boy was very young.

"Nature," he admitted, "does not give you automatic responses to the tragedies of life."

This history all will love

"Some Laughs and Some Tears" is the topic chosen by Jack Hoffman, who will be guest speaker at the tureen luncheon ending the year for Northville Woman's Club at 12:30 p.m. Friday at First Presbyterian Church.

The talk will be about Northville's history from the viewpoint of the community journalist, says the editor and assistant to the publisher of The Northville Record. Hoffman also is author of "Northville—the First 100 Years," a history of the community's forming years.

"The community journalist actually lives the history of the community as it is being made," he explains, adding that such events as a plane crash in downtown Northville will be covered as he tells why he remembers it.

"There are so many aspects of history that everyone can say he loves history," says a man who really does. He will be introduced by Harriet Wheaton, program chairperson of the day.

The Reverend Miss Elizabeth Etz is to give the invocation at the potluck luncheon. President Pat Brown will hold the annual meeting following the program.
