Mainstreet 78 goes back to voters Tuesday

Another poor turnout possible, clerk fears

Although absentee balloting suggests another poor turnout at the polls, campaigners for the Mainstreet 78 bond proposition are promising a weekend blitz of house-to-house visits and telephone solicitations to bolster the "positive turnout" for Tuesday's special city election.

"We're in this to win, and we're doing everything possible to acquaint electors with the importance of this bond issue," said Michael Milford, chairman of the committee supporting the Mainstreet 78 proposal.

But City Clerk Joan McAllister pointed out Monday that only 21 persons had taken out absentee ballots. "That's an awfully small number," she said, "and if it is any indication of what we can expect the election turnout will be terrible."

The last time Mainstreet 78 was put to voters — back in February — only 568 turned out at the polls to defeat the proposal by a vote of 318 to 260.

That was one of the poorest city election turnouts in history. But even fewer voted the following April when voters approved bonding for the library addition at the city hall.

The recent poor election turnouts worry the clerk. "Unless there is some sudden, dramatic change in voter enthusiasm I'm afraid there won't be many voting again this time. I hope I'm wrong," said the clerk.

Actually, the number of persons qualified to vote is at an all-time high — 3,906. A total of 3,883 were eligible to vote last April.

Milford, as well as Northville Chamber of Commerce officials, indicate they have encountered more positive reaction to the Mainstreet 78 proposal than prior to the last election.

Recently, at a chamber of commerce meeting, all of those speaking about the project voiced enthusiastic support.

City council has encountered no major opposition at any of its recent council meetings.

Last week, Dennis Spiker of 412 West Dunlap — lone member of the council audience — raised questions about the Mainstreet 78 plan, but his comments were not so much an objection to the bonding proposal as they were a plea to council to abandon the financing of the project should voters turn it down for the second time.

Council, however, has informally pledged to finance improvements of downtown public properties — with or without voter approval.

Councilman Stanley Johnston said council would be derelict in its duties if it did not take care of property owned by the city. Specifically, he pointed to the "deplorable" condition of the Dunlap Street municipal parking lot (between Center and Hutton). "We have to improve it; we can't afford to let it get any worse," he declared.

"Let's get two things straight: Mainstreet 78 will use no tax money to fix up private properties — only publicly owned properties; and if the project pays for itself as planned, and there's every indication it will, Mainstreet 78 will not cost taxpayers one more cent than they are now paying."

Johnston serves on the Downtown Development Authority (DDR) that developed the Mainstreet 78 plan.

Johnston serves on the Downtown Development Authority (DDA) that developed the Mainstreet 78 plan.

"You will be making a very bad mistake, believe me, if you go ahead with this (plan) without voter approval," cautioned Spiker.

Council members have not indicated how much of the Mainstreet 78 plan will be implemented if the proposition is defeated.

Since its members contend the city must finance downtown improvements with or without voter approval, why does council bother to hold an election?

Because, council members have explained, the city can borrow money more cheaply if it has the pledged faith and credit of voters.

Furthermore, although council could legally raise the city's millage rate by more than five mills, if necessary, some members feel a moral responsibility, in view of voter approval of the Headlee Amendment, to take the bonding issue to voters rather than do it without voter sanction.

A "Vote Yes" brochure being distributed states that bonding will save the city more than $100,000 in interest expense.

Mainstreet 78's key is a "captured taxes" device, which DDA members have explained, will provide monies to finance the downtown public improvements without increasing the tax levy.

Market's open

Tender, first-of-the-season corn sold fast at the Northville Farmer's Market last Thursday. Sponsored by the Northville Chamber of Commerce, the market will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday throughout the growing season in the Main Street parking lot adjacent to Northville Pharmacy. Plants and flowers were plentiful with vegetables including potatoes, carrots, onions, cucumber, zucchini and some cauliflower and broccoli. This week tomatoes also are promised. Carl

Huge sale predicted here

Don't expect to find much space on Main Street Saturday. Most of it will be buried in "super bargains" and a "super big crowd."

That's the prediction of Charles Lapham, the originator and annual booster of one of the state's biggest and most successful Sidewalk Sales promotions.

"It's going to be a whopper," said Lapham, pointing out that reservations for curbside booths were "sold out" earlier than at any other time in recent years.

Both Main (from Hutton to Wing) and Center (from Dunlap to Mary Alexander Court) will be off limits for vehicular traffic from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. During those hours only shoppers and emergency vehicles will be permitted on the streets.

Along the sidewalks, at the curbs, merchants and private citizens and organizational representatives will operate booths — featuring everything from underwear to Italian sausage.

"Sidewalk Sales" is just that, stressed Lapham, owner of one of the downtown businesses that will be offering special bargains.

In addition, however, "there will be lots of antiques, boutiques and crafts offered by professional and amateur craftsmen and dealers," he said.

Thousands of shoppers and "the just curious" have turned out for each of the past Sidewalk Sales, and what could be the biggest turn out ever could occur Saturday — provided the weather cooperates, said Lapham.

Because a new downtown promotion — a community garage sale — was originated earlier this year, Lapham is quick to point out that even though antiques will be displayed and sold Saturday, the Sidewalk Sales is primarily for new merchandise.

BEGINNING in September the Northville School Board will hold its meetings at various schools around Northville. The schedule is: September 24 at Mead's Mill Junior High; October 22 at Amerman Elementary; November 26 at Moraine Elementary; February 25, 1980, at Northville High School; March 24 at Cooke Junior High; April 28 at Winchester Elementary; and May 27 at Silver Springs Elementary. All other board meetings will be held at the school board offices at the Main Street Elementary School.

BIDS on library bonds, which will finance the addition at the city hall, will be opened Monday at a special 8 p.m. meeting of the city council.

TEN MEETINGS had been held prior to this week, Burton Knight reported to Northville school board Tuesday, as the district negotiates with the Northville Education Association. Two meetings were scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday this week, he said, noting that rights and responsibilities of teachers and the board as well as leaves of absence and transfers are among items under discussion.

Audit: 'Document your costs'

Employee expenses will be the main topic of a special meeting of the Northville Township Board of Trustees today, July 25 at 5 p.m. at the township hall, 416600 Six Mile.

A representative of the accounting firm of Ierman, Johnson and Hoffman, auditors for the township, is expected to suggest to the board that it adopt a policy concerning employee expense reimbursements.

In their yearly financial report, the auditors found everything to be in order, with the exception of this particular area.

employee expense reimbursements are inadequate," the auditors said in a letter to board trustees. "A policy regarding employee expense reimbursement should be adopted by the board," they wrote.

Donald Thomson, supervisor of the township, said last week that the auditors made a similar suggestion two years ago, but that the board took no action.

"They (the auditors) sent a letter to board members recommending that an expense reimbursement policy be set up," he said. "And since no policy was adopted at that time, and they are very strong in their suggestion, they are going to appear in person to address the board."

Other items to be discussed at today's meeting include: an easement agreement, police department request for transfer of funds, United Foundation. Torch Drive, taxes on lots annexed to the city of Northville, final plat for North Beacon Woods subdivision, air conditioning problems in police department and possible CETA funding.

An executive session between board trustees and police to discuss non-salaried employees' needs will be held prior to the special meeting.

State aid bonanza's really just a mirage

The million dollar bonanza that the Northville school district was promised has turned out to be only a quirk in the state's bookkeeping, to the disappointment of local authorities.

Last week Senator Robert Geake announced state figures which showed that the Northville school district would be receiving over a million dollars in state aid, when local authorities had guessed the district would receive none.

The reality is: Northville will get getting only a slight bit of aid from the state this year — $36,000 in state aid and $8,573 in declining enrollment aid, school district tentative figures show.

Blame for the million dollar misunderstanding lies with the state's method of bookkeeping, which counted 525 Institution Special Education Program (ISEP) students as being part of the regular school district.

The notification about the extra million first arose elation, then suspicion from Northville School Superintendent Larry Nichols and Business Manager Harold Hines.

"I figured either something was wrong in the calculations or there was a misunderstanding," Nichols told the school board Monday night.

"We have been saying since April that the combination of increasing property values, declining enrollment and the Headlee tax limitation rules would result in us dropping out of the state aid formula."

The new formula, just approved by the legislature and ready to be signed by Governor William Milliken, gives $325 to each student, plus $43 per mill for each mill levied on local property values up to 30 mills and one-half these mills over 30.

For Northville, with 35.40 mills, this means each student should receive $1731 from the state. When the State Equalized Value (SEV) formula is applied, the state would pay $216 for each Northville student.

Miller to hire a new secretary to replace one fired last spring.

Originally, the fire department bonding issue was to be placed on the primary ballot on August 7. Council members voted 5-0, however, to remove the question from the ballot.

NOVI—Novi's city council is studying an ordinance which would prevent a spread of adult bookstores in the city.

NOVI—First violation of the Novi paraphernalia ordinance has been issued by the police department to Tobacco Road. Undercover officers reportedly entered the store July 6 and bought one pipe which they identified as a "hash pipe."

NOVI—Long awaited repairs on the C&O railroad crossing on Novi Road were slated to get underway this week. Novi Road is to be closed until 5 p.m. Thursday.

NOVI—Initial steps toward the construction of a regional trade center in Novi were to be taken recently as the Novi Planning Board voted to recommend approval of a rezoning request to accommodate the proposed development on a 21.53 acre parcel of land on the West side of Novi Road in the regional center area.

WALLED LAKE—The swimming pool at Walled Lake Western has been shut down for the 1979-80 school year so that the district's budget may be shaved. A vocal contingent of residents have voiced their objections.

WIXOM—A resolution to create an economic development corporation has

'Don't retire from, retire to something'

"Don't retire from something; for goodness sakes, retire to something," declares the self-professed "Ozark Hillbilly" who at 86 has absolutely no intentions of ever slowing down. "Keeping active," advises C.A. (Charlie) Smith, "keeps me going, and it can do the same for others."

Smith has a pile of work always staring him in the face — but it's all work he enjoys doing. And that, he emphasizes, is the key to successful retirement. Pick something you like doing. Don't select something that's momentarily satisfying, spend at least five years planning and familiarizing yourself with the activity."

For Smith, it is not enough to satisfy himself with past accomplishments or past endeavors.

"Oh, I like to reminisce, too, but doing something today and planning to do something tomorrow is more important."

He has five major activities and a number of lesser ones. Those which consume most of his time include work for the Livonia Christian Church, the Northville Rotary Club, FISH, the Northville Goodfellows, and gardening.

He also enjoys but spends less time writing, campaigning to raise money to furnish a room in the new public library at Farmington, Missouri as a memorial to the now defunct college that he attended as a young man — Carleton College, and in organizing reunions of the college and the Smith family.

"The real thrill of my life," says Smith, "is taking 50 to 65 needy youngsters to the store at each Christmastime and outfitting them with clothing. Let me tell you, it's a moving experience every time. I'm so mighty proud of the local Goodfellows for making it possible."

The Nine Mile resident, who is more attached to Northville than the City of Novi in which he lives, explains that this attachment started soon after he moved to the area in 1953. A banker advised him to join the Northville Rotary Club (there was no club in Novi at the time) and it's this club affiliation that "makes me so much closer to Northville than Novi."

It is a love for Northville that inspires a new activity he is just now launching. "Rotary International was organized in 1905. Next year is our 75th anniversary. I am now urging our Northville Rotary Club to sponsor a movement to erect a beautiful flowing fountain in an appropriate spot in the center of Northville's business district. With beautiful colored lights. And also I am proposing erection of a full size statue of a horse. Northville has a wonderful reputation as a 'horse town'. I hope to see a beautiful flowing fountain and the statue in my days as a memorial to the 75th anniversary of Rotary."

"I'm proud of the fact that I was born in the foothills in the Ozarks in a town known as Libertyville. It's not on the map anymore, even though at one time there was a postoffice and three stores there. Born and raised on a farm. Father passed away when I was only 13. When I was 15 we moved into Farmington (Missouri). I'm mighty proud of my father and my mother. The teachings and disciplines that I got when I was a youngster I appreciated. I mean I appreciated them. I think more of my mother every day.

"I had four sisters and one brother; April 2, 1977 we buried my oldest sister. Had she lived to April 12 she would have reached the age of 92. Presently, I am the only remaining member of that family. In 1948, April 13, we laid my

Allen Terrace library

New shelving is scheduled to be installed late this week or early next in a newly constructed library room at Allen Terrace senior citizens apartment complex. The room was financed and built by the Northville Kiwanis Club last week with monies raised during the club's annual spring horse show. The club, which also purchased the shelving, has made the senior citizens complex one of its major on-going projects. It also has contributed $1,000 to the Allen Terrace Trust Fund, which provides rent money for those senior citizens who need assistance in paying their rent. Shown here during the club's building bee are Ray Casterline and Jack Hoifman (background) and Richard Hoffman.

For Gardner lots

Rezoning recommended

By a split 4-2 vote, Northville city planners voted to recommend a return to residential (R-2) zoning for lots 117 to 122a on Gardner in Bealtown following a public hearing a week ago Tuesday.

The hearing had been held on petition of Frank Pauli who lives at 508 Gardner and wishes to build a home on the lot he owns next door. The planning commission in scheduling the public hearing decided to consider rezoning the entire block of seven lots.

An objection was made by Mrs. Ilo Schwab of 515 River, only area resident besides Pauli at the hearing.

She requested that her property, lot 117, at the corner of Gardner and River remain local commercial district (LCD) as presently zoned. She explained that eventually she expects to sell her property to the purchaser of lot 116, a commercially-zoned lot at the corner of Seven Mile and River.

Since that lot is so small, her lot probably would be needed for parking, Ronald Nino, planning consultant, earlier had told the commissioners. The commission recalled that it has received three proposals for development in past years; included were a television repair business, pizza hut and insurance office. None had materialized.

In his recommendation to change the zoning, Nino pointed out that the quality of housing has been upgraded in the area and that residents in a household survey had indicated a desire to remain residential. He recommended rezoning for all lots on the block with the possible exception of lot 117.

Nino suggested also that the master plan deserves to be considered for adjustment. In later action the commission voted to do so and set a public hearing for September 18 to study Bealtown area.

The commission had been aware for some time that the Bealtown area, considered for possible race track expansion when the master plan was conceived, had stayed residential with homeowners maintaining and improving their property.

After discussion commission member Charles Freydl moved to recommend to the city council rezoning of lots 117 to 122a inclusive to two-family residential. Stewart Kissinger seconded the motion, and it passed with both voting for it along with Donald Fee and Luke Durst.

Chairman C. Thomas Wheaton and William Tucker voted against the motion. Both indicated they did so because they would have preferred to exclude the property of Mrs. Schwab with the expectation that she would sell it for parking under present zoning.

Commissioners Lesa Buckland, Bruce Turnbull and James Cutler were absent.

Wheaton pointed out to her that she also may protest the planned rezoning at the public hearing to be held on the matter by the city council. The council will have final determination on the zoning.

Low bidders win jobs

Northville High School students will be returning this fall to a refurbished building with freshly painted walls and gleaming corridors. A new roof should insure no more leaks.

Northville school board Tuesday approved low bids for phase III of a roofing project, giving the 20-year old building a complete roofing job, and for precast terrazzo flooring for all corridors and centrum areas.

Low bid of $121,439 from Chaffee Roofing Company was accepted for the roofing. The board in its motion also allocated an additional $10,000 to be used as a contingency fund to cover any additional expenses which could become apparent as work progresses.

It did so on recommendation of J. M. Janchick, administrative assistant for operations. It will be used by him and the architect as needed. Chaffee was low among the five bids submitted.

Foster Flooring Corporation of Wixom was the lowest of three bidders for the terrazzo floors with a bid of $80,802.

Janchick said the new flooring which will replace the existing tile is a marble aggregate in a terrazzo matrix. He compared it with floors used in shopping centers. It will be in tans and browns and require no waxing.

Board member Douglas Whitaker questioned whether there would be maintenance instruction for custodians and was told sessions would be scheduled. Corridors and centrum areas as well as the downstairs area of the high school will receive the new covering. Rest rooms, class rooms and offices will not.

Janchick said the timetable for completion of the flooring is the end of August when walls also will be painted. The roof is to be finished by the end of September. It will have a two-year guarantee.

Stating that most public buildings today are "over illuminated," Whitaker questioned whether a lighting engineer could be brought to assess lighting needs at the high school. He was told there are no plans to do so at present, but that Janchick is checking.

Janchick who had finished the first day of an energy conservation workshop reported that the district "is probably a year ahead" of the 20 K-12 districts participating. The district is to submit its requests for federal funds to implement other energy conservation programs by October 15.

Nichols said that the federal grant may not offer as much aid as previously anticipated as he understands total allocation for Michigan for the next two years will be $8 million.

To Traverse Heights

Principal moving

Silver Springs Elementary Principal Nancy Fieldman has resigned to take a position as principal of Traverse Heights Elementary School in Traverse City, Michigan.

Fieldman has been principal at Silver Springs since its opening in 1975. She has been with the Northville school district for ten years, first as a teacher, then as an administrative intern at Amerman Elementary.

A new principal will be selected for Silver Springs by the end of August, the Northville Public Schools personnel office said.

Band group makes plans, Williams files

Several ideas are being discussed which would ease the Northville High School (NHS) marching band's problems but no specific ideas will be released until an entire plan is formulated, said Northville Band Booster President Bonnie Wagner on Monday.

Wagner and seven other persons form a committee which is charged with the task of coming up with acceptable solutions to the marching band's problems. At a meeting July 17, they discussed ways to improve the band's music library, uniforms and instrumentation.

The committee will meet again August 1 and present its findings to the Northville School Board August 27, Wagner said.

Certain to be included in the plan are ways to get the money to improve the library, instruments and uniforms at the high school. Money to implement improvements will probably come from band booster fund-raisers and the Conrad Langfield Fund, a $54,000 trust fund set up expressly for the marching band's use. About $18,000 of the Langfield Fund may be used to purchase new uniforms for the marching band, Wagner said.

"But it's better off not to let loose small rumors until we present the full plan to the school board," Wagner said.

The committee, which includes three students, was formed in June after the marching band told the school board it would not be marching in the fall due to the poor condition of music, instruments and uniforms.

Meanwhile, the Northville Education Association (NEA) presented Superintendent Larry Nichols with a grievance against the transfer of NHS band teacher Robert Williams to Cooke Junior High.

The grievance was filed with Nichols Thursday following the written denial of the grievance by NHS Principal George Aune last week.

Nichols will meet with Williams and NEA representatives this week, he said Monday. After an investigation and meeting, Nichols has seven working days to reply to the grievance in writing.

If the NEA is denied again, it will present the grievance to the school board, NEA President Barbara LeBoeuf said.

Patrolman James Marks strains to get over the chin-up bar

'I would lose about 10 pounds and then put it right back on. Now I have some incentive. I have to keep it off.'

Get in shape program has Northville police huffing and puffing

Things are shaping up at the Northville City Police Department.

Police officers can be seen doing pull-ups on a recently installed chin-up bar; certain members of the detective bureau can be seen jogging down the streets early in the morning and Vic Tanny health clubs have a few new members — police officers from Northville.

All this is part of City Police Chief Rodney Cannon's 'get in shape' program, initiated July 1.

Cannon, 6-6 and a trim 220 pounds, has required all overweight officers (overweight according to a FBI physical fitness chart) to lose at least five pounds a month.

Of the 15 officers, some are within the weight specification, while others have to lose as much as 50 pounds. To be within the guidelines, the officers must lose a combined total of 262 pounds, Cannon said.

The method of losing weight is up to the individual. Some have begun running, others do exercises daily and swim and some have even joined Vic Tanny.

Patrolman James Marks is one of the most enthused officers participating in the program.

With a total of 19 pounds to lose, Marks already has taken off six pounds and says he hopes to lose a few more before the first monthly weigh-in August 1.

"I have been trying to lose weight for a long time," he said. "I would lose about 10 pounds and then put it right back on. Now I have some incentive. I have to keep it off."

Cannon says he will strictly enforce the five-pound minimum, but is unsure of what the punishment will be for those who do not comply.

"Disciplinary action will be taken," he said, "but I have to make sure that it is in line with the union contract."

"But, so far, those who have to lose weight are really doing well," he said. "And everyone will benefit from the program: the community, the department and particularly the individual officers."

Cannon said Northville is not alone in its problem of lax physical fitness, and says that officers all over the country are or will soon be required to shape up.

"As professionalism in police work grows I think you will see more emphasis on physical fitness for officers," he predicted.

Wayne County Sheriffs offer plan to combat problems in Hines Park

A major proposal to combat problems in Hines Park was released last week by the Hines Park Task Force at a news conference in Wayne County.

Major recommendations include an increase in the law enforcement capacity of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department in the park; promoting the use of mounted patrol in the park; establishment of two mini-stations in the park to provide security and law enforcement visibility; immediate action to control traffic congestion and the number of people in the park; and stiffer penalties for park ordinance violators.

The report, a culmination of two years' work, was released by Task Force Chairman State Representative Robert Law (R-Livonia, Westland).

"The most serious problems in the park right now are narcotics and alcohol abuse, disorderly behavior, and tremendous traffic congestion," Law said. "Narcotics arrests by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department in the park have increased since 1970, while they have steadily declined in Wayne County as a whole. Nearly all of the disorderly conduct arrests made by the Department were made in the park."

"The situation is aggravated by illegal use of alcohol, drunken drivers, and the incidence of rape, indecent exposure and soliciting, and malicious destruction of property."

"Obviously, the problem can be licked only if we substantially increase the law enforcement capability in the park to control traffic, crime and overcrowding."

"Otherwise, crime will continue to flourish and the recreational potential of the park will never be realized," he continued.

Law explained that Wayne County residents have fewer recreational acres per person than other counties in the state, and that Hines Park should be utilized in the manner most beneficial to the entire population if possible.

Law concurred that young people need a place to go but said that the park must be run in an "orderly and safe" manner for all citizens. He said that if elected officials are unable to regain control of the situation then they must look at more drastic action.

Hines Park, a 17-mile linear parkway traversing much of western Wayne County, is an open recreational area which crosses the borders of six cities and is one of the few remaining expanses of open space in the growing metropolitan area. The park is operated under the auspices of Wayne County Road Commission and policed by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

"The task force has recommended reducing the normal traffic flow on Edward N. Hines Drive, as a top priority and considering a reduction in the speed limit to concur with the use of the area as a park," Law said.

"After all, it is a park too. There has been a major increase in traffic violations and traffic accidents have increased dramatically."

"The task force found that taking a number of steps, primarily to beef up law enforcement capabilities, must be taken if we hope to turn the tide on crime in the park," he added.

The major recommendations of the task force include:

—Funding to increase the number of full time Sheriff deputies to patrol the park.

—Establishment of two mini-stations to provide visibility, as well as an emergency lock-up for prisoners.

—Presence of mounted patrols to provide increased access to remote area of the park.

—Improved lighting and installation of emergency telephones.

—Consideration of a ban on alcoholic beverages in the park or a permit system for use of alcohol in designated areas.

—Increasing the fines for violation of park rules.

The task force also recommended improving and expanding recreational services to attract families to the park and suggested close cooperation with the federal government to rejuvenate Newburgh Lake for a recreational site. Completion of a bike path was also recommended.

Law said the task force has not only made recommendations, but has actually taken steps to implement some major reforms. As examples he cited:

—The legislation he introduced to increase penalties from a $50 maximum fine to a 90 day misdemeanor with up to a $500 fine or the alternative of a work clean-up program. The bill took effect April 1, 1979 and is being implemented by local judges.

—Legislation providing substantial funding for increased sheriffs patrol in the park.

—Installation of the Newburgh Road mini-station in Hines Park and the development of a state funding program for upgrading the state and development of a station in Dearborn Heights.

—Funding for the completion of the bike paths and clean up of Newburgh Lake.

New law may raise insurance

Over-regulation of the insurance industry through essential insurance legislation could result in drastically higher premiums for Michigan policyholders, State Representative Jack Kirksey (R-Livonia/Northville) said this week.

The House passed essential insurance legislation recently on a 58-49 vote.

Essential insurance legislation (sometimes referred to as a revision of the no-fault insurance) passed the House just before it recessed. The Senate, however, did not have an opportunity to act on the bill, so it will "set in limbo" until the legislature returns in September.

Kirksey indicated that a study of the current insurance rates in the Livonia/Northville area, when compared to the proposed rates that would be established by the insurance legislation, will increase premiums for a majority of the policyholders in his district.

"I voted 'no' on this bill because I believe it will cause an over-regulation of the insurance industry, which could result in drastically higher premiums for Michigan policyholders."

Kirksey said he is fearful that insurers will substantially raise their insurance rates to protect themselves from unknown effects the first-time, artificial regulations might have on the industry.

The legislation — which would eliminate age, sex and marital status as legitimate factors for determining insurance rates — attempts to shift the costs of "high-risk" policyholders onto the shoulders of persons whose premiums are properly priced in the competitive market.

"Those statistics, which have been used by the insurance industry for years, are statistically verifiable," Kirksey said. "If this legislation becomes law, the free market system would be disrupted and could cause insurers to set their prices at a high level since they would not know what sort of losses to expect, based on the new factors introduced."

Kirksey said the bill ignores "the facts" in order to achieve a better social system for poor who are "high-risk" policyholders while shifting the burden onto "safe" insurance risks.

"It's a fact that young people have significantly more accidents than older drivers, and males have a higher accident rate than females, and so on," Kirksey said. "This legislation ignores the facts in order to achieve a social result, and this will mean higher rates for many drivers who benefit from the present groupings by being careful drivers."

Kirksey added that not using statistical factors on which to base premiums will cause inequities in the marketplace and "headaches for the insurance industry."

He added that he believes the bill is actually an attempt by some lawmakers to make policyholders in outstate areas subsidize some Detroit drivers who are considered "high risks."

"Why should people who choose to be careful drivers to keep their rates low have to pay for careless drivers?" Kirksey asked. "It's just not a fair plan for the majority of Michigan residents who will have to pick up the tab."

East Street project

He switches to condos

William Craft, who had received a year's extension from the Northville Planning Commission on plans for eight apartments he intends to build on East Street, has notified the commission he now plans to sell the units as condominiums. In a letter read at the planning commission meeting July 17, Craft told the commission the units would remain the same size and that no other changes are being made.

Ronald Nino, planning consultant, said no action was required by the commission, which was merely being informed by Craft of his change in plans due to economic conditions.

mother to rest on her 89th birthday. "I was married March 22, 1911. My wife was attending a business college at Farmington when I was attending Carleton. That's how we met. She died a year ago; I miss her tremendously. We had four children, three of whom are still living. The youngest, Jean, passed away at the age of 50. I have two daughters out in Yakima, Washington. One is a member of the city council and is a pro tem mayor. The other daughter is a psychologist, who retired from the public schools after 19 years service and went to the college at Yakima and is still there.

Smith moved here from Detroit, where he had lived since 1916.

One of his principal occupations, prior to going into business for himself, was with the Gordon Baking Company as plant engineer in the 1930s.

"One of my responsibilities was to go down to LaGrange, Indiana and supervise the erection of a milk condensing plant. At that time we had been buying milk in the LaGrange area and sending it to Northville to be condensed.

"With construction of the LaGrange plant, my duty also was to supervise, in 1933 the dismantling of the condensing plant here that was owned by Gordon Baking. The plant is now Warren Products.

"I became interested in a certain method of aluminum fabrication and I organized the Smith Products Company in 1954. The plant was located on Grand River in Novi. I sold it in 1962, and they moved it to Windsor and built another one in Los Angeles. So I retired from my own business to a host of other activities that have kept me busy ever since."

Recently, Smith completed a manuscript of a book he hopes will be published one day. It is a hard-hitting collection of philosophical, political and social observations and conclusions based on his own experiences.

For example, in criticizing the courts, Smith writes:

"I blame our legislators for a large portion of this type nonsense and for the high rate of crime today. Legislators are much more interested in votes than in passing laws that may lose votes for them at election time. They scream that we must be more lenient on criminals, that we must give them every opportunity to change for the better ...

"This is wonderful for questionable lawyers and criminals. This leaves their clients loose on the streets to rob, rape, assault, and it's right back to their lawyer to get them back on the street to pursue their avocation as usual. These legislators should be replaced with others who have courage and guts to stand up for justice and pass laws to protect law abiding citizens rather than the criminals..."

Titled "Revolution," the manuscript is a paradox. It paints the author as a table-pounding, angry pessimist. Smith, at least to those who know him, is quite the opposite.

Outwardly, he is the eternal optimist, but privately he is "worried that we (mankind in general and America in particular) are headed for self-destruction."

Says Smith of his manuscript and of his local activities:

"In view of the fact I am pushing on 87 it is my desire to leave something for others to know that I did pass over the highway of life by planting a few trees along the highway to grow and develop with strength and beauty."

5 injured in traffic mishap here

Five area residents suffered minor injuries in a traffic collision July 19 at the intersection of Winchester and Six Mile roads in Northville Township.

Mary Higgins, 42559 Steepleview, Northville suffered a scalp cut, while Jacob Smith, 43132 West Meaton, Northville, received cuts to the neck and forehead.

Three passengers riding in Smith's vehicle also suffered minor injuries.

The car driven by Higgins was westbound on Six Mile, making a left turn onto Winchester, when the vehicle struck a car driven by Smith which was eastbound on Six Mile, police reported.

All persons were taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia, treated and released.

A 1978 Suzuki R M 125 motorcycle was reported stolen from a Ridge Court residence in Northville Township during the early morning hours of July 22, township police reported.

The bike's estimated value was $800.

Northville Township firemen responded to five calls last week, three fires and two other minor problems.

The fires included a car engulfed in flames July 18 in the parking lot of Michigan National Bank, 40020 Five Mile; a grass fire along the railroad tracks near Five Mile west of Ridge; and a garbage truck fire in the park at the corner of Six Mile and Northville Road.

The other two incidents were a leaking butane tank at 41966 Banbury and an open fire hydrant on Five Mile between Haggerty and Newburgh roads.

BEGINNING AUGUST 1 energy conservation is mandated in Northville schools with air conditioning to be no lower than 78 degrees and heating no higher than 65, Northville school board members were told Tuesday. The presidential directive applies to junior and senior highs, but elementaries are exempt. Superintendent Lawrence Nichols said enforcement will be through the governor's office.

Moving from Square

Library to close for week

The Northville Public Library will be closed for one full week, beginning Monday, in order to move to its temporary new location in the community center building, just west of city hall on Main Street.

Friday is the last day the library will be open to the public in the Northville Square. It will reopen in the new location on Monday August 6, according to Anne Mannisto.

No books will be due during the week it is closed, and no overdue fines will be charged for those days.

The hours will remain the same, with the library open Monday through Thursday, noon until 8 p.m., and Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The community center building was formerly the office of the board of education. The recreation department is now located there.

This location will be a temporary one for the library, which eventually will move to the addition now being constructed on the south side of city hall.

Ample parking space is available between city hall and the community center building.

School board prexy makes appointments

The Northville School Board's new President Karen Wilkinson has made appointments for board subcommittees which will be effective for the 1979-80 school year.

Wilkinson will sit on the board's curriculum and personnel subcommittees. Vice-President Marjorie Sliger will sit on the personnel, finance, and policy subcommittees. Secretary Richard Barron was named to the personnel, curriculum and Title IX committees.

Treasurer Charles Peltz will serve on the finance and facilities subcommittees, and will be the board's liaison member to the Recreation Commission.

Trustee Christopher Johnson will sit on the policy and curriculum subcommittees and be the board's liaison for legislation and to the Michigan Association of School Boards.

Trustee David Llewellyn will be the board's representative to the Northville Economic Development Corporation, and will serve on the facilities and finance subcommittees.

Suit started

Injury haunts Novi Jaycees

A Northville woman has filed suit against the Novi Jaycees seeking $2 million for injuries her daughter reportedly suffered at the Jaycee Haunted House last October.

Jean Lince claims in a suit entered in Oakland County Circuit Court that her daughter Susan, 17, was injured while touring the Haunted Forest which the Jaycees operated along with the Haunted House last fall.

The suit alleges that in the haunted forest paths of plywood and an imitation graveyard had been constructed. Along the path there were persons in costumes who were supposed to "scare and chase" persons touring the haunted forest.

It further states that these costumed persons chased Susan over a bridge and down a path constructed of plywood. As Susan slowed to a walk at the end of the plywood path her foot plunged into a deep hole, the suit states.

Susan heard her leg "tear and pop" and immediately felt a severe pain in her leg and foot, according to the suit. When she tried to stand she was unable to bear weight on her leg or foot and had to be carried from the scene by her brother.

She was taken home and then rushed to a hospital emergency room.

Since the accident Susan has reportedly undergone orthopedic surgery and other major surgery. Additional major surgery will be necessary in the future, according to the suit.

She was forced to miss school and could not perform the jobs at which she also was employed, the suit states.

As a result of the accident Susan now walks with a severe limp and there is a question as to whether she will ever properly walk again, according to the suit.

The suit also maintains the accident could have been prevented by the Jaycees.

The group should have known patrons would have been walking or running through the area where Susan was reportedly injured and they should have made inspections to uncover dangerous conditions.

Any dangerous conditions found by the inspection should have been made safe before patrons were allowed to tour the forest, according to the suit.

The Lince's allege that the Jaycees had a duty to "protect in all ways the young patrons who were being encouraged to (enter the forest) pay admissions and travel through dark, unlighted areas."

They further claim the Jaycees should have had emergency first aid available as well as a doctor or nurse ready to assist persons injured on the premises.

Since they allege the Jaycees did not live up to their duties to their patrons the Lince's are seeking at least $20,000.

News Brief

RESIDENTS of the newly annexed township land, near Main and Clement will have an opportunity Monday to hear an explanation of the city services to be made available to them and when services will begin. City officials will be at the city hall at 7:30 p.m. to answer their questions.

Salary hikes went to administrators

Recent salary increases granted by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to 50 of its chief administrators do not include pay raises for the commissioners themselves, the chairman of the county board emphasized today.

"Apparently some confusion exists in the minds of many, and a clarification is needed," Board Chairman Richard E. Manning stressed.

"The raises definitely do not apply to any member of the existing board of commissioners presently governing county affairs," said Manning. He noted that the commissioners are prohibited by law from increasing their own salaries during any current term. In adopting the budget last fall, the board refused raises for themselves for this term by turning down a citizen committee's recommendation for pay hikes for themselves and other elected officials, he said.

"The public deserves accuracy in this situation," Manning continued. "It is important they understand the raises were authorized only for top staff people and appointed members of boards and commissions other than the governing Board of Commissioners which is elected by voters. Most of those granted the raises are civil service employees working under the merit system and I think they have earned their increase."

Manning explained that the three percent increase voted by the board on July 12 was allowed for supervisors and appointed officials to equal earlier adjustments for members of collective bargaining units. Total cost of increases for the executives, who are exempt from collective bargaining, is $79,000. Manning called the sum "modest" in a multi-million-dollar budget.

"These people are affected by inflation like everybody else, but even so we imposed a maximum increase of $2,000 for any individual, regardless," said Manning.

The raise was approved by the board by a vote of 19-3. Those voting against the raise were Commissioners George F. Killeen, Ervin A. Steiner, Jr., and John J. Korney, all from Detroit although Steiner also represents the Grosse Pointes.

The three percent raise for the supervisors generally approximates the amount won by the county's largest union group, the 400-member Council 25 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, after a five-day strike in February.

Record reporter has fling at Brigadoon audition

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

The stage lights were up at Northville's Marquis Theatre Saturday afternoon but not in preparation for a movie. The stage was bare, ready for auditions for "Brigadoon," the Lerner and Loewe musical which will appear there in September.

"Brigadoon" is a production of Performing Artists Unlimited, a young professional company which produces plays in the Detroit area. When "Camelot" and "Barefoot in the Park" appeared at Inga and Jay Zaytis' Marquis last year, they were the first live productions here since the 1920s vaudeville days.

For this reporter, Saturday was different from the usual assignment. I was not there just to cover the event. I was there to try out for a part in the cast.

I had hoped that people would either ignore or miss the tiny audition notices in the Northville Record or other community newspapers. Auditions sound frightening and competitive enough to scare most people away. Not quite enough of them were scared, though. Seventy people turned up for the auditions. Most were women, all eager to sing, dance and read for Director William Premin for the chance at one of the three female leads.

First was the solo singing. We could sing anything. "Volunteers?" asked Premin. We all stared into space. Then the girl next to me courageously took her music and went to the stage. The piano began to play. The stage lights were bright. She had studied opera in Vienna and her golden voice filled the room.

After a few more singers of this quality I realized I was a rookie in the big leagues, a shower-singer in a roomful of opera stars. But it was too late to turn back. I made my way to the stage, breathing deeply, trying to relax the stranglehold fear had on my vocal chords. I gave the music to the piano player. Then I turned around to face the audience.

It's a funny thing, being on stage. I heard a voice singing and realized it was me. Like a stranger, I heard my voice sing the words and my arms do the motions I'd practiced. Before I knew it, I relaxed and the song was finished. I trooped back to my seat

After the first few singers had broken the ice, everyone was rushing for a turn on stage. By Sunday it was clear there were two or three really passable actors and actresses for each part.

The auditions were really a show in themselves. I heard songs from almost every musical ever made. I saw cowboys in the bright golden haze of the "Oklahoma" meadow. I saw Marias from the "Sound of Music," Annes from "Annie," daughters from "Fiddler on the Roof." There was music sung from "Porgy and Bess," "Grease," "Most Happy Fella" and "Gigi."

After hearing the quality of the singing, I don't envy a director a casting job. Some people had Caruso voices and deadpan acting. Others could act up a storm then fall flat on their two left feet in the dancing audition.

I saw people with unpolished and raw loads of talent, and those with highly refined average ability. The performers were tall, short, fat, thin, old, young, boisterous and quiet. "Brigadoon, Brigadoon," we sang. We danced the Highland Fling. And then we had to read.

Not being the sweet soprano type, I was told I'd be most suited for the part of the town floozie Meg or the nagging girlfriend Jane.

"Aye, an' that's a fine brawny lad ye are," I and about 10 other Megs had to say, slapping the lad on the back.

"Tommy, where have you been? Are you listening to me?" a bunch of us read in the biting, nagging voice that was Jane Ashton's.

There was one major problem with the reading. Since most of the play takes place in Scotland, everyone tried to assume a Scottish brogue while reading the lines.

What came out for most people was a sorry assortment of Russian spies, leprechauns, and Jewish yentas.

One man actually had a perfect Glasgow accent because he was from Scotland. "Aye, Misterr Farr-Sythe," he read like a Scottish Wizard of Oz.

We spent the rest of the time trying to copy his accent, get into the roles and speculating about who would get what part. We actually didn't know because Premin told us that directors are "funny people" who might decide the casting in a vision at night.

You could only hope that you would be in his vision, saying, "Aye, Misterr Far-Sythe" to poor Forsythe who all the while maintains a deathly silence.

Trustees don't want pay

In order to "lay the issue to rest" the subject of pay for Northville school board members was placed on the board agenda Tuesday.

Board member Christopher Johnson said he asked the subject be considered in order to leave no doubt that this board is not interested in pay, and to so direct the superintendent.

"When I ran (for the board position) I realized it was unpaid and I don't want to be paid," Johnson affirmed.

Douglas Whitaker agreed that "I can't argue with the direction of Chris' thought," adding that he didn't recall the board ever expressing an interest in being paid. On the contrary, he said, he understood it did not expect to be.

Richard Barron concurred, stating firmly, "The day I'm compensated I'm no longer a board member." He added that he felt it "extremely unfortunate the editor of the newspaper chose to bring up and make this an issue."

David Llewellyn also went on record against receiving any compensation. It was pointed out in discussion, however, that it is not possible for this board to bind any future boards on compensation and was therefore speaking for itself.

Whitaker asserted that he feels "non-compensation is a sort of compensation for we are giving some time to what we think is important."

Board President Karen Wilkinson joined the other four in "not expecting, not wanting compensation."

Members Charles Peltz and Marjorie Sliker were absent but had previously indicated, said Wilkinson, that they agreed with the rest of the board's thinking.

Mounted police to patrol Hines park soon

If you see mounted police charging across the hills of Edward Hines Parkway this weekend, don't blame it on the heat, it's the newly organized Mounted Patrol Unit of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department helping to curb youthful rowdies that have been causing problems along the 19-mile-long park system for the past 10 years.

Wayne County commissioners were instrumental last week in obtaining legislative help to ram through a last-minute $100,000 state appropriation before the lawmakers left for their annual summer recess Friday. The funds will be used to renovate the sheriff's mini-station at Newburgh Lake, $65,000; build new horse stalls, $15,000; and purchase a mobile mini-station for the eastern end of the park near Telegraph, $20,000. "The county's current fiscal crunch," Wayne County Commissioner Mary E. Dumas said, "made it impossible for the county to provide the necessary funding as much as we would have liked to participate."

Two State Representatives, Richard A. Young of Dearborn Heights and Robert Law of Livonia, spear-headed the legislative action.

County Board Chairman Richard E. Manning agreed that addition of the horse patrol should help curb rowdiness in the park. "Mounted horsemen are one of the most peaceful and effective crowd-control methods available anywhere," he said.

Five deputies, two of whom are women, have been undergoing five weeks of training at the Detroit Police Mounted Division. They graduated today in special ceremonies at Rouge Park, Spinoza and Joy Roads, Detroit. The five are Michael Harpster, Mary Healy, Luther Riley, who is also a trainer; Gerald Doede and Dawn LaLonde. In charge of the unit is Lieutenant Warren Evans.

According to Evans, nine horses — seven pedigreed — were contributed by Southeastern Michigan residents as, what they termed, "their contribution to law and order in Hines Park." "The horses," Evans said, "amazed their Detroit trainers by their quick adjustment to traffic and noises." "These horses are no plugs," he added. Private donations are being sought for a special fund established by the sheriff's department to purchase feed, uniforms (boots and riding pants), saddles, horse shoeing, and veterinary services. Evans said one bank has already contributed $1,500 and asked that five other major banks do the same.

"Public support," he said, "has been phenomenal. Local farmers have been helping us bale hay at Wayne County General Hospital to feed the horses and the new mounted deputies have been volunteering their time as well. We need all the support we can get," he said, "because it takes about $500 per horse just for the bare necessities. We have to move them out of Detroit police stalls this weekend and for the time being they'll be housed on the hospital grounds."

Deputies patrolling the park claim the beefed up sheriff's patrols, new mini-station and cooperation by local judges has been a big factor in controlling park attendance. Road improvement projects of the Wayne County Road Commission were also credited with helping to control parking.

Wayne County Commissioner Alex Pilch said, "Adequate control of Hines

Park should be enhanced greatly by the addition of the horse patrol. This and other traffic measures that have been undertaken by the sheriff and road commission are all part of efforts that will return the park to family use, as well as alleviate the concerns of neighboring residents."

Scout's on ranch staff

A Northville youth, Greg Ayers, is serving on the Philmont Scout Ranch staff this summer.

Located in northeastern New Mexico in the rugged mountain wilderness of the Sangre de Cristo range of the Rockies, Philmont is the world's largest Boy Scout camping facility. Each summer over 15,000 Scouts and Explorers from across the nation and around the world camp and hike at the 214 square mile ranch.

As a member of Philmont's Ranger staff, Greg's duties include: meeting a crew as they arrive, assisting in check-in, and accompanying them on the trail for two days to review camping and hiking skills.

Greg is now flying the State of Michigan flag, as well as the New Mexican state flag, over his tent at base camp. State Senator Robert Geake arranged for the flag, which was flown over the capitol, to be sent to him.

Westland, and Luther Riley of Dearborn. Handing out the certificates were Wayne County Commissioners Alex Pilch (D-Dearborn); Kay L. Beard (D-Inkster); Sheriff William Lucas, Commissioner Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia) and Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners Richard E. Manning (D-Livonia/Redford). The mounted unit will start patrolling Edward Hines Park the first week of August.

Nazi camp survivor complains

Township police face 'civil rights' charge

By KEN KOVACS

He values his freedom above all. Having spent more than two years in Auschwitz, concentration camp, Marian Szczepanski knows what it is like to be without freedom.

Now the Northville Township resident says he may have to look elsewhere for his freedom.

"I came to this country because it was more free than Poland," he said. "But it is not free when police come and choke me illegally and don't want to leave my property and I have no means of removing them."

Szczepanski's comments stem from an incident which took place July 17 at his home at 46200 Frederick.

Northville Township Police were called by a neighbor of Szczepanski's who reported someone was breaking into a shed in his backyard.

Patrolman Martin Patyna and Reserve Sergeant James Schrot responded to the call and found no one at home.

At approximately 11:45 p.m. widower Szczepanski arrived home to find a police car in his driveway.

Up to this point Szczepanski's story and that of the police are identical. But after that things get a little ambiguous.

Szczepanski says he pulled his car up next to the police vehicle, got out and began walking towards his house when he saw two men coming towards him.

One of the men grabbed him by the neck, he says, and demanded to know who he was. He refused to tell them and asked who they were. The officer then released him, Szczepanski said, and he Szczepanski then took out his key, opened the door to his house and went in. Police followed, uninvited, he said.

According to the two officers, they saw a car pull up and stop in the driveway, the lights were turned off and the engine was then shut off. The car was then started and the officers say that they did not know if the car was going to leave or what the next move would be.

They shined a light into the vehicle to see who it was and since they did not recognize the occupant, asked him to get out of the car and identify himself. He refused to give identification, they say, and began to come towards them.

Police Officer Patyna says it was then that he grabbed Szczepanski by the neck, not knowing what he was going to do.

All three men entered the house and once again the officers asked Szczepanski to identify himself. He refused to give his name, stated that he was the owner of the property and told the officers to get out of his house.

They said that they would not leave until he showed them some identification.

Szczepanski says he then telephoned police in an unsuccessful attempt to have them remove the township police from his property. State police told him that they had no power to remove township officers from his home, he said.

Patyna then called his commanding officer, Lieutenant Kenneth Hardesty, asking for guidance as to their next move. Szczepanski also spoke to Hardesty, who says he recognized Szczepanski's voice. The officers then left the residence.

Szczepanski a widower, says that he may take legal action against police for assault and battery and for being illegally and against his will on his property.

Szczepanski says his main concern is not that police came to investigate the burglary, but that they entered his house without permission and then refused to leave when he told them to do so.

"If I cannot get police removed from my property it is a violation of my basic freedom," he said. "And I will fight for my freedom."

Lieutenant Hardesty, however, says that the officers were completely within their rights.

"The officers were totally in their realm of authority in the actions they took," he explained. "In my opinion they didn't exercise enough authority.

They could have arrested him.

"They were investigating a possible breaking and entering," he said. "That is a felony and they did not know him. He could have been an armed robber for all they knew."

Regardless of the outcome of any action that may be taken by Szczepanski or township police, the angry homeowner says that he does not want any township police of fireman on his property again.

"I don't care if my house is burning or even if someone is robbing it, I don't want Northville Police on my property," he said emphatically. "If necessary I will do anything I have to do to prevent them from coming onto my property."

"The value of what is in my house is much less than the value of my freedom," he said.

Highways carry names of pioneers, veterans, rabbi

The Michigan map is lined with highways carrying the names of auto pioneers, explorers, politicians and war veterans, but recently the names of a labor leader, rabbi and black woman were added, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The Walter P. Reuther Highway (I-696, through most of Oakland and Macomb counties) is named after the 24-year president of the United Auto Workers, who was one of the nation's top labor leaders until his 1970 death in a plane crash. One link of Reuther's highway, from Madison Heights to Southfield, is still in the planning stages.

A five-mile stretch of I-696 from Telegraph Road southeast to Eight Mile Road in Southfield is named the Rabbi Morris Adler Memorial Highway for the Jewish leader who was assassinated in 1966 by a member of his congregation at Shaarey Zedek synagogue which overlooks the highway.

M-66 in Calhoun County was dedicated in 1976 as Sojourner Truth Memorial Highway for a woman who escaped from slavery in 1827 to become a leader of the abolitionist movement and an adviser to President Abraham Lincoln on problems of newly freed slaves. She was believed to be 108-years-old when she died in 1883 and was buried in Battle Creek.

The names of seven auto pioneers grace Michigan highways.

Dort Memorial (M-54DR which parallels I-75 through the Flint-Mount Morris area) is named after J. Dallas Dort, a hardware store manager who entered the road car business in 1886 with William J. Durant, the man who later founded General Motors Corp., the forerunner of General Motors Corp. Dort was known for his stabilizing influence on Durant and is credited for much of the latter's early success in the automobile industry.

The David Dunbar Buick Freeway (I-475), honoring the man who helped invent the two-cylinder "valve-in-head" Buick engine, is an access road from I-75 into Flint. Buick, a talented inventor whose patents included the lawn sprinkler, gave up an assured fortune with an indoor plumbing supply firm for his interest in gasoline engines and automobiles.

Buick's engine catapulted Durant into auto manufacturing with the birth of Buick Motor Co. in 1904. Durant used car racing to promote and make Buick the top-selling automobile by 1908.

A member of Durant's famous Buick racing team, which captured half of all road races at that time, was a Swiss-American named Louis Chevrolet. With Durant's backing, Chevrolet designed a six-cylinder, light-weight car in 1911 to compete with the Ford. M-21 through Flint is known as Chevrolet Freeway.

Another man influenced by Durant was Walter P. Chrysler whose name adorns I-75 from Eight Mile Road to downtown Detroit. Chrysler began his career as a railroad machinist but soon turned his efforts to automobiles as Buick's plant manager. He climbed the corporate ladder to Buick president and General Motors vice president for an estimated $500,000 a year.

Chrysler resigned in 1920 over a policy difference with Durant and several years later took the helm of the founding Maxwell Motor Corp., which produced Maxwell and Chalmers cars. Chrysler designed his own car as a direct outgrowth of those two models and with outside financial backing formed Chrysler Corp. in 1935.

Two other Detroit freeways with automobile roots are the Edsel Ford Freeway (I-94), named after Henry Ford's only son, and the Fisher Freeway (I-75 from downtown Detroit to Outer Drive), named after the seven Fisher brothers whose claim to fame was building car bodies.

The Olds Freeway (I-496 through Lansing) is named for Ransom E. Olds who started Oldsmobile and Reo Motors.

Flipping the pages of history back hundreds of years will produce the names of three great explorers who are honored with highways.

Leif Erickson Memorial Highway (M-95 extending from the Wisconsin border through Iron Mountain to Champion) was named for the 15th century Norse explorer who is believed to have reached the shores of North America well before Italian navigator Christopher Columbus.

Columbus' name appears on two Michigan highways — M-102 (Eight Mile Road) and M-53 from Sterling Heights to Washington in Macomb County. Pere Marquette and Memorial Highway (US-31 along the western edge of the state) is named for Father Jacques Marquette, a Jesuit missionary-explorer who died near Ludington in 1675.

The names of politicians and public servants can be found on the map from as far south as Detroit to the Upper Peninsula.

The Jeffries Freeway (I-96) in Detroit is named for Edward J. Jeffries Jr., mayor of Detroit from 1938 to 1948. Five years ago, I-696 from Grand Rapids to Holland was named Gerald R. Ford Freeway in honor of the former U.S. President.

M-46 in Muskegon is Tom Bolt Memorial Highway in honor of a Muskegon County school commissioner who later served as a state senator, county road commissioner and state tax commissioner.

Two politicians — former U.S. Senator Prentiss Brown of St. Ignace and former Governor G. Mennen Williams — have 30-mile stretches of I-75 named for them because of their efforts to build the Mackinac Bridge. The 50-mile section north of Big Mac is named after Brown and the section south of the bridge carries Williams' name.

The Horatio S. Earle Memorial Highway (M-53 in the Thumb) is named for Michigan's first state highway commissioner who was appointed in 1905. Earle, who died in 1935, became known as the "Father of Good Roads."

Another former state highway commissioner, Frank F. Rogers, has his name on M-28 in Marquette. Day Memorial Highway (M-22), which provides a 105-mile tour of scenic Leelanau County, was named for David H. Day, who became Michigan's first park commissioner in 1920.

Six Michigan highways memorialize war veterans and heroes. The entire length of I-75 also is known as American Legion Memorial Highway. M-13, a link between Bay City and Saginaw off I-75, is Veterans of World War I Memorial Highway.

In the Upper Peninsula, the Spanish-American War Veterans Memorial Highway, a stretch of U.S.-2 and I-75, runs from St. Ignace to Sault Ste. Marie. AmVets Memorial Highway, a 1.1-mile section of U.S.-2, U.S.-41 and M-35, runs north from Escanaba.

In West Michigan, the Red Arrow Memorial Highway pays tribute to the 107th Combat Engineers of World Wars I-II. It starts at the Michigan-Indiana line and runs north through Benton Harbor.

U.S.-12 from Detroit southwest to New Buffalo is named Pulaski Memorial Highway after Count Casimir Pulaski, a Polish patriot who fought in the Revolutionary War under Gen. "Mad" Anthony Wayne.

In Novi

Medical center ok'd

Novi City Council members have granted preliminary site plan approval to developers of the proposed Woodland Medical Center, a major medical facility planned near Twelve Oaks Mall.

Proposed is a 96,000 square foot facility with a complete line of health care services to be built on a 12-acre site on the south side of Twelve Mile between Novi and Meadowbrook roads.

The initial 96,000 square foot building would make the Woodland Medical center the largest medical facility in Novi.

Council members learned before granting approval that the developers have planned to increase screening and landscaping at the center as requested by the council.

In order to block the view of the parking lot from drivers on Twelve Mile the developers have proposed planting 100 Austrian Pines as well as some deciduous trees which will serve as a screen.

In addition, landscaping along the drive and throughout the parking lot has been increased. A large island for trees has been added to the middle of the parking lot, the council learned.

City Consulting Planner Charles Cairns told the council the developers should extend a marginal access service drive to the eastern boundary of the medical center property.

The marginal access drive is part of a road system within the shopping center development which provides access to businesses without creating a large number of entrance and exit drives on Twelve Mile.

Norman Hyman, representing Woodland Medical Center, told the council that plans do not call for extension of the drive because the land to the east is expected to develop as residential homes.

Connecting the service drive from the medical center into the residential area would not create a good traffic pattern for either the medical center or the residential area since they would "inflict traffic on one another," Hyman said.

However, Hyman told the council the developers would be willing to extend the drive if directed to do so.

For the purposes of preliminary site plan approval, the council agreed an easement should be left in the area proposed for the drive so that a decision on requiring the drive can be made at final site plan approval.

Another question regarding a north-south road on the west side of the medical center's parking lot was raised by the council.

"I understood the north-south road was an important part of the entire marginal access system when it was originally presented by the Taubman Company," said Council Member Robert Schmid.

Cairns told the council the road was not essential, though it would help circulate traffic.

Site plans show a north-south driveway along the west side of the development, but Hyman said that is all the clinic intends to build.

The question will be more properly addressed when the property develops to the west, according to Cairns.

The council voted 5-0 to grant preliminary site plan approval. Council Members James Shaw and Guy Smith had excused absences.

Last week's presentation was the groups' second attempt to preliminary site plan approval for the project.

In an earlier meeting the developers requested approval as soon as possible so that excavation of the site could begin.

They informed the council they had been working round-the-clock to modify the plans as requested by the planning board. Time was of the essence since the group would have lost its financing if ground were not broken by the end of June.

Instead of granting approval at that time, the council agreed to issue a temporary building permit which would allow the builders to break ground and give them additional time to prepare their site plans.

That's lots of gas!

According to estimates by the American Automobile Association, 25 million gallons of gasoline are consumed by families each week in this country, as they shop, visit friends, seek out entertainment or recreational events and run errands.

Resources management specialists from the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service offer these suggestions for saving gasoline during family business hours:

—Carpool with others in your neighborhood.

—Shop and do other errands during non-rush hour periods to avoid being caught in traffic.

—Try to one-step shop at a multiservice shopping center close to home.

—Use the telephone as a shopping tool to locate goods or services.

—Make shopping lists to avoid having to make an extra trip for a forgotten item.

—Instead of driving across town to visit friends, visit by phone sometimes.

—Whenever possible, walk, bike or take a bus.

—If you're planning a night out, invite another couple to share the ride.

Encourage your teenagers to do likewise; agree to do likewise.

—If there is more than one car in the family, use the most fuel-efficient one as often as possible.

—Make sure your automobile engine is tuned.

Alcohol series set in August

August 14 — "Progression of Alcohol - Disease Concept," Dr. Hollingsworth.

August 21 — A panel discussion on how alcohol affected their lives and how A.A. or Alanon helped them, by two AA members and two Alanon members.

Programs are open to the public, Jaycees stress.

"Anyone curious about alcohol or alcoholism and the effect it has on the mind, body and lives of people is welcome to attend. Most of the meetings are of the discussion type and questions will be answered regarding treatment facilities in this area."

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Truly, it would be a shame if city voters turn thumbs down next Tuesday on the proposed Mainstreet 78 project.

The downtown improvement program is being placed before voters for the second time. Last February it failed to gain public support by a vote of 318 to 260.

That's very poor turnout at the polls. Undoubtedly, the committee didn't do enough to round up voter interest.

But there's also the suspicion by those performing post mortems on the election that many homeowners figured they would end up stuck with the tab for the $1.6 million project.

Naturally, they object to signing for improvements that they view as beneficial strictly to downtown businesses. So they voted "no."

In fact, it just isn't that way at all. But it isn't easy to convince the oft-bitten taxpayer that city hall and all those other chamber-of-commerce-and-downtown-business types aren't plotting another boondoggle.

Mainstreet 78 really sounds too good to be true. It is a well-thought-out plan to reverse a declining taxbase trend in the city's central business district.

It is based upon the premise that if the city leads the way in making much needed improvements to its city-owned properties in the downtown area (parking lots, sidewalks, streets) private business will follow.

The evidence this will happen is indisputable. Two owners of four downtown buildings have filed letters with the city manager declaring their intent to make major improvements pending approval of Mainstreet 78.

Another major renovation has already been announced. And a leading savings and loan association chose the downtown district in which to locate a new branch when officials of the company learned of the city's progressive improvement plan.

Mainstreet 78 is a unique undertaking for any community, whatever the size. It is an expression of confidence and optimism, yet it is not carelessly conceived; it is not a gamble.

The project is an example of local initiative. While it takes advantage of a state law which provides for "tax increment financing" (using income from added taxbase to pay off bonds), it does not employ the use of federal or state grants.

Mainstreet 78 provides the city with an opportunity to complete some long-overdue improvements and pay for them with new business taxes.

And it also extends promise to residential taxpayers that the downtown taxbase will become stronger and thus assume a greater share of the tax dollars that are paid to the city, schools and county.

Voter approval of the project is an essential element of the program. It will enable the city to sell its bonds at a lower interest rate, thereby saving more than $100,000 in costs. That alone, of course, is highly important.

But in my mind community approval is more important as an expression of confidence, a demonstration of support, a stamp of public approval.

Certainly taxpayers must recognize that five elected city councilmen would not stick out their collective necks if they had even the slightest hint that such a project could backfire on the voters they represent. These councilmen are well aware of the importance of a healthy business district to the community.

Consequently, they are somewhat prone to play the role of doctor. There's been the suggestion that whether voters do or do not support Mainstreet 78, the program will be undertaken.

And although $1.6 million sounds like a lot of money to most of us, the project could be financed without a vote of the people. It would cost more; and some public improvements (such as parks, streets, etc.) might be delayed in favor of the downtown program. But the local tax rate would hardly skyrocket to meet the obligation.

While I might agree that in this instance councilmembers may know what's best for their "patients" (the taxpayers), the council must respond to the will of the people. It does not hold a medical degree. It is a body functioning in a democratic society.

What we must hope for here is that the democratic process does work when all the facts are known and that city residents will respond positively.

In a miniature sort of way Mainstreet 78 is an example of what President Carter was talking about when he pointed to our nation's "confidence crisis."

We have to believe in something, people. If not our own community, what then?

GERALD SIXBEY

Speaking for Myself

Should Teddy run in 1980?

JOANN MURPHY

Yes

The job President Jimmy Carter has done hasn't been all that bad. But lack of cooperation from Congress has seriously hampered his programs, such as an energy program.

Therein lies the problem. Jimmy Carter was elected because he was viewed by many voters as not being tainted by Washington ties. Those ties have also been his undoing.

He, quite simply, has not had the political contacts necessary to get programs through Congress. He has none of the political acumen of a Lyndon B. Johnson, for instance.

Currently, President Carter is shaking up his cabinet, hoping that the ousters will renew confidence in his ability to govern.

Ted Kennedy, with 17 years in the U.S. Senate, has the knowledge and the political stewardship to gain passage of needed legislation. We have for years needed national health care legislation, which Canada has successfully implemented to lower health costs for the poor. Kennedy is the only one who could secure passage of such legislation.

I think that if Kennedy were to run tomorrow, he would get 65 percent of the votes hands down. The mood of the country is a Kennedy mood. The best leaders, as Carter has emphatically demonstrated, are the politicians.

Gerald Sixbey
Brighton

No

Ted Kennedy is without a doubt, one of the most distinguished persons in government today. He works hard and his dedication on the issues is firm and unwavering.

As a senator and as a maybe-maybe not presidential candidate, Senator Kennedy gets great press and can do no wrong.

If he were to become a presidential candidate, it would be a different story.

In 1976, the electors were looking for a president that was not a part of the "Washington Scene" and because he has not played the "political game," these same electors condemn him.

President Carter's accomplishments in foreign policy are remarkable and many of his triumphs represent goals sought, but not attained, by his Republican predecessors; the Panama Canal, Salt II, the normalization of relations with China, and the successful negotiation of peace between Israel and Egypt.

President Carter risked failure and the humiliation that failure would have meant by going himself to Jerusalem and to Cairo to do everything he could to insure a peace agreement, and he succeeded. The president has demonstrated a mature capacity for courage and strength and he deserves our respect and support for it.

JACK W HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

So what's new?

The "recent" agitation on the part of prominent educators in favor of more thorough training in the "Three R's," prompted the following:

"This is the season of the consideration of the time-honored subject of the 'Three R's' and the 'Elimination of the Fads and Fancies' of the school curriculum. Discussion of this subject has broken out again ad nauseam.

"The fact is that the ignorance of the average citizen concerning the aims and the results of the public school curriculum is so colossal that they do not yet comprehend how far away life has traveled from a possibility of return to a serious consideration of the 'Three R's' as a vital problem in education.

"Our schools palpably have a large percentage of failures, as is inevitable in large systems of production. Causes for these failures must be sought and efficiency must be secured, but it is absurd to suppose that efficiency for present day living can be obtained by trying to turn the wheels of the universe back to the days of our grandfathers. The world moves on and we must move with it and refuse to retrograde.

"After all, what are the Three R's in their relation to present day life?

"Reading is useful still, necessary to much enjoyment and to a certain sort of culture, but not as necessary and not as important as a hundred years ago. Given the main elements of reading and that is sufficient for the boy or girl of today who is to take the place of mechanic or saleswoman.

"Hundreds of our children have conceived a distaste for reading books. Many of our successful businessmen read only newspapers and money market reports.

They see justification in band instructor switch

To the Editor:
In reading A. Chisnell's letter I was prompted to research the exact awards that the Northville H.S. bands have received.

All the school bands in Northville have been participating in the annual band festivals that are organized and sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association (M.S.B.O.A.). At festival each band performs music that is prepared for a concert and music that is seen for the first time. After this each band's performance is evaluated by four judges. There is a numbering system used to indicate the overall performance. The rating system is numbered I through V, with I (first division) being the highest rating. Bands receiving a first division rating at the local level (called district festival) may go on to the harder state level (called state festival).

Since 1969 the NHS Wind Ensemble has received only three first division ratings in the MSBOA band festivals. These ratings were earned in the school years 75-76, 76-77, and 77-78. The year 76-77 Mr. Williams was not the director of the wind ensemble.

Jazz Ensemble I has received first division ratings in the years 74-75, 75-76 and 76-77. Mr. Williams was not the Jazz I director in the year 76-77.

The Symphonic Band has received only one first division rating (in 74-75) since 1969. Jazz Ensemble II has never received a first division rating. No evidence was found of a first division rating achieved by any NHS band in state competition since 1958.

In contrast to the NHS record, the Meads Mill band has received first division ratings in nine out of 10 years (along with two first divisions at the state level).

When looking at the record in this manner one must conclude that the NHS bands performances are, at best, inconsistent and not nearly at high level performance that some people have been led to believe.

Sincerely,
Band Student Concerned

To the Editor:
To the animals who played havoc with the high school courts on Sunday evening, go to the nearest psychiatrist for an examination before you take your frustrations out on a human!

No one in their right mind would get their jollies throwing rocks at the lights and leaving the courts covered with broken glass and rocks. Only three courts are useable because one net was also destroyed.

Hope you get help soon.

Obituary

Funeral services for Mabel Viola Cooley, an active nurse for 47 years before she retired in 1959 and long a participant in community affairs, will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday. Mrs. Cooley died Sunday at the age of 90.

She had been ill for approximately three years and suffered a massive heart attack at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor. The former Northville resident had been living with her daughter, Jean L. Utley, in Milford.

A registered nurse doing private duty in the horse and buggy days in Jackson, Michigan, area, Mrs. Cooley came to Northville in 1936 from Jackson where she had been assistant superintendent of nurses at the Jackson County Tuberculosis Sanatorium. She became charge nurse at the Maybury Sanatorium, retiring in 1959.

A graduate of Foote Hospital in Jackson, Mrs. Cooley was member of the Army Nurse Corps in World War I, in charge of all three operating rooms at Camp Custer in Battle Creek.

She was a member of the American Red Cross, Mizpah Circle of King's Daughters, First United Methodist Church and the Women's Society for Christian Service, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary to South Lyon Chapter 2502 and a life member of Fern Leaf Chapter (Jackson) Eastern Star.

She was a charter member and past president of the Northville Business and Professional Women, and was past chaplain of the Lloyd H. Green American Legion Post 147.

Mrs. Cooley was born January 2, 1889, in St. Thomas, Ontario, to William D. and Eunice (Couse) McNabb and married Orion G. (Dick) Cooley August 29, 1919. He preceded her in death in 1933.

In addition to her daughter she leaves a brother Clifford R. Palmer of Battle Creek; grandsons Michael Utley of Beaufort, South Carolina, and Steven Utley of Ypsilanti; granddaughters Cathleen Gabriel of Dallas, Texas, and Judith Utley of Milford; and six great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death also by a daughter and two brothers.

The Reverend Wayne Brookshear of Milford Methodist Church will officiate at the service at Casterline Funeral Home. Interment is to follow in the veterans' plot in Rural Hill Cemetery.

The family suggests that contributions may be made to the American Diabetes Association in Mrs. Cooley's memory.

Melinda Rotta receives degree

A 1977 Northville High School graduate was one of 1200 students who recently participated in the June graduation ceremony from Oakland Community College.

Melinda J. Rotta was graduated summa cum laude.

Besides establishing academic excellence both years, Ms. Rotta served as president of the Newman Association for two years and was active in student government, student activities, Academic Senate, Community Continuum, and she worked in the admissions and administration offices.

As a freshman, she was elected editor of the school newspaper, The Recorder.

At the graduation ceremony, Ms. Rotta received two associate degrees — one in liberal arts and one in mental health. Presently, she is working at Our Lady of Providence School in Northville.

In the fall, she will attend the University of Michigan continuing her studies in psychology.

To the Editor:

The recent decision by Mr. Nichols to transfer Mr. Williams to Cooke and reinstate Mr. Rumbell to the high school has caused emotional upheavals which hide the true facts. The band, or any musical organization, is not formed for the social benefit of its members. It seems in all of the letters opposing William's transfer these are the only concerns.

Except for a few instances, the past decade shows poor performances and ratings in both wind ensemble and jazz bands. And this is not due, by any means, to a lack of talent. On the other hand, Mr. Rumbell and Mr. Mason have consistently led their bands to excellent performances and ratings all over the state.

In his letter last week, S. Chisnell states that the Northville Jazz Ensemble is renowned and performs almost weekly. The jazz ensemble played only eight times last year including trips on concerts. Several of these performances were disappointing in quality. He also states the wind ensemble and symphony band are regarded with high ratings in competition. You can't be talking about the high school.

Lisa Younquist attacks Rumbell on the point of his two absences from the band honors banquets. He was sick on those two dates. On the other hand, Mr. Williams has been suffering from an ear infection for the last year and a half. For this and other reasons, the jazz ensembles did not even compete this year at the festival for lack of preparation or a conductor.

I do not believe "Willie" has tried to impress upon his students any attitude of professionalism or competitiveness, very necessary to students wishing to succeed in the musical world. I also believe Mr. Nichols made the right decision in choosing, between these two fine men, the better conductor.

Mainstreet 78 has the unanimous support of the Northville City Council, the Chamber of Commerce and the Northville Retail Merchants Association. This political advertisement was paid for by contributions from the Chamber, local business persons and residents.

Jack's Column

"Granted that is deplorable from the standpoint of the older culture. It is sufficient for the lives they lead, and moving pictures tell graphically more in a few hours than a book does in days.

"How about writing?

"That, too, is passing out of the list of the necessities, after its elements have been mastered. Authors and business men dictate to their stenographers and the typewriter makes cleaner copy than man can write.

"The elements of arithmetic are still of great value to the common man. The four operations, simple fractions and mensuration cannot well be eliminated without harm, yet much of the more advanced work in this subject is merely rubbish to the average man.

"Education should relate man to the life he is forced to pursue. More than this cannot be claimed to be necessary, however desirable it may prove."

All of the foregoing is a statement by a teachers' organization carried in The Northville Record 65 years ago — on March 14, 1914.

Rotarians to play with center kids

The third annual benefit softball game involving young people from Northville Residential Training Center is to be held Sunday, July 29.

Sponsored by the Northville Rotary Club, the game will pit two teams of Rotarians and children against each other at Thomson Field on Six Mile (west of Beck) beginning at 2 p.m., according to Rotarian Steven Walters.

The public is invited, with ticket donations to be used by the Rotary Club to finance purchase of equipment not normally furnished patients at the center by the state. Examples of equipment, said Walters, include recreational equipment and art supplies.

Although raising of money for the center is a purpose of the benefit game, "The really important purpose is to provide the kids with an afternoon of fun with adults from the community," Walter ex-

"Putting smiles on the faces of these kids is 'number one.'"

Center participants — approximately 20 youngsters selected by the center — will be provided T-shirts and trophies. They also will be served refreshments.

Refreshments also will be available to the public.

Tickets for the game ($1 or more each) are available from any member of the Rotary Club and they may be obtained at Thomson field on the day of the game.

Here's state aid figures

If you have a head for figures, you may be able to follow the calculations which resulted in the state's conclusions last week.

It all has to do with how the state computes its aid to school districts. All these figures below were supplied by the Northville school district.

In Northville, the State Equalized Value (known as SEV, or the state's estimate of the value of the property here) is $202,709,719.

If you divide that by the 4,375 pupils in Northville (including the Instructional Special Education Program, or ISEP students, which is permissible under state law), there is $46,334 SEV per pupil here.

By using the SEV formula, you come up with a total of $1,515 per pupil which the district can afford to pay by itself. Deducting this from the $1,731, the state will pay, then, $216 per pupil.

If the state paid $216 per pupil, then the district would be getting $945,000 from state coffers. This is the amount the state announced last week.

But this is the crucial issue: the Northville K-12 school district cannot spend money designated for the ISEP program.

So out of that $945,000 figure, 525 students at $1,731 apiece must be subtracted.

The upshot is that for the regular program, the district will get only $36,000.

But there are complications.

The school and state each have different fiscal years, so Northville will only get 87 percent of that $36,000 this year. But we'll also be getting some 13 percent budgeted last year.

So we will get $31,516 this year, $84,647 from last year, or a total of $116,163 in state aid.

In addition, we will get $22,562 ($8,573) from this year, $13,989 from last year) from the state as a help for districts with declining enrollments. This year, without ISEP students, Northville will have only 3,850 students in school here.

All told, Northville will get a bit more than expected, but not much.

Restaurant plan approved

Site approval was recommended unanimously for Positively Mainstreet, a restaurant and saloon proposed for 126-130 East Main, by Northville city planners last week Tuesday.

In their motion they left up to the city council approval of fees to be charged in lieu of parking spaces, making the action contingent upon agreement being reached with owners Daniel Collins and Constantine Kittrakis on cash-in-lieu of parking space.

Commissioners viewed plans for the new restaurant and adjoining saloon which revealed the rear will have a facade resembling the front facing Main Street. Collins told the commission that the entrance from Mary Alexander Court will be as attractive as that on Main.

The expanded building will be located where the Old Mill Restaurant now is and its saloon will be the present Coney Island.

Under a formula developed by the city any business that does not have sufficient parking spaces on site may purchase those required in addition from the city.

Ronald Nino, planning consultant, recommended approval of the project, saying that the architectural style is consistent with the theme established for Mainstreet 78.

"It is important and significant to recognize that the development is another step towards achieving the planned goals of the 'downtown revitalization' program represented by 'Mainstreet 78,'" he said in his recommendation.

Under the city's formula, he said, it would appear that the applicant will have to arrange for cash-in-lieu of parking for approximately 66 spaces. Five existing spaces are being lost by expansion, giving the applicant credit for 21.

The number, Nino added, could vary with actual construction as the upstairs where there will be a private dining room was measured as it presently exists.

In recommending approval the commission did not specify dollar amounts as it was not certain whether the cash adjustment would be based on last year's charge of $2,400 a space or this year's increase to $3,000 as the applicants had appeared before council last year asking to be considered under the cost then.

The building is located in the city's historic district hence the plan must receive the architectural approval of the historical commission.

Drawings shown at the meeting gave the restaurant a "storefront" appearance with canopies over the entrances.

Bonanza's a mirage

The problem came when the state counted all the $75 ISEP students as being part of the regular school district. This added $908,775 to the total figure of what the district would receive. The two budgetary programs, ISE and the regular school district had been combined.

"All the data shows that Northville public schools will be receiving more than a million dollars when actually we'll only be getting $36,000 for the K-12 program," Nichols told the board. With all the ISEP money counted as part of the Northville school district's budget, Nichols said it was small wonder that he did not get a more sympathetic response when he appeared before the legislature in Lansing last month.

"Now it helps me understand why I didn't get much response in Lansing," Nichols told the board. "In the state's budget, it shows the ISE program costing $83 million to $1 million less; and the Northville K-12 budget about $1 million more," Nichols told the board.

He re-emphasized that the upshot would be that Northville will not be receiving $1 million from the state, but only $36,000 for the coming school year.

"Next time I go to Lansing, I see I'll need to talk a different language," Nichols said. "They are not showing a fair picture of our expenditures."

He stressed that it is a unique problem for Northville, since Northville is the only local school district in the state conducting an ISE program.

Because the state has no method of keeping ISEP and regular school funding separate in their bookkeeping, the discrepancy, and the phantom million, showed up.

Board members stressed that the error must be quickly corrected for the public.

"It must have come as quite a jolt to the public to think we were going to get an additional million dollars when we have been cutting the budget," Trustee David Whitaker said.

In a nutshell, Mainstreet 78 proposes to encourage private improvements and new downtown development by improving public property. The public and private improvements will drive up downtown property values. Under the "captured taxes" plan, additional tax dollars generated by the increasing property values will be used to repay the borrowed money.

According to Mayor Paul Vernon, the "most conservative" estimates show that "captured taxes" can easily pay the principal and the interest on the borrowed monies.

The bond issue on which voters will cast ballots Tuesday is for $1.6 million.

In commenting on the plan last week, Vernon emphasized that several potential developers already have voiced interest in establishing new businesses in the downtown area simply because they see Mainstreet 78 as an indication of the city's commitment to make the central business district succeed.

A plan for development of part of the G.E. Miller property (Hutton at Main) has been disclosed, officials pointed out, and the new development awaits only a satisfactory sale by Miller to the Northville Area Economic Development Corporation.

Among the improvements suggested by Mainstreet 78 are renovation of the city-owned Dunlap parking lot, improved lighting in all parking lots, and beautification of parking lots and sidewalks.

The kind of beautifications planned by the DDA, council members have noted, may be seen in the new municipal parking lot at Main and Hutton. Sidewalks there have been bricked, benches, trees and tree skirts have been installed, and a new, decorative lighting system has been erected.

Polls will open at 7 a.m., close at 8 p.m. Precincts 1 and 2 will vote in the council chambers in the city hall, while Precincts 3 and 4 will vote in the American school library.

Hunter House

Greek Revival's resplendent in new caramel-and-cream paint

By JEANDAY

But where's the fireplace?

That's the question first time visitors to Hunter House in Mill Race Historical Village off Griswold most often ask as they enter the parlor.

It is an expected query as the freshly painted butterscotch-and-cream, double-wing Greek Revival style house boasts a mantel shelf on the back wall of the parlor.

Volunteer docents on duty when the village is open from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday afternoons explain that research has shown there never was a fireplace beneath the mantel. Probably, when the house was built in 1851 by a miller named Stephen Hunter, his wife Mary would have liked a fireplace, but settled for the mantel shelf for display of her candlesticks and other decorative accessories.

After the house was moved to the village from its original site on Main at the extension of Griswold (when the extension south was cut through), the building was restored to its original condition. Workers established then that there never had been a fireplace.

The roof line of the wings was returned to its original condition and the cedar roofing applied. The clapboard siding first was painted white for preservation.

The house received its present paint in time for the Fourth of July festivities in the village. The butterscotch, or caramel color, with light cream trim was selected by members of Northville Historical Society after much research. The society is responsible for renovation and furnishing of the Mill Race buildings.

Carol Butske, who heads the committee on exteriors, explains that the colors are special mixes with the trim color intended to resemble whitewash of early days.

"We've established that the shades did exist in that period and that Greek Revival houses often in Michigan were painted in colors," she says.

Recent visitors to the house also discovered that the main floor is becoming furnished with pieces donated or purchased and augmented by furniture on loan from Detroit Historical Museum.

The furnishings committee headed by Eleanor Lowell with Marjorie Chickering and Pat Meyers has used 1860 as cut-off date for pieces in the house.

All furnishings have been selected with the fact in mind that this was the home of a miller who would have afforded rather simple things. Hunter was born in Scotland in 1810. He moved to Northville from Massachusetts, probably via the Erie Canal.

By the 1850 census records, he had a wife Mary also from Massachusetts and three children then aged 15, two and six months. The house subsequently had six other owners before being purchased from Herman and Ethel Hartner in 1972 by the city.

In the parlor today is a couch covered in a new blue material in homespun design. It is country Sheraton design and the most expensive purchase to date at $950.

The Hitchcock chairs and crotch mahogany Empire secretary with glass doors are on loan. The knobs on the desk appear to be Sandwich glass. A Clambroth candlestick is on top of the piece, and the shelves contain tintypes and an acrostic letter that came from a trunk that had belonged to Sara Thayer.

Also new are the Osnaburg, crash-like curtains in simple tie-back design. In the living room they are hung on wooden dowels, but on string in the other rooms, as they would have been in the 1850s.

While living room doors and windows boast a bull's eye trim on the corners, trims in the other rooms are plain. The committee reports that in the future it is planned to return the trim to its natural grain. It presently is painted.

A simple black iron stove is in place in the living room.

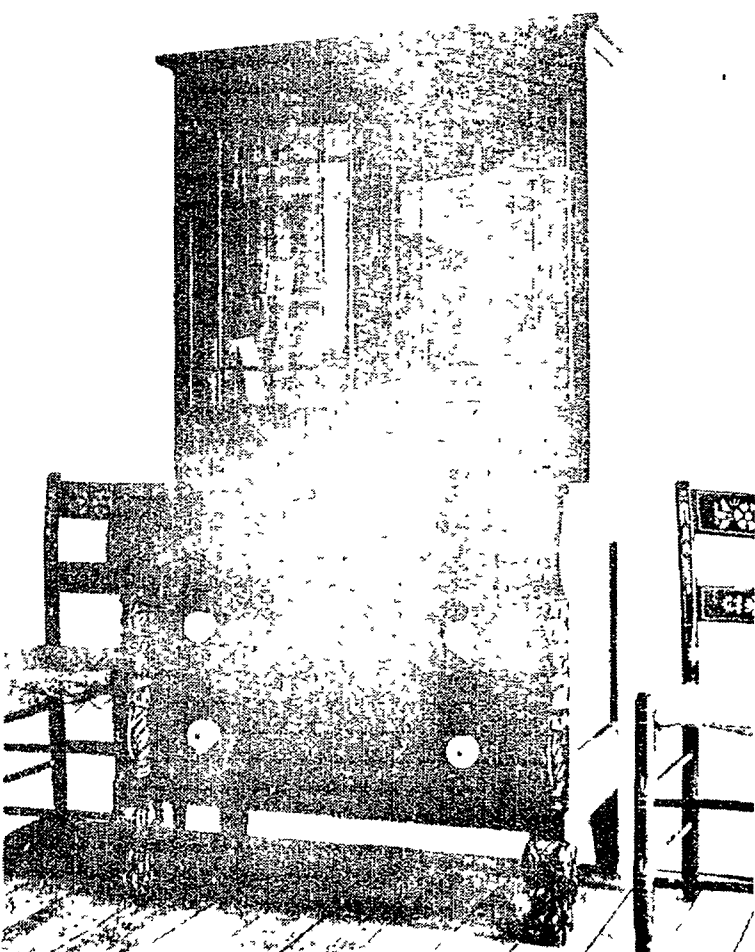

There also is an iron stove in the kitchen, but the committee is aware that it is not the type of kitchen stove that would have been used to cook for the family. It is on loan while the commit-

Local alumni take international U-M jaunts

By JEANDAY

Local alumni of the University of Michigan long have been aware that they can enjoy a unique "plus" for having attended the Ann Arbor institution. They are eligible to participate in a growing variety of non-profit trips that can take them to Greece, China and around the world. And more and more are doing so.

Terry and Bill Secord are veteran U-M travelers. Last week they returned from a Baltic cruise that covered almost 1,000 miles on water and included stops in Sweden, Estonia and Russia.

"We were there during the fantastic time of the midnight sun," recounts Mrs. Secord, mentioning that they were told that U-M offers more trips than any other college or university in the country.

The Secords on their latest jaunt flew to Stockholm, touring the city and flying over to Visby on the island of Goteland, a medieval walled city of "ruins and roses." They also toured the gardens of the late Carl Milles that contain some 150 works of the famous sculptor.

Leaving the harbor on the Russian cruise ship, M.S. Estonia, the Secords saw the beautiful Archipelago islands before stopping at Turku, ancient capital of Finland, and Tallinn in the Soviet Republic of Estonia.

"We knew we were in Russian territory as soldiers met us as we got off the ship," Mrs. Secord recounts. This also was true in Leningrad, she continues, calling it a city of beautiful buildings and canals. There they saw the Hermitage, the official winter palace. Via the Red Arrow, a night sleeper train, the Secords traveled to Moscow where they saw the Red Square and the Kremlin as well as the golden onion-skin cathedrals built by the czars and now referred to as "museums." "You see what they want you to see," Mrs. Secord observes.

Both Secords are enthusiastic about their trip, coming home with beautiful, heavy sweaters and some wooden Russian toy souvenirs. Like most travelers they comment on the high cost of everything in Europe.

Physician weds in June ceremony

Pauline Tryon McKenna of Southgate became the bride of Dr. Robert Wetterstroem of Northville in a 6 p.m. ceremony June 30 in Glenwood United Methodist Church in Wyandotte.

Officiating at the service were the Reverend Richard Reese of West Mound United Methodist Church of Taylor and Father Gerard Hadad, formerly of Our Lady of Victory Church.

Both Dr. Wetterstroem and his bride had been widowed. For the ceremony and reception following at the Camelot Inn in Allen Park the new Mrs. Wetterstroem wore a long, crystal-pleated blue gown. She carried white orchids.

Karen Amato of Taylor, her 15-year-old granddaughter, was her attendant. She wore a yellow chiffon gown and carried a nosegay of yellow roses.

Dr. Wetterstroem's oldest son Robert was his best man.

Dr. Wetterstroem's six children and Mrs. Wetterstroem's three with their families attended the ceremony.

In addition to Robert Wetterstroem and his family from Cincinnati there were daughter Anita, a law student at Duke University; Mary Myers and her husband Roger from Virginia Beach where she is director of nurses at Chesapeake Hospital; Karen (Mrs. Richard) Minton and her son Andrew from Seattle; Nanette, a pre-med student at University of Michigan in Ann Arbor; and Thomas, who is attending Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

Richard Minton was not able to accompany his wife to the wedding as he has been in Alaska on a map-making assignment for the U.S. government.

Family of the bride are her son and his wife, the Donald McKennas of Farmington Hills and their three children; daughter Susan and her husband Michael Shores of Allen Park who have one child; and daughter Dorothy and her husband Pat Amato with Karen of Taylor.

Mrs. Wetterstroem is a librarian and teacher, formerly teaching in River-view

They baked loaves for Saturday

Among the bargains at the annual downtown Northville merchants' sidewalk sale Saturday will be the baked goods at the booth of Mizpah Circle of King's Daughters.

Because shoppers know that everything at the booth to be located by the Main Street parking lot by Northville Pharmacy is homemade, it's always a popular stop.

This year, reports Marge Bolton, circle members have concentrated on breads and pies — although there also will be cakes and cookies.

For weeks rhubarb, apple and cherry pies have been made and placed in home freezers ready to bake Friday fresh for the sale.

Coffecakes, wheat, oatmeal and fruit breads also have been stored in freezers for the group's one money-making project of the year.

Proceeds are used by the circle for its welfare work in the area. The circle, which will be 85 years old next year, also helps support such Kings' Daughters charities as the home for seniors and is a regular contributor to University of Michigan Children's Hospital.

Friday members will be bringing their baked goods to First Presbyterian Church for pricing.

Mrs. Bolton and Julia Howser agreed to share their special bread recipes. Shoppers who buy the treats at the sale may want to try them in their own kitchens. The lists of ingredients reveal the breads are full of "good things."

First chance to enroll for crafts

Area residents will have a first opportunity to sign up for fall classes and workshops being sponsored for a second year by Northville Historical Society at the society's booth at the sidewalk sale this Saturday.

Brochures will be available and checks accepted at the booth. Otherwise, registration will be by mail only until October 1.

Lucia Danes of the planning committee announces there will be new as well as repeat programs. New will be a children's Christmas project.

Others planned include a mother-daughter sampler project, basket making by Marion Sober, clock repairing, quilting, traditional rug hooking and rush seat weaving.

Prices range from $10-$15 for the one-day workshops and $15 to $25 for the classes. They are held at the Mill Race Village.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH PRICE

Price-Parr vows read in Lapeer church

A wedding trip to Europe followed the marriage of Vicki Ellen Parr and former Northville Resident Keith Evans Price June 9 at Immaculate Catholic Church in Lapeer. Father George Goentges officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob G. Parr of Brown City. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harold Price, who were longtime Northville residents.

Sue Parr was her sister's honor maid. Bridesmaids were Paula Parr, another sister, Ruth Ney of Grosse Pointe Woods, Debra Bruner of Auburn Heights, Brenda Peterson and Jeanne Reardon of West Des Moines, Iowa, Dawn Christopher of Melvindale, Lisa Cincinelli of Petoskey and Lynn Watson of Birmingham.

The bride wore a white organza-oversatin gown with the skirt extending into a full train. A headpiece held her fingertip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet. Bridal attendants wore Swiss rose-hued gowns and carried bouquets of spider mums and pink carnations.

C. Ken Kohs of Northville was his friend's best man. Groomsman were Curtis Ghent of Fort Collins, Colorado, Richard Davidson of West Hartford, Connecticut, Gary Rockoff of Canandaigua, New York, Tom Law of Cuba, New York, Michael Shepard of Virginia Beach, Jeffrey and Daniel Parr, brothers of the bride.

Ushers were David Proulx, uncle of the bride, and A. John Parr, a brother. A reception followed for 400 guests in the Lapeer American Legion Hall.

The bridegroom is a May graduate of Northwood Institute in Midland in business administration. His bride also is a Northwood graduate. She majored in advertising.

They plan to live in the Detroit area.

Co-op plans enrichment program

A meeting of parents interested in a proposed enrichment group at Northville Cooperative Nursery is scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday, August 1.

It will be held at the scout-recreation building at 215 West Cady where the nursery sessions are held during the school year.

President Linda Smith

says the proposed enrichment group for children who will be five years old prior to March 1, 1980, has had greatest response of any suggested additions to the nursery program.

It will be in addition to the regular Monday-through-Friday cooperative sessions. Mrs. Smith may be called at 437-0362 for more information.

Shoppers find currants at first farmers' market

The Northville Farmers' Market opened for its annual seasonal business Thursday morning drawing shoppers from throughout the area in search of fresh produce, eggs and even house and garden plants.

The market opened at 8 a.m. as it will each Thursday in the Main Street parking lot adjacent to the Northville Pharmacy. Its colorful array of booths drew Ruth Maki and daughter Kathleen from Novi as well as scores of other shoppers welcoming the first appearance of produce fresh from the fields.

The Maki ladies were among the early shoppers checking out the first corn of the season offered by a South Lyon farmer as well as other items. As the season progresses, more and more farmers will join the market sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Red currants drew the eye of Mrs. Maki because she said they looked so appealing, adding that she hasn't seen them around for years. "Their bright color will add so much to my dinner table, and currants will be something different to offer the family," said the Novi homemaker.

Of Finnish decent, Mrs. Maki said fruit soups and whipped berry puddings comprise most of the everyday desserts in Finland. Following her mother's lead, Mrs. Maki often chooses fruits to complete her meals. Desserts as Americans think of them usually appear on the coffee table in Finland.

When asked for her recipe for red currant pudding which she said she planned to make following her purchase, Mrs. Maki laughed. Again following her mother, Mrs. Maki said she rarely used a recipe. "I don't remember my mother using a recipe and to be honest, I don't either. And I don't measure ingredients."

Checking further, Mrs. Maki said the use of the word "pudding" was also somewhat misleading. "The Finns would call it 'kiisseli' — a soup made from fruits. Soup to Americans means just that — soup. So, like my mother, I call it pudding, it's a thickened fruit sauce actually."

Mrs. Maki went on to say that the fruit sauces are exceptionally good when served warm as a topping for ice cream. She also suggested vanilla pudding or another Finnish favorite, rice pudding, as possible uses for the sauce. Others, she added, may prefer it served as is and topped with mounds of whipped cream.

Coordinating Mrs. Maki's list of ingredients with those found in "The Finnish Cookbook," homemakers may wish to try a sparkling fruit "soup" to compliment their dinner menus. Any berry, currant, blueberry, strawberry, raspberry, may be used.

Mrs. Maki did comment, however, that when using the currants, the tiny end stems should be picked off.

She claims it can be a big chore, but said she felt the final product was better for the additional work. If desired, the fruits may be sieved after cooking to remove any seeds and pulp producing a clear fruit sauce.

Rocks inspire ministry

Gloria Carter, who has turned rock collecting into a ministry, will be the speaker at the 9 a.m. breakfast of Women Aglow Saturday, August 4, at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

She is the author of "The Stones Cry Out." The book title is taken from Luke 19:40, which reads, "And he answered and said unto them, 'I tell you that, if these should hold their peace, the stones would immediately cry out.'"

Mrs. Carter, the wife of the founder of a lumber company, began a simple collection of picture rocks that turned into a ministry.

She travels widely, displaying a collection of more than 200 rocks and preaching in the belief that the picture rock ministry is "a fulfillment of the coming of Christ."

Mrs. Carter relates that she had collected rocks and sliced them with a diamond-blade saw for three years before the hobby turned into a ministry in 1970.

"We were having a home Bible study in our home and, as I was waiting for our guests to arrive, I was in our basement recreation room just casually looking at some of the rocks in my collection — all of a sudden I could see Biblical scenes and pictures in the rocks."

The first Biblical scene was the Crucifixion.

Mrs. Carter's talk will replace the third Saturday August meeting of Women Aglow.

Area women are invited to attend the breakfast with reservations to be made by August 1. Irene Scott, 349-6759, or Mary Louks, 455-6654, may be called

Grover sisters win again

Jeri Brundage of New Hudson and Elizabeth and Leslie Grover of Northville were winners in the Highland Dancing Competition at the 24th Annual Grandfather Mountain Games July 12-15 in the Blue Ridge Mountains near Linville, North Carolina.

This prestigious event attracted dancers from 28 states and the province of Ontario. It included the Atlantic International Open Championship (A.I.O.C.) competition in Highland dancing.

Elizabeth Grover was runner-up in the A.I.O.C. for the "Open-18 and Over" class with one first place and two second place medals in the Highland dances.

She captured the best of class trophy for the national dances the next day by taking the first place medals in all three of her dances — the Sailor's Hornpipe, the Blue Bonnet and the Irish Jig.

Leslie Grover did almost as well as her sister in the Atlantic Open Championship competition with three second place and one fourth place medal in the "Open-13 and Under" class.

She also won two second place medals in her national dances.

Church sells craft items

Northville First United Methodist Church has received a new shipment of decorative and gift items that are "cottage crafts" from other countries.

Onyx vases that have been on order are on display. Also available are amethyst and carnelian necklaces.

The Reverend Guenther C. Branstner reports that the church now has a good selection of items sold to help home industries in underdeveloped countries. The church began the project a few years ago with carved wooden pieces.

They are on display after services or at the church office on week day mornings.

CONCERN

It makes the difference between just "doing a job" and really providing a meaningful service.

We care about what we do... and we want our service to be of real help to those who turn to us.

saucepan and add the berries and sugar. Add the cornstarch to the remaining one-quarter cup of cold water and mix into a smooth paste. When the berries have cooked about 10 minutes, slowly stir the starch mixture into the boiling soup. Cook two minutes more, or until clear and thickened. If the juice from sieved berries is used, pour the fruit juice, water and sugar into saucepan and bring to a boil before adding thickening.

Mirons hike on U-M Alpine adventure

The William Miron family is back from a U-M trip to Switzerland, a trip the Secords took a few years ago. This year, the itinerary was changed on the popular family jaunt previously called Camp Michigan in Switzerland, which was operated similarly to the family camp run by the university on Walloon Lake.

Now termed Alpine Adventure, the tour took the Mirons and daughters Julie and Gail first to Geneva and then to Montana-Crans in the Alps where the university rents a private camp for this once-a-year excursion. "We did all of it," relates Anne Miron as she tells of the daily outings and hikes to tiny Alpine villages from the ski resort. The trip was a high school graduation present for Julie and a reunion with the family for Gail who now lives in Texas.

From Montana-Crans the group continued to Zermatt where the Mirons rode the cog railroad amidst spectacular scenery and went on to Locarno on the Italian border and then to Lucerne.

Mrs. Kampf cruises the Danube on U-M trip

Earlier this year in May Mrs. Theodore N. Kampf and Mrs. Robert G. Willoughby of Plymouth participated in a U-M Blue Danube cruise vacation. "I loved it; it was terrific," Iris Kampf sums up as she recalled flying to Munich and then motoring to Passau to board a Russian ship for the Danube cruise that took them through seven countries of Eastern Europe.

The travelers boarded a second, larger Russian vessel to continue the cruise on the Black Sea. Mrs. Kampf said the food on the second ship was superior to that on the first, calling it typically Russian and "different." As an example, she cited pickles on the breakfast menu. They flew home from Istanbul at the end of the 12-day vacation.

Ore boat's relaxing vacation

"Most relaxing time I've ever had!" is the way Glad Evans sums up the trip the H. O. Evanses and the William Davises took last week on the Ford Motor Company ore boat, the John Dykstra, to Marquette. They and the James Morgans of Dearborn were the only passengers on the boat, which, Mrs. Evans explains, has three beautiful staterooms and a private living and dining room for guests.

The couples played cards, sunned and watched the heavy traffic on the lakes. In Marquette they were met by the Davises' son-in-law Robert McLaren who took them home for a three-hour visit with their daughter and new grandson, Ian.

They left Monday from the Ford Rouge Plant and returned there at 4 a.m. Friday.

tee seeks the right type for the house.

The kitchen table is typical of the period of the house and has been set with ironstone china. A bowl of daisies usually centers the table when the house is open for visitors.

In one corner is a kraut-slicer that would have taken a whole head of cabbage, the committee points out. Quilts dry on a stretcher by the stove.

In the buttry, or pantry, the women have placed a checked cloth on the table where it appears a housewife has just rolled out a pie crust. The pie safe is on loan.

Floor in the kitchen has been generously bleached by hard-working volunteers. "I don't know how many gallons of bleach were used," observes Mrs. Meyers.

Other rooms have typically painted board floors. Rag rugs cover some areas.

Another purchase is a cannonball bed with rope spring and feather ticking. The blanket chest is grained with paint to resemble wood. A painted chest is early Victorian from Ohio.

A homey touch has been added by placing a nightie and bed socks by the bed. On one end hangs milady's bustle. The adult "necessary chair" in the room is on loan also from Detroit Historican Museum. The committee says that another historical society member, Lynda Heaton, had been a museum staffer and helped with loan arrangements.

In what may have been a child's bedroom is a space-saving trundle bed to show how children of an earlier day would have been accommodated in the tiny area.

In the wings off the living room are two other small rooms that researchers speculate may have been used as music or sewing rooms.

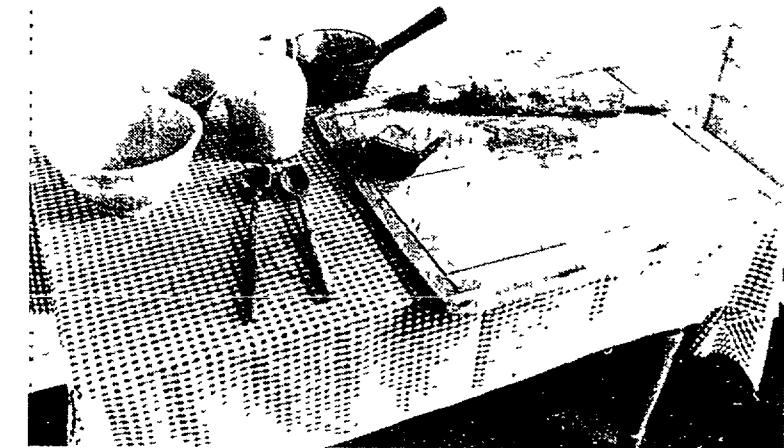

In one is the rocker that Mrs. Thaddeus Knapp donated to the historical society. It appears Shaker in origin with the rockers possibly added later. The late Dunlap Street resident was a benefactor of the historical society, leaving it about $9,000.

In the same room are a cradle and black-haired china head doll.

"The first kerosene lamp in Northville" is the way the lamp on a bedroom dresser is described. This was the gift of the John Blackburn family to the historical society.

As its goal, the furnishings committee says it wants to complete the house with simple, country style furnishings of Sheraton and Hepplewhite design and plans to include pieces that are painted, grained and stenciled. Workers are hoping for donations, citing among needed items a footstool, early mirror, chairs, secretary, hooked or rag rugs and early tins for the parlor.

For the kitchen and pantry flow blue ironstone and soft paste china are needed.

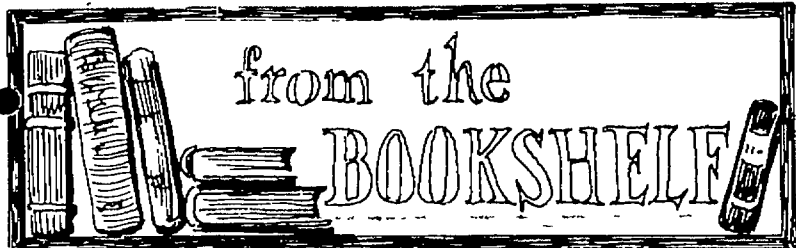

Also on the "wish list" are yellowware, stoneware, early pattern glass, tin and tole, pottery canning jars, molasses jugs, table silverware, iron cooking pots, buckets and baskets.

Mrs. Butske thinks about how well-furnished the little house would be if there were a hanging cupboard in the kitchen along with a youth chair, bucket bench and proper stove.

She'd like to see a chamber set in a the master bedroom and children's toys, sewing equipment and maybe musical instruments in other rooms.

Anyone with items to donate may call her at 349-6265.

Mentally ill find help in art therapy at state hospital

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

"But in the art therapy room, I saw gobs and gobs of bright acrylic paint, and the brilliance of the colors knocked me out ... If I couldn't tell her, I could show her the anguish I felt. So I decided to draw the color of fire blazing in my head — an orange, yellow, red jungle of fire. Then I painted the gray fog that seemed to surround my brain like a shroud ... So the painting began: faces with white, empty eyes, monsters, ogres, coffins, dead men, gray, black, brown, umber. It would be a long time before I would look outside and paint flowers ..."

Barbara Gordon,
Autobiography
"I'm Dancing as Fast as I Can"

On two sides of the bright art room at Northville State Hospital's "N" building, paintings decorate the walls.

One painting shows a huge head, a smiling face, surrounded by trees, flowers, a Christmas tree and the sun.

"You can't imagine how I felt when I saw that picture," exclaimed Shirley Ford, activity therapist at the hospital. The picture was drawn by a mentally ill girl, Sally (not her real name), who only months before had been brought into the hospital in shackles to keep her from hurting herself or others.

"Every day at the same time I would go to her room and introduce myself. For a long, long time, for months, she sat in the same position and didn't respond. Then one day I introduced myself again. That day, she looked up and said hello. It was like a miracle," Mrs. Ford said.

Sally was put into an art class and slowly she began to respond. "One day I looked up and she was reading a National Geographic. I mean, this was a girl who had been so disturbed, they didn't even know she could read!" Mrs. Ford said. Not long after Sally began doing art, she improved.

While art therapy is no substitute for regular psychiatric therapy, it allows patients to express emotions which they often cannot articulate, Mrs. Ford said. "Art serves emotional and spiritual needs which other kinds of education do not," she said. "The whole individual must be allowed to unfold."

Shirley Ford began as a volunteer 14 years ago at Northville State Hospital and was hired full time because her work was so successful. A portrait artist by profession, she works in rehabilitation services for 17 to 21 year-old mentally ill patients in "N" building. She also teaches at the main building four times a week where school is held.

One day after she was hired, Mrs. Ford held an exhibition of the artwork which had been done by hospital patients. When the psychiatric staff saw the work, they were amazed at the way a patient's mental health state showed through each drawing.

"I think it was then that they realized that art was a therapy," Mrs. Ford said.

How can art therapy actually help a mentally ill person?

"A sick person has trouble identifying reality, controlling impulses and thinking logically," Mrs. Ford said. Art therapy can help solve some of these problems.

"A mentally ill patient has a high level of anxiety, so first you have to

PATRICIA E. STOKER has been promoted to the position of cashier and bank operations officer, it was announced by George H. Cress, president of the Ann Arbor Trust Company.

Ms. Stoker joined the trust company in August of 1974 as head teller. In February of 1977 she was elevated to the position of main office manager in July, 1978.

It was also announced that JoAnne M. Lyke has been appointed to the position of assistant cashier and main office manager. Ms. Lyke joined the trust company in August of 1974 as a teller. She received promotions to assistant head teller in September of 1976 and to customer service representative in December of that year. In September of 1978

Ms. Lyke became assistant manger and head teller of Ann Arbor Trust's Chelsea banking office.

ALAN N. SHEPPARD, C.P.C.U. has been elected vice president, claims, at Citizens Insurance Company of America, headquartered in Howell.

Sheppard moves to Citizens from Beacon Mutual Indemnity Company at Columbus, Ohio, where he served as assistant vice president, claims. Beacon Mutual, along with American Select Risk Insurance Company, is associated with Citizens through common membership in The American Group.

Sheppard joined Beacon in 1964 and served in various claims positions until 1973, when he was promoted and transferred as manager of the Citizens' Southfield Branch. In 1975 he transferred back to Beacon as assistant vice president, claims.

He and his wife, Dorothy, will be moving to Michigan in the near future.

Sheppard replaces Glen. A. Gibson, who plans to leave Citizens to pursue an agency career.

GLENN M. EVANS of Walled Lake has returned from a three-day business and educational conference in Pinehurst, North Carolina, where he met with officers, leading managers and sales representatives of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Evans is sales manager of Metropolitan's office on Civic Center Drive in Southfield. He qualified for the conference by placing his sales unit in the top 10 percent of Metropolitan's 3,000 sales units in the United States and Canada.

Ernie Calabro, manager of the Hamburg office hold a sign which shows off the two-way business radio communication employed by Ashley & Associates

The International Real Estate Network has become established in South Lyon with the purchasing of the international franchise by Darrell Ashley, owner of Ashley & Associates, Incorporated, in South Lyon.

The move to the network will enable Ashley & Associates, formerly Ashley & Cox to offer its clients a nation-wide referral service, which provides a link with network offices throughout the country who might have real estate of interest to local residents.

Also, the network provides a link-up to a computer owned and operated by the United Northwest Realty Association, which will provide area listings for clients in minutes.

"This should really help our clients who don't have a lot of time to play around with books and books of listings. With the computerized service we can have all the information they want, prices, location and size, in minutes," Ashley said.

He said the computer also provides automatic appraisals, by comparing the size and location of a home to another in a different area, and thus save the "hours and hours" normally required to appraise a home.

Ashley & Associates also features two-way business radio communication between sales representative's cars and the office. In addition, the radio communication will be extended to the Hamburg Ashley & Associates office.

Ashley said the most attractive ingredient of the network franchise was the company's unwillingness to sell franchises to real estate offices in the same locality. This provides a large coverage area for each member office, and lessens duplication and confusion between offices.

"This network offers the most outstanding service available, today, in the real estate profession. There is nothing in the entire business that compares to this. The network service is the quickest and most thorough way of selling real estate, and we're quite happy with it."

CHET MILES, local agent for Farmers Insurance Company, Inc., reports that Michigan non-smoker homeowners and tenants may now qualify for a discount on their fire insurance.

Miles' offices are located at 41390 Ten Mile in Novi.

The discount will be available for all fire policies in households whose permanent residents have been non-smokers of cigarettes, pipes and cigars for the past two years.

Nationally, smoking and matches rank first in causing the greatest number of fires in homes and third in severity in fire losses. Miles said that company figures indicate that smoking and matches are the apparent cause of approximately seven percent of the dollar cost of all homeowners' losses.

'No-fault' changes to be costly for motorists

By WARREN M. HOYT

Automobile insurance premiums will increase drastically for most residents of Michigan under legislation designed to comply with the state's no-fault law with a recent state Supreme Court ruling.

The high court last year ruled the no-fault insurance law basically constitutional but directed the Legislature to amend the law to provide the insurance at reasonable rates to everyone in the state since coverage is required of every driver in the state.

The legislature must act by December 6.

The Senate recently took the first step toward implementation of the order with the approval of legislation which, in effect, removes all factors, except driving records, for insurance companies to use in determining auto insurance rates.

The bill removes use of where a person lives thus making the state a single insurance rating territory for determining rates.

Also prohibited for use under the bill are marital status, sex, occupations and handicaps to either deny or increase rates.

Meanwhile, the House Insurance Committee is completing work on similar legislation but it permits the division of the state into as many as 20 different rating territories. Any differences are expected to be worked out during the summer recess with the finishing touches expected to come in the early fall session.

Senate Republicans, in a solid block opposing the legislation, charged Democrats with shutting off debate on the issue when they, on a straight party-line vote, advanced the bill for a final vote without allowing unlimited debate — an item of business allowed on all other measures.

Minority Leader Robert VanderLaan of Kentwood charged the Democratic majority with practicing undemocratic procedures and said the action would look like that of a kangaroo court.

All Republican offered amendments addressing the territory question were ultimately rejected on a basic party-line vote.

The bill spreads the risk factor across the entire state and does not take into account the areas where the person will do the majority of his or her driving and the number of cars, or potential risks, within a specific area.

Therefore, under the bill, drivers in rural communities will be considered the same type of risk as drivers in major metropolitan areas and pay similar insurance rates. It will, in effect, increase rates of drivers out-state and decrease rates of people living in metro areas.

Senator Arthur Miller (D-Warren), chairman of the Commerce Committee which reported the legislation to the floor, said the insurance problem stretches across the entire state and it is grossly unfair for people who live in urban areas to pay 30 percent more for coverage.

Senator Richard Allen (R-Alma) said he could not believe the Senate would consider legislation to make people pay more for insurance than their actual risk value. He added it was absurd not to recognize differences around the state.

Allen even went as far as to suggest the state take general funds and subsidize insurance rates of people in high risk areas instead of making people all over the state pay higher insurance rates to subsidize urban drivers.

The legislation requires availability of auto insurance to all licensed drivers whose vehicles comply with safety requirements and their driving records meet certain minimum standards.

These standards include no more than five violation points in a prior three year period, have not been at fault in an accident and have not been convicted of a serious moving violation, such as drunken driving, vehicular homicide and/or reckless driving.

Those who are denied insurance due to their records would qualify to obtain coverage through the state's assigned risk pool, but only after a due process hearing requiring the insurance company to declare reasons for denial or cancellation.

The final form of the legislation is yet to be determined, but one certainty is that most Michigan motorists will be paying higher auto insurance rates.

A survey conducted for the Commission of Criminal Justice has reported half of Michigan's citizens now support reducing the penalties for personal possession of marijuana.

For the first time in three years when the question was asked, 50 percent of those surveyed expressed basic agreement with legislation cutting penalties for marijuana possession.

Meanwhile, even though an increasing majority of citizens believe penalties should be reduced, a large majority (66 percent) believe it should remain against the law.

Also the survey showed that legalizing marijuana use is no more acceptable than legalizing prostitution, with 66 percent also opposing legalization of that crime.

Less than half the citizens (48 percent) believe sports betting events should remain illegal.

Out of the Horse's

The Buckskin Horse Association of Michigan, and American Buckskin Horse Registry affiliate (A.B.R.A.) announces the second annual all american buckskin horse congress and select consignment sale, August 25 and 26, at the Ingham County Fairgrounds, Mason.

The select consignment sale is open to registered and non-registered buckskin, red dun, dun and grulla horses, of all breeds. The sale will be held indoors and the auctioneer is Thomas Egan, Eureka, Wisconsin.

A negative Coggins test is required on all horses except weanlings. Horses consigned prior to July 1, will appear in the Buckskin New Congress Program.

For additional information and consignment forms, contact Sharon Pratt, 8530 Rushton Road, South Lyon, MI 48178, area code 313 / 437-3192.

The A.B.R.A. All Buckskin Show is to take place Saturday and Sunday, August 25 and 26. The Judge will be Phil Jensen, of Minnesota. It is a full breakdown show.

Cash payback is offered to the first six places in performance classes.

For those interested in the show, contact Roxie Darrow, 529 Lincoln, Lansing, MI 48910, area code 517 / 372-2950.

High point youth, adult and performance trophies will be awarded.

The Buckskin Horse Association of Michigan is the third largest group affiliated with the American Buckskin Registry Association of Anderson, California, which is the original buckskin registry founded in the United States.

Last year horses were hauled in from Iowa, Kansas, Wisconsin and Indiana, and it is hoped that those horses and their owners will be here again in 1979.

Visiting Vagaries

Fringed iced bangs on porches,
A disabled car crouched in snow
Like a sick dog; a seldom seen
Frozen, high-batted milk bottle;
A tennis-shoed jogger; ear-scarf muffed,
A child's foot-printed cut snow pie,
A forgotten, frozen stiff wash
Starched by sudden, zeroing degrees;
An attendant Gas station man
Pole-probing, like an ice-fisherman;
Stuck cars in persistent whines
Door warmth like enveloping arms;
Steaming cider at Greenfield Village,
Eskimo parkas far from Alaska.

Winter has stayed and stayed, overbold
While unloading suitcases of cold.

Hired

While filling out an application, trying to get it done,
I got hit with sudden boredom and decided to have fun.
I filled it out right for my NAME and my ADDRESS,
But where it was written PHONE, I simply answered "yes."
It asked for SOCIAL SECURITY I wrote my boyfriend's name.
And where it asked for PLACE OF BIRTH, I wrote "from whence I came."
For EDUCATION, K-6, my major was "recess."
For DATE OF GRADUATION, I wrote "hoping for the best."
For PREVIOUS EMPLOYMENT I was really getting bad.
I listed "strawberry deseeder," "boxer," and "editor of Mad."
Under REASON FOR LEAVING I wrote "acquired employers rage,"
Then I wrote the words "I don't" where it asked for my AGE.
I wrote $40 an hour under SALARY DESIRED,
The manager looked it over twice and told me I was hired.

Growing

Just like the grass growing everyday
My feelings for you grow
I feel so alive, so free, knowing you care, and share my feelings.
Even if your touch is far
Even if your voice is vague
I still feel so alive
Though what I feel
Is not clear
I know, truly know
I care for you,
I really do care.
Just like the grass growing everyday
My feelings for you grow too.

Merit Changes Smoking.

'Enriched Flavor'™ cigarette sparks whole new taste era in low tar smoking.

Not too long ago, smokers believed that if a cigarette had less tar, it had less taste too. Low tar cigarettes simply didn't taste very good.

Then along came MERIT and a whole new taste idea called 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. And in three short years, smoking changed:

1. No other new cigarette in the last 20 years has attracted so many smokers as quickly as MERIT!
2. MERIT has swept past over 50 other brands in record time.
3. MERIT is continuing to attract high tar smokers—the most taste-conscious smokers of all!

It's clear: MERIT taste is changing attitudes toward low tar smoking.

Stingers top Walled Lake

After splitting a doubleheader with last-place Redford the previous Monday, and dropping a 7-0 game to Southfield on Thursday, the Stingers, Northville's entrant in the Inter-lakes Girls' Traveling Softball League, looked as if they had lost whatever sting they had once possessed.

Whether they spent Friday afternoon sharpening their barbs, or replacing the batteries in their bats, it worked as the team swept a doubleheader Friday night from visiting Penny Lake Grocery from Walled Lake.

In the first game Julie Abraham spun a shutout as she surrendered just three hits in seven innings of work. The Stingers won 11-0.

Northville got the rout going early, as it scored four runs in the first inning. Sue Heinzman singled to open the game. Judy Orr hit a grounder that the Walled Lake second baseman bobbled. That put runners on second and third with no outs. Kathy Phillips then hit a grounder to the right side of the infield which allowed Heinzman to score. Kim Kurzawa then walked. Abraham hit a grounder that the defense bobbled allowing Orr to score and Kurzawa move to third.

Lynne Sylvestre then cracked a single that scored Kurzawa and moved Abraham to third. Cheryl Stasak followed with a hit that scored Abraham with the fourth and final run of the inning.

The Stingers upped their lead to seven runs in the second. Stephanie Colovas singled to start the inning. Annette Isom followed with a single which moved Colovas to third. Julie McDaniels then rapped a single that scored Colovas. There was an error on the return throw which allowed Isom and McDaniels to move to third and second, respectively.

After Sue Russel struck out, Heinzman smacked a single that scored Isom. Heinzman was thrown out at second as she tried to catch the Walled Lake defense napping on the play. McDaniels held at third on the play but

The staff gets stomped

The day of the big game was approaching. Ever since I've worked at the Record I had heard about it. About how important it was to put the upstart printing plant people in their place. About how the editorial staff had a two-game winning tradition to uphold. About how humiliating it would be to lose to the original "over-the-hill gang." I am referring to the third annual Sliger Publication's Summer Picnic and Softball Fest.

Not leaving anything to chance, the sports editors of the chain, Reid "Seeing-Eye Hit" Creiger, Brian "Off the Wall" Martin and myself decided to bring in the best possible help. Ringers. The first was Danny "The Organizer" Guido (reputed to have questionable connections in Mt. Pleasant) to handle the managerial side of things.

The next order of business was to find some topnotch players. We felt confident that we had all that we would need right in our own chain. Names that are big in area softball like Brighton's "Sweet Lou" Glubinski, Northville's Ken "Hit 'Em Below the Belt" Kovacs and Brighton's Rich "The Pearl" Perlberg. The game would be played on Sunday. We scheduled a practice for the Saturday before.

Full of fire and ready for action, the top eight players for our team met at a secluded diamond in South Lyon for a secret practice. Of course the practice was closed to everyone, including the press. For the first hour we took turns hitting. The heat and mugginess were oppressive. The only one who seemed to be holding up was our ringer from South Lyon, Evelyn "Hot Dog" Bagwell.

The second hour of our practice was spent in trying to determine if swimming or drinking beer would be better for our training strategy.

Finally, Sunday came. I awoke ready for action. I followed my training schedule to a tee. I lay in bed for two hours listening to the record album of the 1968 Tigers' World Series games and caught up on all of my back issues of Sports Illustrated. At exactly 11 a.m. I went down stairs to the kitchen and prepared two high-protein peanut butter/banana/wheat germ sandwiches. Let the others eat potato salad and greasy fried chicken. I meant business.

At 1 p.m., we all met at the Hines Park diamond. Both sides faced each other from opposite sides of the infield. Danny The Organizer met Ernie "The Boss" Brown at the pitchers mound to discuss terms and ground rules. And then the game began.

We were up to the plate first and yours truly had been given the honor of leading off. I could feel the banana and wheat germ coursing through my veins. I felt power I had never known I possessed. The first pitch arched in and I swung for all I was worth. The ball took off on a screaming trajectory past the centerfielder and I was on my way. Un-

Ask the expert

Dear Expert,

I've been water-skiing for about two years, but have never been able to slalom. Maybe if you gave me some advice on the basics of how to get up on one ski, I would be able to practice and do it. I'm willing to work, I just need the know-how.

J.B., Novi

The basic thing is to go on tow skis for awhile until you're steady. Then life one leg up out of the water and go for awhile like that. Then, when you have your balance, drop one ski (right is best if you eventually want to compete) and drag your free foot as a rudder and stabilizer. Once you're steady, put your free foot on the back of the remaining ski. Once you've mastered that technique, you can try getting up in deep water. Remember to keep the rope on the side of the ski that the free foot is located on, then, keeping the ski a little bit in front of you with just the tip out of the water, bend your knee but keep your arms straight as the boat pulls you up. Extend your free leg all the way out behind you and use it as a rudder and stabilizer.

Bob Knoedler, 1978 National Ski Champion, Whitmore Lake

Sue Heinzman slides into second ahead of the throw in the first game of Friday's doubleheader with Walled Lake.

... Stingers sweep

came home when Orr followed with a single.

In the third inning Abraham led off with a double. She came home when the pitcher threw Cindy Martin's bouncer over the first baseman's head.

The score stayed at 8-0 until the fifth inning. Northville then added their three final runs.

Heinzman hit a smash that handcuffed the Walled Lake shortstop. The Stinger third baseman ended up on second on the play. Orr followed with a single, the pitcher threw Phillips' grounder away, Abraham hit a ball that the defense bobbled and Martin hit a sacrifice fly. When the dust had settled, Northville had 11 runs and the game.

In the second game, Walled Lake started out as if it was a new team and not one that had just absorbed an 11-0 beating.

The first two Walled Lake hitters singled. The third hit a smash to deep third that Heinzman knocked down. The first runner decided to test Heinzman's arm and headed for the plate. Heinzman threw a bullet to Martin at home and nailed the runner in a close play.

The next batter hit into a fielders choice but the following hitter cracked a single to score the third batter. The next batter popped out to Martin to end the inning but Walled Lake had scored its first run of the night and held a 1-0 lead. But not for long.

Heinzman led off Northville's half of the inning with a schorcher that the third baseman overthrew to first. Heinzman took second on the play. After Orr and Phillips popped out, Kurzawa hit a triple to deep rightfield that scored Heinzman with the tying run. Abraham then hit a double to score Kurzawa and give Northville the lead. Northville was never behind after that.

Walled Lake went down one-two-three in its half of the second, but Northville exploded for six more runs.

Sylvestre singled to open the inning but was forced at second on a ground ball hit by Stasak. Chris Suddendorf then walked to put two runners on. Sheri Robbins hit a ball that was bobbled by the defense and the bases were loaded. Colovas followed with a single that drove Stasak and Suddendorf home.

Isom then hit a single to score Robbins. After McDaniels popped out to the shortstop, Russel hit a single to load the bases. Heinzman then delivered a triple to knock home three more runs. She scored when Orr followed with a single. That made the score 7-1 in Northville's favor.

Walled Lake came back in the third inning to score a run. After the first hitter popped out to Heinzman at third, Kurzawa booted a grounder by the next Walled Lake hitter. A ground out by the next batter moved the runner into scoring position at second. The next hitter smacked single and the runner scored.

Northville retaliated in the third inning by scoring four more runs.

Kurzawa singled to open the Stinger's half of the inning. After Abraham popped out Martin singled to send Kurzawa to third. Sylvestre followed with a single scoring Kurzawa and moving Martin into scoring position. Stasak then singled to knock in Martin. On the return throw, Stasak moved into second.

Suddendorf then stroked a single that brought Sylvestre home with the tenth and final run of the game. Northville won 10-2 to take the two-game series.

The wins give the Stingers an 8-4 record. Going into Thursday's game with Southfield the Northville squad was in third place behind the South Farmington Wildcats, in first place at 10-2, and second-place E.D. Construction from North Farmington. E.D.'s mark was 7-2 on Thursday.

Staff stomped

til I hit first base. Or, rather, the three-foot drop-off just behind it. I must have been approaching warp speed when I reached first, and disappeared in a cloud of billowing dust as I tumbled out of control down the incline. That incident ruined my day. I was so embarrassed that I couldn't swing the bat with authority the rest of the afternoon.

But I was merely the weakest part of a highly trained and talented team. We had strength to spare. We scored one run that inning.

When we took the field I just knew we would win. For we had Jack "No Hit" Hoffman on the mound pitching for us. And could he pitch! Everyone on our team was certain that we had a shutout — victory in the bag. But the plant people didn't share our respect.

The first batter for their team hit a home run on the first pitch. But that was okay. We'd get it back. No-Hit just needed time to get used to the mound. The next batter hit a double. And the next hit a single to drive the man on second in. And on and on. When the dust settled and we were finally out of the inning, we were looking down the wrong end of a 5-1 score.

As the innings wore on, it became more and more apparent that we would have to resort to our secret weapons. Sue "The Speedster" Dimitroff and Diane "Go For Two" Perpich were sent in. But even their presence couldn't help. The final score was 10-7 in favor of the plant people. The pitiful editorial staff had been bested.

There were a few highlights for our side. David "The Gymnast" Turnley made super catches in the outfield. He would camp under the ball and at the last minute fall down. He always managed to hang on to the ball and usually sent it back to the infield like a bullet ... all from a prone position. His catches were picture perfect.

Jane "I'll Play Anywhere" Hale performed magnificently at a number of positions on the field. A ringer that I had brought in, Dennis "Old Blue Eyes" Leland sent a number of rifle shot hits past the pitchers mound. And I, well, I've decided that the best place for me on a sports field is behind a typewriter in the press box. And I'll never ever eat another gooey, yucky peanut butter/banana/ wheat germ sandwich again.

VanderMeer holds record

Few pitchers experience the joy and the sense of achievement that comes from pitching a no-hitter. Johnny Vander Meer, of the Cincinnati Reds, had pitched a no-hitter on June 10, 1938 against the Boston Bees. He was thrilled.

His next start was to be against the Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets Field. It was to be the very first night game ever played in Major League history. And Vander Meer was given the honor of pitching in it for his team. He had his parents fly in for the game and all of his uncles and aunts as well. They all wanted to see their Johnny pitch.

And pitch he did. Inning after inning went by and not one Brooklyn player reached base. Then in the sixth inning, two Dodgers walked. The crowd hushed. But Vander Meer got the next batter to make an out, and the side retired.

He cruised through to the ninth inning, when, with one out, he walked the three Dodger batters in a row. Vander Meer got the next batter to tap to the third baseman, who quickly threw to home for the forceout. Then Leo Durocher came to the plate.

The crowd waited breathlessly. Durocher swung and lined a smash that just curved foul. Vander Meer put everything he had into one more pitch and Durocher swung. The ball lofted on a gentle arc to centerfielder Harry Crait who hauled it in for the final out. Johnny Vander Meer became the only Major League pitcher to hurl back-to-back no-hitters.

Vida Mikalonis is an Illinois State mainstay

Mikalonis is happy at ISU

"Athletics can be one of the most rewarding experiences a person will have in a lifetime. However, in this day and age, most people's attention is focused on the monetary rewards that football, baseball and basketball players receive. But there are other sports where the rewards are of a much more personal nature, and perhaps more meaningful. Like those rewards that Northville's Vida Mikalonis gets.

Mikalonis is one of the mainstays of the Illinois State University women's varsity swim team. Last year, her first, Mikalonis led her Cardinal teammates to a third-place finish at the Illinois State Swim Championships. Mikalonis finished first in the 50-yard backstroke, first in the 100-yard backstroke, fourth in the 100-yd fly and sixth in the 200-yd fly.

To get that far in terms of success, Mikalonis and the others on her team had to make sacrifices that would have the biggest basketball star crying.

During training, Mikalonis and her teammates would get up very early in the morning and swim for two hours straight at a time of day when most other students on campus were just shutting off alarm clocks. Then it would be a full day of classes and in the evening, back to the pool for another two-hour workout. Afterwards, Mikalonis and her teammates would study.

"There wasn't much time to get involved with other activities," she said. "Swimming, classes and study take up a lot of time. But I enjoy it."

Swimming an average of four miles a day, five days a week, can take a toll on a person's mental and physical stamina, especially when all of the media attention and fan support at most schools is centered on the larger, more well-known sports like football.

"I swim because it makes me feel good," Mikalonis said. "I just swim for myself and because I enjoy it. I have no goals for myself like the Pan Am Games or the Olympics. It's for my own sense of achievement."

Mikalonis is serious about her studies too. She is in the process of choosing a major now. She has narrowed it down to either business administration or computer science. Her dedication to her studies is a contrast to the stereotypical "dumb jock" image that many people have of athletes.

"They're not at all like that," she said. "They party, but most athletes I know do very well scholastically. I don't agree with the dumb-jock stereotype."

Mikalonis chose Illinois State because "they offered me a scholarship really quick. The people are nice and the campus is attractive. I like it a lot. College is interesting even though some of the classes are hard."

While she is home for the summer Mikalonis works at two jobs. She is a coach for the Northville Swim Club team, which competes against other swim club teams in the area, and she is a lifeguard at Meadowbrook Country Club.

For those with rusty memory hinges, Mikalonis was named as a high school All-American her sophomore year with the Mustangs. She earned the honor in the 100-yd fly event. Her senior year she was named the Most Valuable Swimmer on the Mustang team.

With the completion of the Pan American Games, and the 1980 Olympics coming up, many youngsters will be watching the swimming events and dreaming of the day when they too can compete for Olympic Gold. Mikalonis has a bit of advice for the prospective champions.

"Swim because you want to, not because someone else wants you to. Parents tend to push and that can cause a lot of problems with swimmers. Don't let your parents get on your back. Do it because you want to."

SPORTS TALK

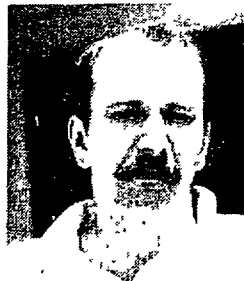

Now that the second half of the baseball season has begun, what do you think the Tigers' chances are of winning the American League pennant? (Asked on Main Street).

"Slim to none. The other teams in the American League East Division have more known players and they have more experience than the Tigers," David Perpich, Northville.

"I think their chances are very slim, in fact I don't think they stand a chance at all. The other teams are just far superior to them," Brian Postma, Northville.

"It would just be wishful thinking. I don't think they will win but it would be nice to have a winner for a change." Vicki Beauchamp, Northville.

"Slim to none. I don't think they have the talent to beat any of the other teams right now." Kerry Hlady, Northville.

"Zero. I've seen a couple of their games and they're just not very well organized." Dawn Smith, Plymouth.

"They will win it. I think they are a good team. Ron Leflore is a good runner." Valerie Salvatore, Northville.

Northville Blue wins Koufax league title

There was a lot at stake in the game. A trip to Birmingham, Alabama for the Sandy Koufax League Regional Playoffs on August 1 if they won, or a nice pat on the back and the knowledge that there would always be a next game if they lost. Todd Kerry of the Northville Blue team didn't want to have to "do it next time." He wanted to know that his team would be heading south come August. So he saw to it that they would. On Sunday he made sure his team wouldn't be outscored. That much he could guarantee. He was the pitcher. And he hurled a no-hitter. South Dearborn Heights was the victim. The score was 9-0. The win gives the team a 15-3 record on the season and not only clinched a trip to Birmingham, but clinched the Blue Division Championship in the Koufax Northwest League. Garden City at 20-0 won the Red Division title. The elusive clinching victory was a bit hard to come by. Northville beat Mic Mac 21-2 on Saturday and had to win one more to mathematically eliminate the competition for the trip. On Sunday the Northville squad met Livonia in what they hoped would be the clincher. But Livonia beat them 3-2. That's when Kerry decided to do it himself, or do as much as a pitcher can for his team. He refused to give up a hit.

The Northville Blue squad will make the trip south with the Southwest League Red Division champion, Brighton.

The Koufax League is for boys between the ages of 13 and 14. There are teams from all over the country. The winner of the Maryland Regional Playoffs will meet the winner of the Birmingham regional. If Northville wins its regional, then the world series of the Koufax League will be held in Northville.

In the win against South Dearborn, Kerry went seven innings and struck out 11 enemy batters. The win raised his pitching mark to 7-2 with an earned-run average of 0.60.

Chris McCormick had four hits in the game. Andy Dimitroff and Dave Malinowski each had three. Willie Newman and Bob Townsend each collected two hits. Northville scored one run in the first inning, two in the second and third, one in the fourth inning and three in the sixth.

Northville will be taking a potent attack down to the 10-team tourney in Birmingham.

Leading the charge will be Newman who is currently hitting .538. He leads the team in runs-batted-in with 24, home runs with four, and base hits with 28.

Townsend is hitting .448. He leads the team in doubles with seven. Malinowski is hitting .436 and leads the team in runs-scored with 25, stolen bases with 14 and triples with 5.

Dimitroff is hitting .416, Dave Dematos is hitting .400, John Collins .363 and Bob Pegrum is stroking the ball at a .361 pace. Bob Shoetly is hitting .414.

Jim Thomson carries some of the mound chores. He has a 3-1 mark with an earned run average of 4.00. He has 36 strike outs in 34 innings of work. Kerry has 50 strike outs in 41 innings.

This is Northville's second year in the Koufax league. Last year the team won its division with an 8-8 mark but didn't qualify for any tournaments.

This year there were over 40 kids who signed up for the team, so coach Jim Newman talked it over with them and decided to split the bunch into two teams. "One would be made up of those with the better ability," he said, "and the other would be made up of those kids with lesser ability. But I felt that this was the best way to let all of them play." The Northville Gold team finished the year with a 1-19 record.

"I don't know how we'll do down south. I've never been in this sort of situation as a coach. We'll just do the best that we can. We'll keep playing the same type of aggressive ball that we have been — aggressive hitting and defense," Newman said. "Our hitting is solid and our defense is solid. Our pitching is generally good. I think we can hold our own."

Two men did it all

The day of the all-around athlete like Jim Thorpe, who starred in football, baseball and track back around the turn of the century, has long since passed. But occasionally an athlete will surface who will display a brief flash of the brilliance that made Thorpe so great. Caesar Tovar and Bert Campaneris were two such athletes.

Both share a record in baseball that's not likely to be bettered. Tovar and Campaneris are the only major league baseball players to have ever played all nine positions in one game.

Campaneris' feat came during the 1965 season while he was with the Kansas City Athletics (later to become the Oakland Athletics). Tovar performed the feat while with the Minnesota Twins on September 22, 1968.

The Twins were home against the Oakland A's that night. Tovar pitched the first inning, allowing no hits, no runs, struck out one A's batter, walked one and committed a balk. Tovar played a different position every inning. He got one hit and scored one of the two Twins' runs in the 2-1 triumph.

Russians invent new sport

And you thought thumb-wrestling was the world's newest sport. Wrong, kiddo. The Russians have come up with one that tops even thumb-wrestling. Are you ready? Well, duck. The Russians have invented a new game called hand-grenade throw.

Developed as part of Russia's "Ready for Work and the Defense of the U.S.S.R." program, 36 million Russians, including housewives and children, are taking up the new sport.

Tass, the official Russian news agency, reported that 400 entrants aged 10 to 49 reached the finals last year at Tashkent, capitol of Soviet Uzbekistan. The program also includes skiing, running and route marches. Valentina Bykova, a 39-year-old housewife, was one of the top performers when she sprinted 66 yards in 8.3 seconds, covered a 330-yard cross-country course in 45.7 seconds, and threw her hand grenade 132.8 feet.
