Here are the negotiators:

• Teachers — Chief negotiator John Rennels; Barbara LeBoeuf, NEA president; elementary teacher John Sutterheim; junior high teacher Bud Bourgeois; senior high teacher Ron Meteyer and ISEP representative Dick Treachler.

• Both sides retain attorneys for legal counsel on the contract. Also, a state mediator is conducting mediated negotiations. The teams have not met face-to-face since August 21.

Here are the main issues:

- Salary — lockstep schedule or merit pay; salary offers — two percent or 10 percent.
- Class Size — teachers want limits set, board wants to keep language.

• Teacher responsibilities — board wants more of them in the contract; teachers want to be paid more for added contract duties.

• Just Cause — teachers want "just cause" proved before teacher is transferred, board wants to maintain right to transfer teachers.

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Striking Northville teachers continued to picket schools

Strike chronology

Here's what happened

Here is a chronological summary of developments in the teachers' strike from Monday, September 3 and Tuesday, September 4:

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 3—After mediated negotiations for the day, the Northville Education Association membership meets and votes by a unanimous hand count to "withhold services" until a contract is settled.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4—School district administration announces that despite the illegal strike, school doors will open on Wednesday for the Instructional Special Education Program and on Thursday for K-12 classes. Both negotiating teams meet independently with state mediator Harry Reinfelder from 3 to 8 p.m. Between 8 and 9 p.m., the two sides meet face-to-face. Board informs the teachers that the district will stop payment on their insurance. "During this illegal strike, it is not fair or equitable for the taxpayers to pay insurance premiums," Superintendent Larry Nichols says. The teachers, however, find that their union will continue payment on the insurance.

Negotiators say Tuesday that the mediator told them, "Don't call me, I'll call you." (The mediator does not convene the next meeting until Sunday.)

It's a 'cleanup' law

Beware, junk car owners.

That old clunker sitting in the front yard could get you in trouble.

Under a new ordinance adopted this summer by Northville Township officials, the owners of vehicles parked on private or commercial property which is not designated for such could be fined up to $500 and/or be sentenced to up to 90 days in jail.

According to officials, the ordinance, which became effective August 24, was created to rid the township of abandoned vehicles and stop private vehicle owners from leaving their cars parked on commercial property.

Specifically, the new ordinance says, "...no commercial vehicle or trailer shall be caused or permitted to stand or park whether occupied or not, unless the active conduct of fueling, repairing or loading or unloading same is occurring on public or private property, except when the commercial vehicle or trailer is standing or parked on property and at a location designated for such standing or parking on a site plan approved by

NEWS BRIEFS

A FREE get acquainted spaghetti dinner and wine tasting party will be held here next Tuesday by the Northville Area Lions Club. The 7 p.m. dinner will be held at the American Legion hall, corner of Center and Dunlap, says Club President Lawrence K. Kistra. Purpose is to renew old friendships in Lionism and attract new members, he explained. Reservations should be telephoned to 642-4551 yet today.

THE REGULAR meeting of the Northville Township Economic Development Corporation will be held tonight, September 12 at 8 p.m. at the township hall, 41600 Six Mile. Members will discuss the direction of the EDC and also conduct other business.

DEADLINE for nominating a "Citizen of the Year" is fast approaching, stress officials of the sponsoring Northville Community Chamber of Commerce. Individuals or organizations wishing to nominate someone for this coveted award may obtain entry forms from Essie Nirider at the chamber's office in the community building just west of the city hall. The nomination deadline is October 10.

Fact-finding set, board goes to court

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

A possible "expedited fact-finding" session between the school district and teachers yesterday was moved to Thursday as board negotiators spent Tuesday morning seeking a court injunction against the teachers in Wayne County Circuit Court.

The district team and teachers were to have met with state mediators at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The teachers, who spent most of Monday night preparing its case for the fact finder in case "expedited fact-finding" was called for, said Tuesday they were considering filing an unfair labor practice against the board of education.

But Burton Knighton, the district's personnel director and chief negotiator, said fact-finding was delayed because a state fact finder was not available for duty until Thursday.

The board voted Monday night to seek the injunction which would force the teachers to go back to work. They are especially concerned about the Institution Special Education Program students who must attend classes 230 days a year to qualify for state aid.

School Board President Karen Wilkinson said Tuesday that the board wants to get the injunction, get the teachers in the classroom, and at the same time hammer out a contract.

"It is a silly dream to think that they won't be bitter about it," she said. "But it really is a way for teachers who want to be back in the classroom to save face."

The injunction could force all teachers to return to the classroom or only, conceivably just the ISEP teachers, Wilkinson said.

Another board strategy is to have the teachers back to work and have a cooling-off period.

"We feel upset about this 'expedited fact-finding,'" Wilkinson said. "The MEA (Michigan Education Association) has people in Lansing who spend all their time collecting data for fact finding."

However, the fact finder, George Gullen, will decide Thursday if the procedure will be "marathon" or conventional fact-finding, Knighton said Tuesday.

Gullen is a past president of Wayne State University.

State mediators have been calling the shots between Northville teachers and administrators. It was expected that they would call "expedited fact-finding" Tuesday a method which just settled the strike in Plymouth-Canton last weekend.

Quicker than traditional fact finding, the marathon method is designed to bring about a quick settlement. It works like this: both sides have a brief period of time to prepare their cases. They present facts to a Michigan Employment Security Commission officer who listens, asks questions and prepares a written judgment.

The sides are free to agree or disagree but are under pressure to settle because the judgment is made public. In Plymouth, negotiators began fact finding at 10 p.m. Friday night. By 2 a.m. Sunday, a settlement was reached.

Monday night, the board voted to try to get the injunction which would force the teachers back to work. At that same meeting, fallout from the community began as more than 200 citizens mobbed the board meeting.

Most of them demanded that the board's proposal of merit pay for teachers be thrown out the window and that the board come up with a realistic salary hike and a restriction of class size.

Virtually no one, save board members themselves, spoke in support of the board's position.

Open house

Allen Terrace, Northville's 101 apartment senior citizens housing project, will be opened to the public Sunday afternoon from 1 to 5 p.m. Named after former mayor A. Malcolm Allen, the multi-million dollar project was financed locally with bonds guaranteed by the city's tax base. Eight different apartments will be shown by tenants, and other facilities throughout the building will be shown to visitors. Allen Terrace provides living accommodations for persons 62 years of age or older. Each resident is expected to be self-sufficient since medical staff and maid service are not provided. Some units, however, are designed to accommodate wheelchairs. Besides the apartments and interior features, other attractions at Sunday's public open house will include a quilt raffle, refreshments, and a public display of the fountain donated by the Garden Club. For a preview of what open house visitors can expect, see the special supplement in this week's edition of The Record.

$50,000 in purchases for DPW approved

Expenditures totaling nearly $50,000 were approved and bids for an estimated $25,000 DPW barn were authorized by the Northville City Council Monday.

At the same time council authorized a change order decrease that will save the city $29,750 in repair of the municipal parking deck.

Here are the expenditures approved by council:

- Fencing around the water tower near the high school and at the DPW yard, $6,018.84.
- Front-end tractor loader, $37,012.
- Truck dump box, $2,480.

• Two new communications radios for DPW vehicles and their installation, under $2,400.

The DPW barn, which would be used for storage of DPW equipment during winter, is expected to cost about $25,000. Bids for the no-floor, non-heated, free-standing building near the existing DPW garage are to be sought immediately.

Construction, predicted DPW Superintendent Ted Mapes, can be completed before winter weather.

Earlier, during development of the

Northville Estates getting wooden signs

A proposal by the Northville Estates Association to finance erection of substitute wood street signs and posts to beautify the subdivision has received the city council's blessing.

Citing the association for its civic offer, council Monday voted to grant permission of the substitute signs and posts provided their purchase and maintenance are financed by the association.

Conventional metal signs and posts, financed by the city, presently are located in the subdivision.

According to R. D. Borwick, president of the association, the post material will be 4 x 4 "Wolmanized" stock (weatherproof) which is to be set in concrete.

"The main sign post would be surrounded at the base (for strength) with shorter sections of 4 x 4 material (staggered in height). The street names would also be routed in wood and be painted white on the natural wood background," said Borwick.

Installation of these signs, he said, "will produce a pleasing 'rustic' appearance, which will blend well with the work currently in process at our main entrance."

Waiting for school

While leaves turn colors in the woods across from Meininger's house on Curtis in Northville Township, Northville students continue their summer pastimes, waiting for the school contract to be settled. Jared McIntosh, 12, (left) will go to Cooke Junior High. Chris Doyle, 13, and Lisa, and Bruce Meininger will all attend Mead's Mill Junior High.

Waiting for classes

Summer drags on for kids

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

Thursday, September 6: an interview with Andy Haas, age 6, who will attend Ms. Fountain's first grade class at Winchester. (Andy said he bought a new school bag and a special writing pad.)

What are the teachers doing today? "They're working in their rooms to get everything set up. At least I hope so, for tomorrow."

What does being on strike mean? "It means the kids can't go to school."

What will you do now? "Play."

Do you think the teachers will come back? "I know they will."

In the general hubbub over the Northville teacher's strike, it seems like everyone has something to do except the kids.

The school board is meeting, the teachers are picketing, the negotiators are negotiating.

But what's a kid to do? With little power over the actual teacher's contract, they can only sit tight and wait for the day when the school bells ring. And if someone asks them what they think of the unexpected twist fate in their life, they'll speak up: they are bored with summer and they want to go back to school.

"We want to go back because we don't want to have to go to school at the end of next year in the summer," said Bruce Meininger, 13, an eighth grader at Mead's Mill Junior High. "We don't want to lose our holidays either."

The other students sitting around the table in the warm Meininger kitchen this bright, fall Friday afternoon agreed.

What do they think about the strike? "The teachers just want more money," Bruce said. "They strike all the time anyway."

"I think the teachers might have a point," said Jared McIntosh, 12, a seventh grader at Cooke Junior High. "The price of everything is going up, so they have to get something."

"I don't like it because it affects us," seventh-grader Lisa Meininger, 12, said. "Why didn't they agree before. School was supposed to start instead of waiting until now?"

"I don't like it," said Chris Doyle, 13, an eighth grader at Mead's Mill.

The students thought that some teachers might deserve more money, but not all of them.

"Well, schools are getting harder," Lisa said. "Teachers have to keep up and learn new subjects like we do."

"But they only learn a couple subjects a year and we have to learn all of them," Jared added.

Mrs. Charlene Meininger expressed concern that the strike would cause more than the kids to suffer. "Where are we going to get more money in this district?" she said. "Very few people I know are guaranteed their incomes will rise ten percent next year. Are you?"

When asked what the board and teachers could do to end the strike, Chris had an answer: "I'd fire 'em all and hire new teachers."

"Well, why don't they split the wages (proposal) in half and compromise?" asked Jared.

While the adults are still wandering their way toward that elusive deal, new school clothes remain hanging in dark closets while the kids stay outside riding bikes trying to believe it is still summer.

Take bids on property of ambulance service

The City of Northville is selling the site of the former ambulance headquarters at 501 Fairbrook.

Council voted to accept sealed bids on the 14,740 square foot lot no later than 11 a.m. on October 10.

It is expected that offers of at least $30,000 will be received. Council will award the sale to the purchaser whose proposal offers the best cash purchase price.

The city will pay a realtor's fee of six percent to a realtor whose proposal is accepted, but council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

The land to be sold, which includes a garage and a three-bay block building, is zoned R-3 multiple family residential. The house that had been used by the ambulance company was destroyed by fire.

What began as a "maybe" job turned into a 44-year mutual admiration society for Maurice S. Giles who will retire Saturday from Brader's Department Store.

In years of service, Giles holds the distinction of having worked the longest period in a Northville store.

It was a Depression year, about five months after graduating from Northville High School in 1935, that Giles joined Brader's — then owned by its founder, Samuel L. Brader, and his nephew Harry Himmelsteib.

"I really didn't think I'd be staying long," recalls Giles — not because he wasn't interested in clerking but because jobs were scarce and he wasn't sure Brader or Himmelsteib would keep him.

But keep him they did — on and on and on until in 1957 Himmelsteib, then sole owner, sold out to Aaron Gellerman, under whom Giles has been working ever since.

It was while Giles was serving a three-year hitch in the Army during World War II (he was with the invasion forces at Normandy) that Brader retired to Arizona, selling out his interest to Himmelsteib. The business name was changed then to S. L. Brader Company, and later when it was purchased by Gellerman it became and remains simply, Brader's Department Store.

Giles has lived most of his 62 years in Northville.

He was a young boy when his parents moved to Northville from Mississippi, his father taking a job in the Ford Valve Plant. Besides himself and his brother, Giles' family included a younger brother, Cecil, who is living now in Florida. His father is deceased, but his mother is still living, a resident of Taylor.

Giles' first job at Brader's was a combination one — that of janitor and clerk. He eventually became a clerk-manager.

Still a clerk, Giles says the biggest changes that have occurred at Brader's (outside of ownership) during his 44 years have to do with the merchandise. "Back then you had about three selection, and the material is much more versatile.

"You wouldn't think of buying something then that wouldn't have to be ironed. Wrinkle-free fabric was unheard of."

Downtown buildings haven't changed "a whole lot," he says. "Oh, there are a few changes — like the Merritt rooming house that used to stand across the street, like the vacant lot that used to be where the dime store is.

"I remember that lot because it is where Mr. Dixon used to set up his popcorn stand and sell to people attending the next door movie house.

"The streetcar was operating in Northville when I began at Brader's...but you've read all about that."

Nine years ago the Gileses moved from Northville to Plymouth.

Mrs. Giles, an employee of Sears, also is retiring, and the childless couple will be moving to Florida.

"Leaving behind the friends will be the toughest," says Giles, who nevertheless is looking forward to the warmer climate. "Oh, I won't be loafing; I'll probably find something to do."

One thing he definitely will do is join the local barbershop singer chapter. Barbershopping is his single, most important hobby. It's been a cherished association since 1946 when he joined the chorus then existing in Northville. Later, with the demise of the local chapter, he joined the Wayne Wonderland Chorus. He sings tenor in this group, which has won national acclaim for its excellence.

"I've always loved to sing, and in high school both my brother and I were involved in all the musicals," he says. "The friendships I've made in barbershopping here over the years will be tough giving up. That's why when I get down to Florida I'm going to look up the local chapter right away. It's a great organization."

Dickens characters on view in Novi mall

"Dickens," a unique exhibition of 25 lifelike figures from favorite Charles Dickens novels will be on display at the Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi from now until September 19.

The collection was created in London especially for this United States tour by Bermans Exhibitions, a division of Bermans & Nathans, Limited, the world's oldest and largest costumiers.

In fact, the firm's original founders were contemporaries of Charles Dickens. Personally signed costume orders for Dickens' original productions still exist in company archives.

Charles Dickens' special genius for revealing the very pulse of life has been of enormous help to Bermans Exhibitions in sculpting and costuming these lifelike figures.

The exhibition projects the heart-warming relationships for which Dickens is so justly noted.

From "A Christmas Carol," one meets Tiny Tim, homemade crutch in hand, carried piggy-back by his father Bob Cratchett, both muffled against the bitter cold. Other characters from "A Christmas Carol" include a startled Scrooge clad in nightshirt and cap and the irrepressible Mr. and Mrs. Fezziwig dancing at their Christmas party.

Among the "David Copperfield" characters is a spiffy Mr. Micawber elegantly attired in frock coat, top hat, walking stick and spats.

From "Oliver Twist" there is a seedy Fagan, wearing a patched greatcoat, giving instructions to a scruffy Artful Dodger and young Oliver Twist.

And from "Great Expectations," one meets Pip and his great, good friend Mrs. Havesham, the veritable picture of nostalgia in her wonderfully old-fashioned satin and lace wedding gown.

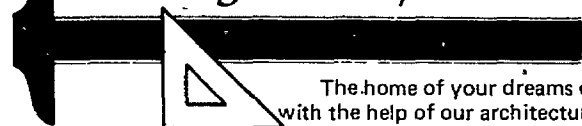

A number of the characters have some portion of their ensembles drawn from Bermans & Nathans vast stock of more than a million period costumes, but most have special wardrobes created solely for this Dickens exhibition.

Special school tours of the Dickens exhibit can be arranged by contacting Linda Anderson at 348-9400.

He is working at 87 to stay close to people

"I'm a gregarious person. I've a need to be around people."

Speaking at the end of a solid, silent minute of thought collecting, George Lockhart looks you squarely in the eye and frankly admits the compelling reason why he cannot and does not give up his work at the age of 87.

Retirement has never received his serious consideration. It is a thought as repugnant as the notion that people join service organizations for non-selfish reasons.

"People join not to give but to receive; admittedly, some receive by giving. In my case, I have an insatiable appetite for people. Formal organizations — Kiwanis and Rotary — provide me with some of the fellowship I require. Perhaps if I were married, it would be different," says the widower.

He elaborates: "I go up to Allen Terrace at noon to get a subsidized hot meal. Do you think I go because I've no income? That's nonsense. I go to be with people," he says, adding with a smile, "and because I don't like my own cooking." Thus, George Lockhart who probably is earning more wages today than he was 20 years ago, continues to tune pianos — the oldest, active piano tuner in the United States.

But it is not the tuning income that drives him. "I could easily live on Social Security and my bank savings," he says, explaining that when a person passes the age of 72 he may earn any amount of income without jeopardizing his Social Security. Why? "I suppose they (government) figure people over 72 won't earn much."

"I'm upsetting their statistical tables," he adds with the obvious delight of a rebel.

Going like 60

Self-educated, having completed only the basic primary grades as a youngster in London, England where he was born, Lockhart amazes formally educated men and women with his scholarly understanding and appreciation of languages, philosophy and literature.

Years ago former school superintendent Russell Amerman appointed Lockhart to represent the Northville district at a seminar on adult education at Michigan State University where today his son, Hugh Lockhart, is a professor of packaging.

After listening to university educators lecture those in attendance, Lockhart — as he often is inclined to do at such meetings — interrupted to express disagreement and some of his own observations.

Later, upon learning that their critic had very little formal learning, the educators were stunned. "We thought you were an adult education specialist," one of them admitted later. "Where did you learn all you know?"

Books. And more books.

"As a youngster I was terrible in mathematics. But I loved to read and write. Dumb as I was in using figures, I could read anything. I was always being called on by the schoolmaster to read for the class. I've been reading ever since."

Lockhart says he retains little detail, but he does "retain the mass" of what he reads. "I may not remember a philosopher's age, but I'll remember the nature of his treatise."

His general knowledge of linguistics and his specific knowledge of Esperanto, the international language, is extensive. Although he is an agnostic, he has read and reread volumes of material on the world's great religions. Religious experts would do well to intensify their homework before debating him.

It is his interest in philosophy and literature that persuaded him to join with teacher Donald Riddering of Salem in launching a Great Books discussion group in Northville a number of years ago.

Lockhart's working class parents struggled most of their lives to care for the family that included three children — including Dorothy, who married Cyril Frid of Northville, George, and another daughter who died at the age of 16.

"My grandfather had started a small boot and shoe manufacturing business which eventually was taken over by my parents. The business collapsed, however, with the advent of boot and shoe machinery. They had been doing their work by hand and couldn't afford machines. The competition was just too great."

Almost destitute, the family migrated to Canada in 1908, settling in eastern Ontario.

No longer in school and compelled to work, young

George took jobs in Canadian factories, one of which was a piano plant. It was in the latter that he acquired a basic knowledge of pianos.

An accomplished musician as a youngster (he played trumpet), Lockhart became a member of the village band and then later, while in Canada, he enlisted in the army during World War I and became bandmaster for the Canadian Expeditionary Forces. But within two years Sergeant Lockhart was a civilian again, having received a medical discharge for varicose veins in his legs. While the malady has remained with him over the years it "never caused me any problems. The army just didn't know what it was talking about."

Mill Race burglarized

The two rear tires of a 1978 Volkswagen were slashed between the hours of 2 a.m. and 7:30 a.m. September 5, while the car was parked in the lot at Amerman Elementary School, Eight Mile and Center, city police reported.

The owner of the car is a bus driver for the Northville schools. Damage is estimated at $100.

Four mailboxes on Springfield Court were damaged in an apparent act of vandalism in the early morning hours of September 9, city police reported.

One mailbox post was broken, while three others were twisted and bent, police said.

A car driven by a 16-year-old Northville youth September 5 ran off the eastbound roadway of Crystal Lake, knocked down a no-parking sign, fishtailed, and struck a parked car.

The driver told police that he was in a hurry to pick up his mother from work and his right foot hit the accelerator instead of the brake, causing the car to go out of control.

The driver was issued a citation for careless driving.

Two buildings at the Mill Race Historical Village were broken into over Labor Day weekend, city police reported.

A Sears three-inch belt sander was taken from the cottage building, police said.

Police said that the building was entered through a north end window, which was reportedly nailed shut.

The Yerkes home was also broken into and the fire extinguisher was removed and discharged, police said. Nothing else was found missing from the home and there were no signs of forced entry, police said.

Four wire-wheel hub caps were stolen from a 1979 Mercury parked at a Malvern Court residence September 6, township police reported.

The four hub caps were worth about $320, the owner told police.

He is still going like 60

Factory worker Lockhart was a political activist in Canada, involving himself in a number of socialistic movements. Once he ran unsuccessfully for the Canadian parliament. Later, in the United States, he dropped all his political activities.

Fifty-two years ago, recalls Lockhart, he was invited to come to Northville to set up and run a laundry route for the Northville Frid brothers. That business, which later was located on the site of the now vacant Friendly Ice Cream store, operated for many years before the building was destroyed by fire.

During World War II when the Frids took their trucks off the roads, he was forced to search for a substitute job. He landed one as a store-keeper at the Willow Run bomber plant. Meanwhile, he began tuning pianos part-time.

"I was tuning, and going house to house in search of business but, frankly, I was no tuner. I had neither the skill nor the dedication to be called a tuner."

Following the war, however, Lockhart enrolled in the Chicago College of Music where for seven weeks he studied under Dr. William B. White. "Finally, I was no longer an amateur. I could take pride in my work."

Besides tuning pianos throughout the metropolitan area, Lockhart set up a shop in his garage where he rebuilt and refinished old pianos.

His work was in constant demand, and Lockhart soon was tuning pianos for the Detroit symphony orchestra for professional concerts in cities throughout Michigan. He was called on to tune pianos for the big bands — Lawrence Welk, Guy Lombardo and others.

He became a member of the Detroit division of piano technicians in 1945, and from 1955 to 1957 he served as national president of the organization.

He was co-chairman of the 1967 annual convention held in Detroit, and it was under his leadership that two national organizations were merged to form the Piano Technicians Guild, Inc. It was Lockhart who came up with the name.

Over the years he has served in numerous capacities for the guild, including writing a column in its national magazine. He is a charter member of the Past Presidents' Club of the guild, and in 1976 he was inducted into the guild's national hall of fame.

"I don't know if George has a middle name but if he has, I am sure it would be 'Logician' George is impatient with theories which cannot be boiled down to facts. Given a theory he would work it out to the least common denominator to see if it would stand up," writes Leslie J. Hoskins, editor emeritus of Piano Technicians Journal. "He was also a forceful speaker. For several years I had the pleasure of working with him on the board of directors of the American Society of Piano Technicians and many times saw him use his ability to direct group thinking to a definite target."

Lockhart's wife, Viola Mae Brown, who was a clerk at the old Globe Furniture Company when they met, was fatally injured in an automobile accident in 1961.

"Yes, it has been a painful loss," he says of his wife's death. "I suppose if she were still alive I might feel differently about retirement. But now, without her, I work to keep my body and mind active."

Besides his son, Hugh, he has a daughter, Elise, who lives in Florida and whose husband was trained as a piano craftsman by Lockhart. He has six grandchildren.

Lockhart traveled quite a bit as an officer in the national piano tuning organization and as a booster of Esperanto in America. He would like to travel more often.

"I'm caught between two desires — the desire to travel and the desire to work." The more he travels, the less likely "old customers" will call on him to tune their pianos, and the more he works the less time he has for travel.

"I have to keep working to keep my contacts with people," he says.

A decade ago Lockhart learned he had a hearing problem — something he found incredible given his acclaimed expertise in piano tuning. He was fitted with a hearing aid, and today "I'm hearing better than I was as a young man. Not only do I hear better than the average tuner, I'm hearing sound that is not in the ordinary human's range."

So with varicose veins and hearing in control, Lockhart figures he has a lot of good working years left.

Meanwhile, as he moved closer to his 88th birthday, he's still pitching hard for Esperanto. "Come on over," he tells his interviewer, "we'll take turns reading my Esperanto Bible and testing each other. Bring your wife and some of your friends. Maybe we can start another class."

'Brigadoon' cast prepares for opening at Marquis

"Brigadoon," the popular Loerner and Lowe musical, will be presented the last two weekends of this month at the Marquis Theater in Northville.

The production is being put on by Performing Artists Unlimited, a local repertory company which draws cast members and production staff from the entire Detroit metropolitan area, including Northville, Novi, Union Lake, Dearborn and Birmingham.

"Brigadoon" will be presented at the Marquis Theater Saturday and Sunday, September 22-23. There is an 8 p.m. performance on Saturday, while Sunday performances are scheduled at 2:15 and 7:30 p.m.

Additional performances are scheduled Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 28-30. Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8 p.m. and the curtain rises on two Sunday performances at 2:15 and 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are priced at $4 for matinee performances and $7 for evening performances. Additional ticket information is available at 349-8110 or 349-8113.

"Brigadoon" is a musical about a small village in the Highlands of Scotland which comes into being for only one day in each century.

Two New Yorkers, lost while hunting in Scotland, discover "Brigadoon" while the villagers are gathering to sell their wares in the market square and discuss the final preparations for the wedding of Jean MacLaren and Charlie Dalrymple.

Producer-director Bill Premin has an extensive theater background as an actor and director.

Co-producer Andrew Henderson will serve as technical and musical director. He has conducted, composed and performed with such organizations as the Marjorie Lawrence Opera Theater, National Education Television Circle Playhouse, Oakway Symphony Orchestra and Dearborn Civic Theater.

Phil Cole of Novi is cast as "Tommy" in the production, while Dorothea Paul, another Novi resident, also appears in the production.

Cast members from Union Lake include Penny Ruttan as "Jeannie" and Andrew Henderson.

Members of the cast from Northville include Betsy Baldwin, Janet Bickner, Caroline Dunphy, Bill Dunphy, Judie Gorden, Joe Lempicki, Gail LeVan and John Merrifield. Other Northville residents in the cast are Ellen Sponseller, Donna Tinberg, Carol Ann Turnbull, Dan Vehar, Larry Williams and Molly Williams.

School board goes to court

Board members listened to community members for about one half hour, retired for two hours in executive session then came back to the public meeting where they made the following decisions:

1) to file a class-action lawsuit and get an injunction against the teachers "to end the unlawful strike and report to work," (while a new contract is being negotiated).

2) to direct the administrative director of Instruction Special Education Program to explore the alternatives for the 230-day special education students, including the possibility of handing the entire ISE program over to the Wayne County Intermediate School district.

3) to reaffirm that "the board is informed on the negotiations, the bargaining team has the confidence and authority of the board. The contract should be negotiated at the bargaining table...and not in the tense emotional atmosphere of a public meeting."

The tense, emotional atmosphere (see related story) was the result of more than a week of conflicting communications from both teachers and the board to the community on the status of negotiations.

Here are the main issues in the contract talks:

• Salary—dispute is over "merit pay" and the offers on the table. Under the old contract, a "lock-step" system, Step I starting pay K-12 in 1978-79 was $11,289 for Bachelor's degree teachers. Maximum pay, step II, Master's degree, was $23,265. Teachers want every step increased by 10 percent. A teacher would move up one step, get a 10 percent increase on his new salary and also get quarterly cost of living payments and more extra credit pay over the teacher's proposal.

The board proposes eliminating the lock-step schedule, replacing it with a merit pay system and increase each salary by two percent. Important fact: these positions are the same as on June 27 when negotiations opened. The Mediator has discussed compromises in salary, however. (Plymouth just settled over the weekend — they're keeping the lock-step schedule and increasing salaries 25.3 percent over three years.)

• Class size—again, original proposals are still officially on the table. Teachers want a limit — 28 students in secondary classes; 26 in elementary classes. Board wants to maintain language that the district "will make every effort to keep class sizes at acceptable levels."

• Just cause—teachers are angry over the involuntary transfer of band teacher Bob Williams and want language put into the contract that a teacher cannot be transferred without "just cause." The board wants to keep the same language which maintains the district's right to transfer teachers.

• Teacher responsibilities—the district wants to add into the contract that teachers have other responsibilities as teachers, such as meeting with parents, attending community and school functions, attending conferences preparing classroom status reports, and enforcing student codes and regulations. The teachers maintain they should be paid more if these duties are added into the contract.

There are more than 25 other issues in the contract which need to be settled.

Gandolfi named high school band director

The Mead's Mill Junior High band will have a new baton leader when they return to school. The Northville Board of Education has selected a new band director, Gary H. Gandolfi.

Gandolfi, who is from Farmington, comes to Northville with seven years of experience in teaching instrumental music.

He holds a bachelor of science degree in education from Wayne State University with a major in instrumental music and minors in English and social studies.

He will replace John Mason, who resigned this summer to accept a position with the Saline Public Schools.

Gets MA Plan for sale

Ronald Francis Rapin of Northville has received a master's degree in science in education from Western Illinois University.

Rapin, 38187 Connaught, was one of 218 students at Western Illinois to complete graduate degrees for the 1979 summer semester.

He has a bachelor of arts degree from Sienna Heights College.

Copies of the revised Master Plan for Land Use in Northville Township are now on sale at the Northville Township Hall, 41600 Six Mile.

The cost is $15 for each bound copy.

A public hearing on the plan will be held October 17. The public is invited to voice their opinions on the proposed plan.

A joint meeting between the township planning commission and other interested governmental units will be held next Thursday, September 20 at 8 p.m. at the township hall.

This meeting is also open to the public.

The $80,000 terrazzo flooring is due to be laid in the school's main halls

School repairs fan suspicion

Relations between the Northville school district and the teacher's union dipped lower Monday when they began arguing about the Northville High School floor.

The teachers are saying that the district may have actually wanted a strike because high school floor and ceiling repairs were not finished and NHS was not ready to open September 6.

In quick retort, the district has countered that the allegation is false and school could have opened on time.

At any rate, two jobs at NHS which were contracted out earlier this summer are not finished.

All the main hall floor tiles have been pulled up so Foster Flooring of Wixom can put down $80,000 worth of new terrazzo flooring. This week the floor was still bare.

The two second job, ceiling repair, is almost complete. Painters are finishing up the painting of ceiling borders.

Both jobs, which were supposed to be finished September 4, were delayed because "contractors had difficulty meeting the contract schedule," Nichols said in a written release Friday.

Still, if school had started the 6th, or if it opened today, the high school would be open and ready for classes, NHS Principal George Aune said.

He said the workers are painting and laying the floor between 4 and 11 p.m. each evening. They started working the afternoon shift September 4.

Also, several electrical circuit boxes which are open so that machinery can plug into 220-volts circuits would be closed if students were going to be in the building, Aune said.

"The repairs will be done hopefully within the next two weeks," Aune said. "I have to predict."

Meanwhile, the teacher's union needed the district with another release Monday, saying "how embarrassing it would have been if 1,000 students had shown up at the Northville High School Thursday, September 6, to find the floor untiled."

Michael Janchick, administrative assistant for operators, said the delays were caused by slow delivery on the terrazzo tile.

"The job was started five weeks ago. About 90 percent of the prepping of the floor is complete now, but the job has taken much longer than the contractors thought it would," he said.

He said a truckload of tile was brought to the high school Monday but the driver honored the teachers' picket line and would not cross.

He said the tile would take about four days to lay once the floor was prepped.

The corridor painting and light changing will continue after school starts, Janchick said. In addition, a $130,000 replacement of the high school roof will take two weeks. The board approved the expenditure at the end of July, but the contractors have had trouble scheduling the project, Janchick said.

"I don't know what all the turmoil is about," he said. "The classrooms are ready. All that would happen is that kids would have to walk on a cement floor for a while. I don't know where anyone got the idea that we weren't going to open. We could open tomorrow."

International Festival includes 'cafe' again

The "Old World Cafe" will take center stage again this year for the third annual International Festival.

That's the word from Paul Follno, president of the sponsoring Northville Community Chamber of Commerce.

The cafe, which will feature dining in an ethnic atmosphere, will be held in the lower level of the Northville Downs grandstand.

All of the festival's activities will be held indoors, permitting the extravaganza to go ahead come rain or shine. It is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 5-7.

Visitors will be able to watch ethnic craftsmen, purchase ethnic food specialties of many nations, buy gifts from around the world, relax with a cool drink while dining in an authentic Old World Cafe with a variety of international music, dancing and entertainment for their enjoyment," said Follno.

Admission will be $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for children under 16.

All proceeds, emphasized the chamber president, will be used to benefit the community.

Hearing Loss Is Not A Sign Of Old Age

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

True, all hearing problems are not alike...and some cannot be helped by a hearing aid. But audiologists report that many can. So, send for this free model now, and wear it in the privacy of your own home. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 02984, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

Despite cancer of larynx

He says no one needs voice box

Claude A. Freel, Jr. of Northville is one of 3,000 metropolitan Detroiters without voice boxes who have been assisted by the Michigan Cancer Foundation since 1950.

He is also one of many such laryngectomees devoted to teaching others to talk as proficiently as he does without a voice box.

Freel is a member of the "Sounding Board," a volunteer organization of laryngectomees, sponsored by the Michigan Cancer Foundation to help persons who have cancer of larynx. He spends much of his time helping other laryngeal cancer patients learn to overcome its affects.

More than 200 new cases of laryngeal cancer were diagnosed in metropolitan Detroit last year. The Michigan Cancer Foundation accept laryngectomees into its rehabilitation program even if they are unable to pay for the therapy. Funds are received through the United Foundations of Metropolitan Detroit.

When his laryngeal cancer was diagnosed 17 years ago, Freel was 32 and supporting his wife and three young children. "When I realized how many people were counting on me, I decided there was no time to sit around and feel sorry for myself," he said.

Just six weeks after his laryngectomy, Freel returned to his job in the mortgage and customer relations department at Allstate Insurance Company in Livonia. Within three months, he was able to speak again.

Several years later, Freel put his new voice to the test and became a salesman. Now, a senior account agent with Allstate, Freel relies on his voice daily.

Sounding Board members visit patients before and after surgery, at the request of their surgeon, and while the patient is learning to speak again.

Because of his success in speaking, Freel is readily accepted by other laryngectomees. "We try to convince these people that cancer is not synonymous with death, and that cancer of larynx, if detected early, has one of the highest cancer cure rates," he said.

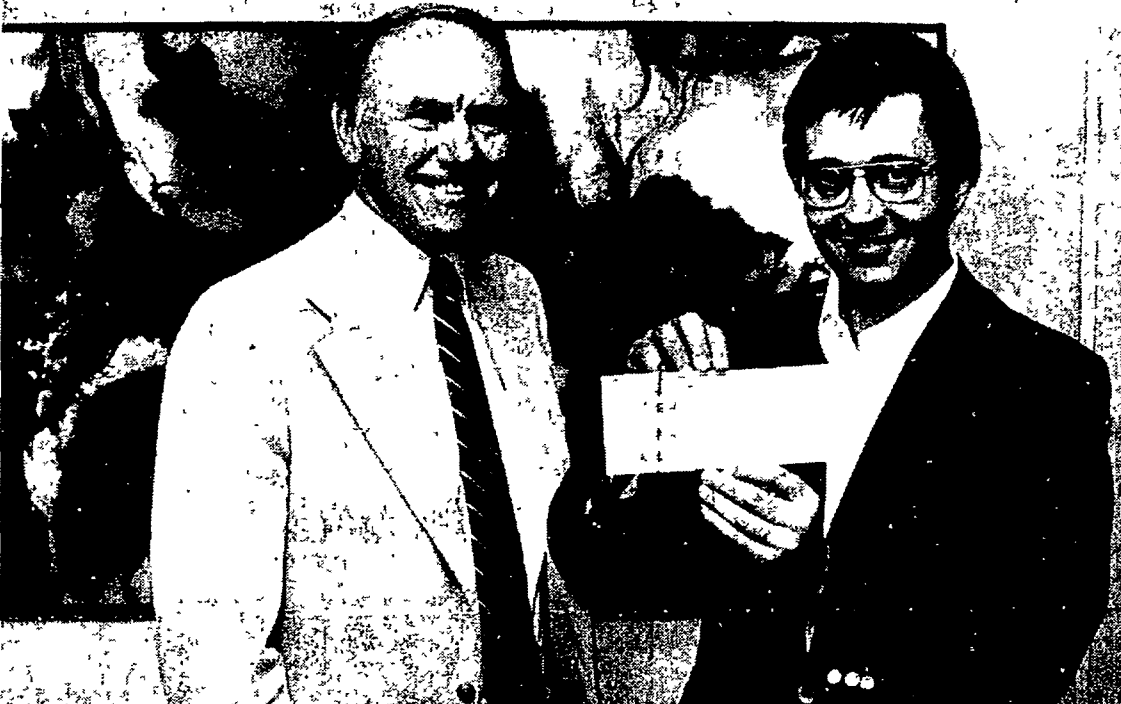

In a laryngectomy, the voice box is removed, the windpipe is disconnected from the nose and mouth and a small opening (stoma) is created in the lower part of the neck.

The most dramatic result of the surgery is loss of voice, but the patient must also learn to breathe through the stoma instead of the nose or mouth.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation operates the nation's largest laryngectomy speech rehabilitation program and has helped rehabilitate more than 3,000 laryngectomees since 1950. The Sound Board was established three years ago.

For further information, call the Michigan Cancer Foundation's Speech Pathology Service at 883-0710, ext. 203.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation is a Torch Drive-United Way agency.

Medical assistant classes offered

A series of three courses for medical doctor assistants is scheduled from September 8 through April 12, 1980 at Schoolcraft College.

The program is sponsored by Schoolcraft College and the Western Wayne County Medical Assistant Society in co-operation with the American Association of Medical Assistants, State of Michigan.

Anatomy & Physiology is scheduled to meet beginning September 8 and Laboratory Procedures will begin October 13. Both are scheduled to meet for six Saturday mornings from 8:30 to 12:30.

Clinical Procedures, X-

Ray and EKG will be presented from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on March 8 and April 12.

These programs are designed for the working medical assistant as preparation for taking the Certified Medical Assistant (CMA) examination. It is not preparatory training, but is intended as a review for persons already in the field.

Program approval has been requested from the American Association of Medical Assistants. Upon approval Continuing Education Units (CEU's) will be awarded for each session.

All sessions meet in the Forum Building Theater. Individuals may pre-register by calling the Schoolcraft College continuing education office at 591-6400, extension 404. They may also register at the first class session. The college is located at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

BACK PROBLEMS? WE CAN HELP

Every day, our spine is subjected to strains & stresses which it has not been conditioned to accept with ease. Spinal distortion can be the result, leading to pain, immobility and acute and chronic ailments. These are typical problems.

11 Danger Signals

As you read this, chances are that someone close by is doing something - or suffering an accident - that will cause a backache. One every 20 seconds. Millions a year. Many of those backaches can be prevented, and most of them eliminated... through chiropractic.

THESE SYMPTOMS USUALLY INDICATE THE NEED FOR A THOROUGH SPINAL EXAMINATION.

WHAT YOU AND CHIROPRACTIC CAN DO

- Be careful when lifting. Avoid positions that will put unusual strain on your spine and back muscles.
- Avoid stress. Don't overwork and don't overplay.
- Eat a well-balanced diet of nutritious foods.
- Keep in good physical condition with moderate exercise.
- Get adequate sleep. Use a mattress that gives you balanced sleep support.
- Have spinal exams on a regular basis. As the nerve center, the spine controls major body functions.
- If symptoms of back problems appear, get immediate attention.

Rain or shine, bus service transports Allen Terrace seniors on shopping spree

It is overcast, and the dark clouds threaten rain as the day begins. By 11 a.m. it's pouring as they wait outside under the hexagon-shaped protective roof for the bus to come. Fifteen minutes later, it arrives.

School children, shivering at a bus stop waiting for transportation to take them to school? Not quite. The group of 12 people gathered together under the hexagon roof at Allen Terrace are senior citizens, waiting for the bus which will take them to Northville's business district for a couple hours of shopping and fun.

The bus service is provided by the recreation department and has been in existence for three years in Northville. It is totally funded by the city and the township, according to Edward Kricitz, recreation department director.

Kricitz said the two municipalities support the program through their contributions to the senior citizens activities budget, which totals $4,450 this year.

"About $1,300 of that sum goes towards these Tuesday morning shopping trips," Kricitz said. "It works very simply. The bus driver's salary, the cost of the bus including gas and whatever, is paid by the city and township and then refunded to them by us."

The shopping trips used to be conducted on Tuesday and Thursday of each week, he said, but the Thursday excursion has been cut for lack of funds and interest. The bus service is only one of several programs offered by the recreation department for senior citizens.

"We also organize Tiger Day outings for the seniors, where we'll arrange to provide them a bus so they can go downtown on Tiger Days and see a ballgame. Also, we provide bus service for them if they wish to take an outing to a museum, or whatever."

Kricitz said the department is planning to add several new programs for seniors, including an exercise program in the recently renovated school board offices, which have now become the headquarters for the recreation department, plus an art program from 2 to 4 p.m. on Saturdays, this fall.

"We are also looking into the possibility of bringing in theatre and dance groups to provide some locally available entertainment for the seniors, hopefully beginning this coming winter."

Kricitz said the performers could probably make use of the stage at the recreation department, currently being used to house the library, or the Marquis Theatre, although he said that proposal has yet to be worked out.

The Square Dance club, which has been meeting in Northville Square, has been approached by Kricitz as to moving their meetings to the department's gymnasium as soon as the remodeling has been completed.

"We don't know for sure if they'll accept our offer, but it looks pretty good," he said. "I think a situation like that would be beneficial to all involved."

"Beneficial to all" was also the term used by Mary Haynes, director of the senior citizen's escort service, which rides the buses with the over-65ers on Tuesday mornings.

"A lot of these people just would not be able to get out and get their own groceries if it wasn't for this type of program," she said. "The bus service gives them a chance to get out of their homes, be with their friends, and have some contact with the outside world on a regular basis."

Haynes explained that the bus starts out Tuesdays at 9 a.m., and proceeds about town, picking up seniors at their homes or at Wishing Well Manor Convalescent Center or at Allen Terrace.

"After it has gathered everyone together, the bus heads down to Chatham's and to the central business district on Main. The bus waits two hours, or until everyone finishes, before heading back."

"A group of us will normally head on down to Elias Brother's after we drop off the others, and have lunch," Judy Wood, the escort service's bus driver said. "We usually get about five of the girls to go with us to the restaurant, but the others usually just want to go back home."

Wood, a 14 year veteran of the Northville School System Transportation Association, said she "believes the availability of this type of program should be taken advantage of by all the senior citizens in the community."

"It's really good to see these women get out of their homes, or their apartments, and do some shopping for themselves. Some of these women are not in the best of health, and I doubt they could get down here on their own."

Hazel Sharon, an Allen Terrace resident, agreed.

"I've been very sick lately," she said as she examined a package of meat at Chatham's. "I just got over pneumonia with complications. I had a blood clot near my heart and in my leg and for a while there I was pretty sick."

"But now I feel a bit better, and thanks to this bus service I'm able to get downtown and buy what I need for this week. If it wasn't for the bus, I'm not sure I could manage to get here myself."

Township gets 'clean up'

the township pursuant to the township zoning ordinance...

What this means is that vehicle owners cannot park their cars, trucks or trailers on private or commercial property or leave them running without having actual physical control.

"We want to clean up the township," Don Thomson, township supervisor said. "There are a lot of people who leave beat-up old cars sitting on their property making the community look bad."

"We also want to stop people from selling their cars on commercial property," he continued. "Shopping centers and other commercial sites have been abused by vehicle owners and we plan to put a stop to it."

Under the law, both township police and the township building inspector have the authority to issue tickets to violators of the ordinance.

A third purpose of the ordinance, according to police, is to stop truck drivers from leaving their vehicles running overnight on commercial property.

"We have had a number of drivers leave their rigs parked on commercial property in the township overnight," one police officer told The Record. "We have had many complaints from residents about the noise the truck engine makes during the middle of the night."

Peer counselor class

The Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center will offer peer counselor training beginning Monday, September 24.

Designed for those with a genuine interest in helping women discover their potential, the seven-week course will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday evenings.

Participants will study to develop empathy listening skills and problem-solving techniques. Upon successful completion of the intensive training sessions, they are requested to serve as volunteer peer counselors three hours a week for a minimum of four months.

Individuals pay for two institutional credits of instruction. No previous training is necessary. Volunteers are asked to telephone the Center by Monday, September 10 at 591-6400, extension 432, to arrange an appointment for a group interview.

Interviews will be held on Tuesday, September 11 and Thursday, September 13 at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. The Center is located in the second house next to the South Parking Lot.

At Allen Terrace

Retirement's great time to pick up paint brush

For many of them, it is a chance to do something they have always wanted to do but were afraid of before.

For several others, it is just another way to express the imagination they use in many other artistic ways.

And for one of the students, it is simply a chance to brush up on an aspect of his life's work that he never had much time to practice.

For all of the senior citizens who attend art classes conducted each Saturday from two until five p.m., the classes represent a chance to get out of their homes and apartments and have a lot of fun trying to capture reality on a canvas.

The classes are held at Allen Terrace and are taught by Sandy Daley, 36, a former Northville resident who now resides in Plymouth. Daley holds a B.A. degree in art education from Indiana University of Pennsylvania, and is working on an M.A. from the same college.

Daley has been teaching classes at Allen Terrace for three months. Currently, there are five regular students, although two or three others drop in now and then.

"These people who come here are just great. They're the best type of student, since they paint to please themselves. They really seem to get a lot out of coming to class," Daley said.

Only one of the students, all over the age of 65, has any type of art background. John Vandal was employed as a commercial sign painter with a Detroit firm for 30 years.

The rest of the class, Vera Sauer, Helen Lamp and Violet Drillen have had little or no previous drawing or painting experience.

"Yet each one of them seems to have always wanted to do this, secretly. You wouldn't believe how many of my students brought in old high school sketches and drawings they have had for years, just to show me their abilities," Daley said.

Daley admits she has a "special reason" to teach art classes at Allen Terrace.

"I'm doing my thesis for my masters on aging. As part of the thesis, I will be drawing and painting several different senior citizens of different ages. So, I'll be using these people as models over the next six months I plan on working to complete my thesis."

Daley said she told her students about her work on her masters, and asked several of them to pose for her. Most of the students have agreed, and she reported she has gotten "some beautiful drawings" out of the class.

When her thesis is completed, Daley said she will submit it to Indiana University as her final work in her masters program.

"I have promised the people in my class that I won't quit teaching as soon as my masters is complete. I like to work with these people, and I feel the class has made a lot of progress since we first began."

At first those attending the instruction were a little unsure about their painting skills, but Daley said a trip to the Detroit Art Museum helped reassure them that other more famous artists' work showed brush strokes and minor errors when examined closely.

Daley said the class will center on oil painting, and will not be involved with crafts of any sort. The emphasis in her class will be on painting, since there are other sessions available for those who wish to learn other skills.

"We still have several openings left in the class, if there are any seniors who wish to join. Most of the people so far have been Terrace residents. But I would hope there are other area people who would be interested."

Daley said she plans to take her class to the Detroit Museum several times in order to "introduce them to some different types of art they might have never seen before."

She also is making plans to open an exhibit of her students' work at the community building.

"There is a long wall at the community center, which faces the lobby which has several large windows big enough to be able to see the paintings from the street."

"I hope to be able to reserve that wall, and install the exhibit within the next month or so."

Thus, there is yet another program for area seniors to take advantage of at Allen Terrace.

College slates audition for jazz ensemble

Schoolcraft College will hold auditions for its jazz ensemble at 7 p.m. on September 17, the first meeting of the class.

Individuals who audition should bring their instruments to Room 310 of the Forum Building that evening.

Formed in 1970, the jazz ensemble rehearses on Monday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. through the fall semester. Their concert series begins in January and will include public performances in area high schools, colleges and shopping centers.

In addition to high school and college students, previous members of the jazz ensemble have included engineers, educators, physicians and others representing many professions and backgrounds from the community.

Gary Laura will direct the ensemble again this year. According to Mr. Laura, the group performs jazz and jazz rock selections using recorded arrangements by the Maynard Ferguson, Woody Herman, Stan Kenton and Count Basie bands.

Jazz performance or improvisation experience is beneficial, but not a prerequisite for ensemble membership.

Further information may be obtained by calling the fine arts department at 591-6400, extension 510. Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

Teacher strike chronology

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5—No negotiations. Despite the board's intentions to keep school doors open for ISE students, by 7 a.m. approximately 500 teachers appear at the five ISEP schools and clog the driveways and entrances. About half the picketing teachers are volunteers from other districts. Nichols calls police to make sure buses can get through from the garage to the schools. Police monitor operations. But at 8:55, buses lined up at Plymouth Center for Human Development leave with no students aboard. By "mutual agreement," center Director A. McIntosh and ISEP Director Leonard Resmierski decide not to release children because there is "insufficient staff to run the program." ISEP aides and other workers do not cross picket line. Some want to but can't. Others don't want to cross.

At 8:30 a.m. the school district issues a statement which says that due to the teachers' strike, ISEP and the K-12 programs will both be cancelled until further notice.

Wednesday evening, the kitchen workers and custodians belonging to Local No. 547 of the International Union of Operating Engineers, ISEP aides, nurses, occupational therapists, library aides, teacher aides and bus drivers are layed off for the duration of the strike. Personnel Director Burton Knighton says they will be called back "as soon as there is a contract agreement." Local No. 547 assistant union official for kitchen workers Pat Groener says their union has had "no direction" from their headquarters whether to support the teachers' strike or not. She says their union official said it was illegal for public employees to strike.

But other Local No. 547 members express support for the teachers.

"In a way, I really hope the teachers stick it out for what they want," one worker says. "We're kinda dumb, really, we just took what was offered us (in a Local No. 547 contract settlement July 9). The only ones who really suffer are the kids."

The board cancels a special Board of Education meeting it had scheduled Thursday night.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6—No negotiations. In the crisp, blue morning, 150 teachers picket the Northville schools while the children stay home. At 8 a.m. the superintendent enters a meeting with central office administrators. NEA workers man the MEA headquarters in Livonia to direct the flock of picketers and the press releases.

Both sides say they are eager to settle a contract and will compromise. But teachers continue to say that "just cause" language is a condition of the contract. The board continues to say it must operate within its financial limits. At 3 p.m. Superintendent Nichols says that because the strike is in violation of state law (which says public employees may not strike), the school board will be "reviewing its options" Monday night at the regularly scheduled board meeting. "I hope we won't need to," Nichols says, "but the board opinions range from disciplinary measures up to the dismissal of any or all of the illegal strikers."

Spokesman from both sides say they cannot really get a feel on how long the dispute will last. Though the mediator is aware of potential compromise positions, nothing is official.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 7—Mediator contacts the district from Southgate, where he is busy negotiating a teamsters strike of warehouse workers, to say that he will contact the negotiators soon.

Flyers from both the administrators and the teachers are sent continuously to Northville residents explaining their positions.

The teachers establish a headquarters in the rear of the Community Building on Main Street. Ironically, this is the building which the Northville School District recently leased to the Northville Recreation Department.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 8—No negotiations.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 9—Negotiators meet with mediator at 1 p.m. Teachers ask for marathon bargaining and for the school board members to sit in on negotiations. District negotiators reject the option that school board members sit in on negotiations. A meeting is set up for Monday.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 10—Enter second week of the Northville teachers' strike. Over the weekend, neighboring districts of Novi and Plymouth-Canton have both settled.

At 11 a.m., the teams go to "neutral territory" in downtown Detroit to meet with state mediators. Negotiators return to Northville by 5 p.m. so they can attend the school board meeting.

At 7:30 p.m. about 250 people crowd the board room and the halls for the board meeting. Parents, students and teachers protest to the board about the strike and the status of negotiations. Every speaker criticizes the board for its position on salary, class size and transfer policy and merit pay.

The board finishes the other business of the meeting quickly then recesses into executive session to consider public opinion and decide its position at 8:30 p.m.

Two hours later, at 10:30, the board returns. Trustee Chris Johnson reaffirms the board's pledge to stand behind its negotiating team and bargain at the table as called for by law instead of discussing issues at the public meeting.

Trustee Douglas Whitaker calls for investigating the possibility of getting ISEP in session again by turning the program's administration over to the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Finally, Richard Barron moves that a class action lawsuit be brought against the teachers to get an injunction to end the unlawful strike.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 13—Fact-finding scheduled. Strike continues.

Branch office open

City and township officials last Thursday, September 6, welcomed Michigan National Bank of Detroit to the area.

Northville Mayor Paul Vernon and Township Supervisor Donald Thomson joined other local government officials and bank representatives in ribbon-cutting ceremonies at the new branch on Seven Mile in the Highland Lakes Shopping Center, Northville Township.

Robert C. Macioce is the manager of the new bank, which is the 47th branch of MNB of Detroit.

Michigan National Bank Corporation serves 75 communities in Michigan through 245 offices.

The full-service bank is open from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday and will soon be extending drive-in hours to 8 p.m., Macioce said.

The new branch office will make banking easier for customers in the Northville area who previously had to travel to Plymouth Township to do their banking.

The bank is currently offering free gifts for new accounts, Macioce said.

Helen Batzer leaves kindergarten teaching legacy

By KAREN RICE

This year when the kids went back to classes at Novi's Orchard Hills Elementary School, some things were missing.

The hornets' nest was not in place in the kindergarten room; neither were years worth of children's drawings and presents or souvenirs from around the world. But more importantly, Helen Batzer was gone.

A virtual part of the fixtures for 20 years at Orchard Hills, Mrs. Batzer retired quietly and without fanfare in July.

"I wanted it that way, you see," she said. "I wanted my last day to be just like any other last day of the school year. I couldn't have said good-bye."

When Dr. Gerald Kratz, superintendent of Novi schools, received her resignation, he wanted to have a

"Helen Batzer Day" to commemorate her years of teaching at Orchard Hills. The teacher herself, though, wanted nothing to do with any celebrations.

"Can you imagine?" she asked. "They'd have all the teachers and parents and kids there... Why, I'd be devastated!"

Publicity, Mrs. Batzer claims, is not for her; teaching, however, is obviously her style. Her enthusiasm for learning, passion for children, and her dedication to teaching have made her name synonymous with kindergarten at Orchard Hills for former students, their parents, community members and fellow teachers.

"We knew a child was ready for kindergarten when he knew where Mrs. Batzer lived," said Ann Prime, a teacher at Orchard Hills. "She is unique—one of a kind."

"Unique" describes her accurately.

At 60, Mrs. Batzer is as perky and full of life as the children who filled her classroom. She is a woman who showed up for class dressed completely in orange and announced to the children, "Guess what color we are learning about today!" A woman who hunched over to school when her car died in the midst of winter. A woman whose room could become Hawaii or Mexico for a week at a time with the correct props.

"But what the kids really learned from her was to love each other, because that's what she showed them," claimed Sharon Pelchat, four of whose five children started school in Mrs. Batzer's classroom. A member of the Novi Board of Education, Mrs. Pelchat said, "Helen really loved the kids."

George Culbert, teacher at Orchard Hills agreed. "She made every child feel he was something special."

That sentiment was echoed by

Adrienne Parsons, whose son was taught by Mrs. Batzer. "She loved kids, she loved her job — and it showed."

Certainly Helen Batzer's love for her students was matched only by her dedication to them, friends and acquaintances insist.

"Her dedication was unbelievable," said Mrs. Pelchat. "She was the first one at school in the morning and the last to leave at night. No matter what the weather, she stood outside and waved until the last school bus had left."

Even after the school buses had rolled out of the parking lot, though, Mrs. Batzer often remained to prepare lessons or put some order in the "controlled chaos" of the kindergarten room. "One night I came back about 8:30 for a meeting and her lights were on," said Culbert. "She was still there."

Since news of her retirement has leaked out, Mrs. Batzer says, she has received several notes from former students and their parents. One such card came from one of the Orchard Hills cooks, signed by herself and four sons, each one of whom Mrs. Batzer had taught in kindergarten classes.

"That meant so much to me," she said.

And that, notes Ann Prime, is an accurate reflection of Helen Batzer's philosophy. "She is very child-oriented," she remarked. "For Helen, the emphasis was always on the child."

That occasional ex-students remember her early influence on them, Mrs. Batzer believes, is the most rewarding form of praise for her years of teaching. In June 1979 when Jeff Laverty gave his valedictory speech, he cited the importance of two teachers in the development of his education at Novi schools. Those teachers were Lloyd Demo, fifth grade teacher at Orchard Hills, and Helen Batzer.

"What really struck me when I came back was that Helen was still as enthusiastic and bubbly as I had remembered her. I thought she would have changed, but she hadn't."

Now, however, the days of teaching at Orchard Hills are over. Mrs. Batzer and her husband, Rolf, who retired last winter from United Airlines, have moved from their home in Northville to Georgia. "We've been very happy here," she stated prior to the move, "But I won't make a big deal out of leaving. I won't forget, but I will put things out of my mind for a while. You have to when you start a new life."

The break from the school, though, was probably not quite as simple as it sounds. "She said she had to leave (the area)," noted Ella McMillan, administrative secretary for Novi schools. "She started to cry every time she saw a school bus."

Although Helen Batzer is gone, she will not be forgotten. Not by the children she loved, nor by any whose lives were enriched simply by knowing her. And certainly not by the new kindergarten teachers who replaced her and Leslie Carnacchi, with whom she worked closely for eight years.

"I would not want to be one of the kindergarten teachers," said Ann Prime. "They will have awfully big footsteps to follow."

Northville Council Minutes

NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL MINUTES August 20, 1979

Mayor Vernon called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m.

ROLL CALL: PRESENT: Vernon, DeRusha, Johnston, Nichols.

ABSENT: Gardner, etc.

MINUTES OF PREVIOUS MEETING: Minutes of the August 6, 1979 meeting were approved as submitted.

MINUTES OF BOARDS & COMMISSIONS: The following minutes were placed on file.

Northville Beautification Commission, May 14, 1979; Northville Housing Commission, August 8, 1979; Open House Planning Meeting for Allen Terrace, August 8, 1979; Northville Recreation Commission, July 18, 1979; Board of Zoning Appeals, July 11, 1979.

APPROVAL OF BILLS: Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Johnston to approve the following bills:

GENERAL FUND, $92,220.37; WATER FUND, $4,198.94; EQUIPMENT FUND, $6,676.21; MAJOR STREET FUND, $25,356.61; LOCAL STREET FUND, $2,041.28; PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT FUND, $11,251.11; PAYROLL FUND, $11,378.75; TRUST & AGENCY, $112,800.00; ALLEN TERRACE OPERATING FUND, $8,858.88; ALLEN TERRACE CONST. FUND, $6,687.42; RECREATION FUND, $17,632.16. Motion Carried Unanimously.

COMMUNICATIONS: A resolution was received from the City of Plymouth challenging the City of Northville in the annual Chicken Flying Contest to be held in Plymouth on October 7, 1979.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Nichols to adopt a resolution accepting the challenge of the City of Plymouth. Motion Carried Unanimously. The City Attorney was appointed as the official chicken trainer.

B. Communication from Mrs. Lois R. Winters accepting appointments to the Zoning Board of Appeals and the Library Board.

C. Communication from the Wayne County Public Works Dept. for permits, inspection, etc. for the proposed sewerage meter policy.

D. Communication from the Wayne County Clerk's Office advising of the Eighth Day of the Equalization Session of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners held Tuesday, August 16. This was placed on file.

E. Minutes of the Randolph Street Drain, August 8, 1979 were placed on file.

F. Industrial Waste Control Ordinance would be placed on the next agenda.

G. Finalized copy of the offer to purchase between Denis Rous and the City. Mayor Vernon asked about the pie-shaped piece of property owned by Al Rottman and wondered if he would be willing to deed the property back to the City. The City Manager suggested entering into an agreement to give Mr. Rottman credit for the multiple dwelling density in exchange for acquisition of the property for parking purposes. Mayor Vernon asked the City Manager to explore the possibility of deeding back the property to the City.

H. Communication from the Police Department re. construction traffic using City streets while building in Novi. Novi has been contacted and stated they would take care of the problem. Our Police Department will follow up on this matter.

I. Communication from Mr. Selim Abraham re. overpayment of $3,058.52 on his 1978 inventory tax. He was informed by the Oakland County Tax Department that he may have to sue the City under state law 211.53A in order to be reimbursed for his overpayment. The City Attorney agreed that some kind of court order would be needed to open the tax roll to receive a refund for 1978. Mr. Abraham stated the City had been most cooperative with him, however he still has to hire a lawyer. The City Attorney would get in touch with Mr. Abraham and assist him with the problem.

K. Communication from the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce re. letter sent to the Wayne County Road Commission re. the deplorable condition of South Main Street. The letter asked that South Main Street be paved. Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman DeRusha to adopt a resolution to prevail on Wayne County to resurface S. Main Street and send a copy to the Chamber of Commerce. Motion Carried Unanimously.

L. Notice of an estate auction to be held Sunday, Sept. 9, starting at 1:00 p.m. at 304 Dunlap. This was for information only.

M. Communication from the AAA stating the City of Northville has been awarded the Pedestrian Safety Citation in their 40th Annual Pedestrian Safety Inventory. The award recognizes the City's record for no pedestrian deaths for the past four years. Mayor Vernon asked the City Manager to find a place in City Hall for the plaque.

COMMUNICATIONS - FROM CITIZENS: Mr. Paul Folino, President of the Chamber of Commerce, in reference to S. Main Street, he stated he had received a letter from a Northville citizen commenting on the deplorable condition of S. Main Street, so the Chamber decided to get involved. He stated the Chamber would like to get the ball rolling and get everybody involved.

PUBLIC HEARING—REZONE FROM LCO TO R-2, LOTS 117 TO 122A, GARDNER ST.: The Clerk read the Notice of Public Hearing as published. Mayor Vernon opened the Public Hearing for comments. Mr. Paul Folino recommended that the City Council rezone the property because, in his opinion, the residents have done a lot to update their homes. Mayor Vernon read the letter from a Northville citizen recommending to Council that lots 117 to 122a be rezoned from LCO to R-2. The vote was 4-2 with Wheaton and Tucker voting no. The City Attorney commented on the wording of the notice. Mr. Frank Paul, 508 Gardner, stated he had asked only for his own lot to be rezoned, that the Planning Commission decided to include all the lots in their motion. He also mentioned Mrs. Ilo Schwab, who owns lot 117 facing River Street, had asked that her lot remain zoned LCO. The City Attorney asked that the Planning Commission Minutes be checked to make sure they reflect that it was on their motion the other lots were added to the rezoning. Mayor Vernon asked for any more comments, there being none, he closed the Public Hearing. In Councilman Nichols' opinion the lots should be rezoned to R-2 with the exception of Mrs. Schwab's.

Councilman DeRusha commented that lot 117 remaining zoned as is would make for a better development of lot 116 which faces Seven Mile and zoned GCD. Councilman Johnston agreed with Councilman Nichols and DeRusha. Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman DeRusha to rezone lots 118 through 122a as R-2 and to leave lot 117 as is (LCO). Motion Carried Unanimously.

PUBLIC HEARING CD SPECIAL NEEDS PROGRAM: The Clerk read the Notice of Public Hearing as published. Mayor Vernon opened the Public Hearing for comments. Mr. Paul Folino asked if Council had any priorities and was told they would be established after the hearing. There being no other response, the Public Hearing was closed.

The City Manager made several suggestions for use of the funds such as, allocating to the DDA, library, or relocation of the District Court in the Scout Building. There might be some question as to whether the Building would fall under the allowed uses as stated in the CD Grant.

Mayor Vernon asked if the repair of S. Main Street would be a possible use. The City Manager mentioned this had been rejected by HUD last year, however, the Downtown project could qualify. He also questioned whether the Scout Building might qualify beyond renovating to barrier free. He also mentioned a ramp with railing in the front of the City Hall. Mayor Vernon asked the City Manager to report back at the next meeting on these projects.

ADOPT RESOLUTION RE WAYNE COUNTY COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM: Communication from Wayne County Office of Program Development and Coordinating stating the enclosed resolution had to be adopted and returned no later than September 14, 1979, if the City is to participate with the County in the 1980 Community Development program. Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Nichols to adopt a resolution to participate with Wayne County in the 1980 Community Development program. Motion Carried Unanimously.

DDA REVISION: Communication from the Downtown Development Authority recommending Council to amend the development plan which was necessitated by the voter approval at the recent election. A time schedule for amending the plan was included with the communication. Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman DeRusha to call two Public Hearings on Monday, September 17, 1979: 1) Downtown Development Plan amendments according to statute, and 2) Downtown Development Ordinance amendments, Title I, Chapter 14, according to Charter. Motion Carried Unanimously.

PROPOSED SEWAGE DISPOSAL RATE INCREASE: Notice of Public Hearing on the proposed sewage disposal rate increase. The City Manager noted the Wayne County Public Works Department would speak for the City. He also would attend the meeting on August 29.

BIDS: A Salt: The Following bids were received and opened on August 20: International Salt Co., Clark Summit, Pa. 18411—$19.00 per ton, $28,500 per 1,500 tons; Morton Salt, 110 N. Wacker Dr.—$20.21 per ton, $30,315 per 1,500 tons. Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by also encourage the Township Supervisor to take this to their Board of Trustees. Councilman DeRusha asked if Council were acting on the one portion of the reorganization. He felt the rest of it should be discussed for the record.

Dr. Aune complimented Officer Jerry Ryan for being very helpful. Motion by Mayor Vernon supported by Councilman Johnston to accept the recommendation of the Police Chief on the reorganization and the Community Service Officer to work with the schools as endorsed by the School Administration. Motion Carried Unanimously.

REORGANIZATION OF WAYNE COUNTY COURT SYSTEM: Communication from John H. Hausner, Circuit Judge, Wayne County, and resolutions from the City of Grosse Pointe Woods, City of Allen Park, Ukrainian Congress Committee of America, Inc., City of Southgate and the Polish American Congress, Inc., opposing any plan for reorganization of the courts in Wayne County that will deprive the citizens of Wayne County of their present right to vote for every Circuit Judge. Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Nichols to adopt a resolution similar to the City of Grosse Pointe Woods opposing any plan for reorganization of the courts in Wayne County that will deprive the citizens of Wayne County of their present right to vote for every Circuit Judge. Copies of the resolution are to be sent to our senators, representatives and all surrounding communities. Motion Carried Unanimously.

VACATING OF WEST STREET: Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Johnston to adopt a resolution vacating West Street from the North right-of-way of West Street to the South right-of-way of West Street reserving an easement for public utilities. Motion Carried Unanimously.

1978 BOCA CODE: Next Agenda.

BUILDING CODE FEES: Next Agenda.

TRAFFIC CONTROL ORDERS—SPEED BUMPS: Next Agenda.

CITY HALL ADDITION: The City Manager updated Council on the progress being made on the addition. He mentioned the balcony should be turned back to us in September and the Library would hopefully be ready in December.

CITY HALL TELEPHONE SYSTEM: Communication from Betty Lennox, Controller, re. the Telephone System Study. Features of the system were listed as well as a cost analysis from GTE, ITT and Michigan Bell. The City Manager explained the difference in the systems and recommended the ITT system as low bid.

Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman DeRusha to award bids based on the reports received that it would be to no advantage to the City to go out for similar bids pursuant to Chapter 2, Section 2-202(d) of the City Charter. Motion Carried Unanimously. Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Johnston to accept the recommendation of the City Manager to install a Telephone System through ITT Systems. Motion Carried Unanimously.

8-MILE CENTER TRAFFIC: Communication from Russell E. Harrison, Engineer of Traffic & Safety, Wayne County Road Commission, re. widening on the north side of Baseline between Carpenter and the proposed school driveway approach which is to be located 280' west of Center Street. A preliminary construction cost estimate was projected to be $50,000 which would be shared. They suggested the interested parties meet to consider the funding. Councilman DeRusha asked who would share in the cost. It was mentioned Wayne, Oakland and the City would participate in the cost. Mayor Vernon stated he would accept Wayne County Road Commission's invitation to meet and discuss this with them.

POST OFFICE PROPERTY PURCHASE: Communication from the Post Office with an offer to purchase the lot west of their office for $22,000 plus a settlement of $12,000 to offset the costs of moving the house off of the lot. Councilman DeRusha questioned whether the City should go out for bids on the lot. Mayor Vernon commented the lot would be the logical place for the Post Office to expand and going out for bids would defeat this. Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman DeRusha that it is not in the best interest of the City to go out for sealed bids on the sale of the lot west of the Post Office. Motion Carried Unanimously. Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Nichols to authorize the Mayor and City Clerk to sign the Offer to Sell for $38,000 to the Post Office, the lot west of their office. Motion Carried Unanimously.

CITY LOT ON FAIRBROOK: Communication from James Cutler re. the estimated value of Lot No. 343 Assessor's Plat No. 4 and two buildings presently located on site. (The Ambulance Quarters). The City Manager would work up a draft for a bid sale for the next agenda.

BLOCK PARTY—LANGFIELD: Communication from Ann E. Lindemier, 538 Reed St., requesting Langfield St. from Canterbury to Novi St. be closed on Sunday, Sept. 2 from 2:00 p.m. thru the evening to hold a block party. Rain date scheduled for Monday, Sept. 3. Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman DeRusha to grant permission to hold a block party on Langfield from Canterbury to Novi St., on Sunday, Sept. 2 from 2:00 p.m. thru the evening, for the purpose of holding a block party, to Ann Lindemier, 538 Reed St. Alternative date Monday, Sept. 3. Motion Carried Unanimously.

DDA BOND RESOLUTIONS: Motion by Councilman Nichols supported by Councilman DeRusha to authorize the Mayor and City Clerk to sign the DDA Bond Resolutions. Motion Carried Unanimously.

MML ANNUAL CONVENTION SEPTEMBER 12-14, 1979: Mayor Vernon, Councilman Nichols and the City Attorney will be attending.

CHANGE OF DATE FOR 1ST MEETING IN SEPT: Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Johnston to change the regular meeting from Monday September 3 (Labor Day) to Monday September 10. Motion Carried Unanimously.

MISCELLANEOUS: Mayor Vernon mentioned the Northville Civic Association had disbanded with $313.87 left in the Treasury. They contributed the money for trees at 8-Mile and Novi.

Communication from Lois Winters, President, City Library Board re. asking the Township to share library services according to the proposed joint service agreement.

Communication from the City Manager advising the Township the City intends to terminate the agreement for the maintenance of the senior citizens center located at 211 W. Cady St. since the Allen Terrace and projected investment in the Recreation Building have or will have facilities available for senior citizen activities.

Meeting adjourned at 11:30 p.m.

There is no question that students remember this teacher or her classes, even years later. Culbert, who attended Orchard Hills as a child and now teaches fourth grade there, noted

Senator has free index

State Senator R. Robert Geake (R-Northville) recently announced that copies of an index to all legislation introduced during the 1979 session is now available from his Lansing office.

The publication is indexed by subject in alphabetical order with the sponsor of the bill listed and a one or two sentence explanation of the legislation included.

"I publish this type of information about every six months in order to provide the people of my district with more detailed information on what the Legislature is actually working on," explained Geake. "I hope as a

Safety signal

Wayne County Road Commission workers installed a traffic signal at the intersection of Seven Mile and Silver Springs. Workers also installed a signal at Eight Mile and Silver Springs last week, the other entrance to Highland Lakes Subdivision. There have been numerous accidents at both intersections since the homes in the subdivision have been occupied. City and township residents are hoping the new traffic lights will greatly decrease the number of auto mishaps.

HAROLD NORMAN

Trooper shot three times now stable

A 24-year-old Northville State Police trooper who was shot Monday remains in stable condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital. Harold Norman was wounded by gunfire three times while attempting to stop the robbery of a Detroit party store.

Norman, off duty at the time, entered the store and realized that a robbery was in progress, state police said.

He was shot while struggling with one of four suspects, police said, who were scared off by an off-duty Detroit police officer who fired six shots at the fleeing car.

The Detroit police homicide unit is investigating the incident along with Northville state police.

Norman came to the Northville post in 1977.

Residents frolic Saturday

It's carnival time for center

Holy Cross Lutheran Church of Westland is the site for a carnival on Saturday, September 15, 3-6 p.m., for approximately 160 residents of the Northville Residential Training Center.

Sponsored by NRTC's Community Volunteer Advisory Board, the carnival will include booths for activities such as dunking for apples, Frisbee and water balloon throws, bowling, and various group games. There will be clowns and a three-piece live band. Hot dogs, popcorn, chips, potato salad, and McDonald's orange drink will be served.

"With the Department of Health's mandate to place institutionalized persons, who are retarded, in community settings it is important that our residents have experience and exposure in the community in order to learn appropriate social behavior," stated James K. Hunt, facility director. He added that it is a two-way street with the community needing to meet and relate to retarded persons so that stereotypes and fears may be allayed through these personal encounters.

"This is the rationale for the carnival — quite apart from the obvious enjoyment our residents will have. We want both groups to have a chance to meet and mingle in an informal but secure setting."

Carol Park, NRTC's community relations director, expressed appreciation for the community's responsiveness to the event. "Almost everything from food to recreational equipment has been donated," she said.

She explained that the Community Volunteer Advisory Board is comprised of representatives from the VFW (VFR), Rotary Club, Knights of Columbus, Farmington Senior Citizens Center, UAW-CAP, Michigan Bell Pioneers, NRTC Parent Group and Holy Cross Lutheran Church. It was formed in March to strategize on ways to provide volunteer services to NRTC residents on an ongoing basis. This is their first project.

Established as a separate agency of the Department of Mental Health in 1972, Northville Residential Training Center serves retarded persons of Wayne County. In 1974, EPIC Center was added for the treatment of emotionally disturbed adolescents.

Dignity, independence, respect and comfort define the approach for NRTC residents. The ultimate goal is to return them to their community and dignity for those who cannot leave at this time.

NRTC is located on the mental health campus on Seven Mile Road, just east of the Michigan State Police Post.

SPEAKING
By BILL SLIGER

Negotiations could very well be the name of a popular game, like Monopoly.

And contestants may choose to employ different strategy in the way they play the game.

One might decide, for example, to sink all his money in hotels on Boardwalk and Park Place hoping for huge returns.

Another player could prefer lower-cost housing or utilities in more locations thereby gaining smaller but more frequent dividends.

The strategy is an option of the players. It is not enforced by law.

At least in the game of Teacher Negotiations that's the way Novi Superintendent of Schools Gerald Kratz sees it.

And obviously the school districts of Northville and Novi play their Negotiations differently.

Frankly, I'd choose the Novi method every time. But then, I was never a big winner at Monopoly.

The contrast between the stance taken by the Novi board of education and Northville's board is that Novi went public. Northville prefers to operate in semi-secrecy.

Both strategies contain pitfalls. And Kratz readily admits that going public can destroy the process and harden teams in their positions. But he steadfastly denies there is anything "unlawful" about telling the public what the board's "best last offer" is, whether it has been rejected or not. What's more, in the high-stakes game of Negotiations the threat of "unfair labor charges" is not the chief concern of Superintendent Kratz.

By resolution the Novi board determined that its strategy would be to tell all by August 1 if agreement had not been reached.

Novi took a four-day "friendly" strike. There was some movement on both sides as agreement was reached, but the response to the district by the public was nine-to-one in favor of the board's position.

The public was informed. And in its own judgment, it decided the board was being fair with the teachers.

It should be reported that Novi teachers will receive pay hikes amounting to 26.5 percent over a three-year period and specific class-size restrictions. The district avoided double digit hikes and gained a third year in its contract.

"We've always been open. I feel we're far better off keeping the public informed," concluded Kratz.

I can't believe Kratz doesn't thoroughly understand the "negotiating process." He has taught classes in public sector negotiations at Eastern Michigan University for six years.

It's difficult for a newspaperman to comprehend the Northville district's strategy.

In striving to protect the public interest it appears to me that the board of education comes off looking like it bears a "public-be-damned" attitude. The whole scenario would seem to be playing into the hands of the teacher union. Certainly that body would not vote to hold open negotiations.

My impressions are simply that. Impressions. They are those of a curious taxpayer — and not as the husband of a boardmember. It must be noted, I suppose, that my opinions do not necessarily coincide with School Boardmember Marge Sliger. In fact, when I actively reported school board activities several years ago, I enjoyed far better sources of information on the school board than I do today. And I believe that is the way it should be.

In fairness to Superintendent Larry Nichols it is possible that his team's strategy may have more advocates than the open approach. He is following the rules of the strategy. By design, for example, the board did not divulge exactly the terms of its "merit" pay play to the public.

But Nichols says the board's offer was made last June and was never responded to by the teachers. And according to the strategy set forth by the players in Northville Negotiations, it's a legal no-no to reveal in public a proposal that has not been discussed at the table.

One would have to be very naive to believe that a teachers' union would seriously consider a merit compensation plan. By design unions strive for equality for its members.

The teacher strike automatically eliminates all the game rules.

Maybe now the district will try going public.

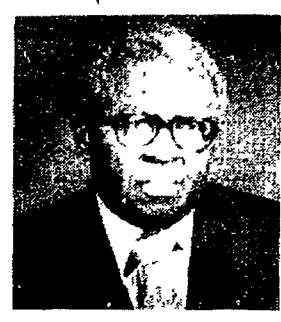

And then we can make some sense out of the flurry of flyers delivered to our homes from the district and union. Somewhere between the claims of "salary cutbacks" and the glory of a two percent increase coupled with merit-performance pay hikes lies the tab that the taxpayers will be asked to pick up.

Speaking for Myself

Remove Diggs from office?

HORACE SHEFFIELD

YES

Should Congressman Diggs be removed from office?

Absolutely yes. Charles Diggs is a convicted criminal. His criminal activities were against the people and the government he was elected to represent.

Diggs, as a representative to the Congress of the United States, holds one of the highest governmental offices the world has to offer. As a senior member of this illustrious body (1954), he should be worthy of the respect of all U.S. citizens as well as the other members of Congress. But what are the facts?

Diggs was charged with 29 different counts. He was tried in a U.S. court and found guilty on all counts by a jury of nine women and three men on October 7, 1978. As a note of interest, the jury consisted of 11 blacks which eliminated the possibility of discrimination.

Diggs was guilty of conducting an elaborate kickback scheme in which he defrauded the U.S. government of more than $60,000.

He has promised to pay back $40,031 of this amount which is probably dependent upon his remaining free and being allowed to continue lurching off the public.

On November 11, 1978, he was sentenced to three years in prison for each count to run concurrently. His appeal is still pending. On July 31, 1979, our illustrious Congress censured Diggs.

The world is laughing at the U.S. because of the Charles Diggses and Richard Nixons.

It is inexcusable that we, the people and the government, permit them to operate above the law. Diggs should be banished from office at this time and not be permitted to serve in any level of government for the rest of his life.

R.J. Seccombe
Lyon Township

NO

Yes, Charlie Diggs did pad the salary of employee Jean Stultz by $40,031.66 to help pay his personal debts. And it was senseless and wrong.

However, as I read it, and this is something the white media pretends not to understand, there is an unwillingness on the part of most black people to permit this wrong to obliterate all the tremendous good Charlie Diggs has done for black people and the liberal cause throughout his 25 years tenure in the U.S. Congress.

While Charlie Diggs has certainly been an unrelenting, articulate and effective fighter in the Congress for civil rights, he has been equally as effective and unremitting in fighting for other just causes.

The labor movement, for instance, has had no greater champion, in or out of Congress, than Diggs.

A vocal supporter in the Congress for food stamps for strikers, pension reinsurance, liberalized minimum wage, full employment and so on, Diggs has consistently stood with the labor movement in its hard fought struggles over the past 25 years against the right-to-work, anti-labor forces in the Congress.

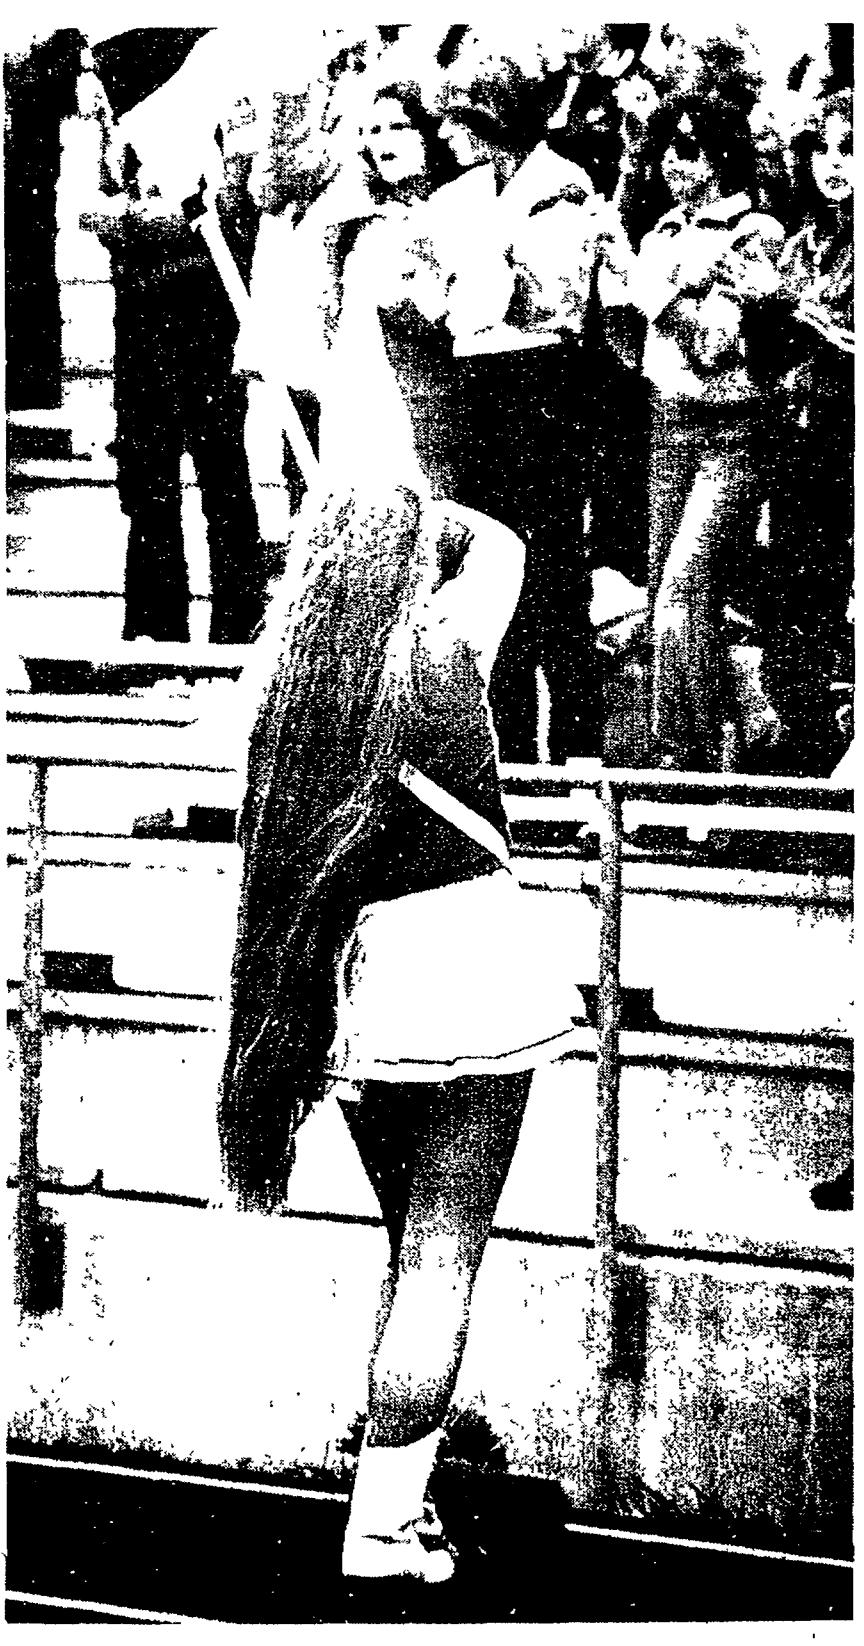

I guess the bottom line in all of this is that there is just no way for the man who wears no yoke to understand the problems, the needs and the perspectives of the man who does.

What more can you say?

HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Enroute from the North this past weekend, we noticed the first blushing faces of fall. There was a chill even in the summer sunlight, and strands of pale yellows and a few slivers of red were beginning to invade the tree tops and attack the low lying sumac. Thus, we know positively that within a month whole forests will have been captured in the nets of autumn.

But long before fall began its tenacious march southward, back before the August harvest of grains, my father was looking over lush fields of green behind his country home and saying ruefully, "Fall is on the way. Jack; I feel it in the pit of my stomach."

A stranger might have snickered. But I have come to know that his was no frivolous comment. He and others do indeed feel the approach of autumn long before we see it.

"It is a feeling of sadness," he explains. "I don't know what causes it, for sure, but when it hits me there is no mistaking it. It is the feeling of saying goodbye to something or someone you love." The feeling has come to me each year in August as long as I can remember."

Other seniors, mostly those coming from farm backgrounds, share his feeling.

Perhaps there is a better explanation, but my father comes pretty close, I believe, when he tries to rationalize the phenomenon. He suggests the feeling is automatically triggered by the shift in the position of the sun. Although it has not yet reached the autumnal equinox, its August rays and resulting shadows have changed sufficiently to click a switch in the human metabolism, he says.

Thus, like the experimental bells that can make animals salivate, the sun triggers a revelation of autumn in the stomachs of some humans. They need not wait, like you and me, for color changes or September 22 to announce fall's arrival.

Although I am not forewarned by the August sun, September's visible signs create a similar feeling.

But, fortunately, by the time October arrives, the landscape's colors are so dazzling and overpowering that we are lulled into an appreciative stupor and the feeling is gone.

NOVI—Lee Regole has marked his 25th year as the Novi police chief. Following some part-time work in the area, he first served his first "real day" as police chief on September 1, 1954. He's the first, last and only police chief Novi has ever had.

WALLED LAKE—The City of Walled Lake is celebrating its 25th anniversary.

WALLED LAKE—Reorganization, training and recruiting are the top priorities of Walled Lake's new fire chief, Bill Friar. After serving as interim chief for 2½ months and as president of the Walled Lake Firefighters Association since January, Friar agreed last month to accept the permanent part-time post as the head of the city's first official fire chief since March 1978.

WIXOM—The Ford Motor Company has submitted an application for tax abatement on its Wixom Assembly Plant to city officials. Specifically, the city has received a petition proposing the establishment of an industrial development district for the entire 318-acre parcel on which the Ford Motor Company Assembly Plant is located on South Wixom Road, north of the I-96 freeway.

NOVI—Three Republicans and one Democrat have filed nominating petitions for the seat on the Oakland County Board of Commissioners vacated by Robert McConnell (R-Farmington Hills). The three Republicans are Dr. G. W. Caddell of Union Lake, Dorothy L. McIntosh of Orchard Lake, and Leonard M. Nathanson of Farmington Hills. The lone Democrat is George Montgomery, a Union Lake resident who was defeated by McConnell last November.

HOWELL—With figurative scalpels and a long list of possible budget cuts in hand, the Howell Board of Education sat down at its special board meeting for long and painful surgery on proposed Howell school expenditures. Members decided to ax eight teaching posts.

BRIGHTON—A strolling grandmother, who heard cries for help, leaped into a pond here to rescue a three-year-old son of a neighbor. The child was floating face down by the time she got to him, said Joan Purser, who said it happened so rapidly that she cannot remember if she removed her shoes or why she was carrying her glasses in one hand when she climbed from the water with the boy.

HOWELL—Larry Ostrander has quit as assistant principal at Howell High School to take a position at Lakeville Community Schools in Otisville. His departure is the fifth administrative turnover at the high school since last fall. Of the five high school administrators that started the 1978 school year, only one remains employed by the Howell School District.

Readers Speak

Strike sparks contrasting views

To the Editor:

It has been a long summer, with issues concerning the high school band hotly debated both in this newspaper and on the street.

At the beginning of the summer a group of us wrote a letter explaining we would not march in the 1979-80 Marching Band. Some of you agreed and some did not.

But now we should clarify what our intentions were regarding our decision not to march this season. We had hoped the protest would bring about an improvement in the program.

Now there is a movement underway to upgrade the program and we will be taking part in trying to raise money for the 1980-81 bands, including marching, jazz, concert and wind ensemble; doing all we can to insure the perpetuation of the music program in Northville, even though many of us will not enjoy the fruits of our labors because we will be graduating in June.

However, if we live by what our parents have taught us, we should strive to make things better for those who come after.

Concerned Musicians of Northville High School

To the Editor:

Once upon a time there was a principal at Northville High School that was demoted because an administrator stated, "In my opinion...it's best for the system." And now "in the opinion of the board...it's best for the system" and a high school teacher is demoted to a junior high position.

Well, in the opinion of this writer, the superintendent was wrong then and the board is wrong now.

When are teachers and professional educators going to be looked upon as people who have feelings and deserve just recognition? Most teachers that I've known in my lifetime are dedicated educators who love their jobs, but unfortunately in this community are treated worse than second rate citizens.

We ask them to baby-sit our kids most of the day, teach them, counsel them, and in some cases be a momma or poppa to them...and then someone pops off with an "opinion"; and we wonder why they strike?

Was it someone's "opinion" that started year-round schools in Northville and then in someone's opinion "it didn't work" and out went this program? And how about "Regenesis"? ... Again in someone's "opinion" destroyed a dedicated teacher, poured her over the coals and broomed her away. Do we really wonder why many teachers resigned from Northville before the '79-'80 school year? And it's unbelievable that not one of our teachers or educators was qualified to be a new principal...we went to Livonia and brought in "in the board's opinion"...someone to fill this vacancy.

I believe there are some members on the board that are sincere and concerned administrators who have our schools and children's interests foremost in their hearts. However, there are those other members on the board that should sit on their "opinions" and put priorities first and not play "let's screw up a teacher's life."

By the time this writing makes print (with your permission) I hope the strike against the board is settled and our teachers and kids are back in school. But from what I gather there is no hope for a quick solution.

After the departure from our community of the (previous superintendent) I felt our board with a new head administrator would have a different regard for our teachers but I'm wrong.

Maybe some of the members of the board should go west...join ranks with their previous "leader"...and keep on going!

And that's my opinion.

N. Nick Serkaian

To the Editor:

In the past several days, various messages from our Northville teachers have been delivered to our home extolling their virtues and chastising the administration. Such messages are more aptly termed "propaganda" — or one-sided viewpoints.

Some thoughts to consider before blindly accepting these messages as gospel:

Teachers are professionals with college educations and a demanding social role, we are told. They deserve better treatment and higher earning levels. I could offer the usual rebuttals saying that, "Yes, but they only work nine months a year," or "Sure, but they did not enter the profession with thoughts of instant wealth or, for that matter, even eventual wealth." Although both are valid arguments, perhaps a much better approach is that there is little, if any, indication of the teachers' or union's ability or desire to police their own ranks. More frequently today than ever before we see teachers who have a college education, but who are not professionals and who have no sense of pride or responsibility in either themselves or that demanding social role.

Should the taxpayers of the community support a group which, by the ground rules of its own leadership, is self-defeating and destructive? Our teachers are forced either to strike or to sit idly by while administrators establish salary levels. Why? Because the union's existence has retarded, if not eliminated, the teacher's ability to take his or her services elsewhere. Tenure to a teacher is like the mother lode to a prospector. Once achieved, he is virtually set for life. Thus, unless a school system expands or a position is vacated due to death, retirement or other unusual event, the ability of a teacher to move for a "better job" is severely limited. There are few vacant positions. Likewise, young teachers with innovative ideas and a closer understanding of today's student's problems and concerns have a very difficult time pursuing their chosen profession. The wheat is never separated from the chaff — and the chaff is never discarded. A paradox? Not just good solid diabolical planning by the union. No wonder school millages have found such difficult battlegrounds in recent years.

Perhaps the saddest part is that there are, indeed, teachers who "deserve" even more than the maximums permitted under union contracts. They have earned it! It is these teachers who are being hurt most by their protector (why not in a system which breeds mediocrity?) — while the culprits, the detractors, the poorly equipped and unmotivated teachers reap the benefits found in the security of their jobs. Is this democracy? Absolutely! Where else could mediocrity overpower excellence except in a system where majority rules.

And probably the strangest piece of the puzzle is that union leaders must, by the very nature of the beast, press for at least a cost-of-living increase and/or a host of other improvements. Otherwise, they will lose their jobs — now that is what I call incentive. Oh, but for the same "put up or shut up" methods of evaluating our educators.

All of this notwithstanding, it occurs to me, as I am sure it has to all of us (teachers included), that the real losers are the very ones for whom teachers are employed to assist — our children. I am asked to be sympathetic to a group which has sought and obtained a societal trust in a most precious resource, only to toss it aside for personal gain. Sure, it's done every day of the year in countless other situations. Does that make it right? Not by a longshot!

It is truly a shame that we cannot select certain teachers to support in the current negotiations. But since we cannot, the question becomes, "Should you and I support the union in perpetuating a system which sponsors apathy and irresponsibility in many of its members?" Certainly not! Support your board members with telephone calls today. They are fighting our battle.

D. M. Denholm

To the Editor:

Once again I feel I must write to question the motives of the school board and the superintendent. I do not understand why it has never mentioned as to the reason Mr. Williams refused to lead the marching band this year. He was taking a stand to try to obtain new band uniforms for the students. He has been trying for several years now. I'm sure the people of Northville have noticed how old and out of date these uniforms are. Now all of a sudden this new band director is allowed to walk into this job and reap all the benefits of Mr. Williams' hard work. This smells of politics to me.

I would like to see an entire new school board as would many other parents. I think we need parents of the students on this board. It's about time our education system was handed back to the students and parents instead of these people playing politics. I do not believe the board or Mr. Nichols has the students' best interests at heart. The parents of our community no longer want to settle for mediocre education.

I wonder how many people in Northville realize there is $54,000 in the Langfield fund. Mr. Langfield purchased 30 new uniforms for the band before he died. The Langfield fund was supposed to buy 10 new uniforms a year after that. Where are they? I wonder if the Langfield fund is being used in the way Mr. Langfield wanted it to be?

I hope the teachers of Northville stay on strike until Mr. Williams is reinstated as the director of the high school band where he deserves to be. He has always done a splendid job.

To the Editor:

Hats off to David Turney! David's pictorial essay on Anna and Flander Hamlin was delightful, moving and inspiring. Like reading the "Secret Garden" as a child and being completely drawn into the secret garden until it was yours, David's essay drew you into the lives of Anna and Flander until you actually believed they were your personal friends also.

In a day when you hear so many people talk of "their privacy" it was beautiful to see and read of two people whose lives are filled with so much warmth that they wanted to share their lives with all of us.

Thank you David for sharing your friendship with so many!

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

I know through my own experience in the State Senate how difficult it can be to find all 38 senators at any given point in time, even when they are all interested in a particular meeting or debate. So, it is not inconceivable to me that during the national census of 1970 there were an estimated 5 million people who could not be found and thus were not counted. In our own area for instance, the Census Bureau estimates that the city of Northville was undercounted by 125 and Northville Township by 237 people.

People are often not counted because they either don't consider it important enough, they do not know about the census or they are afraid of what will happen to them as a result of the information they provide. Many simply regard the census as an invasion of privacy.

But it is very important to all of us that we conduct a 1980 census that provides us with the most full and accurate counting of citizens in Michigan. For one thing, without an accurate counting the state will lose out on some important revenue sharing funds from the federal government which are based on population figures. An inaccurate counting could also mean that the reapportionment of congressional districts (done after every census) may be inaccurate. If district lines are re-drawn based on incomplete population figures.

In order to insure that the most full and accurate counting of the Michigan population does occur in 1980, a special senate committee has been established to oversee the preparation and the actual counting for 1980. As a member of that committee I plan to be involved in this committee's action to insure effective counting which will provide us with more accurate population information to work with during the next decade. I understand that it may seem impossible to ever conduct a perfect census, but I think it is important that we try.

Our committee, which held its first meeting last week, is hoping to first educate the public as to the importance of the census.

For instance, here in Michigan, we will enlist the aid of the media in promoting public educational materials we provide. Locally, literature will be distributed explaining how the census works and how the information gathered is later used. Sample questions will be included to familiarize residents with what type of questions to expect.

The U.S. Census Bureau has also stated that it is illegal for them to hand over any information they gather through the census to any other governmental agency.

Our committee would also like to divide the state into nine geographic areas and establish training centers for local people in those areas in order to train them as canvassers.

We will periodically review their progress and, if need be, work out new plans which would better allow us to conduct the most accurate counting of Michigan residents possible.

The U.S. Census Bureau and my committee are also hoping to enlist the aid of community leaders (ministers, etc.) and the leaders of local community and statewide organizations such as the Elks, Kiwanis, Eastern Star, Gray Panthers, NOW and Block Clubs, to further explain the importance and necessity of the Census to their members and neighbors.

I hope we will all become involved in this census of 1980 by talking to our neighbors and, if necessary, reassuring them that they have nothing to lose and everything to gain by being counted.

Again, the 1980 census may not be perfect, but there is much room for improvement in the search for a full and accurate counting.

So stand up and be counted!

Learning problem to be discussed

Linda McNay will be a guest speaker at a meeting of the Plymouth, Canton, Northville chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities on September 19.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Pioneer Middle School cafeteria, Plymouth.

Mrs. McNay has been involved in MACLD for eight years and presently holds the position of volunteer parent advisor for the State ACLD as well as being vice-president of legislation on the state level.

Along with these duties she is also newsletter editor for the Dearborn chapter of which she is a member and is a parent of a learning disability son who recently graduated from high school.

The general public is invited to attend the September 19 meeting.

The Plymouth, Canton, Northville MACLD chapter is an active and dedicated group willing to help parents of children with hidden handicaps as well as helping the children obtain a fair and proper education according to law.

"We encourage participation from all in helping to identify persons with learning disabilities and educate not only these persons but the general public as well," said Sharon L. Young, a spokesman for the chapter.

FOR WINE
by Jim Roth
Sherry is one of the few wines in the world that is sold without a vineyard name or vintage year. It can range in taste from very dry to sweet and luxurious. The color runs from pale to dark brown. Serve it before or after meals, or as a sauce on ice cream or fruit. Most sherry comes from a small wine growing district in southwest Spain, principally Jerez de la Frontera. With a little bit of shirring, you will be able to tell how sherry got its name from Jerez, its major hometown.
Sherry is used for cooking, as well as drinking, and can turn an ordinary dish into an elegant one. Come by and let us show you the wide variety we handle at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. ## School board played

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

In the hot, tense second-floor board room Monday night, more than 200 Northville citizens came to criticize the school board for not settling a new contract with teachers.

The board was scolded, yelled at and jeered by the crowd. Several citizens asked why there was no marathon bargaining.

"The board is reading the taxpayers wrong if they think that taxpayers would like to save a few dollars at the expense of the schools. The taxpayers would like to see a fair settlement," said Bruce Douglas.

"This is turning into a typical management-labor dispute dealing with philosophy rather than the issues," said Bill Custer. "Both sides should sit down, come to a decision, and not keep trying to show who is bigger."

"The students are unhappy," said NHS Student Congress President, Pam Bigley. "We think you ought to get down to business."

The citizens ripped into the board's proposal to pay teachers by merit.

"It is great in theory. But it doesn't work very well when you can't observe the people at work," said Tom Thompson.

"Where is this merit performance plan?" asked Larry VanderMolen. "Why haven't you sold it to the citizens?"

"Merit pay is fine for GM or Ford," said a woman in the audience. "But I worked every day at school when my son had a broken leg. And when they got up to thank all the volunteers, the principal did not even mention me. If they overlook a mother, how are they going to evaluate the teachers?"

Other citizens criticized the board's initial proposal of a two percent salary increase.

"I see them cutting classes at the senior high while they're adding on a soccer program," said Julia Hollingsworth. "Are you saying we can't afford to pay teachers but we can afford soccer?"

"We all know that the eventual settlement will be 8 to 10 percent (salary increase and compromise language)," said another woman. "I am among many who would rather have it done now than later."

Class size was another volatile issue at the meeting. Flora St. Germaine said she was angry that her first-grade daughter would be in a class of over 30 this year. "How can they hope to give individual attention to these children?" she charged.

Naomi Poe, second grade teacher at Moraine, said she wants smaller classes because "I don't want to lose even one child."

"My child was in a kindergarten class of 23, and I heard that the first grade class will be 32 children," said Carol Rosien. "I don't know where the teachers will find the time."

After the board's two-hour executive session, the board explained that they could not discuss specifics of the negotiations because they are under mediation. They reaffirmed support of the negotiating sessions. They decided to seek an injunction against the teachers. They decided to try to get ISEP operating again, even if it meant giving the program to Wayne County Intermediate District.

"What I want to know is—are you willing to compromise?" a woman asked the board.

Trustee Richard Barron shot back that the woman should direct her question to the teachers as well.

Board President Karen Wilkinson said the board is "compelled by law not to talk about what is going on at the table."

Audience member Larry VanderMolen called the meeting "democracy out of action. They're not the bosses," he said, pointing his finger at the board. "We are the bosses. Let's send them a message — we support the faculty all the way."

One heartened teacher said after the meeting, "It does show that people really care. It makes me feel that when I get back in there teaching I'm going to do a damn good job."

Young owners redo home

By JEAN DAY

One hundred years ago, when the large Victorian house at 635 North Center was built, its owner was willing to spend extra money for such features as double dustboard moldings, and floor-length windows with handsome hoods.

They are among the features that attracted Timothy and Susan Cutting to the house three years ago.

While admiring the architectural details, however, they had to overlook layers of wallpaper, old floors and ceilings that had at some past time been tiled.

"We've worked on it every day since we moved in," confides Susan Cutting. Northville Home Tour visitors on September 29 will see the creative results of their efforts.

The formerly blue house gained distinction when it was painted two shades of soft gold with door accents of brick red.

An upstairs apartment gained a rear deck and new entrance while the Cuttings changed a window in the study into a door leading to a private patio.

"We live out here," observes Mrs. Cutting as she leads the way to the outdoor room in what was "a big mud hole" when the family moved in.

Wood fencing insures privacy while from a reflecting pool comes the sound of water softly flowing in a small fountain.

Typical of the details that make the house a reflection of the owners are the ornamental iron grates decorating a patio wall.

"We found them in an abandoned house in Detroit," explains Mrs. Cutting, mentioning that friends have asked why they didn't paint them black. "We like them the way we found them," she replies.

A new side deck provides entrance to the kitchen-mud room area of the house. Here Mrs. Cutting's flair with bright colors is most evident. She's quick to say that the "real work" of rewiring and rebuilding has been done by her husband while she is responsible for the decorative touches.

These immediately are apparent as visitors enter the mud room-laundry door. Red and white ticking-stripe wallpaper is a background for needlework pictures done by Mrs. Cutting. On one wall is a collection of such iron pieces as a part of a lightning rod, all found on the property. Grayed barn-wood covers this back wall.

Doors here are painted a bright red and decorated with hearts-and-flowers folk art painting by Mrs. Cutting.

The red continues in the bright plaid carpeting in the completely remodeled kitchen.

"This is where we started," says Mrs. Cutting, mentioning that counters and cupboards had to be custom made. In order to preserve a long window in the kitchen, Tim Cutting built a drop counter top that can be raised to provide kitchen eating space.

Mrs. Cutting continued the green of the kitchen carpet into the adjacent living room with bright green carpeting and soft green woodwork contrasting with white walls.

The walls are in remarkably fine condition. The Cuttings found they were horsehair plaster when they removed the layers of wallpaper.

The deep molding hoods or drapes over the window tops are an outstanding feature of the room. The owners have been told that the house was built by a sea captain who had the lumber shipped from northern Michigan down the Great Lakes to Detroit. The Cuttings understand there have been only four owners.

"It's especially pretty in fall when the leaves turn color," says Susan Cutting, recalling the view from the long windows. The acre lot, one of the largest on Center, has many huge trees.

On the wall area below the living room windows she has painted other folk art designs.

On other walls are art that the family likes. Mrs. Cutting reproduced a picture of a Russian icon from the 1300s. In the same arrangement she has hung an Italian painting.

Friendships bloom at Terrace

By DAN GUIDO

Couples.

No matter where people seem to congregate, anywhere in the world, at any age, they are bound to form close, personal relationships. People who may have known of each other all their lives, when put together in a day-to-day situation, can sometimes discover the real nature of their occasional acquaintance.

And Allen Terrace is no exception.

A model senior citizen housing complex, built in Northville, Allen Terrace provides both the atmosphere and the right type of people who, when put together are bound to create lasting friendships among the residents.

And such a renewed friendship exists between Allen Terrace apartment dwellers Bill Lemmon and Mary Asher. A mutual love of "life, fun and high adventure" brought the two together, Bill said. Although they have known each other for years, Bill and Mary were never close friends until they both bought apartments at Allen Terrace.

They used to live within a block and a half of each other. Mary owned a house at Grace and Lake, while Bill bought his at Lake and Horton. Both are widowed.

The two make an interesting couple. Mary, quiet, sincere and shy; Bill, talkative and humorous, a lover of "tall tales and fish stories."

Together, one seems to make the other appear more relaxed and comfortable in their new surroundings at Allen Terrace than they are by themselves.

Mary first moved to Northville in the 1920s, after she met and married Ed Asher. Her first job, she remembered, was at the old Kroger store. After working there for five years Mary moved on to the C.R. Smith Store, a dry goods emporium, which was established in 1893 on Main Street.

Her husband found work at the Ford Motor Company's Valve Plant on East Main. He was employed there about 12 years.

Bill also was born "up north," in Oscola County. He worked in a lumber yard as a teenager and helped his father tend the family farm before moving south to Northville.

"I was what you might call a common cow-milker," Bill said, laughing.

Bill came to Northville "some forty years ago" and bought his house. He worked for years as building engineer for the Northville public school system, "keeping the furnace going 25 hours a day, nine days a week at Amerman Elementary."

Bill was one of the first residents of Allen Terrace when it opened in January. Those who do not know him well become uneasy with his satirical sense of humor until they recognize the harmless nature and the sheer inchairman Cheri Pearson, Jeannie Pierman and Jayne Hilfinger. The coffee will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at First United Methodist Church. Reservations are not needed.

Newcomers schedule coffee, barn dance

It's "do-si-do" and "honor your partners all" for Northville Newcomers signing up to get acquainted at a couples' hayride and barn dance September 21.

A "lazy hayride" is promised, together with "lots of disco, rock 'n' roll and square dancing," reports Northville Newcomers President Prudy Vannier. It will begin at 8 p.m. at Sugar Bush Farm, 3620 Gotfredson in Ypsilanti.

"This party is especially designed for easy socializing and get-acquainted opportunities," explains Mrs. Vannier. It is open to prospective members, members and alumni.

Jim Tait is square dance caller. Appetizers, sandwiches and desserts will be served. Reservations at $14 a couple must be made by September 14 with Sonja Lane, chairman, 349-0628.

The annual fall coffee that traditionally begins the Northville Newcomer membership drive also is upcoming. It is to be at 7:30 p.m. September 13 at First United Methodist Church at 777 West Eight Mile. This is one of the club's ladies' events.

Newcomer membership is open to any person living within the Northville school district for less than two years.

An open invitation is being extended to all present club members and to new residents of the community to attend the coffee. No reservations are required, says Mrs. Vannier.

Board members and women who serve as chairman of the club's many interest groups, ranging from tennis to bridge and crafts, will be on hand to present the program of activities for this year and to answer questions.

Cheri Pearson, membership chairman, may be contacted for more information at 349-0805.

Women members of Newcomers and alumnae have a special event scheduled for next month. A tour of Detroit Renaissance Center has been scheduled for October 3.

Jan Weaver, tour chairman, has planned the trip which will leave by bus at 9:15 a.m. and return at 3:15 p.m. In addition to a tour of Renaissance Center, there will be shopping time and a quiche and wine lunch.

Reservations are a "must," she states, as there is a 44-person limitation. Cost is $10. Reservations should be made with Jeannie Pierman, 349-2509.

In Our Town

Fair, 'Brigadoon', tour coming

By JEAN DAY

Autumn promises to be golden in our town. (It's officially fall September 23.)

Northville Historical Society-sponsored Tivoli Fair is early this year, being held September 21 (10 a.m. to 6 p.m.) and September 22 (10 a.m. to 4 p.m.) at Northville Downs. In addition to 94 craftspeople in booths, there will be the historical society's Country Store with homemade goods as well as needle crafts, including patchwork.

Saturday, September 22 also is opening night for a seven-performance run of "Brigadoon" at the Marquis Theatre. Third live production by Premin-Henderson Productions involves 14 Northville residents in on-stage parts.

The appealing musical about two Americans lost in the Scottish Highlands who stumble across an enchanted village not on the map is an early anniversary offering at the Marquis. The renovated theatre opened last October with "Camelot." The Lerner and Loewe hit from 1957 has the charm of such songs as "Almost Like Being in Love" and "I'll Go Home with Bonnie Jean."

Auditions were held in mid-July for parts in the story about the village that wakened from sleep one day in a 100 years. The large cast has been rehearsing ever since. Matinees will be at 2:30 p.m. September 23 and 30. Evening performances at 8 p.m. are set for September 22, 23, 28, 29 and 30. Tickets are available at the Marquis shops.

This year's 13th annual home tour will be held Saturday, September 29, with five homes, the Mill Race Historical Village, Marquis Theatre and First Presbyterian Church open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. It is a benefit for the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church which is celebrating its sesquicentennial year and for Mill Race Historical Village.

Tickets at $3.50 are available in Northville at Four Seasons, Gifts by Marison, Village Needlepoint and Claire Kelly shops.

She led a mystery trip

Knowing the fun of being surprised, Nancy Smith, leader of the Discovery Club Camp Fire Girls in Northville, planned a mystery trip a week ago Tuesday for her group. The girls were told only to "dress for the weather and bring a bag lunch." Their candy sale supplied some of the funds for the day's expenses.

They traveled to Ann Arbor to board an Amtrak train for Battle Creek where they toured the Kellogg factory. Mothers or daughters interested in knowing more about the community's only Camp Fire Girl program are invited to call Mrs. Smith, 349-4326, who is having an information meeting at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

It's Viva Mexico for seniors

Sally Johnson, chairperson of the travel club for residents of Allen Terrace, is delighted with a gift from Plymouth

Kiwanis Club of 100 free tickets to the fall kick-off of its travelogue series. They are invited to attend the "Viva Mexico" program September 19 in Salem High School in Plymouth. If response is sufficient, the club even has offered to supply transportation. Programs on Canada, Israel, Holland, France and Hawaii follow in the series.

Can parrot be David?

The green parrot with tinges of yellow and red that has been sighted by Allen Terrace residents and a home owner on Clement may be "David," one of two pet parrots belonging to Bob Dresselhouse, who lives on Ridge Road off North Territorial.

Bob, reports his mother, Dorothy Dresselhouse, had the parrots outdoors about two months ago when they were startled by a cat. Her son went after one that couldn't fly, but David proved he knew how to flap his wings and took off. That's about the same time as Nancy Schultz, East street resident who also is an Allen Terrace volunteer, began to spot the bird near the senior citizen center. "We're all concerned," she explains, "because nobody wants to see it close its life this winter."

Since David is reported venturing all over the area now, Bob Dresselhouse isn't at all certain he will be able to catch his pet; however, he would like to try. Anyone sighting the bird is asked to call Mrs. Dresselhouse at 349-0777 or at 349-0118, evenings.

Couple takes wedding trip to Ireland

A wedding trip to Ireland was chosen by Cornelius James Givens for his bride, Carol Ketner, as he wanted her to see the country of his ancestors.

His grandparents were from Ireland. He had visited the country previously and has many relatives living there.

The couple exchanged vows and rings in a 2:30 p.m. service August 18 at Our Lady of Victory Church with Father Robert McGrath officiating.

Adorning the altar were two summer garden arrangements of snapdragons, carnations, zinnias and chrysanthemums with natural angel decorations.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by Paul Lemon. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lemon of 418 West Dunlap and Dewey Ketner of Ann Arbor.

Her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. Givens, Sr., of Lincoln, New Jersey.

Soloist Diane Getzen sang "Evergreen" and "The Wedding Song" during the service.

The bride's gown of white organza was fashioned with sheer cape sleeves. The skirt was gathered in Austrian style. Mary McGuire, a friend of the bride, had made the gown.

With it the bride wore a matching carriage-style hat and carried a natural fan topped with a white orchid.

Julie Johnston was honor maid. Bridesmaids were the bride's sisters Dawn McGuire and Paula Lemon and Karen McGuire, Jodi Romine and Mary Wilkins.

They wore old-fashioned calico print sundresses with long, tiered skirts which were accessorized with natural straw hats. They carried baskets with mixed garden flowers, including zinnias, snapdragons, mums and white rosebuds together with natural angels.

A nephew, Gregory McGuire, was ring bearer.

Bobby Moran was best man. John Givens, brother of the bridegroom, and Thomas Nevins, Gary Collier, William Johnston and William Castle, all of New Jersey, ushered.

A reception for 200 followed at Roma Hall in Livonia with out-of-town guests coming from New Jersey, Florida, North Carolina, Washington, D.C., Oregon and Ireland.

The bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hurd Sutherland, former long-time residents of Northville, came from North Carolina for the wedding.

The couple, who had met through mutual friends, Julie and Billy Johnston, will be living in Wixom.

She is a graduate of Northville High School and Schoolcraft College and is employed at Sky Tool and Gage Company in Novi.

Her husband is a graduate of Midletown High School in New Jersey and St. Peter's College in Jersey City. He is employed with General Motors Detroit Diesel-Allison and is attending Eastern Michigan University.

Lisa Howarth reigns at fair in Cheboygan

Lisa Howarth, 18, a former Northville resident who moved to Cheboygan two years ago, was crowned Queen of the Northern Michigan Fair there August 10.

Last week the recent Cheboygan High school graduate was in Detroit to compete in the Queen of Queens Contest at the Michigan State Fair.

She is the daughter of James and Helen Howarth. The Howarths moved to Cheboygan in 1977. He is employed with the Northville post office and commutes north on weekends.

A pretty brunette with blue-green eyes, Miss Howarth has been active in ballet and jazz performances for several years. She enjoys cross country skiing, racquetball and swimming.

On being chosen queen, she said in a news interview that her future plans include a trip to California. She also would like to attend modeling school.

QUEEN LISA HOWARTH

Anne Vinnes, Gary Kern wed in Ann Arbor rites

Anne L. Vinnes and Gary M. Kern personally wrote the vows they exchanged in a double ring ceremony at 3 p.m. August 26 in First Unitarian Church of Ann Arbor.

Dr. Erwin A. Gaete officiated as the bride was given in marriage by her father. She is the daughter of William and Nancy Vinnes of Fowlerville, Michigan. The family formerly lived at 18637 Jamestown Circle in Northville.

The bridegroom is the son of Robert and Mary Kern of Grand Blanc.

Gale Cramer was organist at the ceremony for which the church was decorated in yellow, white, apricot and green by Nancy Rider, a former Northville resident now living in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and childhood friend of the bride. She served as her maid of honor.

The bride's gown of lace was fashioned with a hooped, three-tier skirt. She carried a bouquet of white daisies, mums and carnations. Carnations formed her headpiece.

Bridesmaids were Gail Parsons, sister of the bride from Williamston, Michigan, and Kelley Thomas, a former Northville resident now living in Milford.

The bridal attendants' gowns were of jersey in wrap style. The honor maid's was mint green while the bridesmaids were maize and apricot. They carried bouquets of white and yellow daisies and baby's-breath.

Jennifer Kern, daughter of the bridegroom, was flower girl in a white, hoop-skirted dress. She carried a basket of white and yellow daisies and baby's-breath and wore a white daisy headpiece.

Morris Hinson of Belleville was best man while Frank Parsons and Mark Owens ushered. They wore cream-color tuxedos with shirts matching gowns of the bridal attendants.

A reception for 50 guests followed at the Heidelberg Restaurant in Ann Arbor. They included the bride's grandparents, Fred and Doris Vinnes from Idaho Springs, Colorado, as well as out-of-town visitors from Flint and Tawas areas.

A wedding trip to Colorado followed. The newlyweds, who met while both were employed in the summer of 1976 at the Michigan Citizens' Lobby in Ann Arbor, will be living in Saline.

The bride, a Northville High School graduate, went to Schoolcraft College and Eastern Michigan University. She now is employed as a new business specialist in underwriting at Equitable Life Company in Ann Arbor.

Her husband, a graduate of Grand Blanc High School, previously was employed at Ypsilanti State Hospital and now works with learning impaired children with Washtenaw Intermediate School District in Ann Arbor.

Crystal Ritchie's young visitor

Five-month-old Crystal Lynn Ritchie and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David H. Ritchie, have returned to Charleston, South Carolina, after a visit here with Mrs. Ritchie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hollis, Jr.

Mrs. Ritchie is the former Cheryl Hollis. Crystal was born in Charleston March 10. Ritchie, a second petty officer in the U.S. Navy, is based in Charleston on the SS Mullinex.

Before coming to Northville they visited his mother, Mrs. Frank Dinmore, and her husband in Crosby, Texas. They are former residents of Northville and Salem.

The baby's great-grandmother, Mrs. Blanch Cross of Cohutta, Georgia, was here earlier visiting the Hollis family. Mrs. Hollis' brother, Terry Cross, and his family were with her.

State league taps Beverly McAninch

Governor William Milliken has proclaimed September 16-22 as League of Women Voters Week in Michigan in appreciation of the league's continuing concern for good government and service to the community.

The proclamation stated: "The League has attained recognition in Michigan and throughout the nation as a source of consistently unbiased information on candidates and issues, and has evidenced its deep concern for the problems that plague our society through study and legislative action in many areas including welfare, taxation, education, and the preservation of our environment."

Kay Cushman, president of the state league, has appointed Beverly McAninch to the state L.W.V. board. Ms. McAninch will be director of Natural Resources and Environmental Quality. The local Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi League is proud of its past president's accomplishments in the league and the community.

Ms. McAninch now will be guiding the 3,600-member state league in support of environmental guardianship and improvement.

"The state League has joined with various other environmental groups in a coalition supporting a wetlands bill currently before the state legislature," stated Ms. McAninch.

"Some leagues in Michigan have thoroughly studied shorelands preservation on the great lakes. Other Leagues will soon be learning from their study and voting whether or not to support their conclusions."

"Other areas we are studying are transportation, land use, water resources and energy."

Besides study and action, the league also provides services to voters by publishing voters' guides and presenting candidates to the public before elections. Anyone interested in joining the league, may call Nancy White at 453-1044.

Quilting for beauty

Allen Terrace residents are proving they're nimble with a needle — for a cause. The women who meet at a Saturday afternoon handcraft class have completed the quilt in the background under the direction of Emma Parmenter. It is to be raffled at Sunday's open house with proceeds to be used as the start of a fund to equip a beauty shop at the senior citizen center. The top had been pieced by a Mrs. Laura Driver, who was 86 years old when she made it. A native of Crossville, Tennessee, she gave it to her daughter-in-law who in turn presented it to Mary Penrod, an Allen Terrace resident. She donated it to the class. Members donated the backing and hand tied and bound it as their contribution to the beauty shop

Meghan, Brienne arrive

Twin daughters are expected to be brought home from St. Mary Hospital this week by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hesse of Plymouth. Meghan, weighing four pounds, seven ounces, and Brienne, weighing four pounds, four ounces, were born August 28.

They will be welcomed at home by a sister Kalin, 3.

Mrs. Hesse is the former Mary Gruesbeck of Northville.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hesse, Sr., of Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hicks of Northville. The babies also have great-grandparents, Mrs. Marjorie Tremor in Florida and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gruesbeck in Ithaca, Michigan.

Fellowship slates speaker

Kenneth Myers, executive vice-president and hospital director for the William Beaumont hospitals in Royal Oak and Troy, will be principal speaker at the September 21 meeting of the Northville-Plymouth-Livonia chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship.

His talk following dinner at 7 p.m. at the Plymouth Hilton Inn leads off the fall and winter schedule for the chapter.

Originally from a Presbyterian family in Battle Creek, Myers received his education at the University of Michigan where he earned his master's degree in business administration.

He subsequently moved to Bloomfield Hills where he currently lives.

He reports he was inspired "to search God's word and receive Jesus Christ as Lord" from the example of living in Christ's love set by his spirit-filled wife Nancy.

He received the baptism of the Holy Spirit in 1973.

Myers currently serves as an officer in the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Troy chapter of FGBMF and is a board member of Bloomfield Hills Christian Church.

As he tells of his life during the last six years under the guidance of the Holy Spirit in his family and hospital relationships, the audience is promised it will witness many exciting experiences.

The musical portion of the program will be furnished by Mickey and Margie Mullett, sisters from Garden City, who in addition to their regular singing schedule for mass at St. Raphael's Church compose all of the music for their own traveling ministry.

Dinner is $8 plus 15 percent gratuity per person. The meeting follows at 8 p.m. Both are open to the public.

Reservation checks should be made payable to Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship and sent to P.O. Box 5332, Northville, by September 19.

Additional information is available by calling 349-0006 or 453-3801.

Women Aglow to breakfast

Irene Scott, president of the Plymouth Women's Aglow, will speak at its fall breakfast at 9 a.m. September 15 at the Mayflower Hotel.

The speaker is known for her healing ministry. She recently has been visiting other Aglow groups and has made appearances on Christian television.

Program planners report that the speaker is "an open vessel to the Lord, willing to do whatever He asks."

Breakfast is $5 a person. Reservations are necessary and may be made by calling Mrs. Scott, 349-6759, Judy Brilla, 459-9720, or Mary Louks, 455-6654.

KENNETH MYERS

a team effort

When a family faces the need to adjust to a loss, friends and relatives form a team to give them support.

When someone you know is going through life's most difficult time your presence during the visitations and funeral services is important just by being there you let them know that you care.

Mill Race craft classes, workshops filling fast

Registration is going well for the fall classes and workshops being sponsored for the second season by Northville Historical Society, Lucia Danes of the planning committee announces.

A new class offering this year is contemporary historic landscapes being taught by John Brugeman, who currently is landscape planner for the Mill Race Historical Village located off Griswold where the classes and workshops will be held.

His class promises to be of special interest to owners of old or traditional-style homes. He will help students enrolled to select correct landscaping for their homes. Authentic plantings will be discussed with emphasis on a typical period landscape in Northville.

A brief history of landscaping will be presented, including Victorian and other styles as well.

The class will meet Wednesday evenings October 3-November 7. Cost is $25 a person or $40 a couple.

Most classes are scheduled to begin

'Historic landscapes' among new offerings

the week of October 1 with workshops being held on Saturdays through October and November.

The quilting class to be taught by Jo Krause has been filled since early August. Others soon to reach their maximum registration include clock repair, basic basketry and the herb wreath workshop.

The clock repair class also was reported filled last Friday.

Craft class planners term the rush seat weaving class to be taught by Marion and Donald Sober one "for real do-it-yourselfers."

Each student will be required to cut and prepare cattails for rushing the seat of a refinished ladder-back chair. The class will be taught in three Saturday afternoon sessions November 3, 10 and 17. Cost is $15.

Ellen Wilson again will teach traditional rug hooking techniques. This year students will make a small rug utilizing used wool clothing for all or part of the materials.

Mrs. Wilson refers to her craft as "painting in wool" and emphasizes that the hook used is not a latch hook commonly used today, but of the type used by women in the 18th century. She demonstrates her rug technique at the Tivoli Fair being sponsored by Northville Historical Society September 21-22 at Northville Downs.

The class is $20 for six sessions to be held Tuesday afternoons October 2 to November 6.

A china head doll workshop will give those who own a china head an opportunity to construct a complete doll with the help of instructor Marcella Tsusui, demonstrator at Greenfield Village.

Mrs. Tsusui will hold two workshops, one on body construction Saturday, October 6, and the other in costuming on November 3. Each all-day workshop is $10. New doll kits and replacement limbs are available from the instructor on request prior to the workshop.

A few openings remain in the mother-daughter sampler workshop to be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, October 13. The $15 charge covers cost of the workshop and sampler kits for mother and daughter. Jeane Horner from Connie's Corner Stitchery will be instructor for the samplers done in counted cross-stitch.

"Paint Your House in Calico" is the title of a workshop being taught by Lois Winters, society member and area quilting teacher, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. November 10.

Students will be asked to bring scraps of calico and other material along with a picture of a house or building to be used as the pattern for an appliqued quilt block.

At the end of the day the piece will be ready for quilting, she promises, and suggests it could become a pillow top, wall hanging, skirt decoration, back for a work shirt, part of a bed quilt or "a great Christmas gift." Cost is $10.

Basket enthusiasts are invited to bring old baskets for dating and evaluation from 9 a.m. to noon-Saturday, October 20, at a basket seminar conducted by Marion Sober.

She will bring examples from her own extensive collection and discuss care and repair of old baskets and their investment possibilities. Refreshments will be served. Cost is $10.

Brochures describing all classes are available at Lorenz Pharmacy, Four Seasons Flowers and Gifts and Northville Public Library.

Registration for unfilled classes will be taken until class time. For additional information call 349-6784.

A Christmas workshop for children now is being planned and will be announced soon.

Area groups slate sale, competition, election

Northville Camera Club is beginning its new season with a competition, "Insects or Worms," at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today.

This year the club will meet in the administration building of Our Lady of Victory Church.

"Visitors are cordially invited," says Bob McBride, president.

Program chairperson Audrey Joki explains that the first meeting of the month usually is a competition. The club meets on the second and fourth Wednesday of the month, changing for holidays.

Refreshment chairmen for the meeting tonight are Bill and Evelyn Edgar.

A porch sale of miscellaneous items and baked goods will be held this Saturday beginning at 9 a.m. at 605 Grace. Proceeds will benefit children at Hawthorn Center.

Donations of toys, books, household equipment and china will be welcome. "We will accept anything but clothing," Shirley Matthews specifies.

She adds that clothing donations may be made to Northville State Hospital.

Mothers of Hawthorn Center are baking for the sale. There will be free coffee for those attending.

A sandwich luncheon will begin the September meeting of Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter of the Daughters of American Revolution at noon Monday.

It will be at the home of Mrs. K. H. Babbitt, 306 South Rogers. Speaker will be Mrs. Elizabeth Folger of Plymouth. Her topic is to be "American Indians: Changing Their Tapestry."

Orient Chapter Past Matrons will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, September 19, at the West Main home of Mrs. Harold Penn. This will be the annual meeting and election of officers.

It's getting closer to the time of the Plymouth Historical Museum's amateur photography contest. Be sure to have your entries in to the museum between September 12-15.

The Plymouth Historical Museum, at 155 South Main in Plymouth, will be exhibiting all of the photographs from September 20-30.

Categories are: portraits, animals, scenery or sports - 5 x 7 or larger mounted or framed. Information must be on the back of the picture.

For more information on the contest, call 455-8940.

credibility of his statements.

Bill and Mary have become fast friends in order to drive away "the loneliness that seems to come with age," said Mary. They are often seen together, sitting out in the sun or in the lobby of the Terrace.

Bill, who is fast earning the reputation as the champion storyteller of Allen Terrace, takes great delight in amusing interested visitors with tales about his life up north, or whatever else comes in mind.

"He is just a delight," Allen Terrace director Fran Yoakam said. "Bill seems to be in a good humor 24 hours a day. He's always got a story to tell or something nice to say."

Although Bill and Mary spend a lot of time together and seem to enjoy each other's company, there have not been any marriage plans formulated by either one.

Bill said he was "too darn old to get married." Mary just laughed when asked.

CARPETING INSULATES!

Prepare your home for winter

Most home owners are concerned with the increasing cost of energy and therefore the value of a properly insulated home or apartment. The R-Value (a term used by manufacturers to describe insulating ability) becomes an important factor in decorating decisions.

The following is a list of R-Values for a one inch thick specimen of common household materials.

Concrete - 0.10      Carpet - 2.2      Fiberglass Batting 3.2
Plywood - 1.25

R-Values may be added together i.e. carpet R-Value, plus padding R-Value = total insulative value.

Cuttings redo old house

her father, Lester Clark, who lives in Grosse Pointe. The Cuttings have turned a former bedroom into a sitting room-study. There's a room shared by sons Matt, 3, and Jason, 6, decorated in slate blues and orange-reds. Trundle beds give extra space.

The only room not on view to tour visitors will be the master bedroom, not yet redone by the Cuttings.

Susan Cutting does want tour guests to view the bath. It's decorated in soft gold and greens to emphasize the long stained glass window she made for the room.

"People question my making a stained-glass window for a bathroom," she laughs, "but I did." It's also on view from the private patio outside and is especially effective at night when light flows through it.

The career-girl occupant of the upstairs apartment has consented to have it on view for the home tour, which is co-sponsored by the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church and Northville Historical Society.

The original kitchen cupboards with glass doors were used in the apartment kitchen. The light and spacious living room looks out on tree tops. There's a redone bath and two bedrooms.

Before moving to Northville the Cuttings had lived in Rosedale Park area of Detroit, redoing an English Tudor brick home there.

Susan Cutting declares that she and her husband have become experienced at renovating.

"We were living in Lansing where my husband was selling cars," she remembers, "when we began it all by buying a house completely gutted by fire."

"Tim had no experience in this area and learned by doing." Cutting now owns his own windshield repair business, drawing customers from all over the Detroit area.

With each move the young couple became more expert in renovation. As Mrs. Cutting looked around her at the results, she admitted it is satisfying to see what can be accomplished.

"The house is very well insulated and has redwood storm windows that also keep out noise."

Some of its past was revealed in an old prohibition-era newspaper of 1896 found in the house called the Christian Endeavor.

The Cuttings also discovered an ad from 1912 for a Baptist chicken dinner at Princess Rink in Northville at a cost of 25 cents. Mrs. Cutting has not been successful to date in finding anyone who knows about the Princess Rink.

Right now, though, Susan Cutting knows that she only wants to finish the renovation of the handsome house by completing work in the master bedroom.

When a neighboring house came on the market recently, the couple considered buying it, but decided to "stay put." For a while the Cuttings plan to enjoy the result of their labors and concentrate on furnishings.

The home is one of five which will be open in the benefit from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the last Saturday of this month. Lois Winters and Jewel Luckett, co-chairpersons representing the Presbyterian women and historical society, respectively, point out that the 13th annual tour was changed from a Thursday to Saturday to enable working women and men to participate.

The $3.50 ticket includes admission to artist Marion Sober's basicella Greek Revival landmark on North Territorial, to two newer homes in North Hills and Northville Commons and the older E. J. Clarke home at 548 West Main.

New skating boom is really rolling

By HOWARD RONTAL

Ah, roller-skating. How do I love thee? Let me count the ways.

It's true. Roller-skating has joined the long line of fads that started with hula-hoops in the early 1960s. Sweeping across the continent from California, where people even roller-skate to work, it has now sparked a boom in the Detroit area.

There are two roller-skating rinks in the Sliger Home Newspaper area, both in Brighton: Rollerama at 6995 West Grand River, and Lakeview Skateland, at 10595 East Grand River.

Leonard Farmer, owner and operator of the Lakeview rink, says admissions are up 28 percent over last year. "Everybody's on skates. Skate sales are up. Skate accessories are up," he said.

Farmer, who has spent 43 of his 53 years in the roller-skating business, said that the sports popularity is cyclical, but even so, more people are roller-skating now than ever before.

He credits the current increased interest to a number of factors.

"Roller rinks are taking on new prestige," he said, "because you can get exercise. The whole country is on an exercise or jogging craze and roller-skating fulfills that craze."

Roller-skating is a natural for children, he adds. The scouting movement in this country seems to think so, too, because boys and girls can earn merit badges in the sport, he said.

How much is reasonable? Farmer said that his establishment can be rented for private parties for $1.25 per person with a guarantee that 50 people attend.

In fact, Farmer so believes in the popularity of roller-skating that he is not bothered by the current economic recession.

"The worse the economy gets the better roller-skating gets. It's a low cost sport. Where else can you spend three to four hours for $1.25 in a warm clean atmosphere."

And then there is the competitive aspect of roller-skating. Larry Chopp, 22, now teaches roller-skating at Rollerama.

"I'm the two time, second place world champ in dance," he said. He and his partner came in second in meets held in Montreal and Lisbon, Portugal.

Larry, a slim, lithe muscular young man, couldn't come up with any reasons for preferring roller-skating over some other sport, but he did know that he loved roller-skating for the opportunity it gave him to compete. Competition roller-skating has been his life for the last seven and one half years.

"When I got started it was to be good," he said. "And I met that goal."

Now, as a teacher, he hopes to find a student, who, like himself, has the talent, drive and ambition to be coached to the top.

Bernadette Letzring, 25 years old, and from South Lyon, is a former international champion (1969 and 1970) in the dance category. No longer a competition skater, she puts on her $300 skates and heads for a rink every Thursday night.

"I'm 25 and I need the exercise," she said. "(Besides) it's not work for me. It's relaxing. I'm in seventh heaven. I'm free as a bird when I skate. I'm really happy ... and dance skating is where it's at."

Roller-skating has become so popular, in fact, that even the Oakland County Recreation Department has gotten into the act.

According to Tom Seavey, recreation supervisor for the department, the county has two mobile units that go from place to place renting skates.

During 1979 the mobile units have served 123 groups and rented skates to 14,893 participants, he said.

But Seavey thinks that roller-skating is only a fad, and that some day, when the novelty wears off, it will go the way of other fads.

Farmer thinks differently. He just had installed $7,500 in new lights at Lakeview. And he hopes, with a little more interest, roller-skating might even become an Olympic sport.

Proposed law would permit public employee striking

By WARREN M. HOYT

Legislation is in the works to give public employees the right to strike, but a special House subcommittee is approaching it slowly to be sure essential services would never be cut off in the event of an allowed public employee strike.

A proposed bill attempts to stipulate the conditions under which public workers could go on strike.

According to Subcommittee Chairman Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor) if a right to strike bill cannot be adopted, then work would go forward on a bill requiring binding arbitration to resolve public employee/employer contract negotiations.

Binding arbitration — a continuation of negotiations while contract terms go on — is now used to settle disputes involving police and firefighters.

Both labor and employer groups, however, have opposed binding arbitration.

Bullard said the committee's main concern is how to resolve disputes within a reasonable period of time rather than allowing them to continue over months, and in some cases, years.

One suggestion brought forth provides the possibility of allowing elections in local areas so the voters can decide if local employees should be allowed to strike or go through binding arbitration.

"If we can't get a statewide policy, what we're saying is maybe we should decide locally," Bullard said.

A proposed bill would allow public employees to strike and public employers to engage in lockouts if the two sides are unable to reach agreement.

Notice of strike or lockout must be issued at least 15 days before the action. The measure would also prohibit unlawful strikes, such as "sickouts" when employees call in sick instead of coming to work.

Those employees on strike also would waive job protection rights and employers may discontinue active operations.

The bill also is tied to several other bills defining exemptions to legal requirements such as 180-days of instruction in schools.

It's Milk Tree not a cactus

The African milk tree (Euphorbia trigona) gets its name from the milky sap that oozes from the plant if it is injured. This sap, which may be irritating to the skin, is a characteristic it shares with the poinsettia, crown of thorns and other members of the Euphorbia family.

E. trigona is a succulent, but it is often mistaken for a cactus. It consists of a clump of three-sided, spiny "fingers" with spatula-shaped leaves growing along the lengthwise ridges.

Michigan State University horticulturists advise potting this plant in a soil made of equal parts houseplant potting soil and sand. Let the soil dry out between waterings. In winter, when the plant is dormant, water very lightly.

Fertilize once a month from spring through fall. Do not fertilize during the winter.

The measure, however, has been criticized by both labor and employer groups.

Employer representatives such as the Michigan Municipal League said they did not want the power to declare lockouts and labor groups, such as the Michigan Education Association, said the strike provisions were unclear.

The age-old battle among Indian, commercial and sports fishermen continues over rights to fish in the Great Lakes.

The state's Indians believe they have the right to fish the waters without regulation while commercial fishermen feel they are over-regulated. Sports fishermen, meanwhile, want fishing by the others limited so there will continue to be game fish for them to pursue.

Governor William G. Milliken has directed his staff to coordinate the development of a resource management plan for Great Lakes fishing in an effort to ease tensions among the groups.

Additionally, Attorney General Frank J. Kelley said he will continue to press the state's appeal that has a right to regulate fishing in the Michigan waters of the Great Lakes.

Earlier this year, Federal District Judge Noel Fox ruled state restrictions on fishing methods and catch limits did not apply to Indians, whose hunting and fishing rights are protected by federal treaty.

Milliken said he is concerned about maintaining Michigan's fisheries resource and about the tensions among various fishing interests.

His legal aide Kenneth Frankland has been directed to coordinate the development of a fisheries management plan and confer with tribal, commercial and sport fishing interests.

Poet's Corner

You And I

The American people
We're struggling along Battling a war
That's got to be long
No winner's nor losers
Only illusion

They call it inflation
I call it pocketbook deflation
It's leading to a recession
Leaving us all in depression
Can the American dream survive

We're veterans of war
We've battled before Victories for freedom we've acclaimed
Freedom of speech
The right to stand up and fight
The high price of gasoline

Darleen McCowan

Jailbreak

Suffer not in vain
you turkeys who think the world owes you Release yourselves from that jail called pain before the heart throb of neurosis throws away the key and breaks you for life

The common bondage of adherence to growth requires that with each day you enjoy in trying harder to do yourself justice rather than passing pointless hours perservering in pitifully perverse play

Yes, pointless plots do lack an 'oh' upon occasion
But, what of it say I
Do you really care mon cher?
And, what's a glass of milk without the pie?

Cow juice...

Sam Paco

You and I

If you were my sun and I,
your rainbow, together we'd take on life's travels of hills and valleys, rivers and streams,
inlets and outlets...
we'd be our own creation never to part until time came along for us...
you and I.

Patricia Kotlarczyk

Daze

Sunday, Monday,
Tuesday, Wednesday;
In a daze
I look at today,
now it's yesterday.
What about today?
Where has it gone?
What have I done?
Was it work or was it fun?
Did it rain or was there sun?
What the future holds, I do not know,
For what I do; it's worth will show,
So as I look back at today
I realize why they say,
"Live for today,"
Thursday, Friday, Saturday.
Now I'm not in a daze,
I live for today!

M.L.M.

Caught In a Dream

I'm living in a dream.
I'm caught in time.
There's no escape.
I'm in two worlds,
But who knows what I'll find?
Maybe the meaning of life or maybe Something even greater.

Sitting on Currituck Sound

an old log sits at the edge of the surf
it wasn't here two days ago it curves up from the sea and up the beach forming a cove, a curve-cove a sofa whose Oriental rug under my feet has the brown tones of sand shells
green tones of seaweed white color of lap-wave licks and the black of various oyster shells

Kathleen Ripley Leo

Moments Captured

Cold. The rain splashes the silent windows...
leaves drop tears to cool the ground... and as a breeze blows on striving through it all, there is found a captured moment in nature...
a season changing with the rains that are forever a pattern of evolving life.

Patricia Kotlarczyk

Color Choice

Let me not be Sworn to certain colors
On certain days,
For I have outlived
Yellow to dispel
The black cloud;
Green to stay cool
And red, blue and White near the Fourth, or picnicking—
Instead, let there be Constant rainbows
Tied to the sky.

F.A. Hasenau

Contrasts

We live a life of contrasts
In our thoughts, our words and deeds;
We would never know of harvests
If it were not for our needs.

We would not know of joy
If sorrows were unknown;
Life along would be blinded
With no varying of tone.

If we never traveled outward
Beyond our own threshold
Our vision would be blinded
To the wonders of the world.

If we do not heed the guidance
Of the voice that speaks within,
Will we ever know the purpose
Of a life that might have been?

Charles E. Hutton

Changing

We are the seasons continually budding out.
Changing. Forming patterns to the handiwork of our existence.
Beneath all of the sun and rain reality will forever form the continuance of our patterns... ever budding forth for those who seek the secrets within... being present... aware... and waiting for all life.

Patricia Kotlarczyk

What I Have To Say

I am not sure I will tell you all I want to say But yet I can not go on hiding it this way.

I loved you then but pushed you aside
But now I want you back by my side

I know we once did really care
What about all that we once shared

If only I would know, what you would say
If you were to know, that I felt this way

Would you laugh or would you cry
Would you say hello or good-bye

I put you so very far away
How was I to know I'd want you back today?

I want you so much just for me to hold
I don't want for us to ever have to scold

Please be kind to me, understand what I am
Please try and understand where it is I stand.

Sheila McDonnell

Warmth

Sunshine and soft breeze.
Summer seems almost to slumber through lazy days.
Drifting people build sandcastles upon the beaches... do we sometimes wonder whether they build them within their heart?
Summertime caresses the heart and mind bringing yet just another realization of the seasons turning in time... appreciation of the wonder and beauty of early dawn east in glow or the cooling evening...
all moments ever reviving our senses and telling us of the meaning to life.

ROBERT J. EDWARDS of Northville has been named national sales manager — independent channel, Ford Parts and Service Division, Ford Motor Company. He will be responsible for the sale of Motorcraft-branded parts to independent warehouse distributors.

ROBERT
EDWARDS

Edwards joined Ford Motor Company in 1960 with the Lincoln-Mercury division's Cleveland district. After a number of assignments there and in the Jacksonville and Los Angeles districts, he was appointed used vehicle merchandising manager in the division's Twin Cities district in 1966.

In 1968 he was named business management specialist — Business Management Department, Lincoln-Mercury Division's general sales office. He was appointed area manager of the division's Cleveland district in 1969.

Edwards was named manager of the Ford Customer Service Division Milwaukee district in 1971. Later he was appointed supervisor, service management program section in Dearborn. In 1974 he was named Truck Service Engineering Department Manager with Ford Parts and Service Division. He became district manager of the division's Detroit district in 1977 and was appointed service development manager, his most recent position, in 1978.

He holds a bachelor's degree in history and a master's degree in administration from the University of Michigan. Edwards and his family live in Northville.

WILLIAM C. BROWN of Northville has been appointed manager — M Strasbourg, France.

WILLIAM BROWN

Announcement of the appointment was made by George W. Griffith, general manager of the Hydra-matic Division of General Motors Corporation.

Prior to his appointment, Brown was director of industrial engineering and planning for Hydra-matic.

Currently residing in Northville with his wife and two daughters, Brown began his career with General Motors in 1951 as a General Motors Institute student with Fisher Body in Kansas City, Missouri. He received a bachelor of industrial engineering degree from General Motors Institute; master of science degree in engineering from the University of Michigan; and a doctor of business administration degree from Indiana Northern University.

Brown joined Hydra-matic Division in 1958 in the methods department. From 1961 to 1972, he held various positions in the personnel department. In 1972, he became assistant superintendent-manufacturing and superintendent-manufacturing in 1973.

He became director of employee relations in 1973; director of industrial engineering in 1974, until the present time when his classification was expanded to director of industrial engineering and planning.

Brown is past president of the Livonia Board of Education. He has held positions of night faculty member at Cleary College in Ypsilanti and Indiana Northern University, Gas City, Indiana.

DENNIS COWLES, DDS, has announced the opening of a new office in the Holly Hills Professional Village on Ten Mile in Novi. Dr. Cowles' office will be in suite 106 of the professional office building near the corner of Ten Mile and Haggerty Road.

DENNIS COWLES

A 1973 graduate of Oakland University with a degree in chemistry, Dr. Cowles obtained his DDS degree from the University of Detroit Dental School in 1976.

He was an instructor at the school of dentistry for one year after graduation.

Dr. Cowles will provide general dentistry services for adults and children in his new Novi office. Evening and Saturday appointments are available. Appointments may be made by calling a 24-hour answering service at 477-7230.

Dr. Cowles is a member of the Academy of General Dentistry.

His wife is a physician in her third year of residency at Providence Hospital in the field of obstetrics and gynecology.

Dr. Cowles and his wife reside with a one-year old son in Birmingham.

DOUGLAS J. ROSS of Brighton has been elected president of Peterson and Vaughan, Incorporated, a food brokerage firm in Farmington.

DOUGLAS ROSS

The announcement of Ross's election was made by Eugene W. Peterson, chairman of the board at Peterson and Vaughan, following a recent meeting of the board of directors.

Ross will assume his new responsibilities immediately.

Ross joined the firm early in 1978 as a corporate vice president and more recently served as executive vice president and member of the board of directors. His background in the food industry began with a sales position at the Campbell Sales Company.

Ross lives in Brighton with his wife Barbara and two children, Jeff and Jaime.

PACESSETTER FINANCIAL CORPORATION has declared a third quarter cash dividend.

At a meeting held August 22, the Board of Directors of Pacesetter, Grand Rapids, Michigan, declared a cash dividend of $0.21 per share, payable September 14 to stockholders of record on September 4, 1979. This represents a 12.4% increase over the 1978 third quarter cash dividend after adjusting for the 7 percent stock dividend paid August 15, 1979.

This cash dividend is the 27th consecutive paid by Pacesetter, a multi-bank holding company that began operations in 1973.

Pacesetter had total assets of $823.4 million as of July 31, 1979, and has seven bank affiliates. They are: Traverse City State Bank; Security First Bank & Trust Co., Grand Haven; Pacesetter Bank and Trust, Owosso; Pacesetter Bank-Southeast, Grand Blanc; First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, Niles; First National Bank of Cassopolis; and The Brighton State Bank.

Pending affiliates include The Almont Savings Bank and The Hillsdale State Savings Bank that are currently awaiting regulatory agency and shareholder approvals to join Pacesetter.

In addition, preliminary approval has been received for the establishment of a new national bank, Pacesetter Bank-Lansing, N.A., in downtown Lansing. It is anticipated that final approval will be obtained during the third quarter and the new bank will be open before the year-end.

EUGENE WAGNER of Northville (right) has been presented the 1979 Music Operator of The Year Award in recognition of his outstanding contribution to the industry. The award was presented by MOM President Mike Benson (center) during the association's annual convention at Boyne Mt. Lodge. Mrs. Joyce Wagner (left) received the Association Pride Award. Wagner is president of the Target International Coin Company, also of Northville. The Music Operator of The Year Award is presented annually to the member "who typifies industry standards of excellence and who conducts his business according to the highest degree of those standards." Wagner has been active in many Northville area activities. In 1976 he was Basketball Coach of The Year at Our Lady of Victory School. Currently he coaches the Northville high school girls basketball junior varsity team. He is a past president of the Dearborn Civitan Club and the Northville Little League Football Association. A leader in the amusement games industry, he was a founder of Music Operations of Michigan in 1974 and has served on its board of directors since then. He also is a member of A.M.O.A., a national association representing amusement machine operators; a director of the Northville Chamber of Commerce; and publicity chairman of the Northville International Festival.

SUE BONNER, OF BRIGHTON, recently attended the Decorating Den Lifestyle Decorating School in Indianapolis, where she was updated on all of the latest color and design trends in the home furnishings industry.

SUE BONNER

As a part of the Decorating Den national organization of 230 locally owned and operated businesses, Lifestyle Decorating School provided Bonner with in-depth training in decorating which will enable her to decorate to suit each customer's individual lifestyle and personality.

Decorating Den's shop-at-home "Color-Van" has been serving the Brighton area for the past six months. Bonner has lived in Brighton with her husband, Marlowe and their two children, Jim and Jeannie, for the past five years.

JOHN KELLY, JR., first vice president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, presents Paul L. Hussey, executive vice president of the Bank, with an Olympic pin as thanks for the bank's contribution.

NORTHVILLE RESIDENT Paul L. Hussey, executive vice president of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit, recently presented a $48,410 contribution to the U.S. Olympic Committee.

The contribution was accepted by Philadelphia business leader John Kelly, Jr., first vice president of the U.S. Olympic Committee. The funds were raised through a special loan program conducted by Manufacturers Bank. During the month of June the Bank committed a donation of $10 for each approved consumer loan. Appearances by Detroiters Sheila Young, Olympic speed skating gold medal winner, informed the public of the program.

A record 4,841 customers signed up for loans and each received an Olympic pin and a letter from the Bank acknowledging the $10 donation.

According to Kelly, the bank's contribution fulfills one-third of the Olympic Committee's goal for Michigan. The funds are used for athletes' training and travel expenses.

Kelly said that the Manufacturers Bank program was so successful that he hopes to have banks in other states duplicate it.

THE RYMAL SYMES Novi office announces that Andra Herald Foreman has joined its staff as a Realtor Associate. Foreman, who resides in South Lyon, is a graduate of Schoolcraft College in Livonia and Russell Business Schools in Detroit.

Smith has been a resident of Brighton for 6 years. He has worked as a life underwriter for Sun Life of Canada, specializing in business insurance, pension and profit sharing. Smith is also member of the Greater Brighton Area Chamber of Commerce and the Elks Club.

Van Bonn is owner/broker and president of Van's Real Estate, Incorporated in Brighton and South Lyon. Prior to this, he served as vice-president and assistant treasurer of the Commission on Professional and Hospital Activities (CPHA), an international medical research firm with world headquarters in Ann Arbor. Van Bonn is a member of the Greater Brighton Area Chamber of Commerce and also the United States Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to their new Rustproofing Center in Brighton, Smith and Van Bonn anticipate opening more Poly-Oleum Rustproofing Centers during the next 24 months in the Novi/Northville area, Howell, and Hartland.

Poly-Oleum has been professionally rustproofing both privately owned and government vehicles through a network of franchise dealers since 1963.

Effective August 1, 1979, Poly-Oleum Rustproofing has been offering a lifetime repair or replace limited warranty to owners of privately owned new cars who have their vehicles processed with the Poly-Gard rustproofing system.

these to help you!

We're in the business of making words out of letters ... and then making messages out of words.

We can word a message to help you find a job, sell or buy some article, rent a room or find a lost pet. Since our messages are read in some 40,000 homes every week, we can not only help you write what you want to say, we can deliver it for you too.

ON THE MOVE AND DOING IT RIGHT

CHARLIE KUHN'S

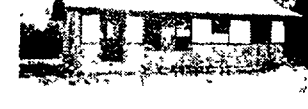

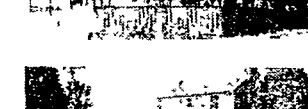

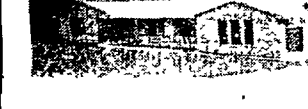

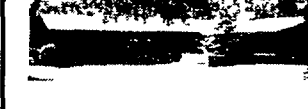

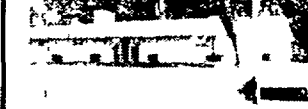

Charlie Kuhns of Green Oak Township has joined HOWELL TOWN & COUNTRY, Inc. as of May 1, 1979. Mr. Kuhns is affiliated with the South Lyon Office.

Charlie is a partner of Len-Al Corporation of Southfield, Michigan. He presently has a dozen homes under construction in the Livingston County area, ranging from $45,000 to $90,000.

Years of close contact with Bob Fritch, president of Howell Town & Country prompted him to join the company. The idea of creative selling, matching the unimproved site with the type of home suitable to the terrain of the land, is a challenge of most builders.

Experienced as a builder and a professional salesperson attributes to having accomplished "TOP SALESMAN" for the months of July & August at the South Lyon Office.

Mr. Kuhns is married and has a five year old son.

Mustangs win opener; 21-6

The Mustangs kicked their 1979 football season off in high gear last Saturday as they stampeded the Redford Thurston squad 21-6 behind the aerial wizardry of Dave Greer and the power-running of Joe Hamp.

Greer connected with wide receiver Dan Goehman for two long scoring strikes and Hamp churned through the Thurston defense for 120 yards rushing.

Northville opened the game like it wanted to give it away. The Mustangs took the opening kickoff but fumbled on their own 20-yard line on just the second play from scrimmage. The Northville defense was like a black and orange chain, however, as it held Thurston to just three yards in its first four plays.

Northville took over possession and marched down to the Thurston 13-yard line where the offense proceeded to cough up the ball once again. Redford moved the ball for two first downs but was forced to punt after the drive stalled.

Northville tried again and with Hamp and Bob Crisan cutting through the Thurston defense for most of the yardage, the Mustangs finally scored. With the ball on Thurston's 33-yard line, Greer faded back and spotted Goehman behind the Redford secondary. Greer threw a strike that Goehman hauled in on the run and Northville led 6-0. Bob Thomson's point-after kick was good and Northville led 7-0.

Northville kicked off and held Thurston to zero offense. Redford punted and the Mustangs moved quickly down to the Thurston 20-yard line. But the drive stalled on fourth down and

New code for Northville

Northville High School has joined civilization. While there are many who may not agree with that statement, most who are involved with the sports scene in Mustang land would agree. And just what has Northville done that is so significant? Well, after who knows how many years of being in existence, the high school has finally gotten around to implementing an athletic code.

Northville athletic director Ralph Redmond is very proud of this document. And with reason. He used a very fair and just system for bringing this piece of law into existence.

First he gathered samples of athletic codes from a number of schools way back in October. Presenting them to panels of coaches and students, none were found to be quite good enough. So Northville set out to create its own code.

At the district coaches meeting, a preliminary code was presented for evaluation and alteration. Then that copy was presented to a panel of students who further revised it. Then the Mustang coaches got to look at it a third time for their stamp of approval and finally, it was submitted to the district coaches again and passed unanimously.

I just wonder why it took so long to come up with one. Redmond couldn't tell me why there wasn't one in the past. Not that it's that important. The fact that there is one of now is the main issue.

An athletic code, while sometimes dishing out harsh punishment, is far more just in the long run than a potpourri of laws and commandments by a number of different coaches that could very well and usually clash.

With the rules and regulations down in writing, that vague but prevalent sense of paranoia that haunted athletes at Northville in the past is gone.

"Every coach handled problems differently. Now there is an official reference point for situations," Redmond said. "Athletes now know what to expect, and most of the athletes that I've talked to are for it. The coaches like it too."

"I like organization. There has to be a way when you are dealing with 43 coaches to pull them all together. If one coach deals with a problem one way and another coach a different way, students ask 'what am I supposed to do?'"

Read the new code, that's what. It spells out high school eligibility rules; guidelines for keeping amateur status; responsibilities of the athletes, both during season and off season; medical liability of the school; academic standards; athletic awards; and an appeal process for disputed punishments.

The philosophy that is stated at the beginning of the code does much to emphasize its goals and intent. It says: "... All students have an equal opportunity to compete for positions on the athletic teams. It is the goal of this school to encourage all students who are interested and physically fit to try out for interscholastic athletic teams. This program will exist to promote the aims of: health, fair competition, character, sportsmanship, teamwork and school spirit."

While not an ideal system, Redmond said that he will give this code a year to sink or swim. If after that time it is found to be wanting, then a new revision or a whole new rewriting will take place. But everyone is keeping their fingers crossed that it will work.

It still bothers me though that it took so long for this to come into existence. I always took it for granted that schools were born with athletic codes. Oh well, welcome to the land of the living Northville.

Blues take State

The Northville Blues are the new Class B softball champions of Michigan. The team, which took the men's division crown at Northville with a 17-0 record, swept four straight games at the Wyoming, Michigan tourney to remain undefeated and lock up the Class B crown.

The tournament was run by the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association-American Softball Association (MRPA-ASA) and fielded a stable of 56 teams.

The Blues beat McDougall's 17-8, M.C. Sports 14-8, Indamer 22-13 and Gus's Gang in the finals, 11-2. John Boland hit six home runs in the four-game series. Bill Staron and Gerald Dettler each hit four roundtrippers.

Last year the Blues won the state Class C softball crown.

Kickers sweep tourney

They were good as soccer players but the big question in many people's minds was how good would they be on the high school level. Northville High School's newest varsity team answered that question quite convincingly this past weekend when the Mustangs swept through three games in the Detroit Country Day School Soccer Tournament to take the crown.

There were eight schools in the tourney: Inner-city Christian; Detroit County Day School (D.C.D.S.); Notre Dame; Greenhills Academy of Ann Arbor; Western Reserve Academy from Cleveland; Ohio; Hamtramck High School; and Southfield Lathrop.

The tourney opened on Friday night and Northville drew Notre Dame. Mustang coach Ron Meteyer described the Notre Dame team as young and inexperienced, but quick and tough. Northville beat them 2-0. Rick Marshall, playing right wing, scored both goals for Northville. He hit at four minutes into the half and at 10 minutes. The second half was scoreless.

Saturday the Mustangs opened against Western Reserve, who had beaten Greenhills on Friday 7-0.

"The match was the toughest of the weekend for us," Meteyer said. "They were so big that several of them looked like college players. It was a very physical game." Northville won 3-2.

Russ Gans got the Mustangs on the board early with a score at the two-minute mark of the opening half. That score stood until the 15-minute point when after a Northville penalty, Western scored.

With 28 minutes gone in the first half, Kevin Swayne broke away from the drawn up Western defense and scored unassisted for Northville's second goal. The 2-1 score stood at halftime.

With six minutes gone in the second half, Mark Swayne, playing center-halfback, took the pass on a give-and-go series and Western goalie for the playing tough defense the Western in reserve for the with only a few minutes slammed it past the third Mustang tally. Northville team held rest of the game until

WSSL soccer: Black Knights win at 12-and-under

NORTHVILLE BLACK KNIGHTS 6 FARMINGTON (No. 4) 5

With five minutes left to play and the score knotted at 5-5, Black Knight Ken Slattery kicked a shot that hit the cross bar, bounced down and hit the Farmington goalie on the back and deflected into the net to give Northville the lead at 6-5. The Black Knights were able to shut Farmington out for the remaining time in the game and thus took the win. The winning goal was similar to a controversial score by Northville earlier in the contest. With Northville ahead 4-3 in the fourth quarter, Adam Danes banged a shot off of the cross bar that fell down onto the goal line. The Farmington goalie smothered it but the referee gave Northville credit for a goal. The goalie protested but to no avail. The whole situation ignited the Farmington team however, and it came right back to score two goals and knot the score at 5-5, setting the stage for Slattery's heroics. Sean Persha scored a goal for the winners, Billy Herguth scored two as did Slattery and Danes added his goal to make the six-score tally for the Black Knights.

NORTHVILLE EXPRESS 2 LIVONIA (No. 6) 1

Mark Zayti gave the Express a 1-0 lead in the second quarter as he zipped a shot past the Livonia goalie. Brent Wazik added another goal in the third period to up the Northville tally to 2-0 before Livonia notched a goal in the fourth. Chris Hauser in goal made 13 saves for Northville.

NORTHVILLE ARSENAL 0 NORTHVILLE (No. 9) 0

The Arsenal won only one game all last spring, but a summer of healthy living seems to have done wonders for the team, especially the defense. Coach John Crotteau singled out the defensive play of Gary Spence and Dave Skuratowicz. Spence made 12 saves in goal for the team while Skuratowicz played fullback.

Other Boys 12-and-under scores: United 0, Farmington (No. 1) 0; Cobras 2, Plymouth (No. 2) 2 (B. R. Bohan and Fred Cahill scored); Champs 2, Livonia (No. 7) 3; Hot Spurs 4, Livonia Express 13 (Matt Lotarski scored all four Spurs goals); Tornados 2, Livonia (No. 24) 4 (Mark Guard and Tim Ross scored).

however and held the Livonia team scoreless the rest of the game. Chuck Kellar, Joe Awdard and Mike Ross each notched goals for the winners.

NORTHVILLE UNITED 5 LIVONIA (No. 6) 3

United scored four goals in the first half and one in the second and held on to stop the last minute heroics of Livonia to take the win. Livonia scored twice with just 15 minutes left in the game to cut the United margin to 4-3. Chris Koenig and John Moran each scored for United and teammate Omar Anisoglu added three.

NORTHVILLE ROWDIES 1 LIVONIA BLUE KNIGHTS 2

With the score tied at 1-1 late in the second half, Rowdies coach Jim Cernuto decided to put in fullback Ted Sledz to bolster the Northville attack. The move backfired. Livonia scored with three minutes left in the game. Mike Nelson scored the lone Rowdies goal.

NORTHVILLE ARSENAL 4 PLYMOUTH (No. 1) 2

Brian Dragon, Greg Marshall, Steve Starcevic and Mike Sylvestre each scored goals to lead the Arsenal to the victory over Plymouth.

Girls 12-and-under

NORTHVILLE COUGARS 1 NORTHVILLE STARS 0

Cougar Debbie Nelson banged in a deflection after teammate Jill Bemer smacked a corner shot. The goalies for the contest were Tracy Kohl and Laura Daly.

Other girls 12-and-under scores: Northville Pink Panthers 1, Livonia Garage Girls 4 (Kathy Korowin scored); Northville Aztecs 1, Plymouth (No. 2) 6 (Mandy Olgren scored).

Girls 19-and-under

NORTHVILLE AZTECS 2 LIVONIA (No. 1) 1

Livonia led 1-0 at the half but the Aztecs tied the contest on a goal by Jaquie Nixon with just 20 minutes left in the game. Marj Muller scored the winner with five minutes to go. Lisa Brownell was credited with strong defense.

Girls 10-and-under

NORTHVILLE STARS 2 NORTHVILLE STINGERS 2

The Stingers led 2-0 going into the second half of play. Sunny Diehl and Maureen Morrissey each notched goals to tie the game for the Stars. Anne Griffith and Joanne Hinds each made tremendous saves on penalty shots to help the Stars' cause.

Other 10-and-under scores: Northville Aztecs 2, Livonia Strikers 12 (Kristen Spigarelli scored twice); Northville Pink Panthers 0, Plymouth (No. 3) 6; Northville Foxes 0, Farmington (No. 2) 17.

Girls 14-and-under scores: Northville Aztecs 2, Livonia Rowdies 4

(Lisa Cahill and Holly Hubbard scored); Northville Fillies 2, Livonia Fireballs 5 (Jane Moylan and Cathy Young scored); Boys 10-and-under

NORTHVILLE UNITED 2 PLYMOUTH (No. 3) 0

Doug Martin scored on a penalty kick in the second quarter and again in the third quarter to give the United team all the cushion it needed for the win. "This game was the best I've seen, as far as skills are concerned in two seasons," coach Al Hauser said. He credited Dante Lamanna for his work at fullback and Joe Fugedi for his contributions at halfback.

NORTHVILLE STING 2 LIVONIA (No. 11) 0

Dan Clark scored a goal in the third quarter to break a 0-0 tie. Greg Paler scored in the fourth to up the Sting lead to 2-0. Dave Watts was the goalie for the winning team, which was formed due to an excess of players this season. Tom Schwarze and Greg Beaver assisted on Paler's goal.

NORTHVILLE HOT SPURS 3 LIVONIA GRASSHOPPERS 2

This marks the first loss for the Livonia team in two seasons. Richard Smith notched all three Spur tallies, the first coming in the first quarter on a razzle-dazzle back-of-the-head header. Randy Holloway was the goalie of record for the Spurs. He helped save the win when in the third quarter, he made a leaping one-handed save to protect the lead.

... Harriers

The Mustang harriers wanted very badly to repeat last year's fifth-place performance at the West Bloomfield Invitational, but try as they might they just couldn't do it. Instead, they had to settle for sixth place out of 21 schools.

Flint Kearsley won the event by scoring 280 points. Northville scored 150.

Harry Couyoumjian paced the Mustang attack as he finished in fifth place out of approximately 150 runners. His time was 15:41. Sophomore Dave Malinowski took ninth place with a time of 15:56. Both Northville runners received individual medals.

Anita Sledz competed in the women's division for Northville and placed 18th out of 188 runners. Her time of 19:18 earned her an individual medal.

The top five teams in the race received team trophies and the first 25 runners received individual medals.

Scott Dayton with a time of 16:35, Ross Grover with a time of 16:43 and Clark Couyoumjian with a time of 16:54 were the other top Northville finishers.

"I was very satisfied considering the seven runners we used," coach Dave Gram said. "Two of our top runners were sick. Doug Wright has had the flu and didn't run and Scott Dayton has had a lung problem but ran. Even if we had matched last year's point total we wouldn't have finished in fifth place. I think we did very respectable."

"The team was disappointed that they didn't repeat last year's finish," Gram said. "They're looking forward to this Saturday when they compete in the Schoolcraft Invitational. Northville took it last year and we want to take it again this season. Everyone seems to be healthy. Wright is coming along and I think he'll run. I may use him on the JV until he gets his strength back. I'm looking forward to it."

Gram was impressed with the performances of two of his most inexperienced runners. "The runner that most impressed me was Dave Malinowski. He showed remarkable strength and confidence for just a sophomore. And Anita Sledz. This is the first time she has run in competition, although she did run track. This was her first experience in cross country. She was very impressive," Gram said.

Northville ran a dual meet against North Farmington on Tuesday but the results weren't available at press time. The next triad action will be the Schoolcraft meet on Saturday, started at 10 a.m.

Colts lose

Bob Smith scored on a 65-yard run from scrimmage but it wasn't enough as the Westland Meteors downed the Northville/Novi Colts freshman team 15-7. Gary Harper scored the extra-point conversion for the Colts.

Westland scored on a safety and two touch downs. The Colts led the contest at halftime 7-2 but couldn't hang on for the win.

The Northville/Novi Colts JV squad lost to Westland 25-7.

• Softball season ends with tourney

Rizzo and Players tops

The softball season came to a close this last weekend when the men's division took part in its post-season tournament. The Blues, the top team in the division, traveled to Wyoming, Michigan for the State Class B Softball Championships. They didn't take part in the post-season tourney in Northville. After 11 games in the national League tourney and nine in the American, two winners for each division were crowned. In the National League it was the Northville Players and in the American League it was Rizzo Real Estate.

The Players earned their crown by beating the Eagles. The final playoff game was the third contest these two teams played against each other in the tourney. The first time they met the Players beat them the Eagles 13-7. The loss dropped the Eagles down into the losers bracket where they beat O.L.V. for the right to meet the Players again. This time the Eagles won 18-10. That set up a rubber game to determine the final victor. The Players won this game 15-9 to take the National crown.

In the final showdown between the two teams, the Players jumped out to an eight-run lead in the first inning. Mike Horvath and Dave Cochran each singled, Don Barrett doubled, Delaine Harmon, Carl Harmon and Steve Harmon all singled, and the Eagles made errors on balls hit by Pete Darocha and Ed Esparza to give the Players the lead. In the second inning, Steve Harmon hit a two-run home run to give the Players a 10-0 lead. Barrett was on base when Harmon hit his roundtripper.

The Eagles flew back with four runs in their half of the second. Jon Day was safe on an error to lead off the inning. Ron Ylitalo and Don Hallock both singled and with one out, Ron Rinderknecht tripled to bring in three. Dave Vaughn then singled to drive Rinderknecht home for the fourth Eagle run of the frame.

The Eagles added a run in the fourth inning on three straight singles by Tom Nye, Rinderknecht and Vaughn. That made the score 10-5. The Eagles then scored two runs in both the fifth and sixth innings to narrow the gap to 10-9.

In the fifth inning Al Runge singled and was followed by a triple off the bat of Day. Ylitalo then hit a sacrifice fly than enabled Day to score. In the sixth Gary Pitcher hit a home run with Rinderknecht on base for the last two runs of the game for the Eagles.

Feeling the pressure with only one inning left, the Players exploded for five runs in the bottom of the sixth to move out in front 15-9. Horvath singled to lead off, Barrett singled, Delaine Harmon doubled, Steve Harmon walked, Carl Harmon doubled and Mark Delvecchio singled. The Eagles went down three straight in the top of the seventh and the Players had the game and the National League crown.

In other National League news, Custard Time/Cutler Realty defeated Sheehan's Little Caesars 8-7 for the league crown for regular season play. The teams had finished the schedule tied, and the special playoff game had to be held. Dennis Belleperche hit a three run home run for the winners. George Danis hit a double and a single, as did Fred Yankee. Danis scored two runs for the winners. Don Phillipi hit a double and single and scored twice for Sheehan's.

In the American League, Rizzo had to beat Winner's Circle. The two teams had met one other time in the tourney. Rizzo beat them 14-13 in the semi-finals of the winners bracket. The loss sent Winner's Circle down to the loser's bracket where they had to beat Spicer Tools to earn the chance to face Rizzo's once again.

The final was another one-run game, 12-11 in favor of Rizzo. The game was scoreless until the second inning. Rizzo picked up three runs to go out in front. Gary Lisowski walked to open the inning, and after one down, Dave Zima and Dan Gougeon singled to score Lisowski. Pete Talbot filed out to advance the runners and Dan Christy hit a sharp single that scored them both.

In Circle's second inning, Mike Kantor was safe on an error, went to third on a ground out and came home on Steve Terpevich's long fly.

Rizzo picked up a run in the third inning on a Lisowski home run and Winner's Circle answered with two runs to make the score 4-3. Norm Kubitskey and Jeff Moon each scored on a single by Mark Mills.

Rizzo picked up five runs in the fourth inning when Gougeon was safe on a fielder's choice, Talbot singled, Christy singled, Keith Trumbull singled and Charles Johnson hit a three-run home run. Terpevich scored a run for Winner's Circle in its half of the inning. The score now was 9-4.

In the next two innings, Circle scored five runs to tie the game. Moon, Mills, Joe Bishop, Kantor and Steve Dempsey each scored a run in the surge. The teams traded runs in the seventh and the game went into extra innings with the score deadlocked at 10-10.

The eighth inning went by scoreless and Rizzo opened the ninth. Lisowski smacked a single to lead off the frame. Bob Gerlach then latched on to a pitch and sent it over the fence for a two-run home run that gave Rizzo the lead 12-10.

left on the clock, Academy scored again. They were unable to mount another serious attack and Northville took the 3-2 win.

The last game of the tournament for Northville was against D.C.D.S. The Detroit team seemed to sense the Mustang penchant for scoring so they fell back into an 11-man defense in an effort to stop the Northville attack. And it worked. The problem though was that while Northville couldn't score, neither could Detroit.

Finally, late in the second half, Mark Swayne boomed a shot past the Country Day goalie to give Northville all of the edge it needed. Craig Wisbiski was like a wall in goal for the Mustangs. With John Davis and Russ Gans playing all-out on defense, Detroit couldn't get any kind of a drive started.

With 10 minutes left in the game, Detroit replaced most of its members with fresh players in an effort to break the exhausted Mustang defense. But Northville held on to win 1-0. It was Wisbiski's second shutout of the tourney.

"If the wind hadn't been so strong we would have scored more," Meteyer said. "We received a lot of compliments. I would say that we showed better skills than the other teams. We displayed good hustle, we followed the ball and had good second effort."

Boy injured in plane crash is recovering

Bruce Saltmarsh, 12, who was injured in the small plane crash September 2 near Grayling that killed his father, Frederick Saltmarsh, Jr., is reported recovering.

He underwent surgery for head injuries at Jewish Hospital in Louisville, Kentucky, where he was taken by his mother. It was recommended, friends report, as one of the centers specializing in this type of surgery.

The family now lives in Clarkston, but formerly lived in Lexington Commons subdivision in Northville.

SPORTS TALK

Now that Rick Leach has graduated, what do you think Michigan's chances of winning the Big 10 title and going to the Rose Bowl are?

"I think the quarterbacks they have now, they've decided on one of three. I think that B. J. Dickey will start and he's as good as Leach was. They'll beat out the rest of the Big 10 teams. They'll beat Ohio State for sure." Rick Balek

"I have no idea. I just moved here." Jody Hartburg

"Their chances are just a little bit less, (without Leach). He was good but he wasn't everything. They'll probably go to the Rose Bowl." Brian Seever

"I don't know. I hate football." Bob Leill

"I think they're pretty good because Michigan State lost their two best players in Smith and Gibson. Michigan's defense is a year older and better than last year." John Leavens

J.V. gridders lose opener to Thurston

It was a bitter defensive struggle, but the Northville JV football team came out on the wrong end of the 8-6 score against the Redford Thurston JV.

"The wind played a major factor in this game," coach Lee Holland said. "I'd like to have seen us move the ball more on offense but I was very pleased with the defense."

One reason the offense failed to move the ball was an injury to starting quarterback Tim McLaughlin. On Wednesday during practice he broke a finger. He will be sidelined for two weeks. In his place Tim Borthwick called the signals for the Mustangs.

Two other injuries of note hindered the offense against Thurston. Starting guards Paul Mullen and Rick Pearce were both sidelined with sickness.

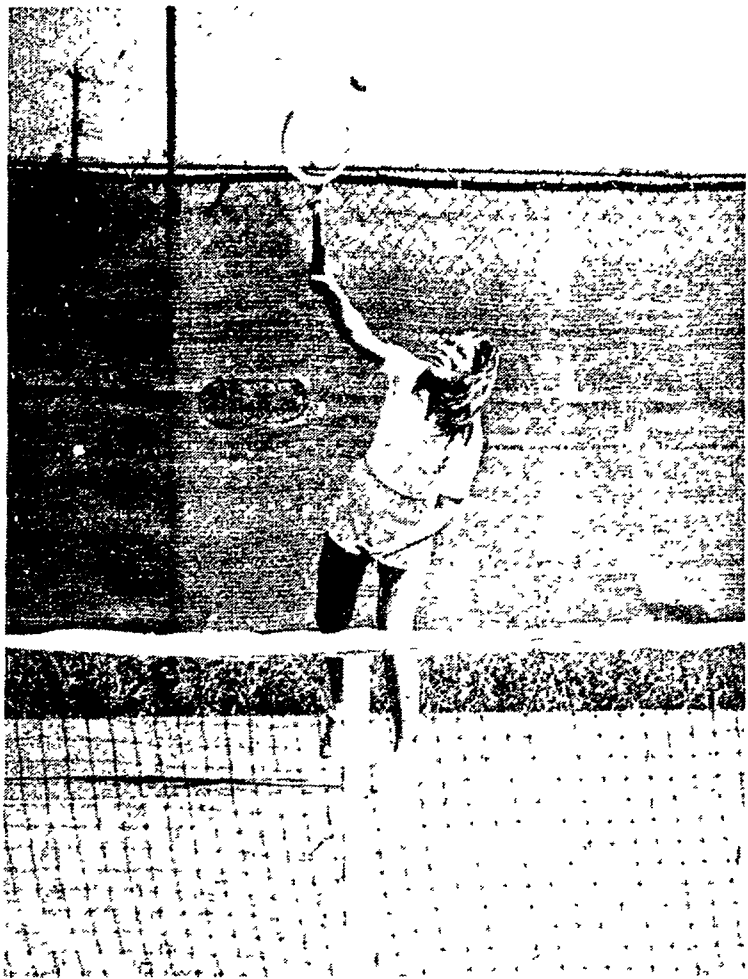

Thurston scored first as they lofted a first-quarter punt with the wind in their backs that set Northville deep in its own territory. The Mustangs failed to move the ball and punted, short. Thurston moved in for the score and converted a two-point conversion to make the score 8-0. That tally held up until the third quarter.

After a bad snap from center that sailed over the Redford punter's head, Northville recovered the ball deep in Thurston territory. Todd Zaroya took a Borthwick handoff and dove into the endzone from three yards out. The conversion failed though and the score remained 8-0 for the rest of the game.

Holland singled out Brian Mullen and Scott Faustyn for their exemplary play. Both manned offensive and defensive posts in the game. Mullen played at right guard and linebacker while Faustyn manned the nose guard slot on defense and left guard on offense.

The JV got back into action Thursday as they host Westland John Glenn in a 4 p.m. battle.

Mustang netters bomb Bentley

The Northville girls' tennis team got its season off to a good start by downing Bentley Friday 5-2.

Holly Sixt, playing first singles, defeated Janet Ray 7-6, 2-6, and 6-1.

Eve Engelmeyer beat Sue Scrutton for a second singles victory, 2-6, 6-3, and 6-1.

Lisa Gejoff lost to Shelly Mauch at third singles, 1-6, 6-3, and 6-7.

At the fourth singles slot, Sherri Robbins beat Jan Elschorin 7-5, 1-6 and 6-2 to give Northville a 3-1 lead after singles competition finished.

Northville took two of the three doubles matches. Lynn Herald and Stephanie Colovas won at the first doubles, 6-3, 7-5. Debbie Spade and Jana Holloway also won, at 6-3, 7-5. The third doubles team of Jennie Missel and Lori Kormanis lost 5-7 and 6-7.

"This was one of the longest matches I have ever attended. It lasted five hours," Mustang coach Uta Filkin said.

"I was pleased with the match. Eve's match was tough for her. She was up against the most powerful 10th grader I have ever seen. Sherri looked better than I've seen her. The lower doubles needs work, I may still do some rearranging there."

"Other than that, some of the three-setters weren't necessary. Overall we did very well. Some did much better than I've seen before."

Filkin felt that the Bentley match was a fair indication of how the team would do this season. "I was surprised at Bentley. They have improved tremendously over last year," Filkin said. "They are stronger than our league matchups will be. That's a good indication for us. This was a fairly tough match. Salem will be another very tough one." The next Mustang tennis action will be today when Northville takes on Farmington away. Game time is slated for 4:00 p.m.

Linksters drop first

The Northville High School golf team got its defense of the Western Six title off to a bad start Monday when the team dropped a contest to Farmington Harrison, 208-212.

Bob Stephens led the Mustang contingent with a low score of 37. Todd Mack came in with a 42 followed by Terry McMann's 43, Ted Seltz' 44, Brian Shake's 46 and Tom McNamara's 49. The low scorer for Harrison was Dave Hawthorne who recorded a score of 37.

"I knew that Harrison would be a good team. That's why I wanted to beat them at our course," coach Joe Blake said. "There's supposed to be some advantage with your home course because you know it and the other team doesn't. We meet Harrison next on their course and then they'll have the advantage."

"Some of the new guys didn't play like they were capable. It was the first time in competition for them and they were nervous. Terry McMann played well. He scored a 43 and it was his first competition. Bob Stephens also did well. The others can play better than they did tonight."

Northville played Thurston in a match Tuesday but the results weren't available at press time. The next Mustang golf action will be on Thursday when Northville travels to Plymouth Canton for its second league competition of the season.

Big Bob Crisan avoids a Thurston tackler during Saturday's win

... Football

Redford took over possession. With 3:35 showing on the clock, Thurston's Jim Rudd took the handoff and skirted around the blitzing Northville linebackers and was gone on an 80-yd. touchdown romp. Redford tried for a two-point conversion but Bob Boshoven and Crisan gave Rudd two good Northville reasons why he wasn't to get into the end zone.

Northville regained the ball on the kickoff and moved down to the Thurston 43-yard line. There Greer once again found Goehman prancing unattended in the Redford secondary and it was off to the races as the pair hooked up on a scoring bomb that gave the Mustangs a 13-6 lead. Thomson once again hit on the point-after, making the score 14-6. This score held until halftime.

Now some teams may have been content to sit on their lead and hope and pray that the other team would go home before the second half began, but not Northville. The Mustangs figured that if a little Northville medicine was good for Thurston in the first half, even more would be better in the second frame. And that's just what Redford got.

Northville's black and orange curtain held the Redford offense to just one first down in the second half. Northville was just content to work on plays when they had the ball. Crisan and Hamp drifted through the Thurston defense like two little Casper the Ghosts as they continually ate up yardage. At 8:21 of the second half, Greer dove in from the three-yard line and Thomson added his third point-after to make the score 21-6.

"It is indicative of the type of game this was in that we ran 61 offensive plays to their 31," Colligan said. "We just stuck with a couple of good plays that worked all night for us. The three fumbles hurt us. They kept points off of the board."

"Our defense looked very strong. Thurston got one first down in the second half. We just kept getting the ball back and soon established dominance and ball control."

While the Mustangs were riding high after the win, Colligan was soon to bring them back to earth. Northville will face a very stiff test Friday in its second game of the year when Westland John Glenn comes to town.

"We will be tested a little more this Friday," Colligan said. "John Glenn lost to one of the top teams in the state in Edsel Ford last week, but don't be deceived. Ford had some of the biggest guys I've seen and Glenn is right behind. They are bigger than us but I have a few things in mind for them."

"Glenn has had the best record in the Western Suburban area for the last four years. I don't think they've lost games back-to-back in all that time. Our guys are keyed up for this game. They know how important it will be to go into the league with a 2-0 record. It would be a great lift if we beat them. But Glenn isn't going to be any pushover."

Against Thurston, Hamp scampered for 120 yards on 20 carries. Crisan added 85 yards on 15 carries. Greer threw four passes and connected on two, both to Goehman, for 76 yards and two touchdowns. But Colligan gave most of the offensive credit to one of the unsung gridiron heroes, offensive tackle Paul Luiki.

"He was just unbelievable," Colligan said. "The coaches and I looked at the films after the game and Paul was creating gigantic holes for the runners. He was moving two people out consistently. He is our unanimous choice for offensive player of the week."

The game against Glenn begins at 8 p.m. on Friday, September 14. The first league game for the Mustangs will be the following week when Northville travels to Farmington Harrison for a Saturday battle.

THURSTON HAMP-ERED—Northville's Joe Hamp smashes through the Thurston line for some of the 120 yards that he gained rushing in Saturday's 21-6 season opening win. Hamp carried the ball 20 times for a 6.0 yards per carry average. Altogether Northville gained 290 yards rushing and 76 passing for a total of 366 yards on offense. The Mustang defense held Thurston to just 160 yards on the ground and only nine passing. The big statistic was that Northville didn't allow but one Thurston first down in the second half.

Touch football set

Okay all of you arm-chair quarterbacks, it's time to get out and dust off the cleats, loosen up rusted joints and relive those glorious gridiron days of yesteryear. The Northville men's touch football league is having its first organizational meeting of the year on September 13 at 8:00 p.m. in the city council chambers. 303 West Main Street.

Seniors bowling program underway

There's a new activity in town for Northville's senior citizens. Every Monday at noon senior citizens can bowl three games for $1.85 at the Northville Lanes. This isn't a league but just a chance for friends to get together and toss the ball around a bit. Free coffee will be available but no prizes. If you have any questions, call the Northville Lanes or J. Michrina at 349-6185.

Allen Terrace—no HUD money

Furniture donated by Northville Rotary Club graces spacious lounge near front entrance of Allen Terrace

Allen Terrace Director Fran Yoakam has an answer or just a friendly greeting

Activities room doubles as a games room on Thursday afternoons

In the spring of 1967 the city of Northville applied for a grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development to build a senior citizens complex "somewhere within the city limits."

The city had been kicking around the idea of constructing some sort of senior housing within the city for months prior to the time the grant request was filed with HUD.

Federal grants for such housing were pretty easily available in '67, but times were changing. Shortly after the council filed their request, HUD changed the rules which governed the grant appropriations.

New quotas were added. A housing project like the one Northville wanted to build was required to rent to low-income families that would be approved to live there by the federal government.

That did not sit well with the city council.

The type of housing project they wanted to build would only be available to present and former city and township residents. The council did not care much for the idea of building a senior citizen's housing project which would be totally under the supervision of the federal government, from the time the construction started, to when the last lease was signed, and beyond.

With property and housing sites within Northville, the township and the surrounding areas appreciating at rapid levels, the city council decided that if such a project was to be undertaken it would have to be done without federal funds.

For if they built according to the new HUD specifications, the project would "more than likely pull down the property values" of whatever area of the city it was built in, according to a former city council member.

City Manager Steven Walters said the HUD project would have had to been built with concrete block walls with a minimum of any trim or siding.

"If we had gotten the HUD grant they would have wanted us to build a facility which would have a minimum of common space, that is, activity rooms, lounges and other such public areas. HUD would have required us to concentrate on building many more apartments than what we intended to construct, at a much smaller size per apartment than what we had in mind.

"But that was IF we got the HUD grant. And that was a pretty big if, considering the fact that the federal government only approves about 75 to 100 apartment units, to be built within the Detroit metropolitan area, in a given year. That's not a whole lot of apartments for such a populated area."

Instead, the city embarked on one of the most ambitious projects the town has ever undertaken on its own in 153-year history. The city turned to the building authority and sold Northville's general obligation bonds to finance the project.

In addition, $500,000 in the city's public improvement fund, mostly resulting from Northville Downs rebates, was added to the kitty. In the summer of 1973, the city purchased the old Eastlawn Convalescent Center as the site for the new project.

In 1974, Don DiComo, a township resident and part-owner of Kamp-DiComo associated of Livonia, was called in by the city to draw up the preliminary plans for the construction of a senior

HOUSING COMMISSION—Northville Housing Commission played the key role in planning and developing Allen Terrace. They are (l to r) John Steimel; John Stuart, chairman; Nancy Schoultz; Allen Terrace Director Fran Yoakam; Ray J. Casterline II; and Clarence Harsch.

BUILDING AUTHORITY—The three members of the Northville Building Authority, which coordinated the financing and construction of Allen Terrace, are (l to r) Jack Hoffman, secretary; Robert Freydl, treasurer; and Russell Amerman, chairman. Participating with the authority in most of its deliberations were City Manager Steven Walters and the architect, Donald DiComo.

Allen Terrace—no HUD money here

citizens apartment complex in the woods across the street from Northville High School.

That senior citizens housing was needed in Northville became apparent upon completion of a survey conducted by the Northville Housing Commission. It was this commission that pushed for development of Allen Terrace. Besides becoming instrumental in its early planning, the commission also worked to develop the admissions criteria, the rent structure, and the operational ground rules.

The result of all that planning is Allen Terrace, a beautiful 101 apartment complex, named after A. Malcolm Allen for his 25 years of service as Northville's mayor.

As you drive up to Allen Terrace from High Street, the first thing you will notice is the sign. It is not your ordinary city sign, constructed of sheet metal and mounted on a pole. Instead, it is built of wood, with carved old English letters which proclaim its name and the address: 401 High.

The sign should prepare the visitor for what he is about to see as he turns into the drive. Since the apartments are completely obscured from High Street by trees in the summertime, the visitor is likely to get the feeling, from reading the sign, that a luxurious apartment complex lies at the end of the drive.

And as he rounds the bend and the complex comes into view, that feeling will probably remain as the visitor takes in Allen Terrace's architecture.

The building, shaped in a 'T', is very modernistic in its appearance. A six foot high rock wall separates the parking lot from the patio in front and to the side of the main entrance. A wrought iron fence is anchored atop that wall.

The entrance itself is covered by a hexagon-shaped overhang, which extends over the stairs and to the circular drive in front. In the center of the drive sits a fountain.

To the left of the entrance is what appears to be a greenhouse, but actually it is part of the activities room off the lobby. One-way glass helps divert the sun's rays and mirrors your approach to the front door.

Stepping through the door, the guest enters a foyer, which has a list of names and the buzzers of the residents who live in the building. A TV camera records the guest's entrance and beams the image back to each apartment via closed-circuit television.

As the guest passes through the second door, he will find the beauty of the interior matches the exterior. Carpeting covers the floor around the office and into the lounge area, where color-keyed furniture sits under a painting of Mayor Allen.

One note: that is 'apartment complex' — not nursing home.

Many people enter Allen Terrace expecting to find white clad nurses running about with thermometers and medical charts. They expect to see an infirmary alongside the waiting room for those who are too sick to move about.

May it never be, emphasize officials.

Allen Terrace is not unlike a middle-income apartment complex. The only difference is instead of the usual mixture of apartment dwellers, only senior citizens live here.

And only those elderly people who are fully capable of taking care of themselves are allowed to rent at Allen Terrace.

"The idea was not to construct a convalescent center, but to build a place where older people who lived in Northville, or the township, or who had relatives who live here, could live independently within easy access to the downtown area," Walters said.

Although it is an apartment complex, Allen Terrace does offer some extras to help the senior population in many ways.

The Out-Wayne County Nutrition Program, specially designed for those 65 years of age or older, operates out of the activities room every weekday for 12 to 2 p.m. For a 50 cent donation area seniors can eat a nutritionally balanced lunch while enjoying the company of their peers for a couple hours a day, five days a week.

There also are art classes, quilting bees, game hours and much more to do and to learn a skill while doing so. In addition, a mini-library is located on the second floor with plenty of donated books and magazines to read and enjoy.

Plans are being drawn up to add a beauty shop and exercise room to offer more of the types of services on Allen Terrace resident would normally have to drive or walk to. For although most of the residents have their own cars and can get about rather easily, there are those who do not drive and have trouble walking and must spend a great deal of their time at the complex.

For those people, the Northville Recreation Department offers a bus service on Tuesdays which picks the seniors up in front of Allen Terrace (and at other places about town) and takes them downtown to Chatham's and the Main business district and gives them two to three hours to complete their shopping for the week.

But for most of the people who live there, Allen Terrace represents freedom. The freedom that helps them maintain their individuality, their sense of dignity. Allen Terrace takes in those who can no longer keep abreast of the day to day upkeep of maintaining a home, and it gives them a place to live without fear among people with whom they can relate to and feel comfortable with.

It is, in the words of one of the residents:

"The best idea this old town has ever come up with."

It's a great place to live and enjoy

What's it like to live in Allen Terrace?

Not bad, really. As you walk down any of the hallways, which are painted a different color on each floor (with carpeting to match), you start to get acquainted with the simple elegance of the place.

On each floor, sheltered lounges with comfortable sofas and a coffee table or two sit, compliments of area groups or individuals who has donated the furniture. Magazines lay on the tables.

Entering any one of the apartments, you will pass through the foyer at the front, and into a living area which has plenty of room for a couch, dining room table and chairs, stereo, and a TV.

Beyond the living room is the balcony, or the patio if you enter an apartment on the first floor. The balcony is constructed of wood which gives the complex a rustic look. Many of the porches face the grassy area at the rear of the building.

Beside the living room is the bedroom, large enough to hold a full size bed and a dresser. Large spacious closets open up off the bedroom and the short hallway between it and the living area.

The bath sits between the two main rooms. It contains a rather large tub, which does not seem to crowd the sink or commode like some apartment facilities do.

The kitchen opens up off the living area. A set of cabinets hang over a low counter separating the two rooms. Although somewhat cramped, the kitchen contains a large refrigerator, a stove and oven, and plenty of cabinet space above and around both appliances.

Beside the bed and in the living room

Directing is tough but nice

"It is a lot of work, but it can be very rewarding in a very real sense. But it is not the type of thing to take home with you every night."

Fran Yoakam, Allen Terrace's director, finds her job "exhausting" but says the end always seems to make the means worthwhile.

"It always seems like there is something else to accomplish before the day is over. You get one thing done, and another pops up. This job can really keep you moving."

"But it can also give you a lot of satisfaction in that you realize that most of what needs to be done here is directly related to the residents' welfare, and if you do a good job, they'll be better off for it."

One of the projects Yoakam currently is working on is an in-house directory, which will list names and birthdates of each resident.

Yoakam was also responsible for overseeing the necessary improvements for the September 16th open house.

In addition, Yoakam is overseeing the completion of several items left unfinished or improperly installed by the builder. These jobs, normal in the construction of any structure the size of Allen Terrace, are listed on a builder's "punch card" and are usually completed by a contractor.

However, since Allen Terrace is a city-owned and run facility, no contractor is involved in making the necessary adjustments, Yoakam explained. Instead, Ivan Speight, an employee with the department of public works, is completing the punch list.

The maintenance staff, Harry and Betty Orr also fall under Yoakam's jurisdiction. The Orrs report to her daily, informing her about items that need replacement, machinery that needs to be repaired and whatever else comes up throughout the day.

Yoakam holds an associate degree from Madonna College in gerontology, the study of aging, and she is presently working on her B.A. from the same college.

She also has attained experience in senior citizen's housing before coming to Allen Terrace as the manager of Tonquish Creek Manor senior apartment complex in Plymouth.

"I am also interested in the occupational safety, health and fire science program they have just recently developed at Madonna."

"But I feel it is important to have a background in gerontology because it makes one sensitive to the needs of seniors. Their needs are not necessarily the same as younger people."

"If you understand someone's situation you are better prepared to help that person, if they should ask for or require your help."

As to her future, Yoakam says she plans to continue at Allen Terrace as long as she is happy there, which "could be a long time," as she puts it.

"Oh, you have your busy days, when it seems like the whole world is coming

On the second floor, in the lounge area, is a mini-library. It has been partitioned off by the Northville Kiwanis Club, which also has installed bookshelves to hold the ever-circulating supply of books provided by the public library and by donors.

Elsewhere on the floor you will come across a complete laundry, which has plenty of washers and dryers for the residents' use. It is often filled on Saturday mornings with people taking care of the week's soiled linen.

On the fourth floor a room is reserved for those who wish to try their hand at painting a colorful landscape, or designing a clay statue. Art class, taught by former Northvillian Sandy Daley, are conducted there every Monday.

Downstairs, the activities room is available for any resident who wishes to strike up a card game with friends, or visit with relatives. At 12 to 2 p.m. every business day, the activities room is used for the Out-Wayne County Nutrition Program which provides lunches for seniors who live in and around Northville.

A comfortable lounge with three sofas and two plush chairs sits in the main lobby area which can comfortably seat up to 10 people. Walk into Allen Terrace at any time on most days, and you will find three or four seniors sitting and chatting in the lounge.

The manager's office is located near the front of the Terrace. Large picture windows face the lobby, from the office. A sliding glass window, which is almost always open, separating the office from the front foyer.

As you walk out the front door, past the security camera and through the electronically-controlled inner door, you will come out into a patio area, which sports an umbrella table and several lawn chairs which are very inviting.

A sidewalk leads from the front door down the drive to High Street, with benches every 100 feet or so where residents may stop and rest.

The downtown shopping area lies within easy distance of Allen Terrace, being only about four blocks away. A bus service, courtesy of Northville's recreation department, runs between the Terrace and business district on Tuesdays of each week.

"It's just great living here," said Hazel Sharon, an Allen Terrace resident. "Everything you need is so close, only minutes away. I just love it here."

And that's what it's like, living at Allen Terrace.

She once lived in old cabin

"I was born in Plymouth, in an old farmhouse on the corner of Sheldon and Five Mile roads in 1900. The barn is still there, but they tore down the house when they built the Ford factory years ago."

A few years later, Ella Musolff, then Ella Shoukart, moved with her family into Northville Township, into a sharecropper's cabin at the old Gibson farm at the corner of Six Mile and Sheldon.

Her 65 years of life in Northville make her second to only one other resident of Allen Terrace in the number of years lived in Northville. The other woman, Thelma Schoultz, was born in Northville, and spent most of her life here.

Mrs. Musolff, 79, attempted to recall what life was like in and around Northville back around the "roaring twenties" and subsequent years.

"Well, we moved from the Gibson farm a few years after we had moved in. My dad bought his own 160 acre farm on the south side of Six Mile just a short way down from the Gibson place."

"I remember that the streetcar came up to the four corners of Northville, from Detroit, and we used to ride fairly often into the city, where we'd go shopping and such."

Mrs. Musolff said Northville was "a wide open town" in those days, since "you could park anywhere you wanted, anyway you wanted, and there wasn't any speed limits either." The big attraction on Saturday nights for the area populace (mostly farmers according to her) was the bands which played at 8 p.m. in the grandstand then located in the center of town.

Hot lunch and some small talk

MARY SCHNELL, administrator of the hot-lunch program at Allen Terrace, poses with three of her volunteers — from l to r, Ann McBride, Ms. Schnell, Bea Denune (sitting), and Kay Lee.

"They don't come here so much for the food, I wouldn't think. They come mostly for the socialization they get. And while they're socializing, they eat a nutritionally balanced meal."

That is how Mary Schnell, the administrator of the Out-Wayne County Nutrition Program in Northville, summed up the afternoon lunches which are made available to area senior citizens for a 50-cent donation.

The noon repast is served at Allen Terrace, in the activities room from 12 to 2 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. Each meal is a nutritionally balanced one, offering items from the basic four food groups.

For example, a meal served at Allen Terrace may consist of macaroni and cheese with some beef added for the main dish, three-way bean salad, a carton of milk, assorted breads and butter and a nectarine.

The meal is prepared by Wayne County's Food Service Division, located on Merriman Road in Wayne. Each meal is shipped fully prepared by the food service division and arrives piping hot at Allen Terrace where Schnell takes delivery.

Northville joined the nutrition program about two and a half years ago, according to Schnell, an Allen Terrace resident. Back when it first began it down around your ears, and then you have your other days, which aren't quite so bad. It's just like any other job, I imagine, in that respect. But I love it here, and really enjoy working with the people who live here, most of whom know each other from their years of living within Northville."

With that, Yoakam leaves to begin her inspection of the building, which she says she does "every once in a while to keep an eye on things." Along her route, she will stop and see what Speight is repairing, or look in on Betty Orr as she cleans, or stop and talk to a resident who might have been sick and not up and about.

Calls cheer or aid Northville's seniors

If you are a senior citizen who lives alone in Northville, chances are you have spoken with Katherine Cobb at one time or another.

She is the woman in charge of Telecare, a year-old "reach out" program established in Northville by the Wayne County Office on Aging, to help lonely, depressed elderly people by offering a listening ear, once a day, five days a week.

A resident of Northville, she has been with the program since it began in Northville "about July of last year." She was hired for the program by Helen Ford, a director at the Office on Aging.

Cobb said the program is funded by Comprehensive Employment Training Act funds, and is relatively new in this part of the country.

"Now there are hundreds of offices like mine, scattered throughout Michigan. But just a couple of years ago, there were none."

Cobb said she calls about 50 people a day, whose names appear on a master list she helped put together last spring.

"A group of us from Northville were asked by the county to go out and knock on the doors of senior citizens living in Northville and ask if they would like to be called.

"We would explain to them that the program was just meant to provide someone for them to talk to on a daily basis. We approached quite a few people — it must have been in the hundreds — and 50 agreed to sign up."

When she calls, she asks her "clients" if they are all right, how they just to hear the bands play. We would go up there about three or four in the afternoon to do our shopping, go back to the house to get ready, and then come back to town about seven or so."

The weekly gathering (weather permitting) was a good way to "forget you were a farmer, with all the work and trouble that goes with farming, and just relax and talk with the people you knew."

Another big attraction was the opera house, which stood at Center and Dunlap.

"We used to go there a lot, also. They had some great plays and there was always a good crowd in attendance."

In 1920, Ella married Edward J. Musolff at the family farm on Six Mile. The ceremony was held in the garden, behind the house, and was attended by "a good number of people."

Her husband was a builder who constructed several homes in the area. He helped remodel the old high school (now called the "Annex" and used in the ISEP program), on Main. After they were married the Musolffs moved to 539 Grace, where they lived for 25 years before relocating at 532 Fairbrook in 1945.

In 1958, Mr. Musolff died, and Mrs.

Musolff has remained a widow ever since. In the spring of last year, she sold her home, and rented an apartment in Allen Terrace as soon as they were made available.

"I never thought I would sell my house and move to a place like this," Mrs. Musolff said. "But my daughter said I needed to be with someone, after living alone for so long, which was hard.

"But now that I've made the move I'm happy because the people here are all so nice. Still, it's hard to give up the home you've lived in for 24 years. But sometimes that's what you have to do."

Orrs live in while keeping place clean

"We really enjoy working here. The people all seem to know one another, and that seems to create a sense of community throughout the facility. This is a very sharp bunch of people who live here."

Harry and Betty Orr have worked at Allen Terrace since it was "about half-way done." They were the first to move into the complex setting up housekeeping on October 16.

The Orrs are the maintenance couple at Allen Terrace. Betty works 40 hours a week there, while Harry part-times it, and gets in "about 20 hours or so, sometimes more." As part of their pay, they were given a rent-free apartment, which is located near the main office on the first floor.

"When we first moved in, this thing was just partially finished," Betty said, pointing at the front of Allen Terrace. "None of the doors were on the apartments, and there wasn't any carpeting or tiles laid, either."

City police maintained "what seemed like a 24-hour vigil" on Allen Terrace, according to Harry, until the Orrs moved in. "After that, they just drove through because they knew we would keep an eye on things around here."

The police watch of Allen Terrace was necessary due to the fact that a lot of lumber and building equipment was stolen from the housing project in the first few months of its existence, Harry said.

was housed at city hall. It was moved to Allen Terrace this spring.

"Since we moved from city hall, the response to the program has doubled.

We used to only serve about 15 to 20 people a day, but now we feed about 45 to 50, at each lunch," Schnell said.

Schnell is assisted by volunteers Kay Lee, Bea Denune, Shirley Puckert, Nahoma Kyle and Ann McBride, who help her serve the meals, register the seniors, collect the 50 cent donation and help carry the senior's trays.

The program is funded by the federal government, and supplemented by Wayne County. The 50-cent donation also goes back into the program, according to Schnell, who said it is used to buy napkins and paper plates.

"It really is the chance to sit down and talk with someone that keeps bringing them back," Schnell said, waving her hand at the 40 people eating and talking in the room.

"Some of these folks get here an hour ahead of time, just to sit and talk to their friends. I really think this program helps a lot of them to keep from becoming lonely."

Most times the seniors, who must be over 65 to take advantage of the nutrition program, compliment her on the meals, Schnell said. Sometimes they even come back for more, which she will comply as long as there is enough first servings for all.

"We sometimes give out seconds and even thirds; but not usually. Most older people don't have much of an appetite, you know. And besides, I learned long ago, to only order as many meals as there are people signed up for."

In order to be allowed to eat a week's worth of lunches, seniors must affix their names to the sign-up board posted in the activities room entrance at Allen Terrace on the Thursday preceeding the week they want to eat lunch.

The 50-cent donation is not required, although it is asked for to help defray the cost of the program.

Emergency alarm

It could save a life

They look somewhat like the lights that flash red when the elevator comes down. Strung out along a hallway approximately 300 feet long, the lights constitute an emergency system that could save a life.

If a resident is in trouble, all he/she would have to do is pull a chord alongside the bed and the light outside the apartment door automatically flashes off and on while an alarm rings downstairs.

Fran Yoakam, director of Allen Terrace, notes that without the light-alarm system there would not be any way to know if a resident is sick and needs help.

"These things are great. Even on the weekend — if something happens and no one is around to hear the alarm — which I doubt would ever happen, those lights are noticeable right away. All the residents here know that when they see one, someone is in trouble."

There are standard operating procedures to follow when the alarm goes off, Yoakam explains.

"First of all, when the alarm rings, I have to try and quickly find someone to go upstairs with me to whatever room has rung the alarm. You need two people in order to tend to the resident while the other one handles any phone calls that have to be made.

"One person could do it alone, but we don't recommend that unless it is completely unavoidable. Otherwise, at least two must answer."

Yoakam used to work in a similar senior citizen housing complex in Plymouth, which employed a similar alarm system.

"We just would not be able to function without these. It's true that a resident might not be able to get to their button when they're in trouble, but I would say the majority are able to, and believe me, it saves lives."

are feeling and if they need anything.

"Some of them just expect you to ask those questions, and then after they answer, that's the end of the call. Some, though, really need to have someone to talk to. If I see they're all wound up, I just sit back and let them go."

service can be a lifesaver, too.

"I called a woman who lives in town a couple of weeks ago, and she said she was so ill, she couldn't get out of bed. She didn't seem to sound like herself, either, so I made a quick call to her son and he got over there fast and took her to the hospital."

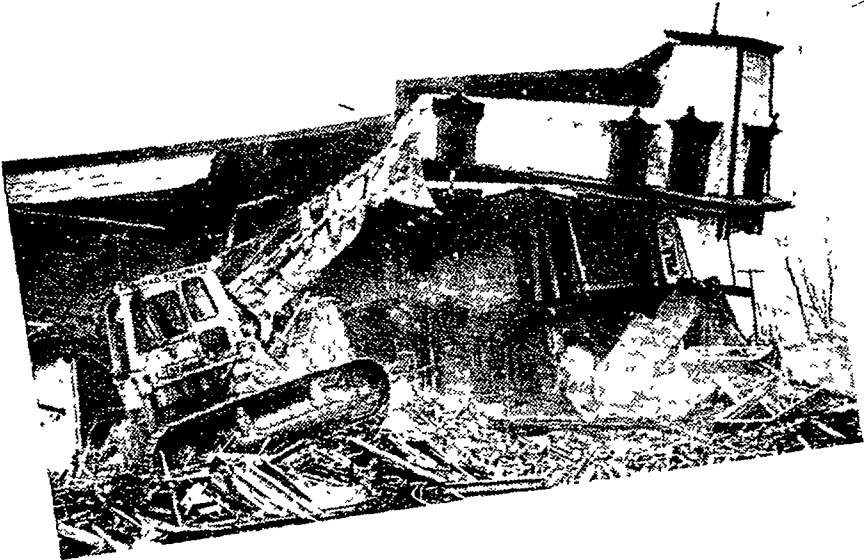

She has been informed the woman is "doing just fine" at the hospital.
