

Main Street

It's coming

This drawing was prepared by consultants working on Northville's Mainstreet 78 project. It reveals the site location of the new Down River Federal Savings building (A). The corner area at Main and Hutton has been deeded back to the city with the understanding it will remain an open space area. Also approximately 12 feet at (B) has been deleted from property acquired from G. E. Miller Dodge and added to the property now occupied by Little Joe's Bar. It is the Downtown Development Authority's desire to help the owner of the bar relocate (possibly a block to the north on Dunlap street) to provide space for future development of at least one, and possibly as many as three, commercial buildings. The city has retained the former Miller property at the corner of Hutton and Dunlap streets and plans to round-off the dangerous traffic corner (C). The remaining property at the Dunlap-Hutton corner will be developed as parking.

Downtown gets boost

Major development set

Several months of negotiations were culminated Monday night by the sale of a portion of the G. E. Miller automobile agency property to Down River Federal Savings.

E. G. Wilkinson, Jr., executive vice president of Down River, made a formal offer of $150,000 to the city council and it was accepted.

The Miller agency has been sold and will move into the facility now occupied by Bob Jeannotte Pontiac on Ann Arbor road in Plymouth. Jeannotte is constructing a new building on Sheldon south of Five Mile and probably will not be able to move for at least two more months.

As soon as the new owners of the Miller auto agency are able to move and the building is vacated, Down River will begin demolition and proceed with construction of a new 55 by 66 foot building facing Hutton (see sketch for exact location).

Down River has been an important part of Northville's Mainstreet 78 plans ever since the Downtown Development Authority was formed nearly two years ago by the city council.

The savings and loan association had applied for federal permission to open a Northville area branch. Aware that Miller might vacate, Down River officers expressed a deep interest in the site.

For DDA it represents a large contribution to its tax increment financing program for funding the Mainstreet 78 improvement package for public sidewalks, streets, parking lots, etc., in the downtown business district.

In reality the Northville Area Development Corporation, a non-profit citizens committee, purchased the Miller site for $247,000. It then turned around and sold three city-owned lots in the Gerald avenue area to the Millers, who plan to develop the property for automotive repairs and storage of recreational vehicles. The city charged Miller $30,000 for the lots, reducing the sale price to $217,000.

While Down River paid the city $150,000 for the property, the price included the cost of six offstreet parking spaces which cost $3,000 and technically reduces the price of the Miller property to $132,000 for Down River.

But the city retained the northeast portion of the Miller property at the corner of Dunlap and Hutton, which will be placed in the city's parking pool and acquired by merchants to meet offstreet parking requirements.

Further, Down River agreed to deed back to the city the corner of Main and Hutton streets as open space. The DDA was desirous of maintaining a small court area at the corner for purposes of beautification and traffic safety. Additionally, the city plans to make improvements at the Hutton-Dunlap corner to improve a bad traffic situation.

While the council unanimously approved the Down River purchase, Mayor Paul Vernon and Councilmen Dewey Gardner and Stanley Johnston were especially pleased by the transaction. All three are members of the DDA committee.

'Sewer inadequate'

Area construction ban looms

Prospect of a ban on all construction in the Northville-Novi area looms heavily this week.

It could be as close as a yet unmailed letter from the township to the state. And that letter may be in the mail before the month is out.

That's the word from Township Supervisor Donald Thomson who said he feels an obligation to report the seriousness of the local sewer situation to the State Department of Natural Resources despite the economic setbacks it may spark.

"I don't care if construction is stopped. What bothers me is what might happen if construction of all these subdivisions continues and the sewer won't handle it," the supervisor said.

"Someone must put a clamp on any more subdivision approvals or our people are really going to be hurt."

The problem centers on a 24-inch line from Seven Mile to Plymouth.

No one knows for sure just how much more sewage flow can be handled by this line. But all experts agree that it can't accommodate development much longer in Northville city and township and in Novi.

Without question the effluent will either overflow into the river basin here or back up to possibly create flooding of homes and business places.

In discussing the sewer situation with township board members recently,

Township Engineer William Mosher warned the township that if it formally disclosed the critical nature of the local situation the state would have little recourse but to issue a construction moratorium in neighboring Novi as well as in Northville.

Emphasizing that the resulting economic setback of a ban would be catastrophic, Mosher tried to persuade the board to withhold a notification letter to the state.

Mosher showed board members a "confidential" letter he earlier had given planners.

That letter, documented the seriousness of the problem. It suggested that some overflow into the Mid-

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Strike ends, school opens, ratification dates slated

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

School is back in session and chances for ratification of the new Northville teachers' contract look bright, both teachers and school board members say.

The three-year pact, featuring compromise language and a 26 1/2 percent salary hike over three years, is expected to be ratified by the Northville Education Association membership by Friday. The Northville Board of Education is expected to ratify the contract Monday.

The teachers' strike lasted seven days. It was still unclear Tuesday when the seven days will be made up during the school year or what the school calendar will be.

Tentative contract agreement was reached after an all-night mediated negotiating session which began Wednesday at 8 p.m. and ended with table agreement signing at 8:30 a.m. Thursday.

The 24-member teacher representative assembly voted for the contract and all Northville teachers returned to work Thursday afternoon.

Institutions' Special Education Program (ISEP) students started school Friday. K-12 students began classes Monday.

By reaching the mediated settlement the district escaped the trauma of a court injunction and state fact-finding procedures by only a few hours. An injunction request was to have been heard in Wayne County Circuit Court at 9:30 a.m. Thursday and fact-finding was due to begin at 10 a.m. the same day. Because a tentative settlement was at hand, both procedures were suspended.

In addition, an unfair labor practice filed by the NEA against the school district for not attending a negotiating session scheduled September 11 was dropped.

Both sides sound optimistic about ratification.

"We recommend it (the contract)," said NEA President Barbara LeBeauf on Friday. "I think generally we felt that it is a fair contract. We made some language gains. The economics are consistent with this area. We were disappointed that there was no class size language. Some things we still need."

"I am ready to recommend it to the board," said Superintendent of Schools Larry Nichols. "I believe we have the ability to fund it. We are in a competitive salary position."

The new contract is for three years, lasting until September 1982. It retains the lock-step salary structure and gives teachers a salary hike of 26 1/2 percent over three years as well as added fringe benefits.

The salary increase is comparable to surrounding districts. Plymouth teachers received an average increase over three years of 25.3 percent. Novi settled on 26.5 percent.

This year Northville teachers will get a step up the schedule (unless they are already at the top salary step), with all salaries increased 8 1/2 percent. In addition pay for extra-curricular activities increases 8 1/2 percent. A teacher with a bachelor's degree will start at $12,277 and with 10 years experience will receive $21,292. The salary range for a teacher with a master's degree will be $13,523 to start and $25,301 after 10 years.

This year, teachers will have new Blue Cross-Blue Shield insurance benefits which will cover non-life-threatening emergencies treated at a hospital. For those teachers already covered by a spouse's health insurance policy, the district will offer the option of $20,000 extra life insurance, in addition to the $20,000 already supplied to all teachers.

Next year, 1980-81, teachers will receive another 8 1/2 percent increase and get a 50-50 dental program, where the school district will pay half of any regular dental bills.

In 1981-82, the third year, teachers will receive a nine percent salary increase and a nine percent increase in extra-credit pay. Top salary for a teacher with a master's degree and 11 years of experience will be $29,991. In addition that year, teachers will get further improvements on health and regular dental bills.

NEWS BRIEFS

See 6-A

JOHN STUART has been reappointed to the Northville Housing Commission and Elroy Ellison has been named to fill a vacancy on the Northville Beautification Commission. Both appointments were made Monday by unanimous action of the council.

FREE CLASSES in cardiopulmonary-resuscitation (CPR) will be offered through the Northville High School student congress this fall at NHS. The Livonia Red Cross will be conducting the classes November 1, 14 and 28 at the high school. Interested persons may sign up at the high school office, said Matt Yanoshick, student congress treasurer.

Welcome back

Words of welcome were due this week not only for returning Northville students, but for teachers who ended a seven day strike with a tentative agreement and went back to work

Thursday. Teacher Gale Bartula readied this cheery bulletin board for her fourth grade class at Amerman Elementary.

City pinpoints uses for block grant money

Major portion of the allocated $33,792 community development block grant monies will be used for barrier free improvements in the city. That was the decision of the city council last week as it recommended uses for the 1979 CD monies. Here's how the city intends to use the money:

1. $5,000 will be used for barrier free provisions at the scout-recreation building that city council probably will turn into a district court building.
2. $10,000 for renovations that include barrier free provisions at the city hall.
3. $18,792 to go to the Downtown Development Authority to help pay for the downtown public improvements.

Barrier free devices are those devices which permit easy access to public buildings by handicapped persons (i.e., those persons in wheelchairs). State law requires these devices, such as ramps, in new public buildings and public buildings undergoing major renovation.

Bellies galore

"If you think one belly dancer was great just wait 'til you see what the Northville International Festival has in store this year," says Chamber of Commerce President Paul Folino. Not only will Sorina (at left) be back, but "we've engaged the 'Seven Veils' to perform as well," he announced. And that's just a small part of the ethnic shows planned during the three-day festival to be held at Northville Downs Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 5-7, he adds. A variety of singing, dancing, instrumental, and comedy acts are planned during the show, which has become one of Northville's most popular annual events. Food — "every kind imaginable, most of it with a flavor of the 'old country' — and display and sale of thousands of hobbycraft will be featured, Folino said. Admission will be $1.50, and 75 cents for children 16 and under. The festival is sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce. It is held in the lower level of the Downs grandstands.

For city offices

Four circulate petitions here

With less than two weeks remaining before the October 1 filing deadline, only four persons have taken out nominating petitions for elective office in the City of Northville.

Petitions are being circulated for Mayor Paul Vernon, and by Carol Ann Ayers, Kevin Hartshorne and Stanley Johnston for city council.

Johnston, who is concluding his first term on the council, seeks another four-year seat. Vernon, who is concluding a two-year term after succeeding former long-time mayor A. Malcolm Allen, seeks re-election for another two years. Not seeking re-election is veteran Councilman Wallace Nichols.

The terms of Councilmen J. Burton DeRusha and Dewey Gardner do not expire this year.

Ayers and Hartshorne are seeking their first elective offices. She is a long-time member and officer of the Northville Library Commission.

Hartshorne, a 25 year old Northville graduate who later earned an associate degree at Schoolcraft and a BS degree in hotel management at Michigan State University, is presently employed in service industry management. He has been a resident of Northville for 13 years.

Hartshorne lives at 256 Griswold, Ayers at 518 Morgan Circle.

Walled Lake finds residency law illegal

The Walled Lake city charter residency requirement, which is almost identical to the requirement of the Northville city charter, has been labeled illegal and therefore will no longer be enforced.

In the wake of that interpretation by its city attorney, the Walled Lake City Council has voted unanimously to instruct the city clerk to disregard the charter's residency requirement.

Citing a number of federal court rulings in similar situations, City Attorney Richard Poehlman told Walled Lake officials that any residency requirement beyond the qualifications to become a registered voter in the city — 30 days under state law — is invalid.

It's 'fowl' play!

The fowl will fly in Plymouth October 7 and — invitation or no invitation — the Northville Township Board of Trustees' chicken will be there.

Township trustees said they were "hurt and dismayed" when they learned last Thursday, September 13 that Plymouth had invited all the governing bodies of surrounding communities, but had not included Northville Township.

Those who did receive invitations included the Northville City Council, Plymouth Township Board of Trustees and Canton Township Board of Trustees.

Township trustees John Swienkowski said he would "pick up the gauntlet and run" as he volunteered to purchase and train a chicken at his own cost.

"It will have to be a Polish chicken," he said. "Because they are supposed to be the biggest and able to fly the farthest."

So, come October 7, the township's "Polish Prince" will be in Plymouth to challenge Plymouth's 'City Chicken II.'

State invites Geake

State Senator R. Robert Geake (R-Northville) has been invited to speak before the Pennsylvania House of Representatives Finance Committee on the various tax proposals which have been voted on by the people of Michigan since 1976.

Geake will concentrate on comparing the various tax proposals such as Headlee, Tisch and the Voucher by explaining how and why he thinks the public voted on them as they did.

The actual implementation of the Headlee Amendment, which the Michigan Legislature is currently involved in, will make up a major portion of his presentation.

"Hopefully I will be able to provide the people of Pennsylvania with valuable insight into some of our accomplishments and our mistakes in this area of taxation."

Big open house

Hundreds of citizens, perhaps as many as 1,000, turned out Sunday afternoon to view Allen Terrace senior citizens apartment complex near the Lutheran church. A city facility, the 101 apartment complex was opened for public inspection, with city officials and residents serving as hosts and hostesses. Special guest was former long-time mayor A. Malcolm Allen, for whom the facility was named. He is shown above with his wife Betty, next to the fountain donated by the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. Punch, and cookies baked by residents, were served in the activities room of Allen Terrace. Several apartments in the building were opened for viewing by residents living in them.

Resolutions adopted

Separate resolutions — one correcting an employee's service record and the other praising the sheriff's department — have been adopted by the Northville City Council.

The employee record — for Martha A. Gross — was changed to give her credit for hours worked in 1967, 1968 and 1969.

Previously, she had not been given credit even though she worked in excess of 600 hours each year.

The correction is important since the service record will affect her retirement benefits.

In the other resolution, council complimented Sheriff William Lucas and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department "for taking significant and effective steps in response to taxpayers' concerns to improve conditions in Hines Park."

Building ban looms in area over sewer problem

de Rouge already has occurred. "Obviously, the only reason the interceptor has not regularly overflowed into the Middle Rouge River," the letter stated, "is the fact that some of the institutions are presently utilizing significantly less than the capacity they own."

Contacted by The Record on Monday, Mosher admitted that the flow of sewage in the 24-inch line already may have exceeded its capacity. But he emphasized that the flow may not be as great as the numbers indicate.

The line was built to handle 11 cubic feet per second (cfs) of effluent. Given the amounts of cfs allocated to Novi, to the city and township of Northville, and to the various institutions in the township (such as Northville State Hospital and Maybury), it is evident that more than 16 cfs already are allocated for it.

Not all of this capacity is being used, however, the engineer insisted.

But even if none of the capacity of the institutions were counted, it appears based on the engineer's own figures that well over 11 cfs is being shoved through the line. And that doesn't include any infiltration (ground water seepage), which local municipalities suspect is occurring and which would worsen the situation.

Chances are nothing will be done about the problem until the interceptor overflows or backs up, said Mosher, who reported that he is regularly warning developers in the township of the risks in proceeding with their projects.

The problem, he explained, centers on the line that stretches some 19,000 feet from Seven Mile through the township to Wilcox Road in Plymouth. This basically 24-inch line not only is receiving effluent from lines throughout the township, it carries the effluent from the city and from Novi. The main lines serving the latter two communities are larger than the 24-inch line into which they empty.

Technically, it is through the interceptor south of Wilcox Road that the two Northvilles and Novi have purchased cfs capacity.

Some estimates show the township could be sending twice this amount through the line.

Northville Township has purchased a capacity of 2.6 cfs.

The township also has leased an additional 4 cfs from the City of Livonia for $11,700. However, the leased capacity from Livonia apparently is of no material benefit to Northville. It is a "paper capacity" only, admitted a spokesman for the Livonia Department of Public Works, Richard Jones. It simply gives Northville permission to use more capacity south of Wilcox...and that isn't where the problem is.

Novi has purchased 4 cfs, and the City of Northville has 3.6 cfs.

Novi has been placed on notice by Oakland County that it has nearly reached the limits of its allotted sewer capacity. Earlier this year the county warned Novi that it had only 600 additional taps available.

Novi, where the population now exceeds 20,000 disagrees with Oakland. On the heels of the county's warning, the Novi council ordered the city's engineer, Harry Mosher (son of William Mosher), to launch a detailed study of Novi's useage of the sewer line.

The Novi engineer told this newspaper last week that the study's completion was still several months away.

The City of Northville was notified a year ago that it may be exceeding its capacity. City officials argue, however, that Northville cannot possibly be using its full capacity because when it purchased it's capacity in the interceptor it was told that the 3.6 cfs would be sufficient for maximum development of the city.

Ultimate population of the city has been pegged at under 9,000. Today it is estimated that the city's population is about 6,000.

Local officials, such as Mosher, believe the formula for calculating capacity needs may no longer be valid, given changing social and developmental changes. That formula suggests .4 cfs per 1,000 population.

An Oakland County public works spokesman, however, said the formula "is just as valid as ever."

Oakland County's "be careful" notice to Novi was based on its meter findings of the Novi line that stretches through the City of Northville and ties in with the 24-inch line near Seven Mile and the Middle Rouge River.

Its three meters are located near Base Line and the railroad, near the millpond and near the connection with the 24-inch line. Oakland does not meter Northville's flow, only useage by Novi.

The new section of Northville uses part of Novi's line. But the older section still used old sewer lines.

Duane Egeland, deputy managing director of the Wayne County Public Works, said there are no metering devices to show exactly how much capacity the township and the city of Northville are using.

Wayne County calculates the sewer use here by a formula involving the amount of Detroit water purchased, he explained. Based on the water formula, he said, several western suburban communities are exceeding their capacity in the interceptor (south of Wilcox).

In the event of a construction ban, two temporary solutions might be possible, said Northville township's engineer.

One, he said, would be the construction of a forced main and pumping station. Another might be the construction of holding tanks, such as used by Novi at Nine Mile, to "skim off the peak loads of the sewer." The latter would restrict the sewage so that it flowed more evenly throughout a 24 hour period.

Mosher said that developers, faced with a total ban, probably would pay the cost of such relief systems.

However, Egeland said such systems are economically unsound. By the time they were built and operable, he suggested, the super sewer serving this area might be underway.

Other officials, however, are not optimistic about the super sewer's chances. The Environmental Protection Agency, which two weeks ago handed down its final environmental impact statement on the super sewer, recommended that construction go ahead in the downriver area but it suggested studies and planning continue for the northwestern suburbs.

"At least if (EPA) didn't turn us down," a local official said.

Egeland, who said his agency will respond to the EPA's recommendation soon but who declined to discuss what that response might be, indicated that super sewer construction downriver — at the earliest might begin 1981.

Meanwhile, warned by Mosher that if he blows the lid on the sewer problem it will anger Novi, Thomson said he can't be concerned with Novi but only with his own community.

"If my letter to the state gets Novi mad at us...well, I don't care. If what we're doing and what Novi is doing is wrong it ought to be stopped."

'Hills' on its way

Developer gets stage II approval

Developers of the proposed Hills of Northville Subdivision last Thursday, September 13, came within one step of final approval of their plans.

The Northville Township Board of Trustees gave the developer, Elro Corporation, preliminary Stage II plat approval, as recommended by the planning commission.

The approval, however, is conditional on the developer's promise to minimize the disturbance of the terrain along the north property line — bordering on some 11 lots — by planting five to six-foot high shrubs on 20-foot centers.

The proposed subdivision would be located on the northeast corner of Six Mile and Sheldon.

Two days earlier, September 11 at a special meeting the planning commission gave its recommendation of approval, but not until members heard the concerns of township residents living along the north boundary of the proposed subdivision.

One resident said he had a barn located 10 feet from the proposed lot line and wanted something to give him privacy from the subdivision.

Others had similar concerns.

Jeffrey Orley, representing Elro Corporation, gave the planning commission his word that the builder would be required to minimize the terrain disturbance by planting the shrubs.

Until last week, Elro had its problems getting the stage II plat approved by township planners.

The developer's stage II plat was rejected twice by the commission prior to last week's approval — which cost the developer $500.

The plan was first turned down because Elro and the Wayne County Road Commission were battling over Curtis Road and whether or not it should be extended from Sheldon through to Beck. The commission members said they felt they should not recommend approval of a plan which had some problems yet to be resolved.

Elro worked out its problem with the road commission, agreeing to pave a portion of Six Mile in exchange for leaving Curtis as it is.

The developer resubmitted its plans to the planners, but had this plat turned down because it did not include the exact geometrics and dimensions, a requirement of preliminary plats according to the township's subdivision regulations.

Now that Elro has received stage II approval, final approval must be given by the board of trustees before the developer can proceed.

Midnight mediation produces contract

It was 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Ann Arbor Hilton hotel.

The Northville Education Association negotiating team and the Northville school district's negotiating team were sitting in rooms adjoining a third room belonging to state mediator Harry Reinfelder, who shuttled back and forth.

Would the teams compromise? Would they, in negotiating terms, "move?"

After nearly two weeks of a strike, the mediator had not been able to prompt movement from either side. At a school board meeting September 10 the board voted to seek an injunction to get teachers back to the classroom. A circuit court date was set for 9:30 a.m.

Thursday. In addition, state fact-finding was set for 10 a.m. Thursday.

Upon Reinfelder's recommendation the teams decided to give negotiations one more try. They moved to Ann Arbor and the meeting began.

At first the sides had no idea they would progress. "Things happened so fast," said board chief negotiator Burton Knighton. "We were hopeful things would roll. The injunction and fact finding were set, but the mediator called us for one last try."

"I guess the time was right for the proposals," said NEA President Barbara LeBoeuf.

Why was the time right? Both Knighton and LeBoeuf cited pressure from the community and from the clock were main reasons. LeBoeuf said the unified teachers put pressure on the board.

Still more important was the uncertainty of the effect the strike would have on state funds for the Institutions' Special Education Program (ISEP). The board did not want to jeopardize Northville's state aid, and it was not sure what would happen to ISEP funds if the strike continued. Special education teachers were also nervous about ISEP's fate. ISEP must provide 230 days of student instruction under the ISEP contract.

"And everybody wondered what everybody else was going to do if the board got an injunction. It put pressure on settling," LeBoeuf said.

The teams worked through Wednesday night and into Thursday. They worked in sub-committees, taking contract language first, salary last.

"It was evident by midnight that there was going to be movement," Knighton said.

By 2 a.m. the talks "broke" and the teams realized that they were — with the mediator's suggestions, — within sight of an agreement. After calls to board members and deliberation, both sides sat down and signed their names to the table agreement at 8:20 a.m.

Other district administrators and teachers who had been preparing cases for fact-finding and the injunction were packing up for court Thursday morning when the call came that a tentative settlement had been reached.

The injunction is now in abeyance pending the teacher's ratification of the contract.

The teachers' 24-member representative assembly approved the contract and has recommended its approval to the NEA membership.

Both sides feel that they got as fair a settlement as they could.

"We agreed that we wanted to avoid the injunction," Knighton said. "We found we agreed on basic concepts. I think both sides have a good contract. The important thing is that we got it done. The language was a matter of reaching some kind of compromise," he said. "Neither side can expect to gain everything they want."

"It was really important for us to get the language (on 'just cause') said LeBoeuf. "I am very happy that it is over and that we stuck it out for what we believed in."

"I had a nightmare," said Superintendent of Schools Larry Nichols, "that if the strike had lasted much longer that polarization of the community would occur."

Strike over

hospitalization coverage.

Teachers and the district compromised on contract language with the state mediator's help.

The board did not obtain its merit-pay system for teachers but it did get language put into the contract which states that "teachers will assist building administrators during the work day in the enforcement of the student code and building rules and regulations."

Teachers won a provision in the contract that teachers who are involuntarily transferred for "performance" reasons must have a written evaluation by his or her building administrator. The district maintains its right to transfer teachers for reasons of declining enrollment, program considerations and layoffs.

No written restrictions of class size were put into the contract. The present language was kept which states that the district will "make every effort to keep class size at acceptable levels."

But teachers gained a provision which allows up to 10 percent of ISEP teachers to take leaves of absence during the 45 days of summer session.

Other provisions of the contract which were changed include a restriction on tuition reimbursement so that the district will reimburse teachers' tuition only for job-related classes.

Also, a change was made in the layoff-recall policy in the elementary schools in which all K-6 teachers are laid off according to seniority and not area of teaching specialization.

The decision as to when teachers and students will make up the lost days of school has not been finalized, LeBoeuf said Monday. Teachers will likely make up in-service days in the evenings, she said. Students and teachers will have added class days by either shortening some vacations or extending school a few days at the year's end, LeBoeuf predicted.

Ask sewer costs

Northville City Council has directed the city manager to develop cost estimates for providing sanitary sewer service to city residents living on West Main Street.

The area in question is both sides of Main, west of Orchard and Caldwell. Part of the area recently was annexed to the city.

Fourteen citizens living in the area requested consideration for sewer service in a petition presented to city council last week.

Should the cost estimates appear reasonable, council could call for a necessity hearing — first formal step in establishing a special assessment district for financing.

Special assessment means property owners would pay for installation of the sewer lines on a sharing basis.

Residency law illegal

Mahlon D. Green, a Walled Lake resident for 1½ years, challenged that city's two-year charter requirement August 20 when he filed nominating petitions to run for one of four council seats that will be filled at the November 6 election.

It was Green who successfully challenged a similar residency requirement in the Plymouth city charter several years ago in a lawsuit filed against that city's elections officials.

Though he won a place on the Plymouth ballot, Green lost his bid for the council post there. He provided a copy of the federal court ruling in the Plymouth case to Poehlman when he took out nominating petitions in June.

In his opinion to the council, Poehlman noted that the late Joseph T. Brennan, a former Walled Lake city attorney, had offered similar legal advice in 1976, indicating that "the two-year residency requirement for election to office of councilman would not withstand judicial scrutiny of its constitutionality."

Poehlman said his opinion has no effect on removing the residency requirement from the 25-year-old city charter.

Although the council directed the clerk to disregard the rule for this election, Poehlman said a future council could choose to enforce the requirement.

He added that the opinion has no effect on a provision in the same section of the charter which states: "Each member of a city board or commission shall have been a resident of the city for at least two years prior to the day of his appointment..."

There have been no court rulings on residency requirements for appointees, Poehlman said, adding that the court probably would have to base a decision on appointees' residency on factors different from those for elective office.

According to Northville City Attorney Philip Ogilvie, Northville's two year charter requirement has never been challenged, nor has he ever been asked to rule on the charter requirement.

County may face payless payday

Wayne County met its payroll last week, but barely, and although paychecks are assured for this week, it is doubtful after that.

County officials, however, are "aggressively pursuing every other alternate means" to keep employees working and to continue public services, according to the chairman of the county board of commissioners.

Although he admitted the near possibility of "payless" paydays or layoffs or a combination of both, Board Chairman Richard E. Manning said he was confident that the county would survive until December 1, the beginning of a new fiscal year.

Manning commended after the third turn-down from the State Municipal Finance Commission for permission to borrow $22 million on next year's tax revenues and use of an additional $5.4 million the MFC will not allow the county to spend.

A suite against both those decisions has been filed by the county corporation counsel and is pending before the State Court of Appeals. Manning said the state Supreme Court has announced that it would not rule on a simultaneous action filed with them until the appellate court has ruled.

He explained that suits were filed in both courts to save time if the appellate body decided against the county petition. "The prospect of payless paydays and absence of public service dictated that we act expeditiously," said Manning.

The payroll on September 7, as will be the one on September 14, is covered by a last-minute $5.2 million released by the state as the county's quarterly due of revenue sharing in state income taxes.

About half the county's 5,500 employees are paid on alternate Fridays, costing approximately $2.5 million each week. General fund workers

School maze starts school days

Now you are five.
Like Brett Butz, suddenly your world is speeding up. One day you go through the agony of having a comb pulled through tousled hair. You wriggle into stiff new clothes and shoes. You force down something to eat. Then it is time.

Kindergarten — your first "first day of school!" — looms before you.

When you are five, it is bittersweet sadness saying goodbye to your best friend Pepper (even if he is only a dog.) Anxiety creeps up as you let go of your mother's hand. What will school be like? How will I know what to do? Where will my friends be? You hesitate, but your mother gives you a gentle push and suddenly you are out the gate, down the street and at the gigantic brick building, Amerman Elementary. A lady helps you find your room and your teacher, Mrs. Kricz, is smiling. And, ah, you see a friend. So she is going through this, too! Anxiety gives way to relief. You've made it. You are a full-fledged school kid. Maybe you'll even decide to come back tomorrow ... (Brett is the son of Mrs. Josie Shumaker, 1031 Canterbury.)

Ticket sale legality questioned

Is it ticket scalping or just an expensive service provided to concert goers? Northville Township police hope to prove that the owner and operator of the Executive Ticket Service, which operates out of Apple Records and Tapes, is illegally ripping off area concert goers.

The owner and operator, Debra Andrews, 27, of Plymouth hopes to prove that her business is not only legitimate but provides a service that is in high demand.

Andrews and a 16-year-old Farmington girl who works for her, were arrested September 12 by Township police and charged with ticket scalping.

The juvenile was released to her parents and Andrews was freed on $100 bond.

Concert goers seeking tickets for concerts at Pine Knob, Chrysler Arena and other places have paid up to $17.50 for a $10 ticket, police said.

Andrews admits that she does charge these prices, but claims that she is within the law in asking this "service charge."

According to the Michigan Attorney General's Office, under the current state statute dealing with ticket scalping, which was amended in June, it is legal to collect a reasonable service charge if the ticket service has received the written permission of the operator of Pine Knob, Chrysler, etc.

Another stipulation is that it must be written on the ticket that the ticket can be purchased at the box office for the price which appears on the ticket a spokesman from the Attorney General's Office said.

"With the written permission of the operator and this wording on the ticket it is legal to sell tickets for a higher price," the spokesman said.

Those who have dealt with the Executive Ticket Service have varied opinions.

"I don't mind paying the money when I can get front row tickets two days before a concert," one purchaser said.

Others said they would never pay the "exorbitant" prices for concert tickets.

Andrews is scheduled to be arraigned at the 35th District Court October 11, but the date may be moved up, police said.

She continues to operate the ticket service while awaiting the court date.

Ticket scalping is a misdemeanor. Violators can be fined up to $100 and or sentenced to up to 90 days in jail.

Repairs urged on South Main

Township officials have joined the City of Northville and the Chamber of Commerce in their fight to get Wayne County to repair South Main.

The Northville Township Board of Trustees last Thursday, September 13 unanimously passed a resolution supporting a letter written by Paul Folino, president of the chamber of commerce, urging the county to at least resurface the road from Seven Mile to Griswold.

City officials took similar action last

"You can't measure the dollar value on benefit to the downtown," said Councilman Johnston. "I know it gives us a big leg up on our tax increment financing," he noted.

Mayor Vernon asked to make the motion confirming acceptance of the offer. He's probably worked hardest on the project. His involvement included an appearance before a federal agency in Indianapolis when protests were lodged against Down River's application for a branch in Northville.

"This is a pleasure," said the mayor as he moved for approval.

Down River is studying the possibility of opening temporary offices. Arthur J. Hayes, president and chief executive officer, said Tuesday that it depends upon costs. It also depends upon how soon the Miller building is vacated. At best it would appear that completion of the new building could not occur before June.

Down River was chartered in 1934. It has 18 branches, two drive-in facilities and its main office on Eureka road in Taylor. With $340,000,000 in current assets it is the 11th largest savings and loan association of 65 in Michigan.

Northville will become the 20th branch office. A new branch will open in November on Six Mile in Detroit. Down River just opened a new branch on Seven Mile east of Farmington Road. The building is the same style planned for Northville.

Executive officers of Down River in addition to Hayes and Wilkinson are: Donald E. Bezzo, senior vice-president; Charles O. Higgins, senior vice-president; Robert W. Howey, vice-president; and Mary Ann Osmond, vice-president.

are almost helpless," said Manning. "Because of need from the legislature which has been in recess, the governor is using the finance commission, the treasurer and every other tool at his disposal to worsen rather than help our situation. I hope, at least, that the court of appeals realizes that we're doing our best even when the governor apparently does not."

Meantime efforts to save money and maintain services include prospects of a shortened work-week, delayed of cost-of-living allowances and deferred payment of some vendors bills, Manning pointed out.

"We are considering every option to avoid the ultimate of payless paydays or mass layoffs,"

Madonna campaigners

Donald DiComo (right) of Northville took the mayor and city manager along Monday morning when he visited Madonna College to confirm his willingness to direct the college's annual fund campaign in the Northville area. He's with some other prominent Madonna boosters. (L. to r.) Congressman Carl Pursell, Northville Mayor Paul Vernon, Madonna President Sister Mary Francilene, Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara and Steven Walters, Northville city manager, also pledged support to the Madonna campaign. Actually, Mayor McNamara is campaign chairman for the Schoolcraft at Levan road college fund drive. And Congressman Pursell serves as his co-chairman. While the campaign does not get underway official until October 9, DiComo has already named Jack McNeely, Stanley Johnston and Stanley Sonk to his Northville team of local campaigners. The goal is $144,400. Madonna College has shown steady growth in the past seven years from a student body of 600 to more than 3100 currently. About half are working adults. The college offers both two and four-year degrees in a variety of career fields. Presently, 75 Northville residents attend the college. In the past seven years some 500 Northville residents have taken classes at Madonna. This marks the first time the college has expanded its annual drive for funds into the Northville area. Sisters Francilene and Mary Lauriana, vice president of college development and college director of the campaign, note the need to broaden financial support to meet the economic challenges facing private colleges. Campaigners will seek contributions from alumni, parents and friends, business and industry, the professions and students.

Police blotter

Couple hurt in auto accident

A Troy couple were seriously injured September 13 when their car, traveling eastbound on Eight Mile, was forced off the road by a westbound vehicle and struck a tree, township police reported. The driver, Moon Lee, suffered a possible broken right leg and facial lacerations, police said. The passenger, Yong Lee, was incoherent with a possible concussion and also suffered facial lacerations, police said. The driver told police that the westbound vehicle crossed the yellow line and that he had to steer his car off the road to avoid a head-on collision. Lee said that he could not tell the make of the car or what color it was. The injured persons were taken to Botsford Hospital.

A Northville township resident told police that he was shot at September 15 while jogging on Beck. The man said he was running north on Beck and passed some men who were changing a flat tire on a green older model Ford or Plymouth. As he approached Seven Mile he said he heard what sounded like a shot and then heard something whiz by his head. He looked back and saw a dark-haired man put something which he said looked like a rifle in the trunk of the car. The man told police that he did not see any of the suspects well enough to be able to identify them.

A stained glass window worth about $150 and a jewelry box containing various costume jewelry worth about $500 were taken from a Maxwell residence September 13, township police reported.

The owner of the home told police that she is "almost sure" that she left open the door attached to the garage. Police found the door frame to be damaged and the molding around the dead bolt had red marks which they said were likely made by some sort of tool.

The total value of the framed stain glass window, jewelry box and its contents is estimated at $850, police said.

The windshield of a 1979 two-door Ford was smashed while the car was parked in the lot at Northville High School September 14, city police reported.

A rock was apparently the object used to break the window, police said.

Damage is estimated at $200.

Two magnetic signs valued at $50 each were ripped off two service vehicles parked at Weskonson Company, 142 North Center last weekend, city police reported.

A company spokesman said that the vehicles were left in the lot at 6 p.m. Friday, September 7 and when he returned Monday the red and white signs were gone.

Geake among those to study transportation

State Senator A. Robert Geake (R-Northville) has been appointed by Senate Minority Leader Robert VanderLaan (R-Kentwood) to serve on an executive committee established to study public transportation services in southeastern Michigan.

The committee has been charged by Governor William Milliken to work on a comprehensive solution to the transportation problems of the City of Detroit and all of southeast Michigan.

"I am most pleased to serve on this committee because I feel southeastern Michigan badly needs a comprehensive public transportation system and I believe that the system finally adopted must be flexible and economically sound," commented Geake. "I do not think the transportation system need operate at a profit, but grossly wasteful plans must be avoided."

Specific issues before the committee include establishing a major transportation plan, discussion of merging the Detroit transportation department and the Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) and locating funding for the transportation plan.

Later this year the legislature is expected to discuss a concurrent resolution which would authorize funding for the planning and development of a rapid transit system in southeast Michigan based on the final recommendations of SEMTA along with the recommendations of the executive committee.

Geake expressed his eagerness to serve on this committee and represent his constituents in western Wayne County. But he again reiterated his firm opposition to any plan which would recommend the construction of a subway in southeastern Michigan.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

by Jim Roth

Wine punches have been around for a long time. The Germans have always been fond of making wine based drinks, and the British, especially during Queen Victoria's reign, were masters at it. Part of the entertainment at a good party was to watch the host make his punch. This is a tribute to the play quality of wine. You can play with it and not have it lose its taste. It also does not lose its punch when mixed with other ingredients.

Why not serve a wine punch for your next party? We handle the wine you need at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. We also have a fine assortment of party crackers, pretzels, potato chips, including a full line of Charles Chips in regular and large party sizes. Open: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m.-10 p.m., Sun. Noon-6 p.m.

Government steps in

Available aid cuts energy bills

Rich or poor, nobody need suffer from the high cost of energy without aid from some level of government. The aid comes in the form of tax relief, loans and financial aid in paying utility bills, or for the cost of weatherizing your home.

There is even a computerized energy audit which will help you save money and conserve energy.

The following is list of government sponsored programs compiled by the Gallup-Silkworth Company of Ann Arbor, a supplier of fuel oil.

—Project Conserve. The Michigan Department of Commerce — Energy Administration, offers a free, personalized home energy audit. All Michigan residents are eligible but the program is designed only for single family dwellings.

To receive the computer analyzed questionnaire call 1-800-292-4704.

Within two or three weeks after you return the questionnaire you will receive a homeowners' report which will suggest which energy saving steps you should take, how much you will save in both dollars and energy and how much energy conservation will cost if done yourself or if you hire a contractor to do them.

—Home Weatherization Program. Under this program a maximum of $800 is provided to weatherize homes, that is "to keep cold air out in the winter."

The program is funded by the U.S. Department of Energy and administered by the County Community Action Agency (CAA).

Your local CAA will determine what type of weatherization is best for your needs and provide the labor and materials to do one or more of the following: caulking, weather-stripping, attic and floor insulation, electric water heater insulation and floor insulation over unheated basements and crawl spaces.

To qualify your household income must not exceed the federal CAA poverty guidelines by more than 25 percent.

For more information call the Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency at 858-5150, 373-7767 or 517-548-1175. In Washtenaw County, Call 994-1657, 996-3093 or 483-2500. In Wayne County, call 326-7045 or 292-2110.

—Home Weatherization Program. This program will provide up to $350 per household to weatherize your home, that is "keep cold air out in the winter."

Your CAA will determine what type of weatherization is best for you and then provide the labor and materials to do one or more of the following: attic insulation, installation of storm windows, caulking and weather-stripping.

The program is funded by the Community Services Administration and administered by the local CAA.

Again, to qualify your household income must not exceed the federal CAA income poverty guidelines by more than 25 percent. Senior citizens, blind persons, paraplegic, quadriplegic, hemiplegic, or totally and permanently disabled persons may qualify for extra benefits.

For more information contact your county CAA at the above telephone numbers.

—The Fuel Economy Program. This program is intended to relieve the impact of rising fuel costs on the poor and elderly. It is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Energy and administered by your local CAA.

A family may receive a maximum of $250 per year with the exact amount based upon need as determined by the CAA. The funds may be used for fuel and utility bills, blankets and warm clothing, temporary space heaters, emergency furnace repair, firewood, replacement of window panes, temporary emergency housing repairs, and fuel oil delivery.

Again, income must not exceed federal poverty guidelines. For more information call your county CAA at the above telephone numbers.

—Emergency Energy Assistance Program. This program is intended as a last resort service for eligible persons whose financial plight has not been met by other agencies. A family may receive a maximum of $250 per year.

The program is administered by the Emergency Services Division of your local CAA.

You may qualify for assistance under this program if your utilities have been shut off, if your utilities will be shut off due to non-payment of bills or if you have trouble paying your electric or fuel oil bills.

To qualify your household income must not exceed federal poverty guidelines. Call your local CAA for more information.

—Fuel and Utility Payments Emergency Assistance Program. This program is administered by your county department of social services to provide assistance for Supplemental Security Income recipients and aid to dependent children (ADC) recipients.

The department of social services will determine a total budget for a family. Within the total budget, monetary assistance may be designated to pay fuel oil and utility bills. The department will make the payments directly to the fuel company or utility.

For more information, call the Washtenaw County Department of

'There's a computerized energy audit which helps save money and energy'

Social Services at 994-1820, the Livingston County Department of Social Services at 517-546-8480, or the Wayne County Department of Social Services at 592-4200 in Detroit.

The program in Oakland County is currently defunct. Officials say there may be more funds by January 1980. For information, call 373-7767.

—Chore Services-Home Maintenance Program. This program is administered by the Michigan Department of Management and Budget, Office of Services to the Aging.

You must be 60 years of age or older to qualify for this program. Further qualification criteria will be determined by the Office of Services to the Aging.

Under this program the following services will be performed: caulking windows and installing weather-stripping around doors, installing screens and storm windows, and installing shades and curtain rods.

For more information about this program contact the Area Agency on Aging in Southfield at 569-0333.

—Home Improvement Program. This program also is administered by the Michigan Department of Management and Budget, Office of Services to the Aging.

This office contracts with other agencies to provide home repairs in such areas as insulation, siding, caulking and the heating system.

For more information, call the Area Agency on Aging in Southfield at 569-0333.

—Residential Energy Conservation Tax Credit. This program is administered by the Internal Revenue Service of the United States and may be claimed on your federal income tax return.

A federal income tax credit is allowed on your insulation and other energy-conserving measures installed in or on a taxpayer's main residence in the U.S.

The credit amounts to 15 percent of the first $2,000 spent. The maximum credit is $300. The credit may be claim-

Counseling on careers

What do you want to be when you grow up? If you are a high school student and you can't answer this question, you might want to sign up for a vocational group counseling course at Schoolcraft College.

The course helps students explore career options and take a look at their own vocational development, said instructor Bob Burnside.

Aptitude and interest testing are a part of the course and students get instruction in planning for college courses.

The course begins September 19 and lasts 10 weeks. It carries two credit hours and costs $34 ($17 per credit hour). The class will be held from 7-10 p.m. in the Student Affairs Building.

Students can register through late registration September 19 and 20 from 2 to 7 p.m. at the Waterman Campus Center.

NO MORE HEADACHES

I used to have headaches that occurred every day. I tried other doctors but all they did was give me bottles of pills that didn't work. Finally I started getting adjusted by Dr. Doinidis. In a short time my headaches were gone and I felt a lot stronger and healthier. Dr. Doinidis said my problem was in my neck and that his adjustments simply relieved the nervous interference.

My husband Jim had problems with nervous tension in his shoulders so he started getting adjusted by Dr. Doinidis also. He feels great so now we get adjusted just to keep feeling great.

Thank you, Sylvia Gotsis

Mayor Vernon asked Chief Cannon what the Public Nuisance category covered. The Chief would look into this, however, he thought there were a lot of garage sale sign abuses. It was noted that traffic complaints were reduced from 446 to 386 for the year to date.

Chief Cannon thought this might be due to the police being more visible on the streets.

He also mentioned the Police Department are making more spot checks on stores that sell package liquor to see that the LCC rules are being enforced.

SALE OF FAIRBROOK LOT: 501 Fairbrook (Ambulance quarters) bid proposal with sale information. Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Gardner to advertise for bids on 501 Fairbrook. Motion Carried Unanimously.

CD SPECIAL NEEDS PROGRAM USES: The City Manager explained the CD grants unlike the General Grants have to meet five specific standards as follows:

- 1) programs which increase housing opportunities for low-moderate income persons, which is unworkable.
- 2) programs which provide direct benefit to low-moderate income persons, difficult to determine.
- 3) physical development activities which serve a specific area with over 50 low/moderate income persons, this has been used for the DDA and library.
- 4) programs which provide benefit to special segments of the total population, which could be used for barrier free in the court building or the City Hall.
- 5) Economic development projects which will insure retention or increased employment of low-moderate income residents of the area, which was used in the DDA.

The City manager suggested using $5,000 for barrier free at the Scout Building in renovating it for the Court, $10,000 for the City Hall for barrier free and the remaining $18,792 to be assigned to the DDA.

Mayor Vernon mentioned City Council has had a response from Wayne County Road Commission regarding participating sharing in the paving of S. Main Street. He stated a few years ago the Chamber of Commerce were interested in contributing towards the paving. He suggested that perhaps a three-way sharing might be arranged, he also asked if some of the CD monies could be used for that purpose. The City Manager explained it does not meet the standards mentioned.

You can bet the consulting experts and engineers will scream when they read the page one story in this week's edition concerning sewer capacity.

But I'll bet there's no one who can state with any accuracy how much sewage is flowing through the parkway interceptor between Northville and Plymouth. The 24-inch line is the only outlet serving the city and township of Northville and a good portion of booming Novi.

Officially, it is supposed to be designed to carry 11 cfs (cubic feet per second). Using the most conservative estimates of how much effluent flows into the single line the total comes to over 15 cfs.

And that doesn't include any infiltration that works its way into the interceptor.

The Northville-Novu sewer capacity problem is not a very well kept secret. Actually, Township Engineer William Mosher has been sounding the alarm for many months. Yet he has cautioned against sending any official written complaints to the Department of Natural Resources. It has the authority to order a building ban.

Quite naturally, Mosher fears the economic impact of any such ban. And he's also afraid that a letter, or a misleading newspaper story, might prompt unrealistic reaction from DNR officials.

I understand Mosher's position and concern. And I believe his anxiety extends beyond personal considerations as a member of a consulting firm serving both Northville and Novi.

But the consequences of prolonged delay in this matter are serious and they affect the community. Some decisions should be coming from elected officials.

As it now stands, Mosher admits that nothing will happen until the sewage being directed into the interceptor either overflows or backs up. He also has informed township officials that relief for the single sewer line extending some 19,000 feet from Seven Mile road in Northville to Wilcox road in Plymouth is at least four years away ... "possibly much longer."

Meanwhile, Novi and the city and township of Northville continue to issue building permits. But each developer, at least in the township, is warned that sewer capacity is a question mark. So the race is on ... first up, first in.

What can be done? Mosher says there are alternatives that might be financed by developers in the area. One would be a force-main through the parkway supplementing the existing sewer. This would require county approval and it would be costly.

Meanwhile, Wayne county is taking its case for more sewer capacity to the Environmental Protection Agency.

Another alternative: more stringent controls on local development until a positive handle is obtained on present capacity and/or future relief.

Next week State Racing Commissioner F. F. Fauri will conduct a hearing at his Plymouth offices so that race track owners may make their respective pitches for 1980 meet dates. He announces his decision October 15.

Northville Downs, for example, will ask for 90 and probably be awarded around 84 racing nights from January 1 until early April. That will be the case if past history is followed.

But a lot of pressure is being exerted on Commissioner Fauri to make some changes in the state's thoroughbred and harness racing schedules. And John Carlo, executive manager of Northville Downs, isn't too happy about the proposals.

He says the pressure is coming from the partners who own the tracks in Hazel Park and Livonia where, unlike Northville, both harness and thoroughbred racing meets are conducted.

Normally the Jackson track owners and Northville Downs split the winter harness racing dates and the "big" tracks, DRC-Wolverine at Livonia and Hazel Park, take over the more lucrative summer dates for harness and thoroughbred meets. Jackson brings its meet to the winterized-Northville track from October until the end of December. Then Northville Downs conducts its own meet until winter turns to spring.

But a study committee, which would win no points for objectivity from Carlo, has suggested that there ought to be "parity" in the awarding of harness racing dates in Michigan.

What this really means, says Carlo, is that the big tracks figure they make more money on the sulkies so they would like to take away 30 nights of harness racing from Northville and Jackson so that dates will be more evenly distributed. Actually, they want 24 nights from Northville Downs and six from Jackson.

When it was pointed out that neither Northville or Jackson have thoroughbred racing nights, someone generously suggested that the 30 dates for thoroughbreds could be given to Northville.

Anyway, the big track boys are doing their best to bully their way into "greener" pastures. And, says Carlo, they have an abundance of political and lobbying support.

I don't pretend to understand the infighting that takes place in Michigan's racing industry. But whenever big money stakes are involved in anything, one can hardly expect harmony of operations.

It's my impression that Commissioner Fauri reaches decisions based upon merit of the facts. And he must determine if there's any justice in the big tracks' definition of "parity."

Speaking for Myself

VIRGINIA EVANS

YES

The most effective method of erasing the evidence of aging is the face lift. Consequently, I feel that every woman in her middle or late forties should consider having a face lift.

A lift can tighten your skin so that you appear 10 years younger. It can remove drooping flesh around the eyes, tell tale jowls and double chins.

The days of keeping surgical procedures a deep, dark secret are gone forever. In the last few years cosmetic surgery has become an increasingly popular phenomenon for those whose lives are less than complete due to modern society's relentless emphasis on beauty and a youthful appearance. Surgical techniques have become so skilled and undetectable that many women who might never have considered cosmetic surgery a decade ago — women who are not necessarily wealthy, privileged or in the public eye — are today finding new beauty, youth and self-confidence in the hands of a cosmetic surgeon. Most women are delighted with the new make-up techniques now possible for them with the help of a professional esthetician who also shares with the surgeon the common goal of improving physical appearance. Krystyna Dziejew Northville

NO

As a Christian Scientist, I think that cosmetic surgery is unnecessary.

Keeping track of your age in any manner is limiting yourself. If you concentrate on how old you are or look, you are limiting yourself.

As Mary Baker Eddy wrote in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," "As the physical and material, the transient sense of beauty fades, the radiance of Spirit should dawn upon the enraptured sense with bright and imperishable glories."

Ginger Rogers, a Christian Scientist has often been asked why she doesn't have cosmetic surgery. She believes, as I do, that the exterior is not the real person. What is inside is the important thing. I am a former beautician and I have seen some cosmetic surgery that was unsuccessful. I don't think that I would ever do it, but I would not criticize someone for doing it. I think that people must decide for themselves. Virginia Evans Plymouth

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

A sergeant acquaintance of mine took great pleasure in whacking the pot helmets of his raw recruits. He did it frequently, at all hours. If a soldier wasn't wearing his pot, the sergeant ordered it on and then immediately gave it a whack with his swagger stick.

"Makes me feel better" was his only explanation to the puzzled and still vibrating soldier.

To this day, nearly 30 years later, the clatter of a whacked pot still haunts me. I hear it in all kinds of places, but mostly I hear it wherever noise is camouflaged.

Noise disguised as music is sometimes called "disco." It is the sound of a whacked pot.

Last January while visiting romantic Hawaii, where the soothing sounds of island music abounds, the Northville postmaster insisted we take in a show called the "Foxy Lady."

"The music is out of this world," he said.

He was right. And it ought to stay out of this world. If I stuck my head inside a drum my ears would be no more ravished.

"Isn't this great?" screamed the postmaster across the table at my wife and me. We read lips. Faces were grotesque colors of flashing rainbows and exploding stars. Smoke swirled and choked.

Boom...screetch...boom...screetch...boom. Louder and louder.

And at a neighboring table a spectator beat his head against a steel girder holding up the ceiling and his companion sipped her drink and tapped a swizzle stick on the table (so help me).

Later, in the quiet of the pounding surf, the smiling postmaster asked:

"Well, Jack, what do you think of the 'Foxy Lady'?"

"It's hard to put into words," I replied, "but my throbbing head tells me she's probably married to an old army sergeant I used to know."

Supports editorial calling for open negotiations

To the Editor:
It isn't very often that I wholeheartedly agree with one of your newspaper's far-too-infrequent school affairs commentaries, but Bill Silger's editorial of September 12th on the lack of "openness" in board-teacher negotiations hit the nail on the coffin. It was the vital spirit of our kids' educational opportunities that was buried under the deluge of paper justifications with which both board and teachers littered our doorways, no matter how judicious their intended objectives.

Perhaps by the time this letter appears, the mystery of what was achieved by the secret negotiations and unnecessary waste of our kids' time and our money during the past 10 days of strike and turmoil will be at least partially unraveled. I sincerely hope so. As an advocate of open negotiations in public systems bargaining, it always has seemed incredible to me when two self-proclaimed "reasonable" sides in a contract dispute can't reach agreement without a strike.

Nevertheless, the "incredible" situation not only occurred, but in the process, what you describe as a seeming "public-be-damned" attitude on the part of the board of education would appear to have damaged the board's own credibility — that intangible aura my former colleagues had been working so hard to restore.

Perhaps the next time there is a choice to be made between openness and secrecy both in contract negotiations and in communication with the public before the fact, our entire system — board members, administration and teachers — will choose the "open" route. It not only will help keep our school doors open, but it also will save us from the just-witnessed "I've Got a Secret" game-playing in which nobody wins, least of all our kids.

Sincerely,
Jim Lewis

Where's positive story?

To the Editor:
I have always been proud of our beautiful city, but are we starting a precedent by installing those ugly asphalt humps across our city streets? Will we have them all over town for our visitors to also appreciate?

Is this method really our only option in controlling our traffic problem?

Will the police not patrol areas with these humps because of inconvenience and abnormal wear and tear on their vehicles?

Will these humps present a problem with our heavy, fast-moving fire fighting equipment in case of fire and slow-down our ambulances and other life-saving vehicles?

'Women slighted'

To the Editor:
I feel compelled to write to you after reading Jim Haynes' column in last week's Record (5 September). I know that he is still new to the Northville sports scene, as I was attending Eastern Michigan University when he was writing for the Eastern Echo. So, I will overlook his journalistic inaccuracy and fill him in on some not-so-ancient sports history.

In his column he made reference to girls' varsity basketball with the statement, "While their history is devoid of winning..." How sadly uninformed he is. I started playing basketball at Northville during my sophomore year and our record for the 1969-70 season was 4-5. My junior year though, was to be the turning point as we finished 7-2. 1971-72 season's record, although undocumented in my book, ended definitely above the .500 mark. And it didn't stop there. The next two years my sister played for the varsity, and losing was foreign to them, too. During the 1972-73 season they finished first in the Western Six with an 8-2 mark. The following year they were 10-2 and tri-champions of the Western Six.

Clearly the girls' varsity basketball team's history is anything but "devoid of winning." How soon we forget. Maybe it is because we played back in the dark, unenlightened years when covering women's sports was considered taboo by all newspapers. Although ignored, I hope that it's not forgotten.

One additional note for Mr. Haynes. He expressed his happiness at having the opportunity to write about winning teams after having covered EMU sports. Obviously he was covering men's sports, as I played at EMU during the years 1972-76 and was on a losing team only once.

Go get 'em Jim.

Knocks street bumps

To the Editor:
It seems to some of us here at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital that your paper's interest in us is rather one-sided. As often happens with the media, you seem to publish only articles that portray a negative aspect. Our hospital seems to get excellent coverage on our 'escapees' or other various problems.

On page 3-A of a recent edition, your paper covered the tragic accident in which young Vincent Estes almost lost his life. There was no mention of the immediate and life-saving response to the accident by our safety department doctors and nurses who were first on the scene.

We remain in hope that some day, someone will notice something good we have done.

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

As we return from our summer recess, one of the first items facing senate action will be the much debated "essential insurance" legislation.

Prior to the recess, the house amended SB 428 to include homeowners as well as auto insurance legislation. That legislation, as it now stands, awaiting further senate action would:

- Restrict insurance companies from using age, sex and marital status as rate determining criteria.
- Guarantee insurance availability for virtually all licensed drivers except those convicted of drunk driving or other serious traffic offenses.
- Reduce the number of rating territories insurance companies carve the state into and limit the gap between urban and rural auto rates.
- Provide a hearing mechanism for consumers to challenge auto rates or placement in a certain risk category.

During the summer months senate Republicans have been making an in-depth study of the auto and homeowner insurance legislation and find several deficiencies.

For instance, I am very troubled over impact the present legislation would have on increased auto insurance rates in our area. Therefore, I, along with my Republican colleagues, am taking a detailed look at the territorial rating systems contained in the amended House-passed legislation.

I also am concerned about the collision deductible provision of the present no-fault insurance law. That requires a person whose vehicle is involved in an accident through no fault of their own to pay the $100 deductible to their insurance company. That problem is not addressed in the present legislation.

I am perplexed over the increasing number of drivers who drop their auto insurance coverage after obtaining their license plates and continue to drive without state required auto insurance coverage. That oversight must be corrected.

In the area of homeowners' insurance, something must be done about the impact the rising number of arson fires is having on homeowner insurance rates. There must be strong legislation which prohibits insurance companies from denying homeowner insurance coverage based on the location of the property.

For these and other reasons, I will be joining my Republican colleagues in the senate in introducing positive legislation which will directly address many of the concerns which you have expressed to me through your letters and telephone calls to my office.

Hopefully these measures will gain the approval of the full Senate and be included in the present legislation when it goes back to the House for further action there.

Workers' compensation, unemployment benefits, public employees' right to strike, civil service reform and public transportation are other areas that are expected to come before the senate this session. I will be outlining the status of that legislation in future reports.

Street 'bumps' spark disagreement

Installation of speed bumps in three locations of the city last week already has triggered reaction.

According to officials, most of the response of citizenry has been positive. And, they add, vehicular speeds definitely have been slowed as a result of the bumps.

But not all residents are pleased, as indicated by comments from Charles Ayers at Monday's council meeting and by a letter to the editor this week.

Speed bumps are asphalt mounds installed across a street to force vehicles to drive slower.

The bumps are located on East — 212 feet south and 137 feet north of Walnut; on Base Line — about parallel with the high school gymnasium; and on Rogers — 175 feet north and 130 feet south of Dubuair, and 70 feet north of Dunlap.

Speed problems and complaints of citizens, followed by a police survey and recommendation, prompted the council's order, Mayor Paul Vernon explained Monday when questioned by Ayers.

(The debate was hotter than it appeared. While council discussed speed bumps with citizens, firemen were extinguishing a speed bump on East Street. Vandalism poured gasoline on the bump and set it afire. No major damage occurred.)

Ayers comments followed supportive comment from Richard Mazur of 227 North Rogers. Noting that it appears the bumps "will do the job," Mazur told council the order "was a good move."

Ayers questioned council about the criteria used in deciding to install the speed bumps, expressing a hope that the action would not become commonplace in the city.

Councilman Stanley Johnston told Ayers the bumps are experimental, and Mayor Vernon noted that there is no plan to install such speed bumps throughout the city. Their installation, he said, are likely to occur only if other traffic control measures fail.

Ayers said he found it difficult to believe that other solutions couldn't be found.

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie said the city has been assured by its insurance carrier that liability coverage will not be adversely affected by the bumps.

In Touch

By Representative Jack Kirksey

With the summer months over, House members can finally settle back into life in the Legislature and look forward to the difficult task of molding proposed legislation into laws that will benefit the citizens of Michigan.

As you may know, Republican representatives in the House have been traveling from Ironwood to Monroe and from Sault Ste. Marie to Kalamazoo as part of a vigorous, statewide "Listen-in" program designed to directly hear the views of Michigan citizens on important issues facing the State.

Prepared with information gathered and suggestions made, legislators are anxious to reconvene on September 18. The session is not going to be an easy one, however. Several extremely important issues — real estate steering, essential insurance, a bill to repeal the State's presidential primary, wetlands, right-to-strike legislation, workers' compensation, marijuana decriminalization and public ethics bill — will be debated and voted on by the legislature.

Thousands of the State's residents are directly affected by what is decided on each of these issues, and all are indirectly affected in some way by the decisions made on all of these issues.

Three controversial bills — one that would repeal the presidential primary, one on real estate sales, and one dealing with essential insurance legislation — have passed the House and are awaiting Senate action.

Public employees' right-to-strike legislation has been debated in a special house labor subcommittee throughout the summer. I served with two other Republican members of that committee and offer a proposal of equal financial penalties for both sides as a means of reducing teacher strikes in number and length.

Likewise, a workers' compensation task force has been meeting this summer. However, few substantive results have come out of those meetings, and both sides will have to make progress soon if any workers' compensation reform is going to be worked out this session.

The next few months are going to be challenging for members of the House. Members will be attempting to shape legislation that will likely have a large impact on the lives of Michigan citizens for many years to come. We will do our best to make sure that the legislation passed is good legislation.

Suggestions and comments are always welcomed.

Please feel free to call my office in Lansing, or write suggestions or comments you would like to share with me.

CITY COUNCIL has been notified by the Lexington Commons subdivision association that it no longer wants the Jaycees' "Walk for Mankind" to be routed through the subdivision because of the litter and damage to lawns that has occurred during the past two years.

AMENDMENTS to the downtown development ordinance, reflecting changes occurring between the time the ordinance was adopted and when voters approved the project, were approved by unanimous action of the council Monday.

Dr. Campbell off to MSU

Dr. Stuart F. Campbell of Northville is attending the fall meeting of the Michigan chapter of the American Academy of Optometry on Thursday in Lansing.

This meeting will have presentations on ocular aspects of diabetes (Ved Gossain, M.D.), hypertension (Charles Rhoads, M.D.), and low vision aids in general practice (C.J. Unjacke, O.D., Ph.D. of Michigan State College of Optometry, Big Rapids).

Michigan State University provides facilities for these spring and fall meetings at Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

Dr. Campbell, who practices at 508 West Main Street, was invited to join the Michigan chapter in 1937 and he was made a life member of the American Academy of Optometry (AAO) in 1977.

AAO was incorporated in 1929 to develop and maintain the highest ideals and standards of optometric practice, to improve vision care of optometric patients, and to disseminate knowledge from research in vision.

According to Dr. Campbell, AAO's "success in achieving these objectives as a scientific and educational association, has placed the academy in the forefront of American Optometry and made fellowship a significant and cherished attainment."

Bertha Foltyn decorates cake for Peace Corps volunteer

Bakery owner's unconquered by rare disease

By JEAN DAY

A year ago Bertha Foltyn, standing on swollen feet, was trying to continue decorating cakes which were gaining for her shop at 123 East Main a reputation for originality.

Her hands also were greatly enlarged, and the 50-year-old widow, already diabetic, found the reason was acromegaly, a frightening disease that, as a result of overactivity of the pituitary gland, causes enlargement of face, hands and feet.

Today, after hospitalization in Boston and delicate surgery, she's recovered and getting ready to "tell it to the Marines."

Bertha Foltyn's not exactly sure how her reputation has spread throughout Detroit, but there was a referral to the U.S. Marine Corps' Detroit office and the order 'has been placed for a decorated cake in celebration of the Marines' 204 anniversary.

Sergeant Major R. E. Bell of the Detroit headquarters and two other Marines recently personally visited Mrs. Foltyn at her shop, Foltyn's Bake and Pastry Shoppe, to place the order.

"I like to create," says the baker-decorator as she tells how she envisions the Marine cake. It's to depict the Marines "On land, on sea and in the air."

"On land" will be the Iwo Jima scene in icing while there will be a base of sea and the Harrier plane "in the air."

The Marine Corps emblem of anchor and eagle-topped globe will be carved out of marzipan, a confection with ground almonds as a base.

Research is an important part of Bertha Foltyn's decorating. For the huge Marine cake she already has found that the first Marine recruiting was done at Tun Tavern in Philadelphia and plans to incorporate a view of the historic location in the decorating.

She also taps local residents for help with projects. A former Marine and friend of the baker-decorator, Mary Ellen Patterson Hollis, already has been involved in the cake design.

There's no doubt that the cake will be a highlight of the Marine Corps military ball November 10.

"She's wonderful," affirms Ms. Hollis as she recalls how she became acquainted with Mrs. Foltyn when her daughter, now Vanessa Deegan, worked in the bakery.

"I don't know how many I've trained," declares Mrs. Foltyn proudly as she recalls the many girls she has hired to work in the shop. She's proud of her all-girl staff "with boys hired only for washing and clean-up."

Cindy Fultz has been in the store four years. There's also Diane and Sue Koppa and Heather Barr. Jane Cameron is a baker apprentice.

Mrs. Foltyn hadn't originally planned to go into the bakery business although it certainly runs in her family. Both her brothers are chefs. Adonis Katopodis is at Radisson Cadillac while Ted is at Troy Hilton.

"My father was in the restaurant business," she continues, adding, "We're Greek and we were taught if you want something, work."

But Mrs. Foltyn was working toward a degree in business administration with an eye to law at Northwestern University when romance interfered. Her husband was a pastry chef.

They bought the Northville bakery from the Leones eight years ago in August. He died less than five months later on the day before Christmas.

Mrs. Foltyn's two sons married sisters. Frank now has Foltyn's bakery in Farmington. Dennis is a mechanic at a Ford dealership. Frank and Roseann live in the Brighton area while Dennis and Arlene are in Canton. Arlene is a baker-decorator for Mrs. Foltyn and her sister too is an accomplished cake decorator.

Mrs. Foltyn's four grandchildren also give promise of staying in the business as Frank's sons now are learning. Jen-

Landmark home to be open

By JEAN DAY

A four-year assignment in Brazil has resulted in a Northville home decorated with an international flavor.

Edwin J. and Ellen Clarke have blended furniture and accessories from south of the border with antiques, reproductions of Federal pieces and Salvation Army "finds" in their home at 548 West Main.

The white house long has been admired for its Federal style. Located on the northeast corner of Main at Rogers, the house probably was built in the late 1880s, Ellen Clarke thinks.

"I knew when we saw it that this was the house for us," Mrs. Clarke says as she leads the way into the living room through double doors. At the end of the hallway matching doors open to the dining room.

Among the mementos on view from Brazil is a framed piece of sheet music, "Sonatine No. 1" signed by composer Almeida Prado, who is well known in Brazil, Mrs. Clarke mentions. It is hung in the living room by the piano, now refinished, that the Clarks found sitting in a church basement in Niagara Falls.

They lived there prior to the Brazil assignment with General Motors.

New in the dining room is a Victorian floral oil painting in handsome gold frame for which Ellen Clarke was high bidder at the Yerkes auction last month.

The room is freshly papered in a Williamsburg-type floral stripe. In stripping, however, Mrs. Clarke relates, they discovered the original paper was a stencil. Unfortunately, having been covered with layers of other paper, it was not in condition to use.

The Welsh cupboard in the dining room holds the Clarks' collection of Waterford Irish crystal.

The Queen Anne style furniture, she relates, gained a history of its own when it was loaned for a Bicentennial exhibit in Sao Paulo.

The Bicentennial commission in charge of the celebration rented an arena in which a Williamsburg house was recreated, Mrs. Clarke remembers.

"A Liberty Bell was fashioned of styrofoam but looked absolutely real. A theater group did '1776' as part of the celebration," Mrs. Clarke remembers.

The Clarks also loaned a high four poster bed for the exhibit. Now it boasts a new canopy and takes its place in the blue toile papered master bedroom. Mrs. Clarke's vanity was purchased in Brazil at a school where disabled are taught refinishing.

Northville home tour visitors September 29 will be invited to view all three bedrooms.

The door marked "Bernie's Room" leads to their son's bright red-and-blue bedroom decorated especially for the 12-year-old with vivid wallpaper. His very solid maple desk is a Salvation Army bargain.

Especially appealing is the peach and soft gray color scheme used for the guest room. It was inspired by the comforter on the antique oak bed. Over the

Kids will love Septemberfest

By JEAN DAY

Northville Jaycees' third annual Septemberfest, an event that features music and "good things to eat," this year also can be called a fun-fest. The emphasis is on children as the Northville Plaza merchants in conjunction with the Jaycees sponsor fun shows at noon and 1 p.m. next Saturday, September 29, in a tent in the plaza parking lot.

They will feature Daren Dundee of Mount Clemens, an award winner who specializes in puppets, marionettes, magic and sword swallowing. The zany fun shows are free with tickets available from Plaza merchants.

"We're attempting to give this year's Septemberfest a family-children flavor," the Jaycees explain, adding that Saturday afternoon events will include helicopter and hot air balloon displays. There also will be a fine department exhibition.

The Septemberfest will open at 5 p.m. September 28 and continue until 2 a.m., resuming activities at 11 a.m. Saturday, September 29, and concluding the following morning at 2 a.m. Throughout there will be band music, including the music of an internationally acclaimed German band that is to perform in Europe later this year.

Champagne flowed at fountain

Past and present members of the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association were invited to celebrate the "turning on" of the fountain they donated to the Allen Terrace senior citizens' center with a champagne toast at 1 p.m. last Sunday.

For the open house at Allen Terrace, the branch ringed the fountain with chrysanthemum plants. They were arranged by June Lafferty assisted by Milo Hunt and later will be placed at the center in different locations. The fountain was planned while Barbara O'Brien was president with Ruth Klein serving as ways and means chairman. Funds were raised at the greens mart held by the branch. Sunday's branch hostesses were Arline Paredes and Mary Platt.

They're moving to Shaker country

Marie Bonamici, who has operated the Sunflower Shop at 116 East Main for nine years, taking over the former art gallery upon the death of the Harold Hartleys, is moving east. She and her husband George Woodcock, artist and antique painting restorer who had Woodcock Galleries in Northville Square, are moving to West Stockbridge, Massachusetts.

"It's a major move for me," confides Marie, "because my family has always lived here. My father (Arnold Kehrl) was born right out on Seven Mile." The move east is exciting for the Shaker collector-lecturer, however, as the shop the couple plans to open on Main Street in West Stockbridge, in the Berkshires, is just down the road from the famous Hancock Shaker Village. It's right by the newly restored Westbridge Inn.

Ms. Bonamici is packing remaining stock of the Sunflower Shop to use in the new G-M Galleries that will feature art, crafts and antiques. The couple has purchased an 1820s Greek Revival house in West Stockbridge and will be moving the end of the month.

October 25's C of C Night

Northville Chamber of Commerce President Paul Folino wants members and friends of the chamber to be sure to reserve October 25 for the chamber's annual dinner. Cocktails from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. will begin the Thursday evening event at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Dante was in on 'spree'

Visiting a buddy in his former neighborhood proved exciting for Dante Ercoli, 12, son of the Robert Ercolis of 3990 Sunbury. While spending the weekend with Joe Csicsila in Dearborn Heights, he became part of the cheering section as Joe's parents, Joe and Beth Csicsila, went on a five-minute shopping spree they had won at the Belleville A & P.

They became celebrities on television as the event was covered on PM Magazine as well as in news broadcasts. Coverage included Csicsila's running practice in the morning and Mrs. Csicsila's keeping time blowing "minute" signals with a whistle on the actual grocery run in which the Csicsilas gained all the groceries he could gather in the five minutes. Dante reports the family will not need groceries for a year.

BPW convention topic for dinner program

Members of the Northville Business and Professional Women will be hearing about the national convention held in Boston at their dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Mayflower Hotel.

Cocktails at 6 p.m. will precede dinner.

Berenice Ellis, vice-president, will be the evening's program chairman. Reports on the July convention will be made by Marlene Danol, Hazel Starr, Dorothy Guido and Dorothy McAllen, the chapter's and Michigan's Young Careerist.

Plans will be made for the celebration of the International Federation of BPW's 60th year in 1980.

The chapter will have a booth of homemade cookies, cakes and breads at the Northville Historical Society Tivoli Fair September 21-22. Marion LeFevre is in charge of the project.

Dinner reservations should be made by calling Betty Jerome at 349-0248 after 6 p.m.

Welcome Robert Smeed and Alex Anderson

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ambler of Northville hurried to Muskegon last week to get acquainted with their first grandson, Robert Dale Smeed, Jr., born September 11 at Hackley Hospital in Muskegon.

The baby weighed seven pounds, eleven ounces and is the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dale Smeed of Spring Lake. Mrs. Smeed is the former Diane Ambler.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smeed of Muskegon.

grandmother is Mrs. Alberta Anderson of Council Bluffs, Nebraska.

Maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. K.C. Whitehead of New Providence, Iowa.

Before leaving for Connecticut, Mrs. Cutler and her husband, James, had a visit from her son and his wife, Steven and Debbie Kirk, who drove up from Arlington, near Findlay, Ohio, for the weekend.

Last month, after attending a National Speakers' Convention July 29-August 1 in Scottsdale, Arizona, Mrs. Cutler visited her daughter in the west. At the convention, Louise Cutler relates, she was one of the speakers, her name having been drawn for a 10-minute talk.

She then visited daughter Susanne Curtis, a clinical psychiatric nurse, in her new home near Laguna Beach, California.

While in Arizona she spent an evening with her husband's son and his bride, the James Cutlers, who live in Showlow, Arizona, where he is a cement contractor.

Alex Robert Anderson, born September 10 in Manchester, Connecticut, has made Louise Cutler a grandmother for the first time. She now is in the east visiting the proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson of Manchester.

Her daughter, Mrs. Anderson, is the former Jacalyn Kirk.

The baby weighed eight pounds, five ounces at birth. Maternal grandfather is William Kirk of Detroit. Paternal

Columnist to open stellar year for Woman's Club

Announcements now in the mail to Northville Woman's Club members reveal that the club's 87th year will be an outstanding one.

Glenna S. McWhirter, whose column by-line is Nickie McWhirter, writes a general interest column that is widely read four days a week in the Detroit Free Press. She will be the speaker for the club's opening luncheon at 12:30 p.m. October 5 at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Program chairman Barbara Willoughby anticipates a large attendance for this meeting which is a guest day.

Mrs. Willoughby and her committee have tapped six local residents for programs for the upcoming year.

Woman's Club, one of the oldest in the Wayne County Federation, meets twice monthly from October through March. It was formed in 1892 to provide cultural programs for members and has continued to do so.

By coincidence, this season's opening speaker will be appearing before Northville audiences twice this fall. She is signed to talk November 8 at Northville Town Hall.

When reached at work last week, she stressed that each talk will be different. As readers of her column are aware, she can relate to women's interests as she is the mother of three. She has a daughter Suzanne, 25, and twin sons Charles and James, 24.

"It was like having triplets," Ms. McWhirter now recalls.

Marriage and the birth of her children interrupted both the pursuit of a masters program and a professional career for several years. She was graduated by the University of Michigan in 1951 with a BA degree in English literature.

She simultaneously began a masters program and work as assistant to the chief of the McGraw-Hill news bureau in Detroit. She returned to work in 1963, joining the staff of the Free Press as a feature writer in the women's department and has been with the paper ever since.

Last year Ms. McWhirter won the Michigan Associated Press top award for column writing in the state as well as the Detroit Press Club Foundation's top award for opinion and commentary. Women in Communications named her its "Headliner" in 1978.

Her readers who clip columns like the one on attending her son's college commencement aren't surprised that Nickie McWhirter is a prize winner.

She previously worked as a feature writer in the women's department and in general assignment, business and on the Sunday magazine.

She was divorced about seven years ago after 20 years of marriage and now lives in a condominium in St. Clair Shores.

Her column is syndicated through the Knight-Ridder news service and is available once a week to about 85 papers in the U. S. and Canada.

President Pat Brown asks members to send in their reservations promptly as the popularity of the speaker is certain to insure a capacity audience.

At the luncheon, the tradition of honoring past presidents will be continued with Evelyn Harper, vice president, citing those present. Eunice Switzer will give the response on behalf of the past presidents.

Other programs following will be at First Presbyterian church. They are:

A History of Northville by Ruth Yerkes Burkman, October 19.

Chinese Cooking by Christine Lill, November 2.

The Christ Story in Art and Music by Pat Dorrian-Sandbothe, December 7.

Christmas tea-musical program, December 21.

"The Minority We Left Behind" by Steve Walters, January 4.

An Afternoon with Ben Franklin introduced by Ralph Archbold, January 18.

Crosstown Exchange Quartet for Men's Night, February 1.

"Vagabond's House" presented by Paula Method, February 15.

Tom Rice, the Gifted, mother-daughter tea, March 8.

David Heinzman on harpsichord and organ at tureen luncheon, March 21.

Fair Lane tea to draw gardeners

Ten members of the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will be enjoying "flowers, friendship and nostalgia" at the Michigan Division's 26th annual international tea September 26 at Fair Lane mansion in Dearborn.

President Mary Keese and Arline Paredes, Vern Daraban, Julie Woodard, Karen Ross, Olga James, Lillian Herbstreit, Dorothy Hartshorne, Mary Platt and Phyllis Slattery have made reservations.

Mrs. Slattery also is serving on the tea committee as publicity chairman.

Tea will be served from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the former home of Henry and Clara Bryant Ford.

Honorary Michigan Division member Mrs. William Milliken has been invited to attend. Mrs. Parker Rockwell, national FGA president, will be an honored guest.

State President Mrs. H. James Renaud of East Lansing will head the receiving line greeting visitors. Members and their guests also will meet 4-H students who traditionally are honorees at the popular autumn event.

Proceeds benefit the International Farm Youth Exchange, a Michigan 4-H project. Ticket donations are $5.50 and must be purchased in advance from local branches.

Mrs. Slattery reports that the home's original owner, Mrs. Ford, was involved in the WNFPA for many years, often remarking that it was one of her "very favorite organizations."

Mrs. Ford was a founding member of the Dearborn Branch and served as national president from 1927-35.

Fair Lane was designed in "Scottish baronial" style and was built facing the Rouge River in the center of Dearborn. The 56-room home was completed in 1915 at a cost of about two million dollars.

Following Mrs. Ford's death in 1950, the mansion's furnishings were sold, and Fair Lane itself was sold to the University of Michigan for its Dearborn Campus. Recognizing its historical importance, the university set aside the home and 70 acres.

Those attending the tea will be able to walk in the two restored gardens and take a short guided tour along the Braille nature trail.

During the afternoon there will be a variety of ethnic music and dancing in the large music room. Members and guests are invited to attend in costume.

Seek donations for EMU

For the second consecutive year Paul Folino of Northville is serving as chairman of the arts, crafts and treasures sale that is part of the Parents' Day program at Eastern Michigan University.

This year the event will be on campus October 6.

Folino again is seeking local donations of antiques and useful household items, including television sets and small pieces of furniture.

Last year, he reports, response was "tremendous." He gathered five trailerloads of donations. The parents' council made more than $1,100 for student help. This year's sale proceeds are earmarked to furnish the lobby of a dormitory building.

For the future, Folino adds, it is hoped a fund can be started to give financial student aid.

Mr. and Mrs. Folino became involved in the EMU Parents' Council when daughter Teresa attended EMU last year. They have continued their interest even though she is not on campus this year.

Folino reports that anyone who needs a pick-up for donations, which are tax deductible, may call him at 349-1473. He will give receipts.

Vows read in outdoor rites

A romance that began in high school has culminated in the marriage of Tamara Hurley and Robert Sweeney, who exchanged vows in a summer evening ceremony at Farmington Community Center.

The Reverend Duane Cuthbertson officiated at the service which took place outdoors among tall pine trees on the property at the base of the hill.

The couple exchanged rings under a daisy trellis as the bride was given in marriage by her father, Frank Hurley of 45189 Mayo. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ann Helmer of 19542 Mann Court and John Sweeney of Taylor, Michigan.

The bride's white silk gown was designed with Chantilly lace overlay. The bodice was styled with lace yoke and Queen Anne collar.

Lisa Ward was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Wendy Reagan, a former Northville resident who came from Long Island, New York, Sharon Hall, Sheree Chenault and Ann Hurley, sister of the bride.

All wore yellow dresses carrying out the daisy motif. They were two-piece with camisole tops and triple-tier skirts with eyelet trim.

Bridal party flowers of yellow and white silk daisies and baby's-breath all were handmade by the bride's step-mother.

David Kelly, a former Northville resident came from Gainesville, Georgia, to be best man. Ushers were Douglas Steele, Paul Shepich, Michael Score, and Jon Sweeney, brother of the bridegroom.

A reception for 150 guests followed in the community center. The couple spent the weekend at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency as a wedding gift from the bridegroom's aunt and uncle.

Both are 1977 graduates of Northville High School. The bride has been working in the Northville ISEP program for two years and is studying special education at Eastern Michigan University. Her husband attended Central Michigan University for two years and has transferred to EMU. He is a journalism student.

They now are living in married housing facilities on the EMU campus.

Federal style house to be open on annual tour here

bed is an oak-framed lithograph. Done in Paris in 1888 it depicts two girls hailing the ferryman. Mrs. Clarke confides she bought the charming picture as it so perfectly complemented the colors used in the room.

Five different woods, she points out, were used in the Irish dresser in the room. The inlay, the antique dealer from whom she purchased it stated, is banana wood. The mahogany fern stand in the room was a garage sale discovery.

There's even a dust porch just large enough to step out on to shake a duster.

Before leaving, tour day visitors will return downstairs to peek into the study and breakfast room.

"Storm Is Coming," a painting also purchased at the Yerkes auction, now hangs in the study. The telephone stand in this room is a beautifully refinished school desk.

Mrs. Clarke calls the rear room with a contemporary fireplace her breakfast room, but it equally well might be termed her plant room as greens fill the windows.

For the past year-and-a-half this room has been a reminder of the stay in Brazil as it is furnished completely with furniture from that country. Focal point is the round table imbedded with white stones with a colorful floral banding all sealed in clear plastic.

The china cabinet was made in 1933, Mrs. Clarke says, and is a "fantastic example of the beautiful woods of the Brazilian forests." It holds a set of Mexican pottery in which each piece shows an individually drawn bird.

"When this was the Hahn house," Mrs. Clarke relates, "I have been told this area was a screened porch. That's why it now is heated by the fireplace."

But the three Clarkes found that the fireplace was most practical when power went out last winter. It warmed the room and also the adjacent kitchen as it is gas-fired.

The room, like the entire home, is designed for comfortable living.

It is one of five homes to be on tour from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. a week from Saturday. The 13th annual Northville Home Tour is co-sponsored by Northville Historical Society and the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church.

Tickets at $3.50 will be on sale the day of the tour at the church, which also will be open in celebration of its sesquicentennial and will have special displays.

They also will be sold in Mill Race Historical Village where buildings will be open. Yerkes House will contain a special exhibit of depression glass placed there by the Michigan Depression Glass Society.

Also open early on the tour day will be the renovated Marquis Theatre on Main. Those who wish to go backstage are asked to visit early in the day as the cast later will be preparing for the live production of "Brigadoon" that evening.

Continuing the practice of other years, luncheon will be served at both the First United Methodist Church on Eight Mile at Taft and at St. Paul's Lutheran Church at High and Elm from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Price at each is $3.

She conquers rare illness

nifer, 8, and Susie, 3, are still a little too young.

They've all been supportive, especially through Mrs. Foltyn's illness that has left her blind in one eye.

Mrs. Foltyn thinks back to last summer when she was filling orders for wedding cakes and such special events as the opening of Lord and Taylor store in Twelve Oaks Mall when she duplicated the store's rose insignia on a cake.

During this period her hands and feet continued to enlarge and doctors gave her no answers.

It was Dr. Earl Milliman, harness racing veterinarian for the Michigan Racing Commission who first suspected the cause.

"Without this man I would have been dead," Bertha Foltyn states positively as she relates how her condition finally was diagnosed.

At Dr. Milliman's suggestion she saw Dr. Ali Behzadnia who at the time was practicing in Allen Park. She finally was operated on at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston by Harvard specialists.

"They found a brain tumor," she relates, "and I underwent surgery to shrink it October 3.

"I now understand this is an affliction that happens most frequently to women who have had hysterectomies," she warns others.

Reached at the Michigan Humane Society where he works part-time, Dr. Milliman was quick to point out that he is not a doctor in human medicine and emphasized that he was not diagnosing.

"I met Bertha," he recalled, "when she and a mutual friend came to the office at the track. We had something in common as we're both diabetic."

"The first question a diabetic asks of another is, 'How long have you been, what insulin and how much?'"

"During this chit-chat it flashed in my mind that for her age she was taking a hellova dose...I knew something was wrong and gave her the name of a pituitary specialist."

Those nightmarish days now are part of the past as Bertha directs her energies toward the decorating for which she has earned an area-wide reputation.

When birthdays and other special events are celebrated in the executive dining room of the Ford Motor Company Wixom plant, it's with a cake decorated by Mrs. Foltyn. A few days ago she was icing a cake for an executive who golfed. The scene included "a sexy blonde in the middle of the lake."

One of her favorite assignments was a cake marking the 150th anniversary of Belle Isle. She reproduced the old island casino in detail.

Bertha Foltyn's name is known by party planners, such as Dolly Rotenberg, who know they can count on her for an original creation. She has designed cakes with computer complete with Tic Tacs for keys for IBM.

It's creative orders like this that Bertha Foltyn likes to list.

Her "credits" include also:

A beer mug decoration with crinkled foil for cover and marshmallow foam;

African safari scene for a cake ordered by a mother to honor a son going into the Peace Corps;

Morgan horse decoration on a cake for a horse show;

And such orders as 16 sheet cakes to celebrate General Motors' Parts Division's 10th anniversary.

These are the creations that make Bertha Foltyn proud. They attest to the fact that "you can be a woman and make it" and "you can have acromegaly and live to warn others about it."

Bertha Foltyn decorates a bassinet-topped cake to celebrate twins

Holidays call for special cakes

'Recycle' old sheets

Remember when sheets and pillowcases were made of white cotton, instead of new, less absorbent blends?

The Plymouth branch office of the Michigan Cancer Foundation (at 173 North Main in Plymouth) is seeking donations of such all-cotton material.

"We can use cotton print material," says Millie Dely, a foundation volunteer as she reports that the present supply of material to be made into cancer pads is very low.

"We service a lot of patients in Northville, as well as some in Novi and Wixom," she adds.

It isn't necessary that the donations be ironed as volunteers will launder and press the material.

Mrs. Dely hopes that anyone moving or closing a summer cottage that might have old sheets will think of the foundation.

Donations may be taken to the Plymouth branch or Mrs. Dely may be called at 453-3010. If necessary, she states, pick-up may be arranged.

If there is a response, Mrs. Dely adds, the Plymouth office will schedule another free breast examination clinic. Those interested are asked to add their name to the waiting list.

Gondas honored at reception after mass

A special mass and reception were planned by Frank A. Gonda, Jr., of 43614 Westridge Lane, and his sister Mrs. Pat Gorski of Commerce to celebrate their parents' 50th wedding anniversary.

The mass for Frank A. and Jessie Gonda was celebrated at St. Hedwig Church in Detroit at 6 p.m. Saturday. A reception followed at the Chalet in Farmington.

The Gondas who now live in Pompano Beach in Florida were married at St. Hedwig September 14, 1929. They had lived in Detroit and Redford Township before retiring to Florida where they have been enjoying gardening, working around their home and traveling.

Mr. Gonda was born in Waterman, Pennsylvania, and his bride, the former Jessie Koprowski, in Warsaw, Poland. They met when living on the same block in Southwest Detroit. He is a retired welder with 44 years of service with Cadillac Motors.

The couple previously belonged to St. Hilary Catholic Church in Redford. They have been active in community affairs. Mr. Gonda is a member of the Polish Legion of American Veterans. He is an avid sports fan, his son reports, and also enjoys math games and puzzles.

In addition to their son and daughter, the Gondas have five grandchildren.

Besides the junior Gondas and Mrs. Gorski, special guests at the reception included a brother, John Gonda, who is 83 years old, and his wife from Waterman, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Gonda's sister, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Zig Balcerzak of Warren.

Antique air show in New Hudson is a dream come true for collector

When Lou Spanberger was a young boy, he built model airplanes and dreamed of flying.

He was able to fulfill that dream as a member of the air corps in World War II, though the war ended before he could see much action as a pilot.

Today, he still loves airplanes, and feels a special fondness for the planes he first learned to fly in the air corps.

The best there was during the 1940's, these planes have long since been retired for faster, more modern models.

But Spanberger, like many others throughout the country, enjoys finding, and rebuilding these old planes, now antiques.

And he'll be realizing a dream come true when he hosts an antique air show September 22 at the New Hudson airport on Pontiac Trail, which he purchased last December.

Spanberger's two antique planes, a Stearman and a Pitts, will be among 30 or 40 antique planes on display at the show.

In addition, Spanberger will join other pilots from around the state in stunt flying and other aerobatic shows from noon to 3 p.m. that Saturday.

For those who want to do more than just look, Spanberger and other pilots will be offering plane rides for a small fee in both antique and modern aircraft.

New Hudson airport will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. that day to allow anyone interested to look at the planes and watch the demonstrations.

Besides stunt flying and other displays of antique airplanes, there will be demonstrations of hot air balloons.

Spanberger said he did not know if the balloons will fly or if balloon rides will be offered, since they could cause problems for the pilots.

Powered hand gliders will also be featured, Spanberger said. A sky diver will start off the demonstrations at about noon.

The event is free and Spanberger said there will be refreshments sold. Airport parking will be provided.

Spanberger, an engineer with the Ford Motor Company, said he's always wanted to host just such an air show.

"The response has been great," he said. "There'll be pilots from all over the state."

Spanberger is just one of many pilots throughout Michigan who buy and restore antique airplanes so they can be flown again.

In addition, some build new planes designed after the older models, he said.

Spanberger said he bought his first airplane in 1964 and acquired the 1941 Stearman when he bought out a crop dusting outfit that had used the plane for spraying.

He converted the old plane back to a military two-seater, and says he really enjoys open cockpit flying.

Spanberger also owns an antique Pitts airplane, which he got in trade for a French plane.

Spanberger works on the airplanes himself and either makes parts for them, travels to Europe in search of parts or "scrounges the countryside."

He said he has a large supply of Stearman parts and many people come to him for parts to their planes.

Spanberger is not a man with a weak stomach, as he enjoys the spins, loops and rolls of stunt flying which are so breathtaking to watch.

In fact, he learned the fine points of stunt flying from Northfield Township resident and pilot, Ralph Feather.

"I fly for enjoyment," Spanberger said, adding that he thinks "barnstormers day" will be a good time for all.

In case of rain, the air show will be rescheduled to the next day, September 23.

FLYING HIGH—Flying was a dream come true to Lou Spanberger and next weekend he will realize another dream when he hosts Barnstormers Day at the New Hudson Airport on Pontiac Trail. Pilots and antique plane lovers from all over Michigan will be attending the event, and Spanberger said he expects 30 to 40 restored planes. Anyone interested in watching the air show September 22 is invited to the free event, which will include formation and exciting stunt flying which Spanberger practices here in his 1941 Stearman airplane. In addition, airplane rides in restored and modern planes will be offered, and hot air balloon owners will demonstrate the ease of balloon flying.

BRIGHTON — In an effort to band collectively to find an answer to the continuing wastewater discharge problem with Brighton's treatment plant, Brighton City Council has unanimously voted to organize a task force composed of city and Society to Oppose Phosphorous Pollution members as part of a short-range strategy recommended by the city manager.

BRIGHTON — An old Brighton building slated to become a new Livingston County bank has been slapped with a stop-work order by the City of Brighton because the banking corporation jumped the gun on major structural renovation without permits.

SOUTH LYON — South Lyon City Council has taken City Manager Paul Meyer off probation and given him what amounted a vote of confidence. On a motion that lifted Meyer's 60-day probation imposed in early July, council members voted 4-1 with only Mayor Joel Allen dissenting.

SOUTH LYON — The Michigan Court of Appeals has ruled that petitions seeking the recall of four South Lyon City Council members last November did not clearly state reasons for removal from office and were therefore legally insufficient to require an election. But the court refused to invalidate the recall election, saying that defects in the petitions are insufficient to negate the results.

SOUTH LYON — A "bare bones" budget proposed by the South Lyon Schools director of business affairs leaves intact all instructional programs for the coming year while trimming some $296,000 from an anticipated budget deficit. But the proposed cuts still leave a deficit of $93,000.

SOUTH LYON — South Lyon Kiwanis Hall has a new owner. Once again the former South Lyon Methodist Church belongs to a local congregation — the South Lyon United Presbyterians, who now own all of the frontage in the second block on East Street. The building, which was purchased from the Methodists by the Kiwanis Club in 1969, was sold to the Presbyterians for $45,000. Kiwanis will have a five-year lease on the portion of the building where the club meets, however.

NOVI — Bill and Marlene Stephens celebrated a "red letter" day recently when the boat they've been constructing in their backyard for the past six years was hoisted by crane and placed on a truck to be hauled to Detroit for launching in the Detroit River. Their long-range goal is to take the 43-foot ketch on an ocean-going odyssey to conduct research on the earth's food chain. Stephens says his only regret is that federal regulations require him to list Detroit as the boat's home port. "As far as I'm concerned that's a Novi boat, and I only wish I could see Novi's name on the stern," he said.

NOVI — While approximately 200 residents of the Meadowbrook Glens subdivision watched with approval, the Novi Planning Board last week voted unanimously to recommend denial of a rezoning request that would have paved the way for construction of an automobile dealership at the southwest corner of Grand River and Meadowbrook.

NOVI — Traffic already is flowing over the new bridge on Novi Road across I-96. Opening was made possible by the completion of the eastern (north-bound) half of Novi Road. In the second phase of construction, traffic will be routed onto the new bridge from the temporary road which was constructed in May to handle traffic while the bridge was under construction.

WALLED LAKE — Alvin Stephens wanted to put his bachelor's degree in sociology to work in helping people. The Walled Lake Police Department was looking for civilian dispatchers. So, last June, Stephens was hired. He may be the only blind police dispatcher in the state.

Township classroom

EDC explanation given here

By KEN KOVACS

A meeting of the Northville Township Economic Development Corporation (EDC) September 12 turned into an educational session on the functions of EDCs and how such a corporation could benefit the township.

Representatives of the planning commission and board of trustees joined five township EDC members in the informational session which lasted approximately two hours.

Al Bodgan, southeastern Michigan director of economic development for the State Department of Commerce, explained the advantages of having a local EDC.

"The purpose of an EDC is to provide low cost financing to business and industry for improvements, renovations and/or new construction," he said. "An industry which wants to locate in the community or one that is already in the community and wants to expand can get financing at four or five percent below market interest rates."

"The EDC therefore provides an incentive for local business and industry to remain in the area," Bodgan said.

"The business or industry can get up to $10 million at the low rates."

Another reason to form an EDC, Bodgan said, is to keep local control of local businesses and industry. "When there is no local EDC, a business or industry can go to the Wayne County EDC to obtain low cost financing for a renovation project," he explained. "This takes the control of the project out of the local government's hands."

"But when there is a local EDC even if the business goes through the county EDC, the project must also be approved by the local corporation."

Bodgan also told those present that the professional staff of the Wayne County EDC is available and willing to help local corporations with any project they may undertake.

The nine-member township EDC, formed in July, 1977, has not been very well organized up to this point and many groups and individuals were not even aware of its existence.

The Wil-O-Mac Corporation of Northville Township approached the Wayne County EDC concerning a project only because the owners were not aware of the local EDC, its officers said.

The county EDC authorized the issuance of $3 million in industrial revenue bonds to Wil-O-Mac for construction of a bowling alley on Five Mile at Haggerty.

The local EDC reluctantly waived its jurisdiction of the project as it did with a proposed plan to construct a senior citizen village on the grounds of the vacant Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon.

The senior citizen project, however, differs from the Wil-O-Mac project because of the county's ownership of the land.

"This is a very special situation," Bodgan said. "Since the county owns the land there is a question of practicality."

"But it is really a co-op project since you (local EDC) have to approve every step of the project. The community still has the final say on what will or will not be done."

The Wayne County EDC has applied for a $30,000 grant for the development of a plan of the senior citizen proposed project. The plan would be done by Vilcan-Leman, township planners.

Wilson Grier, director of the Wayne County EDC and a member of the Northville Township EDC, said that the project is at a standstill until the plan can be completed.

"We are really just peddling water at this point in time," he said. "The big thing to keep in mind is that we (county EDC) have to put a project through 14 government agencies for approval before we can issue the bonds. So we have to get the plan done and then work as quickly as we can."

Members of the township EDC will meet with planning commission members, board of trustees and other local governing bodies tomorrow, September 20 at 8 p.m. at the township hall to discuss the township's revised Master Plan for Land Use.

'Don't waste seniors'

Northville Rotary Club is making plans to mobilize the talents of senior citizens at Allen Terrace to enrich the lives of others.

"Why permit great talents to become dormant and not be used?" asks Rotarian C.A. Smith. "Rotarians feel it is their duty to bring real life and joy into the lives of the fine residents of Allen Terrace."

Specifics of the plans will be announced later.

Meanwhile, several other of the club's projects continue.

For example, through the donations of Rotarian and Mrs. Jan Reef, the club continues to service Northville's historic well near the Ford Valve plant.

Recently, the Reefs financed the replacement of some of the pumping device and the refurbishing of other parts.

Many citizens are unaware that the water spewing from the well is produced by an underground pump, maintained by the Rotary Club.

The Club also is sponsoring 25 students through high school in the Philippines. Last year it sponsored 21 students.

"The reason for sponsoring students through high school is the fact that they live in the outlying country where there is no high school and they have to attend a different district school and pay tuition," explains Smith.

"Also, the club is in the process of developing plans to mark the 75th anniversary of Rotary International. It is accepting suggestions for an appropriate local project."

Built amid fears, I-96 is '79 blessing

we would strangle

By ROLLY PETERSON

"Plan now for the future growth of the area," Coordinating Engineer Joseph F. Wilbur for the Michigan Department of State Highways said.

That was an admonition in 1960 to a group of 40 Rotarians in Brighton. And the occasion was the imminent construction of a then revolutionary means of travel, the expressway.

Construction of I-96 was about to begin. Brighton was no different than other communities along the planned 170-mile route from Muskegon to Haggerty Road in Novi. Merchants and some municipal leaders feared that business districts would be bypassed and central business districts would dry up.

Now, those fears seem absurd, the wild ravings of alarmist businessmen who had little vision and less faith in the future.

Tom Shawver, public information director for what is now known as the Michigan Department of Transportation, remembers the fears of the businessmen and civic leaders. Shawver, a reporter then, went along the proposed routes of some expressways and talked to people in towns along the way.

"They were afraid," he said.

No wonder, I-96 wasn't the first expressway built in Michigan. I-94 was. But for all intents and purposes, they were built simultaneously. In other words, there was no way of really knowing what the exact impact would be of these new expressways. There was no long-standing experience or example for comparison.

The highway department officials might try to allay fears, to speak optimistically. But, as William Atchison, construction supervisor for a section of I-96 between Brighton and Howell, recalls, not even highway department officials knew for sure what the impact would be.

Highway department planners, prior to construction of I-96, overestimated population growth, yet underestimated cars and miles traveled, Shawver said. What they failed to foresee was the multi-car family and the increased mobility of today's society.

In 1960, for instance, population was 7.8 million, number of registered vehicles was 3.3 million and miles traveled was 33 billion. In 1970, population was 18.87 million, a 13.4 percent increase during the decade. But vehicle registrations increased 40.3 percent to 4.6 million and miles traveled spiraled 60.4 percent to 53.1 billion.

"All systems were go when John Mackie was head of the highway department," Shawver said. "There was no environmental opposition. The clear objective was to construct the expressways as quickly as possible."

Construction of I-96 began in earnest in 1960, from Brighton to Muskegon, and was completed in 1962. But previously, in 1956 to be exact, the first section was built, from northwest Detroit to just east of Brighton.

The cost then, of course, was ridiculously low — about $1 million per mile. The last link of I-96 was completed just two years ago, from Haggerty Road in Novi down to Jefferson Avenue in downtown Detroit. The cost per mile of that stretch was over $2 million.

The key to construction was the massive availability of funds. In 1956 congress passed the Interstate and Defense Highway Act. In 1957, the funds for the 42,500-mile interstate system were appropriated.

Currently, Michigan has completed 95 percent of its planned freeway system. Nationally, the average is a little over 90 percent.

Most people probably have forgotten that the freeway system was constructed for defensive purposes. There had to be a system for quick military transport in case of national emergency.

But equally important, Shawver said was the need for a system to serve the nation's expanding travel needs.

"Without them we would strangle in our own traffic," Shawver said. "I think the system has exceeded even the most optimistic expectations."

For those who may have forgotten, or those too young to have experienced pre-expressway travel, consider this: there are 112 traffic lights on the 86-mile stretch of Grand River between Lansing and Detroit. The trip along Grand River takes about two and one-half hours, versus one hour and 43 minutes along I-96.

Even today, with a 55-mile-per-hour limit, travel is faster by expressway than one could have expected going 70 miles per hour (the old speed) along Grand River.

Not all the fears of businessmen were hallucinations. Those traffic-intensive businesses located between towns suffered through the construction of expressways. Some gasoline stations, for instance, were forced to close, due to reduced traffic.

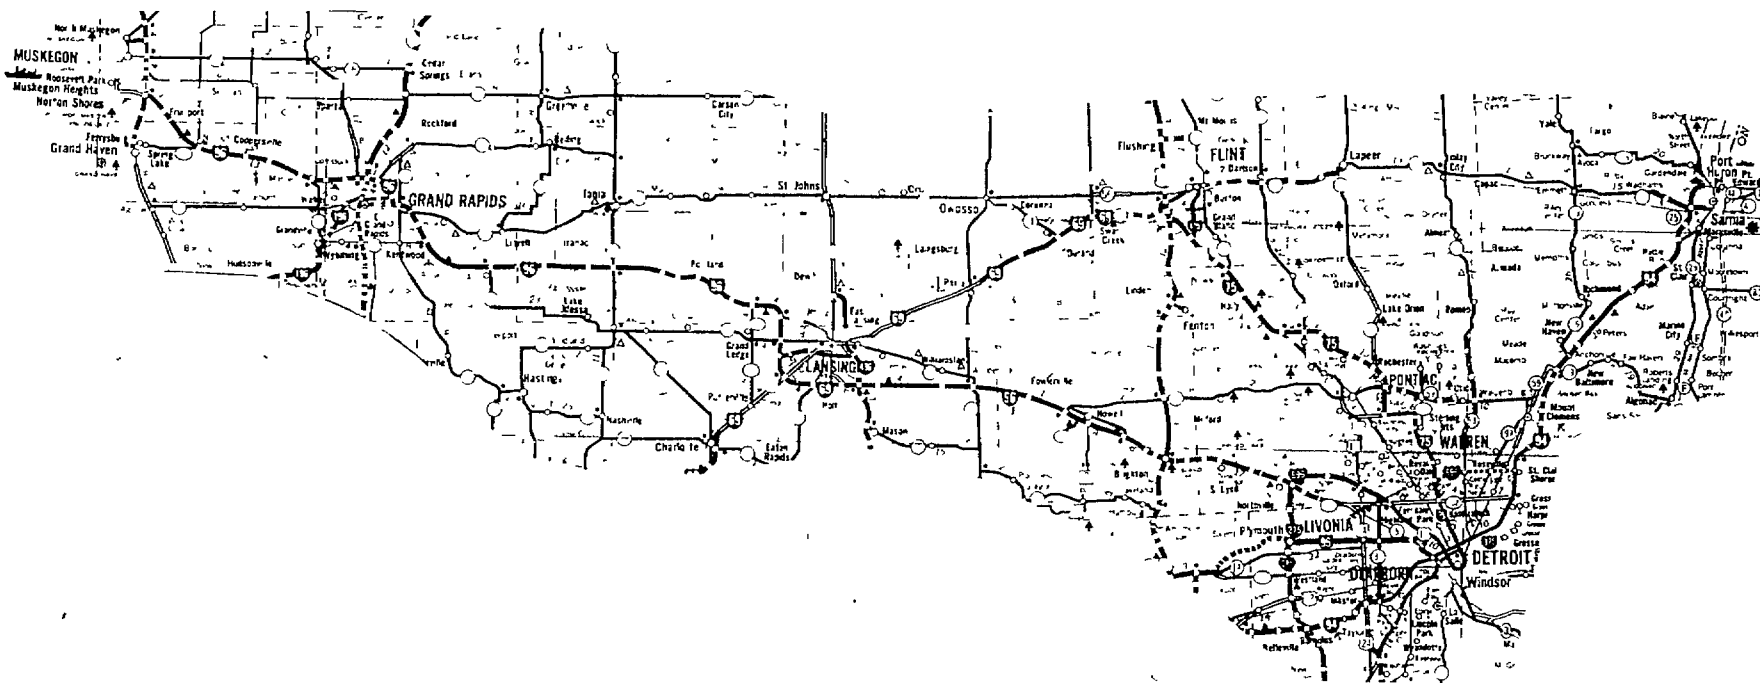

But the bulk of businesses, especially in places like Brighton and Howell and other such towns along I-96, have flourished. All the freeway did was speed through-motorists on their way and relieve insufficient Grand River of congestion.

Today, a new attitude has emerged about freeways. There is more resistance to them, except in isolated cases. Environmental concern is one reason for opposition. Urban sprawl is another. If the freeways hadn't been built, would Detroit be suffering deterioration through population loss today?

But there is a reverse side to that coin. The residents of the metropolitan area are a quick drive from the country, thanks to the freeways. It's a smooth, safe trip to parks in this area in cars speeded along by I-96.

I-96 in this area winds in the distance over hills and through trees transporting about 50,000 each day

The divided highway with the green median runs from Muskegon on the west to downtown Detroit on the east

History comes alive in two-day Milford homes tour

History and antiques are the main attractions of the two-day September Homes Tour sponsored by the Milford Historical Society. The tour includes 10 sites in and around the Village of Milford.

A variety of musical entertainers will perform at many of these sites. Times for the event are Saturday (September 22) from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday (September 23) from 1-5 p.m.

In conjunction with the homes tour, the Huron Valley Arts Council is organizing an historic arts and crafts exhibit and sale on the old Village Green located on West Huron between the Foote House and the Milford Fire Department.

Five houses will be open to visitors. 313 Washington Street. The home was built in 1838-39 by Ansley and William Arms for their parents, Dr. Daniel and for their parents, Dr. Daniel and Eunice Arms. The Arms brothers were merchants who operated the first store in the community, the forerunner of the present day Arms Brothers on Main Street.

The style of the house is Greek Revival. A back wing has been added to the original structure. It covers the area once occupied by a summer kitchen. The Halls discovered a "secret" room upstairs. Mrs. Hall's educated guess is that the long, relatively narrow, room may have been used for smoking meats or drying food and herbs.

The Halls have finished their home with primitives. Visitors will be particularly impressed with their fine selection of country cupboards dating from the period in which the house was built.

Robert and Judy Greene's home at 641 Union was constructed in 1885 by George Dudley for Mr. and Mrs. John Weaver. Weaver was a partner in Weaver and Watkins, Grocers, who built the Weaver and Watkins block in 1897. It is on the west side of Main Street and is standing today.

The house passed on to the Weavers' daughter, Helen, who married E.S. DeGarmo. He purchased the lumber business in town in 1910. The house remained in the DeGarmo family until 1978 when the Greenes made it their home.

Dr. Henry K. Foote, physician and surgeon, and his wife Minerva came to Milford in 1837. They erected a house on the lot at 213 West Huron. The present house was not built until 1858 with wings added sometime after 1862. The house in the late Greek Revival style is almost completely intact.

When the earliest layer of wallpaper was removed, some interesting "writing on the wall" was discovered in the front hall. These messages from the past are visible behind protective glass coverings. In 1978 the Foote House was placed on the Michigan State Register of Historic Sites.

While some people love antiques, there are a multitude of reasons why they don't choose to live in older homes. Consequently the homes tour is offering something unusual this year. Two of the homes on the tour are new.

Gary and Kay Anderson of 2925 Rae Lyn Lane built their home in 1978. It is an adaptation from authentic 18th Century "saltbox" plans. The house has wood siding and wide planed wood flooring in the keeping room — all adding to the antique effect.

This home offers a perfect showcase for the Andersons' antiques, many of which are family heirlooms. One table, given to Mrs. Anderson by her mother, concealed a newspaper clipping announcing Abraham Lincoln's assassination. Those taking the tour will enjoy the substantial collections of crocks, many dating from about 1875.

Jim and Nyla Murphy live at 331 Franklin. Their colonial type home is decorated with country primitive furniture and extensive collections which reflect her interest in textiles such as quilts, coverlets and samplers. Baskets and crocks are in abundance. A painted pewter cupboard is a real eye catcher in the sitting room.

Many of the pieces date from the 18th Century and Mrs. Murphy believes her breakfast room table to be a late model of a hutch table. The blending of antiques with the Murphy's new house attests to a flair for home decorating.

A special attraction this year will be a walking tour of Robert Greene's half-acre formal mum garden at 2895 Wixom Road. Mr. and Mrs. Greene's home, located on the Robert Potts' family farm site, was constructed in 1856, but will not be open to the public. Greene is an award-winning member of the Greater Detroit Chrysanthemum Society.

Jobs' Daughters will be conducting tours of the Masonic Temple at 212 Union. Women of The Order of the Eastern Star will be serving lunch there on both days. This building, originally the Methodist Episcopal Church, was built in 1875 and is the oldest church still in use in the village.

The Milford Township Library, celebrating its 100th anniversary, will have an exhibit of historic documents, pictures and art work relating to the history and growth of the facility.

Tour tickets are on sale at the Milford Historical Museum and at McMartin's Jewelry, the Milford Book Shoppe, The Pineapple Shoppe and Sprint Print.

The cost is $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students and senior citizens. Tickets also may be purchased at individual sites on both days of the tour.

It's patterned after Boston Pops

The West Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra has announced its 1979-80 season with a promise to please everyone in the audience. The music selections for this year's performances are a mixture of symphonic compositions plus pops.

In its fifth season, the West Bloomfield Symphony takes pride in being patterned after the famed "Boston Pops."

The all-Tchaikovsky spectacular featuring the world renowned pianist David Syme will open the 1979-80 season on Sunday, October 14. Tchaikovsky will be honored with the playing of his "Symphony No. 4," the "Piano Concerto No. 1" and ending with the incomparable "1812 Overture."

The regular season concerts are held at West Bloomfield High School at 7:30 p.m. on Sundays throughout the year. The West Bloomfield Symphony's performances are made possible through the support of the Michigan Council of the Arts.

All programs, activities and services are provided by the West Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra equally without regard to race, color, religion, national origin or sex.

The December 23 concert is a special holiday treat with the complete performance of "The Nutcracker." The Contemporary Civic Ballet Company and the West Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra will combine talents to bring to life this delightful story of a little girl's fanciful world.

A "Symphonic Fireworks" is planned for the January 27 concert. The popular "Suite from Victory at Sea" by Richard Rodgers along with Stravinsky's "Suite from the Firebird" are combined to offer beautiful and thrilling music. Opening the evening will be the "Overture to La Forza Del Destino" by Verdi followed by Beethoven's "Symphony No. 7."

Back by popular demand in Don Sinta, saxophonist, for the March 9 concert. He will be playing the "Concerto for Alto Sax and Wind Orchestra" by Dahl. Rimsky-Korsakov's "Russian Easter Overture" opens this concert depicting Easter morning in Russia. Before intermission, George Gershwin's portrait of Paris as seen through the eyes of an American visitor will make you believe you're walking past the Eiffel Tower in his "An American in Paris."

The second half of the program is pure Broadway. Jerome Kern himself, pulled together his best tunes from his most popular musical, "Showboat," to produce an orchestral medley full of nostalgia. As an added bonus, there will be selections from Leonard Bernstein's best-known composition, a modern-day tale of star-crossed lovers on New York's "West Side."

Poet's Corner

Idea of Fall

The chilling wind at August's end
Bids our summer days adieu,
To bring instead an autumn trend
That leads us into winter snow.

It seems as though our summertime
Has been at most, a week or two,
And just when it is in its prime,
A "northerner" comes sailing through!

It all adds up to battening down;
The screens come out, the storms go in;
There are shrubs to cover, beds to mulch,
Winter's comin', you can't win!

Charles E. Hutton

Heaven Sent

I had a little talk with God in Heaven up above,
And asked Him to send me down to earth to a family full of love.
He said "All right, Little Angel, be the chosen one,
To complete the lives of Pam and Don, and Mat-thew, their little son."

I know it wouldn't matter to them a little girl or boy,
But I am sure if I sent you their hearts would be filled with joy.
So get ready, Little One, they're expecting you in May,
I know how long they have waited for that very special day.

So I thanked our Dearest Father and asked His Blessing too,
I was placed so close to my Mother's heart, who was thinking more pink than blue.
The months passed by and anxiously my family one by one,
First they thought a daughter, then "No" probably a son.

Finally, May 31st, God said this has to be the day,
We've kept them in suspense so long, so we began to pray.
And when Dad told Mom we've got a little girl,
She began to laugh and cry, she really was in a whirl.

So in the last verse of this poem,
I feel I've completely filled our home,
With love and happiness, as I turned out to be
Their precious little daughter, oh yes, my name is Deanna Marie.

Oh: I forgot to tell you Grandma is writing this for me,
For she and Grandpa loves us all, you know their "Grandsons Three"
So now they have the 4 of us Chris, Matthew, and Danny too,
But Grandma had that little prayer that God answered, which turned out Pink not Blue — ME.

Day In, Day Out

Each day is a lifetime;
At dawn we are born anew.
We greet each morning's freshness
With hope and strength to view.

We meet the daily challenge
Of the tests that come our way,
And in the glow of sunset
We rest at close of day.

We do not fear the darkness
Of the night, and sleep serene
In the faith, that with the morning
We will wake to live again.

Charles E. Hutton

For All Time

The hillside is silent, green fragrant grass enveloping all.
One senses quiet, peaceful life...
an awakening of spirit.
There is found a realization of today...new...
with no need to look for tomorrows.
They will come in their own time and place...
ever revolving with the seasons...
ever changing...
entwined with all the moments...
throughout all of life...

Patricia Kotlarczyk

Expanded Energy

I used to keep a poem in print —
Now readers miss the brilliant glint;
For slowly I started a change
To find a deeper, better range.

On First Looking Into Tolkien's "The Lord Of The Rings"

(For J.R.R. Tolkien, who restored my sense of childhood wonder)

Long had I dwelt in my burrow within,
And many secret sights and sorrows known;
How many of the "Wise" had I outgrown,
Who declared I took after Mad Baggins!
Oft had I dreamt of strange and wild mountains,
That dewy-eyed children claimed as their own;
Yet recovered I not their treasured touchstone
'Til I found Tolkien — and dove in his fountains.
Then felt I like wonder-struck Frodo, entranced
By the chanting in rippling High-Elven;
Or when, gazing in silence toward unknown lands,
He beheld his perilous Road — ahh, such peace, when
Blessed by the Light from the White Lady's hands,
I rest, in the garden of Lorien.

—Raghudas (Robbie Clarke)

THE DOINIDIS CHIROPRACTIC Life Center is now accepting patients at 41616 West Ten Mile in the Novi-Ten Shopping Center at the corner of Ten Mile and Meadowbrook Road in Novi.

The life center is under the direction of Dr. Nicholas Doinidis, a 1974 graduate of Oakland University who attained his doctor of chiropractic degree from the Life Chiropractic College in Marietta, Georgia, in 1978. Dr. Doinidis was a magna cum laude graduate of the Georgia college.

After receiving his degree, Dr. Doinidis worked as an associate at the Cartwright Chiropractic Life Center in Dearborn Heights before leaving earlier this year to establish his own practice.

He is a member of the International Chiropractors Association and the Michigan Chiropractic Council.

The philosophy behind chiropractic medicine is that the body is a self-healing organism. The chiropractor adjusts segments of the spine to relieve nerve tension and permit the body to heal itself.

Dr. Doinidis announced that he will be speaking on chiropractic medicine in his Novi office every Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. There is no charge for the series of seminars and lectures.

Dr. Doinidis also announced that he will operate the new life center under the philosophy that everyone deserves good health care at a reasonable price. He said it will be a service-oriented practice.

Office hours are from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 3-7 p.m. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Office hours on Tuesday and Thursday are 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Appointments are available at 348-7530.

MARILYN PRETTY, a Novi resident and Realtor Associate with One Way Realty's north Livonia office, has reached another significant plateau in her career. For the first six months of 1979, Mrs. Pretty's sales have exceeded $1 million.

MARILYN PRETTY

One Way Realty President Richard Halmekangas indicated that only a select few of the thousands of real estate sales people ever attain this $1 million status within a calendar year, yet Mrs. Pretty has exceeded this amount by the mid-year mark.

Success, however, is nothing new to Mrs. Pretty, according to Halmekangas. Her previous career in nursing was both challenging and rewarding, and she finds the experience and training transferable to her many real estate clients.

Halmekangas added that Mrs. Pretty's tenacious determination and unwavering loyalty to her clients has greatly assisted her in achieving the phenomenal sales volume.

In addition to Wood, other officers of the bank include Gary J. Cortner, second vice-president and cashier and Mary Lou Arnoldy, operations officer. The board of directors of the new bank includes Wood, Thomas H. Dooley, Paul L. Hussey, Gerald V. MacDonald, and Donald D. Staver, all officers of Manufacturers.

Lawmaking speed up gets AG green light

By WARREN M. HOYT

Senate for full debate and a vote.

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley gave the green light to a proposed rule which could speed up the legislative process by guaranteeing committees take action on bills within 60 days.

The amendment to the Senate rules — governing principles under which the chamber operates — would require committee chairmen to take some action on each piece of legislation referred to that committee.

The proposed rule change is just another in a long string authored by Senate Majority Leader William Faust of Westland who has dedicated his leadership to giving the body more credibility and make the process more open to the public and the press.

Faust had asked the attorney general whether the proposed rule would be constitutional.

Not only would such a rule be allowed, but Kelley added such a rule could be suspended bringing legislation before the entire Senate for consideration prior to the 60-day limitation.

Kelley noted the separate houses of the Legislature have sole control over its operating rules.

The only restriction the Constitution puts on the rules is a prohibition against any rule that would prevent legislators from discharging a bill from committee.

Faust sought the opinion before taking the rule change to the Senate to head off any questions of constitutionality. The rule would prohibit committee chairmen from "sitting" on legislation because of their personal feelings.

Historically, committee chairmen have been able to hold up legislation indefinitely or until they could get favorable action in another committee on their own pet pieces of legislation.

The rule change would guarantee that every piece of legislation with merit would be taken before the full

When you put 148 heads together — the number of members in the Michigan Legislature — and there is a need to find new sources of funds, you never know what may be the subject of taxes.

The latest effort by Representative George Montgomery (D-Detroit), chairman of the House Taxation Committee, is a tax on negotiated instruments — checks, money orders, travellers checks and other negotiable instruments.

Hearings are scheduled on a bill establishing a 10 cent tax on all negotiable instruments presented for payment.

The proposed tax could raise a potential $50 to $150 million per year. Montgomery says the money could be a means of financing home heating assistance and help stave off the need for budget cuts.

A measure designed to give communities "a fighting chance" when businesses close or relocate is being readied for fall introduction by Representative Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor), chairman of the House Labor Committee.

The bill is designed to help communities cope with the negative impact — unemployment, loss of tax revenue, health problems — a plant closing can have.

The measure will require a business to give a community notice of at least two years before closing or relocating, establish community service committees to help find ways to maintain employment and require severance pay for all employees losing their jobs as a result of the closing.

Bullard said not only does a closing effect the town economically — through unemployment, tax loss, lower retail sales — but the physical and mental health of a community suffers as well.

Netters win; remain unbeaten

The match wasn't going well. Debbie Spade and Jana Holloway had been moved back from second doubles to third in a disciplinary move and were determined to show that they deserved to have their old niche back. But determination and actual performance are two different things.

Brighton's Susan Wellsand and Melinda Byers were more than a match for the two Mustangs at the beginning of the competition. Holloway and Spade, used to stronger opponents, were overreacting on their returns of the soft lobs from the Brighton team. Soon anger and frustration began creeping into the features of the two Northville players. The first set ended with Brighton 5-7 winners.

Holloway and Spade quietly talked strategy during the break between sets. They came back more determined than ever to win.

Spade began pulling them up. Her serves were starting to hit home and the Brighton team let ace after ace go by. Holloway was starting to return the soft shots accurately and soon the tide had turned. The Mustangs took the second set 6-2.

With their confidence back, the third set was no contest. Spade and Holloway shut Brighton out 6-0.

The win was one of six that Northville earned over the Bulldogs Friday. Brighton came into the match with a 4-0 mark and the reputation as a pretty tough outfit.

ponent, Tammy Makinen, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1.

Eve Engelmeyer had a little more trouble with her opponent. Maureen O'Dowd tried to lob her way to victory, sending high arching mortar shot after mortar shot to Engelmeyer who coolly returned them, fighting fire with fire. She snuffed O'Dowd's flame 7-5, 6-1.

Lisa Gejoff was the only non-victor for Northville. She took the first set against Brighton's Julie Renterghem 6-3, but dropped the second 6-1. The third and deciding match was a 6-2 victory for Renterghem.

At fourth singles Sherrie Robbins survived a steady state of scare as she defeated her opponent, Ann Lebsch, in two tough sets, 6-4, 7-5.

Jenny Missel and Kim Hubbard were the new second doubles team for the meet. They defeated Brighton's Kristi West and Ann Vantieni 6-2, 7-5.

The first doubles team, Lynn Herald and Stephanie Colovas, was the last to see action and they survived a first-set scare to defeat Brighton's Claudia Crevier and Mary Kay Kroth 7-5, 6-3.

Even the Mustang JV were victorious. Kim Smith and Sue Smith at singles won 8-5 and 8-2, respectively. Lori Kormanis and Kathy Phillips won their doubles match 8-2 while Tracy Wool and Kathy Montgomery won 8-4. Maureen Naszradi and Colleen McCormick lost their doubles match 4-8.

Gridders lose heartbreaker

After over two hours of hard-hitting, fast-action, big-play football, the outcome of the contest would be decided by one play.

With the score 21-20 in favor of John Glenn High School, Northville quarterback Dave Greer returned to the huddle after two straight time-out conferences with head coach Dennis Colligan. The ball was on the Glenn three-yard line. A play earlier Greer had carried three Glenn defenders into the end zone for a touchdown in overtime. Now the Mustangs had the option of kicking the point-after-touchdown and sending the game into a second overtime period or attempting to score a two-point conversion and winning. They chose to go for two.

Greer leaned in over the center and barked out the signals. The ball was snapped. He rolled right but Glenn defenders welled up like a white wall. He reversed his field and rolled left but the defenders were there too. He spotted tight end Rob Marzonie alone underneath the goal post and fired the ball. It sped on a line just past his outstretched fingertips and bounced to the ground incomplete. The game was over. Glenn had won.

Glenn had opened the game as if Northville were just a scrimmage partner. Northville received the opening kickoff and ran three straight plays nowhere. The Mustangs punted to Glenn who proceeded to control the ball for the entire first quarter on one drive. It culminated in a 20-yard touchdown pass. The point-after-touchdown (PAT) was good and Glenn led 7-0 going into the second quarter.

Glenn kicked off to the Mustangs. Joe Hamp caught the ball at the ten-yard line and raced up an alley in the middle until he was brought down on the Glenn 30-yard line. But the play was called back because of a clipping penalty against Northville. After three short plays the Mustangs punted.

SIDELINES

By Jim Haynes

They should have won

Like two ancient Greek armies, the football teams lined opposite ends of the field. While appearing to busy themselves with pre-game warm-ups, the teams roared and bellowed out cadence in an attempt to psych their opponents out and themselves up. What followed was a battle that matched any games in my memory for excitement and action.

John Glenn was much larger than Northville. Four of the Glenn players were 6'3" and weighed over 200 pounds. The biggest player on Northville's squad is Paul Luiki who stands at 6'2" and 195 pounds. But size isn't just a physical measurement. How can you measure the size of a player's heart? On this night, Northville's and Glenn's hearts were evenly matched in size.

The game evolved into a 14-14 tie at the end of the regulation time. The overtime period was a tension-filled edge-of-the-seat experience that had the crowd standing and sitting in unison as if a gigantic electric cord were connected to us as a whole. When the juice was turned on, Glenn's score and Northville's almost-win, the crowd stood as one. When the regular game ended and when Northville failed to score the two-point conversion that would win the game, the crowd sank together as if someone pulled the plug.

While I have a clear memory of the game's events, various observations stand out in my mind above others. Joe Hamp, for instance. The official stats state that he gained 88 yards on 22 carries. The stats don't explain that he must have had over 150 yards including the lateral runs that are a part of every Hamp carry. One typical Hamp running play, he would get the handoff from Greer, sweep either end, cut into the middle, give a leg to a tackler and then take it away at the last instant, cut back to the outside, run forward for 10 yards, cut back to the side, run five yards in the opposite direction, turn up field once again and finally, with six of the opponents hanging on to him, fall. His net yardage on the run: five yards rushing. Except for Hamp, the Mustang offense was an occasional pass connection from Greer to Dan Gohman. The other Mustang running backs seemed to lack the quickness that Hamp has and as a result, struggled forward for three or four yards and then were tackled.

Bob Boshoven isn't large. He doesn't strike you as a tough individual. He always has a pleasant smile and a nice easy manner. So I was surprised when I saw the change in him once he manned his linebacker post. He brought down the Glenn runners all alone on a number of occasions. Like a small cobra, he would parallel the runners lateral course and then spring the moment the unsuspecting runner cut up field. Wrapping himself around the runner like the monster did in the movie "Alien", Boshoven smothered the enemy.

This Northville team has pride. They are winners. There wasn't a hint of defeat in their eyes as they walked off of that field Friday night. There was instead a fire of disappointment, a burning regret that they weren't the winners in the affair. They played as if they were. And they will prove to be yet this season. Glenn has a strong team and the Mustang players know that. They also know that if they could come that close, in fact, with the exception of one play, were the winners in terms of outplaying Glenn, the Western Six league had best watch out.

Glenn proceeded to march down the field to the Northville 18-yard line. On the next play the Glenn quarterback tried to pitch the ball to his tailback on the option but Mustang Steve Ward got his hand on it and Bob Boshoven recovered it for Northville.

The Mustangs managed to make one first down but had to punt after the drive stalled. Glenn's drive stalled also and Northville got the ball back again. After the first two plays of the series went for short distance, Greer dropped back and let loose a long pass intended for Gary Kucher. Instead a Glenn defender caught the ball for an interception. Northville's defense held and again Glenn punted. With 1:28 showing in the half, Northville went to work.

Hamp gained five yards on a sweep to the right. Greer and Kucher connected on a pass to the Glenn 20-yard line and Hamp ran again, this time to the Glenn 12. Hamp gained another eight yards on the next play for a first down. Greer tried to hit Marzonie in the end zone with a pass but it fell short. Jim Malard next carried the ball to the three-yard line. Then, with less than 20 seconds in the half, Hamp dove in from the three to give the Mustangs a score. Jim Thomson kicked the PAT and the score stayed 7-7 to halftime.

Glenn took the second-half kickoff and ran itself into the ground after three plays. They punted and Northville took over on their own 44-yard line. The Mustangs had just as much trouble mounting an attack and they had to punt after three plays. Glenn took over and stalled before they got started. Northville took the punt on its own 22-yard line.

On second down and seven yards to go for a first, Hamp took the ball and raced to the 45-yard line. Two quick plays later, Greer found Dan Goehman in traffic up the middle and hit him with a pass for a first down on Glenn's 27-yard line. If it worked well once, it would work again Greer reasoned and on the next play he hit Goehman in the end zone for a 27-yard touchdown strike. After Thomson's kick Northville led 14-7.

The course of the game stayed steady for the next twenty minutes as both sides traded punts after drives stalled. Then, with 5:01 remaining in the game, Glenn took a Northville punt and began a drive that was aided by a Northville pass interference call. That gave Glenn possession on the Mustangs' 33-yard line. After two running plays, Glenn quarterback Pat Bennett dropped back and spotted receiver Pat Lydell alone in the corner of the end zone. Bennett drilled a pass 25 yards into the waiting arms of Lydell. After the PAT kick, the score was tied at 14-14.

Northville took the kick and started from its own 30-yard line. After three plays the drive stalled and the Mustangs had to kick. But Glenn swarmed Thomson and the punt attempt was blocked. Glenn took the ball and marched down to the Northville 21-yard line. There, with third down and two yards to go, Glenn failed to call a time out for a field-goal attempt (there then an overtime period begins. Each team has four plays from their opponent's 10-yard line in which to score a touchdown or kick a field goal. If, after the overtime period has ended and the score still remains tied, then a second overtime period will be played.

Northville won the toss and elected to defend first. Glenn set up on Northville's 10-yard line. Glenn running back Scott Thornton carried on the first play and ran to the six-yard line. He gained four more yards on the second carry and one on a third. With fourth-down and goal to go, Thornton again carried, this time into a wall of Mustang defenders at the goal line, but the referee ruled that he had crossed the line for a touchdown. The kick was good and Glenn led 21-14.

Northville then set up on the Glenn 10-yard line. Hamp carried and gained three yards down to the Glenn seven. Hamp carried on the next play also, but slipped as he was rounding left end and was down on the seven. Greer dropped back on the next play and threw a ball to Dave Ward in the end zone that was incomplete. With fourth down and the ball on the seven, Greer took the snap, stood up straight to find a receiver, saw that they were all covered, rolled to the right, looked for a receiver and again saw that they were covered, and with no other option, lowered his head and charged straight for the goal line. One Glenn defender jumped on his back. Another wrapped himself around Greer's waist. A third then leaped on top but not one tried to stop Greer's legs which kept churning into the end zone for the touchdown. Northville called time out and Greer went to the sideline and conferred with Colligan. That set the stage for the ill-fated two-point conversion play that gave Glenn the game.

"I have no second thoughts on the play (two-point conversion). I would have run the same thing. We wanted to win the ball game. We did not want to go into another overtime period," Colligan said. "The final play was an option pass play. Greer had three options: one, he was instructed to run if at all possible; two, he was to look for the tight end on a hook pattern; third, he was to look for the flanker on the corner or the split end in the middle. I've never seen a high school kid keep his cool the way Greer did when all of his options were out. As it turned out, he spotted Rob Marzonie in the clear and just missed by six inches with a pass. Greer did everything we asked. Glenn just did a super job of stopping us.

"I chose to defend first in the overtime period because if we stopped Glenn and they kicked a field goal, we would know what we had to do to win. The pressure would be on them in a fourth and two situation as to whether they should kick a field goal or go for a touchdown. It was a hard-hitting game. John Glenn had the ball on offense for 52 plays and gained 192 yards. 72 of those yards were gained in their first drive. We had the ball for 49 plays and gained 190 yards. You can't get much more even than that. They had two big breaks on the last touchdown drive; a pass interference call and a breakdown in our pass coverage that gave them a 25-yard touchdown pass. I'm not real disappointed. Our kids played like winners."

Hamp led the Mustangs in rushing as he gained 88 yards on 22 carries and scored a touchdown. Glenn's Thornton carried the ball 29 times for 102 yards. Greer connected on four of 10 passes for 68 yards and a touchdown. He also scored one running.

The next Mustang action will be on Saturday at Farmington Harrison. Game time is slated for 4 p.m. Harrison is the early season favorite to win the league title. Northville has yet to beat them.

Hoopsters drop thriller to Novi

The Northville girls varsity basketball team picked up where it left off last year by dropping its first three contests of the new campaign. Last year the Mustangs failed to win a game.

So far Northville has dropped contests to Crestwood, South Lyon and Novi.

Northville travelled to the land of the Wildcat Monday night. It was to be a battle of no-wins as neither team had a victory in the young season.

Novi came out on top 36-33. The game was a close struggle throughout as each team traded leads in each quarter.

Novi led at the half 17-15. The most exciting moments of the game came within the last minute of play. Northville battled to come from behind and tie the contest at 33-33 with 25 seconds left to play. But Novi's Tracy Sobkow sank three free throws in that time to win it for the Wildcats.

Sobkow led Novi with 13 points and 12 rebounds. Jacque Nixon was the ace of the Mustang offense as she gunned in 14 points. Sandra Flannigan added nine.

"We've improved," Northville coach Dave Schoopp said. "We're coming along. We're getting more aggressive under the boards, Stacey Hoover especially. She's learning. Sandra Flannigan also.

"It's a question of not being able to score in the important parts of the game. I don't think we were beaten, we were just wore down at the end. We need more consistency in our scoring. We also had 37 turnovers. That hurt us."

Against Crestwood, Nixon scored 16 points. Lori Mitchell and Kim Kurzawa each added four. Lisa Bonza was a one-woman army for the winners. She hit for 21 points.

Nixon had 17 points against South Lyon. Mitchell and Hoover each had four.

The Northville JV are off to a good start. They are currently 3-0 after beating the Novi JV 43-29. The team also beat Crestwood's JV 24-19 and South Lyon's JV, 30-11.

Against Novi, Melissa McDaniel earned 16 points while Melinda House added 14. JuAnn Tuttle chipped in with eight points. The Mustangs dominated the game as they led 14-8 after the first quarter, 26-14 the second frame, 30-21 the third and finally, 43-29.

Doug Harding

Harding is at Ferris

In contention for a starting role at linebacker on Ferris State College's 1979 football team is Doug Harding, a sophomore from Northville.

Harding was a spot starter during the 1978 season, winning his first varsity letter. He was in on 28 tackles last year including 10 in the Bulldogs' 28-7 win over Michigan Tech. Doug is one of several players hoping to fill the spot at off linebacker voided by the graduation of 1978 team MVP Bruce Biebuyck.

The 6-3, 196-pound Harding is a graduate of Northville High where he was an all-conference performer in both football and basketball.

Ferris, which has its home opener with Michigan Tech on September 15, has been picked to finish third in this season's Great Lakes Conference race. Last year, Coach Nick Coso's squad placed fourth in the GLIAC and finished the season with a 3-5-2 overall record.

Harding majors in Criminal Justice at Ferris. He is the son of Louis and Janet Harding, 42363 Beacontree Court in Northville.

Biery wins tourney

Richard Biery, formerly of Northville, came in fourth at the Hughes Invitational Golf Tournament in Las Vegas two weeks ago.

Biery, now a resident of Cocoa Beach, Florida, took fourth place out of 132 golfers in the four-day affair. For his efforts Biery won a Sony television, a Polaroid X-R70 camera, a diamond-studded watch and various other prizes.

For coming closest to the pin in a contest at the tourney, Biery won a Midgett sports car.

On the first day of competition, Biery and three partners shot seven under par. On the second day he shot seven under again. On the third day he shot five under par. Biery normally carries a high 70's or low 80's average.

Biery was the 1957 Most Valuable Player on the Mustang football squad. He was a halfback.

... Won

This week Farmington Harrison will be the Mustangs opponent. A victory over Glenn would have been a great personal victory for the team. But it would have been only a win in the overall record of the team, as the loss is. What counts is the league record for it is that record which determines the winner of the Western Six title. Harrison is the favorite. Northville has never beat them. If they have any regrets and bitterness in losing to Glenn, the game against Harrison would be the perfect place to vent their emotions.

If Northville is a true winner and a true claimant for the Six title, then they should repeat their performance against Glenn against Harrison; and maybe give even a little bit more. This is a test. Northville can play its heart out or it can roll over and die.

Coach Colligan has pointed out that he believes that the winner of the league will have at least one league defeat. He feels that the league is that talented, that balanced. So Northville can even afford a loss against Harrison. But they can't afford to get beat. There is a difference. A loss such as they suffered against Glenn is a moral victory. A beating bruises the soul as well as the body. Personally, I think that Harrison's time has come. Saturday night should find the Farmington players with hoof marks all over their backsides.

SPORTS TALK

In light of the Ann Meyers affair, what do you think the prospects will be of women and men playing professional sports together?

"It was good for women's sports. She had a tough time but she was the first. That was good. I don't think they should be allowed to play in contact sports though."

Lynn Herald

"I think if they're good enough they should be allowed to play professional sports. But they shouldn't be allowed in any contact sports."

Bob Boshoven

"I think that the Ann Meyers affair will cause openings in men's sports much like the first black athletes did. In some sports they won't catch on as fast due to lack of physical capabilities."

Ken Weber

"I don't think it will ever happen. They just can't match them (men) in strength and size. Men's leagues are for men."

Dave Greer

"I think it would be good but there may be problems like the locker room situation."

Kim Smith

"I think they should be allowed to play but not in contact sports. It was a big breakthrough for women's athletics. If they're good enough they should be allowed to play."

Stephanie Colovas

Linksters win two matches; now 2-1

The Mustang golf team raised its record to 2-1 last week by taking two meets. The first win was against Thurston on Tuesday. Northville won 211-216. Bob Stephens shot a 39; Todd Mack, Terry McMann, Ted Seltz and Tom McNamara each shot 43's and Brian Shake recorded at 47. On Thursday the team beat league for Plymouth Canton 198-200. Stephens recorded a 36 and Mack shot a 38. Ted Seltz and Terry McMann each shot 42's while Gavin Wolfe, playing in his first competitive meet, shot a 40. "Our games are coming around a little better," Northville golf coach Joe Blake said. "Against Canton, Bob Stephens was three-under-par when he hit a ball out of bounds. He triple bogied and bogied on the 9th hole. But he really shot fine for seven holes. "I'm trying to give some more guys time to play. We need to find players who are consistent, that have to be around 200. The last contest, the one against Canton, was the first time we played like we're capable of." The team will be in action next when it hosts Salem today in a 3 p.m. contest.

Mustang kickers top two

The Mustang varsity soccer team continued its dominance of the opposition as it beat Southfield Lathrop 6-1 on Friday and Oak Park 6-2 on Tuesday.

Against Lathrop, Kevin Swayne got Northville on the board first with a goal at the five-minute mark of the game. 17 minutes later Rick Marshall banged in a shot to make the score 2-0. Marshall repeated his feat at the 37-minute mark and LeRoy Young scored with a minute left in the half to give the Mustangs a 4-0 lead at the break.

Greg May picked up the pace in the second half as he scored after five minutes had elapsed. His score came on a direct shot from the sideline, approximately 35 yards.

Southfield managed to score next, cutting the Northville lead to 5-1. But John Vanderwouwe got it back with a goal at the 39-minute mark.

"They were overmatched," Mustang coach Ron Meteyer said of his opponents. "The game could have been more than 6-1. We used everybody in the game. It was more like a varsity versus JV game. But they are in their first year just like we are."

Oak Park was a different type of ball club, but the result was the same. Northville won 6-2.

Where Southfield Lathrop was young, they still had a basic understanding of soccer strategy. Oak Park didn't seem to. "They (Oak Park) were definitely more aggressive but they didn't have any idea about positions. They gave us trouble because they simply outthrustled us," Meteyer said.

Marshall scored first for Northville. His goal came after four minutes and 34 seconds of the first quarter. Russ Gans broke through to score at 9:34 of the competition. Oak Park then scored just before the half to make the score 2-1.

In the second half, Barry Ouellette scored the third Mustang goal after just five minutes into the third quarter. Marshall got his fourth goal in two days at the 7:00 mark and Kevin Swayne scored next at the 9:00 mark. With 19 minutes gone by in the second half, Eric Lindemeir scored for Northville, making the score 6-1. Oak Park battled back to score its final tally late in the half.

"We have a few injuries but by-and-large, we're all right," Meteyer said. "I'm most pleased with Craig Wisbiski, our goalie. He's coming out on the ball more, he's not afraid to go after it and players. He has good hands."

"It is so important to have a reliable goalie. That way we can keep three or four other good goalies out on the field for their maneuvering skills."

Winners announced

Grid game continues

First of the weekly football contests ended in an unusual tie, with the top two entries sharing first and second place money.

Tied with two mistakes each and with identical score differences were Dumont Hixson, 502 Grace, and Jeff Stuart, 292 Sherrie Lane. For their efforts, they will share a total of $15.

Taking third place, with three misses and two points off the tie-breaker score was Rob Ade of 319 Sherrie Lane. He won $3.

Michigan's stunning loss to Notre Dame easily proved to be the biggest obstacle for contestants. Only five persons figured Notre Dame would win.

Losses by two local high school teams — Northville and Novi — also were tough contests to pick, as was Minnesota's 27-12 triumph over Miami.

The two top winners each were 10 points off the tie-breaker game between Dallas and Chicago. Hixson had Dallas winning by a score of 21-13, while Stuart had Dallas on top 28-14. The actual score was 24-20.

Third place Ade was three points off the mark, having picked Dallas to win 24-17.

Seven other contestants had three mistakes, but all of them did not do as well with the tie-breaker game. They were:

Steve Alföldy, Russell Parker, Cam Ramsay, Kevin Bennett, Kirk Morrison, Paul Newitt, and Paul Caroselli.

Fourteen contestants missed four games, 20 of them missed five games, eight missed six games, 10 missed seven games, and the remaining contestants missed eight or more of the 16 game-line-up.

If you missed entering last week's contest, you can try your hand this week. Rules for the weekly contest, co-sponsored by this newspaper and cooperating businesses, may be found on Page 4-E along with the games listing.

Judges remind contestants not to forget to include their names, addresses and telephone numbers with their entries. "You'd be surprised how many persons give us their picks but forget to give us their names."

MUSTANG MOB—Dan Goehman is swarmed by his teammates after the speedy wide receiver led in a touchdown pass from quarterback Dave Greer during Friday's contest against John Glenn. Goehman has now caught three touchdown passes in two games. Northville lost the game in overtime when a two-point conversion pass went wide of its mark. Northville lost 21-20.

Punt, Pass and Kick starts

Okay kids, it's time to limber up those arms and stretch your legs; Punt, Pass and Kick competition is about to begin.

This year the competition will be sponsored by the Northville Jaycees in conjunction with John Mach Ford Sales, Inc. competition will get underway on Saturday, September 29 at 10 a.m. at the Northville High School plateau. From there the winners of the local competition will move on to Zone, District, Area, Divisional and National level.

Participants in the program compete only against others their own age. Any youngster from the ages 8-13, accompanied by a parent or guardian, may register to compete in Punt, Pass and Kick at any participating Ford dealer. There is no entrance fee and no body contact during competition. No special equipment is needed and participating does not impair a youngsters amateur standing.

Scoring is based on distance and accuracy with one point added for every foot of punting, passing and kicking distance, and a point subtracted for every foot off of the center line.

Punt, Pass and Kick has attracted millions of participants since its inception in 1961. In addition, it has received the enthusiastic support of high school, college and professional football coaches across the country.

Twelve national finalists will compete for the National Championships in their age group at Super Bowl XIV on January 20, 1980, in Pasadena, California.

Thinclads crowned again

The team did it last year and, although the Mustangs lost their top four runners from that squad to graduation, this year's contingent also wanted to do it.

The Northville harriers are the defending champs of the Schoolcraft Invitational cross country meet and while many applauded this year's team's enthusiasm, it was pointed out that they were, after all, a sophomore team. How could a team with one senior, three sophomores and a junior hope to beat out some of the veteran schools that would show up? By running faster than everybody else, someone joked. Which is exactly what Northville did. Run faster than anybody else. The Mustangs won the Schoolcraft Invitational Saturday morning by defeating 18 other schools. Northville scored 58 points to take first. Stevenson was second with 123.

Out of 125 runners, Northville's Harry Couyoumjian was second. Doug Tolson of Wayne Memorial finished first with a time of 15:06. Couyoumjian clocked in at 15:57.

Mustang sophomore Dave Malinowski finished fourth with a time of 16:17. Scott Dayton and Clark Couyoumjian, the other two sophomores in the triple-threat triumvirate, finished 11th and 19th, respectively. Dayton's time was 16:49 while Couyoumjian crossed the finish line at 17:03. Ross Grover was 22nd at 17:08.

In the girl's race, Northville's Anita Sledz took fourth place with a time of 20:05. There were 57 runners in that event.

Harry Couyoumjian and Malinowski each received trophies. These awards went to the top 10 runners in the event. Northville received a team trophy and individual team trophies to each of the members of the squad.

"We're really coming together," Northville coach Dave Gram said. "We're finding good strengths. The outstanding factor is that we're starting to pack together as a team which is important in terms of scoring. We're staying together up in front. That's the key to cross country — as many people up front as possible.

"We're coming into some difficult meets," Gram said. "We play Canton on Thursday and they were ninth at Schoolcraft. Then we go up against Farmington and Brighton next Tuesday. Farmington finished third at Schoolcraft."

The team repeated as Invitational champs at Schoolcraft, how about a repeat as league champs?

"I'm cautiously optimistic. There is a possibility of going undefeated," Gram said. "There are other coaches out there with more experience than I. Churchill has good potential. The Churchill coach always presents a good calibre team. Walled Lake Western has a strong team. As the season goes on and the runners gain experience, it's difficult to tell how the team will be — but after Schoolcraft, I'm cautiously optimistic."

Colts win; 19-0

Benji Evans scored two touchdowns and Brad Abbott added a third to lead the Northville/Novi JV Colts to a 19-0 whitewashing over the Plymouth Lions last week.

Evans first score came on an end-around play after two-and-a-half minutes of play.

Abbott scored on a 15-yard run. His scoring play was set up by a 10-yard pass from Dave Denhof to Jeff Bush.

Evans added his second score in the fourth quarter when Denhof tossed a 10-yard pass to him in the end zone. Scott Lazzara rammed into the end zone for the extra point.

JV wins

The Northville JV football team celebrated the return of its starting quarterback, Tim McLaughlin, with a 16-12 win over Milford last Thursday. In fact, tailback Scott Spaman was so happy to see the first-string signal caller return from the injury list that he scampered for 169 yards rushing on 27 carries, good for a 6.3 yards per carry average. He scored two touchdowns, and two two-point conversions.

Northville scored first, in the second quarter. The Mustangs marched 80 yards on just eight plays. With the ball on their own 26-yard line and a third down and 17-yard to go situation, McLaughlin hit Mark Holland with a pass to give Northville first down and on their own 40-yard line. Spaman then swept around left end for 40 yards. On the next play he carried the ball in for a 19-yard touchdown. He also scored the two-point conversion to give Northville an 8-0 lead with just over a minute to go in the half.

Northville came back in the fourth quarter to pull the game out. It was Spaman again as he burst through the line and ran 40 yards down to the Milford 10. On the next play he broke through at the same spot and scored. He then carried the ball into the end zone for the two-point conversion and gave Northville a 16-12 lead and the win. Milford failed to score for the remainder of the game.

Solar Water Heating An Industry Coming of Age

By Lester Burton, President
Southern Michigan H.O.W.

As utility bills climb even higher, consumers are looking for cost-saving alternatives. One of these, solar water heating, has been around for a long time. In the 1950s there were nearly 50,000 solar water heaters operating in the Miami area alone.

Inexpensive fossil fuels, however, pushed solar energy into the background. Solar equipment is expensive. Costs for purchasing and installing a domestic solar hot water system range from a low of about $1,000 to a high of $3,500.

If the equipment is expensive, however, the fuel itself is free. As fossil fuels become more expensive, solar water heaters are expected to become more competitive and economical. Domestic solar water heating already compares favorably with electric water heating in many areas. A recent study by the Department of Energy showed solar water heating to be competitive with oil water heating in some areas. The Solar Energy Industries Association estimates that there are about 200,000 operating solar installations in the United States.

How does it work? The most visible component is the collector. Usually the collector is a large dark rectangular plate. It should face within about 15 degrees of true south and be tilted to an angle that will capture the most direct sunlight. The latter will depend upon the distance from the equator.

Solar collectors have often been compared to a car parked in the sun. The sun's rays easily pass through the window of the car, strike the seats and are converted to heat. The heat cannot escape through the windows as easily as the rays entered, so the car becomes hot.

With a solar collector the sun enters through a transparent cover and is absorbed by a black background material called an absorber. The absorber functions like the seat of the car to absorb the rays and convert them to heat energy.

The collected energy is transferred to a fluid circulating through the absorber. The heated fluid, in turn, delivers thermal energy to a storage tank and the fluid (which may be air or liquid) is returned to the collector to begin the cycle over again.

A solar water heater may be active or passive, although the former is more common.

An active solar system depends upon a pump to move the fluid. A sensor in the collector turns the pump on when the sun is out and switches it off as the sun fades.

In areas not subject to freezing, the household water can be heated directly. This is called an open loop liquid system. Usually, however, the liquid contains an antifreeze so that the solar system can operate all year round. This is a closed loop liquid system and requires the use of a heat exchanger so that the heat can be safely transferred to the household water supply. The heat exchanger is usually double walled so that there is no danger of toxic leaks into the water supply.

Passive systems are less common. These do not depend on pumps, but on the natural flow of heat. In a passive system cent of the hot water needs of a family of four. In New England, the figure might be closer to 50 percent and a backup heater provides the balance.

When is a solar water heater economical? It is most popular in sun-belt states including the Southwest, Florida and California, but it is also feasible for other parts of the country.

Solar tax credits are another factor to consider in determining whether solar installations are a good investment. Legislation passed in 1978 allows taxpayers to deduct 30 percent of the first $2,000 spent on solar equipment and 20 percent of the next $8,000 from their federal income taxes. This would amount to a tax savings of $700 on an installed system costing $2,500.

Nearly 40 states also offer some type of tax incentive. Californians may claim deductions of 55 percent of the cost of a solar system, up to $3,000, on their combined federal and state income taxes.

Solar water heating is also popular where other forms of energy are expensive, as in New England. Electricity is becoming a high-cost fuel. With the combined savings on fuel and taxes, a solar water heater might pay for itself in as little as five years in areas where water is heated electrically.

The payback period for solar water heating is usually much longer in areas that use oil and longer yet in those that use natural gas. Continued fuel shortages may lead to higher prices for these alternatives and make solar a more attractive investment.

In selecting an active system, industry spokesmen advise looking for a well-engineered system. The size of the collector, the capacity of the tank, the flow rate of the pump and the setting on the controller should be carefully coordinated.

Buyers should look for a manufacturer's warranty on all components of the system—not just the collector. Most problems will crop up in the first year, says the Solar Energy Industries Association, but a three-year warranty is optimum.

Solar is a relatively new industry so look for a manufacturer and an installer with a solid reputation. Find out how much maintenance your system will require. Some require very little while others require a fair amount. For further information on solar energy and for a list of solar firms in your area, call the National Solar Heating and Cooling Information Center toll free at (800) 523-2929. In Pennsylvania call (800) 462-4983. In Alaska and Hawaii call (800) 523-4700.

the heat storage tank is located above the collector where the water is heated. The warmed liquid rises to the top of the tank.

Because of differences in climate solar water heaters operate more efficiently in some areas than others. In the Southwest, a solar installation might provide nearly 100 per-

H.O.W. — The 10 Year Home Owner Protection Plan

Families buying a new car look for the right size and style to meet their needs. They consider price, fuel consumption, dealer's service department and warranty.

When buying a new home, families make similar evaluations. They consider financing, size, style and energy-saving features. But how can they be certain that those "minor quirks" common to all new homes will be repaired?

Now there's a "service department" for homes in the form of the Home Owners Warranty (HOW) Program. Established in 1973, HOW is currently available in 44 states through 98 local and state HOW councils.

In southeastern Michigan, over 200 builders are registered with the Southern Michigan HOW council, and over 9,500 homes in southeastern Michigan are enrolled in the program.

Builders registered with HOW provide their buyers with a 10-year protection plan which includes a warranty, warranty insurance and insurance against major structural defects. The program also includes clearly defined construction standards and a built-in complaint-handling procedure.

(Washington, DC) "A lifesaver" is how one homeowner describes the Home Owners Warranty (HOW) program's 10-year warranty/insurance plan. When the homeowner and his 22 neighbors moved into their exclusive Virginia subdivision they didn't expect cracks in the plastering or heat pumps that didn't work. Their problems mounted when the builder, caught in a financial squeeze, filed for bankruptcy.

Fortunately for the homeowners, all the homes were covered. HOW stepped in, made repairs ranging from leaky faucets to leaking roofs and footed the bill, at an average of $500 for each home.

The homeowners' salvation came in the form of HOW's insurance-backed warranty, with coverage that stays in force even if the builder has gone out of business. It acts as an extra layer of protection. HOW steps in if the builder can't or won't meet his obligations, which is what happened to the Virginia homeowners. Once the local HOW council was informed of the situation, an insurance adjuster was sent out to the site. He validated the claims and a local contractor was hired to make the repairs. Today, all 23 homeowners are thrilled with HOW's response to the situation, and HOW is prepared to follow-up on any future problems still under warranty.

Designed as a major medical policy for new homes, the program is offered only by participating builders. The builder warrants his homes against workmanship and materials defects in the first year and malfunctioning of the homes' systems and major structural defects in the second. The home is insured against major structural defects for the next eight years through the program's insurance carrier, INA Underwriters Insurance Company.

The HOW program is currently being offered through nearly 14,000 builders in 46 states. Over 550,000 homes are covered by the 10-year protection plan.

Specifically, during the first year of coverage the HOW builder warrants the workmanship, materials and structure of the home. During the second year the builder warrants the wiring, piping and ductwork in the systems of the home and against major structural defects. The insurance company insures the home against major structural defects for the next eight years, and also insures the builder's warranty during the first two years, if for any reason the builder will not or cannot meet his warranty obligations.

HOW standards outline the construction codes and allowable performance standards which a HOW builder is obligated to meet. The format of the standards is designed for easy comprehension by both the home owner and the builder, and outlines, under categories such as concrete, site work and masonry, the possible deficiencies that may occur, performance standards required and the builder responsibility for repair.

The warranty agreement and standards are part of the service department a HOW builder offers his customers. Armed with these documents the HOW home owner has an understanding of the construction of his home and the conditions under which he has a legitimate right of complaint if his builder does not comply with his warranty obligations.

Usually buyers and builders are able to agree on repairs that may be needed in a new home. Occasionally, though, the buyer is not satisfied with the builder's repairs or the builder feels the home owner's complaint is not within the scope of the warranty.

If a HOW buyer is not satisfied with his builder's service, he may resort to another facet of HOW's service department—the program's unique complaint-handling procedure which uses conciliation and arbitration to resolve differences.

One of the chief advantages of this system is its flexibility. It allows the disputing parties to develop a workable solution outside the court system.

Under this procedure the home owner may request conciliation by completing the "Demand for Dispute Settlement" form attached to the warranty agreement or by writing a letter outlining the complaint and sending either to the local HOW council. HOW councils are the local offices around the country which administer the HOW program. (The Southern Michigan HOW council is located at 804 One Northland Plaza, Southfield, Michigan 48075.)

Wood Warms Cockles of Homeowner's Hearts

Authentic Colonial architecture, including traditionally styled windows and shutters, are details homeowners desire. Energy conservation is assured with full insulation in walls and ceilings and with wood windows with insulating glass and factory applied weatherstripping.

Authentic Colonial styling, angle-bay windows, hardwood floors, ceramic tile baths, four or five bedrooms and the warmth of wood detailing are the things many a prospective homeowner dreams about.

Homeowners at Countryside, a 26-acre single family project in McLean, Virginia enjoy these touches along with energy conservation. Situated on one-acre parcels, the homes range in size from 3,350 to 3,800 square feet.

"Given the strength of demand for architecture inspired by Colonial Williamsburg and the need for energy conservation in homes as big as these", explains builder-developer Paul Commanduras, "we couldn't use anything but wood windows with insulating glass, wood panel doors and wood shutters."

These homes are built so "the people who can afford to buy them can afford the upkeep," Commanduras says. "We developed an energy saving package because even the owner of a $200,000 house has a budget for utilities and maintenance."

Among the standard energy conservation items are 2x6 wood framing, R-19 insulation batts in the outside walls, crawl space, dormers and the inside walls of powder rooms and the master bedroom and R-30 insulation in the ceilings.

A combination heating system, which uses an oil furnace for the first floor and an electric heat pump for the second floor bedroom areas, is cheaper to operate than either type alone, says Commanduras.

"What makes the system less expensive are the weathertight wood windows and the wall and ceiling insulation. With windows that have factory-installed weatherstripping and insulating glass, the house is tight and the oil furnace doesn't have to work as hard."

In addition to supporting the energy conservation package, Commanduras says, "We found that when you build with authentic wood mouldings, chair rails, wood shutters, wood panel doors and wood windows with six-over-nine wood grills, you're giving people what they've wanted in every house they've ever lived in."

"Besides satisfying customer demand for authenticity in home design," adds Commanduras, "we benefit as builders because these materials are stock items we can order and put into a house with little fuss."

Art and Reality Join in Finding a New Home

10 Year Warranty

Color, shading and texture—elements of design used in dramatic works of art—also can be used to good advantage in the exterior decoration of homes.

While few persons would want the bold, swirling brush strokes of Van Gogh on the exterior of their homes, they welcome the introduction of subtle colors, tones and dimension in their homes which presents an interesting "picture" to their neighbors.

It protects your wiring

When you buy a house protected by the Home Owners Warranty, you get 10 years of nationally underwritten insurance which includes two years of coverage specifically for all the electrical wiring in your new home.

One exterior surface of the home that has benefitted from improved design in recent years is the roof.

Three-dimensional asphalt shingles, for example, are available in a variety of designs and rich colors. Among the more popular are laminated asphalt shingles in eye-appealing earth-tone shades of brown and beige that can be used on practically any roof, but are especially attractive on roofs with high visibility from the street. These shingles can be used to set a home apart from other roofs in the neighborhood, yet help relate a home to its natural surroundings. At the same time, these shingles produce a rugged looking roof with deep, attractive shadow lines.

ARMA offers these other suggestions regarding colors. Even with color charts, coordination can be difficult. On the large exterior expanse of a house, it may be hard to imagine how several colors will look. So, limit color choices to three; one for the roof, another for the siding and the third for the trim. Since the roof is likely to be around for a good many years, choose its color carefully. Complementary colors on the roof and sidewalls will provide harmonious contrast while a lighter shade of the roof color on the siding will create an eye-appealing blend.

When the HOW council receives the notice of complaint, it contacts the buyer and builder and sets up a meeting with the disputing parties and a neutral third party. The conciliator examines the problem and attempts to clarify the issues so the parties themselves can reach a mutually acceptable agreement.

If HOW's conciliation process does not end in this mutually satisfactory way, either the builder or the buyer can request arbitration.

The home owner can also request an end to conciliation at any time during the process and demand that the case go directly to arbitration. Arbitration is administered by the American Arbitration Association, a private, non-profit association established 50 years ago for the purpose of providing third-party resolution of disputes.

Dallas Nagy of Impact Marketing said, "I won't accept a builder for Impact who isn't a HOW builder. It insures a 'non hostile' relationship with a home buyer." Although the majority of HOW home buyers never need to use HOW's service departments, just having HOW coverage relieves them of some of the worries of new home ownership. HOW builders, who are screened before being admitted into the program for financial soundness, technical competence and a history of fair dealing with customers, understand that a service department is something new home buyers expect when making what is probably the most expensive purchase of a lifetime.

Tips for a Cooler Home

Here's a quick check-list from the Air-Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute of ways to save energy and still stay cool during the heat and humidity of summer.

1. Make sure your equipment is properly sized before it is installed in your home.
2. Set your cooling thermostat at the highest acceptable level and dress in cool clothing. The indoor temperature may not need to be more than 15 degrees below outdoor levels.
3. Keep lamps and heat producing appliances away from the thermostat.
4. Don't place furniture where it will block the free flow of cooled air from your registers.

5. Keep your air filters clean, if cleanable; replace them frequently if they're the "throw away" type.

6. Keep all parts of the cooling system clean; don't let leaves, grass and debris pile up around the outside condensing unit.

7. Limit heat- and humidity-producing activities — cooking, laundering, bathing, mopping, etc.—to early morning and late evening hours instead of the heat of the day.

8. Draw blinds or shades over windows on west, south and east, where direct sunlight falls.

9. Keep windows and doors closed while your air conditioner is operating.

Three-E Checklist Can Save You Energy and Money

Check out your home for energy savings. This illustration from the Air-Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute points out three important ways to minimize your heating and cooling costs.

1. Effective Insulation

- A. Insulation R-values meet standards for this climate to ensure minimum heat losses in the winter or heat gains in the summer.
- B. Proper installation ensures insulation, fully protects walls, ceilings and building perimeter.
- C. Weatherstripping reduces air infiltration around doors and windows.
- D. Caulking and sealing reduces air leakage around doors, windows and chimneys.

2. Efficient Heating-Cooling Equipment

- E. Efficient air-conditioning equipment uses less power than standard equipment and saves on cooling bills.
- F. An energy-saving heat pump provides heating and cooling and can save 30 to 50-percent on electric resistance heating costs.
- G. Equipment performance, capacity and energy efficiency are certified under a program of the Air-Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute.

3. Expert Heating-Cooling Installation

- H. Equipment is properly sized to meet the needs of the house.
- I. Air distribution system is centralized for energy economy.
- J. Air handling ducts are insulated in non-conditioned areas.
- K. Registers and diffusers are located to avoid hot or cold spots.

Energy Saving Housing for the '80s

Using current technology and building materials already on the market, builders are experimenting with ways to increase the energy efficiency of single family housing that will be built during the coming decade.

With funding from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, engineers of the NAHB Research Foundation of the National Association of Home Builders recently designed one of the homes planned for a Maryland subdivision. They were determined to see just how much energy they could save without significantly altering the appearance of the home.

A young couple with two small children moved into the Energy Efficient Resident (EER) on November 1, 1977. A few months later, another couple, also with two small children, moved into a conventional comparison house next door.

In both houses, thermostats were set at 70° F during the winter, and at 75° F during the summer. Engineers monitored the homes carefully and discovered that during the winter months the EER used 57 percent less energy than the conventional home. During the summer months, the EER used about 37 percent less energy than the conventional home.

The chief feature of the energy saving home is a family retreat. This combination family room and eat-in kitchen can be completely closed off from the rest of the home. Double glass doors separate the retreat from the formal living room.

The retreat also has large triple-glazed windows that face south, allowing for solar gain during the winter months. During the summer, broad leaf trees and a two-foot roof overhang give ample shade. Insulated draw drapes prevent heat loss in the cold winter nights and heat gain in summer.

The EER family found that even during the coldest months, sunlight striking the southern windows was sufficient to heat the home for six to ten hours during the day.

In addition, a fireplace and cooking heat can keep the retreat warm, allowing lower thermostat settings in the rest of the house.

Traditionally, fireplaces have been heat losers because heat escapes up the chimney and masonry walls have very poor insulating value. But the EER used a prefabricated fireplace backed on an unheated storage area. It also used outside air for combustion rather than drawing warm air from the room. The result — surface temperature of the fireplace doors in the EER was 74.2° F, compared with a 56.5° F brick surface temperature in the conventional home

Landscaping for Energy Savings

by Lester Burton, President
Southern Michigan H.O.W.

Just as your living room and kitchen are vital parts of your home, so is your yard. It can provide a cool and peaceful setting for summer relaxation, shave dollars from your heating and cooling bills, keep out the neighbor's dog and enhance your investment.

Particularly in a new home, it's good to start with a plan. Draw a map showing north-south orientation, areas where you'd like to relax and want more privacy, places where a hedge or a fence might be needed to shield you from the street. Where does the sun fall? Where will prevailing winds strike the house? Where is your air conditioning unit located?

A tree break of evergreens can cut the force of winter winds buffeting the house and ease demands on your heating system. Deciduous trees (those that lose their leaves each fall) on the south can shade your home in summer, but let in the warmth of the winter sun.

Air conditioners expel warm air to be absorbed by the outside air. The higher the temperature of the surrounding air, the harder the air conditioner must work, making trees and shrubs that shield the unit a cost-saving investment.

Heat pumps draw heat from the outside air in winter and act as air conditioners during the summer. They operate most efficiently if placed on the warm side of the house with a summer shade tree or shrub that loses its leaves in fall.

You'll need to consider as well the type of soil and climate conditions in your area. Your local nursery, garden supply center or county extension agent can help you decide what plants will grow in your yard.

Most people associate gardening with the spring, but as winter approaches there are several things you should do to prepare.

Every year trees and shrubs will die during the winter for lack of water say local garden suppliers—not for lack of rain or snow, but because the ground around the roots freezes. A good layer of mulch around trees and shrubs will keep the soil warmer and help prevent desiccation, or dehydration.

Make sure evergreens are well-watered going into winter. It's a good idea to use an antidesiccant, as well. A burlap screen or snow fencing will help protect shrubs during winter.

The best time to plant deciduous trees and shrubs is in the fall or winter after the leaves fall off and the plant is dormant. Do not trim or fertilize plants in the fall. This forces new growth that will die when cold weather strikes. It's also a good time to plant the needled evergreens, including pine and juniper.

The fall is an ideal time for fertilizing some types of lawn, but not others. It's advisable to consult your local nursery to determine the best fertilizing schedule. Keep mowing your grass in the fall until it stops growing. Going into winter with short grass will slow water evaporation from the soil.

Most spring flowering bulbs, including crocuses, tulips and daffodils, should be planted in the fall. On the other hand, gladiolas, caladiums and tuberous begonias don't winter well and should be brought inside until spring.

Cuttings from many annual plants such as geraniums and impatiens can be rooted indoors. Once rooted in water, the plants can be potted and will flower all winter. You can return them to the outdoors in the spring.

SUMMER REFRESHER. This beautifully landscaped yard and patio is an invitation to escape summer heat and tension. Tall trees provide welcome shade and the well-manicured lawn is a perfect playground as well as a cooling carpet for the outdoor recreation area. Ground plantings add visual interest and help insulate an outside wall of the house. A raised garden just beyond lends a colorful accent of bright seasonal flowering plants. The kidney-shaped pool won a Gold Medal in a vinyl pool division of the National Swimming Pool Institute's annual design competition.

New Tax Law Can Make You Money!

If you're a homeowner 55 or older, you can now enjoy a tax free profit of up to $100,000 on the sale of your home.

This one-in-a-lifetime tax exclusion—effective on all sales back to July 26, 1978—replaces a much smaller tax break that went to owners 65 years and older.

This new tax legislation is expected to benefit millions of homeowners nearing retirement, particularly those who have seen their homes increase in value four-fold or more over the years and now want to move down into a less expensive and smaller home, such as a condominium.

Here's how the new tax law works. Assume for a moment that you and your spouse are both 62 and are making plans for an early retirement. Your home was perfect for raising a family, but now the kids are grown and off on their own and your home is too large and too hard to maintain for just the two of you. Besides, you want to retire in one of the sun-belt states, possibly buying a condominium where you don't have to worry about maintenance and yard work.

Say you purchased your home in 1950 for $25,000. Since then you have added $10,000 in improvements, including a garage, finished rec room and screened porch. You put your home on the market and sell it for $110,000, giving you a net profit of $75,000 on the sale.

Now you can pocket that entire $75,000 profit without paying any capital gains tax at all, which is a nice nest egg to supplement your retirement income.

Energy Saving Housing for the '80s

Another design change made by NAHB engineers was to move the front door from the center of the home to the far end and add a foyer. The foyer and an unheated storage area form the east side of the house providing a six-foot wide buffer area between the living area and the carport, and shielding the house from prevailing winds.

The energy saving house is also equipped with a monitor that tells the family how much it is spending at any given moment on heating, cooling and appliances. Once a family realizes how much some of its living habits cost, they can change the more wasteful ones.

The Energy Efficient Residence is heated and cooled by a small, but efficient heat pump system; the conventional home, by an electric resistance forced air furnace with a central air conditioning system. Heat pumps are rapidly becoming popular in areas with moderate climates because, unlike electric resistance furnaces, they can produce more energy than they consume. (They do not operate as efficiently, however, in areas with harsh climates). The EER heat pump is specially equipped with heat recovery device that permits summertime use to waste heat for heating water.

While 16-inch spacing of studs was used in the exterior walls of the conventional home, 24-inch spacing was used in the EER. The wider spacing increases the amount of wall space that can be insulated and is more than adequate support for the house.

Extra cost for all energy features came to about $4,200 in the EER. Some of the features will pay for themselves in energy saved much faster than others. The heat pump and prefabricated fireplace were among the most cost effective items.

A Home is Still Your Best Investment

Despite rising interest rates, a home is still the best investment that most families can make. Some families, concerned by today's high interest rates, are making a costly mistake by putting off that purchase and waiting for rates to come down.

Take a look at what is likely to happen to housing prices while you wait for interest rates to decline. Suppose the a good source of information on which lenders have funds available and on what terms.

In addition, first time homebuyers may be able to get a helping hand from the new graduated payment mortgage programs. These mortgages were authorized for federally chartered savings and loans early this year. They are also available from state chartered lenders in many states and from FHA-approved lenders.

interest payments equal $5,670. Let's say that they paid $820 in real estate taxes, which is also tax deductible. Adding both the mortgage interest and real estate tax deduction, here's what the tax bill looks like now.

Gross Income—$30,400
Interest Deduction—$ 5,670
Real Estate Tax Deduction—$ 820
Total Deduction—$ 6,490
Total Tax Due—$ 4,976

Annual interest rate on 30-year, fixed-rate mortgage . . . . .	11%	10%
10% downpayment . . . . .	$ 6,400	$ 7,168
Principal or amount of mortgage loan . . . . .	$57,600	$64,512
Monthly payments for principal and interests . . . . .	$ 549	$ 566

house you want is going for $64,000 now, and you can get financing with a 10 percent downpayment at 10.5 percent mortgage interest rate. Your 10 percent downpayment is $6,400. Your monthly mortgage payments would be $527.

Now suppose you wait until next year in the hopes that interest rates do come down. Assuming that housing prices will continue to increase about 12 percent a year, that same home will cost $71,680 a year from now. Your 10 percent downpayment increases to $7,168. Even if interest rates fall a full percentage point to 9.5 percent, and there is no guarantee that they will, your monthly mortgage payment would be $543 or $16 more a month.

Meanwhile, you've got to live somewhere and every penny you pay in rent is gone forever. With each mortgage payment, however, you are building equity in a home that will eventually be yours.

Keep in mind, too, that housing is the only investment available to the average family that is increasing in value faster than inflation. And there is still plenty of mortgage money available, although it may be harder to find today than a year ago.

Many builders will still have mortgage money available at lower rates because of previous commitments. They are also

The GPM permits lower payments during the early years of the mortgage with monthly rates increasing gradually over five to ten years and leveling out for the remainder of the loan. The GPM is ideal for young, upwardly mobile couples who need a boost to get into that first home.

And if you are weighing the advantages of buying a home versus renting, don't forget to consider the tax breaks that go along with homeownership. Let's look at what happens to the tax return of a young couple during the first year of a mortgage.

The wife in our example earns $12,000 a year; the husband, $18,000. Their $8,000 savings yields $400 a year in interest, giving them a taxable income of $30,400.

Here's what the figures look like if they continue to rent and take the standard deduction on their income tax forms.

Total Tax Due—$6,083

Now assume that same couple buys a home for $60,000 at 10 percent down and takes out a mortgage at 10.5 percent on the remaining $54,000. During the first year their mortgage

With just real estate tax and mortgage interest deductions, the couple saves about $1,007 in their tax bill. Of course, most people will have other deductions as well, bringing the tax bill down even further.

It protects your walls, roof, floor and more.

When you buy a house protected by the Home Owners Warranty, you get 10 years of nationally underwritten insurance which includes one year of coverage on all construction and materials backed up with nine additional years of major structural coverage.
