

'You finance it and we'll resurface South Main'

Perhaps by late next summer the South Main washboard will have been paved and motorists will be sailing over a smooth new surface.

That possibility was given a boost last week as spokesmen for the Wayne County Road Commission met with local officials and disclosed a way to get resurfacing even though the street is not yet on the county's priority list.

The catalyst for resurfacing, it turns out, is money.

"If the city finances the project the county will get it done" was the answer local officials got when they tried prying a resurfacing job out of the county.

When local officials indicated they would consider a financing proposal, the county spokesmen said they would prepare cost estimates for presentation to city council within two weeks.

South Main, from the city limits to Griswold, is under the jurisdiction of the county. The remainder of the street is under the city's control.

Although the city has been pressing for resurfacing of South Main for several years, it has been told repeatedly that other streets in the county are in worse shape and that therefore South Main is not scheduled for resurfacing.

Recently, however, the Northville Chamber of commerce sent a letter to the county, with support from the city and township of Northville, urging that something be done about the "terrible condition" of the street.

Out of that letter came last week's meeting, with two county spokesmen — J.E. Kinville and R.A. Larson. They met here with Chamber President Paul Folino, Mayor Paul Venon, Township

Bealtown's proud

Six years ago city master planners envisioned the area bounded by South Main, Beal, River and Gardner adjacent to the race track as the logical site for track and industrial expansion, but at a public hearing of the planning commission September 18 a half-dozen Bealtown residents and planners had to agree "that just didn't happen." Consultant Ronald Nino reported the area now zoned residential ranks third in the Wayne County portion of the city in income and is "more of a family community" than five other city neighborhoods surveyed. He recommended the master plan should reflect the upgraded, strongly residential character of the neighborhood where residents have been painting and renovating the homes for young families.

Simmering feud erupts

Supervisor, clerk clash

A simmering feud inside the township hall between the supervisor and clerk exploded into the public arena this week over a township board meeting.

The regularly scheduled meeting of the board will be changed to October 18, Clerk Clarice Sass announced in a legal advertisement placed with The Record Tuesday morning.

"It absolutely won't be changed," declared Supervisor Donald Thomson.

who said the clerk had acted irresponsibly and illegally.

"The meeting's legal," insisted the clerk, who said the supervisor's angry reaction was "childish." "Mr. (Donald) Morgan (township attorney) told me it was legal."

Shortly before 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, an employee in the clerk's office notified the newspaper to cancel the notice of the meeting change. No explanation was given.

Apparently, the on-again, off-again October 11 meeting is on again.

"This is typical of the way the clerk has been conducting herself," the supervisor said. "Can you imagine, I'm supposed to be the chief officer of the township, elected by the people, and the clerk won't even inform me about a meeting change."

Thomson said that neither he nor Treasurer Lee Holland was notified of the change by the clerk.

Mrs. Sass explained that upon speaking with Trustee John Swienkowski Monday night she learned that he (Swienkowski) would be out of town on business on the 11th. "He suggested I poll the members to see if we could get the meeting changed to the 18th."

The clerk said she called Trustees James Nowka, David Mitchell and William Zapke Monday night. All three said they would prefer the October 18 date, she said.

Mrs. Sass said she didn't call the supervisor and treasurer because of the lateness of the hour.

The following morning, Mrs. Sass had a clerk call Holland and notify the supervisor when he entered the township hall. She did not personally contact either Thomson or Holland.

"He (Thomson) came storming into my office shouting all kinds of things," Mrs. Sass said. "It's a childish behavior."

"I'm so mad I can't see straight," admitted the supervisor. "Here I'm supposed to be running the township and I'm not even told that a regular meeting of the board has been changed. It was no oversight that I wasn't called; she did it deliberately."

When informed that Mrs. Sass said the township attorney had indicated the meeting change was legal, Thomson said he couldn't believe Morgan would make such a statement when the "law clearly states" that a meeting change request must be made in writing.

Thomson referred the newspaper to Richard Lang, legal counsel for the Michigan Township Association. Lang read the law which stated the request must be in writing, he added.

"Normally, the matter is brought to the attention of the supervisor and the supervisor is the person who directs the clerk to issue the notice (legal notice of a meeting change)."

The clerk said there had been no written request, but rather simply a verbal suggestion by Swienkowski to poll board members.

Supervisor Thomson said he has been thwarted "at every turn" by the clerk "ever since I was elected. She does what she wants, and the good of the township is of no concern. The problem is that this township has no clear cut personnel manual. The chain of command is a farce. And Sass knows that and she's taking advantage of it."

Most people would have been overwhelmed by self-pity and anguish.

But Northville's Todd Nadeau has shown great courage and determination in dealing with his tragic accident, say his doctors.

While working at Belanger, Inc., 455 East Cady August 7, the 18-year-old high school senior had his right hand severed by the blade of a power saw.

Doctors worked for 10 hours that night to reattach the hand.

Now, almost two months later, Todd

Monday's deadline

Monday at 5 p.m. is the deadline for filing nominating petitions for elective office in the city, reminded Clerk Joan McAllister Tuesday.

According to the clerk, no one had filed by Tuesday morning, although four persons — including two incumbents — were circulating petitions.

Posts up in the November 6 election are those of mayor and two for council.

Of the incumbents, Mayor Paul Vernon and Councilman Stanley Johnston have announced their candidacy for re-election. Their petitions are being circulated.

Councilman Wallace Nichols, the city official with the longest tenure, has decided to retire from office. He will not seek re-election.

Two other persons, both political newcomers, have announced their candidacy for the four-year council seats. They are Carol Ann Ayers and Kevin Hartshorne.

His hand's alive, his morale high is home and is looking forward to returning to school.

Doctors say the hand is alive and in fact doing very well.

"Step one is successful," notes Doctor Robert Larsen, a hand surgeon from Detroit. "The hand is alive and blood is flowing through it."

"Though there still is a lot of work yet to do, Todd is doing quite well."

Todd has been very confident of his recovery right from the beginning. Four days after the accident he told his basketball coach from Catholic Central High School, "Don't count me out, I'll be back."

Teacher pact ratified here by big margin

It's official: a new three-year school contract has been ratified by both the Northville Education Association and the Northville Board of Education.

The new contract was ratified by a healthy margin, about two to one, in vote by NEA teachers Monday afternoon. The seven school board members voted unanimously to accept the contract Monday evening at its regular board meeting.

For Northville, it is a smooth ending to what could have been a long bumpy road for the district.

The contract was whipped into shape in a 12-hour mediated midnight marathon September 12 at the Ann Arbor Hilton, ending a seven-day teacher's strike here.

The settlement came only hours before state fact-finding, a potential court injunction or possible loss of state funds for the Institutions' Special Education Program (ISEP), any one of which could have prolonged the dispute or caused financial and morale problems in the district.

The happy outcome of the Northville contract contrasts with Plymouth where the school contract was settled by a state fact-finder. There the teachers approved the contract 580 to 150 but the Plymouth school board split on approval four to three.

Monday night, Personnel Director Burton Knighton, who had been chief negotiator for the school district, recited the tortuous course of events since the negotiators first began planning negotiations in December 1978.

"Of course we are highly recommending the approval of this contract," he told the board members with a smile as he finished his story.

After the unanimous vote of approval, seven pleased officials signed their names to the contract, including School Board President Karen Wilkinson, Secretary Richard Barron, Superintendent Larry Nichols, Knighton, and NEA president Barbara LeBoeuf.

With these salary figures Northville teachers are somewhere near the middle salary bracket when compared with seventeen surrounding school districts with which Northville most often compares itself.

Novi and Livonia teachers' salaries are very close to Northville's. Novi pays its teachers a bit less; Livonia pays a bit more.

Though the Northville teachers' strike is fading fast in community memory, hard-won provisions for both sides are spelled out in the new 50-page contract which was distributed to teachers and administrators over the weekend.

Main features of the contract include a 2 1/4 percent wage package over three years and compromise language.

Teachers' salaries will increase 8 1/2 percent this year. Next year they will jump another 8 1/2 percent. In 1981-82 salaries will increase another nine percent.

This year a K-12 (187-day) teacher with a bachelor's degree will start at $12,277 and with ten years experience will receive $21,292. A teacher with a master's degree will start at $13,523 and get $25,301 after ten years.

ISEP teachers who work 232 days per year start at $14,380 with a bachelor's degree. With a master's degree and 10 year's experience an ISEP teacher will receive $29,649.

Top salaries for teachers by 1981-82 will be $29,991 for K-12 teachers and $35,145 for ISEP teachers.

In addition, extra-credit pay will increase by 8 1/2 percent this year and nine percent in 1981-82. For graduate credits beyond the bachelor of arts degree this year, the district will pay $420 for 20 semester hours. Beyond the master's degree the district will pay $250 for each group of 10 credits the teacher earns.

This year teachers will have new insurance benefits which cover non-life-threatening emergencies treated at a hospital. For those teachers already covered by a spouse's health insurance policy, the district will offer the option of $20,000 extra life insurance in addition to the $20,000 already supplied to all teachers.

THE FRONT porch of a Northville Township residence was destroyed by fire Monday, township firemen report. Firefighters responded to the blaze at 17971 Beck at 9 p.m. and extinguished the fire within one hour, saving the remainder of the house, said Robert Toms, township fire chief. The house, owned by Alan Pearson of Plymouth, is currently occupied by Dallas Heath, the previous owner. The cause of the fire, which apparently started in the left corner of the porch, is unknown. No one was in the house at the time of the fire, township firefighters said.

Lights out but actors stay dressed

A 15-second blackout in Northville's downtown Saturday night was not long enough to register with Detroit Edison but was enough to cause a bit of consternation among actors and audience at the opening moments of the musical "Brigadoon" at the Marquis Theatre on East Main.

The lights flickered and went out at about 8:30, plunging the Marquis' 450 patrons into darkness.

After only a second of confused silence, unphased actor Bill Premin went on with his lines. "Do you always go around in all those clothes?" he asked through the darkness.

"Not always," came the coy reply of "Brigadoon's" Meg, Donna Jean Tinberg.

Suddenly the lights flickered on. The play continued. Detroit Edison spokesman Pete Georges said the blackout was undoubtedly just due to a circuit-breaker adjustment — nothing to be alarmed about.

And whew, Meg still had her clothes on.

Farm boy opted for fixing watches

Working without a salary but eking out his room and board, an Edgetts, Michigan farmboy successfully swapped a pitch fork for a jeweler's eyeloop.

Today, as he looks back at that "chance" introduction to the jewelry business, H. Ray Noder finds it a little difficult to believe he managed to shake the farm clods from his boots.

"I didn't know much else but how to break my back under a hay bale, and my dad made sure of that. For him, I was made to labor on the farm all my life. And, frankly, it was his insistence that made me determined to break loose."

"If it hadn't been the jewelry business it would have been something else — anything, but far away from the farm."

Noder, who has owned H.R. Jewelers at the corner of Main and Center since 1962, was born and raised in the tiny northwestern Michigan town "not more than a crossroads" 72 years ago. He was one of five children.

A few years later he moved to Oliver. At both Edgetts and at Oliver, the schoolhouse was right across the road from the Noder farm.

Ray liked school. But his dad had other thoughts. School kept able bodied sons out of the fields and the senior Noder needed help. So when Ray had finished the eighth grade, his father took him out of school, plunked him down behind a plow and said, "There, now learn something useful."

For Ray the farm was a prison. And he ached to be free of it.

Thus, at age 19, Ray Noder left home without any money and without any formal training. He "went from job to job," never staying long enough to become proficient at any one of them. Furniture, carpet, casket, refrigerator, you name it, Noder helped produce it in those early years.

He ended up in Chicago, finally learning enough about machine shops to become a foreman.

But no sooner had he begun etching a career for himself and the Depression hit with devastating effect. He lost his job and all the savings he had banked. Now with nothing but the clothes he wore, he returned to Michigan, ending up in Big Rapids where he looked up an old friend, then owner of a small jewelry store.

"He was barely surviving himself," recalls Noder. "Probably making no more than six or seven dollars a week. He couldn't afford to hire me but he told me I could work for my room and board. It was either that or the farm and I had no desire to return to my father's place."

"I stayed until about 1932, and by then he was paying me a few dollars for my work. He owed me $60. He had another, smaller jewelry store in Ewart, so he told me if I gave him $50 and forgot the $60 he owed me, I could have the Ewart store."

"Well, it sounded like a good deal, but I didn't have a nickel. But somehow I begged, borrowed and stole enough to buy the place."

"Rent was $5 a month, and everything I ordered was 'collect on delivery'. You can be sure there wasn't much 'delivery' in those days." Nevertheless, he made a little money, eventually paying back the $50 he had borrowed.

The fact that his son had become a store owner rather impressed Ray's father. So when Ray came to him with a deal for buying a larger store in Adrian, he loaned his son $500. But after making the down payment, Ray learned he had been swindled. There were more liens on the business he had bought than rings in the showcases.

His dad's money lost, Ray returned to Ewart and sold out his business there for $169. By the time he had paid the $15 he still owed the landlord for rent, Ray had only $154 left to his name.

He moved to Flint, working for about a year with A&E Brown jewelry shop before taking a job offer in Wyandotte. "I took a contract for one year, but the guy I worked for was so miserable I quit just before he fired me and went to work for Square Deal Miller in Detroit. Square Deal 'paid pretty good, and I finally got my dad paid off.'"

Meanwhile, Ray had met a pretty school teacher by

M-14 stretch may be open in October

Sorry folks, but the M-14 expressway between Plymouth and Ann Arbor will not open until at least October 15 and even that date is optimistic.

"We're looking into the possibility of getting it open by then. But there are still too many things to do," says Warren Cox, senior district engineer for the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Although portions of the highway look ready for traffic, Cox explained that contractors must still finish portions of concrete paving, shoulders, ramps and barriers. Workmen must finish medians, grade and sod the side slopes, put up signs, clean the road and put the yellow and white lines on the concrete.

Further, eager beavers dying to at least take their cars on parts of the road which are finished will be disappointed to know that the department of transportation will not open any portions of the highway until the entire project is completed.

"You wouldn't want to live on Beck Road with 4,000 cars exiting next to your house," Cox said.

M-14 is nearly complete between U.S. 23 and Beck Road.

When the 10-mile stretch of highway connecting U.S. 23 with I-275 is completed, the department of transportation expects most of the traffic which has been using east-west routes such as Eight Mile and Ford Road to use the new expressway. If portions of the expressway opened, much more traffic would be forced onto county roads than they could handle, Cox explained.

"We have learned that detours we set do not capture all the traffic which would normally use the route. The drivers are smart — they'll use the path of least resistance. And the county road system could not take the traffic," Cox said.

Work first began on M-14 in 1976. When finished, the expressway is expected to cost somewhat less than the $2 million-per-mile cost for the Jeffries Freeway (I-96) into Detroit.

"I'm not sure of the exact cost per mile," Cox said, "but this is a rural freeway. The Jeffries has more excavating, more bridges and more lighting."

Predictions by some department of transportation spokesmen that the M-14 would be open in September were unduly optimistic, Cox said.

"Whoever said the M-14 would open in September must have been someone hoping to get it open for the Michigan-Notre Dame football game (September 15)," Cox said.

Highland lassies win

Three area Scottish dancers won best of class trophies at the United States Highland Dance Association district 3 regional competition Saturday, September 22, 1979, at the Southfield Civic Center.

This championship and pre-open competition attracted dancers from throughout Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The Weaver School of Highland Dance in Northville sent a contingent of seven open class dancers and three pre-open class dancers to this Highland dance competition.

These young lassies were successful in bringing home three trophies and 23 individuals dance medals.

In the open championship events, Leslie Grover of Northville won the championship trophy in the 13 and under class by taking the first place medals in the Sword Dance, the Shean Truibhas and the Hullaean, plus a second place medal in the Highland Fling.

Diane Montgomery of Union Lake won a third-place medal and three fourth-place medals.

Jeri Brundage of New Hudson took two third-place medals and a fourth-place medal at the Southfield competition.

Elizabeth Grover was almost as successful as her sister. She was runner-up for the championship trophy for the 16 and over open class, as she took all four of the second place medals in her class.

Sharon Alspaugh, Mary and Beth Ross, all of Northville, also participated in the district 3 championship competition.

The championship dance competition was followed by the pre-open competition for those dancers who have not yet progressed into the open class of competition.

Heather Neil of Novi, Julie and Kathleen Berry competed in the pre-open events.

Neil took the best of class trophy for the advanced intermediate, 13 and over class, with three individual medals in her three events.

Kathy Berry continued the local dancers winning streak with two first place medals and a second place medal to clinch the best of class trophy for the Novice 12 and under class.

Her sister Julie took a second place and a third place medal in her dances in the intermediate, 10 and under class.

Most of these Scottish dancers can be seen at the Northville International Festival Saturday evening, October 6. This will be the second year that Bill Weaver's students will perform at the festival.

Kiwanis fishin's great

Eighteen Northville youngsters were winners Saturday in the second annual Fishing Derby sponsored by the Northville Kiwanis Club.

"They may not have caught quite as many as last year, but they sure had a ball," said Kiwanis President Robert Massel.

Participating in the popular event were those young people involved in the club's on going bowling program for handicapped children, he explained.

"The kids caught more than 100 fish, mostly blue gills, but a few bass," Massel reported. "Except for a couple Kiwanians who slipped into the drink, the derby came off without a hitch."

Ribbons were awarded to the best 18 catches, ranging from the biggest and longest fish to the ugliest and jumpiest fish.

And following the derby, the youngsters enjoyed a picnic lunch in a nearby park.

In announcing the results of the derby, Massel reminded parents of handicapped children — whether it be a physical or mental handicap — that those children are encouraged to participate in the club's twice-monthly bowling program at Northville Lanes.

The program is provided free for the children.

Anyone interested in learning more about it may contact either John Gentile, 349-0522, or Jack Hoffman, 349-1700.

The next regular bowling session is scheduled for Saturday, October 13. The time has been changed from 12 noon to 12:30 p.m. to avoid conflicts with regular bowling league activities at Northville Lanes.

Wayne communities unite

Regional water and sewer control: A ballot issue?

By TIM RICHARD

Western Wayne County communities are beginning to line up with their Oakland County neighbors in an effort to regionalize political control of the Detroit Water and Sewer Department.

"Regional" is still a word that makes seven out of 10 suburban politicians run the other way, as Westland Mayor Tom Taylor pointed out September 14 in a meeting of 13 suburban Wayne communities in Livonia City Hall.

But the consensus was that an initiative petition proposing a state law for the 1980 ballot is the best way to go in order to assure efficient water and sewer services at a non-discriminatory price.

"We have not had a problem with low water pressure in Northville Township," said Walt Holinoty of the township water and sewer department.

Holinoty, representing Township Supervisor Donald Thomson, also said that at this time he did not know how regional monitoring would affect the township, except that "it would provide better control of rates."

The petition process will mean a quarter of a million petition signatures will have to be collected in a massive, bipartisan effort.

"But maybe the time to act is now," said Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara, a veteran of battles with the Detroit Water and Sewer Department (DWSD). McNamara evaluated the alternatives:

1) An act of the Michigan Legislature. Bills to reform the water board, to allow suburban customer communities to pick their own members, have been shot down repeatedly in the legislature. It took major efforts to pass such "housekeeping" bills as requiring the DWSD to give 120 days notice of proposed rate increase and to be audited annually.

2) Court battles. It has taken two years of litigation to determine that some rates were unfairly computed, so this process is cumbersome.

3) A regional authority approved by voters.

Oakland County Drain Commissioner George M. Kuhn, who is stirring up the petition effort, summed up the political issue: "Do we want to be always subservient to the Detroit Water Board, who reports to no one but the man upstairs?"

The "man upstairs" was one of the few direct references to Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, who appoints all seven members of the water board — four Detroiters and three suburbanites — and can remove any at will.

As mayor of Berkley in the early 1960s, Kuhn recalled, he and other mayors and township supervisors had fought Detroit's proposed non-resident income tax. By uniting, they were able to place petition forms at every clerk's and treasurer's window in their respective city and township halls.

That effort led to a term (1967-70) in the state senate for Kuhn in a district which included Farmington, the lakes area of Oakland County, Livonia, Plymouth and Northville. Kuhn was defeated in the 1970 Republican primary by Carl Pursell, now a U.S. representative.

A conservative Republican, Kuhn didn't get quite the same warm reception he got in an Oakland County meeting a week earlier, where community representatives unanimously supported a resolution asking him to move ahead on the petition drive.

The western Wayne response was noticeably cooler — but the result was the same. No one opposed the petition effort, and Mayor Taylor and Canton Supervisor Noel Culbert found themselves appointed to a steering committee to guide the project.

Taylor told the group Westland and Canton have joined forces in a suit against the DWSD and state Health Department because $20 million in new developments in their towns are being held up.

Water pressure in northwest Westland and northeast Canton is low, Taylor said. A water project to serve this growth area has been engineered, but the city of Detroit said, "We can't build because of other litigation" Taylor reported — even though Westland and Canton have offered to underwrite the bonds.

"They are using Canton and Westland as hostage, as bait, in the litigation," Taylor said.

Robert Fredericks, Kuhn's deputy, agreed: "It wasn't the lawsuit that help up your projects. They were 'using' the suit." Fredericks, an attorney, has the name of Coralie back in Evert. He loved her, but Coralie could see that Ray needed incentive as much as her love.

"I'll marry you when you're making $37.50 a week," she said.

"You'd be surprised how hard a love sick man can work," laughs Ray.

Sure enough, in 1937, four years after they had met and only after he was taking home a paycheck of $37.50, Ray and Coralie were married.

"A lot of guys will tell you they made it on their own. They don't want it to sound like they're henpecked. But if you analyze it, like I have, you can be sure a wife has had a lot to do with it."

Although Noder has some unpleasant recollections of early disagreements with his father, his feelings have mellowed considerably over the years.

"A young man may think his dad's a mean old cuss. But, God bless him, I learned years later my dad wasn't half bad. In fact, he was a great guy who I loved."

The senior Noder had a positive influence on his life, says Ray.

For one thing, "his insistence that I work on the farm drove me into the city and into this business," he laughs. But, more importantly, "he taught me that a man ought to work for himself."

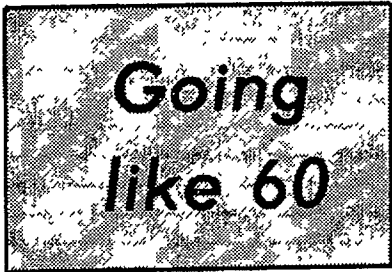

"You know, when I look back over the jewelry businesses I've been in, my happiest years are those years in which I was my own boss of my own store."

It probably was his father's influence, therefore, that persuaded him to become an owner again, despite the early disappointments in Evert and Adrian. In 1939 he bought a store in River Rouge.

In 1947 a storm ruined his River Rouge inventory, but he recovered. Business was good, and in a couple of years he purchased a second store in Wyandotte. Within a year after its purchase, the Wyandotte store was demolished when a fire swept through the newspaper office above his store. Again he recovered.

It was during the years that he owned and operated the River Rouge store that Ray became interested in the Kiwanis organization.

"I believe when someone joins a club, he should be active and work. I don't like people who join clubs just to be able to say they are members. Kiwanis is a working organization; loafers need not apply."

Ray was no 'loafing' Kiwanian. He was one of the most active, if not the most active member of the River Rouge Club.

Even after moving to Northville, he returned to River Rouge Club until he achieved his 25-year perfect attendance award.

Although his wife has retired from her teaching profession, Noder continues to own and operate his downtown Northville store — despite physical problems that would completely demoralize some men.

Ten years ago he underwent heart surgery; blood vessels were moved from one section of his body to his legs; and he learned he had high blood pressure, diabetes, "and a bunch of other things."

Retire?

"Oh, sure, I've thought about it. But what the heck would I do if I retired? I'm not well enough to travel or even mow the lawn. But I can still drag myself up the hill (from the parking deck) to my store and sit here at my repair bench. That's something. At home I'd probably just nag my wife and make her miserable."

"I guess the thing that keeps me going are the people. I like to meet and talk to people. And you meet plenty of them, and all kinds, in a jewelry store. Even if I'd leave the business, I'd like to be able to come back now and then to say hello to old customers."

"No, I'd rather keep going like this, at least for awhile yet, maybe get in some fishing now and then (he likes pan fishing best), and if my health permits a little more deer hunting with my nephews."

So the farmer turned jeweler, the great-grandfather squinting through the eyepiece keeps going like 60:

"Come on in, I'll fix your watch."

Northville community band rehearsal set

An invitation to musicians to join the fun went out this week as the Northville Community Band announced its first rehearsal.

That rehearsal will be held in the Cooke Middle School band room next Wednesday, October 3 at 7:30 p.m.

In an organizational stage, the band has received enthusiastic support of the recreation department which has pledged to contribute $400 for purchase of a music library once the band has been officially organized.

"In the spirit of making music for the pleasure that it provides, there will be no auditions and all comers of all ages are welcome," said Jane Francoeur, one of the band's initial boosters.

"There will be no dues or fees. It is expected that concerts may be given in the community building, located just west of the city hall-fire station, once renovations of the building are completed."

A mixture of popular and light classic music is to be offered.

According to Mrs. Francoeur, a board of directors for the band is being formed to administer funds and to aid the band's director, Robert Williams.

Anyone interested in joining the board or receiving more information may contact Mrs. Francoeur at 349-8242 or Ann Youngquist at 349-8173.

Septemberfest offers German food, music

Another weekend of food and music with a German flavor will be packed inside a 100 x 40 foot tent as the Northville Jaycees stage their third annual Septemberfest.

As in past years, Septemberfest will be held at the Northville Plaza shopping mall on Seven Mile between I-275 and Northville Road, near the Northville State Police Post. It opens Friday and ends early Sunday morning.

"Returning by popular demand are the 'Tune Mixers', who will perform Friday night, and the internationally acclaimed 'Heidelbergers', who will perform Saturday night before leaving for the Bavarian Oktoberfest in Austria," says the Jaycee project chairman, William Zapke.

In addition to the music and food, there will be Coke, spirits (24½ barrels of beer) and wine.

On Saturday the tent will open at 11 a.m. for lunch, followed at 12 noon by a special free children's program sponsored by the Northville Plaza merchants. Advanced complementary free tickets for this program can be obtained from any Northville Plaza merchant throughout the week.

The children's show will feature Daren Dundee's award winning World of Fun Family Variety Show, consisting of comedy, magic and puppets. And at 1 p.m. the Mount Clemens entertainer will present the World's Smallest Musical Trio — "The Nincompoopers."

Refreshments will be served throughout Friday evening and all day Saturday by the Northville Jaycee Auxiliary.

In addition, fire department demonstrations are planned, and a hot air balloon and a helicopter will be displayed.

"Everyone is welcome to attend this fun filled family Septemberfest," emphasizes the Jaycee's publicist, who notes that proceeds from the project are used to help finance some of the organization's civic projects. A portion already has been earmarked for the Northville High School Band.

A minimal admission to the tent will be charged starting at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Septemberfest will continue throughout Saturday night until 2 a.m., resuming activities at 11 a.m. Sunday and concluding the following morning at 2 a.m.

RETURNING—Byron MacGregor (left) and Jo-Jo Shutty, newscasters, will be making appearances again this year at the annual International Festival, officials have announced. Several other celebrities also will visit Northville during the festival as will the clowns (alias Livonia Jaycees). The festival, sponsored by the Northville Chamber of Commerce, will be held October 5-7.

Celebrities to visit International Festival

More than a dozen radio and television celebrities have been lined up to make appearances during the annual International Festival October 5-7, it was announced this week.

Many of them will be coming back for the second time, said Paul Folino, chamber of commerce president and festival general chairman.

"Thanks to our own Ted Strasser, of WJR fame, commitments have been secured from a variety of celebrities. It was mostly through Ted's influence that they agreed to take time out of their busy schedules to come," said Folino.

Strasser is a Northville resident.

Mark McErwin, WWWW Radio disc jockey; Bruce Martyn, Red Wing hockey broadcaster; Sid Abel, Red Wing broadcaster; Jim Forney, Detroit Express soccer broadcaster; Paul Winter of WTVS Channel 56; ABX Pup of WABX Radio; Dale Conquest, WJR sportscaster; Tom Campbell, WJR newsman (also a Northville resident), Jo-Jo Shutty, former TV newscaster, Bryon MacGregor, WWJ newscaster; and Joe Falls, Detroit Free Press sports columnist.

Northville's Nick Serkaian, an announcer for WMZK Radio, and two WJR Radio announcers — Scott Kilgore and Armando Ojeda — will serve as emcees during the festival shows. Also serving as an emcee will be Northville Jaycee John Stilson.

"As we get closer to the festival, this year's show looks better and better," enthused Folino, who noted that the Clark Family entertainers have just been booked for a performance during the three-day festival.

The Clarks, who were big hits recently at the State Fair, present a variety of specialties ranging from puppetry, magic and balloon sculpturing, to singing (three-part harmony), tap dancing, harmonica and piano playing.

Other acts, which will be presented on stage in the "Old World Cafe," inside the Northville Downs grandstand area, will include:

Scottish dancers, German bands, dancing by a North American black group, as well as by Polish, Cuban, Irish and Hawaiian groups, blue grass music, and Italian, Okinawan, and Armenian specialties.

"We'll even have ... disco dancing for senior citizens as well as a karate program for senior citizens," the chamber president said.

"And instead of just one belly dancer, we're going to have eight."

Sponsored by the Northville Chamber of Commerce, the festival will get underway at 5 p.m. Friday, October 5 and conclude at 5 p.m. Sunday, October 7.

Besides the entertainment plan, a block-long midway of art, hobbycraft, and ethnic food booths are planned adjacent to the Old World Cafe.

This year the cafe will feature Italian food served up by John Genitti and family. Complete meals, light lunches and sandwiches will be available.

School calendar set, last day June 18

The new school calendar has been set for Northville K-12 students. Because of days lost to the teacher's strike, the last day of school will be June 18, 1980, and the usual mid-winter recess will be eliminated this year.

Thanksgiving recess will be November 22 and 23. Christmas recess begins at the end of the day December 21, with students returning to the classroom January 2, 1980. The last day of the first semester is January 31. The first day of the second semester is February 4.

Spring break is April 4 to 14. Memorial day holiday is May 26.

While K-12 students attend school for 181 days, teachers must attend 187 days. Teachers worked a half-day September 13 and all day September 14. Other teacher workdays are February 1, June 19 and a half-day June 20.

ISEP students and teachers have a longer year, with students in school 230 days of the year and teachers in school 232 days.

ISEP students will have Thanksgiving recess November 22 and 23. Winter recess starts December 22, with students returning to school January 2, 1980.

Spring recess starts April 4, with classes resuming April 7. Memorial Day recess is May 26. The 45-day summer program begins June 16, with an Independence Day recess July 4. The last day of regular ISEP classes is August 18. The last day of the 45-day summer program is August 18.

Subdivison correction

Hills of Northville, the proposed subdivision which has received preliminary stage II plat approval by the township board, is located at the northwest corner of Six Mile and Sheldon — not the northeast corner as incorrectly reported last week.

The subdivision, as presently conceived, would have 275 lots. Average area of all lots must be at least 16,000 square feet.

Don't Blame Your Age For Poor Hearing

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

True, all hearing problems are not alike ... and some cannot be helped by a hearing aid. But audiologists report that many can. So, send for this free model now, and wear it in the privacy of your own home. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 02986, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

Real deal

There are bargains and there are bargains. But the Northville Township Fire Department got the ultimate 'deal' when they purchased this 1957 Seagrave 85-foot ladder truck for $401. The ladder truck which can reach the top of a seven-story building, according to Fire Chief Robert Toms, is being renovated by the township's 26 volunteer firemen and the total renovation will cost the township only $6000. And when it is completed, Toms claims it will be worth well over $100,000. In addition to the 85-foot aerial, the truck will also carry some 227 feet of ground ladders.

Police Blotter

Blinding sun gets blame for crash

Two passengers suffered minor injuries September 22 in a two-car collision at the intersection of Eight Mile and Center, city police reported.

A car driven by Andrew MacLellan of Detroit was westbound on Eight Mile when he was blinded by the sun, the drive told police.

His vehicle struck a car driven by Roy Dennison of Fenton which was stopped, waiting to turn onto southbound Center.

Two passengers in MacLellan's vehicle were slightly injured but refused medical treatment.

MacLellan was ticketed for not having his vehicle under control.

The drivers of two vehicles suffered minor injuries in an auto crash September 17 at the intersection of Lake and Horton, city police reported.

A vehicle driven by Paul Koontz, 795 Grace, ran the stop sign on westbound Lake at Horton and struck a vehicle driven by Patricia Hanson which was southbound on Horton, police said.

Koontz was issued a citation for failing to yield at the stop sign.

The emergency red flasher on the roof of a Michigan State Police vehicle was smashed and torn from the frame while the car was parked at an apartment on Randolph, city police reported.

The vandalism occurred sometime during the early morning hours of September 22, police said.

Two large windows at the G. E. Miller Sales and Service, 127 Hutton were smashed sometime between 7 p.m. September 21 and 7 a.m. September 22, city police reported.

One of the four-by-eight-foot glass windows was apparently broken by someone hurling a piece of asphalt through it, police theorized, while the other window was probably kicked or punched, police said.

The total damage is estimated at $800.

Several eight-track tapes were taken from a car parked in the Northville High School lot on the afternoon of

Brigadoon draws applause

Opening weekend audiences at performances of "Brigadoon" at the Marquis Theatre Saturday and Sunday knew they were on their way to Scotland as killed actors greeted them in the lobby.

Through a novel integration of stage and screen, the audience quickly was whisked into the Scottish highlands. First New York skyscrapers flashed on the screen, fading into misty hills and setting the stage for the first scene of two Americans lost on a hunting expedition.

The cinematography gave an illusion of reality to the story of "Brigadoon," the village that came to life only once in 100 years.

Producers Bill Premin and Andrew Henderson continued to keep their audiences engaged with the dream of a town that experienced "a miracle" through well-staged scenes.

The dancing, choreographed by Colleen Kelly, added much to the story that focused on Jean McLaren's wedding day. As wedding plans progressed in the Lerner and Loewe hit, Tommy Albright, the American played by Phil Cole, became increasingly enamored of Fiona McLaren, played by Judith Premin.

Cole, a Novi resident, and Mrs.

Premin both have strong acting and singing backgrounds. Their duet of "Heather on the Hill" was one of many songs that brought applause from the audience.

The theater was almost filled on the opening evening Saturday, and the Sunday matinee was a sellout.

Four more performances are scheduled. They are at 8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Penny Ruttan of Walled Lake is the bride in the production while Donna Tinberg, a special education teacher in Clarenceville and a Northville resident, was a most effective Meg Brookie chasing Jeff Douglas, the other American played by Premin.

Her solos, "The Love of My Life" and "My Mother's Wedding Day" brought applause.

A graceful addition to the story was the ballet performance of Miss Ruttan, Lynne Risko and Ellen Sponseller to the music of "Come to Me, Bend to Me."

Act II opened with the chase of Archie Beaton, played effectively by Frank Risko. As the rejected suitor of Jeannie, he threatened to leave Brigadoon and break the enchantment, causing the village to vanish forever.

Bill Dunphy of Northville played Andrew McLaren, father of Fiona and Jean. Sherry Beglin, a professional dancer from Livonia, performed the death ballet.

Molly Williams of Northville played Tommy's long-suffering girl friend in New York while another local resident, John Merrifield, was Angus.

Tickets for the four upcoming performances are available at the Marquis stores in advance and at the box office before performances.

95 condos in Lexington approved

A new developer received approval for the construction of 95 condominiums west of Taft and immediately north of the present Lexington Condominiums on West Eight Mile Monday.

At a special meeting of the Northville City Planning Commission Republic Developers were given unanimous approval for a modification of the site plan development already granted for the condos with the stipulation that there will be a permanent pedestrian walkway (access) to the open recreation area.

Barry Stulberg, vice-president of the firm, with his associates Larry Hahn and William Stewart earlier had appeared before the commission on September 18 to seek the modification that reduces the number of units from 102 to 95. They explained the change was being sought in order to build units with double garages.

Recommendation for approval was delayed until the meeting Monday as planners wished to check with the original plans for the condominium development and to know the feeling of the present association regarding the change.

Frederick Joel from the association of condo owners reported construction plans for the first three units had been reviewed and residents were satisfied they were "in line" with present condo development.

The new developers emphasized that there was no reduction in size of units and that the change is a reflection of the market demand for two-car garages.

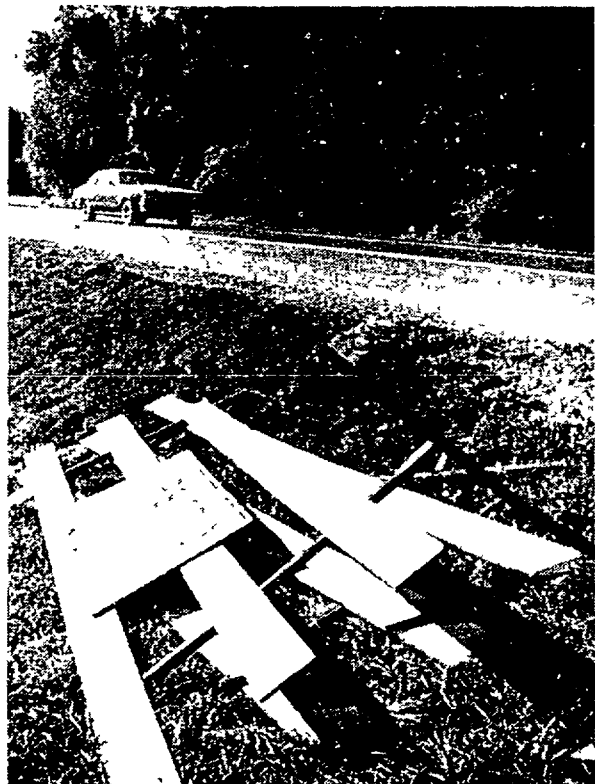

Because the area is being developed under Planned Unit Development for R-1-A (single family residential), planners required the access to the open green area. Developers specified it will be between buildings 506-507.

The new development will not have a clubhouse, planners were told. It will have a separate condominium association for its own residents.

Chairman C. Thomas Wheaton in considering the request stressed that planners can recommend approval only of site plans. Approval was unanimous by Wheaton, Bruce Turnbull, Charles Freydl, James Cutler and Like Durst.

At the September 18 session a resolution was adopted stating that the com-

Rotary exchange grows

Northville Rotary Club is reaching distant lands by sponsoring high school students through one year free pre-college education in a foreign country.

According to Rotarian C.A. Smith, the club this year is sponsoring an exchange student from Japan - Yurie Miyarhara. Each student lives in a home three months and then moves on to a different home for another three months.

"We have three Northville students attending high school in foreign countries," said Smith. They are:

Michelle D. Stephens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stephens, in South Africa; Mary Elizabeth Willoughby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Willoughby, in Sweden; and Robert A. Burnham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burnham, also in Sweden.

To qualify to become exchange students, participants must be at least 16 years of age and in the upper third of their class.

"The Northville Rotary Club is interested in discussing exchange possibilities with present students," noted Charles Mann of the Rotary Club.

"Students should talk to their counselor and arrange to meet with me. This is a great opportunity to be part of a movement to improve relations and spread good will among the youth of many foreign countries," both Rotarians emphasized.

Blinding sun blamed for car crash here

September 19, city police reported. The owner said the car was locked when she entered the building at approximately 12:45, but when she returned to the vehicle at about 2:30 p.m. the doors were unlocked and the tapes gone.

A black and white Panasonic television was taken from a residence on Jamestown Circle September 15, township police reported.

The thieves apparently gained entry through a patio door in the dining room, police said.

Boo-Boo Bear, Mr. Ranger and Cindy — fiberglass statues resembling the cartoon characters — were stolen from the Oasis Golf Center, 39500 Five Mile sometime between September 13 and September 15, township police reported.

The statues, which are each 4½ to 5 feet tall, are worth about $200 each, police said.

A number of the statues were taken from the miniature golf course in June and were later found at various locations on the grounds of Northville High School.

Police are investigating the recent theft.

An 18-year-old Northville man was arrested September 22 when he was caught going through the glove compartment of a Northville Township police car parked behind the township hall, police reported.

Lieutenant Kenneth Hardesty was leaving the station when he observed Frank Bartson, 16400 Sutters Lane, lying in a police car which had the interior light on.

There were a number of items from the car sitting on the hood and roof of the vehicle, Hardesty reported.

The man was arrested and placed in custody. He was later released, pending the receipt of a warrant by township police.

season with the varsity and became a starter as a junior last year.

"We hoped for big things from Todd this year," the coach says. "But this past year has been unbelievable. He had to overcome torn ligaments in his left hand, a sprained ankle last season and now this."

"He really wants to do well and works very hard," Halowicki continues. "He has set an example for kids all over the country. He has so much determination and courage."

"I don't think a lot of other kids could have handled it the way Todd has."

Doctors are hesitant to make any predictions on how much use of the hand Todd will have or when he will be able to begin therapy to strengthen the muscles and tendons.

"It is very difficult to say how well the hand will function many months from now," Dr. Larsen points out. "This type of thing takes a lot of time to heal."

Dr. Larsen says there probably will have to be three or four more major operations on the hand to connect muscles and tendons and do further skin grafting.

Todd already has undergone a number of operations in which doctors took veins from his legs and put them in his hand. This procedure had to be done on at least two different occasions because some of the relocated blood vessels did not survive the transfer.

A team of three to six surgeons performed the micro-surgery (surgery under a microscope) to repair the damaged blood vessels and nerves — a procedure which has only been used successfully in hand surgery for the last four or five years, according to Dr. Larsen.

A zoom lens on the microscope magnifies the critical area up to 30 times its actual size, he explains.

Carrying his hand in a cast which extends from his fingertips to about two inches from his elbow, Todd continues his recovery.

As his coach puts it, "No matter what obstacles get in his way he just keeps coming."

Film collective wins arts council grant

State Senator Robert Geake (R-Northville) announced the awarding of a $4,300 Michigan Council for the Arts (MCA) grant to the Michigan Women's Film Collective. This grant will be matched locally.

The funding will be used to produce a 16 mm film which will document had signs used in communicating lyrics and music to the deaf. Michigan women musicians and film-makers will collaborate on this project and will make a copy of the film available to the MCA upon its completion.

"When I see the MCA supporting projects such as this one I am more than pleased to announce the awarding of a grant," said Geake. "It is as I've said before, the handicapped should not be culturally deprived and films such as these prove to me that we can ensure they will not be."

GOOD TIME FOR WINE
by Jim Roth
Zinfandels, a wine grown best in the cool northern vineyards of California, has an unusual quality. It has, in a way, two lives. After two years in the bottle, it develops a full, fruity taste that is a delight to the palate. However, if you let it stay in the bottle for six years or longer, you get an elegant, balanced, claretlike taste with a certain woody quality. So, as a young wine, it is rivaled only by the Gamay Beaujolais, and as an old wine, perhaps ten years old, it is dry and elegant and has its own special richness.
For all your wine, beer, liquor and cordial needs come to us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. We have a very large selection of liquor in popular sizes like pints, fifths, full quarts, half gallons and even gallons. Cold beer, wine and champagne are available. Hours: 9 a.m.-10 p.m. Mon. thru Sat., Noon-6 p.m. Sun.
WINE WISDOM: Beaujolais are good with roasts and barbecues.

Township to remain 'single family area'

By KEN KOVACS

An updated future land use plan which retains Northville Township as basically a "single family area" was the topic September 20 of an informal meeting of local government bodies.

George Vilican, township planning consultant, reviewed the plan and fielded questions from those in attendance on various aspects of the Master Plan for Land Use in Northville Township.

William Bohan, chairman of the township planning commission, opened the session by stating that the purpose of the gathering was to obtain input from anyone who had something to say about the new master plan, developed by the planning commission over the past two years.

The plan, which is "the product of a continuing planning process," was last updated in 1973.

The plan was financed under the Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Program and includes the following elements: existing land use, development capacities (residential), community facilities, commercial development, industrial development and major thoroughfares.

"The plan has not departed greatly from the last plan," Vilican said. "And we have maintained the same major thoroughfares except that Curtis Road will not be designated as such."

The plan calls for some 1200 acres of industrial development and projects a need for some 100 acres of commercial development when the township reaches full development.

Three new "convenience centers" are part of the plan. They would be located at Six Mile and Ridge, Sheldon and Six Mile and Six Mile and Haggerty.

C. Thomas Wheaton, chairman of the Northville Planning Commission, voiced some concern over these proposed commercial developments.

"The city is concerned about any major shopping areas in the township which would compete with city's shopping centers," he said. "We like to view Northville and Northville Township as one community rather than two. I think people who are from other areas think of us that way."

"Upon reviewing the master plan I see that these proposed convenience centers are not major shopping areas," he continued. "But I just wish to voice the city's opposition to the development of any major commercial areas."

The new plan projects a total population capacity of 42,036, which includes 10,012 persons in single-family housing; 3,658 in multiple-family and 188 mobile home units. These figures do not include persons in institutions.

Condos okayed

mission finds that Costa's Old Mill Project Plan (which is for a restaurant to be called Positively Mainstreet) meets requirements.

Council approval for the EDC (Economic Development Corporation) project was recommended. Sandra Wiemer, attorney with Dykema, Gossett, Spencer, Goodnow and Trigg, representing the EDC, explained the plan was returned to the commission as the initial one had procedural defects. She stated the plan had not changed.

Approval was recommended for the Marquis Theatre Project, for which EDC funding also was being sought.

Another change in the new plan is the recommendation of a second fire station to be located at Six Mile and Beck, rather than at Six Mile and Ridge as proposed in the 1973 master plan.

That recommendation was made when the township shared fire protection with the city, the plan states. That is no longer the case and the construction of the township's second fire station at Six Mile and Ridge would leave a void in the central portion of the township, according to the planners.

Therefore with the current station at Six Mile and Winchester and the second one to be built at Six Mile and Beck, firefighters could cover the entire township without having to travel more than two miles in any direction.

Representatives of the township fire department expressed their concern about fire protection currently provided and suggested a station at the Seven Mile and Beck intersection.

"A station at Beck and Seven Mile would give better coverage to any part of the western section of the township," one firefighter said.

Vilican and the planning commission members convinced them, however, that when the township was fully developed, the ideal location would be at Six Mile and Beck and that between now and then an interim solution for providing fire protection to the western half of the township must be found.

The only concern expressed by Plymouth Township officials in attendance was the possibility of commercial strip development along Five Mile near Haggerty.

It has been the policy of the planning commission to not allow commercial along that strip. But according to the 1973 plan and as proposed in the new plan that area is shown as commercial.

"We are concerned about the possibility of commercial development which would compete with our businesses," one Plymouth township spokesman said. "We would hope that you would do something to insure that does not happen."

Planning commission members said that they would consider designating the area other than commercial when updating the zoning ordinance.

The planning commission will hold a public hearing on the proposed master plan October 17 at 8 p.m. in the Township Hall, 41600 Six Mile.

Offer special speech services

Speech and language problems of your preschooler may be headed off early by taking advantage of a service offered by the Northville Public Schools Special Services Department.

Kathy Elick, speech teacher at Moraine Elementary school, said parents should ask themselves seven questions: Do you or your friends have difficulty understanding your child? Does your child have any physical problems which might interfere with his or her speech and language development? Does your child fail to answer questions, ask to have words repeated or often misunderstand simple commands or directions?

Elick said the appointments will be scheduled October 11 and 12. Parents can contact the special services department by calling 349-3400, extension 258.

You finance it, we'll resurface South Main'-county

Supervisor Donald Thomson, former mayor A.M. Allen, City Manager Steve Walters, and County Commissioner Mary Dumas.

Kinville, who recently was named county highway engineer after 22 years with the county, is a resident of Northville. Admitting that the street is "pretty bad" Larson told local officials it still isn't bad enough to warrant a priority listing.

Furthermore, it was pointed out that the 1979-1980 budget for county road repairs already has been formalized.

The only way the county would consider placement of the project on the 1981 schedule, said Larson, would be if the city agreed to share the cost. Cost sharing, he explained, has become standard procedure because of the scarcity of county money.

Under such an arrangement, local officials were told, the county would share two-thirds cost of resurfacing, the city one-third. If, however, complete road reconstruction is necessary, the split is 60-40.

Given the fact that the city has been pressing for street resurfacing for several years, Commissioner Dumas said she found it surprising that the county had not yet even scheduled the work to be done.

Vernon expressed resentment that the county commission, in a letter to a local citizen, had implied that it is because of the city's failure to follow through on a plan for resurfacing that it has not occurred. Resurfacing and boulevard beautification proposals were prepared by the city, said Vernon, and presented to the county, which failed to respond with any reasonable financing plan and timetable.

"We needed a council resolution," said Larson, who indicated resurfacing but not road reconstruction would be necessary.

"Earlier you told us just resurfacing wouldn't be satisfactory and that therefore the cost would be greater," responded Vernon.

"As the county's wallet gets thinner, it is forced to trim some of its projects," explained Kinville, who sought to cool the county-city differences.

When local officials continued to press for earlier repair of the roadway, the county spokesmen said the only way it could be done before the end of next year, would be for the city to finance the county's share as well as its own share of the project.

The city would later be reimbursed during the road department's 1980-81 budget yet, local officials were told.

It is that financing plan council will be considering when it receives cost estimates from the county.

HENRY F. TRAVERS

He and his wife Freida retired to the tiny European country from their Sheldon Road estate in 1970.

Private services were held there last Thursday. Cremation followed.

A native of Schwennigen, Germany, Mr. Haller came to the United States in 1926 to work in automobile factories.

He soon formed his own firm, J.H. Tools and Machine Company in Detroit in 1933 with his wife and three employees.

He became interested in powdered metallurgy when he designed tools for P-M Ordnance components.

In 1945 he formed Michigan Powdered Metal Products, Incorporated, in Northville. He worked on designing new and improved mechanical and hydraulic compacting presses and special equipment for making shock absorber pistons and rod guides, oil pump gears and washing machine gears.

After selling both companies, he sold furnaces and compacting presses. He then opened his own plant on Northville Road, taking over the former Ford Motor Company Waterford facility. In 1964 he sold this firm to Federal-Mogul Corporation.

He was named technical advisor and director, serving until his retirement to Europe.

During his life he earned 100 patents: 64 for powder metallurgy related products and equipment and 31 for general metalworking machinery. He also had five P-M patents.

He received a Powder Metallurgy Pioneer Award in 1973 from the Metal Powder Industries Federation at a special banquet held during an International P-M Conference in Toronto. It was given in recognition of his original contributions in designing and Service for Henry F. Travers, 79, of Detroit, was held at 10 a.m. Monday at Our Lady of Victory Church where he was a member. Father John O'Callaghan officiated. Interment followed in Our Lady of Hope Cemetery in Brompton Township.

Mr. Travers, a retired tool salvage employee of Ford Motor Company, died September 22 at Botsford Hospital.

He was born May 21, 1979, in Malone, New York, to Bernard and Minnie (Meehan) Travers. He was preceded in death by his wife Irene.

He leaves a son James of Northville, a sister Mrs. Ann Perry of Plymouth, brother Roy of Malone, three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Arrangements were by Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home in Northville.

MARK JAMES WILLIAMS

Funeral services for Mark James Williams, 17, of Farmington are being held at 11 a.m. today at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home with the Reverend Thomas C. Hartley of Redford United Presbyterian Church officiating.

The Farmington High School student died September 22 in an automobile accident at Grand River and Haggerty in Farmington Hills.

He was born May 20, 1962, in Michigan to James and Billie (Butler) Thompson who survive. He was the brother of Stephen and Jamie, the grandson of Mrs. Sam Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. James Williams and the great-grandson of Mrs. Ralph Williams.

Interment is to be in Glen Eden Cemetery.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

There are rules. And there are exceptions to the rules.

But the rule in township form of government is that a split exists between the office of clerk and supervisor.

The rule, too, is that the clerk is a woman and the supervisor is a man.

I recognize the kind of implications that arise when one treads into the arena of man versus woman in today's society. So I shall not wander from the safety of the middleground insofar as suggesting whether it is (as a rule) the clerk or supervisor who wears the white hat.

But if the truth is still accepted as a fair criterion, then it should be proper to point out that in the 23 years I've observed local government in most administrations the supervisor-clerk relationship has been strained.

It is, in my opinion, a characteristic of the form of government.

For whatever reason (particularly in the past) I've been more aware of the problems as seen through the eyes of the supervisor. At least three of them (not including the present supervisor) have poured out their frustrations to me concerning township hall in-fighting.

In any working relationship it is easy for one office to make the function of the other difficult. But where lines of authority are not clearly defined, the atmosphere spawns controversy.

Normally, the result of such a division is a choosing up of sides. Employees become members of a team within township hall.

Forgotten are the employers, the taxpayers for whom the elected officials and employees are supposed to be working.

I've written a column on this subject in years past. It comes to mind again this week because of the page one story in this edition regarding the supervisor-clerk argument over rescheduling of a township board meeting.

Some things never change.

But it seems to me township boardmembers ought to muster up enough courage to call for a halt to the bickering and devise a sensible office operations manual.

In doing so they should try very hard not to allow their own lines of allegiance to show.

Pedestrian crossing control signals have been installed at the busy Eight Mile-Sheldon road intersection.

Next on the improvement agenda is the widening of Eight Mile at Sheldon so that left turns can be accomplished without backing up traffic.

At least city and county officials are discussing the project.

It is badly needed at busy morning and evening hours.

Another proposal that could alleviate the problem at the high traffic intersection dividing two school buildings is an exit (or entrance) from Eight Mile to the Amerman school parking area for school buses.

Presently, buses enter and exit at a school driveway very close to the highway intersection. This compounds the traffic problem.

Another street project that may have been moved forward on the activity burner is the improvement of the South Main boulevard entrance into the city.

While Wayne county cannot include the project in its 1979-80 budget, officials have indicated that the city could go ahead and collect the county's share a year later.

Considering the county's present financial status, this proposal may require some study by city officials.

State Representative Jack Kirksey recently published the results of a questionnaire he sent to his constituents in the Northville-Livonia area. He received about 875 responses.

Here are some of them:

—On whether public school teachers should have the right to strike 64.7 percent said NO; —On whether the penalty of $1,000 fine and one year in prison for anyone caught with less than one ounce of marijuana should be changed so that anyone arrested for possession of less than one ounce would face a maximum $100 fine and no jail term 51.7 percent said NO;

—On whether welfare payments should go directly to utility companies so that recipients would not get behind and have their utilities shut off the response was 88.6 percent YES;

—On whether state legislators should receive public matching campaign funds like gubernatorial and presidential candidates the answer was 70 percent NO;

—And on the question of whether or not Michigan should consider costs in surrounding states when setting benefits and eligibility for Michigan workers' compensation 70.5 percent of the responding constituents said YES.

Speaking for Myself

Decriminalize marijuana?

YES

Senate Bill 65, which would decriminalize the personal use and possession of marijuana, will soon be debated in the Michigan House of Representatives. I will vote in favor of the bill for several reasons.

First, there is absolutely no evidence that occasional use of marijuana is damaging to human health. Irresponsible groups have used totally unscientific studies to make claims of marijuana-related health problems, but these have been dismissed by responsible scientists and the American Medical Association. In fact, the AMA itself has endorsed the decriminalization of minor, marijuana-related offenses.

Secondly, the scarce resources of our law enforcement officials and court system should not be wasted on such minor offenses. Between six and seven million Michigan tax dollars are spent on marijuana cases every year. These law-enforcement dollars should be better spent — on arrest and prosecution for more serious offenses such as robbery, rape and fraud. This would also help clear our crowded court dockets and help us deal with more serious crimes.

Finally, every bit of evidence available indicates that marijuana decriminalization does not contribute to a high rate of use. Nor does the myth that marijuana "leads to harder drugs" have any basis in fact.

Clearly, the greatest damage that can be done by marijuana use is the exposure of an otherwise law-abiding and productive citizen to the hardships of arrest, a criminal record, the loss of a job, or even a sentence in the living hell that we call prison. It is time for a change in a law that makes no sense.

Perry Bullard
State Representative

NO

Some time this fall the House will again consider the decriminalization of marijuana, in the form of Senate Bill (SB) 65. This bill is essentially the same as Senate Bill 1361 of 1978, which passed the Senate but died in the House. SB 65 has also passed the Senate and is now in the House Judiciary Committee.

I intend to vote "No" on S.B. 65; I am opposed to the decriminalization of the use or possession of any amount of marijuana.

I am aware of arguments that enforcement of marijuana laws in Michigan is uneven, that many young people do not respect the law, and that law enforcement officers might better spend their time pursuing criminals other than marijuana users.

Yet the fact remains that marijuana produces an altered state of consciousness. Also, research has demonstrated that prolonged use can have serious effects on bodily health. Given these facts, I believe that we should not lessen present controls on what is a necessarily controlled substance.

There is also the larger question of marijuana's relationship to the use and sale of other drugs. Users can and do advance to other, harder drugs, often at the invitation of their "pusher." Marijuana sellers more often than not are involved with heroin, cocaine and the like, and also have ties to organized crime.

I realize there are strong feelings on both sides of this issue. I welcome written comments which should be addressed to me at any office at the State Capitol in Lansing, 48909.

Fred Dillingham

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Our Kiwanis Club meeting nearly ended in fistcuffs the other night, with normally passive members squaring off over a corn stalk.

The debate was triggered by market owner John Genitti, who claims to be everything from butcher to sailor to photographer. He waltzed in to challenge the membership:

"Bet no one here knew that the average number of ears on a single corn stalk is one."

Well, now, to a Kiwanian that was like saying dues will be increased a buck.

The club erupted.

Most everyone disputed Genitti's claim, although a few sided with him.

Generally, members insisted there are two or more ears on the stalk. Some even claimed the yield per stalk averaged seven.

One Kiwanian, working backwards from X number of bushels per acre, calculated the production of a row and finally of a single stalk of corn — 2.5 ears.

But Genitti stuck to his figure of one, claiming he had been given his information by farmers selling corn in the local market. And store manager David Ryan, who lives on a farm that raises field corn, agreed: "Genitti's usually wrong, but not this time."

Having lived on a farm for a number of years and recalling all the corn grown there for ensilage, I quickly opted for two ears per stalk. "No way can there be one ear ... unless you're talking about popcorn."

Later, to settle the debate, I called the agricultural department at Michigan State University. There the coordinator for agricultural information, Robert Neuman, "cleared" things up immediately: "That's,

And they better shine, boy!

High school East Street speed bumps criticized

To the Editor:
This letter is directed to every parent of a Northville High School student who drives a car to school and every parent who drives their teenager to school in the winter. I would like to urge each one of you to take a ride up the back hill (East Street) right now, before the snow starts to fall, and see just where the city has installed the speed bumps on our public road.

I have been told that the homeowners on East Street requested the "traffic hazards" because of the students speeding down the hill. I agree there are a few kids who are not responsible enough to drive a car, but the majority are, and you can't endanger 1400 for the actions of a few. This year the school has restricted the number of students driving to school, (at least that's what they told us when we had to pay $30 a year for our children to be able to drive a car to school), so a lot more parents will be making the climb up that hill when the weather is extremely bad.

If you are familiar with East Street you know there is a steep climb from Elm to Walnut, a plateau at Walnut, then another steep climb to the school. The city, with careful planning I'm told by the city manager, has placed these "hazards" in the middle of each steep climb. This means you will have to come almost to a complete stop half way up each hill to go over the "hazards" if you don't want to damage your car. Once you lose your momentum on a hill like that in the winter you are lost! Cars are getting smaller now and we don't have the weight of a big car to help. What's going to stop the cars when they start to slide down into the ones behind? Remember, gas tanks of some small cars do tend to explode when hit in the rear.

I want a guarantee from the city that the hill will be clean from 7 a.m. throughout the day until our kids come down it when school is out. With these "hazards" placed across a public road it can no longer be plowed. They have made an already difficult hill a real danger to everyone who must get to and from the school in winter. If we can't get such a guarantee then I think we must demand that the "traffic hazards" be removed before the first snowfall.

When I spoke to Stan Johnson today, he suggested I attend the City Council meeting on October 1st and express my concerns. I would like to urge other parents who share my worries to join me and be heard. Only one voice is not very loud. If you can't attend the meeting, call a member of the council or, better yet, write a letter.

'Board thwarts open meeting act'

To the Editor:

While attending the Northville Board of Education meeting two weeks ago, we were reminded once again about the significance of the Open Meetings Act. It was designed to prevent excessive secrecy similar to the arrogance of power demonstrated by the board members when they refused to answer our specific questions. Not surprisingly, the board adopted a stonewall type strategy, which left the impression that they didn't care about us or our children.

Research indicates that the Open Meetings Act is quite specific about this situation. In MCLA 15.263 Section 3 (1) it states "All meetings of a public body shall be open to the public and shall be held in a place available to the general public. All persons shall be permitted to attend any meeting except as otherwise provided in this act." Clearly, the meeting space provided by the board failed to provide enough room for every person seeking to attend, and many people were forced to stand outside in the hall.

As we have seen, the board changed the topic dealing with negotiations to be placed at the end of the agenda. Consequently the impression emerged that the board was unwilling to discuss the most significant issue, which obviously was of utmost concern to the hundreds of persons attending the meeting.

Moreover, the impression was also created that certain board members want to restrict the right of the public to speak about controversial issues. In the opinion of the Attorney General "A board of education may not: deny a person the right to address a meeting of the board on the sole ground that the person is a representative of an organization of board employees; limit the subject and issues that certain persons may cover in the course of addressing the meeting; require persons to exhaust administrator of remedies before addressing issues at a public meeting; nor prohibit a person from addressing it on the grounds the matter to be addressed is or might be the subject of a closed meeting." OpAtty. Gen. 1977, No. 5218.

Likewise some of the parents and taxpayers were subjected to caustic remarks, by the board chairperson, when we requested the right to address the meeting. Freedom of speech is a fundamental principle upon which our democratic political system was established. When a board member attempts to restrict our rights, then one must begin to question her sincerity.

Furthermore, in my own personal case, the board chairperson remarked that I should "become a member of the NEA bargaining team." However, I gave a speech as a representative of the parents and taxpayers of our school district. If the board is determined to place Larry VanderMolen in a special category because his credentials include a Ph.D. from Michigan State University, then they should also be reminded of the fact that we are parents and taxpayers, who have been residents of the Northville School District for 10 years.

Sincerely,
Dr. Larry D. VanderMolen

Teacher says goodbye

To the Editor:

I just wanted to send a short letter saying goodbye to former students and friends. I wish that I could have seen a lot of you before I left, but everything happened so quickly. The students in Northville have been very good to my wife and I over the last eight years and I will never forget the special moments they have given me. You have been the reason why I've loved teaching so much, you've made it special. I hope I have been a positive influence on your education. Some of you have been very special to me and I hope you can keep in touch in the years to come. If you are ever in the Seattle area feel free to get in contact with us.

To the teachers and friends, I have met in the last eight years, I wish you a very good year to come and your friendships will surely be missed. I again thank you for all the memories and good times.

Best Always

P.S. A special goodbye to my last year's sixth hour math class. I will never forget you and the fun we had while learning.

'Promote our own teachers'

To the Editor:

The superintendent of schools and the board of education are going to make another "opinion" decision shortly and fill an assistant principal vacancy in our schools.

It would make this writer very happy that one of our own — a Northville schools teacher who wants this new position — selected because of his or her proven performance and qualifications and is not overlooked because of politics or favors. Because...if another Livonia teacher is chosen, I personally am going to petition and beg the township and city council to buy the Livonia Mall and move it from Seven Mile and Middlebelt to Northville, so our new Northville administrators and educators won't get homesick.

'Thank you, Suzie'

To the Editor:

As two residents of Highland Lakes, and mothers of the total of nine children, we would like to thank Suzie

Heinz for all the work she did contributing to the lights that were finally put up on each of the entrances of Highland Lakes. Without someone like Suzie putting in many long hours, and her caring for the rest of our community, we feel that this would not have been possible.

Hearing set on M-275

A public hearing on proposed alternatives to the M-275 freeway in western Oakland County will begin at 1 p.m. September 26 (Wednesday), the Michigan Transportation Commission said today.

The hearing in the auditorium of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners Building, 1200 N. Telegraph Road, Pontiac, will follow the regular 10 a.m. business meeting of the commission at the same location. The business session also is open to the public.

Highway proposals under consideration range from a so-called "no build" alternative to a freeway modified in design but following basically the same route as a proposed M-275 freeway rejected by the then State Highway Commission in January 1977. It would run from I-96 at Novi north to I-75 near Clarkston.

To Cathy... with love...
from Nick

It was exactly 25 years ago that a very fortunate Korean war veteran awaited anxiously on his wedding day in front of the altar at St. John's Armenian Church.

While he was waiting, in his bride-to-be's home an Armenian tradition was taking place — a pre-wedding party for the bride with all family members and relatives.

Finally, they arrived at the church and when the boy saw his fiancée on her father's arm walking down the aisle his heart skipped a beat. The father gave his daughter to her fiancée and as both of them turned towards the altar the boy whispered, "Cathy, you're beautiful" and moments later they were wed by Rev. Fr. Arnak Kasparian.

The date was September 25, 1954 and present were relatives and friends who witnessed the creation of a new family.

This couple was blessed with three healthy children and today... on our 25th wedding anniversary... with great happiness I wish to thank and express my love to that person who has shared my life for the past 25 years... my wife Cathy.

Cathy, our life has been filled with joys of happiness and yet we've experienced, at times, moments of anguish. However, we always stuck together and fought adversities and now our future promises to be even brighter.

Happy Anniversary, Cathy. Today you are more beautiful and I love you.

easy. There are two to four ears per stalk, depending upon the variety of field corn grown."

Naturally, I was elated. Genitti was wrong and most of the rest of us were correct. Nevertheless, I had a nagging feeling that Neuman, despite his title, might not know what he was talking about.

So I looked up farmer John Beemer, manager of the living farm at Maybury State Park. John, who is preparing for a public corn shocking demonstration at the farm Sunday afternoon, sided with MSU.

"You don't very often find three ears, but the average is two," he said as we inspected the farm's field corn. I snapped a picture of Beemer with a two-ear stalk, later delivering it to the Genitti market.

"I can't believe it," said Ryan. "There's got to be only one. They must be growing a stalk with two seeds."

Back to Beemer: "One seed, one stalk. There's no such thing as a two-seeded stalk," he laughed.

Now armed with the inside scoop, I was prepared to return to the club meeting this week to finally put Genitti in his proper place. But wouldn't it be nice, I thought, to bring along several stalks as evidence.

So Sunday afternoon I drove through the countryside in search of multi-ear stalks. But, alas, everywhere I looked I found only one-ear stalks and only rarely stalks with two ears.

So I looked up farmer Milan George, whose field corn covers a good chunk of Northville Township.

"I'm afraid you're wrong," said George. "The average is one in my fields and in all the fields of the farmers I know. MSU must be talking about some special variety, and I'd guess the park produces more ears per stalk because they plant their stalks further apart."

"For maximum production, we grow corn close together. That produces one ear per stalk, although occasionally you'll get what we call a second "sucker" ear. It usually isn't very large. Rarely do you find more than two ears."

So there you have it: even the experts disagree, and the debate rages on.

Meanwhile, George has given me some fresh Kiwanis fodder:

Bet you didn't know that they grow kernels of corn on the stalk's tassel.

The farm, which is located west of the park's Eight Mile entrance, will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday through Friday.

These hours will continue until November, when they will be changed to 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday throughout the remainder of the winter.

Clink, clink -band hears sweet music

It was sweet music to band supporters when the Conrad Langfield marching band trust fund allocated $2,400 as the first contribution toward $18,000 worth of new uniforms for the NHS marching band last week.

In addition, an anonymous donor's pledge of up to $9,000 in matching funds for the band brought even more hope to band supporters who hope to raise about $56,000 for Northville's bands within the next two months.

Leading the way in the fund-raising parade is Band Boosters President Bonnie Wagner. She is being gradually joined by band parents, students, community leaders and school board members.

The official board resolution of support came Monday night when Wagner appeared before the Northville Board of Education and got their written commitment to the maintenance and improvement of band programs in Northville.

"We are asking for a resolution on what we would hope the board would consider its financial responsibility," she said. No dollar figure was cited but the board agreed to a resolution which states the board accepts "yearly financial responsibility" for maintenance and purchase of instruments, for refurbishing the music library, cleaning and mending of marching uniforms, and for purchasing all pins, plaques and letters for band members.

The resolution also states the board will "demonstrate support of the current fund raising activities for the music department."

"That means you have to buy a ticket for every fund raising project we put on," Wagner told the board.

Among the fund raising projects dreamed up by Wagner and a steering committee made up of Phil Olgilvie, A.M. Allen and William Sliger are a "night at the races," and a "rent-a-band" scheme, Wagner said.

"The Northville Downs owners have worked it out with us so that during a night in November we can keep the proceeds from all the admission tickets that students sell," Wagner said.

And band members will be available to be "rented out" to play music for parties or other occasions, Wagner explained.

She added the committee is working on other fund-raising ideas with community businesses.

The band committee is planning a major fund drive next month and hopes to raise all of the money to pay for uniforms and other needed items up to $56,000.

The Band Boosters has already met with three uniform companies to view new uniforms. Tonight they will take a formal vote on which uniform to buy. The 90 uniforms will cost about $200 each, band boosters estimates.

NHS Principal George Aune said school maintenance men will build storage cabinets for the uniforms. Band boosters parents and students will paint the cabinets, Wagner said. Garment bags for uniforms are available from the uniform companies, she said.

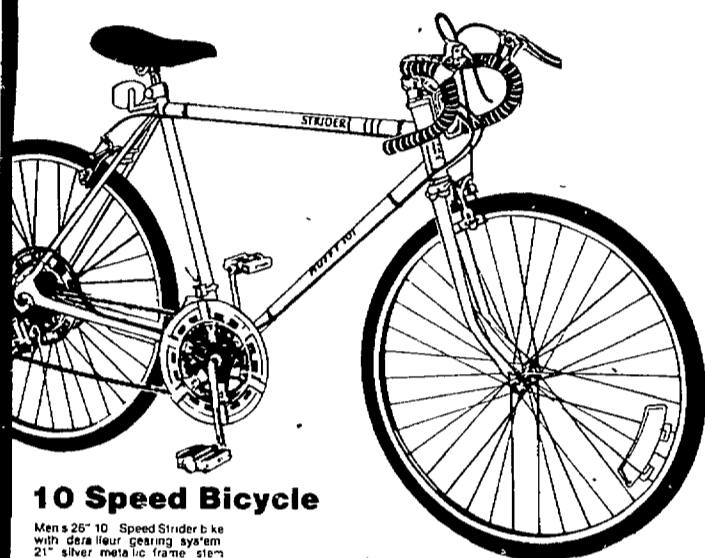

The committee has originally asked Langfield Fund administrators for $18,000 for uniforms but the request was turned down because administrators said they did not want to deplete the $54,000 perpetual fund.

NHS has no marching band this year since students refused to march with shabby uniforms and inadequate music or instruments.

Hiring's complete: Meet library staffers

Beginning Monday a new face will join three familiar ones greeting visitors to the Northville library.

As Anne (Vargo) Mannisto officially becomes head librarian, Melanie Robinson starts as assistant, coming to work with Mrs. Mannisto and aides Kathleen Sprenger and Jane Hannert.

There's no hint of a "Marion the Librarian" image among the four staffers. Even while it is located in temporary quarters in the old community building at 303 West Main — just down the street from city hall — the library welcomes everyone from preschoolers to senior citizens.

It's partly to preserve this friendly community feeling that a major change in administration becomes effective October 1.

Robert DeHoff, chairman of the Northville Library Commission, explains that the library now will be a non-administered one in the Wayne County Federated System.

This means that the staff is locally hired as city employees, eliminating the unwanted rotations of the past. "This way we will have better control of the staff and cost savings that can be used to provide more services in the future," says DeHoff.

It is in the area of benefits that the major savings come, he adds, calling the county's "exorbitant" and stating that the City of Northville can offer similar fringes at less cost.

He stresses that the change is only in the area of personnel. Book buying, catalogue services and interloan program will continue under the federation.

Northville joins such communities as Canton and Livonia in hiring locally. Plymouth is one of only six or eight libraries in the federated system continuing to have the county hire. Earlier this year Northville's former librarian Pat Thomas was transferred to Plymouth.

Lili Grazulis, who replaced her here, will be placed in another federated library, DeHoff reports.

Local staffing also makes it possible for Northville to retain Mrs. Mannisto, who was hired in March 1975 under a CETA grant to be community services librarian.

"The grant was extended for four months, and then another, and then I didn't think about it," says Mrs. Mannisto of her first years on the staff.

She recalls that it was through an application for a position in the Northville Public Schools that she was considered for the CETA position.

This, she remembers, was because her application included job experience in a federally funded library intern program in the inner city Detroit schools. Mrs. Mannisto, then Anne Vargo, already had her bachelor of arts degree in English from the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia at that time.

After two years in the Detroit school post she left to travel, spending a year in France.

When she returned, her parents, the William Vargos had moved to a home on Linden here.

She began attending classes at University of Michigan in 1974, intending to get a graduate degree in English literature. She taught French in Plymouth Montessori School, was a waitress at the Drawbridge Restaurant (then located in the former Methodist church, now the Open Door Outreach Center at Center and Dunlap).

She also began to look for substitute teaching, and that's when her application came to the attention of the city.

Her library work resulted in a change of studies and she now is completing work on her master's degree in library science at U-M. She expects to receive it in 1980.

Many of her outreach activities into the community, such as service to the homebound, and children's programs now will be directed by Ms. Robinson.

Anne Mannisto is excited to be taking over as the library plans to move into new quarters now being added to city hall next January.

"The space is about the same as we had in the lower level of Northville Square," she explains, "but the layout is to be nicer with divided areas. It will be carpeted and decorating will be in oranges and earth tones."

The move to permanent quarters will be the fifth for the library, which for years was housed in the building in Mill Race Historical Village, now known as New School Church, but for many years called by almost everyone the "old library building."

Dr. Mary Lapham had left the building to be used as a library and a meeting place for Northville Woman's Club.

When it was moved to the village and Northville Square built on the site, the library was housed in the lower level of city hall. Expansion took it to the lower level of Northville Square.

It is in the former community building until the new quarters are built.

As the decision was made to take local control of staffing, advertisements for the positions were placed.

"I saw the ad and applied," says the new assistant.

Melanie Robinson is a native of Plymouth, still the home of her parents. After graduation from Plymouth High School, she attended Michigan State University, receiving her bachelor of arts degree in journalism in 1973.

After a stint as a public library aide in San Antonio, Texas, she decided to become a librarian and received her degree from Wayne State University in 1977.

She also has used her journalism training, starting in 1976 with the Plymouth Community Crier where she

Landmark house sold—H.F. Reinhackel leaves

By JEAN DAY

Herman F. Reinhackel, who first came to Northville in 1931 to work at Maybury Sanatorium, last weekend left the landmark home at 315 West Cady where he had lived for many years, taking a four-week trip to Germany. On return the active 83-year-old plans to find an apartment in Medford, Oregon, near his daughter, Susan Miller, who teaches instrumental music there.

The home he and his wife occupied in 1948 (after living in an apartment on Horton following their marriage) has been sold to David Zechel, an interior designer, who has told Reinhackel he plans to renovate the interior and restore the exterior of the house that many think one of the oldest in the community. Like others, Reinhackel thinks it was moved to its present location. It may have been a stagecoach stop here. The late C. Ray Van Valkenburg, Reinhackel's friend in the Masonic lodge here, he recalled, "was positive the house had been moved."

Reinhackel himself had been an active Mason for more than 57 years, joining Detroit Lodge No. 2 and serving as past master and past high priest of Northville Union Chapter.

Before leaving, he talked of how he and his family came to this country. His mother's sister worked as a teenager for an English family in Germany. They took her back to Britain as governess, and she met her husband, a Scotsman. They moved to Canada, and Reinhackel's older brother was sent fare to come live with them in Victoria, British Columbia. He in turn brought Herman Reinhackel in 1913, who later brought another brother.

Reinhackel and his older brother decided to move to New York, passing through Detroit enroute. In New York he began work on cruise boats, visiting many parts of the world for seven years. He decided to come to Detroit, where he worked for the city at Maybury, taking leave to enlist in the Merchant Marine in World War II.

He returned to work at Maybury, retiring as storekeeper. At one time he was ordering supplies for 840 patients. It was the antibiotic streptomycin that cured tuberculosis patients, he cited, eliminating need for the facility which eventually was torn down. The land today is used as a state park.

Bon Voyage to France!

Jim and Cora Marshall invited good friends of William and Nancy Brown to their home on Grace Saturday evening for a going-away party for the couple, who will be leaving for Strasbourg, France.

The Browns, of Brookland Farms, have been residents here for almost 10 years. Nancy Brown has been an English teacher at the high school. Her husband, who was director of industrial engineering and planning for GM Hydramatic, will be manager of GM-Strasbourg, France.

Invited to join friends from Troy and Ann Arbor were local residents, the David Sparlings, Tony Bausses, Walter Rohdes, and Pat Dorrian-Sandbothe.

John Lineman was "roasted"

Milestone birthdays have become reason for some great celebrations recently. Sharon Lineman invited 110 friends to help surprise her husband John on his 40th birthday.

She planned the September 9 evening as a "roast" with nine friends forming the official roasting panel.

Guests included his parents from South Haven, his brother and sister-in-law, Sharon's sister and brother-in-law from Oscoda and friends Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kelly of Middleton, Ohio.

'Shadbrook Open' played

Annual golf outing and family get-together of Shadbrook Subdivision was September 15 with the golf portion played at Meadowbrook Country Club under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Stover. Afterward the Chad Ramseys hosted the family potluck in their yard.

As has become a tradition, the winning golfer is in charge of next year's "open." Winner was Dr. Charles Fountain, so the Fountains will be planning for 1980 with the Walter Rohdes, who will host the potluck.

Phil Donahue comes to town hall Monday

Northville Town Hall is crediting its sellout for the 1979-80 season to the appearance of Phil Donahue, who is to open the current series at 11 a.m. next Monday at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

In order to get Donahue, one of daytime television's most popular personalities, it was necessary to change the day from the traditional Thursday to Monday, October 1, Carolyn DiComo, new chairman, points out.

The remainder of the lectures will be on the Thursdays.

Donahue's office, she reports, says he is excited about his Michigan appearance which will be similar to his television shows.

He has been termed "one of the greatest contributions this country has received from Notre Dame."

The mop-haired Irish Catholic daily examines his conscience and turns it in to what has been called "a subliminal mixture of charm and intelligence" as he talks to 200 women each weekday while another six-and-a-half million watch.

The town hall committee has been told Donahue will meet and greet the audience, "hug, tug, touch, talk, listen, prod, learn and share" as he does on his show.

Mrs. DiComo and her committee are delighted that Donahue's popularity has grown, even since he was signed for Northville TH.

He has been featured in a story in September Reader's Digest and has been a cover topic for People magazine.

Pat Kunst, second from left, was the surprised honoree at a luncheon Thursday attended by 36 mothers from Our Lady of Victory School. In all, 45 mothers and friends of Mrs. Kunst participated in the money tree and gift of a pewter pitcher. ## Hurlbutt-Powell vows recited at St. Paul's St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Northville was the setting for the late summer wedding of Linda Hurlbutt and Jay Powell.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hurlbutt of 7492 Seven Mile, Northville. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Powell of New Hudson.

The Reverend Charles F. Boerger performed the double ring, candlelight rites. David Heinzman was the organist and accompanist for soloist James Berlinski. Mandy Much served as acolyte.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a dress created by the bridegroom's mother. It was a peau de soie, designed with empire waist and floral lace bodice. The fitted upper sleeves extended into sheer long full sleeves. She wore Mrs. Powell's pearl necklace which matched the 28 pearl buttons on her gown.

The bride selected a crown-style headpiece securing her waist length veil. She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white carnations, babies' breath, lilies of the valley, white sweetheart roses and ivy.

Bobbi Geda was her friend's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lori Nettles, Jobeth Hurlbutt, sister of the bride, and Leesha Powell, sister of the bridegroom.

Their matching gowns were lavender and purple sheer prints, worn with lavender underskirt. They were gathered at the waist with purple ribbon and were topped with sheer matching fitted capes. Their white floppy hats were trimmed with matching ribbon.

The flowergirl was LouAnn Powell and Buddy Hurlbutt was ringbearer.

Dan Pfeiffer attended the bridegroom as best man. Serving as ushers were Dan Powell, brother of the bridegroom, Jim Hensly and Jeff Johnson.

Following a dinner reception at the church, the newlyweds and the guests went to the home of the bridegroom's parents for dancing.

The couple resides at Brookdale Apartments in South Lyon following a wedding trip to Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky.

A January 1979 graduate of South Lyon High School, the new Mrs. Powell is employed at the State Savings Bank in South Lyon. Her husband, a 1977 graduate of South Lyon High, is employed with his father in the construction business.

Special guests from out-of-state included the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jacobs of California, and the bride's aunts, Mrs. Jerry Rintala and family of Illinois and Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Kliep of Iowa.

After a wedding trip to Colorado, they are living in Saline.

The Fountains toast 'TAM'

A trip to Detroit Science Center last Wednesday evening held special meaning for Dr. and Mrs. Charles Fountain. "TAM," as its transparent anatomical manikin is called, was on view at the champagne opening. Mary Esther Fountain, a past president of the Wayne County Medical Society Auxiliary, had been in office when purchase of the manikin had become a project of the auxiliary and funds were collected by the auxiliary and the medical society.

Among the 200 attending the reception were the Fountains' son and his wife, the Briah Fountains. Mrs. Fountain reports tapes explaining the manikin's functions are being made by physicians and that schools may contact the science center to make plans to visit.

PTA-PTSA News

Schools slate open houses

EDITOR'S NOTE: Beginning with this issue the monthly Northville PTA-PTSA Column that appears on the last Wednesday of each month during the school year will be compiled by volunteer Jackie Payne. She will coordinate material from the publicity persons in each elementary and junior high.

The Payne family lives in Lexington Commons North, moving here five years ago from Livonia. Jackie Payne is a native Detroit. She has been involved in Amerman PTA in publicity for two years and as art chairman. Son Kevin, 10, is a student at Amerman while Sean, 8, is at Silver Springs.

COORDINATING COUNCIL

The PTA-PTSA Coordinating Council is looking forward to a very productive year beginning with the principals' luncheon to be held this Thursday.

Junior Entertainment Series programs are being planned for elementary and junior high students. A Science Fair for all elementary and junior high students, which will be coordinated by the council and the science teachers, will be held early next year. Junior high entries will be judged and award ribbons presented.

The Council also plans to continue informational meetings for parents on such topics as curriculum, vocational education and health. A high school general information meeting also will be held. A joint meeting with the school board and council is slated. Look for notification of these meetings in this column soon.

The scope of the legislative committee of the council is being enlarged to include direct contact with our legislative representatives. This will enable the council to have input into legislation regarding our schools.

We urge everyone to join their local PTA-PTSA unit. When you support your PTA, you support your school, and most of all, your children.

Glenda Buist, President
Coordinating Council

AMERMAN

With the start of the school year, many exciting activities are planned at Amerman. On October 23 the pancake supper chaired by Rosene Richcreek will be held in the gym between 5:30-7:30 p.m. Cost of the tickets will be $1.25 for children and $1.75 for adults.

If you can work on this event, please call Rosene at 349-6639. In conjunction with the pancake supper the annual book fair chaired by Carol Settino will be held in the school library. The book fair is an excellent time for both parents and children to look over the books available and place their orders.

In the fall Amerman traditionally holds an open house. This year it will be this Thursday. It will begin with the installation of officers in the school gym at 7:30 p.m. followed by the classrooms visitation for both parents and children at 8 p.m.

The social committee under the direction of Kathy Skrade and Joyce Stolberg will provide refreshments in the school gym for all who attend. The open house is a good time to join the PTA. Sharon Lang, membership chairman, will be selling memberships that night as well as all week.

Last Friday Amerman held a new mothers' tea to welcome all mothers who are new to the school. Jan Tiplady, Amerman reading teacher, gave a talk on helping your child learn to read.

Amerman PTA will be selling sweat-shirts and tote bags this fall. Under the direction of Peggy Gettig and Jackie Payne a contest will be run to have a new logo designed for them. All children at Amerman will be encouraged to enter a design.

Shari Clason reports that in Mid-October the Amerman School Handbook should be ready for distribution. Please watch for this and participate in your child's school year.

Claudia Berry

MORaine

Moraine elementary welcomed 425 students from 298 families to the beginning of an exciting new school year. There are 40 new students and 45 kindergartners.

Welcome to the two new staff members: Ms. Cathy Bloomfield, who is teaching a first grade, and Mrs. Marion Yockey, who teaches second grade.

The children are enjoying the new playground areas which were asphalted over the summer. Hop-Scotch and Four-Square games were painted on the asphalt. Grading is continuing to form ball fields. The two climbing domes, which were purchased by the PTA, have arrived and soon will be installed.

Moraine PTA Executive Board Officers for 1979-80 are Co-Presidents Chris Gala and Michele Buelow; Vice-President Karen Zoulos; Recording Secretary Cyndie Metz; Corresponding Secretary Pat Stringer; Treasurer Carolyn Abramovich.

These officers are planning a fun-filled year of activities beginning with an October skating party at the Bonaventure Rink in Farmington.

All children will have their pictures taken October 5. Price to purchase the package will be $5.

An open house is scheduled for Thursday, October 11, 7:30 p.m. Parents will have an opportunity to meet the staff and hear what the teachers have planned for the school year.

Gail Clark

SILVER SPRINGS

This year has an especially exciting beginning at Silver Springs as we have a new principal, Marcia Wiss, and several new teachers.

Our PTSA board is eager to begin. Our first board meeting was September 20. We would like all parents to feel welcome at board meetings as their input is needed to make Silver Springs ever better.

Parents of children who are new students will soon be invited to a new-parent tea. Plans now are being formulated for that event.

We are looking forward to our traditional potluck dinner and open house on October 2, 3 and 4. This even is always popular and well-attended as the great food is only equalled by the good company. The food has been so fabulous in the past that we have been asked to compile a cookbook. So ... have your recipes ready.

During home tour

Eat at churches

Two local church women's groups are adding to the enjoyment of Saturday's annual home tour by serving luncheons while also raising funds for projects.

Maurice salad will be the main course at St. Paul's Lutheran Church while Quiche Lorraine will be the attraction at First United Church. Both will serve from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Pat Eden who is heading the committee for First Methodist Church women says this is the third year the quiche has been served. She plans to bake 42 pies the morning of the tour, anticipating that 250 lunches of quiche, tossed salad, homemade pie and beverage will be served.

The recipe used for the delicious quiche is her mother's.

Since it also offers variations, it is a good one to have in a recipe file. Mrs. Eden shares it.

QUICHE LORRAINE

Line a 9-inch pie pan with pastry dough. Place cut-up, fried bacon pieces over dough. Ham or crab may be substituted for bacon.

Layer 3-4 slices of Swiss cheese over bacon. Green onions, leeks or mushrooms may be added.

Beat 4 eggs; add 2 cups light cream or milk, depending on richness desired. (Milk will be used for the church luncheon.)

Pour over ham or bacon or cheese and add a pinch of nutmeg and 2 tablespoons butter.

Bake at 375 degrees for 35 minutes or until custard is set.

Price of Saturday's luncheon at each church is $3. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the churches or on the day of the tour at Mill Race Village or the churches. Four Seasons Flowers and Gifts, which is doing centerpieces for the Methodist luncheon, also will have tickets in the store this week.

Proceeds from the Methodist luncheon will be used to help furnish the church parlor.

DAR state meet draws members

Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter will be well represented at the Michigan Daughters of the American Revolution's 79th State Conference to be held at the Kalamazoo Center-Hilton Inn today and Thursday.

Members attending are Mrs. D. H. Baumhart, regent, and delegates Mrs. Gladys Deyo, Mrs. Robert Wiloughby, Mrs. Bruce Richard, and alternate Mrs. Donald Urquhart. The luncheon address to-day will be by Mrs. Eldon A. Behr, Great Lakes region senior vice-president, National Society of Children of the American Revolution, and the banquet speaker will be Mrs. Raymond F. Fleck, historian general.

Thursday, Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, national defense chairman, will be guest speaker at the National Defense Luncheon.

Information about joining may be obtained from Mrs. Chris Campbell, membership committee.

CONCERN

It makes the difference between just "doing a job" and really providing a meaningful service

Finger math's novel new YMCA class

Youngsters as well as their parents can find "something new" among fall offerings of the Canton, Northville, Plymouth Family YMCA.

Chisanbop, or finger calculating, is an eight-week course for 3-6th graders to be taught from 4-5 p.m. Tuesdays beginning October 2.

Teacher Ron Zang will use a Korean math system to teach students basic skills through a unique and speedy method of calculating. It is considered useful for most math processes, reports Janet Luce, Y executive director.

She suggests early registration as class size is limited. Fee is $10 for members, $12 for non-members. The class will be taught at Miller School in Plymouth.

Zang also is teaching a math enrichment class for the same age group using math games and activities to enhance skills. Calculators are used. Class meets at the same time on Wednesdays, beginning October 3, at Allen School in Plymouth.

Everyone from the very young through adults is being invited to investigate the needle arts.

Two multi-craft classes in needlework, designed for 3-5th graders and 6-9th graders, are first-time offerings this fall. Macrame, weaving and embroidery are among the crafts explored.

A beginning sewing course for adults is being offered starting October 3.

For anyone thinking of going back to work a new course in resume writing also covers preparing for a job interview.

It will help an applicant discover assets and compile a tailored resume. The four-week class is taught from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays beginning October 10 at Plymouth Middle School East. Fees are $20 for members, $25 for non-members.

Pattern layout and coordination of plaids will be among the basics taught in the eight-week class from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays. Fee is $16 for members, $22 for non-members.

For anyone 50 and older, a new senior fitness class is planned. Creative movement, folk dance and traditional forms of exercise will be done to music. It will be offered from 3:15-4:15 p.m. Wednesdays in Smith School gym in Plymouth at a cost of $6 for members and $10 for non-members.

Cardiovascular fitness for men and women is being offered in two six-week sessions evenings at Starkweather School gym in Plymouth at $10 for members and $12 for non-members.

New for couples is beginning basic ballroom dancing offered in a three-week session beginning in December.

For more information about the complete fall schedule of classes, times, places and fees, call the YMCA at 453-2904 for a brochure.

Plymouth Symphony to begin 34th season

Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's 34th season will begin October 14 with a program featuring Charles Roe, baritone, at 4 p.m.

A member of the New York City Opera Company since 1974, Roe has performed leading roles with many groups, including the Michigan Opera Theater and the Meadowbrook and Cranbrook festivals.

Six programs are planned for the 1979-80 season. All will be held in the Plymouth Salem High School auditorium, Joy and Canton Center, at 4 p.m.

They are made possible in part by a grant from the State of Michigan through the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Ruth Whitmyer, who is serving her third year as Northville representative on the symphony board, states, "It's an area symphony, not at all just Plymouth."

Some of it's members are Northville residents with others being drawn from communities as far away as Howell.

Second program in the new series will feature Alfio Pignotti, violinist, and Samuel Mayes, cellist, November 18 in Brahms' "Double Concerto in A Minor."

"Amahl and the Night Visitors" is planned as a holiday treat for music lovers of all ages December 16.

Margaret K. Lang, violinist, and the William Walton Concerto for Viola and Orchestra will appear January 27, 1980.

John Mohler, clarinetist, in the Mozart "Concerto for Clarinet" written in 1791, the last year of Mozart's life, will be heard March 9 of next year.

"Passion" by Robert W. Jones will conclude the season April 20, 1980. This will be a world premier performance with the Schoolcraft College Community Choir under the direction of Marilyn Jones also featured.

point out that family memberships to the concerts are a "best buy." They save about 25 percent. Information is available by contacting the Symphony Society P.O. Box 467, Plymouth 48170.

Season tickets are $20 each with sponsoring and sustaining ones also available.

Single tickets are $4 except for the Christmas concert, which is $5.50. There are senior citizen rates of $2 and $2.75 for the concerts. Students through 12th grade are free except for the December concert, which is $2.75.

Mizpah Circle cancels

Mizpah Circle, King's Daughters, will not meet October 2 because the state meeting will be held on that date in Fowlerville and local members are hoping to attend, Mrs. William Cansfield, publicity chairman, reports.

The Wayne County convention will be held October 15 at First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

A large participation is expected as Mrs. Andrew Smith of Northville is president, while Mrs. Douglas Bolton, also a Northville resident and long-time member, is vice-president.

Serving the Northville, Novi and Wixom area for 3 generations

There's new face among library staffers

was circulation manager and until now business manager.

But the librarian post remained her goal, and Melanie says she and her two cats are anticipating moving to Northville as soon as she can locate an apartment where the pets will be welcome.

When she inspected library facilities last week, her eyes sparkled as she tried on one of the hand puppets supplied by Friends of the Library.

They're due to see more use, she was told, as Northville Town Hall Award funds are being used to purchase a puppet stage.

It was obvious that Melanie Robinson is going to enjoy being "children's librarian." She also will be taking over publicity duties formerly handled by Mrs. Mannisto.

Kathleen Sprenger has had a 20-year career helping readers find books. She has been a library aide since 1945 and continued with the federation when it was formed to include Oakland County libraries in 1949.

Her family moved to Northville when she was five years old. She attended school here, graduating from Northville High School.

Because she had worked as a student in the school library, she remembers, she took the Civil Service job advertised in The Northville Record.

She began her service under Rhea Wilcox, who served as librarian during the years when the library was located in the white frame building now in Mill Race Village.

Because of her 20 years of service, Ms. Sprenger actually is retiring from the federated system but will continue part-time as "the person who really knows the library best."

Jane Hannert, who has been an aide since 1969, also took a Civil Service examination for the work, being placed first in Plymouth for four months before her transfer to the Northville library.

"My wildest dream came true," says the mother of three who could walk to work from her Dunlap Street home.

Mrs. Hannert has a bachelor of arts degree from Hillsdale College. She earlier had worked as an advertising copywriter and lived abroad for eight years in six countries while her husband worked overseas for Chrysler and Ford Motor Company. The family came to Northville from Brazil 15 years ago.

"It will be 10 years with the library on November 1," she chronicles. She and Kathleen Sprenger alternate shifts, each working 20 hours a week.

The four staffers and the library administrators are looking forward to "a lot of projects" in this new administration.

Expansion of the work of the Friends is anticipated. Mr. Mannisto reports members will be showing the senior citizen films ordered by the library at the new Allen Terrace facility.

As a non-administered library the Northville library officially now functions with a library board composed only of city residents, a requirement to receive state aid. It in turn contracts with the township for joint services, DeHoff explains.

She has been helping Margaret Thorpe, a resident volunteer, sort books for the Allen Terrace library.

A commission of both city and township members headed by DeHoff actually is administrator.

Lois Winters heads the board composed of Carolann Ayers, Shirley Davis, Barbara Gougeon and Burton DeRusha, representing city council.

With DeHoff on the commission are

Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Gougeon, Louis Hopping, Frances Mattison and Dora Rubenstein. Mrs. Rubenstein is a member-at-large while Mrs. Mattison, Hopping and DeHoff are township members.

Valeria Cook heads the Friends of the Library.

They're all pleased that under the new local administration there can be planning to expand hours from the present noon to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, noon to 5 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

This will happen after the move to permanent quarters.

"And this way we keep Anne," concludes DeHoff of the former popular community services librarian.

Mrs. Mannisto must feel like the bridesmaid who became the bride, he agrees, as she did in actuality last August when she married Keith Mannisto.

And no one is happier than the new head librarian who is planning a "smooth move" to the new home of the library when the building is completed.

Pad protection potent; but risk will still remain

By JIM HAYNES

It took a falling apple before Newton could define the concepts of gravity and, as he rubbed the growing knot on his noggin, force.

Today's physics students have it much easier. Instead of sitting underneath apple trees in an attempt at understanding, all the student has to do is switch on a football game and a ready-made live example of Newton's laws come into being.

Force equals mass times acceleration.

Force equals a 270-pound lineman rushing in at a sub 40 mph/40-yard dash rate of movement. That simple.

A 270-pound mass accelerating into you is enough to make anyone drop football and take up thumb-wrestling as an alternate form of exercise. It is also why the development of football padding for the players became popular, particularly with the players.

Compared to yesteryear's gridiron heroes (thin leather helmets and optional, leather shoulder pads) today's football player looks like a cross between an Imperial Trooper from "Star Wars" and an overgrown fiddler crab; all armor and little grace.

There are certain areas on a person's body that if contacted by an accelerating mass will become damaged. Areas such as knees, thighs, hips, tailbone, ribs, shoulders, neck, and head. And for all of these areas modern football players have pads to cover them.

Let's take a look at the modern gridiron gladiator's coat of armor.

Underneath the most obvious of the athlete's padding is what is known as a girdle. This is a form of shorts, with pockets in the rear and side seams that hold formed pieces of stiff foam padding. The girdle's padding protects the sacrum (tailbone), the trochanter of the femur (lower hipbone) and the tip top of the hip bone, where the very painful bruise known as a hip-pointer occurs.

If an athlete has sustained an injury to his rib area, a special rib pad is available. This looks similar to an old-fashioned corset, only it fits around the rib area instead of the southerly portion of the torso. With laces and plastic rib guards woven with the fabric, the rib pad is used as an after-injury protection. Some authorities think it would be more beneficial as a preventative protection and want to see it worn all the time, injury or no.

The shoulder pads are layers of cloth padding and plastic polymer shields formed together into pads that cushion the massive blows which occur whenever two players collide. This pad protects the shoulder and collarbone area.

Over the girdle a pair of special pants are worn. These pants have compartments sewn into them just as the girdle does, but in different areas. The compartments are over the knees and thighs. In these compartments are placed pads which protect much as an insect's tough exo-skeleton does.

A neck brace is used occasionally. This protects the neck and spinal cord not so much from the enemy's blows but from the player's own helmet. When a gridironer's face mask is hit, it forces the helmet back up in the direction of the forehead, thus lowering the rear of the helmet down onto the neck, much in the manner of a karate chop.

When the blow to the mask is quick and powerful, as most blows are in football, this snapping back of the helmet can and has, with a disturbing frequency, delivered a blow to the neck that can kill or paralyze by damaging the spinal cord.

A neck pad is a circular piece of foam that resembles a long white sausage. This is wrapped around the player's neck and fastened onto the shoulder pads, forming a buffer between the helmet edge and the neck.

Add various elbow, forearm, hand and knee pads and you have the basics of football torso protection.

Next comes the helmet. Once just a thin, hard cap of leather, helmets are small miracles of engineering design today. These protective devices are designed to absorb blows to the head and cushion the effect, so that the player doesn't sustain concussions or fractures. Made with hard plastic and fitted with pads within, helmets can be filled with air, fluid or solid foam; all in an effort to absorb shock. The damage comes when the head is snapped back and helmet edge digs into the player's neck-nap.

Does this system of padding work? Gary Strickland, men's athletic trainer at Eastern Michigan University thinks that it does.

"The pads work," he said. "The problem is when players don't wear them, and a lot don't. Receivers and running backs like to remove some of the padding in the belief that a few less ounces will give them that much more speed."

"If the fit is fairly snug the pads will work. This is the key. If for example a player's pants are too short and when he bends over, the knee pad is raised up off of the knee, he is subject to injury to that exposed knee. The thigh pad is important because a lot of blows are delivered to this area with tackling and all. If the pants are loose and the pad shifts, a bruise can occur if

There have been a rash of court suits filed by paralyzed football players against football helmet manufacturers which the injured athletes contend, failed to design safe equipment.

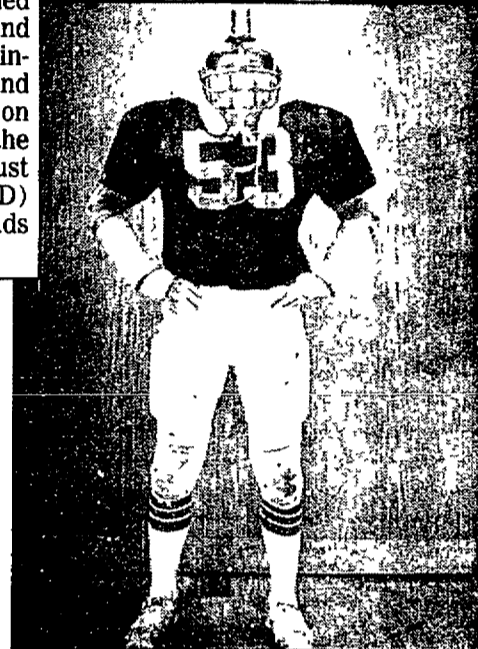

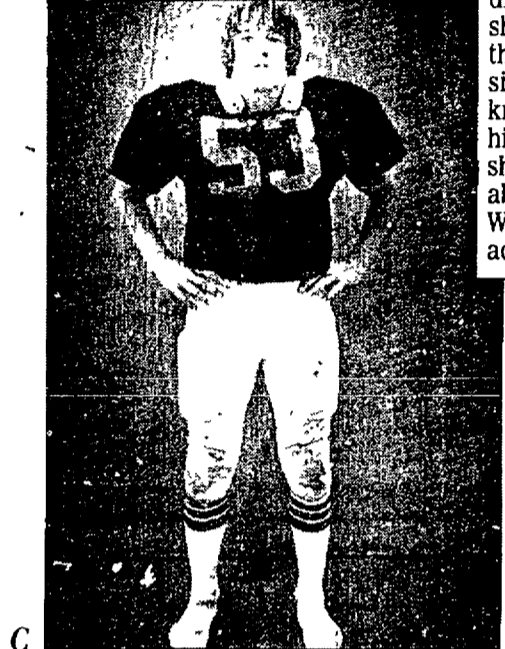

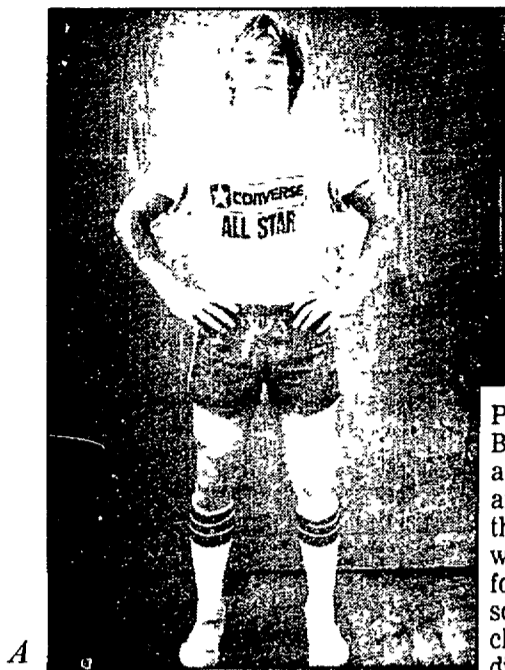

Greg Stead is 21. He is a quadriplegic.

One night in 1971, Stead was playing football for his high school team in Dade County, Florida and he attempted to tackle an opposing player. His face mask hit the player's knee which forced Stead's helmet back into his upper spine. Stead's lawyers argued that Riddell produced a "negligently designed" helmet. The court agreed and awarded Stead a $5.3 million settlement. Stead and Riddell settled out-of-court for a reported $3 million.

"I'm not saying that it's safe," Strickland said. "There are standards that helmets are made by."

Sports Illustrated recently ran a story about NAIRS (National Athletic Injury/Illness Reporting System) in which the organization examined data on 16,090 college and high school football players from 1975 to 1977 and found that there were only 96 cases of "significant concussions." This figure was deemed low by NAIRS, which promptly concluded that football

B) Here Boshoven has added shoulder pads, neck brace, knee and thigh pads and hip pads which fit inside a girdle. C) With the thigh and knee pads snug inside the pockets on his pants and his jersey over the shoulder pads, Boshoven has just about completed his outfitting. D) With the helmet, arm and hand pads added, Boshoven is ready for action.

Friend

I'd known him for quite some time.
An older gentleman with a gentle mind and heart.
We'd been friends ... not seeing one another too often.
He lived on one side of the city; I, on the other.
He'd pass the house, driving his blue car...
nod, or wave hello, always continuing his way.

He left one day, retired from work...
haven't seen him
yet his spirit never left me.
The laughing and the jokes at life... things many people had not taught me.
The pleasant manner of making friends he'll always remain a friend wherever he goes.

The Gaining of A Friend

I said I'll tell you what, If this stuff really works, I'll gladly back it — all the way

He said There you go again, trying to convince me that the sale of leathers has come and seen its day

I said Let's look at something more stable, like the food industry — people need food

He said Your problem is that you won't accept responsibility — understood?

I said Join me on Saturday at 'a certain place', there's something there I've got to do

He said I'll meet you there at two

When three came around and so did my friend
I knew our partnership was over but I'd gained a friend
Neither one of us was any longer willing to pretend
So friend to friend we quickly put an end to our pretend

I said That's no way to talk to my partner — buddy

He said 'Something to the point — but quite ruddy'

I thought it over in a second's flash and said without having to say No thanks — not me

In apparent disappearance — he agreed w. me

So long partner

Unprepared Umbrage

Cars swimming the pavement;
A burst of gold keys interlock a cloud
As if God is throwing them
To the floundering driver who Cannot fight his way through a soft rain storm
And now must meet the tempest head on.

Crowded Memories

The old gentleman stares out of a wrinkled distorted face... watching pigeons scratching for bits of discarded scraps of food in the park... he watches as time seems to pass by in the quiet hillside park—leaving his memories crowded over and over with a sad emptiness...
he knows that all of the yellowed pages of life, now
will never be as they used to be.
They will never have the young fresh happiness in the suns of the seasons.
Just his worn and trembling hands thrust deep into the pockets of a tweed jacket of years ago...
his eyes
seeing memories of the loved ones parted, or faraway...
no one there to need or to be needed by...
To forever watch as time slips by...
with nothing there to lead him...
or to find him.

Natal News

There was an event today —
A mother light
Brought up a bud —
For months I stood
And talked and urged;
Loosed the mud
To no avail.
I seemed to fail
So stuck into the earth
A plastic violet birth;
The plant insulted by this ruse
Gave us a real birth for news.

The Aeolian Harp Restrung

(For Percy Bysshe Shelley)

The Aeolian harp, the lyre once plucked
In ecstasy by scores of mad musicians,
Lies silent now, on sacred Mount — unstruck
By modern "oracles," hidden from their Vision.
The Great Winds — whose soaring aureoles
Intoxicate — still circulate as strong;
But none now come, with euphorial soul,
To listen; attune; to sing their wild Song.

O Lute that lies abandoned now, I vow
To strike thy holy strings; as Seers once
Were lifted up, and laurel wreathes their brow, Descend! Delight! ... Ohhh! Breath of Renaissance!

O Muse upon lyrical pinnacle sharp,
See how I stroke thine Aeolian harp!

Give and Take

Do you have a little time
In the workings of the day
To think about tomorrow
And the part that you will play?

Is your optimism needed
By a friend to see him through
A problem that confronts him
If he should turn to ?

To help an ailing friend
Who may only need your presence
Or a moment you could spend

As you listen to his cares
Though he mentions but a few,
And you find he's more concerned
Over others, even you?

Time

reaching, touching, filling... fulfilling.
But where it does not light, tunes are never played to the hearts that wait in darkness... they never find it. Losing who they are... where they've been, and where they seek to go in life.
Within the secret shadows, time will choose who shall know the peace of life... and gently try to lead those who do not.

Free Verse — Or Worse

I look in vain for words that rhyme
Among some lines called "poetry."
I first must scan conglomerate words
Sans constancy — consistency
To find a point on which to claim
A purpose if any or at all Except as cop-outs from the game —
Futilities, as in a pantomimic pall.
I read the arty poet's page
Of a flossy magazine
And wonder if its editor
Will somehow ever glean
A line that rhymes before he leaves
His corner of this world;
If so, I'd feel he had achieved
An applauding nod, before he furled.

Charles E. Hutton

Flowing Waters

Engulfed by consciousness we are the streams of life's enlightenment... ever flowing throughout the moments of every passing day...
silent, gentle caressing breezes drift beneath the willows of simplicity, while other moments may contain storms of turmoil...
yet
life was given... a fine gift bestowed upon all... to ever flow with the streams and gentle breezes searching out the ecstasy of just finding another dawn awakening to life.

The Dream

I stood upon a lofty perch surveying all below
And how I felt at all perceived no one could ever know
Upon this earth there seemed to be an ever-present cloud
Which draped itself o'er all mankind and trumpets blasted loud.
A booming voice then took command and warnings sounded new,
"You, Man, you have offended Me in all you say and do.
My only Son did give His life while hanging on the Tree.
This greatest sacrifice was made to set all mankind free
Now when I look around it seems My Love has gone for naught
For in a web of sex and sin all humankind's been caught.
I did destroy this world before for less than you have done
And you've forgotten all My Laws in haste to have your fun.
Do not forget My pathway's hard and fraught with many tears
For you must EARN your place within My Mansion in your years.
For if you want your soul to burn for all Eternity
Just travel on that EASY road which leads away from Me."

I shivered as I heard these words I knew to be so true
And then, behold, a lightning bolt did pierce the Heavens through
Within that flash a multitude of angels I beheld
And choirs of heavenly voices in one song seem to meld.
Their chorus sang of glory to Almighty God the King
Reminding earthlings here below His praises we must sing.
At once, when I awoke I quickly fell on bended knee.
The words and scenes of which I dreamed kept coming back to me.
If only each and every man would open up his mind
A greater joy than ever known could be what we might find.
We see ourselves caught up in worldly pleasures of today
But when we reach those "Pearly Gates" what is there we can say?
I dreamed a dream, but in my heart I knew the message well,
And if the world will heed His Words, — well, on-

Go...Fall Color '79! Yeah!!

Homecoming gets colorful welcome

The enjoyment of Saturday football is even greater when it is the homecoming game and the drive to the stadium is through countryside ablaze with fall color, reports Automobile Club of Michigan.

From the Upper Peninsula to southern Michigan, autumn means gridiron heroes, high-stepping marching bands, tailgate picnics and strolls through campus towns shaded by trees with leaves of brilliant red and gold.

Best color viewing in Michigan this year will be September 21 to October 14 in the Upper Peninsula and in the Lower Peninsula north of a line from Ludington to Standish. Advancing south to a line from Muskegon to Port Huron, fall color is at its best in Michigan's midsection October 5-21. Extreme southern Michigan will have its best color viewing October 12-28.

The college football season is in full swing when the fall color spectacle unfolds across the state. October 13 is the date of the homecoming game at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant, Ferris State College in Big Rapids, Michigan Technological University in Houghton, Northern Michigan University in Marquette, Alma College and Saginaw Valley State in University Center.

The homecoming celebration comes at the time when fall color is at its best in those areas.

On that day, college football fans of all ages descend upon campus to join in the colorful festivities. For many, it is an all-day outing complete with tailgate picnics featuring everything from cider and hotdogs to champagne and steak.

Michigan State University in East Lansing celebrates homecoming October 20, along with Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, Hope College in Holland, Kalamazoo College and Adrian College.

The University of Michigan in Ann Arbor hosts its homecoming game October 27, also during the period of best color viewing in that area.

A stroll along the tree-lined banks of the Red Cedar River in East Lansing is an added treat for Spartan football fans. Wolverine fans in Ann Arbor can see the fall color changes in the lush foliage which hugs the shore of the Huron River.

The first tinges of autumn's reds, yellows and golds are found on the campuses of Michigan Tech and NMU in the western U.P., where the color changes start each year.

The fall color gradually moves southward until it finally reaches the college towns of Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor and Adrian.

In addition to these major universities and four-year colleges, Michigan also has many junior and community colleges where football fans can watch a pigskin being kicked around while enjoying autumn's spectacular fall foliage.

Auto negotiations: rippling effect

By WARREN M. HOYT

Contract negotiations between the big three automakers and the United Auto Workers are having lasting effects on statewide issues and not just the individuals involved.

In effect, contract negotiations of such magnitude will, in one way or another, effect the lives of all consumers.

In light of the talks, state budget experts are reducing their revenue estimates for the 1979-80 fiscal year, but say the economic bad news is not yet bad enough to begin planning a cutback of the recently-adopted $4.6 billion budget.

However, a prolonged strike could severely hurt production and increase unemployment enough to have a devastating effect on the state budget process.

One of the Legislature's top priority items, reform of workers' compensation laws, has also been delaying pending resolution of the auto contract talks.

A special legislative task force adjourned its discussions in early August, planning to return in 30 days to renew the deliberations.

However, officials in and close to the task force say the results of auto negotiations could have a direct bearing on workers' compensation reform.

Participants in the discussions said business interests, in particular, would like to delay further efforts on reform until the cost of living issue for retirees is settled in the talks.

They see a high relationship between that issue and setting cost of living increases for recipients of workers' compensation benefits.

Business does not want to set a cost of living pattern in the workers' compensation negotiations that would then serve as a pressure point on the automobile companies.

Participants fear a long delay in resuming discussions on workers' compensation could prevent a reform measure from being passed either this or next year.

A strike of several months could put discussions off until spring and traditionally, the Legislature is reluctant to pass substantive legislation during the spring of an election year.

To correct inequities in sentencing of convicted felons, a trial judge should be given a handbook of guidelines, and appellate courts should be able to modify sentences, a special Supreme Court committee has recommended.

The recommendation for setting guidelines for sentencing is an alternative to proposals by the State Bar of Michigan for presumptive sentences.

The Bar's plan would presume felons would receive a particular sentence for a particular crime, with the trial judge required to justify more lenient or harsher treatment.

The Supreme Court committee, chaired by Justice Blair Moody Jr., recommended the court appoint a commission to establish guidelines for optional use by judges over a two-year trial period, with the Legislature creating a similar group thereafter.

Moody said the Supreme Court will probably begin that process around the first of next year.

The committee said guidelines would be set with the aid of a mathematical grid to evaluate criteria of sentencing, to assign a specified number of points to factors such as criminal record, and excluding information such as the offender's race or economic status.

Those guidelines would operate within current law on indeterminate sentencing, which sets maximum and minimum punishments for each crime.

Enterprising men gave state distinctive landmarks

While other histories emerged from conflict, Michigan invented, prospered and developed its biography both industrially and culturally.

The state's enterprising forefathers not only left their prestigious mark upon the world, but also endowed Michigan with a rich cultural heritage and an impressive medley of distinctive landmarks to be enjoyed by residents and visitors alike.

History, industry and homemakers know Dr. Herbert H. Dow best as the founder of Dow Chemical Company, Midland, Michigan, one of the largest chemical companies in the world today. Lesser known is the fact that Dr. Dow's hobby was gardening. His pursuit of that pastime developed into one of Michigan's loveliest tourist attractions.

Dow Gardens began in 1899 as 10 acres of sandy soil covered with jack pine that Herbert Dow referred to as his "back lot." Today, the Gardens feature 26,000 annuals, one of the most outstanding collections of crab apple trees anywhere, flowers, shrubs and trees from the world over. The grounds are punctuated with quiet lanes, waterfalls, lagoons and bridges.

Dow Gardens is open throughout the year, displaying a complete cycle of seasonal beauty. Tours of the Gardens are informal, but the staff often presents informational programs of particular interest to home gardeners.

John and Horace Dodge possessed an uncanny mechanical genius that took them from building bicycles to the manufacturing of automobile parts and finally the manufacture of their own automobile.

Matilda Rausch was the brothers' secretary, and married John Dodge in 1907. After their marriage, Matilda served as manager and catalyst for the brothers' business.

John purchased a 120-acre farm near Rochester during the formative years of the company and used it as a retreat when he needed solitude or time to work out the problems of his pioneering enterprise. Matilda Dodge moved to the farm after her husband's death in 1920. In 1925, she married Alfred G. Wilson, a Wisconsin lumber broker, and shortly afterwards, they built Meadow Brook Hall on the John Dodge "Farm."

In 1957, the Wilsons gave their estate to Michigan State University for establishment of another campus, known today as Oakland University in Rochester. The elegance and charm of the Hall has been retained through its conversion to a residential conference and cultural center.

Among the 75 plus rooms open to the public are the Great Hall, with its Kingswood stone arches; the Drawing Room, done in English oak and accented by a one-piece, 30 x 50 foot carpet of red velvet; the O'Neil Room, which houses a three manual, 66 rank Aeolin pipe organ which can be operated with or without an organist; and the Nursery with its diminutive furnishings and delightful appointments.

Both public and group tours of Meadow Brook Hall are available throughout the year.

Fair Lane Mansion in Dearborn, was Henry Ford's 15th and final home. It was completed in 1915 at a cost in excess of $2 million. The home contains 56 rooms including 15 baths and 8 fireplaces and is constructed of concrete and marblehead limestone. Some of its magnificent appointments include the ornamental plaster ceiling in the library, imported in pieces from an English manor house, the main staircase of hand carved oak and the 18 light brass chandelier imported from Belgium.

Perhaps one of Fair Lane's most interesting features is the four level powerhouse for which Thomas Edison laid the cornerstone in 1914. The different levels served as wheel and generator rooms, a twelve-car garage and Ford's private laboratory. In 1920, the mansion's water system provided service for all of west Dearborn.

Today, Fair Lane is part of the University of Michigan's Dearborn campus. It serves as the center for many educational and community conferences and dinners with special guided tours available to the public.

Unlike other early mining communities, Calumet, Michigan outgrew its boom town, dance hall days and developed as a cultural center during the historic copper mining era of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. The state's Calumet Theatre is testimony to that prosperous period and monument to the great talents that crossed its stage.

The Theatre was completed in 1900 at a cost of $70,000. The stage measures 60 feet in width, 28 feet in depth and 60 feet in height. The fly galleries are separated by 48 feet and are 30 feet above the stage floor. A disappearing stage — said to have been constructed especially for Houdini — was used for disappearing acts as well as lowering heavy props and wardrobe trunks to the prop and dressing room area. The Theatre originally had twelve dressing rooms and a seating capacity for 1,200.

The Theatre's "star" dressing rooms housed many immortals of the entertainment world. Sarah Bernhardt, Otis Skinner, Lillian Russell, Maude Adams, Caruso, Eva Tanguay, John Philip Sousa, Madame Modjeska and James O'Neil are among the luminaries whose brilliant performances brought Broadway to the Copper Country.

Everything must either change with time or cease to continue on. Those things which have endured, preserve our history. The Turner-Dodge house in Lansing, as seen today, has indeed changed from the original structure built in 1853. However, its growth and adaptation to the needs of its successive owners has added to its historical essence and quality.

The Turner-Dodge house, a home to some of Michigan's political founders, offers a meaningful glance back for those interested enough to look.

James Turner, the house's original owner, was instrumental in developing the bustling roadways and business section of the growing city surrounding the new State Capitol. Turner's daughter, Abby, married Frank Dodge, prominent Lansing lawyer, civic leader and legislator. During their residence, Frank and Abby made considerable changes to the structure.

The house first changed ownership when the Dodge family purchased it following Frank's death.

In 1958, the Great Lakes Bible College

assumed ownership, and in 1974, the city of Lansing purchased the grounds, now known as Dodge Park. Renovation of the house, grounds and interior began in 1975, with much care taken to preserve the interior trim and design.

The Turner-Dodge House is distinguished today as both a State and National Historic Site. Continuing effort and concern is devoted to preserving the house and its historical significance for Michigan.

The Greater Lansing Historical Society offers tours of the Turner-Dodge House by appointment.

Cranbrook Educational/Cultural Center, Bloomfield Hills, began as the home of George G. and Ellen Scripps

Booth and their five children. Ellen Scripps was the daughter of James E. Scripps, owner of The Detroit Evening News. Booth joined the family paper after his marriage to Ellen in 1887, and through his shrewdness, skill and management, became president and publisher of The Detroit News.

The Booths' prosperity led them to purchase 175 acres of barren farm land in Oakland County, where Cranbrook, then an idea, was to materialize.

Cranbrook House was named after the village in Kent, England. Its design is distinctively English Manor house. All of the formal dark English furniture, upholstered in fine tapestries and needlepoint designs, are the original pieces the Booths' selected and used. The house also retains the Booths' impressive collection of artifacts from family travels.

Christ Church Cranbrook follows the beautiful Modern Gothic architectural design of both Dr. Samuel Marquis and George Booth. The church houses an exclusive collection of religious arts, and treasures of outstanding artisans, as far back as the 12th century. The Episcopal church serves a parish of 1,150 families in the Cranbrook community.

For all there is to see and do in Michigan, write the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, P.O. Box 30226, Lansing, MI 48909.

Anatomy of grid pad

One aspect of the helmet-safety debate is the lawsuits. In 1977 there were 14 helmet manufacturers in the country. Now there are eight. How many will there be in five years? With soccer gaining in popularity there are some experts who think football may be on its way out.

"There is the possibility of no football in three years at small high schools," Strickland said. "With the lawsuits we are very, very close to not having anyone in the business of making helmets. I feel that there will always be a risk in the sport of football. People are working to create a safer helmet, but there will always be risk. Those on the soccer bandwagon may not be too far out of line."

Soccer is certainly less expensive and less dangerous than football. But if one person has his way, football will be here to stay.

He is Byron Donzis, an inventor and an avid football fan. He is working on a number of inventions and innovations for the game that may either save the game or make its swan song a memorable sight.

The Donzis story starts with Dan Pastorini, the Houston Oilers quarterback. One day last season Pastorini was in the hospital recovering from the mugging he received at the hands of defensive lineman the previous Sunday. Donzis and a friend sneaked past hospital security and into Pastorini's room. Without more than a brief introduction, Donzis' friend suddenly produced a baseball bat and proceeded to pummel the inventor about the ribs. It impressed Pastorini, who was suffering from broken ribs. Donzis, yawning, opened his shirt to reveal a bizarre suit of armor that at once caught Pastorini's imagination. He ordered a set and now performs wearing it.

It was an inflatable vest designed to cushion severe blows by dispersing the force throughout the air pockets sewn into the garment. It worked. Now Donzis is developing new types of padding for NFL teams. He is also developing ideas to liven up the game for the decade to come. Changes that Donzis feels are vital if football is to survive.

He outlined his predictions for Sports Illustrated recently:

"We'll see equipment that will be supportive of body functions. I'm visualizing devices that will allow a player — a receiver, say — to jump two or three feet higher than he does now. Or we'll put a strong enough biochemical device on a quarterback's back so he can pass 150 yards, which will be important, because the field will have to be that large by then. Or a power-pack device on a running back's legs, so he can drive through the line. And we'll need smarter players, too, because you won't be able to use these charter devices except for a few specified number of times each game. If you're a defensive back and you waste your spring action on a play that doesn't require it, then the receiver can spring up six feet high the next time, and you won't be able to deal with him. And think of the excitement in the stands when the odds on the pari-mutual boards reflect this."

He also foresees a computer located inside the quarterback's helmet for assistance in selecting plays; stadium seats that collect power from the sun; fields that can be blown-up like a large air mattress to make it safer; computer training devices; women as quarterbacks in professional football because of their higher threshold of pain; and three-dimensional audience instant replay devices so people in the stands can see holograms of instant replays.

It will be interesting to see what happens in the future of football. Will the athletes resemble James Bond mechanical marvels or will the sport die in the wake of soccer fever? As someone once said, "May the force be with you."

Kickers revel in home debut; beat Central 3-1

Behind second-half goals from Kevin Wayne, Russ Gans and Rick Marshall, Northville's newest varsity team made its home debut a winning occasion as the Mustangs defeated Detroit Catholic Central 3-1 Monday night.

The first half was scoreless as both teams seemed to be tight, or nervous. I felt that we didn't play well in the first half," coach Ron Meteyer said. We weren't moving well. The guys were nervous about this being their first home match. They started putting pressure on themselves to win and this caused them to tighten up."

After talking it over at halftime, the Mustangs decided to get to work.

The first score came at about the 43-minute mark of the second half. Swayne picked up rebound off of a shot fired by Marshall and slipped it in past the sprawling goalie for a score and a 1-0 Northville lead.

But just a few minutes after that, Central swarmed Craig Wisbiski in the Mustang nets and eventually a shot by Bob Paul found its way past him to tie the score at 1-1.

That remained the score until about the 33-minute mark when Gans stole the ball from a Central player at mid-field, dribbled his way through six Detroit defenders and then slammed the ball past the helpless Central goalie from

SIDELINES

By Jim Haynes

Why are sports popular?

Every Friday I drag myself to the typewriter and proceed to sit and stare at it for an hour or so. In that time I mull over all of the possible topics I can come up with for this column and for Sports Talk. It is really easy and very often hard to think of topics that are of interest to both the reader and myself. Sometimes I fail.

Why are sports so popular in our society? That's a hard one. The difficulty lies not with the scarcity of possible answers, but rather, with the many responsibilities that exist.

A sociologist would argue that sports are so popular because the surplus amount of leisure time peculiar to our present society lends itself to "easy filling" by sports fads such as jogging, tennis, racquet ball and bicycling. Translated, with so much more spare time than ever before, Americans have a need for something to do, and sports fill the bill nicely.

A psychologist would argue that while sports may fill gaps in time for people, they also fulfill basic emotional drives that we all have within us in varying strengths. Man was a prehistoric hunter and lived violently in order to survive. While the human brain was advanced enough to lift mankind out eventually of the violence to the relatively safe environment that we live in today, the violent drives and instincts that were passed on to us genetically by our ancestors (those who were less violent and tough died while the hardy, violent individuals survived to reproduce and thus pass their genes on to further generations; the basic principle of evolutionist's survival of the fittest theory). Sports are a socially acceptable outlet for these drives of violence. That's why football, hockey, roller derbies and boxing are so popular. Sports is a release valve.

Yes, yes, a biologist would agree. But it goes further than that. Sports does indeed fill leisure time and our violent emotions can be vented through contact activities. But we are basically biological creatures and still operate on basic principles of biological truth. We reproduce, we eat, we breathe, we grow old, we die. Sports fits in the reproduction niche. Like prairie grouse dancing and enlarging their throat bags or peacocks displaying their brilliant colors in hopes of attracting a mate, sports allow young males (and now, females) to display in an attempt to attract a member of the opposite sex. In the old days the heroes displayed by beating up the bad guys. Roy Rogers, John Wayne, Rudolph Valentino. All won the fights and all got the girls in the end. Nowadays the athlete has become the hero. Joe Namath, Bruce Jenner, Mark Spitz; all display in sports and all are sex symbols. Do you remember how you used to imagine yourself scoring the winning touchdown in the final seconds to save the day? And how, in your fantasy, the prettiest cheerleader always waited after the game for you to walk her home? Point proved.

A philosopher may argue that sports are merely man's way of giving meaning to life. Sports are the only endeavor where you have a winner and a loser, competition and teamwork, all within a small amount of time. To win is to succeed and to lose is to fail. If sports is a metaphor for life than the middle-aged father of five who has nothing to look forward to but a mortgage, a no-where job and the responsibilities of raising a family, can step out of that losing existence and into a winning one by playing tennis. If he wins he is no longer a loser in life. He has won at something. Therefore, life is worth living. I think Vince Lombardi would be a good example of this explanation of sport's popularity. Vince once said that "winning isn't everything. It's the only thing." That was his philosophy and he carried it to his grave.

While all of these approaches to the question have relative degrees of validity, perhaps the most accurate would be the answer a Little League baseball or rec league soccer player would give. They would say that sports are so popular because they are fun!

Harrison tops gridgers 16-0

It was a matter of two extremes. From the highest highs emotions can rise to against John Glenn two weeks ago to the dull, uninspired go-through-the-motions that Northville displayed against Harrison last Saturday. The result was a 16-0 loss to the league leading Farmington team.

"Harrison is good, as I thought they would be," Northville coach Dennis Colligan said. "If you've been around here for a long time, you'd understand. I don't think, no, I know they aren't better than we are. But we've never been able to beat them."

When going into a fight of this nature, it is always best to have every weapon at your disposal ready for action. The Mustangs had to go up against Harrison with only a partial offense. Senior offensive backs Joe Hamp and Bob Crisan were both unable to play.

Hamp started the game but was belted on the first series of downs for Northville. Hamp received a severe bruise to his thigh and didn't finish the game. He has been working out at only half pace in practice this week. It isn't known whether he will be able to play against Canton at home this Friday.

Crisan missed all of last week with a viral infection. He didn't even attend school let alone practice. But he is back working out with the team and although he is still a bit weak, according to Colligan, Crisan should be able to suit up for Friday's contest.

Without the two stallions, Northville's ground attack centered on the shoulders of fullback-turned-halfback Scott Millard. He responded with a solid nine carries for 37 yards. Bob Thomson, filling in for Millard at fullback, picked up 32 yards on six carries. David Greer carried the ball four times for 17 yards from his quarterback slot.

The first quarter was a series of punts as both teams seemed to take a while to get untracked. Then, with just a minute or so remaining in the first quarter, Harrison put a drive together that ended with a six-yard quarterback sweep for the touchdown. Harrison's kick was good and the score stood at 7-0 going into the second quarter. The second quarter came and went with no points scored but a lot of bruises and contusions

JV Mustangs stop Glenn

The Northville JV football team raised its record to 2-1 on the season with a 14-8 win over the John Glenn JV last Thursday.

The Mustangs got things going in the first quarter when, after a partial block of a Glenn punt by Mark Holland, the team drove 28 yards in nine plays to hit paydirt. Scott Spaman carried the ball on eight of those nine plays. Quarterback Tim McLaughlin carried it over from the one-yard line for the score. Spaman cut into the end zone from left tackle for the two-point conversion. That gave Northville an 8-0 lead.

In the second quarter Glenn scored on a safety. Mustang punter Scott Faustyn chased the ball, which was hiked over his head, back into the end zone where he fell on it and was tackled by Glenn defenders. That made the score 8-2.

In the fourth quarter the Glenn quarterback dropped back to pass and threw for his wide receiver heading up the field. Two Northville pass defenders hit the ball at the same time, deflecting it. The Glenn end caught the ball and carried it into the end zone for a 27-yard play. The attempted kick for the point-after-touchdown conversion failed, but Northville was called for being offside. So Glenn got another crack at it and tried to run for two. The Mustangs smothered him. The score was now 8-8 late in the fourth quarter.

Mustang Chris Dimitroff returned the ensuing kick-off 17 yards to Northville's 43. Glenn was called for a personal foul on the play and the ball was moved up 15 yards to the Glenn 42-yard line. From there it took McLaughlin and company just 10 plays to score.

On the drive, Dimitroff carried the ball seven times for 28 yards. Spaman carried twice for 10 yards. The Mustangs scored on a pass from McLaughlin to Kirk Robinson that covered four yards. The conversion failed.

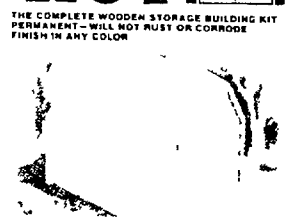

Coach Lee Holland singled out four outstanding players on Northville's defense. Dimitroff at defensive end made nine unassisted tackles and assisted on two more. Holland, at the other defensive end post, had eight tackles and one assist. Brian Mullen manned a linebacking post and made three tackles, eight assists and had one interception. Vince Candella had five tackles and three assists from defensive tackle. This defensive core helped hold Glenn to just three first downs the entire game.

Offensively, Spaman led the charge

Northville kicked off to Harrison to start the second half. On the third play from scrimmage, Farmington fumbled the ball and Northville recovered on the Harrison 43-yard line.

"This was the turning point in the game for us," Colligan said. "We moved the ball down to their 10-yard line. By the way, a big play in that series was a fourth down catch Rob Marzoni made on a pass from Dave Greer. But we moved it down to inside their 10 and they intercepted a pass in the end zone. That just seemed to take the air out of our sails."

Harrison put a drive together following the interception that lasted eight and a half minutes. A big play for them was a 29-yard pass completion on a third and 18 situation. They also made two key fourth-down conversions in the drive. The culmination was a 33-yard touchdown pass that put Harrison up 13-0. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

"Two of our guys were on the ball with the receiver. The quarterback threw it into a crowd and their receiver just came up with it," Colligan said. "They always seemed to get the big play when they needed it while we couldn't."

point-blank range. That gave Northville the lead at 2-1 and it never changed hands after that.

Northville kept Central bottled up in its own end of the field for most of the second half. Occasionally though, the Central players would work their way down for a shot. One in particular highlighted the goal-keeping skills of Wisbiski.

The Central players passed the ball deftly between them until there was a wall of players surrounding the net. Then, from a barricade of bodies, a Central player sent a shot curving towards the net at top velocity. Wisbiski never flinched. He homed in on the projectile as if he were a guided missile. He curved with the ball and caught it right before it entered the net.

At the nine-minute mark of the second half, Rick Marshall picked up a "gimme" goal. He shot a weak effort towards the Catholic Central goal only to have it deflect off of two Detroit players and into the net past the startled goalie.

"Central was a fair team," Meteyer said. "Catholic Central played very

"We were more aggressive in the second half. It was all our show except for that first half. In the second half we went for the ball and fought for it. We had a lot of tackles and played aggressively instead of waiting for them to make a mistake."

An interesting sidelight to the game was the fact that many of the top players on the Catholic Central team are from Northville. Jim Pinkelman, Doug Marshall, Bob Paul, Kevin Berlin, Pat Dewan and Mike Lang all live in the town. These boys played along side most of the Northville players in the spring and fall rec soccer leagues.

A sad note about the game on Monday was that vandals jumped the fence surrounding the varsity football field over the weekend and proceeded to destroy one of the brand new, heavy-duty nets that the school had purchased for the team this season.

Winners named

Two contestants missed only two games — but most missed four or more in the second week of the football contest sponsored by this newspaper and cooperating businesses.

By nearly correctly guessing the score in Texas A&M's triumph over Penn State, Kirk Morrison of 44004 Foothills Court, Northville, won first place with two mistakes. He had Texas winning 28-17 when in reality it won 27-14.

He missed the Tampa Bay and Farmington Harrison victories.

Also missing two games, but not nearly as close in the tie-breaker, was Carmen White of Westland. She had Penn State winning by a score of 24-14. She was 23 points of the mark.

In third place, with four mistakes, was Russell Rothermel of 42370 Workham Road, Northville. He was 22 points off the score.

Other contestants with four mistakes, but who were not as close in guessing the tie-breaker score, were:

Chris Odom (23 points off), Matt Eaker, Paul Caroselli, Kelly Bell, Dave Babich, and Steve Kroetsch.

Those missing five games were:

A total of 13 contestants missed seven games, 11 missed seven, 11 missed eight, and the remainder had nine or more mistakes.

Most difficult games for contestants were Penn State's loss to Texas A&M, Tampa Bay's 21-6 victory over Los Angeles, and the Detroit Lions' first victory of the season — a 24-23 victory over Atlanta.

In the first week's contest, judges incorrectly listed Minnesota defeating Miami. Nevertheless, Jeff Stuart remained in first place, while Rob Ade took second and Steve Alföldy third.

Hoopsters lose 36-33

Northville girl's basketball coach Dave Schoopp is going to have to take some time off from school soon. He's going to have to see a heart specialist about a pace-maker. His team dropped its second 36-33 last-minute loss heart-breaker in a row last week, dropping a game to Howell. A coach can only take so many of those a season.

Two weeks ago the Mustangs dropped a 36-33 contest in the last seconds to Novi. Howell was the only game the Mustangs had last week and Schoopp hoped that the enthusiasm that Northville generated against Novi could be carried over to this contest. It was.

"The kids took the loss pretty hard," Schoopp said. "They thought they had a real good chance. I told them that it was just one of those things. We just can't seem to get that first win." Northville is now 0-4.

"Our league schedule hasn't started yet and Canton's been beaten twice already, so we're still in it. Our defense really played well. They really hustled. It was their best defensive effort of the year. The trouble is that we have no offense, especially in the first quarter. We have no offensive confidence. We took only five shots in the first quarter," Schoopp said. And of those five, the Mustangs made just one.

Howell led the game 8-2 after the first quarter and 18-9 at half time. In the third quarter, however, Northville woke up and started to close the gap.

With 50 seconds left to play, the score stood at 33-32 in Howell's favor. "We wanted to go for the same good quick play that had been working for us in the second half. In it, Jacques (Nixon) is isolated with the ball and gets a shot from in close. This time she missed. The ball went into the hoop and back out. When a Howell girl came down with the rebound, she was fouled and made both of her free throws to pull her team ahead," Schoopp said.

For Northville, Nixon had 19 points. Sue Flannigan scored six and Sue Townsend tallied four.

Northville tennis team wins four; now 8-0

They make it look so easy. Victory after victory. Opponents fall by the wayside as if they were empty pop bottles instead of veteran tennis players. Northville extended its winning streak to eight straight as the Mustangs won four contests last week.

Northville had the most trouble with Franklin. The Mustangs won 5-2. Holly Sixt took first singles 6-0, 6-2 but Eve Englemeyer lost at second singles 1-6, 4-6. This was the first loss for her this season. At third singles, Lisa Gejoff won 6-2, 6-4 but Sherri Robbins lost at the fourth slot 4-6, 1-6.

It was up to the doubles teams. Lynn Herald and Stephanie Colovas beat their opponents 6-1, 6-4. At second doubles, Jenny Missel and Kim Hubbard escaped a close one winning 6-3, 1-6, 7-6. Debbie Spade and Jana Holloway won handily at third doubles 6-2, 6-3.

The JV even got into the act. Kim Smith lost her singles match 1-8. Sue Smith also lost, 7-8. Lori Kormanis and Kathy Phillips won at first doubles, 8-7 but Tracy Wool and Kathy Montgomery lost 7-8. Colleen McCormick and Maureen Naszradi won at third doubles 6-5.

Mott was the next victim to fall by the wayside. Sixt won at first singles 7-5, 6-1; Englemeyer won at second singles 6-3, 6-4; Gejoff lost at third singles 4-6, 4-6 and Robbins won easily at fourth singles 6-1, 6-0.

Herald and Colovas won 6-2, 6-3 at first doubles; Missel and Hubbard won 6-2, 6-1 at second and Spade and Holloway won 6-0, 6-1.

On Friday, Walled Lake walked into the Mustang stampede and came out bruised to the tune of a 7-0 whitewashing.

Sixt shut her opponent out 6-0, 6-0 while Englemeyer won 6-1, 6-1. Gejoff won at third singles 6-1, 6-0 and Robbins had no problems with her match, winning 6-1, 6-2.

In the doubles competition, Herald was out due to illness so Sue Smith replaced her on the first doubles unit. Smith and Colovas beat their opponents 6-2, 6-3. Missel and Hubbard won 6-1, 6-3 and Spade and Holloway won 6-1, 6-2.

The last match came on Monday evening when the Mustangs traveled to league opponent Livonia Churchill. It was no contest. For the second straight time, Northville shut its opposition out.

Sixt beat Patty Peel at first singles 6-1, 6-1. Englemeyer beat Kim Wellwood 6-1, 6-1 at second singles and Gejoff won at the third slot, beating Debbie Young 6-2, 6-1. Robbins disposed of Debbie Fisher 6-2, 6-0 to make it a clean sweep of the singles competition.

Herald was back in force for this contest and she and Colovas proved it by beating Patty Mix and Donna Richards 6-4, 6-1. Missel and Hubbard went from extremes in their win over Carol Koch and Amy Piper. The Northville team won 7-6, 6-0. Spade and Holloway completed the team sweep by beating Kathy Bower and Patty Mellon 6-1, 6-3.

"We play Canton on Wednesday," coach Uta Filkin said. "They are supposed to be the toughest in our league. It should make for a good match. If we are to get any competition this season I would think that it would be from them.

"It is a little difficult to get up for these matches. Mott, Western, Churchill and Harrison are really weak. Although we play all of these teams again this season, from what I've seen, if we can beat Canton on Wednesday, it would be just like wrapping up the league."

Lynn Herald

Thinclads run over Canton

Northville opened its Western Six league schedule with a 23-32 win over Plymouth Canton last Thursday. The Mustangs won the meet without the service of their top two runners, Harry Couyoumjian and Dave Malinowski. Coach Dave Gram decided to hold the runners out of the meet.

"I decided to take a gamble. I pulled Harry and Dave because I thought we could beat them (Canton) and I wanted to bring up some of the younger guys to give them experience."

"We are really becoming a seasoned team. Even without those two guys, we took 1, 2, 5, 6 and 9th places."

Scott Dayton led the field in this meet. He crossed the finish line in a time of 16:50. This time cut his previous best by 30 seconds. "Scott is becoming a real consistent runner," Gram said. He led the pack. He had a 100-yard lead.

Clark Couyoumjian placed second. His team was 17:07. He and Canton's Mike Talasa battled to the wire for the second position, with Couyoumjian leaning in just at the finish line to finish ahead. Talasa's time was 17:09.

Ross Grover clocked in at 17:08. "Ross worked hard last week. He cut his time by 10 seconds. He is showing determination and is starting to pass people. His previous best was a 17:25 and I think he is capable of breaking into the 16's," Gram said.

Doug Wright, who is coming back slowly from an injury, took sixth place with a time of 17:34. "He's beginning to bounce back. He has the potential to run beside Dayton. He has the strength and potential to be up in the top 16's. When he gets healthy, we'll have four really tough runners," Gram said.

Jim Williams, a sophomore, came in ninth for the Mustangs. His time was 18:22. "On September 1st, Jim Williams' time was 19:14. At this meet he cut it to 18:22. That's improvement," Gram said. "Harry and Dave ran as exhibition runners. They ran with the field along side of our runners. Harry is a captain and both encouraged and pushed our runners along. They were in the race giving verbal encouragement."

The Mustangs were dealt a bit of bad news last week. Senior co-captain Tom Doyle has been lost for the season. Doyle fractured his ankle while running in the Schoolcraft Invitational meet two weeks ago.

"In Tom's sophomore year, he showed just as much potential as Harry, but since then, he has had one serious injury after another. At Schoolcraft he slipped on a sandy spot and fell, fracturing a bone in his ankle," Gram said.

Gram and the Mustangs picked up some additional runners when Tom Allen, a senior, decided to come back out for the team after playing in hockey tournaments in the early part of the school year. Todd Vincent is also running with a JV. Vincent is a wrestler and is primarily interested in conditioning for that sport. But Gram sees them as being valuable members of the team.

"Both are hard-working and should be good influence on the JV. They are providing senior leadership and are running right up there," Gram said.

"Dan Whitaker is moving back and fourth (between varsity and JV.) He is capable of breaking into the 17's after his 18:06 at Schoolcraft. I think he's about ready to make his move," Gram said.

The Mustangs will take on the Harrison harriers on Thursday and then host a four-school meet on Tuesday, October 2 when Redford Union, Edsel Ford and John Glenn come to town. All home cross country meets take place at Cass Benton Park just off of Hines Park. The meets start from Toboggan Hill.

Mustang golfers tie for first

The Northville golf team wins when it needs to. Last week the Mustangs played in four separate matches. Three of these matches were against league foes while the fourth, against Salem, was not. Northville won three of these matches and dropped the fourth to Salem.

The wins move Northville into a two-way tie for first with Farmington Harrison in the race for the Western Six title.

On Tuesday, September 18, Northville beat Walled Lake Western 216-225. Bob Stephens shot a 37 to lead the way for the Mustangs. Todd Mack and Ted Seltz followed with 44's. Brian Shake recorded a 43 while Gavin Wolfe shot a 48.

On Wednesday, September 19, Northville lost to Salem 156-164. Salem's league rules state that only four players' scores may be totalled into the team score whereas in the Western Six league, it is five players' scores.

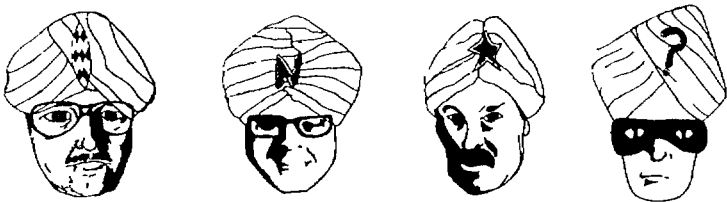

In the Salem match Mack shot a 39, Stephens shot 40, Terry McMann 41 and Shake a 44.

It was back to league action next as Northville hosted Churchill on Thursday, September 20. The Mustangs won 218-238. Mack hit a 40, Stephens a 41, McMann and Wolfe 45's and Mark Denhoff a 47.

On Monday, September 24, the Nor-

JV Colts win

The Northville-Novii JV squad continued its winning ways with its second shutout in as many weeks, recording a 25-0 victory over the Plymouth Steelers. Only one first down was allowed by the Colts defense. Good individual performances from Sean McLaughlin, Phil Pendleton, and Dave Rickfelder made the difference.

The fourth and final TD came in the 4th quarter when Mike Dewan, without breaking his stride, picked up a Colt fumble on the Plymouth four-yard line and ran it in for a score.

Elsey wins Novi run

While most of us were snug in our beds early last Saturday morning, some 122 people weren't. These were the entrants in the first annual Novi/Northville run, sponsored by the Novi and Northville Recreation Departments.

ROBBINS WHAMMY—Sherri Robbins, playing at fourth singles for the unbeaten Mustangs, is one reason for Northville's 8-0 season mark. Here she returns a ball in action against Walled Lake Central last week. The Mustangs went on to win that match 7-0 while Robbins took her sets 6-1, 6-2. (Photo by Jane Hale)

The race began at 8:30 a.m. Saturday morning and the first runner crossed the five-mile finish line 24 minutes and 41 seconds later. That runner was Terry Elsey.

The winner of the women's division was Cindy Hayes, who clocked in at 35:06.

Junior division winner Kim Bruce finished at 31:55 and D.W. Oldham won the senior's division with a time of 41:17.

"We just never got our offense going," Colligan said. "Defensively it looked like we would tighten up to stop them and then they would get the big play. They seemed to capitalize on the small mistakes we were making. Overall, I wasn't that disappointed with our defense. Harrison is a good team and their halfback Ken Kopko is a bruising, tough-nosed kid (Kopko gained 97 yards on 19 carries this game). We were high at Glenn but really leveled off against Harrison.

"We had a good practice yesterday. We're putting things together to play Canton Friday at home. The kids know it will be a league game with the home town crowd there and a big pep rally in school. Our spirits are high."

One aspect to Friday's match with Plymouth that would make any opposing team high is that Canton has yet to win this season. Canton is 0-3.

The other casualties of the Harrison contest were Paul Luiki and Ken Weber. Luiki broke a finger but should play Friday while Weber twisted a knee and will sit out the contest.

Northville won it 21-21. Stephens shot a 38, McMann and Seltz 42's, Shake a 44 and Mack a 45.

Northville is now 5-2 overall and 4-1 in the league. The win over Mott was crucial because going into Monday's game, there was a three-way tie for first between Novi, Mott and Harrison. Now there are just two teams left.

"The team scores this year have been higher compared to last," coach Joe Blake said. "But this is generally true of the other area teams as well. Why the scores are so high I'm not sure." Just as long as they keep winning, it doesn't really matter.

Frosh Colts win 18-6 thriller

Last Saturday, after a parade through downtown Northville and a party for parents, the Northville/Novi Freshman Colts took on the Plymouth Steelers and won 18-6.

Gary Harper set up the first colt touchdown run with a 12-yard scamper in the second quarter. Bop Smith carried the ball 25 yards to paydirt on the next play. The try for the extra point failed.

Harper then took a handoff late in the second quarter and ran 66 yards for the score. Again, the kick was no good.

Brent Hepner got the ball rolling in the third quarter when he scooted around end and took off on a 50-yard run for the touchdown. The extra point try failed, leaving the score 18-0 in favor of the Colts.

The Steelers got on the board in the fourth quarter when a halfback ran 27 yards for the score. The Plymouth team's try for the extra point failed also.

Arsenal soccer get-together set

It isn't often that a kid can get their parents in a situation where they can compete as equals. The Northville 10-and-under Arsenal soccer team will get just that opportunity Monday, October 1st when they go up against their parents in an exhibition soccer match.

Mike McGrath will coach the affair. He is the Arsenal coach.

The game will start at 6:45 p.m. on the Plateau behind Cook School. Afterwards, the families will go to Mrs. Katherine Sella's home for refreshments.

Swimmers take off; 1-0 in league

The Northville girls' swim team, defending Western Six league champions, got its season off to the right start by winning all three of its meets last week.

First to fall was Bentley. The Mustangs had a surprisingly tough time, defeating the school 44-38. "The meet was closer than I expected," coach Ben Lauber said. "They are an improved team. There were some close races. For an opener, it was good."

Brighton became the second Mustang victim. Northville won 54-29. "Brighton has a new team," Lauber said. "They have some experienced girls though. I felt they swam well for a new team."

The highlight of the meet was Sue Cahill's 500-yard freestyle time. It was 5:04.7, a new team and pool record for Northville. The time is faster than anyone, boy or girl, has ever swam the event before at Northville. The time was four seconds faster than the time Cahill recorded to win the state meet (5:08.1) last season.

To start the meet, the 200-yard medley relay team of Tammy Selfridge, Allyson Farquhar, Cahill and Laurie Sellen combined to record a first-place time of 2:01.7. Brighton came in second. In the 200-yard freestyle, Northville's Kim Storm took first with a time of 2:09.1. Nancy Donovan came in second with a time of 2:15.8. Brighton took third and fourth place.

Allyson Farquhar then took first in the 200-yard individual medley, winning with a time of 2:17.6. Her sister, Leslie Farquhar, came in second with a time of 2:28.3. Again, Brighton came in third and fourth.

In the 50-yard freestyle, Sellen managed a second, swimming :26.7 and Carolyn Brown took third in :28.4. Brighton took first and fourth.

You can earn this high rate of interest on deposits of $10,000.00 or more. And these accounts are automatically renewable at maturity at the then current rate, unless otherwise notified. Plus your deposit allows you to apply for many of our free Cash-Master® benefits, too.

This effective annual yield is subject to change at renewal and assumes that the interest rate remains unchanged and that both the principal and interest are reinvested.

Of course, Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate savings accounts, so it's wise to leave your money in the account for the full interest period.
