Five seek two city council seats; mayor unopposed

Electors will go to the polls Tuesday to elect a mayor and two council members.

Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Although a record high number of persons are eligible to vote, City Clerk Joan McAllister isn't looking for a record turnout primarily because the mayor's post is uncontested.

Five candidates, however, are battling for the two four-year council seats.

Unopposed in his bid for re-election is Mayor Paul R. Vernon. He was elected two years ago, succeeding long-time mayor A. Malcolm Allen.

Of the council candidates, only one is an incumbent. He is Stanley J. Johnston, who is mayor pro-tem, seeking his second term. Veteran Councilman Wallace Nichols is retiring.

Other council candidates are Carolann Ayers, Paul Folino, Kevin Hartshorne and Jerome J. Mittman.

All but Folino are political newcomers.

Folino is a former council member, having given up his seat two years ago in his unsuccessful election for mayor.

Interestingly, four of the council candidates are residents of Lexington Commons — Johnston, Ayers, Folino and Mittman. Mittman is a member of the Commons' homeowners board.

Lone council candidate from the "other side" of the city is Kevin Hartshorne, a 25-year-old Northville High School graduate who presently is a management trainee with a restaurant chain.

Hartshorne was graduated from Schoolcraft Community College and the business college at Michigan State University.

Johnston, 20489 Lexington Boulevard, a former high school teacher and coach, former city recreation director, and a former member of the Northville Board of Education, was first elected to the council four years ago. Presently he owns and operates a real estate sales firm in downtown Northville.

Folino, 20556 Clement, served on the council for eight years, currently serves as president of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce. A graduate of Northville High School, he owns and operates an insurance agency.

Ayers, who lives at 518 Morgan Circle, is a long time member of the Northville Library Commission and formerly its chairman. She also is a

$8.5 million

School budget approved

An 8.5 million 1979-80 K-12 school budget was approved unanimously Monday night by the Northville Board of Education.

After a four hour meeting in which this year's $8,593,111 budget was examined line by line, the five board members present voted to approve it.

The budget is a mere $200,000 over the $8,393,648 budget approved last year. Last year's actual expenditures were $7,977,487.

"Local revenues are up 10 percent and state revenues are down 36 percent, so the patterns we were talking about last spring unfortunately proved out," said Superintendent of Schools Larry Nichols.

Nichols said that during the past two years the local contribution has increased.

"Two years ago the local tax base provided 75.5 percent of the total school budget. This year local taxes will support 84.5 percent of the total program. Meanwhile, the state, which two years ago supplied 21 percent of the budget, now supplies only 10 percent of the school funds.

"That is a very significant statement about the funding of education in Northville. The public needs to know," Nichols said.

He expressed disappointment that not more than eight local residents attended the school board special meeting Monday, especially since local taxes are supporting almost the entire program.

This year's revenues are expected to total $8,593,111. Last year the district expected $8,353,312 and actually received $8,180,482.

The district will receive more local funding and less state funding as a result of the higher local property values and lower state aid payments.

The district will receive $7,072,892 in property taxes this year, $794,050 more than last year. But the district will receive only $157,083 in state aid this year, down $464,320 from the $621,403 the district received last year.

The district expects to receive less money from the state than last year for special education, transportation, and all other categories because of declining enrollment.

Northville will receive $45,359 from the state to make up for declining enrollment but all in all the district will get only $851,693 from the state this year, down $490,331 from last year when we received $1,342,024 from the state.

All in all the district will get $664,282 more in local funds than last year, because of the increases in property tax revenues.

The district will receive some $12,000 in transfer money for a Title VI-B program and $244,719 in cooperative funds for federal and state projects and grants.

The district also has $200,020 in equity (money left over from last year).

On the expenditures side, the district will spend 8.75 percent more on instruc-

PUBLIC HEARING on a proposal to rezone the pie-shaped parcel of land on the north side of Eight Mile, east of the Taft intersection, has been set for November 20 by the city planning commission. Plans call for a professional office development.

TREATING hours for Halloween in the city and township of Northville are between 6 and 8 p.m. tonight (Wednesday).

Nelson Schrader, 63, dies at his ranch

A lifelong Northville resident and businessman, who was most active as a community leader during the Fifties and Sixties, died last Thursday evening.

Memorial services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Ross B. Northrop & Son Funeral Home for Nelson C. Schrader, Jr. He was 63.

Mr. Schrader was stricken at his Gaylord, Michigan, home where he and his wife, Betty, have resided during the summers. Mr. Schrader was rushed to the Gaylord Hospital by Mrs. Schrader and a neighbor. He died at the hospital at approximately 7:30 p.m. Cause of death was cerebral hemorrhage.

Services were conducted at Gaylord Saturday for family and friends in the area. It was Mrs. Schrader's request that his body be cremated and remains deposited at the family's 1,000-acre ranch where he enjoyed hunting, fishing and working out-of-doors.

Mr. Schrader was owner of Schrader's Home Furnishings, which was founded by his father in 1907. In his early years in business with his father the Schraders also operated a funeral business in conjunction with the furniture store. The store is now under the management of N.C. Schrader III.

Mr. Schrader was president of the Northville Board of Education when he retired from the board in 1960 after 10 years of service. He was a longtime Rotary Club member and past president as well as an active leader of the Northville Retail Merchants Association.

Officials agree most residents of Plymouth center will be better off in home-like settings

Home placements start

Center, ISEP to shrink by '83

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

Both the Plymouth Center for Human Development and Northville's Institutions' Special Education program will shrink by 1983 but employees of both programs will have no problem finding jobs in community special education programs, said Eranell McIntosh-Wilson, director of Plymouth Center, Monday.

The center is operating under a recent court decree which calls for gradually scaling down its operations from 587 residents to just 100 residents by 1983 and placing all but the most severely handicapped into community homes.

Because ISEP provides education to Plymouth Center residents, its operations will scale down as well, McIntosh-Wilson said.

But because the residents will be distributed throughout Wayne County there will be ample job opportunities for special education personnel now employed by both ISEP and Plymouth Center, she added.

McIntosh-Wilson said by 1983 Plymouth Center will use only its administration building and one building on the west side of Sheldon for its operations. The rest of the buildings probably will be put to another, as yet unknown, use, she said.

Plymouth Center's Director of Community Placement Frank Schuch is in charge of finding foster and community homes for center residents. He said the task will be hard but can be done.

"We are obviously talking about a monumental task," he said. "We cannot just find appropriate homes in the community. We have to make sure there will be appropriate services and education available for the residents.

"If we are setting up a home for one type of resident in Westland, for example, and the resident's real community is in Dearborn Heights, we will have to put him in Westland," Schuch said. "But we will try to place residents as near to their own communities as possible."

By law, all communities must provide special education, either with its own program or by paying another school district to provide the student's education. Mentally retarded individuals in Michigan must now attend school until age 26.

ISEP in Northville is one of 11 centers across the state which provides education for institutionalized developmentally handicapped persons. The state pays 100 percent of ISEP's cost because its students are institutionalized.

By law, as soon as a resident leaves the institution, a community must accept the financial responsibility for his or her education (except in the case of those special-handicapped residents placed into special federally financed community homes).

"The community has accepted the responsibility," McIntosh-Wilson said. "The emphasis is finding homes for all types of individuals."

The premise of these moves away from the institution is that a home-type environment, even if it is not an individual's real home, is better than an institution for most mentally handicapped people, McIntosh-Wilson said.

The move away from institutions and into home settings may eventually cause parents to keep their own mentally retarded children with them in the first place, McIntosh-Wilson said.

"Up until 10 years ago, there were no community resources for parents and no school. They had no support systems. We more or less encouraged parents to 'drop their child off' at the institution and leave them there."

"Now we are talking about keeping students in their own communities, with support services. We are training doctors and dentists and providing education. We are beginning to find alternatives. Some parents are willing to keep their children at home, if they have the supportive services in the community. That would be the best for the child."

The movement of Plymouth Center residents out into the community by 1983 may be rocky but center officials are attempting to smooth the way with public information.

"We have not encountered any problems yet," Schuch said. But he cited problems experienced by other communities such as Troy where recently a community home was burned down.

He said they will try to establish support from key community people.

"When you are dealing with fears, prejudices and biases, is any amount of integration time going to be long

Christopher Klegg stands guard over Northville High School parking lot

In parking lot

NHS thefts curtailed

Nothing has been stolen from the Northville High School parking lot since a guard began patrolling there three weeks ago, NHS assistant principal Ralph Redmond reported.

"Compared to last year it is like night and day," Redmond said. Redmond credits guard Christopher Klegg, who sits in his white Opel or walks around the parking lot from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily, making certain everything is going smoothly.

Klegg was hired October 5 after several incidences of theft at NHS. Last year there were 59 thefts from the parking lot there, including two car batteries which were stolen in broad daylight.

Klegg is paid about $8,000 per year collected from the $15 per semester parking fee each student driver pays.

When the winter weather comes Klegg will be either out patrolling the parking lot or in the back halls adjoining the parking lot.

So far Klegg has preferred to eat lunch on his own in the car and stay outside. He carries no weapons, but reports problems he cannot solve to Redman.

"He's an outdoorsey type," said Redmond of Klegg. A good thing, too, because there are no plans to build a guard shack in the parking lot—this winter, anyway.

Temporary relief found

In August township officials thought they had a real problem.

They were told that a so-called "guaranteed payment" from the state would be some $30,000 less than anticipated.

The settlement of a new police contract cost the township some $25,000 more than they had projected.

With some other unanticipated expenditures for office equipment, insurance and membership dues added to the two major setbacks, the township found itself with a deficit of some $58,000.

At least that's what they thought.

Now, less than three months later, Northville township officials project a $23,000 surplus at the end of the fiscal year March 31.

At a special meeting to discuss the budget October 14 township trustees directed Supervisor Donald Thomson and Clerk Clarice Sass to review the budget and come up with some suggestions as to how the deficit would be eliminated.

Department heads were asked to prepare some figures that would show what, if anything, could be trimmed from their budgets.

The trustees scheduled a meeting for Monday, October 29 to discuss what the officials and department heads had come up with.

But when the trustees gathered at the township hall prepared to balance the budget, they were told that there was no deficit to worry about.

"We did more amending than cutting," said Clerk Sass. "The supervisor and I went over actual expenditures and revenues for the first six months and found that we were in pretty good shape."

"There were some additional monies received from state shared revenues and we found some monies budgeted that will not have to be paid this fiscal year."

Budgeted funds which almost surely will not have to be paid until after April 1, 1980 include some $40,000 set aside for township hall building costs.

The money, owed to the general contractor for the project, is being withheld because of a pending lawsuit between the township and the contractor over some non-union work that was done on the building.

"It (the $40,000) is going to be incurred in next year's budget," said Lee Holland, township treasurer. "The case is currently in Wayne County Circuit Court which has a huge backlog."

Treasurer Holland, who assisted the supervisor and clerk in the review of the budget, said that the projections which the officials made are actually conservative.

"The best we can tell the figures will be accurate," he said. "We had some surprises finding expenditures that were less than anticipated. That helped a lot."

The new projections show building department revenues up more than $10,000, some $6,000 already has been received by the township.

The new totals reached by township officials in their review of the budget are $89,900 in projected revenues and $67,600 in expenditures.

"enough?" Schuch said, rejecting the notion that four years from a population of 587 to 100 is too quick.

"Legislation will take you only so far. Whenever we put the community homes up, there will be resistance. For the problems we have, such as in Troy, there will be publicity. But you have to have perspective. We will have our Troys. But many homes have been set up without problems."

McIntosh-Wilson pointed out that out of the total population of developmentally handicapped persons, only one percent are ever institutionalized. Ninety-nine percent are already integrated into the community.

"The other one percent should not be penalized," McIntosh-Wilson said.

The concept of de-institutionalizing the mentally handicapped is not new with this recent decree, she said.

"This is not happening overnight. There seems to be a lack of understanding about the decree," Wilson said. "People seem to think the judge made the decree in total isolation. That was not at all how it occurred. The plaintiff (including Michigan Association for Retarded Citizens) submitted a plan to the Plymouth Center and the State Department of Mental Health. The decree was negotiated between us with our attorneys. It was sent to the judge (U.S. District Judge Charles Joiner), who accepted it as the decree. The plaintiffs' 15 signatures are on the decree. So the parents want this."

"Looking over our shoulder is a court-appointed master to insure that a resident is placed appropriately," Schuch said. "This is not a dumping cess. We are individualizing residents." "Schuch is placing Plymouth Center residents into two basic types of homes. People over 26 and able to leave the institution will go to community group homes.

Most of the 100 children currently at Plymouth Center will go into foster homes under the Family Foster Care program.

Under this program, Schuch said, the center evaluates, screens and trains families who apply to be foster parents to a mentally handicapped child.

Only one out of 10 families eventually are selected to be foster parents, Schuch said.

"The homes must meet all Department of Social Services criteria. But we also study the family situation. The families have to have the ability to learn how to train and care for a mentally handicapped child," Schuch said.

The agency develops objectives and a plan for each student and the family is continually monitored to make sure the resident is achieving the skills.

Foster families get $24 per day, plus $9 from the state for training when they take a child.

Residents can theoretically stay in a foster home until age 26, at which time they are placed into a community group home.

While Plymouth Center gets about 60 calls per month from people interested in becoming foster parents, it is still looking for applicants. Interested persons should call Jane Provencol at 453-1500, extension 247.

Need condo modification

Planned condominium units on the Base Line property north of Allen Terrace apartments may have to be modified.

That's the word from Northville Planning Commission members, who have noted that the units as presently planned are "too close together," according to Clerk Joan McAllister. Either the plans must be modified or a variance from the board of appeals, relative to lot lines, must be obtained.

Going like 60's a pleasure in family dress shop

Some things never change. Mom's apple pie, for one. The woman sitting behind the counter-desk in the downtown family businessplace, for another. The pie can be that of any number of moms in Our Town. But the woman across the desk, here in Northville, can only be the farm girl turned city slicker who raised two boys inside a dress shop.

Velma Freydl. She is just as much a fixture in Freydl's Women's Wear as is the desk at which she works. There are signs of wear. But neither Velma or the desk are anywhere near ready for the scrap heap.

In fact, laughs the affable storekeeper, she will go on forever if her health holds out.

"Retire? Absolutely not. What would I do? This is something I do because I like it. Here is where I meet my friends," says the 75-year-old grandmother.

Her husband, Charles, Sr., shares her outlook. He continues to operate the Freydl drycleaning-tailoring business while their son manages the men's wear store.

Born in Salem in 1904, Velma was raised on a farm near a section of Salem then called Worden — on Five Mile between Curtis and Tower. She is one of two children raised on that 110 acre (plus 40 rented acres) general farm.

She attended the Worden country school through the eighth grade and then her parents, Bert and Dora Nelson, paid tuition to have her attend high school in Plymouth.

"Most country kids went on to high school in nearby towns. I could have gone to Northville or Ann Arbor, but my folks were more oriented to Plymouth," Mrs. Freydl explains.

"Those were horse and buggy days," she recalls, pointing out that she lived with an aunt in Plymouth for three years. Each weekend she would return to her farm home in Worden by taking the train from Plymouth. It was only a short buggy trip from the Salem stop to the farm.

Both of Mrs. Freydl's parents died in the Sixties. Her brother is a resident of Whitmore Lake.

While attending high school she met a young man whom she would marry two years after her graduation in 1922.

"I was married in 1924 ... and that was a leap year," she laughs.

Her husband, son of a prominent tailor (Bruno) in Northville, borrowed enough money to have a house built for his bride at 455 Eaton. He built the house in July and they were married November 20.

Velma and Charles Freydl have lived in that same Orchard Heights all 55 years of their marriage.

And like the house that has been so much a part of their lives over the years, so too have the Freydl businesses been closely tied to their lives.

Although it was the senior Mr. Freydl that started the businesses, it was Charles and Velma who nurtured them through some perilous years and built them into the successes they are today.

"When I think back on some of the early years — back during the Depression — I'm reminded of the struggles that we and most everyone else had. At the same time, I think those Depression years brought people closer together. They were in the same boat and they helped each other."

When people have little money to spend, she explains, "drycleaning is the last of their choices. Goodness, yes, those were tough times."

Some say it was the Depression that produced the 20th Century work ethic in American society. And it may be

Eight Mile-Haggerty park

Computer firm to build here

Plans for a major "office park" development on the northwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty Road are moving ahead.

Representatives of Orchard Hill Place Associates, owners and developers of the 89-acre parcel, have announced that the initial building on the site will be occupied by the Digital Equipment Corporation out of Boston, Massachusetts.

The Digital Equipment Corporation is the second largest computer company in the world, second only to International Business Machines (IBM).

The corporation, which presently maintains offices in Farmington Hills, has selected Novi as the site for its Midwest regional headquarters.

The Digital Equipment Corporation will occupy the first two floors of a three-story building which encompasses some 60,000 square feet. A one-story banking facility will be attached to the building.

The Novi Planning Board voted unanimously last week to grant revised preliminary site plan approval for the proposed facility and authorize the site plan sub-committee to grant final site plan approval.

Orchard Hill Place representatives told the News that groundbreaking for the building is imminent.

The spokesman said the company hopes to have footings in the ground by December 1 and structural steel up by January 15. Plans call for the building to be completed and occupied by next summer.

The building for the Digital Equipment Corporation is the first phase of a project which also is proposed to include:

- a major hotel;
- 400,000 square feet of office space in a series of buildings;
- a recreation complex that would include a theater, bowling alley and racquetball courts; and — a series of retail stores that would have a client "on the nature of Hudson's" as its major tenant.

Plans for the development to be known as Orchard Hill Place were revealed in June of 1978. Although an initial site plan approval was granted by the planning board last December, there has been little progress with the development until the announcement last week that the Digital Equipment Corporation has been signed as the initial tenant.

Joseph Gerak, a representative of Orchard Hill Place Associates, told the planners last week that the delay has been due to difficulty in obtaining permission for curb cuts on Haggerty Road from the Oakland County Road Commission.

The road commission apparently delayed approval of the curb cuts so they could be coordinated with entrance drives to a 900-seat Church of the Nazarene which is slated for construction on the northeast corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty Road in Farmington Hills.

The Orchard Hill Place development is one of just two major "office park" complexes presently proposed in the metropolitan Detroit area, according to spokesmen for the company. The other is in Troy.

Orchard Hill Place representatives told The News that construction of the first building is the key to the development. Once the first building is on site there'll be a great deal of interest in the rest of the office park, he said.

"We have extremely high aspirations for this development," continued the spokesman. "We plan to construct all the buildings and retain ownership of the development. We've developed a set of covenants and restrictions which are as tough as you'll see anywhere."

"We've retained complete architectural control over the entire development," he added. "We get final say on the location of every bench and tree in order to make certain that the development meets our high architectural and aesthetic standards."

At this point, the only tenant which has signed a lease is the Digital Equipment Corporation.

But the Orchard Hill Place spokesmen said that a great deal of interest has been expressed in the site.

Negotiations currently are underway for the second building which will be an identical 60,000 square foot, three-story building behind the Digital Equipment Corporation building which will have a Haggerty Road frontage.

Additionally, negotiations are taking place with hotel and theater chains.

"We're extremely image conscious because of our aspirations for this property," said the Orchard Hill Place spokesman. "We've already turned down some hotel chains and at least six restaurants because they just don't meet our image requirements."

The spokesman also said that Orchard Hill Place has attracted a great deal of interest among top-grade tenants because they generally are impressed with what is happening with development in Novi.

Learned by trial and error Who says school trustees always vote in blocks?

one of the reasons the Freydl's refuse to retire.

They rarely take vacations lasting longer than a three-day weekend. In fact, their honeymoon trip to Pennsylvania 55 years ago may have been one of their longest periods away from work.

"Oh, we went to California 18 years ago," she suddenly remembers.

But they work not because they must, but because they want to.

"Work for me," she explains, "is a pleasure. It's getting out and meeting the public and trying to make a business run successfully. Why, here is where I meet and talk with all of my friends."

Velma pauses and then adds, "As the years pass there are fewer and fewer of them (old friends) left. It's sad, but guess we must all go someday."

The Freydl boys were just entering school in Northville when Velma was persuaded to take over the women's wear business. It needed help, some careful management.

"If anyone can do it you can, Ma," she was told. So Velma Freydl, who had no more clerking or management background than occasionally assisting her husband, stepped into the world of business.

It was a little frightening, she remembers, but clerks, her husband, suppliers helped her through the first few months. She soon came to love it.

"I learned by trial and error," she says. Working and raising two boys, says Mrs. Freydl, was "no big problem" because they were always close at hand inside the store itself or out back in the sandbox. "They grew up in this store," she smiles.

Of her two sons, only Charles had an interest in the business.

Son Robert would go on to college — forestry school — to get a degree. Today, a resident of Northville and an active citizen like brother Charles, he is employed by Detroit Edison.

Charles went on to school also — Cleary Business College where he was graduated. He served two years in the Army during the Korean War.

Of Robert, Mrs. Freydl says, "How that boy came through the early years is something. He was in an auto accident before he was five, and then a few years later he had to have hip surgery. And he also had polio."

"All I can say is that he was determined ... the hip pain and all."

And then Velma Freydl, the proud mother, beams, "You know he (Robert) doesn't say much about himself. I remember one year we were invited to attend his induction as president of a wood preservative organization in Washington, D.C. He had never said much about it, so we had no idea how important the title was or the scope of the organization. There we were, with people gathered from all over the world, to watch our son become the national organization's youngest president."

Yes, she says, raising two little boys during the depression years, what with all the illness and the financial problems, was no easy chore. "But I think they came through it pretty well, don't you? I'm very proud of both of them," says the grandmother of five boys.

The business — like her sons and husband — has given, Velma Freydl mountains of pleasure.

But not all has been a joy.

Three things bother her about the business:

One, she has never been able to get used to the practice of having customers wait on themselves.

"It may seem like a little thing, but having customers come into the store and on their own look through the shelves and racks to pick out what they want still bothers me. I still prefer the old fashioned way of having the clerk show the clothing the store has."

A second bothersome point is the general lack of appreciation for pricing in local stores.

"People think they can buy things cheaper in the shopping centers. Well, I defy anyone to buy comparable merchandise for any less money than they pay here."

"The problem is that they won't give us a chance. They'll drive for miles to buy the same thing they can get here for the same money or for less money."

Thirdly, it's the modern-day demand for sales.

"Lots of people won't buy unless something is on sale. They'll come in and if it's not on sale they'll go to a shopping center. What they don't know is that some of those so-called sales aren't sales at all. I know what the basic fashions cost those stores because I'm buying the same things. What they're doing is starting at a high price so they can cut it a little and brag that it's on sale."

Yes, there have been a few problems and some of them continue to nag her.

But Velma Freydl waves them aside. "I've always enjoyed Northville. There is no better place to live, to raise a family and to operate a business."

Church members honored

First United Methodist Church of Northville paid special recognition to its members of 25 or more years as well as its retirees at the 10 a.m. worship service October 28.

Oldest in membership was Hazel Boyden who joined her home town church in 1906. Neal Greenfield of the church worship committee presented Mrs. Boyden with a praying hands pin in recognition of her 73 years' membership.

Mrs. Anna Nirdler Kidman, who is 94 years old, was the oldest member present in terms of age.

William Becker officiated at the program Sunday in the absence of the Reverend Guenther C. Branstner who was ill.

Special recognition was given the following members who have 40 or more years of membership:

Ruth King, who joined in 1915; Leona Parmalee, Serena Richardson, 1922; Marjory Lanning, 1923; Dorothy Merithew, 1925; Dr. Russell Atchison, 1926; Ruth Mary Atchison, Edward and Lena Bogart, Sidney Moase, Lutetta Reng, 1931; Araminta and Elroy Ellison, 1937; Russell Clark, 1938; Miriam and Melvin Mitchell, Laura Hix and Louise Cansfield, 1939.

For council Elect two

CAROLANN AYRES
518 Morgan Circle

As a 10 year Northville resident with a BS in government/ education, I've been a Library Commissioner for seven years, chairman for four. I'm a member of the Economic Development Corporation, City Library Board, League of Women Voters and have attended City Council meetings regularly the last several years.

1. To provide the present level of services in the face of rising costs and inflation, it will be necessary for Northville to keep a sound tax base. We can do this through prudent planning and attention to development, especially in the small business sector. We also must look toward any federal or state money that is available provided local control is not compromised.

2. The city should take an active part in helping small businesses remain in Northville. A healthy business climate is necessary for the tax base mentioned in the above question, as well as for the convenience of shoppers and additional employment opportunities. The Main Street Project is a prime example of this type of positive support. The Economic Development Corporation is a good tool for aiding small businesses by allowing them to borrow money at lower than usual interest rates with no financial risk to the taxpayer.

3. Certain services such as library and recreation function better and more economically with large numbers of participants. Co-operation between the city and township is essential in these areas. Land use is also an area in which there must be a great deal of cooperation in order to maintain some degree of continuity within the two units.

4. 1) All available city land will soon be developed. Review of the Master Plan and Zoning Ordinances will be needed.

2) There will be problems created by the development and population growth in surrounding communities. We will have to respond in order to keep our integrity and concept of community.

3) It will become more difficult to maintain local control while, at the same time, we make sure to get our fair share of federal and state funding i.e. Community Development Block Grants, CETA, etc.

4) The average age of Northville residents will be increasing due to the decline in the birth rate. Problems could be created if consideration is not given to housing, transportation, services, etc.

5. I feel that one of the primary functions of City Council is to be a representative one, representative of the entire community. It should have broad based membership so all citizens' concerns may be considered. I will bring this to council. Over the past several years, I have spent the equivalent of several days per week in activities directly related to city services. I find the work related to the operation of the Northville Library such as budget preparation and presentation to council and township board, facilities and personnel evaluation, grant application, staffing, and facility construction to be particularly interesting and educational. I feel the best possible use of my commitment would be through membership on City Council.

EDITOR'S NOTE:—Following are biographies and answers to questions asked of candidates for the Northville City Council by the local chapter of the League of Women Voters. The League is a national non-partisan organization whose purpose is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government. The league speaks to issues (not candidates) only after thorough study of the issue and a consensus position has been agreed upon by the members.

The questions posted by the League are:

1. With rising costs and inflation do you feel that Northville will be able to continue to provide the present level of services? Explain.
2. What role, if any, do you feel the city should take in helping small businesses remain in Northville?
3. What type of cooperation between the city and township of Northville do you consider desirable?
4. Discuss the problems and issues you foresee to be of prime importance in the next four years.
5. Why are you a candidate for this office?

dent Northville Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club — President Rotary Foundation, charter member and past vice-president Lexington Commons Association, Recreation commissioner eight years.

1. Yes. However, the cost continues to rise also, but with the SEV factor also rising, there is more money available and with careful budget planning and use of public improvement funds (which are race track revenue) it should provide the funds without direct increased taxes for these services.

2. V.I.P. Very Important Position. As the leaders of the community, all efforts to help them should be made, not financially as the city is unable to do this, but in other ways to encourage people to come and shop here, to keep streets and sidewalks, parking lots in good repair and enjoyable to look at, encourage more people to open business here.

3. Continuation of co-op services of library and recreation departments, which has proven over the years that there is cost savings to both units of government. The police and fire departments that are separate still co-operate to help one another when needed, this is important. Other matters such as passing ordinances and legislation that will affect both units should be discussed and possibly both units agree to. Discussion of each others master plans for the orderly development of the total community to benefit everyone in both units of government.

4. A. Taxes continue to increase, therefore, we should strive to keep millage down to offset this. Define priorities on projects and do them so as not to be burdens to the taxpayers. Allow enough contingencies in budget for emergency repairs, sewer and water line breaks and equipment failure then, if not needed, carry into next budget.

B. Zoning — To make sure different parts of our community have proper zoning so that as someone's interest in a certain parcel does not infringe upon others if he wants to rezone for his own gain but at the expense of others.

C. Viability of our business district — Very important that our business district stays very much alive and new business continue to build and others expand as they pay a very large part of the tax burden and without them our taxes would increase tremendously.

D. To continue the finest police and fire protection and DPW services.

E. Street maintenance programs.

F. Super sewer project.

G. Expanded senior citizens and recreation facilities.

5. Having always been actively involved in the community and would like to continue doing so as councilman. I spent 8½ years on the council from 1969 to 1977 and since have still attended many meetings to keep abreast of the issues, and presently president of

Chamber of Commerce and co-operating with the city on various projects — most important — Mainstreet 78.

My past experience, I believe, would be helpful to council for the benefit of the taxpayers. Being a taxpayer, I feel a civic obligation and dedication to try and help my community.

KEVIN HARTSHORNE
256 Griswold Road

They call me Kevin. I am 25 years of age and have been a resident since 1966. I graduated from Northville High School in 1972, obtained a liberal arts degree at Schoolcraft Community College and later earned a bachelor's degree from the College of Business at Michigan State University.

1. Of course the costs of service have changed relative to the economy. But property values have also increased resulting in a change in our tax assessments.

2. The city council has already taken a major step in assuring support of the small business in the downtown development district by adopting Public Acts 1075-No. 197, creating a Downtown Development Authority.

This authority has the powers "to improve land and construct, reconstruct, rehabilitate, restore, and preserve equipment, improve, maintain, repair any building, including multiple family dwellings, and any necessary or desirable appurtenances thereto, within the downtown district for the use, in whole or in part, of any public or private person or corporation, or a combination thereof."

The role I think the city should play in helping small business remain in Northville would be to keep an eye on the D.D.A.

3. The city and township would do well if they could agree on police and fire department communication on a regular basis.

4. Traffic, roads, and the ability of council to relate to a changing environment are some of the issues.

Now that the last big chunk of Northville has been or is being developed we can expect that it won't be long before Northville will no longer be on the outer edge of suburban Detroit. We must begin to realize what consequences we can foresee from the continual development west of the city.

5. Aside from the tremendous learning experience, I am a candidate for the city council seat to insure that the voters get a choice in the matter.

JEROME J. MITTMAN
997 Springfield Court

BME — Marquette University, MSE and MBA — University of Michigan; Ford Motor Company — 15 years — management positions in engineering, marketing and planning — currently in light truck product planning; Lexington Commons Association Restrictions Chairman; member — OLV Parish and PTO, Northville Newcomers Alumni, Northville Cooperative Preschool, Society of Automotive Engineers; married, three children.

1. Yes. Northville will be affected by rising costs just as the average homeowner, and will likewise find its budget more difficult to balance. However, even with the additional tax restrictions imposed by the Headlee Amendment, the city has the advantage of a rising tax-base due to increased evaluation and new construction. This increased tax base, coupled with more efficient and effective methods of operation, should enable services to be continued at or near present levels without undesirable tax rate increases.

2. The success of small business concerns is key to Northville's future. The city must provide the right environment for small businesses to develop and thrive. This includes adequate parking and city services, area improvements, and support of community organizations and activities that foster a better business climate.

Mainstreet 78 is a major step in the right direction. In addition, the city should continue to utilize the provisions of the Economic Development Act to obtain low interest financing for small businesses to improve and develop their facilities without taxpayer risk.

3. While the city and township should remain as separate municipal entities, close cooperation, including some combined services (library, recreation, etc.), will benefit all. The city has a downtown area and other unique features not available in the township. The township, on the other hand, has the growing population base that can provide needed support for Northville businesses.

Close cooperation in area planning is also essential due to the proximity of the city and township. It is up to both governments to ensure that future development is in the best interest of all area residents.

4. Problems and issues include:
—Development of strong, vibrant downtown Northville —Retention of small-town atmosphere and character
—Escalating taxes (especially the effect on senior citizens) —Need for area-wide planning —Sewer system capacity
—Increase in "urban problems" (traffic congestion, crime ...)

—City/township and city/county relationships

5. Northville's future will be greatly affected by the actions of the City Council in the next four years. As previously noted, the city will be faced with many important issues. I want to assure that the best direction is adopted for Northville and that the city continues to develop while maintaining its small-town atmosphere and character. My years of management level business ex-

Meet Your Firemen

EDITOR'S NOTE: Who are the men who fight fires in Northville and Northville township? The Record will be introducing the part-paid firefighters of the city and township departments over the next few months. Photos of township and city firefighters will appear each week along with a couple of brief paragraphs about each. The series will continue until all 50 firefighters have been introduced.

Charles Nichols, 49, has been with the Northville Fire Department 17 years. Nichols, a foreman for the city DPW, resides at 727 Carpenter. He and his wife have four children.

William Gearn, 47, has been with the city fire department for 10 years. Gearn, who works in outside maintenance, and his wife live at 353 East Cady. They have five children.

Duane Reeves, 20, has been a city fire fighter for one year. Reeves, a machine operator, and his wife live at 402 Johnson. They have one child.

Kenneth Sexton, 65, has been with the township fire department for two and one half years. Sexton and his wife reside at 42916 Pond Court. They have three children.

Robert H. Toms, 52, has been the Chief of the Northville Township Fire Department since its inception in 1977. Chief Toms and his wife live at 42251 Sunnyside Lane. They have six children.

Rick Rennault, 26, has been a firefighter with the township department for two years. Rennault, who is employed by the township water department, lives at 2305 Gage with his wife and their one child.

Meet candidates

perience, coupled with a genuine concern for the city, will enable me to make an important contribution as councilman in guiding Northville to becoming an even better city and place to live.

STANLEY J. JOHNSTON
20489 Lexington Boulevard

Born in Lenawee County, lived on farm for 18 years; enlisted USMC, served 3 1/2 years WW-2; Graduated from Eastern Michigan 1950; teacher 10 years; taught eight years in Northville, coached football, basketball and baseball, served as recreation director four years, elected for two four year terms to board of education.

1. I believe the citizens of Northville receive excellent services from all of our departments. Mainly, the police, fire and DPW. If rising costs and inflation created a severe difference between revenue and expenditures then a cut in services may be necessary. However, if one or two mills of additional levy would be enough to maintain the present level of services I would support it.

2. In an effort to help all of the businesses in Northville the city council and the Downtown Development Authority, of which I am a member, have been working on this project for over two years. Very shortly, bonds will be sold to finance the project and work can get underway. I am confident this endeavor will stimulate business for the present merchants. It has already attracted new businesses and others are making inquiries.

3. I think it is important that we make reasonable efforts to continue working jointly with the township in providing recreational, library and ambulance services. I would like to see the city council and township board meet periodically to discuss problems which could affect the entire Northville Community.

4. Growth! Commercial sprawl could detract from the downtown that I believe most of the area residents identify with. Many people moved to this area for this reason and have expressed concern over the possible loss of this identity. I believe the township and city should study the ramifications of what is most certainly going to be a reality. I believe we should put the past and politics aside and at least attempt to work together. After all, this really is our job.

5. I have lived here for 28 years. The community has been good for my family and me. I owe it something. I like being involved. I have an ego just like anybody else and I enjoy (at times) the recognition. If I am re-elected I will continue to be a "working councilman."

Checkless payday rocks county

On paychecks and lawsuits this week, Wayne County won one and lost one.

The drama continues both in court and before the State Municipal Finance Commission as the board of commissioners strives to cut the county debt while keeping essential public services and trying to maintain employee spending power.

Better late than never, pay due a week earlier for about 3000 workers came on Friday, October 26, although funds were still unavailable then for approximately 1600 others in the County General Hospital and Sheriff's department regularly scheduled for pay at the same time.

County officials hoped to pay the latter group sometime during this week when they also issue layoff notices for about half the county's 5300 employees.

Even those paid Friday were paid unexpectedly. Their pay was possible from a $2.89 million owed the county in Medicaid payments that the state on Thursday suddenly announced, to pleasantly surprised county officials and employees.

State auditors determined the money was due from hospital services from the county for 1975 to 1977. The payment is the difference between routinely projected costs compared with figures from a recent actual audit.

Also on Friday, however, Circuit Court Judge Irwin H. Burdick dismissed use of scrip or promissory notes to pay employees until receipt of new tax revenues begin sometime after November 1. Some form of pay in lieu of cash or check was part of the plan approved Tuesday by the board along with approval of layoff notices for the entire work force with about half meant for immediate recall.

The plan was proposed by Board Chairman Richard E. Manning who called the court decision a "Pyrrhic victory" for AFSCME, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees which filed the suit. Speaking after the decision was announced, Manning said, "They have achieved a victory and are now sifting through ashes to see what they've won."

"All that's left for them now is a two-week layoff notice on its way with no means to provide them spending ability until after then." He noted that employees laid off are not eligible for unemployment compensation until a formal notice is received and that they will not receive money for sometime afterwards.

Under Manning's plan approved by the board, layoff notices are scheduled for distribution on Monday, October 29. Terms of the labor contract require a two-week notice that the union has refused to waive at request of the Board in another unsuccessful move to prevent or shorten interruption of buying power.

Judge Burdick made it clear that scrip is illegal and ruled that promissory notes or anything similar is unacceptable. "A rose by any other name is still a rose," he said.

Manning, who has negotiated with several banks already, agreed to honor interest-bearing promissory notes that employees could readily convert to cash, says that despite the decision he believes employees themselves are entitled to decide whether to continue working on a written promise or even on verbal agreement.

"Should the court rule on an agreement," he asked, "or should the court restrict itself to rule on the breaking of agreements?"

Declaring against scrip or promissory notes, Judge Burdick said he considered both a measure of borrowing and that the county cannot borrow without permission of the Municipal Finance Commission (MFC). He ordered the county back before the MFC with "an acceptable good-faith plan" for eliminating the debt projected by county fiscal officers to be $18.2 million.

A proposal before the MFC would be the county's fourth trip this year seeking a loan with next-year tax collections being the collateral. The MFC has turned down the county in each prior instance when a $22 million loan was sought, although permission to borrow for lesser amounts was granted during three previous years.

Referring simultaneously to a possible means of paying employees, layoffs and a borrowing plan; Manning said of the court decision, "It gives us two weeks to sort out our options."

Also in his decision, Judge Burdick ordered that the $18 million jail construction fund could not be used to pay employees or vendors. He said use of that money except for the purpose voted on in 1977 is not allowed without referendum. On May 18, 1976, voters agreed to raise their taxes for a half-mill for five years. Another vote would be required to redirect that revenue, said Burdick.

In addition, said Burdick, AFSCME should take to the Department of Labor their request for the county to pay interest on loans considered necessary because of the payday missed on October 19.

I heartily recommend him for Council."

Leslie A. Hill

"As neighbors of Paul Folino we feel that he is civic-minded as well as community spirited. Paul has been a help to all of us in many situations and we appreciate and support his desire to be elected to the City Council."

Sue and Dave Woodsum

"Whether for church or community, Paul is always ready to help when a need arises. He is never too busy to be a friend. I believe we need Paul Folino back on the City Council."

Joe Bustamante

Joe and Donna Bongiovanni

"We've known Paul Folino for five years. He has served on the City Council and we support him completely for City Council again."

Don and Donna Sommerville

"Paul Folino was born and raised in Northville which gives him a good background of the past and the future needs of the City. Also, his business is in the City and that makes him readily available to help with problems that often arise between council meetings. Having served on the council in the past, and always done his homework, gives him experience that could be very helpful as a Councilman."

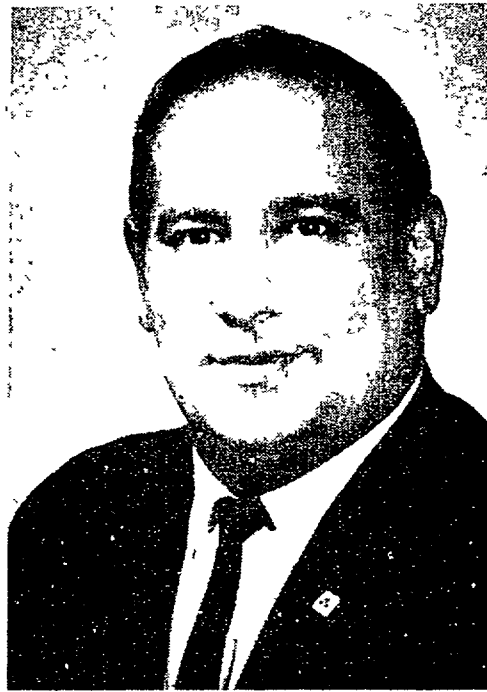

Mike Allen

"My friend, Paul Folino, a devoted family man, is a hard working civic-minded businessman. His past experience is a decided plus in benefits for all."

A Neighbor,
Richard Christian

"I have known Paul Folino since school days. He is most reliable, conscientious and qualified to serve the people of Northville with honesty and integrity."

Harriet Landau

Paul Folino

"I believe that anyone who aspires to public office in the city of Northville should first show his dedication to the people of the City by deeds that support his words. Paul Folino has proven his concern for the City by giving of his time by the hundreds of hours over many years. I urge the voters of the City of Northville to support Paul Folino who is a known, dedicated public servant."

Tom Wheaton

"I have known Paul Folino for thirty-five years. He is an honest civic-minded person who has worked hard for his community. He deserves our votes."

Lloyd Moore

"We have known Paul Folino since coming to Northville in 1971. He has proven to be a good neighbor, an active participant in civic affairs and a 'doer' and not just a 'talker' in recommending his election to the Northville City Council."

Walter and Delphine Zabinski

"I have known Paul Folino most of his life, all through school and beyond. His civic-mindedness and tireless enthusiasm are well documented in this community through his involvement in many local activities. He has my endorsement for election to the Northville City Council."

Russell H. Amerman

"I am supporting Paul Folino because of his past record as a councilman. Paul is not a person who spends city revenue without questioning where the money is being spent and why. I have observed this from past council meetings."

Elmer A. Balko

"Knowing Paul Folino for many years and seeing him as a former councilman and his work these past two years on the Northville Chamber of Commerce, proves his ability to get things done and with this past experience and knowledge we can be assured of good Council representation for our community. We will be voting for him, and ask you to do the same."

Bob and Barbara Geschke

"Paul Folino for councilman! I've known Paul Folino since his high school days. He is an ambitious, aggressive community citizen and a 'go-getter' businessman. His activities in community affairs convince me he would be a good community representative on the City Council. He will get my vote!"

Elroy V. Ellison

"We are supporting Paul Folino in the November election because of his record of accomplishment as a public servant in Northville over the twenty years we have lived here. Besides, his wife makes good lasagna and that's reason enough."

Dan Boland

"Paul Folino and his family are a great asset to this Northville community. This year as Chamber of Commerce President and International Festival Chairman Paul demonstrated his knack for hard work and innovative ideas. Paul Folino would be a definite plus back on the City Council."

‘Definitely arson’

Fire destroys former William Walker home

A once elegant mansion was reduced to ashes last week in an early evening arson at the William B. Walker Estate on Eight Mile.

The home which once hosted social events for garden clubs and church groups was abandoned and most recently had been the scene of a very different type of entertainment.

Teen-agers of the area had found it a congenial gathering place.

Several youths were among the first to alert police and fire officials of the blaze Tuesday, October 23.

They reported they had seen a light coming from what appeared to be the basement of the home. Others said they had seen someone running from the house, noticed the flames and called police.

Youths who talked to police were from Livonia. They had learned of the parties at the Walker Estate through friends and had been provided with a map showing where to find the home.

Since the home was unoccupied, had no connected utilities and attracted teens, police suspect the fire was set by juveniles and have ruled the blaze to be “definitely arson.”

Fire fighters were called to the scene at about 8:45 p.m. They found the entire house in flames. Despite their efforts the house collapsed upon itself. It was about 6 a.m. before the fire fighters were able to bring the fire under control.

Novi fire fighters were assisted for about four hours by the Northville Township fire department.

The size of the blaze made it “quite spectacular” to watch and it attracted quite a few gawkers, according to Fire Chief Arthur Lenganhan.

Police were called in to direct traffic away from the neighborhood of the blaze.

Preliminary estimates of damage to the estate caused by the fire have been placed at $25,000. It was situated on the 105 acres originally purchased by Walker in 1934.

The property is now owned by Marathon Oil Company and Haggerty-Eight Associates.

The blaze was the second to occur on the Walker Estate in recent weeks.

Servants’ quarters on the estate went up in flames Saturday, October 13.

Fire fighters were called to the scene of that fire while it was still confined to the second story and were able to contain it there.

That fire also has been ruled to be of suspicious origins.

The blazes on the former Walker property are the tenth and eleventh suspicious fires under investigation by police. The latest is the third suspected arson in the past two weeks.

The old place deserved better.

Members of the William B. Walker family knew the place they called home for so many years would eventually be knocked down to make room for so called ‘progress.’

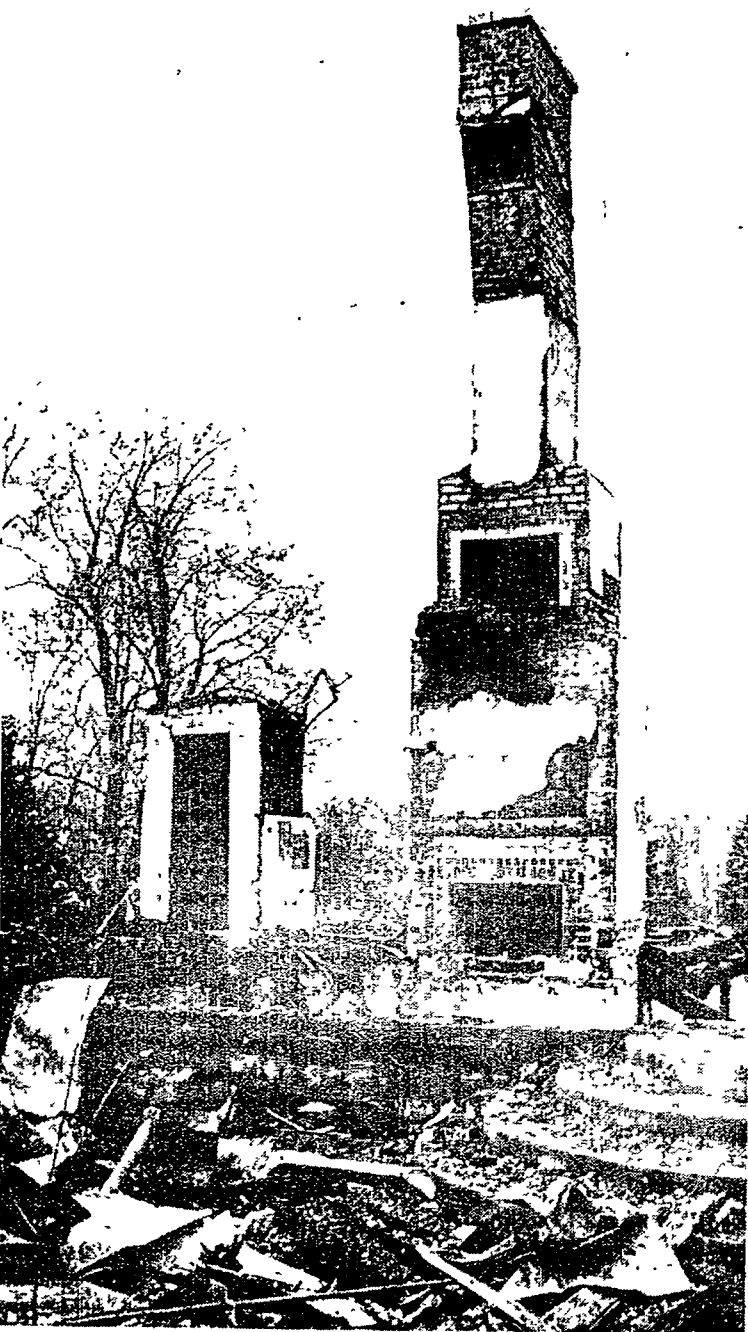

But they never imagined that the demise of the memorable old mansion, located at 39900 Eight Mile, would come at the hands of an arsonist.

Until Mrs. Walker’s death in 1977, the sprawling 105-acre estate, which stretched from the Apple Crest Orchards to Haggerty, was the site of many gatherings of the Women’s Farm and Garden Club, of which Mrs. Walker was a former officer.

The picturesque grounds also were visited by many area residents when it was among the homes on the Presbyterian Women's Association Home Tour in the late 1960s.

The home, which the Walkers had periodically enlarged, at one time contained diverse, well-blended furnishings, including a Victorian, marble-topped oval table, a mahogany grand Maison Hamlin reproducer player piano (said to be Mr. Walker's pride), and a stately grandfather clock — one of Mrs. Walker's many timekeepers.

In addition to its many desirable furnishings, the home had some special features which were installed to assist Mrs. Walker in the early 1970s when she was battling arthritis and heart disease.

These included an electric chairlift connected to the railing of one of two winding stairways and a hydraulic lift in the bathroom to help her get in and out of the tub.

The original house, which is more than 130 years old, was built on Eight Mile during the '40s, according to the Walker's daughter, Peg (Mrs. Paul Beard).

It was moved to the middle of the property in 1936, she recalls, two years after the Walker's bought the home.

Mrs. Beard remembers the family gatherings at the home as "very happy occasions spent together."

Those who visited the estate over the years also were very fond of the times spent there and of the Walkers themselves.

They so enjoyed their visits that they nicknamed the estate 'Happy Acres.' But the happy times became mere memories as Mr. Walker died in 1977 and the family had to vacate.

Mr. Walker, the owner of Walway Company (a small metal stamping operation in Detroit), had sold the estate to the Levitt Company with a stipulation in the sale agreement which let him live out his life on the property.

Peg and her husband Paul Beard now live in Spruce, while another daughter, Ida and her husband, Louis Eaton reside in Howell.

The Walkers' only son, William Lee and his family also recently moved from the area.

William Lee Walker, Jr., grandson of Mr. Walker, and his family now reside in Hartland. 'Spike' as his friends call him, and his family lived on the Walker estate for a time prior to his grandfather's death.

Some of the Walker home's furnishings were distributed among family members following Mr. Walker's death, while the remainder were sold.

The family business, which was run by Mr. Walker and son William Lee, was sold in 1978.

The buildings on the estate have been vacant since the Walkers turned the property over to the Levitt Company in December, 1977.

Since then the property has changed hands a number of times.

Orchard Hill Place Associates, owners of an 89-acre parcel of the former Walker property bordering on Haggerty, will soon begin construction of the first building in a proposed "office park" development.

The firm hopes to build a major complex which would include a hotel; a series of office buildings; a recreation complex that would include a theatre, bowling alley and racquetball courts; and a series of retail stores that would include a major department store.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

by Jim Roth

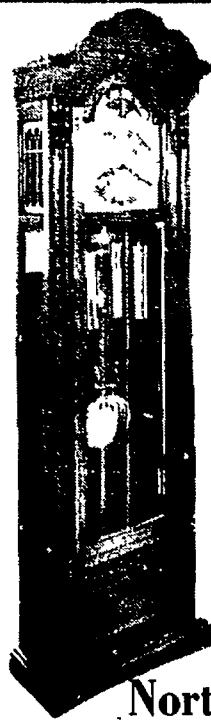

The French government in its regulation of French wines allows only the country's top 15% to be labelled Appellation Controllee. Such wines are from a particular district, village, and vineyard, and even wines from adjoining vineyards may not get the Appellation Controllee label because they can vary from vineyard to vineyard. In Italy, the finest wines are labelled Denominazione di Origine Controllata, again to guarantee the wine drinker that a bottle so labelled is one of the best to be found.

Some of the best wines can be found on our shelves at GOOD TIME PARTY Store, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. Wine appreciation can be a beautiful experience. "Pain in the Back?"

Back pains may develop as the result of any number of contortions through which humans go. You reach down to pick up a paper, twisting slightly, and "Yeow!" when you try to straighten up, it feels as if somebody had hit you in the spine with a 24 pound maul. You reach up to prune a fruit tree, stretching a little to reach the limbs, and "Whoey!" something rips somewhere. . . or at least it feels like something rips.

And so you hobble around, hunched over against the pain and wincing at every step, until folks want to know what happened to the truck you ran into. Clearly, something went wrong. It sure did. What happened was simple. . . you pinched a nerve between two misaligned vertebrae and the nerve is screaming for help.

Heat (heating pads, hot water bottles and such) brings temporary relief and helps to soothe the injured nerve, but unless you take steps to remedy the cause, further distress may ensue. The cause, displacement of vertebrae, usually yields quickly to the skilled treatment by your Chiropractor.

Unless the trouble is corrected, it may return quickly and without warning, for once the vertebrae have misaligned it is easier for them to do it again. The Chiropractor's gentle treatment insures against this, by teaching the body to brace and prevent spinal slippages.

Chamber names Essie Nirider Citizen of Year

For 55 years Essie Nirider has been living in and contributing to the Northville community.

His service was recognized Thursday as he was named Citizen of the Year at the annual Northville Community Chamber of Commerce banquet at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Nirider called it "an honor I never expected" as he was cited by Postmaster John Steimel, last year's recipient.

Steimel said that Nirider's contributions are difficult to recount "because they have been made quietly and without fanfare...He has always promoted Northville wherever he has gone and to whomever he has talked."

Nirider has just retired as executive director of the Northville Chamber of Commerce, a part-time position he had held in conjunction with serving as a manufacturers representative to companies related to the hardware business.

Nirider said he plans to retain the latter activity.

He and his wife, the former Marie Watkins of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, are anticipating visiting their daughter Gail in Tempe, Arizona, this winter. She is a teacher there.

In the future, the Niriders plan to spend their summers at Torch Lake and will decide between Arizona and Florida for the winter months. In the meantime, Nirider says, they will keep their home at 985 Grace.

"The downtown area has been a great part of my life," Nirider recalls as he tells of working at the D & C Store weekends and during summer vacations while he was a student at Northville High School.

He moved here in 1924 with his family from Southern Illinois, attending grade school and then Northville High School where he was graduated as a four-letter man in 1936.

Before leaving for service with the U.S. Army in World War II, he had become assistant manager of the D & C.

"I started in Iceland with the Fifth Infantry Division," Nirider recalls, "and four-and-a-half years later ended up in Czechoslovakia."

Nirider served with General Patton's divisions in the invasion of Europe, was wounded and spent three months in a hospital in England before returning to Northville.

Now married, he returned to the D & C Store and became its manager, working there 15 years. In 1955 he bought Northville Hardware (now Green's Creative Home Center on North Center), operating the business until 1967.

He then served as manufacturers representative to three hardware-related companies and affiliated part-time with Carl Johnson in the real estate business. This association lasted 10 years.

During these years Essie Nirider was active in his church. He served as secretary and then chairman of the board and as lay leader of the First United Methodist Church of Northville.

The Niriders have two daughters, Gail in Arizona and Nancy, a member of Congressman Carl Pursell's Washington, D.C., staff, and a son Stanley E., who lives in Northville with his wife Lisa.

When the chamber took over operation of the weekly farmers' market, Essie Nirider worked to enlarge it. He always was on hand early Thursday mornings to welcome arriving farmers.

As Steimel made the presentation to Nirider, he quoted a poem that he said described the recipient of the Citizen of the Year award, calling him "most richly blessed."

Nirider agrees, mentioning only that there's one blessing he's still anticipating—becoming a grandparent.

Hot lunches get off to good start here

Adam Hess tries Winchester school spaghetti and meatballs

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

The green beans got panned, so to speak, but the new hot lunch program generally got rave reviews Monday as Winchester school became the first elementary school in Northville to start serving school lunches.

"It's great," fifth grader Molly Beach said of the spaghetti and meatballs luncheon. "Everything except the beans. They're a little stale or something."

Over 200 of the 500 kids at Winchester bought 75-cent meal tickets for Monday's school lunch. Winchester is the first school to start the program here. Silver Springs Elementary lunches are due to start November 5. Moraine starts November 12 and Amerman is tentatively scheduled to start November 19.

Hot lunches are finally starting here as a result of compliance with a state law which requires all Michigan school districts to serve school lunches.

The lunches are planned to give one-third of the daily nutritional allowance for a child.

Because elementary schools here do not have kitchen facilities, all lunches are pre-packaged Morton school lunches which have been nutritionally balanced.

Monday's lunch of spaghetti and meatballs, green beans (heated in its divided paper container), roll, pears and milk provided the meat, fruit, vegetable, bread and milk requirements for school lunches.

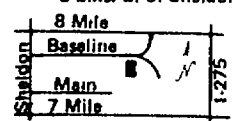

The hot portion of the meal is cooked in a convection oven which is not as fast as a microwave but faster than a conventional oven. Students put the meal on a tray, take a little package containing a napkin, salt, pepper and a combination fork/spoon (known in the trade

Police suggest safety tips for trick or treaters

Ghosts, goblins, witches, some Star Wars characters and many other strange-looking creatures will be visiting area homes this evening seeking tasty treats.

To help insure that this Halloween is a safe one for all, Northville police are asking that the following safety tips are followed:

—Wear brightly colored costumes so motorists can see you more easily.

—Do not wear costumes that block vision (be able to see where you are going)

—Obey traffic laws (cross at corners and look both ways)

—Parents, escort your children and record suspicious occurrences.

—Inspect your child's treats before he begins to enjoy them.

Metal detection screening will be available to all residents of the city and township between 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. at the city fire hall, 215 West Main.

The screening is part of an annual open house put on by the fire department. Refreshments will also be available to those who attend.

Police remind residents that all trick or treating in Northville should be done between the hours of 6 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Couse on MSU stage

Peter Couse of Northville was among the performers on stage when the Michigan State University Arena

Theatre opened its season Oct. 23-27 with the classic comedy, "You Can't Take It With You." Couse, a junior majoring in socio-economics, played Boris Kolenkhov in the three-act farce written by Moss Hart and George Kaufman.

The play was directed by theatre department assistant professor John Balsch.

Balsch describes the play as "not only about a rather unconventional family. It's a nostalgia piece about a lifestyle that was easier, uncomplicated and gentle. It's tremendously appealing to modern audiences."

Couse, son of Blake T. Couse of 18240 Laraugh, is a versatile actor with considerable acting experience. His credits include appearances in "The Corsican Brothers" and "Fiddler on the Roof."

Couse is a 1977 graduate of Northville High School.

State police trooper steps down

A deferred Michigan State Police retirement effective October 27 has been granted Sp/Lt. Marvin H. Bendickson, 37, of the Northville laboratory, after more than 23 years of service.

Bendickson joined the State Police in December, 1965, with assignment first to the former East Lansing post. He left the department for about a year beginning in 1967, but was reinstated the next year as a trooper at New Buffalo.

In August, 1970, Bendickson was transferred to the post at Detroit, then was assigned in December the same year to the laboratory at Plymouth where he earned promotions to specialists 10 and 11 and to lieutenant IV. The Plymouth laboratory was relocated in 1976 in new quarters at Northville.

Department credits include a citation for meritorious service for his part in disarming a subject in 1967 at Lansing who was disturbed about domestic matters and had also threatened suicide.

Bendickson was born at Traverse City where he graduated from high school and later earned an associate in science degree from Northwestern Michigan College. Other college training includes a bachelor of science degree from Madonna College in Livonia.

Beginning in 1962 he served in the U.S. Navy for 24 months, including 19 on duty overseas.

He and his wife, Jacqueline, have three sons.

OPEN LETTER TO RESIDENTS OF THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE

Twice each year, generally in October and again in April, members of the Northville Beautification Commission are assigned to four teams with two members on each team. These teams inspect all commercial, industrial and institutional properties in the City. Using an equitable point system each team judges every property for overall appearance, cleanliness and maintenance. After the second inspection in April the points are tallied and properties eligible for recognition are selected based on total point accumulation. Awards are presented as part of Michigan Week activities each year.

It has become increasingly obvious during the inspection trips that many residential property owners are deserving of recognition also. Members of the Beautification Commission have attempted repeatedly to find a way to recognize those property owners as well but have concluded it would be impossible to give proper credit to everyone keeping their homes and lawns neat, attractive and well maintained.

This letter is our way of saying thank you for the pride you are showing in your community and to assure you that your efforts are not going unnoticed.

Fessler charges

'High risk' victory

"High risk" policyholders won a large victory at the expense of outstate/suburban Detroit motorists when the house passed a controversial essential insurance bill Tuesday, State Representative Richard D. Fessler (R-West Bloomfield) charged.

Fessler said he voted against the measure because it is contrary to the free market philosophy and will increase auto and homeowners' insurance rates in the 24th Legislative District. He said he is not sure how much insurance rates in his district will increase as a result of the legislation.

The legislation, which eliminates sex and marital status as legitimate factors for determining insurance rates, attempts to shift the costs of "high risk" policyholders onto the shoulders of persons whose premiums are properly priced in the competitive market.

The measure has now been passed by House and Senate and is awaiting Governor Milliken's signature.

"Statistics which have been used by the insurance industry for years are statistically verifiable and have been the basis for the establishment of insurance rates," Fessler said. "As a result of this legislation, the free market system will be disrupted and will cause insurers to set their prices at a high level since they will not know what sort of losses to expect based on new factors introduced."

Fessler said the bill "ignores real facts" in order to achieve a better social system for persons who are "high risk" policyholders while shifting the burden of payment onto "low risk" persons.

"The insurance industry has always been based on 'risk' factors," Fessler said. "For example, it's a fact that young people have significantly more accidents than older drivers and males have higher accident rates in most age categories than female drivers and so on."

"This legislation ignores some of those facts in order to achieve a social result and this will mean higher rates for many drivers who benefit from the present groupings by being careful drivers," he said.

Fessler also predicted that the about-to-be-signed bill will cause "headaches for the insurance industry" as well as inequities in the marketplace.

"This bill is an attempt by some lawmakers to make policyholders in outstate areas subsidize some Detroit drivers who are considered 'high risks,'" he said.

"Why should people who choose to be careful drivers to keep their rates low have to pay for careless drivers?" Fessler asked. "It is just not a fair plan for the majority of Michigan residents who will be forced to pick up the tab."

Fessler also criticized the bill because it would provide no solution for taking uninsured motorists off the road and allows persons convicted of manslaughter to be eligible for auto insurance.

Meet your city candidates

Resigned as Councilman midway of second term to become candidate for Mayor. Elected Mayor by a two to one margin. Performance record justifies a second term.

1. The City of Northville is proud of the present level of services. Government has been able to hold millage in place to a minimum yet retain an acceptable service level. Development of the remaining available land within the City will produce additional revenues and revenues from Northville Downs should continue to support present service levels in the foreseeable future.

2. The City of Northville has already taken a dominant role in support of our entire business community by establishing the Downtown Development Authority by ordinance July 24, 1978 and the City of Northville Economic Development Corporation. Both are actively working to implement Mainstreet 78 which was overwhelmingly endorsed by City of Northville voters. The City should continue working with the Chamber of Commerce and individual business people to maintain a viable business community.

3. Most people with a Northville mailing address don't recognize city/township boundaries but identify with downtown Northville as their community center. Objective analysis proves without any doubt that many community services can be provided jointly for considerably less cost than they can individually. Those in authority in both City and Township government should put aside personal animosities and work harmoniously toward providing services to the entire Northville community if joint participation is the most practical and cost effective.

4. Holding taxes at or near their present level yet maintaining the level of services will continue to be a challenge. Over capacity discharges into the sewer system serving the Northville community must be corrected. Other race tracks in Michigan will continue to try and get more racing dates at the expense of Northville Downs. Each day of racing at Northville Downs contributes approximately $5000 to the City of Northville thus any lost racing dates will cost the City that amount. Orderly implementation of Mainstreet 78 must be accomplished quickly and additional effort to support the business community must continue.

5. The record shows that many positive and progressive programs have been introduced during the past several years and I want to help bring them to a conclusion.

JUANITA M. BREEN

Auto-Owners Insurance for your mobile home protects more than your mobile home.

Auto Owners mobile home insurance policy is patterned after our famous homeowners policy. And that means you can be sure you're getting the protection you need. Even protection you might not think of. For instance, do you own a garage or other building not attached to your mobile home? An Auto-Owners policy automatically protects those buildings for up to 10 percent of the value of your mobile home. At no extra charge.

Pre-winter car tune ups can help save money

With fuel costs at all time highs, Northville Township Police Chief Ronald Nisun reminds motorists that pre-winter vehicle tune-ups are more important than ever.

Tune-ups are extremely important to help with fuel conservation and the usual winter driving problems— inadequate traction and reduced visibility, he said.

"In view of continuing concerns about energy conservation and pollution controls, engine tune-ups and good vehicle maintenance are critical to getting through the winter months as economically as possible without mechanical failures," Chief Nisun said.

"First, and most importantly, have your engine tuned by a competent mechanic. A tune-up, such as the one we give our patrol and emergency vehicles, should include inspection of the electrical system, timing, points, plugs, and the emission control devices on late model cars. This will reduce fuel consumption, while at the same time assure dependable starting at low temperatures and fewer stalls in traffic.

A balky car in traffic and under winter conditions is a sure way to start a traffic tie-up, the chief said.

In addition to the basic tune-up, Nisun urges vehicle owners to also heed the following equipment recommendations developed by the National Safety Council and endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police and the Wayne County Association of Chiefs of Police:

HEATER-DEFROST SYSTEM must clear fog and frost off your windshield and keep it clear. Check the thermostat and adjustments to the control mechanism. Include the rear window defroster if your vehicle has one.

WINDSHIELD WIPERS may have dried out in the summer heat. Replacement blades are inexpensive and do a better job wiping away slush and snow without streaking. Check your washer solution for adequate anti-freeze protection.

LIGHTS must be in perfect working order. Check for and replace burned out bulbs and broken or cracked lenses. Winter grime and road salt corrodes sockets and reflectors. Clean all lights frequently during winter.

BRAKES poorly adjusted, grabbing and falling brakes can force your vehicle into an uncontrolled skid on slippery pavements. Have them checked and adjusted by a competent mechanic before trouble starts.

TIRES with good treads are important year 'round, but especially when pavements are covered with snow and ice. Snow tires are particularly helpful for pulling through loosely packed snow, but offer little advantage in stopping on icy pavements.

EMERGENCY EQUIPMENT in your trunk should include: booster cables, sand or rock salt, traction mats, a shovel, safety flares or reflectors, a tow chain or strap, emergency lighting equipment (with fresh batteries), extra windshield washer solvent, a window scraper and paper towels, heavy gloves and extra winter clothing.

"Check your car, then double-check your driving habits," Chief Nisun said.

SPEAKING
By BILL SLIGER

Our choices: Vernon,
Ayres and Johnston

City voters can hardly go wrong when they elect two councilmembers and a mayor next Tuesday.

First of all, incumbent Mayor Paul Vernon is unopposed. So he is assured his second two-year term in office.

The mayor has earned the recognition. He is a hard worker and his energies are well directed. Mayor Vernon has not assumed his responsibilities without a game plan. He has demonstrated the ability and determination to stick to a course of action while still dealing with and solving the inevitable day-to-day crises that plague any operation be it governmental or business.

I believe it is Mayor Vernon's sense of organization and direction that has made him the right man at the right time for the position of mayor of the city of Northville.

That he is running unopposed is recognition of his performance rather than lack of interest.

Meanwhile, five candidates have tossed their hats into the ring for two openings on the five-member council. Veteran Councilman Wallace Nichols is not seeking re-election; Councilman Stanley Johnston is.

It is the opinion of both Editor Jack Hoffman and myself that all candidates are well qualified. And this isn't an uncharacteristic attempt at editorial flattery.

Hence, we believe the city will be well-served by whatever combination the electorate prefers.

Johnston offers experience and a proven record; Folino can also point to past years of service on the council and various community organizations; Carolann Ayres has been a community do-er; and both Kevin Hartshorne and Jerome Mittman demonstrate keen interest and the intellect to contribute as members of the council.

But we believe Councilman Johnston should be returned to office. Even more than his broad experience as a councilmember for four years and as a former president of the board of education we think Johnston's value results from a common-sense approach to problems and an ability and willingness to express his opinion forthrightly.

While we were particularly impressed by both Hartshorne and Mittman, we believe Ayres would perform as the best councilmember.

Despite her suggestions that "the council needs a woman to broaden its viewpoint," I'm unmoved by the argument. Male or female, any candidate must be judged by his or her qualifications and record.

And we don't think Ayres is on any ego trip or has any misgivings about how much work will be involved in council duty.

She will contribute and she will join the council nearly as well informed and prepared as any veteran councilmember.

Next Tuesday vote for VERNON, JOHNSTON and AYRES.

Northville Square, which will soon become the new home of Michigan United Gift Salesmen (MUGS), is just about on schedule in its transformation from a retail shopping center to a merchandise mart for wholesale display.

Steve Gossard, MUGS president and a Northville resident, says the first show will be held in January. The 90 showrooms in which wholesalers display merchandise for retail gift dealers from throughout Michigan, northern Indiana and Ohio will be ready by December 1.

The January show is expected to attract representatives from 2,300 retail outlets. While this will serve as a "mini-opening" of the new merchandise mart, a grand opening is planned in March.

Gossard explains that by its nature a merchandise mart cannot be open to the general public. He would favor, however, an opportunity to show the community what MUGS is like inside. And, perhaps, someday this can be arranged.

Meanwhile, the entire Northville Square — with the exception of Elias Brothers Restaurant — will serve as a huge showroom for retailers seeking giftware items for their stores.

The public entrance into Elias will remain off Cady street.

Gossard also noted that the merchandise mart expects to hire a number of people from the community to help in the day-to-day operations of the facility. Notice of this will appear in this newspaper at a later date.

Speaking for Myself

Is nuclear energy really necessary?

DONALD W. RIEGLE, JR.

YES

To assure our economic growth and vitality, our nation must develop a balanced domestic energy program — including nuclear power.

There is a direct relationship between our prosperity and energy. We use the energy equivalent of 37 million barrels of oil each day. Even if we meet ambitious conservation goals we will still have to increase domestic energy production substantially.

AGENDA: We must fully develop clean coal products, magnetic fusion, solar, geothermal and all other potential domestic energy sources. But we must also continue our nuclear programs, including breeder technology that actually produces more fuel than it consumes, a real opportunity for energy independence.

THE STAKES: Each nuclear power plant loosens the OPEC noose, saving the equivalent of 10 million barrels of oil and $100-$500 million each year.

NO

Safety has become the overwhelming issue in deciding what role nuclear power should play in our energy future. The incident at Three Mile Island brought to life the danger of an accident releasing into the environment highly radioactive material from the reactor core. However, low level release of radioactivity, radiation exposure to workers, the problem of storing highly radioactive waste material, and the possibility of terrorist sabotage also present a difficult challenge to scientists and engineers.

In the wake of Three Mile Island, we have seen two employees of a Virginia nuclear plant convicted of sabotage, hazardous material spilled in the course of transportation for storage, and radioactive materials "disappear" from a plant in Tennessee. Evidence has also been presented that the Nuclear Regulatory Commission has been lax in enforcing safety standards.

WASTES: The technology exists to build a waste repository, classify wastes and store them safely. We must commit to permanent storage of wastes that exist. Pending enactment of reprocessing of spent nuclear fuels, we must support legislation to authorize construction of Away From Reactor (AFR) storage facilities.

THE FUTURE: If we establish such energy policies, we can have adequate energy, environmental protection, and economic stability. If we fail, the inevitable result, I am convinced, will be economic, societal and political catastrophe, both domestic and international.

JACK W.
HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

One of the last remaining "survivors" of the ill-fated ship, the Titanic, is Joseph Michrina of Northville.

The 70-year-old retired electrician was just three years old in that spring of 1912 when he, his sister, and his mother waited at the Southampton, England dock to board the Titanic.

Despite his age at the time, Michrina remembers the ship "almost like it was yesterday."

"We were returning to Pennsylvania from Czechoslovakia where we had been vacationing for a year. My mother and dad were from there and we had been visiting their relatives. My dad, a coal miner in Pennsylvania, had sent us on the trip. He didn't come; he had to work."

Michrina, who spends much of his time painting landscapes today, remembers the immensity of the ship ... even the white dress-like outfit he was wearing.

"We stood on the dock for a long time waiting to board. But at the last minute somebody 'bumped' us. This was the Titanic's maiden voyage and there were so many rich people clamoring to get aboard there wasn't room for many like us — even though we only had tickets for the third class section," he says.

He remembers, too, the giant ship pulling away from the dock and then disappearing into the distance.

His mother was heartbroken; their return home would be delayed for several days until they could board another ship. For Joseph Michrina, however, there was no disappointment, only an awe of having seen the super giant.

It was several days later — even before they had boarded another ship — that the Michrinas would learn that the unsinkable Titanic had gone down, taking the lives of about 1,500 of the 2,200 passengers.

Sale aids Hawthorn

To the Editor:

This is an invitation to all those in Northville who care about children! On Saturday, November 3 the mothers of former residents of Hawthorn will present their once a year hand-made craft and no-calorie bake sale. There will also be several tours of Hawthorn Center. This year we are honored to present Mrs. Theta Burke, author and publisher. She will be there to autograph her book. Ms. Burke for 20 years was on the staff of Hawthorn Center. Her outlook on life and her smile have been an inspiration to everyone who has had the privilege of knowing her.

Some of the children at Hawthorn have made wastebaskets and candlestick holders and are very proud of their efforts. Hawthorn Center is located on Haggerty Road (directly across the road from Schoolcraft College).

The residents of Hawthorn Center are suffering from emotional illness and many, many of these young people, after a stay at Hawthorn, are able to go out and take their place in society and become happy, useful citizens of the world.

They need all the emotional support and understanding we can give them. I guarantee your visit to Hawthorn Center on November 3 (9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.) will help these young people and each one of you, too. You can help by doing your Christmas shopping (tax deductible, of course) and you can see for yourself some of the wonderful facilities for these children at Hawthorn Center.

Please mark Saturday, November 3 on your calendar and bring your friends too.

Many, many thanks.

Dance policy attacked

To the Editor:

I agree with Missy Besh's letter which appeared in your paper on October 17. I feel it's time as students stood up for our rights! I think the policy is unfair and I hope it is changed. I know I am going to support Missy Besh.

A.E.

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to voice my opinion on the dance policy at Northville High School. It could probably be handled a different way than excluding guests. I agree with Missy Besh.

Sincerely,
M.H.

To the Editor:

Regarding the letter Missy Besh wrote last week on the high school dance policy, I also feel strongly that this rule is discriminatory and should be changed before too many more dances go by.

Hot lunches off to good start

as something like a "spork" or a "foon".

The lunch program here is designed to be financially self-supporting. The state paid for the ovens and other equipment.

The lunches, supplies and special aides' salaries are to be paid from revenues. Each lunch is paid for by the 75-cent price, plus 17 cents from the federal government. The government will also supply 15 cents worth of commodities (for example, cans of peaches) for each lunch, said Yvonne Stephens, district food supervisor.

Stephens has planned the entire Northville elementary hot lunch program. She ran a conventional hot lunch program as food supervisor for the Novi schools until this year.

"Northville is one of the last to implement a school lunch program, but that is all under the bridge now," Stephens said. "It is a good program. I think the kids will like these luncheons."

"It was good while it lasted," said Wade Zoroya, fifth grader at Winchester who wiped his plate clean inside of ten minutes Monday. But Wade said he'll eat school lunches more often.

"We should eat a hot lunch in the winter so when we go outside we won't get cold," Wade said.

About 150 students still brought bag lunches to school Monday. Many of them did not seem the least bit interested in spaghetti and meatballs when they could eat a good peanut butter sandwich.

"I like bag lunches," said fifth-grader Rebecca Hargreaves.

"I hate green beans," said first-grader Jennifer Smith, chomping on a sandwich from home.

Still, Stephens is confident that many students will be attracted to the good quality school lunches.

"The day of going home for lunches is nearly past," she said. Many kids bring good lunches from home, but some bag lunches are filled with junk food.

She said some Northville students have already qualified for free or reduced-rate school lunches, which proves to her that school lunches here are beneficial.

Next week when school lunches are due to start at Silver Springs, the menu is breaded fish, mixed vegetables, bread, and diced peaches.

FISH fetes volunteers

To the Editor:

All FISH volunteers are invited to a coffee and cake social in their honor to be held from 2-4 p.m. Sunday, November 11, at the King's Mill Clubhouse on Northville road in Northville.

We wish to say "thank you" publicly to those who are serving our community quietly and without fanfare. We think our volunteers are great and want them to know it.

So many work by phone only and haven't had much opportunity to meet some of the people that they have talked to and worked with so the social is being held to get acquainted.

We are asking volunteers to please come. The party's for you. No business, just coffee and cake and a chance to meet each other. Bring a spouse or a friend if you like.

Student Congress

By PAM BINGLEY
Student Congress President

During the month of October, Student Congress has been busy with carrying out Homecoming, family portraits and the upcoming C.P.R. class.

Homecoming was very successful this year despite a little rain. This year's homecoming court consisted of queen Kelly Assenmacher, king Todd Mach, senior reps Amy Missel, Pam Bingley, Dale Fisher and Tom Doyle. Junior class representatives were Kay Wolf and Dave Harper. Sophomore reps were Kim Smith and Matt Wright. Congratulations!

The week wrapped up with juniors winning first, seniors second and last but not least, sophomores third.

Student Congress was addressed last Thursday by Mr. Nick Serkalian about "We Care." Student Congress was very impressed and will be getting involved with the organization.

Right now we are concentrating on our fund raiser, eight-by-ten-inch family portraits. Anyone wishing to have a portrait for $5 should call Sue at 349-0200 or Pam at 349-8234. All in all we're off to a good start.

News Briefs

THE SLOW start in attendance and mutual handle picked up at the end of the first week of racing at the Downs for Jackson-at-Northville. Even so, however, attendance and handle is off the pace of the first week of racing last year. The high point this past week was Saturday night when 4,606 attended, producing a handle of $539,211.

CANDIDATES for the city council were to be guests of Allen Terrace residents Wednesday morning at the regular coffee hour in the activities room.

ABOUT 20 persons attended the public forum for city council members here Monday night. The forum, sponsored by the local chapter of the League of Women Voters, was held at the city hall. Candidates were given an opportunity to introduce themselves, and the audience was able to ask questions of the candidates — five for council and one for mayor.

GRAND OPENING ceremonies for M-14 freeway were scheduled to take place today at the intersection of the freeway and Beck Road.

Lexington Commons

Homeowners elect five

Five persons were elected to the board of directors of Lexington Commons Homeowner's Association on October 24.

Elected at the meeting held at Cooke Junior High School were:

One year term — Jay Wendt, replacing Martin Rinehart, who has resigned; two year terms — Jack Bales, Connie Conder, Al Griffore and Jerry Mittman.

Returning members of the board are Tamera Church and Kay Smulsky.

Officers of the board will be elected at the monthly meeting of the board on November 12 at the Lexington Condos Clubhouse at 8 p.m.

At the annual meeting a solution was sought for the trespassing problem involving bikers and walking students from Connemara Hills to Cooke school.

"I've thought of it a lot over the years," says Michrina. And so, too, have his mother and sister, both of whom are still living.

"Every time they show a movie or retell the story I think about it..

"And not long ago I was watching television and they were interviewing the 'last survivor.'

"Well, I may not have been aboard when it went down, but I'm a survivor just the same. How many can say they had tickets for the Titanic on its maiden voyage?"

What substitute ship did they take back to the United States?

"I don't remember the name; my mother doesn't either."

Open house scheduled

The Hawthorn Center, 18471 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile, will host a craft sale, open house and tour Saturday, November 3 from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Schrader succumbs and Hidden Valley Country Club in Texas.

He was also associated for 40 years with the Northville Driving Club. He resigned from the board in March, 1978 while serving as president. At the time Mr. Schrader expressed bitter disappointment over a split which developed within the organization over a proposed sale of Driving Club stock to Northville Downs. The controversy cost his son N.C., a seat on the board and brought new investors into the group, who gained control through formation of a voting trust.

Well known and respected for his forthrightness, Mr. Schrader said in announcing his resignation: "I am charged and hurt I have been involved in the Driving club for 40 years. I have acted honestly and sincerely. I feel let down that people I have known so long would act in this manner. I should have been informed (of the formation of the voting trust) as presiding officer."

Russell Amerman, retired Northville Public Schools administrator, remembers Mr. Schrader as both a student at high school, when Amerman was principal, and as a board of education member, when Amerman was superintendent.

"You always knew where he stood. And he was always very much interested in what happened to boys and girls, and he acted on that basis," Amerman stated.

In addition to his business and community interests Mr. Schrader was an avid outdoorsman and athlete. When he retired as president of the board of education in 1960 he said: "I can't imagine not developing a sound body to go with a sound mind. What kind of people will we have if we don't provide adequate physical education for our children — they won't have the energy to walk."

Mr. Schrader was a strapping 200-pounder who played varsity football for the Michigan State University team of the mid-Thirties which played in the Orange Bowl.

In recent years Mr. and Mrs. Schrader have spent the summer months in Gaylord and the winters in Harlingen, Texas. They have maintained a condominium at Lexington Commons in Northville so that they might be near family and friends for brief stays enroute north or south. The Schraders sold their family home at 116 Orchard Drive to Our Lady of Victory Church in 1976.

Mr. Schrader was born in Northville on April 27, 1916, the son of Nelson C. and Jerusha Simpson Schrader. In addition to his wife, Betty J., whom he married in 1939, he is survived by a son, N.C. III, and a daughter, Mrs. Wade (Sarah) Deal, both of Northville; four grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. Ernest (Reva) Shave of Stuart, Florida and Mrs. Ross B. (Betsy) Northrop of Northville.

The Reverend Lloyd Brasure of the First Presbyterian Church will officiate at Friday's memorial services.

member of the city library board and the Economic Development Corporation.

Mittman, 997 Springfield Court, is a graduate of both Marquette University and the University of Michigan. He is employed by Ford Motor Company in light truck product planning.

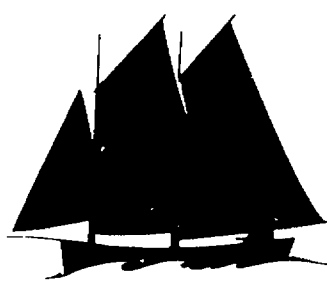

Vernon, who lives at 1080 Allen Drive, was a member of council for six years, resigning midway in his second term to become a candidate for mayor.

According to Clerk McAllister, a total of 3,984 persons are registered to vote in Tuesday's election. The majority of these electors — but only barely — live in the Wayne County section of the city.

With Eight Mile and Base Line serving as the dividing line, 2,037 of the electors live in Wayne County section and 1,947 are in the Oakland County section.

All of the candidates except for Johnson, Follino and Hartshorne live in the Oakland section.

Other members of council, whose terms are not expiring, are J. Burton DeRusha and Dewey Gardner. Both of these men were elected to four-year terms two years ago.

tion than last year and 16 percent more in maintenance and operations.

"With total expenditures up 7.7 percent, we are proud of the fact that most of this increase will take place in instruction and capital improvements," Nichols said.

In the instruction category this year, the district will spend $1,688,313 in the elementary program, $1,053,289 in the junior highs and $1,021,937 in the high school program.

The high school's budget is down this year some $35,055 because of cutbacks in teachers, most of whom were at the top end of the pay scale, Nichols said.

The special education program will spend $466,845, up over $100,000 from last year.

Vocational education will spend $26,452 and summer school is budgeted at $7,300.

The Plus Program for gifted students has a budget of $30,000 this year. It had no budget in the past.

The district will spend $4,766,780 for instruction this year, up $383,399 over last year's actual expenditures.

In other areas, 4.6 guidance counseling positions were cut.

The fiscal services budget is up some $65,387 so that this year the district has $254,730 budgeted for fiscal services.

The district has budgeted over $100,000 more for capital improvements than in past years. The budget for maintenance and operations this year will be $1,431,299, up $200,280 from last year.

The district will spend $304,478 in pupil transportation.

Total expenditures for non-instructional services and equipment will be $3,580,612, up $164,069 from last year.

Gerontology careers get Madonna boost

Focusing on the quality of life for the aged, the Madonna College Gerontology Department has introduced a specialized activity therapy program designed to reduce premature dependency, mental or physical decline in the elderly.

The gerontology career preparation program, one of three in the state and only nine in the Midwestern region, will train specialists — 40 in the first year — in assisting the older person cope with stress while expanding his/her social contacts in the community.

The trainees will learn to plan, direct and coordinate activities for older adults aimed at stimulating intellectual pursuits and socially constructive activities.

Kathy Needham, project director and gerontology instructor at Madonna, reported that surveys have indicated the need for personnel trained in challenging the elderly to expand their horizons as a path to improved health.

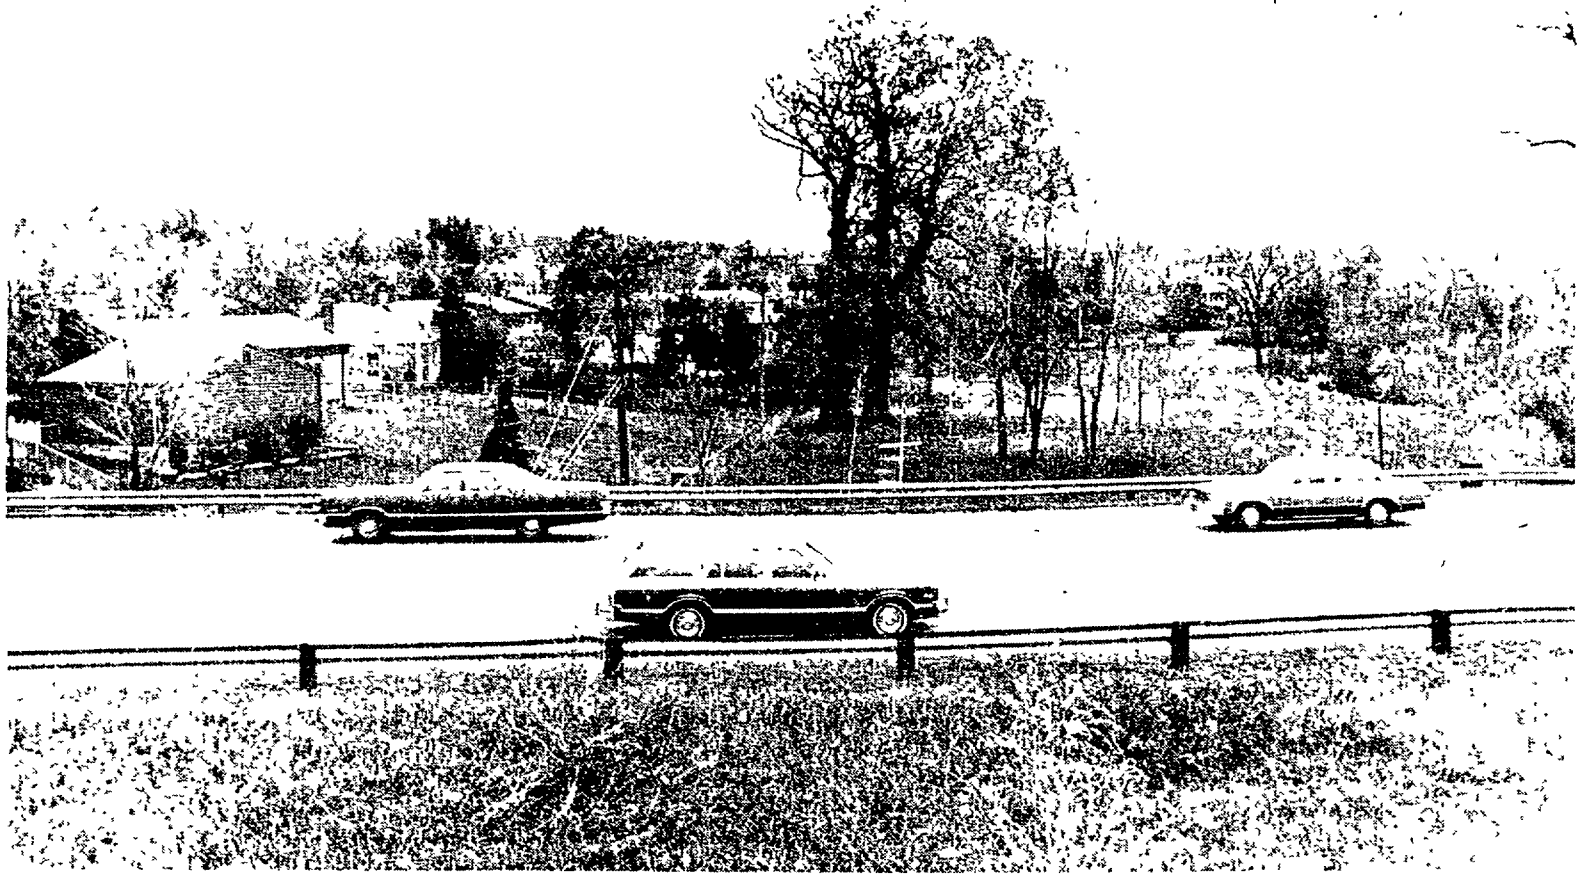

The program is initially funded through the Federal Administration on Aging, Title IV-A, Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Participants in the training program will receive partial financial assistance.

Two stately old oaks still stand guard here

Ruth Burkman remembers the day when she looked out her kitchen window and saw a lovely farm pasture.

The pasture's gone now and in its place a subdivision has grown up and a highway has sliced through it.

But the two giant oak trees that Mrs. Burkman remembers as being a focal point in that pasture remain.

"There," she says, pointing out the kitchen window. "You can just see the tops of the two oaks."

The two trees today are located at the back property lines of Allen Drive homes — in the open space area just north of Eight Mile and west of the railroad overpass.

Using a photograph of the pasture and the two trees — a photograph that hangs in the kitchen in the Burkmans' historic old home on Base Line — the reporter easily was able to locate the two trees from Eight Mile.

Little remains to suggest that this was a pasture, but the two trees still stand tall and proud. They look just as they did when the photograph was taken in the 1920s.

The stream's location has been altered slightly; other trees have disappeared and new ones now grow on the site.

All of this property, which Northville calls Village Green Subdivision, was part of the Robert Yerkes farm, and the farmhouse in which John and Ruth Burkman live was Mr. Yerkes' home. Ruth is the Robert Yerkes' granddaughter.

The farm stretched north to what now is the Northville-Nowi boundary and covered the area from Novi Road to Center Street.

All of the farm, until its annexation in the 1950s, was then part of Novi Township. Base Line was the Novi-Northville boundary.

Concerning the pasture behind the farmhouse, Ruth Burkman recalls that the stream (Middle Rouge) winding through it was "a great place to swim." There was a "deep place, near the bend" (at the right edge of the old photograph) that made it ideal for swimming, she says.

Bonamici-Herlihy wed

Elizabeth Ellen Herlihy and Andrew Roland Bonamici were united in marriage October 6 in Portland, Oregon.

The new Mrs. Bonamici is the daughter of Margaret H. and the late Thomas Herlihy of Old Deerfield, Massachusetts. Her husband is the son of Roland Bonamici of Northville and Marie Bonamici Woodcock of Stockbridge.

Performing the wedding ceremony was the Reverend J.E. Mathews of Bethlehem Church.

Given in marriage by her brother, Thomas Herlihy, the bride wore a street-length white silk dress, pearls and dressy sandals. She carried white orchids, stephanotis and ivy leaves.

The bridegroom wore a three-piece suit.

The bride's attendants were sisters of the wedding couple: Catherine Cocks, matron of honor; and Sue Bonamici, Margaret Tiney and Christine Herlihy, bridesmaids.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Charles Johnston, while James Bonamici, Ronald DeWitt, and Michael Baccellieri were ushers.

Musicians were Dennis Burbank, Kris Burbank, Steve Bell, Eric Girod, Jack and Jean Sharpe.

Following the wedding, lunch and dancing took place at the Bethlehem Church in Portland.

For their wedding trip, the newlyweds chose Silver Creek Falls State Park in Silverton, Oregon.

The bride attended Stoneleigh-Burnham, Manhattanville College and Portland Community College. She is employed at Liberty Cable Communication in Portland.

Her husband attended Northville High School, Alma College and Portland State University. He is employed with Action Print & Litho, Inc. of Portland.

The newlyweds are making their home at 14 SE 26th, Portland, Oregon 97214.

Christine Liu of Ann Arbor

Cookbook author to speak to Woman's Club

"I've heard her speak twice, I've tried her recipes ... and I can say with conviction, we're in for a treat."

That's the enthusiastic word from Judy Montgomery, who will introduce the guest speaker at Friday's meeting of the Northville Woman's Club.

Speaking and demonstrating her cooking expertise will be Christine Liu, an Arbor cooking and nutrition teacher and Chinese cookbook author.

The 1:30 p.m. meeting will be held at the social hall of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Following demonstration, according to Mrs. Montgomery, the speaker will distribute samples of what she has cooked to members of the audience. "And that's something I know everyone will enjoy," beams Mrs. Montgomery. Although there is no certainty, it is quite possible Mrs. Liu will be demonstrating her recipe, "Beef with Mushrooms," a favorite of many readers of the speaker's cookbook, "Nutrition and Diet with Chinese Cooking."

Born and raised in Shanghai, Mainland China, Mrs. Liu completed her college education at the National Taiwan University. It was there she met and married her husband, Stephen Liu, presently professor of Microbiology at Eastern Michigan University.

After the birth of their oldest son, the Lius lived awhile in the United States, then moved to San Paulo, Brazil where they remained for some years.

The Chinese community of Sao Paulo was sizable and affluent and the Lius cuisine was quite popular. It was during that time that Mrs. Liu kindled her latent interest in cooking which ultimately led to the writing of her book.

In 1965, the Lius returned to the United States and settled in the Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor area. Mrs. Liu further developed an interest in and took up the study of nutrition at the University of Michigan. She received her master's degree of nutrition in the school of public health in 1971.

For years Christine Liu has contributed her cooking and teaching talent to the Ann Arbor community by teaching Creative Chinese Cooking and Nutrition and Diet at the Continuing Education Department of Ann Arbor Public Schools.

Her cookbook represents the culmination of her years of cooking and teaching experiences and creative approach to Chinese cuisine. The cookbook itself represents a unique and artful approach to the world of fine cooking and good eating with the added plus of a deep concern for good nutrition.

According to Mrs. Liu, the principles of Chinese cookery are the same throughout China.

"The dishes must be colorful, the aroma must be appealing and the taste must be delicious. But because China is a vast country with poor transportation, diverse agricultural production and a varying climate, the people from each region begin to develop their own specialties with their own distinctive spices."

Generally, she says, the people of the southeast region like light and sweet dishes, those in the northern region like salty dishes, and in the southwest area highly spiced and hot dishes are favored. "Most Chinese dishes," she explains,

"are cooked with meat and vegetables together, so the foods contain lower calories and are less rich than Western style food."

"Vegetables stay bright and crisp by cooking them for a short time over high heat, either in their own juice or in a small amount of water. This method retains most of the vitamins and minerals.

"As a nutritionist, I am deeply convinced that the Chinese cooking method is the healthiest and that Chinese food should be considered as the diet of the future"

a discipline, Needham pointed out that the 60's and 70's have been a time of growth in basic gerontological concepts and training of individuals working with the elderly. Needham, who has been involved in teaching gerontology for the past three years, sees the 80's as a time of specialized training to satisfy the need for persons with specialized abilities in elderly care situations.

The newly-introduced certificate program at Madonna leads to an associate or bachelor's degree in activity therapy in gerontology for personnel who thus contribute to the enhancement of the psychosocial needs of the elderly.

Those eligible for the program include persons new to the field of aging, as well as personnel desiring retraining in specialized areas with emphasis on activities.

In addition to competency-based courses with a core in specialized activity therapy, the curriculum will include varied field experiences. Madonna's plans also call for the employment of older adults as technical assistants in the program to retrain older adults for re-entry into the job market.

As an outreach of the program, four community service workshops are being planned for family, neighbors, churches and voluntary organizations, to teach them skills required in directing activities for the aged.

Needham commented that specialists trained in the Madonna program will mean improved services for the elderly in the tri-county metropolitan Detroit area, where 52 percent of the state's elderly reside.

Karen Ross of Farmington Hills has been named Instructor/Field Supervisor in the program. She was formerly employed by the City of Farmington Hills Senior Adult program.

Funding for the implementation of the program is effective immediately, with training commencing with the opening of the winter term, January 7, 1980, at this liberal arts college in Livonia.

Registrations are being accepted for the Activity Therapy in Gerontology program. For information, contact Kathy Needham, Madonna College, 36600 Schoolcraft, Livonia, Michigan, (313) 591-5089.

Northville woman gets Alma post

The appointments of James Pritchett of Allegan and Jennifer McLaren of Northville as assistant directors of admissions for Alma College have been announced by Stephen J. Bushouse, director of admissions at the college.

The two will serve as liaisons between the college and students interested in attending Alma, with each concentrating on specific areas.

One of Pritchett's responsibilities is interpreting Alma College to minority students and their parents, according to Bushouse. His areas of concentration will be Detroit in particular and all of Michigan in general.

McLaren's area of contact will be Grand Rapids and north to Ludington, then east to the Tri-Cities.

A 1978 graduate of Alma, McLaren has just earned an M.A. degree in educational administration/community leadership from Central Michigan University. While working on the degree, she served in an administrative internship for Alpena Community College's department of continuing education and community services. During the summer of 1979, she was assistant director of summer conferences and conference center manager for Alma College.

McLaren is a graduate of Northville High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McLaren, 42243 Nottingham Court. She lives at 1050 Bridge Street in Alma.

For four years, 1975-79, Pritchett served as assistant principal at Allegan High School, the school he had graduated from in 1966. For three of those years, he was also athletic director. From 1973-75, he was a counselor for the Vocational Rehabilitation Service in Wyoming, Michigan. Earlier, from 1970-73, he was a physical education teacher for Battle Creek Central High School.

Physical education was Pritchett's undergraduate major at Western Michigan University (WMU). His M.A. from WMU is in counseling and personnel.

Pritchett and his wife, Marva, live with their two children—Aaron, 6, and Shannon, 3—320 Maple in Alma. He is the son of Mrs. Mamie Pritchett, 237 Robinson, Allegan.

Resource center gives voc-ed aid

Persons in certain special populations are now eligible for vocational education scholarships through the Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College.

To be eligible, a person must belong to one of four special population groups: displaced homemakers, part-time homemakers/wage earners, single heads of households and non-traditional job trainees.

They must also lack job skills necessary to provide adequate financial support for themselves and dependents living in their homes, lack recent, skilled full-time work experience, and must be receiving no other Federal educational assistance.

Funding for the scholarships came through a $4,036 grant from the Michigan Department of Education, formally accepted by the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees at its October 24 meeting. The allocation comes under Title II of the Vocational Education Amendments of 1976.

Program management has been assigned to Jean Christensen, director of the Women's Resource Center, who made application for the grant.

Ms. Christensen said that scholarship funds can be applied toward full or part-time study in traditional or continuing education courses at Schoolcraft.

Both men and women are eligible to apply for these scholarships. In addition to assistance by the Women's Resource Center, participants will receive the college's financial aids, counseling and placement services.

Persons interested should contact the Women's Resource Center at 591-6400, ext. 432. The Center is located in the second house from the south parking lot along Haggerty Road.

Detection Week

Free diabetes tests set

Free screening tests for diabetes will be available during National Diabetes Detection Week, November 4-10.

The American Diabetes Association-Michigan Affiliate is sponsoring the testing program in cooperation with over 150 hospitals and health facilities in many communities in Michigan.

It is estimated that there are approximately 200,000 people in Michigan who have diabetes and do not know it. The purpose of this drive is to identify these people and to alert them to the need for proper treatment. The testing is limited to those over 18 years of age who have not previously been diagnosed as diabetic.

To assure an accurate test, it is important to eat a high carbohydrate meal, one with large amounts of starches and sugars, two hours before the test. A good breakfast to have before the test, for example, would be fruit or juice, cereal with milk and sugar, two slices of buttered toast with jam, and coffee or tea.

A person planning to take the test after lunch could have a bowl of soup, a sandwich, cake or pie for dessert, and a glass of milk. The meal should be eaten within a 15-minute time period and nothing else except water should be taken before the test.

The most common symptoms of diabetes are excessive thirst, frequent urination, blurring vision, constant hunger, or the slow healing of cuts and scratches. The disease, however, may be present without any symptoms.

People who are over 35, overweight, and blood relatives of a diabetic are particularly urged to take the test since they are in the "high risk" group of those most likely to develop diabetes.

Among the participating Wayne County hospitals and medical centers are:

Annapolis Hospital Laboratory, 33155 Annapolis, Wayne, 9-11 a.m., November 5-9; Garden City Osteopathic Hospital, 6245 North Inster, 1:30-3:30 p.m., November 5-9; Harper-Grace Hospitals, 18700 Meyers, Detroit, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., November 6-9;

Old friends meet

'Is that really you?'

Northville's Barb O'Brien had a touch of deja vu when she saw the Northville Woman's Club guest speaker Mary MacDonald October 19.

"I looked at her, and she looked at me. I said, 'Mary?' She said, 'Barb?'" We had known each other from childhood. But we hadn't seen each other for 30 years," Mrs. O'Brien related.

The chance reunion was even more unusual because Ms. MacDonald was a substitute speaker that day for Ruth Burkman who was unable to come. She is curator of exhibits at the Dearborn Historical Museum and spoke to the women's club on the gowns and china of presidential wives, tying in how history affects fashions. First Ladies' gowns and china are housed in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

After the talk, Ms. MacDonald spent some time with Mrs. O'Brien to talk over old times.

"It was just a real delight," Mrs. O'Brien said. "We went back to my house and drank champagne and went out to dinner. She had been a close friend of my family, but our paths had separated."

Both women plan to see each other again, now that they know they are both in the area.

"We were laughing, because when you are young you never think you would lose sight of someone then meet them again years later," Mrs. O'Brien said. "You think it doesn't happen, but it does."

Easy Beef Oven Stew— Packed with Appetite Appeal

Easy preparation contributes to the appeal of this appetizing beef stew. Pot-watching is eliminated by oven cooking, and several time-consuming steps are omitted in this simple recipe

Easy Beef Oven Stew

- 2 pounds beef for stew
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1/4 cup quick-cooking tapioca
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3 medium-size sweet potatoes, cut in 1/2-inch slices

- 1 cup pitted prunes*
- 3 medium-size green apples, each cut in 8 wedges

Place beef cubes, celery, orange juice, tapioca, salt, pepper and cinnamon in Dutch oven. Stir to combine, cover tightly and cook in a slow oven (300°F.) 1 hour and 45 minutes. Fold in sweet potatoes, cover and continue cooking for 1 hour. Stir in apples and prunes, cover and bake 15 minutes longer or until meat, sweet potatoes and apples are tender. 8 servings.

*If unpitted prunes are used, plump them before adding to stew

Schoolcraft program gets high marks

A visitation team from the American Occupational Therapy Association has recommended "approval without qualifications" for Schoolcraft College's new degree program in occupational therapy.

The team's recommendation was announced by Harriett H. Sattig, assistant dean for health careers at the college. She said it followed a three-day on-site examination of the program in late September. An official letter from the Association's accrediting committee is expected within two to three months.

According to Dean Sattig, the status of approval without qualifications confirms that Schoolcraft's program is being conducted in compliance with all standards of quality established by the association accrediting body.

The evaluators toured campus facilities and interviewed faculty, administrators, students, supervisors of off-campus training centers and recent graduates of the college's discontinued certificate program in occupational therapy.

Dean Sattig said the program's two instructors deserve a great deal of credit for its high marks. They are Masline Horton who designed the certificate program and has taught at the college since 1968, and Nancy Vandewiele, who joined the staff this fall.

The visitation team cited a number of program strengths: the atmosphere of the college, administrative support, attitudes of the faculty, positive relationships with the occupational therapy community and community-at-large, commitment and support of field work supervisors, and the comprehensive instructional content.

Occupational therapy assistant graduates who qualify to write the certifying examination must complete an Occupational Therapy Assistant Program approved by the American Occupational Therapy Association.

Schoolcraft implemented its associate degree occupational therapy assistant program in 1978. The first class will graduate in July, 1980, and be eligible to write the certifying examination upon completion of the program.

Persons interested in obtaining additional information about the program should contact Dean Sattig at 591-6400, ext. 538.

She aids opening of campus boutique

A Northville woman is involved in the grand opening of a boutique on the campus of Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

Junior Lori Griesmeyer, 21287 Woodfarm Drive, is involved in today's opening of the EUREKA boutique at the former nursery school building on the WMU campus.

EUREKA has been planned, developed and operated by fashion merchandising students. It will serve as a learning laboratory for students and provide them with practical merchandising experience. The shop's stock comes from the WMU student body and members of the Kalamazoo community on a consignment basis. The shop will carry hand-crafted goods and plants.

Conference workshops set

How do you know if your pre-schooler is ready for kindergarten? What is C.P.R.? What about childhood allergies? Alcohol? Sex education? How do you communicate with your child?

These topics will all be addressed at the Greater Detroit Cooperative Nursery Council conference at Clarenceville High School on Saturday, November 3.

The annual conference encompassing ten workshops is open to everyone. Cost for the conference is $3.50. Its organizers expect several hundred people to attend.

Each participant may attend two workshops.

Fran Copp, kindergarten educator, will speak on "Kindergarten Readiness." John Darnell, department head of respiratory care at Botsford Hospital will teach cardio-pulmonary resuscitation.

Child psychologist Jean McGurk will conduct a workshop on communication with your child. A panel of parents from New Morning School in Dearborn Heights will discuss the program of this parent-cooperative grade school.

Mary Paonessa, a family life educator, will discuss sex education needs of the child at various ages. She will talk about how parents can best prepare their child for the changes of puberty.

Susan Reck, a stock broker at Merrill Lynch will outline ways to plan for your children's schooling, retirement and long term financial objectives.

Kathleen Roman, a member of Action for Children's Television, will talk on "Taming the Tube," how to teach good TV viewing habits.

Sarah Schuman, from the Alcohol Treatment Center at Metropolitan Hospital will talk on "Mothers, Fathers, Booze and Kids," discussing all aspects of alcohol abuse.

Allen Sossin, M.D. and Molik Merza, M.D. will discuss the effects of allergies in the pre-school child.

Finally, Don Thurber, principal in the Rockwood school district, will conduct a workshop on a new method of teaching handwriting, called D'Nealian Handwriting.

Parents who are interested in attending the conference should contact Judy Whitmore at 349-5131, Jill Roscoe 348-1521 or Linda Smith 437-0362.

Admission to the conference is $3.50 per person, or $6 per couple. The conference includes refreshments.

Clarenceville High School is on Middlebelt between Seven Mile and Eight Mile in Livonia.

Are you returning to school?

A three-session workshop designed to show what it's really like to go back to school will be offered by the Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center beginning Tuesday, November 6.

Headed by Shirley Emerson, Schoolcraft counselor, the program is titled "Re-Entry Challenge Workshop," and it will take place from 9-11 a.m. on November 6, 13 and 20 in room B200 of the Liberal Arts Building.

The workshop will deal with the concerns of the growing number of adults who are going back to school so they can re-enter the work world, upgrade job skills and consider mid-life career changes

Presbyterians to hear talks by Dr. Lester

Dr. Donald G. Lester, executive pastor for the Presbytery of Detroit, will be a guest speaker here on Sunday, November 4 at 9:30 and 11 a.m.

Hosting him will be the First Presbyterian Church of Northville where Reverend Lloyd Brasure is pastor.

Dr. Lester serves as head of staff for the Presbytery, which is composed of 110 churches in Southeastern Michigan, extending from Port Huron to Ann Arbor and from Milan to Pontiac.

He is responsible to the Presbytery for the administrative work carried out on behalf of the churches in this area.

Before coming to this position September 1, 1973, Dr. Lester was minister for six and one-half years at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Grand Rapids.

While in Grand Rapids, he was instrumental in initiating and guiding a wide range of mission activities through the local congregation, which included a neighborhood program in the downtown church, a retirement home, a home for runaways, a community counseling ministry, an extensive program with senior citizens, and a minority business development counseling.

His other pastorates have included: Wheeling, West Virginia at Vance Memorial Presbyterian Church where a new sanctuary, chapel, church offices, and youth center were built at a cost of $825,000; the First United Presbyterian Church of Canton, Ohio; and assistant in the First United Presbyterian Church of Sharon, Pennsylvania.

For seven and one-half years Dr. Lester served the church-at-large on the staff of the Division of Evangelism, six years as its head. In this capacity he traveled widely across the country, speaking in churches, conferences, colleges, seminaries and visited a number of foreign countries in Latin America and Europe.

His publications include more than 30 pamphlets and books, as well as articles in Presbyterian Life, Presbyterian Outlook and several other church magazines.

Dr. Lester is married to the former Elaine Sluiter, and they have one child at home, Diane 12. His home is in Birmingham.

DONALD G. LESTER

Five win Merit honors

Five Northville High School students have been named commended students in the 25th annual National Merit Scholarship Program, NHS Principal George Aune announced last week.

Kelly Butler, Patrick Lewis, Connie Mao, Nancy Orr and Earl Renaud all received letters of commendation from the school and National Merit Scholarship Corporation in recognition of outstanding performances on the PSAT/NMSQT which they took in October 1978.

The students are among 35,000 students nationwide who are being commended for test performance which places them among the top five percent of participants.

Although commended students rank below the level required for Merit program semi-finalists, each has shown exceptional academic promise.

The commended students will have their names referred by the Merit program to colleges and universities.

Sister Mary Francilene, president of Madonna College, was a guest speaker recently at a meeting of the Northville Rotary Club.

A five minute film about the college was shown. Paul Folino reported the progress on the plan for an ice skating rink. His committee is working with the recreation department in trying to locate a site. Rotarian Paul Newman has offered a trailer for use as a warming room.

Learning

Learning is something that is a high priority for college students. At Madonna College, the focus is on the individual student's learning experience. The college's commitment is to provide a high quality education that prepares students for the challenges of the future.

Methodists set new budget goal

"Eighty percent in '80" is the goal of the First United Methodist Church with the approval of the 1980 budget of $101,788.

The new budget represents a $10,245 or 11.2 percent increase over the 1979 budget.

"With an 11.2 percent increase in our budget to $101,788 for 1980, our job is going to be even more demanding this year," explained Jerry Olson, chairperson of the finance committee.

"Our goal is 80 percent in '80. We would like to achieve 80 percent pledge participation by the congregation in 1980. With a 12 percent increase from 51 percent to 63 percent in 1979, the momentum is moving in the right direction and a 17 percent increase from 63 percent to 80 percent can be achieved," he said in urging a commitment by members.

Pledges from members are being sought by November 4.

campaign is directed to members of the business, professional and industrial communities, as well as Madonna students, alumni, parents and staff. The Madonna College Development Office, directing the campaign, indicated that approximately 25 percent of the campaign goal of $144,400 was collected in pledges and gifts prior to the opening of the campaign.

Viki Purcell joins band at MSU

Viki Purcell of Northville tuned up with veteran members of the Michigan State University Marching Band this fall as part of the group of new players chosen every season.

The 275-member band, along with two drum majors, two feature twirlers and a 33-member flag corps, has been on campus since early September preparing for the 1979 football season.

Band membership is open to any MSU student who can meet the demanding musical and marching standards. Although many of the band members major in music, nearly every department of the university is represented by the marchers.

Appearances by the Spartan Marching Band this fall will include performances at MSU's four home football games, Notre Dame and a Detroit Lions game in the Pontiac Silverdome.

Purcell, a 1978 graduate of Northville High School, is a sophomore majoring in business.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Purcell of 44855 Thornapple.

Remember 'Peg O' My Heart'?

World famous Northville man to perform at Marquis

WORLD FAMOUS Stars, Jerry Murad's Harmonicats, will perform at the Marquis Theatre here next week. They include Jerry Murad of Northville (center) and Al Fiore and Dick Gardner.

Ever hear of Northville resident Jerry Murad?

What does the name, "Peg O' My Heart," do for you?

Well, if by chance, you're still scratching your head how about "Jerry Murad's Harmonicats?"

Yes, indeed, the Northville man and the world-famous harmonica star are one and the same.

Murad, who has been a Highland Lakes resident here for two years, and his Harmonicats will be performing here four times next week at the Marquis Theatre.

(He also will be the subject of Jack Hoffman's column next week.)

"We're very excited about having this famous group perform here," said theatre owner Inga Zayli. "What makes it doubly exciting is that most people are probably unaware that Jerry Murad calls Northville his home."

The community has been enjoying Murad's Harmonicats for years and now, she adds, it can enjoy the home town star in person.

The trio will perform twice on Saturday, November 10 — at 7:30 and 10 p.m., and twice on Sunday, November 11 — at a 3:30 p.m. matinee and in the evening at 7:30.

Evening tickets are $8.50, the matinee $5.50.

Married with three children, Murad was born in Turkey of Armenian parentage and raised in Chicago. From age six, his first introduction to the harmonica was an affair of love at first sight.

He not only mastered this instrument but has improvised, innovated and actually invented new models, new techniques and new sounds. His teaching manuals and guidebooks have become primers for professionals throughout the world.

The other members of the group are Al Fiore, who joined Murad in 1939, and Dick Gardner, who was drafted in 1971 — the first replacement in 27 years.

All the heat waves were forgotten in the summer of '47 in the wake of one of the hottest records the music industry has ever released. "Peg O' My Heart" shot to the top of all popularity charts and best seller lists.

It blared from juke boxes and home record players and hasn't stopped since. To date, "Peg O' My Heart" has spiraled to well over 17 million sales.

"Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White," among other hits, has kept the group constantly in the public eye and their sound continually near the public's heart.

Jerry Murad's Harmonicats have appeared at practically every major nitery in the country; have been repeated guests on network variety TV shows (Carson, Douglas, Griffin, etc.) The major hotels of Las Vegas have booked them — and booked them back by demand. Chicago, New York, Los Angeles, Sidney, Tokyo, Hong Kong, London, Frankfurt — you name it — they've been there and have fans to prove it.

Jerry Murad's Harmonicats have toured with stars such as Bob Hope, Trini Lopez, Jimmy Dean, Joey Bishop. They've been to the Orient, Australia, Europe where audiences were captivated by them.

Murad, leader of the famous trio, says he cannot begin to count the times they have played "Peg O' My Heart", their all time recording hit.

"We have to play it at every performance — sometimes twice when some audiences truly demand it."

You can be sure it will be one of the selections in next week's Marquis performances.

SUSAN And Her Singing Strings will share the stage with Jerry Murad's Harmonicats next week. The Singing Strings consist of five lovely and talented violinists/singers who comprise the nucleus of the group.

A Christmas Craft night program is to be held November 8 for the Northville Newcomers Club.

Newcomer and alumni women and their guests are invited to the 7:30 p.m. program, which will be held at the First United Methodist Church on Eight Mile at Taft.

November will be a relatively "quiet month" for Newcomers, reports Prudy Vannier, but the November 8 program is "guaranteed to get us into the holiday spirit in plenty of time to complete any Christmas project undertaking."

A home economist will be demonstrating several projects. Patterns and instructions will be available. Refreshments will be served.

Cost is $1, and reservations may be made by contacting Chairman Mary Farley at 349-1396 by November 3.

Earlier, on November 2, Newcomers are invited to take a "Decorating Trip" to Plymouth. The group will be visiting Just Ann's for hints on wallpaper decor.

The program will be followed by lunch at the Hillside Inn, with shopping planned in Plymouth's Old Village. A 2 p.m. return is planned.

Orla Hamilton is taking reservations through October 29 at 349-4337. Cost is $8, which covers transportation and lunch.

Alcohol series set

A series of alcohol awareness programs, co-sponsored by the 35th District Court and the Northville Jaycees, will get underway Tuesday, November 13.

The programs are conducted at the district court in the Plymouth City Hall.

Here are the three sessions planned:

November 13—8 p.m., Dr. Frank Hollingsworth, Ph.D., will speak on "Pharmacology of Alcohol — Effect on Body — Physical."

November 20—8 p.m., Dr. Hollingsworth will speak on "Progression of Alcohol — Disease Concept."

November 27—8 p.m., a two-member A.A. panel and a two-member Alanon panel will discuss how alcohol affected their lives and how A.A. or Alanon helped them.

"Anyone curious about alcohol or alcoholism and the effect it has on the mind, body and lives of people is welcome to attend," a spokesman said.

Spiritualist says ghosts are for real

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Is there such a thing as psychic power, extrasensory perception, karma, ghost chasing?

Can incantations, tarot cards, crystal balls or meditation rid a house of a ghost, a body of an ill, a mind of a problem?

Can a person be clairvoyant, foresee the future? Can that person hear and see things others cannot?

According to Elvie Hiner, the answer to all questions is a definite yes, without a doubt, if you are a spiritualist.

There are such things as ghosts — they do exist, claims Mrs. Hiner, the former leader of the St. Anne First Spiritual Church of Light in Brighton.

She prefers to call them "ghosties," and says they are not sent by the devil. Rather, she says, they are the souls of people who have died but whose souls refuse to leave this world.

As a spiritualist, her goal is to help those souls by communicating with them, explaining why they should "pass to the other side," and then locate a "guide," a secretary or messenger of God, to help those souls relocate.

Mrs. Hiner also commented that there is a great difference between her beliefs, which have a distinct connection with a strong faith in God, and those who believe in demonology and the devil. "I do not believe in the devil or in evil possessions. It frightens me to think of devil worship."

She attributes her ability to communicate with the spirit world, to heal, to help people with their problems, to an extremely strong trust in God. "He gives me my power. If I used my power to do evil, He would remove it immediately," she claims.

Through her God-given powers, Mrs. Hiner says she has been chosen to teach others their inherent powers of ESP and psychic healing and to help those who do not wish to develop their own powers. She stresses the fact that the powers are definitely not an evil gift.

Ghost chasing, she says, takes an enormous amount of intense prayer, of meditation, of concentration, to rid an area of an unwanted ghostie guest.

"I must first seek out the ghost and convince it that it is beautiful on the other side. It must pass over to find rest, ultimately to return through reincarnation to reach karma."

Mrs. Hiner says if she does go out on a ghost chasing mission, she will take her husband along. While in Brighton, she would be accompanied by her sister Nancy, also a spiritualist.

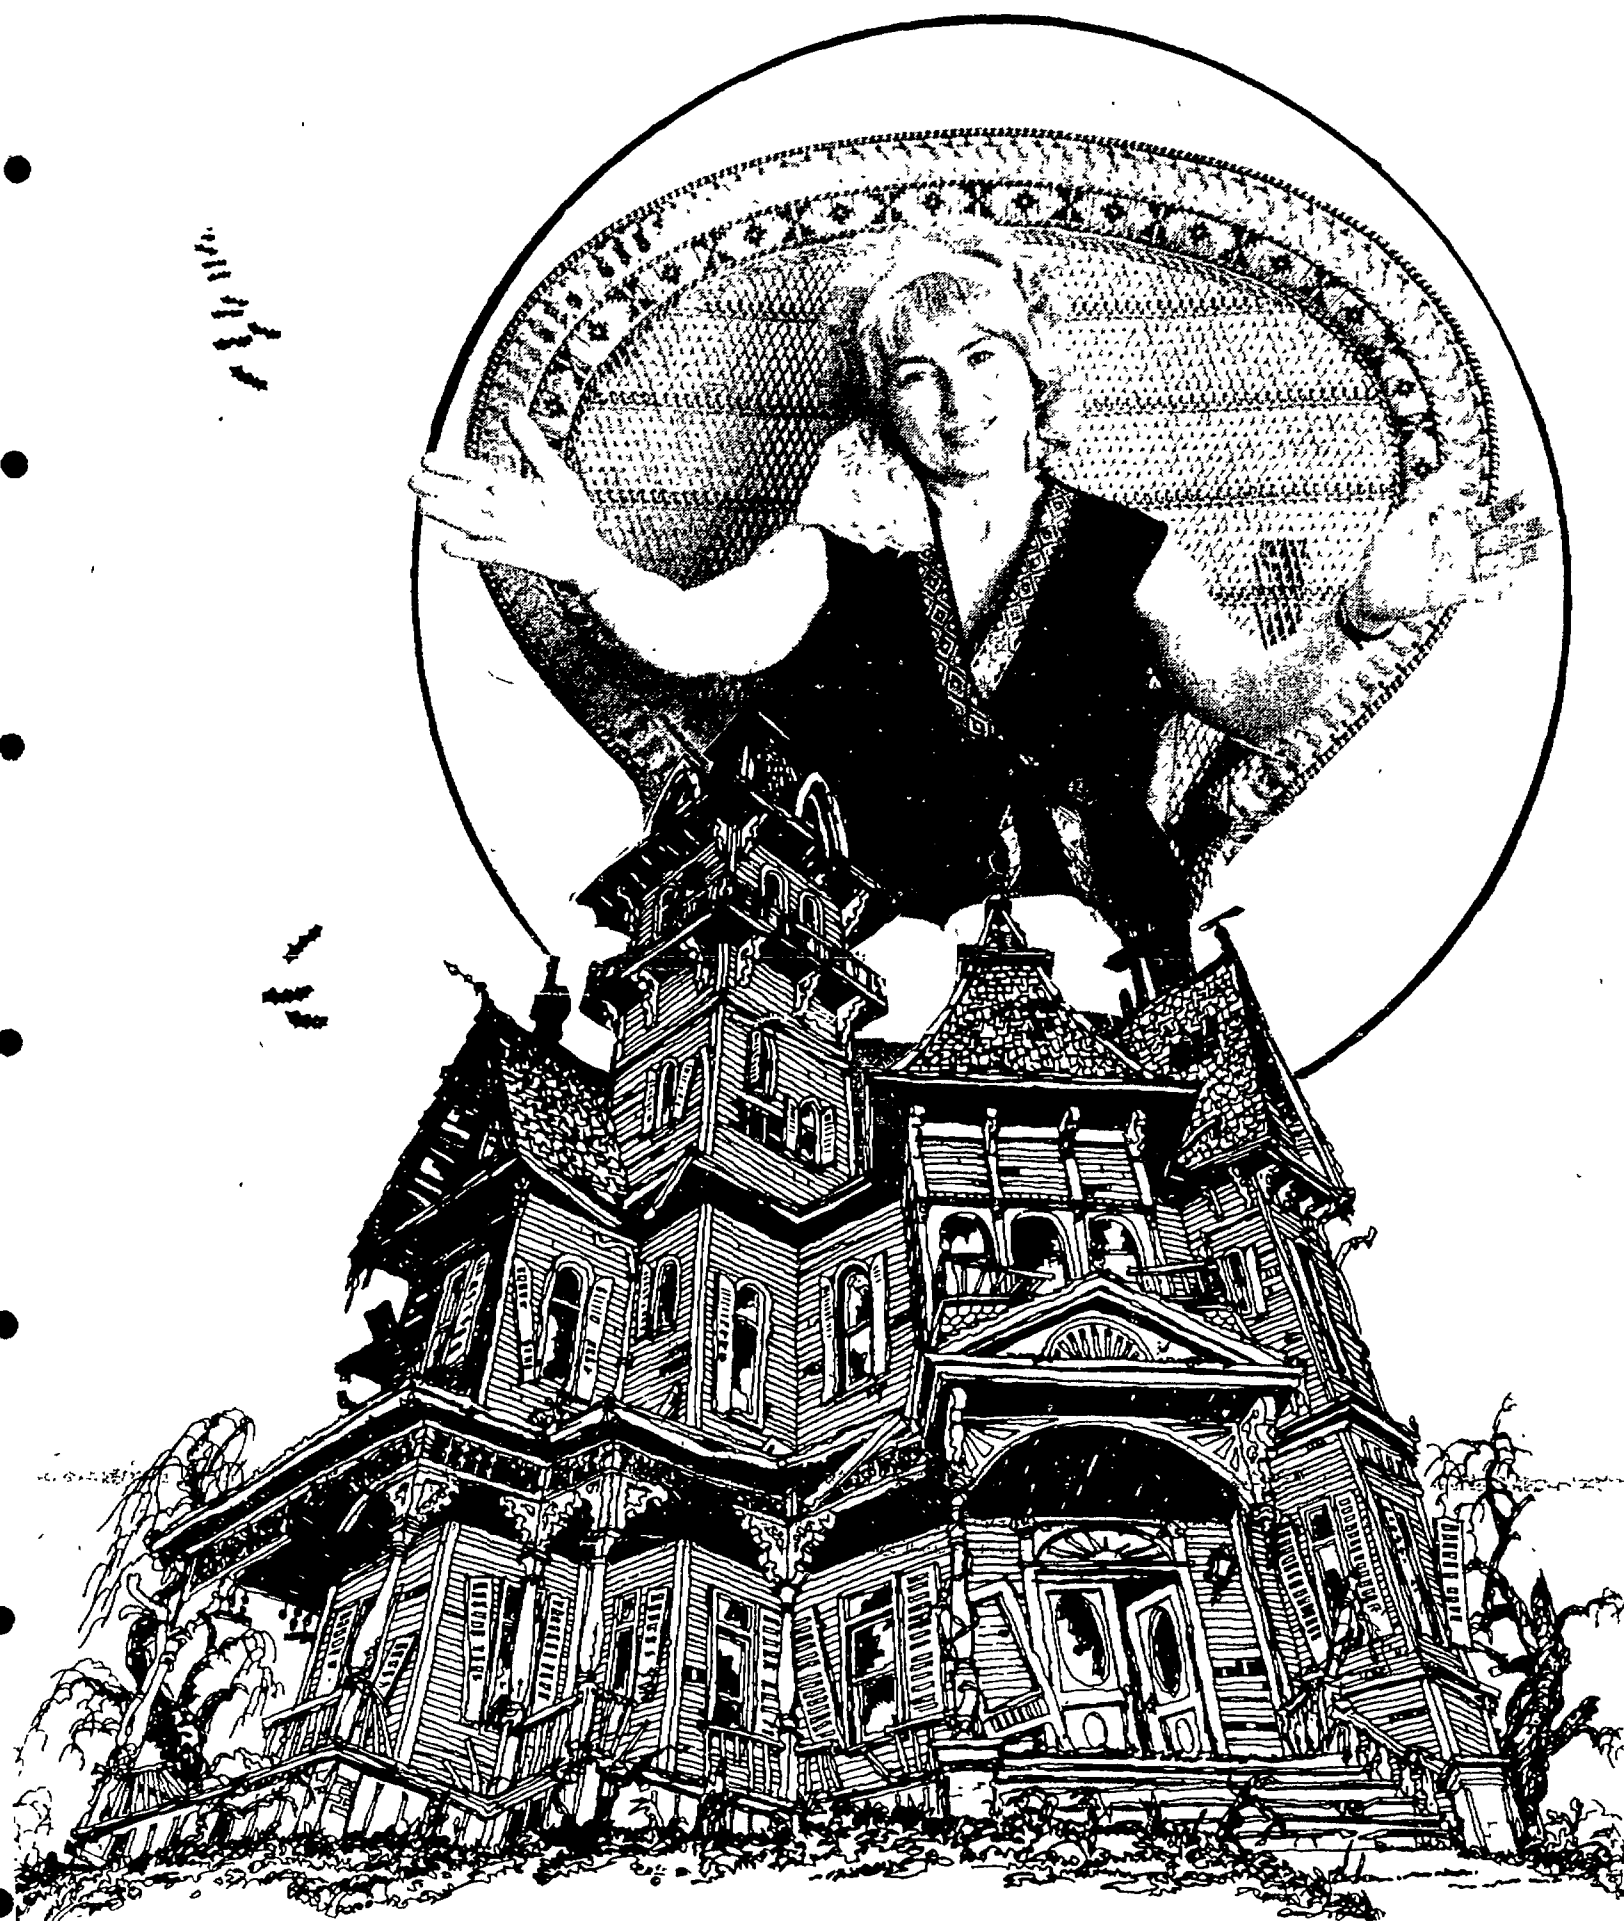

The spiritualist explained that she can see auras, the energy matter that surrounds any person or a thing, alive or dead. She also claims to feel psychic vibrations in areas that may be inhabited by a ghostie.

After reaching the ghostie through ESP, she and her husband or sister will enter deep prayer for the soul to go to rest.

Mrs. Hiner explained the reason a ghost remains with a house or certain object is that it did not want to die in the first place. Usually, Mrs. Hiner pointed out, death came too early, possibly through crime or accident. As a result, the soul feels trapped in a certain area.

Some refuse to release their earthly belongings causing them to remain on Tax relief declared dead

By WARREN M. HOYT

A legislative proposal to provide $450 million in property tax relief with the additional revenue coming from an increase in the personal income tax rate, has been declared dead for the remainder of the 1979 legislative session.

Representative George Montgomery (D-Detroit), proposal sponsor and chairman of the House Taxation Committee, said the plan was dead after the Michigan House refused to tie-bar three remaining parts of the plan to the main bill.

Those two pieces of legislation would have exempted utilities and telephones from sales and use taxes.

The only way the so-called tax shift plan could be renewed, Montgomery suggested, is if Republicans come forward with a list of specific proposals that could be adopted onto the plan.

Montgomery had asked the House to tie-bar the two bills exempting the utilities and telephones from use or sales taxes to legislation increasing the income tax from its current 4.6 percent rate.

It was suggested the income tax would have to be increased to make up $100 million, the cost of the two other bills.

Republicans, however, criticized the tie-barring proposal, saying it was like trying "to hit a moving target" because no income tax increase had yet been established.

Representative Paul Henry (R-Grand Rapids) said they did not feel a tax shift was a bad idea per se, but they needed more specific information before committing themselves to the plan.

The plan was introduced last winter with high anticipation that it would pass into law by spring. It was one legislative proposal devised to counter the Tisch property tax cut constitutional amendment which was narrowly rejected by voters in November.

Originally, the plan would have shifted $450 million in revenue by increasing the property tax credit and the personal exemption and then increasing the income tax rate.

It ran into opposition early as Republicans claimed it was a backdoor attempt to create a progressive income tax — an issue off rejected by Michigan voters.

Legislation requiring that the language of insurance policies be simpler is being drafted by the state Insurance Bureau, according to Insurance Commissioner Richard Hemmings.

Currently, only lawyers can understand insurance policies, he said noting that legislation to simplify policy language is just one of several goals mapped out by the bureau for 1980.

Hemmings said that while the legislation will not guarantee that insurance policies are suddenly fun to read, it should make policies easier for people without legal or insurance training to understand.

The legislation will have standards regarding readability, size of print, text organization and language.

Other goals of the insurance bureau include preparing rules for consumers before they buy health and life insurance.

The bureau will also take steps to protect consumer privacy.

Last year, the state Supreme Court upheld the no-fault insurance law but said both availability and rates must comply with due process requirements.

The homeowners insurance provisions of the bill also limit rating territories in the voluntary market to three in an effort to eliminate insurance redlining in central cities.

Separate territory provisions apply in the residual pool, which has been used for high-risk coverages, and where attempts failed to make each territory no smaller than a county.

The agreement of the ad hoc committee will be placed in the legislation by a Senate-House conference committee which would not be subject to amendment after a final agreement is reached.

earth as ghost. "They must give them up before they can pass on," bringing to mind the old adage, "you can't take it with you," she said.

Sometimes Mrs. Hiner tells the owner of a house to remove certain items that will entice a ghost to remain.

Or, she says, she will see objects, most usually used as decorative items, that will cause the owner physical discomfort.

Explaining this phenomenon, Mrs. Hiner said the woman in a home she visited complained of vicious headaches. The spiritualist said she was drawn to a picture on one of the walls of the home and told the woman to remove it immediately. The picture was of two rams butting their heads together. She said the removal cured the headaches.

Though she does not believe in exorcism because it is a practice said to be directly related to demonology and the devil, she does pray for the soul of a ghostie until she receives word that the soul is finally at rest. "I have voices, voices from within that tell me when I have achieved my purpose."

Describing the voices as a type of radio wave from within, Mrs. Hiner claims to be able to make contact with the dead to reassure those still living of a soul's well being.

After praying for the soul of a ghostie and feeling sure its soul has been sent to its resting place, Mrs. Hiner says the final ritual entails an incantation to Jesus followed by the salting of the four corners of the house. In addition, a yellow or white candle signifying purity is completely burned.

The Novi psychic says she is able to convince the ghostie there is nothing to fear about passing on to the other side because she says she has been there. "Through meditation I have been able to visit the other side," she says, claiming the only thing that separates the two worlds is a thin veil. Believe me, it is beautiful there."

Some people also have problems with psychic vibrations in their homes, caused by the transference of thought waves to a given place. To clear those, salt and the burning of the candle as well as a round of prayers are instituted.

"My ghosties are good spirits," added Mrs. Hiner, "I have yet to encounter evil. I even have a ghostie in my house but it causes me no harm. If I find a thing of evil in a house, it must be removed immediately and buried in the dirt."

Some ghosties will remain with a favorite object also, Mrs. Hiner pointed out. "You can bring a ghostie into your home through an old piece of furniture, a dish, some item that is collected from another house. It (the ghostie) moves in right along with the piece," she said.

Without being sent to rest, the soul of the ghostie cannot reach its karma. Through reincarnation, the soul returns to right the wrong it may have done in a previous life, "to turn the other cheek, so to speak," or to achieve and learn for the final destiny.

Mrs. Hiner says she experiences extra sensitivity to all life through her ESP. Because of her gift, she also claims to be able to heal and practices homeopathy, the use of old remedies and herbs to aid those in need.

In the same vein is reflexology, the means of aiding people to feel better completely through the manipulation of their feet. Paralleling chiropractic adjustment to soothe the body, Mrs. Hiner says the body can be adjusted through the feet also.

Astrology and dream analysis come under the heading of helping others with aids like tarot cards and the crystal ball. The psychic says her total goal in this life is to help others. She says, and totally believes, she has had the "calling."

"I give what I get and God is my only source. I have only the desire to help others. If I can rid people and their lives of sorrow, problem or pain through the means God has given me, then I have achieved my destiny."

Poet's Corner

My Family

We stand together in a circle
Facing the storm of life
We love each other and care for each other
And feel each other's strife

We talk of the things that make us happy
Of joy and sorrow and pain
The beautiful times that are always there
Re-re-live again and again

There are problems and trials that we must face
And sometimes the going gets tough
But we help each other and hold on to each other Till we pass the times that are rough

It isn't easy to be a family
To live together so close
But the joy we feel is special and real
In living each day to the most

In the years to come when we all live apart
We'll remember the times that are past
And though we're apart,
The love in our hearts for each other,
Will always be there

A Mother

Varied Visitors

The baby cries
Soft, symphonic bell tones
Staccato a mighty snore
To a metronomed
Tick-tock of wall clock —
Alto snores and stern ticks;
A baby's insistence
Unvaried —
The cacaphony
On licorice black
Shakes deepening rest.
Two ears muffle
The inroads of the night
Bored through pillows
And bunched blankets;
River tress drilling into one's dreams
More with sound than purpose.
The onslaught unweaving
The eyes, to conjure denial —
Soon changed to Utter wakefulness.

Grief Autumnal

"April is the cruellest month." — T.S. Eliot

If April is the "cruellest month"
October's number two:
and as for all the months thereafter,
every one can screw.
Why can't we just forget the winter?
How I abhor the cold!
If you're recruiting heater-haunters count me among the fold.

One day it's warm and seventy-five and then it falls to thirty:
you may call it a "change-of-pace" —
I call it playing dirty!
That pallid pall that follows fall,
O think if we dispensed it;
now, if SPRINGTIME followed autumn, me, I'd not rail against it.

It's not that I dislike the season, indeed, I love its beauty:
but then the warmth is stolen away and ransomed off as booty;
"It just so happens we have a sale on coats and hats and gloves — and we know you'll pay the price
when it gets cold enough!"

An excellent time for readings from Poe, the leaves being "withered and sere":
but the ashen autumn is for me
the most miserable time of the year.
I rant and rave at Brother Sun and curse the thermometer — yet however much I grumble it won't change the barometer.

It matters not how many clothes
I wrap around my body:
my fingers stay as cold as ice, "O"
my nose is always snotty;
and thus I suffer every year and long for warmth and green — perhaps I'll run for Senator, and ban winter as obscene!

—Raghudas (Robbie Clarke)
© Lotus Lyrics 1979

Perri's Song

Out of the blue
the pain is hard and she won't come back

But in all our hearts
she will always be there but when we looked she was to be nowhere

She said, babe I'm leaving
I must be on my way
I really don't like it here and I don't really wanna stay

So, Switchboard Susan won't you give us a line
we're waiting to hear from Perri to see if she's doing fine

I never saw a girl who was such a good friend we all promised to love each other until it was the end

And so we did just that and we still feel the chill
We have hard changes to go through but we love you Perri ... still

by Bridget Currier

Bread and Butter

After everything's been written
Of the years we've put to rest,
A memory still lingers
That we rate among the best,
As the kitchen smell on Fridays
Coming out the oven door
Of those crusty loaves of home-made bread
Just made us drool for more

No spread could ever quite approach
The home-made dairy butter
As it melted on a fresh, hot slice —
No words are there to utter
To describe the mellow lusciousness
Of that savory creation
Enveloped by the kitchen smell
We breathed in great elation!

Dinner-theater planned at Schoolcraft College

Schoolcraft College students will present their dinner-theater production of the mystery comedy "The Real Inspector Hound" this weekend (November 2-3) and again November 16-17 in the Waterman Campus Center.

"The Real Inspector Hound" was written by Tom Stoppard, a British dramatist who has written both dramas and comedies with much success on the London stage. His plays are characterized by absurd ideas and situations which reveal profound ideas from trivial experiences.

Technical Director Larry Rudick describes "The Real Inspector Hound" as a spoof of an Agatha Christie mystery which Stoppard presents with "prankish zest." The play is about Birdboot and Moon, two drama critics at an absurd tabloid thriller play who observe and comment and slowly become involved in the action.

Both critics get mixed up in the stage thrillers' search with the help of Inspector Hound for a homicidal maniac stalking around Lady Muldoon's Manor. The play moves fast and furious until the real Inspector Hound is identified and the killer is apprehended.

Members of the cast include Marc Harlow, Chris Lindblom, Scott Muzinski, Joseph Rohatynski and Larry Wilkin of Livonia, Phyllis Jo Counts of Canton, Kelly Norman of Northville and Tammy Bezrutch of Westland. Sandy Finkelstine is stage manager.

The 7 p.m. dinner will feature a buffet of roast beef and baked chicken, chef's salad, potato, vegetable, roll and butter, beverage and torte cake.

The play will begin at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are priced at $10 per person and must be purchased in advance at the Schoolcraft College bookstore.

Further information may be obtained by calling the bookstore at 591-6400, extension 265. Schoolcraft College is located on Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile in Livonia.

Yuletide evenings set at Greenfield Village

Pretty soon now those green fields will have turned to snow fields and the holiday season will be upon us.

Greenfield Village is offering two Yuletide Evening Programs to help people celebrate the season old-fashioned style this year.

The two programs — Heritage Hall Yuletide Evening and Clinton Inn Yuletide Evening — will be offered December 1-30 (excluding the 24th and 25th).

Heritage Hall Yuletide Evening runs from 6-9 p.m. and is offered for early birds who like to tour first and dine later. The evening begins with a punch reception followed by a sleigh ride (or wagon ride, if the snow takes a powder). Then there will be a walking tour of Greenfield Village followed by a hot cider libation.

The Heritage Hall Yuletide Evening concludes with a Cornish hen dinner served in candlelight at Heritage Hall. The Clinton Inn Yuletide Evening runs from 7-10 p.m. and is offered for night owls who want to dine first and tour later.

The evening begins with a punch reception followed by a Cornish hen dinner served at the beautiful Clinton Inn. There then will be a sleigh ride, a walking tour of Greenfield Village and hot cider libation.

Reservations now are being accepted for both Yuletide Evening Programs. Cost is $18 per person including tax and gratuities with full payment for individuals and small groups required in advance.

Reservations for groups of 30 or more will be held, without advance payment, until six weeks prior to your chosen date at which time full payment is required.

All reservations are on a first come — first served basis. For more information or reservations call 271-1620, extension 414.

At Ford Auditorium

Concert honors Sousa

From sea to shining sea, celebrities and fans of the concert band world will assemble in Detroit's Ford Auditorium on Tuesday, November 6, to pay tribute to America's very first musical ambassador to the world — John Philip Sousa — on the occasion of his 125th birthday anniversary.

A documentary concert, written and produced by Director Leonard Smith, will feature the internationally-acclaimed Detroit Concert Band and such giants of the music world as Meredith Wilson of California, whose ever-popular show is being prepared for another run on Broadway with Dick Van Dyke as "The Music Man."

Also featured at the gala birthday celebration will be Lieutenant Colonel William Santelma (former leader of the United States Marine Band), Ronald Demkee (youthful conductor of America's oldest civilian concert band in Allentown, Pennsylvania) and Sousa biographer Paul Bierly.

Two members of the Sousa band also will be present: celebrated clarinetist Edmund Wall and Jan Williams, who not only toured the world with the Sousa band, but whose clarinet artistry graced the metropolitan Orchestra under Toscanini and the New York Symphony Orchestra under Damrosch.

Mike Whorf of WJR "Kaleidoscope" fame will narrate the program.

Counterpart roles of stellar Sousa soloists will be performed by cornetist James B. Underwood as Herbert L. Clarke, soprano Imogene Bird as Estelle Lieblich, euphoniumist Earle Louder as Simone Mantia, tubaist Harvey Phillips as William "Bill" Bell, whose virtuosity embellished the Sousa band and the NBC Symphony Orchestra, and Detroit's own bass drummer Kenneth Baldwin as August "Gus" Helmecke who — in total rapport with Sousa — established the firm and steady beat that distinguished the Sousa band from all others.

Patrons are urged to arrive early for leisurely examination of an exhibit of Sousa artifacts and other memorabilia on display in the lobby of Ford Auditorium. The display was made available for this special occasion by the United States Marine Corps Museum in Washington D.C.

All seats are reserved with tickets priced at $9.50, $8.50 and $7.50. Advance ticket sales for this program are so brisk that it's recommended that anyone wishing to participate in this unique event should act quickly to secure desired tickets. Ticket information is available at 886-0394 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Immediately following the concert, holders of afterglow tickets (available in limited numbers at $17.50 apiece) will have an opportunity to meet and converse with the stars of the Sousa Celebration concert at the Detroit Plaza Hotel.

Also present at the afterglow will be other eminent representatives of the music world from across the country who are coming to Detroit especially for this event. Champagne and hot and cold hors d'oeuvres will be served. Shuttle service from Ford Auditorium to the Plaza Hotel and back is provided.

Mustang soccer team will compete in Michigan Soccer Tournament Thursday

Most first-year teams plead for a couple of seasons to develop a winning program. But that is not the case with the Northville High School varsity soccer team. The Mustang kickers asked for nothing this season, they just dished out loss after loss to opponents. And for their efforts, the Northville squad was named last week as one of 16 teams across Michigan to play in the State Soccer Tournament, which will begin this week.

To make the honor even more special, of the 16 teams invited, only three independent schools were asked to participate. Northville was one of them. So, of all the independent teams in Michigan (those not affiliated with a league), the Mustangs were selected as one of the three best in the state. Not bad for a first-year program.

The tournament is being organized by the Northern Suburban Soccer League. Three teams from both the East and West Divisions, two from the Metro Suburban League, one from Cherry Line, three from West Shores and one from the Great Lake Christian Conference were asked to participate in the event. The tourney will be single elimination.

Northville will host the first and second games that it will participate in. Schedules weren't available at press time. Call the high school for more information as to game times and dates.

SIDELINES

By Jim Haynes

Runners are amazing

When God was passing out parts, I think He must have come to the year-end clearance models when He dished out my legs. From the waist up I'm built like Rocky, but from the waist down, I'm built like Donald Duck. I've learned to live with parakeet legs. A few clothing adjustments here and there and I can pass as a normal biped. But one thing I have never been able to hide is my running ability, or lack thereof.

I hate to run almost as much as I hate to eat vegetables. I envy the natural-born runner, legs long as telephone poles and a graceful stride that makes one think of flowing water. I can't run, I waddle.

Along with my envy for those who can run is admiration. That's why I enjoy watching track and field competition. It is one of the most basic forms of athletic competition. Two people running against each other. No equipment to speak of, just speed against speed.

In the fall most tracksters compete in cross country. This sport is the true test of a runner's ability. In track runners are on a flat, clean course that allows them to think of only one thing, speed. In cross country the course winds up hills, across streams, down gulleys, through forests, and in and out of mud, sand and dirt. A three mile cross country course will seem like a 30-mile event to the runner at the finish whereas a flat cinder course three-mile run is child's play in comparison.

The top cross country team in the area is Northville High School's. The Mustang harriers went undefeated in dual meets this season and will have competed in the Regional meet by time this goes to press.

All of the thinclads on the team have had exceptional years. One of the big stories has been the rise to prominence of three sophomores on the team: Dave Malinowski, Scott Dayton and Clark Couyoumjian.

Malinowski and Dayton have traded back and forth during the year for second and third place finishes in races. Both are quality runners and one can only smile when thoughts of the next two cross country seasons come to mind. Couyoumjian has added a great deal to the team also. He has consistently finished in the top seven for the team and can be counted on to score low points for the team (in cross country, the higher you finish, the lower your points.)

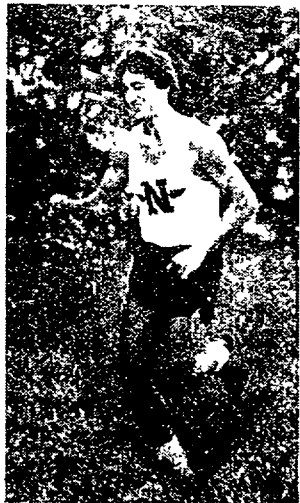

Seniors Ross Grover and Doug Wright are also solid performers who are always in the top pack of finishers. Steve Bourne has just started to come on for the team as a consistent finisher in the seventh-man spot.

Another pleasant aspect for the Mustangs this season has been the running of Anita Sledz. She has been running fast times and stands a chance of making a college team in the future.

Senior Harry Couyoumjian is one of the top runners in the region. He is the top runner in the Western Six Conference. He is also the top runner on the Northville team. The Mustang thinclad has been beaten just once this season and that was at an invitational meet. He has won all of his dual meet races.

Harry has run competitively since he was in the seventh grade. He has run for three years on the varsity cross country team. He starts preparing for the grueling fall season early in the summer. This preparation consists of long road work, often up to 10 miles of running at a time. But it has worked out for Couyoumjian. As he has said, it takes a lot of work and dedication. It doesn't come easy for anybody.

How did he get started running? "Mr. Redmond heard about my times in the half (mile) and I was too small to play football, so I thought it would be a good switch. I tried out for the team and made it," Couyoumjian said.

An Apology

I blew it. In last week's column about Holly Sixt, I incorrectly stated that she was the only undefeated member of the Mustang girls Western Six champion tennis team. I was wrong. The third doubles unit of Debbie Spade and Jana Holloway also went undefeated this past season. To do so is quite a feat and I apologize to these two young tennis players for not getting my facts straight. Congratulations.

But the season was far

Thinclads beaten at Regionals

Like the Martians in H.G. Wells' novel, War of the Worlds, it wasn't any man-made weapon, or cause that defeated the Northville cross country team at last weekend's regional meet. It was a tiny, microscopic virus. The Mustangs were felled by the cold bug.

Heading into the meet with all the promise an undefeated season can give, the defending regional champion Mustangs finished a disappointing fourth behind winner Ann Arbor Pioneer (63), West Bloomfield (88), and Adrian (176). Northville (203) had to compete with its two-three duo of Dave Malinowski and Scott Dayton barely able to breathe let alone run. Each was suffering from severe colds.

Harry Couyoumjian was again the top Northville runner as he finished in fifth place overall. His time of 15:51 was no match for the race's winner, Doug Tolsen's 14:48.

With Malinowski and Dayton at half-strength, the burden fell on the shoulders of senior Ross Grover to pick up the slack. And although the runner ran the fastest time of his career, it wasn't nearly good enough to pull the meet out of the fire. He ran a 16:37, good for 30th overall.

Malinowski finished 40th with a time of 16:46 and Clark Couyoumjian clocked in at 16:52, good for 46th. After that it was slim pickings as Doug Wright crossed the finish line in 82nd place with a time of 17:21. Dayton was number 101 across the line as he clocked at 17:40. Steve Stuart was the seventh man for Northville and he finished with a time of 17:51.

"The team did not do well," Northville coach Dave Gram said. "If we had run our league-meet times, we would have taken second. But that's all conjecture. It's over."

"All the kids are very disappointed. The season just came to a screeching halt. It just hit them last Saturday that they wouldn't be running as a team any longer."

from a loss for the Mustang runners. "We accomplished many things we wanted to and more," Gram said. "We had an undefeated season, going 10-0, which at the beginning of the season I had hoped we would do but didn't really think we could do. We resumed our title at the Schoolcraft Invitational and took a new one at the Redford Invitational. We beat Farmington there, who has held the title for the last five years."

"We developed strong sophomores and have a good team for next year. On any given day, with the team at full strength, we could have finished much higher at regionals."

Mustangs couldn't reach the five-player limit.

Earlier last week the Mustangs captured the Western Six league title. Northville finished with 32 points, Waterford Mott was second with 51, Walled Lake Western was third with 80, Plymouth Canton fourth with 84, Livonia Churchill 88 and Farmington Harrison 168.

Harry Couyoumjian took first overall with a time of 16:11. Doug Wright was fourth with a 16:36 finish and Clark Couyoumjian was eighth

Express wins boys 12-and-under tourney

The Northville Cup Soccer Tournament continues for the Northville members of the Western Suburban Soccer League. Last week the boys 12-and-under cup play finished with Express downing the Champs for the tourney win.

EXPRESS 2, CHAMPS 1

The Express scored in the first quarter when Cam Ramsey took a pass from Chris St. John and banged it home for a 1-0 lead. The defenses took over after that and it wasn't until the fourth quarter that either team could penetrate the nets again. The Express scored its second goal when Andy Rico set Brent Wasik up for a shot. Wasik smashed the ball past the Champ goalie and the Express led 2-0. With seven minutes left on the clock the Champs' Scott Greiner scored on a penalty kick. That ignited the losing team. The final minutes of the game saw furious charges by the Champs but the Express defenders kept knocking the ball out of bounds. Chris Hauser was the goalie for the winning team while Curt Settino and Dave Hall shared the chores for the Champs.

Boys 10-and-under tournament games 1st Round Play:

STING 3, HURRICANES 1

With the score tied at 0-0 with less than four minutes to play in the game, the Sting's David Watt scored to put the team on top 1-0. But Jeff Donaldson scored with only seconds left to knot the score at 1-1. The teams played two 10-minute overtimes before Watt and Tom Schwarz each tallied to send the Sting home with the victory.

HOT SPURS 8, CHAMPS 0

The Hot Spurs blasted the Champs off the field behind Richard Smith's three goals, Ken Kessak's two, and single scores by John Becker, Eric Halverson and Robbie Ketola.

ARSENAL 1, UNITED 0

COSMOS 4, BLACK KNIGHTS 3

Jeff Terwin and Eric Smolenski staked the Cosmos to a 2-0 lead early in the first period with goals in the opening minutes of the game. Mike Kelly scored twice in the third to knot the score for the Black Knights. The game went into overtime. The first overtime period passed and neither team had scored. Then, late in the second overtime period, the Cosmos' Don Bisdorf scored. But Kelly notched his third goal of the contest with only 15 seconds left to play. The game went into its third overtime period. Bisdorf scored his second goal of the game after eight minutes of the overtime to give the Cosmos the win.

Girls 12-and-under tournament action
This tourney ended up in a three-way tie for first between the Cougars, the Panthers and the Foxes. A decision as to determine a winner is still being debated.

PANTHERS 5, AZTECS 0

Julie Nowka and Kathy Korowin each scored a goal in the first period but the Aztecs shut the Panther attack down for the next two quarters. Then in the fourth quarter, with the wind to her back, Panther Colleen Kirwin banged home three straight goals to give her team a 5-0 win.

FOXES 2, PINK PANTHERS 1

Fox Julie Anger scored in the first quarter to put her team in the lead and that's the way the scoring lasted until the fourth quarter. Then, with five minutes left to play, Pink Panther Julie Nowka scored to tie the game. But Amy DeMattia scored with one minute to go on a hands penalty kick to give the Foxes a 2-1 lead.

Girls 10-and-under tournament action

But Kristen Spigarelli scored in the opening moments of the fourth quarter and then, with one minute left, Carrie Settino scored on a penalty kick to knot the score. The goalies were Karen Paired for the Panthers, and Susie Swienkowski for the Aztecs.

JV gridders beat Churchill 22-12

The JV Mustang football team raised its record to 6-2 last Thursday with a 22-12 victory over Livonia Churchill.

The Mustangs scored the first time they had the ball. After taking the opening kickoff Northville marched 70 yards for the score. Scott Spaman capped the drive with a five-yard plunge for the touchdown. He also scored the two-point conversion. Northville led 8-0.

Northville kicked off to Churchill who failed to move the ball and in turn, punted to the Mustangs. Northville took over on Churchill's 40-yard line. The Mustangs struck paydirt again nine plays later as quarterback Tim McLaughlin carried the ball over from the one-yard line. Spaman again carried for the two-point conversion and Northville led 16-0.

Churchill stalled on its next possession and punted to Northville, which fumbled the ball. Churchill recovered on the Northville 25-yard line and marched right in for the score. The point-after attempt failed.

Churchill scored again before the half. This time it was on a 25-yard touchdown pass. The point-after conversion failed and both teams retired to the lockerroom at the half with Northville in the lead 16-12.

The Mustangs came out roaring in the third quarter and forced Churchill to punt after failing to move with the second half kickoff. Northville took over and marched right down the field with McLaughlin picking up the score on a one-yard plunge. The conversion attempt failed. Northville led 22-12. That was the score when the final gun went off.

Spaman led the team in rushing picking up 126 yards in 35 carries for an average of 3.6 yards per carry. Chris Dimitroff gained 95 yards on 17 carries for an average of 5.6 yards per carry. He also caught two passes for 67 yards. That gave Dimitroff 162 yards in total offense. He also stood out on defense as he made nine solo tackles and recovered a fumble from his defensive end post.

Coach Lee Holland also praised the defensive work of defensive tackle Foster Freydl, who made five solo tackles.

Frosh Colts win 14-0

By STEVE RUSCHAK

The Northville Colts freshman squad ended their 1979 regular season by beating the Ypsilanti Braves 14-0.

The Colts scored on a safety in the second quarter when Ricky Athey, Gary Harper and Brent Heppner stopped the Brave quarterback in the end zone.

In the fourth quarter Brent Heppner scored a touchdown on a five-yard run. The extra point was no good.

The final touchdown scored by Northville was made by Jeff Harp on a

During the game Bop Smith recovered another fumble for the Colts when the Braves were driving.

David Greer heads upfield on a 16-year quarterback sneak

Ground attack mangles Milford

The Mustangs took to the trenches to beat Milford last week. Northville had a game plan that called for running over, under and on top of the other school. And it worked. Northville won 21-12.

"We got a real consistent ground game going," Northville coach Dennis Colligan said. "Joe Hamp and Bob Crisan were healthy and in the same backfield. They complemented each other very well."

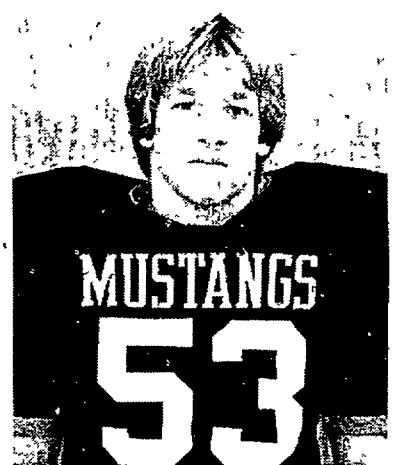

With Hamp flashing past on the outside and Crisan providing powerful blocking, the Mustangs trampled Milford. Hamp gained 96 yards on 15 carries. Quarterback David Greer gained 68 yards rushing and Crisan gained 19 yards on six totes, but scored two touchdowns.

Northville got on the board first when, in the opening quarter, Greer and tight end Rob Marzonie connected for a 55-yard touchdown pass. Bob Thomson then booted the extra-point conversion and Northville led 7-0.

Milford didn't roll over and die, however. "We ran into a buzz saw of a kid in that Milford quarterback," Colligan said. "Two weeks ago he threw the ball only four times, so we weren't expecting much by way of an air attack. Against us he threw the ball 33 times and connected on 15 of them."

Milford scored with just six seconds to go in the first half when the quarterback threw the ball to his receiver for a short touchdown. Two Mustangs had the ball bounce off their fingertips before it reached the Milford wide receiver. The conversion attempt failed and Northville took a 7-6 lead into the lockerroom at the half.

Both teams came out for the second half determined to put points on the board. But, even though Milford gained a lot of yards, Northville kept them from scoring until the end of the game. Northville on the other hand ground out yards and put points on the board. The Mustangs took the second-half kickoff and marched 76 yards to the Milford end zone where Crisan carried the ball over from one-yard out for the score. Thomson kicked the extra point and Northville led 14-6.

The teams traded possessions as Northville kicked off to Milford, who failed to move the ball. In turn, Milford punted to Northville, who couldn't get an attack mounted either. And so the third quarter went.

Then in the fourth quarter, big Dave Ward sacked the Milford quarterback causing a fumble. Defensive end Paul Luiki fell on the ball to give Northville possession on Milford's 30-yard line. Three plays later Northville had another score. First, Greer called an audible at the line of scrimmage when he saw an opening in the middle of the Milford defense. Changing the play, the junior quarterback dashed up the middle on a quarterback sneak for a gain of 16 yards to Milford's 14. Two plays later Crisan carried the ball in for six. Thomson kicked the conversion and Northville led 21-6.

Milford came back to score late in the game. The quarterback spotted an opening in the defensive secondary of the Northville team and capitalized on it by hitting his split end for a 42-yard touchdown pass. Milford went for the two-point conversion but the runner ran right into the arms of Luiki who a split second later deposited him none-to-gently five yards behind his line of scrimmage.

The loss drops Milford's record to 2-6 while Northville raised its mark to 4-4.

"Milford played a good ball game," Colligan said. "That quarterback was something else. But our defense held them to just 57 yards on the ground and I think that was a big factor."

Northville will close out its 1979 season slate with a game against Novi on Friday. The game will begin at 7:30 p.m. and is being played in Novi. The Wildcats also sport a 4-4 record.

"They've got to be a good defensive team just by the scores they've had. Novi has lost to some good teams," Colligan said. "Novi almost beat Brighton and took South Lyon right down to the final gun. They beat Howell and Divine Child and those are good teams. I really expect a tough game. It won't be a runaway on either side."

"Novi runs a triple-option offense and there isn't a coach who can run a high school triple option like John Osborne can (Novi coach). But our kids want to go out 5-4 instead of 4-5, like I'm sure his kids want to. I'm expecting a real tough, low scoring football game."

Free computerized car checkup

This coming Nov. 12, 13, and 14th, 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. only, you can find out for free what's wrong with your car and how to return it to factory operating standards.

This is our way of introducing you to our AutoseNSE computerized car service which keeps your car operating at top efficiency—saves you money on fuel and operating costs

Our AutoseNSE computer runs automatic tests on your car's engine, electrical system and exhaust emissions. It then prints out a report that shows what's wrong and how to fix it. If repairs are needed, we'll give you an estimate. If we repair the car, we'll give you another AutoseNSE report that proves all repairs were done and done right

Our mechanic hooks up sensors and tells the computer the car model number and the tests to run. AutoseNSE prints out a report that shows test results and how they compare to factory standards.

Tests will be by appointment only. Tests Restricted to 1972 or newer automobiles. Due to the limited amount of tests we can run during this time period, We suggest you make your appointment early.

M's all-time tackle

In celebration of 100 years of intercollegiate football the University of Michigan selected its all-time greatest football team as part of the homecoming festivities last Saturday. And Northville's Alvin Wistert, who played tackle for the Wolverines in 1947-48 and 49, was named to the team in a poll of Michigan alumni. Wistert was an All-American selection in 1948 and 49 and a member of the Rose Bowl team which defeated Southern California University 49-0 on January 1, 1948. Alvin was the last of Michigan's three famous Wistert brothers—all tackles and All American selections—to wear number 11. In tribute to the brothers the number has been retired. Al's brother, Francis, was also named to the all-time M team. He played in 1931-32-33. Edged out in the voting was Albert. He played at Michigan in 1940-41-42 and became a perennial All-Pro tackle for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League. Alvin is a sales representative for Owens-Illinois and devotes spare hours to the District Court as the community probation director.

Win 4th of the year

Hoopsters squeek by Harrison

It was enough to give coach Dave Schoop a heart attack. With just a minute to go on the clock Harrison led by three points and had the ball. Would Schoop's Mustangs clutch and drop another game, or would they learn to keep their composure and battle back.

Battle back they did and they not only caught Farmington but went ahead and held the lead to escape with a 34-33 win in one of two games that Northville had last week.

The fourth quarter saw four players share the offensive load for Northville as Kim McGuire, Jacque Nixon, Mel-da House and Kim Kurzawa all got into the scoring act. McGuire and Nixon each scored three points, House hit on two free throws and Kurzawa canned two points.

Northville led Harrison 6-2 at the end of the first quarter but fell behind 14-11 at the half. In the third quarter Northville had again pulled out in front, 24-21. But Harrison came back to retake the lead in the fourth quarter, until Northville went on top at the very end.

Nixon led the Mustangs with nine points, McGuire hit for seven and hauled down nine rebounds, House scored five points and also grabbed nine rebounds, and Lori Mitchell and Kurzawa each scored four points.

"It was nice that we could win the game without Jacque scoring a lot of points. I think that indicates a better balance for our team," Schoop said. "We got some key rebounds and we didn't lose our composure. Before, and I told the girls this after the game, I think we would have lost a close game. This tells me that going against a team with even talent, I think we can win the close ones."

Earlier in the week Schoop didn't get a chance to test his theory. The Mustangs weren't involved in a close game. In fact, it was just the opposite. Northville got blasted by Bishop Borgess 42-23.

Bishop led 6-3 at the end of the first quarter, 17-9 at the half, 26-17 at the end of the third quarter and then outscored Northville 15-6 in the last frame.

"We couldn't shoot," Schoop said. "We hit only eight baskets out of 49 shots. That's only a 16 percent average."

Northville now stands at 4-8 overall and 3-7 in the league.

... Couyoumjian

How does Couyoumjian take all of his success? Is he confident of victory before every race begins? "I don't take any race for granted. I always try to give my best and if that isn't good enough, then at least I tried," he said.

Couyoumjian started the year with the goal of running under 15 minutes on a flat three-mile course. He didn't make it. His best was a 15:14 while on his hilly home course, Couyoumjian has run a 15:57.

He would like to run on the college level, but track, not cross country. "I'd like to run track at college, to help myself with a scholarship for school," he said. "I don't have one in mind but it has to be a good school. One with programs in either business or engineering."

Couyoumjian, 17, has this advice for the beginning runner. "The first time you run, go as far as you can but take it easy. Just work your way up slowly." Great! I think I'll begin by running to the refrigerator. Slowly.

Novi-Northville rivalry old hat?

This Friday the Northville Mustangs and the Novi Wildcats will compete in their ninth straight annual football clash. Northville has won the last five years, downing the Wildcats last season 20-14.

Since both schools are just minutes apart, and many of the athletes grew up together and played on the same summer sport teams, is there much of a rivalry feeling for the game?

"Yes," Novi coach John Osborne said. "I think there is. The kids' older brothers played for Northville before the schools split off from each other. Many of our kids are neighbors of the Northville players. They've played together on summer teams and I think there is a real sense of rivalry there."

"No, I don't think so," Northville coach Dennis Colligan said. "Maybe once, years ago. But it's not as big as it used to be. We are starting to feel a strong rivalry with Livonia Churchill and Farmington Harrison. But the Novi game isn't as big anymore. At the end of the season it's sort of anticlimatic. We used to play them at the beginning of the season and I think that it was more of a rivalry then."

"I'll tell you though, the JV seem to really be fired up for Novi. I think they feel more of a rivalry with them because many of the JV kids for both schools have played together for the Colts football program. But basically, Northville is now going one way and Novi is going another. We don't play the same schools and each is developing different rivalries.

And how do the coaches view the upcoming game. With both teams set with 4-4 records, just how close will the contest be?

"I just hope to stay close to them," Osborne said. "Northville has played a tougher schedule than we have. You can't really compare the schedules. This game will be for the bragging rights of the neighborhood so it will be emotional."

Colligan looks at it a little differently. "I have a lot of respect for John Osborne. There aren't too many coaches who prepare better for a game than he does and you can bet he'll have his kids ready to play us."

"He has a bigger team than us and has good running backs and an experienced quarterback. They've played some tough teams themselves and I really think this will be a tough, low-scoring game. I don't think either team will win in a runaway."

Only Mustang named to first team

Boshoven named to Western-Six squad

The 1979 Western Six all-league football team was announced last week. Only one Mustang made the first team. Bob Boshoven, a 5'9", 170-pound senior was named the team's offensive center.

The team was selected by the coaches of the Western Six. Each coach was allowed to nominate a player for two positions, one for offense and one for defense. The player could then be selected for just one of the two positions.

"Bob's strength was at linebacker," Northville coach Dennis Colligan said.

"But offensive center was the first position to be voted on and Bob was picked right away. His stats on defense were overwhelming. But that's the system. He would have made it either way."

"I'm obviously disappointed that we got only one guy named to the first team. A coach isn't allowed to vote for his own player. In the case of a tie the player whose team finished highest is awarded the first-team selection. That happened with three of our players. Paul Luiki, Dan Goehman and Dan Troher were all tied for votes, but in each case lost because the person they were tied with came from a team with a better record. They lost because of our place in the league."

Luiki, Goehman, Troher and Rob Marzoni were all selected to the all-league honorable mention squad. All are seniors. Luiki was picked as a defensive end, Marzoni as a tight end, and Troher as a nose guard. Goehman was selected as a split end and Colligan feels that he was slightly by not being named as a first team wide receiver.

"Danny was the best receiver in the league," Colligan said. "He deserved a place on the team." Goehman's statistics speak for themselves. In just five league games, he caught 12 passes for 314 yards, an average of 26.1 yards per catch. He scored four touchdowns.

Boshoven had 51 solo tackles and 53 assists at his linebacker post. He recovered two fumbles and intercepted two passes. Troher had 26 solo tackles and 23 assists. He made four quarterback sacks. Luiki had 14 solo tackles and chalked up 12 assists at his defensive end spot.

On defense, Walt Tadday of Churchill was picked for one end post while, Western's Carlo Castiglione was named to the other. Bob O'Neil of Churchill, Harrison's Steve Weise and Scott Parrish of Western were named to interior linemen posts. Linebackers were Steve Clemens of Churchill, Jim Miller of Harrison and Randy Shell from Western. Ron Schueneman of Churchill, Bob Anderson from Churchill and Western's Rob King were named to the defensive backfield. Mark Alcantara from Harrison was picked as the all-league kicker.

Varsity Colts win

The win gives the varsity Colts a 4-2-2 record on the year.

"It was a defensive battle all the way through," coach John Collins said. He singled out Michael Collins and Dave Flack for their strong defensive performances at linebacker and tackle, respectively.

JV Colts drop finale 20-13

The Northville-Novu JV Colts lost a heart-breaker to the Ypsilanti Braves last Sunday, 20-13. The Braves scored to break a 13-13 tie with 29 seconds left in the game. The game-winning TD was set up by an 88-yard run from scrimmage, from the Braves two to the Colts ten where Andy Barron caught the fleet-footed Brave runner from behind. This was the Colt's last regular season game and the loss brought their record to 5-3.

The Colt's first touchdown came moments after the Braves' first score, when the kickoff return, Henji Evans raced 75 yards down the sideline. Evans added the extra point as the Colts pulled in front 7-6. The Braves added seven more points to cap off a sustained drive before halftime. The score stood at 13-7 at the half.

The Colts received the second half kick-off and Dave Denhoff returned it 28 yards to midfield. From that point the Colts mixed their plays well and moved the ball down the field. Denhoff scored on a two-yard plunge and the score was knotted at 13-13.

Late in the fourth quarter the Colt's had a chance to go ahead when they took possession at midfield. The threat ended, however, when the Braves intercepted a pass at their own two yard line.

Locking in at 16:49. Grover took ninth spot with a 16:51 time and Malinowski took tenth with a time of 16:59. Dayton took 22nd crossing the finish line in a time of 17:29 and Steve Bourne was 29th with a time of 18:25.

Sledz made the all-league team in the girls race as she crossed the line in a time of 20:08, good for fifth spot. Kelly Assenmacher was 11th with a time of 22:25 and Kathy McMillan took 12th with a time of 22:28.

"As Harry so aptly put it," Gram said, "it's just too bad we couldn't put the frosting on the cake."

"I would have to say that the two most valuable runners for us this season were Ross Grover and Clark Couyoumian. They always gave strong efforts, always gave us points, could be counted on to run strongly and were definitely our most valuable runners. Harry was our most outstanding runner. He was always number one. There is a lot of pressure at that spot and he took it. He's not a glory guy."

Last week the Mustangs used Southfield as a warmup for the tourney. Northville polished the Southfield kickers off 7-1. "They shouldn't have gotten their one goal," Northville coach Ron Meteyer said. "After the game the ref apologized to us and explained that after he signaled the goal good, he realized that the team had been way off-sides. he couldn't reverse a call once he had made it. We didn't protest because the score was what it was." Northville managed the win with only the services of 15 players. Kevin Swayne got the first of three goals when he put Northville on the board after 14

Bartling wins contest

Todd Bartling of 15877 Portis, who submitted an entry containing just two mistakes, was the first place winner in last week's football contest. He was the only contestant with only two errors. And one of those was a game that everyone missed — the 17-17 tie between Minnesota and Illinois. Second and third winners had to be decided by the score of the Cincinnati-Philadelphia. The Bengals defeated the Eagles, 37-13. In second place was Dave Bach of 20336 Woodhill, and taking third was Fred Robinson of 21060 Taft. Bach picked Cincinnati to win by a score of 24-13, while Robinson had Cincinnati on top by a score of 34-24.

Aside from the 17-17 tie, games last week that created most difficulty for contestants included Houston's victory over Arkansas, and the Eagles loss to the Bengals. Here are other contestants who missed three games but who finished out of the money because their scores of the tie-breaker were not as accurate: Dereh Osborne, Mickey O'Leary, Pat Hansen, Michael Kowalski, Kelly Bell, Pete Wasilewski, John Horwath, and Mike McLaughlin. A total of 17 contestants submitted entries containing four mistakes, 18 had five mistakes, 11 had six mistakes, and the remainder had seven mistakes or more.

first with a time of 2:14.96 and Farquhar captured second swimming a 2:29.0. Storm and Sellen made it a threesome as this duo went one-two in the 50-yard free. Storm's time of :24.93 set a new pool record and Sellen wasn't far behind, clocking in at :26.7. Raycraft's diving total of 198.65 was a new team record but was only good enough for second place against Harrison's Sandy Humphries, who totaled 249.35. Storm took first in the 100-yard fly clocking in at 1:08.04. Sellen then took a first in the 100-yard freestyle finishing in a time of :58.43. Cahill set a new pool record in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 5:09.29, good for first place. Selfridge took a first in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:10.01. Allyson Farquhar then set a new pool record with a time of 1:12.08 in the 100-yard breaststroke, good for another first. Leslie Farquhar, Selfridge, Donovan and Sellen then combined to swim a first-place time of 4:09.31 in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

minutes of play. He scored unassisted from the centerforward position. Gregg May blasted the second Northville score 12 minutes later from his left halfback spot. Mark Swayne made it a brother act by notching the third Northville tally at the 29-minute mark. He scored from the centerhalfback post. His brother Kevin assisted. Rick Marshall picked up the fourth and fifth Mustang goals shooting from his rightwing post. His scores came at the 31-minute mark and six minutes into the second half. Kevin Swayne picked up the sixth and seventh goals. The sixth came 12 minutes into the second half. May assisted on it. The seventh was unassisted, at the 21-minute mark of the second frame. "Ken Koppin got a yellow card. It was just a poorly controlled game all around," Meteyer said. "There were too many cheap shots that just shouldn't have occurred.

First game home

The Mustang varsity soccer team is one of only three independent teams to be invited to participate in the Michigan High School Soccer Playoffs this season. In all, just 16 teams from around the state have been invited. The first game for Northville will take place on Thursday, November 1 at 4 p.m. when Livonia Churchill comes to town. The game will be played on Northville's football field. The tourney is a single elimination and should Northville beat Churchill, the second round game with the Mustangs will also take place at home. Churchill and Northville tied in their only meeting this season.
