

Commission's township salary proposals studied

By KEN KOVACS

Most township employees would get a six to eight percent pay increase. Others would receive no raise and some would even get a cut in pay. This would be the case if the Northville Township Board of Trustees adopted the salary recommendations submitted November 8 by the Wage and Salary Review Commission.

The report, presented by Richard Henningsen, former township treasurer and head of the five-member commission, was prepared over the last two months.

Henningsen told board members that the commission, which consisted of Robert E. Prom, John R. Martin, Susan Heintz, Richard Allen and Henningsen, based its recommendations on the current salaries of employees and officials in our Michigan townships of similar size and economic standing.

The committee met three times to develop the list of suggested salaries.

Those recommended for increases include the supervisor — $22,000 to $23,755; police chief — $21,985 to $23,751; deputy clerk — $16,000 to $17,000; deputy treasurer — $13,600 to $14,600; building inspector — $19,500 to $20,865; and water and sewer superintendent — $19,000 to $20,865.

Administrative staff workers also would receive increases between six and eight percent, as would building department and water and sewer workers.

Those who would not receive a raise include the clerk who would remain at $18,500; treasurer, whose salary would be cut from $4,500 to $3,500; trustees whose salaries would remain at $2,400 and the fire chief who would remain at $18,000.

The committee stated in its report that the clerk's salary level was maintained due to the substantial increase the previous year.

The treasurer's salary was decreased by $1,000 because the commission felt this position also received an excessive increase last year.

The commission further stated in the report that the trustees' salaries and that of the fire chief should be maintained because they are comparable to

Walk draws throngs

Even though it was the warmest Sunday before Thanksgiving in years, the hundreds of shoppers and browsers filling downtown sidewalks and stores definitely were Christmas-minded as they admired festively decorated windows and holiday-season merchandise. Merchants opening their stores at noon immediately found after-church shoppers viewing Christmas merchandise and sampling the refreshments offered in many establishments. Christmas decorations, including roping of live greens, had been installed by city workers in time for the annual Christmas Walk which has become the community's traditional opening of the season. Santa even was on hand to greet youngsters.

District court consolidation set for study

Having presented a record high proposed court budget to city council, District Court Judge James Garber claimed Monday that it could be reduced by $100,000 if the court was consolidated.

And, declared Garber, the reduction could be made without a reduction in service or in revenue.

The proposed new budget before council calls for a giant increase in expenditures—from $276,676 projected in 1979 (but now revised upward to $372,816) to $496,941.

If Garber's claim is correct it suggests that the budget the court proposes for 1980 could be peeled back to $397,000. Even the reduced figure would represent a budget increase, however.

In any event, the cutback suggested by Garber through consolidation could not occur before the start of the new budget year.

Noting that he will become the district court's presiding judge in January (the title alternates between Judge Dumbor Davis and Garber), Judge Garber said he is recommending that Northville join with representatives of other 35th District Court communities—Northville Township, City and Township of Plymouth and Canton Township—to explore the possibility of establishing a single, centralized court building to handle the cases in all five communities.

Presently, said Garber, the 35th District Court is the only district court in Michigan where the court sits in multiple locations (City of Northville, City of Plymouth and Canton Township) and is funded by multiple units.

Although cases originating in Northville and Plymouth townships are heard by the district court, they are heard in courts located outside their jurisdiction. In other words, there are no court facilities in either of the townships.

Thus, these two townships do not share the revenues generated by the court, but neither do they share the costs of the court (namely the expenditure budget such as is being proposed now at $496,941).

Northville Township officials reportedly are considering a formal request that the court sit there.

Technically, based on their populations, both townships (Northville and Plymouth) could demand that the court sit in those communities and the court would, under the law, have to do so, Garber said.

Because of the court questions now being considered, Northville city officials have tabled a plan—at least temporarily—to convert the Scout-Recreation Building on Cady, next to the cemetery, into a district court building.

If Northville Township should request the court to sit in the township (and provide a court facility for it), such a move would remove the necessity of increased court space in the city—hence the council's decision to postpone conversion of the Scout-Recreation building.

According to Garber, the City of Northville can expect to net approximately $60,000 (difference between expenditures and income) from the district court.

However, City Manager Steven Walters has pointed out that this net revenue is not, in the strictest sense, "clear profit" since it does not take into account the fact that the communities where the court sits must provide court facilities.

Concerning Judge Garber's recommendation, Mayor Paul Vernon pledged the city's support in studying the centralization.

Garber said he saw several

City tables cable TV franchise

The anticipated approval of a cable television franchise here Monday didn't occur.

Although council members earlier had suggested support of the franchise application by the Omnicom company, at public hearing this week they decided to table the matter until after further study.

Sudden receipt of other applications or inquiries from cable television companies plus word from the city attorney that he has obtained new information concerning such franchises persuaded council to delay action.

In fact, Monday's scheduled public hearing was not even officially opened.

Presumably the Omnicom franchise matter will come up

DNR response due

No building ban seen here

By KEN KOVACS

Some people expected a ban on all construction in Northville Township and Novi.

Others expected a slightly less severe response.

But almost no one expected the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to sit back and do nothing.

That, however, seems to be the DNR's reaction to a letter sent October 10 by Northville Township Supervisor Donald Thomson informing the department of what many believe is a very serious sewer capacity problem in the township and surrounding communities.

DNR officials, who are currently preparing a letter in response to the supervisor's communication, say they will not impose a construction ban as such, but will be a little more stingy with construction permits.

"We don't know if there is enough capacity or not," said David Sprow, district engineer of the Water Quality Division of DNR. "But from now on the municipality, or developer is going to have to show us that there is enough capacity to handle each project or we will not issue construction permits."

"Since receiving the letter from Northville Township I have done a lot of checking," Sprow continued. "From the data that I have gathered I would say that the sewer line between Seven Mile and Wilcox is near its capacity."

The DNR spokesman said he had no evidence that there have been overflows.

"If there have been any overflows, there is a real question whether they were due to the sewer being over capacity or were just the result of temporary plugs," he explained. "It is very important at this point to have more frequent inspections of the sewer line by Wayne County Department of Public Works."

"Right angle bends and ciphons can cause plug ups which could result in an overflow," he said.

Sprow said the answer to the sewer problem currently lies locally.

He further said, "in the letter which will hopefully be sent this week, we will urge the local communities involved to meet and discuss the problem. And, hopefully, they will include us in the conversations."

The letter sent by Supervisor Thom-

'Ignored whistle'

This Ford Granada, traveling southbound on Sheldon, ran a red light at Seven Mile yesterday and struck the right front of an eastbound semi-truck trailer, city police reported. The driver, Mary Simpson and her husband, the only passenger, were taken to St. Mary Hospital where they were treated for minor injuries and released. Police said the traffic officer working the corner signaled for the woman to stop and blew his whistle, but she responded to neither warning. The driver of the truck was not hurt.

NORTHVILLE CITY Planning Commission will retain the same officers for another year. By unanimous action at the October meeting, commissioners re-elected C. Thomas Wheaton chairman, Lesa Buckland vice-chairman and Luke Durst secretary.

CITY OFFICIALS have begun exploring the possibility of hiring someone to serve the combined roles of building inspector, engineer, and assessor. Council, which has bounced around the idea of a full-time engineer for years, sees no need for a full-timer in any one of these capacities but it suspects a full-time person filling all three roles might be economically wise.

again at the December 3 meeting. It is unclear at this point if that December 3 meeting will constitute a public hearing or merely a public discussion of Omnicon's request and the requests of other companies.

Douglas Whitaker, a member of the Northville school board who has been studying cable TV service for the Wayne-Oakland Federated Library Service, "has also submitted additional information which we should consider before acting," said City Manager Steven Walters.

Since Omnicon made its application several weeks ago the cable TV companies "seem to be coming out of the woodwork," said Mayor Paul Vernon.

In view of Omnicon's early application, and council's study of that application, the other companies "are a little late," observed Council member Stanley Johnston.

One of the latest applications received by the city is from the Booth American Company, which expressed its interest "in building and operating a cable television system serving the City of Northville and selected neighborhood areas."

According to John L. Booth, chairman of the board, "The Booth American Company operates cable TV systems in five states (including Michigan) and has strong family ties and interest in the Oakland County area dating back several generations.

"We look forward, with pleasure, to competing for the award of this franchise and to responding to any questions or additional requirements."

Race night brings $900 to HS band

At least $900 was collected by the Northville Band Boosters from the sale of $2 "night at the races" tickets which were good at Northville Downs November 19.

"I had the time of my life," said Jemima Rothermel, band booster organizer. "The people who were there had a good time. If we had had more, time we could have sold more tickets. But considering we had only two weeks, I would say it was a success."

Band Boosters estimated Thursday that 450 tickets had been sold for the "night at the races." Since Band Boosters got to keep all the money from tickets band members and boosters sold, Rothermel estimated at least $900 was collected.

The money will be used to buy new uniforms for the NHS marching band.

Band Boosters began another money-making scheme for the uniforms with their annual sale of pumpkin bread at the Christmas walk Sunday.

The Boosters met again Monday to start on other money-raising projects.

In Plymouth

Cop offers alternative

A Northville Township police lieutenant believes it is time Plymouth Township forms its own police department.

Lieutenant Kenneth Hardesty recently submitted a proposal to township officials which would create a department consisting of five patrol officers, one chief, one inspector and two sergeants.

His proposal has no connection to the Northville Township department, he says.

Plymouth Township last summer adopted the charter form of government. Under the charter, the township must provide police protection to prevent annexation by neighboring communities.

Township officials last week tentatively approved a contract with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

The contract will now be reviewed by the Wayne County Board of Auditors.

Hardesty's proposal is an alternative to the county plan, and he believes it is far more practical than any plan offered.

Hardesty admits that he seeks to become chief of the new department, but insists that he is not unhappy working for the Northville Township department.

"I have no problems in Northville Township," he said. "But it is my ultimate goal to become a police chief."

The lieutenant's plan includes a detailed budget totaling some $270,000. Plymouth officials, however, say the plan is not complete. They say it does not include fringe benefits of the proposed nine officers. This could increase the cost of employees' salaries by some 30 percent.

Overtime and liability insurance costs are also missing from the budget, officials say.

The contract tentatively agreed upon with the county Sheriff's department would cost the township about $246,600. Plymouth township voters approved a one-mill tax hike last summer to pay for the expense of police protection.

The lieutenant says he based his proposed salaries on those found in adjoining communities including Plymouth, Novi, Canton, Westland, Garden City and Northville.

Hardesty says if his proposal was accepted he could have cars on the road within three months.

Chuck Lanning, 32, has been a township firefighter for two and one half years. A veterinary assistant, Lanning lives at 51405 West Seven Mile.

Ron Russell, 20, has been a township firefighter for two and one half years. A mechanic, Russell lives at 241 Rayson.

Frank Hatch, 54, has been with the township fire department for two and one half years. Hatch, a retired Detroit firefighter, and his wife live at 47100 Timberline. They have two children.

Computer magic

It's called an IBM Information Processor. What it actually is a big help to the Northville Township clerk's office. Gail Pope (left) and Susan Neighbors both of Plymouth are being trained on the computer by IBM personnel. The girls are available to the township through a CETA program. They will train on the system and assist in the office for 12 to 18 months, according to Township Clerk Clarice Sass. After that period the township will likely keep the computer system and get some new trainees, the clerk said. The clerk hopes to get the girls proficient enough to do much of the office's work on the new computer including elections and voter registration.

Pick canvassers Monday

The Northville Board of Education will appoint two members to the School Board of Canvassers Monday to take the place of John Steimel and Carol Forrer whose terms expire December 31.

Deadline for applications for the two vacancies was yesterday but as of Tuesday morning the school board offices had received only one application.

By law, two Democrats and two Republicans must canvass the results of all school votes. Two appointees, Joseph Fiorilli and Charles A. Smith, have appointments which do not expire until December 1981. New appointees will serve a four-year term ending December 31, 1983.

The board of education will make appointments at its regular board meeting Monday. If the lone (Democratic) application is not joined by a Republican application before then the district will actively search for someone willing to serve on the board of canvassers, a school spokesperson said.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

by Jim Roth

At one time or another, probably all of the arable land in France was tested as a place to grow grapes. Vignerons families isolated the slightest distinctions in taste. They worked at bringing out a little more color, a more elegant bouquet, and a greater subtlety or depth of taste. Then, all the best qualities of the grapes were enhanced during the process that led from the vine to the glass. So now, the Chambetin family wine is noted for its color and depth of taste, the Musigny for elegance, the Romaneees for breed and balance. The refining still goes on.

Immunization deadlines set

Ninth through twelfth grade students who do not submit immunization records to the Northville school district by February 4, 1980 will be excluded from school, the district notified parents last week.

The district sent home health forms to parents of all ninth through twelfth graders to get information on last doses of tetanus, diphtheria, oral polio and measles, rubella and mumps.

Health consultant Marie Robertson stressed that parents do not need to have a doctor fill out the form. The form can be signed by parents or a guardian from home records, she said.

In addition, parents who are certain their child's immunization record is on file at the school may contact the school and have them check on it.

About half the tenth graders had health appraisals last year," Robertson said. "But we do not have time or manpower to look through every record. To meet the county deadline parents can help us by filling in the questionnaire," she said.

The Wayne County Department of Health only recently notified Northville that it must obtain immunization records on every child.

Robertson said parents should return the forms by November 28 to prove that their child already has the immunizations or will receive them by February 4, 1980.

Robertson said that seventh and eighth grade students who received the immunization letter should ignore it. A computer error mistakenly sent some of the forms to younger students, she said.

Michigan has one of the worst records of outbreaks of communicable diseases. In 1978 Michigan led the nation in reported cases of measles and rubella.

"Last year we were really bad," said Dr. Jane Polkowski, director of the communicable diseases division of the Wayne County Health Department.

Dr. Polkowski said people aged 15 to 19 contracted most cases of rubella last year.

"The younger children have been better immunized," she said. "But young adults as children missed the immunization and missed the disease."

"Once you have had rubella or measles it is very rare to get it again," Dr. Polkowski said. But only recently has it been realized that certain types of early rubella vaccines were not effective.

"The tragedy of rubella is that some young ladies become pregnant at this age. If rubella hits during the first trimester of pregnancy the fetus may die or be deformed. That's one reason why rubella vaccines are being pushed for young adults. Once a young lady is pregnant it is too late for the vaccine," she said.

Dr. Polkowski added that chances for developing serious side effects from measles include encephalitis (inflammation of the brain) which can cause mental retardation.

"People have the power to prevent these diseases. But people have to get the vaccine," Dr. Polkowski said.

Gobblers gobbled

Turkeys get unkindest cut

By EVELYN BAGWELL

Pity the poor turkey. Maligned during its brief lifetime as dumb, unattractive and listless, it like many a great artist receives no recognition until after its untimely death.

And then it's usually the cook who gets all the credit for the succulent bird. Take it from John Smith, who helps his students raise turkeys at Fowler-ville High School, the life of a turkey is not an easy one. Just a quick five months of eating, wandering around aimlessly and sleep-ing, and then it's off to the butcher and then onto the table.

In fact, Smith and his class just sent 16 turkeys to be butchered and dressed so they could sell them in time for Thanksgiving. Paying $1.25 a pound for the turkeys, holiday feasters pay a little more for the fresh bird, but Smith said he's heard the flavor is very good. He says this time he intends to buy one and find out just how good they are. Smith, senior Paul Utter and other students received their first batch of baby turkeys last April and then received another 20 in July. The group purchased the baby turkeys, called poults, from Townline Hatchery in Zeeland for $2 apiece. Smith says the poults look like furry little chicks, though they have long necks and are funny looking. The turkeys are fed a special mix for the first five to six weeks and then are switched to another high protein formula. Since the turkeys grow so fast, it's important they have a lot of protein to keep meat on, Smith said. The feed is rather expensive, $12 for

It's Mr. Turkey turkey day

Unkindest cut of all

100 pounds of the turkey starter and $10 for 100 pounds of turkey grower, Smith said.

It takes about four to five months for a turkey to become pleasingly plump, or about 20 pounds, so the students planned it so the turkeys would be ready about Thanksgiving.

As they grow, the turkeys are kept in the barn at the school, though they're kept in the chicken house when they're still little, Smith said.

The students also grow chickens, and Smith estimates they will grow and sell between 600 and 1,000 chickens this year.

Of the 20 chickens the students received in the last bunch, two died at an early age and two had a genetic defect and had to be killed, Smith said.

The turkeys are purchased to be raised and killed for food, so the students don't have any problem turning them over to the butcher, Smith said.

Part of the reason is that the students are older, juniors and seniors, and don't get emotionally attached to the birds.

And part of the reason is that while baby chicks are cute, older turkeys are "kind of ugly," Smith said.

He said the kids can kill and dress the birds themselves, though they aren't really expert enough to do it so that the bird is appetizing to look at.

So they send the birds to Deah's Turkey Farm in Morrice to be killed and dressed at a cost of $2 a bird.

Smith estimates that, not counting labor or equipment, the birds cost about $14 to raise. Most are about 20 pounds.

At $1.25 a pound, Smith estimates he could sell about 30 or 40, especially since many people like the fact that the birds are not fed a growth stimulant.

He said fresh chickens, too, are much better than frozen and added that the school's chickens are more flavorful and more meaty.

Raising animals in class is done in conjunction with the local Future Farmers of America group, Smith said.

If zoning laws do not forbid such things, Smith said urban homeowners could raise turkeys for Thanksgiving, too.

Each turkey needs about three feet of space, so if you can have a dog you can have a fowl, he said.

But he warned that there is an odor and that turkeys gobble quite a bit and the noise can get pretty loud.

But also like a dog, a turkey can act as a watch "dog," gobbling whenever anyone comes in the area.

He said one problem with turkeys is that they peck at each other until they draw blood. They are cannibalistic, he said.

To minimize the problems, the students have "debeaked" the birds, which is similar to clipping toenails, Smith said.

Domesticated turkeys, unlike the colorful birds children draw in school are white. Males have a large red "wattle," the fleshy fold of skin that hangs from the bird's throat. The females have smaller wattles that are a duller red color.

Both males and females are good to eat, Smith said.

Are turkeys as dumb as everyone says?

Smith isn't sure. He's heard the tale that a turkey will stand in the rain with its mouth open and drown unless moved inside.

But since the school's turkeys live in the barn most of the time, he hasn't had the chance to see if that is true.

Dumb or not, the turkey has had its moments. Benjamin Franklin actually wanted to name the turkey the national bird, but was overruled by those who favored the eagle.

But the bird still has a place in America's heart. Ever since the first Thanksgiving, Americans have preferred to eat turkey rather than talk turkey on Thanksgiving.

Pass the drumstick.

ISEP receives federal grants

Federal grants totaling $264,726 have been officially received by the Institutions' Special Education Program, Director Leonard Resmierski reported recently.

Grants were secured under Title I, which provides supplemental federal funds for the handicapped.

Northville has a dozen grants this year for curriculum improvement, inservice training, an audio/visual project, medical consultation, travel/conferences, indirect costs, community awareness, behavior modification and a psychomotor movement education program.

The district once again has a grant for the Communication Enhancement Resource Center at Moraine, for pre-voc and vocational education such as the "Top of The Burger" restaurant at Burger school, and a grant for a sensory motor room.

Community band plays

A performance of show tunes and light concert selections highlighted the first public performance of the Northville Community Band last week.

The performance was given at Allen Terrace entertaining senior citizens.

Organized this fall, the band's regular rehearsal schedule is to resume as it prepares for Christmas season performances. New members are welcome.

Rehearsals are held on Wednesday evenings, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Cook Junior High School. The band is under the direction of Robert Williams.

Persons wishing additional information may call 349-8242 or 349-0376. Organizations interested in scheduling a performance also are invited to call.

Parking ban modification eyed

The no parking ban on Horton and Rayson streets should stand, the police department has stated.

But in the face of an argument by one of the property owners, C. Thomas Wheaton, council has asked the police department to consider a request for a modified ban.

"I think Tom's made a reasonable request," said Council member J. Burton DeRusha, who suggested the police department review the one-side-only ban proposal of Wheaton.

Wheaton said he understood the police department's concern and that he could agree with much of the written arguments it used in defending the total ban, but he found fault with other sections of that defense.

For example, the police's argument that the curve at Horton and Rayson has "bad visibility" simply is not true, declared Wheaton. It has excellent visibility—perhaps more than other street intersections, he asserted.

In the 29 years that he has lived at the curve, Wheaton said not a single "head on" accident has occurred on the curve. Most of the accidents, he said, involve single speeding cars that fail to negotiate the curve and end up crashing into curve barriers.

Wheaton said he found it distressing that in making this traffic order, council is placing the inconvenience on the residents and not on the traffic that creates the problem.

He urged council to consider a "reasonable" alternative to the total ban: namely, no parking at the curve but allowing parking on one side of the street on either end of the curve.

In his written comment, Police Chief Rodney Cannon pointed out that the law "has required me to modify and adjust traffic control devices. This has been done (on Horton and Rayson) to improve existing conditions.

"In this role I have

Local developer seeks ordinance amendment

A local developer is asking for help. What the developer, Elro Corporation, wants, however, is no simple task.

Jeffrey Orley, representing Elro, appealed to the Northville Township Planning Commission October 30 asking that a section of the zoning ordinance be amended.

Elro, developer of the proposed Hills of Northville Subdivision, to be located at the northwest corner of Six Mile and Sheldon, seeks to build the sub in two stages, something which is not allowed according to the zoning ordinance.

The specific subsection of the ordinance (13.3.4) states: "the technique of averaging minimum lot size shall be acceptable only in those instances wherein the entire preliminary plat, which has received township board approval, is carried through to a final plat and is then recorded in its totality. Recording of portions of an approved preliminary plat shall not be acceptable under this option."

The proposed amendment, developed with the assistance of Planning Consultant George Vilcan and Township Engineer William Mosher reads:

"A plat which utilizes the advantages of the lot averaging technique may, following approval of the preliminary plat-stage II, be developed in stages subject to the provision that no stage, taken together with previously developed stages, shall produce a total lot area amounting to less than that conventional subdivision minimum lot area of the zoning district multiplied by the total number of lots developed."

Vilcan told township planners the problem is not unique to Elro and that it is likely many developers in the future would be requesting the same ordinance change.

A public hearing on whether the ordinance should be amended is scheduled for December 10 at 8 p.m. at the township hall, 41600 Six Mile.

realized that it has not always met with total public acceptance, however these actions have always been in the interest of accident prevention and public safety."

The chief said he still feels the ban "is correct and should not be rescinded."

Patrolman William Harrison reported that

It was learned that because of the present economic climate, Constantin Kiriakos and Daniel Collins (owners of the Old Mill Restaurant) have been asked by the mortgage company to postpone construction of the planned renovation until the money market straightens out with livable rates.

The Liquor Control Commission has approved the use of the Liquor License, subject to the making of several improvements within the present structure of the Old Mill at a cost of approximately $25,000.00. The required improvements can be made and the Old Mill will be allowed to operate with the Liquor License.

It is the present intention, as a short term measure only, to make the improvements required by the Liquor Control Commission, and to begin to make use of the Liquor License as soon as possible.

Mayor Vernon commented the owners are paying $500 per month interest on the Liquor License. No action is required on the part of Council but should acknowledge the communication.

Councilman Nichols suggested letting the owners know Council is agreeable.

COMMUNICATION FROM CITIZENS: Mr. Thomas Wheaton, 412 Horton, expressed concern at the sudden appearance of no parking signs on the street where he lives and asked the reason why.

Mayor Vernon stated it came on recommendation of the Police Department.

Mr. Wheaton asked if the Police Department supported their recommendation by reports. He asked if he was to assume this would continue to the rest of the streets or just his.

Mr. Wheaton stated Rayson Street has restricted parking on one side only. He mentioned the area is zoned residential. He also stated the real problem is the traffic. There have been complaints made and the City has looked at this. An old study has shown during peak hours about 170 cars travel on this street while other residential streets have no more than 30. He stated traffic is extremely high in the evening. He cannot park in front of his own home and while he can understand the Police Department's concern, felt it unfair to the residents on the street.

Mayor Vernon explained the problem with cars parked on the street which forces traffic into the opposite lane on the curve.

Mr. Wheaton stated other areas in town get speed bumps and traffic control to diminish traffic. He also mentioned other streets have parking on one side.

Mayor Vernon would ask the Police Department for data as to why the no parking on both sides of the street and will make a determination by the next Council Meeting.

Councilman DeRusha asked if the prohibited parking could be at certain time periods during the day.

Mr. Paul Folino, 20556 Clement Blvd., read a petition and presented same to Council for their consideration requesting speed bumps on Lexington Blvd. He asked Council to look into the problem for them.

Councilman Johnston remarked there are two areas in the City where there is no parking. Time should be allowed the City to find out if the bumps do help solve the problems. They are being tried here on an experimental basis.

Mr. Folino agreed with Councilman Johnston and asked if there were another alternative that would help them.

Mayor Vernon stated this would be referred to the Police Department for a report back. He stated Council in no way thinks of the speed bumps as the ultimate way of controlling speed.

Mrs. Coolman, 525 Fairbrook, asked if there were any word of the Bonner problem.

Mayor Vernon commented the City Attorney will have a report on this.

PUBLIC HEARING - PROPOSED ORDINANCE TITLE 7, CHAPTER 12, CITY OF NORTHVILLE CITY ORDINANCE:

The City Clerk read the Notice of Public Hearing as published.

Mayor Vernon opened the Public Hearing and asked for comments.

Mr. Nancy Soper, Director of Curriculum, asked the Council to review and consider including a local channel for educational, senior citizens and childrens, fine arts and health related programs and numerous coverings of local City Council meetings.

The Northville Public Schools are at the beginning of studying a possibility of a consortium which would affect a wide audience. On behalf of the public schools she was requesting a local channel. A set of guidelines in establishing a local channel would be necessary.

Councilman Johnston advised Mr. Soper that a local channel was already in the ordinance.

Mr. Dorn, representing Omnicon, explained they would have a channel and it is implemented in the program with a local studio in this area.

The City Attorney reviewed the ordinance and the declining factor was Omnicon had already obtained franchises with surrounding areas.

Mr. Jerry Mittman, 997 Springfield Ct., asked if non-exclusive franchise meant other firms could also come in. This was answered in the affirmative.

Mr. Paul Folino, school board member, stated he had not read in the ordinance the part that identified the local channels as guaranteed service.

Mr. Raines, Omnicon stated it was a guaranteed service.

Discussion on the density of less than 70 homes per square mile. This would affect more the Township which is more sparsely settled.

Mr. Whitaker asked that the local channels be unconditionally guaranteed in the ordinance.

Ms. Anne Mannisto, Northville Librarian, stated she would like to see the Ordinance modified to include the Public Library as an originator.

Mayor Vernon mentioned this would be included in the category "Public Buildings".

Mr. Paul Folino, 20556 Clement Blvd., asked what would happen if the City became unhappy with Omnicon.

The City Attorney explained another company could come in and the City could grant another franchise.

Mayor Vernon asked if Omnicon could sell their interest.

Mr. Dorn answered yes if for some reason Omnicon wanted to transfer ownership.

Mayor Vernon closed the Public Hearing and opened it to Council for discussion.

Mayor Vernon mentioned there was no rate schedule included in the ordinance.

Mr. Dorn commented the rates are not a part of the ordinance. He explained proposed services are included, also certain schedules. However, rate changes would require ordinance amendments. He also stated the rates are guaranteed not to rise for two years and Omnicon will submit any changes to Council for review.

Councilman DeRusha mentioned if the rates were part of the ordinance, Council would have to hold a public hearing.

Mayor Vernon agreed.

The City Attorney inquired if any other area has required a review of the rates.

Mr. Dorn stated they have required a review.

Mayor Vernon asked if the City would help subsidize, other areas because we are denser.

Mr. Dorn stated it would be less expensive per mile for the City.

The City Attorney advised that the City can review but it does not have the right to veto The company would still have the final say as to what the rates would be.

Mayor Vernon commented he would like to see the Council have some control over it.

Councilman DeRusha stated the subscriber has the choice of whether he wants the service or not. In his opinion, it is reasonable for the City to have the right of review, however he felt the market place will determine whether they are charging a fair price.

Councilman Johnston agrees with Councilman DeRusha and suggested services will be the determining factor.

Mr. Leo Hoarty, Omnicon, stated he was proud of the rate schedule which is less than a company near here. It is the company's philosophy to have lower rates and supply better service. He explained the financial backing. He stated Omnicon would always be lower than many other companies. He pledged they would not come back and constantly ask for raises.

John Raines, Omnicon, stated their policy was not to increase rates but increase customers. There would be 4 access channels to the people in the community. The company is working very hard on that and they would be tied into the school system. Omnicon is committed to building your communication system.

The City Manager asked if other communities get a feature, would they extend it to all the areas. He also asked if the 4 access channels was covered in the ordinance.

Mr. Raines commented it was in their letter of commitment to the City.

The City Manager suggested this be put in the ordinance.

Mr. Raines agreed.

Councilman DeRusha stated he would like to review the ordinance and would like to see the changes incorporated to be acted on at the next meeting.

Mayor Vernon mentioned he would like to see included the locally originated services.

The City Manager asked to have a reference to have the right to negotiate what other areas are doing.

Mayor Vernon instructed the City Attorney to get with Mr. Dorn to incorporate the changes in the ordinance to be acted on at the next meeting.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Gardner to adjourn the Public Hearing until the next regular meeting.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

HIGH STREET ACCESS ROUTE W. Henriksen: Communication from Mr. Wes Henriksen, 247 West Street, asking for authorization from the City to use High Street extending south of Baseline as an access route to lots 616 and 617.

The City Manager explained Mr. Henriksen has a potential buyer for the lots and is asking for an access road.

Discussion on the vacation of Walnut Street followed.

The City Manager stated there should be an understanding that if the road is to be built there is no liability to the City.

The City Attorney commented Mr. Henriksen could be granted a non-exclusive easement.

Discussion on the cost of paving the road followed.

Mayor Vernon asked the City Manager to present estimated figures and the cost sharing on the lots involved in the paving.

SEWAGE RATES: Communication from Duane R. Egeland, Wayne County Board of Public Works re Financing agreement - Huron Valley Wastewater Control System.

The City Manager stated no action was required but Council should look at the budget.

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

A Democratic senator used campaign funds to fix his teeth, buy new glasses and make payments on his motor home. Secretary of State Richard Austin even ruled that he could have purchased satin sheets for his bed with campaign funds.

A Michigan Supreme Court justice candidate didn't file campaign reports in a timely fashion.

A Democratic representative has refused to file a report on his campaign contributions and expenditures.

A probate court judge candidate defied court action against him for his refusing to file any statements in his primary campaign. The case was dropped.

Secretary of State Richard Austin neglected to initiate action upon a filed complaint against the United Auto Workers Union Political Action Committee for directing money to several Democratic senate and house candidates in excess of the legal limit.

All of these actions took place after the Michigan legislature passed the Campaign Finance Act last year. If not a direct violation, they certainly violate the intent of that Act.

The measure was passed by the legislature in an attempt to open campaign practices in this state to public scrutiny. After the Watergate fiasco at the federal level, public pressure was on politicians to take some action that would restore citizen confidence in the political process. The legislature—in enacting this statute—affirmed its belief that Michigan residents have the right to know who is contributing to political candidates in Michigan and how much they are giving.

What does the Michigan Campaign Finance Act do?

Supposedly, it requires candidates for all public offices in Michigan to report to the secretary of state the names of persons or organizations who contribute to their campaigns; limits the amount of contributions which they may accept and supposedly penalizes those who fail to comply with its provisions.

The act was given its first real test in last November's general election. The results revealed some glaring loopholes other communities.

Henningsen said it was "very difficult" to make the recommendations in such a short period of time.

"The whole idea was to have enough time to give the board some valuable input to assist them in preparing the budget," he said. "We were expecting to have until January or February to complete our report."

The commission was requested to have the report ready as soon as possible so they "did what we could," Henningsen said.

"We were prevented, because of the time constraint, from presenting the board with some guidelines to set up a review for employees to determine status.

"We are more than willing to do further analysis if the board deems it necessary," he concluded.

In addition to the salary recommendations listed in the report, the commission also made some suggestions concerning the salary of a professional manager if the township were to adopt a charter form of government.

The commission recommended that such a manager be paid between $28,500 and $32,000, which it said is the "going rate" for the manager of a community the size of Northville Township.

son, though it was very mild in its approach, caused conflict between members of the township board of trustees.

Some trustees felt that there was no need to push the DNR to possibly impose a construction ban at this point.

Spraw however, said that would be a last resort.

"We would not impose a total ban unless we had sufficient evidence and data to show that it was necessary," he said.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

A little more than a year ago the half-century old P & A Theatre reopened in Northville with a fresh, old look and a new name.

The Marquis presented Camelot on-stage as its opener. In reality life for the Marquis has not been as happy as that characterized in the legendary city.

It has enjoyed some success with the big bands and vocal groups of the forties on stage. And most recently the Harmonicats attracted good audiences, but not packed houses.

Last February motion pictures returned. It would be kind to say attendance has been sparse.

Monday night, for example, I sat in the 500-seat Marquis with about 35 others and saw "Breaking Away."

It's a tender story of town boys in the university city of Bloomington, Indiana. In particular the story centers around the life of one of the town youths, called "cutters." His ability as a bicyclist leads to a strengthening of understanding and relationship with his father and finally takes him right into Indiana University.

Anyway, movies at the Marquis are not drawing people. At least not in sufficient numbers to justify the cost of operations.

The driving force behind the Marquis is Inga Zayti, a German innkeeper's daughter.

In fact, Inga attended hotel school in Switzerland and later managed her father's hotel in the Harz Mountains in Germany. It's still operated by her parents. This background may explain the enterprise she demonstrates in running a successful dress shop while struggling to keep an old theater open in a small town.

Inga's thick, German accent complements her determination to make the Marquis succeed. But, she concedes, movies may be on the way out.

"Vee give it von year, maybe less; I don't know."

Next she's talking excitedly about what might attract crowds. Three stage shows for a package price of nineteen dollars: An Evening with Cole Porter, Woody Herman and Fiddler on the Roof.

That would be early next year. Coming up for Christmas, how about Ervin Monroe, Detroit Symphony flutist, for a Sunday matinee?

And maybe we can attract major industry to hold meetings and training sessions at the Marquis making use of the screen facilities and stage. But we'd need restaurant facilities; maybe we could start a restaurant; can we get a liquor license? What's happening at the Old Mill?

Her mind races. But she comes back to this fact.

Northville may lose its movie theater unless attendance rises dramatically. Any ideas? Inga would welcome advice. Like many in the community she recognizes the value of the theater as an attraction, and as a part of small town America that she would like to preserve.

"Vot," she asks, "did vee do wrong?"

When 106,000 people jam themselves into a stadium to watch a football game, it has to be rated a major attraction. And I was among those who witnessed the exciting M-OSU game Saturday.

Like Woody Hayes said on the J. P. McCarthy show Friday before the game, it is the greatest football rivalry in the nation.

And as an ex-sports writer, I get just as hyped-up as the next fan about football.

But you have to wonder just what is important when coaches are so intent upon winning that they become little gods. Their conduct is hardly an example for those they purportedly are teaching.

Even in the face of idiotic questions from over-zealous reporters a good coach will maintain control and remember that handling the press is part of his responsibility.

I've often thought that for one year I would like to see the media handle all sports in this manner:

In Friday's editions (radio, TV, etc.) the following one-liner on an inside page: The football team from the University of Michigan will play a team from Notre Dame of South Bend, Indiana on Saturday afternoon at Ann Arbor. Game time is 2 p.m.

In Sunday's editions it would be reported that "Michigan defeated the football team from Notre Dame Saturday on a balmy afternoon in Ann Arbor, 14-13." No more coverage all week long.

When you think about it, the press (media) just may be responsible for the hysteria, infantile conduct and exorbitant salaries paid athletes. For that matter, I wonder what a coach like Bo would receive in salary if there were no press coverage?

Oh, I know. The press has to sell newspapers. That's why they provide all the coverage.

I don't buy that, either.

AN OPTIMISTIC VOICE

Speaking for Myself

Thanksgiving?

A PESSIMISTIC TURKEY

Thanks

If you forget for a moment that your turkey dinner will cost you more this year (not to mention the gas it takes to drive to grandmother's house), there are many more things to be thankful for than you can possibly think of.

If you are a sports fan, for instance, be thankful that the Detroit Lions can only lose four more games this year. Also, this will definitely be the year that Michigan does not lose the Rose Bowl.

Chances are, there is no one left to write a book about Watergate. That's something to be thankful for.

Actually, for those of you in search of silver linings, there is much to be thankful for in 1979.

Of course, for many of us, there are the usual things — health, comfort, friends and loved ones.

But there is something else that should not be dismissed.

Roughly translated, the Chinese symbol for "crisis" means "dangerous opportunity."

There are, of course, grave problems today which cause much concern. But the energy needed to solve these problems presents a challenge that is very exciting to consider.

The chance for failure is great; but that makes the rewards for success so much greater. The potential for what can be, rather than what is, can make life worth living.

For this, we can all be thankful.

An optimistic voice

No thanks

Sure, you folks make a big deal out of Thanksgiving. But look at it from my point of view.

Do you think it is some big honor because you call it Turkey Day? That privilege is somewhat dimmed when you are being carried out of the kitchen on a platter. Any day you want to trade places, it's all right with me. Call it Harold's Day or Maude's Day or whatever.

Why in the world did you have to pick on us turkeys anyway? Why not the eagle? You think that's a hot shot bird anyway. Or how about the peacock? If it's good enough for NBC, it ought to be good enough for you.

Actually, it's not fair for you to concentrate on fowl all the time. What's wrong with a nice Thanksgiving Day macaroni dinner? Or spaghetti? I've heard it goes well with cranberries.

I don't care what you do as long as you leave us turkeys alone. If you are so fond of drum sticks, then invite Buddy Rich to dinner. Just leave me alone — in the straw, so to speak.

No sir, I won't be thankful tomorrow. Unless, that is, the whole nation suddenly turns vegetarian.

Photographic Sketches . . .

By JIM GALBRAITH

Inquisitive

Spindly brown stems, bowed under the weight of knarled zinnia blossoms, nod their reminders each time the gardener looks out the kitchen window.

"Are you going to leave us here all winter?" they seem to ask.

And from over his shoulder, the cajoling wife echoes the backyard plea: "For goodness sakes, when are you going to dig out those dead zinnias? The yard looks a mess."

Indeed it does look awful.

And they really ought to be dug out. Dug out and tossed onto a pile and burned. Yes, burned.

But society has decreed an 11th commandment: "Thou shalt not burn leaves, nor light a fire under rotting zinnia stalks."

(Incidentally, have you noticed all the good things society has been doing for us lately? Like inventing and mandating no-lead gas? Or, requiring "barrier free" ramps to racquet ball courts?)

No matter what the law or the neighbors say, autumn was made for burning nature's refuse, insists the gardener. No ifs or buts about it. The smell of burning leaves is as natural and pleasant as a cow barn or rain on a roof.

Frankly, the law stinks more than the smoke, he points out.

Incredulously, the law prohibits the backyard burning of zinnia stalks, but it permits the gardener to "foul" the air by carting the zinnia stalks indoors (as he has done on occasion to spite the law) and burning them in his fireplace.

All of which gives rise to a variety of interesting questions:

Why is the chimney smoke of zinnia stalks environmentally less offensive?

Or why is the burning of birch logs in the fireplace legal while the burning of those logs

Fears bureaucracy with charter

To the Editor:
Advantages listed by proponents of a charter township give additional powers to the township board. Without a vote of the people, the board may acquire more property, if the funds are available.

Furthermore, a charter township may create and appoint additional officers and prescribe duties for officers in addition to those prescribed by law (MCLA42.9). The cumulative effect of such powers is that of creating a much larger bureaucracy.

The Township board may appoint a township superintendent and prescribe his duties as outlined in the statute:

- "To see that all laws and township ordinances are enforced;
- To manage and supervise all public improvements, works and undertakings of the township;
- To have charge of the construction, repair, maintenance, lighting and cleaning of streets, sidewalks, bridges, pavements, sewers, and of all the public buildings or other property belonging to the township;
- To manage and supervise the operation of all township utilities;
- To be responsible for the preservation of property, tools and appliances of the township;
- To see that all terms and conditions imposed in favor of the township or its inhabitants in any public utility franchise, or in any contract, are faithfully kept and performed;
- To attend all meetings of the township board, with the right to take part in discussions; but without the right to vote;

h. To be a member, ex officio, of all committees of the township board;

i. To prepare and administer the annual budget under policies formulated by the township board and keep the said board fully advised at all times as to the financial condition and needs of the township;

j. To recommend to the township board for adoption such measures as he may deem necessary or expedient;

k. To be responsible to the township board for the efficient administration of all departments of the township government;

l. To act as the purchasing agent for the township or, under his responsibility, delegate such duties to some other officer or employee;

m. To conduct all sales of personal property which the township board may authorize to be sold;

n. To assume all the duties and responsibilities as personnel director of all township employees or delegates such duties to some other officer or employee;

o. To perform such other duties as may be prescribed by this act or required of him by ordinance or by direction of the township board, or which are not assigned to some other official in conformity with the provisions of this act."

Our township board has already begun the process of buying additional land for additions to the township hall. Why? Are they so confident a charter proposal will pass? Will we be allowed the opportunity to vote on the proposal?

Super is blamed for misinformation

To the Editor:
In last week's editorial you addressed yourself to a statement made by a "letter writer" as "an obvious, harmful error that cries for clarification."

The writer had stated, "the school district lost $300,000 as a direct result of Mainstreet '78 Project in downtown Northville." But, actually, as you stated, the figure lost is $33,000 ... a long cry from $300,000.

We, that "letter writer" and myself first "learned" of the "lost $300,000" at the recent budget hearing held by the board of education ... it wasn't a figment of our imagination ... but was part of the "facts" presented to the public by the superintendent of schools, Mr. Larry Nichols.

The superintendent, in his statement, compared last year's "income and revenue" with that of 1979-1980 and stated: "Our district lost $300,000 as a result of Mainstreet '78 Downtown Project," and thus the justification of the proposed budget's expenditures.

At great length, Mr. Nichols was questioned by that "letter writer" and myself regarding the "lost $300,000" ... yet he steadfastly held his position and repeatedly said, "we lost $300,000." No board member corrected him ... no retractions were made ... and we accepted the superintendent's statement as "fact" ... yet it was a lie.

Thank you for the clarification. It pleases me to know the truth.
N. Nick Serkalan

EDITOR'S NOTE: At the most recent board meeting Superintendent Larry Nichols acknowledged that the impact of Mainstreet '78 is indeed only $29,339 and not $300,000 which he tentatively quoted at a budget meeting October 29.

'Press withholds important facts'

To the Editor:
I realize this will not get the wide, expansive exposure of Mr. Sliger's editorial 11-14-79. However, I note that "tax dollars THIS YEAR from the business district that did not go to the school district is $33,000" does not further state that the tax dollars from the next year, and the next year, etc., will also not go to the school district; this continues for many years until the Bonds are paid for. This will be a tremendous amount.

Also, Schoolcraft College funds are a part of these tax dollars. Therefore, local taxes, including Livonia, will be affected.

The "gain" from the new Square tenants is only a replacement of previous tenants' tax dollars who moved because of poor City planning and lack of cooperation and communication from the old local businessmen. (Direct from former tenant.)

I am fond of the City of Northville and wish to live side-by-side with community cooperation, but I do not like the "tail wagging the dog."

What the newspapers print and what they do not print becomes a powerful tool!

(Mrs.) Dorothy Gault
42809 Itham Court

EDITOR'S NOTE: The end item in last week's editorial column sought only to correct an allegation that the local school district had "lost $300,000" this year because of the Main Street '78 project. Full details of how tax increment financing works have been explained in this newspaper numerous times. It has been reported also that bond issue payments continue for 15 years. Within five years, however, excess tax revenues (above bond payment requirements) will have been generated by the improvement program, and they will be distributed to the various governmental units. These dollars are in addition to existing tax collections from the downtown district, which continue undisturbed by Main Street '78. It is not correct to state these facts have not been printed; nor is it accurate to classify a program approved by voters (612 YES to 186 NO on July 31, 1979) as a case of the "tail wagging the dog."

Thanks community

To the Editor:
On Halloween the Northville Police Department sponsored a candy metal detector service at the city fire hall.

As officer in charge of the program, I would like to publicly thank those responsible for its existence and success: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Moon of Moonkin Toys, 446 S. Main; Ray Lipon of I.T.T. Corporation, Plymouth; Michigan State Police Explorers Troop, Northville post; Northville Fire Department.

The Northville Police Department intends to continue use of the program and we urge that everyone make use of it — for your child's sake.

in the law, which need to be closed if the act is to be effective.

Many of the violations which occurred in the last election were not necessarily intentional. They resulted in many cases because the act is too vague and weak.

As I reported to you earlier this year, my Republican colleagues and I in the senate sponsored a bill which would close these loopholes by such methods as requiring disclosure of the names of the organizers and administrators of all political action committees, prohibiting the creation of more than one political action committee at the same level, disallowing the transferring of funds, between independent committees, and requiring the reporting of expenditures exceeding $250 for internal partisan communications, such as mailings, telephone banks, and so forth, by committees.

The Republican-proposed legislation would also clearly define the boundaries of the term "contribution" so as to assure contributors their rights of refusing and prohibit candidates from using their campaign funds for routine living expenses.

It would also increase the penalties levied upon candidates who fail to follow its guidelines and would give the attorney general the legal muscle to prosecute those who violate the act.

This bill was introduced in April of 1979. At that time, Senator Irwin, who chairs the senate municipalities and elections committee to which the legislation was referred, promised to hold public hearings and schedule early action on the measure.

It is now the middle of November and there still has been no action taken by Senator Irwin — yet the 1980 election is just around the corner.

However, just a couple of weeks ago, Senator Irwin and other Democrats introduced their package of campaign finance reform bills — 17 in all — which he said would "strengthen the present act" by closing the loopholes in the present law.

What these bills don't do is much more alarming than what the measures purportedly do.

Under the Democratic-sponsored legislation "blind committees" could still be established, an independent committee would not be prohibited from contributing or transferring funds into another independent committee. Nothing in the proposed legislation would prevent "donations" into an officeholder expense fund from being utilized as a contribution to a candidate campaign committee. And, as could be expected, the package does nothing to address the problems of using campaign funds for the personal living expenses of the candidate.

in the backyard barbecue is illegal?

Is coal burned in a furnace cleaner than leaves burned outdoors? Which is less offensive: burning indoor garbage or burning outdoor garbage? Which smells better?

Why are backyard barbecues legal but fire pits and trash incinerators illegal? If charcoal may be burned outdoors, why not coal?

Pondering these things, the gardener nods back at the dead zinnias, ignores his wife and continues to procrastinate.

District court set for study

possibilities worthy of study and recommendation by an advisory committee. Should a single court facility be created and if so, where, and in a new or existing building are examples of questions to be addressed, the judge said.

The only existing facility that he has heard proposed for a possible court site are the vacant Wayne County Child Development Center buildings.

Concerning escalating court costs, Garber said a single centralized court facility would not require the three additional court clerks proposed in the new budget. This and other similar costs are examples of the kinds of expenditures that could be reduced by the $100,000 cited, Garber indicated.

Multiple court facilities cost more than would a single facility, he stated.

Besides the increased costs for additional clerks (the outlay for clerks is increased by 26 percent, from $151,588 to $190,935), Garber cited two other budget categories that are increasing substantially:

- Blue Cross-Blue Shield, reflecting added personnel and increasing rates, will increase 100 percent—from $20,000 to $40,000.

- Probation Department, up 77 percent, from $35,586 to $60,000.

Concerning the probation department, however, Garber said the higher figure simply is a "catch up" outlay since previous budgets for this department simply have not reflected the true costs.

Furthermore, Garber noted that the $60,000 proposed probation department budget does not include all of the department's outlay. A large share of the outlay is recovered through revenues generated by the department, he explained.

Following are other proposed costs in the new 1980 budget:

Judge's supplement, remains the same at $12,696 (however, council is considering raising this figure since it has been unchanged for years); magistrate, $7,200; court reporters, $37,100; overtime, $2,000; part-time help, $6,240; bookkeeper, $6,240; court officer, $15,000; contracted service (court reporter), $1,500;

Life insurance, $5,000; disability insurance, $1,800; pension, $13,567; unemployment, $1,785; hospital reimbursement, $300; dental insurance, $7,000; optical insurance, $1,000; payroll and FICA, $17,226;

Printed forms, $8,400; general supplies, $8,400; postage, $5,000; telephone, $7,000; labor negotiations, $500; office machine lease, $2,000; mileage expense, $2,000; professional fees, $5,500; library and seminars, $2,750; court appointed attorneys, $10,000; other supplies and expenses, $2,300; membership dues, $750; service agreements, $1,500; insurance and bonds, $1,500; maintenance/office machine, $550; and capital outlay, $7,000.

Here are the percentage of increases for the three general classifications of the budget:

Salaries, wages and contracted costs, up 24 percent; benefits and payroll taxes, up 54 percent; and other expenses, up 42 percent.

The costs in the proposed new budget would be shared this way:

Township of Canton, $223,623; City of Northville, $99,389; and City of Plymouth, $173,929. The shared costs are based on experienced case loads in the three communities.

Amerman access drive approved

An access drive off of Eight Mile to Amerman Elementary School may be built before the snow flies if it doesn't fly too soon.

The Northville Board of Education has accepted the bid of Sard Construction Company to build an access drive off of Eight Mile to the Amerman parking lot for a cost not to exceed $19,250. If the ground does not freeze soon, the project can be completed before winter, architects say.

The drive would probably be an exit for buses which enter the Amerman front parking lot from North Center. Currently the buses must come in and exit at the same driveway which creates traffic jams.

When the new exit is finished a fence will probably be put up along the west side of the parking lot to divide the parking lot from the playground, Superintendent Larry Nichols said. Arrangements for the fence will be considered at a later date, he added.

Nancy Orr crowned new Junior Miss

Nancy Marie Orr became Northville Junior Miss for 1979-80 Saturday night as she won over seven other talented Northville High School senior girls in the Jaycee-sponsored competition held at Meads Mill Junior High.

The new Junior Miss who plans to attend University of Michigan and is hoping for a career in medicine played a classical piano solo in the talent competition.

She is the daughter of Kenneth and Mary Ann Orr of 18227 Jamestown Circle and is a five-foot-six, blue-eyed brunette.

Kelly Schulz was first runner-up in the competition which, judges said, was extremely close. Second runner-up was Karen Kluesner. Miss Schulz sang a solo while Miss Kluesner's talent performance was a ballet dance.

In addition to their talent, the young women were judged on poise and appearance, scholastic achievement, personality, knowledge and perception as well as mental alertness.

Other contestants and their talent performances were Sue Danol, dramatic reading; Mary Ann Darrow, jazz dance; Kristina Quinn, vocal solo, Sally Kernohan, saxophone solo; and Mary Westervelt, disco dance.

As has become a tradition, the Northville High Jazz Band played for the competition for which Nick Serkaian served as master of ceremonies. Jaycee President Ron Barnum welcomed the Junior Miss contestants and the audience.

Judges were Bill Premin, producer and director of stage performances at the Marquis Theatre; his wife Judy, vocal music instructor at Oakland University; R. William Joyner, Wayne County Road Commissioner; Jack Hoffman, editor and assistant to the publisher, The Northville Record; and Miss Florence Panattoni, former administrator in the Northville Public Schools.

In addition to the talent sequence, the candidates appeared in an evening gown competition and entertained the audience with a dance skit during intermission.

Organ gift to bring music to Mill Race church

By JEAN DAY

After reserving the church and talking to the minister, one of the most important concerns of most brides-to-be is the wedding music. Thanks to a generous donation last week to New School Church in Mill Race Historical Village, brides who choose to be married in this yesteryear setting now will be able to walk down the aisle to beautiful organ music.

Dr. and Mrs. Russell Atchison have donated her Hammond concert organ to the Northville Historical Society. Last weekend Dr. Atchison personally wired the instrument for use in the New School Church.

"The tone is magnificent for that building," reports Ruth Burkman this week after she and her husband Jack, chairman of the historical society, heard Ruth Mary Atchison play for them informally.

Mrs. Atchison explains that the organ has been unused for four years. It remained in the music room of their former Rogers Street home when they exchanged houses with son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray J. Casterline-II.

Mrs. Atchison has been a musician since she was four years old, beginning very young to take piano lessons given for young people at Albion College in her then-home town. She later specialized in organ, taking lessons from Dudley Vernor at Albion. He is known as the author of "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi."

While Mrs. Atchison, then Ruth Mary Baldwin, majored in journalism, her minor was music. She came to Northville when her father, Richard Baldwin, became publisher of The Northville Record.

In announcing the acquisition, Mrs. Burkman says she hopes the organ can be used for many occasions, including perhaps a Christmas program.

Mill Race aglow

Last Friday James Harris, former historical society president and Mill Race volunteer, was giving a gray weather-coating to the newly installed lights in the village. They officially were to be turned on in a Festival of Lights ceremony Sunday evening.

The 18 distinctive brass lamps are the original design of Donald Fee, another dedicated volunteer, who searched out a firm to make them. The cylinders are plastic, hopefully making them breakage-proof.

BPW to honor founder

A memorial tribute to Beatrice Carlson, founder and a past president of the Northville Chapter of Business and Professional Women, is planned for the dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

Senator R. Robert Geake has been invited by the legislation committee headed by Hazel Kunz to be guest speaker. He will

Clara Farmer offers treat to tiny Carey Middlebrook, held by her mother, Mrs. Jenne Middlebrook

'Little people' are going to miss Clara Farmer, a special friend

"Sometimes—you know how it is with kids—they might not have quite enough to buy what they want; so we loan them a couple of cents."

"They remember and later will tell me, 'I owe you two cents'."

Clara Farmer, owner for the past 17 years of the Little People and Little General Shoppe at 103 East Main, was speaking about young customers of her shop's popular candy counter.

Football cards are a stock item at the counter which she added about seven years ago.

It and the bucket with the smiling face filled with "one treat each" for young customers are among the reasons that Mrs. Farmer and her business have so many young friends.

There was a slight catch in Clara Farmer's voice last week as she talked about selling the children's store and retiring to Florida with her husband Jack.

"I'll miss the kids," she admitted, confiding that even her relatives tell her the store "is my family." The Farmers have no children of their own.

As children, from preschoolers with their mothers to those as old as 18 drop by and learn of Clara Farmer's plans to retire to the home she and her husband bought a year ago at Port Charlotte, Florida, she tells them that there's one thing she'd like.

"Go home and bring me a snapshot and put your name and address on the back."

When she gets to Florida, Mrs. Farmer plans to make a scrapbook with the pictures of her many special friends and souvenirs from the business.

She bought the business 17 years ago last June from Mary Ware who had operated it for a short time. It was the former Jack and Jill Children's Shop owned for 15 years previously by the late Isabelle Wilques.

It was located in the present Marquis Boutique shop west of the theater. Two years later the Little People and Little General Shoppe moved to the present location.

"The boys pushed me down her," Mrs. Farmer recalled, saying there had not been room enough for boys' merchandise in the former shop.

(Dottie) and Charles Cain of Novi, who took over the business November 1, say they intend to do just that.

Last week they were unpacking the R Gee line of sailor suits and dresses that have become classics in the shop.

They also will continue, they affirm, the handcraft items, such as quilts and dolls, that Mrs. Farmer began to stock about six years ago. Some 20 craftspersons, including women who are retired, six months' rest, but Clara Farmer declared not. "We just want to enjoy ourselves," she said.

Noting that her family has lived in the area since 1935 or 1936, Mrs. Farmer said she will be leaving quite a number of relatives here. "They'll be down visiting," she predicted as she mentioned her brother Fred Robinson with whom they lived in the family home on Taft.

Mrs. Farmer's mother died a year ago last May. She would not have thought of leaving Northville, otherwise, she declared.

A sister, June Wilmet, who has worked in the store at times, lives in Plymouth. Another, Dorothy Irland, is in Bloomfield Township while sister Madeline Bidwell is in Great Falls, Montana. Another brother Richard lives in Northville while a third, Edward, is in Indiana.

Richard's daughter Michelle worked in the store until leaving to attend Central Michigan University.

Other long-time employees have been Marie Nutter and Maurine Alexander.

Before buying the shop, Mrs. Farmer worked across the street in Freydl's Women's Store for 15 years. "It was a small town then," she said of the community.

She added that she thinks there's still a need for her kind of store.

"Small shops," she emphasized, "do have to give service. It costs money, but we wrap free and give discounts for senior citizens."

"We make custom orders for such things as baseball suits and try to help the customer."

"We really try to ask the age and size of a baby," she illustrated.

Clara Farmer last week praised her successor in business for caring as much as she did about attractive window displays. She seemed satisfied that the traditions of the Little People's Shop will be continued.

It's quite a standard to follow.

Clara Farmer proved this herself when she mentioned proudly, "last Christmas season we only had three exchanges!"

Shop owner's asking youngsters for snapshots for retirement scrapbook

"I'm a maverick for boys," she added, pointing out that her stock "even in the baby department" is divided equally for boys and girls.

"It used to be that a mother would come in and buy seven or eight dresses for girls and the boy would get a pair of pants."

Not so in Clara Farmer's store today. As Christmas merchandise was being lifted from boxes, it was apparent that little boys will be every bit as fashionable as little girls in such clothes as Tyrolean-embroidered green velvet pants with white shirts.

When you're leaving a business into which you have put so much of yourself, it helps to know that the new owners plan to continue your policies. Dorothy sewers in Tennessee and a former area resident who moved to New Hampshire, contribute to the supply.

"It makes you feel good that we've done them some good," Mrs. Farmer observed, saying she has tried to price their work fairly. Crochet covers, pillow dolls, Raggedy Anns and Andys, and other craft merchandise, Mrs. Farmer estimated, constitute 15 percent of the total sold.

"People come looking for something they are not going to see every place," she noted.

One point Mrs. Farmer always has cared about in her shop is cleanliness. The store and the window have to be fresh and clean, she declared, mentioning that her husband has been a big help in this way, especially since his retirement from Ford Motor Company a year ago.

He has been waiting for her to sell the shop and enjoy the home they purchased in Port Charlotte above Naples on the west coast of Florida.

West Berliner's trying life off German 'island'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Three foreign exchange students have come to spend a year at Northville High School. They are all girls this year: Yumiko Takahashi and Yurie Miyahara from Japan and Cornelia Panneck from West Berlin, West Germany. In the first of three interviews, the Record talked with Cornelia Panneck.

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

When 15-year-old Cornelia Panneck got a letter last summer from Youth For Understanding telling her she had been selected to spend a year in Northville, Michigan, she ran to the West Berlin library and looked at the atlas. Try as she might, she couldn't find Northville on the map. "I went to all the libraries and looked in every atlas, and I still couldn't find out where Northville was," she says. But in August she made the trip to Detroit with 157 other YFU students and met her American family, Georg and Maurita Samulkevitch, who live in Whisper Woods subdivision. The Samulkevitchs are among the youngest couple ever selected by YFU to host a foreign exchange student. Now firmly entrenched as a full-fledged American Northville High School girl, Cornelia (shortened to Connie by her friends here) is finding that while people here are much the same as in Germany, American customs are something to be amazed about. Take school, for instance. In West Berlin's equivalent of 10th grade, last year Connie took her fourth year of French, sixth year of English, German, Latin, physics, chemistry, math, sports, geography, history, art and biology. In Germany, Connie goes to school six days per week year-round. This year she is taking French, home economics, metals, mass media and American history. Her favorite class? "Lunch hour is my best hour," she says. "I learn a lot in my classes but I want to know the people and how they act." ## Cynthia Carrow sets winter date

Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Carrow, Jr., of 42244 Ludlow Court announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Cynthia Lee to James T. Kavanaugh of Dearborn. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kavanaugh of Dearborn. The bride-elect is a 1973 graduate of Northville High School and is employed at Don Massey Cadillac, Incorporated, in Plymouth. Her fiancé is a graduate of Fordson High School and is employed with Miel/Sysco Corporation in Detroit. They have set a February 9, 1980, wedding date.

in Berlin. "It was so fun. We don't have dances at our school. We don't wear long dresses or get flowers," she grins. "In my country we do not have such a word as 'date.' We just go in groups with a lot of students." Connie said she is picking up American slang like "wierd, strange, stupid and dumb" from school and commercials on television. Meijer's, Cedar Point, the malls, supermarkets, seeing people wearing shorts in the city and the spread-out buildings are slowly becoming familiar to Connie, who has lived in West Berlin all her life. She is disappointed that American teens are not more knowledgeable about world politics and do not seem to care about the plight of a divided Germany which causes her city to be surrounded by the Berlin Wall in the middle of East Germany. "I do not feel I live on an island in West Berlin because I was born there," Connie says. "But I used to live next to the wall. It makes you mad. You can go and look over the wall and see people who are really your brothers and sisters."

Bahama cruise follows Waterford ceremony

Dorinda Lynn Martinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Martinson of Pontiac, escorted her down the aisle of Central United Methodist Church of Waterford recently as she became the bride of John Alan Danules of Northville. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Danules of Margate, Florida, waited with him in front of the altar, which was decorated with yellow and white flowers and Boston fern. Both sets of parents then responded "We do," to the question, "Who gives John and Dorinda to be wedded in holy matrimony?" The parents then lit the candles later used by the couple to light a symbolic unity candle. The Reverend Ralph D. Churchill officiated at the double ring rites. Soloist Tina Lewis sang "The Wedding Song" and a duet, "Evergreen" with Sue Ann Coryell. The bride hand made her original gown of satin and Chantilly lace which was fashioned with a full circle skirt with detachable train. Cuffs of the full, gathered sleeves and the bodice were adorned with hand-beading. The bride also designed and made her hat of matching fabric, taking six months to complete the ensemble. Cindy Kahner of Cadillac was honor maid. Bridesmaids were Cheryl Danules, sister of the bridegroom, Debbie Collins and Darlene Martinson, sisters of the bride, and Sue Anne Coryell. Natalie Danules, six-year-old niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Their floor-length gowns of yellow satin and chiffon were styled with back-bustling in a ruffle-effect. They carried baskets of silk flowers in yellow and orange hues. Joseph Danules of Minnesota was best man for his brother. Groomsmen were Douglas Hermann, Fred Leek, Rod Hargraves and Larry MacIntyre. Scott Martinson of Cadillac, a cousin, was ring bearer. The men wore forest green tuxedos with yellow shirts. A reception at Airway Lanes followed the 5 p.m. ceremony. Guests attended from Minnesota, Maryland, Indiana and Florida, as well as from Michigan cities. The couple, who had met three years ago at work, took a honeymoon cruise to the Bahamas. The bride attended the Detroit Center for Creative Studies, College of Art and Design, for a year, studying jewelry making and painting. Her husband attended General Motors Institute for three years, becoming a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, Zeta Xi chapter. He currently is employed by Kelsey-Hayes as a sales representative on the Ford account. They are living at 46133 Neeson in Northville.

family who recently sailed a homemade balloon over the wall into West Germany, Connie said it only makes her feel bad. "It isn't great because there are still so many people over there. A new law in the DDR (East Germany) says young people are not allowed to talk on the street or criticize the government. I lived there two weeks. And it is very depressing. The wall is too long there. People start to change. Only the older people remember. Nobody does anything against it, not even the Americans. The people here don't understand." Connie said she felt somewhat let down about America because it seems so isolated from world events. "People in West Berlin have an idea about America. I thought when I came here they would help me. I thought I would find some answers, but I couldn't. They are more involved in their lives, homecoming and dances. But maybe it is because I go to school in West Berlin. People in West Berlin are more involved in politics." She pauses for a moment, letting the earliest words hang in the air. But suddenly she smiles, jumps up from her chair and grabs a chocolate-chip cookie. Like a 15-year-old, she cracks a sisterly joke with Maurita Samulkevitch. She imitates the latest television commercial. Boys? They're the same as Germany, she says. Christmas? She might get homesick, but ... she takes a look at Maurita and smiles. Yes, she's glad to be here for a year.

Presbyterian church formed 150 years ago today

By the time a frame building began to rise on the present site of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville in 1835, the tiny congregation here already was six years old.

This month, 150 years after the Presbyterians began meeting in the home of pioneer Joseph Yerkes on what is now known as Eight Mile and 144 years after the construction of the community's first religious edifice, one of the oldest Presbyterian churches west of the Alleghenies celebrates its sesquicentennial.

Imagine a sea of forest stretching in all directions, with a few tiny log houses in clearings here and there, and you have the setting for this church.

Earliest organization of the church appears to be traced to a record of November 28, 1829:

"Agreeable to notice, the members of the Second Presbyterian Church of Oakland County, or Farmington Church, held a meeting at the house of Joseph Yerkes, within the bounds of said church, for the purpose of organizing a new church by dividing the Farmington Church.

"... And after the above named persons received the above letters, they voluntarily organized themselves into a church by the name of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. The Rev. Erie Prince to superintend."

In the 75-anniversary history by the Reverend William S. Jerome, it is reported that the first membership of the church included six families, with not more than 10 families considering themselves part of the congregation.

"There were probably living in the territory now comprised of the towns of Novi and Plymouth (included Northville) 30 families, embracing 150 people," Mr. Jerome wrote.

The fact that the Presbyterian church building is located east of Center Street and east of the present-day center of town is no accident.

Evidence suggests that the original business center, involving a few manufacturing and retail shops, probably was located nearer Griswold than Center Street. Later, perhaps because Center was at the crest of the hill that became Northville, the shops near the first Presbyterian church were relocated.

Location of the community's first grist mill on what now is the site of the Mill Race Historical Village probably influenced the early cluster of buildings, including the church, near Hutton and Griswold.

It may have been the relocation of the business center to Main and Center that gave rise, years later, to unfulfilled plans by the Presbyterians to move their church to the corner of Main and Wing.

The first church building, a 24 x 30 frame facility, and the fence around it was erected by John Lemon at the cost of $330. It was first used for services in the summer or fall of 1836.

"Memory recalls that at that day there was where now stands the present church, a small wooden church, very plain and a single door in the north end," recalled David Ladd, a member of the church many years ago. "From it an aisle running south to what was called the pulpit, with seats on each side, all very plain, no pictures on the walls, no organ or musical instruments, not even a bass viol which had been pronounced by the presiding elder of the Methodist church of the day an 'ungodly fiddle' and ordered out of the church."

Later, when the first brick structure replaced the first building, the little frame church was moved to Cady Street — some say to the northwest corner of Church and Cady.

A split within the church, reflecting the differences between the conservative and liberal elements of the Presbyterian church here and elsewhere, resulted in the creation of a second congregation comprising the more liberal members.

The latter were the "New School" element of the church, whereas the conservative members were the "Old School" branch. The "Old Schoolers" traced their origin to the Scotch-Irish of Northern Ireland, while the New Schoolers traced their origin to Congregationalism in England.

The split here led to the construction of another church — this one on the "west side" of town. The frame building, which was built in 1845, stood on the east side of Wing one door south of Main.

This building, which in later years was used for a number of other purposes — including a library, township hall and school board offices, was moved to become the centerpiece of the Mill Race Historical Village here.

Not surprisingly, the New Schoolers called the Reverend Sylvester Cochran, a Congregationalist, as their first and only pastor. By 1849, the church was dissolved and some of its members reunited with the "Old Schoolers" while others joined the Congregational church of Salem Township.

Historically, Mr. Cochran is better known, perhaps, as the spiritual leader and pioneer of the little Michigan town of Vermontville. An old Congregational church and an historical marker in that community southwest of Lansing today attests to the importance of the man. he is buried here in Rural Hill Cemetery, however, beside his wife, Hannah, and his daughter, Sarah Ann.

The same year the "New School" frame building was constructed, the first Presbyterians of the "Old School" launched the construction of the first brick church here. The building, costing $2,500, was completed in the summer of 1849. Part of this structure, though significantly changed, still stands.

The brick church building was remodeled in the summer of 1872, and on October 31 of that year the church was rededicated.

It was nearly 20 more years — on March 4, 1889 — that the Northville church gave up its "Plymouth" name. It was officially renamed the First

Scientist service Thursday

An hour-long, annual Thanksgiving Day service will begin at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Plymouth.

A verse from First Thessalonians, "In every thing give thanks, for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you," will be the opening text of the special service.

Charles R. Shaw and Mrs. Helen M. Hopkins, presently serving as readers of the church, will conduct the service at which all are welcome.

They point out that scriptural passages chosen for the occasion point to God's abundant goodness and healing power.

Related passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy also will be read. Included will be "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good."

Hymns of thanksgiving, reading of the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation, time for quiet prayer and expressions of gratitude by members of the congregation will be included in the meeting.

LEAGUE EVENT—Sampling cheeses at the annual party of the local League of Women Voters November 9 are Mayor and Mrs. Paul Vernon, new Northville Councilwoman Carolann Ayers, Lesa Buckland, a city planning commission member, and Margaret Dawson. League members and friends mingled with local and state officials during the evening at the Hoffmeister home.

OLV sets Thanksgiving masses

Two Thanksgiving masses are scheduled at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church. Church choirs will participate at both.

A Thanksgiving Eve mass will be held at 7:30 p.m. today and Thanksgiving Day mass will be at 9:15 a.m. Thursday.

Parishioners are asked to bring non-perishable food items to both. They will be distributed to the needy.

Three churches to join in ecumenical service

Three local churches are participating in a holiday-season ecumenical service scheduled for 7 p.m. Sunday, December 2, at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church.

The Reverend Ronald Thurner, co-priest at OLV, announces that First United Methodist and First Presbyterian churches will join in the worship service. A joint choir of singers from the three churches will present special music.

The sermon, "Christ the King," will be given by the Reverend Lloyd G. Brasure of First Presbyterian church. The Reverend Guenther C. Bransner of First United Methodist and Father Thurner and Father John O'Callaghan of OLV also will be participating.

The ecumenical service previously planned for November 18 was cancelled.

CIRCA 1942—The Presbyterian Church was preparing for its annual Harvest Festival when this picture was made in 1942. At the left is the manse, immediately next to Church Street. It two years later was moved across Main Street to a vacant lot of the Frid brothers, Cy and Sid. The house eventually was razed and later the lot became the site of the Palace Restaurant. At the right (west of the church) was a house that later was moved to 456 Orchard Drive to make room for the church parking lot.

Presbyterians trace history in community

Presbyterian Society of Northville.

The community of Northville at that time was still part of Plymouth Township, hence the reason for the church's early name.

Less than a decade after the church was renamed, the community divorced itself from Plymouth to form the separate township of Northville.

In 1912 an addition was built at the rear of the church for use as a Sunday school and a social hall. It was remodeled and enlarged later. In 1922 a balcony was added.

The fellowship hall was constructed in 1930, and in 1954 the area beneath the sanctuary was excavated to provide more space for Sunday school classes.

The cornerstone of the Christian Education unit was laid May 3, 1964, and dedicated October 4. This unit included 16 classrooms in the two-story building, with total area of 10,000 square feet.

Major renovation occurred in 1969-70 when a new sanctuary, costing more than $270,000—900 times more than the cost of the original frame building was erected.

The new sanctuary was dedicated on Sunday, June 14, 1970.

Topping the 400-seat brick sanctuary is an 83-foot high belfry. The building, which still faces Main as did the original structure, is a blend of classic styles, with six Roman Doric columns forming the facade. The side entrances are of the late Georgian style.

Newcomers begin 'glorious season'

Newcomer President Prudy Vannier reports that a glorious holiday season is in the offing for Northville Newcomers, beginning with an outing December 5 to view the Fairlane Manor, the home of Henry and Clara Ford, decorated for the Christmas season as it would have been when the founder of Ford Motor Company and his wife were living there.

Luncheon will be served in the terrace room. The outing is planned by the decorating group of Newcomers and is open to all women in Newcomers and their guests. Reservations should be made with Peg Donovan, 420-2508, who is chairman.

A cookie exchange and Christmas cocktail party also are upcoming.

Returns are in on successful project

A total of 567 tickets was sold for Northville's 13th annual home tour held on the last Saturday in September, grossing a total of $1,984.50 in the jointly-sponsored event of the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church and Northville Historical Society. ## Sliger All-Area picks

Meet our best in 79

The 1979 gridiron season may be over, but the honors keep pouring in for many area football players in the aftermath of another exciting fall season.

And, with area publications and prep leagues compiling accolades that salute footballers with accolades ranging from All-Conference to All-Planet, the sports editors at the Sliger Home Newspapers have gotten in on the act again.

Recently, those deemed to have the greatest amount of football expertise gathered for the difficult assignment of selecting the best players performing for teams within the Sliger Newspapers' circulation area. We also chose a Coach of the Year and a Team of the Year.

Size, quickness, strength and overall talent characterize this bunch, which represents 10 teams that our papers cover. Those squads include Howell, Brighton, Hartland, Pinckney, Whitmore Lake, South Lyon, Northville, Novi, Walled Lake Central and Walled Lake Western. Incidentally, we decided against selecting any players on both offense and defense.

So, without further ado, here's our 11th annual All-Area Football Team:

OFFENSIVE LINE

RANDY FOLTS, South Lyon's 5-10, 170-pound center, showed vast improvement between his junior and senior seasons. Promoted to starter this fall, Folts responded with a fine season and was chosen First Team center on the Kensington Valley Conference squad.

Folts used his quickness, aggressiveness and good technique to offset his lack of size. He also was a Second Team All-Conference pick at linebacker, making 48 solo hits, 25 assisted tackles and recovering one fumble.

South Lyon High Coach Dan Skatzka calls JOHN IAFOLLA a legitimate All-State caliber player. A senior, the 5-10, 195-pound guard-linebacker was a unanimous First Team selection on offense and defense in the Kensington Valley Conference this fall. Skatzka calls Iafolla "the finest blocker in the league for the past two years (the Southeastern Conference in 1978 and the KVC in 1979)."

Iafolla also excelled on defense, where he led the Lions with 76 solo tackles while assisting on 36 others. He also had two fumble recoveries and two

Housner named
Coach of the Year

On paper, the cold facts state that George Housner coached his Whitmore Lake High football team to a 2-7 record this fall.

But those cold facts don't say anything about the adversity the first-year Trojan coach had to overcome this fall.

Because of his excellent job in the face of some unusual circumstances, Housner has been named the Sliger Home Newspapers' area football coach of the year.

Unusual? When football practice began in August, Housner wasn't even the coach.

But when Mick Caba unexpectedly resigned as head coach the first week of practice, Whitmore Lake Athletic Director Dave Stewart knew where to turn. He tapped Housner, a long-time area resident who previously had served as an assistant at Whitmore Lake for some 10 years.

Both men agreed that it wouldn't be an interim appointment, that Housner was making a long-range commitment to bring Whitmore Lake football up to a respectable level.

Adversity? During the first few days of practice, Housner had only eight players out for the team. He had to beat pass interceptions. "John is the best defensive player I've ever coached," Skatzka said.

Skatzka's comments notwithstanding, Walled Lake Western's PAUL TERRILL didn't have such a bad year blocking for himself. A 5-11, 180-pound offensive guard, Terrill led the way for many of Western's outstanding rushing endeavors with his outstanding blocking. In fact, teammate Angelo Buttazzoni shattered a school rushing record with Terrill's blocking help.

The senior standout, an All-Western Six Conference choice and part of a 6-3 record for the Warriors this autumn, also shone on defense. He rang up 31 first hits on enemy attempts to move the football, and had 62 assists to boot.

Invaluable would be a proper way to describe BILLY CAIN's worth to Hartland. Playing at both pulling guard on offense and nose guard on defense, the senior was voted Most Valuable Player by his teammates and First Team offense and defense All-Kensington Valley Conference by the league coaches.

Cain's talents were so respected that the Eagles ran most of their plays through his side of the line despite the fact that he was double-teamed for most of the year. At 6-1 and 195 pounds, Cain necessitated the extra attention.

"He's our best blocker," was Brighton Coach John Seckinger's simple assessment of JOHN LOVELAND. Tabbed by coaches around the Kensington Valley Conference as a First-Teamer on both the offensive and defensive lines, the senior demanded a lot of attention at 6-0, 198 pounds.

OFFENSIVE BACKS

When Brighton's Seckinger asked STEVE HEUSSNER to move from running back to head the veer offense at quarterback, he readily agreed. The 5-11, 187-pound senior realized that he would be giving up a chance at a 1,000-yard season on the ground in his new position, a mark he seemed destined to attain since he had been the Bulldogs' leading rusher for the previous two seasons.

With Heussner at the helm, Brighton veered its way to its most successful season ever. The heady QB still managed to gain 567 yards on the ground in 106 carries (which works out to 5.3 yards per carry), passed for 316 yards and connected on 26 of 64 aeriels while scoring 68 of Brighton's 175 points this year. In addition, Heussner was a Second Team All-Kensington Valley Conference selection this year and received Brighton's Most Valuable Back and Coaches' Award.

Walled Lake Western's ANGELO BUTTAZZONI aptly demonstrated that a junior can play high school football, too. A 6-0, 185-pound back, Buttazzoni gained 1,101 yards on 186 carries this fall, averaging 5.9 yards per rush. He also scored nine touchdowns, fumbling the leather only once.

Among the school records the burly fullback achieved this year were: most yards in one game (286); most yards in one season (1,101); most yards in a career (1,383); and most touchdowns in one game (four, which tied a schoolmark). He had two 200-yard games and four 100-yard outings en route to being selected to the All-Western Six Conference first squad.

South Lyon's MIKE MORGAN, a 5-10, 165-pound tailback, had to be one of the Kensington Valley Conference's leading runners by the end of the season. Although he didn't start a game until the fourth week of the campaign, Morgan came on strong to finish the year with 912 yards rushing in 124 carries for an excellent 7.3 yards-per-carry average. For his efforts, he made the second All-KVC honor team as a running back.

Although he played in only six games before being sidelined with a knee injury, there was no keeping MARK HEUSSNER off the All-Area First Team. The three-year starter switched to fullback after two years as a starting guard for Brighton and the 6-1, 204-pound senior responded with a 6.1 yards-per-carry average, gaining 647 yards on 109 carries. Heussner scored 38 points during his abbreviated season and was clocked 4.7 in the 40-yard dash at football camp.

OFFENSIVE ENDS

Obviously, Northville's DAN GOEHMAN realized the importance of making his catches count for the Mustangs this season. The 6-0, 170-pound senior wide receiver caught 15 passes this season for 376 yards, figuring to a 25.2 yards-per-catch average. Goehman also scored six touchdowns this season, and was named to the All-Western Six squad as an honorable mention choice.

A unanimous All-KVC pick at offensive end, MARK EVANS used his speed both as a receiver and as a runner on the reverse. Evans, a 6-2, 185-pound senior from Pinckney, accounted for 306 yards on 18 receptions, scored six touchdowns and averaged 6.2 yards on his 22 rushes. Evans also proved to be a formidable blocker, as his opponents will attest.

DEFENSIVE LINE

Novi's JON COLLINS, a 6-2, 204-pound defensive lineman, literally did it all for John Osborne in 1979. First of all, the senior led his team in tackles, a feat that very few defensive linemen have accomplished. He also recorded 46 solo tackles and assisted on 24 others, picking up two fumble recoveries as well. The Wildcat standout doubled as an offensive lineman when not terrorizing the enemy from the other side of scrimmage, being named to the All-KVC First Team in that capacity.

When Walled Lake Western's SCOTT PARRISH lined up against foes of the Warriors this past season, half the battle was already over before the ball was snapped. The senior was an intimidating force defensively with his 6-2, 205-pound frame, and used the bulk to his advantage. A defensive tackle, he had 38 first hits and 33 assists along with seven quarterback sacks. Parrish was all All-W-6 choice.

JIM ZACHAR may only be a junior, but he's already made his mark with the South Lyon High football team. The 5-9, 185-pounder started at defensive end as a sophomore and this year developed into an All-Kensington Valley Conference First Team performer on defense and also on offense as a running back.

Opponents shied away from running to Zachar's side of the line. However, when they did, the talented Lion was there to stop them. He made 35 solo tackles, assisted on 17 others and recovered a fumble that he alertly returned for the winning touchdown in the KVC championship game against Brighton. On offense, Zachar was a devastating blocker at fullback and accumulated 450 yards in 90 carries for an even 5.0 yard-per-carry average.

Although not enormous for a defensive lineman, JOE KROLEWSKI was not a hard choice to make for All-Area. The 5-10, 175-pound junior from Pinckney certified his strength and quickness with 12 quarterback sacks on the year and 23 tackles behind the line of scrimmage among his 21 solo tackles and 39 assists. Krolewski also was a First Team All-KVC pick at defensive line.

DEFENSIVE LINEBACKERS

BOB BOSHOVEN claimed the title of unofficial "Mr. Everything" for the Northville Mustangs on the football field this autumn. The linebacker set a new school record this season as he recorded 83 solo tackles and assisted on 71 others for a total of 154 knock-downs. He also recovered four fumbles and had a like number of interceptions. In addition, the 5-10, 170-pound senior middle linebacker played outstandingly at offensive center for the Mustangs and was selected to the First Team All Western Six squad in 1979.

Walled Lake Western's RANDY SHELL was another of the handful of juniors who had the talent to make this year's team. The Warrior standout, standing in at 5-10 and 160 pounds, turned in 58 first hits and 62 assists while causing three fumbles and recovering another. The linebacker also hauled in an interception and made the All-W-6 squad for his efforts.

While Howell had little to smile about this season with a rather disappointing year, KEVIN BLACKWELL produced even more frowns on the faces of the offensive backs he crunched with jarring tackles from his middle linebacker position. A unanimous All-KVC selection, Blackwell was credited with 61 solos, 43 assists, seven quarterback sacks and three interceptions. The 5-10, 168-pound senior can also run a 4.6 40-yard sprint and bench press 255 pounds.

DEFENSIVE BACKS

ROB KING was one of the many All-Area choices who excelled on both sides of the field. The 5-9, 160-pounder from Walled Lake Western was selected to the squad on the basis of his talents at defensive halfback, although he also enjoyed an outstanding season at quarterback. The star senior totalled 46 first hits to go with 42 assists, adding three interceptions (one of those he returned for a 55-yard touchdown).

King, who also broke a school mark with 111 assisted tackles for his career, was an honorable mention All-League pick last year and was named to the Sliger Newspapers' Second Team. This season, he made the All-Western Six team as a first-stringer.

GEORGE WHYTE, South Lyon's 5-9, 160-pound senior, earned his reputation as one of the hardest-hitting tacklers in the Kensington Valley Conference this fall. From his defensive halfback slot, Whyte made 26 solo tackles, had 12 assists, intercepted a pass, made two fumble recoveries and caused five others with his aggressive hitting. He was a First Team All-KVC defensive selection.

Consistency was a key word in describing MARK WELSER's efforts this year. A 5-10, 170-pound junior defensive back from Pinckney, the hard hitter swiped four enemy passes out of the air while rushing for 28 solo tackles and 62 assists. Welsner was also a first teamer on the Kensington Valley Conference All-League Team.

MARK KEIDER was a busy ballplayer for Brighton this year. He stuck his nose in an awful lot of offensive carriers this year for three plays before he trotted back to receive the punts and kick-offs. Playing the corner for the Bulldogs, Keider contained the outside threat extremely well while recovering one fumble, snagging four interceptions, racking up 23 solo tackles, 18 assists and 19 first hits. Keider was also a First Team All-KVC selection.

KICKING SPECIALIST

Although somewhat diminutive at 5-8, 152 pounds, RON KEECH packed a lot of wallop in his right leg. The Brighton senior averaged 35.4 yards on his 33 punts this season, adding to a total of 1,167 yards. Keach not only sent his punts a long way down the field, but those kicks also stayed up in the air long enough to ensure excellent coverage. As a testimony to his "hang time," Keach had only two of his punts returned for more than seven yards during the year.

the bushes for footballers and even "recruited" one student from his summer job at a gas station.

He was still recruiting at mid-season, getting one student who had never played football before to join the team. That player started the next week.

In the end, Housner had 16 players on his team, playing Tri-County Conference rivals with significantly larger programs.

Still, the Trojans were competitive in the majority of their games and finished the campaign on an upbeat note by beating the Michigan School for the Deaf, 45-0.

Housner already is planning ahead. He has a commitment from 33 eighth graders to try out for the junior varsity next year and plans to conduct a football camp for his varsity players next August.

"The kids know who is going to be their football coach next season," Housner said. "I'm committed to building the program. We're going to try to bring some continuity to the program and hopefully, we'll be successful."

Two other area coaches were considered for coach of the year honors by Sliger Home Newspapers' sports editors.

Walled Lake Western's Chuck Apap led his Western Six Conference team to a strong 6-3 record. The Warriors were 4-5 in 1978.

The other nominee was South Lyon's Dan Skatzka, whose junior-dominated team finished with a 6-3 mark and won the Kensington Valley Conference championship.

Phanksgiving Day tradition

Hudson's parade marks holidays

anta's Thanksgiving Day Parade officially marks the beginning of the Christmas season for many Detroiters. The first parade was staged in 1924. There were interruptions in 1941 and 1942 because of a shortage of materials at the start of World War II. This year, more than 2,500 people will march in the parade. Another 300 work behind the scenes on repair and preparation of floats and other chores. Employees begin setting up the parade at Hudson's Fort Street Events Studio at 3:30 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day. At 4 a.m., a Detroit Police escort arrives to take the floats down to the parade starting point at Woodward Avenue and Putnam. Marchers arrive later in the morning to be costumed, made-up and receive last-minute directions. There is no dress rehearsal. The parade itself is the first and only run through. The first parade consisted of horse-drawn lumber and milk wagons, covered with papier mache and other decorative materials. About 150 employees participated in the event, which boasted 10 to 12 floats. Because of a runaway horse team during one of the early parades, manpower was used for many years, with some 24 persons pulling a single float. Cold weather caused another problem when metal-rimmed wheels froze to the street surface. This led to the use of mechanical floats. This year's floats are pulled by tractors obtained from the Ford Motor Company. Limitation on size and weight of floats pulled by horse and manpower also hastened the use of motorized units. Early floats averaged 15 feet in length and seven feet in height. Today, floats are as big as 30 feet wide and 120 feet long. Until four years ago, float height was limited to 16 feet because of utility crosswires. Now, a manual device inside the floats allows the operator control so that parts of the float can ease under the wires and then rise as high as 40 feet. Parade floats are built entirely by a crew of five fulltime Hudson's employees working year-round. These personnel scale, construct, and finish each unit, using a variety of skills such as carpentry, welding, and designing. A sixth employee oversees parade costumes. Oil base paint is used with wood and metal foundation material in the float construction. The forms are made with a material called "Celastic," which is a fabric impregnated with a synthetic resin which becomes ceramic-like after being dipped in an activating agent. Celastic is the same material used in shoes and in patching cars and boats. Each year, parade floats are either completely remodeled or reconstructed as a new float in the next parade. Annually, a special float designed by a Detroit elementary school student is made. Detroit Public Schools are invited to submit designs to a panel of judges at Hudson's, and the winning drawing is constructed as a float for the parade. Prizes are awarded to the top three suggested designs and 10 others receive honorable mentions. The 1979 winner is "Hickory Dickory Dock" designed by eleven-year-old Kelly Paterson of the Von Steuben School. Music for the parade is provided by high school and community marching bands from various areas in the city, state, and county. The bands are selected by size, dress, versatility, and musical repertory. Additional music is supplied by a non-marching band located in front of Hudson's Downtown store. This year, there are 20 spectacular floats, 22 bands, specialty and clown groups, and some 2,500 marchers covering the two-and-one-half mile route south on Woodward Avenue to Fort Street. More than 500,000 people annually view the parade along the route, and millions more see the festivities in color over national television via the CBS network. Much of the success of the annual parade is credited to the outstanding cooperation of the Detroit Police Department, the Detroit Fire Department, and the Department of Public Works.

New show honors Hank Williams

"Hank Williams: The Show He Never Gave" brings country music to Detroit's Music Hall Center. This musical monologue and portrayal swept Canada from coast to coast last year, winning critics' praise and standing-room-only audiences. Performances at the Music Hall begin Tuesday, November 27, and run through Sunday, December 2. Hank Williams, renowned father of modern country music, died near Oak Hill, West Virginia on January 1, 1953. He was 29. The driver of the new Cadillac Fleetwood in which he rode, not wanting to disturb his recumbent passenger, drove for five hours before realizing the man in the back seat was dead. The coroner's report stated alcohol to be present in his bloodstream; how much was not specified. Williams in this unusual new piece of musical theatre. Taking place in the fictitious setting of a concert hall on New Year's Eve, December 31, 1952, "Hank Williams: The Show He Never Gave" deals with the talent and torment, the loneliness and inspiration encompassed in the personality of one of the musical world's leading legends, as told through a performance on the eve of his death. Sneezy Waters' portrayal of a man at odds with his success and identity prompted critics response of the highest order during the show's National Canadian Tour of 1978-79, including the Toronto Star's "a staggering tour de force by an artist of awesome talent," and the same paper's "intuitively accurate and awesome, going far beyond music authenticity or physical resemblance to the real Hank."

Known for both his recordings and songwriting, as well as his own dramatic performances, the late Hank Williams is revered today throughout America and the world as the king and father of modern country music. He became an overnight success in June, 1949, through an unforgettable debut performance at Nashville's Opry — bringing the house down with his version of "Lovesick Blues." Breaking down the barriers between pop forms and country-western music, his audience "crossover" success came with Tony Bennett's 1951 recording of "Cold, Cold Heart," which made number one on national pop charts. During his short but hard-lived lifetime, Hank Williams wrote and recorded a countless list of hit songs, which by now have become standards, recorded by some of the most successful entertainers in all phases of contemporary music. Just a few of these are "I Can't Help It (If I'm Still in Love with You)," "Hey Good Lookin'," "Your Cheatin' Heart" and "I'm So Lonesome I Could Cry." "Hank Williams: The Show He Never Gave" was written by Maynard Collins, is produced by Wesley Rose of Acuff-Rose Musicals Inc., Robin McNeill and Dawn Harwood-Jones, and is directed by Peter Froehlich. Performances at the Music Hall run Tuesday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 6:30 p.m. All tickets are $8 and can be purchased at the Music Hall box office, 350 Madison Avenue, Detroit, or by calling 963-7680 between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Master Charge and VISA are accepted. For group rates, call Joan Heidt at 963-7622.

'Babes in Toyland' scheduled at Music Hall

During Thanksgiving week, Detroit's beautiful Music Hall Center turns into a magical kingdom as Victor Herbert's enchanting classic comes to life in a new musical extravaganza, "The Babes in Toyland." Featuring giant-sized toy characters, actors, singers and dancers, "The Babes" present 12 exciting shows from November 20-25. In an updated version of "Babes in Toyland," Sid and Marty Krofft (creators of "Donny & Marie Show," "H.R. Pufnstuf," and others) have produced a multi-media spectacular with elaborate sets, dazzling costumes and mind-boggling special effects. This contemporary interpretation introduces The Babes as a talented rock group of three attractive young men looking for their first big break. In their travels, The Babes stumble onto Toyland, Inc., a floundering amusement park. Their interest in the park (and in Mary, the attractive granddaughter of the Master Toymaker) brings about a series of events that reawakens the magic of Toyland with its amazing living toys. The Babes meet everyone from Mother Goose and the Evil Barnaby to Jack & Jill and Peter Pumpkin Eater. They are entertained by an animal orchestra and the Bo Peep Ballet Company of dancing sheep. The Babes also find themselves surrounded by the mystery of The Dark Forest with its gigantic living trees and the chilling sounds of Barnaby's ghostly castle. The producers of "The Babes" have designed what they call "a cross between the classical music of "The Nutcracker Ballet" and the contemporary musical look of "The Wiz." Evening performances of this entertaining family show are at 8 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, and 6:30 p.m. on Sunday. Matinees are scheduled for Thursday (Thanksgiving Day) at noon, Friday and Saturday at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., and Sunday at 2 p.m. Tickets range from $4.50 to $12.50 with discounts for children, 12 and under, and are available at the Music Hall box office, 350 Madison, Detroit, or by calling 963-7680. Box office hours are Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. For group rates, call Joan Heidt at 963-7622.

State tops nation

Michigan leads the nation in the export of manufactured products primarily due to its concentration of heavy industry and its strategic position on the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway. Shipments to other countries by its more than 2,000 manufacturers and suppliers engaged in world trade total more than 4 billion a year, according to the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce. Michigan ranks number one, nationwide, in the number of state parks. Including the 47,000 acre Porcupine Mountains State Park in the Upper Peninsula, there are a total of 83, according to the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce.

FREELAND Gauge Company this week moved its headquarters and Detroit plant operation into greatly expanded facilities in New Hudson.

Formerly located at 13300 Foley Avenue in Detroit, the firm's new location is at the northeast corner of Grand River and Old Plank Road at 5300 Grand River.

William L. Duey, Freeland general manager, said the new facilities will mean 50 percent expansion in the company's operation.

"About 70 of our employees from our previous location are moving here (to New Hudson)," said Duey, who indicated search for additional technical and skilled personnel is underway. "We'll be hiring another 30 persons during the next year," he said.

Although the building into which the firm has moved is about four years old, it has been greatly renovated to meet the specific needs of the gauge company.

Freeland was established July 1, 1952, moving to 13300 Foley in November of 1960. From its inception, it has specialized in the design and manufacture of precision gauging equipment for a wide range of industries producing automobiles, off-road vehicles, appliances, etc.

"Freeland Gauge has the capability and inventiveness to conceive and develop custom gaging systems that meet the demands of today's manufacturers. ## Swimmers clinch 3rd league crown

Kim Storm and Allyson Farquhar led the Northville girls' swim team to its third straight league title last weekend. Each girl won three events at the meet.

Both girls are on the 200-yard medley relay team, which recorded a first-place time of 2:01.6. Tammy Selfridge and Carolyn Brown also swam in the race for the Mustangs.

Allyson Farquhar won the 200-yard individual medley race with a time of 2:16.0, a new league record. Leslie Farquhar finished second in the event, clocking in at 2:23.8.

Storm captured first in the 50-yard freestyle with a new league record of :24.5. Laurie Sellen was second with a time of :26.6.

Storm came back to set another league record, this time in the 100-yard freestyle race. Her winning time was :55.0. Sellen took second with a :58.3 clocking.

Allyson Farquhar then won the 100-yard breaststroke race by finishing with a time of 1:10.4. Carolyn Schrot was sixth with a 1:24.7.

Nancy Donovan took another first for Northville, in the 500-yard freestyle race. Her time was 5:46.5. Kristy Ifversen was third in 6:15.6 and Lori Hackman took fifth with a time of 6:37.9.

The 400-yard freestyle relay unit of Leslie Farquhar, Storm, Donovan and Sellen combined to take first with a time of 4:09.5.

Donovan took a second in the 200-yard freestyle. Her time was 2:07.6. Ifversen was third with a time of 2:18.6. Hackman was fifth with a 2:25.2 clocking and Diane Hrublak was seventh with a time of 2:25.8.

Indoor soccer won't stay

Last spring I didn't know a soccer ball from a header. But I sensed the enthusiasm this sport enjoys here in Northville. So I decided to learn about the game. I bought a couple of how-to books and a ball and set out to become an expert. After hours and hours of reading and actually kicking the ball against imaginary defenders on an old deserted field behind the high school, I fancied myself something of an authority on the game. Until Sunday night.

Just when I thought I had mastered the game, the Detroit Express threw a loop into my education by introducing a mutant form of soccer to this area called soocer.

The Express took on the Minnesota Kicks in an exhibition match that was to serve a double purpose: to hone the skills of the Express players before the regular season begins on Sunday, December 2; and to break the Detroit-area soccer fans in to the game gradually. The results were mixed.

Let's lay some groundwork in terms of just what indoor soccer is as opposed to regulation soccer. First of all, a regulation soccer field is close to the size of an American football field. The indoor soccer field is much smaller. In fact, it is the same size as an ice hockey rink.

The similarity with an ice rink doesn't end with just the size, either. The indoor soccer rink looks just like a hockey rink, with artificial turf instead of ice. The field is bordered by "dasher" boards that are about five feet high (white, solid) and topped with another couple of feet of plexiglass. The nets, which are recessed back into the wall at either end of the field, stand 12' by 6'.

There is a white "touch line" that parallels the boards on the turf and it is this line, three feet from the wall, that marks the boundary for corner kicks and in-bound passes. The area in front of the net is similar to a regulation soccer goal area. There is a crease, a penalty area and a penalty spot. But, like hockey, there are three lines in the field from one goal to the other, and the fouls that result from misplay on these lines resemble ice hockey fouls.

For example, if a player passes the ball in the air over these three lines (the three lines are 60 feet apart in the middle of the field), then the ball is brought back to the point from where the ball was kicked and the opposing team takes over possession and receives an indirect kick. This penalty is called a red line violation (the lines are red.)

There is even a rule against "boarding", or ramming a player into the boards as he goes for the ball, much like checking in hockey.

The rules are a bit different from regulation soccer but make common sense and don't take long to learn. For instance, you can't trip a player, or intentionally kick him. Like high sticking in hockey, a soccer player can't kick high, or the ref will call him for "kicking in a dangerous position", which is a foul that Sam Oates was called for Sunday. If a player is called for a penalty he must sit out for two minutes in the penalty box, just like in hockey.

With all that behind us now, I can proceed to tell you about Sunday's game. If these rules and descriptions served only to confuse you, then take heart. The Express played as if they had read the same article just before the game, and used it for their only preparation.

It took the Express players three quarters to realize that like hockey or billiards, the wall can be used as a surface to bounce angle passes off of. The Detroit team started out the game as if it were playing traditional soccer, which is something you can't do on the smaller surface. For the action is much quicker and the need for cat-like maneuverability and teamwork is much more apparent.

Fouls are much more apparent in indoor soccer. Whereas regulation soccer is played on a field that by sheer size alone, allows players to foul more and get away with it because the ref can't see everything, indoor soccer is played on such a small surface that the ref, at least in theory (he missed some blatant fouls Sunday night), can spot no-no's easily. Poor Eddie Colquhoun. The master of the dirty hit tried to pull a number of his little tricks on Minnesota players Sunday night but was called for fouls. He was very angry with the official, but more out of frustration at not being able to get away with his usual shenanigans than in any outrage at the official's bad eyesight.

The Kicks took advantage of the Detroit confusion and quickly jumped out to a 3-0 lead. But by the end of the third quarter the Express seemed to come alive. The reason, I think, was Keith Furphy. Being a newcomer to the Detroit soccer scene, I didn't realize until Sunday that in order to be considered knowledgeable and hip, I had to boo every move the young forward made. That's the only logic I can find to justify the crowd's treatment of young Furphy. If it seems like a silly piece of logic, I agree with you. I was truly embarrassed. Although they booed the team as a whole also, the crowd wanted and shouted at Furphy as if he were an evil-meanie on Bit Time Wrestling. Furphy reacted at first with resigned disappointment (I'm sure that he

Hoopsters draw bye in districts

The Northville girls basketball team got some good news and it got some bad news Monday. First, the good news. The Mustangs drew a bye in the first round of the Michigan High School Athletic Association District Tournament which will take place from November 26 to November 30. That means that the team will automatically advance to the second round.

Now for the bad news. In the second round the Mustangs will face the winner of the Bentley/Farmington contest, which will be played Monday, November 26 at 8:45 at Farmington High School. Both are very tough teams and Northville will be in for a rough time no matter which team it faces. Northville will play the winner on Wednesday, November 28 at 8:45, also at the Farmington school.

Other match-ups in the tourney are Walled Lake Western against Stevenson and North Farmington, which also drew a bye in the opening frame. The eventual winner of the district will qualify for the Regional VI District tournament which will take place at Southfield Lathrop High School.

Northville has one final game with which to tune up for its district action. The Mustangs will travel to Belleville tonight for a game that will start at 6 p.m. with the JV ball game.

Last week the Mustangs had a rough time of it. Northville dropped both of its games. Livonia Churchill was the first school to turn the trick as it downed the Mustangs 38-27 on Tuesday. Plymouth Canton downed Northville on Thursday 53-33.

Against Churchill the Mustangs shot a poor 12.5 percent from the field, hitting on only seven of 56 attempts. Northville's percentage from the free throw line was much better. The Mustangs canned 13 of 25 shots for a 57 percent tally. Churchill hit on 10 of 15 shots from the charity stripe for a 67 percent mark.

Jacque Nixon led Northville in scoring in the game. The sophomore hit four of 25 shots from the field and made three of five from the foul line for a point total of 11. Sue Townsend canned one of six from the field and six of 10 from the free throw line for eight points. Melinda House missed all six shots she attempted from the field, made three of four foul shots and hauled down 16 rebounds to lead the team in that department.

Churchill was up by only one point after the first quarter, 7-6, but outscored Northville 14-5 in the second frame to take a 21-11 halftime lead. The game was more even the second half as Churchill outscored the Mustangs 10-7 in the third quarter but was outscored the second fourth frame 9-7. Against Canton the Mustangs improved their field goal percenttage to 17 percent, hitting on eight of 48 shots. Northville made 17 of 28 free throws. Again, inconsistent shooting spelled doom hoped for a better deal from the crowd in this new sport) and then anger.

He scored three of the Detroit goals after he could contain his anger no longer. He merely vented his rage against Minnesota. But it was evident whom he was really angry at. After each of his goals he turned to the jeering crowd and rammed his fist high in the classic European anti-salute. He also mouthed a classic slogan known round the world, but since this is a family newspaper ...

His father can't understand his son's plight any more than I can and will trade him to another team rather than see him abused. What more can a guy do than score goals, and Furphy scored 75 percent of his team's output Sunday.

The question was raised as to whether indoor soccer will survive in Detroit. I say no, but not out of fan disinterest. With the crowd so close to the players and the action, I doubt whether the Express team will play here much longer. They're not used to the fans' abuse at close quarters and if the looks in their eyes as they stared back in disgust at the foul-mouthed hecklers behind them means anything, they won't put up with it for long.

Evans is rising as racing star

By JIM HAYNES

In 1971, 21-year-old Tim Evans climbed behind the wheel of his Lotus 51A SS Formula Ford and took fourth place in the first race of his career, at Nelson Ledges. Since then the Northville resident has won the Formula Ford Central Division Regional Championship twice, was second in the National Championship and second in the Pro-Ford Series and just recently captured the 2-Liter Championship at Laguna Seca.

Evans, now 29, was born in Lafayette, Indiana. As a child he traveled all over the country with his family. Evans' father, Art, worked for Whitlock, Inc. and his work took him to many different cities. Evans lived in Indianapolis; Franklin, Indiana; Pittsburgh; and Tustin, California. When he was 20, Evans and his family moved to the Northville area. It was here that Evans got his first taste of racing.

"I've had an interest in cars since I was 16 and first got my driver's license," he said. "I moved to Detroit in 1970 and some guys who I worked with in the service department at Whitlock were amateur race car drivers. I got to know them real well and I got my first chance through them."

"In 1970 I crewed for one of the guys who was racing Formula Ford but of Waterford (Bill Moller). I was a pit crew go-ferr. I didn't learn a whole lot about racing. I decided then that I wanted to be a driver and not a mechanic."

Evans bought his first car in the fall of 1970. It was the Ford Lotus 51A, a formula car (formula cars have "open" wheels, the type of cars that are raced at Indianapolis, but with smaller engines.)

"I drove it for the first time that fall in a Waterford Hills test session. I had problems fitting into it. I had a choice of being able to hit the brake or the clutch. I decided the brake was more important," Evans said.

The reason Evans had trouble fitting into his vehicle is that most race cars weren't built to accommodate 6'5", 200-pound race car drivers.

"After that I took the car, cut it in half and lengthened it by seven inches," Evans said.

And after that Evans got serious about racing. He attended two Sport Car Club of America (S.C.C.A.) racing schools in the spring of 1971 and earned his novice license.

Evans' first race was a Nelson Ledges Raceway at Warren, Ohio. "I finished fourth out of 15 or 20 cars. I was happy with the fourth but disappointed that I didn't win. As for being nervous, I never stopped to wonder what I felt like while I was racing. I was concentrating too hard on driving."

The way the S.C.C.A. system works, a driver has to run in two races as a novice to get a regional license and then four regional races to earn a national license. Evans quickly fulfilled all of these requirements. He competed in 14 races that first year.

He raced in regional and local races at Waterford.

"Half way through the summer I discovered that I was leading the Central Division Regional Championship in Formula Ford (drivers are awarded points for wins and at the end of the season, the driver with the highest total of points wins the championship) and I decided then that I'd try to win it. I concentrated on the regional races from then on."

Evans' strategy worked as he won the championship, which is quite an accomplishment for a first-year driver.

After that first year Evans was hooked on racing, and it was a good thing because the next three years were particularly rough for the young driver.

"The next three years were rough," Evans said. "I didn't have the best equipment in the world. I tried to do all the work myself on the engine and eventually realized that I couldn't and still compete." The result was a total of four first-place finishes in 70 races over the three-year span.

"Things broke loose for me at the end of 1974," Evans said. "I purchased a Lola T340 which was much better than what I had had before." On the strength of 10 second-place finishes and one first, Evans found himself only a couple of points away from qualifying for the runoffs at the National Championships at Road Atlanta at the end of 1974. He took his newly purchased Lola to the Great Southwest Airport race in Texas.

"I decided to go to Texas to try and get some extra points to qualify for the runoffs. I got down there and qualified on the pole, and then won the race. But

Swimming

picked up points for Northville by finishing seventh and eighth, respectively, in the 200-yard individual medley. Schrot swam a 2:50.3 while Brown recorded a 3:00.0.

Marla Wald swam a 3:00 to take eighth in the 50-yard freestyle.

In the 200-yard butterfly, Tammy Selfridge touched the wall in 1:06.0 claim second. Leslie Farquhar finished in 1:07.7, good for fifth and Cathy Norris swam a 1:28.2 for ninth.

Katie Ruddon finished with a 1:08.8 in the 100-yard freestyle.

Selfridge came back to take second in the 100-yard backstroke. Her time of 1:09.1 was just off the winning mark of 1:07.1, set by Kim Massey of Canton. Brown swam a 1:16.5 to take fourth. Wald swam a 1:17.0 to claim fifth and Pattie Wright notched a ninth-place finish with a time of 1:48.3.

Cathy Norris took 10th spot in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:26.2. Hollie Raycraft's 1:28.4 was good for 11th.

Storm and Farquhar each won three events in last year's league meet.

The final league standings weren't available at press time but coach Ben Lauber said that he was certain Northville beat its nearest opponent, Stevenson, by over 100 points.

All that's left for the Mustangs now is the state meet, coming up in two weeks.

"We're going into it with a good attitude and we're healthy," Lauber said. "We're in great shape. Point-wise we may be hurting because Sue Cahill has been out. She may be back to swim a couple of races for us though." Cahill, an All-American, has missed the last portion of the schedule due to a flu-like illness.

The state meet will take place beginning at 3 p.m. Friday, November 30 with the preliminary heats. The meet will be at the Mattmann Pool at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

The finals will take place at 2 p.m. the following Saturday.

Cahill, the Farquhars, Storm, Selfridge and Sellen are the Mustangs who have qualified to go to the state meet.

On Tuesday, November 27 Raycraft will compete in the diving regionals.

Ocelots drop two

The Schoolcraft Community College men's basketball team got its season off to a less than successful start this past weekend when the Ocelots dropped two games in the WATZ Classic Tournament (WATZ is a local radio station.)

37-33 at the half but Alpena managed to knot the score 74-74 at the end of regulation time. Mike Brady led the Schoolcraft team in scoring as he canned 23 points.

The game, but finally fell too far behind, losing 64-51. David Hopkins' 12 points and 17 rebounds were tops in both categories for the Schoolcraft squad.

Schoolcraft then ran into the stall-tactics of Lansing Community College. The Lansing team controlled the ball so much that the score at the end of the first half was 23-11 in the Ocelots' disfavor. Schoolcraft managed to close within seven points three separate times during

The next action for the Ocelots will be this upcoming weekend when the team travels north to the Muskegon Thanksgiving Tournament. The first game is slated for Friday at 6 p.m. against Jordan College at the Muskegon Community College fieldhouse.

Soccer changes aired

At a coaches' meeting of the Northville teams which are involved in the Western Suburban Soccer League program, a number of items were discussed.

The most important was the coaches' vote on whether or not to break off from the WSSL and form a "house" soccer league with just the teams from Northville involved. After discussion and analysis of factors pro and con, the coaches voted overwhelmingly to stay a part of the WSSL. The decision was carried by an 80-percent majority.

At the meeting it was suggested that the spring soccer season end just before Memorial Day, with post-season competition between various "select" teams (made up of all-stars from the league.) The suggestion is still under consideration.

Over the course of the winter, members of the soccer board will meet regularly with members of the youth baseball board in an attempt to avoid scheduling overlaps and to work out a smoother working relationship between the two sports.

There was talk of creating a soccer fest over the Memorial Day weekend in Northville. The idea is just tentative.

The next coaches' meeting for youth soccer will be in either the third or fourth week of January. A major item of discussion will be the assemblage of kids for teams next season. There are two options under debate at the moment. The first plan calls for a complete redraft procedure so that a team will begin the season with a completely different roster than the season before. The other option is to maintain the system in use at the present time. This system calls for the members of last season's team who are still within the age group of the squad to remain on that particular team. The kids who are moving up from a lower age bracket are then put into a draft by the teams in the older age group.

Ski trip is off

The ski trip that was scheduled for Friday, November 23, has been cancelled due to the holiday bus schedule.

Registration is still taking place for the Northville Ski Club. Anyone 12-18 years of age can sign-up. Bring $26.50 and a small picture of yourself for an identification card.

The rec office will be closed Thursday, November 22 and Friday, November 23 due to Thanksgiving.

BLACKJACK INSTRUCTION

Blackjack is the most popular of all casino games. It offers the expert player the best odds available and it is the only casino game that can be beaten from a mathematical standpoint.

Blackjack can be divided into two categories. Basic Strategy (expert play) and card counting. Card counting is a strategy based on the Theory of Probabilities that when played accurately, actually gives the player an advantage over the casino.

Instruction in these two areas is as follows:

- BASIC STRATEGY. Most people who play casino Blackjack think that they are expert players. The fact is that not one in a hundred knows the correct play for every decision in Blackjack. For example, with a hand of A7 you should stand when the dealer's up-card is an A, 2, 7 or 8, take a hit card against the dealer's 9 or 10, and double down when the dealer shows a 3, 4, 5, or 6. The correct way to play each hand for hitting, standing, doubling, and pair splitting is a product of computer technology and its accuracy has been verified by the computer banks of IBM Corporation, Sperry Rand, and the Jet Propulsion Laboratory. If you do not play each hand correctly, you are simply giving your money away to the casinos. The Basic Strategy class is one hour per week for 3 weeks and the cost is $30.
- BASIC STRATEGY AND AN INTRODUCTION TO CARD COUNTING. Same as No. 1 except you will also learn the Blackney Add & Estimate Strategy. This simple count is easy to learn and very easy to play in the casinos. This class is one hour per week for 6 weeks and the cost is $90.
- THE BLACKNEY SIMPLE HI-LOW STRATEGY. The Basic Strategy class is a prerequisite to taking this class. My Hi-Low Strategy assigns point values to various card ranks and is extremely effective for the single and double deck game. This class is one hour per week for 6 weeks and the cost $120.

Arrangements can also be made for private consultation for those who do not wish to attend a class session. The cost for a one hour appointment is $40. If you have a playing partner, you may split the cost of the appointment.

Call John Blackney, 348-2066 between 5 & 6:30 p.m. John Blackney is a licensed Blackjack instructor and operates a commercial place of business in Northville, MI.

Evans

It was protested by a fellow competitor and after seven hours of tearing down my engine, the race officials decided that the engine compression ratio was too high and therefore, illegal. I was disqualified.

"I had purchased the car from a friend in Wisconsin and hadn't done a thing with the engine. I didn't know what was in it. But that race marked the end of my bad years."

In 1975 a friend of Evans who was a car distributor called the Northville resident and asked if he would like to try and drive one of the Zinc cars he owned. Evans jumped at the chance.

In the new car Evans qualified second in a race in West Palm Beach, Florida and then won the race. "I was pretty pleased with the car. I decided to try it again to make sure it wasn't just luck," he said.

The second race, in Savannah, Georgia, was in March. Evans again qualified second in the race, and again, won it. Declaring the third time the charm, Evans raced a month later in Trenton, New Jersey and not only qualified for the pole position but won the race, leading every lap of the way.

"I decided that the car was definitely worth having, so I traded my old car for it," Evans said.

The year 1975 continued like it started for Evans. He won the Central Division Championship and qualified for the national championship race at Atlanta. But when he got there his bubble burst. "I didn't do too well," he said. "I didn't have enough horsepower. I ended up 10th in the race which was a big disappointment."

Evans used the same car in 1976. This time he concentrated on professional Formula Ford races as opposed to the amateur national events (advantage was in winning money instead of just points and trophies) but I also ran enough of the other to qualify for the national runoffs (championships).

He finished the year third in the Pro-Ford Series and second at the runoffs. The second-place finish is one Evans won't soon forget. He went into the final lap riding the leader's air pocket and was just getting ready to pass him when the leader made a mistake and slowed down. This allowed the third place driver to shoot past Evans and the leader.

It was raining and the track was slick, jumped past the original leader and chased the new frontrunner. But on the slippery track, Evans spun a bit and hit the dirt on the inside of the track. He slide sideways and crossed the finish line almost riding the leader's rear bumper. He was second by 33/100 of a second. "I kept waiting to see if his car was illegal but it wasn't. I spent the whole winter mulling over that one. I kept trying to figure it out. It was one of the biggest disappointments of my career," Evans said.

Again in 1977, Evans had outstanding success on the track during the regular season, taking second in the Pro-Ford Series, but in the National Championship Runoffs, he ran into engine trouble and place ninth.

"I went down to the race with two engines and neither seemed to want to work right. So we put parts together from both engines but I didn't have enough power to really get up speed," Evans said. "That was the last Formula Ford race I ran."

From 1978 on Evans has raced strictly professionally. But it wasn't all cake and ice cream at first. He quite his job at Whitlock in August and spent all winter trying to drum up financial support in the form of a sponsor. But he came up with nothing. Evans was so disappointed that he sat the entire year out.

While out in California that year, trying to figure out what he was going to do, Lou Infante of Diversified Engine Services called him and asked Evans if he wanted to drive a 2-Liter CanAm racer for the 1979 year. "I told him I would have to think about it," Evans said. "Two seconds later I shouted yes."

The CanAm category is a full race car. It has never been a street car and has a full body, as opposed to the open wheel Formula Fords. The CanAm cars are also a lot faster.

"I had doubts that I would be able to drive it well," Evans said. "I had never driven a car like that." But he quickly adapted.

The CanAm races pit both 2-Liter and 5-Liter cars against each other. Usually the larger, more powerful 5-Liter cars win the overall race, but the 2-Liter cars do beat the larger ones occasionally and usually results are kept separately, with winners announced from within all the 5-Liter cars in a race and a winner amongst the 2-Liter vehicles.

In his first race in the new car (his first race in over a year), Evans qualified second in the 2-Liter category and ended up finishing in the same position in the race. He was 15th (the top 2-Liter car was 14th) out of a field of 22. It was another of Evans' more memorable races.

"I started the race and on the pace lap fuel started to leak out of the fuel vent. I ignored it because I thought it would seal itself up. I went and started the race and instead of sealing itself up, the leak got worse. I ended up soaked with gasoline after the first lap," he said. "I pulled in and the crew sealed the leak up. I lost 50 seconds." He also kept the same gasoline-drenched clothing on. The race was 120 miles and lasted for just over an hour.

The rest of the year was one Evans is very proud of. Of 10 races he captured six firsts and two seconds. He earned enough points (his ninth race of the year, at Laguna Seca, was the clincher) to win the 2-Liter Championship for the year.

Evans was sponsored by Champion Motor Homes last year and will either drive for them again this next year, or try to find another sponsor.

Evans shared his thoughts on what it takes to be a good race driver. "I don't find that a race car driver has to have the quickest reflexes," he said. "Once you get experience and learn to relax and look for things, you don't have to rely on reflexes. Driving becomes secondary to thinking about what you're going to do next. Technique is more important than reflexes."

"I don't think a race car driver is born. It's more of a learning type thing. As long as someone is capable of thinking the proper way, he'll make a good driver."

And what is Evans' description of the perfect race car driver? "A person who is five-foot tall and weighs 120 pounds," he laughed. "He has to have good leg, arm and shoulder strength. Smaller guys have an advantage because they can fit into more types of cars and there is less weight."

It seems that one of the attractions that draws spectators to a race is the possibility of a car traveling 200 mph crashing into a fiery ball of flame. How does Evans deal with the possibility of crashing?

"I don't really think about it too much," he said. "In a race I'm too involved with driving to think about crashing. If you think about things too much you will lose your concentration and then there's a good chance you'll end up in an accident."

Evans is considered by many to be one of the best young drivers in America. When asked what his strengths and weaknesses were as a driver, Evans had this to say. "My biggest strength is probably that I'm so consistent. I'm not the fastest at all times, but I'm consistently one of the fastest and definitely one of the smoothest. At the end of a race I'm still there. I'm not reckless and in a haste to finish with a win."

"As for my weakness, I don't know. That's a hard one to answer. I like to think that I don't have weaknesses. I guess maybe I scare myself a little too much. I get scared like everyone else. But I don't let that affect my driving. I don't know if that's a weakness."

Contest winner named

Two contestants tied for the top prizes in the last of the weekly football contests of 1979.

Alan Griffith of 47100 Seven Mile, Northville, and Art Thomson of 39603 Blakeston, Farmington, both submitted entries containing three mistakes — good enough to earn them a share of first and second places.

Both contestants were 21 points off the mark in the tie-breaker game between Dallas and Washington.

Taking third place, with four mistakes, was Paul Caroselli of 770 Bradburn.

Six other contestants had four mistakes but Caroselli, who was eight points off, made a closer guess of the Dallas-Washington score.

One of the 16 games was not counted since USC didn't play last week. Judges marked no one wrong in this miscue.

Other contestants who had four mistakes but who finished out of the money were:

Anne White, Dave Babich, Charles Eubanks, Finn O'Leary, Bruce Martin, and Mike McLaughlin.

Most difficult games for contestants included Wisconsin's 42-37 win over Minnesota; Michigan's 18-15 loss to Ohio State, Iowa's 33-23 victory over Michigan State, Washington's triumph over Dallas, and Pittsburgh's loss to San Diego.

An even 20 persons submitted entries with five errors as did those who missed six games. Ten contestants missed seven games, seven missed eight, and the remaining contestants missed nine or more games.

Council pares sandwich shop's parking assessment

Although he was unable to convince council to waive the city's request for a parking space charge, John Genitti has been granted a reduced parking charge rate.

Council Monday agreed to charge Genitti (or his landlord, the Masonic Temple) at the "old rate" of $2,400 per space rather than the new rate of $3,000 in view of the fact that council earlier had extended the old rate, through this year, to Stone's Unfinished Furniture store and to the Old Mill Restaurant.

Based on square footage, Genitti is required to provide 1.75 additional parking spaces (or cash in lieu of actual provision) for the new "Hole in the Wall" sandwich shop he has opened in the rear of Ellis Electronics. (A hole in the wall between the rear of Genitti's store and the rear of Ellis was opened for access).

The reduction means he will be billed $4,200 instead of $5,250.

Genitti and his landlord had argued against any assessment since the building's owner already had been assessed, as had other downtown store owners, for parking back when the municipal parking deck was financed.

That assessment was based on square footage only, said Herman Wedemeyer of the Masonic Temple, and the kind of use at the time was not used in development of the formula. In other words, it didn't matter if a building was occupied at the time by a restaurant, retail store or office. All were charged at the same square foot formula.

Since the "Hole in the Wall" occupies space that existed years ago when the original assessments were made, the landlord ought not be charged again, it was argued.

However, City Manager Steven Walters said usage necessarily must be taken into account, conceivably, all downtown buildings could be put to their maximum level of usage, thus creating a parking space crunch.

If only square footage were counted, for example, the Old Mill

Restaurant could change its second floor into a restaurant without providing a single additional parking space—even though such an addition obviously would generate additional downtown parking, the manager pointed out.

The manager conceded that usage was not specifically addressed in old city records and that therefore, understandably, differences of interpretation occur. The present ordinance, he noted, does specifically take usage into account in computing the parking space assessment. Under the usage theory, said the manager, just as a downtown landlord can be assessed (for parking) when he increases usage (from retail to restaurant) so, too, technically he should be reimbursed should he reduce usage (from restaurant to retail or retail to office). The manager has stated he knows of no such case in which such a reimbursement has been made.

Waltz leads Twisters

Diane Hale and Mandy Waltz, both from Northville, qualified for the state semi-final gymnastics meet (which will take place in April) by scoring the required 30 points in a qualifying meet Sunday at Steve Whitlock's School of Gymnastics.

Waltz placed second in all-around competition and took firsts in floor exercise, the uneven bars and in vaulting. Hale placed fourth all-around, and third in both the floor exercise and on the uneven bars. She also took fifth place finish on both the balance beam and in vaulting. Both competed in the 12-14 age category.

The two girls are members of the Livonia Family Y Twisters gymnastics team. The Twisters sent 15 gymnasts in all to the qualifying meet and 13 earned the required points for state qualification.

Earlier in the week the Twisters competed in their first meet of the season and downed the Warren Y by a score of 200.3 to 198.85. The meet was a Class III Compulsory, plus an optional floor exercise.

Waltz placed third in all-around competition, second on the uneven bars, balance beam and vaulting and notched a third in floor exercise to help the Twisters to the win.

Contribute $15,100

Employees of Plymouth Center for Human Development took seriously the motto of the 1979 Torch Drive — "People who need... need people who care." Demonstrating that they are "people who care," 38 percent of the employees contributed more than $15,100 to the United Foundation annual appeal of 150 percent of their goal.

"I am thrilled with the response," said Center Director Ernell McIntosh-Wilson,

"especially when compared with last year."

During the 1978 Torch Drive only 11.5 percent of Center employees responded. Their contributions totaled almost $4,000.

This year's drive conducted by the community relations department, saw a 230 percent increase over last year's employee participation.

Top honors for the highest level of employee participation went to the housekeeping department

Motorcycle, car drivers hurt in weekend crashes

One driver was seriously hurt and a number of others suffered minor injuries in four separate traffic accidents November 18 in the city and township, police reported.

Dennis Aceto, of 226 Linden, suffered serious injuries to his right shoulder and hand in a car-motorcycle collision on Dunlap, city, police reported.

Aceto was driving his motorcycle eastbound on Dunlap when he struck a westbound car driven by Ruth Young, 18588 Jamestown Circle, which was turning into a city parking lot, witnesses said.

Aceto was taken to Botsford Hospital. Ms. Young and her passenger, were not injured.

Ms. Young was issued a citation for failing to yield to oncoming traffic.

In another motorcycle involved traffic mishap, David Stenrose of Redford was traveling southbound on Main when his motorcycle struck a vehicle westbound on Beal, driven by Marian Smith, 403 Beal, city police reported.

Stenrose suffered minor injuries to his elbow and ankle.

Driver Smith, who had stopped, then proceeded, was issued a citation for failing to yield to oncoming traffic.

Paul Barrett of Milford suffered minor injuries when his vehicle, westbound on Main, struck a parked car just west of Main, city police reported.

The car was parked in a 'no parking' zone with the lights off, police said.

reported.

Five one-gallon liquid containers were also stolen from the storage unit, police said.

The stolen materials are owned by Maguire Mechanical Company of Northville.

A 1974 Oldsmobile parked in the parking lot of Anger Manufacturing, 777 Baseline, was destroyed by fire November 17, city police reported.

The vehicle reportedly worth $3,000, was later reported stolen from Livonia.

There are no suspects at this time, police said.

A 1974 Cadillac was vandalized while parked at the auto shop lot at Northville High School November 15, city police reported.

The right front door panel was bent and chrome molding was damaged while the vehicle was parked, police said.

Damage to the car, which is owned by the Unifertical Corporation of Detroit, is estimated at $100.

A Snap On socket set worth about $18, was taken from a parked car parked at the northwest end of River on the property of Northville Downs, city police reported.

Unite for county clout

A frustrated group of suburban mayors, township supervisors and a caucus of out-county commissioners representing 1.3 million Wayne County residents agreed at a special meeting last week to create its own strong ad hoc task force to provide Governor William Milliken and the legislature with their recommendations for the reorganization of Wayne County.

"The elected officials feel the future of Wayne County has been improperly placed in the hands of two devious political powers - Milliken and Detroit's Mayor Coleman Young - without regard for either the taxpayers or the communities most affected by reorganizational decision," County Commissioner Thomas Presnell, chairman of the meeting, explained.

The group representing over 29 cities and townships of suburban Wayne County included Dewey Henry, director of the 14-city Downriver Community Conference organization; Mayor Edward McNamara of Livonia, Mayor William Daniels, Inkster, Mayor William Brainard, Southgate; Mayor Frank B. Swapka, Dearborn Heights; and mayors and supervisors from Plymouth Township, Rockwood, Lincoln Park, Redford Township, Grosse Ile Township, Belleville, Allen Park, Riverview, and ten outcounty commissioners.

Presnell said the members indicated they were tired of being ignored by the governor and planned to send him a telegram explaining their position and to select their own spokesman to meet with the Governor on a one-to-one basis much as has been done by Mayor Young.

College appoints labor director

Schoolcraft College has appointed new director of labor relations.

He is Michael Petrack, 30, who joined the college in late October, filling a position vacant since the untimely death of John F. Graves during the summer.

Petrack was selected from a field of 59 candidates. He reports to Gerald Munro, manager of personnel services. The job requires his participation in negotiating and administering collective bargaining agreements with five groups representing approximately 350 college employees.

As director of personnel at Southfield prior to accepting the college post, Petrack was responsible for the total personnel function including serving as chief spokesperson for their five employee collective bargaining agreements.

Prior to his position with Southfield, Petrack was a personnel management specialist with the U.S. Civil Service Commission where he consulted with state and local government officials throughout the Great Lakes region on personnel management situations.

Petrack holds bachelor of arts and master of labor and industrial relations degrees from Michigan State University.

Petrack is married and resides in the City of Southfield. He is a member of the American Society for Personnel Administration, the International Personnel Management Association and the Industrial Relations Research Association.

Kiwanis aids two children

Two Wixom children, who recently were patients at C. S. Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor, were aided by the Northville Kiwanis Club.

The local club helps finance the hospital through its Kiwanis of Michigan Foundation contributions.

The children are Elena Beauchamp and Kristina Mager.
