

Hospitals fight metro area bed reduction order

EDITOR'S NOTE: To combat spiraling health care costs the state of Michigan has mandated a "debedding" program to eliminate excess hospital beds. The plan, completed in December, is meeting stiff resistance from all sides. In this first of two articles staffer Ellen Sponseller examines the local effect of such a plan.

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

The community hospital closest to Northville has joined other area hospitals in an angry dispute with a health planning agency to keep from having its number of beds cut from 335 to 304.

St. Mary Hospital in Livonia has been ordered to cut 26 beds in order for the metropolitan area to consolidate health care services.

Botsford Hospital in Farmington, the next closest hospital to Northville, has been ordered to cut 20 of its 310 beds.

While Botsford spokesmen say they will abide by the order if it becomes law, St. Mary administrators predict dire consequences if the order sticks.

"If this debedding goes through it will mean longer waits for patients at a higher cost," said Dr. Richard Horsch, chief anesthesiologist at St. Mary. "There will not be enough hospital beds to meet the needs of the community."

Tri-county health planners maintain their plan to cut 2,500 beds in southeastern Michigan will "achieve economic savings in health care costs while assuring quality health care services for the residents of the planning area." But St. Mary Hospital administrators argue that the hospital bed cut will have exactly the opposite effect.

St. Mary is the closest hospital to Northville. It operates at 89.9 percent capacity and costs $184 per patient per day.

Botsford operates at 85.5 percent capacity and costs $237.53 per patient per day.

In contrast, the huge Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit operates at 77.3 percent occupancy at a cost of $495 per patient per day. Wayne County General operates at 54.6 percent occupancy at $514 per patient per day.

Michigan legislators passed a bill in 1978 requiring hospitals to cut 3,800 beds statewide to lower medical costs. It appointed a health planning agency, the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan (CHPCSM) to come up with recommendations.

When CHPCSM scored all area hospitals last fall, St. Mary and most other community hospitals were told to cut back while most major "referral" hospitals were allowed to stay the same size.

Horsch said CHPCSM's 50 criteria for evaluating hospitals was biased in favor of big referral hospitals at the expense of community hospitals.

Criteria evaluated were hospital size, services, utilization, management and medical services.

"(The order) is incredulous when at St. Mary Hospital there are from 10 to

It was up, up and into the stratosphere at 2:30 p.m. Monday as all 325 students at Our Lady of Victory School let go the strings of balloons bearing their names and the inscription, "Catholic Schools Week." Principal Sharalene Thompson called the send-off to Catholic Schools Week "Our Lady of Victory School's unique activity to call attention to our pride in attending Catholic school and in being part of the community." The observance will end with a service at 10 a.m. Thursday at OLV.

Subsidy housing coming

Subsidized housing in Northville Township will be a reality this spring.

Up to 53 of the 264 units of Swan Harbour Apartments currently being built in Highland Lakes Subdivision may be occupied by tenants receiving federal housing assistance under the Wayne County Housing Assistance Plan (HAP).

According to the developer, renters of 21 of the 104 units in Phase I and 32 of the 160 units in Phase II will be eligible for federal assistance.

Though the renters will have incomes ranging from $13,000 to $20,000 — certainly not low-income in the usual sense of the word — some township residents are not happy with the proposed housing and claim they were never informed that this type of housing was being built.

Residents approached the township planning commission at its last meeting, finding to their surprise that some of the planners also were not aware of the program.

The township supervisor said he was not aware of the subsidy program at Swan Harbour until just recently.

"I am not opposed to subsidized housing in this township," said Supervisor Donald Thomson. "But I think the people should have had the opportunity to speak on the issue."

"Most of the board members were not aware of this subsidized housing and I think some still don't know," the supervisor said. "I recently attended a meeting with county planning commission members and was told that the clerk, not myself was the contact to make in Northville Township."

Township Clerk Clarice Sass on June 28, 1979 sent a letter to Robert McMahon, housing program manager for SEMCOG, giving the township's "wholehearted endorsement."

The clerk told The Record Monday she sent the letter at the request of the supervisor.

"Mr. Thomson told me to answer the letter," the clerk said.

"I had gotten a call asking if the township had received any communication concerning the program and asked the supervisor if he had."

"He said no but that he hadn't gone through his mail that day and directed me to look through it," Clerk Sass continued. "I found a letter and asked the supervisor if we shouldn't make a response and he said yes."

The supervisor said he does "not recall saying any such thing."

"I don't think I would ever do that," he stated.

The clerk also said the township "has absolutely nothing to say about how the project is financed."

Kirk Coleman of the Detroit office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), however, disagreed.

Township planners okay apartment plan

Conditional approval of the final site plan for "Phase Three" of the Northridge Apartments on Seven Mile was granted by township planners January 29.

The final okay is subject to the approval of Township Engineer Bill Mosher, who, in a letter to the commission, listed some required details missing from the submitted plans.

The commission gave its approval amidst inquiries about possible low-income government subsidized housing, a topic never raised before during talks about the proposed apartment complex.

In fact planners, including Bernard Baldwin, vice-chairman of the commission were quite surprised by the question.

"This is the first that I have heard of subsidized housing," he said. "But that is not something that the planning commission would normally deal with anyhow."

Commissioner James Nowka questioned Dalby Corporation representatives about the possibility.

"How is this set up?" he asked. "Are there a certain number of apartments which are set aside or are there in fact any units proposed for subsidy?"

Bill Fox, representing Dalby, said "We are required to set aside some four percent of the units for handicapped and elderly persons, but we are not sure at this point if there will be subsidized housing beyond that."

"However, it is a possibility," he

Apartments slated here at Novi curve

City council request to rezone a portion of property near the Novi Road curve at Eight Mile will go to the planning commission soon.

Decision to request the rezoning, from single family (R-1) to multiples (R-3), came Monday as council debated what some members viewed as a "confiscation" of the land owners' property.

Two members — Mayor Paul Vernon and Councilmember Stanley Johnston — and City Attorney Philip Ogilvie would have preferred that the land owner receive relief without going through the rezoning process. The other members, however, took the position that the landowner should be treated no differently than any other citizen.

The property in question, part of a 2.3 acre site owned by Beneicke & Krue Development since the early 1950's, is immediately south of the existing Novi Road apartments and adjacent to park property owned by the city.

The property is divided by the Rouge River, with the small portion west of the stream being, "for all practical purposes," unbuildable.

The land east of the stream is zoned for multiples, the land west for single family housing.

Until 1975 the land had a single zoning designation. But planners and council split it into two designations during city-wide overhaul of the zoning ordinance.

Beneicke & Krue, developers of Village Green Subdivision 20 years ago, has asked that it be allowed to use the land on the west side of the stream in computing the density for apartments it proposes on the east side. In turn it has said the land west of the stream will be deeded to the city, which can use it to extend its park land all the way to Eight Mile.

Attorney Ogilvie advised council that it could legally allow the combined density count without rezoning. He suggested a contractual agreement with the developer could be developed, thus in effect providing a trade of the unbuildable land for the density count.

John R. Beneicke, vice-president of the development company, said the firm did not care what process is used — either by rezoning the land west of the stream to R-3 or by a contractual agreement. He did indicate a preference for the latter, however, because it would involve less delay than the former.

Split zoning of Beneicke property termed 'confiscation' of privately owned land

Councilmembers Carolann Ayers, Dewey Gardner and J. Burton DeRusha, argued that while they do not disagree with an apartment development they disagree with allowing the density count without going through the standard rezoning process so that the total acreage unquestionably could be used in establishing density.

Councilmember Johnston stressed that in the final analysis the issue at stake is three apartment units. There is no question that apartments will be built west of the stream, he said. The only question is how many apartments. Without permission to use the west side in computing density three fewer units would be permitted, he explained.

Beneicke & Krue propose building 14 two bedroom units and 13 one bedroom units this year on the west side of the stream adjacent to Novi Road.

Two of the buildings would be single story structures, supported over the flood plain fringe on stilts. Underneath covered parking would be provided. A third building would be two stories except for the westerly end of the unit which would be one story.

Susan Heintz to fill township trustee post

At a special meeting January 30 Susan Heintz was appointed to serve on the Northville Township Board of Trustees.

The 31-year-old mother of two was selected from 11 applicants to fill the post vacated by David Mitchell.

Mitchell, an executive with General Foods Corporation, is being transferred to San Francisco.

Heintz beat out many qualified applicants including William Bohan, planning commission vice-chairman.

Applicants C. James Armstrong and L.T. Sylvestre also received strong support.

When the supervisor asked trustees to choose their top three applicants, four of the six board members selected Heintz as their first choice. Trustee James Nowka's motion to appoint Heintz was approved unanimously.

Heintz, currently a full-time student of political science and public administration at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, plans to graduate in June.

DNR orders ban in Novi

An order that prohibits construction of any more sanitary sewer lines in Novi until it has been determined there will be no resulting sewage overflows has temporarily gone into effect.

Construction of an addition to the Country Place Condominiums on Eight Mile is the first project to be halted by the temporary ban.

If the situation is not resolved, similar action apparently could be taken against other sewer expansion projects.

Developments which have sewer lines in the ground, but have not yet connected to the system, are not affected by the order.

As a result of the DNR's action, affected communities are working with Wayne County to unplug the sewer plan bottleneck.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources in December ordered a study of an undersized sewer line which stretches from the Novi border to Wilcox Road in Plymouth.

Northville Township Supervisor Donald Thomson raised concerns last fall that the line cannot adequately handle the amount of sewage flowing through it and consequently can be expected to overflow into the Rouge River.

In response to Thomson's concerns, the DNR warned that permits for sewer construction would not be approved if it cannot shown there is adequate capacity to prevent sewage overflows. Novi, the city and township of Northville and parts of Plymouth Township are affected by the order.

Apparently, the DNR was not satisfied with information from the Wayne County Department of Public Works and decided to hold up permits for further expansion of the Country Place development.

Duane Egeland, Wayne County DPW deputy managing director, said they had sent information to the DNR that the undersized sewer did not pose an immediate hazard, "but apparently it didn't convince them."

Officials for the DNR are quick to say their action does not constitute a formal sewer ban, and the affect on developers in the specified communities is likely to be temporary.

The order issued in December was a warning that a sewer ban could be pending, explained William Bradford, chief of the municipal facilities and planning branch of the DNR.

He indicated that issuing the warning allows communities to respond with information showing whether a sewer ban is necessary. A community which has received such a warning also can develop a timetable for improvements which also would render a ban unnecessary.

"We would review all this information before issuing a formal sewer ban, and communities would have the right to appeal before a hearing officer to offer testimony regarding the situation," Bradford explained.

The pay isn't much and there isn't much glory. But township police reserves can take pride in the fact that they do a great service to the community. Additional reserves are being sought and interested persons can apply at the township police department. Here, Jeff Larente of Redford Township is interviewed by James Schrot, Captain Robert Reh, head of the township reserves, Sergeant Dennis Roscoe and Frank Radwick.

Township police reserves sought

"Like the Marines we are always looking for a few good men."

But unlike the armed services, Township Police Chief Ronald Nisun promises police reserve candidates will not have to go through boot camp.

They must, however, endure some 100 hours of schooling.

"These men have a lot of training before they can act," Chief Nisun said. "And once they become a reserve they aren't paid very much."

Township reserve officers, who work about three or four nights a month, earn $3 an hour.

Alone they have no authority, but when riding with a township officer they assume the same powers.

They receive their training, about one third the schooling required for a regular police officer, at Schoolcraft College.

Nisun said currently there are 13 township reserves — 12 men and one woman. He said he would like to hire "quite a few" more.

"These reserve officers do a tremendous service to the community," the chief said.

Captain Robert Reh, head of the reserves, currently is conducting interviews for reserve candidates.

Nisun said city and township residents are preferred, but interested persons from other areas also will be considered.

Applications are available at the township police department, 41600 Six Mile.

Thank you

The Canadian flag can be seen this week flying with the American flag at the Northville Township Hall, 41600 Six Mile. Township Fire Chief Robert Toms, owner of the flag, thought it would be a nice gesture to thank the Canadians for helping six Americans escape Iran, so he asked Supervisor Donald Thomson, who agreed to the tribute. Also flying the Canadian flag this week is the George Talraas family of 231 West, Northville. Mrs. Talraas explains they are "very pleased" with the Canadian action and are flying their flag to pay tribute as they have many Canadian friends.

Rouge Watershed Council

If you think the river's clean...

"We work on water quality — a lot." That's the seven word summary Marcie Colling, executive secretary of the Rouge River Watershed Council, gives to explain the organization's function.

One of three such councils in the state, it is composed of local communities dedicated to the improvement of water quality in the Rouge River Valley. Northville Township has been a member and last month the city council decided to consider membership when its budget studies begin.

Other members are Allen Park, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township, Canton Township, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Detroit, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Franklin Village, Livonia, Oakland County, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Southfield and West Bloomfield Township.

'Some storm water is more toxic

than sewage'

—Marcie Colling

After the state made provision for setting up watershed councils (but without funding) the Clinton, Huron and River Rouge councils came into being. The River Rouge charges members a flat rate of $500 each to join.

Livonia offered office space in the Jefferson recreation center at 9501 Henry Ruff. But the equipment belongs to the council.

Marcie Colling is the council's second executive secretary and its only paid employee. She took the part-time job in July when the first secretary was leaving when her husband was transferred. "It was perfect for me," the Northville resident states, "as I had just received my degree in May as an environmental science major at University of Michigan-Dearborn."

Mrs. Colling and her family have lived here seven years. Their home is at 16405 Franklin. Her husband John has his own public relations business, Town Pub, specializing in governmental projects. He's been a big help in her work, Mrs. Colling says.

They have one daughter Marie at Northville High.

Nancy Donaldson of Franklin, chairman of the council and a founding member, says the council is delighted to have Mrs. Colling who "gives far more than part-time attention to the job."

Mrs. Colling who has been busy giving slide presentations of the council's activities and concerns agrees that she would like the post to be full-time.

Mrs. Donaldson also explains that the council grew out of interest in the subject by the League of Women Voters.

In addition to tapping league expertise the council has benefited from professional backgrounds of executive committee members. Kenneth West, committee treasurer, is city engineer of Plymouth while Ed Siemert, vice-chairman, holds that position in Livonia, Mrs. Colling illustrates.

The council meets during the first month of each quarter in the year.

Projects include starting research on storm water management with the intention of offering a uniform ordinance that all communities could use.

"There is no federal funding yet for storm water. This will take a lot of money and years, but we want to have an ordinance ready."

"Some storm water is more toxic than sewage," Mrs. Collings declares.

The Rouge River drainage basin is located in both Oakland and Wayne counties. One of the projects Mrs. Colling like to bring into being soon is a yearly clean-up of the Rouge. She envisions accomplishing this through community recreation departments.

"It can be done," she stresses, pointing out that Southfield has held such clean-ups for years.

"The first time it's a big effort but afterward it's not," she says, adding that it is an economic plus as logjams of debris cost Dearborn Heights $50,000 to clean up.

What can the Rouge River Watershed Council do to help locally?

Marcie Colling warns that "Phoenix Lake is becoming very eutrophic as so many nutrients are going into the storm water runoff in the area."

When new subdivisions such as Whisper Woods come into being, some over-fertilization occurs, she explains, and plants receiving the nutrients are thriving on the lake.

Problems of sewer and storm water overflow, she says, are being addressed by the federal government as well as county agencies.

Marcie Colling with council logo

While the council is advisory only, Mrs. Colling reports that the state Department of Natural Resources, which she says often is "very overworked," has been most cooperative. "We can help get the DNR's attention."

Interestingly, Mrs. Colling adds, septic tanks now are not considered an outdated mode of disposal as they were a few years ago. New ones, she says, have injector systems. She suggests that residents with their own wells have water analyzed in the service offered without charge by the state. Bottles are available from Wayne County Health Department for the purpose.

Mrs. Colling has made slide presentations illustrating the council's activities to both the city and township. She wants organizations to know she is available without charge to explain what the Rouge River basin is and to show the slides. Talks, she says, are geared to the audience. She may be contacted at the council office at 522-4340.

"I talk on the basics of water to young school groups," she explains.

Recently, the council decided it would like a logo more descriptive than the tree being used. It sponsored a contest in area high schools and from 50 entries, including some from Northville, chose a new one. It delineates the Rouge River watershed spread.

Fordson High School Student Mark Bak of Dearborn received a bond from the council for his winning design.

Marcie Colling happily displayed it last week, declaring it shows where the water that is the council's concern comes from and where it's going.

And that's part of the council's educational program.

Gifted program starts

Northville's program for academically gifted students began in earnest at the start of the second semester Monday.

Parents and the public are invited to a meeting at Amerman Elementary School library at 7:30 p.m. to hear how the district will conduct gifted programs for 150 academically talented students in grades one through six, said Gayle Fountain, gifted program director.

Silver Springs Principal Marcia Wiss will talk generally about the concept of "gifted" student programs. Fountain will explain how the Northville program will work.

Last fall 150 students were selected to be in the program but there was no program director. Fountain, hired in December, will spend one day per week at each elementary school, spending hours with small groups of students.

First and second graders will study literature and writing, Fountain said. Third through sixth graders will work on individual projects following a theme, which has not yet been set.

Marsha Dee sings 'sad songs'

By MARILYN HERALD

There's a sad note in the voice of Marsha Dee as she tilts her blonde head, closes her hazel eyes, and puts a lot of feeling into "Does Anybody Here Need a New Old Lady?"

But then aren't most country and western ballads a little on the sad side?

Marsha, the regular female singer on Michigan's newest country and western production, the Michigan Opry, is a local gal who says she has to be feeling "really depressed" in order to compose.

She will be the area headliner this week behind country-western star Johnny Paycheck when the Michigan Opry opens this Saturday night at the Wayne Theatre on Michigan Avenue, near Wayne Road. The Larry Lee Atkins band will be the other regular performers.

Marsha, a resident of the South Lyon area of Eight Mile Road and a 1968 graduate of Northville High School, was the inspiration for this newest enterprise of producer Lowell Beasley.

Beasley, a former promoter of gospel groups, and Marsha met last April after she ran an advertisement in the paper, "girl singer looking for country band."

Marsha says Beasley called her and the more they worked together, the more the idea for Michigan Opry grew. He is currently her manager.

The enterprise, incorporated under Beasley as Michigan Opry, will be similar to Grand Ole Opry, but on a slightly smaller scale.

Paycheck, best known for his hit song, "Take This Job and Shove It," will be the headliner in the first country and western concert at the theatre Saturday, February 9. Shows are at 7 and 9:30 p.m. and tickets are on sale at the box office.

Singer Marsha Dee will back up Johnny Paycheck

Beasley, whose experience in producing and promoting shows began when he was a youth evangelist at age 15, plans a country concert every other Saturday at the 1,400-seat former State Theatre.

Tanya Tucker and Merle Haggard will be appearing in succeeding shows and Marsha will be a regular performer. In fact, the show, and Marsha, will be traveling to Saginaw and Lansing in March for appearances with Haggard prior to his performance in Wayne.

A smiling Marsha says she's too happy right now to be doing any composing and too busy. She rehearses about four hours daily in preparation for Saturday's program. She also taped a show last week for WPON in Pontiac as a promotion for Michigan Opry.

Just for fun and the exposure to area fans, she sings at the Double OO Pub on Pontiac Trail in South Lyon on Wednesday and Friday evenings.

"I don't have my own band except for the Michigan Opry performances but the band, 'Show Down' at Double OO, is great," she adds enthusiastically.

When she comes on stage Saturday, she'll be doing some "old standards like 'Help Me Make It Through The Night'" as well as her own composition, "Does Anybody Here Need a New Old Lady?" and she'll be enjoying every minute of it.

Marsha began her love affair with the guitar at age 14 when her parents gave her her first one.

"I picked up the guitar from my father although he liked mostly jazz and really wanted to be an opera singer. I get my talent from him."

For years, however, Marsha confined her activities to singing at weddings and doing folk music. It wasn't until her ex-boyfriend introduced her to country and western that she really became committed to that field.

The boyfriend, whose father was a real "pickin' and grinin'" guitarist, is gone now but the love for country lingers on.

Perhaps he was the inspiration for Marsha's latest composition, "The Man Who Would Always Be There."

"I usually have to be very depressed to be able to compose. I just pick up the guitar and start singing some of my usual songs and then some new words start running through my mind."

"The words and the melody come along sort of together."

Marsha wrote her first song, "Where is Daddy?" at the age of 17.

She hasn't made any records except one that she keeps on the wall in her bedroom to remind her that there are "shyster" outfits who offer to publish for a price. That one cost her about $250.

Asked if she copies the style of any particular performer, Marsha replies "No, but I do a lot of Emmy Lou Harris stuff and Barbara Mandrell songs."

When she comes out on the stage Saturday, she won't be all dolled up like a "rhinestone cowgirl" either. She says Paycheck dresses in buckskins and she will be attired simply.

Fired up

A number of area firefighters are involved in advance fire training every Tuesday and Thursday nights at the Northville Township Hall, 41600 Six Mile. The Michigan State Fire Training Council is conducting the training sessions, which cover all aspects of firefighting including apparatus, rescue, fire science and salvage. The classes will run through May 29. Here, instructor Dennis Ireland (left) lectures township firefighters Bill Gaul, Bill Zhmendak, and Rand Okopny and South Lyon firefighter Arnie Braun (holding hose).

Local hospitals fight bed reduction proposal

20 emergency room patients almost daily waiting for hours to be admitted as inpatients," Horsch said.

In response to the orders St. Mary and other community hospitals banded together forming a Michigan Association of Community Hospitals. They have some legislative backing from suburban legislators for what promises to be a knock-down drag-out political fight between community hospitals and the CHPCSM.

"The CHPCSM devised a scheme to promote their own social goals rather than save money," Horsch said. "If community hospital beds are eliminated people will have to go to referral hospitals like University of Michigan Hospital, Wayne County General or Henry Ford. Since they can't compete, they're trying to eliminate us."

Botsford sources, while admitting that large hospitals probably did have more clout in the evaluations, said that the cuts would not affect its services to the public.

CHPCSM's recommendations, now before a state health committee in Lansing, have to be approved by the state legislature to become law. So far, the hospital group has pushed for legislation blocking implementation of the debedding order in southeastern Michigan until the joint committee can be reviewed by a joint committee.

Legislators say privately the plan to cut hospital beds may have no chance for passage during an election year because every legislator will be protecting his own turf.

Still, Northville Mayor Paul Vernon is worried what will happen to Northville's medical care if hospital beds are cut.

"This is a highly political matter and not in the best interest of the community. I see a real serious situation developing," Vernon said. "Their intent may be commendable but we should not subsidize major regional hospitals at the expense of suburban hospitals."

Northville once had two hospitals: Atchison Memorial and Sessions Hospital but both were forced to close as hospitals in the early 1960s when they could not meet state standards

Next week: future health care in Northville.

Concerned over housing

"We certainly would consider any objections of the project made by the local community whatever they might be," he told The Record in a phone interview Monday.

"But we received a 'no objection' letter from the township which happened to be signed by the clerk," Coleman said.

According to the developer of the units, "at least three board members" were aware of the subsidy housing plan. He declined, however, to disclose their names.

Applications for the units have been circulated in the township, despite the fact that there has been no advertising for the apartments at this point.

John Carroll, who is the marketing agent for Swan Harbour, said the marketing program is not yet in progress, but that applications are available to anyone who is interested.

"No applicants have been screened yet and certainly none have been approved," Carroll said. "All applicants will undergo the same screening before anyone is accepted for occupancy."

Karman Kalaydjian, developer of the Swan Harbour Apartments, said the units will be priced at $365 per month for a one-bedroom apartment and $420 for a two-bedroom.

Under the HAP program, a single person earning $10,000 would pay 25 percent of his income for rent. The rest would be paid by the federal government.

Another apartment complex, the Northridge Apartments, recently received township final site plan approval.

Developers of this project also have applied for federal subsidy of a number of units.

Offer CPR classes at township hall

Cardio pulmonary resuscitation classes are being offered for city and township residents.

February 12 and 13 instructors certified by the American Heart Association will conduct classes at the Northville Township Hall, 41600 Six Mile from 6:30 p.m. to about 10:30 p.m.

The classes are being sponsored by the Northville Jaycees and the city and township police.

Because not more than 40 persons can be accommodated each evening, interested persons are urged to contact Jonathon Cox, 348-9397; Mary Angela Winter, 349-5588; or Joanne Kinnelly, 349-8026.

"He will be surprised and very happy," she added excitedly.

A township resident since 1971, Heintz has served on the advisory wage and salary review commission and is chairman of the Highland Lakes Legislative Committee.

Her duties as chairman included the monitoring and interpreting of government action at all levels as it may pertain to Highland Lakes and recommending an appropriate response.

Heintz is past president of the Highland Lakes Mothers Club, past editor of the Travelers Insurance Company newspaper, a past deputy registrar of voters in Marian County, Indiana and currently she is a member of the Northville Historical Society.

Northville resident Couse in MSU play

Peter Couse of Northville was among the performers onstage when the Michigan State University Arena Theatre presented the arena theatre comedy "Lu Ann Hampton Lavery Oberlander" February 5-9.

Couse, a junior sociology major in MSU's James Madison College, played Red Grover, a character in the bar, in the three-act play which is part of the "Texas Trilogy" by Preston Jones.

Couse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blake T. Couse of 18240 Laraugh, recently played the role of Boris Kolenkov in the Arena Theatre's production of "You can't take it with you."

Couse is a 1977 graduate of Northville High School.

College wants extra school

It could be too expensive for Schoolcraft College to use the soon-to-be-vacant Dickinson Junior High School in Livonia.

The college's board of trustees learned recently that Schoolcraft could accumulate a $373,000 deficit by mid 1983 if it used the Newburgh Road building on a "pay as you go" basis. That means paying for the building from the two-year college's regular revenue sources, student tuition fees and state aid.

"We couldn't see that we could use it," said W. Kenneth Lindner, the college's vice president of business affairs.

Dickinson, between Six and Seven Mile on Newburgh and a mile directly east of the college campus, will be closed at the end of the current school year. It is one of many vacant buildings the Livonia School District wants to lease to either other educational institutions or the federal government.

Livonia has closed 21 schools in recent years because of declining student enrollment.

Schoolcraft is considering using Dickinson in stages beginning next year.

According to a plan developed by Lindner, the college would use 50,000 square feet next fall, 75,000 square feet during the 1981-82 school year and the total 117,000 square feet in 1982-83.

But before any decision is made, Schoolcraft trustees want to meet with the Livonia Board of Education to negotiate. Livonia wants a minimum three-year lease, according to Lindner, at $1 a square foot. The rate would jump six percent during both the second and third years of the lease.

According to Schoolcraft spokesman David Heinzman of Northville, the college is "looking at other alternatives for funding" or sharing the building with another tenant.

Lindner presented a preliminary 1980-81 college budget of nearly $14 million, up $933,000 or 7.5 percent over this year's. Schoolcraft's budget year runs from July 1 to June 30. The board will adopt a new budget after a public hearing in late June.

The college expects a seven percent increase in state aid next year to $5,472,000, some $384,000 more than the state share of this year's budget. State aid provides nearly 40 percent of the college's revenue.

An eight percent increase in property values in the Schoolcraft district is projected for next year, leading to a possible $358,000 increase in property tax revenue. The college district covers the K-12 districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth-Canton, Northville and a portion of Novi.

Schoolcraft levies 1.77 mills per $1,000 SEV (state equalized valuation) for operations and special maintenance.

In other recent action the board — —Unanimously approved seeking a comptroller at a salary range between $29,439 and $41,215. The board authorized creation of the comptroller position in 1977, but had never authorized filling the job.

The college's auditor, Plante Moran of Southfield, has recommended Schoolcraft hire a comptroller for the past seven years.

The person hired must be a certified public accountant (CPA) and will work under Lindner.

—Appointed its chairman, Harry Greenleaf, and Trustee Leonard Wozniak, both of Livonia, to a negotiations council that reviews bargaining with the faculty.

The Faculty Forum's current contract expires August 25. The Forum represents 160 fulltime teachers, counselors and librarians and 200 part-time faculty.

The first bargaining meeting between the college and the faculty hasn't been scheduled. The current contract was reached in September 1978 after a brief faculty strike.

—Selected Trustee Richard Haward to attend the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges convention in San Francisco March 30-April 2.

In uniform

Navy Gunner's Mate Third Class John S. Fauer, son of Richard and Karen Schneider of 19524 Mann Court, recently visited Rota, Spain and Genoa, Italy.

He is a crewmember aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Tattall, homeported in Mayport, Florida, and currently operating as a unit of the U.S. Sixth Fleet.

The port visits were scheduled stops for the Tattall during her present Mediterranean deployment. During the remainder of the cruise, she will be involved in training exercises with other Sixth Fleet units and make additional port calls in various Mediterranean coastal cities.

Tattall is 437 feet long with a crew of 354. She is outfitted with guns, missiles, torpedoes and anti-submarine rockets.

A 1975 graduate of Northville High School, Fauer joined the Navy in June of 1976.

Calling all scientists: science fair's set

This is the big year. Junior highs hold science fairs only once every three years. Elementary schools hold them every year. This year both Northville junior highs and all four elementary schools will be holding fairs between February and May.

Cooke Junior High will be first in line to hold its science fair February 26-27. Amerman and Moraine will hold fairs March 24-28. Silver Springs will hold its fair March 31 and April 1-3. Meads Mill's fair will be April 21-23. Winchester's will be last with a combined science and art fair May 29.

All junior high students are encouraged to participate in the Michigan Science fair to be held in Detroit March 27 to 31.

All junior high projects are judged by local teachers, engineers, doctors and scientists on the basis of scientific thought, thoroughness, clarity and appearance, creative ability and skill.

Projects are in the area of physics, engineering, life sciences, earth, space and math.

A combination of teachers and parents have been working on the junior high programs including Sue Epper, Bettylynn Nowka, Dorothea Bach, Glenda Buist, Chuck Hayes, Norm Hanneveld and Mike Burley.

Cooke's science fair will feature the science projects of Cooke students and will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and from 6 to 8 p.m. February 27.

Children tour P. O.

A tour of the Northville post office was conducted Tuesday for handicapped children attending Harrison school.

Among the children were Northville residents, said Postmaster John Steimel, and some of them are participants in the Northville Kiwanis Club's program for handicapped children.

Steimel is a member of the club and co-chairman of its community citizenship services committee.

High schoolers get consumer law lessons

Every morning the law is teaching some 25 Northville High School students a lesson.

The lessons are learned in business and consumer law class, taught by Wayne Saunders and Maureen Gorskak.

Second semester (there was no class first semester) started Monday with State Representative Jack Kirksey addressing the class on how state government works.

"This class will teach those aspects of law which touch each student as a consumer," Saunders explained.

Point of the course is not to teach law as such, he said. The main objective is to develop the ability to recognize legal problems in situations of everyday living.

Some of the topics which are covered in the elective course include crimes, youth and the law, contracts of minors, minors and employment, marriage law, buying and insuring a car and consumer protection.

Students will hear guest speakers, use newspapers and research projects to aid them in their studies, Saunders said. Sylvia Connolly is teacher's aide in the class.

Oakland Dems meet Monday

All area Democrats are invited to attend the Southwest Oakland Democratic Club meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at Jimmy's Restaurant in South Lyon.

New officers will be elected. Precinct delegate filing procedure for 1980 will be explained.

R. Duane LaMoreaux of 292 Ely Drive North, secretary, has party membership applications. They also will be available at the meeting.

Applications, warns LaMoreaux, must be postmarked no later than February 26 in order to vote in the April 26 caucus.

The 1980 Democratic Party Presidential Caucus process will be explained at the meeting. The 19th Congressional District Democratic Party Presidential Caucus will be held at the UAW Local 653 Hall at 990 Joslyn in Pontiac at 11 a.m. April 26.

Voters in the caucus must have joined the Democratic party by February 26, have been elected a precinct delegate in 1978 or been a party member in 1979.

Applications also may be obtained by calling Bill Brinker in Novi at 474-

HOWELL — A Howell man whom police say is a prime suspect in a string of past telephone extortion threats has been arraigned on a charge of making obscene phone calls.

BRIGHTON — The long-awaited phosphate level for the City of Brighton sewage treatment plant was made public during a meeting of the Michigan Water Resources Commission in Lansing. But the level — 1,630 pounds per year — isn't final by any means and is likely to be challenged and counter challenged before any phosphate level is final, maybe many months or even years from now.

BRIGHTON — The final leg of the three-part competency tests has been completed by the Brighton School ninth graders and they found out that perhaps they aren't quite as smart as they believed.

HOWELL — The hoped-for reduction in 1980 property assessments went aglimmering when a special study of market activity in the last six months for 1980 failed to reveal a measurable drop in Livingston County property values.

HOWELL — Residential housing starts plummeted in Livingston County last year, dropping by 28 percent from 1978 figures in the face of soaring interest rates, higher building costs and rising gasoline prices.

SOUTH LYON — School District Attorney Roger Kidston has told Superintendent Jack Meeder that the majority of school board members want him removed as the district's top administrator, according to reliable sources.

GREEN OAK — Supervisor Edward Janicki took it on the chin recently before board and audience, as he responded to inquiries concerning some seemingly low assessments and to a newspaper article he wrote criticizing the township and some of its officials.

SOUTH LYON — Police, investigating an abandoned tractor-trailer here, made an unexpected find as they recovered more than $100,000 worth of stolen whiskey from the deserted truck.

NOVI — If you found that opening of your tax bill last year nearly precipitated a cardiac-arrest, consider how some of Novi's biggest taxpayers felt. Together they paid more than $55.4 million in property and personal taxes which were divided between the city, schools and Oakland County.

NOVI — Review of Novi's six month financial report shows that the building department could end the year $65,000 in the red and the police department already has expended nearly 80 percent of its overtime budget.

NORTHVILLE — The shopping center company, Meijers, challenged the rezoning proposal as did spokesmen representing owners of the other land parcels. But citizens supported the planning commission's recommendation that the corner of Haggerty and Eight Mile be returned to a residential classification.

ETTER PAUL CADBURY AFFORDABLE

SO SWEET — Managing the largest Arbor Drug Store among the 14 in this area has sweet benefits for Larry Borrusch, left, and Sam Martino. The Northville store was chosen for the "World's Largest Display" of Peter Paul Cadbury candy bars last week. Borrusch estimates about 20,000 Cadbury bars were used in the two-day display. "The chain sells a lot of Cadbury chocolate," Borrusch explains, "and used the display as a way of saying so." It probably was aimed toward Valentine's Day next week.

Fauer, Schneider navy training

Navy Seaman Recruit Kathleen A. Fauer, daughter of Richard J. and Karen A. Schneider of 19524 Mann Court, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center in Orlando, Florida.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in physical education and hygiene.

A 1971 graduate of Northville High School, she joined the Navy in June 1979.

The program, open to anyone curious about the effects of alcohol or alcoholism, is sponsored by the 35th District Court and the Northville Jaycees.

Dr. Frank Hollingsworth, Ph.D., will speak on "The Progression of Alcohol" — the disease concept.

College classes open

Places are still open in continuing education and community services courses for winter semester at Schoolcraft College.

Late registration for courses in business, arts, dance, health, home economics, math, science and liberal arts will be held at Waterman Campus Center on February 7.

Tuition is $17 a credit hour for residents and $27.50 for non-residents.

Further information can be obtained by calling 591-6400, extension 404.

At the third and final session February 19 two members of Alcoholics Anonymous and two Alanon members will participate in a panel discussion on how alcohol affected their lives and how A.A. or Alanon helped them.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

b. Resolution from the City of Berkeley urging the Congress of the United States to pass H.R. 5529 to provide that absentee ballots cast in any public election be mailed free of postage.

It was the consensus of the Council that each community pay their own postage and a Resolution opposing passage of H.R. 5529 should be adopted.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilwoman Ayers to oppose H.R. 5529 and that copies be sent to our state and federal legislators and all supporting communities.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

c. Resolution from Township of Plymouth supporting legislative amendments to Public Act 388 re emergency medical treatment and/or ambulance service to residents and property owners.

g. Annual Report of the Wayne County Drain Commission for 1979.

h. Communication from Oakland County approving our 1977 and 1978 CD projects and advising that the City may begin expending funds on these activities.

i. Resolution from West Bloomfield Township urging the State Legislature to provide State Financing of District Courts.

The City Attorney explained this could result in a loss to the City.

Mayor Vernon asked that the City communicate with our legislators that we are concerned about State financing of District Courts and would appreciate being kept informed.

j. Communication from the City of Plymouth re Senior Citizen Chore and Home Service Program and the amount of money expended, type of service and the recipient in each area.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS: None.

BUILDING DEPARTMENT SERVICE AGREEMENT. The City Manager explained he has not received an answer back from the Township.

CONTROL OF CARS "FOR SALE." The City Attorney would have an ordinance ready for the next agenda.

S. MAIN STREET IMPROVEMENTS: Communication from George Stevenson of Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone regarding questions for resurfacing and improving of South Main Street in the City and feasible ways of financing the project. It was noted in the letter that the County would pay 60 percent of the cost and the City 40 percent; however, the County has asked that the City finance the project with the County to repay the City over a three to five year period.

It was also noted in the letter that MOTOR Vehicle Highway Fund bonds (Michigan Transportation Fund Bonds) have been used in the past to fund cities' share of improvements on county roads and could be used by the City of Northville.

The City Attorney asked about the County paying their share.

The City Manager explained the payments would be specified to skip the first year and be paid up in four to five years. He thought perhaps the City could sell the MVH bonds and bond against major and local money. He also explained the City would have to limit to not more than $44,000 pay back per year. If $400,000 were issued for 10 years, would need $55,000 or $60,000 per year.

Councilman Gardner mentioned that what the County was proposing for $400,000 was what the City was looking for.

The City Manager stated he would write to Stevenson re the City's specific concerns.

Councilman DeRusha mentioned going out for G.O. bonds and asked if the City were close to their borrowing limit.

Mayor Vernon instructed the City Manager to discuss all possibilities with George Stevenson as to what the City can do.

HIGH STREET PAVING EXTENSION. This would be on the next agenda.

The City Manager suggested one key factor would be to find out what the Gas and Weight share would be.

WEST MAIN STREET SEWER EXTENSION. A preliminary estimate for the W. Main Street Sanitary Sewer was received from the City Engineer for the homes that were annexed to the City last summer from the Township. Also included were some lots on the south side of Main.

The cost was estimated at approximately $3,472.75 per lot.

Motion by Councilman Gardner supported by Councilwoman Ayers to ask the City Manager for an assessment report on the extension of the W. Main Street Sewer.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

1980 EASTER SEAL REQUEST. Request from John C. Krause, Admin Assistant, Easter Seal Society for Wayne County for permission to again conduct their activities to solicit funds during the months of February, March and April.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Gardner to grant the request of the Easter Seal Society for Wayne County to conduct their activities to solicit funds during February, March and April subject to the City Manager and the Police Department.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

AMBULANCE SERVICE. Communication from the Novi Ambulance Service, asking to be placed on the agenda to present their proposal of their system since our contract comes up for renewal in March.

A report from Chief Cannon of the Police Department was also on the table.

The City Manager explained that since the fire in the ambulance quarters, the ambulance company has not had a facility in the City, and since last March they have been operating out of Novi.

The City Attorney mentioned the Service wants to demonstrate their advance life support system to us.

Mayor Vernon mentioned to Council the heart stoppage suffered by Jack Burkman, and both the Police Department and Novi Ambulance were called. In Mr. Burkman's opinion, they saved his life. The only complaints were it took the ambulance company a little longer to get here. It is felt ambulance quarters should have something more readily available.

Mayor Vernon asked if the CD Money would qualify to be used for such a project.

The City Manager explained it would not qualify, however, he and the Township Supervisor have been looking for other facilities and may have an answer in a couple of weeks. He also stated he has been working with the Novi Ambulance Co., on the renewal.

Mayor Vernon asked the City Manager to extend an invitation to do their presentation at the February 18th Council Meeting.

LINDEN & DUNLAP — DR. ATCHISON. Communication from Dr. Atchison calling Council's attention to Linden Street. He stated the traffic flow has become much too fast, lending itself to a hazardous situation.

He suggested perhaps, restoring the stop signs at Linden.

The Police Department considered the intersection of Linden and Dunlap and found no real speeding problem. They requested it remain as posted.

Councilman DeRusha suggested responding to Dr. Atchison and thank him for his concern. Also, a copy of the Police Department Study should be sent to him.

On the basis of the Police study, Council find no reason for any other traffic control.

TRAFFIC CONTROL ORDER NO. 80-1. Traffic Control Order No. 80-1 reads as follows:

Pursuant to the Uniform Traffic Code, as adopted in City Code, Title V, Chapter 1, as amended, traffic regulations are hereby established as follows:

Under Section 8.24 of said Traffic Code, the following areas are designated: "No Parking during the following hours: 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. and from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m."

NORTHVILLE STATE HOSPITAL FENCE. Mayor Vernon mentioned that Mr. Russell Amerman, our representative on the Citizens Advisory Committee at Northville State Hospital, still feels a fence would be most appropriate to keep walkways in and trespassers out of that hospital. However, there is a great deal of opposition to the fence on the part of the administrators at the hospital.

Mayor Vernon talked with Director John Reynolds who informed him that the hospital is getting more patients whose mental conditions are more serious.

The City Attorney also mentioned he had discussed this with Mr. Jerome, the Hospital Chaplain, who stated the Hospital is receiving patients who are more actively in need of help.

Councilwoman Ayers asked if anyone had heard about the funding for the fence, she thought it had been appropriated.

Mayor Vernon explained the original plan was to have a guard house type of building in the front with a fence on three sides of the hospital. He thought a letter should be sent to the John Reynolds, Director, and ask for the minutes of the Advisory Board. He also stated that Mr. Amerman is looking for support from the Council in endorsing the concept of the fence.

Mayor Vernon asked Exec. Lt. Petres if the security group have had any meetings.

Exec. Lt. Petres stated not since fall.

MOVING AHEAD—POLLUTION CONTROL

Everyone living in the Southeastern Michigan area is affected and will continue to be affected by the pollution of our environment. The Detroit Water and Sewerage Department (DWSD) is currently involved in preparing a Final Facilities Plan (FFP) — a study of the extent of the pollution and facilities required to control it. The FFP recommendations, when implemented, will upgrade the capacity and capability of the wastewater treatment system and alleviate water pollution by reducing the amount of untreated wastewater that flows directly into our rivers. The estimated cost to implement these recommendations for pollution control could range from $1.5 to $2.5 billion and will be funded through a combination of federal, state and local funds. DWSD will sponsor the second series of public meetings to explore the issues of environmental conditions, current and future demands on the treatment plant, and options being considered for ultimate solids disposal and combined sewer overflows. These meetings are designed to receive public comments, so take time to attend one of the meetings and voice your opinions. The meetings are scheduled for:

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1980, 7:00 p.m., Dearborn Civic Center, 15801 Michigan Ave. (near Greenfield), City of Dearborn

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1980, 7:00 p.m., Mercy College Student Conference Center, 8200 W. Outer Dr. (enter at west gate), City of Detroit

CITY OF NOVI NOTICE OF ENACTMENT ORDINANCE 80-49.02

Remembering

Two of Northville's long-time businessmen looked back last week as they recalled "how it used to be" when they started working here. Bill Asher, who started pumping gas 29 years ago, remembers he was told, "You'll never stick to that job." He has, and has seen gasoline escalate from about 26 cents a gallon to the present $1.24. Chuck Dunn began cutting hair 34 years ago here on January 31, 1946, when a cut was 50 cents. Customer Bob Wilson last week at Chuck's shop on West Main paid $4.25.

Three get Ferris State degrees

Three Northville women received degrees from Ferris State College in Big Rapids fall term, the college announced.

Kayhryn E. Netwal, 2111 Lujon Drive, received an associate in applied sciences degree in retail fashion merchandising.

Kathleen W. Thacker, 5010 West Ten Mile, received an associate in applied sciences degree in commercial art.

Lori A. Tuggle, 19801 Smock, received an associate in applied sciences degree as legal assistant.

FOR WINE

The Pinot Noir grape is what makes the red wines of the Burgundy region in France great. The Pinot Blanc is the secondary grape of the region producing white Burgundies. In California, though, the Pinot Blanc is not considered a secondary grape and flourishes to produce an excellent white, fruity wine. Pinot Blanc is a great wine to enhance the taste of a simple fish meal. It is also good with cold cuts, or for those times when you are not sure what wine to drink when having spaghetti with clam sauce or even a tuna salad sandwich.

Planners tap McLarty as chairman in township

Kenneth McLarty, 36, has been selected to serve as chairman of the Northville Township Planning Commission.

At their regular meeting January 29 planners named McLarty chairman, William Bohan vice-chairman and Marvin Gans secretary.

General Manager of Business Services for Michigan Bell, McLarty was appointed to the planning commission in December, 1978.

The new chairman said he has two major goals he would like to see the planning commission accomplish in the next two years.

"We have two major projects to complete this year," he said, "the revision of the zoning ordinance and the subdivision regulations."

"I also sense a real need for better communication between administrative bodies in the township," he stated. "Particularly between the planning commission and Economic Development Corporation. I would like to see the two groups develop a better working relationship."

The newly elected chairman holds BBA and MBA degrees from Western Michigan University.

He also received a law degree from the Detroit College of Law in 1977.

McLarty, his wife and their three daughters live at 46600 Six Mile.

Our Opinion

Head missing

If what we have been told by Michigan Township Association and charter township officials is true, neither chartering nor a township manager would streamline township government to the extent that we had hoped.

Therefore, we find diminishing reason to dump the present township form of government even though we find it less than satisfactory.

Frankly, we had hoped a professional manager — a man or woman schooled in municipal management — could do for the township what we believe the manager form of government has done for the city. But given the restricted authority that apparently a township manager would have, it appears unlikely that similar benefits would result with chartering.

To be specific, a township manager would have no more, perhaps less, authority than does the elected township supervisor in managing township hall.

Let's assume, for purposes of illustration, Northville Township had a manager.

Can the manager hire and fire personnel in the clerk's office or in the treasurer's office? No. Can the manager transfer personnel from one of these offices to another for better efficiency? No. Can the manager order lawful procedural changes within these offices to increase efficiency? No. Can the manager move a typewriter, even if it is not being used, from one office to another? No. Can the manager order a spending freeze in these departments for purposes of economy? No.

In other words, the township manager can do only what the clerk and treasurer permit him or her to do.

Each of the elected officials, under a charter township, continue to operate their departments independently. Neither they nor their departmental personnel are answerable to the manager even though the township board may designate the manager personnel director.

Under township law "no creation of any additional administrative office or combination thereof shall abolish the offices of township clerk or township treasurer nor diminish any of the duties or responsibilities of those offices which are prescribed by state law."

Because of the ambiguities in the law, we are told that a township manager in actual practice has no superintending control of either the clerk's or the treasurer's office.

It appears to us, therefore, that a township manager would be little more than a lackey — just an extra, paid body in township hall.

If Northville's city manager were given these same restrictions he would be no more effective than would a township manager.

The present city manager is an effective chief administrative officer not only because of his professional attributes but because of the authority the city charter gives him. Strip away that authority and give him the same restrictions under which apparently a township manager must function and he probably would be a failure.

All of this is not to say we are pleased with the present township form of government.

As good as individual members of the board may be, we cannot expect them to come to a township board meeting once or twice a month and be fully apprised of the day-to-day operations of township government — particularly when they must depend on the advice of a clerk and supervisor who seldom agree on anything.

Frankly, just as in the case of a township manager, it is the same lack of authority that makes the elected supervisor ineffective. The law says he is the "chief executive" of the township but it fails to provide him with the tools to function effectively. Thus, the township clerk can and does assume powers that we, heretofore, thought were those of the supervisor.

For example, township board members, including the supervisor, are just now learning that federally subsidized housing in the township was officially approved last year by the clerk, apparently with concurrence by the township engineer. Furthermore, the clerk has been distributing applications for such housing.

Perhaps the actions of the clerk, who has assumed the role of chief executive, would have been authorized by the board, perhaps not. Perhaps township residents would have supported subsidized housing, perhaps not. We don't really know because the matter was not brought to their attention...because there is no head in township government.

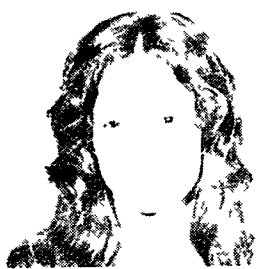

We are reminded of the "creature" painted by State Senator R. Robert Geake in describing Wayne County government: "It has several bodies but no head."

Speaking for Myself

Bring back mini-skirts?

LINDA SWAN

YES

Let me begin by saying this is a tricky subject—as far as the progression of women within all aspects of society goes—and their substantiated beliefs regarding the male "sexist" or "macho" attitude they feel has been shoved at them.

I can't speak for all men. Without over-stepping my boundaries as an individual within the male population, I will say that I do occasionally enjoy seeing a woman attired in a shorter than average skirt or dress.

Those women who have been blessed with nice legs should, if they choose, be able to wear shorter dresses. It should be their prerogative—the decision should be left up to the individual.

Tom Zampas
Brighton

NO

I remember mini-skirts. And I remember the wind. Oh, do I remember the wind! I remember trying daintily to get in and out of a car without being accused of indecent exposure. I remember feeling exposed—on display. A billboard for judgement.

Whether one had fat legs, knobby knees, short legs, most of us dutifully followed the dictates of fashion.

I wonder how a man would feel if he had to walk into a serious job wearing a suit coat, shirt, tie and a pair of jogging shorts. Could he concentrate on the job after setting himself up for a raft of comments concerning his physical appearance?

Then came the age of rebellion and bra burning. Women sought comfortable shoes, natural hairdos, comfortable clothing that allowed freedom to move, to sit without worry, to run without breaking an ankle. Freedom to be. Hurray.

Well, the '60s are gone and the bras are back on. Rebellion has mellowed and here we go again. Little by little, fashion gains in power. Durable jeans turn into $50 designer jeans, the heels get higher and on and on.

Once again women are allowing themselves to be influenced, packaged, molded by designers who have no regard for individuality, comfort or dignity. The irony is that men design the clothing to make women look seductive.

Women wear them and then society accuses women of dressing seductively and encouraging sexual harassment and rape. Would a woman be able to prosecute a rapist if she was wearing a mini-skirt?

I can hear the defense attorney now defending his poor client because he was enticed beyond control by the sight of the victim's legs.

Do I want to see mini-skirts return? I honestly hope women have gained enough dignity and feelings of self-worth that they have the fortitude to say NO!

"Have you seen my bride?" he asked as he watched the work in progress just down the hall from his apartment.

The negative reply sent him shuffling off in search of his bride.

Next day he was back again, asking the same question. This time he said, "You wait right here and I'll get her."

The following week he returned. "Have you seen my bride?" he asked again. "I'm not kidding. I'll get her."

When the old man failed to return, the workman knocked on his door. "I thought I'd save you a trip. I'd like to see your bride."

The album was open on his bed. "Here," he said, rubbing his hand across the handsome photograph of a horse and buggy in which a young, smiling couple sat. "Have you ever seen anyone prettier?"

"She's beautiful," the workman agreed. "Is that you?" he asked, pointing to the young man in the photograph.

"Yup, that's me," he beamed. "I'm glad you like her."

"And your bride..ah..is she here?" the workman asked as he glanced about the neat, immaculate apartment.

"Why, sure," he replied. "Here in the picture, there on the wall, in this bedspread she made, in that chair, and inside here," he added, tapping himself on the chest. "She's always here, don't you see."

The following day the old man was back. "Have you seen my bride?" he asked.

Readers Speak

Township issues trigger more public comment

'As Township Turns'

To the Editor:
I have read with interest the continuing saga of "As the Township Turns" published in your newspaper. I hope your readers are reaching the same deepening concern and amazement with the embittered outbursts and hateful exchanges between Supervisor Thomson and Clerk Sass.

What is worse, I am a resident of the City of Northville, and find it almost comical, yet pathetic when I attend a board meeting. Contrasting board meetings with the tenuous, sometimes droll city administration meetings, township meetings truly parallel a melodrama.

Your recent editorial hit the mark when it suggested that township voters use the ballot box to decide who continues in the role of supervisor and clerk. But, I felt that your implication that demeanor alone is the judging criteria overlooks the overall record of the supervisor and Clerk Sass. Clerk Sass has done a superb job and has a proven record of service. Mr. Thomson is green, and obviously struggling to settle into his new job.

I am reminded that it takes two to tango, and harmony in working relationships is something that comes from experience, maturity and being objective. I suggest that the township voters pay close attention to the unfolding melodrama, and recognize that Clerk Sass has been in office with other administrators without conflict. Begging the question, what changed?

I hope your readers get the message to these officials before this embarrassment reaches a greater proportion. Hopefully, before their behavior has a deteriorating affect on their ability to perform in their elected positions.

Perhaps the next episode of "As the Township Turns" will reflect a responsible group of public officials addressing the concerns and best interests of their constituents. One can only hope.

Allen Terrace lauded

To the Editor:

I would like to inform the people of Northville and the residents of Allen Terrace just how well the senior citizens apartments are managed.

In the early morning hours of December 24, 1979, my mom, Genevieve McQueen passed away in her apartment. She managed to pull the emergency cord (located in bathroom and bedroom), which rings directly into Mr. and Mrs. Orr's apartment. Their response was immediate but the peaceful sleep of death was swift. The proper authorities were contacted and in less than 30 minutes of my mom's passing, our family was notified (information contained in the "Vial of Life") located in the refrigerator.

Our Christmas was a sad day, not an easy time. But it was made less difficult by the very knowledge that the emergency system works...that Mr. and Mrs. Orr are conscientious people and they care.

I'm sure their Christmas was difficult, also.

Fran Yoakam, director of Allen Terrace, has to be the most understanding and patient person I've known in a long time.

We welcomed her advice when mom moved in and we welcomed her advice when mom moved out. Her job is not an easy one, and I'm sure she has stepped on a few toes here and there. But sometimes that's what is needed. Let's give credit where credit is due. Fran has knowledge, ability and she cares.

Allen Terrace was more than an apartment with residents — it was a home with friends.

I wish I could remember all the names of the fine people who lived and worked at Allen Terrace. They made the year my mom lived there a very good year.

A special thank you to Pastor Brasure for the Christmas program. Mom surely thought it grand.

Sincerely yours,
Virginia Johnson

Challenge issued

To the Editor:

It's too bad the energy Mr. VanderMolen spends criticizing our school board, township officials and township residents can't be channeled into more constructive activities. Particularly disappointing is the apparent lack of confidence in our township government to handle issues, such as the question of a charter township.

My personal opinion is that the township has been doing a pretty good job of running this growing community. The few dollars in property taxes they get is money well spent.

I think these people could use a little supportive encouragement rather than sharp criticism they have to endure from residents, developers and The Northville Record. How many competent people in our community avoid civic involvement because of this?

Architecture panned

To the Editor:

I often thought of what should be said about a piece of architecture like Down River Federal Savings Bank. I am appalled at how "creative" individuals could even begin to respond to Northville's architecture with such a meaningless academic point of view. The community of Northville is historical, everyone can attest to that. The only reason is simply because of time. Use is the fabric and times is the scale by which quality can be measured. To repeat a historical form exteriorly only creates an illusion that the structure does something it is not intended to do functionally. The banking operation today is computerized and is a highly specialized field which requires automated machinery (pneumatic tubes, 24 hour tellers and night depositors just to name a few).

Environmentally, the architecture we have around us was a product of the period associated with it. The residential structures were modern and aesthetic at the time of their construction. If the people who built these homes thought of responding like Down River Federal Savings Bank, they would have built log cabins, sod huts or some branch structures native Indians used in Michigan.

There are many solutions which respond to our time frame and needs while taking historical architecture into account without mimicking a once good thing. There have been several design winning awards nationally which prove this point. A simple trip to the library and a glance at periodicals would be more than educational as well as apt. The Down River Federal Bank presidents and accountants who decide where these branches are being placed simply react to what they think is public opinion. Better and more responsive architecture does not simply occur, the public must demand it.

Ken Czarnomski,
Registered Architect

Critics criticized

To the Editor:
Isn't it amazing how quickly Mr. E.

Thomas Lee pretends to join the anti-charter group when he was challenged to answer my arguments against the proposal? Why won't the real proponents of a charter township come forward? Why do they continue to hide behind a thinly disguised personal attack on my credibility? Are they afraid to face up to the truth about increased taxes?

If there are any brave proponents of the charter township proposal, would they be willing to debate the issue?

I issue the following challenge. Select any number of representatives to speak in favor of the charter township, and I will be eager to debate the issue at an open meeting at the Northville High School auditorium. I plan to present my arguments, against the charter township, based on solid evidence which has been carefully researched in the law library. Clearly, the proponents must present proof about the advantages of a charter township, if such advantages exist. Thus far, we have not been convinced about the value of the proposal.

Is there anyone willing to accept my challenge?

Larry D. VanderMolen

Police praised

To the Editor:

Re-township police department. May I take this means to thank you, on mine and my family's behalf, for the speedy response and the helpfulness and courtesy which was displayed by Officer (Kenneth) Hardesty when the call for help was made on Sunday, December 30, 1979. It was truly a matter of life or death; and emergency abdominal surgery was ordered for me.

I have been released from Garden City Osteopathic Hospital only three days, after four weeks recovery. But even though I don't remember much of the details my wife has told me of the Emergency Unit-Ambulance, the effort extended by Lieutenant Hardesty in aiding my family at a time of great need. It will forever be in my mind. Our prayers and gratitude will always include the Northville Township Police, and Lieutenant Hardesty in particular. Again, thank you for all of us.

Sincerely and Gratefully yours
Hans P. Lahr

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

By April 1, 1981, it is expected that Michigan will be "home" for 15,350 persons who have been convicted of committing a crime and who have been sentenced to prison as their punishment. That is nearly 2,000 more prisoners than our penal institutions were designed to hold. Michigan currently is ranked 15th among the states in incarceration rate. Michigan prisons house 167 people per 100,000 population.

Fortunately during the past several months, crime has been on the decline. However, recent statistics indicate that crime may again be on the rise. December, 1979, crime statistics from the City of Detroit show that overall crime increased 2.7 percent. And we know that during periods of economic decline and high unemployment more crimes are committed.

There is no question that prison overcrowding is a serious problem in Michigan.

State officials are concerned that if steps aren't taken soon to remedy the problem, the courts may step in and respond to the adverse conditions as they have in other states like Illinois, Alabama, Rhode Island and Tennessee.

In fact, in October, 1979, Federal District Court Judge John Feikens ruled that the Michigan prison system violates the constitutional rights of its female inmates by denying them access to training and treatment programs equal to those of male prisoners. Judge Feikens also ruled that the state must stop using the Kalamazoo County jail to house offenders from the already overcrowded Huron Valley women's facility near Ypsilanti.

If crime has been down, what then has caused the serious overcrowding problem in Michigan's prison system?

In 1974-75, the state's prosecutors and judges began accepting fewer plea bargains and began handing out more and longer prison terms.

In 1976, the legislature passed a law providing a mandatory two-year prison term for anyone convicted of using or possessing a gun while committing a felony.

Last November, Michigan voters overwhelmingly endorsed Proposal B, calling for the lengthening of prisoners' terms for many crimes through the elimination of prison "good time."

What are the solutions?

Obviously, one of the solutions is to build more prisons. Governor Milliken's proposed 1981 state budget contains a 15.7 percent increase in the corrections budget. It included $7.4 million for operation of the Ypsilanti maximum prison, Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo), and two prison sites. It also included $9 million for construction of a new women's prison facility in Eaton County and a new regional men's prison on the DeHoCo grounds in Northville.

In 1979, Governor Milliken proposed a prison construction plan calling for the state to spend $404 million during the next 10 years to develop an effective and humane state corrections system.

However, each construction proposal has been greeted with fiery local opposition, and the task of finding communities which will accept prisons remains a far greater obstacle than finding the money, which is also extremely difficult.

While these might be partial solutions to the overcrowding problem, I am painfully aware that new prison facilities will have to be built if only to replace the outdated Michigan Reformatory at Ionia and retire a major portion of Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Michigan already makes extensive use of probation, fines, parole and correction centers. Of the 47,000 people under felony convictions in Michigan today, only 28 percent are in prison. Another four percent are in community correction centers. The remainder are under parole supervision and probation.

These are tough questions that require difficult decisions. I would like to hear your comments. Please write me at my Lansing office.

Apartment proposed at Novi Road curve

"In calculating our density we assumed that the entire site was zoned R-3," said Benicke. By rezoning the property west of the stream to R-1 the city effectively prohibited the firm from ever using it, he said.

A similar "extra" density count was allowed the existing apartments owner in lieu of building west of the stream several years ago, noted Mayor Vernon.

That Benicke & Krue was unaware that its land had been placed in two zoning districts is no different than any other city property owner whose land was affected by the 1975 zoning overhaul, said DeRusha. The proper method of correcting the problem is by rezoning the land west of the stream and that method ought to be followed, he argued.

Councilmember Ayers, replying to a comment by Vernon that adjacent property owners have long been aware that property east of the stream would one day be developed as multiples and that they would welcome city obtainment of more open space immediately adjacent to their lots, said citizens nevertheless must be given an opportunity to express their views at a rezoning public hearing. Besides those persons living adjacent to the property other residents may wish to comment, she added.

Mayor Vernon's home is one of those closest to the planned development.

Council members made one concession. Council will request the rezoning itself, thus saving the developer the $200 rezoning petition fee.

During the discussion, Benicke said the problem of entrance and exit appears to have been solved. The owner of the existing apartments, he said, verbally has agreed to allow use of the existing drives to gain access to the new apartments.

Oakland County planners, he added, have indicated informal acceptance of this proposal because it will eliminate the necessity of a drive on the potentially dangerous curve.

The proposed development is subject to approval by the state because part of it lies within the Rouge flood plain, he added.

Benicke said it hopes to begin construction by the "first breath of spring."

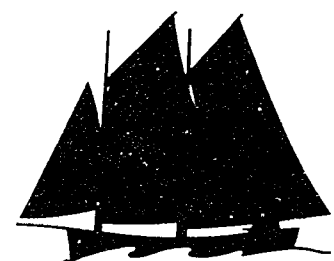

Hospital needs games for patients

An appeal for games for the young adult division at Northville State Hospital is being made by a local resident.

Shirley Matthews of 605 Grace reports that "young people in the unit are in desperate need of safe (no darts or sharp edges) games.

"With nothing to do the young people fight all day," she says.

Donations protected by plastic bags may be left at her home to be delivered to the unit.

Moraine elementary fifth and sixth graders proved that everybody — from grandparents to kids — likes to disco at a party sponsored by the school PTA as a parent-child activity Friday evening January 25.

Eighty attended the dance, getting lessons from Schoolcraft instructor Cathy Richter from 8-9 p.m. — and then disco dancing until 10 p.m. to records played by Rosemarie VanIngen, wife of Moraine principal, Donald VanIngen.

Dancin' to the disco beat was enjoyed by a grandmother, Dorothy Sellen, who accompanied her grandson, Chris Sellen, to the event. Youngest participant on the floor in Moraine multipurpose room was Keith Jacobson, 6

Trip to Spain follows ceremony

John Jerrett Forrer, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Forrer of 46995 West Main, took Sharon Aurelia Paulick as his bride in a post-holiday ceremony in Barrington, Illinois.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Paulick of Palatine, Illinois.

They exchanged vows in a double ceremony at noon January 5 in St. Anne's Church in Barrington. Father A. D. Dillon officiated at the altar banked with poinsettias as the sun illuminated the church, shining through stained glass windows.

"The Lord's Prayer" and "Mary's Song" were sung during the ceremony.

The bride's gown of white Qiana was fashioned with long sleeves, a yoke of lace and illusion and skirt extending into a chapel train.

Delicate floral-patterned lace formed a tiny high collar and outlined the illusion yoke. Matching lace adorned the chapel veil held by a pearl-embroidered cap.

The bride's cascade bouquet was of white roses and baby's-breath.

As a special bit of sentiment the bride carried a lace handkerchief given her by the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Charles Hanke, who attended the ceremony with her husband from Milwaukee.

Linda Braeke of Palatine, a high school friend, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Marty Daeschner of Palatine and Pamela and Gayle Paulick, sisters of the bride.

They wore teal blue Qiana gowns fashioned with draped bodices and matching floral hairpieces. They carried long-stem white roses and baby's-breath.

Scott Slocum of Northville was best man. Ushers were Lee Brownson, a friend of the bridegroom from Miami University, Randal Busscher of Holland, Michigan, husband of the bridegroom's sister Sue, and Scott Wilson of St. Louis, husband of his sister Jane.

During the ceremony passages from the Bible were read by the couple's attendants.

A champagne buffet brunch reception followed at The Barn of Barrington. Guests included relatives from New Jersey, the bride's grandmother from Reno, Nevada, and friends from Michigan, including Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Slocum, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Wright, Mr. and Mrs. William Sliger, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wistert, all of Northville, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kay of Grosse Pointe.

After a wedding trip to Portugal and Spain, the newlyweds are living in Washington, D. C., where he will be working in an executive agency of the U.S. government.

The couple met at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, where both received their bachelor degrees.

The bridegroom received his master's degree in public administration from the University of Syracuse in New York. His bride received her master's in dance from the University of Michigan.

In Our Town

Lots of good reasons for parties

By JEAN DAY

It's in winter — not summer — that activity peaks in our town. From now through spring there's a growing list of events upcoming. In addition birthdays are being celebrated, Marquis concert's supported with a Sunday supper afterward, and farewells continue.

Following the flute concert last Sunday afternoon at the Marquis Theatre, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Yoder hosted a supper at their Lexington Condominium. Besides being a great way to spend a Sunday, it makes supporting the local theater fun, report participants.

Ann Roy's birthday - and more

A gala open house the Sunday before celebrated the birthday of Ann Roy and marked the 33 years in business of Bruce Roy Realty. Held in the office at 150 North Center, the afternoon buffet party was attended by 175 friends and past clients.

"They stayed and stayed," Mrs. Roy mentions happily. Guests were entertained by Skee Meyer, accordionist, and Keith Bowman and Zak Thomas, country western singers. The 12 staff members, now including Mrs. Roy's daughter Sherry Klisz as sales associate and general manager, prepared the buffet.

Mrs. Roy and her late husband Bruce started in the real estate profession in 1947 in Detroit. In January, 1973, Mrs. Roy opened the Center Street office. A year later her husband closed his Detroit office and moved its staff here. Mrs. Roy now is broker-owner of the firm.

To France with love

Two classes of Nancy Brown, who has taught at Northville High School for 10 years, honored the humanities and advance composition teacher at farewell parties last week. Mrs. Brown has a leave of absence until September, 1981, and with daughter Caralyn will be leaving February 16 to join her husband William near Strasbourg, France. They are former residents of Cottisford in Brookland Farms.

He has been in France since September on assignment with General Motors and has rented a home in a small village near the German border. Caralyn will be crossing the Rhine River regularly to attend a Canadian school in Lahr, Germany. The Browns' older daughter Sherie, a sophomore at Michigan State University, will be here until summer.

In addition to the party, her humanities class gave the popular teacher a diamond pendant necklace. "I want them to know how much I love them and that I plan to return," she comments as she adds she hopes to hear from students. The address is 12 Rue des Lilas, 67150 Nordhouse, Erstein, France. (That's Avenue of Lilacs.)

OLV 'service' auction benefits schools programs

For a second year, members of Our Lady of Victory Parent-Teacher Organization are donating their services for the benefit of the school.

Beginning at 8 p.m. February 15 such services as an oil and filter change for a car, a weekend of babysitting and the use of a chalet for a weekend will be auctioned off to the high bidders.

Proceeds will be used to enrich the math and science programs at the school.

In addition to services members will be donating handcrafted items, such as cakes. These and the list of services may be viewed beginning at 7:30 p.m. before the auction. At that time those attending the auction in the social hall in the church basement also may receive bidding numbers.

Carole Radzialowski, who is chairing the auction, explains that services sold at the auction must be utilized within one year of the auction date. She may be contacted through Our Lady of Victory School by anyone who would like to donate a service or who has a question.

Robert Van Sickle of Novi, a professional auctioneer, will conduct the auction.

Admission is $1 and may be paid at the door. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

"For starters we already have more than 25 services promised, including baking of pies, cakes, cookies and breads," Mrs. Radzialowski reports.

Second generation Gustaf to Amerman

While Mr. and Mrs. John D. Gustaf, Sr., have moved from Northville where they lived for 20 years to Mears, Michigan, their home at 350 Debra Lane won't be occupied by strangers. It has been purchased by their son John and his wife Abby who are living there with children Alicia and Erik John. Alicia will be attending Amerman Elementary this fall as her father had. He is a Northville High graduate.

Reserve these dates

Three annual events that are benefits well supported by the community are upcoming:

February 15 is the Mothers' Club pancake supper in the high school cafeteria preceding the Waterford Mott basketball game with Diane Schrader in charge of arrangements (tickets $2 for adults and $1.50 for students);

March 1 is the Northville Historical Society dinner dance at Meadowbrook Country Club to benefit the Mill Race schoolhouse (tickets available at Bookstall on the Main);

April 19 is reserved for the Mothers' Club dinner dance at Meadowbrook Country Club.

They're embroidering

Barbara Mendola, a Northville resident and embroidery expert, will display her work and explain requirements for obtaining a mastercraftsman title at the February meeting of the Mill Race Embroiderers' Guild.

It will be held at 7:30 p.m. this Thursday in First Presbyterian Church.

Members will bring examples of their work for a "show and tell" table display.

Begun only last June the new group now numbers 42 members. The guild is open to anyone who works with a needle — "so long as it has an eye," explains Darlene Dietrich, publicity head.

Jean Lauwers of Novi is president. Members attend from the entire area, including Brighton residents. Meetings are on the first Thursday of each month at the church.

Seek empathy counselors

Openings still exist in the winter peer counseling training course for Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center.

Women interested could call the center at 591-6400, extension 432, by February 13.

Although no previous training is necessary, potential trainees will be interviewed prior to registering for the seven-week course which will meet from 9 a.m. to noon on Mondays and Wednesdays beginning February 18.

Participants will be trained in listening skills and problem solving techniques designed to help women discover their full potential.

Women who complete the course are requested to serve as peer counselors at the center three hours a week for a minimum of four months.

Cost of the two institutional credit course is $34 in district; $55 out of district. The center is located in the second house south of the campus on Haggerty.

Fireside chats, Tuesday

Quilting, poetry AAUW topics

American Association of University Women have a choice of two very different talks at the annual "Fireside Chats" of the local branch. They are being held concurrently at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday in homes of two members.

Jo Krause, Northville quilting expert and teacher, will discuss old patterns and give a brief history of quilting in an illustrated talk at the home of Karel Whitaker, 1068 Grace Court.

Kathleen Leo, a local resident whose poetry has been widely published, will speak on "Publishing — Yes, You Can" at the home of Jeanne Hubbard, 18312 Shadbrook.

Jo and Warner Krause with daughter Mary Jo moved to Northville 18 years ago. Mrs. Krause was born in central Illinois and was graduated from Knox College, later receiving her master's degree from Wayne State University. She has been teaching seventh grade at St. Paul's Lutheran School in Northville.

Her knowledge of quilting began during her childhood in Illinois. She recalls watching both her mother and aunt quilt as she grew up. She attempted her first quilt at the age of six — and still has the proud result.

She has taught quilting classes for Northville Historical Society and Plymouth Arts Council. In her talk she will show pattern illustrations and explain the types of quilts and their histories. She also will describe how a novice can begin quilting.

Kathy Leo received her MA degree from the University of Pittsburgh and taught there and at Mercy College in Detroit.

Her poetry has been published in many literary quarterlies throughout the country, with some 40 pieces appearing in print in 1979. She also has had several magazine articles published.

JO KRAUSE

The writer is a member of Detroit Women Writers and the Livonia Poets and Poetry Society of Michigan. Her latest book of poetry, entitled "Outer Banks," is available through the author as a limited special edition written in calligraphy on parchment paper.

KATHY LEO

Mrs. Leo, her husband and two young sons live in Northville Township. She is a regular contributor to the poetry section of this newspaper.

Refreshments will be served first at both homes with the programs beginning at 8 p.m.

Prospective members who would like to attend either session are invited to call Jay Ward, 349-3456, to make a guest reservation. All women who are graduates of accredited colleges and universities are eligible to join AAUW.

Tickets on sale for style show

Tickets now are on sale for the spring fashion show benefit of the Country Girls Garden Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

Tickets for the luncheon and show are available at $5 by calling Zo Chisnell, 349-3121, ticket chairman, or any other member. Heading arrangements are Shirley DeHoff and Pat Eden, who also may be contacted at 349-3366.

Dinner stars singing evangelist

Singing Evangelist Chico Holiday will be principal speaker at the 7 p.m. February 15 dinner meeting of the Northville-Plymouth-Livonia Chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship at Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Holiday is best known as host of "Holiday at Melodyland," his own television show which originates in Melodyland Christian Center in Los Angeles.

It is syndicated through more than 500 stations in the United States.

As a recording artist for RCA and Decca records, he made the top 10 "pop" list with several hits, such as "Snow White Doves" and "Prayer Is the Key to Heaven but Faith Unlocks the Door." He also is remembered as the singing voice on the TV commercials for Polaroid, Pepsi Cola and Ford.

While climbing to stardom, he became the entertainer's entertainer for such people as Dean Martin, Frank Sinatra and Sammy Davis, Jr.

Additional music for the program will be furnished by chapter member Ken Benton at the piano.

The meeting at 8 p.m. follows dinner, which is $8 plus 15 percent gratuity per person. Both dinner and talk are open to the public.

Reservation checks should be made to FGBMF and sent to Box 5332, Northville, 48167, by February 13. Additional information is available by calling 349-0006.

BPW taps Berenice Ellis

Berenice Ellis has been elected president of the Northville Chapter of Business and Professional Women.

It's rock for students

Five Northville High students who have formed a rock group called "Pegasus" will be performing in a concert February 15 in the community building on West Main.

Rob Massard, Scott Millard, Mark Tuggle, Zon Moon and Jeff Burke are planning the stage show.

Another band, "Syrinx," from Lincoln Park will open the program at 8 p.m.

Jeff Burke reports the group is seeking "a lot of positive reaction" to the program which has been okayed by the recreation department.

The concert is planned, he adds, in the hope that the community building perhaps can "become a center for kids."

At a general meeting January 28 in the Mayflower Hotel the membership ratified the board's nomination and elected Mrs. Ellis president. She has been vice-president. Betty Jerome was elevated to club vice-president.

The mid-year election was held as Ruth Young resigned as president due to pressures of her work. The new president also is new co-owner of Bookstall on the Main, a book store opened on Northville's Main Street.

Lisa Nirider was appointed new editor of the Bea Line club news.

Bobbi Buesser, a retired American Airlines hostess and member of the Kiwi Club of former hostesses, showed slides and gave a travel commentary on the San Francisco area.

Members will be attending a District Nine winter meeting from 2-5 p.m. February 10 in Woodview Condominium Clubhouse in Westland. It is a membership tea for members, guests and prospective members.

A panel of Young Careerists will be featured at the club's February 24 meeting at 6:30 p.m. at the Mayflower Hotel. Young Careerist Chairman Jan Campbell is asking candidates for the club's Young Careerist title to talk on their qualifications and aspirations.

A modern day fairytale

In search of the fairest drink. . .

By BRIAN MARTIN

There once was a trio of people who wished to discover the Fairest Drink of the Land that Sliger Home Newspapers Cover, and the three sat down to plot their research strategy.

"We can mix every possible concoction of alcohol together and taste them ourselves to discover the Fairest Drink of the Land," the One With the Hair on His Face declared, and they all seemed satisfied.

But something was wrong with the plan. "We have not the time nor the money to complete such a scheme," the One With the Pearl said, and the three were stumped again.

"What if we go out into the land that the newspapers reach and question all the readers to find the Fairest Drink in the Land," the One With the Glasses declared, and the three were once more content.

But again the Pearl spoke out. "What if the people across the land cannot agree on the Fairest Drink in the Land?" he asked. "Who would decide?"

Only a Person of All Knowing Power could decide, but the three knew of no such Person within the Land that the papers reach. The three again sat and thought of a way to find the Fairest Drink in the Land.

All at once the three came up with the same solution.

"We'll ask the People who Serve the Drinks to name the Fairest Drink in the Land," they shouted with glee, and the trio danced in jubilation.

Being dedicated workers, the three waited until the end of their working day before they set off on their quest for the Fairest Drink in the Land. Armed with nothing but a pen and notebook in hand and some monetary units in their pockets, the trio was certain that the search would be fruitful.

Following the Magic Light, the One With the Hair on his Face and the One With the Pearl and the One With the Glasses all descended upon The Winner's Circle in Northville, where they had to wait for The Boss Lady to arrive.

The three knew that research had no timeclock, so they began their quest on their own, beginning with some of the basics—gin and tonic, Jack Daniels and Jim Beam on the rocks.

But the three were not even close. The Boss Lady came to our table and advised us on the finer points of our crusade.

"We don't serve too many fancy drinks here," she said, where she is called Mary Margaret Rea. "This is mainly a shot and a beer place."

Perhaps this was the Fairest Drink in the Land, the three thought, and their trip was completed.

"Not so," The Boss Lady said. "Many people have been ordering this special drink lately."

Upon this new revelation our hearts livened as we felt we were closing in.

"This is called a Grand Am," she said as she served up a tray of three to the trio. The drink is served as a shot to be quickly consumed, consisting of Grand Marnier and Amaretto.

It was sweet-tasting and easy going down the throat.

"Perhaps The Boss Lady is not certain of the Fairest Drink in the Land," they thought, and traveled west to the Land of Novi.

The three felt a strange force pull them into an establishment called The Goat's Farm Tavern, where Pete Christianson was the Server of Drinks.

He came to the trio's table nursing an innocent cup of coffee, but the three soon learned that the coffee was hardly free of guilt.

"This is one-half cup of coffee, a shot of bourbon and a shot of Caffe Lolita," Pete told the Three With Their Eyes Wide Open. "I also like JB on the rocks or with soda."

Pete went on to tell the three that he relied on no specialties, but relied mainly on the basics of the bar.

"We had Pina Coladas for a while, but they were more trouble than they were worth. This is a neighborhood saloon where you know them and they know you."

Pete told the three that he has live entertainment at times, and the three thought music must be a part of the Fairest Drink in the Land.

"Groups really don't make a difference, unless they're really bad," Pete said.

But Pete did send the three a special birthday drink he calls the Sneaky Pete, in which he blends vodka, amaretto, Southern Comfort, orange juice, and cream.

"Could this be it?" the One With the Hair on His Face asked.

But Terry Devine, the Waitress Who Serves the Drinks, told us that Sneaky Petes are given out all the time when people ask for them.

The Fairest Drink in the Land wasn't here, the three decided, and they ventured on to the Land of Walled Lake.

"Certainly Nifty Norman's should have the answer," the Pearl proposed.

And the Server of Drinks from Iowa said that she did, and she mixed up the Balboa.

In went vodka and gin and rum and grenadine and Rose's Lime and Lemon and a twist of lime and out came the Fairest Drink in the Land, the three believed.

"But we make all kinds," Leslie Short of Iowa confessed. "Sometimes we make up our own."

The Fairest Drink in the Land can't be made up at the whim of the Person Who Serves Drinks. "The answer lays not here," The One With the Glasses concluded.

But travels to Jimmy's in South Lyon and The Canopy in Brighton and McGinnis' in Brighton failed to produce the answer.

Not a "Scarlett O'Hara," not a "Slow Comfortable Screw Up Against the Wall," not a "Top and Bottom," not a "Seven of Hearts," not a "Christmas Carol," not a "Leprechaun," not even a "Keoke Coffee" could claim the honor of The Fairest Drink in the Land, and the three were sullen.

"We've failed!" The One With the Hair on His Face and The One With the Pearl and The One With the Glasses all bemoaned as the retreated from their final stop.

But the The Good Witch of the Newspaper appeared before the three, and said not to grieve.

"There is no Fairest Drink in the Land," she reassured. "Your trip was for naught, but you had to find that out for yourselves."

"Each subject in the Land that Sliger Covers has a favorite and each is the best."

And the three returned to the Land of the Paper satisfied and fit for the next day's work.

War

In the event of a war
Do not be distressed
We have lost all our morals
We're in a state of unrest.

Our eyes cannot see
What our minds block out
Are we still able to love?
With that there is doubt.

The men of our society
Have turned their hearts into stone
Where we once worked together
We now work alone.

Our purpose on earth
Is to serve God, our Father
But we've lost our way
So now we don't bother.

Only our "self" is important
Which is so very plain to see
And it is only the action of war
That can make us say "we".

Since man cannot see
Past his own image anymore
Our only hope to restore faith
Is by means of a war.

So forget the comfort
Of your home and your money
We're about to face war
And war is not funny.

An Infant Sleeps

He wriggled and squirmed
Managed a cough,
Snorted, then sneezed,
His blankets kicked off.
Admired his fingers,
Smiled at his toys;
Employed all the antics
Well-known to boys.

A sun beam danced by,
He stopped to stare.
'Twas then sleep caught him—
Unaware.

PACESETTER FINANCIAL CORPORATION, a multi-bank holding company which includes the Brighton State Bank, announced higher earnings for the year compared to 1978.

Pacesetter's income before security transactions for 1979 was $7,897,000 compared to $7,122,000 in 1978, representing an increase of 11 percent. On a per share basis, income before security transactions was $2.27 versus $2.07 last year. Net income for 1979 increased 11 percent over last year and was $7,802,000 compared to $7,007,000. On a per share basis, net income was $2.24 compared to $2.04 last year. All per share figures are based on the average number of shares outstanding and have been adjusted for the seven percent stock dividend paid in August 1979.

Pacesetter experienced continued growth during 1979. Total assets reached $843.3 million as of December 31, 1979, an eight percent increase over year-end 1978. Total deposits were $748.7 million and net loans were $555.2 million, having increased eight percent and 13 percent respectively over 1978 year-end levels.

Pacesetter Financial Corporation, with headquarters in Grand Rapids, has several banking affiliates. They are Traverse City State Bank; Security First Bank & Trust Company, Grand Haven; Pacesetter Bank and Trust, Owosso; Pacesetter Bank-Southeast, Grand Blanc; Pacesetter Bank and Trust-Southwest, Niles; Pacesetter National Bank, Cassopolis and the Brighton State Bank.

Pending affiliates currently awaiting shareholder approvals to join Pacesetter are the Almont Savings Bank and Hillsdale State Savings Bank. In addition, approval has been received for the establishment of a new national bank, Pacesetter Bank-Lansing, N.A. in downtown Lansing.

It was also announced recently that First Macomb Corporation, parent of the $151 million Mount Clemens Bank would join Pacesetter pending approval of the Pacesetter board of directors, First Macomb Corporation shareholders, the Federal Reserve Board and other regulatory agencies.

SEVERAL PROMOTIONS have been announced by E. Everett Perkins, president of the State Savings Bank (SSB) of South Lyon. Ruth N. Richards and Merle T. Parsons have moved up to positions as vice presidents of the bank and Charlotte Hoskins to assistant cashier.

Other recent appointments are Weslyn Schmidt and Laverl (Susie) Stamper to division administrative assistants and Rebecca Grady to account assistant—controller division.

Richards joined SSB in 1964 as a bookkeeper and served in a number of capacities in most departments. In 1976, she was named assistant vice president as head of personnel. Her duties as vice president-controller place her in charge of bank accounting. She completed studies at the University of Wisconsin School of Banking in 1979.

Parsons joined the bank in October 1979, as assistant vice president and lending supervisor. His banking career spans 25 years with the Depositors Bank of Northville, Manufacturers Bank of Detroit, Community National Bank of Pontiac and, most recently, 13 years with Metro Bank of Farmington.

Richards and Parsons, along with Vice President and Cashier Gerald W. Dilloway, will report directly to Perkins.

Hoskins joined the bank in 1969 as a bookkeeper, working her way through most departments of the bank. In 1979, she was appointed manager of the Salem branch of the bank.

Schmidt has been with the bank since 1977 and has served in many areas of the bank. Her most recent assignment was in the computer section. She will assist Dilloway in bank operations.

Stamper has been with the bank for five years. She is presently assigned to the mortgage department as a loan officer. She will assist Parsons in the loan department.

Grady began her career with the bank in 1977. Her duties are numerous and, along with her present assignment as security supervisor, she and Administrative Assistant Joyce Hoskins will report to Richards.

Perkins said the new assignments give management more flexibility and better reporting potential.

Other bank officers include Marilyn Slaybaugh, Pat Jackson and Susanna McFee, all assistant cashiers, and Carolyn Siriani, auditor.

GOVERNOR WILLIAM G. MILLIKEN was accompanied by executives of two local machinery manufacturers at INTERMEXPO 3, an international trade exposition in Mexico City.

Robert Jenkins, vice president of sales for Belanger, Inc., in Northville, and Mary Lupear, president of Lupear Products, Inc., in Wall Lake, were among a delegation of 12 Michigan machinery manufacturers who attended the exposition — the largest Michigan Department of Commerce-sponsored contingent ever to participate in an international trade show.

INTERMEXPO 3, which was held January 29 to February 2 at the Sport Palace in Mexico City, featured equipment and supplies for the metalworking market in Mexico and other Latin American countries.

Milliken told the Michigan Press Association recently that "Mexico is emerging as a strong economic force in the Western Hemisphere and is a vast market for Michigan products."

"By exhibiting as a group under State of Michigan identification, participants will have an effective and economical introduction to the growing Mexican and Latin American markets," added Milliken.

WALTER TOEBE CONSTRUCTION COMPANY of Wixom was low bidder at $1.284 million for construction of a single-span plate girder railroad bridge over M-59 in western Oakland County.

The announcement was made by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

The project involves construction of a single-span plate girder railroad bridge to carry the Crairoad over future westbound M-59, 3.3 miles east of the Livingston County line; and construction of a temporary railroad bridge and track work.

FRANCIS COSTELLA, a Northville resident, has been elected 1980 president of the Detroit Mason Contractors Association. Costella is president of Monte Costella & Company in Southfield.

In addition, Jack Hart of Walled Lake was re-elected to a three-year term on the organization's board of directors. Hart is president of Leidal & Hart Mason Contractors, Inc., of Livonia.

During the annual meeting, James C. Wyatt, executive director of the contractor group, had stressed that the organization's 1980 activities would center around the celebration of its thirtieth anniversary.

SECURITY BANCORP, INC., of Southgate has announced that consolidated net income for the year ended December 31, 1979, reached a record high.

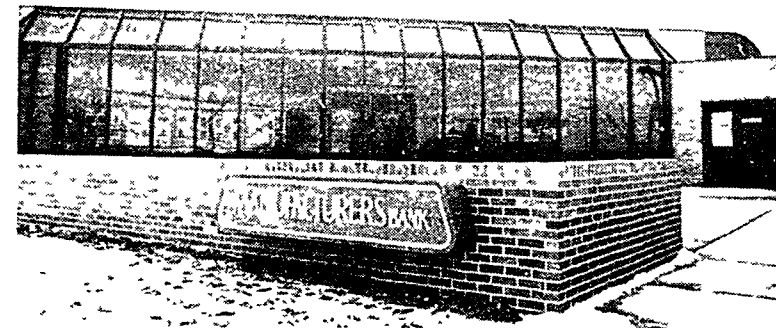

Security Bancorp, Inc., is the parent of Security Bank of Novi, Security Bank and Trust Company and Security Bank Monroe County (formerly Newport State Bank).

Net income for 1979 increased 15.6 percent over the previous year. Net income for the fourth quarter ending December 31, 1979, improved 4.3 percent over the comparable period of 1978.

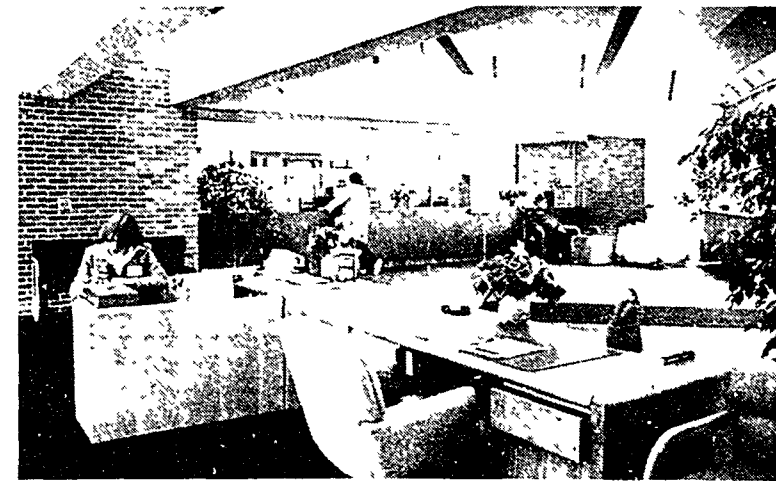

Effect has been given in the per share data to a 10 percent stock dividend declared by the board of directors on December 19, 1978, to stockholders of record on February 15, 1979.

Cash dividends for 1979 were $1.40 compared to $1.09 per share for 1978, an increase of 28.4 percent. The current annualized dividend rate is $1.40 per share.

The acquisitions of Security Bank of Richmond (formerly National Bank of Richmond) and Keatington State Bank were approved by the Federal Reserve Bank and consolidation will take place early in 1980.

MANUFACTURERS BANK has opened its new, permanent office at Six Mile and Winchester in Northville Township. The new facility offers the most up-to-date banking services — drive-in windows, a night depository, a safe deposit vault and a spacious lobby with five teller windows. To celebrate the opening, the new office is displaying photographs from the 1976 International Olympics and the Michigan Special Olympics. In addition, it is offering a special Olympic premium for deposits of $100 or more to an existing savings account or a new checking or savings account.

Wrestlers bounced twice but seek title

League meet Saturday

It wasn't the best way to get warmed up for this Saturday's Western Six League meet. Unless losing can warm a team up.

Northville's varsity wrestling team dropped contests to Fordson (36-20) and league foe Walled Lake Western (32-23) last week.

Both matches were close, if wins and losses mean anything. Northville lost 7-6 in each meet, in terms of total matches. The key, however, was that Fordson and Western won more of their matches by pins than did Northville. Many more.

Fordson grapplers pinned five Mustangs. Northville didn't pin any of their foes.

Western pinned three Northville matmen while Vince Candela was the only Mustang to attach a Warrior's shoulder to the floor.

A pin is worth six points while a decision is worth different amounts, all depending on the score. A decision is worth four points at the most.

So while the won-loss record was close in each event, Northville really was much further behind than that would indicate.

And that was the key, according to Mustang coach Gary Emerson.

"We just needed to stay off our back. We needed more pins by our lower weights to off-set the pins the other teams scored against our heavyweights. We didn't get them," he said.

Some of the matches were closer than the scores would indicate.

Against Fordson, Steve Platte was ahead when he made a mistake and was pinned. At the time of his loss, Fordson was up 9-7. After the loss, the score was 15-6.

Steve Morgan attended Fordson until his sophomore year. Morgan wrestles at 145 pounds for the Mustangs. His opponent on the Fordson team, Al Henderson, has been a wrestling buddy of Morgan's since they were together in the seventh grade. Their match would be the culmination of a year-to-year contest to test superiority. Since it is both grapplers' senior year, this would be their last chance to prove who was best.

Morgan won 3-2.

Against Western, Bill Blanchard had his man twisted into so many shapes and angles within the course of the match that Emerson was sure he had won by a pin a number of times. The ref disagreed. Blanchard had to settle for a 20-1 win.

Neal Young was leading 5-2 in the third period of his match against Joe Bower. But the ref started calling what Emerson felt were unnecessarily numerous penalty points. Young eventually fell behind and in the end was pinned.

Five Mustangs should be seeded first for the meet. Blanchard (112), Paul Raczkowski (119), Vilas Allen (138), Steve Morgan (145) and Don Lucas (155) should be in the driver's seat come Saturday.

The league meet will be hosted by Walled Lake Western on Saturday, February 9, beginning at noon. The finals should start around 5 p.m.

Spikers drop three in dismal week

Northville varsity volleyball team continued its skid last week. The team dropped three contests, falling to 2-9 on the year.

The Mustangs played Brighton on Tuesday, January 29, losing 15-12 and 15-4.

On the following Wednesday, Northville lost 15-9 and 15-4 to Novi.

"We lost our concentration in the second game of the Brighton match," Coach Steve McDonald said. "We had a tough day. We didn't play well."

"The Novi match was probably the low point of our season, physically and emotionally. It was the fourth game in a row without a practice for us and the third game in a row that week. Plus it was finals week. The girls were exhausted."

Lori Westphal was singled out for her play against Brighton. She made nine of 10 serves.

On Monday, February 4 the Mustangs, after resting a bit and working out some of their problems in practice, took on second-place Plymouth Canton.

Churchill, who is in first place in the Western Six, is the only team to have beaten Plymouth. Northville fell just short in its bid to be the second.

The Mustangs lost 15-12 and 18-16. "We were able to rest and we played tough," McDonald said. "We were in it all the way. It seems like we've been close so many times this season. We played well as a team against Canton and really put a scare into them." Geri Grzena hit on 13 of 15 serves and Westphal

Grapplers will take title

It's soon to be "Big-Time Wrestling" in Northville. Well, not really in Northville. In Walled Lake. But it is Northville that will make the show big-time.

You see, Northville is planning on becoming the 1979-80 Western Six conference wrestling champions. And on Saturday, the mighty Mustangs will do battle to earn that title.

The league meet will take place at Walled Lake Western this year. Show starts at noon. The finals should commence about 5 p.m.

It is ironic that Northville's biggest, meanest opponent is none other than the Warriors of Walled Lake. In fact, the one league loss that Northville has experienced this season was at the hands, feet, legs and bodies of the Western grapplers.

Emerson called their dual-meet battle "Northville's Ohio State-Michigan." The rivalry is just as intense as any Wolverine-Buckeye matchup.

So Northville will be looking to avenge its black-eye from Western. Emerson thinks that whoever will win the league crown will do so with a mere five-point spread from the second-place team. He thinks it will be Northville sitting on the five-point cushion over Western. But don't quote him on it.

Aside from educated guesses and hot-blooded ballyhoo, Northville does stand a whale of a chance at gaining the gold.

The Mustangs are sending what stands to be five first-seeded wrestlers, two second-seeds, two third-seeds and three, possible four fourth-seeds.

With muscle like that, who needs the Cosa Nostra?

Bill Blanchard (112) has a 28-1 record on the year and is seeded number one at his weight. Paul Raczkowski (119) sets at 15-6-1 and is unbeaten in league competition. He also is a number one seed.

Vilas Allen (138) is 20-6 and Don Lucas (155) is 26-4. Both are tops in the league. Scott Morgan (145) could be seeded either one or two, Emerson thinks. I say one. What do you think?

Jack Wallace (105) and Vince Candela (Hwgt) should be number two's while either Todd Vincint or Steve Platte (126) will go as three's.

Dale Presswood or Don Borthwick (132) will get the three-seed nod at their weight slot.

Rob Savegeau (167), Dan Troher (198), and John Naar (98) will likely get the fourth seeds, Emerson thinks.

The dark horse of the affair is Neal Young (185). This young man has been so close so many times but lost matches at the last second, that Emerson doesn't know where he will be seeded. It doesn't help that Young hasn't won a league meet this season. But if heart and fortitude mean anything, Neal will fight like a number-one seed no matter where he starts.

Emerson has calculated that Northville needs everyone to take at least fourth in the tourney to win. The winner, Emerson thinks, will be the team that scores 150 points.

Emerson, using a system as intricate as a Vegas hustler's, has Northville pegged for 155 points, if everything goes according to plan.

Western, if the stars shine true, should finish with 150.

Lord Layton, Dick the Bruiser, The Shiek, The Mighty Igor and Leaping Larry Shane might stand a chance against Mustangs with title fever in their eyes. But a bunch of Warriors?

"Big Time Wrestling" will this year be colored black and orange. Warrior colors will be black and blue.

Cagers top West; lose to Canton

Inconsistency. If Northville varsity basketball mentor Tim Lutes could pick one word to describe his team's play, that would be it.

Last week for instance, the Mustangs played fairly well on Tuesday, downing Garden City West 58-53. Then on Friday the Northville team played even better offensively, but lost to Plymouth Canton 68-64.

Dave Ward

The key to both games, and to almost all that the Mustangs have played this season, is defensive inconsistency.

"If we are shooting and rebounding the ball, we aren't playing defense," Lutes said. "If we are containing them defensively, then we are letting up on one of the other phases."

"Against Canton we didn't play good defense at all. Adler was open all night. He is a set shooter and he was wide open from 20 feet. He had a real hot hand against us."

One Mustang who hasn't been inconsistent of late is Center Dave Ward. The big man scored 18 points against Garden City and 16 against Canton. In Friday's loss he didn't pick up any fouls, but still managed to block six Plymouth shots.

With a 6-7 mark overall and a 1-5 tally in the Western Six Conference, Lutes goals for the season have been modified somewhat from the enthusiastic title talk of the season's youth.

"We're just trying to improve. We have been stuck at the same plateau since our fourth game it seems like. We're looking for the first over-500 season in five years for Northville, and we want to act as spoilers in the league race."

"We take on the top two teams in the league soon and we could be a factor in the race. In fact, our last three games are against league teams, and if we win all three, we could finish in third place."

Northville's next action will be on Friday, February 8, when the team travels to Walled Lake Western for a 6:15 conference date.

was good on 12 of 15 attempts.

The real star for the Mustangs, however, was Pam Metz. She played an excellent all-around game.

She was good on seven of nine serves, blocked four balls at the net, made 10 good spikes in 15 attempts and had three good dinks.

In an effort to build for next year, McDonald is making changes in his lineup.

"I'm starting to play more juniors," he said. "We're still a young squad, and they are trying to find out where they are now."

As for the way the season is progressing, McDonald is a little disappointed.

OLV boys win

Chris Wagner converted five pressure-packed free throws in the last 59 seconds of play to power Our Lady of Victory to a 59-57 win over Redford St. Mary's Sunday.

The victory, OLV's eighth straight, clinched a tie for the CYO league championship.

The game was one of the most exciting CYO games in years. The Rustics, led by hot-shooting Carl Strong and Damon Brown, rushed to an early 16-7 lead only to see Shawn Tague ignite a Cougar rally that tied the score at 16-16 by the end of the first stanza.

Wagner hit the cords for nine points during the second period to push the Cougars into a 29-27 lead at the half.

Following intermission, however, the Rustics took it to Victory. The combination of a lightning fastbreak and deadly outside shooting gave the Redford squad a 45-38 lead and to set the stage for a torrid fourth period.

Strong and Brown continued their hot shooting and widened the Rustics lead to 51-43.

With 3:14 left, OLV began its comeback. Tague hit from the key. Wagner converted two of four free throws and Danny Nielsen scored from the corner to narrow the margin to two with 2:20 remaining.

Strong broke the streak with a field goal but Tague answered with a charity toss and a 12-foot jumper to bring the Cougars within a point, 53-52. There was 1:40 left on the clock.

Strong then converted a rebound for the Rustics, to widen the gap but Nielsen got that score back six seconds later on a short jumper.

Wagner stole a Rustic's pass at half court and was fouled as he drove for a layup. When he missed both free throws, the Cougars' hopes sagged.

At the 59-second mark, he got another chance and converted both ends of the one-and-one to give

Tankers lose to Ypsilanti, 91-80

It's the sign of a winning program when a coach gets angry about losing instead of accepting defeat as an inevitable fate.

Such is the case of Northville's varsity swim program.

In a rebuilding year, the Mustangs haven't fared very well to date. With just two wins so far this season Northville has no where to go but up.

The team showed signs of moving upward last week when it swam against Ypsilanti. The Mustangs lost 91-80 but Coach Pete Talbot thought the win could just as easily have been his.

"The meet was very close," he said. "We had a couple of bad breaks in a couple of events. We got a second place and a disqualification in the intermediate medley. If both our swimmers had been near their best times we'd have been first and third, or even first and second. That would have turned the meet around for us."

As it was, Northville had to settle for Tony Nader's second-place time of 2:18.21. Char Ramsey was disqualified for using the right stroke at the wrong time.

Dave MacDonald was the shining light for the Mustangs. He took a first in the 50-yard freestyle, the 100-yard freestyle and along with Doug Iversen, Gary Lauber and Ramsey, collected another first in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Ramsey came back to take a first in the 500-yard freestyle while Nader added a first in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Paul Cooper continued his fine diving. He took first place with another over-200 performance (217.20). Gary Beason was second (167.40) tally.

Gary Lauber took two second-place finishes and John Zimmerman one for Northville.

Lauber was second in the 100-yard butterfly (1:03.96) and in the 100-yard backstroke (1:04.07). Zimmerman took second in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:13.60).

The meet was encouraging in that the Mustangs were in it all the way. It is perhaps a good indication of what the remainder of the season will bring.

"Most guys are swimming consistent times and some are still lowering them," Talbot said. "Out of the four meets left, we want to be a little more competitive then in the past."

JV cagers lose

Northville JV basketball team had two contests last week, topping Garden City West 57-50 on Tuesday but taking it on the chin against Plymouth Canton Friday, 64-41.

Against Garden City, Tim Wagner had a hot hand, hitting for 14 points to lead all scorers. Dave Malinowski scored 11 to offer support.

Northville built up a 43-35 lead going into the fourth quarter. The Mustangs had never trailed. They were able to hold off a determined rally in the final frame that saw West outscore Northville 15-14.

It was a different story against Canton. The Plymouth squad jumped out to an 11-4 lead in the first quarter and increased it to 33-23 by the half.

Northville held close in the third quarter but was blown off the court in the final frame 18-6.

Wagner again led the team in scoring. He canned 10 points. Malinowski scored nine.

Northville is now 7-6 overall and 3-3 in the league.

Allyson Farquhar

Farquhar named All-State

Northville swimming ace Allyson Farquhar was named to the Class A All-State Swimming Team last week.

Farquhar, a junior at Northville High School, was named to the squad for her outstanding time in the breaststroke. That time was 1:08.3.

This is the second time that Farquhar has been selected for the honor. She was named to the squad last year as a sophomore. She was picked for her time in the breaststroke, again, 1:08.3.

Her best time in the event is a 1:08, which she swam two years ago.

Farquhar's time in the breaststroke is a school record. She also shares two other school markers.

In the 200-yard medley relay, she teamed with Sue Cahill, Kim Storm, and Tammy Selridge to set the current standard of 1:55.2. That mark was set this season.

Last year Farquhar teamed with Cahill, Storm and Kyle Roggenbuck to notch a 3:48 in the 400-yard freestyle relay, another school record.

Walts is second

Mandy Walts earned a second-place ribbon on the uneven parallel bars and a third-place ribbon in vaulting during a Class II (B) Optional gymnastics meet at the Birmingham Y recently.

Walts competes with the Livonia Family Y Twisters Gymnastics Team. She competes in the 10-12 year age category.

Andrea Sundeck, of Livonia, took first in the uneven bars for the Twisters while Dana Maguran, another Twister from Livonia, took first in vaulting.

OLV girls top foe

Our Lady of Victory girls' seventh and eighth grade basketball team defeated St. Mary's of Redford 33-28 Sunday.

OLV led 17 to 12 at halftime and increased its lead to 24-14, only to be tied 26-26 at the end of the third frame.

In the fourth quarter a strong OLV defensive effort, combined with accurate shooting, enabled the Cougars to pull the game out.

Beth Tabaka was the leading scorer for the Northville team. She made five of 10 shots from the field and two of four from the free throw line for a game-high total of 12 points.

Mary Sullivan scored nine points and played a super game at both ends of the floor.

Other scorers for OLV were Kathy Kirwan with six points, Jane Moylan with four and Mary Heslip with two.

OLV's record is now 5-6 for with two games left to play. Divine Child and Our Lady of Sorrows are the two future opponents.

SPORTS TALK

Do you think that the United States should boycott the 1980 summer Olympics in Moscow?

"Since the Olympic team isn't sponsored by the federal government in this country, it shouldn't be used as a political tool." John Srabian

"I don't think so. The athletes have been working hard for it." Doug Marshall

"I feel that there are certainly more important things than the Olympics. But whether boycotting will have a definite impact on anyone, I don't know." Edith Dunbar

"Yes they should boycott. I think that Moscow would never allow this to happen. They wouldn't let us step foot in their country if we'd invaded one of their friend's land." Judie Radlick

"I don't think they should boycott. They (athletes) have been working four years for it." Todd Kerry

Tim Cahill

Cahill is Ferris ace

The Ferris State College swim team is enjoying one of its most successful campaigns in recent years.

One of the main reasons has been the ability of its freshmen to make major contributions. One such outstanding rookie has been Northville's Tim Cahill.

Cahill lettered for four years on former Coach Ron Meteyer's Mustang team as a breaststroke specialist and is filling much the same role at Ferris.

As Coach Rick Kowalkoski's top breaststroker, Cahill has been a consistent point-getter for the Bulldogs this season.

The first time he entered the event for Ferris he broke the school record in the 200-yard breaststroke. He has broken his own record in the event four times since, most recently improving the time to 2:17.614.

Cahill also swims the breaststroke leg on the Bulldogs' 400-yard medley relay team, a team which already has qualified for the national championships. Kowalkoski is confident that Cahill also will make the national qualifying time in the 200-yard breaststroke sometime in the team's last five meets before the national competition in March.

Cahill, a first-year machine drafting student in Ferris' School of Technical and Applied Arts, is the son of James and Jean Cahill of 47030 Dunsany in Northville.

Gymnasts lose their first

It had to happen eventually. The school knew it. The coach knew it. The athletes knew it. When it did happen, there was no great mourning. Just the firm resolve to go out and start again.

The Northville High School gymnastics team lost finally, after five straight wins.

It took a good Farmington Harrison team to beat the pesky Mustangs. Northville was downed 85.7-78.4 last Wednesday.

"It was definitely more fun winning," Coach Jack Townsley quipped. "The kids with experience know our weaknesses. They know what other teams can do. There are eight or nine schools in Michigan that can score in the 90's and there are some very good schools that can score in the 80's. Harrison was one of those.

"Then there are good teams like us that score in the 70's. We're trying to get into the 80's. That's been our rallying cry. We just haven't been able to squeeze it out. Amy and Hollie know that the 70's aren't bad for Northville, but you can't beat the good teams with those scores."

Northville never led in the meet. The team fell behind 22.9-21.4 after the first event, the vault.

The Mustangs were outscored 17.0-15.6 on the uneven parallel bars, and 20.9-18.4 on the balance beam.

Northville recorded an excellent 23.0 in the last event, the floor exercise, but Harrison topped that score with a 23.2.

With the loss, some of the pressure is off the team. No one expected the Mustangs to win much this season, so the five wins are a real plus. But Townsley isn't satisfied. He is also realistic.

"The hard part is coming up," he said. "We're very excited being close to the first winning season in Northville gymnastic history. We have five more dual meets left. Two more wins will give us an assurance of a winning season."

Cooke cagers win

The Cooke basketball team currently is sporting an impressive 7-1 record.

Last week the cagers beat Haston and Belleville South.

Cooke beat Haston 64-37 behind the shooting of Dave Longridge (16), Steve Schrader (11) and Matt Meyer (10). Seven other players scored for the winners.

On Thursday the team downed Belleville 51-36. Longridge (18), Meyer (11) and Brian Jennings (11) led the hoopsters to the win.

To date the Cooke team is in a three-way tie for the league lead with Meads Mill and Belleville North.

Top scorer for a single game was Scott Gala with 20, and Schrader leads the team in rebounding.

OLV girls win

Our Lady of Victory girls' fifth and sixth grade basketball team won its fifth game of the season Sunday, defeating St. Mel's of Dearborn Heights 19-8.

OLV was led by Colleen Kirwan and Jenny Nadeau, each of whom scored four points.

Mary Kay McClorey, Mary Joy Konczak, Ann Wooden, Patty Kummer and Cathy Borysko each scored two points, while Eileen Barnes added a free throw.

OLV next meets Divine Child Saturday, February 9. The game will be played at the Divine Child gym beginning at 2 p.m.

Service Saturday for teacher

HELEN MCCARTHY

Helen McCarthy, a Northville elementary teacher for many years, died February 1 of a heart attack in Fairhope, Alabama.

A memorial service is scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday in First United Methodist Church here with the Reverend Guenther C. Branstner officiating. Mrs. McCarthy was a member of the church.

Mrs. McCarthy was born September 9, 1909, in Pittsford to Fred and Myrtle (Derthick) Leonardson. She married W. E. McCarthy who preceded her in death in 1968.

A resident of the community for more than 30 years, she began teaching here in September, 1929, after teaching a year in Farmington. She taught through June of 1938 and began substituting again in 1945, returning to full-time teaching in September, 1958. She retired from Main Street Elementary in February, 1974, after a heart attack.

Mrs. McCarthy also was a member of Northville Historical Society and Northville Mothers' Club.

She leaves a daughter Marilyn Dwyer of South Lyon, a son James of Warren, a sister Ruth Hille of New Carlisle, Ohio,

Puppeteers Mark Zayti, Brent Wasik, Jeff Zayti, John Bugar

And friends

Merry marionetteers

Two classes at Moraine Elementary school were entertained last week by a flying dragon, a skeleton, a wolf and Pinocchio.

The visitors, marionettes, were starring in an original play, "The Wolf Who Would Not Stop." They all had a little help from four Moraine sixth graders who controlled colored string lifelines from above.

The boys, Mark and Jeff Zayti, John Bugar, and Brent Wasik used expert motions to move the marionettes about the stage in dances, fights, and arguments in a performance last Friday to Cheryl Rosinski's and Cathy Bloomfield's kindergarten and first grade classes.

For the boys, what started out as just a hobby has grown to be more. Mark, brother Jeff, John and Brent have written, produced, built scenery for and starred in several marionette productions at Moraine and plan to put on several more.

Mark has been collecting marionettes since 1976. He has more than 25 puppets now, including three that are over two feet tall.

"In 1976 I saw a magazine showing marionettes," Mark said. "I didn't have a hobby so I asked for them for Christmas." That year he got the long-nosed Pinocchio, Papa Gepetto and the green flying dragon. He collected more during 1977 to 1979. He will receive another puppet this week from his grandmother.

The sixth grade boys don't know if they want marionetteering as a career — but they are thinking about it.

Librarian Mernie Hines invited the boys to put on the production.
