

His hand healing, Todd still aims for college ball

By KEN KOVACS

The ball swishes through the net without touching the rim of the basket

From 10 feet, 15 feet, 20 feet, Todd Nadeau can hit consistently, without the use of his right hand — which rests in a sling at his side.

Last year major college basketball powers — including the University of Michigan, Michigan State and Purdue — were knocking at his door

Then a junior — and starting guard for Detroit Catholic Central — the Northville resident was, as his coach put it, "definitely college material"

"He is an excellent ball handler and a very hard worker," Coach Dennis Holowicki praised

Then, last summer it happened.

The 18-year-old high school cage star had his right hand severed August 7 while cleaning a power saw at Belanger, Inc., 455 East Cady — a firm which manufactures polishing and buffing wheels and other car washing equipment.

Doctors worked some 12 hours to reattach Todd's hand, which, fortunately, had been preserved properly, doctors say, by Jim Belanger, and the step-by-step recovery began.

Doctors credit Belanger's efforts as the main reason the reattachment has been so successful.

Dr. Robert Larsen, a hand surgeon from Detroit, has supervised 11 operations on Todd's hand and says there will be at least four more to do skin grafting and bone work.

For Todd there is a lot of pain, a lot of waiting and a lot of work ahead.

He participates in rehabilitation therapy a couple times a week to build up muscle and tendon strength.

"I have movement in my fingers and the back of my hand, but the wrist is still weak," he said. "I have a lot of work to do on it this summer. When the operations are done I have to do a lot on my own to strengthen it."

The confident senior will graduate from high school this June and says he probably will attend U of M to study engineering and physics.

As far as the scholarship offers, "They (the coaches) are waiting to see how the recovery goes."

"I won't be able to play the first year, but, I am going to work hard and plan to try out my sophomore year," Todd says.

A left-handed shooter, Todd hasn't lost his touch. He still is an excellent outside shot.

Doctors still can't say how much use of the right hand will be regained.

In the next operation, in about two weeks, tendons will be grafted from Todd's feet.

This will strengthen the wrist, doctors say, but only after extensive therapy and rehabilitation will the extent of use be known.

But Todd is taking it all in stride.

"How about another game," he challenges as he tosses in a 25-footer.

Recreation subsidy cutback?

City fears fee increase in township

Trimming of the 1980-81 proposed recreation budget appeared likely as a city-township finance committee prepared to meet Tuesday.

"Our indication is that the township probably will cut back on its subsidy to below the current level," City Manager Steven Walters said, explaining that the township is anticipating a financing crunch.

The spinoff effect of a township cutback, he said, is that either the city must do the same or fees for township residents using the recreation program must be increased.

Rather than suggest that the city also reduce its subsidy, council members said they would prefer a hike in township fees — even though such a move could adversely affect participation.

"We don't have much choice," concluded council, remembering that a couple of years ago a similar situation occurred when the township was unable to shoulder its share of the cost and hence was forced to increase fees to its residents.

Although the city has determined not to cut back its current level of participation, it is recommending that the budget increase be shaved so that it does not exceed the 11.4 percent Headlee limitation.

The proposed budget called for an approximate 16 percent increase in the city's subsidy ($5,881). Last year the city's total outlay was $37,314; this year it is pegged at $43,195.

The budget increase for the township is pegged at $10,814. Last year the township contributed $45,082 in cash and a $7,300 CETA employee for a total subsidy of $52,382. This year the township, according to Walters, expects only to match last year's cash contribution — which means $18,114 less than its share in the budget.

Overall, the proposed 1980-81 budget is pegged at $198,316. Of this amount, $91,925 were expected to be generated by fees, $106,391 by contributions by the two municipalities.

If the township cuts back its projected contribution, said Walters, township residents would have to be charged up to $4 to $10 more to participate in each recreational activity.

THE NORTHVILLE High School wind ensemble and symphonic bands both received first divisional ratings at the Michigan State Band and Orchestra Association band festival Monday in Ypsilanti under director Michael Rumbell. Of a possible 31 categories, wind ensemble received 24 A's and symphonic band got 27 A's. Symphonic band scored highest among district schools in rhythm and wind ensemble scored highest in intonation. Both bands are eligible to enter the state finals April 26.

CITY COUNCIL is looking into the possibility of building ambulance quarters on the DPW grounds — an idea of Councilman J. Burton DeRusha who, together with other council members, is unhappy with the asking price on a South Main house.

ABSTENSIONS in voting are frowned upon. Noting that two planners recently abstained, council has authorized the city attorney to draw up an ordinance amendment restricting such non-voting.

NOTICE of impending legal action against Leon Bonner for unapproved excavating work adjacent to his Fairbrook house has been issued by the Wayne County Department of Health.

FIRST city board of review hearing is slated Monday (1-4 p.m. and 7-10 p.m.) for property owners challenging their assessments. The next, all-day hearing will be March 25. Similar hearings for township residents will be held today (3-9 p.m.) and Monday (9 a.m. to 3 p.m.).

Fights subsidy housing

Northville township will attempt to block approval of an application for federal housing assistance being sought by the developers of the proposed Northridge Apartments Phase III.

Township Supervisor Donald Thomson said he will send a letter of opposition today in order to meet the 30-day response deadline Friday.

At a public hearing last night board members were to discuss a project — Swan Harbour Apartments, currently being built on Seven Mile — which has obtained approval of a similar loan.

Up to 53 of the 264 units being built will be available under the "assistance" program.

Thomson said he would call a special meeting, following last night's hearing, to discuss the content of his letter.

The two public hearings, one concerning Swan Harbour and the other to discuss the Northville proposal, were scheduled by trustees when a number of township residents confronted the board, saying they were never told of the "assisted housing" applications for either project and felt they deserved an opportunity to discuss the proposed housing.

"I have lived in the township for 35 years," a Grandview Acres resident said at the Northridge hearing February 27. "And I don't want it (subsidy housing) in my area."

At that hearing, trustees were told by Gordon Ruttan, a Wayne County employee who reviews applications for housing assistance under section 213 of the the Housing and Community

Mental patient to stand trial

April 4 will mark one year since Northville's Teckla Hamilton was murdered.

On April 8 Johnny Crumpton, former patient at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, will be arraigned at the Wayne County Circuit Court on charges of first degree murder.

At a preliminary examination March 3, 35th District Court Judge James Garber ruled there was not enough evidence to substantiate the first two counts — breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling and first degree murder in the commission of a felony — but upheld the third charge of first degree (premeditated) murder.

"There was enough evidence presented that a jury could convict him of premeditated murder," Judge Garber said.

Crumpton, who has undergone diagnostic testing at the Forensic Center at Ypsilanti State Hospital for the past nine months, was found competent to stand trial at a hearing January 17 at the 35th District Court in Northville.

The 30-year-old Detroit man was a patient at the state hospital on Seven Mile at the time of the murder.

Northville police arrested Crumpton at the Good Time Party Store, a few blocks away from the home of the 81-year-old woman, who was stabbed three times in the back.

Police said Crumpton had a grounds pass in his possession and, apparently, had walked away from the hospital

Acting on an anonymous tip, the Northville Township Police broke into the house and found the listless baby lying in a filthy crib, unwashed and alone, suffering from malnutrition and severe diaper rash.

They rushed the nine-month-old child to Wayne County General Hospital. At the house, police left a note for the parents. It would be 10 hours before the parents called the station.

Incidences of child abuse and neglect do not happen often in Northville, but they do happen.

Nine cases were reported to the Wayne County Department of Social Services last year.

"What the statistics show to me is how many of these cases are not reported," said Lieutenant Gerald Ryan of the Northville City police department. "I would guess that only one in ten cases is reported. How many neighbors see these things and try to mind their own business?"

The most recent child abuse study, done in New Hampshire on a national population sample, estimates that only one in 64 cases of child abuse/neglect is reported.

The same study found that parents who are most likely to physically abuse their children are poor and of middle education.

"The middle class family is more likely to use psychological and emotional abuse/neglect on a child," said Kathleen Faller, U-M lecturer in the school of social work and co-chairperson of the Interdisciplinary Project on Child Abuse and Neglect.

Incidence of child abuse is in proportion to the tolerance of the community, Faller said. "What is acceptable behavior in a slum may be called abuse in a suburb," she said.

But Leontine Young, a nationally known social worker, says that the Police seek arsonist in model home fire

Arson has been determined the cause of a fire which destroyed most of the interior of a model home on Steepleview at Bradner February 28, township police reported.

The blaze, apparently set near a doorwall in the family room, was extinguished by township firefighters, but not until it had done an estimated $25,000 worth of damage.

"It was probably burning about an hour before we were called," said Township Fire Chief Robert Toms. "Because of the charred condition of some of the railings we know it had been burning for awhile."

Chief Toms said there were traces of an accelerant found in the carpet in a front hallway and in the family room. "It didn't smell like gas," he said. "But it certainly was a highly flammable material."

Township police, who discovered fresh foot prints in the mud leading to a nearby residence, are continuing their investigation of the incident.

Nichols' review Saturday

EVALUATION of Superintendent of Schools Larry Nichols by the Northville Board of Education has been changed to Saturday, March 8 at 9:30 a.m. The meeting, originally scheduled for March 3, was changed so that all board members could be present to review how well Nichols has completed goals he set for himself and the district last year. The meeting is open to the public and will be at school board offices at the Main Street Elementary School on West Main.

Not immunized

300 face school exclusion

More than 300 Northville students will have school doors shut to them March 17 because they do not have proper immunizations against disease, the school district announced this week.

The district will send one more letter to 228 students at Northville High School, 39 students at Meads Mill Junior High and 35 students at Cooke Junior High telling them they will be excluded from school if they don't get vaccinated.

Students will not be allowed in the classroom and their absences will be counted as unexcused, said Marie Robertson, public health consultant.

"We are going to send another letter to those still on the exclusion list," Robertson said. "The morning of March 17, students will not be allowed into school unless they have updated vaccines."

Vaccines are required for all ninth through twelfth graders by the Wayne County Health Department.

Nearly 700 students were vaccinated against measles, rubella, diphtheria, tetanus and polio in free clinics at Northville schools last week.

Robertson pointed out that parents who object to the vaccinations on religious or personal grounds must seek waiver forms available in her office, 349-3400.

She said that the Wayne County Health Department was pleased that so many children were immunized last week. Over a thousand had been on the exclusion list.

Township planners delay rezoning bids

By KEN KOVACS

Township planners, leery of potential legal problems, have delayed action until at least April on their proposal to rezone to residential land areas at three different locations in the township.

Planners, who only make recommendations on rezoning proposals, as yet have not discussed citizens' comments received at public hearings on the rezoning proposals held January 22.

At the well-attended hearings a number of attorneys, representing respective owners of the properties in question, threatened legal action if the zoning was changed.

The parcels in question, located on Haggerty at Eight Mile, Six Mile at Winchester and Five Mile between Tanger School and Northville Forest Apartments, currently are zoned B-2 (general business), B-1 (local business), OS-1 (office service) or B-3 (regional business).

Planners are attempting to rezone all three land areas to R-3 (single family residential) as the properties are shown on the recently adopted Master Plan of Land Use.

The greatest opposition to the rezoning proposals centers on the Five Mile parcel. Not a single speaker attending the hearing spoke in favor of the commission's proposal.

A number of commercial uses currently exist on the Five Mile strip and many property owners hope to develop commercial there in the future.

The majority of citizens attending the hearings backed the planners' proposals to rezone the Six Mile and Eight Mile parcels, but the property owners — some of whom purchased the land parcels as many as 25 years ago — voiced opposition to the proposed rezoning.

Planners tabled discussion of the rezoning proposals at their regular meeting February 26.

"I think we need to sit down with the township attorney and get his opinion," said Commissioner Bernard Baldwin. "There have been some very forceful petitions by some attorneys."

William Bohan, vice-chairman of the planning commission, echoed Baldwin's feelings.

"I would like to discuss this further with the commissioners," he said. "There are some issues which are not yet resolved."

Kenneth McLarty, newly appointed chairman of the planning commission indicated also that he would like to hear any comments George Vilcan, township planning consultant, might have on the proposals and possible legal problems.

A closed session with Township Attorney Don Morgan to discuss these issues has been scheduled March 20 at 7:30 p.m., prior to a special 8 p.m. meeting to discuss the updating of the township zoning ordinance.

Planners indicated they may discuss the rezoning proposals and citizens' comments at their next regular meeting March 25, even though they will take no action.

The township board has the final say whether the zoning will change.

Assistants program offered

A final course in a series of three courses for medical doctor assistants is scheduled on March 8 and April 12 at Schoolcraft College.

Clinical Procedures, x-ray and EKG will be presented from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. both days in Room 530 of the Forum Building.

Patient preparation, draping, clinical office procedures and positioning will be demonstrated. Basic instruments and equipment will be discussed. Also, terminology of x-ray examinations and electrocardiograms will be covered as well as related terminology and theory.

The program is designed for the working medical assistant as preparation for taking the Certified Medical Assistant (CMA) examination. It is not preparatory training, but is intended as a review for persons already in the field.

Upon completion of the session, six-tenths of a

Continuing Education Unit (CEU) will be awarded.

The program is sponsored by the college and the Western Wayne County Medical Assistant Society in cooperation with the American Association of Medical Assistants, State of Michigan.

Individuals should contact pre-registration chairperson Gayle Beauregard at 563-6127 or 274-1130 to enroll.

Schoolcraft tells waiting list policy

Schoolcraft College administrators, seeking to cut waiting lists for four popular programs, are making two procedural changes in admissions.

Admissions Director Barbara Geil said there are waiting lists of two to four years to get into the associate degree nursing program and the licensed practical nursing program.

For culinary arts, the waiting list runs three to five years. The list for medical laboratory technology is short, she added.

The new procedures, which take effect immediately, are:

a. Applicants to programs for which there are minimum requirements must meet the requirements before their names will be placed on the waiting list. The effect is to prevent persons from being on the waiting list while completing prerequisites.

b. "Applicants must indicate that they are prepared to accept a place in the program should admission be granted." Purpose is to eliminate persons less serious about entering the program and to assure potential students have explored the career possibility.

Trustees reviewed the procedure Wednesday with little comment. No board action is required for a procedural change.

Enrollment for the winter semester, which began in January, is up nearly six percent over January of 1979, the admissions office reported.

Otherwise, there is little change in the composition of the community college's student body.

While the increase reversed a downward trend in winter enrollment, the 1980 headcount of 7,431 persons was still below the 7,708 of 1978 and 7,711 of 1976.

The average number of credit hours per student also halted its steady decline. Schoolcraft students signed up for an average of 7.46 credit hours this year compared to 7.45 a year ago. The 1979 level was the low point in a skid from 8.23 credit hours in 1976.

Male students maintained their slight majority — 51 percent. In recent years the percentage of males had ranged from 52-54 percent.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

More so than whites, red wines usually are full bodied and hearty in flavor. It is their strength and robustness that makes them such good companions for red meats, thick steaks and large slices of roast beef. Sometimes, however, a rich red wine is a little more than is desired. If that is the case, look to the reds that are somewhat lighter, yet still full of taste and substance. Try beaujolais, bardolino, volpolicella, or zinfandel. Beaujolais and bardolinos can be chilled slightly and may well be the perfect red, warm weather picnic wines, a little coolness and a lot of taste.

Let us help you choose the perfect wines to go with your meals. These are always a complete selection, of both reds and whites available from us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. We also stock beer from all over the world, and have a large selection of liquor in popular sizes. Open: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m.-10 p.m., Sun. Noon-6 p.m.

WINE WISDOM:

A thermos makes a great decanter to keep white wines cool on a picnic.

'The Often Forgotten'

ISEP film speaks for retarded

By ELLENSPONSER

If political issues are resolved, you soon may be able to see a film made by the Northville Public Schools on television.

The film, "The Often Forgotten," is a breathtaking and sometimes disturbing documentary about what life is like for the institutionally-housed mentally retarded.

Made by Institutions' Special Education Program audio-visual director Ken Wiatrak, the film shows how mentally retarded students live at Plymouth Center, how they learn in Northville's ISE program and what happens after they reach age 26 when they no longer attend school.

The film was shown at the Northville Board of Education meeting February 25 where board members praised its intent. They said the film should be shown to the public, especially where community homes for the mentally retarded are being established.

This is where the political part comes in. Since last fall the filmmakers have been trying to get release forms from everyone involved so that the film can be shown to the public.

But Plymouth Center officials have concerns about the release of the film.

They consulted with directors of the Michigan Department of Mental Health in Lansing, who requested to see the film this month.

ISEP Director Leonard Resmierski is hoping that officials will give their blessing to the film so it can be released.

"We would like to have our baby born full term," Resmierski said. We are waiting anxiously for it to be approved. We are not out to lynch anybody. After hearing the acclamations from the board, we have to go back and deal with things politically."

Detroit-area television stations are reorted to have already expressed interest in the film.

Wiatrak, audio-visual director for ISEP, wrote an outline for the film in 1978. He hired two freelancers, Kevin Smith and Vince Blaszczyk, and together they shot 30,000 feet of 16 mm film at Plymouth Center, community homes and in ISEP classrooms. Original music was composed by Paul Eisenstein.

Wiatrak and his crew finished shooting last spring. The film was edited to 1,800 feet (about 45 minutes long) and finished in August. It cost approximately $25,000, part from federal funds and part from the ISEP budget.

Educator gives ethics workshop

A nationally known speaker will conduct a workshop in teacher professionalism and ethics to more than 100 Lutheran school teachers this week in Northville.

Jack Larson, director of seminars for the MASTER teacher, will be addressing the group at St. Paul's School on Friday.

His presentation will be, "So You Want To Be Good, dealing with professionalism and Christian ethics."

"We heard him speak last spring and were pleased with the moral and spiritual development from his workshop," said St. Paul Principal Kenneth Lehl.

Larson is from Kansas State College in Manhattan, Kansas. He travels extensively throughout the United States and Canada conducting seminars on education. "The Master Teacher" is an educational publication that provides a continuous program of teacher training.

Administrators of nearly 15,000 schools around the world use "The Master Teacher" as a foundation in staff development.

Larson is on the board of directors of the United School Administrators and has been an active member of the Kettering Foundation and Association of Secondary School Principals.

He received the Secondary Educator of America Award in 1973, the Service to Mankind Award for working with the rehabilitation of juveniles and the Federal Mental Health Service Award.

Center planned for culinary arts

By TIM RICHARD

To the casual eye, the Culinary Arts addition at Schoolcraft College will look much like the rest of the Waterman Center.

But it will have narrower windows to keep heat in during winter and out during summer. And the windows will be of inch-thick thermal glass.

"Our firm is very energy conscious," said project manager Harry Diamond of Hoyem-Basso Associates as the college board of trustees gave 6-0 approval of preliminary plans. Trustee Michael Burley, Northville schools administrator, was absent.

The Culinary Arts addition to the north end of the Waterman Center will be a one-story, 1.35 million project.

Construction can start "on or before October 1," said college Vice President W. Kenneth Lindner.

If several property tax proposals from 1975-79 hadn't been rejected by voters, the Culinary Arts addition would have been two stories high and contained meeting facilities and room for student and public-related groups. It would have cost $2.3 million.

The current project will be confined to expanding the Culinary Arts enrollment from 58 to about 120. The state will pick up half the construction tab, said college President C. Nelson Grote. The college's share will come from an old bond issue.

Schoolcraft's project still is subject to review of the governor's Office of Management and Budget and the legislature's Joint Capital Outlay Committee called "JOC," Lindner said.

"The state did an unusual thing last year," Grote said. It had a larger amount allocated for Schoolcraft's project, but when the millage lost at the polls, the state used the money elsewhere "rather than leave it idle."

Schoolcraft's money must be reallocated. "We don't have an absolute guarantee," said Grote, "but we have the word of the governor's office and JOC."

He added that Schoolcraft "won a lot of brownie points" by not insisting on its allocation last year and coming back with a redesigned project in 1980.

The culinary addition's first floor will be built up six feet to match the first floor of the Waterman Center, said architect Diamond. The Waterman Center is on a knoll on the north end of the campus at 18600 Haggerty.

The project calls for 9,400 square feet of new construction and 1,400 square feet of remodeling of the existing center. That remodeling space will come from the main dining hall.

That lost space will reduce the existing dining hall's capacity by 96 persons, to 654. But college officials added that attendance at Gourmet Club dinners had been held to 500, so the loss is seen as minor.

Diamond said the new addition would have a large instructional laboratory and a demonstration laboratory. It also will contain a service training facility that can double as a sit-down dining room.

The building will be of steel frame construction with masonry walls.

Her brother wrote this Marquis movie

When the Marquis Theatre on Main Street lights up for "The Runner Stumbles" this Friday evening, Susan Pollock, a Northville resident in Whisper Woods, can point to the marquee and say, "My brother wrote it."

He is screenwriter and playwright Milan Stitt.

The movie by 20th Century Fox is based on a play written by Stitt while he was a student at Yale. Stitt had learned of the true story of the murder of a nun near Traverse City and used it as the plot.

Dick VanDyke in the film plays the priest on trial for her murder. The story became a Broadway play and then a paperback novel. Stitt was asked to write the screenplay.

Stitt's sister calls the movie a "Who Dun It."

She adds that her brother, now a resident of New York City, will be in the area this weekend while the movie runs through Sunday, but will not be seeing it.

He's flying in for the opening of his new play, "Back in the Race," which will open March 13 at the Boarshead Theater in Lansing.

Stitt and his sister grew up in Michigan, and the playwright got his high school education at Cooley High in Detroit.

Child abuse here

higher the standards of the community, the more hidden child abuse becomes.

"Any middle class family sending children to school in a state of physical neglect...would be extremely conspicuous," she said in a 1971 study, "Wednesday's Children." "Cruel and derogatory words leave no visible marks, but broken bones attract attention....In the absence of proof the family's economic or social status would tend to protect the abusing parent from direct community action and (would) contribute to the concealment of the behavior."

Northville High School Counselor Alta Olson said she reports a few abuse/neglect cases to authorities every year.

"At the high school level, it is more psychological than physical," she said. "This is the most difficult part. How do you prove psychological abuse? We must be extremely cautious. Certainly by no stretch of the imagination is it rampant...."

"When a student has a black eye, is it from a parent? A sibling? Or is it from walking into a door?"

The Child Protection law of 1974 requires school administrators, social workers, doctors and the police to report suspected child abuse/neglect cases to the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS).

Between October 1978 and October 1979 there were 37,089 cases of child abuse/neglect reported to DSS. Of those, 8,436 cases were handled by Wayne County and 2,985 by Oakland. Nine cases were in Northville.

Though experts agree that incidences of child abuse are probably not increasing, the numbers of cases reported to DSS have leaped because of better reporting procedures.

Oakland County does not break down its statistics for each city. But Wayne County divides its statistics into three sections. Northville's section, which includes Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City and Redford, got 193 complaints of child abuse/neglect last year. One hundred and eight of the cases were substantiated, 17 of them serious enough to go to court.

Pre-school children stand the highest chance of being abused or neglected because they cannot fight back.

On February 9, 1979, a Detroit man was cited and fined for leaving his small boy alone in the Northville Downs parking lot in the car with the motor running.

On March 6, another Detroit family left three pre-school children in their locked car with no heat in the Downs parking lot. Police found them at 10 p.m.

And in late 1978 city police received a report that a Northville couple was leaving their two-year-old child at home alone eight hours a day while they worked because they could not afford a baby sitter. Charges were never substantiated.

Northville school principals say they keep their eyes open for neglected and abused children though they seldom have had cause to report to authorities.

"There are lots of ways to abuse children," said Amerman Principal William Craft. "I have suspected maybe some physical neglect, kids being left alone and that sort of thing. But I've never felt strongly enough about a case to report it."

"Some of the worst abuse, though, is verbal. You can really do more damage to a child verbally than by a swat on the bottom."

In July, 1978, a 13 year-old boy appeared at the Northville City police department saying his mother had both physically and verbally abused him. Police called DSS, the case went to court, and the boy sat on the witness stand and denied everything.

Less than a year later the boy again appeared at the police station saying his mother had psychologically abused him. He asked to be taken to his father's house. The DSS investigated and the boy went to live with his father. Meanwhile, the mother is suing the police for false arrest.

"The problem is, how do you get a child to turn in his own parent?" said Lieutenant Ryan. "The most natural thing in the world is to defend your parents."

"People began accepting in the 1960s that parents do in fact break their children's bones," said Bill Wiggins, director of court and clinical services of the Wayne County Juvenile Court.

"Abuse is a very broad thing. Nobody has an exact definition. If a parent hits his child, is it abuse or discipline? If it is discipline, that is one end of the spectrum. But on the other end we have a dead child."

What happened to the baby mentioned at the beginning of this article? Police took the parents to court in 1975 where they were convicted of neglect. The baby temporarily was placed in a foster home but was returned to the parents within a year.

In 1977, a babysitter called the police and said the mother had never returned home from a night out. The father was in prison. Township police went to the home to pick up the same child.

Based on police testimony of drugs and obvious neglect in the home, this time they would get the child permanently taken away from the mother. But was it in time? Sergeant Philip Presnell had to carry the three-year-old boy because he could not walk.

Township, city okay ambulance agreement

Novi Ambulance, Inc. will continue to service both the city and township for the next three years under a new contract recently approved by both local governing bodies.

Despite earlier objections, township officials, at a special meeting February 27 unanimously approved the pact.

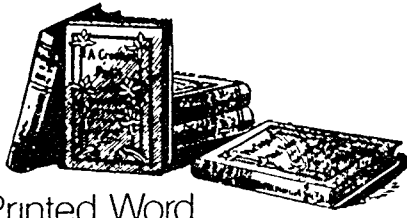

City officials earlier had given their endorsement.

Township trustees had referred the contract to attorney Don Morgan because of concerns they had about the lack of a no-cause cancellation clause.

Trustee John Swienkowski had argued that the language in the contract as written could result in a conflict between Novi Ambulance and the township which, eventually, could lead to a court battle.

Morgan, however, in a letter to the board, said he felt the language of the contract was not unreasonable and would "provide a basis for speedy termination if Novi Ambulance, Inc., does not fulfill its contractual obligations."

Mountains of trash will build ski slope

A mountain takes shape in Salem

By MARILYN HERALD

They're building a mountain in Salem Township.

Perhaps a 220-foot high ski hill can't literally be termed a mountain but in the gently rolling Salem area, it will certainly be considered a very high hill. Its elevation will be 1,120 feet above sea level.

The ski hill is being constructed from the "mountains" of trash produced by residents of Wayne, Washtenaw and Oakland counties by the Holloway Company at the landfill site at Six Mile and Napier.

And one day, about seven years from now, the whole thing will be completed and turned over to Salem Township.

Actually, the property is in escrow for the township now with Holloway constructing the hill under a contractual agreement reached some three years ago.

Right now, the ski slope is only in its construction stages. At that it now rises to a lofty 80 feet that grows steadily with every load of trash that arrives.

And the trucks, large and semi-large, loaded with trash, continue to roll in mounting in numbers to 80 to 100 per day, six days a week.

Drivers check in first at the mobile unit near the entrance where Nick Jabe, who runs the landfill for Holloway, has his office. Then they drive their loads up the winding road to the top of the "mountain" where it is dumped under careful supervision.

The hill is being built in layers with clay laid over compacted trash as it goes up in "lifts" according to plans drawn by Keith Engineering which also designed Mt. Holly and Pine Knob.

As far as Salem's Chief Inspector

Fred Verran can ascertain, Salem's hill is only the second one around to be built of trash. The other began operation this year and is called Riverview.

Salem township officials visited that site before reaching agreement with Holloway for construction of the slope.

The site of the hill is approximately 167 acres, according to Charles McGee who manages Holloway Sand and Gravel. It is almost surrounded by other property owned by Holloway from which clay for the covering lifts is taken.

McGee said some lakes are planned in those areas where the earth is being removed.

As far as Salem Supervisor Philip Brandon is concerned the landfill on Six Mile is "the cleanest and best run any where."

Comments from Larry Aubuchon, a water quality specialist with the Resource Recovery Division of Michigan's Department of Natural Resources, pretty well support Brandon's contention.

"I'd say it is very well run," Aubuchon, who was the monthly inspector of the site for the state, said last week. "Any landfill has minor problems and Salem is no exception but

Ambulance service contract approved

Prior to making the motion to approve the contract, Swienkowski said his question still was not answered.

"I think our attorney missed the point" was making," he said. "But if he has no problems with it (the contract) I have no problems with it," he stated.

Trustees discussed other possible options, but came to the conclusion that there really weren't any viable options.

"Right now there is not a better ambulance service than Novi Ambulance," Swienkowski said.

One trustee suggested that a one-year contract be considered, but John Early, owner of Novi Ambulance, said he could not provide the new life-support service — which he planned to purchase under the three-year agreement — with a 12-month agreement.

"It is too great an investment to make with a commitment of only one year," Early said.

Early said the cost of supplying one ambulance with the life-support equipment is some $51,000.

The city currently is negotiating to purchase one of two houses on Northville Road to house the ambulances — one in the city and one in the township.

If the city were to purchase the building, as they would like to do, the township would pay rent and assist in maintenance costs.

Since the former housing quarters on Fairbrook near Rogers and city have been searching for a new location.

HARTLAND — A Hartland citizens committee on schools, in a report that often differed sharply from administrative positions, has suggested that high school students did not have to be limited to five-period days in the wake of last summer's millage defeats.

HOWELL — Nearly nine months after state auditors began a summer-long task of what had been termed an unraveling of the Livingston County Treasurer's office snarled bookkeeping, a report has been released by the state treasury department which points no fingers.

HAMBURG — Gary Evanko, Hamburg Township assessor, has announced that he will not be spreading assessments as the Livingston County Equalization Department has directed.

Geake bill will aid seniors

Legislation was introduced last week by State Senator R. Robert Geake (R-Northville) that would allow Michigan senior citizens to qualify for deferral of special assessments on their property.

Present law (Act 225 of the Public Acts of 1976) provides for the deferral of special assessments on homesteads owned by senior citizens who have been residents of Michigan for at least five years and have an annual income of less than $6,000.

Under Geake's bill that income level would be raised to $10,000 annually.

"Act 225 is a fine piece of legislation because it allows senior citizens living on fixed incomes to deal with a special assessment improvement project, such as street paving, without being forced to sell their homes," Geake said.

"However, with the increasing costs of heat, lights and food, the $6,000 maximum income limit is now too low."

The legislation also would cover totally and permanently disabled citizens.

Geake said he introduced the bill after the problem had been brought to his attention by Livonia's Mayor Ed McNamara, Director of Public Works Robert E. Olsen, and City Engineer G. E. Siemert.

"This is another example of how Michigan citizens can benefit when state and local public officials work closely together," the senator said.

Panel to tell problems of alcohol

An alcohol awareness program, offered by the Northville Jaycees and the 35th District Court, will be held March 11 at 8 p.m. at the Plymouth city hall, 20 1 South Main.

A second session will be conducted March 18. Dr. Frank Hollingsworth, Ph.D., will speak on the Progression of Alcohol — Disease Concept at next Tuesday's meeting.

The second session will consist of a panel discussion between two members of Alcoholics Anonymous and two members of Alanon.

They will discuss how alcohol affected their lives and how A.A. or Alanon helped them.

Anyone curious about alcohol or alcoholism and the effect it has on the mind, body and lives of people is welcome to attend.

Questions will be answered regarding treatment facilities in the area.

HOWELL — A growing crop of expensive lawsuits against the county, controversy over the frequent involvement of a Grand Rapids labor law firm and differences of opinion with county prosecutors are providing the Livingston County Board of Commissioners with the impetus to search for its own civil counsel.

SOUTH LYON — Three South Lyon Board of Education members strongly criticized Board President Ruth Munzel for what they apparently perceive as her "over" involvement in the daily operations of the school district.

SOUTH LYON — The deadline to apply for South Lyon's city manager position has been extended to March 14 by a 4-0 vote of the city council. Purpose is to allow the interim city manager, Fred Yocke, time to decide if he wants to apply for the permanent position.

SOUTH LYON — School administrators here voted 13-1 to unionize for the purpose of collective bargaining.

NOVI — A rezoning request to permit construction of a proposed shopping center was recommended for approval by the planning board despite objections from surrounding property owners. The proposed site is on the northeast corner of Ten Mile and Beck.

WIXOM — Plans are being studied here to convert the old co-op into a "historical village." The proposal suggests a shopping mall around a historical theme near the old elevator at Pontiac Trail and Wixom Road.

WIXOM — Appointment of Richard Holman to the position of city treasurer has been announced by Mayor Lillian Spencer.

NOVI — A shortage of cars for driver education classes has forced the Novi Schools to drop the course during the school year and offer it only during the summer months, according to Superintendent Gerald Kratz.

WALLED LAKE — City officials here will attempt to negotiate a new lease with the Oakland County Public Works Division to continue to provide facilities for the 52nd District Court's First Division until new quarters are available.

Development Act, that the "chief executive," on behalf of the township, could submit a written objection on the ground that the application is inconsistent with the applicable Housing Assistance Program (HAP).

There are three reasons on which the objections can be based, Rutan said:

— If the proposed number of dwelling units exceeds the three-year HAP plan.

— If the proposed location of newly constructed or substantially rehabilitated units is not within the general locations specified in the applicable HAP, and is objectionable to the local government for specified reasons.

— Or if the proposed housing assistance is inconsistent with any other limiting factors set forth in the HAP.

"I probably will object on the basis of the second reason," the supervisor said, "since the sites in question apparently were not the locations reviewed at the county public hearing."

Mountain takes shape in Salem

when we talk to them about something, they readily address the problem.

"Their public relations are good and if there is a concern by residents, they will discuss it and work it out."

Probably one of the biggest problems with any landfill is blowing papers as McGee readily admits. Holloway has from two to five men every day picking papers along the fences and roads that surround the ski hill construction site, he added.

"But when you have winds of 30-35 miles per hour, it's nearly impossible to keep the trash from blowing."

Another problem McGee says that happens at any landfill is tires which have a tendency to work their way to the surface. Even though they are supposed to be excluded, some are brought in and they have to be picked up and buried in another area.

Both McGee and Verran, who inspects the landfill for the township, give Jabe the credit for how well it is run.

"Jabe's really a PR man for Holloway in his position at the landfill," Verran added. "The local people go out there a lot to take their own trash and Nick's attitude is very important."

The ski slope which will face toward Six Mile will include three areas, one for beginners, one for intermediates and one for advanced skiers. How the chair lifts and other equipment are constructed will be up to the township when the hill is completed.

At this point the township board has not decided how actual operation of the ski resort will be handled.

When all the filling is done, the top of the "mountain" will be covered with five feet of clay to provide anchoring for the equipment McGee said.

In the meantime, the mountain continues to grow in Salem and urban trash continues to disappear under layers of clay.

'Salem mountain . . . will be 1,120 feet above sea level'

Water fight

As was expected, Detroit Mayor Coleman Young has let it be known that he will oppose a petition drive launched by Oakland County Drain Commissioner George Kuhn to bring about regional control of the Detroit water system.

Young stated recently that he would be willing to relinquish control of the Detroit Water and Sewer Department (DWSD) from which three million people in nearly 100 outlying communities buy services "when they get ready to take over Detroit Edison and Michigan Bell."

In essence, what Young is saying is that Detroit owns the water-sewer system the way Edison and Bell stockholders own those companies. The comparison is just plain wrong.

Unfortunately, many people think that because Detroit's name is on the water-sewer system there is some kind of capitalist-consumer relationship between Detroit and the suburban communities which utilize the facilities.

But the facts of the matter are that Detroit has virtually no general fund revenues invested in the water-sewer system and have never made the kind of capital investment in the system that Edison and Bell stockholders made when they purchased shares of the corporations.

The system is funded by the customers — and that includes suburban as well as Detroit customers. In addition, the system is funded from the state and federal governments — sources to which suburban residents contribute just as much as Detroit residents.

Specifically, Detroit has no real moral claim to "ownership" of the sewer-water system. All it does have is political control.

The DWSD is under the control of a nine-member board. Six of the members are from Detroit, while the other three are from the suburban communities which share use of the facilities. All nine members of the board are appointed by the mayor of Detroit, however, and that is the target of Kuhn's petition drive.

What Kuhn has proposed is that the composition of the water board be regionalized on a one person-one vote basis. Detroit would have three of the nine seats under the proposal, while the other six seats would be filled by representatives of the suburban communities which rely on the system for services.

In other words, Kuhn's petition drive is aimed at restructuring the composition of the board so that all communities — not just Detroit — are represented in making the decisions which affect the manner in which it is operated.

In sounding his opposition to the Kuhn proposal, Young also asserted that "if it hadn't been for the water system, there wouldn't be any suburbs. Pontiac and all the rest of the surrounding area exist because of a water system which we freely offered to them."

But if Young were to check the records he would discover that there was no "free offer" to become customers of the Detroit system. The fact is that after post-World War II growth struck, the outlying communities began planning their own system. Someone suggested that instead of constructing a parallel system from scratch, the outlying communities share the existing facility with Detroit — and the proposal was carried out.

The Detroit sewage treatment plant is suffering not only from physical breakdowns that are polluting the Detroit River and Lake Erie. It is also suffering from a political breakdown in which one community with one-third of the region's population exercises political control over a water-sewer system which serves almost half the state.

It's obvious that such a situation is simply not equitable. The time has come to operate the regional water-sewer system with a regional governmental board.

Home at last!

For those who have agonized over repeated moves by the library, forced on it by a space crunch, the warm, spacious new home at the city hall is a welcomed relief.

But more than a permanent home, the new library is an attractive, functional facility that should delight regular library patrons as well as those who visit the library for the first time.

If you haven't visited the library (it's located at Wing and Main, adjacent to the city hall), by all means do so soon; you will be pleasantly surprised. It's large, arranged to make easy access to the shelves, and it offers a wide range of books and periodicals for both children and adults. What's more, if the book you are seeking is not available, it can be obtained promptly through the library's interloan program within the federated library system.

Library hours have been increased, also, to give patrons more opportunities to use the facility.

We're impressed with the new library, and we salute those responsible for its development — including John Carlo, executive manager of Northville Downs, for whom the addition has been named.

It's just one more reason why we and so many others believe the community of Northville is such a great place to live and work.

Speaking for Myself

Marriage or the single life?

MARRIAGE

Many will say there are no advantages to marriage. Jokingly, at first, I said there were no advantages.

Beginning to think I may be taking my marriage for granted, I realize three main advantages: companionship, responsibility and raising a family.

Without my spouse, without our companionship, I would be very lonely. I would have no one to share myself with and express my goals and innermost feelings to.

The most beautiful part about this is the reciprocal feelings of my spouse. When he feels these same things about me, letting me know how much I am loved, then I not only know but can feel this advantage of being married.

The feeling of responsibility in my marriage gives me the desire to work hard and to do my best for my husband and children. Knowing that I am needed gives me the energy for life.

A most precious advantage is raising a family. My children keep me busy; they keep me laughing and sometimes crying. They may seem like too much for me at times but then my husband, thank God, comes home and makes things seem so much better.

I am not trying to say my marriage is perfect or that any marriage is perfect, but it gives us something to strive for.

Carolyn Allen

SINGLE

Married life vs. single life is not a question of right or wrong; it is more a question of personal preference.

There is a certain freedom in the single lifestyle to choose the course that benefits your own particular desires. It is important to have that freedom of choice because there are many desires I want to experience before I am ready to "settle down."

There is also a certain "unstructuredness" to your time when you are single. We all must work for a living but the big advantage is that your leisure time is yours and you are able to determine what you want to do with that time.

This is not to say that marriage is something to fear. Rather, it is something that should be well thought out before being embarked upon by two people.

There are many good things for both lifestyles. The most important thing is to make the choice that is right for you.

The old saying that "the grass is always greener on the other side of the fence" is not always true.

I like my side best because there is room to roam.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Even if you and I were not going to be asked to help pay its cost, repair of the Oakland-Macomb interceptor boggles the mind.

Located near the Oakland and Macomb county border, this giant sewer is the same one that collapsed in July 1978 and necessitated raw sewage to be pumped into Lake St. Clair.

As was the case in the first instance, Detroit has permitted the repair of the latest crumbling to be placed in the hands of the firm that constructed the sewer. So not only did the company make a pocket full of money building it less than 10 years ago, the same company is making a mint repairing it.

But we're told not to worry because this latest repair job won't be as costly as the first...that probably it will cost us less than $10 million.

And not a single customer will be inconvenienced.

What's more, the Detroit sewer boss buoys our confidence by telling us the sewer is basically sound, that its builder did a good job and is doing a swell job repairing it.

No wonder the suburbs are so critical of Detroit's operation of the sprawling water and sewer system. No wonder some of us are beginning to miss those backyard two-seaters of years gone by.

To make matters worse, we can't even look to the court for help. After all, it was the court that, in its infinite wisdom, determined that the suburbs should provide most of the bucks for the last debacle.

There's a couple elementary lessons to be learned in all of this, I guess.

One of them is that when the chickens are wounded bring in the fox to administer first aid and, by all means, pay him well. The other is that when Mr. Whipple loses his job squeezing toilet tissue, Detroit and the court can teach him how to squeeze our pocket-books.

It's enough to make a grown man cry whenever he flushes the toilet.

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

Car sales are down. Auto production has been cut back. Thousands of auto workers have been laid off. Auto dealers are going out of business.

When the nation's economy tumbles, Michigan's really takes a fall. And because the Carter administration has failed to devise a comprehensive plan to effectively deal with the runaway inflation problem, state legislatures are left to do what they can on a piece meal basis.

In Michigan, the house has passed and sent to the senate a package of bills which would let auto dealers, banks and other financial institutions boost maximum interest rates on new car loans from the present 12.83 percent to 16 percent annually.

The house-approved measures also would grant permission to increase the maximum interest rates on used cars less than two years old to 18 percent and on cars more than two years old to 21.5 percent.

The provision carries a sunset date of March 1, 1981 at which time the interest rates would automatically return to the current levels.

The question is this — Will increased interest rates sell more cars?

Auto dealers tell us that the primary cause for the decline in auto sales is the fact that banks and other financial institutions aren't making loans available to prospective car buyers.

The banking community says the reason for that is that it costs banks more in interest to borrow the money to loan out to car buyers than the law will allow banks to charge on the auto loan itself.

Proponents of the measure recognize that the increase in interest rates may force some consumers out of the car buying market but argue that presently many car buyers who could purchase a car aren't able to because auto loans aren't available. On that basis they say it makes no sense to leave interest rates at the current low level and deny everyone the opportunity to buy a car.

Those favoring the legislation also maintain the measures will help stabilize the auto market and maintain jobs, which will in the long run be beneficial to both the tax-paying public and to Michigan workers.

But, of course, there are two sides to every argument.

Opponents say the interest rate excuse being used for the decline in auto sales is a phony one. They contend the real reason for the limited auto sales is because consumers simply cannot afford to drive the gas-guzzling products that American automakers continue to roll off the production lines.

According to them this legislation is an unnecessary and unfair burden to consumers who must rely on their automobile for their livelihoods.

They emphasize that economists say interest rates have absolutely no effect on a buyer's market so higher interest rates should not be expected to increase auto sales.

In short, those opposing the legislation call it a "consumer fleecing" bill.

It is another one of those complex pieces of legislation where a strong case can be made for voting either way. The house approved the bills 92-10 and they have been sent to the senate floor where quick action is expected. I haven't made up my mind. What are your thoughts? Should the interest rates on auto loans be raised in Michigan? I'd like to hear from you. Write to my Lansing office.

Parent blasts uncaring teachers

To the Editor:

This letter is being written to all teachers who don't take the time to read their students' papers or who destroy them before a conference can be called if there is a question regarding the mark on a report card, or who lose papers and don't give the student credit for their work, or the teacher who ignores an honest plea for assistance, or the teachers that are not available during their conference hours.

Each one of these examples has happened to a child of mine since we have been in the Northville School District.

You tell your children to "roll with the punches" or that "these things happen in life and you have to cope," but I think you teachers, and you know who you are, should be a little more conscientious and maybe "care" just a wee bit more.

Perhaps the students would take more pride in their school and their work if they could see these teachers take pride in their teaching.

Grades often are affected by these injustices. I'm tired of making excuses to my children for some of you teachers.

Think about it, are "you" being fair to your students?

HUD's power

To the Editor:

Subsidized low-income housing proposed for the Northridge and Swan Harbour Apartments in Northville Township is governed by a set of regulations, adopted by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in 1978. Not surprisingly, the original housing act was passed by Congress in 1937, but the current HUD regulations determine how the law will be applied.

Clearly this is another case where an administrative agency has more power to enforce the law than the legislative body which originally passed the act.

Actually, HUD's interpretation of the guidelines has the weight of almost absolute finality, because administrators created the regulations and then determine how they should be applied.

I read the regulations in the Code of Federal Regulations, Chapter VIII, Part 800, Section 23, in the law library. They cover 400 pages of technical and boring details about the guidelines, which must be applied by all parties concerned with a Section 8 type project.

You might be interested in some definitions of the types of categories included in the act:

(a) Disabled person. "Disabled Person" means a person who is under a disability as defined in section 223 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 423) or in section 102(b) (5) of the Developmental Disabilities Services and Facilities Construction Amendments of 1970 (42 U.S.C. 6001 (7)).

(b) Displaced person. "Displaced Person" means a person displaced by governmental action, or a person whose dwelling has been extensively damaged or destroyed as a result of a disaster declared or otherwise formally recognized pursuant to Federal disaster relief laws.

(c) Elderly family. "Elderly Family" means a family whose head or spouse or whose sole member is at least 62 years of age, or a disabled person as defined in this section or a Handicapped

Person as defined in this section, and may include two or more elderly, Disabled or Handicapped Persons living together, or one or more such persons living with another person who is determined to be essential to his or her care and well being.

(d) Family. "Family" includes but is not limited to (1) an Elderly Family or Single Person as defined in this part, (2) the remaining member of a tenant family, and (3) a Displaced Person.

(e) Handicapped person. "Handicapped Person" means a person having a physical or mental impairment which (1) is expected to be of long-continued and indefinite duration, (2) substantially impedes his or her ability to live independently, and (3) is of such a nature that such ability could be improved by more suitable housing conditions.

(f) Single person. "Single Person" means a person living alone or intending to live alone and who does not qualify for an Elderly Family or a Displaced Person as defined in this part, or as the remaining member of a tenant family. Residents want clean lakes Problems created by former developers have made them leery of new project proposals near their subdivision — Highland Lakes.

Past construction has caused silt to run into at least one of the three bodies of water in the Highland Lakes development, causing residents to consider having the lake dredged this spring.

And when Pulte Homes of Michigan Corporation presented plans for a 360-unit apartment complex fronting on Lake Success (on Eight Mile) to the township planning commission February 26, members of the Highland Lakes volunteer "ecology committee" were there.

"A lot of destruction has come to our lakes," one committee member said. "This is the last remaining undeveloped land in Highland Lakes and we want to insure that nothing happens (during construction) that will cause problems later."

Committee members estimate Highland Lakes residents may spend some $20,000 for the cleaning of Crystal Lake.

They also told planners that Lake Success has the best potential for fishing and they are afraid this project (stocking the lake with fish) could be ruined if tight restrictions are not kept on developers and builders.

The plan submitted by the developer was so incomplete, however, planners, with support from both the township engineer and planning consultant, rejected the preliminary plan.

"This plan in the form received and reviewed can be considered as a basis for discussion of concepts and requirements," Bill Mosher, township engineer said in a letter to the commission. "(But) we see no possibility of your being able to express effectively any version of conditional approval."

Committee members said their main concern was how sanitary sewers would be built and where they would empty.

"We are quite concerned about what this plan calls for," said Erv Benson, another Highland Lakes resident. "What we are asking is protection while construction is underway."

Following heated discussion between

Mosher, the planning commission and the ecology committee, William Bohan, planning commission vice-chairman, moved that the plan be rejected and that both the planning consultant and engineer, wherever possible, deal with potential pollution problems when considering site plans for Highland Lakes.

The motion was passed unanimously.

County reform closer

Provided that adequate state funding is forthcoming, reform of Wayne County government is a step closer to reality after the County Board of Commissioners moved to consider placing a charter commission proposal before voters in August.

The board has referred to its general government committee a resolution asking for a ballot proposition during the August 5 primary election, offering the question of whether a charter commission should be established to restructure the county government.

The resolution asks a "Yes" or "No" vote on the question: "Shall the Electors of the County of Wayne elect a Charter Commission for the purpose of framing and submitting to the electors of the County a Home Rule Charter?"

As proposed in the resolution, the charter commissioners would be nominated on the same ballot, and in accordance with legislation enacted earlier this month, would have six months to draft a charter for consideration by the electorate at a later election.

Important in the resolution is specification for complete state funding for costs of the election, including compensation of charter commissioners and additional sums necessary for office space as well as supplies, printing and publicity needs.

Board Chairman Samuel A. Turner said the immediacy of state funding is a "serious drawback" and that confirmation from the state on the matter is a must before further progress can be expected.

"With assurance of state funding, I have no doubt that the commissioners will immediately choose to put the issue on the ballot. It could be voted out of committee within a month," said Turner.

Another commissioner, however, said he will hold the resolution in committee until there is absolute assurance of state funding, and that he will not accept verbal or even written promises from Governor William Milliken on the issue.

County officials estimated the election and maintenance of a charter commission could cost from $3 to $5 million.

Families small, housing grows

The housing market will face increased pressure in the 1980's to keep pace with a continuing high rate of new household formations, according to the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR).

"The Census Bureau reports that during the last decade the average household size dropped from 3.14 to 2.78 persons," said John J. Halser, WWOCBR president. "A major factor has been the growth in non-family households which consist of one resident or two or more unrelated persons."

He said that the average annual increase in new households during the 1970's was 1.5 million. Of the 77.3 million U.S. households last year, 19.8 million or about one in four were maintained as non-family units. A comparable figure in 1970 was one in five.

"We expect to see this same pattern continuing," Halser said, "with a growing number of singles, divorced people, widows and widowers maintaining their own residences. This will bring further changes not only in demand, but in the type of housing that will be required."

"With the current pace of new housing starts and an expected population growth of more than two million a year, it will become increasingly difficult to meet housing needs."

The WWOCBR president said that between two million and 2.4 million new residential units will be required each year to meet increased demand and replace units razed or otherwise destroyed.

"The threat of a housing shortage coupled with rising construction and land costs will continue to increase the value of most existing homes kept in good repair," he said. "Many have more than doubled in value during the past 10 years. They may well sell for more than twice today's prices in 1990 dollars."

Halser said this would be especially true of single-family detached homes, but noted that, based on current trends, the value of townhouses and condominiums will follow the same path.

"While the 1970's saw the average new home increase in size and include more amenities, we believe there will be some reversal of this trend in the next few years," he said. "Greater emphasis will be placed on supplying smaller, more efficient homes that make better use of space and use less energy."

"A growing shortage of land available for development and rising costs of improvement should mean more new homes being built on smaller lots and more cluster housing to hold down prices."

Halser noted that half of all wives are now working outside the home. By 1990, it is predicted that up to 70 percent of women in the 25 to 44 age group will hold such jobs.

"Dual incomes will continue to be an increasingly important factor in home purchases," he said. "But, with two or more members of the household holding jobs, there will be an added push for homes requiring less maintenance both inside and outside."

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS:

NOVI AMBULANCE CONTRACT: Mr. John Early, Manager of the Novi Ambulance Company, stated for the past five years he has served Northville and asked for any questions.

Councilman DeRusha asked what communities the Company served.

Mr. Early named the areas as Farmington and Farmington Hills, Novi, Northville and the Township.

Councilman DeRusha asked how long they have used the Advanced Life Support.

Mr. Early explained since June, 1979 and also explained their association with Providence Hospital. He mentioned a branch of Providence would open in March in Novi.

Councilwoman Ayers asked if someone needs the use of an ambulance, were they automatically taken to Providence Hospital.

Mr. Early answered that anyone has a choice of where they want to go, however, if it were a matter of life and death, they would be taken to Providence.

Mr. Early explained the system to Council. He also mentioned that Botford Hospital has the life supporting system.

A question was asked regarding the Township accepting the contract.

Mr. Early commented they were in favor of it with the exception of page 7, Section D. E. & F. The Township wanted to be able to cancel the contract without notice, and Mr. Early stated he was not interested in that.

The City Attorney mentioned the Life Support System was mentioned in the contract.

Mr. Early commented the contract would have to be changed to include Life Support.

The City Attorney also asked if an average of 10 calls per day were received, the ambulance company would pay their own expenses of the facility.

Mr. Early agreed and responded at the present time they handle approximately 312 calls a month.

Discussion of the cost and sharing of these with the Township followed.

Motion by Councilman Gardner supported by Councilwoman Ayers to accept the Novi Ambulance Company contract contingent on the rewording of the Life Support System and on advice of the City Attorney.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

RECREATION DEPARTMENT BUDGET: Mayor Pro-Tem Johnston stated the City's increase in the budget for this year amounted to $5,881.

Ed. Kricitz, Recreation Department Director, explained the increase was due mainly to the maintenance of the ball diamonds increasing and the inflation of equipment costs. He mentioned the Recreation Department maintained three soccer fields and one baseball diamond at the Wayne County Training Center. He requested the use of the Recreation Building for voting purposes for Precinct numbers 1 & 5 for their school election, June 8, 1980.

Mr. Kricitz commented on the increase in participation in Soccer and Junior Baseball, implying fees and an increase in the mailing of the four activities brochures, increases in the Director and Recreation Secretary's salaries, plus Mr. Kricitz mentioned the need for a supervisor when he is not there. The supervisor would be a full time employee with benefits.

Discussion on the Recreation Budget and its effect on the total budget followed. Council asked to get together with the Recreation Commission in August or September to discuss the philosophy of the fee structure.

No action was taken at this time.

PUBLIC LIBRARY BUDGET: The Budget was submitted with an increase of $4,521 or 4.8 percent over the 1979-80 budget, however, it represents a savings from last year's budget. Local hiring was one of the main factors for holding the budget down. This was explained.

Discussion of the budget followed.

Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman Gardner to concur with the Northville Public Library 1980-81 Budget.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

Police Blotter

Youth charged with assault

A 16-year-old township man was arrested on charges of assault and battery on a police officer February 23, township police reported.

He was one of five juveniles who reportedly were drinking and harassing residents by shining spotlights in windows of homes when police arrived.

Police Officer John Sherman said he was in the process of questioning the youths and searching them for weapons when one suspect, refusing to be searched, turned and pushed him.

The youth had to be forcibly subdued, according to Officer Sherman, and consequently was arrested.

The case will be handled in juvenile court, police said.

Burglars escaped with more than $2,500 worth of cameras, silver, music equipment and jewelry taken from an Appollo residence February 26, township police reported.

Three cameras, a typewriter, adding machine, turntable, silverware sets, a silver tea set, candlestick holders, an eight-track tape player and miscellaneous jewelry were taken.

The burglars apparently gained entry by prying open a front wooden door.

Because of the number of items taken, police believe there were more than one thief involved.

a door at the rear of the home, police said.

Several hundred feet of copper pipe and some miscellaneous plumbing fixtures were taken February 27 from Swan Harbour Apartments, currently being built on Seven Mile, township police reported.

Approximately 480 feet of half-inch tubing and 160 feet of three-quarter-inch pipe were reported missing, police said.

A guitar worth $450 was taken from a classroom at Silver Springs Elementary School sometime between February 26 and February 29, township police reported.

The second floor living room window of a Northville Road residence reportedly was shot out with a shotgun, township police reported.

The occupants were downstairs when they heard shots, the third of which hit the window, they told police.

Police said no one was injured.

Three shotgun wadings were found in the area and several shotgun pellets were found on the window frame, police said.

A steel-belted tire, chrome wheel, an antenna and 10 cassette tapes were stolen from a 1979 Lincoln parked in the Northville Downs main lot February 9, city police reported.

There is no evidence of forced entry, police say, and the owner of the vehicle does not remember if the car was locked.

The value of the stolen property is estimated at $420.

Windsor scouts share a treat

Seventy Girl Scouts in four troops at Our Lady of Victory School continued an international friendship with Windsor Pack No. 8 February 23 — in the process happily earned a new Girl Scout patch, "Make New Friends."

The Canadian troop was invited here a week ago Saturday to help celebrate Thinking Day. The Girl Scout observance marks the birthdays on February 22 of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, founders of the movement in Britain.

The 27 visitors with their leader, Ann Durocher, called Brown Owl, and assistant, Joan Duffert, Tawny Owl, brought Maple Leaf pins and small Canadian flags they had made.

They went home with bags donated by Del's Shoes filled with gifts from local merchants.

OLV troop services director Judy Williams had set up the international day as a return hospitality for a visit the Northville Girl Scouts made to the Windsor troop a year ago.

Mrs. Williams also heads Cadette

Troop 363 at OLV assisted by Kelly Tucker.

Other OLV host troops and leaders are Junior Troop 702 with Sue Coseo and Jane Martin; Brownie Troop 204 with Diane Roslinski and Maurine Lautzenheiser; and Brownie Troop 621 with Carole Jean Stockhausen and Pat Duwel.

Ten mother volunteers headed by Marianne Hamell made a spaghetti lunch for the scouts. Father John O'Callaghan led grace.

The day included flag ceremonies, songs, games and crafts with an end-of-the-day exchange of names and addresses as the scouts acquired new pen pals.

Treats at the party included Girl Scout birthday cakes baked by scouts Kristen Martin, Lauren Roslinski and Eileen O'Rourke. OLV scouts also shared a huge platter of Girl Scout cookies in six flavors along with a sesame cracker.

The visitors were "sampling" cookies for which local scouts will begin taking orders Friday.

Cookie sale begins Friday

Girl Scout cookies used to be vanilla and chocolate circles with creamy frosting between and traditional trefoil-shaped shortbreads.

They still are.

But purchasers in the annual sale that begins here Friday also can choose popular thin mints, peanut butter sandwiches, peanut butter patties and a granola cookie. There's also a sesame wheat cracker.

Northville Girl Scouts ages 9-18 in local troops that are part of the Huron Valley Council will be taking orders at $1.50 a box through March 25.

Deliveries begin April 14 and continue through April 30.

Millie Parker, Northville 1980 cookie

chairman, points out that each box of cookies sold provides a 94-cent contribution to Girl Scouting. Twenty-five cents goes directly to the selling troop with the rest supplementing funds for camp and other programs.

If the 1980 Huron Valley Council goal of 550,000 boxes sold is reached, it will mean a $379,500 contribution to Girl Scouting.

"Cookie funds help keep fees low for Camp Linden as well as at the other two council camps," explains Mrs. Parker. Assisting Mrs. Parker in the local campaign is Kathy Landrum, press representative.

She describes the six varieties of cookies and the thin wheat cracker topped with sesame seeds.

Traditional shortbreads are a vanilla shortbread cookie.

Chocolate and vanilla sandwich cremes now are in one box containing an assortment of both with creme frosting.

Thin mints are vanilla cookies covered with mint-chocolate icing.

Peanut butter sandwich cookies are oatmeal cookies filled with tasty peanut butter frosting.

Peanut butter patties are a vanilla cookie topped with peanut butter and covered with chocolate.

Granola cookies are a bow to natural food lovers as they are called "a naturally good cookie made with granola."

All varieties are produced in Michigan by FFV-Interbake, a nationally known bakery.

There has been some confusion, Mrs. Landrum mentions, as other Girl Scout councils in neighboring communities have sold at different times. Northville scouts are the ones who will be knocking on doors beginning Friday.

Girl Scouts in Junior, Cadette and Senior troops take orders.

"Not only does the sale support scouting," notes Mrs. Parker, "but it gives each girl selling experience in meeting the public, keeping accurate records and handling sums of money."

Girl Scouts will collect the money on delivery of the cookies.

All girls participating in the sale will have "Cookie Power" strips which can be worn on uniforms or jackets.

Girls who sell at least 50 boxes will earn a patch with the number 50 on it. There also are 100 and 200 patches as well as a Super Patch for girls who sell 300 boxes.

A new incentive this year for girls who sell 80 or more boxes is a cotton-polyester bandana in white with a blue border and blue lettering.

In addition, the council has announced that all troops who sell an average of 125 boxes per girl will receive a waiver of troop camp fee at any of the council's three camps between May 1, 1980, and May 1, 1981.

If your house is missed by a Girl Scout, Mrs. Parker may be called at 349-7895, or Mrs. Landrum, 420-2491, for orders.

Mothers ARE marching

This week is the Mothers' March in the annual campaign against birth defects, and Northville volunteers like Mrs. Roy Kuckenbecker of 845 Grace are knocking on doors in their neighborhoods. The Record erroneously reported last week that the campaign was being conducted by direct mail from Detroit headquarters. Postmaster John Steimel, who has served for many years as local chairman, explains that confusion resulted as the volunteers were contacted directly by the Detroit office and received their solicitation packets by direct mail. At the end of the Mothers' March Sunday contributions collected will be mailed directly to the headquarters.

Louise Cutler's success story told in new book

By JEAN DAY

Events which led to active Northville resident Mary Louise Cutler's becoming an author began when she joined the National Speakers' Association and then attended its convention last year in Scottsdale, Arizona.

There she met Dorothy (Dottie) Walters, publisher and author of several "success" books, including "Never Underestimate the Selling Power of a Woman." She also is publisher of a newsletter for speakers, "Sharing Ideas."

In 1977 Mrs. Cutler gave up a successful, 11-year selling career in real estate to teach real estate licensing classes. She expanded into talks before businesswomen's groups. She now teaches pre-licensing classes for Russell Schools in Southfield, Ann Arbor and Brighton — "any place not more than an hour's drive away."

After subscribing to Dottie Walters' newsletter, she received a flyer inviting women speakers to share their ideas. She did. Mrs. Walters responded with an invitation to write a chapter in an upcoming book, "The Pearl of Potentiality." The 22 chapters in the book, just off the press, chronicle the career success stories of 22 women.

"I rewrote six different times," recalls Louise Cutler, a past president of the Northville Business and Professional Women and an assistant district director. She is a deaconess and lay leader in First Presbyterian Church.

She is a member of the Million Dollar Sales Club, one of many ideas she instituted while serving on the board of directors of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors.

She relates how she entered the real estate field in her chapter, "From Painful Experiences Grow Precious Pearls," which discusses candidly the disintegration of a marriage of 16 years which had resulted in the birth of twin daughters and two sons.

After passing her licensing examination, Mrs. Cutler worked at selling real estate while sewing curtains for a travel trailer firm and working as part-time receptionist. The auxiliary jobs were necessary, the author relates, to provide steady money.

One of Louise Cutler's pointers is "dressing professionally." She believes strongly in the value of dressing up for two reasons: "It makes you feel more confident and gives a professional impression."

As part of the book publishing arrangement, Mrs. Cutler bought 650 copies with a jacket featuring her in a color picture. Because she does not charge for many of her talks to realtor groups, she will sell the book when she speaks.

An autograph party is planned locally for 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 22 at Bookstall on the Main.

Why would a woman who has become an outstanding success in real estate sales change to a public speaking career? "I'm the kind of person who needs new challenges," confides Louise Cutler. That's why she is one of the authors in a book that might be called "true confessions of successful women."

Questers to view $5,000 Treasure Mart quilt

A $5,000 quilt as well as a Tiffany bracelet are among the treasures Demaris Cash will bring with her as she talks to a joint meeting of area Quester chapters at noon March 12 in Mill Race Historical Village.

Twenty years ago in April Mrs. Cash began the tremendously successful Treasure Mart resale store in Ann Arbor. She will tell how she started and what she does today in her talk, "Treasure Tales." Lois Pantier of Station VI Questers is making program arrangements. Base Line and Silver Springs Questers as well as a new Antiquarian group will be participating.

At a February meeting hosted by Connie Eis Silver Springs Questers heard a program on Currier and Ives prints given by Micki Poor of Birmingham.

Kamon-Foreman ceremony read in Mill Race

Karen Marie Kamon became the bride of William A. Foreman II in a 4 p.m. ceremony February 9 in the 134-year-old New School Church in Mill Race Historical Village.

Magistrate Louis Hopping officiated as the couple exchanged wedding bands and spoke on "The Meaning of Love."

The bride walked up the aisle to the traditional "Here Comes the Bride" escorted by her father. She is the daughter of Jack J. and Helene J. Kamon of 4974 West Seven Mile.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Edna L. Foreman of Eltrick, Virginia, and the late William A. Foreman.

Two 12-candle candelabra on each side of a large spray of white carnations, daffodils, iris, mums and baby's-breath with fern decorated the church.

Bouquets with white ribbon bows marked seats along the main aisle where the mothers of the couple were seated as the organist played "Sunrise Sunset."

The bride wore a traditionally styled gown of ivory with high neckline and full sleeves of Sate-Peau with applied pearl detail. Satin cuffs and fitted bodice were covered with Alencon lace accented with pearls. The A-line skirt extended into a chapel train.

A profile headpiece held a scalloped, fingertip-length veil with matching Alencon lace appliques.

The bride carried a traditional cascade of white sweetheart roses, violets, stephanotis, miniature carnations, mums and trailing ivy with baby's-breath.

Mrs. Edgar Capp was matron of honor for her cousin. Bridesmaids were Michelle Kamon and Mrs. Dennis Brooks of Kalamazoo, sisters of the bride and bridegroom, and Linda Wojtowicz, cousin of the bride.

They wore forest green gowns of lustre net with empire bodices and fitted, long sleeves and carried cascade arrangements.

Stephen Bagdon, a former Northville resident now living in Bellaire, Michigan, was best man.

Ushers were Gary Kamon, the bride's brother, Cevin Valade and Burt

Quinn. The bridegroom and his attendants wore ivory tuxedos.

A reception followed at Knights of Columbus Hall in Westland for 300. Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's uncle, Donald Grigg from New Smyrna, Tennessee, and Jack P. Kamon, the bride's grandfather from Cedarville, Michigan.

Violets and wedding bells decorated the six-tier ivory wedding cake.

After a wedding trip to Florida and Nassau, the couple is living at 49824 West Seven Mile.

The bride, a 1974 graduate of Northville High School, now is secretary for a building company.

The bridegroom is a 1969 graduate of Northville High and has operated Bill Foreman Orchards on West Seven Mile since 1968 when his father retired from farming the orchard.

Rotarians to celebrate 75th anniversary at dinner

Northville and Novi Rotary clubs will celebrate the 75th anniversary of the international service organization at a special dinner program on Wednesday, March 19.

The anniversary program will be staged at Idyl Wyld Golf Club in Livonia, reports C. A. Smith of Novi, who is a long-time member of the Northville club. Some 100 persons are expected to attend, he said.

Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m., preceding the 7 p.m. dinner.

Besides Northville and Novi Rotarians and their wives, Canadian Rotarians from within the two districts represented by the local clubs also will be present to salute the birth of Rotary back on February 23, 1905 in Chicago.

The founder of Rotary was Paul Harris. A surprise gift in connection with the founding is to be presented to both local clubs at the dinner.

Among special guests at the dinner will be Darrell Simmons, governor of Rotary District 638; Frank Sladen, District 640 governor; Hugh Archer, past director of Rotary International; and Cass Pitrowski, past vice president of Rotary International.

Other officers or past officers of the district will be present also, including Northville's own Russell Amerman, past district governor, and Novi's Leo Harrawood, who is the district governor nominee of District 638.

Master of ceremonies will be

Rotarian Steven Walters, Northville city manager. He will be introduced by Northville Rotary Club President Elroy Ellison. Guests will be introduced by Novi Rotary Club President Gerald Kratz.

Both Ellison and Kratz are educators

— Kratz, superintendent of Novi Schools, and Ellison, a retired executive school administrator.

Invocation and closing remarks will be given by Smith.

During the dinner program the Northville club will announce the winner of its first Rotarian of the Year Award.

In connection with the 75th anniversary of Rotary's founding, the Northville club is planning a gift to the community — a four-faced clock to be located in downtown Northville as part of the community's CBD rejuvenation project scheduled to get underway this coming spring.

The Northville club was chartered 21 years after Rotary's founding. First president of the club in 1926 was Ross A. Brooks. None of the original officers is a member today.

Novi Rotary Club was organized in 1958.

Northville is located in District 640, which includes 46 clubs. Of these, five clubs are located in Canada.

Novi is in District 638, which has 49 clubs — seven of them in Canada.

Betty Lennox to describe trip to China for AAUW

Betty Lennox, a Northville township resident and controller for the City of Northville, will be guest speaker at the March 11 meeting of the Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women.

It will be at 730 p.m. in the Cooke Junior High library.

Mrs. Lennox will describe her trip to the People's Republic of China in 1979.

She was one of 19 American women in a Delegation for Friendship Among Women, a non-profit organization registered with the state department. It was formed in 1970 to promote understanding and friendship among women leaders throughout the world.

Mrs. Lennox was in the first group of Americans to visit the People's Republic after the "normalization" of relations with the United States.

Area women interested in membership in the AAUW who are graduates of an accredited college or university are invited to contact Cindy Abbott, membership chairman, at 349-30 83.

Plymouth Symphony concert

Program features clarinet soloist

John Mohler will be clarinet soloist for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's fifth concert of the current season.

It will be given at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Plymouth-Salem High School auditorium on Joy west of Canton Center.

Johan van der Merwe will be guest conductor.

He is winner of the first prize in an International Conductors' Competition in Liverpool, England, and has studied and conducted in several European countries as well as in his native Africa.

This summer he will be director of the university orchestra at Interlochen.

The program features Mozart's "Concerto for Clarinet" written two months before the composer's death and showing little hint of the suffering and anguish reflected in the "Requiem" also being composed at the time.

The "Concerto" is known for "youthfulness and vigor" that belie Mozart's circumstances. Mohler is principal clarinetist in the orchestra and has played with the Plymouth Symphony since 1958.

He is a professor of music at the University of Michigan where he presently is chairman of the wind and percussion instruments department. He has the distinction of being that institution's first recipient of the Doctor of Musical Arts degree in wind instruments.

He has performed with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Sunday's program also will include "Donna Diana Overture" by Reznicek, "Variations on a Theme by Haydn" by Brahms, "Parane Pour une Infante Defunte" by Ravel and "Four Sea Interludes" (from Peter Grimes) by Britten.

Teatime fiddler

Tom Rice, The Gitfiddler, will be gitfiddling at 130 p.m. Saturday to entertain daughters of Northville Woman's Club members at the club's seventh annual mother-daughter tea at First Presbyterian Church. Rice will be playing both folk and Bluegrass music in the program arranged by Mrs. David E. Jerome and Mrs. Norman D. Postma. Rice first located in Northville in Center Street locations as he brought Bluegrass music to the community. Last August he moved to his own building at 30 2 East Main at Church. He renovated a former gas station into a studio with western motif. In August he also sponsored the third annual folk and Bluegrass benefit here for the fight against Huntington's disease.

Early deadline for Our Town

Because Our Town section of The Northville Record goes to press first, it has an earlier deadline for wedding and engagement stories, club news and all other information.

Material for the following Wednesday's publication must be received in the newspaper office at 10 4 West Main near Center by noon on Friday.

The earlier information is submitted the better chance it has of getting in the issue requested.

Forms are available at the office for engagement, wedding and anniversary stories, and the staff will be happy to answer questions about stories and pictures. There is no charge for such news.

He has done organic gardening in Texas and in Covelo, California, and at extensive gardens in Kimberton Hills, Pennsylvania.

At the meeting members will be able to buy tickets for their April 16 Afternoon of Art at the Detroit Institute of Arts which will include a bus trip and luncheon. Monday's chairman is May Babbitt assisted by Anne Dales, Ruth Klein, Norma Gerndt and Lillian Nelson.

JACK W. HILL of Novi has been appointed director of supply planning and transportation for American Motors. The announcement was made by A. Keith Ebersole, vice president of diversified operations and supply group of the corporation.
Hill succeeds Richard S. Tracy who recently was appointed director of industrial engineering for American Motors.
A native of Detroit, Hill had been manager of supply for American Motors since June 1976. He joined American Motors in 1972 as manager of material control and scheduling for Jeep vehicles.

JACK W. HILL

Hill resides with his family in Novi's Village Oaks subdivision.

IF YOU ARE one of the thousands of area of residents who will be selling your home in 1980 in preparation for a move, start getting it ready now.

This is the advice of the 4,500 member Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR), who caution that you'll be moving into a "buyer's" market.

"This means that buyers have a wide range of homes from which to choose and at highly competitive prices," said John J. Halser, WWOCBR president.

"A home that shows sign of neglect or the need for extensive work will either turn buyers away or drop their offers far below the listing price. We don't advise sellers to undertake costly renovation immediately prior to listing, but we do suggest they prepare the home to look as good as possible through less costly repair projects."

WWOCBR members suggest potential sellers begin by making a room-by-room inspection of the home, but looking at it from a buyer's point of view. This will aid in determining what can be done to bring each room up to its full sales attraction.

During the inspection, they suggest making a list of what needs to be done, the supplies required for "do-it-yourself" work and what outside help might be required. Estimate the time required for each job you can do and set up a schedule according to expected free time.

"Some communities require a home be inspected by local officials to assure it meets certain codes and standards before it is sold," Halser noted. "Our members can advise clients of this requirement and often can indicate what parts of the home may need work."

"The amount of work required could be quite extensive, particularly in older homes. So we recommend preparation for this inspection be done as early as possible before a planned move. This helps avoid delays caused by the various trades not always being available. It also permits the homeowner to shop around to find the most reasonable price for the outside services required."

When you know what supplies will be needed for your own fix-up projects, the WWOCBR members suggest you start watching the ads of suppliers for sales and specials that will help cut costs. A good manual on home repairs can be a good early investment on how to pick the best tools and materials and how to do the job in the easiest manner.

The collective experience of the WWOCBR members indicate the following are sales preparation steps that can be undertaken inside the home while cold weather persists:

—Prospective buyers are concerned about the extent and cost of redecorating. A little fresh paint and wallpaper can help brighten walls and set off rooms to good advantage.

—Fix any leaky faucets, stuck doors, loose knobs, cracked windows and other such items that may suggest the home has not been given continued care.

—Every home buyer is interested in ample closet and storage space. Start discarding unneeded articles and arrange these areas neatly so that may be seen at their best.

—An attractive bathroom can be a sales clincher. Put it in perfect order with all plumbing working properly, bathtubs and showers well-caulked and all tiles and brightwork securely in place.

—Bedrooms are prime selling features and size is always important. Excess furniture should be removed and the remainder arranged to accent available space.

—If carpets and drapes will be included in the sale, they should be cleaned with small rugs or mats used to protect heavy wear areas of carpets.

—Basements should be thoroughly cleaned and stored items arranged to show space utility. A de-humidifier may help remove any suggestion of dampness.

—Garages can become catch-alls and along with basements may require a careful winnowing out of items that will be sold or discarded before your move.

When the weather improves, make a similar inspection and draw up a work schedule for the home exterior, landscaping, lawn and garden areas. These are the signs that say welcome and invite the prospective buyer in for a more complete look at the property.

Gymnastics team qualifies for state

History has been made at Northville High School.

For the first time ever, a Mustang gymnastics team has qualified for post-season tournament action.

Northville accomplished this feat on the strength of an 85.0-81.6 win over Walled Lake Western Wednesday.

It wasn't the win that qualified the team, but rather the score. A team has to reach a score of 84 or higher at least four times in order to qualify for regional competition.

Three Mustangs had qualified individually: Paula Broderick in all events, Amy Missel on floor exercise, and Hollie Raycraft on the beam.

The 85.0 was the fourth over-84.0 score Northville has attained this year.

Now coach Jack Townsley can send three performers per event, which means that he can add Anita Hodge to the tourney roster. She just missed qualifying individually on the uneven bars.

The regional meet will take place

Saturday, March 8 at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School beginning at noon.

The Mustangs went into the final event against Western, the floor exercise, with a team score of 61.25.

Townsley wasn't even watching the scores for the Warriors. His team's total was all that counted. Northville had to score over 23.0 to qualify for regionals. It didn't even matter if they won the Western meet.

"Every girl did her best. They all knew what they had to do and they did it," he said.

Raycraft scored a 7.2, Missel an 8.05 and Broderick an 8.5 to give the Mustangs a 23.75, more than enough to qualify the team.

Northville finished the regular season with eight wins and four losses, by far the team's best record ever.

On Saturday, the Northville squad competed in a 10-team event.

The Mustangs finished fifth (last year they were near the bottom) in the final standings.

SIDELINES

By Jim Haynes

Reasons to smile

I feel like babbling.

Translated, it means I don't have any vital observations to share.

I just want to pick, no issues to air.

I just want to think and write about three Northville teams that did very well over the weekend. Very well indeed.

Bill Blanchard is eighth in state

Undoubtedly this young wrestler is very disappointed. He went into the meet with every intention of taking the state title. Of coming away wearing the state crown.

He lost almost at the beginning of the affair. One win and then whom, he was beaten. And then beaten again.

But how many wrestlers across Michigan have sweated, hurt, ached, given and given some more for just the shot that Blanchard earned. Many, I'll wager.

To be able to say he finished eighth in Michigan is no small honor. Perhaps even more meaningful than having finished first.

How can that be? Consider. If he had won the title, taken it all, think how easy it would be to forget how tough it was to get that far. How easy it would be to delude yourself as to your true ability.

Not to say that Bill would be a victim of ego. But it seems to me that eighth place is a mighty grand lot, and one that allows a true perspective of ability and awareness of the pain and effort it took to get there.

Eighth place is a position of perspective. Ego rarely clouds the scene. It could just be a more noble position than number one.

Varsity basketball team is hot

The Northville cagers (12-8) have recorded their best season since 1975's 20-2 team.

And this year's version is still going. With Walled Lake Central (7-13) on tap as the Mustangs' first victim, the Northville team should coast to the district cage finals where there it will face a tough Milford Lakeland (14-6) team.

That will be the test of worthiness. If Northville wins, it will go on to regional action. If it loses, well, to the best team go the spoils.

Personally, I think that Tim Lutes' charges are primed and ready to explode, to at least a regional berth.

Dave Ward and Mike Wagner are the only big men the team has, and the best usually have more. But you can't measure guts. The kind that let you win seven of your last nine games when injuries have taken their toll of key members (Bob Crisan and Duke DuSablón.)

The trademark of the team is defense, having held its opponents to under 60 points more often than not. And look to Wagner to emerge from his scoring slump and give Northville a potent one-two offensive punch with Ward.

Mustang eighth at State

Bill Blanchard's dreams of a state wrestling title ended Friday when the Northville senior was beaten 5-1 by George Lavranbarse of Bay City West.

Blanchard (112 pounds) had qualified for the state meet by winning league, district and regional titles.

The Mustang grappler got his quest off to a good start Friday morning. He met Ron Danial of Battle Creek and won 4-3.

Danial had a 19-3 mark going into the tourney.

But that evening it was a different story. Blanchard tried every trick in the book against Lavranbarse, but to no avail.

The score was knotted at 0-0 after the first period. In the second Blanchard started down and managed to break away from the Bay City wrestler's grasp to go up 1-0.

But in the third period, Lavranbarse managed to elude Blanchard for a point. And with only 30 seconds on the clock, Blanchard tried for a take down, but Lavranbarse made a cat-like move and threw the Northville athlete on his back.

Blanchard managed to struggle off the mat to avoid a pin, but the damage already had been done. Lavranbarse earned four points to win 5-1.

Blanchard met one other wrestler, but the spark of the quest had died.

Chris Passalacqua of Warren Cousino topped him 5-1.

The one win and two losses gave Blanchard the eighth spot in state standings.

Cagers 12-8 record best since 1975

With Friday's 56-48 win over Harrison, the Northville varsity basketball team completed its most successful regular season since 1975.

The win gave the Mustangs a 12-8 record on the year. In 1975 the team finished 20-2. In between were a series of mediocre seasons, only two of which were close to successful.

In 1978 the team finished 11-10 and last year the team recorded an 11-11 mark.

This year's team still has a chance to improve its record. The district tournament will get underway tomorrow night. Northville will meet Walled Lake Central in second-round action, beginning at 7 p.m. Both teams drew byes in the first round.

The districts will take place at Walled Lake Western.

Central has a 7-13 record. It caught fire the second half of the season, winning many of its seven victories then.

The other teams in the tourney are Walled Lake Western (3-17), Milford Lakeland (14-6) and Milford (0-20). Western and Lakeland will meet tonight and the winner of that contest will take on Milford Thursday.

The winner of that affair will then meet either Central or Northville Friday in the finals.

Northville used Harrison as a warm-up for the districts. The Farmington team was close each quarter but never really threatened. In fact, Northville coach Tim Lutes started and played many of his seniors, who normally are bench strength.

Dave Ward, a junior, led the team in scoring with 16 points, even though he played only two quarters.

Mike Wagner manned the center spot much of the night and scored 10 points while hauling down eight rebounds.

Senior Night saw Russ Gans score six points and Craig Wisbiski four.

The Mustang defense held potent scoring threats Brian Burgess to only eight points, and 6-5 center Mike Cleary

... Reasons

Gymnasts go on to state

The season began with more than a certain amount of disdain. The gymnastic team hadn't won much before and wasn't expected to win much this season.

So now the regular season has ended and the Mustang tumblers are sitting pretty on a fine 8-5 record, their best ever.

But that isn't the big news. These gals have not only qualified three individuals for state competition, but low and behold, the whole dang team has qualified.

For the first time in Northville gymnastics history, a whole team has earned the required four 84-plus point meets needed to qualify a team as a unit.

Northville turned the trick on Walled Lake Western, the last meet of the schedule, and, in the last event of the meet.

With just the floor exercise event left, Northville needed at least 22.5 points to go over 84 for the meet.

Paula Broderick (8.5), Amy Missel (8.05) and Hollie Raycraft (7.2) met the challenge and responded with more than enough.

Now those three and Anita Hodge (uneven bars specialist) will travel to the regional gymnastics meet next Saturday at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School.

... Wrestling

"He just met the wrong person at the wrong time," coach Gary Emerson said. "Jeff Brown (Plymouth Salem), John Segulla (Bloomfield Hills Lahser) and John Donovan (North Farmington) moved into the quarter finals ahead of Bill. "Bill had beaten Brown and Donovan and it would have been a story-book finish to have him meet Segulla, the only guy up to this tournament to have beaten him, in the finals. But it wasn't to be on this weekend. Eighth in the state isn't bad when you consider how many guys there are out there. Bill hasn't anything to feel ashamed of. I think he feels like he let his friends and me down. He didn't."

to 13.

Ward, Wagner and Gregg May each played with four fouls, though Harrison's Burgess was the only one to foul out of the game.

Hopefully, the warm-up will have been useful. If records are indicative, it should be Northville and Milford Lakeland meeting for the district title on Friday.

JV hoopsters crunched

The Northville JV basketball team closed out its season on a dismal note Friday, losing to Farmington Harrison 74-68.

The loss gives the Mustangs an 11-9 record overall and a 5-5 record in the Western Six Conference.

"It was a real good season considering the guys we had," coach Omar Harrison said. "We needed a big man, and without one it hurt us."

Harrison did express optimism about this year's crop of ninth graders who will be next year's JV cagers. He said that there were a number of players who could give the team the height it needs.

Against Harrison Doug Eaker led the way. The sophomore slammed home 18 points on seven field goals and four of five buckets from the free throw line.

Guard Dave Malinowski added 17 points and Willie Newman chipped in with 10.

Tim Wagner and Malinowski shared the scoring lead for the team this season. Each finished the schedule with an 11.7 points-per-game scoring average.

Tim McLaughlin led the team in rebounding, hauling down 111 errant shots. Eaker was right behind with 110.

Malinowski took double honors as he also led the team in assists, dishing out 50.

McLaughlin provided the spark on defense as he stole 80 enemy controlled balls.

Gymnasts start young

Wendi Woberman and Alicia Hickman are the future.

At least as far as Northville girls gymnastics is concerned.

These two young tumblers have begun what varsity gymnastics coach Jack Townsley hopes will be a trend in the future. Wendi and Alicia have been working out with the varsity squad since the season began back in December.

Wendi, 13, had taken gymnastics lessons through the rec department a couple of years ago. She really enjoyed it.

Wendi had asked Alicia to come along to one of the lessons. She did, and fell in love.

Her favorite event is the floor exercise. In between are the uneven bars and the vault. And last but not least, the beam, which she doesn't like at all.

Wendi has much the same tastes. She likes the floor exercise, the uneven bars and the vault. She said she doesn't dislike the beam, but isn't very good on it.

Their goals are to compete with the varsity squad in a few years. As for Olympic competition, both show wisdom beyond their ages.

"I don't think so," Alicia said. "You have to start out a lot younger than we did to become good enough for the Olympics."

Wendi echoed that philosophy. Instead, she gave this reason for putting in all of the long, hard hours learning a new sport

Maintenance gets grim budget news

Even as Schoolcraft College buildings age, the maintenance share of the budget is getting slimmer.

That grim news was given to the community college's board of trustees by W. Kenneth Lindner, vice president for administrative affairs.

In the current 1979-80 budget, such "special purposes" as maintenance and new equipment received $233,000 or 5.7 percent of local property taxes which totaled $4.2 million.

That proportion has steadily declined from 6.3 percent in 1978-79, 7.6 percent in 1975-76 and 8.4 percent in 1974-75.

Board Chairman Harry Greenleaf said Lindner's chart demonstrated clearly that Schoolcraft College must pay greater attention to its physical plant.

In a preliminary budget report to trustees February 27, Lindner said the administration's budget committee has lumped maintenance projects into two groups. Group I "should be funded this coming year. Group II should be funded if monies were available," he said.

The $144,000 in Group I projects included: the second phase of a Six Mile access road, $32,000; a new fire alarm system, $50,000; survey and repairs of heating elements in the library, administration and Forum buildings, $15,000; roof repairs to the liberal arts, Forum, administration and library buildings, $20,000; a security alarm system and parking lot repairs for the Garden City Center, nearly $5,000 combined; and other repairs to concrete, the welding lab, the financial aids office and two conference rooms.

In addition, the list called for repairs to the well systems of four houses on Haggerty south of the campus that are used for accounting, placement, community services and child care. The old houses have been used because of repeated failures of property tax requests for construction.

Group II projects include: Resurfacing five driveways and parking lots, $87,000; replacing the swimming pool system, $40,000; replacing corridor heaters in the Forum, $15,000; replacing eight doors in the administration building, $5,000; and many modifications of heating, damper and boiler systems.

"In April," said Lindner, "subsequent deliberations by the budget committee could produce a final recommendation that could adjust the final allocations, but it is doubtful any substantive changes can be made."

Smithsonian collector to speak here

Lawrence Gichner, collector of old and rare objects for the Smithsonian and other museums, will be speaking at Northville Town Hall at 11 a.m. March 13.

As a special feature of his talk at the Plymouth Hilton Inn he will appraise antiques brought to the program by ticketholders.

Those who are attending the celebrity luncheon following are asked by Chairman Carolyn DiComo to bring their items to the luncheon. Gichner also will inspect some antiques immediately following his lecture.

In his talk, "Collectibles," Gichner will tell how he searches attics and other out-of-the-way places throughout the world for old maps, rare books and art objects.

He also will explore reasons people collect. Some, he says, save and acquire to preserve for posterity the hardships of the past, others for when life was significant and others strictly for investment.

At the meeting announcement will be made of the 1980-81 town hall program for which ticket orders will be taken after the April 10 program starring Patrice Munsel.
