Trustees air budget

By KEN KOVACS

Township trustees Monday got their first look at the Executive Committee's budget recommendations for the 1980-81 fiscal year, which will begin April 1.

Treasurer Lee Holland, speaking for the committee — which also includes Supervisor Donald Thomson and Clerk Clarice Sass — said the philosophy used in preparing the budget recommendations was one of "no layoffs, if at all possible."

"We attempted to adjust items which would not greatly affect the day-to-day operation of the township," he explained. "And you will find that if the recommendations are followed you end up with a balanced budget."

The committee's suggestions include a reduction of expenditures — from the total amount requested by the department heads — in the amount of $193,407.

This would bring the total budget to $954,060.

The suggested decreases would affect most every department in areas of equipment purchase and building maintenance services.

All auto expenses, education and training funds and monies for seminars and conferences have been eliminated in the proposal.

The major expense reductions proposed by the committee include the elimination of $50,000 originally to be used for construction costs; a one percent collection fee of $57,800 — which Holland said more than likely would not have to be paid during the upcoming budget year — and a suggested contingency fund of $12,200.

"If we end up with a contingency fund we will be very fortunate," Holland said. "I have a problem with this (suggesting a budget without a contingency fund), but with the extremely tight money situation we agreed this was the way to go."

The committee's recommendations also include the adoption of the Wage and Salary Commission's recommendations, with a few exceptions.

This would mean a cut in pay for a few of the township employees.

Holland said during its study of the budget, the committee found that some $32,000 in court costs was owed to the township; block grant administration

How many questions will the U.S. Census Bureau be asking this year?

Lots.

A heck of a lot more, for example, than when the first census was taken in the United States 200 years ago.

And the nature of the questions may boggle your mind.

Not even nosy Ben Franklin would have asked or thought of asking, as does the 1980 census, "Do you have complete plumbing facilities in your living quarters, that is, hot and cold piped water, a flush toilet, and a bathtub or shower?" If you're a test clutcher, don't panic. The questions are simple (unless you can't read English) and most are of the multiple choice variety.

For example, the census form will ask the relationship of persons living in the house — husband/wife, son/daughter, brother/sister, father/mother, or the all-encompassing "other relative."

And don't think the government is overlooking those non-related special live-in arrangements. There's also categories for roomers, boarders, partners, roommates and paid employees.

The government wants to know if you're divorced or separated, if your house is on 10 acres or more, if any part of the house has a commercial or medical use, and whether or not you enter your house through someone else's living quarters.

It wants to know the value of your house (by ranges) and your rent costs (also by ranges).

It also wants to know if there are any freeloader inside: "Occupied without payment of cash rent?"

The government wants to know if you are white, "black or Negro," Japanese, Chinese, Filipino, Korean, Vietnamese, American Indian, Asian Indian, Hawaiian, Guamanian, Samoan, Eskimo, Aleut, "other." And if you are "other" it wants you to specify what other.

If you are an American Indian, the government wants the name of the tribe.

The 1980 census form has a whole, separate section for those persons with Hispanic origin but nothing for Germans, Russians, or Orientals.

Oh, yes, if you've been hiding your age come clean. It not only asks your age but also the year and month range (i.e., Jan.-Mar.) of your birth.

Like every census every 10 years since the first in 1790, confidentiality is guaranteed.

Under the law the 1980 census will not be opened to the public until April 1, 1982 — 72 years from now, probably because they figure most people living today won't be around in 72 years and aren't likely to care if someone knows their age.

During the interim only sworn census workers have access to the individual records, and no one else may see them — including snooping Presidents or the FBI.

Census workers are sworn to secrecy. If they disclose anything they can be fined and imprisoned.

One final point: don't think you can simply ignore the census form. If you don't return it, you can count on the friendly census taker banging on your door.

More housing assistance?

By KEN KOVACS

A third application for federally assisted housing in Northville Township currently is being considered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, The Record has learned.

Supervisor Donald Thomson last week received notice that an application for federal assistance for all 191 units of a development proposed directly east of Swan Harbour Apartments — currently being built on Seven Mile at Silver Springs Drive — is under consideration.

The news comes in the wake of formal township opposition to two similar applications.

The Swan Harbour application — for up to 53 of 264 units to be federally assisted — has been approved while the Northridge Phase III proposal — for 16 assisted units of the 80-unit project — still is being reviewed by HUD.

The township supervisor March 5 mailed letters expressing township opposition to both proposals to HUD, SEMCOG, Wayne County Block Grant offices, and other involved parties.

The supervisor's objection, which was supported by three of the four other board members attending a public hearing on Swan Harbour March 4, was based on the applications' inconsistency with the Wayne County Housing Assistance Plan (HAP).

The two sites designated on the plan are at Six Mile and Ridge and at the former Wayne County Child Development Center on Six Mile.

The Swan Harbour and Northridge sites were not shown on the HAP for 1979-80 and this inconsistency is among the three reasons for objection offered to the "chief executive" of the local community under section 213 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974.

He also may object, on behalf of the local government, if the proposed number of dwelling units exceeds the three-year HAP goal by housing type or by household type within either tenure type or if the proposed housing assistance is inconsistent with any other limiting factors set forth in the HAP.

Trustee Bill Zapke, the only trustee in attendance not in favor of opposing the proposed housing, said he was concerned about long range subsidy housing in the township.

"I am not so sure we should object on the basis of sites," he said. "We may kick out our senior citizen project (at the Child Development Center)."

"I think we all should be concerned about the total project."

Other board members reiterated their dismay at not being told about either of the applications when they were first filed.

"I took office in November of 1978," said Treasurer Lee Holland. "And I didn't find out about the subsidized housing until a few weeks ago. It does make one a little uneasy."

Gordon Rutan of the Wayne County Block Grant program said he had received township approval of the Swan Harbour application from Township Clerk Clarice Sass.

"I asked Mrs. Sass if we (the county) could use the letter she wrote to the A-95 Clearinghouse as the 213 approval and she said yes," Rutan told the board.

The clerk told the board, "I thought all board members were aware of it."

A public hearing to discuss the latest application for subsidy housing is scheduled for February 24 at 8 p.m. at the township hall, 41600 Six Mile.

'Where will it end?'

Last October Township Supervisor Donald Thomson began picking up all mail to the township hall at the post office.

He did so, Thomson says, because people were asking him questions concerning letters he never saw.

"I infuriated (Township Clerk Clarice) Sass, but I had to do something," the supervisor explains. "I was beginning to think my memory had gone bananas."

Later, after discovering a letter in which the clerk approved a subsidy housing application — an action that even the federal government says would normally be handled by the supervisor, Thomson figured disclosure of the letter would get him off the hot seat.

It did not. He was accused of sharing blame with the clerk for having failed to bring the application to the attention of the public.

What's more, an official with the county planning commission now is claiming that Thomson recently given verbal approval for a switch in location of subsidy housing in the township.

"No way did I give any approval to anything; I can prove it because, fortunately, I took along our (building official) who was present during the discussion that took place in Detroit."

Troy Milligan, the township building official, confirms that he attended the meeting and that the alleged "approval" of a HAP (Housing Assistance Plan) change never occurred.

"We went there to get some information about the North Ridge project," says Milligan. "I'm like Don, until it was used in the meeting the other night I didn't even know what a HAP plan was."

"I can't believe what's happening," says Thomson. "I think we're just starting to see the tip of an iceberg."

With two different federal subsidy housing projects already proposed in the township, a third proposal made last week, according to the supervisor. This one "is for subsidy on 191 units right next to Swan Harbour (the first subsidy project) and its by the same developer."

"Where is it going to end? Right now I'm so sick of this mess I'd rather tell the government to stuff their block grant monies if it means we've got to take all this subsidy housing."

(Thomson has learned that a com-

As school superintendent

Nichols 'satisfactory' in board evaluation

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

Superintendent of Schools Larry Nichols got satisfactory marks from the Northville Board of Education at his yearly evaluation Saturday.

Of 84 possible points, board members scored Nichols "satisfactory" or above on 78 of the points and "less than satisfactory" on six points.

The superintendent is evaluated every March by the board on how well he is performing as chief administrator and how well he has achieved a list of district goals he has set for himself. Nichols has been superintendent for the past 18 months.

"I feel after the second year the same as I felt after the first," Trustee Douglas Whitaker said. "Mr. Nichols has all the ingredients needed to be a successful superintendent of schools. I feel comfortable that we have a good superintendent."

Nichols got high marks from the board as chief administrator.

They were satisfied that he adhered to board policy, kept the board informed on his activities, supported board policy to the public and consulted the board when a difference of opinion existed within the administration.

Trustee Richard Barron gave Nichols less than satisfactory marks on keeping the board informed of district activities and on giving enough data to the board. Barron said he would like to see some improvement on focusing the board's attention on more "fundamental issues."

"Our present dialogue always goes in a positive area, and that doesn't serve the board or community well," Barron said. "We hear reports on areas where apparently remarkable progress is being made while ignoring other more relevant fundamental issues."

"I don't think the board's attention has been organized to address serious problems of education instead of a lot of administrative trivia."

Nichols, who could have discussed the "less than satisfactory" marks with the board in private said he had no objection to discussing the marks in public. Two community members and the press were in attendance at the snowy Saturday morning meeting.

Board members, while pleased with progress on most of the district goals last year, did have some criticisms.

Board members gave Nichols generally satisfactory marks for progress in "curriculum mapping" which shows what skills are taught in what classes and grades.

Barron said he was disappointed in the lack of progress on developing an audit or profile of the school district.

"At the time we set up goals, an educational audit was stressed very strongly," Barron said. "There was a need for defining some transcendental purpose or 'mission' of the school district. And that required some very specific things: demographic data, analyzing test results, socio-economic data. That was the source for the objective that has obviously not been done."

Other board members, however, stressed that an educational audit takes a lot of time and that curriculum mapping is the first step.

Nichols got satisfactory marks for progression on health education program, safety inspection and an anti-smoking campaign.

He also got high marks for streamlining district finances.

Board members differed over how well Nichols had managed district facilities.

"My rating was more than satisfactory," Whitaker said. "Maybe I am optimistic but I think we are on the way to improving. We have made some good appointments in the operations department and I think a year from now we will see the fruits of those appointments."

"I gave a less than satisfactory score because the major projects — the floors and roof at the high school — were a failure," said Trustee Chris Johnson. "The only reason I moved the score up from unsatisfactory was because of the new appointments and because of the wise use of $100,000 in capital outlay money."

The district has replaced ranges in the home ec rooms at the high school, bought new sewing machines, typewriters, film projectors, instruments, chairs and maintenance equipment with the $100,000 the district budgeted last year.

The board gave Nichols good marks on management and organization, said teacher tenure evaluations should be spaced out throughout the year and said the school district should try to have better relations with the community than it does now.

Winter's last slide

As if to prove it's not spring yet, mother nature deposited this winter's record snowfall of six inches here last weekend. Police reported a few traffic collisions because of slick roads beginning last Thursday. But, like the snow on the slide in Hines Park by Six Mile, winter is slip-sliding away. Spring-like thaws are eliminating mounds of snow throughout the community in time for the official arrival of the green-up season March 20. Photo by Jane Hale.

CREAM YOUR teacher, the sign said, as Northville High School students paid money to the muscular dystrophy fund today so they could throw cream pies at their favorite teacher or administrator. Not all teachers participated but Principal George Aune bravely volunteered for victim duty. The Muscular Dystrophy dance marathon will be held at Meads Mill Junior High March 21 and 22.

THE PUBLIC is invited to attend when the Northville PTA meets with the Northville Board of Education Thursday, March 13. PTA President Glenda Buist stressed this is not a regular board meeting, but a chance for parents to have their questions answered by the school board.

The meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. at the Northville High School cafeteria.

Sharry on USS San Jose

Navy Seaman Robert W. Sharry, son of Jack D. Sharry of 45310 Bryne Drive, currently is on a deployment in the Indian Ocean.

He is a crewmember aboard the combat store ship USS San Jose, homeported in Alameda, California, and currently operating as a unit of the U.S. 7th Fleet.

The San Jose is providing support for the Carrier Battle Groups in the Indian Ocean. She has traveled between Diego Garcia Island and the deployed Carrier Battle Groups to resupply the ships with food, machinery and electronic spare parts, mail and other vital supplies. Enroute she has rescued 101 Vietnamese refugees and delivered them to refugee assistance authorities.

The San Jose is 581 feet long with a crew of 430. She serves as a "floating store" for the fleet and is stocked with more than 25,000 general and technical supply items.

A 1976 graduate of Northville High School, Sharry joined the Navy in June 1976.

Johnson - re-election bid

Filing time

With the filing deadline less than a month away, Northville Board of Education officials report that nobody has filed yet as a candidate for a seat on the Northville school board.

Two seats are up for grabs in the June 9 election. Trustee Marge Sliger announced last month she will not run again, but Trustee Chris Johnson will try to be re-elected to another four-year term.

Filing deadline this year is 4 p.m. April 7.

Candidates can pick up applications in the upstairs business office at the Main Street Elementary school on West Main. To be on the ballot, candidates must have 20 signatures from registered school district voters on a petition.

Candidates must be citizens, at least 18 years old, a resident of the state for at least 30 days and a resident of the school district on or before the 30th day prior to the election.

Sliger and Johnson both were elected to the school board in 1976. The five board members whose terms will not expire in June include Douglas Whitaker, President Karen Wilkinson, Treasurer Charles Peltz, Trustee Richard Barron and Trustee David Llewellyn.

School budget 'exercise in futility'

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

It is a finance director's nightmare: trying to build a budget without any idea of how much money will be coming in.

The Northville school district is working on estimated expenditures for the 1980-81 school year but administrators are calling it "an exercise in futility" to try to estimate revenues when so many variables remain in the air.

"We don't have a good feel whether we will be in or out of the state aid formula this year," said Superintendent Larry Nichols at the Northville Board of Education meeting Monday night. "At this point it's anybody's guess."

School districts usually can estimate how much money they will get in state aid and local revenues. They base their estimate on four factors: the state guarantee of per-pupil payments, the estimated student enrollment for September, the State Equalized Value (SEV) of property here, and the Headlee tax limitation bill.

In 1979 the district got $36,000 in state aid and about $8,600 to make up for declining enrollment.

This year, however, all four factors have made estimation a real problem.

The state senate, busy with other bills, has not decided how much state aid it will guarantee per pupil or how much state aid it will pay per mill for each community.

In addition, while the Northville school district is predicting declining enrollment of 200 to 300 students from the K-12 and Institutions' Special Education Program to about 4,300 students, administrators still are not certain how many special education students will leave Plymouth Center (and the ISE program) to go to community homes.

Add to that the fact that the Northville Public Schools takes students from seven communities (Wayne County portion of Northville, Oakland County portion of Northville, Northville Township, Lyon Township, Novi Township and Salem Township) with seven different State Equalized Value factors.

Not all the communities have their SEV factors yet and the school district has to wait until Wayne County collects all the SEV factors and comes up with one factor for the school district before it can calculate revenue here.

Even then, the Headlee tax limitation bill throws a wrench into the works.

Nobody knows what Headlee will do to the school district's revenues.

The state said last week that revenues can rise 11.3 percent according to the October 1978 to October 1979 cost-of-living increase.

The Northville school district is authorized to levy an operating 35.4 mills but according to Headlee, only levied 35.027 mills last year.

"We are caught in a 'triple dip' again this year," Nichols told the board Monday. "We have rising SEV, decreasing enrollment and tax limitation."

The district budget review committee is made up of Finance Director Harold Hines, Nichols, Assistant Superintendent of Instruction Nancy Soper, Assistant Superintendent of Administrative Services Burton Knighton, Director of Special Education Leonard Resmierski, Silver Springs Principal Marcia Wiss, Moraine Principal Donald Van Ingen, Cooke Junior High Principal David Longridge and NHS Principal George Aune.

The group will meet throughout the spring to establish a budget for the district.

Woody wows Meadowbrook men

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

Past rivalries forgotten, venerable sportsman Woody Hayes made a hit in the heart of maize and blue country last week.

The former coach of the Ohio State University football team wowed the crowd as guest speaker at Sportsman's Night at Meadowbrook Country Club Friday night.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

What do Bordeaux, Cabernet Sauvignon, and Claret have in common? They are all made from the same kind of grape, the Cabernet Sauvignon. Americans name wine from the grape varieties, while the French take the name of the region where the grapes are best grown (thus Bordeaux). The English call Claret, as such, because the first such wines coming from the Bordeaux region to England were a mixture of red and white called Claret.

You'll find a wide variety of wines, imported and domestic, when you come to us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. Wine is a fine gift for special occasions, birthdays, anniversaries, or as a hostess gift. Our large selection of champagne includes Asti Spumanti. Hours: 9 a.m.-10 p.m. Mon. thru Sat., Noon-6 p.m. Sun.

WINE WISDOM:

A case of wine generally contains twelve bottles.

"He was nothing like the man on the football field," said one member who attended. "He was very well received and very gracious."

Never the best friend of the press, Woody requested that no reporters of photographers be present, not even from the local paper (and especially not women reporters or photographers because it was a stag affair.)

But the 500 men who attended reported that the night was a total success. Woody was, according to inside sources, "very entertaining" as he put forth his commentary on football, football players and his football teams of the past.

Woody cracked jokes about U-M coach Bo Schembechler's temper and chided former Detroit Tigers pitcher Mickey Lolich and other professional athletes who were in the audience.

"If you've ever done it and talked about it, that's not bragging," Woody told his audience as he described his years as coach of the OSU Buckeyes.

He did not comment on politics or the book he is writing on military history. Instead, he treated the delighted group of Meadowbrook members and guests to tales of OSU's rivalry with Michigan's colleges.

And he signed autographs for about 20 minutes until Emcee Ray Lane called time-out.

Woody stayed at the Holiday Inn on Grand River in Farmington Friday night and was due to leave on Saturday.

"He didn't talk about anything controversial," a member of the audience said. "He stayed in the role of an entertaining speaker discussing football. And he didn't comment on this year's Ohio State team."

Sportsman's Night is held every year to kick off the Meadowbrook Country Club's season. Every year the club honors an amateur sportsman in Michigan. This year they honored Pete Green, Michigan amateur golf champion.

SEVENTH RACE at Northville Downs Friday night was a memorial to Stanley W. Smith who died last year. He had been track plumber and head usher since the track's beginning in 1944 and was known for "never missing a day of work." His daughter came from Dover, Massachusetts, to attend Friday with his mother, brother and two sisters.

Planners table rezoning request until public hearing

Northville city planners last week voted unanimously to table a change of use request for property at 424 South Main until after a public hearing on the commission's own motion to change zoning in this part of Bealtown.

The request of Carl Follmer-Stone

Associates to use a building at the location for real estate and investment offices and for an accountant was tabled until after the public hearing set for April 15.

The property contains a house that Follmer previously has said will have the second floor sealed permanently as the first floor becomes offices. The house has been occupied residentially until now.

The property presently is zoned for commercial use under General Commercial Development classification (GCD) but the commission recently revised its master plan for the area to return this section to residential. At the time, planners noted the area has been upgraded with young families maintaining and improving homes.

Charles Freydl made the motion to hold a public hearing to rezone 10 lots (97 through 106-A) in this section of South Main to Professional, Business, Office (PBO) classification after Ronald Nino, city planning consultant, declared the PBO use closer to the long-range goals for the area.

"Faced with the realities of the situation," Nino told the planners, "this is an opportunity to upgrade the area now."

He pointed out that the Follmer request for use does not fall "under the umbrella of GCD."

The motion includes the South Main property from Beal to the VFW building. James Cutler voted against calling the hearing, asking why the commission should do so. The action passed by a 7-1 vote.

As Commissioner Stewart Kissinger questioned the upgrading of the area only to PBO instead of the new master plan residential designation, Chairman Thomas Wheaton recapped the commission's thinking in the past.

It was expected in the early 1970s, he said, that the race track would be buying Bealtown and the zoning reflected this.

"I think we're all pleased with the character of the area now and the proposed zoning would upgrade."

Nino stressed that planners have found that PBO classification retains the appearance of an area better than GCD with many offices in homes that keep a residential appearance.

"Land in Northville is too sensitive to drop (lower) use. The proposed zoning is in keeping with the way we would like Northville to develop," Nino stated.

Follmer said he was somewhat "bewildered" by the commission's action but would ask to have his request tabled in accordance with the commission's wishes until after the hearing at the regular April meeting.

Ticket scalper guilty

The former manager of Apple Records and Tapes in the Northville Plaza Mall has been convicted of ticket scalping.

Debra Andrews, 28, of Plymouth Township March 6 was found guilty of selling tickets to concerts and sporting events for inflated prices without the permission of the promoters.

The decision came following a six-hour jury trial before Judge James Garber at the 35th District Court in Canton Township.

Andrews will be sentenced April 16.

Since ticket scalping is a misdemeanor, she could get up to 90 days in jail and/or a fine of up to $100.

Andrews, who ran the Executive Ticket Service out of her record and tape store for approximately two years, reportedly is now operating a ticket service somewhere in Plymouth.

Andrews was arrested October 9, 1979, by Northville Township police, after a police officer in plain clothes purchased two tickets at the inflated prices — in some cases tickets were sold for up to $10 more than the listed price.

She was released after posting $100 cash bond.

According to state law, it is legal to collect a service charge for selling tickets for an operator, but the seller must have written permission from the management and also have the additional charge printed on the ticket.

Andrews may appeal the case to a higher court, according to her attorney.

munity can jeopardize its block grant allocations if it fails to file two HAP plans, one for senior citizens and another for subsidy assistance).

Besides learning about the third subsidy housing proposal, Thomson also learned last week why, as supervisor, he wasn't getting initial communications on the block grant program.

Ten days before Thomson took office, former supervisor Wilson Grier had written the following letter on November 10, 1978 to the office of program development & coordination:

"Effective immediately all correspondence and telephone calls regarding our Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Program, that would normally be directed to my attention, shall be sent to Ms. Clarice Sass, Clerk, Township of Northville, 41600 Six Mile Road, Northville, Michigan 48167. Your attention to this matter will be greatly appreciated."

The letter was signed by Grier.

Asked if she was aware of Grier's letter, Sass says, "All I remember is that he (Grier) said he was designating me to coordinate those matters. I don't know if a letter was written."

After digging through her files, the clerk said she was able to find only one communication and that one, she says, was written on August 9, 1979 by Deputy Clerk Margaret Tegge telling the block grant people that it should recognize Thomson as the block grant designate.

Winchester space travelers over the trestle

Winchester school calls all trusty, true space cadets

By ELLEN SPONSELLER

Some things make you wish you were a kid again.

Last week at Winchester Elementary school, for instance, students got to travel where adults fear to tread when they entered "Space Orbit" in the gym.

In a darkened half of the gym filled with weird space music (provided by Mary Kay Pryce's music class) and outer space art (done by Shirley Talmadge's art classes), students followed an obstacle course orbit around the universe. If they made it around they would be "honest and true space cadets", eligible for stars and certificates.

"Use your imagination. Pretend you are taking a trip and you are thousands of miles out in space," physical education teacher Mary Minor told a group of rapt third graders. "You'll start at the launching pad and make your way around the room. If you fall off, you will be..." she paused, then added dramatically, "...lost in space."

The group's eyes widened. How would they be able to report to the space directors if they were floating lost in the cosmos?

Minor told them: the only way to get back to the launching pad was if someone else became lost in space.

Now, to blast off. Students lined up and began their orbits. Without falling off they had to walk on a board, climb bars, jump over three rugs, climb more bars, walk a plank, climb over a stool, walk another plank, over a mat, up two trestles, across a skinny board and a hurdle.

They had to go through the orbit forward, backward and sideways. Though the way through space was difficult, in the end everyone would make it.

As they came back to earth, students ran back to their rooms to collect their official space cadet certificates.

Little did they realize that they had just been through a multi-media exercise to increase rhythm, artistic exposure, strength, balance, agility and coordination.

Sneaky, disguising exercise as play.

Australia is publisher's specialty

At a time when women her age traditionally are thinking about grandchildren, Jean Martensen nurtures a baby. The difference is that her baby is the envy of corporate women — and men — seated in prestigious New York offices.

The women in the towering Manhattan offices claim their creativity has been stifled by the corporate structure, whereas Jean Martensen's is free and bright and promising.

If all goes well for the vibrant Novi woman, she could very well earn the envy of every woman who has a desire to do something different. Something courageous. Something daring. Something creative.

Jean Martensen took an idea and her knowledge of a far-away country to build a new business — her baby. She admits the dream was a gamble — a long-shot, and even she is stunned by the interest her venture has created.

Jean Martensen is a book publisher. The name of her company is Cobbers, and the first book is due off the presses any day.

What makes Jean Martensen and Cobbers different from all the other small publishing houses now in business across the country?

For one thing, her baby deals exclusively in Australian literature. It is yarns and tales of the mystical continent. It is children's stories complete with pictures of the strange bandicoot, the koala, baby gummy sharks and kookaburra. It is laced with the dialect of the continent "down under."

That dialect is even reflected in the name of her company. Cobbers in "Strine" (Australian slang) means a friend, a mate, no matter what.

The first book to come from the Martensen publishing house is "Yarns from an Aussie Bushcook" by a famous Australian guide and writer. Soon to follow is a children's storybook about a Boorabee called "Boo" for short. In stateside language, "Boo" will be identified immediately as one of those cute, huggable koala bears. Publisher Martensen indicated the book could grow into a series. In the wings is a list of detective stories, some starring an Aborigine "Sherlock Holmes."

But why Australia? "It's the mystique of the continent that excites readers," she says. "It's a strange country that we Americans know very little about except that it's miles and miles away and its inhabitants speak English."

Her knowledge of the country comes first hand, and even today she says she has a longing to return. Australia was her home for 12 years. She says she "migrated" there with her husband, raised her family there, pursued a career there and became a widow there.

Returning to the states she first settled in New York, eventually remarried and "migrated" again to Michigan, settling in her Country Place condo on the Novi-Northville border.

Her home is an unusual collection of didgeridoos (a strange Aborigine instrument), boomerangs, kangaroo skins and beautiful Fiji Island wall hangings. It is jammed with books and books on the huge land that was recently described as a giant pomegranate, the top of which has burst sending one big seed hurtling towards Antarctica.

And inside the huge pomegranate is the expanse called the Outback — an area rich in minerals, rugged individuals and fascinating stories.

It is from there that Cobbers will draw its unique material. "I feel I'm helping Australia and America by sharing the enormous 'goods' of both worlds," she said of her undertaking.

Of Cobbers, Jean Martensen says that although it has taken a great deal of effort and time, the experience has been one of stimulation and pleasure. "There really are only two things I want from life — to love those around me and the things I find stimulating and to be loved in return."

Australia has given the world the likes of opera singer Joan Sutherland, singers Helen Reddy and Olivia Newton-John, actors Errol Flynn and Peter Finch, "The Thornwoods" and "The Sundowners." And now — through Jean Martensen — we gain an insight into the land of the billabong, the bloke and the dinki di.

Northville planners look to the future

Northville city planners are taking an over-all view of the community as they look to future development.

At their March 4 meeting the commission went on record that it will be looking at the commercial development throughout the city.

GCD, the commission was told by Planning Consultant Ronald Nino, often is inappropriate and could be replaced by Business, Professional, Office (BPO) or the Central Business District (CBD) designation. The commissioners agreed to set a public hearing at the next meeting March 18 to consider changing to CBD zoning in the Wing, Randolph and Center area.

You might be in for a bit of a cultural shock during a visit to Australia if you aren't aware of some distinct differences between the two continents, even though both are English speaking. So cautioned Jean Martensen during a recent conversation.

The publisher pointed out that although we of the northern continent know of Australia as an English speaking continent the differences in the language may be as foreign as French, German or Russian.

"It's like a trip to the south or the eastern part of the United States where dialects or word usages differ greatly. A sweet roll in Michigan is a Danish in New York."

Australian words, says Mrs. Martensen, have a distinct flavor. She believes the language referred to as "Strine" is a combination of English cockney and Irish brogue coined by the first hardy settlers to the far-away country.

Mainstreet groundbreaking

Mainstreet renovation continues as official groundbreaking for the new Downriver Federal Savings and Loan office at 127 Hutton at the corner of Main took place last week Tuesday. Mayor Paul Vernon, chairman of the Downtown Development Authority, assists Arthur J. Hayes, Downriver Federal Savings and Loan president, with the first shovel of earth, marking the beginning of construction.

Looking on are Ted Mapes, city DPW, Jeff Kreger, marketing officer for Downriver Federal, A.M. Allen, authority member, City Manager Steve Walters, Peter Foster, contractor, and Donald Bezzo (partly hidden) Downriver Federal vice-president. The new savings and loan facility on the site of the former George Miller sales office will include drive-in windows.

Speech prize

Neither the winter's biggest snowstorm nor stiff competition could stop Northville's Kelly Schulz from taking a first prize in the Brighton Invitational Forensics meet Saturday.

The Northville High School senior won the first place trophy in the "Serious Interpretation" category with a five-minute reading of poetry and prose.

She beat 27 other competitors for the top prize with dramatic readings of Hilary James' "Promises in the Dark" and the poem, "The White Cliffs of Dover" by Alice DuMaur.

"She did really, really well," said NHS forensics coach Sandra Thornton, who took nine forensics students from NHS to the invitational meet. "But she also worked really hard for it."

Kelly was the only NHS student to make it into the finals of three-round competition.

More than 12 high schools from across the state competed in the day-long tournament. It was the first official meet for the NHS forensics team.

The team goes to district competition on March 24. If they win there, they are eligible to go onto regional competition in April. Thornton is even eyeing the state finals, which will be held in Ann Arbor later this spring.

The NHS forensics team very nearly did not exist this year because it didn't have a coach. Thornton, a speech teacher at Schoolcraft College, took the sponsorship in February.

'Operation Dry Run' gives practice for census mail

You'd think the post office is preparing for some important military action the way it is gearing up for "D" day March 28.

"It is important," insisted Northville Postmaster John Steimel. "We want to be letter perfect, no pun intended."

As was happening in post offices across America, local postal personnel conducted "Operation Dry Run" last week Wednesday, stuffing U.S. Census forms into empty cases and then returning the yet unmailed forms to the mountain of boxes from which they came.

What the post offices are doing, Steimel explained, is practicing for the day when the census forms really will be delivered to every dwelling unit in the United States. That day will be March 28.

According to Tim Cooper, who has been designated Northville's census coordinator by Steimel, preparation for the massive, single day mailing began last summer when each post office sent a listing of all dwelling addresses in the area covered by the post office to the Census Bureau.

The bureau subsequently addressed (not including names) a census form for each of these dwellings, boxed them and recently sent them to the appropriate post offices.

Last week, upon returning from their routes, carriers placed the census forms into empty cases, arranging them in delivery sequence, said Cooper. By doing so they were able to identify addresses for which no forms were available.

A "blue" card was then made out for each missing address and these were returned to the Census Bureau.

Upon their receipt, the bureau will address forms for the missing dwellings and return them to the post offices in time for the real mailing March 28.

"Theoretically, there ought to be a form for every dwelling on that day," said Steimel, "unless a house springs up between now and 'D' Day."

During last week's dry run, some 200 missing addresses were identified out of nearly 8,000 dwelling units within the Northville post office's jurisdiction, said Cooper.

On March 28 the forms will be delivered to every dwelling, even those which are unoccupied. For example, the still unoccupied new apartment units in Novi near Nine Mile and Center will be delivered forms.

"So when somebody does move into an apartment they'll find a census form waiting for them," explained Steimel. "A person spending the winter in Florida also will find the form when he or she returns. The Census Bureau doesn't want to miss anyone."

Local municipal officials don't want anyone missed either. In a recent communication to city residents, City Manager Steven Walters emphasized the importance of the census, pointing out many funds received by the city (such as federal grant monies) are based on the city's population. The more people, the more monies given the municipality, he explained.

The census form that the carrier will deliver to your home on March 28 comes in a 12 inch by nearly 6 inch white envelope. Inside will be yellow explanatory pamphlet, the census form itself, and a return addressed and stamped envelope.

The form is a single sheet of paper (15x28-inches), which asks a variety of questions.

The person filling out the form is asked mail it back to the Census Bureau on "Census Day" — Tuesday, April 1.

Snow causes traffic mishap

Snow-covered, slippery roads were blamed for a two-car collision March 8 on Eight Mile just west of Haggerty in which a Novi driver suffered minor injuries.

Dorothy Quartermuss received minor cuts and bruises when her vehicle, traveling westbound on Eight Mile, slide into an eastbound car driven by Kathleen Brancheau of Newport.

Brancheau was unhurt. No citation was issued, police said, because of the hazardous driving conditions.

A socket set, a grinderpolisher, a paint spray gun and some miscellaneous tools were reported stolen from the garage of a Bradner residence March 4, township police said.

Value of the stolen goods is estimated at more than $300.

Two sets of cross-country skis were taken from the garage of a Woodhill residence sometime between February 17 and March 5, township police reported.

The owner of the skis told police the garage door may have been left open.

More than $150 worth of silverware, an unknown amount of quarters and an HO toy train were taken from a Sunset residence sometime between February 29 and March 3, township police reported.

Four silver, wire wheel covers were taken March 8 from a 1980 Lincoln parked in the driveway of a Pinebrook residence, township police reported.

The hub caps are valued at approximately $100 each, police said.

More than $1,200 worth of one-half-inch copper pipe was ripped off March 10 from two of the Swan Harbour apartment buildings, currently being built on Seven Mile at Silver Springs Drive, police reported.

Police are investigating a number of similar thefts which have occurred recently at the building site.

Six Mile snow scene proves that even in March, winter can be beautiful

GREEN OAK — Voters of Green Oak Township will be facing a "vote of confidence" for their police department as the township board moved to place a 1.5 mill police proposal on the May primary ballot.

HOWELL — Call it a rebellion or whatever you wish, but it appears that about half of the municipalities in Livingston County will refuse to spread the assessment increases called for by the Livingston County Equalization Department.

HOWELL — Although a recent report issued by the state Department of Treasury was said to have settled the issue of bookkeeping problems between the federally funded employment program and the county treasurer's office, the program coordinator says funds could be yanked by the feds at any time.

SOUTH LYON — Citing an increasing difficulty to work effectively with the South Lyon Community School District, Roger Kidston resigned as attorney for the district.

SOUTH LYON — It came as no surprise, but the city's planning consultant has predicted a population here of 10,390 by the year 2000 while SEMCOG projections suggest a steady decline to 5,127 by that year.

NOVI — A water line serving Twelve Oaks Mall, the Novi municipal complex and Novi High School, among other customers, has developed a leak which could require costly repairs, City Engineer Harry Mosher has informed council.

State's drivers are confused

License plate renewal time is here and numerous Michigan motorists have not purchased their plate tabs, the local Secretary of State office points out.

Confusion for vehicle owners is being created with Michigan converting to an expiration by birthday system. "Some vehicle owners are assuming their 1979 license plates will not expire until their birthday. This is not true," said Charles Deamud, manager of the Secretary of State office on Seven Mile. "The 1979 license plates for all pickup trucks, vans, commercial vehicles and trailers expired February 29th. Plates on passenger vehicles, motor homes and motorcycles will expire March 31, he said. By April 1, all license plates must have tabs to be properly registered.

"We are encouraging people to come in now and avoid the last minute rush," said Deamud. As in past years, people will need proof of insurance and their computer prepared renewal form, or their 1979 registration, or their Michigan title and plate number.

In addition to the Secretary of State office here at 42357 Seven Mile, other area offices include one in Livonia at 33250 West Six Mile and another in Livonia at 27427 Six Mile.

Our Opinions It's variance

Planning commission members have an obligation to the community they serve to look to the future as they face realities of today. Of all local governmental bodies their actions can influence most the future character of a community.

Northville city planners have been guided well by Planning Consultant Ronald Nino to "zone for optimum use" of land and have been steered away from zoning for an individual request, having learned that not all proposed uses come to fruition as planned.

Currently before the commission is the Gerald Avenue property on which George Miller is relocating. The Millers, father and son, plan to store recreational vehicles, repair heavy duty trucks and other equipment and vehicles and sell used vehicles. The property was acquired by the Millers in a transaction with the city by which the Mainstreet development acquired the Miller property at Main and Hutton and Miller bought the land on Gerald formerly owned by the city.

Under present industrial-use zoning (PR-2) provision is not made for repair of vehicles. The planning consultant agrees the use is proper within the zoning and the commission is holding a public hearing March 18 on two ordinances which would clarify the usage.

This apparently will solve one of Miller's problems, but it still will not permit retail sales in the area. The commission on advice of its consultant already has suggested this should be dealt with by the zoning board of appeals as an individual problem.

City officials since have made the determination that the matter is not the proper consideration for the board of appeals. It now is suggested that the occasional sale of vehicles be called an incidental use developing from the main one under the present zoning. We agree with the commission's original conclusion. This is a case where an individual variance can and should be granted. The Millers would know then where they stand and be able to obtain a used vehicle sale license.

Nino has stated that under state law which governs the board of appeals this can be accomplished. It should hear the appeal and make a one-time provision to solve a problem which surfaced as Northville gains a new Mainstreet in which we all can take pride.

No favor

Officials who believe they are doing taxpayers a favor this year by limiting expenditures to the 11.4 percent Headlee cap could be in for a rude awakening.

Unless we are misreading the mood of the public, an 11.4 percent increase in local budgets is likely to anger, not appease taxpayers. They're looking for something less.

Few, if any, thought the Headlee cap would surpass 11 percent when they voted for the tax-limiting state amendment. Most, we suspect, probably thought the "worse" they might get was a 9 percent increase.

So instead of applauding elected officials who "hold the line" at 11.4 percent, taxpayers here and elsewhere are thinking "Tisch" or "throw the rascals out." In fact, if the Tisch proposal was on the ballot and the election was held today, we'd bet it would pass overwhelmingly.

All of which suggests to us that elected officials in 1980 had better get out their budget paring knives or face the wrath of the public in November.

Chicken votes

We share the city council's concern over abstention votes on the planning commission and we agree that the ordinance should be changed to require members to cast either a "yes" or a "no" vote.

The city planning commission is not the only public body where abstentions have been misused. Such non-voting, while not frequent, nevertheless has occurred elsewhere in the city and township. Members of public bodies have a responsibility to citizens they represent and that means casting meaningful votes.

Abstentions where conflicts of interest may be involved, yes, but "chicken" votes, no.

Currently, fathers' rights are to pay and do what the Court says. Traditional society and the Courts have long determined that child rearing should be the prerogative of the mother. In divorce, fathers have often been relegated to non-custodial, support paying and occasional visiting roles.

The Courts perceive sole custody to be in the best interests of the child. In severing the marital ties, the Court often destroys the father-child relationship with the same sword. Visitation rights, by far the sharpest thorn, is often allowed to be a capricious whim of a vindictive ex-spouse. Under our present system, many fathers find it necessary to retreat in wincing emotional pain and at best become a "weekend father" of a "Sunday dad."

The current Michigan Child Custody Act of 1970 perpetuates the myth of sole custody. However, much like recent enactments in New York and California, the proposed Michigan Senate Bill 254 on "Joint Custody" would create a presumption of joint and/or equal

Speaking for Myself

Fathers' rights

HENRY GORNBEIN

Con

This column is being written strictly to state an advocacy position. It is not necessarily the position of the author, Henry S. Gornbein, who is an attorney specializing in domestic relations and family law.

I am very familiar with the Equal Rights for Fathers movement. While many of their ideals are excellent, too many of them are unrealistic. In the first place, when we are talking about equal rights for fathers, we are usually dealing with issues involving custody, child support and visitation. In these areas, in most instances, and especially with young children, a woman is and should be heavily favored for custody because, in most cases, she is the nurturing parent who spends most of the time during the early years of child rearing with the child or children.

In addition, with regard to child support, there are many fathers who fail to take their full burden in paying child support. Too often people forget that it is a lot more expensive to raise children than to pay child support. In most instances, the amount of child support paid is totally inadequate to meet the needs of a child. Child support is for the child or children and does not pay for the mother.

There are many problems involved with visitation. Sadly, in too many divorces both fathers and mothers will use their children as a means of venting hostility towards each other. The only losers in this situation are the children. For every father who feels that he is not getting enough access to his children and is being denied visitation, I can point out a mother who feels that her husband or former husband has left her in a lurch and is failing to visit with the children enough or to keep a visitation schedule.

The issue is not one of equal rights for fathers but one of parents assuming their roles and responsibilities in raising and caring for their children.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Having attended governmental meetings regularly in this area for two decades, I'm not looking forward to the "new look" that is certain to decorate the meeting rooms with the advent of cable television.

You can bet officials will be spending a lot more time in front of the mirror prior to their meetings. And they'll come trooping in like Sunday-go-to-meeting angels to smile at the eye of the camera.

You'll think we've elected proteges of Amy Vanderbilt instead of the ordinary folk.

Gone will be the teeth-pickers, nose-pickers, ear-cleaner-outers, the slouchers, the sleepers and snorers, the sneak-outers and sneak-inners, paper wad shooters, stretchers, bra'straighteners, belt'tighteners, comics readers, suspender-snappers, smoking artists, bubblegum blowers, and a host of others that have amused me during the long and often boring sessions of school boards, councils, and commissions.

No more table-pounders, shouters, face-makers, threateners, practical-jokers and story-tellers.

Oh, the pity of it. It will be worse than watching a late night movie, I fear.

No longer will we ever see a council member flirt with another, playing footsie under the table and forgetting there is no modesty screen.

Worse yet, long meetings will become longer as self-appointed silver tongues stretch out their orations for the larger audience.

There's another reason why I'm not enchanted by the prospect of cable TV. The lady of the house brought it to my attention.

"I think it's great," she explained. "All these years you've been coming home, blaming the late hour on filibustering and smelling like a brewery. Now I'll be able to snap on the TV set and know precisely when the meeting ends."

"So?"

"So now, smarty pants, you'll have exactly 10 minutes from sign off time to get home before I lock the door on your excuses."

That's enough

Questions Swan Harbor HUD housing procedure

To the Editor:
When our township supervisor sends a letter of objection regarding opposition to the type of low-income housing in the Swan Harbor Apartments, the HUD Field Office Director should analyze and review the comments of the local government.

According to the Code of Federal Regulations "the field office director shall concur in an objection by the local government unless he makes an independent determination of consistency, based on substantial evidence, that the application is consistent with the applicable Housing Assistance Plan." CFR 891.205(2)(p. 788).

Consequently, since the low-income housing proposal for the Swan Harbor Apartments is inconsistent with our township's housing assistance plan, it should be rejected by the field office director. The above regulation was written by HUD, and it will be interesting to see if the HUD field office director follows the exact meaning of that regulation.

In any event, as we have seen, one thing we can learn from this struggle is that such a proposal reduces local control.

When a developer can apply for this type of approval granted by the federal government, then the ability of the township to control its own destiny is greatly reduced.

Minutes, sports bring concern

To the Editor:

I have been a long time reader of The Northville Record. It has been on a weekly "must read" list. However, there are two areas of coverage which I would like to see improved or expanded.

1. Sports coverage — I don't have access to all the facts as to reasons, but there has been a noticeable decrease in the amount of news and number of pages allocated to sports, and in that reduced amount of space, an increase in ads.

With the coming of soccer and baseball, I hope all the work put in by the volunteers to provide The Record with details does not get shortchanged. Perhaps a reduction in the size of photos would help. Don't let us down!

2. Township minutes — Because of my schedule I cannot attend the meetings of the city and township very often. Therefore, I must depend on the minutes in The Record. Here is an example from the March 5, 1980, report:

"2 Public Hearing Northridge Apts. Section 8 Housing. Public comments and questions were responded to by board members" (and other names responding.)

Could the clerk take the time to add at least the key points or idea(s) which resulted? The city council minutes are very good and can be used as an example to follow.

Al Hauser

EDITOR'S NOTE: "Official minutes" are paid advertisements and contain a summary of proceedings. Responsibility for content of minutes rests with the clerk. The newspaper, of course, covers meetings and reports proceedings in news stories. As to sports, we certainly appreciate volunteer reports of various recreational activities and will continue to provide coverage as the season accelerates.

Scouts salute

To the Editor:

On behalf of leaders and Scouts of Our Lady of Victory School I would like to thank and compliment the Northville community.

As reported by your paper, we enjoyed international Canadian Girl Scout Guides on February 23.

Along with sharing fun and games and crafts we wanted to let them take to Canada an example of our American generosity. Our Northville merchants came through with flying colors.

How nice to live in a community that is willing to share and help when needed.

We are truly thankful for your contributions and help in making our international activity a very big success.

Sincerely,
Judy Williams
Troop Service Director
Our Lady of Victory School

Thanks Lapham

To the Editor:

This is a thank you to Chuck Lapham for the use of his fields on Six Mile for our soccer program.

We have used them for several seasons, and they have grown to four in number. Without these fields we would have to cut the number of teams by 16, meaning 240 players would not be able to play because there are no more suitable fields available. We now have 13 in use.

Chuck is one person whom many people should be grateful to. However, when the time comes for many other people to give their approval for financial help through land acquisition, millage or bonds, I hope they'll do their part.

Between just baseball and soccer approximately 1,500 youngsters are being kept busy in a positive way.

Just think how you would feel if you were told your child couldn't play this season because of no more room. Thanks to Chuck Lapham, we haven't faced that question.

But please accept this as a plea for something to be done because, if the program grows anymore, we will be close to limiting any expansion of registrants. We grew from 700 in fall, 1979, to 820 this spring. We can accommodate about 20 more players and our facilities are saturated.

Aussies call it English

A collector of "Australiana," publisher of Australian writings and a resident of Australia for 12 years, Mrs. Martensen looks to a book called "Let's Talk Strine" for a clever glossary of words.

They may boggle your mind but here goes anyway:

Say apples, it means everything is okay, all right. If you barrack, you're cheering for your team. A beauty is an exclamation of approval. Told to belt up, you'd better shut up or be quiet.

A bloke is a man or a sport, while to have a blue means you're having an argument. A bobby-dazzler means you're the greatest, while a bonzer is good or great. A big wave or a full-grown kangaroo is a boomer, while a cooly means a respite for a glass of beer or a frosty. Told you are a cracker it means you're good or notable. And if you tell someone you're crook, you are not referring to yourself as a thief. Rather you're telling them you're sick, just not feeling well.

A dill is a fool, while a dillybag is a shopping bag. A ding is a real swinging party and a dinki di is the real thing.

Try dinkum oil. That means the honest truth or good information, while a doover is a thingamabob or a what-chamacalit. A drongo is a simpleton or a fool.

A bad show or performance. Well it's a real dunny, while fair dinkum means its absolutely true. A fair go at it lads could be translated to sportsmanship or giving an equal chance. And to call someone a galah means you're calling him a fool.

A gibber is a rock or stone, while grouse is not a bird it simply means good or excellent. Hard work is done by a hard yacker, while you might bid him a hooroo, good bye. A jackaroo is a cowboy, a jillaroo a cowgirl and a larrikin is a trouble maker, a young tough.

Lashed out? Well, consider yourself a heavy spender. And if you lurk, you've made a shrewd move. A nark is a general nuisance and a no-hoper is a guy with no redeeming features. You're called onkus if you're absolutely wrong, all wet.

The glossary may not be necessary in Melbourne, Darwin or Adelaide. But one step into the outback, you'd better take the book along.

Anna Jooste: Here from land of contrasts

By JEANDAY

When Anna Jooste, Northville's first exchange student from South Africa, spoke to her Rotary sponsors last month, she proved an exceptionally able representative of a country that she declared "has no friends" in the world.

While the Northville Rotarians welcomed their guest with the words and music of "It's a Small World," it was apparent as the 18-year-old woman described her native land that it's also, as the lyrics say, a different "world of hopes and a world of fears."

She called South Africa the world's most complex society with 13 different languages. "That's why we have unique problems," she declared.

One of those, of course, is apartheid, the country's official policy of racial segregation. Anna Jooste seems comfortable with her explanation of the Union of South Africa's dealing with blacks.

She points out there are nine different black tribes, each with its own costumes and customs that they wish to retain.

"It's different than in the United States," she says, "the blacks (in South Africa) have not developed. They prefer living as they always have."

She showed colored slides of natives in beaded costumes, explaining, "they are proud natives and hard workers."

"We decided to give every black tribe its own piece of land as different tribes fight each other."

Pictures of tribal natives living in thatched-roof houses contrasted sharply with pictures of Port Elizabeth where automobiles are assembled and of Johannesburg, the capital city, and the port city of Cape Town.

There were other contrasts, too, in Miss Jooste's vivid slide tour of her homeland.

Expressways give way to a wild and beautiful coastline. Snow capped mountains contrast with deserts. There are ostriches and orchids. Uranium and platinum mines. The "Big Hole" that is the world-famous Kimberley diamond mine.

"It exports 30 percent of the world's diamonds."

"South Africa has no real friends in the world," the student observes as she tells why this is the only country in the world making its own oil from coal today.

Explaining that South Africa is surrounded by Communist countries, she says, "We pay $3 a gallon for gasoline made at two plants converting coal to oil. A third is under construction and a fourth is planned. Then we will be able to supply all our needs."

Her home is in Rustenburg, where the largest platinum mine in the world is located.

"Some blacks do come to work in the mines," she relates, stating that 98 percent of those who do return do so again.

They stay in their tribes, she says, because every tribe has its own language, its own place to live and its own schools.

Miss Jooste's own schooling obviously was of high caliber as her English is excellent. She apologizes that it is her "second language" with African, a mixture of Dutch, German and Swedish, the first.

She also has found during her first month at Northville High School that she had mastered studies beyond high school level here. Her calculus was advanced; so she's spending that classtime in the library.

She is seeing variations in the United States, however, as her host parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stephens of Northville Estates, took their guest with them to Florida the end of February.

The Rotary exchange in this instance really is an exchange as the Stephens' daughter Michelle now is in South Africa on a Rotary program.

She is not, however, staying with the Jooste family. Anna has seven brothers and sisters. Her father is a doctor; her mother a nurse.

Anna is on the first of a three-segment rotation that is part of the Rotary program. Chairman Church Mann currently is seeking two other host homes for the periods beginning

May 15 and September 15. As the verse to "It's a Small World" says, "There's so much we can share."

Wedding scene recreated for surprise celebration

By JEAN DAY

Even the crystal and the linen tablecloth at the surprise silver anniversary celebration for Cliff and Dawn Schroder of Ridge Road were the same as used on the reception table at their wedding table 25 years ago.

Their children — Mrs. John (Mandy) Chedrick, Jr., a Northville resident of Neeson Street, and Jeffrey A. and Marie M. at home — borrowed the accessories used at the wedding reception February 26, 1955, from Mrs. Bruce Avis, who with her husband had hosted the wedding and reception for her niece and her bridegroom at the Avis home in Dearborn.

Daughter Mandy baked and decorated a four-tier wedding cake resembling the one her parents had cut at their reception. The couple's children also prepared the food for the party and invited between 50-60 relatives and friends to participate in the surprise on March 1. To insure that it would be a surprise the honorees were taken to dinner by neighbors, the Jack D'Haenes, and then were called home on the pretense that the furnace was out.

Cliff Schroder is part owner of Northville Refrigeration in Northville. He is the son of Meta Schroder of Norton Street and the late John Schroder. Mrs. Schroder is the former Dawn Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Del F. Campbell, former Northville residents now living in South Lyon.

MR. AND MRS. CLIFF SCHRODER

She was local representative in Washington

Evelyn Clark, local legislative chairman of the Northville Business and Professional Women's Club, isn't one to take her responsibilities lightly. When the National Legislative Conference of the National BPW Federation was held in Washington, D.C., February 27-29, she went.

"The role of women in this election year was emphasized," she reports, telling how the country's 3,500 clubs formed a political action committee. Equal Rights, of course, were discussed and the women attending heard Joan Mondale.

Newcomers 'Spice up Spring'

Spring will be cinnamon and pink, ginger and peach, and, most strikingly, black and white. Those were among the colors of fashions modeled by Newcomer members and their children at the club's spring dinner fashion show last Thursday at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

The models moved to music played by Susan Gardner who willingly filled in at the last moment when the pianist who was to play became ill. Attractions planned by Jeanne Pierman and Jayne Hilfinger included a baked Alaska flambe, as promised.

President Prudy Vannier who welcomed those attending told members they would be receiving mail ballots for next year's officers.

The club had received 185 reservations for the popular event at which women's clothes by Hadley and children's wear from the Little People Shoppe were modeled. Models received applause for the fresh, attractive hair styles by One Ten West beauticians.

Carrie Susan Murany born

Michael and Molly Murany, former Northville residents now living in Green Valley, Arizona, are parents of a new daughter. She was born March 4 weighing six pounds, fifteen and a half ounces.

She is being admired at home by two brothers, Joshua, 9, and Sandy Barrett, 7.

The baby is the first granddaughter for Mr. and Mrs. George Murany of Northville. Maternal grandparents are Mrs. Rosemary Hagge of Northville and the late Dr. Donald Hagge.

Great grandmothers are Vesta Adams of Green Valley and Ione Joselin of Frostproof, Florida.

CRUISING—On a 11-day Cruise from the Port of Miami, Florida, aboard Holland America's luxury cruise ship S.S. Statendam are James and June Foley of Northville, Maurice and Thelma Gies of Livonia. They cruised the Caribbean, visiting many exotic islands, such as Haiti, Caracas and the Virgin Islands.

If you have an accident on your snowmobile, trail bike, or other recreational vehicle, what insurance covers you? Homeowners? Car? Medical? Or none of the above? And what about your passenger? What insurance covers those medical expenses? Maybe you should talk to us at Auto-Owners. We have a modern insurance policy for snowmobiles and other recreational vehicles. A policy that protects you, your family, your passengers. It even protects you while you're driving someone else's vehicle. And you'd be surprised at how little this coverage can cost. But not as surprised as you'd be to discover you weren't covered at all.

SHIRLEY WESTPHALL

She'll attend national sorority convention

Shirley Westphall, a resident of the community for the past year-and-a-half at 42143 Pellston Drive in Country Place Condominiums off Eight Mile, is an active member of Sigma Alpha philanthropic sorority and currently is serving as national recording secretary.

This week she is attending a meeting of the national officers March 13-16 in Griffith, Indiana. The full agenda includes finalizing plans for the 1980 national convention to be held June 20-22 at the Hyatt-Regency Hotel in San Francisco.

The officers also will be looking at arrangements for the 1982 convention to be held in Chicago.

Ms. Westphall, a Michigan Bell Telephone employee in Southfield, has been a member of the businesswomen's sorority since 1948 and is affiliated with Epsilon Delta chapter.

She is planning also to attend the national convention.

At this week's meeting, she says, several needs of the Institute of Logopedics will be reviewed. She is most enthusiastic about the aid given those with speech impediments through the Logopedics programs.

"It's fantastic to see the children, some suffering with cerebral palsy, helped," she says. The non-profit sorority works to support this national philanthropy, she explains. Among its projects is the awarding of two scholarships for student study at the Institute of Logopedics located in Wichita, Kansas.

This is a residential speech and hearing center for communicatively handicapped of all ages. Three current needs of the center will be chosen at this week's meeting to be presented to the voting delegates at the June convention for their selection for the sorority's annual donation.

Officers are attending the meeting from Indiana, Ohio, California, Kentucky and Michigan.

Gospel businessman to speak

Howard Graham, president of Wyandotte Awning Company in Taylor and owner of Howard Graham Insurance

Agency in Ecorse, will be principal speaker at the March 21 dinner meeting of the Northville-Plymouth-Livonia

Chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Having been baptized in the Holy Spirit as a teenager, he says he did not learn the power of faith until he "miraculously" was healed of arthritis in 1971 at the age of 29.

A Bible teacher for more than 18 years, he has shared his testimony of business success by Bible principles in public speaking engagements as well as on nationwide television shows, such as "Good News" program on WGPR-TV channel 62 with Demos Shakarian, president of Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International.

He presently is president of the Downriver-Detroit Chapter.

The musical portion of the program will feature nationally-known gospel singer-pianist Beverly Glenn, who locally is known as the pianist in 1976-77 at the Open Door Christian Church in Northville. Since then she has been appearing on radio, television and in special performances throughout the United States.

The meeting at 8 p.m. follows dinner which is $8 plus gratuity. Both dinner and talk are open to the public. Reservation checks should be made to FGBM and sent to P.O. Box 5332, Northville, by March 18.

Additional information is available by calling 349-0006.

Northville Township Supervisor Donald Thomson shared ribbon-cutting honors with Mayor Paul Vernon as the Northville Public Library and city hall addition officially were dedicated at an open house February 26. Head Librarian Anne Mannisto watches, at right, while board chairman Robert DeHoff and members Carolann Ayers, Shirley Davis and Louis Hopping look on. Honored also at the grand opening was John J. Carlo, executive manager of Northville Downs and a community resident for more than 25 years, after whom the building addition has been named in recognition of the major contribution that parimutuel betting funds as well as Downs property taxes have made to the city. These funds, it was announced, will pay a substantial portion of the cost of the new addition. Carlo, center, acknowledges the honor, while Mayor Vernon and other officials look on.

Annual antiques show moves to Community Center

When you become a dealer in primitive and country antique furniture, it takes much more effort to be in a show than if you happen to specialize in old jewelry. Just ask Carol and Eric Nordell of 15746 Bradner in Northville who will be participating their first show this weekend.

Fifth annual Northville Antique Show is moving to a new location in the Northville Community Center at 303 West Main.

It will be open with no admission charge from noon to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday and from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Twenty-six dealers from the metropolitan Detroit area and from

Ann Arbor, Webberville and Union Lake will be showing primitives, china, art glass, toys, furniture, stained glass, jewelry and decorative accessories, according to promoter Helen Meisel, owner of Helen Meisel Antiques on Center.

"This is the show formerly held in Northville Square from 1975-79," she emphasizes.

Her partner in promoting the show is Ruby Fleming of Dearborn who specializes in jewelry.

Mrs. Meisel, the Nordells, Pat and Hal Wright and Carol and Gordon Forrer, owners of West End Lamps on Center, are local participants in the show, which always has been popular for its size and variety.

For their first show the Nordells have been refinishing furniture and readying pieces. Their booth will be called Countryside Antiques and will specialize in furniture made before 1900.

"We're only bringing one cupboard," says Mrs. Nordell, mindful of the problems of transportation from their basement to the Main Street building. However, they also will have tables, rockers and chests.

The two Northville couples who have made a business of using antiques or art items for lamp bases with shades created from old coverlets and pierce-work now are show veterans. They exhibited at the Saline show all last year.

Mrs. Meisel has operated a shop in Northville for many years and specializes in a general line of antiques.

Mothers Club meets

Jean Anne Weston will be hostess for Monday's meeting of Northville Mothers' Club at 8 p.m. at her home at 20374

Woodhill. Assisting will be President Luanne McCurdy, Evelyn Maguire and Shirley Horwath.

Winning teams dominate selections on Sliger all-area basketball squad

Only three high school basketball teams in the Sliger Home Newspapers' coverage area—from Northville westward to Howell—produced winning records this winter.

They were Pinckney (14-7) and Brighton (13-9), co-champions of the Kensington Valley Conference, and Northville (12-8) of the rugged Western Six Conference.

Not surprisingly then, those teams called down four of the five first team berths on the Sliger Home Newspapers' 1980 all-area cage team.

Brighton led the way with two picks, John Cleary and Craig Bachelor, both seniors. Pinckney landed another senior, Mark Evans on the honor squad, which even features a "big man" this year in the form of 6-6 center Dave Ward, a Northville junior.

Also cracking the first team all-area lineup is Walled Lake Central's Tom Phelps, a senior standout who helped his team improve its record from 1-20 a year ago to 7-13 this winter.

In all, Sliger Home Newspaper sports writers picked the area's top 15 cagers on first, second and third teams, plus honorable mention choices from the area's 10 high schools.

Second team members include Craig Iseli of Novi, Mike Xenos of Walled Lake Western, Doug Bussell of South Lyon, Dave Haak of Pinckney and Dave Richmond of Whitmore Lake.

Named to the third team were Novi's Jeff Clark, Mike Wagner of Northville, South Lyon's Jeff Wenzel, Erin Hill of Walled Lake Central and Hartland's Jamie Jones.

Thumbnail sketches of first and second team players follow:

Last year on Brighton's Southeastern Conference champion basketball team, JOHN CLEARY was the eighth man who didn't see much action. He spent most of his time watching the Bulldog starting five win Brighton's first title in nearly 20 years.

This season, the 6-3 senior forward made himself known to anyone who watched the Bulldogs roll to their 13-9 record and a share of the KVC championship. His 19.7 points per game and 11 rebounds per contest led the Bulldogs in both categories, and his 3.2 average for assists was only second to teammate Mark Garbacik's outstanding total of 29.3 on the year.

Normally outsize by his opponent, Cleary still managed to hit on 53 percent of his shots from the floor, both inside and out.

CRAIG BACHELOR, Brighton's other representative on the first team, handled the scoring duties on last season's squad. But, as the only returning starter to the Bulldog cagers, Bachelor saw his duties changed to an inside game requiring more board strength.

The 6-3 senior forward responded admirably. He averaged 16.2 points every time he stepped on the hardwood this season while also grabbing 7.2 caroms. A co-captain with Cleary, Bachelor also dished off 38 assists and has played on the varsity for three years.

The big man on this year's squad is Northville's DAVE WARD, one of the premier centers of the Western Six Conference. The 6-6 junior led Northville to a 12-8 regular season record, the team's best showing since 1975.

Ward scored 14.5 points and collected 10.1 rebounds per game. In 20 games, Ward blocked 90 shots. He shot field goals at a 50 percent clip while sinking free throws at a 60 percent rate.

He scored in double figures 17 of 20 games and had six contests in which he tallied 20 points or more.

When the Kensington Valley Conference got down to the nitty gritty and Pinckney needed every win down the wire in order to grab a share of the title with Brighton, the Pirates could always count on one person—senior forward MARK EVANS.

Hustle and desire are as much an important part of the 6-1 Evans' game as are scoring and rebounding, in which he led the Pirates in both categories this season. On the year, Evans connected for 14.2 points and 7.9 rebounds.

Walled Lake Central forward TOM PHELPS' all-area credentials have increased in direct proportion to his team's victory total since last season—an occurrence that is no mere coincidence. The 6-3 senior was an honorable mention selection on our squad last year after the Vikings had compiled a 1-20 record.

This year, however, Central tasted victory seven times and Phelps was a major reason why. The Vike standout fashioned a 17 points per game average, grabbing more than eight rebounds a contest to boot. He also chipped in with three assists per outing, meriting Inter-Lakes Conference first team honors.

This year's second team all-area squad has its own big man in 6-6 senior center CRAIG ISELI, the heart and soul of Novi basketball.

When the big man was in the lineup, the Wildcats played teams even up. But after he broke his wrist and had to sit out, the Novi cagers lost eight straight games, often by more than 30 points.

Isele came back with three games to go. Novi lost one by nine points, won another by more than 10 and lost a district playoff spot by one. Isele finished the year with an 11.9 points per game average. In 12 games, he had 127 rebounds and blocked 39 shots.

Sparkplugs keep the motor firing and guard DAVE HAAK kept the Pinckney offense red hot all season.

Equally effective with both hands, the 5-9 senior spearheaded the running Pirate attack by dribbling through forests of opponents to whittle away the competition. Haak also established a new school record by handing out 100 assists.

For his part, Haak pumped in 12.3 points per contest, connecting on 42 percent of his shots from the field and 75 percent from the charity stripe.

MIKE XENOS, Walled Lake Western's 6-0 junior sharpshooter, didn't waste much time adjusting to prep ball. The Warrior guard got a late call-up last season as a sophomore and responded with double-figure scoring efforts in his first four varsity tilts.

This season, Xenos continued to wield a hot hand, leading Western in scoring with a 13-point norm. In addition, he had a hot stretch late this winter in which he connected for 16 points or more in six of seven games, giving Western Six Conference coaches something to think about when they choose 1980's best.

DAVE RICHMOND, Whitmore Lake's 6-1 junior forward, always seemed to be in the right spot at the right time for the Trojan basketballers this season.

"Dave's been our most consistent player—he's the man we go to in tight spots," Whitmore Lake Coach Bob Henry says of Richmond. "We depend on him to pull it out for us."

Richmond led the Trojans in scoring and rebounding this season, hitting 14.4 points per game and pulling down 9.8 rebounds per contest.

DOUG BUSSELL, the 6-4 senior center for South Lyon, was the Lions' top scorer and rebounder for the year. He averaged eight rebounds per game and netted 212 points over the season for an average of 10.6 points per game.

South Lyon Coach John Rinka considered Bussell one of his two most valuable players. Opponents always treated the big center as a threat.

Bussell's high point in the season came in the Lions' overtime loss to Kensington Valley co-champion Brighton. Hitting on 68 percent of his shots from the field, the hustling senior tallied 22 points and grabbed 10 rebounds.

IN LOVING MEMORY of my mother, who left us on March 14, 1960. Your passing 20 years ago was a great shock to our community and all who loved you in our family. Those of us who are still here hold your memory dear to their hearts, and will always remember the joy and feeling of happiness which you radiated amongst the people you came to know through church, school and community activity.

Dave Ward awaits a rebound against Central

Walled Lake Central stiffles Mustangs' district cage hopes

Northville High School's hopes for a district basketball crown came shattering down around them last Thursday when Walled Lake Central made a fourth-quarter rally to beat the Mustangs 43-41.

Northville went into the second round game of the district tourney sporting a 12-8 record while Central had a 7-13 slate. Both teams had drawn byes in the first round of the affair.

The biggest story of the game for Northville was offense, or lack of it.

The Mustangs had only four players score, and of those four, two combined for six points.

Dave Greer sank two field goals and Russ Gans one to carry half the scoring load for the team.

Dave Ward and Mike Wagner were the only Mustangs with any firepower.

Ward canned nine field goals and a sank Northville's only free throw attempt of the game to lead the team in scoring with 19 points.

Wagner had one of his best games yet, scoring eight buckets for 16 points.

But two players do not a team make. Ward and Wagner couldn't do it all, even though they tried.

Ward pulled down 12 rebounds, but Wagner's three were the next highest total.

Northville outscored Central 20 field goals to 17, but the difference came in the foul shooting department. Whereas Northville received only one shot the entire contest, Central had nine chances from the charity stripe.

And Central canned eight of them, which gave the Vikings the game.

"We have not played well away from home," Northville coach Tim Lutes understated.

The Mustangs, in the last two years, are an impressive 16-4 in games played at Northville, but a dismal 7-16 away from home.

"We are just a different ball club on other people's floors," Lutes said.

"We had only one foul shot, but that isn't what cost us the game. We didn't deserve to win. In clutch situations, when we really needed baskets, we threw the ball away. We had six or seven bad passes. If we could have scored six points from those, we'd have won," he said.

An example of what Lutes was talking about came in the closing seconds of the game.

With 27 seconds to go, Northville called a time out. Central had the ball. Lutes drew up an intricate plan that worked. Central was called for charging. The Mustangs regained possession of the ball.

Northville promptly brought it down court and tried to set up for a shot, but Central forced the Mustangs to go back over the mid-court line (over-and-back), thus turning the ball over to Central.

Northville drew an offensive foul against Central on the inbounds pass, thus giving Northville another crack at the basket with just seconds remaining.

The team ran a play and Gary Kucher went up with the ball for a lay-up that went in. But the buzzer had sounded just as he received the pass, so his basket didn't count.

Even with the loss, Northville finished its best season since 1975 (20-2).

The one thing Lutes needs for his squad next season is some size. He will be losing the services of 6-4 Wagner, 6-0 Craig Wisbiski, and guards Gans and Bob Crisan.

In return he will get seven promising players from the JV squad.

Doug Eaker (6-2), Tim Wagner (6-1), and Steve Handley (6-0) are still growing while Dave Malinowski, Tim McLaughlin, Willie Newman and Rod Kurzawa shoot like they have radar for eyes.

Lutes is cautiously optimistic.

"The potential is there for a very good season," he said. "Not just a 12-9 one. But you have to really work at it. We're going to have a good summer program and, hopefully, some of these guys will grow."

WALLED LAKE CENTRAL 43 NORTHVILLE 41

NORTHVILLE: Ward 9 1-1 19; Wagner 8 0-0 16; Greer 2 0-0 4; Kucher 0 0-0 0; Swayne 0 0-0 0; Gans 10-0 2. Totals: 20 1-14.

WALLED LAKE CENTRAL: Ginster 11-23; Sables 20-14; Hill 4-0-28; Phelps 4 1-2 9; Wheeler 4 6-8 14; Braden 2 1-2 5. Totals: 17 9-8 43.

Tankers second at League

The Northville varsity swim team turned its lackluster season around last weekend and raced to a second-place finish at the Western Six Conference meet.

Northville tallied 277 points, topping both Livonia Churchill (210) and Farmington Harrison (177). Powerful Plymouth Canton won the affair with a team total of 386 points.

Mustang Tony Nader qualified for upcoming state competition by beating the qualifying time (1:04.4) in the 100 breaststroke with a 1:04.3.

Northville also qualified all four of its varsity divers for regional competition (held last night, results not available).

Paul Cooper repeated as Western Six diving champion with a total of 341.35 points. His total was more than 40

IDEALINES

By Jim Haynes

Woody not Sportsman

I'm finally growing up. It has to be. That's the only way I can explain this feeling I have.

Like any other young person, I get an uncomfortable knot in my being when an "oldster" starts complaining about how the fabric of today's society is coming apart at the seams.

About how America is falling apart because we don't stick to ideals anymore. Today's youth are all hedonistic rebels, they say.

It was a lot better in the old days, I hear. Ideals. That's the key to America's salvation. Instill some of the old ideals in today's youth and we may just survive the omnipresent threat of communism and personal hygiene commercials on tv.

Hmmm. Ideals. Like sportsmanship, you mean? Yes, that's one of them, I'm told.

And with the emphasis on sports what it is in 1980, sportsmanship is probably one of the more important ideals.

You see, I think I'm growing up because instead of that uncomfortable feeling, I'm starting to agree with this "ideals" logic.

And the ideal of sportsmanship is important. That's why I'm writing this column. I have an "America is failing because of its lack of ideals" message of my own to deliver.

Sportsmanship means to me the ideal of fair play, of gracious losing and gracious winning, of honor.

Woody Hayes was not a good sportsman.

He was a coach who enjoyed, thrived on and demanded power. His actions on the field, especially toward the end of his long career, were more like the antics of a spoiled child than that of a hallowed mentor.

Woody Hayes is as far from my ideal of a good sportsman as Richard Nixon is from my ideal of a good president.

Yet many of those from Northville who belong to the generation which has hounded mine for our lack of ideals recently honored Woody Hayes for his good sportsmanship.

Talk about a lack of role models.

If the youth of America ever are going to have any direction, please get your act together, older generation.

On Friday, the Meadowbrook Country Club held its annual Sportsman's Night.

Golf champion Pete Green was honored as Sportsman of the Year.

But that was just a sideshow, enacted in order to have the opportunity to see, to listen to, to bask in the presence of one of the most unsportsman-like people in America.

Woody was just the special guest speaker, so technically didn't qualify for the title of sportsman. But in essence the Meadowbrook Club considered him sportsman enough to be the real guest of honor, all regards to Green aside.

Why the beef? Why not just succumb to star-phobia like everyone else. I mean, my god, WOODY HAYES. He is one of the most successful coaches in history. He is famous. Let's go Merle, we actually can be in the same room as someone famous.

It's to the point where even those who espouse ideals are now falling prey to the lure of fame, the aura of television-created heroes. Or should I say anti-heroes.

My point, I guess, is this. If Meadowbrook had had Al Kaline or Gordie Howe speaking, someone who really stands for sportsmanship, or at least makes the attempt to seem as if he does, someone with class and honor, it would have been okay.

But it seems so hypocritical to have camera-smashing, media-mulching, temper-tantruming Woody Hayes be honored as a sportsman.

It could only happen in America. I bet it's little things like this that make Charlie Manson feel secure. At least he knows that if he is ever paroled, he can earn a living on the guest speaker circuit.

People really don't care who you are or what you stand for, so long as you're a celebrity.

YOUR FIRST STEP TO ENERGY SAVINGS

A FREE COMPUTERIZED HOME ENERGY EFFICIENCY ANALYSIS

Hard to believe but Michigan's hot and humid summer is just around the corner. So lots of people are starting to think about air conditioning. If that's you, we've got good news. It's called the General Electric Plus One System—a technological advance that can reduce your energy cost year round. By how much? That depends on your particular home. But we'll give you an accurate estimate with a computerized analysis of your energy consumption. All you have to do is phone in data on your home, such as make and model of your furnace, percentage of glass exposure and so forth. Or, if it's more convenient, we'll send out a D & G heating and cooling specialist to get the figures together. No charge or obligation, of course. Want more information? That's easy too. Just phone or mail in the coupon below. You'll like what you learn.

John Werth is Syracuse bound

Broderick on to state gymnast meet

Sophomore gymnastics ace Paula Broderick qualified for state competition last weekend as she took third in the balance beam and tied for sixth on floor exercise at the regional meet.

Broderick and three other Mustang gymnasts represented Northville at the contest, held last Saturday at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School.

Northville finished ninth in a field of 11 full teams and 14 teams represented by one or more gymnasts.

Amy Missel scored a 7.0 on the beam, a 6.55 on the vault, and a 6.85 in the floor exercise. This was the senior's last meet as a Mustang.

Hollie Raycraft earned a 6.95 on the beam, a 5.8 on the uneven bars, and a 6.7 on the floor exercise.

Anita Hodge tallied a 6.45 on the uneven bars and a 6.2 on the vault.

Both Hodge and Raycraft are juniors and will return to the Mustang lineup next season.

Broderick notched a 7.05 on the uneven bars and 7.65 on the vault to round out her performance.

The state meet will take place at Grand Rapids East Kentwood High School this Friday and Saturday. It is the site for both the boys and the girls state gymnastics competition.

"We were through the first three events (beam, bars and vault) fairly quickly," coach Jack Townsley said. "But there was a long wait to the fourth (floor ex.) and I think we lost momentum in the delay. I think we might have done a little better if we had kept rolling along."

"They did as well as they have done all year," he added. "It was a good experience for them."

Syracuse signs Werth

Northville's John Werth has signed a national letter of intent to play football at Syracuse University.

The 6-5, 240-pound Werth attended Reford St. Agatha where he played offensive and defensive tackle. He also performed as the team's kicking specialist.

Werth will play defensive end at Syracuse. He was an all-league and all-Catholic performer for St. Agatha.

Werth, of 19665 Meadowbrook, will pursue a degree in either Communications or Hotel and Restaurant Management.

He joins a Syracuse team that finished 7-5 last season and won the Independence Bowl. Frank Maloney and Denny Fitzgerald, both of whom received coaching experience under Bump Elliot at the University of Michigan, are the Syracuse coaches who recruited Werth.

Open Gym closed on two Saturdays

There will be no Open Gym at the rec department on Saturday, March 15 and Saturday, March 29.

Men's and women's adult softball registration for returning teams will take place Monday, March 17 through 5 p.m. Friday, March 21. Registration for new teams will take place Monday, March 24 through 5 p.m. Friday, March 28.

Diplomats will take on Northville team

Diplomats to perform

Basketball's internationally famous Harlem Diplomats will play a combined Northville faculty-alumni squad on Tuesday, March 18 at 7:30. The game will be at the Northville High School gym.

The Diplomats, from Canada, have recently played in Mexico, Jamaica, Nassau, Brazil and Venezuela.

The team features an array of basketball comedians. They are led by the hilarious playing Goose Jr., who is ably supported by the very colorful playing Frank Starks and 6-8 Andre Hampton.

The Diplomats will present basketball's most spectacular magic circle. Part of this unique circle is done in darkness; the only visible objects are the shoes and a glowing basketball.

Along with Harry Brown of Oklahoma University and John Taylor of Arkansas A and M College the team has one of the greatest group of razzle-dazzle ball handlers ever assembled.

The game is sponsored by and for the benefit of the Northville High School basketball program.

OLV cagers win consolation honors

Our Lady of Victory's fifth and sixth grade boys' basketball team saved its best for last as the Cougars won the consolation bracket of the fourth annual Our Lady of Refuge Invitational Tournament last week. Northville downed the host Ravens 50-39 Sunday.

The Cougars opened the week-long tourney by dropping a 38-37 squeaker to Birmingham Holy Name. On Wednesday they blitzed Pontiac St.

Benedicts 44-26 to set up the championship game.

Sean McLaughlin

poured in 14 of his game high 18 points during the second half surge to pace the Cougars.

McLaughlin was outstanding on the boards as he grabbed 20 rebounds.

Ward is All-W6 choice

Dave Ward was named to the first-team All-Western Six Conference squad last week.

Ward, a 6-6 center, was the only junior and the only Mustang to be chosen on the first two teams.

Mike Wagner, a 6-4 forward, was an honorable mention selection for Northville.

Tom Schaefer, 6-2 forward from Waterford Mott; Dave Visser, 6-5 forward from Plymouth Canton; Brian Burgess, 6-3 forward from Farmington Harrison; and Brian Kierst, 6-2 forward from Livonia Churchill round out the first squad.

Scott Adler (Plymouth Canton), Brad Westin (Plymouth Canton), Kieth Hart (Waterford Mott), Dave Miller (Waterford Mott) and Scott Parrish (Walled Lake Western) were named to the second team.

FOR $1.50 A DAY, YOU COULD BUY A MODEST LUNCH OR DRIVE YOUR CAR A SHORT DISTANCE.

OR HEAT THIS ENTIRE HOME.

You know the cost of natural gas has gone up in recent years because you've been paying for it. Nevertheless, the cost of heating your home with natural gas is still reasonable.

This is a fairly typical three-bedroom house in Michigan: 1,200 square feet of comfortable living space. Yet the cost of heating this entire home averages out to only about $1.50 per winter day. For that same amount of money, you can hardly drive your car to and from work each day or buy a meal at a fast-food restaurant.

Yes, the cost of natural gas has increased in recent years. But, heating homes, cooking meals and warming water with natural gas uses less of the average family's spendable income now than it did 20 years ago.

Consumers Power Company is trying to keep it that way by using natural gas resources wisely. You can help, too, by being wise about the way you use natural gas in your home.

No energy is cheap today. But, when you think about how much work natural gas does for you, you'll know you're getting your money's worth.

NATURAL GAS. It's still a good buy.
