Township rejects rezoning for Six Mile-Sheldon center

By KEN KOVACS

Loud applause greeted the ears of township trustees in the packed township hall Thursday night following the board's unanimous decision to deny the request for commercial zoning at Six Mile and Sheldon.

Many of the some 50 residents who spoke during the discussion — which lasted almost two hours — also received applause following their statements opposing any commercial development on Six Mile.

But at times the audience was divided, half opposing commercial at Six and Sheldon and the remainder opposing commercial development at Six and Winchester.

The board also approved — by a 4-3 vote — the planning commission's recommendation to rezone some 13 acres of land at Six Mile and Winchester from B-2 (general business) to OS-1 (office service).

Spokesmen for the Elro Corporation, owners of the property at Six and Sheldon and the majority of the land at Six and Winchester, firmly stated there would be commercial development at one location.

The Orley family, represented by Graham Orley and son Jeffrey, has owned the property at the Winchester site for more than 10 years.

"Six and Winchester is zoned commercial," the senior Orley said. "We only want one commercial site. But they both cannot be single family."

"We have vested rights at Six and Winchester and it (commercial development) is going to come in spite of any of us," he continued.

"We have turned down commercial offers for the Winchester property, waiting to see which location the township preferred. The master plan indicates commercial at Six and Sheldon."

A number of residents expressed a concern that commercial could be developed at both locations, if the board did not specify one or the other.

"What is the total plan on Six Mile?" inquired resident Ralph Handley. "I have a fear that we could get two commercial areas if Six and Sheldon is okayed."

The size of the proposed commercial area at Six and Sheldon also has been a major consideration both by planners and township trustees.

Prior to the vote on the Six and Sheldon request, Trustee John Swienkowski addressed this concern.

"I have a problem with the concept of a convenience center of 16.38 acres," he began. "A convenience center does not require 16 acres in my opinion."

"The master plan is based on a lot of time and professional advice and if you destroy your master plan your community is going to lose control," he said.

"I have no problem with the planning commission's recommendation and no problem with the master plan designations. But I cannot vote for a 16-acre convenience center."

"If it came in with a six-acre proposal I could be in favor of it," he concluded.

Township trustees have discussed the possibility of purchasing a portion of the Winchester property for possible

Saturday's flag-raising party was well-attended

His keen patriotism flutters in breeze

By KEN KOVACS

"When I do something I wait 'til I have the money to do it right."

Township resident Don Williams isn't just whistling Dixie when he says he goes all out.

It is evident in his work, in his home and in his new 65-foot flag pole.

A Navy-man during World War II, Williams said he got a real thrill out of seeing the flag raised each morning.

"In the back of my mind I still can see a flag fluttering in the breeze. It was always pretty."

Don and his wife had about 100 people attend the flag raising ceremony at their home at 4185 Sunnydale Lane Saturday, which, appropriately enough, was Flag Day.

The Northville High School Jazz Band played the Star Spangled Banner as Dearborn attorney and amateur tenor Clive Summers provided the vocals.

Prior to the flag-raising, the Reverend Carl Grathwohl of Plymouth said a prayer.

The guests then were treated to dinner and refreshments.

A 12 by 18-foot flag will wave atop the aluminum pole daily, while on national holidays the larger 15 by 25-footer will be flown.

"We tried to get a bigger one but it just couldn't be found anywhere in the United States," the electrical contractor says. "We would have had to have it specially made."

The total project, including installation, pole, flags and other equipment cost more than $5,000, Williams says.

But to him it is worth every penny.

"I guess it is patriotism," he explains. "I feel not enough people see the flag and recognize what it really stands for."

"I want to fly it for respect and for what it symbolizes as well as for the beauty of it," he continues. "It is also to remember some of the men who were killed in the Navy. I think of them a lot."

Joint building department ends

Northville City and Northville Township have ended a long-time sharing of building department-inspection services.

Northville Township trustees opted to cancel the joint building department contract by a 6-1 vote at their meeting Thursday. Lee Holland cast the lone dissenting vote.

Troy Milligan, who served as building inspector for both communities, will serve only the township when the contract officially ends in July.

Northville City Council received verbal notification of the action at its meeting Monday. At the suggestion of City Manager Steve Walters, the council unanimously took action itself to terminate the joint agreement, making the action effective July 31.

The city action followed after Councilmember J. Burton DeRusha ascertained from Walters that there were no assets involved in the termination.

Councilmember Carolann Ayers commented that "the city has different regulations from the township as it is dealing with old rather than new buildings, primarily."

Walters acknowledged what long has been known in the situation, "there has been a friction existing with the shared services" that now should be eliminated.

Walters told the council he will have cost estimates to contract general building inspection and perhaps continuing with the present plumbing and electrical inspectors by the July 7 meeting.

Milligan last week told trustees he had problems enforcing proper building codes on some older structures in the city and that his job was becoming increasingly more difficult.

"When we were called in to make an inspection of the Old Mill for the liquor license and the city didn't even address the problems," he told trustees at a meeting last week.

Supervisor Don Thomson wholeheartedly supported Trustee James Nowka's motion.

"I would like to see Mr. Milligan work solely for the township," he suggested. "It's a whole different ball game (in the city)."

"For the two hours a day he spends in the city, I would rather see him spend it in the township."

According to the contract, the city or township can bow out at any time, the contract ending 30 days after notification to the other community.

'Our voices will be heard'

322 get diplomas here

By KEVIN WILSON

Northville High School sent its first class of the 1980s into the adult world Monday night as 322 seniors received diplomas in the school's 111th commencement exercises.

The graduates marched onto the football field at 7 p.m. to the traditional strains of the school band playing Pomp and Circumstance accompanied by cheers and applause supplied by a grandstand full of parents, friends and relatives.

Following the national anthem, and some confusion on the part of male graduates as to whether caps should be doffed for the song (they were not), the Reverend Ronald D. Thurner, pastor of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church, delivered the invocation.

Principal George Aune then introduced the salutatorian of the class of 1980, David Vallance, to present the salutatorian.

Vallance, suitably, chose education as a topic for his address. Education, he told his classmates, is the basis upon which a productive life is built, but it is only the basis.

He emphasized the need for the graduates to continue to learn and grow throughout life.

"It is not necessary that we end up in the history books," the second-ranking class member said. "The most productive members of society, known as the common people, frequently go unnoticed."

Vallance's remarks were followed by those of co-valedictorians Connie Mao and Nancy Joslin.

Mao made reference to a concern shared by all three speakers: that their entrance into the adult world comes at a time of economic and political strife world-wide.

As did Vallance, Mao expressed hopes that the class of 1980 would rise to challenge.

"Our voices will now be heard," she said. "The fate of the world is in our hands. The doors of NHS, which have protected us for so long, have now opened."

Joslin, though emphasizing the individual growth of each member of the class, returned to the same theme.

"Many people have influenced us in the past...and many others will influence us throughout our lives," she said. "Now it is our turn to have our own influence on the world."

Joslin, noting that gifts often are presented to graduates, granted some of her own. She wished the class health, love, happiness and laughter.

"Foreign Farewells" were delivered by two foreign exchange students at the school: Anna Jooste, who arrived from South Africa in February; and Cornelia Panneck of West Germany, who concludes a near year-long stay in America next month.

Both recounted their confusion during their initial adjustments to American life. Both had high praise for the help and friendship they have found here.

Jooste said everything is upside down here in comparison to her country. Faucets, toilet handles and door knobs are either on the wrong side or turn backwards she said.

Driving on the "wrong side" of the road and walking on the wrong side of the hall also were big adjustments.

She also told the audience of her country's vast mineral resources and contrasted the strict discipline and dress codes of the school systems to guffaws from the class.

Panneck said her adjustment is almost complete; she can no longer imagine life without cheerleaders, football games (which she once thought unimportant) or a national anthem (which Germany does not have).

Aune then presented the class, certifying that each had concluded the requirements for graduation set by the school board. He also called for special thanks to parents, grandparents and the school faculty.

Superintendent Lawrence Nichols accepted the class, congratulating them. He also introduced Karen Wilkinson and Marjorie Sliger, president and vice president, respectively, of the board of education, noting that Sliger will soon conclude her tenure.

Aune's announcement that they would now begin awarding diplomas was greeted by raucous cheers from the previously patient graduates.

One-by-one each of the 322 graduates marched to the reviewing stand to accept diplomas as the sun settled lower and lower over the scoreboard.

Shouting congratulations and encouragement to each other, the graduates accepted congratulations from those on the reviewing stand.

Students frequently paused on their

WILSON FUNK will be showing some of his slides of Northville, featuring especially those of earlier years, in the Northville City Council chambers at 8 p.m. Monday. All interested are welcome to attend, says City Manager Steven Walters, who points out they will show changes that have occurred over the years.

FIRST SUMMER band concert of the season will be given by Northville Community Band from 3-4 p.m. this Sunday in Mill Race Historical Village under sponsorship of Northville Historical Society. The free concert will be presented in the area by the gazebo, but Jane Francoeur, band spokesperson, says with 50 members the band may not fit into the gazebo. Mill Race buildings will be open with docents on duty to give tours from 1-4 p.m. Sunday — officially the first weekend of summer 1980.

HORSE-DRAWN carriage rides will be an attraction on Northville Farmers' Market Day beginning next month. Children and adults will be able to ride the buckboard owned by Ken Gerwick through the historical district on Thursdays for a small fee. City council approved the request by the chamber of commerce Monday, noting that the driver has agreed to "clean up" after the horses. The chamber expects the market will begin the second week in July in the Main Street parking lot across from the Marquis.

POM PON GIRLS from Northville High will be waving wash cloths — not pom poms — this Saturday at a fund-raising car wash in the Main Street parking lot opposite Northville Square to raise funds to help pay expenses for summer camp at Albion College. The event was approved Monday by city council. It will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Rain date will be June 28.

Jaycees prepare 'spectacular' Independence Day fest

Fourth of July, 1980, promises to be the biggest ever celebration for the entire Northville community, outdoing even the Bicentennial's.

Preceding the annual parade at 10 a.m. under sponsorship of the Northville Jaycees, will be a new event, a garden tractor race sponsored by the chamber of commerce.

John Carlo, executive manager of Northville Downs, will serve as parade marshal, heading the parade in colorful style flanked by two jockeys in full dress.

John M. Stilson, Jaycee chairman for the Fourth, still is waiting to hear from Lansing in response to the Jaycees' invitation to Governor William Milliken to attend the festivities, as he has done in the past.

At its meeting last Thursday the township donated $1,000 to help with expenses.

The city matched the sum Monday with the council praising the efforts of the Jaycees. Mayor Paul Vernon suggested that perhaps the amount could be increased next year as he noted the Jaycees' projected cost this year is $8,500.

Stilson said costs are up but that the Jaycees intend to keep prices the same as last year for the chicken barbecue in the Mill Race following the parade.

In event of rain, the parade will continue but Mill Race festivities are expected to be postponed to the Saturday or Sunday. Northville Historical Society is in charge of other Mill Race events for the day.

Stilson told the city council that they are seeking more floats for this year's parade and have reservations already from the League of Women Voters, Highland Lakes subdivision, two real estate firms, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts.

General theme will be "I Love Northville."

Mill Race festivities will continue throughout the day with concerts and buildings open.

The Jaycees, who have sponsored the July 4 celebrations since 1961, revealed they are planning "spectacular fireworks" to conclude the day.

They will be set off from the high school hill. Councilmember J. Burton DeRusha, commenting on the crowds that gather along Eight Mile for the display, said this is an attraction for which the community is becoming known, drawing visitors from some distance.

Another chamber of commerce feature will be horse-drawn carriage rides given by Ken Gerwick from the food area of the Mill Race on the Fourth.

This year's parade route will be the same as the 1979 parade, departing from Northville Downs from Beal and Griswold to Main Street. It will turn south on Rogers to Cady to Wing and then on Fairbrook back to the downs.

Stilson requested council to block off Griswold for the festivities but was told the city can not do so on a county road that is the truck route. It was agreed that flashers would be set along the street as warnings.

Rounding out events will be a bicycle decorating contest, watermelon eating competition, a dunk tank and log roll at the Mill Race, a mini-marathon run to Plymouth, a flea market and — hopefully — an Independence Day of sunshine.

Four file for August 5 vote

County charter change suit denied

By KEVIN WILSON

Four area residents have filed for election to the Wayne County Charter Commission representing the 19th District but whether the ballot question that would create such a commission will appear as scheduled in the August 5 primary is still a matter for debate.

The charter commission would be charged with drawing up a new county charter to reorganize Wayne County government, perhaps including an elected executive or appointed administrator to lead the recently troubled body.

But a group of western Wayne County communities has banded together in a suit against the county apportionment commission trying to force the use of 1980 census figures in determining districts from which charter commissioners would be selected.

Northville is a member of the Wayne County Communities for Equal Representation, which lodged the suit.

The group is financed by a per capita contribution from each member government.

The suit asked that the court force use of the 1980 figures, arguing that western Wayne County residents would be denied equal representation under the "one-man, one-vote" principal due to population shifts since the earlier census.

The group got a temporary restraining order to prevent the county clerk and treasurer from preparing for the August 5 ballot.

That order was lifted Monday at a hearing before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Susan D. Borman, who dismissed the suit because she had no jurisdiction over the matter.

Borman ruled that the community group could not appeal the substance of the apportionment plan because the mandated 30-day appeal period is long since expired.

The group's attorney said he would appeal Borman's decision.

Judge Borman also ordered that the apportionment commission refile the 1972 apportionment plan based on the 1970 census. A state attorney general opinion states that the 1972 plan is operational until 1980.

Since, however, no 1980 census figures are available yet, and the 1972 plan apparently has expired, Borman ordered that the old plan be refilled.

County Clerk James Killeen said Borman's order will open the door for further action by the community organization.

It will create a new 30-day appeal period, which he said he expects the community group will use to gain another restraining order.

Killeen said he expects enough preliminary work can be done before new restraints are issued to prepare the ballot for use in the event the apportionment commission's decision to use 1970 figures is upheld in the higher courts.

If the question appears as scheduled, voters will be asked if they approve of the concept of a new county charter. They also would select commissioner candidates in a primary.

In the 19th District, which includes Northville, voters would be given a choice of four candidates — two Republicans and two Democrats.

The winners from each primary contest would face off in November.

The Republican primary contest would be between Ethelyn Banks and Francis Arbanas of Livonia.

Contending for the Democratic nomination would be Walter E. Schemanski and Marvin R. Stempien of Livonia, once Northville city attorney.

High school schedules to be revised next year

By KEVIN WILSON

In a move designed to "tighten the ship" Northville school administrators are developing a revised organizational plan for class scheduling at Northville High School.

George Aune, principal at the school, and Lawrence Nichols, superintendent, told the board of education at its regular June 9 meeting that they plan to reduce the length of the school day from seven periods to six and shorten the lunch period effective in the 1980-81 academic year.

The shift is intended to reduce vandalism and disciplinary problems at the high school.

"Most of the concern appears to resolve around flexible or unscheduled time in the students' day there," Trustee Christopher Johnson, chairman of the board's policy subcommittee said, introducing the discussion item.

He explained that the seven period day was instituted in the early '70s as a safety valve response to overcrowding at the school.

The current schedule includes an hour-long lunch period and most students also have at least one idle class period during the day.

The "open campus" policy also allows students to leave the school for lunch or during idle time, but few apparently do so.

Recent enrollment declines have alleviated the overcrowding condition and made it possible for all students to eat in the cafeteria.

"Excess time during the lunch hours seems to be at the core of some of the problems," Johnson said. "The majority of the vandalism is during that hour, and the major waste of time takes place during that hour."

The administrative response is to shorten the lunch period to 40 minutes and, since 68 percent of the students are enrolled in six courses, reduce the day to that length.

Aune told the board that two lunch periods would be scheduled back-to-back in such a way that wings of the school could be closed off to prevent students from wandering through vacant areas.

A computer will be used to arrange schedules for those students who are enrolled in only five courses, Aune said, so that their free period is either the first or last one of the day.

This arrangement, he said, will drastically reduce the number of students in the school with unstructured time.

Other alternatives to provide tighter controls, such as requiring all students to take six courses per semester or instituting study halls during the idle period, also were considered.

Each of those would require increased spending for teachers or supervisors, Nichols said, and will not be instituted unless stricter supervision seems necessary after the latest step has been in place for a year or two.

"Our goal is to tighten the ship on a stepped basis," Aune said. "Step one is the six-hour day with all our (class) offerings to remain the same."

Nichols said the item was on the board's agenda simply to keep it informed about administrative responses to current issues, and that, barring objection from the board, he planned to move forward with the plan.

Johnson said there are more detailed issues at hand, should the board choose to tackle them, concerning closed vs. open campuses and whether there is any value to including study halls in the curriculum.

Most board members seemed satisfied with the administrative recommendation that the six-hour day be adopted and further action be delayed until the results are evaluated.

"This would take us toward more control," Marjorie Sliger, board vice-president said, summing up the board opinion. "I am delighted with this idea."

Two from area graduate at MTU

Two Northville students were among more than 1,100 recipients of degrees from Michigan Technological University at recent commencement exercises, the school announced.

Shawn D. McFall earned a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering.

Robert B. Anderson received an associate of applied science degree in electrical engineering technology.

Commencement exercises at the Houghton, Michigan campus were May 17. Harold T. Shapiro, president of the University of Michigan, delivered the commencement address.

Police offer crime prevention tips

You can help stop crime in your neighborhood.

By learning the proper steps to take, citizens can help prevent crime and also assist police in catching burglars.

Operation Identification has been in effect in Northville Township for some eight years.

Upon request police will conduct a free home security survey and inform residents how to better secure their homes against burglars.

Residents also can have valuable items marked — with an engraver or a new transparent ink — so if they are stolen, they can be identified more easily.

Northville Jaycees recently provided to township police some of the marking pens, pamphlets and other materials needed for the program.

When the owner's license number is marked on an item the ink appears to fade away.

When the item is placed under an ultra-violet light, however, the marking is clearly visible.

Also available to a group of citizens are slide programs on burglary prevention and — for area businesses — frauds and bad checks.

The markings can only be seen under a black light

Board okays diplomas for special education

Northville High School special education students will be granted diplomas under a plan adopted in a 6-1 vote of the board of education at its regular meeting June 9.

With Trustee David Llewellyn lodging the only objection, the board approved an adjusted curriculum for special education students that leads to a high school diploma.

The adjusted program provides the students with support programs, instruction leading them toward adult independent living, prevocational and vocational training and, as much as possible, integrates them into the general program.

The move is designed to comply with Michigan law that requires both integration and special programming.

Llewellyn and Trustee Charles Peltz objected to the program when it was presented for a first reading at the May 27 reading.

Both board members expressed concern that the program's deletion of some requirements of the general education plan to allow inclusion of the special instruction would dilute the value of Northville High School diplomas.

The board packets for the June 9 meeting, however, included copies of all the applicable Michigan statutes the special education plan was designed to meet. Peltz said the additional information was sufficient to change his stance on the issue.

Peltz said he did not see that the board had any alternative to the plan while remaining in compliance with the law.

Llewellyn held to his position that diplomas earned under the special education plan should be distinguished from those resulting from the standard plan.

Most board members, however, were supportive of the plan in both its legal and philosophical implications.

"I think Mr. Peltz and Mr. Llewellyn raise substantive and valid concerns," Trustee Christopher Johnson said. "I just don't happen to agree with them."

High school principal George Aune said the amount of growth and learning he sees in the special education program is as great or greater than that in the regular program.

He said special education students are as deserving of diplomas as those in the regular program.

The program will be instituted in the next academic year.

Local student represents sorority

Tracy Webb, a 1978 graduate of Northville High School, will attend the national convention of Sigma Kappa sorority in Chicago June 26 to 30.

She is the president of the Epsilon Xi chapter of the sorority at Adrian College.

The convention, at Chicago O'Hare Marriott Hotel, will gather more than 500 collegiate and alumnae delegates to discuss sorority business and participate in workshops designed to promote leadership, sisterhood and development.

Tracy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Webb, who now live in Whitmore Lake.

Annex solution first need

Montessori lease delayed

Northville Montessori Center, which leases space from the Northville Public Schools, may have to start looking for another location soon, the board of education learned June 9.

Lynn Gall, directress of the center, told the board she needs a lease agreement soon in order to plan the next year of operation, but has been unable to acquire one.

Superintendent Lawrence Nichols explained that he could not grant a lease to any outside party until the district has resolved some of its problems regarding the use of class space.

The Montessori school currently leases one room in the old Main Street Elementary building, but Gall said program expansion this year has forced part of the operation into other quarters, and she expects to need three rooms next year.

Nichols said he could not grant a request for three rooms until some resolution is found to the state firemarshal's refusal to certify the Annex building for occupation.

The Annex has been remodeled to house the Institution's Special Education Program (ISEP), but the firemarshal is citing a firecode rule that would prevent handicapped students from using the structure.

Nichols reported that an informal meeting with state officials is scheduled June 24 at which he hopes to find an alternative to the firemarshal's decision that exterior doors must be available in every room housing a handicapped student.

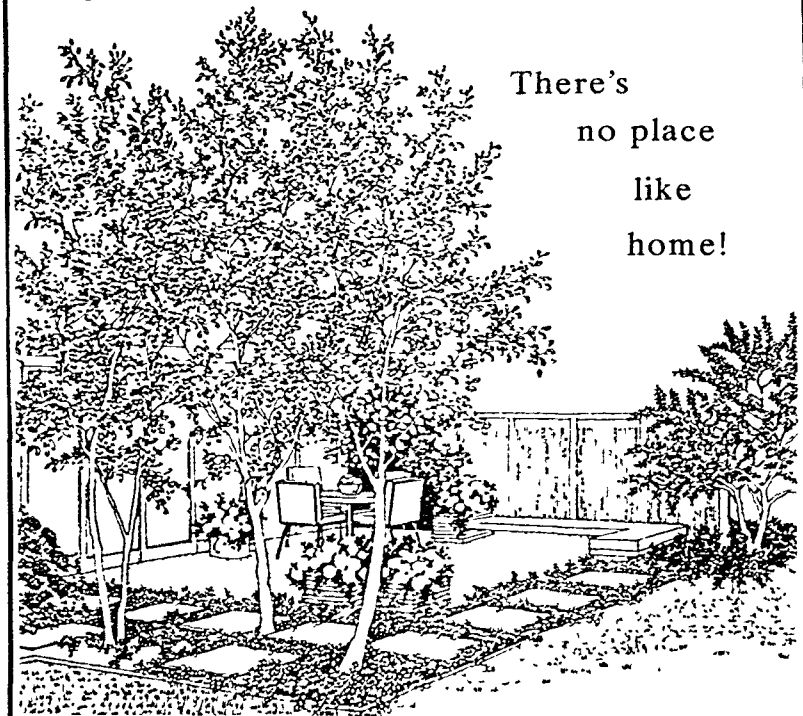

If the ISEP cannot move into its new quarters, Nichols said, the district may be cramped for space and unable to grant a lease to the Montessori Center.

Gall, however, told the board that if lease agreements are delayed much longer and the Annex is occupied the district could be faced with unleased surplus space because of the delay.

Most board members expressed sympathy to Gall's plea for a swift answer and Nichols said he could assure the program at least the single room it currently occupies.

Nichols also said a study is in process to delineate all the alternatives the district has for housing programs in the event that the Annex cannot be used for its intended purpose.

Barnes named to dean's list
at Notre Dame

Robert E. Barnes, Jr. was among the students named to the dean's list at the University of Notre Dame recently. The academic honor was conferred for his work in the pre-med curriculum.

Barnes was a sophomore student government representative and does volunteer work at South Bend Hospital. He is a 1978 graduate of Catholic Central High School.

Brother Dennis Barnes, meanwhile, was accumulating an academic record of his own that placed him on the dean's list at Hillsdale College.

Dennis is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity and vice-president of Acropolis, the school honor society. He is a 1979 graduate of Catholic Central High School.

Both attended Northville grade schools. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Barnes of 23041 Gilbar Drive, Novi.

Accompanying the Northville Rotary president was his wife Liz.

Among speakers at the convention was Dr. Albert Sabin, developer of the oral polio vaccine. Others were John W. Mellor, director of the International Food Policy Research Institute, and Rotary International President James L. Bomar, Jr., of Shelbyville, Tennessee.

Student 'Rag Tags' to march on Fourth

They've been calling themselves "Rag Tags." They're eighth through 12th graders who want to march in a band.

While almost 50 have signed up, about 38 or so have been turning out to practice Wednesdays and Thursdays from 3:4-3:30 p.m. in the high school parking lot.

The community will see them on the Fourth of July as the Northville Jaycees have accepted the volunteer marchers' application to play in the parade.

This coming weekend the marchers will make a first public appearance at the Highland Lakes subdivision's annual festivities.

"We're shaping up," says Steve Chisnell, a NHS junior, who with his brother, Randy, an eighth grader, actively has been promoting the Rag Tags with an assist from his mother, Zo Chisnell.

With a few more than a half-dozen students who have attended marching band camp, including Tom Rothermel, a junior, and with drummer Brian Buckmaster the band has been getting into motion.

"He's holding us together," Steve says of the drummer.

He and his mother are quick to explain that the formation of the band "is not a political thing" and that it has been cleared with school officials.

Steve says that the volunteer marchers have an independent spirit much like that of earlier Revolutionary marchers and are smarting from a community feeling that "band kids would rather put than play."

This is completely separate from school-sponsored activities, Mrs. Chisnell states.

"Ralph Redmond and Dr. Aune both were contacted and gave their permission for us to use the parking lot area to practice marching," she explains. (They are the high school assistant principal and principal).

Michael Rumbell (music director), she adds, is giving the band access to the school music library.

Since this is not a school-sanctioned band, it will not be wearing uniforms in the parade. Students plan to stick to blue pants as they march.

The volunteer band is composed of about half girls and half boys.

They're all marching because they really want to, says Mrs. Chisnell. They were not given an opportunity Memorial Day, she notes, and now are hoping they "look at least as good as the early-day marchers from whom they took their name."

When the high school band was asked to march in the Memorial Day parade, the Northville High band administrator declined because the band had not had marching experience. It will go to band camp this summer.

The Rag Tags are students who do not want to wait; so they're shaping up and asking, "May we march in your parade?"

Students not signed up who would like to participate are asked to call Mrs. Chisnell, 349-3121, or Jane Francoeur, 349-8242.

Mrs. Francoeur has been working with the Northville Community Band, which is practicing at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays at Cooke Junior High through July. She points out, however, that this is not a marching but a concert group.

Volunteer are welcome here, too. The band plans four summer concerts, beginning with the first Sunday in Mill Race Village from 3-4 p.m.

Both music-makers promise a tuneful summer for the community.

Seniors get own clinic
at Terrace

A special blood pressure clinic, co-sponsored by the Northville Police Department and Allen Terrace, will be held at Allen Terrace on Wednesday, June 25 for senior citizens living in the apartment complex.

Officer J. L. Marks is in charge of the program.

Blood pressure equipment was purchased by the city.

According to Marks, senior citizens will be acquainted with the blood pressure procedure and taught how to interpret readings. In addition, each will be given a blood pressure reading.

"Eventually, we hope to make this an on-going program at Allen Terrace," said Marks, "perhaps later involving other community groups."

Marks also is in charge of the city's CPR community training program, which supplements the program with an instructional orientation film donated by the Northville Kiwanis Club.

Forms revised

New teacher evaluation process set

Northville public school teachers will be evaluated under new procedures next year, the board of education learned June 9.

Burton S. Knighton, director of personnel for the district, showed the board new evaluation forms developed by a joint committee of school administrators and Northville Education Association (NEA) teachers.

Knighton said the committee was formed last fall and has been meeting every two weeks since January developing the form.

He said union representatives were included in the preparation because administrators felt it "critical to develop an evaluation instrument acceptable to the teachers."

He said the evaluations would be more effective if teachers had a say in the form.

The new forms were developed after examining the strengths and weaknesses of the oft-criticized instrument used in the past.

The committee also examined the teacher evaluation systems used in other Detroit metropolitan area school districts.

The form identifies six major areas of teacher competency: Instructional performance, classroom management (environment), managerial performance, professional attributes, human relations, and professional growth.

Each area is divided into several specific expected behaviors and teachers are to be evaluated on a scale ranging from "unsatisfactory," through "needs improvement" and "effective," to "very effective."

In response to a question from the board, Knighton said instruction that will be provided to administrators who fill out the form will emphasize that the "very effective" category is only to be used for outstanding job performance.

Space for comments and recommendations is provided.

Knighton said other revisions to the evaluation program are being studied. Tenured teachers currently are evaluated every other year, probationary teachers must be evaluated at least twice during the probationary period.

Evaluations are conducted twice yearly, he said, once just prior to Thanksgiving and again in mid-February.

If a teacher enters the school system at some time other than at the beginning of the academic year, adjustment is made to make sure evaluations are neither too close nor far apart in time, he said.

One of the aspects of the evaluation procedure under study, Knighton said, is increasing the frequency of the evaluations. Some board members suggested that teachers might welcome more frequent feedback about their performance, even if it were not tied to whether they would receive or continue to receive tenure.

Board vice president Marjorie Sliger said that, as one who has been critical of the evaluation process in the past, she is pleased with the committee's work.

Board receives update on 1978 bond projects

A majority of school site, remodeling and renovation projects funded by a $1 million bond issuance in 1978 are either complete or in process, a report to the Northville board of education reveals.

More than $800,000 has been spent thus far the expenditure update shows. Various projects in the system were designated first, second or third priorities.

Most first priority projects, such as reroofing the high school, renovating the auditorium and locker rooms, etc., have been completed.

Installation of a ventilation system in the science area and re-keying the locks in the high school await completion. A $20,000 exterior lighting system for the school currently is being engineered and is scheduled for completion in October.

Other first priority items still in progress include emergency lighting and site improvement at Silver Springs Elementary School, lighting at Winchester elementary and improvement of parking facilities at Main Street elementary.

Of the second and third priority projects, the administration reported that it intends to do the following projects as soon as possible:

Upgrade the fire alarm systems at Cooke and Meads Mill Junior Highs for an estimated $6,000; resurface sidewalks at the high school, another $6,000 project; replace exterior doors at Amerman and Moraine, $10,000; complete paving at Cooke, Amerman, Winchester, Silver Springs and high school for $59,500; replace the fence, backstop, dugout and improve the site of the baseball field for $15,000.

Administrators also hope to enclose the south walkway at the high school for $25,000; re-key all buildings in the district, replace Cooke's cafeteria furniture and re-key both interior and exterior doors at Cooke.

Costs to enclose the high school walkway are being prepared to evaluate them in the priority system for expenditure.

Estimated expenditures for the near future total $133,700.

State Police Trooper Harry Norman of Reed City was among 17 persons honored at a recognition program June 4 at the training academy in Lansing.

HARRY NORMAN

Slate reunion

Norman, formerly stationed at the Northville post, was honored for his part in the rescue of a nine-year-old boy from a car that caught fire after a collision on the Jeffries Freeway in Livonia in February.

The boy's foot became caught inside the car and the officer entered the vehicle to help free it, sustaining burns on his hands, head and clothing.

Also honored was Doctor John A. Altland, long-time State Police medical director advisor, who has served in that capacity for more than 30 years.

The fortieth Novi school reunion will be Saturday, June 28 at Middle School North (Old Novi High School), 25549 Taft Road at 11 Mile.

Former students and faculty members are asked to invite others who qualify.

The reunion begins at 1 p.m. with luncheon planned for 2 p.m. Meat, coffee and tea will be furnished with the rest of the meal developed pot luck. Bring your own table serving and passing dish.

Six ISEP teachers face layoffs at end of year

Layoffs are in store for six teachers in Northville school's ISEP program at the end of this school year due to declining enrollment.

The reductions were approved unanimously by the board of education at its June 9 meeting.

The Institute's Special Education Program (ISEP) lost four teachers through attrition in the past year, but is still too large by five classrooms and one speech and language instructor.

Leonard Rezmierski, special education director, said the reductions are "bureaucratically mandated."

Recent legislative and court decisions, he said, have caused ISEP enrollment to decline as students are removed from the program for community placement and other alternative programs.

Rezmierski said enrollment is difficult to predict in the program because students awaiting community placement could leave at any time.

Richard Cross, personnel coordinator, said it is possible that some or all of the six teachers could be recalled, cautioning that persons laid off in the ISEP should not count on a recall.

"Frankly, we just don't know what's going to happen," Cross said. "We could have even more layoffs, or there could be hiring. It's just impossible to say what the situation will be."

No layoffs are foreseen in the K-12 program, superintendent Lawrence Nichols told the board.

Enrollment in the regular program is expected to decline by an estimated 100 to 125 students but retirements, resignations and sabbatical leaves should provide sufficient staff reductions without layoffs, he said.

Most of the enrollment decline will be at the elementary school level, Nichols added.

The ISEP layoffs will be effective in August. The six teachers were notified last week.

Township joins

Courthouse gets okay

Northville Township last week became the fourth community to enter into an agreement which will establish one courthouse for the 35th District Court.

Trustees voted unanimously June 12 to sign a resolution calling for the building of a courthouse in Plymouth to be used by the city and township of Northville, city and township of Plymouth and possibly the Township of Canton.

Canton Township is the only community in the 35th District which has not signed the agreement.

But Judge James Garber told the Northville Township board he is confident Canton also will participate in the single court.

"Two things have happened since I last spoke with you," Garber said. "Three of the five communities have adopted resolutions similar to the one before you and just this afternoon I found out that Canton Township is reconsidering joining the others."

"I wouldn't be surprised if in the next 30 to 60 days they adopt a similar resolution."

The City of Plymouth has offered to build the courthouse using pre-Headlee bond monies to pay for construction of the building on Plymouth Road east of Hillside Manor and across from Burroughs Corporation.

Under the agreement, Plymouth would rent the facility to the court for 25 years.

According to the resolution, lease payments would be paid to the City of Plymouth by the court as part of the court's annual operating budget.

If the revenues are not sufficient, local units will make up the difference up to an unspecified amount.

Residents fight multiple zoning request in township

By KEN KOVACS

Shouts of disapproval echoed from the township hall last week as some 50 residents spoke out against a petition to rezone from residential to multiple some 22 acres on the north side of Seven Mile, between Haggerty and Northville Road.

In Plymouth

Concerts to begin

The Plymouth Community Band summer concert series begins June 26. All concerts are Thursdays at Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth at 8 p.m. Each concert carries a different musical theme. This year's schedule is:

June 26 — Great Outdoors
July 3 — With Liberty and Justice (guest conductor George Cavender)
July 10 — Hit or Miss
July 17 — Winds Across the Sea
July 24 — Two on the Aisle
July 31 — Much King
All concerts are free and open to the public. Those attending are advised to bring lawn chairs or blankets for sitting on the lawn. The band is composed of amateur adult musicians who play "just for the fun of it." Carl Battischill, associate band director at Plymouth Centennial Education Park, serves as conductor.

"The owners (Fred and Edward Wilkiemeyer) understand that there will be some objection to multiples at this location," said John Thomas, the Wilkiemeyers' representative. "But I don't think economically it makes sense to make the Wilkiemeyers develop this property as single family." Area homeowners had other ideas. "I paid good money for my hill," one unidentified homeowner said. "I had no problem getting my house built. I don't see why there would be any problem here either." The revised Master Plan for Land Use shows the southern half of the parcel as multiple and rear (or northern) half as single-family residential. Currently, the total parcel is zoned single family residential, however. Thomas presented a plan of what the Wilkiemeyers propose to build if the rezoning is granted. But residents rejected the spokesman's presentation as meaningless. "If we keep this in current zoning we have no worry of what goes in there," said resident Ed Wild. "If it is rezoned we have no idea what might happen." John Becknell had similar thoughts.

"In Texas they say remember the Alamo. In Northville Township they say remember Gizynski." Gizynski, owner of a large land parcel just east of Wilkiemeyer's property, had proposed building a nursing home. Today Northridge Apartments stand on that property. The only persons voicing support for the rezoning proposal were Leon Bonner and John Sarceovich, who own property directly west of Wilkiemeyer's land. "I think multiple is a logical use of that property," Bonner said. "I feel that no one is going to build single family homes on Seven Mile at that location." Some residents fear that if Wilkiemeyer's request is approved surrounding land owners also will petition for multiple. "You are creating a ghetto of multiples," Karen McIntosh said. "I think you are changing the flavor of the entire area." The rezoning petition will appear on the agenda of the next planning commission meeting June 24.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS: Mr. Don York, speaking for Mrs. Braden, 454 Butler, asked about illegal dumping behind her house and the destruction of trees on the Ford Motor Company land.

Mayor Vernon mentioned that he, the City Manager, and the students on Student Law Day, walked behind Mrs. Braden's house and there was broken concrete and fill, dumped behind it. He wondered if there was a legal basis for action.

The City Manager commented that fill was not illegal but that perhaps it does not meet soil erosion laws. He mentioned discussing a draft of a letter with the City Attorney regarding this problem. The City Attorney suggested it be sent to the County Erosion Offices. The owners would be given a notice on Wednesday, June 4, to correct the problem within 30 days. He explained how the owners would have to satisfy the County.

Mrs. Braden stated she had no objections to her neighbor to the fill being done as long as it were neat but, it has been left in a very unsightly condition.

Councilwoman Ayers asked the owner's name of the property in question.

Mrs. Braden stated it was Mr. George Morrison.

Councilman Johnston asked if the Nuisance Ordinance would cover this.

The City Manager stated the Ordinance does not have as much effect as the County Soil Erosion Ordinance.

Councilman Johnston asked if there were any broken glass at the dump site.

Mrs. Braden mentioned that water heaters and all kinds of junk was being used as fill.

The City Manager commented her neighbor should finish his job according to the soil erosion laws and this could possibly deal with a health hazard if there are rats.

Mayor Vernon stated that being near a stream will be helpful from the soil erosion standpoint and assured Mrs. Braden that Council would do everything they could.

Mr. Paul Schelp, Lexington Caddis Board member, mentioned they would like to build a bridge across the creek which runs through their property and asked whose jurisdiction it would fall under, the County or City.

The City Manager mentioned the drainage ditch is a county drain and Mr. Schelp would have to get a permit through them and the City. He advised Mr. Schelp that it might hasten the process by applying to the County first, they will tell him how to construct the flood aspect of the project.

Mr. Cliff Shoebright, 303 Pennell, mentioned a crane parked in the same neighbors backyard. Mayor Vernon stated they would investigate it.

Mr. Shoebright mentioned there was a back hoe in the yard also.

Councilman DeRusha stated it has to be either covered or parked in a garage according to the Ordinance.

Mr. Shoebright remarked he had been to Council once before about this and he thought once the Ordinance was passed this would be taken care of.

The City Manager mentioned it could be counter-productive to have the man move the equipment until he finishes his project.

Mr. Shoebright asked if the man could build a house on the lot.

The City Manager commented that all he could build would be a residential size garage.

The City Attorney arrived at 8:30 p.m.

The City Manager explained the City Attorney had explained the landfill which he wanted the Attorney to review.

MONTHLY POLICE ACTIVITY REPORTS — MARCH Councilwoman Ayers asked about the two child neglect cases on this report and stated she had not noticed any on the report.

Chief Cannon responded there had been one a few weeks ago. He mentioned food was being provided for the children and a report was being done. He explained the nature of the case in question.

Mayor Vernon expressed concern about the fact that the CSO was serving more time on the desk.

Chief Cannon explained he had two dispatchers on the sick list, one was hospitalized for surgery and one with a heart condition. He stated the CSO would be on the desk more with the dispatcher with the heart condition replaced.

Mayor Vernon commented on the fairly successful bike lighting program conducted by the VWF. They were reasonably well pleased and have the commitment of the CSO to continue helping them.

Mayor Vernon complimented the Police Chief for another fine report.

PUBLIC HEARING-BUDGET The City Clerk read the notice as published.

Mayor Vernon opened the Public Hearing and asked for any questions from the audience, there being no response, he closed the Public Hearing and asked for comments Council.

Councilman Johnston asked the City Manager if he had anything additional to add or subtract from the budget.

The City Manager responded things remained as they were discussed in the budget sessions. He mentioned the economic climate seems to be stagnant and the budget will be tight. He also mentioned the union contract talks will determine whether there will be any layoffs.

Mayor Vernon commented the City is trying very hard to stay within the spirit of the Headlee and still provide services. He suggested if there were layoffs it would make a service a little better but the City would do their best to maintain services.

Councilman DeRusha mentioned the revenues to the City are really lower with the exception of the race track revenue, therefore the City will take up the increase in the property tax. He also remarked on the tightness of the budget.

The City Manager explained he was talking about the final payment on equipment which was purchased a year ago.

Councilman DeRusha asked if the new truck would be delivered this summer.

The City Manager answered in the affirmative.

Councilman DeRusha stated the City may have to make an adjustment in the work force after the first quarter.

Councilman Johnston stated the outcome of the negotiations with the Police Department. There is no room for playing around. The people he talks to are generally happy with the service and do not want anything cut. In their opinion, the City should provide services.

Mayor Vernon stated it would be difficult bargaining this year since the requests are more than the budget. He mentioned the budget reflects the hard work of all who worked on it.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Johnston to adopt the following 1980-81 Budget as presented and set the millage rate at 13.88 with an additional 1.50 mill for the Randolph Drain project and Federal Revenue Expenditures of $12,000 for Police Department Services and $22,000 for Fire Department Services.

PUBLIC HEARING — AMENDMENTS TO TITLE 5 CHAPTER 2, BICYCLE ORDINANCE The City Clerk read the notice of public hearing as published.

Mayor Vernon opened the public hearing and asked if anyone cared to be heard.

Mr. Douglas Boer, 439 Yerkes, asked what would be done with the bike funds. It was his suggestion the funds be used for providing bike trails in the City. He commented that with a one time registration there would be less pressure on the City.

The City Attorney responded that the license fee for bicycles was a one-time only charge, you do not have to come every year and pay $5. He commented the $1.00 fee would not cover the costs of handling this.

The City Manager stated you are talking $50 or $100 a year total.

Mr. Boer stated he was Chairman of the project bikeways and had not made much headway on this. He wanted to find out if there were any source of income from the funds. He asked if there was any possibility of raising the fees and suggested a certain amount for under 16 and another fee for adults.

Mayor Vernon remarked that regardless of how much, it would be an insignificant amount.

Mr. Boer mentioned the numbers of bike riders who are participating in the project and he is trying to increase participation to do some of the things they have in mind.

Councilman Johnston thought there was not enough money realized from this to help them.

Mayor Vernon stated he admired Mr. Boer's intent to improve safe bike trails in the City but he would have to look at some other way to raise money.

Kevin Hartshorne, 256 Grissold, asked if the purpose of this amendment was to increase the bike registrations. He mentioned the number of people who registered last year equaled the amount that registered on that one day.

Mayor Vernon explained when people register their bikes they get their license and reflectors.

Mayor Vernon closed the public hearing and asked for any discussion from Council.

Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman Johnston to adopt the Amendments to Title 5, Chapter 2, Bicycle Ordinance.

Motion Carried Unanimously

35th DISTRICT COURT: Mayor Vernon asked if there were any objections to moving this item up to be heard now. There were none.

Communication from Canton Township stating they had no objections to a unified district court house provided they are not asked to pay any of the operating or bonded indebtedness costs of the facility, however, they were willing to pay their fair share of expenses provided they are responsible for generating those expenses.

A resolution approving district court participation was in the packet.

Councilman Johnston stated the resolution was a result of several meetings and commented that Canton Township will not participate as of today.

Judge Garber, 35th District Judge, stated this was not irrevocable action. It was his understanding that the action on Canton Township's part was not unanimous. He explained the climate of the Township board could change after the election. He also mentioned the local citizens feel very strongly in favor of joining the other four communities, Northville and Northville Township, Plymouth and Plymouth Township. He remarked that three of the four communities are finding it very difficult to house the court including the City of Northville. He mentioned it appeared well within the four communities to build one shared court based on the revenues of the court.

Judge Garber stated there were three proposals for sites submitted, one on the corner of S.E. Joy Road/Morton Taylor, one on the NW corner of Haggerty and Joy and one on Plymouth Road east of the Hillside Inn.

He explained there were several ways to fund the building including Federal Funds. The City of Plymouth would build the building and rent it back, they also own the land. He explained Plymouth City has a pre-headline bond issue available to them.

Councilman Johnston explained it seemed to be a logical conclusion to accept the City of Plymouth's offer.

Mayor Vernon asked Councilman Johnston in working with the advisory court committee members, if the other areas were enthusiastic about this.

Councilman Johnston stated the two other communities are enthusiastic about it. He mentioned the Court would not be satisfied in fixing up the Scout Building in the City and felt the City were so much better off going to Plymouth. The Court still handle what Northville now handles he explained and thought it was the logical way to go.

Judge Garber explained how the revenues have gone up each year due to the increased enforcement of the expressways.

The City Attorney explained if the City does not join this the court will be faced with a situation where the Township of Plymouth and Northville will need a court of their own. There could be five separate courts.

Judge Garber stated both the City and Township of Plymouth have adopted this resolution.

Councilwoman Ayers asked if the financing would go along the lines the Judge indicated for the four communities until such time that Canton Twp would join.

Judge Garber agreed. He also mentioned he would like to see the advisory committee continue. They could oversee the budget, etc., and perhaps meet quarterly. He stated both he and Judge Davis are in agreement to continue this. They could draft by-laws, etc.

Councilwoman Ayers asked for a time frame.

Mayor Vernon thought they could start the groundwork in 60 days.

Mayor Vernon expressed concern over item No. 3 in the resolution also item No. 4 in both cases the amounts were blank.

The City Manager mentioned the payments would have to be equal.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Johnston to adopt a resolution approving district court participation.

Motion Carried Unanimously

ACCESS TO CITY'S No. 616 & 617: Communication from West & Sally Honrikson, 247 West Street, re permission to use High Street from Baseline as access and/or a driveway to their lots.

Mayor Vernon asked to extend an invitation to the Honriksons to attend the next meeting to discuss this.

The City Attorney mentioned there is a law suit by Leon Bonner against the City on vacating Walnut Street. He does not know what effect this will have on the lots.

The City Manager stated they should have access to a public street if the street is not open he cannot get a building permit.

Councilman DeRusha commented that if Mr. Honrikson wants to build a road they should probably be in favor of it.

The City Attorney thought they basically wanted to put in a driveway to the right-of-way.

Mayor Vernon directed the City Manager to reply to their letter and invite them to a Council meeting to discuss this.

This bill will appropriate funds this fiscal year which are necessary to reimburse local governments for the cost of conducting the presidential primary. Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Johnston to adopt the proclamation declaring June 25, 1980 "Alhambra Day" in Northville and grant permission to solicit for funds on Saturday, June 28, on the main streets of Northville subject to supervision of the Police Department and City Manager.

BIDS — "MAIN STREET 78" UNDERGROUND: The City Manager explained the bids had been received for the underground conduit and the expenses.

Availability of travel expenses funds shall not be considered as automatic authorization to attend annual conferences or conventions. Every travel activity shall be approved on its own merits based on a review of the program agenda and its usefulness to the City.

Whenever a training opportunity is offered at more than one location, the one closest to the City shall be selected.

Travel expenses shall be limited to those actually required to take advantage of the meeting or training activity, and shall not include entertainment or other incidental expenses.

If a travel activity includes any expenses which are being paid by private agencies or individuals rather than governmental agencies, such travel expenses shall be reported to the City Council, prior to the occurrence of such activity if possible.

Mayor Vernon explained the reasoning behind establishing the formal travel policy. He stated in agreement with an editorial in the Record which questioned the policy or lack of policy. He explained the trip he and Ted Mapes took as guests of Detroit Edison to Hendersonville, N.C. He stated they did not attend the banquet and did not go down for the social aspect. They were not being paid by the City to attend but by his company. He mentioned Nov's City Manager Knewell and their DPW Superintendent, Bruce Jerome were there.

Councilman Johnston commented this was not a trip authorized by the City Council since the DDA authorized the trip.

Mayor Vernon stated it was not a bono-doggle trip but provided a great deal of information on maintenance costs, lighting, and different types of lighting that were available. He stated it was not a promotion by GE but talking about types of lighting that are available anywhere. He explained the facility is the only one of its kind in the U.S. and it is a very high cost facility. He commented the DDA in the City of Northville have a sincere interest in the lighting program and they had a logical reason for being there.

Mayor Vernon stated the question raised by the editorial was a valid one and he asked the City Manager to come up with the City travel policy. He did not come to Council with the other trip since it was sanctioned by the DDA. For guidance in the future, Council might want to adopt a policy.

Councilman DeRusha commented that as long as he knows this has never been an issue, however he feels it is a good idea to adopt a policy. He mentioned he did not get the feeling from the article that Mayor Vernon's personal integrity was in question. He stated he did not think the City had been hurt because they did not have a policy.

Mayor Vernon stated the policy does not need Council's approval just that they be informed.

Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman DeRusha to adopt the City Travel Policy.

Motion Carried Unanimously

NON-RESIDENTIAL USER CHARGE: Communication from the City Engineer's office re non-residential user fee. James Penn attended a meeting of the Wayne County Board of Public Works where these charges were discussed. It was mentioned that a surcharge of 10¢ per 1,000 gals of water used must be passed on to the non-residential sewer customers. The surcharge cannot be absorbed by the general water fund. This is a Federal requirement and Federal funding for the City and Wayne County could be jeopardized if it is not billed directly to non-residential users. Eventually the charge will be more accurately divided between commercial and industrial users to exempt from the surcharge users such as offices, retail sales and others who do not contribute to excess pollutants. The surcharge must be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1980 and is to be paid by the normal sewage payments to the County.

The City Manager stated the City is not doing this now and he would have more details for the next Council meeting.

JET VACTOR Communication from Ted Mapes recommending that the City take bids on a sewer vactor at this time.

It was noted that two years ago they sold for $55,000 and are now worth $75,000 and there is a good chance the City can purchase a 1980 truck in stock, if it delays, all 1981 trucks have an 11% cost increase.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Ayers to accept bids per specifications for a sewer Jet Vactor.

MISCELLANEOUS Communication from Lee Holland re the payment due Northville Township of $32,190.72 and suggesting a meeting between the two communities as soon as possible. The money due the Township was paid to the City in 1979 by the Court over an 8-year period.

The City Manager stated the Township Board would meet and discuss it the evening. The City has proposed a two-year payback plan to the Township.

Ambulance quarters in township by August

Northville and Northville Township expect to have a locally based ambulance service on the grounds of the former Wayne County Training School at Five Mile and Sheldon by August. By unanimous action Northville City Council Monday approved appropriating $5,000, plus already allocated operating funds, to renovate the building for occupancy by Novi Ambulance Service. John T. Early, owner, urged the city to decide to go ahead, saying the location is central to both city and township. There have been "extreme problems," he said, because of having to dispatch the ambulance from Novi in emergencies.

Township Supervisor Donald Thomson said the township is satisfied with the location and will share equally in the renovation cost.

He told the council that it is not likely Wayne County will give a lease for the building, but that the township "is willing to take the gamble financially" to renovate the building to house two ambulances and provide live-in quarters in order to have the service.

The ambulance presently comes from Novi to answer Northville calls. Thomson indicated he does not feel Wayne County is likely to need the facility in the near-term. The major cost, he said, will be a new heating unit. The building has live-in quarters which will need renovation.

Thomson estimated the ambulance service could be in the building by the beginning of August, or at least by mid-August.

Under the city-township agreement the council was told Monday, the shared cost of renovation and operation would be $13,500, with the city and township each paying half.

Trustees promise to get building clean

By KEN KOVACS

It's an entertaining thought — township trustees with their sleeves rolled up washing walls at the former child development center.

Though the actual work likely will be done by part-time CETA employees, last week board members vowed that the building on the north side of Sheldon, currently used as a township fire station, would be cleaned up for use by Novi Ambulance, even if they had to do it themselves.

The clean-up job will include general washing down and probably some scraping and painting.

Trustees' promise came in the form of a motion following harsh criticism from John Early, operator of Novi Ambulance.

"We have been promised seven different sites during the past nine months and still don't have one," he stated. "We are asking that a time limit be given or the ambulance service will withdraw from the original contract."

"How do we provide service without having an ambulance facility in the community?" he said. "It doesn't seem that you people are concerned about the health of citizens of this community."

Currently, ambulance drivers must respond from their headquarters in Novi.

Both city and township have been seeking a location in Northville to house the ambulance vehicles so that injured persons could be reached more speedily.

A number of locations in the city have been proposed, but all have fallen through for various reasons.

The building on the grounds of the former child development center became available when the township asked for and was granted — though there is no lease — use of a county-owned building on the south side of Sheldon, which will house some of the township's firefighting equipment currently kept across the road.

In emphasizing his point that local ambulance quarters are needed immediately, Early referred to a recent incident which he said violated the ambulance agreement.

"We received a call from township police June 2 to respond to a serious foot injury to a child," he began. "The police officer decided to take the child to the hospital himself."

"The child was taken to a nearby hospital and had to be transferred to the U of M Hospital in Ann Arbor," Early said.

If the police car had waited for the ambulance, the child probably would have been taken directly to Ann Arbor, he said.

GOOD TIME FOR WINE
IT'S CUSTARD TIME — NOW OPEN

When planning how large your wine cellar should be, consider how much wine you normally drink and how long you will want it stored. If wines will have to be stored for a long time before they are ripe for drinking, a larger cellar will be needed than if young drinking wines are favored. Cabernet Sauvignon should be stored for about 12 years. Zinfandel and Pinot Noir for 6 years and most whites for two to four years. It is best to store wines, set aside for future drinking, in racks, while wines for current consumption can be kept in their shipping cases.

If you need help in planning a wine cellar, as well as suggestions on the type of wine to buy, be sure to talk to our highly knowledgeable people at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. You can save 10% on your wine by buying by the case, whether a mixed assortment or all of one kind. Hours: Mon thru Sat 9 a.m.-10 p.m., Sun Noon-6 p.m.

WINE WISDOM:
A good wine cellar will hold about a year's supply of wine at a time.

farewell, expressing hopes that each would attend class reunions. Father Thurner delivered the benediction and then, as caps flew into the air and a string of firecrackers exploded amid the class, the Northville High School Class of 1980 marched, ran and shouted into tomorrow.

. . . but stops for a party in medieval manner first

It was truly the perfect night for the Northville High School graduates who crowded into the school cafeteria for the traditional all-night party following commencement Monday.

Their parents had, once again, pulled out all the stops in planning the party and decorating the cafeteria.

The Camelot theme of the party was carried out to great length, including the name "The Perfect Knight."

The school was hardly recognizable as students entered down hallways lined with stone walls (cardboard, plastic, tape and judiciously-applied paint).

In the cafeteria itself party-goers were presented with medieval "weapons" constructed with paper, cardboard and rubber balls. Maces, swords, lances and other tools of siege were abundant.

A castle centerpiece, with stained glass windows and light beaming from within, was set at each table. Revelers ate at these tables from a menu including "shrimp a la moat" and "feudal fowl," not to mention "round table pizza."

A genuine boar's head, cooked to perfection by Schoolcraft culinary arts faculty member Dick Benson, was paraded in in true medieval fashion accompanied by trumpet fanfare and English Beefeaters.

It occupied a central spot on the long serving table, despite the occasional exclamation of "gross" or "how ugly."

Merlin the magician reigned in a splash of light in the courtyard, surrounded by immense candles.

In contrast to the surroundings, the electric sounds of five-member band Network drew the knights and ladies to the floor for dancing.

Organizers said hundreds of dollars in material and labor were donated by parents.

All the windows of the cafeteria were decorated, some with simulated stained glass appliques, others with well-crafted cut-out paintings of dragons, ladies in distress, castles and knights.

A large green dragon, with eight blue-jeaned legs, also roamed the room.

Party-goers ate, danced and joked through the night. The gymnasium and swimming pool were opened at 1 a.m. for those inclined to more active recreation.

Breakfast was served at 2 a.m. and the graduates drifted away from the old alma mater.

The Northville Record

Our opinions

6 votes spell voter apathy

Voter apathy often is excused with the comment, "What difference would my vote have made, anyway?"

In Northville's June 16 election for two school board posts six votes could have changed the result. Gerald Munro won the second seat by five votes over Ronald Barnum. Incumbent Christopher Johnson received 427 votes, a clear approval of his performance. Munro received 185 votes while Barnum garnered 180. Both men, fortunately, had assets in education and experience to bring to the board post.

The point is that 547 voters, less than four percent of the district's 15,014 registered electorate, chose the two men who will serve the school district for the next four years. It seems less than fair for those elected to be criticized by those who do not take time to go to the polls.

Granted, this was an election without a millage request or any other issue on the ballot. But at grass roots level it proves that every vote does count.

Veto justified

State Senator R. Robert Geake, who urges other senators to support public strike legislation as he does (see his column on the opposite page), suggests safeguards exist within the proposed legislation to reduce the numbers and lengths of teacher strikes.

What Geake and other proponents fail to tell their constituents, however, is that strikes can occur during most of September without penalties for either teachers or the school district. Unlike the private sector, in which strikers lose wages and management loses profit from day one, neither side loses during the early stages of public employee strikes.

And without penalties from day one of a strike there is little to persuade the two sides to reach quick agreement. For example, the legislation provides that penalties are not to be imposed until late in September. This being the case, and in view of what has happened in past years, we can expect the school calendar will be extended well into June to make up the lost September days. Quite simply, striking teachers will demand extension of the school year as part of their settlement so they won't lose any wages. And school boards are likely to concur so the strike does not extend into the penalty period when it begins losing some of its state aid.

We agree with State

Representative Jack Kirksey (R-Livonia) that instead of fewer strikes we can expect an increasing number of them under the proposed legislation, which even opponents predict will clear both houses. Because this legislation does impose penalties after a September "grace" period, it may, admittedly, reduce the lengths of strikes.

But if penalties are effective deterrents for prolonged strikes extending beyond September, why not impose them from day one on both sides, as proposed by Kirksey, to encourage before-school settlement and negate the necessity of a strike?

Another fuzzy segment of the legislation is that if a mandated settlement is ordered by a third party, that order cannot force either a layoff or a millage increase to provide the necessary revenues. Sounds fine. But, in reality, it means the mandated settlement can force a reduction in the educational program if no other revenues are available. The losers, therefore, become the students and their education.

The proposed public strike legislation is poorly written, and since there appears to be little chance of defeating it in the legislature we urged readers to write Governor William Milliken and ask him to veto the measure when it comes across his desk.

The governor's address: Office of the Governor, State Capitol, Lansing, Michigan 48903.

Hip, hip, hurrah!

Three cheers for the Northville Township Board.

The board took a giant step forward in preserving the character of the township by rejecting a recommendation of the planning commission to rezone some 16 acres of land at the northwest corner of Sheldon and Six Mile for a so-called convenience shopping center.

Even if a convenience center were needed at this location — and we don't think it is — the acreage proposed for it was far in excess of what most people conceive as a neighborhood shopping center to serve primarily the homes planned adjacent to it.

We also are pleased that the planning commission itself is reviewing its guidelines in an effort to better define what is meant by a convenience center. Perhaps with more definitive guidelines planners can avoid controversies such as occurred over the Six Mile-Sheldon corner proposal.

Editorial opinions of The Record are developed and written by Publisher Jack W. Hoffman and Editor Jean Day with occasional contributions by other Record staffers.

Reform Primaries?

ANDY RAJKOVICH

FEDERAL SYSTEM

A major source of dissatisfaction with the presidential candidates seems to be associated with their leadership qualities and prior experience. This problem is an indirect effect of recent reforms.

As the primary season has lengthened and the role of the media has increased, candidates must start campaigning earlier and establish independent statewide organizations outside the regular party system. Therefore, candidates must perfect campaign skills which are not necessarily related to the exercising of leadership and control of the reins of government.

More responsible party organizations are needed as a training ground for good political leaders.

In the current caucus/primary schedule, states select their own dates, resulting in an unfortunate emphasis in the early primaries on small, rural electorates, with a particular bias toward southern states. Because early victories are important in establishing a winning image, the system favors candidates who are attractive to these types of voters and handicaps those who might have a greater appeal in larger, more urban electorates.

In order to get around this problem, the federal government should assume control for the primary process. The calendar should be randomized to get a better mix of voters, but the length of the primary season should not be severely curtailed.

Michael W. Traugott
Center for Political Studies
University of Michigan

REGIONAL SYSTEM

The mushrooming of presidential primaries is symptomatic of the steady decline in influence of our two major political parties. This political disillusionment has led ever-growing numbers of people to vote for the man rather than the party.

The presidential primary movement is part of the great wave of democratization of American institutions which began to accelerate in the 1950s. Viewing these primaries in historical perspective, I believe they are, in general, a positive good on the American political scene.

However, as is true of any newly introduced social instrument, a number of problems have cropped up with these primaries which their original champions could not anticipate. One such problem is that they now drag on for nine months prior to the party conventions. People have, as a result, become tremendously bored by the media over-exposure of the process. In my opinion, the primary campaign should not exceed three months.

A possible solution to this lengthy procedure is to establish regional primaries based on geographic-economic factors. For instance, states like Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin might conduct their primaries on a given day to save money and energy for all concerned.

In conclusion, though the present presidential primary system is awkward and seemingly chaotic, it can be reformed by thoughtful, statesman-like legislation. There is no need to "throw out the baby with the bath water."

Home-made secrets are the best kind

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

"I've got a secret," she boasted as have the little girls who preceded her.

It's their way of saying, "Please ask so I tell you what I know."

The first to come our way, the blondie who grew up to write secret verse, took special delight in teasing. She put her secrets in paper sacks and then deliberately placed them on the table in front of her father. "It's a secret and don't you dare open it."

Dark eyes, the second to bless our house, especially liked to hint. "Somewhere in this house is something you don't know. It's big, but not so big. It doesn't tick but it makes a sound. Don't look in the closet."

And then along came the ugly duckling who soon became Miss Beautiful. Her forte was suspense. Only her furtive glances, her hiding behind the bedroom door suggested a secret was in the making. Not until the hour was almost at hand and her daddy worried did she say shyly, "Here, it's a secret; open it."

The last little girl, who came into our home to be told by her brothers "phooey...we wanted Daniel Boone but you're a girl so you get his wife's name," inches upward by the hour now and soon, sadly, will not be little. So her "I've got a secret," perhaps the last, was savored by her father.

"What is it?" I asked.

"If I told you it wouldn't be a secret, would it?" she replied, her hands on her hips. "So, Mr. Hoffman, I will not tell you."

Later, as she labored over the paper at the table next to her father and his typewriter, he caught a glimpse of some expertly drawn hearts.

Ah, Father's Day.

I've got a secret. It will be mine forever. The home-made, school-made ones...the ones with hearts and stars and stick people and three word sentences...are the best.

Seeks 'in house' soccer program

To the Editor:

The withdrawal of the Northville Soccer Association from the Western Suburban Soccer League (WSSL) and the subsequent formation of an "in house" Northville league, similar to that of the Northville Junior Baseball Program (for the fall and following seasons), is once again being considered.

In fact, at a recent meeting of the association officials, a special task force of age-group commissioners, coaches, etc. was established to conduct a feasibility study of just such a possibility.

But, as in past years, it is again being conducted internally and the input from interested parents, whose children are involved in the soccer program, will not have a chance to be evaluated.

This was never more evident than at last summer's coaches' meeting, held to discuss just such a move. The final vote was, unfortunately, in favor of maintaining the ties to the WSSL. The irony of that decision is that some of the more vocal coaches in favor of remaining in the WSSL are no longer involved with the soccer program. Nevertheless, a decision was made—concerning hundreds of children—for this spring season and not one parent was asked to venture an opinion. That situation must not occur this time around.

The parental interest for a Northville "in house" soccer league is very strong. One cannot attend a game, participate, etc., where ever soccer parents gather, without hearing or being involved in a discussion where such views are not expressed.

It's obvious the interests are there and the benefits many.

That is, Northville soccer could control its own destiny and not be dependent upon the whims of other suburban areas for its scheduling and be "short changed" by their rules' manipulations.

The coordination problems presently existing between the soccer and baseball schedules would be alleviated, as WSSL does not start its scheduling of games until long after junior baseball has completed the same process.

But, most important, a youngster would not be forced into deciding which sport in which to participate in the spring season; or, worse yet, if he is participating in both sports, which game to attend should they both occur on the same day at the same time.

No youngster should have to be put into those positions nor should a coach play at a disadvantage because a particular player is absent. This type of pressure is not welcome.

Also, more parents and friends of participating players would be able to attend more of the games as travel distances to playing fields would be minimal. The kind and intensity of interest that is generated and surrounds the Northville Cup games in the fall would occur at every game. This latter aspect, "the hype," has been most evident when two Northville teams have "clashed" on any given Saturday or Sunday with the play most exciting.

Since there has been this parental interest in forming our own Northville "in house" soccer league over the years, the timing for this move has never been better. Presently, many youngsters are registered in the soccer program and the many teams that have been formed would make for a most interesting and competitive league.

Also, more interest could be generated amongst the participants by a divisional organization where the teams of like abilities would be grouped, rather than the imbalance that has persisted throughout the years during our association with the WSSL.

In essence, all those parents who feel this would be good for their youngsters

Appreciates zoning decision by trustees

To the Editor:

I would like to express my gratitude, and, I am sure, that of many Northville Township residents, to the Township Board of Trustees for their unanimous vote to deny the rezoning of the corner of Sheldon and Six Mile from Residential to B-2, General Business.

I realize they were under a great deal of pressure from the planning commission, the developer, the Northville Commons residents, who do not want or need a shopping center at Winchester and Six Mile, and from those of us who fought against the Sheldon and Six Mile proposal.

The trustees have shown us they will stand behind the people who put them in office if we let them know what we want and show that it is best for the community. After all that has happened in the community in the last few years, perhaps apathy is a thing of the past in Northville Township.

Every planning commission should be attended by representatives from every section of Northville. As a community we have to stand together to maintain the quality of environment that we prize so highly. Multiple housing and shopping centers must be curtailed or stopped if we intend to do this.

I want to thank everyone that worked so hard passing petitions and those who supported us signing them and attending meetings. We have shown that we are a community interested in keeping all of our remaining land from becoming another Canton, or worse.

Again, I want to thank the trustees for restoring our faith in our elected officials, and their sense of what is best for Northville Township.

Objects to kids viewing 'Jerk'

To the Editor:

The film "The Jerk" carries an "R" rating. This means persons under 18 are to be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

We saw many young children, in groups, at the film when it played at the Marquis Theater recently. When we questioned their presence the person in the box office showed us a stack of written permission slips.

Having seen "The Jerk" we know it carries an "R" for good reason. Shame on the Marquis and any parents who wrote slips. Shame on Steve Martin and Carl Reiner, too. What trash!

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

"Right-to-strike" legislation aimed at reducing the growing number of teacher strikes throughout the state has been moved into position for action by the full Senate.

Currently, teachers are prohibited from striking as a means of resolving labor contract disputes. Yet despite the law, teacher strikes are as commonplace today as they are illegal. During the 1979-80 school year, Michigan witnessed 70 teacher strikes—one third of all the teacher strikes in the United States. There have been 270 teacher strikes in Michigan during the past decade.

Because teacher strikes are illegal, there is no effective mechanism for resolving the disputes that give rise to them. Usually, the school board and striking teachers end up in court.

But a court can do little more than urge and encourage a settlement. Judges complain of their lack of authority other than to prohibit the strike. Their order is oft times ignored. It tends to further inflame the situation and does nothing to address the real issues in the dispute. As a result, teacher strikes tend to be unnecessarily long and often generate ill feelings with a community that takes years to heal.

Some persons, myself included, believe that the public interest would best be served by recognizing the realities of public employee-public employer relationships, permitting strikes and regulating them.

I believe this package of right-to-strike legislation would do that. House Bill 4645 provides an orderly procedure that would clearly specify the power of the court in a teacher strike situation and would involve the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) in resolving the disputes.

For example, MERC would have the power to require continuous bargaining both before and during a strike. A 10-day notice would be required before a strike could occur after which MERC would then be required to order the two sides to negotiate for at least 16 hours per day, and once an impasse has been certified permit the court to order binding arbitration.

Within 14 days after the beginning of the strike, both sides would have to provide the public with reasons for continuing the strike. Teachers would be prohibited from striking while a labor contract was in effect or from taking part in "sympathy strikes."

Economic sanctions also are included in the legislation. Teachers or other striking school employees would have to forfeit wages equal to each day of school lost, and school districts would lose state aid equal to each day the strike prevents the full 180 days of required educational instruction. A June date deadline would be set so that the 180 days of required instruction could not be set back, forcing youngsters to attend school in the summer as the result of an extended fall teacher strike.

I am satisfied that sufficient safeguards have been written into the legislation so as to protect Michigan citizens in the event their area is hit with a strike. I support "right-to-strike" legislation for teachers and other public employees as a means of fairly resolving public sector labor disputes and as being in the best interest of all Michigan residents.

To continue to deny teachers a right granted workers in the private sector will only tend to both increase and prolong the number of illegal strikes which occur each school year in Michigan. I would hope my colleagues in the Senate would adopt this legislation so that teacher strikes this fall can be held to a minimum and that our youngsters will not be delayed or denied their important educational classroom instruction.

How You Voted

Last year my annual questionnaire survey sent to every home in the 14th Senate District included the question, "Should the Legislature amend the Public Employee Relations Act to provide for binding arbitration in the event of teacher-school board contract impasses?"

The results were 89.0 percent YES; 11.0 percent NO.

Board denies rezoning future expansion of the township hall facilities.

Nothing has been confirmed, however, and the board's recent action could be detrimental to these talks.

Following a request for a motion for reconsideration on the Six Mile and Sheldon vote — which was ignored by trustees — the Orleys said they would be open to discuss the convenience shopping matter further.

The approval of office service zoning at Six Mile and Winchester came following two earlier motions which died for a lack of support.

Treasurer Lee Holland motioned to reject the recommendation of the planners and deny the petition. Trustee William Zapke then motioned to table the matter until the July meeting.

Following the decision, Jeffrey Orley stated, "We do intend to maintain our vested interest in this property."

In other action Trustees upheld, by unanimous vote, planners' recommendation to rezone some 36 acres of land at the southwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty — owned by Meijer Incorporated — from E-3 (regional shopping) to B-2 (general business).

Meijer's spokesman John Stephenson said Meijer will continue its plans to construct a Thirty Acres store.

Salary hikes approved

Increased salaries and benefits for three categories of Northville public school employees were approved by the board of education at its regular meeting June 9.

Secretarial, clerical and aide personnel garnered nine percent wage increases and the addition of dental insurance and tuition reimbursement benefits.

Paid personal business days also increased from two to two and one-half days per year for secretaries, bringing them up to par with other school employees.

Salaries in these categories are partially dependent on the length of the work year, which varies according to position.

The salary schedule ranges from $9,568 to $16,116. The hourly pay rate schedule ranges from $4.14 to $7.90.

The schedule is effective July 1, 1980 to June 30, 1981.

Registered nurses and occupational therapist assistants employed in the Institution's Special Education Program (ISEP) also receive nine percent salary gains.

The pay scale for nurses, beginning September 1, 1980, ranges from $15,115 to $17,634. Those with bachelor's degrees receive an additional stipend of $500, those with master's degrees gain $1,000 over the schedule, effective through August 31, 1981.

Certified occupational therapists will be paid between $11,360 and $16,372 under the new schedule.

Therapist assistants and nurses already had the paid personal day and tuition reimbursement benefits granted to secretaries. They also gained dental insurance.

All three groups of employees are non-unionized.

Adult ed pact okayed

An agreement that provides adult education services in Northville through the Plymouth-Canton school system was renewed by the Northville board of education June 9.

Northville's adult education program had an enrollment of 290 participants during the 1979-80 school year, up from the 175 who enrolled in the 1978-79 year, but a program to serve the Northville district exclusively is not feasible, the board was told.

Nancy Soper, assistant superintendent for instruction, told the board the costs of such a program would not result in increased benefits to the community.

Although enrollment in adult education programs increased, the revenue generated from tuition actually decreased. Offerings in the past year have included "mini-sessions" of one, two or three class meetings for which tuition covers only the cost of employing the instructor.

There were 23 classes offered in 1980-81 as opposed to 10 in 1978-79. The program cost $9,746. Revenues, including state aid, came to $12,393.

Soper noted that if Northville created its own program the formula used in calculating state aid would reduce revenues to the point that costs would exceed income.

Class offerings in the most recent semester included cooking, parenting, volleyball, wallpapering, wills, typing, bridge, backgammon and yoga. Plymouth-Canton officials report that they plan to continue developing new classes.

Veteran teachers retire

Recess every day for two

By KEVIN WILSON

Working with children who never grow older for 20 years might be described as a mother's nightmare, but that is precisely what two Northville public school teachers, both approaching retirement, have done.

The end of this week marks the conclusion of teaching careers for Marian Petrock and Dorothy Smith.

Mrs. Petrock, a third grade teacher at Moraine, is concluding her 19th year in the system. Mrs. Smith has logged 22 years.

Both women entered the Northville system at Amerman Elementary School. In fact, one of Marian's first assignments was to step in while Dorothy spent a month in the hospital at the beginning of the 1961 school year.

Mrs. Smith's earliest teaching memories go a bit farther back than 1961, however.

She was secretary to the superintendent of the Quincy (Michigan) school system in 1942. The position also carried some teaching responsibilities with it, as did the superintendents.

"I taught the Victory Hour, some math and some science," Dorothy recalls. "Pretty much whatever was going on in those early war years."

Mrs. Petrock is actually the one whose career most approaches the mother's nightmare described above. She has taught third, fourth or fifth grade throughout her career. Another assignment was remedial reading.

"Reading is my favorite subject to teach because I really think that's the basis of anyone's education," Marian says.

Given a choice, Marian adds, she would rather teach it to fourth graders. "They're old enough that they are able to do a lot of things, yet they're not so old they know more than you do," she laughs.

Mrs. Smith, on the other hand, taught sixth graders when she entered the system, moving around from school-to-school and program-to-program while the district resolved its space and program transitions.

Through those years, Dorothy taught mathematics and science. The rigidity of those subjects wore thin, however, and when the opportunity to teach art arose, she leaped at it.

"When I first taught a crafts class, I had some of the same kids in both that class and a math-science class," she recalls.

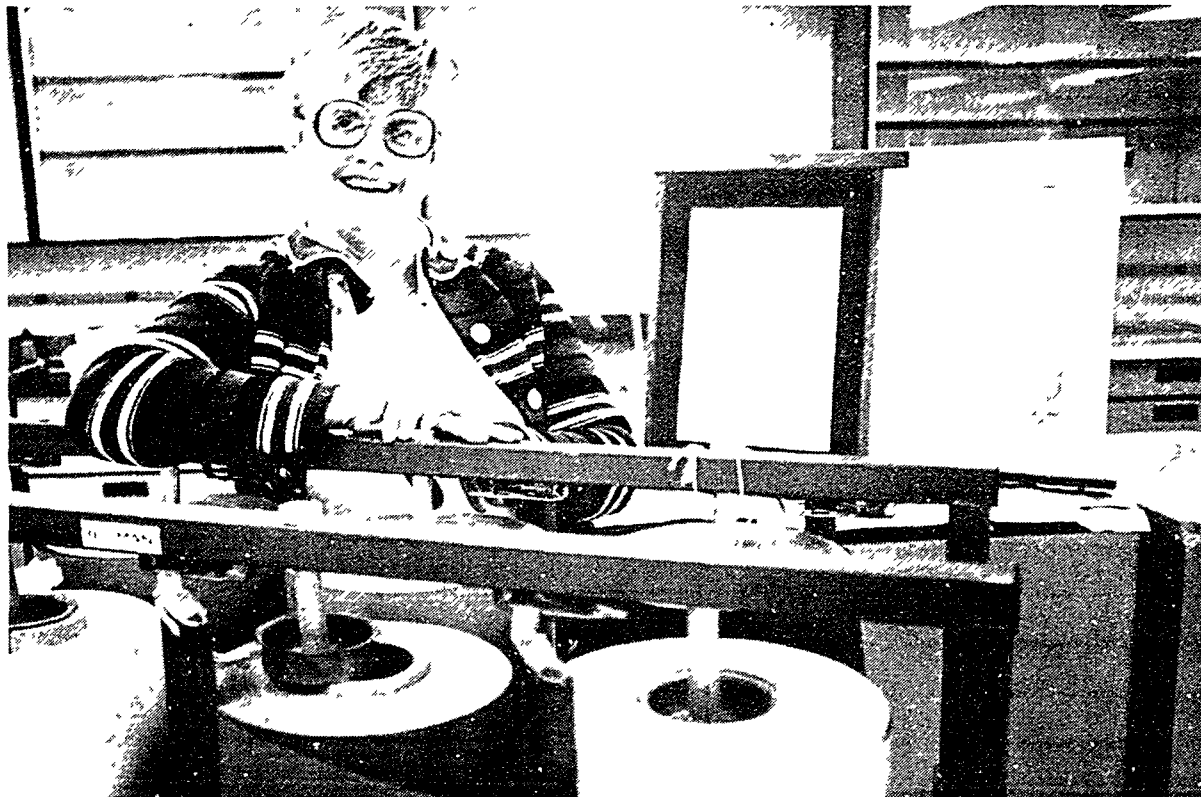

"The differences I saw in the same children between the two classes was astonishing — some of them were like two different people!"

For a while Dorothy taught one semester at Cooke Junior High and the next at Meads Mill. This past year she has spent the mornings at Cooke and afternoons at Meads Mill.

Parish tells sisters years are appreciated

"It's beautiful — the way they've touched us," says Anne Brueck of the service Sister Jeannine and Sister Peter Damian have given Our Lady of Victory parish during a combined total of 20 years here.

Both left the OLV convent this week and are looking ahead to new assignments in the west.

Sister Peter Damian, who had been with the parish for seven years doing ministry work and serving as member of the pastoral team, admitted that leaving is difficult but she feels that "it is good to get a fresh start."

After a visit with family in Philadelphia, she will be going to Sacred Heart of Ocean Beach, California.

Sister Jeannine, who has been a first grade teacher at Our Lady of Victory School, also worked in ministry to parishioners during her 13 years here. She will be going to All Saints Parish in Mesa, Arizona.

Both have been amazed at the great amount of entertaining that has been happening as their many church friends wish them well.

"They go with our good wishes, but there's sadness in our hearts," commented Carolyn DiComo as she listed the entertaining for the two.

There was a special farewell mass at Wishing Well Manor where they took Communion with their many friends in residence.

The parish celebrated with a mass in their honor June 8 which was followed by a reception in the social hall.

Our Lady's League hosted a potluck supper. League board members, past and present, also entertained.

Both nuns like the idea that they are going to a warmer climate. Both already have visited their future assignments. Sister Jeannine will be working with senior citizens in Mesa.

Sister Peter Damian will be on the staff of a new church at Ocean Beach.

"She's really a caring person," observed Mrs. Brueck. "Her kind, gentle manner has been felt by all who have needed her counsel and strength in times of sorrow and joy."

In Our Town

Bakery truck was part of surprise

By JEAN DAY

The cake was a replica in miniature of the truck Henry Haverland drove for Koepplinger's Bakery. It was one of the special features his wife Irene had arranged for a surprise retirement party Sunday at their home at 977 Springfield Court. More than 100 were expected for the barbecue picnic in the back yard of their Lexington Commons home. Haverland, who moved here eight years ago, had driven a bread route for 32 years. Co-hosting the surprise were sons Robert of Royal Oak and Michael of Livonia and daughter Laurie of Marine City.

The Haverlands' original neighbors on Springfield, the Michael Holzworths and family, returned from Tennessee for the festivities. Previous neighbors for 25 years, the Everett Gilberts, came from Florida; the Bud Curtins (Mrs. Haverland's school chum) from Conesus, New York; the Edward Casarolis (her aunt and uncle) from Ojai, California. Also on hand was the honorees' father, 85-year-old Michael Haverland, a resident of Allen Terrace.

"He does not know one thing about it," Mrs. Haverland reported gleefully beforehand. The part-time secretary for James C. Cutler Realty made her arrangements from work to keep the secret. "He's enjoying himself," she added, as she planned baseball, horseshoe and dart games for the party.

Will you sew, bake or can for Tivoli?

Pat Meyers and Lynn Paquette, who are chairing arrangements for the annual Tivoli Fair sponsored by Northville Historical Society, are looking for people willing to sew, bake or can for the society's own Country Store booth at the fair, which is slated for October 3-4 at Northville Downs.

Space still is available for craftsmen who would like to exhibit their handmade crafts at the fair. Mrs. Meyers, 348-1456, or Mrs. Paquette, 349-0200, may be contacted.

Money raised will be used to continue restoration projects at Northville's Mill Race Historical Village, which now is open. Sundays from 1-4 p.m. with docents on duty to give tours of the buildings.

Reserve now to lunch later at Town Hall

Northville Town Hall chairman Carolyn DiComo announces that reservations now are being taken for lunches following the 1980-81 season lectures which will open with Marlo Thomas October 9. Until now, only lecture tickets were being sold; they are $20 by series only.

It is necessary to hold a lecture ticket to attend the celebrity lunches following at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. Luncheon

Presbyterian benefit

Month was added at calendar tea

Women of Northville First Presbyterian Church "stretched" the calendar with the addition of a "bridal month" for their annual calendar tea last Wednesday at the church.

Chairperson Pearl Stephens, facing the prospect of having a capacity crowd for the event which usually features 12 tables elaborately decorated, added the bridal table to make a 13th.

In this way, more than 100 women attended the tea which supports the sewing mission of the churchwomen.

Betty Cowie brought a lace cloth, silver candlesticks and English china for the bridal table. Its focal point was a wedding cake made from a Hawaiian recipe that was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom that had decorated her own wedding cake 40 years ago this July.

Betty Hoffman served Baked Alaska at the January table which was centered with a scene of tiny skiers coasting over a blanket of fluffy cotton.

Susan B. Anthony dollars were favors at the February table decorated by Amy Grieger, who had discovered that was the sufferage worker's birth month.

Co-hostesses Val Kaestner and Gloria Lane even wore silver and white to echo the ice-and-silver theme of their March table.

Ruth Collins used little yellow umbrellas among the flowers for the April (showers bring May flowers) table.

Louise Cutler decorated her May table around Mother's Day with figurines centering it. Each guest received a stained glass flower.

Kay Hendricksen's June-and-summertime table was decorated with field flowers — and tiny (unreal) ants and bees. Maria Johnson, who has been an exchange student in this country from Sweden, was among her guests.

Sybil Kerr says she reached back into childhood memories to create a sewing bee theme for the July table which was topped by an old-fashioned quilt.

Cheryl Gazlay served lemonade at her August table decorated in blues and reds with daisies.

Karen Stephens had made apple-shaped name tags of quilt-pattern scraps to carry out the apples-are-ripe theme of her September table.

An orange pumpkin filled with blue strawberries set the color theme of the October table hosted by Bev Warren.

Barbara Ross also used fall colors with mums topping an orange cloth for November.

Jane Bowser brought her Christmas tree-pattern Spode china to decorate the December table. Each guest at the table received a miniature quilted wreath.

Donations of those attending will help with the women's association sewing projects. Mrs. Stephens reports that the group is making a donation of items for the newborn to Mt. Carmel which has a "dire need" for such layettes.

Dancing, tennis, cycling offered at Family Y

The Plymouth Family Y is offering a wide variety of programs to make this summer a learning and fun time.

The programs are designed for people of all ages. There is something offered for everyone.

Old favorites include areas of dance (ballet, jazz, tap and trim); athletic programs such as tennis, golf, soccer and bicycling; a creative drama program; and for children a pre-school Kreatives program and a day camp.

There are many new and exciting programs being offered this summer.

A radio broadcasting class, taught by professional broadcaster Tim Adler, for kids from the third through ninth grades is being offered.

A "Y" Youth Program, offering a variety of programs especially for young teens (hiking, biking, creative arts, group activities, and possibly field trips) will be available.

An outdoor painting clinic, for youngsters from the age of seven to adults of all ages, will be taught by Frances Worth in August. The program will emphasize outdoor sketching with your choice of materials. Art settings will be at scenic sites in and around Plymouth.

Two new soccer programs have been developed for this summer. A soccer referee clinic for those 14 years and older will be conducted by National Collegiate Referee John Magee.

A soccer coaching clinic, also taught by Magee, will teach those new to the sport and even those who have coached before, the finer aspects of soccer mentorship.

Four baseball clinics: one for kids from 7-10 years of age, one for kids 10-13 years, one for players 14-17 years, and one for athletes 18-19 years, will be conducted by Gerald Herbst, a former pitcher in the Detroit Tiger farm system.

Two field hockey classes will be offered. The first is for kids in third through fifth grades, and the second is for kids sixth through seventh grades. Shelly Blanchard will teach the classes.

Two classes teaching flag football will be offered this summer. These classes will last three weeks and will be split into three sessions, with members choosing one of the sessions.

The tennis program will be split into a weekday class, a Saturday class and a tennis clinic.

For more information on dates and times of these and other classes, and on registration and fees, call the Plymouth Family Y at 453-2904.

OLV sisters appreciated

The sisters are staying at the Brueck home until they leave the community the end of the month.

Among friends entertaining are Mr. and Mrs. Edward McNeely, Anne Bugai, Mrs. Ann Malecki, Mrs. Jerome Esper, Mrs. Hazel Langfield, the Kaluzny family, Mr. and Mrs. John Kroll, Mrs. Marcella Douglas and Miss Elizabeth Eltz.

The Philadelphia group entertained at the Robert Hodson home with Harold Mattis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Stephan Sordyl and Mrs. Mary MacGillivray attending.

The sisters were honored at a luncheon at Plymouth Landing hosted by Mrs. Philip Smith, Mrs. William Miron, Mrs. Dale Richmond, Mrs. Thomas Johnson, and Mrs. Edward Artley.

Another luncheon was held at Aliette's with Mrs. Fred Casterline, Mrs. Charles Marino, Mrs. DiComo, Mrs. Richard Besh, Mrs. Paul Vernon, Mrs. Hodson and Mrs. Brueck attending.

Permanent recess beckons two retiring teachers herself, and it didn't come easy.

"It bothers you sometimes," she says. "I had to learn to draw and it was hard work. Then you get these kids with natural ability who just breeze through it. It helps me appreciate the hard work the other kids put in."

That is reflected in her philosophy of grading, wherein hard work that results in an average project earns as good a grade as an outstanding project produced by a budding Picasso.

"I grade kids, not projects," Dorothy explains. Her favorite kids to teach are advanced painting students, most of whom, to some people's surprise, are boys.

Why are so many of her advanced painters boys?

"Sports. I've always taken an interest in sports at the schools and it's a lot easier to reach a boy if you can talk to him about what he did on the football field over the weekend," she explains. "My husband always kidded me that I should try for a coaching job."

Boys will be boys, however, as Marian recalls all too vividly.

"I don't like snakes," she says. "I had one boy who just loved snakes, though. One day he brought in an aquarium full of snakes. Walter Carter was his name, he just liked snakes, that's all. He collected them and wanted everyone to see them."

Though the snakes went home at the end of the day at Marian's insistence, one senses her joy at a child learning about the world first-hand.

In 20 years or so, a great many children pass through the class room. Like parents, the teachers wonder a bit at what the kids will make of themselves. Even if they should make a major mark early in life, it would be hard to keep track of all one's past students.

"Sometimes, I'll go up to the high school and some kid will say 'Hi, Mrs. Petrock' and I look and... (puzzled expression)... 'Yes, and who are you?'"

Although the teachers might recall the days of stricter discipline fondly, Mrs. Smith points out that "kids don't really change much. They're just a little more open today."

"Open" children or quiet ones, both are looking forward to retirement as, in Mrs. Petrock's words, "every day recess."

Both are timing retirements to coincide with their husbands' retirements.

Joe Petrock, a pharmaceutical sales representative, is also retiring now and the couple will move to Traverse City June 23. They have owned a house on the west side of the bay for a couple of years, renting it while awaiting their retirements.

Lloyd Smith is retiring from Farmington public schools, where he has taught instrumental music and garnered the longest tenure of any debate coach in the state.

Dorothy Smith plans to paint, draw and enter shows and clubs. Everyone asks her if they will travel, she says, but she is looking forward to spending some time at home.

"We've always travelled. We're going to California, but we would have gone anyway. We're going for the Kiwanis convention, which we do every year," she explains.

A side trip to see friends in Oregon also is planned.

Both teachers were honored with other retirees from the system at a May 30 poolside reception at the Hilton.

So, two teachers who have watched over Northville kids for as long as most mothers take care of their own are closing shop.

Marian Petrock's two children went through the Northville system, and at least one is launching a new venture in teaching.

Daughter Mary, now Mrs. Trotter, teaches reading and other fundamentals to Fowlerville children. Son Jim is a Denver lawyer.

Kids don't change much. They still insist on growing up and moving on to other places, other people. There is a little four-year old Trotter gearing up to start school soon.

And somewhere, a teacher waits for him to pass through — part of a seemingly endless stream of boys with snakes.

Band program set for AARP

Canton Senior Band will play at the final meeting of the season for the Plymouth-Northville Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons.

It will begin with a sack lunch at noon Wednesday, June 25, at Plymouth Cultural Center. A sing-along and short business meeting will precede the program.

The planned program changes the previous "Golden Record" announcement that there would be no June meeting. There will be no meetings during July and August.

Refreshment for weary sidewalk sale shoppers

When women of the Northville Presbyterian Church decided to make the Northville Home Tour an every-other-year event, they realized they would have to seek other fund-raisers for this year. The home tour, co-sponsored by Northville Historical Society, was finding it difficult to obtain homes to open yearly.

It didn't take long for the Presbyterian women to begin finding smaller projects. At the annual merchants' sidewalk sale August 2 the church will be open with the fellowship hall a resting spot where cold drinks will be sold.

Resident reports on Scientist meet

Nancy Pocklington, a member of the local branch of the Church of Christ, Scientist, in Plymouth, served as an usher at two sessions of the annual meeting of the church in Boston this month.

She reports that Christian Science Church leaders took the stand that "humanity can't afford a continued drift toward the morally bankrupt doctrine that material pleasures are the sole or chief good in life."

The church board of directors urged members to help counter such tendencies through "humbler dependence on divine guidance and deeper understanding of what Christian discipleship really means."

More than 7,000 members came from 23 countries for the meeting. The clerk of the church reported an increased flow of new membership applications from Africa and Latin America.

The treasurer said church funds had increased 160 percent in the past six years with the church totally free of debt.

Modest circulation gains have been recorded for both daily and weekly editions of the Christian Science Monitor.

Members were told that a flurry of recent attacks on the denomination had stirred a "great, sensible brotherly love and unity in the movement and was producing a fresh tide of evidence of Christian healing."

Library to begin summer programs

Registration for Northville Public Library's summer preschool story hour is now in progress.

Pre-registration is necessary since enrollment is limited.

Story time will be 10:30 a.m. Tuesdays from July 1 through July 22.

To register, stop by the library or call 349-3020.

Northville Public Library's summer reading program, Passport to Books, begins Thursday, June 19.

All young readers from elementary through junior high school age are invited to join in the activities.

The library keeps a reading record for each participant. Everyone who reads 10 or more books during the six-week program will receive a certificate at a party on the final day July 31.

Weekly films, a pet show and bon voyage party also are planned for the summer.

Those interested should sign up at the library between Thursday and July 3.

Audition for 'Messiah'

Area residents are invited to audition for vocal solos in the Christmas portion of "The Messiah" to be performed by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

The auditions will be scheduled for the second week in July.

Oliver Wagner, publicity chairman for the symphony society, announces, "Preparations are under way for a much-requested 'Messiah' sing-along at the December 7 concert. The symphony wishes to invite members of the community to audition for the vocal solo parts.

"Invite your favorite singers to audition and then join us yourself for an exciting do-it-yourself concert next December."

Persons interested in auditioning for solo parts should call Fran Long, society president, 453-5064, or Wagner, 455-6420. Actual audition dates will be announced.

Killing dreaded dandelion — wait for fall!

They pop up in springtime to the delight of some winemakers, but to others they are the scourge of the earth—or of front lawns, at least.

Yes...we're talking about that small yellow (flower, weed, select one depending on your point of view), the (dreaded, beloved, again select one) dandelion—the little plant that can either desecrate a front lawn or wash the pallet in the form of dandelion wine.

It is also the subject of what has got to be the most inane joke or prank played by little kids in all of history, that being the holding of the dandelion under a person's chin while telling the person it's a test to see if they like butter, and then flicking the thing at the subject's chin while laughing uproariously.

(No doubt invented by the same kid who tried to get laughs by snorting milk out through his nose.)

Yes, the dandelion's is a strange lot in life. It's either extremely beautiful or extremely ugly, depending on the eye, or the mood, of the beholder.

There seems to be no in-between or even a consensus as to what role this plant should play on this earth.

Even Webster's Dictionary straddles the fence on this one: dandelion, n. a common weed with yellow flowers.

Weed? Flower? Which is it, Webster? The homeowner can tell you.

To the guy who has just finished pumping hundreds or sometimes thousands of dollars into landscaping his yard with carefully selected and occasionally unique trees and flowers, the common dandelion is to his yard what a zit is to Bo Derek's face. Annoying to say the least.

The next few paragraphs are for that homeowner. Dandelion lovers may want to skip them because the following information is on how to KILL the little pests.

First of all, according to County Cooperative Extension Director Duane Girbach, it is difficult to control your local dandelion population by yourself. If your neighbors don't have the fiery hatred of dandelions that you do and don't bother to kill their own, your own efforts may be futile.

That's because dandelions turn their yellow petals into those little white furballs (actually their seeds) which are then blown by the wind to another yard where they dig in and start growing all over again.

But if your neighbors hate dandelions as much as you and you all join in the battle together, you might have a fighting chance.

You kill the little buggers by using either a fertilizer or weed killer that contains 2, 4, 5-D, says Girbach, the most effective ingredient against the dreaded dandelion.

If you have only a few dandelions it might be cheaper to kill them by digging them up by hand, but Girbach says that can be difficult since dandelions have a "tap" root system that extends deep into the ground. They also have fleshy stems and roots that break off easily, sometimes leaving you with just the top of the root system while the rest of it is conspiring below for a comeback.

Girbach says the big splurge in dandelion seedlings has already passed for the spring so if you haven't already tried this already you're stuck for summer.

Summer is a bad time to try to kill dandelions, Girbach says, since they, like the rest of your lawn, suck up less water in the heat of the summer, and therefore less weed killer.

Your next best chance for dandelion massacre is this fall when the plants' uptake of water is faster and they grow rapidly.

If you have a large yard, Girbach adds, it is usually cheaper to apply your dandelion killer separately from your fertilizer. While it may take a little longer, he says fertilizer mixed with weed killer is usually more expensive than buying the two separately.

Now, to give equal time to the dandelion lovers. Take the dandelion petals, some sugar, and an acid blend you can buy at your local winemaking shop and you can whip yourself up your own very domestic brew of dandelion wine that even Orson Welles might drink—even if you sell your wine before its time.

Vacation delights

State's islands await tourists

The state's nearly 1,000 miles of island shoreline offers Michiganders a vacation choice between remote spots untouched by the comforts of the 20th Century and resort areas with all the amenities needed for a first-class vacation, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Mackinac Island is one of Michigan's most popular summer vacation destinations. Accessible by ferry from Mackinaw City or St. Ignace, the island offers fine old hotels, historic sites and shops that sell everything from fudge to jewelry. Cars are banned and travel is by foot, bicycle or horse-drawn carriage.

Bois Blanc Island is within view of Mackinac Island and is a six-mile ferry ride into Lake Huron from Cheboygan. With miles of trails and shoreline, Bois Blanc is ideal for hiking and backpacking. Boat, car and bicycle rentals are available, with lodging at the 206-year-old Vintage Pines.

Michigan's largest and most remote island is Lake Superior's Isle Royale. This 45-mile-long wilderness island is reached by boat or seaplane from Houghton or Copper Harbor. Noted for its wildlife, it offers backpackers glimpses of moose, mink, wolves, red fox, beaver, snowshoe rabbits and a variety of birds.

Lodging also is available. Wilderness fishing, hunting and camping are popular pastimes for visitors to Sugar and Neebish islands in the St. Marys River, both reached by ferry from Sault Ste. Marie. There are resort accommodations and cottages on both islands.

There are a number of islands within easy driving distance of metropolitan areas which provide relief from the summer heat and offer a variety of recreational activities.

Located in Lake Huron three miles east of Alpena, Sulphur Island is a scenic and rustic picnic spot that also offers swimming and fishing. The island can be reached only by boat.

Middle Ground and Ojibway Islands are in the Saginaw River. Saginaw's 49-acre Ojibway Island is a popular city recreation park. It is reached by the Court Street bridge. Bay City's Bigelow Park is on Middle Ground Island at the 23rd Street bridge. It has a marina offering food and entertainment.

Beaver Island is a more rugged vacation island, with sandy beaches rimming its 55 square miles. Located in northern Lake Michigan, Beaver Island may be reached by plane or ferry from Charlevoix. Accommodations and shops may be found in the town of St. James.

Lake Michigan's North and South Manitou islands are accessible by ferry from Leland. Among North Manitou's attractions are deer and wild turkeys. Hiking trails run from the island's restored Coast Guard station, which offers a central lodge with a dining room. Cottages also are available. Most of South Manitou Island is owned by the National Park Service and operates as part of the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore. Camping is allowed there.

The Les Cheneaux Islands stretch into Lake Huron between Cedarville and Hessel in the eastern Upper Peninsula. There are no ferries, but 10 percent of the islands are connected to the mainland by bridge. Summer cottages and cabins may be rented.

Nearby Drummond Island has a crumbling old British fort, as well as cottages, cabins, motels, restaurants, a golf course and camping. A short ferry ride takes visitors and their cars from De Tour to the island.

Pods double the value of peas

Happiness is a harvest of Snap Peas

It's taste that counts in growing snap peas

Fresh garden peas traditionally have been regarded as an expensive delicacy.

But gardeners have been willing to settle for a low dollar return per square foot in order to enjoy the matchless flavor of garden-fresh peas.

Edible podded peas have changed all that, especially the new class called "Snap Peas."

"When you eat peas 'pod and all' you double the food production from each row," advises the National Garden Bureau.

And with Snap Peas, virtually no pods are wasted; they can be eaten for a week or two after reaching full size."

Snap Peas rank sixth among vegetables for value per square foot of garden space. This is due more to the going price for pod peas than to the yield per square foot. The gardener can harvest a pound of edible pods per linear foot of row in three pickings, and this would cost him about 90 cents in the market in early summer.

Snap Peas are interchangeable with the standard flat podded peas in oriental cooking, and they are far superior for salads and finger food.

The flavor of Snap Peas on the vine improves with age until the pods begin to turn yellow. Regular edible podded peas, on the other hand, must be harvested within two or three days of maturity or their flavor, tenderness and texture deteriorates.

Peas are easy to grow, once the gardener gets the hang of it. It helps if the gardener is robust because peas grown for seed should be planted when spring weather is still frosty cold.

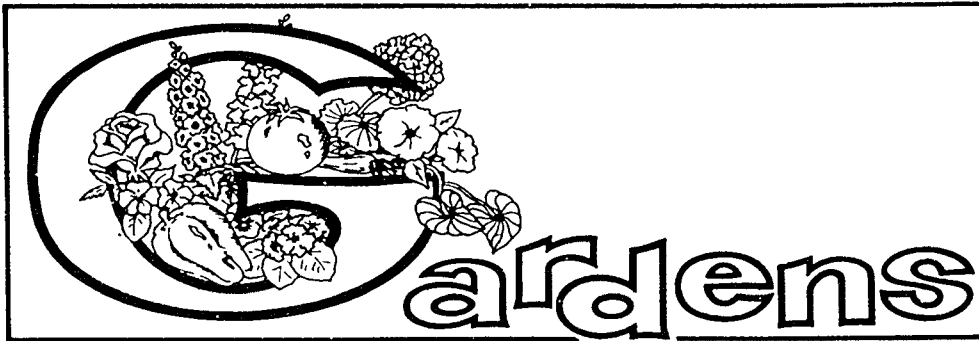

As soon as the gardener and soil has thawed enough to work, dig it deeply, working in moderate amounts of sand, manure or well-rotted compost, and plant pea seeds.

Where springs are short and summer comes early the gardener will have greater success if he starts peas indoors. (Of course, all of this early spring work can be avoided simply by visiting the local greenhouse where pea plants may be purchased.)

Snap Peas need 60 to 70 days from planting by seed to maturity, but the gardener can shave off three weeks if he starts seeds indoors in late winter.

If the garden is new, the soil may need to be inoculated in order to grow peas to their full potential. To thrive, peas need a special kind of bacteria, harmless to humans. They will grow without it, but not as well, for the bacteria extract nitrogen plant food from the air and deliver it to pea roots.

The grower may order pea inoculant by mail from seed catalogs, and full-line garden stores may carry it, too. It comes as a powder; moisten pea seeds and roll them around in the inoculant a la garden "Shake and Bake."

Key to Peppers is Prolific Hybrids

The sweet or pungent, long or blocky, hot or mild pepper is often the pickiest plant in the vegetable patch. Picking the proper variety to grow is one solid step in solving the many problems home gardeners experience with this desirable vegetable.

Pepper problems for home gardeners, whatever the region of the country, seem to revolve around the problem of yield per plant. While the zucchini overwhelms the garden basket, the pepper plant often stands proud, lush and barren, or at the best, the producer of an only child or a pair of twins.

Warm season peppers are somewhat particular about temperatures for fruit set. Peppers fertilized with heavy applications of nitrogen, or not given adequate phosphorous, may develop into good looking plants, but will not produce much fruit.

The hybrid pepper is a star just coming into its own. Home gardeners expect high yields from their 'Better Boy' hybrid tomatoes, they ask for them by name.

'Better Belle' hybrid pepper introduces the qualities every pepper grower has been waiting for. 'Better Belle' comes into fruit a full two weeks earlier than the older 'California Wonder' types. The disease-resistant plants sturdily keep up their production throughout the growing season.

'Better Belle' has been bred for a variety of purposes, as well as superior production. The thick, blocky walls of the 4 1/2 x 3 1/2-inch fruit are ideal for stuffing, freezing and perfect for use as fresh produce on the dinner table.

Ball Seed Company, wholesale distributor of 'Better Belle' seed to commercial growers, offers some additional tips to home gardeners who will be planting this superior variety for the first time this year.

- Use a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10 before planting your vegetable garden. Do not side-dress peppers until after a good fruit set.
- Get all fruit-producing plants off to a good start at planting time with the addition of a starter fertilizer (such as 8-24-8).
- Plant peppers only after night temperatures have risen above 55 degrees. Planting too early will often stunt plants.
- Harvest fruit regularly. After mature fruit is harvested, new fruit set will begin.
- Rotate tomato, pepper and eggplant crops, making sure these three vegetables do not follow each other in the same location.

Each is subject to the same diseases, some of which are soil-borne.

- The cooler the season, the more important the selection of early varieties. Peppers will not set fruit in very cool weather.

If hot peppers are your pick, the hottest of them all has been introduced to the gardening world—"Fire" named for its flavorful aim. "Fire" produces 2-inch slim fruit which are attractive in ornamental plantings, as well as superior spicers for pepper-loving palates.

Hot or sweet, the pepper will grow, and bear prolifically, providing the gardener knows its requirements, and asks for the 1980 hybrid varieties by name.

Plant doctor answers puzzlers

By GREGORY PATCHAN
Extension Horticulture Agent

Dear Plant Doctor:

Nearly one half of my cabbage plants just up and died. I pulled up a few and the root system was destroyed by some pest. What happened?

Answer: Bad news has invaded your garden in the form of root maggots. These small, white maggots are highly destructive on their favorite hosts such as radishes, onions, turnips, cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts and cauliflower. For control you should treat at planting time with diazinon. Liquid, granules and dust formulations can be used. Rotating susceptible crops to other areas of the garden also is a good idea.

Once maggots have invaded your garden, you can expect a problem every year, and you'll have some damage even with the suggested treatment. Don't despair, replant, treat with diazinon, and you can still harvest a crop. Only by raising a garden can you gain appreciation for our plentiful supply of top quality vegetables.

Dear Plant Doctor:

The leaves of our maple tree are covered with bumps and patches of red fuzzy substance. Please save our tree.

Answer: You can relax. Your trees are not in danger of dying from these problems. The bumps and fuzzy substance are actually distorted leaf tissues caused by the feeding of microscopic mites. The problem is cosmetic and poses no hazard to the health of the tree. Since the insect has come, and gone, no control is possible at this time. Actually, control is not even needed.

Dear Plant Doctor:

Seedlings from our maple tree are sprouting by the hundreds in our lawn. What can we do?

Answer: Just sharpen your lawn mower blades. The sprouting seedlings will not be able to survive the repeated mowing of your lawn. The seedlings will continue to sprout until they have exhausted their food reserves. If you want to speed-up the process, you can treat your lawn with a herbicide designed for the control of lawn weeds such as dandelions.

Dear Plant Doctor:

Our maple trees seem to have very few leaves and lots of seeds. What's the problem?

Answer: Your trees really don't have a serious problem, but like other flowering trees and shrubs, they are experiencing a banana year for flowering and fruit. This condition develops every several years, and it is apparently related to weather conditions. After the seeds fall, the trees will use their energy to develop more leaves.

Dear Plant Doctor:

What's your favorite plant for planting in planter boxes. The area is shaded.

Answer: My favorite is impatiens. If you use a rich, organic soil and fertilize often, I have found the display to be truly outstanding. I have had excellent results by preparing a soil of half Michigan peat and half sandy top soil mixed with one handful of 12-12-12 per heaping bushel.

During the growing season, keep the soil uniformly moist, and fertilize every couple of weeks with water soluble fertilizer. Since many varieties of impatiens are on the market, try to select varieties with a growth habit and size that matches your container.

Dear Plant Doctor:

What can I do about the dark green worms eating the needles on my pine trees?

Answer: The insect you have noticed is called pine sawfly. For control, spray your trees with Sevin, malathion, Isotox or any insecticide labeled for insect control on trees and shrubs.

Buncha onions, buncha money

Green or bunching onions are second only to tomatoes in garden value per square foot, garden experts disclose.

Scallions can be planted thickly, grow quickly and you eat them whole, tops and all, they point out.

Bunching onions differ from the bulbing kind the gardener grows for dry storage from sets, plants or seeds.

These little green, pencil-sized onions will not form bulbs for dry storage.

The backyard gardener is advised to plant seeds of bunching onions as soon as he or she can work the soil in the spring. "Build up raised beds and broadcast (scatter) the seeds thickly. Cover with one-quarter inch sand, which will improve germination and survival," says the National Garden Bureau.

In cool climates, succeeding crops of green onions can be planted each month through mid-summer. During warm weather onions are hard to start from seeds, especially when the soil is dry.

Two packets of bunching onion seeds should be sufficient for broadcast sowing over 10 to 12 square feet of bed. From this the gardener can harvest 40 to 50 bunches of 10 green onions each, says the bureau.

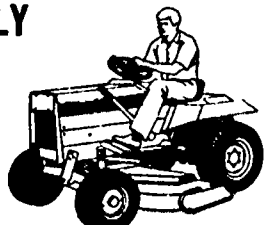

"At a store price of 35 cents per bunch, that's more than a dollar per square foot of onion bed."

"And, you can grow more than one crop per season. Buncha onions, buncha money!"

Local campgrounds going all out

Owners of Michigan's private campgrounds are going all out this summer to recoup last year's losses with special family-oriented programs, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

With an adequate gasoline supply expected and more persons vacationing near home because of economic hard times, summer campgrounds will become destination resorts for many families, Auto Club stated.

"More operators than ever are planning a wide range of programs and events to fuel a predicted 6 percent increase in state tourism," stated Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

"Last summer, many private parks even in Michigan's most heavily populated regions lost money," he said.

An Auto Club survey showed that of 293 campgrounds participating, more than half reported business drops of 2 to 60 percent. Most listed unfounded gas shortage fears as the main reason.

To meet the expected demand for planned events this summer, many camp owners will become full time recreation directors. Allegan's Tri Ponds Family Camp Resort offers crafts, square dancing, archery and campfire programs on weekends.

Campers can explore an underground copper mine at Adventure Mine camp ground at Greenland in the Upper Peninsula, or plumb the depths of the state's only natural limestone cavern at Buchanan's Bear Cave Resort.

Still others can enjoy the sights of Metropolitan Detroit on tours leaving Ypsilanti's Detroit-Greenfield KOA.

Other activities including special children's programs such as on-site petting zoos, hay and horseback rides, fishing ponds and hikes are planned at 110 other parks, more than four times the number listing activities than last summer. In addition, 275 private parks list swimming in either lakes or pools.

Parks on Auto Club's guide charge an average of $5.70 nightly for a site with electricity. By comparison, state park campgrounds users will pay up to $6, plus more than a year ago, $1 more daily or $5 annual entry fees. There also is a $3 fee to reserve a state park site.

Campers can save gasoline and money by storing units for as little as $10 per month, a feature available at 248 private facilities on Auto Club's list. A few private parks even offer free storage. There is no storage at state parks.

Auto Club's 1980 guide lists 367 privately operated parks with 34,737 sites, nearly half the state's approximately 70,000 campsites. All but 20 list at-site electricity, with water and sewer hook-ups at 280 and 151 parks, respectively.

State park campsites total 13,912, unchanged from last year. There are 3,269 state forest campground sites, 31 less than a year ago. Federal and county, township and city park sites remain at 2,522 and 8,200 respectively.

Auto tour held at Kensington

A variety of topics will be covered in an auto tour of historical sites in or near Kensington Metropark on Saturday, June 21 at 2 p.m.

Naturalist Steve Horn will cover the ice-age geology, Indian history, the historical town of Kensington and other appropriate subjects in this two-hour auto tour covering 15 miles.

Advance registration is required. Persons wishing to register or who wish additional information should call the park at 685-1561 (Milford).

BOB HYNES of WJR radio has announced that the Nifty Norman's Invitational for Multiple Sclerosis is a complete sell out for the second consecutive year.

This year's classic is being held at the Bay Pointe Golf Club in West Bloomfield on Monday (June 16).

Hynes, who is chairman of the event, also announced that a limited number of tickets at $35 apiece are available for the banquet.

The proceeds from the sale of these tickets, as well as from the golf, will be donated to Multiple Sclerosis.

The banquet, which promises to be a fun affair, will be attended by such area celebrities as Detroit Lion great Ron Kramer, former Tiger stars Norman Cash and Hank Aguerre, and funny men Dick Purfan and Tom Ryan from CKLW radio.

Hynes will broadcast live from 10 a.m. to noon from Bay Pointe Golf Club on the day of the annual event.

Anyone wishing tickets or additional information about the classic, or anyone interested in donating a door prize or auction item to raise money for Multiple Sclerosis is urged to call Norman LePage at 624-6660.

JACK L. PAULSON of Walled Lake has been appointed southwest region controller of the ITT Continental Baking Company. A DAZZLING GOLD FASHION SHOW and contest are in town today, (Wednesday) at Twelve Oaks Mall featuring the treasures of Dobie Jewelers, The Goldsmith, LTD, Hudson's, Meyer Treasure Chest, J. B. Robison, Shifrin Willens, Charles W. Warren and Wright Kay.

Participating jewelers in the mall have caught "gold" fever and are offering beautiful pieces of 14 karat gold jewelry — absolutely free — to the lucky winners of the "Pursuit and the Passion" Gold Fashion Show contest. Entry forms are available on jewelry store counters. The drawings will be held immediately following the fashion show in Center Court at 7:30 p.m. No purchase is necessary and entrants need not be present to win.

The "Pursuit and the Passion" fashion show will tell the history of gold and explore its many applications. Areas of prime interest to be represented will include Egyptian offerings, Medieval influence, Greek coin adornment and modern day jewelry as an integral part of fashion and futuristic uses of gold.

Twelve Oaks Mall is located on Novi Road, north of I-96. The closest entrance to the Center Court where the show will be held is at the east side of the mall.

For further information, contact Linda Anderson at 348-9400.

RIZZO REALTY, Inc., Gallery of Homes came within $400 of matching its near record setting March sales of $1.4 million during the month of May, according to company president, Anthony V. Rizzo, who said that the sales volume dipped slightly in April but the March-April-May volume averaged more than $1.1 million per month.

"Our goal in January when we affiliated with the Gallery of Homes organization was to stimulate our residential business to a higher productivity," said Rizzo.

"We had been recognized as a leader in vacant land sales over the years, but more by accident than design we found residential sales comprising a larger and larger share of our total volume. Unfortunately, the public was not aware of this and still seemed to view us as primarily vacant land specialists. But in less than six months of this year, we have become as strong in residential sales as we have been in vacant land sales. More importantly, it is very apparent that the public has become aware of this, considering the high volume of self-generating, unsolicited business which approaches us both from within the community and from the transferee market."

Rizzo said that plans for opening a second office in the fall are progressing on schedule and active recruitment for that office will begin soon.

JAMES C. CUTLER, broker of the James C. Cutler Realty company located at 103-105 Rayson, has lauded the efforts of Mrs. Jane Traudt, million dollar sales associate with the firm in 1979, in maintaining her image with the company and the industry as one of the top real estate associates.

JANE TRAUDT

According to Cutler, her latest achievement was garnering the top award for her sales presentation recently in competing with 40 other realtor associates in the Dale Carnegie Sales Course.

The coveted award was won only after she and her 40 other classmates were evaluated and after the professional manner in which she made her oral presentation was closely examined.

During her 16 weeks of intensive training in this course, Traudt was working full time and providing her many clients in the area continued professional guidance in their purchase of new or existing homes, noted Cutler.

THE B & V CONSTRUCTION COMPANY of Novi was the lowest bidder at $512,687 for construction of a new runway and taxiway at Branch County Memorial Airport in Coldwater, the Michigan Department of Transportation has announced.

Economy

Put out the light (it's economy time);
Switch off the T. V. (peace sublime);
Put the clothes on the line (who needs a drier?);
Walk to work, it's FUN (so I'm a liar);

Plant vegetables, dig deep (these blisters are pesky);
We're trying so hard to do our share;
But why doesn't everyone, everywhere?

Dreams

Casting your thoughts on an endless ride,
you sit...
pondering;
What will the future release to your outstretched arms?
To catch a simple glimpse, —
Just one — to reassure and guide you;
The fantasies and dreams you had as a child are still planted within you,
But now they are in full bloom.
For in the beginning, dreams were just for fun.
Today, images of reality bring you forth to discover — Today is the constant molding for your tomorrow.

Thoughts

Loneliness, sadness, depression —
Devoid of all expression
Hits us all, regardless of age
Like a bad book, just turn the page

Nuclear bombs, war, hunger
How I wish I were younger.

The fields, flowers, sun
How happy we were to run
To hear birds, smell fresh air
Sit down and feel God's love there

Peace, love, contentment, bliss
Sun's soothing warmth, child's wet kiss.

Thoughts of yesterday gone and past
Hope for the future,
Laughter, love and Happiness to last!

My Day

I wake up in the morning with a song within my heart,
That I can belong to this wonderful country that everyone would love to be a part,
God give us love in this world of ours, to help each fainting heart,
And make us ever mindful of all others
So we can do our part.
There are so many things we take for granted, as we journey day by day,
May we take time to smell the flowers and trees, as we journey along our way,
We are upon this earth such a short time, so if each will do his part. As we journey through this world with a happy, trusting, helpful heart.

Recreation Day Camp offers summer fun

If you put summer sun and kids together you get instant energy. And the Northville Recreation Department's summer day camp is one way to harness it.

The day camp will begin July 2 and last until August 20. The camp meets from 9 a.m. to noon, five days a week.

The program will be split into two locations, Winchester Elementary and the Scout Building. Fee for the program is $25 per child.

There will be lots of fun activities, officials point out. Trips to the zoo, boating and swimming, playground activities, arts and crafts, bowling, a safety bike parade, and picnics and games are just some of the fun things planned.

The program is for kids 4-10 years of age.

Reasons why SNAPPER owners wouldn't own any other:

- 1 Walk-behind models, with inexpensive accessories, will mow, discharge cuttings evenly, vacuum, bag, mulch cuttings and shred leaves
- 2 Riders and walk-behind models deliver a smooth, professional cut, even during tough conditions. They also cut more, faster, because of the efficient transfer of power from their engines
- 3 Large capacity grass catchers need emptying less frequently, especially those with the 30 bushel Bag-N-Wagon
- 4 The floating cutting unit on riders minimizes scalping and damage to the mower
- 5 A wide selection of mowing speeds gives flexibility for varying lawn conditions, without loss of cutting power

Before you buy a mower, compare the quality and performance features of a SNAPPER. You'll find SNAPPER is worth more because it does more. And, its price is competitive with other quality mowers

Livonia-96, Northville Hotspurs 1

Scott Weigner took a third-period pass from Todd Daniels and kicked it past the Livonia goalie to score Northville's lone goal. David Buckland earned praise for his work in goal and Paul Butz and Andy Huff were cited for their offensive work.

Northville Rowdies 2, Northville Tornadoes 1

Kirk MacKinder and Matt Smith scored unassisted goals in the first quarter to beat the Tornadoes. Roger Kimery was outstanding in goal, according to his coach, Ed Worth.

Plymouth-21, Northville United 0

This game was played at the Pontiac Silverdome as an exhibition game before the Express contest. The game, one of many WSSL exhibitions that evening, was 25 minutes in length. Plymouth scored on a penalty kick. Coach Roger Bennett said his team wasn't used to playing on artificial turf, but that everyone had a great time.

Northville United 1, Plymouth-120

Bobby Dudley scored on a penalty shot in the fourth quarter to give Northville a hard fought and well-deserved win. Scott Steckly earned the shutout in goal. United had only nine players in the contest. They were Bobby Dudley, Billy Butske, Brian O'Neill, Jeff Brielmair, Todd Wolf, Heath Myers, Andy Fitzpatrick, David Armstrong and Steckley.

BOYS 14 AND UNDER

Northville Arsenal 6, Livonia-35

Livonia opened the scoring at the 10 minute mark in this see-saw Sunday battle. Goals by Chris Hauser, Doug May and Bernardo Rico gave Arsenal a 3-1 lead, but two Livonia goals late in the half tied the game 3-3. Second half goals by May, Rico and Matt Lotarski gave Northville a 6-3 lead, which Livonia threatened but couldn't breach.

Livonia-102, Northville Tornadoes 0

The defensive work of Garet Stolberg, Greg Pawlak and Bob Huot, plus the goaltending of Harold York were the only bright spots in the loss.

Northville Black Knights 3, Livonia-11

Livonia opened the scoring mid-way through the first half but with two minutes left, Adam Danes' clearing pass set up Matt Peltz for a breakaway goal to tie the score. Two second-half goals by Peltz, both assisted by Jeff Zayti, gave the lead a hat trick and Northville the win. Eric Gala, Tom Walters and Curt Settino were cited for their fine play.

Northville Black Knights 2, Farmington-12

Bill Herguth got the Black Knights on the board at the five-minute mark of the first half, knocking home a pass from Eric Gala. After a Farmington goal, Gala scored on a direct kick to give Northville the lead. The second half was closely contested with Farmington scoring the tying goal 30 minutes into the frame.

Lee Ann Spanan was cited for her outstanding goalkeeping for the Fillies.

Women's soccer grows

By REID CREAGER

Kick around some of these names: the Ann Arbor Artemis; the Garden City Mountain Ash; the Dearborn Calypso; the Bloomfield Avengers. Or how about the Livonia Easy Rollers?

You say these team names don't ring a bell? Well, maybe right now they don't. But officials of the Great Lakes Women's Soccer League (GLWSL) say it's just a matter of time before the above are household words.

If that's hard to believe, consider the fact that the GLWSL — which didn't exist a year ago — is currently expanding at such a pace that it's hard to keep track of how many teams there are in the circuit. Before the women's league became affiliated with the United States Soccer Federation (USSF) this year, it consisted of just five teams.

Now there are 13 squads in the 300-member loop. And GLWSL President Mari-jo Handon says it's just a matter of time before Brighton becomes number 14.

"The Michigan Women's Soccer League is going to be big," Handon forecasts. "We've more than doubled our number of teams in a year. The response has been tremendous, and we see no signs of it letting up right now."

Handon admits that what's happening now goes beyond the expectations she had when the thought of starting a league first popped into her head. "Originally, I played for a team in Ann Arbor," she explained, "and I had so much fun doing it that it occurred to me that a league would be a good idea."

"Thankfully, it just happened to work out that a lot of people had the same thought," Handon recalled. "So we had an organizational meeting last year and joined into a league."

Now there's no telling where it'll all end. Handon notes that the GLWSL is one of few organized leagues that feature unlimited registration. The only rule regarding number of players stipulates that each team may have no more than three women under 18 years of age, she says.

"Some teams carry as many as 26 players," Handon states. "And although the median age is around 23 to 30, we have a lot of mother-daughter combinations in the league."

Handon says that the league is a competitive one, but adds in the same breath that beginners shouldn't be timid to come out because of that fact. "We're competitive, yes," Handon allows. "But if you've never played before, you should still come out. There's a place for everybody."

There's also fun for everybody, the league president stresses. Part of the GLWSL's activities include an annual "Soccerfest" in which league teams play against one another "just for the fun of it."

In addition, Handon has announced that a GLWSL All-Star team will play against the Michigan State University women's soccer team at the Pontiac Silverdome July 4.

"We try to arrange these fun activities because soccer's a fun game," Handon says. "It's a good game because you make friends, and besides, the game gives you a good feeling because it's good exercise. You're running for 90 minutes straight."

Interested parties are urged to call Handon at 227-2107 or vice-president Paula Hockster at 360-1099.

"It doesn't take much to start a team," Handon says for those of you who are entertaining such notions. "The fact that our league has evolved so quickly is proof of that."

'F' League Baseball Highlights

The 'F' League season neared its halfway mark with five teams within two games of first place. The Angels and Expos squared off Saturday in a battle for the top slot, and the Angels emerged with an 8-6 victory in the well-played game. A three-run sixth inning, highlighted by singles of the bats of Steve Frelick, Dan Nielsen and Ed Bowman broke a 5-5 tie and gave the Angels undisputed possession of first place. Two days earlier the Angels stormed from behind to whip the Astros 8-6. The Expos exploded for 13 runs in the sixth inning to dump the Padres 21-7. Bob Bugar paced the nine-hit Expos assault with a triple and a single. The Phillies earned a share of second place by splitting their two games, losing in extra innings to the Pirates 15-14, and beating the Padres 5-2. In the Padres game the Phils scored all of their runs in the first frame, then managed only one hit the rest of the way.

The Pirates, after erasing a five-run deficit in the last inning and notching the win over the Phils, fell to the Reds 8-3. Bob Pode and Ron Greer limited the Pirates to six hits, one of them a two-run homer by Jerry Pawloski. Two days earlier the Reds edged the Braves 6-5 as Greer and Chris Willerer blanked the Braves over the final four innings of the game.

On Saturday, the Braves rebounded to dump the Cardinals 12-4, as Jeff Metz and Tim Campbell checked in with two hits each.

The Giants stormed back to the .500 mark with a 5-2 victory over the Mets as Mike Weber fashioned a two-hitter and Mike Sylvestre drove home three runs, one with a solo home run.

NORTHVILLE MERCHANTS 6, WINNER'S CIRCLE 1

Jeff Hodgkins hit a two-run triple in the first inning and added an RBI-single in the fifth to pace the Merchant attack. Ed Kritch hit two doubles and a single to back Hodgkins. Kritch and Jerry Dettler each scored twice for the winners. Joey Bishop doubled and scored on a single by Chuck Royer in the first inning, giving Circle its only score.

NORTHVILLE MERCHANTS 14, SHEEHAN'S ON THE GREEN 12

Merchants scored seven runs in the sixth inning to escape with the win. The score was 10-7 when the Merchants came to bat for the final time. Cap Pethers singled, John Luke walked, Ed Kritch hit a single to load the bases and Jerry Dettler parked the ball over the fence for a grand-slam homer. Schoolcraft tuition increased to $18.50

By TOM LONERGAN

Schoolcraft College has a $14 million budget for 1980-81. It includes a tuition increase of $1.50 a credit hour.

The new budget, which takes effect July 1, is nearly eight percent larger than the 1979-80 budget of $13,040,414.

The seven-member board of trustees made no changes to the administration's proposal.

A required public hearing held on the budget last week drew no speakers.

Dubbed a "continuation" budget by college officials, the $14,071,906 package will rely less on state aid this year than in past years.

Schoolcraft expects only a 2.7 percent increase in state appropriations, down from 6 to 8 percent increases in past years, according to W. Kenneth Lindner, vice president of finance.

Governor William Milliken ordered a state budget cut last month which primarily effects what Schoolcraft will receive for the first quarter (July-September) of its budget year. State aid through January is expected to be the same as during the past budget year, said Lindner.

"We don't know what's going to happen after January," he said.

However, a 13.7 percent increase in property tax revenues, even with a tax rate decrease, will compensate for the modest increase in state aid.

The college expects $5.2 million from the state for 1980-81, up from $5,088,232 granted in 1979-80. Property tax revenues are expected to increase to $5.4 million, from $4.8 million.

Student tuition and fees are expected to generate a little more than $3 million, or 21 percent of the budget.

Schoolcraft expects a 2.5 percent enrollment increase next fall.

The new students, as well as returning ones, will pay tuition of $18.50 per credit hour, up from the current $17 per credit hour. Out of district students who now pay $27.50 per credit hour will pay $29 in the fall.

Instruction is the largest college expenditure at $7.2 million. College officials have placed $745,236 in the budget contingency fund for anticipated raises for the 164 fulltime faculty.

The faculty union's contract with Schoolcraft expires in August.

No new programs will be added during the 1980-81 school year, but the college will hire a controller, dean of instruction and one secretary.

Council considers sewer cleaning apparatus

Northville City Council voted unanimously to take bids on a sewer-vactor for the department of public works at its May 27 meeting.

It acted on the strong recommendation of DPW Superintendent Ted Mapes who projected a saving to the city of $44,584 over a five-year period if a Jet-Vector is purchased instead of contracting for service.

He warned that it could cost as much as $8,000 more later in the year, saying he hopes to be able to purchase a 1980 truck in stock now.

He said many city sewers need cleaning and that contracting the work at $80 an hour is costly.
