

Sandy Baisch, of Moonkin Toys, puts the final touches on a member of the elephant family available to Detroit GOP conventioners

Northville firm hopes elephants get GOP vote

By KEVIN WILSON

When the Republican National Convention rolls into Detroit next week the area economy is expected to receive a $30 million to $50 million boost.

Though the nearest delegates will be housed in Plymouth and Farmington Hills, some small share of the GOP largesse should come trickling into Northville.

The folks at Moonkin Toys, 446 South Main, hope so anyway.

For the past few weeks Lou and June Moon and Sandy Baisch have been busily producing elephants they hope conventioners will find attractive as souvenirs of their stay in Detroit.

Beginning Saturday and continuing through Thursday, the Moons will be selling a wide range of their hand-crafted wooden elephants from a booth in an exhibition hall on the Ontario level of the Detroit Plaza Hotel, home to most of the party bigwigs.

The items designed for the convention include everything from a little four-inch elephant with the words "GOP Detroit '80" emblazoned on its flanks to a rocking elephant suitable for toddler Republicans to ride into glory.

Prices ranging from $5 to $40 also encompass pull-toy elephants, three elephants linked trunk to tail and painted red, white and blue, and natural wood (stained) elephant pencil holders.

"We thought about this as soon as we heard the convention was coming to Detroit," June Moon explained. "In March we heard there were going to be booths so we contacted the Civic Host Committee. They sent us the information and we were accepted."

June noted that sales had better be brisk at the $500 booth rental fee.

"That's kind of steep for us, but we figure we can get $500 worth of advertising from it if nothing else."

This week is something of a mad dash toward completion of the 100 rocking elephants, 50 pull toys and hundreds of the smaller products, she said.

Lou cuts the toys out on the jig saw and June and Sandy assemble and paint the various types and package them in plastic.

Also for sale from their booth at the Plaza will be the wooden trains and other toys that have attracted local interest in Moonkin.

For this occasion, however, the Moons will be prepared to ship their products anywhere in the country via UPS.

Booths will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. in the exhibition halls, which will remain open to the public during the convention.

Air senior village plan for training school site

By KEN KOVACS

A plan for a 1300-unit village for the elderly on the grounds of the former Wayne County Child Development Center will be introduced to township residents July 23 at a public hearing at 8 p.m. at Northville High School.

The township planning commission, which has been considering zoning changes which would be necessary to accommodate the village, will the host the session.

Residents, as well as members of the township board of trustees and Economic Development Corporation (EDC), have been invited to discuss the proposed project following a slide presentation by Claude Coates of Villan-Leman Associates, township planning consultant.

The proposed senior citizen village — under study by the county EDC, township planning consultants and Zuchelli-Hunter Associates, urban economists from Maryland for some 15 months — would house 2,000 persons age 62 or older.

Located on the east side of Sheldon between Five and Six Mile, the village would include a 200-bed convalescent facility as well as commercial shops and recreational services.

Robert FitzPatrick, executive director of the county EDC, at a presentation at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn July 2 said the project is unique.

"If this project becomes a reality, the county and Northville Township will be fulfilling the need for elderly housing with one of the most innovative senior citizen complexes in the United States," he stated.

Before the planning can be completed and the project built, however, there are a number of steps which must be taken, FitzPatrick said.

The County Board of Commissioners must transfer ownership of the property — some 710 acres of which 85 would be developed — to the county EDC.

Also, the township EDC must waive its jurisdiction of the project to the county EDC.

Township officials and EDC members have indicated they would like to see such a project built in their community.

Zuchelli-Hunter has projected the township would receive some $57,000 in property taxes each year and Northville schools would net almost $1 Million annually.

The county would receive approximately $2.3 million each year in lease payments throughout the duration of the 40-year lease.

The senior village also would create a number of job opportunities. Preliminary estimates show the creation of some 750 temporary construction jobs and possibly as many as 550 permanent jobs.

Economists have offered a number of financing methods which include private and public funding.

Zuchelli-Hunter's predictions indicate approximately 25 percent of the housing in the village likely would be federally subsidized, probably under the Section 8 Housing Act.

FitzPatrick said he hopes following the public hearing in Northville the planning commission and board of trustees will pass resolutions supporting the project plan.

If this does occur and the county board of commissioners also goes along with the plan, ground breaking could take place as early as the spring of 1981, FitzPatrick predicted.

Residents get explanation for higher city tax bills

Higher summer property tax bills and steep water bills are bringing inquiries from residents, city council heard Monday night — as members of the audience echoed questions the city also has received in letters and calls regarding the hikes.

Mayor Paul Vernon called the current tax assessments "one of the disadvantages of being located in two counties" after City Manager Steven Walters explained that only a single millage rate can be levied on the city as a whole.

He said the Headlee Amendment calls for the calculation to be made on the total city State Equalized Valuation (SEV).

Wes Hendrickson called the increase "sort of amazing" in the light of Headlee. P.C. Callam of Birmingham, owner of Fairbrook Apartments, wrote to ask about "a 14.5 percent increase with the Headlee limit of 11.3."

Walters outlined that the Headlee limit applies to a governmental unit's maximum authorized millage rate, and not the millage rate being levied if it is below the authorized rate. In the city, the 20-mill charter limitation has been rolled back as the result of the Headlee limitation in 1979 and 1980 to 18.60 mills.

The city, he said, levied 14.13 mills in 1979, below the Headlee-revised maximum rate of 18.60 mills. City council determined voluntarily, he continued, to stay within the Headlee guideline for 1980, and therefore reduced its 1980 millage rate to 13.36 mills in order to produce an 11.3 percent increase in taxes when applied to the 1980 increase in SEV.

The average 1980 SEV increase in the Wayne County portion of the city is 20.6 percent. The Oakland portion increased 16.0 percent.

Thus, the average tax increase in the Wayne portion is 14.0 percent and in the Oakland portion 9.7 percent. This, Walters calculated, produces an average increase of approximately 11.3 percent overall.

In 1979, the situation was reversed with the Oakland County portion of the city having the larger percentage increase.

Also appearing on the current bills is a levy approved by council of 0.52 mill to replace the one percent collection fee which had been added to the winter tax bill in previous years. This fee, Walters pointed out, then will not be added to the winter bill.

The change is being made as the collection fee is being challenged in court in some neighboring cities.

Anticipating several inquiries on the bills, Walters told council he had prepared a general explanatory letter to which will be added a specific explanation of the taxpayer's bill.

Councilmembers reported receiving questions regarding the city's water rates in view of reports that they were as much as 358 percent higher than the City of Detroit charges for its water — which Northville buys.

Walters said the cost of operating the local system, which has some old, high maintenance lines, has to be added to the basic cost. The charge is incorporated with sewers also. He pointed out that there is a reduced summer water rate that acknowledges water used for lawn sprinkling does not go through the sewers.

Councilmember Carolann Ayers asked the manager about "water only" customers. Walters said there are "about five to 10 legitimate customers who have water but no sewer available."

However, the city does have at least one customer with two meters, one sewer-and-water and another water-only. Mayor Paul Vernon said there may be a question on the legality of the water-only meter.

Planners recommend new PBO on Main

An expanded Professional, Business, Office (PBO) zoning classification for lots 97 through 106A on South Main in the area known as Bealtown unanimously was recommended by the Northville city planners at their July 1 meeting.

The planners, who had met earlier with city council seeking to find an acceptable zoning for the area, incorporated into the motion to council the memorandum from Ronald Nino, planning consultant, which added uses to the PBO category.

Presently zoned commercial (CBD), the area has been upgraded in recent years as owners maintained and improved homes throughout Bealtown. The change had been discussed by the planners for several months in an effort to save the houses, many of which date back to the Victorian era.

Nino had pointed out that the area had not developed under its present commercial designation and recommended the new PBO as an alternate use that would not require demolishing the houses. Parking requirements, he stated also, are less for the PBO classification.

Prior to his appointment as dean of evening operations, he served as acting vice president for instructional affairs at Schoolcraft.

Free blood pressure checks given to Allen Terrace seniors

Fifty-two senior citizens at Allen Terrace had their blood pressure checked without charge last Wednesday by city patrolman James Marks.

"The response was beyond our expectations," reported Fran Yoakam, executive director of the senior citizen complex.

Both she and Marks said they were delighted that more than half of the center's residents took advantage of the volunteer clinic. Plans are being made to conduct it monthly in the activities room. The next clinic will be at 11 a.m. July 16.

Permanent records of residents' blood pressure are being kept. Yoakam said they are being asked to have their physician indicate acceptable highs and lows. When a reading is beyond the normal given, he then can be notified.

Officer Marks is an Emergency Medical Technician licensed with the state and also nationally registered.

He said he knows some of the senior residents and, seeing the need for such free checks, set up the program with Yoakam and gained city approval.

At its June 16 meeting the city council praised Marks' offer, calling the project "wonderful" and giving its backing.

Oakland County seeks one-quarter mill for parks

By DAVID RAY

A proposal to renew a quarter-mill property tax for "acquiring, developing and maintaining" Oakland County parks and recreation facilities will appear on the August 5 primary election ballot.

If approved, the levy — 25 cents for each $1,000 of state equalized value (SEV) — will remain on county property owners' tax bills for an additional five years, through 1986.

Funds generated by the tax are used to operate Oakland's more than 2,700 acres of parks and recreation facilities at eight locations. Based on the county's 1980 SEV, the quarter-mill levy will raise about $2.5 million, or 56 percent of the parks and recreation commission's $4.5-million budget, according to a spokesperson for the commission.

Other sources of revenue include park user fees and charges, government matching funds, and, a "very, very small amount" from private gifts and donations, the spokesperson added.

The tax was first approved by county voters in 1966 when the parks and recreation commission was created with a $100,000 loan from the county board of commissioners, forerunner of the county board of commissioners.

Oakland voters renewed the millage in 1971 and 1976, both times by a margin of two to one.

Although the current levy doesn't expire until December 1981, county officials decided to place the renewal issue on the August ballot because there isn't a regularly scheduled election next year, said Lewis E. Wint, commission chairperson.

There is a need for continued development of the county parks system, he added.

"Due to an increased need to conserve energy resources, county residents will be seeking more than ever before more economical, close-to-home recreational activities," Wint said.

More than one million people will visit county parks this year, officials predict, compared to approximately 400,000 five years ago.

Wint noted that the millage funds have played a vital role in the progress and growth of the county parks system.

About 79 percent of the millage monies collected over the last 14 years — $9.5 million — have been used for land acquisition and capital and building improvements in combination with matching funds from the federal and state governments, according to a commission spokesperson.

"Due to rising costs, it is becoming more difficult to generate sufficient revenues to offset the cost of operating the parks," said R. Eric Reickel, manager of the county parks system.

"The millage is more important now than ever before if we are to continue to provide the quality park system and recreational opportunities Oakland County citizens have become accustomed to over the past 14 years," Reickel added.

Oakland County parks facilities include:

- Waterford Oaks, a 112-acre park on Watkins Lake Road in Waterford Township, featuring the unique wave action pool, a new tennis and court games complex, an activities center building and the commission headquarters.

- Independence Oaks, an 800-acre site off Sashabaw Road near Clarkston, offering year-round recreation and nature study.

- Springfield Oaks on Andersonville Road near Davidsburg, providing an 18 hole golf course, a multi-purpose youth activities center and outdoor horse arenas.

- Addison Oaks, 720 acres on W. Romeo Road near Oxford, offers year-round recreation and a Tudor-style conference center.

Recommend new PBO

The motion made by Charles Freydl included the added uses to be permitted providing that existing residences are not demolished or removed. Nino also recommended that the exteriors not be changed drastically and that any new building be compatible.

Nino's recommendations for expanding the PBO, made May 15, included such retail establishments as wearing apparel and accessories, jewelry, cosmetics and notions, gift shops, camera shops, record shops, tea rooms or coffee shops, dining room or other sit-down restaurant, as opposed to a drive-in restaurant.

Service establishment additions are hair cutting and styling, soft goods repair, jewelry and watch repairs and small household appliance repairs.

At the July 1 meeting the planners agreed to consider rezoning for North Center, including near-by homes on Randolph whose back yards abut those on Center.

A public hearing was set for General Commercial District (GCD) along Center and from R-1B on Randolph to Central Business District (CBD).

Pulte Homes of Michigan has proposed a condominium complex surrounding Lake Success

Planners delay action on site plan

By KEN KOVACS

A condominium complex has been proposed for the property on three sides of Lake Success — better known as the gravel pit — located at Griswold and Eight Mile.

However, the proposed developer, Pulte Homes of Michigan, is having a difficult time getting a preliminary site plan approved by township planners.

The preliminary plan is the third in the past year — the first two being rejected by planners due to numerous deficiencies.

Mike Vigilant, representing Pulte, had his third plan rejected June 24, but convinced planners to reconsider and table action on the proposal to allow him to meet with planners to discuss the problems, which were pointed out by township planning and engineering consultants.

Planners' objections to the proposed site plan included the lack recreation facilities — including possible utilization of the lake; lack of obscuring walls for parking and computation of driveway aprons as parking spaces.

At a study session June 28 — called principally to discuss revisions in the zoning ordinance — planners told Vigilant what they wanted.

"I think with that type of complex the

NHS junior examines water

A Northville High School junior is one of 30 studying water quality in the Kalamazoo area as part of the summer science program at Kalamazoo College July 22-26.

Judy Joslin, daughter of Burr and Elizabeth Joslin, 44866 Byrne Drive, was chosen for the program on the basis of her demonstrated abilities and motivation in the sciences.

Ms. Joslin is interested in chemistry and biology and would like to become a doctor.

The students will learn field and lab techniques to apply in independent projects studying the biology and chemistry of water at sites including the Kalamazoo River, Asylum Lake, Woods Lake and Arcadia Creek.

The project gives students experience with college-level instruction and laboratory work while providing guidance and encouragement to young people with potential for scientific and technical careers.

Kalamazoo College is one of two in Michigan chosen for a National Science Foundation grant to fund the program. This year's is the fifth conducted at the college, and the fourth with NSF support.

The 30 students in the program come from 27 high schools in ten states.

The program is directed by Richard Cook, assistant professor of chemistry at the college, with assistance from Joseph Engemann, holder of a similar post in biology at Western Michigan University. Francis Broadway, a science instructor at Lovett School in Atlanta, Georgia has served as head counselor since the inception of the program and will continue to do so.

Attends band camp

Cheryl Yant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Yant of 19757 Pierson, attended the first summer session of Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp.

The June 26 to July 6 session at the camp 15 miles north of Muskegon in Manistee National Forest offers instruction to elementary through high school students in art, band, dance, jazz, orchestra, piano and theater. She enrolled for band instruction.

The camp, in its 15th year this season, expects to host 3,600 in two and four-week programs over the summer.

Recreation needs primary obstacle to Pulte complex developer should provide typical recreation facilities," long-time commissioner Bernard Baldwin said. "We don't want people scabbing off Highland Lakes facilities."

The preliminary site plan submitted calls for 340 units to be built on some 50 acres in the first phase and a second phase to be built later would bring the total number of units to about 600.

"When you have that many residents I think we as a planning commission have the authority to require the developer to provide some type of recreation facilities," Commissioner Kenneth Sewell stated.

Planners also are concerned about the safety problems created by the steep banks and great depth of the lake. Although it is fenced — and because of vandalism has been refenced a number of times — the lake has been the site of several drownings over the past few years.

"I perceive the whole development as a nuisance if it is not done well," said Commissioner James Nowka.

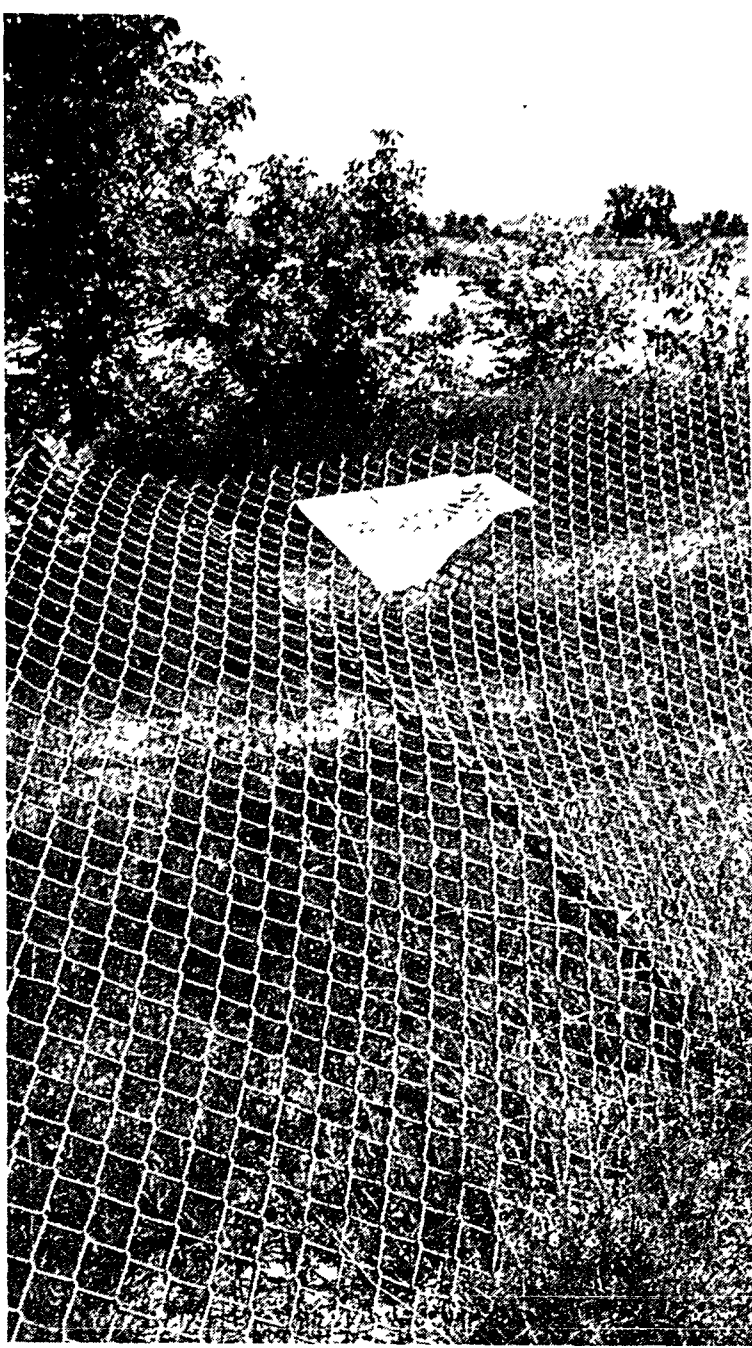

Vigilant, thoroughly aware of the dangerous situation presented by the lake, said it will never be developed and advertised as a swimming lake.

"The Department of Health has indicated it will never okay the lake for swimming, but we could eventually develop it for recreational use as a boating and/or fishing lake," he stated.

The developer did agree that an acre or acre and a half would be reserved for recreation activities.

The parking problems were resolved when the developer agreed to count a driveway apron as one fourth of a parking space rather than a half or full space, as he proposed originally.

Planners will consider a revised preliminary plan possibly as early as July 29, the date of the next regular meeting.

Employment survey here

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the week of July 14 through 19, Robert G. McWilliam, director of the bureau's regional office in Detroit announced.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor as part of a scientifically designed sample of approximately 84,000 households nationwide.

Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of the survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in May the survey indicated that of the 105.1 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 97 million were employed. The unemployment rate was 7.8 percent, up from 7 percent in April and 6.2 percent in March.

July Fourth was glorious here

An estimated 15-20,000 people lined the streets of Northville July 4th to watch the 10 a.m. parade kick-off of the Jaycee-sponsored Independence Day festivities

The weather was conducive and the "I love Northville" theme came through loud and clear, if crowd size is any indication.

"It was the biggest crowd we've ever had," Bill Zapke, fireworks chairman, claimed.

The crowd was treated to the sights and sounds of marching bands, drill teams, floats, clowns and the decorated bicycles of the community's children.

The Farmington Community Band took first-place honors in junior musical marching competition with the Northville Rag Tag Band, formed specifically for the occasion, runners-up.

Plymouth's Fife and Drum Corps took home the senior musical marching honors and the runner-up Plymouth Community Band kept the category in the family.

Two Northville Cub Scout Packs were judged best in the junior marching category. Pack 903 placed first and Pack 755 was runner-up.

Senior marching honors went to the Alhambra Drill Team with the runner-up slot occupied by the Northwest Militia.

The Salem Rockets finished first as special marching group, just ahead of the Canton Chieftettes.

Northville's own Skenecrest Farms entry took equestrian honors over O'Toole Recking.

Northville Montessori Center's float was judged best of the parade with runner-up honors going to the float entered by Northville Community Recreation.

Approximately 75 children entered the bike decoration contest. The top three bikes in each age group, according to the judges, were:

3 and 4 years: Scott Drost, Angela Abbot and Eric Abbey.

5 and 6 years: Brent Williams, Sean Kolassa and Brian Scholz.

7 and 8 years: Chris Weidenbach, Melissa Muir and Blair Borgia.

9 and 10 years: Theresa Wilhelm, Sherri Lane and Sean Sullivan.

11 and 12 years: Christina and Rick Phillips (bicycle built for two), Ann-Marie Romanik, Jean Schmidt.

The afternoon hours were filled with activities at Mill Race Historical Village, including a chicken barbecue. There was also a mini-marathon along Hines Park from Northville to Plymouth.

The Mill Race activities included a dunk tank and a watermelon eating contest for youngsters.

The 76 entries slurped and gobbled through nine heats in four age categories. Final heat winners were Shawn Allen (13-14 age group), Barby Woodruff (7-8-9), Erin Allen (7-8-9) and Paul Smith (7-8-9). All were winners in their initial heats.

The early heats found Joe Luther the fastest eater in the 6 and under class, while the 10, 11 and 12 class heat winners Doug Martin, Scott Holloway, Kathleen Holloway and Susan Brain had their fills in the preliminary rounds.

Prizes for the watermelon eating were provided by It's Custard Time, Wagon Wheel Family Restaurant, Cloverdale Farm Dairy, Gennitti's Hole in the Wall, Burger Chef of Northville, Northville Station and A&P.

A field of 12 contestants in novice and professional categories entered the lumberjack contest. First place winners received axes donated by Black's and Snow Pro Hardware and second place winners received splitting wedges.

A "Cute Kid" contest sponsored by the Jaycees drew 18 entries. Shea Collins drew the most one-cent votes as cute girl and Robert Beier won the boy's side of the contest.

The winners received trophies. The penny voters added up to $165 to be donated to the Ronald McDonald House at Detroit Children's Hospital. Chris Abbey, one of the organizers for the charity fundraiser, said she thinks the contest will become an annual event.

The Jaycee's raffle raised $1,100 toward the cost of day's festivity.

A Chamber of Commerce raffle to raise funds for chamber events found Detroit resident Robert Davis winning a television, Ann Roy of Bruce Roy Realty a Toronto trip, Mary Smith of 512 Baseline a set of luggage, and Southfield resident M. Davis a fruit basket.

The day's activities peaked with the bangs and flashes, oohs and aaahs, of a fireworks display at Northville High School. In order not to put the city or school district to the expense, the Jaycees returned July 5 to clean up both sides of the hill at the school.

Voters offered choice of three tax plans in fall

Michigan voters probably will be able to choose between three tax reform plans in November.

Legislative and petitioning action over the past week has virtually assured ballot placement for tax adjustment plans devised by Governor William Milliken, Shiawassee County Drain Commissioner Robert Tisch and State Representatives Roy Smith and Perry Bullard.

Milliken's proposed $800 million tax shift plan was placed on the ballot by the state legislature late last week in the midst of a rush of activity preceding the session's summer break.

The proposal is designed to shift some of the tax burden from property taxes to the state income and sales taxes. It has come in for heated criticism because property tax reductions would not come until a year after other taxes were increased.

Supporters of the Tisch plan to slash property taxes 50 percent immediately and require public votes on all new taxes or increases turned in 410,000 petition signatures to state election officials shortly before the filing deadline Monday.

Officials say it will likely take three to four weeks to count and verify the signatures but since less than 300,000 valid signatures are needed for ballot placement it is highly likely the Tisch plan will appear.

A similar prediction can be made for the Smith-Bullard proposal.

Over 350,000 petition signatures supporting the measure aimed at reducing property taxes through a new system of educational financing were filed with the Secretary of State's office July 3.

Named after State Representatives Roy Smith (R-Saline) and Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor) the tax reform plan would:

- constitutionally mandate local control of schools;
- reduce property taxes 50 percent by limiting the number of mills paid by any homeowner;
- finance public education through commercial levies and the income tax, with revenue shared between districts on an equal per-pupil basis;
- grant senior retirees a total tax exemption of their homes' first $50,000 of value;
- provide renter relief of $140 through legislation expected to pass shortly.

Committees planned to examine watershed

Wade, Trim and Associates, Inc., consulting engineers commissioned by Wayne County to examine water pollution problems in areas of the Rouge watershed, has announced the formation of various citizen advisory committees.

The committees will be comprised of private citizens, public interest groups, public officials and others, who are interested in the studies being conducted by Wade-Trim on the watershed problems.

Persons interested in serving on a committee should contact the Wayne County Board of Public Works, 900 West Lafayette, Detroit.

The studies being conducted by Wade-Trim are called the Downriver Sewage Disposal System and the Rouge Valley Sewage Disposal. Local residents wishing to join a committee should indicate their interest in the Rouge Valley Sewage Disposal study. A third study, the North Huron Valley Amended Study, is being conducted by Black and Veatch, consulting engineers. The Rouge River Watershed Council communities of Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth and Plymouth Township also are included in this study.

Marcie Colling, executive secretary of the RRWC, indicated the committees will give individuals the opportunity to express their views concerning the watershed problems.

The studies are being conducted under the Federal Clean Water Act, Section 201. The studies are required as one means of fulfilling the federal government's goals of clean water by 1985.

Persons needing further information can contact the RRWC, 9501 Henry Ruff, Livonia.

This Bond and interest thereon shall never constitute a general obligation of the Municipality within the meaning of any constitutional, statutory or charter provision or limitation and shall never constitute nor give rise to a charge against the general credit or taxing powers of the Municipality but shall be a limited obligation of the Municipality payable solely from and secured by certain mortgaged property under a Mortgage and Trust Indenture (the "Indenture") dated as of August 1, 1980, from the Municipality to The Detroit Bank and Trust Company, as Trustee, which mortgaged property includes a pledge of the net revenues derived by the Municipality from the Project and a mortgage lien on the Project.

This Bond may be assigned upon ten days prior notification to the Municipality and the Company by the registered holder in person or by its attorney in writing with a duly executed instrument of assignment in the form set forth below, and any assignee shall take this Bond subject to these conditions and the further condition that The Detroit Bank and Trust Company shall continue as Trustee and until any bank or trust company located in Michigan and qualified to be such is requested by the assignee to be successor Trustee and is approved by the Municipality in writing. Unless the Bondholder and Municipality should otherwise agree in writing, the Bond is subject to mandatory prepayment at 100% of the unpaid principal amount hereof on any interest payment date on or after February 1, 1982 following exercise by the Company of its option under the Contract to purchase the Project, but only when following:

- damage or destruction of the Project to such extent (i) that the Project cannot be reasonably restored within six months to the condition thereof immediately preceding such damage or destruction, or (ii) that the Company is prevented from carrying on normal operation of the Project for a period of six months; or
- condemnation of the Project or taking by eminent domain of such use of the Project that the Company is prevented from carrying on normal operation of the Project for a period of six months; or
- constitutional, legislative, judicial or administrative action voiding the Contract or rendering it unenforceable or impossible of performance or imposing unreasonable burdens or excessive liabilities, including tax liabilities, on the Municipality or the Company; or
- any event established by a notice of deficiency by the Internal Revenue Service or a written opinion of an attorney or a firm of attorneys of recognized standing on the subject of the tax-exempt status of the interest on municipal bonds (selected by the Company or the registered holder of this Bond, which shall not be a firm of attorneys which has represented either with respect to the issuance of this Bond) which caused interest on this Bond to fail to be wholly excludable under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, from the gross income of the holder of this Bond other than a holder who is a "substantial user" or "related person" as such terms are used in said Internal Revenue Code.

A mandatory prepayment of this Bond pursuant to subsection (d) above shall be accompanied by a premium equal to the interest that has accrued on the Bond from the date that interest is so includable in the gross income of the holder hereof to the date of such mandatory prepayment.

Notice of any such prepayment shall be given at least 30 days prior to the prepayment date by mailing to the Bondholder a notice fixing such prepayment date, the amount of principal and the premium, if any, to be prepaid. Prior to the date fixed for prepayment, cash funds shall be placed with the Trustee in an amount sufficient to pay the principal fixed to be prepaid, accrued interest thereon and the premium, if any. Upon the happening of the above conditions, the installments of principal thus prepaid shall not bear interest after the date fixed for prepayment and shall no longer be protected by or deemed outstanding under the Indenture.

The Bondholder, as such, shall have no right to enforce the provisions of the Indenture or to institute action to enforce the covenants therein, or to take any action with respect to any event of default under the Indenture, or to institute any action to defend any suit or other proceedings with respect thereto, as provided in the Indenture; provided, however, that nothing in the Indenture contained shall affect or impair any right of enforcement conferred on the Bondholder by Act No. 62 to enforce the payment of the principal of and interest on this Bond and after the maturity thereof, or the obligation of the Municipality to pay the principal of and interest on this Bond at the time, place, from the source and in the manner in this Bond and in the Indenture expressed; and provided, further, that the Trustee shall have all of the rights specified in the Indenture even though it is also the Bondholder. In certain events, on the conditions, in the manner and with the effect set forth in the Indenture, the principal of this Bond issued under the Indenture and then outstanding may become or may be declared due and payable before the stated maturity thereof, together with interest accrued thereon and in such event a premium equal to 1% of the principal amount so declared due and payable. Supplements and amendments to the Indenture and the Contract may be made only to the extent and in the circumstances permitted by the Indenture and the Contract.

This Bond shall not be valid or become obligatory for any purpose until the Trustee's Certificate of Authentication hereon shall have been executed by the Trustee.

IT IS HEREBY CERTIFIED, RECITED AND DECLARED, that all acts, conditions and things required to exist, happen and be performed precedent to and in the execution and delivery of the Indenture and the issuance of this Bond do exist, have happened and have been performed in due time, form and manner as required by law and that the issuance of this Bond together with all other obligations of the Municipality, does not exceed or violate any constitutional, statutory or charter limitation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the City of Novi, Michigan, has caused this Bond to be signed in its name by its Mayor and countersigned by its City Clerk, and its corporate seal to be affixed hereto, all as of the first day of August, 1980.

Visitors step into past at Mill Race Village

Fourth of July activities at Mill Race Historical Village recreated fun of yesteryear.

A "first" this year was a log-rolling competition in the stream. Chris Wagner at right shows it takes agility to stay atop a slippery log. Others in the contest, above, are from left Wagner, Doug Boor, Terry Nadeau and Ken Weber. Also new was a lumberjack log-sawing contest for novices and professionals.

A favorite with the crowd was the Northwest Militia performing in authentic costume. Members again this year illustrated how to load and shoot.

Kirksey applauds welfare reform bills

Recent House passage of two Republican-sponsored welfare reform bills which are designed to save the state about $16 million a year was "long overdue," State Representative Jack Kirksey (R-Northville, Livonia) said Thursday.

"I believe we have made real progress toward tightening up our welfare system so that only those persons truly in need are the ones receiving public assistance," Kirksey said. "However, it's rather discouraging that it took the House so long to approve these bills, and it's even more discouraging that there were legislators speaking against this kind of cut-and-dried reform that will certainly help to reduce the amount of fraud which has occurred in the past."

During floor debate on the legislation, Kirksey said some legislators demonstrated a reluctance to "smoke out" the welfare fraud abuses which continue to plague various assistance programs.

"Their opposition to this legislation indicates to me that certain legislators are not serious about true welfare reform," he said.

The bills, both passed recently by the House, have been sent to the Senate where they likely will be taken up in September.

One measure would deny public assistance money for three months to welfare recipients who turn down employment opportunities or refuse to work in community work relief and work training projects. The measure, designed to save about $8 million a year, would apply only to General Assistance recipients, a group overwhelmingly comprised of single individuals.

Under current state law, county social services officials must require employable persons to work on a community work relief or work training project — if one is available — in return for public assistance money unless they are physically or mentally unable to do so. However, there is currently no state statute penalizing welfare recipients who refuse to work or accept employment.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS Mr. Douglas, Floor, Northville Jaycees, passed out a survey to Council re paving bike paths in the community and targeting problems. He asked for comments or suggestions by the end of the following week.

ACCESS TO LOTS 616 & 617, PLANNING BOARD Mr. Henrickson, 247 West Street, stated he had submitted a letter dated May 1, 1980 re access to his lots and is concerned. He read a letter he had submitted to Council back in September of 1979 asking for authorization to use High Street as a driveway. He stated he was originally going to build on the property but decided not to. He has been running into problems because of the lack of access to water and sewer. He would like to use High Street from Baseline to the lot. He stated if the City wanted to take over what they did to make the lots accessible fine and good.

Mayor Vernon stated Mr. Henrickson was repeating his request to use High Street as access to his lots and asked the City Attorney if there were any complications.

The City Attorney mentioned High is a dedicated Street and that Mr. Henrickson could have an agreement drawn up which would state at any time the lots are developed Mr. Henrickson would surrender anything he puts into it. He suggested he would like to have an engineer look at it and asked Mr. Henrickson if his lot was on the corner.

Mr. Henrickson explained the site of his lots and stated that about 80 percent is hard packed already and was used as the entrance to the old nursing home.

The City Attorney mentioned the lawsuit pending against the City by one of the property owners claiming the City is depriving him of access to the use of his property.

Councilman Ayers asked if he made a driveway he would be opening the lots immediately to his north for use.

Mr. Henrickson thought that was correct. The City Attorney suggested he be allowed to review the matter and come back with a contract for the next meeting, July 7. He would lay out the whole area and identify the owners.

The City Attorney suggested Mr. Bonner's lots be included. Mayor Vernon asked if the City could legally grant this.

The City Attorney stated he would have to look at the language of the Ordinance.

Mayor Vernon stated Council would be provided all the information it needs to make an educated opinion at the next Council meeting.

JULY 4TH ACTIVITIES Request from the Chamber of Commerce to block off Main Street between Hutton Street and the parking lot at 8:30 a.m. on the Fourth of July to conduct a Garden Tractor (blades removed) Race.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Gardner to grant permission to the Chamber of Commerce to hold a tractor race at 8:30 a.m. on Main Street between Hutton and the Parking lot subject to coordination of the Jaycees and subject to the supervision of the City Manager and Police Department.

Motion carried unanimously. Request from the Chamber of Commerce to give permission to the Jaycees to have a horse drawn buggy rides on the Fourth of July from the Barbecued Chicken area and on Farmer's Market Day, route to be through the historical district (Mr. Gerwicki said they would clean up after the horses and they do have insurance).

Paul Folino, Chamber of Commerce, mentioned the young man who owns the horses and buggy attended their meeting. The Chamber thought it would be a unique idea to have this in the City. His concern was the insurance. He stated he asked for additional insurance.

Councilman asked what the charges would be for the rides. Paul stated it would depend on the length of the ride and felt the cost would be nominal.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Gardner to grant permission to the Chamber of Commerce to conduct horse and buggy rides on the 4th of July and on Farmer's Market Day routed through the Historic District subject to the supervision of the City Manager and the Police Department.

Motion Carried Unanimously. Communications from the Jaycees requesting $1,000 to help defray the cost of the 4th of July celebration in the City.

John Stilson, Jaycees, mentioned the Township had already approved the $1,000. He stated they had sent out invitations to different organizations to participate in the parade and thinks the floats will be better than ever. The theme they are promoting is "The City of Northville".

The City Manager suggested he should talk to the Council and Township in January before the budgets are set.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Gardner to contribute $1,000 to the Jaycee Fourth of July Fireworks.

Motion Carried Unanimously. John Stilson requested approval of the parade route which was the same one as last year.

Motion by Councilman Gardner supported by Councilman Ayers to approve the 4th of July parade route subject to the supervision of the City Manager and the Police Department.

Motion Carried Unanimously. John Stilson stated the Jaycees were working with the Township to have the parade route subject to the supervision of the City Manager and the Police Department.

Discussion on the pedestrian hazards followed and Councilman DeRusha suggested the use of flashers and perhaps rope off the area.

SIDEWALK SALE - AUGUST 2, 1980 Request from the Retail Merchants Association to close sections of Main Street and Center Street for the annual Sidewalk Sale on Saturday, August 2, 1980 from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Discussion by Councilman Gardner supported by Councilman DeRusha to close Main Street between Hutton and east of Phil's 76, and Center between Dunlap and Cady for the Annual Sidewalk Sale, Saturday, August 2, 1980 from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Motion Carried Unanimously. AMBULANCE SERVICE Mr. John Early, Northville, stated he was glad to come before the City Council. He mentioned the City had entered into an agreement with his company to provide quarters and for the last year and a half they have not had one. He asked when they would have quarters in the city. He mentioned they have looked into several possible facilities and are running into extreme problems because of the railroad tracks and the construction on Novi Road which has cut down on their response time. He asked when they could move into a facility either in the City or Township.

Mayor Vernon stated he was glad Mr. Early had attended the meeting. He mentioned there were three different parties not just the City. He also mentioned the ambulance service that was provided.

Councilman DeRusha asked about the Child Development Center on Five Mile Road.

Don Thompson, Supervisor, Northville Township, stated he had talked to Joynor, Wayne County, about the building. Mr. Thompson mentioned it was apparent that the County would not give them a lease but the County would not be doing anything there for the next three or four years. The Township was willing to take the gamble if the City was willing to share the costs. He felt it would be an excellent facility.

Mayor Vernon expressed concern about accessibility in the winter.

Don Thompson commented their DPW would take care of it. He mentioned there would be costs involved in putting in showers and improving the living quarters.

Councilman Johnston asked if he could pinpoint the cost. Don Thompson explained the Building Inspection would have to give them an estimate. Troy Milligan, Building Inspector, stated he could have a price by the next Township Board meeting.

July 7th meeting. He is waiting to hear from BOCA. He mentioned the City could stay with the regular plumbing and electrical inspectors or go completely with contractual services or go with a neighborhood city ie, Plymouth. They may have a workload similar to ours. He mentioned several options and would have more information on July 7th.

WAYNE CDBG MONITORING REPORT: Report from Wayne County showing the status of the Community Development Block Grant Program projects.

HOWELL — After 15 years serving Howell as city attorney, Robert Keeb is stepping down. "I am getting old," said Keeb. "I think after 15 years that we've done our duty."

BRIGHTON — The residents of Brighton Township who attended the annual meeting of electors declined to make a final decision on hiring a township manager until the general election in November.

PINCKNEY — More than 20 jobs and the likely elimination of all sports following the fall season are two of the biggest ramifications of last month's triple millage defeat in the Pinckney School District.

HARTLAND — Hartland schools will be facing a $370,000 deficit next year caused in part by a surprising enrollment decline.

HAMBURG — At least four puppies of unknown breed were thrown into a trash compactor at the Hamburg Township dump. Two survived.

GREEN OAK — A proposed township budget of $449,049 for the 1980-81 fiscal year was reviewed at the annual township meeting. Approval, however, is up to the township board. The budget is $30,000 less than the budget proposed last year.

LYON — A zoning ordinance amendment designed to preserve open space areas in proposed subdivisions has been recommended for approval by the Lyon Township Planning Commission.

SOUTH LYON — A well site, just west of South Lyon off Ten Mile, turned out to be a "dry hole" and the drilling rig was pulled out only to be set up again north of town. The riggers are working under a contract with Arbuckle Corporation, a division of Quanex, in an effort to find either natural gas or oil in the area.

NOVI — The last time a federal census was conducted there were 9,668 residents in Novi. Ten years later preliminary figures from the U.S. Bureau of Census shows the population has shot up 124 percent to more than 22,000.

NOVI — A proposal to create a special "auto dealership" district along the south side of Grand River Avenue between Novi and Meadowbrook roads has received less than enthusiastic review from the city council and planning board.

NOVI — There may be a Sheraton in Novi's future. Gerald Abel told the Novi Economic Development Corporation that a hotel facility, to be located in the city's regional center area, will be affiliated with the Sheraton chain.

NOVI — One million bucks for a gas station? You heard it right. That's the price tag that has been placed on the Standard station on the northeast corner of the Novi Road-Grand River Avenue intersection.

WIXOM — Wixom officials appeared before SEMCOG's Areawide Water Quality Board (AWQB) in an effort to stave off a proposed limit on the amount of phosphorous loading in Kent Lake.

For the Next 18 Months

Here's how "The Interim Mortgage Endowment" works. Purchase a Smokler home and whatever the interest rate is at the time of closing, a check for $100 will supplement your monthly mortgage payment for a period of 18 months (it's like paying a lower interest rate). The Interim Mortgage Endowment is just the assistance you need during this high interest rate period. At the end of 18 months, interest rates will have either gone up (which means you've made a substantial savings or... they will have gone down and you may choose to refinance at a lower rate). In either case, Smokler gives you T.I.M.E. to make your decision. This offer is limited to specified homes only. See the sales person for details.

Kohs asks council to close cemetery

Gates of the Cady Street Cemetery in the future may be locked to prevent cemetery parties and vandalism.

George Kohs, a 35-year resident of the city at 473 Cady adjacent to the cemetery, made the request to city council Monday as he told of a noisy party there July 4, saying it was the most recent of many that often resulted in bottles being thrown over his fence.

He added that the cemetery very rarely is visited by anyone with relatives or friends buried there and suggested that a key could be available at the police department.

Mayor Paul Vernon agreed that the police would check into the situation and that a sign could be posted on the gate.

Kohs also protested what he said was a "constant night-and-day noise" from a food freezing mechanism at the ISEP school on Main.

He told the council he and his wife had had to move to a back bedroom and do not use their porch because of the excessive noise.

He asked the city's help although the school's remodeling does not fall under local jurisdiction.

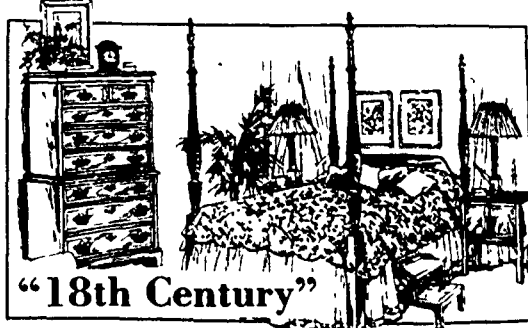

Kohs also objected to truck traffic to the school but was told by City Attorney Philip Ogilvie that trucks do have the right to use Cady.

Our Opinions

City's blooming - thanks to many

Silver bells and cockleshells may not be growing in Northville, but petunias, geraniums and marigolds certainly are flourishing — in 33 locations throughout the downtown area.

Residents who appreciate living in an attractive community as well as visitors who admire the bright spots of living color in parking lots, and by the post office and well can thank Northville's Beautification Commission. It coordinated the efforts and donations of such volunteer groups as Country Girls Garden Branch and the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association as well as of the Girl Scouts and their leaders who gave their time to make our town beautiful.

"We've had so many nice comments," says long-time beautification worker Norma Vernon, wife of the city's mayor, as she gives credit to the volunteers. However, she personally deserves credit for coordinating all the plantings.

Mrs. Vernon for many years worked closely with the late Beatrice Carlson on community beautification. Largely through their efforts, the city won many awards. The scrapbooks compiled annually by the commission under Mrs. Carlson's direction are on permanent display in a trophy case in city hall. A plaque dedicates the case to her memory. Mrs. Vernon has announced that the scrapbook project will not be continued.

But the flowers blooming in wall planters along Main, in parking lot tubs and by a bench at Hutton are continuing evidence that we live in a community with lots of civic pride.

We're covering August primary

With a Republican party platform being hammered out in Detroit this week and a Republican vice presidential running mate destined to take the national spotlight next week, Michigan voters should be well aware that this is Election Year '80. Hopefully, this awareness will lead to a good primary turnout on August 5 — less than four weeks hence.

Area voters will be going to the polls to select major party candidates for a number of township, county, state and congressional posts. In the Oakland County portion of Northville voters will decide the fate of a special millage request for parks.

The Record will be carrying stories beforehand on the candidate contests that will be decided in the primary. That means if one Democrat and one Republican are running for the same office but are unchallenged in their own parties, we will not cover the race until the general election campaign in the fall.

Candidates in the Northville

Editorial opinions of The Record are developed and written by Publisher Jack W. Hoffman and Editor Jean Day with occasional contributions by other Record staffers.

Township primary shortly will be asked to respond to questions from The Record staff and to provide biographical information for voters. We'll also be keeping an eye on the GOP contest for U.S. representative in the second district and the Democratic race in the 19th.

Letters to the editor on millage proposals, issues and comments on candidates are welcome, but statements on candidates must relate to the specific posts they are seeking. Outright endorsements are not acceptable.

We will continue our policy of not running election-related letters the week before the primary. Thus, the July 23 edition will be the last we will publish such letters. This policy was established to prevent last-minute charges in letters that cannot be answered before the election.

The Record will make editorial endorsements of local candidates before the primary. We'll do everything in our power to send informed voters to the polls on August 5.

OPPORTUNITY

I will vote not out of obligation but because as citizens we are entitled to vote — and right or wrong it will be my opinion.

It's an opportunity to express an opinion.

One vote can make a difference. Especially if a lot of people take the attitude they are not going to exercise their right to vote. As far as I'm concerned if a lot of people don't vote that can make a difference.

If they vote and are then unhappy with who they've chosen, the voters have no one to blame but themselves. But if they let someone else make the choice for them then they have no reason to complain.

The number of people who don't vote increases the importance of those who do.

Voting often turns out to be negative — against a party — with people voting against unemployment or inflation. They might be dissatisfied with Carter, and all they have is a hope and a prayer that the other party can turn things around.

Then there are those to whom the whole process seems cut and dried. The results are not even a surprise. But personally, I'll vote.

If I had to vote today I'd have to flip for it, but I will arrive at some kind of decision before November. I'm not going to avoid it.

It will take some reviewing and thought, but one way or another I will get some kind of vote.

OBLIGATION

Voting is an obligation. I've never missed an election.

This is a great country. I'm very proud of this country. There are so many countries that are in so much worse shape than things are here.

My voting record reflects my patriotism.

People who don't vote aren't fulfilling their obligation as citizens.

Yet those who complain and gripe never show up at the polls. If they can't take time to register and vote, they have nothing to complain about. If they don't vote it's their fault if the person who gets into office doesn't represent them.

I'll vote and my vote is for Carter. I don't think he's done all that poorly. He doesn't run the country alone either. Everyone dictates to him what he should do. But he's an honest sincere man and he does the best job he can.

He's had a lot against him with inflation and problems like Iran. He had a lot to overcome going in. But things are looking up. I believe things will get better.

Other people may be disillusioned with the way the country is running, but they can't change anything if they don't vote.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

It's interesting sometimes to look back to see how the past compares with the present.

Take 1950, for example. It was that year 30 years ago, that I graduated from high school into a troubled future. A nation had invaded another; armed conflict, the draft, and an alarming inflation rate had everyone worried in the summer of '50.

Many of us felt then, as many of us feel today, that things couldn't be worse. All three of the '50 worries pushed most other subjects off the front page. The same three worries are in the limelight today.

Looking back one wonders if '50 was all that bad. The Korean war proved disastrous, of course, but it wasn't as bad as the Vietnam war that followed. And the '50 inflation pales in the face of the present.

In the summer of '50 local area residents were angry because inflation made the 1950 dollar worth 40 cents less than the 1940 dollar. Cost of labor, food, clothing and housing was "out of sight."

For example, locally, unskilled workers at Maybury Sanitarium were receiving an unheard of high wage of $2,654; cost of a new ranch style, four-bedroom house on a two-acre hilltop lot in this area had shot up to $14,500, and an old three-bedroom home on a four-acre partly-wooded site cost nearly $3,000.

And because some still had vivid memories of the World War II shortages, some of us began hoarding nylons even though we had to pay as much as $1.98 for two pairs. We moaned because a pound of sliced bacon cost 45 cents, coffee gobbled up 63 cents a pound, milk sold for 10 cents, and smokers had to plunk down $1.71 for a carton of cigarettes.

The summer of '50 was bad, real bad, wasn't it?

No better example of the change that has occurred over the past 30 years, perhaps, is this 1950 page one story: the Walled Lake superintendent of schools was elected president of the Michigan Education Association.

Rag Tags offer thanks

The Editor:
What do you do when more than 30 teenagers want to march in a parade and there is no marching band for them? In Northville, they decided to do it themselves!

In less than four weeks they became an organized, disciplined group who acquired instruments, arranged music and taught each other the marching skills necessary to carry them down Main Street on the 4th. They are the Rag Tag Volunteers, who were determined to march in last Friday's parade to give the Northville community a band of its own. The lack of proper equipment and uniforms was more than compensated for by their enthusiasm and spirit.

The Rag Tags were surprised to hear they were to be paid by the parade committee for having fun. They have decided to share the money with the high school and community bands.

We are grateful to The Northville Record for publicity; to John Stilson of the Jaycees and John Hershey of the Highland Lakes Association for giving the kids an opportunity to march in their parades.

Our flag carriers offer a special thank you to Senator Bob Geake for his last-minute rescue on Friday morning. Also, we owe our gratitude to Angie and Russ Hansen who simply stepped in and did all the extras at our picnic and at both parades.

We especially thank the crowd who encouraged us with their enthusiasm and applause along the parade route.

Sincerely,
Zo Chisnell

Help for the needy

To the Editor:
Hope your readers aren't tired of my appeals to help people with their needs.

I have been asked to help a young mother-to-be. The father, in this instance, panicked and fled. Her needs are baby clothes in good condition. If you can help this young woman, please leave your donation wrapped in a plastic bag on my front porch at 605 Grace (with your name and address tucked inside, please.)

I have been asked to try to locate: ladies clothes in the following sizes: 9-10; 12 (particularly pant suits and slacks and jeans); 14, anything; 16, slacks and shorts; men's clothes size 44-48 sport coats, 44 w-long pants and shorts (at least 32-inches inseam.)

These clothes are needed for many different people I know who are still eating regularly but have very little left for clothes and other luxuries.

Anything left will be sent to Northville State Hospital for use by the patients there.

Many, many thanks to every one of your readers for sharing whatever they are no longer using with people in need.

Thanks again,
Mrs. Shirley Matthews

Thanks for a perfect day

To the Editor:
I want to use this means to express the appreciation of my entire family for the wonderful day, Sunday, June 29th, when so many members and friends came to tell us of their affection and of their voices in the ecumenical choir, and be with us on that last official day of my ministry in this community.

We were never sorry that the move was made from beautiful Petoskey to the growing and friendly city of Northville. You have given our lives as parents and children of this family memories that are a treasure house of happiness.

We thank all who had any part in a perfect day for all of us, even our much loved grandchildren.

With affection,
Lloyd and Doris Brasure

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

Legislation before the U.S. Congress that would cut off Social Security disability benefit payments to prisoners has prompted State Senator Robert Geake (R-Northville) to co-sponsor a Senate resolution that calls on Congress to enact legislation which would allow each state to assist the Social Security Administration in the cut-off of those benefits.

Senator Geake explained that the resolution recommends that Congress establish a procedure allowing each state to notify the Social Security Administration of the name, Social Security number and daily incarceration costs of those persons in state correctional facilities.

The resolution also urges Congress to require the Social Security Administration to deduct the monthly cost of incarceration from grants to such prisoners and forward those deductions directly to each state.

"With our Social Security system on the brink of financial disaster it is an outrage to find that Social Security field representatives are visiting our prisons, actively seeking convicts who might qualify for Social Security benefits," Geake said. "Granting prisoners Social Security benefits is a gross misuse of the Social Security trust fund."

Senator Geake pointed out that American taxpayers are already paying approximately $4.4 billion to maintain correctional facilities which house, feed and clothe more than 400,000 prisoners.

"It is totally unreasonable to expect taxpayers to bear an additional estimated $22 million to $60 million in tax free federal benefit payments to some 30,000 prisoners across the nation," Geake concluded.

Drinking age proposal to be placed on ballot

Michigan voters will decide November 4 whether the state legal drinking age should be lowered from 21 to 19 as a result of House of Representatives July 1 and Senate July 3 actions.

The legislature voted by more than the required two-thirds majority to place the constitutional amendment proposal on the November ballot.

A petition drive over the past several months has accumulated over a quarter million signatures supporting placement of the issue on the ballot. The legislative action means the petitions will no longer be needed.

"The action of the legislature recognized the widespread popular support for lowering the drinking age to 19 which is obvious from our campaign," said State Representative Richard Fitzpatrick (D-Battle Creek), who is chairman of Citizens for a Fair Drinking Age, the organization that conducted the petition drive.

Placing the issue on the ballot is also supported by Governor William Milliken, Lieutenant Governor James Brickley, the Michigan Sheriff's Association, Secretary of State Richard Austin, Chairman of the State Liquor Control Commission Thomas Schweigert and the state Board of Education.

M-14 sign foul-up began in planning stage

How observant a driver are you? For instance, does anything strike you funny when entering M-14 west-bound from Sheldon Road?

There is a sign telling motorists "Right lane ends, merge left" shortly after the entrance but, it is the left lane, that ends.

A state highway department spokesperson told The Record yesterday the sign will be replaced soon.

The sign error has been blamed on an erroneous marking on the original plans for the highway, which opened last year.

M-14 is four lanes wide at that point, until the left lane ends. The right lane ends as an exit-only for Beck Road, a couple of miles further along, reducing the highway to two lanes.

A revision of the highway department's charts has been ordered so that, should the new sign be knocked down or need replacement, the problem will not recur, the spokesperson said.

The real surprise, the department said, was not that an error happened but that the call from Action Line, as the first notice they had of it. Due to scheduling complications for highway crews, the spokesperson declined to predict a date for replacement of the sign beyond "soon."

Planners give Bauss ok

Tony Bauss also received approval for a site, architectural and landscape plan for a four-unit apartment he plans to construct at 519 Fairbrook, property that formerly was used to house an ambulance service and which has been sold to Bauss.

Bauss told the planners he plans to remove an existing two-car garage but will remodel a block building on the site for covered parking. It will have a mansard roof and be compatible with the planned apartments of traditional design.

Approval of the project included the stipulation that the proposed dry well be okayed by the city engineer.

Nino told planners that the city rarely has received a plan that complied so well with its requirements as he complimented Bauss on it.

Retirement arrives at 75 for Cliff Hill

By JEANDAY

Northville attorney Clifton D. Hill has made headlines as he has been shot, mugged and stabbed during a colorful career that began in the early 1940s.

But, as he begins retirement at age 75, those who know him best are remembering him as the man with a big heart for kids.

City attorney Philip Ogilvie, his first law partner in the Northville office, now located at 127 East Main, relates how Hill brought city children to his long-time home on Beck for vacations, often clothing them.

"He couldn't stand to see children not properly clothed and literally took kids off the street and bought them clothes at Brader's and Little People's here," he remembers.

He took in and raised June Freydl, whose father died leaving 12 children, and Sharon Pethers in addition to his own two.

Hill says he made the decision to retire when he became 75 on May 1. His house on Homer is up for sale as he's planning to move to a new home being built on a canal in New Port Richey, Florida. It is located just a block-and-a-half away from the home of Russell Clark, former manager of Manufacturers Bank here, and his wife.

Hill says his wife Mei Ying, whom he married six years ago last March 6 in Taipei, the capital of Taiwan, is delighted with the prospect of living in the warm climate which is more like that in which she grew up.

She was born the year following the establishment of the Nationalist China government in Taiwan but became an American citizen in 1977. She received her American high school diploma here after just a year's study, her husband relates proudly. She went on to complete two years' work at Schoolcraft.

"She has changed my life," he says happily.

Hill met his present wife on one of his trips to the Orient. An enthusiastic traveler, he recalls the business arrangement that first sent him to Japan, Hong Kong, England, Scotland and Holland.

Garnerd Niece and the late Fred Anderson operated a factory in Northville. Hill was convinced that their invention, a peripheral orifice gas burner, could be manufactured in other parts of the world.

He became secretary of their cor-

Dinner to honor colorful local attorney preparing new home for new Florida life as conclusion to headline-making career poration as well as legal counsel and began marketing it.

"In Japan," Hill recalls, "I found a patent has to be applied for concurrently with the United States one. I got around that by changing the size of the holes, and they accepted it."

The patent and the firm since have been sold to a Chattanooga, Tennessee, company that still manufactures the product, according to Hill.

Hill liked traveling and that resulted in his interest in Travel Plans agency here. He since has sold that.

For a time, he wrote of his travels in The Record.

The attorney's business sense was evident early in his career. He worked with the Internal Revenue Service for five years while getting his law degree from Detroit College of Law.

Upon graduation, Hill introduced a new theory. "It had never been done anywhere," he recalls. Tax experts were put into factories and businesses to do employee returns on company time by Hill's firm, Hill Tax Service. It was so successful that in his second year out of law school the young attorney grossed a six-figure income.

For 20 years, beginning in 1942, Hill's service prepared all J. L. Hudson Company employee returns. For several years it did Packard Motor Company employee returns. Hill was nudged to take his bar exams, which he passed, and then opened an office in the Dime Building in Detroit.

At this time, enjoying his prosperity, he saw an ad for a house and property with a swimming pool on Beck Road.

He met Ogilvie, who had just passed his bar examination at this time. His advisor at Detroit College of Law recommended him to Hill as "a nice guy," Hill says, and the two became partners in the Northville office with Hill also continuing his Detroit one. They bought the practice of the late D. Harper Britton.

After Ogilvie went into practice for himself, Hill's partner became Herman Moehlman. Moehlman now will continue alone.

Phil and I still play cribbage three times a week," mentions Hill, motioning toward the two cribbage boards on his office conference table.

Hill served as attorney for the Northville Driving Club and was elected its secretary. This association lasted from 1945 to January 1, 1979.

He, John Carlo, executive secretary for Northville Downs, and the late Dr. Linwood Snow were friends as well as business associates, Hill recalls, getting into many adventures together.

It was on an outing to the Ice Capades at Olympia that Hill was shot in the neck.

"I had a lot of kids with me that I had taken to see the show. Since it had been snowing, I went out a bit early to get the car.

Hill was shot in the neck, kicked and robbed of his wallet and watch. Two brothers were convicted on his identification. It held through four appeals all the way to the Supreme Court, he remembers with satisfaction.

Hill was stabbed coming out of a doctor's office in Detroit.

Another time when driving on Telegraph near 14 Mile the attorney's car was nicked, but, he says, he kept on and the would-be assailants had to dive under their own car.

Hill is hoping that Florida's milder climate will relieve the pain he has suffered in his neck and shoulder as a result of his wounds.

He expects his children will be visitors. Son Daley Hill and his wife Sue are parents of a son Adam. Daley is in the insurance business in an office adjacent to Hill's.

Daughter Beverly and her husband Randy Caligiuri, a veterinarian, have just moved to Mount Clemens.

As he prepares to leave his community and his practice, Hill is hoping there won't be a lot of speeches.

He admits he is "most proud" of having given some 26 scholarships to high school students entering college; some went to Berea College students.

He has asked to give the blessing himself (to "keep it short") at the dinner July 30 at Idyl Wyld Golf Club in his honor.

A member of Rotary, the Michigan and American bar associations, a past president of the now defunct Exchange Club and a past secretary of the Lions Club, Hill has many associates who are expected to be present.

And in 30 years of living in a community there also are lots of friends who want to dine and dance with the Hills before they go south.

This has been a familiar Northville face through the years

Bruce Turnbull examines garden

In Our Town

It's a country garden in the city

By JEAN DAY

Country Girls Garden Branch, which instituted the project of selecting a "garden of the month" this summer, has chosen a city garden with "a touch of the country" as its July choice.

The home of Bruce and Rita Turnbull at 365 Eaton is situated on three-quarters of an acre and formerly was owned by Levi and Alice Eaton who now live in Ohio. As Rita Turnbull talks with satisfaction about her flower and her husband's vegetable garden "with something of everything," she tells how they first offered to buy this home 20 years ago when they lived across the street.

When the Eatons retired to Ohio 10 years ago, they did purchase it. "They sold to us because they knew we'd care for it," explains Mrs. Turnbull. The Eatons had built the home in 1929 on the street named for them. They established many of the trees and flowers the Turnbolls still prize and care for.

"When we visited the Eatons six weeks ago, they showed us slides of the house in the past," Mrs. Turnbull relates. The vegetable and berry garden tended by her husband yields much more than the couple can use. As vegetables and fruits ripen, they are shared with friends, many of whom are retirees at Allen Terrace.

This garden was nominated by Karel Whitaker. Country Girls will be seeking gardens-of-the-month for the remaining months of summer. To nominate one, call Mariann Batzka at 420-2799.

It's Golden Day for Marge and Fran Jennings

Long-time residents Fran and Marge Jennings, who are summering at their cottage at AuSable Lake, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary there at a buffet dinner for 25 June 28 attended by relatives and friends. Their son Ron and his wife Delores were hosts. He is their only child, but there are four grandchildren, Marki, Ron, Todd and Brian.

Fran Jennings is a retired WJR radio engineer. His wife has been active in Girl Scouts and at Northville State Hospital when it had an volunteer auxiliary. She is a member of Northville Woman's Club.

Gardeners to bring scissors

In addition to a passing dish for their annual potluck meeting Monday members of the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association are asked to come with shears and a bag or box to be used for collecting materials to be dried for a later workshop. The gathering will be at the home of Olga James, 40205 Six Mile. Molly Manley, program chairman, reminds that this is a guest day.

Jamie Hove will supervise the program, guiding members in collecting wild yarrow, dock and pepper grass to be used in arrangements at the February workshop.

Social chairman Helen Single will be assisted by Betty LeMaster, Pauline Kelly and Lillian Nelson. Tickets will be sold for the September meeting.

Nancy Lee Switzler chooses July 4 for wedding day

Mr. and Mrs. William Switzler of 43403 Reservoir announce the marriage of their daughter Nancy Lee to Joseph William Dell of Daytona Beach, Florida, on July 4.

Magistrate Louis Hopping performed the Independence Day service at his home.

The bride wore a street-length white dress with lace insets and carried a multicolor nosegay tied with streamers. She is a 1976 graduate of Northville High School and now is employed with Consumers Power Company. Her husband is self-employed.

The Switzlers were attendants for the couple. Also present for the ceremony were the bride's sister Ann and her grandmother, Mrs. Claude Waterman.

Afterward the newlyweds flew to New York for their honeymoon.

They will be living in the Northville area.

Lesli Weston marries in Ann Arbor ceremony

Lesli Ann Weston, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Weston, Jr., of 20374 Woodhill, wore her mother's wedding gown for her marriage June 20 to William Andros Adamson. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Adamson, Jr., of Ann Arbor.

The 7 p.m., double ring ceremony took place in the historic stone St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Ann Arbor with the Reverend Susan Ellen McGarry, a personal friend of the couple, officiating.

Each wedding guest received a program designed by the bride expressing the couple's joy. Flowers and bows decorated the pews. A friend played violin music for the service.

As she was escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore the gown her mother had worn in 1951. It was ballerina-length of cream color, the lace top fashioned with short sleeves and a pointed peplum over the full tulle skirt. She wore her great-grandmother's pearls and an orchid in her hair.

Honor maid was Nancy Adams of Ann Arbor, a former Northville resident who had graduated from Northville High School with the bride in 1970 and from Michigan State University with her in 1974. Her gown was taupe color.

Bridesmaids were Colleen Gay Ketner of Washington, D.C., also a NHS classmate who wore a gown matching that of the honor maid in turquoise shade; Laura Adamson of Ann Arbor, sister of the bridegroom, in a raspberry-hue gown; Marilyn Aberlich of Kalamazoo in cornflower blue; and Shelly Silverman of Ann Arbor in a rose gown.

All bridal attendants wore their hair in French braids with flower adornment. Their corsages were of Rubium lilies, baby's-breath, statice and roses.

Stephen Arnil was best man for his former roommate.

Ushers were the bride's brother James Weston; Wendall Bigelow and William Gracie, both of Ann Arbor; and the bridegroom's brother Dr. Thomas Adamson of San Diego, California.

A buffet reception for 250 guests followed at the Ann Arbor Women's City Club. Out of town guests included the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Adamson from Illinois and Colonel H. A. Huncilman from Indiana. Others attended from Minnesota and Washington, D.C. The bridegroom's band "Melodioso" played at the reception.

The couple had met when the bride heard her husband play the piano. He composed a song to her which was played at the reception.

He is a 1975 graduate of University of Michigan with a BS degree in biology. She received a BA from MSU in journalism and Russian. She studied also in Russia at the University of Leningrad. She belongs to the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

After a honeymoon at the bride's parents' cottage on Lake Huron and a trip to Mackinac Island, the newlyweds are living in Ann Arbor where they have bought a home. The bride announces she is keeping the Weston surname.

Colorful costumes will help identify star children characters in musical

Marquis to present 'Wings or Feet'

"Wings or Feet", an original musical written by David Scharman and directed by Andy Hurley, will make its debut at Northville's Marquis Theatre at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, July 10.

It will have 12 evening performances and four matinees through August 3.

Scharman and producer Gretchen Weber chose the Marquis because of its location and its decor.

"Northville is 30 minutes from Cobo Hall, Pontiac and Ann Arbor," Scharman said, "and the theatre is fantastic. I talked to Joe Nederlander at the Birmingham Theatre, but it just didn't compare to the Marquis."

The show is a professional production, with a nine-member cast made up of Wayne State University students.

A musical in two acts, "Wings or Feet" explores the question of what would a group of alien beings, in training to be pillars of the universe, learn if they were constantly reincarnated from the beginning of man's history to the end of it?

The characters of the play are eight star children and their guide.

The play explores their final two incarnations: act one — a bar scene in New Orleans during Mardi Gras; and act two — a city scene in the future, right before a nuclear holocaust.

Woven in between these two main settings are scenes of the star children preparing for their "jump" or next reincarnation.

While star children, the guide can discuss with them the lessons they have learned in their previous "life". But while actually on earth, in their human forms, they have no knowledge of being star children, or of who the guide is, although he plays a character on earth with them in each of their lives.

"The show can appeal to a wide variety of people," Scharman said. "There is something for everyone. On one level it's a musical, a little vaudeville with electronic music. It takes off where 'Hair' and 'Godspell' ended. On a deeper level, the play explores personal relationships and human feelings."

There is a religious level as well, as the guide and one of the main characters can represent God and Christ if the viewer wishes.

On another level the play is a bawdy, earthy comment on present day attitudes of people towards each other.

Performances will be given on the evenings of July 10-12, 17-19, 24-26, 31-August 1 and 2. Matinee performances will be July 13, 20, 27 and August 3.

Genitti's will be offering a dinner and theatre program during the month the play will run with a complete sit-down dinner followed by reserved seats at the Marquis.

Mr. and Mrs. John Michael Turnbull of Greenville, Michigan, are parents of their first son and second child, Matthew John, born June 30 in Greenville Hospital with a weight of seven pounds, 13 ounces.

Matthew has a little sister Megan, 18 months old.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Turnbull of Northville, paternal grandparents, were anticipating a visit with the new baby during the holiday weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Don MacLeary of Wilmington, Delaware, are maternal grandparents.

The baby's father is director of admissions and financial aid at Montcalm College in Sidney, Michigan.

Gospel businessmen to hear Griffore

Ted Griffore, a Gladwin, Michigan, businessman, will be principal speaker at the 7 p.m. dinner meeting July 18 of the Northville-Plymouth-Livonia Chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship.

It will be held at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Brought up in the Catholic church and a former resident of Plymouth, Griffore owned and managed Dynamic Auto Parts in Dearborn Heights for 10 years before selling the business in order to set up a new store in Gladwin in 1979.

While a Plymouth resident, he assisted in the founding of the local chapter of FGBMF in the fall of 1976 and served as secretary to the chapter until moving to Gladwin.

Musical portion of the program will be furnished by recording Gospel singer and pianist, Rocky Barra, a resident of Westland and soloist for the United Assembly of God in Plymouth.

The meeting at 8 p.m. follows dinner which is $8 plus 15 percent gratuity. Both dinner and program are open to the public.

Reservation checks should be made payable to FGBMF and sent to P.O. Box 5332, Northville, by July 15.

Additional information is available by calling 349-0006 or 459-6950.

25th jubilee mass said for hospital chaplain

Father Stanley Kukulski, Catholic chaplain at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, was honored for his 25 years of service to the church with a mass said June 29 at Our Lady of Providence School.

Approximately 350 attended the mass in the school sanctuary. It was conducted in English, Latin and Polish with scripture readings pertaining to ministry. Father Kukulski prepared the mass.

Many songs in all three languages were also included.

The mass was celebrated by five priests, two of them former classmates of Father Kukulski. One came from Indiana.

Also attending and participating in part of the celebration was the Reverend George P. Jerome, Presbyterian minister with the Northville Chaplaincy, which serves the hospital, Hawthorn Center and the Northville Residential Training Center.

Father Kukulski has served at both the school and hospital since 1968. He was ordained June 4, 1955 and served as assistant to pastors in four Detroit area parishes before coming to Northville.

He began his service at Corpus Christi Church in Detroit in 1955. In 1960 he moved to St. Barbara Church, Dearborn, and in 1963 to St. Charles Church in Detroit. Immediately prior to joining Northville chaplaincy he was at St. Albert Church in Dearborn Heights in 1967 and '68.

When he arrived on the scene here he was ordered to turn the chaplaincy into a hospital department. His rectory is at the school, where he says the mass every morning.

His former classmate serves as a chaplain in a similar state hospital in Indiana.

From 1963 to 1967 Father Kukulski provided a chaplaincy ministry to about 2,000 residents of nursing homes, hospitals, psychiatric institutes and alcoholic centers in Detroit.

During the same period, he was one of three priests who organized the Catholic chaplains association of the Archdiocese of Detroit. He also completed studies in urban sociology and clinical psychology at the University of Detroit and Eastern Michigan University.

He previously studied mental health administration at the medical school of the State University of New York at Buffalo. He interned in clinical psychology at St. Elizabeths Hospital in Washington.

As a chaplain in the state hospital, Father Kukulski's primary concern is ministering to the religious needs of the patients who have been separated from their home pastor.

He also serves the families of patients, the hospital staffs and the community.

According to the official definition of the post, "the chaplain possesses a particular understanding of the relation between faith, illness, and the emotional and mental conflicts that arise, and seeks to motivate and invite healthy, meaningful use of each individual's religious beliefs and attitudes in the management of his problems."

Approximately 25 percent of the hospital patients are Catholic, 65 percent are Protestant with the rest spread among many religious affiliations.

The 2 p.m. June 29 mass was followed by a 3:30 p.m. reception at the school. There was a band playing Polish and American music to add to the festivities.

A buffet dinner prepared by the sisters at the school and lay cooks also was served.

Area bombardier leads

WWII fliers reunite soon

Harry Millnamow, of 1032 Bristol Court, will be recalling this weekend some of the more than 50 missions he flew with the 483rd Bomb Group, a World War II flying fortress air unit which won two presidential citations for missions over Germany.

He received the Air Medal and was awarded four Clusters to go with it. The medal and the four clusters signify meritorious achievement in aerial combat against the enemy. Each cluster was awarded for a separate battle.

Millnamow is co-chairman of a July 11-13 reunion of the 483rd Bomb Group.

The group, which will meet in Denver, flew missions from a base near Foggia, Italy, for nearly 18 months, including support for landings in southern France and Normandy.

Millnamow served three years with the Army Air Force during the war.

He was a bombardier-gunner on the fortresses, which carried crews of nine men each.

Besides the bombardier, there were the pilot and co-pilot, the engineer, the tail, waist and ball turret gunners, the radioman and the navigator.

Millnamow earned his citations for action in Italy, Southern France, Central Europe, and Germany.

He flew 40-50 missions over the Alps during the campaign, with weather often so severe that his plane could only make a 50 mph headway against the wind.

In fact, despite constant threats from artillery and enemy fighters, one of the scariest moments for Millnamow came on a mission over Linz, Austria.

"Our oxygen shut off at 30,000 feet. We had to descend to 12,000 feet over our target to survive," he said. "Our tailgunner and ball turret gunner both passed out and our waist gunner was immobile. We had to fly back to our base over the mountains at tree-top level."

Another low point in Millnamow's tour of duty came on his plane's very last mission. Shrapnel from artillery fire tore through Millnamow's plane and wounded his tailgunner. The man lost the sight in one eye, and Millnamow said that he is today going blind in his remaining eye.

Millnamow's plane flew in squadrons of seven planes, which traveled in groups of four. Often times four groups (112 planes) would travel together for a mission.

Millnamow attended the University of Missouri and trained with pilot cadets in San Antonio, Texas before beginning training as a bombardier. He has been a private pilot for nearly 20 years.

President of Insurance Exchange Agency, Inc., Millnamow has lived in Northville for the last eight years.

His co-chairmen for the reunion are Dr. Leonard Moss of Oak Park, a professor of anthropology at Wayne State University, and Philip Luetke, a Toledo, Ohio advertising agency owner.

State law versus national code

Modern cars give rise to new breed of mechanics

By KEVIN WILSON

The image of the shifty auto mechanic dies hard.

We all know the one; he's the big fellow in greasy brown work clothes chomping on a cigar and grunting something like, "feezelumpztor went bad — gonna cost ya hunnerd and a quater to fixit."

Well, the world is changing. So are the cars we drive. And so is the trade of auto mechanic.

Partially as a result of mechanics who fit the shifty image, a 1976 Michigan law requires licensing of automotive service shops and mechanics.

The law, instituted in phases, becomes stricter January 1, 1981. From that date forward, all major repairs (almost anything beyond oil changes and lubrication) must be done by a mechanic certified by the state as competent for the job.

Since 1978 all shops have been required to employ a certified mechanic for each service performed, but the actual work could be done by an unlicensed laborer if a licensed one approved it.

Certification is granted through the Department of State's Bureau of Automotive Regulation (BAR), which conducts state-wide multiple choice tests in 16 categories (eight for autos, six for trucks and one each for motorcycle and recreational vehicle repair).

BAR also requires written estimates of repair costs, the return of replaced parts to the customer and the registration of all service facilities.

With that much law in place, enforced by BAR's staff of 60, Michigan motorists can rest assured that qualified mechanics will work on their cars. Or can they?

Area mechanics think not.

"We don't think a lot of them," Tom Morrison, service manager at Novi-Motive Inc. in Northville, says of the certification tests. "It's really just basic stuff they're testing."

Most mechanics consulted say they think the tests are too easy — that those who pass them don't have to know much about working on cars.

Joe Widak, Novi-Motive proprietor, tells of a job applicant state certified as a master mechanic (a designation reserved for those who pass all eight exams — one each for engine tune-up, major engine repair, brakes, front-end and steering, electrical, heating and air conditioning, automatic transmission, and manual transmission and rear axle repairs).

"This guy had passed all the tests, but he didn't have one minute of experience working on cars," Widak says.

Like most area mechanics, Widak says he would prefer a licensing system run by automotive repair professionals. Self regulation could do the job, he says.

He cites certification testing sponsored by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (NIASE) as an example.

The tests are conducted by Educational Testing Service (administrators of the Scholastic Aptitude Test, or SAT, given to college-bound high school students) on a voluntary basis.

"In my opinion, NIASE stands head and shoulders above state licensing" as a measure of mechanical competence, according to Widak.

Nationwide, NIASE certification is becoming more and more the measure for the industry. The non-profit NIASE corporation is managed by a 30-member board of directors chosen from the industry, government, education and consumer groups. The institute also encourages mechanic training programs and conducts research to determine the best methods to train auto, truck and motorcycle mechanics.

Most consumer agencies in Michigan advise shoppers to look for both Michigan and NIASE certified mechanics.

But Widak, and others, say the state program has hurt the advance of NIASE here.

"What has happened in Michigan is that NIASE has taken a back seat to state certification," he says. "I get guys in here looking for work and all they have is state, it's all they need to work most places."

Most mechanics give credit to the state program for eliminating the most incompetent mechanics from the market, but note that both the shop and mechanic licensing provisions add to consumer costs.

Shops are charged for registration on the basis of floor area and number of employees. For Widak, the annual fee is around $300. Between October 1978 and September 1979, the latest period for which figures are available, BAR collected more than $1.8 million in certification and registration fees alone.

"I could understand it if an inspector came around to look at your facility and the equipment you have, but it just seems like a tax," Widak says. "No one has ever been here."

Jim Hunsucker, BAR assistant administrator, says the bureau does inspect facilities when a complaint is lodged, as required by law.

"Most we do by telephone unless it's a difficult case involving fraud or something," Hunsucker explains. "You won't see an inspector at a shop unless there is a serious complaint to investigate."

He says he has heard the charge that the state tests are too easy to be any value.

"Mechanics who think our tests are too easy are probably very good mechanics," he says. "There is a 20 percent failure rate on the tests, so about one-fifth of those who apply either have to get more training or find another field to work in."

Hunsucker notes that the tests are designed to measure minimal competence. "It would be silly for us to try to test for professionalism. It would be very restrictive."

The law, and the increasing complexity of automobiles designed to meet the pollution, safety and economy requirements of the '80s, are combining to limit access to the trade anyway.

Traditionally, a young person with mechanical bent could get a job at a gas station and learn auto repair between running out to pump gas. He or she could then move to an automotive dealership or independent service shop with some experience.

As of January 1, 1981, they will need a license before getting a job. That means preparatory training.

"It means they're going to have to go to an institution," Widak says. "Something like MoTech."

MoTech is a mechanics training program begun under the auspices of Chrysler Corporation many years ago. It has become a leading training ground for mechanics. One branch of the program is in Livonia.

Community colleges, including Schoolcraft in Livonia, also have instituted programs leading to associate's degrees in automotive service. All Novi-Motive mechanics, for example, are MoTech or Schoolcraft graduates.

Ferris State College has both two and four-year programs to train mechanics.

As auto mechanics come to resemble computer or aircraft technicians, increased professionalism is anticipated.

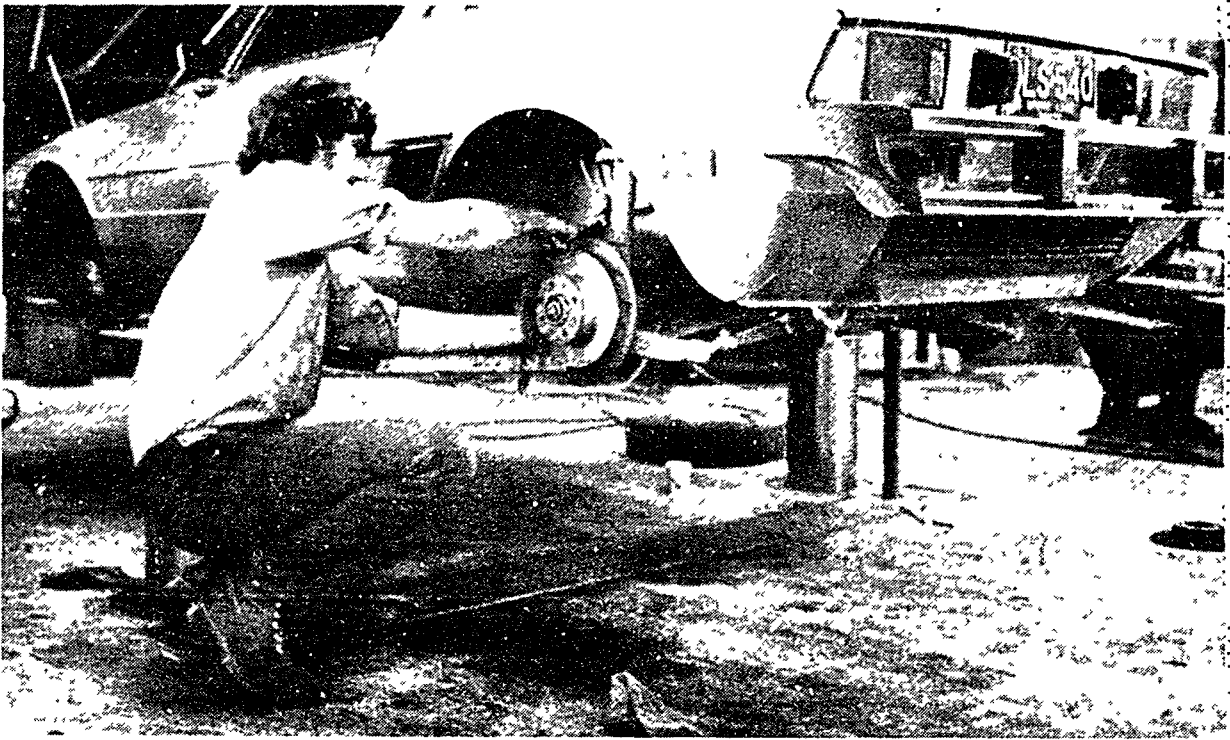

It will be needed to deal with the complexities of servicing the technologically advanced cars of the next few years with the sophisticated computer diagnostic equipment appearing in more and more shops.

Consumers will receive more reliable service at the cost of limited access to the trade and the increased labor costs sure to accompany trained workers.

The greasy brown clothes and mumbles may change, but one thing is sure to remain.

"It's a combination of many things, that makes a good mechanic, not just a multiple choice quiz," Widak says. "It's experience, partially. I think a good mechanic still has to have the gift, a feel for the machinery. There's no other way to say it, it's a gift."

Cherry title

Traverse City, founded in 1847, was an important lumbering center, but the rich forests were gradually depleted.

In the 1890's, B. J. Morgan discovered that red tart cherries were suited to the area's soil and climate and Traverse City eventually became the cherry capital of the nation — a title it still claims.

Lawmakers to recess without a new budget

By WARREN M. HOYT

The legislature, for the first time in recent history, will recess for the summer without writing a new budget for the fiscal year 1980-81.

The legislature always has taken great pains to complete a budget prior to the lengthy recess, even though the new fiscal year doesn't begin until October 1, to allow public schools and colleges and universities knowledge of the state funds available to enter teachers and other contracts.

The state's sinking economic conditions are playing havoc with the budget writing process.

Just when the Senate or House fiscal agencies have put together figures to use, a new round of layoffs hit the automobile and related industries, increasing unemployment and welfare caseloads while decreasing proposed state revenues for the years.

The state Senate, however, is writing a complete budget using its best figures available at the time. The entire budget will be sent to the House where no action is expected to be taken until after the Labor Day holiday.

The Senate version of the budget, at best, will give the educational community an idea of what to expect next year and allow state department directors base figures on which to plan operations for next year.

The upper chamber is using revenue projections of $4,771 million for the year, however, prior to adoption of the budget bills, revenue figures softened to about $4,687 million.

To cover the lost revenue, the Senate simply placed identical language in the bills indicating the legislature's intention to close approximately $100 million in tax credits and loopholes.

The language continued that if the credits and loopholes are not closed, the governor by executive order, will cut the $100 million from the legislatively approved budget levels.

One such credit already closed by the Senate, and now residing in the House Veterans Affairs Committee, would eliminate the income tax exemption for military pay of persons domiciled in Michigan.

All military pay, except the first $1,500 per year earned by members of the Michigan National Guard and reservists in Michigan, would be subject to state income taxes.

This would raise between $15 and $23 million per year.

While the Senate was putting the finishing touches on its budget levels, the governor met with department heads and informed them that further cutbacks are in order for the upcoming fiscal year.

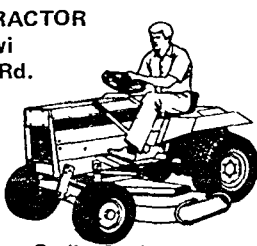

He made it clear to department heads there will be less dollars to go around next year than in the current fiscal year — something that has not happened in the state budget since 1939.

A spokesman for the governor said the executive office would not revise budget figures until at least July. Reports are expected from the departments outlining how lower spending levels would be implemented, with the governor then issuing revised recommendations in August or September.

DODE REIMER REPAIR, an automotive repair business, has opened for business at 1237 West Maple Road in Walled Lake.

The new business is owned and operated by Dode Reimer, a lifelong Walled Lake resident. Reimer graduated from Walled Lake High School in 1947 and has been involved in the automotive repair business for better than 25 years.

Reimer said he will specialize in all types of automotive repairs, including brakes, tune-ups, exhausts and shocks in addition to routine maintenance service of lubes, oils and filters.

The new repair service also will be selling tires.

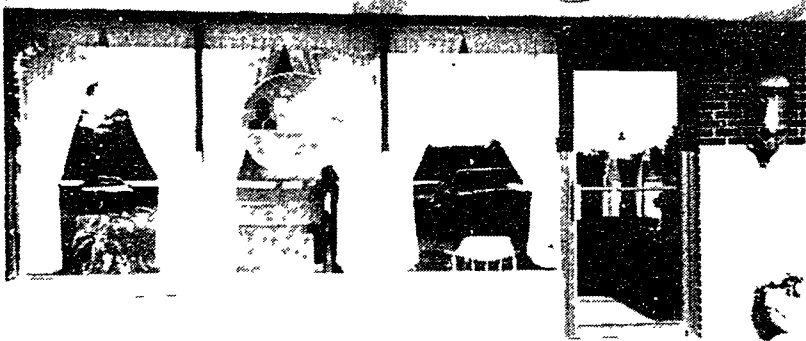

Dode Reimer Repair is open for business from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

ANDRETTI'S SUNSHINE MARIONETTES will be appearing at the Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi beginning today (Wednesday) and continuing through this Saturday. Shows are scheduled each day in Center Court at 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Marionettes are older than our country, and when they're on stage, it's an unbelievable show for all ages. Andretti's Sunshine Marionettes are one of the few puppet shows that feature three feet high marionettes of today's favorite stars.

Yes, it's the greatest show on strings, the one that features a surprisingly unique adventure in entertainment for the entire family.

Twelve Oaks Mall is located on Novi Road, north of I-96 in Novi. The mall is open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

REAL ESTATE ONE, Inc., located at 1045 Novi Road (servicing the Novi-Northville area), has just successfully completed its first year in business.

Real Estate One, Inc. is Michigan's largest company, presently having 38 branch offices in the metropolitan area — all unified and working as a team under the direction of the company founders.

According to Pat Tassic, who heads up the Northville office, Real Estate One also is the second largest independently owned real estate company in the United States. It is the founder and member of RELO — a world-wide relocation service. Real Estate One is the servicing brokerage for many large metropolitan corporations, Tassic adds.

"The Novi-Northville office has seen tremendous growth. The office now has 17 full time professional sales associates serving the real estate needs of the community. The office has received the Northville Beautification award for 1980, and its sales associates have earned many company wide recognition letters for outstanding achievement in the practice of professional real estate transactions."

Sandcastles

A sandcastle stood right here today,
Right here, where the waves now play.
Tall and turretted but washed away.

No trace left, no hump, no burrow,
But I'll make sure it's here tomorrow.

Tomorrow comes and goes — what a pain,
No-body told me it would rain.

Next day?
Maybe —
I'm not sure,
Castles seem to have lost their allure.

Where Are They

I look in vain for faces
That I knew when I was young,
And have come to the conclusion
That they are not among
The ones who hurry by me
Down an old, familiar Street,
Though I scan, in hopes that maybe
There'll be someone I will meet
From the years in common whom we knew
In the town we claim as "home";
There must be someone else around
Who may be looking, too.

Laughter fills their ear.
They believe in happiness,
Until they're taught to hear.

Innocent, no lies escape,
From their tiny cheeks.
They believe in "I love you",
Until they're taught to speak.

Like a tree, their strongest roots,
Are planted very deep.
They believe in eternity,
Until they're taught to sleep.

See no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil, be;
Once again a little child.
Love, and you are free.

TWO NOVI DENTISTS have announced the relocation of their offices to the new Providence Hospital Ambulatory Care Facility at the corner of Ten Mile and Haggerty Road in Novi.

Alan Kessler, D.D.S. and Associates, and Terry L. Nielsen, D.D.S., P.C., have announced their affiliation with the new Providence Hospital center.

The Novi facility will offer basic emergency services with those persons requiring inpatient care being transported to Southfield or nearby full-service hospitals.

The 25,000 square foot ambulatory center is located on a 10-acre site at Ten Mile and Haggerty Road.

Tree blooms in summer

A flowering tree that doesn't bloom in the spring? Right!

It's the golden-rain tree (Koelreuteria paniculata), also known as the China tree and Pride of India.

This small to medium-sized tree (20-30 feet tall) is covered in July or early August by erect, graceful clusters of yellow flowers. These are succeeded by an abundance of one-to-two inch, bladder-shaped, papery, seed capsules that range in color from light yellow to brown.

Leaves are compound, 12-14 inches long, with 15 leaflets. In the fall, they turn bright yellow.

Harold Davidson, Extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University, says the golden-rain tree is hardy in southern Michigan, where it is adapted to most soils but does best on light, well-drained, sandy or gravelly soils.

This tree was introduced to the Western world from China in the mid-1700's. It is most often grown as a multiple-leader tree — with a number of upright stems — but can be trained to a single trunk. Multiple-leader specimens tend to be shorter and more umbrella-shaped.

In the home landscape, the trees are attractive as specimen trees or accents. They do best in full sun.

The golden-rain tree is relatively free of insect and disease problems.

Fish count underway at Kensington Lake

This year the Department of Natural Resources and its Institute for Fisheries is updating its knowledge of bass.

Kent Lake in Kensington Metropark near Milford is one of three lakes in southeastern Michigan selected for this project, along with Pontiac Lake also in Oakland County and Whitmore Lake in Livingston County.

James Schneider, DNR Fisheries research biologist of Ann Arbor, said the survey will answer two basic questions:

(1) Estimate how many fish of all kinds are caught in these lakes.

(2) Estimate the number of bass, pike and walleyes now in Kent Lake Kensington Park.

This project, which started in May of this year, will extend into the fall. On a five-day-a-week random schedule DNR personnel will be talking to fishermen to learn what they caught, where they fish and other data.

Ronald J. Spittler, DNR district fish biologist in Oakland County, said that more than 1,000 legal size bass were tagged in those lakes by the bass opener on May 24. Orange colored "spaghetti" tags were placed on the back of the fish and numbered for easy identification of the specific fish.

The bass also were measured, weighed and scale-sampled for age determination. Also a number of northern pike were tagged in all three lakes — tiger muskellunge in Pontiac and Whitmore lakes, and Walleyes in Kent.

Anglers who fish these three lakes are asked to inspect their catches carefully for tags.

Fishermen with tagged fish should note the tag number, length of fish, date caught, lake name and mention whether the fish was kept or released. Tags should not be removed from fish that are being released alive, officials emphasized.

Fishermen at Kent Lake should turn their tags into the Boat Rental Building, toll booths or park office — or send the tag to: Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Institute for Fisheries Research, University Museums Annex, Ann Arbor 48109. The phone number is 663-3554. Information and other data on this survey also may be obtained by contacting Ronald J. Spittler in Pontiac at 666-1500.

Root crops productive, yield great dividends

Root crops like carrots, radishes and beets are easy to grow and yield a lot for the space they take in the garden. Because they are bothered by relatively few insects or diseases, they often thrive in beginners' gardens.

Though the common root crops are not all closely related, they require similar planting sites and care.

Michigan State University Extension horticulturists advise planting root crops where they'll get at least eight hours of sunlight per day. Light shade part of the day is acceptable but not preferred.

A light, rich soil is best. In hard or stony soil, roots will become twisted and forked. Till or spade the soil to loosen it to a depth of at least 15 inches for parsnips, 10 inches for most carrots, and eight inches for beets, turnips, short carrots and radishes.

All the root crops are grown from seed, and most can be planted as soon as the gardener can prepare the site in the spring. The exceptions are turnips and rutabagas — which are usually planted in June or July for a fall harvest — and radishes, which can be planted almost any time.

For carrots, beets and parsnips, space rows 18 inches apart and sow seed one-half inch deep. Space beet seeds about one inch apart, and plant carrot and parsnip seeds about 25 to the foot.

Rows of radishes should be six inches apart. Plant 15 to 20 seeds per foot of row.

None of these seeds is very big, and seedlings may have trouble breaking through a hard crust on top of the soil. Prevent crusting by sprinkling the soil frequently to keep it moist. Or cover seeds with sand or shredded peat moss rather than garden soil.

Thinning — removing some of the seedlings so that those that remain are at the proper spacing — is a very important part of growing these crops. Without sufficient room to grow, they will not do well. Thin carrots and parsnips to one inch apart when they're one inch tall and to three inches apart a month later. Parsnips will need to be thinned yet again, to a final spacing of five inches, when they're four inches tall. Thin turnips and rutabagas to four to six inches apart when they're two to three inches tall.

Rapid growth is important in producing high-quality root crops.

The gardener promotes rapid growth by providing plant nutrients (fertilizer) and water in appropriate amounts. Two pounds of 5-20-20 per 100 feet of row, applied before planting, and a thorough soaking once a week during dry weather should keep root crops growing.

Eliminating competition from weeds also is important. Weeds will vie with crops for both nutrients and water. Pull weeds by hand or hoe them while plants are very small. After thinning, mulch with several inches of straw, leaves or other materials to keep weeds from growing and to hold moisture in the soil.

The time from seeding to harvest varies greatly from crop to crop. Radishes are ready for harvest three or four weeks after planting. Parsnips, on the other hand, may take more than three weeks just to germinate; usually they require more than 100 days to grow. Carrots and beets fall in between at about 70 days.

Harvest beets when they're one and a half to three inches in diameter, carrots at one to one and a half inches; rutabagas at three and a half to five inches; and turnips at one and three quarters to three and three quarters inches. Small red radishes are ready when they are about an inch across. Note that beet tops also can be eaten — prepare them as you would spinach.

Parsnips usually taste better after exposure to freezing weather. Both they and carrots can be stored in the garden over winter.

Mark and mulch the rows of carrots so you'll be able to find and dig the roots when you want them.

Root crops also can be stored in perforated plastic bags at 32 degrees and high humidity, buried in moist sand or vermiculite, or place in a clean garbage can with moist sand and buried or set above ground in a cool location.

Low temperatures — as close to 32 degrees F as possible without freezing — and high humidity are necessary to keep the roots crispy.

The Michigan League for Human Services has declared that Governor William G. Milliken's proposals for dealing with the budget strain due to the recession puts too much of the burden on poor people, who are the least able to cope with the recession themselves.

The league was critical both of the 1980-81 budget proposals and of some of the social services cuts already implemented in the current year executive order budget cuts.

Meanwhile, the governor is working on further revisions to his 1980-81 proposals to deal with further declining revenues and rising welfare caseloads.

Zolton Ferency, representing the league, said the governor's proposals mean those who are deprived will have to suffer more heavily than others.

William Marshall of the Michigan State AFL-CIO, agreed saying his greatest concerns are over the cuts and the upcoming budget reductions coming from those who can least afford it.

"We have to set priorities and look at areas with the most fat in government," he said.

The most criticism was leveled at a proposal to save $40-45 million by simply eliminating general assistance payments during April through September for persons under 45 who are classified as employable.

That would affect more than 40,000 persons or about half of the general assistance caseload.

Marshall said the premise of the recommendation — that jobs are more plentiful in the summer — is without basis, since the addition of jobs is more than matched by the number of persons seeking jobs. He labeled the proposal as unconscionable.

Also criticized was a proposed 50 percent cut in funding for the emergency needs program, when the league said inflation and rising unemployment along with lagging increases in public assistance grants, point to a need for more funding.

At the same time, the league criticized the governor for budgeting in recommendations to increase payments to Medicaid providers, with $53.2 million of the increase to reflect an inflation adjustment.

In urging a comprehensive look at the tax structure, Ferency said the league believes in times of economic distress, tax benefits or loopholes should be closed rather than welfare benefits being eliminated or reduced.

The league suggested taxing military pay (already approved by the state senate) and lottery winnings and extending the sales tax to services such as entertainment, laundry and dry cleaning.

The group also urged the legislature to immediately begin efforts to remove the restraints of the Headlee tax limitation amendment of 1978 which requires that 41.6 percent of the state budget be allocated to local government. They suggested the proposal ties the state's hands in setting priorities when money is tight.

Softball characters offer contrast

The softball player

Certain signs of summer are unmistakably inherent only to the warmest season of the year—picnics in the park, vacations with the family, splashing in the pool, cutting the grass, and the yells, cries, screams and tantrums of adult softball.

If there were a visitor from another planet that swooped down upon earth and settled off in the distance to observe grown humans running around in grandiose pajamas, chasing an enlarged egg with swollen hands that one member in differing plumage had punished with an aluminum weapon, then perhaps the engines on the craft would be revved up and earth would be deprived of its first documented exchange with another form of life.

Indeed, softball creates a world all its own. Some live and breathe only for the one or two times a week that they are permitted to race around the field emitting primal sounds and performing ritual dances.

But who are the people who comprise these strange lots, the ones who participate in the offspring of the Grand Old Game? Are these people really Dr. Jeckyl/Mr. Hyde characters, or simply less inhibited than the normal humanoid?

An in-depth study of the two main characters in the game may reveal some hidden truths. Each is armed with differing equipment for differing uses, but the one in control is the lesser of the dresser.

But in search of the truth, the holy crusade for the answers has brought the following offerings for study and discernment. Ladies and gentlemen, the composite player versus the complacent umpire...

Meet B.J. Darling, a promising baseball player in high school who set records for doubles and batting average and was voted all-conference both his junior and senior years.

A promising career lay ahead, that is it did until he ripped up his knee horsing around with his buddies the summer before he went to college.

There went his scholarship, his dreams to play in Tiger Stadium, his commercials for Ultra Brite, but not his hope.

He now is a SOFTBALL PLAYER. Being a softball player can be a career in itself, unless you are hung up on trivial things like earning money to buy food. No, there are more important things in life than material gain, and softball heads the list.

So now meet B.J. Darling (nobody knows what B.J. stands for), the consummate softball player. He wears the official uniform with the official equipment and maintains the official personality for a riproaring summerfull of evenings.

Here is what makes B.J. click: Curly Bleached Hair—Only day-after-day games in the heat of summer can give B.J. that bleached, dried out look that all good outfielders need. When in high school B.J. painstakingly spent long hours blowdrying his hair straight, but fashions have changed for the better so now he can wear his hair naturally curly.

Besides, his hat stays on better this way. You can't have your hat fall off while racing to the warning track to haul in a long, fly ball, can you?

Baby Blue Eyes and Pearly White Teeth—For the All-American image, B.J. has been blessed with the cutest of blue eyes and the straightest, whitest teeth in the league. They are very effective on the females in the stands, who swoon with his swing and shriek at a strike.

Of course, they are only more effective against his tanned face, still untouched by stubby beard. Maybe he'll get those Ultra Brite commercials yet.

Color Coordinated Turtleneck—Even on hot days, B.J. wears his lucky white turtleneck that goes so well with his uniform. It better accentuates his tan while adding a little bulk to his slender build.

Double Knit Super Fit Uniform—B.J.'s team, J&L, has the Cadillac of Ultimate Uniforms. Special ordered through a softball catalog, the uniform caresses every bulge and ripple a player can boast.

Double knit, of course, the uniform holds a Pierre Cardin label (Calvin Klein does the women's uniforms) with sleek French styling and and form-fitting textiles.

Color Coordinated Wristband—The evolution of the wristband is an interesting chapter in sports history. Originally called a "sweatband," it served to keep the heavy sweat dripping from the forearm off your palms. (Forearms have never quite been known to emit large quantities of perspiration.)

Realizing that this premise was tenable at best and looking for a need to keep the flashy garment in their arsenal, players began calling it a wristband and espoused its ability to add strength to the wrist for a better, more compact swing. Available in assorted colors, the wristband has moved from the major leagues all the way down to local T-ball.

Color Coordinated Batting Glove—A cousin to the wristband, it also supposedly gives the batter better contact with the bat on the ball. First came the left-handed glove but the right-handed glove soon followed for two-fisted power. It, too, has leaked down to little league levels.

Personalized Aluminum Bat—The aluminum bat began with concerns that it would synthesize the basics of the game, but since has revolutionized its progress. Scarcely a team remains that still has a wooden bat that Grandpa used to swing.

Emitting a "ping" when struck against the ball, the bats deliver more power, distance and force to a batted ball while also serving as adequate lightning rods for games played in the rain.

Logo of Sponsor—Sponsor logos come in varied shapes and sizes, and the style generally follows the amount of money the sponsor kicked out for the team. Many teams have shared sponsorship, in which several businesses kick in to finance one team for the good of softball. Others call it cheap.

As you can see, B.J. has an extravagant sponsor. J&L not only paid the exorbitant entry fees for the league, but also purchased the Cardin suits, bought equipment and pays for weekend tournaments.

In return, B.J. and his teammates go to a different bar after the games and drink Lite Beer until they settle whether or not B.J.'s grounder to the hole that bounced off the shortstop's glove was a hit or an error.

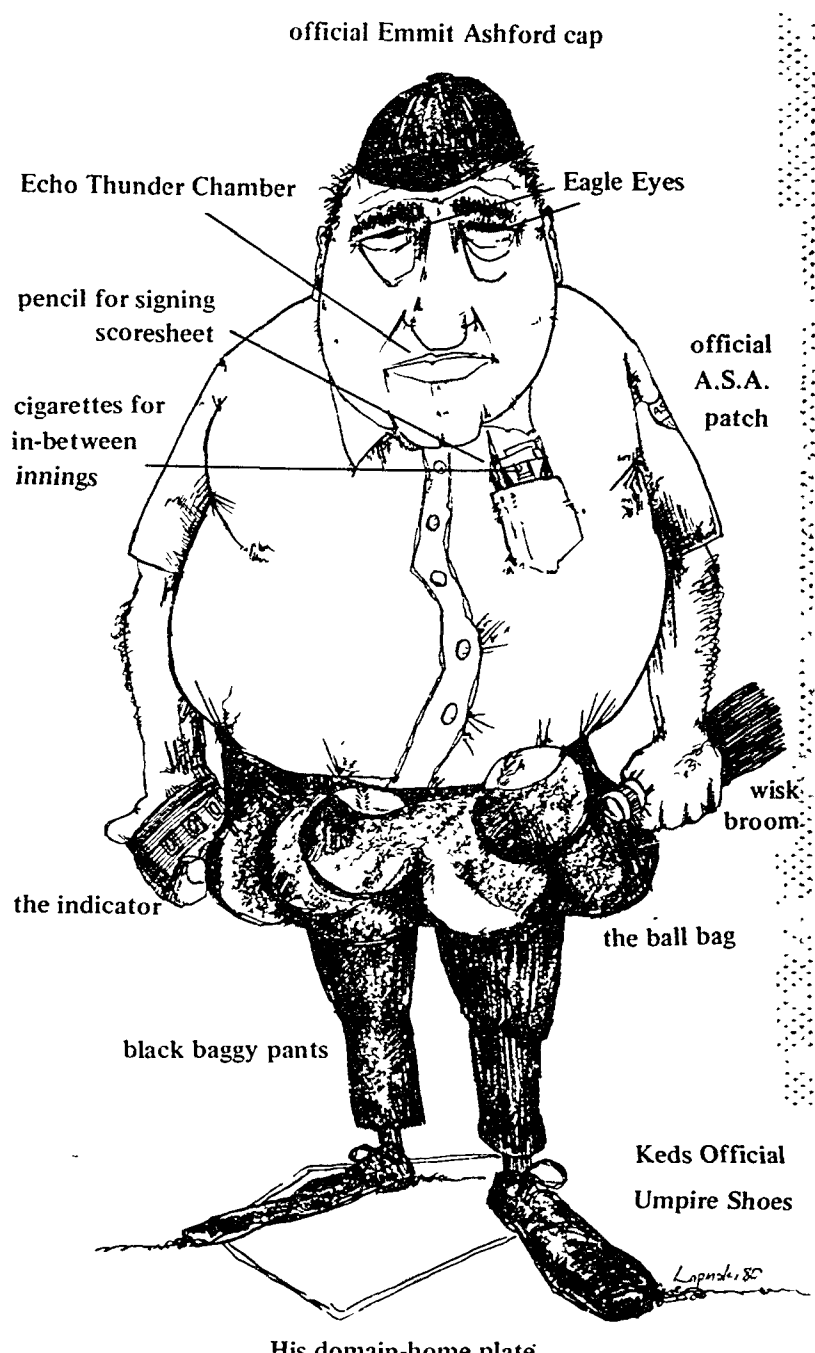

Two-Sizes Too-Small Pants—Perhaps the most important part of the uniform. Pierre Cardin realizes the vanity of the players and already designs the pants an extra size smaller than usual, but yet the players still swap pants until they find the pair that looks just right—panted on instead of pulled on.

And cursed be the player who shows up for the next game without his pants properly washed and bleached, with all traces of previous play erased from the knees.

Cesar Cedeno Autographed Web Glove—A must for serious outfielders. The Cedeno model offers a large web that clutches on to the hardest of line drives while also is supple enough to

Angels, Expos, Phillies battle for F-League title

Three teams stayed in the race for the F League title in the holiday-shortened schedule last week.

With only four games remaining in the season, the Angels hold a tenuous half-game lead over the Expos and are a full game ahead of the Phillies.

The league-leaders raced to a 7-1 lead over the Phillies in last Thursday's contest at Ford Field and held on to win despite a five-run rally in the sixth led by home runs off the bats of Mickey Newman and Steve Schrader — and a bases-loaded threat in the seventh.

A three-run round-tripper by Dave Longridge in the sixth inning erased a 4-3 Giants' lead and propelled the Expos to their 10th victory in 13 games.

In a third game last Thursday, the fourth place Braves dropped a 3-2 decision to the Astros.

Jeff Metz and Paul Havalala were in-involved in a fierce pitching duel through the first five innings. Then singles by John Quinn and Bruce Meininger, a wild pitch and two walks gave the Braves a 2-0 lead.

But the Astros responded with one run in the sixth on triple by Kevin Kolb and two in the seventh on singles by Kolb, Paul Stephens and Mark Leinonen.

Earlier in the week the Astros banded out 16 hits and held off the Cardinals 20-17. Tom Ross had two hits and four runs batted in for the winners, while John Bradley had a perfect day at the plate with two walks, a double and a single for the Cards.

The Cards' loss enabled the Pirates to gain a tie for fifth place. The Bucs posted two victories last week, one a 2-0 thrashing of the Dodgers, who were stifled by the one-hit pitching performance of Scott Gray.

A 13-run fifth inning coupled with a three-hit effort by pitchers Dirk Nowka, Bryan Burgett and Tom Yanoschik broke the Dodgers' back. Tim Keiser picked up the Dodgers' lone hit with a first-inning single.

In other F League action last week, the Pirates stunned the first-place Angels, 8-6. The Pirates scored two runs in the fifth on a single by Tim Ruffing, a triple by Jerry Pawloski and an error to add to their six runs scored in the first.

The Angels scored five in the first inning, two on a round-tripper by Steve Frelick. But a second inning homer by Dan Neilsen was the only other run the Angels could muster.

The Reds exploded for 18 hits and proceeded to whip the Padres, 28-13. Benji Evans, Steve Marrone and Jeff Smith teamed up for half of the Reds' hits while Doug Hartman hoisted a two-run homer for the Padres.

The clinic will be run at the Training Center (Sheldon Road) on Township Field 1. The time of the clinic for each of the five days is 9-11:30 a.m.

The clinic will include instruction in soccer skills (dribbling, trapping, passing and heading), tactics, and team matches.

The director of the camp will be Mark Wayne, a licensed Michigan coach and a former instructor at a Schoolcraft College soccer clinic.

Other coaches include Russell Gans and Elizabeth Bohan, also coaches at Schoolcraft clinics, and Barry Quellet, a member of the Northville High School varsity soccer squad.

Wayne and Gans were members of the 1980 MYSL Midwest Regional Championship soccer team and members of the 1979 Bonanza-Express soccer squad.

Currently, Bohan is a member of the Bonanza-Express team, and studied soccer under Wayne Pirmann, coach of the Fort Lauderdale Strikers.

Registration for the clinic will be July 12 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Northville Community Center. A separate registration for the fall soccer league will be taking place at the same place and time.

Late registration for the clinic will be from 8-9 a.m. July 14 at Township Field 1. Registration also can be mailed to Mark Wayne, 18321 Laraugh, Northville.

The registration fee for the clinic is $20.

Umpire, player: Totally different characters

The softball umpire

Meet Frank Armano, softball umpire. A World War II veteran, Frank played American Legion ball after he got out of the Marines and continued playing until his age and girth got the better of him.

The ultimate umpire, Frank is a walking rules encyclopedia, unwavering in interpretation while unerring in judgment—at least, that's what Frank believes.

You see, umpires can never admit to fault. If one did so, then the players may believe him to be human and thus subject him to all sorts of ridicule.

Umpiring is certainly not a glamorous occupation. Nobody loves an ump, and no bar conversation has ever concluded with the players arm-in-arm telling each other "boy, the ump sure called a good game. I was out by a mile at the plate in the bottom of the seventh with the tying run and the final out."

So what makes Frank tick? Is he a sadist who gets off on having his eardrums shattered five nights a week, two or three games a night? Does he enjoy waiting to eat dinner until 11 p.m. and never being able to go to the same bar that the players go to after the games?

Frank does derive pleasure from the exercise, despite his surly countenance. Adorned in funeral colors, he is the picture of authority and pillar of patience—until pushed too far. Then the player or coach has 60 more seconds to air his views before heading for home.

Here, then, is the appraisal of Umpire Frank Armano:

Official Emmet Ashford Cap—For all the progress in equipment and style in uniforms, the umpire's cap remains in its humorous original form. Resembling the freshman beanie, the cap serves no real useful purpose, except perhaps camouflaging Frank's bald top.

Eagle Eyes—Never mind that his eyes are barely open, Frank never misses a call. It may be a bad call, but it wasn't missed. Arguments over a judgment call is the single-most reason for early player retirements.

The eyes have the unique ability of being able to supervise play on the field, inspect the equipment being used, and keep a watchful glare at the girl sitting in the third row of the bleachers all at the same time.

Echo Thunder Chamber—A mild, soft-spoken man, Frank is a man possessed once he dons his blues and steps behind home plate. People living miles around know when Frank is umpiring as dishes rattle and dogs howl with every called ball and strike.

The mouth serves as the perfect echo chamber for the calls, with jowls vibrating and nostrils flaring to sell every decision and inviting no contradiction.

Official A.S.A. Patch—The patch worn on the left sleeve, exactly three finger widths below the shoulder, serves to certify that Frank is an Official American Softball Association Umpire, receiving the patch only after years of duty in the minors and is now outwardly praised as The Dean of Decision-making.

(Actually, every umpire can be A.S.A. certified. All he or she has to do is mail a check for $25 every spring to the state governing body and receive in return two official patches, the current A.S.A. rulebook, an official A.S.A. bat ring, and a year's subscription to Balls and Strikes, the official A.S.A. publication. But don't tell anyone.)

Pencil for Signing Scoresheet—The most important tool for an umpire. Without his signature on the scoresheet after each game, he won't be paid.

Cigarettes for Between Innings—Often fans are delighted to see how far an umpire can chimney his cigarette down between innings so that he can go into the next half inning relaxed, setting a good example of sportsmanship for the players and fans alike to follow. On a good night Frank can go through two packs of Kools.

Wisk Broom—Another important item. A wisk broom can be utilized to wipe off the plate when it is perfectly clean, giving the umpire the opportunity to tell the catcher that if he steps back and spikes his toes one more time, he's going to get nasty cigarette burns all over his back.

The broom is also handy for making a pause in the action, defining the strike zone and filling up a back pocket.

Ball and Strike Indicator—Many times players and coaches bother the umpire with petty questions concerning what the count is and how many outs there are. The ump mutters the count and then checks his little counter to see if he was right. When the players ask again because they couldn't hear him, he can then yell it out with authority, causing the players to sheepishly apologize for bothering such a busy man.

The Ball Bag—A strange piece of cloth that dangles from the ump's belt. In it contains room for 15 baseballs but no more than two softballs.

To be on the safe side, Frank carries a super ball bag, with enough room for an out-of-play ball, a wet ball, an over-the-fence ball, a new ball, a slightly used ball if the new ball is out-of-play, and another ball that hasn't been out in years, referred to as a forgot-what-for ball.

Black Baggy Pants—Unlike the fashionable players, umpires are normally adorned in the dumpiest, most wrinkled pants that have ever escaped a closet. The pants are baggy for comfort and ugly in appearance.

Keds Official Umpire Shoes—Some shoes have multi-purposes, other designated for a specialized cause, but umpire shoes can only be worn for umpiring. Normally without cleats, umpire shoes are the kind of footwear that your uncle puts on when he goes out to dig in the garden.

A few umps special order special umpire shoes with ridged bottoms and comfort soles.

Frank wears his uncle's gardening shoes.

capture the "snowcone" catches that outfielders misjudge.

Also available are specialized first baseman's mitts and lighter models for the infielders to pounce upon skipping grounders.

Elastic Reinforced Stirrups—This in an area often overlooked by some of the less dedicated players. When the stirrups for softball pants arrive, they invariably give you that Rusty Staub look so that you can barely see the sanitaries beneath them.

But the more-experienced players knows that by simply cutting the bottom of the sock at the strap and having their wives sew on a piece of elastic, the sock can be pulled as high as desired, sometimes up past the knee. B.J. likes his just to the top of his calf.

Color Coordinated Sanitaries—For some reason the hose that players wear over their normal tube sock but under the stirrups are called sanitaries. After only one wearing they are hardly sanitary.

Sanitaries, like wristbands, come in assorted colors to match any part of the uniform and can be mixed and matched.

Never-Been-Scuffed-White-Spikes—Also available in different styles, white spikes are a must in softball. Traditional black shoes are too ploddy and immediately depict a player as slow and boring at the bat.

White spikes must be able to glisten both in the sunlight and for night games in artificial lighting, thus necessitating two different kinds of shoe polish.

After all the equipment is properly attached to the body, some old-fashioned traditionalists still maintain that a game is still decided by ability.

Imagine that, B.J.

Track open to joggers

The track at Northville High School is available to runners and joggers whenever there are no scheduled activities, William Hood, administrative assistant announced recently.

Runners are asked to park their cars by Cooke Junior High School and enter the track through the gate adjacent to the parking area.

"We believe this will present an alternative to joggers," Hood said. "It offers a change of scenery and helps to keep runners out of heavy traffic areas where there is always an element of danger."

Rangers remain undefeated

The Rangers have yet to be beaten in Northville's Junior Baseball II-League.

The league-leaders scored six runs in the fourth and fifth innings to down the Expos, 6-2 last week and retain their unbeaten status.

Scott Griggs and Chris Gorceyca had two hits apiece for the winners, while Jeff Terwin smacked a triple and Steve Myers and Tagg Smith each had singles for the Expos.

The Reds and Phillies slugged it out last week, the Reds finally triumphing, 15-13.

Paul Baird had a triple and two singles, collecting three of the Reds' eight hits.

Nineteen walks combined with four hits gave the Phillies their runs.

Lead-off hitter Dave Roskowski scored three times for the losers.

The Padres edged the Dodgers, 5-4 in another H-League contest June 30.

The Padres tapped Dodger pitchers for nine hits. Scott Richardson and Greg Allen collecting three apiece.

The Dodgers managed only one hit through five innings, a single by Darren Candela in the fifth.

The Expos downed the Pirates, 9-4 in another game.

The Pirates were ahead 1-0 in the fifth inning when the Expos tied the game on a single, a ground out and a double and exploded for eight more runs in the fifth and sixth.

Tim Lake had three of the winners' eight hits with a single, double and triple.

The Pirates scored one run in the second, two in the fourth and one in the sixth.

Darren Candela and Ron Sanders each smacked a triple in the losing effort.

In other H-League contest last week the Cardinals edged the Dodgers, 5-3 and the Giants outdistanced the Braves, 9-7.

The Dodgers managed eight hits in a losing effort including two each by Kirk Windisch and Tom Skynar, while Dodger pitchers gave up 14 walks to Cardinal hitters.

Roger Craske and Derek Osborne each collected a triple for the victors.

Seven walks in the first inning gave the Giants four runs right off the bat.

Three more free passes in the second combined with a single and a triple put the Braves in a hole they couldn't climb out of.

The Giants collected four hits, including a three-run triple by Jeff Koppy and a double by Craig Schlaiky.

Cards still lead E League

The Cardinals added to their lead in E-League Junior Baseball last week with an 8-0 trouncing of the Pirates.

Dave Martin hurled the shut-out allowing only three Pirates to reach base — one on a walk in the sixth and two on base hits in the seventh.

The Cards started their assault with four runs in the first inning getting singles from Dave Malinowski, Greg Anusbikian and Tom Hanson and a double off the bat of Scott Schaal.

The first-place squad added a run in the fourth on a walk and a double by Malinowski.

Anusbikian slammed a home run in the fifth and a single by Rich Berryman, two walks and a double off the bat of Dave Perpich gave the Cards another score.

The Cards' final tally came in the seventh inning on a double by Schaal, a single by Hanson and a walk.

The Pirates rallied for six runs in the first inning against the Giants in another E-League game June 2 but could not contain the Giants' hot bats.

The last-place Giants scored four runs in the first, one in the second, six in the third and added three more in their final time at bat, downing the Pirates, 14-7.

The winners had only five hits, but were granted 16 walks by Pirate pitchers.

Mark Kormanis, Greg Dace and Dave Demattos each smacked doubles for the Giants, while Rich Schohl and Bob Craske had singles.

The Pirates scored six of their seven runs in the first inning off six walks and a single by Jeff Traudt.

The final tally came in the sixth when Frank Gonda slashed a single, stole second and scored on a ground out following two walks.

In other E-League action last week the Reds pummeled the Giants, 17-6.

The winners benefited from a dozen walks and hammered out six hits in the victory while the Giants matched the Reds in hits but received only six free bases.

The Reds' lead-off hitter Ted Behn scored four times collecting a single, double and three walks.

Nick Kolb scored twice for the Giants.

In the only other game played last week the Braves downed the Reds, 12-4.

Auto-Owners for Business Insurance

Some business owners sustain permanent damage during temporary closings.

An Auto Owners Business Interruption Insurance Policy will protect you against loss of income while you're temporarily shut down for repairs, and loss of key employees because you can't afford to pay out when nothing's coming in.

So before you get burned, come to Auto-Owners. It can be the difference between going out of business or staying in.
