

A boy's best friend is his...coon?

Al Talley and his pet racoon "Bud" are summer wanderers. Photographed in Northville Township last week by Record photographer Jane Hale, the two were headed out West Seven Mile where 17-year-old Talley has been staying with a South Lyon family. Not completely tame, "Bud" is kept in a rabbit cage in the family's barn. Talley told the photographer he is a township resident but spends summers in South Lyon.

Township census count questioned

Northville Township officials are scrambling to refute preliminary 1980 census figures that show a population slightly over one-half the township's own estimates.

The preliminary figures sent to Supervisor Donald Thomson late last week listed the 1980 total population at 8,735, and Thomson said that is far too low.

"We feel we're closer to 15-16,000," Thomson said. A local census official came to the township Monday, he said, and told him and Clerk Clarice Sass that the bureau is certain there is a computer error in the figure and advised them how to have the count checked.

"We do know for certain that their count does not include Northville Commons, Northville Colony and Park Gardens," Thomson said. "Also, in the area where Highland Lakes is, they show, I think, 430 (residential dwelling) units and we know there are something like 690."

The 1980 census includes a new "Local Review Program" which will make it easier for the township to dispute the figures than has been the case in earlier counts.

Under the program, communities can check the accuracy and the completeness of housing and population counts and point out problems for review and correction before the local offices of the census bureau close.

The bureau requires detailed documentation of potential problems in one count before detailed rechecking. Instruction books and packets direct local officials to use residential building permits, utility connections, tax assessor records and aerial photos, field surveys and land-use maps to support their estimates of the actual population.

Thomson noted that the township also has another source of information to supplement its evidence — a special census update conducted in 1976 at township expense.

"That showed us at around 12,000," Thomson said. "That 8,000 figure is absurd; it's lower than what we had in 1970 (9,522) and we all know what's been happening in this area by way of development in the past 10 years."

The township paid for the mid-decade census update because of the increasing importance of accurate census figures in recent years. Over 100 federal government aid programs, include the general revenue sharing program, use census figures to some degree as the basis for distribution of approximately $50 billion a year to state and local governments. Michigan also helps support local government operations on the basis of census figures.

Under the U.S. Constitution congressional apportionment is also based on the census. With court rulings demanding the one-man, one-vote principal election districts must be drawn with the use of census statistics.

Much state, county and local planning is also based on census results.

Thomson said the township is currently gathering all the information it can to support its estimates of the population and will file its reports in two to two and one-half weeks. After that, it will be up to census officials to make a new determination.

City to protest census in Wayne County part

An objection to the preliminary 1980 census figures for the Wayne County portion of the City of Northville will be filed by Friday, City Manager Steven Walters promised the city council Monday night.

Like the township, the city is objecting to figures that show a decrease. Population is listed as down 5.4 percent in the Wayne County portion of the city in the preliminary report of the local census district office.

Figures for the Oakland County portion of the city, Walters told council, appear to be in order. He said the city can accept the Oakland figure showing 883 dwelling units in 1980 as opposed to 572 in 1970, an increase of 311; also indicating a population increase of 398, from 2,367 in 1970 up to 2,765 in 1980.

Walters said he already has met with a Wayne County representative of the census bureau to discuss the preliminary figures that show a population decrease of 311 from the 1970 population of 3,033 to the 1980 figure of 2,722. Dwelling units are listed at 1,113 in 1970 and at 1,279 in 1980.

In both Oakland and Wayne counties the figures indicate a decrease in household size.

In Wayne, it went from 2.73 members to 2.24 and in Oakland from 4.12 to 3.13.

The Oakland county portion of the city, the council noted, has dropped almost one person a household. Walters said that a house count based on a SEM-

COG aerial map verified the Oakland figures.

In the Wayne County portion where most of the city lies, however, Walters said he feels there is a discrepancy of about 47 units. He points out that the assessment records reveal approximately 213 new dwelling units added in the Wayne portion in the 10 year period while the census shows an increase of only 166 units.

In his meeting with the census representative, he said, it was discovered that 11 structures on West Main annexed to the city had not been included in the census report.

"If we can show what they missed, they will do a recount. There will be an August printout," Walters told council.

A net reduction in population is indicated, he said. The objection is on number of dwelling units.

Combining the two portions gives a picture of 1,685 city dwellings in 1970 increasing to 2,162 in 1980 with a population per household decreasing from 3.20 to 2.61. Combined population figures rose from 5,400 to 5,635 in 1980.

Early release of the 1980 census figures is one of the checks by the U.S. Bureau of the Census being conducted to improve accuracy.

Review of the early data in a report to the Wayne County Planning Commission, forwarded to the city, shows that, in general, the outer ring of Wayne County communities are continuing to gain in population while the more central communities surrounding the City of Detroit are declining.

The preliminary figures show a 15.8 decrease in Plymouth but a 30.4 percent increase in Plymouth Township. The astounding growth, council observed Monday, has been the 335.1 percent increase in Canton Township south of Plymouth.

Maurice W. Roach, director of the Wayne County Planning Commission, promised the commission will continue to monitor the census data as it is released and to forward tabulations. He notes that the growth trend in Wayne County is similar to the patterns in both Macomb and Oakland counties in data released on those areas earlier.

Board drops its housing suit

Angry trustee resigns post over decision

By KEVIN WILSON and KEN KOVACS

One Northville Township trustee has resigned and others are angered in the wake of a closed township board meeting Monday night where it was decided to drop a lawsuit intended to prevent HUD from proceeding with the Northridge III subsidized rental housing development.

Trustees voted 4-2 to drop the suit following receipt of a mailgram from Jim Curran, director of the Wayne County Community Block Grant Program, threatening to cut off the township's block grant funding if the suit were continued.

"It's like someone holding a pistol to your head, saying 'do this, do that,'" Township Supervisor Donald Thomson said yesterday.

"What it came down to was blackmail," said Trustee John Swienkowski, who resigned from the board before the vote was taken.

"The board has broken its trust with the people," he said. "For the board to back off, I could not be a part of a board that yields to blackmail. I did not want to register a 'no' vote. I have no hard feelings against board members. I just don't like what they did."

Thomson said he and Trustee Susan Heintz voted to continue the suit. Other sources confirmed that those voting to drop the suit were Treasurer Lee Holland, Clerk Clarice Sass, Trustee Jim Nowka and Trustee Bill Zapke.

With the government already facing financial difficulties due to inflation, approving board members argued that it would be better not to risk the loss of any funds.

Others argued that the board must not yield to coercion and that the suit was in the right. Curran's threats could be fought, the minority contended.

Curran attended another closed meeting of the township board last Friday, Thomson said. Meetings regarding lawsuits are not required to be open to

Like it or not — they registered

Though they did not appear overly enthusiastic, 45 Northville men made their way to the Northville post office Monday to sign up for selective service.

For the first time in five years, young men throughout the country are being asked to sign up and be available for the draft in case of a national emergency.

Approximately four million American men are expected to sign selective service forms at post offices across the country.

Registration began Monday for 19 and 20-year-old men born in 1960, and will continue for those men through the week. Young men born in 1961 will begin registration next week. Men born in 1962 are to sign up in January, and after that young men will be expected to sign up when they reach their 18th birthday.

"The kids we have been getting have been real good," Northville Postmaster John Stelmel said. "Their attitude has been very positive."

"On Monday, we had at least 10 people sign up before 9 a.m. and we had three or four waiting outside at 8:30 a.m. — before we opened."

However, despite the early arrivals at the post office Monday, many of the young men who signed selective service forms did not appear overly enthusiastic about doing so.

The prevailing attitude among many of the men towards registration seemed to be that "it is something that has to be done."

"I can see them trying to register people — that's OK," said Paul

Hochkins, 19, of 105 Baseline, "but I am opposed to starting a draft right now."

Many argue that renewed registration is only a prelude to the draft, especially since President Carter called for the renewal of registration after the invasion of Afghanistan by Soviet troops in December. Carter said registration was needed in order to quickly locate draft-age men in the event of an emergency.

At the Northville post office Monday, many of the young men said they feared the draft may be the next course of action.

"I think it stinks," said Pat Murray, 20, of 840 Yorktown Court. "If I have to go I'll go, but I don't think the draft will go through."

Tim Johnson, 19, of 47234 Dunsany, said he didn't like the idea of registration because "it seems like age discrimination to me."

Yet Postmaster Stelmel assured that registration, though mandatory for 19 and 20-year-olds, was open to anybody.

"We turn no one away — including women," he said. However, as of Tuesday no women had registered at the post office.

Though a schedule has been set by the Selective Service for registering young men, Stelmel said all those eligible for registration can come to the post office at anytime.

Some identification is requested during registration — usually a driver's license. No cards are issued, but

Meet Your Township Candidates

For supervisor

JOHN E. McDONALD

BA and JD University of Michigan, Wayne State University Law School. Practicing attorney. Distinguished service award from Northville Jaycees. Former township trustee, member of planning commission and township zoning board of appeals, 1972-1976. Former member Wayne Jaycees. Past president, Wayne Chamber of Commerce and Wayne Kiwanis Club.

1. I do not see the necessity for an increase in local taxes to support township services in the immediate future unless there is a significant reduction in federal and state funds so as to seriously affect the general fund.

2. The relationship between the township board and the business manager will be one of complete cooperation. The business manager will be given the responsibility of day to day operation of the township subject, of course, to the board reviewing decisions which they have been given by statute the power to review.

3. The people that have moved to Northville do not wish to have the character of the community changed and I support that concept. Therefore, any commercial development which would be proposed would have to be looked at in a light which would have to be compatible with the existing attitudes of the community.

4. I do not foresee the question of annexation becoming an issue. In fact, it is not an issue.

LARRY D. VANDERMOLLEN

Ph.D. Michigan State University, 1971; M.A. Western Michigan University, 1964; B.A. Western Michigan University, 1964. Political science professor, Schoolcraft College, 1965-1980; legal assistant, 1979 graduate, Oakland University legal assistant program; member, Oakland University advisory committee, legal assistant program, Republican precinct delegate.

1. The fire millage might be necessary, if the majority vote to increase our taxes. However, I have consistently opposed millage increases which occur without a vote of the people. For example, my research and writing against the charter township recently saved taxpayers 2.5 mills.

2. The business manager will be a coordinator of the technical affairs of the township on a daily basis. Our township board will hire the business manager, and it will retain the ultimate power to fire, if the need arises. Actually the business manager plan is another tax saving proposal. If the board had adopted a full-fledged township manager, similar to the manager in Saginaw Township, then our millage would have been increased by one mill, or at least .5 mill. Instead it adopted a limited business manager plan, so no millage increase is necessary.

I am opposed to any increase in the commercial development of the township. I have written many letters to the editor against proposed shopping centers and other commercial developments. Commercial growth

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each of the August primary candidates in Northville Township was asked four questions by the League of Women Voters — Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Nov. In cooperation with the League, The Record is publishing the answers of the candidates to those questions together with biographic materials submitted to the League by the candidates. Answers by the candidates were edited by the League to fit a specified length. The questions: (1) Do you foresee an increase in local taxes to support township services? Why or why not? (2) Discuss the relationship between the township board and the business manager. (3) How do you envision the commercial development of the township? (4) Do you foresee the question of annexation becoming an issue in the near future?

causes more traffic, more noise, and ruins the beauty of our township. We have enough shopping facilities within the area. Slow down the growth rate to a reasonable level.

No. The people voted no overwhelmingly.

WILLIAM ZAPKE

Married; son, Dennis; nine year resident; township trustee; township planning commission (1977); Outstanding Young Man of America (1980); vice-president, Michigan Jaycees; president, Northville Jaycees (1978); U.S. Coast Guard (HD); member, Northville Area Economic Development Corporation; BS engineering; steering committeeman, Citizens for Equal Representation; sales executive.

1. I do not favor a local tax increase for the general fund accounts, however, I will support millage proposals that will improve police and fire protection for our people.

2. The proposed business manager position does not directly report to the board nor to the people, but only to the supervisor. I was, and still am, convinced that the people should have been allowed the benefit of a vote. The people cannot directly scrutinize the actions of the business manager. I would rather see the office of supervisor be a full time position, since I fear the business manager appointment could become a political plum.

3. With the projected population growth figures, demand for convenience shopping is inevitable. However, the location and quality of commercial development must be a major priority of the new board with overall consideration given to the people already living in the area.

4. I believe it is an issue since one of my opponents is a strong advocate of annexation. I strongly favor preserving township government in compliance with the peoples' vote to reject annexation. I do want to improve the working relationship between the city and township administrations.

For treasurer

RICHARD M. HENNINGSSEN

Township resident 10 years, graduate of Bowling Green State University with a B.S. in accounting. Twenty three years financial experience with General Motors Corporation. Three years service as the Northville Commons Homeowners Association treasurer. Northville Township treasurer from 1976 through 1978. Chairman of the Northville Township Wage and Salary Review Commission.

1. One of our greatest challenges will be to maintain good township services without increasing taxes. I don't foresee an increase in taxes because I don't believe the voters will approve an increase.

2. Since the position guidelines have not been completed as of this date only the fact that he/ reports to the supervisor has been established. However, I believe it will be the commission's intent to have the business manager available to brief board members on daily operations along with keeping the board knowledgeable on other vital events effecting township operation.

3. It is my intent to review very carefully each petition for commercial development and its eventual impact on the township. Until there is a full understanding of sewer capacity for the community I believe commercial development should be curtailed.

4. I do not foresee the question on annexation becoming an issue in the near future. I will, however, work to get the best possible services which may be available for the township and its residents.

LEE E. HOLLAND

Treasurer, Northville Township graduate Wayne State University - B.A. Accounting; attended Heidelberg College, two years; practicing CPA -12 years; Partner Holland, Newton & Associates; treasurer Northville Rotary; treasurer Northville Rotary Foundation; treasurer Northville High School Boosters; board of directors - Northville Community Chamber of Commerce; football coach - Northville High School and Northville Colts.

1. There is a need for additional taxes to support services and to purchase land for recreation. The township budget is or may be affected by the loss of state and federal shared revenues; the potential loss of the one percent collection fee; outstanding indebtedness on the township buildings; unemployment and recession.

2. The business manager is first accountable to the supervisor and then to the township board. This is an important development in the history of the township and should result in a more efficient operation.

3. I don't foresee any substantial commercial development for the next five or 10 years. We seem to have more than is required to service the population we have now. This would change, of course, if we have a substantial home building boom.

4. No. A minority of the people may see this as an issue. Realistically, the time has passed us by for annexation. The City of Northville and the township have both grown in size and in providing services; the variance in salaries paid to employees and services rendered is such that it would be impractical to merge the two.

For trustee

RICHARD ALLEN

Principal development engineer, Ford Motor Company, 30 years; registered professional engineer; past president and current secretary of civic association; member of Northville Township Wage and Salary Commission; member of Township Manager Investigation Committee; active member of Northville Presbyterian Church; married, two sons in Cooke Junior High; resident for six years.

1. Taxes will increase only with voter approval. Currently, property taxes comprise 32-percent of the township's income, while state and federal funds account for 42 percent (remaining 26 percent is from miscellaneous sources). It appears that state-federal funding may be reduced due to the recession; therefore, some severe belt tightening will be required.

2. The business manager is a step in the right direction toward improving daily operation of the township. He will report directly to the supervisor and will coordinate the office, including governmental affairs, and supply the supervisor data necessary for the board to make good decisions. The board should channel its requests to him through the supervisor. Use of a professional manager would further improve township operation, but is too expensive.

3. Adequate commercial areas already exist, and development of those areas should be justifiable by local needs and be of such size that they will be economically successful and not a future blight on the township. Numerous significant commercial areas already exist within relative short driving distances.

4. In my opinion, annexation is a dead issue. The township and city must co-exist, and this means equitable sharing of services when it is in the best interest of both communities.

C. JAMES ARMSTRONG

Vice president, Russell Filtration, Inc.; attended University of Michigan; member Northville City and Township Recreation Commission (chairman, one year); founding member, Northville Junior Baseball board of directors, three years; member Northville Junior Football board of directors, three years; member Allen Park Board of Education, 12 years, president two years; veteran pilot.

1. Yes, eventually, as the township develops, the demand for increased services will exceed the expanding tax base.

2. The state law, eliminating staggered terms of office, and requiring all township elections to be held every four years, can seat an inexperienced board which could seriously delay the proper function of township government. The election this year is a classic example of the need for continuity in township government through the services of a business manager. We will have a new supervisor, a new clerk, and three or four new trustees. Many problems can arise to affect the proper operation of the township government while these new officials are becoming acquainted with the responsibilities. An ongoing written policy, administered by a knowledgeable business manager, will provide a smooth transition of government without loss of service, or inconvenience to citizens.

3. As the township grows, there may be a need for minor commercial development in the western area of the township. Beyond that, I feel that we already have sufficient commercial

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

Have you decided to become a serious wine drinker? If so, it is time to consider setting up a private wine cellar. The best way to get started is to buy about a dozen cases of red wines and set them aside for a couple of years. Then, buy perhaps six cases of whites to set aside for at least a year as well. Then buy wines for present drinking. It might seem like a large investment to make at one time, but over the long run, it is the best way to begin.

Begin your wine cellar selection with a trip to us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. You can save 10% on your wine, by buying by the case, whether a mixed assortment or all of one kind. Open: Mon. thru Sat. 9 a.m.-10 p.m., Sun. Noon-6 p.m.

property developed, or being developed, to meet the township needs. More light industry may be necessary to broaden the tax base.

4. No. I feel that the voters in the township have decided.

THOMAS LEO PATRICK COOK

Graduated 1957 U.S. Naval Academy, B.S. degree engineering; 20 years operational all weather fighter pilot U.S. Navy, 101 missions North Vietnam; masters degree public administration, Golden Gate University, with emphasis on local, state and federal governments...budgeting and working processes; vice president Whisper Wood Homeowners Association; Our Lady of Victory Church; currently employed by Ford Motor Company, Dearborn.

1. No! Increases in tax revenue base (people in homes) should provide ample funds for sound fiscal responsibilities.

2. No present member of board should be hired as business manager. Should serve at board's pleasure.

3. Planning commission has done an admirable job, but plan is guideline not etched in stone.

4. If the question arises, I will vehemently oppose annexation.

J. RICHARD JOHNSON

AB in communications, University of Miami; MBA in business administration, University of Detroit; JD, Detroit College of Law; member, advisory board, League of Women Voters Women & Mortgage Credit Project; member, Business/Education Alliance; assistant vice president, Civic Affairs & Marketing Division, National Bank of Detroit; broad management experience; resident 10 years.

1. The answer to the tax question lies in the extent to which the township board is able to control the growth of the township. Rapid, uncontrolled expansion of Northville Township's population will certainly require increased taxes if services are to be maintained. A strong board can direct the community in a healthy, managed growth pattern that can minimize the needs for increased taxes.

2. The business manager is a professional whose role should be advisory to the board and administrative as to the management of routine township affairs. The manager is not a policy maker; that responsibility rests exclusively with the board of trustees, who are answerable to the citizens, whereas the manager is not.

3. Planning is the critical issue in the development of the township. It is essential that a master land use plan be approved that provides for the residential, recreational, business and commercial needs of our citizens throughout the township. (The largely vacant shopping centers on Seven Mile are testimony to the wastefulness of poorly planned commercial expansion). Once adopted, the master plan should then be followed scrupulously, with variances granted only in the most compelling circumstances.

4. Annexation is not an issue. The voters have spoken.

Township resident for 14 years; married with four children; currently technical representative Sun Oil Company, Great Lakes Region; Township trustee for six years (current); former chairman of the planning commission; present member of the Northville Township Economic Development Corporation; member and coach of Northville Soccer and Northville Baseball Association; former member of the board of appeals and community recreation commission.

1. Property tax proposals, cuts or shifts, if approved may have very serious disrupting effects on current township revenues since approximately 75 percent comes from sources other than property tax. We'll have to see what occurs; if income is reduced, it will mean financial support by the people or reduction in services.

2. The day-to-day management of township employees and affairs through one person working with the clerk and supervisor is an excellent concept. Being responsible to the board and developing real action plans and proposals will be a much needed improvement. This decision could be the best one made by a Northville Township Board.

3. I am disappointed with the physical development of our commercial areas from the shopper appeal standpoint. Despite some high quality small businesses, physical uniqueness remains a heavy influence in modern competition. I do not believe, however, we need commercial developments on every key intersection. I would support what we have now and encourage efforts towards its ultimate improvement.

4. Annexation is a dead issue, laid to rest long ago.

E. F. PETERSEN

B.S. business administration; M.Ed. educational administration; manager of business services, Schoolcraft College; 22 years business management; Northville Township Police Reserve eight years; director, Michigan Police Reserve Training Council, 1975-79.

1. I believe an increase in taxes is inevitable. However, a responsible township government will work to provide the best possible services at the lowest possible cost.

2. As an employee, the business manager will function within the limits of authority and responsibility set by the board. Elected officials cannot abdicate duties and responsibilities established by law to another.

3. Commercial development in the township must be in accordance with an accepted and approved plan.

4. I sincerely hope annexation does not become an election issue. I favor a strong township.

WESLEY A. ROGALSKI

Township resident for seven years, was elected delegate for Precinct 7; also, delegate to the state convention (Republican); member to the greater Republican Club of Northville; I want to be part of a township government that will listen to the residents of the township.

1. Yes, the Fire Department has been supported by federal funds, we do not know if more are coming. So, the township will ask the people for one-half mill to support our fire department. I would support this.

2. The business manager will run the day to day affairs. The board will make the decisions as it has in the past.

3. We have a good master plan for the development of the township.

4. No, the township voted against it.

LEON T. SYLVESTRE

1. Although I do not foresee an increase in taxes, there will be a ballot issue to be faced next year. The present 1.5 mills for police protection will expire next year and if this community desires to continue its own police department we will have to renew this millage.

2. The answer to this question can at best be vague, since the duties of the business manager have not yet been clearly defined. I would assume that he or she will be responsible for all staffing functions and will have to answer to the supervisor and the board.

3. I am opposed to "strip" development. I am opposed to development for its own sake. I firmly believe that commercial development should take place only after a need has been clearly demonstrated.

4. No. This issue has twice been defeated by the voters and to make it an issue is, in my opinion, equivalent to flogging a dead horse.

Multiples grow in township

Township is tops in 1979 housing

Northville Township ranks as one of Southeast Michigan's prime locations for new home building in 1979, figures recently released by the the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) show.

The township issued permits for 462 dwelling units in the past year, an increase of more than 100 percent compared to the 1978 figure of 205.

The increase is due to permits issued for 266 multifamily units. In 1978 only single family houses were issued permits.

Northville Township was one of the few communities in which new housing starts were greater in 1979 than in 1978. Overall, however, residential building permits were down 23 percent in the region including Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe, Livingston, St. Clair and Washtenaw Counties.

The number of multiple units authorized in 1979 places the township in the top 10 of the 230 communities included in the SEMCOG study. Northville Township placed seventh in multiple housing permits behind Farmington Hills with 890 units; Detroit, 775; Clinton Township, 704; Shelby Township, 544 units; West Bloomfield Township, 345; and Troy with 300 units.

Rounding out the top 10 in new multiple building permits were Southfield with 254 units; Van Buren Township of Wayne County, 246; and Hazel Park, 240.

Farmington Hills surpassed Canton Township as the area's leading home building spot, issuing 1,622 permits overall. Including both single family and multifamily dwellings, Northville Township failed to make the top 10, placing 14th. The 196 single family permits issued in 1979, a drop of nine over the year previous, places the township 15th in this area in the study.

The top 10 communities for housing were:

Farmington Hills	1,622
Clinton Township	1,299
Avon Township	840
Detroit	781
Shelby Township	772
Canton Township	721
West Bloomfield Twsp.	705
Troy	693
Livonia	641
Sterling Heights	628

Northville Township was fourth in Wayne County behind Detroit, Canton Township, and Livonia. When demolitions are subtracted from new construction, however, Detroit's gain of 781 units becomes a loss of 3,657. Livonia had 23 demolitions, Canton Township 12 and Northville Township one.

The Wayne County portion of the City of Northville issued a permit for new construction of one single family unit while demolishing one old unit. The Oakland County portion of the city saw permits issued for 20 multifamily units, three single family homes and a single demolition.

Novi, which was listed among the top 10 issuers of multiple unit building permits in 1978, issued only single family permits in 1979 and dropped to a total 251 from 303 the year previous.

Novi's move to detached single family permits runs counter to the general trend of the survey results. In the seven county area permits for such units fell from the 1978 level of 19,463 to 13,763 — a drop of over 29 percent.

In contrast, issuance of permits for multiples remained relatively stable. A total of 7,763 permits were reported for 1979, a decline of only 26 permits from the 1978 level of 7,789.

Oakland County had the greatest housing activity of 1979 with 8,374 units but it was down 18.5 percent from a year earlier. Wayne County was down 17.4 percent. The sharpest drops in home building were in Washtenaw County where new starts were off 43 percent. Livingston was down 30 percent, and Macomb was down 29 percent.

The only gain was in Monroe County, which was up 2.5 percent to 726 units.

A Pacer Is Born

Just moments old, the newborn colt pauses to rest after a 15 minute struggle out of the womb. Jim Downing, Jr., then steps in to help out by removing the placenta (above right) and applying iodine to the colt's navel to prevent infection. Within an hour the colt is up on all shaky fours.

One of 97 foals born between December and July at the Downing Farm on Seven Mile Road, he like all the others will not be named until officially becoming a yearling in January.

With or without a name, this little guy has quite a promising future in harness racing ahead of him, considering his family history. His mother, Allen's Dream, owned by Edward Wilkie Meyer of Northville, was sired by Bret Hanover, a world champion pacer that won $900,000 in prize money. The colt's own father is Time-ly Adora, a champion himself with a solid reputation for siring the most prize winners in Michigan.

Official, volunteer, supporter report

Everybody loved Detroit convention

Northville residents who attended some or all of the Republican National Convention in Detroit last week are unanimous on one point: the convention did Detroit and the surrounding area a world of good in building its image.

Northville's contingent at the convention ranged from party delegates on the floor to a college student volunteer worker. Their impressions:

William F. McLaughlin, Michigan Department of Commerce director, past chairman of the state Republican party, member of the Michigan delegation and the host committee:

"After planning for this event for two and a half years we were able to deliver on every promise we made to the party and meet every goal we had set for ourselves. I would put it in caps, bold it and underline the word SUCCESS."

McLaughlin was standing near the Michigan delegation's floor telephone during the more heated moments of the Wednesday night rumours that Gerald Ford would be the choice for the vice presidential nomination.

"First off, I never believed it would happen. The complications of making a former president a vice presidential nominee just didn't make it seem a very likely occurrence."

"My perception was that it was a media event (Floor reporters from all three television networks and a flock of print journalists) were hanging around by the telephone. They leaped on everything that came in on that phone."

"Most of the calls that came in were from the governor's staff calling to tell him what was just said on television. They (reporters) were digging up as hot tips what they had just reported on television. They were feeding on themselves."

"There was a rumor that Reagan and Ford were on their way to the arena that caused quite a stir for a while. I had the occasion to be on the platform during the Reagan hoopla (shortly following his official selection as nominee) and learned for a fact that Reagan was coming but Ford was not."

"In all fairness to the governor, it should be said he thought from the beginning the Ford thing was very remote, a very long shot."

"This was my fifth convention and it really was the most boring on the floor."

Everybody heard a different rumor and it was hard to tell what was happening. There really was very little action taking place.

"Two and one-half years ago I said we could do it and we ought to go for it. I am ecstatic. I think you are going to find a much different image for Detroit from now on. From what I know at this time, some of the businesses may not have done as well as they expected. Some had their sights set higher than it could reasonably be expected to do for them, but they will pick it up down the line."

"We will definitely see an upswing in visitors to Detroit, not just for conventions but all the time. I think it will help attract industry to the area with the improvement in image. And, I think, you're going to find more activity from the native sons and daughters, if you will. I think more people from the outer regions will be going downtown to partake of what's available. I am very pleased."

Harvey Ritchie, longtime Northville resident and Republican:

"It really was the thrill of my life to be part of it. We (Ritchie and his wife Alice) saw the first two sessions and the fourth and fifth. I gave my pass for the third to my brother and his wife in Plymouth."

"We went to Plymouth and took the bus down and back with the Massachusetts delegation from the Plymouth Hilton. Between the opening sessions we went over to the Plaza and got into a Kemp for Vice President reception, had hors d'oeuvres. It was our guest identifications — nobody knew whose guests we were. Could have been Reagan's (smile). We were at the Plaza when Reagan arrived. We also saw Frank Sinatra and Kissinger."

"I've been a card carrying member (sustaining member of the Republican party) since 1971. Every year I've been seeing the party through thick and thin. Instead of standing around complaining, I feel you should give your support. I do more on a presidential election year. When I sent my $100 in January, I asked for tickets, but they only arrived on the ninth. I had given up."

"The biggest demonstration was when Bush came out. I would have liked Ford, but Bush was the popular one at the convention. Security (in Cobo) was tight. An officer near us was scanning the crowd all day. He never looked toward the floor once. It was exciting. I have listened on radio before there was television coverage, but this was the real thrill."

Barbara O'Brien, Northville resident and clubwoman who volunteered her time to help Marion Hunt, committeewoman with the Massachusetts delegation housed at the Plymouth Hilton:

Hunt had undergone recent surgery and needed transportation to and from the sessions and help in maneuvering a wheelchair.

"I had just gone down the Sunday before to see the preparations and I was just thrilled. When I heard at the garden club that they still might need volunteers at the Hilton I stopped by."

"She (Hunt) gave me a guest pass for the Monday, Tuesday and Thursday sessions. It was truly beautiful down there. A guest could get anywhere except right down on the floor. I usually

Injuries reported in area accidents

Several persons were hurt in automobile accidents which occurred in the city and township in recent weeks. Most were minor injuries, but a few were categorized as 'A' injuries — incapacitating.

Patrick McNally, 19476 Northridge and Christina Ritz of Livonia suffered minor injuries July 15 in a three-car collision on Seven Mile, township police reported.

McNally's vehicle was stopped in the eastbound lane, waiting to turn left onto northbound Maxwell, when it was struck from behind by Ritz' car, witnesses told police.

McNally's truck was knocked into path of a truck traveling westbound on Seven Mile.

The driver of the truck, John Ferns of Royal Oak, was not hurt, police said.

Ritz was ticketed for failing to stop in a clear, assured distance.

Neither injured party required hospital care.

A Redford Township man suffered serious injuries July 8 when he failed to negotiate a turn on Hines Drive, ran his motorcycle into the guard rail and was thrown from the bike, township police reported said.

Albert Latoree, who landed some 60 feet from his cycle, suffered numerous injuries including a broken leg and possibly a broken collarbone, police said.

He was taken to Bostford Hospital.

Latoree was ticketed for careless driving.

Linda MacDermaid of Wixom received a severe cut above the left eye and other serious injuries July 18 when her car, traveling southbound on Sheldon, left the roadway and hit a fence, township police reported.

Police said it appeared that the driver fell asleep at the wheel.

No citation was issued.

Two passengers suffered minor head injuries July 8 in a two-car crash at the intersection of North Center and Eight Mile, city police reported.

Steven Foster, 320 Sherrie Lane, and Tara Landau of Canton were hurt when their car, traveling southbound on Center, making a left turn — on a yellow light — onto eastbound Eight Mile, was struck by a northbound vehicle, police said.

The drivers, Edward Landau and Victoria Arwady of Novi, were not hurt.

Arwady was issued a citation for failing to yield to oncoming traffic.

A 14-year-old township resident suffered cuts and bruises to his left arm and chin July 11 when his bike was hit by a car, township police said.

Steve Kozler, 49030 Ridge was riding his bike southbound on Silver Springs Drive when a vehicle — described by witnesses as a cream or yellow-colored Plymouth — cut in front of him and slammed on the brakes, causing the cyclist to slam into the car bumper with his bike, police said.

The youth was hurled onto the car, then fell to the ground.

The car sped away from the scene of the accident, witnesses told police.

The driver is described as a white male in his late 50's, tall and slim, with a medium build.

John LaFave, 21959 Ironside Drive, suffered minor head injuries July 12 when his vehicle, traveling northbound on Edenderry, was struck while he was making a left-hand turn onto eastbound Edenderry Drive, township police reported.

Mark Stock of Farmington Hills was turning from eastbound Edenderry onto westbound Seven Mile when his vehicle struck LaFave's vehicle.

Stock, who was uninjured, was ticketed for failing to yield at a stop sign.

A jewelry box containing miscellaneous jewelry and other items was reported stolen from a Maxwell residence July 15, township police said.

Burglars apparently entered the residence through a bedroom window on the northwest side of the home, which had been left open, police said.

The value of the stolen property was still undetermined.

Police are questioning a number of suspects who were seen in the area at the time of the burglary.

Three solid wood interior/exterior doors were taken July 12 from a home being built on Waterwheel Court, township police reported.

The doors, valued at $100 apiece, had been installed, each having a handle and lock assembly, and had been locked, the owner told police.

A picnic table made of wood and wrought iron was stolen from the backyard of a Bradner residence July 3, township police reported.

The table is valued at $150.

Miscellaneous items, including seven dollar bills, 38 cents in change, two flashlights and a coffee pot, were taken from Warren Products, 637 Baseline July 11, police reported.

The burglars apparently entered the building by climbing to the second level of the roof where they broke out a window, scaled a 20-foot high wall and lowered themselves into the offices, police said.

Police are questioning a former employee.

Four wire wheel covers were taken from a 1979 Mercury Cougar parked in a Jamestown Circle lot July 13, township police reported.

The stolen property is valued at $200.

A Schwinn 10-speed bicycle was reported stolen from the garage of a Sunnydale residence July 14, township police said.

The bike is valued at $180.

Police are searching for two white males between 14 and 16 years old, one with blond hair, the other dark hair, in connection with vandalism at Auto Wize, 43287 West Seven Mile July 15.

Four singlepane windows value at $100 were smashed, police said.

The two boys were seen running into the woods near Waterford Pond.

Fifteen-hundred dollars worth of scrap aluminum was reported stolen July 10 from six barrels kept in a storage lot at Belanger, Incorporated, 455 East Cady, city police said.

Two windows located on the south side of Northville High School were smashed July 17, city police reported.

One apparently was broken by a beer bottle and the other had holes from a pellet gun, police said.

Damage is estimated at $100.

The lock on the furnace maintenance room at Northville High School was punched out July 14, city police reported.

The vandals apparently entered the school through an open roof door, police said.

Nothing was reported missing.

Damage is estimated at more than $300.

Susan Heintz runs unopposed for township clerk

Northville Township electors will choose a new government to serve for the next four years in the August 5 primary election.

Although the election is nominally intended to choose candidates for the November ballot, the August vote will be the deciding one since all candidates are registered Republicans.

The Record has interviewed the candidates for township supervisor, treasurer, clerk, trustees and constables. Today, we present the results of those interviews for treasurer, clerk and constable candidates. Interviews with supervisor and trustee candidates will appear next week.

FOR CLERK...

SUSAN J. HEINTZ

Heintz, of 19850 Iron Gate Court, is unopposed in her bid for the clerk's post, incumbent Clarice Sass having withdrawn her candidacy.

Heintz currently is serving as a township trustee, a post to which she was appointed to replace David Mitchell in February.

She will receive her bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Michigan in August. Heintz, 32, has lived in the township eight years with her husband Robert, a senior project engineer with General Motors, and two children. She is a member of the Northville Historical Society and the Northville Republican Club.

Her prior political experience includes membership with the Northville Township Wage and Salary Review Commission, which produced the proposal that led to the board of trustee's decision to hire a business manager for the government. She also served a political internship with Senator Robert Geake in the fall of 1979. She is chairman of the Highland Lakes Legislative Committee, which interacts with the county road commission, township board and state legislators.

Heintz said the most important thing she has to offer voters is "professionalism, in a word."

"My training has been in government, and I have also taken a lot of related courses, such as accounting and political ethics," she said. "I am a strong believer in citizen participation in the way the office is being run on a day-to-day basis."

She supports the decision to hire a business manager to handle those day-to-day operations, despite the reduction it has caused in the role of the clerk from a fulltime worker paid $19,500 to a part time post at $7,500.

"It really makes no difference to me whether it's full time or part time," she said. "As opposed to the system as it is now, the business manager approach should be a real improvement."

"I think we have to have a more professional attitude in the township hall," she said. "We've had a severe communication problem in township hall and a lot of that can be alleviated by the business manager and I'm fully in favor of it."

Heintz said she sees two major challenges facing the township in the next four years — growth and economics.

She is calling for "aggressive planning," emphasizing that while she is not opposed to further development in the township, she would prefer to see slow, carefully thought-out development.

"With every new housing development that comes in, people will be expecting services, particularly police and fire protection," Heintz said. "We don't want to overextend ourselves to the point that taxes must increase dramatically or services cut back."

Reductions in the state and federal funds available to the township over the next several years may cause an economic crunch despite slow growth rates, she noted.

The government currently operates on 2.5 mills ($1 per $1,000 of assessed valuation), 1.5 mills of which goes toward police services. Heintz is supporting the August ballot proposal to allocate .5 mills for the township fire department, which has been operating under state and federal grants.

The police budget set over two years ago, Heintz said, has been "chewed up by inflation" and produces a lower level of services than planned. If township residents want improved police protection, they may have to vote in increased millage next year when the current 1.5 mills comes up for renewal, she said.

Former treasurer opposes incumbent

Voters are offered a rematch of the 1978 contest for township treasurer. Incumbent Richard Henningsen lost to challenger Lee Holland in 1978. Henningsen is making a bid to regain his seat.

and it will limit what we can do, or we don't have a problem. We've got to know."

Henningsen said he thinks he can "do the job for the township. I feel I have the experience in the job from my earlier term and I have 23 years of financial experience." He said he will have more time to devote to township business than does his opponent.

RICHARD M. HENNINGSEN

Henningsen, of 42117 Banbury Road, was township treasurer from 1976 to 1978. He has a degree in accounting from Bowling Green State University and works with General Motors Detroit Diesel Allison Division. He and his wife Ann have four children.

Henningsen, 45, is chairman of the township wage and salary review commission which produced the proposal that resulted in the board of trustee's decision to hire a business manager.

LEE E. HOLLAND

Holland, of 18103 Pinebrook, is a CPA with offices at 101 East Dunlap. He sits on the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and is treasurer for the Northville Rotary Club.

His accounting degree is from Wayne State University. He and his wife Carol have four children aged 14-23. He has lived in the township eight years.

Although the commission offered the board five options, Henningsen said he thinks the business manager approach is a good one for the township. It not only centralizes office procedures, he said, but encourages people to run for supervisor and clerk who might not have done so, by reducing those offices from full time to part time.

The treasurer foresees "some really serious financial problems" in the four year term of the next government. He noted that shared revenues from the state and federal government probably will be curtailed, the ongoing expense of paying for the township hall will continue to draw revenues, it is possible that a pending court case will strike down the one percent tax collection fee, and that at least one of three November ballot proposals to cut or shift property taxes is likely to pass.

Henningsen said financial pressures on local governments are likely to increase over the next four years, making more efficient operations increasingly important. Although the situation may look bleak, he said, he is optimistic.

"I feel that with the proper guidelines the challenges can be met," he said. "I work with an optimistic organization and I think they sort of ingrain that in you."

Unless the people are willing to vote a millage increase, he said, no further services can be made available and the possibility exists that existing services would have to be cut.

Henningsen said he is not unalterably opposed to asking for increased taxes, but that he feels each issue should be weighed separately. Voters should have the final say, he said.

Holland, 47, supports the decision to hire a business manager for the township, and said it is likely to lead to smoother, more efficient control of the operation.

He is supporting the township's request for .5 mill for fire protection, but said that, as is the case with most any request for higher taxes lately, he is not sure it will pass. "It all depends," he said, "on whether the people think you can do it with what you have."

He also is supportive of efforts to offer joint services between the city and township. He said the joint recreation and library services are better than what either community could afford alone.

He sees a need, in talking with citizens, for more police officers, he said. That may require a request for increased millage also. Henningsen said future increases will largely be dependent on the rate of development in the township.

He said land should be purchased for the recreation system, which would require approval of a millage increase. The voters turned down a proposed .5 mill increase for recreation earlier this year, but Holland said he thinks they can be convinced.

He foresees continued requests for more commercial and business zoning changes, which each should be checked individually, he said. Henningsen said he does not support the "pure commercialism" developments that have been proposed lately.

As the township continues to grow, he said, a fire station will be needed in the west end, and increased police services also will be necessary. He said he would prefer to see slow growth rather than a rapid development and he believes the master plan of land use for the township is an appropriate guide for development.

He said he would prefer to see land zoned commercial or business for banks, architects and engineering offices than for shopping centers.

Beyond those concerns, Henningsen also cited another issue related to development.

Holland said he sees the race as a more quiet one than in 1978. Since both he and his opponent have equal experience in the job, he said, the attributes which make him the best candidate include professional background and that he is more accessible during the regular working day.

sat with the alternates because Maribn was temporarily using that wheelchair. My son (Jerry O'Brien II, age 12) sat in the guest area the one night I let him use the pass.

"I heard Jerry Ford's speech Monday night — of course. The band played 'Hail to the Victors' which gets us all stirred up — I was yelling my approval with everyone else.

"I thought the ending (of Ronald Reagan's acceptance speech Thursday night) was absolutely beautiful.

"We attended a VIP luncheon for Republican Women that was also attended by Betty Ford. Nancy Reagan spoke. It was funny, just as she was finishing up Ronald Reagan appeared at the door. Everybody was saying 'Look what we have here' and he said he had just come to pick up his wife. He is very handsome. Both of them are shorter than you might think from seeing pictures on television or in the paper. I'd say he is about 5 feet 9 inches and she's about 5'1". He may be 5'10".

"I spoke to delegates from everywhere and they had universal approval for Detroit. Marion Hunt said 'I just don't think we could do the same for you in Boston. I don't think we get the people to cooperate like this.'

"She couldn't believe the hospitality. When we were moving her outside in the chair, every time we came to a curb men would dash over to help lift it down and up. Thursday night we came out of Joe Louis Arena and started toward the car and a man came over, helped us over the curb, pushed the wheelchair to the car, put her in the car, put the wheelchair in the car. "If you're a native Detroit you'd just have to be so proud of the citizens, the hospitality they extended to our guests."

Bill Winters, Northville resident and University of Michigan student:

"A friend of mine is president of the Young Republicans at the University of Michigan and he got me this volunteer job with the Civic Host Committee.

"I worked Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday helping bring people in from the airport and running errands for the host committee.

"We met Wayne Newton at his plane and took him downtown. I also met Gerald Ford's plane. I went to the Monday morning session.

"People were just going all out to make them feel comfortable.

"That session was really amazing. It seemed it was done mostly for the press. There were reporters everywhere you turned. Sometimes it seemed really exorbitant.

"At the airport when we met Mr. Ford's plane there were three or four vans full of equipment from CBS alone. There were just cameras everywhere."

Vie for constable

FOR CONSTABLE...

The constable race is a three-way one for two seats.

JAMES F. SCHROT

Schrot is the only incumbent in the race. He was appointed to a vacancy in 1971, won election as constable in 1972 and has served in that capacity ever since.

Presently a reserve lieutenant in the township police force and training officer for the reserve unit, Schrot, 47, lives at 47900 West Seven Mile with wife Bonnie Joan, and three of his four children. The oldest, 22, is married.

Since 1975 Schrot has been a court officer with the 35th District Court. He was named constable of the year by the Michigan Constables and Court Officers Association in both 1978 and 1980. He has taken extensive courses in law enforcement procedures.

Schrot also is a deputy conservation officer with the Department of Natural Resources.

He said he is primarily interested in working with youth groups. His philosophy toward law enforcement, he said, is to work toward the prevention of crimes rather than having to take action after a crime is committed.

He has served, and wants to continue to serve, as a constable because of the "face to face" contact with people, he said.

Schrot has been a township resident 19 years and also is the community's Civil Defense Coordinator. He has been a committeeman with Boy Scout Troop 721 for the past 10 years.

JOSEPH D. LUKOMSKI

Lukowski, 39, lives at 41837 Rayburn Drive with his wife Marsha and one daughter. An analyst with Ford Motor Company, Lukowski has lived in Northville Township for eight years.

Democrats vie to oppose Broomfield in 19th District

Residents in Michigan's 19th Congressional District have a right to "charge taxation without representation," according to Wayne Daniels who believes that he is the individual to change all that.

Daniels, who is employed as Food Services Director for the Walled Lake School District, is making his first bid for elective office by running for the 19th District seat in the U.S. Congress.

And even though Daniels must first defeat two opponents for the Democratic nomination in the August 5 primary, he makes no bones about the fact that he's really running against William Broomfield (R-Oak Park) who has held the 19th Congressional seat for the past 24 years.

"I love this country, I almost gave my life for this country and I'm deeply concerned about what's happening to it," said Daniels in explaining his candidacy.

"Ever since Watergate, I've seen this country go downhill in terms of how the people regard their representatives in Washington. They simply don't trust the whole system, and I think that's wrong because — even with all the problems — it's still the best country in the world."

Broomfield, he says, has been in Washington so long that he has become complacent and lost contact with his constituency.

"What has he (Broomfield) done about the current state of the auto industry? Has he come back to the district to talk to the people? Has he introduced any bills to help the people in his district?"

"The problem is that Broomfield has become complacent," continues Daniels. "When we have a legislator who comes out against the war in Vietnam after the troops are already home, it's time for a change."

"The people want a change."

Daniels maintains that he is uniquely qualified to be the Democratic nominee to challenge and defeat Broomfield in the November general election.

He said he's been involved in politics since 1960 when he worked as a volunteer on the John F. Kennedy campaign and has worked in every election year ever since.

Additionally, as chairman of the legislative committee for the Michigan Food Service Association, he has met frequently with state and federal officials in Washington to lobby for improvements to the nutritional programs in the schools.

Daniels also cites a distinguished military career of eight years in the U.S. Army as a staff sergeant. His numerous decorations include the Silver Star for Gallantry, two Bronze Stars for Valor and four Purple Hearts.

"I'm not a lawyer," he says. "But I've worked in just about every type of job imaginable."

"One of the things which I think is unique about my candidacy is that I can relate to blue-collar workers and white-collar workers because I've been both during my career."

"We have people on the Armed Services Committee in Washington who've never been in the Armed Services. We have legislators making important decisions on educational appropriations who've never been involved in the field of education. And we have people making decisions about labor who've never been affiliated with a labor union, much less a member of a union like the Teamsters as I was when I was a truck driver in New Jersey."

"One of the unique things about my candidacy is that I've had first hand experience in all these fields, and I think that will enable me to be an asset to the country and the people of the 19th District."

One of the areas which Daniels says he would attack is governmental spending which, he claims, contains "massive wastes and massive duplication."

"The goal of a balanced budget," he says, "has powerful political support in Congress and psychological backing among the public."

"However, it is a misguided approach to fighting inflation that runs counter to the general welfare of the American people, especially the poor, the handicapped, minorities and the young and elderly of our society."

"High energy prices, punishing interest rates, ever-increasing levels of medical and hospital fees and profiteering by commodity speculators are among the real causes of inflation. Balancing the federal budget would only decrease the inflation rate by .0 percent and not provide a significant impact."

Instead, Daniels has proposed a program of cuts to eliminate waste and duplication of services. He says the program, if enacted, would save the federal government $24.1 billion over the next five years without inflicting harm upon less affluent Americans.

"Any member of Congress, candidate, economist or business spokesperson who joins the chorus for a balanced budget is either wearing blinders, irresponsible or self-serving," according to Daniels.

On other issues, Daniels submits the following positions:

- Fuel Economy Standards: Favors long-range fuel economy standards for the domestic automobile industry to provide stability in the development of fuel efficient transportation.

- Auto Industry Subsidies: Favors federal subsidies to the auto industry to assist in research and development of transportation to maximize fuel efficiency and utilize alternatives to fossil fuels.

- Social Security Reform: Encourages revisions to the Social Security system but only after careful study which considers the vested interests of American workers.

- Draft Registration: Supports pre-mobilization registration since it can save as many as 90 to 100 critical training days in the event military mobilization is needed. "History has proven that fully operative bureaucratic systems are superior to even the best contingency plans," he said.

- He also supports registration for women as "one more recognition that women are equal members of society and should have the same advantages and disadvantages as men." Daniels also says that women in the all-volunteer military forces fill numerous occupations, perform superbly and have become essential components of the military.

- Education: Supports increased federal support of education by redirecting federal dollars in other programs, not by simply creating more dollars.

James Pidgeon feels that the American people want the same things out of life that their grandparents did — a decent home for their families, a good education for their children, a fair wage for the work they do, and a chance to succeed in life according to their abilities and efforts.

"If, instead of creating roadblocks, restrictions and senseless regulations, our government helped us, or at least allowed us to do the best we can on our own, then the American people would do all right," he says.

Pidgeon, 31, is one of three candidates for the Democratic nomination for Michigan's 19th U.S. Congressional District. The winner of the August 5 primary will face Congressman William Broomfield (R-Oak Park) who has held the post for the past 24 years.

And the young Bloomfield Hills attorney clearly believes that he is the most qualified candidate to unseat the longtime Republican incumbent.

High among his list of qualifications is previous experience in Washington as a legislative assistant to retired Congresswoman Martha W. Griffiths of Michigan's 17th Congressional District.

"I've worked in the Capitol," he says. "I know the people and I know how the system works. I've been there."

"I've seen a lot of the people who serve in Congress and I know I can do a better job than most of them are doing."

Pidgeon is particular critical of Broomfield's performance in Congress. The extent of his work in Congress, says the Democratic hopeful, is to send out questionnaires.

"Other than that he doesn't do anything," he says of the man he would like to unseat in November. "He's the ranking minority member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, but he hasn't taken a stand on anything even though foreign affairs has been front page news ever since November."

"When was the last time one of Bill Broomfield's bills was passed?" he asks. "The only thing he's done since November is call Ramsey Clark a 'horse's ass.'"

"Basically, the residents of the 19th District have no representation in Washington," he says.

Pidgeon sees the primary issues facing the country in 1980 are inflation, energy and confidence in government.

The only real answers to the inflation problem are increasing productivity and promoting competition, according to the Democratic hopeful.

To promote those goals, Pidgeon says he favors legislation that would speed up depreciation allowances for private industry.

"By speeding up depreciation allowances, we can encourage private industry to purchase the equipment it needs to expand," he explains. "When the company orders the equipment, it creates jobs for the people who make the equipment as well as the people who are going to use that equipment."

"If we can provide incentives to assist the businessman, we not only create jobs but we also encourage competition — and it's competition which controls inflation."

Additionally, Pidgeon says he would favor legislation to make interest earnings on savings accounts tax exempt up to certain limits and reduce the qualification period for long term capital gains exemptions from 12 to six months.

Both measures, he said, will encourage investment — and increased investment means more jobs and more competition.

Pidgeon also says he ascribes to a "de-regulation" policy in regard to governmental controls. "Government policies, though lofty in purpose, all too often prevent implementation of the very goals they were designed to achieve," he says.

On the other hand, Pidgeon is strongly opposed to governmental subsidies. All too often, he says, the subsidies amount to nothing more than transferring money from one hand to the other.

For example, he says that the government is currently providing subsidies to private industry through the Synthetic Fuels Bill. The problem is that the subsidies come from revenues received through the Excess Profits Tax on oil companies.

"All they're doing is taking it away with one bill and giving it back with another," he charges.

As an alternative to the subsidies, Pidgeon says he prefers tax exemptions for industries which invest in research. "The people who get the subsidies are the people who can write the best grant applications, and more often than not that's the big corporations," he explains.

"The tax code is a far more effective way to promote research and investment because it encourages more people to get into business and creates the

Early seeks new location for service

City council members were surprised to find at their meeting Monday that the problem of a local base for Novi Ambulance Service operation still is not solved.

At a previous meeting John Early, president of the firm, had indicated satisfaction with a township plan using a Wayne County Training School property building to house an ambulance and staff.

Copy of a letter sent to Donald Thomson, township supervisor, from Lee Holland, who had been heading up a study to find local quarters for the service, indicated that Early now has concerns about the training school property facility.

In addition to security problems, he cited problems associated with fire calls (from the township dispatch also located on the property).

Holland stated that Early now wants the city and township to allocate approximately $400 per month for quarters he would locate or make arrangements to have built. In the copy of the letter sent to City Manager Steven Walters Holland said Early plans to make a proposal at the next township board meeting.

Our opinions

Board loses by a forfeit

We are disappointed the township board has decided to cave in to the blackmail of a Wayne County agency.

In essence, that agency said stop complaining or you'll get no more federal aid. And the board, which earlier launched legal action against the government fully recognizing the danger of such action, apparently in the face of fresh threats decided it is better to sacrifice principle than risk loss of revenue.

Dropping the lawsuit before adjudication settles nothing. It must make citizens of the township wonder, as it does us, who is running the township — local elected officials or a county bureaucrat?

That a community receiving community grant monies can be required to provide properly requested and processed subsidized housing is not the question. The rules are clear. Municipalities know, or should know, when they begin playing the federal aid game that they must follow the rules.

But, by the same token, the county, SEMCOG, and HUD must play by rules, too. And that, in a nutshell, was the basis of the township's lawsuit. The township followed the rules; the housing agencies did not.

We believe the township's case was a good one. So did many of its citizens who urged the board to take legal action. Even other less gutsy municipalities hailed the township's much publicized stand. But, alas, the board put on its gloves but failed to answer the bell. It lost by a forfeit...to a bureaucrat who is paid by our tax dollars.

Good news and bad

Slowly, very slowly, John Feikins is beginning to see the light.

Recently the chief U.S. District Court judge proposed that the suburbs be allowed at least to nominate members of the Detroit Water Board.

As presiding judge in the case of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency vs. Detroit, Feikins has moved over the years to force the city — whose system serves 100 communities (including Northville) with water and 70 with sewage treatment — to clean up its sewer plant.

At first, it seemed to the judge to be a case of upgrading equipment and operating things better. He was unable to put his finger on the real sore spot — that Detroit alone lacks the management and labor skills to set things right; and that a regional service requires a regional governing board and regional labor force.

Feikins' first step was to appoint Detroit Mayor Coleman Young as a special administrator with wide powers to straighten out the operation. It was, as many observers have wryly noted, like appointing the fox to guard the chicken coop.

The Detroit Water Board consists of seven members, all appointed by the mayor. Unlike members of your local planning commission, water board members lack a fixed guaranteed term of office. They may be removed by the mayor at will.

In practice, Detroit mayors have appointed three suburbanites and four Detroiters to the board. The violation this does to the notion of "one person, one vote" (a philosophy, ironically long espoused by Mayor Young) is too gross to dwell upon. This aggravated the situation in which the so-called suburban members weren't really suburbia's own but Young's hand-picked suburbanites.

Moreover, Detroit doesn't "own" the water/sewerage system in the sense that it has invested taxpayers' money. The capital came from state grants, federal grants and user charges.

With only one-third of the region's population, Detroit simply has no right to four-sevenths of the seats on the water board or seven-sevenths of the appointment power and all the jobs.

So Feikins proposes that Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties each nominate three persons for water board posts. Mayor Young would then select one of the three nominees from each county.

Feikins' logic is that the mayor would retain actual appointment power, but the customer communities would be assured their own choices would serve.

That, said Oakland County Drain Commission George Kuhn, "could be tokenism."

The good news is that Feikins has become at least dimly aware of the fact that the water/sewer system needs massive structural reform. The bad news is that he apparently fails to realize how massive.

The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) really should be taking a leadership role in seeking a regional structure for a regional agency. But SEMCOG is strangely inert.

So with Feikins slow on the draw and SEMCOG inert, the only game in town is Kuhn's own petition drive to force regional control of the regional water/ sewerage system. Kuhn and many suburban officials seek a 1982 referendum on their complex plan to regionalize the water board.

It sure beats waiting for the federal judiciary to get a grip on the problem.

Editorial opinions of The Record are developed and written by Publisher Jack W. Hoffman and Editor Jean Day with occasional contributions by other Record staffers.

Speaking for Myself

Deny fans all-star vote?

RONALD SHANKS

BOB WEINBURGER

YES

The All-Star baseball teams should not be selected by the fans. There are too many inequities in this system.

The larger metropolitan areas like Los Angeles and New York have such large populations that they dominate the voting year after year.

Some cities are notorious for "stuffing" the ballot box. Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Kansas City players usually draw more than their share of votes.

Because of the time necessary for printing and distributing the computer punch cards, the nominees on the ballots are determined before the first games are played. By the time the All-Star game is played, some of the stars have usually been traded, injured or shifted to a different position and none of this can be accommodated by the All-Star ballot.

The computer card system also does not provide a satisfactory way to recognize the outstanding new players or a superior season by an unlisted veteran. Only by a "write-in vote" can these players be selected.

Since the All-Star game is treated as a battle for supremacy between the two leagues, each should send its best players. For this reason, I believe the All Stars should be chosen by the managers and coaches.

Ronald Shanks

NO

All-Star baseball balloting is an exercise in nostalgia and democracy. Voting provided me with my first participation in the democratic process and the problems associated with stuffing the ballot box.

Because the American League usually won when I was a kid, I discovered that my vote had real meaning and that I had an obligation to keep us on top. I remember using the ballot found in the newspaper; my father and I would hash over the pros and cons of George Kell and Ken Keltner at third and whether Larry Doby or Hoot Evers belonged in center.

Then in 1958 the rules were changed. The experts (players) chose the teams. They enjoyed voting so much that for four years (1959-62) they had two All-Star games.

The fans were so unimpressed by the experts' choices that the 1963 All-Star Game in Cleveland drew 44,160 fans in a ballpark that seats 76,977. We had been disenfranchised and were alienated from our game, so a short time later we went back to the way it was.

Of course, the fans do not always pick the best players. But then, neither does Jim Campbell.

Your letters welcome

This newspaper welcomes Letters to the Editor. We ask, however, that they be limited to 500 words and that they contain the signature, address and telephone number of the writer. JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

As he listened in the Dearborn auditorium, the old man methodically squeezed the pain of arthritis from his fingers, unaware what his hands were doing. Hands that had squeezed and relaxed during a lifetime of labor were working again. One knarled finger, then another until each was relieved.

But the pain of another kind lingered.

"So many of our people suffered; robbed of their storages, countless families did not even have enough food to survive when the crops failed," said the speaker.

The old man's eyes closed. He remembered. He had survived. Barely.

Hands that squeezed pain retold his story for me.

"Thank the Lord, some survived and came to America to start a new life in a new country where man's initiative is not smothered by ruthless government."

He had come with hardly more than the clothing he wore and the dream he carried in his mind. By grueling toil, he managed to carve out a farm on the plains of Nebraska for himself and his family. By dint of that toil and perseverance through some very lean years, he parlayed his dream into relative wealth that passed to his sons and to their children who now work the same land.

"By studying our past in a foreign country we do not minimize our American citizenship," said the speaker. "By recalling our roots we accentuate the benefits of living in a free country."

The old man nodded his agreement.

"We, perhaps more than others, appreciate the freedom to chose our destiny and to work to achieve it; the freedom to chose our religion and to practice it; and the freedom to think for ourselves and to exercise our convictions."

As the speaker finished, I watched the German farmer of the Nebraska plains who emigrated from Russia get to his feet, and the hands that attest to the American dream clapped with gusto.

Project Concern asks sponsors to add to 'rain' count

To the Editor:
We all enjoy a walk in the sunshine. But a walk in the rain? Not likely. Still, when the Northville Walk for Mankind on June 7 was hit by cold, driving rain, 403 youth walked.

They walked because of their commitment to people in need. And because sponsors pledged their support. Walkers aren't the only ones who were rained on. So were Walk Director Fred Eagle, his committee, and all the individuals who volunteered their time to organize and execute the walk. Northville can be proud of their dedication and hard work in bringing together so many walkers and seeing them through a wet and disappointing day.

Although many walkers were able to finish the 30-kilometer route, our concern for the health and safety of others forced us to stop the walk.

We're appealing to the sponsors of these dedicated walkers to honor your pledges as though your walker completed the entire route. This way you will be recognizing your walker's extra efforts. And the people Project Concern serves will receive lifesaving care and health education.

Thank you, citizens of Northville, for your efforts on Walk Day and in the days of preparation beforehand. And thank you parents, neighbors, friends and businesses for supporting those efforts.

Your involvement brings us one step closer to our goal: health care for all by the year 2000. And together — the people of Northville and Project Concern — we'll make it.

Sincerely,
William M. Eagles, M.D.

Candidate insulted about interview

To the Editor:
What an insult! Northville Record publisher Jack Hoffman and editor Jean Day failed to be present at my interview, conducted for the purpose of determining who is the best individual to become supervisor of Northville Township. Instead the interview was taped by a reporter. As an "afterthought" Jean Day arrived at the conclusion of my interview, but she did not ask any questions.

Your letter of July 10, 1980 specifically states, "Township reporter Kevin Wilson, Editor Jean Day and Publisher Jack Hoffman will conduct the interviews." Could it be possible the Northville Record fails the test of objectivity? Will intelligent, informed residents the public, he said. No official action was taken at either meeting, since the result of Monday's vote was simply to direct attorney Donald Morgan to drop the suit.

Morgan, who Thomson said attended both meetings, refused comment on the decision, saying he could not talk about his advice to a client (the board) without its permission.

Thomson said Morgan told the board "he saw substantial merit in the case, although you can never say for certain that you will win."

The township's suit sought a permanent injunction against any further development of the Northridge III subsidized rental project on grounds that HUD disregarded its own rules in approving the project because it was not designated as a Wayne County Housing Assistance Plan project.

The project was approved, to the dismay of the board, by the Regional Clearing House Review Committee of SEMCOG and the Wayne County Development Block Grant office, leading to the trustees' original action.

The Northridge III proposal plans call for 16 of 80 rental units to be available under the rental subsidy program.

The Community Block Grant Program administered by HUD delivers $99,000 to the township annually for 1979, 1980 and 1981. Thomson said it is used to fund sewer, pumping station and lateral lines on Five Mile servicing the stressed housing district of Park Gardens. Park Gardens projects of our township use their own judgment or will they rely on a city editor's judgment?

Those individuals, who spent hours at township board meetings, fighting to keep an independent township and a beautiful environment, will decide for themselves about the candidate who has shown the greatest interest in our community.

Originally I had planned to buy advertising, in the Record, listing the names of a multitude of individuals who endorse my candidacy. However, votes are not won by buying ads in a newspaper lacking credibility in the township. Instead greater significance should be given to the efforts a candidate has put forth prior to the campaign. My record of fighting for the taxpayers of our township stands on its own merits.

Writer agrees with student

To the Editor:
Kevin Wilson's front page article on Sabine Lacore has caused me to write this quick note of appreciation and comment. I believe Board President Wilkinson was correct in stating the problem is that of Americans in general.

Our lack of concern with language, foreign language, social studies, mathematics, fine arts, literature, etc., etc., etc. is evident to many, not only the retired (and tired) old teachers. We, too, are wasting many fine young minds, permitting mediocre performance in schools.

Our leaders, too, are subject to the narrow American view. Recall Barry Goldwater during an interview on television after his recent speech at the G.O.P. convention referring to Iran as one of those "half-ass countries."

We are ignorant, too, of the needs of others exemplified by the resentment of patient services in "our town."

But enough to this moralizing. We do not have sufficient knowledge of the world. A young lady can be a leader in reform.

Thanks for the good article.

She defends local education

To the Editor:
What a trite editorial! Condemning the American public educational system on the premise of 10 questions given to about 85 senior students.

I am sure if Miss Lackore had given the same questions to Mr. Nichols' social studies classes at Cooke Junior High, she would have been impressed at how knowledgeable junior high students are about current events and geography. There also are many other Northville teachers teaching current events and geography.

Calandro seeks local coverage

To the Editor:
I would like to thank you for publishing the notice of my election to the Michigan Delegation for the G.O.P. Convention.

However, I regret that you did not look in greater depth at the more complete story of Northville's representation at the convention. In addition to myself, our neighbor, Bill McLaughlin, Michigan Director of Commerce, and The Honorable Carl Pursell, who represents part of Northville in Congress, are also elected delegates.

There has been much made of the importance of this convention to Detroit and the Nation. I am disappointed that The Record has not deemed it important enough to fully research and recognize how members of our community will have the opportunity to actively participate.

Respectfully,
John P. Calandro

City accepts offer for storm sewer

Calling it an "excellent opportunity" for the city to acquire a storm sewer for South Center area, Northville city council Monday authorized the city manager to proceed with an offer from Northville Downs to construct a storm sewer that will serve the area and the downs parking lot.

Downs executive manager John Carlo had notified the city that the track would be constructing a storm sewer for parking lot drainage this summer to alleviate flooding problems caused by surface run-off after heavy rains.

Carlo, Manager Steve Walters reported, has offered to allow the city to connect its planned storm sewer into his when it is ready.

To make this possible, he is reported willing to install storm sewer pipe of an adequate size to serve both his run-off and the city's storm sewer project if the city will pay the difference in price required for the larger pipe.

Looking over proposed plans to convert the former Wayne County Child Development Center in Northville Township into a senior citizen housing village complete with a 200-bed convalescent facility for its 2,000 residents are William Zapke (left), township trustee; Mary E. competition which leads to the best results."

On other topics, Pidgeon expresses the following positions:

• The Auto Industry: "U.S. automakers are suffering because Japanese automakers enjoy an unfair advantage," he says. "For example, U.S. banks in 1979 loaned $300 million to U.S. steelmakers and $20 billion to Japanese steelmakers. The reason for the discrepancy is that the Japanese government guarantees the loans to Japanese industries."

"You can't blame the banks for investing their money in guaranteed loans. But the fact is that the Japanese automakers enjoy an unfair advantage because the government is backing their operations."

"I'm in favor of free trade, but it has to be fair. Under the present situation, there are major inequities which hurt domestic automakers. These inequities have to be eliminated."

• Nuclear Energy: "The big problem at the present time is how to dispose of the waste. Until that problem is solved, there should be no more development of nuclear energy plants."

"There's also a need for increased supervision of construction and operations of nuclear power plants. Nuclear energy holds the key to many of our energy needs, but there are fundamental problems which have to be solved before work can proceed."

• Defense Policy: "The whole idea behind a nuclear arsenal should not be to have first-strike capability. Who's to say that the idiot who pushes the button won't be one of our own?"

"What we need is enough power to convince everyone of the folly of commencing a nuclear war."

geographical knowledge of the township.

He said his motivation for seeking the post is the opportunity it presents for further community service.

Noting that constables rarely are called upon to do much physical work, he added that the situation does arise on occasion and cited his physical fitness and relative youth as advantages over other candidates. He praised the work of Schrot, saying he wished to see him reelected.

WILLARD C. GAUL

Gaul, of 42809 Itham Court, is a retiree and Northville Township Fire Department worker and trustee. He and his wife Dorothy have three children.

He is the historian of American Legion Post 147 and a member of the Michigan Chapter of the International Association of Arson Investigators.

Gaul, 61, said he is seeking the post to become more involved with the township. He credited Schrot with building his interest in the work done by constables.

An eight year resident of Northville Township, Gaul said his greatest attribute in comparison to other candidates is that he would be available for longer hours during the day if needed.

Gaul frequently attends meetings of the township board of trustees and maintains an interest in all aspects of community government.

Gaul said he hoped Schrot is reelected.

registrants are asked to list on the selective service form their name, sex, date of birth, social security number, current address, permanent address, and telephone number.

Young men may register at any post office across the country.

Selective service registration dates back to 1863 when the first federal conscription program was started during the Civil War.

The first "peacetime" draft in the United States was instituted in 1940.

Eventually more than 10 million men were conscripted during World War II.

The most recent resumption of the draft was in 1969 during the Vietnam War.

For many of the young men now required to sign up for selective service the unpopularity of the Vietnam War is still prevalent.

"I don't like it (registration)," said former Northville resident Mark Nadon, 19, of Livonia. "It seems to be a lot of politics — just look at Vietnam and Korea; they're listed as police actions, not real wars."

For now, young men are only being asked to fill out selective service forms in order for the Internal Revenue Service to compile a computerized roster of young men's names and addresses.

A draft registration is an action taken by Congress and one which President Carter has not suggested.

Whether or not selective service is a prelude to the draft remains to be seen. Yet as Tim Johnson said Monday, one can only hope "there is never a need for the draft."

Persons seeking further information about selective service registration may contact any post office or the Selective Service System, 600 East Street, NW, Washington D.C. 20435.

Summer camp in Greece teaches cultural heritage

By MICHELE McELMURRY

For Laraine Sellas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Sellas of 18905 Edenderry, a recent stint at summer camp was more than just kid's stuff.

Instead of roasting marshmallows, camping by the fireside and canoeing on the lake, Laraine, 13, spent three weeks climbing the Acropolis, visiting the Temple of Zeus and walking along the shores of the Ionian Sea.

"I loved it and would go again if I had the chance," she said of her stay at Ionian Village summer travel camp in Bartholomio, Greece. "It was a great experience."

Laraine, along with 250 other 12-15-year-olds, spent June 25 to July 14 learning about Greek history, culture, dance, language and mythology.

Ionian Village, a recreational facility which rests on the Western shores of Peloponnesos, is sponsored by the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of North and South America.

The Sellas family first heard about Ionian Village through their church St. Constantine and St. Helen Greek Orthodox Church in Detroit.

Though the camp is sponsored by the church, students learn more than just their religious background, said Mrs. Catherine Sellas.

Programs at Ionian Village range from athletics to arts and crafts. However, the principal aim of the program, is to help students learn more about their Greek heritage and background.

During her stay at the village, Laraine said she spent most of her time taking classes and visiting different sites around Greece.

Classes in Greek art, dance, history, aquatics music and language are designed to help the students in understanding Greek life, she explained.

In addition to the classes, excursions to various sites in Greece also help students in learning about their backgrounds.

Buses provided by the village, transported students across the country to places such as Athens, Ancient Olympia, Delphi, Archova, Sparta and Amaliatha.

"My favorite site was the Parthenon," Laraine said.

Both Laraine's maternal and paternal grandparents came to the United States from Greece. Though she said she was unable to see her grandparent's birthplace, Laraine explained that just being in Greece made her more aware of her family's heritage.

However, the students did take a tour of three islands, which included Zakynthos and Aegina.

"In Zakynthos we went to an authentic Greek restaurant," Laraine explained.

Though the food is good in Greece, she said, it is "very greasy."

"We had a Greek cook at the village who tried to make the food as American as he could," she said, "but it just didn't taste the same."

"One night we had french fries cooked in olive oil."

Laraine said she missed American food so much, that the first thing she wanted when she got off the plane in New York was McDonald's.

Laraine explained that one of the most valuable things she learned in Greece was bargaining with the merchants.

In most villages merchants expect tourists to bargain with them, she said.

The camp personnel taught the students how to convert currency from the American dollar to the "drechtma," which made buying a lot easier, she explained.

On a shopping spree in one of the markets, Laraine purchased an ikon for her grandmother, a gold and silver chess set for her parents and various other gifts including, a doll, jewelry and a T-shirt for her brother. "Things are a lot cheaper there," she said.

Stick shift to automatic

50 years a safe driver with AAA

Fifty years ago, Thelma Isenberg, then a recent graduate of Wayne State University, accepted her first teaching job as a kindergarten teacher at Burns Elementary School in Detroit.

"When I started teaching, I learned to drive," she explained. So in 1930, Mrs. Isenberg began driving a Plymouth four-door sedan with a stick shift.

Also at that time, the Isenbergs began thinking about car insurance.

"My father had an unfortunate experience with an insurance company," she said, "so we decided to switch to AAA and have been satisfied ever since."

And apparently the Automobile Association of America (AAA) has been satisfied with Mrs. Isenberg.

Last Thursday, Thelma Isenberg was awarded a certificate by AAA's Plymouth branch for her 50-year membership with the company.

"It's not too often that we have a 50-year member," said Jim McDowell, a AAA sales representative who presented the award to Mrs. Isenberg.

"We're quite proud of Mrs. Isenberg," McDowell said, as he gave her the certificate and a corsage at her home at 40280 West Seven Mile Road.

"Our management feels we should honor those who have been loyal to us for all this time," he added.

Mrs. Isenberg, who celebrated her 70th birthday July 14, said the award was "like topping on the cake."

Though Mrs. Isenberg is not the oldest AAA member, McDowell said she there are "very few who make it 50 years."

"One of the oldest members in the state is a woman who joined the Auto Club in something like 1923," he said.

McDowell said Mrs. Isenberg has an excellent driving record.

"I've turned many a car in which I've never taken the spare tire out," Mrs. Isenberg said. "I've been fortunate never to have had any bad accidents—but I know if I do that AAA is there when I need them."

Mrs. Isenberg, who retired from teaching in 1973, after 43 years at Burns School, said she is still an active driver and would "rather drive than fly."

And though a Chrysler Cordoba now replaces the Plymouth sedan, Mrs. Isenberg said she hopes she can keep her "good health and continue to drive."

Denise O'Reilly of Milford shucks an ear of fresh, new corn to prove how choice the offering is at the second Northville Farmers' Market of the season last Thursday. Mouth-watering corn, melons, peaches are among the produce coming to the market sponsored by the chamber of commerce in the Main Street parking lot opposite the theater. Flowers also are featured at the weekly Thursday market which opens at 8 a.m. and runs until 5 p.m. — or until farmers are sold out, which often is earlier.

Tying yellow ribbons for hostages

By JEAN DAY

First neighborhood in our community to report that residents are "tying yellow ribbons on the old oak tree — or elm or maple" is Taft Colony out West Main. Entire neighborhoods in such other metropolitan communities as Warren have tied the ribbons on front yard trees as a reminder not to forget the hostages still being held in Iran.

First to do so in Taft Colony was Dorothea Bach, a Cooke Junior High teacher, who said she had heard the idea was catching on in Detroit area and invited her neighbors to do so also, supplying several with yarn ribbons. Others tied on satin ones. So far, nobody has tied on the "one hundred yellow ribbons" that Sinatra was singing about in the song that was popular five years ago, but the ribbons on many, many trees are supposed to stay until we all can welcome the hostages home.

Talraases shared our Fourth

During the past 11 years in which they have been local residents, George and Mary Talraas of 231 West have considered Northville's Fourth of July special. They have talked about the Jaycee parade, Mill Race activities and the fireworks that climax the holiday to friends.

This year they decided to share the celebration with 20 of their friends and neighbors. Guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Alver who came from Lompoc, California. Now retired, he was with the U.S. Government-Air Force when the couples met in Istanbul, Turkey. The Talraases were overseas on assignment with Ford Motor Company at the time. A Rotarian, Lompoc attended the local club luncheon while here.

Other guests were Miss M'Elaine Jumonville of Baton Rouge, Louisiana; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Battistone and son Chip of Clinton, New Jersey; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schermer and daughter Sue, Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson, all of Bloomfield Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Galluser of Southfield; Harry Laschen of Plymouth; and neighbors, the Wes Henriksens and daughters Holly and Sue.

Mrs. Talraas reports that her guests "just loved it."

These flea markets are benefits

Well aware that this is a community of antiquers, Northville Chamber of Commerce is organizing a tail-gate flea market to be held Saturday, August 23, in the Northville Downs parking lot. Chamber Secretary Kay Keegan says, "This should be a fun for all the family project." She may be contacted at the chamber office, 349-7640, now for space reservations.

The spring flea market at Schoolcraft College which was given to benefit the WISER (for widowed) project of the Women's Resource Center will have a fall repeat. Date has been set for September 20. The Women's Resource Center on campus, 591-6400, may be called for information.

As one local antiques expert commented at the Schoolcraft spring show, "The only bargains are at flea markets and garage sales."

Vincent Bustamante wed in Illinois rites

A meeting in grade school led to the wedding of Eileen Louise Kuhn of Seneca, Illinois, and Vincent Paul Bustamante, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bustamante of 355 Orchard, June 21 in Seneca.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kuhn.

The double ring ceremony was held in St. Patrick's Church and was officiated by Father Ray Jacobowski.

The bride wore a gown of white Silesta with beaded silk Venice lace and cap sleeves. The bodice had an illusion neckline and the skirt featured a modified waistline and a chapel train.

The bride's mantilla veil was borrowed from her sister Janet La Belle, matron of honor. The bride kept with tradition by carrying the same handkerchief her grandmother, mother and sister had used in their weddings. She carried a small arrangement of white starburst pompons, stephanotis and white roses.

Bridesmaids were Peggy Lamb, sister of the bridegroom, Janis Nelson, Denise Andreatta and Susan Gosch.

The matron of honor and bridesmaids' gowns were of mulberry crepe de chine with A-line skirts and blouson bodices. The gowns were belted with lavender and pink satin cord.

Each carried an arrangement of pink carnations, purple statice and baby's-breath attached to wicker fans with pink and lavender satin cord.

John and Joseph La Belle, nephews of the bride, served as ring bearers.

Joseph Bustamante III, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were the bride's brother Mike Kuhn, Dee Lamb, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Rick Andreatta, Ron Renault and the bridegroom's brothers Louis and Frank Bustamante.

A guitar mass was performed during the wedding ceremony by Nancy Sievert, Tim Johnson and Roy Williams — Northville friends of the bride and bridegroom. James La Belle, brother-in-law of the bride, sang pre-ceremony songs and was accompanied by Mrs. Karen Rinaldi.

A reception was held at the Rural Oaks Pavilion in Ottawa, Illinois.

The bride is a graduate of Seneca High School and Northern Illinois University where she received a degree in Home Economics Education.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Northville High School and attended Western Michigan University. He currently is employed with D'Harrow Construction Company.

After a wedding trip to Maine and other New England states, the couple returned to Northville where they will reside.

They're giants

Mrs. Ruth Sanders, 504 North Center Street, examines the 10 foot pea pod in her garden. Mrs. Sanders, who planted her garden the first week in June, said she's never seen anything like it. She's been giving friends and neighbors packages of peas by the dozens. "It's just a mass," she exclaimed, "I can hardly get between the rows to pick them."

Family arranges Scottish tribute

Forty years ago last Sunday Elizabeth Christie and James Cowie were married in Palmer Park Presbyterian Church. They had met months earlier when both had joined the choir.

They had a Scottish ancestry in common. They had been born in Arberdeen, Scotland, and she in the Scottish town of Coatbridge.

Northville residents of 845 Horton, the Cowies have lived most of their married life here, coming from Detroit 30 years ago. He is a retired engineer from Burroughs Corporation in Plymouth.

They are active members of First Presbyterian Church; so their daughter Suzanne Wallace Cowie Dimitroff and son James Bremner Cowie and his wife Shirley, all of Northville, invited all the congregation to share in the fortieth celebration at an anniversary tea in fellowship hall following the 10 a.m. Sunday service July 13.

A triple-tier wedding cake made by Helen Hopping of Northville was topped by the miniature bride and bridegroom figures that had been on the original wedding cake.

An unusual feature of the tea was the ceremonial piping in of a Scottish haggis made by Mrs. Dimitroff for the occasion. Piper was Bonnie Griffiths, a music student from University of Michigan. Wearing his tartan, James Cowie presented the dish to his parents.

Special guests included Andrew Florence and his sister Hilda Florence of Niles. He had been best man at the wedding. Mrs. Cowie's sister and her husband, the Howard Porters, also attended as did many of the couple's eight grandchildren.

Church preparing for pantry, attic sale

Committees of the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church are working through the summer on wares for an Attic and Pantry Sale to be held October 10 at the church.

Judy Somershoe and Lois Housman, co-coordinators, announce the committee heads. Janice Dyke heads up antiques, a booth of small collectibles; she is seeking donations from the congregation.

Barbara Ross and Ann Guldborg are baked goods heads and are planning baking workshops. Carol Merrifield, canning chairperson, is asking members to make extra jams, jellies, preserves and relishes in small jars.

Margie Sievert is planning a garden stand and asked members to plant extra rows of tomatoes, pumpkins, gourds, squash, eggplant, carrots and beets.

Lucia Danes is in charge of herbs which will be sold dried, in wreaths and in potpourris.

Pearl Stephens is in charge of sewing.

Other workers are Peggy Thies, publicity; Mona Cross, cashier; Dottie Crain, cider and doughnuts.

Because there will be no home tour this fall, the women's association explains it is planning new events, such as the Attic and Pantry Sale, as fund raisers.

CONGRESSMAN DON CLAUSEN

Congressman leaves recipes of West Coast

California Congressman Don Clausen who was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Allen in Northville during the G.O.P. convention in Detroit left an unexpected legacy with his hosts and several of their friends.

He and his wife Ollie have written a cook book that contains recipes from the west as well as family favorites. The potato salad recipe, he said, is a good hot weather choice and is distinguished for its dressing.

CLAUSEN POTATO SALAD

- 6-8 medium-size potatoes (cook with skins on)
- 5-8 hard-cooked eggs

Use green onions according to taste (or onion salt or onion powder); add a few chopped red pimentos and black olives. Chopped sweet pickles to taste (4-6). Can use more or less of everything as desired. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Dressing: mayonnaise — about ½ cup (more or less to taste), dash of lemon juice (or vinegar), prepared mustard — ¼ tsp. or less, and about ¼ to ½ tsp. sugar. Beat well and add to salad.

This lemon pie recipe won a blue ribbon for Mrs. Clausen at the Del Norte County Fair in Crescent City, California.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

- ½ cup cold water
- 1½ cups hot water
- 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 1 tsp. butter
- 7 tsp. cornstarch
- ¼ cups sugar
- 1 lemon (grated rind and juice)
- 1 baked pastry pie shell

Mix cold water and cornstarch to thin paste. Combine hot water and sugar in top of double boiler and bring to boil over direct heat. Add cornstarch paste and cook until mixture begins to thicken; return to double boiler and cook until thick and smooth (15 minutes), stirring constantly.

Stir a small amount of mixture into egg yolks, return to double boiler, and cook a few minutes longer. Add lemon rind and juice and butter and blend well. Cool, stirring occasionally. Pour into baked pie shell. Top with meringue.

MERINGUE: 3 egg whites, 6 tsp. sugar, 1 tsp. lemon juice (or can use ½ tsp. vanilla). Beat egg whites until they hold a stiff peak. Add sugar gradually (1 tsp. at a time), beating constantly. Add vanilla or lemon juice.

Pile lightly on filling in baked pie shell and bake in slow oven at 325 degrees for 25-30 minutes, or until meringue is firm and delicately browned.

PASTRY PIE SHELL: mix 1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour and ½ tsp. salt. Measure out 7 tsp. lard or other shortening and divide in two equal parts.

For tenderness, cut in first half of shortening until fine as meal. Be sure to use light cutting stroke. For flakiness, cut in remaining shortening until particles are size of large peas. Do not over-mix. Add 3 tsp. cold water (no more, no less) mixing thoroughly into a dough.

Roll one-eighth inch thick and prick with fork (for baked pie shell only). Place dough in pan and let relax 5 minutes. Pat with ball of dough to fit pastry into pan. Trim pastry 1 inch larger than pan and turn back edge. Flute rim.

Bake in very hot oven at 450 degrees for 10-15 minutes. Makes enough pastry for a 9-inch one-crust pie.

HERSHEY BAR PIE

- 1 baked vanilla wafer or graham cracker crust
- ½ cup milk
- 15 large marshmallows
- 1 Hershey (4½-ounce) almond bar, or 5 small bars
- ½ pint whipping cream

Melt chocolate bar, marshmallows and milk in top of double boiler. Cook until dissolved. Let cool and fold in whipping cream. Cool overnight in refrigerator. Whip half-pint of whipping cream for top if desired. Very rich.

The congressman draws upon his Scandinavian background for this special breakfast treat that he says is popular on the west coast.

DANISH AEBLESKIVER Danish Pancake Balls

In the evening, dissolve ½ cake yeast in ½ cup lukewarm water. Add 1½ cups milk in which 1 tsp. salt and 2 tsp. sugar have been dissolved. Blend yeast mixture with 2 and three-quarters cups sifted flour, beating until smooth. Add 3 egg yolks and beat again. Blend in 5 tsp. melted shortening or oil.

Next morning, fold in beaten egg whites and bake in a monk's pan, a heavy pan with circular depressions that is available at kitchen supply stores. Serves 5-6.

Wood: a viable energy alternative for your home next winter

By ELAINE W. COURT

July may not seem like the right time to think about heating your home this winter, especially considering this summer's record-breaking heat wave.

But, at a time when skyrocketing fuel prices have introduced a new lexicon of energy terms — solar, nuclear and biomass — people are looking for viable, cheaper energy alternatives, like wood.

Sales of wood-burning stoves have been on the increase in the area, according to Ralph Weinburger, owner of South Lyon Lumber.

"Our sales have been up, especially in the last three years," said Weinburger. "Following the 1973 oil embargo, people began to get smart and so did we."

Bill Newman really did get smart when he purchased his wood-burning stove because his heating bill dropped from $1,800 in 1978-79 to just $265 in 1979-80, he said.

"I used about five cords of wood at the most for the whole year," said Newman, "and I saved 75 percent on energy consumption according to my Detroit Edison bill."

"Owning a stove requires some work," he added. "You have to be willing to chop the wood, carry it in the house, and that can be a bit messy, but it's definitely worth the effort."

A wood-burning stove can cost anywhere from $400 to $700, according to local suppliers, although installation could add another $150 or more to the price.

Following the 1973 oil embargo,people began to get smartand so did we'

The purchase and installation of Newman's wood-burning stove cost him less than his yearly heating bill, he said, and so it more than paid for itself.

But owning a wood-burning stove is not for everyone, according to a state energy administration (EA) spokesperson in Lansing.

"Each individual must decide for themselves if owning a wood stove is really economically feasible," said the spokesperson.

The layout and size of the house and the availability of wood should be taken into account before an individual purchases one, according to the state energy office.

Obtaining wood can be done in a number of ways. The best method is to own your own wood plot, and according to the EA, it takes 15 acres of wooded land to provide one family with a lifetime's supply of wood to heat the average home.

Not everyone owns that kind of property, so the next best solution is to have very good friends who do and who are willing to let you harvest some of their wood.

Barring such lucrative relationships in your sphere of personal contacts, free, dead wood is available from state and federal forests during the wood-gathering season, according to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources in Brighton.

The wood-gathering season runs from Labor Day through mid-March, and free permits can be obtained from park managers only during this time.

Some public state forest lands permit the removal of cull, or nuisance trees, to free other trees to grow better.

Locally, dead wood can be gathered from the Island, Brighton and Pinkney Recreation Areas, according to the DNR.

But beware — wood gathering is not allowed in game areas because dead wood serves as a protective covering for animals, the DNR said.

A DNR or U.S. Forest Service free wood permit is valid for one calendar year for a maximum of 10 cords harvest, depending on the area.

Most people remove only one or two face cords, and a face cord consists of 14- to 18-inch-long logs in a stack four feet high and eight feet long.

Most people only take about two or three cords, and that leaves plenty of wood behind for others, according to EA literature.

Cutting your own wood can lead to many a cozy evening in front of the stove, but to some not-so-cozy work sessions, warn wood burning stove veterans.

If you decide to harvest the dead and fallen wood in public forest lands, be prepared to have to haul it several hundred feet to your pick-up truck.

Still, chopping the wood, hauling it and then burning it are ways that you can keep warm, if not cozy.

Buying wood can be a less energetic but more costly enterprise. This can be done three ways.

One way is to locate jobbers and buy wood from them directly from the forest where it has been cut.

If you haul and load your own wood this will cost you less.

Then there's always the alternative of splitting the cost of a truck load with a friend if you don't think you're going to use a full cord.

Buying a face cord from a local supplier will cost $35-45, depending on the type of wood, and most families use about four or five cords a year.

Hardwood trees yield the best kind of burning wood because they contain less moisture and resin particles than the softwood varieties.

Hardwoods, such as oak, ash, beech, birch, hickory, hard maple, pecan, dogwood, soft maple, cherry, and walnut, are all rated as good burners by wood experts.

Softwoods, like Southern yellow pine, Douglas fir, cyprus, redwood and white cedar, are less desirable than the hardwoods, but are still good burners.

Other softwoods, such as spruce, are poor burners but are fine for kindling purposes.

Softwoods are also less desirable because some emit gases in burning and, even with hardwood burning, good ventilation is recommended by the Energy Administration.

An open window in the basement is a good safeguard because all burning wood consumes oxygen and a lack of this in an unventilated home may cause drowsiness.

Wood-burning stove users need to be sure that stoves are installed and maintained carefully and correctly, according to Richard Chambers, Green Oak fire chief.

"Wood-burning stoves are good and safe, if installed properly and kept clean," said Chambers.

Chambers explained that, if a stove is improperly installed, the chances of causing a fire are very high.

"Last year, we (the fire department) had more runs on those things. In fact our runs doubled," said Chambers.

Chambers warned that chimneys must be kept clean because green and soft woods produce creosote, which plugs the chimney. This prevents the heat and smoke from escaping and causes back-up problems, he said.

'Owning a stove is not for everyone'

A woodburning stove can cost anywhere from $400 to $700

ANIS AHMED of Novi has been named the 1979 "Outstanding Insurance Agent of the Year" for Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance, Co., Larry Herb Agency in Southfield.

After graduating from Eastern Michigan University in 1975, Ahmed joined Northwestern Mutual in 1976, and since that time has earned many professional, educational and production awards.

He was the agency's "Rookie of the Year" in 1976. He has won the bronze, silver and gold awards given by Northwestern Mutual, and has been the agency's leader since 1977 in acquiring new clients.

In addition, he has received the industry's National Quality and National Sales achievement award for the last three years and has been a qualifying member of the prestigious Million Dollar Round Table for the past three years.

Ahmed and his wife Anjum reside on Rockledge Boulevard in Novi.

THE HOBBY HOLE at 113 North Lafayette, South Lyon, is under new ownership. Carlene and Jim Atchison, longtime residents of South Lyon, purchased the business from Marilyn Hansen as of July 1.

The new owners plan to continue to carry craft supplies and kits and will expand the lines, particularly in water colors. Mrs. Atchison will give classes in oil painting, water colors, tole, macrame and, pen and ink drawings and plans to have workshops in various crafts.

"We'll teach just about any craft that people want to learn," the new owner said.

Mrs. Hansen said she sold the business because her husband, Clifford, has accepted a job in Texas and they will be moving there shortly.

SECURITY BANK and Trust Company of Southgate, which has branch offices in the Northville- Novi area, has announced it soon will be assessing an annual membership fee of $12 for use of its VISA and MASTERCARD service. John Engler, administrative vice president of Bank Card and installment loans, stated that "the bank consistently has placed a high priority on offering the best possible service to its customers. In order to continue to provide this service and its associated credit benefits to our customers, an annual fee will be implemented after September 15, 1980."

Engler noted, however, that "our membership fee will be a single charge per customer account which could include both VISA and MASTERCARD, whereas many other bank card companies charge a separate fee for each card."

A letter notifying current customers of the new fee will be sent beginning this month.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB OF MICHIGAN has lowered new car loan interest rates offered through its MemberLoan program for the second time in less than a month to help improve the sale of 1980 automobiles.

William E. Garrett, Auto Club's vice president of Corporate Relations, has announced that the MemberLoan rate for new car loans with a term of 12 to 24 months will be 12.25 percent in Metropolitan Detroit.

"The MemberLoan rate for new car purchases financed with a term of 12 to 48 months through most Auto Club offices outside the Detroit area will be 13 percent," said Garrett, who added that MemberLoans are arranged through two separate Michigan banks.

Last month, the MemberLoan rate for new car purchases was reduced from 16.5 to 14 percent.

"Auto Club members who finance their new cars through any of our Metropolitan Detroit offices with a term of 30 months will receive a 12.5 percent interest rate," Garrett explained. The new car loan interest rate for 36 months is 13 percent and 13.25 percent with a term of 37 to 48 months.

Revisions in the MemberLoan rates also will allow Auto Club members to receive lower interest rates for used cars.

"Unlike some banks which are offering lower new car loan rates only for the month of July, our reduced rates which are lower than most banks, will not be limited to a specified period," Garrett said.

MERLE NORMAN Cosmetics, which has a studio in Twelve Oaks Mall, is collaborating with the Ford Model Agency in launching a worldwide search for the "Face of the '80s." In September the U.S. "Face," selected by a jury of experts, will compete with beauties from 20 other countries for the title and what the agency calls "the considerable financial perks" that go with it as well as the chance of becoming one of modeling's greats.

To enter the U.S. search, applications must be picked up at any of the more than 2,500 participating Merle Norman Studios throughout the country. Deadline for submitting applications is July 31. Applicants can consult the white pages in the telephone directory or dial toll-free 800-421-2010 for the location of studios.

"We're looking for a star," says Eileen Ford. "The girl who lets editors, photographers and customers know that whatever it is they've been looking for, they've found it. It goes without saying that the model must have a face that is right for the fashions of the times. The mature sophisticates gave way to the nymphets of the '60s just as, a few years later, the pretty-girl-next-door yielded to the harder, stronger looking beauties of the '70s."

DETROIT EDISON'S electric customers in the metropolitan area now may pay their electric bills at their local Farmer Jack Supermarket. Forty-six of the markets in Detroit and suburbs now will handle utility bill payments at in-store service counter facilities.

Payments for gas and telephone service also may be made at the stores.

The new service is the result of a joint effort by Farmer Jack Supermarkets and Detroit Edison to better serve their customers, according to J. Philip Lenihan, Detroit Edison's assistant vice president for marketing and customer relations.

"Detroit Edison is pleased to have this opportunity to work with one of the area's most progressive food center operations in providing this added service for our customers," Lenihan said.

With addition of these payment agencies, Detroit Edison's customers in southeastern Michigan may now pay their electric bills at 1,125 agencies, including most banks and at 33 Detroit Edison customer offices. For added convenience, customers also may mail in their payments using return mail envelopes provided with their bills.

The Star

To be a star
That shines so bright
but alas, my life is but a glimmering light a shadow of the man I use to be
All I ask for is my peace of mind
Truth spoken words so clear
I feel that God is very near and when I die
The birds will still sing
The sun will still shine
Maybe then I'll find some peace

Calorie counting

Peanuts and candy, ice cream and cake,
Cookies and French fries — for goodness sake —
Lock up the 'fridge,
Turn me away,
I musn't eat any of that today.

No fat to fry in,
No flour to bake,
No sugar in anything that I make.

Just lettuce and tuna, and juice and water,
I'm not touching things that I handn't oughta.

My figure's too full,
My clothes are too tight,
So I'm on a diet,
At least, for tonight!

Years Gone By

Life, it seems, has reached its crest
Except for some wind-up years,
Like the growing days that were finally merged
From youth to adulthood spheres.

I've wondered, throughout this measured time
What the climax might prove to be,
It is as though it were ever a climb
With the object always to see

The unknown vista that lies ahead;
Is it filled with steep slopes or vales?
Will time that is ending hold a lingering thread
To an unfinished part it unveils?

What then will the ultimate purpose be
Of all that remains in the past?
When the years I have lived are finished, yet I Cling to time 'til the last?

Charles E. Hutton

Renaissance Ripples

The great ship, RENAISSANCE,
Has come into Port Detroit
Octopussing ripples from its Mighty stern; trembling the earth
And swelling reflections on Detroit River;
Wide-viewed to its Belle Isle jewel.

A mighty surge of start and go
Raising hope, and gladdening eye
Of citizens sailing its needs
To touch the building veins
Of inner-city apartments, stores
With new life-blood; an axis
To road and water; the envy
Of its neighbors.

Questions

How many grains of sand are there?
How many stars up in the sky?
How far is up?
Why, why, why?

Which one is which,
How deep, how hot?
My, but kids want to know a lot.

Why don't we fall off the earth if it spins?
Why can't we boo if the bad guy wins?
Why did God let Jesus die —

Can you answer?
Neither can I.

Kit Henderson

A Canine Con

A man's best friend is his dog, they say, Huh — any woman can tell you that's wrong today.
Who feeds the brute and waters him?
The dog, I mean, now don't be dim.

Who brushes his coat?
Who gives him a bath?
The man? Now that's a laugh.

But who gets the fuss when the car is heard?
Who gets the biggest wag of the tail?
Who gets the frenzied barks of welcome?
Uh huh, you've guessed it — the MALE!

Kit Henderson

I Just Wanted You To Know

How do I say thank you,
For what you do not know?
Perhaps, by luck, you'll read this,
And your happiness will grow.

You passed my way one afternoon.
I doubt if you remember.
You smiled at me and said, "Hello".
for awhile, it was December.

Never speak to strangers,
Is what I've always heard.
But when you smiled, it felt so good.
"Hello", a magic word.

You chased away a dark, black cloud.
Your sunshine made it go.
It was your smile and kindness,
That helped my rainbow grow.

The magic of your smiling face,
Your way to say, "I care".
It made me want to carry on,
A smile with others, share.

Kindness makes the flowers grow.
Birds, for kindness, sing.
But very rarely is it found,
Between two human beings.

Onion Tears

One antenna leaf swells to bear white rockets of corolla.
Though about to bloom,
its aromatic bulb
still heaves out of planted earth.
I pull wash peel eat ravaging ovule promise heedless of seed unborn.

"Baby Animals," tours, evening cruises offered at Kensington Metropark

"Baby Animals" will be the main attraction during a special program to be conducted at Kensington Farm Center located in Kensington Metropark on Sunday, July 20 at 10 a.m.

Participants will have an opportunity to see and touch some of the baby animals commonly found on a farm, says Dave Moilanen who will discuss and demonstrate how these young animals are cared for by people and their natural parents.

Advance registration is required for this 1.5-hour program. Kensington is located off I-96 near the Milford exit.

Persons wishing to register or who wish additional information may contact the farm center at 685-9105.

One-hour or two-hour guided tours of the Kensington Farm Center in Kensington Metropark are now available to school and other civic groups by advance appointment, officials have announced.

Appointments may be made Tuesday through Saturday at 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 12 noon, 2 p.m., 3 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Groups (consisting of 10 to 35 individuals) wishing to make an appointment or obtain more information should contact Kensington Farm Center, 685-9105 (Restaurant-Farm combination phone).

Groups may select a "basic tour," which will provide them with a look at and a discussion of the farm animals on hand including goats, rabbits, chickens, pigs, sheep, lamb, calves, geese and ducks. Topics such as animal care, use of animals for food and clothing and the basic farm operation will be covered along the tour.

Tours on some specific aspect of farming, such as gardening, farming history or animal development also may be selected.

Farm equipment and tools are featured on the main floor of the barn, young animals are in the pens below and there is a building called "Lincoln Corners," which offers packaged snacks, candy and soft drinks. Lunches, dinners and carry-out service of box lunches for individuals or groups are available at the farm restaurant.

Dave Moilanen, farm manager and park naturalist, pointed out that these facilities are offered on a somewhat limited basis until redevelopment of the project by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority is completed later this year.

An "Evening Nature Cruise" aboard the Island Queen excursion boat will be held at Kensington Metropark near Milford Tuesday, August 5 at 8 p.m.

Naturalist Gordon Lonie will discuss the history of the park and the area. There should be opportunities to observe geese, herons and other lake wildlife, he said.

"Gardening with Field Flowers" will be presented during a two-hour program at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford on Sunday, August 3 at 1 p.m.

Most of the brightly colored summer flowers of field and roadside can be grown in your own yard, with some attention focused on planning and preparation, says Naturalist Bob Hotelling who will lead the discussion and a walk along the trails.

A program dealing with the common bats of Michigan will be held at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark on Wednesday, August 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Naturalist Steve Hory will use slides and study skins to explain the unique life of these important creatures. After the slide show, a few minutes will be spent outside looking for bats flying over the lake.

The program will last approximately one hour. Advance registration is required for this "free" program.

The bike-hike trail at Kensington Metropark near Milford will be extended one mile.

A contract in the amount of $64,875.80 has been awarded to the J. D. Armstrong Landscaping Company of Fraser for the project, with work expected to be completed May of 1981.

Announcement was made by HCMA Commissioner Clifton W. Heller, who represents Livingston County, and Charles R. Shafer, who represents Oakland County. The contract was awarded at the July meeting of the board of commissioners of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

Presently five miles of bike-hike trail is open to the public and extends from the East boat launching site near the park entrance along the I-96 Freeway through the woods near Island Road (Route 5), just east of the nature center.

This improvement project, when completed, will extend the trail an additional mile to the West boat launching site in the park, officials said.

Talented cager learns aggressive play in Poland

By KEN KOVACS

Girls basketball in Poland is much more physical than in the United States.

And that's just fine with Leslie Nadeau, starting forward for Ladywood High School basketball team in Livonia.

The Northville Township resident and her teammates recently got an opportunity to compete against the bigger, more physical Polish women players on a two-week visit to their country.

And the American squad, led by senior Nadeau, did quite well, winning seven of nine games played on foreign soil.

"I like the way they let us go over there," the high school standout explained. "I really enjoyed playing under International rules. The pace is a lot faster."

"We were out-weighted almost every game, with some players reaching 180 pounds," she related. "But we did okay."

Under International rules, the keys are wider, a player is given three foul shots to make one, players must deal with a 30-second shot clock and 11 team fouls are allowed before players begin shooting free throws.

Also, players are substituted while the clock is running.

Ed Kavanaugh, Ladywood basketball coach, said the trip was a very valuable experience.

"We are a much more aggressive team since we've been back," he stated. "I think it will help us a great deal this year."

The more aggressive play may have played a role in the Ladywood squad's recent success at a tournament in Midland.

Nadeau, named most valuable, led her team in wins over six teams — including last year's Class B state champ.

Coach Kavanaugh, who previously had been to Poland on a cultural exchange program, saw an ad in a magazine offering a reduced price for a team traveling to Poland.

When he related his find to the team and the girls showed an interest, he signed up.

girls to the major Polish cities of Warsaw, Poznan, Wroclaw and Lodz and to a number of small rural communities.

"Poznan was my favorite," Nadeau said. "I loved the old-town atmosphere and the churches were beautiful."

Some not-so-pleasant things also left their mark on the 18-year-old student.

"I hated the food," she laughed.

Then, sounding very serious, she added, "The standard of living is very low. I guess you really don't know what you've got here (in America) until you go somewhere else."

The trip in the past, the hard-working cager turned her thoughts to the upcoming summer basketball camp in Georgia and the approaching basketball season.

A starter since her sophomore year at Ladywood, the confident Nadeau feels this year's team has a good shot at taking it all.

Last year Ladywood posted a 19-5 record, winning league and district titles, but it was defeated in regional play.

Coach Kavanaugh also is confident his squad will have an excellent year, particularly with Nadeau in the lineup.

"Leslie is a very solid player," he praised. "She knows the game and works very hard. I think her experience will help us win a lot of games."

As a junior the lanky Nadeau won all division, first team all-Catholic League, first team all-area and second team all-state honors.

There are a number of colleges trying to lure the talented young athlete to their school.

Where would she like to go?

"I would like to go to school down south," she said matter-of-factly. "South Carolina or Kentucky would be my first two choices."

But, for now, back to the court.

Wagner to coach girls

By KEN KOVACS

Gene Wagner, long-time coach at Our Lady of Victory, has been named head coach of the Northville High School Girls Basketball team.

Wagner, who once played with the Vagabond Kings — a professional comedy basketball team similar to the Harlem Globetrotters — recently was named to replace Dave Schopp, who is stepping down because of his extensive duties as assistant principal at Northville's two junior high schools.

GENE WAGNER

Last year Wagner directed the high school junior varsity girls' squad.

In 20 years of coaching — at OLV, Wayne-Westland schools and other schools — the Northville resident has a record of 270 wins, 60 losses.

Wagner said he believes the squad has a lot of potential, but "the girls have to do a lot of hard work to be able to compete with some of the other league teams."

"We are about two years behind some of the other schools in the conference," he said. "I think it takes about five years to develop a good program. You have to start when the girls are in fifth or sixth grade."

Wagner recently completed a three-week summer basketball program for girls at Cooke Junior High.

Currently, many of the high school players are involved in an AAU league in which they play in a six-game series every Thursday night at Eastern Michigan University.

(The Northville girls recently beat a Milan High School squad, 54-24).

Wagner said he will stress fundamentals and developing individual skills in his coaching.

"It (coaching) is a continuing teaching process," he said. "And the fundamentals must be learned. There are a million details in basketball."

Wagner said practice officially will begin August 18. But currently, any girl who will be a freshman, sophomore or junior at Northville High this fall is invited to play on Tuesday mornings from 10 a.m. to noon at the high school gym.

Further information is available by calling Wagner at 349-4029.

LESLIE NADEAU

Knowing the trip would be quite costly, the ambitious girls raised about $800 apiece to defray the cost, running various fund-raisers including a dance and a bingo party.

The two-week tour took the Ladywood

Soccer workouts set

The high school soccer season is just around the corner.

And Northville Boys' Soccer Coach Ron Meteyer wants to be ready.

He is inviting potential high school players to participate in a week of soccer conditioning beginning Monday, July 28.

The first workout will be held at the high school from 6 to 8 p.m.

Boys should bring shoes, shorts and a soccer ball.

Meteyer is hoping to schedule three or four scrimmages prior to the first game — a tournament with Country Day — September 5.

Tryouts will be held later in August, he said.

Further information is available by calling Meteyer at 553-9138.

But, for now, back to the court.

Indians lose two, rebound to beat Yankees for title

Two losses — one at the hands of the red-hot Yankees — gave the Indians of Northville Junior Baseball's G-League a scare last week before they rebounded and clipped the Yankees, 2-1 to clinch the title.

Previously riding high with a 14-0 mark, the Indians were shocked first by the Yankees, 5-4, then by the Dodgers, 4-3 later in the week.

The league champs did pick up an 8-5 win over the Pirates between the two losses to add one to the win column, but had to overcome the Yankees in the final game on Sunday to grab league crown.

In the Yankees' upset of the Indians, pitcher John Anderson smacked three hits for the winners and — with relief help from Scott Swienckowski and Rob Cannon — held Indian batters to four hits.

Chris Dominique and Sean McLaughlin each cracked a double for the Indians.

The Dodgers knocked off the Indians by scoring three runs in the first inning — on a single by Mike Colaluca, two walks and a double by Dave Smith — and adding one in the fifth on an error, base hits by Dave Kaminski and Smith, a fielder's choice and a walk.

The Indians could muster only one run in each of the second, third and fifth innings. Tony Craig scored twice for the losers, while Kevin Alexander cracked a triple.

The championship game yielded only three hits by the Indians and two by the Yankees.

Each team put one run across the plate in the first inning. That was all the scoring until seventh inning when the Indians got the winning run on a walk, two Yankee errors and a sacrifice.

Geo Daraban, Tony Craig and Mickey Quint had a single apiece for the winners.

Ken Kehoe and Mark Hoffman collected the Yankees' only hits.

The champs' other victory last week was an 8-5 pounding of the Pirates.

The Indians had nine hits — two apiece by Chris Dominique, Craig and Michael Pacheco — while scoring four runs in the second, two in the third and one each in the fourth and fifth.

The Pirates rallied for all five of their runs in the fifth inning on a single, three walks, an error and a triple by Matt Mai. Kevin Cramp-ton had two hits in a losing effort.

In other G-League action last week the Giants dropped two games, the Reds and Mets each won two, the Cards and the Cubs each took one, and the Padres, Phillies and Astros each lost a contest.

The Giants were pummeled by the Mets, 17-5 and the Reds, 16-3.

The Mets tagged Giants pitchers for 13 hits — 10 in the last two innings — while the Giants could manage only seven.

Fred Cahill smacked three hits for the winners, while Steve Winters had a double in a losing effort.

Three hits apiece by Mark Olsen and John Meadows, including a round-tripper by Olsen, led the Reds in their win over the Giants who had only four hits — doubles by Eddy Cochrane and Graig Kozler and singles by John Bugar and Matt Demattos.

The Reds downed the Padres, 5-1 for their second win of the week.

Reds' pitchers Meadows and Chris Hauser held the Padres to two hits — singles by Tony Signorelli and Scott Trepicone.

The Reds had only three hits — a triple by Meadows and base hits by Mark Olsen and Gary Harper — but took advantage of six walks to score one run in the first, three in the second and one in the third.

Phillies' batters tapped Giants' hurlers for 15 hits in their lopsided (14-4) victory.

Pitcher Brian Friel helped his own cause by smacking two singles and a double for the winners.

Winters knocked in one of the Giants' tallies with a double.

Kelly Bell and Tim Spradlin boomed home runs for the Cubs in their 14-3 trouncing of the Astros.

The Cubs had an easy time of it, tagging Astros' hurlers for 14 hits, while the Astros struggled, managing only two — a triple by Jeff Stuart and a base hit by Paul Tropani.

Two hits apiece by Mike Jakubowski and pitcher Mike Palm led the Cards in their 5-4 victory over the Mets.

The Cards scored four runs in the second inning on back-to-back doubles by Jakubowski and Mark Deal, a triple by Palm and two walks.

They added their final tally in the sixth on a single, a walk and a two-base hit by Palm.

The Mets had only three hits — doubles by Billy Herguth, Fred Cahill and Doug Ayers.

'A' Division.

Starting catcher Jim Behan ripped a double and a triple, while teammate Paul Luiki had a hit in two trips to the plate and one run-batted-in.

Northville pitching ace Rick Borthwick worked the last three innings for the 'B' Division all-stars striking out six batters to preserve the shut-out.

Alumni strengthens lead with two wins over Circle

Alumni took two games from Winner's Circle last week to remain undefeated in Northville Recreation softball's women's league.

Denise McDermid smacked a triple and a home run to lead Alumni past Winner's Circle in a contest which Circle led until the final inning.

Four singles and a double by Patricia Brown in the seventh inning pushed the three needed runs across the plate.

Debbie Slater collected three hits for Winner's Circle, including a round-tripper.

In rematch three days later Winner's Circle managed only one run in a 12-1 trouncing by Alumni.

Eve Williams ripped a home run and a base hit for Alumni while teammates Louise Hopping, Brown and Debra McGuire also contributed two hits apiece.

Winner's Circle's only score came in the fifth inning on a single by Sandy Myers and a triple by Susan Burk.

Three other Women's League games and American and National League game recaps follow below.

Joe's Bar 9, Doc's Jocks 9

The lead changed hands several times throughout the game with Jocks rallying for three runs in the seventh to save the tie. Ann Ferry cracked a homer for Doc's Jocks, while teammates Cheryl DeHoff and Diane Hrubak each slammed a double en route to the victory. Mary Brueck and Karen Marzonie had two hits apiece for Joe's.

Little Joe's, Doc's Jocks

Little Joe's never went to the plate but nevertheless gained a victory over Jocks when they didn't have enough to play and lost by forfeit.

Little Caesar's 15, EDM 13

A rallying EDM squad had its hopes squelched when, after scoring six runs in the seventh inning, a runner was thrown out at the plate and the next popped up out to end the inning and the game. Lori Standord cracked a double and two base hits for the winners, while Robin Thems of EDM had a perfect day at the plate with three singles and a home run Susan Booth also smacked a round-tripper for EDM.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Merchants 16, Joe's Bar 6

Nine homers by the Merchants, including two apiece by Jerry Dettler, Gary Winemaster and John Boland, were too much for Little Joe's which collected two round-trippers of its own — one each by Keith Trumbull and Doug Crisan. Merchants exploded for 11 runs on nine hits — three hit out of the park — in the third inning to bury Joe's. Jeff Hodgkins, Jim O'Brien and Tom Eis also blasted homers for the Merchants.

Little Joe's 12, Sheehan's 1

Bill Harrigan and Mark Lisonski led the way for Joe's with three hits apiece. After cracking run-scoring singles in the first and fourth innings, Lisonski blasted a three-run homer when he came to the plate in the sixth inning. Sheehan's scored its only tally in the sixth inning on a walk and two errors by Joe's.

CD Sparling 10, Long-Zayti 1

Sparling put together 15 hits in coasting to the win scoring five runs on seven hits in the fifth inning and adding at least one run in every other inning except the second and seventh. Chuck Cakssackkar and Charles Prochazka led the attack with three hits apiece. Rick Bingley had a single and a double for Zayti, while teammates Bill Sinclair and Jim Long each ripped a double in a losing effort.

Winner's Circle 8, Long-Zayti 5

Winner's Circle and Long-Zayti pounded out 11 hits apiece, but the latter could not push runners across the plate. Circle scored three runs in the second, two in the fourth and added three more in the fifth on a pair of singles and a home run blast by Jeff Moon. John Sinclair hit one out for Zayti, while teammate Jim Zayti contributed a base hit and a triple.

CD Sparling 20, Spicer 10

Sparling took a 7-5 lead in the third and never gave it up ripping 28 hits — including four home runs, two by Dave Picney. Eight runs in the sixth on a triple, homers by Picney, Kendal Smith and Dan Fisher, and four highlighted that biggest inning for Sparling. Spicer pushed four runs across in the first inning, but could manage only one in the third, one in the fourth and two each in the fifth and sixth. Tarrow Roland tapped Sparling pitchers for three base hits in the losing effort.

Alumni's Louise Hopping prepares to sprint to second

But Belanger was not to be denied. The first batter popped up. Then seven consecutive singles led to six runs and the win for Belanger. Calahan blasted a two-run homer for the winners in the third inning

Little Joe's 13, Sheehan's 10

The lead changed hands several times in this error-filled game that saw Joe's upset league-leading Little Caesar's. Each team belted 16 hits, Rick Norton cracking two homers for Joe's. Andy McAlpine ripped a pair of doubles for the winners, while teammate Kevin Cavanaugh smacked a triple. Gary Cortner had four singles in as many times at bat for Sheehan's.

Little Joe's 12, Jaycees 9

Fifteen hits by Little Joe's was too much for the Jaycees to overcome as Joe's scored four runs in the first inning

Eagles 16, Michel's 12

Each squad hammered out 19 hits, but the Eagles pushed four more runners across the plate to come away with the win. The Eagles pounded out 10 hits — including two doubles and a home run — in the third inning, scoring nine times to even the score. Michel's added three runs in the fourth on a two-run in-the-park homer by Ed Bolinger, two singles and an Eagle error, but failed to score again. The Eagles added two runs in the sixth and four in the seventh to clinch the victory. Tim Nye smacked three safeties and a double for the winners, while Bolinger and Ken Kovacs collected three hits apiece for Michel's.

Methodist 12, Belanger 9

A single and two triples by Doug Cooke paced Methodist in this hard-fought victory. Two home run blasts by Belanger's Mark Vivian and three hits by Scott Bacon weren't enough to thwart the Methodist attack. Dave Fisher, Scott Fisher, Larry Cook and Hugh Bray each added two hits to the Methodist cause.

Sheehan's 12, L and H 11

L and H scored five runs in the first inning on a triple by Howard Caulford, five base hits and two sacrifice flies to lead Sheehan's through the third inning. But in the fourth the league-leaders exploded for six hits and five runs. The Players rallied for four runs in the final frame on three base hits and a home run by Allen Barret, only to fall one short of Sheehan's. Ray Janisse, Stan Tarnowski, Bob Martin and John Baumann each had two hits for Caesar's.

OLV 10, L and H 2

OLV's six runs in the first two innings turned out to be enough the stop the Players who managed only one run in the fourth and one more in the sixth. Four Players' errors also contributed to OLV's success. OLV's William Johnston picked up four base hits in as many turns at the plate, while Bill Brielmaier collected two. Steve Harmon was the bright spot for Players, banging out a single, double and triple in three trips to the plate.

This map—courtesy of WOMC FM104—is specifically designed to help you pinpoint the location of reported tornadoes. So please, carefully choose—in advance—a safe tornado shelter. Then paste this map up on the wall.

When a tornado threatens, listen to WOMC FM104 for exclusive, Accuweather reports and follow these basic safety rules:

- Stay away from windows, doors and outside walls. Protect your head.
- In homes and small buildings, go to the basement or to an interior part on the lowest level. Get under something sturdy.

- In schools, factories, shopping centers or other public places, move to pre-designated shelter areas. Interior hallways on lowest floors are best.
- In mobile homes or vehicles, leave them and go to more substantial shelter.
- If outdoors, and no shelter is nearby, lie flat in the nearest ditch or ravine and shield head with arms.

Tornado Watch: Tornadoes and severe thunderstorms are possible.

Tornado Warning: Tornado detected. Take shelter immediately.

Angels, Expos share championship honors

One out from their third straight loss to the Angels and elimination from the F-League race, the Expos scored three times to guarantee themselves a share of the title, winning 12-11 Saturday at Thomson Field.

A two-out single by Steve Demattos tied the game and an error on a pick-off attempt sent Demattos barreling home with the winner in an exciting finish to a game that saw lead change hands five times.

The Expos broke on top with four runs in the first inning on two walks, an error, a double by Dave Longridge and a triple by Tom Spade.

The Angels took a 6-4 lead in the second inning on three walks, a double by Dan Nielsen and a single by Dennis Kunka.

A two-run single by Demattos and a triple by Dough May produced five markers for the Expos in the third inning. But the Angels responded with three runs in the fifth and one in the sixth, setting the stage for the Expos' rousing game-winning rally in the seventh.

Two days later, the Expos and Phillies locked horns at Ford Field in a make up game of an earlier rain out.

That game, the last of the season, was of great interest to the Angels, who stood to grab a share of the championship if the Expos lost. They did.

A two-run homer by Mickey Newman and a two-run double by Joe McNutt in the seventh gave the Phillies a come-from-behind 12-9 victory.

The Expos pounded on the Phils for nine runs in the first two innings, but they were blanked in the final five frames by Shawn Tague and Steve Schrader.

Schrader, Ernie Bock and Scott Worden paced the Phils' attack with two hits apiece. Doug Doyle had three of the Expos' five hits.

In other action last week, the Pirates won their sixth straight and snuffed out the Phillies' hopes for a shot at the title with a 7-5 victory.

The Bucs broke a scoreless tie in the fourth inning, scoring three times on a walk, an error, a single by Dino Candela and a double by Konrad Meister.

The Phils strug for five runs in the fifth on three singles, a pair of walks and an error. A two-run homer by Jerry Pawloski in the sixth inning tied it, however, and the Pirates notched the game winners in the seventh on a single by Woody Hoyer and two throwing errors.

Dirk Nowka picked up the win in relief of Tim Ruffing, who stilled the Phils' bats through four innings.

The Cardinals reached the coveted .500 mark on the last day of their 18-game season, handing the Braves an 11-3 defeat.

Bob Pergrum tossed a three-hitter, struck out nine batters and logged two of his team's eight hits.

Shawn Allen also had a pair of hits as the Cards put together a trio of three-run innings.

The previous night, the Cards suffered a 20-4 drubbing at the hands of the Angels, who rocketed 17 hits around Ford Field.

Steve Frelick cracked a homer, two doubles and a single while Dennis Kunka chipped in with three hits and three runs-batted-in.

Dan Nielsen shackled the Cards on two hits for his seventh victory.

Frelick's bat and arm catapulted the Angels to a 9-2 decision over the Giants last Wednesday, the versatile Angel driving in four runs and stopping the Giants with a nifty one-hitter.

The Dodgers scored four times in the first inning on only one hit and went on to beat the Reds, 10-8. They sewed it up in the seventh on two errors and a two-run single by Steve Hamilton.

Rob Willer led the Reds' attack with a homer, single and three RBIs.

Willer went three-for-four last Friday, but the Reds fell to the Giants, 8-7.

A triple by Mike Sylvestre was the big blow in the Giants' four-run fifth inning. Sylvestre, Chris Behen and Mike Webber accounted for six of their team's nine hits.

Behen had three hits and Sylvestre went the distance, striking out 12 last Saturday as the Giants dumped the Dodgers, 9-2.

The Mets ended the season on a winning note, whipping the Padres, 9-6.

Jim Ziegler went three-for-three for the Mets, who jumped to an 8-1 lead and survived a five-run uprising by the Padres in the sixth.

Who will come forth to take E-League crown?

The championship of Northville Junior Baseball's E-League will be decided this week. The top two squads won easily last week, putting an abrupt end to any title hopes the other teams might have had. The Cards, currently alone in first place, clobbered the Giants, 21-4 to boost their record to 12-3. Meanwhile, the Braves

(10-3) kept their title hopes alive by blanking the Reds, 8-0. Cards' hitters banged out 14 hits including four by Greg Anusbigiah and three by Gary Metz, while the Braves pounded out 10 hits. Rich Schohl contributed three doubles in a losing effort. The Braves started out like a locomotive and didn't let up. They scored five runs on four hits in the first inning and added two more in the third and one in the fourth.

Brian Bidwell, Andy Dimitroff and John Dranginis had two hits apiece for the winners. Jeff Thompson stroked both of the Reds' hits — a pair of singles. The Reds bounced back to trip the Giants, 13-8 in another contest last week. Matt Wilson drew two walks and smacked two hits to lead Reds' hitters, while Todd Bartling had a double and a triple for the Giants. Both teams benefited greatly from free passes, the Giants' pitchers giving up 10 bases on balls, Reds' hurlers, eight. The Pirates suffered another loss last week, a 23-12 trouncing by the Pirates — a game which was called in the sixth inning because of darkness. The Pirates had a field day, collecting 14 hits and scoring in every inning except the second. Tom Zielke ripped two doubles and four other Pirates also had two hits each. Nick Kolb, Dave DeMattos and Jeff Anger each had a single and a double for the Giants. The Pirates also suffered a loss last week, an 11-4 thrashing by the Cardinals. Gary Metz paced the league-leaders, collecting three of the Cardinals' 12 hits. Jeff Traudt accounted for three of the Pirates' eight hits, hammering a single and two triples.
