

Township supervisor race draws three active citizens

John MacDonald

MacDonald, of 18272 Edenberry Drive, is an attorney in private practice with offices in Wayne. He and his wife Ann have three children. A former township trustee, planning commissioner and member of the zoning board of appeals (1972-76), MacDonald, 45, earned his bachelor's degree at the University of Michigan and JD at Wayne State University Law School.

He decided to re-enter the political arena at the urging of friends active in the township, he said. MacDonald said he believes he is better qualified to run the government than are his opponents by virtue of greater experience and "proven leadership abilities." He said he thinks he communicates with people better than either of his opponents.

Another factor, he said, was the decision to hire a business manager because he has "neither the time, nor perhaps the inclination, to be a full-

Larry VanderMolen

VanderMolen, of 41848 Ladywood Drive, teaches political science at Schoolcraft College. He earned his doctorate at Michigan State in 1971, his master's from Western Michigan University in 1964 and his bachelor's degree from Western in 1961.

He and his wife Lynn have four children. He has lived in the township 11 years.

VanderMolen ran for township supervisor as a Democrat in 1972. He is now running as a Republican and is a 1980 member of the Northville Republican Club, a member of the state party and a 1980 precinct delegate to the state convention.

A 1979 graduate of Oakland University's legal assistant program, VanderMolen, 40, serves on OU's legal assistant advisory committee.

VanderMolen cited his attendance at township meetings, legal research and study of township issues and

William Zapke

Zapke, of 42621 Ravina Lane, is a self-employed sales and marketing executive. His bachelor's degree is in engineering and he has done post-graduate work in marketing.

He and his wife Rose have one son. He has lived in the township nine years.

Presently a trustee, Zapke, 34, was a 1977 planning commissioner, is a member of the Northville Economic Development Commission (EDC), vice president of the Michigan Jaycees, 1978 president of the Northville Jaycees.

He is running for supervisor, he said, because "the one thing we've learned over the past three years is that experience is important. I view myself as the most experienced, most involved candidate."

Another advantage over his opponents, he said, is the degree of his commitment. "I'm willing to be a full-time supervisor, I'm willing to make it

Local contest sparks primary vote

Partisan ballot requires caution

Election officials preparing for the August 5 primary election are concerned that there may be some confusion on the part of voters and are warning that voting without understanding the nature of the primary might void your vote.

The primary election is a strictly partisan one, meaning that the voters' first decision will have to be which political party is preferred.

"This is a primary which in effect is three elections taking place at the same time: a Democratic primary, a Republican primary and a minor party support election," the secretary of state's elections division warned pollworkers in an information bulletin. "This means there is no such thing as splitting the ticket."

If the voter prefers to vote Democratic, he must select candidates only from the Democratic ballot. If the preference is Republican, there is a Republican slate defined on the ballot.

If a minor party is preferred, the only option is to indicate that preference on the ballot. This section of the ballot merely indicates support for placing the minor party, for instance presidential candidate John Anderson's "Anderson Coalition Party" on the November ballot.

The Citizens Party, Libertarian Party and Socialist Worker's Party also are included in this section of the ballot. To gain November ballot status, a minor party must garner more than three-tenths of one percent of the total votes in August.

Understanding the rules is particularly important for Northville Township residents, where the Republican primary race for township offices is virtually the only vote that counts since no Democrats are running for office.

A Northville Township voter could, due to the punch card system used by the township, register votes in the local election and vote to place John Anderson on the November ballot.

But such a ballot would be thrown out for violating the partisan provisions of the election. In the city of Northville, polling machines will not allow a voter to do this but mistakes could be made on absentee ballots in both city and township.

If a mistake is made on an absentee ballot, the voter may take it to the place where he received the ballot and have it voided and another issued, if this is done early enough.

There is a non-partisan section of the ballot which may be voted by those who have made a party preference. Three judges for the Third Judicial Circuit Court will be chosen in the non-

Predict heavy turnout in township precincts

By KEVIN WILSON

Northville Township voters are expected to flock to the polls Tuesday August 5 for the state-wide primary election, but in the city of Northville a low turnout is predicted.

Township Clerk Clarice Sass is forecasting that as many as 70 to 75 percent of the 8,076 voters registered as of July 8 will cast ballots in the election.

A new township government to serve for the next four years will be chosen in the primary since all candidates are registered Republicans. The lack of any Democratic activity virtually assures the primary victors of election in November.

A three-way race for supervisor leads the township election, with John MacDonald, Larry VanderMolen and William Zapke all vying for the top slot. A rematch of the 1978 race for treasurer creates one of the more interesting competitions as incumbent Lee Holland faces a challenge from former treasurer Richard Henningsen, who lost to Holland in '78.

Clerk candidate Susan Heintz, presently a township trustee, is unopposed in the primary since Sass withdrew her candidacy. An eight-way race for four trustee posts includes only one incumbent, James Nowka. Other candidates are Richard E. Allen, C. James Armstrong, Thomas L.P. Cook, John Richard Johnson, E.F. Petersen, Jr., Wesley A. Rogalski and Leon T. Sylvestre.

James Schrot, Joseph Lukomski and Willard C. Gaul are running for two constable posts.

An additional draw to the polls is a proposed increase in township property taxes by .5 mill to be earmarked for operation of the fire department. Tax issues traditionally attract a higher turnout, particularly in conjunction with election to township office.

No local issues will appear on the ballot for city voters, so Northville City Clerk Joan McAllister is predicting a light vote of 10 percent or less of the 3,696 registered electors.

As of Tuesday, 56 absentee voters had Hearing draws few

Elderly village plans made public

A public hearing of the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation (EDC) proposal to build a senior citizens housing development on the site of the Wayne County Child Development Center drew only a handful of Northville residents to the high school last Wednesday night.

Township and school board officials dominated the audience at the hearing hosted by the township planning commission, township EDC and county EDC. A slide presentation, drawings and charts were used to explain the proposed elderly village.

The proposal calls for some 1290 living units to accommodate 2,000 persons aged 62 and over.

Located on the east side of Sheldon Road between Five and Six Mile, the facility would include townhouses, apartments, a 200-bed convalescent center, recreation and commercial services, and a clinic.

Robert Fitzpatrick, executive director of the county EDC, said he hopes the planning commission and board of trustees will pass resolutions supporting the project.

Those resolutions would make his task easier when he takes the same presentation to the county board of commissioners sometime in August. The commissioners must transfer ownership of the 710 acre property — 85 of which would be used for the village — to the county EDC before planning can go much farther than it has over the past 15 months.

The land was proposed as the site of a new state prison, and later for a county sheriff's training academy, before the township EDC formally put forward the current plan.

The local EDC would have to waive its jurisdiction to the county EDC and the trustees and planning commission would have to adjust the land use zoning before the project could proceed.

The township planning commission was scheduled to consider zoning changes to create a new zoning class specifically for the project at a Tuesday meeting.

Ralph Basile, representing Zuchelli-Hunter Associates, urban economists from Maryland, said an informational sheet already has been sent to "quality developers with proven track records for such complexes" across the country inviting them to demonstrate their qualifications for the project to the EDC.

With the use of a combined private-public funding plan, Basile said, the complex could show a profit to the developer in its third year of operation. The first year, he said, the developer would lose money; the second year the owners would make just enough to cover the previous loss and in the third year a "modest profit" would show on the books.

His profit projections were challenged by one member of the audience because the figures involved a projected 90 percent occupancy rate in the

A CANDIDATES' NIGHT for the public to hear those seeking local offices in the primary election August 5 is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Northville Township Hall, 41600 West Six Mile by the Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi League of Women Voters.

A CITIZENS group has picked up the cudgel dropped by the board in fighting subsidized housing in the township. "We're determined to carry out the court suit that the board dropped in backing down to blackmail," a spokesman said. Anyone interested in contributing monies for legal fees is asked to call 349-3121 or 348-2471. Contributions may be mailed to 20355 Rippling Lane.

STATE FIRE marshal met with 13 other officials last week to inspect the Old Village School and determine whether the building complies with fire safety regulations. Though the fire marshal has not ruled on this, a decision is expected within a month. The building cannot be occupied until the fire marshal rules the school has complied, but Special Education Director Leonard Rezmierski reports "the meeting came off well — we're just waiting."

Big day planned at sidewalk sale

Merchants and the hundreds of craftspersons and antique dealers who have reserved booths at Northville's annual sidewalk sale this Saturday are hoping for a sunny day — or at least one without raindrops.

Street spaces sold out to capacity early, and chairman Charles Lapham anticipates crowds for both the booth attractions and merchants' bargains.

Local charitable organizations also will have special offerings as fund raisers at the sale. See In Our Town, page 2-B.

Posh polling place

Carpeted election booths? Not exactly. City Clerk Joan McAllister demonstrates how the carpeted covering that hides the booths, stored at the rear of city council chambers in city hall, is rolled away. The carpet duplicates the off-white walls of the room, becoming an effectual noise deadener as well as concealment for the machines. Using the carpet was the brainstorm of DPW head Ted Mapes. The election booths will be out and ready for use for the primary election beginning at 7 a.m. Tuesday at city hall where all residents living in the Wayne County portion of the city will vote.

Board approves 1980 tax levy

The Northville Board of Education Monday, unanimously approved a total tax levy of $10,168,386 to be apportioned among several fractions of the Northville district for the 1980-81 school year.

A millage rate of 40.1813 was established for Northville Township (Wayne), City of Northville (both Wayne and Oakland), Lyon (Oakland), City of Novi (Oakland), Novi Township (Oakland), and Salem (Washtenaw).

Of the 40.18 mills, 33.18 will be used for operating purposes, according to Business Manager Harold Hines. The remaining 7 mills will be used for the debt retirement fund.

The 1980-81 millage rate is a 1.34 mill reduction over last years rate in compliance with the Headlee roll-back requirement.

The board also approved a resolution authorizing a $3,400,000 loan submission to the State Department of Education to pay current operating expenses.

The board will discuss the operating budget for the 1980-81 school year in October.

At the second meeting of the new board, subcommittee assignments for 1980-81 were presented by board president Christopher Johnson.

Heading the curriculum subcommittee is Richard Barron, with board members Karen Wilkinson and Gerald Munro. Vice President Charles Peltz was chosen chairperson of the facilities subcommittee with Douglas Whitaker and Christopher Johnson.

The finance subcommittee will be chaired by David Llewellyn with Karen Wilkinson and Charles Peltz serving on the committee. Personnel subcommittee chairperson is Karen Wilkinson with Richard Barron and Christopher Johnson also serving.

The policy subcommittee will be headed by Douglas Whitaker with Gerald Munro and David Llewellyn.

Douglas Whitaker was chosen as the Northville Economic Development Corporation representative. Christopher Johnson will serve as the Michigan Association of School Boards liaison.

David Llewellyn will serve as the recreation commission liaison and Gerald Munro will serve as Title IX liaison.

In other business, the board: —unanimously approved the reorganization of the department of business and finance, as presented by Superintendent Lawrence Nichols; —unanimously supported the decision of the Northville City Council to oppose United States Senate Bill 2827, which would prohibit local municipalities from regulating or licensing local cable TV systems.

—unanimously approved the funding of two change orders for the Old Village School Renovation Project — $2,440 for additional cost of flooring in the first floor corridor and $475 for the repair of existing shower room ceramic tile floor.

—unanimously approved $4,235 for kitchen equipment required in the renovation project of the Old Village School kitchen.

—unanimously approved Blue Cross-Blue Shield as the insurance carrier for the dental insurance provided to the district's eligible employees at an annual cost of $69,612.

'They have their share'

Group home request withdrawn

Application to operate a group home for mentally retarded adults on Meadowbrook near Seven Mile has been withdrawn in light of the "valid concerns" of the neighborhood, Laima Starwas, placement coordinator at NRTC reported.

The Northville Residential Training Center had hoped to place six developmentally disabled adults in the house as part of the state department of mental health's community placement program.

The house was purchased by a Detroit doctor with the intent of using it as a group home and application for a license was sent to Lansing.

A routine request for information to the township from the service contractors alerted the neighborhood before official notice was sent from Lansing that the application had been received.

Worried that the home might cause new problems similar to those experienced with walkaways from Northville State Hospital nearby on Seven Mile, residents asked Northville Township Supervisor Donald Thomson to arrange a meeting with state and local officials.

At that informal meeting July 8 residents and township officials told representatives of the placement unit, the license applicant and state officials that the high concentration of institutional lands in the township meant the community was "doing its share" and that they found location of group home so close to the hospital an act insensitive to their concern.

Walkaways from the state hospital have averaged over one per day and residents have reported finding mental patients staring in their windows, coming into their homes, and wandering through their neighborhoods. One escapee stands accused of murdering an elderly woman in the township.

NRTC is near the hospital on Seven Mile and placement unit officials' attempts to explain that the retarded residents being placed in the community were not mentally ill nor dangerous failed to placate residents.

The basic reasons for dropping the license application, according to Starwas, were:

"One, was the high concentration of institutions along Seven Mile Road. We felt residents had a legitimate argument in saying they had done their share. Two, they do have a walkaway problem from the state hospital and, although that is not us, it is a valid concern of the people in the neighborhood," she said.

"We are still looking for community placement homes in Northville Township," Starwas said, "but that would be on the west side of the township where they don't have those problems."

Alcohol abuse is topic

Effects of alcohol on the mind, body and lives of people will be discussed in a three-session program in August sponsored by the 35th District Court and the Northville Jaycees.

All three sessions will be held at 8 p.m. at the 35th District Court, second floor, Plymouth City Hall, 201 South Main.

Dr. Frank Hollingsworth, Ph.D., will speak August 5 on "Pharmacology of Alcohol," covering physical effect on the body.

August 12 he will discuss "Progression of Alcohol," the disease concept.

August 19 a panel discussion on how alcohol affected the panelists' lives and how Alcoholics Anonymous or Alanon helped them will be conducted by two members of AA and two members of Alanon.

The sessions are open to the public with anyone curious about alcohol or alcoholism welcome to attend. Questions regarding treatment facilities in this area will be answered.

Sliger honored for service

The Northville Board of Education Monday unanimously approved a resolution recognizing the service of former board member Marjorie Sliger, who retired from the board June 30.

Sliger, who was elected to the board in 1976, was recognized by the board for her "four years of faithful and meritorious service in the Public Schools of this community."

"The unselfish time and effort expended by Marjorie Sliger will long be remembered and appreciated by the citizens, students and individual Board members of the School District," the resolution states.

The board will present a plaque to Sliger for her service.

She also received a Distinguished Award from the Michigan Association of School Boards.

Eight candidates run for four township trustee seats

A crowded field of eight candidates is vying for four seats as Northville Township trustees August 5. All eight are registered Republicans, so the winners in the primary earn four year terms on the board.

Only Jim Nowka of the four incumbent trustees is running for reelection. William Zapke is putting in a bid for supervisor, Susan Heintz is running unopposed for clerk and John Swienkowski was not running for any office when he resigned from the board in anger about a decision to drop a suit against HUD July 21.

Interviews with the candidates yielded the following profiles:

RICHARD E. ALLEN

Allen, 48, is a principal development engineer with Ford Motor Company, where he has worked 30 years. He earned his degree in mechanical engineering at Wayne State University in 1959.

He lives at 47000 Stratford Court. He and his wife Patricia have two sons.

Allen said he decided to make his first bid for public office because he has been displeased with the township board over the past few years.

"Sometimes you begin to wonder who is running the township," he said, "the board or the developers?"

He called for slower "more controlled development" in the township, particularly in regard to commercial developments. He objected to permitting a shopping center at Six Mile and Sheldon Roads because it was an "uncontrolled" proposal.

Allen said the biggest challenge facing the government over the next four years will be "making ends meet." He cited the probability that funding from the state and federal governments will be reduced and that he does not think "the voters are in the mood to pass any millage proposals."

Although he said he would be reluctant to request increased millage because of voter opposition, he said he is "not ready" to reveal specific budget items to be cut should an economic crisis develop. He said only that he had "some ideas."

Township residents, Allen said, have all the services they should expect today. "I am sure we could use some more police protection in the township," he said, "but I don't know where the money would come from."

Allen said he sees no need for any other services. "I have all the government I need, thank you," he said.

He spoke in favor of the decision to hire a business manager, noting that he sees more benefits to the professional manager proposal giving more authority to the hired director for township government.

Efficiency and cooperation are the primary benefits of the decision, he said. The business manager would set priorities for the day-to-day operations of the township, Allen said, with policy set by the board and supervisor.

He said the city and township, although separate entities that should remain that way, should take advantage of every opportunity to cooperate when it is in their mutual interests, citing the recreation and library programs as examples.

C. JAMES ARMSTRONG

Armstrong, 56, is vice president of Russell Filtration, a Dearborn firm. His education was acquired through Creighton University, the University of Michigan and the United States Army Air Force.

He lives at 44477 Thornapple Lane. The 11-year township resident and wife Linda have five children — two married, two at Michigan State University and one in Northville High School.

Armstrong has been a member of the Northville Recreation Commission the past four years and chairman one. He is also associated with the junior baseball and football associations and has coached youth league baseball.

A member of the Northville Republican Club and Hump Pilots Association, his previous activity in elective office comprised 12 years as a member of the Allen Park Board of Education with two years as president.

He was prompted to run for trustee, Armstrong said, because he believes he has an understanding of how the government should operate. He said he offers the ability to work with people and examine issues objectively.

Demands for increased services, Armstrong said, will necessitate increased tax millage.

"No one likes to increase taxes," he said, "but, when people demand better services they had best be prepared to pay for them."

He said he supports the proposed .5 mill increase for fire services. He also supported the recently-defeated recreation millage proposal. Armstrong said he thinks people would be more willing to support millage issues if the board presented a united front in detailing why it thinks the tax increase necessary and how the added income would be used.

He would like to see continued expansion in the township, without overcommercialization. Primary development in the future should be residential, he added. The addition of some light industrial development to expand the township's tax base also would be beneficial, he said.

The decision to hire a business manager was a good one, he said, because it gives residents a full-time professional administrator to take requests to, attracts more qualified candidates for the posts of supervisor and clerk and provides continuity between governments.

Once an advocate of annexation, Armstrong said he no longer believes it would be suitable for either township or city. He now opposes a shift to charter township status because "the people's voice can be heard more clearly with this (general law township) form of government."

THOMAS L.P. COOK

Cook, 46, is a retired U.S. Navy Lieutenant Commander now working as a development engineer with the power train and chassis division of Ford Motor Company.

His bachelor's degree from the U.S. Naval Academy was earned in 1957. In 1977, he earned a master's degree in public administration at Golden Gate University. His major was in local, state and federal governments and budgeting processes.

The Vietnam veteran fighter pilot has lived at 42672 Steeple View since November 1978. He and his wife Judie have three children. He is vice president of Whisperwood Homeowners Association and attends township meetings as the group's spokesman. He is a current member of the Society of Experimental Test Pilots, Retired Officers Association and a past member of the Elks and Knights of Columbus.

His experience in earning his master's in public administration encouraged his interest in local government, Cook said, and he thinks his high grades in the program should encourage voter confidence in his abilities.

The biggest challenge facing the government over the next four years, Cook said, will be "trying to keep Northville Township a community of homeowners."

Development should proceed with residential zoning, Cook said, and business and commercial development should follow only where there is a demand created for them by new residents.

Services in the township, Cook said, are more than adequate and he does not foresee a need for increased taxes to support them.

"I can't believe how good it is living in the township," he said. "More people moving into new residential sites should increase the tax base sufficiently to cover increased costs."

He does support the request for .5 mill in added property taxes to fund fire protection.

The business manager to be hired for the township is a good decision, Cook said, so long as no current member of the board is hired for the job. He said a manager is needed to coordinate the operation of the government and set priorities.

"I see an awful lot of squabbling over minor things in township hall while the important matters are ignored," Cook said. A manager might solve those problems, he said.

He cited as an example his perception that township government has done little to address citizen concern about walkaways for Northville State Hospital.

"Somebody has got to get the state's attention and let them know we don't like walkaways," Cook said.

J. RICHARD JOHNSON

Johnson, 38, works in public relations, civic affairs and marketing for the National Bank of Detroit.

He earned his bachelor's degree in communications at the University of Miami, his master's in business administration at the University of Detroit and a juris doctorate from the Detroit College of Law.

The 10-year township resident now lives in Highland Lakes at 42048 Queene Anne Court. He and his wife Dorothy have one daughter.

He is a member of the Business Education Alliance and its Clergy and Business Dialogue Committee. He also is a member of the advisory board to the League of Women Voters "Women and Mortgage, Credit" project.

Johnson said he was prompted to run for trustee by a belief that every citizen should be involved with local government and, since he has not been involved with elective politics before, he has no preconceived notions.

"I don't think professional politicians, those who would make their living in politics, should be involved with township government," he said.

Skills he has acquired in business, law, communications and management should be valuable assets as a trustee, Johnson said.

A business manager for the township is a good idea, Johnson said, though he questions the quality of applicants for the $22,000 annual salary. He added the caveat that the manager system makes it important for the board to exert its control over the government, keeping an eye on the manager's activity.

Planning growth over the next four years is the biggest challenge facing township officers elected this year, Johnson said.

He would not call a halt to development, he said, but would be selective in changing zoning from the master plan and approving projects.

Commercial development must be located close to residential demand, Johnson said, and not too close to other commercial zones.

"Look what happened on Seven Mile Road," he said. "There are two shopping centers there and neither is prospering. The board wasn't watching what it was doing."

Further multiple housing development will be needed, he said, as inflation pushes the cost of single family homes out of reach for more people.

Although people demand fire and police services, Johnson said, they seem unwilling to pay for them. He supports the proposed .5 mill increase to pay for fire services that may lose federal and state support.

tative for Sun Oil Company's Southfield offices. His bachelor's degree is from Alma College.

He has been a trustee six years, is former chairman and a current member of the township planning commission, former chairman of the zoning board of appeals, is a director with the Northville Township Economic Development Corporation (EDC) and

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

Wine can compliment any meal in a delightful way. The first consideration in choosing a wine is to find one that tastes best to you. If you are not too familiar with wines, there are some general guidelines that might help. For instance, a light, white wine is delightful with light shellfish meals or egg dishes. A light white wine will not overwhelm the taste of clams, oysters, soufflé or an omelette. On the other hand, if serving a heavier fish, or white meat, a heavier white wine will not be overwhelmed by the taste of the food.

To help match wines to your particular dishes seek advice from our knowledgeable people at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. We are always happy to discuss the proper selection, preparation and serving of wine with you. Hours: 9 a.m.-10 p.m. Mon thru Sat, Noon-8 p.m. Sun.

WINE WISDOM:
Semi-sweet white wines tend to go better with rich, white meat dishes than with acid dishes such as clams, broiled lobster or shrimp.

Township trustee race draws first-time candidates

former member of the community recreation commission

He coaches junior baseball, soccer and basketball. He has lived in the area 14 years, now residing at 15707 Bradner Road. He and his wife Bette Lynn have four children.

Nowka said he was prompted to run for reelection because he is not entirely satisfied with the government's operation over the past few years and feels his knowledge of the problems could help in solving them.

He said he is concerned that the community has grown too large for the township government in its present form. Better administrative direction is needed, Nowka said. He said that was why he voted to create a business manager post to coincide with the beginning of the term of the government being chosen by the voters.

He said he sees the business manager hiring as the first step toward acquiring a professional township manager with the training, experience and salary demands that implies.

One of the biggest challenges facing the township will be to make the business manager system work while addressing the economic crunch sure to come with reduced state and federal revenue sharing and the virtual certainty of some tax shift or cut measure being passed by the voters in November.

Most endangered by these economic pressures, Nowka said, is the fire department and he supports passage of a .5 mill increase to give the department its own guaranteed budget for the first time.

He called it a "political realism" that citizens oppose tax increases but said he thinks they can be convinced to pay more if they see that services will have to be cut.

Monies to buy land for the recreation program will be needed soon, also, he said, because the program has never had money to deal with the physical plant used for recreation.

Planners and trustees have to "really look down the line" when approving rezoning requests, Nowka said, making careful referral to the master plan of land use and considering the timing of commercial developments in relation to nearby residential building.

E. FREDERICK PETERSON

Peterson, 49, is business manager at Schoolcraft College. He has a bachelor's degree in business administration from the University of Rhode Island and a master's in educational administration from the University of Hartford. He has done further post-graduate work at Eastern Michigan University.

The 11 year township resident lives at 18786 Jamestown Circle. He and his wife Mary have two children, now grown.

Peterson has been an elected township constable and was later appointed to complete the term of another constable. He also has been a member of the township police reserve and chaired the drive to pass millage for police services.

He said he believes his experience in industry and in public institutions will help him address the concerns of residents about township operations.

Financial concerns will crop up during the next four years, Peterson said, and addressing them will be a major challenge. He said he thinks increased millage is going to be needed and that it would be incumbent on the board to run the government as efficiently as possible to assure voters they are getting their money's worth from their taxes.

As a growing community, Peterson said, Northville Township should be able to address the problems all local governments will face so long as "good, strong leadership" is applied.

He favors the business manager approach to township government as a step toward greater efficiency, he said.

He placed himself in the middle ground between those who oppose further building in the township and those who push for rapid development.

More commercial and multiple residential developments are probable, Peterson said, but that does not mean the board should approve every rezoning request for those purposes.

"I don't think we need to be just buried in multiples," Peterson said. "Some move to multiples is bound to occur with the rising cost of housing but each should be considered individually."

He said the township is facing a period in which a lot of important decisions are to be made and he hopes he "can make a contribution."

WESLEY A. ROGALSKI

Rogalski, 36, works for Western Electric Company in Detroit as a central office supply installer.

He has studied criminal justice at Schoolcraft and Madonna colleges. The seven year resident lives at 42770 First, in the southeast corner of the township. Rogalski is a member of the Northville Republican Club and is a precinct delegate. He is single.

He conducted an unsuccessful campaign for trustee in 1976. He said he is running again out of a belief that the township board should be made up of a wide variety of people from different parts of the community with a range of occupations and incomes.

Rogalski also mentioned a budding interest in politics and a desire to get involved as reasons for his candidacy.

Although he recognizes the financial pressures on the township budget, Rogalski said, he would be "hesitant to press" for higher taxes unless they could be proven absolutely necessary to meet the service demands of the residents.

"I think we should get the most we can for every tax dollar that comes in," Rogalski said.

He believes the citizenry will pass the .5 mill tax increase request for fire protection. Rogalski said most residents demand good police and fire protection and are willing to pay for it when shown it's necessary.

A similar situation may occur in 1981 when the 1.5 mills levied for police services comes up for renewal, he said. If people really want improved police protection, Rogalski noted, they will have to pay for it.

He is supporting genuine tax cut measures on the November ballot, he said, but he sees most of the proposals merely as shifts of the tax burden from property to sales and income.

A business manager will coordinate and add efficiency to the government while the supervisor and the rest of the board will retain the final say on all issues, Rogalski said, so he supports the revised structure for township government.

Development should follow the master plan for land use with careful consideration of all multiple and commercial zoning requests, he said.

Applied properly, he said, the plan could reduce the impact of financial constraints by expanding the tax base.

He emphasized his desire to have the township board listen to the citizenry more closely. Rogalski said he thinks a board loaded with engineering, law and business professionals does not understand the problems faced by the average homeowner. He would be a more approachable government representative, he said.

LEONT. SYLVESTRE

Sylvestre, 38, is a sales engineer for LeBlond Machine Tool of Southfield. He attended Wayne State University as a management major.

He is a member of the community recreation commission, two term past president of the Grandview Acres Homeowners Association, and a youth baseball and women's softball coach.

Sylvestre is a member of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers, the Northville Kiwanis and Plymouth Elks.

He resides at 19525 Maxwell. He and his wife Jackie have four children. They have lived in the township 11 years.

He was prompted to run, Sylvestre said, because he has been "somewhat on the fringe of things" for some years now and has attended more township board meetings than he has missed since he came here.

His greatest asset as a trustee, he said, would be his ability to "weigh possible solutions to problems and listen to the people to come up with solutions that please the great majority."

Growth of the township will have to be "very carefully monitored" over the next few years, Sylvestre said. Along with the need he perceives for millage to fund recreation service, renewal of police millage next year and overseeing the developments at Wayne County Child Development Center, there is a list of challenges to be met by the incoming board.

He supports addition of .5 mills for fire protection.

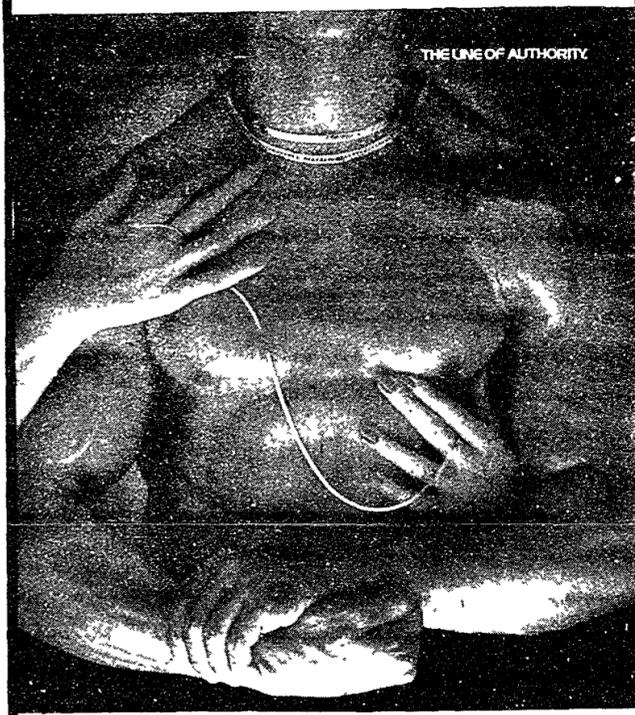

With the exception that he wishes the township could pay more money, Sylvestre is in accord with the business manager plan. Setting a definite job description for the manager and setting up a strong precedent for the relationship between manager and board in the first term will be an important task, he added.

In planning future growth, Sylvestre said, he is basically in accord with the master plan for land use, noting that it includes no schedule for when development is to take place. "I think we definitely have needs for some commercial, some office and some industrial zoning," he said. "I'm opposed to strip zoning and to the development of commercial centers simply because they are proposed. We should not grant rezoning to the first developer who asks for it, in other words. We should wait until a demand for commercial development is shown and then get the best, most attractive development we can."

Cherry Picking

When babysitter Debbie Frederick takes care of the kids, it's not sitting at home watching TV while the kids run loose. It's doing things together. One of her most recent sittings took her and the kids to Foreman's Orchards, located on West Seven Mile, just west of Northville. Then she let them loose to pick sweet and sour cherries. Jennifer Brulb seems a little distraught in the bottom photo, right, with an empty pail while Christy Monczka, upper left, seems to have found what she was seeking. The two of them had a job just separating the squashed cherries from the good ones, since most of their "picking" came from the ground. But cherries they did find as Bryan Monczka pours his batch into Christy's with Jennifer looking on. Maybe Mom will bake a pie when they get home.

City joins Watershed Council

The City of Northville officially joined the Rouge River Watershed Council Monday as city council voted unanimously to do so.

The council had heard a presentation in January by Marcie Colling, executive director, on work of the group and it had indicated it probably would join in the new fiscal year. Fee is $500 to become an active member of the council of communities cooperating for improved water resources. The city plans to appoint a delegate and alternate to the watershed council. It also is seeking applications from interested citizens who would like to serve on zoning and other local boards.

Democrat Peterson fighting to oppose Broomfield

Michigan's 19th Congressional District needs more aggressive representation in Washington than it is receiving from William Broomfield, according to L.R. Peterson.

Peterson, an ordained minister who resides in Birmingham, is one of three candidates for the Democratic nomination for the 19th Congressional seat who will square off in the August 5 primary.

"There's more to being a Congressman than sending out birthday cards and computerized questionnaires," says Peterson of Broomfield who has held the seat for the past 24 years.

"I like Bill Broomfield personally, but the facts are that he has a sorry record in the area of constructive legislation.

"I feel a Congressman should be a problem-solver. Bill Broomfield doesn't do that."

Peterson is making his second bid for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 19th District. He was defeated by Betty Collier in the 1978 primary, and Collier subsequently lost to Broomfield in the November general election.

Peterson, who is employed as director of development for Presbyterian Villages, said his primary interest is in the area of human services.

A graduate of Western Michigan University, he earned a Masters of Theology from McCormick Seminary in New York and has been awarded a Doctor of Divinity by Alma College.

He was pastor of Grandale Presbyterian Church in Detroit for seven years before becoming pastor of Northbrook Presbyterian Church in Birmingham, a position he held for 15 years before stepping down in 1978 to run for Congress.

Following his defeat in the primary, he became director of development for Presbyterian Villages, a series of planned retirement communities.

Peterson cites his work in the ministry as a qualification for Congress.

"First of all, it demonstrates a high commitment to human needs," he says. "A minister's job involves working with people and for people and being able to persuade others of your point of view.

"In that respect, I don't feel the jobs of a minister and a Congressman are that much different. A Congressman has to be concerned about people's needs, and he has to be able to persuade others to perceive those needs and move to solve them."

Although he does not seem a "typical politician," Peterson says he does not consider "politician" a dirty word.

"I believe in the political process and the two-party system," he says. "If a politician's job is to tell people what they want to hear, then I'm not a politician.

"I tell people what I believe is true and what I see as the best solutions to problems.

"I am an idealist," he continues, "but not in the distorted sense of being someone who believes in never-never land. I have ideals that I believe are attainable, but I'm also a pragmatist in understanding how to make those ideals a reality."

In addition to his criticism of Broomfield, Peterson also is critical of Congress in general for lacking a commitment to human needs and failing to implement effective measures to meet those needs.

For example, he says there has been no real commitment from Congress for dealing with the energy problem other than the Excess Profits Tax and Synthetic Fuels Bill.

"We're surrounded by energy — wind, solar, shale — and yet the Congress has not made a commitment to develop those sources of energy. The Congress must be willing to spend money through subsidies and tax credits that will encourage development of alternate energy sources."

Peterson expressed the following opinions on other subjects:

• Auto Industry: Peterson says he is confident the American automobile industry will turn itself around and return to health, but he opposes long-term governmental intervention.

"We have to be careful that the cure is not worse than the disease," he says. "I oppose tariff walls that will destroy free trade on a world-wide basis. We tried that before and it didn't work. That's how we got the depression of the Thirties.

"I think the automobile industry failed to realize that the American public would not continue to buy gas-guzzlers as the Japanese manufacturers did five years ago.

"The American auto manufacturers are capable of turning themselves around and return to health, but there will be a tight period of transition.

Government has to be supportive during the transition period by providing guaranteed loans and tax incentives. But the responsibility for healing the auto industry has to rest with the industry itself."

• Inflation: "Inflation always has been and always will be a fact of life to some degree," he says. "The problem now is that inflation is beyond our capacity to cope with it."

The answers to inflation, says Peterson, are more productivity and consumer conservation.

"People won't want to hear it, but they are going to have to come to realize that they're going to have to do without certain things. It seems that all our luxuries have become necessities, but that is going to have to change."

• Military Spending: Peterson says he's opposed to military spending in principle, but is realistic enough to know that the U.S. must have a sufficient deterrent to nuclear war.

"I reject the concept of limited warfare because it will eventually escalate into nuclear war," he says. "We must have a sufficient deterrent to prevent other nations from considering the possibility of starting a war."

• The Draft: "I'm opposed to a draft per se, but I'm not opposed to a draft registration," he says.

Instead of a draft registration for military purposes, Peterson would prefer to see a human services index. "Young people — men and women — have an obligation to perform some sort of governmental service, whether in the Peace Corps, hospitals or some other area of human needs," he says.

"The government has provided their education, and I don't think it's inappropriate for the government to call on our huge pool of young manpower to assist in providing human services."

OSA now independent

A new law establishing the Office of Services to the Aging (OSA) as an independent agency within the Department of Management and Budget (DMB) was lauded by Senator Robert Geake, R-Northville, as "a move that will put Michigan in the forefront in promoting the benefits of senior citizens." Geake was a prime supporter of the legislation and was officially recognized by OSA Director Peter Kok for his efforts.

Under the new law, the Office of Services to the Aging will establish its own budget, set its own policy, and maintain its own management and office personnel. Previously OSA employees were part of the Department of Management and Budget civil service employee roster and could be moved within the DMB.

"This resulted in OSA losing valuable people who have been trained and were familiar with programs for the elderly," Geake explained. "Now the OSA will be able to retain and maintain a staff that is attuned to the special needs of our senior citizens."

Senator Geake explained that the OSA provides vital services to the elderly of Michigan.

"The OSA promotes programs in nutrition, transportation, and employment that measurably improves the lives and conditions of Michigan's 1.3 million older citizens and benefit all residents of the state by putting to use energies of the most experienced people among us," Geake said.

REV. LESTER CASE
 Memorial services were held at 4 p.m. Sunday for the Reverend Lester H. Case, 75, of Novi at Covenant Baptist Church in West Bloomfield where he had served as assistant minister from 1951 until retirement in 1973.

Mr. Case died July 16 at Botsford Hospital in Farmington Hills.

He was pastor emeritus of the church from 1973 until 1980. The minister had produced "Sounds of the New Life" on station WNIC in Dearborn from 1973 to 1980. He had attended Missionary Training Institute in Nyack, New York.

He was born in Binghamton, New York, on June 9, 1905, to Fred I. and Sarah (Harris) Case. He married the former Pauline Shoemaker who survives.

Private services preceded the memorial service with burial in Oakland Hills Cemetery in Novi. Memorials to the church are suggested.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Case leaves a son David and a sister Mrs. Fred (Lydia) Smith of Vestal, New York.

HANS PAUL LAHR
 A long-time resident of Northville Township, Hans Paul Lahr, 69, died Monday at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital following a long illness.

Despite the cancer that forced him to give up many of the activities in the community for which he earned the praise of citizens and officials, Mr. Lahr kept abreast of developments in Northville.

A member of the Northville Kiwanis Club, which made him an honorary member when his illness forced him to give up active participation, Mr. Lahr was a prime-mover in senior citizens activities here in years past.

Coordinator for activities for the aged, he was instrumental in developing a newsletter for senior citizens, for assisting Kiwanian John Steimel in the club's Golden Age discount program, for establishing a "Wheels on Meals" program in Northville, and for initiating the gardening program for senior citizens.

For years he was a promoter in the township in citizen efforts to correct sewer problems in the area south of Five Mile.

He was well known by many of the supervisors over the past years, primarily because of his tenacity in gaining attention and services for his section of the township.

Born September 22, 1910 in Germany, he also was a member of the Livonia Baptist Church and the Pioneer Club of Western Electric. He had retired from Western Electric several years ago.

Mr. Lahr was an excellent craftsman and artist, who excelled in woodwork and fly tying. Fishing was another of his pastimes.

Surviving him at his home at 15875 Maxwell is his wife, Lucille. Other survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Robert (Barbara) Runstrom and Judy Shouse, both of Plymouth; two sons, Paul of San Diego, California and Carl of Detroit; and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral service will be conducted Thursday at 1 p.m. from the Schrader Funeral Home in Plymouth, with the Reverend Alvin Clark of the Livonia Baptist Church officiating.

Burial will be in Parkview Memorial Cemetery.

EARL T. LaFONTAINE
 Funeral service for Earl T. LaFontaine, 55, of 18105 Jamestown Circle, will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of Victory Church where he was a member. Father Ronald Thurner will officiate.

Mr. LaFontaine died July 28 at Mt. Carmel Hospital.
 A resident of the community for five years, he had been a 30-year buyer in the steel industry, the last four years for Peninsular Steel.

He was born August 9, 1924, in Detroit to Telmond and Gertrude (Rabidoux) LaFontaine.

He leaves his wife Noreen; children Mrs. Carl (Diane) Anderson, Earl J., Mrs. David (Amy) Miedeland Marie LaFontaine-Ray; a sister Mrs. Elaine Hamlin; and four grandchildren.

Burial is to be in Rural Hill Cemetery. Arrangements are by Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home.

IRMA M. SHOEBRIDGE
 Service for Irma M. Shoebridge, 81, a life resident of the area who had lived on West Seven Mile, will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at Casterline Funeral Home with Pastor Leonard Koening of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Plymouth officiating.

Entombment is to be in Rural Hill mausoleum.

Mrs. Shoebridge died July 27 at Whitehall Convalescent Home in Novi. She was born October 13, 1898, in Salem to Rudolph and Emma (Wollgast) Kehrl. In 1950 she had married Chester Shoebridge who died in 1960. Mrs. Shoebridge was a retired Ford Motor Company employee.

She leaves a brother Roy Kehrl of Northville. Mrs. Shoebridge was preceded in death by a sister Mrs. Nora Dudley.

LINDA JOYCE LOUTON
 Service for Linda Joyce Louton, 37, a 30-year resident of the Northville area who had moved to Brighton four years ago, was held at 8 p.m. July 29 at Casterline Funeral Home in Northville.

Mrs. Louton was a member of the Church of Christ of Brighton, Pastor Richard Burgess and Brad Macaul officiated. Cremation followed at Evergreen Cemetery.

A homemaker, Mrs. Louton died July 27 at McPherson Hospital in Howill.

She was born May 19, 1943, in Detroit to Blaine and Eileen (Baugman) Hicks and married David Louton who survives.

She also leaves her parents of Canton; children Dawn, Connie, Kim, James, Duane and Douglas; brothers Stanley of Highland and Frank of Hastings; and a sister Mrs. Sue Sow of Howill.

CLEVE W. STROH
 Funeral service for Cleve William Stroh, 67, of 8779 Napier, a 30-year resident of the community, was held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at First United Methodist Church of Northville where he was a member.

The Reverend Charles Jacob of Wayne officiated. Burial followed in Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens in Novi.

Mr. Stroh died July 26 at St. Mary Hospital after an illness of three-and-a-half years.

He had retired from Ford Motor Company with 37 years' service.

He was born October 30, 1912, in Mt. Carmel, Illinois, to James I. and Esther (Hinshall) Stroh. He was an alumnus of McKendree Methodist College of Illinois.

He leaves his wife, the former Ruth Bunge; daughters Mrs. Sara (Saly) Nitzel of Wayne and Mrs. Vicki Bell of Plymouth; sisters Esther Leucht and Minnie Holbrook of Illinois and Ruth Paine of Connecticut; brothers Gilbert of Illinois and Arthur of Atlanta, Michigan; and five grandchildren.

Arrangements with visitation were by Casterline Funeral Home.

Guthrie will be guest at bluegrass festival

Folk, bluegrass, and country music fans interested in a little foot stompin' for a good cause, can start gathering up their kin and heading for the 4th Annual Folk and Bluegrass Festival for Huntington's Disease.

The festival, to be held August 9th and 10th at the Northville High School football field, will feature some of the areas best folk and bluegrass groups, as well as some nationally known musicians.

Also, a special guest to this years benefit will be Marjorie Guthrie, widow of folk singer Woody Guthrie, who died of Huntington's disease in 1965.

Mrs. Guthrie, founder and chairwoman of the Committee to Combat Huntington's Disease (CCHD), will be on hand both days of the festival.

Huntington's disease, a genetic disorder which deteriorates the nervous system, often strikes people in the prime of life.

Tom Rice, owner of the Gitfiddler Music Store and sponsor of the festival, lost a sister to the dreaded disease in 1974.

He has been putting on the benefit since 1976 to raise money for the Huntington's Disease Foundation.

"Last years festival brought in $2,000," Rice said, "and the year before we raised $3,500."

However, Rice said this year he hopes to raise about $50,000.

"With the groups we have at the price we're offering plus a lot of generous hearts, I think we can reach that goal," he said.

Nationally-known bluegrass groups Blue Velvet and John Hunley's Kentuckians will be at the festival August 9th, as well as folk singer Dean Rutledge, Gitfiddlers Neil Woodward, Phoenix with Matt Watroba, local bluegrass bands Sunrise and New Cut Grass, and the Ruff Water String Band, which will play old-time mountain music.

Josh White, Jr., who was originally scheduled to play at the festival August 10th, had to cancel his appearance. Phil Marcus Esser will take his place.

Other performers at the August 10th concert will be: folk singer Ron Conden of the "Hot Fudge" television show; Northville's own Michigan Consolidated Grass Company band; the recording group Calico; Paul Tucker and Hired Guns, a country group from Farmington; Livingston County Grass; the Sharon Hollow String Band; Wes Linenkugel playing the hammer dulcimer; Banjo Betsy; and the Cobblestone Country Dancers.

"If we find the time we'll try to open the stage for people at the festival," Rice said, "sometimes your best musicians are in the audience."

Rice said he is urging people to bring blankets, picnic baskets, beverages, frisbees, footballs, etc., and make a day of the festival.

$3 is being asked for adult admission and $1 for children 12 or younger.

Free parking will be provided at the high school in the lot on the south side of Eight Mile. If there is an overflow, alternate parking will be made available.

Tickets will be sold at the festival, but are also on sale now at The Gitfiddler Music Shop, 302 East Main; and the Cap n' Cork Party Pantry, 40644 Five Mile.

"The festival is to help people become aware that Huntington's disease exists," Rice said. "I think it's going to be magic."

Persons interested in further information can contact Rice at 349-9420.

ZAPKE ★ Preserve Township Government ★

Active residents dominate township supervisor race

John MacDonald

Larry VanderMolen

time township supervisor. The assignment of routine chores to the manager, he said, will leave the now-part-time supervisor free to concentrate on setting policy with the township board.

His qualifications, he said, also include his legal training and other background.

"If anybody can do anything for the township, what they can do is provide leadership," MacDonald said. "Once a strong advocate of annexation to township to city, MacDonald said the township and its government have grown too much to make the arrangement feasible and he no longer supports annexation."

He does support cooperative agreements between the communities when it is beneficial to both. He cited recreation and library services as programs of mutual benefit. Future development of township land would proceed slowly, he said, because "with growth come the problems." Rapid development strains fire and police services before the tax base can support increased services without an increase, he said.

"We're primarily a bedroom community, and I don't think anybody particularly wants to shift away from that," he said.

He said he would prefer to see commercial development only after a need is established by future residential development.

He is in accord with the decision to hire a business manager, MacDonald said, as "a step in the right direction."

He expressed fears that the $22,000 the township can afford for a manager may not attract applicants of the best quality, but said he was "in favor of the concept" so long as careful selection is made.

If the proper preparation is done in defining the manager's role, he said, with accountability to both the supervisor and the board, the manager system could create a more efficient, financially responsible government.

MacDonald supports the 5 mill tax increase request for fire protection, although he said he thinks it may not be sufficient to cover near future needs of the department.

Federal and state revenues account for a substantial part of the township's general budget, he explained, and those funds may be decreased or eliminated soon. Tax proposals on the November ballot also pose a threat to township revenues, MacDonald continued, and "it would be good to have some millage designated for fire" so that the total operation does not have to depend on a depleted general fund.

The general financial problems facing all local governments in the next few years may require increased taxes, he said, but he is not certain the voters will approve what is needed.

The situation will have to be dealt with as it occurs, he said, because the problems that arise are not easily foreseen.

"It may be a difficult stretch. If anyone has all the answers to those problems, he is not running for supervisor in Northville Township. It's going to be a matter of doing what you can with what you have."

representation of the viewpoint of "the majority of taxpayers" at township meetings as other qualifications for office.

He criticized the present government as "secretive" and said he would conduct a more open administration. He claimed influence with county and state officials and said the township supervisor should be willing to contact the upper levels of government more frequently.

"We could be a strong township and rather than meandering along as we have been we could let state and county officials know what they think of what they are doing," VanderMolen said. "That could go a long way to bring about solutions like a fence at the state hospital."

Calling himself a "fiscal conservative," VanderMolen said he is basically opposed to any increase in taxes unless approved by the voters for a specific purpose.

The upcoming proposal of a .5 mill tax increase for fire services "will probably be needed" so he supports it, VanderMolen said.

A member of the township manager study committee, he supports the decision to hire a business manager. The format will "eliminate much of the secrecy" in government, he said. He said he knows "all the right places to advertise" for a high-quality business manager at the $22,000 salary offered. Development of the township should be strictly controlled, VanderMolen said.

"The township should not be expanding so much into commercial development," VanderMolen said. Residential development should take priority, he said, and any commercial development should be of an attractive pattern, including landscaping and planting to present a more appealing look.

The elderly village proposed for the Wayne County Child Development Center land east of Sheldon Road would be an appropriate development in the township with the added attraction of placing currently untaxable lands on the tax rolls, he said.

State and county lands within the township must yield to more local control, he said. That means the community must make its strength known to those governments.

VanderMolen said he is "very turned off with Wayne County" and would try to make it more responsive to township concerns. County services such as snow removal are "practically invisible," he said, and the supervisor should be lodging complaints with the county commission.

He would be opposed to any effort to change from the present form of government to a charter township form, he said. The provisions for a charter township give the government power to act without the approval of the voters to increase taxes and acquire land, VanderMolen said, and he thinks citizens should have a right to vote on such issues.

His greatest advantage over his opponents, VanderMolen said, is more extensive knowledge of the workings of government and better acquaintance with people "who are on top of things" at higher levels of government. His greater activity in the political arena gives him access to more people, he said.

a full-time job," he said. Under the recent decision to hire a business manager, the supervisor's post was reduced to a part-time one with a reduction in salary. Zapke is one of the few candidates for any township position who is opposed to the business manager form of government. He voted against it, with Clerk Clarice Sass, when it was approved 5-2 by the board of trustees.

He said he fears the post could become a "political plum," that "you can't get a person of those talents for $22,000" and he does not think the township is so big, as yet, that it needs the manager.

He said he thinks the present organizational problems could be resolved with a full-time supervisor making an effort. Some recent problems were related to personality conflicts, he said, which he does not expect to continue. He would be willing to work with the business manager form, if elected, he said, despite his opposition.

"The biggest thing that's going to face me as supervisor is to deal with people's demands for better services as we face a financial crunch," Zapke said.

A rising rate of police calls, and an overworked department, means the police department will have to grow, he said. A fire station on the west side of town also is needed, he added.

"Everybody deserves police and fire protection," he said. He supports the request for 5 mills in taxes to fund fire services and he foresees a request for increased police millage when the current 1.5 mills comes up for renewal next year.

In future development, Zapke said, "I would rather see us become a West Bloomfield as opposed to a Garden City. People have shown a desire and drive to make this a bedroom community. Commercial strip developments like those in Garden City would only detract from that."

Zapke said increased residential development will produce an "inevitable demand for commercial services." These should be attractive developments housing local business as opposed to "car dealerships, K-Mart's and bowling alleys," he said.

He also supports development of a light industrial zone at the southwest corner of the township as a way to expand the tax base without detracting from the basic character of the community.

He pledged to make an effort toward "getting people involved in township government." He would move the board of trustees meeting around to different neighborhoods in an effort to attract more citizen participation, he said.

"Too often we react to an issue after it is too late to react," he said. "I would like to see that changed by having the government communicate better what it is doing."

He is opposed to any effort to form a charter township form of government, he said.

Zapke said another advantage he has over his opponents is "connections." He once worked as a local campaign manager for Governor Milliken, he said, and is involved with Jaycees statewide. Those acquaintances could prove valuable, he said.

Registration begins soon

Three advance walk-in registration dates for the fall semester have been scheduled by Schoolcraft College.

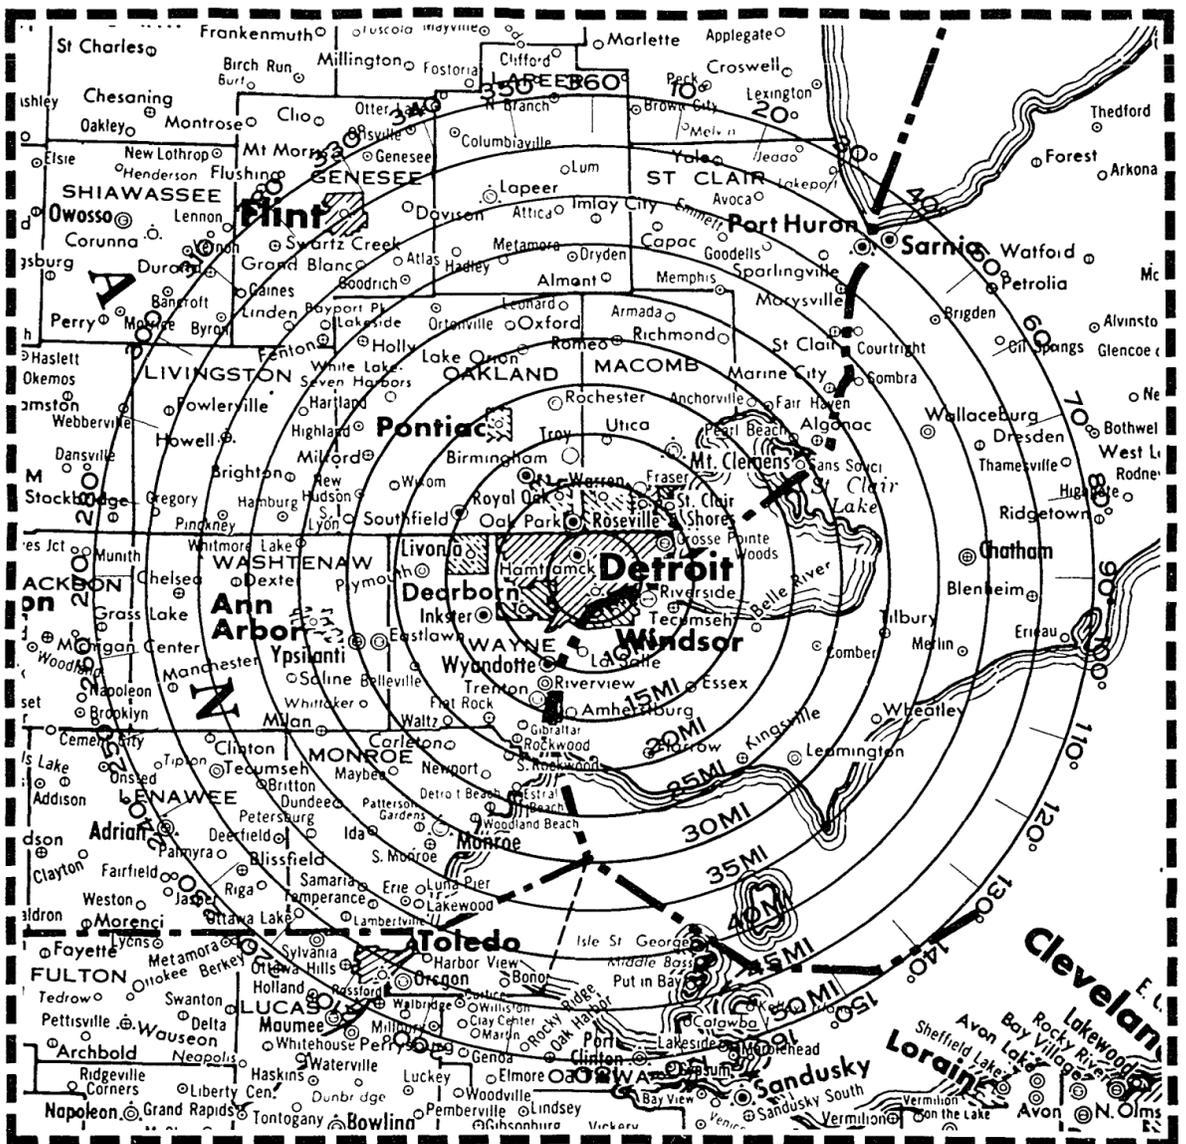

The advance registration dates will be August 7 from 1-8 p.m., August 16 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and August 20 from 1-9 p.m. All registration will be held in the Waterman Campus Center.

Classes for both career and transfer programs will be taught at Plymouth-Canton High School, 8415 Canton Center Road, the Schoolcraft College Center at Garden City, 6701 Harrison Street, and at the main campus.

On Campus "specials" allow students to earn nine hours of credit on Fridays and an additional six hours on Saturdays. "Early Bird Specials" also are scheduled at 7 a.m. for persons on their way to or from work. Special evening combinations also are available.

Persons 60-years-old or older may attend credit classes at Schoolcraft this fall without having to pay for tuition. The new tuition waiver applies to all persons, regardless of residence or retirement status, and was made possible by Public Act 5 of 1980. To qualify, individuals should complete the required form in the Office of Instruction in the Administration Building between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and until 5 p.m. Fridays.

This map—courtesy of WOMC FM104—is specifically designed to help you pinpoint the location of reported tornadoes. So please, carefully choose—in advance—a safe tornado shelter. Then paste this map up on the wall.

When a tornado threatens, listen to WOMC FM104 for exclusive, Accuweather reports and follow these basic safety rules:

- Stay away from windows, doors and outside walls. Protect your head.
- In homes and small buildings, go to the basement or to an interior part on the lowest level. Get under something sturdy.

- In schools, factories, shopping centers or other public places, move to pre-designated shelter areas. Interior hallways on lowest floors are best.
- In mobile homes or vehicles, leave them and go to more substantial shelter.
- If outdoors, and no shelter is nearby, lie flat in the nearest ditch or ravine and shield head with arms.

Tornado Watch: Tornadoes and severe thunderstorms are possible.
Tornado Warning: Tornado detected. Take shelter immediately.

Local votes spark primary

returned ballots in the city, 52 of them from senior citizens in Allen Terrace. In the township more than 450 absentee votes had been cast and more were coming in with every mail drop, according to deputy clerk Eunice Switzer.

Both city and township ballots in the partisan primary also will offer a choice of party nominees for the offices of representative to U.S. Congress, representative to Michigan's state legislature and county elected offices. Other ballot items include non-partisan circuit court judgeships and county proposals.

The partisan primary will allow voters to cast ballots only in one party, with no ticket splitting allowed.

In the 2nd U.S. Congressional District, which includes the township and the Wayne County portion of the city, Congressman Carl Pursell is facing token opposition in the Republican primary from Helen Gotowka of Dearborn Heights. Whoever gains the nomination will face Democrat Kathleen F. O'Reilly of Plymouth, unopposed in the primary, in November.

The city's second precinct Democratic voters, who reside in Oakland County, get a choice of three Democrats bidding for the right to oppose Republican William S. Broomfield in the 19th U.S. Congressional District. Either L.J. Peterson, James M. Pidgeon or Wayne E. Daniels will try to unseat Broomfield, unopposed in the primary, in November.

Two candidates are vying for the Democratic nomination to oppose state house 35th District Representative Republican Jack Kirksey in November. Ron Fisher, of Northville Township, is making his first bid for elective office against Barbara Sowers of Livonia. Kirksey is alone in the Republican primary.

In the city's second precinct, there is no primary opposition to incumbent Republican Richard Fessler nor his November opponent Democrat William T. Roberts.

Both Oakland and Wayne County voters will nominate partisan candidates for all county offices. Wayne County voters will choose three judges on a nonpartisan ballot to serve the Third Judicial Circuit Court, while Oakland voters choose judges for the Sixth Circuit Court.

Wayne County Proposal A, County Home Rule, also creates a slate of candidates for charter commissioner. Should the proposal pass, it would create a commission to revise county government. The nominees selected on the August 5 ballot would then appear in a November election of a 27-member charter commission.

Oakland County voters will be asked to renew .25 mill in property taxes allocated toward parks and recreation land in the county.

Funds threatened

and small contributions from the township general fund.

Increasing budget reduction measures from both the federal and state government threatens the continuation of the revenue sharing programs that have supported the fire department, prompting township officials' request for increased taxes.

Virtually all candidates for township office, and all current officers, are supporting the request. If the .5 mill increase is not passed, and the outside funding dries up, they say, either the fire department will have to be disbanded and services purchased from another community, or an excessive drain on the township general fund will create a fiscal crisis.

Township Fire Chief Robert Toms and his crew have been commended repeatedly by the board for holding costs down by purchasing used and damaged equipment and restoring it to use at minimal cost.

But, such measures would be insufficient in the face of the loss of federal and state monies, officials say.

A "yes" vote on the millage proposal would approve a .5 mill addition to the township's present 2.5 mill property tax levy for the next five years (1980-84).

One mill of the present rate goes toward township general operations and 1.5 mill toward police services. The income from the additional .5 mill would be earmarked exclusively for fire services.

One mill of tax is the equivalent of $1 for each $1,000 of property valuation. The half mill request would add 50 cents per $1,000 valuation to township property taxes.

Partisan ballot caution needed partisan part of the ballot.

Proposals are not partisan issues so Northville Township voters may vote on the proposed fire services millage increase regardless of partisan votes higher on the ballot. Similar situations exist with Wayne County Proposal A, which would create a commission to revise the county charter, and Oakland County Proposal A, which would increase county property taxes for use in park development.

Wayne County voters who say yes to the charter proposal should be careful not to split their partisan votes for charter commissioner.

Pollworkers in both township and city will be advised of the rules surrounding the partisan primary and will be able to advise voters with questions.

Polls open 7 a.m., close at 8 p.m.

Voters in Precinct One of the city of Northville, the Wayne County portion, vote at City Hall, 215 W. Main. Precinct Two and Three voters, Oakland County, will visit the polls at Amerman Elementary School.

Township voters registered in Precincts One and Three go to Moraine School, Precincts Two, Eight and Nine to Silver Springs School, Precincts Four and Seven to Meads Mill Junior High, Precinct Five polls are at the clubhouse in Kings Mill cooperative complex, and Precincts Six and 10 at Winchester School.

Elderly village plans aired

to 93 percent, increasing to first year, increasing to 93 percent in the next two years. The citizen said his personal experience in real estate development showed that housing complexes rarely reached 90 percent occupancy after five years.

Basile, whose firm has been involved in similar projects in other parts of the country, defended the projection based on a 1978 township EDC marketing study that showed high demand for elderly housing and on his past experience.

"Ninety percent is actually a conservative estimate," Basile said. "I know occupancy rates in regular apartment and townhouse complexes ranges from 65 to 80 percent but we're talking about a different sort of animal here. There are really long waiting lists for this type of housing in this area."

Basile said projections show the development would be an attractive investment only if maximum use of public funding — development block grants, issuance of low-interest bonds through the EDC and participation in HUD Section 8 rental subsidy programs — is used in conjunction with private funding by the developer.

About 25 percent, or 200 of the 1300 units, would be subsidized apartments, he said.

The EDC would maintain a non-profit equity share, Fitzpatrick said, to maintain enough control to make sure the development is of the sort foreseen by the planners involved.

No township investment would be needed if the development is accomplished through the EDC, he said. Once opened, the project could be expected to pay the township government about $57,000 a year in 2.5 mills of property taxes, Basile said. The Northville School District, with 42 mills, would receive slightly less than $1 million annually, his figures showed. Over the term of a land lease or mortgage, Fitzpatrick said, the county stands to gain between $2.3 and 5.8 million.

The development could create up to 750 temporary construction jobs and as many as 550 permanent jobs once complete.

Get all those shots soon, kids, state will require proof in fall

In accordance with the Michigan State Public Health Code, all preschool, head start, kindergarten, first grade and transfer students enrolled in Northville public schools, must present evidence of adequate immunization the first day of school.

The Michigan Department of Public Health requires students to have specific dosages of vaccines which include: four doses of DPT, (Diphtheria, Pertussis, Tetanus), three doses of polio and one dose each of measles, mumps and rubella.

Immunization history should be documented on one of the following:

—A school health appraisal form

—A Health Department Immunization Certificate —Note from physician on prescription pad or on letterhead stationery with date vaccines were administered.

—The parents or guardians copy of immunization record from physician or health provider.

A physician's statement indicating "complete" or "up to date" will not be acceptable to the Michigan Department of Health.

During the 1979-80 school year, grades 9-12 were evaluated and all students' immunizations were up-dated through the Michigan Immunization Catch-Up Program. This year grades seven, eight and nine will take part in this same program. The Wayne County Health Department will require all students in these grades to show at least one recent dose of DPT or DT, polio and one dose each of measles and rubella.

Waiver forms will be provided to each school to accommodate both medical and general exemptions from immunization.

The medical waiver must be signed by a physician or health provider and must indicate the vaccines which cannot be administered.

The general immunization waiver is designed for parents who object to some or all vaccines, who claim that immunizations are against their religious beliefs or have other strong objections to immunization. This waiver form must be signed and witnessed at the school office. It may not be mailed or sent home with the student.

Northville City Council Minutes

NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL MINUTES July 7, 1980

Mayor Vernon called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m.

ROLL CALL Present: Vernon, Ayers, DeRusha, Gardner, Absent: Johnston, exc.

MINUTES OF PREVIOUS MEETINGS The minutes of the Regular Meeting June 16, 1980 were approved with the following corrections:

Page 3, 5th paragraph, should read "Councilman DeRusha —"

Page 3, 10th paragraph, 1st sentence should read "John Sulison, Jaycees, mentioned the Township had already approved a $1,000 contribution from the Township."

Page 3, 11th paragraph, should read "The City Manager suggested he should talk to the Council and Township in January before the budgets are set so their requests may be considered prior to adopting the budget."

nothing had been reported back to him.

Mayor Vernon thanked the Police Chief for another fine report and asked that last year's monthly activity figures be included for a comparison basis.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS Mr. Wes Henrikson, 247 West Street mentioned he had received his tax bill and it showed an increase of 18.7% over last years.

The City Manager stated he would send him a copy of a letter which he sent to P. Callam, owner of the Fairbrook Apartments, explaining increase and the Headlee as it applies to governmental units' maximum authorized millage rate, and not the millage rate being levied if it is below the authorized rate.

Mr. Henrikson stated he was just commenting not complaining.

Also, in his discussions with Wes Henrikson it was mentioned the lot owners south would be interested in access to their property. He stated the City does have the authority and responsibility to put in a road if needed. He commented that Councilman DeRusha raised a good question.

Mayor Vernon asked Wes Henrikson if he would be willing to accept the responsibility to circulate a petition or to find out if the property owners would be receptive to City Council putting the road in. He directed Wes Henrikson to work with the City Manager on the wording for a petition. He stated the Council would take a look at the practicality of coming in from the South and if enough of the property owners were interested the City's decision should be made at that point in time.

R OUGE RE SEWER & WATER IMPROVEMENTS Communications from Dennis Roux re a design and engineering study for sanitary sewer and water in the Northville Estates Subdivision. It was his understanding that the City could have Mr. Penn do the design study, the cost of the working drawings would be $5,000 and the stake out work would be $2,500 which would be billed by Penn through the City to Roux. He further stated that the proposed sewer and water would service the vacant lots and approximately 10 or 12 existing homes for a total of approximately 50 sites in the north end and the design and size of the proposed lines would be such as to service the balance of the lots when service is needed.

The City Manager mentioned the City does not have to participate in the cost initially. He also mentioned three or four houses that fell in between. He stated they perhaps pay later when they tap in the future. He commented that what is proposed is the City would participate with D. Roux in the cost and he would proceed with his portion. The City would pay a small amount now. The City Manager commented that the City designs would not have to be completed until later.

MINUTES OF BOARDS & COMMISSIONS

The following Minutes were placed on file Northville Planning Commission Meeting, June 3, 1980, Northville Community Recreation Commission, June 11, 1980.

APPROVAL OF BILLS Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Gardner to approve the following bills:

GENERAL FUND — $56,130 10

MAJOR FUND — $3,773 29

LOCAL FUND — $2,456 70

EQUIPMENT FUND — $5,934 76

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT FUND — $37,958 90

SHARED SERVICES FUND — $4,970 87

RECREATION FUND — $25,252 26

PAYROLL FUND — $10,731 43 Motion Carried Unanimously.

POLICE REPORT — APRIL & MAY

It was noted that Officer James Marks was honored by the Michigan Heart Association for his service to the community.

Questions on the Police Report were answered by Chief Cannon. Mr. George Kohns, 473 W. Cady, stated he has had a petition to have the Rural Cemetery Gate closed and locked. He mentioned there have been things going on in the cemetery and specifically on July 4th. He has picked up all kinds of bottles and cans thrown on his property next door to the cemetery and reiterated he has repeatedly asked the gate be locked.

Mayor Vernon suggested the gates be locked and a sign, saying a key is available at the Police Department, be hung on the gate.

Mr. Kohns mentioned there was a van parked there on the 4th. Police Chief Cannon com-

AGENDA REVISIONS

Mayor Vernon commented on an editorial in the Record which dealt with City Council keeping people waiting to hear agenda items when they could be taken out of turn. He explained, Council has on occasions moved items up when there are people waiting in a particular one. Normally they do not have anybody show up for appointments. He mentioned with Council's agreement, since unlike many official bodies, Northville does not adopt an agenda. He would like, at this point on each agenda, to ask if anyone in the audience cares to speak on an agenda item, to move it up.

Mr. George Kohns, 473 W. Cady, on 14b asked if the City takes bids from everybody. He thinks the city has an obligation to buy from a taxpayer who has a business in town. He mentioned Ford's as one of our largest businesses.

The City Manager explained our two oldest police cars are Fords and the newest ones are bought through the State. He also explained that anything over $2,000 is mandatory to take bids to ask if anyone in the audience cares to speak on an agenda item, to move it up.

Mr. Kohns thanked Council for their time.

PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER ADOPTION OF AN ORDINANCE, TITLE 7, CHAPTER 14, CROSS CONNECTIONS

The City Attorney described the contents of the ordinance.

Mayor Vernon opened the public hearing and asked for any comments from the audience, there being none he closed the public portion of the hearing and asked for comments from Council.

Mayor Vernon commented, that as the City Attorney had stated, this ordinance is coming in line with federal requirements.

Motion by Councilman Gardner supported by Councilwoman Ayers to authorize the City Manager to proceed with the necessary agreement with Dennis Roux and Penn Engineering.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

FOR FIELD IMPROVEMENTS Mayor Vernon introduced Mark Hornung, Recreation Consultant, who was at the meeting to discuss the Ford Field Site Improvements preliminary cost estimates.

Mr. Hornung showed and explained the plans to Council. He mentioned three things which would have to be done prior to going out for bids as follows:

- 1 Clean up of the site
- 2 Fencing the backstop
- 3 Moving of three posts back to the fence

He explained the cost estimate figures and mentioned the bleachers were not included in the total figure of $49,932.

Motion by Councilman Gardner supported by Councilwoman Ayers to authorize the City Manager to go out for bids for the Ford Field Site Improvements.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

Meeting recessed at 10:20 p.m. and reconvened at 10:30 p.m.

25-CUBIC YARD PACKER BID Bids for a 25-cubic yard packer were received at City Hall on Friday June 27, 1980, at 11:00 a.m. and opened by the Superintendent of DPW, the City Clerk and the Controller as follows: Pezanni & Reid, 3960 W. Ford, Detroit,

MOTION CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

(b) Packer Chassis & Body — Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilwoman Ayers to adopt a Purchase Resolution for a 1979 Chevrolet Packer Chassis, Model No. C7D064, Veh No. C47E9V178032 from Ed Rinke Chevrolet and a Leach Packer Body, Model 2R25 from Bell Equipment Co., upon an installment contract and security agreement with Manufacturers National Bank in the amount of $41,216.00 at 7.25 interest for 2 years.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

BUILDING DEPARTMENT The City Manager had received letters from the Township re the termination date of the Building Department Agreement and he stated there would be no problem going through July. He had contacted a neighboring City re sharing services also an engineering firm but has received no replies to date. He stated a need to join BOCA as an independent member which would enable the City to use their plan review.

Motion by Councilman Gardner supported by Councilwoman Ayers to join the BOCA International.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

DOWN RIVER FEDERAL The City Attorney remarked that the Down River Federal had closed with the City on this date and that the deeds were all signed.

DISTRICT COURT Communication from Sutherland & Roe, CPA's for the Court which indicates reimbursable distribution of revenues & expenses due to the City of Northville in the amount of $4,073.01.

Councilman DeRusha asked about the court repayment to the Township.

The City Manager stated the City had sent the Township $5,000 and will continue to do so.

WCR RE GRISWOLD BRIDGE Wayne County Road Commission has determined that the Griswold Road bridge over the C&O RR located in our community is in a deteriorated condition and they are applying for State and Federal Critical Bridge Funds for its improvement. The County asked the City to pass a resolution of support.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilwoman Ayers to adopt a Resolution to support the improvement of the Griswold Road Bridge over the C&O RR by the Wayne County Road Commission.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

APPOINTMENTS

a Recreation — Mayor Vernon asked that the openings on the various boards be advertised. No action was taken at this time.

COMMUNICATIONS

a Letter from Senator Geake to Judge Goodwillie re Senate Bill 468, a bill to permit local committees to accept guilty pleas and to keep the lines for several specified "Nuisance" ordinance violations.

Mayor Vernon thanked Senator Geake for reviving the possibility for getting something done this time.

b Acknowledgement from Representative Kirksey re Senate Bill 513.

c Sencoc application received from Sema.

d Letter from the Mayor of the City of Livonia re Suburban Water Customers.

e Notice of Public Hearing re proposed water rate increase.

1 Rouge Valley Wastewater Management Study

g Letter from the Mayor of the City of Livonia re Update Report on the AAA.

Councilwoman Ayers mentioned she was contacted by Mrs. Ebert and asked to serve on the Advisory Committee of the AAA. She has agreed to do so.

h Communication from the Board of Commissioners, Monroe County re the Huron Valley Wastewater Treatment Facility.

i Thank you from Lloyd G. Brasur.

j Sema Annual Public Transportation Plan FY 1982.

MISCELLANEOUS Communication from Oakland University re cable TV.

Communication from the State Department of Transportation informing the City that Wing Street extension was added to the Major Street System in the City.

Copy of a letter from the DW to the Ford Valve Plant re the Cleaning of Excessive build-up of oil and grease in the City's sewer system.

Mayor Vernon mentioned he had talked with Wally Nichols and assured him a disposition of his report would be made.

Councilwoman Ayers asked about the SSES waiting for a lot of rain to do their study of the sewers in the City.

The City Manager stated they have been working for a couple of months.

Councilwoman Ayers asked if there were any preliminary costs on the reconditioning of S. Mann.

The City Manager answered no and asked if the City wants to go out for a bond issue. If they do, there would have to be an election.

Councilwoman Gardner mentioned he would like Wayne County to include the paving costs in their future budgets. He would also like them to have the idea that the City is still interested in the project.

The City Attorney mentioned the City would have to pay the preliminary costs.

Councilwoman Gardner stated that ultimately the Road Commission would have to make a commitment.

Mayor Vernon commented the County Commission suggested the City finance the total project and they would pay back.

Councilman DeRusha asked how the City would pay for their share of the project.

The City Manager suggested the City could go out for Gas and Weight tax bonds.

Mayor Vernon stated it would be up to our G & W monies for several years and there are other streets that need care. He mentioned the condition of the road is not getting any better. He suggested making a proposal to the County that we are considering putting this on the ballot, & accepting their payback schedule with repayment over the next three years and assume they are going to pay for the initial study.

Councilwoman Ayers asked about the proposed joint meeting with the Recreation Commission in August re discussion on their budget.

She also asked them when the Allen Terrace paving would start.

The City Manager thought it would start in a week or so.

Discussion on water lines and water meter users not tying into the sewer.

Councilman DeRusha mentioned four bills being considered re the off-track betting and Commission reform.

Mayor Vernon asked that copies of H84747 be provided at the next meeting re the race track. He also mentioned the City Manager, City Attorney and he attended the race track meeting in Hazel Park and would be meeting again soon.

Councilman DeRusha asked about the 40-mile per hour speed limit sign which has been knocked down on S-Mile.

Council was reminded of the DDA bid opening on Thursday.

The City Attorney stated he was going on vacation for two weeks starting this Saturday.

Meeting adjourned at 11:45 p.m.

First reunion slated for NHS Class of '75

Graduates of Northville High School Class of 1975 urgently are being sought by co-chairmen of the party being planned for August 9.

Greg Johnson and Marty Smith, who have made arrangements for the first reunion of the class to be held at Northville Community Center, report they are disappointed with the response to date. Reservations with checks for $10 each should be sent now to Northville P.O. Box 5302.

For the get-together which will begin at 5 p.m. the committee has planned light refreshments and entertainment.

Those who may not be able to attend the Saturday event still can take part in a softball game slated for the next day.

For more information about the five-year reunion, graduates may contact Johnson at 349-5298 or in Ann Arbor at 662-9364. Smith may be called at 349-3485.

Police Blotter

Assault on officer, home thefts reported

A South Lyon man accused of assaulting a township police officer, will face examination July 31 at the 35th District Court in Northville.

Carlos Delafuente, 31, was arrested July 21 following a disturbance at Sheehan's On The Green, police said.

Councilwoman Gardner mentioned he would like Wayne County to include the paving costs in their future budgets. He would also like them to have the idea that the City is still interested in the project.

The City Attorney mentioned the City would have to pay the preliminary costs.

Councilwoman Gardner stated that ultimately the Road Commission would have to make a commitment.

Mayor Vernon commented the County Commission suggested the City finance the total project and they would pay back.

Councilman DeRusha asked how the City would pay for their share of the project.

The City Manager suggested the City could go out for Gas and Weight tax bonds.

Mayor Vernon stated it would be up to our G & W monies for several years and there are other streets that need care. He mentioned the condition of the road is not getting any better. He suggested making a proposal to the County that we are considering putting this on the ballot, & accepting their payback schedule with repayment over the next three years and assume they are going to pay for the initial study.

Councilwoman Ayers asked about the proposed joint meeting with the Recreation Commission in August re discussion on their budget.

Carol Lancaster, 43792 Westridge, suffered minor injuries July 18 when her car, traveling northbound on Novi Road, crossed the center line and struck a southbound vehicle, which had pulled off to the shoulder of the road, city police reported.

The driver of the northbound vehicle, Curtis Griffin of Novi, was not hurt.

Lancaster, after being treated and released from Botsford Hospital, told police she remembered traveling northbound on Novi Road and making the curve just south of Allen Drive, but can recall nothing that happened after that.

No citation was issued.

Police are searching for a white male, 20-25 years old, with black hair and a trimmed mustache in connection with a recent report of indecent exposure.

The man July 22 reportedly pulled his car into a driveway on Spring Drive and asked two 13-year-old girls directions to Livonia, police said.

One of the girls then noticed the driver was wearing only a T-shirt.

The girls ran from the car, which drove away slowly.

The girls told police the man was driving a cream-colored Ford LTD.

Unknown persons entered a Fairbrook residence July 18, apparently by pushing out the screen of an open window, police reported.

The only items found missing were a photograph and a pair of black bikini bottoms, police said.

Police are investigating the incident.

A Sears Micro-wave oven was taken from the home economics room at Northville High School sometime between June 23 and July 7, city police reported.

Burglars apparently entered the room by removing a window on the east wall, police said.

Neither the window nor the oven has been found.

The value of the stolen property has not been determined.

Barbara Sowers seeks house seat

Barbara Sowers, a high school counselor for Livonia Public Schools, is a Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives in the 35th District. A 40-year resident of Livonia, Sowers is challenging Ron Fisher of Northville August 5 for a spot on the Democratic ticket. The 35th District includes part of Livonia and Northville.

"As a high school counselor I have become increasingly alarmed about the problems faced by students and their families. Parents and students alike look for help. It's difficult to really help solve many of the underlying problems faced by citizens today," said Sowers.

"People are concerned about high inflation, being laid off, costly interest rates, crime, vandalism, tax reform and many other problems which face the average citizen," emphasized Sowers.

"I want to provide more than advice. I want to help provide solutions," she said.

A graduate of Clarenceville High School, Sowers earned her bachelor's and master's degrees at Eastern Michigan University. She currently is a counselor at Bentley High School. She also serves as a volunteer probation officer in Livonia.

She served a two-year term as president of the Livonia Education Association and has been a member of the city study committee on police and fire needs, study committee on recreation program and facilities in Livonia. She has written in several state and national education association offices.

"Preventing government waste is one way to reduce taxes. I believe in zero-base budgeting. As a member of the majority party in Lansing, I would be in a better position to represent the concerns of Livonia and Northville citizens. I would work to have our fair share of dollars returned for necessary local services," she said.

Sowers said years as a high school counselor have fine-tuned many of her abilities, including the art of listening.

"I listen and don't make quick decisions. I like to hear both sides of the issue. I'm an independent thinker and not swayed by party opinion," she said.

Sowers said she dislikes the Tisch tax amendment and calls the Smith-Bullard proposal a mere tax shift. Sowers called Governor William Milliken's tax proposal a "fair compromise."

Sowers wants to see a compromise workers compensation reform bill passed. She also opposes the recent transportation package approved by the legislature. "I can't see spending that amount of money to finance a subway which goes one way."

44th wedding Anniversary

During the July 4 holiday, all 14 children of Peter and Florence Derrick of 48948 West Eight Mile gathered together at their parents' home for the first time in 15 years.

The Derricks, who celebrated their 44th wedding anniversary July 11, have seven sons, seven daughters and 38 grandchildren.

Out-of-town guests attending the family reunion were: Mrs. Donald (able) Byington and children from Flagstaff, Arizona; Mr. and Mrs.

Ralph Derrick and daughters from Loveland, Colorado; and Mr. Peter Derrick II and family from Denver, Colorado.

There were only 12 family members who could not attend the reunion, which concluded July 6 with the family celebrating Mrs. Derrick's 62nd birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Derrick have lived in Northville for the past 15 years. They will be moving to Glennie, Michigan, by the end of the year.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING CITY OF NORTHVILLE

Notice is hereby given that the City Council of the City of Northville will hold a public hearing Monday, August 18, 1980 in the Northville City Hall at 8 p.m. to consider an amendment to the zoning Ordinance as follows:

AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE 2 ZONING DISTRICTS AND MAPPING INTERPRETATION OF THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF NORTHVILLE, AS AMENDED, ADOPTED AUGUST 26, 1974, EFFECTIVE DATE SEPTEMBER 5, 1974.

The City of Northville Ordains:

That Section 2.10 PROFESSIONAL AND BUSINESS OFFICE DISTRICT of Article 2 Zoning Districts and Mapping Interpretation of the Zoning Ordinance be amended as follows:

1. That a new section shall be added and designated as Sec. 2.10.2.1 which shall read as follows:

Section 2.10.2.1 Conditionally Permitted Uses — The following uses shall be permitted by the Planning Commission pursuant to Article 6 and as further provided:

a. Retail Establishments as follows:

1. Wearing Apparel and Accessories
2. Jewelry, Cosmetics and Notions
3. Gift Shops, Camera Shops, Record Shops and Similar Uses
4. Tea Room, Coffee Shop, Dining Room or other sit-down restaurant as opposed to a drive-in restaurant.

b. Service Establishments as follows:

1. Hair cutting/styling shops
2. Soft goods repair shop
3. Jewelry, watch, and repairs of small household appliances.

Group a and b uses shall be permitted upon a finding that all of the following conditions will be satisfied:

1. The demolition or removal of an existing residence(s) is not required to facilitate any use that is proposed except that, after careful analysis of the environmental conditions and quality of the residence(s) in question and relationship to existing land uses no good purpose would be served in retaining the residential structure(s).
2. Where the use of vacant land is proposed and a building is to be erected thereon, the Planning Commission may require that new building(s) or structure(s) are architecturally compatible with surrounding buildings or structure(s).
3. Where the use of vacant land is proposed and a building is to be erected thereon, the Planning Commission may require that new building(s) or structure(s) are architecturally compatible with surrounding buildings or structure(s).

Here's our election choices

MacDonald, Henningsen, Allen, Armstrong, Nowka, Sylvestre, Schrot, Lukomski, yes on fire millage

MacDonald...

John MacDonald, a proven performer in township government who has the most impressive credentials of the three candidates for supervisor, garners our support.

Both Larry VanderMolen and William Zapke are qualified, but neither is as well qualified as MacDonald, who has more practical experience in Northville township government. MacDonald's record of attendance in the past while serving in several capacities of township government suggests to us he will be no less diligent in the now part-time supervisor's post. His law background, his ability to communicate succinctly, his familiarity with the operation of the township board, planning commission and appeals board, and his calm, deliberate demeanor are clearly qualities that can enhance the supervisor's post and benefit the township.

We were pleased to see a recent positive role served by VanderMolen in the study of the manager concept and we were impressed by his thoroughness in this study, but we wonder if this is only a temporary departure from the negative, disruptive and oft-times unreasoned diatribe that has marked his past shows before audience-filled township, school and union meetings.

Is the "new" VanderMolen for real, or is he a chameleon who will go right on erecting straw issues to assail? The latter, we suspect, is the case. The township cannot afford to the gamble on his changing spots.

William Zapke is a bright, personable young man who is completing his first term as a trustee. His strong inclination to conduct township business on the backstage, however, bothers us.

In his campaign for supervisor Zapke puts heavy emphasis on knowing key people in the governor's office, and in state and county government and he pledges to use his friendship with these people, through frequent contacts and private meetings outside the township hall, to influence township interests. It's this kind of back-scratching that characterized the administration of former supervisor Wilson Grier, who decided what is best for the township independent of the board. Zapke appears to be similarly inclined.

If the voter considers the danger signals represented by VanderMolen and Zapke and weighs the credentials of all three candidates we believe they will arrive at our choice — John MacDonald.

Henningsen...

The race for township treasurer pits two obviously well qualified candidates — both of whom have practical experience in the post. Frankly, we see both as having equal credentials, equal experience, and we believe the township would be well served by either man.

Our choice, therefore, comes down to a gut feeling for the candidates' enthusiasm and interest. And of these qualities, it appears to us that Richard Henningsen has an edge over Lee Holland.

Although he lost in his bid for re-election two years ago (we supported Holland), Henningsen has maintained an active interest in the township. He could have, following his election defeat, bowed out of serving his community and resorted to second-guessing the board's performance. He chose not to do that, however. Instead he has continued to attend township meetings, offered positive advice and constructive criticism, and has generally kept himself abreast of township business without unleashing vindictive criticism.

Holland, who probably is the more popular because of his exposure in coaching, does not seem to have as much enthusiasm for board seat as does Henningsen, perhaps because of his other activities. And at times during the past two years we have noted a lack of assertiveness in Holland when assertiveness was necessary. In the clashes between the supervisor and clerk, for example, he failed to take a firm stand — to the extent that even the supervisor, with whom he campaigned, wondered where he stood.

Of the two equally qualified candidates, therefore, we are opting for Henningsen.

Allen, Armstrong, Nowka and Sylvestre...

As is the case in the race for treasurer, all of the candidates for the four trustee posts are qualified — some more than others — and we believe any one of them is capable of serving an elective post.

The four who impress us most, however, are Richard Allen, C. James Armstrong, James Nowka and Leon T. Sylvestre.

We like Allen's plea for cooperation, his determination to see that the business manager concept receives board support, his understanding of the township's potential financial problems, and we are pleased that he comes from an area of the township that does not now have representation on the board.

Armstrong has been active on the city-township recreation commission, has served in an elective position elsewhere, and he is "realistic" and knows that if people demand services they must be prepared to pay for them.

Nowka's past commendable performance on the board and planning commission clearly gives him broader practical experience — something voters must consider given the fact that most of the board members may be "new" come November. Although his attendance at board meetings has been satisfactory, such has not been the case in his attendance at planning commission and EDC meetings. If he is re-elected to the board, therefore, we recommend that he step down from the commission and the EDC and concentrate his attention on board where his expertise will be most needed.

Of the "new" candidates, we are especially pleased to see L. T. Sylvestre carry his active interest in township affairs to an elective post. He is intelligent, vocal and incisive without being insensitive to opposing viewpoints. Above all, we see him as an honest, straight-forward candidate.

With the election of Allen, Armstrong, Nowka and Sylvestre, Northville township will be in good hands. They, together with MacDonald, unopposed clerk candidate Susan Heintz, and Richard Henningsen, will bring stability to township hall and deal effectively with the critical problems certain to face the township during the next four years.

Lukomski, Schrot...

James F. Schrot, only incumbent in the race for two Northville Township constable posts, was named Constable of the Year by the Michigan Constables and Court Officers Association again this year. He also received the honor in 1978.

We echo this approval of his work and cite his service as the community's Civil Defense Coordinator. We recommend he be returned to office.

To fill the other constablenesship we recommend Joseph D. Lukomski as highest qualified. Both Lukomski and Willard C. Gaul, other candidate in the three-way-race for the two positions, have demonstrated commendable interest in the welfare of the township. But Lukomski's four years of experience as a police reservist, his 120 hours of law enforcement training and training in first aid, CPR and firearms give him the edge.

Fire millage...

In view of almost certain reductions in state and federal funding, the request for an additional .5 mill for township fire department operation and improvement undoubtedly is valid and needed.

Therefore, we recommend that township voters commit themselves to the .5 mill addition (to the existing 2.5 mills now levied for township operation) which will be earmarked for fire protection only for five years.

Fire Chief Robert Toms and his department have demonstrated they are able to utilize to the maximum monies available, but the funding now will have to come from voters rather than from government handouts.

No one likes increasing taxes, but when the only available alternative is a reduction in fire protection we feel there is little sense in denying the millage request.

Charter...

One of the most important ballot propositions to come before Wayne County in recent years is Proposal "A" authorizing creation of a charter commission to frame county restructuring. If voters approve this proposal, which we strongly support, an elected commission will draw up a home rule charter to submit to voters.

That reorganization of the county governmental structure is desperately needed is easily apparent in reviewing the fumbling, crisis-to-crisis operation of the existing "headless" county government in recent years. We are hopeful that a strong county executive form of government will come out of the charter commission to bring under control costly mismanagement resulting, in our opinion, from too many people playing chief while the house burns down.

Vote "Yes" on Proposal A in Wayne County.

Of the local area candidates for the charter commission, we support: Marvin Stempien, Democrat, and Ethelyn Bankes, Republican, in the 19th District; and Edward Wendover, Democrat, in the 27th District. Hagbard J. Berg is unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Parks...

Oakland County electors in Northville also will find a county proposition on their ballot — this one calling for renewal of a quarter-mill property tax for five years to develop and maintain a county park system. We believe this millage should be renewed.

Renewal of the millage will continue to provide funds to protect the county's $9.5 million investment made in parks since 1966 while providing further improvements for future generations. The cost is minimal when compared to the benefits — 25 cents for each $1,000 of state equalized value — and Sowers...

In Livonia, Barbara Sowers, who is competing against Ron Fisher of Northville for the Democratic spot on the November ballot to oppose Jack Kirksey for the 35th District representative seat in the state legislature, is assessed as a "capable and stable" member of the community.

For those voting Democratic in the primary we support Sowers. However, we also give notice that in November Kirksey, unopposed for the Republican spot in the primary, will have our endorsement for his fearless stand against right to strike legislation, for his fight against the Detroit subway funding, and for his close attention to those matters most affecting Northville and its citizens.

Lower drinking age?

JAMES GEOFFREY

ROGER COTE

YES

When the Michigan Legislature raised the drinking age to 21, it ignited once more, the long running controversy over whether or not 18 through 20 year olds are really wise enough to handle drinking.

While such a debate really comes down to a value judgement, the fact of the matter is that so long as 18 is the legal age of majority, it should be considered illegal to prohibit 18 through 20 year olds the right to drink.

When the government lowered the age of majority to 18, it immediately granted 18 year olds all the rights and responsibilities of any other legal adult. Among those many liberties was the right to enter a bar and

NO

This should be entitled, "An Echo from the Past," or "Here We Go Again." Those persons promoting that the drinking age be reduced again, obviously were not paying attention to the reasons the State of Michigan raised the age back to 21 years.

The latest statistics from the state show a reduction of lives lost by the drinking driver by 17 percent and the total number of accidents reduced by 21 percent. This kind of figure should tell us something.

The old argument of "If I can die for my country on the battlefield and vote when I'm 18, why can't I drink?" is not really valid. It is a proven fact that drinking changes personality, attitudes and ability to react — like a drug.

I personally don't want any drunk on the road endangering the lives of those in my family or yours.

drink or purchase liquor from a store.

Hence, when the state forbids 18, 19 and 20 year olds from drinking, it is quite literally forbidding a right that, for all intents and purposes, cannot be denied any legal adult.

In an era when women are being recognized as equals and when society is finally recognizing its obligations to all its members, it seems to be a sociological step backward to deny legal adults certain rights on the basis of their age.

James Geoffrey
Walled Lake Western student

Keeping off the roadway the number of potential persons drinking seems like a good idea to me.

The number of families broken, maimed for life or killed over the years is staggering. Last year, 1,849 persons lost their lives on the roads.

It is ironic that the nation is united in its effort to have 50 hostages returned and at the same time, take for granted the mass slaughter on the highways.

California Congressman George E. Brown in a recent speech stated, "There is a good reason why society wants a higher legal drinking age."

I wonder what motivated two-thirds of the state lawmakers who voted for the resolution to put the matter on the ballot?

League supports charter revision

To the Editor:
At long last, Wayne County voters have an opportunity to do something constructive about our antiquated and inefficient county government.

Incredible as it may seem, the structure of county government has remained virtually unchanged since 1796. The result is lack of flexibility, overlapping responsibilities, and no executive to oversee and coordinate county functions.

The first step in the process of revitalizing the county would be the election of a charter commission. This group would be responsible for writing a charter, a blueprint for an orderly and responsive county government, to present to the voters for their approval.

A charter commission is vital to correcting the obvious deficiencies in the structure of Wayne County. The League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi urges you to vote YES on County Home Rule Proposal A on August 5.

The League of Women Voters is a national nonpartisan organization established 60 years ago to encourage citizen participation in government. It never supports nor opposes any political party or candidate. The League does support or oppose issues after careful study.

To the Editor:
I read the article regarding the objection by the honorable state senator from Northville who is on the Mental Health Committee in Lansing, who stated the establishment of a private home for retarded adults in this area was objectionable because we already have too many institutions, jails, etc.

I wonder sometimes if the honorable state senator remembers he is supposed to be knowledgeable about retarded citizens, having worked at the Plymouth State Residential Training Center. These are live human beings! They breathe, have feelings and are trainable.

I am fortunate that none of my children were born retarded, but for the past 10 years we (our whole family) have sponsored a forgotten child. Every one of us tries to find something for her birthday and Christmas.

She is 20 years old now. We have never seen her but we are concerned about her welfare. We are not rich — but we can help those less fortunate than we are.

This same situation occurred in Birmingham and Southfield. They allowed these people to move in finally and found them to be good, clean neighbors.

I am surprised to hear that the good citizens of the township are so upset. They are not ignorant, unfeeling people in Northville Township. I have met many of them during my years with FISH and helping the patients at Northville Psychiatric Hospital.

Open your hearts to your fellow human beings. There are 12 "forgotten children" at Plymouth Residential Training Center. Do yourself a favor and call Mr. Peter Sweitzer, public

To the Editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Northville Jaycees and Jayettes, especially Chris Abbey, for making our Fourth of July extra fun this year.

The parade and activities were outstanding.

Our daughter, Shea, along with Robbie Beier, won the Cute Kids Contest at the Mill Race festivities. The proceeds from this contest went to Ronald McDonald House.

Mrs. Abbey and two of her "associates" had a presentation party for the lucky winners at her home. I would like to thank all who had any part of the fun day — the people of Northville who donated so generously, The Little People's Shoppe and Genitti's. It was FUN.

I would also, at this time, like to thank the Rag Tag Band for marching at the Highland Lakes Harbor Day festivities — it sure added a whole lot of fun.

Thanks to all,

We wish to thank all our lovely friends who attended our 40th wedding anniversary celebration at the Presbyterian Church.

A special thank you to those who planned this beautiful occasion, to those who contributed their musical talents and to the ladies of the Eve Circle who so graciously assisted in so many ways.

We feel this was one of the truly memorable days of our married life. Thanks, Dear Friends, from the bottom of our hearts.

Blooming landfill

These flowers couldn't be any lovelier or more well cared for if they were grown in some of the most extensive botanical gardens or on the landscaped grounds of the very rich. And, they couldn't receive any greater amount of tender, loving care than these. The garden, filled with begonias, petunias, roses, pinks, cannas, evergreens and geraniums, grows right near the gate of the Holloway Landfill at Napier and Six Mile. The gardener is none other than Nick Jabe, operator of the landfill for Holloway. This is his eighth year of making the landfill entrance a show place. Jabe, who at one time traveled around the country with his 17-piece orchestra, believes that there is nothing that has a more positive effect on people than good music and flowers. News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

It was shortly after 11 p.m. on July 3. The scene was the floor of the Michigan Senate where senators had been in session for more than 12 hours. The blinking lights on the colorful "tote board" were recording the last vote of the spring session. That final vote was 19-13.

An attempt to pass Wayne County court reorganization legislation has just failed for the second time that day — this time by only one vote.

Why is the passage of Wayne County court reorganization so important?

This package of bills (House Bill 5843 and House Bill 5630) would initiate the process of state funding of all court systems throughout the state. The judicial branch is the only branch of state government that is not 100 percent funded by the State of Michigan. The Wayne County court reorganization legislation would be the first step toward the total statewide standardization process of court procedures as well as state funding of all courts.

The measure would also correct a court system that is experiencing difficulties in delivering an appropriate justice system because of a critical funding problem. In fact, the chief justice of the Wayne County Circuit Court has said that his court may have to close in mid-August because it will have run out of money to operate.

The initial cost for reorganization and state takeover of the Wayne County court system is estimated at $12 million with another $12 million during the next year.

I support the move by the state to take over the Wayne County court system, but I do so with some reservations. I want to be sure that this legislation will, indeed, be the first step toward total state funding of the courts in all 83 Michigan counties. It must not be just another financial "bail out" for Detroit and Wayne County.

To make sure the state does move toward the takeover and funding of all courts in Michigan in timely fashion, I supported two amendments offered by Republican Senator Phil Arthurs which were accepted by my colleagues in the senate.

One amendment would provide two alternative methods for the legislature to use in taking over statewide funding of the court system in Michigan.

The first calls for appropriation of sufficient state funds to pay for 20 percent of all court operation expenses in the state beginning October 1, 1982, and increasing by 20 percent each year the number of state courts to be fully funded until all the courts in Michigan are fully financed by the state no later than January 1, 1987.

The other method would allow the legislature to provide the necessary funds so that all court operations in the state would be fully paid by the state no later than September 30, 1991. This would have to be accomplished by funding court operations of not less than eight counties each year beginning with the fiscal year 1981-82.

Kiddin' around

Kids, in both senses of the word, crowded into the city park behind the Northville Public Library last week to show off their pets. Pets were judged for a wide range of attributes such as longest tail and shortest hair, in three categories — dogs, cats and unusual pet. The largest number of entries appeared in the friendliest dog category, above, while first and second most unusual pet awards went to Patrick and Matthew Beemer, ages 10 and 7, for their goat kids Frisker and Ring, at left. The pet show is just one event in the library's summer reading program.

Ron Fisher opposes Sowers to run against Kirksey

Ronald Fisher of Northville Township and Barbara Sowers of Livonia face off August 5 in a primary election battle for the Democratic nomination to the Michigan House of Representatives 35th District seat.

The winner will oppose incumbent Republican Jack Kirksey in November. Fisher, 37, is making his first bid for elective office. He is employed as a tool engineer with Royce Tool Corporation in Livonia. He attended Henry Ford Community College for two years and Central Bible College for one.

Divorced, Fisher is the father of three children. He attends the Open Door

Christian Church in Northville where he is an associate minister. He is a member of the Pro-Family Forum, an area chairman for Moral Majority and a legal aid to the Michigan District Church Council.

Although he is running as a Democrat, Fisher said he is not a partisan politician in the usual sense.

"I think the issues I'm speaking of don't address party politics," Fisher said.

He is basing his campaign, he said, on a call for morality in government, using the Bible as the touchstone for his platform.

Changes in state and federal law over the past 20 years, Fisher said, have intruded upon the church's traditional authority and created an immoral society.

Particular laws he would fight to revise or repeal if elected include Michigan's no-fault divorce statutes and liberalized abortion laws that "killed 35,000 unborn infants in 1979, many in the five to six month gestation period. With the medical technology of today, they are capable of surviving, except no one wants them."

Fisher called for an end to abortion on the grounds that "biblical law clearly defines life at the point of conception and there has never been any question of that."

By intruding on the domain of the church in governing divorce and abortion, Fisher said, the state has violated the constitutional separation of church and state.

"The principle in separation of church and state was a cooperative arrangement wherein the church recognized its authority, the state recognized its own authority and they did not overlap," Fisher explained. "The state has begun to pick up responsibilities for itself in areas that once belonged to the church."

Fisher is supporting reductions in property taxes while deriding the Milliken and Smith-Bullard proposals on the November ballot as cosmetic tax shifts. He is supporting a moderate tax cut plan not yet assured a place on the ballot, but said he would support the Tish 50 percent tax cut if his favored proposal does not appear.

Fisher said he would cut state spending primarily through reductions in welfare payments. He singled out divorce-related ADC payments for elimination because the program puts the state in a position of providing an incentive for divorce.

Local governments and school districts would receive monies from state general revenues to make up lost income from property taxes under most reform plans, but Fisher said some cuts would still have to be made.

"If there are cuts to be made, education will be affected, no doubt about that," Fisher said. "I would start it at the university level, however. There is too much emphasis placed in higher education. I would like to see more emphasis on training junior high and high school students job skills."

On environmental issues, Fisher said, he is a strong believer in conservation of Michigan's natural resources and "would certainly support any legislation that pursues that avenue. I want that heritage to pass on to my children." He called for prosecution for retroactive damage payments against firms caught dumping the environment through chemical dumping or other means regardless of how long ago the violation was made. "When there is positive identification, the state has the responsibility to pursue the violator."

Revision of the state's worker compensation plan is also needed, Fisher said. The program places too great a burden on small businesses and spends more per capita than others in the country, he said.

While he sees automobiles providing the basic form of transportation for many years to come, Fisher said he would not support new freeway construction.

"We have enough highways," he said. "We're going to do well to maintain what we've got. The dollars and cents for maintenance of our highways will consume the better part of the transportation budget."

He would support all measures to provide more and alternate energy sources, Fisher said. Tax breaks to encourage oil drilling and motion toward nuclear power would draw his support, he added.

He would fight efforts to bring public utilities under stricter state controls, Fisher said.

"If you're going to reduce government you can't even give thought to controlling the utilities," he said.

1903 outing A trolley lake trip

By GLADYS MORSE
12 years old

It was Brownie's birthday; a bright breezy day in October. My birthday is in October too, on the same day that "Our Teddy" counts the candles on his birthday cake at the White House. We always celebrate the birthdays.

Usually one of us has a party, and the other has a trip into the country, or some other place, at which only members of the family are invited to go. This time it was Brownie's turn to have the excursion.

After much discussion we decided on a trip to Walled Lake. Papa used to live on the shore of the lake when he was a little boy, and afterward mamma taught the village school; so we thought it would be pleasant to go there. We planned to take the Northwestern Interurban car out to Northville and there hire a horse and a two-seated carriage and drive across the country to the lake.

Well, we arose before daylight, fed the chickens, horse and dog, ate breakfast, gathered up wraps, camera and lunchbasket and started. So many work people were getting on at every corner we were afraid we should be late in reaching the city hall, where we were to change to the Northwestern car; but we got there just in the nick of time and were soon speeding out into the country.

The wind blew so hard the conductor closed all the windows and pretty soon I began to feel sick. Mamma opened a window and I put my head out to look at the scenery, or at least that is what I hoped people would think I was doing. In reality it was a case of seasickness, or rather car-sickness. I don't think there is any difference in one's feelings whether he is on board a car or a boat.

Pretty soon I felt better and papa said Brownie and I had better go out on the back platform with him, so we could be out in the fresh air. We were both glad to go, for we could see things so much better.

Everything was lovely; all the trees had on their new fall suits of red, green, brown and yellow. The orchards were gay with big shiny red and golden apples piled in heaps under the trees or heaped in barrels and baskets. In some places men were drilling wheat or rye, and others made us think of Indian villages, with the shocks of corn scattered about like wigwags. We didn't see Hiawatha or old Nokomis, though.

"Oh! see the pumpkins!" cried Brownie; "wish we had some of them for jack-lanterns."

"Or pumpkin pies," said papa wistfully.

But while we were wishing we ran into the little town of Northville. Leaving the car we stepped into the sitting room of a hotel while papa went to the office to inquire about a rig to drive to the lake.

Pretty soon a girl with a broom came in where we were sitting. She look at us as if we had no business there and began sweeping, so we had to go out and stand on the sidewalk until papa came back.

He reported:

"Not a horse to be had. There is a funeral in town today and every horse in town is engaged. I guess the trip will have to end right here."

Mamma shut her lips tight for a minute, then said:

"We are going to Walled Lake!"

"How?" said papa.

"We will go to the P. M. depot and take a train for Wixom, change there to the G. T. and run down to Walled Lake," announced mamma. "We will have to hurry then, for it is almost train time now," said papa.

So we took a run for the station, only to see the train pull out while we were several blocks away. Just then the electric car from Plymouth came rumbling over the mill pond. Mamma brightened up once more.

"Why not go to Plymouth and hire a horse and carriage there? It will make the drive longer, but we don't care for that," said papa. "I had thought of that," said papa, "but they told me at the livery barn that they had engaged everything there for the funeral."

Mamma sat limply down on the edge of the mill pond. "For pity sake! is it an empress or a queen, that every one in two towns must attend the funeral? To think of it! Here I haven't been in the country for almost two years and now to come out here and have the day spoiled like this!"

"Well," said papa, "we might go to Plymouth and see Cousin Belle."

"No, it's most dinner time and she wouldn't be prepared for a whole family to swoop down on her — besides, I feel too cross and disgusted to go anywhere," said mamma.

"I'm hungry," Brownie said. "Let's go to the hotel and get dinner and decide what to do next," said papa.

But mamma said she didn't want any dinner, and Brownie didn't either. I had parted with my breakfast — while "gazing" at the scenery, and was pretty hungry, and papa is always hungry — so we voted for dinner.

"All right," said mamma, "you go and get some dinner and Brownie and I will go and get some ice cream." So we parted company, to meet later. We had a good dinner and found the others waiting for us on the sidewalk. I thought they did not look real cheerful and asked the reason.

"The ice cream was all soft," said Brownie, "and the waiter said that was the way she liked it."

Papa saw the disappointed look and said: "Let us walk around town and get a picture or two and when the next car comes we will go to Orchard Lake and stay a little while, then on to Pontiac and from there home."

Everyone agreed to that and we started out. We found a lovely shady path between some trees and followed it a little way and found it led to a dam across a brook.

"BROWNIE AND I TOOK OFF OUR SHOES AND WADED AROUND."

We must have a picture of this," said mamma.

"I think so," said papa, and proceeded to get it.

"That's Lovers' Lane," said a lady who was passing.

"Too bad it is so short," mamma said.

By this time we had to hurry again to get the car, and this time we got there. The ride to Orchard Lake was a nice long one, up and down big hills and past lots of big red barns and white

Contest for young writers

Seventy five years ago a 12-year-old girl wrote this appealing account of a summer outing. Automobiles and airplanes have replaced trolleys and horses, but we think youngsters still are enjoying special experiences that would make good reading today.

The Record would like to hear about these present-day vacations and trips of young people and, therefore, is offering a prize of $25 for the best article submitted by a young person age 10-15 living within the circulation area of The Northville Record.

Young writers have three weeks to submit their stories to The Northville Record, 104 West Main, 48167. All entries will be read by the staff following the 5 p.m. August 20 deadline. The winner will have his or her story published in the newspaper and receive the check for $25.

Readability will be the main factor. So, whether it was a trip to Greece, Bob-Lo or Toronto Space Center, if it was great, please tell us.

Today Gladys is 87

Gladys Cecil Morse was 12 years old when she wrote this prize-winning story titled "A Trolley Lake Trip."

She, her sister Helen (Brownie) and her parents, John and Eva Morse, were Detroit residents when they took the trip. Later they moved to Northville where the two girls eventually were graduated from high school (Gladys in 1913).

Today, at the age of 87, Gladys (Morse) Ford is living with her husband, Raymond, in the King's Daughter Retirement Home in Detroit.

"Oh, yes, I remember Northville fondly," says the writer of "A Trolley Lake Trip." "We had so many nice friends there; most of them are gone now."

One of the landmarks, long ago disappeared, that she remembers best was the Princess Rink — a wooden structure that stood behind the Main Street stores in the vicinity of the theater. Here all kinds of community activities took place. "I even played basketball there," says Mrs. Ford.

The old opera house that stood at the southeast corner of Center and Dunlap also was one of her favorite places.

One of the homes in Northville where the Morse family lived — after Gladys wrote her prize-winner — was located on Buchner Hill where today Allen Terrace senior citizens apartments are located.

In those days the Eastlawn center also occupied a spot on Buchner Hill. First a center for TB patients it became a rest home and it was here, years later, that Helen "Brownie" Morse lived following a stroke.

Gladys' parents and "Brownie" are now deceased and, says Mrs. Ford, "there's nobody left, except myself,

Main St. East, Northville, Mich. 67418-r of the people mentioned in my story."

Gladys' daughter, Carol Templeton, also years later moved to Northville and their three children attended a one-room school house and were graduated from high school here.

Another of Mrs. Ford's children is Phyllis H. Hanaford, who lives now in Mesa, Arizona.

Among the places described by Gladys in her story included the hotel, which was located at the southwest corner of Main and Center (now a parking lot); Lover's Lane, which crossed a mill pond, was located in the Seven Mile area, west of Sheldon; the interurban station was located in downtown Northville, the railroad depot east of the community's public spring; the mill pond over which the electric car "came rumbling" was at the Main Street curve near Cady.

Gladys' story was published in the now defunct Detroit Journal. It won first place in a story contest, sponsored by the D.U.R. for the best description of an interurban trip over the lines of the Detroit United Railway.

A copy of the story was loaned to The Record by Mrs. Hanaford.

"It would be interesting to know whose funeral occurred in Northville which required all the community's horses and buggies," commented Mrs. Hanaford.

In Our Town

Saturday sidewalk sale's a community fun fair

By JEAN DAY

Some communities call it a fair. In Our Town, it's the annual summer sidewalk sale sponsored by downtown merchants — but it offers a lot more than great bargains at local stores. In addition to summer clearances both in stores and on the sidewalk in front, there are 160 booths of arts and crafts and antiques.

Newcomers or those who may not have been in town before for the annual event that's upcoming this Saturday will find both Main and Center streets closed off. The block from Main to Dunlap on Center becomes a mecca for antiquers as that's where dealers and individuals taking booths for resale items are clustered.

Charles Lapham, chairman of the event for the downtown merchants, reports he has a terrific "tiger by the tail." He says he could have sold 35 more spaces than were available. "If the sun shines, it will be a record breaker," he promises. And in most years the sun does shine. Lapham is counting on it to do so Saturday from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Many local residents have taken booths, Lapham mentions, noting that candy cones and snacks will be available as well as hot food. Genitti's will have a sidewalk stand. The sale day also has become an important fund-raiser for local groups.

King's Daughters members are baking pies

"We're hoping we last until noontime — we've always sold out," says Marge Bolton, president of Mizpah Circle of King's Daughters and co-chairperson of the sidewalk sale day bake sale with Annabel Gotts. She adds that the specialty this year is homemade apple, rhubarb, cherry and blueberry pies. The booth will be in its usual location by the Main Street parking lot across from the theater.

Homemade breads, including fruit bread, cookies and coffee rolls also are being baked by circle members who will be bringing their wares to First Presbyterian Church Friday between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. for packaging and pricing.

This is the circle's fund-raiser, Mrs. Bolton points out as she mentions that "there has been a greater need" for the local welfare work it does. The 85-year-old group is known for its generous food baskets. It supplies many complete dinners at Thanksgiving. About 55 active members also pledge more than $300 to Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor. In addition last April they gave a "shower" of 100 articles. The King's Daughters and Sons home also receives support from the local circle.

Library Friends sell books — and pictures

Booth of the Friends of Northville Library with used books, paperbacks and issues of the National Geographic for sale will be located near King's Daughters in the Main Street parking lot. This year an added feature will be glossy prints that appeared in The Record more than a year ago that will be sold to benefit the Friends' projects.

Pat Allen is in charge of the booth. Prices will range from a dime to a dollar with most about 25 cents. The Friends work to raise funds for library projects, and also assist at programs. With Town Hall they have purchased the children's puppets. They also sponsor senior citizen films.

Sign up Saturday to study antiques, caning, clocks

Northville Historical Society will begin taking registrations at the sidewalk sale for classes in the third year of its educational program. A new class offering, "American Country Antiques," will be taught by former resident Eleanor Lowell. The six-week Tuesday evening class will cover a different area of country furniture and accessories in each session. Participants may bring in articles for "show and brag."

Basic basketry, beginning calligraphy, chair caning, clock repair, quilting and rug hooking I and II complete the list of classes. All will be taught in the New School Church in Mill Race Historical Village. Doll expert Marcella Tsutui will conduct a two-day workshop in dollhouse dolls. Students will complete two reproduction china head dolls in time for Christmas giving, reports Lucia Danes. One-day workshops include herb wreaths, mother-daughter quilting, pruning and Radiant Star patchwork bags.

After the sidewalk sale, registrations will continue by mail. Brochures will be available at Northville library (where there is to be a permanent bulletin board for posting all historical society activities), and at IV Seasons where window

Discover hidden paintbrush talent

By MICHELE McELMURRY

The brush glides gently across the canvas. With worn but gentle hands, the artist dabs at the palette. Hues of green and blue are stroked on the once stark background. As the image begins to take form, the artist splashes on more color. Bold lines of effervescent yellow and orange light up the painting. And thus, the image of a meadow on a warm summer day is born. The artist, looking longingly at her work, leans back and sighs. The meadow — a childhood memory of long ago — has once again come back to life.

Though they do not profess to be budding Van Goghs or Renoirs, several Allen Terrace residents are proud to display their art work — and rightfully so.

For more than a year, they have been taking painting classes from artist Sandy Daly of Canton.

And in recognition of their hard work and talents, an exhibit of some 60-70 paintings, including some of Daly's work, is being shown at the Terrace complex now through August 9.

"Painting has been wonderful therapy for me," said Vera Saurer, 87, who has painted 30-some pictures this past year.

"I've started doing paintings on my own," she said, "it's much better than sitting around and getting old."

The classes, taught once a week at the Terrace complex, were the product of a master's thesis Daly completed this spring at the Indiana University of Pennsylvania, where she received her master of arts degree in drawing.

Daly, whose thesis was on "Aging," had taught art classes at a "senior citizens action center" in Pennsylvania before moving to Canton.

"I was looking for the same thing when I moved here," she said.

Daly contacted the Northville Recreation Center in April 1979. The center in turn found her some willing art pupils at Allen Terrace.

Though there are only about five or six women in the class, Daly said "they're all great people" and eager to learn.

"Some of them have real talent," she said, "it's unfortunate someone didn't get to them 60 years ago."

Daly said she thought many of the women taking the class have always had an interest in art, but have never had the opportunity to fulfill that interest.

She said some of her students at Allen Terrace have kept early drawings they did as children some 50 to 60 years ago.

"I have had drawings dragged out on paper that is so old it's yellow and brittle," she said.

Helen Lamp, 68, said her first art class was in elementary school. "I got into the class by mistake," she said, "but the principal wouldn't let me out. By the time I got to high school I was getting fantastic marks in art."

Mrs. Lamp said she has "always admired her relatives' paintings," but never thought she had talent of her own.

However, since she started taking lessons again, Mrs. Lamp said she has found she does have talent and "really likes to paint."

"When I'm painting, I forget all about my aches and pains," she confided.

Vera Saurer said her husband was "a marvelous painter," but that she never paid any attention to it.

Yet after a year of lessons, Mrs. Saurer said painting has "given me something to do and it's something that I like."

"I took it because I thought I wanted to learn — and I did," she said.

Mrs. Saurer said she has so many paintings that she has been giving them all away.

"Each of my grandchildren has a painting and now I'm starting on my great-grandchildren."

Daly said the women at Allen Terrace have been enthusiastic about painting since the first lesson.

"On the first day we did a little still life drawing, because I wanted to see what kind of talent we had," Daly said. "Yet from there we went right into painting."

And though some of the students may have been a little apprehensive at first, their fears have faded and many are now more confident about their work.

"My first painting took me two months," said Mrs. Saurer, "now I can do one in a couple of days."

"My favorites are landscapes," she added, "and I've done some pretty good ones."

Mrs. Saurer mentioned that most of the Allen Terrace residents are afraid to paint because they do not think they have any talent.

Yet, Daly said she believes anyone can do it.

"I think anybody can do what these ladies have done," she said. "Anybody can become skilled and competent."

And as one looks at the brightly colored paintings of landscapes, meadows, windmills and seascapes that will hang on the walls of Allen Terrace, it is easy to see why Daly is so confident.

houses with green blinds. There were great heaps of stones piled up in the fields, and stone fences everywhere. It looked as if the people raised stones for a living.

At Orchard Lake we went down a flight of steps that led from the high bank down to the edge of the water. Brownie and I took off our shoes and stockings and waded around awhile, rocked in the rowboat and picked up pebbles and shells from the water. Papa and mamma sat on the shore most of the time and visited with an old man who was fixing a boat.

Everything was still and quiet except the squirrels, which were chattering and chasing about gathering acorns and hickory nuts from the trees which cast their shadows in the clear water below, making such a pretty picture we thought best to use our last plate and have a souvenir of the place.

A young lady and gentleman with a lunch basket came and took one of the boats and rowed across the lake to Orchard Island.

Papa told us the first white settlers found an orchard on the island, and so named the lake and island from that. It was believed that Indians planted the trees there. He also told us of a picnic which was held on the island years ago. An old scow was used to carry the people across. On their way home when they were part way across, the scow went down with all on board. All were saved except two young ladies, an old lady and one man. The man was a good swimmer and had saved a number of people, but was at last drowned himself. The bodies were all recovered. My grandfather preached the funeral sermon in a grove near Waterford. The four caskets rested on biers placed in a row side by side. Thousands of people were in attendance.

"Were you there, papa?" I asked, as he finished the story.

"Yes, dear," said papa "I was only a little boy, but I remember it very well."

We wanted to go across to the island and also see the Military Academy, but decided to take a whole day for it some other time.

We filled our lunch basket with nuts, shells, pebbles, autumn leaves and red thorn apples, and all too soon mamma called to us to get ready for the ride to Pontiac. This was the nicest part of the whole trip. There was a chorus of Ohs! and Ahs! all along; for we were running past such lovely lakes of all sizes and shapes, first on one side and then the other, that we just couldn't keep still. The next we knew we were passing the State Fair grounds and it looked very funny and deserted.

Pontiac is a lovely town — or at least part of it; we did not have a very long to stay there, as papa wanted to get home to feed the horse.

We looked about for something to take home for a "remember," as Brownie said, but didn't find anything until we ran across a "Penny Picture Gallery." We coaxed mamma to let us go in and have some pictures taken. The proprietor had all sorts of hats and bonnets and other things for people to wear when posing for pictures.

Brownie looked pretty good in the sun bonnet, but a straw hat seemed more suited to my style of beauty (?).

"Come on! all aboard for Detroit," sang out papa at the door; "the car will be here in five minutes."

The run home was a pretty quiet one, so far as our party was concerned. Brownie and I were tired and chilly, for it was sundown by the time we reached Birmingham; and mamma had a headache from going without her dinner.

For several miles out of Pontiac we seemed to be climbing up one side of big hills and coasting down the other. The sunset was very beautiful, and we could see it clear down over the horizon instead of just slipping behind a house as it does in Detroit.

The electric lights were shining when we got to the city hall, where we changed cars for the last time.

By this time mamma began to feel like riding on the back porch of the car, and all the rest were too tired to talk.

All things come to an end sometime; and so, at last we reached home.

A bright fire and hot supper made us all feel better, and soon our tongues were busy as ever.

"Wasn't this a funny day?" said Brownie.

"We had a lake trip, anyway," said papa, "if it was on a trolley car."

"Yes, a lake trip, with all the trimmings, even to sea sickness," said mamma.

"Next time we will telephone out before we start and see if there's to be any funerals; then maybe we will get to the place we start for," comforted papa.

"The moral is," said mamma, "not to plan going any farther than the cars go; then you won't be disappointed."

"And no one disputed the moral. At the time we took this long trip we little thought that soon we should call Northville our "Home." We have celebrated two birthdays here; but have not yet been to Walled Lake. We are waiting for the electric cars to run out there.

period suggests the funeral probably was that of Charles G. Harrington, a pioneering industrialist here who came to Northville in 1833 with his father, Caleb, settling first on the old Starkweather farm on West Seven Mile.

Coincidentally, it was Harrington who founded the Michigan School Furniture Company, which was located near the South Main mill pond mentioned by Gladys.

Ironically, upon Harrington's death, he was survived by his wife, Mabel, whose maiden name was "Morse" — but apparently no relationship.

Here's top marathon bridge players

Winners who captured the top three spots in each of 10 groups playing in the 1979-80 Northville Mothers' Club benefit marathon bridge competition have received their awards.

Top scorers in the entire tournament are Rita Young and Iris Kampf who accumulated a total of 33, 150 points. They played in Ladies Day Group III.

As winners were tallied in last season's play, Club President Marge Longridge announced that Joanne Kissel will be marathon chairman for the 1980-81 play, assisted by Mary Pohold. She urged interested residents to sign up early for play to begin in September.

This season's winners, listed in order in first, second and third place in each group, are:

Couples Group I — Mr and Mrs. John Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Couse, Mr. and Mrs. William Secord;
Couples Group II — Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bahl, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Esper, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sparling;

Couples Group III — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Daly, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Woodsum, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Alford;

Ladies Day I — Diane Korowin and Anne Guldberg, Maureen Settles and Pat Baird, Mary Pat Kaminski and Betty Kaiser;

Ladies Day II — Bonnie Rinehart and Connie Conder, Anne Padmos and Betty Kaiser, Mary Pohold and Jane Traudt;

Ladies Day III — Rita Young and Iris Kampf, Barbara Yoder and Betty Balkwill, Carol Couse and Louise Siebert;

Ladies Day IV — Leslie Winans and Sue Fortenberry, Gladys Landine and Dorothy LaCourse, Barbara Heinrich and Rosemary Mentag;

Ladies Day V — Sue Flading and Sharon Neville, Ann Cook and Cheryl Swayne, Barbara Hall and Mary Archer;

Ladies Night I — Lee Baumann and Anne Guldberg, Carolyn Nieuwkoop and Phyllis Lemon, Beth Kordt and Barbara Sixt;

Ladies Night II — Nan Oliver and Phyllis Lemon, Shirley Nair and Helen Corcoran, Betty Greenlee and

Dorothy Hartshorne

Highest scorers in the three Couples Groups were the Gordon Bahls with 30, 630 points. Top winners in Ladies Day Group II, Mrs. Rinehart and Mrs. Conder won 32, 360 points, coming close to over-all winners Mrs. Young and Mrs. Kampf. In their own Ladies Day Group III the winners had close competition from second place winners Mrs. Yoder and Mrs. Balkwill who had 32, 430 points.

Top winners in each group won $50 a couple, second, $20, and third, $10.

Proceeds from the annual benefit marathon are earmarked by the club for assistance to the Northville Public Schools. Couples sign up to play once a month from September through May, playing each other couple in their group during the season. Host couples each month make arrangements for date of play.

Pastor on Outward Bound venture

Pastor Fred Prezioso of Epiphany Lutheran Church has returned from a nine-day "Life-Career Renewal" course in the Boundary Waters Canoe Area of northern Minnesota.

The course, sponsored by Outward Bound, included four days of canoeing and backpacking and a thirty-six hour "solo," where each person camped alone without food, matches, sleeping bag or tent.

"Feedback" sessions and seminars explored the relationship between the various physical challenges of the course and the participant's personal and professional goals and values.

Pastor Prezioso described the course as "a tremendous and exhilarating experience."

Outward Bound is a non-profit organization which provides a wide variety of programs across the country for people of all ages. Some of the programs include wilderness camping, rock climbing, white water rafting and sailing.

In interim post

The Reverend Lloyd G. Brasure, who retired as minister of First Presbyterian Church here the end of June, has accepted an interim pastorage (part-time) at Community Presbyterian Church in Drayton Plains beginning August 1.

Wayne Brasure with star-gazing equipment

His presentation's astronomical

For L. Wayne Brasure, determining the sizes of accretion disks in eclipsing cataclysmic variables is all a part of a day's work.

The University of Michigan senior from Northville has spent the past year doing research for a paper he presented in June to the American Astronomical Society. He expects to be graduated December with two bachelor of science degrees in astronomy and physics.

The paper, presented to the astronomical society at a meeting held at the University of Maryland, was entitled "Accretion Disk Radii in Cataclysmic Variables," and was researched by Brasure, Dr. Joseph Patterson of the Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics, and Martin Sulkanen of Cornell University.

While the research paper cannot be considered particularly "light reading material," it is an extensive summary of the year-long research the student did on the subject.

He is the son of the Reverend and Mrs. Lloyd G. Brasure. His father retired in June as pastor of First Presbyterian Church, and the family has moved to an apartment at 20990 Taft.

Wayne said the meeting he attended in June provided him with "a good opportunity to present a paper."

"I've always been interested in science," he said. "I think ever since my dad bought me my first telescope in elementary school."

He is currently working on research in U-M's astronomy department and is preparing for his last semester at the university.

He said he hopes the research he has done will help him get into the space program after graduation.

Wayne, who is in the ROTC at U-M, said he will be commissioned in the Air Force next year but does not know yet at which base he will be stationed.

"It will really just depend on which base needs more physics personnel," he said.

Though he would like to get into the space program, he said jobs in that field currently are hard to find.

"NASA is really cut back now," he said. "The Air Force has taken away a lot of the space shuttle."

Wayne, 22, is a 1976 graduate of Northville High School.

CAPTAIN NEAL BRASURE

Captain assigned

Captain Neal G. Brasure, formerly of Northville, has received a new assignment with the 55th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing (SRW) of the United States Air Force. His specific assignment is with the First Airborne Command and Control Squadron (ACCS).

Captain Brasure is the son of the Reverend and Mrs. Lloyd Brasure of 20990 Taft, and the brother of L. Wayne Brasure.

Captain Brasure will report to TWA's flight training school for 747 pilots at New York's John F. Kennedy Airport August 26. He will complete training September 25.

Captain Brasure has been stationed at Griffiss Air Force Base in Rome, New York, for the past several years, where he has served as an instructor pilot with the SAC on B-52 bombers.

He is a 1966 graduate of Northville High School and a 1970 graduate of Alma College. He is married to Lisa Griffin Brasure and has two sons, Brent, 4, and Christopher, 3.

PARKS AND RECREATION RENEWAL OF ONE-QUARTER (1/4) MILL FOR THE PURPOSE OF ACQUIRING, DEVELOPING AND MAINTAINING PARKS AND RECREATION AREAS IN OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN

"Shall the constitutional tax limitation on the total amount of general ad valorem taxes which may be imposed each year for all purposes upon real and tangible personal property in Oakland County, Michigan, be increased as provided in Section 6, Article IX of the Constitution of Michigan for a period of five (5) years from 1982 to 1986, both inclusive, by one-quarter (1/4) mill, twenty-five (25c) per One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars of the assessed valuation as finally equalized for the purpose of acquiring, developing, operating and maintaining parks and recreation areas in Oakland County, Michigan? (such increase being a renewal of the one-quarter (1/4) mill increase which expires in 1981)?"

AND ALSO TO VOTE ON THE FOLLOWING CITY PROPOSITION:

CITY OF NOVI CHARTER AMENDMENT

Shall the Charter of the City of Novi be amended so as to provide for raising the ad valorem tax limitation by one-half tenth of one percent (1/2 mill) for parks and recreational purposes?

PRESENT WORDING

Section 9.1. The City shall have the power to lay and collect taxes for municipal purposes.
The annual, general ad valorem property-tax levy shall not exceed:
(a) For general municipal purposes — six and one-half tenths of one percent (6-1/2 mills);
(b) For specific street and highway improvement purposes — one tenth of one percent (1 mill); and
(c) For Novi Public Library — one tenth of one percent (1 mill), of the assessed value of all real and personal property subject to taxation in the City, exclusive of any levies authorized by general statute to be made beyond Charter tax-rate limitations. This tax limitation may be increased for a period not to exceed three (3) years at any time by a majority vote of those electors in the City of Novi voting thereon at any regular City election or special election called for that purpose.
All Charter tax-limitation increases, granted for a period not to exceed three (3) years, by a majority vote of the electors of the City, pursuant to the Charter in effect as of February 24, 1969, shall continue in effect under this Charter for the unexpired period.

PROPOSED WORDING

Section 9.1. The City shall have the power to lay and collect taxes for municipal purposes.
The annual, general ad valorem property-tax levy shall not exceed:
(a) For general municipal purposes — six and one-half tenths of one percent (6-1/2 mills);
(b) For specific street and highway improvement purposes — one tenth of one percent (1 mill); and
(c) For Novi Public Library — one tenth of one percent (1 mill); and
(d) For establishing and maintaining parks and recreation purposes — one-half tenth of one percent (1/2 mill), of the assessed value of all real and personal property subject to taxation in the City, exclusive of any levies authorized by general statute to be made beyond Charter tax-rate limitations. This tax limitation may be increased for a period not to exceed three (3) years at any time by a majority vote of those electors in the City of Novi voting thereon at any regular City election or special election called for that purpose.

ALSO ANY ADDITIONAL AMENDMENTS OR PROPOSITIONS THAT MAY BE SUBMITTED

THE POLLS of said election will be open at 7 o'clock a. m. and will remain open until 8 o'clock p. m. of said day of election.

By MARILYN HERALD

It's mid-vacation season in Michigan and the shutter bugs are out in full force.

Next to getting away from the recent prolonged heat wave, most vacationers give thought, in varying degrees, to bringing back some "really good pictures this year."

Haunting most amateur photographers are memories of those blurry, bleached, fuzzy pictures of former years, and they don't want a repeat performance.

Jim Galbraith, our chief photographer, was an obvious choice for an interview on what to do to improve the quality of those cherished filmed moments so important to family records.

Galbraith turned first to equipment, pointing out that the decision between instant pictures (Polaroid-type), cartridge equipped models (such as Kodak Instamatic) and 35 millimeter systems depends on how serious the photographer is about his hobby.

"Too many people buy complicated cameras, don't really take time to learn to use them, and then are dissatisfied with the results they get," Galbraith said.

For the average person, who exposes only a few rolls of film a year, Galbraith suggests a cartridge equipped camera which is relatively automatic, with a fixed focus that only requires pointing and shooting.

He adds that a camera that produces "instant" pictures is also a good bet for the occasional snapshot when a relative or friend comes to visit. These are not practical for in-depth scenery shots.

For the young couple who would like a good photo record of the family growing up or good travel pictures or for the person who just wishes to become a "serious" amateur, Galbraith feels that almost any 35 millimeter camera system that will accept a number of lens changes is a good buy.

"This adds flexibility and gives the option for wide-angle and telephoto work."

Taking a class in photography such as those offered through various area community education departments or most community colleges is also recommended by Galbraith.

Now that you have the equipment you need, what are some of those little tips that make the difference between the "perfect" picture and the less than adequate ones so many of us take.

Rule number one for the amateur or professional is that all cameras should have a neck strap.

"Never just carry your camera in your hand," says the man who has made photography his profession since 1946. "It's one of my phobias. There's just too much chance of bumping the camera or dropping it, or even losing it if you're not careful where you set it down."

"Start by putting the neckstrap over your head and keep it there."

Next, keep your film in a cool place. If you buy film ahead, put it in a plastic bag and store it in the refrigerator. Be sure to take it out two or three hours before you plan to use it.

Galbraith says never keep film in the car where it is subject to extreme heat. Keep it, along with any batteries you might be planning to use, in a dry place in the cooler. Heat is very destructive to both film and batteries.

Also, don't keep the strobe unit in the car, the trunk is a better bet than the glove compartment.

And, if you're traveling by air, never allow your film to be x-rayed. Insist that your film be hand-checked, Galbraith cautions.

If carrying a supply of film, often, a wise investment is a lead-lined photo guard bag.

While most airport officials will deny it, x-ray does expose film, according to Galbraith. He adds that just one x-ray may not damage it, but the cumulative effect of several x-rays can be very destructive.

It's probably worth the little added expense to invest in a skylight filter to cover the lens. This is cheaper than having to replace the lens due to light damage.

Galbraith recommends equipping

Blues Express

You don't get off
Until you reach the end,
For the road won't turn Though it may bend.

You go up grades.
You go down hill.
You go through mountains.
It's all just nil.

You drive by cities
And you never know
Which one you're passing — Erie? Buffalo?

It's all one canyon and one concrete —
One lane, two, three
And they sometimes meet.

"Slippery when wet"
"Reduce speed ahead"
"Caution — Men working"
"Falling rocks" Enough said!

Just get me a plane.
I'll take off today
To escape from driving
On that expressway!

Martha Forstrom

Baby Face

I look at you in awe,
My newborn I just saw.

Wonderment in your eyes,
Looking at me by and by.

What are you thinking?
Sometimes just blinking.

So wonderfully precious and tiny,
Not even a little bit whiny.

"It's a boy",
A real live toy.

Having two son's,
That's double fun.

Eleven years apart,
For me, a new start.

Michael always wanted a brother,
At one time or another.

Me? What do I feel?
I needed you, baby to help me heal.

It's hard for me to say,
But I lost my little girl one day.

Baby David, I love you, I do,
Today I don't feel so blue.

My heart skips a beat,
Looking from your head to those tiny feet.

The New Rose

Hidden in a field of weeds,
Survived a single rose.
To the others, all alone;
Or so the story goes.

Laughter at the different shape;
Blame and ridicule.
Still the rose refused to cry.
Love, her golden jewel.

She believed in fairy tales;
Memory of a time,
Where she stood a bush had grown.
The rose and thorn entwined.

Late one night, the moon appeared.
It shined upon the rose.
From it's smile, she felt alive.
Kindness made her grow.

Towards the moon, above the weeds,
Soon above a tree.
Upward till she touched a star,
And saw eternity.

We all leave now
In tears of sorrow
In silly laughter
At ourselves

So close and so far
We wave good-bye
Missing each other Before going

Remembering the togetherness
Childhood memories
The yelling and the love
Love always

Realizing that life
Has spread our lives
The pathways wind
But meet along the way

Years must be lived
In short days or Weeks sometimes
Such happy times

And still — oh still
We keep on laughing
And crying away
The good-byes

Shyness

Shyness.
It has so many many meanings...
Like being afraid-
To open up to the people around us.
Like not knowing how
To express ourselves.
Like never knowing
What to say
Or when to say it
Or whether to say it at all.
Like being afraid
No one will understand
Or even care,
If there were no shyness
There would be more room
For love to grow.

your travel camera with slide film rather than trying to carry two types of film.

"It's cheaper to have slide film processed and, if you get a picture you like, you can always have a print made from the slide."

Galbraith says that most libraries have slide projectors for borrowing or renting, so it is not necessary to invest in one in order to view your slides. There are also small hand-held viewers which allow you to view the slide without setting up a screen and projector.

"Daylight color film is balanced for light and can be used effectively with the strobe flash for indoor shots as well."

One of the most common errors in picture taking is having the light source in the wrong place.

"It's one of the biggest problem I see with amateur's photos — having the light behind the person or object they're taking," Galbraith says.

"If you point the camera into the light source, the automatic light censor will give a false reading and you get that bleached out effect from over exposure.

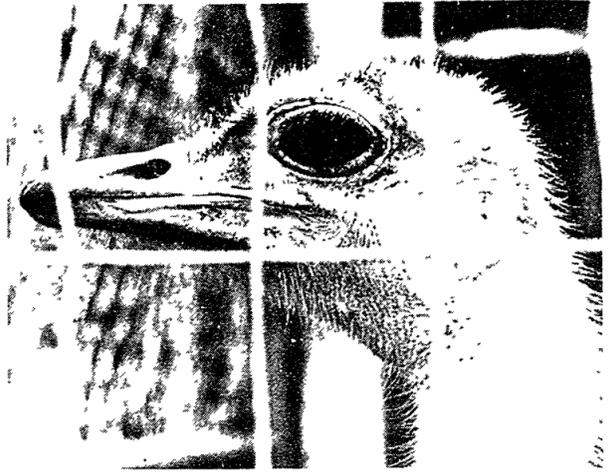

"Always have the light source coming from behind the photographer."

It's also a good idea to slip off your sunglasses when taking a color photo so that you don't get a distorted idea of what you are taking. And, if you wear bifocals, look through the top part of the lens when focusing.

Ever get home from vacation with three or four shots still left unexposed in the camera? Take them up right away and get the film developed while you still remember what should be on it, is Galbraith's advice.

"It's cheaper in the long run than letting it sit around until Christmas and taking the chance of getting a poor quality picture from old film," he adds.

Now that you have your camera slung around your neck by the strap, your extra lens, strobe light and film in the carrying case and the family and gear stuffed neatly into the car, enjoy your trip — and those "fabulous" pictures you'll bring back this year.

Business Briefs

HAROLD HYLAND, FIC, of 23320 West LeBost, Novi, attended Lutheran Brotherhood's eastern regional sales conference at the Hershey Motor Lodge and eastern center in Hershey, Pennsylvania July 11-15.

Hyland, a Lutheran Brotherhood district representative, qualified for attendance at the sales conference on the basis of his total life and health insurance and mutual fund production for 1979. He also was honored for five years of service with the society.

Included in the five day program were presentations on new insurance products, sales tools and methods for attaining success in the insurance field.

Lutheran Brotherhood is a fraternal insurance society with headquarters in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Hyland is associated with the society's Karl Mueller Agency, based in Rochester.

Sunrise, with General Electric. O'Neill is past president of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers.

The Michigan Society of Professional Engineers played host for the national meeting. In addition to the annual banquet with installation of officers on the Friday evening, there were dinners at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, an outing to Windsor and tours of Greenfield Village and Ford Motor Company as well as inspection of the solar installation at the office of Smith, Hinchman and Grylls Associates.

Dr. J. Clayton Lafferty, a Northville resident, of Human Synergistics, spoke on "Productivity, Stress and Management Style" at the Tuesday seminar.

JERRY A. McCABE

JERRY A. McCABE has been appointed product manager for the McCord Gasket Division of Ex-Cell-O Corporation.

McCabe joined the Gasket Division in 1976 as a marketing specialist. He was appointed sales promotion manager in 1978 and in 1979 he became publications manager, the position he held prior to this appointment.

McCabe graduated from Eastern Michigan University with a bachelor's degree in business administration. He and his wife and daughter live in Union Lake.

The McCord Gasket Division manufactures and markets more than 16,000 different varieties of gaskets to all of the major automotive manufacturers, the automotive replacement market and various industrial firms.

Two Island Queen cruises

A star gazing cruise will be held aboard the Island Queen excursion boat at Kensington Metropark on Monday, August 11 at 9:30 p.m.

Naturalist Steve Horn will discuss the summer constellations and their legends, star identification, meteors, and other topics of the night sky.

A charge of $2 per person will be collected upon boarding the boat. Advance registration is required.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the park at 685-1561.

A one-hour "Morning Nature Cruise" will be held aboard the Island Queen excursion boat at Kensington Metropark near Milford on Wednesday, August 13 at 10 a.m.

Naturalist Gordon Lonie will discuss both the human and natural history of the area. Participants are asked to meet at the boat rental dock.

A fee of $1.50 per person is required, with advance registration.

Persons wishing additional information should contact the Nature Center of the park at 685-1561.

In Connie Mack baseball

Northville team tops

Four straight victories last week wrapped up the 'B' Division title for the Northville Connie Mack baseball team.

Strong pitching by Rick Borthwick and John Hale combined with clutch hitting by Bill Bishop, Jim Behen and Keith Crosslin led the squad to wins over South Lyon, Westland, New Boston and Dearborn Heights.

Borthwick hurled a two-hitter in the 3-0 shutout against South Lyon, while Bishop ripped two triples, driving in two runs.

Bishop went three-for-four in the 10-9 clipping of Westland and teammate Behen scored three times. Shortstop Crosslin smacked a home run in helping Borthwick to his second win of the week.

Last Saturday the Northville squad knocked off New Boston, 5-4 completing a game postponed because of darkness earlier in the season and rallied to defeat a tough Dearborn Heights team, 6-3 in the nightcap.

Hale posted the win in the first game, which took only one inning to complete.

He continued his effective pitching in the second contest, allowing only four hits in taking the win.

Northville broke a 3-3 tie in the top of the eighth inning, scoring three runs to clinch the victory.

Joe Hamp, Steve Norton, Behen, Borthwick and Crosslin each collected two hits for the winners.

The squad will move on to district play this weekend in Milan.

Merchants edge Sports Haven in Thomson home run battle

Eight home run blasts in the final game Sunday gave Northville Merchants a 22-20 win over highly touted Sports Haven of Dearborn and the championship of the 1980 Thomson Memorial Softball Tournament.

Sports Haven, a possible Class A world qualifier, banged out seven round-trippers — six in the final inning — to give the Merchants a scare, but it couldn't produce the needed runs.

Jeff Hodgekins had a perfect day at the plate with two singles and three homers, while teammate John Boland lifted two over the fence for the winners.

Merchants eliminated last year's tournament champ Belleville Die 21-10 in the first game of the tourney Saturday.

They also downed Chicago Tool of Utica, 14-10, and Richard's of Livonia, 18-8 on their route to the finals.

Against Belleville, the Merchants exploded with 14 runs on 12 hits — including three round-trippers — in the first inning.

They added one in the in the second, two in the third and four in the fourth.

Hodgekins and Gary Winemaster launched two homers apiece for the Merchants.

Chicago Tool started off with two runs in the first, but the Merchants matched the two and added three more to take the lead and hang on to it.

Jim O'Brien was the home run leader with three, while Ed Kritez added a triple and two home run blasts.

Richard's managed a 3-3 tie in the first inning, but Merchants' six runs in the second, apparently, took the wind out of Richard's sails as the squad couldn't manage a run the next time at bat and scored only five to Merchants' nine the rest of the way.

Winemaster and Boland each cracked two homers for the Merchants, while O'Brien, Hodgekins, Jerry Detter and Tom Doyle had one-round-tripper apiece.

Mantle playoffs start tomorrow

The Northville Mickey Mantle baseball team will open the district double-elimination tournament at Northville High School tomorrow at 3 p.m. in a contest with Ann Arbor.

Macomb County will take on Westland at 6 p.m. in Thursday's only other game.

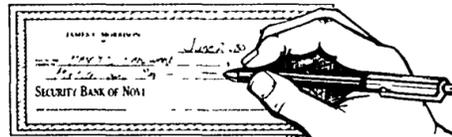

Mantle contests are scheduled for noon, 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, while the championship game between the South Lyon district winner and Northville district winner is set for noon on Sunday.

Grandstand seating and a concession stand will be provided by the Northville Recreation Department throughout the tourney.

Jim Behen, tournament director, said all interested amateur baseball fans are invited to attend.

Male, female athletes alike

The average female is five inches shorter, 30 to 40 pounds lighter — though fatter — and weaker than the average male. She responds to exercise and training the same way as her male counterpart, however, and when strength is not a factor in athletic competition has some advantages over him.

"There are actually more differences, a wider range of variation, among males than between males and females," said Dorothy Harris, director of the Center for Women and Sports at Pennsylvania State University. "When there are difference between males and females, there may be compensatory mechanisms operating that we have not identified."

For instance, just as the deodrant commercial suggests, men and women perspire differently. Men start to sweat sooner and sweat more. Females can dissipate more heat through the blood vessels near the skin. That's why women tend to get redder when they exert themselves, Harris pointed out. Research suggests, she said, that males are prolific, wasteful sweaters. "Men sweat more, women sweat better," she joked.

There's no question that males are stronger than females. This goes back to the maturation and development process.

"Females have an early advantage over males," Harris said. "Girls mature more rapidly than boys, beginning at conception. Males do not catch up until their 20s.

"In late childhood and early adolescence, females, because they mature faster, can frequently outperform males," she continued. "Because males mature later, they continue to grow longer. They develop broad shoulders, longer arms and legs in relation to their trunks, and bigger muscle masses. They end up taller and stronger than females."

Males and females engaged in a strength-developing program will show similar increases in muscle strength, but because the males start out stronger, they remain stronger.

Males, on the average, also have less body fat as a percentage of total body weight.

"The average college female is 25 percent fat; the average male is 15 percent fat," Harris noted. "High intensity exercise is a significant factor in the ratio of body fat to total weight. A study of 78 female long-distance runners showed that 12 had less than 10 percent fat, and another 32 had less than 15 percent fat."

This doesn't automatically mean that long-distance running was the cause of their low body fat, she cautioned. It could be just the opposite: that women with low body fat tend to become long-distance runners.

"After all," she quipped, "you don't see many fat marathon runners."

The one sport in which females' being fatter than males is an advantage is long-distance swimming in cold water, she noted. The extra body fat makes females more buoyant and helps insulate them against the cold. Because their shoulders are narrower, there is less resistance to the passage of their bodies through the water.

One theory has it that the female's extra fat is an advantage in distance running. And it is true, Harris commented, that after the Boston Marathon, it's the women runners who are ready to celebrate — the males just want to crawl away and ease their stiff, aching muscles. The females don't "hit the wall" the way men do, and one theory has it that they're more efficient at switching from burning glycogen (sugar) to body fat for energy for prolonged physical exertion.

This belief is quite a turnaround from the long-held notion that women are too delicate and fragile for endurance events like marathon running. Researchers are now finding that both males and females can improve fitness, endurance, muscle strength and ability to burn body fat with proper training, though women will still perform at a substantially lower level than men.

Whether serious athletic training for athletics makes women "less feminine" is a chicken-and-egg question, Harris suggested. If "less feminine" means stronger and less fatty than the average female, then female athletes are less feminine. But she believes that these characteristics came first.

AFTER THE STORM.

Detroit Edison extends its thanks to more than 300,000 customers who suffered from the most severe thunderstorm on record.

Your patience and understanding helped make orderly restoration of electricity possible.

The thunderstorm that struck at 9 A.M. Wednesday, July 16 was the worst in the area's history. Over 500 utility poles were snapped like toothpicks by hurricane force winds.

8,000 spans of Detroit Edison wire were ripped apart and 700 miles of overhead lines downed. Facilities which took years to build were destroyed in a few minutes. Much of the damage was caused by trees falling on lines and poles.

Immediately after the skies cleared, experienced damage evaluators began to assess the degree of destruction.

Transmission towers and cross arms were twisted piles of steel.

Thousands of uprooted trees littered the streets blocking access to power lines.

Nearly 35 substations and 200 distribution circuits were interrupted.

In all, more than 300,000 customers were left without power.

By noon, repair crews were transferred to the southern portion of Detroit Edison's electrical system where the damage was heaviest. On Thursday, every available company, contract and tree trim crew was at work in Detroit and Wayne, Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

Working ahead of the repair crews, evaluators determined the degree of trouble in each circuit. They estimated requirements for crews and equipment.

So massive was the destruction that almost immediately Detroit Edison called for help from other utilities through its Mutual Assistance Pact. Soon, 101 crews from out-of-state utilities, including Cleveland Electric Illuminating, Toledo Edison, Ohio Edison and Commonwealth Edison of Chicago were working alongside Detroit Edison crews.

Restoration efforts went on around the clock. In 90 degree heat more than 2000 field workers labored on 16-hour shifts to restore power to customers in a repair program that continued until all power was restored. Repair work carried on even through the following Sunday's heavy thunderstorm which deprived 15,000 additional customers of electricity.

First priority in power restoration is given to emergency facilities such as hospitals or buildings housing medical equipment. Next, police and fire stations, water and sewage pumping stations, as well as high voltage transmission and subtransmission lines feeding individual substations are restored. In all cases, those repairs which restore power to the greatest number of customers and take the least time are given priority.

At this report, Detroit Edison believes it has restored power to all customers left without electricity by the recent storm.

It was hard work, skill and dedication that made this so. And for this Detroit Edison says a special thank you to the repair crews and Detroit Edison people supporting them.

We also express our appreciation to the many customers who talked to the crews in person or who telephoned or wrote our offices to say thank you.

If you or someone you know is still without electricity, please contact your nearest Detroit Edison customer office.

Northville swimmers unbeaten, vie for title

By KEN KOVACS

One final victory would give the Northville Swim Club an unblemished 8-0 record and the league championship.

Under the direction of Bill Dicks, swimming coach and teacher at Cooke Junior High School, the hard-working kids have won seven straight meets thus far.

The more than 100 team members, who practice an hour and a half daily, compete in divisions by age group, sex and stroke.

"We don't ever have all the swimmers attend a meet," Dicks laughed. "With vacations and injuries we usually average 70 to 80 swimmers each time we compete."

"But every youngster participates in at least one event each meet," he said. "Some swim in as many as three, but all get an opportunity to compete."

The swimmers, who range in age from seven to 17, compete in 41 events in each meet.

In relay competition, eight points are awarded for a first place, four for a second place.

In individual competition, five points are awarded for a first place finish, three for second and one for third.

No team can take more than eight points in one race, however.

The Northville swimmers have beaten Plymouth Colony twice, Fairway Farms of Livonia twice, Newburgh Swim Club (Livonia) twice and Burton Hollow (Livonia) once.

Coach Dicks attributes this year's success to the great desire of the swimmers.

"The kids have really been working hard and it has paid off," he said. "They have been doing extremely well."

To help raise money for the travel expenses and workout equipment, the Northville swimmers conducted a "swim-a-rama" July 11.

Parents and others contributed a few cents per length and most swimmers completed the goal of 200 lengths, Dicks said.

Northville was scheduled to travel to Burton Hollow Tuesday for the final meet of the season.

The league meet is tentatively set for August 3.

Results of Northville's first six meets are listed below.

Harmon 'boys' do it all for L and H Players' Northville recreation softball team

By KEN KOVACS

When you glance at the lineup card it appears that someone has made an error.

Harmon is listed at first base, Harmon at second base, Harmon pitching and Harmon catching.

However, sometimes there are four Harmons in the lineup for L and H Players of the Northville Recreation National Softball League.

And yep, they are all from the same clan.

Born and raised in Arkansas, Carl, Lester and Delaine Harmon have played together in Northville for the past three seasons.

The fourth Harmon on the squad is Steve, Carl's oldest son.

Steve, Lester and Carl work at the Ford Valve Plant in Northville, while Delaine is employed at Quanex, a seamless tubing manufacturer in South Lyon.

Carl, the eldest of the Harmon brothers handles the pitching duties for the Players. Last year the 44-year-old moundsman issued only three walks all season.

Lester, 41, the only Harmon with a Northville address, manages and sometimes doubles as catcher.

The right side of the infield is manned by 34-year-old Delaine at first base and Steve at second.

In the hitting category, all three currently carry averages over .500.

But, as Delaine points out, "We leave all the heavy hitting to Steve. He is actually the big stick of the family."

Steve has played softball about six years, three in Brighton and the last three in Northville.

With eight home runs and a batting average of .635, the 25-year-old South Lyon resident is handling his role quite well.

The three Harmon brothers have played baseball ever since they can remember, beginning in little league, then on to high school and later American Legion competition.

They entered the softball ranks when, according to Delaine, "We got too old to play baseball."

Other members of the Harmon clan also have gotten into the act.

Eighteen-year-old Cheryl, Lester's daughter is the scorekeeper and head cheerleader for L and H Players. And Lester's son, Brian, 8, is the team bat boy.

And all family members agree, Northville is the best place to play softball.

"This is the best league I've ever played in," Delaine said as the others nodded in agreement. "It is well organized and the teams are well-balanced."

"The only thing I don't like is tie games," he scoffed. "Games should be played out that night or finished another day, but they should never end in a tie. It is not fair to either team."

Five teams in the National League have at least one tie this season.

While Carl, Steve, Delaine and Lester knock the ball around in Northville, other members of the Harmon family are circling the bases in South Lyon and other nearby communities.

"We've got some cousins in South Lyon who are really fine ball players,"

Lester boasted. "Why Moose, that's our cousin Gene's son, is only 20 and he is a helluva ballplayer already."

The Harmon brothers, who have nine brothers and two sisters still living in Arkansas and Missouri, said they may try to get the cousins together and form an all Harmon softball team next year.

Athletes' physical exams set

Student physicals for Northville High School athletes will be conducted August 4 and August 5, Ralph Redmond, athletic director announced Tuesday.

Boys should report to the high school gym August 4 at 6 p.m. and girls at the same time the following day.

Any student planning to participate in athletics at the high school this year must get a physical this week, Redmond said.

Previously issued physical cards should be filled out completely when students arrive for the physical.

Raise $1,400

The organization's first raffle netted some $1,400 for the Northville Junior Baseball program.

According to Dennis Nielsen, president of the Junior Baseball Association, the money was needed to help support the overall program, as well as for specific projects — obtaining higher quality umpires and maintaining playing fields.

"We really needed the monies badly because of a lack of funding for recreation this year," he said. "Everyone who helped deserves some thanks."

Taking the first place prize of $500 was Joan Kinnelly, 743 Horton, while Dean Frellick, 20219 Woodhill won $250 and Thomas Schwarz, 18820 Valencia received $150.

For Little Caesar's

Title is within reach

With only three games to play, Sheehan's Little Caesar's is two games up on the nearest challenger, Action Drywall.

The two teams were scheduled to play Monday and a Sheehan's victory would just about assure the first place squad the Northville Recreation Softball National League title.

Caesar's grabbed a pair of wins last week knocking off the Eagles, 17-7 and Our Lady of Victory (OLV), 12-9.

The Eagles scored in the first inning, added three more in the third and led Caesar's through the first three frames.

But Caesar's runs in the fourth, two in the fifth and eight in the sixth were too much for the Eagles to make up.

John Osborne paced Caesar's with a triple and the game's only home run. Jim Overbey smacked a

E-League crown is Cards'

All challengers stepped aside to allow the Cardinals the two victories they needed to wrap up the Northville Junior Baseball E-League championship last week.

The Cardinals helped their own cause by blanking the Pirates, 13-0 and blanking the Reds, 8-5.

Scott Schaal led the Cardinals in the shutout of the Pirates with three hits, while Dave Martin cracked two triples and Dave Malinowski smacked a pair of doubles.

The league champs had a total of 11 hits.

Dave Copp had a pair of two-baggers for the Pirates.

The Reds could manage only four hits against the champs, who had only seven of their own — two off the bat of Martin.

Prior to their losses to the Cardinals, the Pirates and Reds earlier in the week faced each other in a game which the Pirates squeaked out, 13-12.

The Pirates smacked 10 hits to the Reds' nine, Greg Wolfe of the Reds leading all hitters with three safeties.

The Reds scored all their runs in the first three innings, tallying two in the first, and five each in the second and third frames.

The Pirates started out with four in the first inning and added five in the fourth, two in the fifth, one in the sixth and the winning run in the ninth.

Jeff Traudt, Craig Brown, and Fred Bauer collected two hits apiece for the winners.

In other E-League action last week, the Reds swept a double-header from the Giants, winning 11-10 and 12-11.

Bob Orlovski smacked three base hits to lead Reds' batters in the first game. Bill Kinnaird, Rich Wilson and Bob Burgett each added a double.

Two-baggers by Jeff Anger and Greg Dace paced the Giants' hitting attack, which was helped along by a dozen walks issued by Reds' pitchers.

The second game of the double-header featured an unusual triple play.

With men on second and third, infielder Greg Wolfe fielded a ground ball, threw to first (one out), a base runner was caught in a rundown between third base and home plate and tagged out (two outs) and a second runner was tagged out attempting to go to third (three outs).

The Reds had 10 hits enroute to the victory, while the Giants collected nine.

Ted Behen had three base hits for the winners.

While the Cardinals were galloping to the championship, the Braves' hopes to upset them were crushed, even though they picked up two victories over the Giants.

The Braves swept the double-header, 10-8 and 19-2.

Andy Dimitroff scored three times in the first game as the Braves collected 15 hits on their way to the victory.

The two squads went into the final frame tied 4-4. The Giants erupted for four runs, but it wasn't enough to stop the Braves' hitting machine which produced six runs to taken the win.

John and Mike Collins paced the Braves' hitting attack with two hits apiece in the second game.

The Braves punched out a dozen hits to the Giants' five.

Todd Bartling had a double for the losers.

 rors. But the Players took advantage of five Jaycees miscues, a double by Howard Caulford and a triple by Carl Harmon in the fourth frame, scoring eight times. The Players added two more in the fifth on a one base error, a single by William Turner and a double by Dave Cochrane. The Jaycees added a run of their own in the fourth and got three in the fifth — on five singles and a Players' error — and another in the seventh.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

CD Sparling 12, Merchants 2

The Merchants suffered their second loss of the season as Sparling jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a Merchants' error and doubles by Kendall Smith and Dave Picney and never trailed throughout the contest. The Merchants, who normally crack several home runs a game, could manage only eight hits, all singles. Sparling, however, got round-trippers from Bob Maxwell (2) and Dale Seifker (1). Joe Herter contributed three base hits in the victory.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Alumni 17, EDM Specialties 4

Undefeated Alumni breezed to another win knocking out 18 hits — including five homers — along the way. Denise MacDermid cracked two singles and two round-trippers for Alumni, while Louise Hopping had a single and two home run blasts and Eve Williams added another homer. EDM's only runs came in the second and sixth innings. A single by Denise Staples, an Alumni miscue and a base hit by Sandy Carlton pushed two across the plate in the second. A single by Cindy Scannell and a home run by Robin Thoms produced the final two EDM runs.

Little Joe's 23, Sheehan's 21

When Joe's tallied 15 runs in the team's first time at bat, it looked like Sheehan's was doomed to a mercy. But Sheehan's worked its way back scoring three runs in the first, four in the second, six in the third, two in the fifth and six in the final frame to make it a close contest. Joe's benefited from 10 walks, while Sheehan's batters also received 10 free passes throughout the course of the game. Nancy Schlachter ripped three singles and a triple for Sheehan's, scoring five times. Ann Drapowski had two base hits and a home run for Joe's, while teammate Karen Marzonia also cracked three hits.

Super Bowl 11, Winner's Circle 7

Winner's Circle hitters matched Super Bowl batters with 13 hits, but Circle couldn't push enough runners across the plate. Super Bowl scored all of its runs in the first four frames, then held Circle to only four until the final frame when three Circle runners made it home before the comeback attempt was squelched. Debra Junk, with a pair of doubles and a base hit, and Normajean Higelmire, with a home run and a single led the hitting attack for Super Bowl. Sandy Myers smacked three singles and a round-tripper for Circle and teammate Betty Kemp banged out three safeties.

The Northville nine beat teams from Zenia, Ohio (4-3) and Akron (3-2) and dropped one game to Miamisburg, 7-4.

Both victories were not decided until the final frame.

The league champs were scheduled to play two games with Miamisburg Tuesday to decide the regional championship.

Bobcat swimmers division champs

And they say women have come a long way. The Novi Bobcats have completed the transformation from doormats to dazzlers in three short years, coming full circle in their 272-169 dual meet swimming victory over Royal Oak last Tuesday. The victory — the Bobcats' third straight this summer — means that they're the Northwest Parks and Recreation League's Division B champions.

Coach Manse Tian's club, which was dunked by nearly all comers when established a few years back, also finished second in the Clawson Relays Thursday. The week before, the Bobcats claimed lopsided dual wins over Farmington Hills and Oak Park.

The division clincher was highlighted by several outstanding relay and individual efforts. The youngest winning medley relay team for Novi was the 100-yard medley entry of Michelle Patail, Kristin Laing, Nancy May and Stephanie Unangst in the girls' 10-and-under class. Three of those four were also triumphant in the 100-yard freestyle relay as Kris Papp replaced May in the quartet.

Meanwhile, the Bobcat 10-and-under boys won both of those events. Each time the quartet was Geoff Unangst, Chris Cawley, Jamie May and Brian Wohlfeil.

Karen Kriewall, Kathy Bietler, Melissa Bechtold and Kaya Patail continued the Novi stronghold on the 100-yard medley and freestyle relays by winning in the 11-12 class. The locals also claimed the 200-yard freestyle and medley relay events in the 13-14 class as Debbie Wohlfeil, Noreen Langkill, Linda Iseli and Anita Neilands took the girls' honors and Carl Frank, Robert Papp, Rob Hill and Chris James did the same for the boys.

Finally, in the 15-17 group, the 200-yard freestyle and medley relay squad of Beth Marchetti, Sheila Albers, Karen Hogue and Lynn Wohlfeil were winners.

Individually, Novi claimed no less than seven backstroke winners, five breaststroke and freestyle champs and four butterfly victors. The youngest Bobcat backstroker to nail one down was eight-and-under participant Stacey Laing, who claimed the 25-yard event.

Two Novi winners surfaced in the 10-and-under class, however. Backing their way in the 50-yard event were Stephanie Unangst and Bruce Bekkela; Karl Freydl did the same in the boys' 11-12 group.

A couple more solo backstroke firsts came in the 13-14 class as Debbie Wohlfeil and Robert Papp did the 50-yard honors. Karen Hogue, at 15-17, tacked one on as well.

Among the five Novi solo breaststroke winners was young Kristin Laing, who took the 50-yard event for the 10-and-under crowd. Also contributing in that category was Mark Hill in the 11-12 division and Linda Iseli and Robert Papp in the 13-14 group. Mark Hughes was also a Bobcat breaststroke first-placer, copping a 100-yard win in the 15-17 bunch.

New softball league offered in Wixom

Hey, you 12-17-year old boys out there. Looking for something to do with your Thursday evenings?

You might try the Wixom Parks and Recreation Department's newly-formed softball leagues, which feature a 12-14 circuit and a 15-17 loop and plays at Wixom City Hall every Thursday. The league will continue play until the Thursday before Labor Day. And better yet, it's free. For further information, contact Tom Burke at Wixom City Hall (624-4557).

This Summer more and more Americans are staying at home, playing at home, entertaining at home in our own yards and porches, patios and parks. We're picnicking, barbecuing, dining in the open air. We're biking and hiking, running and sunning, and "getting away from it all" right in our own backyards! And fashions for 1980's at-home outdoor living look fresh and happy as a garden full of daisies.

Color's the clue to the Summer fashion story. Brights! Turquoise, red and yellow shine and often combine in contrasting blocks or wedges of color. Separates gain new excitement teamed with unexpected colors. Take a black jacket and add a purple blouse and red skirt, and—if you're really adventurous—wrap around a bright yellow belt. Take a "serious suit" and add a colorful pair of pumps. Take a pair of blue jeans and loop a striped grosgrain belt through the waist.

From daytime to evening, pants pop up as fashion once more; shoulders are shaped, but subtly; bottoms are fuller; colors are peppier and add up to super style in geometric combinations.

Summer action sportswear looks snappier than ever. Tank tops striped with color bands tuck into matching shorts. White pants and bermudas—fuller and more flattering—team with bright blouson terry tops. Jeans look newest with contrast stitching and whimsical hip-pocket embroideries or doused in bright red or lavender or sunflower gold and paired with matching knit t-shirts.

GO FOR FASHION!

GO FOR FUN!

If you're into actionwear just for fun, be sure to remember your feet. Moccasins or flat-heeled bright-toned lace-up shoes are the fashion footsteps to follow. For jogging or tennis or other active sports, give your feet the support they deserve.

Swimwear makes a terrific splash under the stars as well as the sun. Bright-hued maillots in artwork prints or stripes are winners teamed with a skirt or a relaxed pair of pants.

This year the Good Old Summertime brings back the good old days with a Rah! Rah! return to the Classics. The Preppy look has burst out of Palm Beach and off the campus to become hot fashion news. Simple insignia knit dresses and t-shirts make a refreshing daytime statement. Madras culottes, navy blazers and cotton crewneck sweaters are fun and ultimately suitable.

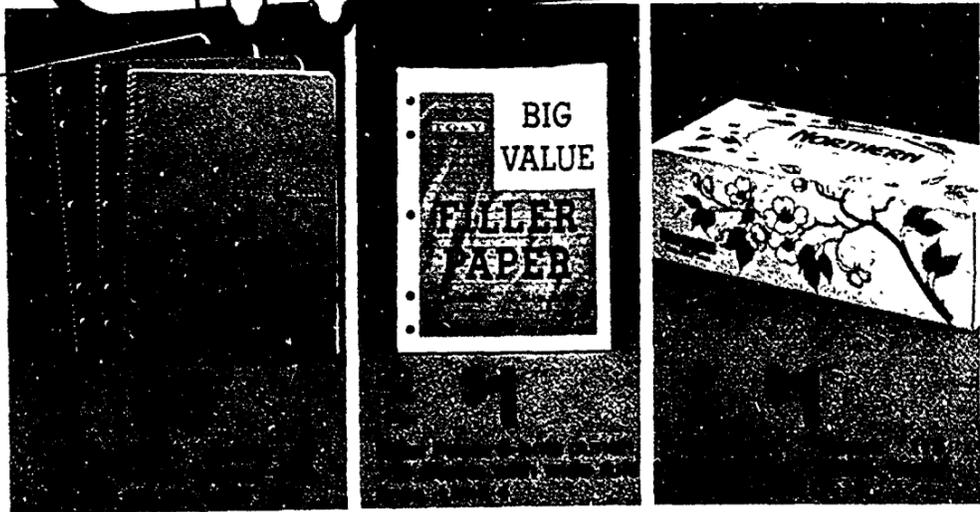

For evenings, play the innocent romanticist or the sexy seductress. Skin is in with sweet, lacy camisoles and print sundresses, or sultry halter and one-shoulder tops.

Accessories to liven up every summer look include straw hats...bright grosgrain ribbons (tied around hats, hair, collars, waists)...preppy straw bags trimmed in cordovan leather...wood-handled "Bermuda" bags...spectator pumps and belts...big choker-length beads...and sculptural plastic bracelets.

To make the most of Summer this year, make the most of You. Discover your best fashion looks, and be part of the action!
