Former publisher's taking 28-year memories south

By JEAN DAY

Last weekend Glenn and Pauline Cummings completed hand-packing 164 boxes of personal possessions representing 28 years of living in the Northville community and 59 years of marriage.

The former publisher of The Northville Record, 1952-56, who also ounded The Novi News in 1955 with his on Tom, and his wife are leaving the unique home they built on West Six Mile to be nearer their son and his family. They're moving to Austin, Texas, where they'll be "sitting on top of the mountain" in a home they have purchased there.

Their new home, built into the hillside and overlooking a Texas valley, sounds as individual as the one the couple built here near Hines Parkway.

In talking about their move Glenn Cummings expressed the positive thinking that is characteristic of him.

Both want to be nearer family in retirement but plan to return to Michigan to spend summers at Glen Lake.

After purchasing The Record from the widow of William Cansfield in partnership with N.W. Hopkins, an absentee owner, in January, 1952, Cummings bought the lot on Six Mile from Sterling Eaton.

"At that time," Cummings recalled last week, "the old Northville opera house was being torn down. I got the brick for the house."

Located on a ravine setting, the house always has been noted for the fine paneling in the living room fireplace wall.

Cummings confided that this was a result of reading want ads. A home on Lake Shore Drive in Grosse Pointe was being torn down at the time and marble fireplaces and other fixtures were advertised for sale. The paneling Cummings finally bought and the fireplace were in its library.

The home had belonged to John Anderson, the attorney, Cummings related, who had incorporated Ford Motor Company for the founding Henry Ford cash, so he paid in stock that later was worth $20 million. I called Victor Rust who was working on my house and he drove over to see the woodwork. He was concerned that it would be ruined taking it out with a crowbar.

"Ford couldn't afford to pay him

"After he left, I bought it and came back to take it out the next day. The entire wall had been screwed together with the fireplace as part of the big unit. It came out beautifully."

Cummings added that he had built the home with only two bedrooms as that "was all we needed." The Cummingses have just sold to Richard King, owner of a printing business in Detroit and former resident of Ypsilanti who recently was wed to a former Arizona resident.

Township tables HUD grant funds

Search renewed for site to house local ambulances

Finding a Northville area home for Novi Ambulance Service is once again a concern of city and township officials ollowing a meeting Thursday.

The problem apparently had been solved two months ago when the township offered to house the ambulances in a Wayne County Child Development Center building west of Sheldon Road it currently uses for fire services.

John Early, director of the service, originally said the site would be acceptable, but appeared before the township board again Thursday to explain why he ultimately decided to reject the building. When he okayed the site, Early said, he was under the impression that his ambulance service would be the sole tenant of the building.

"Now, I come to find out you're putting the fire department in the same building with the ambulance service," Early said. "My men are in there 24 hours a day on call. With their (fire department) equipment in there they'd be opening the garage doors and such while our people are trying to sleep.'

Wants full board vote for contract renewal

Faced with concerns about subsidized housing, development of elderly housing, sewer projects and citizen opposition, the township board of trustees Thursday tabled until the next meeting its decision on whether to continue participation in federal community block grant programs.

That meeting is September 11 and the notification deadline for entering the program is September 15.

"This is so important an issue, involving so much money, that I think we should have a full board before we make a decision," Trustee Susan Heintz said, making the motion to table the matter.

Trustee William Zapke was absent from the meeting, as was Clerk Clarice Sass. Deputy Clerk Georgine Goss sat for the proposed elderly village on the grounds of Wayne County Child Development Center. The most recent of these, under the 1980 agreement the Township made with the county, was accepted by the board Thursday.

Participation in the block grant program, however, requires acceptance of HUD-sponsored subsidized housing for low and moderate income groups as well as agreement to comply with a stack of HUD and Wayne County rules and regulations.

The annual agreement considered by the board Thursday is actually one with Wayne County calling for cooperation and assistance in accomplishing the county's goals in the areas of urban renewal and housing assistance.

The construction subsidized housing at Swan Harbour and Northridge apartments has drawn opposition from citizens living near the complexes concerned about property value deprecitation.

"Where there's smoke there's fire" won't necessarily hold true during the next several days in the city.

If you discover smoke in your home or hovering over your lawn — and have received a bright yellow flyer — your home is being tested.

The city has contracted with Penetron testing firm to have sanitary Pewer lines checked for leaks by means of smoke testing.

City Manager Steven Walters said about half of the city's lines, mostly in older sections, are being tested. The firm's testing engineers arrived Monday from Ohio and will work through August 29.

Penetron says the smoke is not of equipment in the building. Other sites available to the fire department are not suitable for this equipment, Thoms said. For instance, a building on the east side of Sheldon could not house the tanker because it is not heated and water would freeze in the truck.

Early said he did not want to accept responsibility for the safe-keeping of fire equipment and did not want others to have access to the ambulance service quarters because its equipment includes drug supplies.

"I don't want to have to try to figure out if it was our guys or their guys if something goes missing or is damaged," Early said. "Let me put it this way, would you want someone else in your home?"

When Supervisor Donald Thomson said the "bottom line" was that the fire department needed those rooms, Early became more forceful.

"I feel this should be a top priority," he said. "I've lived up to every agreement I made with you and no one seems too concerned about getting us up here.'

He noted that housing an ambulance to service the Northville area in Novi causes delays in service.

"It's going to happen some day," he warned. "There's going to be a bad accident or someone is going to be in full cardiac arrest and that ambulance is going to be stuck at those railroad tracks.'

City Mayor Paul Vernon took exception to Early's statements to the effect that local officials did not seem to care, and offered to have Early reexamine sites offered by the city prior to completion of the CDC option.

"I can recall a meeting at which the CDC was perfectly acceptable," Vernon said. "We stopped looking for a place because we thought you'd found one. We'll start looking again if we have to, but no one is trying to keep you out."

Novi Ambulance began billing the two communities for space rental at its Novi headquarters when the township deal fell through. Each is billed $200 per month, and Early said he intends to continue charging for the space used by

> Richard Allen, who received the most votes of any candidate for township trustee in the August 5 primary election, will begin his term early as a result of board action Thursday. The board of trustees named Allen, of > 47000 Stratford Court, to complete the term of former Trustee John Swienckowski, who resigned last month.

> Allen will sit on the board from its next regular meeting until November 20 as Swienckowksi's replacement, and will then be sworn in to his own four year term.

> Swienckowski turned in his resignation July 21 in response to the board's decision to drop legal action against HUD (the federal department of Housing and Urban Development). Presenting his resignation before the vote on the matter was taken at the special, closed session he said he could not be a part of a board that would yield to blackmail.

> Suspension of the township's pursuit of an injunction against development of the Northridge III subsidized housing project on Seven Mile Road followed threats to community block grant funds also administered by HUD.

> The board accepted Swienckowski's resignation "with regrets" on a motion by Trustee James Nowka Thursday. Later in the meeting, Nowka suggested that departing board members receive some sort of recognition for service offered the community. Following discussion, the board approved such recognition and decided it would begin with Swienckowski.

> Allen said he would be happy to begin work as a trustee soon. He received 849 votes in the eight-way Republican primary race for four trustee seats.

The programs, administered by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), are intimately tied to a wide range of development projects currently underway or planned for the near future in Northville Township.

The community's annual appropriation from the program has been pegged at $99,000 applied toward the eventual construction of sewer systems to the HUD-designated blighted housing district of Park Gardens at Five Mile and Haggerty Roads.

Additionally, there have been frequent $100,000 "innovative project" grants invested in study and planning

Although monies come from HUD, the program is administered by local governments. In this area, the administrator is Wayne County under its HUD designation as an urban county and that arrangement has caused problems in the recent past.

When citizens demanded, and the township filed, an injunction against continuation of the Northridge III subsidized housing complex, the priority of county government came to the fore.

Vets predict dog virus arrival by Labor Day

Dog owners should be on the watch for a new fatal disease that may arrive in the Northville area in force by Labor Day, local veterinarians warn.

Canine parvovirus, a small virus that infects growing cells, has reached epidemic proportions in the South and is spreading rapidly north and eastward.

Within the past two weeks the disease has been spotted increasingly in Ohio and Ann Arbor, according to veterinarian R.J. Slating, of the Millstream Animal Hospital on Northville Road.

Veterinarian Carol Geake said the latest bulletin from Lansing reports the scope of parvovirus in Michigan at fewer than 400 cases state-wide this year, though it is growing. The first confirmed incidence in the state this year were in Lansing, where 46 cases of the disease have been identified through August 1.

The virus, related to the virus ; that causes cat distemper and disease in other animals, manifests itself in most dogs as a gastrointestinal tract problem prompting diarrhea and vomiting, Slating said.

Thus far, he has seen only five or six cases of the disease this year, he said, but dog owners should be aware that the virus is approaching this area because swift treatment is needed.

Geake and her associate veterinarian Ann Cavender have seen "five or six suspected cases" but none have been positively identified. Neither opportunity to fulfill a dream in allowing me to buy The Northville Record in 1956. Frankly, I have never known two finer people. The community will miss them - and so will I," commented William C. Sliger as Glenn Cummings came to say good-bye last week.

Sliger bought The Record and Novi News and became one of The Record's longest owners, operating and expanding for 20 years before selling to Suburban Communications in 1976. "Coincidentally," Sliger added, "I also know Dick King. He will be a fine addition to our community.'

Cummings, a University of Michigan graduate, had been in the pubic relations and advertising business with Hopkins before buying The Record. Cummings had worked on newspapers and magazines in the East and in Detroit. He was manager of the Wall Street Journal's Detroit office for seven years before entering the public relations field in 1945.

After selling The Record, Cummings owned and operated the Midwest Bank Note Company, a firm that prints municipal bonds. He retired from the company in 1972, selling it to N. H. Whiteside, who became a Northville resident with his family. They live on Whipple Drive. Whiteside expanded and moved that business from Plymouth to Northville.

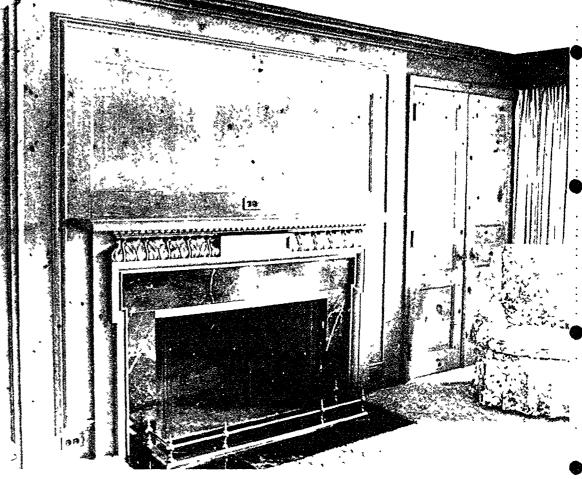

"Both (Sliger and Whiteside) have done well with the businesses, Cummings observed with satisfaction as he talked of his Northville involvements before leaving for Texas.

His son Tom is executive director of the East Texas Ford-Auto Dealers' Association.

He had worked for his father as business manager of The Record here and then later for J. Walter Thompson Advertising Agency, moving to Texas with the agency.

After selling their Northville home, Cummings flew down to Texas and was able to purchase "the only house we had seen we really wanted."

Cummings related it is in "the Great Hills section" and will accommodate their collection of antiques.

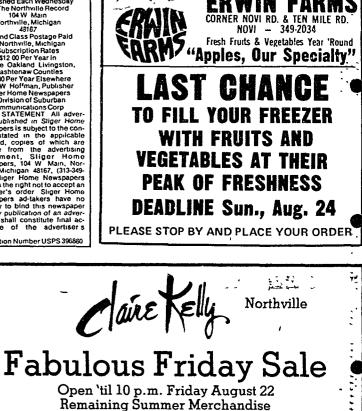

Fireplace wall was salvaged from Grosse Pointe home by Cummings

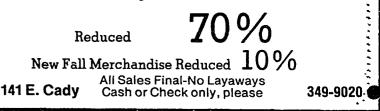

Among the possessions that Cummings personally packed - "you don't trust movers with things like this" were dishes that gréat-grandparents had brought to the Midwest by canoe. Monday movers came for the 164 boxes Cummings had packed and for the couple's furniture.

And Glenn and Pauline Cummings left to begin a new life in the South with many memories of more than a quarter of a century in Northville. Not bad for a fine man who this week is celebrating his 81st birthday with the woman he married 59 years ago.

3 men sought in party store armed theft

Police are searching for three men in their early 20's in connection with the August 12 armed robbery of Joe's Pantry, 680 Eight Mile.

According to the store owner, Lloyd Moore, two men - both with lightcolored hair and mustaches - entered the store at approximately 11 p.m. and asked if it was still open.

Then a third man, wearing a ski mask and wielding a revolver, entered and said "This is for real," pointing the gun at the owner.

The other two men took a bag of money - the bank drop for the day from employee Melaney Hetmanski and also went through her purse.

The three men dashed out the door with approximately $400 in cash and checks and headed south, Moore told police.

"It was odd because they didn't ask if that was all the money or if there was more," Moore said. "They just took off.'

No one was injured in the robbery. A little more than five years ago -January 23, 1975 - the original owner of the store, Joseph G. Snage, Jr. was shot to death in an apparent robbery

Two youths discovered the body of the 49-year-old Snage behind the counter at approximately 9:40 p.m. on a Thursday.

It was the first murder in Northville since 1953 when a woman shot her husband on North Rogers Street.

Moore told police the man with the gun was wearing an army fatigue jacket and that the other two men had on blue jeans.

Anyone having any information which may aid police in their investigation is asked to call Lieutenant Gerald Ryan at 349-1280.

Despite city letter

Joint building inspection ended

Joint building inspection services between Northville city and township terminated August 1, despite a letter from City Manager Steven L. Walters that would have extended some cooperative service through the end of the month.

Walters sent the letter to Troy Milligan, township building inspector, August 5, authorizing Milligan to continue making inspections in the city on permits issued before the August 1 termination date.

That portion of the letter simply authorized Milligan to complete work the city already had paid for, but Walters' letter also included a paragraph that would have Milligan review and inspect new permits issued this month, and that drew the ire of township officials.

Manager hiring process begins

With the primary election out of the way Northville Township is turning back to development of the new business manager organization to begin with the next government.

Richard Henningsen, chairman of the wage and salary review commission that is developing the structure, presented an outline of the next few months' work to the board of trustees Thursday.

The commission met August 12 and, though "decimated by vacations," established a procedure for hiring a business manager, Treasurer-elect Henningsen said.

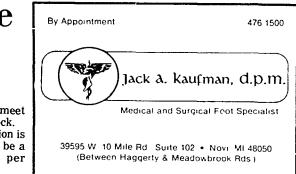

Advertisements announcing the opening are being placed now in publications related to public administration, he said. Guidelines for the selection and a job description will be developed in the next four to six weeks.

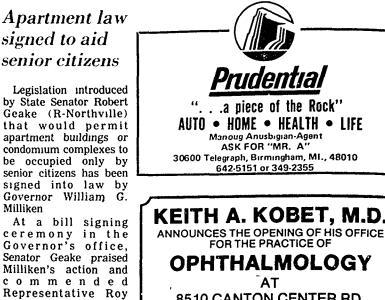

Henningsen said he hoped these would be completed in time for the September 11 board meeting, but he suggested that a special meeting might be needed later in September for board review of the proposal.

October 1 has been set as a deadline for applications, but review of applications and resumes may proceed before that date. October 7,8 and 15 have been set aside for interviewing the most promising candidates. After these are completed, Henningsen said, the board can meet in closed session to review the candidates and narrow the field.

A business manager may be chosen at that closed session, or two or three acceptable candidates may be chosen for board selection at an open meeting. In any case, Henningsen said, a business manager will be selected by November 20 when new township officers are sworn in, and the township will be ready to begin fresh with a new business manager, supervisor, clerk, treasurer and three new trustees.

•Council, NPOA ratify new police contract

"I think we have a good contract," Mayor Paul Vernon commented Monday as city council by unanimous action officially ratified the 1980-81 union contract with the Northville Police Officers' Association.

The contract, calling for a 5.4 percent wage increase for patrolmen and 8.6 for dispatcher-cadets, was ratified August 13 by the NPOA. The city received official notice of the ratification from David P. Fendelet, NPOA president.

Vernon said he was pleased with the results, observing the NPOA had "shown a willingness to cooperate" with the city.

The increase will bring the top current pay for a patrolman with three years' service up from $10 an hour to increase actually is higher than it appears. The union agreed to extend patrol mileage from 50,000 to 60,000 on police cars with certified inspection approval at 40,000 and 50,000 miles and to defer pay-rate increase for college credits until initial new-hire probation period is completed.

The city agreed to pay time-and-one half for hours worked on holidays and to convert personal leave days to vacation days, providing there is a 24-hour advance request for one-day vacations. Overtime assignment errors, if not balanced out by equalization by the end of the year, will be carried forward into next year's balances, it was agreed.

Cleaning allowance for uniforms was raised from $145 to $175 semi-annually.

Weaving puts retired carpenter back to work

By MICHELE MCELMURRY

More than half a century of carpentry has kept the hands of Kenneth Lunn strong but nimble.

As he pulls the needle around a stiff coil of reed, the brightly colored yarn slips gently through his fingers. The basket he is weaving is adorned with an intricate North American Indian pattern - a design he creates as the basket takes shape.

"I've only had three lessons," claims the 81-year-old weaver. "The rest I learned by myself."

Lunn, who started weaving almost 17 years ago, took up the craft when he retired from carpentry.

"I just couldn't do the work (carpentry) anymore," Lunn said. "Then one day I saw somebody weaving, and the more I watched her the more interested I became.'

And from that day on, Lunn has spent the majority of his time weaving everything from baskets to place mats. "That's all I do is weave baskets and grow a garden in the summertime,' Lunn explains. "I really love it.'

Lunn, who moved to Northville Township in 1936, currently is the oldest member of the Mill Race Weavers' Guild.

He said he joined the guild "around seven years ago because I just wanted to get into a weaving guild of some kind.

He said he mostly does "just plain weaving," but has recently spent a good deal of time doing basketwork another form of weaving which he took up three years ago.

Basketweaving, however, is much different from other forms of weaving and it entails a great deal more patience.

To begin the basketweaving process, Lunn starts with a Number Six round reed. The reed, which is course and brittle, has to be boiled in water to make it softer and more flexible.

Once the reed has been boiled, it has to dry for a couple of days. After the reed is dry, approximately threefourths of an inch must be whittled from one end of the reed. As soon as this is done, the actual weaving process begins.

The reed is wrapped with wool yarn and Lunn creates a design as the basket takes shape. Most of the baskets he makes have a traditional North American Indian pattern.

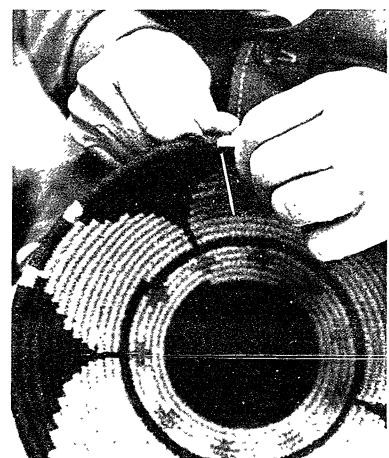

According to Kathy Zasuwa of Traditional Handicrafts, who has worked with Lunn, the criteria for a basketweaver should be "strong hands and a lot of patience."

"I know he (Lunn) spent a whole winter on one of the baskets," Zasuwa

Lunn demonstrated his basketweaving techinque at Traditional Handicrafts last Saturday. The free demonstration was open to anyone interested in learning the craft and Zasuwa said the turn out was 'pretty good.'

Traditional Handicrafts currently has a window display of both old and new baskets, which include a few of Lunn's

Canine parvovirus needs swift treatment, vets say

Geake nor Slating has encountered a fatal case this year. Slating has encountered death caused by the disease previously, however.

"People see this thing in the newspaper and on television, but until they see a dog die of it they really don't understand," Slating said "The dog is sick one day, or it doesn't eat one day and the next - pow, it's dead."

Although, he said, he doesn't want people to panic, "the minute a dog starts to vomit, they should contact their veterinarian, or if the dog has bloody stool, contact the vet. Bloody stool and vomiting are the surest signs."

Other signs include lack of appetite, depression, occasional fevers and yellow-grey stool. These signs are not restricted to parvovirus, but if a dog exhibits these or similar symptoms it is likely to need veterinary care.

Press reports of death rates approaching 50 percent probably are exaggerated, Slating said, though parvovirus can be fatal.

In young puppies, five to six weeks old, the virus can infest the heart cells and cause death immediately without warning or later heart failure. In older dogs with diminished immunity, it also can prove rapidly fatal.

Stronger dogs usually survive with treatment for the diarrhea and dehydration. Good nursing care is essential, Slating said, because one of the first signs of the disease is a diminished white blood cell count that weakens the dog's defenses against other diseases.

Treatment includes replacement of fluids andelctrolytes while providing nourishment intravenuously and guarding against secondary infections, advise Geake and Cavender.

The virus is transmitted from one dog to another, usually through virus contained in the sick dog's feces. Virus is sometimes found in the feces of dogs that do not exhibit symptoms. Urine and saliva also are suspected routes for the disease. It also may be transmitted by insects in contact with dogs, or by humans stepping in feces and tracking it into the home so direct contact between dogs is not needed.

Breck

Isolation from other dogs is the primary defense against the disease, however, veterinarians said. Vaccines against the virus are available, all derived from the feline form of the virus. Dogs frequently contacting other dogs, through dog shows, grooming kennels, obedience classes, or boarding facilities should be vaccinated, the doctors advise.

Contact in the neighborhood or when travelling also should be protected against by vaccination. An FDA approved virus is not yet available in quantity though testing is complete. Most veterinarians are using vaccine designed for feline distemper, which produces immunity due to the similarity of the viruses. Cats are not susceptible to canine parvovirus and do not present a danger to dogs, however.

Slating is using a single injection of the vaccine, and checking dogs later to see if immunity has been retained. Those checked thus far, he said, have maintained immunity on a single injection at least through three months. Geake and Cavender are recommending always making a second injection two to four weeks after the first. One of these show dog outbreaks occurred locally, and Slating was among the doctors who sent samples to Cornell for study. This year, epidemic proportions were first reported n Texas and gradually spread throughout the South and up the eastern seaboard.

There is no present evidence that the virus can be transmitted to humans. Slating said that if contagion from dogs to humans were possible, it probably would be shown by now due to the intensity of the epidemic elsewhere in the country.

Epidemic proportions are not currently occurring in Michigan but veterinarians warn dog owners to be alert because the disease spreads rapidly.

Nab suspected con man

An investigation of a local money scam by six area police departments, including the Michigan State Police at the Northville post, has resulted in an arrest.

Larry E. Gammons, 31, of Pinconning August 15 pleaded not guilty to the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses (a 10-year felony) at a 35th District Court arraignment in front of Judge James Garber.

Currently, he is being held in Wayne County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bond in cash or sureties.

Examination is set for Monday, August 25 at 9 a.m. in front of Judge Dunbar Davis at the 35th District Court in Plymouth.

Gammons, picked up August 14 by state police from the Bay City post on a similar charge, is believed along with others — to be responsible for several such scams in the area.

Police believe the Northville-Plymouth area is being worked by at least two, possibly three confidence men. The others also are white males, probably in their late 20's.

A Baskin-Robbins 31 Flavors ice cream store in Plymouth Township recently was tricked out of approximately $150.

A similar scam was attempted at Joe's Pantry, 680 Eight Mile, Northville recently.

The scam is perpetrated, typically, on small businesses with cash on hand, police said.

Usually, a lone male enters the store making frantic pleas for cash. He explains that his father has suffered a heart attack outstate and that the suspect needs airfare to fly down to be with the stricken relative.

When the cash is offered the man leaves an I.O.U.

Police say they are close to making arrests in the City of Plymouth where at least one such scam is being investigated.

They are asking any persons who have information which may be helpful or who have been approached, to stall the suspect and immediately notify state police by calling 21-4526-80.

Eventual aim of the program, he said, will be to reduce ground water. General condition of public lines is the most important emphasis of the study, he continued. The study also is measuring flow of sewage.

Walters expects that most of the smoke will be visible outside a house, unless there is a defective system.

Asked what happens if a homeowner finds a leak through the smoke

Our opinions

We welcome inspection split

We're pleased the township board rejected an invitation by City Manager Steven Walters asking the township building official to continue making inspections through August. The break was made — a break that in our opinion was justified — and temporary extension of the building official's service in the city would have served no good purpose, given the dissatisfaction on both sides.

Meanwhile, the city council ought to move swiftly to fill the vacancy — hopefully either by a full-time professional perhaps serving some dual role for the city or by a professional service firm on a parttime basis. The rumored negotiations between the cities of Novi and Northville to share building department services, similar to what had existed between the city and township of Northville, are not welcomed by this newspaper.

Such a move, it seems to us, may be buying some of the same kinds of problems that led to the eventual termination of the citytownship agreement. It's impossible for a servant to serve two masters when he must abide by two sets of regulations. Thankfully, no such conflicts exist in shared library and recreation services because one set of guidelines serves both.

Mackey MSU

remodeling ok?

NO

Michigan State University President Cecil Mackey's headline expenditures for Cowles House, campus home of the president, appear inconsiderate for the times.

Not knowing the full story of what was approved beforehand, there may be some more reason than we know for his action in somewhat lavish spending to remodel, redecorate and refurnish, but it does seem questionable to consider each expenditure separately rather than part of a total that came to almost $90,000. (This is given as the basis for not taking the project before the board, as required.)

When tuition fees constantly are going up, it is not surprising tht people are criticizing such expenditures as $12,000 for a Steinway grand piano being taken out of state funds.

I am wondering about the accommodation for his mother. If they (board of trustees) had agreed upon this as part of his taking the position, it should be so stated. Otherwise, the remodeling of former servants' quarters above the garage should be his responsibility for his mother.

It is not as though this is a private college. It is the state's largest university and is supported by state funds — our tax dollars. Not only because it is an economically depressed time, but because it is a question of ethics, this is important beyond the $90,000 expenditure.

Stacey Becker MSU Class of 1973

YES

Nobody should argue that Michigan State University President Cecil M. Mackey's home, Cowles House, doesn't need redecorating. Built more than 125 years ago, it has had the same dingy interior for the past 30 years. Though times are tight, I don't believe $85,000 is too much to spend upon redecorating a place which is so often used for university business.

Mackey may have been politically stupid, but not improper, in authorizing the project without the formal approval of the MSU Board of Trustees. To my understanding, Mackey had that authority.

understanding, Mackey had that authority. The redecorating bruhala, however, is only a manifestation of the real problem: the petty political feud between Mackey and MSU Alumni Association's director Jack Kinney who have been hurling allegations of impropriety at each other ever since Mackey became president.

The real crime in this whole affair is not in the expense but in the futility of redecorating Mackey's home. The aim of redecorating — to improve a great university's image to visitors — has already been forfeited by the ugly infighting of MSU's highest administrators.

State salutes Mainstreet 78

While most area residents have a growing awareness that Mainstreet '78 is on the way to rejuvenating downtown Northville, it's gratifying to see that the project is gaining state notice.

As workers slice through concrete in parking lots and across streets to lay conduit for underground cables to hold utility installations in a first step of the city update, City Manager Steven Walters and Mayor Paul Vernon have been asked to speak on the Downtown Development Authority undertaking at Governor William Milliken's Small Cities and Rural Areas the Mainstreet project. Mainstreet '78 is the result of untold hours of work by many volunteers who want the community to stay vital — and beautiful.

The Northville conference delegates will be asked, the Mayor reported earlier to council, to explain the "captured tax plan" involved. When the value of downtown property increases as a result of renovation, the differences in tax value will be used directly to pay off the bond issue approved by voters to make the Mainstreet project possible.

Small Cities and Rural Areas Growth being held Thursday and Friday at Ferris State College in Big Rapids.

The recognition is well deserved for both have invested hundreds of hours in the conception and development of Northville's input at the conference should be valuable to other cities — and it's just great to know that the steps into the future taken by this community are going to receive state publicity.

Citizen clout

Citizens do have clout.

Last week we editorially urged citizens of Northville to write their state lawmakers demanding that legislation be written giving local communities some meaningful traffic controls on county roads passing through local communities. We had particular reference to Eight Mile Road where county officials have for years ignored local pleas for lower speed limits. A number of citizens did just that.

On Monday State Senator Doug Ross' office called The Record for backgrounding on why the senator had received a sudden rash of citizen communications. We were promised the senator would look into the matter immediately.

If you agree with us that Northville, which must live with the traffic hazards on Eight Mile, should have some say on controls, i.e., speed limits, traffic signals, signing, etc., for county roads passing through the community, we suggest you join those who already have written and voice your views, too.

Citizens and local officials have been pleading for reduced speed limits on Eight Mile for years but, lacking any legal jurisdiction, their pleas have been ignored by Wayne and Oakland counties. Since the counties refuse to pay attention to local pleas, it's time citizens start exerting pressure at the state level. Rest assured, your voice will be heard.

Your legislators' home addresses: Ross, 14650 Sherwood Court, Oak Park; Senator R. Robert Geake, 48525 West Eight Mile, Northville; Representative Richard Fessler, 7045 Cedar Bank Drive, West Bloomfield; and Representative Jack Kirksey, 32710 Barkley, Livonia.

Editorial opinions of The Record are developed and written by Publisher Jack W. Hoffman and Editor Jean Day with occasional contributions by other Record staffers.

Staircase patterns

"Why didn't you just explain that the water gushed into your fishing waders as you were floating in a leaking tube that was stabbed by Frank's hook in the middle of a storm two months ago?" she asked her husband when he announced he'd gotten his second traffic ticket in 25 years.

"Because, dear lady, it's not a believeable story; besides, neither the officer nor I had time for it."

The husband neglected to add that an explanation was purposely avoided so he wouldn't have to hear a disbelieving officer's response. He still recalled the smirk of another patrolman a quarter century ago when the reporter explained that at the suggestion of the police dispatcher he was speeding to catch the mother-in-law of a stabbing victim who thought the reporter was a police detective.

As he handed the reporter the ticket, the officer said, "I've heard a lot of mother-inlaw stories but this one deserves a citation."

Last week, 25 years later, the officer said, "Let me see your driver's license and your registration, please."

The registration was retrieved easily from the glove compartment, but when the husband tried pulling the driver's license from his wallet it wouldn't budge. The top edge was clearly visible but it was "glued" inside the leather pocket.

For what seemed like an hour the husband worked to remove the license. Then, finally, it broke loose to reveal the face of a license nearly completely blotted out by an ink-like substance from the leather. "I'm sorry about that," the driver said sheepishly as he handed the license to the officer.

After making his radio checks, the officer returned. "I'm not going to give you a ticket for failing to come to a complete stop out of the parking lot," he said. "And I'm not even going to ticket you for that defective rear taillight. But, mister, I sure think you deserve this citation for a mutilated driver's license."

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to two of the letters published in last week's Record.

one written by my friends, Patty Svatora and Jim Stratton. It was beautifully written and very sincere. A First of all, I'd like to compliment the lot of us are missing Brad and Marcia

When you go to the polls in November, you will be asked to vote on at least five ballot proposals. Proposals A, C and D are property tax proposals. Proposal B would lower the legal drinking age from 21 to 19 years of age. Proposal E would raise the state income tax to pay for the construction of new prisons.

Beginning with this column, I will detail for you each of the ballot proposals and provide some of the arguments for and against their passage. Although I have serious reservations about the desirability of any of them for the people of our area, I will try to give you fair and balanced descriptions.

This week let's take a look at the Legislative Property Tax Proposal. It was drafted by a coalition of government officials and special interest groups who were in a panic that the Tisch amendment would pass unless the people were sold on some alternative. It was, passed by the required two thirds majority of both houses and approved for placement on the November ballot by Governor Milliken. For this reason it is sometimes called the Legislative/-Executive proposal after the two branches of government most involved.

It will appear on the ballot as Proposal C and would reduce property taxes statewide by a total of $800 million and collect a small amount more in increased sales tax revenues.

Specifically, it would establish a $7,100 exemption on the assessed valuation' (SEV) of each owneroccupied home for operational millages. That reduction would amount to about $350 for the average homeowner in Michigan and in Northville Township. City of Northville homeowners would save slightly over $400 in property taxes, due to the higher millage rate in the city. Renters would get a $140 property tax credit.

In order to recoup a large portion of the revenues lost to the state through the property tax reduction, the state sales tax would be increased from the current 4 percent to 5.5 percent. The proposal also would:

Property Tax Credit program (commonly called the "circuit breaker") which annually returns over $300 million to Michigan citizens for property tax relief. Index the two forms of property tax relief to reflect inflation so that if inflation continues upward, so too would the property tax exemptions. Repay local units of government for lost revenues from monies received from the increase in state sales tax. Begin a phaseout of the sales tax on utilities in 1981 or 1982. Index the personal income tax exemptions to reflect inflation. The current exemption is $1,500. The rate of inflation would probably boost that figure to $1,600 by the 1982 tax year.

 Earmark state lottery revenues for education.

The proposal has been criticized by many as it is a tax shift rather than a tax cut package. While the sales tax is certainly a better measure of ability to pay than the home property tax, most taxpayers will receive very little relief because savings from the property tax will be lost through the increased sales tax.

Renters who spend less than $9,333 per year on items for which sales tax is charged would come out ahead. Those who spend more than this amount wuld pay more in annual sales tax than the $140 they save on the property tax credit.

Homeowners whose families spend less than $23,333 per year would come out ahead while those who spend more would lose.

It should be noted also that because of budget problems, the state probably cannot afford the initial shortfall ranging from $25 million in the first year to some $100 million four years later before balancing out.

However, supporters argue that the revenue shortfalls are even greater in the other property tax proposals, and if there is to be any property tax relief at all, this proposal provides that relief without crippling necessary government services.

Next week I will outline the Smith-Maintain the current Homested Bullard Property Tax proposal.

Collins and we sympathize with their and to try again next year. family.

Marcia and Brad were two people nobody wants to forget. They were the kind of friends we liked to be with and talk to. We always enjoyed seeing them around. Most of the time they were happy, carefree, and enjoying themselves.

They were close, too. Not like the usual brother/sister relationship where one can't get along with the other and they fight all the time. Brad and Marcia went places and did things together a lot of the time. A lot of us are having trouble accepting what has happened even now.

For those who appeared at the funeral, I think the looks on the countless number of faces and the tears in our eyes said it all. We love Brad and Marcia and we're going to miss them. If there could be anything done to change this situation, it would have been done a long time ago. But there isn't much we can do about the past. So we're left to hang on to those memories of the times spent with Marcia and Brad, and the laughs we had together. We are all glad that while they were here, we got to know them.

As I write this letter and remember Brad and Marcia as they were, a frozen feeling takes over my mind when I think about what has happened to them.

Although I can't continue to dwell on this recent tragedy, I know there's got to be a way to prevent another one from taking place. I am now referring to the letter written by Dianna Clarke of Lexington Commons condominiums proposing the already-known idea of a traffic light at the Taft-Eight Mile intersection.

I support the proposal totally. Though I'm not yet a driver, Ms. Clarke's letter and arguments for it combined with what has happened to my friends should be reason enough. I'd also like to thank you, Dianna, and all the others who helped in trying to save their lives. Now I'm asking the people of this community, please, if a petition supporting the Eight Mile-Taft traffic light proposal comes your way, please sign it. A life is much more important than the hassle of stopping for a red light. No one's family and friends should have to go through grief like this again.

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to Charles apham regarding the sidewalk sale: Twice we tried to enter the sidewalk sale and twice we were turned down once before the rain and again at 9:10 a.m. on Wednesday after the rain. We were told that all the extra spaces had been taken already (in 10 minutes?)

We, therefore, decided to attend the sale instead. I doubt we will ever attend another. There were six empty spaces and probably more we did not see. These were not in access areas so that is no excuse. You stated, when we came in, that no one had canceled out of those you had contacted to reschedule the sale — well, someone must have! You could have at least put us on a waiting list to be notified in the event someone didn't show up!

We also feel it is pretty rotten that you gave first choice to out-of-towners ver Northville residents. Two years ago I was one of the first 10 people to sign up for your sale. On the day of the sale I was the only person who had not been assigned a space and had to wait one hour till you found something, while everyone else was setting up. Needless to say, your organizing left something to be desired in both events!

You will not be approached by either of us to enter your sidewalk sale ever again - we will take our business elsewhere.

Happy in Costa Rica

As far as we are concerned your idewalk sale was not a total success! Mrs. Pat Jordan

Mrs. Mary Jane Thompson

To the Editor:

Several years ago, I wrote you about Costa Rica and our planned retirement there (my husband is retired from the Navy). You asked that I write again, when settled, but I have been so busy living I haven't had the time!

However, today, listening to the news gloom, wars, energy crises, the shrinking dollar and poor Jimmy Carter - it occurred to me your readers might enjoy the second episode in the "Saga of the Birds."

We moved, bag, baggage, grandmother, teenagers and all, to Costa Rica three years ago and have been happily settled in Ranchos Maricosta. Our experiences deserve a book. They have not only been exciting but, at times, hilarious. The only flaw was our inability to find easilyaccessible, registered beach property. Probably a blessing in disguise. It made us look to Colombia (another democratic republic, where, it turned out, it cost even less to live than Costa Rica.)

There we found Palmas de Oro, a lovely, old coconut plantation on the Caribbean. And, to complete its unique setting, when we looked away from the sea, we saw, towering over everything, 19,000 feet high and snow-capped, majestic Mount Colombus of the Sierra Nevadas.

It may be hard to believe - hundreds of green palms, blue sky and ocean, pounding turf and golden sand, snowcapped mountains — but it is all there in Palmas de Oro; on the Pan American

Highway near Santa Marta, oldest and most fascinating city in all of the Americas

So, now we have two loves: our ranch in Costa Rica and beach in Colombia. We feel we have discovered a new, exciting American frontier and are eager to share our find with others. (If you think you are too old for adventure, we are 59 and 63 and both of us have battled and, so far, conquered cancer!)

Write us at PO Box 157, Liberia, Guanacaste, Costa Rica, and send your letters by international air mail at 25 cents per half ounce. We promise to answer.

Now, from Latin America, we wish you salud (heath), dinero (wealth) and amor (love).

Township tables HUD block grant fund contract

action when the county threatened cancellation of the Park Gardens grant and blockage of the township's application for grants toward development of the senior citizen's housing complex Trustee James Nowka, Zapke, Sass and Treasurer Lee Holland voted to pull out of the suit, Heintz and Supervisor Donald Thomson to continue it

Swienckowski resigned from the board following this action, calling withdrawal from the suit "yielding to blackmail " Ironically, board packets included a letter from Zapke stating his inability to attend the Thursday meeting and requesting a special meeting of the board earlier in the week to "discuss" the withdrawn suit. Such a meeting was not held, Thomson said The action that prompted the withdrawal, taken by James Curran, director of the county block grant program, was apparently in line with the philosophy of HUD rules governing administration of the program.

HUD rules, read into the record by Heintz at the Thursday meeting, give responsibility to the county to see to it that local governments do not block HUD plans or goals. If they take any action that might delay or block HUD programs the county is to take action to "remedy the problem." Such actions may include education, assistance, alternative administration "and, where such actions are not effective, reprogramming funds that were allocated for projects in the affected unit of government to projects elsewhere in the county."

The regulation further states that, if the county efforts do not cause the local government to comply, HUD may impose its own set of sanctions, including cutting grant monies or other measures

Keintz said she thought that, before re-entering the agreement, township officials ought to be well aware of the rules under which funds are available. She said, however, she did not think this section of the rules authorized Curran to take such action on his own and suggested that this angle be pursued.

Plymouth Township withdrew from the program Tuesday night and members of the audience at Thursday's meeting suggested that Northville Township do the same.

Thomson, however, said his government's situation is different from that in Plymouth. Northville Township would be "turning its back on hundreds of thousands of dollars from previous years" were it to pull out, he

The Park Gardens grant, Thomson said, "has been put in a sock" toward the time when enough is accumulated, in another two or three years, to finance installation of sewers in the area often described as "a quagmire "

The entire area, built more than 30 years ago, Thomson said, is prone to flooding every time it rains and the contents of septic tanks float to the surface frequently.

Without vast increases in millage, he added, the township could never to hope to absorb the cost of sewering the area.

Writing off the HUD funds would also of this area over $790,000 and they won't have to educate a single kid for that money. The school system gets most of. your property tax money (42 mills as opposed to the township's 2 5 mills. One mill equals $1 for every $1,000 of state equalized valuation), and this project could greatly relieve your tax burden.'

The angered citizens, many of whom are involved in an effort to pick up the suit against HUD the board dropped, were not convinced.

The basis of the suit is that HUD. violated its own rules by approving the Northridge III development despite its non-compliance with local Housing Assistance Plans (HAP) which designate sites for assisted developments in both county and township.

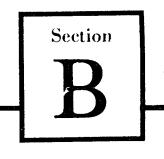

When the trustees meet in September, they also will have to consider that refusing the block grant monies does not preclude the institution of assisted housing in the community" According to county block grant officers, assisted housing can be constructed anywhere and the only difference when dealing with a non-cooperating community is that local review is done by the municipality and not the county.

Even this review, however, is restricted to site plan and zoning considerations. HUD will not refuse to subsidize a development simpl because of local opposition to subsidized housing.

HUD rules offer only three alternative designations for municipalities in an urban county. A community may: accept block grant

Brazilian exchange student hopes to return to U.S.

Immigrants to the United States in the late 19th century fled to this country with the belief that "the streets were paved with gold '

And though the gold glitter has become somewhat tarnished over the years - with staggering unemployment, soaring prices and an ill-fated auto industry — the United States to many people still stands as a symbol of freedom and opportunity For Andre Manochio, a former Brazilian exchange student who spent his senior year at Northville High School, the chance to return to the U.S. would be a dream come true.

Andre came to Northville in January 1973, as an exchange student in the Youth for Understanding program. He lived with Robert and Midge Haynie and their three children at 44020 Cottisford.

For the past seven years, the Haynie family has kept in contact with Andre through letters, telephone calls and In a tape recorded June 24, Andre told the Haynies of his desire to come to the United States. He also explained to them the difficulties he anticipates in moving to this country - if such a move is possible. "We have two problems," Andre said in the tape. "The first is is that we have to be certain we can stay in the states for at least five years.

'The second is a visa,'' he said. "At the American consulate here down in Brazil, we have on our passport permission to stay in the states for tourism — we're going to have to have a document to stay in the states for five years or more."

Andre said in the tape that he realizes his biggest obstacle will be in finding a job - especially now.

"It's very difficult," he said, "because the U.S. is receiving too many people from Cuba and other countries. There are too many people looking for a job in the states."

However, Andre said it is "very difficult" finding a job in Brazil. "The problems here are getting bigger with the economy now," he said. "It is very difficult for those who are just graduating to find a job."

American family."

"Andre doesn't think he can get a visa unless he has a job lined up in the U.S.," she explained.

Yet Andre is confident about is abilities in his field of study. "In the area of agriculture, I can do anything," he said.

Another problem for Andre is the prospect of moving his family to the U.S. from Brazil.

"My wife Mara wants very much to go up there and take our daughter to hy: in the States," he said. "But all this has to be very planned - our family will have to make a new home in another country and all this is very difficult and very expensive.

'We will have to sell everything," he

"There's a lot of things we have down here that we like very much," he said.

"But we will pay the price...we want to he will have to plan very carefully. "When I left the U.S.A., for $1 we family for him." It was the Haynie's son Mark (then 16), who first heard about Andre through the Northville High School swim team.

"One day he (Mark) called me and asked if we could take Andre in," Mrs. Haynie said. "It just wasn't a decision to make in haste — we didn't know anything about him."

After a family discussion, the Haynies agreed to invite Andre to their home for a meeting. "We were all sitting around on a Sunday afternoon waiting to meet him," Mrs. Haynie explained. "Suddenly the doorbell rang and when I opened the door there was Andre with all his luggage and he said 'Hi Mom!' "I just looked at my husband in desperation and that was it — we took him in.

During his stay in Northville in 1973, Andre was a member of the Northville High School swim team which took the state championship that year.

"He did very well in his studies and was well-liked by both his classmates and the community," Mrs. Haynie said.

Fred Holdsworth, the former principal of Northville High School used to take Andre to every Tuesday rotary meeting, she explained.

"He was a wonderful addition to our family," she added.

Andre said in the tape that he misses the United States and has many fond memories of his year spent here.

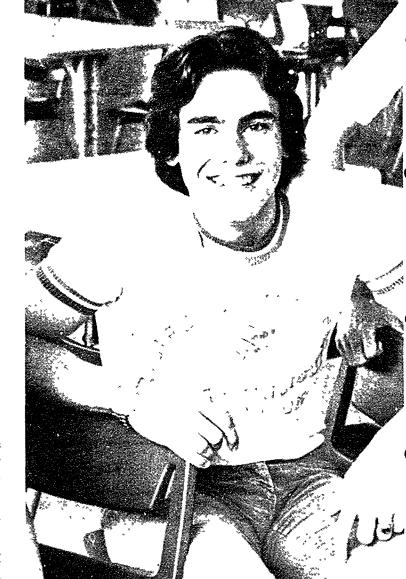

"Some things make my heart very little," he said. "I miss all the things I left in the states — all the people.

"I'm still keeping my trophies (from swimming) I brought from the states," he added.

Andre, who speaks in somewhat broken English, said he "doesn't know how to write in English very well anymore.'

However, he said he is willing to learn and hopes that with the help of friends he will someday be able to return to Northville.

"We are looking for a house around Northville," he said. "We are going to stay in the states five years — and if possible the rest of our lives.

Louise Whittington, upper right, checks planter - one of many in spacious gardens

Jn Our Town Travelers return to winning garden

By JEAN DAY

When the E. O. Whittingtons returned a week ago Sunday night from a satisfying trip to Europe that included seeing the Passion Play in Oberammergau, Louise Whittington found they were owners of The Garden of the Month for August. Members of the Country Girls Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association visited the couple's home - set on six acres filled with flowers, trees and shrubs — and chose the Whittington gardens as "most outstanding" of the 10 nominated  $\alpha$ this month.

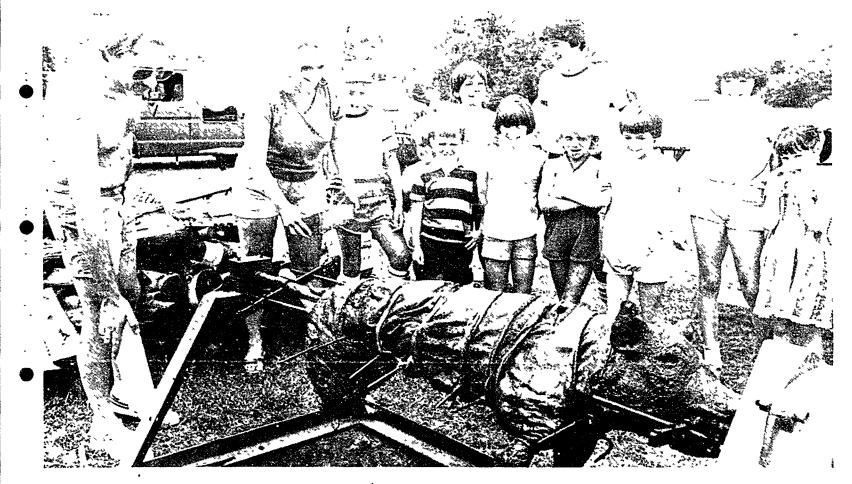

Located at the end of the road on Stratford Court, the property has "every nook and cranny landscaped and beautifully maintained," reports Mariann Batzka, chairman of the project begun by the garden club in May. While chosen for August, Mrs. Batzka reports that this is an all-year garden filled with such perennials as peonies, iris, lilies and mums, and enhanced with annuals. It's not too surprising that this is a showplace garden as Mrs. Whittington is associated professionally with IV Seasons Flowers where she is known for her artistry with flowers.

Mrs. Batzka says the club is delighted with response this month to the garden competition. She even had a long-distance call from a woman in California who receives The Northville Record and who wanted to nominate her mother's garden here. Anyone wishing to suggest a September garden may call Mrs. Batzka at 420-2799.

Mrs. Whittington reports that the Passion Play based on Christ's last week on earth was extremely well done. While the six-hour drama is presented in German, she explains that those attending are given an English libretto. Almost 350 years old, the play, which is presented every 10th year, will be given 92

The Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College is looking for a new way to let the world know of its services The center, in conjunction with the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Inc., and the Sliger Home Newspapers, is sponsoring a contest to come up with a symbol it can use on letterheads and brochures - and possibly adapt to such uses as decorations for T-shirts and mugs Area artists are invited to submit designs incorporating the letters WRC and symbolizing the spirit of the college center. Entries will be accepted between now and the end of September.

Entries will be judged early in October by a panel which will include Lincoln Lao, a member of the Schoolcraft art faculty; Glenna Merillatt, creative services director for the Observer & Eccentric; and Laura Toy, a member of the Schoolcraft Women's Advisory Committee.

The winning design will be adopted for use by the resource center. The winner will receive a prize of $50 Three honorable mention designs will win $10 prizes.

Center Director Jean Christensen said the WRC had been seeking a symbol for some time that would represent the spirit of its work.

"The design we use should represent the diverse views of the groups that use the center," she said. "We are educational and strictly nonpolitical, so we don't want our symbol to reflect any single group.

"I also would like to incorporate the WRC letters, and I hope the design can relate to the center and show how we relate to the community.

Ms. Christensen pointed out that the resource center helps women help themselves and seeks to give them guidance in their expanding roles. While aimed at being of service to women in the college and community, the resource center also has been used by men on occasion, she added.

She also suggested that the design be a single color to make it easier to reproduce for stationary and other uses.

All designs must be delivered or mailed to the Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia, by September 30. Designs must be no larger than 5 by 7 inches, and each entry should include the contestant's name, address and telephone number. Contestants will be assigned numbers for judging.

The winning design and the three honorable mentions will be reproduced in local newspapers.

times between May 24 and September 28 with townspeople taking all acting roles.

The town has required that those attending stay in the Bavarian community two nights. The Whittingtons and their tour group stayed in private homes. During their two-week trip the Whittingtons also visited Austria and Switzerland.

The pig was a feast for 45 families

Connemara Hills' sixth annual subdivision outing was rated as another super success as 45 families with a total of 80 children participated Saturday, August 9. While there were children's games with prizes from local merchants, volley ball games and lawn tractor races, the real highlight was the 150pound pig that provided the main course for adults and teenagers (kids ate hot dogs). Men of the subdivision had mounted watch on two-hour shifts through the night to insure that the pig kept turning on the big spit owned by the subdivision. It was just as tender as a pork loin, pronounced Sue Hinds. She assisted Lorraine O'Neil, chairman.

A popular feature of the day were the fun rides on a new fire engine brought by Al Hanson. Fathers vied with kids for this adventure. Winner of the tractor race was Ken Jacobsen.

She's Columbus queen

Roseanna Tuggle is 1980 Columbus Day queen

Mil son

For Roseanna Ziano Tuggle, August 3 is a day she will long remember.

On that day approximately 500 guests watched as Roseanna, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Tuggle of 19801 Smock, was crowned the 1980 Columbus Day Queen.

Roseanna, 17, was one of nine contestants competing in the Columbus Day Queen Contest at the Gourmet House in St. Clair Shores.

Representing Buon Amici lodge (which means "good friends" in Italian), Roseanna was chosen the winner by a panel of five judges, who scored each contestant on poise, talent, appearance and an interview.

In the talent competition, Roseanna demonstrated her piano skills by playing "Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt.

As the contest winner, Roseanna received a $500 savings bond and a 14 karat gold ruby necklace.

She will make 'numerous public appearances, beginning September 9, when she will attend a proclamation signing at Governor William G. Milliken's office.

She also will be in the Detroit Columbus Day Parade in October and is scheduled to make a televison appearance.

She said she also will attend the Italian Sons and Daughters of America (ISDA) convention in Pittsburgh.

Roseanna is not the first member of the Tuggle family to win the contest. Her sister Loriann, now a student at Ferris State, was the first runner-up in the 1978 Columbus Day Queen Contest. For Roseanna, who will be a senior this fall at Ladywood High School in Livonia, the upcoming year will be more than just school work.

Award homes are built for a comfortable future

Looking for a new house? This weekend, take a look at the attractive energy-saving homes displaying the Detroit Edison EEE Award sign.

At today's energy costs, an EEE Award home could save you between $225 to $300 a year, compared to homes using oil, propane or electricresistance heating.

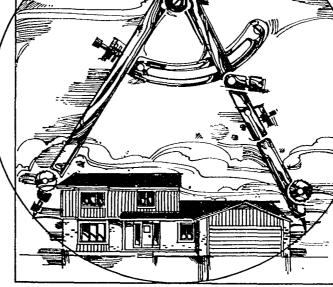

Detroit Edison presents its Energy Efficiency Excellence (EEE) Award to builders whose homes meet maximum standards in insulation, lighting, wiring, and are heated and air conditioned with an electric heat pump. EEE Award standards can be adapted to fit any house design, including your own custom-built home.

The heat pump heats your home with natural heat

The heat pump gives you an exceptionally energy-efficient heating system because it takes natural heat always present in the outdoor air even in winter — and pumps the heat inside. You need no other source of heat during most of the spring and fall Additional heat is provided automatically by electric elements built into the system when the outdoor temperature drops below freezing.

Electricity is a plentiful energy source

Electricity is plentiful in Southeastern Michigan because most of Detroit Edison's electricity is generated from coal, our nation's most abundant fuel. With an EEE Award all-electric home, you're assured of the energy you need for comfortable, convenient living. Call the builders listed below and find out about their EEE Award homes built for a comfortable, energy-saving

Focus on rape

County Crisis Center attempts to provide moral, legal support for victims of sexual abuse

By STEPHEN CVENGROS

Rape knows no boundaries. It affects whites, blacks, Hispanics and orientals. Poor and rich. Male and female. Young and old.

Like some psychologically brutal choice as to whether or not the rapist will choose them.

The target can be anyone.

There are alternatives to dealing with the trauma of rape, however, and seemingly logical excuses for choosing them

"To society, rape is a closet issue," Robin Kelly will tell you quite assuredly.

And what are the alternatives? ictims either do nothing or do something.

And that "do something" step can be a stark, crucial step that is difficult to take alone. That is what the Oakland County Crisis Center for Rape and Sexual Abuse assists victims in doing – taking those initial critical measures. Pat Moran explained, "Many women think 'I think I've been raped but I don't want to believe it happened to me."

That's the whole problem," Kelly added, "once you believe you've been raped, it requires another whole action step.

Kelly, Moran, Adrienne Hatcher and Elizabeth Rose are as close to experts on rape victims as you will come in Oakland County. Those four women are the nucleus of Oakland County's Crisis Center for Rape and Sexual Abuse.

Who can it happen to? Where? And Breaking down a stereotypical rape is difficult. According to the women who help to direct some 30 volunteers, female and male, on the center's 24hour hotline - there is no such thing.

It has happened to a child five years of age, the women reported. Crisis Center statistics between October 1979 and March 1980 marked most victims between 14-18, followed closely by 19-23 wear olds. Don't always look for the dark alleys One of the key portions of the program is helping the law occurence. Most victims were assaulted in their own homes. And enforcement agencies learn the proper use of polygraph tests from experts. remarkably enough, the next most frequent place is in the rapist's home. That naturally leads to the relationship - nearly two-thirds of advocacy stand.

those victims reporting during this particular six-month span, knew the assailant.

Those acquaintances included uncles, fathers, ex-husbands, stepfathers, cousins, friends, dates, employers and co-workers.

But even this half-year look at victims is sketchy. The statistics will change from year-to-year. With even the most apt time of year difficult to nail down, according to the center workers. They meekly respond it is probably summer - their timidity only due to resorting to generalizations.

The center with its 332-HELP phone number is in business for that reason and that reason alone.

And progressions are developing. Police and hospitals throughout the county are learning more about the victim. Soon, the center women hope, the victim will be in the inner circle of police, victim and hospital - with the rapist omitted.

Moran explained, as it has been in the past, victims face the police alone, victims face the hospital alone, victims face the court alone - but those things are changing.

In cooperation with the YWCA, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital-Social Services Department, Pontiac Police, Pontiac General Community Mental Health Clinic and the Oakland County Department of Health the center's outreach programs are growing.

Rose, currently works with communities, both police agencies and lay people, to develop an awareness of rape problems. Cluster training, as she calls it, is a communication package that informs communities and assists in the growing awareness.

Novi's Police Department will sponsor a rape form August 27-28. Police, hospital officials and victims all participate in these sessions — and the results have been positive.

"By the next day, police officers are trying to figure out ways to help the victim get around problems she may have told them about," Kelly noted of the sessions

Basically, center workers will assist victims by going along to police stations, hospitals and helping prepare them for court.

believed," she added. Still, she assured that "unbelievably weak cases get through court." Cases, she added, that seemed almost impossible to nail down evidence have succeeded.

Some basic rules should be followed if a victim is raped:

• Call the police immediately. Time is important. • Do not destroy evidence: Do not clean up, bathe, douche or change clothes.

· Regardless of whether you are going to prosecute or not, seek medical attention as soon as possible. In addition, six weeks after the rape attain a venereal disease test. If there is a chance of pregnancy, get tested two weeks following a missed period.

 Write down details about the rapist and circumstances of the rape as soon as possible - this will keep those details clear in your mind. • Call a friend or the Crisis Center for support.

Services at the center are limited. The advocacy program has hours that Hatcher claimed were researched extensively, but not coinciding with victims. Adjustments are possible in the future.

Counseling is done by appointment with victims usually referred to another full-time agency that can deal more adequately with the problems.

Only the emotional support of the hotline is continuous.

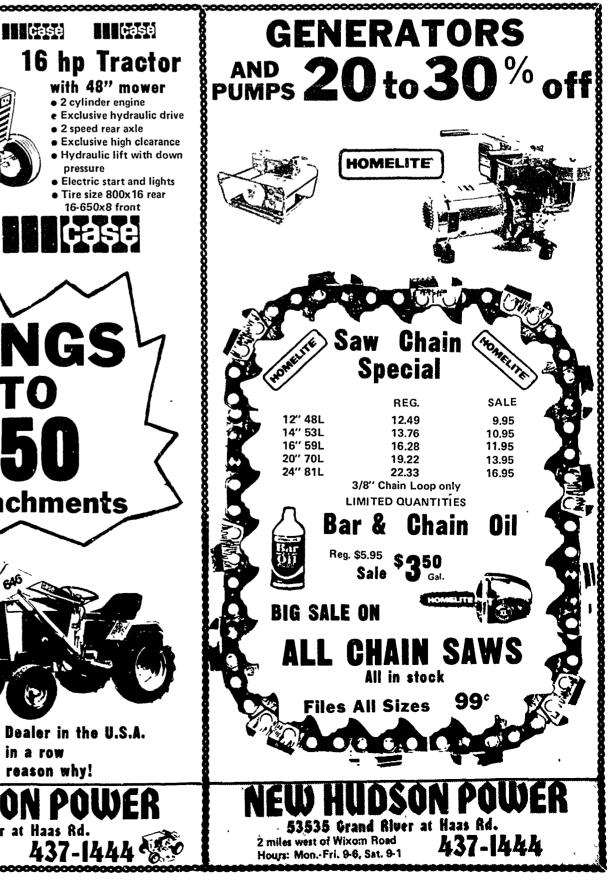

The women admit that being involved in the center has sometimes been brutal to their feelings. Talking about their occupation can be a real "party-stopper" they admitted, noting that people will suddenly begin looking at the paint job on the ceiling instead of continuing to look them in the eye.

And at times, the calls and human helplessness becomes - downright depressing.

"Sometimes all we can do to keep from crying is tell a joke," Moran asserted

But the rewards have been great they agreed.

"We celebrate everytime another woman reports.

Construction industry reports economic clout

The economic clout of Michigan's Michigan. construction industry in 1979 was a "It is certainly unfortunate that mind-bending $21 billion, according to a starts in 1980 are barely half what they study released by the Michigan Association of Home Builders (MAHB). The study was completed to provide vernment officials and the public an indication of the large part the construction industry has in Michigan economy, said MAHB President Andris Ronis.

And large the impact is, with the study showing residential construction impact alone totalling $10.6 billion in the state last year, exclusive of land value.

Economic impact totals include not ly the value of actual construction. t also community facilities necessary to accommodate new residents, goods and services used by them, and taxes, insurance and other first-year expenditures made by new construction owners

The 1979 figures placed construction well above any other industry in Michigan except the automotive industry in estimated impact.

Agriculture's raw product in 1979 sold r $2.4 billion. Including processing, transportation and marketing costs, agriculture's economic impact is estimated at $12 billion.

Tourists in Michigan spent approximately $4.5 billion in 1979 with another $3.9 billion spent in indirect expenses.

'We knew builders were important to the economy, but I don't think any of us realized how important," said Ronis. "The construction industry crosses the ntire fabric of Michigan's economy, and we are proud of our role in providing housing for the people of were at this time in 1979," Ronis added. "Coupled with the disastrous situation being faced in the automobile industry during the first six months of the year, the impacts on the state have been devastating. The statistics I have seen point toward a recovery during the last six months of the year, however, and we are beginning to see positive results already.

Community facilities for residential construction such as schools, churches, park land donations, water and sewer lines reached just over $650 million.

New appliances, rugs, drapes and furniture used to equip the new residence cost over $416 million, with additional direct expenses such as title company fees and broker commissions, real estate transfer taxes, appraiser and land surveyor fees totaling approximately $236 million.

Real estate taxes, interest, insurance, maintenance and heat and utilities exceeded $11,000 for the average single family unit, or $551 million for the state, and over $31 million for multi-family units.

"If anything, our residential construction impact figures are conservative," said MAHB Executive Vice President Tom Becker. "We utilized an extremely conservative multiplier effect of two, which means these figures reflect the result of monies received for construction only being re-spent within the state one time during the year.

"Thus, the impact of the residential construction industry is conceivably greater than this survey indicates."

Women's apparel specialty chain entitled "Preserving the Harvest" will be presented at the seeks to fill void for homemaker

"There's a void in the regional shopping center industy on the national level that hasn't been met," according to Max Garelick.

"We're attempting to fill that void through the creation of Thimbles.'

Garelick is president of Thimbles, a national chain of women's apparel specialty stores which has made its initial appearance this month in three suburban shopping centers including Novi's Twelve Oaks Mall. Other Thimbles stores have been opened in suburban malls in Milwaukee and Chicago.

Garelick notes that suburban shopping malls typically offer endless options for trendy juniors and higher-priced, contemporary missessize customers.

"But until Thimbles, no national specialty chain focused directly on the homemaker and career-oriented woman with a taste for timeless, quality clothing at affordable prices," he says.

The Thimbles president has charted an aggressive growth program for the new chain of women's specialty stores that sees expansion from three pilot stores in 1980 to more than 200 by 1990.

Six more Thimbles stores are scheduled to open next year in Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Chicago and Short Hills, New Jersey.

Projected plans call for 21 stores to be opened by 1982, 41 by 1983 and 71 by 1984 with further intensification of the existing markets and entry into East and West coast markets.

Thimbles is the newest marketing venture of the BATUS Retail Division of BATUS, INC. of Louisville, which owns and operates the 31 prestigious Saks Fifth Avenue stores coast to coast, including Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn and Somerset Mall in Troy.

Other BATUS Retail Division operations are Gimbels department stores in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Milwaukee and Kohl's Supermarkets in Wisconsin and Illinois.

Garelick, who previously was vice president and merchandise manager of contemporary and updated sportswear at Saks Fifth Avenue, is clearly enthusiastic about the prospects of the new Thimbles division.

"The BATUS Retail Division had been studying the concept for some time before asking me to head up the effort last year," he reports.

The first thing I did was to visit several shopping centers in the Midwest to see if the retailing concept of a specialty store for women with traditional to updated tastes had validity.

'That exposure gave me all the assurances that I needed to recognize that the concept is valid." Garelick reports that "specialty stores" typically generate significantly higher profits than department stores.

For example, department stores typically show a 3-5 percent pre-tax operating profit, while specialty stores show a 10-20 percent pre-tax operating profit.

Department stores, says Garelick, attempt to be all things to all people, whereas specialty stores have a very tight focus on goods and merchandise.

Another factor in the decision to initiate Thimbles was the perception that national specialty store chains had failed to target the "woman with traditional to updated tastes."

National specialty chains such as Foxmore and Ups and Downs have focused primarily on junior apparel, says Garelick.

"But there are no national specialty chains which have focused directly on the adult woman willing to pay reasonable prices for classic, quality clothing," he says.

Garelick envisions the typical Thimbles customer as a woman 25 to 50 years of age who wears "misses" sizes 6 to 18 (junior sizes, the odd numbers, are cut short-waisted). Additionally, she is career-oriented or a homemaker - or both; is not attracted by trendy clothes or flashy environments; and prefers stylish, sensible clothes that won't be out of style next year.

"There are other places for this lady to shop," he says. "Department stores are one of those places, but in order to do all her shopping she has to visit several different departments before she fulfills all her. clothing needs.

"She also can shop at local specialty stores," he continues. In fact, Garelick believes that many of the so-called Thimbles customers are presently shopping at local specialty stores to which they've built an allegiance.

The advantage of the Thimbles concept is that these women can now meet their needs at a national specialty store chain in regional. shopping malls, he says.

Garelick says the decision to open the initial Thimbles stores in the Midwest was based on several perceptions. First, the targeted customer is significant everywhere, he says, but she's particularly significant in the Midwest.

Additionally, the company wanted to open its chain in an area which has four-season merchandising.

Another factor, says Garelick, is the presence of several outstanding shopping centers in the Midwest in terms of traffic generation.

Novi's Twelve Oaks Mall has, in a very short period of time, developed a reputation in the industry as a very fine traffic generator, he says.

"It's somewhat incongruous that we selected.Novi for one of our first three stores because of the stereotyped impression of what's . happening in the Greater Detroit Area retail market," he admits.

'But it's our perception that what's happening in Novi is not at all. consistent with the rest of the retail market in the Detroit area.'

Although the three new Thimbles stores have been opened less than a month, Garelick says the concept of targeting "the traditional and updated woman who is interested in quality merchandise which has a fashion life of more than one year" has been successful.

"One of the things that has been most satisfying to me is that the concept seems to have been successful already," he says.

"Thimbles is valid for the woman from 20 to 50 years old. The women in their twenties have remarked that our clothing is not 'too old,' and the women in their fifties have remarked that our clothing is not 'too young," he says.

"I really believe that Thimbles has filled the needs and desires of the woman who wants stylish, sensible, well-made clothes at reasonable prices that won't be out of style next year."

Cady Street

Cady was a well known name In the early 1800's; Daniel cleared and settled land Where Cady Street now threads.

Down through the years has ever been This friendly thoroughfare, With native folk of kith and kin All proudly living there.

And ever since, its residents Have preserved its calm estate Of old-line, friendly precedents Of history to relate.

Many frontier village folk Lived on Cady Street. It almost seemed like "Cady Town", It settlers replete

With familiar names of citizens Like Yerkes, Babbitt, Murdock, too, And Horton, Brooks and Wheeler And a Swift, to name a few.

Few, If any, still survive To witness days of yore, When Cady Street did live and thrive In pioneering lore.

For Rick

I don't know why I bug you, I should leave you alone. I think because you're all that's left, Of a time that's done and gone. The others, moved or married, Or gone their separate way.

But you are still around here And I see you every day. You liked me, I was cold to you, I know it made you sad. And after I had lost you, I realized what I'd had Forgive me, please, for clinging So fondly to the past. But things are moving quickly, Changes come so fast. Too much has been happening It's been hard to adjust. But life is ever changing, And I realize that I must.

I hope that life is good to you, And easy are your chores. Now I'll go on with my life, And I'll stay out of yours.

Caldwell, Spade are Junior Tennis Open winners

Triumph over bad weather, opponents

By KEN KOVACS

Neither rain nor the cannonball returns of their opponents could stop Julie Caldwell or Tom Spade.

The Northville youths fought off all comers to taken the respectivie girls and boys championships of the Northville Junior Open Tennis Tournament played at the Fish Hatchery courts on Seven Mile last weekend.

Caldwell beat Lauren Oliver, 6-1, 6-0; Jennifer Missel, 6-3, 6-4 and Breita Johnson, 6-4, 6-3 to gain the opportunity to face Sarah Johnson in the finals.

Johnson had little trouble in downing K. C. Bemish, 6-0, 6-2 and Mya Johnson, 7-5, 6-3 but Gretchen Mellish gave Johnson a run for it in what probably was the most exciting match in the tourney.

After taking the first set 6-3, Johnson dropped the second set to Mellish, 2-6, and won the final set 7-6 by edging

Girls basketball starts Monday

The Northville High School girls basketball team will begin practice Monday, August 25 at 10 a.m. at the high school gym, coach Gene Wagner announced this week.

Some potential team players have been working out at the Community Building, which will continued to be open from 10 a.m. to noon the rest of this week.

But 10th, 11th and 12th grade girls interested in trying out for the team should be ready to play Monday, Wagner said.

Junior varsity practice is slated to begin the following Monday.

Mellish, 5-4, in a tie-breaker.

Caldwell cruised to the championship on Monday (Sunday's scheduled finals were rained out) whipping Johnson, 6-3, 6-3.

In the boys' competition, Spade, who drew a bye in the first round, knocked off Eric Winebrenner, 6-0, 6-0 and Rich Schohl, 6-0, 6-2 enroute to the final showdown with Huston.

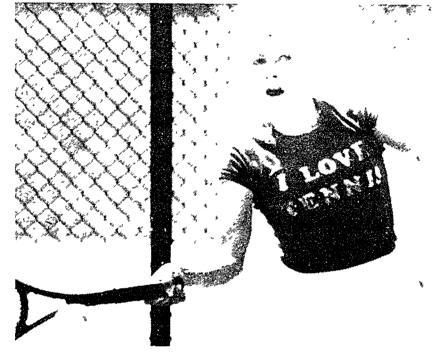

Meanwhile, Huston beat Randy Eppers, 6-4, 6-2, won a match by default (the other player didn't show) and downed Dave Babich, 6-0, 6-1.

Spade then disposed of Huston, 6-0, 6-3 in the finals on Monday. round on Monday and Missel, who outlasted Kathy Korowin. Kerry Hlady of Racquet Connection, 124 North Center, co-sponsor of the Consolation winners were Eppers, who beat Matt Winquist in the final 124 North Center, co-sponsor of the tourney, along with the Northville Recreation Department, said he was pleased with the 17 entries — 13 boys, 14 girls — but hopes there will be a better turnout next year.

"Hopefully this year's participants will return next year and bring some others with them," Hlady said. "I am hopeful that the event will grow a little more each year."

Merchants champs?Naturally

Some things are easy to predict. The setting of the sun each day. The assured darkness that follows.

The return of summer each year. And the Northville Merchants taking the American League softball championship.

The Merchants, formerly known as The Blues, captured their fourth straight title last week, despite a 21-11 humbling by Winner's Circle.

The champs will go on to post-season play elsewhere this weekend while the remaining American League teams compete in playoffs at Thomson Field beginning tonight.

Meanwhile, Sheehan's Little Caesar's and Action Drywall anxiously await the outcome of Monday and Tuesday's make-up games which will determine who will reign as National League champ.

The league winner will compete in Howell, while the other six National League squads will fight it out in playoffs beginning Thursday night at Thomson.

Play in the Women's League also comes to an end this week.

Alumni, the undefeated league champ with a remarkable 18-0 mark, has outdistanced the closest challenger by seven games.

The seven other women's squads will compete in playoff action this Saturday and Sunday at Thomson.

Highlights of recreation softball games played last week follow below.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Winner's Circle 21, Merchants 11

Circle handed the Merchants their third loss of the season, scoring at least one run in every frame. Don Rodriguez blasted three homers, Jeff Moon added two and Joey Bishop ripped a double, a triple and two singles for the winners. Tied 11-11 going into the sixth inning Circle exploded for 10 runs to clinch the win over the league champs. Pete Wright cranked out one for the Merchants, while teammates Dennis Colligan and Todd Eis each collected a double and a single.

Spicer Tool 11, Long-Zayti 7

Spicer was hot from the start, scoring six runs the first time at bat on seven base hits mixed in with three free passes. Jim Manderville had three safeties in as many plate appearances, while teammates Joe Watson, Bill Gearns and Bob Waltersi collected two hits apiece. Long-Zayti scored two runs in the opening inning on three walks and a double by Jim Long, added two more in the third on a Spicer error and a two-run blast by Ron Tini and three more in the fourth on a single, a free pass, a double by Rick Bingley and another base hit.

Sheehan's 20, C D Sparling 16

Sheehan's banged out 20 hits enroute to scoring as many runs in a true hitters' contest. The game was deadlocked 1-1 until Sheehan's came untracked, putting nine runs across the plate in their half of the third. Robert McGuire started the inning with a home run blast and added another before the frame ended. Tim Doyle also put on out of the park for Sheehan's. Chuck Caksackkar had three hits for Sparling and Joe Bustamante added a pair.

Little Joe's 8, Zayti 3

Neither squad showed a powerful offense as Zayti didn't score a single run until the

Local gridders in the trenches

Northville High School football players currently are enduring the blood, sweat and tears of twice-daily practice sessions in preparation for the 1980 season opener September 5. As Coach Dennis Colligan attempts to mold a disciplined squad together, players grunt and groan as their bodies are prepared for battle. Daily sessions include isometric exercises, various skill-sharpening drills, a lot of running and repeated running of plays — in hopes of perfecting the same. Though these photos were taken last week, currently players are going through the drills with full equipment. The added humidity produces a little more sweat and a few more tears. Just ask one of the players.
