Luke Briningstool finds security in an old friend during story time

Kindergartner's first day

By MICHELE McELMURRY

When you are five or six-years-old and set in your ways, the prospect of changing your life style can be quite a challenge.

Especially when you have been labeled a "kindergartner" and are about to embark on your first day of school.

Suddenly everything seems to change. Gone are the days of lounging around the house in your pajamas until all hours of the morning, watching your favorite A.M. television shows, and playing in the mud behind the house.

And to make matters worse, you can no longer stay up past your bedtime, because tomorrow is a "school day."

As the first day of school arrives, your regular daily routine is disrupted when you are awakened at what appears to be the crack of dawn.

Tired and groggy you scamper downstairs for breakfast, only to be told to go back to your room to get ready for school.

Now hungry and tired, you begin to look for your clothes, which consist of your favorite Big Bird T-shirt, jeans, and scuffy red sneakers.

But glancing on the chair, you see a new pair of pants, a button-down shirt and a pair of funny-looking brown shoes with buckles.

As you start getting dressed, you realize that there is something wrong with these clothes. The buttons on the shirt don't seem to line-up with the holes on the other side, and the shoes appear to be too small, since they're "killing" your feet.

However, with a few minor adjustments from your mother's experienced hands, the clothes seem to fit — even if the shirt collar is scratchy and the shoes hurt your feet.

Eight-Mile-Taft light ok brings residents' criticism

Wayne County's promise that a traffic light will be installed at the Eight Mile-Taft-Randolph intersection, scene of a double fatality recently, is causing concern to some residents of the area — although the light actively was sought by others.

Paul Schelp of 1054 Bristol Court in Lexington Commons told city council Monday night that he was speaking as a representative of 97 homes and that the homeowners were concerned about traffic's ability to stop.

"It would be horrible even to put a stop sign there — I can see back-end collisions in inclement weather," he said, adding that "now we have through traffic roaring through our sub to bypass the intersection both north and southbound."

Both Jim Zayti and his father Jay Zayti also attended to ask council if it had any authority over the installation of the light. The senior Zayti pointed out that it is a blind intersection with drivers unable to see a light until they pass Joe's Pantry on the hill.

He suggested that flashers, such as those at 13 Mile and Telegraph, also would be necessary. He stated he felt the speed limit should be reduced as a more effective way of making the intersection safer.

"Not only our trucks," he observed, "but all traffic is going to find the hills deadly even at 25 miles an hour when slippery."

City Manager Steven Walters said he had expected to have a petition presented at the meeting in favor of the light. He said residents had brought it to city hall and then taken it back for more signatures.

The petition was a result of the public outcry following deaths of two young people at the intersection August 8. Letters followed to state representatives, including Senator R. Robert Geake, himself a resident of Eight Mile.

Last week John J. Goulet, Wayne County engineer for traffic and safety, notified Geake that the light will be installed as soon as Edison crews can erect the equipment, probably in eight weeks.

Schelp told council that "you're going to have more accidents." City attorney Philip Ogilvie suggested that no-right turn signs for morning hours could be erected on Taft and also afternoon ones prohibiting returning traffic from cutting through the condo streets. He warned, however, that this would restrict residents of the area themselves.

He said this method of control has been effective on Eight Mile east of Center.

Council member Stan Johnston, serving as mayor pro-tem Monday night, told Schelp and the Zaytis that council has no authority over the light and agreed that he also thinks "we're going to have more accidents."

Council member J. Burton DeRusha questioned present placement of traffic speed signs. He would like the reduction to 40 miles an hour to begin further west of the Taft intersection. Walters said the best way would be to consult with county engineers, giving the city's recommendations.

Joe's Bar, house on Center stay on planners' agenda

James Demick of Detroit, who has been renovating and remodeling a house at 410 North Center under a homeowner's permit, appeared before the city planning commission September 2 seeking site plan, architectural and landscaping approval for use of the building under Professional, Business, Office (PBO) use.

Such use is permitted under present zoning. Residential use also is permissible since the property had been occupied under that use previously.

Because parking at present is limited to only two spaces, the commission expressed concern about the use. Member James Cutler, whose real estate office is directly south of the house, sent a written abstention to the planners outlining problems he had encountered with the applicant. He charged that his parking lot had been tied up by suppliers' trucks which had refused to move.

Planning consultant Ronald Nino, who earlier reviewed Demick's plans, told the applicant that only the first floor could be used for offices because of the parking limitation. Demick agreed.

In discussion during the evening the possibility of reducing size requirements for spaces was raised. City Manager Steven Walters said that a hearing on changing parking space sizes probably would be on the city council's September 22 agenda.

If there is a reduction, which appears likely as smaller cars require less space, Demick was told he might indicate three parking spaces on plans he is to bring back to the next meeting of the planning commission September 16.

Nino said the second floor of the house could be used for storage, but that the first floor occupant would have to be other than a dentist or medical person because of the limited parking.

Demick said he was thinking in terms of a lawyer or other such professional person.

He was instructed by Nino to note on the plan that the second floor will be for storage and to redraw parking provisions and indicate a new landscape plan.

Pointing out that he and his friends did a lot of the home renovation themselves, Demick said he feels "substantial improvements" have been made and complained that "everything Troy (Milligan-building inspector) said to do I did."

Commission Chairman C. Thomas Wheaton told Demick that the commission runs into problems because the applicant does not understand the ordinances. He added, "We do not have the ability to deviate from or change the requirements."

Nino raised the question of whether the improvements exceeded 125 percent of the value of the property but Demick stressed that much of the work was by himself and friends. Nino conceded that assessor's determination of value was not on the basis of what the owner had spent nor on expensive materials, such as Demick has used.

Required curb and gutters, sidewalks, road widening and landscaping will have to be completed or a performance bond issued before occupancy permit is granted, Demick was told.

At the meeting the planners also reviewed site plans submitted by Robert Getzie and his builder, Thomas Quaine, for construction of a new building for Joe's Bar at 157 East Main.

The new bar is being developed in cooperation with the Downtown Development Authority in accordance with the plan to revitalize the downtown area.

Planner Nino recommended that the site plan, therefore, be approved. Getzie was instructed to appear before the Historical District Commission to have the razing of the present bar approved.

Because the construction of the new building is part of the downtown redevelopment, an exchange of property for a walkway will have to be executed with the city. The new building will use city property on the east and the bar owner will deed walkway area, which, he noted, already has been built upon by Downriver Federal Savings and Loan located directly east of the bar.

The proposed plan shows a bar in front and a smaller tenant space at the back.

TOWNSHIP PLANNERS have scheduled a public hearing October 28 at 7:30 p.m. in township hall on a request to rezone 6.3 acres of land at the southern edge of Lake Success from residential to industrial use.

A SPECIAL meeting of Northville City Council is set for 8 p.m. Monday to review the status of the 1980-81 budget. Council members learned Monday that state sales tax and income tax returns appear to be $10,960 below budget projection for this month.

THE JURY TRIAL of Bertha Foltyn, former Northville baker, got under way yesterday in Wayne County Circuit Court in Detroit. Foltyn is charged with torching her downtown bakery on March 22.

School opening goes smoothly

The opening of Northville public schools September 4 for the 1980-81 school year appears to have been one of the "smoothest openings" the district has experienced in recent years, according to school administrators.

At the regular meeting of the board of education Monday night, administrators expressed their satisfaction with last week's school opening and noted in particular the "very smooth opening" at Northville

Kindergartners tackle first day

After gulping down your breakfast, you are given final instructions on where to catch the bus and are pushed out the door.

At the bus stop you are met by "bigger kids" who seem to be accustomed to this sort of routine.

When the bus finally comes, you pile on with the rest of the crowd and take a seat by the window to begin the long journey to school.

And thus begins a day in the life of a kindergartner.

For most Northville students, going back to school is as routine as brushing their teeth.

Yet for Northville kindergartners, the first day of school is a new adventure — and though it's exciting, it is also a little frightening.

For the first time in most of their young lives, kindergartners are faced with the responsibility of being on their own.

They are put into a classroom with strangers, more commonly referred to as their classmates, and are placed under the instruction of a teacher, rather than "mom" or "dad."

From the moment kindergartners enter the classroom the learning process begins — and for most, it's more than just A,B,C's.

Students are taught patience by waiting their turn at the drinking fountain, are taught understanding by accepting the views of others, and are taught to share by giving of themselves.

At Amerman Elementary last Thursday, the morning kindergarten class of teacher Virginia Kritzts began learning all these things and more during the first day of school.

As the 26 students entered the classroom, each was given a name tag and coat hook.

Students were then familiarized with the new classroom, which was filled with pictures, plants, building blocks, paint easels and various tables and chairs.

The highlight of the morning, was a grand tour of Amerman, which included such sights as the gym, library, and office.

With eyes opened wide, students "oohed" and "aahed" over their new surroundings.

Following the tour, students went back to the classroom for storytime.

Sitting "Indian style" on the floor, students listened patiently to the stories of "Mr. Noisy," and "Wobbleville."

Yet as the morning wore on and lunch time quickly approached, patience began wearing thin, as tired little bodies began stretching out on the floor and aching feet kicked off tight shoes.

However, kindergartners soon perked up when recess was announced. Scrambling to their feet, students waited anxiously as name tags were removed and notices for parents were pinned on.

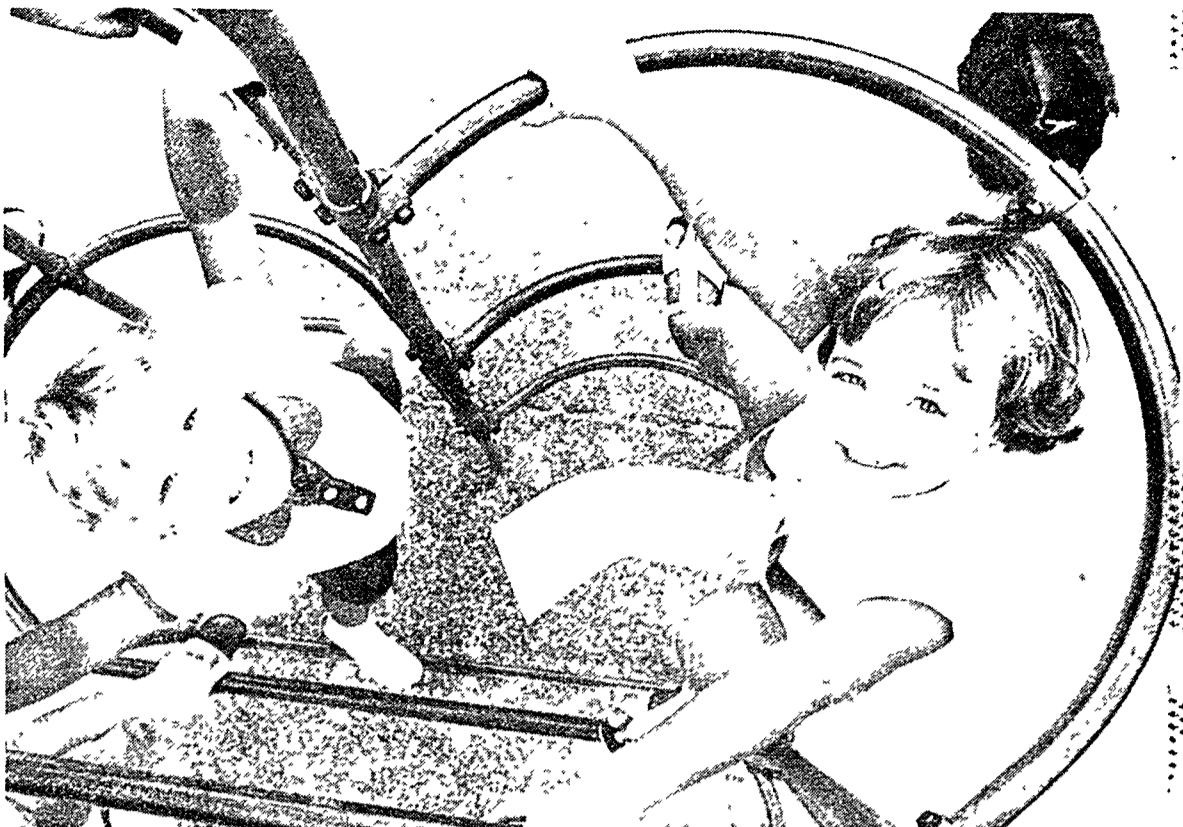

After going over the rules of the sandbox, which included not throwing sand or getting dirty, students raced to the playground.

Yet recess soon came to a close as the dismissal bell rang. While lining up at buses to take them home, many of the students reflected on their first day of school.

The general feeling seemed to be that it was more fun than frightening.

"We weren't scared because we loved it," said Luke Briningstool, as his classmates nodded their heads in agreement.

For the kindergartner, the first step in a lifetime of learning had begun.

Climbing the monkey bars was the highlight of the day for Ann Ross (left) and Courtney Gazley

High School.

"This is the first year in three or four years that there has not been a major incident at the high school on opening day," explained William Hood, administrative assistant for operations.

The high school, like the other public schools in the district, has undergone extensive renovation and clean-up work this past summer.

Most of the work on the buildings had been completed before the opening of school, with only a few repairs currently being made.

Hood said the custodial work at the high school was done on or before schedule and added that the "school is in the best shape it has been in, in four years."

"One of the custodians in the building today said that even the students are commenting on how good the building looks," Hood said.

In addition to the successful completion of building renovations, registration and scheduling at the high school also "went very well," according to High School Principal George Aune and Assistant Principal Barbara Campbell.

Despite a change from a seven to six-hour day, Campbell said all students were accounted for and that scheduling was very well organized.

"We have received fewer complaints about scheduling this year than in any other year," Aune told the board.

Despite a lower student enrollment this year, Northville schools opened fully staffed, according to Dr. Burton Knighton, director of personnel.

The board unanimously approved the appointment of eight new teachers for the 1980-81 school year and it approved the recall of six teachers from layoff.

The board also unanimously approved the ratification of a three-year agreement between the Northville Public Schools and the Northville Federation of Aides covering the period from September 1, 1980 to September 1, 1983.

The Northville Federation of Aides, which is comprised of instructional aides in the ISE Program and the Northville Public Schools, reached a tentative agreement with the district August 30.

The union then ratified the tentative agreement September 4.

In the new agreement, instructional aides on the 232 day and 187 day salary schedule, will receive a 13 percent salary increase over the 1979-80 year.

They also will receive a 9.75 percent increase over the 1980-81 and 1981-82 salaries.

Dr. Knighton told the board that one of the factors in determining a 13 percent salary increase was that a recent survey showed that "the salaries of our instructional aides were substantially below that of other aides in the state."

In other action, the board unanimously approved bill warrants and payroll totaling $1,471,807.94 for August 1980.

Jaycees' first Salem fly-in stars pancakes, maneuvers

More than 250 people engaged in flights of fancy, not to mention fancy flights, at Salem Airport Saturday at the Northville Jaycees' "Dawn Patrol Fly In."

The first edition of an event the Jaycees plan to sponsor annually was a great success, according to project co-chairmen Mark Catron and Kevin Callaghan.

The day got off the ground in the early morning hours as approximately 40 planes flew into the airport and many area residents drove in for a pancake and sausage breakfast.

Early hours were bright and clear but a fog rolled in from 8 to 9 a.m., delaying landing for some of the new and antique planes on display.

Once the fog cleared, the crowd was allowed to examine the aircraft, including a U.S. Coast Guard Rescue helicopter from Selfridge Air Field near Mt. Clemens.

Both young and old could get a feel of the friendly skies by taking the controls of a jet plane simulator brought by the U.S. Air National Guard. Salem airport management furnished airplane rides to those ready for the real thing.

Door prizes were awarded to those who registered by noon. The highlight of the day came near the end when the Coast Guard helicopter, leaving to return to duty, hovered over the airport for 15 minutes while the pilot put it through its paces in a demonstration of helicopter maneuverability.

All proceeds from the event will go toward future Jaycee community projects. The air show is the latest of these, and, the chairmen said, hopes are that it will grow each year.

George Lockhart, Rex Dye

Death claimed two active octogenarians last week

George Lockhart, an octogenarian who until a few weeks ago continued at the trade that he loved and worked a lifetime, died Thursday morning.

The 88-year-old piano tuner had moved to Wishing Well Manor Convalescent Home three weeks ago, from his home at 618 Orchard, after hospitalization and when it was discovered that he had cancer.

He lived alone on Orchard, insisting on the independence that characterized his life. His son, Hugh, a former resident and now a professor at Michigan State University who lives in Holt, said sudden failing health forced his father to accept the care of others, however.

An outspoken, sometimes irascible man, he nevertheless was loved and admired by all those who knew him. Though independent, he loved people and enjoyed their companionship. He remained active in the community until only a short time ago, a member of both the Rotary and the Kiwanis service clubs and a regular member of a downtown coffee-kitsch of business and professional people who have been meeting regularly for years.

Self-educated, he was an avid reader who became extremely knowledgeable about many subjects. He could and did intelligently argue philosophy, educational and theological doctrines, for example, with university scholars and clergymen who were amazed that he had so little formal education.

He was a respected and long-time promoter of the international language, Esperanto, taught the language and attended meetings on it throughout the United States.

Mr. Lockhart was believed to be the oldest active piano tuner in America and the oldest member of the international Esperanto organization. Besides tuning pianos, he rebuilt and turned old pianos into prized instruments and was widely recognized for his beautiful craftsmanship. He tuned pianos throughout southeastern Michigan, from the concert stages in Detroit to classrooms in Northville schools.

Although he received plaudits in many fields, he was most proud of the tributes paid him for his official leadership roles in the piano tuning organizations of America.

Mr. Lockhart became a member of the Detroit division of piano technicians in 1945, and from 1955 to 1957 he served as national president of the organization.

He was co-chairman of the 1967 annual convention held in Detroit, and it was under his leadership that two national organizations were merged to form the Piano Technicians Guild, Inc. And it was he who came up with the name.

Mr. Lockhart served in numerous other capacities for the guild, including writing a column in its national magazine. He was a charter member of the Past Presidents' Club of the guild, and in 1976 he was inducted into the guild's national hall of fame.

"I don't know if George has a middle name but if he has, I am sure it would be 'Logician,'" said the magazine's editor emeritus several years ago. "George is impatient with theories which cannot be boiled down to facts. Given a theory he would work it out to the least common denominator to see if it would stand up. He was also a forceful speaker. For several years I had the pleasure of working with him on the board of directors of the American Society of Piano Technicians and many times saw him use his ability to direct group thinking to a definite target."

He was a member of the Great Books Society when it was active here.

Mr. Lockhart's wife, Viola Mae Brown, who was a clerk at the old Globe Furniture Company here when they met, was fatally injured in an automobile accident in 1961.

"Yes, it has been a painful loss," he said of his wife's death in an interview with The Record last year. "I suppose if she were still alive I might feel differently about retirement. But now, without her, I work to keep my body and mind active."

Born in London, England on March 5, 1892, he was the son of working class parents (Henry Lockhart and Anna Fleming) struggling to care for the family that included three children, including Dorothy, who married Cyril Frid of Northville, and Junius of Kitchener, Ontario.

"My grandfather had started a small boot and shoe manufacturing business which eventually was taken over by my parents," he said a year ago. "The business collapsed, however, with the advent of boot and shoe machinery. They had been doing their work by hand and couldn't afford machines. The competition was too great."

Almost destitute, the family migrated to Canada in 1908, settling in eastern Ontario.

No longer in school and compelled to work, young George took jobs in Canadian factories, one of which was a piano plant. It was in the latter that he acquired a basic knowledge of pianos. He was an accomplished musician.

As a factory worker he was a political activist in Canada, involving himself in a number of socialist movements. Once he ran unsuccessfully for the Canadian parliament. Later, in the United States, he dropped all his political activities.

Fifty-three years ago he was invited to come to Northville to set up and run a laundry route for the Northville Frid brothers. That business, which later was located on the site of the now vacant Friendly Ice Cream Store, operated for many years before the building was destroyed by fire.

During World War II he worked in the bomber plant at Willow Run, and following the war he enrolled in the Chicago College of Music where for seven weeks he studied under Dr. William B. White. "Finally, I was no longer an amateur. I could take pride in my work."

His work was in constant demand, and Mr. Lockhart was soon tuning pianos for the Detroit symphony orchestra for professional concerts. He was called on to tune pianos for the big bands — Lawrence Welk, Guy Lombardo and others.

He is also survived by a daughter, Elise Kelly, who lives in Florida and whose husband was trained as a piano craftsman by Mr. Lockhart, and by six grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville tomorrow at 11 a.m.

Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery, with arrangements made by Casterline Funeral Home.

His family suggests any memorials be made to the First Presbyterian Church music program or the Northville Community Band.

REX DYE

Death silenced Rex J. Dye last week Wednesday, something his adversaries could not do.

The 81-year-old Novi resident, who was a Northville subdivision developer back in the days when $10,000 was a whopping price for a home, died at Beverly Manor Convalescent Center where he had lived for the past two years in failing health.

A self-styled fighter of personal injustice and national economic "nonsense," Mr. Dye used his pen as his weapon to fight poor medical care, assessment increases and national and international monetary programs. When something rankled him, he'd fire off letters to newspapers and magazines around the country. And if he was really angry, he'd write a book about it and publish it himself if he could find no buyer.

His letters of protest were often carried in The Northville Record and The Novi News in years past.

He was born in Boyne Falls, Michigan, on September 12, 1899, the son of Hugh J. and Gracie (Sullivan)

Dye. He was graduated from high school and attended college for a year, and then in 1918 he volunteered for service and entered officer's training school at the University of Michigan. He also studied accounting, commercial art and efficiency engineering.

Mr. Dye held a variety of jobs, including buggy whip salesman "on the road" in Michigan and police reporter in Chicago in 1919 and 1920. He later became editor and feature writer for the Westcenter Chicagoan.

Newspaper work drew him into advertising and in 1925 he went into business for himself as a consultant in advertising, organization, public and industrial relations.

Exercise for fun

Jody Adams (bottom left) of Northville has invented a unique way to exercise. Called Creative Fitness, it isn't just an exercise program.

The three triangles in her logo stand for mind, body and spirit. The exercises work on cardiovascular conditioning, stress and tension. Most participants are young mothers trying to get back in shape, as well as escaping the boredom around the house.

The program lasts about an hour with a five to ten minute warmup. Jody uses music with 17 taped dance routines.

Jody teaches in the Novi and Northville area.

Jaycee-Jaycette night aims at new members

Area residents are invited to the Northville Jaycees and Jaycettes "Membership Night" at Highland Lakes Club House, 20301 Silver Springs Drive, Thursday, September 18 at 7:30 p.m.

A guest speaker from the Michigan Jaycee membership team and local Jaycees and Jaycettes will inform young men and women of programs and projects in the community. Those interested will be able to join one of the oldest and most active organizations (sponsoring the July 4th festivities, for instance) in the community.

Refreshments will be served. More information is available from Chapter President George Buelow, 348-2246, or Auxiliary President Joyce Bousquet, 348-7027.

Band's resplendent

In a sense, it was a double victory on the Northville High School football field last Friday night as the Mustangs won their first game of the season — and Northville High School Marching Band returned to the field after a year's absence wearing snappy new uniforms. Tom Rothermel shows off the new garb as he was photographed at half time by Record photographer Steve Fecht while he played a trumpet solo, a Herb Alpert tune. Band booster projects and donations bought the needed new uniforms.

Party's open to all

GOP sets social night

An evening out, which puts more emphasis on social than on fund raising, is planned September 23 by the Greater Northville Republican Club.

According to club spokesman Robert Brueck, the party will be held in Henry's Room of O'Sheehan's, the new addition to Little Caesars on Seven Mile.

It will feature hors d'oeuvres and door prizes. "We're hoping to raise a little money, but the real purpose," explained Brueck, is to attract new members for our club and to provide an opportunity for present members to get better acquainted.

"It's also a chance for local officials to speak with their constituents in both the city and township."

A speaker from either the county or state level or government is planned, but the name of the individual has not yet been announced.

According to Brueck, the club has developed a list of aims and objectives, which it plans to distribute. These include:

—To develop organization and leadership for election campaigns, providing continuity.

—To study and discuss current issues and trends and thus formulate informed opinions and positions.

—To communicate problems and opinions to elected representatives.

—To provide a "sounding board" for elected representatives.

—To evaluate, on a continuing basis, elected officials' contributions at the local, state and national level.

—To identify and assist in the development of qualified candidates for public office.

—To communicate information from party leaders and elected officials.

—To promote Republican fellowship, including social events.

Membership dues in the club are $3 for an individual and $5 for a family.

All interested persons are invited to attend the social evening from 7-9:30 p.m. and to meet elected officials and precinct delegates. Tickets are $5 and may be purchased from any club member in advance. Brueck adds that it is not necessary to be a party member to attend.

Some of the local members attended the National Convention in Detroit in July.

Elected officers of the club are Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Allen, co-presidents; Betty Lennox, vice-president; JoAnn Dayton, recording secretary; Douglas Whitaker, corresponding secretary; Charles Toussaint, treasurer; and Tim Lemmon, Barbara Bergum and Susanne Thomasson, trustees. Club members are residents of the city and township in both Wayne and Oakland County.

Seek voices for yule concert

Male voices — tenors and basses — urgently are being sought by the Plymouth Community Chorus as practices are scheduled to begin for Christmas season programs.

The chorus is gaining wide acclaim and a spokesman reports that it has been approached by Delta Records of Chicago to cut an album of Christmas songs.

After singing for the Massachusetts delegation to the Republican Convention, the chorus received an invitation to come to Massachusetts, all expenses paid, to sing there.

Joe Hoppersberger, a Northville post office employee and active chorus member, is recruiting members from the area. No audition is required for tenor, bass and alto voices, he states, but adds that sopranos will be auditioned as there presently is an abundance of soprano voices.

Chorus members come from Plymouth, Northville, Livonia, Redford and Garden City.

They will begin practice for the Christmas season from 8-10 p.m. next Tuesday at Plymouth East Middle School located off Mill Street between Ann Arbor Road and Ann Arbor Trail.

The Christmas concert is scheduled for 7 p.m.

December 14 at Plymouth Salem High School.

Ted Strasser, host of WJR's Patterns in Music program and a Northville resident, narrated the spring concert of the chorus. It was given a standing ovation by the more than 1,000 attending.

Information on the chorus may be obtained from Scott or Barbara Yamazaki, 455-1248, or by writing P.O. Box 217, Plymouth, 48170.

Week-long strike ends

Schoolcraft faculty ordered back to class

Schoolcraft teachers and students are back in the classroom today, following a circuit court order handed down Monday night requiring striking faculty members to return to classes.

In a showcase hearing Monday, Circuit Court Judge Michael Stacey ordered faculty members to return to the classroom and ordered that fact-finding proceedings begin as soon as possible.

The two parties, who sat down at the bargaining table this past weekend, failed to reach an agreement—despite the aid of a mediator from the Michigan Employment Relations Commission.

David Heinzman, director of college relations, said a date has not been set for fact-finding procedures to begin, but added that classes have resumed and "things are as back to normal as they can be."

Schoolcraft faculty members went on strike September 2 after failing to come to a contract agreement with the college.

The Schoolcraft Faculty Forum, which represents 163 full-time faculty and more than 200 part-time instructors, said in a statement released August 26 that the major stumbling block to a new agreement is job security, particularly the number of course hours per week the college is required to offer a full-time instructor.

Del Sipes, president of the Faculty Forum, said early last week that other contract issues which have not yet been settled, include reduction in mandatory hours for counselors, pay for co-op coordinators, and rollbacks on insurance.

In an earlier statement, Schoolcraft President C. Nelson Grote stated that administrators and faculty were only "a fraction away from holding a new contract," with the only hold up being the percentage of pay for full-time faculty in the second year of the proposed contract.

In a statement released September 2, Grote said the college was offering full-time faculty members a 7.25 percent general salary increase for the second year of a proposed contract.

However, faculty members are holding out for an eight percent increase.

The Faculty Forum, which is affiliated with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission, struck the college two years ago before settling a two year contract. That contract expired midnight August 25.

The Schoolcraft campus, which has been at a standstill for the past week, is now back to normal and students, who officially began classes August 28, have once again return to the classroom.

Police Blotter

Assault charged in restaurant incident

A 23-year-old Detroit man was arrested and charged with felonious assault, malicious destruction of police property and resisting arrest following a disturbance at Little Caesar's on Seven Mile September 1, township police said.

Witnesses told police Douglas Allen Murphy refused to pay his bill and started arguing with Wally Savage, manager of the restaurant.

When police arrived Murphy was standing over Savage, who was lying on the floor, bleeding.

Witnesses said Murphy had hit Savage with a chair.

Officers had to forcibly subdue Murphy and when he finally was handcuffed and placed in a patrol car he kicked the rear right door repeatedly, causing some $500 worth of damage to the interior of the police vehicle, police said.

Murphy was released after posting 10 percent of the $2,500 bond.

Examination is set for September 15 at 2 p.m. at the 35th District Court in Canton.

City police are investigating four burglaries reported since September 1.

Several items including a video recorder, movie projector, linear amplifier and ham radio set were taken from a Randolph residence sometime between noon September 2 and noon September 3, city police reported.

The burglars entered the home by breaking the glass in a basement door and unlocking the door, police said.

Estimated value of the stolen property is more than $3,000.

Approximately $10 in miscellaneous change, a Sears digital clock-radio, a six-string guitar and a guitar case were taken from the dining room of an East Cady residence sometime between 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. September 3, police reported.

A sliding window in the dining room was found unlocked, police said.

The stolen property is valued at $380.

More than $200 worth of goods were reported stolen from Fish N Things, 110 North Center sometime between August 31 and September 1, city police reported.

The burglars apparently gained entry by breaking out a window on the north side of the business and climbing through a hole approximately 3 feet by 2 feet, police said.

A number of tank filters, some fish food, an air pump and two Frontosa fish were reported missing.

Several items were found missing from an East Chigwidden residence September 1 when the owners returned from vacation, police said.

The doors to the residence were found open and there were no signs of forced entry, police said.

The value of the missing property has not been determined.

A West Eight Mile residence was burglarized September 2, township police reported.

Burglars apparently entered the residence by breaking out a window in the rear door of the home and kicking in the door, police said.

A jewelry box is the only item known to be missing.

A Pioneer radio was reported stolen from a 1969 Plymouth Road Runner parked in the lot east of 19804 Crystal Lake, township police reported.

The radio, valued at $290, was taken from the dash of the vehicle, police said.

Northville Square Communication from the Northville Square regarding parking on their private area leading to the dock They would appreciate it if the Northville Police Department could be authorized to issue traffic tickets to those individuals and/or cars illegally parked or trespassing on Northville Square property

Mayor Vernon asked the City Manager to check with the Square as to which cars they mean He stated their problem would be resolved by the City Manager, City Attorney and the Police Chief

BUILDING DEPARTMENT The City Manager stated he has had a meeting with the City of Novi to discuss sharing services with them He has also had meetings with several engineering firms They are interested in site plan reviews, grading analysis and proposed design but do not get into the inspection end of it He commented that ultimately it looks like we will have to have our own inspectors on a fee basis or BOCA

The City Manager commented he has discussed sharing with Novi on the same basis as with the Township He mentioned they have a full time staff and he would like to pursue this further with Ed Kneff, Novi City Manager

There is some inspection available through the Township but the City would be without a building official He explained the advantage of being with a larger city i.e., philosophies, etc He mentioned one other option would be to relinquish the Building Department by default and force the State to do the job

The problem with that is the State does not have the staff and they would contract it out It was the City Manager's recommendation to align with a neighboring community He stated he would have something for the next meeting regarding Novi

HR 4747 Mayor Vernon asked the City Attorney to look at Substitute Bill 4747 and relate it to the present bill and point out the differences at the next meeting

PURCHASE OF PARKING LOT FROM DDA A Communication from the City Manager stating the DDA project design includes the paving of the north end of the Miller property create 25 new parking spaces Nine have already been sold to Down River Federal Savings, and the full payments of $27,000 has been received by the Parking Fund

It is recommended that the Parking Fund purchase the north end of the Miller property and that the Parking Fund contract through the DDA for the paving improvements, under the bid prices which have already been received

He recommended this be accomplished by the Parking Fund assuming the balance of the Miller note obligation from the DDA, ($108,250) in exchange for the construction of 25 parking spaces on the Miller property by the DDA Since the parking spaces are worth a total of $75,000 at $3,000 each, the difference between that value and the note balance ($33,250) should be paid by the Mayor Street Fund for the value of the right-of-way and street widening on Hutton at Dunlap

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Johnston to authorize the parking fund to assume from the DDA, the balance of the note to George Miller ($100,000) in exchange for the construction of 25 parking spaces by the DDA, and the property related to them including the proposed Hutton Street ROW

WATER AND SEWER IMPROVEMENTS The City Manager explained that the DDA project design includes certain water and sanitary sewer improvements which are not a part of the DDA project, but will be less expensive to do now while the streets are being torn up for the DDA project Since these are Water and Sewer Fund responsibilities, the Fund will save the expense of restoring the street surfaces if the work is done now

The improvements include the following: (a)Loop 8" water main from Main Street at the theater to Center thru park and MA court (b)Enlarge 8" water main to 12" in Main from Wing to Center (c)Replace collapsing sanitary sewer from Winner's Circle to Center Street

It is recommended that the Water and Sewer Fund make these improvements at this time, based on the bids received by the DDA, by contracting through the DDA with Warren Construction in the amount of $48,930

Vernon asked if the Water and Sewer Fund had the reserves to take care of this

The City Manager answered it did

RETIREMENT SYSTEM CHANGE A fully employer paid retirement plan has been proposed to adopt AFSCME NPOA bargaining units as part of the 1980-81 contract negotiations The non-union employees have asked to have this implemented for them at this time, since the change cannot be made retroactive past the current quarter and they do not want to be forced into a delay if union negotiations extend past September 30th The NCOA has also requested implementation at this time

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Gardner to adopt a resolution to adopt Contributory Program IV with members contribution zero (0) percent for their compensation, effective July 1, 1980, for all members who are not within union employee bargaining units of the City of Northville and all members of the NCOA and shall file a copy of this resolution with the Michigan Municipal Employees' Retirement Board

It was noted that Northville Township's was increased from 2.64 to 5.50

The City Manager mentioned the present law suit would result in rate adjustments, and the City would wait before making theirs

PARKING SPACE STANDARDS The City Manager explained the present Zoning Ordinance provides a parking space standard of 13' x 20' (Section 4.04 b) for 90 degree parking spaces, and 9 1/2' x 20' for angle parking of 74 degrees or less He mentioned that cars are getting smaller and other communities are operating with a 9' standard

He mentioned the City will be redoing and restriping the downtown parking lots and should consider the space standards within the next month or so They should consider a striping pattern since it is being redone

The City Attorney stated all the existing lots could be brought up to code

Discussion followed on the standards

Councilman DeRusha asked if they anticipated getting any money for the library in the future

The City Manager stated he would not think so, and using money for the library would free up money down the road that would be under our own local control

Councilman DeRusha asked if there were anything else pressing

Mayor Vernon mentioned the total DDA project is about $785,000 over the anticipated revenues He stated there was enough funds to do what the voters approved but not for some of the extras

His wife, Alice Mary Jane Nowry, whom he married in 1922, died in 1970.

His economic-philosophic papers were published in numerous scholarly periodicals.

It was Mr Dye who was the developer in 1927 of Hillcrest subdivision, on the north side of West Main, which recently was annexed to the City of Northville.

Mr. Dye carried on an unending fight against spiraling assessments on his Novi home that stands on the west side of Novi Road south of Ten Mile.

He stubbornly refused to cave in to governmental red tape, telling the editor of this newspaper in 1977 he would not give up the fight even though he had been informed by the state tax tribunal that he might have to wait three or four years before his appeal could be processed to completion.

"I'm inclined to pay (the taxes)," Mr. Dye said, then characteristically added with a smile, "but look here, I'm 79 years old. How many more years of wait do I have left? For goodness sakes, by the time the bureaucracy gets down to my case they'll have to holler the decision down the grave hole."

Mr. Dye may not have won many of his battles, but those who he battled cringed whenever he got his dander up and turned to his pen or typewriter.

He is survived by three sons, Rex L. of Italy, Douglas E. of Manistique, Hugh J. of Northville; one grandchild, and six great grandchildren. A brother preceded him in death.

The funeral service was held September 5 at Casterline Funeral Home, with Mr. A. R. Krachenberg of Christian Science First Church of Northville officiating.

Burial was in Riverside Cemetery, Plymouth.

The homemaker came to Northville in 1911 and was associated with Eastern Star '77.

ARCH VALLIER

Back when the TV cameraman or a newspaperman scrambled to record a controversy on the floor of the old board of supervisors, the odds on favorite to be at the center of it was Arch Vallier, former controversial Schoolcraft trustee who died Tuesday, September 2 at his summer home in Caseville.

A maverick politician by choice, Archibald E. Vallier, 66, who finally bowed out of the limelight and into retirement in 1977, relished a good fight, particularly when it pitted him against entrenched bureaucrats.

Just as he was a controversial figure as Plymouth city commissioner and Wayne County supervisor (before reorganization), Mr. Vallier was a controversial member of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees from 1971 to 1977.

A Plymouth editor said of him 10 years ago: "Arch makes a lot of noise in the deliberations of our city commission, to which he was first elected in 1963, and because of this he stirs emotional retorts as no other colleague. The point many observers miss, however, is that no matter what the issue, Vallier takes a stand."

Those stands often were taken simply to force other officials to get their positions out on the table.

Born March 8, 1914 in Columbus, Nebraska, he was the youngest member of his high school graduating class. His family sent the 16 year old boy to Doan College for two years. From there, he went on to earn his bachelor of science degree in engineering at Iowa State University.

In May 1941, he married Johanna Sandham in the Methodist Church in Cass City. Also in May 1941 he was called into active service in the U.S. Army. He was a second lieutenant in the Army Reserves and during his five years of acty duty was in charge of all war production ordinance in the Lansing and Jackson area. He held the rank of major when he was discharged in 1946.

While living in Lansing he became a member of the Box 13 Club, a group of men who assisted firefighters.

During his years as a Plymouth resident, Mr. Vallier seldom missed a fire. If he was in town, he was there. His presence made it official. And as a member of the Plymouth city commission, one of the joys of his life was buying new fire engines.

He joined Ford Motor Company in 1946 as an experimental engineer. He and his family moved from Dearborn to Plymouth in 1951.

He was a member of Phi Delta Theta, the Dearborn Rotary Club, the Plymouth Kiwanis Club, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Society of Automotive Engineers, the board of trustees of First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, the board of directors of Colony Farms Condominiums, the Indies West board of directors, and Scenic Golf Club in Caseville.

Surviving him are his wife, Johanna; daughters Jane Fey of Birmingham and Mary Kaplan of Hollis, New Hampshire; and granddaughters Molly Fey and Elizabeth Fey.

Following a funeral service in Plymouth Friday, he was buried in Caseville.

JOHN H. KAUFFMAN

Funeral service for John H.

Kauffman was 11 a.m. Monday at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home and St. Eugene's Catholic Church in Detroit.

Mr. Kauffman, of Canton Township, died September 5 at Beaumont Hospital. He was 54.

Born in Ohio November 27, 1925 to John H. and Polly (Price) Kauffman, he worked as foreman and sprinkler fitter for Detroit Independent Sprinkler Company.

Mr. Kauffman is survived by his wife, Phyllis, daughter Mrs. Timothy (Toni) Thomas, and son John H. Kauffman III. Also surviving is sister Mrs. Paul L. (Mary) Coffman of Plymouth and two grandchildren.

Burial followed the service at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield.

LAWRENCE E. GREEN

Funeral service for Lawrence E. Green of Lodi Township was conducted September 4 at 11:30 a.m. at the Bahnmiller Funeral Home in Saline, the Reverend Joseph Noelke officiating.

Mr. Green died September 2 at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor. He was born December 22, 1938 in Detroit to William L. and Lois Aber

Green.

He married Judith M. Whitaker in Flint August 20, 1960; she survives him. A graduate of the General Motors Institute, Mr. Green was employed at the Hydra-Matic division of GM at his death.

Survivors, in addition to his wife, include three children, David, Paige and Deborah, all living at home; three brothers, Robert of Ortonville, William of Ann Arbor, and Michael of Pinckney; and one sister, Mrs. Eugenie Bemish of Northville.

Burial was at Oakwood Cemetery.

KATE WATERMAN

Services for Kate Waterman, 99, were September 4 in Phoenix, Arizona. Mrs. Waterman died August 31.

She was born in Northville December 30, 1880 and lived in the community until moving to Phoenix 24 years ago, where she lived with her son Donald. She was the aunt of Helen Golts and Dorothy Merithew.

Mrs. Waterman had three children, 14 grandchildren, 28 great grandchildren and 18 great great grandchildren.

Burial was at Greenwood Cemetery, Phoenix, Arizona.

Our opinions

Let's confer on planning

Our sister newspaper, The Novi News, last week editorialized the need for greater communication between neighboring communities over zoning and planning matters. We echo that need, fully realizing that efforts to this end have been attempted from time to time in past years. Those efforts, however, have produced little substantive on-going discussion.

Importance of communication is dramatized by the Novi Planning Board's plan to create a convenience shopping center zone on the north side of Eight Mile near Griswold. Novi planners currently are debating that plan.

One of the arguments set forth in support of putting a convenience center at that location relates to land use considerations on the south side of Eight Mile in Northville Township.

Novi Planning Consultant Charles Cairns has reported to Novi planners that Northville Township officials are concerned that several eight to 10 acre lots on the south side of Eight Mile might be rezoned to a commercial classification. And once one of them goes commercial, Cairns said, Northville Township's ability to prevent the others from going commercial is significantly diminished.

If that happens, the end result might conceivably be that the south side of Eight Mile could become strip commercial — a fate that is deemed undesirable by just about everybody, Cairns told Novi officials.

Cairns further suggests that placing a convenience center on the north side of Eight Mile — where a rezoning request for a convenience shopping center already has been submitted — would provide the shopping needs of residents on both sides of Eight Mile and alleviate the pressure for a commercial zoning on the south side of the road.

Thus, Cairns is advising Novi to go ahead with its convenience center plan on the north side of Eight Mile as a means of discouraging commercial strip development on the south side, which he perceives to be a real possibility based on purported concerns of Northville planners.

All of this conjecture, made with neither side knowing what the other is planning or discussing, can make for some sloppy decisions.

Northville (city and township) and Novi should work together in planning for the development of the Eight Mile corridor that is the dividing line between the two communities. If Northville keeps the south side of Eight Mile clear of commercial, but Novi permits commercial development to occur on the north side of the road, the living environment of residents on both sides of the road is impacted — not to mention the impact such development would have on existing commercial centers.

Establishment of a series of meetings throughout the year with officials from neighboring communities could well be beneficial in dealing with mutual concerns. Efforts to establish some sort of inter-community planning council could pay dividends for everyone involved.

Smaller's better

Northville city council has been taking a realistic look into the future of car transportation. City planners, who were asked to investigate the possibility of reducing parking space sizes in city lots, instructed planning consultant Ronald Nino to make suggestions.

Monday night the council looked at recommendations and set a public hearing on the proposal for October 6.

Nino had recommended a design that would permit small, standard and luxury size cars to utilize to best advantage city lots. It will be incorporated into the proposed ordinance change with alterations made Monday by council. Walters said it may be implemented more fully in the future but that it appears that community residents still are driving more big than small vehicles.

City Manager Steven Walters' suggestion of nine-foot widths (presently spaces are 10-foot widths) with double markings a foot inside seems a good move. Drivers, he observed, will park more precisely and still have two-feet for door opening.

Council's action Monday to reduce charges made to businesses for parking (to $2,400 from $3,000) should provide positive encouragement for new business being sought for the downtown development and for expansion of present businesses.

Speaking for Myself

Approve Tisch law?

CLIFFORD SCHERER

YES

We need TISCH!
With passage of the Tisch amendment, property tax assessments would be returned to 1978 assessment and then cut in half. Residential and agricultural property could only be raised two percent of growth per year in assessment.
With passage of the Tisch amendment, each school system will receive 100 percent of its local tax dollars, and the state legislature cannot change the number of dollars per mill unless it is approved by the governor and four-fifths of the legislature.
The passage of the Tisch amendment would not be a panacea for Michigan taxpayers; we would all have to do with less service with the reward of less taxes.

The governor and the legislature are not proposing to reduce taxes, only to shift them from property tax to sales tax.
I wish the Tisch amendment could apply to the Federal government. High taxes are a non-productive item in our economy and fuel inflation. We need legislation and taxes designed to help the employer and employee become more productive as a team. We need balanced environmental regulation. We do not need deficit spending. We do need Tisch.

James A. Gandol
Milford Township Trustee

NO

It is a clever and appealing emotional proposal to cut property taxes over 50 percent or $2 billion, and make it almost impossible to pass any new tax or increase existing taxes. The state is then somehow to pay this $2 billion to local governments out of a total income of $4.6 billion. How? No one can do this without massive cuts in state and local services—education, police, handicapped, etc. Michigan is not California. There is no state surplus and no graduated (to over 12 percent) income tax to fall back on.
Deliberate deception is being used indicating that "Tisch" guarantees funding for K-12 education at existing levels. Baloney—wrong! The so-called guarantee of the 1980 State School Aid Formula is a sham. There is no guarantee, and the legislature would certainly have to make a cut.

What $2 billion of present services will be cut? Mr. Tisch ducks making specific recommendations. The answers are too hard. He uses a 15 percent cut figure for all government units, and he must use unreal math to get it that low. This ignores mandatory spending such as for special education. However, even a 15 percent in Huron Valley means four or more students in each and every class, closing two schools, less or no athletic and student activities, and firing 150 employees.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

"All the kids are dressed that way."
If you've heard that flimsy excuse once I've heard it a hundred times over the years, either from the kids who have inhabited our house or from their mother.
Hearing it is one thing, believing it is another. Not "all" the kids by a long shot. And even if they "all" did go to school looking like skid-row derelicts I'd still bite my tongue and fume.
"If you've got it, flaunt it," I used to advise them in referring to the acceptable clothing hanging in the closet. I used to. Not anymore. Too many of the older girls figured I meant it was proper to wear shrunken T-shirts.
Frankly, this father long ago ran out of ways to improve his kids' dress. Pleading, screaming and crying have gotten me nowhere. And now as I approach the September age and pretend it doesn't matter, their dress gets steadily worse. It is an admission of utter failure when I say I've raised clothing illiterates. What other father, for example, can point to two grown sons who can't tie a tie because they never or seldom ever wore one?
School started last week and as the oldest of the last two still in school darted out the door I almost bit off my tongue. The daughter who spends half her life in the bathtub, who washes her hair twice a day, and who primps in front of the mirror for hours while I dance around cross-legged outside the door, was wearing something I'm certain was dragged home by the dog.
"What was that she was wearing...the thing with writing on it?"
"A black shirt and jeans."
"But on the first day of school? Couldn't she have worn a dress? Or at least some clean slacks and a blouse?"
"Oh, don't be such an old fuddy-duddy; everybody's wearing it nowadays."
"I know," I said, sucking in my breath and trying hard not to kick the wall, "but why must my daughter be the last to share wearing it?"

Silver Springs resident defends light on Seven Mile

To the Editor:

Since when have traffic lights caused more accidents than they prevent? That is the impression that one gets from the report of the accident on Thursday, August 28, at the intersection of Silver Springs and West Seven Mile Road. (Northville Record of September 3).

If such is the case, why install traffic lights at all, or for example, why install a new light on Eight Mile and Taft, the scene of a double fatality accident there several weeks ago?

And to proceed farther along the same vein, why not eliminate all traffic lights if they are construed to be the cause of accidents?

The lights at Seven Mile Road and Silver Springs were NOT demanded by residents, but were found to be a necessity based on a six month survey conducted by the writer, who was given that assignment by the Highland Lakes Condominium Association.

I consulted with the Wayne County Road Commission, Highway Engineers, Northville Township officials, and the Safety Director of the Northville School System. All were in agreement that these lights, and the ones at Eight Mile Road and Silver Springs Drive were needed, and that's why they are there today.

With the completion of the new apartment complex on Silver Springs and Seven Mile Road, car and pedestrian traffic will double in the next month or so, making these signals more important than ever.

Accidents such as these are caused by careless or unobservant drivers, and if the traffic signals are obeyed, as they should be, such accidents will not occur.

The traffic engineer who made the above observation, if it was an engineer that made it, had better reconsider the impact of the conclusions he reached in this instance.

Yours truly,
Irving E.R. Benson

Tells more— Hay castle

To the Editor:

I write this letter to inform you of some pertinent information which was not included in last week's Record article on the demolition of the "Hay Castle." I found this article to be one-sided and biased. While the facts that were stated were true, not all the facts were made known to the public.

The article failed to mention that Denis Roux had previously offered the home to the Northville Historical Society. The Society declined the offer, as you well know, stating the home has no historical significance to the Society. The article also mentioned the fact that members of the Hay family had strongly urged the commission to deny our request for a demolition permit, but NO mention was made that we had offered the home to Mrs. Margaret Hay Chamberlin, if she or the members of her family cared to have it moved, in order to save the house.

Had the reporter on this story made just one phone call to our office, all the facts could have been incorporated in the article. This would have saved us from some of the nasty phone calls received, many by people who were not courteous enough to give their names, and also more accurately reflected the true picture for your readers.

To all who read the article and were upset, let me say this, we love Northville. We have been building in the area for 15 years, and when we decided to build our new home last year, we chose to stay in Northville. We are sad to see this old structure go, but we have no other option. The cost of repairing and remodeling this structure were prohibitive. Unfortunately, sometimes the old must give way to the new.

Sincerely,
Pat Roux

Urges — 'shop locally'

To the Editor:

I implore all residents of Greater Northville and surrounding communities to support and buy from your local businessmen.

Businesses include everyone — clothing stores, gift shops, grocery stores, furniture stores, restaurants, etc. I am writing specifically about clothing and shoe stores in this letter, at the urging of other frustrated friends.

Your merchants pay local, state and federal taxes even before your account is paid if it is on a charge basis. They employ and train personnel to serve you, answer your questions and make them responsible for knowing about the merchandise. If you do not know where to find what you want, they will assist you. If you do not know your size, they will find out. They are anxious to please you — their customer — and want to keep you as their customer.

With a few exceptions, Twelve Oaks Mall is a disgrace to the retail profession. It seems that employees only have time to sort stock and push the cash register. I do not blame the employee but the company.

What has happened to salesmanship courtesies, and service? The larger the store the more frustrating it is to try to shop. The excuse will be that business is not good and that they have been forced to cut down on personnel. Our local small stores have the same problems and more but they do not make it your concern or make excuses. They are willing to accept bona fide returns. Parking is easier and our downtown merchants help pay for that. I have been offered help to my car with my packages.

It has taken me an hour to shop on Main Street as compared to six hours at Twelve Oaks Mall with nothing to show for it. I am an informed consumer and have worked in the retail and wholesale industries in New York, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Northville. I have never seen such apathy as I have at the new shopping center on Twelve Mile.

Please save your valuable time and temperament by doing the following:

1. Shop in downtown Northville and the shopping centers in Northville Township (West Seven Mile, for example). Ask them to order merchandise that you do not find.

2. Next, shop in small complexes in our surrounding areas of Novi, Plymouth and Farmington. Smaller quality stores that "care" will also be opening soon at Six Mile and Newburgh.

3. If you still need items, shop by catalog. You can compare shop and watch for sales. I have found the best bargains in small local stores.

I do not wish to exclude any merchant. I only ask you to exclude Twelve Oaks Mall until they provide the services and smiles to which you are entitled.

Susanne Thomasson

P.S. I am not affiliated financially with any local business.

Also, we'd like to thank our coach Judy Wissman and Dave Longridge for keeping the weekend activity organized. And, the people who helped out by taking time out to measure distances and check contestants in.

But, most of all, we'd like to thank all of the people who bought tickets and supported our first try at an event like this. We hope to see all of you and many more next year!

To discourage the possibility of misrepresentation, the application forms contain a statement above the space of signature certifying that all information furnished in the application is true and correct. An additional statement is added to warn that the application is being made in connection with the receipt of Federal funds, that school officials may, for cause, verify the information in the application, and that deliberate misrepresentation of information may subject the applicant to prosecution under applicable State and criminal statutes.

In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk for them, it should contact the school.

Children of unemployed parents may qualify for free milk if total family income include welfare payments, unemployment compensation and sub-pay benefits fall within the prescribed family income guidelines.

In the operation of special milk programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, creed, color or national origin.

Under the provisions of the policy the Food Services Supervisor will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he or she may make a request either orally or in writing to Director of Business and Finance for a hearing to appeal the decision.

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

For the past couple of weeks, I have been detailing for you the various property tax proposals that are expected to appear on the November general election ballot.

This week, let's take a look at the last of the three property tax proposals — the Tisch Tax Amendment.

Probably the most recognized of the three, this proposal was drafted by Shiawassee County Drain Commissioner Robert Tisch, who had a similar tax proposal on the ballot in 1978. It was turned down by the voters in favor of the Headlee Amendment.

What would the Tisch Property Tax Proposal do?

The most drastic of all the proposals, it would:

- Prohibit any new taxes or fees from being imposed on homesteads.

- Prohibit the legislature from imposing new taxes or increasing tax rates existing in 1978 without approval of 60 percent or more of those persons voting in a state-wide election.

- Reduce assessed property values to 25 percent of the 1978 true cash value of the property.

- Further reduce the assessments of true cash value on homesteads of persons earning between $5,000 and $10,500, indexed for inflation, to 12.5 percent. Homesteads of persons earning less than $5,000, as indexed, would be exempt from taxation.

- Exempt the principal homestead of a person 62 or older from school district operational millage and requires the legislature to establish similar relief for renters.

- Prohibit the legislature from reducing the Homestead Property Tax Credit (circuit breaker) except by a four-fifths vote.

- Prevent the legislature from raising the state revenue limitations under Headlee to pay for the tax cut.

- Prohibit any reduction in the school aid formula without a four-fifths vote of the legislature.

- Limit assessment increases to increases in the General Price Level, and further limit increases on residential and agricultural properties to two percent per year.

- Require the legislature to reimburse local units of government for revenues lost through property tax reductions.

- Require the state to reimburse local units of government, dollar for dollar, for property taxes levied by the local units with the exception of debt millage.

The state reimbursement for local property tax revenues lost under Tisch is expected to cut state programs and services by nearly $2 billion.

This outlines the Tisch proposal. I have presented the major details of the three property tax proposals — Legislative, Smith/Bullard, and Tisch. I would urge you to study all of the proposals carefully before deciding which one, if any, of the proposals would best benefit your particular tax burden.

Prior to the election, I will make my recommendation known.

Next week, a look at another ballot proposal. It would reduce the legal drinking age in Michigan from 21 to 19 years.

Council sets hearing to reduce parking space size

Because more and more compact and standard size cars are replacing luxury cars of the past, Northville city council and Manager Steven Walters have been considering reduction in size of parking spaces in the community.

At Monday night's council meeting a public hearing to change the ordinance on parking size requirements was set for October 6.

The council last month requested the city planning commission to look at parking lot design standards. The commission turned to planning consultant Ronald Nino for suggestions. He provided a detailed plan with a "mix" of sizes that the council studied Monday night.

Like others, such as commission member James Cutler, Nino feels that there must be a "mix" of sizes to accommodate both big and small cars.

It won't be a problem, the commission conceded at its meeting last week, to keep large cars out of small spots as drivers don't want doors damaged. But how do you restrict large spaces to large cars when a small one fits easily?

Because the change, Nino estimated, can represent a potential cost savings of about $50,000 (by making more spaces available), it could be worth doing and instituting a penalty system for illegal parking, he suggested.

A controlled parking lot with respective size spaces could be marked by signs, Nino said, that most people would respect. Supervision still would be necessary with tickets written for ignoring the signs, just as for exceeding parking time limits.

Walters Monday night told the council, however, that he didn't think the city needed to get involved in too many variations at this time. He suggested having the ordinance changed, with modifications made to Nino's proposal, in order to have it for the future if needed.

Monday night the council observed that such plans were more effective in larger, metropolitan-type lots. Walters said that even the Northville Square parking lot would not save enough space to provide an additional row of parking as it is presently designed, calculating that there must be nine rows of spaces to begin with before an additional row can be saved.

The council deleted provision for penalties from the proposed change.

Re-marking for the present was agreed upon at 9 by 19 foot spaces. Walters recommended double marking with a foot margin. This, he pointed out, usually is observed by the driver who then actually has a two-foot area for door opening.

The planning commission at its September 2 meeting praised the comprehensiveness of Nino's report and agreed to forward it to city council.

An interested member of the audience who attended Monday night's council meeting to share his parking observations was former council member Wallace Nichols.

He observed that after parking in some closer marked lots recently, "it was nice to come home to Northville and its king-size spaces." He felt the double space markings with the two-foot margins were good.

At Monday's meeting the council viewed a proposed plan for additional parking in the Cady Street area, including Northville Downs lot with 71 spaces planned.

At the request of the city manager, they also rolled back Central Business District charges to businesses for parking spaces to $2,400. It currently has been $3,000, but Walters pointed out that the cost to develop more parking in the Cady area will be considerably less than it was to build a parking structure.

The lower rate was unanimously approved by the four council members present to be effective through December 31, 1980. Mayor Paul Vernon was away, and Stan Johnston served as mayor pro-tem.

In reducing the fees, Walters said, the council was encouraging new downtown development, which "is more important than the parking costs."

The action also eliminated necessity for approving another extension of the rate for Stone's Unfinished Furniture Store. Owner Robert Boshoven had written the city requesting an extension of his commitment of $2,400 space charge to the end of the year. He stated he plans to seek Economic Development Corporation assistance in developing a planned row of small shops on the north end of the property at 215 East Main.

Farmers' Market beef legitimate

Conceding that a farmer participating in Northville's weekly Thursday farmers' market "had a legitimate squawk" as he objected to one farmer selling fruit that was not home grown, Kay Keegan, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce which sponsors the market, said last week that the situation would not be repeated.

"It was a misunderstanding," she said, explaining that one farmer added California grapes and plums purchased at Eastern Market to his own produce for sale.

"This is strictly a farmers' market of what is produced by the farmer himself," she emphasized.

She said the farmer who had sold the produce was warned the second week as he arrived. He had not been told earlier as she was not able to contact him. He understood, she said, and agreed not to continue peddling other produce.

"The chamber certainly is not getting rich from the market," she added, explaining that the price of $5 a week or $25 a season for space intentionally was kept low so the farmers would not have to charge so much for their food.

"It's a convenience for our residents who know the produce is fresh," she said.

Ms. Keegan pointed out that the market is not intended to be in competition with local merchants. She recalled that John Genitti, who owns a food store-restaurant on Main, originated the market and personally supervised it before the chamber assumed the responsibility.

In addition to produce, flowers, honey and homemade baked goods are sold at the market from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. every Thursday. It is held in the Main Street parking lot opposite the theater and will continue through the growing season.

At last week's market corn was in full supply with the price as low as 50 cents for a dozen ears. Ripe melons and tomatoes as well as cucumbers and potatoes were plentiful.

Providence unit seeks volunteers

The opening of the Providence Hospital Ambulatory Care Center in Novi and expanding services at Providence Hospital in Southfield have created challenging opportunities for men and women interested in volunteer service.

Our Lady of Providence League, the hospital's 450-member volunteer organization, is developing a service program for the recently opened Novi unit at Ten Mile and Haggerty Road.

Men and women are being recruited for assignments in the emergency reception area and at the information desk of the center which provides 24-hour emergency care and radiology, laboratory, pediatrics, family dentistry and internal medicine services.

At the main hospital in Southfield, volunteers staff the emergency patient liaison service, surgical lounges, gift shop, gift cart and information desks as well as handle varied duties in labor and delivery suite, nursing and nursing units.

Providence Hospital volunteers are a vital part of the health care team. Their service supports and extends the work of the professional staff and makes an important contribution to the well-being of the patients.

In addition to weekdays, opportunities for volunteer service exist on weekends and in the evenings, which are particularly appealing to working people and married couples wishing to serve as a team.

Volunteers are required to be in good health and able to commit approximately four hours once a week on a regularly scheduled basis.

For further information about the Providence volunteer program, contact Dorothy Wood, director of volunteer service, at 424-3300.

Meadowbrook gardener loves job

Club blooms under his tender care

By KEVIN WILSON

"I was born in a greenhouse," says George Flammer, Meadowbrook Country Club gardener. "I've been playing around with flowers as far back as I remember."

That's a few years ago for the 82-year-old Flammer.

"You don't believe it either, huh?" he says, standing near one of his favorite flower beds. "It's true, I turn 83 this October."

Tending over 12,000 plants surrounding the Meadowbrook club house and scattered throughout the golf course keeps this senior citizen, and his young assistant Lisa Johnson of Livonia, moving April through November, a minimum of 40 hours a week.

"This kind of job, working outside, is really the best thing for anybody," Flammer says, wheeling a golf cart from one flower bed to another, explaining facets he takes particular pride in showing to visitors.

"I like working with fairly ordinary flowers, nothing really unusual, you can do quite a lot with them," he says, pointing to a neatly trimmed triangular arrangement of begonias beside a wooden stairway leading behind the clubhouse.

"See there, just an ordinary flower — that shows you what can be done in your yard," he says. "Just ordinary begonias, properly installed and cared for, and you can see what they develop into."

Proper "installation" and care are techniques Flammer has been using for so long that they were second nature to him when he came to Meadowbrook some eight years ago after 35 years with a flower covering firm.

"I was born right here in Detroit," he recalls. "When we were kids, we all had gardens we tended in the back yard. We always had greenhouses and such. We had a flower shop in the Stephens' building downtown back in my younger days. I've just always done this wherever I was."

Shimmering scarlet and yellow flowers surround the flag pole in the valet parking drive in front of the clubhouse and Flammer uses the 4,000 plants in the plot as an example of what he does with the plants every day.

He uses just a little pesticide, and rejects weed killers entirely.

"We do all the weeding by hand, we find that's the most successful way," he explains. "When you use weed killers you inevitably kill a certain amount of your plants and it disturbs your arrangements."

Bees busily float from flower to flower, no more than two or three plants apart from each other. He gets stung on occasion but really does not consider it a drawback to the job.

Over 12,000 plants surround Meadowbrook clubhouse

"Without your bees, you don't have flowers," Flammer explains. "They do all the pollinating. I don't worry about them, with me, you see, bees are my friends."

The mosquitoes buzzing around however, earn no such respect. Attracted by the just-watered plants they land on Flammer only to be met with a slap.

But, he doesn't let them drive him away. The plants need care.

"The biggest mistake most home gardeners make is neglect," he says. "People over-water, or under-water, overfeed or underfeed. If they'd follow the instructions they get from the nursery when they buy a plant they should be okay. And they shouldn't be afraid to get down on their knees and get a little dirty."

Planning the plants for various beds around the clubhouse and out on the course takes up the early part of the year. Flammer pointed out how care and the proper selection at the beginning of the year can keep a garden productive throughout the growing months.

Strolling along the terrace behind the clubhouse dining room he points to a area under the windows in full bloom.

"See there, that was the first garden in the spring and it's still going strong," Flammers said.

Hanging gardens line the top of the terrace walls while plantings at the foot of the wall are intended to produce flowers for the dining room "when they have something special going on in there."

Each bed is designed with its own individual character, and Flammer explaining, is dismayed that the visit has come just past the prime for the petunia beds.

"Over here though is kind of a pet, old-fashioned garden," he says. "This is one all the women like, they want to know how to do this and how to do that, and I explain it."

It's a small bed with many types of plants in it, but instead of looking cluttered it is expertly organized to show off each plant to its fullest beauty.

Marigolds, zinnias, begonias, impatiens, moss rose, and snap dragons are fronted with a ring of ivy, "though that usually goes in back," Flammer gazes at it, as if remembering when such arrangements were more popular while he was tending his first gardens in a Detroit backyard.

His taste is being passed on to his assistant Lisa Johnson, recently married and returned to Livonia where she grew up.

Johnson is Flammer's only assistant and they appear to work well together making similar statements as the tour proceeds.

"Lisa Johnson, she's a good kid, too," Flammer says, standing again in the valet parking drive. Earlier, she showed as much admiration for the work as Flammer did.

"This is really a nice golf course, I love working here," she says, pushing her tired utility cart in a useless attempt to keep up with the newer golf cart Flammer is driving.

"I used to work in a Farmer Jack," she says, gazing out at the greens. "This isn't as much money, but it's worth it to me."

'Man of La Mancha' opens Friday

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Director Bill Ward keeps eye on stage, as Musical Director Phil Michael goes over the score

When the newly renovated Marquis Theatre opened its doors to the public two years ago, Northville residents flocked together to celebrate the rebirth of the 55-year-old playhouse.

The owners Jay and Inge Zayti celebrated the event by serving champagne to opening night guests who packed the house to see the musical "Camelot."

Since the grand opening in 1978 various performing troupes and companies have brought their acts to the theatre.

Yet, performing groups come and go faster than the names can be changed on the marquee. After two or three weeks of shows, most groups pack up their equipment and hit the road — making room for a new company.

Beginning this fall, playgoers will once again see another new performing company at the Marquis — only this time the company is here to stay.

The Performing Arts Guild, a professional, non-Equity theatre company, has made its home at the Marquis.

The Guild which was founded in June is currently rehearsing for their first performance of "Man of La Mancha" which will open this Friday.

"Man of La Mancha," Cervantes tale of Don Quixote, will run Fridays and Saturdays, through September 28. Performances will begin at 8:30 p.m. Sunday matinees also have been scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

The 21-member cast of "Man of La Mancha" has been rehearsing for the musical for more than a month.

Northville resident Ves Spindler has been cast in the lead role as Don Quixote and Farmington resident Daryl Egeland, formerly of Northville, will play the part of Sancho.

The Guild's debut performance of "Man of La Mancha" will give audiences an opportunity to view one of the areas newest acting companies which came to Northville's Marquis Theatre by way of Wayne State University.

The Guild is managed by M.F.A. and Ph.D. theatre students from Wayne State and the Hilberry Theatre.

Bill Ward, managing director of the P.A.G. and one of its founders, said he and two other Wayne State graduates began looking in April for a home base to start a performing guild.

Ward said he had read an article about the Marquis renovation and contacted Inge Zayti about possibly starting a company at the theatre.

"We came out to see the theatre in April," Ward said. "When we talked to Mrs. Zayti about it, we never suspected we'd actually be working there."

But evidently Mrs. Zayti liked the idea, and by June the Performing Arts Guild was officially incorporated.

The Guild, which has a board of directors and seven permanent staff members, has scheduled performances at the Marquis every other month.

During the months when P.A.G. performances are not running, the theatre will be presenting shows by other companies as well as movies and operas.

Ward said the P.A.G., which will present six shows for the season, holds open auditions for each play.

Following "Man of La Mancha," the P.A.G. will present "Dracula" October 31 through November 8.

The P.A.G. and the Marquis currently are offering a subscription plan for the remainder of 1980. Four shows are being offered in the plan; two by the P.A.G. and two by outside groups.

The subscription plan includes the P.A.G.'s "Man of La Mancha" and "Dracula," and performances by the Bel Canto Ensemble and the Michigan Lyric Opera.

The Bel Canto Ensemble will present "Impresario" by Mozart and "Serva Pardon" by Pergolesi. Both are comic one-act operas and will be shown November 14-23.

The Michigan Lyric Opera will present "Hansel and Gretel" in two shows November 30.

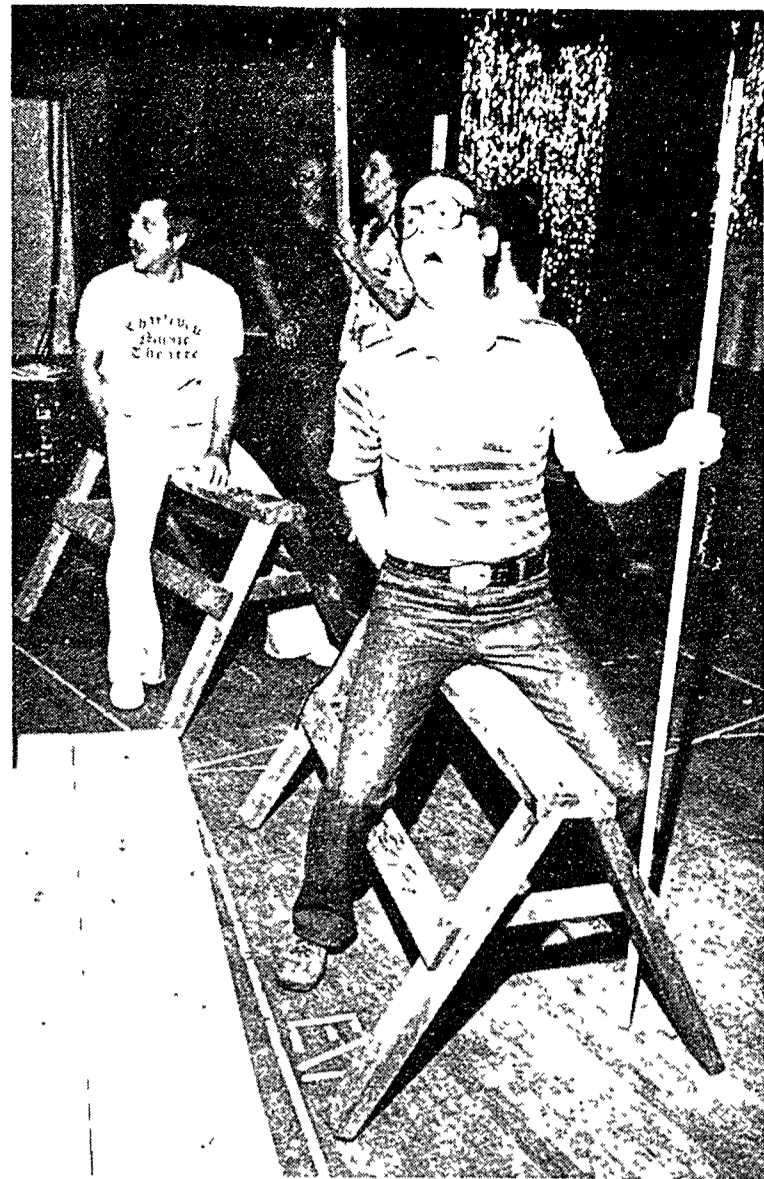

Tickets for all four shows are being offered for $18 if ordered by September 18.

Individual tickets are $7 for evening performances and $4 for matinees.

Season tickets and individual tickets for "Man of La Mancha," are on sale now. Reservations may be made by calling the Marquis box office at 349-8110 during the day, or 349-0868 after 6 p.m.

Reservations also may be made at Marquis Boutiques at 133 East Main.

Group rates also are available on request.

Summer travelers loved Germany

Germany has been the country to visit this summer, both because of the Passion Play presentation at Oberammergau and because local residents are discovering the appeal of the Bavarian Alps.

Mrs. Robert Norton, daughter Amy and sister-in-law Mrs. Bud Hartner have returned from a four-week trip to Europe and report their most enjoyable times were spent driving through the Bavarian countryside in the car they rented, touring cities and riding the cable car to the summit of the Zugspitze in Garmisch.

They also were invited to a German festival and visited cathedrals in Cologne and in Vienna, Austria. The trip, which began in Heidelberg, continued to Lucerne, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria and Venice, Italy. It included a two-day visit with Amy's pen pal in Cologne and a cruise down the Rhine, returning them to Frankfurt for the flight home.

The Herman A. Wedemeyers of Nine Mile are back from a two-week European tour that included visits to Milan, Florence, Pisa, Rome, the Vatican, Naples, Sorrento, Venice and the Isle of Capri in Italy as well as Innsbruck, Austria, and Duesseldorf, Frankfurt, Munich and Oberammergau, Germany.

They attended the Passion Play on the tour under the auspices of Ward Presbyterian Church of Livonia escorted by its pastor, Dr. Bartlett Hess and Mrs. Hess.

Celebration's golden for former residents

Emory W. and Agnes Kimball, who were residents of First Street here for 23 years, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary August 17 with friends and relatives in Lowell, Michigan. They now live in Lake Worth, Florida.

The open house was hosted by their daughters Mrs. William (Janice) Sauber of Lowell and Mrs. James (Shirley) Baxter of Birmingham, Alabama. The honorees also have three grandchildren.

Brazilian resident's sewing totes

Gay Bulterman, former Northville resident who now lives in Brazil with her husband, has been sewing totes and Bermuda bags with choice Mola fabric made by the Kuna Indians of Panama, reports her mother, Lillian Duerson of 525 Fairbrook.

Mrs. Bulterman who visited here this summer now lives in Sao Paulo but her husband formerly was on assignment in Panama. The Indians make the reverse applique fabric in primitive design. It now has become very sought after, Mrs. Duerson explains. Her daughter stopped in Panama enroute here to buy more of the bright fabric which she makes into the bags.

Maybe We're Not Magicians. . .

Marianne Harper wed to classmate

Marianne Harper and John J. Stuparits, who exchanged marriage vows at First Presbyterian Church August 16, cut a six-foot high wedding cake at their reception that was the creation of the bride's aunt.

The dinner reception at Meadowbrook Country Club followed the 6 p.m. service at which the Reverend Lloyd G. Brasure officiated. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harper of Fermanagh Court, was given in marriage by her father in the double ring service that included lighting of candles symbolizing two becoming one in Christ.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stuparits of Muskegon.

As the "something old" the bride wore her great-grandmother's diamond ring during the ceremony.

Her white chiffon gown was fashioned on Empire lines and featured trim of Venice lace with seed pearls and sequins. Her waltz-length mantilla veil was adorned with matching lace applique. She carried a cascade floral arrangement in white.

During the service the bride's cousin David Harper sang "Follow Me," "I'll Walk by Your Side" and "Wedding Song."

Trudy Braun, a Gamma Phi sorority sister of the bride, was honor maid.

Bridesmaids were the bride's sisters Mrs. James Pell and Diane Harper, and Robin Mills. They wore light dusty rose-color Qiana gowns of floor length with matching knee-length jackets. They carried baskets of silk flowers in shades of rose and burgundy made by the bride.

Patrick Sidge was best man. Ushers were James Pell, Robert Lackey and Jeffrey Stuparits.

Out-of-town guests from Kansas Virginia, Illinois and Canada were among the 200 attending the reception.

The wedding cake featured a fountain at the base and satellite cakes connected by bridges. It had been made by the bride's aunt Mrs. George Brown who flew in from Portsmouth, Virginia with equipment to bake the pillared cake.

The couple met while attending Michigan State University. Both received their BS degrees in 1978. The bride is a 1974 graduate of Northville High School.

Her bridegroom is employed as operator-mechanic for Grand Haven Waste Water Treatment Facility. They have purchased a new home in Grand Haven where they are living.

They are planning a delayed honeymoon a winter Caribbean cruise.

Coffee's Thursday

Newcomers begin new year

A membership coffee for members and women interested in Northville Newcomers and a couples' theatre evening are upcoming on the club's schedule.

President Chris Williams announces the first ladies event of the year will be the fall membership coffee to be given at 7:30 p.m. this Thursday at First United Methodist Church at Eight Mile and Taft.

"Those new to the school district are invited to attend and find out more about us," she says. "If you would like to come but don't want to come alone or if you want more information, call me (349-3867)," she invites. Alice Pooley, 348-2284, membership chairman, also may be called.

Membership in Newcomers is open to anyone who has lived in the Northville school district for less than five years and is for a period of three years.

Today is deadline for reservations for the September theatre night to begin at 7 p.m. September 27 with those attending gathering first at the home of John and Marcia Horngren for dessert. They then will go to the Hilberry Theatre for the production of "Wild Oats," an 18th century English comedy of mistaken identity, love and intrigue.

After the play the couples will return to the Horngren's for punch and snacks. Cost of the evening is $11 a couple with a limit of 20 couples.

Mrs. Horngren, 420-3292, and Jan VanderBok, 420-3219, are taking reservations.

Caribbean honeymoon follows ceremony

Janet Gail Rhoton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rhoton of 18404 Jamestown Circle, and David Otis Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Baker of 42270 Ladywood, exchanged wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony August 16.

Father Pettit officiated the double ring ceremony at St. Kenneth's Catholic Church.

The bride wore a gown of white silk with flowering around the scalloped neckline and along the outer sleeves. She wore a finger tip veil with a Juliet cap and carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, white daisies and baby's-breath.

Christine Bartz, who served as matron of honor, wore an aqua floor-length gown with a white lace top.

Bridesmaids Kelley Heath, Amy Crockett and Linda Mayne, wore powder blue gowns with white lace bodices and cap sleeves.

The bridesmaids and matron of honor carried bouquets of yellow sweetheart roses and baby's-breath tied with yellow ribbon.

Lesli Rhoton, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl, and Matthew Throm nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

George Morawsky served as best man. Ushers were Gary Rhoton brother of the bride, Myron Morawsky and Tom Dumiske.

Approximately 190 guests, some from Tennessee and Canada, attended a reception at Multi Lakes Conservation Association clubhouse in Commerce Township after the ceremony.

The couple chose a Caribbean Cruise for their wedding trip.

The bride is a 1975 graduate of Northville High School.

The bridegroom, a 1974 graduate of Garden City West High School, is employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

They will reside in Northville.

MD benefit draws crowd

The Northville City Fire Department and the Ladies Auxiliary raised more than $450 at a spaghetti dinner August 24 to help fight muscular dystrophy.

The dinner, which was sponsored from noon to 6 p.m., included spaghetti, a salad, French bread, dessert, and coffee, tea or milk, at a cost of $3 for adults and $1.50 for children 12 or younger.

Jeff Lee, a 16-year-old Northville resident, entertained guests with several performances of Broadway show tunes.

The Northville City Fire Department also sold popcorn, cotton candy and pop on the grounds at the legion home, while guests ate spaghetti.

The Junior Auxiliary also helped raise money by holding a bake sale.

All proceeds went to the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon.

First service Sunday

Lutheran church formed

Northville, Novi and Walled Lake residents will be meeting September 14 for the first worship service of the Novi Area Lutheran Church.

The new Lutheran congregation will be meeting at Novi Middle School at 10 a.m.

In addition to worship services, the congregation will offer Sunday School classes for school age children immediately following the worship service.

The start of services for the Novi Area Lutheran Church is the culmination of a church development program sponsored by the Michigan

District Mission Board of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod.

The board initiated spot survey work in areas of Novi in the summer of 1979 and contacted the Reverend David Farley to be resident pastor and developer of the Novi congregation.

The board also received permission from the Novi School Board to hold services in a classroom of Novi Middle School.

According to Pastor Farley, the congregation already has held two informational meetings, which were open to the public, and has two more meetings are scheduled once services are underway.

Pastor Farley explained that the Wisconsin Synod, the parent organization of the Novi Area Lutheran Church, adheres to the Bible as the inspired inerrant Word of God and represents a conservative confessional tradition in the Lutheran Church.

He also said it places high emphasis on education and maintains one of the largest elementary school systems among protestant church bodies.

The church body is comprised of 1100 congregations throughout the United States, although its name still reflects its Midwestern beginnings in 1848.

Plane crash survivor to address meeting

Norman Williams, a California educator and businessman, and a survivor of one of the worst airplane disasters in history, will be guest speaker at the September 19 dinner meeting of the Northville-Plymouth-Livonia Chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship.

Williams is one of the few survivors of the airport crash in the Canary Islands in which two 747 jumbo jets collided at Tenerife Airport killing 593 persons.

A former Michigan resident, Williams attended a seminary for five years in Missouri, where he also received a degree in theology.

After attending Detroit Business University, he became a school administrator and taught business education for 10 years. He later organized the Norman Williams Ministries.

The fellowship's dinner-meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. at the Sweden House Restaurant at 31530 Grand River in Farmington.

Dinner tickets are $5.50 per person. Reservations are required for dinner and may be made by calling 349-0066 591-0094 455-5008 349-8442 or 459-6950.

Antique show opens here Friday

More than 25 dealers, including Carol Nordell and Helen Meisel of Northville, will be featuring 18th and 19th century furniture and accessories in the Northville Antique Show to be held Friday through Sunday at the Community Center at 303 West Main.

Mrs. Meisel is co-sponsor of the annual show with Ruby Fleming of Dearborn.

Hours will be noon to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

Mrs. Nordell, who entered the show for the first time last year, reports she has expanded from furniture and carries also a general line of antiques.

Merwin's Antiques of Novi also is participating and will be featuring leaded windows and doors.

Coffee begins New Life group

All interested women of the Northville-Novu communities are invited to meet the author of a basic course on the Scriptures, "The New Life Series," at a coffee from 12:30-3:30 p.m. Monday.

It will be held at the home of Mary Jo Mathias, 23211 Gilbar, Novi.

The series will bring new approaches to "coping, caring and continuing on in our daily lives," explains Evelyn Maguire of Northville. This is an ecumenical Bible and discussion group which promotes personal growth, she adds.

Beginning at 9:30-11:30 a.m. October 2 the meetings will be held at Northville First United Methodist Church.

Meetings will continue every Thursday morning.

Babysitters will be available. Mrs. Mathias may be called for information at 348-3829.

Mrs. Maguire explains that the meetings have been drawing women in other areas for the past two years. The meetings, she says, are non-denominational although they are held in the Methodist church.

Earn U-M degrees

Nine Northville residents who expect to earn degrees from the University of Michigan were recognized at the summer commencement ceremonies August 24.

Those expecting to earn master's degrees are: Eleanor K. Williams of 308 Debra; Susan Mary Turner of 42265 Waterfall; Arlene Francis Stabenau of 19911 Woodhill; Elizabeth A. McKee of 892 Yorktown; Jeffrey Thomas De Lorme of 38649 Southfarm, and Catherine Linda Buck of 23 Hillcrest.

Saulius Karol Mikalonis of 46090 Norton, and Doreen Marie Giudici of 38014 Southfarm, are expecting to receive bachelor of arts degrees.

Nancy Ann Anderson of 19510 Clement is expecting to receive a master of science degree and a bachelor of arts degree.

Women Aglow announce breakfast

Pastor Charles Schwartz will tell about his commitment to the Lord after becoming an alcoholic at the 9 a.m. breakfast this Saturday of Women Aglow.

It will be held at Cypress Gardens in Harvard Square Plaza, Sheldon at Ford roads.

All area women are invited with phone reservations to be made with Irene Scott, 349-6759.

Pastor Schwartz states his life was uneventful until he reached 12 or 13 and gave his "heart and life to the Lord."

Peer pressure, he says, caused him to backslide for 14 years. He became an alcoholic, lost his job and nearly lost his wife and family.

In 1972 he recommitted his life. Since 1976 he has been working with youth as a friend and pastor.

Dates for the November and December meetings have been changed to November 15 and December 5; the latter will be a dinner meeting.

Craftspeople invited to be in Tivoli Fair

Craftspeople still may sign up for space at the Tivoli Fair, an annual arts and crafts show sponsored by Northville Historical Society to continue restoration work at Mill Race Historical Village.

The fair will be held at the Northville Downs October 3-4 where ample free parking will be available.

Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Saturday. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children and senior citizens.

Eighty exhibitors have signed to display their wares, giving fair-goers pottery, handcrafted furniture, lamps, dried flowers, wreaths, hand weaving, handmade chocolates, baskets, paintings, stained glass, macrame, dolls, jewelry and Christmas gifts to view and purchase.

Jewel Luckett, a resident of Brookland Farms, is handling publicity for the fair.

Pat Meyers, 348-1456 and Lynn Pacquette, 349-0200, co-chairpersons, may be called to reserve booth space.

On restored organ

Heinzman to give concert

David Heinzman, son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Heinzman of 552 Fairbrook, will be guest organ recitalist at the Mill Valley Arts Festival September 20.

The recital, part of a weekend of art and musical festivities, is open to the public and will begin at 8 p.m.

Heinzman, a graduate student in organ performance at the University of Michigan, will be playing a tracker organ developed by the Hinners Company in 1905.

The organ was discovered — unused — in a small Baptist church in Bono, Ohio, in 1977.

William Worden, a Detroit organ builder, found the organ and recommended it to the organ committee of Christ Lutheran Church.

The organ was purchased by the church, dismantled and moved to Milford where Worden began reconstructing it.

After a year and a half of cooperative efforts between Worden and many parishioners who donated labor and pledges, the organ was totally reconstructed.

The "new" organ was first played in services on December 24, 1978.

Heinzman, who currently is minister of music at the First Presbyterian Church in Northville, will perform works by Bach, De Grigny, Alain and others at the recital.

A reception will be held immediately after the recital in the Christ Lutheran Church Fellowship Hall. Heinzman will be available at the reception to discuss playing the tracker organ.

Persons interested in further information may contact Jan Rasmussen, director of music, at 887-9752.

Christ Lutheran Church is located at 620 General Motors Road in Milford.

Fall classes scheduled at Mill Race

There's still time to register for fall classes and workshops to be held at Mill Race Historical Village under sponsorship of Northville Historical Society.

American Country Antiques to be taught by Eleanor Lowell, owner of the Barn Door Antiques of Canton, and a former Northville resident, promises to be the largest class yet, say sponsors. The six-week lecture series will begin October 7.

Basic Basketry taught by Helen Maki has openings for a few students on Friday mornings beginning October 3.

Don Sober's chair caning class has been brought back by request and has a single opening for Monday mornings, beginning October 6.

Rug-crafter Ellen Wilson will teach traditional rug hooking, offering an advanced class after the beginner one. Openings are available in both.

Clock man Mel Anderson will repeat his popular clock repair class in January with sign-up now.

Calligraphy taught by Sharon DeAlexandris, Our Lady of Victory art teacher, begins October 1 and has a full enrollment.

Chairpersons Lucia Danes and Carol Jean Stockhausen report that there still are some openings in all workshops, but that they are filling rapidly. Since the series was announced in July, they say, "response has been wonderful."

First workshop will be on Dollhouse Dolls and will be taught by Marcella Tsutsui, Greenfield Village instructor. This is the only workshop that will not be held on Saturday. It is scheduled for two Fridays, October 3 and 17. A pair of china head dolls will be made and could be a special gift for dollhouse owners, suggest the sponsors.

On November 8 Jamie Hove and Lynda Neuroth will repeat their sell-out herb wreath workshop for which a few openings remain. It's billed as a "wonderful smelling and delightful day."

Following the tradition of providing a day for mothers and daughters, October 25 will be set aside for mother-daughter quilting. Jo Krause will teach this workshop with the help of her daughter Mary Cast.

John Brugeman will teach a brief, morning-only workshop on pruning October 11. It is intended to appeal to men and women who must soon begin this yearly task of getting shrubs, evergreens and trees in shape.

Nancy Kollman and daughter Michelle will teach the revived Radiant Star patchwork technique brought here from St. Louis. Their workshop will result in a Radiant Star bag October 11

Registration forms containing detailed descriptions of classes are available at IV Seasons, Traditional Handcrafts, The Clock Shop and Northville Public Library.

Mrs. Danes, 349-6784, and Mrs. Stockhausen, 349-2833, may be contacted for more information.

HOT WATER FOR A SONG.

THREE CENTS, TO BE EXACT.

If you've got a gas water heater, a good, 5 minute shower costs you about 3 cents.

And that's about 15 gallons of water.

Enough to give a body something to sing about...at least when you consider what inflation's doing to other current costs.

No, we're not saying natural gas is cheap. But the fact of the matter is that natural gas uses up less of the average family's spendable income now than it did 20 years ago, heating homes, cooking meals, and warming the water for countless baths and showers. Natural gas — especially when you use it wisely — is still a very good buy.

Baking a turkey for 5 hours in a gas oven today costs only about 11 cents. Doing a load of clothes in a gas dryer runs you about 4½ cents. And you can shower daily for a month for under a dollar.

Yes, the cost of energy as a whole has increased considerably in recent years. But there are still forms of energy that, in relation to all the other costs of living, serve us well and at a reasonable expense.

At Consumers Power, we wanted you to know that natural gas is one of them. And that we're trying to keep it that way.

NATURAL GAS. It's still a good buy.

Looking for work?

It's not unusual if you've been one of them — or will be.

Unemployed Michigan residents have plenty of company these days. According to the Michigan Employment Security Commission's (MESC) Research and Statistics Division July statistics, 617,000 Michiganians are jobless. That's almost double the number of unemployed at the same time last year (339,000).

But all is not hopeless. There are more job opportunities out there than you think; it's just a matter of knowing where to look. And the party that brought you the ghastly figures above — the MESC — can help. Here are some of its suggestions:

- Relatives, friends and neighbors may be able to inform you of openings that otherwise aren't listed. If you know someone who just got a job or decided to train for one, ask that individual where he got it or where he went.

- The want ads of newspapers, trade and professional magazines are a good source for current job openings. And your local library has them all in one place.

- Civil Service Commissions are a good place to go for government jobs. Those openings are filled on the basis of examination scores and evaluations of job experience and education. Most post offices and MESC Job Service offices have information on state and local government jobs, while the public library has books to help you prepare for many civil service exams (you may have to be a resident of a city in order to be considered for some jobs in that city).

- Community agencies receive government money to provide training and jobs.

- Schools and colleges offer placement services to their students and graduates. Many also have job placement services at little or no cost for anyone in the community, usually through their community resource centers.

- Trade unions and professional associations are good sources of jobs for their members.

- Private employment agencies may specialize in specific occupations. They usually charge a fee to either you or the employer.

- Check the phone book's yellow pages, the local Chamber of Commerce and industrial directories for names of local businesses employing people in your occupation. Listings are available at your local library, or call The Information Place (TIP) at the Detroit Public Library (833-4000).

While there are plenty of places to look for a job, the MESC adds that there are also plenty of places to look for an occupation if you feel a career switch is in order. Guidance can come in the form of classes and workshops with others who are unemployed, or you might seek help on an individual basis.

Most college and university community resource centers have short-term classes or career changes, interviewing skills and resume writing among others, according to the MESC. They're usually available at little or no cost to anyone who's interested. Your local school district may also offer classes through various adult or community education programs, and agencies like the YWCA have workshops periodically.

Yet another good source of career information is the Michigan Occupational Information System (MOIS), a computerized listing of Michigan's unemployment outlook for various occupations. MOIS is available at MESC Job Service offices and at many schools and colleges, and has information on training required and where to get it.

Some training necessitates returning to school in order to obtain your high school diploma, if you haven't got that already. Or, you may need to take a General Educational Development (GED) exam. Your local school district offers classes in adult basic education and GED preparation, usually free of charge.

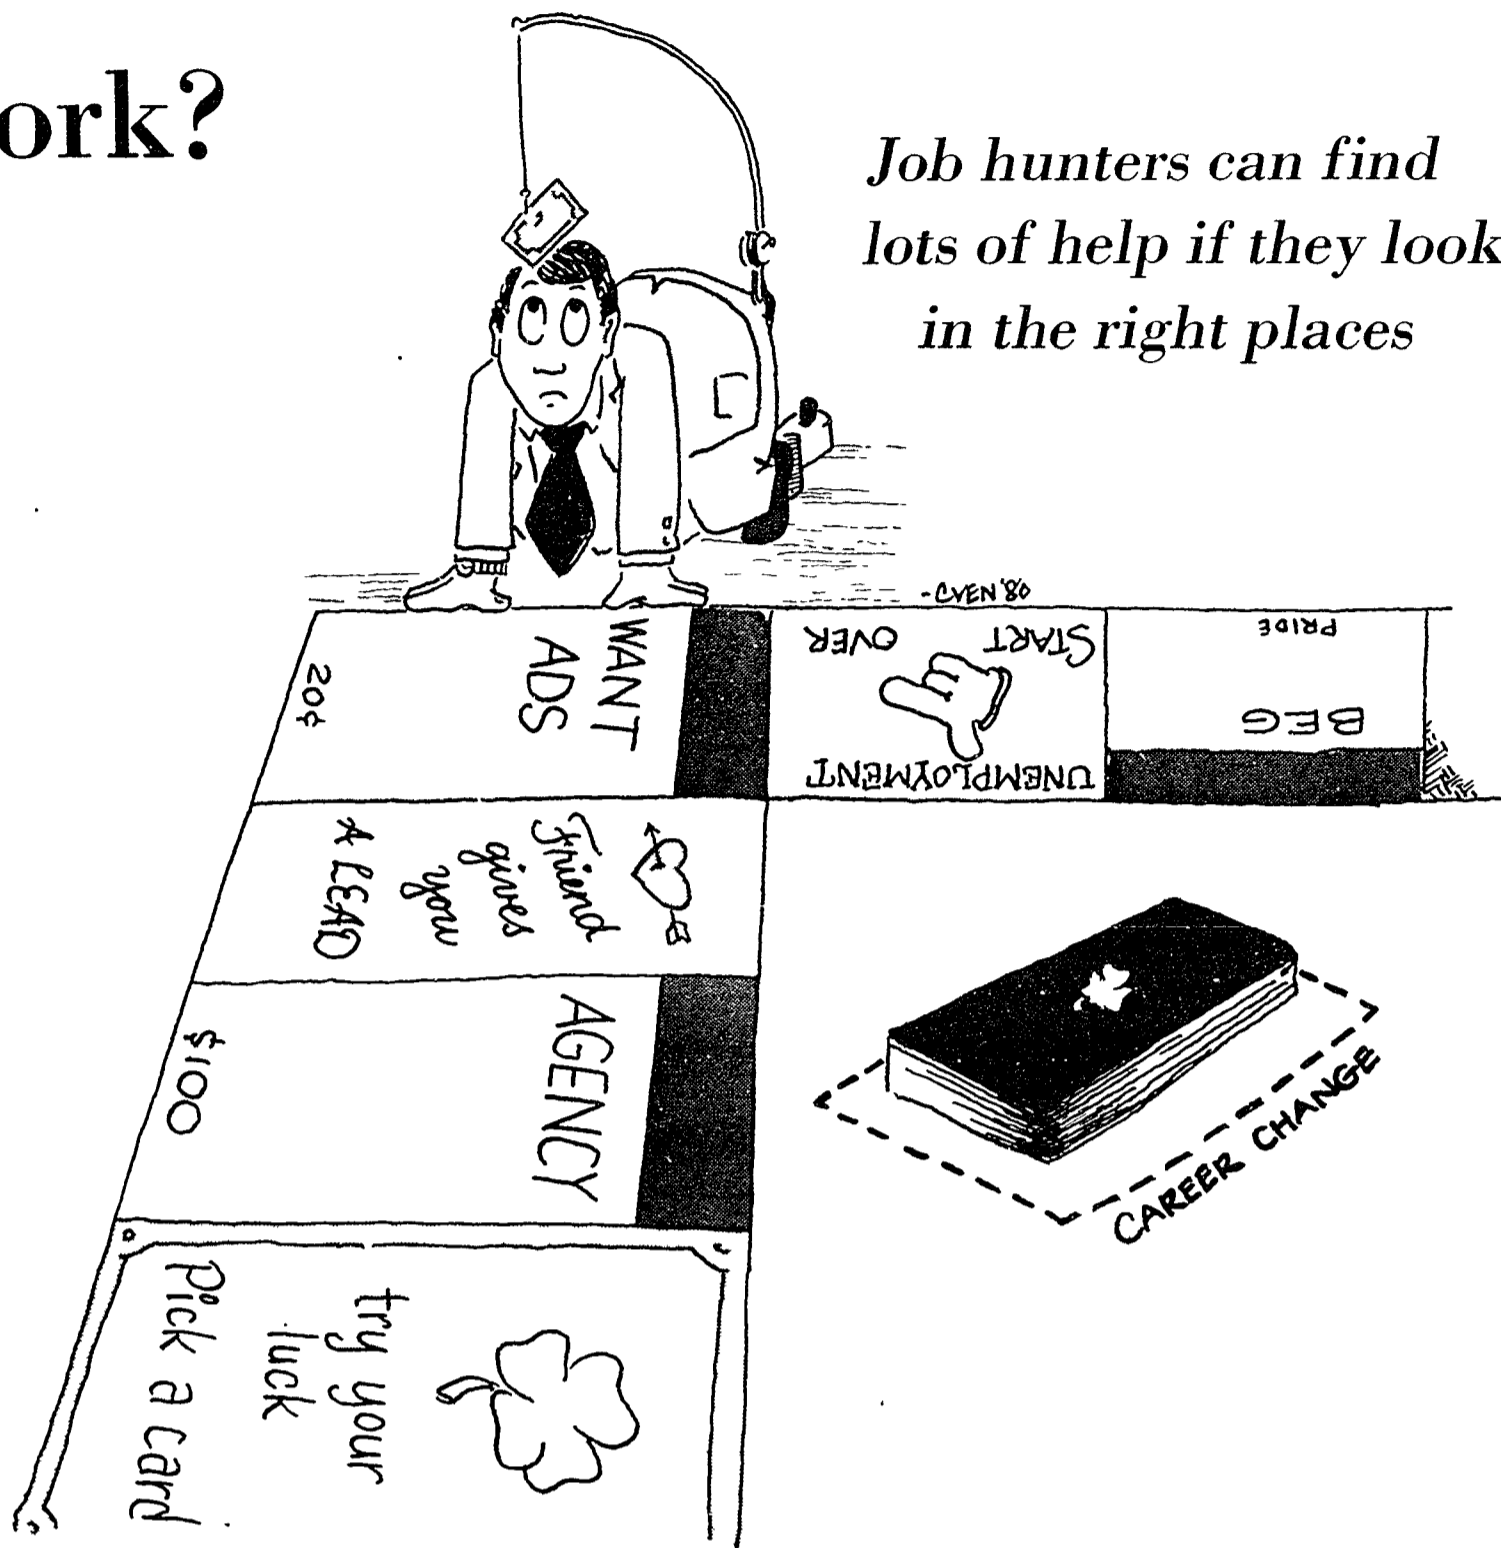

Many school districts also offer adult vocational classes and job placement and follow-up. The classes are usually low-cost, and you receive a certificate when finished. Information on apprenticeship training in the skilled trades can be obtained from your local MESC Job Service Office or from the trade unions.

Then there's the matter of student loans, Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (BEOG) and work-study programs available to pay for college classes. The financial aid office of your local school or college can help you apply for money to attend school. In fact, you can even go to college without having your high school diploma, as community colleges let you complete your GED while in school.

If you're a veteran, you can obtain information on money for training from the Veterans' Administration (VA) counselor at schools or colleges, MESC Job Service or from the VA. If all that doesn't help, you can call or write for more information. The Community Information Service's toll-free number outside Detroit is 1-800-522-1183. Or write United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit, 51 West Warren, Detroit 48201. And good luck.

RIZZO REALTY, INC., Gallery of Homes in Northville, has surpassed $2 million in sales of Northville city and township properties during 1980.

That's the word from Anthony V. Rizzo, president of the company, who said he was especially pleased with the volume in view of the fact that Southeastern Michigan is feeling the effects of the economic slowdown as much as any part of the country.

"I believe that as of August 10, we were the only company exceeding two million dollars in sales volume for real estate located within the boundaries of the city and township of Northville," Rizzo stated.

Since affiliating with the Gallery of Homes early this year, Rizzo Realty has increased its share of residential sales in the Northville community to the extent that the company now leads in dollar volume and average sale price of residential properties, the president said.

The average sale price of homes in Northville sold by Rizzo is in excess of $108,000.

A NEW AND UNUSUAL specialty store, Thimbles, is now open at Twelve Oaks Mall. The emphasis of this new store will be on quality clothes at moderate prices for misses-size women with traditional to up-dated tastes.

Thimbles will focus directly on the adult woman willing to pay reasonable prices for classic quality clothing. The sensible, stylish fashions that are featured are timeless, flattering in color and design, and versatile enough to build wardrobes that will grow with time. The mainstay of Thimbles will be "investment shopping at affordable prices."

The 3,500 square foot Twelve Oaks Mall store, located on the lower level off center court, will be managed by Detroit native Martha Fleming, formerly department manager of designer sportswear at Saks Fifth Avenue in Somerset Mall.

Thimbles is a pilot store and the only one of its kind in the Detroit market area. The newest marketing venture of the Batus Retail Division of Batus, Inc., of Louisville which owns and operates Saks Fifth Avenue, Gimble's and Kohl's food and department stores, the Thimbles store at Twelve Oaks is one of three pilot stores in the north central and midwest region. The Thimbles chain is projected for 100 shopping mall stores nationwide with plans for more than 200 by 1990.

Twelve Oaks Mall is open 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. The mall is located on Novi Road, north of I-96.

LEO FANOS of Novi has been appointed sales supervisor for Welcor, Incorporated, a Livonia-based copier dealership.

Fanos has been a sales representative for the company since 1973. He will continue his sales responsibility in addition to the added responsibility of training in-coming salespersons. He presently handles sales in portions of southern Oakland County.

ELEVEN OAKLAND COUNTY residents presently engaged in business, the professions and education are in the process of organizing a stock Savings & Loan Association in Oakland County to be known as Sterling Savings & Loan Association.

Heading up the organization as president is Pontiac Attorney Alvin Levine. Other officers are Vice President James T. Long of Clarkston, Secretary Dr. Richard T. McDonald of Waterford and Treasurer Donald H. Arsen of Waterford.

Stock savings and loan associations are a fresh concept in attracting general public depositors. The concept originated in Texas and California and operates with great success. The new association will be located in Waterford. With the recent approval of the commissioner of the Financial Institutions Bureau in Lansing, the association will begin offering stock to prospective depositors and the general public this month. Price per share has been set at $12.50.

With competition for deposit funds extremely keen, giving depositors the opportunity to become part owners of a savings and loan association is growing in appeal over the traditional offer of gifts to attract funds.

Sterling Saving and Loan Association plans to use its capital funds and deposits to make long-term loans secured by first mortgages on residential, commercial and industrial projects throughout the state of Michigan.

Individual deposits will be insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation up to $100,000 for each depositor.

Site of Sterling Savings and Loan will be on Walton Boulevard at the northeast corner of Clintonville Road in Waterford Township.

Other organizers of Sterling Savings and Loan are Raymond Husic of Bloomfield Hills, Gilbert Ham of Waterford, Janet Killian of Drayton Plains, Richard Logan of Clarkston, Delwin Richardson of Waterford, Helen Weil of Drayton Plains and Charles Perkins of Waterford.

What's Yesterday Now

Wall, but fade away.
I watch it all Disappear.*

*A thought —
A few feelings —
A time —
A place —
A year —*

*I'll seal it up
In a silent memory.
Not forgotten or erased.
But put in a safe place
For keeping.*

To Mom With Love

*A few kisses, a smudge and a blot,
Two pink mis-shapen hearts tied with a lover's knot,
A few blue flowers cut from an ad.,
A piece of lace from a dress I once had,
Given to me by a hot sticky hand,
A birthday card worth more than all the money in the land.*

Have a Good Day!

*If God were here in person,
Wonder what he'd say
About the way things are down here,
And those who only pray
When life gets tight and things go wrong
And we are in a bind,
No matter if we're old or young,
And need some help to find
An answer to the shape we're in—
A light to show the way
From worry and frustration toward
One of those "good days!"
I think He might suggest that we
Let go of our confusions
And let Him handle things, instead,
As he pardons our intrusions.*

He'll Come Again

*Long, long ago; not far away
There was a fair maid dreaming.
Someday her handsome prince would come,
And silence all the screaming.*

*So gallant and so tall he'd be,
A coat of shining armour.
The manners of true royalty,
He'd let no feeling harm her.*

*His arms would echo safety.
His eyes would softly whisper.
His smile would chase away her tears,
His voice would ring with fervor.*

*And there he was, a gust of wind,
He took her by surprise.
Confused, bewildered, "go away!"
Her world was full of lies.*

For hope has banished worry.
Relaxed, he didn't come too late,
He just arrived too early.*

Sweet victory

Mustangs thrash Thurston 35-0 in opener

A coach couldn't ask for more. Three hundred yards rushing, 98 yards passing, a defense that held the opponents scoreless and a 35-0 victory to open the 1980 season.

But Northville Coach Dennis Colligan says Redford Thurston didn't give the Mustangs the test he had hoped for.

"Thurston was a bit disappointing," he said. "Our offensive line wasn't really tested. We had huge holes all day long."

Running through those holes for the Mustangs were Bob Thomson, Steve Cornalino, Scott Spaman, Scott Robins and quarterback Dave Greer.

Greer connected on five of seven passes for 98 yards and one touchdown and ran for 58 yards on six carries.

Thomson rushed for 80 yards on 13 carries, Robins gained 64 yards on seven carries, Cornalino amassed 50 yards and one touchdown, Spaman also scored a TD and ran for 40 yards.

The Mustangs failed to score the first time they had the ball.

They went for it on fourth down and two yards to go and were stopped cold.

On its next possession Northville marched down the field and connected on a 27-yard pass to Dave Ward to set up a three-yard touchdown run by Thomson.

A holding call on the extra point try put the Mustangs back on the 18-yard line.

Greer hit flanker Brian Pratt for the two point conversion and Northville was up 8-0.

The Mustang defense squelched Thurston's efforts and the Northville offense came back with its second TD just into the second quarter.

Gary Kucher made an acrobatic catch of a 25-yard toss from Greer and took it in for the score.

Robins booted the extra point and Northville went into its locker room with a 15-0 lead.

Thurston received the kickoff to open the second half, but again could not put any points on the board.

When the Mustangs got the ball back Greer led them down the field and Cornalino scampered on a sweep from 10 yards out. Greer's kick made it 22-0.

Kickers ruin Day's hopes

By KEN KOVACS

Country Day must be wondering why it never invited Northville to its tournament.

It wasn't enough that the Mustangs — then a first-year team — beat them 1-0 in the championship game last year. The unthankful visitors came back this year with an even stronger squad and handed the host a 3-2 loss to claim their second straight title.

The victory didn't come easy, however. At the end of regulation play in the championship game the two squads were deadlocked at 2-2.

Two 20-minute periods proved fruitless as neither team could put the ball in the net — due mainly to exhaustion.

The shoot-out for the championship also proved to be a drawn-out affair as nine players from each team notched their kicks in the net.

It took a miss by Country Day's 10th shooter and a score by Northville's Char Ramsay to clinch the championship for the Mustangs.

"Ramsay had been very ill and I didn't use him until late Saturday," Coach Ron Meteyer explained. "He just happened to be in the game when the overtime period ended and when it came to his turn in the shoot-out he put the ball right on the money."

Country Day scored first in regulation play, tapping one in about 10 minutes into the game.

Northville's Kevin Swayne took a shot about 30 minutes into the game, got tackled illegally, then put the penalty shot into the corner of the net.

Country Day took the lead about 20 minutes into the second half, scoring on a corner kick.

Five minutes later, Swayne scored his second goal of the game, once again on penalty kick — this time in the opposite corner of the goal.

The remainder of regulation time was spent passing and eluding other players.

In overtime, neither could seem to muster enough energy to put together a good offensive drive, Meteyer said.

"Having extra halfbacks really helped us in the final 10 minutes of the second overtime period," Meteyer said. "And the extra time we spent on pre-season conditioning this year really paid off."

The Mustang kickers knocked off Lathrup, 5-1, and North Farmington, 1-0, enroute to the final game with Country Day.

Rick Marshall scored two goals for Northville against Lathrup Friday night, as did Swayne, while Les Neil kicked in one.

Four of the Mustangs' goals came in the last five minutes of the game.

"We dominated everything except the scoring until the last five minutes," Meteyer said.

Swayne took a pass from Greg May at mid-field and put the ball in the opposite side of the net for the only goal against North Farmington on Saturday.

"It was the type of play you want to tape and show over and over as an example of good teamwork," Meteyer said. "May, Marshall and Neil kept pressing down and got the ball off to Kevin, who completely fooled the goalie. It was a beautiful play."

Jeff Dyer served as the Mustang goalie throughout the tournament.

"Jeff played superbly," Meteyer praised. "He and (Steve) Ouellette are both very good goalies. But Jeff was hot in the first two games so we kept him in."

The NHS kickers were scheduled to take on Catholic Central yesterday in a home contest.

The game with Birmingham Groves, originally set for Thursday has been rescheduled for Saturday, September 13 at Northville.

Kickers celebrate second consecutive Country Day Tournament title

Coach is confident

Can NHS girl swimmers float to another league title?

By KEN KOVACS

After 1979 accomplishments are made, the Western Six Conference rated the third straight year and the state. Not too shabby.

And with eight returning lettermen, including All-Americans Kim Storm and Allyson Farquhar, the Northville High School girls swim team is favored to repeat as league champ in 1980.

"We've been fortunate over the past few years," 11-year coach Ben Lauber stated modestly. "Though we lost nine girls to graduation, we have some fine swimmers back from last year and some talented newcomers."

Other lettermen back from last year are Nancy Donovan, Diane Hrubicki, Dianna Overbey, Hollie Raycraft, Katie Ruddon and Tammy Selfridge. Raycraft will be the Mustangs' lone diver this year.

Though there is a good deal of experience among the swimmers, Lauber does have what could be termed a young team.

Among the 21 swimmers on the squad are 10 sophomores. And there are no juniors on the team.

Lauber, who has been coaching swimming for 19 in Ohio and Michigan, said he is quite surprised at his roster.

"I have never had a team that didn't have at least one swimmer from each grade," he laughed. "I don't know what happened to all the juniors this year."

Among the sophomores on the squad this year are Kathy Brainbridge, Vicki Grice, Peggy Herald, Tish Johnson, Khrist Korowin, Kris Petit, Holley Sellen, Trish Settles, Eleanor Trumbull and Amy Turnock.

Sellen was entered in the medley relay in the state competition at the end of the year to replace Sue Cahill, rated number one in the state, who was out with Mono the last part of the season.

"She surprised everyone when she almost matched Cahill's best time," Lauber said. "She should be a great asset to the team this year."

Other senior members of the team include Tammy Albus, Linda Schneider and Leslie Warren.

Though Lauber said he doesn't expect too much competition in the Western Six this year he had praise for some teams.

"(Farmington) Harrison is consistently strong and always gives us a good meet," he stated. "And Plymouth Canton may surprise some people this year."

But the teams which should provide the toughest competition for the talented Northville swimmers are non-league opponents.

The Mustang swimmers will face Livonia Stevenson, one of the top three teams in the state, and Ann Arbor Huron — rated a notch above Stevenson.

"Stevenson has a super tough team this year," Lauber stated. "And Huron will probably be the toughest opponent we will face this year."

Another non-league contest set for the Northville girls swim team this fall is against Ypsilanti High School.

The Northville squad will miss Cahill, who is attending the University of Michigan on a combined academic and athletic scholarship, and Kristy Iverson another standout from the 1979 team who also graduated.

The first test for the Mustang swimmers was scheduled for last night (Tuesday) at Livonia Bentley.

The first home meet is set for September 16 against Ypsilanti.

IMPORTANT SAFETY WARNING to owners of older John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractors

Maintaining the safety equipment on your older John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor can be especially important. The original boot (or cover) for the battery's positive post on Model 60, 70, 100, 110, 112, 120 or 140 Tractors manufactured from 1963 through 1974 may have suffered from age or may have been lost or damaged. And if that positive battery post is not properly covered, there is danger of a spark causing a fire and bodily injury if you accidentally touch a metal gas can to the positive battery post when refueling the tractor. A more serious fire can result if you are not using a safety-approved gas can.

If you own one of the above models, John Deere wants to make absolutely certain that your tractor has the battery's positive post properly isolated. To make it easy—and safer—for you, we will send you a new cover, free. Just fill out the coupon provided below and mail it to the address shown. It comes complete with installation instructions and is not difficult to install. But if you prefer, after you have received your kit, make a date with your John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor dealer and he'll install it for a small service charge.

Remember, safety and maintenance go hand in hand. The operator's manual can help you. Read it again. Keep your tractor as safe as it was when it was delivered.

It could be the most important thing you do today.

Confident despite loss

Netters upset by Bentley

A hard-hitting, senior-dominated Bentley High School girls tennis team surprised Northville 5-2 last Friday in the Mustangs' first league contest.

But the majority of matches were very close — many going to three sets — and 11th year coach Uta Filkin is confident her girls will rebound and repeat as Western Six Conference champs.

"We knew that Bentley would be one of the strongest teams we would meet this year," Filkin said. "But I didn't expect them to be that tough."

"I was very surprised that our first doubles team lost, but it was a very hard-fought match and I think the girls benefited from it."

Holly Sixt is again the mainstay of the Northville squad, playing first singles for the third straight year.

The steady-playing Sixt outlasted Bentley's Janet Ray, 6-2, 6-1, claiming one of Northville's two match wins.

Junior Sheri Robins, who moved up from fourth to second singles, lost a seesaw match to Sue Scrutton, 6-4, 6-7, 3-6.

It took a nine-point tie-breaker for Scrutton to finally win the second set.

Debbie Spade, who played doubles last year as a junior, dropped the first set to Audrey Devon, 1-6, rebounded to take the second, 6-2, then lost it 0-6 in the final set in the third singles competition.

Gail Engelmeyer, a sophomore playing her first match for Northville, couldn't get started. Ann Sabuda handled her, 1-6, 0-6.

In doubles action, the senior team of Kim Hubbard and Jennifer Missel (who also played together last year) dropped its match to Jan Eichhorn and Gretchen Payne, 3-6, 2-6.

Grabbing the second match victory for Northville was the second doubles team of Marnie Dillow and Lisa Gejoff.

The pair dominated Amy Eichhorn and Jill Lancaster, 6-1, 6-2.

In third doubles play senior Jana Holloway and junior Kathy Montgomery were bested 4-6, 2-6 by Bentley's Donna Byrne and Julie Tulloch.

In exhibition play — where a pro set is the rule — the doubles team of Stacy Cave and Jill Stevens won 8-1, as did K.C. Bemesh and Claudia Horgan, 8-0.

Also in exhibition play, Liz McLarty and Kelly Grey were defeated 0-8.

Though the loss to Bentley prohibits the Northville netters from going undefeated in the league — as they did in 1979 — Coach Filkin is still shooting for the title.

"We will have to do a little regrouping but I think we will do okay," she predicted.

final TD on a 34-yard run. The extra point was wide.

Northville's time of possession was evidence of its dominance of the game. The Mustangs were on offense 33 minutes and 20 seconds while their opponents had the ball less than half as long — 14 minutes and 40 seconds.

Though Thurston did not prove to be a formidable opponent, Colligan said he was "very pleased" with all aspects of his team's performance.

"I am totally impressed with the way the guys played," he praised. "But we will know what we're made of after the (Westland) John Glenn game this Friday."

"Glenn is a good game to have prior to facing the first league opponent," Coach Colligan explained. "I think we can beat them but we'll have to play our best. If you give them a break they'll take advantage of it."

The junior varsity Mustangs also fared well last weekend as they blanked the Thurston JV squad, 42-0.

Running backs Ray McDonough and Andy Dimitroff combined for four touchdowns, pacing the Northville offense.

The Mustang JV team will face Thurston tomorrow (Thursday) at 7 p.m. at John Glenn.

NHS golfers win first two matches

By KEN KOVACS

With two victories under their belt, the confident Northville High School golf team is hopeful of regaining the Western Six Conference crown this year.

The Mustangs toppled defending league champ Waterford Mott 207-210 Monday and bested Novi 210-223 last Friday in a non-league match.

"We were really happy to win that one," coach Joe Blake said of the victory over Mott. "I think that was a big boost for the guys."

Though coach Blake lost his top player — Bob Stevens, an all-league selection as a junior and a senior — to graduation, he has a talented crew this year.

Standouts back from last year include senior Ted Seltz, who fired a 39 against Novi and a 41 yesterday, Terry McMann a junior this year and senior Mark Denhof.

Others returning include Steve Handley, Tom McNamara.

A couple of newcomers have come on strong in the first two outings.

David Pohlod, a sophomore, turned in a 40 against Novi — his first competitive match as a Mustang golfer. Mark Goodson, a junior transfer from Romeo, shot a blistering 39 against Mott and posted a 44 in the Novi match.

Also new to the team this year are senior Mark Swanson and sophomore Kip Mack.

Blake has trimmed his squad from the 12 he carried last year to 10. This made the competition between the 24 golfers who tried out for the team a little tougher.

"Ten is a more workable number," Blake explained. "With 12 players I felt there were a few who didn't get the playing time they should."

Though Northville High does not have a girls golf team, there were no girls at the tryouts this year.

"I had a couple girls who told me they were interested but then never showed up," Blake said.

Blake coached the Northville High School golf team to the league championship in 1977, his first year at the helm.

In 1978 the Mustang golfers tied for first and last year they dropped to third place.

This year he certainly would like to reclaim the Western Six title.

But he hesitates when asked if the Mustangs will take it all.

"A lot of top league teams have lost their two best players as we did," he stated. "We have a couple of players who stand out in terms of ability and probably six other people who can shoot comparative scores."

"There is an unknown quantity there that we'll have to wait to see if it develops," he continued. "It is going to take probably half the season to determine just how good we are."

The Mustang golfers, who face each league opponent twice, will tee it up in a Western Six match at Farmington Harrison Friday at 4 p.m.

New rec programs offered

Western Swing is the latest thing in dancing and now you can learn how to do it in Northville.

The Swing is among the new classes being offered by the Northville Recreation Department this fall.

Adult Ballet, Teen Modeling, Fashion Awareness and Make-up and Faces also are among the first-time offerings.

Registration for the new classes as well as the regular offerings — which range from archery and golf to square dancing — will run Monday, September 15 through Friday, September 19 from 8:30 a.m. to noon and 1-5 p.m. at the community building, 303 West Main.

There will be a $2 late charge per activity for registering after specified deadlines. No registrations will be accepted after the first scheduled class.

Classes being offered again include swimming, tennis, dancing, basketball, golf, women's body conditioning, skating, ski club and cheerleading.

Women's conditioning will only be offered during morning and evening hours this fall.

Organizational meetings for men's and women's basketball will be held October 16 at the community center. Men will meet at 7 p.m. and the women at 7:30 p.m.

Registration for youth basketball will run September 15 through October 10. Player rating for team balancing will be held on Saturday, November 1.

Youth basketball coaches are needed. An organizational meeting for co-ed volleyball will be held Tuesday, October 7 at 8 p.m. at the community center.

Interested persons must register in person at the recreation department or by mail. No registrations will be taken over the telephone, officials said.

Joe's, OLV champs

For one team it was a smooth road to victory. The other had a rough road to travel.

But when the dust finally settled on Thomson Field both Our Lady of Victory and Joe's Little Bar were crowned Northville Recreation softball division playoff champs.

OLV had an easy time trouncing Action Drywall in the final contest, 16-5.

Three runs in the first frame on an Action miscue and five base hits gave OLV a lead which they never lost.

Dave Penrod, Rick Pariseau and Bill FitzPatrick each cranked a home run and Bill Briellmaier and Tom Freiwald collected three hits apiece for the winners.

Action couldn't get the bats uncorked, scoring only in each of the first and third innings and adding three in the final frame.

Ted Gores banged out three hits for Action, including a three-bagger while Tom Mallow, Gary Morris and Chuck Burke had two hits apiece.

Enroute to the championship game, OLV downed L and H Players, 14-5, and knocked the Northville Jaycees into the losers' bracket with a 7-6 victory.

Meanwhile, Joe's Little Bar — which had knocked off Long-Zayti, 14-13, and pummeled Winner's Circle, 19-7 — was stunned, 13-10 by Sheehan's on the Green in the semi-finals.

But Joe's was not about to be denied the championship.

In the rematch for the American League playoff title, Joe's pulled together and humiliated Sheehan's, 22-5.

Joe's scored four runs the first time at the plate on a Sheehan's error, a double by Jim LaPlante, a triple by Gary Lisowski and a round-tripper off the bat of Mark Lisowski.

Mark Lisowski added a second home run blast in the sixth inning, when Joe's made it a laugher, scoring 10 times.

Bill Harrigan and Mark Yanoshick each collected three hits for Joe's

Sheehan's bats were idle in four of seven innings, as the runners-up could manage only one run in the second.

Colts win opening contests

Watch out for the Colts. If the season opener is any indication of things to come, the Northville-Novu Colts could take it all.

All three squads — varsity, junior varsity and freshmen — defeated their Westland opponents in season openers last weekend.

The varsity triumphed 13-0 over the Comets. Quarterback Dave Denhof connected on a 25-yard pass to Mark Harbaugh for a touchdown in the first quarter.

Harbaugh also added the extra point.

The offensive line — made up of Dave Iafolla, John Klackenga, Chuck Clark and Phil Pendelton — opened big holes for fullback Dough Hartman.

Mike Dewan pulled a 15-yard toss to help set up the final score.

Harbaugh swept left end for the final touchdown from the five-yard-line.

Defensive standouts included Brett Zaroya, Benje Evans and Scott Lazara.

Meanwhile, the junior varsity had a tougher time with the Comets, but triumphed 8-6.

In first half action the Colts pushed the Comets back to their goal line, then blocked a punt for a touchdown.

John Taschner sprinted 45 yards around end for a touchdown to put the Colts ahead 8-0.

Brad Abbott ran 47 yards for a Colt TD in the second half, but a penalty nullified the run.

With five minutes remaining in the game, a Westland player stripped the ball from the Colts' Mike Hilfinger and ran 75 yards for six points.

The freshmen Colts shut out their Westland counterparts, 6-0.

A second touchdown was called back because of a clipping penalty.

During the course of the game, Paul Smith and Tom Anderson each recovered a fumble.

Other Colt standouts included Brian Harris, Dan Rickfielder, Jeff Brielmair and Scott Barabas.

Sports passes available

Family passes for Northville High School sporting events are available through the Northville Booster Club.

The passes, which cost $25 per family, are good for high school and junior high home athletic events throughout the 1980-81 season.

Further information is available by calling Nancy May at 349-0049 or Nancy Perpich at 349-1697.
