City's in chicken contest

Local officials usually are hard boiled decision makers, but on this issue they decided to wing it. The City of Northville has accepted the challenge of Plymouth's 'City Chicken' and will compete in the Annual Fowl Flying Contest at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, October 5, in downtown Plymouth. Chicken Trainer-

City Attorney Philip Ogilvie and Chicken Supplier Linda Smith consider a fowl entry for the city. The no-name bird is assured of fame, fortune and adventure if a winner. A parade of chicken floats will begin at 1 p.m. Last year's contest was won by Northville Township — but it decided not to enter this year.

Tisch proposal, other tax plans blasted by board

The Northville Board of Education took a firm stand against the Tisch tax-cut amendment Monday, unanimously opposing the ballot proposal which it claimed "would have devastating effects against the children of the Northville school district."

Along the same lines, the board also unanimously opposed the two other tax proposals — Proposition A and Proposition C — calling them "extremely harmful to the Northville district."

An outline of the three proposals, which will appear on the November 4 ballot, was presented to the board by School Superintendent Lawrence Nichols at its regular meeting.

After reviewing each proposal the board voted unanimously to oppose all three, with the most ardent opposition aimed at the Tisch amendment.

The Tisch program, more commonly referred to as Proposal D, is a proposal to roll-back local property assessments to 1978 levels and cut them in half, resulting in an approximate 60 percent reduction in property tax revenues.

The state would then be forced to make up the lost revenue to the local governments. However, increasing state taxes to help fund the Tisch cuts would require a 60 percent approval from the voters — more than the usual majority needed to raise state taxes.

The concern among board members Monday was the impact the Tisch proposal would have on state services and programs — most notably K-12 education.

The amendment, which Shiawassee County Drain Commissioner Robert Tisch claims will cut the $10 billion state budget by 20 percent, would also drastically cut state expenditures.

It has been estimated by school officials that if the Tisch amendment passes, public schools, kindergarten through 12th grade, could lose more than $600 million in state and local revenue in 1981-82.

In the Northville school district, this would mean a loss of about $2 to $3 million from the schools operating budget — which is approximately a 25 percent cut, officials stressed.

"A 25 to 28 percent decline would be devastating to this district," explained board treasurer David Llewellyn.

Governor William G. Milliken's administration announced Monday that passage of the Tisch amendment would lead to massive cutbacks in state services and programs and could force the closings of state parks, hospitals and state universities.

The predictions were part of a contingency plan released by the Milliken administration in preparation for the possible passage of the Tisch amendment.

Yet the administration has its own ammunition to challenge the Tisch plan — Proposition C.

Proposition C, with the backing of Governor Milliken, would reduce assessed valuation of each owner-occupied home by $7,100, which would amount to a statewide average property-tax reduction of $350. It would also establish a $140 rebate for renters and would raise the sales tax from 4 to 5.5 percent to make up for lost revenues.

However, a shift from property taxes to sales taxes will generate revenue shortfalls at a time when many local governments are facing budget problems, local officials contended.

Board members voiced their opposition to this plan, pointing out that such shortfalls could mean that local districts could suffer a reduction in the total property-tax exemption guaranteed under the governor's plan.

The board also opposed Proposition A, the ballot proposal drawn up by Representatives Roy Smith, R-Saline, and Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor.

Despite the backing of the League of Women Voters and the Michigan Education Association for Proposition A, the Northville Board of Education opposed the Smith-Bullard proposal claiming that the measure would give the state greater responsibility for financing K-12 education — taking school budgetary control out of the district's hands.

The Smith-Bullard proposal would reduce local property taxes by establishing a maximum statewide property-tax levy of 24.5 mills. School districts would be limited to a maximum 7 voter-approved mills in the 1981-82 school year and thereafter.

The revenue needed to support education would be made up through a statewide tax of up to 30.5 mills on business and industrial property, and by an increase in state income tax.

However, the amendment does not set up a plan of school financing or income tax increases but instead requires that the state legislature develop a school financing plan and set the level of income taxes given certain restrictions, local officials noted.

Board members voiced their concern over the bill's plan for school financing, especially at a time when the state is in financial straits.

With the state's fiscal troubles, the legislature could cut school financing drastically, they warned.

"I just feel for our district this is not a wise proposal," Board President Chris Johnson explained.

"Just look at our experience with the state...the governor is continually going towards the education throat," he said.

Northville voters will be confronted with the three proposals when they go to the polls November 4.

Northville Board of Education members said Monday they are hoping that residents will realize the "devastating effects" which all three proposals could have on education.

"I don't see where any of these propositions will benefit the children of this district," Superintendent Nichols commented.

Temporarily to elementary

Co-op preschool to move

A new "home" seems to have been found — at least temporarily — for the Northville Cooperative Preschool which has been meeting since 1962 in the city-owned Scout-Recreation building on Cady.

The city wants to make the building profitable by using it in a lease agreement with an engineering firm that also will do the city's engineering.

Tuesday Judy Whitmore, preschool vice-president, said that the membership would be asked Thursday at its monthly meeting to approve a move to Main Street Elementary, located in the same general downtown area, on or about November 1.

The preschool plans to rent two rooms in the school, which the school district has not been using for classes. This is the same building in which rooms are rented by the Northville Montessori School for its program.

Whitmore said she expects the move to be approved as "we don't have any alternative at this time."

The preschool had been paying the city $110 a month for use of the Scout-Recreation Building which did not cover utility and operating costs.

It had been almost the only group to continue using the facility as recreational programs have been moved to the community center on Main. The building was constructed in 1962 after a community fund-raising drive that brought in about half its construction cost. It was planned to meet recreational and scouting needs of the community.

The preschool had continued to use the building, which fitted preschool requirements of the state, without a contract.

The preschool will be paying at least $282 a month at Main Street Elementary, the membership will be told Thursday. Whitmore said it is expected there will be a 10-20 percent increase in those rates as the school district has not revised them for the new year.

She stated that the move has to be a "temporary one" because the cooperative is not able to pay on this scale and maintain present tuition.

She mentioned that it is a "much smaller space" than now used so that other quarters still will be needed.

City Manager Steven Walters and Mayor Paul Vernon, she reported, "are working hard on our relocation problem and may have a long-term solution. At present they are paying the substantial fee ($250) to have the fire

Culinary addition delayed

By TOM LONERGAN

Schoolcraft College trustees have delayed approving construction of a $1.2 million culinary arts building addition until the state's half-share of the project is approved in Lansing.

The seven-member board of trustees had hoped to award a construction contract by October 1. But last week the board delayed further consideration of the issue until October 22.

"I'm not persuaded to vote anything until there's money authorized and signed by the governor," said Board Chairman Harry Greenleaf of Livonia.

College President Nelson Grote said the Michigan Legislature's Joint Capital Outlay Committee has made a "good faith agreement" to fund the one-story addition to the school's Waterman Campus Center.

But Grote could not guarantee the money would be approved and signed by the governor by October 1, the start of a new state budget year and the school's deadline for awarding the contract.

Bids were taken September 10. Low bidder at $1,322,861 was DeMaria Building Company of Detroit.

"Basically I have a problem letting the bid without the money in the bank to pay for it," said Trustee Leonard Wozniak of Livonia. "We could end up with a half-built structure out there."

The college is funding half the project from an 11-year-old bond issue. That cash has been invested.

The Michigan Legislature, already months behind schedule in drafting the 1980-81 budget, is expected to approve its half for the project, though not in one lump sum.

Grote said $200,000 for the addition is likely to be approved by the legislature before the end of the year.

"I don't know of a (community college) project where, once the state has made the initial investment, they have not fulfilled their obligation," Grote said.

Trustees also accepted the 1979-80 audit report from the Plante and Moran accounting firm of Southfield.

The audit reported a $134,000 surplus as of last June 30. However, John M. Sirhal of Plante and Moran told the board all but $35,000 of the surplus had been budgeted during the current school year.

"The college runs a very lean operation," Sirhal said.

For the second year in a row the auditing firm criticized the college's food service operation for running a deficit.

"Unless you increase the general level of prices, I don't think it can make a profit," said Sirhal.

For 1979-80, the food service lost $18,447. The year before, it lost $44,000, said W. Kenneth Lindner, the college's vice president for business.

The losses have been covered by a general fund subsidy. Lindner said the college board has agreed to subsidize six percent of the food service's net sales.

Besides the daily cafeteria and snack bar for students and staff, the food service includes special banquets and dinners and a catering service.

Schoolcraft culinary arts students are chefs for the food service.

Lindner said only about one quarter of Schoolcraft students use the school cafeteria.

He said the board will be asked to consider price increases.

"That's not going to happen next week, but that's a possibility by the first of the year," he said.

HALLOWEEN season begins locally when the Jaycee-operated haunted house opens October 20. This year Northville and Plymouth Jaycees are combining efforts for a house at the Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon. First night proceeds are earmarked for Ronald McDonald House, a new facility at Children's Hospital for parents and children. The haunted house will be open every night through October 31.

PHILOSOPHY OF fees for the recreation budget will one of the main topics at the Northville Recreation Commission meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday, October 8 at the city council chambers at city hall, 215 West Main.

JOHN GENITTI was inducted as president of the Northville Kiwanis Club last week at the joint installation involving two Plymouth clubs and the Canton club. He officially takes over Monday at the club's first weekly meeting of the new administrative year at O'Sheehan's. Guest speaker at the installation, hosted by Northville, was Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson.

NORTHVILLE-Nowi Colts recreational football teams will hold their annual parade about 5 p.m. Saturday. The parade will form at the Colts' practice field and proceed north on Hines Parkway to Seven Mile and into the city on North Center to the football field.

School enrollment down for 1980-81

Enrollment has dipped significantly but the number of teachers is up slightly in Northville's K-12 program, according to figures compiled by the school district's office of personnel.

An estimated 3,693 students currently are enrolled in the regular K-12 program in Northville public schools, down from last year by about 120 students, officials reported.

Though the official figures will not be available for a couple of weeks, the unaudited fourth Friday count is a close indication of the number of students in the district's schools, according to Personnel Director Burton S. Knighton.

Largest decline occurred in the elementary schools.

Last year 3,814 students were enrolled in Northville schools. Of the 3,693 students attending public schools this year, 174 are kindergartners, 1,485 are in the four elementary schools, 1,015 are in Cooke and Meads Mill Junior Highs and 1,019 are in the high school.

The figures, which were presented to the board of education at its regular meeting Monday, did not include the number of students in the self-contained special education program.

According to figures also released by the office of personnel, this year's K-12 full time teaching staff is approximately 185.3, up from 184.9 last year.

There are also 98 full time I.S.E. teaching and support staff members.

At its meeting Monday, the board unanimously approved a recommendation for a long range textbook planning calendar for the Northville public schools.

The calendar, proposed by Nancy Soper, assistant superintendent for instructional services, is designed to set up a 30 percent reserve fund for the purchase of books in the areas of science, mathematics, social studies and language arts.

The calendar designates particular years in which textbooks are to be purchased and establishes a three-year reserve prior to the adoption year.

17-year-olds may register

State Senator Robert Geake (R-Northville) reminds 17-year-olds whose birthdays fall on or before November 5 that they are eligible to vote in the upcoming November election if they are registered by Monday, October 6.

Senator Geake said that election officials stated even 17-year-olds who turn 18 the day after election day, November 4, can vote.

"I urge the youngest of my constituents not to miss this opportunity to vote in a presidential election," states the senator.

"Besides the presidency," the Michigan electorate this November also will make choices on a number of positions, including U.S. Congressmen, state representatives, state supreme court justices, a myriad of local officials, seven statewide ballot proposals and local issues," Geake explains.

Market moves

Both area farmers and customers report they like the new location of the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Northville Farmers' Market in the parking lot at Main and Hutton across from the Presbyterian Church. Kay Keegan, executive director of the chamber, says the market will remain in this location for the remainder of the season, probably closing the end of the month — after the pumpkins are sold for Halloween.

The market is open from 8 a.m. to about 4 p.m. Thursdays. It was moved to the larger quarters from the Main Street lot across the street because of DDA construction there. Above, John McGraw of Royal Oak stops at the booth of Neva and Joe Eisner of Howell. Last week's market offerings included melons, squash, potatoes, cabbages and peaches as well as pumpkins.

Accident results in single injury

A Farmington Hills woman was hurt September 19 when her car collided with another vehicle at the intersection of Sheldon and Eight Mile, police reported.

A witness told police Sheila Harrison, 18280 Shadbrook, was traveling northbound on Sheldon when she ran a red light and struck Vicki Ann Crowley's vehicle, which was traveling westbound on Eight Mile.

Crowley suffered minor cuts and bruises Harrison, who was ticketed for disregarding a red light, was not hurt, police said.

A Dearborn Heights man and a Detroit woman were hurt September 23 in separate single car accidents, township police reported.

Frank Ford was traveling northbound on Napier when he swerved to avoid a small animal crossing the road just north of Six Mile causing his car to hit the embankment on the east side of the road and flip over onto the roof, police said.

Novi Ambulance removed the driver from his vehicle and took him to Botsford Hospital where he was treated for minor injuries.

Jessie Foster of Detroit suffered minor cuts and bruises when she blacked out while driving westbound on Six Mile, police said.

Her car left the roadway and struck a "No Parking" sign and Detroit Edison pole, breaking the pole in half approximately one foot from the ground.

Police said the driver suffers from epilepsy and is under a doctor's care.

Five fork lift trucks at the Foundry Flak And Equipment, 456 East Cady, were vandalized September 23, city police reported.

Unknown persons entered the building by removing a piece of plywood from a window and crawling inside, police said.

The vandals cut the ignition wires and throttle cables of a five-ton Hyster fork lift, three four-ton lifts and one 10-ton lift. They also released more than 200 gallons of diesel fuel onto the ground, police said.

Police believe the vandalism may be connected to a recent labor dispute. The incident is under investigation.

A 15-gallon keg of Cinci beer was reported stolen from the 13th tee storage shack at Meadowbrook Country Club, 40941 Eight Mile sometime during the early morning hours of September 21, township police reported.

Entry apparently was made through the wooden front door on the north side of the building, police said.

The padlock on the outside of the door had been pried off.

Nothing else was reported missing.

Township police are seeking assistance in solving a recent breaking and entering and two incidences of larceny.

Police investigation reveals that on Tuesday, September 9 at 2:20 a.m. the manager of Sheehan's on the Green bar at 39500 Five Mile interrupted a breaking and entering of the business.

Unknown persons entered the business through the roof of the building. Once inside they forced open various coin-operated machines and took the inclosed money.

The suspects fled the area prior to police arrival.

Unknown persons entered a tan (or brown) 1969 Plymouth parked on Kenyon Court in Highland Lakes sometime between 9 a.m. September 1 and 11 a.m. September 3, taking a Pioneer AM/FM radio cassette from the dash board of the vehicle.

A red Dodge van parked in the driveway at 46018 Bloomcrest also was forcibly entered sometime between 8 a.m. September 10 and 9 a.m. September 11.

A marine radio, a CB radio and a silver antenna were taken from the vehicle.

Anyone having information which may help police in their investigation of these crimes is asked to call Sergeant Philip Presnell at 349-9400.

Smiling Joan McAllister displays certificate

Clerk McAllister gains municipal certification

It took four years, countless hours of study and stipulated service, but the goal was worth it, says Northville City Clerk Joan McAllister as she looks at the impressive plaque in her office.

It proclaims that the title of Certified Municipal Clerk has been conferred upon her by the International Institute of Municipal Clerks as she has completed the requirements prescribed effective June 6, 1980.

For one week in each of the three previous three years she attended sessions for certification held at Michigan State University. "They were work sessions," she emphasizes, "with the days starting at 8:30 a.m. and ending at 9:30 p.m."

McAllister who has been Northville City Clerk for four-and-a-half years set the certification goal for herself shortly after taking the post. It meant updating her schooling and attending two international clerk sessions — in Kansas City and New York.

These and the MSU sessions fulfilled half of the requirements, she says. She also received credits for serving as secretary of the Oakland County Association of Municipal Clerks and for her year's service on the board of the Michigan Municipal Clerks' Association.

Now a resident of Northville at 520 Langfield, Northville Clerk McAllister moved here in 1978 from Novi where she had been a resident of Meadowbrook Lakes Subdivision.

She was secretary to the Novi High School principal for three years before taking the Northville's clerk post. Before that she was secretary for the Village Oaks School when it opened.

Earlier she had been secretary at General Motors to the corporation's economic advisor.

She had served as head bookkeeper at Manufacturers Bank in Detroit where she met her late husband Price. He was second vice president of the bank at the time of his death in 1970.

Clerk McAllister is the mother of two sons, Price a student at Eastern Michigan University and Robert who is at Northern Michigan University.

As the certificate was placed on the wall of her office at city hall, Joan McAllister confided she has set a new goal for herself.

"I'm going to get my college degree now in business," she says.

Offer election insights

With the November 4 election day quickly approaching, many people are starting to take a hard look at the issues and platforms currently being debated.

In order to help the community better understand some of the issues, the Schoolcraft College Student Activities office will present a four-part series entitled "Election 1980, Insight and Answers."

The series will focus on four of the major issues involved in the 1980 election including the U.S. economy, the Equal Rights Amendment, foreign military policy and political trends and their implication for the 1980's.

The series will be held Tuesday nights beginning October 7 at 7 p.m. All lectures are free and open to the public and will be held on the upper level of the Waterman Campus Center.

The four lectures to be presented are as follows:
October 7 — "Will We

Have Another Great Depression?" with Daniel Fustfeld, professor of economics at the University of Michigan.

October 14 — "The Equal Rights Amendment: Pros and Cons and its Effect if Ratified," presented by Virginia Nordby, policy coordinator at U-M.

October 21 — "Foreign Military Policy," presented by J.D. Singer, U-M political science professor.

October 28 — "Electoral Politics: Political Trends and Their Implications for the 80's" with Arthur Miller, study director at the U-M Center for Political Studies.

For further information regarding "Election 1980 Insight and Answers" phone 591-6400, extension 380.

Track bids extra days for '81 harness races

Northville Downs and Jackson at Northville made a bid for six additional 1981 harness racing dates at the annual hearing on date requests last week.

Northville Downs requested 87 dates for 1981, four more than last year. The dates are from Thursday, January 1, through Saturday, April 11 Jackson at Northville requested 63 dates, two more than last year. Jackson's meet request was from Monday, October 19, through Thursday, December 31.

The Racing Commission is expected to assign dates by October 15.

The bid for additional dates was not unusual, according to Kenn Christopher, racing commission analyst, who added that all meet requests are reviewed before being granted.

"If we granted everything everyone asked for, we'd need another month in the year," Christopher said. "There have never been overlapping dates in harness racing before. It creates a lot of problems."

Detroit Race Track and Hazel Park owner Herbert Tyner requested additional dates for his courses to "fight back" against the expansion of Windsor Park Raceway's season.

Tyner requested one extra week at both tracks. To avoid overlapping dates, the time likely would come from Northville Downs and Jackson at Northville.

Northville Downs manager Margaret Zayti said the track is hoping for the same amount of days this year as last year. Depending on the calendar year, the track can get 87 dates (as it did in 1975) or 86 (as it did in 1976), Zayti noted.

"They tried to take days away from us last year but we held on to them," she said. "We expect to get what we did a year ago."

Northville Downs and Jackson at Northville had a combined total of 144 nights last year. City Manager Steve Walters said the city netted about $774,998 in taxes from the Downs based on those nights, and that amount was up $12,000 from the year before.

VIOLA L. HALLMAN

Funeral services for Viola L. Hallman, 63, were held September 29 at Our Lady of Victory. Father John O'Callaghan officiated.

Mrs. Hallman, a member of Our Lady of Victory Parish and an active member of the Church Council of St. Clare Parish in Farmington, died September 25 at Detroit Osteopathic Hospital.

She was born September 9, 1917 in Cape Girardeau, Missouri, and moved to the Detroit area in 1923.

She is survived by her husband Hall of Northville and Newport Richey, Florida.

She also is survived by her daughter Mrs. Richard (Judy) Shattuch, and her two sons John of Grand Blanc and James.

Other survivors include her sister Mrs. Ernest (Irma) Wettstein, her brother Robert L. Schonoff and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Hallman was a volunteer at Botsford General Hospital and an active member in St. Maurus Circle at Christ the King Parish in Detroit.

Burial was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield. Funeral arrangements were made by Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home.

MALETA G. GILLOCK

Service for Maleta G. Gillick, 75, of 41961 Quince, Novi, will be held at 1 p.m. Friday at First Presbyterian Church of Northville with the Reverend John Mishler officiating. Cremation will be at Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Gillick, an area resident and homemaker since 1925, died September 28 at Beverly Manor Convalescent Center after an illness of three and a half months.

She was a member of Eastern Star Chapter No. 77.

Mrs. Gillick was born January 16, 1905, in Detroit to Louis and Grace (Lake) Hamilton. She married Thomas J. Gillick in 1924. He preceded her in death in 1979.

Mrs. Gillick was the mother of Robert Gillick of Novi and the grandmother of Steven, Todd, Tully and Brett.

The family suggests that memorials may be given to the Michigan Cancer Foundation. Arrangements are by Casterline Funeral Home in Northville.

LINDA SUE LAHR

Funeral Services for Linda Sue Lahr, 10, will be held today at 11 a.m. at Casterline Funeral Home. The Reverend Gary A. Curell will officiate. Burial will be at Glen Eden Memorial Park in Livonia.

Linda died September 28 at St. Mary Hospital. She was born October 21, 1969 in Livonia and was a member of the Colony Bible Fellowship in Plymouth.

She is survived by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Lahr of Plymouth and her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. John Lahr of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schwartz of Ashmore, Illinois.

She is also survived by her two brothers Jeffrey and Gregory.

The family suggests that memorial contributions be made to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

LUCILLE ANN JANES

Retired Detroit school teacher Lucille Ann Janes, 67, died September 27 at her Northville home after a long illness.

Funeral service was held September 30 at St. Colette Church in Livonia. Father Joseph Ferens officiated. Burial was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield.

Mrs. Janes was born August 9, 1913 in St. Louis, Missouri. She came to the Northville community 25 years ago from Detroit and was a member of St. Colette Church of Livonia.

She is survived by her husband Richard and her six children Mrs. Marylou Ansari of Coldwater, Denis of Freemont, Mrs. Frances Ann Brandi of Livonia, Patrick of California, Deborah of Livonia and Janet of Northville.

She also is survived by her grandson Joseph Ansari.

Funeral arrangements were made by Casterline Funeral Home.

STEVEN STOCK

Funeral arrangements are being made at Ross B. Northrop & Son Funeral Home for Steven Stock, 13, who died Monday. He was the son of John and Mary Stock of 18639 Jamestown Circle.

'Antique Fever'

There's a bumper sticker somewhere that reads: "Warning, I brake for antique shows."

There certainly were a lot of people of like mind at the Northville Antique Show last month — people who clearly were bitten by the antique bug, as well as those who were at least distracted by it, such as Erica and Rebecca Anderson of Northville.

Michael Quinn, (above) of Detroit was among some 25 dealers displaying their goods at the Northville Community Center September 12-14.

One never knows what treasures will turn up at an antique show, but there's always something interesting, according to browser Rod Gates of Union Lake and his "co-browser" bowser Poco.

Enrollment dips by 120

The proposed reserve is based on a 5, 10 and 15 percent projection over a planning period prior to the adoption year — which means that by the time books are purchased, a 30 percent reserve should have been established, leaving the total cost at 70 percent, Soper explained.

The calendar was established to help alleviate the cost of purchasing textbooks in more than one area during a given year, according to Soper.

In other action the board unanimously approved the granting of a teaching contract to Janet Ansett, a recalled I.S.E.P. teacher, for the 1980-81 school year.

Wild fruits top agenda at Metropark

"Wild Fruits and Nuts" is the title of a special program to be presented at 10 a.m. Sunday, October 5, at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford.

Naturalist Gordon Lonie will provide a two-hour guided nature walk to look for ripening fruit and nuts — fall favorites with squirrels and birds. Advance registration is required.

Vehicle entry permits (annual, $7 or senior citizen, $2 or daily, $2) are needed for park entry.

They'll run, fight disease

Here's a chance to help others while you help keep yourself in shape.

A "Run For Reyes" will be held Sunday, October 26 at Ella Mae Powers Park at Ten Mile and Taft.

Two races, a five-mile cross country run and a one-mile fun run, will be conducted.

The five-mile course is on rugged, hilly terrain and includes two miles of pavement.

The fun run will begin at 9:30 a.m. and the five-mile race will start at 10 a.m. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Entry fee is $5 before October 22, $7 the day of the race.

All proceeds will go to the Reyes Syndrome Foundation.

Schoolcraft opens cultural series

A return engagement of Graciela Tapia's "Ballet Folklorico Mexicano" and a lecture-demonstration by Detroit News editorial cartoonist Draper Hill will open the Schoolcraft College Cultural and Public Affairs series this fall.

Hill, who will conduct a lecture-demonstration at the Waterman Campus Center at 8 p.m. October 6, graduated magna cum laude from Harvard College and studied in London, England, under a Fulbright Grant.

He has been associated with newspapers throughout the United States and has authored a dozen or more publications, including articles, cartoons and caricatures for Time-Life Encyclopedia of Collectibles in 1978.

His lecture demonstration will present a light-hearted look at the history and practice of editorial caricature and he will also create some "on-the-spot" cartoons. A question and answer period will follow the lecture.

Tickets are $1 general admission. Schoolcraft students and senior citizens will be admitted free of charge.

Ballet Folklorico Mexicano will be returning to Schoolcraft this season with its 35-member company and special guest stars Jose Greco and Nana Lorca.

Sponsored by the college, the Livonia Arts Commission and the Livonia Regional Ballet, the show will be performed October 12 at 8 p.m. at Clarenceville's L.E. Schmidt Auditorium.

Tickets are $4.50 and $3 and are available at the College Bookstore on the Schoolcraft campus and the L.O.V.E. office in Livonia's City Hall.

Other featured artists scheduled for the fall Cultural and Public Affairs series are:

October 6 — Draper Hill, Detroit

News Editorial Cartoonist, lecture and demonstration.

October 12 — Ballet Folklorico Mexicano

October 20 — Jack Brokensha Quartet with vocalist Alice Morgan.

October 27 — The New McKinney's Cotton Pickers with vocalist Dave Wilborn.

November 3 — J.C. Heard Quartet.

November 17 — Tom Saunders' Surf Side Six.

November 24 — Larry Nozero Quartet.

December 2 — Gwendolyn Brooks — Poetry Supreme

December 19-20 — Christmas Madrigal Dinner.

All performances, except Ballet Folklorico, will be held at the Waterman Campus Center, 18600 Haggerty.

Tickets are available at the College Bookstore on the campus. For further ticket information phone 591-6400, extension 410.

Okay parking for Joe's Bar

During a special session, Northville City Council September 15 approved sale of 11 parking space credits at $2,400 a space for Joe's Little Bar.

The agreement was entered into with owner Joe Getzie as part of his expansion program. He is going to raze the present bar and construct a new building on the same site that will include other retail area in the building.

The construction is in cooperation with the Downtown Development Association planning. As the council approved the parking arrangement, City Manager Steven Walters recommended that the city enter into an assessment for the parking with Getzie, which will make provision for a 10-year payment.

Schoolcraft seminar

A conference on stormwater management will be held Friday, October 17 at Schoolcraft College for governmental decision makers.

The conference is sponsored by the Rouge River Watershed Council (RRWC), Michigan State University Institute of Water Research and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and two federal agencies.

RRWC manager, Marcie Colling, a Northville resident, said the public is invited to the day long seminar, but the information would also be useful to city and township planners, council members, trustees, consultants and special interest groups.

The conference will highlight the "intensity of the storm water problem and show techniques that help manage stormwater."

Time for the conference is 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Speakers will include representatives of federal, state, county and local governments, as well as engineers, planners and scientists.

The fee is $12, and includes registration, a conference workbook and lunch. Pre-registration is advised, said Colling. For a conference brochure and mail in registration form, call Marcie Colling before October 7 at the RRWC office, 522-4340.

Cookie sale at St. Paul's

The Lutheran Ladies Auxiliary will be sponsoring a homemade cookie sale at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran School October 10 at 2 p.m.

Cookies will sell for $1 a dozen or 10 cents each. All proceeds will go to the Lutheran Children's Friend Society.

Correction

Joann Brummett, a secretary at Storybook Wee Care and Nursery, said the rates listed for the preschool in last week's paper were incorrect. According to Brummett, the rates at Storybook are $45 per week for the full-time program which is five full days a week and $10 for a full-day session. Both of these rates include lunch.

He's assistant in MTU hall

Peter Wright, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold L. Wright of 19850 Westhill, is serving as a resident assistant in Coed Hall at Michigan Technological University.

Wright, a sophomore majoring in mechanical engineering, is responsible for creating an atmosphere which encourages students in the hall to succeed academically and socially. In preparation for his responsibilities, he was trained in human relations skills, first aid and university and hall policies.

WHERE YOU SAVE IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN EVER TODAY.

These days, there are more savings options than ever before. But not all of them guarantee their rates for any length of time. So you can wind up with high interest today. But tomorrow may tell quite a different story.

We guarantee your interest at First Federal.

All First Federal certificate interest rates are guaranteed to remain at a high level throughout a set period of time, no matter what the money market does.

Equally important, savings accounts at First Federal are insured to $100,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. And with multiple ownership of accounts, it's possible to provide insurance coverage for a whole lot more. We'll gladly show you how.

Your money—and our people—are working close to you.

In Mill Race Village

Northville has own Pudding Stone

A Puddingstone is just the kind of rock its name implies. It's a conglomerate with distinct contrast between large pebbles and dense matrix.

It's the kind of fascinating stone that might interest a kid in geology.

That is one of the reasons a large specimen found in the Randolph Drain here is being placed at the southeast corner of the Wash-Oak School in the Mill Race Historical Village.

The stone, discovered in the Randolph Drain — a branch of the Rouge River — by William L. Brown of 200 Rayson, was raised from the water in a project engineered by Brown and Wilson Funk.

After a series of cleaning and polishing operations at Allen Monument Works, the stone is being placed on an engraved granite base made by A. M. Allen and his son Jim.

Fran Gazlay and John Burkman of the Northville Historical Society which administers Mill Race Village affairs decided upon the resting spot for the big stone.

Such conglomerates, says Funk, are deposited mostly by water, although some are the result of glacial action. The most extensive example of this rock in the United States lies underneath the coal beds in Pennsylvania and adjacent states.

These formerly were called Great Conglomerates. Another Great Conglomerate in northern Michigan and Wisconsin is reported to be 2,200 feet thick. Ancient conglomerates are widespread in Canada.

Individual fragments of the Puddingstone may be as small as a piece of gravel, or as large as boulders. Filling particles may be of quartz or feldspar. The "cement," notes Funk, may be clay, calcite, iron or pure silica.

"Northville's stone is a beauty," former Mayor Allen pronounced when it was found. It was "about the size of two bushel baskets put together."

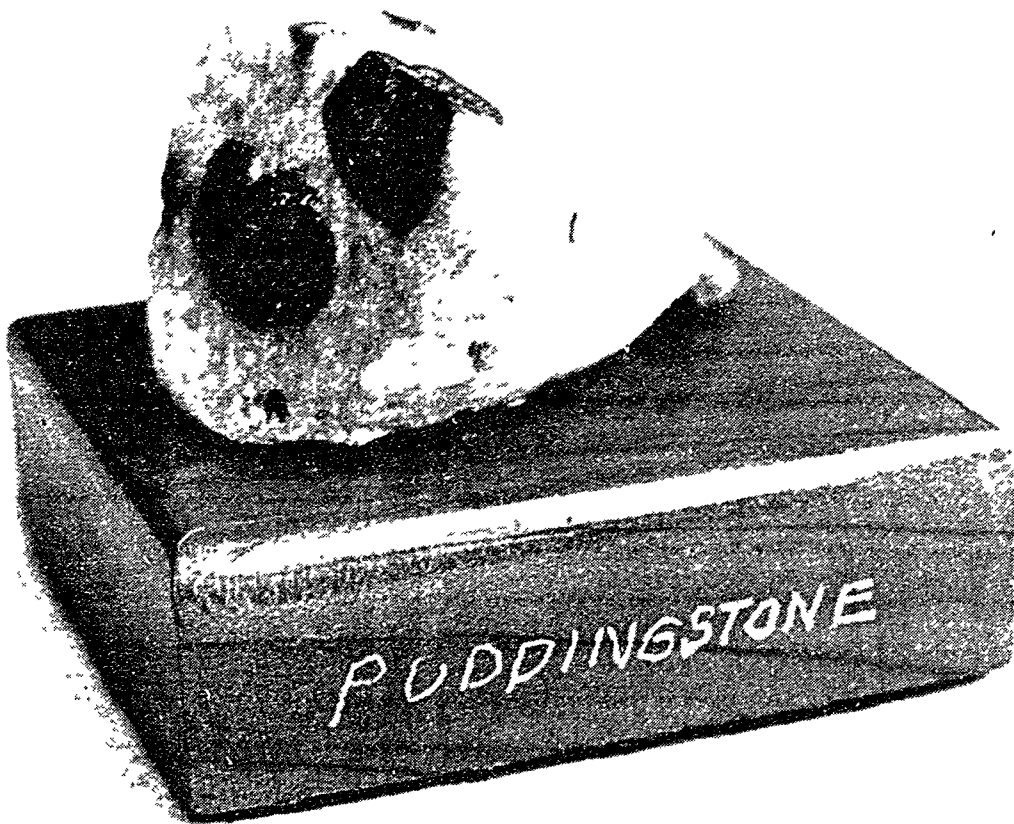

Brown first noticed the stone in the water near Hutton Street in May of 1977. His discovery aroused the interest of Funk, a former resident of Grace Street now living in Northville Forest Apartments. They reported it to Ted Mapes of the city DPW.

In September of 1978 volunteers raised it from its bed with a crane operated by Frank Kocian. Royal J. Keller and Jim Fisher were among those volunteering.

The egg-shaped stone was estimated to weigh between 300 and 400 pounds. Funk's interest in geology has led him to research on the puddingstones. Allen has spotted similar stones between Flint and Saginaw.

"They're a most interesting geological formation," they agree.

Their interest has made it possible for the Giant Puddingstone to have a place in the Mill Race Village — where it possibly will be the oldest "antique" on view.

This polished stone is a chip of large local conglomerate

Artist Hodge has one-woman show

Agnes Hodge of 19476 Fry is currently holding a one-woman art show at the Livonia City Hall, 33001 Five Mile.

Mrs. Hodge, who is a member of the Visual Arts Association of Livonia, the Farmington Artist Club and the Palette and Brush Club, will be showing her work to the public through October 10.

A native of Belgium, Mrs. Hodge spent many years in Brazil, Venezuela and England, before settling in Northville in 1968.

She has been influenced by such teachers as Lincoln Lao, Bob Dufort, Sandy Daly and Ron Walford.

Her work also may be viewed at the Gail Gallery and the rental galleries of the Plymouth Arts Council, the Farmington Library, the Detroit Institute of Arts and Emmas of Plymouth.

Patients harvest flowers, vegetables

Hospital residents grow creatively

More than 30 patients at the Northville Psychiatric Regional Hospital became gardeners this summer and shared their harvest recently with other patients and staff members of the hospital.

The hospital installed three gardens for patients as part of a horticultural program designed to provide residents with practical living skills and a creative use of time and energy.

The gardens were so successful that plans for expansion are being considered for next year. However, program coordinators Virginia Stenning and Lisa Overracker say community involvement and support are needed.

To begin year round gardening programs in houseplants, vegetable gardening in containers, food preparation from garden goods and more, donations of soil, containers, plants, grow lights and other gardening equipment or money are needed, the occupational therapists say. All contributions are tax deductible.

"The gardens have included vegetables and flowers," said Virginia Stenning. "The patients have used the vegetables in cooking groups and have learned about the nutritional value of foods. Their flower garden has added color and beauty to the hospital grounds. One patient liked it because he said it gave him a chance to take care of something."

The vegetable garden measured 100 feet long by 5 feet wide and featured radishes, squash, melon, cantaloupes, pumpkins, zucchini and tomatoes. The last two were the best crops, Stenning said. Pumpkins will be baked into pies and carved into jack-o-lanterns by the patients for Halloween, she said.

The horticulture program needs the time of residents and clubs to help out, too, said Stenning. For more information, contact the hospital at 349-1800.

New program aids neighborhood projects

Neighborhood organizations and local businesses interested in forming partnerships to develop neighborhood improvement projects or services can get financial help from the state under a new program announced today by State Senator Robert Geake (R-Northville).

"I would urge potentially eligible neighborhoods to make themselves known to the Michigan Department of Labor at once," Geake said.

The program, identified as the Neighborhood Assistance and Participation Program (NAPP), provides for rebates to be paid to businesses that make contributions to approved neighborhood improvement or self-help projects.

"These projects can range from physical improvement, recreation or job training programs to crime prevention or energy conservation projects," Geake explained. In NAPP, organized neighborhood groups and business firms enter into a local neighborhood improvement or self-help project as partners.

The state rebates 50 percent of the business firm's contribution to an approved project and becomes the third member of the partnership.

The business contribution may be in the form of cash, property, material goods or personnel services.

Senator Geake pointed out that an eligible neighborhood organization is a nongovernmental unit serving a definable geographic area.

The neighborhood organization must have elected officers and adopted by-laws indicating its purpose. It must have a minimum membership of 50 households, or 10 percent of the households within its boundaries and memberships must be available to any person residing within the organization's boundaries.

"The Michigan Department of Labor is compiling a list of interested neighborhood organizations and businesses to mail applications as soon as they are available," Geake said.

The contact person for the program is Ms Janet Price, NAPP Analyst-Technical Assistant, Bureau of Community Services, phone 517-322-1726.

Garden of the Month season's final choice

For Mrs. Alice Painter of 19715 Hayes Court space is no obstacle when it comes to gardening.

Despite a 18 x 20 patio at her Highland Lakes Condominium, Mrs. Painter has filled it with enough flowers and plants to challenge the efforts of even the most ardent horticulturist.

In recognition of Mrs. Painter's green thumb talents and unique style, the Country Girls Garden Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association has chosen her garden as the September Garden of the Month.

The garden is filled with a profusion of flowers and numerous varieties of plants.

A fountain in the center of the garden is surrounded by potted plants which extend to the top of a fence — giving the fence a "wall of flowers" appearance.

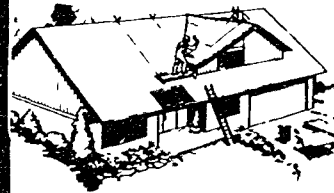

Containers of petunias, begonias, geraniums and moss roses hang above the ground-level beds. Even the cracks between the patio blocks have moss roses.

Mrs. Painter said her favorite part of the garden is the rocks which she has planted with hens and chickens.

As the weather starts getting cooler, Mrs. Painter said she soon will be moving many of the plants indoors.

The Country Girls Garden Branch presents a Garden of the Month award to a Northville resident May through September.

Girl Scout travels to West Germany

For Lisa Faye Raycraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Raycraft of 44575 Thornapple, being a Girl Scout has been more than just earning badges, camping out and selling cookies.

This past summer Lisa, 20, worked as an assistant unit director at Lager Lachenwald, a Girl Scout camp in Hommertshausen, West Germany.

While at the camp, which is conducted in association with the American Armed Services, Lisa was responsible for planning both cycling and backpacking activities.

Lisa, who became involved with the Girl Scouts 14 years ago, is a former member of Northville Troop 407 and Senior Troop 501 in Plymouth.

Her summer job in Germany was made possible through the International Girl Scouts, according to Lisa's mother Carol Raycraft.

Mrs. Raycraft said local scouts interested in working overseas should contact the Huron Valley Girl Scouts for information on employment at summer camps outside of the United States.

Lisa's stint at summer camp prompted her to stay in Germany for another three months.

Currently, she is attending the Goethe Institute in Murnav, Germany, where she is studying composition, conversation and German literature.

After completing a semester at the Goethe Institute, Lisa will travel to London, England, in November to attend the World Bureau of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides International Conference.

Only two scouts are selected from each nation to represent their country at the World Conference.

Following the conference Lisa will spend the Christmas holidays in Madrid, Spain, with Judy Zimmerman and her family of Northville.

She will return to the United States in January to begin her third year at Central Michigan University, where she is majoring in international public relations.

Lisa is a 1978 graduate of Northville High School.

J. A. KOENIG

He's finished FBI training in Virginia

Detective Lieutenant Joseph A. Koenig, 34, of the second district headquarters at Northville was one of two Michigan State Police officers who recently completed a special three-month training program at the FBI's National Academy at Quantico, Virginia.

Koenig and Lieutenant Gerald L. Johnson, 37, commander of the Flat Rock post, this month completed the 122nd session of the academy which began in July.

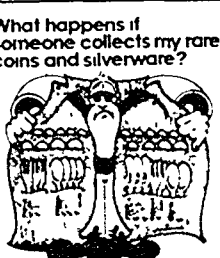

Nearly 60 Michigan State Police officers have had this training.

The academy curriculum includes courses in management, law, forensic science, education, communications and behavioral sciences.

Koenig joined the State Police in 1967, first serving in Bridgeport, Warren and New Baltimore.

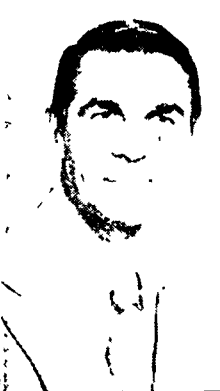

In 1974 he was promoted to detective sergeant with the detective division at Detroit, then was advanced to detective lieutenant at the Northville district in 1978.

Johnson enlisted in 1966, serving first at Bridgeport and Reed City before promotion to sergeant with assignments at Romeo and Flint.

Preschool moves to elementary inspection required by the state for the Main Street rooms."

She explained this was necessary for a new license, noting, "We have to have it in our hands to move in."

The location, she added, is good as the preschool has a lot of children who live in the historic district and are walked to school.

Possibility of moving Kerr House located next to the Scout-Recreation Building to the rear of the Scout-Recreation building property has been discussed. Whitmore said the city manager indicated that a new foundation could be built to meet preschool licensing requirements (direct exits).

He also told her, she reported, that the interior could be redesigned to meet requirements as part of such a move.

The city owns Kerr House which was used as a senior citizen center until Allen Terrace was built. It has been negotiating with the postal service to move the house as the post office plans to expand its present facility, probably next spring.

Walters agreed Tuesday that the possibility of moving Kerr House behind the present Scout-Recreation building is an "interesting idea."

"Physically," he observed, "it would be an easy move and is ideal in that sense." Remodeling the upstairs into larger and fewer rooms could make it a good meeting place for clubs and other groups, he said.

Walters pointed out that the city can make no promises, however, as there is no agreement with the postal service at this time and that, while its expansion is targeted for spring, it is not guaranteed.

He said the city is buying property at Randolph and High to which it had planned to move Kerr House and eventually proably sell it. The purchase is on a three-year land contract with former resident John Canterbury. Walters said he assumes the property could be sold if Kerr House is not moved there.

The cooperative, Whitmore said, is planning to raise money to meet the higher rent with a fund-raiser November 12-13. Three wreath-making workshops, Wednesday and Thursday evenings and Thursday afternoon, will be conducted by the mothers on those dates.

Plans will be completed at the meeting at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at the Scout-Recreation Building. At that meeting Dr. Malik Mirza, a pediatric allergist, will speak. The public is invited.

FRANCIS A. SCHAEFFER

Begins October 5

Church film series set

The First Baptist Church of Northville will be sponsoring a five-part film series beginning October 5 entitled "What Ever Happened to the Human Race?"

The documentary films, to be shown at the Northville Community Center, deal with the loss of human rights in today's world — particularly in the United States.

In this documentary, Francis A. Schaeffer, noted theologian, philosopher and author, and Dr. C

Everett Koop, surgeon-in-chief of the Children's Hospital in Philadelphia, analyze the widespread implications of today's practice of abortion, euthanasia and infanticide.

The films will be shown five consecutive Sunday evenings from October 5 to November 2 and will begin at 6:30 p.m. All films are free and open to the public.

Nursery facilities will be available for each of the presentations at the First Baptist Church. For further information call 348-1020.

Restaurant open at OCC

The Oakland Community College Top of the Ridge Restaurant, featuring excellent cuisine and elegant service at moderate prices is now open for individual or group dining.

The restaurant, which is operated by students of the Hospitality Management and Advanced Culinary Arts classes, is open Monday through Thursday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Orchard Ridge campus. Reservations must be made in advance.

Persons interested in further information should call 476-9400, extension 483.

Club plans noon luncheon

Christian Women's Club is planning a "Happy Unbirthday Party" luncheon for noon October 9 at the Mayflower Meeting Room in Plymouth.

Reservations are necessary for the luncheon, which is $6.50. They may be made with Dorothy Mowry, 420-0472. A free nursery is provided by reservation.

Matz promoted to detective post

Michigan State Police Trooper Frederick P. Matz, 31, formerly with the forensic science division at Northville, has been promoted to detective sergeant and assigned to the Detroit freeway post.

Trooper Matz, who most recently served at the State Capitol post in Lansing, enlisted in the State Police in 1972.

Other assignments include the detective divisions at Detroit and Northville.

Also promoted was Trooper Richard L. Aper, 40, of the Negaunee post. He has been named detective sergeant and transferred to Brighton.

Both Matz and Aper will be on assignment with the field detective section of the investigative services division.

Church plans rummage sale

Dishes, small furniture and clothes will be on sale at the First United Methodist Church rummage sale October 3. It will be held at the church from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Holly Mart Bazaar of the United Methodist Women will be held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. November 7. Committees now are busy sewing, painting, knitting and baking to fill booths.

Fuel safety book on sale

Troy Milligan, Northville Township Building official, reports that a new book "Burning Solid Fuel Safely" is now on sale at the Township office for $3.

The book details guidelines for installing and operating fire places and room heaters and also includes information on wood burning fire places.

Orient Chapter luncheon set

The Orient Chapter No. 77 past matrons luncheon will be held October 8 at the home of Verna Sommers at 719 Horton. Dawn Holcomb will serve as hostess.

Women's program offered at Schoolcraft

Schoolcraft College is offering a "New Horizons" course this fall, designed to assist women who may be considering going back to work, volunteering or returning to school.

The course, which will be offered at the Garden City Center Thursdays from 1-3 p.m. October 30 through November 20, will include an opportunity for informal exchange of ideas, personal re-evaluation and goal setting.

In addition to the "New Horizons" course, a day-long workshop on holistic health will be offered today from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in room B-200 of the Liberal Arts Building on campus.

The workshop will teach fitness, relaxation, nutrition, stress and leisure management. Participants should wear comfortable clothes and bring a yoga mat or blanket. A salad luncheon is included for a total fee of $20.

An all day workshop on "Anger: Expression or Depression," is scheduled for October 18 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in room B-200 of the Liberal Arts Building.

The workshop is designed to help participants learn to express anger constructively. The fee is $20 and participants should bring a lunch.

"Building Your Child's Self-Esteem" led by Dr. Shirley Emerson, Schoolcraft College Counselor, will be presented October 27 from 7-9:30 p.m. in room B-200 of the Liberal Arts Building.

The lecture will present psychological principles and techniques that adults can use to help children develop a positive self-concept. The fee is $8.

To pre-register for any of these workshops, phone the Women's Resource Center at 591-6400, extension 430. Fees will be collected at the door.

Housing post

Applications taken for seat

Applications for filling a vacancy on the Northville (city) Housing Commission are being accepted.

Persons interested in the commission seat formerly held by Clarence Harsch are invited to call Fran Yoakum, director of Allen Terrace senior citizens apartments, at 349-8030.

All candidates for the post will be interviewed by the housing commission, with recommendations going to the city council which must make the appointment.

Commission Chairman John Stuart and other commission members congratulated Harsch, who stepped down last week, for his service on the commission since his appointment in 1975. He had been a member during the time Allen Terrace apartments were planned and completed. As a member he participated in each phase of the project.

Harsch has been a long-time catalyst for senior citizens activities in Northville.

Spook house

Looking over this year's Spook House are Jaycees who plan to convert one of the buildings at the former Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon into the Halloween attraction. It will be a joint project of the Northville-Plymouth clubs.

Republicans on record

House Republicans voted unanimously this month to condemn the Democratic proposal to increase state taxes by $700 million, and to oppose any 1980-81 tax increases after the November election, according to Representative Jack Kirksey (Northville-Livonia).

They also urged the legislature to adopt a new budget before election.

The actions were taken in a caucus called after GOP leaders met with key Democrats and Governor William Milliken to assess the state's financial crisis.

Kirksey said the Republicans rejected the plan of Representative George Montgomery to raise rates on a variety of state taxes and enact a new tax on radio and television commercials.

It was made with the provision that if voters reject the Tisch amendment the new taxes would expire.

Kirksey termed the proposal "totally misguided."

He said his caucus wanted to head off any schemes to enact tax increases in the approximately 45 days the lame duck legislature will be in office between election and the end of the year.

The budget resolution pledged Republican support to put together a complete 1980-81 budget, no matter how difficult.

"We believe it is possible and essential to pass the budget for the next fiscal year prior to the November election and that it would be irresponsible to fail to respond immediately proceed to formulate that budget," Kirksey said.

"We believe it would be wrong to try to fool the public with a fragmented budget.

Township GOP meeting

Harry Greenleaf, a Schoolcraft College trustee, spoke to members of the Northville Republican Club last week about the importance of citizen awareness of issues during the election year.

Purpose of the meeting, although "mainly social, was to provide those attending a chance to talk to their local and state representatives," said Bob Brueck, local GOP member. "The room was packed most of the time with people coming and going."

Republican from Northville Township included John McDonald, Susan Heintz, Dick Henningsen, Dick Allen and Jim Armstrong. State Senator Robert Geake and Representative Jack Kirksey, Wayne County Sheriff candidate Jim Stewart and Dennis Murphy, Oakland County Commissioner candidate were also present.

Robert Hodson won the door prize, a framed picture mememto of the 1980 Republican Convention held in Detroit last July.

Bill to end liquor sale at gas stations in state

A bill outlawing the sale of alcoholic beverages at gas stations has been introduced in the Michigan House of Representatives

Sponsored by State Representative Jack Kirksey (R-Livonia, Northville), the legislation (HB 6061) would close a loophole permitting the limited sale of beer and wine in rural areas

"Several years ago the legislature defeated a proposal that would have legalized selling alcohol at gas stations," Kirksey said

"We, as a body, believed that it is unwise to sell liquor to someone who immediately would jump behind the wheel of a vehicle and drive on our streets and highways"

He explained, however, that the Liquor Control Commission wrote rules authorizing the limited ale of beer and wine.

"Unfortunately, many of these beer and wine gas stations are located at the entrances and exits of major expressways or other major highways," Kirksey said.

"Drinking and driving is a lethal combination. By passing this bill, we won't be encouraging it."

Kirksey predicted that the bill will receive prompt attention.

Motion Carried Unanimously POLICE DEPARTMENT

a. Nov Ambulance — Communication from the Novi Ambulance Service thanking the Northville Police Department and commending them for their professional service in assisting the paramedics over the years

b. Linden & Dunlap — A letter was received from Dr. Atchison asking for review of the "potential serious accident corner" at Linden & Dunlap

Another Police Department Survey was conducted on both Dunlap and Linden by the use of radar. It was noted the highest recorded speed was 30MPH

Traffic counters were installed to record the traffic volume on the two streets at various times

Also, the accident file was checked and three accidents were reported at that intersection in the last three years

Copies of which were attached to the survey

Councilman DeRusha commented he has driven by that intersection and can understand why people drive 25 miles an hour, since it seems fast even at that speed

He mentioned the close proximity of the homes to the street which tends to make cars slow down

Councilwoman Ayers and Councilman Gardner agreed that a 4-way stop would not alleviate the problem

Mayor Pro-Tem Johnston agreed with Councilman DeRusha re the close proximity of the homes to the street and suggested it might make the speed seem faster

It was agreed to accept the recommendation of the Police Department and not change the present traffic control at this time and to send copies of the survey to Dr. Atchison and Mr. & Mrs. Yerkes

c. Taft-8 Mile — Mr. Paul Schelp, 1054 Bristol Court, stated he represents 97 homes, and is quite concerned about the light and the effect it will have on the traffic

He mentioned they have been fighting the trucks coming down the hill and running up, and thought it was a dangerous area

He drives by that area twice a day and it is horrible

He felt it was not an easy problem to solve

Mr. Wallace Nichols, 219 S. Ely Drive, asked how the offset at Randolph and 8-Mile Road would be handled

It was the City Manager's opinion that some treatment would have to be developed with the lights such as Randolph and Taft would have the Green together and the Red together

It was asked if there would be a light placed at Randolph and 8-Mile

This was not known

His second point of concern was the through traffic that passes the intersection and goes through the subdivision

The Board of Association has been trying to get signs prohibiting this

He explained cars want to avoid the intersection for two reasons, i.e. Taft off center of Randolph and the speed

The City Attorney informed Mr. Schelp that the County would put in the light

Mr. Schelp was of the opinion that there would be more accidents with the light

Mayor Pro-Tem Johnston mentioned the entries to the gas station and party store compounds the problem

He explained the County is putting in a light the City has not requested

He also explained the City requested a flashing light which could be operated by the school children to help them cross the intersection

Mr. Schelp thought it would put more stress by cars cutting through Lexington Commons South to town also

Councilwoman Ayers disagreed

The City Attorney suggested putting up no through traffic signs or no right turns for morning traffic could be put on Taft Road and also afternoon ones prohibiting returning traffic from cutting through the condo streets

He mentioned that this could help however it would inconvenience people who live there

He suggested Mr. Schelp go back to his association board and discuss this and see if they are willing to put up with that inconvenience

Mr. Jim Zayti, 8-Mile Road, stated his questions had been answered re installation of the light and asked if there were anything Council could do about the light

He felt it made matters worse

He stated trucks westbound could not see the light coming down the hill until they clear the party store and would not be able to stop

The City Attorney mentioned there would be a sign "traffic signal ahead"

Councilwoman Ayers mentioned the original intent and asked if anyone knew what type of light would be put up

Neither the City nor the Police Department have been contacted regarding the type of light to go on

Mr. Wallace Nichols, 219 S. Ely Drive, asked how the offset at Randolph and 8-Mile Road would be handled

It was the City Manager's opinion that some treatment would have to be developed with the lights such as Randolph and Taft would have the Green together and the Red together

It was asked if there would be a light placed at Randolph and 8-Mile

This was not known

Mr. Zayti, Sr. agreed that no matter what was done it would be hazardous

He made a comparison between 8-Mile and Taft and the intersection of Telegraph and 13 Mile Road

He mentioned that northbound traffic on 13 Mile come over a hill to a light and flashers were installed

Mr. Zayti expressed his concern and suggested flashers be installed on the hill warning traffic of a light ahead

He also suggested the speed limit be reduced

The present speed is 50 miles per hour and Councilman DeRusha mentioned Council has tried to get it reduced to 40

Mr. Zayti stated you could be going 25 and if the road were slippery it is still dangerous

He would hate to see more bad accidents there

Petitions were turned in re the light on 8-Mile and Taft, however, petitioner took them back presumably to get more signatures

They will be presented to Council when they are received at City Hall

d. Seven Mile & Northville Road — Communication from Mr. C.H. Buswell, 19347 Andover Ct., re the confusing traffic sign at the intersection of Seven Mile Road and Northville Road for cars facing west

The City Attorney agreed it was confusing, however, it is outside of the City limits

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS: There were none

Our opinions

Many make fair great

Tivoli Fair, annual arts and crafts show sponsored by Northville Historical Society, will be held this Friday (10 a.m.-8 p.m.) and Saturday (10 a.m.-4 p.m.) at Northville Downs. The high caliber of craftspersons this show attracts virtually insures its success, which is good because this year it is a main fundraiser for the historical society and the Mill Race preservation project. (There is no fall home tour benefit as it was decided to have one only on alternate years.)

The idea of the fair was conceived several years ago by two craftswomen Marian Crump and Barbara Scantlin, both now former residents of the community. It developed — as planned — to be a fair for worthwhile crafts. This year it is a 100-booth sellout.

In addition to the many historical society volunteers like Lynn Paquette and Pat Meyers who head this year's fair, many others contribute to its success, including Leslie Mohr and Jane Luckett, both 14, who designed and made the posters at the city entrances advertising the event. John Carlo makes the downs available for a nominal fee that covers utilities.

And, as usual, local merchants come through with generous donations. Sponsors this year report that there are 45 prizes, including such "biggies" as a weekend at the Michigan Inn and a fine watch. We have noted in the past that our merchants are asked to donate weekly to scouts, PTAs, Newcomers and many other groups that seek prizes for good causes. And merchants respond. We hope that those who ask and those who receive those prizes remember to patronize the businesses in return. They in no small measure also make possible the success of such events as the Tivoli Fair.

Public has warning, too

Even if drain commissioner Tisch meets defeat again at the polls, his legitimate concerns about the spiralling cost of government will have, hopefully, persuaded here-to-fore insensitive lawmakers that the taxpayer revolt is for real.

State and local officials, together with a variety of bureaucrats, presently are waging a no-holds-barred campaign to defeat Tisch's Proposition D that will appear on the November ballot, warning their constituents that passage of the Tisch amendment will produce devastating results. Some of the warnings may be valid; others, we suspect, represent little more than shotgun doggerel that officials hope may strike a special interest nerve here and there.

For example, we find it difficult to accept today's voiced concern about the public's welfare by the Michigan Education Association and other public employee unions which yesterday failed to show similar concern for public welfare at the bargaining table. Nor can we easily accept the cries of elected officials who authorize administrative salary levels that, in many if not most instances, exceed those in the private sector.

Similarly, we have difficulty putting credence in the financial analysis of Tisch by a procrastinating state legislature that was not even able to put together the numbers for a new state budget required by law.

Frankly, we wish the same pre-election efforts now being expended in trying to defeat Tisch were spent by lawmakers and their financial beneficiaries on behalf of the taxpayers' pocketbook at other times.

Isn't it strange how elected officials and bureaucrats suddenly can become concerned about public welfare when taxes are threatened? Or, as a reader asks this week, "Why legislators, as soon as they are elected, believe that all of a sudden they become fiscal experts and know how to spend the public's money better than the 'stupid public'?"

Our advice to officials and special interest groups warning the public about Tisch: listen to what your neighbors are saying. They, the public, have a message, too...

Speaking for Myself

Are UFOs for real?

RICK FIKE

YES

I'm 100 percent convinced that UFOs exist and are indeed real. The universe is so immense it seems illogical to suppose that we are the only life present in the cosmos. If life was present somewhere else and they were only one percent more evolved (i.e. they have been around one percent longer than we have), than they would be thousands of years ahead of us. Remember, the Wright brothers made their first flight just over 75 years ago and today, we have walked on the moon. Where will we be in another 75 years? Since 1947, there have been some 80,000 reports of UFOs. Many reports come from credible people such as police, pilots, scientists and teachers. Even President Carter has seen a UFO.

As a UFO investigator, I have personally spoken with over 200 people who have had a UFO experience and I cannot help but be impressed with the sincerity and evident honesty of the great majority of these people. There are a number of people I know personally who have had a sighting, including a teacher friend who had a UFO stop above his car near Toledo. Also, it must be remembered that we have on record nearly 1,500 landing trace cases where UFOs have left physical evidence such as imprints, broken branches, swirled grass and the like.

NO

We explain the unexplainable by claiming "space men" are responsible. The Pyramids, the statues on Easter Island and unexplained disappearances of ships and planes are all blamed on "alien beings." Where do these so-called aliens come from? Excluding Earth, life in our solar system is highly improbable. The other planets are either too hot, too cold, have too much gravity or not enough atmosphere. Therefore, our "aliens" must come from outside the solar system.

Long range space travel requires accelerations at the speed of light. Traveling at the speed of light is highly improbable since it would cause a near infinite mass and therefore require a near infinite amount of energy. There are no UFOs, just unexplained phenomena. To believe in UFOs is like believing in the earth-centered theory or that the planet Vulcan exists.

JACK W.
HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

You can do it better?

here's your opportunity

"It's an easy job; I could do it just as well and I'm not trained to do it."

That's a statement all of us, at one time or another, have made privately or publicly upon watching others perform. Maybe it's teaching, coaching football, or laying bricks.

A few years ago, for example, I stuck my foot in my mouth by telling a band director friend that his job was a snap because he had such talented bandmen. "Anybody can wave a baton in front of a good band and produce good music. What the director does makes little difference."

One thing led to another until I was challenged to take up the baton. The results were horrendous. Bandmen knew I was a faker even before I started waving the stick. And instead of playing the music as it was written they played it my way.

All of which brings me to another "easy" job — that of headline writing. Chances are, you share my wife's assessment that newspaper headlines are generally sloppy and often inaccurate. "I could do it better," she claims, adding "And my headlines would be accurate."

Ah, so let's put her and you to the test. Ten bucks go to the reader (not my wife) who writes the best three-line headline. Another 10 bucks go to the newspaper staffer who produces the best staff headline. The story: A hunter shot an arrow at a buck, missed, and was trampled to death by a doe.

There can be no fewer than 10 and no more than 12 counts per line. Capital letters count 1½, except M and W which count 2 each; all small letters, numbers and the spaces between words 1 each; all punctuation, ½. No line can end in a preposition.

I'll judge the entries and give you a sampling of the best three-line headlines submitted by readers and by staffers and compare them with what my wife produces after I return from bow hunting.

Mail or deliver your entries to this newspaper, care of yours truly, by October 10.

Readers Speak

Legislators must be responsible

To the Editor:
This was mailed to Senator Geake and is submitted for your information and possible use

This letter is addressed to you (Senator Geake) as a neighbor as well as a state senator. It probably should have been addressed to Representative Kirksey but I don't know Jack Kirksey. I will, however, send him a copy. This is not meant as a personal indictment. It is meant as an indictment against the "System" and the legislature as a whole.

All we read and hear about lately is increase taxes on liquor — increase taxes on cigarettes — increase taxes on capital gains — increase the personal income tax — increase the state sales tax. Doesn't anyone in Lansing understand that the public is fed up with this single-minded approach to the state's fiscal problems?

Why don't legislators substitute fiscal responsibility for tax increases? Why don't legislators have the intestinal fortitude to stand up to the lobbyists and eliminate unnecessary programs? Is it necessary that legislators, as soon as they are elected, start working on their next election?

Why do legislators feel that the only way to solve a financial problem is to raise taxes to pay for a program the public didn't want in the first place?

Why do legislators, as soon as they are elected, believe that all of a sudden they have become fiscal experts and know how to spend the public's money better than the "Stupid Public"? How do the legislators all of a sudden know better than the public what's best for the public?

I genuinely dislike saying this but if I don't see some signs of fiscal responsibility coming out of Lansing between now and November 4, you can bet your house and 10 acres — even money and win — on two things without any risk.

1. I will vote against every incumbent running for office and

2. As risky as I think the Tisch amendment is, it will get my vote.

If legislators are not required to act with responsibility, why should the voters?

I neither want nor expect an answer to this except in the form of fiscal responsibility.

Sincerely,
Neil D. Winters

Thanks helpers at bike accident

To the Editor:
Northville is full of the nicest people! On Labor Day, our daughter, while on a bike, ran into a parked truck at the foot of Hill Street. We would like to publicly thank all of the people who came to her aid, and everyone who has called to inquire about her condition. We feel very fortunate, for she did not break any bones; however, she will have to have teeth replaced.

We would like to send a special thank you to Radene Pence who was first to get to Alice and help, to Mr. and Mrs. John Steimel, Mrs. Katzbeck and her son Louis, Mrs. Hinman, to Jody and Mrs. Adams. Also to Julie Kaestner who ran to our house to let us know what happened and to John Lawtner and Bill Cervin who carried the bike home for us.

And to Lieutenant Westfall who stayed with Alice while the ambulance paramedics treated her and the other two officers, one of whom inquired about her later.

Then an extra thank you to our daughters Laura and Eleanor and their friends Karen and Joyce who stayed with me at the hospital.

It makes us proud to be part of a community with such wonderful, thoughtful people.

Thank you,
Keith and Larae

Motion Carried Unanimously. P R O P O S A L F O R ENGINEERING REPORT.

Two proposals were received for engineering services, one from McNeely & Associates and one from H.W. Penn Engineers.

Penn's proposal was received this AM by the City Manager. He noted the difference in size between the two.

The City Manager discussed the opportunity to combine a solution to the use of the Scout Building with an improvement in the City's overall engineering services. The basic approach would involve furnishing the Scout Building as office space for an engineering firm, in exchange for a specified amount of engineering services.

He explained the advantages and asked if Council were receptive to the Scout Building being used in that concept. He also explained the basic details as follows:

1. Rental Value - the agreement would pay $9,000 in engineering services as the first year's rent, this would increase in proportion to the increases in the engineering services fee schedule in future years. In addition, the tenant would pay all utilities and maintain the interior of the building.

2. Building improvements - the tenant would redecorate, install air conditioning, and office partitions as needed. The City would agree to buy at an undepreciated value of these improvements if the agreement was terminated by either party within the first 10 years.

3. General Fund Impact - The agreement would support the decision in the 1980-81 budget to operate the Scout Building in a self-supporting manner, in addition it would provide a $9,000 reduction in engineering expenses in the General Fund.

4. Zoning - The Scout Building is presently zoned residential but could logically be re-zoned to RBO to be compatible with the proposed use. The suggestion was made to leave the south part of lot 278 in residential zoning to serve as an open-space buffer to the residences adjacent to it. Also, there would be no need to expand the existing parking area west of the Scout Building.

Golf benefit aids scleroderma fight

Warm temperatures and sunshine seemed to be the order of the day for 52 Meadowbrook Country Club couples who participated in a charity golf tournament for the United Scleroderma Foundation September 21.

The tournament raised $5,140 for the Scleroderma Foundation and prizes were given to golfers with the longest drive, highest score, lowest gross, and lowest net.

The tournament was an alternate shot event with a three-way tie for first place. The winners, with a low net score of 69, were: Mr. and Mrs. Les MacLean of West Bloomfield, Mr. and Mrs. Al Kenerson of Farmington and Mr. and Mrs. Dave McCabe of Farmington Hills.

The tournament fee was $100 per couple and arrangements were made by Peter Herghurth of 583 Morgan, Richard Bayer of Novi, Allan Kenerson of Farmington and Meadowbrook Club Pro Joe Reid.

Scleroderma, which means "hard skin," is a connective tissue disorder and one of the most disabling chronic illnesses. There is no known cause or cure for the disease and physicians can only treat the symptoms in order to make the patient more comfortable.

Kelli Woodsum, 6, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Woodsum of 20531 Clement, is a victim of the disease and the youngest member of the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the United Scleroderma Foundation which has 120 members with the disabling disease.

The proceeds from the tournament were given to Mr. and Mrs. Woodsum to be channeled into the United Scleroderma Foundation research fund to help find a cure for the disease.

Motion Carried Unanimously. REPORT ON DETROIT SEWAGE PLANT CASE

The City Attorney explained an agreement has been reached in the court case against the City of Detroit which was extremely complex.

Councilman DeRusha commented he liked the position of the City Manager and that the area does not have to pay for any breakdowns in other areas.

This was an information item only.

The City Attorney stated we have already adopted the necessary ordinances.

The City Manager explained the water schedule.

PARKING SPACE SIZE REQUIREMENTS

Communication from the Planning Consultant re Revised Parking Lot Design Standards.

The City Manager stated he would not in the future agree with the dimensions, however he was recommending the wording for the ordinance subject to what the Council wants to add to it.

He mentioned they do not want to get involved in enforcing some surveys which might be of interest to Council. He stated there already was a small car space marked at the Bedspread Place. He mentioned the small car will eventually take over but he can not see the two size parking spaces and felt the width of the car will not be reduced much less than this now.

Mr. Wallace Nichols, 219 S. Ely Drive, stated this was a favorite subject of his. He had made some surveys which might be of interest to Council. He stated there already was a small car space marked at the Bedspread Place. He mentioned the small car will eventually take over but he can not see the two size parking spaces and felt the width of the car will not be reduced much less than this now.

Discussion on the parking space sizes followed. It was decided to go with the following space 6' to stay as is, 1' to 5' would go from 9'6" to 8'6" width and from 20' to 19' in length; 5'4" to 7'4" from 9'6" to 8'6" width and from 20' to 19' in length, 7'5" to 9'0" from 10' to 9' width and from 20' to 19' length, total width of one and two tier of space plus maneuvering lane was adjusted accordingly.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Gardner to ratify the 1980-81 AFSCME Union labor contract.

Motion Carried Unanimously. AFSCME CONTRACT RATIFICATION

The DPW/Clerical Union (AFSCME) has ratified a settlement of the 1980-81 labor contract and it is recommended by the City bargaining committee for ratification by the City Council.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Gardner to adopt a Resolution to adopt Contribution Program IV, with members contribution zero (0) percent of their compensation, effective July, 1980 for all members of the AFSCME Union, Chapter 25, of the City of Northville and shall file a copy of his resolution with the Michigan Municipal Employees' Retirement Board.

MISCELLANEOUS

Councilman DeRusha asked whether the City could officially set the speed limit at 8-Mile and Lexington Commons.

He mentioned there is a sign that says "Speed Limit 40 Miles Ahead." He has the impression it should start at the City limits and asked why the City couldn't put it there.

The City Attorney commented that he thought there was one there at one time.

The City Manager suggested they replace the sign.

Councilman DeRusha also asked about the 50-Mile speed limit sign that has been knocked down and asked why it shouldn't be farther up the hill.

The City Attorney suggested they ask Oakland County.

Councilwoman Ayers thought this might be the time to approach the County since they are moving on the traffic light.

Councilwoman Ayers asked about the building department.

The City Manager stated he has a meeting on Thursday.

The City Attorney attended the meeting on Equal Representation at Allen Park and stated the City is going to get a request for additional money, approximately 65 per capita. He explained the law firm that was hired to represent the Out-Wayne County communities want to court on the election being conducted under 70 or 80 census figures. It was turned down and they proceeded to higher courts.

He would have more on this by the next meeting.

Meeting adjourned at 11:10 p.m.

Tisch cut not welcome at Schoolcraft, president says

By TOM LONERGAN

To hear President C. Nelson Grote describe it, voter approval of the Tisch property tax cut would be as welcome at Schoolcraft College as another faculty strike.

"It certainly has the potential of putting a tremendous limitation on us," Grote said in a recent interview.

If Tisch (Proposal D on the November 4 ballot) passes, it wouldn't take effect until 1982, giving the Michigan legislature a year to determine state reimbursements for local property tax losses.

The Tisch plan would roll back property assessments in Michigan to 1978 levels, then cut them in half. Those who are 62 and older would pay no school property taxes on their principal living place. Future assessment increases on residential and agricultural land would be limited to two percent per year.

Property taxes account for 38.5 percent of Schoolcraft's 1980-81 budget. The $14 million budget, which took effect July 1, includes operating and debt retirement costs.

According to Schoolcraft officials, local and state revenue for 1981-82 would be an estimated $10.4 million without Tisch and $8.2 million with it. The projected $2.2 million loss represents about a 21 percent tax cut.

Local taxes and state aid combined are 75 percent of the two-year college's budget. Under Tisch, college officials project a $1.3 million reduction in local tax revenue, even after the required state matching reimbursement and a $950,000 cut in state aid.

A $2.2 million cut would lead to reductions in credit hours, programs and services, Grote said. State aid formulas for community colleges are based on number of credit hours taught.

While Tisch backers say their proposal requires the state to reimburse local governments for property tax losses, Grote doesn't agree.

"There's no way the state can reimburse the property tax loss 100 percent," he said.

Proposal D, says Grote, would require a majority vote of district voters for Schoolcraft to raise tuition and fees.

"What it really means is we've effectively frozen tuition and fees," said Grote.

The college increased tuition this fall $1.50 to $18.50 per credit hour.

Grote was asked about skyrocketing property assessments in the Schoolcraft district, which includes the Northville, Livonia, Plymouth Canton, Garden City, and Clarenceville school districts.

"The electorate already has reasonable protection," he said, citing the Headlee tax limitation amendment passed two years ago.

"We're not able to take advantage of all the (property value) growth that was there because of the Headlee rollback," he said.

The college's millage rate for next year was reduced from $2.06 per $1,000 of assessed property value to $1.93, but inflation fueled assessment increases will likely make the tax bills higher.

Grote said state funding for community colleges could also decrease under the Smith Bullard (Proposal A) plan. The plan proposes shifting funding of K-12 education from local property taxes to the state income tax. A 1.2 percent increase in the income tax is possible.

Smith Bullard's strongest backing comes from the Michigan Educational Association.

It proposes a fixed one mill for operating for community college districts with a maximum of 2.5 if voters approve. Schoolcraft's voted operating millage is now 1.77 mills.

Grote said the biggest drawback to Smith Bullard is a lack of implementing legislation, leaving millage limits and state aid formulas up to the state legislature.

"Different legislators are going to be pushed and pulled by different constituencies," Grote said.

A combined property assessment cut and 1.5 percent state sales tax increase, proposed by the Governor Legislative Coalition (Proposal C) will have the "least negative impact on Schoolcraft," Grote said. If Proposal C passes, college officials expect no property tax revenue loss in 1981-82.

Future effects on state aid of local tax revenue "will basically average out," Grote said.

The plan proposes to exempt the first $7,100 from residential and farm assessments. The exemption would rise by a fixed percentage in later years.

Grote had recommended the college board of trustees support the coalition plan "with reservations," but the board opted to oppose all three referendums.

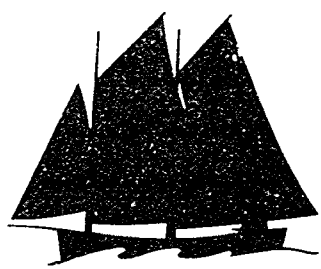

The Michigan Community College Association supports Proposal C.

Grote said the Tisch referendum is due to "dissatisfaction with the legislative process which they are trying to bypass."

"I don't believe the average voter is in a position to understand these proposals," he said.

Grote said his property taxes have "almost doubled" in 10 years.

But he adds, "I'm satisfied that we get good value out of our tax dollar. I'm not the one that believes there is a lot of fat in our school system."

Trustees nix all: tax cut proposals

'None of the above'.

That's the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees' advice to voters regarding the three major tax referendums on the November 4 ballot.

Trustees voted 5-2 last week to oppose the Smith Bullard (Proposal A), Governor Legislative Coalition (C) and Tisch (D) tax proposals.

Trustees Leonard Wozniak, of Livonia, who supports the Tisch property tax cut, and Mark McQuesten, of Plymouth, who supports the coalition tax shift, voted no.

Trustees Michael Burley of Canton Township, Nancie Blatt, Richard Hayward, Rosina Raymond and Board Chairman Harry Greenleaf, all of Livonia, opposed all three tax plans.

"For us to sit on the fence might allow other people to fill that vacuum of leadership," McQuesten said. "Tisch is going to have a better chance than we think."

Wozniak said, "The taxpayers' backs are up against the wall. It's obvious taxing authorities are going to the maximum by law," he added, regardless of property values reflected by housing sales.

Schoolcraft administrators recommended the board favor the Coalition (Proposal C) plan "with reservation". The plan would cut residential and farm assessments by $7,100 and replace lost local revenue with a 1.5 percent increase in the state sales tax.

College officials said the plan was the "least burdensome of all three."

The board was unconvinced by the "lesser of three evils" argument.

"We don't have to support something that isn't that terrific just because we think everybody's going to support Tisch," said Blatt.

Hayward called the coalition plan a "copout".

"They (state legislators) sit up there and twiddle their thumbs until someone (like Tisch) gets a petition going," he said.

"The Tisch, it's terrible," said Burley. "The other two, for all intents and purposes, are tax shifts."

"I don't think we ought to lend our weight to any of them," added Raymond.

Greenleaf noted that Proposal C "does not help us, but it does not appear to hurt us greatly. The increased sales tax is on a large number of items lower income people spend their money on," he said.

The coalition proposal also removes the sales tax on residential heat, light and other utilities.

The ART of Calligraphy

By MICHELE McELMURRY

The silhouette on the wall of the dark room revealed a motionless figure stooped over a desk. The flame from a single candle cast a shadow over the lonely figure, who now moved slightly. Holding a feather quill, the figure dipped it into an ink well and tapped it on the rim. Then with gentle but sturdy hands, the figure began forming fine, dark lines on the paper. The lines soon took the shape of letters, as the figure moved the pen over the page. The silence in the room was broken by the soft scratching of the pen tip on rough onionskin. As the pen moved to the bottom of the page, the figure leaned back to look at his work — making sure each line was straight and each serif in its place. After blotting the ink, the figure set the paper gently on the desk and stretched his hands. Then picking up the quill, the penman took another piece of paper and began again.

A penman, like the ancient scribes, was once regarded as an artist — a master of letters. For centuries, fine penmanship was a symbol of social status and fine breeding — and for those proficient at this trade it was also profitable.

However, since the advent of the printing press and most recently the ball-point pen and felt-tipped marker, the art of lettering has become obsolete.

Penmanship, once taught to school children as soon as they could pick up a writing instrument, has been tossed to the wayside in favor of subjects such as new math, computer science and broadcasting.

In today's society, the art of fine handwriting has been replaced by a less elegant form of script known as chicken scratch. After all, one could argue that it isn't really practical to write out a check with a quill pen and black ink while standing in the express line at the grocery store.

However, despite illegible doctor's prescriptions and indecipherable bank transfers, many people today are going back to the basics of fine penmanship by taking up calligraphy.

"It comes easy — it just takes patience and discipline," said Sharon DeAlexandris, as she stroked the black ink on the paper.

Mrs. DeAlexandris, an art teacher at Our Lady of Victory, sat at a desk in her living room amidst a collection of pens, bottles of ink and stacks of paper while explaining the art of calligraphy.

"The key to the whole thing is learning to hold the pen at a 45 degree angle," she said.

Mrs. DeAlexandris, who majored in art at Eastern Michigan University, is teaching a calligraphy class at Mill Race Village which begins tonight.

The class, which is one of the Mill Race fall workshops sponsored by the Northville Historical Society, has had a full enrollment for weeks.

"This is the first time I've ever taught at Mill Race," Mrs. DeAlexandris said. However, she added that she did teach calligraphy to OLV seventh and eighth graders last year.

"They made a pretty good stab at it," she reported.

Mrs. DeAlexandris said she will be using the dip method in teaching calligraphy to participants in the Mill Race workshop.

Instruments used in the dip method include a speedball pen and India ink.

Mrs. DeAlexandris prefers to use India ink because it prints well and doesn't take long to dry, which eliminates blotting.

"There are a lot of different things (instruments) on the market now," she mentioned, "but I think it's important that people start with the dip method just to get the feel of it."

She explained that calligraphy can be done with any broad surface with a flat edge such as felt-tip markers, chalk or paint brushes.

However, she said that the main factor in learning calligraphy is not which instrument to use, but how to use the instrument.

"It really is just a lot of discipline and many hours of practice," she said. "It's a matter of always keeping your pen at a 45 degree angle without moving your wrist or hand."

She explained that she will be teaching three types of alphabets to the Mill Race class, including Basic Roman, Old English and Chancery Cursive.

"I have a lot of hopes for the class," she observed. "Six weeks is not really that much time — I'm hoping they really just get a feel for the style of the alphabet."

Mrs. DeAlexandris said that if all goes well with the fall workshop she would like to get an advanced class going.

With the current inflationary trend many people are using their calligraphy talents as an additional source of income.

"Calligraphy moonlighters" can make quite a profit on items such as Christmas cards, stationery, wedding announcements, etc.

Mrs. DeAlexandris mentioned she has done some part-time calligraphy work on posters and flyers for companies, but added that she isn't interested in doing it full time.

"If I did this all the time," she said, "it would be more like work than fun."

King remembers Bill

By JEAN DAY

When Bill and Elsie Bailey, who long have had their dance studio at 118 East Cady, visited their daughter and son-in-law, Racina and Bill Fischer, recently in their new home in Colorado Springs, they found their daughter had tickets for a special evening at the Broadmoor Hotel ballroom where Wayne King was playing.

Mrs. Bailey explains why the outing was special: "When Bill ran Danceland in my hometown of Altoona, Pennsylvania, Wayne King played for him — so Bill danced up to him and said, 'Hey, Wayne, do you remember Bill Bailey at Danceland in Altoona 56 years ago?'" Of course, the bandsman did and thrust out his hand. A little later the band was playing, "Won't You Come Home, Bill Bailey?"

The Baileys' daughter was married a year ago in April. She and her husband have moved from California to their 16-room home in Colorado Springs which boasts a view of Pike's Peak. He is a computer firm representative and she is working with a travel agency after many years with TWA.

They'll get to know each other

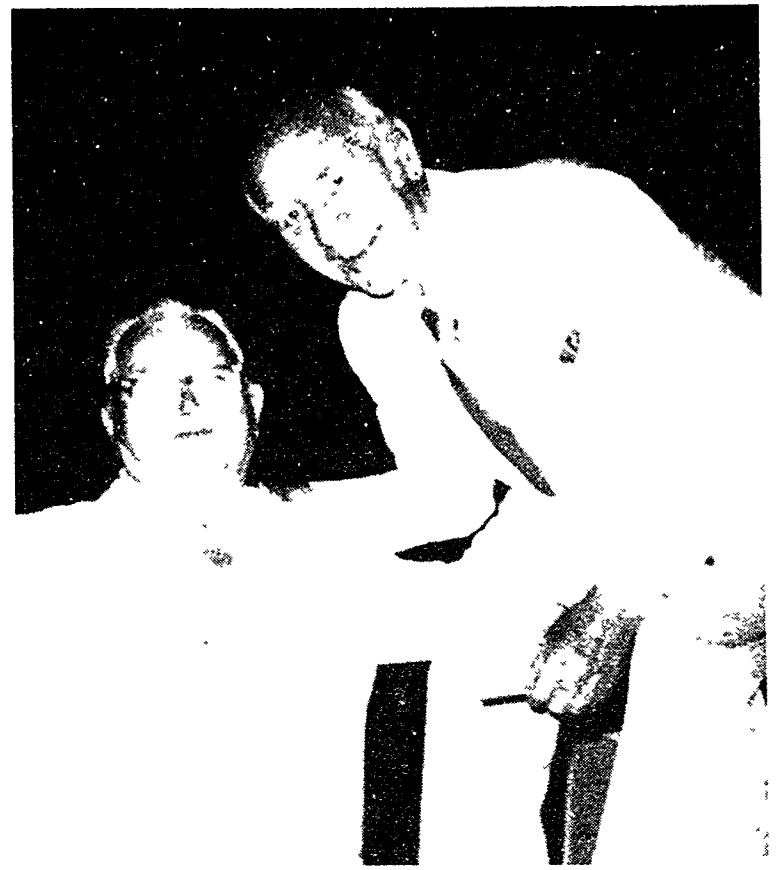

Northville Newcomers October activity is designed to help members get to know each other and the community better, explains President Chris Williams as she announces a tour of Mill Race Historical Village for 10:30 a.m. October 14. It will be followed by lunch at Northville Charley's with a surprise program.

"There will be a mystery speaker who promises to delight us with historical facts and romantic interludes, guaranteeing to end our day with a smile," says Mrs. Williams. Reservations at $6.75 are to be made with Joyce Good, 348-6946, by October 8. She also will make carpooling arrangements.

TV offers Kelly party theme

As veteran hostesses know, it's great fun when you can hinge your party plans on a theme. When Bev and Russell Kelly decided to capitalize on the suspense created in the TV show "Dallas" and sent out invitations to a "Who shot J.R.?" party, they didn't anticipate a strike that would prevent showing the answer on schedule.

Richard Martin born in Illinois

From the Chicago suburb of Westmont, Illinois, comes news of the birth of a son, Richard John, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin. Their first child was born August 20 at La Grange Memorial Hospital weighing seven pounds, ten ounces.

The baby's father and paternal grandfather, Richard T. Martin, now of Lake Havasu City, Arizona, are former Northville residents.

Maternal grandparents are John Spooner of Australia, for whom the baby also was named, and Mrs. Theodore Amboski of Lake Havasu City.

Richard Martin attended the christening service last Sunday from Arizona. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Norton, the baby's uncle and aunt, were to attend from Northville.

Youth theater

R. Hood coming

The legend of Robin
Hood is coming to the Marquis Theatre in two performances — updated and adapted for today's young people — at 2 and 4:30 p.m. this Sunday.

It is being presented by the Living Poem Theater, a national touring company that also comes to the Detroit Institute of Arts Youth Theatre.

Adapted at the Living Poem Theater Workshop in Greenfield, Massachusetts, the contemporary interpretation of "Robin Hood" tells the story of the legendary folk hero focusing on the outlaw from Sherwood Forest's code of honor and loyalty to his friends.

Promoters of the non-profit children's theater company explain that they were troubled in the original versions by the violence.

"We decided that although the violence was real and the staff fights and sword play could not be ignored, we would use it only enough to tell the story," they explained to Marquis owner Inge Zayti.

"Robin Hood," they stated, "is a story about justice, about an outlaw, about civil disobedience, about a youth who was outraged by injustice and seeks to rectify the wrongs of his society."

The workshop group reported it has worked for the past six years with educators, theater workers, artists, schools and boards of education to discover new ways to be more responsive to children's creativity.

In telling the tale of the outlaw of the forest they blend a contemporary score with a measure of comedy.

The "Robin Hood" story will be followed this fall with another children's classic,
"Hansel and Gretel."

Tickets are $3, or $5 when purchased for the two plays.

"IF YOU'RE NOT BUYING BOB EVANS SAUSAGE, YOU MIGHT BE GETTING JUST LEFTOVERS."

Some sausage makers don't put the best cuts of pork into their sausage like we do at Bob Evans Farms.

They take the hams, and sell them as ham. They take the loins, and sell them as pork chops. Then they make sausage with what's left over — the pork trimmings.

Well at Bob Evans Farms, we don't settle for just leftovers. In fact, we include all the choice fresh hams and tenderloins in every pound of sausage we make.

That's why Bob Evans Sausage is tastier than a lot of other sausage. And why it cooks up plump and tender every time.

So try Bob Evans Farms Sausage.

It's so meaty and delicious, you'll never have leftovers again.

Unemployed Ford workers contribute to long lines at employment office

Out of work

Ford Wixom workers' layoffs follow decline of luxury car- they're indefinite

By KURT MADDEN

It happened March 17.

Ford Motor Company's Wixom Assembly plant, a manufacturing giant on the landscape of Western Oakland County off I-96 between Novi and Milford, became a symbol of the economic times and the dramatic decline of U.S.-made automobiles.

Indefinite layoff notices went to 3,100 workers at the plant, and an assembly operation which often offered workers as much overtime as they could manage was cut in half.

Workers with less than 14 years seniority have not been back to work at the plant since March 7 when they received temporary layoff notices, and those workers have been without employment and without much of a prospect of employment since March 17 when the indefinite pink slips began arriving in the mail.

The Wixom plant assembles Ford's Lincoln Continentals and Mark IVs—large luxury autos which have nosedived in sales since the price of gasoline jumped almost 30 cents per gallon this year alone.

And, according to Orville Spencer, president of United Auto Worker Local 36 in Wixom, it's not likely that the massive assembly plant, whose puffing stacks and full parking lot was a sign of good times, will have two shifts until late 1981 or early 1982.

"Personally, I don't think we'll go back to two shifts until Ford comes out with the Mark which will get 35 miles per gallon on the highway and 24 in city driving. It will still be the largest luxury car on the market, but it will be very competitive from a gas standpoint with the foreign models.

Spencer, who was elected president of UAW Local 36 two and a half years ago, calls the situation one of the toughest times ever for a union official.

Local 36 offices receive anywhere from 50 to 100 phone calls per day from laid off auto workers who are worried about the expiration of company-paid insurance policies, are mad about mix-ups in paperwork, are wondering about the future of the Wixom plant's workforce, and are attempting to make plans when economic times are so bad.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission says that Michigan's unemployment is around 12.5 percent, the highest unemployment rate in the nation. The second highest rate is Ohio's nine percent unemployment.

In the month of July, Michigan's unemployment was a staggering 14.1 percent, meaning that 617,000 were out of work, almost double the number of unemployed a year ago.

"Right now, we're working to build up the stock in the showrooms...then we're going to cross our fingers and hope that the cars begin selling and we will have two shifts again," Spencer said.

Experts say that the sales of U.S.-made cars have fallen nine million in 1978 to an estimated seven million so far this year.

And the prospects of recapturing the car market from the clutches of the Japanese is not certainly, high-ranking auto company officials have publicly stated.

These facts are not lost on the men who used to work at the Wixom Assembly Plant. Many are not certain they will ever work in the auto industry again.

Here's what the lives of four unemployed auto workers have been like since March 7, their last day of work.

TOM LIEN, 39, MARRIED, THREE CHILDREN, 12 YEARS SENIORITY:

In July this year, Tom and many fellow UAW members pitched tents on the lawn in front UAW Local 36. The called their new homes, "Carter's Soup Kitchen City."

"We lived in the tents for about two weeks to show the government that unless some restrictions were put on foreign imports and unless something is done to relieve some of the requirements for emissions that have been placed on the auto companies, we'd all be living in tents pretty soon," said Lien.

Lien was hired in 1968, and was never laid off, except for model changeovers, until March 7 when the sever cutbacks started.

He is receiving unemployment, 60 percent of his sub pay and recently received retroactive Trade Readjustment Act money from the federal government.

But he has to make house payments and must make sure his three daughters are properly clothed for winter, and he says there is little money left for frills.

"Boredom and the uncertainty are the most difficult things to cope with. I go bow hunting, and I spend some time fishing with a couple of friends of mine who are also unemployed from Wixom...we talk about our problems, and we have a lot of fun together...it gets us out of the house and gets us doing things together."

"I go to my mother's home in Novi...it's almost like a farm there. I chop some firewood for her or I fix something that needs to be fixed—it's something to keep you busy, and it feels good to be doing something," Lien said.

For the Lien family, the layoff has caused difficulties, mostly related to the lack of information about what the future will bring.

"That's one of things that makes me mad. You don't get any information so that you can plan for the future. It's all because the management in the Glass House in Dearborn won't tell the plant."

"The rumor mill can really play on your mind sometimes...first you hear that you might go back to work sometime in October, then you hear it will be January or February of next year, and then you hear some other date."

"Whenever you call the union office, you hear things like 'might' and 'I really can't say for sure,' they are all afraid of getting your hopes up that you will be getting back to work."

Lien believes he is more fortunate than most men from Wixom who only had five, six or seven years seniority. Their sub pay has expired, and there isn't much of a chance they will ever be called back to the plant.

Lien says he is a man with too much time and too little money. "It hasn't really brought us together. Sometimes it has just the opposite effect. You have to sit around the house, and you and your wife tend to focus on each other, and you nitpick about things...and I really can't spend a whole lot more time with my daughters...like taking them out somewhere because there just isn't enough money."

"This year my oldest daughter didn't even think about going out for track because I couldn't afford the cost of special shoes and clothes for her," Lien said.

The only thing you can do is think, and Lien has reflected on what he believes contributed to the American consumer's apparent rejection with cars made at the Wixom plant.

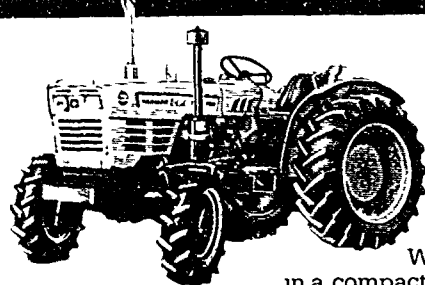

"It wasn't really the guys on the line...it was the supervisory people. I worked as a repairman for a long time, and I know that many times workers wanted to take their time and make things right, but sometimes when things weren't right, they'd tell you to stamp it (as okay) anyway, and if you didn't do it, they did."

"Then if the quality control people came down too hard, the supervisors would call the supervisors of the quality

Knocking on doors asking for change to contribute to Jerry Lewis' annual muscular dystrophy campaign turned out to be beneficial for some Novi kids as well as for those who will benefit from the fund-raising. Folks at the Novi 7-11 Store passed out canisters to local youngsters so they could collect the money; in all they turned in $673, says Bob Benedict, store owner. Those who brought back the most were (front, left to right) Brian Daniels, 9, who won a camera for collecting $135; Andrea Porter, 12, who was presented with a transistor radio for gathering $98; and 11-year-old Mike Dillon, who was aided by his brothers and sisters. Sponsors of the contest were (rear, left to right) Kyle, Lois and Bob Benedict. Also lending a hand for MD was the Novi Fire Department: they sent a truck and several firemen to the 7-11 Store to demonstrate their life-saving methods and bring people into the store, which added $1,200 to the fund-raiser total.

A PACKAGE OF NEW SERVICES for checking customers has been announced by Pontiac State Bank (PSB). Called the First Flight Club, the new program entitles participating customers to a wide range of privileges, including several non-banking benefits.

PSB customers who join the club receive national discounts on lodgings and travel at Holiday Inns, Ramada Inns, Hertz and Budget Rent-A-Car. Additional discounts are available at major theme parks and at movies locally in other cities.

Club members also receive a minimum of $10,000 in insurance coverage for accidental death.

The bank also includes a variety of banking services in the program. Club members are not charged for personalized checks, checking service or monthly statements. The bank also will notarize documents without charge to members and issue travelers checks, cashier's checks and money orders at no charge.

According to William L. Belaney, executive vice president of the bank, the purpose of The First Flight Club is to broaden the range of services available to customers of the bank at a cost which compares favorably with current standard checking charges.

The fee for membership in the club is $5 a month. Customers who maintain a $400 balance in savings or checking pay only $4 a month to belong. Belaney said the value of the many services offered by the club far exceeds the membership fee.

control people and demand that they ease up, and then the supervisor of quality control would tell his men to 'let this go' or 'let that go', and if they didn't, then they'd get transferred where the work was sometimes 10 times harder," Lien said.

STEVE AND CLARENCE JARRELL, BOTH MARRIED, BOTH HAVE SIX YEARS SENIORITY:

Steve Jarrell, 24, and Clarence Jarrell, 29, moved to Michigan six years ago from Williamson West Va., where coal mining is the number-one employer.

"I moved to get away from coal mining...for a lot of people in West Virginia moving to Michigan and working for the auto companies is a dream world," said Clarence Jarrell.

For the Jarrell brothers, the dream of plenty of work and excellent wages has all but been dashed.

"I don't think I'll ever go back to work, and right now, I don't think I want to go back to work in the auto industry. Who is to say that five years from now, I won't find myself in the same position I'm in right now," said Steve.

Steve spends a lot of his spare time at the First Baptist Church of South Lyon, doing odd jobs, and he says that his relationship with the church, his religion and his friends in the congregation had helped to make it easier to cope with unemployment.

For his brother, Clarence, the long-term of unemployment has brought him closer to his wife and his nine-month-old son, Jeffrey.

"He(Jeffrey) really helps me. He kind of keeps me from going crazy sometimes. When I was working at Ford, I'd come home after a 10-hour shift and really not want to talk to anyone. Now that's different," Clarence said.

Clarence hopes to use some of his money to learn to install and repair heating and cooling systems and his brother is actively looking for other work.

"I'm a little more fortunate. My wife works full-time at McPherson Hospital in Howell...but Clarence probably has it a little bit harder.

"Right now I'm wondering whether or not I should gamble and get another job. The only trouble there is that there really aren't many jobs out there," Steve said.

MICHAEL BEADLE, 23, MARRIED, ONE CHILD, THREE YEARS SENIORITY:

Mike Beadle, his wife, Penny, and their 3-year-old daughter, Stacey, have gone through plenty of ups and downs since the Wixom layoff, but there have been some good moments.

Mike spends countless hours with his daughter—something he really didn't the time and emotional capacity to do. "The money was great at Ford...but I would leave for work about 4 or 5 a.m. and not get home until late sometimes...I was just too grouchy really to relate to Stacey...and really under those circumstances, she used to get on my nerves. Now I like to be with her," he said.

Beadle, too, is skeptical he will ever work at the Wixom plant again, and he is attempting to find other work.

"We have thought about moving to Texas and looking for work there, but I don't know if we'll do that or not," he said.

Having no job and little prospect of getting a job has caused some psychologically difficult moments.

"You start to feel useless sometimes...all you've got to do is sit around and watch TV...you can get bummed out sometimes," he said.

"The trouble with this situation is that you really don't know what to," he said.

GUARDIAN INDUSTRIES CORPORATION has announced the termination of discussions with White Motor Corporation for the purchase by Guardian of a 50 percent equity interest in White's wholly-owned subsidiary, the White Motor Credit Corporation.

Both companies announced an agreement in principle to enter into such a transaction on August 28.

Guardian has no expectations at this time for a resumption of negotiations on this matter, according to a company spokesman.

Guardian Industries Corporation is a leading manufacturer and fabricator of glass for the construction and automotive industries and processes film nationwide through its Photo Division.

White Motor Corporation manufactures and markets heavy-duty trucks, farm equipment and lift trucks and provides its customers and dealers with a wide range of financial services.

SOMETHING brand new has opened in Northville. It's a European style tanning salon called "Suntique" that boasts it can "keep you tan all year around."

General manager is Patti Laffler, a Northville resident and member of the Northville Garden Club, who has been busy putting together this new business featuring the latest techniques in achieving a golden tan anytime of the year — simply by lying on a completely safe, F.D.A. approved sunbed.

Suntique also features a Japanese lady who has been training in the art of Japanese pressure point message called "Sheatsu" to completely relax the tired working girl.

The Suntique Tanning Salon is located in Highland Lakes Shopping

A CENTURY 21 real estate office which has served the Northville area for more than six years has been purchased by two veteran real estate professionals.

J. BRYNGELSON

Joanne Bryngelson announced that she and John E. Light are the new owners of CENTURY 21 Quality Homes, Inc., 200 South Main.

The office was operated as CENTURY 21 Suburban, under the brokerage of Dick Ruffner, from 1974 until the recent transaction. Ruffner is remaining with CENTURY 21 Quality Homes, Inc., as a sales associate.

Bryngelson, who will manage the office, has 10 years of real estate experience and has been in the UNRA Million Dollar Sales Club the past two years. She was a listing presentation contest winner at the 1975 Century 21 National Convention in Las Vegas, Nevada, and has managed another CENTURY 21 office for three years.

Light has served as senior vice president and director of regional marketing for CENTURY 21 of Michigan, Inc., since 1974. He also is the owner of CENTURY 21 Quality Homes, Inc., of Dearborn Heights.

013 Card of Thanks
I wish to thank all relatives and friends for their prayers, visits, cards, calls and flowers, also the doctors and nurses, anyone who helped in any way, while I was in St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. Thank you and God Bless you all Mrs. Margaret Fordham

JOE and Norma Voorhis wish to thank all our friends, relatives, our daughter, Sharon Voorhis and Mary Young, for our 40th Anniversary Open House held at the First United Methodist Church, September 20.

MANY thanks to our wonderful neighbors, friends and relatives for their prayers, cards, food and acts of kindness shown us during my recent illness. Sincerely, Theda Lyke.

OUR grateful thanks to the many dear friends who came to our Open House. Thank you for your cards, gifts, money, and most of all, for your visits. You made our 50th Anniversary a truly golden memory to remain with us always. Charlie and Kathryn Smith.

The family of Clara Childs wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for their kindness, prayers and concern for us in the loss of our mother. Thank you for the flowers, contributions, food and cards. Special thank you to Rev. Mitchenson, and the ladies of the New Hudson Methodist Church, Milford Rehearsals and Richardson, Byrd, and Lynch Funeral Home. From Gary Childs and family, Joyce and Jim Wilson and family, Judy Childs, Linda and Ernie Miller and family.

Hazard Ahead

I wonder if birds have a death wish, As they fly in the path of a car? Do they sit in the trees, waiting to show How brave and daring they are?

No insect or fly is worth the result Of a mad dash across the road To end up a quivering ball of feathers Joining the body of a squashed flat road

The balance of nature is a well known thing, But so often its one bird less to sing

Kit Henderson

Tiny One

A new little creation, With its awing sensation.

I'm trying to be fair, Know I really do care.

You remind me so, Of someone I felt long ago.

A kick from you, I think, Brings memories to the brink.

This minute I'm glad, The next moment I'm sad

I miss her so, It's not you, I know.

My days aren't always blue, I do look forward to you Wish she was here, She'd hold you so near

And as you'd grow, She'd watch over you, I know.

Since she's in heaven, Your guardian angel is seven.

Nobody does it better than Mustang netters

By KEN KOVACS

If anyone knows of a girls tennis team that can beat Northville High School please stand up.

Anyone that can find such a team surely deserves a hand because they certainly are in the minority.

The Mustang netters haven't faced many squads that can compete with them this year, particularly in the Western Six Conference.

The defending league champs, now 4-0 in conference play and 7-1 overall, seem to be stroking their way to another Western Six title.

The racqueteers picked up five more wins during the past week and a half blanking Livonia Churchill, Waterford Mott, Farmington and Hartland 7-0 and pouncing Walled Lake Western, 6-1.

The netters displayed an awesome show of strength Monday against Churchill as no singles player or doubles combination lost more than three games during two sets of play.

Holly Sixt breezed by Amy Piper, 6-0, 6-0 in first singles competition while Sheri Robins shut down Elise Cameron, 6-0, 6-3 in second singles play.

Marnie Dillow blanked Debbie Fisher, 6-0, 6-0 and Debbie Spade defeated Julie Roman, 6-1, 6-2 to round out the singles competition.

Doubles results were quite similar, Kim Hubbard and Jennifer Missel dominating Kathy Bowman and Patty Mellon, 6-0, 6-2, Jana Holloway and Gail Engelmeyer tripping Sherri Clark and Alison Clancey, 6-1, 6-1 and Lisa Gejoff and Kathy Montgomery beating Mary Jo Edmonds and Sherri Dean, 6-1, 6-0.

In exhibition play Jill Stevens and Stacy Cave won 8-3, Claudia Horigan and K. C. Bemesh won 8-6 and Liz McLarty and Kelly Grey (playing two varsity players) were defeated, 4-8.

The netters' performances were similar against Farmington, Mott and Hartland, Northville easily sweeping sets, with few exceptions.

The match with Western, however, presented a tough challenge for Northville's ace Holly Sixt.

Her opponent was Jane Neville, a semi-finalist in state competition last year.

"Holly played well but lost out to one of the top players in the state," coach Uta Filkin praised. "Though the score was 6-1, 6-3, the match was not that lopsided. Neville had to earn every point."

The other Northville players came through, as Robins won 6-2, 6-1, Dillow was victorious, 6-3, 6-0 and Spade also won, 6-0, 6-2.

The Mustangs' doubles teams also triumphed, Hubbard and Missel battling to a 7-6, 6-3 win, Holloway and Engelmeyer winning, 6-2, 6-3 and Gejoff and Montgomery dominating, 6-1, 6-2

The Northville netters will face four league opponents in a row beginning with Plymouth Canton today.

Farmington Harrison will visit the Mustangs' courts Friday in a match which will give the victor two wins in Western Six play.

(The first scheduled contest between the two was rained out. Both coaches agreed to count the next meeting as two wins or two losses).

Northville will travel to Mott for a league contest Monday.

Swimmers conquer Canton, Ypsilanti

By KEN KOVACS

(Participants are judged on 11 dives in championship meets, while they perform only six dives in dual meets).

Laubert had equal praise for sophomore Trish Settles.

"Though I hate to single anyone out," he began. "Trish has done a super good job in every meet this year."

"She has really given us some impressive performances and at the rate she is going, I'm sure she will qualify for the state meet," he predicted. "The other sophomores also are really doing a nice job. They are working real hard to replace the swimmers we lost (to graduation)."

The talented sophomore won every event she participated in the last two meets.

She took first in the 200-yard individual medley, 500-yard free-style and was one member of the 400-yard free style relay team against Ypsilanti September 16.

She repeated her performance against Canton, bettering her time in the 500-yard free style by 1.5 seconds.

The Mustang swimmers downed Ypsilanti 53-30 September 16, winning eight of the 11 events.

The Mustang girls swimmers had won three of their first four meets without the services of 1979 All-American Allyson Farquhar who was ill.

The talented senior returned to practice just prior to the Canton meet.

"She swam in a couple of events against Canton and said she felt fine," Laubert said. "I am really glad to see her healthy again. She will help us when we need it later in the season."

The Northville swimmers were scheduled to take on Redford Union at the high school pool Monday and will travel to Farmington Harrison tomorrow (Thursday).

Fun run set

The Pacer Run Club will sponsor a "Rise of the Great Pumpkin Spirit" fun run on October 11 beginning at 9 a.m.

It will be a one, three or six mile walk, jog or run.

Registration will run from 8-8:50 a.m. at the YMCA, 14255 Stark Road the day of the race.

The festivities will include a drawing for a large Pacer Pumpkin and home-made pumpkin pies.

Parches, certificates and refreshments will be available to all who finish the race.

The run is free to Pacer members, $3 for non-members. Y membership is not required.

Further information is available by calling Kathie at 261-2161.

Runners return to winning ways

Things are looking up for the Northville High School cross country team.

Following a disappointing showing (seventh place) in the Schoolcraft Invitational September 20, the Mustang runners pulled themselves together and won two meets to stretch their dual meet record to 4-0.

The victories did not come easy, however, as Farmington kept within two points, losing 27-29 and Plymouth Canton finished only three points behind at 27-30.

Farmington's number one runner Bob Atchinson took first with a time of 16:21 but Northville took the next three spots and seventh place to claim the victory.

Clark Couyoumjian placed second with a time of 16:23, Dave Malinowski was third at 16:24 and Scott Dayton took fourth with a time of 16:49.

But the real hero according to coach Ed Gabrys was Seth Swallow who finished seventh at 17:22.

"If Swallow hadn't come through the race would have been a lot closer and we possibly could have lost it," he said. "I was very pleased with the performance of Swallow and Jim Williams (who finished 11th with a time of 18:02)."

"It was a very satisfying win."

Lose 68-44 to defending champs

Mustang cagers give Canton Chiefs a contest

By KEN KOVACS

It's not often that a coach is pleased when his team comes out on the losing end of a 68-44 basketball game. But considering the opponent — Plymouth Canton, which hasn't lost a Western Six Conference game in 3 1/2 years — and the fact that there are only seven girls on the Mustang team, Gene Wagner was full of praise for his players. "This is by the far best game our girls have played this year," the first-year coach said. "I can see improvement every week. It was the second game in a row that six of our seven players contributed to the scoring. That's a very positive sign." Northville stayed close to the strong Canton cagers the first quarter, scoring 11 to their opponents' 15. Canton exploded for 23 points to the Mustangs' 10 in the second quarter to take a 38-21 lead into the locker room at the half.

Northville failed to fire a shot 21 of the times they had the ball in the first half — a statistic that Wagner considers most important. "The team that makes the least number of mistakes is going to win the game," he said. "You cannot lose the ball as many times as we did and still come out ahead." The Mustangs also had 12 traveling violations over the course of the game and a technical foul called on Wagner which cost another two points.

"The ref had made a bad call a few minutes before and then one of their girls pushed one of mine right in front of me," Wagner recalled. "I chewed him out so he called the technical." The Mustangs seemed to be running out of gas in the third quarter as they could manage only six points to the Chiefs' 15. But the Northville cagers mustered some extra get-up-and-go in the final period as they rallied for 15 points, only two less than Canton scored.

Leading the scoring for Northville were Jacque Nixon with 13 points, Melissa McDaniel with nine and Melinda House with eight. House pulled down nine rebounds for the Mustangs, while McDaniel collected four. Tulsa, Oklahoma transfer Darcy Lovelace, playing in her first year of competitive basketball, scored five points as did junior guard Marge Muller. Earlier in the week the Mustang cagers dropped a contest to Thurston 55-29. Scoring only 27 percent of their shots from the field and a dismal 17 percent from the foul line, the Northville girls couldn't hope to win. The only bright spots in the Thurston game were Nixon's 16 points and, according to Wagner, the experience gained. "Canton and Thurston are two very tough teams," Wagner praised. "And I think we gained a lot in spite of losing

Colts post pair of ties, loss

The varsity Northville-Colts battled to a 12-12 tie with the Plymouth Lions last Saturday, while the junior varsity Colts also played to a draw, 6-6. Earlier that evening the freshman Colts suffered their first setback of the season, 24-12. Doug Hartman scored for the varsity Colts on a one-yard plunge after carrying the ball six times in the opening series for 39 yards.

The first half ended at 6-6. The Colts opened the second half with another long drive with Hartman scampering in from 24 yards out. Numerous penalties on the Colt defense assisted the Lions in their next score. The Colt varsity, still unbeaten with two wins and two ties, will face the Plymouth Steelers at the Northville High School stadium this Saturday. The junior varsity Colts scored first in their battle with the Lions last week, but could not stop the Plymouth offense, which matched Northville with a touchdown of its own. The defenses dominated the majority of the game. Bop Smith scored two touchdowns for the freshman Colts, but the Lions proved to be too much for the Northville-Novisquad. The freshman now stand at 3-1.

Spade beaten in semis

Northville's Tom Spade recently advanced to the semi-finals of the Monroe Junior Open Tennis Tournament before being defeated by number one seed Steve Hentschel of Ann Arbor — the top junior player in southeastern Michigan in 1979. The 17-year-old, recent boys division winner at the Northville Junior Open tennis tournament, defeated Mark Eggleston of Toledo, 6-1, 6-1 and number four seed Andy Keller, also of Toledo, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5. The talented Northville netter played despite a heel injury suffered in the match with Keller. Spade took Hentschel to 7-6 before losing the first set in the semi-final match. Hentschel took the second set, 6-2.

Western speedster manhandles Mustangs, 40-7

By KEN KOVACS

Reggie Upshaw sure can run. Not only can he run like Billy Sims, he also can catch passes like Lynn Swann and play defense like Jimmy Allen. At least that's the way it seemed to the Mustangs who couldn't stop the Farmington Harrison speedster as he led his squad to a 40-7 trouncing of Northville Friday.

"He beat us," Mustang coach Dennis

Colligan stated. "I really think that Reggie beat us all by himself. We just failed in every aspect of the game." The talented senior caught four passes for 117 yards and one touchdown, returned a punt 67 yards for another score and accounted for more yards (221) than Northville's entire team (165).

The Mustangs did stop Harrison's other talented running back Ken Kopko, an All-League selection in 1979, holding the senior speedster to only 62 yards on 19 carries. Harrison received the ball on the opening kickoff and drove down the field for its first score. But it took them almost six minutes and Colligan was still confident.

"I wasn't too disappointed after that score," Colligan said. "We played pretty good defense and they had to work very hard for the touchdown." The next one came much easier.

Northville was forced to punt when it couldn't get a first down and Upshaw danced past the Mustangs 67 yards for his first TD. When the Mustangs again had to give up the ball, Harrison hit Upshaw with the bomb and he went all the way to the six-yard line.

Kopko took it in to make it 18-0 in favor of Harrison. Northville was snuffed again and forced to punt. Punter Bob Thomson got a bad snap and the ref said his knee touched the ground before he punted. Harrison got the ball on the six-yard line and scored on a quarterback sneak to take a 26-0 into the locker room at halftime.

The Mustangs then put together a 74-yard drive — which included a 30-yard scamper by quarterback Dave Greer — pushing their way down to the 10-yard line

But on the next play running back Steve Cornalino fumbled the ball and Harrison took over. Northville's only touchdown came with just minutes to play in the game. Junior quarterback Tim McLaughlin fired a pass in the direction of Gary Kucher in the end zone.

The ball deflected off the shoulderpad of a Harrison defender and into Kucher's arms

Kickers get aggressive, win three contests on the road

It's amazing what a loss can do for a team.

And when you add two very frustrating ties it can make you really work hard.

The Northville High School soccer team, which suffered a loss to a tough Livonia Stevenson team and tied with Dearborn Fordson and Bloomfield Hills Andover, last week rebounded to take three victories.

The kickers beat Ann Arbor Pioneer 2-1, blanked Oak Park, 4-0 and trimmed Birmingham Groves, 1-0.

"Everything has changed for the better," laughed Mustang coach Ron Meteyer. "We have made some changes, moving some people from offense to defense and haven't been scored upon in five periods."

Some of the changes include switching Les Neal from forward to fullback and moving Dave McElroy from fullback to forward.

Greg Marshall also has been moved to the front line and Greg May shifted to point fullback — the "stopper" position. Center halfback Kevin Swayne scored both goals in Northville's win over Pioneer, one unassisted at 11 minutes into the second half and the other on a penalty shot 10 minutes later.

The Mustangs got two goals from Rick Marshall and one apiece from May and Swayne in their thrashing of Oak Park.

Swayne scored unassisted, May kicked in a penalty shot and Marshall headed the ball into the net on a centering pass off the foot of Eric Lindemier for his first goal.

Marshall's second score came when he booted one at the goal, and scored on the rebound.

The Mustang junior varsity squad beat Oak Park 3-0 in what Meteyer called their "best victory this year."

The victory over Groves was the most satisfying for the team, Meteyer said.

"In order to be credible to ourselves, we had to beat a good team and Groves was it," he said. "I expected them to score on us. I never thought a one goal lead would hold up."

"But the defense shut them down," he praised. "To shut out a team like Groves is really satisfying."

About eight minutes into the game, Swayne fired a 35-yard "bullet" left of the goalie for Northville's lone tally.

Northville, with two wins, one loss and one tie, stands alone in third place in the Northwest Suburban Soccer League behind Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Bentley, which are undefeated.

The Mustang kickers were scheduled to meet Farmington Tuesday night in the first of six straight league contests.

O'Leary tops in grid picks

Finn O'Leary of Northville and Mickey O'Leary of Westland were top winners in last week's football contest sponsored by this newspaper and cooperating advertisers.

Both contestants missed five games, but Mickey was declared first place winner because of his more accurate guess of the Detroit-Minnesota score. Finn took second place.

Winning third place was Steve Alföldy of Northville, who also missed just five games. He was 10 points off the actual score, while Mickey and Finn were off four and eight points, respectively.

Three other contestants missed five games but were not as close in guessing the score. They were Tony Hamp (11 points off), John Naar (12 points off), and Tom Alkire (25 points off).

Eight contestants missed six games, 14 seven games and the remainder missed eight games or more. Eight contestants missed 10 games, and two failed to complete their entries.

All contestants missed the Illinois-Air Force game which was fought to a 20-20 tie, and no contestants were marked wrong for the ninth game, which had been played a week earlier.

Other than the tie game, most difficult contests for entrants included Iowa State's 10-7 triumph over Iowa, Oklahoma's 31-14 loss to Stanford, Novi's one point victory over Brighton, Chicago's win over Pittsburgh, and Buffalo's triumph over Oakland.

Nearly all contestants correctly predicted Detroit's victory over Minnesota.

Northville Rotary run route okayed

The route for the 10,000-meter run, "Discover Northville," slated for Sunday, October 12 at 11 a.m., has been announced.

The Northville City Council September 22 approved the route, which starts and ends at Northville Downs — located at Seven Mile and Center.

Participants will begin the 6.2-mile jaunt south on River Street, go east on Seven Mile, north on South Main, north on Griswold, west on Baseline, south on Hutton, west on Dunlap, south on Rogers, west on Fairbrook, north on Orchard, east on Main, south on Griswold, east on Beal, south on Yerkes, west on Johnson and north on River back to the Downs Runners from Northville, Novi, South Lyon and Milford can register through 10 a.m. race day.

The run, sponsored by the Northville Rotary Club, is the first annual event.

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded to the first five finishers in each division. All entrants will receive T-shirts.

Participants will compete in one category, male or female groups under 16; 17-21; 22-30; 31-40; 41-50; or over 50.

Registration fee is $7. Funds raised from entry fees will be used by the Northville Rotary Club for its Rotary Foundation projects.

Additional information is available by calling 349-1870, 348-1509 or 420-277.

Rotary winners announced

Results of the eighth annual Northville Rotary Tennis Tournament held September 20 were announced this week.

Kerry Hlady and Wes Henrikson outlasted Neil Johnston and Bob Boshoven, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4 to claim the men's title.

Marilyn Boland and Mary Whiteside took the women's division.

(Though Marnie Dillow and Vicki Sterling were the actual winners, the team was disqualified because one team member is not a Northville resident).

In men's consolation play, Pete Hankins and Bob Edwards defeated a father-son team of Bob and Steve Frellick, 6-4, 7-6 — the second set was won 9-7 in a 12-point tie-breaker.

Gift certificates were awarded to the winners in each division. certificates can pick them up at the Racquet Connection).

Runners rebound

Couyoumjian ran his best time of the year (16:09) enroute to a first place finish against Canton, while Dayton came in second at 16:22 and Malinowski finished a close third at 16:31.

Canton took fourth, fifth and sixth places, but the time of the fourth place runner was some 18 seconds slower than Malinowski's time.

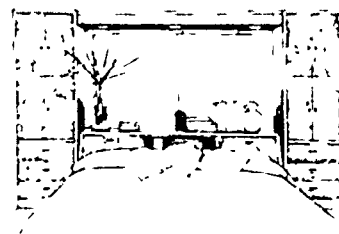

But Gabrys said Canton could surprise some people this season.

"They have a very good pack," he stated. "They took fourth through ninth with less than 30 seconds separating the times."

"They will be tough when we match up with them in the league meet."

Williams claimed 10th place with a time of 17:30 while Swallow, who had to stop twice during the race to put his shoe on, managed to come in behind Williams at 17:42.

FOOTBALL CONTEST

Enter Today! You May Be A Winner!

HERE ARE THE RULES

Take a plain piece of paper and number down the left hand side from 1 to 20. You will notice that each square below is also numbered from 1 to 20 and each contains a football game to be staged this coming weekend. To complete your entry you must do the following:

- (1) After each number on your paper write the name of the sponsor of the corresponding square.
- (2) Following the sponsor's name—write the name of the winning team.
- (3) In addition you must pick a score on the outcome of the game in square 20. This will be used in the case of a tie and then the contestant whose score is closest to the actual score will be declared the winner.

Be sure to write your name, address and phone number plainly on your piece of paper (your entry). In case of a tie, prize money will be split.

NOTE: Only ONE entry per HOUSEHOLD family per week. Prize money paid only to name on entry. PLEASE do not enter several times using friends' names. Such entries will be disqualified if discovered.

Copies of the contest will be posted at the Northville Record office at 104 W. Main and at the Wall Lake News office, 1340 S. Commerce Road each week. Entries should be addressed "Football Contest", Northville Record, 104 W. Main, Northville, MI 48167 and must be postmarked or brought to our office no later than 5 p.m. each Friday.

Youth basketball meeting set

It's almost time for basketball. The Northville Recreation Department is taking registrations for youth basketball through October 10.

Any third through ninth grade boy or girl interested in playing basketball is invited to sign up.

Player rating for team balancing will be held on Saturday, November 1 at the Community Center on Main.

Third and fourth graders should come at 9 a.m., fifth and sixth graders at 10 a.m. and seventh through ninth graders at 11 a.m.

No registrations will be accepted after October 10.

Parents interested in coaching are asked to contact the recreation office at 349-0203.

All games will be played on Saturdays and/or Sundays. The season runs January through March; practices begin in late November.

Open swimming and open basketball begin this week.

Open swimming at the high school pool runs from 8-9 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday and noon to 2 p.m. and 4-6 p.m. on Saturday.

Adult open swim is Saturday from 3-4 p.m.

Open basketball runs from 9-11 p.m. Monday and Wednesday.

Unsurpassed quality, construction and comfort backs up the beauty of Flexsteel

FLEXSTEEL® FINE UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE

- ① Select, kiln-dried hardwood frame (mostly oak) is sealed against moisture and shaped to follow the outer contour of the style. ② All major joints are reinforced with hardwood blocks, glued and screwed to the frame. ③ Joints are glued and double dowelled for lasting rigidity. ④ Famous, patented Flexsteel springs are made of the finest watchspring blue steel and utilize the arch to provide superb seating comfort. ⑤ Extra support for the seat spring and frame is provided by the steel support attached to the base of the frame. ⑥ Padded spring edge gives a smooth, tailored look to seat edge. ⑦ Odor free, polypropylene spring cover keeps all items from falling through the spring. ⑧ Flexolator covers the Flexsteel spring to provide superior seating comfort. ⑨ Layers of high grade cotton padding cover both the spring and Flexolator. ⑩ Heavy density polyurethane foam. ⑪ Bonded layers of polyester fibers on the top and bottom sides of seat cushion. ⑫ Tailored kick pleats are lined and have stiffener sewn in place for lasting beauty. ⑬ Resilient sinuous wire back springs. ⑭ Firm, upright back supports are glued and screwed in place. ⑮ Virgin urethane foam covers the back springs. ⑯ Layers of soft polyester fiber for greater seating comfort. ⑰ Expert tailoring includes the meticulous matching of patterns.

WALL RECLINER

Choose the style that suits you best. These handsome recliners are the only "next-to-the-wall" chair with the exclusive Flexsteel spring for lasting quality and comfort. Easy to operate; a gentle movement glides the chair away from the wall to a variety of reclining positions. Expertly tailored in Chatham Velvets of durable DuPont Antron® nylon.

Sitting to full reclining — only inches from the wall. Adjust to any position without moving the chair.
