Holiday snow

Chris Drew, 11, of Northville pushed his bike through last week's first real snow of the season. Chris found the white stuff a problem as he delivered papers. The Thanksgiving morning snowfall was a taste of weather to come — maybe forecasting a long winter — which doesn't start officially until December 21. The winter solstice coincides with a full moon on that date while the sun will appear motionless over the Tropic of Capricorn.

Council demands welfare revisions

"It's time somebody bit the bullet and started taking the excesses out of government," declared Northville Mayor Paul Vernon at Monday night's council meeting.

Criticizing "the kind of token effort being made to get welfare reform that causes us (Michigan) to be ridiculed by other states," Vernon suggested it is time to "stand up and be counted."

Presenting a resolution that urged "mutual development of a plan for property tax relief by the Executive Branch and the Legislative Branch of state government," Vernon may have made Northville one of the first cities in the state to speak out.

Formation of a "Blue Ribbon committee by the Michigan Municipal League ... to study the State of Michigan welfare and unemployment compensation programs as they compare with successful programs in other states" was urged.

Obviously irked and concerned with the kinds of budget cuts that primarily promise to hurt cities rather than decrease rising public assistance costs, Vernon presented the resolution to the council.

Members J. Burton DeRusha, Carolann Ayers and Dewey Gardner unanimously and enthusiastically endorsed sending it to the governor, legislative representatives and leaders, the Michigan Municipal League and all league members.

Vernon said he drafted the resolution after attending a State of Michigan budget briefing for local officials at Schoolcraft College November 23.

The Department of Management and Budget, he reported, under Headlee is required to distribute back 41.6 mills.

However, the state, he said, is not looking at real welfare reform.

Council member Ayers agreed, "There's no justification for so many abuses."

The council resolution recognizes the need for public assistance programs but points out there is "evidence of abuse."

At the Schoolcraft meeting, Vernon related to council, the executive assistant to the director of Management and Budget for the State of Michigan, Dr. Douglas Roberts, told the audience that "when a welfare mother remarries, the assistance is stopped for her but not for her children."

Roberts, Vernon reported, explained the reasoning that "it is generally known that poor women do not marry rich men and if the assistance were stopped they would not remarry."

In other words, asked DeRusha, this plan takes one person off welfare?

"Information presented at that meeting by the executive assistant," Vernon stated in the resolution, "revealed that attempts are still being made to circumvent the intentions of the Headlee Amendment by shifting certain revenues to taxing units and then requiring those taxing units to pay certain expenses now paid by the state."

Vernon was referring to a plan to refund to school districts monies now paid by the state for teacher retirement and social security funds and to have them in turn pay those programs locally.

Thomson Gravel offers plan to reclaim land at mine site

Thomson Sand and Gravel Company presented a future land use plan for its present mining site and requested release of $100,000 held in an escrow account at a meeting with the Northville Township Board of Appeals Monday.

The land use plan is required by the five-year sand and gravel mining permit issued in October, 1979 for the 371 acre site extending from Six Mile to Seven Mile Roads between Beck and Ridge Roads.

Thomson family attorney John Ashton emphasized that the plan was not meant to establish a final goal for the property but was developed as a requirement of the license. Such a plan is needed, he said, if the company is to comply with regulations demanding that the land be reclaimed after sand and gravel extraction is completed.

As presented by Robert Bills, of Bills/Childs Associates, the plan in its present stage foresees over 150 single family homes on lots of 18,000 square feet or more, cluster housing along the Six Mile and Ridge Road boundaries of the property and a nine-hole golf course running through the middle of the complex.

The mining extraction process leaves a series of lakes in the area which would be taken advantage of in landscaping the property, Bills said.

"The ultimate challenge of this project is to begin planning early so it does not look like the whole development was done in a hole," Bills said.

That also is the intent of the licensing rules governing the mining site. The company is required to present its plans for future use of the land and deposit $1,000 per month in an escrow account to insure that reclamation will proceed even if the company fails in its responsibility.

Therein lies a catch, however, Ashton said. A grading plan for the site is needed within the next year if reclamation is to be made possible. The needed planning and field work will cost an estimated $100,000.

"Unfortunately, my clients cannot afford to continue planning while the township holds $312,000 of their money in an escrow account," Ashton said. "Their business is tied to the ups and downs of the housing industry and right now their cash flow will not permit that kind of expenditure."

Ashton asked the board, which holds the contract with the company, to release a sufficient amount of the funds to allow planning to continue.

"It makes total sense to do it because it makes possible the reclamation that is the goal of the accounts in the first place," Ashton said. A substantial portion of the reclamation requirements have already been met, he added.

Highland Pointe site plan for this Lake Success area finally granted after four attempts

Took four tries

Pulte gets site plan okay

Persistence pays.

Just ask Pulte Homes of Michigan.

In February when the developer presented a preliminary site plan for its proposed Highland Pointe condominium complex surrounding Lake Success, better known as the gravel pit near Eight Mile Road, the Northville Township Planning Commission rejected it.

So Pulte tried again.

And again the site plan was rejected.

And again, and the same thing happened.

November 25, Pulte tried again. And got approval. Conditional approval, that is.

Pulte's latest site plan is substantially revised from the one first submitted.

The land previously had been divided into two parcels, to be developed separately. The newest plan continues that division, but adds a third parcel of more than 3.5 acres dedicated to recreation.

A jogging path, soccer field and picnic areas are included in the new parcel. A shelter and fishing pier also show on the plans to make use of the lake — no swimming is to be permitted.

A lack of recreation area in the previous plans was a primary concern of the planning commission. Fear was expressed that residents of the new complex would use Highland Lakes facilities and produce a conflict between the adjoining developments.

To accommodate the recreation area and produce more open space, 11 two-story townhouses were substituted for 26 fourplexes at the western end of the site. The number of dwelling units was thus reduced from 340 to 314 with the same number of rooms.

The commission approved the plan on condition that nine concerns expressed by planning consultant Villican-Leman and Associates and six others raised by engineering consultant Mosher Associates are resolved before submission of a final site plan.

Some of the changes demanded are:

- a change in slope of a road connected to Silver Springs Drive; Mosher said this would probably require a change in building elevations also.

- inclusion of a 12-inch water main on Eight Mile Road
- more detailed description of jogging path materials and a change in routing of the path.

- relocation of one townhouse and straightening a severe road curve near the western edge of the site.

Pulte representatives indicated they would not oppose any of the recommended changes and would work with Claude Coates of Villican-Leman and William Mosher to receive a full understanding of the recommendations.

Emissions law draws fire

Proposed rules for the vehicle emissions inspection and maintenance program for Southeast Michigan that will be mandatory for some three million motorists in the area were studied by city council members Monday.

As council members viewed a summary of provisions, resentment was expressed on what J. Burton DeRusha termed "the growing intrusion of government into private lives."

He criticized the provision exempting motor vehicles owned by a person on Medicaid or receiving general assistance.

"With the state of Detroit's economy, most of Detroit would be exempt" was a comment.

The council did agree that "it is safe to say the state didn't want this (program)." Council member Carolann Ayers cited the Volkswagen plant as "the original carrot" dangled before the state to persuade it to implement the regulations that are designed to reduce pollutants and thus allow new industrial facilities to locate here.

The proposed regulations that Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) says "will affect virtually every motorist in Southeast Michigan" will be aired at two public meetings at 1:30 and 7 p.m. this Thursday sponsored by SEMCOG at Southfield Civic Center, 26000 Evergreen, Southfield.

The Michigan Department of State has proposed rules that will determine how the program will be operated and administered.

Thursday's meeting, council was told, will detail motorists' rights and responsibilities under the program as well as costs.

Council members questioned the repair cost limit of $50, saying "a tune-up today costs more than that." The provision allowing a waiver of tune-up for those who cannot afford one also came under fire, causing DeRusha to comment that "the only compliance will be by those of us who are accustomed to obeying the law and who support the government."

Designed to lead to cleaner air for Southeast Michigan, the program, says SEMCOG, "has the potential to save gasoline and reduce the emission of certain pollutants, thus allowing new industrial facilities to locate in this region."

As proposed by the Michigan Department of State, both the inspection and repair phases of the vehicle inspection and maintenance will be conducted by licensed private facilities like service stations, dealerships and department store service centers.

Mobile or temporary testing facilities also will be allowed.

Before a station is licensed, it must be registered as a motor vehicle repair facility under the Motor Vehicle Service and Repair Act. Requirements include having proper equipment and qualified personnel (inspectors and mechanics.)

Crux of the program is the testing procedure, consisting of the "idle emissions test" where a probe is inserted into a vehicle's tailpipe and concentration of hydrocarbons

Schoolcraft trustees reject anti-nepotism hiring policy

Trustees at Schoolcraft College have rejected a proposed anti-nepotism policy in hiring but approved picking up half the cost of elections jointly held with K-12 school districts.

But C. Nelson Grote, president of the community college, said the anti-nepotism rules would be enforced anyway because they are required in an executive order from the U.S. Office of Civil Rights.

"We need to have a policy in writing," said Vice Chairperson Nancie Blatt, who supported the proposal.

But the anti-nepotism policy failed to get a majority of four on the seven-member board. Supporting it were Blatt, Chairman Harry Greenleaf and trustee Richard Hayward.

Opposed were trustees Mark Mc-

Questen and Michael Burley. Abstaining was trustee Rosina Raymond. Absent was Treasurer Leonard Wozniak.

"It's unnecessary and inappropriate," said Raymond. "I'm opposed to so many rules and regulations, but I have no quarrel with the statement."

The statement would have said Schoolcraft "will not prohibit the initial employment, transfer or advancement of spouses of immediate family members in the same department or administrative unit provided that neither spouse nor immediate family members participate in making recommendations or decisions specifically affecting the appointment."

"Therefore, no person shall be employed in a position in which he or she directly reports to or supervises a member of his or her family."

McQuesten said such a policy would be "discrimination," but Hayward replied, "It would be discrimination not to have an anti-nepotism policy."

"What is this really about?" asked Raymond. "Is this to put the monkey on the board's back? I have a gut feeling."

Said Grote: "We are obligated to comply with 11246 (the number of the executive order). By this policy, the institution (Schoolcraft) would make it a board policy.

"We have had no major problems. We have had minor problems. It would be inappropriate to discuss family relationships" in a board meeting, he said.

Under usual parliamentary rules, only a person who voted in the majority may ask for reconsideration in the near future.

The college agreed to "pay up to 50 percent of the direct election cost, as mutually defined, to include only election workers' expenses, moving and setting up the voting machines, and the printing and advertising notices" in the policy approved November 19.

Previously, the policy called for paying 35 percent.

The Schoolcraft College District is made up of five K-12 districts — Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth-Canton and Northville with a portion of Novi.

College trustee elections are conducted in odd-numbered years on the same day at K-12 trustee elections — the second Monday of June.

The policy would not apply to special elections. Schoolcraft would pay 100 percent of the cost of special elections if calls, and K-12 districts would pay all of their own special election costs.

For culinary arts

Schoolcraft may get building funds

By TIM RICHARD

Despite the state budget cut and the Michigan Legislature's failure to adopt a 1981 budget, Schoolcraft College may get the last installment to build its culinary arts addition.

"While nothing in this world is certain, I do believe we will have it for you," state Senator R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, told trustees last week.

Geake, a former trustee and board chairman at Schoolcraft before his election to the legislature, said, "We have the culinary addition back in the capital outlay bill. We expect to have the bill done and before the governor by December 19.

We are aware of your deadline, and we intend to meet that deadline," said Geake, a member of the appropriations committee.

The deadline is January 1. Two of the three contractors who submitted bids in September for the $1.3 million addition to the Waterman Center agreed to keep their bids open three months so that the community college could get the final installment from the legislature, according to college Vice President Kenneth Lindner.

Cronk & Tocco, Incorporated, at a base bid of $1.26 million, and Walter L. Couse, at a base bid of $1.277 million, agreed to the extension.

The apparent low bidder, DeMaria Building Company at $1.25 million, was unable to extend, Lindner said.

An appropriation in the 1980 budget of $661,000 survived budget cuts by Governor William G. Milliken and scrutiny by the legislative joint capital outlay committee.

Lindner said an earlier version of the 1981 capital outlay bill had allocated only $100,000 for the remainder of the project. But the college's chief business officer said the latest bill has $500,000, "and there's a 75-25 chance we'll get the full amount."

Geake shared credit with Senate Majority Leader William Faust, D-Westland, for guiding the project through the legislature.

Capital outlay was one area of the budget which Governor Milliken slashed most severely as he sought to eliminate $1 billion in a recession year.

Capital outlay was chopped more than 50 percent by the governor.

Trustee Michael Burley asked if it were not traditional for the governor to sign all other budget bills first and save capital outlay for last.

"Yes," Geake replied, "but there are so few items in capital outlay that we need not be concerned."

President C. Nelson Grote added, "We have the full support of the governor — unquestionably — on this project."

The culinary arts addition will go on to the north end of the Waterman Campus Center on the main campus at 18600 Haggerty.

It will enable Schoolcraft to double its enrollment, to 130, in what has been one of its most popular programs. The waiting list for admission is several years long.

Employment prospects are "excellent," with starting salaries at $900 to $1,300 a month, according to a report from Barbara Geil, admissions director.

Culinary arts is an associate degree program (two years). It provides advanced level entrance into food service occupations in the hospitality industry. Schoolcraft graduates are chefs at some of the larger and better restaurants, hotels, country clubs and hospitals in the U.S. and abroad.

Earlier plans to put up a much larger facility, with banquet and meeting rooms, were scrapped after voters repeatedly rejected property tax increase requests in the middle and late 1970s.

Steinhauer receives honor

One of a class of 180 Masons from 11 southeastern Michigan counties receiving the Scottish Rite Freemasonry 32nd degree was Robert F. Steinhauer of 19471 Eddington in Northville.

The class received the degree at the final session of the 289th reunion at the Masonic Temple November 8.

The class was named for the late Pearl H. Doyle, a 33rd degree Mason and former Chrysler Corporation executive, who served as Thrice Potent Master of the Detroit Lodge of Perfection in 1946 and Commander-in-Chief of the Detroit Consistory in 1956. He died on September 6, 1978.

Speaker at the banquet concluding the two-weekend reunion was Jerry C. Rasor, Ohio radio executive and broadcaster and a Past Grand Master of Masons in Ohio.

FISH volunteers assist families

"You just don't realize how fortunate you are until you see some of these families," says Kathy McGuffin of Northville-Novi Fish. "Some of them are really desperate."

Northville-Novi Fish is a community organization that helps provide temporary food supplies, clothing, child care, shelter and transportation when families in need of assistance call the Fish hotline for help. The organization also provides drivers for elderly and home-bound citizens who need help to make doctor appointments, and marshals volunteers to help with handyman tasks for those who can't do the work themselves.

Fish is a completely non-profit organization staffed by approximately 125 volunteers and it depends on donations and assistance from community service groups like the Jaycees, area churches and businesspersons. The group has no fund-raising projects.

McGuffin delivers the supplies to needy families herself, along with another Fish volunteer. All calls to Fish are kept strictly confidential, she says, as are food basket deliveries.

In some cases, dropping off such needed items is a thankless job, she admits. "There will be a couple of families who will be very upset when we show up," she says. "They don't want to accept charity. It's kind of difficult at times because it has to be handled very discreetly."

Despite occasional protests, however, Fish workers believe the work they do is needed. And McGuffin is convinced that outlying areas really need to start up their own Fish programs, too. She says the Novi-Northville chapter answers quite a few calls for help in Walled Lake and has received queries from South Lyon, although that is simply too far for the group to extend its boundaries.

Pure volume indicates Northville-Novi Fish is dealing with a very real presence of economically-troubled families; to date, Fish volunteers have answered more than 825 calls for help this year alone. Last year, they answered more than 400 calls.

As Northville and Novi grow, so do the number of emergency calls, McGuffin explains. And the hard-hitting waves of inflation and unemployment have contributed to keeping Fish volunteers exceptionally busy.

Northville-Novi Fish was especially busy last week during the Thanksgiving holiday and is anticipating hectic weeks during the Christmas season.

Individuals interested in joining Northville-Novi Fish are invited to write Fish, Box 56, Northville or call Fish at 349-4350. The hotline number for needy persons is 455-2000.

Christmas for Kids program

Air center residents' gift wishes

WOMC's Dave Schafer interviews Santa Claus for "Christmas is for Kids"

A special gift-giving program being launched by a nearby radio station this week will bring the joys of Christmas to several hundred mentally retarded people at Plymouth Center for Human Development.

"Christmas is for Kids," the award-winning program sponsored by WOMC-FM radio in Ferndale begins Thursday when the station begins airing taped Christmas wishes of residents at the center.

After each request is aired, listeners will be invited to phone the station at 546-9600 to pledge a specific gift or donation to the person interviewed.

The on-the-air Christmas gift giving program will run through December 12. Developed in 1977 by Dave Schafer, the station's program director, the program has brought Christmas to hundreds of mentally retarded persons in southeast Michigan institutions.

Many of the people are severely retarded and without parents.

Under the program, WOMC and listeners each year "adopt" the residents in one of the four state institutions for the retarded and handicapped in the tri-county area. The program, which involves many months of preliminary work, runs on the air for one week each December.

The hundreds of gifts and thousands of dollars pledged by listeners are presented at a huge Christmas party hosted by the radio station at the selected institution.

This year, Plymouth Center in Northville Township and its 580 residents will be the focus of "Christmas is for Kids." The station's air personalities have interviewed nearly 100 residents and recorded their Christmas wishes. These will be aired during the week and listeners asked to phone the station to pledge a gift, buy it and deliver it to WOMC in Ferndale.

WOMC will collect all the gifts and transport them to the center in time for two Christmas parties December 14 and 17.

All the residents and as many listeners who want to attend will be at the parties.

The program began in 1977 with the Macomb-Oakland Regional Center in Mt. Clemens and raised 400 gifts and $3,000 cash. The Southgate Regional Center followed in 1978 and received 850 gifts and $17,000 in donations from listeners.

The growth of the program spurred well beyond expectations last year, when the focus was Northville Residential Training Center. More than 900 gifts were donated to the 180 residents but the big surprise was the $45,000 raised to build a recreation room at the center.

The station's original goal was to raise $15,000 to refurbish Northville's existing recreation room. But cash donations poured in and architects, contractors and various tradesmen donated materials and manpower to completely revise the facility.

"It was an outpouring of love by individuals and groups for the residents of the center that truly expressed the Christmas spirit," Schafer said. "I've never seen anything like it. The schools made it a class project to help, waitresses donated their tips, service clubs got involved, and employees at all levels of small and large companies pooled their money and made donations."

With the current economic climate in Detroit, matching last year's level of gift giving will be a challenge and the station is looking for more support than ever. However, WOMC and Plymouth Center staff are counting on the Christmas spirit of Detroiters to help prove again that "Christmas is for Kids."

'Annika' is movie by Hines

"Annika," a 20-minute, eight millimeter documentary film by Joseph Hines, will be shown at 8 and 9 p.m. Thursday through Sunday at Colorado Slide Shows, 119 East Liberty, Ann Arbor.

Hines, now a resident of Novi, is a former Northville resident and a 1975 graduate of Northville High School. He received his BS degree in anthropology from University of Michigan in 1975.

The film chronicles a year on the farm, showing the changing seasons. The title is the name of a girl in the film who is the principal human character.

The showing is in a small theater with $1 admission charge.

Hines, an award winner in the 1977 Ann Arbor Super Eight Millimeter Film Festival, has been exploring the potential of eight millimeter film since 1969.

The young filmmaker's interest in this medium began in junior high when he produced his first film. He later spent several months in Peru photographing the people and country.

He plans to begin a graduate program in visual anthropology at the University of South California.

DYING TEETH CAN BE SAVED

Q. What is a root canal treatment?

A. It is a treatment used when the nerve of a tooth dies. The dentist removes the infected tissue from the pulp or nerve chamber of the tooth and replaces it with a non-irritating material. Most infected or abscessed teeth can be saved this way. The only alternative treatment is extraction. Not a very good alternative. Dentists who specialize in this area of dentistry are called endodontists.

Plymouth Symphony plans 'Messiah' sing-along concert

The Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah" will be performed at 4 p.m. this Sunday by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra as a sing-along.

The entire audience will be divided into sections to form a chorus, and specially auditioned soloists will be on stage to fill in solo roles for the performance at Plymouth-Salem High School.

Selecting soloists for the performance of the most popular choral work has been an exciting project, the symphony society reports.

Twenty-seven soloists from a wide area responded to announcements last July.

Professor Johan Van Der Merwe, conductor, had been assigned the sole responsibility for the selection. He says he was delighted with the interest and talent available.

Though all professionals, the soloists are volunteering their services to contribute to the celebration.

Diane Aron Calhoun, soprano, is a Plymouth voice and piano teacher; Betty Madis, alto, has sung with the Robert Shaw Choral for two years and currently is teaching music in the Livonia public schools; William Somers, tenor, has been a paid church soloist for many years in the Fort Wayne area; Russell Beck, bass, a Canton resident, has been singing major roles in shows and oratorios for some years and was associated briefly with the Michigan Opera Theatre.

David Heinzman of Northville is organist for the performance.

Those who wish to listen only also are welcome, the society says, explaining, however, that the concert is intended "to be a happy community celebration wherein people who have not been able to sing this work for years will join together in the excitement of the season."

"Let's forget about polish or subtlety from such a performance, but enthusiasm should carry us through. At one such performance the board wondered if it should construct a special carousel for the conductor."

"It is hard to believe, but it is not a myth that Handel wrote his 'Messiah' in just over two weeks. Anybody looking at the manuscript can see how fast and impatiently the ideas were put on paper. Handel did not bother to erase. He scratched or blotted out. Rapidly making gouges in the paper, he sometimes neglected to put stems on notes."

"The manuscript reveals a composer who wrote an enormous work just as it came from his brain, as fast as he could write it down. Even though it soon became a very popular work, Handel could not have predicted its present popularity," sponsors relate.

At the time, they note, it was assailed by the clergy. Many thought it to be sacrilegious. Other clerics and pious listeners thought that sacred oratorios should not be presented in such sinful surroundings as theaters.

The Plymouth society also notes that Handel would not have been accustomed to the size of such musical forces. A typical performance in his day would have included a very small orchestra with a chorus seldom numbering more than a dozen. But, sponsors add, Handel did like a big sound and would enthusiastically gather as many musicians as he could.

The work is not performed widely in this manner throughout the county, although Ann Arbor and Detroit have been hosting such celebrations for years, as has San Francisco. It is believed that the first such performance occurred under Robert Shaw's direction in 1975 as part of the Cincinnati May Festival.

The society says there now is wide clerical support for the Handel work and two area churches already have declared this the opening of their Christmas season.

Those attending are asked to try to borrow a copy of "The Messiah" if they do not own one as only a limited number of scores are available for sale at $4.25 at the door.

Tickets already are in short supply. It is not certain tickets will be available at the box office but it will be open at 3:50 p.m.

Tickets may be purchased now in Plymouth at Beitner Jewelry, Plymouth Book World and Heide's Flowers.

They are $4 for adults and $2 for senior citizens and full-time college students. Students kindergarten through 12th grade are admitted free. A Girl Scout troop will provide baby sitting for preschoolers during the concert.

The concert is made possible with the support of the State of Michigan through a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts and by a grant from Plymouth Rotary Foundation.

The concert will be in the auditorium of the Plymouth-Salem High School at Joy west of Canton Center.

College sets WISER event

In keeping with the purpose of reaching out and making new friends, the Schoolcraft College and Garden City WISER (widowed in service) groups will hold a combined meeting this month.

An informal potluck dinner will be held at 7 p.m. December 9 in the Nautical Room of Waterman Center at the college.

All area widowed persons are welcome.

Beverages will be furnished, but those who plan to attend are to provide their own tableware and should call Betty Scofield, WISER coordinator, 422-1967, for food contribution assignment.

An elegant choice for women.

A dream comes true

Picture Story

by John Galloway

Six years ago Cathy Ehler took her daughter, Lisa, to see the Nutcracker Suite at Detroit City Ballet.

Today, Lisa is one of the dancers performing with the Michigan Ballet Company, a mid-state regional dance company. Recently, she was seen dancing at Twelve-Oaks Mall in Novi. Twelve-Oaks had excerpts of the Nutcracker Suite performed for passing shoppers, followed by the arrival of Santa Claus.

This is Lisa's first year with the company. After college, she wants to join a professional company dancing and acting.

When asked what prompted the Northville High School sophomore to take up dance, she said, "I express myself better when I dance."

The Nutcracker Suite will be performed December 6 at 2 and 7 p.m. and December 7 at 2 p.m. at Mercy School in Farmington Hills.

35th District

Ground broken for courthouse

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held Monday morning to mark the beginning of construction of a new courthouse for the 35th District.

The million-dollar court structure is being built at Haggerty and Plymouth roads in the City of Plymouth near Riverside Cemetery and Massey Field.

The courthouse, designed by architect Erick Carne of Plymouth, will serve Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township. It will replace the court facilities presently operated in the city halls of Plymouth and Northville.

The move to build a new courthouse was promoted by crowded conditions at the city halls and by Plymouth city administration plans to expand, a project now underway.

Plymouth decided it could spend less on its city hall expansion if the court operation were moved to a separate building.

The two district judges already had put Plymouth on notice that the court was outgrowing the space in city hall and needed more room.

Earlier, an attempt was made to persuade Canton to joint in the effort to build a unified courthouse for five communities, but Canton withdrew and is operating its courtroom from its new township administration building on South Canton Center Road.

James Poole, newly elected supervisor of Canton, reportedly has said he would reconsider the question of whether Canton should be involved with the new courthouse.

Plymouth recently sold the bonds to finance the new courthouse for $1,385,000 to the First National Bank of Plymouth, the only bank to bid on the municipal bonds.

Repayment will be made by the cooperating municipalities using the new courthouse.

Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper said he was pleased First National bid on the bonds because otherwise it would not be possible to begin construction now.

Graper said he was considering transferring city funds from National Bank of Detroit to First National Bank of Plymouth as a return favor for the bond offer.

Presently, Plymouth keeps on deposit about $1.75 million with NBD and some $750,000 with First National.

Danger

Several railroad torpedos — explosives like the one pictured above — were found in the possession of some students at Meads Mill Junior High School November 25 by Principal Ron Horwath. Several 14 and 15-year-olds are believed to be involved, according to township police. The explosives, which police said are powerful enough to blow off a hand or finger, likely were taken from a caboose parked on the railroad tracks near Northville Road just south of Five Mile. Anyone finding additional explosives is asked to contact Sergeant Phil Presnell at 349-9400.

Lieutenant honored

Army Lieutenant Colonel Gary R. Wilson, whose wife Joyce is the daughter of Marie R. Rice of 18400 Jamestown Circle, has been

Township man faces criminal sexual charge

A 32-year-old Northville Township man will face examination on two counts of first degree criminal sexual conduct at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the 35th District Court in Northville.

Michael Arthur Lee of 18607 Innbrook was arrested by township police last week on charges of sexually assaulting the five-year-old daughter of his girlfriend on various occasions between March 1 and March 15.

The incident was brought to the attention of township police in July, according to Sergeant Phillip Presnell. "We have been working with the Kalkaska police since that time," Presnell said.

Police said the victim told a friend about the incident while she was in Kalkaska this summer. The parents then related the story to Kalkaska police who informed Presnell.

Lee currently is being held in Wayne County Jail. Bond is set at $20,000.

Maximum sentence for criminal sexual conduct is life imprisonment.

Historical museum offers circus visit

This weekend may be a good time to "go to the circus."

Plymouth Historical Museum is inviting visitors to view its hand-carved menagerie tent with elephants, lions, camels, giraffes, bears and clowns.

A sideshow tent offers a fat lady, snake charmer, "little people," strong man and others.

Acrobats are on the high-wire, and teams of horses are pulling the callopie around. In the cook tent the cooks are busy and the dining tent is set up and ready for use.

The museum at 155 South Main is open from 1-4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for youth 12-17, and 25 cents for children 5-11.

Special educational tours may be arranged by calling the museum, 455-8940.

Country Christmas Walk set Sunday

Despite a water shut-off on North Center and the closing of Main to through traffic, the Northville Retail Merchants Association will hold its Country Christmas Celebration from noon to 5 p.m. this Sunday.

Northville City Council said Monday that the water shut-off for a final tie-in in the downtown improvement program had been delayed previously for the pre-Thanksgiving Christmas Walk and that it would have to be done Sunday.

City Manager Steve Walters had said he did not feel it would be a great problem and that a lane would remain open on Main.

It was pointed out that there will be ample parking for participants.

A variety of holiday festivities has been planned by both merchants and community members, according to Toni Genitti.

Residents will be treated to an old fashioned Christmas celebration which will include everything from caroling to Christmas shopping.

Most downtown shops will be open from noon to 5 p.m. for those who wish to browse or buy.

Residents also will have a chance to view store and business windows decorated for the holidays.

Some of Sunday's activities will include a Christmas concert from 2-3 p.m. by the Northville Community Band "Caroling Woodwinds" and the First United Methodist Church Sanctuary Choir and Bellringers.

Girl Scout Junior Troop 379 and Brownie Troop 220 will be caroling from 3-4 p.m. and Girl Scout Junior Troop 234 will be singing and playing Christmas carols from 3-5 p.m.

Hot chocolate will be supplied by Northville Kiwanis and gift certificates will be available for lucky participants.

Approximately 90 percent of the merchants will be participating in Sunday's celebration and will remain open from noon to 5 p.m. on Sundays now through Christmas.

Planners okay rezoning land from RM to I-1

An 8.9 acre parcel of land including a portion of Lake Success should be rezoned from RM (multiple-family residential) to I-1 (industrial), Northville Township Planning Commission decided last week.

Acting on a petition from property owner Jack Doheny, the commission voted unanimously to recommend the rezoning for final approval by the board of trustees.

The land was originally zoned industrial but was changed to RM as part of wholesale rezoning of a large acreage for adjoining development.

It is adjacent to Jack L. Doheny Supplies, Inc., situated between Silver Springs Drive and the northern end of Gerald Avenue.

In addition to the lake on its northern edge, the parcel is bounded by undeveloped RM property to the east, industrial use to the south and industrial use in the city to the west. It has 100 foot frontage on Wallis Street.

Township planning consultant Claude Coates, of Villican-Leman and Associates, recommended the rezoning as consistent with general zoning aims in the area.

He noted Doheny's planned construction of warehouses on the site would provide a buffer between eventual multiple-family housing on the east and D. A. Stuart Oil Company's reclamation plant across the boundary with the city to the west.

Engineering consultant William Mosher said the Stuart plant renders Doheny's parcel "unfit for human habitation" due to fumes and unsightly appearance.

Doheny's warehouse project is being considered for backing by the township's Economic Development Corporation (EDC). Assuming the rezoning is approved by the township board, an amount estimated in excess of $1 million would be sought from tax-free bonds issued through the EDC.

Tour Europe with students

With winter on its way and cold weather setting in, planning a summer vacation seems secondary compared to shoveling the driveway and putting snowtires on your car.

However, if spending three weeks in Europe while earning either high school or college credit seems appealing, you may want to put away the shovel and start thinking about warm days on the Riviera.

Northville High School Spanish teacher Emily Serafa-Manshot will be taking a group of students on a three week tour of England, Spain and France this summer.

According to Mrs. Serafa-Manshot the program is open to anyone wishing to earn high school or college credit.

The study program will run from June 29 to July 16 and the total cost, which includes room and board and all travel expenses, is $1,995.

No foreign language skills are required and persons interested should contact Emily Serafa-Manshot at Northville High School at 349-3400, extension 300.

They're singing 'Nativity'

Area residents are among featured singers in a special Christmas presentation, "The Nativity According to St. Luke," to be given at 7 p.m. Sunday at Ward

Presbyterian Church.

Marilyn Pretty will be seen in the role of Elizabeth and Daisy Redmond is Mary in the musical drama by Randall Thompson.

It is a costumed presentation in seven scenes.

The public is invited. The church is located at Six Mile and Farmington roads.

Plan inspirational program

Reservations are being taken now for a "Holiday Splendor" luncheon of Christian Women's Club to be held at noon December 11 at Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth.

The program will feature the Bentley High School Choir and an inspirational talk, "Holiday Priorities," by Sarah Jane Essebaggers, a foster mother of 30.

Luncheon reservations at $6.50 should be made with Dorothy Mowry, 420-0472, or Jo Cone, 477-3825, by Thursday.

A free nursery is provided by reservation also.

Thank bank for bonding

Northville City Council Monday joined the City of Plymouth in thanking First National Bank of Plymouth in making the only bid (straight 10 percent) on bonds to construct the 35th District courthouse in Plymouth.

Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper reported that the bonds were sold November 12 and that the city has moved its accounts to First National Bank of Plymouth.

"We felt the need to go with the bank that was supporting our sale," he stated.

He asked that Northville "join us in thanking First National Bank of Plymouth for supporting us in getting our court facility built."

Thomson Gravel shows reclamation plan

against release of the funds is that there would not be enough left over to do reclamation if the present contractor pulled out," Ashton said. "The fallacy of that is, there will never be enough money in that account if an outside contractor has to come in and move the earth around."

He presented an estimate of $4.5 million to regrade the area if the gravel company were to pull out and leave the property unreclaimed. The only way the earth can be made buildable, he said, is for reclamation to be done as part of the extraction earth moving procedure.

And that, he said, requires a mass grading plan.

"The key to this project at the moment is to come up with a mass grading plan needed to come up with either this development or something similar," Bills explained. "As the extraction process continues, the grading plan will enable the company to move earth toward this goal instead of spreading it around willy-nilly and having to move it two or three times."

Bills showed the board a slide of the current Highland Lakes development, also constructed on reclaimed gravel extraction land, and noted that the Thomson plan is for single family homes in its current R-2 zoning class while Highland Lakes is a multiple development.

"I feel the Thomson site has much more potential for attractive development than did the Highland Lakes site," Bills said. Bills/Childs Associates is best known for its Michiway development near Gaylord in the upper lower peninsula of the state.

Consideration was given in the planning stages to allow some development to proceed in reclaimed areas while extraction continues in others. The Thomsons foresee at least another decade of profitable mining on the site.

Initial development would probably be the cluster housing along Six Mile and Ridge Roads, where grading is nearly complete already. Bills and Ashton said planning should be done now so that when the housing market revives development can proceed immediately.

The board voted to accept the plan as fulfilling the requirements of the license. It also set a January 12 meeting date for a decision of the requested release of escrow monies, as the board wished to consult with the township attorney about the contract provisions in that regard.

and carbon monoxide are measured while the vehicle is operating at idle. Three sets of standards are organized according to model years: 1972-74 (least stringent); 1975-80; and 1981 and newer. The last will be the most stringent.

If a vehicle fails a test, the testing station must present the vehicle owner with a notification of failure. It must include actual results and needed repairs to correct the excessive emission.

Testing stations will be able to charge no more than $10 for an inspection. They can give inspections at no charge. Repair cost limit will be $50 in 1981. After that, it will be adjusted to account for inflation.

The proposed rules must be approved by the Secretary of State and are then subject to review by the Legislative Services Bureau and the attorney general. Following this, they are to be submitted to the Joint Legislative Committee on Administrative Rules for approval. The law requires that the committee receive the rules by January 1, 1981.

The rules also are subject to approval by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. If the proposed rules are passed, a mandatory vehicle emissions inspection and maintenance program is scheduled to begin in October, 1981.

The state is under obligation to begin the program as the Federal Department of Transportation can withhold some highway funds (not interstate) if a state does not institute such a program.

City offers loan, but with interest

A loan of the $10,000 needed by the Northville Community Recreation Commission to continue operation of the community center building until January was offered by Northville City Council Monday night.

In October the recreation commission, a joint city-township operation, had indicated the need for funds until late January when anticipated registration fees are collected. Original request was $5,000 from the city and a like amount from the township.

The township's own cash-flow problem made it impossible to make the commitment at the township board meeting November 20. In a letter to City Manager Steven Walters, Susan Heintz, new township clerk, explained that the township's own problem is concurrent with the recreation department's.

"The township is also currently undergoing a cash-flow problem due in large part to the delay and possible reduction of state revenue sharing," said Heintz.

Therefore, the city manager recommended to the council that it offer to make the loan of the entire amount.

By unanimous action the council voted to offer the loan "subject to acceptance by the Northville Recreation Commission at the usual interest rate (the rate the city would have received from normal investment during the same period) to be repaid not later than February 28, 1981."

Had the loan been shared by the city and township there would have been no interest expense.

Walters recommended that the city charge the normal interest rate in order not to cause the city a burden by carrying it itself.

In October the recreation commission explained that its financial difficulties stemmed from imperative renovations and operating expenses of the Community Center on West Main where the gymnasium is used for indoor recreation activities.

Renovation expenses had included a new gym floor, roof repairs, boiler and heating system repairs, a general clean-up and painting.

Rentals, the commission said, had not kept up with expenses.

Ed Kricitz, recreation director, told the council the department had been in the building a year. "We've learned a lot, but we knew it would take time to get on our feet."

He indicated that all rental rates for use of the building and fees were being raised. He also told council that janitorial services had been cut in an effort to stop the outward cash-flow.

INSTALLED — Daniel A. Sewesky of Canton Township was named Grand Commander of Manresa Caravan 217, Order of Alhambra recently. He will lead the Northville-based caravan for the coming year in its programs assisting the retarded.

Holiday decorated windows win chamber awards

One of the main attractions of Northville's annual Christmas Walk, which brought hundreds of residents to the downtown area November 23, was the third annual window decorating contest.

was excellent, according to Executive Director Kay Keegan. In fact, there were so many participants that judges had a difficult time choosing the winners.

bons and ornaments, brightly wrapped packages and wooden nutcrackers fill the windows of storefronts and businesses along Northville's downtown streets.

Winners in the contest were chosen in the categories of clothing and shoes, general merchandise (jewelry, drugs, furniture and needlework), services (travel and grocery) professional (realtors, banks and insurance) and gifts, florists and decorating.

First, second and honorable mention were given in each of the five categories.

The Marquis Boutique took first place in the clothing and shoes classification with the Little People Shoppe placing second and Lapham's Men's Shop earning honorable mention.

In the gifts, florists and decorating classification, IV Seasons captured first, Gifts by Marison second and honorable mention went to V Seasons.

In the services grouping, Travel Plans was first, the newly opened Holloway Bakery second and Fox Photos honorable mention.

First place in the professional category went to Bruce Roy Realty with Carl Johnson Real Estate second and the Community Credit Union taking honorable mention.

In the general classification, Village Needlepoint placed first, Long's Fancy

Bath Boutique second and Traditional Handcrafts took honorable mention.

Windows were judged in three areas — overall theme and appropriateness, best use of color; and best use of merchandise sold by the merchant.

This year's judges were Mayor and Mrs. Paul Vernon and Marian Wullschlager, a fashion coordinator from the Los Angeles area who was visiting Northville.

For those who may have missed the annual walk, windows will be decorated through Christmas.

Fox Photos took an honorable mention with its holiday window display

600,000 evergreens available

Take a saw along to 'cut your own' at area tree farms

For thousands of families, a drive to one of Michigan's 62 cut-your-own Christmas tree farms is as much a part of the holiday season as singing carols and drinking eggnog.

"Hearing the excited voices of children among rows of evergreens as they search for that perfect tree is enough to get anyone into a holiday mood," said Joseph Ratke, manager of Auto Club Touring.

This season, cut-it-yourselfers may select from more than 600,000 evergreens and more than a dozen varieties at farms listed on Auto Club's 1980 guide.

Prices start at $3 for Scotch pines to $30 for blue spruce and $25 for Douglas fir. Eight farms sell trees by the foot, varying from $1.25 to $3, depending on the variety.

Sizes can range from foot-tall, transplantable potted trees perfect for children's rooms, to shaped, room-size Austrian, French and Japanese pines and the white pine, Michigan's state tree (A few have flocked trees, sprayed with a snowy coating).

"Forty-six farms also offer pines up to 30 feet tall for churches and commercial buildings," Ratke added.

At many farms, children can see, feed or pet everything from ducks and hogs to horses, and enjoy free treats like popcorn balls and hot cider. Some farms even feature visits by Santa Claus.

"Christmas shoppers can buy hand-made crafts or Early American style toys at Christmas Tree Lane near Grass Lake, Mathes Evergreens near Ida and Evergreen Farm at Montrose," Ratke added.

Arend tree farm near Chelsea and Brooklyn give each family a potted blue spruce seedling. Duddles Farm near Reed City sells its own maple syrup and Swan Creek Farm near St. Charles hands out free tree preservative. It also offers pre-paid, or reserved trees, a service found at 22 other farms.

Nearly half will wrap branches with twine for easy transport while some will mechanically clean trees of dead needles and other debris.

If planning a trip to choose-and-cut farm this season, Auto Club of Michigan suggests these tips:

- Bring a hand saw. Most farms lend saws but they could be in use, especially on weekends. Axes are banned.
- When choosing, remember that most pines and Douglas firs hold needles, and spruces and balsams shed quickly if not cared for properly.
- After deciding on a tree, saw the trunk close to the ground.
- Although most farms have twine to tie trees to cars, bring rope just in case. Tie the tree's base at the front of the car.
- Store trees in a bucket of water in a cool area. Before placing in a stand, diagonally cut an inch or two off the base to help the tree absorb water. Fill the stand with water daily.
- Avoid placing trees near heating ducts or open flames.
- Before decorating, always check tree light for bare wires and make sure electrical outlets won't be overloaded.

Councilman Gardner asked for a review of the bond obligations for the library funding.

The City Manager explained the obligation per year.

Councilman DeRusha mentioned the City is in a tight fiscal year and if we can take care of an item in our budget with this, it would give us more money to use in our budget the following year. He suggested the money freed up from the bond payment could be used for other items.

Councilman Gardner asked if the money has to be used in the same year as given.

The City Manager explained that normally it is used up within a two-year cycle. His suggestion was to complete the Ford Field improvements with $60,000 and the Downtown improvements with the rest of $60,000 to retire the Library bonds. WHEREAS, the Bible continues to be the world's best seller, yet millions of Americans remain ignorant of its teachings; and

WHEREAS, this ignorance and the rise of secular humanism have blunted the influence of the Bible in shaping morals and values; and

WHEREAS, there is great need for a recovery of the teachings of the Bible, especially the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount;

Vernon, Mayor of the City of Northville do hereby proclaim November 23-30, 1980 as Bible Week in Northville and urge all citizens to participate in this annual interfaith observance by reading the Bible and developing a study program to become familiar with its teachings and principles.

HB4611: The Legislative Action Letter from the Michigan Municipal League asked for strong opposition from all municipal officials to two bills. The first bill, HB4611, the anti-annexation bill, which, in their opinion, puts severe limits on the ability of the Boundary Commission to act.

Discussion on HB4611 followed.

The City Attorney stated there was nothing wrong with the present legislation, that HB4611 was no improvement. He suggested opposing the whole bill.

HB5606: This bill would increase the unemployment benefits from $136 per week maximum to $216 and continue to increase along with the state average weekly wage. It was noted that the maximum employer contribution rate for unemployment compensation in Michigan is 8.5%, whereas the maximum in surrounding states is significantly lower: Ohio 4.5%, Indiana 3.2%, Illinois 5.3%, and Pennsylvania 4%. Michigan. Maybe we should be selling the idea that Michigan has a basically sound tax structure" were alarming because, at least in Northville, there definitely is a tax revolt. He stated reasons why the Tisch Amendment was not supported but that there is an urgent need for the Executive and Legislative Branch to immediately begin work to design a property tax reform plan that would answer the request of nearly half of the voters in the recent election.

Mayor Vernon attached a copy of resolution which would be presented to Council for adoption.

Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman Johnston to authorize the City Attorney to hand deliver a resolution and proposed plan to the Wayne County Road Commission.

He explained that Mr. Newman is proposing that the City obtain right-of-way from the Wayne County Road Commission for a road immediately south of the existing road on Edward Hines Parkway property, and allow the Northville Laboratory parking to expand on the existing Rural Hill Drive. Mr. Newman would construct the new road which would serve as the cemetery entrance with a landscaped berm physically separating the road from the Lab activity.

The City Manager explained this would have to be worked out with the Wayne County Road Commission.

Discussion on the proposal followed.

Councilman DeRusha stated he would like to see the City have an agreement in writing with Northville Lab to verify Mr. Newman's architect's dimensions, unless the City is going to be reimbursed for our costs. He stated Mr. Newman would be getting an expansion of his property.

Mayor Vernon stated he understood what Councilman

DeRusha was saying, that the City should not be involved financially in this project.

The City Attorney suggested adopting a resolution spelling out existing problems and state the City feels it is in the best interest of the City to relocate Rural Hill Drive and deed over to the City the west 40' of the right-of-way from Wayne County.

He also commented that the Major Street fund may be $5,000 or $6,000 lower. He thought Council may want to discuss the budget at the meeting of December 15 and further budget reductions. He stated he did not know how the Governor would distribute the State's tax cuts and mentioned a meeting on Sunday at Schoolcraft College with legislators to discuss this.

Another thing the City Manager commented is would the State delay the permutum tax money which the City should get their first payment in December.

SEMCOG report shows need to diversify industry

With the auto industry still reeling from the second major economic slump since 1974, development of a diversified job-base in southeast Michigan has taken on greater urgency.

The total number of jobs in the seven counties of southeast Michigan increased between 1970 and 1977. But the number of manufacturing jobs declined, according to the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

SEMCOG has recently drawn a summary profile of the region. The manufacturing decline has meant increased unemployment and a shift to more non-manufacturing, lower-paying service sector jobs.

"There's been a switch from great reliance on manufacturing jobs to that of the service sector," noted SEMCOG Executive Director Michael Glusac.

In 1970, manufacturing provided about 51 percent of the region's jobs, according to the SEMCOG report. By 1977, manufacturing jobs dipped to 46 percent of jobs regionally. During the same period, non-manufacturing jobs increased from 29 to 33 percent of the region's job base.

While there's no question the auto industry remains the region's largest job provider for the foreseeable future, it's not expected to return to pre-recession employment levels.

Two new automated plants are planned for early 1980s production in Oakland County and central Detroit, but they will be replacing old, out-moded facilities.

"We see (manufacturing jobs) as being a declining portion," said Daniel Luria of the UAW's Research Department. But the union hasn't made any estimates of the loss, he added.

A recent study co-sponsored by the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce identified six industries "that have the best shot at surviving other than the auto industry," according to Arthur Saltzman, the chamber's vice president for economic development.

The study was conducted by two Wayne State University economics professors. Their criteria included average wages paid, the type of skilled work force needed, capital investment required and product demand.

The industries given the best chance at survival include:

- Meat packing
- Manufacture of plastics materials and resins
- Industrial and organic chemicals
- Farm machinery and equipment
- Electronics and computer equipment

"None of these industries is particularly labor intensive," said Saltzman. "You've got to be in the service industry for that. These are mostly capital intensive industries."

Diversification of the region's industrial base is "absolutely essential," according to Glusac, "so we don't live or die on the auto industry."

Achieving a mix will be difficult, however.

First, there's competition with other urban areas of the country, he said.

"So much of the decision comes from the private sector. They decide whether they'll make widgets in southeast Michigan rather than down South."

"The auto industry itself has diversified its locations" since the post World War II years, said Glusac, from a concentration of plants in the industrial midwest to the South and West.

IF you're between 50 and 75 and you've been denied life insurance protection because of your health, then you should know about a new plan offered by National Life...

GOOD TIME FOR WINE

Sometimes the magic of the grape does not work as well as it should. As a result, winemakers have developed ways to make their wines taste better. For example, an 18th century Italian winemaker felt that his wine was too bitter. He figured that he would add something sweet, something called Artemisia absinthium (Wormwood) and let it steep. The result was quite refreshing and the Germans especially liked it. They called it Wermut, their name for herb wormwood. So, Vermouth was born.

Our name is synonymous with good service and a complete stock of wines, beers and liquors. For all your needs come to us at GOOD TIME PARTY STORE, 567 Seven Mile Road, 349-1477. Our opinions

Sky Train

The costly scheme for a short subway system along the Woodward corridor is not one of our favorite projects. As a matter of fact we cheered our state representative, Jack Kirksey, for refusing to cave in to legislative blackmail when preliminary financing of this boondoggle came to a vote earlier this year.

Since then a host of officials and agencies have climbed aboard the subway special in an attempt to drive home a need while ignoring cost. Not so the Oakland County Road Commission.

The commission has passed along an interesting article in Passenger Transport, "the weekly newspaper of the transit community," which hails the cable-suspended transit system planned in New Orleans.

"Does the system depicted in the article remind you of anything?" asks the commission. "Sure it does. Early in 1980, the Oakland County Road Commission suggested for the Detroit metropolitan area the exact same alternative to SEMTA's (Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority) expensive hole in the ground. We called it 'Sky Train'.

Two steps back?

Although we probably will be accused of having little empathy for retarded children, we nevertheless have misgivings about approved use of $4.2 million to renovate buildings at the Plymouth Center for Human Development and about the new "group home" philosophy.

Purpose of the renovations, we are told, is to correct code deficiencies by providing privacy in toilet and bathing facilities, and making the buildings accessible to handicapped residents.

It doesn't make much sense to us to pump millions of dollars into the Plymouth Center when, given the court order to phase out the facility, the state buildings on this Northville Township campus have such an uncertain future.

Indeed, we wouldn't be surprised that by the time the renovations have been completed the closing of Plymouth Center will have been ordered. Then, just about the time the last building has been abandoned, we'll probably learn about plans for new institutional buildings.

What we have, it seems, is one agency of government saying retarded children should be removed from the institutional setting while another says the institutional setting must be improved.

"We noted in February, 1980: 'SEMTA is planning to put $800 million into a subway and conventional light rail that would stop at 10 Mile Road. For that amount of money, Sky Train could be built all the way to Pontiac... Sky Train could provide twice as much rapid transit, at half the cost, in one fifth the time.'

The proposal, recalls the commission, drew strong protests by SEMTA and other subway proponents who successfully blocked serious consideration of an aerial system by painting it as an atrocious, community dividing Chinese wall.

Referring to the New Orleans article and drawings, the Oakland Commission says Sky Train obviously is not an abhorrent wall. It requires ground support only once every three blocks, and its superstructure of suspension cables would cause scarcely a shadow to divide the community.

"Sky Train is flexible, affordable, buildable, serviceable and neighborly," insists the commission, which suggests that either SEMTA must drop its subway plan "or rational public officials must exert responsible constraint by getting out of SEMTA and building 'Sky Train' themselves."

It makes us wonder sometimes if one hand of government knows what the other is doing; worse, if one even gives a hoot what the other is doing.

Frankly, we're not all that convinced that Plymouth Center and similar state institutions, if properly operated, should be abandoned. Yesterday, the experts said good institutions were the answer; today, the experts say institutions are bad and should be replaced by group homes; tomorrow, who knows where the experts' pendulum will stop?

The group home concept, currently the "in-way" to aid our handicapped, could prove to be a costly mistake. For example, does the mental health department know the financial impact its group home experiment will have on the education department and local school districts?

More importantly, have the mental health and education departments assessed the potential educational losses for mentally retarded children?

It is altogether possible that in our haste to buy the "group home" philosophy now advocated by the experts, we may be trying take a step forward while actually taking two steps backwards.

Speaking for Myself

Does Christmas come too early?

JUDY HANSON

YES

Is Christmas commercialized too early? Yes, and part of the answer is seen in the early advertisement of Christmas — hundreds of Christmas gift ideas on television in September, decorations and holiday music in department stores in October and Santa Claus visiting the shopping malls before the traditional start of the holiday season after Thanksgiving Day.

The holiday season is starting so early now that you get the post-Mastercharge-holiday-blues before the holidays actually arrive. Although I must say the one advantage in advertising Christmas early is that children have extra time to compose their Christmas lists and remind the real Santa (for months and months) of just what they want.

There is nothing wrong with advertising Christmas, but it should be done in the true sense of the holiday's meaning. Through advertising, retailers are accomplishing their goal of making big profits by using the most important day of the year to their advantage. Christmas has become a business and managing a business for profit is the definition of the word "commercialized."

It is disheartening to see the basic beliefs and traditions that form our families disappearing; but it is frightening to see that the memory of the sacred birth of Jesus Christ is being threatened.

It is more important — and rewarding — to possess the spirit of Christmas than all the electronic games money can buy.

Steve Long

NO

Perhaps it is a shock to walk into a department store, your kitchen still a mess from carving your Halloween pumpkin, and be confronted with the first signs of Christmas, but I can think of many shocks that would be worse.

Christmas is a time when almost everyone can feel unity and good cheer. A time when old friends and relatives, who perhaps haven't been together in a long time, will be able to become reacquainted.

We enjoy a time of celebration and warm feelings that spread throughout the world at this time of the year. Even non-Christian homes are touched with that spirit during the holiday season. If people try to maintain a positive attitude and enjoy this time of giving, which is even more important during these times of turmoil in our country and other nations, we can spread that feeling even further and enhance its warming effect.

Trends in the United States during recent years have been toward separatism; "do your own thing" has become a common attitude and it's obvious that feelings of unity, both on a broad national scale and within the family unit, have suffered.

With our country in the state it now finds itself, I would like to see more people ignore the unpleasant commercialism of Christmas and instead focus in on the good feelings: cooperation and unity.

Christmas promotes these feelings, and I don't think it can come soon enough.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Our American vocabulary is so fickle that by the time my kids introduce me to a new word it's already dead.

Yesterday the word pig, as in "she's a pig," had a negative connotation; today the word pig is positive, as in "pig out." Who knows what it will mean tomorrow?

I've been giving the matter a good deal of thought lately, agonizing over the butchering of this respectable word (and others), and I've concluded that most of us, not just the kids, are party to the vocabulary revolution. Just last week in this column I used the word pits, as in "it's the pits," thus dishonoring a plum word.

Nowhere, perhaps, is the revolution more apparent than in newspapering. When I broke into this field, a pig was a heavy chunk of lead, devils were staffers who put together our metal pages, and when one of those inky devils gave us a pie or left a key on the bed the boss fumed and threatened the ax.

And if a recognized word did not exist, a new one was coined. For example, former boss Bill Sliger introduced me to something he called a "dibble." Today we call it a news brief.

Today instead of devils we've got keyliners; instead of typesetter we've got VDT and VDT carriers (no, it isn't a social disease); and instead of pigs we've got hard-copy.

Frankly, I still feel more comfortable with our old butchered language than with the cannibalized, computerized variety.

Take the word "kill," for example. In olden days there was no mistaking this word. It suggested abrupt, irreversible death. To kill a story or an ad, therefore, meant dispatching it permanently. Nowadays if we kill a story we are sending it to a sort of computer purgatory from which it can be retrieved and revived. To permanently zap it we "initialize" it.

Yup, our vocabulary is so fickle a word's initialized before I know it.

State police earn citizen's support

To the Editor:

A couple of weeks ago I saw the "60 Minutes" television show on police chases, and how it often causes injury to uninvolved citizens. I saw the editorials in our local papers with people's opinions on what the police should do. I became more curious on what police really do, and this past weekend I received the opportunity to ride with some State Troopers.

This occurred on the afternoon of Saturday, November 15. The troopers were Vicki Moreau and Greg Bristol, who work at the Northville Post. Their assigned patrol area was Plymouth and Canton townships.

I wasn't quite sure what to expect, but what happened was something I never would have imagined. The first few hours were very routine (so I was told.) It involved stopping speeders, car assists, and follow-up investigation on a breaking and entering complaint.

This routine changed when we were dispatched to assist another patrol car involved in a chase. The fleeing driver was driving the wrong way on I-275, cutting the median, and eventually getting away from them near Ann Arbor Road. Trooper Moreau saw this car near Six Mile and Haggerty roads. She attempted to stop the vehicle with lights and siren, but the vehicle again fled driving the wrong way on I-275.

The next 10 minutes are the most terrifying, yet enlightening minutes of my life. In approximately five miles, the fleeing driver drove the wrong way on all major roads and ramps we traveled. Often he drove sideways down roads, through medians, over poles, through fences, numerous fields, and often directly head on at other vehicles, including ours. He even drove along the I-275 bike path next to Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

I can't believe how close I and countless other citizens came to be seriously injured if not killed that night. This crazy driver showed total disregard for everyone's lives, both prior to and during the chase.

The question is asked, "Should these Troopers have continued the pursuit?"

In my opinion, the troopers' presence no doubt saved many lives. Trooper Vicki Moreau's exceptional driving skills and quick thinking saved all our lives.

Trooper Greg Bristol should also be commended on the fine job he did by shooting two of the fleeing car's tires out, and eventually bringing that vehicle to a stop. Granted these troopers are trained and expected to act in this type of a situation, but the sad part is when they do react, they receive nothing but criticism. They had nothing to gain, but their lives to lose.

Trooper Bristol is one of the troopers soon to be laid off by Governor Milliken in January. In fact, the Northville Post may lose up to 15 troopers. This terrifies me after what I experienced on that Saturday night.

The governor laid off 80 troopers a couple of months ago and said that no more would be cut. Now he is going to lay off over 100 more, and we the citizens of Michigan are the ones who are going to be left unprotected.

When police officers do exceptional work that saves people's lives, they should be supported by the public they serve. I am urging other citizens who saw this incident, or any other incident involving exceptional police work, to come forth and let their supervisors know what an excellent job they are doing.

These police officers need our support!

Sincerely,
Teri Vanderhyde

Thanks, and corrects

To the Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to publicly thank the members of the Township Wage and Salary Review Commission who gave many hours of their time. They are Larry Vander-Molen, E. Fred Peterson, Susan Heintz, Richard Allen, Jerry Spencer, Ron Martin and Robert Prom. In order to develop sound government it takes the continued support and action of people such as these who are willing to give their time to build a stronger community.

I would also like to clear up one minor item in your article on the "New board confronts budget woes" (November 26). The article mentioned that I am an accountant for the Ford Motor Company, however, I am not one of "Ford's Better Ideas," instead I bear "G.M.'s Mark of Excellence."

Budget cuts knee-jerk

To the Editor:

At long last there seems to be near-universal agreement in Lansing that the state's budget should be cut. However, there is another equally important issue: what should be cut.

I feel the cuts proposed by Governor Milliken are knee-jerk, "cut services — not staff" reactions intended to preserve the bureaucracy at all costs.

And it is only natural that that is the approach when you look at those who made the budget cut decisions: bureaucrats whose basic instinct is to preserve bureaucracy. Again, at all costs.

Why else would they propose laying off hundreds of personnel who care directly for mental patients while maintaining the central administrative staff in Lansing?

Why else does Milliken want to close parks and campgrounds and lay off park rangers and lifeguards, while keeping intact the Department of Natural Resources' state office? Milliken even recommended increasing the DNR public relations staff's budget up to $2.5 million! What a sense of priorities: punish the public by closing parks but hire more high-paid image-makers to promote a resource that is no longer available.

Nowhere is this more apparent than in his attitude toward the welfare system. Milliken wants to cut 10 percent off the amount people on General Assistance receive. Instead, why not clean up the system, getting rid of all those not deserving? His proposal slowly strangles all recipients — deserving or not.

In addition, Milliken's solution to the unemployment crisis in Michigan is to hire 28 new persons to work as "placement specialists." We currently have more than 14,000 employees of the Department of Social Services and 6,100 employees of the Michigan Employment Securities Commission. How on earth could 28 new employees accomplish something 20,100 have been unable to do?

The Milliken cuts show his lingering faith in the Lansing bureaucracy. Just give them a little more money, a few more experts, and they'll solve all our problems for us.

Governor Milliken still doesn't understand what the Michigan people already know: the Lansing bureaucracy is not the solution — it's part of the problem.

Sincerely,
Richard Fitzpatrick

HOWELL — City and township officials of Howell clashed at a State Boundary Commission hearing over two petitions to annex to the city about 125 acres of land from the township.

BRIGHTON — "I realize that we're limited by dollar amount," Brighton Mayor David Gregory said, "but I'd like to believe we're not limited by creative skill." With that, a Troy architectural firm was directed by the city council to come up with alternatives for the proposed municipal facilities complex.

GREEN OAK — Former Township Supervisor Edward Janicki was voted out as Green Oak Township's chief assessor and now the municipality's new supervisor, Ronald Niece, is grappling with the problem of how to provide essential assessing.

SOUTH LYON — The possible ouster of School Superintendent Jack Meeder appears to be gaining ground here although board officials deny that an agreement to buy-out Meeder's contract exists. No official action has been taken, although the superintendent's lawyer and the board's attorney admittedly have met to discuss the matter.

SOUTH LYON — The battle to get Harper-Grace Hospital to support a 24-hour ambulatory care facility here is looking gloomier but that does not mean the overall war to build support for such a facility is over, according to Dr. Marilyn Saunderson, a South Lyon physician who has been the main thrust behind the idea to build the facility.

NOVI — Statewide budget blues are bad news for the budgetary picture to both the City of Novi and Novi Schools, but local officials still are uncertain exactly how bad the situation is.

NOVI — A jury has found William W. Curtner, 28, of Novi, innocent in connection with the January shooting death of his roommate.

NOVI — Novi's new master plan, which has not yet been officially adopted, is already facing its first WALLED LAKE — City Manager J. Michael Dornan eagerly grabbed "the tiger by the tail" during his first city council meeting by requesting the development of city goals for the upcoming year.

WIXOM — A Wixom developer has said he will request an investigation of alleged irregularities in the Wixom Building Department through the State Department of Labor — Bureau of Construction Codes.

WALLED LAKE — The Michigan Department of Civil Rights (MDCR) is investigating charges that Walled Lake sexually discriminated against a woman who applied for a position in the city's department of public works.

NOVI — Who will be the next city attorney in Wixom? One possibility is Emery Jacques of Northville who has asked to be considered as the replacement for Harold Bulgarelli, who resigned December 1 to prepare for his new position as district court judge.

MILFORD — Huron Valley School Superintendent Clifford Scherer gave board of education members the bad news that the local school district could be in the red by the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1981.

MILFORD — Milford Village Councilman John Riley has asked the council to support a resolution asking for a Michigan Attorney General's opinion on whether the council conformed to the state's Open Meeting Act during a discussion of an industrial park at a special meeting.

MILFORD — Negotiations have been underway between Henry Ford Hospital officials and Hector Chabut, administrator of the Huron Valley Medical Center, to have Henry Ford permanently take over management of the center, but apparently the negotiations have been permanently broken off.

MILFORD — William Young, chairman of the Milford Historical District Study Committee, blasted the village council for its recent decision to exclude Milford Township residents from a nine-member group charged with studying the possibility of creating a historic district and ordinance.

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

The Michigan Senate found itself thrust into the foreign policy arena last week when a South African investment bill reached the senate floor for debate.

The measure (House Bill 5446) prohibits the state from depositing any surplus funds in state or federally-chartered banks making loans to the Republic of South Africa or to corporations, their subsidiaries or affiliates doing business in South Africa.

More specifically, the legislation forbids the state from depositing the money in a financial institution which "encourages or condones legally required discrimination against an individual on the basis of race or color" by loaning money to South Africa, South African corporations or any corporation doing business in South Africa.

The bill would take effect July 4, 1982, and cover financial institutions making or renewing loans after that date.

Why has the Michigan Legislature involved itself in this particular issue? Considerable controversy exists over the role U.S. corporations play in the economy of the Republic of South Africa.

It is a country which continues to promote the principle of white-supremacy through its laws and social structure by discriminating against non-whites in such a way as to keep them politically disenfranchised and economically disadvantaged.

Reportedly there are about 350 American companies operating in South Africa. They have an aggregate investment estimated at between $1.5 and $1.75 billion. In addition, bank loans and credits in the amount of $2 billion have been made with many of these loans going directly to the South African government.

There are several Michigan-based firms with affiliate or subsidiary operations in South Africa, including the Big Four auto makers. Also, five different Michigan banks have made loans to South Africa.

There are those who believe that this American investment, rather than helping to break down the racist legal structure, actually bolsters the system by strengthening the South African economy.

While I am always somewhat reluctant to involve state government in foreign policies, I supported this legislation because I strongly believe we have an obligation to do what we can to encourage respect for human rights of the majority of the people of South Africa.

There is a conspicuous lack of freedom in South Africa for the 85 percent of the population which is non-white as the result of years of calculated and deliberated legislation enacted by those representing only the 15 percent of the population which is white.

By passing this legislation, it is my belief that by applying symbolic sanctions through the prohibition of surplus state funds being deposited in banks which make or maintain loans to South Africa, its national corporations, or subsidiaries or affiliates of U.S. firms operating in South Africa, the people of Michigan could contribute effectively to bringing about change in South Africa from the outside.

Assessments unchanged, but total's up

Annual tax bills mailed to city, township residents

Along with Christmas catalogues and enticing ads for gift giving, both city and township residents are receiving their year-end tax bills.

Northville Township's annual bill went in the mail last Wednesday and the city's billing went out Monday.

The city bills are for county and school taxes only. A separate bill for city taxes is sent each July 1 to be paid by August 31.

The amounts on the bottom line are higher, despite Headlee rollbacks.

Increased taxes are entirely due to increased property valuations, as no increased rates are reflected in the statements. Some rates actually decreased as millage rollbacks were demanding by the Headlee amendment to prevent actual taxes from rising faster than inflation.

While Headlee rolled back school tax rates from 42.03 mills in 1979 to 41.19 mills for 1980, the State Equalization

Factor used in computing state equalized valuations (SEV) sent totals up.

One mill of tax equals $1 per $1,000 of SEV.

Since the city is situated in both Oakland and Wayne counties, two different factors were used in computing local residents' bills, the treasurer's office explains.

Because assessed values of homes in the Oakland county portion of the city were considered higher than those in Wayne, the factor was changed. Last year in Wayne County it was 1.31 and this year is 1.58. Last year's Oakland County portion was 1.06. It now is 1.23.

In the township, all of which is in Wayne County, the factor rose 15.2 percent — from 1.9 last year to 2.19 this year.

The valuation increase is partially offset by school system Headlee rollbacks of 2.7 percent. Total Northville schools' millage, including the special education millage shared by other communities using that portion of the system, in the township is 54.03, down from last year's 55.55. Part of the township is served by Plymouth schools, where the 52.22 mill levy is slightly below the 52.50 rate of 1979.

Total mills in Wayne part of the city is 66.48 compared to 68.81 in 1979. Oakland County portion of the city totals 63.84 mills as compared to 66.39 in 1979.

School and township taxes officially became due December 1.

In the city, school and county taxes may be paid locally until March 1. Then unpaid taxes must be sent directly to the county treasurer.

Township residents have a one percent collection fee separately itemized on their bills. City fees, the treasurer's office says, do not have a separate charge.

Township bills and the one percent collection fee are payable without penalty to the township treasurer without penalty through February 14, 1981. Beginning February 15, an additional three percent collection fee will be added.

The township board of trustees has voted to extend the payment deadline until February 28 in years past, but whether such an extension will be made this year is as yet undecided.

Beginning March 1, 1981, real property township taxes can be paid only to Wayne County Treasurer Raymond J. Wojtowicz at the city-county building in Detroit. In addition to a four percent collection fee a one percent per month interest rate, an increase over last year's .75 percent per month late pay penalty, will be computed from March 1.

Personal property taxes after March 1 must be paid at the township treasurer's office in township hall with the four percent collection fee and the one percent interest penalty added.

Township taxes may be mailed or paid at the township hall or at either Manufacturers' Six Mile and Winchester branch or Main Street branch. No other banks or branch offices are authorized.

Presently, city school taxes may be mailed or paid at the city hall or at Manufacturers Bank.

Chef Janes flavors food with humor

By JEANDAY

Larry Janes — by his own definition — is a food artist who likes to play in the kitchen.

Because he admits that he finds (just like the rest of us) that the hardest part of creating an omelette "is getting it on to the plate," he's a chef with whom women have an easy rapport.

Janes, who received his associate degree in Schoolcraft College's culinary arts program 1969, makes common-sense cooking suggestions as he demonstrates his recipes.

In a talk-demonstration at Northville Woman's Club's November 21 meeting at First Presbyterian Church Janes prepared a basic omelette, French onion soup (the easy way) and brandied apples.

"It's worth getting good pans," Janes recommended, suggesting a cast iron pan, not a Teflon one, for omelette making.

"What you have to remember about any seasoned pan is never to wash it — clean it out with salt."

Any new cast iron pan, he said, should be filled with vegetable oil and baked in an oven at 300 to 325 degrees for an hour and a half. Then it should be removed and allowed to cool.

Here is his basic omelette recipe with Janes' comments that make the difference in gourmet cooking:

BASIC OMELETTE

2 eggs
2 tsp. water
2 drops tabasco
1 Tbsp. butter
dash salt

Break eggs into small bowl — "Always use room temperature eggs, or warm them under tap water as they mix more readily."

Add water, salt, tabasco — "Don't add milk to eggs."

Beat with a fork until just blended, about 20 seconds.

Place butter into well seasoned pan. Over moderate high heat, rotate pan to distribute butter.

When butter has stopped foaming — "just before it turns brown" — pour eggs into pan. Allow to set for a second, then tilt the pan and lift the edge of the omelette to allow any uncooked egg to run underneath.

Shake pan to loose omelette and smooth top with a fork. It should be brown on the bottom and still creamy but not runny on top.

Spread a filling in center, fold into thirds by turning the edge opposite the

CLASSIC FRENCH ONION SOUP

2 C. sliced onions
½ tsp. sugar
3 Tsp. butter
1 finely minced garlic clove
2 C. beef broth

Shredded cheese was added to make a little mountain in the center — "the basic Swiss works wonders."

Janes shredded his in seconds in a Cuisinart food processor, declaring it still "the best" as the blades are durable, surgical steel.

The soup was popped under the broiler to cook until brown and bubbly, about 7 minutes.

Since Janes had been invited to talk on kitchen gadgets, he interspersed his cooking with comments about his "tools."

He recommended a $7 bottle opener that opened the wine cork in one turn.

He emphasized that the way the tools are used is important — "You don't cut your knuckles on the sharp knife if you cut just by raising the knife to finger level, not topping the knuckles."

As he prepared the brandied apples, he generously sprinkled in sugar, "measuring" generously as "that's what makes it good."

Since the recipe called for clarified butter, Janes explained that this is butter with the salt and milk residue removed by heating and skimming it off. "People who like to cook like to use clarified butter."

BRANDIED APPLES

2 large pears or apples
2-3 Tbsp. clarified butter
2 Tbsp. brown sugar
2 tsp. cinnamon
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
¼ C. brandy

Peel and core apples or pears, can even use cantalope. Cut into slices. Fry in butter for 1 minute on each side. Sprinkle with brown sugar, cinnamon and lemon juice. Continue frying, basting with the liquid in the skillet until just soft.

Warm the brandy, pour over fruit and ignite immediately with the match. ("This impresses everyone.")

Add to a dessert omelette, or a crepe, or spoon over ice cream.

Janes, who formerly owned Gourmet Gallery in Plymouth, had been a chef at Grosse Ile Golf and Country Club and served as executive chef for Weight Watchers. He now is a food service consultant.

Always add herbs and spices from your hand — the warmth releases the odor handle to the center, then fold the edge near the handle over the middle and roll the omelette out onto warm plate, seam side down.

"Slide out the omelette and glaze with butter. If you stick it under the broiler for 15 seconds, it glazes beautifully."

For filler in his demonstration Janes used 2-3 Tbsp. grated cheese but suggested also sliced mushrooms.

Janes said such dishes as the omelette and French onion soup were good ways to entertain drop-in guests. "After an evening at the show the soup is a nice way to go."

Mothers' Club hosts 10 parties this Saturday

Ten homes throughout the community will be aglow this Saturday evening, welcoming several hundred partygoers to the annual Northville Mothers' Club benefit with lighted luminaries placed outdoors in a holiday tradition brought here from the Southwest by Mary Whiteside.

Hosting the benefit cocktail parties that fund school projects of the club will be members with husbands Carolyn and Roger Nieuwkoop, Lois and Ron Housman, club president Marge and Dave Longridge, Nancy and Kenneth Rosselot, Diane and N.C. Schrader, Martha and Richard Lyon, Judy and Alan Somershoe, Jo Ann Kissel and Margie and Richard Sievert.

Mary Jo and Irvin Marburger will be hosting the party of Life Members of Mothers' Club at their home on Whipple Drive — where there may be some traffic congestion as the adjacent Somershoe residence also will be one of the homes open.

Other locations are Nieuwkoops at 815 Scott, the Lyons at 710 West Main, Schraders at 101 Maplewood and Mrs. Kissel at 787 Springfield.

On the west side are the Longridges at 20360 Woodhill, Rosselots at 19700 Beck and the Sieverts at 18265 Arselot. Housmans are in Northville Commons at 42115 Westmeath. All have co-hosts.

Mothers' Club promises that guests, about 100 at each home, this year will be sampling some new hors d'oeuvres, as well as favorites repeated by request at the annual fund raiser that also ushers in the holiday entertaining season for many.

The party hours have been chosen individually by hostesses but are between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Mothers' Club will hold its traditional Christmas potluck for members Monday at the home of Roxanne Casterline with Sue Anger, Ida Wheatly and Luanne McCurdy as hostesses.

Carolyn Nieuwkoop, left, and Nancy Rosselot decorate the mantel of the fireplace in the Nieuwkoop home at 815 Scott for the Mothers' Club Christmas party this Saturday. Mrs. Rosselot also will be opening her Beck Road home for the annual benefit for Northville schools.

MRS. MARK JOHNSON

AAUW celebrates

It looks like Christmas

The Christmas program of the Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women next Tuesday will be a little like tuning in to Ted Strasser's WJR Sunday morning program, "Patterns in Music," but with the plus of having the popular host there in person.

TED STRASSER

"It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like Christmas" is the theme of the evening. It will include serious as well as comic reflections on the holiday presented in poetry, prose and music.

A resident of Highland Lakes, Strasser researches, writes, produces and narrates "Patterns in Music" heard from 8:15 a.m. to noon on Sundays.

He has been doing the program for 17½ years, weaving various themes together with words and music.

Since moving to Northville, Strasser and his wife Lois have become active, contributing residents, working in the First Methodist Church and with Strasser serving as a judge at community functions, such as previous Junior Miss pageants.

Members are asked to bring husbands and guests to the program and also a plate of favorite Christmas delicacies to share.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. following refreshments at 7:30 p.m.

Suzanne Evans married in holiday-season ceremony

Suzanne Evans exchanged marriage vows and rings with Mark Johnson in a 7 p.m. candlelight ceremony last Saturday at First Presbyterian Church to become one of the first brides of the holiday season.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Evans of 20311 Woodhill. Her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Johnson of Grosse Pointe.

The church was decorated for Christmas as the Reverend Lloyd Brasure, pastor emeritus, and the Reverend Milton Kerr, the bride's step-grandfather, officiated at the service which included lighting of a symbolic unity candle.

The bride's sister Stacey Becker and her husband Gary played the organ and piano for the wedding while Mrs. Scott (Allicia) Evans, her sister-in-law, sang "The Prayer." Kenneth Clum sang "The Lord's Prayer."

As she was given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a candlelight French silk gown. Heavy Irish lace re-embroidered with seed pearls adorned the portrait neckline, sleeves, hemline and train. Matching lace edged her fingertip illusion veil.

She wore her mother's pearls and for the traditional "something old" carried a handkerchief that had been used by two generations of Evans family brides. She also continued the tradition of tucking a sixpence in her shoe and for "something new" wore a blue garter.

Her bouquet contained red and white roses with white orchids.

Mrs. Becker was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Steven (Linda) Evans, her sister-in-law from Little Rock, Arkansas; Linda Ballard of Charlotte; Candy McCurdy of Northville; Molly Shea of Grosse Pointe; and Mrs. James Trapp of Evanston, Illinois. Alpha Phi sorority sisters of the bride.

They wore Christmas red ultra-suede sheaths and carried white muffs covered with holly and flowers. In their hair were sprigs of holly.

Duane Johnson, Jr., of Northbrook, Illinois, was his brother's best man.

Ushers were Bill Brenann, Phil Delta Theta fraternity brother; Tom Watson, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Ray Spitzley, Jim Baraglia and Charles Ochylski, a friend of the bridegroom from Grosse Pointe North High School.

A champagne dinner reception for 220 followed at Meadowbrook Country Club with red cloths and decorations carrying out the holiday theme. Silver bowls of holly and white flowers decorated the bride's table. Mrs. Floyd Hassett (the former Jana Fieldman) and Mrs. Randy Cordova, cousin of the bride, were reception hostesses.

Special guests included the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCaul of Kansas City, and the bride's grandparents, the Reverend and Mrs. Milton Kerr of St. Petersburg.

After a wedding trip to Fort Lauderdale, the couple will live in Syracuse, New York, where he is employed by Bristol Laboratories.

Both are 1980 graduates of Michigan State University where they met. She received her degree in business and marketing while her bridegroom received his in packaging engineering.

Many events preceded the wedding for the couple, including a couple shower at the Grosse Pointe home of Mr. and Mrs. John Huckens in June, and a couple shower at the West Main Street home of the William Davises in November with Dr. and Mrs. Harold Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ambler and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Parmenter as co-hosts.

Alpha Phi sorority sisters attended a bridal shower given by Mollie Shea and Linda Ballard at the Southfield apartment of the former in November.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at their home last Friday. Saturday Mrs. Gordon Forrer and her daughters, Mrs. Scott (Jane) Wilson of St. Louis and Mrs. Randy (Sue) Busscher of Holland entertained at a bridesmaids' luncheon.

A Spanish galleon's on their Florida beach

By JEAN DAY

Richard and Florence Booms, who live in Edenderry here, recently decided vacation condo living in West Palm Beach wasn't right for them and began building a home up the Florida coast in Vero Beach. A friend commented that they might find buried treasure in the form of old Spanish galleons being unearthed in the area. The Booms forgot the observation until recently. Workers constructing a road along the beach in front of them uncovered a 200-year-old Spanish merchant sailing ship, buried under six feet of sand.

"Now they're excavating with teaspoons," says Florence Booms. The Booms with daughter Mary, 14, will view progress in to date when they go down for Christmas.

Mrs. Booms says she expects to host a New Year's party there as many former Northville residents now have homes in the community, including the Hiram Pacifics, Eugene Karrers and the Nelson Hyatts.

Back in time for sherry

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Fountain and the Jack Dohenys returned last week from a 10-day vacation at Vero Beach — in time for Mary Esther Fountain and Anne Pyett to continue the tradition they began several years ago of welcoming their friends at a sherry party. It was given last week Tuesday at the Fountain home. Canadian-born Mrs. Fountain and English-born Mrs. Pyett have brought a British tradition to the community with holiday-season event.

The Fountains and Dohenys drove to Florida in order to

A feminist views the New Right

By SHERRY KAHAN

The New Right can be beaten — because of inconsistencies in its position, because its methods cost millions and because of splits among the evangelicals.

That is the message Margot Morrow, historian in women's studies at the University of Michigan, brought to the Northwest Wayne County Chapter of the National Organization of Women.

"The longer New Right spokesmen talk on TV, the more people will flee to the progressive side," she told 25 women meeting in Hoover School in Livonia.

"I really think history is on our side," she said.

"The American people are not as mean spirited and negative as the Moral Majority would have it."

Jerry Falwell, leader of the Moral Majority, talks reasonably on TV, she said, but his articles identifying liberals as demons responsible for drugs, the breakdown of the American family and every problem in American life.

He once claimed the decline of America was due to the Pentagon's being infiltrated by NOW, she added.

Ms. Morrow, called inconsistent the move by New Rightist Richard Viguerie to bring about regulation of premarital sex and adultery.

"He wants to get rid of government regulations on one hand, but wants to regulate the nation's bedrooms on the other," she said.

In listing reasons why she thinks the New Right will decline eventually, Ms. Morrow said district targeting costs millions.

In one California congressional district, she said, the New Right spent $1.2 million, but its candidate was just barely elected.

"It can't continue to pour in infinite amounts of money," she said. "It will eventually deplete its resources."

But lessons can be learned from the New Right's election techniques such as mass computerized mailing and building up coalitions to support each other's issues, Ms. Morrow said.

"There is no reason progressives can't use the same techniques to get their candidates elected," she added.

The splits among evangelical groups are an important factor, she said.

"Bob Jones of Bob Jones University called Jerry Falwell the anti-Christ because the Falwell coalition includes Catholics and Jews," Ms. Morrow said.

"Michigan for Biblical Morality disapproves of Falwell being pals with politicians. Great evangelist preachers like Billy Graham aren't backing the arms race as does the New Right."

"You never see him coming out for the MX missile."

Ms. Morrow also reminded her audience that it took 58 years for women to win the right to vote.

"But we did prevail," she said, "and I think the winds of political change will shift in our direction, maybe in the election of 1982."

One reason is that new voices are being heard.

"My phone has hardly stopped ringing since the election," she said. "People are asking how to get involved."

"I sat in on a meeting of Republican and Democratic women leaders, and they were asking what they could do together."

"This may give the liberals or moderates a real jolt," she said. "It may be healthy. It may make them rethink their philosophy."

"Some of the programs we fought for do need to be made more effective and streamlined."

Ms. Morrow began her address by saying she didn't think the moderates "fully perceived the dimensions of the New Right movement."

"I hate to overstate its strength, though," she said. "It is frightening in some respects but it can be combated."

She regards the John Birch Society as the precursor of the New Right, but added, "I don't want to claim that everyone in the New Right is a Bircher."

However, she said, Robert Welch once introduced anti-ERA advocate Phyllis Schlafly to an audience as a loyal member, and Schlafly also spoke at Birch rallies in the '60s.

"The Birch philosophy is absolutely fantastic," she said.

"Today, the New Right is a far more sophisticated organization than the Birch Society. It has so many interlocking directorates that General Motors or IBM are tame in comparison."

Ms. Morrow advocated moving away from defensive posture and reclaiming progressive issues.

"I'm beginning to get furious at being called anti-family and anti-moral," she said.

"It's ridiculous."

Former resident survived Las Vegas fire

Ellen (Thomas) McMullen, a 1969 graduate of Northville High School, and her husband Philip were staying at MGM Grand in Las Vegas when the fire broke out last month. He was attending a convention there. Mrs. McMullen called a former classmate, Rosemary (VanFossen) Parker in Otsego to say they were safe after "flocking with 20 others into a room." She reported they wrote "help" on the window with lipstick and eventually were rescued.

The McMullens live in Pueblo, Colorado. Her parents, the Bruce Thomases, moved to Troy when they returned from a stint in Australia with Chrysler.

Gardeners slate music, angels for Christmas

Members and guests of the Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will meet for an annual holiday luncheon at 11:30 a.m. Monday at the Round Table in Plymouth. Tree ornaments made by the horticultural therapy group will be at each place setting as a special Christmas remembrance.

Program chairman Mary Whiteside announces Mary Yahne will present a talk on "Angels" while Anita Cockerman, 13, a student at South Lyon Junior High, will sing, accompanying herself on her guitar.

The young teen was second place winner in the 1980 national Talent Search Contest held in Angola, Indiana, where she presented her talent in the country western division for girls 13-19 years old. Anita does much of her own composition and arranging and will include two winning songs in her luncheon program.

Vern Daraban, social chairman for the day, will be assisted by Dorothy Horner, Arline Paredes, Mary Platt and Verna Wall.

Spouse abuse:

Despair, depression, frustration appear to be primary factors behind acts of domestic violence

By

The old song says, "You only hurt the one you love."

Unfortunately, it appears that an increasing number of us are carrying out that song line to dangerous extremes. At least that's the opinion of Margaret Bell, director of the spouse abuse project at United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit.

The problem is a newly-discovered one, according to Ms. Bell. In fact, the program director admits to lacking data on incidents of spouse abuse because she says the public is just now becoming aware of the extent of the problem.

"The problem is that there are no county-wide statistics," Ms. Bell reports. "It's really only been recently that people have taken a good look at the problem."

"The police and other agencies just don't have any numbers," Ms. Bell adds, "though by law the police are supposed to report the statistics to the state police. By the end of the year, we should have some very interesting and meaningful statistics."

In the meantime, Ms. Bell has put together some very interesting information on her own. Over the last year-plus, she's compiled a survey that counts the number of spouse abuse phone call complaints taken through the United Community Services' Emergency Telephone Service in Wayne County (Ms. Bell explains that there haven't been any 24-hour crisis lines in Oakland County until recently, so no statistics are available yet from that area).

"The survey can't be considered terribly accurate," the program director says. "But on the other hand, those calling in to complain of spouse abuse aren't influenced by anything but need and the expectation that they'll get help."

Ms. Bell's findings indicate that the problem is growing worse. Her first poll, taken during the months of April through June of last year, revealed 177 spouse abuse calls — quite a high total in light of the fact that many complaints are never registered and that other victims turn elsewhere. And the total kept on growing.

In the ensuing three-month period from July through September, the figure increased to 209. The last three months of the year resulted in 269 calls, while the total shot to 318 over the first three months of 1980. Ms. Bell's final survey — representing April through June of this year — showed that number rocketing to 421.

So what's at the root of this apparent increase in violent tendencies among so-called lovers?

"I've been involved in many studies on this," Ms. Bell says, "and it's my finding that spouse abuse is often caused by immediate losses or the threat of immediate losses. Job problems, the threat of divorce, death, moves, health — all of these things pile up in a person. The incidence of spouse abuse is often the result of a sense of helplessness and despair."

Ms. Bell also cites jealousy as a prime contributor to the problem. "Some are obsessed with the idea of possession and exclusive love. It all goes back to the insecurity within the individual."

Then there are societal causes of the problem that Ms. Bell refers to as "background" factors. "Many of those who engage in spouse abuse have seen abuse between their parents and/or have been abused," the program director states. "So it's not so foreign to them."

One major difficulty when it comes to spouse abuse, according to Ms. Bell, is that some victims don't necessarily see their fate as a genuine problem. A common phenomenon that she refers to in connection with this is "romanticizing."

"Some people take the attitude that, 'I got spanked all the time as a kid, so it's not so bad,'" Ms. Bell says. "And then there are the cases where women who are being beaten say that it does them good. They claim that, 'since he's beating me, I know that he must love me because it means that I'm important enough to him to get mad and hurt me.'"

Difficulties aren't only experienced by the abuser and the victim, though; those trying to help solve the problem also have their troubles. "One real problem we encounter in helping occurs when those helping people don't know violence. It's hard to identify with it unless you've had the experience."

Ms. Bell quickly adds, however, that she — and the rest of us — should be grateful for all the help we can get in this area. "These programs are new, and therefore softly-funded," she notes. "Funds are tight here as they are everywhere else, so it's a rough time for the programs as well as those with a spouse abuse problem."

Consequently, the program director has a word of advice for those who need help but can't get it right away. "Don't give up," Ms. Bell recommends. "Keep looking for help. It may seem hard to get it, but it's there."

Business briefs

O'LAUGHLIN Construction Company of Novi and Dynamic Construction Company of Farmington Hills submitted the low bid of $6,014,981 for construction of an enclosed pedestrian walkway system crossing the Lodge Freeway and Jefferson Avenue at the Joe Louis Arena in Detroit.

The project was one of two on which bids were taken by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

SECURITY BANCORP, Inc. of Southgate, parent of Security Bank of Novi, announced that consolidated net income for the quarter ending September 30, 1980 decreased 27.6 percent compared to the third quarter of 1979. This decrease was primarily caused by the high levels of interest rates currently being paid for "money market" funds and other certificates of deposit, along with the rapid growth of such deposits. Net income for the nine month period ending September 30 decreased 18.9 percent compared to the previous like period.

TERRY ROBERTS of Novi is now affiliated with the sales department at Bill Cook Buick in Farmington Hills at Ten Mile and Grand River Avenue.

Roberts, 36, has been in the automobile sales field for the past seven years. He formerly was affiliated with Roger Penske Chevrolet in Southfield.

He is a member of the Novi Rotary Club and is a past president of the Novi Jaycees. He also is a member of the Buick Sales Masters Association.

Roberts and his wife, Susan, have four children and reside in Novi's Orchard Hills subdivision.

INCREASED ATTENTION will be paid to the over-65 group in analyzing future housing needs and trends in the real estate market, according to the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR).

"With their numbers expected to grow from about 24 million in 1978 to 32 million by 1990, they will be even more evident as both buyers and sellers," said WWOCBR President John Halser.

"Unfortunately, the housing needs of these older Americans are too often viewed as retirement villages or collections of apartments or condominiums in warm weather climates," he continued. "We believe more studies should be undertaken before such assumptions are made."

Halser cited findings of a forum of middle income retirees held earlier this year by the Federal National Mortgage Association.

The majority of the 120 participants indicated a preference for detached rather than multi-family housing. Home upkeep was the major reason for moving with 40 percent desiring less space to maintain. Two-thirds preferred four rooms or less.

Further impetus to move was related to rising costs versus fixed incomes. Moving to cut property taxes was seen as a remedy for spending 30 percent or more of retirement income for housing.

Fewer than a third of participants from colder climates revealed an urge for living in milder zones. Health, family and loss of spouse were factors in deciding if and when a move would be made. Some relocate to be nearer children and grandchildren while others look for a smaller home in the same community to remain near family and friends.

Most of the retirees placed emphasis on having access to needed services. The more affluent wanted to be near banking services, general shopping, a library and restaurants. Those with lower income looked for nearby public transportation, laundromats and senior centers.

"We see all this as a sign that an increase number of larger, older homes will enter the market in the next decade," Halser said. "This will pave the way for more young growing families to move in the real estate market, but there will be a decided need for more small homes to accommodate older citizens."

LEONARD DAMICO of 16264 White Haven Drive, Northville, was named the new automotive sales manager by GRM Industries, Inc., according to an announcement by Harry Olsen, president.

"Leonard brings broad automotive experience with him to this important new post," said Olsen in announcing the appointment.

Damico has a bachelor's degree in marketing and a masters' degree in management to complement the various responsibilities he has held in the automotive industry.

Married and the father of two children, Damico will be headquartered in the Southfield office of the company and will be directly responsible for automotive sales activities while supervising the automotive sales force.

Olsen ended the announcement by stating "Leonard Damico has the maturity, judgment and caliber of character that will add another dimension to the solidity of our management group."

Previously, Damico was employed by the Ford Motor Company at its world headquarters in a management role with the purchasing and supply staff.

GUARDIAN Industries Corporation (NYSE) has announced its board of directors approved the payment of the quarterly dividend of 10 cents per share, which will be paid January 15, 1981 to shareholders of record December 19, 1980.

MANUFACTURERS National Corporation declared a quarterly dividend of 55 cents per share to be paid on December 18, 1980 to shareholders of record on December 1, 1980, it was announced by Dean E. Richardson, chairman.

Manufacturers National Corporation is a bank holding company with subsidiary banks in Detroit, Bay City, Coopersville, Livonia, Novi, St. Clair Shores, Saline and Southfield.

COMMUNITY NATIONAL BANK'S board of directors announced a 31-cents-per-share quarterly dividend at their November 25 board meeting, according to Chairman and President Warren H. Eierman.

The dividend will be payable January 2, 1981, to individuals who were shareholders of record on December 19, 1980.

Community National Bank is headquartered in Oakland County and operates 28 offices in Oakland and Macomb counties.

DETROITBANK CORPORATION'S board of directors has declared a quarterly cash dividend of 50 cents per share on the $5 par value common stock of the corporation. DETROITBANK Corporation is the parent company of Detroit Bank & Trust and nine other banks.

The quarterly dividend is payable January 2, 1981, to shareholders of record December 15, 1980.

Announcement of the dividend was made by Rodkey Craighead, corporation chairman, and Donald R. Mandich, president.

A FAMILIAR ARGUMENT of Realtors and homebuilders that excessive regulations account for a large share of soaring home costs is finally winning recognition within the federal government, according to John J. Halser, president of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors.

"A study performed for our national association more than 30 months ago pointed this out very sharply," said Halser.

"All of our research could have been easily verified by government, but it had to go through the cost and delay of a three city demonstration project to reach the same conclusions."

The results of the project announced recently by HUD and Albert Kahn, President Carter's inflation advisor, were that excessive regulation adds about 20 percent to the cost of new housing structures. This was about the same figure as that found in the 1978 Realtor study.

In commenting on the new study, Kahn said that excessive regulation shows up in two ways: regulatory delay in obtaining needed permits and the substantive regulatory requirements that go beyond what is necessary to make houses safe, solid and sanitary.

The demonstrations were held in communities in Louisiana, California and Pennsylvania. They showed that expedited processing of building permits and a cooperative effort among builders, developers and local government toward cutting building costs can save homeowners substantial amounts without sacrificing consumer protection.

Reductions of $13,000 to $25,500 per housing unit were realized in the housing demonstrations equalling 20 to 33 percent of costs.

It was pointed out that the savings realized in the demonstrations could be duplicated in most communities throughout the nation.

The three major cost-saving areas cited were:

- Density: Land costs were reduced through more efficient use of available sites.
- Time: Reduction in processing and review requirements cut the carrying cost to buildings and developers.
- Construction reductions: Code modifications allowed the builder/developer to use either less expensive or less time-consuming building materials while maintaining quality.

"We are pleased to see that the cost impact of government regulation on housing is finally being recognized where it counts," said Halser. "Now it becomes a question of how long it will take for directives implementing these findings to filter down to levels where they will actually produce lower costs."

Bargain Buys

Dollar days at the local store,
Like a lamb to the slaughter I make for the door,
Wandering round the tempting displays,
Oh, how I love those dollar days.

Mentally buying things I don't need,
Trying to stifle my eager greed,
Now there's a bargain, I do need those,
I get through stacks of panty hose.

There's another — more, more, MORE ...
Wait a moment, what do I want that for?
Out of the store, my eyes a-glaze,
But I still love those dollar daze!

If We Believe

What we feel is what we are.
When we wish upon a star
It can take us, oh so far
If we believe.

Where we go and what we do
What we are in old and new
All of this will all come through
If we believe.

Who we are and what we become
Though we may seem wrong to some
God will love us, whatever may come
If we believe.

Lynne Harrison

What Then?

"Cosmos" tells us how it all began,
Starting with the "big bang" theory.
But we are still puzzled by the plan
That brings about another query:
WHAT CAUSED THE BIG BANG?

What was the power
To set off that explosion?
What mystery did then empower
That limitless eruption?

And if an answer can be had,
We yet must find another
That fills a gap as yet unclad
And supersedes all others:
WHAT CAME BEFORE THAT?

All-Area cager

Guard Jacque Nixon notches spot on Sliger first team

By KEN KOVACS

The task of selecting the top five girls high school basketball players in the northwest suburban area wasn't an easy one.

But the sports editors of the four East Division of the Sliger Home

Newspapers last week managed to complete the difficult assignment.

Several talented cagers from the eight schools covered by the East Division deserved the honor of being selected to the first squad on the 1980 All-Area team.

But only five could make it.

The editors also picked an All-Area second team, gave an honorable mention to several players not named to the first two squads and chose a Team of the Year.

In selecting the top female high school cagers this year, the sports editors from the Northville Record, Novi News, South Lyon Herald and Milford Times evaluated players' overall ability, shooting skills, rebounding talents and defensive performance.

Cagers from Northville, Novi, Walled Lake Central, W. L. Western, South Lyon, Whitmore Lake, Milford and Milford Lakeland were considered.

Though two juniors were named to the All-Area first team, the editors did give preference to graduating seniors in most cases.

First team selections include:

SANDY SNOW—The senior center from South Lyon was the lone member of the 1980 squad who was named to the Sliger 1979 All-Area first team. At 6-foot Snow was the key to the Lions' offense, scoring 200 points and grabbing 203 rebounds. She also had 33 assists. Coaches say the talented cager is a shoe-in for the Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) All-League team which will be chosen later this month.

JACQUE NIXON—Coach Gene Wagner is very grateful for this talented junior guard, the bright spot in an otherwise dismal season for the Mustangs. Unanimous All-Western Six selection as a junior and sophomore, Nixon averaged 17 points a game for Northville this year, adding occasional 20-point performances. She was named to the Sliger All-Area second team in 1979.

VAL JONES—All-time leading scoring for Milford girl cagers, the senior guard scored 337 points (averaging more than 17.5 per contest) pumping in 30 one game to set a school record. At 5-foot-3 Jones paced the Milford team to a 12-7 record (6-4 in league play) good enough for second place in the Greater Oakland Athletic League. Jones recently was a unanimous selection for the All-League first team.

AMY REMBISZ—The other junior to be named to the Sliger All-Area first team, Rembisz averaged 14.1 points and 13.8 rebounds per game for W. L.

Kevin Swayne has earned the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a high school athlete.

Swayne, a forward on the Northville High School soccer team for the past two years, recently was named to the 1980 All-State first team.

A second Mustang player, Dave McElroy, received an All-State honorable mention from the high school coaches.

Swayne was the Mustangs' leading scoring in 1979 — the first year of varsity soccer at Northville — and 1980. He kicked in 21 for the Mustangs this year.

At the recent NHS soccer banquet, Coach Ron Meteyer praised Swayne as the top player on the squad and said he would be the hardest player to replace next season.

Swayne was named to the All-League first team, All-Oakland County first team and was the second Michigan high school soccer player named to the All-State squad.

McElroy, who anchored the Mustang defense, also was a member of the All-League and All-Oakland County first teams.

The talented halfback was always an offense threat as well, scoring three goals for the Mustang kickers this year. The two talented seniors led Nor-

Lakeland grabs top girls cage team honors

By JEFF FRANK

You might call Lakeland the Rodney Dangerfield of girls basketball.

After two consecutive 2-19 seasons in which the team's only victories came against an even weaker Clarenceville squad, it's easy to see why the Eagles got no respect going into the season.

That was just fine with first-year coach Mike Stevenson. He knew that a few victories were all that the Eagles needed to start believing in themselves as a solid basketball team.

As long as nobody was expecting them to do well, Stevenson wasn't going to go out of his way to tell anybody that his squad was much improved.

He couldn't hide too long. An early win streak, including a momentum building victory over highly touted Walled Lake Central got the Eagles headed in the right direction.

Ultimately, the team that nobody expected to do anything this season worked its way to a 12-9 overall record, a 5-5 mark in the powerful Inter-Lakes Conference, and according to coach Stevenson, left a winning feeling for future Eagle players.

The dramatic turnaround of the Eagle cage program earns Lakeland recognition as the Sliger Home Newspaper 1980 Team of the Year.

It all began in the summer. Too late to enter any of the summer cage programs in the area, Stevenson built a basketball court in his backyard and invited his players over to practice, followed by a swim in his backyard pool.

The hard work continued through preseason practice, during which Stevenson often commented that a few early victories were crucial for the team's success.

“Attitude had a lot to do with it. It was a matter of the girls believing in themselves. The key to the season was getting over the hump and beating someone,” Stevenson said.

That was accomplished after an opening loss to Milford. The Eagles took four of their next five contests, including the 46-41 win over Central after a big loss to Waterford Kettering in the previous game.

“It was on their (Central's) court. Even though we lost to them twice later in the season, that game gave us the feeling that we could play with people,” Stevenson remarked.

The cagers won their first league games since 1977, beat archrival Milford for the first time since the same year and compiled their best record in four years, while never losing more than two games in a row.

“Nicki Carl (a senior, who along with Mary McManus played on both 2-19 teams as well as this squad) turned in her uniform the other day and told me ‘this season made all three years worthwhile,’” Stevenson related.

“That makes me feel pretty good,” he said.

Ocelot basketballers 4-3

The Schoolcraft College basketball squad boasts a 4-3 mark after seven games this season.

The Ocelot cagers bowed to Jackson Community College, 85-70 and defeated Oakland C. C., 51-50 in a Thanksgiving tournament at Jackson.

Mike Williams, a 6-foot-5 freshman center from Detroit Murray Wright, led the Ocelots with 18 and 20, respectively, and was named to the All-Tournament team.

In earlier action, Schoolcraft beat Sienna Heights, 64-61, Kellogg, 86-77 and Mott, 52-51.

The squad's other losses came at the hands of Lansing, 86-70 and Washtenaw, 70-64.

Early games were paced by Dennis Freeman, a 6-foot-4 sophomore forward, and Johnny Scarber, a 6-foot-3 freshman forward. Both are graduates of Detroit Redford High School.

Six-foot-3 Roy Foster, a freshman forward from Detroit MacKenzie, also contributed.

The Ocelots are scheduled to take on the University of Windsor at home at 8 p.m. December 3 and Macomb Community College will visit Schoolcraft for a contest at 4 p.m. December 13.

NHS boys cagers confident prior to season opener

By KEN KOVACS

Tim Lutes is very thankful. Thursday, while most people were stuffing themselves with turkey and pie, the Northville High School boys basketball coach was giving thanks. Thanks for a healthy team and for 6-foot-7 senior center Dave Ward. Lutes, currently in his third year as head mentor, has not had the good fortune to have a healthy team in his two previous cage seasons. His players suffered everything from severe sprains to broken arms and ankles, leaving him at times with only one or two of his original five starters. But, thus far, things have gone very well for the former Alma College cage standout since practice began November 10. Ward, who played split end for the Mustang football team, has gained strength in his arms and upper body and, according to Lutes, has improved significantly since last year. Not that the lanky senior had a bad season in 1979—he averaged 15 points and 11 rebounds per game. But Lutes said he expects big things from Ward when the 1980 season gets underway this week. "He is capable of scoring 20 points a game and grabbing 15 rebounds for us," Lutes said. "He has very good jumping ability. Ward has a vertical jump—from a standstill—of 27 inches. That's not bad for someone his size." Helping Ward on the boards will be seniors Greg May and Todd Jennings. Lutes said May at 5-foot-11 is a very solid all-around player who has been shooting the ball well this year. Jennings, who Lutes considers his number one shooter, sat out last year with a broken ankle and also has suffered knee problems. So far this season the 6-foot forward is playing strong. Lutes also has a pair of juniors who started for the Mustang junior varsity squad last year at the forward position. Tim Wagner, 6-foot-1 and Doug Eaker, 6-foot-3 add height to the lineup and Lutes predicts they will get a lot of playing time, too. "Wagner has worked very hard and has been a pleasant surprise," Lutes said. "He is undoubtedly the most improved player from last year." Lutes said Eaker, who will be Ward's backup and also see some action as forward, is a tough defensive player.

Two more juniors up from the JV squad, Rod Kurzawa and Steve Handley (both 6-footers), also are battling for a starting forward position. "Except for Ward, we are going to be smaller than many other teams this year," Lutes said. "So the big question is if we can stay with them on the boards." One place the Mustangs will have an edge is at the guard spots.

Back from last year are starters Kevin Swayne (5-foot-10) and Gary Kucher (5-foot-6). Dave Greer (6-foot), who was one of the Mustangs' starting forwards last year, also is battling for one of the two guard spots. Greer was the second highest scorer for the Mustangs last year, pumping in nine points a game and grabbed five

The following day the Ocelots bowed 2-1 to Montgomery, Maryland. Craig Martin of Livonia scored the Ocelots' goal on a penalty kick.

Schoolcraft finished seventh among the eight-team field. Morrisville, New York claimed the junior college national title.

Joseph Holman wins final football contest

Joseph Holman of 17130 Beck was declared the first place winner in the last week of the season's football contest series co-sponsored by this newspaper and cooperating advertisers.

Holman won first place money by correctly predicting the winners in 16 of the 20 listed games.

None of the other contestants had fewer than six mistakes, even though one game — Texas Tech vs. Arkansas — was listed two times in the 20 game line-up.

Judges had to utilize the tie-breaking score in the St. Louis-New York game to determine second and third place winners. Both had submitted entries with six mistakes.

Winning second place, six points off the actual score, was George Carr of Plymouth. And in third place, 11 points off the mark, was Mike Hilfinger, 43885 Galway.

Eight other contestants also submitted entries containing six errors, but their guessed scores for the New York-St. Louis game were not as close. They included:

Russell Bell of Westland, Linda Gromacki and Mark Davio of Novi, Jay Mujumdar, Kevin Legel, Fred Robinson, Tim Jackson and Jay Bartling, all of Northville.

Most difficult games for contestants included Texas A and M's victory over Texas; Miami of Florida's win over Florida; Nevada-Las Vegas' triumph over Brigham Young; Green Bay's loss to Tampa Bay; Cincinnati's win over Kansas City; Cleveland's victory over Houston; and San Francisco's triumph over New England.

caroms per contest.

He likely will be the point guard, Lutes said.

"Swayne is almost a fast break by himself," the coach continued. "And Kucher is almost too quiet."

"I have a great deal of confidence in my guards this year. We have some good juniors in Dave Malinowski and Steve McLaughlin, too," Lutes said. "They just lack the experience."

The Mustangs' goal this year, as always, is to win the Western Six Conference. That means the Northville cagers will have to win on the road as well as at home.

"It is an extremely well-balanced league this year," Lute said. "If we can win three of five league games on the road and all of our home contests I think that will be enough to clinch the title."

As the 1980 Mustang cagers prepare for their season opener — versus Monroe Catholic Central Friday in a tournament at Milan — their fearless leader will be praying that his cagers can survive the game without injury.

Three hurt in Eight Mile crashes

A Northville woman and two Livonia residents suffered minor injuries in traffic accidents which occurred at the intersection of Eight Mile and Center November 26 and 27, city police reported.

Jennifer Koch, 416 East Street, was hurt when the vehicle in which she was riding, driven by Natalie Dichtiar, 21717 Center, was traveling westbound on Eight Mile, attempted to turn onto southbound Center when it collided with a vehicle traveling eastbound on Eight Mile, police said.

The driver of the eastbound car, William Campbell of Livonia told police his vehicle was hit by the turning vehicle.

A passenger riding in the eastbound car, Elizabeth Campbell, also suffered minor injuries, police said. Neither driver was hurt. No tickets were issued.

Mary Lou Wagner of Livonia suffered a minor leg injury November 27 in a three-car accident at the same intersection, police said.

A vehicle driven by Thomas Menard of Union Lake stopped at a red light at northbound Center and Eight Mile, witnesses told police.

The vehicle then made a right turn, striking a car eastbound on Eight Mile, driven by Christopher Wagner of Livonia, knocking the vehicle across the center line and into a third car, which was traveling westbound on Eight Mile, police said.

The three drivers — Timothy Nys, 44029 Wyngate was the driver of the westbound vehicle — were not hurt.

Wagner complained of pain in her lower right leg but refused treatment, police said.

City police are investigating the November 20 residence in which more than $480 worth of goods were taken along with $1,800 in traveler's checks.

A Minolta 35-mm camera, a pair of binoculars, a wallet and a necklace and the checks were reported missing from the residence, police said.

The owner told police there was a party at the residence the night of November 19.

There were no signs of forced entry, police said.

A gold-colored flute valued at $332 was reported stolen from a locker at Northville High School sometime between November 21 and November 24, city police said.

The locker was locked at the time of the theft the owner told police.

A 12-speed Fuji bicycle was reported stolen from the hallway of an apartment at 947 Novi Road November 26, city police said.

The bike is valued at more than $200.

A Beech tree in the yard of a Hill Street residence was destroyed when an unknown vehicle jumped the curb and ran over the tree, police reported. Estimated value of the tree is $252.

A bicycle was reported stolen from a Crystal Lake Drive residence between 6:20 and 6:50 p.m., township police reported.

The three-month old 20-inch bike was yellow and black and valued at $182, the owner told police.

Township police are investigating an attempted arson on Scenic Harbour Drive.

The man reporting the attempt told police he heard a noise in his garage and when he opened the interior door saw a man run out of the garage.

He told police he found a blanket smoldering on a chair with about one square inch of the material charred.

The hood of a 1969 Camaro was reported stolen November 23, township police reported.

The owner of the car told police he left the car at the Boron Oil Company lot at 39449 Six Mile, where he works, because it was disabled. When he returned Sunday, he found the hood missing.

The hood, reportedly in good condition, metallic green on top and black underneath, is valued at $250.

Four wire wheel hub caps valued at $180 were taken from a 1977 Ford Thunderbird parked at the west end of the downtown parking deck November 19, city police reported.

Two silver hub caps, valued at $30, were reported stolen from a 1978 Pontiac parked in the city parking lot across from MAGS on West Main November 19, city police said

Burglars escaped with two Microwave ovens valued at more than $700 November 27, township police reported.

The ovens were taken from Northville Vacuum and Appliance, 42285 West Seven Mile, during the early morning hours, according to police reports. Doors leading to the hallway and to the outside were found unlocked, police said.

Currently, there are no suspects.

Four chrome wheel covers were taken from a 1980 Dodge Marada parked in the A and P Supermarket lot on Seven Mile east of Northville Road November 25, township police reported. The stolen property is valued at $300. Currently, police have no suspects.

Township trustees support MacDonald appointments

Institution of a new administration in Northville Township means not only a new board of trustees but a new slate of members for township boards and commissions.

Supervisor John MacDonald announced his recommended appointments to those boards and commissions at the board's November 20 meeting.

He also announced a new policy of naming an alternate appointee to fill in when the regular officer is unable to attend a meeting for one reason or another. The alternates will be non-voting positions, serving only to keep communication lines open, he said.

State law does not allow appointment of alternates with full voting privileges.

"I have also mentioned to all of these people that they should make every effort to attend all meetings," MacDonald said. "With the alternates, we should be able to maintain contact through our liaisons. I think in the future you'll find that attendance will be much better."

Trustee Richard Allen was appointed board liaison to the Planning Commission, with Trustee James Armstrong serving as alternate. Kenneth Sewell, whose term as a planning commissioner ends December 1, also was reappointed until 1983.

Richard Duwel, of 46450 Pickford, was appointed to another Planning Commission seat. MacDonald noted that Duwel has not previously been involved with township government. He said he feels Duwel's professional background will make him a valuable asset to the commission.

Duwel, 34, is president of DeMattia and Associates, which conducts architectural and engineering services for The R. A. DeMattia Company's construction work as well as to outside clients.

Previously chief architect of Ford Motor Company's world-wide operations, Duwel is a registered architect with a degree from University of Detroit and additional studies in economics and finance at the University of Michigan.

He and his wife Patricia have three children. They have lived in the township since 1973.

MacDonald appointed himself to the Water and Sewer Commission, renewing a tradition broken in the early 1970s. In the intervening years, the former supervisor was named to the water and sewer body.

Because the commission is the single largest township operation, MacDonald said, it is advantageous to have the supervisor closely connected to it.

Clerk Susan Heintz was named to the Zoning Board of Appeals, with Trustee Thomas Cook the non-voting alternate.

Trustee James Nowka returns to the Recreation Commission after resigning earlier this year. Nowka left the recreation board because it was felt he had too many commitments to boards and commissions.

Heintz was appointed to replace Nowka on the board of the Northville Township Economic Development Corporation (EDC). Chairman Larry Sheehan was reappointed. Leonard Klein, former trustee, and Walter Rohde, president of Armco Corporation, fill other vacancies on the board, one of which was caused by the recent resignation of James Littell.

MacDonald, Heintz, Cook, and Treasurer Richard Henningsen will serve on the Employment Relations Committee with Armstrong as the non-voting alternate.

Most terms expire November 20, 1983, when the next board of trustees will be sworn into office. Non-board members serve until December 1 of that year to give the next supervisor time to make appointments, except for the EDC, where one term expires October 11 each year.

Owners to pay for Beck sewers

Despite the objections of the original petitioner and largest landowner, former township supervisor Donald Thomson, the board of trustees voted Monday night to create a special assessment district on Beck Road.

Six homeowners on Beck, south of Curtis, will be assessed the cost of installing 545 feet of sanitary sewer in the street, the board decided.

Thomson had petitioned the board, requesting the special assessment district for new sewer installations, but when presented with an estimated cost he sought to have it defeated.

Five of the six homes in the district currently are served by sewers but two of the connections were found to be "illegally or surreptitiously made" by the Wayne County Sewer Department in 1966.

When problems arose in 1978, the township water and sewer department determined that it was not responsible for maintenance of the sewers.

The other three home owners have been charged for sewage treatment but the installations are not up to standards and one link of the system cuts through private property.

"I bought this home only to find out my house is hooked up illegally," Thomson said. "I checked with Wayne County and they said there was no permit. The three houses across the street have a sewer line that cuts through the neighbor's property and he isn't happy about it."

Thomson said he launched a petition to have the special assessment created to solve those problems. At the time he did it, he said, he was assuming an estimate of $18,000 to complete the job — approximately $3,000 per household.

Township engineering consultants, however, produced an estimate of $35,000 which they recommended be assessed as $2,916 per parcel plus $20.88 per foot of Beck Road frontage.

That procedure creates a charge of over $5,000 per parcel and Thomson said he could not accept the higher cost.

William Mosher, township engineer, said the estimate was high to make sure the assessments would cover actual costs. He said most such projects are completed for less than the estimated cost but that the township would be "doing well to get it at 10 percent less than this."

If the actual cost is less than that assessed, payments will be ceased before the full assessment is collected or a refund will be made, he said.

Because the project would create only a relatively short length of sewer line, Mosher said, the cost per parcel is expensive.

"This is a very small job," he said. "That always makes it more expensive because we have to pay some set-up costs and planning costs that are the same no matter how few people are involved. All small jobs cost more per unit than large jobs, it seems to me."

When Thomson asked that the township water and sewer commission be asked if it could do the project, Mosher said he thought this would be impossible. Supervisor John MacDonald said he would consult with the commission but that he saw no way the project could be undertaken by the township.

Two other property owners asked the board to approve the special assessment.

"How can you sell a piece of property if you have an illegal sewer?" said William Kinnaird, of 17888 Beck Road, one of the affected properties. "I've got to go for a sewer. I've got no choice."

Kinnaird's interpretation was supported by Donald Laramie, of 17966 Beck Road. Both signed Thomson's original petition.

In addition to the special assessment, which would be levied over 15 years, homeowners in the area will have to pay a $400 hook-on charge to the township and contract with a plumber to make the connection.

Ida Gooch, of 17977 Beck Road, said her septic system is working well and that she opposed the assessment. Of the four property owners present at the public hearing, Gooch's objection meant two were opposed and two in support.

"It seems to me there is going to be a sewer line in (Beck Road) eventually," Trustee C. James Armstrong said. "If that is done five or 10 years down the line the cost is going to be even higher. There are also three people, actually five, with a problem that would be solved if we go ahead with this."

Mosher said the current economic climate is likely to bring the "lowest bids you'll see in years."

Thomson restated his objection, noting that he is the owner of the largest piece of property in the district (more than 50 percent is in his parcel).

The board adjourned the public hearing and reconvened as a special meeting of the board. It voted 6-0 to create the special assessment district. Trustee James Nowka was absent.
