Court order delays planned moves of mental health program, offices

By KEVIN WILSON

One chapter in the latest round of state Department of Mental Health (DMH) budget cuts was forestalled by court order Monday.

EPIC Center, a program for emotionally disturbed adolescents housed in former nurses' quarters of the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital (NRPH), still has its own home due to the Detroit Federal Court order.

Prior to the order, the Metropolitan Regional offices of DMH had ordered the 15 severely disturbed and mildly mentally retarded youngsters moved into a vacated wing of the hospital by Tuesday.

Robert Twitty, an attorney with Wayne County Legal Services who was called in by the parent of one youngster, filed for a permanent injunction against the move Friday. The court set a hearing date February 19 and issued an order preventing the move until at least after the hearing.

Moving the program, DMH contends, is a budgetary measure. Ken Stockton, of the regional office's community affairs division, said the Oak Park office would be closed and moved into the former nurses' quarters for an annual savings of $20,000 (see related story).

Plans would move offices to Northville

Metropolitan Regional office of the Department of Mental Health (DMH) may change its headquarters from Oak Park to Northville, bringing an estimated 35-40 jobs to the area.

DMH was prepared to make the move by March 1, Ken Stockton of the Metro Regional office's community affairs division said, but the timetable probably will be delayed, if not canceled, due to a court order Monday.

The offices were to be located in former nurses' quarters of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital (NRPH), which currently houses EPIC Center, a program for disturbed adolescents.

The EPIC program was to be moved into a ward of the main hospital Tuesed for an injunction against the move and the court ordered it halted until a hearing can be conducted February 19.

EPIC staff members, parents and the youngsters in the program, however, suggest that the regional office find some other program to displace.

"Every one of us here believes the move would be anti-therapeutic ... and pose grave security threats," one EPIC staff member, who preferred to remain anonymous, said. "I have heard no one involved with the program speak in favor of the move. We believe it would set every one of these kids back in their development."

Specifically, two staff members contend that contact with the mentally ill adults in the hospital would be detrimental to the quality of care offered the youngsters. In court, Twitty argued that the move would deny the children's rights to effective treatment and violate federal provisions guaranteeing the retarded and disturbed youth public education.

John Reynolds, NRPH director, said Monday plans had been made to prevent or minimize contact between the youngsters and the adult patients.

"We wouldn't have them in a situation where they would be in constant contact with the adults," Reynolds said. "Though they would be in the same building, EPIC would retain its independent status."

The staff members, however, contend that locking off separate wards is not sufficient and that the youngsters would encounter the adults in elevators. stairwells and other common areas.

"You can't be too sure someone's not going to say 'Hi' and the kid may become involved in that way, Reynolds said, "but I don't think the department would do anything it thought could be injurious or detrimental to the adolescents in that program.

Supporters of the program argue that any sort of continued and regular contact with the adults could destroy the work done with the sometimes violenceprone youngsters in the unique program.

EPIC Center, they contend, is a special program that has served as a model for other programs dealing with children who are both emotionally disturbed and mentally retarded. It is the only program working with these children in Michigan.

All workers in the program are child care workers with degrees in psychology, education or social work, not resident care assistants, who are hired without degrees.

Staffing ratios are high, despite three staff vacancies. The program is about half its intended size, since admissions were cut off in November.

Stockton said the regional office is taking the position that the only thing being done to EPIC Center is to change its location.

"It would be unfair, really, to say the regional office is denying some client rights," he said. "We do not believe moving the program violates any rights or seriously diminishes the quality of care offered.

Whether EPIC is moved into the main hospital or not, it is still subject to attempts to dismantle it. As supporters of the program admit, it appears a likely budget cutting target with its high costper-patient (due to staffing ratios) and small overall size.

A November attempt to shut EPIC down was defeated by the legislature, which continued funding for the program.

Senator Robert Geake (R-Northville) said DMH is urging cancellation of the program in Lansing, where he is a member of the senate appropriations committee.

"We are going to start reviewing DMH's request to close EPIC Center soon," Geake said. "The department is facing very serious difficulties. This is # invalid, Lansing told

As the city of Northville (Wayne ty Equalization Department Director County portion) is faced with a 41.7 fac-George McEachran and says he tends tor increase if equalization by class as now mandated takes effect this year, City Manager Steven Walters is telling state legislators that, if anything, city commercial property is underassessed.

The city has been reeling since Wayne County residential equalization rate increases were announced that showed it, along with two other communities, would suffer the biggest adustment.

Dearborn's residential factor under equalization by class is 49.7. Gibraltar, at 42.7, also tops Northville's, but both have giant industries.

More typical of the residential factor increase are Northville Township at 20.9 and Plymouth Township with 27, as well as the City of Plymouth with 20.6.

In a letter sent Monday to Senators Robert Geake and Douglas Ross and Representatives Jack Kirksey and Richard Fessler with a copy to this newspaper (see letters to the editor), Walters explains that Wayne County arrived at the 1981 city equalization factors by using approximately 100 residential figures, including those sales in the peak 1978 year, while deciding the limited (four) commercial sales data was not representative.

Therefore, Walters reveals, the Wayne County Equalization Department late last year performed an appraisal study of Northville commercial property instead, making an estimate of replacement values of selected buildings and comparing those estimates to the assessed values.

"Ironically," Walters points out, "while commercial properties were being equalized on a replacement-cost basis, the residential properties were being equalized on a market sale basis which reflected a strong market demand through 1978.'

Walters has talked with Wayne Coun-

George McEachran and says he tends to agree with him that in the city's case data used simply was not realistic.

At the direction of city council, Walters researched the city's commercial sales and concludes that they indicate under-assessment if land contract sales are included. He points out that purchase price of such sales does not have to be revealed, making it impossible for Wayne County to obtain a valid assessment.

Walters said yesterday his main purpose in sending the information to Lansing is to give the legislators the city's reasons for them to seek a postponement of the implementation of Public Act 114.

"They (Wayne County) on the basis of the four commercial sales available decided they were so much above assessed value that they simply were not valid," Walters says, noting that one was under-assessed. The former Standard station at Main and Church, he says, needed extensive renovation for another use and the property has such limited parking that the sale price reflected this.

The other three sales noted, he continues, were much above the assessments. These were buildings on Center.

Northville Township, while not hit with the increase of the city, also is concerned. On its agenda for the February trustees' meeting Thursday is a resolution to be drafted and sent to Lansing. Until the storm canceled plans, Township business manager David Lelko had expected to go to Lansing Tuesday.

Monday night Northville Board of Education also looked with alarm at the factor increase by class, expressing concern that it could result in a taxpayer revolt as it planned to ask for an operating millage renewal in a special election April 4. See related school board story.

Board seeks 9.5 millage renewal

Prudent investing may have kept the Northville Public Schools in relatively sound financial shape this year, but projections suggest hard times might be ahead for the district - and they might not be too far away.

At the Northville Board of Education meeting Monday night Superintendent Lawrence Nichols told board members that this year "has been the most difficult year in state funded education that I have seen in my career - and next year promises to be darker."

However, Northville's school administrators have more than just state funding woes to worry about.

At Monday's meeting the board of education unanimously approved a resolution calling for a special election April 4 to renew 9.5 of the district's 26.5 mills for five years.

Board members and administrators expressed concern that Northville voters, faced with the current "equalization by class" issue and increased taxes, will vote down the millage renewal.

"We are not asking for an increase," Nichols explained, "but a renewal to maintain the current 26.5 level.

"If the mills aren't renewed," he said, "there will be cataclysmic program reductions."

Nichols explained that failure to renew the 9.5 mills will result in 30 percent across the board reductions in school programs. This would include massive programming cutbacks as well as layoffs of 30 percent of the staff. The mills up for renewal are the result of three separate mill actions -

3.9 mills passed in 1976, 2.6 mills passed in 1978, and 3 mills passed in 1979.

January 8 at the Renaissance Center titled "An Agenda for the '80s at which over 300 small businesses were represented.

At the forum, problem areas for small businesses were delineated and preparation was made to find solutions to those problems.

Representatives will meet two or three times with their local cohorts and then attend a conference in March to prepare an agenda of proposed reforms to the legislature in Lansing.

"If small businesses don't stick together, their interests are going to be pushed aside," he explained. He emphasized that he has no antipathy toward large businesses, it's simply that the interests of the two are not identical

The most-mentioned problems at the forum were the small business tax and workman's compensation and unemployment compensation. The compromise reform bill recently approved on workman's compensation is not satisfactory to the small businessman, Bakkila said.

"There's still a lot of work to be done there," he said

Other considerations include Bakkila's proposal that business taxes be graduated according to the number of employees A maximum of 250 employees, considered the small business limit, would pay the maximum tax rate with stepped decreases down the the places that employ five or fewer.

Twelve broad areas of concern were defined at the forum and representatives will be gathering local opinions on this issues to take to Lansing.

These include taxation policies, business incentives, state procurement practices and other factors affecting the small business climate.

In addition, Bakkila and others are asking nearby businessmen to report the numbers employed in their operations to determine how large a voting bloc they represent.

"I think they (legislators) are in for some surprises," he said. "Their are a lot of people out there who have interests in the success of small businesses.

Flooding on Rogers due to be corrected

At its meeting next Monday, Northville City Council will consider the claims of two families on North Rogers who are seeking reimbursement from the city for water damages apparently caused by the creation of Potomac Avenue at the north end of Rogers.

In December Malcolm and Molly Manley of 368 North Rogers and Norman Frid of 374 North Rogers wrote the city concerning the major water problems they have enountered since Potomac was constructed.

Water runoff accumulated in the drain in front of the Manley house, and, as the drain was not large enough to accommodate it, their letter detailed, resulted in flooding of yards and basements.

The families said after receiving no action on complaints to the city they raised the ground levels at their homes Manleys took action themselves after "wall-towall carpeting in our family room rotted on the floor in spite of our attempts to keep it dry."

meeting stated that his firm feels that until the paving is completed (on Potomac), the addition of speed bumps placed just uphill from the catch basins and extending from gutter to gutter, plus a one-and-a-half to two-inch asphalt "dam" placed downhill from the grates will ease the problem.

The speed bump, six inches high on the engineering sketch, would be located about 400 feet from Rogers on Potomac.

Ted Mapes, city superintendent of public works, stated he was satisfied with McNeelv's suggestions and will implement the plan as soon as weather permits.

City Manager Steven Walters suggested that sand bags also could be us-ed to contain early flooding.

Frid told the council that the problem was not the result of anything they (Rogars streat families) had d

Norman Frid said the problem only began after the street was cut through on the north and that it required 98 yards of dirt to raise his grade level. It eliminated flooding of the front yard, he said, but "there is still water running down our driveway into our garage and down the north side of our house.

After the families appeared at the January 5 council meeting, the council asked for a report from its engineering firm and the DPW.

Engineer Edward J. McNeely in his report at the February 2 council noted that Potomac "is going to be making money" as part of a new subdivision as he asked for consideration of the claims submitted.

His claim for $934, he said, included labor only for the truck driver, in redoing his vard.

The Manleys are asking $2,377 for new yard, new sidewalk construction, new carpeting and padding.

Both families stressed the amounts did not include their own labor.

Mayor Paul Vernon asked the city manager to justify the claims for a report at the next meeting. Walters asked the city attorney to confer with Mapes, the former engineer Harold Penn and McNeely for their input.

Budget reductions cut deep into local state hospital

Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital (NRPH), like the rest of the state's mental health system, is sufferbing the affects of budget shortfalls.

NRPH Director John Reynolds said in an interview Monday that the state hospital has lost nearly 200 staff members in the past year while patient populations have risen by a similar

In addition to 80 layoffs last May and June, NRPH (known locally as Northville State Hospital) has laid off 110 workers since mid-January, including the most recent layoff notice Friday.

"We are having to reorganize, trying to utilize the staff that we have to the best we are able," Reynolds said. "Nobody likes the increase in the number of patients per staff, but we (NRPH) are $2 million short of full funding.'

Reynolds said the hospital is in the process of closing four of its 25 wards, with an average 33 patients per ward. A Michigan State Employees Association (MSEA) union representative contended, however, that patient populations are higher than the figure Reynolds quoted.

The MSEA representative, who requested anonymity, said she had worked on a ward with 46 patients (intended to serve 40) with three other staff

She also claimed the hospital was closing all its 20-patient wards and consolidating them into the 40-patient wards, leaving 14 working wards of the 25 in the hospital.

Reynolds said precise staffing ratios have not yet been determined, and will vary under the planned reorganization.

"These are really very

The pre-placement wards would have the lowest staff numbers and would be composed of patients "ready for, or nearly ready for, community place-ment through the local mental health auspices of the local agency Reynolds said NRPH's pre-placement unit should be operational within three weeks. He called it "a variation on the night hospital idea" and said patients would be released to the local agency in the day and returned to the hospital at night

The cuts in staffing state-wide are being accompanied by attempts to reduce patient populations. Dr Frank Ochberg, director of the department of mental health (DMH), has said there are many patients in the hospitals who do not belong there.

Reynolds said tight screening by local agencies and high patient turnover at NRPH makes it less likely that there are people in the Northville facility who do not belong.

"Let's face it, people get in the hospital who probably shouldn't be here," Reynolds said, "because there is no one to take care of them anywhere else or because someone made a mistake.

year ago levels Last January, Reynolds noted, the hospital had between 680 and 700 patients

Today, he said, the population is more like 760 to 800. During accreditation reviews last April, he recalled, the hospital was told it was understaffed with its 1,100 employees for 700 patients

Today there are 910 employees for 800 patients.

The employees are divided into three shifts and the count includes indirect care workers (food services, laundry, etc) as well as direct care workers (who deal with patients).

Layoffs have been split, Reynolds said, roughly in compliance with state guidelines. Sixty percent of the cuts have come in indirect care staff while 40 percent have come from direct care

"we are now looking at our maintenance staff. When I came here,. the hospital was really in poor shape. We've managed to improve it, clean it up But now, it looks like we're going to have to reduce maintenance on the buildings and grounds '

Money-saving has not been confined to staffing cuts, he noted

"We have already started cutting travel expenses, upkeep on the hospital, we have cut materials back to the bone," he said, "and we have practically no money allocated for new equipment We have stopped virtually all equipment purchases

As is the case through DMH's domain, Reynolds and his staff have adopted an attitude of weathering out the storm while trying to maintain some level of services.

S he its an ,, m- p- ve at en-	Initially, the department contended that community placement was a cost- efficient move partially spurred by low budgets resulting from the state's severe recession. ## Domicile idea dies, placement stressed

"The domiciliary care proposal is no longer," said Ken Stockton, community affairs officer of the metropolitan regional office of the state department of mental health.

Domiciliary care was a proposal of Dr. Frank Ochberg, DMH director, that would have placed state hospital patients in separate buildings were they would receive the absolute minimum of care

The Michigan State Employees Association (MSEA) called it 'warehousing of patients" and took the department to court at Clinton Valley Center in Pontiac where one of the first domiciles was to be located.

They lost their case against the layoffs accompanying the move, but the department withdrew the proposal anyway.

It has been replaced with "preplacement units" located within the hospital, where patients receive some care while awaiting placement in community homes through a local agency. "In the pre-placement units,"

Stockton said, "these are people who are ready for placement or nearly ready, but we just don't have available quality care programs in place for them.'

While over time the placement of patients in community homes will reduce hospital populations, debate rages over the quality of care patients receive and the cost efficiency of the program.

"I would not be surprised to find that community, placement costs somewhat more than hospital care," said John Reynolds, director of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital. "The support services needed are expensive."

NRPH was on the original list of hospitals which were to have domiciliary care units. The one at Northville was to be located in former nurses' quarters. That building will either house EPIC Center or the regional office of the DMH now (see related stories, page 1).

A recent audit of DMH operations concluded that community placement cost two to three times as much as hospital care. Ochberg has issued vehe-

"What you have to remember," Reynolds said, "is that quality community placements require a lot of support services. The people must have most of their day programmed so that they keep in touch with the local agen-

"They need day-long activity and they get counseling, pills if they need them," he continued, "and if they need that medication, or that counseling, and they don't get it, they wind up back in the hospital.

The community placement home's smaller, more intimate, living environment, DMH is contending, will provide better treatment and, over a period of years, reduce the number of people making repeated use of mental health ervices.

"Being in a smaller living facility has benefits," Reynolds said, "to be sure. I'm not so sure the hospital is as bad as everyone says it is, but then it can't compare with really good community care either '

The expense, however, is the most vehemently debated facet of the entire program.

City's Master Plan update reviewed

"Northville is not typical It's special "

When the current update of the Master Plan of Land Use for the City of Northville is completed, it very likely will reflect the words uttered by Thomas Wheaton, city planner.

Twelve graduate students at the Unversity of Michigan have been gathering data, researching history books and questioning numerous Northville residents, as well as members of the business community and city government for the past several mon-

The City of Northville agreed to hire the group to develop a new master plan - the current plan being more than seven years old.

The group's fact-finding efforts, the first of two major steps, were the topic of a "fine-tuning" session with the city planning commission February 3. The two groups reviewed the eightsection 200-page document, city planners suggesting certain changes and discussing other points of concern Among the areas covered are history, land use and physical inventory, population, government and municipal services, economics, housing, com-munity facilities and transportation.

Livonia resident Timothy Lambert, spokesman for the U of M student planners, said he was surprised by some of the things he found during his research. "I am amazed by the great amount of land in the historical district," he said.

"You don't find that in very many communities anymore.'

The students invited all city commissions and boards and all city employees to an informal session last night (Tuesday) and currently are preparing for a meeting with private groups and citizens at 8 p.m. Wednesday, February 17 to get further input.

"We are now in the process of identi-fying problems and setting goals to counteract the problems," Lambert said "We will take the information we have gathered, comments and suggestions from the city officials and citizens and work it into what we hope is a comprehensive plan for the city.

Most changes recommended by city planners were concerned with clearifying phrases and correcting figures.

A few, however, were more significant

"I think the population projection of 20 years does not take into considera tion the unknown factors," stated Member Wheaton. "I don't know what the number of years should be, but 20 is just too many. To apply a general formula is not accurate in Northville.'

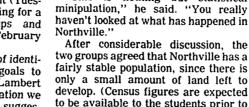

Fred Joels agreed with his fellow member.

"This is nothing but statistical minipulation," he said. "You really haven't looked at what has happened in Northville,' two groups agreed that Northville has a fairly stable population, since there is only a small amount of land left to develop. (Census figures are expected to be available to the students prior to their completion of the master plan.)

This house, situated at the back of the lot at 364 Wing in the City of Northville, is being proposed for a small group home for up to six persons needing supervisory care. After receiving license application notice from the Michigan Department of Social Services, Northville City Council set a public hearing for 8 p.m. Monday in council chambers. The city has until March 4 to respond to the notice and to notify residents living within 1500 feet by public hearing notice or letter. ## Tucker resigns from post on planning commission

As it accepted the resignation of William Tucker from the planning commission with regret, Northville City Council at its February 2 meeting voted him thanks for his service to the city.

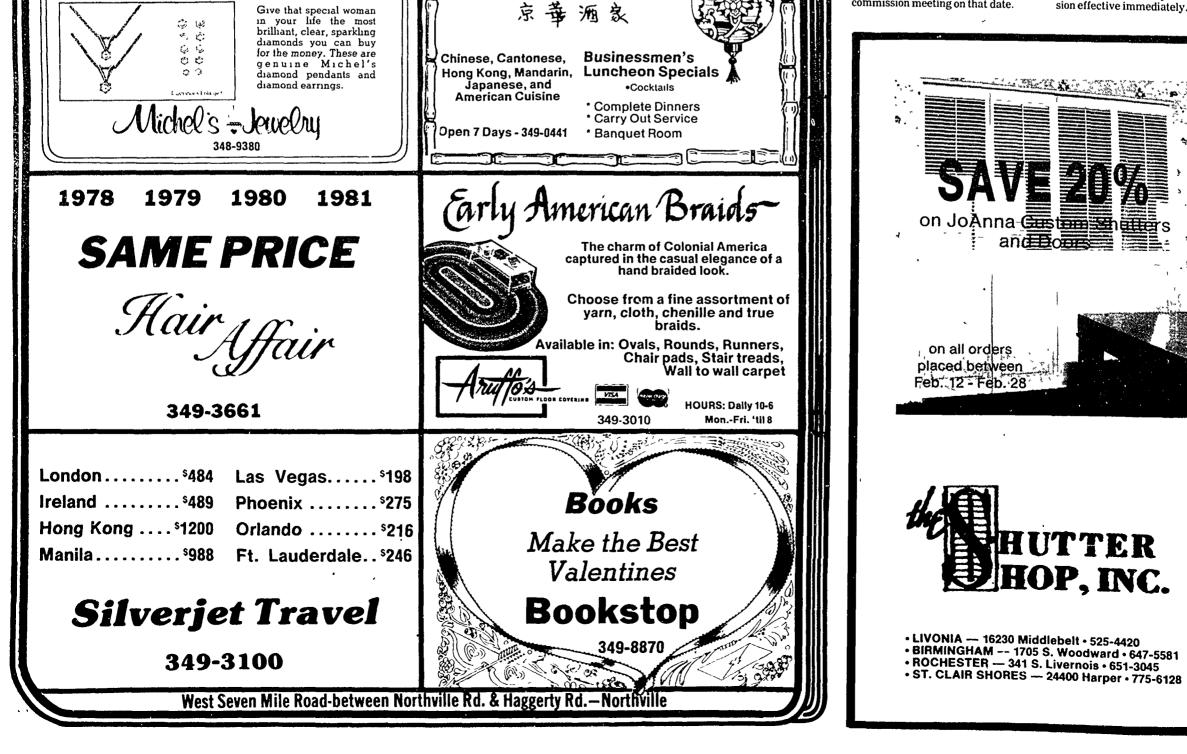

Tucker, a resident of Northville Estates, was completing his first threeyear term on the planning commission. It expires June 30 of this year.

Tucker submitted his resignation January 20 after the January planning commission meeting on that date.

He said he regretfully was tendering the resignation as he "has enjoyed the opportunity to serve the city and have always wished for more time to spend on the issues under consideration.

"I now find I will have even less time to devote to these matters. Rather than find myself in a position of doing a poor job on important city concerns," the letter continued, "I believe it is in the best interest of all concerned that I resign my seat on the planning commission effective immediately.

Birds of a feather freeze together?

It's winter sure enough, but judging by the number of ducks and geese that are still hanging around you would never know it

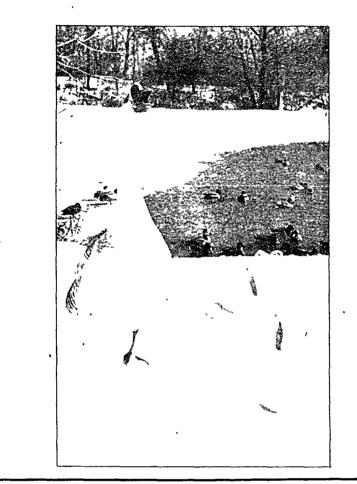

Both the Fish Hatchery and the Ford ponds still are crowded with assorted breeds of fowl that will probably weather the remaining winter storms, ac-cording to an official from the Department of Natural Resources.

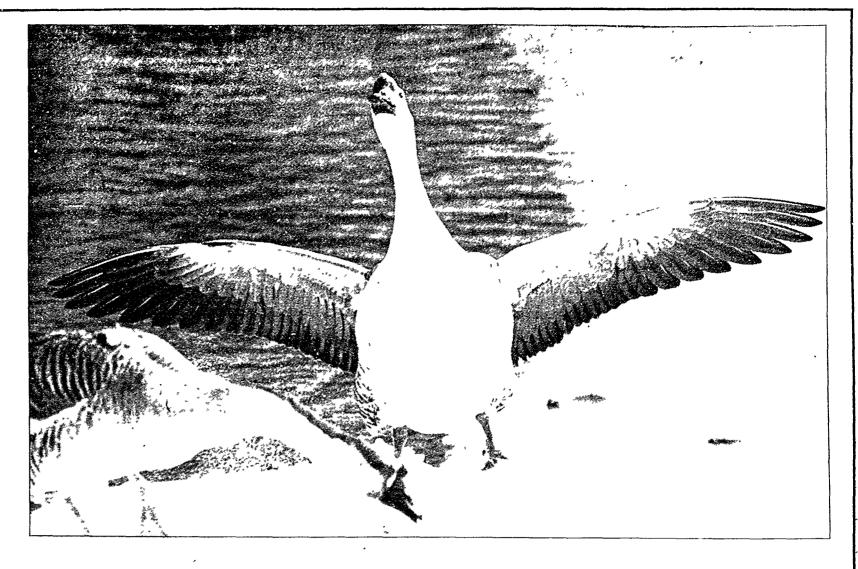

Marvin Cooley from the bureau of Southern Land Management said that all over southeastern Michigan, flocks of ducks and geese have decided to stay. He attributes this unwillingness to migrate to corn fields and open streams which supply the birds with the food and water that they need to survive.

"We're sort of building a local breed of bird which haven't migrated," he said.

As long as there is food and water available, Cooley didn't seem to think that the birds would decide to head south.

Zoning ordinance nearly done, planners try to resolve details

Completion of a revised zoning ordinance for Northville Township may come within the month Only minor details remain to be resolved following a special meeting of the planning commission February 3.

The ordinance, the principle tool in a community's ability to control its development, has undergone a thorough re-evalution over the past eight months.

It is being revised under a federal grant as a follow-up measure to completion of a new master plan for township land use last year

The proposed ordinance, after completion by the planning commission, faces a public hearing and review by the board of trustees before it becomes

As in current and past documents, the proposed law is philosophically aimed to promote the township as a community of single family homes, bolstered by sufficient business, industrial and office developments to serve the needs of its residents

Major revisions include addition of a third business zoning class to give the planners more control of the size, appearance and location of "convenience shopping centers '

Grant funds allocated toward township planning

four areas influencing future growth in Northville Township, the board of trustees decided last week

Fifteen percent of Community Development Block Grants, which the township receives for a sewer project in Five Mile (see related story), are earmarked toward future planning by HUD, which distributes the funds, and Wayne County, which administers the program.

In the past, the township has used these funds to update its master plan of land use, to thoroughly revise its zoning ordinance (a task nearing completion now) and to conduct other studies related to planning.

Once the zoning ordinance is com-pleted, funding for which is approved through June, the four projects the board approved last week will begin. These include:

Federal funds will be used to study • A complete update of subdivision regulations (not done in past 12 years) along with mapping for new township maps

• An inventory of "environmentally sensitive areas" as a tool for future planning decisions.

Study of bikeway possibilities (first proposed by the Jaycees).
Historic site identification

Planning consultant Claude Coates recommended the addition of historic site identification after finding that the environmental review was largely completed by a HUD study of the Rouge River flood plain, which runs through the township.

Planning Commissioner Marvin Gans recommended the bikeway study when it appeared there would be adequate funding available

Both the 1980 grant (which runs through June 30) and the 1981 grant (begining July 1) are for $14,000.

Also altered are the three classes of single family residential zoning, all of which would require larger lots and lower density subdivisions under the proposal

Remaining issues which could be resolved in a special 7 pm session immediately prior to the regular 8 p m meeting of the planning commission February 24, include the following:

- Provisions, required by law, for mobile home parks These parks would be limited to areas zoned for industrial or multiple-family residential and would be prohibited from abutting single family zones. State regulations governing mobile home park restrictions will be studied prior to final decisions on yard and setback requirements.

 Detailed "performance standards" for noise and vibration limits need to be updated since those in the present ordinance are not current with advances in the field Regulations of the federal EPA and the state of Oregon are being reviewed with an eye toward adopting some portion of each as local law.

- A new section which would require certain developers to submit assessments of environmen-'tal and economic impact of rezoning requests is being reviewed for suitability to the planning process (see related story).

Pursell named to committee

Michigan Congressman Carl Pursell (R-Second Distrcit) has been named to the steering committee of the Northeast-Midwest Congressional Coalition. The coalition is composed of the 213 members of Congress from its 18 states. Each state delegation names its representatives to the 35-member steering committee.

Pursell said he would like to see the coalition concentrate on attacking the region's number one issue, economic revival, in a positive manner.

In addition to his leadership role on the steering committee, Pursell will continue as co-chairman of the coalition's budget task force. He also is a member of the House appropriations committee.

'Ordinance proposal

Planners to require impact studies

Environmental and economic results of proposed developments within Northville Township may come in for closer scrutiny under a new zoning ordinance now being prepared.

A requirement that those seeking changes in property zoning file impact assessments with their rezoning petitions prompted a detailed discussion by the planning commission at its February 3 work session

Planning consultant Claude Coates drafted the requirement for en vironmental and economic assessment documents

Basically, the environmental section would require statements or maps showing the topography of the land, soil conditions and plant life.

Under the economic section, developers would be asked to show how much the development would add to the township tax base and what additional costs (police and fire services, schools, etc.) the community would incur.

The requirements are most stringent for parcels over five acres that would not comply with the township's master plan of land use when rezoned, and least restrictive on parcels under five acres that would comply.

Coates said only a handful of communities had such requirements, Southfield among them, and that he had attempted to use what information there was available to give the greatest control with the least additional burden to developers.

At the beginning of the process of revising the zoning laws last year, the commission had asked if they could require such data because some members felt it was often "working in the dark" when reviewing rezoning petitions

Upon hearing what their request had wrought, however, some commissioners had serious reservations.

"I have no objection to requiring a assessment of the environmental character of the land," commissioner Bernard Baldwin said. "I don't believe the planning commission should be involved with the economic impact."

Baldwin, supported by Richard Allen, contended that economic impact depends on the ultimate development of the property, not on its zoning alone. The commission tries to determine the best type of use for the land, he said, and other considerations are left to the site planning stage. Allen reminded the commission that once land is zoned for certain class of uses, planners cannot legally prevent a use allowed in that zone.

"(The developer) is still not bound to do whatever it is he tells you he is going to do with the land," Allen said. "He can sell it tomorrow with its zoning and the whole economic impact statement becomes useless."

Moreover, Baldwin said, the likelihood of deriving any real benefit from the information is low.

"Do you think anyone is going to br- cost more than they bring in, while ing you an economic impact statement that says, 'this is going to be bad for you?'" Baldwin asked. "You're not going to get anything out of it and at the same time you're broadening your requirements for developers.'

Vice chairman William Bohan supported inclusion of the economic assessment. He said the commission has no idea of how its decisions affect the township and that he would like to know.

"What we're talking about here is whether the township will have to hire more policemen, if we'll have to expand fire services, if the schools will be able to handle added loads," Bohan said. "We should know those things when we make a decision."

Baldwin and chairman Kenneth McLarty, however, worried that developers would be given ammunition in attempts to add commercial and in-dustrial sites not desired by the township

"Look, your preamble states that Northville Township will be primarily single family residential," Baldwin said.

"Now, from the township's point of view, it's business point of view, that is not an economically sound basis for development. Single family districts businesses usually are profitable to township

"If we require a developer to submit this assessment, he could argue that we have to give it weight, that because he is going to bring money in here, we have to give him what he wants "

Should developers sue when denied a change in zoning, McLarty said, the required economic assessment might bolster their legal arguments.

Allen moved that the section be deleted and Baldwin seconded the motion.

Bohan suggested that the commission "think about it for awhile" before changing anything. He indicated it might be best to retain the environmental portion of the requirement while adding the basic elements of the economic statement to the section.

Other suggestions included changes in when the assessments would be required, having them sent to the trustees instead of the planners, or making the requirements apply only to the largest of parcels (15 or 20 acres and up).

Baldwin withdrew his support of Allen's motion and it died for lack of support. A decision on the issue will probably be made at a special session February 24.

Conditional approval was granted a preliminary site plan for the project by the township planning commission last week

Industrial zoning of the property, at the corner of Wallis and Gerald, recently was approved Jack Doheny, owner of a similar development on property adjacent to the new site, said he plans three more buildings to be leased to other businesses

"I don't think it (the site) lends itself to industrial manufacturing," Doheny said, "we are looking toward industrial warehousing going in there."

Until water lines are extended toward the area, Doheny explained, the new construction will be served by a well

The project covers a large segment of the property, making a close approach to the lake front (at the gravel pit officially known as Lake Success) The parking area, which does not encircle the buildings, was of primary concern to the planning commission

"I am willing to approve this in this form for now," said vice-chairman William Bohan, "with the understanding that if the fire department is worried about emergency access to the buildings that building would have to shortened and the driveway extended behind so you could circle around it " Resolution of minor considerations raised by township engineering and planning consultants were made a condition of the preliminary approval

Adjacent multiple-family residential zoning and development across the lake from the site made the appearance of the structures a concern also, and Doheny assured the commission he had discussed the matter with nearby developers and was conscious of the need for a neat appearance.

"We want to landscape there, we want it to be a picturesque place," Doheny said He also notified the commission that efforts to minimize any possible sources of pollution would be made.

"My own business is pollution control supplies," Doheny said, "so you can see we know what we're doing.'

Doheny is expected to request backing for the project from the township Economic Development Corporation (EDC) at its meeting February 10.

The EDC could issue tax-free bonds to finance the construction project. It would be the first EDC project pursued soley on its own. Activity prior to the Doheny request has been limited to cooperation with other agencies

Township third in 1980 half-year construction stats

Northville Township, despite the lag in the housing market, still ranked second in Wayne County single family dwelling building permits issued in the first six months of 1980, a recent SEM-COG report shows

In those six months, the township issued 37 permits for construction of single family houses, second to Livonia's 69 permits and ahead of Canton Township's 33 in Wayne County

Many Oakland County communities out-built the Wayne locations Farmington Hills, for instance, launched 110 new houses and Avon Township 137. Novi issued permits for 53 new homes in the first six months

Full year figures will be released at mid-year Some are available now. The township had a total of 75 single family starts in 1980, about as close as one could expect to doubling the six-month figure

That the community scored well in relation to others may be less a result of local activity than of inactivity elsewhere.

The township set its own recent record low, but still maintained its position as a relative "hot spot" for building activity in a county-wide market collapse

The number of new permits issued in the six months was lower than any since 1968, when SEMCOG first started compiling the figures from the sevencounty region

The lowest six-month figure ever, recorded by SEMCOG prior to 1980 was in the recession year of 1975. The total 1980 figure was 3,914 permits, a 38 3 percent reduction from the 1975 total of 6.348 Total figures include both single family and multiple family dwellings.

A full 67 percent decline in permit issuance was registered in Wayne County in comparison to the first six months of 1979, which in turn was reduced from 1978 figures

SEMCOG also tabulates a "net building permit" total, which is the total new permits issued minus demolition permits issued. The regional net total registered a startling 92 7 percent decline in the housing stock relevant to 1979

The net 1980 total was 646 units, compared to 8,830 units total in 1979 (reduced from 11,428 due to demolitions).

The report lays the blame for the decline on economic conditions. In the six months measured, it notes, local unemployment ranged from 10.4 percent to 14.2 percent. The FHA mortgage rate peaked at 16.05 percent in March. Countering mortgage rate reductions

Breaking and entering tops recent crimes list

Township police are investigating several incidences of breaking and entering which occurred during the past two weeks. Three residences and a Northville business were among the victims. The fifth reported theft took place at the powerhouse on the grounds of the former Wayne County Child Development Center, 16300 Sheldon. Police said a portable electric generator, two drills, a pipe wrench tool, a hydraulic jack, two insulated snowmobile suits and a flashlight were taken from the building.

Workmen who were removing equipment from a building near the powerhouse were using the generator, police said.

Further investigation by police revealed that the thieves apparently escaped with the stolen property through a tunnel system which runs throughout the grounds and surfaces at various points.

Foot prints and other evidence were located at one point where the tunnel surfaces, near a group of buildings on the west side of Sheldon, currently being used by the Township Fire Department, police said. The stolen items are valued at more than $400

More than $3,000 in appliances was taken from Northville Appliance, 42285 West Seven Mile sometime during the early morning hours of January 29, township police reported.

Two microwave ovens, five television sets, a humidifier, two vacuum cleaners, two corn poppers and two simmering pots were among the items taken, police said.

The burglars apparently gained entry through the ceiling, police said. Currently, there are no suspects.

More than $8,000 in miscellaneous jewelry and other items was reported stolen from a Sutters Lane residence 28, township police sa Several pair of earrings, necklaces, watches and other jewelry was reported missing along with a camera, a clock radio, a pair of binoculars and miscellaneous coins Police said the burglars apparently entered the home by prying open a window in the family room at the rear of the building Several rooms in the home were ransacked, police said.

An 18-year-old Wixom resident and a 16-year-old Northville youth were arrested by city police February 2 at Just Coins, 1039 Novi Road.

Jill Simon and the Northville juvenile were found in possession of a large amount of jewelry and coins believed to be stolen, police said.

Among the items found were charms, rings, chains, earrings and coins, police said.

Simon was charged with possession of stolen property over $100, while the 16-year-old female was released to her parents pending juvenile court action, police said.

Dennis Mozdzen of Just Coins called police when the two females entered his store and attempted to pawn the items.

Mozdzen told police he thought it was very unusual for the girls to have such a large collection of jewelry.

He said one of the girls told him it belonged to her and her dead mother.

Police believe the jewelry may have been taken from a Farmington Hills residence.

Farmington Hills police reported a breaking and entering which occurred in their community previous to the girls' attempt to sell the jewelry and coins, Northville police said

Mozdzen also told police two males sold him $44 worth of various coins just prior to when the girls entered the store.

Police are questioning the two males, one of which is Simon's brother.

City police are investigating five reports of slashed tires on cars which were parked at Northville Downs February 6.

Two vehicles had all four tires cut, while three others had two tires vandalized.

Value in each case ranges from $180 to $400.

Currently, there are no suspects.

The spare tire and wheel were stolen ford Pick-up truck parked rom : at Chatham supermarket, 425 North Center, February 6, city police reported. Also, two tires on the vehicle were slashed, police said.

A similar theft was reported at a Steepleview residence the same day, police said

Various items of silver and jewelry were reported missing.

Details of that burglary were not available, though police said the method and point of entry were similar to the Sutters Lane break-in.

A Valencia residence was broken into February 4, township police reported. More than $300 in miscellaneous coins were reported stolen as well as some Tootsie Rolls and bubble gum.

Police said there were no signs of forced entry.

The owner told police the tire was chained down in the open bed of the truck.

The stolen items are valued at $150. Damage is estimated at $150. Currently, there are no suspects.

Four Michelin tires on a Toyota parked at Chatham also were slashed February 7, city police said. Damage is estimated at $220.

Ski equipment valued at more than $700 was reported stolen from the storage area of an apartment building on Randolph sometime between March 15, 1980, and January 29, 1981, city police reported.

A pair of bindings, two sets of skis and a pair of boots were taken from a cage in the basement of the apartments, the owner told police. No other items were reported missing, police said.

Yet, he added that the reserves have kept the district in relatively sound financial shape and that there has been no program reductions or staff layoffs.

Nichols explained that much of the revenue has been used to make up for the district's loss of funds in categorical areas such as transportation, special education, etc.

'Revenues in categorical aid dropped from $600,000 last year to $ 130,000 this year," he said.

As for next year, Nichols explained that without the renewal of the 9 5 mills, "it will be literally impossible for the district revenues to sustain such a loss, particularly in light of anticipated further reductions of state revenues, and maintain any semblance of our current program.'

Regional DMH offices to move to Northville?

Stockton said the regional office expects to save $20,000 annually in administrative costs if it is allowed to occupy the nurses' quarters.

We have been on a one-month lease in our current building for quite some time," Stockton said, "we looked at a number of alternatives and this appeared to the best plan."

Those involved with EPIC, however, don't believe the projected monetary savings put forth by DMH.

A meeting between the concerned parties in Senator Edward Pierce's (D-Ann Arbor) Lansing offices last week angered two staff members, who requested anonymity.

'No one there from DMH could show us how they were going to save $100,000 (over five years)," one said. "They just told us we were laymen and couldn't understand the finer points of budgetmaking.

The other staff member pointed to a renovative expense of $80,000 incurred last year, when EPIC was moved into its present quarters from Northville Residential Training Center's (NRTC) H Building, a maximum security structure.

"And now they tell us they're going to spend another $10,000 in additional renovations for the offices and spend more in the ward of the hospital we are supposed to occupy," she said.

The director of the regional office stood right (in a classroom) and said he would take it as his personal office, but that it would need to be painted," she continued. "When I told him it had been painted last year, he said, 'but it's green, green makes me nauseous'.'

Walter Brown, director of the metropolitan office, was not available for comment prior to press time.

Stockton said the savings would be genuine, with lowered rent, combined maintenance staff (NRPH currently handles maintenance, and it is planning lavoffs of maintenance staff, director John Reynolds said), and other incidentals.

EPIC staff and parents contend that such savings could be seen as well in other locations

"If they're so sure the hospital is safe for the the children, why don't they move into the hospital and leave us alone," one staff member asked

"Why don't they take our old building (NRTC's H Building) or let us move back there when they take the nurse's quarters?" another said.

NRTC, mental health officials state, is slated to close in August or September of this year when all its residents will have been placed in community group homes. The buildings will be closed down to save upkeep and other costs.

Opening and renovating any NRTC buildings would not realize the same savings possible by moving directly into the former nurses' quarters, the department argues.

Stockton said every cent saved is im-portant in DMH's continued fight to stay within it budget.

"We are really in a crisis situation," he said. Staff layoffs in the metropolitan region's 10 facilities thus far have totalled roughly 1,000, he said, and DMH is still operating over budget.

"Right now, the department is looking at additional cutbacks in the current fiscal year," he said. "The first problem is that we are still operating over and above the $479 million budgeted by the legislature.".

Additionally, he said, "we are concerned because there continues to be a shortfall in state revenues, so that that the full $479 million may not become available.'

Stockton said his estimate that 40 administrative employees would move to Northville subject to revision, because the regional office is "very vulnerable" to layoffs in the next round of cutbacks.

Dorothy Bargy, the parent who sought legal action to stop the move of EPIC Center, said she is sympathetic to DMH's plight, but is suspicious of the regional office move.

'We are primarily concerned about the kids," she said. "I can understand if they have to move because of budget cutbacks, but if this is just because some administrator wants the plushest office he can find, then I'm angry."

the township.

The township owns about 77 acres of completed landfill while another 150 acres on which Holloway is constructing a ski hill of trash and earth is held in escrow until January 1, 1988 At that time, the hill will be complete and it too will become township property.

The township board has been given permission by the residents' action to enter into an agreement that will allow Getty to bore test holes in the landfill to see if decay is creating enough methane to make a recovery project feasible. If the methane is recoverable, and Getty has at least two other landfills which are already producing it, the township will receive the standard one-eighth, or 12.4 percent royalties, from the resource on its 77 acres.

Mineral rights under the landfill are not affected by the agreement. Supervisor Philip Brandon pointed out.

It will take approximately two years from the signing of the lease to actual production, Rawson said, adding that life expectancy of drawing off the gas would be another 15-20 years

Getty engineers have estimated that from one and one-half to two million cubic feet of gas a day may be produced by the process. Rawson said his company is currently committed to obtaining recovery rights on seven other landfills in the Detroit area.

He said 36-inch diameter holes will be bored in the landfill and six or eightinch slotted plastic pipes inserted with pea gravel placed around them. The pipes will be sealed so that no oxygen can be introduced into the landfill since that would stop the methane-creating process of decomposition.

Should the test holes prove profitable, well heads would be put in place and the pipes connected to larger pipes

On the suggestion of Runco, the task force has agreed to proceed as if the patrol will be unavailable after May 19; to obtain corporation counsel opinions regarding the possible closing of the park, use of secondary funds to help local police in patroling the park, and charging for park privileges; and to contact local police departments regarding the ability to provide patrol service

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the City Council will hold a public hearing on the above request after receiving a recommenda-tion from the Planning Board. Said hearing is scheduled for 8 p.m., EST, Monday, March 23, 1981, at the Novi Public Library, 45245 W. Ten Mile Road.

All interested persons are urged to attend these hearings.

CITY OF NOVI PLANNING BOARD John J. Roethel, Secretary CITY OF NOVI COUNCIL Patricia A. Loder, Deputy Clerk

HOWELL - Howell city officials are calling Six Star Cablevision in for a meeting and the way council members are talking, they just might be ready to yank the plug on the cable television

HOWELL - The board of commissioners here is considering increasing it size - from the current eight members to 15, 17 or even 21.

HOWELL - An independent investigation by a team of doctors from Michigan State University has found no evidence of foul play in 12 deaths occurring at the Hillcrest mental health facility here in 1979, but four deaths remain unexplained.

BRIGHTON - After spending nearly four hours studying a final site plan proposed by Meijer Corporation for a Thrifty Acres store on Grand River, the City of Brighton planning commission declined to pass plans for review by city council BRIGHTON - Nobody wants to say very much about it on the record, but a very large business deal concerning the Mt. Brighton area evidentally is in the works. The project apparently centers around a new hotel or motel.

FOWLERVILLE - Keeping with a state-wide austerity mood, the Fowlerville Village Council has approved its 1981-82 budget that calls for the village to spend approximately $99,000 less than it did this past year.

HIGHLAND - An order by an Oakland County circuit judge has opened the door to the creation of a 30-acre commercial center along M-59, about one-half mile west of the North Milford Road intersection.

MILFORD — An apparent difference of opinion between the state attorney general's office and the Huron Valley School District's attorney over whether school board member Larry Jones has a possible conflict of interest has not yet been resolved.

MILFORD - Oakland County is interested in purchasing the troubled Marlowe landfill in Rose Township, and while negotiations continue between the county and the landfill's owner, the dump site will remain open.

WHITE LAKE - A third grader here died as a result of injuries received when he was run over by the school bus he had exited.

NOVI - Some lawsuits never die, or even fade away. The 1979 circuit court decision which gave the city the authority to annex seven township parcels has been declared wrong by the Michigan Court of Appeals, which means the state boundary commission could be asked again to review its decision.

NOVI - Despite bleak economic conditions, three development projects are moving ahead. They include the West Oaks (K-mart) shopping center and Art Van Furniture, both located in the socalled regional center area around Twelve Oaks Mall, and the Marty Feldman Chevrolet dealership on Grand River.

WOLVERINE LAKE - A one-lane bridge between Oak Island Drive and Oak Island here is literally on its last legs. Workers are tearing it down and expect to have the entire structure demolished by the end of February. Later a new bridge is to be erected.

We all remember too well the long lines at the gasoline pumps in the early 70s and to a lesser degree the gas shortage of 1979. As a result we were all urged to alter our driving habits in an effort to conserve gasoline or face the strong possibility of rationing.

News from Lansing

And conserve we did in Michigan! In 1979 gasoline sales in Michigan fell off by some 16 million gallons from the previous year. And in the fiscal 1980, they dropped even more - an additional 511 million gallons. Projections for 1981 point to a further decline in gas sales of 170 million gallons.

This drastic drop has occurred even though a record 6.6 million vehicles are now registered in the state. The decline can be attributed to more transportation facilities, and a boom in car and vanpooling. But while we have reduced the likelihood of gas shortages through our diligent energy-saving measures on the one hand, it appears we have created another problem in the process

Michigan's highway maintenance and construction programs are financed from revenues made up from gasoline and diesel fuel taxes and motor vehicle license plate fees Due to the decline in gas sales, Michigan's highway fund revenues have dropped nearly $58 million in the past two years and are expected to decline another $19 million this year. In addition, Michigan license plate fees are based on the vehicle weight.

Its principal objective is to help small weight vehicles on the road, license plate fee revenues also are dropping. Compounding the problem is inflation The costs for equipment and labor to maintain our highway system have increased dramatically. As an example, during the past 10 years, the cost of concrete has increased 1794 percent Yet Transportation Fund Revenues have gone up only 799 percent. Next year it is estimated revenues will actually decrease by five percent What all that means is that unless some remedies are taken soon the spring thaw "potholes" and roadway breakup will go unrepaired.

The Transportation Department has proposed adding a two percent sur-charge on each gallon of gasoline that would be in addition to the 11 cent per gallon tax the state already levies.

With the increasing number of lighter The department also suggests a flat rate of $28 annual license plate fee for , autos weighing less than 4,500 pounds. This would be about one dollar more than the current per-car average.

These proposals may have trouble gaining support at a time when Governor Milliken and legislators are all talking about tax cuts

However, it is clear the legislature is going to have to take a close look at the situation and resolve the problem Good roads have played a major role in establishing and maintaining Michigan's prosperity over the years

If we are to revive our economy in Michigan, it is absolutely vital that we maintain our highway system It, too. must be one of our top priorities. Jobs and a healthy business climate depend on a solid transportation and wellbalanced transportation network.

Attendance

policy opposed

To the Editor:

The recent headline of your paper states, "213 dropped for absences." Students and parents have criticized the attendance policy that leads to such class drop-outs, but apparently the high school administration and school board is not considering changing this rule. This can be seen in your paper's second article on this matter which was little more than an attempt by the administration to justify its policy.

Something is lacking in the school's policy when an administrator states,

Parents are against "skipping" and are for a disciplined school, but they are not for a harsh, inflexible, burdensome attendance policy — one that is just plain "hard nosed" — that can Cause undue suffering. Perhaps the basic problem is that ad-ministration and school board have forgotten the purpose of our schools. Don't they remember it is to educate? How can they do so by forcing students to drop classes?

Attendance is an important part in learning at school and skipping should be discouraged, but forced unattendance is even a greater evil than skipping. To force students to drop classes sure does not create a learning situation for them, and it can create in them bitter attitudes against the

Has self-discipline been taught the students so they can handle the "open campus atmosphere"? If this freedom results in the "skipping abuse," maybe it should be changed.

Has the time come for a change in the high school's policy? I believe it has.

The present attendance, policy just is not fair, and I just cannot believe it instills a good attitude in the students. When a policy forces students to be dropped for a major sickness something has to be done. The administration and teachers are allowed more than six sick days.

If the administration does not want to change this policy, then the time has come to change the administration. If the school board does not wish to do this, then the time is here to change the school board.

Why should parents have to continue to worry that their children might get caught by the harsh, inflexible, burdensome attendance policy. They don't have to put up with something they don't want. This is the people's school. They pay high taxes so their children can be educated. To see their children not be able to attend class - to be dropouts — is just too much.

And it is just not acceptable to most parents to send their children to private schools, as some have done. And it is just not acceptable to continue as we have because the word about this policy will get around and affect our values. Who will want to move into a school district with such a policy if they have high school children.

14-A-THE NORTHVILLE RECORD-Wednesday February 11 1981

Our Opinions Where's equity in SEV process?

If taxpayers could be sure cent of its market value while governmental units would not accept additional dollars resulting from State Equalized Value (SEV) increases, the gigantic residential increases slated here would have no great impact on taxpayers' pocketbooks.

The problem is that they cannot be sure; in fact, government, generally, has a propensity for taking all or most of what it can legally take.

That's one reason reader Neil Winters is compelled to make an interesting proposal in his letter carried on the opposite page. Don't do anything about the increased SEV, he suggests, just roll back the millage rates in pro-portion to the SEV increase. There are holes in his proposal, to be sure, but no more so than in the Governor's "rollback" provision (See Senator Geake's letter).

Unfortunately, Mr. Winters and the governor do not address the problem of inequity in the SEV process itself.

Although theoretically the SEV is suppose to equalize the base on which your property and that of your neighbor are taxed, the opposite is true. The SEV exaggerates assessment inequity within a community; it does not correct it.

For example: assume that your house has a market value of $50,000 and is properly assessed at $25,000 or 50 percent of its value. Assume also that your neighbor's home of the same market value is improperly assessed at $20,000 or 40 percent of its value.

If the SEV worked as it should in this example, the your neighbor's home has an SEV of $25,000 or 50-percent.

"Assessment by class" does nothing about this inequity; like the above example, it exaggerates the inequity.

Another disturbing aspect of the SEV process is that the projected SEV values are based on sales studies that already are obsolete. For example, new state equalized values are based on sales that occurred as much as two years ago — before the bottom fell out of the housing market. Two years ago when you bought your $50,000 house it was the best you could do; today if you tried to sell it you might have to take less. Thus, while we may be living in a buyer's market we're taxed as if we were in yesterday's seller's market.

And if that isn't enough to make you spit nails, consider the fact that the law does not compel the local muncipality or the state to formally notify you of an SEV increase and its impact on your tax bill.

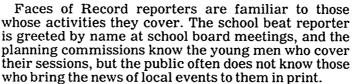

You will be given an advance opportunity to protest an assessment increase at a board of review hearing next month (March 3), but nary a word will be sent you about an increased SEV. You won't know what's happened until your tax bill arrives.

We have no quarrel with "equalization by class" except to say that it cannot work until we have equalization within classes. And since the present SEV process does not allow for that, we might better dump the whole SEV procedure and require, instead, community-wide reassessments annually or at least biannually.

Therefore, to introduce our news gatherers to our readers we'll be telling you more about them here for the next few issues. I think you'll like getting to know these alert young professionals on our staff - Jean Day.

Red-headed Ken Kovacs isn't a basketball player, but he lists the game as one of his favorite sports. As sports editor for The Record he's in the high school gym as often as possible covering home games.

Ken, who began to write for us in May, 1979, happily agrees he's now on "the beat of his choice" as he covers basketball, baseball (his top favorites), football and golf. He received his present assignment in July, 1980, when Jim Haynes reenlisted in the service.

Ken previously covered school and township beats for The Record. Because this newspaper always has believed staffers should keep in touch with hard news by covering meetings — and because it's a necessity if a weekly is to cover meetings of public bodies in the community — it has been a long-time requirement that every reporter has a meeting beat. Ken, therefore, faithfully attends meetings of the city planning com-mission. "I really like the community," he says as he presently is studying the revision of the city's master plan with the commissioners.

Ken, who received his BA degree from Central Michigan University in 1976, majored in journalism and broadcasting. He is a native-born Detroiter who was raised in Allen Park (1972 graduate of Schafer High School).

Before coming to The Record, he worked as a reporter for the Mellus Newspapers, downriver, March-October 1977; and for The Trenton Times as managing editor, 1977-79. His parents still live in Allen Park, but Ken has his own bachelor quarters where he likes to listen to all kinds of music. His interests also include travel.

But sports get prime time - he likes to get on skis whenever he can, pick up a baseball bat, find a racquetball game.

Things you might not know and probably don't want to know:

assessed value of your neighbor's house would increase by 25 percent to $25,000 and the base on your home would remain the same. Not so. The SEV drives up the tax base of both homes by 25percent. Thus, your home now has an SEV of $31,250 - or 63 per-

Too costly, you say? Suppose those who are underassessed were made to pay for the reassessments. You might be surprised how quickly property owners demand that they be assessed properly.

Patrons needed?

This week another letter appears concerning the departure of the Performing Arts Guild from the Marquis Theatre. Frankly, we're sorry to see it. Members of The Record staff have talked with both Inge Zayti, owner of the theater, and the PAG directors. It seems there were misconceptions on both sides.

Accusations on both sides raise questions. There are inaccuracies in assertions from both. Today's letter from the guild directors, for example, states that flyers were the only promotion for "Grease," but the Marquis ad in the new Chamber of Commerce directory noted that "Grease" was coming. Mrs. Zayti obviously meant that she had not received inquiries when she stated "not one ticket had been sold."

But this is nitpicking. The problem is one of understanding. An "in-residence" theater company certainly is a cultural asset to a community — but an expen-sive one. Obviously, Mrs. Zayti has tried to help, but we question whether she has to be the patron for such an endeavor. The theater restoration which she undertook was a tasteful, major one — an at-traction for Northville. To Mrs. Zayti's credit, it must be noted that she did not approach the newspaper to complain. In the interest of fair reporting she was sought out when the directors came to tell their story of the end of the association.

As a local business person, the theater owner should be able to make a profit. As a theater group in-residence a guild should have support. We feel other avenues should have been ex-plored. Northville's new Arts Council has said it was formed to support local culture. There also is the Michigan Council for the Arts which has state monies (now tight) for such aid.

These may not be the answer. Perhaps there is not enough interest to support a local live theater company. But the present dart-throwing certainly isn't going to provide an answer, either.

but for me it can only mean "Stella Dallas," one of the favorite radio serials of a lifetime ago. Stella, whose real name was Anne Elster, died last week at the age of 82.

Remember the show intro? "...a continuation on the air of the true-to-life story of mother love and sacrifice, in which Stella Dallas saw her own beloved daughter Laurel marry into wealth and society and, realizing the differences in their tastes and worlds, went out of Laurel's life." Incidentally, Stella or Anne missed only two broadcasts in the nearly 19 years the program was on the air.

Stones or rocks really are made of stone; skips and hog lines and hacks are game terms; and the game itself was invented by the Scots who wanted something to do when the weather became too cruel for golf.

A couple weeks ago we ran a story on our entertainment page about the opening of the White House Manor restaurant, located in the. historic Thornton-Rogers house on Nine Mile. On the same page was a story about a Bonstelle Theatre play.

"How very coincidental," said Lucille Thornton Dawsett. My grandfather, Roe Thornton, had sold part of his Nine Mile farm to his good friend Jesse Bonstelle after whom the theater is named."

They voice opposition to 'evaluation by class' issue

To the Editor:

(Copy of letter to Governor William Milliken, Senator R. Robert Geake and Representative Jack Kirksey.)

The subject of PA (Public Act) 114 appears to be driving many citizens of Northville Township and the City of Northville up the wall. As you well know, implementation of this law would result in a tax increase of 20.9 percent in the township and a 41.7 percent tax increase in the city.

This is purely "confiscatory" since the increase would take place without the vote of the electorate.

As an 11-year resident of the township, I have been completely unaware (maybe through ignorance) that the assessed values of our homes were made on any basis different from the rest of the state. My understanding has always been that the State Equalization Factor took care of any discrepancies.

If my understanding of PA 114 is correct, its purpose is to bring all properties in the state to a valuation of 50 percent of market value is not intended to raise property taxes per se. The effect, however, will be to increase taxes to an unconscionable level.

Prior to PA 114, all millage approvals or disapprovals have been based on the electorate's consideration of what the millage increase would do to taxes on the current State Equalized Value of the property concerned at the time of each millage proposal. Now we are being told that our taxes are going up without any voice in the decision.

To increase the property valuations without rolling back the millage rates so as to maintain the total tax level approved by the electorate would be a gross miscarriage of government fiscal responsibility.

Delaying the implementation of PA 114 is not the answer. Implement the law now but tie it to a rollback in tax millage which would maintain taxes at the current level. Then the electorate can decide whether or not to give the county, city, township, schools, etc., more in tax millage.

This millage rollback, using Northville Township as an example, should be as follows: Current Tax Basis

State Equalized Value $50,000 Current Tax Millage 54.03 Total Property Tax $2,702

New Tax Basis New Valuation (20.9 percent increase) $60,450 New Tax Millage 44.69 Total Property Tax $2,702

On this basis, each entity of government and the school systems would receive the same monies as before the implementation of PA114 and we, the electorate, could vote on any tax increases.

Without the millage rollback, the government entities and the school systems would get a "windfall" tax of $565 in the above township example. In the City of Northville the "windfall" would be $1,135 on a property of equal value.

PA 114 can be made palatable if the executive and legislative branches choose to make it so. Let's see responsible government at work.

Sincerely,

A lesser known provision of this proposal calls for "truth in taxation" whereby millage would be reduced each year to offset the increase in valuation of existing property. The governing board of the local governmental unit could restore all or part of the millage by majority vote in order to allow some increase in the tax rate to adjust for inflation. This automatic rollback of millage rates to compensate for inordinate equalization factors would address the problem stated in your resolution.

The legislature currently is considering the problem and hopefully will come up with the required two-thirds vote in each House to place it on the ballot this May, in time to affect the 1981 property taxes.

Also, Representative John Bennett has intoduced II.B.4044 which would delay the implementation of PA 114 until 1984. I support this bill.

Thank you for sending me a copy of these resolutions. I certainly agree that equalization factors have increased to the point where property tax reform is absolutely essential and I congratulate the council on taking this stand. Sincerely,

R. Robert Geake State Senator

P.S. I voted against PA 114 when it was in the Senate.

To the Editor:

(Copy of letter sent Monday to Representatives Jack Kirksey and Richard Fessler, and Senators Robert Geake and Douglas Ross.)

I am writing to share some information with you about the "equalization by class" issue as it pertains to the City of Northville.

When the data was released recently by the Wayne County Equalization Department, showing that equalization by class in the Wayne County portion of the City of Northville would result in a 42 percent increase in residential assessments and a 21 percent decrease in commercial assessments, I was surprised because Northville's downtown commercial property seemed to be in increasing demand in 1979 and 1980, in response to our downtown development project.

I have now gathered some interesting data relative to the 1981 equalization factors which indicates the following: (1) Commercial property in Northville is UNDER-assessed and should be increased relative to residential, if anything, rather than decreased; (2) The nature of commercial land contract sales prevents the county equalization departments from obtaining needed sales data; and (3) The limited sales data which Wayne County did have for Northville indicated that commercial property was under-assessed rather than over-

prices were substantially over their respective assessed market values. The average of these four sale prices ($65,125) was eight percent higher than their average assessed market value ($59,764.)

However, the Wayne County Equalization Department decided that this limited sales data was not representative of commercial properties as a whole, and they performed an appraisal study instead, making an estimate of replacement values of selected buildings and comparing these estimates to the assessed values. This process resulted in the proposed 1981 commercial equalization factor of 1.25, a reduction of 21 percent from the single 1980 equalization factor of 1.58.

It can be argued that the appraisal approach to assessing fails to properly reflect the market's view of income potential and future economic potential of a commercial property; and that in a downtown with older buildings and a downtown redevelopment project under construction, the market's view of value will be much higher than the building replacement value.

Ironically, while the commercial properties were being equalized on a replacement-cost basis, the residential properties were being equalized on a market sale basis, which reflected a strong market demand through 1978, with prices well in excess of current replacement value being paid. This resulted in the proposed 1981 residential equalization factor of 2.24, an increase of 42 percent over the single 1980 equalization factor of 1.58.

This is not meant in any way as a criticism of George McEachran or the Wayne County Equalization Department. They have suffered substantial staff reductions, and are essentially applying the procedures required by the state tax law. Furthermore, there is ad-ditional sales data which is not available to them.

ADDITIONAL COMMERCIAL SALES DATA. Commercial land contracts can be recorded without a sale price being revealed This is common practice, and prevents the county equalization departments from obtaining data on many relevant commercial Five additional sales figures would have been available to Wayne County for Northville commercial properties if they had not been suppressed on the recorded land contracts. I have obtained sales figures confidentially from buyer and/or seller sources, and therefore I can present only the averages of these sales figures here. However, these sales support the view that Northville commercial properties are UNDER-assessed rather than overassessed, and that the 1981 proposed equalization factors do not properly reflect the value of Northville commercial property.

The average sale price among the suppressed sales figures was $131,250, compared to their average assessed market value in 1980 of $76,622.

If these sales are combined with the four commercial sales with Wavne County had available, the result is as follows:

CONCLUSION. Contrary to the cries $1,500 each. Mrs Zayti actually fronted of some legislators, the single equalization factor was as unfair as it appeared, at least in Northville's case.

Just as important, "equalization by class" is not better than the soundness of the data used to compute it

I hope this will assist you in supporting a delay of "equalization by class" for at least a year, to give an opportunity to reconsider some of the mechanical problems in the equalization process itself.

Based on the above information, it wuld be a serious injustice to residential taxpayers in Northville, and an unjustified give-away to commercial taxpayers, to implement "equalization by class" as proposed.

PAG members respond to letters

To the Editor:

In response to two letters and one article which have appeared in The Record during recent weeks, The Performing Arts Guild would like to raise the following points.

The decision to leave the theatre had little to do with the cancellation of Grease" — as seems to be misconstrued by so many. The cancellation was simply the proverbial straw which broke the camel's back by being the last in a long line of problems. In Tony Nader's letter of January 23, he claims The Marquis has done nothing to prevent the PAG from having success at the theatre. That is just the point. The theatre has done virtually nothing. As every good merchant knows, the success or failure in selling a commodity is linked directly to the promotion of that commodity.

The PAG and its productions of "Man of LaMancha" and "Count Dracula" received precious little publicity from The Marquis. Promotion of the productions was a Marquis responsibility and was specifically outlined in PAG-Marquis production contracts. In fact, "Dracula" promotion consisted of little more than a handful of posters hung up about town and a few radio announcements and newspaper stories provided by the PAG itself. The attendance figures speak for themselves — if the theatre, for once, kept any.

In the feature article of January 23, Mrs. Zayti stated that not one single ticket had been sold for "Grease," thus causing its cancellation. This is true because not one single ticket had even been printed. But this is a technicality. However, the fact that little "Grease" promotion had been done, is not.

Except for the distribution of approximately 500 flyers by the PAG at the Northville Christmas Walks on November 30 and December 7, no other promotion for the show had even been attempted as the performances were almost three months down the road.

the PAG $2,900 for the royalties, and at the time of repayment asked for a $1,400 check. She willingly donated the balance of $1,500 to the PAG for their work at the theatre, saying she felt sorry for the group because it had not made much money on the show Fern Kogut in her letter of January 28, and in accordance with Mrs. Zayti, states the Marquis had to pay all of the royalties for "LaMancha" and "Dracula" and had never been reimbursed. Wrong again

As pointed out above, the Marquis was repaid the amount it requested during "La Mancha" while the "Dracula" royalties were paid directly to New York by the PAG from the PAG's private account The Marquis had nothing to do with "Dracula" royalties. Essentially, then, Fern Kogut and the Marquis, almost with Mrs Zayti's endorsement, is falsely accusing the PAG of (not repaying) almost $3,100!

In conclusion, let it be noted that on January 30 Fern Kogut was contacted by the PAG and asked to either publicly (through this newspaper) publish proof or retract the accusations she has levied against the PAG for the Marquis. Also, all PAG books, accounts, budgets, contracts and cancelled checks are open for viewing by anyone who cares to investigate them. The viewer will find our claims and figures to be well documented. Respectfully, The Performing Arts Guild Walter Hill, Director

He's thankful shot wasn't fatal

To the Editor:

I'm writing this letter in hopes that it will be printed in the paper. Maybe the person who shot a gun into our home last Sunday night (February 1) might read it and realize how close they came to taking an innocent life.

The bullet came into our sleeping house through my son's window and missed hitting him by only three feet. It continued to ricochet wildly and ended up into the back wall of our home.

Needless to say, waking up to a horrible discovery like this was unbelievable! The initial shock was terrible, but then to realize what could have happened is frightening.

I suppose there is a time and place for guns, but shooting into a home or a roadside sign is not it. The need for stronger law enforcement for the misused gun should be an apparent one. Just take a look at some of the roadside signs that ARE shot up here and there, not to mention my house.

We thank God for his protection and realize that if things were different, these last few days could have been the saddest of our lives.

(Copy of letter to Joan McAllister, Northville City Clerk.)

Thank you for sending me a copy of your January 19 and February 2 resolutions exhorting the legislature to change the tax law in order to reduce the impact of the county and state equalization factors on local property taxpayers. As you have noted, Public Act 114 of '79 "equalization by class" has made the problem much worse for homeowners.

Last week the Governor proposed a property tax reform measure which would reduce each homeowner's property tax by 35 percent and make up part of the difference by increasing the sales tax from four to five percent.

and the first half of 1980 (the 30-month period used to compute the 1981 equalization factor); but only four commercial sales figures were available for that same period.

The four commercial cases included one sale which indicated that the property involved was over-assessed: This was a closed gas station property with almost no parking area which was bought for $50,500, compared to its assessed market value (i.e. the SEV doubled) of $74,007. Substantial remodeling was immediately done to make the present use, a music store, possible.

The other three commercial cases supported the 1980 equalized values: One sale was slightly below the assessed market value and the other two sale

Mrs. Zavti goes on to claim the PAG asked her to front $6,000 to $7,000 for the "Grease" royalties. Wrong. the PAG asked for a $3,000 front of which $1,000 was raised at a flea market for which the PAG donated a weekend's worth of time selling out-of-stock clothing and nicknacks donated by Mrs. Zayti.

Lastly, Mrs. Zayti states she fronted the PAG $3,000 for "LaMancha" royalties and after the production had to split this amount with the PAG,

For Valentine's Day, say it with ...

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Section

As most romantics and sentimentalists will tell you, 'tis the season to cast aside the winter blues and gear up for the slings of Cupid's arrows.

With February 14th only days away, most of us are rushing about buying cards that gush with mush and ordering flowers in the seasonal hues of pink and red.

With many old-fashioned traditions falling to the wayside, Valentine's Day seems to hold special meaning for those trying to retain the quaint custom.

Though flowers and cards seem to 🖡 abound about this time of year, the true Valentine's Day greeting seems to be best expressed through the sweetest gift of all — candy.

The specialty at Sweets'N'Treats is the homemade chocolate and Jim explained that "the homemade candy sells more than anything else."

However, he said one of the hottest selling candies lately has been Jelly Belly's, the gourmet jelly bean most recently popularized by President Reagan.

Pancake supper heads list of things to do in winter

By JEAN DAY

Even in the dead of frigid February winter there's lots going on in our town. It takes more than sleet and snow to stop local planners.

Pancake makers will be flipping Friday

Northville Mothers' Club has no qualms about scheduling its annual pancakes-and-sausage supper on Friday, February 13. It will be served from 5:30-7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria and is a fund-raiser for club projects for the Northville Public Schools.

The supper precedes the Walled Lake Western-Mustangs basketball game. Tickets are available from club members at $2.25 for adults and $1.50 for students. They also will be sold at the door.

Historical Society dance tickets go on sale

Northville Historical Society isn't waiting for spring for annual dinner dance. Chairman Judith Sechler distributed tickets to members of her committee last week. The first dance held in February, 1973, to benefit the Mill Race Historical Village used a poster with a frolicking couple to announce the event.

The same design has been utilized ever since with this year's dance on March 7 at Meadowbrook Country Club no exception. Mrs. Sechler, who keeps banker's hours herself, however, took note of the increasing number of working women of our community and scheduled her planning meeting as an evening one last Wednesday night in her Edenderry home.

Country Girls are planning 100 salads

It will be almost spring when Country Girls Garden Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association holds a repeat of its successful salad luncheon fashion show. It is to be at 11:30 a.m. March 14 at First Methodist Church.

Last year's fabulous first event was a sellout. President Karon Frisbie is hoping to duplicate that success as it's the group's only fund-raiser. It supports scholarship and garden-of-the-month awards. Members are supplying the 100 different salads for the buffet. Fashions will be from Westchester Square shops in Plymouth and include Tadmore's which features women's sizes, Sacks and Beautiful People Hair Fashions.

A potpourri table of plants, recipes and gift items will be a feature. Tickets are available at $5 from members or from Mary Ann Batzka, 420-2799.

TAKES TWO TEETH TO TANGO

Q. I am told that if you can avoid it, you should never lose any teeth in your mouth. Why?

A. Each tooth plays a very important role with the other teeth. A tooth below needs a tooth above to chew properly, and vice versa. Each tooth interacts with its neighbor to help support the other, and to create a "contact" to prevent food from lodging against the gums. The loss of one tooth, can cause the breakdown of ar entire mouth. Just as in all relationships, it takes two to tango, in this case it takes thirty-two.

Patricia Troth wonders, "How could I know that this love through jealousy - would bring about his death."

'The Night of January 16th' features local actress

Patricia Troth of Northville becomes Nancy Lee Faulkner, young wife of the murdered man in "Night of January 16," for seven performances in the Plymouth Theatre Guild's current offering.

She takes the witness stand in the intricate plot of a melodrama which keeps the audience in suspense

For the unusual play representing three days of Karen Andre's trial for the murder of a Swedish financial manipulator, the Plymouth Theatre Guild has obtained use of the Plymouth courtroom at city hall, 201 South Main in Plymouth.

Performances are at 8 p.m. this Friday and Saturday and February 20 and 21. There also is a Sunday. February 15, performance at 7 p.m

At each performance 12 different members of each audience are being given the opportunity to serve on the jury: the jury not only tries the case onstage but also determines the play's ending by its verdict.

Ms. Troth is among those taking the witness stand during the play. A longtime member and past board member of the guild, she is a special education teacher with the Inkster schools She has been teaching for seven years

Serving the Northville, Novi and Wixom area for 3 generations

She previously played Constance in We Have Always Lived in the Castle," Venessa in "Play It Again, Sam" for which she also was assistant director and Fifi in "Love Rides the Rails." She has worked backstage as stage manager and been producer for "Ransom of Red Chief

Linda Pavey of Canton, a pharmaceutical representative for Parke-Davis and Company, has the role of the bold, impassioned girl accused of murder

Dan Murray as District Attorney Flint points the finger of guild at her as attorney for the prosecution

The cast also includes a Swedish maid, private detective, a bookkeeper and a dancer.

Clemie Cyburt is directing the suspenseful saga by Ayn Rand who also wrote "The Fountainhead" and "Atlas Shrugged.'

Tickets are $3 50 for adults, $2.50 for young people under 18 and for senior citizens Group rates are available by calling Karen Groves, 420-2161, or Robin Galick, 261-2875.

Tickets are available at the door and may be ordered in advance by mailing checks to the guild, Box 451, Plymouth, 48170.

BPW's seeking young careerists

The Northville chapter of the Na-tional Federaton of Business and Professional Women's Clubs now is accepting contestants for its annual Young Career Woman Award.

Dr. Carol Geake, Northville's Young Careerist chairman, in announcing the competition for the award states that contestants must be between the ages of 20 and 30, be active in their community and show evidence of ability to succeed in their chosen business or profession

She reports that three local young women already have submitted applications. They are Ellen Sponseller, copy editor of the Ann Arbor News and former Northville Record school reporter; Christine VanDam, proprietor of a lingerie shop in Renaissance Center; and Patty Hoffman, speech therapist at Cottage Hospital in Grosse Pointe.

Candidates will be asked to give a three-minute autobiographical speech followed by a five-minute interview with a threee judge panel.

The local contest will be held at 6:30 pm. February 23 in the Mayflower Hotel dining room in Plymouth Contest judges will be Northville Mayor Paul Vernon, Kay Keegan, executive director of the Northville Chamber of Commerce, and Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas

The local winner will go on to compete in a district level contest covering the communities of Wayne, Westland, Redford, Novi, Northville, Plymouth,

"We sell about 50 of those a week," Jim said.

For the weight conscious there is dietetic chocolate made with fructose, a sweet sugar from fruit and honey.

Shirley said that making candy is "certainly a creative outlet" and added that sometime they would like to open a small department in the store for selling candy making supplies.

The Cowies have been spending some extra hours in the kitchen these past few days in preparation for Valentine's Day.

Shirley explained that they do especially well at holiday times. "At Christmas we far exceeded our expectations," she said.

During the Christmas holidays, the Cowies created a peppermint chocolate chocolate is to hide it."

which Shirley described as a customer favorite.

For Valentine's Day, there are many homemade specialties to choose from including solid chocolate hearts in a variety of sizes and flavors - milk,

Mustang cage crumbling causes conference logjam

By KEN KOVACS

It was like a bad dream come true. Every shot Dave Ward put up in the first half against Plymouth Canton failed to find its mark. And when that happens, the Northville High School basketball team isn't quite the same.

The result was the Mustangs' second loss in Western Six conference play, as well as their second defeat of the week. (Livonia Franklin surprised Northville 48-46 Tuesday).

The Mustangs now stand at 11-4 overall.

The upset, coupled with victories by Farmington Harrison and Livonia Churchill, created a three-way tie for first place - each squad boasting a 5-2 conference record.

With the victory, Canton - at 4-3 - is within one game of the league leaders. Senior Sean Houle led the Chiefs' scoring attack with 21 points and earned praise from Northville coach Tim Lutes.

"We cannot defend Houle one-onone," he said. "Nobody in our league can do that. He is a real fine forward. "We have to play good team defense like we did when we beat them last time," Lutes continued. "But after we missed all those shots in the first quarter everyone starting standing around. It was like we couldn't believe the shots weren't going in '

The Mustangs hit only three of 16 shots from inside five feet in the first half and netted only five of 28 total shots in the first half.

Canton, meanwhile, hit nine of 18 shots and four of four free throws to take a 22-10 lead into the lockerroom.

At the intermission Ward, who has been averaging more than 17 points per game, had not accounted for a single point.

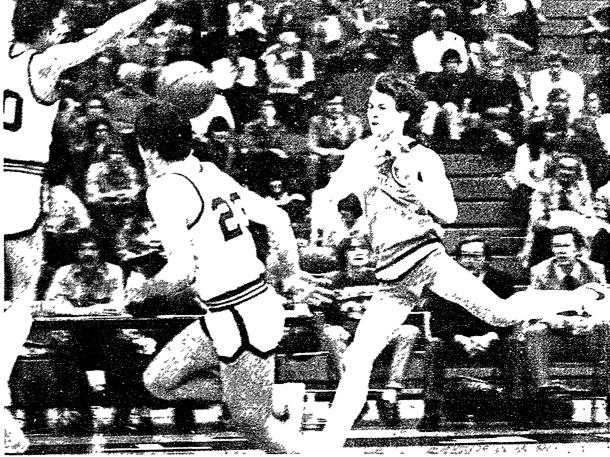

The Mustangs shocked the Chiefs at the opening of the third period, sinking two baskets in less than a minute - off steals by Gary Kucher and Duke Dusablon.

A stubborn Mustang full-court press resulted in 12 points, while keeping Canton to only six in the third period.

Northville pulled within two points (32-30) early in the fourth quarter, but the visitors couldn't maintain their intensity for the final six minutes.

Canton netted 14 points, while limiting Northville to 10 in the final period, to hold on for the win. "I think we just ran out of gas a little

Spikers crush Western

Second place is several victories away, but still is within the grasp of the Northville High School volleyball team. The Mustang spikers boosted their league mark to 2-4 Thursday, sweeping Walled Lake Western in two games, 16-14, 15-7 and opening the way for a possible second place finish in the Western Six Conference.

The loss was the Warriors' second, knocking them from the runner-up spot. But neither of the Northville triumphs came easy.

"Both were very hard-fought games," said Mustang coach Steve McDonald. "It took over an hour to complete two games. Usually it takes a half hour, or 45 minutes maximum."

It took Northville's best effort to eke out the first contest and the second was much closer than the score would indicate.

The two squads were knotted at 7-7 for nearly 10 minutes before the Mustangs broke the ice and went on to win.

Leading the way for Northville wcre junior hitter Melinda House and senior Kim Maguire.

House scored 27 good hits in 30 attempts, while Maguire had 27 attempts, 22 of which were good.

McDonald also praised the play of Tammy Chew and Karen Irwin. Chew added 15 good hits in 16 attempts, while Irwin notched 15 playable serves in 18 attempts.

"Though House and Maguire were the leaders, without the support of Chew and Irwin we would have had a tough time," McDonald said.

Two of the Mustangs' most consistent performers this year, Lori Mitchell and Diane Hrubiak, continued their accurate serving and setting against Western.

Together they amassed 57 good serves in 63 attempts.

Maguire and Chew also had good fortune at the serving line, putting up 12 and 10 good serves, respectively, without missing a single shot.

"You can't ask for much more as a coach," McDonald said. "The girls really gave a great effort, returning some almost impossible serves and coming through with the big plays at the right time.'

The Northville spikers were slated for a tough week of competition beginning with a trip to Plymouth Canton Monday.

The Mustangs were scheduled to travel to travel to Brighton Tuesday before returning home to face Farmington Harrison Wednesday.

JV volleyballers win, too

The junior varsity Mustang volleyball squad recently won three of five contests to even its Western Six record at 3-3 and overall mark to 3-5.

The Northville spikers downed Farmington Harrison in three games, 6-15, 15-7 and 15-9; beat Waterford Mott 15-9, 11-15, 15-6; and swept Walled Lake Western in two games, 16-14 and 15-5.

The JV Mustangs dropped a match to Novi, 15-12, 7-15 and 14-16 and were pummeled by Livonia Churchill, 15-1 and 15-2. Nancy Brown, a setter who recently was moved up to the varsity squad, led the Mustangs in the win over Harrison.

She was aided by hitters Jan Irwin and Judy Morgan

Other standouts in the three victories include hitter Chris Petit and setter Jenny Gans. In the lone win over Novi, eight of Gans' 15 serves resulted in Northville points.

> Coach Paul Osbrone also praised the play of Angle Butterfield, Janet Dean, Carol DeBoutt and Terry Gray.

Mustang wrestlers fail to keep title, finish in cellar at Western Six meet

By KEN KOVACS

The woes which have plagued the Northville High School wrestling team all season finally came to an abrupt end Friday.

Though the Mustangs have two dual meets and district competition still to contend with, the defending Western Six Conference champs had the roof fall in at the league meet at Farmington Harrison, as they managed only 68 points - less than half that accumulated by league champ Plymouth Canton (165)

Walled Lake Western was not far behind, with a total of 156 points, while Waterford Mott finished third with 108 and Harrison and Livonia Churchill had indentical scores of 91.

Northville heavyweight Vince Candela, seeded number one in the league, was the lone Mustang Western Six Conference champ.

The junior grappler had a bye his first match, won by default in his second contest and beat Western heavyweight Rich Richardson 6-3 in the third and final match to clinch the title.

Candela, who currently boasts a 30-7 record, can become the winnest heavyweight in the history of Northville High School if he wins three more matches.

The Mustang wrestler also could a' least tie former Northville grappler Bill Blanchard's record in career wins if he continues his success as a senior next year.

In other league matchups Steve Ross finished second, scoring a 7-2 win in his first match before being pinned by the eventual 98pound champ from Plymouth Canton.

Neil Hartshorne finished third in a field of six at 105 pounds, dropping his first match to the league champ, then picked up two successive wins by a pin and a 7-3 decision.

Lose to Central, Western, Churchill

Grapplers whip Ann Arbor

Victories have not come easy for the Northville High School wrestlers this season.

So when they do triumph, like they did last week in a 30-28 win over Ann Arbor Huron, there is cause for celebration.

The week was not all glory for the Northville grapplers, however, as they also suffered defeats to Walled Lake Western (45-19), Walled Lake Central (45-18) and Livonia Churchill (36-31).

Enroute to the win over Huron, Jack Wallace pinned his man at 138 pounds and Steve Ross, Neil Hartshorne, Neil Fitz-Patrick and Dan Sackllah won on voids at 98, 105, 155 and 167 pounds, respectively.

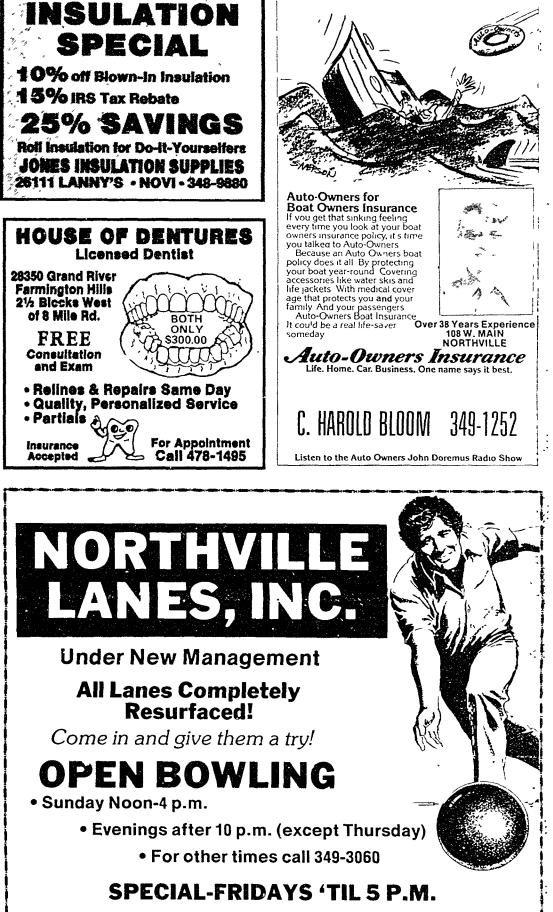

In other matches Mike Ross lost 7-4 at 112 pounds; Frank Nieto lost 5-0 at 119, Greg Marshall was beaten 10-2 at 126; Bromley Kelly suffered a pin at 132; John Collins lost a 7-6 heartbreaker at 145; and heavyweight Vince Candela suffered a 1-0 loss Against Western Mustang winners include Ross at 98 (by pin); R. S. Wolfgram at 112 (4-2); Jack Wallace at 138 (15-6) and Candela (by pin).

Mustang match victors against Churchill include Steve Ross (by pin), Hartshorne (10-6), Wolfgram (by pin), Wallace (13-4), Brian Hamilton (by pin) and Candela (by pin).

The Mustangs will close their dual meet season in a tri-meet with Willow Run and Manchester today.

R. S. Wolfgram, wrestling in the upper bracket, lost 6-4 and was pinned in two successive matches at 112.

Greg Marshall, competing at 119 pounds, gave the eventual league champ a tough match before bowing 3-2, then lost 13-2 to the number one seed.

Frank Nieto was pinned twice at 126 pounds, while Bromley Kelly also lost two matches by falls at 132.

Second seed Jack Wallace lost an 8-6 heartbreaker to an opponent he had beaten earlier in the season, then won his next two matchups, 6-1 and 4-2 to finished third at 138 pounds.

At 145 Brian Hamilton lost his first match by a pin, but rebounded to win by a decision in his second contest. Hamilton bowed 4-2 in his final match.

Dan Sackllah jumped to a 5-0 lead in his first match at 167 before his opponent pinned his shoulders to the mat.

Sackllah then pinned his next two opponents to salvage a third place finish.

Voids have been a problem for the Mustang wrestlers all season and the league meet was no exception.

Northville could not produce wrestlers at 155, 185 and 198 pounds due to several injuries.

The Mustangs will travel to Ann Arbor Huron for district competition Saturday. Wrestling is set to begin at noon.

Among the schools scheduled to compete are Pioneer and Huron from Ann Arbor; Ypsilanti, Jackson Parkside, Farmington and North Farmington and Livonia Stevenson.

Cooke cagers downed

Despite a 27-point effort by center Steve Schrader, the Cooke Junior High School basketball team suffered a 60-56 defeat at the hands of Dearborn Divine Child Thursday. The host Cooke cagers trailed their opponents by seven points at the half and as many as 14 at one point in the third quarter. But they fought off the powerful Divine Child offense to pull ahead by five points with three minutes to play. However, some key mistakes in the final minutes allowed the visitors some easy baskets to claim the win. (Twenty-four points by Divine Child ninth grader Chris Wagner, the Cooke coach's son, also was a factor.) "That makes four games that we beat ourselves,'' said frustrated Cooke coach Gene Wagner. "But the kids have gotten an opportunity to play in some real close ball games and I think they have learned from the experience.

'I like to win but it is not as important at this level (junior high) as learning the fundamentals and how to play defense.'

Guard Bob Pegrum added 17 points for Cooke, while forward Scott Gala collected six.

The Cooke cagers now boast a 9-6 overall record. They were scheduled to take on Best Tuesday and Belleville North Thurs-

Both Northville junior high school basketball squads, Cooke and Meads Mill, will participate in a ninth grade invitational tournament February 23, 24 and 25 at Divine Child.

as amended, shall hold a public hearing on February 23, 1981, at 8:00 o'clock p.m., in City of Novi offices, Ten Mile Road, Novi, Michigan.

The Public Hearing shall be held to consider whether the Project Plan recommended to the City Council by The Economic Development Corpoation of the City of Novi constitutes a public purpose and whether City Council approval by resolution of the Project Plan is advisable.

Under the Project Plan the Project would consist of the construction and operation of a commercial facility and related improvements to be located at the West Oaks Shopping Center on the west side of Novi Road, north of the I-96 Expressway.

The Project would be acquired by The Economic Development Corporation of the City of Novi (the "EDC") with the proceeds of approximately $2,000,000 of revenue bonds issued by the EDC pursuant to Act 338. The Project would be leased to Service Merchandise Company. Inc. (which would acquire title to the Project upon payment of the bonds). The revenue bonds will be secured by the Project and will be payable solely and only from the rental payments received from the lease of the Project. The bonds will not be a general obligation of the City of Novi and will not be payable from the general or tax funds of the City of Novi.

No persons shall be displaced as a result of the implementation of the Project Plan.

The Project Plan, related maps and drawings and other information concerning the Project and its financing are available for public inspection during regular business hours at the offices of the City Clerk in the City Hall.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Section 17 of Act 338. Further information concerning the matters set out in this notice may be secured from the City Clerk's office.

All interested citizens are encouraged to attend and will be offered an opportunity at said hearing to address the City Council concerning the Project Plan.

Tim Cahill sets record

If he continues breaking records at his current rate, Tim Cahill could become the best swimmer ever to graduate from Ferris State College.

The Northville native Friday broke his own record in the 200vard breast stroke, posting a time of 2:13.76, more than two seconds better than his previous mark set December 19, 1980 at the Western Michigan University pool

The new pool and school record was set during a 68-43 loss to Oakland University, defending NCAA Division II national champ. It is the second time this season the sophomore swimming sensation has set a news mark in that event.

The Bulldog tankers are scheduled to take on Notre Dame February 21 at Ferris.

Swimming talent seems to be abundant in the Cahill family. Tim's sister, Sue, a freshman at the University of Michigan, recently set a new Big Ten record in the 200-yard butterfly. Her time of 2:05.05 qualifed her to compete in the AIAW National Championships set for March in Columbia, South Carolina.

NHS tankers can't buy a victory

Despite four first place finishes, the Northville High School swimmers suffered yet another loss in what thus far has been a mediocre season, bowing to Ypsilanti 51-32 Thursday.

Char Ramsey continued his winning ways, as he took top honors in the 200yard free style and 500-yard free.

The steadily improving Mustang tanker posted a time of 1:55.6 in the 200 and beat his previous best time by six seconds in the 500, clocking in at 5:17.9.

Other first place winners for Nor-thville were Tony Nader and Gary Lauber.

Nader, after missing two meets, came back to sweep the 100-yard breast stroke with a time of 1:05.4.

Lauber was named the winner in the 50-yard free style, edging opponent Mike Caswell, who equaled Lauber's time of 24.7.

Northville posted five second place finishes, while grabbing four third places.

GARY LAUBER

Second places were earned by the 200yard medley relay team of Tim Walker, John Burchard, Mickey Nader and Tom Moore, which finished the event in 1:58.10; Tony Nader, who clocked in at 2:12.8 in the 200-yard individual medley and Tom Moore, who was runner-up in the 100-yard butterfly with a time of 1:04.5.

Other second place finishes were recorded by Lauber in the 100-yard back stroke (1:03.3) and the 400-yard free style relay team of Dave Copp, Lauber, Nader and Ramsey.

Third place winners for Northville were the 200-yard medley relay team of Tim Frader, Doug Ifverson, Mike Klein and Jim Evans; Evans in the diving competition; Burchard in the 100-yard butterfly and Copp in the 100-yard free style.

The Mustang tankers, who stand at 1-2 in the Western Six, were scheduled to take on Plymouth Canton in a league meet last night (Tuesday).

Nader claims 12th place

Tony Nader, a senior member of the Northville High School swim team, paced 12th in the 100-yard breast stroke event at the Grand Rapids Press Invitational Saturday at East Kentwood High School.

Nader was one of 18 high school swimmers to qualify in the 100-yard breast stroke.

The talented Mustang tanker also competes in the 200-yard individual medley for Northville.

He qualified for the Grand Rapids Press meet by posting a 1:05.00 in the Mustangs' season-opening meet against Livonia Bentley.

The Mustang tankers were scheduled to taken on Plymouth Canton last night (Tuesday).

NHS gymnasts win, place 7th in tourney

By KEN KOVACS

Injuries can make or break a team, especially when they take away your top performers.

Jack Townsley can tell you about how that works.

His Northville High School gymnasts aced some formidable opponents at the Ann Arbor Invitational Saturday and numerous nagging injuries to his team didn't do anything to boost their performance.

The Mustangs finished seventh in a field of eight teams, totaling 88.65 points.

Northville did score a dual meet victory earlier in the week, topping Walled Lake Western, 90.5-81.9.

Defending state high school champion East Kentwood edged Ann Arbor Pioneer 97.4-94.65 to claim the tourney title

Host Huron took third with 93.7, Freeland was fourth at 92.6, North Farmington scored 92.15 to claim fifth, Adrian followed with 90.9 and Saline finished at the bottom of the pack with 83.6.

Three of Northville's top performers competed despite injuries.

Anita Hodge is recovering from a groin pull, while Pam Stephens is nursing stitches in a cut knee and Amy Aaron also has knee problems.

Paula Broderick postd a 7.9 on the vault, while Stephens had a 7.5 and

Hodge scored 7.15. Scores on the uneven parallel bars were comparable, Broderick scoring a 7.95, Stephens posted a 7.6 and Hodge had a 7.0.

Stephens led Northville performers with a 7.65 on the balance beam, while Broderick managed a 7.0 in spite of two falls and Lisa Kiraly posted a 5.9 in her first performance on the beam.

The Mustangs' scores increased in the final event, floor exercises, as Broderick collected an 8.8, Stephens was issued a 7.7 and Aaron managed a 6.7.

Northville dominated the meet against Western, but Townsley said is wasn't that his girls did that well.

"They (Western) weren't terribly strong," he confessed. "But we did

Broderick posted a score of 8.2 to lead Stephens dominated the bars with a at 7.65 and Hodge posted a score of 6.9. Balance beam top honors also were won by Broderick with a 7.95. Stephens had a 7.75 and Aaron collected a score
