City slates study dates for budget

Northville City Council will begin budget study sessions at 7:30 p.m. Monday and is planning a second study meeting for April 27 at city hall.

In setting the two dates for study of the budget being readied by City Manager Steven Walters, Mayor Paul Vernon pointed out that the city, like all municipal and school district bodies, will have "some unknown factors" in income.

The council Monday agreed that it will have to meet immediately following the May 19 state election in which citizens will be asked to vote a 50 percent property tax reduction and a sales tax increase to 5.5 percent.

The election, it was pointed out, falls during Michigan Week. May 20 is the city employees' recognition dinner.

May 4 was set as the date for the annual revenue sharing hearing to hear any public comments.

The council also agreed to participate in annual Student Law Day program May 5 with Rotary. Students from the high school again will become "office holders" for the day, learning about government by working with the city manager, mayor, clerk and other officials.

All will be guests of Rotary at luncheon at First Presbyterian Church that day.

The council Monday also approved request of the Northville Jaycees to hold the annual Walk for Mankind. This year it is to be June 6, beginning at Northville Downs at 9 a.m. Registration will begin at 7:30 a.m.

Jaycee James Totzkay, route chairman, promised that it will be "a very safe walk." He said that in event of rain this year, provisions will be made to cut off the walk at checkpoint three. The city accepted his invitation to man that checkpoint at the city well.

He announced that the route will be filed with the police chief but that it is being kept secret to protect the children walking.

In other action, the council gave permission to the Michigan Citizens Lobby to conduct a community canvass the last two weeks in June, provided the attorney general's office has stated it is a legal solicitation.

The adjusted library budget was approved unanimously by Vernon and council members J. Burton DeRusha and G. Dewey Gardner. Members Stanley Johnston and Carolann Ayers were absent and excused.

County okays May 19 for local ballot issues

By KEVIN WILSON

City and township election issues were placed on the May 19 ballot by the Wayne County Election Commission last week, but neither government could be certain of that date.

Legislation which would delete all other propositions from the May 19 special election ballot to consider the governor's tax proposal was approaching a vote in the state Senate yesterday as The Record went to press. The House last week defeated a similar effort to keep local issues off the ballot.

The township will ask voter approval of a 1.5 mill police tax renewal and 1.0 new mill, also for police, while the city seeks permission to issue bonds to repave South Main Street.

Local officials state-wide are normally allowed to put local ballot questions up before the voters the same day as any state-wide election, saving money on election costs, but many state officers were displeased with the number of such local millages being tacked onto this May's ballot.

Governor William Milliken has said repeatedly that he wants the tax revision proposal to appear alone. Other issues distract attention from the tax proposal and complicate the ballot, supporters of the proposition argue, hurting its chances with the electorate.

Attention was focused on three Wayne County millage issues placed on the ballot at the last minute. Requests of one mill for the sheriff's road patrol, one mill for County General Hospital and one mill for mental health programs passed the board of commissioners unexpectedly March 19.

Even then, commissioners said, they did not expect the election commission to place the issues on the ballot. But they were approved for the May 19 ballot last Wednesday, the same day approval for the city and township issues came through.

The county board Thursday tried to backtrack on the issue, voting not to appropriate any money to run the election. A special meeting to consider the issue further was slated today (Wednesday, April 9).

Several other local governments also sought to "piggyback" on the election, but it was the county millage questions that raised the ire of both state and other local officials.

"I guess the legislature is peeved that Wayne County got its millages on and is trying to ban all millages from the ballot," Clerk Susan Heintz said Wednesday.

Heintz noted that the township election, originally scheduled May 5, was applied for long before the state legislature decided to place the tax issue on a ballot. Normally, the election board does not allow elections to be less than one month apart, so the move to the state election date was the only sensible alternative.

In other election news:

— City officials have received indication that the Wayne County Road Commission, which holds legal jurisdiction over Main Street maintenance, will approve a contract allowing the city to do the work if the bond issue is approved.

— If the state tax revision proposition passes, any millages approved May 19 would be affected. The state proposal would apply to all 1981 tax bills, whether billed this summer or at the end of the year. For example, should the township receive approval for the total 2.5 mills requested, that tax would be subject to the 50 percent reduction called for under the state plan.

One-by-one

Voter turnout was minimal in the Northville Board of Education special election Saturday. Of the approximately 14,000 registered voters in the Northville school district, only 2,903 went to the polls to cast ballots. The request for a 9.5 millage renewal was defeated by an almost 2 to 1 margin. At all six precinct locations voter turnout was sparse as electors filtered in throughout the day. Voter Charles May, above, looks over the ballot request while official Marjorie Lenheiser checks his registration. At left, official Wilma Campbell points voter Janet Strasser in the right direction. Voters say 'no' to school's 9.5 millage request

By MICHELE McELMURRY

The solemn looks on the faces of Northville Board of Education members at their meeting Monday night seemed to tell the whole story.

The board, meeting just two days after the sound defeat of the proposed 9.5 millage renewal request, is now faced with what one board member described as "the most difficult financial times the school district has ever seen."

Voters in the Northville school district defeated renewal of the 9.5 mill levy for operating expenses Saturday by a vote of 1,827 to 1,055.

Slightly more than 20 percent — about 2,903 — of the more than 14,000 registered voters in the Northville school district turned out to cast ballots in Saturday's election.

The millage was defeated in all six of the district's precincts.

The certified voter count tabulated by the Board of Canvassers Tuesday morning by precinct, with voting place in parenthesis, was:

— Precinct 1 — (City offices) — 102 yes, 317 no, 3 invalid

— Precinct 2 — (Silver Springs) — 137 yes, 205 no, 2 invalid

— Precinct 3 — (Winchester) — 264 yes, 352 no, 4 invalid

— Precinct 4 — (Amerman) — 271 yes, 415 no, 4 invalid

— Precinct 5 — (City offices) — 116 yes, 154 no, 2 invalid

— Precinct 6 — (Moraine) — 165 yes, 384 no, 6 invalid

A "very disappointed" School Superintendent Larry Nichols said Monday the administration will be faced "with some extremely tough decisions in the next few weeks."

"We will try to end this year on as sound a basis as we can," Nichols explained. "Yet, the more dollars we spend this year the fewer we will have next year. We may not be able to do it."

The request for renewal of the 9.5 mills represented approximately 27 percent of the school districts projected 1981-82 revenues.

Defeat of the millage request will result in a loss of about $2.7 million in revenue to the district.

What impact the millage defeat will have on the school district was the central focus of the board's meeting Monday night.

Approximately 35 persons attended the board's meeting to discuss the ramifications of the revenue loss to the schools and what course of action the board will be taking in the near future to compensate for that loss.

The board, which took no formal action at Monday's meeting, now is grappling with the prospect of completely revising the budget, distinguishing state and federal mandated programs from other curriculum, laying off staff members, possibly closing school buildings and deciding whether or not to place another millage request on the ballot at a later date.

At Monday's meeting, the board and administration agreed that no action could be taken on possible reductions until enough data and information is compiled to see just where the district stands. However, one thing is certain — cuts are inevitable — and at all levels.

"Keeping in mind the kinds of cuts we will have to be making in the near future, there's truly nothing sacred in the budget at this point," Board President Chris Johnson said Monday.

The board discussed at some length the possibility of putting the millage renewal request back on the ballot for the mandated June school election.

However, though no formal action was taken, the board concurred that due to time restrictions and the filing deadlines for the June election, placing a comprehensive millage proposal on the ballot would be difficult at this time.

However, the board also discussed the possibility of holding a special millage election in July or August — if the board chooses to take the renewal request back to the voter.

"We don't have to go for any millage if this election is indicative of how the community feels," Trustee Karen Wilkinson said.

"From my point of view it should be understood that just because the millage was defeated now doesn't mean we will necessarily come back in June with a lesser millage request — it isn't an absolute," she said.

If the board should decide not to hold another millage election, the school district will be developing a budget at the 25.9 mill level.

The district currently levies 33.18 of 35.4 authorized mills.

Convenience shopping focus of joint meeting

Locations of convenience shopping centers in Northville Township, long a controversial issue, cropped up again Monday night in a joint meeting of the board of trustees and the planning commission.

The meeting, conducted primarily to discuss "land use philosophies" and review a proposed revision of the zoning ordinance, came to focus on the convenience shopping issue.

Planning commission chairman Kenneth McLarty asked board members for their views regarding the master plan of land use adopted last year, before most of the trustees were elected.

"What we really need to know is: would you concur with the master plan as a good guideline in consideration of zoning requests?" McLarty said, emphasizing that the planners try to consider all zoning issues in light of the plan.

"We are frustrated at reviewing something, making a recommendation, and having all kinds of other issues crop up at the board level and having some other decision made," vice-chairman William Bohan asserted.

While the trustees voiced basic agreement with the plan, particularly with its philosophy regarding development of the township as a primarily single family housing community, the location of convenience centers on the plan did not receive much support. The plan calls for such facilities on three corners along Six Mile — at Ridge, Sheldon and Haggerty roads.

The zoning ordinance planners will forward to the board within the next few months includes a new business zoning class specifically for convenience centers, which are described as small shopping areas, usually anchored by a grocery store, which serve nearby subdivisions.

The new zoning class would limit such centers to 10 acres in area and impose strict landscaping and setback requirements. The restrictions address some of the reasons (large size, appearance) the previous board of trustees rejected a proposed center at Six Mile and Sheldon last year, but the new board indicated it was not likely to reverse that decision even with tighter controls.

"I, for one, would not support any plan to put convenience shopping at Six Mile and Sheldon," Supervisor John MacDonald said. "Since we must accommodate some of these in our plans, I have no similar feelings regarding the other two sites (Ridge and Haggerty)."

The Sheldon corner, most board members agreed, is too close to downtown Northville to be useful in their eyes.

"In my eyes, a healthy Northville Township includes a healthy downtown Northville," said Trustee Richard Allen. "I don't see how major shopping areas that close together can survive, and so I object to Six and Sheldon on those grounds."

Treasurer Richard Henningsen said he, too, dislikes the idea of a center at Sheldon, and further stated that he is not entirely supportive of locating one at Haggerty either.

Clerk Susan Heintz, the only board member present who voted on the issue last year, said she would still oppose the Sheldon site.

"I am really pleased to see the size limits and the efforts to improve appearance," Heintz said, "but I still don't think Six and Sheldon is the right

Schoolcraft trustee selections critical to near future

BY TIM RICHARD

Voters will need to be supercritical June 8 when they vote for two Schoolcraft College trustees.

One reason is that the seven-member board of trustees must pick a new president this year to replace C. Nelson Grote, who is leaving for a big job in Spokane. Selecting a president is the single most important decision a board makes, because the president sets the tone of the administration and recommends college policy.

his strong vocational-technical background. The board saw a need to expand offerings in that area. Grote delivered, and also provided strong leadership in community services and state financing.

Trustee candidates, then, should be prepared to demonstrate they have both formal knowledge of, and experience in, picking personnel.

The selection process must be as open as possible, both because state law requires it and because public confidence must be maintained. Dick Headlee and the secretive bunch of trustees at Oakland University brought in President Joseph Champagne under a cloud with their clandestine dealings. No tax supported institution can afford to do that.

A second reason voters may have to be careful is that program cuts need to be made.

I suspect the same kinds of decisions will have to be made at Schoolcraft. Being a trustee will require tough decisions by persons who can look an unhappy audience in the eyes and politely say, "sorry no." A trustee who plays to the gallery will hurt the college.

What kind of persons would add balance to the current board?

Hayward is uncertain about seeking re-election. Although he's lovable and popular, he is not an aggressive campaigner and is no shoo-in.

Of the five incumbents, chairperson Harry Greenleaf has the most personal background. He deals in engineering personnel at Ford Motor Company and is a methodical, objective type with great political savvy.

Nancie Blatt, the vice-chairperson, is an administrator in an oxygen company and veteran of the political wars. She has been active in state and national associations to which Schoolcraft belongs and is almost a professional trustee.

Len Wozniak is a marketing representative for NCR and the board's stalwart conservative, Michael Burley is a Northville School District curriculum coordinator and Rosina Raymond is a teacher, civic activist and the board's flaming liberal.

The community college board is elected on a nonpartisan ballot. The Republican-Democratic splits of the late 1960s and early '70s have been healed over.

There are three known Republicans, three known Democrats and one nonaligned person on the board. But it works as a unit, and so partisan politics shouldn't enter into a voter's decision.

Among the five holdover trustees, there are two educators, two from big industry and one from small business.

The Michigan Education Association likes to see educators serving on elected boards, where decisions are made and contracts written. Without reflecting on the two Schoolcraft incumbents, I have serious reservations about educators moonlighting on school boards. At least the balanced Schoolcraft board doesn't require more educators.

During the 1970s, the Schoolcraft board lost several property tax millage elections. No matter how it tried to present a proposal, voters would never give it more than 42 percent support.

The message is pretty clear. A candidate who talks about another millage request or snazzier PR probably doesn't know what he/she is talking about.

Geographically, the five holdover trustees include four from Livonia and one from the Plymouth-Canton school district. There's no one from Clarencville (which includes southeastern Farmington Hills and a slice of Redford Township), Garden City or the Northville high school districts. Those folks don't go in big for public participation.

Petitions are available now from college secretary Clara Rousseau to get on the June 8 ballot.

Candidates will need at least 50 but not more than 200 signatures. Filing deadline is 4 p.m. Tuesday, April 21.

There's no pay, but you get fed pretty well. Schoolcraft's culinary arts department is almost too good.

Analysis

For several budget years, Schoolcraft has been scraping by, cutting the daylight out of nonessentials to save faculty and programs.

At some point — if not this year, then next — there will no longer be any nonessentials to cut. It follows, then, that Schoolcraft will either have to reduce quality or else reduce the quantity of its offerings, preserving the best programs intact.

University of Michigan President Harold Shapiro, lecturing at Schoolcraft recently, said bluntly that U-M by 1990 will have to reduce its Ann Arbor campus enrollment from 36,000 to 30,000 and cut out programs it doesn't do as well as other colleges. That's tough talk, but realistic in this state's shrinking economy.

Incumbent trustee Mark McQuesten, whose term is expiring, is a seminary student and will get flak from his religious superiors if he continues a political career. He could conceivably give up plans to be a priest, however, and seek re-election.

McQuesten is the only former Schoolcraft student on the board and was a student representative on the screening committee when Grote was hired. If he leaves, it will help to have a Schoolcraft graduate on the board.

Richard J. Hayward, whose term also is expiring, has a quarter century in the structural steel business under his belt. He came onto the board when it was in need of industrial people to balance the high number of educators.

Schoolcraft College may include business leaders among potential candidates to fill the job of outgoing President C. Nelson Grote.

A three-member board of trustees subcommittee agreed at an annual retreat Saturday to file a recommendation by April 8 on how the new president should be chosen.

Nancie Blatt, named to chair the subcommittee, said she's "almost 99 percent sure" that the group will recommend throwing the selection process open to people outside the academic world.

But Michael Burley, also a member of the subcommittee, sounded less sure. "I don't know if we've taken a stance philosophically as a board," said Burley, adding that he preferred choosing "the best qualified person."

Grote, whose contract ran through 1984, announced last week he'll end his 10 years as Schoolcraft President July 31 to become president of a two-campus Spokane community college system.

Grote submitted his own proposed presidential hiring timetable at the Saturday meeting, calling for the replacement to report for work December 1.

The possibility of hiring a non-academician to head the college seems to be a reflection of the nature of the schools' student body. Exactly 70 percent of the 7,910 student enrolled in traditional studies of study for the winter term was finding vocational classes, while only about 30 percent was "transfer enrollment" students, or those deemed likely to be preparing for a four-year college program.

Also likely to be discussed by the subcommittee is a wide variety of other questions involved in replacing Grote.

"Really the main thing is the procedure we're going to follow," said Ms. Blatt. "This wasn't a surprise to us. At least (Trustee Harry Greenleaf) and I have been collecting information (on hiring a new president) for the last year or so."

Ms. Blatt said "we will be looking obviously at those involved in education, but we will be advertising in whatever kinds of publications there are to be looking at people in the industrial community."

Neighboring Oakland Community College's current president is Robert F. Roelofs, who had been a steel industry executive his entire career before becoming president of Macomb Community College.

By Wednesday, when the subcommittee is scheduled to make its recommendations, Ms. Blatt said, "I hope we can at least come up with a calendar, the procedure we're going to follow, then there's several other criteria."

"There's several different ways you can go about a presidential search. You can use outside consultants, you can do it all inhouse, you can have community committees, it can all go through the personnel office or it can be handled by the president's office."

Trustee petitions due soon

April 21 is the final date for candidates to file petitions for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

Two six-year terms will be filled at the general school election on June 8. To date, two candidates have filed and two others have taken out petitions.

The candidates who have filed are Wesley L. Berry, Jr. of Livonia and John J. Pantalone of Westland.

Candidates must be registered voters and residents of the College District. Petitions are available in the President's Office on campus, open 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Chamber changes meeting date

Date for the April meeting of Northville Chamber of Commerce has been changed to April 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the city council chambers. This is one week later than usual.

Chamber members have been asked to circle May 13 for a get acquainted "happy hour" being planned.

The chamber's annual "garage sale" on downtown Northville's Main and Center streets will be May 16.

Booth reservations are being taken by Scott Lapham, chairman, 349-5175, at $15 beginning April 16.

Joint service funding resolved as city, township meet

Library budget cut to be reviewed in fall

By KEVIN WILSON

In what both sides described as a "productive and useful" meeting April 1, Northville city and township officials resolved some of the disagreements they have had regarding funding of joint services.

The township's budget, passed March 30, included reductions from the funding levels requested by the recreation commission and the library.

Those reductions, particularly those to the library, were assailed by some city councilmembers as "irresponsible."

Meanwhile, some township trustees were irked that the city failed to match the cut in recreation monies, as would be demanded if a formula devised some years ago for sharing costs were maintained.

Although neither party to the joint services agreement changed its anticipated budget substantially, discussion brought forth the reasoning behind each body's actions and led to an unofficial agreement.

Discussion of library services came up first, as it appeared the gravest concern of city council.

Although the priorities of each body seemed central to the question, only township officials offered a defined listing of their commitments in budgeting.

"We have attempted to make a very tight budget and spend what money we have where it seems most needed," said township Treasurer Richard Henningsen. "From what people tell us, that means police comes first, the state says we have to run the township, so that (general administration) is second and of course we want fire protection. So those are our three top priorities."

"The next two things on our list are the library and recreation," he concluded.

He asked Mayor Paul Vernon about what priorities the city has, and was told the city does not go about its budgeting in that manner.

"We look at the overall situation, and it looked, at first, that we would have to make some layoffs," Vernon said. "It may not turn out that way, but we still felt that library and recreation services were most important. These services we will not cut until absolutely necessary."

Henningsen, for his part, had included the township's "responsibility to full-time employees" as one of the factors considered while budgeting. "We tried it without cutting the services, but it wouldn't balance. We have pared expenses in other areas by similar amounts (to what occurred in the joint services) and felt we set a fair and equitable amount (for the reduction)."

When Henningsen and Supervisor John MacDonald continued in the vein of arguing that the township "simply has to cut someplace," Vernon took exception to the tone the discussion was taking.

"There is almost an inference here that the city is not hurting, that we are not having to suffer cuts...we are," he said. "It is simply that city council almost unanimously determined that the library and recreation services would be spared any cuts as long as possible."

MacDonald noted, and Vernon agreed, that the township, which levies 2.93 mills in tax, cannot raise taxes without voter approval while the city, theoretically, can impose up to 20 mills at its own discretion.

"That is true," Vernon said, "but I should point out that we haven't used that — that we have not done that and currently have no plans to do anything like that."

Councilmembers CarolAnn Ayers and J. Burton DeRusha argued forcibly that the township cannot treat the library and recreation services in exactly the same manner.

"First of all," said Ayers, long a library board member, "the library cannot be supported through a fee structure — it's illegal. Secondly, it is connected to both the state and the county, both of which have rules governing its operations."

"For instance, if you lose an employee, by state regulations, you may not be a library anymore and wouldn't qualify for state aid. If you lose too many books, the county loan system can be lost. There are simply certain levels of service that must be maintained."

Library officials present explained that the library must be open an average of 48 hours per week throughout the year (currently 54 hours in winter and 47 hours in summer) and must maintain sufficient books to participate in the Wayne-Oakland Library Federation (WOLF) interlibrary loan program.

They said the township reduction would mean a loss of $1,000 in personnel salaries, but would not reduce hours. Book buying would be trimmed back by $3,600 — from an anticipated figure of over $20,000.

Former library commission chairman Robert DeHoff, who drafted the budget, said those cuts would cause only minor losses in one year, so long as the amounts were restored in more auspicious times.

He noted that library book-buying was at only $5,000 annually for several years, so much of the current budget goes toward replacement of old, worn-out books and growth in library acquisitions is not as large as it might first appear.

"We don't want it to become a second-rate library," Vernon said. "It has made some great strides in the past few years and we do not wish to see it decline, we would like to see its growth continue. Unfortunately, it's not able to support itself."

MacDonald emphasized that "no one here, as far as I know, is anti-library at all. We would not like to see it decline either."

DeRusha said he thought the budget DeHoff had presented had been "reasonable" and wondered if the township might not have left it as it was submitted.

"The thing I was impressed with," said DeRusha, "was that they (library officials) had gone through and trimmed back wherever they could. I felt they had gone to almost a bare-bones request and it was not reasonable to offer even less."

"Their budget was not padded, anywhere, and I wonder if they had inflated it and then brought it to the township, if they might not have gotten what they really needed in the first place."

Henningsen referred the question to Business Manager David Leiko, who said the cut was "not based on an across-the-board percentage, we didn't do it that way."

Leiko said the township had allocated its resources as best it could and that, had the library submitted a budget of $80,000 instead of $63,000, the township would still have allocated $59,000.

"Well," said DeRusha, "the money is coming out of the book budget, capital expenses if you will, and if, in six months or so, that can be restored, nothing is actually lost."

Henningsen, who said he had been hesitant to project revenues beyond "what I can absolutely count on," said the philosophy of DeRusha's suggestion was precisely the one the board was working under.

"We fully intend to review the budget frequently and allocate any new income where we feel we can," the treasurer said. "I would certainly be willing to look at this again later on and see if we can't do something about it."

"I use the library, my family uses the library, and I have no desire to see it suffer," Henningsen said. "It is simply that we must present a balanced budget based on the income we can gather."

DeRusha suggested an "informal agreement" to have another joint meeting to discuss the situation in September, and township officials agreed. Leiko and City Manager Steven Walters are to set a date for such a meeting that will allow the library to firm up its book budget by October 1.

The September date was seen as ideal because it is six months into the township fiscal year (began April 1), three months into the city's year (July 1) and precedes the WOLF fiscal year (October 1).

In later discussion involving recreation services (see related story) the officials agreed that that department, too, would benefit from a September review.

Recreation fees differ, depending on residency

Budgeting procedures for the recreation department offered as a joint service by the city and township of Northville are due for a change, leaders of both governments concluded April 1.

Meeting in joint session to resolve differences surrounding budgets of the recreation department and library (see related story) city councilmembers and township trustees decided the recreation budget should be reviewed in the fall rather than during other budget reviews.

"The problem," City Manager Steven Walters told the two bodies, "is that the department starts collecting fees in January and February for its two biggest programs. By the time the township budgets in March and city budgets in June, the recreation people already are pretty much locked-in to a fee structure."

The current township budget adopted March 30 allows a $59,000 basic contribution to recreation programming. Under the population-based formula that determines the levels of support from the two governments, that should constitute roughly 60 percent of the support.

However, city council decided to fund the program at the full requested level, which would have set the township portion to $63,000. As a result, township residents participating in the programs offered will be tapped for an extra $2 fee to make up the shortfall.

Township officials who attended the joint session indicated they could accept that arrangement, but Trustee James Nowka, who has a long history of involvement with the program, was not in attendance.

It was Nowka who, upon learning of the city's decision to subsidize the program beyond the formula determination, voiced strong disapproval of the move and went to a council meeting to object.

Nowka's protests played a large part in the decision to conduct a joint meeting, but the trustee was unable to attend due to other commitments.

His objections focused on the bad light a surcharge to township residents might put on the board. "It makes us look like the bad guys, forcing people to pay more," he said.

But Treasurer Richard Henningsen and Supervisor John MacDonald indicated Nowka was not speaking for the entire board.

"I can say most of us have no objections to (the fee plan)," said MacDonald. "We can live with that." Henningsen said he wished the department had pursued his suggestions to save money rather than tacking on a fee, but that he does not object to the city subsidy on the face of it.

"I really think they could have saved the money and avoided any added fees," Henningsen said. "But really, they did a pretty good job. We gave them a number and they found a way to live with it. I would like to see those savings looked into, though, because if we can save that money I see no real reason not to go ahead and do it."

City Mayor Paul Vernon suggested the difference between city and township philosophies was not as far apart as it first appeared.

"Basically, you pursued what we asked the recreation commission to do last year, which was to try to make the program self-supporting through fees," he said.

"We paid for the program by having all the city residents contribute through their taxes, and you moved more toward having those who use the program pay for it."

After brief discussion, township and city officials agreed that whatever disagreements they had were not as large as was first thought by both sides.

"Do I understand you to say," asked councilmember J. Burton DeRusha, "that the fee arrangement is acceptable on your part?"

Told that was the case for those attendance, DeRusha said he had thought the board sentiment was that expressed by Nowka.

"Well, the word used in the paper was 'unconscionable' and I was beginning to wonder what we had done," he said. "You see, when we reviewed the recreation budget, we were presented with it as though it had already cleared the township board in that manner and that it was okay with you to have the

Call it Noah's ARC

Retarded citizens' group may buy Costa's Mainstreet

If final approval is given by its board of directors this month, the Association of Retarded Citizens/Northwest Communities will be continuing plans to open a restaurant this fall, probably in Northville.

To be called Noah's ARC, it will employ mainly retarded adults in the former Costa's Mainstreet (formerly the Old Mill) at 126 East Main.

Margaret Olesnavage, who heads the association, reported Tuesday that the ARC board of directors already has approved the project, believed to be the first restaurant of its kind in Michigan although there are two in Connecticut.

Final approval will be sought at the general membership meeting of about 400 at 7:30 p.m. April 14 in Ford Skill Center in Westland.

Ms. Olesnavage said the purchase of Costa's is "one of the options" and that the ARC has only looked at the restaurant which is up for sale. She said it cannot enter into an agreement to purchase until the general membership approval is voted. Lawyers for both ARC and Costa's, however, have been studying the plan.

The organization already has formed Business Ventures Corporation, a non-profit company with its own board of directors, to assume responsibility for the restaurant.

Larry Janes, area gourmet chef, will be manager for Noah's ARC.

"If the membership okays the project, we should be in operation by Labor Day," Janes said.

He has run "Calorie Gallery," the food service program at the Ford Skill Center in Livonia. It is a regional training program for handicapped persons sponsored by the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Janes also has been a chef for Weight Watchers and managed his own gourmet shop and cooking school. He has given cooking demonstrations, including one last winter for Northville Woman's Club at First Presbyterian Church.

Ms. Olesnavage said that the organization will not be able to afford to purchase Costa's liquor license. It is expected to be sold separately. The restaurant owner said Monday he did not wish to make any comment on the possible sale as he currently is advertising the license as available separately but had no offers.

Janes said the corporation will make a formal offer for the restaurant when funds are transferred to it. He emphasized, however, that "we are still actively looking at other sites, but this looks like our best bet."

Floor plans, Janes said, are in readiness for the restaurant and evaluations are being made of retarded adults to establish their ability to work as food service personnel. It is expected that they will cook, wait on tables, bus wash dishes and do basic food preparation.

Plans call for the 110-seat restaurant to be open from about 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. serving breakfast, lunch and dinner.

About 25 retarded workers will be employed.

"It will be a family type atmosphere emphasizing healthy eating," Janes commented. He has been working on menu plans with Michigan Chefs de Cuisine, an association of local chefs.

Janes said Tuesday that Noah's ARC will not continue the emphasis on Greek foods but will have "good daily specials."

He stressed that everything hinges on the transfer of funds for the purchase from ARC to Business Ventures Corporation.

The funds are available, the offices indicated. Funds for renovation, Janes said, will be raised through benefits. He expects that the chefs' association may hold a dinner.

He cited the need for a complete dishwashing system at a cost of up to $9,000 as one renovation.

He added that the restaurant will be operated as a training program and that making a profit will be secondary. Funds, he said, will be available for meeting operating expenses.

If there are profits, the Business Ventures Corporation is planning to funnel them into six or seven other future businesses, including commercial printing, landscaping and a laundry.

Janes said word of the planned purchase had been made public as "it is a lot of money involved and we want the (ARC) membership to be aware."

Medieval evening of entertainment

Winchester Elementary School did something a little different during the Ides of March. The entire sixth grade class, including teachers, dressed up in medieval costumes and sang, juggled and danced before a captive audience.

Two performances were given. The student body, kindergarden through fifth grade, were given a show Tuesday afternoon with parents and friends treated that evening.

A little fun and education for Winchester Elementary.

Township zoning law revisions enter final stretch

By KEVIN WILSON

Revised zoning laws for Northville Township have been drafted and are now entering the review phase and, if all goes well, could become law within 60 to 90 days.

The planning commission March 31 concluded its "word by word" review of the zoning ordinance, a book-sized document that governs all development in the community.

The draft has been submitted to the township attorney and was discussed in outline form at a joint meeting of the planning commission and board of trustees Monday night.

A public hearing conducted by the planning commission will come after the document has been reviewed by several other bodies as well.

This would include several changes to the zoning map that must be updated for inclusion in the ordinance, and would serve as a basis for changing some zonings in compliance with the master plan.

Major changes, planning consultant

Claude Coates, who drafted the proposed ordinance, told the board, include:

- Creation of a new business zoning class for convenience centers, limiting them to 10 acres and imposes landscaping and setback provisions;
- Elimination of the current B-3, regional shopping, business district, which would have allowed very large shopping centers;
- Increased lot sizes in all single-family residential districts, as suggested by George Villican prior to his retirement as township planning consultant last year. Coates is a member of Villican's firm.
- Expansion of open space requirements in subdivisions for developers opting to use the provisions;
- Heightened parking requirements in multiple family residential areas and for various businesses;
- Requirements for impact assessments to accompany certain zoning changes and plans — developers would have to analyze the impact of the proposed action on surrounding areas in regard to traffic and population increases, as well as some review of natural environment impacts;

- Mobile home park restrictions wholly revised in light of new state laws

Changes to the zoning map would include a broad action change of zoning in an area immediately north of Five Mile Road to R-3 single family residential, the highest density allowed.

The master plan shows this area, now state land, as intended for research and development-type centers, but the commission has a policy of carrying all state land as residential until such time as the state releases its holdings.

Plans to switch 16 acres of Wayne County Child Development Center land inadvertently included in a rezoning for an elderly housing development back to single-family zoning was abandoned on advice of the board.

The acreage was originally intended as a cluster housing family development to be adjacent to the elderly housing project and appears in plans for the village in that form, but was rezoned by mistake, along with the 86 acres the elderly project would consume.

Supervisor John MacDonald suggested that the area be left RME (multiple housing for elderly) rather than "corrected" immediately because it may hinder the project to make any zoning changes.

"Who knows," the supervisor said, "some interested developer may want to use it that way. The plans are not firm yet. I just think this is a very important development in the township and we ought not do anything that might hinder it in any way."

Smaller areas near Seven Mile and Northville Road and at Five Mile and Haggerty also would see zoning changes under the proposal. All such changes will be considered in the commission's public hearing regarding the document.

The board will not be required to hold a public hearing before it enacts the new law, but may do so at its discretion.

Allen presses for noise regulations in law

Industrial and commercial developers in Northville Township will be subject to a noise control regulation if Trustee Richard Allen can convince other officials of a need for such controls.

Allen, who also is a planning commissioner, has waged an almost single-handed crusade to include the regulation in a revised township zoning ordinance due for completion this spring.

His efforts were poorly received by the planning commission March 31, which made only a minor modification to what is viewed as an ineffective current law.

Allen vowed to pursue the issue at the board level after conducting further research.

The planning commission voted only to specify a decibel scale for a rather vague performance standard in the current ordinance which sets a decibel limit but currently refers to no specific scale (of which there are many) and is thus, planning consultant Claude Coates told the commission, unenforceable.

Commission chairman Kenneth McLarty said he could see no reason for a specific noise law such as the one Allen submitted in January, because even the current one has never been used.

"Why should we even have such a law on the books," the chairman wondered, "when we never have any use for it?"

Allen argues that it is too late to pass a law when the problem occurs, and referred to problems he has personal knowledge of in other communities.

While living in Livonia, he recalled, he saw a long battle between homeowners and a nearby grocery store whose exhaust fans made more noise than its neighbors thought necessary. And in South Lyon, he pointed out, residents fought long and hard in a losing effort to restrict noise emitted from a nearby factory.

"I don't want to hamper businesses unduly," Allen said. "If you have a livable standard and they can meet it, it should help if residents complain about noise and you can show that its within legal limits."

To criticisms that no one in the township is trained to enforce such a law, Allen responds that private firms or the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) will run noise tests at a reasonable cost ($50 was mentioned) and such tests would not be a common need.

Allen spoke to noise experts in Saginaw and Chicago, he said, and believes his proposal is a reasonable one that would not cause too many problems in light of its potential use as the township grows.

He will further research the issue, he said, before the township board reviews the ordinance within the next two to three months.

By that time, he expects to have enough information to educate the officials enough that they can understand the law. Planning commissioners said one of the reasons they could not adopt the ordinance in good conscience was that they did not fully understand it.

Council okays added uses in CBD

Northville City Council Monday unanimously approved an amendment to the zoning ordinance on uses permitted in the Central Business District following a public hearing.

Before approving the ordinance, however, the council eliminated the inclusion of mortuary establishments in the classification.

It does include all types of food stores; drafting, cartographic and art supply and equipment businesses; service and repairs when incidental to a permitted use; mail order houses and retailers merchandising showrooms.

Asked if clubs, such as the American Legion headquarters, were acceptable, the city manager said they were.

It was recommended that a further study be held with the planning commission to learn why the mortuary establishment was included. It was pointed out that the one in town now does not come under the Central Business District zoning as established by the zoning map.

The ordinance does make Chatham's market, in the CBD, a conforming use.

Astrologer 'Cleo' to lecture Monday

Cleopatra Herculeia Korgis, more commonly known as "Cleo," the astrologer, will appear at Schoolcraft College at 8 p.m. April 13 in the Waterman Campus Center.

Cleo, astrologer for many celebrities, will lecture and answer questions at the Schoolcraft presentation.

A frequent talk show guest, she has appeared on network television with David Susskind and Virginia Graham and in the Detroit area with J.P. McCarthy and the late Lou Gordon. She has lectured in local town halls, colleges and universities and has taught at Marygrove College for five years.

Manufacturer's kicks off Mainstreet donation plan

Northville's Mainstreet 78 beautification program is getting special support from the local offices of Manufacturers National Bank as they urge customers to use the ManuWay Automatic Teller located at the bank's drive-in office at Hutton and Dunlap.

For every ManuWay transaction throughout the month of April, the bank will donate 10 cents to the Mainstreet program "to help keep Northville beautiful."

Dale Merrifield, second vice president and officer in charge of the Northville office explains, "We hope to contribute $200 or more to the Mainstreet fund through efforts of our customers."

"Our ManuWay Automatic Teller is available 24 hours a day. It's convenient, fast and easy to use. But, because ManuWay is new, a lot of customers don't know about it yet. Our donation is a good way to introduce them to ManuWay and help Northville at the same time."

Demonstrations of the ManuWay Automatic Teller will be available during April to anyone not having a personalized access card. Card applications during April also will count as one transaction to accumulate toward the Mainstreet contribution.

Council appoints Ellison

Elroy Ellison was named Monday by city council to take the place of Robert Freydl on the Northville Building Authority. Action was taken on unanimous recommendation of Ellison by the authority. He will be completing the term of Freydl which expired March 26, 1986.

Council previously accepted with regret Freydl's resignation. The council also "reluctantly accepted" the resignation of Gloria Teeter from Northville Arts Commission "because of health and work circumstances." Her term ends in June, 1982.

Police Blotter

Woman finds stranger sleeping on her couch

A Dunswood resident called township police when she awoke to find "a man she did not know" sleeping on a couch in her home the morning of April 2. Police responded and found a 22-year old man asleep on the couch in the family room, the police report said. The man was taken to the township police station on suspicion of illegal entry.

Investigation showed the man was a former resident of Hawthorn Center. The man's mother told police he now resides in a Detroit foster care home on Penbrooke.

Advised of the man's history, the resident chose not to press charges. Employees of the foster care home came to the station and took the man back to Detroit.

The police report does not speculate as to how the man got from Detroit to Northville. The complainant's husband, the report states, left for work at 5:30 a.m. and did not notice anyone on the couch. Police consider the case closed.

Township police are looking for a man alleged to have exposed himself to two women and a five-year-old boy on Longridge Court south of Fallbrook Road.

A formal complaint filed in the township by two city residents states that the two women, both in their 30s, and the boy, were stopped beside the road digging wild flowers around 1:45 p.m. when a white, late model small car, believed to be a two-door Subaru, stopped in front of their car.

The man, described as white, around 20 years of age, around six-foot one-inch tall with brown, collar length curly hair, got out of the car. He was wearing a light color sweater shirt and was naked from the waist down, the report states. The man "paraded around" for several minutes without saying anything, then returned to his car and drove away, according to the report.

The complainants called the city police, who radioed township police. When township police got to the scene, however, they found no sign of the suspect or the vehicle. Police are still investigating. Beyond the description of the car and the suspect, they have no further leads in the case.

City police are investigating the theft of a color television, clock radio and stop watch from tack room number 3 of Northville Downs barn number 11.

Sometime between 7 p.m. April 1 and 7 a.m. April 2, the police report on the incident states, unknown subjects entered the room by removing a padlock from the door.

Users of the facility report a three-month old G.E. 21-inch color television, an AM-FM clock radio of the same make, and a "split second" stopwatch stolen from the equipment room.

The stolen property was valued at over $575.

Three tires were slashed on two cars parked in a Hill Street driveway April 2, city police reported. Two tires on a 1971 Datsun 510 and one steel belted radial mounted on a 1975 Chrysler were punctured, police said.

The total value of the tires was set at $290.

The owner of the vehicles, a school employee, suggested that the incident may involve student reaction to happenings at the high school. Police are still investigating.

A rock was hurled through a stained glass window and its storm window in a house on Portis April 5, township police said.

The 18-by-20 inch windows were valued at $250. Egg also was thrown at the home, police said.

The report said there is one suspect, but no evidence linking him to the property destruction.

Two Innsbrook residents reported car stereo equipment stolen the morning of April 2, township police reports show.

The passenger side window of a Chevy LUV pick-up truck was broken and two Pioneer speakers ripped from the doors between 10 p.m. April 1 and 8:45 a.m. April 2, police report. The speakers were valued at $90 — damage to the door was estimated at $100.

During roughly the same hours, a Sanyo AMFM stereo cassette deck a power booster and equalizer were stolen from a 1980 Ford Pony on the same street. Value was placed at "over $100." The owner of the Ford told police he parked the car with the passenger door unlocked.

Police are still investigating.

A gold watch and chain, valued at $180, was the only item reported missing in an apparent forced entry on Marilyn April 6, township police said.

The watch was the only item the homeowner could identify as missing when he returned home around midnight after being gone all day. The owner reported signs of forced entry at the front door, not visible from the street due to a screened porch.

A neighbor reported seeing a youth remove a tire pump from the front porch and use it to inflate a bicycle tire, then return the pump. Footprints found in the backyard and a fingerprint found indoors are being analyzed in the investigation.

The spare tire of a car parked in a Bloomcrest driveway was reported stolen March 31, township police said.

The trunk lock of a 1977 Chevrolet Caprice was punched out sometime between 11 p.m. and noon and the spare tire taken.

The GR-70 15 tire and wheel rim was valued at $115.

City auxiliary police join association

Northville City Council Monday agreed to recognize the Northville Auxiliary Police Officers Association to represent the city's auxiliary police on wages and employment conditions.

Action was recommended by City Manager Steven Walters as he notified council he had attended a labor department hearing April 2 to review the status of the organization prior to holding a representation election.

Sign up cards, he said, had been signed by 33 of the 34 auxiliary officers with the number verified by the current employee list.

After the action, which was unanimous by those present — Mayor Paul Vernon, J. Burton DeRusha and G. Dewey Gardner — the auxiliary officers attending said they "look forward to cooperation with the city."

Local 2720, City of Northville employees in the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, requested the city to begin bargaining for the next fiscal year. The current contract ends June 30.

Walters, Mayor Vernon and council member Stanley Johnston were appointed the bargaining committee for the city.

Early catch

With the recent arrival of warm weather and sunny skies, it's no wonder this sportsman pulled out the fishing pole and headed to the river. Spring fever seems to be in the air as more and more kites, roller skates and bicycles are making their way onto streets and sidewalks. This pre-season fisherman may not have gotten his catch, but with warmer days on the way, the fish soon will be taking the bait. Photo by Steve Fecht.

Recreation budget situation resolved in session

surcharge. "When I found that was not the case entirely, I was a little upset."

The speakers emphasized they could not speak for absent councilmembers Stanley Johnston or Huey Gardner, nor for trustee Nowka, but that they seemed to agree among those in attendance.

They decided to have Walters and township Business Manager David Leiko set a joint meeting of the city council, township board and recreation commission sometime between August and October to further communications next year.

Communications lapses seemed to constitute the largest part of the problem, particularly from the point of view of the township officials who addressed the recreation issue.

"To a degree," said MacDonald, "We've had, not really an awful lot of cooperation from the recreation department. It's made it difficult, for me at least, to be sympathetic. After awhile, it gets to be like arguing with yourself."

MacDonald said he was particularly displeased that the director of the recreation department (Edwrd Kritez) did not appear before the entire board of trustees in any of five budget hearings to explain the budget.

The board got its answers to several questions about the recreation budget from commissioner William Bingley in a public hearing that immediately preceded its vote to adopt the budget it had been discussing for over a month.

"I think they (recreation officials) were kind of taken aback that I gave them some suggestions of where to take the cuts I was asking for," Henningsen said. "Still, it has been over a month since I suggested some things and I was told Monday nothing had yet been done."

The treasurer had suggested, in a meeting of recreation officials, township officers and Walters that the department looking into using prisoners from Phoenix Correctional Institution to do some of the labor needed — such as grooming baseball diamonds and cleaning the community center on Main Street.

Walters estimated that these measures might save as much as $6-10,000 during the year. The Phoenix program would allow the township to hire inmates on a work-release at below-minimum wage as long as the community hired someone to supervise the prisoners from the minimum security institution while they were working.

Henningsen suggested off-duty city or township police officers might be interested in the project for extra income, and called the potential savings "astronomical."

"Our budget is tight," Henningsen said, "That $6,000 or $10,000 is a lot of money to me and that nothing has been done to this point — all it would take would be a half-dozen phone calls to see if it could or couldn't be done — is inexcusable."

"All I would like to know if it can be done, and if so how, and if not, why not."

Walters, however, defended the recreation department's decision to the raise fees for township residents rather than pursue Henningsen's suggestion immediately.

"The recreation people did not know if they could save money, and there was some pressure to produce a budget, so they had to raise fees to make sure they could cover their costs," Walters said. "I agree, the issue should be pursued, if for no other reason than that it could now produce enough savings to put the community building, which is a drain on the budget, on an even keel."

Henningsen noted that the boiler in the community building "could quit just about any time."

Pollution Police

Testing a car for air pollutant emissions may not be the typical Sunday afternoon activity, but it is what many people, including city police, had on their calendars for both last Sunday and this coming weekend. The tests are being conducted between 1 and 5 p.m. this Sunday at the Farmer's Insurance Office on Center north of Main Street by representatives of Am-Pro Marketing, who sell Mix-I-Go, a product said to reduce emissions, reduce maintenance and increase gas mileage. Hydrocarbon measurements on the police car (left) dropped drastically after seven minutes of using the product, the tests showed. Tests are conducted (right) free to demonstrate the product, and consist of inserting a probe into the car's tail pipe.

Shopping center sites questioned place." Some trustees suggested that, if three such sites are needed, Beck Road would be a better location than Sheldon. The trustees were asked to review the philosophies and master plan regarding zoning locations and let the planning commission know of their opinions. "We want to know, not tonight, but after you've had a chance to review it, if we should stick to the master plan, revise it a little or scrap the whole thing and start over," McLarty said. Discussion of revising the plan drew an audience response from Geoffrey Orley, of Elro Corporation, which proposed the Six and Sheldon center and another at Six and Winchester. "I am sure you are aware that there is litigation pending regarding both the Sheldon and, pending board action, the Winchester corners," Orley said. "I would be cautious about revising the master plan to show any different sites." Orley said the firm would prefer to discuss the matter with the township and settle the issue without court action, but is committed to litigation if no compromise can be reached. He cautioned that showing convenience shopping at Beck Road or any other site than the three now planned might result in "exactly the opposite of what you want. You could end up with genuine strip zoning." He said his firm expects to win in court should the case ever reach that stage, forcing approval of centers at Sheldon and, perhaps, Winchester. Adding Beck to the plan would not affect the Sheldon case, he said, and might result in convenience center zoning at Haggerty, Winchester, Sheldon, Beck and Ridge. Orley's projection was a "worst-case" analysis MacDonald said after the meeting, but deserves thought.

Joint meeting intended to further cooperation

In its second joint meeting with another body within one week, the Northville Township Board of Trustees resolved some of their concerns about operations of its own planning commission Monday night.

The board met with city council April 1 to discuss joint service agreements. The relatively-new board and the planning commission discussed several operational procedures that had concerned the trustees before moving on to discuss planning philosophies and a revised zoning ordinance (see related story).

Fees charged to developers proposing zoning changes or requiring site plan reviews will not be changed, the bodies decided. During the budgeting process the board asked the commission to review its fee structures, which were set in 1975. But discussion revealed that consultants had not changed their fees since that time and commission costs have not risen substantially either. Also settled was the issue of providing the engineering consultant and planning consultant reviews to developers prior to commission meetings. Supervisor John MacDonald asked during the budget process if the commission could not give these materials to the developers prior to the meeting instead of having them confront criticisms for the first time during the sessions, as is done now.

He was told then, and it was confirmed Monday, that the commission believes others at the public session would be at a disadvantage during discussion, so developers should not have the reviews prior to the meeting. They might be afforded the reviews earlier in the meeting, but that is as far as the commission is ready to bend. Overall, treasurer Richard Henningsen said, the meeting was a productive one simply in terms of furthering communication between the bodies. "Every once in awhile," he said, "it is good to air things out and put them out on the table. Even if you don't make decisions right away, you gain understanding." Planning commissioner Marvin Gans expressed a similar sentiment, suggesting that such meetings become more frequent.

Pulte changes plans

In an unusual move prompted by "marketing considerations" the developers of a planned multiple family residential development in the township submitted revised plans to replace those given final approval only a month before. Highland Pointe, a Pulte Homes development, received final site plan approval from the township planning commission in February, clearing the way toward issuance of building permits, but submitted new plans at the March meeting. The condominium complex, including two and three bedroom townhouses, was approved with a series of smaller, four unit one-story townhouses called "fourplexes" in one area, but the developer decided the larger structures would probably sell better and changed one area of the plan. That area was given preliminary approval March 31, but will have to be submitted at least one more time before the entire development is again at the stage it was at the end of February. The revised area includes both two and three bedroom units, while other townhouses in the development are all three-bedroom units. Among the changes required of the developer under the conditional approval of the new submission are definite designation of which units will have three and which two bedrooms, and extensive revision of the location of one large parking area in relation to the surrounding buildings. Highland Pointe has been viewed as a model of what can be done under the township's open space planning provisions to provide recreation area within a housing complex, so commissioners were especially observant of changes to those plans which might accompany the different buildings. The major change involves moving a jogging path from one side of the road to the other, and commissioners were satisfied that it was a good move except for minor changes.

Local ballot date up in air

Township officials were unsure of the state proposal's effects until last week. The city has also received approval for May 19 from the Oakland County election scheduling body. The community straddles county lines and requires approval from both in order to run a city-wide election. Both local governments are proceeding with publication requirements for the May 19 date. Legal announcements will be changed if the legislature forces them off the ballot. It appears that the savings from running local issues on the May 19 date may be less than officials counted on receiving. The state reimburses local governments for the cost of such elections, but may elect only to pay for costs of the state proposal and make local bodies absorb the expenses of local issues.

township, will be $42,897 for the city's share. The budget was adjusted because the township was able to fund at $59,000 for the current year. "We need a better procedure," commented DeRusha, saying that in the future he hoped budgets of shared services could be discussed cooperatively at joint meetings. Resolutions were adopted Monday endorsing the "Share the Ride and Save" program of the Oakland County Road Commission and the Fair Housing Center's request to have April cited as Fair Housing Month. Mayor Vernon also proclaimed that June 14-20 will be known as "Nurse Anesthetist Week at the request of the Michigan Association of Nurse Anesthetists."

Federal budget plans would cut super sewer funds

By KATHY JENNINGS

Projects such as the so-called "super sewer" project would be affected if the Reagan administration gets the cuts in the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) budget that it has proposed. Officials from both the EPA and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) say that if the budget cuts proposed by the president are approved by the U.S. legislature, there would be an impact on super sewer, formally known as the Huron Valley waste water control system. The impact would be that the sewer being designed to serve 16 communities in the metropolitan Detroit area, including Northville and Northville Township, most likely will be delayed. It also will be competing with other state sewer projects for a piece of the reduced funding pie.

Federal grants were slated to cover 75 percent of the $200,000 million cost of the regional sewer system, while the state was to pick up five percent. Communities connecting to the regional sewer have agreed to cover the remaining 20 percent local share of project. But Charles Sutfin, director of the clean water division of Region V office of the EPA, said the new administration has proposed cutting the budget for the clean water program in half. "The proposal before congress calls for a $1.7 billion rescission of the currently appropriated funds for the 1980-81 budget," Sutfin said. He noted that another of the proposed changes is that federal funding, which now covers 75 percent of the cost of studying, designing and constructing such projects, would be reduced to 50 percent of that cost. Sutfin said he could not be sure of the exact impact on the super sewer project since the situation currently is being handled by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. "The plan still must be accepted by Congress, but the answer is 'yes, there could be an impact on the project,'" Sutfin said. Dick Hinshon, manager of construction grants for the DNR, reported that the proposed budget cut limits the money available for the department to work with. Should Congress adopt the recommended budget reductions, Hinshon says: "If the sewer were ready today we wouldn't have the money for it." However, he adds, "the big question is will we get a budget next year." If funds are available next year, super sewer would receive a portion of those funds. The super sewer project is the second most important sewer construction project going on in the state right now, Hinshon indicated. "We would get the first segment underway and then large portions of the 1983-84 budget could be expected to go to the project," Hinshon said. "But the administration has proposed no budget unless there are changes in the law. And if the changes are made, major portions of the sewer project would be ineligible," he explained. If the funds are not available, the project would be delayed for lack of funds, Hinshon said. He noted, however, that there are major efforts to make adjustments to the president's proposed budget. "I expect they won't let us suffer through a zero funding year," Hinshon said. As a result of the proposals now being considered on capitol hill, the state DNR is operating "very conservatively," Hinshon said. He noted that it is working under the assumption that there will be no funds available in 1982. "We're assuming that what has been proposed is all we're going to get for the next 18 months. Our position has been to get as many projects ready to go as possible and then if funds become available we can immediately shift gears. But there also are a large number of projects on hold." Duane R. Egeland, deputy managing director of the Wayne County Public Works board, said he is "still optimistic the project will be funded as anticipated." He said the Wayne County Department of Public Works, which is coordinating the project, is proceeding as if there were to be no changes and it doesn't anticipate any changes.

Festivity donation doubled

Northville Jaycees, in addition to receiving high praise from Northville City Council members Monday for sponsoring a Fourth of July "in which the community can take great pride," received more financial support than expected from the council.

After hearing from Jaycee Ron Barnum that the Jaycees must make commitments now for bands and marching groups for the annual parade and must order fireworks, the council unanimously agreed to double last year's donation of $1,000 and to give $2,000 this year.

The Jaycees pointed out that they had been notified by the township that its $1,000 funding had been slashed from the new budget and said they were studying alternate methods of financing the old-fashioned holiday observance that draws hundreds to the community.

"It's one of the outstanding events that occur here. There aren't many communities with an old-fashioned parade that even includes bicycles," observed Council member J. Burton DeRusha.

He lauded the Jaycees for spending both their money and time, agreeing that it was necessary to spend money to have good parade features. Barnum said the last Fourth had cost $8,000 and that the Jaycees this year are considering charging for parking at the high school where hundreds come to view fireworks. He said other ideas to produce more funds are being explored. "It is something we need to be extremely proud of. It's a warm experience to see people come," agreed Mayor Paul Vernon.

Council member G. Dewey Gardner said he would want both the parade and fireworks continued and made the motion to appropriate $2,000, which passed unanimously. The obviously pleased and surprised Jaycees attending commended the council for its action and its commitment to the community.

At the suggestion of City Manager Steven Walters, the council also agreed to fund the project from this year's budget, giving the Jaycees working monies now.

Walters noted that the city had the funds to take the action as race track revenues budgeted for $750,000 appear certain to be going to produce the maximum $800,000 this season. The funds will give an estimated $70-$80,000 to the public improvement budget of the city.

The amount of race track return is the maximum allowed the city and is the first maximum return. Based on March performance, the city manager reported, the actual total probably will reach $825,000.

MONTHLY POLICE REPORT

The police summary of activity for the month of January, 1981 was presented in a somewhat different format than used in 1980.

Chief Cannon commented on the parking violations being enforced.

Discussion on the Northville State Hospital fence followed and it was noted that there seemed to be almost as big problems keeping outsiders out as there was trying to keep the patients in.

PURCHASE OF TWO POLICE CARS Permission was requested to purchase two 1981 Chrysler LeBaron four door sedans in the amount of $7,280 which reflects the lowest bid for police packages from this area. The total for the two vehicles would be $14,560.

The City Manager explained the City is proposing to attach to the Livonia police bid to get the better bid price.

Mayor Vernon explained the City is obligated by the police contract to replace the cars.

Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman Johnston to appropriate the money to purchase two Chrysler LeBaron Police Cars in the amount of $7,280 each.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

TRAFFIC CONTROL ORDER NO 81-05 Traffic Control Order No. 81-05 would designate as "No Parking At Anytime" the West side of Center Street between Main Street and Cady Street.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Gardner to adopt Traffic Control Order 81-05 as follows:

Under Section 2.36 of said Traffic Code the following areas are hereby designated as "No Parking At Anytime":

West side of Center Street between Main Street and Cady Street

All other Traffic Control Orders or parts thereof in conflict with this Traffic Control Order are hereby rescinded.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

Councilman DeRusha asked about parking restrictions on East Cady and mentioned an individual who was being helped and visited by the church who lived on Cady. He stated the people who come to help the person have to park a couple of blocks away and sometimes have hot food or much to carry.

Several suggestions were made, one concerned a parking area where Church Street was vacated. The area would be looked at and a recommendation would be forthcoming from the City Manager and Police Communications.

CITIZENS FROM Mr. Paul Dawson, Chairman of the City Library Commission, discussed the Library Budget reduction which equaled to $59,000 for the Township and $42,897 for the City, or a total cut of $5,681. The reduction was taken at the request of the Township.

Mr. Dawson commented that none of the Library Commissioners received an invitation to discuss this with the Township. He also mentioned he and Ann Mannisto and Robert DeHoff had met and reduced the budget. He stated it was a bare-bones budget and they would not be able to cut next year without reducing staff.

Councilwoman Ayers mentioned it was an unilateral decision made by the Township and the City residents have to take it. She explained the Library is not like the Recreation, i.e. they cannot charge user fees. She thought it was a percentage cut without considering the consequences that the City according to the contract would have to lower their monies also.

The City Manager commented that the City Council would not have cut the budget without someone from the library board at the meeting. The $59,000 figure was set by the Township.

Councilwoman Ayers explained that Mr. DeHoff had presented the budget to the Township and there was no discussion.

Councilman DeRusha suggested telling the Township that the Budget was approved by Ayers and have them take another look at it and not necessarily go along with their cut. He thought the Library Commission presented a reasonable budget to begin with.

Mayor Vernon shared Councilwoman Ayers view.

Mr. Dawson stated he would appreciate anything the Council could do.

Councilman Johnston thought the original budget was a good one.

Councilwoman Ayers suggested the Township should be given the explanation on the minimum requirements in order to receive State aid.

Mayor Vernon mentioned the communication to the Township should suggest to them that a representative of the Library Commission speak with them.

Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman DeRusha to advise the Township Board of Trustees that we are not in agreement to reduce the budget as proposed and ask they reconsider and have a Library representative be at the next Township Meeting to discuss it with them.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

AUDITORS REQUEST FOR REAPPOINTMENT Communication from Plante & Moran requesting they be appointed as independent auditors for the City for the year ending June 30, 1981. Their fee would approximate last year's, $10,395, plus inflation of 9 percent. The fees incurred would be increased by the new Shared-Services Fund audit, but reduced $600 because of the elimination of the Federal Revenue Sharing compliance audit.

Mr. Ken Kunkel, Plante & Moran, stated they have tried to pass on ideas learned from other areas, and have tried to be of service besides doing the audit.

Mayor Vernon mentioned they were also doing the audit for the Township. He also mentioned the City Council has been well pleased with their work, however, he did want to make the point of the Township auditors.

Motion by Councilman Gardner supported by Councilman Johnston to appoint Plante & Moran as the City auditors for the year ending June 30, 1981.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

ELECTION DATE CHANGE

RESOLUTION It was noted that the Wayne County Election Commission denied the May 19 election date because it was within 30 days of the School Election in June. However, they did approve Tuesday, May 5, 1981 for an election date for the S. Main Paving proposal. A resolution would be needed to amend Resolution 81-3.

Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Gardner to amend Resolution 81-3 Notice of Registration and Elections to change the date of election from Tuesday, May 19, 1981 to Tuesday, May 5, 1981 thereby changing the last day to register from Monday, April 20, 1981 to Monday, April 6, 1981.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

RECREATION DEPARTMENT BUDGET Councilman Johnston explained the new budget and the cuts that were made. He stated the City residents would be signing up for the regular fees and the City would make up the $3,762 difference, while the Township residents would be paying higher fees.

The City Manager explained the problems involving the Recreation Secretary's salary which including COLA was less than the deputy clerk salary in the Township.

Discussion on the problems and the need for cooperation followed.

The City Manager explained the direct costs in relationship to the participants total operating costs and noted the Township would be increasing the fees.

Councilman Johnston commented that Chairman Bingley of the Recreation Commission did a good job on trying to keep the Budget in line.

It was Mayor Vernon's understanding that the Township may not approve the budget because of the COLA problem.

Councilman Johnston concurred.

Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman Gardner to adopt the Recreation budget as revised and communicating this action to the Township Board and the citizens.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

Mayor Vernon asked that the Township Board communicate their action to Councilman Johnston.

REIMBURSEMENT OF PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY Motion by Councilman Gardner supported by Councilwoman Ayers to adopt a Resolution requesting the State Legislature to make an appropriation to reimburse local units of government for out-of-pocket expenditures to conduct the May, 1980 Presidential Primary Election and that copies be directed to Governor Milliken, Senators Geake and Ross and Representatives Kirksey and Fessler, the MML and surrounding communities.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

CITIZEN'S CONCERN RE SALT EFFECT ON LAWN Communication from Mr. Douglas MacDonald, 451 Welch, re salt damage to his lawn along the street and stating he would prefer the use of a salt substitute.

Councilman Gardner stated he lived on a busy street and had suffered no salt damage and wondered if he could have a fungus in his lawn.

The City Manager mentioned that Mr. MacDonald's street was one of the least salted streets.

Mayor Vernon asked that someone take a look at Mr. MacDonald's lawn and see if there is salt damage.

The City Manager stated he would see that was done first.

Councilman DeRusha mentioned that salt might be more effective if it were put down in a water solution.

PROCLAMATION — WESTERN WAYNE OAKLAND COUNTY BOARD OF REALTORS Motion by Councilman Johnston supported by Councilman Gardner to adopt a proclamation proclaiming April 19-25 to be 2nd State Property Week in the City of Northville.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

BOARDS & COMMISSIONS a. Resignation — Building Authority Resignation from Robert Freydl, Building Authority Treasurer.

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilman Gardner to accept the resignation with regret of Robert Freydl from the Building Authority and express great appreciation for services rendered.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

b. Appointment — Planning

Commission The Committee would meet with the applicants and have a recommendation for the next meeting.

INSURANCE CONSULTANT: Next Agenda.

MR. NOWKA, TOWNSHIP TRUSTEE Mr. Jim Nowka commented he had attended a Township budget meeting earlier this evening and got involved with the Recreation Budget. He stated they had approved $59,000 which was the maximum they could come up with. They thought that Council had already taken action. He mentioned the Trustees had difficulty in coming up with the necessary dollars and they had a concern as related to the funding outside of their formula to meet the trend of the times. This he explained, is what drew him to the Council meeting.

Mayor Vernon asked if he were saying he disagreed with the City Council's intent to subsidize the fees.

Mr. Nowka answered yes.

Mayor Vernon asked him to explain why.

Mr. Nowka explained his reasoning and stated it creates a bit of a problem when the people have to pay the fees.

The City Manager explained the Library budget was adopted two weeks ago and the Township was notified of that.

Mayor Vernon expressed the Council's concerns.

Discussion followed on the Library and Recreation budgets.

Mr. Nowka thanked Council and stated he did not feel he was on hostile territory.

Mayor Vernon thanked him for coming and assured him he was not on hostile ground.

Mayor Vernon convened the meeting at 10 p.m. and reconvened at 11:10 p.m.

BUDGET STATUS REPORT: The City Manager stated the State Shared Revenues were within a few dollars of what was projected.

He mentioned the two letters of understanding which were received from the AFSCME Union and the Northville Command Officers Association re the COLA option. Also the letter from the Police Officers Association of Michigan and at this point the City Manager did not know whether they would accept the COLA option. He asked if it were acceptable to Council he would go ahead with the unions.

An expression of appreciation was extended to the other two unions by the Council.

Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman DeRusha to recommend acceptance of the letters of understanding and authorize the City Manager to submit the proposal to the POAM.

Motion Carried Unanimously.

It was noted the race track revenues, if they continue at their present pace, would come close to the $800,000 figure.

Northville's need to have a flood plain ordinance.

i. Wayne County CD Block Grant Program Advisory Council Meeting and Minutes

Omnicom. A representative would be at the April 6 meeting

MISCELLANEOUS: Councilman DeRusha mentioned the bushes at W. Main and High Street that have not been trimmed or cut and would be soon in full bloom.

The City Manager stated the Police Department notices have been sent out on that and suggested he might want to inquire at the next meeting.

Councilman Gardner was curious about the park inventory and would like to have guidelines to go by.

The City Manager mentioned the letter received from an attorney representing the Auxiliary Police to discuss forming a collective bargaining unit for them. This would be discussed at the April 6 Council Meeting.

Notice from the State re the Small Group Home application and a copy of the City Manager's response. He mentioned there would probably be need for some serious follow-up.

HISTORIC SOCIETY Mayor Vernon read from minutes he had received. He mentioned that when the Court moves out of City Hall perhaps one of the rooms could be made more presentable and could have a dual purpose use, for weddings and meetings. He stated he sees no problem with using the Mill Race for weddings, and his only concern was the fees that were unilaterally used. He mentioned he does not think the fees are too high now. He commented that the Historical Society did make a motion to set up an informal meeting with Council. Council agreed there should be a meeting.

Mayor Vernon commented that City Council could not have a closed informal meeting because of the Public Meetings Act.

The City Manager suggested calling a special meeting for that purpose and post it.

Mayor Vernon would contact the Society for a possible meeting on March 30 at 8 p.m. at either the Mill Race Village or City Hall.

Councilman Johnston stated he would be on vacation April 6 as would Councilwoman Ayers. Meeting adjourned at 11:10 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Joan G. McAllister
City Clerk

Our opinions

Millage defeat message clear

Defeat of the Northville's School District millage came as no surprise to us; it shouldn't have surprised school board members either. The economic slump — particularly acute in this autoregion — together with gigantic state equalized assessment increases here were telling barometers.

As we stated last week, school officials will be making a tragic mistake if they return the same millage proposition to the annual school election ballot in June. We trust they have learned their lesson.

The argument that the requested millage is needed "just to maintain" the status quo has little influence on the taxpayer who must trim his own budget just to keep even. And that says nothing of the unemployed voter and the voter whose job is hanging by a thread. Our interpretation of the millage defeat is that the voter is saying, "We must cut back in the private sector; the public sector can, too."

Obviously, some of the negative votes probably reflected concern about continued sloppy housekeeping, dislike of school policy, or some other personal hangups of voters. Together they may have influenced the outcome. But the overriding factor, in our opinion, was the private sector's economic plight.

In what seemed like total disregard of what is happening around them, board members themselves sealed the fate of the millage proposal by flaunting voters with fat increases in administrative salaries. Nine percent increases on the heels of near passage of Tisch and voiced public outrage over what is happening to assessments here is a first-class blunder. That kind of PR doesn't win much sympathy for board-professed frugality.

Those who argue that the salary increases are peanuts in comparison with the overall size of the school budget or with other school districts miss the point. Even if we agreed the increases were "totally justified" — and we don't believe they were — the public, rightly or wrongly, sees them as mirroring government's propensity to reward itself. A board or a superintendent attuned to the pulse of an angry public would not have awarded or accepted these "marketplace" increases if for no other reason than to protect the millage proposal.

Board member Whitaker, in scolding us in his letter to the editor this week, misinterprets the message if he believes The Record or the public would have preferred that the board "delay" increases a few days until after the election. Neither The Record nor the public likes subterfuge. And to its credit, the board did not try to hide increases. What we would have preferred is little or no increase this year; instead we would have preferred a public statement that in view of the state of the economy "deserved" increases were being waived at the top.

(Incidentally, even by Mr. Whitaker's own "marketplace" standard, the salary increase in question is not valid. But what bothers us most about this "marketplace" theory, especially prevalent in education, is that it perpetuates spiralling salaries that have little relationship to performance).

Philosophical argument over salaries, however, will not solve the financing problem for our schools. What is needed now, if tragedy is to be avoided, is some serious examination of what can be afforded and what cannot be afforded. And we suggest that examination begin at the top, not at the bottom of our educational system. For example, pink slipping need not only apply to teachers but to central administration as well.

With paring knife in hand the board ought to begin a line by line review of the budget, establishing priorities that give basic education the number one rating.

Meanwhile, the board ought to assess the validity of specific complaints that people are making about our school system and education in general. Contrary to what the board might believe not all people are "pleased" with what is happening in their schools. For example, here are a few of the gripes, valid or not, we're hearing on the streets:

—The board's isolated itself from reality; look at its review of the superintendent. They all but said he walks on water.

—Housekeeping at the high school is still awful, especially in the girls' johns. Trash seen in the gym at the first game was still there for the last game.

—Why doesn't the school district demand that its administrators live in the district?

—Why doesn't the superintendent visit schools and classrooms regularly? Even some teachers say they hadn't seen pictures of him.

—We're still hearing that more and more people are sending their kids to private schools. Is it true?

—Some principals, out of friendship or reluctance to make waves, don't do a good job of evaluating teachers and hence the 'bad apples' remain.

—Why can't teachers be required to police halls and bathrooms as they did in years past?

—Why must we continue to operate the ISE Program? Let some other district do it.

—We've got too many central office administrators and their respective clerical staffs? How come we've got two administrators for our bus program?

—What our schools need is more basics, fewer of the non-essential electives, for idle minds.

—Smoking should be banned and the rule should be enforced everywhere on school property. Teachers who "wink" at these infractions should be reprimanded.

Speaking of letters

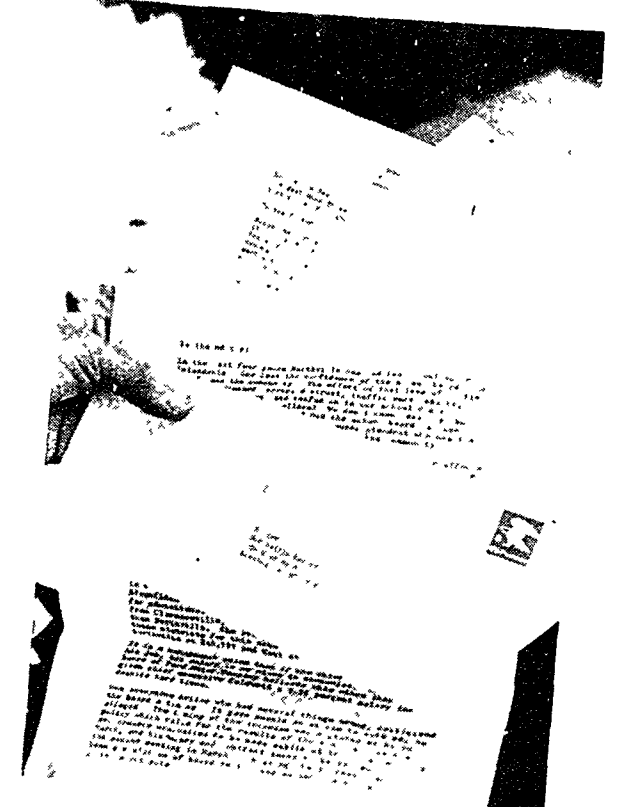

We welcome your comments

Readers Speak, the page opposite this newspaper's editorial page, contains letters to the editor. We always are pleased when we receive these letters expressing opinions held by you, the reader.

The letters mean that you are reading your local newspaper and that you consider it the forum for your feelings and opinions about what is happening locally. The opinions do not have to coincide with those we have aired in our editorials; nor do they have to endorse what we have reported is happening in our news stories.

They are very important because they tell us and elected and appointed officials in our community what you are thinking about local issues and happenings. If the facts are incorrect in a letter, and we are aware, we do add an Editor's Note so stating.

Otherwise, only grammar is corrected unless letters are of unreasonable length. We ask that you limit letters to 500 words. We print all letters that are received if they are signed with name, address and telephone number. If they are received by 3:30 p.m. on a Monday, every effort is made to publish them in the Wednesday edition the same week.

Only a rare letter that is an attack on an individual (which may be libelous) is not printed. We do NOT print any anonymous letters, but we do promise complete confidentiality. Letters asking to have name withheld are locked immediately with the others in the publisher's private files.

This policy became effective after exhaustive discussion in a staff meeting a few years ago. Frankly, we would prefer to have all letters signed that are printed, but it was recognized that this is a small community. Writers might not express an opinion if it could affect job tenure or promotion. Parents with students in the school system have been reluctant to criticize if they are identified.

How do we decide how to display the letters? Length and topic are factors. If an issue is of high current interest, it usually generates letters. These we feature, using smaller headlines on shorter, individual letters on other subjects.

Thank you for writing. We really do welcome your letters.

JACK W. HOFFMAN'S COLUMN

Having played the role six times, I can appreciate the importance and the personal pride of parents in announcing the birth of a son or daughter.

But our age-old tradition of publicizing the baby's weight — right down to the ounce — always has baffled me. It's almost as if we're introducing the baby to the prizefight crowd.

Think about it. Why is the weight of the baby so important that we publicize it? If by weight we are attempting to describe the baby's health why not come right out and say the baby is healthy or unhealthy? Or is weight a way of describing the ease or difficulty of birth?

What about length? Isn't that as important? Frankly, I've always taken pride in the fact that my own debut, according to the doctor's slip of the pen, was the longest in the annals of single birthing. Now there's something to write about — a six-pound, 31-inch world record! And they didn't even give me a prize.

The fact that I was born on the kitchen table is just as noteworthy. It probably accounts for my weight. I can't push myself away from my birthplace.

And why do we say a baby is "fat and bouncy" or "fat and sassy" to describe good health. Are skinny babies less healthy? Be honest, have you ever seen a bouncing infant? Most babies I've know don't become sassy until they enter junior high.

And as long as we're being honest, have you ever seen a newborn baby that really "looks exactly like you?" There may have been similarities in color of hair, baldness, or temperament but not once in six experiences could I honestly say, "Yes, I can see the likeness." Even now, looking at our baby pictures, I can't tell one from another. It's easier to distinguish feet prints.

Let's face it, the only weight of importance to the new mother is her own. And if the mother of our children is typical, the only meaningful statistic to mothers as they fondle their babies for the first time is the number of fingers and toes they count.

School board trustee defends Super's salary increase

To the Editor:

In the past four years Northville has had two school superintendents. One lost the confidence of the school board, the staff and the community. The effect of that loss of confidence was discord, error, distrust, inefficiency, apathy, divisiveness and confusion in our school district.

What did that cost in dollars? We don't know exactly, but it was far more than the $12,000 the board has spent since 1978 to reward and retain a superintendent who has the confidence of the board, the staff and the community.

Directly or indirectly we are all feeling the economic effects of curtailed automobile production. But to declare that the superintendent of schools should not be paid what he is worth in his marketplace because the automobile industry's woes have cost many able workers the salary and bonus rewards they have been accustomed to in their marketplace is questionable reasoning.

It is important to understand that education has its own marketplace just as other enterprises such as computer programming and journalism do. The educational marketplace pays well. It is in this real marketplace, not the one for newspaper editors and not one that we might wish existed, that boards of education must compete.

For years the Northville Board of Education has compared its salary levels, staffing patterns and other personnel matters to those of 17 other districts with whom we compete or wish to compete for personnel.

Most of these districts are in close proximity to Northville. Others, such as Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Wayne Westland have established reputations for educational quality.

These districts range in enrollment from Clarenceville, 2384, to Livonia, 22,367. Most are larger than Northville.

The average salary of the superintendents of these districts for this school year is $51,190. Compare Northville at $46,787 and Novi at $48,000.

It is a management axiom that if the chief executive is doing his job, his salary is no place to economize. Apparently the board of Ford Motor Company believes this since they have just given Chief Executive Caldwell a 9.25 percent salary increase despite hard times.

One anonymous writer who had several things wrong, criticized the board's timing. It gave people an excuse to vote no, he alleged.

The timing on the increase was dictated by board policy which calls for the results of the superintendent's performance evaluation to be made public at the first meeting in March, and his salary and contract terms to be set publicly at the second meeting in March.

Delaying the increase would have been a violation of board policy and an obvious manipulation of the electorate. Citizens of the school district have told us unremittently that they want improved education, better building maintenance, improved personnel evaluation, stricter disciplinary policies and strong leadership.

These things are happening. It is the superintendent who is primarily responsible for making them happen. Our evaluations of him show that he has been successful. Our action setting his salary recognized his work in his own marketplace.

Yours truly,

Douglas A. Whitaker
Northville Board of Education

Editor's Note: the salary under discussion has been the one to begin July 1, 1981, of $51,000 with an additional $1500 tax shelter annuity approved for the superintendent.

Board should offer reasonable mill request

To the Editor:

Since the Northville School millage increase was defeated on April 4th, it should be obvious to the school board and administration that the taxpayers do not want a millage increase.

Recent public meetings and demonstrations should also make it obvious that the taxpayers do not want a tax increase this year. I am sure that the business office experts can calculate the millage reduction necessary to reduce the 9.5 mills for three years of the Headlee Amendment roll-back so that it will be a true renewal level.

The result of this little exercise should be a 4 or 5 mill request which the taxpayers would probably approve.

In today's economy, many people like Ford salaried employees, AMC and Chrysler workers and many others are accepting wage reductions or giving up scheduled increases to keep their jobs. It would be quite pleasant and refreshing to have the school board adopt a no tax increase approach for the next millage request.

It would be a new experience for the school system, but it would show the taxpayers that the school board is willing to carry its share of the no income tax increase economy this year.

Of course, this will present some problems to the school administration. Labor contracts would have to be renegotiated to eliminate salary and benefit increases. Salary reductions might even be necessary in some cases. Perhaps some administrative positions should be eliminated. Certainly the annual reductions in student enrollment would dictate some personnel reductions.

All of these things will be difficult to accomplish, but the taxpayer must live within his income even if that income declines. Acceptance of a salary freeze by school personnel will show the taxpayer that we do not always live with a double standard, one of reduced income and increased taxes for the taxpayer, and the other of increased income and business-as-usual for public employees.

It is past the time for governments and school systems to learn to live within a reduced or static income instead of asking the overburdened taxpayers to cut their living standard deeper so the schools can have more money to continue business-as-usual.

The coming days will be most interesting. Will the school board recognize the facts of the economy or will it ask for the 9.5 mill increase again?

Will the public employees accept their share of income restrictions as taxpayers have had to do for years?

Will the taxpayers approve any millage request this year?

Tune in for the next agonizing episode of "millage election in the Northville School District."

She's concerned about conditions at NHS

To the Editor:

I have taken a night class at Northville High School and am ashamed and distressed at the condition of our ONE high school.

The outside of the school (especially the back of the school) is in terrible shape.

The hall walls are filthy. The floors are not much cleaner. The girls lavatory across from the auditorium is dirty, unsanitary and needs a plumber very badly. I certainly hope that women in the audience at the showing of "Oklahoma" don't have to use the lavatory.

I took a walk through Novi High School and found it very clean and beautifully maintained. I realize that Northville High is much older than Novi High, but it doesn't excuse the filth and neglect at Northville High School.

Who is at fault in letting our high school get into such a mess inside and out?

I certainly wish our administrators, school board members and citizens would take a tour of our high school and then take a stroll around and inside Novi High and see the difference in the maintenance of the schools.

Yours sincerely,

A concerned citizen

Recreation budget woes should be resolved

To the Editor:

The recreation budget situation is a matter of concern to me and I would like to share it with others. My opinions may cost me a friend or two, but I feel strongly about the situation so here goes.

It is regrettable that the city and township have come to odds over the recreation budget. Even though the township elected to reject annexation and go its own way, the recreation program is inextricably shared by the two units of government. And — of primary importance — whether we're comfortable, or not, all of us are members of the Northville Community.

It would seem, under the fiscal problems bearing on the matter, that a bit of give and take might be in order. However, at last week's meeting of resolution between the city and township it seems the city didn't and the township couldn't.

So, they're back to increased fees for township participants and the city will sort of subsidize their participants.

To add to the situation, the gentlemen downtown seem to have trouble saying "no" to those who ask for money without regard for a source — except, of course, the taxpayer. And the recreation budget seems to get more and more out of hand each year.

Its program is overly ambitious and grandiose and, in my opinion, has become the great boondoggle. It is top heavy with non-essentials and duplicated effort. These factors, and the people necessary to administer them, cost money, however valid.

Under the circumstances, the township is not all unreasonable in balking at the cost. A return to the sheer basics of a recreation program might not be all bad.

All the dialogue at the meeting last week did, though, produce a bright spot. It was decided that a further joint meeting be held next September when work starts on preparation of the next year's recreation budget.

At that time it would be a good idea if the recreation director and the gentlemen who sit at the big table downtown would — respectively — consider a couple of simple words used sparingly these days. The words are "austere" and "prudent."

It would do well if they reassessed the definition of these two words.

Sincerely,
Wally Nichols

BRIGHTON — City of Brighton may be forced to comply with a phosphorus discharge limit of 750 pounds a year from its wastewater treatment plant by July, 1982, and city officials are anything but happy over the prospect.

HARTLAND — A budget-cutting axe is poised above Hartland's educational system and the jobs of 154 school employees. The axe will be set in motion if voters defeat a 15.5 mill package May 2, officials warn.

HOWELL — School administrators here have recommended that a 2.3 mill increase be placed on the June 8 ballot to raise the extra $700,000 they say is needed to maintain the school's "program integrity."

BRIGHTON — Two Brighton board of education members have said they will not run for re-election this June, insuring that the board will see its biggest turnover in a decade.

HOWELL — The building slump in Livingston County may be bad, but it is not the worst slump in southeastern Michigan, say some local officials.

PINCKNEY — Area residents got their first official peek at the Pinckney school district's new community complex during an open house last weekend.

9.5 millage renewal rejected by voters

"It appears to me that we have to build on that 25.9 mills since we went down to defeat by 2 to 1," Johnson said.

Administrators will be working on several budget alternatives and compiling data within the next few days to bring to the board's meeting next Monday night.

The board is hoping to make a decision next Monday as to whether or not it will put the millage issue back on the ballot.

In addition to the approximate 27 percent reduction in next year's revenues due to the millage defeat, the board of education and administration also is looking at other matters which may further reduce the district's finances.

The outcome of the state election May 19 on Proposal A — which would reduce property taxes by 50 percent while increasing the state sales tax to 5.5 percent — would cause further cuts to the district revenues, according to administrators.

Trustee Wilkinson, who also serves on the board of the Michigan Association of School Boards, said the passage of Proposal A would result in an approximate $750,000 reduction in revenues to the Northville schools.

"If we don't get any more millage," she explained, "we will have to cut the budget to $6.8 million."

To maintain current programs, school officials estimated that the 1981-82 revenue projection would be about $10 to $10.5 million.

The board also is anticipating further cuts at the state level, particularly in the categorical area which includes such items as transportation and special education.

Possible further reductions from the state coupled with the fact that the 1981 SEV is not expected to be known until the end of May, has left the administration in a "budget limbo" in terms of what course of action to take.

However, the board asked administrators Monday to look into the type of programming the district can offer with 25.9 mills.

After about an hour discussion among board members regarding the next step the board must take in regards to the millage defeat, Johnson opened up the meeting for citizen comment.

In light of the apparent voter apathy due to the low numbers of residents who turned out for the election, many members of the audience expressed concern over the lack of communication between the board and the community.

Acknowledging the administrations difficulty in obtaining community feedback, board vice-president Charles Peltz suggested that the board consider forming a citizens' committee to open the lines of communication.

"It's quite obvious that we did not read correctly what the mood was in the community," Peltz said.

"It's incumbent on us as a board to see what the community needs," he said, "As of right now, I don't know what the community wants."

The board is hoping to have some outline for the formation of a citizens' committee at its next meeting at 7:30 p.m. April 13 in the board offices in Old Village School.

One citizen remark focused on whether or not the board was being honest with the community in terms of the scope of the reductions that will have to be made.

"The truly honest situation today is that we have 25.9 mills to work with," Johnson said. "We have to build a budget around that — we have to make some cuts."

"We're very dishonest with the people if we don't make these cuts."

Frostic headlines Mensa convention in Plymouth

Area residents who are members of the Southeast Michigan Chapter of Mensa are working on the chapter's third annual convention being held April 10-12 at the Plymouth Hilton Inn in Plymouth.

Featured speaker will be artist Gwen Frostic.

William and Nancy Hayden and Phelps and Mernie Hines, all of Northville, have been aiding with arrangements. Other local residents of the chapter include Marlene Buffa, James Werdell, Marguerite Loy, all of Northville, and Raymond Kobe, of Novi.

Called the SEMM Antics, this year's convention will include speakers and workshops on a variety of topics as well as game and hospitality rooms.

Mensa is an organization of people scoring at or above the 98th percentile on IQ tests.

In addition to other activities throughout the year, the chapters hold regional gatherings to host members from other parts of the country. Subjects of mutual concern are discussed and challenging games are planned.

A dramatized logic game, a paper airplane contest and an art show are included in the convention schedule.

Jackie Gentry of Chicago will be speaking on gifted children at the Plymouth meeting. Nancy Morris, a local gifted children coordinator, will meet with representatives from other chapters to trade information and ideas.

Myra Wiorchrek and Rick Basso will discuss the political situation in Cambodian refugee camps. J. B. Dixon will speak on intrapersonal skills on the job and job-interviewing techniques.

Gabe Werba, chairman of the National Mensa and a founder of the local group, will be a special guest, as will Roy Sapir, national vice-chairman.

Featured speaker at the Saturday luncheon will be Michigan artist and poet Gwen Frostic. Her topic will be "Creativity."

At 75 Miss Frostic still is the boss of her own business in Benzonia, Michigan. A graduate of Michigan State Normal College (now Eastern Michigan University), she became an art teacher. First working in copper and brass, she went to work on the production line at Willow Run during World War II.

A year later she started her own printing business for her notepaper. Her first book, "My Michigan," was published in 1956. It brought her instant popularity.

She now has 15 Heidelberg letterpresses and fills 1,000 orders a day at Benzonia. She has opened another plant at Tubac, Arizona.

Harper Fowley, editor of The Isolated M, will be the speaker at the Saturday night dinner. Helen Kupper will be speaking at the Sunday brunch.

On Saturday afternoon Rich McKenzie, a preschool teacher at Roeper City and Country School, will describe the school's philosophy of education.

Family's restoring 1852 Bellevue grist mill

Stockhausens buy a dream

By JEAN DAY

Who hasn't seen a dilapidated, weathered old mill standing unused by a stream and envisioned it as a vacation hideaway or retirement retreat?

It's one of those American dreams many entertain but few achieve.

The exceptions are Bill and Carole Jean Stockhausen of Northville who found their mill in Bellevue in 1975 and have been working to restore it.

When they bought the mill, the young couple already had been renovating a Victorian home here at 218 West Dunlap, having the brick sandblasted to its original warm rose color and building a carriage house-garage that duplicates the architecture of the home.

Mrs. Stockhausen explains that the dream of owning a water-power mill actively was pursued by her husband. "We went searching and spent two or three years just looking at sites as we wanted a place that would generate its own electricity," she recalls.

The mill they located northeast of Battle Creek on the Battle Creek River wasn't impressive. Its tin roof, added later, had to be "peeled off like a sardine can" during the top-to-bottom overhaul.

Unused for 22 years when they purchased it, the mill was filled with old lumber and debris. They have been remodeling it since 1977 and expect to complete work the end of the decade.

The mill again is an imposing structure, towering 95 feet above the water level. It has three full floors, a half-size fourth and a fifth that is more like an attic.

The water power equipment is located in the stone basement, and Stockhausen intends its two turbines eventually will supply power for the mill, and perhaps even the area. The turbines were built in 1900 and 1920.

Mrs. Stockhausen remembers visiting between 250 and 300 sites in an exhaustive search in southern Michigan. Her husband, a mechanical engineer with Ford Motor Company, wanted a mill with the potential water power that was worth restoring.

The Bellevue mill is the second one on the site; the first, built in 1830, burned to the ground and the replacement built in 1852 is the building the Stockhausens have been remodeling.

Last operators of the mill, the Bellevue Milling Company, milled flour for Bluebird Bread. When the company closed operations in 1958, most of the equipment was sold.

After agreeing to purchase the mill, the Stockhausens had three years of survey and paper work with complicated water rights to be considered.

With interest and cooperation of the Bellevue community they obtained a matching funds grant of $16,000 for renovation of the exterior. This came from the Michigan History Division (federal money distributed by the state) granted on the grounds that the mill is on the National Registry of Historic Places and is a structure of industrial history.

That meant, however, Mrs. Stockhausen explains, that it had to be authentic — right to the 12-over-12 pane windows.

The community also supplied many of the original photographs of the mill, revealing loading docks and roof lines.

With youngsters Juliet, 8, Luke, 6, and Rachel, 3, the family has been "camping out" in a tent pitched inside the mill as they travel the 100 miles almost every other weekend in spring, summer and fall to work on it.

The work has included removing a lean-to that was a later addition as well as hand reconstruction of the large doors at each level — a project for which they enlisted family help. Carole Jean Stockhausen adds that help from family and friends has been welcomed.

One of the most unfortunate incidents in the mill's past was the destruction of the south basement wall. It has been rebuilt with blocks that are being covered with stone. The solid cherry beams have been jacked up to square the 35 by 45-foot building.

The pictorial diary of the family's progress presents a memorable record of the amount of work and planning involved. Construction of window frames (and the staining) took one summer.

It also reveals the fun of taking a dip in the stream right beside your house on a sunny summer day.

"The youngsters love it — they like to play by the river and find crawdads and snails and pick wildflowers," their mother says.

The Stockhausens have been active members of Northville Historical Society here, participating in restoration of the Northville Mill Race Historical Village. He is a past president of the society, and she has long worked on Tivoli Fair benefit projects, including the society's Country Store booth.

Most of the outside work now is completed at the mill, and the Stockhausens are concentrating on the interior. They plan to leave it open to retain the original feeling of the mill. Walls will be around the bathrooms on each floor, but the look of the grain mill will be retained.

The Stockhausens point out that there are about 100 grist mills still standing in the state, but only about half a dozen are worth restoring from an architectural standpoint.

Today, the mill built in 1852 by Manlius Mann has become through generous amounts of caring, much determination and hard work the Stockhausen Mill — to be enjoyed by Bill, Carole Jean, Juliet, Luke, Rachel and a family addition expected by Easter Week.

In Our Town

Spring's in fashion at Meadowbrook show

By JEAN DAY

Bow-tied, lace-edged miniature umbrellas topping pots of flowers set the springtime mood for the annual style show-luncheon at Meadowbrook Country Club last Thursday. It was a fashion-aware group of women who watched fellow members model clothes from Nista's, a former Northville shop now located in Farmington Hills. Sharon Lineman of Northville was commentator. Barbara Williamson of Nine Mile Road served as co-chairman with Julie Ball of Livonia.

Sharon Lineman, confiding that doing the commentary was a "first-time" experience, had been juggling this assignment with her volunteer duties as head of the auxiliary at Providence Hospital — while overseeing the beginning of an addition to the home she and husband Joe have purchased on West Main across from the intersection of Woodhill.

They are adding to the rear of the ranch home set in the midst of several acres of impressive, rolling land. Right now, before the trees are leafing out, Mrs. Lineman says, is the prime viewing time as the lights of Plymouth can be seen at night. Since they have sold their home in Lexington Commons South, the Linemans are anxious to have the addition ready for their move.

Visiting in Florida

In addition to proving a popular vacation-convention destination for local residents, Florida is becoming the retirement home for several former Northville residents. Former West Main area residents Bill and Marion Crump now are living in Mount Dora north of Orlando in what is termed "the antique capital of central Florida."

The Crumps formerly were active residents here. He served on the school board, and she was one of the originators of the historical society's Tivoli Fair. In Mount Dora he has begun producing remote-control sailboats with sleek hulls that are raced in competition in a growing sport. Some of his original designs have become winners this winter, my daughter Laurie and I learned on a quick visit to Orlando last month.

Local Mothers' Club telephone book's in process

Northville Mothers' Club is readying the local telephone directory which it produces every other year and expects it to be out by August. The directory has been distributed free for many editions to those who are listed in it. Proceeds from advertising and a classified listing in the back are used by the club for public school projects.

Any businessman or merchant who would like to be listed in the handy reference area and who has not been contacted is asked to call Mrs. M. J. VanSoest, 349-6888, for information on the classified section. Mrs. Gary Sixt is chairman for the directory project.

Seek 1961 classmates for reunion

"Lost classmates" from the Northville High School Class of 1961 are being sought for a reunion to be held August 22.

Carol Johnson Nickels, who now lives at 9 Bristol Green, Bourbonnais, Illinois, 60914, is hoping any classmates in the list of those not located, or their families, will give her current addresses.

Current addresses are needed for John R. Alexander, Jon Baksik, Charles Barnett, William Beadle, Duane Butler, Kathleen Cassel, David Conser, Janet Evans, Mike Goodrich. Also for Sandy Grant, David Hay, Karen Hill, Betsy and Susan Hushen, Cynthia Jones, Marilyn Lahr, Carolyn Langtry, Joan Lemon, Bob Matthews, Mary Miller. Others sought are Bill North, Donna Ozark, Lonna Pelton (Mrs. Mike Bloom), Lois Reuter, Jon Rodgers, Bob Sample, Howard Sherman, Carol Simon (Mrs. Jim Wharton), David Sprunk, Orin Stader, Betsy and Nancy Starkweather.

Completing the list are Mike Timbrook, Doug Tyler, Susan Whittlesey, Dick Wiliam (Butch), Emile Wilson, Karl Karg, Leslie Sheehan and Carol Allen Haskins.

Dental Dialogue of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.

A FOGGY DENTAL DAY

Q. It may be a silly question but I've always wondered how a dentist keeps his dental mirror from fogging when examining my mouth?

A. This is one of those "everything is one of those" questions. Don't feel silly, a fogged mirror is a real problem. There are sprays and liquids available that help keep the mirror clear, but the simplest way is to warm the mirror to body temperature by holding it against the patient's cheek.

This cartoon is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.

COUNTESSA OF ROMANONES

Lecture tomorrow

Countessa's Town Hall guest

The glamorous Countessa de Romanones will end the Northville Town Hall 1980-81 Series with her appearance tomorrow at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

The American-born Countessa is one of the most active and influential women in Europe today.

Born Aline Griffith in upstate New York, she was recruited by the O.S.S. right out of college in 1943 and sent to Spain in 1944. She was one of the few authentically, officially trained women agents operating in Europe during World War II.

After marrying the Conde de Romanones, a member of one of Spain's most noble and famous families, she became immersed in a myriad of activities.

She is the only woman on the board of directors of several international corporations, is one of Spain's leading patrons of the arts and other cultural and charitable projects and organized the first women's political group in Spain.

She founded a cooperative rug factory to improve working conditions in rural villages and became an expert in paleography (the ancient script of the 12th-17th centuries).

She is the Spanish representative of Vogue and has been listed on the 10 Best Dressed Hall of Fame.

She now devotes part of her time to lecturing in the United States to acquaint Americans with the close ties between the U.S. and Spain.

The lecture will begin at 11 a.m. and will be followed by luncheon.

Tickets for the 1981-82 Town Hall Series will go on sale at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the Plymouth Hilton lobby.

The $200 Grant-in-Aid will be awarded on the basis of need as well as scholarship.

Cooperative hosts meeting

New Morning School, a pioneer cooperative educational school for children in grades K-8, is sponsoring several informal meetings beginning at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Plymouth.

Founded in Northville in 1973, New Morning School moved to available facilities in Dearborn Heights while seeking a suitable permanent location in the Northville-Plymouth area.

"New Morning School's non-graded individualized program is designed to meet the needs of a wide range of children," according to teacher and co-director Elaine Yagiela of Northville. "We keep a low faculty-child ratio and use a variety of teacher approaches to create and maintain each child's interest in learning."

In January 1981, the school expanded to offer a pre-school program with several options for working and full-time parents.

Persons interested in more information about the New Morning School are invited to attend the informal discussion. To make arrangements, call 453-3267 between 7-10 p.m. or 292-0760 weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The bridegroom, a 1972 graduate of University of Pennsylvania, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Brumbach of Gloucester, New Jersey.

As she was escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a candlelight

Youth musical slated at Methodist church

The cast of "Lightshine," a youth musical being presented at the First United Methodist Church, will run through its final dress rehearsal this week in preparation for its Palm Sunday performances.

Approximately 50 young people, ages 13-19, will be performing in the musical at the 10 and 11:30 a.m. services this Sunday.

Due to the tremendous crowd, approximately 600 people, attending last year's production of "Lightshine," two performances are being given this year.

"Lightshine" is the story of a mime and his search for the secret of happiness. He meets a variety of characters on his journey and they join him in his search.

The outcome is that the music, mime and all the characters he encounters come together to complete the puzzle of happiness.

The music for "Lightshine" is by Buryl Red with lyrics by Grace Hawthorne. The play is directed by Stacy and Gary Becker.

Groups participating in the musical include the Youth Singers, soloists, and instrumentalists on flute, trumpet, French horn, percussion, piano and organ.

"Lightshine" will also be performed the evening of May 10.

tries, Father Manning has been a World Mission traveler and was privileged to share in a visit to the Pope this past year with Demos Shakarian, president of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International.

The meeting at 8 p.m. follows dinner which will be held at the Sveden House Restaurant in the Farmington Plaza.

The dinner is $5.50 per person and both dinner and program are open to the public.

Reservations are necessary for the dinner and may be made by calling 349-0006, 349-8442, 591-0099 or 459-6950 or send checks payable to "FGBMF" to P.O. Box 5332, Northville, by April 14.

Carol Couse and Mary Esther Fountain look over Health-O-Rama schedule

Volunteers aiding Health-o-rama

Northville area women have been busy volunteering for Project: Health-O-Rama, which offers 18 days of free health tests with thorough follow-up at 50 sites in seven counties in Southeastern Michigan — including Wayne and Oakland.

The program, which runs through April 16, is sponsored by the United Health Organization, a Torch Drive-supported agency; WXYZ-TV; and Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Michigan.

Northville residents Carol Couse and Mary Esther Fountain, both members of Women of the United Foundation (WUF), have been recruiting volunteers to work at Health-O-Rama site locations.

Local volunteers are Florence Booms, Phia Johnson, Ethel Eltinge, Hazel Kline, Evelyn Harper, Flo Morris, Nancy Wistert, Ann Pyett, Barbara O'Brien, Audrey Joki and Laura Jerome.

Northville residents interested in a free health test can be screened at the Westland Center site location at 3500 West Warren, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. April 13-16.

The health tests will screen for numerous diseases including high blood pressure, heart disease, kidney diseases, glaucoma, anemia, vision problems, breathing difficulty, cancer and hearing loss.

The tests are designed to detect disease during the initial stages of development, enabling early treatment and aiding in the prevention of serious illness.

In addition, optional blood chemistries for cholesterol, diabetes, liver disease, gout and more are available for a minimal $7 handling fee.

Persons requesting more information about Project: Health-O-Rama can call 965-6900 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday until April 15.

Matrons meet

Past Matrons of Orient Chapter No. 77, O.E.S., will hold a noon luncheon April 15 at the home of Mary Ann Berner of 30135 Rousseau Drive.

PWP schedules regional meeting

Northville residents who are members of Parents Without Partners are invited to attend the Regional Conference of the Wayne-Westland Chapter of Parents Without Partners this weekend at Botsford Inn in Farmington Hills.

The conference will be held April 10-12 with activities open to all members and courtesy card holders.

Highlights of the conference will include the "Coachman's Ball" to be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Friday in the Coach House. Tickets are $5.

Several workshops will be conducted Saturday afternoon beginning at 1 p.m. for all interested members and "A Walk Down Memory Lane Dance" will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday night at the Coach House. The price is $5 per person.

Former resident's publishing

Pet magazine's her work

A cast-off kitten that captured the hearts of former Northville resident Nancy Jeanne Larson and her family has resulted in the launching of "Pet Parade," a national magazine for pet lovers.

As Nancy Jeanne Slattery, its publisher gained a working knowledge of writing and layout at The Record where she was employed summers after graduating from Northville High School.

In the years since her graduation from Michigan State University in 1969, she became a free-lance writer while caring for husband Jess and sons Matthew, 10, and Daniel, 8.

"Until the kids were old enough for school, it was just a hobby," she explains in an interview in the Grand Rapids Press in February.

She had sold more than 500 free lance pieces, however, before beginning Pet Parade last summer.

Before she encountered "Rocky," a scruffy black-and-white kitten, acquired five years ago when the family lived in Lansing, Nancy Larson says she had only an ordinary interest and concern for animals.

But Rocky, who had been thrown out into the busiest highway in the city (of Lansing), so captivated her that she became a dedicated animal lover with a commitment to all pets.

Lost and forlorn, he had followed her husband home and became a member of the Larson household. Fed and nurtured, he developed into a sleek, healthy cat and was with the Larsons several months before he was killed when he wandered into a car's path during a winter storm.

"He had such a zest for life, I was just intrigued," she says. "It really opened my eyes to the pleasures a pet can be."

The young (33) publisher recalls that she did a lot of research and "talked to everyone who knew anything about animals" before starting the magazine from her home in Grand Rapids.

She had been writing history, fiction and animal stories (mostly for church and children's magazines) and was earning a modest income before Pet Parade was born. Published bimonthly with 1,000 copies, the magazine is a sellout. She expects circulation to reach 10,000 by the end of the year.

Now available only by mail, Publisher Larson hopes to have the magazine at newsstands and pet stores soon. A subscription is $5 a year with individual copies at $1.

In the foreword of her second issue, Nancy Larson wrote, "Pet Parade is a magazine designed for the enjoyment and benefit of that special category of people called 'pet lovers.' Hopefully, the magazine also will convert some pet owners into the ranks of pet lovers."

"...It seems to me that mere possession of a dog, cat, bird, fish or other domesticated animal automatically makes a person a 'pet owner.' But a 'pet

NANCY LARSON
When she was at The Record

lover' has an extra measure of humaneness, compassion, patience, common sense and affection when dealing with animals...

"A pet lover takes time to understand the nature and the needs of the animal he or she owns..."

Before the Larson family moved to Grand Rapids from Lansing almost 16 months ago, Nancy had been active in the Lansing Humane Society and had developed contacts with people knowledgeable about animals.

Pet Parade, she says, "combines my writing with liking animals and wanting to do something for them. I thought it was the best way I could help."

Her first issue was last July-August. Contents are ranging from poetry, history and instructions for shelters to a pattern for a pet coat in the January-February issue.

Nancy credits her years at The Record with giving her the expertise needed.

"I learned a lot about layout, deadlines, writing concise copy, etc., during my years with the paper, and those tools have proved invaluable in doing what I am attempting now," she writes.

However, she might be called a second generation publisher as her mother, Phyllis Slattery, was a volunteer publisher of the national magazine of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. She still is a Northville resident of Morgan Circle. Nancy also is the daughter of the late William Slattery.

Publisher Larson does have some ads in her magazine, acquired by writing advertisers in other pet magazines, but she says she "isn't making any money yet."

By working at home she keeps expenses to a minimum.

"I don't have to hurry working at home. I'm just so enthusiastic about this. I never get tired working on it. I rush through housework to get back to business," she is quoted as explaining.

The family has a couple of parakeets, a goldfish and a West Highland terrier, but never has replaced its cat Rocky. The January-February 1981 issue of Pet Parade includes stories about a cat that is a mobile park mascot and a history of the Rex cat — as well as features on guinea pigs, land hermit crabs and Welsh Corgis.

Pet Parade might well be called Nancy Larson's tribute to a cat that changed her life.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Armerman Elementary School library. Refreshments will be served.

Prospective members who would like to attend the session should call Jay Ward at 349-3456 to make a guest reservation. All women who are graduates of accredited colleges and universities are eligible to join the AAUW.

Norm Keating

Pipe organ concert's Sunday

By MARILYN HERALD

In the early silent movie days, theater pipe organs like the "Lady Barton" at the Michigan Theatre in Ann Arbor played a most important role in producing the correct audience mood to coincide with the action on the screen.

The Lady Barton is still playing an important role today for lovers of organ music but her image has changed to reflect the times. She is now played for her concert sound and the screen is silent and blank.

Norman Keating of South Lyon, a professional organist, is one of the members of the Motor City Theatre Organ Society, a chapter of the American Theater Organ Society, interested in the preservation of theater organs like the Lady Barton. A performer all his life, Keating will be presenting a lively program of pop tunes this Sunday when he makes his first public appearance at the Lady Barton.

Melodies such as "The Entertainer," "April in Paris," "Mr. Lucky" and "Alley Cat" will flow from his talented fingers during the April 12 program which begins at 10 a.m. In addition, Keating plans to do some numbers reminiscent of the big band days, including "Up a Lazy River."

The free concerts are sponsored by the Motor City chapter on the second Sunday morning of each month and the public is invited to attend. The concerts last about two hours with a short intermission in the middle.

"People who have never heard a lively program on a pipe organ in a large theater have no idea what a fantastic sound is produced," Keating says. "It really is a thrilling experience and a good chance to meet some very friendly people."

Keating and his wife Erma began attending the monthly concerts at the Michigan about six months ago and went on to join the society in January of this year.

Keating notes that these organs require a lot of maintenance and this is done entirely by members of the society who donate their services. "It is all done for the love of the theater organ," Keating adds.

Similar concerts are also open to the public at the Royal Oak Theater, Redford Theater and the Punch and Jidy Theater with two types of performers being heard at all locations. There are local organists who contribute their services and professional people who specialize in doing theater organ concerts all over the country.

The Michigan Theatre was purchased from the Butterfield Corporation by the Arts Council in order to preserve the fine historic building. The organ society owns and maintains the organ as it does in the other theaters mentioned for the sheer love of the sounds they produce.

Keating and his wife are co-owners of Manor Music, an organ-lessons-by-mail business which they operate from their South Lyon area home.

A professional musician, who has been teaching organ for many years in studios, Keating found that producing lessons on tape and mailing them to subscribers allows him to teach more people to do what he does—enjoy producing that beautiful sound which comes only from a well-played organ.

Never ending, its done its part.

Flowers

Some are dark,
Some are light,
Some give a new shine to life.
Flowers come,
Flowers go.
With all the beauty
that they show.
Flowers come from the heart of the earth.
Symbols of elegance
at their birth.
When they die,
they feel no pain,
As all their beauty still remains.

She also is a member of the United Northwest Realty Association's "Top Ten Percent Club," and will actively continue to list and sell real estate as she has in the past.

Owner John Light said, "We have great confidence in Barbara's capability. Her genuine concern for people, combined with her professionalism, will serve her well in her new capacity."

BEVERLY SIMONIAN, a Northville area resident, has been appointed a salesperson with James C. Cutler Realty, 103 Rayson in Northville.

BEVERLY SIMONIAN

Announcement of the appointment was made by owner James Cutler, who said "we're delighted to have Mrs. Simonian with our organization. We're confident she will provide clients with a combination of expertise and personal concern as she looks for just the right home for them or finds a buyer for their property."

The new salesperson, who resides in Meadowbrook Hills, has a background in interior design for both residential and commercial properties.

A member of Meadowbrook Country Club, she and her husband, Richard Simonian, have two children.

PHILIP SKOVER of Skover & Associates of Northville was honored Saturday as having sold more than $4 million of real estate in 1980 — fifth highest accomplishment among members in the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR).

Of the 400 honored for their sales achievements, Skover was beat out only by William J. Willis, Jr. of Mayfair Realty in Livonia, Nada Illich of Century 21-Nada, Inc. of Farmington, Janice Foster of Robert Baker Realtors in Plymouth, and Richard Messier of the Real Estate One Commercial Division in Southfield.

According to Robert D. Shimmin, president of WWOCBR, "The general distressed state of the real estate market throughout last year dropped our board's total sales volume nearly $150 million compared to 1979. The fact that nearly 300 of our members could still achieve more than $1 million in listings and sales is a tribute to the dedicated service they provided buyers and sellers in our area."

He said the market is still slowed by high mortgage interest rates, high unemployment levels and an economy in recession.

"We know that there is a very strong demand for housing continuing to develop and we see great improvement in market conditions as the economy recovers," he said. "In the meantime, the success of our members is due to their ability to develop more creative financing methods for buyers and sellers."

MOHINDRAPAL S. (PAUL) GILL has been appointed product, business planning and sales manager of Ford Motor Company's Plastics, Paint and Vinyl Division, headquartered in Wixom. The Northville resident replaces H. Gregory Wold, recently named plant manager of the division's Mount Clemens paint plant.

Gill formerly was plant manager of the Milan Plastics Plant. He has been succeeded in that position by Raymond J. Rogal, previously plant manager of Ford Tractor's Basildon (England) Tractor Plant.

A native of Ludhiana, India, Gill holds bachelor's degrees in physics and chemistry from the University of Punjab in India and in mechanical engineering from Oklahoma State University and a master's degree in industrial engineering from Wayne State University. He joined Ford in 1964 as a project construction engineer with the Glass Division and later was a design engineer. After that, he held a series of manufacturing and plant engineering positions with Paint and Vinyl Operations, Glass Division and the Industrial and Chemical Division. He served briefly as chemical research and development manager at the Mount Clemens Vinyl Plant before being named plant manager in 1975.

In 1977, he was appointed executive engineer, Materials and Process Application Engineering, with the Plastics, Paint and Vinyl Division. He became plant manager in Milan in 1978. He lives with his wife Usha and three children in Northville.

SEVENTEEN LOCAL RESTAURANTS will participate in the Oakland County Coffee Day Campaign which begins April 3 and runs through April 17.

The first successful Coffee Day was held in Oakland County 10 years ago. Since that time the Easter Seal Society Buck-A-Cup/Brace-A-Child campaign has gained wide acceptance from many area restaurants.

From April 3 through April 17, waiters and waitresses at participating restaurants will ask customers for a donation of $1 or more for a Coffee Day button which will entitle the wearer to a free cup of coffee on Good Friday (April 17).

Participation in this worthwhile campaign will help support the many programs of services at the Easter Seal Society in Oakland County.

Area restaurants already participating in the program are:

- In Milford — Big Boy and Flame.
- In Novi — Big Boy-Novi Road, Big Boy-Twelve Oaks, Michael's, Mr. Naturals and Saratoga Trunk.
- In Union Lake — Big Boy, Coachlight, Dobski's, Little Brown Jug, Michael's, Morey's, Nugget and Sahara.
- In Walled Lake — Big Boy and Nugget.

C. A. HULL Company of Walled Lake was the low bidder, at $1,238,462, for construction of two bridges to carry new eastbound and westbound I-69 Freeway over Grand River Avenue in Clinton County, the state transportation department has announced.

Hull also was the low bidder in a larger project, this one at $4,553,592, for construction of a bridge to carry Johnson Street over the Saginaw River in Saginaw. The project involves removal of the existing bridge and construction of a six-span bridge and approaches.

ROBERT ZUCKERBERG, owner of Robert Z Salon, was one of 15 area hairstylists who were invited to participate in the Americoif Press Show of 1981 at the Southfield Sheraton Hotel recently.

Attended by 500-800 top hairstylists from Michigan and surrounding states, Americoif is a professional association comprised of the country's leading professionals in the styling field.

Americoif serves as an educational source for top-of-the-field hairstylists who consider it imperative to keep abreast of the latest trends and styling techniques of the fashion world.

Zuckerberg's participation in the show was a direct result of a presentation to the Americoif Association in March. Participation in the Americoif Press Show is considered a great compliment in the field of hairstyling.

Zuckerberg has been a stylist for six years and has owned his own salon since 1979. Robert Z Salon is located at 38433 Grand River in the Grand Market Square in Farmington Hills.

"The concept of the salon is to fulfill the needs of our clients in a professional manner," said Zuckerberg. "We do this by working with our clients on a personal level instead of an assembly line type of atmosphere."

Questions for this column should be addressed to "Ask The Lawyer," Sliger Home Newspapers, 104 West Main, Northville, Michigan 48176, and they will be answered on a space-available basis by the author, a practicing attorney.

Q. My sister gave me $1,000 for my birthday. Ordinarily she would give me a present. Do I have to declare this on my income tax?

A. No. A gift is not income and is therefore not taxable on your income tax. A gift over $3,000 in any one year to any one person might necessitate filing a Federal Gift Tax Return.

Q. My wife and I settled a divorce case. I got the house in the property settlement agreement. I agreed to execute a promissory note secured by a second mortgage in the sum of $10,000 with interest at 11 percent annum with monthly payments per annum is to be paid in full in five years. A friend of mine said I don't have to pay her any interest because the maximum interest in the State of Michigan on a note and a second mortgage is 7 percent. Is this true?

A. Your friend is correct. The legal rate of interest on a note and second mortgage is 7 percent per annum. Usury in Michigan is illegal, therefore you are not obligated to pay your wife any interest at all on the debt.

Q. My father and mother owned a home together. My father recently died. My mother wants to make sure that the title to their home is recorded in her own name. How can she do this?

A. Have your mother obtain an original copy of your father's death certificate. Copy the legal description of the real estate on the back of the death certificate. Mail the copy of the death certificate with $2 to the Register of Deeds for the county in which your mother's house is located. This will take your father's name off of the title

PAUL W. POTTER of Novi has been named Oakland regional representative for Detroit Edison's community and governmental affairs department, according to Donald Pizzimenti, assistant vice president of community and governmental affairs.

Potter succeeds Joseph Ford who has been promoted to director of municipal government affairs.

Potter joined Detroit Edison in 1964 and held a variety of posts in the real estate and rights-of-way area of the company before being named community and governmental affairs regional representative for the Ann Arbor Division in 1978.

In his new post, he will be responsible for the company's relationships with local government agencies throughout Oakland County.

A graduate of the University of Michigan's real estate program, Potter is active in the American Right-of-Way Association and serves on the Zoning Board of Appeals for the City of Novi and as a member of the board of the Novi Economic Development Corporation.

REALTY WORLD-William Decker, Incorporated, Plymouth-based real estate firm, was named top sales office for 1980 from among more than 85 Realty World offices in Michigan and Northern Ohio at the Realty World annual awards banquet held recently at Roma's of Bloomfield.

The award is presented annually to the individual office which takes in the greatest total gross commission dollars between January 1 and December 31 and reflects the overall dollar volume of business in which the office was involved. The Plymouth office has earned the award four of the five years it has been presented in Michigan.

In addition, the Plymouth firm took honors and a trophy as second place top listing office, based on the total number of exclusive right-to-sell listings taken by an individual Realty World office during 1980.

Q. I am a widow with four children. I am planning to remarry in the near future. I have an estate of upwards of $50,000 left to me by my first husband. My boyfriend says that he has no objections if I make out a will leaving everything to my four children. Is a will alone adequate to protect my children to wind up with all of my estate?

A. No. Under the new Michigan Probate Code your new husband could receive some of your estate by a widower's allowance of anywhere from $100 to $500 per week for one year. Your new husband also could elect to take under the Michigan Statute of Descent and Distribution instead of taking under your will.

Under this statute, he could receive the right to live in your home for one year without being charged for his occupancy. He would be entitled to select from your estate $3,500 worth of household goods, furnishings and personal effects. He also would be entitled to receive approximately 25 percent of the remainder of your estate. I would strongly suggest that you consult an attorney who is knowledgeable in the area of Pre-Nuptial Agreements, trusts, and/or joint tenancies and life estates. A will in and of itself will not provide the protection that your children need.

Q. I am a nurse who was formerly employed at a large hospital. While lifting a patient, I injured my back. As a result, it is extremely painful for me to perform any of the services of a nurse. I applied for social security, but social security said I was not entitled to social security benefits because I could obtain other employment sitting down. Even sitting down is painful for me since the accident. How can I get the social security benefits that I feel that I am entitled to?

A. You should retain an attorney who specializes in social security actions.

Even though social security has turned your first application down for social security benefits, it is quite likely that you are completely and totally disabled and unable to perform any occupation in which you might be gainfully employed.

A person seeking social security benefits can re-apply for social security benefits even though his or her social security application has been previously denied. Competent counsel and competent medical testimony may enable you to prove you are entitled to social security benefits.

Q. I am in my late 70s and expect to be hospitalized for major surgery in the near future. My wife and I have a time savings certificate at a local bank which would expire while I am in the hospital. How can we renew the certificate without having to go to the bank?

A. Before you go to the hospital, you should go to the bank and ask them to place your time savings certificate on automatic renewal. This means that the bank will renew your time savings certificate indefinitely on the date it expires with the interest rate that they have on the date of expiration.

Another solution would be to have an attorney prepare a Power of Attorney for you to sign. This Power of Attorney should give your wife full power to sign and endorse your time savings certificate and to do any and all other acts on your behalf that you can legally do. With the Power of Attorney, she could withdraw the time savings certificate, she could sell stocks and bonds for you, she could collect rents, she could pay bills, she could sign your admittance into the hospital, she could authorize surgery. We feel that it is important for all persons over the age of 65 to execute such a Power of Attorney so that in the event of a stroke, paralysis, serious illness, etc., your estate is protected.

Will Northville net sixth straight W-6 title?

Rick Marshall is a returning letter-winner...

By REID CREAGER

Although the Northville boys' tennis team boasts several fine prospects this spring, the Mustangs' string of five consecutive Western Six Conference championships is in jeopardy. And Coach Dick Norton admits it.

"We're probably not going to be consistent forerunners this year," says the man who led the Mustangs to a 13-2 record and a fifth-place finish in the regionals in 1980. "After all, we've only got three returning lettermen out of 10 possible positions."

The coach isn't being pessimistic, just realistic. Gone from last year's title team are standouts like Barry Ouellette, Doug Horst, Andy Orlando, Ian Wild, Dale Fisher, Les Herbal and Mark Swayne.

Translation: The team lost three singles players and five doubles performers.

But don't write Northville off just yet. Norton goes on to say that "this team has good balance. There's nobody really exceptional, but we shouldn't have any spot that's particularly weaker than the others, either."

Obviously, Norton's three returning letter-winners — seniors Jeff Williams, Rick Marshall and Les Neal — will play prominent roles in the team's finish this season. Williams, who was stationed at the third singles slot last year, figures to be the singles ace in 1981.

Marshall and Neal also may vie for singles spots, but both appear ticketed for doubles duty after performing well in that capacity last spring (Neal was part of a league champion third doubles tandem). Senior Russ Horst, 11th-grader Rick Getzen and sophomore Richard Schohl are other singles candidates.

Norton probably will turn to a number of returnees from last year's junior varsity team in an effort to fill the doubles positions. Seniors Tim Frader and Brian Shake will compete with juniors John Vanderwouwe, Matt Abraham and Chris McCormick for those roles if they can make the varsity squad.

Meanwhile, a host of hopefuls who didn't come out for the team last year will be battling to make the team. They include seniors Kevin Swayne, Tony Nader, Char Ramsey, Tom Phillips and Dave Babich; Steve Ouellette, a junior; and sophomores Kip Mack, Jeff Jamieson, Paul Caroselli and Omer Anisoglu.

"We will be trying for the league championship, of course," Norton concludes, "although a regional championship is probably unrealistic. We're a little bit inexperienced to think about that."

If that sounds like the coach of a rebuilding team talking, that's because it is.

"Yes, we are (rebuilding) in a sense," Norton concedes. "But we could surprise a few people, just the same. Remember, we still are the defending league champions."

Optimistic Prom sees improvement for girl thinclads

By REID CREAGER

It's not hard to tell that Robert Prom's been around the track a few times as coach of the Northville girls' thinclads.

Prom, the fourth-year Mustang mentor, isn't foolish enough to predict that his troops will run to the Western Six Conference title this spring. After all, Walled Lake Western has captured the league crown seven of the past eight seasons.

But that doesn't necessarily mean he's not optimistic.

"I think we could be stronger in quite a few events this spring," Prom says. "We're looking forward to the season."

Specifically, Prom feels that his team will be stronger in the hurdles, as well as the middle distance and long-distance running events. He adds that "it's unknown how we'll do sprint-wise, but from the times we've posted so far there could be some surprises."

There also could be a new school record-holder in the discus, Prom says. Hollie Raycraft has a shot at bettering the mark set by Linda Prom (the coach's daughter) four years ago. The senior also will handle the shot-put chores, seeing double duty with sophomores Trish Mullen and Pam Stephens.

NHS girls' track team eyes upward W-6 move

It will be similarly crowded at the long jump position, where senior Vicky Arwady will be joined by juniors Patty Jose and Mary Nutter. There are no returnees in the high jump, but 12th-graders Lori Mitchell and Anita Hodge are available.

Then come the non-field events, an area that the coach is particularly excited about. Prom has liked what he's seen so far this spring from his 440 and 880-yard relay crews, which include the following octet: sophomores Michelle Curley, Cindy Eppers, Sue Seever and Charlotte Paquette; junior Laurie Coolman; and seniors Rita Prystash, Arwady and Hodge. Jeanne Stoddard, a junior, may be worked into the lineup when her foot injury heals.

As far as the middle distances (440 and 880-yard runs) go, the Mustang coach says he has "quality people." Senior Tammy Selfridge and junior Kris Rosmorduc lead the way there; Prom also hopes to work in sophomore Amy Aaron along with Mitchell, Mullen and Stephens.

Seniors Carol Bargert and Sabina Vanderwouw are the main mile and two-mile hopes.

Prom sounds another note of optimism after reviewing his 110 and 220-yard hurdles — Curley, Jose, Nutter, and Stoddard. The latter three are returnees who figure to improve, according to the coach.

"Actually, I think the whole team figures to improve," Prom opines. "But you never know."

The veteran coach says that Western and Livonia Churchill (in that order) should be the two toughest clubs in the league this spring. But when asked if that means he's given up the goal of a W-6 title, Prom is evasive.

"Obviously, my goals would be to build a quality program and encourage more ladies to participate in the track program," he says. "But there are so many other programs around. It's always a challenge."

Northville's challenge began yesterday (Tuesday) at Brighton in a triangular with Ann Arbor Pioneer. The Mustangs begin league action next Wednesday when they invade Western.

Mustang kickers stingy with goals, but must produce some themselves

By KEN KOVACS

Opponents will have a tough time scoring goals against the Northville High School girls soccer team this year.

The solid crew of sophomores which led the Mustangs to a 7-5-3 record last year has a year of experience under its belt and, according to coach Ron Meteyer, should be even better.

But even if they hold their opponents scoreless it won't do the Northville kickers much good unless they can produce some offense of their own.

Strengthening the offense is what Meteyer and his troops have been working on since practice started March 3.

"We will really miss Jane Mao (an All-League first team selection last year) in the center halfback spot this year," Meteyer said. "We are going to have to build a more balanced offensive attack."

"We have a lot of talented individuals, but it is difficult to mold them into an efficient unit," the coach continued. "There is a lot to cover with a young team like this."

The only two seniors on the Mustang squad this year are returning goalie Karen Irwin and former Mustang softball standout Tammy Chew.

Irwin and junior Melissa McDaniel, who shared the goal-tending duties last year, will again alternate at that spot.

Michelle Waldman's set at fullback

Melissa McDaniel guards the goal

"Each has her own strong points," the coach said. "McDaniel has a long reach and can get to more shots because of it. Irwin is very aggressive and gives her all."

Marge Muller and Michelle Waldman, who share tri-captain duties with McDaniel, are among the other juniors returning from last year.

Muller and Waldman will alternate at fullback and halfback positions, along with several other juniors including Lisa Brownell, Jacque Nixon, Michelle Mathes and Elizabeth House.

Kathy Montgomery, Melinda Bohan and Sarah Nowka likely will see action at halfback and forward posts, Meteyer said.

"The reason our defense was so tough last year was the great strength of our halfbacks," the coach explained. "Mao will be hard to replace. She was the heart of the offense."

"But we have the talent to produce a good front line if we work hard enough."

In addition to the two seniors and 10 juniors, Meteyer also has 10 sophomores who are fighting to break into the starting lineup.

Among the first-year players are Angie Butterfield, Connie Fogel, Jenny Gans, Janis Irwin, Tish Johnson, Kris Korowin, Chris Kreutzberg, Martina Millen and Joan Robson.

"We could have a few sophomores start if they continue to play as well as in scrimmages as they have in practice," Meteyer said. "Most of them played recreation soccer last year and have the basic skills, but need to adjust to the more aggressive high school style."

Another thing that all the Northville players will have to adjust to is a wider playing field.

The football-soccer field at the high school will be re-seeded this spring, forcing the Mustang girls team to play its home games at Schoolcraft College.

"You have to adjust your style of play, particularly, defensively on the wide open fields like Schoolcraft has," Meteyer said.

The Northville kickers also must face some unfamiliar competitors in the newly-formed Western Suburban Soccer Association (WSAA).

The Mustangs are set to open the season with a league contest at Livonia Stevenson at 7 p.m. tonight (Wednesday).

Cage classic slated at Schoolcraft College

Basketball, international style is coming to Schoolcraft College again.

Dr. Marvin Gans, Athletic Director at Schoolcraft College and General Chairperson of the International Basketball Classic Games Committee, has announced that the fourth annual Schoolcraft College International Basketball Classic will be held May 30-31. Games will be played both days at the Schoolcraft College Physical Education Building.

Opponents at the classic will be a Michigan Amateur Athletic Union junior mens' team versus the Quebec Provincial Junior Mens' Team from Canada. The events will be sanctioned by the AAU and the American Basketball Association.

For the first time in the classic's history, there will be open tryouts for the Michigan team. These will be held April 10-11-12 at Schoolcraft Young men trying out for the team must be currently enrolled in the 12th grade and have participated in varsity basketball for their respective high schools in the 1980-81 season. They also must be participating in high school sports this spring.

The selection committee includes such notables as Dave Bing, Jim Spadafore, Mick McCabe, Bob Page and Charlie Neal, who will be responsible for helping determine the Michigan players during that weekend. They will also assist the Games Committee in making the final decision about who plays against the Canadians in the finals and in the preliminary games. In total, 36 spots will be filled for the event.

Game times for Saturday, May 30 will be 5:30 p.m. for the preliminary game and 8 p.m. for the main game. Sunday game times are 1 p.m. for the preliminary game and 3:30 p.m. for the Canada-versus-Michigan game.

Daily tickets for the Classic games will be priced in advance at $4 for adults and $2 for students 18 and under (students will have to show identification to qualify for the special rate at the door). The cost will be $5 and $3 respectively at the door. Tickets can be purchased in advance at all Hudson's stores and at the Schoolcraft College bookstore.

Public to see unique design

At an open house from 2-6 p.m. Sunday visitors will have an opportunity to tour the uniquely designed new R. J. Sullivan Funeral Home at 18333 West 12 Mile.

The unusual, two-story, 8,000 square foot building was designed by Kenneth Czarnomski of 726 Fairbrook in Northville. Mechanical engineer was Art Carmichael, also a Northville resident.

The brick and glass structure makes innovative use of a central skylight, window walls and landscaping to achieve a traditional mood within a functional, contemporary setting.

Owner Richard Sullivan says, "The building attracted considerable interest while it was under construction, and the open house provides a chance for people to see what it is like now that it is completed."

Czarnomski explains his philosophy of the home's design, stating, "While in the process of designing ... several philosophical ideologies developed pertinent to the dichotomy of our soul between life and death. These ideologies can clearly be interpreted through the use of architectural symbolism reflected in the building."

"In effect, my purpose became two-fold. First, to meet requirements for this structure to function on a daily operational basis. Secondly, to reflect the monumental and spiritual characteristics to clients and their close relations."

"Perhaps the best representation of this spiritual motive is located within the lobby area...In this space the vegetation, floors, walls, stairs and heavens all have an opportunity to flow together and to become one."

"Every view and approach changes representing the fluctuations within our own lives. However, in this end we all aspire to become a more complete person and this is represented by the use of the large circular symbol — unity."

Sullivan, who continues a tradition of three generations of service to residents of northwest Detroit, has been in the undertaking field for more than 20 years. A graduate of Wayne State University, he entered the field in 1959. He is married and has four children. The family recently moved from Northville to Southfield.

She's Ferris singer

Northville resident Jeanette Kalota, a member of the Ferris State Collegiate Singers, recently toured to the East Lansing-Alma area with the group for a two-day tour.

The Collegiate Singers and the Ferris State College Jazz Ensemble appeared at five different high schools in the Lansing area March 31 and April 1. The Collegiate Singers are made up of 16 singers and an instrumental rhythm section. They perform a variety of popular songs ranging from hits of the Thirties to the present.

He's Florida DJ

Canterbury credited with high ratings

Program ratings — the life and death of radio and television — have been sending the career of a former Northville resident skyward.

John Canterbury now is program director and popular morning-show disc jockey for WOWW FM-radio station in the Pensacola, Florida, area.

Bearded and tanned, Canterbury is called a "thirtish bachelor," in a feature in the Pensacola Journal which chronicles some of his memorable moments in a 12-year, six station career in the zany world of radio, disc jockey and program directing.

Since Canterbury began launching the station's programming a year ago, the station has been getting "the bulk" of his time and attention although he occasionally finds time to continue his interests in photography, swimming and cycling, he says.

He is the son of the John Canterburys, former long-time residents of Randolph who were active in the community before retiring to Ohio and Port Charlotte, Florida.

John Jr. went to prep school at Sanford (Florida) Naval Academy and then attended Lindsey-Wilson College and Ohio Northern University. He has his degree from Northwood Institute where he majored in radio.

He explains his bachelor status in the Pensacola interview by noting, "Every time I get involved with a lady I change markets, or she decides she doesn't want to share me with a radio station."

"I shouldn't have left the mike on," he reflects as he recalls a "memorable moment" in his career when three nude beauties ran in while he was on the air and streaked around the console singing, "Happy Birthday" and ran out. The trio had been hired by a friend to surprise him.

The brief streak, he says, wasn't as critical as the time he fought hiccups for three hours while on the air.

He also recalled the time WOWW at his instigation entered a West Florida chicken (a domesticated bird) in a flying contest in Columbus, Ohio.

"Wrong way Harrigan came in last. He came out of his cage, flew three feet and went back in.

"As I explained to a caller, 'He was tired. He flew all the way from Pensacola.' On Eastern Airlines, that is."

Canterbury admitted to getting "a nice tan out there" when his station sponsored Panhandle Bikini contest at Pensacola Beach.

"I have a good time on the air. There's no way I can come in here and be miserable," Canterbury says of the 6-10 a.m. "morning drive" program he shares with air mate and sometime in-fun sparring partner Joan Keller Murphy.

She handles the newscasts while he is DJ. The four-hour slot has become tops in popularity in Pensacola with the 25-to-49 adult market that the station most aims to please.

Canterbury, says the Pensacola paper, can take a lot of credit for the way the station, on the air for a year, has found its audience.

As program director, he is the man who hired the news director and the other DJs, who plans the mix of music and patter, programs the station's style and dreams up its promotions.

"I want to keep improving my programming situation; I think that's where my talents lie," Canterbury stated in the interview, noting that, "Programming is finding out what the community wants and providing it."

"No one ever went after putting news on FM in the way we're doing," he reported, commenting on the "hybrid musical format — a blend of mellow rock and modern progressive country."

Canterbury kids with his news reporter regular-

"I come across as the typical male chauvinist and she as the liberated woman" — characterizations that aren't accurate for either of them, he reported.

Dreaming up promotions — those get-out-and-meet-the-public occasions are Canterbury's forte. He maintained they are fun and not difficult to concoct.

One recent one was a medicine show for the American Cancer Society.

Canterbury's dedication shows through the interview. It's a devotion to radio and a goal of making his station "the showplace for Florida."

Hospital seeks volunteers

Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital is seeking volunteers to staff the professional library. Due to funding difficulties, a hospital employee is no longer available to run the library. A hospital spokesperson said the desire is to keep the library open three days per week, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Volunteers would need some familiarity with the library system, enough to assist the psychiatric residents in finding books and putting them away properly when returned. Those wishing to contribute may call Jean Bachelder at 349-1800,

Chiropractic Life Center

144 Mary Alexander Ct. Phone: (313) 348-3500

The Common Cold and Chiropractic

The common cold has been labeled by many "Public Malady No. 1."

It is indeed the commonest of all disorders of the respiratory system and generates acute inflammation of the nasal mucous membranes, marked by signs and symptoms throughout the body, and frequently has temporary or lasting complications.

Nothing makes you feel more downright miserable than a stopped-up-head, runny nose, and sore throat, created by the complicated and painful common cold.

If the common cold were as easy to cure as it is to catch...the citizens of our great nation would be billions richer every year. An unbelievable 500 million colds occur each year. From the economic point of view, they cause an annual income loss of two billion dollars a year due to absenteeism...and disable each infected person an average of more than two working days.

When we feel that heaviness of the head or chest area, coughing and sniffing, we know a cold is coming on. But, what many don't know is that there are many different kinds of colds. All have slightly varying symptoms; some affecting children more than adults. But all colds can actually impair the health of the body.

The SIMPLE COLD for instance, is rarely accompanied by fever, but discomfort is far from simple. Patients complain of headaches, dryness of throat, uncomfortable breathing punctuated by frequent sneezing, watering eyes, and slightly reduced efficiency in routine activities.

In SEVERE COLDs, symptoms are so heightened the victim feels completely "knocked out." Congestive, allergy-like symptoms make the sufferer listless and miserable. He cannot carry on normally and must stay away from work or school.

The PAINFUL COLD is even more uncomfortable than the severe cold. It is accompanied by persistent headaches, sore throat, runny nose, sneezing and muscle pain. Very often this type of cold is the beginning of a serious respiratory ailment. Every time the human organism is subjected to the continual drain of vitality by a cold, the body's resistance is lowered.

A cold is not something that happens to you suddenly. When you feel the first discomforts of a cold, the cause has been in our system for sometime. Even with electronic microscopes, the "cold germ" has never been pictured. Also, contrary to the theory that exposure to bad weather and damp, cold drafts cause colds, most colds occur when no such exposure has occurred.

When you are subject to colds you are actually being warned that something is causing your body to operate below normal. You are accumulating too many poisonous materials which are not being moved out by your excretory organs.

Your kidneys, lungs, intestines, and skin are the four major excretory systems which dispose effectively of the body's poisons. If one or more of these organs is not performing efficiently, another organ will attempt to take on the extra job. Therefore, if your kidneys, lungs, and skin should be abnormal in their action, these liquid poisons that would be excreted, back-up and nature makes an attempt to dispose of them by sending them to some minor organ which is capable of producing elimination. If this minor organ has less than normal resistance it can easily become congested and inflamed. This congestion can settle in the nose, throat, or bronchial tubes, depending upon the resistance of each.

Preventative Maintenance is Most Important

Your body can go 40 days without food, 4 days without water, four minutes without oxygen. But whenever energy or life force is cut off, death is instant.

It would be wonderful if we had a little red light on our foreheads that went on when nerves were pinched off or interfered with, or if all nerves carried pain messages when they were irritated - but they don't. Pain and discomfort are not reliable ways of determining how healthy we are. A person can feel great one minute and the next have a heart attack or stroke.

There are many things necessary to maintain good health, such as proper nutrition, rest, exercise, proper mental attitude, clean environment, fluid intake, vitamins, etc, but the most essential is to be free of nerve interference, thus having 100 percent life support flowing in your body to all its parts.

To be a winner in the game of life your spine must be in adjustment and only your chiropractor is trained to know this. He recommends regular nerve and spine checkups at least once a week for life to maintain your current life trend. Your check-up is based on your individual needs.

It takes only seconds to fracture a bone, but it takes about three months for complete recovery. Destructive forces work quickly. For example, a bomb or fire may destroy a building or forest wildlife. The rebuilding of these things will take years and great expense. The same is true in the human body. Heart, brain and other organic damage can occur instantly once they reach a certain point of chronically not working properly. We have to be trained in certain essentials of good health. We bathe daily. We eat balanced meals with vitamins daily. We comb our hair and brush our teeth. We should have our life line checked daily, too. This may not be practical on a daily basis, but for most of us, once a week is not only practical but essential.

Once you regain your life and health, don't be a fool and neglect yourself again. All of your earthly possessions can be replaced, usually with something better. But can you replace your life and health? Truly this is your most priceless possession--protect it chiropractically.

If you haven't been in for awhile--call today for a check-up. It could save your life.

What Your Neighbors Think

Being a nurse I must admit that I was more than a little skeptical when someone told me that Chiropractic Care might very well be the answer to a sinus problem I've had for years. My husband called me the "VICKS KID" as I went to bed every night with vicks salve on my face. Now that I've been under Dr. Miller's care at the Kotila Chiropractic Life Center of Northville, my sinus problems are almost completely gone. I am no longer called the "VICKS KID". I heartily recommend that all people try Chiropractic for all their health problems. It sure convinced me.

Why Chiropractors Advise

Many patients who have suffered needlessly after months and years of medical therapy, have all too frequently discovered that they get well after Chiropractic care has been provided. Chiropractors have heard too many patients ask, "Why didn't I know about this sooner?"

The Chiropractic doctor has a moral obligation to tell people about Chiropractic — clinical cases — for no one else will tell that story. There are no drug companies to sponsor the Chiropractic message. There are no highly paid public relations firms to produce the copy which passes as scientific news — and which gets free space in newspapers.

Since a Chiropractor knows precisely what Chiropractors can do to help many sick and suffering people, he must tell the public about it himself. To remain silent is to be immoral. To allow people to suffer needlessly, or to die because of their lack of knowledge about his science, is unthinkable.

Chiropractors are morally obligated to tell people the truth about Chiropractic, the chiropractic profession — a licensed profession — has a distinct service to offer. It is a drugless service.

Yet when a Chiropractor pays to deliver his healing message through advertising, Political Medicine, through its well-paid propagandists, immediately cries "foul," "quack," "unethical practitioner," "fraud!!"

The Medical Lobby wants no competition. It wants no one to question its methods, decisions and products. It wants total dominance and dictatorship in the health field.

Without bothering to scientifically prove or disprove the effectiveness of Chiropractic science — which M.D.'s in Western Germany and other nations have proved to their own satisfaction — the American Medical lobby censures Chiropractic merely because it is a different approach.

The Chiropractor is proud to be different. He will continue to be different, and he will continue to tell people about chiropractic. He has nothing to hide — nothing to be ashamed of.

Chiropractic works. It is backed up by millions of satisfied and grateful Chiropractic patients — most of whom had previously consulted various types of therapists and physicians.

If telling the true story in this way is fraudulent and unethical — then so be it.

The Chiropractor will continue in his sincere and conscientious effort to bring an important health message to the public.

I suffered from low back pain and a limp on my right side for over 20 years. I heard about Dr. Miller from a friend who experienced excellent results previously, so I decided to give chiropractic a try. After just a short period of time I noticed a significant improvement of my problems. I can enjoy everything now that I have no more back pain. My limp from a 20 year old injury is almost gone too. I would recommend chiropractic care to anyone looking for an answer to any problems they may be having. I thank the Kotila Chiropractic Life Center of Northville.

It Really Helped Me

I decided to try Chiropractic Care after my brother experienced good results with his problems while under Dr. Miller's care at the Kotila Chiropractic Life Center of Northville. I am happy to state that my problems are now completely gone. I would recommend that anyone with health problems should really try Chiropractic care. It really helped me.

Terri Raczkowski

Dear Dr. Miller,

Just want to say thanks for helping me back to the peak of health. I had been feeling less & less well over a period of time and the pain in my lower back was increasing more and more, making it almost impossible to get out of bed some mornings.

After treatment at Kotila Chiropractic Life Center of Northville, I am entirely out of pain and my energy level is the highest I can remember.

This has greatly affected my enthusiasm and efficiency for my full time job in real estate. Its also made my family life much more fun because I'm never tired and I can keep up with all the activities of a large family.

Sincerely,
Mary Kelly

P.S. I planned on writing you a note to say thanks for your wonderful care and this just spurred me on to do it now. You're the greatest!

SPINAL NERVE INVOLVEMENT

Millions are turning to chiropractic because they are recognizing the scientific principles of nature that have made spinal adjustments effective for many conditions where other methods have failed.

The chart below shows the lateral view of the spinal column and indicates in section "A" names of the spinal nerves as they branch from the spinal cord and exit through openings between the vertebrae. All tissues, glands and organs supplied with life energy by these nerves are shown in the section marked "B" in the chart. The section marked "C" describes a partial list of the conditions and symptoms that can result when there is an absence of life in the nerves.

SPINAL NERVE INVOLVEMENT CAUSES MANY CONDITIONS

The spinal chart shown above is directed especially to those people who have tried to regain their health through methods other than chiropractic, and have failed. That failure should not lead to discouragement, but to greater determination to discover the fundamental cause of all disease.

Since the discovery of chiropractic, no one needs to feel that he or she is destined to be sick all their life. Remember, "Where there is life there is hope and he who has hope has everything."

The Job Injuries

The health of the American workman is of great importance to all people. As a result, extensive research has been done to study all aspects of occupational injuries.

On the job injuries, which cost American businesses 100 million man hours annually, represent a tremendous loss in production and revenues.

But our concern is with the pain and anxiety suffered by the American workman — our family, friends and neighbors — when such injuries occur.

The most common occupational injury is sacroiliac strain. It occurs when the sacrum or tailbone slips from its normal position in relationship to the bones of the hip. There may be extensive muscle and ligament strain. The pain is sharp and movement of the legs is restricted. Often the sciatic nerve becomes involved which produces even greater disability.

A person suffering from sacroiliac strain may not be able to stand straight. Any attempt to stand tall results in a sharp and stinging pain. This type of strain is serious. If not corrected a sacroiliac strain can lead to chronic weakness and pain of the region. This injury results from improper lifting, straining when pushing heavy objects and poor working posture. It can be felt anywhere along the spine. There may be an injury to one or more vertebrae. If the strain occurs in the upper back, shoulders and arms may become involved. There is muscular tension and soreness. Any type of motion causes increased pain and all positions, whether sitting, standing or lying, may be uncomfortable.

Spinal and sacroiliac strain are only two of the disabling conditions a worker may suffer as a result of an on the job injury. But since back injuries account for one-tenth of the total time loss injuries in industry, it is this area which deserves attention. And it is this area in which Chiropractic does achieve great success. Chiropractic care can quickly reveal the involved vertebrae and corrective adjustments can bring about relief of the symptoms and a rapid correction of the disorder.

The spine is the life line of the body and good general health depends upon good spinal health. If you or one of your loved ones are hurt on the job, consult our Chiropractic Life Center immediately. Modern scientific chiropractic procedures reduce suffering, time loss and the possibility of permanent serious injury.
