Icy blast closes school, frustrates travelers

Depending on your viewpoint, the frigid weather that closed local schools Monday could be viewed as a holiday as much as a bone-chilling day in which to head for work.

For students of Northville's public and parochial schools, it was a "snow day," a vacation. Not only was it too cold to start buses, it was too cold for small children to risk frostbite walking to school.

For Assistant Superintendent Nancy Soper, it meant being stranded north of Toronto with no way to return in time for Monday night's school board meeting.

For city DPW employees, it was a day with "horrible" conditions to work under repairing a broken water main at the top of High Street above Allen Terrace. The break was not caused by weather, however, City Manager Steven Walters said Monday. Repairs were facilitated because the break was in a gravel area rather than in concrete.

For city hall, it was a day of staff shortages with two employees staying home ill.

For car owners seeking AAA road service, it was a frustrating day of busy signals trying to get through to Phil's 76 Station which reported four pages (128 calls) of service requests, almost all "no-starts with a couple of flat tires" by 4:30 p.m. Monday. The station said response time had been running about two hours behind all day.

Full service gas stations had a little extra business as drivers who usually used self serve stations were reluctant to brave the weather, but Jim Davis, owner of the Eight Mile road Gas-N-Go station (formerly Boron) said he closed when things got frigid Sunday night rather than have attendants battle the cold any longer.

U.S. Weather Bureau officials at Detroit Metropolitan Airport reported temperatures as low as 8 degrees below zero Sunday night with a wind chill index of 68 below zero.

Layoffs Friday spell end at Ford plant

Ford Motor Company will lay off or retire the last 29 hourly employees of the Northville Valve Plant this Friday, putting an end to over 62 years presence in the community.

Although UAW local 896 president Norm Fultz continued to hope for a last-minute reprieve during negotiations the past two weeks, few believed it was anything more than the slimmest of possibilities.

Production of engine valves ended at the plant November 20, with the last group of employees working since then dismantling the equipment and preparing it for shipment to other Ford facilities.

While Ford hopes to sell the plant, there is no prospective buyer for the immediate future, according to Dick Routh of Ford Land Development.

"Our property management people tell me they are talking with a couple of people, but it is nothing more than routine inquiry at this point," Routh said.

No firm offers have been made since workers proposed to buy the facility for $3 million if Ford would sign a three-year contract to buy its valves from them.

Ford rejected the offer, saying the plant is too small to compete and the demand for valves has fallen off with the

Teachers, school board sign three-year contract extension

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Northville Board of Education Monday night ratified and signed a three-year contract extension with the Northville Education Association — making it the earliest contract agreement ever signed by the two parties.

Citing a need for "labor peace" in the district, the Board of Education unanimously approved the NEA's proposal in the hopes of "working together to improve Northville's schools" during the current difficult economic times.

According to NEA President Barbara LeBoeuf, both parties had "a shared goal" when deciding to extend teacher contracts rather than opening up negotiations next June.

"Both sides took risks," she observed. "But building up the education climate the way it used to be in Northville is really important to us."

A January contract settlement is a first for Northville Public Schools.

Board treasurer Chris Johnson noted "it's unprecedented — I can't believe we're wrapping up a contract before September."

LeBoeuf echoed Johnson's remarks stating it's the "first time since I've been here that we've signed a contract before Labor Day."

Following the board's approval of the new contract Monday night, board members, administrators and NEA officials took time out from the school board meeting to sign the contract.

The new three-year contract, which will extend through June 1985, provides a 6.08 percent salary increase to teachers in the 1982-83 school year. However, the increase will be implemented as a four percent adjustment to the current schedule and a two percent adjustment to the 1982-83 schedule.

The payout on the four percent adjustment will only occur during the second semester of this year — costing the district only 2 percent.

For the years 1983-84 and 1984-85, a formula has been developed which will maintain salary schedule rank for Northville teachers in comparison to the 17 districts which the district commonly compares. These districts include areas such as Ann Arbor, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Farmington, Livonia, Novi and others.

This formula was implemented to provide financial protection to the Northville School District in the event that the general economy does not improve and negotiated settlements in the surrounding areas decline.

Should the economy improve in the ensuing years and negotiations maintain their current levels — higher than the 82-83 adjustment — economic protections would be provided for teachers.

The six percent salary adjustment provided in the contract is significantly lower than in previous years. The last contract agreement ratified in 1979 provided a 26 1/4 percent wage package adjustment with increases of 8 1/4 percent for the first two years of the contract.

Salary adjustments in surrounding areas have averaged around 9 and 10 percent.

LeBoeuf pointed out that Northville teachers will take a loss in the first year of the new contract but said she hoped the economy would improve within the next few years to provide a more significant wage adjustment to teachers.

"It was a risk," LeBoeuf noted. "We aren't sure what our attitudes will be in the last two years of the contract."

The economic climate in the Northville area and the April defeat of the school's millage renewal request were significant factors in extending the contract, LeBoeuf observed.

She pointed out that a labor dispute in June could be devastating to the district at this time.

"With a little labor peace, I think we'll have more time to focus on things related to education," she said.

Other agreements reached in the contract include an improvement in the dental insurance program for the NEA in 1982-83 and initiating a modest vision care program in 1983.

Extracurricular-extra duty salary schedules also will be adjusted in accordance with the general salary schedule.

The NEA and the administration began discussing the possibility of extending contracts last month. Rather than opening up the entire contract and hiring a negotiating team, LeBoeuf said the two parties sat down informally to discuss the economics of a new contract. All language of the current contract will remain in effect.

LeBoeuf noted that other districts such as Livonia and Westland also have extended teacher contracts — primarily for economic reasons.

"Both sides knew the economic climate of the district," she said, "we were looking for creative solutions."

LeBoeuf said teachers were informed about the contract extension talks prior to the Christmas vacation. By last Tuesday, all building representatives were given a copy of the contract language and the following day teachers were sent copies of the proposed contract.

Last Thursday evening, the NEA ratified the proposed agreement with the majority of the members accepting the agreement.

Administrators concurred Monday that with the contract wrapped-up, school officials and teachers will have time to focus on improvements in the educational programs for the district.

"I have a very, very strong feeling that this extension is in the best interests of the district," Superintendent Lawrence Nichols noted. "We can now move on to other things."

Board trustees reiterated Nichols' comment and added that the new contract reflects a "definite movement towards working together."

School district transfer sought by homeowners

By KATHY JENNINGS and MICHELE McELMURRY

A group of City of Novi residents living just south of the Novi School district border has requested the boundary be shifted to allow their children to attend Novi rather than Northville schools.

Both the Novi and Northville Schools have been notified that petitions bearing the signatures of 79 percent of the property owners have been filed in order to initiate the transfer.

The property which would be transferred, if approved, lies between Nine Mile, 9 1/2 Mile, Novi and Taft roads. It includes the sole remaining portion of Novi Township as well as Dunbarton Pines subdivision and individual residences on the north side of Nine Mile Road. Homes on the west side of Novi Road between Nine Mile and 9 1/2 Mile roads also would be included in the transfer.

There are 108 occupied homes in the area where the transfer has been proposed, according to Gordon Parker, the residents' spokesperson.

Citing a need for a more logical school district boundary, safer student transportation conditions and a more cohesive identity between school and community, the group has requested that approximately 60 students in that area be transferred to the Novi Community Schools beginning in the 1982-83 school year.

Proponents of the transfer also have supported the move on the grounds it would eliminate the taxation difficulties arising from living in the Oakland County as residents of Novi or Novi Township and being taxed by the Northville Public School District of Wayne County.

The group also has requested that 11 students in their junior year at Northville High School be allowed to graduate there if they desire, with Novi Community Schools paying the tuition and providing transportation.

At the Northville Board of Education's meeting Monday night, board members tentatively scheduled a discussion of the proposed transfer at their next meeting January 26.

Parker also appeared before the Novi school board last Thursday to discuss the residents' request to be allowed to change school districts.

"All our cards are in a row now," Parker said. "The Northville Schools are aware of our intentions and have been aware of this since the very beginning. There's been nothing done behind people's backs. It's all been straightforward."

ward," Parker said. He added that administrators from both school districts had been "very cooperative."

While formal notification of the group's transfer request has been made to both the Northville and Novi School boards, the decision regarding the transfer will come from a joint agreement between the Oakland and Wayne County Intermediate School Districts.

A decision is expected to be made sometime in late February, according to Parker. The two intermediate school districts have 60 days to make a decision once a petition has been filed.

Piwko said after the meeting that the Novi Schools' position regarding the transfer is that "this will not have an

State guidelines must be followed

As residents who hope to transfer their property into the Novi School district have learned, the State of Michigan has a specific procedure which must be followed before school district boundaries can be changed.

A local intermediate school district has the authority to detach territory from one district and attach it to another when requested to do so by a petition signed by two-thirds of the property owners residing on the land to be transferred.

Only territory contiguous to a district may be transferred.

Within 60 days of receiving the petition a meeting will be scheduled to decide whether the land should be transferred.

The intermediate school district meets with residents representatives of the districts involved.

When two counties are involved in the transfer the intermediate school boards from both counties hear the request.

Another stipulation is if a boundary change would detach more than 10 percent of the available taxable valuation of the entire school district from the district losing the property an election must be held.

In reaching a decision, the intermediate school board weighs whether the request to alter school district boundaries produces long-range solutions to district problems, and whether a real and significant

County reapportionment finished as Killeen sacrifices his staff plan

A modified Holley II plan for redistricting Wayne County was approved by the County Apportionment Commission Tuesday. The plan places the Northville community in District 10 with the Plymouth community, all of the City of Livonia and a little corner of Westland.

The modification does not affect Northville and is in essence the plan called the "Holley Plan" and named for Hubert Holley, the Democratic Party's member of the five-member apportionment group. The plan was passed by a 5-0 vote.

Action was taken Tuesday morning on deadline after County Clerk James Killeen said that a "head count" showed he didn't have the votes to get his "staff plan" passed. That plan would have placed the city and township of Northville in a new 15th District with western suburban townships now represented by Democrat R. William Joyner of Plymouth.

Under the Holley Plan Northville will stay in a district with Livonia now represented by Republican Mary E. Dumas of Livonia. A smiling Dumas said Tuesday that she was pleased as the plan was "not so destructive to the rest of Western Wayne County."

"With 33 percent of Wayne County Republican it does seem fair that we have two out of the entire 15."

The county board was required to be reapportioned because of the 1980 census showing a greater population loss in Detroit than in the suburbs, and because Wayne County's new home rule charter reduces the board from 27 to 15 members.

The decision to accept the Holley II plan came sooner than anticipated. Last weekend it was expected that the commission would ask the Michigan Court of Appeals to grant it 30 days beyond Tuesday's deadline in which to condense the 27 county commissioner districts into 15.

Michael Legg, the lone Republican member, last week introduced his map.

The Livonia attorney's map took part of the "staff plan" and part of the "Holley plan" and merged them with some new districts in the near western part of the county.

However, the plan of Holley, Democratic representative on the apportionment commission and political ally of Detroit Mayor Coleman Young,

Rec department agrees to feed feathered flock after Ford shuts doors

When the Ford Motor Company officially closes its valve plant here Friday, the recreation department, in a mutual agreement with the Northville Department of Public Works, will take over feeding of the ducks.

"I thought this would be a good program for the rec department to take over, not totally, to feed the ducks," Recreation Director Ed Kritczs said Monday.

According to DPW Director Ted Mapes, Ford purchased a 300-day supply of feed for the ducks for his department to distribute.

The city was going to feed the ducks until Kritczs and Mapes met one day and agreed it was a good idea for the recreation department to take over the feeding program.

"I thought it was natural for them," Mapes said.

Therefore, Kritczs is asking any group or organization that would like to help feed the ducks thrice weekly to call the rec department at 349-0203 for further information.

When closing dates were set at the valve plant, Mayor Paul Vernon and other city officials reached an agreement with the company to continue feeding the duck population that winters near the mill race.

Vernon reported that the company hopes to have whoever takes over the plant continue the feeding but indicated that, if it remains vacant longer than anticipated, it (Ford) will continue to supply the feed.

Vernon noted that citizens have fed the ducks and other fowl on weekends anyway so that three feedings a week will be no problem.

City Manager Steve Walters mentioned Monday that the recreation department could set up an arrangement with such groups as the Boy Scouts or Girl Scouts in which they could earn credits for civic or wildlife aid.

Ready for show

Setting up new panels just purchased by the city for the Northville Arts Commission are Phelps Hines, left, and Ves Spindler. They are getting ready for the commission-sponsored second annual "Off the Wall" show of local residents' favorite artworks to be held from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday in New School Church in Mill Race Historical Village. Residents are being asked to lend their paintings, sketches and sculpture for the show which is open to the community without charge. Hines, commission chairperson Cheryl Gazlay, 349-5748, or any other member of the commission may be contacted by anyone willing to place a favorite art piece in the show.

Planners set hearing for rezoning request

Northville city planning commissioners voted unanimously to hold a public hearing February 2 to consider a petition by area residents to rezone 10 plots on South Center and Fairbrook from R-2 to Central Business District in order to provide more parking for Northville Downs.

There was little discussion on the matter as Chairperson Lesa Buckland preferred comments be delayed until the public hearing.

There are five plots on the east side of Center Street and five more on Fairbrook where racetrack patrons park their cars.

The Northville Driving Club owns lots at 254 South Center and the one directly adjacent to it, which the club said has been used for parking for many years. At 254 South Center, the club would like to demolish the house, garage and chicken house to provide more parking space.

Other lots included on the petition spearheaded by the Driving Club are: 232, 234 and 280 South Center; 105, 109, 120 Fairbrook (and its adjacent vacant lot) and 153 Fairbrook.

This is the second time such a request has come before the commission. The commissioners defeated such a proposal after a public hearing in February of 1978.

A petition was filed by Steve Folino for eight lots to be rezoned to Central Business District. However, the commissioners informally told Folino he would have a better chance to rezone if his neighbors would join the petition. At the time, only one resident had not joined.

Former deputy treasurer returns to township post

With property tax collections hitting their peak, and township officials unable to fill, in time, the deputy treasurer slot vacated by Connie Freeh January 4 after a full month's notice, former Deputy Connie Slagle is back on the job this week.

Slagle resigned last summer to make a move to Tennessee, but came back to fill-in this week and help new deputy treasurer Carol Northrup.

According to Clerk Susan Heintz,

Northrup begins work next week and the township found Slagle was available to handle the unofficial duties of the office in the meantime.

Under legal requirements, the deputy must be a resident of the township.

Freeh resigned to take a job in Ann Arbor, where she is attending school now. She said she tendered her resignation a full month early in order to give the township time to find a replacement in time to handle the peak load period of the next six weeks.

City council approves insurance bids January 4

In days of rising prices, Northville Council observed at its January 4 meeting that it was encouraging to have city insurance bids come in lower than anticipated.

By unanimous votes, low bids were accepted in all instances on separate city insurances. They were submitted December 30 to city hall.

Maplewood, present insurer for motor vehicles, again was low bidder at $12,918. Only other bid was from Griffin-Smalley at $17,374.96.

Griffin-Smalley was the lowest of four bidders for general liability insurance at $9,000, which was less than last year.

Bids ranged from that low to a top of $28,615 from last year's insurer, Les Bowden Associates.

Excess liability for $5,000,000 was awarded Advanced Underwriters, low at $4,400 among four bidders, a figure City Manager Steven Walters said was down substantially.

Property, DPW and police insurance was awarded to Griffin-Smalley, low of four at $6,333.

Bidders in addition to Griffin-Smalley, Maplewood and Les Bowden were Advanced Underwriters and Insurance Exchange. Not all bid on all insurances.

As the different bids for city insurance were studied and accepted, councilmember Paul

Folino declared he feels it is "imperative to hire a consultant to go over all city policies."

He said only then would the city know how, and how adequately it is covered.

Mayor Paul Vernon told Folino the suggestion had been made a year ago and was explored, but found to be an expensive review.

With the reduction in bid rates this year, the city manager said it could be included in the budget and "the city could still see a savings over prior rates." He was asked to investigate.

Haggerty Road sewer service alternatives revealed

Portions of Northville Township, and Livonia near Haggerty Road could be supplied sewer service as early as 1984 under one of twelve options presented in public hearing last week.

A selection from the twelve options is to be made this summer, following a spring hearing after the list is narrowed to six.

No cost estimates have yet been established for any of the alternatives but are expected in 30-45 days county board of public works spokespersons said.

Seven of the twelve options call for installation of an interceptor sewer in Haggerty Road beginning about one-half mile north of Eight Mile south to Five Mile. What direction the interceptor might take from there differs in each alternative.

In at least one version, however, the major interceptor would proceed westward on Five Mile to a relief sewer planned adjacent to a county sewer near the Rouge River.

In its course along this route, the sewerage would be forced uphill by a pumping station at Five Mile and Marilyn Roads, a block west of a smaller station Northville Township intends to construct to serve the Park Gardens subdivision. Another such station would be a few blocks east of the county's station. All the sewers would be in Five Mile Road.

Some township residents attending the hearing Thursday expressed concern that, if such a choice is likely, it would prove a waste of money to build two adjacent systems in Five Mile Road.

Consulting engineer Edward McNelly, present representing both the city and township of Northville, made no comment at the public hearing. No other official representatives were present from either community.

The other five proposals represent options that must be considered under federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) guidelines. One is a "no action" alternative, demanded of all projects involving EPA funds. It acts as a base for comparing the value of action alternatives.

Four others involve local treatment of wastewater rather than connection to regional treatment centers. Alternate two, for instance, would construct a "secondary treatment" facility that would clean wastewater sufficiently for discharge to the Middle Rouge River.

Alternate three, often used in areas where water is in short supply or there is high industrial demand, would treat the wastewater for reuse locally. Sewer planners said this is probably the least appropriate option, but must be studied further.

Alternate four would create a central treatment area by land application — spreading the wastewater on a large area of soil, irrigating with it or use of infiltration/percolation as is done on a smaller scale in septic fields. The fifth alternate uses "on site" treatment, creating local septic tank systems or engineered mound absorption systems (essentially a septic system adapted for poor soil areas).

But it is the options that include sewer construction that took most of the attention and, engineers noted, are most likely to make the final cut.

The Haggerty Road service area is largely unsewered and exhibits, in some locations, poor soil conditions for septic systems. Much of the area involved is undeveloped for that reason, although a large portion is state land associated with Hawthorn Center for the Developmentally Disabled and Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital. Meadowbrook Country Club and Dun Rovin golf course are also included.

Most the region lies within Northville Township, from Five Mile to Eight Mile, bounded on the west for most of the length by a line connecting segments of Marilyn north of Five Mile with that portion north of Seven Mile. At the southern boundary (Five Mile) the region extends westward to Portis.

The Novi portion is primarily between Eight and Nine Mile Roads east of Meadowbrook with a small segment north of Nine Mile.

In Livonia, two areas are included in the study region, the largest laying between Seven and Eight Mile, Haggerty and Meadowview Road. I-96-275 cuts through this region.

Farther south, a Chevrolet Spring and Bumper plant north of Plymouth Road and east of Eckles is included. As the largest water user in Livonia, adequate sewer service is imperative to this industrial operation, planners stated.

Primary differences among the action alternatives focus on whether a gravity flow system or forced main system would be employed.

Installing sewers depending on gravity to carry the flows downstreams over such a long distance could prove expensive as the southern terminus would have to be installed at extreme depths, engineers explained.

Use of pumping stations to force the flows could prove cheaper to build, but maintenance and operating cost would be higher, they said. Review of the alternatives is expected to show which method would be cheaper over the 40-year term of the design study.

Copies of the information used in making the decisions are available for review at the Northville Library, Northville Township Hall, Novi City Hall and Novi Library.

Mountain building

Ever wonder where the snow goes?

It didn't melt — but all that end-of-December snow disappeared from city sidewalks, streets and parking lots because city DPW employees were at work. Al Zielinski, top right, scoops the mounds of white stuff into a "scooper" (what else?) that deposits it in city trucks that, in turn, take it as George Piedot is doing, above, to the DPW yard on Gerald Avenue. There the mountain builds throughout winter. Lower left, Tom Lute of Zayti Trucking ploughs the snow "up the mountain." Zayti deposits snow at the yard from the racetrack.

Crusaders install new members

Crusader Council No. 142, Allied Masonic Degrees, elected and installed new officers for 1982 at its third annual inner meeting held at the Mayflower hotel in Plymouth.

Installed were Leo E. Harrawood of Novi as Sovereign Master; Roswell F. Tanger of Plymouth as Senior Warden; Wayne E. Turton of Farmington Hills as Junior Warden; Herman A.

Wedemeyer of Northville as Secretary and Senior Deacon; Walter D. Hutchins of Wayne as Treasurer; Llewellyn S. Hughes of Livonia as Chaplain; Frederick P. Lesley of Battle Creek as Junior Deacon and Harold W. Penn of Northville as Tiler.

The formal installation ceremony was performed by the outgoing Sovereign Master Gerald W. Groat, Jr.

of Troy. Approximately 40 members and guests of Crusader Council attended the installation.

Councils of Allied Masonic Degrees are international fraternal organizations dedicated to the research of Masonic history and its relationship to Biblical history and the growth of the world community.

Cityhood report due tomorrow

The largely-imaginary city of Northville Hills may breathe its last this Thursday in Lansing.

State Boundary Commission officials are expected to dispense with the final detail in the rejection of a proposal to incorporate Northville Township as a one-rule city in the early afternoon January 14.

Township officials have expressed no interest in the final dispensation of the issue, preferring to let it reach its expected demise without comment. Supervisor John MacDonald has said he would be opposed to incorporation but has taken no official action in regard to the issue.

A report of "findings and order" rejecting the proposal will be up for consideration of the commission. Acceptance of the report represents the final step in processing the proposal begun more than four years ago.

Petitions were filed for incorporation in 1977 following the second failure of a city/township consolidation vote. Viewed as an "anti-annexation" move at the time, the cityhood proposal was never taken too seriously.

Under boundary commission rules, no portion of the township could be annexed by a city until after the incorporation issue is decided.

The incorporation move has received virtually no support in the ensuing years and in several public hearings of the issue only sporadic comment has been made — always in opposition. Boundary commission staff recommended rejection of the proposal at a meeting last fall and was instructed to prepare the findings and order for commission action.

Police Blotter

Robbery nets thieves $21,000 in furs, jewelry

Two fur coats and a jewelry box — total value more than $21,000 — were reported stolen from a Bloomcrest residence sometime during a 22 hour period January 4 and 5, the owner told township police.

The owner of the home told police she had been away on vacation, returned in the early evening January 4 and left again at 7 p.m. to stay with friends. When she returned at around 5 p.m. January 5, the woman told police, the coats and jewelry box were gone.

Investigation showed no visible point of entry and all doors and windows were locked. A locking master bedroom door was open with a key in it. The owner told police she locked the door before leaving, but left the key in a bowl in the kitchen.

Missing were an $18,000 three-year-old Canadian lynx full-length coat and a $3,000 two-year-old Norwegian fox three-quarter length jacket. Also missing was an antique jewelry box and its contents, valued at $50, and an automatic garage door opener.

One neighboring couple told police they had seen a car that did not belong to the residence in the driveway January 4, but could not describe the vehicle. Another reported hearing the homeowner "practice" firing a gun in the backyard.

Police suspect another family member with a key may have taken the items or left a door open at the house and locked it again later.

State police were also called by the homeowner, who suspected some persons who had toured the house once when it was for sale. Investigation is continuing.

Township police recovered an $800 stolen car early Saturday that only recently had been reported stolen to city police.

Police found the vehicle parked blocking traffic on Innsbrook with its engine running and lights on shortly after 2 a.m.

Police computer information services identified the vehicle as one reported stolen earlier that night from the parking lot of the South Main bar.

A Pinebrook resident reported a woman's gold ring with five diamonds stolen from a first floor bathroom between December 31 and January 5.

The owner told police the $468 ring was missing from the bathroom the morning of January 5. She said it might have been taken during a party January 1.

Since the ring was purchased overseas, police theorize its value here could be considerably higher than the price paid.

Township police recovered a stolen Chevy van with motor home adaptations off Six Mile south of Waterford Pond January 9. Owned by a Livonia man, the vehicle had been reported stolen in Plymouth.

Two days earlier, January 7, the same van was found with an interior fire in the parking lot of a Northville Road party store.

The fire department extinguished the flames, but police were unable to locate the owner. When the same vehicle turned up January 9, police were again unable to contact the owner. Plymouth police came and towed the vehicle to that department's impound yard.

Before the fire, the van was valued at around $3,000.

Township ZBA nixes child care at Montessori

No child day care operation can be offered at the Montessori School on Haggerty near Five Mile, the township zoning board of appeals ruled last week.

Denying a request for a variance filed by school director Lynn Gaul, the ZBA January 4 exerted the first influence township government has had on the project since it began. The decision may not last, however, if a legal interpretation allows the day care center as accessory use of the school.

Located in a single-family residential zone, the school building is an approved use and is subject primarily to state regulations governing schools, but a child care center is allowed only in multiple-family residential zones in the township.

Following months of debate regarding whether the school was subject to local ordinances, the school's parking plan will be shown to the township planning commission at its regular meeting January 26.

According to Clerk Susan Heintz, a member of the ZBA, it is hoped the township attorney will be able to supply some advice regarding the proposed child care center prior to the January 26 meeting of the planning commission.

According to the township zoning ordinance, not only are schools allowed in single family areas, but so are "accessory buildings and uses customarily incident to any..." permitted use.

Heintz said ZBA members believed that clause to apply to such buildings as a bus garage or grounds maintenance shed, not to a child care center.

But Montessori officials argue that a day care center is a customary accompaniment to the school.

Heintz noted that the school itself does not yet have official status as a non-profit venture. State designation as a non-profit corporation would be necessary even for the school to operate, since the zoning ordinance allows only not for profit schools.

Housing construction hits 10 year low in township

Construction of new single family housing in Northville Township last year hit its lowest mark in more than a decade, according to building department statistics.

Only 29 permits for construction of single family houses were issued in 1981, a report to be presented to the board of trustees Thursday night states.

That represents more than a 50 percent reduction in activity from the 75 permits issued in 1980 — the previous low in recent years.

Nevertheless, township building official Troy Milligan said he thought things were "not that bad really," from an operational standpoint. The department will likely cover its costs this fiscal year.

In making his budget, Milligan said, he predicted something on the order of 40 housing starts "at the most" and the associated income from fees. The minor shortfall from that source was made up in other types of construction.

The township enjoyed its peak house-building year in 1978, when permits were issued for 205 new homes. The market began to turn downward in 1979, when 196 starts were recorded.

Single family starts don't tell the whole story of construction in the township, however. Five new apartment buildings (multiple family dwellings in trade lingo) were issued permits in 1981. None were issued in 1980. Further development of the Northridge Apartment structures accounted for the permits.

Permits were issued for 26 additions to homes, the report from Milligan notes.

Nine non-residential buildings were issued permits, six garages were approved, five additions or alterations to commercial properties were issued permits, two demolitions were accomplished and structures other than buildings (fences, pools, signs and the like) accounted for 27 permits issued.

Total valuation of the construction projects approved was $5.7 million, according to the report. The apartments narrowly outpaced the single family dwellings. The 29 houses were valued at $2.36 million, the apartment buildings at $2.45 million.

One commercial project (a bank branch at Eight Mile and Haggerty) issued permits late in the year) was given a valuation of $345,000. Alterations to residences accounted for $310,751 of the new construction.

Non-building construction totalled $75,000. New non-residential building was valued at $24,790, while the total for commercial additions was $186,050.

Regional building authorities had predicted a year ago that 1981 would see a 50 percent improvement over 1980 as pent up housing demand released, but more cautious predictions are being made this time around.

The continuing slump in housing construction has been attributed to high interest rates, inflation and, in Southeast Michigan, unemployment.

Some construction in recent years has been "on spec" with no prospective buyers in sight. There was less of that in '81 than in '80 Milligan said, and some of the houses built earlier were finally sold last year, skewing the figures somewhat.

Some authorities are predicting housing could be the last industry to rebound from the national recession. Regionally, the market needs not only the reduced inflation and interest rates sought nationwide, but the economy must make a near turn-around before builders would be encouraged, they say.

Milligan, for one, does not expect much change this year from last year.

Schoolcraft offers classes for gifted

Classes for elementary and junior high school talented and gifted (TAG) students will be offered through the Schoolcraft College Continuing Education division beginning February 22.

Jackson at Northville generates $310,000

As the 1981 Jackson meet concluded at Northville Downs the end of 1981, City Manager Steven Walters told city council at its January 4 meeting that revenues "were not quite so bad as projected in mid-December."

The meet produced 98.4 percent of the 1980 revenue level, thanks partly to one additional night of racing.

Mayor Paul Vernon observed that he understood he first night of Northville's meet was good. Folino added that the second night "was even better."

"I'm the only one who goes immediately (to the ovals) beyond the 10th race," Walters commented.

The council follows track results as avidly as any bettor — as the city's budget is tied to Downs activity.

Walters gave council a memo at the first meeting in January showing that the average city share per night of the Jackson meet was $4,998 in contrast to $5,164 in 1980. Total city share this meet was $309,890 compared with $314,978 last year. The 11.2 percent being held back by the state further reduces the city's share to $275,182.

Walters had projected the city would receive $288,400 from the 1981 Jackson meet, now creating a shortage of $13,218. His projection for the current Northville meet was $466,400.

Originally, the city improvement fund budget anticipated maximum racetrack revenues of $800,000 for 1981-82. This was revised by $50,000 to state budget level with 11.2 percent state retention then reducing it by $95,200. The Jackson meet shortage now brings the racetrack revenue figure to $741,582.

To reach the 1982 projection of $466,400, the current Downs meet will have to average $6,483 per night for 81 nights, Walters told council.

Last year the 1981 Northville Downs meet averaged $6,455 per night for 79 nights.

Walters promised council that the city would be monitoring the present meet's performance closely, noting that if it falls below projections it will further reduce the city's present small projects' reserve.

The reserve now is at $16,631 instead of $29,849 with the subtraction of the Jackson shortage.

Walters added that last year's Northville Downs meet showed a lower average in February and a higher one in March.

Noting last year's pattern for the Downs meet, Walters has projected the current meet's revenues at $169,100 in January; $312,500 in February; $497,900 in March; and $525,200 in April with a $466,400 cumulative net taking 88.8 percent.

At the end of the January 4 meeting the council went into closed session to discuss (but not take action) on contract negotiations in view of the budget reductions.

School transfer request

diverse effect with the number of students entering the school district. They would be spread between kindergarten through 12th grade program. We're taking a sit and wait attitude, we're not actively involved in pursuing this or asking them to petition."

Northville Schools stand to lose approximately 2.7 percent of its State Equalized Valuation, according to Parker's figures.

According to Northville School Superintendent Lawrence Nichols the transfer could result in a loss in revenue of approximately $180,000 to $220,000 to the Northville Public Schools. However, he said administrators are still compiling data to determine what the financial losses will amount to.

The idea of transferring school districts arose last summer in the midst of the Northville Public Schools millage renewal campaign.

The Parkers explained it came to their attention through a millage campaigner who mentioned there were a number of people in the area who felt they would like to be in the Novi School district.

However, Parker said the group initiated the petition drive last July — following the approval of Northville Public Schools 7 mill renewal request.

"We purposely held off until after the millage election so as not to confuse the issue," Parker noted.

"The most important issue here is furthering a cohesive identity with Novi Township," he went on to say.

"We live in Novi, not Northville, and we felt it was too bad we weren't in the Novi Schools. It just kind of snowballed from there."

Parker and his wife Milly said they are concerned that some people might view the move as being anti-Northville Schools.

"We've tried to be conscientious throughout this whole thing. Our object is not to hurt the Northville Schools. It's just that there are good common sense reasons to be in the Novi School district."

Parker said many of the residents of Dunbarton Pines purchased homes in the subdivision north of Nine Mile believing their children would attend the Novi Schools.

"We've worked with both districts," Parker said, "We don't want to cause any ill feelings."

Booster club sponsors pizza party for adults

The Northville High School Booster Club is sponsoring an adult pizza party in the community building immediately following the January 22 NHS varsity basketball game.

Pizza, pop, beer and wine will be provided. Tickets are $3.50 per person.

All Northville residents are welcome to attend the event which is scheduled to begin about 9:30 p.m.

Advance tickets only are available and can be purchased by calling Trudy Quinn at 348-0396.

Trauma Center at U-M

At the University of Michigan a reconstructed Emergency Services and Trauma Center is being unveiled that will serve as a regional trauma center for Southeastern Michigan.

Equipped with trauma bays and power columns, the center is the newest in Michigan. The university announces it "will provide unexcelled patient treatment facilities for everything from a major disaster to a painful splinter."

Access by road and air via a new helipad and a sophisticated communication system for ground and helicopter ambulances have been installed and improved.

Kalamazoo College slates free workshop January 25

The Kalamazoo College Admissions and Financial Aid offices will offer a free financial aid workshop for prospective Kalamazoo College students from 7-9 p.m. January 25 at Northville High School.

Reservations should be made at least one week in advance by calling toll free 800-632-5757.

Representatives of both the Admissions and Financial Aid offices will assist families in completing the standardized Financial Aid form which is due in January.

Completion of the Financial Aid form is the only way to determine if a student is qualified for need-based financial aid. The form may be obtained from high school guidance counselors or from the College Admissions Office and should be reviewed prior to the workshop.

Local resident in music group

Northville resident Carolyn Tower, a music teacher at Brookside School in Bloomfield Hills, currently is vice president of the American Orff-Schulwerk Association (A.O.S.A.).

The A.O.S.A. was established to promote the philosophy of Carl Orff's Schulwerk and to provide information about its activities and growth in the United States.

Last November, Tower organized A.O.S.A.'s national conference in Albuquerque, New Mexico, which was attended by 800 people.

Next year, Tower will become president of the association.

RETIRE YOUR MONEY FROM TAXES NOW SO YOU CAN RETIRE MORE COMFORTABLY LATER.

The new 1982 tax law now makes it possible for any working person to tax-shelter up to $2,000 per year in an individual Retirement Account (IRA) at First Federal Savings of Detroit.

To make it easier for you, the regulations permit you to deduct your IRA deposits from your gross income before you figure your income tax. So you don't pay tax on your IRA deposit or on the interest it earns until you retire and start to withdraw your money.* At that time, you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket than in your working years.

To make saving for your retirement more convenient, First Federal offers many attractive retirement plans including two new 18-month accounts and our popular 30-Month Money Market Certificate Account. Our savings counselors will be happy to provide all the details.

Minimum deposit for this type of account is $100.00. Additions can be made at any time for any amount without extending the maturity date of your certificate.

18-MONTH FIXED RATE ACCOUNT

12.500%
Annual Rate compounded quarterly.
Effective Annual Yield 13.098%
Rate is effective Jan. 8, 1982, until further notice.

The interest rates for the 18-Month Fixed Rate Account, and the 30-Month Money Market Certificate Account, are established at the time you open your account and remain in effect during the entire term. The minimum deposit for these accounts is $100.00 and additional accounts may be opened any time at the then current rate.

30-MONTH MONEY MARKET CERTIFICATE ACCOUNT

13.000%
Annual Rate compounded quarterly.
Effective Annual Yield 13.648%
Rate is effective Jan. 8, 1982, until further notice.

And remember, your IRA account is insured separately to $100,000, by the FDIC, regardless of any other funds you may have with us.

EXTRA BONUS

As an extra bonus, you will qualify for an interest-earning checking account—free of monthly service charges—when you open a new IRA account of $1,000 or more. No minimum balance required, no monthly service charges. You get 50 free personalized checks and a First Federal Prestige® Card for 24-hour Night Owl Window service.

Get all the details at any First Federal office and open the IRA that best fits your financial situation. It will be a great feeling to know that when retirement day comes your First Federal IRA will start paying it all back plus much, much more.

*IRS regulations require a substantial penalty for withdrawal prior to age 59½ on IRA plans. Federal regulations require a substantial penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts.

NOTE: Plans available for Keogh and SEP participants. Payroll deductions may be made to Variable Rate Account

Lucia Danes and Pat Meyers operate Two's Company, new craft outlet

Uptown shops feature range of merchandise

Among the unusual offerings is an unfinished wood cooling rack that would make a great bridal shower gift at $5.50.

"Wouldn't this basket make a summer purse?" suggests Lucia Danes picking up a $16 handwoven basket.

The women accept merchandise, keeping 30 percent of the selling price. "I'm convinced that if there's enough traffic we can sell anything," owner Danes declares as she seeks more craftspeople to bring different wares to the shop.

Next door, Jannel Cavill is minding Jan's Needlepoint owned by her mother Marge Cinader.

There has been a change of emphasis for the needlepoint shop as it moved to the new location. Jan's needlepoint will be "strictly needlepoint," at least for the present, the Jan of the name explains. She is planning to offer classes in basic stitches with the first four-week session starting January 20.

There are kits, a variety of canvasses and yarns available. Most unusual are two scenes waiting to be stitched — one is a composite of Northville landmarks, the other of Ann Arbor ones. The local cider mill is among structures depicted on the Northville original.

A favorite piece of Jannel's is the off white, sculptured pillow done with a variety of basic stitches.

There are no guns, no knives, no clothing and no box games at Northville Consignment Resale — but there are lots of collectibles, many housewares, chandeliers, handsome brass wall sconces and a solid wood table and chair set.

Minding the store last week was Nelda Morrison's mother, Margaret Hosler.

She explained that "we try to come to a mutual agreement about price, but if a customer wishes, we will price the items."

Merchandise under $50 is sold with the shop retaining 40 percent of the sale price; over $50, it is 30 percent. Items, except antiques, are marked down an additional 10 percent the end of the first month, and another 10 percent the end of the second.

After that, the shop will request the owner to call for the merchandise or will dispose of it. Antiques, however, are not reduced as owners feel they have an intrinsic value.

On a shelf with two reproduction shaving mugs sits an early version, priced at $10; the contemporary ones are $2. A Victorian-pattern tea cup and saucer with pink roses also is tagged at $10.

Old toy train cars, fireplace andirons, a new tea cloth with napkins are among the current treasures in the shop.

It is open from noon to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and will accept merchandise at any time.

The other shops also are open the same days, all closing Sunday and Monday. Two's Company and Jan's Needlepoint are open from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

They're well worth climbing the stairs in the block between Center and Hutton on the north side of Main Street.

Comp reform done, unemployment next

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

Workers' compensation reform.

What used to be a subject of intense interest only to business and labor has now become a household word in Michigan since Governor William Milliken made it the focal point of his state economic recovery package three months ago.

Since that time the words "work comp reform" have echoed loudly through the Capitol rotunda in Lansing and have perched on the lips of every legislator in discussions with special interest groups and constituents back home. It has been a continuing topic in newspaper editorials across the state and the subject of lead stories in primetime television and radio newscasts. Why?

Because in setting the agenda for the fall legislative session, Governor Milliken declared that Michigan's worsening economic ills would not get better until the Legislature reformed the state's costly workers' compensation system — a system that is some $650 million out of whack with our surrounding states and a system perceived to be the major albatross around the necks of Michigan business and industry in providing jobs for the thousands of working men and women in our state.

Recognizing the extreme seriousness of Michigan's economic problems, a group of Democrats in both the House and Senate joined Republicans to form an unusual coalition for the passage of a package of workers' compensation reform legislation which was sent to the Governor for his signature.

The Democrats are to be commended for supporting legislation which begins to move Michigan forward toward creating a new, more vital business climate and for standing firm against intense political pressures. What did this coalition attain in passing the workers' compensation reform package?

•Redefinition of "disability." It is an attempt to limit eligibility and return injured workers to their jobs. While the definition is not as strong as Republicans would have liked, it does make a major improvement over the current definition.

•Coordination of benefits. Workers' compensation payments will be coordinated with other employer-paid benefits so that an injured worker cannot draw more in aid than he or she drew on the job.

•Elimination of redemption. By doing away with the practice of settling a work comp claim for a lump-sum payment before there is a hearing, it is believed frivolous claims by workers will be discouraged.

•Require workers to notify employers of an injury within 90 days if a work comp claim is to be valid.

These are the major provisions in the reform package. These changes, along with the reforms made during the 1979-80 legislations should make a dramatic improvement in reducing the workers' compensation costs being paid by business and industry in Michigan.

However, no matter how important these changes are, they alone will not cure Michigan's economic ills. Action still needs to be taken on the remainder of the Milliken economic recovery package.

Whether the Republican-Democratic coalition for economic recovery will hold together in the next legislative session to accomplish this goal remains to be seen. Political battles over changes in the unemployment insurance system will be as great as they were over workers' compensation reform.

The Milliken proposal calls for reinstatement of the "waiting week" and extending from the current 18 weeks to 20 weeks the length of time a worker must be employed to qualify for unemployment benefits.

It's another costly handicap to doing business in Michigan. Organized labor leaders are vehemently opposed. More about that when we return to Lansing next week.

Dust is flying out of the windows of state department buildings these days. Department heads and assistants have uncovered all sorts of musty, no longer relevant, regulatory baggage weighing down business and industry.

Lieutenant Governor Jim Brickley's Regulatory Review Task Force is quietly and diligently working its way through obsolete statutes, overlapping municipal-state-federal programs, and unnecessary rules that are still on the books forcing compliance long after they have outlived their usefulness.

It's like a spring housecleaning that's years overdue.

The task force's approach to this monumental investigation is to begin with those compliance areas that have received complaints, and to bring forth affected or protected persons into discussions to help work out recommendations. Upon agreement on major points, the task force submits interim reports advocating statutory, rule or program changes, or modifications in sections of law.

In the task force's first interim report, recently submitted to the Governor, are 32 recommendations for change. The Legislature has been quick to respond to the statutory advisements.

All 10 recommended statute changes were almost immediately introduced under Republican sponsorship as Senate Bill 602, and are expected to be taken up in the Senate soon after the holidays. Most of the statutes deal with agriculture, and the nine rules marked for the waste basket relate to plant and animal health.

The first recommendations are naturally the least controversial as the task force plods its way through consideration of bureaucratic buildups most complained about, but they are only the beginning. Rather than wait till the final report can be submitted listing all the musty corners that need sweeping out, action is proceeding upon recommendations as they are submitted in interim reports. At least two more are expected before the task force will consider the housecleaning thorough enough to add a little freshness and breathing space to the state economic air.

Among these compliance areas and regulations still likely to be considered by the task force are: the Michigan Occupational Health and Safety Act (MIOSHA), the Department of Natural Resources permit and regulatory process relating to industrial development, the prevailing wage law, the Agricultural and Marketing Act 344, the Meat Inspection Law, Construction Code and pharmacy regulations.

The recommendations already submitted and being implemented where possible call for the repeal of obsolete or unnecessary agricultural regulatory status and rules, eliminate several unnecessary duplicative or counterproductive licensing, registration and testing requirements, generally eliminate unrealistic regulatory burdens on Michigan business, and reward food service establishments with good records by requiring fewer health inspections.

Senate Bill 602, the first bill to implement statutory housecleaning, would repeal the Bulls, Stallions, Bears and Rams Act of 1867, the Texas Cattle Act of 1885, the White Pine Blister Rust Act of 1929, the Tuberculosis in Livestock Act of 1931, the Baby Chick/Sale at Auction Act of 1935, the Licensing of Dogs Act of 1935, the Noxious Weed Act of 1941, the Filled Milk Law of 1945, the Christmas Greens Act of 1962, and the Certification of Livestock Act of 1966.

The bill also would eliminate the state boards regulating horologists (watchmakers) and myomassologists (masses). More controversial topics than noxious weeds will hit the Senate floor later as the task force recommends further changes.

To the Editor:

My thanks to the entire staff at our Northville Post Office.

For the nearly 21 years we have lived here, I have found all of them to be courteous and helpful. Because they provide a public service it is easy to overlook how much we need them and it is far too easy to criticize them.

From me, a big thank-you and Happy New Year!

At Maybury

Ride a horse-drawn sleigh

Maybury State Park has long been a favored site for local cross country skiers wishing to stretch their muscles, and less energetic types can now do a little dashing through the snow themselves.

According to park manager Tony Klain, visitors can take horse-drawn sleigh rides through the west end of the park between noon and 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays "as long as the snow holds out."

The rides, promised to be "at least 20 minutes" long leave every half hour from the barn area of the park. Charge is $1.50 per person or $5 per family. The program began last weekend.

Klain said the activity is one Maybury authorities have long wished to offer and is the precursor of a riding stable service anticipated for summer.

State-level budget reductions killed the park's intention of running the stable/sleigh ride operation on its own so the service was contracted out to an independent, Klain explained.

The west end of the park, mostly composed of field attached to the living farm operation, was chosen in order to avoid interfering with the cross country ski trails (which service bicyclers in warmer months), he said.

In addition to the daytime operation, groups may charter Friday, Saturday or Sunday evening rides, Klain said. The cost is $30 for a half hour ride, $60 for an hour. Sleigh capacity is 20 persons, a $20 deposit is required and reservations may be made by calling 517-522-5394.

Getting Down to Brass Tacks

By KAREN WILKINSON
Board President

The paramount concern of our school district must be, and is, quality education for its students. The teachers, of course, are one of the keys to our achieving this goal. Teachers have contractual obligations to the district and contract settlements, therefore, are part of the operation of a school district.

The negotiations procedure, by law and by practice, is a process of give and take. The standard definition of a good contract settlement is one in which each party feels that it has made some "gains" and that it can live with the "losses." These very basic tenets are the cornerstones of collective bargaining.

Where does all this philosophy lead us? In today's paper you can read and, I hope, have read the details of the collective bargaining agreement between the Northville Public Schools and the Northville Education Association. Is it a good settlement? I think it is; but the reason for this opinion is far more important than the opinion itself.

As the board was involved in setting the guidelines and restrictions during each step of the negotiating process, I kept asking myself, "What should be the standard for judging the final outcome?" In order to reach an independent, reasonable conclusion I found myself exploring some "what if" situations and analyzing their long-term impact on students, teachers and taxpayers.

What if we settled our contract with little or no raise in teachers' salaries? The taxpayers could benefit; the teachers would not. What about the students? Education is the product of our schools. Education is primarily a people-to-people process. Therefore, a decline in morale or an increase in the attitude of "why beat my brains out when nobody else seems to care" would be detrimental to the educational process. Thus, the students ultimately could be losers under this option.

What if we settled our contract with large raises in teachers' salaries? The teachers would gain; the taxpayers would lose. What about the students? Under this option, the taxpayers would feel that no one was concerned about their difficulty in paying high taxes and ultimately would withdraw their support for education. Again, the students would be losers.

What if a moderate settlement were reached? Consider a reasonable approach taking into account the current cost of living, the economic factors and their impact on members of the community and the attitude of restraint recommended by the citizens' committee. This resolution would give neither large gains nor losses to either taxpayers or teachers. Also, it would not negatively affect the students; therefore, the students would not be losers.

The students are of paramount importance and must be the winners as a result of any action taken by the school district. With this as the primary criterion, I feel that this moderate agreement is the one to be reached.

Additionally, a clear benefit inherent to this contract settlement is that the time and energy normally expended by administrators and teachers in negotiations now can be channeled directly toward planning, evaluating and implementing our students' educational program.

Northville's corner of colonial Williamsburg

The first thing most customers entering Williamsburg Inspirations notice is the aroma — a combination of bayberry, magnolia and a host of other scents which seem to linger throughout the shop.

"I never have to wear perfume," jokes owner Marilyn Lorenz, whose shop is the only one in existence in the United States selling exclusively Williamsburg items.

"Everything in this shop is based on what Colonial Williamsburg carries," Mrs. Lorenz explains while pointing out the varied pewter, brass and Delft pieces which line the shelves of her shop.

For the past five years, Marilyn Lorenz has been offering a touch of Colonial Williamsburg to Northville residents and customers from surrounding communities yearning for hand-crafted items from Virginia's most famous colonial area.

All items in her shop are authentic Williamsburg reproductions — from the sandcasted brass candlesticks made by Virginia Metalcrafters to the Royal Holland pewter cups.

The shop, located at 102 East Main, is recognized by most local residents as the former Lorenz Pharmacy. Mrs. Lorenz points out that until last May the store served as both a pharmacy and the Williamsburg gift shop.

However, the success of Williamsburg Inspirations prompted Doug and Marilyn Lorenz to phase out the pharmacy operation 10 months ago and expand the Williamsburg shop to its present size.

The building which houses

Williamsburg Inspirations has been in Mrs. Lorenz's family since 1934 when her father bought it as a drugstore.

Mrs. Lorenz admits that her decision to carry exclusively Williamsburg items was somewhat of a gamble. However, she acknowledges that the decision to go ahead with the project came at a time in her life when she was willing to take a risk.

If Marilyn Lorenz had had her way, she still would be an active sportswoman — playing golf three or four times a week and enjoying the great outdoors.

Yet five years ago, Marilyn developed severe arthritis — which coupled with bursitis and tendonitis put an end to her active sports life.

"It was so bad I couldn't even pick-up a golf club," she reflected.

Determined to keep herself busy, Mrs. Lorenz tossed in the golf clubs and took up a project which she'd kept on the back burner for years.

Before getting her Williamsburg shop off the ground, Mrs. Lorenz spent almost two years studying the history of that area and the crafts which eventually were made during that colonial period.

She said one of the misconceptions which many people have about her Williamsburg operation is the belief that her gift items are purchased through the Williamsburg foundation. Mrs. Lorenz does her buying through the manufacturers of Williamsburg reproductions such as the Eaton paper company, Virginia Metalcrafters and Royal Holland.

For those with a passion for colonial crafts, Williamsburg Inspirations is a place not to be missed.

Among the many items offered are Delft flower bricks and preserve mugs, pewter vases and tea sets, salt-glazed hand-crafted pottery in a variety of designs, Quimper dinnerware, grapevine wreaths, brass bookends and doorknobs and scores of candles and soaps in a variety of scents.

"Every item in this shop has a story behind it," Mrs. Lorenz explains.

To give patrons some insight into the craftsmanship and purpose of the Williamsburg crafts, Mrs. Lorenz has placed small cards alongside particular items explaining their origins and how they were used.

Mrs. Lorenz notes that many of these crafts, though authentic reproductions, are made just as they were during the late 1700s.

For instance, the brass candleholders by Virginia Metalcrafters are made "one piece at a time," Mrs. Lorenz explains.

One of the most elaborate items in the store — a mahogany tea caddy — was constructed from 25 hand-assembled pieces of wood.

In keeping with the colonial theme of her shop, Mrs. Lorenz sells a variety of dried flower arrangements — assembled from flowers she grows in her garden.

She admits that a good portion of her time is spent drying and arranging flowers for both her shop and for weddings.

In fact, from June until late November she works six to eight hours some days drying flowers.

For Marilyn Lorenz, Williamsburg

Inspirations has brought her the distinction of being one of the foremost authorities on the subject of that colonial period.

She admits to having advised several residents on how to approach Williamsburg while vacationing and recently was asked to participate in a Williamsburg luncheon held at Oakland Hills Country Club in Birmingham.

Though she tries to get to Williamsburg as often as possible, she admits she usually goes only once or twice a year. How does the Williamsburg foundation view its Northville namesake?

"They love it," Mrs. Lorenz confides.

Woman's Club turns 90

By JEAN DAY

"Their goal was self-improvement," Mary Yahne explained to Northville Woman's Club members and guests last Friday afternoon as she reviewed how a small group of women gathered to organize the club 90 years ago in 1892.

For the program focusing on early club history, held in First Presbyterian Church fellowship hall, Mrs. Yahne and Geraldine Mills donned period costumes.

Mrs. Yahne wore a McKinley-period gown that had belonged to her great-aunt Mary for whom she was named. A teacher in Nankin in the Scotch Settlement School now in Greenfield Village, she numbered Henry Ford among her scholars, Mrs. Yahne related.

A club past president herself, Mary Yahne told the club that it was amazing to realize the first president was elected by a total vote of 70 — amazing that there were that many women in a small town anxious to make the effort to improve their minds.

"Their goals," Mary Yahne observed, "remind me of the Continuing Education for Women pamphlets we receive from Schoolcraft College today."

Lucy Stout Doud, the early organizer of the club and its first president, the speaker continued, was a writer of poetry who "would organize literary clubs wherever she found herself." Northville Woman's Club's aims were to study lives and works of authors as well as current events, as it was organized in 1891-92.

In the days when homes were surrounded by spindle fences and floral Brussel carpets bloomed on parlor floors, the clubwomen were meeting to study "the Henrys, English queens, the Arabs and early martyrs as well as English poets," Mrs. Yahne's research revealed.

The club's second president, Dr. Mary Lapham, she recounted, gave the Ladies Library Association its building with the provision that it always be used for the woman's club meetings.

"She was unusual for her day," Mary Yahne told the club Friday, "for not many women became doctors in the 1890s."

The building Dr. Lapham gave was used for many years as the community library and meeting headquarters for the club. It now is the New School Church in Mill Race Historical Village, named for its first, brief use. The club, Mrs. Yahne noted, tries to meet there once a year.

Two noteworthy differences in the club between those early days and today, Mrs. Yahne pointed out, are that members until 1940 met weekly from the end of September through the beginning of April and that they usually prepared papers themselves for the programs.

The club now meets twice monthly October through March with guest speakers for most programs.

"Explorers from Marco Polo to Columbus, the Declaration of Independence and the days after the Revolutionary War as well as America's banking system all were discussed by club members — and all during one year," Mrs. Yahne said, recalling the tenure of Prudence Clark, sixth president in 1899.

Mother's Day and Bible Day appropriately were celebrated, club records revealed.

Because Northville was so remote, Mrs. Yahne has been told, members would take a day to go into Detroit to research their topics at the Detroit Library, sometimes staying overnight with friends.

Mrs. Mills, wearing an embroidered pink voile gown with black velvet ribbon trim at the wrists, continued the club history of the pre-World War I period. Appropriately, the gown had been bought in Paris by a Yahne cousin who was an assistant principal in Detroit, an unusual position for a woman in that day, Mrs. Yahne com-

The Northville Record 349-3627

In 1916-17 the late Jack Blackburn's great aunt Narcia Dubuar headed the club as it studied India.

By 1928 Mrs Yahne noted the club was having more outside speakers. In the 1940s, '50s and '60s usually there were two or three speakers a year from the University of Michigan, Mary Yahne said.

Past President Ruth Mary Atchison, who after the program presided at the tea table with life member Betty Cowie, recalled that another club custom of the past had been to have new members present an annual skit.

President Evelyn Harper noted this practice ended when she joined in 1967.
A custom which was revived during the club's diamond jubilee year of 1967-68 when Araminta Ellison was president was the Gentlemen's Evening of 1924.

This year's Men's Night program is to be a Valentine event February 12.

Kathi Jerome, program chairman, announced that the next meeting at 1:30 p.m. January 22 was planned to help members keep New Year resolutions
"to get the body back in shape."

Hospital in Grand Rapids and weighed six pounds, 15 ounces.

Mrs. Rex Billings of Stanton. Maternal grandparents are Northville residents
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sorenson.

Couple makes wedding plans

Announcement of their engagement and wedding plans was made by Sarah Patricia Curry of Westland and William
L. Miron of 43600 West Six Mile on December 6 at St. Clair Inn during the celebration of her parents' 40th wedding anniversary.

Ms. Curry is the daughter of Mr. and
Mrs. Victor Hawkins of Grosse Pointe
Park. His mother, Mrs. William Miron, lives in Lexington, Michigan.

He is vice president of PSI
Hydraulics in Livonia and is the former executive vice president of Bendix Corporation.

His fiancée attended University of Michigan and is corporate materials manager of PSI Hydraulics. She also is chasing Management Association of Local economist says recovery will begin in six more months

'The philosophy behind the Reagan economic policy is to trim governmental spending and put the money back in the hands of the people who'll make investments.'

By PHILIP JEROME

After 2½ years of a depressed economy, it will probably be at least six more months before things start to get better.

That's the conventional forecast of economic experts these days, and it's a viewpoint shared by Novi's Joseph Velky, manager of health care research for Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan and a member of the Detroit Area Economic Forum.

"What's happening is that things are beginning to bottom out," Velky told Sliger-Livingston Publications last week. "But it's going to take a bit longer before the recovery actually begins."

"Unemployment rose to 15 percent in December and it will probably stay in that area over the next several months. Decisions were made in December to lay people off after the holidays, and those decisions are not yet reflected in the statistics."

Despite the prediction that recovery will begin in six months, Velky says people should not expect an immediate improvement on July 1.

"What we're saying is that we're bottoming out...the recovery will begin in six months. But the recovery is going to be gradual. We've got 15 percent unemployment right now, and it could be down to 11 percent by the end of the year," he explained.

"It will probably take 1½ to two years before recovery is complete."

What are the indicators that point to a recovery this year? Velky says attitudes and perceptions are important factors.

"The basic problem with the Great Depression back in the '30s was lack of demand," he explained. "To get the economy rolling again, the government created demand by increasing its spending. Unfortunately, governmental spending has been expanded ever since, and now we're at the point where it has gone too far."

"In the '80s we have to reverse the trend of governmental spending and create the demand by putting the money back in the hands of the private sector."

"That's what the Reagan administration has attempted to do with its economic program through such measures as tax cuts and investment tax credits."

"The feeling among economists is that it will take people another six months to react to the changes that have been made in Washington."

"Once the effects of those changes start to be felt, the private sector will begin to make the changes in some of the plants and equipment which are outdated. Employment will begin to improve at that point and you'll also begin to benefit from increased productivity associated with the new plants and equipment."

"The philosophy behind the Reagan economic policy is to trim governmental spending and put the money back in the hands of the people who'll make investments."

Another key to recovery, particularly in Michigan, is increased productivity, says Velky, who views the UAW decision's over the weekend to reopen contract talks with the auto makers as an positive development.

"The maturity in management/labor relations as exemplified by the decision to reopen contracts is an extremely positive sign," he said. "It's not in the best interest of the UAW to do anything which will put more of their members out of work."

"Management and labor must work together to dispell the belief that domestic autos are inferior to the imports. There are a lot of old cars out on the road which will have to be replaced, but Michigan will continue to hurt until the American public perceives the domestic automobile as a quality product."

"It's a job that will require a commitment from management as well as labor. They have to work together to increase productivity."

"There are studies which show people only work five hours in an eight hour day. There are too many people who have the attitude that the company owes them instead of them owing the company."

"We have to increase productivity — people have got to work harder and be more productive — in order for the auto industry, or any other business, to produce a quality, cost-effective product."

LIFE BALANCE COMPANY of Novi is a consultant service offering a creative approach to human resource development.

Founded in 1979 by Karen Brown of Detroit and Joan Macknesh of Novi, Life Balance Company offers flexible programs designed to meet the needs of individual companies as well as community groups. These programs include retirement education, time management, stress management, second career planning and wellness/health promotion programs.

Most of the programs are geared toward an adult audience, although the material is applicable to any age group. The purpose is to increase human potential through modification of lifestyle. These improved lifestyles results in more satisfied, more productive individuals with fewer health related problems.

Subsequently, reduced costs are experienced by individuals, employers, insurances and the community.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC Tea Company (A&P) is introducing a new line of generic products under the P&Q (Price & Quality) brand name.

The P&Q brand is initially being offered in A&P stores in the Detroit area. The new brand will replace plain black and white label generic products which A&P has been offering for over two years. The products will be priced the same as generics but will offer more consistent quality because of stricter P&Q brand production specifications.

P&Q brand products are priced as much as 30 percent below national brands, and are identified by plain but distinctive green and white packaging. Nutritional information and ingredients are listed on food products, and all products carry the A&P "money-back" guarantee.

Michel Rourke, vice president of communications and corporate affairs, said that "initially, there will be over 100 P&Q brand products offered in our stores in the Detroit area."

"The products include a variety of food items, household and paper products," Rourke continued. "More items will be added to the line over the next several months and the P&Q brand will totally replace the black and white generic products in the economy shop section of our stores."

JAMES CAREY (ABOVE LEFT) and Jacob Strecker (above right), of Strecker & Carey, P.C., recently announced the relocation of their certified public accounting firm to 127 North Lafayette, South Lyon. The firm will continue to offer services in auditing, general accounting, tax preparation, tax planning and management advisory services. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday with other hours available by appointment. The office phone number is (313) 437-3970.

LINGERIE SALES in the home is the idea behind Undercover Wear, a Massachusetts-based company which has recently located in Michigan.

Linda Bonham of Highland owns a local branch of the unique lingerie company. Undercover Wear sponsors home parties at any time.

"Undercover Wear offers the female 'a night for the female,'" remarked Bonham. "Guests will be able to shop in a pleasant, relaxed atmosphere where they can choose their favorite items, either openly or discreetly."

"Undercover Wear's philosophy is 'bring femininity back to the female,'" she added.

The company carries unique lines of lingerie from many manufacturers, according to Bonham. Sizes range from "petite to majesty", while styles range from "ultra-conservative to barely nothing," she said.

WOODBURNERS, a firm based in White Lake, recently celebrated its third anniversary. The company, which is owned by Martin Friedenberg, sells wood stoves and accessories, and offers installation of all the products it sells.

Such brand names as Schrader, Arrow, Quailer, Greenbrier and Fire Drum are available at the store, which is located at 9669 Highland Road. Woodburners is open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

'Up with People' at Twelve Oaks

The 1981 edition of the "Up with People" show is coming to Novi's Twelve Oaks Mall this Saturday. Presented by the Twelve Oaks Mall merchants, the "Up with People" show features a talented international cast and band of 100 young men and women.

Shows will be presented at noon, 2 and 4 p.m. in Twelve Oaks' center court. All performances are free to the public, and everyone is invited to attend.

The fast-paced "Up with People" show, which has been enjoyed by millions of people in 42 countries around the world, has something for everyone. There are lively and spirited full-cast production numbers as well as soloists and feature dances, all presenting music from the nostalgic past through today's contemporary sounds.

The non-stop singing and dancing is filled with the energy and enthusiasm of the young performers. The audience soon finds itself involved and participating in the show. One reviewer noted that it's often hard to tell "where the stage ends and the audience begins."

There's more to "Up with People" than music, however. Incorporated as a non-profit, independent, international education program in 1968, "Up with People" has a two-fold purpose: to build bridges of understanding and communications among peoples, cultures and countries; and, to give young people a learning experience that not only broadens the intellect, but matures the person.

The cast that will appear Saturday at Twelve Oaks is one of five touring companies consisting of approximately 550 young men and women representing 23 countries. Each cast member, age 18 to 26, is also a student. During the 11 months they spend on the road, each student travels an average of 35,000 miles, learning first hand of the diversity of cultures and customs around the world.

In each community they visit, cast members stay with "host families," sharing in their lifestyles and interests. Some 40 local families are expected to host "Up with People" students during their stay here.

"Up with People" casts involve themselves as much as possible in the community they are visiting. An average day often includes visits to area schools, hospitals and institutions, a tour of a local point of interest or a meeting with heads of industry and government in an exchange of questions and ideas.

The performers do their own stage work, promotion and day-to-day logistics. Students also may receive college credit for independent study assignments they undertake on the road.

Questions? Write to Attorney Larry Korn, care of Sliger-Livingston Publications, Post Office Box 160, Northville, Michigan 48167. Questions will be answered on a space-available basis. Answers in this column are directed at specific facts and may not apply in all situations.

Q. I've got a problem with my car. I've been making car payments for two years and I've got 12 more months to go. I fell two months behind in the payments and I just got a letter from the bank saying that if I didn't pay the two months I was behind they were going to repossess my car. Well, I did that, but I'm in a situation where I'm going to be two weeks late again in paying and they said if I was late again in paying they were going to come out and take by car. Is there anything I can do to keep that from happening? At this time I'm completely up-to-date with my payments.

A. If you are up-to-date on your payments and you're going to be approximately 15 days late on the next one, regardless of what they may have said before, I would certainly get in touch with them before the date that your payment is due and let them know when the payment is to be expected. Creditors generally gets apprehensive when they do not know when they are going to receive their payment. If you let them know what your situation is, I'm sure they would hold off at least a couple of weeks.

Q. My daughter was involved in an accident. The guy that hit her went through a red light and received a ticket. She just has liability insurance; no insurance to cover the damage to her car. We went to small claims court to try to collect for this damage and were told that it would depend on the judge whether we would get reimbursed. We have a court date coming up, but everyone we've talked to tells us that we might as well not waste our time because under No-Fault we won't get reimbursed.

A. Under Michigan's No-Fault Automobile Insurance laws, a driver can collect up to $400 for uninsured casualty loss. This means that if you have collision coverage with a deductible, or no collision coverage at all, you can sue for up to $400 if you were not at fault or only partially at fault.

Q. My problem is that I was with somebody who was picked up for shoplifting. I bought my articles and when I walked out the door, they stopped me with the other guy and took us inside and searched us and kept us in there until the cops came. When the cops came, they took the other guy but they didn't say nothing to me. What I want to know is what recourse do I have?

A. Stores in Michigan have what is known as a "shopkeeper's privilege", and they have the right to reasonably detain and in some instances search people who they believe have been stealing goods from their store. If the search and detention was not unreasonable, you would not have any cause of action against them.

If you were roughed up or subjected to a strip search and you were not involved in any shoplifting, you might have a good cause of action against them for false imprisonment and for assault and battery.

Q. My granddaughter stepped off the school bus while the bus lights were flashing. This 10-year old boy had his father's motorcycle and hit her in the side, knocked her completely across the street, and she was put into the hospital with a concussion. The police department said we can't sue a 10-year old boy.

A. Ignore the police; they are not lawyers. You can sue. You can sue the parents of the minor child. You really need to see a lawyer. There's a question of coverage her — who is covered and what coverage is available for your daughter.

Although you would not sue the 10-year old and recover from him, you can recover from his parents. You have to find out what kind of insurance is available — whether there is insurance on the motorcycle or whether the parents' homeowners insurance would cover this type of accident. There are possibilities for recovering. See a lawyer.

Frellick JV coach

Holdsworth named top baseball mentor

By JOHN MYERS

Even though the spring high school baseball season still is a couple of months away, there was some baseball news from Northville High School last week.

Northville Athletic Director Ralph Redmond announced two new diamond coaches for the 1982 season.

Fred Holdsworth, who was coach of the Mustang junior varsity last year, has been promoted to the head coaching duties. Holdsworth is replacing former head mentor Bob Kucher who retired last year.

To the fill the junior varsity vacancy, Redmond hired Bob Frellick to handle the coaching duties.

"Of course, I was the junior varsity coach for the last two years, and I felt it was a natural move," explained Holdsworth in applying for the top coaching position.

"I'm kind of recycling," Holdsworth quipped.

The history teacher at Northville High School made his remark in reference to an 18-year hiatus from coaching baseball. Holdsworth first started coaching baseball at Berkley High School in 1948 and remained in that position for eight years.

The former NHS principal then went into school administration for 18 years, before returning to the classroom. He went back into coaching in 1980.

"I like to work with kids," he said. "There has been a lot of baseball in our family." His son Fred, Jr., who pitched at Northville, just completed another season in the Oakland A's minor league system.

"There are good athletes at Northville," Holdsworth added. "I know the kids coming off the junior varsity. There are about six kids, and last year's varsity was 5-17, so we realize there is a long way to go."

Also, Holdsworth does not feel any pressure about replacing Kucher, who has had a long and successful 20-year career in baseball. The two most basic reasons Kucher decided to retire were his son, Gary, who graduated last June from NHS, and his desire to pursue other interests — like football officiating.

Frellick, a manager with the Ford Motor Company, also applied for the head coaching position, but he said he realized preference would be given to anyone within the school system who would apply for the job.

"I felt initially a little disappointed," said Frellick about not getting the head position. "Naturally, you hope to get it."

However, the Booster Club member was quick to add he understood there would be a good chance Holdsworth would receive the top spot.

But, Frellick sees the junior varsity position as an opportunity to not only help the players, but himself as well.

Not only will his players learn the basics of baseball, but Frellick also will help them adjust to life's situations. "For all other things to learn in life besides baseball or football," he explained. "For all intent and purposes, that is my philosophy of life — to teach the basics (of baseball) and to learn about life."

Gymnasts nip Central for first win

Paula Broderick took four firsts for the Northville gymnastics team to help lead the Mustangs to victory over Walled Lake Central Tuesday, but a sophomore also played a key role.

The Mustangs opened the 1982 season with a 96.2-93.65 triumph over Central at Walled Lake with Broderick winning the vault, balance beam, floor exercise and uneven bars. However, Wendy Woberman came through for Northville in the floor exercise to help key the Mustangs' initial win.

First-year coach Debbie Heck said Woberman had two hours before the meet to come up with a floor exercise routine. The reason was Woberman had to replace Marian Rothermal, who injured her back in practice the day before.

"That was a lot of pressure for a sophomore," Heck said. "She was a key person for us that night."

Since the top four scores in each event are counted toward a team's total score, Heck needed someone to replace the injured Rothermal. Enter Woberman. Her performance in the floor exercise was enough to give the Mustangs the win.

Woberman also took fourth place in the vault with a score of 5.05.

Broderick was victorious in the vault (7.8), bars (7.3), beam (6.75) and floor exercise (7.55).

"She (Broderick) did well," Heck said. "But, she didn't do her best."

Amy Aaron was second in the vault (7.55) and fourth in both the bars (6.1) and floor exercise (6.9). Sue Barnes was third in the bars (6.3), while Laura Kiraly was second in the beam (5.55).

The Mustangs will be in action at home twice this week. Livonia Clarenceville is the first foe 6 p.m. tonight, while Southfield Lathrup will come in 2 p.m. Saturday.

Sitting spread eagle, Vince Candela tries to figure a way out of his predicament against Walled Lake Western's Rich Richardson.

Injuries mount on wrestling squad

If anyone happened to walk around the Northville gymnasium last Friday, it would not have been surprising to think it was a hospital ward.

After participating a four-way dual meet last Thursday at Walled Lake Central, the Northville wrestling team looked as if it belonged in a hospital emergency ward.

No fewer than three wrestlers returned home with some type of injury and others with bumps and bruises.

To top it all off, the Mustangs lost three of the four matches. Northville dropped decisions to Walled Lake Western, 46-16, Plymouth Canton, 64-6, and Ferndale, 48-18. Northville topped host Central, 40-31, for its only win of the afternoon.

The Mustangs also competed in the Brighton Invitational where only two wrestlers, Jack Wallace and Vince Candela, placed.

Coach Gary Emerson is glad his wrestlers do not return to the mats until Thursday against Canton in order for some of the injuries to heal. The Mustangs also will send two teams to the Clio Tournament Saturday.

"We got crunched pretty good," Emerson reflected on Thursday's matches. "Friday guys were walking around with casts, bruises and elbow pads."

Among the walking wounded are John Naar, Dan Sackllah, Neil Fitzpatrick and John Collins. All are expected back Thursday, Emerson said, except Naar.

The 119-pounder dislocated his shoulder in his opening round match against Western Thursday. Emerson said Naar probably will be out six to eight weeks, but there is slight chance Naar could return for the league championships if his shoulder heals faster than anticipated.

Fitzpatrick hyper-extended his elbow in his third match of the afternoon against Ferndale. However, he should be back in the line-up Thursday. Collins had a few teeth jarred at the Central meet and he, too, should be back in the line-up Thursday.

Sackllah has been out of action the last four weeks with stretched knee ligaments, but Emerson said the 167-pounder could be in the line-up against Canton.

Heavyweight Vince Candela had a long personal winning streak snapped by Western's Rich Richardson in his opening match of the afternoon.

Richardson, who is tall and rangy, nearly pinned Candela in the second period and hung on to win a 4-1 decision.

"Most of his (Candela's) losses have been to long, tall guys," Emerson said. "Sometimes you need one of those (tough losses)," Emerson theorized. "It helps humble you."

It was only the third loss of the season for Candela, whose record now stands at 21-3.

The senior wrestler came roaring back to win his next three matches on five pins and a void. He also won first place at Brighton with wins over Fowlerville's Mike Kelly, 7-1, and Monroe Catholic Central's Lloyd Lambrix, 7-2.

Wallace, the number-two seed at 138 pounds, placed second after being pinned by the number-one seed, Mike Eubin of Monroe Catholic Central, who is a state champion.

The senior grappler was one of the few bright spots at Central where he won all four of his matches — two by pins and two by decisions.

Wallace currently sports a 20-6 record to rank right behind Candela among Northville wrestlers. Other wrestlers with above .500 marks are Collins at 10-5, Sackllah at 9-4 and Fitzpatrick at 12-3.

The only other Mustangs to win a match at Brighton were Ernie Bock at 155, Neil Hartshorne at 112 and John Latarte at 132.

Hawks hand cagers second W-6 loss

By JOHN MYERS

Despite playing some its best basketball of the season, the Northville boys' varsity basketball team dropped a tough 60-52 Western Six Conference decision to Farmington Harrison Friday.

The loss improved the Hawks' league mark to 3-0, while the Mustangs, who tied with Harrison last year for the W-Six championship, fell to 1-2 in conference play.

The Mustangs returned from the holidays last week Tuesday with a second half come-from-behind victory over rival Novi, 46-41, on Northville's own home court.

Northville, now 4-4 overall, traveled to Millford Lakeland Tuesday. The Mustangs return to league action at 6 p.m. Friday at home against W-Six foe Plymouth Canton.

"I was happy with the game, but not happy with the outcome," observed coach Tim Lutes after the Harrison contest.

The fourth-year head mentor said the Mustangs would have to come up with their best game of the young season to defeat the front-running Hawks on their own court and nearly did just that.

"In the last quarter, we just gave up too many inside shots," explained Lutes, who had hoped to pull off another upset like last year when Northville won on Harrison's court for the first time in three years.

"I think we outplayed them for three quarters. From midway through the first period until the first two minutes in the fourth quarter, we really outplayed them," he added.

Harrison jumped out to a 21-15 lead after the opening period, but the Mustangs battled back to lead at the intermission, 31-30. Northville still led, 44-42, after three quarters, but Harrison took control early in the final quarter to win going away.

"We lost our poise a little bit," Lutes admitted.

Harrison, who had been pressing the Mustangs the entire contest, caused Northville to throw the ball away a few times in the final period. Until that time, Lutes said his squad handled the pressure well.

Also, some forced shots and steals in the decisive last period enabled the Hawks to get their fast break moving.

For much of the contest, the Mustangs held Harrison scoring ace, Steve Hollatz, a 6-foot-4 senior forward, in check. However, he broke loose in the final period for nine points to end the evening with 22 before fouling out.

Once Hollatz was out of the game, Harrison went into a stall offense which forced the Mustangs to gamble. "They (Harrison) have some good ballhandlers and they got a couple of cheap baskets because we were gambling," Lutes said.

"We played our best game away from home against Harrison. If we could have played that way against Howell, (Walled Lake) Western and North Farmington, I think we would have won all three," offered Lutes of three early season road losses to those schools.

Already, Lutes is looking forward to the rematch with Harrison when the Hawks pull into town February 12.

"We're looking for revenge. I think the kids proved they can play with them," he said.

Senior guards Dave Malinowski and Tim McLaughlin each paced the Mustangs with 13 points, while senior forwards Tim Wagner and Carl Lang each chipped in with 12. Sophomore center Steve Schrader added two points to round out the scoring.

A third quarter "jump and run" press startled Novi and helped Northville take control of the game and eventually win.

The Bobcats had broken loose a tight game in the second period and led by as many as 10 points before settling for a 23-18 advantage at the half.

However, that was short-lived as Northville stung the Bobcats with the "jump and run" press to start the second half and it got the Mustangs right back in the ballgame.

In fact, the press and good team defense helped the Mustangs turn the five-point halftime deficit into a 35-29 lead after three quarters of action.

"It (press) really helped," Lutes admitted. "It did exactly what a press is supposed to do — get you some quick points."

Northville went into a slowdown offense in the final stanza to eat some time off the clock, which worked as the Mustangs hung on for the five-point triumph.

Also, Lutes was pleased with the defense his squad used in shutting down Novi's Todd Parsons, Brian Jordan and Eric Deline.

Lang was top Northville scorer with 14 points and Schrader tossed 12 points through the nets.

Dental Dialogue

of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.

MAINTAIN THAT SPACE RACE

Q. It is important for my 8-year-old daughter to maintain the spaces left by the early loss of her baby teeth?

A. Absolutely. "Baby," or primary, teeth normally remain in place until the permanent teeth are ready to erupt. Early loss of primary teeth can cause the permanent teeth to erupt out of their normal position and this can cause crooked teeth and an uneven bite.

Dentists use a device called a space maintainer to hold the spaces open until the permanent teeth come in. This is a simple solution and one that can prevent the need for orthodontic braces, and more complicated treatment, later.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of

Tankers fall to Brighton, Churchill

“What a difference a day makes.” It is a cliché, but it fits what happened to the Northville boys’ swim team last week.

That may be hard to comprehend considering the Mustangs dropped meets last week to non-league foe Brighton and Western Six Conference rival Livonia Churchill.

The Mustangs were no match for Brighton, 127-42, but improved times helped make the meet against Churchill close, 45-39.

“(Churchill) is not as strong a team as Brighton,” coach Pete Talbot explained. “Almost every race we swam was an improvement.”

“We were almost like a different team from Tuesday,” he added.

The only action this week for the tankers is against W-Six foe Plymouth Canton at the Chiefs’ own pool. The double loss drops the Mustangs’ overall record to 1-4 and 0-1 in the conference.

Travelling to Brighton, Talbot knew his team was going to get beaten by a strong Bulldog squad but thought his team would have swum better.

The lack of decent times at the Brighton meet, Talbot said, was because the team did not have consistent workouts over the holidays.

One of the few bright spots in the meet was diving. There Chris Behen and Jeff Evans turned in personal best performances. Dave Copp turned in the best individual performance by taking second in the 100-yard freestyle (55.35) and third in the 50-yard freestyle (25.18).

The 200-yard medley relay team of Vince Shimp, Mickey Nader, Jon Burchard and Jeff Evans (2:03.39) took second.

Talbot knew things were going to be close against Churchill Thursday in the Mustangs’ own pool.

“I knew it would be a close meet, probably right down to the last relay, which is what happened,” Talbot said. “I thought we could beat them and, if it had not been for a couple of races, we would have won.”

Northville took four first places in the meet. The 200-yard medley relay team of Tim Walker, Nader, Copp and Burchard recorded the best time together at 1:53.88. The other medley relay team of Jeff Smith, Blake Anderson, Behen and Evans took third with a time of 2:09.5, which was a team best.

Burchard was first in the 50-yard freestyle with a personal best time of 24.7, while Copp was second with a 24.9 clocking.

However, Copp was first in the 100-yard freestyle with a personal best 54.2 clocking. Walker was third in the same event with a time of 57.32, a personal best.

Walker was first in the 100-backstroke with a time of 1:10.3, while Smith was second with a personal best time of 1:14.94.

Second-place finishes were taken by Adam Swallow in the 200-yard freestyle (2:08.8); Behen in diving; Burchard in the 100-yard butterfly (1:10.8); and the 300-yard freestyle relay team of Swallow, Shimp, Smith and Evans (4:15.98).

IRA accounts at Standard Federal Savings help you save more for your retirement.

The new tax law provides that every working person under age 70½ can contribute to an Individual Retirement Account for taxable years beginning in 1982. You can have an IRA Account even if you are covered by another retirement plan. Your contributions to an IRA Account are tax deductible. This allows you to accumulate more money with an IRA Account than with a taxable investment.

Regular IRA

Spousal IRA

A working person with a non-working spouse may contribute up to $2,250 per year.

First game jitters and a lack of consistent serving hurt the Northville girls' volleyball team in its season-opening loss to Western Six Conference tri-champion Livonia Churchill last week Wednesday.

Melinda House slams the ball back over the net

The Chargers rebounded from a 15-12 first game defeat to thump the Mustangs 15-2 and 15-8 in the final two games to win the match.

Northville picked up a non-conference triumph over Riverside Friday, winning in two straight games, 15-5 and 15-7.

The Mustangs, now 1-1 overall and 0-1 in league play, had a Monday match against W-Six tri-champion Walled Lake Western canceled due to the extreme cold weather conditions plaguing the state. The match has been rescheduled for February 25 at Western.

The Mustangs travel to Plymouth today to battle the tri-champion Canton Chiefs, before hitting the road again Friday to South Lyon. Northville entertains rival Novi Monday.

"That (Novi) is a grudge match," Northville coach Steve McDonald said.

As for the Canton match today, McDonald is looking for his team to play better than it has in the past against the Chiefs.

"For some reason, we never play well against Canton. I'm not sure what it is. I just hope we get over the mental block and kick their butt," he said.

The Mustangs served well in the first game against Churchill to take home a 15-12 verdict. Tenley Magdich and Melinda House were the top servers for Northville, McDonald said.

However, the Mustangs were a completely different team in the second and third games. "We thought we had it won and stood around," McDonald explained.

The Mustangs watched the Chargers bury them, 15-2, in the second game and were pounded in the third game, 15-8.

"We just quit serving well in the second and third games, although we played good defense," McDonald said.

"We just couldn't get any offense going. The girls have to work on mental mistakes more than the physical mistakes," he added.

Northville had a relatively easy time against a rebuilding Riverview squad.

"Sharon Knauss and Leslie Kucher each served well," McDonald praised.

"We served, as a team, well."

However, McDonald cited a need to work on defense after the Riverview contest. "We stood around a little bit," he explained.

"But, it's always nice to get that first W (win)," McDonald added.

Northville OLV cagers cruise to initial victory

Redford's St. Robert Bellarmine became the first victim to fall to Northville's Our Lady of Victory, 31-26, Sunday in a seventh and eighth grade boys' Catholic Youth Organization basketball match up.

Two big periods, in a contest that was more lopsided than the score indicated, helped the Cougars gain their initial win of the season.

OLV raced to an 11-0 lead after one period and used a 13-3 third period to cruise to victory. Coach John Brady cleared his bench in the final quarter.

The Cougars controlled the boards with John Lobbia and Sean McLaughlin grabbing 25 caroms between them. It was the first time this season OLV was able to have a rebounding edge over its opponent.

McLaughlin paced the Cougars with 13, while Lobbia added six. Doug Martin tallied four, while Joe Briemaier and Tom Orlovski each scored three points. Dan Kozlowski chipped in with two points.

OLV, now 1-4 overall, travels to Detroit St. Scholastica Wednesday and battles unbeaten Livonia St. Michael's Sunday at the Recreation Center.

Jayvee cage victory string hits three

Northville's junior varsity boys' basketball team ran its winning streak to three, including seven of its first eight games, with triumphs over Novi and Western Six Conference foe Farmington Harrison last week.

Northville downed the visiting Bobcats, 68-49, Tuesday and thumped Harrison, 59-44, on the Hawks' home court Friday. The victories improved the Mustangs' overall mark to 7-1 and 3-0 in W-Six action.

Mike Weber paced the Northville scoring attack with 17 points, while Scott Gala chipped in with 14.

Balanced scoring enabled the Mustangs to whip Harrison. Bob Pegrum led Northville with 13 points. Dave Longridge and Steve Frellick each scored nine, while Gala and Weber each added eight points.

Coach Omar Harrison said this year's team is one of the best he has ever had. Also, he noted the team has been picking up more confidence and that has helped improve the offense and defense.

A $10 Cash Gift And A Tax-Sheltered IRA At Security Bank

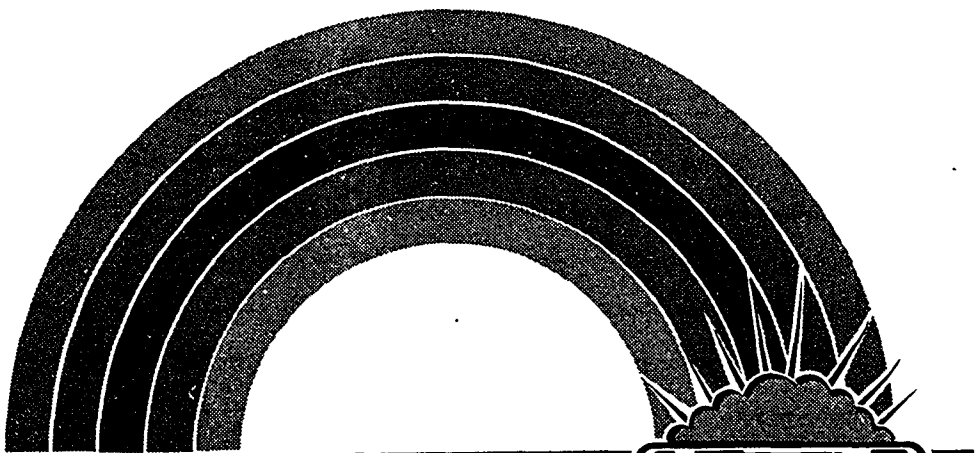

Under a new tax law, every working person can have an IRA account, beginning January, 1982, even though he/she participates in a qualified pension plan. And, by opening an IRA account at Security Bank you'll get a $10 cash gift with a $200 opening balance deposit.

This new IRA eligibility means every wage earner can make annual tax-deductible contributions of $2,000 ($2,250 spousal) or 100% of income, whichever is less, to an IRA. Interest earned is tax-deferred until retirement when you should be in a lower tax bracket. And, at that time you pay taxes only on the funds as you withdraw them. What's more, your IRA deposits are insured to $100,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. This coverage is above and beyond the FDIC insurance on your other Security Bank deposits.

A High Rate on New 18-Month Certificate of Deposit

For funds deposited in Security Bank's new 18-Month Certificate you receive a high interest rate that's set periodically by the bank. Add-on contributions do not extend the 18-month maturity. The minimum deposit is $25; however, there's a $200 opening balance requirement to receive the gift.

Contributions can also be made to a 30-Month Money Market Certificate or a 26-Week Money Market Certificate.* For details on rates and maturities, ask at any Security Bank office. Federal regulations provide certain limits on your annual IRA contributions, and also require substantial interest penalties and I.R.S. penalties for early withdrawal. Check the table to see how your contributions can add up ... then come get an IRA and $10 from Security Bank.

13.00% Annual Interest 18-Month Certificate

IRA

Rates are subject to change periodically without notice.

IRA Contributions If you contributed $2,000 per year, you would have

Rate	after 5 years	after 10 years	after 20 years	after 30 years
10%	$13,529	$35,566	$129,933	$380,318
11%	13,947	37,771	147,976	469,529
12%	14,379	40,128	168,826	581,576
13%	14,824	42,650	192,936	722,487

Computations based on the assumption that deposits are made on January 2 of each year with interest paid and compounded semi-annually.

* Compounding of interest on the 26-Week Money Market Certificate is prohibited.
