Ford valve plant closing postponed again

Only one valve remains in Ford plant Friday as Jesse Cockerham and Emilio Zompanti clean up site where production machinery once stood

Still open while company, UAW continue negotiation

By KEVIN WILSON

"We're still here," said Pat Modos, general supervisor of production at Ford Motor Company's Northville Valve Plant Friday. "Don't count us out yet."

In a move widely construed as a result of on-going negotiations between Ford and the United Auto Workers regarding wage and benefit concessions, the company early January 13 ordered the plant remain open until today at least. It had been scheduled to close last Friday, January 15, at 3:30 p.m.

Norm Fultz, president of Northville Valve UAW local 896, is a member of the national bargaining committee and said Monday he believes the valve plant will continue to employ some hourly workers at least through Friday, and perhaps beyond that date.

The Ford order last week was the third time a scheduled closing date has passed and been delayed within the past 14 months.

While city manager Steve Walters speculated that the latest delay was likely just "posturing" by the company to aid its negotiations, some workers at the plant thought they saw a glimmer of hope nonetheless.

The Wednesday order put a halt to dismantling of production machinery at the facility and includes instructions to other Ford plants which have received equipment from Northville not to install it in new locations just yet.

Fultz said the valve plant has been discussed at the negotiating table in Dearborn since it is practically a textbook example of what the UAW is asking in return for wage or benefit concessions.

Both job security and a reduction in "out sourcing" of parts normally built by UAW workers are the top issues on the union's agenda.

The Northville plant closing was to be accompanied by a Ford switch to buying valves from a non-union Eaton corporation plant in Nebraska. While the focus of the out-sourcing issue has been the purchase of parts from overseas, the valve situation has also been discussed, Fultz said.

The local president said chances of keeping the plant open are "100 percent better" than they were a month ago, before the opening of negotiations at the national level. He said he also learned from a Ford source that the company has not yet signed a long-term purchase agreement for valves with Eaton.

"They're on a 90-day contract, I found out," Fultz said. "And they have time to work something out, since with the layoffs and shutdowns elsewhere they had enough valves to last through the beginning of the year. Some places have a supply until April or May, so there's still time."

The union had previously believed the cause was virtually hopeless, under the impression a long-term agreement with Eaton was already in place.

Fultz admits the possibility of keeping Northville open is still slim.

Noting he could not supply details of negotiations, he said some members of the local might benefit from job security provisions being discussed or "at the very least, it would help if all we do is help create some jobs elsewhere," he said, pointing out that some Northville employees have applied for jobs rumored available at a Louisville facility.

Back at the plant Friday, no one was giving up hope, and Modos, who as management was often in an adversarial relationship with union personnel, was praising the efforts of Fultz.

"You've gotta give the guy a lot of credit," he said. "He's really out there pitching for something he believes in. It doesn't hurt that he's right there on the

Recreation seeks link to township

Discussion at the regular meeting of the recreation commission January 13 focused on the director's evaluation and his appearance at township board of trustees meetings.

Commissioner Gary Sixt said steps already are being taken on the director's evaluation, even though the goals and objectives for 1982-83 have not yet been established.

"Since we have not established the goals or objectives, we (commission) would give him an evaluation based on what was accomplished — based on commission's input, Jane's (Watts) and mine as well as (recreation director) Ed's (Kritczs)," explained Sixt, who serves on the personnel committee with Watts.

Kritczs was unable to attend the meeting because of an automobile accident he and his wife were in earlier in the day. They suffered minimal injuries.

Sixt said he asked Kritczs to come up with a list of what he feels he has accomplished and to rank them from most important to least important.

Then, Sixt said he and Watts would sit down and prepare Kritczs' evaluation. For the current year, Sixt said, Kritczs has been asked to establish what he wants to accomplish and the commission should do likewise.

This would be followed up by quarterly reports from Kritczs on how the goals, objectives and tasks are coming along.

Commissioner James Nowka liked the idea, saying it gives the commission a chance to see what has been changed or if a different direction is being taken on a project.

"That is a portion of the master plan, gentlemen, which is updated annually with your short-range, long-range goals and objectives," Commissioner Bill Bingley offered.

However, Sixt responded this would be an addition to the short- and long-range goals and objectives and would be less formal than official plans.

Sixt said the evaluation will be brought to the commission for its approval. At the March meeting, the new evaluation format with the goals, objectives and tasks will be presented.

Later in the meeting, Commissioner Carolann Ayers brought up a suggestion that someone, preferably the director, from the commission attend the township board of trustees meetings.

Commissioner Jerome Mittman wondered if that really were necessary since Nowka is the township trustee liaison to the recreation commission.

Nowka said he believed so, because the township would like to see who the recreation director is and what he has to say.

ALL PARENTS of Northville High School graduating seniors are invited to attend an organizational meeting to plan the Senior Class Party at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Northville High School cafeteria.

RESIDENTS OF Park Gardens subdivision will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight (January 20) at Tanger Elementary School, Five Mile, to discuss sewer funding possibilities. Okay given dance permit for use of Winner's Circle

After being told by Winner's Circle Bar owner James D. Rea that he needs the dance permit he has requested from the state liquor control commission to get business, Northville City Council in a split 3-2 vote Monday voted to approve the application.

It acted after reviewing a police report on activity at the bar from 1978 through 1981 and being assured fire marshal inspection violations were being remedied.

Saying he needed the dance permit to allow dancing to his juke box, Rea told council, "After 8 p.m. you might as well shut your lights off. They're (bar patrons) all in the township or in Novi."

"We have to have a way to keep people in town. I won't have a band, I just want to have dancing to the juke box, which I cannot do now without a permit."

Rea told the council that he took over operation of the bar in January, 1979, and has tried to keep the promise he then made to council "to run a clean operation." He emphasized that he has "nothing to do with the hotel."

The hotel is operated by the building owner from whom Rea purchased the bar operation.

While there were 46 police calls to the bar in 1978 and 45 in 1981, councilmembers noted there was a decrease in what council member Carolann Ayers termed "the dangerous" in-

'Super' matinee first in Downs' history

Northville Downs is doing its part to help with the invasion of Super Bowl fans this weekend, including the community in the Supercelebration.

The Downs, with permission from the Michigan Racing Commission, has a double-race program Saturday, adding a 1 p.m. matinee.

Northville Executive Manager John J. Carlo said it marks the first time in the track's 39-year history that afternoon and evening programs will take place in the same day.

Recording Secretary Margaret Zayti suggested the matinee offers an excellent opportunity for children over 12 accompanied by a parent or guardian to watch harness racing. It is necessary to be 18 to bet, she explained, noting that many do not realize youngsters may be admitted to watch, however.

There will be a 1 p.m. afternoon program with a Super Bowl Special brunch served in the clubhouse for $7.50. Doors will open at 11 a.m. with the first race starting at 1 p.m.

At the evening event a Super Smorgasbord is planned at a cost of $8.50. Meal reservations to assure a good seat should be made by calling the track at 349-1000.

While crowds were down during last weekend's subzero weather, there was racing Saturday night. Horses, it was explained, were taken directly to the track from the paddock for a minimum exposure, but the lack of workouts produced no surprises. Officials report "all the favorites won."

Gas valve pops open, homes evacuated

Residents of a four-block area west of South Main near Seven Mile were evacuated early Tuesday when a safety valve released on a gas main in a Consumers Power Company pumping station located behind the Clark service station.

The safety valve blew at about 7:30 a.m., releasing gas which made a whistle-like sound. An attendant at the Clark station called police when he heard the safety valve release, Northville Police Chief Rodney Cannon said.

Cannon said police evacuated persons in an area bound by River Street and South Main, Johnson to Seven Mile. He said Northville Township and Novi police assisted in the evacuation and the re-routing of traffic. The Northville Downs race track also was closed due to persons working in the kitchen area.

Persons were allowed back into their homes a little over an hour after the incident, Cannon reported, and added there were no injuries or explosions.

Consumers Power Company Public Affairs Director Mike Blomback said the valve may have released for one of two reasons. He explained dirt may have gotten in the line or there was a higher than normal transmission pressure surge.

"It (safety valve) did exactly what it was supposed to do — release," he said. "The safety system is installed on all of our lines. It is there to provide protection for the public," Blomback said.

Tax deadline extended

Deadline for payment of township property tax bills has been extended to March 1, 1982, at 5 p.m. by action of the township board of trustees Thursday.

The township regularly extends the deadline beyond the statutory February 15 date, allowing senior citizens in particular and taxpayers in general time to file Michigan income tax returns.

Taxes paid after the deadline are assessed a penalty and must be paid directly to the county.

The city sets its deadline later directly on tax bills, avoiding the necessity of later council action to avoid the statutory deadline set by the state for cities and townships.

The circuit-breaker provisions of Michigan's income tax law allows credits for property taxes paid. Many seniors qualify for a 100 percent credit, included in the income tax returns.

Early filing allows many to receive those checks prior to the deadline for local taxes, so long as the board votes to extend it.

In a related matter, township treasurer Richard Henningsen told the board of trustees last Thursday that the county, which collects delinquent taxes, has yet to return some $30,000 it owes the township from taxes paid late last year.

Henningsen said he wondered if it would be legal for him to retain a similar amount in taxes due the county from this year's bills, now being paid at township hall, in order to collect the money due.

He noted the county has not distributed the shares of delinquent taxes due school districts, townships, cities and others and that the total from 1981 is in the millions of dollars.

TEETHING NOT REALLY TRAUMATIC

Q. What can I do for my baby when he's teething?

A. Relax and don't regard teething as an illness. Teething is a perfectly natural process and Mother Nature arranges its schedule. A baby may have some discomfort and be "fussy" while teething, but its not accompanied by fever or congestion as some people believe, those symptoms require a call to your pediatrician. The best remedy for teething symptoms is to clean the mouth with damp gauze pads and provide something to bite on like teething rings or biscuits. Also don't panic if he loses his appetite, it will only be temporary.

Class preparations

Have a case of the winter blahs? Finding it hard to come out of hibernation during these long, cold winter days? If the answer to these questions is yes, then it's time to pick-up a schedule of the Northville Community Education class offerings for the winter/spring semester. The listing of upcoming courses is bound to cure anyone of their winter woes — from elementary age students to senior adults.

Among this semester's offerings are daytime and evening enrichment classes which will include a host of courses for hobby and craft buffs such as calligraphy, crochet, an herb wreath workshop, needlepoint, a silk flower workshop, furniture finishing, painting, drawing, pottery and welding.

Evening class offerings for business-minded individuals include career development, computer awareness, financial and investment planning.

Other evening classes include an antiques, cake decorating, beginning bridge, doll house miniatures, handwriting analysis, La Maze, picture framing, sailing, aerobic dance and exercise and shorthand.

Two new evening courses beginning this semester are Practical Parenting and Parents of Teens.

Practical Parenting is a self-help program for parents to improve parent-child relationships. Small group discussions will focus on techniques for better communication, cooperation and mutual respect.

Ted Constantine, a volunteer with Farmington Youth Assistance will conduct the class which is scheduled to meet from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Mondays beginning February 8. The cost is $10 per person plus a $3.50 materials fee. Class size is limited to 16 participants.

Parents of Teens is a group discussion focusing on issues and conflicts experienced by parents and teenagers. Taught by John Pinkerman of Farmington Youth Assistance, the class will focus on normal development as well as caution signs for potential difficulties.

The class will meet for five weeks beginning March 15. There is a $10 fee and registration is limited to 20 persons.

The Community Education program once again will offer G.E.D. preparation and high school completion courses. Classes will be offered in both the daytime and evening and are free to those working toward a high school diploma and not attending public day school, having a diploma and under 20 years of age on September 1, 1981, having a GED certificate, and age 60 or older. Students 18 and older and not enrolling for a high school credit may enroll in a class for a $30 fee.

For those looking for "something different," the Community Education program is offering six workshops in everything from "Testing and Developing Your ESP" to "The Meaning of Dreams."

These one-session workshops will be offered beginning February 2 at Northville High School.

For elementary age students, several after school courses will be offered including bridge, computer, crewel stitch sampler, crochet, drama and puppetry, guitar, soft sculpture, watercolor, woodcarving and young investigators.

Classes will be held from 3:45-4:45 p.m. at the four elementary schools.

Junior high school students also will have an opportunity to enroll in courses such as calligraphy, computer, crochet, guitar and quilting.

Classes will be offered at both Meads Mill and Cooke Junior High Schools.

Registration for Community Education classes will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. beginning January 25 at the Northville Board of Education offices at 501 West Main. Evening registration will be from 7-9 p.m. January 26.

Class schedules have been sent to all Northville residents. Additional schedules may be picked up at the Northville Board of Education offices.

Township officials perplexed at property tax law

Property tax equalization factors for the township have been completed and reported by the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation, but it seems the figures may never appear on the community's tax bills this December.

The factors are computed on the basis of three-year sales records and theoretically adjust property valuations to coincide with inflationary changes since the last assessment of the township (nearly 10 years ago). The 1982 figures would mean a nine percent equalized valuation increase for the average township homeowner.

County taxation officials would, in accordance with the sales study results, assign a factor of 2.8458 to residential property assessments to compute state equalized valuations, upon which local governments, the county and schools would levy taxes.

Theoretically, the SEV represents 50 percent of a property's market value and the system, despite its complications, was intended to make it possible to have relatively equal tax levies on properties of similar value.

But new "truth in assessment" legislation has thrown a wrench in the works, township supervisor John MacDonald told the board of trustees Thursday.

"If we followed the provisions of this bill exactly," the supervisor said, "we'd have to close the doors."

According to the law, referred to as

House Bill 5044, townships and cities could levy taxes only on the assessed valuation (AV) without using the factor to account for market price changes since the last door-to-door assessment.

Given the factor of nearly three, the township would be facing a reduction in tax revenue near 60 percent.

"What's crazy about it is it lets the county, schools and parks use SEVs, but not cities or townships," one trustee said.

County tax officials are likely to solve the problem by simply multiplying assessments by the factor, taking that figure (which is normally the SEV) and assigning it as the property's AV, MacDonald said.

And that's why the issue demanded board action, MacDonald explained — the county officials wanted a letter from local officials agreeing to make the switch.

The other solution — individual appraisals of property throughout the county — would be impossible at this late date, they claimed.

By making the assessments equal to the SEVs, the tax officials would make the factors equal 1.0. And solve some rather vexing problems for local governments to boot.

As MacDonald explained, following the truth in assessment provisions to the letter would mean reducing the current township millage to roughly one-third its present rate.

The law provides for reducing millage to make taxes equal the levy on assessed valuation, not SEVs. The county's solution would result in no change in property tax bills from the current method of computation, and thus no loss of revenue locally.

Even the county alternative is not a bowl of cherries, however, and not a single board member supported it on its face. The change will require the mailing of a notice to each and every property owner. The county will print the notices, the township must process and mail them.

All that is expensive, township officials claim, and accomplishes little that could not be done by other means. Furthermore, they have had no opportunity to include the expense in their budgeting nor plan for the necessary manpower.

Township clerk Susan Heintz noted that many banks already are sending copies of paid tax bills to persons paying mortgages, thereby keeping the citizenry informed about the local tax impact just as thoroughly as the more complicated truth in assessment law requires.

Legislation making such notice from the mortgage holder required, Heintz suggested, would be a less costly way to get the same basic results.

The truth in assessment bill is said to have been motivated, at least in part, by the political concerns of state legislators entering an election year.

The legislators believe they are unjustly criticized for recent rapid increases in property taxes. They take pains to point out the state receives no property tax revenue — it is all done by local governments, including townships, cities, schools, counties and community colleges.

MacDonald said he believed this was the motivation behind the bill, which he called a "ploy" at the state level to respond to taxpayer anger at repeated failures to address property tax issues.

"We're not really happy with this, that's the bottom line," MacDonald said. "The question here is, do we send a letter to the county? Although we don't agree to the concept, by this act we have to send out these notices."

Heintz agreed that the bill seemed "very political" especially since its provisions applied only to cities and townships (tax collectors) and not schools (the biggest recipients of property tax dollars).

For next year's bills, a five percent increase would be acceptable without reverting to AVs under the bill. That would allow for a factor of 1.05. From then on, all tax bills would have to be applied on the assessed valuations.

The intent of some legislators, it was said, was to remove the confusing layer of assessment practices and counteract some of the inflationary spiral seen in home values in the recent past.

But, MacDonald and Heintz contend, that was not done. What was accomplished was the addition of another layer of work at the local level to be paid from local tax dollars. And that, they said, is why Representative Jack Kirksey and Senator Robert Geake voted against the bill, to no avail.

The impact of the legislation regarding last year's big issue — the equalization by class of property — was not yet clear. Assuming the county uses the same method of changing SEVs into AVs in accordance with inflation factors, it would appear the equalization by class would continue.

With one hitch — since tax bills would always show a factor of 1.0, the differences in the amount of increase (or decrease) on assessments for residential, industrial, agricultural and commercial properties would be nearly invisible without a close look into the county's assessing files.

Road treatments slated

Northville Township will participate with Wayne County in the application of calcium chloride treatments to unpaved roads this year, virtually the last time the service will be offered through the county.

The county road commission has traditionally offered to coordinate the application of chloride as an anti-dust measure twice each summer.

The latest contract, approved by the board of trustees last Thursday, would only supply one treatment in 1982 and no treatment of local roads in 1983, according to a letter from Gerald Dresselhouse, engineer of maintenance with the commission.

Treatment of county roads (major thoroughfares like Six Mile) is normally done by the county, but the township has to contract for application of chloride to such streets as Ridge and West Main.

Both those streets will be entirely the township's responsibility in 1983. The county will no longer arrange and coordinate the dust treatments.

The reduction in treatments this year means a 50 percent service cut from the county, but the township only purchased one treatment last year because of tight fiscal conditions.

Cost of the palliative contract is not yet established. The county solicits local government for commitment to participate so that it can seek bids for the amount of work to be done. If the township later decides the cost is too high, it can withdraw from the agreement or reduce the length of road to be treated.

Seniors get home repairs

A grant has been received by the City of Livonia, Department of Community Resources, from the Area Agency of Aging to provide minor home repairs for senior citizens living in Western Wayne County. This includes Northville senior citizens living south of Eight Mile.

Pat Clark, grant manager, may be called at 522-2710, for additional information.

As examples of the type of minor repairs to be fixed under the program she lists homes that are too cold because they are not insulated well or because the furnace is not working or that may have broken windows.

Faucet drips that increase water bills also qualify, she notes.

All repairs are done at no charge to the client.

Forgiveness

Dr. James Luther

"I can never forgive him." These are harsh words; yet, sadly they are often true. Benjamin Franklin once said: "Doing an injury puts you below your enemy; revenging one makes you even with him; forgiving sets you above him."

Eloquent words! You may agree; but perhaps you are still unable to forgive. The tragedy of an unforgiving spirit is the number of losers it produces. You lose, because bitterness keeps eating away inside and that affects your peace of mind. The object of your malice loses the blessing of your fellowship. The church loses the spirit of revival and power that comes when all its members are right with God and man.

If you know all this and still feel powerless to forgive, consider this solution in the Bible: "And be ye kind one to another, tender hearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you." (Ephesians 4:32)

If you have received Christ as your personal Savior, you are forgiven! Consider how much love and grace is involved in your forgiveness. You have never been wronged to the extent that you have wronged God, yet He has forgiven.

If you have never confessed your sin and received God's great forgiveness, do so at once. It is the first and most important step to the peace and joy experienced in forgiving others!

Township gets liquor license

Ah, the wonders of population growth. While the city fathers hope to glean a few more liquor licenses from the state on the assumption Northville qualifies as a "resort," out in the township the trustees are seeking an applicant for one additional license granted due to increased population.

Moreover, the township is not likely to grant that license anytime soon, while if the city got one, it would probably take less than a month before it was snapped up.

The Liquor Control Commission (LCC) notified the township early this year that one additional Class C license (allowing full service of liquor, beer and wine) was available as a result of 1980 census results. It also supplied a list of eight applicants for a license in the township.

Accordingly, township officials have written all the applicants to let them know a license is available.

Clerk Susan Heintz said at least one person has been waiting for nine years.

But Supervisor John MacDonald and Trustee James Nowka made clear the township's intent is not to award the license to the first taker.

"I see no great rush," said MacDonald. "I just want to contact people to see if anyone has a really good proposed use for the thing. I do not foresee immediate granting of the license."

Nowka backed taking a similar tack.

"I think we ought to hold out for a really quality development," Nowka said. "It shouldn't go just to anything, I think we have to look for something really worthwhile."

At some future date, Heintz said, the township will schedule a public hearing regarding the available license and potential uses. If and when the board chooses to award the license, it must notify the LCC promptly, she noted.

At Monday night's city council meeting, council members noted in their correspondence a resolution from the City of Southgate requesting the Legislature to approve beer and wine licenses for that city's restaurants.

It stated that it does not appear that Southgate's population will increase to qualify for additional liquor licenses needed "for the economic well being of the local restaurant owners."

Northville's council agreed that such a license would benefit establishments like Genitti's and Elizabeth's, but City Manager Steven Walters said he did not feel there would be any action on Southgate's resolution because there was no accompanying legislation pending at the moment.

He suggested it would be better to try to persuade a local legislator, such as Jack Kirksey, to introduce such legislation but warned that in the past any such attempt had been killed by lobbyists as bar owners perceived it as a threat to their businesses.

To date the city has heard nothing regarding its request for a resort liquor license.

City okays dance permit

Mayor Paul Vernon told Rea that the bar "seems a totally different place (since Rea took over) and that you have succeeded in improving the way it is run."

He questioned Rea to be sure the intent was not to have entertainment, such as professional dancers, and was assured this was not part of a dance permit.

Vernon, Ayers and Paul F. Follino voted to approve the permit while J. Burton DeRusha and G. Dewey Gardner voted against it. Initially, DeRusha made a motion to disapprove the dance permit, and it failed by a 2-3 vote.

DeRusha explained his vote by noting that he was "reluctant to have a bar operation in the Central Business District and, in keeping with this thinking, I do not like to see an undesirable use as a bar expanded."

Follino, noting that Police Chief Rodney Cannon had recommended against granting the dance permit, questioned the chief on the basis of the recommendation and was told it was because of code violations, not in terms of the background of the bar operation.

Cannon said he didn't feel the bar operation was a problem and had no objection to granting the request when all the fire marshal violations were remedied. This was made part of the motion.

Fire Marshal recommendations which Rea said were being complied with included installation of an exit sign, removal of curtains and padlocking security bolt in open position.

The liquor control commission routinely asks approval of the council when it receives such an application.

Illnesses, accident take toll

The word "jinx" has been heard more than once around township hall and the police station in the past few months.

Ill and injured employees are beginning to rival the hale and hearty for numbers.

Township police patrolman Kevin Eves, injured while serving at an auto accident December 28, is still off work and not due to return for several weeks.

Eves suffered back, neck and leg injuries when struck by a passing automobile at the accident scene. Eves and a driver from the original accident were struck by the passing car while they stood at the shoulder of the road.

While the department was still trying to rearrange schedules, officer John Sherman fell on ice, tearing a ligament in his hand. It was immobilized Monday and he was to be off work for several days.

Sprinkler system soaks Terrace tenants

For the second Tuesday in a row, Allen Terrace senior citizen residents yesterday were aroused by a fire alarm set off by a sprinkler malfunction that caused flooding in the building.

About 9:30 a.m. Tuesday the main lobby as well as two apartments were flooded as a sprinkler head broke.

A week ago on January 12 a similar break in a sprinkler head in the attic area flooded a fourth floor apartment, causing evacuation of the tenant.

Tuesday Manager Fran Yoakam said two other tenants were being moved with their belongings from the flooded apartments.

Praising the cooperation of the city fire department, tenants and employees in helping, she admitted that "we're still guessing at this point" about the cause of the re-occurring sprinkler malfunction.

She said she thought this was the third such break and that "each time we think we have it corrected."

She added that fire inspectors, city officials, the contractor, sprinkler supply firm and the city's insurance company all have been investigating the problem.

Monday City Manager Steven Walters had been asked about the previous Tuesday's malfunction. At that time he said he understood the sprinkler system which operates with a dry compressor somehow had water in the system which, with freezing, broke the sprinkler head.

He reported that the angle of the line had been adjusted for better drainage and hoped that it was correcting the situation.

The alarm system at Allen Terrace sounds automatically when water flows in the sprinkler system.

Yoakam explained that she and other building officials at that time do not know if there is a fire or a sprinkler fault; so tenants are evacuated. It is a rule established by city council that all tenants must vacate the building whenever the alarm sounds.

Walters yesterday said, "It's hard to understand how the building has gone through three winters without this problem," as he speculated whether the blame lies with weather conditions or sprinkler system design or installation failure.

He noted that the sprinkler installation was part of the senior citizen apartment complex construction as it represented an insurance saving to the city of between $25,000 and $30,000.

The sprinkler breaks have caused damage to the apartments, to the building insulation and to the dry wall construction. Walters stated yesterday he is sure the insurance company will be pursuing the cause.

Ford plant still open

national bargaining team." Modos, his footsteps echoing off the walls of the plant as he walked past row-upon-row of now silent machinery, cast a glance around, noting the splintered concrete pad where a machine was torn from its foundations for transport to another Ford plant, and spoke in optimistic tones.

"All they have to do is give us the word and we will be producing valves, shipping out the door, in 90 days," he said. "We haven't gone beyond the point of no return just yet."

For one thing, he noted, the elaborate new Bendix machinery installed in the plant in 1978 at a cost of $1.5 million is, as yet, unclaimed by any other Ford plant.

Most of what has been taken away went to the Dearborn engine plant or to a Ford facility in Cleveland, he said. Very little of it would be lost permanently if there is new life for Northville valve.

Modos said he was disappointed at the decision to close, since his opinion was that Northville could have been "a model plant" for some of the company's efforts.

"We've had our differences on the line," Modos said, "but generally this place had the best set of workers I've seen in the company. If a guy here saw something wrong, he fixed it. And they were always looking for better ways to do things, to improve productivity. That's what the company's trying to get at other plants now." In part, he noted, one of the plant's great assets was an experienced, trained work force with many employees with 20 or more years at the plant. It pains him, he said, to have to write job recommendation letters for those men, for he thinks the company loses a great deal when they leave.

"Who knows," Modos said, "there are a lot of other parts we could build here. If they just gave us the word. Engine back plates, something could go in the space we haven't used since the exhaust (valve) line shut down."

In the meantime, Fultz is warning that Ford's supplemental unemployment benefit fund (SUB), which augments regular unemployment for laid off workers, is fast going broke. Sometime in February, he warned, employees with less than 10 years seniority will lose SUB benefits, those with 10-20 years seniority will receive a 20 percent cut in benefits and only those with more than 20 years service will continue to collect at regular rates.

The major layout of valve plant workers was last April, so regular unemployment benefits have run out for many, Fultz related. "A lot of those guys are only getting SUB, and the younger guys are going to be in real trouble when it stops."

That supplies at least some of the impetus as the union continues negotiations this week with both Ford and General Motors, trying to reach a contract settlement before the deadline this Saturday that will create or save jobs, he said.

Our Opinions

Let's return to education

The three-year extended teacher contract ratified last Monday by the Northville Education Association and the board of education should be the catalyst needed to get the Northville Public Schools back on track in the upcoming school year.

The two parties are to be commended for reaching an agreement so early in the year and maintaining what one official termed "labor peace." There's no doubt that now — more than ever — stabilization is needed in the Northville schools.

By extending the current contract, Northville has been spared the agonizing and often bitter negotiations process which would have taken place next September — saving not only time normally devoted to educating students but expense as well.

Prolonged disputes over unsettled contracts can be devastating to schools districts both financially and morally. There are few who will forget the strife which accompanied the last contract negotiations in September, 1979, when teachers staged a seven-day strike.

The efforts of the NEA and school administrators in formulating an acceptable agreement peacefully and quickly indicate that perhaps the tumultuous times the district has experienced in this past year are coming to a close. We hope this is true and that the Northville schools once again will be able to focus attentions on education.

The extended contract ratified last Monday is by no means as generous as in previous years. And it shouldn't be. The six percent salary adjustment for the 1982-83 school year is in our estimate adequate — especially in light of the current economic difficulties facing the district.

However, the formula established for teacher salary schedules in the 1983-84 and 1984-85 school years leaves the district, in our opinion, in a vulnerable position. The salary schedule, based on a ranking system with 17 other districts including Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Plymouth, puts Northville in a 10th rank position.

According to the extended contract language, salary schedules for Northville teachers will remain at the 10th ranking in comparison with the 17 other school districts. In essence, Northville has deadlocked teacher salaries at their current ranking leaving the other districts to negotiate salary adjustments.

While this contract provision is intended to provide financial protection to the district in the event that the economy does not improve, Northville has lost considerable control over its own negotiations.

Should the economy improve within the next few years and negotiations maintain their current levels, economic protections will be provided for teachers. If this should be the case, it is our hope that Northville can afford such economic protections without asking taxpayers for additional millage.

Let's hope that with a three-year contract wrapped-up and a three-year millage renewal approved that Northville schools once again will be able to get back to the basics — educating students.

The Fourth celebration is only one of the reasons city council and the Jaycettes (the Jaycee Auxiliary) are honoring our local Jaycees this week. Jaycette President Michele Buelow lists other activities, including the Walk for Mankind; remembering youngsters at Plymouth and Hawthorn centers at Christmastime in the Toys for Tots program; and contributions to local civic programs.

In honor of all they've done, the Jaycettes officially are honoring the local Jaycees this week and are saying "thank you." It is an earned tribute.

Thanks, Jaycees

Thinking of the Fourth of July is rather pleasant in the midst of a January deep freeze. It also is appropriate during Jaycee Week — January 17-23. Northville Jaycees work annually to make Northville's Independence Day celebration of a magnitude that has drawn statewide notice.

The parade with clowns, floats, dignitaries and bands draws hundreds of watchers, beginning a day of Mill Race fun that lasts until night falls and the Jaycees' fireworks light up the sky. The festivities that take months of planning have brought credit to the local Jaycees and recognition of their willingness to work for their community.

Off the record

By John Myers

Media hype's not so super

Sunday's Super Bowl XVI contest between the upstart San Francisco 49ers and equally upstart Cincinnati Bengals at the Pontiac Silverdome is the biggest thing to hit Michigan since Henry Ford invented the automobile.

Well, at least it seems that way with all of the media information landing on my desk hyping professional football's biggest extravaganza.

Currently, we're in the middle of Michigan's Super Week for Michigan's Super, the slogan for the event. Many events have been planned for this week, with the best yet to come. For example, there is a Super Drink, a Supercrawl, a Super Ball (?), a Winterfest, a beauty pageant, and other "super" things to do. Also, there has been super entertainment info and super facts for my perusal to pass along to the readers. I think it does mention somewhere a game (?) for the World Championship of pro football will be played Sunday.

All of this has become "super" ridiculous in the eyes of this sportswriter and it's starting to make me sick every time I hear the word "Super" in relation to the Super Bowl.

Truthfully, I was really excited about the prospects of Michigan hosting a Super Bowl when it was announced about three years ago.

What a great way to get people to realize winter is not all that bad. Also, the prospect of $60 million in revenues is another big plus, especially with the depressed economy the entire state is feeling.

Now, only days away from the game itself, some of the esteem I once held for the game and the events has diminished. So much so, I can't wait for the whole thing to get over.

The problem was I did not realize the hyping for such an event can get so outrageous at times. The two major metropolitan daily newspapers, for two weeks, have been bombarding us with information about the teams and events surrounding the game.

I realize that is part of the media's job, especially the host city's, to inform people of the teams playing the game and what events will be transpiring during the week.

Even this paper has printed articles to let our readers know what events have been planned, so they can choose to participate in anything they wish. That is a responsibility the media has to its readers, and it should not be ignored.

It is just that the media hyping tends to go overboard sometimes which can turn some people off instead of lifting a person's excitement for the Super Bowl.

When I get right down to it, the thing that bothers me the most is how every event the Michigan Host Committee has planned tries to use the word "Super" in some fashion.

Also, the hype and hoopla put in press releases get to be rather irritating.

Let me show you what I mean:

One of the press releases has the words "Super Facts" written across the top five times. Another title has "Supercrawl kicks off Michigan's Super! week". Still another has "Winterfest at Pine Knob: Michigan's Super! Wonderland".

Get the idea.

The Michigan Host Committee's intentions are all well and good. The Committee is just trying to do its job and, hopefully, well enough that the top executives in pro football again will award another Super Bowl to Pontiac.

It was a great accomplishment to get this Super Bowl, the first at a cold-weather site, when all previous 15 Super Bowls have been at warm-weather sites.

If, by chance, Pontiac is awarded another Super Bowl, hopefully, all of this "Super" overkill will not be repeated.

By the way, if you're a bettin' person, take Joe Montana and the San Francisco 49ers. Montana has proven over and over he can win the clutch ballgames just when his team looks as if it is going to lose.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

I read the Observer-Eccentric (O&E) papers each week not just because they're owned by the same company which owns this paper, but also because I believe events in Southfield, Farmington and Plymouth, etc., provide insight into what will happen out here in a couple of years.

People who know me are aware I have an obsession about doing everything I can as editor of a suburban newspaper to make our communities better than other communities.

That's why I read the O&E papers. The communities they cover have done a lot of things right, but they've also made some mistakes. So I read the O&E papers to pick up information that hopefully will enable our communities to improve on what has been done right and avoid what has been done wrong.

All of which brings me to the January 14 edition of the Farmington Observer. The lead story says merchants at the Downtown Farmington Center are unhappy with a proposal to develop a convenience commercial center at the corner of Nine Mile and Farmington — less than one mile from downtown.

The Downtown Farmington Center, located at the Grand River/Farmington Road intersection, was shocked recently with news that the T.G.&Y Store is closing after two decades of operation. Other tenants in downtown Farmington are being lost, according to the story, and the continued tenancy of Sanders, A&P and the Michigan Bell Bell Phone Center are in question. Plus, the Cunningham Drug Store in the shopping center at Grand River and Moony also is closing soon.

To top it off, it has been announced that the Farmer Jack store at Farmington and State Street will move to the proposed shopping center on the outskirts of town if the rezoning is approved.

One disgruntled downtown merchant pointed out that there are nine existing strip centers within a three-mile radius of downtown. "Once you kill the downtown, you kill the city," he said.

The developers of the new shopping center disagree with him. But I don't. I think he's right. And for proof, I need only look at what the suburbs have done to Detroit which once served as our "downtown" — on a grand scale, of course.

School board pay policies criticized, cuts advised

To the Editor:
Our school board has done it again! Do they live in Michigan? Do they have a TV, radio, or do they read the newspapers?

If they do and still insist on increasing wages and benefits for our teachers, then I believe they must be walking around about a quart low and feel their elevators are not capable of reaching the top floor.

The board would have been extremely generous by simply extending the current contract without any decreases. What makes our teachers worth more than the taxpayers who have taken or are faced with wage and benefit cuts in order to have a job.

I guess I don't understand the favor the board has done for me by setting this contract way ahead of time and telling me what a good deal it is. They betrayed the voters by giving the "Fat Cats" at the top a raise and now they feel compelled to satisfy the teachers with raises way ahead of time to avoid the economic climate at the end of the contract which would dictate wage increases.

I would feel better if the board would say to the teachers that their current contracts will be renewed with a 10 percent decrease in salary, and the loss of an equal amount in benefits to be determined. I can assure you that 80 percent would be agreeable and let the other 20 percent walk. There are a lot of highly qualified teachers (and administrators) who would be lined up for a job at the new rate.

After cries of cuts for our children many chose to vote for the compromised millage only to find themselves ripped off. It's pure blackmail, using our children for their own common "greed." Voters, I hope, will never forget what a good deal you got.

School board, please tell us what you have done for our children, or do you even care.

A frustrated taxpayer

To the Editor:
EDITOR'S NOTE: This is a copy sent to The Record of a letter directed to the Office of the Superintendent of School Lawrence J. Nichols.

We just received your letter relative to the seven points relative to your contract, salary schedule increase, improvement in the existing dental insurance program and modest vision care program.

To say we are outraged is putting it mildly! Where do you people get the gall to increase your status when so many people are laid off and others being asked to make concessions to keep their jobs.

Our school portion of our 1981 tax bill is now just under $2,000.

What will you ask us to contribute next — or take from the children in the schools — to justify your "goodies."

Very truly yours,

Thanks sent for help given Terrace tenant

To the Editor:

With your permission, I wish to publicly thank all those who showed their love, concern and understanding to my wife's mother, Mary Ayanian, whose apartment at Allen Terrace was destroyed by accidental water damage last Tuesday, the result of a defective sprinkler head coupled with an internal problem in the compressor pressurized sprinkling system.

The damage to her apartment was extensive, but the damage to her personal belongings was very minimal, thanks to the speedy action displayed by the men of Northville's Fire Department headed by Chief Jim Allen.

They immediately found the cause of the problem, shut the sprinkling system down, but at the same time covered her furniture with a tarpaulin, or removed to drier grounds some of her belongings and kept encouraging and assuring her that she'd be all right.

And they were correct because, when it became apparent that living in the apartment would be impossible, Fran Yoakum of the terrace administration unlocked the door to a vacant apartment on the same floor and with the help of firemen, resident neighbors and the staff of Allen Terrace she was moved into her new living quarters within two hours.

Her neighbors, those beautiful senior citizens, moved like bees carrying her clothing and foodstuffs and helped to rearrange her new apartment, and every time they passed by her words of endearment were expressed and here was more huggin' and kissin' going on than on General Hospital.

On behalf of Mary Ayanian, I express to all of you — firemen, residents, staff and administration of Allen Terrace — my most sincere appreciation, heartfelt thanks, and gratitude.

A traumatic experience turned out to be an outpouring of love, and your thoughtfulness, cooperation, and deeds will never be forgotten.

God bless you, one and all.

Jaycees' work praised, accomplishment cited

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the Northville Jaycees:

Thank you, Jaycees, for all the good things you've done for our community and all mankind.

People are just a little happier, a little healthier and maybe a little wiser because of the efforts you've made.

Here in Northville you've brought smiles to our faces with the Fourth of July parade, and the spectacular fireworks.

You've helped Jerry's Kids fight Muscular Dystrophy. Project Concern hospitals all over the world can teach and heal many more children because you cared enough to run the Walk for Mankind.

Christmas is for kids and you saw to it that children at Plymouth Center and Hawthorn weren't left out. Toys for Tots and Christmas trees and Santa visits all helped give those children a better holiday.

We're proud of you and of what you've done while you're learning and growing to become the leaders of tomorrow. We've gained immeasurably from your efforts.

We wish you the best and hope to see you swell your wings to give more young men the opportunity to grow and learn and give as you do.

Service to humanity is the best work of life!

Post office defended, press attitude blasted

To the Editor:

Ah, we are at it again. Let's get the Post Office. After all, the price of stamps are going up, and we've all had a piece of misdelivered mail in our mailbox at one time or another.

But let's take time to think about the mail carrier that carries dog biscuits for man's best friend, the many letters that come in with incorrect addresses that ARE delivered, the people stuck in snow that are pushed out, the mail carrier that buys stamps for people and delivers them the next day, or ringing the doorbell to deliver a letter or check that is anxiously being awaited.

In the January 6 edition of The Northville Record it was reported that 90 percent of the residents received their mail (while the community was "digging out") in spite of the heavy snow. This is something to commend!

The Northville Post Office handles approximately 60,000 pieces of mail A DAY during the winter months. The carriers do not have a "return to sender attitude."

If anything, it's a feeling of exasperation at the bad press they get.

Next time you're sitting inside on a cold snowy day with a hot cup of coffee reading your mail, think about the mail carrier trudging along those not always shoveled sidewalks.

I don't live in Northville. However, I have a vital interest in your P.O. My husband is a mail carrier there.

Recreation links to township discussed

The township agenda has a spot set aside for department heads to come to make a comment, criticism or speak on whatever happens to be on their mind, Nowka said.

"There really hasn't been that tight a relationship between the recreation director and the township," Nowka added.

He sees the department head report time as an opportunity to better public relations and explain what has transpired in the recreation department.

"It's my intention to try to prevail upon Ed to attend once in a while," Chairman L. T. Sylvestre said.

"Even if he is not not going to be there, have a letter read or something like that. It's (recreation program) funded to the tune of approximately $60,000, and probably more this year, and I think that is worth a visit," Nowka said.

Both Sylvestre and Mittman suggested it would be a time for Kritzcs to report how registrations are going or to state what objectives have been accomplished.

However, Bingley saw things in a much different light, which brought about some heated discussion.

"You're (township board) not sitting him (Kritzcs) there to set him up. Every time we've been out there it's been a set up. I kid you not," Bingley said forcefully.

"No, no, not really," Sylvestre responded. He explained at the first township meeting he attended the commission voiced its desire to have someone, if at all possible, at every meeting.

"I answered a few innocuous questions from the members of the board and that was it. I asked for questions from the audience and didn't receive any."

"I certainly didn't feel I had been set up," Sylvestre added.

"Well, every time I've been out there at township hall I feel that everything is cut and dry before I ever walk in there. I kid you not. Especially this last time I went out to request a $10,000 loan and they wouldn't even consider it. They wouldn't even pass a motion on it. They just denied it...never even thought about it," Bingley said.

Watts added there has been some friction for a long time between the township and recreation department. She said some of it was preconceived by the people involved.

However, Watts suggested the three township representatives on the commission try to attend the board meetings as well as urging Kritzcs to attend.

Sylvestre explained the board told him they get the impression Kritzcs does not want to attend the board meetings because someone will take pot shots at him and that is not the purpose.

Although it is hard to determine what kind of meeting the township will have, Sylvestre added it would be the responsibility of the township supervisor to make sure no one takes pot shots at Kritzcs.

In all, Nowka said he thinks it is a good opportunity to promote some public relations, and, he added, such reports would benefit the township.

In other business, Sylvestre gave a report to the commission that some improvements will have to be made at Thomson Field this year. Among the items in need of repair or painting are the fence between Thomson and Lapham fields, the concession stand and the sign at the field entrance from Beck Road.

Also, the operation of the concession stand at Thomson field was discussed. Sylvestre said he has talked with the Northville High School junior class to see if it would like to run it in order to raise funds for class use. He added the recreation department would get a certain percentage, though, of the profit for use of the stand.

"I hate like hell not to see the facility utilized," Sylvestre said.

Concerning the Ski Club, Booster Club President Wade Deal said he would like to see the Club's skiing date changed from Friday nights to Saturday nights in order that more students can attend Friday night high school athletic contests.

Although he is for the success of the Ski Club, Deal said he would like students to be able to attend both events. He and Ayers agreed the students should not be forced to make a choice between the two events.

Deal said he realizes the change cannot be made for this year, but asked if something could be done for next year. He said he has talked with Kritzcs about it.

In addition, the commission wants to find out if the recreation department can obtain its own mailing permit. Currently, the recreation department uses the city's bulk mailing permit, and Ayers said that may cause some hard feelings in the township. She was told by members of the commission Kritzcs has tried to obtain a mailing permit for the recreation department, but has been unsuccessful.

She suggested the recreation department should use the city's mailing permit for six months and then the township's the remaining six months.

Police Blotter

Three thefts, including Cadillac, reported at Downs

the city...

There were three separate theft reports from Northville Downs in the week, city police report. A 1977 Cadillac Eldorado, valued at $9,000, was stolen from the Downs parking lot sometime January 13, police said.

A $1,000 IBM typewriter and $60 cash was stolen from an office at the Downs between January 8 and 11. Police said the door to the office was kicked in and three cabinets were pried open. One of the cabinets contained the cash box, which was found lying on the floor, the report said.

A jogging cart, worth $600, was stolen while it was parked in front of a barn between January 11 and 13, police said.

A breaking and entering at a Doris Court residence between January 6 and 14 netted thieves two gold chains valued at $350, police reports said.

A two-car accident January 11 resulted in three persons being treated at Novi's Providence Hospital, police report.

Daniel Roach, 20, Rochester, was ticketed for failure to yield. He was kept overnight for observation at Providence before being released. Martha Braunstein, 26, Novi, a passenger in Roach's car, and David Chapman, 34, of South Lyon, driver of the other car, were treated and released at Providence.

The report said Roach turned left into the car driven by Chapman, who was traveling through the intersection on a green light. Two Harper Woods policemen witnessed the accident while waiting at a red light, the report states.

...In the township

More than 200 red bricks were stolen from the yard of a Haggerty Road schoolhouse January 14, township police reports show.

Hospital escapes decline in December

Of 45 escapees reported in Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital in December, 1981, 28 were turned within the month, according to the monthly report prepared by the township police department.

Police Chief Kenneth Hardesty, reporting to the board of trustees, said that his department apprehended five of the walkaways, none of whom were involved in criminal activity.

Township police officers spent a total of one hour, 22 minutes assisting hospital security forces during the month, his report stated.

As of December 31, therefore, 1981 saw 580 escapes, 426 of whom were returned, with 40 escaped persons reported "at large." The remainder were reclassified as released at some point.

The figures compiled by the police department do not match those tallied by the hospital (which does not keep the same sort of count) but, Hardesty indicates, are more accurate for police purposes. Police records, he explains, often do not correspond with the needs of the mental health system.

Some of those listed as escapees, for instance, never left hospital grounds, or never left the sight of pursuing security forces.

Even by the township's accounting, however, December showed less than half the walkaway rate of late summer and early fall. Figures from that time showed a walkaway rate of two and three per day (vigorously denied by hospital director John Reynolds on the basis of the accounting differences).

The reduction was attributed in part to cold weather and snow, and levels at the hospital also to increased staffing since summer.

Be on the lookout — Girl Scout cookie sale's Friday

Cookie samplers

Brownie Lisa Weidenbach, left, and Junior Girl Scout Michelle Mears sample a few of the cookie varieties which will be sold by area Girl Scouts beginning this Friday. Scouts will be taking orders for all the favorites including Thin Mints, Shortbreads, Peanut Butter Patties, Sandwich Cremes, Old Fashion Oatmeal and Carmel Delites. Cookie orders will be taken through February 12 — so be on the lookout. Record photo by John Galloway.

If one of your New Year's resolutions was to cut out the sweet stuff — forget it. Beginning Friday, scores of green-clad Girl Scouts will be ringing doorbells throughout Northville to take orders for the annual cookie sale.

Northville troops will be offering all the favorites including Thin Mints, Shortbreads, Peanut Butter Patties, Sandwich Cremes, Old Fashion

Oatmeal, Peanut Butter Sandwiches and Carmel Delites (formerly known as Sumores).

Cookie orders will be taken until February 12 and will be delivered March 1-16.

Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, which includes Northville, is hoping to sell 550,000 boxes of cookies which will mean a profit to the Girl Scouts of $440,000.

Of the total profits, $302,500 will go to the Council and $137,500 will be used for troop projects.

At $1.50 per box, Girl Scouts ages 9-17, will be selling almost 110 boxes of cookies each to make their goal.

The cookie sale is the only Council fund-raising project and makes up 45 percent of the Council's annual budget.

Girl Scout cookie sales represent 5.2 percent of all the cookies sold in the United States. Locally GS cookies are made by FFV-Interbake in Battle Creek. All cookies are made to meet Kosher requirements.

Northville residents who may miss their local Girl Scout at order time should contact Beth Wisely of 624 Reed Court at 348-6931.

Helen Milliken's gourmet club guest

By JEAN DAY

When Jeanne Hubbard found that Michigan's First Lady Helen Milliken was going to be her luncheon guest last Wednesday, one thing she didn't worry about was her menu. Through a chain of circumstances, the governor's wife joined Mrs. Hubbard's gourmet club for the meal featuring Chef Heinz Menguser's Croute de Volaille Juliane, a French recipe with chicken and ham in puff pastry.

As national co-chair of ERAmerica, Helen Milliken was to be in Plymouth last Wednesday to tape a Cable 13 television interview for Ann Arendsen's new program. Michigan ERAmerica co-chair Laura Callow was the interviewer of the First Lady who is known for her strong, candid support for the Equal Rights Amendment. She was asked to be on the show when she was in Plymouth last fall speaking to the local League of Women Voters on the Equal Rights progress.

When Mrs. Milliken agreed, saying she would speak on the subject any time, the arrangements were made. Ann Arendsen then asked her Plymouth neighbor if she would like to watch the taping. Since that was Sharon Flower's day to meet with the gourmet group, the invitation was extended to all — and Ann, Laura and Helen Milliken were asked to join the luncheon party at the Hubbard home in Shadbrook.

"I'd love to have her again — she was a delightful, down-to-earth guest," reports Mrs. Hubbard, echoing the comment reported last week that Mrs. Milliken "should run for senator."

Mrs. Milliken's official driver brought her directly to Northville for the luncheon. Luncheon was easy, Jeanne Hubbard adds, because the eight-member group has a format developed through four years of adventurous dining. There are four planners for each luncheon who assist with the menu preparation. Northville members are Mrs. Hubbard, Prudy Vannier (former Newcomers Club president), Joyce Stolberg and Carol Richardson. Plymouth members are Mrs. Flower, Jan Crook, Sue Decker and Peg Jennings (only member who couldn't make last week's party.) Another guest last week was Kris Reid, completing the group of 11.

The Helen Milliken-Laura Callow interview is being shown on the cable channel at 11 a.m. and 9 p.m. daily all this week. Ann Arendsen adds that she is seeking people to be on her seven-week old show and expects to have Congressman Carl Pursell next week. She asks anyone interested in promoting a cause or interest to write her at Box 452, Plymouth. Last week Ming (Louie) the Magnificent, a Northville magician, was featured.

Governor appoints Bev McAninch

An announcement from the Executive Office in Lansing on January 12 listed Beverly Dippel McAninch of South Sheldon Road (Plymouth) as one of Governor William Milliken's 15 appointees to the Energy Awareness Advisory Committee. The 56-member committee is an expansion of the former Energy Month Committee.

Currently president of the Michigan League of Women Voters, Mrs. McAninch is a past president of the local league.

Nancy Weidner's silver trophy winner

Nancy Weidner exhibits winning form on Fitzgerald's Lovely Gem

As she was growing up in Northville, Nancy Weidner always told her parents that she wanted a horse. After she received her degree in marketing from Michigan State University and began working, she saved her money to realize the desire years later — buying Fitzgerald's Lovely Gem, a three-gaited pleasure horse.

Now, in only her second year of exhibiting, she is a top winner. On January 9 at the Michigan Horse Show Association's 1981 Awards Banquet at the Ann Arbor Holiday Inn West she was awarded a silver trophy inscribed with the Michigan Horse Show Association logo for American Saddlebred Pleasure Driving Championship.

She also placed as an adult rider of a three-gaited pleasure horse.

On November 7 at the American Saddle Horse Association of Michigan 1981 Awards Banquet she received the Champion Saddlebred Pleasure Driving Reserve award and the ASHAM's Reserve Championship for three-gaited Pleasure.

The winner of blue ribbons and other high point ribbons now can add the silver trophy to the growing collection.

A 1973 graduate of Northville High, she is office coordinator for Green Ridge Nursery in South Lyon. Fitzgerald's Lovely Gem is boarded in South Lyon.

She and her mother Mrs. William Weidner are long-time Northville residents and now live in Kings Mill.

Nancy Weidner has been reelected to a three-year term on ASHAM's board of directors. Her responsibilities include operation of a telephone referral service directing prospective buyers of Saddlebreds to horses for sale.

the winter blahs." Members will learn to assemble floral arrangements for their homes in a demonstration at 4 p.m. this Thursday with some lucky newcomers going home with centerpieces created.

Reservations open today for two February events. Members and alumni are invited to hear Sandy Pallas of Plymouth speak on astrological sun signs (giving insight into the coming year) at lunch at Steak and Ale in Plymouth February 10. Reservations with three menu choices at $6.75 are being taken until February 3 by Marge Rousseau, 348-1804.

A couples' special games bowling party will be held at 9 p.m. February 13 at Northville Lanes. Various fun games are scheduled and ability to bowl is not a requirement — in fact, sheer lack of coordination may be a benefit, say planners. Three games of bowling, beer, wine, pop and pizza are included in the $12.50 per couple. Diana Kunz, 420-0929, is taking reservations until February 4.

Mrs. Sweet adds that those who have lived in the Northville School District for five years or less and would like membership information should call Chairman Ellen Van-Noord, 348-8726. New members now may join for the half-year membership fee.

Plan on pancakes for supper February 12

Hundreds of pancakes will be flipped at the annual Northville Mothers' Club pancake supper scheduled from 5:30-7:30 p.m. Friday, February 12, in the high school cafeteria.

The benefit event will precede the Farmington-Harrison basketball game. Assisting Joan Sellen, chairman, is Edie Pegrum. Tickets are available from members and will be sold at the door at $2.20 for adults and $1.50 for students.

Genealogical research meet set

A workshop to aid people in genealogical research will be sponsored tomorrow by the Detroit chapter of the American Historical Society of Germans from Russia (AHSGR).

The workshop is scheduled to begin at 7:45 p.m. in Room A-205 at Lawrence Tech located at Ten Mile at the Lodge Freeway. The public is invited to attend.

Three specialists in family histories, Erma Tessmer of Mt. Clemens, Erma Rock of St. Clair and Leona Theeke of Plymouth will conduct the workshop.

"Although our chapter seeks to expand knowledge about German families of this area who trace their ancestry to Russia under Catherine the Great, this workshop should be helpful to anyone trying to develop their own family history," explained chapter historian Jack Hoffman of Northville.

AHSGR, headquartered in Lincoln, Nebraska, is one of the nation's fastest growing ethnic historical societies with members in all 50 states, Canada, South America and Europe.

The Detroit area group is the newest of the Michigan AHSGR chapters and meets monthly at Lawrence Tech. Members of the Detroit group include residents of Northville and Novi. Last year the local chapter hosted the national convention of AHSGR in Dearborn.

Anyone wishing additional information about AHSGR or the Detroit chapter should contact Jack Hoffman at 349-4094.

Margaret Johnson's 'parts' business serves heavy construction industry

By PHILIP JEROME

Located in the wide open spaces on Grand River Avenue, west of Novi Road, Wilkins Parts and Equipment Company does not enjoy the world's greatest exposure.

But, then, "exposure" is not that important to the success of the company.

"Actually, this is an ideal location for our type of business," says Margaret Johnson, owner of the company which now is into its third decade of providing service to the heavy construction industry.

"We're the only company of this type in this area, and everyone knows where we're located. I wouldn't want to be in a heavily congested area where there's lots of traffic."

"The advantage of this location is that there's lots of space for our customers to drive in and out in their diesel trucks and freight liners without having to worry about fighting traffic."

Wilkins Parts and Equipment should not be confused with the standard auto parts store. Although she may be able to provide a few basic automotive items, Johnson concedes that her stock of standard parts is somewhat limited.

"Our business is directed primarily toward the construction industry," reports Johnson. "We sell to industrial contractors for their off-the-road equipment — diesel trucks, earth movers, that kind of equipment.

"Our customers are people like the Kensington Corporation, Jutton-Kelly, C.F. Long, M&B Contractors and B&V Construction."

"But we have a lot of customers out-state and out-of-state, as well," she continues. "Ours is a very specialized business and it's hard for these contractors to get the parts they need unless they find a specialty equipment store down in Detroit."

"We have a pretty good stock of the types of items they need to keep their equipment running. And if we don't have it here, we can get it and get it out to them within 24 hours."

"Downtime is very costly to the type of customers we serve."

In addition to local contractors, other customers come from Livonia, Northville, Plymouth, Ann Arbor and Lansing.

The company also does a lot of work with municipalities and school districts, selling items essential to the operation of school buses, backhoes, etc.

One of the first questions that comes to mind when talking to Johnson is how did she get involved in a business which deals almost exclusively with the heavy construction industry.

Wilkins Parts and Equipment was started as a home business in Northville by Johnson and her late husband, Clarence "Johnny" Johnson, in 1959.

They purchased the Grand River parcel from Charles VanEvery, Sr., and Elmer Heichman in 1960 and opened the building in which they presently are located in 1961.

When her husband passed away in 1972, Johnson stepped in and assumed control.

"I came into the business not knowing that much about it except for book-keeping and accounts payable," she says.

"The question was whether I would keep it going or get rid of it. I decided to keep it going."

"I had to learn merchandising, management and sales, but I did it. I had a few problems along the way but I was fortunate to have some very good help and they kept things going nicely."

Among the longtime, loyal employees cited by Johnson are Frank Wiser, Charles Sewell and Audrey Ortwine.

"One of the gratifying aspects of this business," she continues, "is that we've retained most of the customers we had with us at the time my husband died and have grown considerably since then."

Although Wilkins Parts and Equipment has flourished since it was started as a home operation 23 years ago, Johnson admits that business is down considerably at the present time because of the economy.

"Our business goes the same way the construction business goes," she explains. "When the general contractors return to business and when they start building roads and sewer lines again, our business will go back up."

"One of the interesting things that happens when the general economy is down is that we seem to pick up a lot of smaller business," she continues. "People who push snow, for example, need nuts, bolts and hydraulic lines to keep their equipment operating."

"That type of business usually makes up for the slack time with the large contractors."

Johnson is confident the economy will improve and her contractor customers will return to building roads and installing sewer lines.

In the meantime, she says she's proud of Wilkins Parts and Equipment — proud that she and her employees have been able to make "something of a success out of it."

Margaret Johnson's parts business has unique clientele

Builders' Association to seek housing incentives

Officials of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM) have pledged to work toward improving the Michigan economy in hopes of spurring new home sales in 1982.

Herman Frankel, 1982 BASM president, said the state's largest builder group would "work with other businessmen, the labor union movement and local, state and national legislators to help lead Michigan to its rightful place as one of the most productive areas of the world."

Frankel said builders have a six-point action program designed to bring interest rates down and rescue all businesses from the economic problems they share.

The plan, relying on intense lobbying efforts of builder groups across the nation, includes the following summary points:

- Encourage further cuts in federal expenditures, leading to a balanced budget as soon as possible.
- Seek an extension for issuance of "All Savers Certificates."
- Urge replacement of the Federal Reserve Board's system of credit control with a more "selective" one.
- Seek reasonable regulation of "Money Market Funds."

• Push for enactment of the "Dole" Bill establishing special savings accounts with tax-exempt earnings for "first home" purchasers.

• Pushing for passage of the "Hatch" Bill to make pension funds more available for investment in home mortgages.

Looking ahead to the new home market in 1982, Frankel said local builders expect a slight, but gradual, increase in sales and a lowering of mortgage interest rates later in the year.

However, he stressed that buyers should not wait for interest rates to come down because "rising building costs will negate lowered finance costs in many cases."

"Prospective buyers can realize greater savings through below market financing available on existing new homes now," Frankel said.

"Many builders have commitments on 'buydown' or have standing inventory for sale on a land contract basis. The advantage is that many of these homes can be purchased at pre-1981 prices, reflecting the cost of materials at the time of construction."

For those who believe new housing is out of the question for the first-time home buyer with a limited income, Frankel pointed to recent programs by the Federal Housing Administration and the Michigan State Housing Development Authority to help many young homebuyers afford a "starter home."

"The demand for new homes that has been building since 1979 will begin to be realized this year," Frankel predicted, "as millions of baby boom children, most with the purchasing power of two-incomes, enter the market. As their demand rises, home prices surely will."

Business Briefs

THE SUNFLOWER HUT at Brookdale Plaza in South Lyon is offering free blood pressure checks on the third Saturday of each month. The next date is January 20 from noon to 2 p.m. The program was initiated in January.

Betty Lou Mitchell, owner of The Sunflower Hut, said Registered Nurse Suzanne Northrup of Dr. Edward Linkner's office in Ann Arbor will be doing the blood pressure checks. The public is invited to stop in and take advantage of the offer. There is no obligation to purchase merchandise.

THE C.S.M. COMPANY of Milford is offering a fresh-air cleaning device known as the "ionosphere."

The softball-shaped device ionizes the air in much the same way lightning does — without the devastation, of course.

It removes dust, smoke, pollen and even viruses and bacteria. Experiments with mice have found that survival rates among animal infected with "flu" virus were much greater in an ionized atmosphere than in ordinary air. Furthermore, old mice in an ionized atmosphere ran mazes as fast as young ones did that were in everyday air.

The C.S.M. Company has both home and commercial units available. Restaurants, bars and bingo halls find the commercial units profitable investments, according to a C.S.M. spokesman.

SECURITY BANK OF NOVI Assistant Vice president Paul Wilson (left) is at the head of a chain which resulted in the donation of $600 to the fight against Reyes Syndrome.

Security Bank of Novi was the sponsor of the second annual Run for Reyes earlier this year which raised money for the fight against the sometimes-fatal children's disease. The event was sponsored by Security Bank of Novi in conjunction with the Novi Parks and Recreation Department and the Novi Jaycees.

In the picture above, Wilson is handing over a check to Bill Scott of the Novi Parks and Recreation Department who in turn passes it to Novi Jaycee President Matt Quinn who in turn passes it over to Dana Allen, national representative of the Reyes Syndrome's Michigan Division.

JOSEPH VELKY of Novi has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Detroit Area Economic Forum — a group of business economists who meet monthly to discuss the business climate.

Members of the forum are called upon frequently by members of governmental agencies and the news media for information on economic trends.

Membership in the group is limited to 25 individuals who are admitted on the basis of invitations.

Velky is employed by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan as manager of health care research. He holds a BA from Michigan State University and a masters degree in economics from Wayne State University. He currently is a doctoral candidate at Wayne State.

MILLGARD CORPORATION of Livonia, one of the largest firms specializing in caisson and pile foundation construction, has acquired the assets and professional staff of Candler-Rusche, Incorporated, of Detroit, long a leader in the pile foundation industry, Austin Marshall, general manager of the Millgard Corporation, Pile Division, announces.

This acquisition serves to expand Millgard's Piling Division headed by Marshall as general manager. Fredric Rusche assumes the post of general superintendent and Thomas Candler becomes manager of estimating.

RICHARD SANDER of Northville has been named lease sales representative at the Toledo, Ohio, operation of Lend Lease, the truck rental and leasing arm of Household Finance Corporation with headquarters in Minneapolis.

He will be responsible for servicing existing accounts and developing new business. Sander is a seven-year veteran of the truck industry. Before coming to Northville, he was a resident of Cincinnati. Lend Lease based in Minneapolis operates a fleet of approximately 4,000 leased trucks from 50 locations throughout the United States.

RETIREMENT of William F. Hogg, the original superintendent of Bethlehem Steel Corporation's reinforcing bar fabricating shop in Detroit, has been announced in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, by Neal W. Merrill, general manager, manufacturing practices. Hogg is completing a career of more than 40 years with Bethlehem, including 27 as superintendent of the Detroit rebar shop.

A native of Roslyn, Pennsylvania, he received an associate degree in administrative accounting at Taylor Business School in 1941 and joined Bethlehem Steel's Philadelphia rebar fabricating shop as a clerk. He served in the U.S. Army Air Corps 1942-45, rising to the post of acting sergeant major of an air depot group in South Carolina. He was promoted to chief clerk at the Philadelphia shop on return at the end of 1945. Subsequently, he gained operational experience and helped in planning a "greenfield" fabricating shop in Detroit.

He was promoted from chief clerk to superintendent and transferred to Detroit in August 1954 to supervise construction of the new shop and begin operations.

He and his wife Evelyn plan to continue to work their 38-acre farm in the Northville area (Salem Township). They are parents of four adult children and four grandchildren. Hogg is a member of the Redford Township Chamber of Commerce. He has taught the seventh grade boys' Sunday school class at Calvary Baptist Church in Canton for 23 years and sings in the church choir. Previously, he was the congregation's treasurer for 12 years, financial secretary for eight years and served on the boards of both the elders and deacons.

State's jobless rate climbs

Michigan's jobless rate in December rose to a high of 14.4 percent, up from the November rate of 11.8 percent, according to estimates released by Michigan Employment Security Commission Director S. Martin Taylor.

The number of unemployed workers in Michigan rose by 106,000 during December to 627,000, Taylor said.

Total employment during the month dropped 159,000 to 3.724 million and the state's labor force was off 53,000 to 4.351 million.

Michigan's current jobless rate is up considerably from the year-ago level of 12.4 percent with 533,000 out of work.

The last time unemployment reached the current high level was July 1980 when the jobless rate also was 14.4 percent, Taylor said.

Taylor attributed the rise in unemployment to increased auto industry layoffs and low construction and retail employment. While retail sales were up during the holiday season, employment in the retail sector did not meet expected levels.

National unemployment figures were 8.9 percent during December, up from 8.4 percent in November.

Pent-up demand to lead to boom?

By TIM RICHARD

The housing boom of the 1980s won't be like the post-World War II housing boom that created suburbia.

"There's a fantastic demographic change going on," said Paul Robertson of Robertson Brothers and secretary of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM). "And there will be dramatic decreases in the sizes of houses."

Three builders talked of downsizing houses at an annual news conference Monday in the same way autos have been downsized since the inflation of oil prices. It was a marked change in time for the builders, whose new offerings each year have been steadily increasing in size.

"There are single-family 'starter' houses now for under $80,000," said Herbert Lawson of Abbey-Lawson Investment Company in West Bloomfield.

Lawson cited single-family houses in Chesterfield Township, Macomb County and condominiums in Clarkston, northern Oakland County.

"There's downsizing in every market," added Jack Saylor of Saylor Building Company. "The buyer of a 3,000 square-foot house is now buying 2,400 square feet...the buyer of a 1,600 square-foot house is buying 1,200 square feet."

Builders generally agree there is a pent-up demand for housing because of southeastern Michigan's continuing recession for the past two years. And they also foresee a boom in the '80s as the post-war "baby boom" kids born in the '50s come into the market.

Robertson outlined some of the "fantastic demographic changes."

It used to be that 43 percent of homeowners were traditional families with a working father and a mother who took care of the children. That traditional family is slipping to the 17 percent level.

In many households, both husband and wife will be working. Lenders are taking into account the working wife's income in judging the family's capacity to pay for housing.

There is even, Robertson quipped, a "mingles market" — unrelated single persons buying a house.

The number of bedrooms will decline, he said, because during the '70s the number of persons-per-household dropped from 3.3 to 2.75.

Suburban governments, often criticized in the past for large-lot zoning which forced construction of expensive houses, are becoming "more cooperative," said Robertson.

Another builder complaint of the past was absent — the lengthening of construction time due to local government inspection and regulation.

While local regulation hasn't become less onerous, Herman Frankel, BASM president, said it's no longer increasing at the same rate.

Robertson said there's even less regulation.

But Lawson didn't foresee any reduction of construction time once the booms gets going. "There will be shortages of materials," he said.

The labor situation got some attention at the annual news conference.

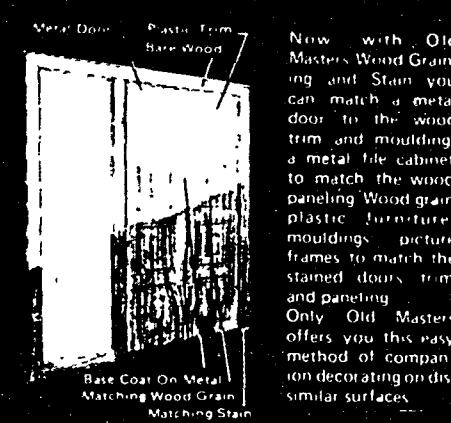

Some builders report the two-year recession has meant many building tradesmen have left the region for sunbelt jobs. They could not, however, say how many, nor could the builders predict whether the departures were permanent.

Irvin Yackness, BASM general counsel, said the organization has been meeting "for months" with trades unions to "seek ways and means of reducing labor costs."

"In the field, there's been a substantial reduction of costs. The cost of building is as low today as two years ago" despite general inflation, he said.

Contracts with the building trades expire early in summer, Yackness went on. "We anticipate the trades will ask for increases. But we are hopeful we can ask them to take the same approach as the auto unions to hold down costs."

Realtors offer home-buying tips

The Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR) will hold the first of its 1982 series of public homebuying seminars at the Livonia City Hall on Thursday, January 21, at 7:30 p.m.

Registration will be limited to the first 350 callers making reservations through WWOCBR at 478-1700. The seminar is offered at no charge.

Previous seminars over the past year have attracted nearly 1,200 people from throughout the metropolitan area. Each session features a panel of experts discussing such subjects as home affordability, methods of financing, working with Realtors, the buying process and the lawyer's role.

All participants receive a kit of background materials and the session is open to both written and oral questions.

WWOCBR President Lloyd Mason said the seminars are educational programs for potential buyers who may move into the market anytime within the next two years. "Early familiarization with the home buying process in a non-sales setting such as we provide will aid their planning and make them better shoppers when they are ready to make a move."

Mason said the main thrust of questions in previous sessions dealt with such areas as new financing options, mortgage qualifications guidelines and the establishment of a sound credit record.

The series of homebuyers' seminars presented by WWOCBR received the Michigan Association of Realtors' Outstanding Community Service Award for a large board.

"We were asked by several community education systems to stage this seminar as part of their local program," Mason said. "We also would welcome the opportunity to offer the seminar in 1982 in other communities within our board's 1,600 square mile territory.

"We undertook the program as a public service and will continue the series as long as the response remains high. The seminars are provided without cost to the community or audience.

"Officials interested in joining in sponsoring one in their community should contact our board headquarters in Farmington," Mason added.

poet's corner

Joe and Flo

There's a young man we know by the name of Joe
Who lives on Piety Hill,
And is ever on call to make things go
When it seems that they never will.

Who else would have done what he did with the bell
That hung in our cherished old church,
Or refinished the lectern that we love so well,
No matter how distant the search?

Folks will recall the times through the years
Of the helping hands freely given
By friends we all know as Joe and Flo,
And the many folk they have driven.

As a neighbor, he is ready to help in a pinch,
Like a water-line frozen and we're caught in a clinch;
Or a furnace is out and it's fifteen below
And we're all in a shiver and telephone Joe.

There's hardly a person who lives here still—
For a month or a year, who still doesn't know
The friends who live on Piety Hill,
Ever willing and ready, as are Joe and Flo.

As Joe's day draws near for another New Year,
We wish for him only the best,
And for Florence, too, with good health anew
May they forever be blessed!

A shopper's chagrin

"Cash or Charge?"
Cash, please.
(I wait for the magic wand
To pick up the lines of numbers on the sales ticket).
Beep, beep, bee-bee-beep.
I'm tired of shopping,
Aching to my knees.

I write my check —
Credit Card? No,
I gave those up, long ago.
Proof that I'm me?
Well, let's see here —
Drivers' license?
(With a photo that's an aberration)
How about my car registration?

Something ELSE?
How about
Birth Certificate (that's at home)
Marriage license? So is that.
Passport? Same place, drat.

The growing line begins to mutter
As I rummage through my purse's clutter.
"We could take your fingerprins, Ma'am"
(I nearly had a fit)
No thanks, my dear, just FORGET it.

Kit Henderson

The Best Time of the Year?

The snow is up to my kneecaps,
The wind's whistling by my ears.
Ah! But I do think winter
Is the best time of the year.

With the roaring, crackling fire,
Hot rum and toasts of good cheer.
How can anyone help but think winter
Is the best time of the year?

The skiing and skating and schussing,
The sledding and screaming with fear.
Oh! Everyone must think winter
Is the best time of the year.

Shoveling and stalling and scraping,
Falling and slipping and tears.
Well, there's some inconvenience
But it's still the best time of the year.

Frozen pipes, gas bills and blizzards,
Frostbite, flu time is here.
This was to be a tribute to winter,
But it's a crummy time of the year.

Swimming, sunshine and hayrides,
Flowers and bluebirds are here.
Ah! But I know now that summer
Is the best time of the year.!

The entrance

Passing from death
to life everlasting
Oh, what joy it is to know
Jesus, my savior loves me so
Joy and gladness fill my cup
Silently in death
my spirit rises up
Entrance into the Kingdom of God and love all divine
peace and contentment
truly are mine
Awaken my soul
this is your day
Awaken my soul
in God's presence forever to stay
The passing is sweet angels bow at my feet
music fills my heart and soul
Jesus my savior is the door
Yes, Jesus is the entrance to life evermore —

Buddy Dennis

Drive Carefully

We're told to regularly service our cars,
Check steering, lights and brakes,
To drive fifty-five
To stay alive
And keep the roads safe for all our sakes.

But the greatest menace to life and limb
(And I hope I never meet him)
Is, I feel,
The nut behind the wheel.

$1000 prize available in poetry contest

A $1,000 grand prize will be awarded in a poetry competition sponsored by "World of Poetry," a quarterly newsletter for poets.

Area poets may submit poems of all styles and on any subject in competition for the grand prize or for 99 other cash or merchandise awards which total more than $10,000, the sponsor announced last week.

Contest chairman Joseph Mellon says, "We are encouraging poetic talent of every kind, and expect our contest to produce exciting discoveries."

Rules and official entry forms are available from the quarterly, 2431 Stockton Boulevard, Department A, Sacramento, California, 95817.

Questions? Write to Attorney Larry Korn, care of Sliger-Livingston Publications, Post Office Box 160, Northville, Michigan 48167. Questions will be answered on a space-available basis. Answers in this column are directed at specific facts and may not apply in all situations.

Q. My past employer owes me approximately $1,000. At the time I was hired he put in writing that I would earn 20 percent of any real estate closings that took place during any given month. I cannot collect at this time. What can I do?

A. You can file a claim in the Small Claims Court for any amount up to $600 or a complaint in the general district court for the full $1,000. In order for you to collect all the monies due and owing you, you would have to file your claims separately. You might also file a complaint with the Michigan Department of Labor.

Q. Would my will be valid in another state should I relocate?

A. Yes. If the will was valid when executed, it will be valid in other states.

Q. I made a gift of an automobile to my son before I became aware that he had lost his license. Can I get the car back without his consent?

A. No. Once a gift is made, it is irrevocable.

Q. I am retired and wish to purchase my brother's house in cash. What is the easiest and safest procedure to follow?

A. Your family attorney can assist you in ordering the title insurance, preparing a closing statement, supervising the execution of documents and filing the Warranty Deed.

Q. My car was hit while sitting in my driveway. It was hit by an uninsured drunk who was driving on a suspended license. My car was not insured because I had transferred the insurance to a different car nine days previous to this incident. The car was to be sold two days after the man hit it. Can I make him pay for the extensive damage done to my car? I do not feel I should have to pay for the mistakes of this drunk.

A. You should immediately press charges against this individual for drunk driving and for driving while license is suspended.

If the prosecutor issues a warrant and the defendant enters a plea, or is found guilty by a judge or jury, the judge could order the defendant to make restitution.

You might also check to see if the man who hit you had liability insurance. Because your car was legally parked at the time it was hit, it would be treated as a personal property claim where you would have to look to your own insurer for compensation.

NHS beat by Eagles in triple overtime

Twice last week the Northville boys' basketball team had to fight back from early adversity in contests with non-league foe Milford Lakeland and Western Six Conference rival Plymouth Canton.

The result: a come-from-behind triumph over Canton, 51-47, at home Friday, but a heartbreaking triple overtime loss to Lakeland, 67-64, Tuesday on the Eagles' own home floor.

The Mustangs, now 5-5 overall and 2-2 in the W-Six, had two non-conference games at home on this week's schedule. Northville battled Livonia Clarenceville Tuesday and will tangle with Waterford Township 6 p.m. Friday.

Both Canton and Northville had trouble finding the basket in the opening period Friday. The Chiefs broke a scoreless deadlock with the game's first two-pointer at the 5:22 mark. Neither team blistered the nets the rest of the stanza with Canton holding a 6-4 lead.

Both teams' offenses got untracked in the second quarter. It was a tight struggle much of the period, but the Chiefs pulled away late to grab a 22-15 advantage at the intermission.

Just as it had done against Novi January 5, the Mustangs used a full court press to garner some quick points early in the third period. After trailing 24-15, the Mustangs rattled off 10 consecutive points before Canton scored a bucket for its final lead of the game, 26-25.

Northville outscored Canton 12-4 in the rest of the third period for a commanding 37-28 lead heading into the final quarter.

"That (third quarter) has been the turn-of-war for us," Mustang coach Tim Lutes offered. "That's been a factor. Now the bench is starting to pick up the pace."

The Chiefs outscored Northville, 19-14, in the last stanza but it was too little, too late.

Senior forward Carl Lang had 14 points, all in the second half, to pace the Mustang scoring. Tim McLaughlin added 11 and Rod Kurzawa added eight.

It seems as if close ballgames are becoming commonplace between Lakeland and Northville. The Mustangs won two overtime encounters last year, and Lakeland won a two-point contest previous to those.

This time, the Eagles were on the better end of the overtime score against Northville.

The Mustangs played for the last second shot to win it in regulation and in each of the first two overtimes, but failed to convert. Each team netted two points in each of those periods.

Lakeland built a four-point lead early in the final three-minute overtime which Northville was unable to overcome.

"It was a game we should have won. It (ball) simply would not fall for us," Lutes said. "We played it perfectly...we controlled the tempo of the game. It (ball) just wouldn't drop."

It looked like Lakeland might blow the Mustangs out of the gym in the first quarter when it took a 26-14 lead. However, Northville fought back to cut the deficit at halftime to four, 37-33.

The Eagles went cold in the third period and Northville grabbed a one-point lead, 46-45, heading into the final period. Lakeland was able to tie the contest and send it into overtime.

Gymnasts bag two wins

It seems that at every meet in which the Northville girls' gymnastics team participates a new hero steps to the forefront.

Last week was no different when the Mustangs handled Livonia Clarenceville, 103-82.15, and barely edged Southfield Lathrup, 102.7-102.5.

The wins put the Mustangs' overall mark at 3-0 heading into this week's competition. Northville will be battling Farmington at the Farmington Center Thursday before returning home 7 p.m.

Tuesday for another non-league match against Saline.

Northville first-year coach Debbie Heck was pleased to see the way her Mustangs rose to the occasion against Southfield Lathrup to win the meet. Once again, a few individuals came through with good performances for Heck at the last minute.

The Mustangs were trailing Lathrup

Lack of killer instinct hurts spikers

By JOHN MYERS

If Northville girls' volleyball team could play its second and third games like its first against each opponent, the Mustangs could easily be undefeated.

Instead, a lack of intensity and aggressiveness by the Mustangs have hurt them in losses to Western Six Conference foe Plymouth Canton last week Wednesday and to non-league rival Novi Monday.

In both contests, the Mustangs won the first game, but were unable to come up with another victory in either the second or third games to win the match.

Northville edged Canton, 15-12, in the opening game but dropped the second and third games to the Chiefs, 15-6 and 15-9.

Almost the exact same thing happened against Novi. The Mustangs won the first game 15-6, but dropped the next two, 15-6 and 15-10.

The two losses put the Mustangs' overall record at 1-3. Northville had a Friday night match against South Lyon cancelled due to both schools having home basketball games.

Northville is battling W-Six foe Farmington Harrison at home 6 p.m. today. The Mustangs also will be participating in the Battle Creek Invitational this weekend.

"We seem to be falling into a syndrome of winning the first game and then not being able to win the match. I thought the girls started to play better as group Wednesday (against Canton)," coach Steve McDonald explained.

"We had some problems as far as setting up the plays," he added.

McDonald noted over the last few matches the Mustangs play well when they serve well, but when their serving is off, so is their play.

"It shouldn't be that way, but it is unfortunately," he said.

The turning point in the Novi match, McDonald believes, came in the third game with Northville serving and trailing the Bobcats, 9-7.

The officials called the serve out of bounds which gave Novi the ball. The Bobcats went on to score the next three points, before relinquishing the serve. Novi hung on to win the game and match.

"It was a judgement call and it's all

Jenny Gans (right) has been a consistent performer for the volleyball team that you can say," McDonald offered. "It really turned the game around for us, but it's just one of those things."

The team has been improving in spite of the losses, McDonald declared, but it still has more improvement to make.

"We still have some mental mistakes," he said. "Hopefully, the girls are willing to work. We need to get a little better killer instinct in the second and third games."

Some players McDonald cited for their play the past few weeks were Leslie Kucher, Jenny Gans and Melinda House.

Gans has been consistent in her back row play, serving and hitting, McDonald said.

Mustangs tankers dunked by Canton

Consistency. The dictionary meaning of this word is "Agreement or compatibility among things or parts. Uniformity."

According to Northville boys' swim coach Pete Talbot, this is one ingredient his squad has been lacking so far this season.

The Mustang tankers had only one meet last week, and they were swamped by Western Six Conference foe Plymouth Canton, 125-46, at the Chiefs' own pool.

The 1-5 tankers battled Plymouth Salem Tuesday and are at home against another W-Six opponent, Farmington Harrison, at 7 p.m. Thursday. Northville has another tough assignment Tuesday at Ypsilanti.

"We were once again inconsistent," reflected Talbot on the Canton meet. "We just can't seem to get any consistency."

"One day we swim well and then the next day we don't swim well," he added.

The only time in the last few weeks the tankers have performed well was in a close loss to Livonia-Churchill January 7 at home.

Talbot said he is not sure if swimming at home has anything to do with the consistency his team shows compared with that on the road.

The Mustangs were unable to take any firsts in the Canton meet, but they did manage three second-place finishes.

Dave Copp was second in both the 50-yard freestyle (24.7) and the 100-yard freestyle (55.4). The other second was taken by Jeff Evans in diving with a total score of 158.90, a personal best.

Thirds taken in the meet were by the 200-yard medley relay team of Tim Walker, Mickey Nader, Jon Burchard and Copp (1:56.0); the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Adam Swallow, Vince Shimp, Jeff Smith and Evans (4:13.6); Nader in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:10.7); Walker in the 100-yard freestyle (57.6); Swallow in the 500-yard freestyle (6:02.4); and Chris Behen in diving (157.35).

There were eight fourth-place finishes by the Mustangs with Burchard taking two, in the 50-yard freestyle (24.6) and the 100-yard butterfly (1:07.7). The 400-yard freestyle relay team of Gil Allen, Jeff Metz, Matt Pendleton and Greg Capote took fourth (4:36.1).

Other fourths were taken by Nader in the 200-yard individual medley (2:42.1); Swallow in the 200-yard freestyle (2:08.8); Shimp in the 500-yard freestyle (6:12.0); Walker in the 100-yard backstroke (1:10.7); and Metz in diving (129.8).

Smith was fifth in both the 100-yard backstroke (1:19.5) and the 100-yard freestyle (1:02.3), while Blake Anderson did the same in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:28.0). Shimp was fifth in the 200-yard freestyle (2:17.8) and Evans was fifth in the 200-yard individual medley (2:42.8).

Allen in the 200-yard freestyle (2:32.0), Capote in the 50-yard freestyle (28.3) and Pendleton in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:29.9) all were sixth in the respective events.

Gymnasts unbeaten

by two points heading into the last event — the floor exercise. "That's a lot when the (individual) scores are that close (half points)," Heck explained.

"They (Mustangs) really got there and did the job," she added.

Amy Aaron, Paula Broderick, Wendy Woberman and Tish Johnson all competed in the floor exercise, and all came through with enough high marks to win the meet.

Broderick scored an 8.05 in the event, followed by Aaron at 6.85, Woberman at 6.7 and Johnson at 5.55.

It was Johnson who replaced Marian Rothermel in the uneven bars at the last minute. Rothermel did not compete because of a reoccurring injury. Johnson only scored 2.15 in the event, but they were big points to Northville.

In vaulting, Broderick was tops with a 7.7 score. Aaron had a 7.55, Johnson a 6.3 and Katie Sherman a 4.35. In the balance beam, Broderick scored an 8.0, followed by Aaron at 7.15, Laura Kiraly at 6.0 and Woberman at 5.95.

In the uneven bars, Broderick scored a 6.5. She was followed by Aaron at 6.05 and Woberman at 6.0.

"It's really good when you can win the close ones," Heck theorized. "They knew it was going to be a close match and they didn't let it bother them."

In the Clarenceville meet, Broderick was the top scorer in all four events. She tallied an 8.35 in the vault, 7.75 in the uneven bars, 8.15 in the balance beam and 8.7 in the floor exercise.

Aaron was another all-around performer. She scored 7.75 in the vault, 6.95 in the floor exercise, 6.75 in the balance beam and 5.4 in the uneven bars. Woberman competed in all four events scoring 6.4 in the vault, 5.45 in the uneven bars, 6.75 in the floor exercise and 3.8 in the balance beam.

OVL cagers drop two

Two losses were the order of the week for the Northville Our Lady of Victory seventh and eighth grade boys' basketball team in Catholic Youth Organization play.

OLV dropped a tough 39-38 decision to Detroit St. Scholastica and was handled easily by Livonia St. Michael's, 47-22.

Against St. Scholastica, OLV led 11-9 after the opening period, but trailed 30-29 at the half. Behind the efforts of John Lobbia and Sean McLaughlin, the Cougars led 38-34 with 22 seconds left.

However, St. Scholastica scored three points on free throws and another two via a basket to take a 39-38 lead with eight seconds left and hung to win.

McLaughlin canned 16 points, while Lobbia netted 14. Joe Brielmaier added four, Doug Martin tossed in three and Tom Orlovski had one point.

St. Michael's never was threatened in this contest by OLV.

NHS wrestlers lose to Canton

Even though the Northville wrestling team lost again to Western Six Conference rival Plymouth Canton Thursday, the team was a little more respectable and the Mustangs even had a chance to win the meet.

Canton and Northville met at a five-way dual meet at Wallingford Central January 7, with the Chiefs winning easily.

Northville also participated in the Clio Tournament Saturday, where three Mustang wrestlers secured either third- or fourth-place finishes.

The Mustangs will be in action at home 6 p.m. Thursday against their opponent Farmington Harrison. Northville will then travel to the Rochester Invitational Saturday.

Two weeks ago, the Mustang wrestling team looked like a team of walking wounded. Some of the injuries have healed, but the team was the latest wrestler to join the ranks of the injured.

Wallace, who wrestled at 138 pounds, dislocated his arm in a consolation final match at Clio and had to default his match. He was the number-one seed placed fourth instead of the third seed. Emerson expected if not for the injury.

Both John Collins, at 132, and Vince Candela, at heavyweight, placed third in their respective weight classes.

Collins won three of four matches with his only loss being to the tournament number-one seeded wrestler.

Candela lost his opening match against Hartland. Emerson said Candela had the advantage in the match when Hartland's wrestler pulled a sudden reversal and pinned the Mustang heavyweight.

Candela came right back to win his next two matches by pins in a total time of 1:26.

Bruce Wolgram, Erwin Morie, Neil Fitzpatrick and Mike Collins all recorded one win at the tournament.

Canton won most of the lower division weight classes, while the Mustangs handled most of the upper division weight classes.

Neil Hartland, at 112, won his match 7-5. In Northville's consolation match in the lower weight divisions.

Other victims for Northville included Wallace at 138, the consolation match, and Neil Fitzpatrick, at 132, and Candela at heavyweight.

The 100-room historic mansion at the University will be open from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Each paid admission stub may be exchanged for an empty blank for the Super Bowl ticket.

The tour, featuring historic designer clothes, jewelry, historic designer clothes, and antique linens from the collections of the Dodge and Wilson families, will be brought out for the day.

An early Meadow Brook Hall film featuring an interview with the former owner, as well as a slide presentation of the Hall's architectural details, will be shown through Sunday.

Our guests also may take advantage of an elegant buffet luncheon to be offered in the elaborate Christopher Wren Dining Room until Sunday.

Admission includes all displays and presentations; luncheon is additional, but no reservations are necessary. The cost is $4 general admission, $3 for seniors over 64 and $2 for children under 13.

For further information, call Meadow Brook at 377-3140.

Silverdome; so even the United States Post Office has jumped into the act.

For the first time in the history of the Super Bowl games, the U.S. Postal Service has been authorized to establish a temporary postal station at the Silverdome to commemorate the event.

The Super Bowl XVI station was made possible through the efforts of the National Football League and the Pontiac Silverdome Authority. The station will be at the East Entrance Ticket Office on the main concourse only the day of the game. Hours of operation will conform to Silverdome Super Bowl hours.

The station will be issuing a special commemorative cancellation to those who are authorized entrance Sunday. Mail-in requests will be accepted as well and must be received no later than Sunday. However, this deadline may be changed.

Mail-in requests should be addressed to: Super Bowl XVI Station, Postmaster, Pontiac, Michigan, 48056-9998.

Michigan's Super Drink contest has three finalists left: Referee's Revenge, Sour Bowl and Golden Dream. One of these drinks will be selected as Michigan's official welcoming drink for Super Bowl XVI. The winner of the contest will receive free Super Bowl tickets.

Residents are asked to cast their vote by sending a postcard to the Michigan Host Committee offices, 1200 Featherstone, Pontiac, Michigan, 48057. Recipes for the drinks will be available at Super establishments or by mail by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to the same address.

The Supercrawl is ready to go 6:30 p.m. Thursday with different loops from which to choose in Detroit, Troy/Birmingham/Rochester, Pontiac/Bloomfield and Lansing.

Admission buttons to ride the bus are on sale for $5.

V-cagers edged by Chiefs

Another four-game winning streak snapped as Western Six Conference foe Plymouth Canton slipped the Northville junior varsity boys' basketball team, 41-36, at home Friday.

The Mustangs had beaten Milford, 49-43, on the Eagles' home court Tuesday to extend a winning streak to four.

The Mustangs now are 8-2 overall and in conference play.

Poor field goal shooting hampered the Mustangs' effort against Canton.

Northville could only connect on 12 of 60 from the floor.

Mike Weber and Steve Frelick were the top Northville scorers with eight points each.

Free throws did the trick against Lakeland Tuesday as the Mustangs connected on 23 of 31 from the charity stripe. Lakeland made four more field goal attempts than Northville.

Bob Pegrum was top scorer for Northville with 18 points, while Weber added 11 points.

Ocelots win 3 of 4 hoop contests

Schoolcraft College's men's basketball team had a three-game winning streak snapped at Jackson Sunday, but three other victories have raised the Ocelots' overall record to 12-4.

Jackson topped Schoolcraft, 78-72, in the contest as Jackson connected on 28 of 41 charity attempts compared to 12 of 19 for the Ocelots.

Phil Blevins and Sayligmon Staton each tallied 16 points to pace the Schoolcraft scoring.

In other men's games, Schoolcraft downed Madonna College, 99-49, Saturday, Windsor University, 99-59, last week Wednesday and Henry Ford Community College, 46-40, last week Tuesday.

In women's basketball action, the Lady Ocelots dropped contests to Henry Ford Community College, 77-38, January 13 and to Alpena Community College, 70-30, January 16.

Kathy Peck was the top scorer with 12 points for Schoolcraft in the Henry Ford contest and Kelley Nagy led the way against Alpena with 11.
