Reassessment likely in township next year

By KEVIN WILSON

Complete reappraisal of township property values for the first time since 1968 is being considered by the township board of trustees.

Reassessment of property values would be done by county appraisers with the township footing the bill of $8 or $9 for each of about 4,000 parcels to be evaluated.

At a budget planning session Saturday board members reached general agreement that such a reappraisal is necessary to make sure all taxpayers are being treated fairly, although some may find tax bills increased by a reassessment.

"We're having a problem with the majority of these assessments (this year)," Clerk Susan Heintz said. "I don't see any other way of getting around this terrible inequity of our tax system than a complete reassessment."

"Are you saying," asked Trustee

James Nowka, "that the inequities are so blatant this (reassessment) has to be done?"

"Yes," Heintz replied.

Since the agenda for the session did not include the item and not all board members were present, no official action was taken committing the board to reassessment, but the issue was placed on the board agenda for the regular session Thursday night.

Allocation of $14,000 as the first of three installments to pay for reassessment in the township was given as an instruction to budget planners as well.

Heintz told board members the major inequity that occurs when a community is not reassessed in many years is that owners of newer properties tend to pay more than is fair while owners of older properties may be paying less than their share.

"They (assessments) are getting way out of bounds in the newer areas," she said.

When reassessment is not done on a door-to-door basis, equalization factors are used which theoretically distribute the tax burden fairly. However, when that factor exceeds 2.0 county tax officials said last year the inequities can become widespread.

The township's factor has been over 2.0 for several years. Reassessment was considered last year but the board determined it could not afford to pay for it. The economic situation is not much better this year, but Supervisor John MacDonald said he has learned the county would allow payment in three installments over as many years.

Payment of $14,000 in the first year is a sizable portion of the township's budget and board members discussed the issue in depth, particularly in regard to the desires of residents.

"Is this what the public wants?" MacDonald asked. "There were a lot of people out there (at board of review sessions this month) who felt the valuation was wrong — the economy is low, there are sales problems. But if you say 'Do you want to reassess?' Well, I'm not sure they do."

Trustee Richard Allen noted that in attempting to respond to complaints of some taxpayers, the board may draw the wrath of another group.

"The people in the newer homes are bearing the brunt of it," Allen said. "If you reassess, next you'll get the people in the older homes swamping you."

Stepping back to the '50s

Northville residents can take a nostalgic trip back to the days of poodle skirts, ducktails and leather jackets when the Northville High School Drama Department presents its production of "Grease." Danny, Sandy, the Burger Palace Boys and the whole Rydell High School gang will be kicking up their heels at

Committee recommends school closing

Upon the recommendation of a citizens committee on future facility needs, the Northville Board of Education has requested the school administration begin reviewing a possible change in the district's grade structure as well as the closing of one of Northville's seven schools.

The board has asked officials to report their findings and make a final recommendation at the April 5 board of education meeting.

The Citizens Committee on Future Facility Needs, formed in September to examine the district's school buildings and recommend better utilization of current facilities, gave its final report to the board of education Monday night.

The committee, comprised of approximately 20 residents with three board of education members serving as liaison persons, has been examining the district's demographics, facilities and grade structure for the past five months.

Based on the district's declining enrollment for the past seven years, the committee recommended a change in the current grade structure to a middle school concept which would include grades K-5 at the elementary level, grades 6-8 at the middle school and grades 9-12 in the high school.

Sylvia Gucken, chairperson of the grade structure subcommittee, pointed out that a change in grade structure will entail a reconstruction of the current curriculum.

She emphasized that "curriculum must be developed before grade structure is changed."

Though the committee has asked that an administrative recommendation on a possible grade structure change be submitted in April, the implementation of such a change, should it be approved, would depend on how quickly a restructured curriculum can be developed to accommodate the switch.

Committee members are tentatively looking at September, 1982, as an implementation for their proposed plan.

However, much will be depend on the administration's recommendation on April 5.

According to a report presented to the board Monday night, the committee proposed a middle school concept based on its study of grade structures in other school districts.

In its study, committee members found sixth graders to be more

Census paints community profile

The typical Northville Township resident is 31 years old, a married member of a three-person family living in a home worth about $103,000.

Dependent on county residence, the typical city dweller here is either 32 or 35 years old, also married in a three person family living in a home valued between $63,300 and $76,200.

Both profiles are statistical fictions extracted from 1980 census data as compiled by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments into tabular form.

The numbers are not averages, they are median values, meaning equal numbers in each community reported home values, ages, and family sizes to the U.S. Census Bureau above and below those figures.

Despite the seeming homogeneity of the picture (except for home values heavily skewed by new construction over the past decade) the community profiles SEMCOG sent its members recently do provide some interesting contrasts not only between township and city, but from the Wayne County portion of the city to the Oakland County portion.

Although the biggest group of Northville area residents is the same in city and township, the figures say the city is a little older overall with Wayne County older than Oakland. Of the 12,987 persons the census found in the township, 3,081 are between the ages of 30 and 44. The second largest group, presumably the children of the first, is age 5 to 13, which comprises 1,934 of the total.

Other age groups of over 1,000 population were 21-29 (1,892), 45-54 (1,599) and 14-17 (1,144).

Only 296 township residents were over age 75 when the census was taken, while in the city 283 such residents were found in a total population less than half the size.

The largest age group among the city's 5,698 residents was also between 30-44 (1,138) with the second highest 21-29 (789) and third 45-54 (765). Children 5-13 were the fourth largest group in the city at 738 total.

While the Oakland County portion of the city has often been referred to as a small part, there are nearly as many residents there as in the Wayne portion (2,785 to 2,913). The difference in populace among these near-equal figures is most evident in the older age classifications. In Oakland, there are 261 persons total in the three groupings from 62 to 75 and up. In Wayne there are 268 in the 65-75 group alone, with 90 in the 62-64 class and another 250 75-years-old or more.

According to the census report, there are 2,153 total housing units in the city; 4,053 in the township. Both average slightly over three percent vacancy. There are more home owners (buyers) in the township not only numerically, but by percentage as 77.1 percent of the township homes are owner-occupied while 70.6 percent are in the city.

Almost 93 percent of the township residents are white, while 98.8 percent of city residents are white. Blacks make up 5.5 percent of the township population with 715 persons so identifying themselves. There were 10 blacks in the city (0.2 percent). All of the latter reside in Oakland County.

The township census tract breakdown shows many of the blacks reside in the state hospital, but there is significant black population elsewhere.

There is no overall median age given for the city, nor is there such an overall median home value supplied.

The medians are reported only for owner-occupied units, not rentals and are divided by county.

In the township, homeowners suggesting their property was valued between $100,000 and $149,000 were the largest group at 43.9 percent (908). The grouping from $50,000 to $79,999 was second largest (17.1 percent) with 353 such homes reported. Those in the $80,000 to $99,999 group numbered 334 (16.1 percent). More than nine percent (189) of the township homes fell into the sky's-the-limit $150,000 or more class.

City reviews start, business taxes rise

Well before the first session of the city board of review hearings at 1 p.m. Tuesday city residents in both Wayne and Oakland counties began gathering to appeal property tax assessments as the board began hearings at city hall.

Some 30 residents were waiting at least 15 minutes before the review session began, and city hall workers anticipated crowds would increase as many calls had been received.

Review sessions also were scheduled for last night and for 9 a.m. to noon and 1-4 p.m. this Thursday. Morning and afternoon sessions also are scheduled for Tuesday, March 23.

Because the city has not made a practice of scheduling by appointment, city hall workers Tuesday could not predict how many residents would be appearing.

"We've been getting a lot of calls from Wayne County residents," City Manager Steven Walters reported, but added that many were seeking explanations of the residential factor at 1.0, or just asking questions.

He pointed out that all residential property in the Wayne County portion of the city was reassessed house-by-house during the summer and fall.

As a result, Walters said, some residents who have newer homes that were "relatively over-assessed" have received 10-15 percent reductions in their assessments. It is owners of older houses in the city who have not been reassessed since 1972 who are finding their valuations are up as they have been raised to current levels.

In these cases, Walters observed, he does not feel a whole lot can be done as they previously were underassessed.

Noting that both Wayne and Oakland counties are taking the residential factor to 1.0, Walters said the 1.64 Wayne County factor for commercial and the 1.5699 factor for industrial were in effect because the county did not make a general reassessment of the industrial and commercial. In Oakland County the factor is 1.0 for commercial and residential.

Without reassessing in Wayne county, the factor is being applied on the basis of recent sales of commercial and industrial, Walters said.

"I don't have a lot of sympathy (for commercial and industrial property owners complaining)," Walters declared, "because the fact remains sales in the last 12 months reflect the fact that the property is not worth less than the SEVs indicate."

"People who say that it is are not those who are selling," he continued, citing sales of Cloverdale and MacKinnon's restaurants as examples of properties that were sold above assessments.

The county, he declared, applies the factor in relation to such sales.

Last year the Wayne County commercial factor was 1.58 and the industrial 1.48, but, Walters emphasizes, these factors had stayed the same as the year before. Therefore, he stated, the increase this year ups valuations approximately five percent from two years ago.

Valuation rise not justifiable, MacDonald says

Township supervisor John MacDonald was expected to appear before the board of review at 8:45 p.m. last night to urge reduction of property assessments by 7.68 percent township-wide.

The supervisor said Monday he would use "several sales studies" and one example of a land contract sale to make his argument that assessed valuations do not accurately reflect 50 percent of market values.

The appearance before the township board is preparatory to MacDonald's intent to appeal the assessment increase before the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

He said he had originally hoped to roll back the tax rolls by the amount it increased in the past year, but was told county officials would exact a penalty on the township if it did so independently.

MacDonald said he is asking the township board of trustees to commit itself to rollback a portion of the 3.0 mills it collected last year so that "we don't benefit from the 7.68 percent increase in our equalized valuation." He said he is asking other bodies which levy taxes in the township to take similar rollbacks.

"I don't know how much our rolling back millage serves the taxpayer. It's a nice gesture," he said. "We only keep five percent of the taxes and our rollback isn't going to have much dollar impact." That, he said, is why he is still pursuing an assessment cut through the tax tribunal.

The supervisor also said he intended to roll back assessments in the pollution-plagued Park Gardens area by 20 percent. County officials told him they would accept that rollback if the problems there are substantiated with documentation, which MacDonald said he has prepared.

Assessment decreases or millage rollbacks would have its major effects on township government when applied to the 3.0 mill levy comprised of 1.5 mill for police, 1.0 mill general operating and 0.5 mill fire.

NEWS BRIEFS

CITY COUNCIL'S regularly scheduled second meeting of the month has been delayed a week to March 22 to enable the council to attend the 8 p.m. meeting next Monday of Novi City Council to hear a presentation on the Oakland County Solid Waste Management Plan. Northville eventually will have to join either the Oakland or Wayne solid waste system.

TWO ADDITIONAL sessions of the township board of review slated March 16 and 18 failed to accommodate property owners desiring to appear before the board. Township officials still are considering adding days, but encounter difficulties with the work schedules of the three board members. They are asking those who can do so to write letters protesting assessments, while acknowledging that all those who desire to speak before the board may do so.

REGISTRATION for students planning to attend Our Lady of Victory School during the 1982-83 school year will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. March 15-19. Applications for students in grades 1 through 8 will be accepted. For further information call Our Lady of Victory School at 349-3610 between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

TOWNSHIP BUDGET will be discussed at a special 7 p.m. Friday session of the board of trustees in township hall. The planning session was called after a similar meeting Saturday led to several changes in suggested expenditures.

Township board prepares to reassess

But at least it will be a fair assessment for everyone," Heintz, Nowka and Trustee Thomas Cook said almost simultaneously.

"I think people will go along with a system that's fair," Heintz said. "I think you're seeing all these problems because people don't believe the system is fair."

She said from her contacts with people coming to board of review sessions, which she admitted was a "biased sample" there is considerable sentiment for reassessment.

"You've got to be aware, though," MacDonald said, "that in a reassessment it could go up as easily as it could go down."

"I think you're going to have to step up to it," Treasurer Richard Henningsen said. "If they complain, at least you can tell people 'You're assessed on an equitable basis with your neighbor, if that's not going to do it, see the board of review.'"

Allen agreed. "Ultimately, it's got to be done. At least everyone's going to be treated fairly."

Nowka added, "There are risks, but it's worth those risks. It gets everything back in synch, it's going to be more equitable."

How to pay for the reassessment was another issue, however. Heintz and MacDonald suggested they would approach the public school system, for which the township acts as tax collection agency, and ask the schools to share the cost. "After all," Heintz noted, "they get 75 percent of the tax money. This board of review, and the costs of collecting, those are administrative costs the one percent collection fee (tacked onto property tax bills) comes nowhere near covering."

The issue was placed on the board agenda for this Thursday night. Cook, who lives in one of the newer homes in the township, said he could not attend that session but "I vote yes, I support reappraisal." Allen, who is in an older home than Cook's and suggested his taxes might rise with new assessments, was also supportive.

Of the board members present (C. James Armstrong was the only absent member) there was no opposition expressed.

Registration still open

Society workshops offered

There is still time to sign up for the Northville Historical Society's spring workshops at Mill Race Village.

A melon basket workshop led by basketmaker Scott Smith will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. Cost is $15 per person plus materials. The workshop will be held in the New School Church.

Mini-quilting, a synopsis of Jo Krause's popular quilting class, also will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Wash Oak Schoolhouse. Cost ing" will be held from 9 a.m. to noon March 20. John Brugeman will lead 20 students in this outdoor "hands on" activity. Cost is $7.50 per person, and participants will meet at the church.

For the little tykes, the Historical is $15 plus materials.

Mrs. Krause will teach the old fashion crochet Rag Rug method from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. March 27 in the New School Church. Cost is $10 plus materials. Registration is limited to 15 persons.

A repeat of the popular "Spring Prunacademically, emotionally, physically and socially like seventh and eighth graders.

The committee also found that because of the district's declining enrollment, offering comprehensive educational and extra-curricular programs at the ninth grade level has become more difficult in recent years. According to the committee's report, a change in the high school grade structure would result in more educational benefits for ninth graders as well as alleviate the costs in operating two separate ninth grade junior high programs.

Board members expressed concern about a possible overcrowding at the high school should the grade structure be realigned.

Enrollment figures for the proposed 9-12 grade structure are estimated to be approximately 1,353 students. There currently are 999 students in the high school.

However, committee members pointed out that the high school presently is not being used to its full capacity.

Facilities subcommittee chairperson Gene Smith told the board the district's buildings are currently only 68 percent utilized.

Since the district's peak enrollment period in 1975-76, when 4,500 students were attending Northville Public Schools, elementary enrollment has declined 27 percent and junior and senior enrollment has dropped 14 percent. Due to a decline of almost 1,000 students over a seven-year period, many schools are left with empty rooms and wasted space.

In its report to the board, the facilities subcommittee concluded that "declining enrollment trends combined with a stagnant economy make the closing of school facilities inevitable."

"It is imperative that the school board regain voter confidence that their tax monies are being utilized in the most productive manner."

Smith told the board that by closing one school the district would save approximately $70,000.

The facilities subcommittee has asked the administration identify by April which facility will be closed. The committee has proposed that the closing be implemented in September — provided that a smooth transition can be made by that time.

School Superintendent Lawrence Nichols told the board that administrators can make a recommendation by April 5, but noted that data on rerouting bus runs and restructuring boundaries cannot be made available in such a short period of time.

The Northville Board of Education, which normally meets on the second and fourth Monday of the month, rescheduled its April 12 meeting to April 5 due to the Easter holiday and spring break.

The April 5 meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the board conference room at Old Village School.

Ten city homes fell into this class (0.7 percent). Most were valued at the $50,000 to $79,999 level with an Oakland median of $76,200 and a Wayne median of $63,300. This value group was 47.6 percent of the city total with 552 homes reported in this range. The $80,000 to $99,999 group was second (18.3 percent, 235) and the $25,000 to $49,999 was third (17.8 percent, 229).

Four city homes were valued at less than $10,000 and one township home fell into this grouping.

Family households were 79.4 percent of the township total, 71.3 percent in the city. Married couples with at least one related person in the household were 69.6 percent of the township total, 63.2 percent of that in the city.

Households with no wife present made up two percent of the township total; 1.7 percent in the city. No husband present was 7.8 percent in the township, 6.4 percent in the city.

As a percentage, single person residences were more prevalent in the city than township. Of city dwellers, 23.6 percent (491) were alone in the home (17 percent female; 6.6 percent males).

In the township, such households were only 16.8 percent of the total (661) number (11.1 percent female, 5.8 percent male).

So the city is a little older and its homes a little less expensive. What else? Widows and divorcees outnumber their male counterparts significantly in both communities. There were 70 widowed men in the township to 438 widowed women. There were 228 divorced men, 403 divorced women.

It was the same story in the city — 36 widowers to 340 widows. Men divorced numbered 95, women 146.

And rents. Why is there a higher proportion of renters in the city than township? Could it be because a township rental runs a median $322 while the city rent median was $291 tops (Oakland) and $239 (Wayne)? What's more, only 54 apartments (6.4 percent) in the township could be had for under $200. In the Wayne section of the city alone, 131 such units were to be had. Overall, more than a fifth of the city's rental quarters were priced under $200.

The largest group of city rents was from $200-299 with 318 such units (52.2 percent). The largest township group was in the next higher price range ($300 to $399) and there were 431 such units (51.4 percent). Twenty city dwellings and 27 in the township rented for $500 or more.

Racial origin of the populace is not only a black-and-white number. The population of Spanish origin is treated as a separate item. Native Americans and Asians are, inexplicably, lumped in this category, as are Aleuts and Eskimos.

In the city 1.2 percent or so of the population is called Spanish by the Census Bureau (39 persons; 30 white, three Native American or Asian, six "other"). In the township, the number is also about 1.2 percent, with 71 "white" Spanish-origin listed, one black, five Native American or Asians and four "other."

SAR members at historic event

Announcement that Dr. Kenneth Kettlewell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, has had a sermon selected for national recognition comes from George Merwin, former Northville-Nowi resident and member of the Detroit Metropolitan Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution (SAR).

Merwin reports that three local SAR members were present when the sermon was delivered.

The National Awards Jury of the National Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, selected Dr. Ket-tlewell's sermon after examining thousands of patriotic sermons for national recognition.

The sermon, "Let Freedom Ring," was delivered by Dr. Kettlewell on Allegiance Sunday, July 5, 1981, as part of the patriotic Fourth of July weekend activities which included visiting the grave of Revolutionary War General Charles Larned at Elmwood Cemetery on Detroit's east side.

Dr. Kettlewell, state chaplain of the SAR, was assisted during this historic event by Northville-Nowi area SAR members John R. Lane, Delbert E. Miller and Guy R. Smith Jr.

CONSUMER TIPS

Q. How can I reduce my dental bills?

A. The best way to keep dental costs down is by becoming an active participant in protecting the health of your mouth. You can begin by practicing preventive dentistry. This means having an effective home oral hygiene program combined with good eating habits. Maintaining regular check-ups is a sound economic move because small problems can be diagnosed and treated before they become big expensive ones. Also avoid just "patching" and repairing, they are only stop gap measures and you'll end up spending more money in the long run.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of

Pencil artist, sculptor featured at show

A pencil artist and a sculptor will be featured in a two-woman art show being presented by the Northville Arts Commission this Saturday and Sunday in Northville City Hall council chambers.

Jane Martin, an accomplished pencil artist, is a Northville resident. Her work currently is displayed at the Meadowbrook and Northville Art Galleries. She studied under Jane Anderson, a well known and highly commissioned pen and ink artist. Martin also has attended several art-oriented college courses.

She explains she enjoys pencil art because of the detail it allows her to capture and for the total control she has over the medium.

She is the art appreciation coordinator at Our Lady of Victory School, a volunteer job. She recommends the volunteer program as an excellent way to learn about art and also to be of service to the school. She has two daughters attending OLV, another at Ladywood and a preschool-age son.

During vacations with her husband John and children this summer in Northern Michigan she plans to display her artwork.

Bettina Tysklind's sculpture is in bronze and clay.

Her work received two awards in 1980 at a Somerset show, another in 1981 at a Birmingham-Bloomfield Art Association Show.

Galleries that feature her work are Mullay-Matisse Galleries in Birmingham and Objects and Images Gallery in Rochester.

Her sculpture also can be found in the lobby of International Toastmistress Building in Anaheim, California, St. Basil's Center in Pontiac, Episcopal Church of the Advent in Orchard Lake and St. Mark's Church in East Moline, Illinois. Her works are in private collections in Brazil, Spain and Sweden as well as in the United States.

The Northville Arts Commission was formed in 1980 by city council to promote the arts in the community.

With the addition of Shirley M. Davision of 18693 Jamestown Circle, whose appointment was approved by city council at its March 1 meeting, the commission now has 10 members. Vestus John Spindler III currently is chairman, succeeding Cheryl Gazlay.

The commission will serve refreshments at the weekend show.

Show hours Saturday will be 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Sunday hours will be noon to 5 p.m.

Antique exhibit largest since 1975 with 40 dealers

The upcoming Northville Antique Show at the community building featuring 40 dealers is the biggest since the semi-annual shows were started here in March, 1975, reports Helen Meisel, Northville antique-dealer and show co-promoter with Ruby Fleming of Dearborn.

It will be held Friday through Sunday and features a general line of antiques. Friday and Saturday hours are noon to 9 p.m.; Sunday hours are noon to 5 p.m.

This year the show also will be a partial benefit for the operation of the community building. Sponsor Meisel explains that a portion of the $1 donation at the door will go to the community building fund.

Another local dealer who will have a booth at the show is Agnes Barnard, owner of Aggie's Antiques on Center.

Eleanor Lowell, a former Northville dealer, also will be in the show.

Wilfred Thompson, an expert in American Indian antiques, will be participating.

During the show there will be demonstrations of caning by Michael Quinn. Laura's Patchworks of Plymouth also will be featured.

"We try to cater to everybody's taste with a little bit of jewelry, country antiques, oak furniture and dolls included," reports Meisel. Dealers, she adds, come from different parts of the state, including Flint, Dexter and Dearborn.

Refreshments, she says, will be gourmet variety as quiche and other foods will be offered by the caterer, Food by Erma.

Schoolcraft play sellout

Tickets for the Schoolcraft College Players' presentation of "The Mousetrap," which opens on campus this Friday, went on sale February 2 and were sold out by the following morning, the college reports.

The Agatha Christie mystery will be presented March 12-13 and 19-20 as the group's winter dinner-theatre production.

Marie-Louise Capote of Northville is a member of "The Mousetrap" cast. Dale Feldpausch is the director with Bob Gregory as technical director, Nancy Cleveland as assistant director and Mary Lilburn as stage manager.

Persons interested in receiving information about future dinner-theatre presentations at the college should call the Schoolcraft Fine Arts and Sciences office, 591-6400, extension 510, to ask to have their names placed on the dinner-theatre mailing list.

Previous shows in the successful series have included "Come Blow Your Horn," "Agatha Christie Made Me Do It" and "Meanwhile, Back on the Couch..."

Girl Scouts in celebration

Twenty-one Northville Girl Scout and Brownie troops have participated in a variety of activities in celebration of the 70th Anniversary of Girl Scouts of America March 12.

Scouts recently held a father-daughter square dance at Northville High School to mark Thinking Day—a day set aside to recognize the worldwide sisterhood of Girl Scouts.

Northville resident Margaret Sweet was chairperson of Brownie B Day held at Central Middle School in Plymouth. All Brownie troops in Plymouth, Northville and Canton were invited to attend.

The Brownie B Day celebration began with an opening flag ceremony and songs led by Northville's Pam Lloyd. Among the 647 scouts attending this event, 10 troops were from Northville including Brownie Troops 710, 220, 740, 644 and 621 and Junior Troops 78, 379, 234, 571 and 721.

Kelly Parker, a sophomore at Northville High School, received a Silver Award, the highest Girl Scout honor, at the winter meeting of the Plymouth-Northville-Canton Area Association. She is a member of Senior Troop 501.

Barbara Jean Eckles was named Leader of the Month for February by the Field Directors of Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. She has served as leader of Junior Troop 406 at Our Lady of Providence for eight years.

High school sets the stage for opening of 'Grease'

Revving up for 'Grease'

With opening night slightly more than a week away, the Northville High School Drama Department is putting the finishing touches on its rehearsal of "Grease." Set in the 1950s, the musical details the story of the Burger Palace Boys and the Pink Ladies plus a slew of other characters from Rydell High School. At left, Sandy (Laura Santos) and Danny (Craig Zollars) share a moment at the drive-in. The Burger Palace Boys, above, take a reprieve from cruising. The NHS production opens March 19 at the high school auditorium. Performances also will be held March 20, 26 and 27. Record photos by Steve Fecht.

Plymouth Symphony sets concert

Plymouth Symphony patrons will listen to "An Afternoon of Beethoven" when the orchestra, under the baton of Johan van der Merwe, presents its fifth concert of the season at 4 p.m. Sunday in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium.

Featured guest artist will be violinist Jacob Krachmalnick, professor of violin at the University of Michigan School of Music, who will perform with the orchestra Beethoven's Concerto for Violin and Orchestra, Opus 61 in D Major. The work was Beethoven's only violin concerto.

This will be Krachmalnick's first appearance with the Plymouth Symphony, although his influence is not unknown to the orchestra. The present concertmaster, Tapani Yrjola, is a student of his at U-M, as were the two previous concertmasters.

The guest artist has had a long and distinguished career since coming to the United States from his native Odessa in the U.S.S.R. in 1922. He made his debut as a violin soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra in 1941, after studying at the Curtis Institute of Music with the legendary Efrem Zimbalist.

He has been concertmaster with some of the country's major orchestras and has performed throughout the United States and in Canada, Mexico, Europe and Japan. He also has worked as a freelance artist for films, recordings and television in Los Angeles. He joined the U-M Department of Music faculty in 1978.

The Violin Concerto which Krachmalnick will play with the orchestra was composed in 1806. All of the Beethoven works on the Sunday program were composed during the German-born composer's "middle period."

The Coriolan Overture which will open the program was composed in 1807, between Beethoven's fifth and sixth symphonies, and was inspired by the story of the mythical Roman patrician Coriolanus.

Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 in E Flat major, Opus 55 (Eroica) which concludes the program was finished in 1804 and is in four movements.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $2.50 for senior citizens and full-time college students. Students 12th grade and under are admitted free.

Sewer costs pose 'political' debate

...to pay the $700,000 it will cost to complete installation of a sewer system in the Park Gardens area is "a political decision I don't want to get involved with," township consulting engineer Edward McNeely said last Tuesday.

McNeely acknowledged to state DNR officials that the engineering plans for the project are devised to accrue costs to the township as a whole, not just to Park Gardens.

When asked, however, if the total cost would be placed on Park Gardens residents or whether others might be assessed a portion, McNeely backed away from the issue.

"I'm just doing what the township has instructed me to do, to design and oversee installation of the system," he said. "How it's to be paid for is not in my realm."

Engineering and design costs, as well as some portion of the construction phase have been paid for with a federal grant to the township.

McNeely's comments came during a meeting of DNR, county and representatives of Finkbeiner, Pettis and Strout, consulting engineers to the so-called "Super Sewer" project.

The latter firm did a study during planning for the Huron Valley Wastewater Treatment System that showed gross human pollution levels and inadequate soil conditions for septic systems in the subdivision.

One focus of the meeting was discussion of possible EPA construction grants funding for the Park Gardens project. Although DNR officials were not optimistic about such funding becoming available (see other story) they did review the project for eligibility.

"There clearly is benefit to a much wider area (than Park Gardens)."

— Brady Boyce
Michigan DNR

Their determination was that the system was designed to serve a much larger area of the township than Park Gardens and that only the Park Gardens service would be eligible for funds as that is the only area with documented pollution.

As McNeely explained the design criteria, Brady Boyce, a water quality specialist with the DNR's grants administration division, expressed surprise that the township was not either picking up a portion of the cost itself or assessing other benefiting property owners.

"You're not going to make the Park Gardens people pay all the remaining cost are you?" he asked. "There clearly is benefit to a much wider area."

That was when McNeely said such decisions were political and out of his realm, but acknowledged that current plans would assess all remaining costs (after grants payments) to the roughly 140 homeowners in the subdivision.

"It's my understanding," the engineer said, "the township won't, or rather, cannot, (bear the cost of the system). What they (residents) end up paying for will be the lateral lines in their streets, less whatever leftover HUD money there is, less whatever EPA funds might become available."

As to the alleged overdesigning of the system, McNeely said it "just makes sense" to design the project so that it ties in appropriately with the rest of the township sewers rather than try to expand the system later.

Principal beneficiary, he asserted, remains Park Gardens. "Without their situation, there is no project at all."

But Park Gardens Homeowners Association president Bill Basse said that was the core of the group's problem with the project as it stands.

"We are just a little upset with having to pay for potential future development out of our pockets," he said. "The township's not putting anything into this except money they got from federal grants and yet the township sewer system and some developers are benefiting from this."

State Representative Jack Kirksey, sitting in on the session, asked if there were not some state or federal monies that might be allocated to the project — "something Senator (Robert) Geake, myself and perhaps (County Commissioner) Mary Dumas could work on?"

The DNR officials said they would keep their eyes open and contact Kirksey later, but right now "everything has dried up in terms of funding."

Project meets criteria but there is no money

Construction of a sewer system in Park Gardens probably qualifies for federal EPA grants, state DNR officials said Wednesday, but there are no dollars available through the program.

The roughly $1.2 million project is partially funded through community development block grants allocated by the federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) administration, and Park Gardens representatives were hopeful the EPA could step forward with enough to defray a portion of the remaining costs.

But Steve Kratzer and Brady Boyce, representing the Michigan DNR, which administers EPA grants here, said the fund from which such grants are made "has pretty much dried up."

"The earliest I could possibly see funding available would be September, 1982," Boyce said. Asked by State Representative Jack Kirksey for an assessment of the project's chances to get some of that funding, Boyce said he is "leaning negative. There are some higher priorities. We couldn't do Northville Township until the higher priorities confirmed they were not ready to go yet, while Northville would be."

Park Gardens homeowners representative Bill Basse said the "residents can't wait regardless. Our big question is, if we sign for a special assessment, do we wipe ourselves off the priority list?"

Boyce said yes, a commitment to pay for the program locally would practically eliminate the project from eligibility. But Kratzer indicated "terminology" would be critical.

"I'd envision they would say, in the assessment, that they would assume their local share of the cost," Kratzer said, "without a specific number. That would leave the door open."

"As long as construction doesn't start. We can't reimburse costs, if you've already got it in the ground, your eligibility is shot," Boyce said.

Township officials said installation of the sewer system could be completed this fall. There was some indication the EPA schedule and township construction schedule might coincide enough that a grant could come through at the last minute, but none of those participating in the meeting would hold out that hope.

The discussion came at a special meeting of Park Gardens representatives and officials from the DNR, township, county grants administrators, a consulting engineering team and Kirksey Wednesday morning in township hall.

Township Clerk Susan Heintz said the "ideal" time to apply for the federal funding would have been four or five years ago, before federal budget cuts reduced available monies. But the documentation of the pollution problems in the area, upon which DNR officials indicated Park Gardens eligibility, was not done until last year.

Ford review still under way

Norm Fultz, president of UAW local 836 at the Ford Northville Valve Plant, formally notified the company Friday that his membership stands ready to reopen local talks should the plant reopen.

Under the national contract ratified late last month Ford is committed to a review of its decision to close the valve plant and Fultz related "things are happening" in that arena which neither he nor the company is ready to talk about in public.

Some sort of decision is expected in the next few weeks, but Fultz said he is not privy to the details of the company's review and did not wish to speculate on what might occur.

A regular meeting of the membership was slated Tuesday night and the local leader was not sure he would have much to tell the members beyond an explanation of what is happening.

"I hope something breaks soon, one way or the other," he said. "Things are getting really desperate out there."

Restoration of some SUB benefits as part of the contract was spread across the great number of Ford employees laid off, he related, so some of his members who have been out of work the longest may have no more than a month of restored benefit.

Workers with five years- or less seniority laid off last April already suffered from an aberration in the state employment picture that denied them a 13-week extension of regular unemployment benefits that had been granted through November and began again March 1.

School plan submittal needed

Closer examination of township planning commission authority over school construction has led the chairman to require submittal of site plans for additions emplaced at the Little Red Schoolhouse on Eight Mile last September.

School construction is generally regulated by the state, but site plan approval is a township prerogative. At an earlier session, planners were not sure where their authority ended and the state's took over.

Consultation with the township attorney, however, indicated the township should have reviewed the site plan for additions at the Red Schoolhouse property, particularly in regard to parking arrangements.

In a letter last month, chairman Kenneth McLarty asked the school to submit site plans for review at the March 30 meeting of the commission.

Police Blotter

Harness gear gone

In the city...

Harness equipment, totaling $600, was stolen from a barn at Northville Downs February 27, city police report.

The complainant said the barn was left unlocked while he was driving in a race. The equipment was gone when he returned, but his street clothes and wallet were left untouched, police said.

Someone attempted to break into a Concord Court residence between February 25 and March 1, but was unsuccessful, police report. Damage to two doorwalls was placed at $125.

The suspects tried to pry open a screen, which bent in half, on a door-wall with some type of tool, either a tire iron or a screwdriver, police said. Also, the suspects tried to open a doorwall underneath the other.

However, entry through either door-wall was unsuccessful due to boards placed in the tracks, police said.

A chain saw, worth $392, and a circular saw, worth $40, were stolen from a Grandview residence garage between November 27 and December 4, 1981. The items were reported missing to police February 27.

The complainant said unknown persons took the items from an unlocked garage, police said.

Unknown suspects stole four wire wheel covers, valued at $200, from a 1979 Chevrolet which was parked at the deck on Cady and Center Streets March 2, police said.

In the township

Daniel L. George, 23, of Northville Township was ticketed for failure to obey a traffic signal and driving with an expired operator's permit following an accident that injured two persons in another car early Saturday morning.

According to the police report of the incident, George was driving eastbound on Six Mile at about 40 miles per hour at 3:40 a.m. Saturday and was unable to stop for a red light at Sheldon Road due to icy road conditions.

A vehicle northbound on Sheldon entered the intersection on a green light and George's car struck it in the left front quarter, injuring both the driver and passenger. Police said George's car hit a pole, snapping it four feet above ground level, before coming to a stop.

A witness driving southbound on Sheldon confirmed that the traffic signal was green for Sheldon traffic before George's car entered the intersection.

Roy Sowa, 18, of Northville Township was transported to Providence Hospital by Novi Ambulance for treatment of facial cuts and bruises suffered in the accident. His passenger, John Robertson, 17, of the city, reported shoulder pain.

A passenger in George's car reportedly suffered several lumps to the head. The Canton resident had left the accident scene in search of help before police arrived and declined treatment when contacted the next day.

George, too, declined medical treatment after complaining of pain in the knees.

A $360 snowblower was reported stolen from the garage of a Steepleview resident March 4. The owner told police the garage door was left open between 7 and 11 p.m. that night and the two-month old snowblower was discovered missing the next morning.

A house under construction on Longridge Road suffered $200 damage to insulation March 3, apparently caused by youths playing in the unoccupied structure.

Caught in the dwelling by the builder later, the youths in their early teens told police they had entered the building to play "tag." The builder told police he does not wish to prosecute but desires restitution for the damages.

Two convicted by courts

A Wayne County Circuit Court jury has found Mark David Dreher guilty as charged of breaking and entering at a Haggerty Road residence September 1, 1981.

The verdict handed down last month followed a five-day trial that began February 2 in which police presented evidence gathered since they arrived on the scene, interrupting the burglary in progress.

Dreher was released on bond pending a report from the probation department prior to sentencing. Township Detective Sergeant Phil Presnell said the man was on probation for an earlier break-in incident.

Herbert Lawrence McIntyre, 31, of Redford will face sentencing March 16 on charges of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder, according to Presnell.

McIntyre was charged with two counts of assault after an incident August 1, 1981, in which he allegedly tried to run down four people with his car, got out of the vehicle and threatened them with a hammer, and tried to hit them with the car again.

Presnell said two of the victims were hit in the legs by the car McIntyre was driving. He filed a guilty plea to one count of assault, the detective said, February 23 and the judge stated an intent to sentence from 2-10 years in incarceration.

Taste Verdict: Merit.

Former higher tar smokers applaud MERIT
as "Best-tasting low tar I've tried."

Can a low tar cigarette provide the taste incentive to switch smokers from higher tar brands?

Research proves MERIT can.

Taste Debate Ends.

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers who switched from higher tar are glad they did. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

MERIT Landslide.

In addition, extensive unmarked-pack tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared with higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Restraint law takes effect April 1

April Fool's Day will have serious side to it this year — that's the day Michigan's new child restraint law takes effect.

Officially known as the Child Passenger Safety Law, Public Act 117 of 1981 requires as of April 1 that drivers carrying children under four years of age secure the child with a car seat or seatbelts. Children older than one may ride in the back seat with seat belts, but must be secured in a Federally-approved child seat when riding in the front seat.

Those younger than one-year-old must be in a child safety seat regardless of their location in the car.

According to the Michigan State Police, 26 children were killed and 3,331 injured in this state in 1980 traffic accidents. In the eight other states where restraint laws have been adopted, the MSP's Office of Highway Safety Planning states, the seats have shown ability to reduce the threat of injury by 80 percent and the chance of death by 90 percent.

Parson to Person...

Space Travel in the Bible?

Dr. James H. Luther

Do you remember when the world watched in wonder as our astronauts planted the American flag on the moon? That first step makes us consider how far man is capable of going.

Did you know that there is a verse in the Bible that refers to a great potential in man to explore space? The scene is the Tower of Babel. This was an ungodly religious endeavor to unify man by connecting earth and heaven. On that occasion, the Lord said, "...this they begin to do; and now nothing will be withheld from them, which they have imagined to do."

Now, God was not suggesting that they could actually reach the spiritual heaven from earth (I do not feel the ancients believed it either; they were very intelligent); but the Hebrew does suggest that man has the ability to reach out to the heavens by mechanical means. Is space travel forbidden in Scripture? Not in so many words. BUT the desire for the conquest of space by rebellious men at the expense of trust and obedience to God caused God to intervene in judgment.

Will God intervene in human history again? Yes, He will! Jesus Christ will one day travel through space and time to keep His promise to return. The day may soon be here when believers will be "caught up to meet the Lord in the air" (I Thes. 4:13-18). What glorious space travel that will be.

The time seems near. Are you ready?

Parking poses problems on Main Street

Reserve parking for shoppers

More than a year ago, when Mainstreet '78 construction was just getting under way, the city and the chamber of commerce concurred in thinking it would be desirable for the parking meters on Main and Center streets in the downtown to be removed permanently. It also would be advantageous for shoppers not to have a time limit posted, they agreed.

At the annual Northville Chamber of Commerce dinner a year ago, City Manager Steven Walters announced that the meters would not return, but appealed for help in reserving the street parking places for shoppers. The chamber then pledged it would find a way to prevent those who work in town from using the prime places. Businesses and shop owners and their employees would be enlisted in a cooperative program to use posted all-day parking in city lots.

That is the way it should be. Needed customers should have preferred parking — but it isn't working that way. Police Chief Rodney Cannon and his officers report that they see the same cars parked on the downtown streets day after day, many of them all day long. So do we.

Merchants who complain about fewer on-street parking spaces should set an example by parking in back of the city lots and should require their employees to do likewise. Then there would be spaces for those who wish to pick up their cleaning or shoes, stop for lunch, and run into a shop.

Actually, while the Mainstreet '78 renovation changed location of parking places, the total number downtown remains about the same. There are 10 fewer street spaces because of landscaping, but the 20 lost in the Town Square have been made up by eight added in Mary Alexander Court and 23 across the street by the Downriver Savings and Loan corner.

It's time for the chamber to exert its influence on its members and on all businesses, to emphasize there is a price tag on this parking that will be to their benefit. If this doesn't happen, we predict there soon will be posted time limits on both Main and Center.

New York — it's a wonderful town

Everyone has his or her favored way of banishing the blues. With more than 60 inches of snow that had to be shoveled and waded through almost daily since winter began (and with more predicted before spring dances in 11 days from now on March 20), it didn't take a great nudge to succumb to the blandishments of the airlines specials to New York City the end of February.

I'm not always sure whether I enjoy "getting away from it all" or just being in new, exciting or different surroundings for a few days. I think it's the latter.

Anyway, from the time we boarded the bargain $49 Republic flight (arranged by Travel Plans) to LaGuardia at 8:15 a.m. Friday morning until our return Monday afternoon, it was a great getaway. The right companions helped. Cooke Junior High teacher Dorothea Bach, my neighbor, took advantage of the school's winter break; completing the trio was my college classmate Kay MacKay. A threesome is a good way to visit the Big Apple, slicing taxi and hotel expenses.

I hadn't visited New York City for a dozen years, but was pleasantly surprised. It seemed cleaner and the people friendlier. What do three women do on a long NYC weekend? First, the American Wing at the Metropolitan Museum alone is worth a trip. Also impressive is the Egyptian temple for which a glass-walled area has been constructed. The special costume exhibit focusing primarily on the 18th century French woman, but including English and American costumes, shouldn't be missed. Visitors can pause to eat and even have a glass of wine at the museum. The gift shop of books, prints, jewelry, china and glass reproductions is large and well stocked. Thanks to a tip from Pat Wright we discovered the Museum of American Folk Art on 53rd — a little gem of early Americana with painted furniture and whimsical accessories. Worth the few minutes it takes to browse—even if this isn't your thing.

First night in NYC we taxied to the Village Gate to see "One Mo' Time," a salute to the days of black vaudeville, getting the last three seats in the house ($14.95) — and a marvelous evening of entertainment. Saturday night Lena Horne in "The Lady and Her Music" received a deserved standing ovation.

Such minuses as a city and state hotel room tax adding $9 daily to our bill were overshadowed by the dazzle of the crown Napoleon had made for Josephine viewed in a Fifth Avenue window, and the sheer quantity of jewels at Fortunoff, the store Bacall is plugging in ads — or the fun of buying a plate at Tiffany's and finding there was a 15-minute wait for the ribbon-tied blue package because "it had to be sent upstairs to be washed, of course."

The other lure of New York, of course, is food. From the Seventh Avenue deli around the corner from our hotel to the Russian Tea Room (recommended by several, including staffer Michele McElmurry who visited NYC earlier this winter) it was a tasty trip. We were delighted to find Paddy's Fish House still is a block from Macy's and still serves the best (and cheapest) fish, shrimp, crabmeat and lobster in its bare-floor quarters. The red-coated waiters look as if they have been there since it opened. The Rainbow Room on the 65th floor of Rockefeller Plaza (where the skaters glide by at ground level) offers an incomparable view of the city.

As the plane circled Manhattan, the day was sunny and the Statue of Liberty dominated the harbor below while the uneven skyline of buildings towered behind. Best of all, there was no snow. None at all. I'm ready to go back.

Introducing our new look

Dear Readers,

The eagle-eyed among you may have noticed already that The Record is sporting a slightly different appearance today. For those who can't quite put their fingers on the change, and those who haven't noticed yet, let us explain.

What we've done is a facelift on the flags throughout the paper. For those who don't know what a flag is, it's the nameplate at the top of page one and of each section (Editorials, Our Town and Sports, in our case).

Our intent was to employ the modern wonders of computerized typesetting and offset printing to produce a look that expresses the character of this newspaper and the community at large in a unified theme throughout the paper.

In a way the change is similar to the downtown Mainstreet project, in that we feel we've used modern methods to generate a crisp, clean new look without abandoning the sense of history and tradition that is central to both Northville and The Record.

So what did we do? With the advice, expert eye and steady hand of Sliger/Livingston Publications Special Projects Director Stephen Cvenegros and an assist from the keyliners in composition, we performed minor alterations to the front page flag and started fresh with the ones inside.

We rearranged the elements of the front page flag somewhat, placing the emphasis on our historic foundation as Wayne County's oldest weekly paper (only the daily Detroit Free Press has roots deeper in the past). A wider line at the bottom gives a crisper separation of the flag and the editorial matter below it, and matches those integral to the interior flags.

Incidentally, the change makes a little more room on the front page, giving us more flexibility in designing the layout of the copy and graphic elements on the page.

Inside, the cornerstone of the revision is a different typeface, called Stymie, which, in combination with the design employed, should make the page design stand out better and be easier to read.

Stymie is a more traditional, crisper-looking typeface than had been employed in these flags. The section names (Editorials, Our Town and Sports) are in Stymie Regular while the section letters are in Stymie Extra, a bolder face. The section letters have been moved to the right side of the page, where we believe most readers look for them.

The section letter is inside a separate index box to help readers find the features they are most interested in seeing.

The other element of the interior flag design is the paper's name in Old English type, just as it is on the front page. No, we didn't leave Stymie off the front page flag — it's used in the line about our founding in 1869, right below the paper's name.

All this comprises phase one of the facelift. Phase two is a similar revamp of logos in the paper, and you can catch a sneak preview in the News Briefs logo on Page One. The typeface is an italic version of Stymie. Other new logos to appear in phase two will identify the Community Calendar, the Off the Record column on the editorial page and the In Our Town column.

Right now, economic conditions force us to begin the sports section on page 6-C. Today you can see an abbreviated version of that flag, minus the index box and section letter. It essentially will be like the Our Town flag on C-1 when we again print them as separate sections.

We're pleased with the results so far and hope you are, too. We didn't change just for the sake of change, we changed to make our paper more attractive and easier for you to read.

Sincerely,
The Record staff

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

"Look at this weather," she said, peering disgustedly at the snowflakes through the window of our palatial country estate as we partook of our evening repast.

"It's depressing, that's what it is," she continued. "The average temperature this time of year is 42 degrees, and we get a high of 21 during the day and another blizzard at night."

"Look at the bright side," I interjected, pausing both for dramatic effect and to refill my glass with Chianti.

"Why all the signs are pointing to wonderful things ahead. I can think of hundreds of reasons for optimism," I continued, warming to the self-imposed challenge.

"Spring is on the way. It's only a matter of time before the birds will be on-wing and the tulips are poking their little heads through Mother Nature's good fresh earth."

"The Tigers are in spring training and it looks like this is the year they'll go all the way. The exhibition season has already started, for crying out loud, and it's only a matter of weeks till opening day."

"And the prime rate fell again today," I continued. "It's down to 16 and who knows how low it's going to go? I think we should start giving some serious thought to refinancing our mortgage. I mean, why pay 8½ percent when we're going to be able to get seven six or even five."

"And 'The Recovery,'" I said, rolling right along. "The first quarter, that dreaded first quarter, is almost over. The second quarter is right around the corner. And by the time July rolls around...why the very thought of it makes me want to buy some Chrysler stock."

She looked at me, warily. "Do you really think so?" she asked, glancing discreetly at the amount of wine left in my glass. (It was half full, of course).

"Do I think so?" I shot back. "I know so. Every sign is positive. Being optimistic is kind of like growing older," I explained, relying on contemporary philosophy to wax eloquent. "It beats the heck out of the alternative."

Kirksey hopes to keep Northville

Getting down to brass tacks

By Jean Hansen
Board Trustee

To the Editor:
This serves as a response to the March 3 "Off the Record" article written by Kevin Wilson.
The information in his column indicated that as a result of House district reapportionment, I may not represent Northville in the future.
In regard to the question of reapportionment, it appears there will not be any decision on district boundaries until mid-April. I sincerely hope that the legislature and courts will not change my district in such a way as to delete the Northville portion. Northville citizens have been extremely kind to both me and my wife and have made us always feel very welcome. Northville residents have always communicated with me in a very positive manner and have been supportive in every way possible.

In turn, I hope that Northville citizens feel I have represented their concerns and interests responsibly in Lansing.
I would deeply miss this association and relationship if my district were not to include this area. I have made my feelings known to the Republican members of the reapportionment committee and sincerely hope I will not be prevented from representing this area if I am reelected this year.

If it should appear that the new 35th District will not contain Northville, you can be absolutely guaranteed that my commitment to serving the community will not diminish in any way and I will serve you to the best of my ability until your new Representative takes office.
(Sincerely yours,
Jack E. Kirksey
State Representative)

Salary differential for clerical queried

To The Editor:

I wish to extend my sincere appreciation to our township personnel. As the final outlook for the 1982 budget sessions is being decided, you can certainly see those who earn their pay.

It is apparent the pay for the recreation secretary, who earns half her salary by the township through shared services, is getting double pay for the job others share day-in and day-out. Maybe our township secretaries should demand the shared services clause too?

Respectfully submitted,
Liz McCarville

EDITOR'S NOTE: "Getting Down to Brass Tacks" is written by members of the Northville Board of Education to help residents understand educational issues currently facing school officials in our community. Columns are alternated each week to allow members to present different viewpoints.

The Board of Education is facing some very difficult decisions which will have far reaching implications for the future of our district. These decisions deal with closing schools, realigning grade structure and adding programs in some areas, while deleting or reducing programs in others. The most important question to be answered in making such decisions is, "How does this affect the quality of our education?"

We all want to continue to improve the quality of education in Northville, but this is where our problem arises. What is quality education? We all believe that we know what quality education is. We also believe that quality education does exist in our district. But, as a community, we have never formally agreed upon a definition of quality education. Nor have we, as a community, ever agreed upon what actually characterizes a quality program.

The Citizens Advisory Committee on Program Standards and Their Effectiveness was formed by the Board of Education in an attempt to learn what quality education means to people of Northville. The Committee was given four specific tasks: (1) to define quality education; (2) to examine and list the characteristics of quality education; (3) to develop a set of standards that can be used to judge the quality of our district and (4) to establish guidelines for a monitoring system which can be used to evaluate student performance so we will know whether the students are, in fact, receiving a quality education.

To accomplish these goals, the committee divided itself into subcommittees to address these four separate, but related, tasks. Each subcommittee has been composed of community members, parents, students, a staff member, a board member and an administrator. To date, the subcommittees on definition and characteristics have completed their work while the subcommittee on standards is nearing completion. The subcommittee on evaluation will convene once the standards subcommittee finishes and reports back to all of the members of the committee meeting as the committee of the whole, a procedure which has been followed by each of the other subcommittees as well.

The steering committee, which is composed of all chairpersons, a student, staff member, board member and an administrator is responsible for compiling the findings of each subcommittee into the report which will formally be presented to the board of education. This report could well have significant impact on the future of the district.

It already has become obvious to those serving on the committee that there is need for the board to form a follow-up citizens' group for the purpose of comparing our existing programs to the standards which are presently being developed and refined. In which areas is the district particularly strong? Where are improvements needed?

The board needs to know, now more than ever before, what the community it serves believes quality education to be. More and more is being demanded from the schools, but the ability and willingness to financially support these demands is dwindling. The work of this committee should provide the board with guidelines that can be used as it faces the difficult decisions ahead.

All of the committee members are to be commended for the time and effort they have devoted to the task of determining what "quality education" means to people of the Northville school district.

News from Lansing

Electric billing process under review

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

About two years ago the Legislature passed a bill that changed the way most residential electrical utility customers were to be charged. Based on the arguments that energy conservation should be rewarded and that economic sanctions should be imposed upon those who used above a certain block amount of electricity, the Public Service Commission was told by lawmakers to restructure rates for the two largest electrical utilities in the state—Consumers Power and Detroit Edison.

Beginning in September 1981, then, residential customers of these two utilities began receiving monthly billings that were no longer based solely on the amount of electricity the household used, but also on the rate of their usage, and the number of members in the household.

The nickname "lifeline" for this kind of energy rate structure seems to have originated in Washington, D.C., in testimony leading to the federal Public Utility Regulatory Policy Act passed in the late '70s under the Carter administration. Opponents call it "social engineering," but the concept that residential customers must pay more for energy usage above a certain amount is known as a "lifeline" rate system in Michigan.

The "lifeline" rate refers to the lowest block amount of monthly kilowatt hours deemed necessary for residential customers by the Commission. Those households that use an amount less than what is determined as "lifeline" are billed at the lowest rate. Those households that use an amount greater than this minimum are billed at a higher rate for all the energy they consume above the "lifeline" amount. There are ascending blocks of rates for correspondingly higher amounts of electrical usage.

The Public Service Commission set the lowest block amount allowed at 360 kilowatt hours for a household of two or under, and 510 kilowatt hours for a household of three or over. Written into the law for PSC consideration or action are "adjustments" for the seasonal use of space heating units, reasonable use of electrical water heaters, adjustments for medically necessary life support devices, and usage by senior citizens and classes of customers having special circumstances requiring substantially more electricity.

The utilities were prevented from collecting any additional revenue that might accrue from the selective higher rates; revenue loss to the utilities was built into the bill, as conservation of energy was its stated purpose.

It was estimated at the time of passage of the law that 80 percent of the residential customers of the two large utilities would benefit from the new rate structure by falling into the rate block that rewarded lower electrical usage. The other 20 percent, it was estimated, would be receiving higher bills and thus be encouraged to drop their level of usage. It was believed that low income people would fall into the lower block, since they would not be using luxury appliances or such things as heated swimming pools. However, it has been found that many low income people actually use a great deal of electricity because they do not reside in energy efficient homes or use energy-efficient appliances.

Although the program has not been in effect yet a year, an initial look at the results of the so-called "lifeline" rate system indicates that 80 percent of the customers do indeed have a reduction in their monthly utility bills but only a very slight one. However, the 20 percent of customers who fall into the higher rate blocks are suffering a disproportionate raise in their rates not envisaged by the new law.

Some legislators have received complaints about the "lifeline" rates from constituents who feel their monthly electrical usage, while higher than the monthly minimum allowed by the lowest rate, is indeed necessary for them and many others like them. Large families or households who have people in the residence 24 hours a day use more electricity, for instance, than a family of three with two spouses working outside the home and a child sent to day-care somewhere else.

There is a move afoot now in the House of Representatives to repeal this rating system and return to basing customers' bills solely on the amount of electricity they consume. The more they use, the more they would pay, but economic sanctions and penalties against them in addition to their own higher costs would be removed.

At the time the present rating system was first proposed, a comprehensive look at the entire rate-making procedure for all the energy utilities in the state seemed in order, as the federal policy to decontrol these industries has mandated nationally that energy costs go up in order to make our nation self sufficient.

The Legislature set up a task force that has worked diligently for 24 months to redo much of Michigan's rate-making procedures and is on the verge of introduction of a package of bills in the House.

Some see the effort to repeal "lifeline" rates as a message to those groups who do not believe in comprehensive reform that the Legislature, after all this time and work, means business.

The repeal bill, House Bill 5435, has been reported out of the House Public Utilities Committee and is presently before the full house.

If it gets further in the legislative process and comes before the Senate, I shall take a good long look at the status of the expected comprehensive reform package before I decide how to vote on a bill repealing the present rating system.

APPROVAL OF BILLS: Motion by Councilman DeRusha, supported by Councilman Gardner to approve the following bills:

GENERAL FUND, $66,053.20; MAJOR STREET FUND, $7,402.36; LOCAL STREET FUND, $8,791.27; WATER FUND, $7,229.87; EQUIPMENT FUND, $17,384.82; PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT FUND, $40,593.92; SHARED SERVICES FUND, $5,020.25; TRUST AND AGENCY FUND, $946,320.37; ALLEN TERRACE OPERATING FUND, $9,532.98; PAYROLL FUND, $21,398.04; RECREATION FUND, $11,269.71.

Motion Carried Unanimously. POLICE REPORT — DECEMBER: The December Police Report was reviewed.

Chief Cannon commented on the Clydesdale horses paraded at the mall and evening races at the Downs on Saturday, January 27. He also commented on the fires that they believe are being set in the men's room at the Downs.

TRAFFIC CONTROL ORDER 82-02: Chief Cannon explained the traffic control order which would rescind Traffic Control Order No. 74-20 and would make east and westbound Baseline Road at Carpenter a stop intersection.

Traffic Order 82-02 was amended to state that Traffic Control Order 74-20 was nullified.

Motion by Councilman Gardner supported by Councilwoman Ayers to adopt Traffic Order No. 82-02 as amended and rescind 74-20.

Motion Carried Unanimously. COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS: There were none.

AGENDA REVISIONS: Mrs. Forman asked to have agenda item 13 moved up. There were no objections.

STREET LIGHTS ON ROGERS: Mr. Kenneth Felt, 118 N. Rogers, thought the Cobra lights looked ridiculous and were a disgrace to the community.

Mrs. Dolores Forman, 117 N. Rogers, felt there was something in the Historic Register about what would be considered appropriate lighting. She did not like the Cobra lights and asked how they happened to be put in.

It was Mr. Felt's understanding that the old lights plus the new Cobras would be left together.

Fran Gazlay, 221 S. Rogers, commented this was never brought before the Historic Commission of which he is a member. He had two questions, how far in the City would these lights go and will all the "nice old" ones be removed.

He wanted to know why they were not notified of the change and also why they couldn't pay a little more, and get the lights they prefer.

Mrs. Gay Swallow, 318 S. Rogers, noted she paid over $4,000 in taxes and wondered where the equity was since Lexington Commons had these lights every other lot.

Ms. Laurie Fowler, 201 Fairbrook noted many residents called and were frustrated re the selection of the lights. She asked what the process was for the selection since three choices were given.

Mr. Cullen Dunbar, 531 W. Main, had talked with a representative of Detroit Edison and was told the City was given three choices or lights. With respect to the cost, the Colonial fixture was $216 a year per light and the Cobra $279 a year per light on the basis the Edison Co. would do the installing and supply the lights. If the City does the work and pays for its own contractor, the Cobra would cost $98 a year per light and the Colonial $67.20 a year per light. He shared the point of view of many that the Cobra fixture was much less desirable than the Colonial.

Mr. Hugh Forman, 117 S. Rogers, noted there were 3 Cobra and 2 Colonial and asked why the old lights were not wired.

Mrs. Dunbar, 531 W. Main, thought it should be emphasized, she stated that the City should have the choice of what lights go where, not Edison.

Mr. Gazlay noted they have not had a single light on S. Rogers lit for months and has contacted the Police Department and Front Office.

Mayor Vernon stated that no one in the audience found the lights more distasteful than he did. It was an economical question that City Council has to make from time to time. He noted it would be impossible for Council to let everyone know what might affect their neighborhoods. He also mentioned Council met the first and third Mondays each month and usually the Council Room was vacant.

The City Manager explained the problem which was discovered when the underground feeding system was interrupted by the downtown wiring. He explained Detroit Edison notified the City could not be patched.

Edison came up with a new system and gave the City a proposal which he explained.

Discussion followed.

Mr. Gazlay stated he would pay more to have the proper lights in his neighborhood if the lights would last 80 years. They reflect the community.

Mrs. Wilma Albrecht, 350 S. W. also spoke against the new system.

Councilman DeRusha commented the people are unhappy with what is proposed and maybe City Council should take a look at it again.

Councilman Gardner asked about the cost figures received from Edison.

The City Manager noted they did have figures on the final report and the City had no way to finance it this fiscal year. The only option the City had was to take the kind of lights Edison would put in.

Councilman Folino stated he was not on Council when this came up, however, the lights in Lexington Commons were put in by the developer.

Mr. David Broad, 300 Wing Court, asked if the Cobra lights were the same as on the freeways.

Mayor Vernon stated they were not the same wattage.

Ms. Albrecht wondered if they could get a police study of accidents in that area since there are two lights on Wing Street and it is a main thoroughfare.

Mayor Vernon asked the City Manager to explore with Edison, the practicality of some other lighting on those streets. He suggested that probably on a per resident basis the cost would not be that prohibitive.

Mrs. Forman, 117 S. Rogers agreed to be the spokesperson for the residents.

WAYNE COUNTY CD BLOCK GRANT DISCUSSION: Mayor Vernon noted a suggestion made by Mr. Gazlay re could the lighting qualify for CD grant money.

The City Manager stated that kind of project would not be approved except in a target area based on low income and minority factors.

Discussion followed on the priorities in Wayne County.

It was decided that the goal was to improve the downtown central business district and provide needed public facilities for the Wayne County project.

Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman Gardner to publish as projects for the 1982 Wayne County CD Block Grant funds the following:

1. retirement of the library addition bond issue.

2. additional improvements to the Downtown Development District.

Motion Carried Unanimously. OAKLAND COUNTY CD BLOCK GRANT DISCUSSION: John Calandro, County Commissioner, advised that April 26 was the date applications have to be in for HUD.

The City Manager recommended Ford Field improvements and barrier free sidewalk ramps.

Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman Gardner to publish as projects for the 1982 Oakland County CD Block Grant funds, the following:

1. Ford Field Improvements

2. barrier free sidewalk ramps at intersections.

Motion Carried Unanimously. Discussion followed on the emergency civil defense renovation project and it was decided to include that in the request.

Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman Gardner to rescind the previous motion re Oakland County CD Block Grant Funds.

Motion Carried Unanimously. Motion by Councilwoman Ayers supported by Councilman Gardner to publish as projects for the 1982 Oakland County CD Block Grant funds, the following:

1. Ford Field Improvements

2. Public shelter improvements to the Municipal Building.

3. Provide barrier free sidewalk ramps at intersections.

Motion Carried Unanimously. INSURANCE CONSULTANT: This was tabled until the next meeting.

BUDGET: The Race Track revenue report was presented for the last two weeks. The nightly handle showed improvement.

Discussion followed on meets on Sunday and Councilman Folino explained the union problems at the Downs.

CITY HALL BARRIER FREE BIDS: Bids for the barrier free toilet facilities at the City Hall were received on Feb. 3, 1982 at 2 p.m. by the City Manager, City Clerk and Michael Procter of the architectural firm Merritt & McCallum, as shown on the attached page.

The City Manager noted the letter from Merritt & McCallum recommending the low bid of Sheridan Construction be accepted in the amount of $7,990. The letter mentioned Sheridan have had a difficult time in finalizing their projects.

Sheridan has agreed not to bill any monies until all work is 100% complete and all punch list items are 100% complete.

STATE MANDATED SERVICES — REIMBURSEMENT — UPPER PENINSULA: Mayor Vernon had requested copies be made of the communication received from the Mayors of the Cities Gladstone and Escanaba re State Mandated Services by provision of Public Act 841 of 1978, as amended. They noted that this took effect after the Headlee Amendment and because the Act mandates local governmental action, all solid waste management expenses must be paid by the state as required by the Amendment. The communication also noted that in the event the DNR is successful, all local units of government will be confronted with mandates having financial implications.

Councilman DeRusha thought the communities raised an excellent point and they would find out for the rest of the community if they would be liable for such expenses. He would be glad to contribute in a small way.

After discussion the following motion was made:

Motion by Councilman DeRusha supported by Councilwoman Ayers to contribute $100 to the Solid Waste Management Field Defense Fund.

Motion Carried Unanimously. REQUEST FROM LIVONIA DEPARTMENT OF COMMUNITY RESOURCES, MINOR HOME REPAIR PROGRAM TO MEET AND DISCUSS VARIOUS MEANS OF MAINTAINING AND/OR INCREASING HOME REPAIR TO ELDERLY HOME OWNERS: The City Manager stated the Housing Director, Fran Yoakam, has been the City's representative on this. He mentioned all kinds of services are offered but funds were being cut back. They would get a report from the Housing Director.

BOCA APPEAL BOARD: The City Attorney's opinion, as stated in his communication of 2-9-82, that there is no requirement that the members of this Board be residents of the City of Northville.

The City Manager stated an appeal had been received and members of the Appeal Board have to be professionals, with ten years experience, i.e., architects, engineers and contractors.

Discussion followed and names were submitted to be contacted. These could be appointed at the next meeting.

AFSCME APPEAL BOARD: A copy of an Unfair Labor Practice Charge filed on behalf of the Northville Clerical Employees against AFSCME and a copy of a communication from the City's Labor Attorney, requesting a hearing date as soon as possible, was in the packet.

The City Attorney will discuss the Minor Violations Bureau with the new person who took over from the retiring Judge Goodwillie.

John Colandro would be attending Council meetings on a somewhat regular basis.

Councilman Folino asked if any communication had been received from the Court re removing the violations bureau over to Plymouth.

Councilman DeRusha advised he had received a list of problems from Mr. Wiland. His letter was reviewed and a meeting was requested with Mr. Wiland. Councilman DeRusha noted that we have had something that worked and now Mr. Wiland has fixed it, we would ask him to unfix it.

Communication from Capital City: Communications received in the amount of $1,442.

Copy of Mayor Vernon's communication to the City Attorney for a written legal opinion whether or not a "Grandfather Clause" to continue the parking on residentially zoned property actually does exist.

It was the City Attorney's opinion that it does exist. This was discussed.

Mayor Vernon noted he had received a reply back from Governor Milliken re the race track revenues.

The City Manager mentioned that every check the City receives from the State re the race track revenue has the 11.2% taken out of it.

Meeting adjourned at 10:45 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

State Police warn parents of youths

State police are contacting parents of certain teenage boys in this area, including Northville, in the course of investigating what they believe are suspicious activities of a Southfield man.

According to state police the man's activities include paying athletic youths aged 13-17 to participate in a contest in which he tapes their responses to sports questions that gradually take on sexual overtones. Picked up at a Plymouth fast-food restaurant where he had contacted some youths, the man cooperated with police, giving them many pictures of youths without shirts and a computer listing by which he keeps track of the game.

So far as police can tell, the man has committed no criminal act, but investigation is continuing. The names of as many as 40 Northville youths may be involved, they said, and parents of those on the list are being contacted.

Milford couple says demand still strong in used-car market

By SUSAN KAUPPILA

Two years ago Bill Saunders, owner of Milford's Colonial Motors, was selling primarily special interest cars to collectors.

Realizing that people today don't have money for "toys," Saunders revamped his business and decided to wholesale cars along with his regular used car sales.

Admitting to selling between 300-400 cars annually, the amiable 45-year-old auto buff points to long hours and hard work as keys to his success, along with his willingness to change to meet challenges.

Initially, Saunders started out in Milford in 1966 with a Chrysler-Plymouth dealership. Although it was a success and he enjoyed his work, he decided to go out of the new car sales in 1977.

"It (used car sales) is a simpler business. You don't have the service hassle and you don't need as many employees," he explained.

During the peak of his dealership days, Saunders and his partner-wife Donna had 12 men working for them. Now it's the two of them plus his nephew, Dan Saunders. "That's just the way I like, too," he smiles.

Saunders' views over the years have changed too, especially with the depressed economy and how persons want to spend their money.

"People can get a whole lot more car with a used one. The depreciation is off and it's a better value. While persons today can afford new cars, many won't spend the money. That's where I can help them out," Saunders continued.

For the husband-wife team that celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary last December, the pace is hectic to keep their lot and showroom full near the intersection of South Main and Huron.

"Monday night we were in Roseville. I bought two cars in Utica Tuesday night and two in Madison Heights Wednesday night. We're always on the go."

"I couldn't function without Donna Lou. She's really an integral part of the business," Saunders said proudly of his wife. "She sells cars, drives cars home that I buy, takes care of most of the books and has a real good way with people. We work well together as a team."

While they rely on "wanted to buy" ads in several different newspapers, the Saunders point to much business from word-of-mouth references. They also sell cars through the Flint auction on Wednesdays.

"We're selling to a lot of dealers in the south. Eventually that's what we want to do—strictly wholesaling. You buy, you sell and it's done. Right now we work from 9 a.m. to 10 or 11 p.m. every night," Saunders said matter-of-factly.

Sweethearts at their church and at Waterford High School who were married soon after graduation, the Saunders have spent an interesting life together. While he obtained his engineering degree at Le Tourneau Institute in Longview, Texas, Donna worked as a secretary to put him through school.

"I bought a gas station down there, too," Saunders recalled his early business days. "Within six months, it was the second highest pumping station in the county and won awards for being the most consistently clean and well-kept."

Following graduation, he went to work for Walker Manufacturing (exhaust systems) in Jackson as a project engineer. His next job was as a test and developmental engineer at the Chrysler Testing Ground in Chelsea.

"Then I got crazy and with $5,000 got my Chrysler dealership. The rest is history," he laughed.

When asked why his businesses always succeed, Saunders points to several reasons.

"I buy strong cars. They may need minor paint work or a set of tires. But we make them look the best we can."

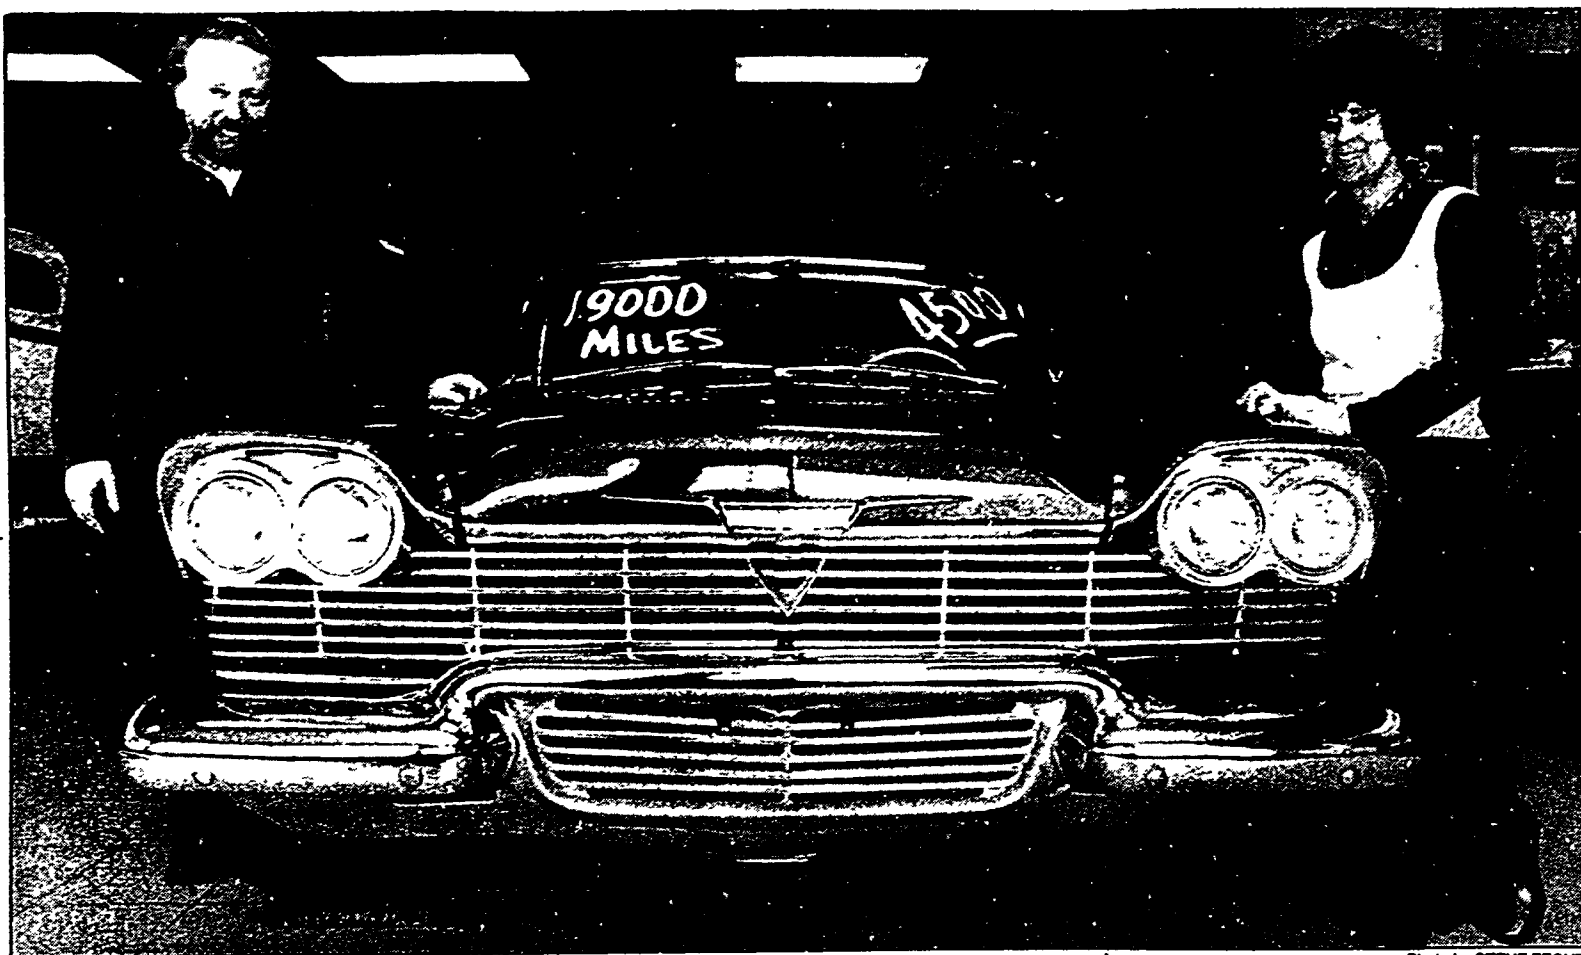

"Then too, we have a lot of repeat customers. We try to make sure they get a good car and we do put a warranty on them. If they have a problem, we take care of it. I think we carry the big end."

"I've also got people who are bringing their kids in to buy cars because people like to go back to a place if they've had good service. I guess those are some of the reasons we've been successful," Saunders commented.

"We also enjoy the people we meet in this business and have made a lot of friends."

"While persons today can afford new cars, many won't spend the money. That's where I can help them out."

How do the Irish really celebrate?

By PHILIP O'JEROME

"What does St. Patrick's Day mean to a real Irishman?" asked John J. O'Brien, president of Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Homes, Inc., repeating the reporter's question.

"It's a celebration, that's what it is."
"That's a bit of a heavy question," responded William R. O'Brien, a Novi resident, to the same question.

"St. Patrick is the one who converted Ireland to Christianity and Catholicism," he continued. "But my good friend John is correct," he added quickly. "It is a celebration."
"The meaning of St. Patrick's Day?" said Wolverine Lake Village Administrator William O'Brien, whose father was born in County Cork, Ireland.

"That's the day all the old Irishmen get together and talk about the bad times and the good times. But we don't limit it to Irishmen anymore," he added.

"We let in the old Germans and the old Poles and anyone else who wants to join us. They don't even have to be old. It really is a celebration."

And how does a real Irishman celebrate St. Patrick's Day?

O'Brien was the first to answer.
"You start by going to Mass," he said.
"All the true Irishmen go to Mass at Holy Trinity in Detroit," he said.

"Or they'll go to Old St. Mary's," O'Brien interjected. "Jerry Cavanaugh was the one who led the move over to Holy Trinity, but Old St. Mary's was really the place to go first," he said.

Despite their disagreement over churches, O'Brien and O'Brien agreed about what happens afterwards.

"You start filtering out to the watering holes," said O'Brien.

And not just any watering holes, either. You've got to hit the genuine, authentic, true-green watering holes.

"The Old Shillelagh is one of the best," said O'Brien.

"The Lagerhouse is another," added O'Brien.
"And you've got to stop by the Irish-American Club sometime during the course of the afternoon," said O'Brien.

One of the very best places is Dunleavy's, formerly located in Detroit and presently situated on Grand River Avenue in Farmington Hills.

"I can remember when they were stacked up five-deep at the bar at the old Dunleavy's in Detroit," O'Brien recalled.

"And it's not much different today," added O'Brien.

In fact, the St. Patrick's Day celebration is so important to some Irishmen that they rent a limousine for the day to squire them from watering hole to watering hole.

Marijane Kitamura, bookkeeper at Ambassador Limousines in Detroit, verified the report. "It's absolutely true," she said, confessing that she's of Japanese descent.

"All four of our limousines are already rented for the whole day on St. Patrick's Day. It's a good day for business."

"There are a lot of advantages to renting a limousine," continued O'Brien. "In the first place, it relieves you from having to worry about parking places; and, in the second place, it permits you to focus your full attention on celebrating the day properly."

Other prerequisites for celebrating St. Patrick's Day?

The only true prerequisite, all three O'Briens agreed, is the "wearing 'o the green."

But exactly what you wear is a matter of personal preference.

Green ties and green hats are definitely in order, and to really do it up right, you ought to get yourself a shillelagh or an Irish walking stick.

"It's definitely a day of celebration," said O'Brien.

"And the truth of the matter is that you don't really have to be Irish to join in."

"On St. Patrick's Day, everybody is Irish."

Green beer reen beer

"Green beer?"
"You want to know how to make green beer?"
"There's nothing to it," said Edward Marks, chief cook at The Goat Farm Tavern on Novi Road in Novi.

"All you do is get a little food coloring and drop it in. It's just like Easter Eggs. Get yourself a pitcher of beer, drop in a couple of pellets and you're all set. Green beer."

Do bars and restaurants use food coloring to make green beer in preparation for St. Patrick's Day?

"Heck, no," responded Marks. "It just comes that way from the brewery. You get your shipment for St. Patrick's Day, tap the barrel and you've got all the green beer you need."

Business Briefs

JOHN J. O'BRIEN of Novi, president of Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Homes, Inc., attended a seminar sponsored by the National Funeral Directors Association (NFDA) at the Radisson Scottsdale in Arizona on February 22-24.

"People power — use it or lose it but don't abuse it" was the theme of the seminar attended by 170 registrants from 34 states. Dr. Michael Johnson of Minneapolis, Minnesota, discussed "people reading," "understanding value differences" and "impact as a development of people power potential."

NFDA is a federation of state funeral director associations. O'Brien is the general chairman of NFDA's national convention which will be held in Detroit October 31 to November 4.

COMMUNITY FEDERAL Credit Union with an office at Main and Center in Northville and headquarters at 500 South Harvey in Plymouth has a new slate of elected board members who were announced at the annual meeting February 25.

The four are Gary Balconi, Daniel Herriman, Betty Stremich and Margaret Wilson.

Balconi is a general business teacher at Plymouth Salem High School and also is its track and field coach.

Herriman is an accountant who is a partner in General Business Associates in Plymouth.

Stremich is a past president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and owner of the Hillside Inn.

Wilson is a past president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and owner of the Penn Theatre.

Also on the board of directors are Barbara Burgett, Margaret Dunning, George Lawton, Clarence Moore, Peter Schweitzer, William C. Sliger and W. Edward Wendover. Sliger is a Northville resident; the others live in Plymouth.

FRANCIS COSTELLA of Monte Costella and Company of Southfield, a Northville resident of 20250 Longridge Road, has been elected treasurer of the Masonry Institute of Michigan for 1982 by the institute's board of trustees.

FRANCIS COSTELLA

Dwight Lewis of Rohn Fireproofing Company of Oak Park, also a Northville resident of 41397 Leidel Court, has been named assistant treasurer of the non-profit corporation headquartered in Farmington.

John W. Hart of Leidal and Hart Mason Contractors of Livonia, a Wall Lake resident of 2103 Helmsford, was re-elected to a three-year term on the board of trustees in balloting by institute members.

They will be serving with Frank J. Soave of Cavanaugh and Soave, Incorporated, of Troy, an Orchard Lake resident who has been elected institute chairman for his fifth consecutive one-year term as chief elected officer of the organization serving as the educational, technical service and promotional arm of the state's masonry industry.

CARL JOHNSON, of Carl Johnson real estate office at 125 East Main in Northville, has received notification that he has been named to the 1981 "Top 10 Percent Club" of the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors.

The notification came with "congratulations on this outstanding achievement" from Lloyd E. Mason, president of the Farmington-based board. Formal presentation of awards will be at a St. Patrick's Day buffet luncheon March 17 at Vladimir's on Grand River.

R&D ENTERPRISES, manufacturer and supplier of marine hardware with headquarters at 19430 Gerald Avenue in Northville, announces that Nettie Rinna, a Plymouth Township resident, has joined the firm's staff as manager of customer service.

In the new position, she will supervise the processing of inquiries and orders.

STANLEY W. HALL

MUTUAL INSURANCE Company has promoted Stanley W. Hall of Northville to vice president at the Detroit home office.

Hall, previously assistant vice president-premium audit, has assumed additional credit and collection responsibilities. He started with the company in 1960 as a premium auditor at Grand Rapids. He was appointed Michigan regional premium audit manager in 1968. He later was transferred to the home office and promoted to assistant vice president-premium audit in 1978.

Hall is a graduate of Grand Rapids Junior College.

STARR ADVERTISING, Incorporated President Henry Starr announces that Jan Stanich has joined the firm's creative staff in the position of copywriter. Her primary responsibilities in the Northville-based firm located in Northville Professional Park at 18600 Northville Road will include copywriting, concept development and market research.

Stanich's background includes experience in industrial advertising, public relations, direct mail and media placement from her previous positions as advertising manager of Indiana Design Consortium, Incorporated, and as associate editor at Curtis Publishing, both in Indiana. She and her husband Bernie Stanich live in Bloomfield Hills.

KENSINGTON CORPORATION and Cadillac Asphalt Paving Company, both of Novi, in a joint venture were low bidders at $3,991,863 for reconstruction of nearly four miles of M-153 (Ford Road) in Westland, according to the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT).

The firms were the lowest of nine bidders on the project to widen 3.8 miles of M-153 to five 12-foot lanes, with addition of right-turn lanes at all major intersections. It begins at the I-275 freeway and extends east to Venoy Road.

Debbie Boone's coming to Twelve Oaks

How would you like to have lunch tomorrow (Thursday) with Debbie Boone?

The popular singing star, currently starring in "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" at the Fisher Theater, will make a personal appearance at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi tomorrow to sign autographs and answer questions from the audience.

But before she begins her personal appearance she will have lunch with the winners of a drawing to be held tonight. Entry blanks for lunch-for-two with Ms. Boone and her husband are available at the mall information booth. The winners of the drawing will be notified tonight so they can have lunch with Ms. Boone tomorrow at noon.

The third daughter of Pat and Shirley Boone, Ms. Boone got her big break in 1970 with the record she made with her sister, "What the World Needs Now," for which she won a Grammy Award.

She also won gold and platinum records as well as "Best New Artist of the Year" honors for her record, "You Light Up My Life." Her new album, "With My Song," was voted the best gospel album of 1980.

She made her acting debut in 1978 in the NBC special, "The Gift of the Magi." Ms. Boone is making her theatrical stage debut in "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," based on the 1954 MGM film and the 1928 Steven Vincent Binet short story, "The Sobbin' Women."

The Broadway-bound musical comedy is the tale of the Pontipee brothers, isolated on their Oregon farm until the need for companionship forces them to search for brides. The adventures encountered by the unruly backwoodsmen in their quest makes for a lively spectacle and high-energy choreography.

IRS offers help with tax forms

Internal Revenue Service (IRS) assistants are offering the same help with tax forms as has been offered for the past decade or more, IRS Detroit District Director Charles Parks reports.

Contrary to recent news stories about the type of assistance available at IRS offices, he said, taxpayers can get information and assistance either in person or by telephone.

Many taxpayers are confused, he said, by recent news stories that the IRS will actually fill out tax forms only for the handicapped. Parks explained that while that statement is true, it is incomplete. For all other taxpayers, he said, IRS has in the past and still does offer what the agency calls "self-help assistance."

Self-help assistance means that IRS assistants instruct taxpayers step-by-step how to make the entries on their own returns. Parks points out that this approach offers a dual benefit. It gets the forms completed correctly and also helps taxpayers learn how to prepare them.

Parks said more taxpayers have visited the local offices at this time compared to last year, but most are seeking information and advice, believing that help with the forms is no longer offered.

As a result, persons who do come in to get their forms prepared find only a short wait at most offices, he said.

The only service not being offered this filing season is the review of completed tax forms.

In prior years, many persons who did their own returns at home brought them in to IRS offices to be reviewed for accuracy before filing them. Parks said any corrections will now take place at one of the IRS service centers where the returns are filed.

Law to require child restraints

If your drive and carry young children in your car, there's a new Michigan law you should know about.

The law, which takes effect April 1, requires all infants under four years old to be protected when riding in a vehicle.

How do you protect an infant riding in a vehicle? Two ways — with child restraints or with seat belts.

The new law requires all infants under four to be placed in infant restraints when carried in front seats. Children between one and four in the back seat may be put in seat belts, but children under one must always be held in a restraint device whether carried in the front or back seat.

'The Fantasticks' features local talent

Five Northville residents are among the cast and crew in the current Plymouth Theatre Guild (PTG) production of "The Fantasticks."

Billed as the "longest running musical in history," remaining performances of the production are being presented this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Plymouth's Central Middle School auditorium. Tickets are available at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street, or by calling 455-4755. Adult prices are $4.50, children's $3.50 and group rates are available.

Joe Marsh, PTG president, is producing the show. A Northville resident who works for Ford Motor Company, Marsh produced last year's musical, "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown." His theatre involvement began in high school where he ran lights, and continued through college in Ann Arbor with various jobs backstage. He is a charter member and past president of the South Lyon Players, and served on the PTG board three years prior to becoming president.

Among the acting talents in the play are four other Northville residents. Their names, roles, and backgrounds are:

• Vestus Spindler III (El Gallo) — Appearing in his third straight PTG production, Spindler both directed and played the part of George in "Chapter Two," then played the killer, Harry Roat, in "Wait Until Dark." He has a bachelor of arts degree in theatre from Michigan State and earned his master's at Eastern. He recently directed "Blithe Spirit" at Farmington's Harrison High. Spindler has also played Billy in "Carousel," J.P. Finch in "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" and Don Quixote in "Man of La Mancha." He and his wife have a four-year-old son, Nicholas.

• Nancy Sievert (Luisa) — Involved with PTG since her 1979 appearance as Robin in "Godspell," Sievert has since played Lucy in "Charlie Brown" and has appeared in several shows at Central Michigan and for the Mott Players of Flint. A secretary who sings and plays guitar at weddings, she has also brought her twin 7-year-old boys to

PTG involvement. They played cameo roles in the Christmas presentation of "The Mighty and the Meek."

• Terry Crouson (Matt) — A newcomer to PTG but not theatre, Crouson's credits include appearances in "Annie Get Your Gun," "Oklahoma," "Li'l Abner," "Dracula" and "The Boyfriend." The self-proclaimed "professional dieter" and his wife have a two-year-old daughter.

• Larry Williams (Hucklebee) — A man of diverse talents who plays trombone, participates in athletics and is a mathematics instructor at Schoolcraft College, Williams' credits include the parts of Sandy in "Brigadoon" and Mendel in "Fiddler on the Roof," both produced by Performing Arts Unlimited of Northville. He recently played Lord Dramaleigh in a UMGASS production of "Utopia Limited" in Ann Arbor. He is married and has two daughters.

Other participants in the play include Director Gregg Zellen, who has appeared in more than 25 plays in the area and has a degree in Speech and Dramatic Arts from Eastern; Assistant Director Lisa Risko; and Musical Director Michael Gross, who has been Musical Director of the Plymouth Community Chorus since 1978, attended both EMU and Pennsylvania State University and is a member of the American Choral Director's Association. PTG hopes "The Fantasticks" is only the first of many musicals Gross will participate with.

Choreographer Laurel Twitchell has been a member of PTG one year and was assistant producer for "Wait Until Dark." Still a high school student, Twitchell intends to enroll at Wayne State University to study theatre and dance. Linda Pavey-Amerman is making her first musical appearance in the role of a mute and understudy for Luisa (Nancy Sievert).

Paul Cyburt, an eight-year PTG member, also plays mute, and is a junior at Dearborn Divine Child High School. Livonia dentist Len Kaminski plays Bellomy; Rick Kureth takes to role of Henry; and Tobin Hissong, 23, is Mortimer.

Nancy Teichert is library's new aide

She's new library aide

The newest face behind the book check-out at Northville Public Library may look familiar to former Main Street Elementary school students.

"In 1959, I was service girl of the month," laughs Nancy Teichert (the former Nancy Grieger), referring to the honor bestowed on her while working on the elementary school service squad.

A Northville Township resident, Teichert has been a part-time aide at the library since January 4, replacing longtime employee Kathleen Sprenger who retired at the end of last year.

Teichert describes herself as an "army brat," who moved to and from Northville throughout her childhood.

Her parents were living in Northville at the time of her birth, but moved to Germany a year

Dedication celebration, pageant involve residents

Oscar Frenette, public affairs director for radio station WJR, will be one of the guest speakers at the Dedication: Our Town Downtown celebration here during Michigan Week, celebration publicity chairmen Ted Strasser and Jack Hoffman announced this week.

The Dedication: Our Town Downtown steering committee also is working to bring other speakers, including possibly an appearance by Governor William Milliken.

Frenette will speak Thursday, May 20, at the First Presbyterian Church of Northville. A broadcast journalist for more than 25 years, he worked in northern Michigan and in Pontiac before joining WJR in 1967. Among those attending will be contributors to the downtown beautification program.

Frenette's specialty has been radio documentaries for which he received awards from Sigma Delta Chi, The American Medical Association, Associated Press, Detroit Free Press Club Foundation, San Francisco State College and a Silver Gavel Award from the American Bar Association. Additionally, he received the "Gabriel" award from the Catholic Broadcasters of America, a special commendation from the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments and the Michigan Minuteman Award in 1981 from Governor Milliken.

A member of the board of the Historical Society of Michigan, Frenette does a daily feature on WJR called "Sketches of Life in the Great Lakes Area." It has received an award presented by the Historical Society of Michigan. Besides serving on the board of the state historical society, Frenette is chairman of the board for the New Center Area Council.

Caryn Cogar chosen from 623 to be in pageant

Being in the right place at the right time plunged Northville resident Caryn Denise Cogar into the spotlight of the Mrs. Michigan-America of 1982 pageant held last Thursday and Friday at the Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn.

She and her husband James, a meatcutter at the Northville Chatham Store, with 22-month old daughter Amy Beth live at 222 Linden. The former Southfield resident was chosen one of 23 contestants from a field of 623 entrants after she happened to attend a modeling session with her younger brother, who has been modeling. The pay looked so good that she asked how she could "get involved." Out of the query instead of the modeling came information about participation in the contest co-sponsored by Fairlane Town Center and Vernor's.

"She was scared stiff but having a lot of fun," her husband summed up the experience, which included a three-day stay at the Hyatt Regency Hotel. Chance to win a trip to Las Vegas and a luxurious fur coat made entering worthwhile. Contestants were judged in swimsuits and then evening gowns. Caryn almost made it into the finals, placing 11th in the competition. She, too, declares the experience was "worth doing."

Izma Chmiel returned from Yugoslavia for election

Izma Chmiel and her husband Eugene scheduled their trips to Yugoslavia and Florida so they would be in town last Thursday when Mrs. Chmiel officially was elected and installed as president of the Highland Lakes Women's Club. Serving on the new slate with her are Verna Wall, vice president; Jean Stabler, secretary; and Sally Wright, treasurer.

The Chmiels returned March 2 from a three week vacation in Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia, sponsored by the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP). The Chmiels, the only Michigan residents on the trip, met their group of 150 in New York and flew to Belgrade. They continued to Dubrovnik, a village on the Adriatic Sea. The town, Mrs. Chmiel relates, is enclosed with a high wall built long ago for protection. Today no cars are allowed within the walled area.

The town was a "warm pocket" weatherwise, the Chmiels report, relating how they explored the region on bus later when her father was transferred.

Teichert, who holds a degree in library science as well as bachelor's and master's degrees in German, brings to her new job a variety of experience.

Following her graduation from the University of Michigan in 1973, she moved to Germany with her husband Rainer. She had met her German husband while the family was living in that country.

After working a year at an export book company, she took a job in a public library, where she was employed for four years before moving back to the United States in 1978.

Prior to her new position, she operated a small library at University Hospital in Ann Arbor and had worked in U-M's graduate library.

As one of three part-time aides, she spends her time working at the check-out desk and organizing the card catalog. She also has been working on bar coding books for the library's new automation.

The mother of two daughters, Sarah, 6, a first grader at Winchester, and Karin, 4, she is active in the Northville Cooperative Preschool, where she currently serves as second vice-president, and is an assistant Brownie troop leader at Winchester.

Pick up pictures at The Record

Former Northville brides and bridegrooms who announced their weddings in The Record should stop by the newspaper office to pick-up the pictures which accompanied their wedding forms.

Due to a storage problem, The Record no longer will be able to keep wedding pictures in its files. Many pictures date back several years, so even if you're celebrating your fifth wedding anniversary there's a good possibility The Record still may have the picture of your special day.

The Record will hold all pictures through March 31. If you wish to pick-up your picture, just stop by The Record office at 104 West Main between 9:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

It's especially because families come to us during their most difficult times that we feel our responsibility so deeply. We've formed some very close friendships here and after being a part of this community for so many years, our commitment to its people is stronger than ever.

Just as our own families know they can count on the support and friendship of our neighbors, we're proud that families here know they can feel confident in the services we provide.

The Northville Record

Carl Lang (42) paced Northville with 12 points

Mustang cagers fall to Central, 52-42

Turnovers and rebounding were the keys in Northville's boys' basketball team's 52-42 regular-season ending loss to non-league foe Walled Lake Central at home Friday night.

Mustang coach Tim Lutes believed those were the main factors contributing to Northville's fourth consecutive loss, fifth in its last six games, which evened the Mustangs' overall mark at 10-10.

The Mustangs were in action Tuesday night against Western Six Conference co-champion Walled Lake Western in an opening district game for both teams. The winner advances to the finals at Milford 7 p.m. Friday.

Lutes and the Mustangs will be hoping for a rematch against Central in the district final, but the fourth-year coach knew his team was in for a tough battle against Western despite claims his squad should win.

"The hardest games to win are the games you should win," Lutes explained.

However, if the two teams do happen to meet, it would mark the second straight year both clubs will be battling for the district crown. Northville topped Central, 45-43, last year for its first Class A district championship.

If the rematch does materialize, Lutes said his team believes it can beat Central.

Actually, there were three factors in Northville's loss to Central. Aside from turnovers and rebounds, Central held a commanding edge in free throws.

The Vikings went to the line 27 times and sank 16 shots, while Northville made only two of five. The Mustangs connected for 20 field goals to Central's 18.

"We scored more field goals than they did, but they (Central) played a more physical game and yet we were getting whistled for the fouls," Lutes observed.

Northville took a 30-29 lead after three quarters, but Central's Jeff Sewell, who was held silent for three stanzas, broke the game open at the start of final period with three consecutive baskets and gave Central a 35-30 lead it would not relinquish.

"You can only stop a fine ball player so long," said Lutes of Sewell's outburst. "They have a fine ballclub."

Not only was Sewell putting in the points, but so was Northville's Carl Lang, who tallied eight of his team-high 12 points in the final quarter.

Still, Lutes believed that was one of the best games his team has played since the losing streak began.

NHS lands 3 on all league

Northville's Carl Lang, Tim McLaughlin and Dave Malinowski all were named to the Western Six Conference All League basketball teams.

Lang, a transfer this year from Detroit Catholic Central, was named to the Western Six first team.

McLaughlin, who is one the Mustangs' starting guards, was placed on the second team.

Malinowski was named to the honorable mention team.

Grid team seeks equipment

Northville High School football team is setting up a new weight training room, and is looking for persons who can "donate" any type of weight lifting equipment.

The team needs weight plates, bars and dumbbells. Persons wishing to donate, should call 349-3400, extension 320, before 3 p.m. or 591-6730 after 4 p.m.

Pete Talbot's (center) swim club placed fourth at the league meet

Brighton defeats spikers

Northville's girls' volleyball team ended its season with a loss to Brighton at the Howell district Saturday. The Mustangs dropped two straight games to the Bulldogs, 15-6 and 15-4. Northville had a non-league match against Livonia Ladywood canceled Thursday because of weather conditions.

Northville coach Steve McDonald said his team played well in spurts, but mental mistakes hurt the team.

"(Brighton) is a good ballclub. They are a senior dominated team. I don't think the scores were indicative of how we played," McDonald said.

He termed the team's play exciting and was encouraged with the Mustangs' play.

"The squad never gave up," he added.

An example of the team's better play, McDonald explained, was in the second game with Brighton leading 7-3.

"I think there were probably five serves exchanged without anyone scoring a point. We were playing tough for that period of time," he added.

However, Brighton went on a roll to build up a 12-3 advantage before Northville scored another point.

The district play was cited as a good experience for his young squad, McDonald said, who told them afterwards, "We can play with anyone when we're mentally ready."

Leslie Kucher, Tracy Wilkinson, Judy Morgan and Kim Petite were cited for their play against Brighton.

"Kucher had a good game. She served well, hit well and was hustling and diving," McDonald observed.

Wilkinson played well in spots and spiked some balls, McDonald said, while Petite, a sophomore called up from the junior varsity a few weeks ago, played well once she settled down.

NHS tankers sink to fourth at league

It really was not what Northville boys' swim coach Pete Talbot expected to happen.

A disqualification and minus a swimmer hurt the Mustangs as they placed fourth at the Western Six Conference championships Thursday at Farmington Harrison.

Livonia Churchill dethroned Plymouth Canton as league champ as the Chargers racked up 327 points to the Chiefs' 313. Host Harrison scored 190 points, while Northville tallied 180.

"I was quite pleased with the performances other than the disqualification, which hurt us. It wasn't a very good way to start the league meet," Talbot explained.

The 200-yard medley relay team of Tim Walker, Chris Behen, Dave Copp and Jon Burchard was disqualified when Copp left too soon from the starting block. Talbot said that was due to Burchard taking an extra stroke just before touching the wall instead of gliding to a finish.

"The medley relay team was close to being second," said Talbot, noting if the team had not been disqualified, the Mustangs would have finished third in the meet.

Another factor which hurt the Mustangs was when Gary Lauber failed to show for the meet. He was the third fastest qualifier in both the 100-yard freestyle and backstroke events.

According to Talbot, he thought the team would score 234 points at the meet. He explained the Mustangs lost 48 points from the disqualification and Lauber not swimming.

However, at least one Northville tanker has advanced to regional competition. Behen placed third with 257.45 points and will be competing at the diving regional in Brighton Tuesday.

There were two swimmers who hit their best times in the meet. Mickey Nader recorded a personal best in the 100-yard breaststroke with a 1:08.08 in the preliminary heat. He finished fifth in the championship heat with a 1:08.99 clocking. Behen also recorded a personal best in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:11.42. He was seventh in the consolation finals with a 1:12.59 clocking.

Copp had the best evening of any swimmer with two third-place finishes — in the 50- and 100-yard freestyle events. Adam Swallow was fourth in both the 200- and 500-yard freestyle events.

The only other Mustang to take a third was Walker in the 100-yard backstroke. Burchard was fourth in the 50-yard freestyle and the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Swallow, Jeff Evans, Greg Capote and Jeff Smith did the same.

Jeff Metz and Evans placed fifth and sixth, respectively, in diving, while Burchard in the 100-yard butterfly, Smith in the 200-yard freestyle and Nader in the 200-yard individual medley all placed seventh.

Walker in the 200-yard individual medley and Smith in the 100-yard backstroke each took eighth, while Blake Anderson was 10th in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Evans in the 200-yard individual medley, Gil Allen in the 500-yard freestyle and Capote in the 50-yard freestyle all took 11th place in their respective events and Capote placed 12th in the 100-yard freestyle.

Talbot is losing only two seniors from this year's squad and said with the help from the junior high students coming into the high school next year, the team will be stronger.

Laura Kiraly achieved her highest score in the balance beam at the Western Six Conference meet

Gymnasts runner-up at Western Six meet

Just a mere two and half points was all that kept Northville girls' gymnastics team from repeating as Western Six Conference champions Saturday. The Mustangs compiled 115.80 points, but Plymouth Canton tallied 118.30 to dethrone Northville as champions of the Western Six. Walled Lake Western scored 106.35 points and Farmington Harrison came in last with 106.75. The W-Six meet took place concurrently with the North Suburban League (NSL) meet at North Farmington, with the host winning league title and the overall crown. Northville was third overall behind Canton.

North Farmington scored 126.75 points to Farmington's 115.75, Walled Lake Central's 108.85, Westland John Glenn's 108.35 and Livonia Clarenceville's 92.40.

Mustang coach Debbie Heck is taking her squad to regional competition at Adrian Saturday, and she hopes three of her gymnasts can advance to the state meet March 19-20 at Plymouth Canton.

At the league meet, senior Paula Broderick took first place all around in the Western Six and second in the North Suburban (awards were given to individuals from both leagues).

Broderick was the W-Six champion in the vault (8.5), uneven bars (8.1), balance beam (7.9) and floor exercise (8.4). She was the NSL runner-up in the vault, bars and floor exercise and was fourth in the beam.

Amy Aaron was third in the vault (8.2) and sixth in the bars (6.8) for W-Six honors, while taking fourth in the vault in the NSL. The only other Mustang to take a ribbon was Laura Kiraly with a fourth in the beam (7.65) in the W-Six.

Aaron also competed in the beam (5.85) and the floor exercise (7.3). Others competing in all around were Wendy Wobermin and Tish Johnson.

Wobermin scored a 6.6 in vault, 6.25 in bars, 7.25 in beam and 7.35 in floor exercise. Johnson posted marks of 6.85 in vault, 5.15 in bars, 6.75 in beam and floor exercise.

Other competitors were Katie Sherman in vault (4.85), Lisa Whitmyer in bars (3.6), and Kim Neke in the floor exercise (4.75).

The Mustangs lost their last regular season meet to North Farmington last week Tuesday, 121.35-113.0, to finish with an overall mark of 7-4.

Candela 12th at state tournament

Senior heavyweight wrestler Vince Candela ended his season Saturday with a 12th place finish at the state meet at Lansing Eastern in East Lansing. "He winds up a really good season," Northville coach Gary Emerson said. Candela was only able to win one of three matches Friday night which gave him his final position.

The 6-foot-1 grappler won his first match of the day against a wrestler from Battle Creek Central, 5-4. Candela was behind in the match, 4-2, going into the last period but pulled an escape and takedown move to record the victory.

Emerson explained Candela contributed a few points to his Central opponent with some stalling calls, which are one point penalties.

The triumph by Candela also marked a single-season record for most wins by a heavyweight in one season, 35, which broke his own mark of 34 set last season.

In his next match, Candela lost to eventual state runner-up Tom Iwanicki, of Harper Woods Notre Dame, 6-1.

The loss sent Candela into the consolation rounds where he met Flint Southwestern's John Hart. In the regional meet February 27, Candela defeated Hart by a score of 5-0.

However, Candela was not as successful this time around as he lost 5-1.

"Hart was the biggest guy there," Emerson noted, "and (Candela) fell the wrong way this time."

The first period ended with neither wrestler gaining a point. Candela went for the takedown in the second period, but Hart fell on top of him and racked up some points, Emerson said.

The loss knocked Candela out of the tournament, but Emerson noted there was a lot of pressure on the senior in his first tournament.

"When it's your first time up there (state meet), it's pretty hectic," Emerson explained.

Candela also was a little disappointed by his performance, but Emerson noted he has come along way since first wrestling as a sophomore.

Candela, who had not wrestled until reaching high school, posted a 15-14 record his first year before turning things around last year with a 34-10 mark.

Also, Candela would have advanced to the state meet if the rule in effect this season, in which the top four wrestlers advanced, applied. Last year, Candela placed in the top four at the regional but the rule was only the top two advanced.

Candela finished this season with a 35-9 mark and successfully defended his Western Six Conference heavyweight championship in February.

STEP-BY-STEP LANDSCAPING

FOR BUDGET MINDED HOMEOWNERS

Many homeowners know the advantage of professional landscape planning when it comes to beautifying and protecting their investment. Green Ridge Nursery's award winning designers will create individual landscape plans that can be done in phases, as your budget allows. With each new growing season your Green Ridge consultant will help you build on your master plan until it's complete.

Green Ridge Nursery will create a design to fit your way of living-natural, rustic, modern or for outdoor living and playing, and work within the budget boundaries you set for us. We stress personal contact where we can talk and inspect your property and only then develop a plan that expresses your life style and both of our ideas.

Our landscape crews will install the features of your plan with quality plant material from our nursery, or you can plant the items yourself.

For expert design assistance in completing your home, call 349-1111 anytime.
