Spring cleaning

Warmer weather rolled in last week and people began to poke their heads outside in anticipation of spring. One of the first jobs tackled by all, it seems, is to wash off the winter accumulation of salt and crud on our cars, as

Alwynne Bales was doing Friday afternoon. She should be among those well-prepared for spring's official arrival Saturday. Record photo by John Galloway

MacDonald starts tax appeal

In a succinct 15-minute presentation before the board of review last Tuesday night Supervisor John MacDonald made his pitch for a 7.68 percent reduction in property tax assessments township-wide.

His presentation, backed with several sales studies and an example of the reasoning behind the argument that so-called "creative financing" techniques inflate home sales prices, amounted to little more than a rehearsal, however, since county officials had already effectively prohibited the board from acting on MacDonald's petition.

Should the township roll back assessments independently, county assessors told the supervisor, a new factor would be applied to raise valuations another way and the township would be penalized for the action.

So MacDonald said he does not recommend that action. Instead, he said, he intends to pursue the issue before the Michigan Tax Tribunal, which can roll back the assessment, subject only to court action.

Budget prepared at $1.3 million for board action

By KEVIN WILSON

A final planning session Friday night firmed up the proposed 1982-83 township fiscal year budget at a bottom line total of roughly $1.3 million.

To be considered in a special meeting March 29, the budget was hashed out by township treasurer Richard Henningsen and business manager David Leiko and considered line item by line item by the township board of trustees in three successive Saturday sessions preceding Friday's.

Township officials cautioned that changes still are possible in the budget, although the basic structure appears to be established. Adjustments are expected throughout the year, Leiko noted, as a budget is "only a planning document."

The $200,000 increase in the budgeted operation includes more than $131,000 added budgeted activity in the revenues and expenses for participation in the 35th District Court operation, which is expected to barely break even though activity should rise.

Major concerns involved projected state revenue sharing receipts. Budgeted at a level $12,000 over last year's actual revenue from this source, the item could be the first to change as the governor's recent budget message indicated a reduction in such payments.

Federal revenue sharing, also in doubt, will likely be assigned to defray expenses for employee fringe benefits in all departments. This item fell more than $20,000 short of last year's projections, but the new budget predicts it will

He also recommended to the township board of trustees Thursday night that a complete reassessment be done in the next year and that it roll back its millage rates to insure it does not "take advantage of the 7.68 percent assessment increase."

MacDonald told the board of review he also has written all other bodies levying taxes in the township asking that they, too, reduce millage rates in the same manner, although he indicated he was not hopeful they would do so.

More direct action was expected from MacDonald's request that valuations be lowered 20 percent (from the 1982 base) on all Park Gardens area properties. He presented extensive documentation to prove economic loss in the area due to widespread failure of septic systems and consequent pollution.

Trustees approve idea of reassessing property

Reassessment of Northville Township property values was approved "generally" by the board of trustees Thursday night and about $12,000 to pay for it was included in the fiscal 1982-83 budget now being prepared.

The board voted unanimously, with only Trustee Thomas Cook absent, to approve a motion by Trustee James Nowka stating it was "generally in favor of reassessment." Cook stated his support of the measure the previous Saturday.

Nowka's motion included budgeting for the expense of reassessment but left the final decision to be made later, after several alternative methods are analyzed.

In a budget session Friday night the board allocated $12,000 for the first payment to Wayne County. Cost of the action is expected to be between $8 and $9 per parcel. The township has several alternatives available to it in choosing how appraisers will go about the job, inserting a variable to the final cost. There are slightly under 4,000 individual parcels in the township.

Supervisor John MacDonald set the tone of the discussion on the issue Thursday, saying "I think it's a good idea." There was at least one person in the room who did not agree, however.

Joe Fiorelli, a former member of the board of review, voiced strenuous objection to reassessment, arguing that sales prices equitably set assessed valuations and that the township's real difficulty was with the multiplier used to account for valuation changes after a sale has been accomplished.

Citing the Michigan Constitution, Fiorelli argued that assessed valuations, by their very nature, are equitable.

But board members noted several difficulties, among them the fact that recent truth in assessment legislation had led to a de facto reassessment of the township without an appraiser ever looking at a single house.

The factor, they noted, has been folded into the assessed valuation, so the factor Fiorelli was calling inequitable had become part of the assessment.

At an earlier discussion, board members had cited "gross inequities" in the tax system as currently applied, particularly a tendency to overassess the value of newer properties while underassessing the true cash value of older ones.

But Fiorelli was not willing to accept that response, and charged that the board was merely attempting to realize higher tax returns by reassessing older homes at higher values.

State to reassess Oakland?

With the Michigan Tax Commission now pressing Oakland County to apply an equalization factor of 1.05 to 1.10 (a five to 10 percent increase over 1981 levels), City of Northville residents living in the Oakland County portion may be facing an unexpected property tax increase this year.

A tentative equalization factor of 1.0 had been announced after the Oakland County Equalization Department reviewed assessments in the Oakland County portion of the city and determined they were in line.

The city this week is suggesting residents in that portion of the community should review their tax assessments to consider whether a factor higher than 1.0 would increase their assessments above 50 percent of true market value.

Concerned residents have an opportunity to file an assessment appeal with the city board of review on or before March 23.

Board sessions are scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon and 1-4 p.m. this Thursday and from 9 a.m. to noon and 1-4 p.m. next Tuesday.

Forms are available at city hall for any resident to make an appeal who feels his or her assessment is higher than market value.

First sessions of the city board of appeals were held last Tuesday with about 100 residents attending to protest assessments in both the Wayne County and Oakland County portions of the city.

City workers expect the number to increase at the sessions this week and next, partly because of the possibility of raising the Oakland County factor.

Because the city had expected no change in assessments for residents of the Oakland County portion of the city, no general notice was required by law to be sent out.

Now, with the disagreement with the Michigan Tax Commission and

Oakland County, Mayor Paul Vernon and City Manager Steven Walters frankly are asking residents to "consider whether a five to 10 percent increase in their 1981 assessments would take their property value above 50 percent of the true market value."

If so, they are encouraging filing an appeal with the board of appeals and also suggesting writing to Legislative representatives to object.

Residents of the City of Novi similarly are affected by the proposed factor change.

Oakland County equalization officials have been working to show that property values in the area decreased in 1981, but state officials have found fault with the manner in which assessments were set in Oakland County.

Oakland County residents living in the City of Northville are more fortunate than residents to the north because the city board of review still is in session and accepting appeals locally.

Ruth Booms prepares for Irish Day at school

Local Maid of Erin favors the wee folk

*'Twas on a bright St. Patrick's morn in Irish days of yore,
a lad beheld a tiny man outside his cottage door.
Arrayed in clothes of emerald green, he said, ...
'tis true if you believe in luck and love and joy,
I'll be with you.*

Being Irish, pretty Ruth Ann Booms of Northville believes in the luck of green shamrocks and the faith of St. Patrick but, most of all, in leprechauns.

Perhaps it's because the little elves of Irish folklore have a reputation, "if you believe," for bringing luck and love and joy to those with hopes and dreams.

Today is the very day, by legend, that the "tiny man with clothes of emerald green" appeared in Ireland in days of yore with a crock of gold.

Really, it was about a year ago that the green gold of St. Patrick's Day touched Ruth Ann as she was chosen Maid of Erin by the Gaelic League of 13 Irish societies in the Detroit area. She began her year's reign by presiding over last year's St. Patrick Day parade.

Now completing her senior year at Madonna College, she passed on her title, crowning the new Maid of Erin in ceremonies just before St. Patrick's Day, but she still was on hand last Sunday for the St. Patrick Day parade that opens Irish Week in Detroit.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Booms of 18338 Laraugh, she derives her Irish ancestry from her mother, who was Florence Connarn.

A 1978 graduate of Ladywood High School, she now is a third grade student teacher at Grandview School in Livonia. Ruth Ann also teaches catechism classes at Our Lady of Victory Church.

Today, when, as she observes, "everybody's Irish," the young teacher wearing a shamrock-pattern sweater made for her will be encouraging her young pupils to believe in the leprechauns who may have "just slipped away at dawn." In case the youngsters didn't really see the little men she has created cutouts with bright green top hats and jackets.

Who knows? The leprechauns who live just beyond the rainbow's edge may in a magic way appear in Irish hearts today. And, as Ruth Ann Booms observes, "Today, everybody's Irish."

level off this year.

Added interest on investments is projected, as are increased tax revenues (the taxes were the ones recently due, billed December of 1981, the increase was from 1980 levels) in the amount of $118,000. Township officials are fighting this year's assessment increases, but the 1982 tax bills will include an added 0.7 mill for police approved by voters last year.

Overall, the budget includes increased expenditures in all departments except cemetery and ambulance operations which remain the same as last year. The biggest jump came in the general administration expense with a $129,320 rise, but this item includes the $131,000 court expense not budgeted last year. An actual $57,000 was spent in partial year activity in 1981-82.

A major effort was made in this year's budget to increase the salary levels of all township employees except elected officials. Among the latter, only Henningsen is to receive a raise — a $500 raise from the $4,000 salary assigned the post last year. Board members said the extended hours the treasurer has devoted to the supposedly part-time post made the raise warranted. At $4,500, the salary matches that paid in fiscal 1980-81. It was cut last year.

At other levels, where raises were held to three percent last year, wage increases of just over eight percent were budgeted, split into a five percent rise April 1 and a six percent increase October 1.

Board members indicated the wage structure in township hall, where clerical workers earn from $8,000 to $12,000, and fewer benefits are offered than in many municipal jobs is substantially below those in surrounding communities. They emphasized that there are few such employees and the township has allowed their ranks to dwindle by attrition. No new hires are expected in the administrative ranks.

Deputy treasurer salary is budgeted lower than last year due to a new employee. The deputy clerk shares in the eight percent increases.

Department heads were budgeted six percent raises both April 1 and October 1.

Township officials said the salary structure had to be revised to prevent the loss of trained and talented people working in township hall. This has already happened on more than one occasion, they said, citing turnover in the deputy treasurer spot as an example.

Business Manager David Lelko receives only the April 1 six percent increase. He got a five percent raise at the end of his first year here in January. The treasurer said he wanted to move Lelko's wage, the only one set by contract except for that negotiated by the police union, onto a calendar matching the fiscal year.

Public hearing slated on solid waste plan for Oakland County

Oakland County residents will receive one of their last opportunities to comment on the county's solid waste master plan Tuesday, March 23 when the Oakland County Solid Waste Planning Committee (OCSWPC) holds a public hearing on the plan in Pontiac.

According to George Schutte, supervisor of the county's solid waste unit, the hearing is slated for 7 p.m. March 23 at the County Board of Commissioners' Auditorium in Pontiac.

The OCSWPC is not slated to take any action on the master waste plan at the public hearing, said Schutte. He added that there will be a 30-day interval after the hearing when the OCSWPC will receive written comments on the plan. April 22 is the deadline for those comments, he said.

After all of the public input is received, Schutte said the OCSWPC will study that input, make any appropriate changes in the waste plan and either approve or reject the plan at a meeting scheduled for May 10.

From there, Schutte said the waste plan is scheduled to go to the planning and building committee of the county board of commissioners May 27 and then to the finance committee June 10. It will most likely be heard before the entire board of commissioners on June 17.

If the county board approves the waste plan, it is then presented to every municipality in the county. Two-thirds of the municipalities in the county must okay the waste plan by a resolution from their local boards or councils before the plan is sent to the state Department of Natural Resources for a final okay.

The current master waste plan is mandated by the Michigan Solid Waste Management Act (641) of 1978, which requires all counties in the state to enact a countywide or regional waste disposal plan by July 1, 1982. The county waste plan deals only with non-hazardous solid waste for the next 20 years. Hazardous waste is handled under a separate state act.

With an eye toward resource recovery, the OCSWPC has developed a waste plan which would utilize a combination of landfills and incinerators. Two transfer stations, which would shorten the haul routes for private waste collectors, are also integrated into the plan. Those stations are tentatively located in Southfield and Pontiac.

The landfill portion of the waste plan has probably been the most dynamic and controversial portion of the plan. The OCSWPC originally started with five landfill sites in February 1981. Currently, the waste plan calls for 10 landfills, with only one located in southwestern Oakland County. That fill is a 112-acre site in Lyon Township.

The other nine sites are the Charles J. Rogers & Company site, in Holly Township, the Stables site in Groveland Township, the Marlowe site in Rose Township, the Waterford Sanitary Landfill in Waterford Township, the Weber site in Orion Township, the Underwood site in Pontiac Township, the City of Pontiac site and the Kingston Development Company and SOGIA sites in Avon Township.

SOGIA is an acronym for the Southeastern Oakland County Incinerator Authority, an organization of communities in the southeastern corner of the county which currently runs its own landfill and incineration operation.

Originally, two Lyon Township landfills were proposed in the waste plan—the 112-acre site and a 300-acre site in the northeastern section of the township. That 300-acre site was replaced by two other landfills in the Pontiac area.

Along with the nine landfills, the plan proposes three resource recovery units. The main unit would be located at the county service center in Pontiac while two other modular combustion units (MCUs) would be located near energy markets. Wixom and Rochester have been mentioned as potential MCU locations.

The main Pontiac unit and the two MCUs would burn about 40 percent of the county's solid waste and convert it into steam and energy. The energy could then be used directly or sold back to utility companies. The other 60 percent of the waste and the incinerator ash would be landfilled.

Again, the possibility of change is present in the resource recovery portion of the plan. Burning a greater portion of the solid waste is one alternative being explored. While greater incineration would lessen the need for landfills, it would raise the cost of the plan.

How the waste plan would be financed and securing the waste flow to support the plan are two other problems that the OCSWPC needs to address. At present, a mixture of public and private financing is recommended in the plan.

Federal revenue to pay township fringe costs

Northville Township intends to apply an estimated $59,531 in federal revenue sharing funds to payment of employee fringe benefits, just as was done with those funds last year.

The amount expected from the federal government this year is about the same as that sent to township coffers in the previous fiscal period, but is insufficient to cover the entire fringe benefits package.

Clerk Susan Heintz noted, however, that the allocation of the federal money in this manner spreads the benefits to all township departments and makes for easier accounting practices as well.

William Basse, president of the Park Gardens homeowners association, questioned whether the money might be allocated to cleaning and restoration of storm drainage systems township-wide. Heintz said it could be, but that was not her recommendation.

She said there have been indications the federal revenue sharing program might be cut or reduced in size next year, but that the latest information available is that it will continue at approximately equal levels.

The total township expense for fringe benefits is budgeted at more than $73,000, which would leave about $14,000 to be paid by the township's other revenues if federal revenues are allocated to that purpose.

The board of trustees will take final action on the allocation March 29 preceding adoption of the budget and the township's annual meeting.

Trustees okay reassessment

"I will lead the charge against this thing because I think you're wasting my money," he said. "I think it's outrageous to spend the money to reassess when the system is by definition inequitable."

Friday night, the board recalculated its earlier estimate that it would cost $14,000 in the first year to pay the county for a reassessment and found $12,000 to be closer to the expected figure.

In the process of cutting other budget items to bring the proposed budget into balance, the board took the biggest chunk out of dollars the fire chief had requested for repair and heavy maintenance of equipment. Several thousand dollars were also pared from the police budget proposal, with the agreement of the police chief.

MacDonald has requested cost estimates for various types of reassessments from George McEachran, director of bureau of taxation. The supervisor said telephone conversation with McEachran leads him to believe county appraisers could accomplish township reassessment in late spring or early summer.

Treasurer Richard Henningsen noted that his understanding of pay-back agreements offered by the county were that 40 percent of the total cost would be paid the first year and 30 percent in each of the following two years.

Supervisor appeals taxes

He said county officials had already notified him that provision of proper documentation to prove the loss would be sufficient to have the rollback applied.

In the course of his presentation, MacDonald also urged that board members and others contact state legislators and advocate legislation that would base assessments on 12-month sales studies rather than 30-month studies. This move has also been backed by Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas.

In the supervisor's primary arguments against current year assessments he questioned methods used for obtaining the base SEV figure, particularly the criteria used in selecting sales for the study. He said he found this was a "hit and miss" method. MacDonald also questioned the justification for a single SEV factor township-wide "inasmuch as we have a great cross section of housing values."

He also said area Realtors had supplied him with information that shows home values declining, not increasing.

Park Gardens debate raises tempers

Discussion of cost allocation for the Park Gardens sewer project developed into a shouting match between subdivision association representatives and Township supervisor John MacDonald at the Thursday meeting of the township board of trustees.

Debate was joined when Park Gardens association president William Basse presented MacDonald with a letter asking the township board to consider either allocating some of the costs of the program to other beneficiaries of the project or to instruct the engineer to design a system to serve Park Gardens needs only.

His argument for that to be done was based on renewed attention on the fact that the sewer system in the area would be designed to serve adjacent properties as well as those in Park Gardens.

Consulting engineer Edward McNeely said in the course of the discussion that he has long acknowledged the so-called oversizing of the project, allowing it to accommodate sewage flows from other areas. "It would be stupid to do it any other way," he said.

But Basse and other representatives said that while they have no quarrel with the engineering decision to allow for future additions to the system, they believe the cost should be shared by other beneficiaries or the township water and sewer operation.

Citing the "apparent disparity of capacity" Basse noted a plan discussed with state DNR officials could cost as much as $300,000 less than one McNeely is preparing. McNeely denied that the cost comparison had any validity, especially noting that he has not yet completed the plan for the project so there is no basis for comparison.

Water and sewer department superintendent Walter Holinoty said the figure cited by Basse "isn't worth the paper it's written on."

"The people who prepared that (Finkbeiner, Pettis and Strout) are under a certain set of rules," McNeely said, "that are not really practical when you come to building it."

Regardless of the specifics, Basse argued that the extra capacity built into the plans costs something, and that it is unfair to expect Park Gardens residents to pay for it.

"It doesn't seem very justified to make us pay for the difference," Basse said. As Basse and association vice president Liz McCarville pressed the point, MacDonald and McNeely responded that they would need the special assessment district petition before they could move forward with the project.

"Where is the petition?" MacDonald asked, noting that association representatives once told him they hoped to complete it by the end of February. "The end of February has come and gone, and still no petition."

Bud Taylor, an association member, noted that the group had since learned that signing the petition could eliminate all chances for participation in the project by the state DNR and federal EPA. McCarville noted after the meeting that Clerk Susan Heintz had sent a letter to the association saying that completion of the SAD might be harmful to the group's chances to find added funding.

But, the representatives also noted that since a meeting with DNR officials two weeks ago they have pursued the SAD petitions more energetically, since it appears EPA funding is unlikely and that the project could go forward without completely eliminating the slim chance remaining.

Voices were raised and tempers flared as Park Gardens representatives repeatedly pressed for a township commitment to accept some of the cost and MacDonald and McNeely responded by calling for a completed SAD.

"As far as I'm concerned," MacDonald said at one point, "we (the current township board) have done more for the Park Gardens area than for anyone else. And still, we don't have the thing. I've done everything you asked me to do. Do you want sewers or don't you want sewers? That's the bottom line question."

McCarville said that was not even at issue. "We want to pay our portion, I don't want to pay for something that benefits someone else. We're not going to make a rash determination and later find ourselves paying for something we get no benefits from."

When allegations of past misuse of federal grant monies that have gone toward planning of the project were raised, MacDonald shouted, then repeated more calmly, "you didn't pay anything for that. You haven't paid anything out of your pocket." He also said he could not correct all the mistakes of the past.

Basse responded that "it was just a matter of timing," since grant funds misspent subtract from the final amount available to install that portion of the project which the residents must pay for — lateral lines in the streets. After the meeting, other representatives noted the township has not spent any of its own money either. To date, the program has been paid for with federal block grant monies administered by Wayne County.

Trustee James Nowka repeated to the representatives when tempers had subsided somewhat that "we need the paperwork, until we have that, we're not even approaching first base."

After the association members had left the meeting room, MacDonald asserted "we still want the Park Gardens area to have a sewer, but we need the petition."

Later in the meeting, the board of trustees voted to receive and file an easement agreement with a Maxwell resident, signed by MacDonald, that allows the sewer line to go through the homeowner's land and in exchange provides that the resident will not be included in the upcoming sewer SAD.

Store goes on block

Pewter and brass accessories, china, crystal, cards and jewelry as well as other items of Early Americana — the entire stock and fixtures of Gifts by Marison at 115 East Main — will be on the auction block beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Owners Gene and Marison Dixon report they decided to hold the going-out-of-business auction because they lack a lease and the store is being taken over by the owner for expansion of his own business.

Spagy's liquor store, next door at 111 East Main, will be moving into the larger store at 115 East Main. Owner Joseph Spagy has applied to the state liquor control commission to move to the adjacent quarters (both are owned by the Spagy family) in order to expand. Spagy's son James says he decided on the move to provide more storage area and that present plans include an addition at the rear of the 115 East Main store.

The Dixons have operated Gifts by Marison for almost three years. The gift shop previously had several names and owners.

The Dixons emphasize that it is the lack of a lease which has caused them to cease business, not the business climate.

They have hired local resident Neil Nichols to be auctioneer Saturday.

The auction will be his first here. A Northville High School graduate who was active in school dramatics, Nichols went on to attend Schoolcraft College and recently was graduated from Jim Graham's School of Auctioneering in North Palm Beach, Florida.

The store has been closed since last week as contents are readied for the auction.

Nichols points out that the Dixons had carried high quality national lines of merchandise as well as costume and sterling jewelry. He anticipates the auction will be "fun" as well as a bargain for shoppers when he begins the traditional auctioneer's chant Saturday.

Dental Dialogue

of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.

TOOTH FAIRY EXISTS

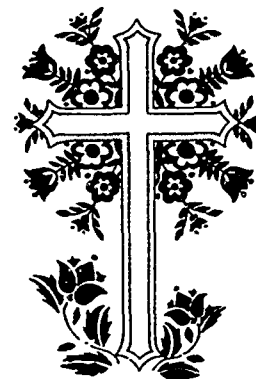

Q. Is there really a tooth fairy who leaves money under your pillow?

A. Absolutely! Even though I have no scientific proof of her existence. After many years of hearing my young patient's report of finding coins under their pillow after placing a lost primary tooth there the night before, I'm firmly convinced. It's a phenomenon that occurs from generation to generation, and will undoubtedly continue even in our modern age. Besides, it's the very best medicine I know to soothe the trauma of a lost tooth.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of Deborah Anderson, a senior at Alma College, from Northville, is one of six Alma College students selected this year for membership in Phi Beta Kappa, America's most prestigious scholastic honorary society founded in 1776. All seniors, the new members were selected on the basis of their outstanding academic achievement in the traditional arts, sciences and humanities.

Deborah, a 1978 graduate of Novi High School, is the daughter of Kenneth and Arlene Anderson of 41680 Nine Mile in Northville. She is majoring in biology and is a candidate for a bachelor of science degree in Alma's 1982 commencement on April 17.

Nationwide, approximately eight percent of the eligible students are selected for Phi Beta Kappa chapter memberships.

Two Northville residents were among the 3,549 Purdue University students to receive distinguished-student rank for the fall semester of the 1981-82 school year.

Northville students earning the honor were Gregory Martin Ayers of 518 Morgan Circle and Susan Kay Miller of 18248 Laraugh.

In order to qualify for distinguished ranking, a student must have a grade index of at least a B-plus on an A scale and carry no less than 14 academic credit hours.

Three Northville students are among the approximately 1,200 Western Michigan University students named to the Dean's List for the fall semester.

Students named to the Dean's List include Carol Wallace of 784 Springfield, Linda Ann Cahill of 16463 Sutters Lane and Stephen Morgan of 42531 Ravina.

To be included on the honor list, a student must have been enrolled in at least 14 hours of graded class work and maintained a grade point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale.

Northville student Mary Katherine McMillan of 437 Morgan Circle, was named to the Dean's List for the first semester at Spring Arbor College.

Kappa Alpha Theta social sorority at Auburn University recently elected its officers for the 1982-83 year with Northville's Laura Willoughby of 790 Springfield Drive, named Panhellenic Representative.

Willoughby is a sophomore at Auburn, and is majoring in nutrition.

A Northville student was one of six selected by Alma College to serve as alternate resident assistants for the 1982-83 academic year.

Serving as an alternate is Les Neal of 16850 Old Bedford, who is a freshman at Alma.

Our Lady of Victory School Science Fair winners display their awards, from left, Marc Crotteau, 13, eighth grade winner; Margaret Murphy, 12, seventh; Debbie Smulsky, 13, eighth; Eric Donkers, 13, eighth. Remaining winners, not pictured, are Leanne Dewan, 12, and Katie Fagan, 12, both seventh graders. The two-day fair was held at the school March 3-4 under the direction of science teacher Teri Alcocer. Photo by Steve Recht.

Health drawings by young artists are displayed

Woodland Medical Center/Novi is welcoming spring this month with an exhibition of original drawings depicting health care as seen through the imaginative eyes of children.

The exhibition runs through March 22 at Twelve Oaks Mall.

The exhibition is an out-growth of a health awareness program sponsored last spring by the Woodland Pediatrics Department. Elementary-level children were invited to submit drawings with health themes for eventual incorporation into a coloring book.

The resulting Children Health & Art Coloring Book is a compilation of 41 of the drawings. Proceeds from sale of the coloring book are earmarked for the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Oakland County.

Priced at $2 a copy, the book is on sale at all four Children's Book Mark locations in the metropolitan area, including Twelve Oaks.

The children's art program was initiated last spring by Jo Snyder, a local artist and faculty member of the Birmingham/Bloomfield Art Association and Woodland Medical Center's "artist in residence."

In addition to the 41 drawings submitted by children, the exhibition includes 22 health theme relief posters created by Ms. Snyder for the event. Material related to publication of the book also will be displayed.

"Since proceeds from the sale of the book are going to the Easter Seal Society, we thought this would be an excellent way to expose area citizens to some really unusual and imaginative children's drawings and boost book sales to serve a worthy cause," said Dr. John Mucasey, president of Woodland Medical Group, P.C.

Mucasey will present a check representing book sales to the Easter Seal Society during a March 28 morning segment of Channel 4's Easter Seal telethon.

Ms. Snyder will be involved in a second Twelve Oaks art exhibition this month to run simultaneously with the children's exhibition. She will be a juror for a special exhibition by student artists from Novi High School that also runs through March 22.

Michigan Society for Autistic Children deals with psychologically disturbed children, and provides specialized services in the development of physical and social skills.
A United Way Service

Center offers health screening

Woodland Medical Center/Novi has scheduled three separate health screening and education programs during March, beginning with student Health Education field trips in cooperation with Novi schools this Thursday.

The Woodland staff will focus on cardiology, radiology and laboratory procedures for the March 18 trip. Use of such instruments as the EKG, ultrasound and treadmill devices, as well as x-ray technology will be explained.

Woodland will sponsor another free children's health screening program for school youngsters in grades one through six March 22-26 from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. The screening will include height and weight measurement, vision, hearing and visual dental checks, taking of blood pressure and examination for signs of scoliosis (curvature of the spine).

Appointments for both public and private school participation can be made by contacting the Pediatrics Department at Woodland Medical Center/Novi.

On March 24, Woodland will again participate in southeast Michigan's Health-O-Rama, providing free basic health testing for adults at the Novi location from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Project Health-O-Rama provides for follow-up medical attention at more than 50 sites in the seven-county southeast Michigan area. No appointment is needed to take part in the screening program.

"We have been impressed by the acceptance and enthusiastic participation in our public health education and illness prevention programs in the past and hope to expand them in the future," said Dr. John Mucasey, president of Woodland Medical Group, P.C. which operates the medical center.

For more information about any of the March programs, call Woodland Medical Center/Novi at 348-8000.

Parson to Person...

Are Unbaptized Infants Lost?

Dr. James H. Luther

I have had parents express deep concern about a child that had died during infancy. Many religious systems teach that unbaptized children do not go to heaven when they die. How tragic it is for this unnecessary confusion to lead to such worry.

I am always pleased to be able to point these individuals to the only authority that can calm their fears—the Word of God! The Scriptures teach that children who die are immediately in the presence of the Lord. When David's infant died, he said: "he cannot return unto me, but I shall go to him" (II Samuel 12:23). The sure knowledge that a loving God received innocent babies in heaven was a source of great comfort to the King. Jesus said that if anyone desires heaven, he must come to God in simple faith like a child (Luke 18:15-17).

You see such confusion involves a basic misunderstanding regarding salvation. Neither baptism nor good works can get us to heaven. Even sorrow for sin does not save. What then is the answer?

Faith! Everything necessary for the forgiveness of sins has already been done at the cross of Christ. All the suffering you deserve was experienced by Jesus (Isaiah 53:5). Come to Christ just as you are! The instant you stop depending on yourself or "religion" and cast yourself on Jesus you will be saved. "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shall be saved" (Acts 16:31).

Here's weekend antique shows

Northville residents Carol and Eric Nordell of 15746 Bradner announce their spring Old Inn Antique Show, which they originated at Dearborn Inn. It will be held March Saturday through Sunday in the Alexandria Ballroom and the Greenfield Room.

There will be 42 exhibitors from 12 states featuring investment-grade, museum quality antiques, the sponsors report. The $3 admission fee is good for all three days of the show.

The Nordells began the Dearborn Inn shows a year ago and require that the majority of antiques on sale be at least 100 years old. A champagne preview for patrons at $12.50 a person is scheduled for Thursday evening.

Antique seminars at $1.50 on American Folk Art, Connoisseurship of Shaker, The American Shakers, Furniture Fakes and Reproductions, and Dollars and Sense in Collecting are slated Friday through Sunday.

An Appraiser's and Collector's Fair is being held at the Cromaine Library in Hartland from 1-5 p.m.

Sunday as a benefit for the library by Friends of Cromaine Library.

With the $2 admission those attending may bring items to be verbally appraised at no extra charge by a group of specialists.

Experts in dolls, china, glassware, country furniture and coins as well as other areas of collecting will be on hand.

Need $4,000 to start

Rec commission to make further study on bingo

More research is being made on the feasibility of the recreation commission conducting weekly bingo at the community building in the near future.

Commissioner Bill Bingley said at last week Wednesday's meeting he would like to review the rules and regulations regarding the operation of a bingo game.

"As one of my colleagues used to say, 'I would like to massage this a little while,'" he said.

It would cost approximately $12,700 to get all of the equipment — such as boards, bingo balls, cards, tables and chairs — to begin, Bingley explained.

However, since such money is not available, he added, the commission could get started with an initial investment of $4,000.

An idea Bingley had to secure the $4,000 was to get a loan, with interest, from either the city or township, or both. Bingley thinks everything could be paid back within two years from the bingo money made.

Township treasurer Richard Henningsen was in attendance and explained the money might be hard to come by with the proposed state budget cuts by Governor William Milliken.

"I appreciate what you're trying to do. If you can turn the program around...more power to you," he said.

Some commissioners were to attend a Saturday bingo night hosted at the VFW hall to see how the games are operated. Bingley suggested Friday nights would be best for the commission, since the building is not being utilized that night.

Also, Henningsen suggested the rules and regulations be read by an attorney.

In other action, the personnel committee has yet to discuss with recreation director Ed Kritecz his evaluation for the past year.

The personnel committee is comprised of Gary Sixt, Jane Watts and Chairman L.T. Sylvestre.

"Our intention is to discuss the evaluation with Ed, and review the goals and objectives and present this at the April meeting," Sylvestre said.

"My plan is for the next meeting to have everything signed, sealed and delivered," Sixt explained.

A trade-off has been secured to have the community building gymnasium floor resurfaced.

Ron McDonald of Northville Wood Floors has proposed to provide the labor, equipment and materials to resurface the floor, while the junior basketball team coached by Bob Isom and the Karate Club be given credits for use of the gym. McDonald has a son in each program.

The total cost of the job is $678, according to McDonald.

The junior basketball team and the Karate Club have bills for use of the gym, Kritecz said. Their credit is $150 apiece. Northville Wood Floors is supplying $378 worth of equipment, labor and materials at no charge.

Interpretation sought on lease to resolve community gym use

The question of whether the Northville school district's sports teams should be allowed to use the community building without charge remained unresolved after recreation commissioners decided to seek an interpretation of the lease.

The paragraph to be examined was read by commission chairman L.T. Sylvestre during the discussion.

"It states the use of the premises shall be made available for use by any and all the residents of the school district (without charge to whether he, she or they are also residents of the City of Northville or the Township of Northville) on the same terms on the use of the premises is made for use by any and all the residents of the City of Northville and the Township of Northville," he said.

A motion was made to have an interpretation made of the paragraph in the lease by the next meeting. Sylvestre and commissioners James Armstrong, Gary Sixt, Jane Watts, John Buckland, William Bingley and Jerome Mittman voted yes. Llewellyn voted no. Commissioner Carolann Ayers was absent.

This decision was made after about 45 minutes of discussion.

Commissioner David Llewellyn, who is the school board liaison, raised the question of making a policy change so that the high school sports teams could use the community building gym at no charge.

"We (school board) were all surprised the school district had to pay for (the community building) facilities and couldn't use without charge," he said. "Maybe we were naive, but we were surprised to hear the high school program, for example, could not come over and use (the community building) at no charge."

Also, a letter was sent from Booster Club President Wade Deal to the school board wondering why Northville high school sports teams could not use the gym at the community building at no charge. Currently, the recreation department charges renters $15 per hour for the gym.

The letter from Deal stated the high school has serious scheduling problems for the gymnasium each winter. Therefore, teams are not always able to use the high school gym for practice at a reasonable hour, he wrote.

The letter adds the high school basketball team had to use the junior high gymnasiums for practices sometimes. Also, it said the community building is available most weekdays from 2-6 p.m., but that Northville Athletic Director Ralph Redmond was reluctant to use the community building because of the rental fee.

Deal's letter adds the recreation department uses the public schools for its basketball program at no charge. It asked if the board of education could arrange a mutually acceptable use agreement with the recreation commission.

As was pointed out by one commission member during the discussion, the problem for this year is over, but it would be a policy change for the future.

Sylvestre explained Redmond had sent a letter to the commission a couple of years ago requesting the high school be able to use the community building for no charge, or at a reduced rate.

There was a resolution proposed at that time, Sylvestre said, but Deal, who was a commissioner then, could not remember the outcome.

After checking the minutes, Sylvestre said Deal was not in attendance at the meeting and that there was only one dissenting vote, by Llewellyn, regrettably to tell Redmond he would have to pay the same rate as anyone else.

Llewellyn said he had talked with Kritecz about the situation and said, "the primary reason he didn't feel an exception could be made was it would be the first made for anybody and that would open the floodgates."

A check was made of other school district philosophies towards recreation departments, commissions and other groups using school facilities, Llewellyn explained, and reported rec departments are not charged except for custodial overtime when applicable.

For groups like homeowners' associations use of a cafeteria for a few hours would be $25 or weekend use of a cafeteria would be $100 flat fee, he added.

"We get back to the rec commission and the building next door and you compare the variety to what the school district program has to the one flat rate (by the rec department) to a school district, Mothers' Club or Youth Nazi Party. Everyone can come in and pay the same going rate. It seems a little inconsistent to us," Llewellyn said.

One argument made in favor of letting the schools use the community building at no charge, or reduced rate, was the fact the rec department uses the schools at no charge.

However, recreation director Ed Kritecz said taxpayers' money is used to keep the schools open, whereas that is not the case with the community building.

"We took upon ourselves to make the building a self-sustaining unit. That's what the taxpayers expect us to do, and if we suddenly turn around make a reduce rate or free (use to the schools) in a sense the rec department is subsidizing the public schools," Kritecz offered.

Kritecz explained if the schools were given the use of the community gymnasium for no charge, then how was he going to explain this to his other renters.

Bingley said it could be because the rec department uses the schools at no charge.

Also, Mittman explained the schools would not have use of the building if someone wanted to rent the facility because the schools are not guaranteed a spot.

"We're not guaranteed a spot in the public schools either. School functions take precedent," explained Kritecz, who noted the Tuesday volleyball league which plays at one of the junior highs has had nights canceled.

Greenslit addresses rec commission

Recreation commissioners were asked to visit by the Executive Director of the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association, John Greenslit, at their meeting last week Wednesday. Commissioners requested such a visit to their February meeting after recreation director Ed Krutcz had explained the MRPA in a state convention hosted in the MRPA in Grand Rapids in late January.

Greenslit talked for approximately 45 minutes on what his group has been doing on the state and national levels, and how the association compares with others around the state.

The MRPA is made up of 165 communities, which is the second or third largest in the nation, according to Greenslit.

There is a 22-member board, which meets 12 times a year, that represents all 165 boards and commissions comprising the MRPA.

On the state level, Greenslit noted he would like to see the MRPA become more involved with the tourism camepaigns — like the "Say Yes to Michigan" campaigns — because both tourism and recreation go hand-in-hand.

Some of the state programs offered by the MRPA to member departments, he said, include state softball and baseball tournaments, weekend trips to Mackinac Island for senior citizens, and supplying discount tickets for Cedar Point, Bob-Lo Island and Sea World.

Greenslit was proud of the diverse program the MRPA offers. "It's a unique operation because in talking with other states, they're not as diverse," he explained.

However, he did mention many communities have expressed displeasure in getting involved with the private sector — like the discount ticket sales for Cedar Point, Sea World and Bob-Lo.

"But, I think the opportunities there are very, very great," he said.

Also on the state level, Greenslit said there is a day in May when the MRPA has a legislative session where persons from member communities can come for discussions with their state representative.

Greenslit noted more legislators have attended than members. "The sessions have never exceeded 50 (persons) which is kind of tragic," he observed.

One area the MRPA is looking into is the feasibility of establishing millages, in addition to fees already generated, to help recreation programs, Greenslit said.

Oakland County already has a quarter of a mill going to recreation, in addition to other funds, Greenslit said.

Other states are working on targeting themselves to establishing a millage to help recreation programs, he said.

On the national level, recreation groups are concerned about the budget cuts being made, especially in respect to the Department of Natural Resources, Greenslit explained.

Greenslit noted local recreation commissions need to help more in the political area.

Township loses opening round

Northville Township has lost round one of its fight with Hillyer Construction Company regarding construction of Township Hall.

In a decision March 4, Circuit Court Judge Susan Borman issued a summary judgment that calls for the township to pay $25,048.54 plus $6,687.50 interest on unpaid billings from Hillyer.

The township withheld the payment on grounds that Hillyer had not met construction deadlines and that some work had never been completed. When the construction company sued, the township brought in Long's Plumbing as a third party co-defendant but the judge dropped Long's from liability.

Hillyer charged that although he did miss completion deadlines, it was the fault of the township, for hiring Long's, which employed non-union plumbers.

A strike by Hillyer employees resulted, delaying completion beyond the contractual deadline.

The township board of trustees discussed the decision in closed session before last Thursday's board meeting and during the public session voted to authorize the $31,736 payment. Although the board could appeal the decision, Clerk Susan Heintz said the township attorney advised against it. Interest on the unpaid bill exceeded $8 per day now, she said. The interest penalty exacted by the judge was through January 15, 1982.

There is still another count in the suit that remains undecided. The contractor is charging the township breached its duties to Hillyer in the course of administering the project, and is requesting damages. Long's was absolved of any responsibility for the Hillyer strike. Although Hillyer was nominally the general contractor for the federally-funded project, the township hired the plumbing and electrical contractors independently.

The Birmingham-based Hillyer suggested last July that the township had conducted the construction process in an irregular manner but was trying to make Hillyer take responsibility for things over which he had no control.

The township attorney, at that time, suggested the contractor should not have bid on the contract if he did not like the terms or should have renegotiated it when the operation did not take shape as he had envisioned.

Armstrong, Cook appointed to new board positions

Township trustee representation on the joint community recreation commission has changed hands. Trustee James Nowka resigned from the post due to time constraints, and the township board appointed alternate C. James Armstrong as the regular member Thursday.

Nowka said he resigned from the commission because he could not insure regular attendance. His job, he said, increasingly demands that he be out of town during the first few days of the week and he has many other commitments.

Armstrong was given his first message to carry from the trustees to the recreation commission the following night. During a budget planning session, Clerk Susan Heintz and Treasurer Richard Henningsen expressed deep concern about the recreation department's continuing budget deficit.

With the concurrence of other board members, Supervisor John MacDonald said he would write a letter expressing the board's "disappointment" that the 1982-83 recreation budget does not include specific plans to defray the deficit.

When township representatives to the board, Armstrong among them, receive the letter, the trustee will likely be called up to explain its import to the recreation commission.

Both Heintz and Henningsen indicated some reluctance to approve the department budget as submitted, citing failure to reduce the deficit as the primary reason. Other trustees defended the budget, noting, as did MacDonald, that "all the problems of the recreation department cannot be solved overnight."

For now, the budget of more than $66,000 remains uncut in budget planning documents. But the board does not take final action on the budget until March 29, and Heintz said it would not necessarily be approved untouched.

Another appointment made Thursday night will have less immediate results. The board named Trustee Thomas Cook, who was absent, as the trustee member of the zoning board of appeals.

MacDonald tapped as director with Wayne County EDC

Township supervisor John E. MacDonald has been appointed to the Board of Directors of the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation by the county board of commissioners.

The WCEDC has been most visible in this area as coordinating body and lease holder in an effort to have a senior citizens' housing project developed on property at the Wayne County Child Development Center. MacDonald told the board of trustees Thursday night that "the outlook is getting better" for the project as several developers have expressed interest after being approached by WCEDC.

MacDonald is the second township supervisor to be named to the WCEDC. Former supervisor Wilson Grier was also a member of the board of directors until recently.

Kensington Metropark offers family programs

Three different and unusual programs have been scheduled by the Nature and Farm Centers at Kensington Metropark near Milford.

The first program is spinning and double plying wool at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Farm Center. Farm interpreter Lori Anderson will demonstrate spinning wool and show how to double-ply wool on a spinning wheel during the one and a half hour program. There is a $1 per person charge for the program, and advanced registration is required. Call the Farm Center at 685-9105, or 685-1561 if no answer, for more information.

The "Down Memory Lane — Three Decades of Nature Programs" and "Signs of Spring" are two programs which will take place Sunday, March 28.

"Down Memory Lane", which begins at 10:30 a.m., explores 30 years of programs offered at the park's Nature Center. A special slide program, which reviews many of the programs, exhibits, labels and work of former park naturalists, will kick off the Nature Program's 30th Anniversary Celebration.

The "Signs of Spring" family program begins at 3 p.m. with naturalist Bob Hotelling leading a two hour walk along Kensington's nature trails to point out the early signs of spring.

These include the arrival of spring bird migrants, plants' early growth and, perhaps, frogs singing.

Advanced registration is required for the free program.

GOOD SHOE — State hospital day at Rotary honored director John Reynolds (left) and was coordinated by C.A. Smith. Also honored were former hospital cashier Ruth Angell and former administrator Joe Gill, to the right of Smith. Frank Belloli and Edward Ferguson of Sibley Shoes were present to donate 500 pair.

Rotary honors state hospital workers

Northville Rotary Club recognized and honored three members of the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital staff Tuesday, March 2.

Director John Reynolds, former administrative officer Joseph Gill, and former accounting office employee Ruth Angell were all honored during the session and officials of Sibley's Shoes company were present to commit the firm to donate 500 pairs of shoes for delivery to the hospital in the near future.

Reynolds has been director of the hospital since 1979. He was graduated with a master's degree in social work from the University of Michigan in 1955 and has served in the state department of mental health since, beginning in direct care.

Gill, of 540 Orchard, was one of the original staff assigned to the hospital. He was appointed administrative officer in July, 1950, almost about 18 months before the facility was officially opened. He retired in January of 1976.

Angell began her hospital employment about the time Reynolds was graduating, in August, 1955. She retired in 1979.

The program, coordinated by C.A. Smith, was similar to those of the past five years in which Sibley's also donated shoes to the patients of the hospital.

Sewer plans being reviewed

Plans for a sewer system to serve the Park Gardens area are being revised to run the primary collection line on a diagonal through the subdivision instead of in or near Five Mile Road.

Township engineer Edward McNeely has referred twice in the last two weeks to the redesigning of the township's preliminary plan for the sewer. He cautioned that the final plan will not be drawn up until residents of the area submit a petition for special assessment, thereby defining the area to be served.

He told Park Gardens representatives at Thursday night's board of trustees meeting that he would expect the collector roughly to parallel the Sly Drain, the primary storm water route in the area.

"It makes more sense to do it that way," he said. "The Sly Drain is the lowest elevation in the area." Lateral lines in Parklane, Fry, Maxwell and Marilyn will convey sewage flows from the homes to the collection line, he explained, by gravity.

Soil borings and study of the terrain, he said, indicate the line would have to be buried 23 feet or more underground at the low end if begun at the northern end of the subdivision and flowed all the way down to Five Mile.

Routing the laterals north and south to the Sly Drain area (which cuts diagonally through the region), he explained, provides two advantages: the line does not have to run so far and the drain point already is lower than the surrounding area.

Both allow shallower sewer lines which is advantageous two ways. Cost is expected to be reduced somewhat, he said, because contractors will not have to dig so deep. It also avoids a potential problem due to the high water table in the area. The high water table, central cause of repeated septic failures, is as little as 18-inches below grade, he said, and burying sewer line 23 feet deep in such a region would virtually insure a situation called "blowout" in which the surrounding water pressure ruptures the sewer line.

"We hope to make it cheaper," McNeely said, as well as more reliable. While residents of the area accepted the explanation and found it preferable to the old plan, they did express concern at the added engineering costs.

But township officials said several times during the meeting and since that the old plan to route all flows to Five Mile, then east along the road to a pumping station at the southeast corner of the subdivision is simply unworkable and that there is no choice but to change the intended design.

NHS Forensic team wins honors

Northville High School's Forensic team took second-place honors in the small teams category at the Brighton Invitational Saturday.

Individually, senior Steve Ouellette took first place in the formative speaking category, while senior Heidi Schulz won top honors in germanic interpretation and sophomore Tom Ducker was second in the impromptu speaking category.

Northville also competed at the Dearborn Edsel Ford Invitational March 6 with Steve Ouellette taking a first in formative speaking.

The Forensic team will be competing at the Sterling Heights Invitational Saturday and will be competing at Bishop Borgess March 27. District competition is March 31.

Automobile damaged at Northville Downs lot

In the city...

A 1981 Buick was damaged while it was parked at the deck on Center and Cady streets sometime March 9, city police report. Total damage was placed at $500.

The windshield was broken ($200); there were dents in the driver's side door ($100), quarter panel ($100) and fender ($50); and the trunk lid was scratched ($50), police said.

Police believe damage appeared to have been caused by kicking and walking on the car.

Unknown suspects slashed a tire on a 1979 Lincoln Towncar with a knife while it was parked at the Northville Downs lot sometime March 10, police report. Damage was placed at $411.

School parking lot at around 3 p.m. Tuesday, March 9. Another case of stolen hubcaps, valued at under $100, was also reported in the Highland Lakes area last week.

...In the township

A Detroit woman was ticketed for failure to use due care and caution while driving after she hit a pothole, lost control of her vehicle and collided head-on with another car on Northville Road March 8.

Ada Bonham of Killrush in Northville suffered a forehead injury in the collision for which she was treated at Botsford Hospital.

According to the report of the incident, Bessie Lee Thomas of Detroit told police she was southbound on Northville Road just south of Seven Mile at about 10:45 p.m. when she hit a pothole and lost control of her car, crossed the center line and struck Bonham's northbound vehicle head-on. Two passengers in Thomas' car complained of having bumped their legs but declined treatment.

Bonham was taken to the hospital via Novi Ambulance for treatment of the head injury. Thomas was ticketed.

Three hubcaps valued at a total $120 were reported stolen from a car parked in the Silver Springs Elementary

Warmer weather brought township police contacts with five escapees from Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital in the past week.

Two female escapees were found in an upstairs hallway of a Northridge apartment building March 9 at 10:21 p.m. They were turned over to nearby hospital security forces.

Another escapee was picked up at 10:15 that morning in front of Northville Charley's where he had attempted entry.

At 2:35 a.m. March 12 township police picked up a hospital escapee at Seven Mile and Northville roads, where he had approached a gas station cashier's window and asked for a ride. Police took the man to the township station, but hospital security forces allegedly would not pick up the escaped patient and township police had to transport him to the hospital several hours later.

Another escapee was contacted on Seven Mile west of Smock and turned over to hospital security forces at the scene the evening of March 12.

Home builder course offered

Spring classes for the Michigan Owner Builder Center will begin 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday, March 27 in the Applied Science Building, room 121, at Schoolcraft College.

The eight week course costs $275 per person, and $400 for married couples. There is a $25 discount for senior citizens and those who pay prior to the first night; however, the first class is free.

Persons taking the course will learn how to build their own home with the proper methods and knowledge of what pitfalls could happen. Selection, design feasibility, tips on financing and actual hands-on construction skills will be taught.

For more information, call 545-7033. Checks can be made payable to The Michigan Owner Builder Center, and be sent to Michigan Owner Builder Center, 1505 East 11 Mile Road, Royal Oak, Michigan, 48067.

Tornado warning siren tests scheduled for city

Spring draws near with the warmer weather, so too does the impending tornado season come closer.

Police agencies from Northville city and township, Plymouth city and township and Canton are working together this year to inform residents of what to do in the event of a tornado.

There will be tornado siren tests the first Saturday of every month at 1 p.m. in the City of Northville. The test blast or tone will be a one minute steady tone and a one minute tone either wavering or up and down.

The police in each community advise residents to become familiar with what a tornado watch and a tornado warning mean.

A tornado watch is given when weather conditions exist for severe thunderstorms that may develop tornadoes. Notification will be given over local radio and television and by the National Weather Service. This is designed to give residents proper time to prepare and inform others of the possibility of a tornado warning being issued, and stay alert to changing weather conditions.

A tornado warning is given when weather conditions or radar suggests a strong possibility of tornado activity or a tornado has been sighted. Local sirens will sound a steady blast for three to five minutes with reports given over local radio and television and by the National Weather Service.

If shelter needs to be taken while at home, the basement is the best safety under sturdy furniture, the release said. If there is no basement, shelter should be taken in the center of the house on the lowest floor in a small room—like a closet or bathroom.

For anyone living in a mobile home, go to a prearranged shelter, basement, ditch or ravine. Do not stay in the mobile home, the release warns.

If traveling in a vehicle, travel at right angles to the tornado's path. If there is not enough time to drive away, get out of the vehicle and into a basement, ditch or ravine away from the vehicle.

For anyone at work or school, follow advance plans to move to interior hallways or small rooms on the lowest floor. Avoid a room with large freestanding roofs and areas with windows.

If in the open country, get into a sturdy building or basement or lie flat in a nearby ditch or depression and hold on to something on the ground, if possible, the release suggests.

That's better

Township board okays recreation by-laws, ending 4-year debate

After nearly four years of debate, the Northville Township Board of Trustees has adopted the bylaws of the joint community recreation commission and authorized its supervisor to sign the document.

The board voted unanimously Thursday night on a James Nowka motion to approve the bylaws. The latest version includes changes that eliminated the list of township objections to the document by which the commission proposes to govern its operations.

Most importantly, it eliminates a clause that stated recreation employees were to be given the same benefits as employees of the township city, whichever was greater. City employees are unionized and have a much more extensive package of benefits.

When first proposed, the township board suggested this clause be changed to give the recreation employee the lesser benefits. When the current board first saw the proposed bylaws, it too, objected to the clause but recommended elimination rather than changing it.

Since the document already gives wage and benefit authority to the director subject to commission approval, board members argued, there was no need for the levels to be tied to those of any other employees.

The clause was objected to on several grounds, particularly due to the difficulty it posed for township trustees in negotiating salaries and benefits with employees in its other departments.

Since the township contributes more than one-half of the funding to the department, some argued, the employees are nearly as much township ones as those in any other township division.

Another change to the bylaws is in the stated purpose, which has dropped rhetoric placing a mental role in the physical and mental well-being of residents. Instead, the purpose is stated as "to plan, manage and administer a year-around recreational program for the benefit of all citizens within both the Northville Community and the Northville School District."

Equine seminar features preventive medicine class

The Advanced Equine Seminar will present a comprehensive course pertaining to lameness and preventive medicine for horses at the Oakland Equine Center of South Lyon beginning April 21.

Designed for both the novice and advanced equestrian, the course will consist of a series of eight two-hour sessions held every Wednesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Starting on April 21, the sessions will run through June 9.

The classes will be conducted by Michael E. Hall, John R. Keating and Steven A. Rymal. All three are doctors of veterinary medicine.

The topics to be covered during the sessions include anatomy and lameness, treatment of lameness, the gait of the horse, preventive medicine and dentistry, equine emergencies and surgery on the equine.

In addition, an optional lab session involving the dissection of a horse limb will be available in connection with the lecture on the treatment of lameness. The lab session will cost an extra $10 beyond the registration fee.

The equine seminar also pointed out that participants in the course will receive preprinted materials and will view movies and slides.

The pre-paid registration fee for the course is $45 per person. If more than one member of a family wishes to attend, the fee is $45 for the first member and $30 for each additional member. Registration at the first class session will be $50 per person. That registration session will begin at 7 p.m. April 21. No refunds will be made for missed sessions and no partial registrations for single sessions will be accepted.

Anyone 12 years of age or older and having an interest in horses is welcome to register and attend. The class will be limited to 45 students and a minimum of 25 students are needed to conduct the course.

The Oakland Equine Center is located at 56560 West Ten Mile, just east of Milford Road. The Advanced Equine Seminar is located at 18765-2 Innsbrook, Northville.

Township board passes ordinance requiring building site clean up

A new ordinance approved by the township board of trustees Thursday is expected to aid the building department in having developers clean up debris and restore building sites after construction.

The law gives the building official discretion to demand a bond be posted by developers with whom he has had experience in not promptly cleaning up leftover debris.

Requested by township building official Troy Milligan in connection with an on-going problem, the law was drafted by the township attorneys.

It penalizes builders for failure to clean up a lot when ordered to do so, and also posts a ban on dumping of debris in general.

TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN ORDINANCE NO. 76

An ordinance enacted pursuant to Act No. 246 of the Public Acts of 1945, as amended, for the purpose of regulating, controlling, preventing, reducing and eliminating the dumping or depositing of garbage, litter, debris, or waste material at construction sites or buildings under construction and areas adjacent thereto; requiring builders and/or owners to restore building sites upon completion of construction and requiring a bond to guarantee such performance; preventing, reducing and eliminating the dumping or depositing of debris, dust, sand or mud on streets; providing for the removal of the same; providing for the enforcement hereof and providing for penalties for the violation hereof; and to provide for the public health, safety and general welfare of persons and property within the Township of Northville.

THE TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE HEREBY ORDAINS:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE. This ordinance shall be known as the "Northville Township Construction Site Maintenance Ordinance".

SECTION 2. PURPOSE. Pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 246 of the Public Acts of 1945, as amended, being Sections 41,181, et. seq., of the Compiled Laws of the State of Michigan, the Township of Northville, Wayne County, Michigan, by and through its Board of Trustees, enacts this ordinance for the purpose of regulating, controlling, preventing, reducing and eliminating the dumping or depositing of garbage, litter, debris, or waste material at construction sites or buildings under construction and areas adjacent thereto; requiring builders and/or owners to restore building sites upon completion of construction and requiring a bond to guarantee such performance; preventing, reducing and eliminating the dumping or depositing of debris, dust, sand or mud on streets; providing for the removal of the same; providing for the enforcement hereof and providing for penalties for the violation hereof; and to provide for the public health, safety and general welfare of persons and property within the Township of Northville.

SECTION 3. LEGISLATIVE INTENT. In the development and enactment of this ordinance it is recognized that proper handling and prompt removal of litter, garbage, debris, waste material, dust, sand, mud and dirt from construction sites, buildings under construction and areas, streets, roads and highways abutting or adjacent thereto, is essential to the preservation of the public health, safety and general welfare. The failure to properly handle and promptly remove said matter has severe adverse effects on the community by tending to create a nuisance; creating hazardous conditions which may result in injury to persons or property; attracting vermin; causing annoyance to residents and other persons who work in or pass through the Township; and detracting from the aesthetics of the neighborhoods involved. This ordinance is enacted to eliminate the aforementioned consequences and it is also recognized that, if the prohibited acts are committed in violation of this ordinance, the needs of the Township may require expeditious removal of the objectionable matter by the Township itself. To this end a procedure is hereby established by which the Township, after due notice is given to the builder and/or owner of a construction site or building under construction, may remove the objectionable material and charge the cost of said removal to the builder and/or owner or party in interest in whose name the subject property appeared upon the last local tax assessment records.

SECTION 4. DEFINITIONS. Certain words and phrases when utilized in the provisions of this ordinance shall be defined and mean:

A. "Construction site" shall mean a lot on which the erection, alteration, repair, reconstruction, conversion, demolition, moving, or equipping of any building or structure, or the excavation, filling, grading or regulation of a lot in connection therewith is taking place, has taken place or will take place.

B. "Construction material" shall mean any material used for the purpose of the erection, alteration, repair, reconstruction, conversion, demolition, moving or equipping of any building or structure or the excavation, filling, grading or regulation of a lot in connection therewith.

C. "Debris" shall mean any accumulation of broken or detached matter, including, but not limited to, pieces of stone, brick, cement, plaster, lumber, pipe, wallboard, and shingles.

D. "Garbage" shall mean putrescible animal and vegetable matter.

E. "Litter" shall mean "garbage" and "debris" as defined herein and all other matter which if thrown, dumped, placed, left or deposited as herein prohibited may tend to create a danger to the public health, safety or general welfare.

F. "Person" shall mean any individual, partnership, copartnership, limited partnership, association or corporation and their lessees, trustees or receivers appointed by any court. In the instance of a legal entity, the individual(s) who is (are) the general partners of a partnership, whether limited or not, the trustee(s) and any beneficiary having the power to appoint or constitute a trustee of a trust, the officers and directors of a corporation and any receiver thereof shall be equally liable with the legal entity for any requirements or penalties provided in this ordinance. In any instance an agent having the apparent authority to control the use or occupation of such persons having property regulated by this ordinance shall be equally liable with his, her or its principal for any requirements or penalties provided in this ordinance.

G. "Waste material" shall mean all putrescible and non-putrescible solid waste (except body waste) including but not limited to garbage, debris, uprooted vegetation and herbage, tree limbs and stumps and any other matter which if thrown, dumped, placed, left or deposited as herein prohibited may tend to create a danger to the public health, safety or general welfare.

SECTION 5. MANDATORY ACTION. Any person who owns, controls or is in possession of a construction site or building under construction, shall:

A. Provide a receptacle or receptacles at each construction site and building under construction which shall be of sufficient size and dimensions to adequately contain all litter, garbage, debris and/or waste material as may be found at the construction site or building under construction.

B. Place all litter, garbage, debris and/or waste material within said receptacle or receptacles.

C. Place and maintain all construction materials within the confines of the lot lines of the construction site or building under construction.

D. Sweep all streets, roads or highways adjacent to or abutting the construction site, or building under construction, at least once per week or more frequently should any litter be found dumped, deposited, placed or thrown on said streets, roads or highways.

SECTION 6. PROHIBITED ACTIONS. No person who owns, controls or is in possession of a construction site, or building under construction, shall:

A. Dump, deposit, place, throw, leave, bury or cause or permit the dumping, depositing, placing, throwing, leaving or burying of litter, garbage, debris or waste material at any construction site or building under construction.

B. Transfer litter, garbage, debris or waste material from one construction site, or building under construction, to another.

C. Dump, deposit, place, throw, leave or cause or permit the dumping, depositing, placing, throwing or leaving of dust, sand, mud, dirt, litter, garbage, debris or waste material on any street, road, or highway adjacent to or abutting any construction site, or building under construction.

D. Place on any street, road, highway or right of way adjacent to or abutting any construction site, or building under construction, any form of construction materials.

E. Fail to remove all litter, garbage, debris or waste material from a construction site, building under construction, or area adjacent thereto, within 48 hours after notice to remove the same is effectuated, pursuant to Section 7 herein.

F. Fail to remove all dust, sand, mud, dirt, litter, garbage, debris or waste material from any street, road or highway adjacent to or abutting a construction site, building under construction or area adjacent thereto within 48 hours after notice to remove the same is effectuated pursuant to Section 7 herein.

SECTION 7. NOTICE OF REMOVAL. The Township Building Official, or his designated representative, is hereby authorized and empowered to notify the builder and owner of a construction site, or building under construction, to remove all litter, garbage, rubbish, debris or waste material from the construction site and to remove all dust, sand, mud, dirt, litter, garbage, debris or waste material from any street, road or highway adjacent to or abutting the construction site or building under construction. Said notice shall be given by first class mail addressed to said builder and owner at their last known address or by any other means reasonably calculated to give notice to the builder and owner. Said notice is deemed effectuated on the second regular day for delivery of mail after the day the notice to remove, is placed in the mail.

SECTION 8. REMOVAL BY TOWNSHIP. If a builder or owner of a construction site, or building under construction, notified pursuant to Section 7 herein, shall fail, neglect or refuse to remove any litter, garbage, debris, waste material, dust, sand, mud or dirt from a construction site, building under construction or area adjacent thereto, or from any street, road or highway adjacent to or abutting the construction site, or building under construction, within five (5) days after the effective date of written notice as provided in Section 7, the Township Building Official, or his designated representative, is hereby authorized and empowered and may in his discretion remove such matter or order its removal either by employees of the Township or by contracting for such removal service with an independent contractor.

SECTION 9. COST OF REMOVAL. Any costs incurred in the removal of litter, garbage, debris, waste material, dust, sand, mud or dirt by the Township of Northville as provided for in Section 8 shall immediately become a lien against the real property involved and shall be reported by the Township Building Official, or his designated representative, to the Township Supervisor who shall assess the cost against the property. The owner or party in interest in whose name the property appeared upon the last local tax assessment records shall be notified of the amount of all such costs by first class mail at the address shown on such tax records. If such person fails to pay the same within thirty (30) days after mailing of the notice of the amount due the Township Supervisor shall add the same to the next tax roll of the Township of Northville which shall then be collected in the same manner in all respects as provided by law for the collection of taxes.

SECTION 10. SITE RESTORATION. Any applicant for a building permit shall, in the discretion of the Township Building Official, be required to deposit with his application a Site Maintenance and Restoration Bond, being a cash bond in an amount to be determined by the Township Building Official sufficient to guarantee the following:

A. The establishment or re-establishment of ditches and culverts, to properly drain the building area and the reopening or re-establishment of any drainage ways that may have been interrupted by the building operation;

B. The repair, replacement and reconstruction of any public road surfaces damaged in the course of construction so that the same shall be in comparable status as they existed prior to the commencement of building operations;

C. The repair of all public utility structures if damaged during the course of construction and the restoration and adjustment of all manholes, catch basins, grates, hydrants and shut-off boxes to the same condition that they were prior to the commencement of building operations; and

D. The full and complete compliance with all of the provisions of Section 6 of this ordinance; in accordance with the requirements, specifications and ordinances of Northville Township.

SECTION 11. FORFEITURE OF BOND. If any person shall fail to perform the provisions of Section 9 during the life of his building permit, or any extension thereof, or within thirty (30) days after written notice is given to said person to correct or fulfill unperformed provisions, then the applicable Site Maintenance and Restoration Bond shall be forfeited and deposited in the general fund of the Township of Northville. The funds so deposited shall be returned by the Township Treasurer to the applicant if, after final inspection, a determination is made by the Township Building Official, or his designated representative, that all of the provisions of Section 9 have been properly performed. The Site Maintenance and Restoration Bond funds may be returned by sending the same by first class mail to the applicant at the address set forth on said application. In the event that said mailing is returned undelivered, all such funds shall be held by the Township and returned to the applicant on demand. If no such demand is made within one (1) year after the issuance of the certificate of occupancy any such funds so held shall be forever forfeited.

SECTION 12. PRESUMPTION. In a proceeding for a violation of Section 5 or 6 hereof proof that a building permit was issued to a person for the subject construction site, or building under construction, shall constitute in evidence a presumption that the building permit holder owns or controls that construction site or building under construction.

SECTION 13. PENALTIES. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of Sections 5 or 6 of this ordinance, or who shall hamper, impede or interfere with the performance of the duties of the Township Building Official, or his authorized representative, pursuant to this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction of such violation shall be punished by a fine not to exceed Five Hundred ($500) Dollars and costs of prosecution or by imprisonment not to exceed ninety (90) days or by both such fine plus costs of prosecution and imprisonment. Each day a violation shall continue shall constitute a separate offense.

SECTION 14. CONFLICTING PROVISIONS REPEALED. Any previous ordinance, or parts thereof, conflicting or inconsistent with this ordinance are, to the extent of any such conflict or inconsistency only, hereby repealed.

SECTION 15. CONSTRUCTION AND SEVERABILITY. It is the legislative intent that all provisions, sections, clauses and sentences of this ordinance be liberally construed but should any clause, sentence, section, paragraph or part of this ordinance, or the application thereof to any person, firm, corporation, legal entity or circumstance, be for any reason adjudged by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or in error, said judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this ordinance or the application of such provision to other persons, firms, corporations, legal entities or circumstances, but said judgment shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, section, paragraph or part of this ordinance thereby directly involved in the case or controversy in which said judgment shall have been rendered and to the person, firm, corporation and circumstance then and there involved. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent of this body that this ordinance would have been adopted had such invalid or unconstitutional provision not been included in this ordinance.

SECTION 16. EFFECTIVE DATE. This ordinance is declared effective on April 21, 1982.

This ordinance was duly adopted by the Township Board of Trustees of the Township of Northville at its regular meeting called and held on the 11th day of March, A.D., 1982, and was ordered to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

Rainfall and melted snow raise river, flood spots

Sump pumps were working overtime as were water and sewer department employees early this week as four days of warm temperatures produced a rapid snow melt followed by rainfall, inundating the area and raising the Rouge River to its crest.

The rapid melt helped to some degree by avoiding ice jams in the rivers and drains, but winter's above-average snowfall meant there was a lot of water to be carried away.

Portions of Hines Parkway were closed intermittently beginning Saturday and, when rain arrived Tuesday morning, the road was closed for 40 miles with the northern terminus here. Water ran over the road at Six Mile and Northville roads over the weekend also, although flooding was minimal compared with that produced by heavy rains last year.

In the Park Gardens area, where drainage that was supposed to be handled by a retention basin in the Northville Colony Estates to the north but instead has been routed over the residential parcels, basement flooding has been reported as deep as two feet and several septic systems were said to be inoperable since Saturday.

YVONNE M. BRUSOCK

Funeral service for Yvonne M. Brusock, 52, a medical technologist in the Wayne County Medical Examiner's Office for 26 years, was held at 11 a.m. Monday at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home in Northville with the Reverend Robert M. Barcus officiating.

Mrs. Brusock died March 12 at her home at 16772 Meade.

Burial was in Glen Eden Cemetery in Livonia.

Mrs. Brusock was born July 20, 1929, in Detroit to Gilbert and Grace (Shedden) MacMurtrie. She married Stanley Brusock who preceded her in death in 1969.

She leaves her mother Mrs. Grace MacMurtrie of Livonia and three sisters Mrs. Judy Thibault of Fenton, Mrs. Beth Potoczak of Plymouth and Mrs. Margaret Conditt of Houston, Texas.

GERALD Mac BRIEN

Funeral service for Gerald Mac Brien, 43, was held 9 a.m. Tuesday at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home. Sister Edith Church officiated. Burial was at Grand Lawn Cemetery.

Mr. Mac Brien died March 13 at his home.

Mr. MacBrien was born in Michigan January 16, 1939, to William J. and Dorothy (Carriere) Mac Brien. He was a traffic manager for the Tulsa Oil Company. He came to the Northville community in 1964, and was a baseball manager in the Livonia little league.

Mac Brien is survived by his wife Arlene, his daughter Mrs. James (Linda) Costh of Westland, son Craig and sister Patricia Vordazco of Westland.

ROWENA SALOW

Funeral services for Rowena Salow, a life resident of the area, are being held at 11 a.m. today (Wednesday) at Casterline Funeral Home.

Mrs. Salow, who was 69, had been a teacher in the Novi schools. She died March 14 at University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor after an illness of six months.

She and her husband Glenn lived at 25920 Novi Road.

Mrs. Salow was born September 4, 1912, in Northville to Aaron Mark and Maude (Rorabacher) Risner. She had no children, but is survived by seven nieces, a nephew and 24 great-grand nieces and great-grand nephews, as well as her husband.

She also leaves a brother Otto Risner of Manitou Beach, Michigan.

Mrs. Salow was a member of Rebekah Lodge 482 and Eastern Star Walled Lake Lodge No. 508.

The Reverend Richard Griffith of Novi United Methodist Church is officiating at today's service. Burial will be in Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens in Novi.

The family suggests tributes may be made to memorials of the donor's choice.

Our Opinions

Attitude change would help

It is unfortunate that an adversarial relationship has developed between Northville Township officials and the Park Gardens area property owners. As was exhibited at last week's board of trustees meeting, communication between the two has been eroded to the point where discussions sometimes operate on an emotional rather than rational plane.

What is most disappointing about this development is that it is unnecessary and harmful to both sides. The goals of the parties are similar, if not identical — installation of sewers in the subdivision as a solution to long-standing septic difficulties that have escalated to health-threatening proportions. What is happening on those four streets off Five Mile Road is approaching environmental emergency while those in positions to end the problem bicker over details.

There is no longer any question about whether or not sewers will be installed in Park Gardens. What is in dispute is the distribution of costs and the kind of system to be built. If the two sides of the argument do not come to an agreement soon, the township and residents both may be subject to state or county action that would be unpalatable. To solve the problem locally, which would certainly cost less, would require several changes in the relationship between the residents and the authorities.

The township must acknowledge that Park Gardens is not an ordinary Special Assessment District case. Yes, septic failures occur elsewhere in the township and yes, all other residents must pay full costs when they ask for sewers. But there are no unsewered areas in the township as densely populated, grossly polluted or with property values as low as they are in Park Gardens. As one resident pointed out, the sewer installation cost could reach 40 percent of some home values — an absolutely unthinkable proportion most anywhere else. Additionally, the terrain and water table of the area demand extra, and costly, construction. Add to this mix the absolute necessity for a swift response before things grow worse — a situation not extant and not likely anywhere else in the community. Seen in this light, it is clear that the search for funding is not, as it has been characterized, an attempt to freeloader or get sewers for free. It is, from the residents' point of view, a fight for survival.

On the other hand, residents, angry as they may be at the mistakes of the past, cannot expect the township government to set straight a dozen years' worth of complaints in one fell swoop. They must acknowledge that, to date, the current administration, admittedly with a some prodding from the association, has done more in one year than previous officials did in many. There is, despite the frustration of occasional delays, encouraging progress being made on the project that should not be dismissed in a "so what have you done for us lately" attitude. Such an approach not only is unfair, it serves to alienate those in a position to provide assistance.

More generally, what we would like to see would be a more open-minded approach from both sides. In some small details of the project, they may have to agree to disagree. In most such matters, we believe an amiable compromise could be reached if only the decibel level were decreased. There should be agreement on the ultimate aim, so we would hope the parties can agree not to tear things apart just as resolution approaches.

Rec commissioners miss opportunity

It seems a "Golden Opportunity" was missed by the Northville recreation commission when Michigan Recreation and Parks Executive Director John Greenslit spoke at their meeting last week Wednesday.

The "opportunity" missed was the chance for commissioners to grill Greenslit for specifics on what the MRPA has been, and can be, doing for its member recreation commissions.

We are miffed the commission made only three queries to Greenslit after he opened the floor to any and all questions. Surely, the commission must have had more on its mind than wanting to know about acquiring land, or obtaining information for comparisons with other communities, or how to become more active politically.

Were there not more questions to be asked? Such as, what specific programs are offered by the MRPA that Northville can join? What were the "great" opportunities in the private sector for the MRPA? What kinds of methods, aside from the Michigan Land Trust Fund, are being used to acquire needed land? How can the MRPA help Northville acquire some kind of funding to finish the Fish Hatchery Park project? How active politically should a recreation commission become on state and national levels?

What kinds of creative management can be used to solve such problems as the complaints made over rising fees to help subsidize the program? How can Northville be on the MRPA's 22-member board which represents all 165-member commissions? Is bingo run by a recreation commission a good idea, and are other recreation departments running bingo games?

The list could go on and on. We wonder why the commissioners could not have come up with an extensive list of questions since they had two weeks' notice Greenslit was going to appear.

We hope, if a similar situation arises in future for the commission to put an executive director on the hot seat, it will not let the opportunity pass through its grasp.

Nostalgia stirred by 100 movie stars

When I walked in the door last Monday night, having survived a harrowing ride home through snow and ice after a school board meeting, I greeted my mother who was perched motionless in front of the television.

"You have to sit down and watch this," she retorted. "This is just great. Would you look at Ann Miller — she's remarkable, isn't she?"

Sitting on the edge of the bed in her yellow fuzzy robe, my mother was in her glory. For the past two hours she had been glued to the TV watching the likes of Grace Kelly, Elizabeth Taylor and Jimmy Stewart waltz across the screen.

I'm certain my mother was not the only one relishing a little movie nostalgia last Monday. In fact, as much as I curse about the idiocy of the boob tube, I managed to plop down next to the fuzzy-robed stargazer and watch the remaining hour of "Night of 100 Stars," a benefit celebrating the 100th anniversary of the Actors' Fund of America.

As a theatre addict and chronic movie-goer, I quickly became enthralled with the whole affair. With actors such as James Earl Jones, Bette Davis, Colleen Dewhurst and Carol Channing stepping on stage, it had to be one of the most noteworthy — and varied — gatherings of entertainers in recent history. Of course, I would sit through anything to catch Al Pacino, Christopher Reeve and Richard Chamberlain all in the same place at the same time.

I strongly suspect that my fascination with movieola is my mother's doing. For my mother, who grew up during Hollywood's so-called heyday, the movies offered the best entertainment around. Of course, the silver screen had an entirely different meaning for those raised during the Depression and World War II. While Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy may seem like a pretty corny duo to today's viewers, they were box office idols to my mother's friends.

Therefore, it was not surprising to find my mother totally absorbed in this program. For three hours, she was tripping on nostalgia with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Joel McCrae and a host of other screen greats.

I find it amusing that after all these years she still is intrigued with the legendary stars of the silver screen. Since her childhood, she has collected everything from movie magazines to playbills. In fact, her most prized possessions are her Barbara Stanwyck scrapbooks — a collection of possibly every article ever written on the woman and scores of glossy pictures which studios such as Warner Brothers and MGM would send free to movie-crazed teenagers.

As a kid, the highlight of her Saturday was catching a matinee at one of the movie houses downtown. I have a hard time picturing my ever-practical, no-nonsense grandfather hauling his skinny tow-headed daughter down to the Mercury Theatre to sit through a Sonia Henie double-feature, while the kid stuffed a whole box of Jube-juls in her mouth all at once.

Perhaps my mother's early exposure to the theatre led to her later fanaticism. While on her senior class trip to New York, she snuck out of her hotel to catch Gloria Swanson in "Twentieth Century." There she was, all of 17-years-old, marching alone along Broadway at midnight just to see Gloria Swanson in person. I find it hard to believe that this is the same person, who, years later, would not have the nerve to tell the carpenter the vanity he put in the bathroom was too large.

As a product of the video game, cable TV and HBO generation, I hardly can compete with my mother when it comes to movie mania. In fact, my only claim to fame is that I've seen "Gone With the Wind" more times than I've celebrated birthdays. Not bad for someone who has never written to MGM asking for an 8 x 10 glossy of Clark Gable. A poster maybe — but not a glossy.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

The question came like a bolt of lightning from the blue.

"When are you going to start jogging?" she asked. "Spring is coming and you're going to have plenty of time to start getting in shape."

"Jogging," I responded, horror-stuck. "Why in the world would I want to do something like that?"

The answer was painful. "You're not getting any younger, and you're definitely not getting any thinner. I've been wondering why you haven't been wearing your new tapered shirts, and now I know why — you can't pass the 'pinch an inch' test."

"The 'pinch an inch' test," I shot back, realizing my answers were beginning to sound a lot like her questions. "You're talking to the original thin man. John Travolta has nothing on me. Why, I could teach Arnold Schwarzenegger something about staying fit."

"Then why aren't you wearing your tapered shirts?" she asked, grabbing at my waist to try to prove her point about the dreaded "pinch an inch" test.

It was a tough question and I struggled for a response as I tried to knock her hands away from my waistline. "I don't like the colors." "I'm allergic to new shirts." "I gave up new shirts for Lent." "Not many people know it, but VanHeusen was originally from Japan and I won't support foreign manufacturers who are trying to steal the bread from the mouths of American workers."

Not bad, I thought, for something off the top of my head. But she wasn't buying any of it.

"Face it, Jerome, you're getting fat," she said, demonstrating beyond all reasonable doubt how cruel she can really be. "Tomorrow you start jogging."

Oh, somewhere in this fabled land, the sun is shining bright; somewhere bands are playing, and somewhere children shout. But there is no joy in Mudville, folks. Ol' Phil is in a whole lot of trouble.

Mayor warns of factor change for Oakland residents

To the Editor,
Though addressed to the editor, this letter is actually intended for all taxpayers in the Oakland County portion of the City of Northville.

It is the most practical way to reach those taxpayers quickly and make them aware of an unusual situation occurring in the Oakland County assessment process which may affect the 1982 taxes for Oakland County residents of the City of Northville.

The Oakland County Equalization Department reviewed the assessments of the Oakland County portion of the city and determined they were in line. A tentative 1982 equalization factor of 1.0 was announced which would mean no increase in 1982 assessments over the 1981 levels. Because no change was proposed no general notice was required by law to be sent out.

However, the State Tax Commission is now pressing Oakland County to apply a 1982 equalization factor of 1.05 to a 1.10 (a five to 10 percent increase over 1981 levels).

If you are an Oakland County taxpayer in the City of Northville, you should consider whether or not a five to 10 percent increase in your 1981 assessment would be above 50 percent of the market value of your property. Your 1981 assessment is printed on your 1981 assessment notice and 1981 tax bills.

Then if you feel that a factor higher than 1.0 would increase your assessment above 50 percent of true market value you should do two things:

1. File an assessment appeal with the City of Northville Board of Review on or before March 23, 1982. Forms are available at city hall. This will preserve possible appeal rights if the state imposes an equalization factor increase.

2. Write your legislators and object to the State Tax Commission's attempt to override the Oakland County decision and impose a 1982 factor increase. Those legislators are:

Representative Richard Fessler, 7045 Cedar Banks Drive, West Bloomfield, Michigan, 48033, and Senator Doug Ross, 29249 Willowick Court, Southfield, Michigan, 48076.

You should also encourage other Oakland County residents in the City of Northville who may not see this letter to the editor to consider whether or not a five to 10 percent increase in their 1981 assessments would be above 50 percent of the true market value of their properties. If they feel it would, they should file an assessment appeal and write to their legislators.

Sincerely,
Paul R. Vernon
Mayor

Thinks school closing would harm students

To the Editor,

After attending last week's board of education meeting where the future facility needs committee report was presented, I have a very serious concern with regards to the direction given to the board from the committee.

My understanding of this report was that the main direction given was to close one elementary school at the end of this school year (at an estimated savings of $70,000) and then to study the grade structure next year with the possibility of closing an additional school.

While this may offer a possible short term solution to a growing school system budget problem, I doubt that a savings of only seven-tenths of one percent would be a major factor in any budget reduction.

Would this justify the emotional upheaval that would be thrust upon possibly 50 percent of our elementary children? If we close one school, all the elementary school boundaries within the district would be changed.

If the school board is serious about budget reductions, I would suggest that they attempt to regain control of the school teachers' salaries for the next three years versus relinquishing this control to the communities which surround Northville. This expenditure amounts to over 54 percent of the school system's budget.

It was suggested by many members in the audience that the closing of a school should be studied at the same time the grade structure is reviewed. While this may possibly delay the closing of a school for one year, it would insure that we would not close one specific school next year and turn around and have to reopen it the following year because of grade restructuring.

At the end of the committee report and following discussion, the school board requested the administration to report back in four weeks with their recommendations. While I usually support Mr. Nichols and his staff, I question his staff's ability to properly review this report in such a short time and give the school board all the information it should have available to make such an important decision related to the future direction of the school system.

While I support the efforts of the future facility needs committee, and its attempts to encourage the school board to close one elementary school next year, I hope that the school board remembers that its first goal is to provide a quality education to the students in Northville.

Seek support of freeze on nuclear armament

To the Editor:

Retiring Admiral Hyman Rickover recently expressed grave concern for the future, saying the arms race is already so far out of control that "we'll probably destroy ourselves." There are enough nuclear weapons now stockpiled to obliterate all life on earth many times over, yet we continue to build more.

With the growing awareness of the devastating effects of a nuclear holocaust, whether by design or by accident, there is an urgent need to call a halt to the madness.

A petition drive is underway in Michigan to gather enough signatures to place a nuclear weapons freeze proposal on the November ballot — its passage would direct the Michigan Legislature to call on the U.S. Government to propose to the Government of the U.S.S.R. a mutual and verifiable halt to the production and deployment of nuclear weapons.

Resolutions supporting the freeze have passed the Oregon and Massachusetts legislatures and the New York State Assembly, and on March 2 Vermont voters overwhelmingly voted for a freeze proposal. New Jersey is in the midst of an initiative such as ours; Californians have already gathered enough signatures to place the issue on their November ballot, and over 30 other states are working on freeze proposals. The broad support for such an agreement is evident by the fact that 30 out of 33 townships in Massachusetts which voted for President Reagan in 1980 also supported the freeze.

Petitions are being circulated in our area already, and work was begun recently by the Northwest Suburban Committee for the Nuclear Weapons Freeze.

Plans are underway to contact area churches urging them to support "Signature Sunday" on March 28 in a concerted effort to get parishioners to sign and carry petitions.

The committee has available brochures about the freeze, as well as petitions, and will provide speakers for groups wishing to have more information. Organizations and individuals wishing to help should contact Johanne Fechter (455-2149) or Leona Riebling (349-8243). We urge your readers to support this campaign.

Cites AAUW activity of past 100 years

To the Editor,
March 14-20 is AAUW Week
(American Association of University

Women). As it celebrates its 100th anniversary of its founding, AAUW is a growing and active organization. It is an organization for women who are graduates of accredited colleges and universities who believe in working for the advancement of women and the betterment of education.

Graduation from an accredited college is the sole requirement for membership in AAUW.

Why join AAUW? Here's what membership in AAUW offers you: study and action on contemporary problems and issues; participation in insurance programs at group rates; book discounts, often at prices lower than book clubs; participation in the oldest and largest organization of women supporting a fellowship program for graduate studies; international seminars; receiving "Graduate Woman," the AAUW magazine; membership in the International Federation of University Women; travel introductions to IFUW members around the world; an annual National Issue conference; an annual United Nations Seminar; participation on legislative issues locally, state-wide and nationally; support for the advancement of women; and grants to members for research and development of community and academic projects.

If you are interested, the person to contact about membership is Jean Hansen, branch membership vice president, 348-6096. We welcome all interested, qualified women. Hope to see you at a meeting of the Northville Branch of AAUW.

Proclaim AAUW week

Northville City Council at its March 1 meeting looked ahead to AAUW week and issued a proclamation signed by Mayor Paul Veroff congratulating the local branch of the American Association of University Women during AAUW Week—March 14-20.

In the proclamation the city emphasized the fact that the local AAUW branch contributes to the community by giving a scholarship each year to a local student in need of education funds.

Since its founding in 1882, AAUW has worked for the advancement of women.

Legislative programs have worked for change by supporting such issues as the Equal Rights Amendment, the recognition and support of the homemaker's role in society, and adequate funding of public educational programs.

On its 100th anniversary the association announces that the AAUW educational awards and grants programs are the largest in the country in support of women. Through its education foundation the AAUW finances educational and public service programs, sponsors conferences and publications.

Every two years, local AAUW members join members nationally in investigating and studying specific issues. The two topics instituted this year are "Money Talks" and "Taking Hold of Technology." Members meet in small groups to research and discuss these areas. Community projects often develop from this study, the branch points out.

Jean Hansen, 348-6096, or Jay Ward, 349-3456, may be called for membership information about the Northville Branch.

Unforeseen circumstances escalates cost of sewers

Bids to install a length of sewer in Beck Road south of Curtis to serve six parcels were presented before the board of trustees Thursday night.

The bids, solicited for installation of sewers in the Special Assessment District (SAD) 10, were opened February 16, township engineer Edward McNeely told the board, and exceeded early estimates of the project cost due to unforeseen conditions.

A high water table adds cost, McNeely said, because the sewer must be designed to avoid high water pressure on the exterior walls of the sewer and the trench in which the main is laid must be purged of water.

Another problem, and the one that attracted the most interest from the board, is that there are three houses located on the northeasternmost parcel. There is no recorded lot split, and McNeely said the residences had not been noticed earlier.

Two additional connections in the line would be needed beyond those originally planned, he said. Other alterations to the design of the project might reduce costs for the affected homeowners, he indicated, and the board asked him to pursue that possibility by contacting the affected residents.

The engineer said the two homes "way on the back of the lot" are served separately by utilities and have different mailing addresses as well, so must be treated as separate residences despite their existence on a single parcel.

He also noted the creation of the SAD distributed costs by a formula that employs both street frontage and a straight assessment per parcel.

"It wouldn't pose a problem if you had done it by benefit," he explained to the board, "but the SAD distributes cost by parcel, and all three are on one parcel."

Low bid for the project was $42,789, but $5,820 of that amount is assigned to costs specific to individual parcels and added after the $30,000 estimate was made, according to the engineer. That makes the low bid just short of $7,000 over the estimated cost, due largely to the discovery of the water table problem.

Costs of the project applied solely to deal with the special problem of the water level ranged from $5,000 to $10,000, he said, in bids ranging up to about $66,000.

Teeters weave success story with traditional handcrafts

BY JOHN MYERS

Sure times are tough, but there's at least one Northville business which is continuing to thrive despite the economy.

In fact, Traditional Handcrafts, Incorporated, at 154 Mary Alexander Court, has expanded to accommodate its growing number of customers.

Owners John and Gloria Teeter doubled the floor space at their store last October to handle the growing demand of business and services provided by the store. The expansion included offering materials for quilting and knitting and providing a gift gallery for its artists from around the state.

Also, there has been a greater demand for morning classes in spinning, weaving, dyeing and quilting. "So many people have requested daytime classes. I teach night classes Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday," Gloria Teeter explains.

The crafts beginner learns such aspects of spinning as the various fibers to use and the different wheels used to spin. "They learn to process different types of yarn for what they are striving for in spinning," she says.

"In weaving, they learn the fundamentals of setting up a loom, which is a tedious process, and the beginning techniques," she adds.

Persons learn how different yarns can be interacted and how to read over-shot pattern drafts, Teeter says.

The store sells many books and also conducts one- or two-day workshops hosted by professional craftspeople to help the beginner improve his/her skills, she adds.

So, why all the interest in making crafts?

"People are getting back to the basics," Teeter says. "People are staying home more."

According to employee Dianne Klamik, who has worked at Traditional Handcrafts for three years, she became involved in making crafts because she is a traditionalist.

"I like antiques and I like the crafts of a colonial woman. I bought an antique spinning wheel which led to a loom," she explains. "People can't afford to go out as before."

The satisfaction of making something on your own is another plus, according to Teeter. "I don't want to knock the department stores, but it is of better quality because you made it yourself."

Klamik says a person can earn money making handcrafts.

But, for the most part, persons who are just starting first make gifts for their friends and family before entering the money-making side, Teeter adds.

Teeter herself is a prime example. She started teaching spinning and weaving in January of 1973 from the home at 571 Randolph and her husband bought from Kate Edgerton, a friend who also is a weaver and had created a studio in the red frame house.

From there, the Teeters opened their current shop in June of 1977. They presently employ two to three persons.

"We have the largest selection of supplies and equipment. I think we can safely say, 'in Michigan,' Teeter boasts.

Different types of yarns, fabrics, craft books and do-it-yourself looms for weaving are among the items sold at the store.

The biggest cost to getting started in weaving, Klamik says, is the purchase of a loom that the buyer puts together.

"The Harrisville 40-inch, 8-harness loom costs around $640, which is a reasonable price," Klamik notes.

However, the Cranbrook looms, the so-called "Rolls-Royce of weaving looms" start at $1,000, but Teeter adds there is something for everybody's price range.

"There is a 22-inch loom for around $200 which you can do a great deal with," Klamik notes.

Among the many items which can be made from any loom are dresses, jackets, rag rugs, scarfs and placemats. "There's no end to it," Klamik says.

Also, the store's successful gift gallery serves as an outlet for local artists to sell their crafts.

Many of the artists belong to the Mill Race Weavers' Guild. There are approximately 30 members, Teeter says, which includes men.

"We usually have at least one man in each of our beginning classes," Teeter explains. "Back in the early days, the women did the spinning and the men did the weaving."

Another aspect which makes Teeter's business successful is her enthusiasm to get others involved in making crafts.

"I like to get other people enthused and see them say 'Hey, I can do something' after they've made a craft," Teeter notes. "It's a good feeling."

Business Briefs

JAY AND MARY STANLEY of Walled Lake have recently opened Jay's Dairy Queen, Inc., for the start of their 30th season, making it one of the oldest businesses in Walled Lake owned and operated by the same family.

The Stanleys also announced that their daughter and son-in-law, Jayne and Warren Belonger, are joining the corporation this year. Another daughter, Julie Stanley, is a parttime employee at the Stanley's Dairy Queen on Pontiac Trail in Walled Lake.

CHARLES FOOTE of Foote Gravelly Tractors in Novi has been re-elected president of the Gravelly Dealer Advisory Council. The announcement was made by the Gravelly Division of McGraw-Edison.

Foote was elected president by the 14-member board at a meeting in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Dealer Advisory Council members, representing the United States and Canada, are elected for two-year terms and are responsible for obtaining ideas from the dealers within their geographic areas and presenting them to Gravelly management.

Gravelly produces and markets high-quality two- and four-wheel lawn and garden tractors, riding mowers and a variety of mowing, snow removal and cultivation equipment.

AN ANALYSIS OF residential real estate in the Northville-Northville Township area for 1981 reveals that 897 homes were put on the market for sale by area Realtors.

Twenty percent (183) of these homes were sold during 1981. The average sale price was $81,969, an increase of .006 percent over 1980 when 30 percent of the homes on the market sold for an average price of $81,488.

United Northwestern Realty Association (UNRA) statistics for 1981 also reveal that buyers used land contracts for about 45 percent of the homes purchased, up 12 percent from 1980. Conventional mortgages were used for 18 percent of the purchases, a decrease of 12 percent from 1980.

Eighty real estate companies sold property in the area during 1981. Century 21 Suburban of Northville had the greatest volume of sales for 1981.

THE LAFAYETTE PARTY STORE opened recently at 274 North Lafayette, South Lyon, under the ownership of the Jonna brothers—Arkan, Namer and Laith (second from left). The brothers have expanded and remodeled the former C & M Discount Store which they purchased from Herbert Cohen. The new store carries complete lines of delicatessen treats, beer and wine, packaged liquor, and dairy products. The Jonna brothers have owned Jonna's Fine Wines in Farmington since 1976. Enthusiastically eyeing some of the deli and dairy items with Laith are (from left) Pete Morrison, Mike Kouza, Sue Muir and Steve Kouza.

National thermoplastics firm says 'yes' to Michigan location

Ron Woods said "yes" to Michigan last week. Woods, a Brighton resident and owner of Thermofil, Inc., is bucking the trend of industrial flight to the Sunbelt by closing a South Carolina plant and moving the operation to a 100,000 square foot facility just south of Brighton.

"This is like a spring tonic," said Norton Berman, director of the state Department of Commerce, during a brief ceremony last week at the new Thermofil plant on Old US-23 in Green Oak Township.

Berman then presented Woods a state flag and a "Say yes to Michigan" T-shirt.

"We're putting our bet on Michigan right now and we think we are in the right place," responded Woods.

The 46-year old Woods recently wrote Governor William Milliken to explain why he was expanding his Michigan operation. The letter so impressed state officials that it was reprinted last week in promotional ads that appeared in both the Detroit Free Press and Wall Street Journal.

Thermofil is a manufacturer of thermoplastic resins used in the automobile, appliance and electronic industries. National headquarters are in Brighton.

Last month, Thermofil closed a $1 million deal with the United Plastics Division of ITT for a plant on Old US-23, less than a mile south of Grand River Avenue. The state had forced ITT to close the plant because of air pollution violations.

At last week's opening ceremonies, Woods listed a host of reasons — workers compensation reform, tax breaks, government-arranged loans, a skilled work force, good transportation and proximity to market — for moving his South Carolina operation to Michigan.

"We've been there and we'd rather be here," he said. "Quite honestly, it's good to do business here." Woods said that state lawmakers must continue to reverse Michigan's anti-business reputation.

"There has been a change in the attitude of the state legislature, but it's only a start," he said. "They are going to have to do more."

Norton Berman (left), director of the Michigan Commerce Department, presents 'Say yes to Michigan' T-shirt to Thermofil president Ron Woods

Woods, a chemical engineering graduate from Notre Dame, started Thermofil in Ypsilanti 15 years ago after securing a $20,000 personal loan. Today he has a $30 million operation with plants in Michigan, California and Georgia.

At 100,000 square feet, the newly-purchased plant in Green Oak Township will be the largest in the Thermofil organization. If the economy improves, Woods said a hiring goal of more than 200 people could be reached within six months.

Woods stated further that he is putting more than $4 million into the Green Oak facility. The Green Oak Township Economic Development Corporation arranged a $3.5 million low interest loan for the purchase. Woods also received tax abatement from the township.

Thursday, March 18, 1982 at 7:30 p.m.

Everyone attending the game will receive a FREE Detroit Red Wings Team Picture courtesy of the Stroh Brewery Company and The Red Wings.

A GRAVELLY TRACTOR TILLS, FLOWS, CULTIVATES AND MOWS.

A REAR-TINE TILLER JUST TILLS. Why buy a rear-tine tiller that spends most of its time just taking up space when you could have a Gravelly tractor that will handle all of your lawn and garden chores. Summer and Winter ... with other attachments like mowers, snowblowers, power brushes, utility carts and dozer blades.

SPECIAL FREE GARDENING OFFER: Now, during our special sale, you get your choice of one of three attachments with the purchase of a Gravelly 2-wheel tractor. Choose either a rotary mower, rotary cultivator or a tool-holder with selected tools. Any one of the three will make your gardening a pleasure.

Come see the Gravelly 2-wheel tractor yourself. But hurry, the free attachment offer ends soon.

ASK THE LAWYER

TM

Questions? Write to Attorney Larry Korn, care of Sliger-Livingston Publications, Post Office Box 160, Northville, Michigan 48167. Questions will be answered on a space-available basis. Answers in this column are directed at specific facts and may not apply in all situations.

Q. Several years ago my wife and I were divorced. I received custody of our 16-year old son. My wife received custody of our 10-year old daughter. Last month while my daughter visited overnight at my apartment, she claimed that I touched her genitals. My wife signed a criminal complaint and also has filed a motion to terminate my custody. What should I do?

A. On the criminal charge, which undoubtedly is criminal sexual conduct, I would suggest that you retain an attorney who specializes in criminal law. If it is true, as you maintain, that you never touched your daughter, I would suggest that your attorney request a polygraph test. If you pass the test, it is quite likely that the prosecutor would dismiss the action. As for the Motion to Terminate Custody, I would suggest that you retain an attorney who specializes in Child Custody and Divorce. He should answer your wife's motion to terminate visitation. He might point out to the court that until such time as the criminal matter is resolved, you would be satisfied to have visitation on Sunday or during the week during daytime hours and in the company of your 16-year old son. I might also suggest that you motion for a psychological evaluation of your daughter and request family guidance counseling.

Q. I own a house in the City of Detroit. My tenant wishes to buy the house for the sum of $20,000 with $1,000 down on land contract with interest at 11 percent. Is this a safe investment for me?

A. When you sell a piece of property with a small down payment, as a general rule you wind up with a very poor investment. If the purchaser fails to make land contract payments as agreed, he can stay in possession of the property for approximately six months before you can get him out through court action. In many such situations, the purchaser just abandons the property and before you can protect the property, it is broken into and vandalized. You would be much better off to continue operating the property as landlord. In that way, you will collect the rents and maintain the property.

Q. I parked my car in the street last week. A hit and run driver struck my car and then left the scene of the accident. I ran outside and got his license number but I could not identify the driver. I have damages of upwards of $600. The owner of the car says the car was stolen but I do not believe him and neither do the police. What should I do?

A. I would suggest that you sue the owner of the car in small claims court for $600. The law provides that both the owner and the driver of a motor vehicle are liable for any legal damages in an automobile accident. Let the district judge decide whether or not the car was actually stolen. If the judge finds that the car was not stolen, you may be awarded a good judgement against the owner of the car.

Q. My sister is leaving for Texas to look for work. She wishes to leave her two minor children in my care and custody until she is able to care for them in Texas. Her husband has left the state. How may I become their guardian?

A. I would suggest that you and your sister see an attorney for the purpose of drawing up a Power of Attorney guardianship. This form of guardianship is created through a simple instrument and should have the affect of making you the legal guardian of the two minor children for a period of six months. This form of guardianship may be renewed from time to time as required.

Q. I am a single person, under 65, and my income was $3,200. Do I have to file an income tax return for 1981?

A. If you are single (this also means legally separated, divorced or married with a dependent child and living apart from your spouse for all of 1981) and: are under 65 years of age, you do not have to file a return. If your income were over $3,300 you must file a return even if you owe no tax.

Q. What do I have to do to become eligible for an I.R.A.?

A. An I.R.A. is an Individual Retirement Account. Any individual shall be eligible to become a participant and establish an I.R.A. for the exclusive benefit of himself and his beneficiary, provided he receives compensation during that taxable year and is under age 70½. If you are single, the maximum deposit you can make to your I.R.A. is $2,000. This is 100 percent tax-deductible from your income tax. If you are married with a single income in the household and your spouse is not earning any compensation, the maximum deposit that may be made per year is $2,250. If you are a married household and both husband and wife are working, the maximum deposited amount to your I.R.A. is $4,000.

Q. I rent space in a mobile trailer park. I pay my rent by the month. I got two weeks behind and received a seven day notice to quit for non-payment of rent. I went to the manager to pay the rent and he refused to take it. The trailer park is dirty and I feel it has many violations. What should I do?

A. Appear in court at the time and date fixed for trial. Have your rent ready to pay into court. Tell the judge that you attempted to pay the manager of the trailer park the rent prior to receipt of summons, but the manager refused to take your payment.

Also tell the judge of all the violations that the management has permitted to exist and the judge may reduce your rent in proportion to your loss of use of the premises because of existing violations.

Q. Last year I earned $10,000. This year I am working and expect to earn upwards of $15,000. Should I have an IRA?

A. An IRA is an Individual Retirement Account. Before you file your 1981 income tax, you should go to your local bank or stockbroker and have them open an IRA for you. If you deposit $1,500 in this IRA for 1981, you may reduce your 1981 income by $1,500. You should then deposit an additional $2,000 for 1982 in your IRA. This will reduce your 1982 reportable income by $2,000.

If you are married and your spouse is working, both you and your spouse should deposit $2,000 each, being a total of $4,000 in your respective IRA. This will reduce the amount of income shown on your respective joint income tax return for 1982 by $4,000.

Q. I have a 28-year old daughter. She is divorced. She has to provide for the support of two children. My wife and I have a considerable amount in savings. How can I transfer these savings accounts to my daughter so that she can pay the interest on the interest received, and at the same time keep control of the account?

A. It is difficult to protect you when you want to transfer control over your savings to your daughter. However, we recently had a client of our remove $100,000 from his savings account. We had his daughter execute a note payable on demand without interest to his daughter for $100,000.

Our client then loaned his daughter the $100,000. His daughter deposited the money in a time savings account and is earning 15 percent interest of $15,000 a year on the money she borrowed. Since the daughter had no income up to this point, her income tax on the $15,000 interest earned is nominal. Her father will not receive any interest income on the $100,000 he loaned to his daughter. Therefore, the father, who is in a 50 percent tax bracket, will be able to save $7,500 in taxes, while providing his daughter with the $15,000 interest income to live on.

Green advocates 'living with style'

By KEVIN WILSON

"Performance," Robert L. Green told his Northville Town Hall audience Thursday, "is the essence of style."

And perform he did, rather stylishly, before a packed house of hundreds in the Plymouth Hilton Inn that made evident by its laughter and applause it was not only attentive but enthusiastic as well.

To the delight of his audience, Green's address was spiced frequently with anecdotes about himself and friends and acquaintances in the social and entertainment circles in which he lives and works.

Despite the frequent side comments, Green never lost sight of his topic — style, what it is, how it is evidenced and how to maintain it. While related to fashion, style is something different as well, and Green cautioned that one of the more consistent mistakes of our society is that "We continuously make the assumption that everybody wants to shine in the same way. Not everyone wants to live a life dedicated to fashion. But you can still have style."

Early on, he established for the audience his opinion of what style is and how it differs from "mere" tastefulness.

"Style," he said in the sonorous voice that has made him a natural on radio, "is very individualistic. Taste, by its very nature is apt to boring." He alleged, by the way, that he was having difficulties with his voice subsequent to a four hour taping session in which he narrated a film for charity with Beverly Sills. Few noticed any strain to the dulcet tones emanating from the podium, however.

As an illustration of the difference

'If you place yourself in situations that are not routine, life is so much richer'

Robert L. Green
at Town Hall

between taste and style, he cited the situation of writing thank you notes.

"When you come home from a party," he said, "etiquette demands a thank you note. These are usually boring. They follow a formula established by usage — 'Dear Robert L., We wish to thank you for a marvelous evening. The food was wonderful, you were delightful. Hope we can get together...' and so on."

A note with style, he suggested, might be a postcard with a witty message written on the back related to the picture.

There is danger to having style rather than just good taste, he noted, stemming from style being an expression of self. He spoke of peer pressure, asserting that it operates at all age levels, not only during the stereotypical adolescent years.

"It's a key thing to acceptance of self," he said. "The real fear operates on the level of 'how can I be judged?' No one, no one, in the entire world likes to be embarrassed. There are people who like to get angry and people who like to be hurt, but I've never heard of anyone who likes to be embarrassed. That applies not only to functioning as a public figure, but also in all our private lives."

And it never stops, he said.

"Your role, your self-envisioned role, determines whether you want to be one who watches and determines the tasteful thing to do, and those who do what they want, or those who try to strike a middle ground. The difference determines those who have style."

And creates the danger.

"If you do something with style that is bad, it's the pits," he laughed. "If you do something that's a little bit in bad taste, people will just look at you strangely and whisper 'What's gotten into her? A little too much sherry.' But fail at something with style, and you bomb, it's an absolute disaster."

Yet the benefits of living with style exceed the dangers, he asserted. He advised breaking routine — in fact, he suggested that one avoid establishing any more routine than necessary.

"If you place yourself in situations, positions, that are not routine, life is so much richer." In view of this, he said, he always tries to mix the invitation lists to parties between old friends and new acquaintances.

"It spices things up," he said. "In fact, I no longer allow myself to have only contemporary guests. That's really since my 50th birthday. Before you're 50 you think you're immortal; after you're 50, you realize you don't have a lot of friends who are 100."

He related this aspect of style to his new role as creative consultant to the television series "Hart to Hart." His major project, he said, is to maintain a sense of style for the show, to keep it fresh.

Celeste Holm will open next TH season

Oscar-winning star Celeste Holm will open Northville Town Hall's 22nd season next fall when she appears at the Plymouth Hilton Inn on October 14.

Chairman Reggie Hodson announced next season's four lecturers at last Thursday's third program of the present season.

Actress-singer Holm who has performed on Broadway, for the screen and in night clubs will be followed by Stanley Cloud, former managing editor of the Washington Star, on November 11, and by Irwin Weill, currently a professor at Northwestern University who has been an American guest professor in Russia, on March 10, 1983.

Ending the 1982-83 series will be Polly Bergen, award winning actress of screen and television and author of books on beauty, fashion and charm.

Tickets will go on sale April 1 at the final lecture of the current series. The Town Hall board announced that the price of $20 for the series remains the same. After the sale at the program featuring Dennis Day, mail orders will be accepted.

They should be sent with check and self-addressed stamped envelope to Mrs. Richard Lyon, P. O. Box 93, Northville, 48167.

It also was announced that luncheon price would remain at $8 each. While reservations may be made individually for the luncheons, the Town Hall program tickets are sold only by the series. It is necessary to be a ticketholder to make luncheon reservations.

CELESTE HOLM

In announcing the selection of Celeste Holm to lead off the new season, the Town Hall committee reported she has just returned from England after an extensive run of "Lady in the Dark" and a

Green defines style 'as opposed to taste' at town hall

If you watch the show, you'll notice I never see them working. They never work, it would destroy the image, the concepts, the sense of style of the whole thing. If they worked, they would be too much like you. The farther removed from you, the better you'll like them."

Which he added "You know, we forgive the very rich anything. Here we are in a depression, and we accept it for someone to wear just piles of jewelry and furs. Not only do we forgive them, we want them to keep on doing it."

His audience responded with the equivalent of "amens" throughout. Back to the point, Green emphasized the necessity of seeking new experiences, of staying away from "the rut."

"You know you're never at your best with your best friend," he said. "Your clothes, your language, you tend to let it go a little — come on, honestly, you know you do. That's why you shouldn't let yourself get trapped into seeing exactly the same people all the time."

Speaking of less-than-perfect dress reminded Green of another amusing tale connected with his passion for gardening.

"I was in Australia," he said, "where the press is just incredible. You know, they have just an astonishing number of newspapers there. I think there's something like one paper for every 40 people."

"Anyway, I was in Adelaide, and there were all these newspaper people around," he said. "By the way, Adelaide shares something with Northville. It's a Victorian town, with Victorian era storefronts and signs on the shops. It is unlike Northville in that all the houses are Victorian, there are not contemporary homes such as Northville has, and a lot of the thinking there is Victorian as well."

"Now where were we? Oh yes, there I was with all these press people interviewing me, and finally someone asked me about gardening. Now this lady, in a hat something like yours," he said, pointing, "was the gardening editor of the Brisbane Times, or whatever it is."

"I thought 'Oh boy, here's my chance to really talk about something interesting' and she asked her question.

Do you want to know what she asked?" he said. Raising his chin high and putting on an exaggerated Australian accent, Green delivered the question: "Mr. Green, what do you wear when you garden?"

When the laughter died down, Green said it was "a fair enough question. So I told her 'I wear dead clothes.' Now you have to understand, that's really correct, because the clothes I wear while gardening are dead to me — they are out of fashion, or don't fit well, worn out."

"But the story comes out in the paper, and she had written 'Mr. Green gets his wardrobe from morticians.'"

And so it went, Green making his points, and relating amusing incidents along the way.

Told he was running beyond the allotted time, Green summarized his talk this way:

"We have a tendency to think of life as a commutation ticket. It's not, it's a one way trip. If you waste anything, you've just done that to yourself."

"At the same time, I would like to see you do it with a little sense of adventure, whatever it is. Honey, don't send the thank you note, send the card."

visit with the King of Norway. The daughter of a portrait painter and insurance executive, Celeste Holm came to the theater via a Paris boarding school education and drama study at Chicago University.

She made her stage debut in "Time of Your Life," winning attention in the part of Mary L. Five "resounding flops" followed before her portrayal of Ado Annie in "Oklahoma!" put a star on her dressing room door.

Darryl Zanuck signed her to a 20th Century Fox contract and she appeared in many films, winning an Oscar for her performance in "Gentlemen's Agreement."

During her career, she has played in major supper clubs, including in Las Vegas, and in summer theater. She has received many citations for her continuing commitment to community causes and public affairs.

Both she and her husband Wesley Addy have been enthusiastic about the development of regional theaters, performing in the East and Midwest.

STANLEY CLOUD

Cloud currently is working on a book dealing with the presidency and presidential campaigns.

Considered one of the most noted experts on the presidency, Cloud was managing editor of the Washington (D.C.) Star until the paper was closed by its owner, Time, Incorporated, in August, 1981. He had been a correspondent and editor for Time Magazine prior to Time's purchase of the Star in 1978.

A journalist for more than 25 years, with six years out for service with the Navy, he began working in Los Angeles for Time while still in college. After being discharged from the Navy, he worked for two years at the Monterey Peninsula Herald, covering politics in the courts. He left to become editor of a local political magazine, The Advocate, which he helped start. When it folded in 1968, he was hired by Time as a correspondent in its San Francisco bureau.

In late 1969 he was sent to Russia by Time, moving to Bangkok as Time's bureau chief. In 1972 he was moved to Washington, D.C., as Senate correspondent but covering Watergate also. He covered the presidency of Jimmy Carter, and, with the inauguration of Ronald Reagan, began to report on the new administration.

IRWIN WEIL

Dr. Weil has the distinction of being one of the few Americans to have taught at two Soviet universities, in Moscow and in Leningrad, as an American guest professor.

In addition, he pursued his own research at the Soviet Academy of Sciences, the Institute of World Literature in Moscow and the Institute of Russian Literature in Leningrad.

Educated at the University of Chicago and then at Harvard where he received his Ph.D., Dr. Weil mastered the Russian language and worked for a time at the Library of Congress with one of the greatest lawyers of pre-revolutionary Russia, Eugene M. Kulischer.

Born and raised in Cincinnati, Ohio, he is the son of Sidney Weil, former owner of the Cincinnati Reds baseball team.

A self-taught guitarist, Weil uses his trained voice to sing American, Russian, Hebrew and Yiddish, French, German and Italian folksongs.

He has been a professor at Harvard, Brandeis and, currently, at Northwestern universities. He has received awards as an outstanding teacher.

dramatic actress in such top-rated shows as Playhouse 90, The Bell Telephone Hour and Just Polly and Me with Phil Silvers.

She reached a turning point in her life when she portrayed Helen Morgan on Playhouse 90 and received an Emmy for her performance. "Bergen sings Morgan" is considered one of the all-time great albums.

She elected then to remain in New York with her family, appearing as a panel member of "To Tell the Truth." She returned to California later to resume her film career.

She now lectures throughout the country and works with several major corporations as a marketing consultant.

POLLY BERGEN

"Versatile" is a popular descriptive word for Polly Bergen who, in addition to being an award-winning actress, is a recording star, author, mother, humanitarian and businesswoman creator of her own cosmetic line.

As a youngster, her early television appearances resulted in motion picture offers and recording contracts. Her first motion pictures were Hal Wallis productions for Paramount Pictures, starring Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

On television she appeared as a

Women's Club elects at Highland Lakes

A dozen years ago many new residents were settling into the Highland Lakes condominiums. One of them was Kay Russell, who followed through on the idea of forming an association for women to have a chance to become better acquainted, remembers Izma Chmiel who has just assumed presidency of the Highland Lakes Women's Club.

Now 10 years old, the club has 42 members, all residents of Highland Lakes, with meetings held at 1 p.m. on the first and third Thursday afternoons of the month at Highland House, the condominium clubhouse.

Mrs. Chmiel was elected president at the annual meeting held March 4 after a salad luncheon. Other newly elected officers are Verna Wall, vice president; Jean Stabler, secretary; and Sally Wright, treasurer.

Formed as a non-profit organization, the club has as its purpose "personal growth and enrichment of life for our members and the community," explained the new president.

It has contributed substantially to community projects in the past year, she adds.

The sum of $500 was given to projects of Northville Goodfellows, Northville Beautification Commission for a tree planted in front of Schrader's Furniture Store, and to Northville-Novi FISH.

This Thursday the club will hear attorney Kenneth Safran, a member of the law office of David R. Kratz, P.C., in Southfield, speak on "Wills and Estates."

Spring programs include luncheon and a tour of Meadow Brook Hall April 22; a show of Depression Glass from the collection of club member Georgina Cox May 6; travel slides of Tangier, Africa and Spain by members Elizabeth Yates and Margaret Buswell May 20; and a picnic in June.

The club will recess during July and August. Fall and winter programs by tradition will include an annual fashion show and Christmas luncheon.

Northville Woman's Club will end its 89th year on a jazzy note as the award-winning Northville High School Jazz Ensemble I under the direction of Michael Rumbell entertains following the club's annual tureen luncheon at 12:30 p.m. this Friday at First Presbyterian Church.

The 15-member ensemble will be presenting songs of the moment as well as big sounds of the past, including "Earth, Wind and Fire" music, Rumbell reports. Mrs. James Crain, program chairman of the day, is in charge of arrangements. The ensemble has been a consistent winner of first division ratings at jazz festivals in Michigan. It is in demand for appearances throughout the state.

During the program three members of the club will be honored for 50 years of membership. Mrs. E. F. Clark of Farmington plans to be present to receive her gold pin. Mrs. T. G. Hegge's pin is being sent to her in East Lansing while Mrs. Frederick Harper, retiring president, and Mrs. Douglas Bolton, membership chairman, personally will present a gold pin to Mrs. C. H. (Thelma) Schoultz at Whitehall Convalescent Home.

The annual meeting will include election of new officers as the club, one of the oldest in the Wayne County Federation of Women's Clubs, adjourns until October. It currently has

Debra Tomczyk engaged

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Tomczyk of 41781 Ladywood announce the engagement of their daughter Debra Kay to Timothy Lawrence Sheehan of Livonia.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Sheehan of 45820 Bloomcrest.

The bride-elect is a 1977 Northville High School graduate and received her bachelor of science degree in dental hygiene from University of Michigan in 1981. She currently is employed by Drs.

Hall, Hendrickson, Tegrotenhuis and Sommerfield. She also is a member of the Registered Dental Hygienist Association.

Her fiancé is a 1973 Detroit Catholic High School graduate. He received his bachelor's in business administration from Northwood Institute in 1978, where he was a member of Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity. He currently is vice president of Sheehan Enterprises, Ltd.

A September 4 wedding is planned.

Hroneks celebrate 40 years

Roy and Helen Hronek of 18766 Jamestown Circle marked their 40th wedding anniversary last Sunday with mass at Our Lady of Victory Church and a family brunch following at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

After an old-fashioned serry ride in Plymouth, the couple returned to King's Mill for a reception with friends. Arrangements were made by the Hroneks' daughter Terry Babut of Plymouth. On hand were the Hroneks' grandchildren Kim and Scott Babut.

The Hroneks' other daughter Marge Ercoli and her family, former residents now are living in Portland, Maine.

Justin Gow's their first child

Mrs. and Mrs. Mark Gow of New Hudson announce the birth of their first child Justin Robert March 13 at Providence Hospital in Southfield. He weighed eight pounds, four ounces.

Mrs. Gow is the former Barbara Hodson of Northville.

Grandparents are Mrs. Mary Gow of New Hudson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hodson of Northville.

Couse, Florence Booms and Mary Esther Fountain of Northville.

Health-O-Rama dates set for area

Northville area residents will be able to take advantage of free health tests being provided for everyone over the age of 18 at more than 60 sites in the seven counties of Southeastern Michigan through Project: Health-O-Rama.

Florence Booms, co-site chairman, announces that local residents will be able to participate from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. March 31 and April 1-2 at the Livonia Mall on Seven Mile.

Free screenings for height and weight, anemia, blood pressure, vision, health histories, oral cancer screening and glaucoma will be given.

In addition, optional blood chemistries for cholesterol, diabetes, kidney disease, liver disease, bone disease, gout and more are to be available for a minimal handling fee of $7. The sponsoring agencies — WXYZ-TV Channel 7, Blue Cross Blue Shield of Michigan and the United Health Organization, a Torch Drive Agency — report that these tests alone represent a savings of $50 to $80 for participants who should be prepared to give name and address of their family physician.

Total health care savings to those taking all tests could be up to $150.

Volunteers from local nursing schools, hospitals and community organizations have been recruited to perform the screening and clerical tasks. More than 4,000 volunteers are involved in working on the health test program this year. The project is in its third year.

Last year, sponsors point out, 30,156 people took advantage of the Health-O-Rama tests; 6,000 were found to have one or more abnormal test results.

Goals of this immense community service are to alert individuals to possible health problems and heighten public awareness of health.

Noting that these are the most troubled economic times in years, Darlene Jones, director, broadcast standards and practices for WXYZ-TV, states that escalating unemployment and health care costs have been a major factor in the decision to continue this community service.

"This is a great opportunity for people to save money on health care," emphasizes William F. Harsen, executive vice president, United Health Organization and one of the Project directors.

Information about other sites where the tests are being given during the 22 days of the program is available by calling 353-8900 between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. Florence Booms also may be called locally at 349-0170.

While the Livonia Mall site is the closest for local residents, there also will be test days in Brighton, March 24 and 25 and in Hartland, March 31.

Another Northville resident, Mary Esther Fountain, is in charge of arrangements for Health-O-Rama at Westland Mall being held March 29, 30 and 31 and April 1.

Clubs are off 'and racing'

Northville Rotary Club is sponsoring an annual Night at the Downs, which begins at 7 p.m. next Tuesday. Tickets at $15 a person include entrance to the clubhouse, dinner and a program. Rotary clubs in Novi, Livonia, Plymouth and Canton are invited to join the Northville group.

Local residents also are welcome to participate and are invited to contact President Dewey Gardner at IV Seasons, or any Rotarian, for tickets. The club has earmarked proceeds from this and other current projects to help with construction of the new Chamber of Commerce building by the well.

The Spinnakers, a new singles group organized last year in the Northville-Novi area, co-sponsored by the Presbyterian churches of both communities, is celebrating April Fool's Day with a Night at the track. A steak dinner with window seating at the Downs is to be $14.95 a person and includes admission to the track.

Divorced, widowed, separated and never-married individuals are welcome. For information on Spinnaker activities or to make reservations call Annalee Mathes, 349-7334, or the Presbyterian Church office here, 349-0911.

Northville Newcomers Club has scheduled its popular Road Rally Treasure Hunt for April 3. It is limited to 50 couples, with participants asked to meet at 7 p.m. sharp at Mill Race Village parking lot, bringing flashlights, pencils, telephone books and area maps.

Materials will be distributed and entrants will be off and running at 7:15 p.m. The event is open to alumni as well as current members. Reservations open this Thursday and are being taken through March 27 by Michelle Buelow, 348-2246.

Library Friends plan Secondhand Prose sale

Friends of Northville Library will be sorting books for an upcoming sale — "Second Hand Prose" — to be held during National Library Week April 19-24.

Sorting is planned for next Monday and the following Mondays, March 29 and April 5.

Anyone who would like to help is invited to call Val Cook, 349-2158; or volunteers may come to the library desk on those days and be guided to the sorting room.

Westphall's in Chicago

Northville resident Shirley Westphall, national president of Sigma Alpha Sorority, was in Chicago last weekend attending a meeting of national officers held at the Drake Hotel.

Plans for the 1982 national convention to be held June 25-27 in Chicago were finalized. Several needs of the Institute of Logopedics were reviewed with three being chosen for presentation at the convention when a final selection will be made to receive the annual donation of the sorority.

The Institute of Logopedics in Wichita, Kansas, a residential speech and hearing center for communicatively or multiply-handicapped people of all ages, is the sorority's national philanthropy.

The Northville Record

Darkhorse cagers cop second district title over Central

By JOHN MYERS

In surprise of everyone but Northville boys' basketball coach Tim Lutes, players and their staunchest supporters, the Mustangs stunned favored Lake Central, 52-49, last Friday at Milford to win their second consecutive Class A district championship.

"Never say die. Never say die," said a beaming Lutes after returning from the gymnasium with the championship trophy firmly in his grasp. "There was never a doubt they (Mustang players) couldn't do it," noted the year mentor whose team now is 12-10 overall.

Northville now plays Livonia Bentley at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Livonia Franklin in opening Class A regional game. The winner will meet the victor of the Detroit Cooley/Detroit Catholic Central contest for the regional title at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Last year Northville lost to Detroit Cooley, 70-58, in its opening regional contest at Franklin.

Bentley, who is 14-8 overall, is paced by 6-foot-6 forward Eric Sink and 6-4 forward Mike McCorry. "They are a very physical team and they work on power basketball," Lutes cited. "Also, they are a more veteran team as far as experience in tournaments.

"In the last six or seven years, (Bentley) has been in the regionals a couple of three times," he added. "We've got a shot at them."

Another appearance in the regionals would not have been possible for the Mustangs without the triumph over Central, who downed Northville, 52-42,

March 5 in the final regular-season contest for both teams.

Northville advanced to the district final with a slim 51-50 verdict over Western Six Conference co-champion Walled Lake Western last week Tuesday.

The win snapped a four-game losing streak for Northville, which had slumped during the last few weeks of the season in which the Mustangs also lost five of its last six games.

"We were down emotionally," said Lutes of the effects of the losing streak. But, the win has the Mustangs riding a new emotional high. "Any district win is great," he added.

Central advanced with a tight 52-51 decision over Milford Lakeland last week Wednesday.

Two gymnasts ready for state tournament

While the season came to a close for most members of the Northville girls' gymnastics team Saturday, at least two members will continue to compete this weekend.

Senior Paula Broderick and junior Amy Aaron qualified for the state meet Friday and Saturday at Plymouth Canton. Broderick will be competing in the vault and floor exercise competitions, while Aaron will compete only in the vault.

This is the third straight year Broderick has qualified for the state meet, but it is the first time Aaron will be competing. Also, this is the first time Northville will be sending more than one representative to the state meet.

"It's a good showing for Northville," coach Debbie Heck observed. "I think they have a chance (at placing)."

The preliminaries get underway at 6 p.m. Friday with the top eight competitors in each event returning for the championship finals 1 p.m. Saturday.

"I'm really hoping they can pull it off and return Saturday. They should be able to do it," Heck said.

Last year, Broderick sustained a hand injury on the uneven bars, but still managed to score an 8.1. Also, she was 11th in the floor exercise (8.6) and 18th in the balance beam (7.7).

To advance to the state meet, Broderick and Aaron placed third and fourth, respectively, in vault which featured 60 competitors at the Adrian regional. Broderick tallied an 8.6 and Aaron posted a mark of 8.5, scores which are natural for them, Heck said.

Broderick placed fourth in the floor exercise with a mark of 8.7, which was one of her highest marks this season.

Both Broderick and Aaron experienced troubles in the uneven bars and balance beam events, Heck explained; but noted other teams had their troubles as well in these events.

Because 23 teams were rescheduled at the regional (either by an individual or as complete teams), all competitors were rushed during warm ups, Heck explained.

Therefore, it was difficult to get the proper setting for the uneven bars or enough time to make adjustments for the balance beam, Heck said.

Broderick fell during her balance beam routine when her hand slipped during a backhand spring, but she did finish to post a score of 6.95. Both Broderick and Aaron fell during their uneven bars routine due to rushed warm ups, but finished with scores of 7.2 and 5.55, respectively, Heck said.

Aaron also competed in the balance beam (5.95) and the floor exercise (7.85).

Tish Johnson was the only other all-around competitor for Northville. She posted scores of 6.8 in the floor exercise, 6.0 in the vault, 6.1 in the balance beam and 5.35 in the uneven bars.

Other competitors were Laura Kiraly in the balance beam (5.5); Lisa Whitmyer in the uneven bars (3.35); Marian Rothermel in the floor exercise (5.6); and Katie Sherman in the vault (5.05).

Two NHS cagers named all area

One basketball might not be enough should the five members of this year's Sliger-Livingston Publications Basketball All Area team get together on the court for a contest.

Four members of the first team selected by the sports editors of the Novi/Walled Lake News, Northville Record, Milford Times and South Lyon Herald led their respective clubs in scoring, while another missed by fractions.

Northville had two representatives placed on either the first or second team. They were senior forward Carl Lang and senior point guard Tim McLaughlin.

Players were selected from the eight schools covered by the four newspapers. They are Northville, Novi, Walled Lake Central, Walled Lake Western, Milford, Lakeland, South Lyon and Whitmore Lake.

Here now is a look at this year's top 10 area players:

FIRST TEAM

A transfer from Detroit Catholic Central this season, CARL LANG was the Mustangs' most consistent player, according to coach Tim Lutes.

The 6-foot-4 senior, forward was the team's leading scorer with an average of 12.8 points per game while ripping down an average of 10 rebounds per contest. He also blocked 28 shots and shot 51 percent from the floor.

CARL LANG

Another forward who led his team in scoring was Novi's TODD PARSONS with an average of 16.9 points per game. The 6-foot-2 senior tallied 20 or more points in six of his last seven games to for an average of 24 points during that span.

One of the area's best big men was Central's JEFF SEWELL, who was the Vikings' 6-7 center. He, too, paced his team in scoring with an average of 18.1 points per contest and 9.7 rebounds.

Lakeland's KEVIN ANDROWS paced his team in scoring with a 13.6 average. The 5-10 senior guard dished out 45 assists, hauled down 28 rebounds and had 34 steals to help the Eagles post an overall season record of 19-3.

Milford had its share of problems this year, but JIM CHERRY turned out to be the team's consistent player. The 5-9 senior guard quarterbacked Milford's slowdown offense and averaged over 15 points a game during the latter part of the season.

He averaged 10.5 points per game, and averaged 3.8 assists and only three turnovers per game.

SECOND TEAM

Providing the leadership for Northville this year was TIM McLAUGHLIN, who handled the point guard duties. The 5-10 senior averaged 9.2 points a contest with an average of 2.8 assists. He also collected four rebounds a game.

Where Sewell left off for Central, TOM NICKLIN was always there to pick up the slack. The 6-5 senior forward averaged 11.1 points and 10.6 rebounds per game.

Lakeland had one of the better, and tallest, front lines in the area due mostly to JOHN HAZEN and JOHN LANG.

The second-leading scorer on the team, Lang collected an average of 13.4 points per game and 5.7 rebounds. In addition, he had 24 steals and 19 assists to go along with his 53 percent field goal shooting.

Hazen was in double figures in both scoring (10.3) and rebounding (10.1) to go along with 27 blocked shots and 40 steals.

South Lyon suffered through a long season, but KEITH HODGENS continually played well by averaging 13.5 points per game and 10 rebounds each contest.

Walled Lake Central, who ended the season with an overall record of 14-8 with its district final loss to Northville, was selected the Team of the Year.

Novi head mentor Ron Flutur, who guided his team to an overall record of 13-8 and a second-place tie in the Kensington Valley Conference, was selected the Coach of the Year.

Three spikers placed on W-6 league team

Even though Western Six Conference champion Walled Lake Western dominated the all-league girls' volleyball selections, Northville did place three members to the squads.

Northville senior Melinda House was one of two unanimous selections to the first team, while junior Leslie Kucher was placed on the second team. Junior Jenny Gans was named to the honorable mention list.

One of the team's more consistent players, the 5-foot-9 House served the ball 130 times, of which 124 were good. She also had 156 hits, of which 125 were good (either for points or staying in play). House averaged seven blocked shots a game.

Western had three players placed on the first team — seniors Cathy Fergin, Susan Hoeft and Bridget Arns. Seniors Debbie Rich of Livonia, Churchill and Debbie Dickinson of Plymouth Canton, who was the other unanimous selection, round out the first team.

Kucher led the Mustang team in serves with 160, of which 149 were good. She also had 120 hits, of which 95 were good, and she averaged three blocked shots per game.

Western's Jill Orcutt and Lauren Wilson, both seniors, were named to the second team along with Farmington Harrison's Lydia Gilvydis, Churchill's Sue Trembath and Canton's Polly Roberts, all of whom are juniors.

Mustang diver competes at Brighton regional

Last week Tuesday marked the end of the 1981-82 swim season for Chris Behen and the Northville boys' swim team.

The junior diver competed at the Brighton regional for diving last week Tuesday to see if he could advance to the state meet. No other Mustang tanker had qualified for the state meet.

But Behen was unable to crack the list of the top 12 divers at the regional who advanced.

JV hoop team loses last game

Northville's junior varsity boys' basketball team successful season ended on a losing note with a 71-57 defeat to non-league foe Walled Lake Central at home March 5.

The Mustangs, who ended with an overall mark of 15-5, were paced by Steve Frellick's 14 points. Mike Weber chipped in 11 points, while Scott Gaia and Bob Pegrum each contributed eight points.

Mantle baseball tryouts scheduled

There is an organizational meeting for the Northville Mickey Mantle baseball teams at 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 24, at the Cooke Junior High School gymnasium.

Anyone who is 15 or 16 years old, and will not be 17 before August 1, 1982, is eligible for tryouts.

Mustangs win second district crown

We felt Walled Lake Central would win against Lakeland. We prepared for Walled Lake Central on Wednesday in practice. It was a guess, but we felt Central would beat Lakeland," Lutes explained. "We worked hard for two days."

Just as there were two keys contributing to Northville's loss against Central March 5, there were two keys in Northville's victory.

The difference was rebounding," Lutes said.

Central outrebounded Northville, 48-35 March 5, but the Mustangs turned the tables on the Vikings by taking a 29-22 edge in rebounding.

The work of Carl Lang, Steve Schrader, Doug Eaker and guards Dave Malinowski and Tim McLaughlin on the boards was praised by Lutes.

Malinowski and McLaughlin each tallied 15 points for Northville, while Lang tossed in 12 and grabbed a team-high 10 rebounds.

Schrader and Tim Wagner each netted three points, while Eaker and John Foley both chipped in with two.

Clutch free throw shooting by Malinowski and McLaughlin late in the fourth quarter preserved the win for Northville, who led the entire game, save a Dean Terpstra free throw for a 1-0 Central lead in the first period.
