WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9, 1982—NORTHVILLE, MICHIGAN

Voters to elect two for school board posts

Voters in the Northville School District going to the polls Monday will have a choice of five candidates to fill two seats on Northville's Board of Education.

If past spring elections and the lack of audience for the League of Women Voters' forum are an indication, the voting will be light.

"I expect about a five to six percent turnout of the district's approximately 2,000 registered voters," predicted Superintendent Lawrence Nichols Tuesday as he noted that there is no millage or other "burning issue" pending.

Checking last June's election total vote of 758, he said he anticipates this election will follow the pattern of 1980 and 1981.

The polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Voting places are as follows:

Precinct No. 1 — Northville City Offices, 215 West Main;

Precinct No. 2 — Silver Springs School, 19801 Silver Springs Drive;

Precinct No. 3 — Winchester School, 641 Winchester Drive;

Precinct No. 4 — Amerman School,

847 North Center Street;

Precinct No. 5 — Northville City Offices, 215 West Main;

Precinct No. 6 — Moraine School, 46811 West Eight Mile.

Candidates running for the two four-year terms include incumbents Karen Wilkinson, currently serving as board president, and trustee Glenna Davis.

Candidates seeking first terms to the board are Patrick A. Coyne of 19651 Pierson, Russell L. Dore of 409 Larry and Andrew M. Sambrone of 113 West Main.

Owner of Master Guard of America, Inc., Patrick Coyne is seeking his first term on the Northville Board of Education. Born September 10, 1933, he lives at 19651 Pierson with his wife Mary and sons Mike, 11, and Robert, 6. He also has a son Daniel, 27, and daughter Nancy, 24.

He holds both BBA and MBA degrees in business administration from University of Michigan. He is a member of the United States Golf Association and the Junior Golf Association.

Glenna Davis was elected to the Northville Board of Education last June to complete the term of former trustee Richard Barron who resigned from the post.

Born September 3, 1945, she is a homemaker and a senior at Eastern Michigan University. She resides at 19405 Fry with her husband John and children Christie, 14, Rachel, 9 and Adam, 6.

She currently serves on the Schoolcraft College Women's Advisory Committee and is Michigan President of the Homemaker's Equal Rights Association. She also serves on the Northville State Hospital Security Council, Silver Springs Elementary PTA, Northwest Wayne County National Organization for Women (NOW), NOW's Homemakers Rights task force and the Michigan Media Project.

Russell Dore, seeking his first term on the board, has been a Northville resident since 1975. Born January 30, 1937, he resides at 409 Larry with his wife Judy and sons David, 14, Patrick, 14, and daughter Kelly, 12.

Manager of training and education for Fruehauf Corporation, he serves on the board of directors of the Greater Detroit Chapter of the American Society for Training and Development. He previously served as president of the Washington State Chapter of that organization and was chairman of the Washington State Advisory Council on Vocational Education.

Bell's named new superintendent

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Acknowledging he is "excited about Northville," Van Dyke Superintendent George Bell signed a three-year contract last Wednesday night with the Northville Board of Education.

The board unanimously approved Bell's appointment as Northville Schools Superintendent despite the absence of trustee Gerald Munroe and vice president David Llewellyn, who arrived late to the special call meeting.

"I'm impressed with your community and with your board of education," Bell told the audience after signing the three-year pact. "I'm going to give it my best shot. I'm real pleased to be here."

Bell, who is expected to begin his tenure as Northville's new superintendent July 1, said he will be shuffling between Northville and Van Dyke for another six weeks.

Bell, 54, resigned as Van Dyke's Superintendent last Thursday and will be commuting between the two districts while he helps the Van Dyke school board select a new chief executive.

Bell's appointment caps a two-month search for a new superintendent to replace Lawrence J. Nichols, who resigned from the post in March to accept the superintendency of the Royal Oak school district.

An estimated 100 applications were submitted for Northville's superintendent's post after the board announced the vacancy. The board narrowed its selection to eight finalists — all of whom were interviewed during the week of May 17.

Bell was the only one of the eight finalists to be granted a second interview by the board.

Board president Karen Wilkinson said Wednesday the board felt comfortable with Bell's selection both "individually and collectively."

"We're really looking forward to next year," she added.

Bell will be paid a first year salary of $50,000 — $1,000 less than Nichols' current $51,000 salary.

Other contractual agreements include $100,000 life insurance and accidental death and dismemberment insurance policies, 18 sick days per year, 22 vacation days per year and an automobile and its costs of maintenance and repair for business and personal use.

Bell will retain his residency in Can-

Student assaulted in NHS hallway

Assault, trespass and disturbing the peace charges are being filed against five Farmington area youths suspected of beating a student in a Northville High School hallway June 1.

Chris Dimitroff, 18, the assault victim, and his parents, said they plan to file charges of assault and battery against the suspects.

Northville High School Principal George Aune said Monday he will press charges of trespassing and disturbing the peace.

Northville City Police and school officials have identified four of the five youths involved in last week Tuesday's incident. According to police, all the suspects are juveniles.

The incident occurred sometime around 12:30 p.m. when the five students supposedly entered the building during a class break.

According to Northville police, the youths appeared at the door of a classroom and asked to speak to Dimitroff. As Dimitroff left the room he was kicked in the mouth by one of the youths in the hallway.

Robert Bell, a fellow student, sustained bruises around his eyes after he left the classroom to assist Dimitroff.

According to Aune, there were no witnesses in the hallway at the time the assault occurred. However, teachers Kurt Kinde, Darrel Schumacher and Paul Osborn heard the scuffle from their classrooms and went into the hallway to assist Dimitroff and Bell.

Aune said the five youths fled the building from several doors in the school. They apparently had parked their car on Center Street and escaped before getting caught.

Police were called to the school only minutes after the assault occurred.

According to some students, one of the youths had been seen on the grounds of the high school the week prior to last Tuesday's incident.

Aune said Monday he was not sure how the students got into the building but suspected they entered from one of the side doors.

"There have been outsiders in our building from time to time," Aune said. "We've signed a lot of complaints for trespassing with the Northville City Police."

Aune acknowledged that though teachers do not officially monitor the halls, "they're constantly on alert for outsiders in the building and the parking lot."

Aune said he has been working with a Farmington high school principal in trying to identify the youths and said he "won't be satisfied until an arrest has been made and this is brought to court."

"I've been an administrator since 1964, and this is one of the things that has bothered me the most," he said.

She's top kitty-stakes winner

By JEAN DAY

As an anti-social cat, Muffy certainly is a winner.

The long-haired, mostly brown cat — a stray about five years old adopted by Marie Hinman — lived up to her anti-social reputation last Thursday.

As she eyed with terror the strangers visiting her 86-year old owner, fur heaved over her visibly pounding heart, and she zig-zagged across the room to dive into the kitchen window curtains.

The strangers who had arrived at the Hinman home at 402 Yerkes in a Lincoln Continental bearing license plates marked "BYTUNA" would have liked Muffy to pose with her owner — the national 9-Lives Cat Food sweepstakes winner.

Nevertheless, Muffy will eat well in the future. Along with a check for $10,000, Don Winston, president of UBC Marketing, Detroit Division, and Howard Dart, area division manager with Star-Kist Foods, presented Mrs. Hinman with coupons insuring Muffy a year's supply of cat food.

"They rounded off the figures," explained Dart as he handed the check to Mrs. Hinman. The top contest award actually was for $9,999.99, as appropriate for a 9-Lives contest.

"I really paid for this in cat food," Mrs. Hinman quipped. Exhibiting a sprightly humor as she accepted the check, she promised, "I'll keep the money in circulation."

Mrs. Hinman also confided that she had sent in 100 entries to the 9-Lives sweepstakes.

Winston and Dart explained that the sweepstakes were a $100,000 total award with $9,999.99 as the top prize and 900 other prizes, mostly for $99.99, awarded. By the sweepstakes rules, the winner would be the entrant finding and submitting the contest label with nine 9's. Since this was not entered, the nationwide winner, as prescribed in the rules, was selected by random draw from a barrel. The lucky "draw" made contest entrant Marie Burge Hinman the big winner.

In fact, entering contests has been her hobby since she retired as a nurse.

City awaits track revenue decision

The fate of city racetrack revenue returns from the state rests this week with a House appropriations subcommittee, Northville City Council heard Monday as City Manager Steven Walters reported that Representative Jack Kirksey has been working to try to reduce the latest cut of $240,000 in track returns.

Last week the Senate appropriations subcommittee on agriculture voted to reduce the amount to $89,600 taken from the city revenues. The action will not have force, however, unless the Senate appropriations subcommittee on agriculture concurs.

Walters said the city should know by Friday: He reported he had supplied Kirksey with information showing how serious the cuts were to Northville and detailing how racing revenues are spent.

"Kirksey has found that many legislators are not aware that the racetrack costs the city large amounts for police and fire protection — many think the return is 'gravy' for a community," Walters related.

His report showed that the city spends $113,828 for police personnel on track premises during operating hours and $44,461 for a second two-man patrol car on the road during track operating hours.

In addition, he stated, the city incurs $51,530 in maintenance of the police department size during non-track season.

Mayor Paul Vernon also cited street improvements near the track, including the opening of Griswold and paving of South Main, that made the track accesses more desirable.

Vernon and Walters had attended Governor William Milliken's Conference on the Horse Industry June 2-3 in Lansing.

They reported that all signs indicate the state will have off-track betting in the future. Since the off-track betting will have to be integrated with pari-mutuel betting at the state's tracks, the formula of its return is of concern to cities with racetracks.

Plans also were discussed at the conference for formation of a new track in southeast Michigan. Also of concern to the city is legislation introduced in the Senate to have racetrack revenue fund an Agricultural Exposition Center on the Michigan State University campus.

"Let's face it," said Vernon Monday, "it's not a matter that will be of interest to the Michigan Municipal League or other communities without racetracks."

In a track update last Friday Kirksey promised to continue working with legislators to explain how racetrack returns are spent by communities.

"Many of these legislators erroneously think that the racetracks are some type of bonanza for Livonia and Northville. They believe that the people who come to the track also spend considerable money in the community while they are in the area," he stated.

New zoning ordinance hearing slated

Some resolution of the setback issue posed by Northville Township's new zoning ordinance appears near.

The planning commission met in special session Monday night to set a public hearing at 7 p.m. June 29 (one hour before the regular monthly meeting of the commission) to consider what could be the first amendment to the ordinance, which is effective June 14.

Setback requirements determine minimum distances from lot lines to the house built on the lot, thereby minimal yard sizes. The new ordinance will increase front yard requirements by five feet in all three residential zoning classes and add two feet to side yards in the two higher density classes. It also requires larger lots.

Essentially, what is proposed is a grandfather clause that would allow builders to follow the setback rules of the old ordinance in subdivisions where plans have already been approved using old lot sizes. Lot sizes are already grandfathered into the new system.

Details of the clause, however, are somewhat in doubt. A proposal by planning consultant Claude Coates, which the planning commission is considering, differs from a proposal Supervisor John MacDonald put forward after a meeting with builders Friday.

Coates' proposal is an addition to the ordinance allowing use of the old setbacks in developments where preliminary plat approval was in effect at the time the ordinance becomes law.

"If they didn't have preliminary approval," Coates explained, "then they'll have to use the new lot sizes and setbacks." He noted this might still pose a problem for some builders who obtained preliminary approval but let it expire at the end of its one-year term.

In a letter to the commission, MacDonald said it was the consensus of those present at the Friday morning meeting that the solution would be to adopt Coates' version plus another paragraph worded in such a way that it serves as a general grandfather clause applied to the whole ordinance. The suggested paragraph would also grandfather in all developments with applications filed at township hall, approved or not.

Builders have complained that the increased setback requirements would require them to develop new model houses just to get them to fit on the smaller lots of the old ordinance. Subdivisions were planned to match certain design standards, they argued, and increasing setbacks while grandfathering old lot sizes amounted to changing the rules in the middle of the game.

Planners have noted their intent was to insure against "overbuilding" of lots and put more room between houses.

Monday night, some commissioners appeared to misread MacDonald's suggested paragraph, assuming it applied to the amendment and not the ordinance as a whole. Thinking there was an error in the paragraph, commissioners called for a public hearing June 29 and included only Coates' text as the amendment being considered.

Addition of the clause suggested by builders might be accomplished in the hearing under the agenda item of "any other business."

Monday night's short special meeting was called hurriedly in order to meet legal requirements of amendments to ordinances. The public hearing must be advertised in a newspaper of general circulation no more than 30 and no less than 20 days prior to the hearing date. Legal announcement in today's Record barely fits within the time constraints.

Former Wing Street Association expands

'Concerned Citizens for Northville' group organized

By JEAN DAY

A vacant, boarded up house on South Center has become the catalyst for the formation of a new civic organization that is an outgrowth of the Wing Street Association of residents living in the area near Wing and Center streets.

At the first annual meeting of the Wing Street Association in the Mill Race Village May 19, association members voted unanimously to change the name to Concerned Citizens for Northville.

Wilma Albrecht, association president, stated that the change of name was effected to "reflect the broadened scope and concerns developed during the first year of activities."

One of the Wing Street Association's major concerns, Laurie Thelen, vice president, emphasized Monday, as the new association was announced, has been zoning on South Center.

"Every other avenue into the city is attractive," she pointed out, stressing that those in the association "do not want Center to deteriorate."

Of concern to those living in the area, she said, is the house on South Center in the middle of the block just north of Seven Mile that is vacant and boarded up. The lot has been graveled, she said, by the owner, the Northville Driving Club.

Representatives of the association who have been attending city council sessions were told at a recent meeting that the city has no authority to do more than require a vacant house be secured.

Bill Thelen, vice president of the association, said residents of the area feel that the Downs has more than 1,000 parking spaces and room on the property for more; therefore, they see no need for the expansion of parking on the other side of South Center.

Thelen said he is concerned that the homes in the area are changing from single family dwellings to rental units.

"People are really proud of Northville," he continued, "and want to maintain what they have bought."

He noted that he and his wife, Laurie Fowler, association secretary, had moved to 201 Fairbrook and "became involved with the track parking issue."

"We were frustrated as individuals trying to make ourselves heard by city government," he explained as he told of the formation of the Wing Street group.

The new association, he said, broadens the membership base to include all interested residents in the long-established parts of the city, mainly areas surrounding the downtown center.

Boarded up house on South Center stirs action

The Wing Street Association had a paid membership of about 25 with many other interested residents attending meetings, the spokespersons said.

Albrecht explained that "several other Northville citizens expressed a desire to become a part of the association but felt they could not identify with the Wing Street Association name as it did not reflect the broad scope and concerns of the citizens of Northville.

"The new name, Concerned Citizens for Northville, implies that it will belong to all citizens of the city. Its purpose will be to inform citizens through discussion and sharing of information."

"Its goal will be to maintain the historic integrity, the esthetic and residential character of the city through effective input to the planning process," she stated.

The group said it also intends "to become involved in all civic and political activities through positive and direct input to city officials for orderly change."

The new Concerned Citizens association notes that a past objective of the Wing Street Association had been to bring to city council its opposition to the proposal to rezone the Center Street property across from the racetrack for parking.

With this proposal defeated, the new association's goal, Albrecht said, is to "direct our attention to the city lighting situation in the historic district and to continue voicing opposition to proposed parking ordinance changes that will allow parking on property immediately across from the racetrack."

Fowler said Monday the Wing Street Association residents, along with others living in the area west to Rogers, have been upset that there was little knowledge of plans to install the cobra-type lighting on Rogers and Cady.

"The subject never was brought before residents for a choice nor did the historic district commission rule on it," she pointed out.

Association officers also expressed their concern about area property sales, saying four houses on South Center have been purchased by the Northville Driving Club.

Officers in addition to Albrecht, Thelen and Fowler include Guenther Albrecht, treasurer; Ruth Cole, corresponding secretary; and board members Robert Cole, Marie Louise Capote (social activities), Bal Capote (public relations), and Lynn Paquette, added as a new member because of her interest in the area street lighting.

At the Mill Race meeting dues of $5 a family, $3 for senior citizens were established. Renters as well as home owners are welcome to join, Thelen said. Meetings are planned for every other month with the next to be July 15.

Other goals set at the May meeting include pinpointing street crossings that have been called dangerous (Center and Seven Mile crossing and Seven Mile and Northville Road during racing season) and lending support to the historic district commission to eliminate overhanging street signs in the downtown. Albrecht may be called at 348-1439, or any other association officer may be contacted for more information about membership.

Beautification commission to host regional meeting

Northville Beautification Commission will have a chance to show off the completed new Mainstreet 78 project when the summer quarterly meeting of the Beautification Council of Southeastern Michigan is held here June 17.

It will be in fellowship hall of First Presbyterian Church. Registration is set for 11 a.m. with luncheon following at noon.

A special program featuring the history of the downtown beautification project, Mainstreet 78, will be presented. It will detail how the project was conceived in 1977. A slide presentation will take viewers through the planning stages, explaining the unique tax increment financing plan and showing construction activities and the dedication ceremony May 21.

"It is a complete story showing how the downtown business community and the city government can work in harmony to achieve a common goal for the betterment of the entire community," stated Mayor Paul Vernon in the invitation.

An optional downtown tour will follow the slide presentation.

Announcement of the Northville site for the meeting was made by Patricia Watt, beautification council president. Norma Vernon is chairman of the Northville Beautification Commission, which is co-hosting the meeting.

George Bell becomes school superintendent son due to its proximity to the Northville Public Schools. Though the board does not have a residency requirement, it does expect its superintendent to live in an area close to the school district.

During interview proceedings, Bell requested the board allow him to remain in Canton due to the current slump in the housing market and his son's high school status. He told the board he would prefer his son not attend school in the same district where he was superintendent.

Though the board has agreed to allow Bell to remain in Canton, it has added a new clause to the superintendent's contract regarding its annual evaluation of the district's chief executive.

According to the contract language, "one item of special concern (in the superintendent's annual evaluation) will be the Superintendent's active participation in the community of the School District, especially during such time as he may maintain his residence outside the legal boundaries of the School District."

Bell's resignation as Van Dyke's top administrator ends a two year tenure as the district's superintendent.

He was selected superintendent of the Van Dyke Public Schools in Warren in June, 1980, after serving 14 years as principal of Wayne Memorial High School.

Prior to that time, he was music coordinator for the Wayne-Westland School District.

Bell holds a doctorate of education and an education specialist degree from Wayne State University. He also received his bachelor's and master's degrees in instrumental music from Wayne State.

In addition to serving on several state education committees, he also serves on the executive board of the Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of School Studies — a service organization for more than 100 school districts. He also has been an instructor at Eastern Michigan University.

He and his wife Ruth, a preschool supervisor in the Wayne-Westland Schools, live with their youngest son Robert, a junior at John Glenn High School. Their oldest son Steven is an assistant professor of mathematics at Princeton University and their daughter Kathy is an executive accountant for Unistrut Corporation.

Board to consider rezoning requests

When the township board meets tomorrow night to consider two controversial rezoning issues, it will have before it conflicting recommendations.

The local planning commission has recommended denial of a petition seeking office zoning for three parcels on Seven Mile opposite the state hospital. It also suggests the board approve a petition for multiple zoning on Eight Mile north of Lake Success.

The Wayne County Planning Commission recommendations are polar opposites to those found locally. Citing existing office zoning on Seven Mile and the impact of the hospital on land use surrounding it, the county has recommended approval of the Seven Mile office petition.

And, with the opinion of the county road commission opposed to the Eight Mile multiple family housing issue, it has recommended denial of that request.

In an earlier request for office zoning on Seven Mile, the trustees overturned the local planners' decision and rezoned three lots instead of the two recommended by the commission. Some commissioners, in fact, blame that decision for the existence of the second such petition now coming up for board action.

The board also has been sympathetic to the pleas of neighboring residents that the area bounded by Haggerty, Seven Mile, Northville Road and Eight Mile has too much multiple-family zoning and that additional zoning of this type will worsen traffic problems in the region.

Road commission opposition to the zoning is based on access to the parcel as it affects traffic patterns in the area.

Both rezoning issues have been subject to several delays en route to the board of trustees. They have also been the center of concern among neighboring property owners, who tend to oppose zoning changes on the parcels.

For their part, township planners have made recommendations based upon the both long-range goals and legal realities. During commission discussion of the Seven Mile office issue, several said allowing the current petition to pass might lead to a strip of office zoning along Seven Mile from Northville Charley's to Haggerty.

Township planning consultant Claude Coates did a recent study that suggests there may not be enough customers for that many small offices, which is the use to which the lots are suited.

By granting the earlier petitioner the requested three lot rezoning, it has been suggested, the township board went beyond the natural end point of such zoning and posed a problem for the commission to handle. By rejecting the current plan, or accepting only part of it, commissioners hoped to create a natural end to the strip.

Given the present zoning of the land in the area, and the board's agreement to the argument that land opposite the hospital proper is not best suited to the residential purposes for which it is zoned, the county planners took the opposite tack, recommended for the rezoning.

The multiple family issue is somewhat more complicated. A governing factor here is that the surrounding land area is almost all given over to multiple family use. The section in question is relatively small and the advice of consultants is that access would not be the terribly difficult problem the road commission seems to believe it is.

Both planning bodies are only advisory to the township board of trustees, which has final authority on zoning issues. Appeals of such decisions are generally routed through the court system.

Armada in program

Anthony Armada, son of Dr. and Mrs. Severo R. Armada of 972 Springfield Court, was graduated this spring from University of Michigan and has been accepted into U-M medical school.

He has joined the Air Force Reserve and in July will be reporting to the base at Montgomery, Alabama, as a second lieutenant. He has enlisted for four years and will be receiving his medical training in the program.

Storm water concerns cause lot split delay

Drainage problems in the Docksey subdivision extend beyond those which might result from development to the north. A major drain serving the area is filled and unable to convey storm water in even a mild storm, according to township engineer Edward McNeely.

A drainage swale, or ditch, running parallel to Docksey Avenue on the west side of the road is filled with dirt, McNeely told the planning commission May 25, blocking drainage routes out of the subdivision and allowing water to back up onto the road and residential lots nearby.

He discovered the problem while studying drainage in the area in connection with a lot split request on a parcel immediately north of the subdivision (see related story).

"At some time in the past that ditch has been filled — in fact, it's grown over now with grass and such," McNeely said. "Even in a moderate rain, you will get flooding problems because of the filled ditch."

This was no news to residents of the area, who say they have been fighting to have the ditch cleaned out for 10 years or more.

Because the adjoining road is dedicated to Wayne County, McNeely said, the ditch is the road commission's responsibility and complaints about drainage in the area go back to 1954.

"Even if that parcel (for which a split was requested) is never developed," the engineer said, "that drain's got to be cleaned. It's very obviously not functioning at all."

Planning commission vice chairman William Bohan, acting as chairman in Ken McLarty's absence, indicated the commission would direct a letter to the Wayne County Road Commission asking that the ditch be cleaned out.

Building official Troy Milligan, noting that road commission employees have been in the area working in the Park Gardens subdivision, said they have indicated a willingness to examine the problem in Docksey.

Residents said they were grateful for the effort but that previous attempts to have the work done had been fruitless. One said an earlier complaint brought road commission employees to the area who put up stakes and red flags, but never returned to do the work needed.

Bohan said the letter requesting assistance would be the "first step" toward getting a response and that follow-up efforts might be needed.

Engineer cites drain block along ditch on Docksey

Concerns about storm water drainage led the township planning commission to table a lot split request again May 25, and instructions were given petitioner Al Pearson to have a comprehensive drainage plan for the four resulting lots drawn up.

The overall drainage plan for the parcel immediately north of the Docksey subdivision must also include easement agreements to be attached to sale of the individual one-acre lots after the parcel is split, the commission instructed.

More than a dozen residents of the subdivision appeared at the meeting to hear township engineer Edward McNeely's report on storm drainage in the region.

McNeely said his study showed one drainage ditch, beside Docksey Avenue south of Ridge Court, has been filled and no longer serves its purpose.

While that problem has little bearing on the lot split request, McNeely said it did heighten the problems faced by residents of the area.

Development of the resultant parcels from the lot split, McNeely said, would add an estimated 20 percent to the amount of water flowing southward. The developer would be responsible for seeing to it that none of the water crossed into the neighbors' yards.

A relatively steep slope to the land south of Seven Mile down to Ridge Court was cited as the reason natural drainage now brings an excess of stormwater into the subdivision.

McNeely explained that a comprehensive drainage plan for the lots would be the most efficient way to insure that storm water could be routed in its most efficient manner. Without such a plan in place, he cautioned, if the houses on the new lots were built one at a time the last developer might find it virtually impossible to dispose of storm water.

In response to a resident's question, the engineer said his study did not address the effect on the area of the added septic systems new buildings would require. Theoretically, he explained, the systems should not add water to the system and he had addressed surface drainage only.

Pearson, whose request had been tabled once before to give McNeely time to study the situation, said he was agreeable to having his engineer draw the drainage plan and draw up the easement agreements, but made it clear he was tiring of the delays.

Parson to Person...
A Matter of Opinion
Dr. James H. Luther

No person has ever thought of his or her own ideas as being wrong. Just the opposite is true. Each of us tends to think that our own ideas are the ones that are right. Why else would most accused criminals plead innocent in the judiciary process? In his own mind, he thinks his actions were right.

We enjoy one of the greatest systems of government in the history of man. Yet within this system, men differ on the course of action to take on any given issue.

When we face a serious decision regarding our health, we seek more than one medical evaluation before submitting our body to the edge of the surgeon's knife. The choice of surgeons, the right hospital, the time for surgery and other details become important to making our decision.

When it comes to the unseen world of faith in God, we seem to lose our fervor for the all-important facts. Some have the opinion that "all roads lead to heaven". "As long as we're sincere", others say. How misleading!

Consider what Jesus said, "...I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (John 14:6). Quite a claim! We must examine our opinion about God's salvation in view of Christ's claim. Is it up to you and me to determine our way to God, or is there only one way?

There are many opinions about reaching God, but only one way. That is God's way. The choice is up to us. Instead of your opinion, give God your life.

Among the many well-wishers paying tribute to Lawrence Nichols last Friday night was the telegram messenger in the fishnet stockings and feather boa, above, who surprised guests with a melodic farewell message for the outgoing superintendent. Nichols and NHS teacher Barbara LeBoeuf, below, share a laugh during a short program honoring Nichols.

Nichols' night out

Approximately 60 school officials and community members turned out last Friday night at the Plymouth Hilton to bid farewell to School Superintendent Lawrence J. Nichols. Nichols, who resigned as Northville's superintendent March 22, will take over the superintendency in Royal Oak July 1. The farewell bash was a final tribute to the outgoing chief executive, who has headed the school district since August, 1978.

Among the guests at Friday's party were Township Supervisor John MacDonald and his wife Ann, former school administrator and Schoolcraft trustee Michael Burley and former board of education trustee Charles Peltz.

Hot and cold hors d'oeuvres and a cash bar were provided at the reception and special program honoring Nichols.

In addition to several gag gifts bestowed upon Nichols by staff members and central office administrators, Nichols also was presented with a golf bag.

The party capped a fairly hectic week for Northville Board of Education members in attendance Friday night. The board appointed Van Dyke Superintendent George Bell as Nichols' successor June 2.

Mary Hinman's top sweepstakes winner

"I was beside myself, I was so lonely I didn't know what to do," she explained, recalling how she became a serious contest entrant following the death of her husband Walter Hinman in February, 1964.

He had been a Ford Valve Plant employee. She came to Northville to work at Maybury Sanatorium and then at Sessions Hospital. Years ago, the Hinman family farmed at Haggerty and Seven Mile.

Mrs. Hinman uses her maiden name of Marie Burge to enter contests. She was Marie Burge when she took her nurses' training at Warren City Hospital in Ohio. She also likes remembering learning to drive in Cleveland, noting she "really was quite some driver."

"Now," she added, "John does everything." Son John and his wife live with Mrs. Hinman and Muffy. There's also a family dog.

"Birds, dogs, cats—we've had them all," her son added.

Having a dog paid off last year when Mrs. Hinman had her first "big win" of $5,000 in a Purina dog food contest.

McRae named top alumnus

Northville resident John T.A. McRae, a senior staff director at Ford Motor Company, is the 1982 recipient of the University of Michigan-Dearborn Alumni Society's Alumnus-of-the-Year Award.

A 1962 U of M-Dearborn engineering graduate, McRae was honored at the alumni society's recent annual meeting held on the U of M-D campus. The award was presented by James Ball, chairman of the society's board of governors.

The award is given annual to a U of M-D alumnus who displays outstanding service to the university, to the community and to his or her profession. In presenting this year's award, Chairman Ball noted that McRae had "demonstrated outstanding service to the university and its alumni body, and his professional career indicates numerous contributions to the engineering profession."

McRae entered U of M-Dearborn in the fall of 1959 as part of the campus' first engineering class. As a student, he completed cooperative education assignments with the Ford Motor Company and was a charter member of the Dearborn Campus Engineers, the oldest sustaining student organization at U of M-D.

After receiving a dual bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering and engineering mathematics, McRae began his 19-year career with Ford Motor Company. He has held numerous management positions, including that of plant manager at Ford's Sheldon Road Plant in Plymouth and as plant manager of the Electrical Electronics Division in Rawsonville.

Currently McRae serves as a staff director for manufacturing and supply of Ford's Latin American Automotive Operations. In addition to his BSE

"Before that, it was just cameras, radios and things like watches," her son explained, remembering, "When I was in Vietnam, she sent me a watch, saying she didn't know what else to do with it as it was a man's."

"She has drawers full of coupons," he noted as his mother nodded.

Her social security checks, he said, are her real income, and a big expenditure is stamps to mail contest entries. She also likes to read a lot, he added.

The check is especially welcome in the household right now, John Hinman acknowledged, because he has been laid off from Ford and was worrying about paying the taxes. He had assumed the obligation, he said, several years ago. This year his mother will be able to do so.

And there still will be sufficient money to buy stamps. As she approaches her 87th birthday in October, the contest's national winner feels she's just starting to get lucky.

That $20 stamp investment in the 9-Lives sweepstakes yielded returns that ought to make Muffy want to curl up in Marie Burge Hinman's lap, as she does only when they're alone together.

degree, he also holds a master's degree in mechanical engineering from U of M-D.

In 1973 McRae served as a member of the organizing committee for the U of M-Dearborn Alumni Society, the representative organization of the 8,300-member alumni body. He later served on U of M-D's annual fund advisory committee, assisting the university in soliciting gifts from alumni and friends.

He is a member of the Society of Automotive Engineers and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and is an elder of St. Timothy's Presbyterian Church in Livonia where he also is co-chairman of the church building fund.

With his wife Sandra and children Kimberly and John II he lives on Old Bedford in Northville Township.

Caused by reapportionment

Bullard to run for new district seat

Like their neighbors to the south, residents of the Oakland County portion of Northville will find reapportionment of state legislative districts has left them without an incumbent representative this year.

The Oakland County portion of the city lands in the new 66th district, which includes portions of the district represented by Rick Fessler and Claude Trim. The new district consists of the townships of Groveland, Holly, Rose, Highland, Milford, Lyon and Novi. It includes the cities of Novi, South Lyon and Northville and the villages of Milford and Holly.

Highland Township supervisor Willis (Bill) Bullard, Jr., was the first to announce his candidacy for the Republican house nomination in the district.

Bullard, 38, is an attorney who practiced law prior to assuming the fulltime supervisor job in Highland Township in 1978. He is a former member of that township's zoning board of appeals and past president of a homeowners' association.

He was elected a trustee of the Highland Township board three and one-half years ago. He has served as secretary/treasurer of the county association of township supervisors and is presently secretary of the Oakland County chapter of the Michigan Townships Association.

Calling for a need to bring State government spending under control, Bullard advocated a three-point program for revitalization of the state, reduction of property taxes and improvement of educational opportunity as the cornerstone of his campaign.

"Jobs are the number one issue," he said, calling for further changes in unemployment and workers compensation as an incentive to industry to remain in or move to Michigan.

A supporter of the Tisch amendment proposals of 1979 and 1980, Bullard said he would again support such an amendment in the absence of state legislation to cut property taxes.

Bullard is married and has two children in elementary schools in Highland.

McLaughlin appointed

Appointment of William F. McLaughlin of Northville, president of the Metropolitan Detroit Convention and Visitors Bureau, to a 13-member special citizen committee to explore the feasibility of Michigan hosting an international film festival in Detroit was made by Governor William G. Milliken June 3.

The Michigan Film Festival Feasibility Committee is to determine the advisability and profitability of staging such an event and report its findings to the governor by September 15.

If it is found to be advisable and profitable, the governor will appoint a permanent committee to handle planning and arrangements.

"The idea shows imagination and has real promise, but we should investigate it thoroughly from all perspectives," said Milliken.

Also named to the study committee are Tom Adams, chairman, Campbell-Ewald Company; Patricia Hill Burnett; Jeanne Findlater, vice president and general manager WXYZ; Joyce Garrett, director, department of public information, City of Detroit; Robert Holmes, S., vice president, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Detroit; Richard P. Kaughn, vice chairman, Taubman Company; Eleanor Luedtke, vice president of university relations, University of Detroit; Robert McCabe, president, Renaissance; Richard Sloan, president, Suburban Detroit Theatres; Joe Nederlander, Fisher Theatre; Hal Youngblood.

Mainstreet donors welcome

Additional donations have been received for the city's Downtown Development beautification project since the Mainstreet Dedication last month, bringing the project three-quarters of the way to completion, City Manager Steven Walters reported Monday.

With a total of 199 donations originally needed, he itemized, 145 have been made.

There still are some donations which may be made, he said, including one $1,000 donation for the clock. Fourteen of the 16 donations needed for the town clock had been received by the dedication. Since then, a donation has been received from former Northville resident John Canterbury.

Other donations still needed are as follows: on Main Street, 14 tree guards, one street bench and two benches in the town square;

On Center, one tree, 13 tree guards and two benches; on Dunlap, three trees and three tree guards; on Mary Alexander Court, two benches; in the northeast parking lot, five trees, six tree guards and one bench.

Donations are contributions of $100 for a tree; $240 for a guard; $340, tree with guard; $450 for a bench; $1,000 for the clock donation. All donations, the city manager pointed out, include a recognition plaque and are tax deductible.

The city manager's office, 349-1300, may be contacted for specific locations and other details.

Burial is to be in Rural Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Cook and her husband Eugene K. had been residents of Lexington Commons at 942 New Haven Court.

Mrs. Cook had taught at Cooke Junior High for six years and at Northville High for two years. She received her A.B. degree magna cum laude from Madonna College in 1970 at the same time her daughter, and oldest child, Margaret L. (Peggy) was graduated from Northville High School.

Canton man flips car in accident

In the city...

A 25-year-old Canton man was cited for careless driving when he rolled his car over at Edenderry and Seven Mile at approximately 11:58 p.m. May 29, city police reports indicate.

According to witnesses who were sitting on the front porch of a Seven Mile home, they heard Steve Edward Stevenson's car coming at a high rate of speed, then saw the car "at an estimated speed of at least 70 miles per hour" fail to make the turn in the road, hit a mailbox, a Detroit Edison pole and then roll over, the report said.

Two other witnesses, who were in a car traveling eastbound on Seven Mile, saw Stevenson's car "fly around the curve at approximately 45 miles per hour," lose control and roll over, the report said.

The driver, who was taken to St. Mary Hospital, didn't recall anything, the report said.

Unknown persons stole a 20-inch rotary lawn mower valued at $250 from the garage of a Springfield residence between May 27 and 29, city police said.

The complainant's son, at approximately 12:30 p.m., saw two white males on the front porch, but did not see them take anything, police said.

...In the township

A township man told police he was beaten and robbed by the occupants of a car that collided with his early Saturday morning at Six Mile and Sheldon.

The police report of the incident states the victim was driving northbound on Sheldon when he saw a car coming up behind him at a high rate of speed.

The car ran into the back end of the victim's automobile, causing an estimated $200 damage. When the victim approached the other car, the male driver and a passenger jumped from the car and started hitting him.

The two escaped with nearly $200 worth of cassette tapes and stereo speakers.

A 1965 Ford Thunderbird was robbed of its $500 hubcaps on June 5, according to police reports. Two front tires valued at $100 were also reported missing.

The Innsbrook resident who owns the vehicle told police he heard a noise outside and saw a dark car leaving the area at about 1 a.m. June 5. He later discovered the hubcaps and tires missing.

A 19-year-old township driver has been cited for reckless driving and fleeing and eluding police after a short, high-speed run up Northville Road June 6.

The officer's report of the incident states he was on routine patrol southbound on Northville Road north of Six Mile when he saw a car south of the intersection heading toward him. Moving radar clocked the car at 58 miles per hour.

When the light turned yellow, the officer's report states, the driver accelerated briskly and crossed through a red light at 70 miles per hour.

The officer turned on the rooftop emergency lights and searchlight, at which time he reported the suspect car accelerated northbound on Northville Road. The patrolman turned on his siren and gave chase, notifying dispatchers of the pursuit.

Northville City Police reported seeing the suspect car turn off Northville Road, west on Cady and then into a fenced parking lot southeast of Belanger's.

Township police found Scott J. Robins, 19, of Old Bedford, sitting in the driver's seat. The lights and ignition were turned off, the officer reported. Robins was arrested and charged with reckless driving and fleeing and eluding.

League poses questions to school board candidates

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are biographies and answers to questions asked of the five candidates running for the Northville Board of Education by the local chapter of the League of Women Voters. The League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novi is the local chapter of the national non-partisan organization whose purpose is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government.

During a total of 50 words per question, the five candidates were asked to answer the following questions posed by the League:

1. Do you think Northville School District's current millage levy is adequate?
2. If there was only one thing you could change or improve in the Northville School District, what would it be?
3. Do you think, in the future, consolidation with other school districts would be practical? Explain.
4. What major characteristics should a quality educational system have?
5. Would you consider the closing of school buildings in the Northville School District, and where this would lead to declining enrollment, a viable alternative?

PATRICK COYNE

Lives at 19651 Pierson. Age 48. President of Master Guard of America, Inc. Serves on the board of two corporations. Holds both BBA and MBA degrees from University of Michigan and a doctorate degree from the University of Rochester

1. More than adequate.
2. Improve ability of teachers to visualize for students.
3. No.
4. Teach students to think and understand basics.
5. Yes. Also decrease administrative overhead

President of the Homemakers Equal Rights Association. She also is a Sunday School teacher.

1. Yes, however, creative future financial planning is needed. We cannot blindly count on rising SEV figures — cuts must be made where they least impact on classrooms — programs must be examined continually for cost effectiveness — change could be effected to make more areas self-supportive — justify expenditure of each tax dollar.

- 2. Rise to the challenge at Northville High School. Improvements have been made, but the community is demanding excellence at the high school level. Administration — board should heed to citizens — provide leadership to create environment to realize full potential of each Northville High School student. Clean-up 'building' — increase energy conservation — quality staff needs support — involve students in improvement process.

GLENN DAVIS

Currently completing a one-year term on the Northville Board of Education, she serves on four school board subcommittees including facilities policy, legislation and Title IX. Also serves as liaison to the citizens' facilities committee. Lives at 19405 Fry with her husband John and children Christie, 14, Rachel, 9, and Adam, 6. She is 36. A senior at Eastern Michigan University, she serves on the Schoolcraft College Women's Advisory, Silver Springs Parent Advisory, Silver Springs PTA, Michigan Media Project, Northville State Hospital Advisory Council, Northwest Wayne County National Organization for Women and NOW's Homemaker Rights Task Force. She chairs Silver Springs PTA Health Committee and is Michigan

4. Commitment to children's education — strong positive leadership — community involvement and support — clearly stated goals and standards for district, buildings and classrooms — objectives must be measurable and consistently applied throughout — accountability necessary at all levels — fiscal responsibility — provide environment conducive to learning – periodic community survey to assess public perception of district.

5. Building closings and student consolidation can save money to maintain quality education and hold down taxes — building closings only are one component of a long range plan necessary to prudent facilities usage — must generate revenue from unused space — carefully plan ISEP's future role in district's buildings — meet challenge of improving Northville High School.

RUSSELL L. DORE

Northville resident since 1975. Lives at 409 Larry with his wife Judy and children Dave and Patrick, both ninth graders at Cooke Junior High, and daughter Kelly, a sixth grader at A-merman. Age 45. Manager of Training and Education for Fruehauf Corporation. Currently serves on the board of directors of the Greater Detroit Chapter of the American Society for Training and Development. Previously served as president of the Washington State Chapter of that organization. Former chairman of the Washington State Advisory Council on Vocational Education. Currently coaches youth soccer for the Northville Soccer Association. Received his bachelor's and master's degrees in Organizational Psychology from Michigan State University and a doctorate degree in Educational Psychology from the University of Washington.

1. Yes, for this year. As costs go up, it may not provide enough revenue for the next few years. Rather than attempt to increase millage, I would prefer to cut costs. I do not feel a millage increase should be requested for the next three years, if at all possible.

2. We should investigate ways of reducing energy costs in all the schools, particularly the high school building. An improvement in this area could save the district many tax dollars.

3. Only as a last resort to maintaining a reasonably complete education program of high quality. Certain advanced high school classes might be shared with Novi if enrollments do not justify a class at either school alone.

4. Good teachers, professional administrators, appropriate curriculum, well-maintained facilities, special programs for students with special needs and a range of extra-curricular activities.

5. Yes. We cannot support partially utilized buildings if one could be closed without weakening programs. I feel that, all other things being equal, elementary students should attend school as close to home as possible.

KAREN WILKINSON

Seeking her third term on the Northville Board of Education, she lives at 45871 Fermanagh with her husband William and children Sheryl, a sophomore at Albion College, and Donald, a junior at Northville High School. She holds a bachelor of arts degree from Albion College and taught middle school math and foreign languages from 1957-62. She is 45. She is a member of the local chapter of the League of Women Voters, Town Hall board, former PTA Council president, Republican Party district vice president and currently serves as president of the Northville Board of Education. She serves on the board of directors of the Michigan Association of School Boards, the Michigan High School Athletic Association Board of Directors, the Michigan Department of Education Advisory Committees on Life Role Competencies and the Gifted and Talented and the Michigan Association of School Administrators and its committee on Reform of Financing of Public Education.

1. Adequate for current programming including addition of elementary instrumental music and computer science. Future is questionable; should plan on NO State monies. SEV probably will decline resulting in decreasing revenues as cost of living continues to rise. Prioritizing and long-range planning will be of utmost importance.

2. High school — renovation for energy efficiency and instructional improvement. Broadcast to community the good things there: high academic achievement and extra-curricular involvement of students. Must concentrate on detailed plan for continued facility and curricular improvements to meet needs and expectations of students, parents and all citizens.

3. Should be explored because of obvious savings in duplicate services. Difficulties to consider: contracts (pay-scales, assignments, seniority rights), name of district, citizens' feeling of loss of identity, who would be superintendent or who would be on the board, different educational standards and expectations of each community.

4. Students who are challenged. Students who are performing to capacity. Varied, sequential, consistent curriculum. Teachers who care and set goals for excellence. All staff with high expectations. Parents who are interested, involved and have high goals for their children. Community that recognizes the necessity and responsibility for educating citizens of tomorrow.

5. Yes. With study and consideration of all factors and options. With long-range plans, updated annually, so future is definite part of planning. With short-range goals that are orderly and well thought out. With involvement of staff and community at all steps of process.

SCHOOL BOARD JUNE 14

Paid for by the Committee to Re-elect Karen Wilkinson, 45871 Fermanagh Drive, Northville, Michigan

Our Opinion

Wilkinson, Davis deserve reelection

Voters in the Northville School District going to the polls in next Monday's school board election will have an opportunity to choose among five candidates for two trustee posts. Unlike some previous school board elections in which contenders have run unopposed, voters will select from a handful of candidates rather than one or two.

While it's encouraging to see that three residents have joined the two incumbents in vying for the school board posts, we are troubled by what appears to be a lack of conviction on the part of some candidates.

Serving a four-year school board term entails much more than a simple understanding of the workings of the Northville schools. It requires, above all else, a total commitment towards retaining quality education in the district. We believe it requires the type of commitment which has been shown by incumbents Karen Wilkinson and Glenna Davis.

In the eight years she has served on the board, Karen Wilkinson has proved to be a dedicated and involved participant in the educational system. Her attendance record is admirable; she has missed few meetings in her tenure on the board. She has earned the respect of other board members while twice serving as president and is to be commended for her leadership in the recent selection of a new school superintendent. Under her direction, the selection process was conducted in an orderly and calm manner — which helped ease the somewhat harried procedure of selecting a new chief executive for the district.

Her participation in the Michigan Association of School Boards and the Michigan High School Athletic Association also has added a dimension of credibility to the Northville school board. While we initially were hesitant to endorse a third term candidate, we believe Wilkinson's experience will prove invaluable for the district during these times of transition. With a new superintendent, Wilkinson's expertise will be greatly needed.

Though Glenna Davis only has served a one-year term, we are impressed with the understanding and dedication she has brought to that group. She, possibly more than any other board member, has been the most accessible to the community. She has willingly listened to the concerns of the citizenry and has taken an active role in serving on a variety of community organizations.

Davis was instrumental in the formation of the citizens' facilities committees and actively pursued her role as school board liaison for that group. In addition, she currently serves on four board subcommittees as well as working for Silver Springs PTA. Her involvement in organizations such as Homemakers Equal Rights Association, Michigan Media Project and the National Organization for Women has made her politically astute. We believe she deserves election to a four-year term.

We cannot squabble with the qualifications of candidates Russell Dore, Patrick Coyne and Andrew Sambrone. All have respectable credentials and seem to have a fairly comprehensive understanding of the Northville Public School District.

Despite these qualifications, however, we are not convinced these three candidates have made a total commitment to serving on the board. Recent evidence leads us to believe they may not be aware of the vast responsibility and time commitment required of school board members.

We were disappointed that Andrew Sambrone did not attend last Wednesday's League of Women Voters forum or interviews conducted by the teachers' screening committee. The League's forum traditionally has provided the community with its only opportunity to hear the candidates. By not attending, Sambrone not only missed the opportunity to speak to the issues but also left serious doubts about his commitment to serving on the board.

While we can appreciate the interest Patrick Coyne has shown in compiling data for future school district planning, we cannot help but wonder why he took so long to reveal these figures to the board and the administration. Coyne did not make his presence known to the board until a few weeks before he announced his candidacy. A citizens' facilities committee was established in October to study the same areas which Coyne outlined.

It is disappointing that Coyne also missed the teachers' screening committee interviews. It is imperative that a sound relationship be developed between board members and the teachers.

Of the three candidates opposing the two incumbents, Russell Dore, in our opinion, has shown the most promise. He has been an active participant in school board meetings and appears to have good rapport with the community. However, though he has pledged to devote as much time as needed to serving on the board, we have concerns about this particular aspect of his candidacy.

None of the three non-incumbent candidates — Sambrone, Coyne and Dore — attended the superintendent's interviews conducted by the board four consecutive nights during the week of May 17. While it was disappointing to see so few members of the community in attendance, we were even more discouraged by the lack of interest on the part of the three non-incumbent school board candidates. A solid working relationship between board members and the superintendent is crucial to a school district and the absence of these three candidates has marred their credibility.

Serving on the school board entails much more than attending two regular meetings each month. Board members also are expected to attend budget sessions, subcommittee meetings, community events and much more. It should be pointed out that former trustee Richard Barron resigned from his post last February because "the demands of other duties" kept him from school board business. Former board member Charles Peltz chose not to run for a second term for the same reason.

Therefore, we endorse Karen Wilkinson and Glenna Davis for four year terms.

From the stands at the Grand Prix

It's quiet now. Gone is the special scream of high-tuned racing engines at full song. Gone, too, are the bright colors, the people and the entire ambience that make up the Grand Prix circus. As do all such wandering caravans, it has packed up its tents and moved along, to do it again next week in Montreal, then return home to its European roots.

Truth tell, I thought it should have come to Detroit long ago, if for no other reason than to satisfy my own yearning to see the event in reality after nearly 20 years of following the circus on the pages of magazines and books and, recently, when televised. So when it came to the Motor City, I wasn't about to miss it. Which is not to say I'm blind to the difficulties it posed for those who had to deal with the traffic problems, or to the inherent selfishness of my desire.

Nor am I about to say it was perfect. The crowd was smaller than anticipated, there were problems of organization, price gouging was out of control, and the track itself needs some work. But, as I sat in the stands Sunday seeing and hearing Grand Prix racing, the RenCen towers over my right shoulder, the river full of boats bobbing up and down on the other side of the front straight, I had to say, "This may not be Monaco, but hot d-n, this is nice."

And that's all it was really supposed to be. A sporting event, after all, doesn't have the power to turn slums into shiny neighborhoods or a city of 20 percent unemployment into a prosperous community. Because it was Detroit's first Grand Prix, there were some unrealistic expectations. When it comes back, most or all of the problems faced this year will be solved and the people here will have some idea what to expect.

If past performance is any indication, one of the things to expect is more people attending from throughout the metropolitan area. A Grand Prix is a wonderful excuse for a party, and fans of motorsports abound in the automotive capital. To see the potential, wait a couple of weeks and watch how many people turn out for the unlimited hydroplane races on the river during the Freedom Festival.

Of course, the boat races are free and the Grand Prix has been painted as extravagantly expensive. Those who live in this area are a mite spoiled by the boat races, in fact. Ticket prices here were in line with most major auto racing events and the free day Friday was unprecedented on the Formula One circuit. The organizers were not quite as blind to reality here as some would have you believe.

Now that people have seen and heard about Grand Prix racing, I think it likely they will want to go next year. Those who watched on television actually got a better view than those present, but that is inherent in road racing. A twisty course simply cannot be as visible as can an oval. On the other hand, folks at home can hardly perceive the sound of these beasts blasting down a straight, crackling as they back off the power and dive into a turn. Only seeing a portion of the course while relying on announcers to tell what is happening on the "back side" even leaves one with a sense of anticipation for which television leaves no room.

Mostly I hope more people go because television is a solitary thing while attending means sharing the event and the excitement with thousands, immersing yourself in it as opposed to merely viewing it. The festive atmosphere and extraordinarily well-behaved crowd were what first brought the boat races to my mind. As a reflection of the character of people here, it is positive and showed up in the visitors' impressions of the place. It is people, after all, who make an event, and the Detroit area did itself proud in that department. So, assuming the most talked-about problems are solved for next year, only one thing remains: would the local press please back off from the puns employing the word "Prix?" Enough is enough, and I've seen "Prix-mier" and "Prix-view" enough times to last until the 20th annual Detroit Grand Prix.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

EDITOR'S NOTE: To avoid offending those good souls who object to profanity, a few expletives have been altered in the telling of this otherwise true tale.

"Doggone, Tigers," I said, slamming off the radio with a vengeance.

"There you go again," she said from the passenger side of the car. "I don't understand how you can get so worked up about a silly old baseball game."

And then she uttered the only words which make me madder than a bases-loaded walk. "Besides, you're nothing but a fair-weather fan. When things are going well, you memorize everybody's statistics. But when they make one little mistake, you slam off the radio and talk about the 'doggone, Tigers.'"

"One little mistake? You call serving up a home run pitch to a .212 hitter 'one little mistake'? That turkey's only hit two home runs all year, but all of a sudden he turns into Babe Ruth against the Tigers.

"That idiot pitcher is taking home a hundred grand per year and then goes around serving up gopher balls to some banjo hitter who shouldn't be playing Double-A ball.

"And with all due respect, please do not accuse me of being a fair-weather fan," I continue, warming to the subject. "The idiot Tigers don't deserve fans like me.

"I care. That's why. I get upset with gopher balls to minor leaguers. If I didn't care, I wouldn't get mad when Senor Smoke unleashes a high, hard one over the catcher's head with a runner on first and just one out. I wouldn't care when Sweet Lou drops a double play ball to let Minnesota score the tying run in the ninth inning. The fair-weather fans are those idiots who don't get angry about the fact Chet Lemon is hitting .250 and Steve Kemp is the leading vote-getter on the all-star ballot.

"The thing that really boils my socks is Jason Thompson and Ben Ogilvie. With 'ol Rooftop on first and Banana Ben in right, the Tigers would probably have a 25-game lead."

She knows better than to interrupt me when I go into one of my Tiger tirades. She just sits back and lets me get it out of my system, secure in the knowledge that two minutes later I'll turn the radio back on to see how my good old Tigers are doing.

Criticizes apathy at League school election forum

To the Editor:

Sometimes I wonder if we, the people, have decided to abort our rights to live in a democracy.

The League of Women Voters held a School Board Candidates' Forum last Wednesday evening. The Northville Record heralded the event twice in their Newsbrief box and again in an article about the new school superintendent. Flyers were sent home through the elementary schools, and some posters were put up around town.

Approximately 20 people attended, ten of whom were from the school board and administration. Does that mean the rest of us know all about the candidates well enough to make a choice come June 14? Or does that mean the majority of us could care less who does the job just as long as they don't want more money from us.

Four of the five school board candidates placed themselves at the citizens' disposal to answer any questions the audience so chose to ask. Seeing, hearing and gathering impressions into the characters of these individuals can only be done through face-to-face contact, not through articles, editorials or even the League's Voter Guide. They should only be considered supplemental to a public forum.

Democracy didn't come easy to this country. Are we so ready to give up those hard-earned rights? School board elections are about as grass-roots democracy as you can get and also about as nonpartisan. Maybe this election outcome is just going to depend on the amount of friends each candidate can convince to come out of their homes and put an X next to the candidate's name. If we aren't participating at this level, what are we doing at the national level?

What a sad commentary on the state of our free election process. All because the citizens of the United States have forgotten they have an obligation and responsibility to use the rights guaranteed in the Constitution, or take the chance on having those rights become obsolete. I hope at least some who read this letter will remember these words and change their lackadaisical ways as we celebrate the birth of our nation on July 4th.

Sincerely,
Lois A. Hoffmeister

Deplôres misuse of handicap parking

To the Editor:

Imagine that you are in a busy parking lot at a local mall in your community. You see a car pull into the last available handicap parking space. Then a perfectly healthy young man or woman gets out of this car which does not have any sort of handicap sticker on it.

Next, you observe an elderly man or woman with a handicap sticker on his or her car pull up to the handicap parking area in front of the mall. Naturally, there are no handicap parking spaces left so the elderly man or woman has to return to the back of the lot, and then walk quite a distance with a walker just to get to the entrance.

I'm a strong believer that those who break the handicap parking laws should be reprimanded with legalities handed against the violators of these laws. I feel that the violators should be fined or their vehicles towed away. The owners of vehicles without our state's handicap license plates or a special sticker should be dealt with much more seriously by law enforcement agencies and the public.

State laws clearly state that anyone parking illegally in handicap parking will face being ticketed or have their car towed away by law enforcement agencies. The people of our community and others are clearly at fault in this subject. Many people just don't care if they use the parking spaces assigned for others.

They would rather take the chance of getting a ticket than find another parking space. The police are doing all they can because they just don't have the personnel or money to have some officer sit in a parking lot and hand out tickets. This does not mean the police are not at fault. Many times the police will do very little legally to the violators. In most instances the police department pays little attention to the person who has broken the state's handicap parking laws.

I spent almost 20 hours doing my own investigation into this matter and found that on average for every five cars that use handicap parking, only two of them are legally parked. Out of the people who parked illegally not a single one was given a ticket or, for that matter, a stern warning by a parking lot security guard.

Speaking for many handicap drivers, although I am not one myself, I feel very strongly that the enforcement of laws that pertain to the handicapped parking situation be brought to the attention of the community and police department in which we live and not be pushed aside.

There are so many people that really depend on there being that one empty handicap parking space; and those who don't have the right to use it should be punished with the full extent of our state's law if they are to use the space illegally.

Applauds marchers in Memorial parade

To the Editor:

I was impressed by all of the people in uniform participating in the Memorial Day parade in Northville.

In particular, I'd like to compliment Boy Scout Troop 755 which had 24 young men turn out, proud to wear their uniforms in this day when uniforms might not be "in."

Scoutmaster Jim Lapham, Assistant Scoutmaster Bob Griffith and Assistants Warren Stoddard, Ken Jacobson and John Beemer marched with the boys. These men and a few others are doing a fine job helping to build responsible young men out of these boys, as well as giving them wonderful camping experience one weekend a month. Keep up the good work.

Thank you,

Appreciates police aid when child is injured

To the Editor:

I would like to send you a copy of the letter my sister wrote to the Northville Police Department. With all the bad things that are said about policemen, I think it is time to hear some good.

Thank you,
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Adamowicz
I am writing this letter to say "thank you ever so much" to Police Officer Cox of the Northville Police Department for helping us during the Memorial Day weekend.

While visiting my sister in Northville, my daughter fell down the stairs and cut her chin. Officer Cox took us immediately to Novi Providence and was concerned enough to call my sister's house later and ask how she (my daughter) was.

Again, I'd like to say Thank You very much.

Sincerely,

SCHOOLCRAFT COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on June 16, 1982, at 7:00 o'clock p.m. EDST at the Board Room, in the Administration Building, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia, Michigan, the Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft Community College District will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1982 of an estimated additional proposed millage rate of 0.17 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Trustees has the complete authority to establish that 1.77 mills be levied in 1982 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating puposes from ad valorem property taxes levies in 1982 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by an estimated ten and 6/10 percent (10.6%).

An additional millage rate of 0.17 mills represents an additional tax of 17¢ per $1,000 of SEV, hence a homeowner with a home having an SEV of $30,000 would pay an estimated $5.10 more in taxes.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate as required under PA 5 (1982) and is not for the purpose of placing a millage proposal on the ballot.

Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Trustees may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by the Board of Trustees.

Council lauds report

City fire inspection about finished

Fire inspection has been completed for almost all Main Street businesses, Inspector Alan A. Matthews reported to city council Monday in his May update.

"Business owners have cooperated to their fullest extent when I inspected their businesses," he stated, adding that most also correct violations within the time limits established.

"As yet," he praised, "I have not had to issue any official violation notices."

Matthews, whose services have been contracted from the City of Plymouth, noted that it is almost a year since the inspection program was initiated in the city.

"I find the program has had some very positive effects on the business owners themselves as well as improving the safety of the businesses they operate. I feel the program has established a very important line of communication between the business owners and the fire department.

"Traditionally, fire departments have been concerned with public safety, and the fire inspection program insures that the tradition will be continued to the fullest extent," he commented.

As the council studied the report Monday, it praised the work of the inspector. City Attorney Philip Ogilvie said Matthews had been exceptionally successful in having violations corrected without having to use citations.

Matthews, in his report to City Manager Steven Walters, stated he next would like to begin establishing fire drill and tornado procedures for schools and public buildings soon. During May, he said, he had assisted the fire department in conducting a fire drill at Allen Terrace.

At the same time, he reported, he ran a flow test on the building's sprinkler system. He explained the flow test serves several purposes, insuring that the flow indicator alarms are working properly as they operate by the movement of water in the system.

The test also, he added, removes stagnant water from the system and allows fresh water to flow through the pipes, slowing down the corrosion process, while verifying that the alarm system is working.

Matthews' report showed he had spend four days during May working in the city. He had made eight routine inspections and 16 follow-up inspections. He also made three special inspections, one to finalize the inspection of the Electric Light Room, another for an arcade machine permit for Bob's Coin Laundry and a third for a liquor permit request for 116 East Dunlap.

The inspections for the Dunlap property were made in conjunction with a request from the Michigan Control Commission for a comment from the city on the application from Joseph A. Kronk for a permit for sale of beer and wine to be consumed off the premises (SDM license) in conjunction with a discount pop operation.

Local approval is not required, but the council was asked to notify the commission if the location did not comply with local ordinances and codes. Four violations were listed.

In addition, Mayor Paul Vernon asked that a letter be sent to the commission voicing council's concern about the close proximity of other similar establishments and noting there are six within the city. The store building is close to Arbor Drugs, Spagy's and Chatham — all selling beer and wine to take out.

City awaits decision

"We, of course, know this is not true, and I am informing them of the fact that the tracks are financial liabilities and in no way can they be considered an asset to the cities," he reported.

The council agreed that a reduction of about $90,000 would be more possible to absorb.

In a comparison of state revenue sharing projections (May 1982) with the adopted 1982-83 budget prepared for council by Walters the city was seen to be "basically on target."

State income tax return was budgeted at $63,000 with the actual being $63,930.

The 1981-82 projection of $264,300 actually has turned out to be $263,462 for sales tax, income tax, single business tax and intangibles tax returns, Walters reported.

As the payments which were received June 1 were studied, Walters noted he is now hoping for a slight upturn in the economy.

The council is proceeding under the assumption that the latest cut will be reduced to about $90,000. In the report prepared for Kirksey, Walters emphasized that the State Racing Act (PA 367 of 1980) provides that the administering Department of Agriculture shall return 20 percent of the revenues generated by the pari-mutuel tax to the track cities, which was not done this past season.

The act, he pointed out, also requires the cities to provide adequate police, fire and traffic protection.

Nancie Blatt resigns as Schoolcraft trustee

Six Schoolcraft College trustees are looking for someone to replace Vice Chairperson Nancie Blatt, who has resigned effective July 31.

"I have accepted an employment offer, and my family and I will be relocating our residence in the Chicago area," Mrs. Blatt said in her letter of resignation to Chairperson Harry Greenleaf.

Her husband, Martin, began working in Chicago in the family distributorship of Stewart Oxygen Service a year ago, commuting to Livonia on weekends.

Mrs. Blatt recently was hired to manage a medical office in the Chicago area and the Blatts are moving to a suburban Chicago townhouse.

July 28 is the target date for applicants to submit their resumes and cover letters to the board of trustees.

Mrs. Blatt was appointed to the board January 17, 1973, to succeed Dr. Robert Geake, who had just been elected to the State House of Representatives. Geake now is a state senator.

She was elected to full six-year terms in 1973 and 1979. The person appointed to replace her will serve until June, 1983, and could run for the final two years of her term.

Applicants for trustee must be eligible voters — that is, 18 years of age, an American citizen and registered to vote. They must be residents of the college district, which includes the K-12 districts of Northville, Plymouth-Canton, Livonia, Clarenceville and Garden City.

The board is asking for a cover letter and resume by July 28, when it will meet to review the applications. Greenleaf said the board plans to interview all applicants at that meeting.

The resume should cover these items of information: name, current address, home and business telephone numbers, educational background, current occupation, honors or awards, community activities or involvement (last five years), professional activities and memberships, current social issues of personal interest and involvement, experience on a board of directors, trusteeship, current and past associations with Schoolcraft College and specific areas of interest or expertise which could be valuable to the college.

Resumes should be sent to: Board of Trustees, Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia, 48152.

tional Psychologists and currently coaches youth soccer in the Northville Soccer Association.

He holds both bachelor's and master's degrees in organizational psychology from Michigan State University and received his doctorate in educational psychology from the University of Washington.

Andrew Sambrone, a lifelong resident of Northville, lives at 113 West Main with his wife Gwendolin and daughters Stacey, 8; Cheyenne, 4; Carolyn, 3 and Conjetta, 15-months.

Born in Detroit, December 18, 1956, he attended Northville High School until 1974 and received his GED in 1980. He currently is manager of Cal's Gulf Service on Main and serves as a volunteer probation officer with the 35th District Court and is a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles 2504.

Wilkinson, who resides at 45871 Fernmanagh, is seeking her third term on the board. She was first elected to the Northville Board of Education in 1974 and was elected to her second term in 1978. She served as board president during the 1979-80 school year and was elected to the post a second time last July.

A homemaker, she lives with her husband William and children Sheryl, 19, and Donald, 16. Born May 1, 1937, she received a bachelor's degree from Albion College and attended graduate school at University of Michigan.

She serves on the board of directors of the Michigan Association of School Boards and the Michigan High School Athletic Association. She also is a member of the League of Women Voters.

Only a handful of voters turned out to hear the candidates address the issues last Wednesday night at a League of Women Voters forum held at Northville High School. Also absent from the Candidates' Night forum was first-time contender Andrew Sambrone. See related story on Page 11-A.

The two candidates elected to the board will begin their terms at the board's first regular meeting in July.

Coyne, Sambrone correction

It was incorrectly reported in last week's Record that school board candidate Patrick Coyne was a member of the Northville Kiwanis Club. Coyne is not a member of the Northville Kiwanis, but does hold a membership in the Dearborn chapter.

It also was incorrectly reported that school board candidate Andrew Sambrone was a volunteer with the Northville City Fire Department. Sambrone is a former volunteer firefighter.

Fortune 500 companies filling high-tech park

By PHILIP JEROME

There was a feeling that something special was taking place when a small group of people gathered in Novi for groundbreaking ceremonies for a new building last Thursday.

Something special was taking place. While earthmoving equipment droned away in the background, the officials, including representatives from the State Department of Commerce, broke ground for a new 82,000 square foot sales office for the Hewlett-Packard Company, a Palo Alto, California-based designer-manufacturer of precision electronic products.

But something else, something more important even than groundbreaking ceremonies for a company the size of Hewlett-Packard, also was taking place.

Specifically, the groundbreaking ceremonies represented another step toward development of what may become one of the top high-tech centers in the State of Michigan, if not the entire Midwest.

And in case the term "high tech" doesn't ring a bell, remember that it is one of the key ingredients in Governor William Milliken's program to revitalize and diversify the Michigan economy.

The location of the activity is Orchard Hill Place — a 165-acre office and commercial development in Novi near the I-275/Eight Mile intersection.

Developers of Orchard Hill Place include Emro Land Company and Eight-Haggerty Properties, whose general partners include Edward Samson, Richard Nordstrom and Joseph Gerak. Samson and Nordstrom are the principals in the firm of Nordstrom-Samson Associates, architects, engineers and planners who have been responsible for major institutional, industrial, commercial and office buildings across the Midwest for the past 20 years.

Gerak was executive vice president of Campbell Development Company, which develops, builds, finances and leases office and industrial parks and buildings throughout the United States.

Emro Land Company is wholly-owned by Marathon Oil Company, which is a subsidiary of United States Steel Corporation. Emro has acquired and/or developed real estate in many sections of the United States, including a 3,000 acre portion of Hilton Head Island in South Carolina.

Although Orchard Hill Place has been taking shape gradually over the last five years, its potential significance to Michigan is just beginning to be recognized.

In announcing the Hewlett-Packard groundbreaking, Gerak noted that efforts to date have been low-key. "But it's beginning to get to the point where it's hard to keep it a secret any more," he observed.

Buildings for two companies — Digital Equipment Corporation and Norris Industries — already have been completed and are being occupied. Construction now is underway on the Hewlett-Packard building. And Gerak hopes to begin construction of a 275-room Novi Hilton this year.

All four — Digital, Norris, Hewlett-Packard and Hilton — are Fortune 500 companies.

Although the tenants are significant in and of themselves, they may be more significant because of what they represent. By choosing to construct major facilities in Michigan, they have demonstrated that big business still has confidence in the state.

Even more significant, Digital, Norris and Hewlett-Packard are "high-tech" companies — the kind of companies the state has been hoping to attract.

So, who exactly are the major tenants in Orchard Hill Place? Here's a closer look:

Digital Equipment Corporation, which has leased two full floors in one of Orchard Hill Place's new office buildings, ranks 137th on the 1982 Fortune 500 with 1981 sales of $3.198 billion. Headquartered in Massachusetts, Digital is prominent in the design, manufacture, sales and service of computers and associated peripheral equipment and related software and supplies.

Digital's products and services are used in scientific research, education, data analysis, industrial controls, time-sharing, commercial data processing, health care, instrumentation, engineering and simulation. The firm has 59,300 employees, operates worldwide sales offices and has manufacturing facilities in Canada, Ireland, Scotland, West Germany, Taiwan and Hong Kong as well as the United States.

Norris Industries, which recently constructed a 75,000 square foot research and office park at Orchard Hill Place, reported 1980 sales of $599 million, good for 436th place on last year's Fortune 500 list. The firm was acquired by Norind Holdings in December 1981.

Based in Long Beach, California, Norris is involved in the design, manufacture and sales of building, industrial and defense products, centered on the application of advanced metalworking technology.

The company has 9,600 employees and operates plants in the United States, Australia, Belgium, Canada and Great Britain.

Hewlett-Packard is constructing a $4.5 million building of 82,000 square feet at Orchard Hill Place. The company ranks 110th on the 1982 Fortune 500 list with sales of $3.578 billion in 1981.

Hewlett-Packard focuses on the design, manufacture, marketing and service of a broad array of precision electronic instrument and systems for measurement analysis and computation. The company manufactures more than 4,000 products which are used in business, engineering, science, education and medicine.

Those products include business and scientific computers, data terminals and printers, medical electronic equipment, financial calculators and desktop computers and scientific measurement devices such as gas and liquid chromatographs and mass spectrometers.

Hewlett-Packard has 60,500 employees world wide and production plants in the United States, West Germany, France, Scotland, Singapore, Brazil and Malaysia.

Also located within Orchard Hill Place is a branch of the National Bank of Detroit which operates some 107 offices in metropolitan Detroit and such overseas locations as London, England; Frankfurt, West Germany; Tokyo, Japan; and Nassau in the Bahamas.

Gerak said he anticipates the growth of Orchard Hill Place will continue. One of the keys, he says, is the site's strategic, high-traffic location. Situated just off I-275, Orchard Hill Place is served by I-275 — the major north-south bypass freeway in the Detroit area. Further, it enjoys the benefits of I-275's main east-west freeways, and Eight Mile, a major artery traversing the entire Detroit metropolitan area.

Further, Orchard Hill Place is within quick reach of several significant points in the greater Detroit area. Detroit Metropolitan Airport, for example, is 20 minutes away. Twelve Oaks Mall is five minutes away. Downtown Detroit and the Ford River Rouge Plant are both 25 minutes away and the University of Michigan is just a 30 minute drive.

Gerak is quick to cite additional advantages:

- An abundance of high-quality offices and commercial land with attractive work settings and ample room for expansion of facilities.
- Quick access to the multitude of financial, governmental, cultural, educational and recreational services and facilities of greater Detroit.
- Presence of a ready-made market for goods and services in Orchard Hill Place's "home" area of Novi, Northville, Livonia and Farmington Hills — a population of 350,000 it is the swiftest-growing part of Detroit.
- Close proximity of support businesses and services, including a regional shopping center and first-class restaurants, highlighted by the Novi Hilton which will feature convention and meeting facilities available to serve the enterprises located at Orchard Hill Place.

Gerak emphasizes that Orchard Hill Place has been designed with intelligence and care by some of the most experienced and well-known developers in the Midwest. "We believe," he said, "Orchard Hill Place is the premiere office development property available today in the state."

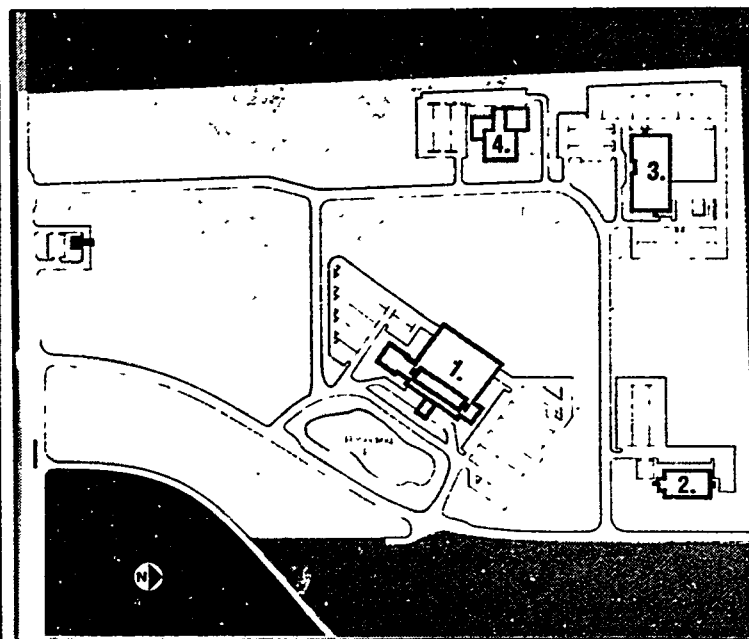

What's important for Michigan is that "high-tech" industries of the stature of Digital Equipment Corporation, Norris Industries and Hewlett-Packard are not only interested in the state, but are investing their money to be located here.

Governor Milliken ought to be pleased. "High-tech" in Michigan is becoming a reality.

Business Briefs

CARL E. PFEIFFER, president and chief executive officer of Quanex Corporation, has resigned from the board of directors of Manufacturers National Corporation. The announcement was made by Dean E. Richardson, chairman of Manufacturers National Corporation.

Pfeiffer has served as a director of the corporation since February 10, 1978. Quanex Corporation, the largest independent tube manufacturer in the United States, is headquartered in Houston, Texas. Pfeiffer's resignation results from the difficulty in meeting the time requirements of serving as a director in an area far from his company's headquarters.

Richardson said Manufacturers National Corporation is "grateful for Mr. Pfeiffer's dedicated service over the past four years and understands the difficulty of meeting board obligations in Michigan."

JAMES STEEL, manager of Fox Portrait Studios, Inc., in Northville has been elected to a three-year term on the board of directors of the Detroit Professional Photographers Association (DPPA).

Steel has been a member of the association since 1977. Earlier this year he was awarded a scholarship by DPPA to study advanced portraiture at Winona School of Professional Photography at Winona Lakes, Indiana.

MIKE HAGGERTY (left), Hilton sales director, holds the plaque signifying that the Plymouth Hilton Inn on Northville Road has been cited by the American Automobile Association for being among the state's finest accommodations. John Plants, AAA vice president of corporate services, made the presentation.

Nine Detroit-area hotels earned the four diamonds for significantly exceeding requirements in most physical and operation categories. A total of 25 Michigan establishments are four-diamond rated this year. No properties in Michigan earned five diamonds, AAA's highest award.

HENRY STARR, president of Starr Advertising, Inc., has been elected a member of the Overseas Automotive Club, Inc.; headquartered in New York City.

As the club's only non-manufacturing member, Starr fulfilled membership requirements through his agency's involvement in marketing automotive aftermarket products in Europe, Asia, the Middle East and South America.

The Overseas Automotive Club is a non-profit organization formed to promote and protect international markets for American automotive products and enhance the prestige and goodwill of the industry.

Members, while accorded certain privileges and benefits, also are required to maintain a standard of business in furtherance of the common goals of the organization.

DR. DONALD M. WAYNE, D.D.S., has joined the staff of Family Dentistry at Providence's Novi Ambulatory Care Center. A 1965 graduate of Northville High School, he was graduated from the University of Michigan and the University of Detroit School of Dentistry. His graduate training in orthodontics was completed at the University of Michigan in June, 1981.

Dr. Wayne is a board-eligible candidate of the American Board of Orthodontics and a member of the American Association of Orthodontists. He will provide complete orthodontic services to patients of family dentistry at the Novi Center, Ten Mile at Haggerty Road.

PSYCHOTHERAPY AND COUNSELING SERVICES, at 511 North Center in Northville, announces implementation of a new therapy program designed for persons suffering from agoraphobia.

According to Stephen Paul Stocker, ACSW, director of clinical services, agoraphobia is a much more common problem than previously realized. Typical symptoms of this condition, he states, include the fear of going far from home, fear of being alone or far from help, fear of crowded public places, such as streets, stores and buses.

Most agoraphobics also fear they will lose control over their own reactions and suffer a panic attack. Symptoms of agoraphobia frequently begin between the ages of 18 and 35, he says, and untreated cases often persist for many years. More than two-thirds of the sufferers are women.

The treatment program utilized by Psychotherapy and Counseling Services integrates the latest advances in clinical hypnosis, relaxation strategies and behavioral psychotherapy. Stocker states, indicating that the first of a series of mental health information reports, Agoraphobia, is now available. Anyone interested in receiving this free report may contact the firm.

Lace and satin-edged towels and tiny rosebud soaps were used for the creation, which, they suggest, can be both a decoration and gift at a bridal shower.

Prom highlights school year for 305 NHS students

"Do you know where you're going to" was the theme for this year's Northville High School prom, held at the Plymouth Hilton May 28, and, according to class co-president Karen Longridge, "everybody seemed to have a really good time."

After a dinner featuring prime rib, green beans almondine and chocolate eclairs at the Hilton, the 305 prom-goers and chaperones danced to the music of the "Fender Clones," 1979 Northville graduate Cheryl Wissman is a member of this group.

"We still had 175 people dancing at quarter to one," said Longridge, noting that people usually don't stay that long.

Souvenir napkins were printed, and each person who attended the prom received a souvenir brandy snifter and a memory booklet.

Longridge said that many of the girls at the prom wore hoop skirts, which contributed to the atmosphere.

In fact, Longridge said, some of the chaperones commented on the high quality of the prom.

"The chaperones thought that ours was one of the nicest proms they'd ever seen."

And, she said, most students agreed. "Everybody really liked it a lot."

Senior events planned

Graduation events ahead for Northville High School seniors include the honors convocation, a senior breakfast, and an all-night party following commencement ceremonies.

The invitation-only honors convocation will be held June 10 at 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium with a reception afterward in the cafeteria. Students will be honored primarily for academic achievement, but athletic and band awards will also be presented.

The senior breakfast takes place on June 11 in the high school cafeteria at 7:30 a.m., and will be followed by a commencement rehearsal until 10:30 a.m.

Baccalaureate is Sunday, June 13, at 9 a.m. in the High School Auditorium.

Not quite so pleasant as other activities, seniors will take their final exams on June 16 and 17.

Commencement is the following day, Friday, June 18, at 7 p.m. on the athletic field, weather permitting. An all-night party for seniors will be held following the ceremonies. Seniors should be registered and pre-paid for the all-night party by now.

Exhibit honors 22 Mill Race 'movers'

By JEAN DAY

Northville's Mill Race Historical Village will be the center of the community's Fourth of July celebration following the Jaycee-sponsored noon parade on the holiday.

In addition to the usual July 4th activities in the Mill Race, there will be special celebration of the village's 10th anniversary. Historical society president Francis Gazlay announces that those who made possible the historic preservation are being honored.

A special exhibit will be on view in the New School Church, the building that had been known as "the old library" for years and whose preservation was a major reason for the beginning of the village. It was slated for demolition when Northville Square was developed.

Twenty-two people who, especially in those early days of 1972 had visions of what the village could become, have been honored by having their portraits sketched in pastels for the Mill Race exhibit called "The Movers and Shakers." They include John and Ruth Burkman, E.A. and Betty Chapman, Francis and Bizann Gazlay, Bob and Jackie Daniel, Bruce and Carol Butske, Bill and Carole Stockhausen, Jim and Joanne Harris, Ken and Jean Harrison, Jack and Joan Hoffman, Don and Heather Fee, Wanda Lou Huber and Donald Sober.

It's easy to see how the subjects were chosen. The Burkmans and Chapmans were among the first to seek the site from Ford Motor Company, and both men, together with Don Sober, have worked tirelessly to restore the handsome Yerkes House in the village. Don Fee sketched the original plan for the village which has materialized very close to his conception. Mrs. Huber has been largely responsible for the restoration of the russet-colored weavers' cottage donated to the village by Paul Folino. The Butskes took responsibility for the schoolhouse. Ken Harrison conceived the idea of having the gazebo become a project for his woodworking class. Jack and Joan Hoffman have donated all proceeds from his book, "Northville — the First 100 Years," to the village for restoration work.

To have earned a place in this hall of fame all have been contributors of great amounts of time; most have served as presidents of the historical society. The artist, who has insisted on anonymity, saying she is "an itinerant linner," is well known in the community. Gazlay relates that, while he "sat," she recalled sketching portraits of servicemen's children to send to them. The artist is planning to continue sketching Mill Race volunteers in the fall.

Other Fourth features in the village

Ken Harrison, who is heading historical society arrangements for Mill Race events on the Fourth, reports there will be an arts and crafts fair again with those interested in taking booths invited to call him at 349-5545. The 40-member Northville Community Band, and hopefully others, will be playing during the day in the gazebo; an ice cream social and the Jaycee barbecue will be held on the grounds; and buildings will be open with Docents on duty to give tours. Visitors this holiday will see the virtually completed schoolhouse. Harrison says the historical society hopes soon to find old desks and other equipment for it.

"We sorely need donations for the annual white elephant auction," he reports, inviting anyone with unwanted household wares to bring them to the village between 9 a.m. and noon any Saturday. They are being stored in the basement of the Yerkes House and the church. The auction takes place on the Fourth on the church building steps.

Dental Dialogue

of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.

A CHILD'S TEETH NEED PROTECTION
Q. How can I protect a very active youngster from injuring his teeth?
A. From the cradle through college there are many kinds of hazards a child encounters that might cause an injury to his teeth. Here are five suggestions to protect teeth from injury. (1). When participating in football, basketball, boxing, or hockey a properly fitted mouth guard should be worn. (2). Always fasten a seat belt when riding in a car. (3). Don't carry potentially dangerous items while running. (4). Don't use a skateboard on a hill or near a busy street. (5). Slow down when riding a bicycle on wet pavement.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of Couyoumjian races to second in mile at state meet

Whatever disappointments Clark Couyoumjian felt from not competing in last year's MHSAA Class A State Finals, he more than made up for it at this year's boys' state track meet in Flint Saturday.

The senior distance runner from Northville raced from back in the pack to nip three runners at the wire to gain second place honors in the 1,600 meter run with a

Trackers tie for third; Prom resigns as coach

Bob Prom could not have asked for a better going away present than the one he received at the Western Six Conference girls' track meet hosted by Northville last week Wednesday.

The veteran girls' track coach, who announced he was stepping down as coach of the Mustangs' girls' varsity track program Monday, saw his 10-member squad tie for third place at the W-Six league meet with Plymouth Canton.

What makes the feat special is that the Mustangs went through the entire dual meet season without one victory to their credit.

However, aided by strong performances by five Northville thinclads, the Mustangs were able to sneak up on some of their league opponents.

Kelly Wool

Livonia Churchill won the meet with a score of 95 points with Walled Lake Western second at 91 points. Canton and Northville each had 18 points, while Farmington Harrison finished in the basement with five points.

"It was very, very pleasing, particularly since we had fewer girls at the league meet than at the dual meets," Prom explained.

Becky Baumann took the only first place finish for the Mustangs in the 220 yard dash with a time of 27.7. "Baumann has been a pleasant surprise for us. She tied the school record in the 220 at the regional (May 21), and she really came back strong at the league meet," Prom said.

Even though Kelly Wool took second in the two mile, she established a school record with a time of 12:28.5, which was nearly 20 seconds better than her previous best time.

"It was an outstanding performance," Prom praised.

Taking third in both the 110 yard and 220 yard hurdles, with times of 16.8 and 33.2, respectively, was Kim Assenmacher. Also, the 440 yard relay team of Assenmacher, Baumann, Kris Petit and Michele Musial took fourth with a 55.2 clocking.

But, when next season rolls around, Prom will be on the outside looking in as a spectator. The main factor in stepping down as varsity coach was that his elementary school schedule at Moraine conflicted with the time high school students were finished.

However, he still will attend all of the home dual meets and added, "If my help is needed in any way, I will give it. 'I enjoy track very much,' Prom added.

time of 4:22.8. Taylor Center's Earl Jones won the event with a 4:18.1 clocking.

"Not a bad finish," declared coach Ed Gabrys on how Couyoumjian capped his high school career.

In 1981, Couyoumjian ran a 4:20.1 mile in the regional, but placed fourth to keep him from advancing to state meet. However, Couyoumjian was not to be denied this year as he set a school record of 4:19.0 in winning the Class A regional mile title in Brighton May 21 to advance.

However, all thoughts of capturing the state title were greatly diminished by the presence of Jones, who was by far the best miler in Class A this season.

"The kids were running for second place, unfortunately," Gabrys noted.

Placed in the fastest heat, Couyoumjian was running in sixth place with 200 meters left when he made his move to the finish. "He nipped the second, third and fourth place runners at the line," Gabrys said.

One of the reasons for the close finish was everyone was running tactical race to place second behind Jones. "Everyone was watching their splits and times because nobody wanted to go out too fast," he added.

Couyoumjian, though, did himself one better at the Western Six Conference meet last week Wednesday at Livonia Churchill.

He won the mile title with a league record time of 4:20.5 as the Mustangs placed fourth overall with 38 points. Couyoumjian was the runner to break a league record during the meet.

Churchill claimed its 11th straight title with 105 points and was followed by Walled Lake Western with 47 points, Plymouth Canton with 45, Northville and Farmington Harrison with 16.

"(Churchill) was really strong, but we had some pretty good performances nonetheless," Gabrys said.

The only other first, aside from Couyoumjian's, came from the 400 meter relay squad of Bruce Burry, Mark Knoth, Dan Vogt and Norm Estisoy with a 46.1 clocking.

Couyoumjian also ran in the 800 meter run where he placed fourth at 2:04.1 and did the same in the two mile with a 10:24 clocking.

Knoth took a second in the 300 meter low hurdles with a 40.7 clocking, while Tim Wagner did the same in the high jump (6-foot-1) and Dave Bach in the shot put with a toss of 45-11 1/2, which was two feet better than his previous best.

Scott Dayton claimed third in both the mile (4:41.3) and the two mile (10:17), while the 800 meter relay squad of Vogt, Knoth, Estisoy and John Letarte were third in a time of 1:38.0, its best of the season.

Vogt was fifth in the long jump with a leap of 18-7 1/4, while Burry was sixth in the 100 meter dash (11.7) and 200 meter dash (24.6). John Klokenga was sixth in the 800 run with a time of 2:10.3.

"I thought we did well. I'm proud of their performances," Gabrys noted.

One inning dooms Mustangs against Salem in district

GARY CASKEY/Plymouth Observer

Todd Bartling (5) was injured in this collision with Willie Newman (15) near the Salem dugout

One inning spelled defeat for Northville's boys' baseball team in a MHSAA Class A state tournament semifinal contest with host Plymouth Salem Saturday.

The Rocks rattled Mustang pitching for five big runs in the bottom of the third inning to cruise to an easy 8-0 triumph over the Mustangs. However, Salem lost to Western Six Conference champion Plymouth Canton 6-4 in district final game.

The Mustangs had advanced to the semifinal contest with a 2-0 victory over Milford last week Wednesday on their home field. Thus, Northville's overall mark ended at 8-13.

"We knew Salem was an excellent team," coach Fred Holdsworth noted. "One inning pretty well did it."

And so it did as Salem tallied the five runs on four hits and two walks off starting pitcher John Dranginis. The Rocks pushed across two more runs in the fourth and one in the sixth to complete their scoring.

Dranginis, who was pitching on two days' rest, allowed seven runs in just over three innings work. He allowed six hits, walked three and struckout three. His season record ended at 6-5.

Jim Thomson came in relief of Dranginis and allowed one run on two hits, and he walked two batters.

While Salem tagged Northville pitching for 10 hits, the Mustangs could only muster three off Salem's starting hurler Bob Culver.

Also, catcher Todd Bartling was injured on the contest when he collided with Willie Newman near the Salem dugout. Bartling was forced to leave the game when it was believed he may have cracked ribs.

Northville just could not get untracked against Milford despite rapping eight hits in the contest.

"We should have pulled away from them," Holdsworth said.

The Newman brothers, Willie and Mickey, brought home Northville's first run in the bottom of the fourth when Willie doubled and scored on Mickey's single.

Willie Newman crossed the plate again in the bottom of the sixth when Steve Schrader slapped a two out single.

Dranginis went all the way in recording the win on a nifty two hitter. He struckout three and walked just one Boston batter.

Even though the season is over, Holdsworth already is looking forward to 1983. "We have a good nucleus coming back. If the pitching develops, we'll have a better ball club."

Which could not be closer to the truth as Holdsworth admitted pitching, along with poor defense at times, was a downfall of the Mustangs this season.

"Pitching is the key to the whole thing. That kind of hurt and so did the defense. However, the hitting was fine," Holdsworth observed.

The guts and glue of the Northville mound staff this season, Dranginis, will not be back next season, but Holdsworth believes he has a few good pitchers from the varsity and junior varsity which should help the Mustangs next season.

Basic basketball skills to be taught at camp

Attention all local youth hoop players, Northville boys' basketball coach Tim Lutes, in conjunction with the Northville Recreation Department, is conducting a summer basketball camp beginning June 28 at the high school gymnasium.

The camp, which runs five days a week through July 28, is open to all fourth through 12th grade boys and girls. The camp is broken into four groups: fourth through sixth grade from 10 a.m. until noon; seventh through ninth grade from noon until 2 p.m.; 10th through 12th grade from 2-4 p.m.; and an all girls session, eighth through 12th grade, from 8-10 a.m.

The cost is $25 per student, with the price decreasing to $20 for a second child and to $15 for a third child. The price includes the cost of a summer basketball camp shirt.

The camp will teach the basic fundamentals of basketball with as much individual instruction given as possible. Northville's girls' varsity coach Rick Hurst and selected members of the NBS high school varsity team also will help at the camp.

Applications can be obtained from all elementary schools, both Cooke and Meads Mill Junior High and the high school.

Local Koufax squad starts season with two victories

Already Northville's Sandy Koufax travel team is wrecking havoc on its opponents as it has started the season with two consecutive wins.

The latest came over South Lyon 8-0 Memorial Day as Chris Dominique pitched the shutout for Northville. He struckout 13 batters and limited South Lyon to a mere two hits.

Northville scored its eight runs on only seven hits as smart baserunning by Kelly Bell, Eric Terlecki and Jerry O'Brien all scored runs. Mark Deal conducted for two hits.

The squad won its opener over Canton-Craigier 7-2 May 29 with strong pitching by Bell and relief help from Chris Willerer. Canton broke a scoreless deadlock in the fifth with two runs, but Northville evened the score in its half of the inning on Scott Peterson's single.

Scott Swienkowski nailed a homerun over the centerfield fence to start the sixth to give Northville the lead for good over last year's World Series champions.

Martin defends Leelanau title

Northville's Bonnie Martin successfully defended her women's title in the Seventh Annual Leelanau Challenge foot race around Glen Lake May 29.

Martin toured the 25 kilometer course in a time of 2:07:23 in the women's 36-year-old and over division.

The Bonaza Express soccer league is conducting tryouts for its fall season as follows: under 12 boys Tuesday, June 22 6 p.m. at Hartsgig Field; under 14 boys and girls Thursday, June 24 6 p.m. at Hartsgig Field; and under 15, 16 and 19 boys and girls Sunday, June 27 at Hartsgig Field. Players born in the year 1968 and 1967 should be at the field from 10 a.m. until noon, while players born in the years 1964 through 1966 should be at the field from noon until 2 p.m.

Hartsgig Field is located on Revere Street on the south side of 12 Mile between Ryan and Dequindre.

The Ticker Club, Inc., of Children's Hospital of Michigan, is sponsoring a Walk-A-Thon Saturday, June 19, from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. at Northville's Maybury State Park.

The theme of this year's walk will be "Walk for a Little Heart" as the club was formed to be a support group (both personal and financial) for the Cardiology Services Department at Children's.

All participants must be registered by 1 p.m. on the day of the walk in order to participate. Refreshments will include orange drink and cookies. First prize will be a 10-speed bicycle, in addition to other prizes.

Sponsor forms for the 20 kilometer walk can be obtained by calling Herb and Karen Kaiser at 541-5427.

Braves, Phillies, Travelers unbeaten

What do the Braves, Falcons and Travelers all have in common? First place in their respective youth baseball/softball leagues is the achievement of all three teams. The Braves are leaders in the F-League, while the Falcons top the Primary Division softball standings. The Travelers lead the Intermediate Division in softball.

Also, there was some action in the H-League over the weekend in which the Expos and Rangers each won two ball games.

The first place Braves had a showdown with the second place Mets (4-1) with George Daraban hitting the front runners to a 4-3 victory. Daraban struckout 15 batters and collected two hits. Steve Cody also had two hits, while John Mark Anderson had two runs-batted-in.

The Mets' Chris Dominique was equally impressive on the mound as he struckout 11 batters, while teammate Rod Cannon had three hits.

The Reds topped the Astros 9-8 in eight innings as Scott Swienkowski was the winning pitcher and teammate Keith Sturmer added two hits. The Astros were paced by two hits each from Dan Kozlowski and Kevin Legel.

The Giants bombed the Pirates 12-5 with John Lobbia and Kevin Crampton each rapping three hits to back the shutout relief pitching of winner Matt DeMatteis. The Pirates were led by Doug Ayers' three hits.

In the final F-League contest, the Phillies shaded the Angels 3-2 as winning pitcher Dave Livirini aided his own cause with a game-winning double in the bottom of the seventh inning. Eric Morfe suffered the loss for the Angels.

In H-League action, the Expos nailed the Reds 10-2 and shot down the Cardinals 10-0 in games played last week. Mike MacDonell received credit for the win against the Reds, while Tim Hubbert was credited with the victory against the Cardinals.

Tim Arndt had a double, and Darrin Marsh smashed a triple in pacing the Expos' hitting attack against the Reds.

Larry Osiecki belted a homer for the Reds.

Hubbert knocked in five runs with a single and double against the Cardinals, who were led by Ben Odom's two hits.

Brad Cannon hurried the Rangers to victory against the Reds 12-4 with the help of two hits and two rbi's from teammate John Madincea.

The Falcons lead the Primary Division with a perfect 6-0 mark. The Phillies follow at 5-1, Liberties at 3-3, the Sunbirds and Travelers both at 1-4 and the Gems at 1-5.

The Travelers lead the Intermediate Division with a 4-0 mark.

In nearly every home there are perfectly beautiful diamonds that aren't shown.

After all, a diamond collecting dust in a dresser drawer is nobody's best friend.

Which is not only a shame, but economically unsound, because your diamonds are never seen.

That's where Diamond Boutique comes to the rescue.

Bring us your sleeping beauties.

We'll transform them.

First, we clean the diamond and appraise its current market value.

Then we place it in a setting that plays up the diamond for all it's worth... shows off its weights, its clarity, its brilliance, and makes it beautiful.

We'll even melt down the old ring and credit you for 100% of its gold value.

After all, a diamond that's never worn is nobody's best friend.

Diamonds are forever,
but mountings are not.
