Board delays millage rate decision

Due to uncertainties regarding its fund equity and the outcome of a dispute between Washtenaw and Oakland counties and the State of Michigan, the Northville Board of Education will hold off on establishing its millage rate for the 1982-83 school year until sometime in mid-August.

The board, which held its truth in taxation hearing Monday night, was advised by School Superintendent Lawrence J. Nichols to wait until the "fund equity figures will be clear." Those figures are expected to be finalized in six to eight weeks. Northville Board of Education has until September 1 to set its millage rate.

Despite the board's decision to hold off on setting next year's millage levy, a proposed 1982-83 budget of $11.2 million was unanimously approved by the board.

The budget, an 11 percent increase over last year, most likely will need readoption after the millage rate is set, the board was told.

John Street, acting director of business and finance, told the board that 98 percent of next year's school revenues will be generated by local tax dollars. Approximately $200,000 in revenue will come from state sources. Approximately 95 percent of this year's revenues came from local dollars.

The proposed budget reflects significant capital outlay increases at the elementary, junior and senior high levels due to the purchase of computers for next year's program.

A 15-20 percent increase in Blue Cross-Blue Shield benefits for personnel also was incorporated in the proposed budget at an additional $180,000 cost.

Of the $11.2 million budget, $8.6 million goes towards salaries and fringe benefits of the school district's personnel. Street noted a 7.4 percent increase in total personnel costs estimated for the 1982-83 school year.

Board members emphasized at Monday's hearing that the budget is not carved in stone and most likely will need to be amended sometime in August when the millage rate is set. For the benefit of the board and the three members of the audience attending the board's public hearing, Nichols presented a chart with millage levies of 30.4. 31.9 and the maximum 32.9 and explained the ramifications each would have on the fund equity of the school budget.

He pointed out that none of the three millage levies will necessarily be set by the board, but that the numbers were being used to help explain the fund equity amounts.

Nichols told the board 30.4 mills would not balance the budget and, in fact, would leave a $30,000-$40,000 deficit. Nichols recommended the board levy more than 30.4 milis to maintain the program.

"If you don't levy more than 30.4 mills, you won't have enough funds to last through 1982-83," he remarked. Nichols noted the school finance committee and the board reviewed what the district needs to levy over the next two years and based its predictions for the 1983-84 year on an assumed six percent increase in the expenditure budget, a reserve of $200,000 in non-incumbered fund equity and a five percent increase in SEV.

The board, which could levy the maximum authorized operational millage of 32.9, would maintain a fund equity of $895,009 with that amount. The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase property tax levies in 1982 by an estimated eight percent.

Nichols, who was attending his last board meeting as superintendent of Northville Public Schools, recommended the board levy somewhere between its current millage levy of 31.4 and the maximum authorized levy of 32.9 to maintain its current program.

Revenues would increase a bare sixthousandths of one percent on the basis of new construction and improvements. But the township stands to realize a total revenue increase of 24 percent when it adds, for the first time, the new police millage. There was some confusion regarding the truth in taxation act's application to this instance, as the township legally could have levied the new police millage last year. Had it done so, there would have been no need for a hearing since taxes would be equal year-toyear. The township fire department's onehalf mill revenues should be almost exactly the same, in dollar figures, as last year's receipts. A similar situation will apply to the one mill which goes toward Anticipating the first 12 months of his forthcoming three years as chief ex-ecutive of the Royal Oak Public Schools, it's no wonder Lawrence Nichols was slow in packing his frog collection off to new headquarters.

Like Northville, the Royal Oak School District also is faced with declining enrollment, school closings and dwindling state aid. However, in addition to the hardships facing many Michigan schools, Royal Oak has five unions currently negotiating contracts and all voted millage coming up for renewal next year. From the sound of things, it appears Northville's outgoing superintendent has his job cut out for him.

Yet, with four years of superinten-dent experience to his credit, Nichols appears to be facing the challenges of his new post with the same enthusiasm, dedication · and thoughtfulness con-veyed during his tenure as Northville's chief executive.

His move to Royal Oak, a 21-school district with 9,100 students, culminates, thus far, his 23-year career in education.

While he acknowledged his acceptance of the Royal Oak superintendency as a career opportunity, he attributed his experience in Northville as the key factor in vying for the post.

"These last four years have been the most personally and professionally satisfying of my career," Nichols explained last week amidst half-filled boxes of education manuals, yearbooks, piles of paperwork and his vast collection of still unpacked frogs. "It's been a very good experience for me." Having served 19 years in the Livonia Public School system as a teacher, assistant principal, principal and central office administrator, his selection as Northville's superintendent in August, 1978, brought a new dimension to an already fulfilling career.

Measuring 20-feet wide and nearly 30-feet long, the flag is the World War II Navy veteran's way of showing his patriotism. The big flag is reserved for national holidays while Williams keeps the red, white and blue flying high the rest of the year with a 12-by-18 foot "every day" flag and an 15-by-25 foot version on weekends. The latter flag was the holiday version when Williams built the pole in 1980. Record photo by Steve. Fecht Come rain or come shine. Northville's Fourth of July parade will be held Sunday, beginning at noon, Ron Barnum, Jaycee chairman for the festivities, said Tuesday, adding that "everyone should hope for sunshine.'

The fireworks' spectacular that traditionally ends the holiday at dusk, however, will be postponed to Monday night if it is raining, or if rain seems imminent, he announced.

Most of the Mill Race Historical Village events that begin as soon as the parade ends will be held regardless of weather, Barnum continued, but advised that the Jaycee chicken barbecue could be held over to Monday afternoon in event of a downpour. He suggests checking if it does rain. Weather reports studied by the Jaycees this week are inconclusive, he mentioned, but show rain only through Friday.

One of the larger parades in recent years, this year's event has drawn four gubernatorial candidates as well as other office seekers. Dignitaries will include local officials and three co-grand marshals.

In recognition of their contributions to the just-dedicated Mainstreet '78 project that has beautified the downtown area, Mayor Paul Vernon, City Manager Steven Walters and William C. Sliger, dedication chairman and member of the Downtown Development Association headed by Vernon, were chosen co-grand marshals. Walters was project director Melissa McDaniel, Northville Junior Miss, will be riding in the parade as will Northville Township Supervisor John MacDonald.

There also are five marching bands, 11 floats and a host of marching groups signed up, Jaycee parade chairman Francis Olewnik said.

Because many will go directly from the Northville parade to Plymouth's, it was explained, there can be no rain date. The Northville and Plymouth Jaycees cooperatively book several attractions to gain a price advantage.

The parade is expected to take about an hour and a quarter to pass the reviewing stand at city hall where bands, floats, antique cars and marching groups will be judged.

The parade will form in the Northville Downs parking lot, traveling up Griswold to Main, west on Main to Rogers, south on Rogers to Cady, east on Cady to Wing, south on Wing to Fairbrook and back to the Downs.

Always popular with spectators, between 20-30 antique cars will chug along the parade route. Northville High School Marching Band, Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, Lions' Youth Band of Windsor and groups from Gitfiddler Music Store and Sweet Adelines will supply music.

Floats will represent Northville Preschool Cooperative, Northville Community Recreation Department, Northville Historical Society, Friends

WATCH FOR WARNING SIGNS

Q. How will I know if I'm developing gum disease?

A. Some of the warning signs of gum disease are, bleeding swollen gums, loose teeth, gums shrinking away from the teeth, pus from the gum line, and persistent bad breath. Periodontal (gum) disease is the primary cause of tooth loss after age 35, but it can be treated. The treatment in-cludes regular cleaning of the teeth to remove plaque and calculus and providing a strin-gent oral hygeine program. In some advanced cases surgery, may be necessary to remove the diseased gum tissue. Treat-·** ... ment of this type is usually done by a periodontist, a specialist who treats the gums, bones, and supporting tissues.

Sole bidder given hedge contract

Greenridge Nursery was the sole bidder to plant a perimeter barrier hedge surrounding Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, and has been awarded the contract for the project.

At Northville hospital

The bid of $12,936 was the only one made in response to advertisments placed by NRPH. Hospital officials noted that the state usually prefers at least three bids, but that no others were forthcoming.

Timing of the project remains uncer-tain, as NRPH and state Representative Jack Kirksey hope to have the planting done this fall while Greenridge prefers to wait for better climatic conditions early next spring.

Fall is still a possibility, hospital director John Reynolds said Monday. The timing of planting is important, he said, as the plants (a type of rose bush) wilt when shipped during the summer months and there is some concern regarding their ability to survive the winter.

"Their concern (Greenridge's) is that if we plant in the late fall, we might expect a rather severe problem with the bedge maintaining itself through the winter," Reynolds said. "We are still talking with him regarding any and all possibilities for a fall planting," he added.

Kirksey and Reynolds both had expressed concern earlier that the hedge project might be canceled in the face of state employee layoffs. But Kirksey said the project was retained in the ride. Those who share trips are not af-

Dr. William Demray, a dentist with offices at 371 East Main, and Jerome Mittman, 997 Springfield, were elected unanimously to the two commission vacancies.

The council previously had accepted the resignation of C. Thomas Wheaton, honoring him for 14 years of service on the commission as a member and as chairman.

As it accepted Turnbull's resignation, the council voted to adopt a resolution honoring his 12 years of service. Turnbull, in his letter of resignation, said "my time schedule and business obligations prevent me from continuing my position on the commission to the best of my ability.

The intention is that the hedge serve as a barrier to patients who wander off the grounds, without imposing the ap-pearance of confinement DMH officials oppose.

The hedge proper would be supplemented by a fence through the wooded areas of the grounds, where sunlight is not sufficient for the plants. The fencing operation in the woods will be done "in-house," according to an earlier

SEMTA said the fare increases are needed because of rising operating costs throughout the system. A mail survey conducted while the SEMTA board considered the rates in public hearings revealed 80 percent of respondents were willing to pay the higher fares to retain service in their areas

Student fares were not increased and, in an effort to lessen the gap between commuter rail and bus fares, there was no increase in commuter rail fares. This was done to encourage passengers to change from the crowded Woodward buses onto the rail system.

Council opposes beer sales

Northville City Council went on gram for such sale." He suggested the record at its June 21 meeting that it is council make it a policy, that liquor opposed to "sale or consumption of any alcoholic beverages at any recreation (department) activity."

The council took the unanimous action after noting in minutes of the Northville Community Recreation Commission meeting of May 12 that there had been discussion of beer sales at Thomson Field for which the recreation director had obtained one-day license for an adult softball tournament.

The commission itself had voted not to have beer sales at the softball tournament.

Carolann Ayers, council liaison to the recreation commission, reported that the commission "took umbrage" that the license had been applied for, and had instructed that no more such licenses be sought.

"It's a matter of principle and stated Council member J. morals.' Burton DeRusha, saying, "I personally think there's no place in an athletic pro-

Ayers reported that at one time signs had been posted at Thomson Field prohibiting drinking, and Mayor Paul Vernon said he understood the Thomson family requested there be no drinking at the field. The council indicated the situation could be more of a problem at Ford Field.

Ayers questioned whether there should be a policy prohibiting liquor at athletic events but "maybe allowing it at unspecified dinners in the future.

"It seems to me that if we want it (such events) to be part of the recreation program, we should not have it at

After the motion, Vernon instructed that the council's action be conveyed to the recreation commission.

Nichols ends tenure as superintendent

many have credited him with smoothing the waters of a fairly rocky school district.

Indeed, there's no doubt that Nichols will be leaving a far different Northville school system than the one he entered nearly four years ago. Prior to his appointment, the Nor-thville Public School system was in the midst of one of its most tumultuous periods. Little community support counled with administrative turmoil had left the district in a state of disarray. At the crux of the district's squabbling was a bitter dispute between the Northville Board of Education and then-Superintendent Raymond Spear. The parespixed differences between the superintendent and the board ultimately ended with the chief executive's resignation.

However, the aftermath of Spear's often controversial nine years as Nor-thville's superintendent left relations between the schools and the community on even shakier ground.

Nichols appointment six months after Spear's departure proved to be the calm after the storm.

Reflecting on his four years as chief executive of the Northville Schools, Nichols said he believes "restoring calm to the district" was one of the most important goals he accomplished

"There are still critics," he explain-ed, "there are always going to be critics and sometimes they're right.

"However, the critics are a little more thoughtful. They criticize a particular incident - not the entire system."

Though critics of Northville Public Schools have slepped forward time and again over the past few years, it seems they all were out in force a year ago last April when the school's 9.5 millage renewal was soundly defeated by almost two to one.

Nichols said he regards last year's millage election as both the low and high of his career in Northville.

The low actually turned out to be a high," he explained. "The passage of the 7 mills was an emotional high for me. It not only secured a financial base for the district," he said, "but it brought out the community.

'The reduction (from 9.5 to 7 mills) doesn't concern me that much. I believe we needed the full 9.5 mills, but I understand the position of people in the community."

V Other than last July's successful recapture of most of the lost 9.5 mills, Nichols credits his administration with having successfully completed many of the goals established during his four years as chief executive.

He said he believes the administration and the board of education have helped to "broaden the base of community involvement" and noted in particular the establishment of two citizens advisory committees formed after last year's millage defeat.

Nichols also pointed out the many changes which have taken place in curriculum and central office operations over the past four years

'We have done some things in regard to upgrading curriculum and making sure our financial operations have been revised and revamped." he said.

toard of education.

"My relationship with the board has been excellent," he noted. "The people on it are knowledgeable - they make themselves knowledgeable; they do their homework. "They view the school district in the proper perspective - it's the kids they're concerned about. "The board also doesn't try to manage the district," he added. "I've appreciated that."

Though Nichols said "he has very few regrets" about his tenure as Northville's superintendent, he admitted there are a few things he would have done differently.

"If I were starting over or staying bere," he said, "I would have gotten out of the office more often.

"One of the things I regret - and frankly I'm embarrassed to admit it is I don't know some of the teachers in the district.

"I knew about two-thirds of the teachers by name," he said, "I would like to know them all.

"I think it's important to the district to know the superintendent is a person and not an office," he remarked. "I'm going to try to be more visible in Royal Oak.'

As for the future of Northville Public Schools, Nichols noted several key areas which will be the focus of attention over the next few years - particulary grade structure realignment and facilities usage.

"There is a distinct possibility that the population in Northville will grow again," Nichols said. "Grade realignment has to be treated as a temporary situation."

Even though the possibility of future growth seems remote at this time, Nichols advised that the district "not divest itself from any (school) buildings. "Buildings should be kept in the hands of the district," he said, in case they may be needed for future use.

Finances also will be a problem over the next few years, Nichols added.

"We're in good financial share right now," he said, "but some forecasting of the budget will be necessary - such as a three-year projection."

He also pointed out that "should the enrollment decline continue, we're going to find some different kinds of difficulties.'

Nichols said difficulties he anticipates with further student population decline include maintaining programs with a smaller staff size.

However, he noted, "for the most part our staff turnover has ac-commodated shrinkage in enrollment."

As for the condition of the high school, Nichols said the community will have to make the ultimate decision on what is to be done with the building.

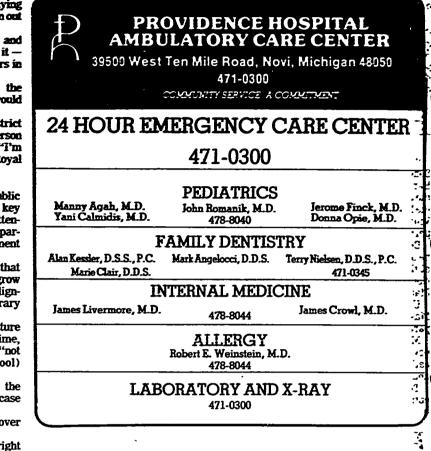

"I think the community is going to have to decide whether it will maintain the high school at its present site or build a new one at the Six Mile site," he said.

However, he noted that "if the board decides to maintain the high school, some kind of study will have to be done.' Nichols said the most important advice he can offer not only his successor, but all educators, is to look ahead to the future of education.

"We're not educating for the '80s or

One of the most noteworthy curriculum changes to take place in the past few years was the establishment of a textbook review, calendar and procedure, Nichols noted.

The textbook calendar was designed to make sure materials are up to date, and budgetary reviews were established to finance the cost of the calendar.

Nichols added that the administration now is going through the same type of process with instructional equip-

Nichols credits much of his success in Northville to the sound working relationship he shared with staff members, administrators and most of all the '90s," Nichols noted, "but for the 21st century.

"We have to get people to look out that far in making educational decisions.'

As of tomorrow, the office in the southeast corner of the Main Street Elementary will no longer belong to Lawrence J. Nichols. His successor, George Bell, is expected to move his belongings to the district sometime in the next two weeks.

For the man who four years ago was referred to as "right for Northville," the implementation of future educational goals most likely will be made from a frog-laden desk in Royal Oak.

Parade attracts gubernatorial candidates

Marching or riding behind Mayor Paol Vernon, City Manager Steven Walkers and William C. Sliger, Fourth of July parade co-grand marshals, at noon Sunday will be about 20 elected officials and candidates for election as well as Northville Junior Miss Melissa McDaniel.

Known for having one of the state's larger Independence Day celebrations, Northville usually attracts many dignitaries to its parade, especially in an election year, Ron Barnum, Jaycee chairman for Fourth of July activities, observed Tuesday.

In addition to the co-grand marshals being honored for their efforts in the recently completed Mainstreet renovation, there will be four gubernatorial candidates together with officials from neighboring communities, judges and other dignitaries.

Lieutenant Governor James Brickley is one of four seeking the office of governor who will be in the parade. Also a Republican candidate in the primary is Richard Headlee. Senators Kerry Kammer and Edward C. Pierce, both Democrats, and both seeking to be their party's gubernatorial candidate, will be in the parade.

Other dignitaries include State Senator R. Robert Geake, Wayne County Commissioners Mary Dumas and R. William Joyner, Oakland County Commissioner John Calandro, Wayne Coun-ty Sheriff William Lucas, a regular in Northville's parade, and Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara.

Others include U.S. Senator Donald W. Riegle and senate candidates William Huber, William Ballenger and Philip Ruppe.

Both judges of the 35th District Court, Dunbar Davis and James Garber, have confirmed they will be in the parade. Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frederick Mester also will be bere.

Plymouth Township Supervisor James Poole and Plymouth Township trustee Gerald H. Law also have confirmed.

Northville Township Supervisor John MacDonald will represent the township, which this year is supporting the July Fourth festivities financially with the city. Each body had voted cent rollback called for on last year's millage under the truth in taxation act and the earlier effects of the Headlee Amendment.

The latter tax control amendment allowed the township 2.98 of the 3.0 mills last year. Headlee forced a larger decrease the year before, but was not applicable to the 1.5 mill renewal of police taxes passed last spring.

For the first time since its passage in 1978, Headlee provisions will not apply in the township this year. According to a memo from Clerk Susan Heintz to the township board members, Headlee reductions would apply if the 1982 SEV of the township as a whole exceeded the 1981 SEV by 10.4 percent.

With only the moderate six percent SEV increase (reflecting, somewhat, the slump in housing sales) that exists in the township, Headlee does not apply, Heintz said

Even assuming the township board accepts the millage proposed, Super-visor John MacDonald cautioned earlier this month, the difference on the total bill sent taxpayers could be rather small. The township 3.68 maximium millage is only .12 of a mill larger than the 3.56 proposed millage.

The difference equates to 12 cents per $1,000 of state equalized value on a home. On a $100,000 home, with an SEV of $50,000 (half market value), the rollback would save the homeowner $6.

Police Blotter

Local man arrested in assualt

In the township...

Assault and battery charges led to the arrest of a city man in Northville Township last week

According to police reports of the in-cident, the lownship officer arrived at Silver Spring residence around 6 p.m. June 21 in response to a call of domestic trophie. He was told by the female com-plainant that she wanted the man to leave her apartment because he had been threatening her with physical irm and had slapped her that morn-

Police asked the man to leave. The suspect asked to collect his personal belongings in the apartment, to which the woman agreed. The officer reported the man then grabbed the woman's Tshirt, stating it was his and demanding that she remove it.

When the officer tried to reason with the suspect, he was unsuccessful and alled for a backup, supplied by city police.

In the meantime, the suspect had grabbed a video game from the top of the television, claiming it as his property. The woman complained to police that he was damaging her television.

The man then struck the woman on the left side of her head with his right hand, in the officer's presence, according to the report.

The suspect was arrested and jailed vernight in the township lockup. He posted $100 bond and was issued an appearance ticket. Police are also seeking a warrant for his arrest on the assault charges the woman said she would file. There were four other witnesses in the apartment at the time, three of whom signed statements describing the incident. The suspect's name is being persons running in the neighborhood withheld pending arraignment on the charges.

City parking space cost remains same

Northville City Council voted unanimously at its June 21 meeting to keep the price for downtown parking space assessments at the present $1,800.

This is the amount a merchant or businessman is assessed per space in the city's parking areas when he applies to do business in the city if his building does not have sufficient parking space on the property.

Number of spaces required is determined by the type of business. The cost of spaces is being reviewed by the council every six months.

Mackinac conference too expensive for city

"It's just too expensive - I couldn't in good conscience attend," commented Northville City Council member Carolann Ayers as the council received registration materials for the Michigan Municipal League's annual conven-tion on Mackinac Island.

Mayor Paul Vernon agreed but noted that the council has effected in MML conventions have other areas of city exoffered a chance for the penses, Ayers said she city to have league input. didn't feel she could The annual meeting will justify attending, but conbe headquartered at the ceded she had learned a great deal as a delegate Grand Hotel September 16-18. previously.

As council members discussed whether the price reflected costs of developing lots, City Manager Sleven Walters reminded members that spaces "never have been sold at 100 percent of cost." He said cost of developing spaces at the former Miller Dodge dealership property on Main near Hutton was pegged at $3,000 each. On Cady, however, he continued, spaces actually cost 51,400 each. With about 100 to 150 to be developed in the area, he said, the balance will make $1,800 a realistic figure.

Next review date will be in December.

Legislation bringing Michigan into compliance with federal unemployment compensation rules was introduced in the state house last week. Because of the state's economic woes, Michigan's unemployment debt to the federal government has risen to $2.4 billion, with some experts predicting a $3 billion debt by the end of 1983. Introduced by representative Jack Kirksey, the proposed legislation would change the number of weeks required to qualify for unemployment benefits from 18 to 20. The bill would require claimants to disclose whether they pay child support and would allow MESC to divert benefits to the Friend of the Court.

Reform bill introduced

Changes in federal law require action by the Michigan legislature by September 30.

"If the state doesn't comply by then the federal government will arbitrarily increase the federal unemployment tax for all employers and cut off ad-ministrative funds for MESC," Kirksey explained.

The measure proposed would also allow certain individuals to collect unemployment benefits even though unavailable for work if unavailability is due to participation in a job training program under the Trade Readjustment Act (TRA). Kirksey's proposal would reduce the extended benefits paid claimants by TRA benefits received.

Michigan is one of 19 states currently in debt to the federal trust fund. Of these, Kirksey said 11 have already begun paying the federal unemployment tax act penalty that will cost Michigan employers an additional $18 an employee starting in January 1983.

Opinion allows conferences

issued an opinion stating members of public bodies may meet to attend conferences or informational gatherings without inviting the general public under the provisions of the Open Meetings Act.

The opinion was handed down in response to a query from Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, routed through State Senator Robert Geake. Breen was seeking clarification as to whether a quorom of local governing body members could be prohibited from attending informational meetings such as Michigan Township Association workshops.

Specifically, the attorney general ruled that a quorom may meet for such conferences or informational sessions without complying with the Open Meetings Act, "provided that a public body may not, without complying with the Open Meetings Act, engage in discussions or deliberations during such a meeting or otherwise enter into the process of addressing or resolving matters of public policy.

The opinion cited a similar 1977 ruling that prohibits such a gathering of public officials if the conference is specifically designed to avoid the provisions of the the boundary of the exemption. . . and

A 1980 opinion was also cited, in which a public body had met privately to hear reports of administrators, claiming exemption from the Open Meetings Act on grounds the meeting was an "informational conference." The attorney general determined the meeting was in violation of the act, as the staff presentations constituted a part of the deliberative process policy are reached."

opinion allows a quorom to attend "a conference which is designed to focus upon issues of general concern to similar public bodies and which is intended primarily to provide general training or background information rather than to directly address and resolve issues particular to a public body."

TOWNSHIP OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

The Northville Township Board of Trustees will hold a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, July 8, 1982 in the meeting room in the Northville Township Civic Center, 41600 Six Mile Road, Northville, Michigan 48167 to receive testimony and discuss a proposed 1982 Township millage rate.

The Township's total operating tax rate for 1982 was 2.98 mills ($2.98 per $1000 SEV). Because of a new state law (Act 5 of 1982) the Township's base tax rate is reduced to 2.86 mills for 1982. However, the Township has complete authority to establish the number of mills to be levied from within its authorized millage rate.

On Tuesday, November 3, 1981, the electorate of the Township voted to accept a levy of an additional .7 mill to be used solely for the operation, maintenance, improvement and capital expenditures of the police and law enforcement services of the Northville Township Police Department.

The Township proposes to levy the 2.86 mill base tax rate plus the newly voted .7 mill for a total operating rate of 3.56 mills. The base tax rate will result in a zero percent increase in operating tax revenues. The newly voted .7 mill will result in an additional twenty four percent increase in operating property tax revenues.

Public comment on this proposed increase is welcome at the public meeting.

Pension loss for crooked lawmakers?

Legislation prohibiting lawmakers who are convicted of felonies involving abuse of office from collecting any state pension earned while serving in the state legislature has been introduced in the House.

Co-sponsored by Representatives Jack Kirksey and Sylvia Skrel, the law would revoke pensions for convicted lawmakers.

During the past few years, they said, members of the both the U.S. Congress and the Michigan State Legislature have been convicted of felonies associated with their task of "upholding the public trust."

"Committing a felonious crime while serving as an elected official is unspeakable, and legislators have a penchant for ignoring the fallout created by these scandals - the tremendous public outcry over the seeming lack of response by Washington and Lansing to try to deter these misdeeds," Kirksey said.

"Since we are responsible for making all the laws the public must obey," he and Skrel stated, 'we should be especially careful to enact laws which govern ourselves as state legislators. Although very few Michigan lawmakers have been convicted of felonies related to their office, every single one of us feels tinged with scandal when it does happen.

"In fact, every time an 'Abscam' or 'Watergate' incident occurs, the public is left with the impression that all elected officials are naturally corrupt. It isn't true, and the legislation we have co-sponsored will go a long way to dispel that unsound belief."

Skrel said that because pensions are so important to anyone who works, the threat of revoking them would be a deterrent to most elected officials who may consider illegal acts while in of-

Delay setting salaries

Northville City Council, acting on the request of Mayor Paul Vernon, moved to ask library and housing commissions not to establish salaries for non-union employees until the city establishes salaries with its bargaining units. The motions were adopted at the June 21 meeting

The action was taken following a closed session, called to discuss employee negotiations, during the second regular June council meeting.

The council also then approved reinstatement of Cost of Living Allowances (COLA) for six non-union city employees. In previous negotiations with city employees, Ci-ty Manager Steven Walters reviewed, agreements had been reached that there could be a choice of layoffs or forfeit of COLA.

Because of a death and resignation, clerical worker staffing had been reduced, he pointed out. The police department had made an agreement to give up COLA, he added, while the Department of Public Works employees had voted to accept layoffs.

The commissions named in the motion set salaries for library officials and director and staff at Allen Terrace.

Our Opinions

Mill Race Village will be hub of Fourth activity Sunday

Don't miss it

Beginning at noon Sunday, our community will begin a daylong celebration of Independence Day that is becoming known as one of the biggest-and-best in the state. The Jaycee-sponsored parade of marching bands, floats, antique cars, clowns and public officials annually draws crowds all along its route. No fewer than four gubernatorial hopefuls have indicated they are planning to ride or march in this year's parade — along with local officials and other candidates.

The Jaycees, who have work-ed for months planning the ed for months planning the parade, barbecue and other Mill Race events following, em-phasize the parade is "non-political" with participants not permitted to display campaign signs on their cars in the parade. Still, it's an opportunity to view these candidates in person these candidates in person.

The Jaycees have been able to offer the quality of bands and special attractions, as well as the spectacular fireworks that climax the day at dusk, because of significant financial support from both city council and the township board of trustees. Each unit of government contributed $1,250 toward the holiday expenses to make it a truly community celebration.

Griswold the center of day-long fun. This year the historical society is asking visitors to "view what has been accomplished in 10 years."

It is a tribute to the volunteering of countless individuals and organizations that the village sits today by the mill race stream its five buildings moved to the site to be preserved as examples of architectural styles common to the area before 1900. All but the Wash Oak School will be open Sunday with docents (volunteer guides) on duty to describe the origins of the Greek Revival Hunter House built in 1851 by a miller and the handsome Victorian carpenter-Gothic style Yerkes House built in 1868

Throughout the day bands will be playing in the village gazebo, constructed in 1979 by shop students of John Glenn High School in Westland under direction of historical society member Ken Harrison. Harrison is in charge of the society's Mill Race events Sunday, including an auction and booths of wares along the fence. Ron Barnum is heading all Jaycee activities, starting with the parade and ending with the fireworks on the high school hill. They are among many volunteers spending hours to make the Fourth glorious. Families who have attended in years past, like us, say, "don't miss it!"

Orbiting thoughts — and a sports move upward

It was not too long ago, 77 days to be exact, when the shuttle Columbia blasted off into space for its third test flight. Just like the two previous test flights, all of the major television networks were on hand to make a big media event of the blast off. The networks would bellow days in advance they would be at Cap'e Canaveral to give us live coverage of the launching. And with the newspaper coverage, everybody knew Columbia was going to rocket "toward the heavens" on that late March morning. How couldn't you. This brings us to Sunday. Columbia blasted off into space for her fourth, and final, test flight. Now, how many of you honestly knew beforehand the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was preparing for a launch Sunday? If it had not been for some brief news spots on televison and radio, I would have never known until watching the news Sunday evening NASA was even thinking of such plans.

However, it was just a matter of time before launchings of the space shuttle would become com-monplace. No longer is it a big media event. The novelty has worn off. We're now accustomed to the shuttle blasting off with some semblance of regularity. This was the plan all along. Only when Challenger is ready to become part of the shuttle fleet, will this daring new program regain its spot in the limelight. But only brieflv.

A smart move has been made by the Northville High School athletic department this summer. NHS received a waiver from the Michigan High School Athletic Association to let the ninth graders at Meads Mill and Cooke Junior High participate in high school athletics this fall (see story, page 4-C).

Bravo. Too many times last year high school sports teams were hurt by "the numbers game." That . meant having barely enough players to field a team. Many a coach emphasized this fact to me last year. By letting the ninth grade compete at the high school level, Northville will be able to expose those athletes to the programs a year early and, hopefully, make for better sports teams. This will help Northville tremendously in the new Western Lakes Activites Association set to start this fall.

Rain, Rain go away. Come back some other day. There must be something about me that makes it always like to rain when I go to a Detroit Tigers baseball game or out to my uncle's cottage in Brighton to water-ski.

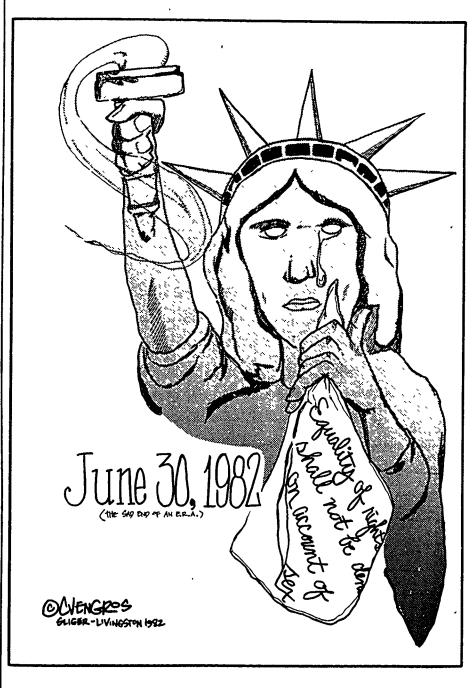

I have been to three Tigers' games this year, and twice it rained. The other time the weather forecasts were calling for rain. To add insult to injury, the Tigers had the gall to lose all three games I've attended. (No, I'm not to blame for the team's recent nosedive).

What makes me mad, though, is that I thought this was supposed to be summer. The calendar said it became summer on June 21. However, the weather is more like late spring, which stands to reason since winter went well into spring. But, does this mean summer, when it finally gets here, will last into fall and fall will last into winter and maybe there won't be any : winter all? Naw.

Supers wished well

The office in the southeast corner of Main Street Elemen-tary School will be occupied tomorrow by Northville's new school superintendent George Bell. Though he has yet to unpack his belongings, many staff members, teachers and building administrators feel as though they already know the former Van Dyke chief executive. For the past few weeks he has toured buildings and met with staff members in an attempt to familiarize himself with the district he will be serving as superintendent.

We find Bell's enthusiasm and eager anticipation refreshing and offer him a hearty welcome as he begins his tenure as Nor-thville's superintendent. Bell comes to Northville highly recommended and his record, thus far, seems to indicate he is a good choice for Northville's chief executive. As head of the Van Dyke Public Schools, he helped put a financially ailing district back on its feet and garner enough community support to keep it standing. He also was involved in several community organizations, including the War-gen Research and Development Souncil and the South Warren Neighborhood Improvement Organization.

The Northville Board of Education is to be commended for selecting a chief executive committed to community in-volvement. With many changes under consideration for the Northville Public Schools in the coming year, a sound relationship must be established between the district's top administrator and the community he serves.

Bell's arrival marks the departure of Lawrence J. Nichols, who has packed his belongings for new headquarters in Royal Oak. During his fouryear tenure as chief executive of the Northville Public Schools, Nichols helped calm a tumultuous district and maintained a sound educational program for the children of Northville.

Nichols is to be lauded for his foresight in directing the board and administration to establish future programming needs and maintaining the resources to fund those programs. Under Nichols' direction, the Northville Public Schools will offer computer programming for the first time in the coming year and has reinstituted the music program at the elemen-tary level. We wish him luck in his new post as superintendent of the Royal Oak Public Schools.

Thus, the lady who darns my socks is re-quired to exhibit great tolerance whenever I take hammer and saw in hand and set out to construct something.

"What do you think you're doing?" she asked with a little grin on her face Sunday as I arrived home with a load of lumber in the @ back seat of my car. "You're not thinking of building something, are you?"

Her bemused skepticism is not without foundation. The only things I've ever built . over the last 15 years or so are a couple of book cases. They may not be works of art, but they're functional as long as they're propped in a corner to keep them from wobbling.

"I thought I'd build a rack to store things 🖲 on in the garage," I replied stoically, pretending to ignore her thinly-veiled mix of sarcasm and amusement.

And so I set about my task. I moved the television set into the garage, poured myself a big glass of Pepsi and set out in search of the nails left over from the book cases.

Several hours later, the Westchester Open was over, the Orioles had devastated the Tigers, the world cruiser weight championship had changed hands with a stunning second-round knockout. And I had finished the storage rack.

"What do you think?" I asked, looking for words of approval.

"It's beautiful," she replied. "But does it wobble?"

"There does appear to be a slight wob-ble," I confessed, "but I think it's because the garage floor is not entirely even. I'll bet we'd find out just how uneven it really is if we had a level."

"You're probably right," she agreed, "but don't worry about it. Just prop it up in the corner.

"It's the nicest thing you've built since those book cases."

Why didn't student graduate?

To the Editor:

This concerns the commencement ceremonies which took place June 18. Graduation is supposedly a happy time for all graduates, everyone having finished school and received their diploma.

But for one girl, a close friend of mine, that night was disastrous. Erri Lindquist, a foreign exchange student from Finland, is not finished with school in her homeland, but she is finished here in the States.

A couple of weeks from now she will return home with no diploma, even though the other foreign exchange student who participated in the ceremonies did receive his. But that is not the point of this let-

The point of this letter, and what enraged many Northville students, was the way the matter was handled. Erri was told this spring she could graduate with the Class of '82 and that she could receive her diploma.

She was asked to give a speech at the commencement ceremonies, and she worked hard to prepare

At the graduation ceremony, she gave her speech, received the diploma folder, and then, after the ceremony was over, she was told she could not have a diploma to fill the folder. The empty folder is small condolence for what she was promised.

Hopefully, for our sake, Erri can forget this, and she will remember all the good times she had in Northville.

Township property tax called an increase

To the Editor:

Northville Township's case before the Michigan Tax Tribunal is being presented to the taxpayers as a property tax decrease, when, in reality, it still amounts to a significant tax increase. For one thing, the appeal seeks to reduce the current multiplier factor by only 0.8 percent, from 2.84 to 2.82. Since the multiplier factor was 2.64 in 1981, even if we win, the increase will go from 2.64 fto 2.82. (.18 increase).

For another thing, the wrong sales study will be submitted by county authorities as proof to bias their figures upward. Clearly, the law states "the assessing agency (in this case Wayne County) shall have the burden of proof in establishng ratio of the average level of assessments in relation to true cash values in the assessment district." (MLA 205.737 (3)). Proof is dependent upon the type of sales study the tax tribunal will accept to establish the validity of the township multiplier factor of 2.84

If the county is allowed to submit a 30-month sales study from the past 2½ years (1978-1981), then the tax tribunal will decide in favor of the multiplier factor of 2.84 or 2.82, because such a study demonstrated rising property values. However, if the tax tribunal would require proof from a sales study conducted during the first three months of 1982, which would show a significant decline in property value in the township, then the. tribunal should roll back the multiplier to approximately 2.64, or some other lower figure. Obviously, this type of rollback would be a significant victory for the taxpayer.

Hardly anyone could expect the county to submit the sales study which would prove beneficial for the taxpayer. They have too much to gain in property tax revenue to even begin to think about such a gesture of good will. Thus, incessant juggling of sales studies gives the county and state a significant advantage in the property tax process. To be sure, it is analogous to sending the wolf and the fox into the rabbit den. Furthermore, Wayne County has the burden of proof of establishing the equalizatin factor (2.84) which was uniformly applied in Northville Township, in the case before the tax tribunal. If honest and pure figures are used from the first three months of 1982, then there simply is no way the county can substantiate their high multiplier factor. Therefore, we can bet the suit will quietly be allowed to be dropped by the township, upon the advice of county "experts or legal authorities." On the other hand, the tax tribunal could decide in favor of the multiplier of 2.82, which will still become a whopping tax increase. Ultimately, the tribunal might uphold the multiplier of 2.84 which is really what the township, county and state officials wanted in the first place, and becomes an even greater escalation of property taxes. Larry D. VanderMolen was an outstanding success. This was due to many factors, some of which were an active and in-terested group of parents who gave unselflessly of their time and talents, excellent community sup-port from local merchants and business people and primarily to a great group of young men and women it was our honor to give the party for.

Our heartfelt thanks go to all the committee chairmen and the many parents who put so much time and effort into making the party the success that it was. To the merchants, school board employees and the high school maintenance staff. we extend our thanks and admit that we could not have done it without your help.

Our community can be very proud of our 1982 graduates. They demonstrated once again that they are a fine group of young adults. Their en-thusiasm and obvious appreciation for the party was contagious and enhanced our enjoyment of giving the party.

Again thanks to all who put so much effort into making the party the success it was.

Graduates loved party given by their parents

To the Editor:

This is a letter to Dear Parents of Seniors.

The Class of '82 would like to thank all of you who worked on our senior party. We had a great time and really appreciate the time and effort you put into making our last night together a truly memorable one. We loved the decorations, the food, both bands, and the activities.

We know it took a lot of time and creativity to put together such a great time, and we truly appreciate

Thanks again, we love you.

Legislation drafted to more strictly regulate the use of fireworks in Michigan is stuck in the Senate Judiciary Committee, thwarting the efforts of House legislators to make this Fourth of July a safer holiday.

Figures from the United State Consumer Products Safety Commission show some 5,000 accidents each year related to ireworks. Even the popular "sparkler" considered safe by most consumers has a high injury rate. Cases reported include burns caused after sparks ignited clothing and puncture wounds to eyes, hands and feet from their wire handles. Tips offered by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission recommend that adults always be present when fireworks are used and that they be purchased from a reliable dealer. Always read the directions. Never experiment, the safety tips warn. Light one at a time and never attempt to re-ignite malfunctioning fireworks. Keep at a safe distance and away from small children. Only ignite fireworks outdoors and keep a pail of water handy.

Breen's new IGA store brightens Milford job outlook

By MARY SPRY

A bright spot in the midst of the current economic gloom is Jerry Breen of Milford.

Breen recently opened an 18,000square-foot grocery store which has contributed to the financial well-being of the area. As a result, an empty building in Milford has been brought back to life and a substantial number of jobs have been added to the area's ecomony.

The new Breen's IGA offers the community a greater selection of grocery items and extensive remodeling has been done to the existing facilities.

Funding for the project was handled by Milford's Ecomonic Development Corporation (EDC), a government-sponsored program which provides fun-ding to spark industrial and commercial development. The business applying for an EDC grant must furnish information such as the number of new jobs that will be created as a result of the funding and the type of equipment that will be needed to complete the project.

The new supermarket that has resulted from the months of planning and work is bright, colorful and wellstocked. The store is staffed by employees who are optimistic about stores operate.

Sandy Werstine, a new employee, is enthusiastic and happy about her work. This is the first job I've had where everybody treats you like a member of the family. My boss is just great to work for and my job is close to my home," she said.

The Breen family has been a business fixture in Milford since 1952 when Jerry's father, Don Breen, bought out Albert Johnson's Grocery Store on Main Street.

Don, still a consultant for the store, has been in the business since 1922. He has seen drastic changes in the way

"When I first started, you had to run the length of the store getting what people wanted. No wonder I'm getting old gracefully. I had a chance to buy the store in Milford and it had two

"We started changing when Jerry and I put shingles on the store. We bought out the store next to us to expand and then took over another building. I think it's wonderful what Jerry has done. We had to do something and this was the way to go."

Jerry Breen came into the business in 1959 and, according to his father, 'studied in two chapters what it took me 10 years of my life to learn."

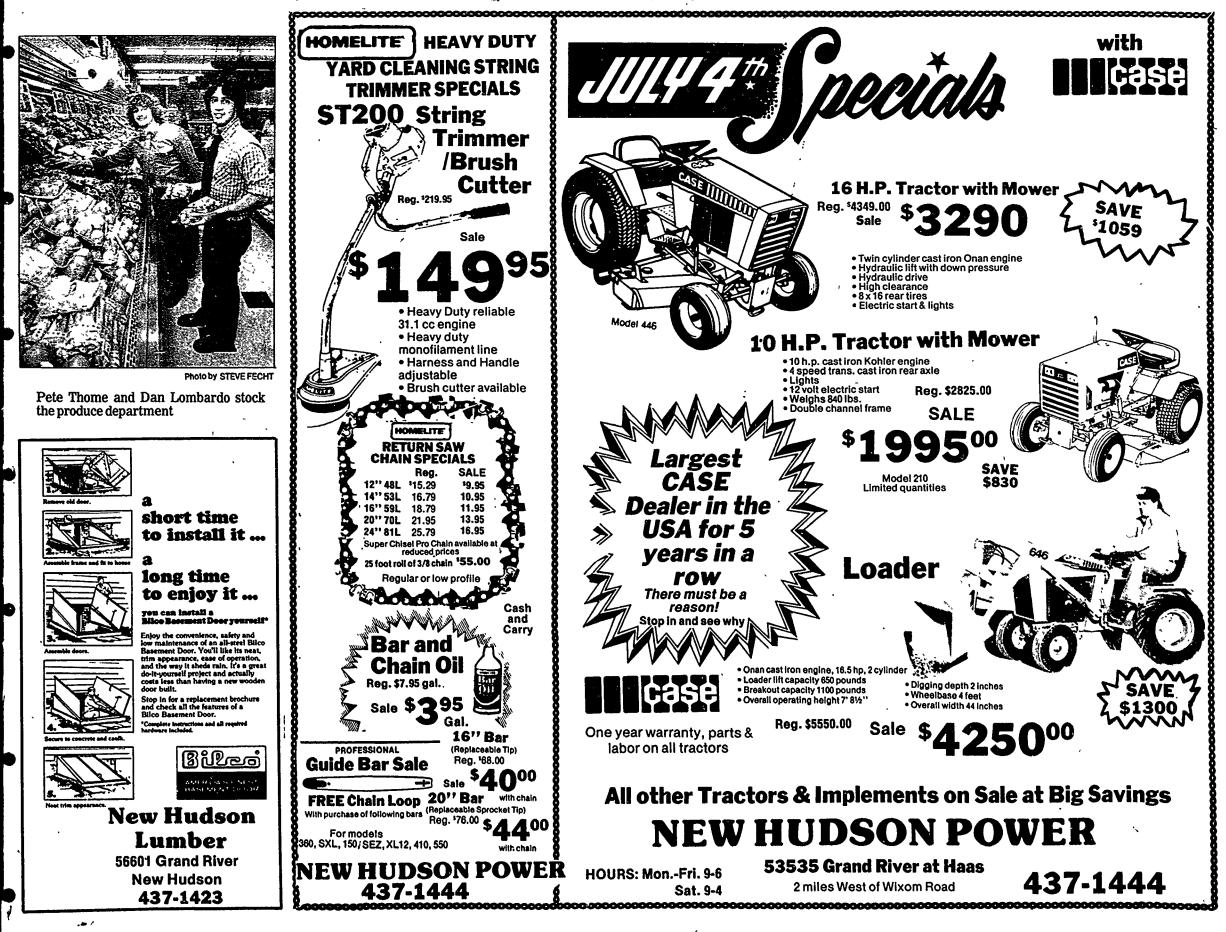

Jerry Breen said a need for addi-The elder Breen remembers both the - tional space was one of the reasons he-Milford's Main Street will not be left with another empty building as a result of the move. Breen plans to open a gourmet food store with an extensive selection of wine and cheese in the old building.

"I just want to thank everyone for their support. I really appreciate the people in Milford," he said.

DR. BRYAN KOSTELNIK is now seeing patients at the Wixom Chiropractic Clinic at 49175 Pontiac Trail in Wixom.

Dr. Kostelnik has taken over the practice on an interim basis for Dr. Mark Weller who was seriously injured in a March 21 automobile accident. Dr. Weller currently is undergoing therapy at University Hospital in Ann Arbor and plans to return to the practice after he has completed therapy.

Dr. Kostenik, a Novi resident, graduated from Logan Chiropractic College in St. Louis, Missouri, in 1961 and has been involved in the practice of chiropractic medicine since that time. He currently maintains offices in Ypsilanti as well as filling in for Dr. Weller at the Wixom Chiropractic Clinic.

Dr. Kostelnik has office hours at the Wixom clinic on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 a.m. to noon and 3-7 p.m.

LINDA HUDSON AND LINDA EMERY of Random House Interiors in Novi recently traveled to New York City where they visited the Lighting, Tabletop and Accessories market and attended seminars on new design concepts and the latest applications of fabrics and wallcoverings.

Designers from Random House Interiors attend markets several times per year to purchase new merchancise for the studio and keep abreast of current trends in decorating.

Random House Interiors is located at 41706 West Ten Mile in the Novi-Ten Shopping Center at the corner of Ten Mile and Meadowbrook Road. The store is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. 155 p.m.

TWO NORTHVILLE RESIDENTS who attend Our Lady of Mercy High School in Farmington Hills are winners in the annual School Traffic Safety Poster Contest sponsored by the Automobile Club of Michigan and the National AAA. Honored were Kristen Wicke (left) and Marie Nowak, both 14. Congratulating them is Michael Wild, the auto club's public relations director.

Kristen won third place and a $50 savings bond in the national contest for her poster depicting the safety theme. Marie earned second place and a $100 bond in the state contest for her poster, "School's Open - Drive Carefully." Twenty-nine Michigan student winners were awarded bonds at a luncheon at Dearborn's Fairlane Club.

C.A. HULL COMPANY of Walled Lake was the low bidder at $1,479,048 for reconstruction of the interchange of I-496 Freeway and Creyts Road, just west of Lansing.

The I-496 project includes construction of a bridge to carry southbound Creyts Road over I-496 and two loop-shaped ramps at the interchange. It will serve increased traffic from recent commercial and industrial expansion in the vicinity.

All low bids must be approved by the State Transportation Commission and the Administrative Review Board before contracts are awarded.

BOB OSWALD (right) of Northville shares groundbreaking honors with Madison Heights City Manager Ernie Fisher as Cintas, the Uniform People, broke ground for a new 26,500 service facility in that city on May 10.

Oswald, Cintas general manager, stated, "While many companies are having difficulties in today's economic climate, we at Cintas are continuing to grow by providing quality products and services at reasonable prices and with a true team approach on the part of all of our employees. Oswald and his wife Diane with their three children live on Kilrush.

DONNA CRAWFORD of Walled Lake has successfully completed Minolta Business Equipment Division's comprehensive sales training program. She is employed by Welcor, Inc., in Livonia.

The two-day sales seminar is part of the company's dealer support program for its full line of copiers.

Robert Parks, Minolta's director of marketing, said the objective of the sales training program is to reinforce and broaden the sales skills necessary to achieve success in an increasingly competitive market.

Northville girl earns 'Carrier of Month' honors

Jayshree Matadial, 14, of Northville may be one of the most petite girls just completing seventh grade at Meads Mill Junior High in Northville Township, but every Wednesday she packs one of the biggest Northville Record paper routes in the area.

A Northville Record carrier since August, 1980, Jayshree has just enlarged her route in the Highland Lakes subdivision from 160 to 180 customers.

Her route is the largest one in Northville - and one of the best serviced, according to JoAnne Curvin, head of Northville carriers, who nominated Jayshree for the Carrier of the Month honor to be awarded carriers who deliver Sliger-Livingston newspapers. Curvin's enthusiastic recommendation won for Jayshree the first award in the monthly contest.

In addition to an engraved plaque, Jayshree received a $25 check.

The check arrived just in time for Jayshree to take it on a family vacation to visit relatives in New York last Wednesday. She and her sister Manju, 15, a former Record carrier, are the daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Matadial of 19352 Scenic Harbor. Her father is a staff psychiatrist at the Northville State Regional Psychiatric Center. Her mother works at Hudson's and also attends school.

The family moved to Northville two years ago from Traverse City but has lived in many places. Jayshree was born June 12, 1968, in South America.

For increasing her route during a recent carrier incentive contest, Jayshree also banked an extra check for $57, Curvin reports. In addition, in other carrier contests she has won a solar calculator and two radios, one an am-fm clock radio.

She also finds time to play tennis, read, swim and cook. She and her sister help with meals, and Jayshree admits she especially likes baking.

The fact that the first winner of the new Carrier of the Month award is set girl is no surprise to circulation manager Jack Kaake. Girls comprise 40 percent of his carrier staff. He says they are most dependable because 'girls don't stop to play baseball in the middle of delivering a route.'

Kaake said there also will be a Carrier of the Year award in June 1983.

The Weary Traveler

Angels on celestial flight Dispelling the darkness Showing me the light Angelic choirs about me sing Peace on earth good will towards man At last, now I stand Upon the shores of that heavenly land No more pain No more lears No more sadness No more tears Music ob such beautiful music invades my ears Love and joy fill my soul At last, the weary traveler has come home Buddy Dennis

They Don't Allow Pets

They don't allow pets, no pets, a debt in misery I told them only a cat, a kitten, to keep my sanity. But they said no, just no, without sympathy. Please, I said, only her, my kitten, a softness symphony.

You see I had to move, to save, to avoid catastrophe. They still said no, and you they tear from me.

So please little kitten, pretty kitten, try to see it my way, that it's only for now, and now I pay for stupidity ... I told them only a kitten, my kitten, to keep my sanity.

Gary C. Maas

Hazy Day

The hary gray is amin And trees whose branches Bead under their burden Of yesterday's sum Wall for more of the same Will they break from its weight Or is its touch a reminder of The life sustaining drink of water When the sam shines, the than comes When the tree's roots reach out And drink, then summer will follow When its leaves flatter In green spiendor, and breathe off Life sustaining arygen Then what once looked like a burden Becomes our blessing

Agnes Caldwell

Patchwork Path

She pulled at thoughts Square-cubed And sewed them down To a patchwork Of many patterns. Yarn knotted; It is a Gray lady Drawing from the old To give to the new.

Greetings

Hello, spring. Come on in. Blow my door open, I don't mind. Wake me with bird song. Still my hands. Take me from tasks to look at green slipping through cold soil. Beguile me, spring. My old heart cracks its case and grows new shoots. Welcome, friend.

Neighbors share garden care

By MICHELE MCELMURRY

For Donald Ware and Andres Parades; being neighborly often means apping a boe for a bedge trimmer nd clippers for a rake.

Over the past few years, these two retirees have shared their passion for gardening by maintaining the hush rounds behind Ware's apartment comex at 249 Hutton.

This year, their bountiful gardens. illed with everything from beans and egonias to Ware's precious peonies, ave caught the eye of the Country Girls Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, which amed it its June Garden of the Month.

Parades, 86, and his wife Molly, 71, nave been tenants of Donald and Mary Ware since 1969 — occupying the lower level apartment of the Ware's home.

For the past six years, Parades has een helping Ware keep his garden in tip top shape. Among the plants and lowers are some 100 red and white begonias, ferns, newly planted evergreens and a vegetable garden with a hearty selection of tomatoes, peppers and green beans Parades, a native of Spain, says he enjoys working in his garden and notes it is "no trouble at all" to maintain. worked a lot on a farm in Spain," said the octogenarian who left his native homeland in 1916. "This is no work at all.'

He says the job is made easier with the help of his wife Molly. "She hands me the tools," he explains with a twinkle in his eye.

While Parades' begonias add most of the color to this garden during the late spring and summer months, it is Donald Ware's peonies which keep the garden in bloom during May.

Ware explains that of his 100 peonies, many are almost a century old, having been transplanted from the property where Elizabeth's restaurant now is located.

Ware, who bought the two buildings at the corner of Hutton and Dunlap some 30 years ago, says many of the peonies belonged to the former owners of the house.

"The people living in the house were 92 at the time," he explains, "and each year their daughter brought them one or two (peony) roots. We figure many of the peonies have to be between 75 and 80 years old." He notes that peonies only are in bloom about three weeks - usually in mid to late May. He explains that one plant usually contains somewhere between 20-30 blooms in various hues of red, orange, white, pink and other col-OCS

Through the years, he says he has learned the secret to growing these colorful flowers. "The trick is to keep the dirt off the crown of the plant," he explains. "Many people get healthy looking plants, but they cover the crown and therefore the plants never bloom."

In addition to the gardens behind his home, Ware also continues to maintain the gardens and landscaping around Elizabeth's and Connie's Corner Stitchery.

He also tends to two clay pots of fresh basil and parsley flourishing on the steps to his side door.

'You've got to have this," he says while snapping off a leaf of basil. "All Italians use this when they cook."

In Our Town Their reunions are baby-oriented

By JEAN DAY

Michelle Russell, Peter Stephens, Glen Pierce, Alex-ander Chepeska, April Smith, Jill Davis and Jennifer Golden attended their second class reunion earlier this month. What makes this a news item is the fact that all are just about 10 months old — and their "class" was a Northville LaMaze one taught by Nancy Vanderworp. "The girls (the babies' mothers) get together every month," Mark Russell, father of Michelle and two-year-old Mark, called to report. He felt the comradeship of the new mothers and their intention of getting together on a continuing basis was unusual. Fathers, too, attended the nine-month reunion June 13.

Of course, the star attractions were the babies, but Laura and Mark Russell, Claudia Day (she's retaining her name) and Bryant Pierce, all of Northville, and Barbara and John Smith and Sasan and Alan Davis, of Canton, with Jan and Dan Chepeska of South Lyon and Olga and John Golden of Plymouth had a chance to recall taking the LaMaze class at Northville's First United Methodist Church last summer. Karen and Carl Stephens of Northville were the seventh LaMaze couple but were unable to be at the second reunion.

The Russelis are the only couple with an older child; Laura Russell says it's still helpful to be able to get together with the other mothers and invites any new mother interested in joining the group to call her at 348-2886.

Volunteers plan ice cream social at nursing home

An ice cream social to be held from 2-4 p.m. July 10 at Beverly Manor, 24500 Meadowbrook, just north of Ten Mile in Novi is an example of the kinds of activities planned for residents by the nursing home's community council. Two faithful volunteers in the council are Northville residents Lois Strasser and Betty Cole.

Their aim is simply stated: "to enhance life within a local nursing home." The upcoming social is one of the festivities planned for residents and families. Neither of the Northville volunteers has a relative at Beverly Manor, but five years ago Lois Strasser began visiting the late Evelyn Lassiter, a member of her church (First Methodist), there.

Then both Northville volunteers took courses in gerontology at Madonna College that required hours be spent in a nursing home. On the suggestion of the Reverend Guenther C. Branstner of the Northville First United Methodist Church they chose Beverly Manor for this service - and now have become involved in the community council, one of 10 in southeastern Michigan under the auspices of the University of Michigan Institute of Gerontology.

This weekend, however, Betty Cole is looking forward to a Northville reunion at the Cole home in Edenderry with all six children on hand July 4. The reunion is bringing family from Wisconsin, Wyoming and Connecticut.

She'll be doing the Highland fling in Portland

After winning Best of Class trophy in the 15-year-old category in the U.S. Midwest Regional Competition at the Alma Highland Festival May 29-30, Leslie Grover of Northville will be packing her tartan skirts and velvet vests and be on her way to Portland, Oregon, to compete in the U.S. Inter-Regional Highland Dancing Championships July 18.

Joining Leslie in Portland will be her sister, Elizabeth Grover Weaver, trophy winner in the 18 years-and-older category, who also will be representing the Southeastern region as runner-up winner in her age category. She now makes her home in Red Springs, North Carolina.

In Warren ceremony

Manley-Stendel vows recited

Nancy Marie Stendel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Siendel of Warren, and Eric Reed Manley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Manley of Northville, exchanged marriage vows May 15 at SL Paul United Church of Christ in Warren.

The double ring ceremony was officiated by the bride's father and the Reverend Wallace Zink. Harpsichord music was provided before and during the ceremony by the bridegroom's brother Steven Manley. Readings were given by the bride's brother Peter Stendel and Paul Thompson.

The bride's gown of ivory Brussels lace extended into a sweep train. Her Juliet cap held a fingertip veil of Brussels lace, and she carried a cascading bouquet of white and peach roses with ivy and stephanotis.

Orin Duffy-Dooling of Pennsylvania served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were the bride's sister Lisa Stendel, the bridegroom's sister Kay Manley and Katherine Bader.

They wore peach shimmer organza gowns and carried colonial bouquets of carnations, daisies and roses.

Thomas Houdek of Canton was best man. Ushers were Boy Bartz, Randy Look and Eric Larson.

A reception at the Warren Chateau followed the ceremony. Among the 160 guests in attendance were the bride's paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stendel of Wisconsin and the bridegroom's great-aunts Ruth Ericson of Northville and Mrs. John Ericson of Oregon. Out-oftown guests also included friends and relatives from Missouri, Washington, D.C. and Iowa.

The bride was graduated from Bloomsburg State College in Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania. She is employed as a buyer for Skeketee's Department Store in Grand Rapids.

The bridegroom is a Central Michigan University graduate and is employed with Burton Abstract in Grand Rapids.

Following a wedding trip to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, the couple returned to Grand Rapids, where they will reside.

Ninth grade to be incorporated in NHS sports program

By JOHN MYERS

to a major sports change, Northville ublic School ninth grade athletes will e able to participate in the high school thetic program this fall, it was an-Minced Monday.

'Our numbers have been small for the high school athletic teams," explained Northville Athletic Director Ralph Redmond of the change.

Because of the decline in number of athletes coming out for high school sports teams, the request was made in April to the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) for a waiver to allow Northville's junior high ninth grade students to participate in the high school program. The MHSAA granted the waiver in late May, according to Redmond. The waiver was needed because the ninth grade is not part of the high school grade structure. Therefore, students cannot compete in the high school sports program.

However, the Northville Board of Education will be examining a grade restructuring this year. The proposed plan calls for kindergarten through fifth grade to be in the elementary school, sixth through eighth grade in the middle school and ninth through 12th grade in the high school.

"If the restructuring of grades for Northville Public Schools comes through for 1983-84, it (sports program change) will be an automatic build in a year ahead," Redmond offered. The catalyst in requesting the change mised. now was the declining number of athletes participating at the high school level. During the past school year, numerous NHS sports' teams have had trouble getting enough players to complete the squad. Prime examples are: the girls' swim team which had 11 members; girls' basketball which had eight players; girls' track which had 10 runners; boys' wrestling which had approximately 17 wrestlers; and boys' swimming which had approximately 15 members.

Redmond notes some advantages of letting the ninth graders from Meads Mill and Cooke Junior High participate in the high school program:

"We will be putting all of the junior high athletes together so that (coaches) can have a good semblance for (their) teams," he explained. "Also, the kids will be able to take advantage of the high school program.'

With the shift of the ninth grade to the high school athletic program, Redmond confirmed some kind of a junior high

"We'll do the best we can," he pro-

• Under the program restructuring, the ninth grade football team will play at the high school and have an eight to nine game schedule. Practice starts when the high school players begin, and ball players will either go to the football camp or stay behind to practice. Some. ninth graders may play on the junior varsity squad.

The seventh and eighth grade grid program will remain in the junior highs and will have a six game schedule.

The ninth grade girls' basketball program shifts to the high school with the possibility of some players being selected to the junior varsity squad.

Only if there is a suitable schedule, will a seventh and eighth grade team be maintained. If not, there will be an intramural program for the athletes with an All Star game slated at the end of the season between Meads Mill and Cooke on a home-and-home basis.

The girls' volleyball program will follow the same set-up as the basketball program.

Both the ninth grade boys' and girls' swim and track programs will move to eighth grade co-educational swim and ment, while the seventh and eighth track teams will remain at the junior grade team will play a 12-game highs

Ninth graders may participate in all high school programs not offered at the junior high level. These programs are: baseball, softball, golf, tennis, cross country, gymnastics, wrestling and soccer.

The only ninth grade junior high program not being moved to the high school is the boys' basketball squad. The ninth grade team will play a 16game schedule, including a tourna- the high school for practice.

schedule.

"That (ninth grade basketball) is not a numbers problem," Redmond remarked.

Cooke ninth grade athletes will not have a problem getting to the high school because of its close proximity. However, Redmond explained some type of shuttle bus service is being examined for Meads Mill athletes to get to

F-LEAGUE

For the first time this season the Braves have tasted defeat as they were upended by the Angels 6-5 in F-League action last week.

Keith Dutkiewicz fired a four hitter in guiding the Angels to victory. Mark Olson supplied the hitting power with a three-for-three performance. The Braves were powered by a homerun from Mike Hilfinger.

The Giants outlasted the Phillies 10-7 as the winners were paced by a strong pitching performance from Matt DeMattos. The Giants' 10-hit attack was paced by two hits each from Stewart Kissinger, Kevin Crampton and John Lobbia.

Despite trailing 10-0 in the fourth, the Phillies scored all seven of their runs in the fifth and sixth innings. Brett Loomis contributed three hits, while Tony Craig and Jeff Harp each nailed two hits for the Phillies.

H-LEAGUE

Andy Haas' two-out, bases-loaded single capped a four-run come-from-behind sixth inning rally which lifted the second-place Reds to a thrilling 12-11 victory over the Cardinals in H-League action last week.

Haas' hit brought home the three runs the Reds needed to win the contest. It was only his second hit all season. Winning pitcher Steve Bastian aided his own cause with two homeruns and six runs-batted-in. Matt Bergstrom cracked two triples.

The Cardinals scored 11 runs on just four hits, with two of them coming from John McNeil. Ben Odem slapped a double and John Okanski had the other Cardinal

The Reds had an easier time against the Rangers 9-0 as winning hurler Bastian handcuffed the losers on just one hit. He aided his own cause with a bases-loaded triple in the contest. Larry Osieski turned a double play when he tagged a runner heading for second and then threw to first.

The Expos used a five-run first inning to power themselves to a 94 triumph over the Rangers. Mike MacDonell won his fourth game without a loss for the winners. Chuck Taylor knocked in three runs for the Rangers with a double and a single. John Madincea added two hits, while David Huff and Keith Viabanko each added singles. The Expos were paced by Mark Hilfinger, Todd Bono and MacDonell. all of whom had two hits in helping drive in six runs.

Koufax squad wins sixth

It is six wins and counting for the Northville Sandy Koufax squad which cruised past South Lyon 8-4 last week Tuesday.

The undefeated Koufax team was paced by the hitting of Chris Hauser and Eric Terlecki, both of whom had two hits and two runs-batted-in.

Rob Cannon got things rolling for Northville when he singled, stole second and third base and came home on a passed ball in the first inning. Tony Craig pitched five innings of shutout ball to record the win. He limited South Lyon to just four hits.

Also, there were a couple of defensive gems turned in by Jerry O'Brien. The secondbaseman made two shoe-string catches on sharp line drive balls.

MICKEY MANTLE Northville's Mickey Mantle baseball squad split a pair of contests last week, losing to Redford 7-6 but defeating Dearborn Crestwood 10-3.

Despite a three-run homerun by Steve Frellick, who had four hits, and a two-run homer by Dave Longridge, the Mantle squad could not overtake Redford Sunday. The loss put the team's record at 6-2.

Steve Schrader pitched the squad to victory over Crestwood Saturday as he threw a two hitter for six innings. Mickey Newman hurled one inning of hitless relief.

Schrader helped his own cause by scoring three times and batting a run with a double. Newman added two hits and one run-batted-in.
