Olivia Kuester celebrates with son Jeremiah, 2, husband David

She's newest patriot

When Olivia Kuester, with her husband Donald and son Jeremiah, 2, of 317 Yerkes joined crowds of local residents Sunday in Mill Race Historical Village, the 1982 Fourth of July celebration held special meaning: three hours earlier she had become a naturalized citizen in a ceremony in Hart Plaza in Detroit.

She was one of 150 applicants for American citizenship who actually became naturalized on July 4. The ceremony officially honored 1,000 new citizens who had received their citizenship since January 1.

The Kuesters returned to Northville to celebrate with friends. The couple, who met in the Philippines, was married at Our Lady of Victory Church after she joined him here in 1977.

Donald Kuester, who now is a salesman for PSI Hydraulics, had been teaching and doing Catholic missionary work in the Philippines. He met his wife when their offices happened to be located next door to each other.

Olivia Kuester is a medical social worker and now is employed at Detroit Osteopathic Hospital in Highland Park.

After their marriage the Kuesters lived in Brighton and in an apartment on Randolph before moving to their home on Yerkes. Friends they had made here and neighbors helped them celebrate all day Sunday at the reception Mrs. Kuester had prepared.

Union gives input on Ford options

By KEVIN WILSON

Local UAW officials this week are reviewing proposed production tasks for the reopening of Ford Motor Company's Northville facility. There are three proposals that would supply jobs within the year while study continues on a fourth possibility that would provide more permanent jobs over a longer term.

Norm Fultz, local 896 president, said Tuesday that he and the local committee hope to complete their review this week of the jobs presented to them by company engineers Friday.

"Right now they've got three jobs (proposed)," he said, "and we're going over them to see if we can't reduce the cost of them. My people are seeing where we can cut — their cost (figures) are a little high."

"When we're through, it will go up for a decision. I really think it's almost approved already, because they said the plant's definitely reopening," he said.

"I would hope we'd have a decision (from the company) by the end of the month," he added. "Then we start calling back people."

None of the three would restore lost valve business to the plant, nor would the forging and grinding equipment presently installed in the plant be used.

Fultz said about six company engineers were at the plant Friday afternoon for nearly four hours, describing the jobs to the union leaders and discussing potential installations. He said he had heard nothing more regarding timing of the reopening.

Ford labor relations chief Peter Pestillo said last week the Northville facility would be put on line by "the beginning of the 1983 model year," presumably this October.

The company's public relations arm, meanwhile, said a corporate meeting regarding the waterwheel plant is slated for late July.

Fultz said he is hopeful that the three small jobs proposed would receive approval by the end of the month so some local 896 members could be called back to work, stripping the plant of its present tooling and installing new equipment.

Each of the three proposals would create jobs for 20-30 workers, Fultz said, with more jobs possible if volume increases. In addition, there is a fourth, long-term proposal in the works Fultz said he believes would secure the plant's future as a Ford facility.

Union review of the proposals is to attempt to reduce costs for the company as much as possible before it goes up for final review at World Headquarters in Dearborn.

One job, building racks for use by the corporation, "doesn't really take a lot. It's coming in from outside and there really isn't much profit potential," Fultz said.

But the task would most likely be the first to give local 896 workers jobs, as the only necessary installation is a paint booth, he said.

More lead time would be required for fuel tank and harness jobs also proposed, he added. Packaging possibilities are also being explored, Fultz said.

After reopening, he noted, plans call for the company and union to devise an "employee involvement program" within the spirit of the new labor agreement with Ford.

That agreement led to a corporate review of the decision to close Northville in favor of purchasing engine valves from an outside source. In March, while General Motors negotiations were still in progress, Ford announced the Northville facility would be reopened.

The plant produced its last valve in November, 1981, and the final layoff was made in February. Since that time, one or two local employees have been called back on a short-term basis for maintenance work while Ford conducts a study of possible uses for the building.

Court costs exceed estimates

By KEVIN WILSON

A recently-released audit report of the 35th District Court 1981 operations is expected to draw some heat from city and township officials this week.

The audit led to a demand for an additional $11,000 payment from the township and more than $65,500 from the city. Both payments are based on court usage and would partially offset court refunds to other communities. The audit shows $92,000 in expenses over the budgeted amount.

Township business manager David Leiko noted that the billing for additional monies from last year's operations was accompanied by notice of an increase of $5,000 in the court's demand for quarterly payments in 1982.

"Do we have the money in our budget to handle that?" Leiko said when asked. "You know better than that."

City manager Steve Walters noted the figures were downgraded from February estimates that had the city owing nearly $90,000 and the township $13,000. He said Plymouth had covered some building costs with its municipal building authority, somewhat diminishing the deficit.

Walters related that the city will also collect about $4,000 on a civil case, plus some administrative costs, reducing the $65,500 bill a little.

Treasurer Richard Henningsen, Leiko said, is not pleased at the July notice of such a substantial amount due from last year's operations, nor with the increase in this year's payments.

The audit is among agenda items for the township board meeting Thursday night at 8 p.m. in township hall. It is also a likely topic for city council consideration next Monday night. Council has often been critical of the court administration in recent months.

Plymouth Township is liable for an additional $8,800 according to the audit, while Canton township is due a refund of $37,000 "overpayment." The city of Plymouth is to receive a $3,224 refund.

The adjustments reflect court usage that was estimated when budgeting for the year. Canton showed a severe drop in court use as compared to earlier levels. Walters said that for "whatever reason" Canton police wrote fewer tickets than in the past, speculating that a rumored work action slow down was responsible.

The court occupied new quarters in September, 1981. At that time, the townships of Northville and Plymouth were added to the number of "control units" operating the court. Prior to that date, the cities handled the township's cases.

Expenses for 1981 were allocated on a caseload basis over the entire year on

Farmington youths charged in NHS beating incident

Two 16-year-old Farmington youths are being charged with aggravated assault, trespassing and disturbance in a school stemming from an incident at Northville High School in which one student was beaten June 1, city police report.

Two other 16-year-old Farmington youths are being charged with trespassing from the same incident. Police Chief Rodney Cannon said Thursday the petitions were filed with the Oakland County Juvenile Court, but that no preliminary examination has been set, yet.

The charges are a result of an incident which occurred June 1 at the high school when 18-year-old Chris Dimitroff was summoned from his class by the youths who asked to speak to him. Once he stepped in the hallway, one of the youths kicked Dimitroff in the mouth. Classmate Robert Bell, who sustained bruises around his eyes, was hurt trying to assist Dimitroff.

The youths escaped the building before getting caught and had apparently parked their car on Center Street. According to some of the students at the time, one of the youths had been seen on the high school grounds a week prior to the incident.

July 4th fireworks spectacular draws record crowd

The fireworks display ending Fourth of July festivities in Northville Sunday night drew the largest crowd ever, Ron Barnum, chairman of the holiday events for the Northville Jaycees, reported yesterday.

He estimated that the parade and Mill Race Village crowds were about the same size as usual as residents lined the parade route to watch bands, floats and politicians march by, and then gathered in the village for the Jaycee barbecue and Northville

Historical Society events.

Barnum said cars started parking in the Northville High School lot as early as 8 p.m. to have choice viewing spaces for the fireworks. By 10 p.m., when the display began, Amerman Elementary lot, adjacent streets and even Chatham parking lot, Barnum reported, were full. The Jaycees again this year, with approval of the Northville Board of Education, charged cars parking at the high school a $1 donation to help defray expenses of the fireworks.

The fireworks display was called one of the most elaborate to date as it soared high in the sky. Northville Jaycees Keith Mannisto and Bob Cummings, who were in charge of it, intentionally sent the rockets and shells higher than usual.

Because the aerial display was lit with one fuse, with the first triggering the next automatically, the display did not last as long as some previous ones.

Only one shell malfunctioned, however, Barnum reported of the display which cost approximately $2,200. He noted that one display, such as a Chinese Twister, could cost $100 to $150.

Because the barbecue following the parade was a sellout, Barnum said he did not expect the Jaycees had lost money on the day's events, as has been the case in the past.

Sausage dinners, a new offering at the traditional chicken barbecue, he added, sold out in the first hour.

While the parade began at noon, as scheduled, there was a gap toward the front as an antique car developed engine problems at the start.

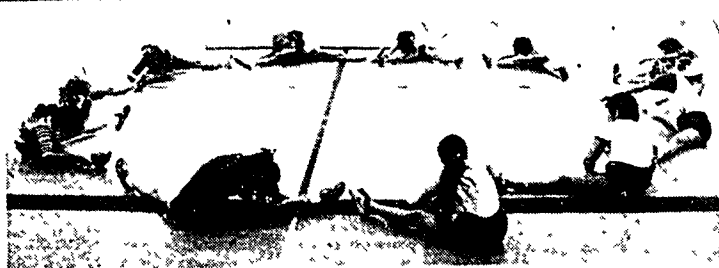

Cars, marching units, floats and equestrian groups were reviewed at the judging stand by city hall. Judges this year were city council member Carolann Ayers, city clerk Joan McAllister and Cooke Junior High Principal and township resident David Longridge.

Taking first place in the float division was the Northville Historical Society's miniature replica of the Hunter House in the village. Second place went to the Northville-Novl Colts float while the mechanized bath tub entered by Long's Plumbing and Bath Boutique, containing "Donald Duck," won third.

Salem Rockettes from Plymouth-Salem High School took first in the marching groups category; Issinyru Karate Club of Northville was second; and Northville High School PomPon Girls Squad's routine at the judges' stand brought it third place.

Among the bands, Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps took first; Windsor Lions' Club Youth Band, second; and Nor-

LAST DAY to register to vote in the primary election August 10 is July 12. Offices of both City Clerk Joan McAllister, 215 West Main, and Township Clerk Susan J. Heintz, 41600 Six Mile, will be open Monday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. After that date no registrations can be taken for the primary.

INQUIRIES have been received from three Northville residents regarding the upcoming vacancy on the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees, college officials reported last week. About 15 have been received from throughout the district about the post of Nancie Blatt, who is resigning the end of the month to move to Chicago.

FARMER'S MARKET at the corner of Main and Hutton featured plants, produce and honey last week. Kay Keegan, executive secretary of the sponsoring chamber of commerce, says she expects it will draw more farmers each Thursday with fresh fruits and vegetables.

TRUTH IN TAXATION hearing for Northville Township will be at 7:30 p.m. this Thursday in township hall, 41600 Six Mile. The hearing is to consider public comment regarding the additional levy of 0.7 mill tax for police services, as approved by voters last November. Schoolcraft receives robotics grant

One ray of hope shone forth as the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees adopted an austere 1982-83 budget with a small property tax increase and major tuition increase.

"We have received a $1,000 planning grant for robotics technology," President Richard McDowell said as the board adopted the $15.2 million budget.

"It means the state recognizes us as an institution which could contribute to the new robotics and high technology industries," observed Nancie Blatt, board vice-chairperson. "It doesn't mean we'll get more," she added.

Chairperson Harry Greenleaf added that even a miniature laboratory for robotics carries a $250,000 price tag. Nevertheless, he was pleased that Schoolcraft had made one inroad into what many state leaders see as a key to the ailing state's economic renaissance.

Trustees were harsh, however, in their criticism of the Michigan Legislature's inaction on a new budget. "It's interesting that we (Schoolcraft) are going to adopt a budget based on a state budget that's not yet passed," said Trustee Paul Y. Kadish.

"Tonight we're no more certain what the state appropriation will be than last week," agreed McDowell.

About one quarter of Schoolcraft's revenue comes from state aid. The college starts its fiscal year July 1, but the state fiscal year doesn't begin until October 1.

While some legislators had wanted to push through the budget before the primary election campaign, the leadership chose to delay action because of long fights over a temporary income tax increase and redistricting.

The college budget is based on zero pay increases in compensation for four unions and a delay in some benefits, a condition the unions may reject.

"We'll honor those contracts," McDowell said, "but we don't have the $225,000 to pay for the benefits."

If Schoolcraft's estimate of state aid turns out to be low, he said, any additional money will be used to pay the delayed benefits. Otherwise, the president added, "We have no alternative but to reduce the work force."

Schoolcraft has existing contracts with the administrators' office personnel and maintenance unions. It must still negotiate a contract with the Faculty Forum to replace one which expires at the end of August.

The board voted to raise the property tax rate 0.119 mills to the full 1.77 mills approved by voters. An average home would be tapped for about $5 more for the year.

Tuition earlier was increased to $25.50 from $22 per credit hour for district residents, a 16 percent hike.

In other action, Schoolcraft trustees: Accepted a $1,500 cash gift from the Shell Companies Foundation of Farmington Hills to be used by the automotive department.

Received $200 cash from Haggerty Lumber Company of Walled Lake to help the college women's volleyball team attend the Amateur Union Junior Olympics in Illinois June 26-30.

Praised Trustee Blatt for her nine years of service on the board, her activity in state and national associations and "as a wife, mother, professional administrator, party worker, friend and special human being." Blatt, who is moving to the Chicago area with her husband and is resigning effective at the end of July, promised to return for the dedication of a Fine Arts Building, if one is ever constructed.

Praised college nurse Irene Pleskey on her retirement after 20 years with the college.

Set its regular meetings for 8 p.m. on the fourth Wednesday of each month except for those on November 17, December 8.

In Contract matters, the Schoolcraft board:

Heard Bruce Grant, representing low bidder Progressive Business Machines of Livonia, complain that college administrators had failed to call the company's references before recommending an IBM electric typewriters repair contract of $6,045 be awarded to Gilson Ayres, Incorporated, of Troy. Grant said his company's previous service problems were due to its summer use of high school co-op students. "We have not used co-op students for two years, which I feel kind of badly about because they've gotta learn some place," said Grant.

Awarded T & M Asphalt Paving Company of Farmington Hills a contract for $70,124 to repair and resurface campus parking lots, handball courts and driveways. T & M was lowest of nine bidders.

Awarded Firebaugh & Reynolds Roofing Company of Novi an $8,543 contract to repair the Liberal Arts Building roof over the little theater and 400 corridor areas.

Planners reject request for site plan extension

James R. Long postponed an appearance before the township planning commission once too often June 29.

The commission rejected Long Development Company's request for a one-year extension of site plan approval for the construction of four warehouses on Gerald Avenue, citing Long's failure to appear before the commission for four consecutive months.

The rejection, in effect, means Long must file site plans for review, paying standard fees, before building permits can be pulled to complete the project.

Initial approval of the industrial site plan was made in early 1980. One of the buildings has been erected, but the others have been postponed for economic reasons. Site plan approval lapsed in February and Long's request for an extension first appeared on the commission's March agenda.

Building official Troy Milligan told the commission Long had been slow in doing required berm and greenbelt work designed to mask the development, pleading that he would do it after all the buildings were up.

When the extension issue first came to the commission, it elected to request an explanation of why some part of the landscaping had not been done. Since that time, the item has been tabled pending an appearance or explanation from Long.

An 8-1 vote on the issue came after chairman Kenneth McLarty read a letter from Long stating he would be out of town June 29, the date of the meeting, and requesting that the issue be tabled "until a time when I could appear personally in front of the commission."

McLarty asked for a motion to table the request until the July session, but commissioner Kenneth Sewell made clear he had heard enough excuses and moved to reject it.

Vice chairman William Bohan, who had sent a strongly-worded letter to Long after he failed to appear at the May meeting, seconded the motion. Bohan led the May session in McLarty's absence and his letter to Long noted that failure to appear in June could result in rejection of the extension.

Commissioner Bernard Baldwin supported the motion to reject, saying, "Despite the fact he (Long) is out of town, he knows what we need. He could have sent someone else, or told us what we need in the letter. I think it's fairly obvious he's just trying to delay the whole proceeding."

Sewell noted Long's letter did not pledge a July appearance, only indicating he would appear at his own convenience.

Only McLarty voted against the motion to reject the extension, holding out in favor of tabling because Long was in Florida on business.

It can take several months for a site plan to proceed through the review process after submittal.

Trustees, planners' viewpoints clash

By KEVIN WILSON

Long-brewing disagreement between the township board and planning commission is bubbling to the surface as changes to the master plan are considered.

The tension was discussed openly at the planning commission's June 29 session as it deliberated whether to act on its own or to conduct a joint meeting with the board of trustees first.

Commissioners chose to meet with the board July 20, but only after thoroughly debating their options.

The issues to be considered are almost custom-fit to stir up the differences of opinion between the two bodies.

Rising out of two studies done by planning consultant Claude Coates, of Villikan-Leman Associates, the changes would concern plans for convenience shopping on Six Mile and office space on Seven Mile opposite the state hospital.

In both cases, recent board action has been directly opposite the recommendations of the commission.

The master plan is a policy document designed to keep long-range development of the township in line with the philosophy of the commission as it goes about the task of ruling on routine requests for zoning changes or approval of construction plans.

It is solely the responsibility of the planning commission. But most other activities of the commission are in an advisory role to the board of trustees, which has the final authority (outside the court system) to determine zoning, for instance.

Planning Commission Chairman Kenneth McLarty illustrated the resultant tension last week, as he urged commissioners to at least consider acting alone on the plan alterations. "If the board is going to make its decisions without regard to our recommendations, why have a planning commission at all?" McLarty said. "That (rejection of major recommendations) is as close to drawing the master plan and doing the zoning alone as I can envision."

Moreover, he said the studies ordered from Coates were done "on our own, and, frankly, out of frustration with the lack of support from the board. We felt it was foolhardy to have a plan if it did not apply to what is happening."

While the master plan is designed as long-range policy, township boards tend to be more vulnerable to political concerns and immediate pressures; the make up of the board is subject to waters' whims every few years and a change of personalities can be mean a change in board policy.

As a checks-and-balances system, the assigned duties tend to generate some degree of tension in most communities, and as McLarty's obvious frustration illustrates, it is reaching a high point in the township lately.

Boiled down to its basics, the confrontation centers on two decisions of the board: rejection of a zoning request for proposed convenience shopping at Six Mile and Sheldon and the granting of office zoning on a single Seven Mile parcel opposite Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

The Six Mile and Sheldon issue promises to be a central topic when the two bodies meet, as the new study still shows the intersection as one of the three prime locations for such a center.

Inclusion of the corner as a convenience center site on the current master plan is one of Elro Corporation's strong suits as it appeals the board's earlier rejection in the courts. A suit has been filed, but has not yet reached court.

Coates' study indicates the best spot for such a center now is at Six and Haggerty Road. At Beck and Six Mile, he concluded, there is good potential on the longer range scale while Sheldon has advantages in being more immediately supportable. Within one mile of the corner, Beck will ultimately contain more customers than does Sheldon, Coates said, but within the customary two mile market area Sheldon has an advantage.

The study also demonstrates a need for 37 additional acres of convenience shopping in the township, based on ultimate population density. A typical center would include a grocery store with other smaller businesses such as barber shops on a 10-acre landscaped parcel, according to the Coates.

Coates suggests that if Sheldon and Six Mile is not acceptable, then convenience shopping would have to be planned at other locations in the township in order to supply the needs of residents as the community grows.

The Sheldon location is not likely to sit well with the township board, with Supervisor John MacDonald setting the tone. MacDonald has off made known his feeling that location of such a center within one mile of downtown Northville is not a desirable move.

Regardless of the truth or error in the planning studies, such a development would not be politically advantageous as it would certainly create animosity downtown.

The focus on the Sheldon corner is one of McLarty's concerns. Other commissioners agreed that their perceptions of the issue differ from the board's.

"(If we meet) I'm not so sure we can meet on a policy level," McLarty said. "I foresee the meeting's going to be 'Let's get right to the intersection' and that's not my view of the master plan."

"If that's what the board's going to do, then the board should do it. It doesn't need us for that."

Richard Allen, who is the appointed trustee member of the commission, urged a meeting between the bodies to settle the differences.

"I think there's a communication gap. An item shows up on the (trustees) agenda: Rezzone, yea or nay, without the rationale behind it," Allen said.

That comment brought a politely-expressed criticism from commissioner Marvin Gans, who noted, "that's why you're here Mr. Allen, so the communication gap isn't that great."

But Gans also urged a meeting with the board, while sympathizing with McLarty's anxiety about the session.

"I think we should put it right out front," Gans said. "There has to be some degree of continuity. If, in the end, the action does not back up the philosophy, then we say, 'Hey, are we or are we not, changing the philosophy by these actions?'"

On the Seven Mile office zoning issue the split is more clearly along a philosophical line than in the shopping disagreement. The board, at least to date, has not disagreed with the basic idea of supplying some convenience shopping for residents, only with the location.

But on Seven Mile, there appears to be an underlying disagreement about best use of the land.

It dates to the arguments presented nearly a year ago by a petitioner who had three parcels of land opposite the hospital. On one, at Maxwell and Seven Mile, he had built a house, which did not sell for two years.

The petitioner argued that the house did not sell because of the obvious vicinity to the hospital and its recent reputation for having patients walk off the grounds.

The commission accepted the argument to some degree, noting that the three parcels are directly opposite the driveway, perhaps the least attractive view of the facility.

It recommended office zoning for the two vacant parcels between the house and what is now Nichols Realty. But it of major recommendations) is as close to drawing the master plan and doing the zoning alone as I can envision."

Moreover, he said the studies ordered from Coates were done "on our own, and, frankly, out of frustration with the lack of support from the board. We felt it was foolhardy to have a plan if it did not apply to what is happening."

While the master plan is designed as long-range policy, township boards tend to be more vulnerable to political concerns and immediate pressures; the make up of the board is subject to waters' whims every few years and a change of personalities can be mean a change in board policy.

As a checks-and-balances system, the assigned duties tend to generate some degree of tension in most communities, and as McLarty's obvious frustration illustrates, it is reaching a high point in the township lately.

Boiled down to its basics, the confrontation centers on two decisions of the board: rejection of a zoning request for proposed convenience shopping at Six Mile and Sheldon and the granting of office zoning on a single Seven Mile parcel opposite Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital.

The Six Mile and Sheldon issue promises to be a central topic when the two bodies meet, as the new study still shows the intersection as one of the three prime locations for such a center.

Inclusion of the corner as a convenience center site on the current master plan is one of Elro Corporation's strong suits as it appeals the board's earlier rejection in the courts. A suit has been filed, but has not yet reached court.

Coates' study indicates the best spot for such a center now is at Six and Haggerty Road. At Beck and Six Mile, he concluded, there is good potential on the longer range scale while Sheldon has advantages in being more immediately supportable. Within one mile of the corner, Beck will ultimately contain more customers than does Sheldon, Coates said, but within the customary two mile market area Sheldon has an advantage.

The study also demonstrates a need for 37 additional acres of convenience shopping in the township, based on ultimate population density. A typical center would include a grocery store with other smaller businesses such as barber shops on a 10-acre landscaped parcel, according to the Coates.

Coates suggests that if Sheldon and Six Mile is not acceptable, then convenience shopping would have to be planned at other locations in the township in order to supply the needs of residents as the community grows.

The Sheldon location is not likely to sit well with the township board, with Supervisor John MacDonald setting the tone. MacDonald has off made known his feeling that location of such a center within one mile of downtown Northville is not a desirable move.

Regardless of the truth or error in the planning studies, such a development would not be politically advantageous as it would certainly create animosity downtown.

The focus on the Sheldon corner is one of McLarty's concerns. Other commissioners agreed that their perceptions of the issue differ from the board's.

"(If we meet) I'm not so sure we can meet on a policy level," McLarty said. "I foresee the meeting's going to be 'Let's get right to the intersection' and that's not my view of the master plan."

"If that's what the board's going to do, then the board should do it. It doesn't need us for that."

Richard Allen, who is the appointed trustee member of the commission, urged a meeting between the bodies to settle the differences.

"I think there's a communication gap. An item shows up on the (trustees) agenda: Rezzone, yea or nay, without the rationale behind it," Allen said.

That comment brought a politely-expressed criticism from commissioner Marvin Gans, who noted, "that's why you're here Mr. Allen, so the communication gap isn't that great."

But Gans also urged a meeting with the board, while sympathizing with McLarty's anxiety about the session.

"I think we should put it right out front," Gans said. "There has to be some degree of continuity. If, in the end, the action does not back up the philosophy, then we say, 'Hey, are we or are we not, changing the philosophy by these actions?'"

Neil Woodward opens free concerts in the park

First in the summer Concerts-in-the-Park series being presented by the Northville Arts Commission will be given from 2-3 p.m. this Sunday in the park behind city hall.

Neil Woodward, folk guitarist, will be performing in the free concert.

The arts commission invites area residents to "bring a blanket and a picnic lunch — and enjoy an afternoon of music."

The commission adds that a sunny Sunday now is all that is needed.

In case of rain, the concert will be held in the Community Building at 303 West Main.

Concerts-in-the-Park will continue every Sunday afternoon with different attractions through July and August.

Low interest loans offered by city

In a special effort to encourage additional improvements to the exteriors of downtown business properties, the city is announcing a Commercial Rehabilitation Loan Program available to businesses in the Downtown Development District.

Low-interest loans are offered in the amount of $2,000 each to qualifying businesses in the district. The program encourages businesses to combine the city loan with private funds with the interest rate on the city portion ranging from a high of seven percent to a low of zero in proportion to the amount of private funding.

"The purpose of the program," Mayor Paul Vernon explained in announcing the loan plan this week, "is to provide an incentive to businesses within the district to make improvements to the exteriors of their properties, so that the architectural renovation of existing structures and the creation of attractive commercial facades will be accelerated."

"This is a specific goal of the Mainstreet '78 Development Plan," he added.

Funds for the program are provided by the Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Program. The city council intends that the funds will create a revolving loan fund which will be re-loaned each year as the initial loans are repaid.

Businesses wishing to be considered for these loans must apply to the city by the deadline of July 30, the notice stipulates.

Application forms and information about the program are being mailed this week to businesses within the district. The forms and information also are available at city hall.

When the city council initially began planning the loan program, it noted that the amount of a private loan is reduced substantially when the $2,000 low-or-no interest loan from the city is made part of the total. Thus, it was computed, a 12 percent loan actually could be viewed in this combination as an eight percent one.

In the encouragement of the Mainstreet '78 Development Plan the city also offers Department of Public Works help "in taking down any overhanging signs if they are being replaced with flat ones in keeping with the development."

TOOTHACHE REMEDY HARMFUL

Q. My friend recommended putting an aspirin on a tooth that was hurting. Will this help?

A. This is another of those misconceptions that seem to persist through the years. An aspirin placed between the cheek and a painful tooth will do nothing for the ache. In fact, it can be a very dangerous home remedy. Because aspirin is an acid, when it dissolves slowly in your mouth it may cause a painful ulcer on the sensitive gum tissues. Sometimes it can take up to a week for the sore to heal. If you have a toothache see your dentist, and do your friend a favor by telling him to do the same.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of Planning dispute gathering steam

also held that the parcel with the house should remain residential as a transition between the office zoning and other residences.

Commissioners argued that lack of a house sale could have been governed by the depressed market and high interest rates. They also disagreed with the contention that the hospital makes the north side of Seven Mile unsuitable for residential use.

The walkaway problem, they argued then and Coates restates in his recent study, could well be a temporary aberration that would be addressed by better staffing and barriers of some sort.

The board granted office zoning on all three parcels, and this week considers a request by the landowner immediately to the east, who also wants office zoning on three parcels. The commission recommended against the request, but Wayne County planners are for it, basing the argument on local planners' worst fears when the board overruled them earlier — that there is no transition between the office and residential zones as currently configured.

Board comments to date, while not extensive, tend to support petitioners' arguments the land is unfit for residential use. And the board also contends the region is overloaded with commercial concerns and multiple-family housing. What is left is office zoning.

But Coates' study contends there is

'Why even have a planning commission?'

—Kenneth McLarty
Commission chairman

not now, nor is there ever likely to be, sufficient demand for the type of small office structures that would fit on the Seven Mile frontage. And if the process continues as it has in the past year, planners are concerned they could be forced into office zoning the entire strip from the hospital drive to Haggerty Road. Even rejection at some point might not be defensible in court, producing the feared result despite the best efforts to stop it.

Commission vice-chairman William Bohan gathered the argument together for commissioners, urging a meeting with the board to air both sides while carefully guarding the commission's own responsibilities.

"I think it is foolish to go ahead and change the plan alone," Bohan said, noting it would only continue the problem. "The joint meeting should be treated something like a public hearing. It should be treated as an opportunity to receive other input. We still have the planning authority. We should go talk to them and listen to them, with the idea that we are the ones who ultimately have to make the decisions (on the master plan)."

Building named for Grote

By TIM RICHARD

That Schoolcraft College building with the bell tower now is the "C. Nelson Grote Administration Building."

There was a fight. Faculty union members and Dean Emeritus Jon Adams objected to naming the Applied Sciences Building for Grote, and three trustees objected to the "haste" to name a building for the former president barely a year after he left to become president of a Spokane, Washington, community college system.

The vote was 40 with three abstentions. Voting "yes" were Chairperson Harry Greenleaf, Vice Chairperson Nancie Blatt, Treasurer Len Wozniak, and trustee Paul Y. Kadish. Holdouts were trustees Michael Burley, Rosina Raymond and Laura Toy.

Del Sipes, president of the Faculty Forum, bluntly said naming the Applied Sciences Building for Grote would "jeopardize this uplifting attitude and new willingness to cooperate since Grote departed."

"In the interest of minimizing the divisiveness that must occur, I suggest that the Administration (building) be considered rather than the Applied Science Building," Sipes said.

He recalled the Faculty Forum had made its own evaluation of Grote in November, 1980, the only time the group has ever evaluated one of Schoolcraft's three presidents declining to reveal its contents but hinting there were "high stress conditions" on campus.

Sipes said there would be "nothing but a negative reaction from many faculty" to naming that building for Grote and "many" opposed naming any building for him.

Taking vigorous exception was former trustee Gerald Cox, who didn't share the "faculty perception" of Grote's administration. "Tragedy, despair and damn hard work" were parts of that 10-year era, said Cox, adding "C. Nelson Grote deserves to have a building named for him."

Adams gave two reasons for not naming the Applied Sciences Building for Grote.

"One, many of those programs and that building were developed before Dr. Grote was here — he's receiving a lot of credit he doesn't deserve."

"Second, Delta College (near Bay City) received a General Motors contract to serve as a training ground for GM dealers programs, and here we are in the automotive capital."

"A person who was here 10 years deserves to have a building named for him. But consider before you name the the Applied Sciences Building," said Adams, who was dean of applied sciences until he retired in 1973.

Kadish, a board member and chairperson during most of the Grote years, offered the compromise to rename the Administration Building rather than the Applied Sciences Building because "he helped applied science, liberal arts and the college in general."

Blatt called the faculty criticism "unprofessional," adding: "In supporting the change (amendment), I don't want it to appear I am concurring in the criticism."

"What's the rush? What is the hurry?" asked Raymond, a board member nearly all of the Grote years.

Burley offered an amendment to name a building for Grote "on completion of his career in education. Dr. Grote eventually will have a building named for him."

But Kadish called Burley's amendment "tip-toeing through the tulips," and it was rejected 4-3.

Grote, second president of Schoolcraft, served from 1971-81. An administration memo said that during his administration:

"Career curricula and enrollments increased considerably; the Continuing Education/Community Services Division was established; the senior adult program was initiated; the Women's Resource Center was established; the Garden City Instructional Center was created; programming was initiated and expanded at prison facilities; pilot project in articulation, one of the first five in the state, began in 1977 and had developed considerably.

"An office of Veterans Affairs was established; additions to the Applied Sciences and Liberal Arts buildings were completed; the Culinary Arts addition to the Waterman Center was designed, funded and placed under construction; lobbying efforts on behalf of Schoolcraft College and the community college system gained respect of state and national legislators."

Grote was recognized off-campus as founder of the Southeast Michigan League of Community Colleges, an evaluation team member for the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and a gubernatorial appointee to the Local Government Claims Review Board.

Grote is the third person to have a Schoolcraft building named for him. The library is named for first president Eric J. Bradner, and the campus center is named for the first dean of students, Lois Waterman.

Planners request township lot split

Township planners will recommend the board of trustees approve a lot split request on a parcel north of Docksey subdivision.

Considering the request for the fourth consecutive month, the commission granted preliminary approval June 29 to a lot split request filed by Al Pearson for a five-acre parcel on Ridge south of Seven Mile.

The request earlier drew several residents of the subdivision to protest further development on the parcel because of a storm drainage problem in the region.

The commission has required that Pearson draw an overall storm drainage plan to govern the entire parcel with easement agreements binding on any purchasers of the four individual one-acre lots that would be created.

A road easement of total area near one acre is also a part of the plan.

Township engineer Edward McNeely, absent to attend a sewer planning meeting, advised the commission by letter that the proposed storm drainage plan for the parcel is adequate to protect the properties to the south.

In related news, the planners' request to have Wayne County Road Commission staff meet with the township engineer and building inspector to examine drainage in Docksey subdivision has been answered.

A meeting between a road commission representative, McNeely and inspector Troy Milligan was set for this morning (Wednesday, July 7). A major problem rediscovered during the course of the engineer's evaluation of drainage in the region is that a primary storm water route is blocked.

A drainage swale leading south along the west side of Docksey Avenue has been filled with earth. When McNeely reported the problem to the commission, residents of the area said the ditch had been filled more than 10 years ago and repeated efforts to have the road commission clean it out have failed.

As a consequence, McNeely reported, even a moderate storm causes flooding in the area near the intersection of Docksey Avenue and Ridge Court.

'Grandfather clause' amendment readied for action

After more than a month of discussion in several meetings, a grandfather clause amendment to the new township zoning ordinance is on its way to the board of trustees for final approval.

The township planning commission made some alterations to the proposed amendment following a public hearing June 29 and gave its endorsement to the measure.

Essentially, the amendment would allow developers to employ some standards from the old zoning ordinance if planning or building of a subdivision had begun prior to the effective date of the new law, June 18.

Employing recommendations from township attorney Donald Morgan and planning consultant Claude Coates, the commission adjusted an earlier draft of the document to apply the grandfather clause to one more development and clarify language.

The amendment specifically allows developers to use the setback provisions of the expired ordinance in subdivisions where utilities (water, sewer or storm drain) already are in place or where tentative approval has been granted a final plat plan for the subdivision.

The plan must have been in an approved state on June 18, or had utilities installed by that date, to receive the benefits of the grandfather clause.

Setbacks determine yard sizes by requiring that the house be built a certain distance from the lot lines at the front, side and rear. The requirements are larger in the new ordinance (number 77) than in the old one (number 25).

Builders and developers of several subdivisions in the township had protested that use of the new setback requirements on the smaller lots allowed by Ordinance 25 would prove a hardship. The models currently displayed could no longer be built legally on the lots. Lot size is grandfathered by state law.

By adjusting the amendment language to apply the clause to plat plans with "tentative approval" rather than the earlier wording of "final approval" the planning commission in effect applied the grandfather clause to the proposed Ravines of Northville subdivision.

This Elro Corporation development planned for the southwest corner of Six Mile and Sheldon received tentative approval from the board of trustees, but was never given final approval — the last step before the builders can draw permits to construct homes.

Two other developments in the township, however, will have to employ the larger setbacks even though the lot sizes could be grandfathered under the old requirements. Plans for Northville Landings and Maple Hills subdivisions have been approved, but approval expires in two years if the builder does not seek an extension. In both cases, expiration dates passed without extensions well before June 18 and no progress toward construction has been noted.

Application of the grandfather clause to situations where utilities have been installed will allow the developer to use the old setbacks on the lots in Northville Colonys III and IV, even though the approval for Colony IV has expired.

Builder Fred Greenspan explained to the commission earlier in the month that plans for Colony III and IV were submitted simultaneously and that storm drains, water and sewer lines for about 20 percent of Colony IV were installed when Colony III was started. He allowed the Colony IV approval to expire, he said, to save the cost of filing fees when the building slump stopped progress in the developments.

Placement of the utilities "locks me in" to a road layout, Greenspan said, meaning lot sizes could not be adjusted easily to accommodate the extra setbacks.

There was little discussion of the item, except for vice chairman William Bohan's comment that the amendment was drafted in "legalese" and could be more clearly stated.

He and other commissioners redrafted the amendment to read as follows:

"For Preliminary Plats (Stage 2) where construction of public utilities commenced prior to the effective date of Ordinance No. 77, or for Final Plats and Preliminary Plats where tentative approval was granted prior to the effective date of Ordinance No. 77 and in such an approved status as of said date, the following minimum setbacks shall apply to front and side yards for the period otherwise applicable to such approvals under Ordinance 25."

The amendment then reproduces a setback table from Ordinance 25.

The proposed language has been sent to the Wayne County Planning Commission, which may take action on it tonight. If it does so, the township board could act on the proposal at its Thursday night meeting. If the county does not act immediately, the township board could not deal with the proposal until its August session.

The approximately 25 automobiles in the parade were judged in two categories:

Among antique cars, John Becker's 1962 Corvette took first; Scott Dayton's 1955 MG, second; and Marv Raguse's 1933 Plymouth, third.

Among custom cars, Tom Genova's 1975 Bricklin was first; Dave England's 1923 roadster, second; and Nathan Briggs' 1923 roadster, third.

Maybury Park Rangers captured first in the equestrian division with William Lute and his horse and buggy, second, and Skene Crest Farms, third.

Co-Grand Marshals of the parade Mayor Paul Vernon, City Manager Steven Walters and William C. Sliger were escorted by fire engines at the front of the parade. They were being honored for their work in heading up the Mainstreet '78 project and dedication.

Also a parade celebrity was Melissa McDaniel, Northville Junior Miss.

Parade watchers observed that "there was no doubt this is an election year" as many politicians marched and rode in the parade.

Lieutenant Governor James Brickley, a Republican candidate for governor, was on hand. Gubernatorial candidate Richard Headlee (R) sent a representative. Senators Kerry Kammer and Edward C. Pierce, both seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, also were in the parade.

State Senator R. Robert Geake and Representative Jack Kirksey were participants, as were Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson and Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas.

Candidates William Ballenger and Philip Ruppe were among others here, but, Barnum noted that U.S. Senator Donald Riegle and Senate candidate William Huber, who had made reservations, did not show.

Rites received

Northville Masons Donald J. Warren, left, of 41289 Lehigh and Robert F. Hedke of 19768 Scenic Harbor were among the 285 Masons from 11 southeastern Michigan counties receiving Scottish Rite's 32nd Degree at the concluding session of the semi-annual reunion of the Detroit Scottish Rite Bodies at the Detroit Masonic Temple. The 292nd Reunion Class was named the George Washington Class in commemoration of the 250th birthday anniversary of the country's first president and one of its most revered Masons.

They're fellowship guests

Wendy Warner of 19850 Smock in Northville is at the Sewanee Summer Music Center at University of the South in Sewanee, Tennessee, studying flute.

The young musician is a junior at Northville High School.

The music center is an intensive six-week program of instruction and performance for young instrumentalists on the university campus. There are 173 students from the U.S. and foreign countries and a faculty of 34.

All students study and practice individually, participate in orchestra and chamber music, study either theory or composition and attend rehearsals.

This year the Sewanee Symphony and the Cumberland Orchestra have been invited to play at the World's Fair in Knoxville.

John B. Lowe, II, an evangelical minister from Tulsa, Oklahoma, will be the guest speaker at the July 16 dinner meeting of the Northville-Plymouth-Livonia Chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship.

Lowe was raised in West Virginia coal mining country and was graduated from Salem College in Salem, West Virginia. At college, where he was an All-American football linebacker and team captain, he was given an opportunity to try out for professional football in Atlanta, Georgia.

However, he explains, guided by the inspirational call of the ministry, he turned down the pro-football offer to go to Tulsa, Oklahoma, to attend Bible college. After completing two years of study, he established his own evangelical ministry.

He will be accompanied by his wife Debbie, a former night club entertainer, who will provide vocal music for the evening program.

The meeting at 8 p.m. follows dinner which will be served at the Sweden House Restaurant in the Farmington Plaza.

The dinner is $6 per person, which includes tax and gratuity, and both dinner and program are open to the public.

Reservations are required for the dinner and may be made by calling Daniel Beutler at 349-0006 or Earl Flynn at 348-3352 or send checks, payable to "FGBMF," P.O. Box 5332, Northville, 48167 by July 14.

Collections featured at Plymouth museum

The summer theme at the Plymouth Historical Museum is collections — for young and old, male and female.

Collections include cameras, plates, dolls, bells, jewelry, old license plates, buttons, model cars and china cats.

Taking a stroll through the museum, one may see an antique slide projector, which, although now electrified, originally burned kerosene. There is a cumbersome "detective" camera which took between 60 and 100 pictures on a single roll of film. The film holder had to be sent to the manufacturer for unloading and reloading.

Among the old license plates are some made of ceramic materials. In the jewelry collection is a small silver locket with a place to store car fare — a nickel. There also is a silver cigar butt clipper.

If Teddy Bears are your thing, there is a cabinet full of Teddys of all sizes. The doll collection contains several old china cartoon character dolls. Also, a 1900 "stick" doll and a joint wooden doll.

In the dressmaker's shop, there are examples of jet beads — shiny black beads made from a coallike mineral, called jet. These beads originally were made by child labor in sweat shops, later being made at home. During the Victorian period they were used to adorn mourning garb.

There is a cabinet filled with old lace, lacemaking bobbins and antique sewing and needlework accessories.

Other collections feature shaving mugs — including a lady's shaving mug. There are small bells made of many different materials, china cats and "present" cups, which were given as gifts on the occasion of birthdays, anniversaries, etc.

Anyone having a collection — and is willing to display it at the Plymouth Historical Museum during the coming summer months — may make arrangements with Pam Anderson or Barbara Saunders at the museum, 455-8940.

Visiting hours are 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. Special group tours can be arranged. Admission is $1 for adults and 25 and 50 cents for students.

Police Blotter

Jeep rolls, youths escape unharmed

In the township...

Five Westland youths escaped injury June 29 when the 16-year-old driver lost control of the Jeep in which they were riding on Six Mile Road.

According to police reports of the incident, the vehicle was traveling eastbound on Six Mile about one-quarter of a mile west of Sheldon Road at 3:50 p.m. Tuesday when the driver lost control in the soft gravel at the shoulder. The car skidded sideways, then rolled once when the rear wheels contacted soft earth outside the shoulder.

The driver told police another car was approaching westbound in the center of the road. Both cars swerved to avoid a collision, the youth said, and he went onto the shoulder. The other car, described as a red and white Pontiac Grand Prix, did not stop.

Only a 17-year-old girl in the right front seat complained of pain after the accident. None of the youths, including backseat passengers age 15, 16 and 11, had any visible injury. All were Westland residents.

No citation was issued as a result of the accident. The Jeep had to be towed away.

It took only one-half hour for thieves to abscond with $489 worth of bicycles from in front of a Ladywood Court residence June 29.

The owner told police a new rust-colored $399 boys' Schwinn LeTour 28-inch bicycle was parked in front of the garage and a blue $189 girls' Schwinn DeLuxe Varsity 26-inch bike was on the sidewalk at 12:15 p.m. By 12:45, both bicycles were gone.

No one saw the theft, but there were reports of two vehicles "cruising" the neighborhood, one of them a small pick-up truck.

A little backyard camping on Old Bridge Court ended with the theft of a $190 tent and sleeping bags valued at $165, according to township police reports.

The owner told police his 15-year-old daughter and a girl friend age 14 were sleeping in the tent in the backyard when an unknown white male approached and began harassing them. The girls were brought inside around 2:30 a.m. to avoid the harasser.

By 4 a.m., the tent and sleeping bags were noted missing from the backyard. The owner told police he suspected a resident of a nearby apartment, but did not care to press charges, only to recover the stolen goods.

Items valued at nearly $283 were stolen and $40 worth of windows shattered in a break-in at a Beck Road business office the night of June 25.

The owner told township police the office was locked at 5:30 p.m. June 25 and, when the owner entered the office at 9:30 a.m. June 26, the items were missing and the windows broken.

Stolen were a $30 coffee maker, eight bottles of liquor valued at $64, a $150 microphone, a $40 AM/FM portable radio and two bottles of wine.

Also, police discovered two bottles of liquor three-quarters empty sitting in front of a cabinet in the office.

Police believe a pellet gun may have been used to inflict $200 damage to the windshield of a car parked at a Seven Mile produce store June 27 and 28.

The owner told police he found the damage to the truck window after leaving it parked beside the building from 6 p.m. June 25 to 7:30 a.m. June 26.

A car parked at roadside on Sundydale suffered $196 damage June 27 or 28, police reports show.

The owner told police the car was parked at 9 p.m. Tuesday, and at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday he found the driver's door dented and the window in that door broken.

A bicycle parked by the cart barn at Meadowbrook Country Club was stolen June 28, township police reports indicate.

A 13-year-old township youth rode his bicycle to the Griswold gravel pit June 30 but had to return on foot.

The youth's mother told police the boy took his BMX-type bicycle to the pit around 4 p.m. and, after he entered through the fence, leaving his bicycle outside, it was stolen.

The boy told police he saw another youth riding away across the point but was inside the pit area and unable to pursue him. The bicycle's value was placed at $145.

Outside of bicycle thefts, one sure sign of summer for police is reports of stolen electric bug killer devices.

The first two of the season cropped up in the township last week, as a Winchester resident reported a $125 bug killer stolen from his backyard and a White Haven resident reported a similar theft of a $100 item.

...In the city

Unknown suspects took a construction scaffolding, valued at $300, from the Mountain Top Tree Company on Baseline between June 24-26, city police report.

Police believe suspects came over the east or south fence by the building, although nothing could be found to show how entry to the property was gained, the report said.

Unknown suspects stole an AMF Cherokee 10-speed bicycle from a Butler residence between June 26-29, police report. The cost of the bike was not determined.

The unlocked bike was parked near a shed in the back yard of the residence when stolen by the suspects, the report said.

Parson to Person...
What Do You Do With Victories?
 Dr. James H. Luther

The Lord has given our church some wonderful blessings and victories. What should a person do with victories?

(1) We should give thanks for them. The Psalmist wrote: "The Lord hath done great things for us, whereof we are glad" (Psalms 126:3). We should never take credit for what God has accomplished. Dr. Kenneth Wuest used to say: "Send all the bouquets upstairs!"

(2) We should remember them. One of the best ways to be encouraged and refreshed is to face a problem by remembering past victories. This focuses our attention on the power of God rather than the problem of man. Those who are problem conscious are usually miserable. Those who are power conscious are positive and victorious. God's word commands us to focus on His blessings: "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things" (Phil. 4:8).

(3) We should never rest on them. The constant view of scripture is ahead not behind. We should eagerly seek to win new victories for the Lord Jesus Christ.

Let your victories build you into a praising, positive, powerful Christian. It's the only way to honor the Lord.

Testing canine temperament

Dog owners from as far away as Windsor brought their pets to Northville Downs during a two-day dog temperament test sponsored by the Bourvier des Flandres Dog Club June 19-20. The first such event ever held here tested 10 behavior responses through simulated situations. Elaine Paquette, above, takes Quiche-Fabulous Beau through a Self-Protectiveness / Aggressive Reaction Test while Alfons Eltert of California, chief temperament tester, goes over test results with Candace Powaga of Jackson and her dog, Skii, a Welsh corgi, at left. After dogs take such tests, the American Temperament Test Society explains, they may have their temperament baseline evaluation added to their papers.

Failure to comply with the requirements set forth in Ordinance No. 75-72 as amended, may also result in the prosecution for same, and liability to the extent of the penalty therein provided.

Our Opinion

Fight continues for equal rights

Last Wednesday evening, Michigan proponents of the equal rights amendment gathered on the steps of the state Capitol to pay homage to the many who have struggled for equality among people. The sight of hundreds of E.R.A. supporters united together on the eve of the amendment's demise, proved that the issue of equal rights is not dead.

Though last Wednesday marked the defeat of the proposed equal rights amendment, there were few tears shed among those assembled in Lansing. The many attending the June 30 vigil came not to mourn, but to show their unity in renewing the fight to gain equal rights. As one supporter acknowledged, E.R.A. supporters may have lost the battle but they haven't lost the war.

The defeat of the equal rights amendment is a bitter disappointment to all men and women who have struggled for its passage. The amendment, which simply read, "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any state on account of sex," would have put women under the full protection of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. For the first time in history, women would have been guaranteed equal opportunity in employment, education and other areas. It also would have provided equality for both men and women in pensions, social security and divorce laws.

The defeat of the amendment ended a more than 10 year struggle to incorporate those 23 words into the nation's Constitution. Though the original amendment was drafted in 1923 by suffrage leader Alice Paul, it took almost 50 years before Congress passed the amendment in 1972. The momentous passage of E.R.A. by Congress spurred equal rights advocates to gain approval of 35 of the 38 states needed to ratify a Constitutional amendment. However, after victory in 35 states, E.R.A. had become deadlocked in the 15 unratified states. The amendment was three states shy of passage on the brink of its ill-fated June 30 deadline.

What caused the defeat of the E.R.A. is a question with which advocates and opponents alike have been left to grapple. Though some credit Phyllis Schlafly and her STOP E.R.A. cohorts as the driving force behind the amendment's defeat, others point to more powerful right-wing political groups as the cause of the amendment's failure. Some even blame the lack of cohesiveness among E.R.A. supporters.

However, what appears clear is that whatever or whomever brought about the end of the E.R.A. most likely will be left to fight a much more powerful, unified and wealthier faction of equal rights supporters the next time around. It should be pointed out that membership in the National Organization for Women has doubled over the past two years — giving that group the strongest financial backing in its history. With more and more women working outside the home, the issue of equal pay for equal work will most likely come to the forefront as female workers demand their fair share.

Though time ran out on the E.R.A., supporters contend that the issue of equal rights will not go away. With the amendment defeated, equal rights opponents are moving into the next phase. Rather than mourning their defeat, supporters have come back fighting with a pledge to work harder in the years ahead. And if last Wednesday's vigil was any indication, it appears that the fight for equality under the law has only begun — and with considerably more fervor than has been seen in recent years.

E.R.A. leaders plan to reintroduce the equal rights amendment in Congress July 14. Whether the amendment is redrafted or presented in its present language, the message it carries still remains the same — that women be given the constitutional guarantee of equality under the law.

With the renewed commitment for equal rights underway, we hope that local E.R.A. advocates continue their efforts to bring about equality for all people and hope others will join in the struggle to rid women of their second class citizenship.

We believe the words of Abigail Adams, written more than 200 years ago, should be taken to heart. In writing to her husband John, who was drafting the Constitution, she pleaded that he "remember the ladies" and warned that "if particular care and attention is not paid to the ladies, we are determined to form a rebellion, and will not hold ourselves bound by any law in which we have had no voice or representation.... Regard us as beings."

Off the record

By KATHY LAVEY

Impressions of a summer intern

Over the past five weeks, I've been absorbing a big dose of reality.

Up until May 17, I divided my time between classes at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor and reporting part-time for the newspaper in my hometown of Pinckney (I don't blame you if you've never heard of it).

Northville, to me, was the hazy memory of an evening spent at the racetrack a couple of years ago. Novi meant Twelve Oaks Mall. Walled Lake was an expressway exit on the way to Twelve Oaks, and Wixom was "the Ford plant on 96."

Then I got this internship. When I gleefully began telling people in Pinckney that I had landed a summer job at the last minute that was related to my field of study, they would congratulate me (I appreciated it), ask me how much I was going to earn (enough to pay my bills, I hope) and finally ask, "where?"

"Well," I would say, "The Northville Record and the Novi-Walled Lake News share offices in Northville. That's where I'll be working most of the time."

Smiles would be replaced by blank faces or frowns. "That's such a long way to drive." "Is your office near Northville Downs?" "Where's Twelve Oaks from there?" "That's not far from Detroit...is it?" "What's in Walled Lake (besides a lake), Novi (besides the mall), Wixom (besides the Ford plant)?"

Call it regionalism or whatever you like, but I really didn't know. As an active member of my own small community, I had no reason to visit or be concerned with anyone else's. "Well," I would tell them, trying to rationalize as I wondered inwardly what I had gotten myself into, "any job is better than no job, and a journalism job is better than any job. I guess I'll just go see what it's like."

Here's what I found out: if I crane my neck, I can see the Downs from the office window. It is a long way to drive, 36 miles each way. The office is just a couple of miles from Twelve Oaks. And, when you compare it to the drive from Pinckney to Detroit...Northville, Novi, Wixom and Walled Lake aren't far from the city.

So what's in Northville (besides the Downs)? What's in Walled Lake (besides a lake)? What's in Novi (besides the mall)? What's in Wixom (besides the Ford plant)?

Enter reality. Besides the obvious landmarks and the businesses, homes and city offices that have a place everywhere, there are people, doing the best they can with what they have, not much different from their counterparts 36 miles away in Pinckney or, I suspect, anywhere.

In the past five weeks, I've talked to a diverse group of these people that includes high school scholars, numerous local officials, a class at Northville's Cooke Junior High that was planting a time capsule for the teenagers 100 years in the future, a female basketball referee, five brothers and sisters who run a restaurant and my share of politicians.

I like to think that reading about themselves in the newspaper has something to do with the positive way people feel about their communities, and I like knowing that I'm part of it. So far, it's been a lot of fun for me discovering reality through the people I meet and the things that go on around here, and I think I'm going to enjoy spending the rest of the summer writing about it.

Spreading the word

Northville resident Glenna Davis was among the several area women demonstrating support for the equal rights amendment at a candlelight vigil last Wednesday night at the state Capitol. Davis, a member of the Northwest-Wayne Chapter of the National Organization for Women, spent part of the evening passing out buttons commemorating the vigil. Last Wednesday marked the deadline for ratification of the equal rights amendment which fell three states short of passage. The hundreds of supporters gathered at the Capitol listened to several representatives of groups such as the National Organization for Women, the Older Women's League and ERAmerica, who pledged to continue the fight for equal rights.

Editorial opinions of The Record are developed and written by Editor Jean Day and staff members Kevin Wilson, Michele McElmurry and John Myers.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

And so it was that I found myself confronted with one of those "passages" recently. In a men's clothing store of all places.

She (the lady who tries to make me look presentable) decided I've looked pretty shabby of late and it was time to replenish my extensive wardrobe.

"Your slacks shine like a neon sign," was the phrase I think she used to express her dissatisfaction with my sartorial appearance.

The "passage" came as she was sorting through the shirts, slacks and sports coats, trying to come up with an outfit that would make me look more or less presentable.

All the while she was mixing and matching, I was looking through the suits on the "for sale" rack. In particular, a blue pinstripe had captured my attention.

"What about this one?" I finally blurted out, holding the blue pinstripe up for her surveillance.

"But that's a suit, a blue pinstripe suit," she said in amazement. "You don't wear suits. I can't get you to wear anything classier than slacks and a sports coat."

"Passages" are wrought with emotional strife. I adjusted to wearing a tie to work fairly easily, but it took me a good five years before I started wearing a sports coat. And now, here I was in the middle of a men's clothing store, talking about a blue pinstripe — the kind of clothing that bankers and lawyers wear. The kind that Doug Ross wears.

"Well, I've been thinking I'd like to start wearing suits to work," I said, barely believing the words coming from my mouth. "And, frankly, I've been thinking it would be nice to have a blue pinstripe."

My moment of truth passed quickly, thanks to the fact that my waistline is closer to 36 than the 32 it ought to be. Still, the memory of that blue pinstripe lingers on — all I have to do is lose 10 pounds.

And so, the next time you see a vaguely familiar figure looking strangely out of place in a blue pinstripe, take another look — it might be someone you know.

Protest city tax increase, school millage

To the Editor:
The following is a copy of a letter sent to the Northville City Council.

I am writing to you to inform you of the action taken by the City of Northville, in taxing my homestead, because you are ultimately responsible for the actions of the City of Northville. I am mistaken as to your authority, please forward this letter to whomever you think is in charge!

In 1981, the city extracted $484.54 from me and my family by taxing our homestead at the above address (939 North Center).

In 1982, the city is trying to get $84.84, an increase of 20.9 percent, by taxing the same homestead. Don't you understand that I am sickened by the magnitude of the increase when I seriously consider the economic conditions which prevail?

I can only view this kind of increase as an insane action by government which is out of control. Given the economic conditions, how can you justify the actions of the city in this matter? When I petitioned the Board of Review (petition number 9) on March 24, 1982, that my homestead was assessed at more than 50 percent of its market value, in violation of Michigan law, the Board of Review did not even respond to my petition.

When I voted for taxation limitation legislation which was approved by the voters of Michigan, I felt that financial responsibility of local government would result. I was certainly wrong!

I have lived at the same location since 1969 and have seen the city tax on my homestead increase from $135.66 in 1969 to $84.84 in 1982, an increase of 331 percent. I think that is just plain sick!

Sincerely,
Bruce W. Butske

To the Editor:
While attending the truth-in-higher taxation hearing, held by the Northville Board of Education, it became obvious the board had no intention to roll back the millage by 2.5 mills.

Instead, Superintendent Nichols, advised the board to grab it while the opportunity exists, by presenting a plethora of statistics indicating the need for additional revenue to balance the budget. Cuts in waste and patronage were never discussed.

Not surprisingly, in juxtaposition to that approach, the board immediately adopted a budget (for the 1982-83 school year) which virtually locks it into levying the full millage, prior to September 1. Incredibly, the budget provides for an 11 percent increase, which just happens to be generated if the additional millage is passed.

Board members remarked that "they might change their minds later" (about levying the additional mills.) You can laugh all the way to the golden fleece award about that statement.

On top of the charade presented during the hearing, came a report (issued by the superintendent) indicating a dramatic decline in teaching positions, while in 1982-83 the projected number is 173.7. Consequently, we have lost 25.6 teaching positions.

Clearly, the inescapable conclusion is that deep cuts have been made in the instructional programs, while administrative positions and administrative services have continued to gully up huge portions of the budget. PAC-MAN, millages and property taxes all share a common denominator, in the Northville School District.

Seeks clothing to aid resident

To the Editor:

Dear Readers, for years I have been collecting clothes for Northville Psychiatric Hospital. Because of illness, I can no longer do this, but they will accept donations at the switchboard in the lobby.

I have been requested to get some clothing for a mentally ill woman who is trying to get a job but has no decent clothes to go applying for a job. If you can help this lady, it would be a good investment in another human being.

Her sizes are as follows: skirt and dress size 13-14; jeans or slacks, size 16; blouse, size 12; shoes, size 7 or 7½; raincoat, size 14.

Can you please help me help this young woman? You may leave donations on our front porch at 685 Grace.

Many, many thanks for this woman who is trying desperately to rebuild her life.

Sincerely,
Shirley Matthews

BPW promises E.R.A. future

To the Editor:
The Northville Business and Professional Women's Club, along with its national parent organization, has supported the Equal Rights Amendment since 1977. As working women, we have fought to obtain equality in the workplace, political arena and at home.

The ERA has been defeated, but the spirit of those who worked for it has not. We urge all concerned men and women to keep pushing for laws which end sex discrimination and to stand firmly against any attempt to weaken what valuable gains women have made in recent years.

At the same time, political realities which caused the amendment to be defeated must be changed:

Legislators sensitive to women's rights must be elected at the local, state and national level;

Businesses and corporations must be persuaded to put their weight behind legislation to improve the position of working women;

Traditionally non-political clubs and organizations must recognize their responsibility to speak out and support legislation on equality for women.

The demise of the ERA does not mean the end of the struggle. It means only that those who support the goals of equality now must be more diligent and vocal in their support than ever before.

Sincerely,
Lisa Norder,
President,
Northville Business and Professional Women's Club

Welcome

Mayor and Mrs. Paul Vernon, left, greet Patricia Watt of Birmingham, president of the Beautification Council of Southeastern Michigan, at the group's quarterly meeting held for the first time in Northville June 17. Also on hand is council member G. Dewey

Township board's agenda full Thursday

There's a full agenda facing the township board of trustees when it meets in regular monthly session this Thursday, including several items tabled in recent months coming due for a vote this week.

The meeting begins after a public hearing regarding tax rates (see Newsbriefs).

Agenda items include review of initial attorney and engineering reviews regarding the Park Gardens special assessment district. This represents the second step in processing toward installation of sewers in the subdivision, which is plagued with septic failures.

Also up for board attention is a constables' ordinance that has twice been tabled for further attorney review. The law would spell out duties of the constable that exceed those mandated by state law, and deal with training and the carrying of weapons by the elected officers.

Renewal of the recreation department's lease at Thomson Field is also on the agenda. The lease appears to have expired in 1980, but the parties involved (the Thomson family, the city, township and recreation department) only recently discovered the oversight.

Review of a 35th District Court audit and resultant demands for added monetary support to the court is scheduled.

The board will also consider two zoning issues tabled in June. One would change the zoning of a relatively small single family parcel on Eight Mile to allow multiple family housing. The other would change three residential parcels on Seven Mile opposite the state hospital to allow office structures to be built there.

Department reports are expected to include business manager David Leiko's review of ongoing computer installation in township hall. The meeting starts at 8 p.m. or as soon after the public hearing as possible and will be in the meeting room of township hall, 41600 Six Mile Road.

When Should You
Have A Wide-angle Lens?

If you've ever missed a shot because you couldn't back up far enough, you'll want to consider a wide-angle lens. With this handy piece of equipment, you won't have to stand in the fireplace to include everyone in that family portrait.

Wide-angle lenses are usually 35mm or less on a 35mm camera, and include a minimum 64° angle of view and a minimum focusing distance of about one foot. This greater depth of field will keep background and subject sharp when doing close-ups. Keep in mind that as you increase the angle of view, you increase the distortion—until you reach the ultimate wide-angle 'fisheye' lens. With moderate wide-angle lenses, you can avoid distortion by keeping the subject away from the edges.

The proper angle will achieve dramatic results—such as emphasizing a craftsman's hands. Widen your horizon. Let us show you the dramatic view through a wide-angle lens at f-stop, 43220 Grand River, Novi, 348-9355.

Ken Peltó, Julie Peltó, Janene (Peltó) Simmons and Greg Peltó make Mister Natural's a real 'family' restaurant

By KATHY LAVEY

When the Peltós opened Mister Natural's "sandwich and pizza cafe" in 1979, it seemed only natural for them to make as much of their menu as possible themselves, out of what they call "real" food, that with natural ingredients.

It also seemed natural to brothers Kevin and Greg Peltó to staff the restaurant with a crew of siblings — helping them out are their sisters Janene and Julie and brother David. Another brother, Brian, is in the restaurant business in Florida.

An awareness of diet's relationship to health and an apparent lack of restaurants that prepare natural foods is at least partly responsible for prompting the Peltós to open Mister Natural's.

"We like to eat," said Greg. "We've grown conscious of what we're eating ... your diet really controls your health."

Kevin is quick to explain that Mister Natural's is not a "health food" restaurant. "We are more concerned with real food ... we try to have everything as fresh and unprocessed as possible." That, he says, is strongly related to health.

As part of their "real food" philosophy, the Peltós offer a largely homemade menu that includes some unusual items. In addition to a list of common foods like soups, chili, submarine sandwiches, and barbecued chicken, Mister Natural's offers a number of vegetarian dishes and pizza with whole wheat crust.

The Peltós admit it was hard introducing new types of food to the area, but they now have a regular vegetarian clientele and have "won over" many former "meat and potatoes" people with items like the "avocado sub," which features avocado, onion, alfalfa sprouts, mayonnaise, tomatoes and New York sharp cheese; "chapati," which is black and green olives, alfalfa sprouts, tomato, onion, lettuce, sour cream and mozzarella cheese in pita bread; and pizza toppings that include such items as cauliflower, broccoli, zucchini, pineapple and cucumbers.

Though they also offer more standard pizza toppings like pepperoni, mushrooms and green peppers, the only choice of crust is whole wheat because, the Peltós say, it's better for you — and it tastes good.

"We just liked whole wheat better," said Greg. "When we first opened, we'd tell people and they'd say 'ugh, we don't like that.' We'd say, 'well, have you ever tried it?' Most of them tried it and found out they did like it."

In addition, the Peltós say, as much as they can make themselves is home made, including the dressings, sauces and dips. The Mister Natural house dressing is a family recipe they "borrowed" from their mother.

Greg explains that the family is always experimenting in the kitchen, adding successes to the menu. If a customer wants something that's not listed, the Peltós will make it if they can — and if it's good, it will be added to the menu.

Results of such experiments include the "Mexican Fiesta Dinner," comprised of chips, bean dip, hot sauce, hot peppers, lettuce, tomato, cheddar cheese and sour cream. Another house recipe, and a specialty of Kevin's, is Mister Natural's quiche.

Instead of offering soda pop, Mister Natural's beverage list includes a more healthy selection of drinks like cider, lemonade, milk, tea and apple juice.

Customers at Mister Natural's can eat in or carry out, and the Peltós also do catering.

"People think we just do six-foot subs and pizza," said Kevin, "but Greg and I have been cooks in some of the nicer restaurants in the Detroit area ... we can do it all from hors d'oeuvres to flaming beef. We can do anything in this business."

Mister Natural's is located at 30950 Beck Road in the Halabu Plaza, across from the Village Apartments. It is open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Mister Natural's is closed on Sundays through the summer months, but will again be open seven days a week after Labor Day.

Comerica INCORPORATED

COMERICA INCORPORATED is the new name of Detroitbank Corporation, holding company for 26 banks and bank-related companies and parent of the 133-year old Detroit Bank & Trust.

Donald R. Mandich, chairman and chief executive officer of Comerica Incorporated, said the name change to Comerica represents a positive step towards bringing the corporation under one name that will be meaningful not only to people from Michigan, but throughout the United States and the world.

The holding-company has expanded rapidly over the past several years and now has some 16 banks and 10 bank-related companies in southeastern, central and western Michigan, Florida, Mexico, Toronto and London. Each subsidiary has a different name.

"The name change will help eliminate confusion for all our customers," said Mandich. "It also gives our employees a single corporate entity with which to identify and provides significant economic advantages for day-to-day operations of the corporation as a whole."

Names of all Comerica subsidiaries will be changed beginning later this year. Comerica Incorporated will continue to be headquartered in Detroit.

Job rate up during May

Strong seasonal hiring helped drop unemployment rates in all 13 of Michigan's major labor market areas during May, according to estimates by S. Martin Taylor, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

The release of area estimates normally follows the release of statewide data by four weeks. On June 4, MESC announced that Michigan's May jobless rate was 14.3 percent, down from 15.5 percent in April.

The number of jobless workers statewide in May totaled 616,000, a drop of 38,000 from April.

The Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area reported the lowest unemployment rate among the major areas. The area's jobless rate fell to 9.3 percent from 9.8 percent in April.

The Flint area had the largest decline, as its jobless rate fell from 23.2 percent in April to 19.8 percent in May.

Despite the improvement, the Flint area still had the highest rate among the state's 13 major labor market areas.

Taylor attributed the statewide drop in unemployment to job gains in the manufacturing sector along with strong seasonal hiring in the construction, agricultural, retail and service industries.

Cheerleading aspirants begin early

Jill Bartling does warm-ups on Lisa Luoma's back

For a group of elementary girls with dreams of cheerleading in their future, the mornings of June 21-24 were filled with chants, cheers, dance routines and a lot of hard work.

At a summer cheerleading clinic, sponsored by the Northville High School Varsity Cheerleading Squad, young spirit boosters were given an opportunity to train with the experts. NHS Varsity Cheerleaders Sue Bosanko, captain; Tracy Swape, co-captain; Suzanne Buist; Lisa Luoma, Jean DuSablón, Jody Folino and Jill conducted four two-hour clinics at the high school.

Members of the squad have been both team and individual award winners at Michigan State Sports School cheerleading camps, the International Cheerleading Foundation Summer Camp and the United States Cheerleading Association Summer Camp.

Hard work paid off for the participants as all were awarded certificates and spirit buttons for participating in the clinics.

Jack and Ruth Burkman celebrate a golden anniversary

In Our Town

Couples receive Reagans' greetings

By JEAN DAY

Two Northville couples celebrating golden wedding anniversaries recently have received personal cards of congratulations embossed with the presidential seal and signed by President Ronald Reagan.

The first came to Alex and Jessie Murphy of 18216 Jamestown Circle, King's Mill, who were married 50 years ago in Detroit on May 7. Northville residents for eight years, the Murphys are parents of seven sons, two daughters, 40 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

They celebrated their anniversary in late May, combining the outing with Mrs. Murphy's birthday observance. Her birthday was June 11. Her husband celebrated his on the Fourth of July, commenting that, as a youngster, "I was surprised to find the celebrating wasn't for my birthday."

Friends of Jack and Ruth Burkman who came to celebrate their 50th anniversary June 26 were shown the presidential congratulations that read, "Nancy and I send warm congratulations ..." Ruth Burkman had the card and envelope, which was hand-addressed in calligraphic script, framed. It was Mrs. Burkman's sister, Mrs. Winfield L. Holden of Redford who had written the White House about the event. She and another sister, Mrs. Harold R. Smith of Grosse Pointe Farms, were among the open house guests gathering in the flower-filled rooms of the Burkman home at 535 Base Line.

It was the Burkman's son Conrad, however, who dispatched the "Pink Gorilla" with his anniversary greetings as he had to be in Kansas City on business at the national billiards matches.

The Burkman's actually were married one day earlier on June 25. They discovered they are the third couple occupying their home to celebrate 50th anniversaries. The large Victorian home is listed in the National Register of Historic Places. It was built about 1869-70 by Mrs. Burkman's grandfather Robert Yerkes, who was the first to mark a golden anniversary there with his wife Sarah. Mrs. Burkman's father Donald Purdy Yerkes and his wife Elizabeth also celebrated 50 years of marriage there.

Sounds the same — but Cole is Kohl

The name of Northville resident Betty Kohl, whose dedicated volunteering with Lois Strasser at Beverly Manor Nursing Home we wrote about last week, is spelled Kohl, not Cole, as appeared in print. We regret the error but applaud Mrs. Kohl's feeling that "the important thing is that people know about the nursing home's community council." The council plans activities for those who are in the home and their families. Mrs. Kohl invites anyone interested in learning more about the council or in volunteering to call her at 349-7166.

Kelly Jamieson's aiming for international career

Kelly Ann Jamieson, daughter of the Edward C. Jamiesons of 41718 Ladywood, is in Sweden now on a return visit to the country where she spent her senior year in high school as a foreign exchange student. Now a sophomore at Michigan State University, she officially is studying personnel management and industrial/organizational psychology in summer school in Stockholm.

A member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, MSU International Business Club and a former legislative aide to Senator Gary Corbin, Kelly is in James Madison College at MSU — majoring in international relations and business management.

"When I was in Sweden, I became very interested in international affairs," the directed young student explains, adding, "It was then I began to explore the possibilities of majoring in international business...That is why I have chosen to further my knowledge of French in France, rather than continuing my studies at Michigan State."

On September 1 Kelly will be leaving Sweden for University Paul Valery in Montpellier. In February, she expects to take examinations to qualify for one of the diplomas granted by the French government for proficiency in the French language. Then she plans to return to resume her studies at MSU. Graduate school in business management is in her long-range plan.

New chairman Deal urges those who previously have played in the marathons to register as soon as possible. She may be called at 348-1129 for registration forms and information. Assistant May also may be called. Her number is 349-0049.

Sponsors report that groups will be formed during the summer and newcomers are welcome. There will be ladies' daytime and evening groups as well as couples' night groups.

One night couples' group is scheduled to play the first Friday of the month. Duplicate groups also will be formed if there is interest.

The cost is $10 per person for the year's play with profits again going to youth work in the community.

Swayne, Gans appointed Northville soccer coaches

By JOHN MYERS

Redmond remarked, "I think they will handle the program well."

Two experienced coaches have been appointed to fill the Northville High School boys' soccer position, it was announced Tuesday morning by NHS Athletic Director Ralph Redmond.

Dr. Daniel Swayne and Dr. Marvin Gans were named to fill the vacancy created by former coach Ron Meteyer's resignation in late May because of family and teaching reasons. Meteyer, however, still will be coaching the Mustangs' girls' soccer team in the spring.

"We got two for the price of one,"

Both Swayne and Gans have coached together before, and were instrumental in getting soccer as a varsity sport at Northville. Both men have had sons play soccer at Northville and were part of a night game three years ago which drew 3,000 persons to get the ball rolling in making soccer a varsity sport.

Swayne's two sons, Kevin and Mark, and Gans' son Russell, along with Dave McElroy, Les Neal, John Davis and others, played that stepping stone game and were part of the first varsity team.

"We hope to make it fun and

'We want to make it fun and challenging for the kids'

— Dr. Marvin Gans,
NHS soccer coach

challenging for the kids," Gans offered. Swayne was not available for comment because he was on vacation.

"We have coached together before. We have coached under 12, under 14, under 16, under 19 and youth teams together," Gans added.

Gans also is athletic director at Schoolcraft College and was the school's first soccer coach from 1967 through 1970.

"Our philosophy might be a little different. We're encouraging everyone to come out whether they have played (soccer) or not. Our philosophy will be to condition hard and try to give people an opportunity to play.

"Northville has had a fairly good background in soccer, and we hope to continue that tradition," Gans said.

Meteyer coached the team from its inception as a varsity sport in 1979 and compiled an overall mark of 34-12-5. The 1980 season was the best as the Mustangs finished with an overall state of 16-2-2 and advanced to the second round of the state tournament.

Last fall's team limped home with a 7-8-2 mark despite winning its first three games of the season. Also, the Mustangs have won the Detroit Country Day Invitational three straight years under Meteyer.

The team's first organizational meeting is 6 p.m. Tuesday, July 13, at the NHS cafeteria. Anyone who cannot attend the meeting should contact either Swayne at 349-5682 or Gans at 591-6400, extension 480.

The conditioning program will have evening workout hours, and will start immediately following the meeting. Gans added there will be special goalkeeper training for any athlete who has good hands.

Sheehan's keeps lead over Winner's Circle

Sheehan's on the Green, Winner's Circle Bar and Long Mechanical all are fighting for the top spot in the American League of the Northville Recreation adult softball program.

Currently, Sheehan's tops the American League with an 8-1 record while Winner's Circle remains hot on their heels with a 6-1 mark. Long Mechanical anchors third place at 5-2.

Over in the National League, the Northville Jaycees remain undefeated at 7-0 to secure first. O'Sheehan's follows closely at 6-1, while Sheehan's Little Caesars secures third place at 6-3.

Winner's Circle Bar continues to lead the women's division despite losing only its second game in seven tries. One Hour Martinizing follows at 3-3-1, while Getzie's Pub is 3-3. Arnie Ford is in last at 1-4-1.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Aberdeen's, still in striking distance of first, outlasted Rush 11-1 with another powerful hitting display turned in by Jerry Dettler.

Dettler cracked two homeruns and drove in four runs to pace the winners' hitting onslaught. Jim O'Brien added to the cause with a homer, single and four runs-batted-in. Todd Eis also powered a round-tripper for Aberdeen's.

Rush mustered one run in the bottom of the fifth inning when Gary Globish touched the plate on Steve Harris' ground out. Alex Parron and Mike Nave had singles in addition to Globish's.

Canterbury Cleaners used a five-run third inning to power itself to a 12-3 thumping of Baber Roofing. The win evened Canterbury's record at 4-4, while Baber dropped to 4-4.

Jim Smith had a big night for the winners with three hits and three RBIs. Jerry Rothermel and Dan Carpenter each contributed two singles to pace the Canterbury hitting attack.

Baber was led by Dave McLean's two singles and one RBI. Jerry Sherwood and Jamie Moore knocked in the other Baber runs.

J & S Steel used a steady performance in downing the Junkyard Dogs 11-2. Three two-run innings turned the trick for J & S Steel.

Norm Kubitskey cracked three singles and collected two RBIs for the winners. Fred Yankee added two RBIs, while Gary Batzloff added three hits.

A two-run homer by Keith Spigarelli in the bottom of the seventh provided the only runs for the Junkyard Dogs. John Major and John Adams each collected two hits for the losers.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Despite a five-run second inning, Sheehan's Little Caesars had to stave off a scrappy Belanger's club to record a hard-fought 8-5 triumph.

Tony Pump and Robert Martin each collected two hits and one RBI to pace the Sheehan's attack. Dave Dennington and Doug Schwartz each knocked in a pair of runs for the losers.

The Eagles stayed in the chase for the top spot in the National League with its 8-3 win over St. Paul Lutheran's. The Eagles now are 5-3.

Tim Nye went three-for-three for the winners, while Al Runge collected two RBIs. St. Paul's was led by Bob Leinendecker's three singles and he scored one run. Bob Bannatz added two singles for the losers.

Bicycle enthusiasts might enjoy a program called "See Nature by Bike" which will begin at the Nature Center at 9 a.m. Sunday, July 18.

Szabo will conduct a five mile tour in approximately one and a half hours along the paved bike trail. The trail features the sights, sounds and smells of the outdoors. Kensington's history, plant and animal life will be discussed. Participants must bring their own bike.

"Snake Legends and Lives" will be presented at the Nature Center at 2 p.m. Sunday, July 18.

Naturalist Bob Hotaling will use slides and live specimens to explain the myths and folklore surrounding these misunderstood animals. Facts will be separated from the mass of fiction that is part of the common knowledge of snakes and their habits.

Both this and the bike nature program are free, but advanced registration is required. For additional information on any of these programs, call 685-1561. A vehicle entry permit is required.

Zielke wins bowling crown

Northville's Thomas Zielke outbowed Grand Rapids' Bob McCambridge to win the 1982 Michigan State Junior Bowling Championship in late May at Nortel Lanes in Monroe.

Zielke rolled a 642 series to edge McCambridge's 631 series for the Class AA singles state championship. Zielke competed for the title with other bowlers from the 10 qualifying zones throughout Michigan.

He qualified for the state championship when he won the zone elimination tournament in Rochester in late March. The Northville High School junior won both the AA division singles and doubles title at North Hills Lanes.

Zielke rolled a three-game total of 667 to win the singles title by five pins. He and his partner, Kenneth Forte, of Taylor, won the doubles crown with a final pin count of 1,257.

A plaque, emblematic of the Michigan State Junior Bowling Championship, was presented to NHS in recognition of Zielke winning the state championship.

Local players to compete in soccer tournament

More than 63 state championship teams will converge upon Schoolcraft College for the Midwestern Regional Soccer Championships July 16-18 sponsored by the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association.

This is the first time Michigan will be hosting the Midwestern Regional Soccer Championships.

The Bonanza Arsenal boys' under-16 soccer team, which has some Northville players, will represent Michigan in the tournament. The Arsenal squad has won the state championship the last three years.

In all, some 1,100 players between the ages of 10 to 16 will be competing for regional championships. State representatives, aside from Michigan, include north and south Ohio, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas.

The boys' under-16 team will compete with three other regional winners, plus Canada's winners, for the North America Championship later this summer.

Opening day ceremonies will take place from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Friday, July 16, at Livonia Stevenson High School. The festivities will include a concert by the nationally known 100 member First Marine Band, better known as "President Lincoln's own". The band will be dressed in 18th Century uniforms with the group dancing and performing a musket fire demonstration.

Also, there will be a parade of states with each state flag being represented, along with each individual team banner. A number of speakers have been scheduled with proclamations being read from Governor William Milliken and the City of Livonia.

Playoff games will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday at Schoolcraft. The semifinals and finals will take place from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Sunday with trophies and medals being presented after each final game.

There also is a Midwest Regional Youth Fest to take place Saturday in the south parking lot of Schoolcraft from 6-9 p.m.

Northville Koufax squad downs Brighton, Fairlane

Two victories were notched by the Northville Sandy Koufax Blue baseball team as it pounded Brighton and just slipped past Fairlane.

The Koufax squad had little trouble in disposing Brighton 22-0 behind a 23-hit offensive attack. Mark Deal was perfect at the plate for the winners as he was four-for-four, while both Chris Dominique and Chris Hauser went three-for-five. Kelly Bell, Eric Terlecki and Scott Peterson each added two hits.

Hauser started the game off for Northville with a big two-run homerun in the first inning. That made a winner out of pitcher Dominique. He stopped Brighton on four hits, and he walked two and struck out nine.

The team also turned its first double play of the season.

Northville won an 8-7 see-saw battle over Fairlane when it scored the winning run in the top of the seventh on a squeeze bunt play.

With two out and the game tied at 7-7, Steve Cody laid down a perfect bunt which enabled Scott Swienkowski to score from third with the winning run.

Swienkowski started the inning with a walk, advanced to second on a wild pitch and stole third before scoring on the bunt play.

Northville was trailing 4-0 in the top of the fourth before it scored twice and took its first lead of the game after the top of the fifth, 5-4, when it scored three times.

However, Fairlane went back in front 6-5 with two runs of its own in the bottom of the fifth. Northville went ahead again 7-6 in the top of the sixth, but Fairlane tied the contest at 7-7 with a run in the bottom half of the frame.

Hauser carried a big stick for the winners as he had a triple, single and four RBIs. Deal added two hits, and he was flawless in right-field with four putouts.

OLV tallied all of its runs in the bottom of the fifth when Joe Renault, Greg Penrod and Bill Briemaler each touched home plate.

'The Monster' is coming to Aberdeen's

The "Monster" is coming to Northville.

No, this isn't some 3-D horror movie being shown at the Marquis Theater. It actually is the name of a new type of arm wrestling sweeping the country.

The "Monster" will be an Aberdeen's at 7 p.m. Sunday, July 17. Michelob, of the Anheuser-Busch, Incorporated, will co-sponsor the event.

The combatants will not be locking their hands as in most arm wrestling events. The "Monster" is a handle bar in which each participant grasps one end of it. As one person moves the handle grip of the bar forward, his/her opponent's handle grip will move opposite toward the table.

Also, it help eliminate any height advantages as there are adjustable stools which a smaller participant can use to become "equal" with his/her taller opponent.

There is sign-up sheet at Aberdeen's, with an entry fee of $5. Trophies, plaques and ribbons will be given to participants of the event.

For men, there is a flyweight division of 150 pounds and under; a lightweight division between 151-175 pounds; a mid-weight division between 176-200 pounds; a heavyweight division between 201-235 pounds; and a super heavyweight division of 236 pounds and over. For the women, there is a lightweight division of 135 pounds and under and an open division of 136 pounds and over.

For more information, call Aberdeen's at 348-3490.

Local hockey players sign with Ferris State

Two Northville hockey players have signed national letters-of-intent to play at Ferris State College next fall.

Scott Robins and Ken Stelmach, both of whom played for the Waterford Lakers, have decided to play their collegiate hockey at Ferris.

Both played forward with the Lakers, and teamed to become the squad's one-two scoring punch. Robins finished the season with 92 points, and Stelmach completed the year with 86 points.

The two are among 10 recruits signed by new Bulldog head coach Dick Bertrand, who previously had coached for 12 years at Cornell University.

"Scott is fast, quick, accelerates fast and is good in the offensive zone. Ken is a tough, hard-working player who's not afraid to play both ends of the ice," Bertrand assessed.

The Bulldogs open camp in early September with the season opener slated October 15 in Kalamazoo against Western Michigan University. The home opener is October 16 against Western.

Ferris tentatively has scheduled an exhibition contest October 8 against the Michigan-Dearborn squad as part of the Homecoming weekend activities.

Price earns honor at Albion

Albion College sophomore Mike Price, of Northville, was named to the honorable mention All Michigan Inter-collegiate Athletic Association baseball squad recently.

The former Livonia Stevenson graduate was one of three Albion players named to the honorable mention squad, and one of 10 Britons to receive All Conference honors.

The Britons won the MIAA title this season with an 11-1 record. Albion now has won or shared the conference title three of the last four years under head coach Frank Joranko. In past season play, the Britons finished in the final three teams in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Division III Mid-East regional tournament.

Price is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Price, 21252 Woodhill.

Astros pound Pirates, 10-3

Despite only three hits, the Astros still were able to score big in a 10-3 thumping of the Pirates in H-League action last week.

The Astros broke a 3-all tie in the top of the fourth with three runs and added five more in the fifth to ice the contest.

The big five-run inning was highlighted by David Best's grand slam homerun over the fence.

Winning pitcher Kevin McCulloch pitched a two-hitter for three innings, while Best fired three innings of hitless relief.

Mantle squad splits with Detroit, Canton

Northville's Mickey Mantle baseball team split a pair of contests last week by downing Detroit West Seven and losing to Plymouth Canton.

The squad came-from-behind to defeat Detroit West Seven 9-4 as pitcher Dave Longridge was tagged for four runs in the first inning. However, he settled down and blanked West Seven the rest of the game. Longridge allowed just two hits, both in the initial inning, and helped his own cause with a run-batted-in single.

Northville remained hitless until the fifth inning when Todd Deal slapped the first hit to trigger a four-run outburst. Northville added five more runs in the sixth on five hits and eight walks by three West Seven hurlers.

John Quinn, Mickey Newman and Steve Frellick made good defensive plays in the triumph.

The squad lost its third game in 10 contests to Canton 5-2, and suffered another loss when number-one pitcher Dan Nielsen broke his thumb.

Even though Northville out-hit Canton 7-4, the winners parlayed the hits, along with five walks and five errors, into victory.

Mike Wissman paced the Northville hitters with two hits. One of the big reasons for the loss was the team's inability to bring home 12 base runners it left stranded.

Northville's record now is 7-3 for second place in the West Division.
