Township assessments underway

Houses in major township subdivisions will be reassessed in the next few weeks by Wayne County assessors, treasurer Richard Henningsen revealed at a board meeting last Thursday.

County assessor Arnold Roberts arrived in the township Monday to make preparations for field work to follow in the next few weeks.

Township officials said the reassessment of property values will first concentrate on the newer and larger subdivisions where the greatest number of inequities in assessment were discovered during March board of review hearings.

Henningsen told trustees last week he had been hoping to retain an assessor earlier in the year but found the county office understaffed and loaded with such requests.

Under those circumstances, he related, getting Roberts to do the work is something of a bonus.

"The man has been out here, doing our board of review hearings, for something like eight to ten years," Henningsen said. "He knows the territory, he knows where our problems lie and I think he's shown he is fair."

Supervisor John MacDonald agreed that "we are fortunate to have him."

While the board had intended to conduct a total reassessment of all township property values, at budget time it found a concentration on residential properties would probably bring the best results for the amount expended. The board kept open its options regarding whether to reassess door-to-door or to conduct the audit of property values by subdivision.

The method likely to be used strikes somewhere between those, with total reassessment likely in the largest subdivisions. Assessors have not yet determined how much work will be necessary to insure a fair basis of assessment across the township.

The majority of board of review petitions, it was noted, came from subdivisions where homes were built in the past five years or so. The practice of applying a multiplication factor to reflect changing home values resulted in a skew, it was argued, that overstated the value of newer homes and may have understated the value of older ones.

Resident Bill Gaul, referring to week-earlier comments by resident Larry VanderMolen regarding assessment practices, asked if the use of county assessors might not result in unfair determinations.

"Is it true, as Mr. VanderMolen was saying last week, that the county's assessors have an interest in seeing higher taxes?" Gaul asked. "As I understand it, these fellows work for the county, and the county collects taxes."

Henningsen said he did not believe county assessors are biased against property owners and noted that use of county personnel insures county acceptance of the results.

"If we use an outside assessor, the county might not accept the numbers as fair," he said. "Then we would have paid someone for something that did us no good."

"These guys are all licensed assessors," he continued. "They have state guidelines they follow. I don't think they'd put their job integrity on the line to collect a few more bucks for the county. They are professional, just like our auditors are professionals. I just don't believe they'd do that (bias valuations)."

The treasurer said his understanding was that the cost to the township for use of the county assessors amounts to paying their salaries for the period they

Shopping spree leads to legal battle

By MICHELE McELMURRY

For most of her almost 38 years of marriage, Gloria Lane has been a model wife, mother and homemaker. An elder in the Presbyterian church, she also is a former Girl Scout leader, a voluntary probation officer and a saleswoman at the Marquis Boutique.

However, on February 20, 1981, life changed for the 55-year-old Northville resident.

It's been 17 months since Gloria Lane was accused of stealing a $2.75 package of eye shadow from Crowley's in Livonia Mall. However, the aftermath of what she refers to as "the most degrading experience of my life" has left the Northville homemaker angry, bitter and resentful.

Too upset to discuss the case a year ago, Gloria Lane now is prepared to disclose the trauma she endured as a result of her experience. According to Mrs. Lane, "if just one woman is spared the ordeal I went through, it will be worthwhile."

Sitting in the living room of her Spring Drive home, Mrs. Lane looks at ease in her purple and pink long-sleeved blouse with a high ruffled collar tied with a bow.

"I call it my $1,400 blouse," she explains, touching her sleeve.

It is the blouse she was carrying in her Marquis shopping bag on February 20, 1981 — the day she was arrested for shoplifting.

"The burden of proof is on the victim...the belief that you are innocent until proven guilty is a farce."

On that fateful day, Mrs. Lane had gone into the women's sportswear department at Crowley's to try to find a skirt to match her new blouse, which still had the Marquis price tags attached.

Carrying the blouse in a Marquis shopping bag, she took several items from the racks, tried them on and subsequently purchased two sweaters.

Her sales receipt indicated the items were purchased at 2:40 p.m. and were paid for in cash.

The shopping bag also contained a photograph which she had taken at the store's portrait studio.

After purchasing her items, Mrs. Lane left the store. On her way out, she stopped to look at necklaces on the jewelry counter but did not make a purchase.

Once outside the store, she was approached by two security guards — one male and one female — who accused her of stealing merchandise from the store.

"I was stunned," she explains. However, believing she had nothing to hide, Mrs. Lane agreed to go to the security office to have her packages checked.

"I was probably very naive for someone my age," she reflects. "I never should have gone into that room alone."

Inside the security office, the security guard took her license, purse and shopping bags and proceeded to dump the contents on the table. In the process, however, the guard knocked the photograph on the floor.

"That's when it happened," Mrs. Lane remembers. "I bent down to pick up the picture and when I stood up, he was waving a package of eye makeup over my head and said 'Here it is. Here's what she stole.'"

"I never have worn eye makeup," Mrs. Lane contends. She also pointed out to the security officers that the time she was accused of stealing the makeup was 2:45 p.m. She told them she could never have made it to the makeup counter five minutes after purchasing the sweaters.

Mrs. Lane claims the 20-year-old security guard planted the merchandise in her shopping bag after he realized he had made a false arrest.

The shoplifting accusation was only the beginning of the trauma Gloria Lane would have to endure. Unable to convince security of her innocence, they phoned the Livonia police.

Mrs. Lane later learned from the female security guard who assisted in stopping her, that she was "a suspect from the moment she entered the store."

Crowley's apparently had circulated a flyer among its stores which listed a description of a suspected shoplifter. Though the description was not accompanied by a photograph, the security guards at the Livonia store believed Mrs. Lane fit the description.

"It was ridiculous," Mrs. Lane recalls. "I mean, how many gray haired ladies do you know?"

After the police arrived, Mrs. Lane was taken by squad car to the Livonia police station. She then was booked, fingerprinted and locked in a cell.

"I couldn't believe it was happening to me," she says. "I've only had two traffic tickets in my whole life."

Her first request to make a phone call was denied. After 45 minutes, she once again asked to call home and was granted permission. She was released after her husband arrived at the station to pick her up.

Faulty filter closes NHS pool

Bill Hood hopes a filter problem at the Northville High School pool has been solved as it has been the cause of some headaches for both the recreation swim program and his staff this month.

Three times in three weeks the recreation department has had to cancel swim classes and open swim because the water in the pool had turned green. Hood, administrative assistant for school operations, said various problems have been the cause.

The latest occurrence was Monday when recreation staff personnel went to open the pool for swim classes only to find the water again had turned green. It was determined the filters had broken down sometime during the weekend which caused the problem. The green color, it was explained, indicates the water is contaminated and not safe for swimming.

Hood said Tuesday a part was bought Monday to correct a problem in the pool's float filter tank which had caused the pool's water to turn color. He said he was told at 4 p.m. Monday the pool would be operational Tuesday.

This incident occurred only five days after swim program supervisor Matt Sullivan explained to recreation commissioners last week Wednesday the two previous incidents and other problems the swim program was experiencing.

He noted the pool was closed July 14 because the water had turned green as the filters apparently were not working. The swim staff discovered the pool's green condition the Tuesday after July 4, which then was caused by a lack of chlorine. Apparently, none of the custodial staff told Hood of the problem, Sullivan said.

The reason for the shutdown last week Wednesday, Hood said, was that repairmen were working on the pool's acid pump and chlorine control system. The water circulation pumps had to be shut down, Hood explained, and repairmen also discovered a problem with one of the valves. It was these repairs which led, indirectly, to Monday's problem, Hood said.

The problems experienced by the recreation swim program were outlined in a letter Sullivan gave to commissioners. It was similar to one he sent Hood back in January.

Problems detailed in Sullivan's letter centered around lack of maintenance at the pool. He pointed out that the diving board is cracked, ceiling tile is missing, and safety equipment is not in good condition — missing or broken — and com-

Block grant idea in Park Gardens criticized

Normally, a hunt for $60,000 to aid the Park Gardens project, with a portion to be contributed by the township, might be expected to raise cheers from the homeowners, but the two who first heard the latest proposal were less than enthusiastic.

Park Gardens homeowners association representatives Liz McCarville and Bill Basse said they were "disappointed" with a township proposal to seek a federal grant for a portion of the project installing sewers in that subdivision.

The water and sewer commission Monday night voted unanimously to recommend that the board of trustees offer to pay 20 percent local share of the small project in order to obtain a grant.

Total cost of an added line that might be used in the future would be near $60,000, engineer Edward McNeely advised the commission, making the split $48,000 grant and $12,000 from township coffers.

Business Manager David Leiko explained that the money would come from "discretionary" block grant funding through Wayne County and that the township would be in competition with 31 other communities for a total $500,000 stipend. He said he was unsure whether the project (laying a short length of sewer line that would not be of immediate use) is eligible for grant funding.

Leiko was to meet with grant administrators Tuesday afternoon and report to the board of trustees last night.

The $60,000 would pay for a short length of sewer line to be laid in the ground, making it possible at some future date to reverse sewage flow in the region. McNeely explained that the "super sewer" project includes a Haggerty Road arm that would run an interceptor down that road.

With that in place, he noted, the two pump stations required to force Park Gardens sewage uphill to the west would be unnecessary, as flows could be directed downhill (southeast) to Haggerty Road.

The township would then save the cost of operating the pump stations, which require much maintenance and use electricity to pump sewage.

The cheapest way to accomplish the end would be to install the approximately 1,200 feet of gravity sewer line as part of the Park Gardens project, the

Pit fall

Despite the recent accident in which a Livonia man was paralyzed diving into Lake Success — better known as the Griswold gravel pit — and the attendant publicity, police are still finding it difficult to dissuade youngsters from using the pit as a swimming hole. Youths such as this one often leap from platforms built in tall trees, heightening the danger of injury enormously. Stunts such as this one are among the reasons police offer for continued patrols of the pits in hopes of reducing the number of injuries. Record photo by Steve Fecht

NEWS BRIEFS

CITY COUNCIL is expected to set a special study session to discuss its insurance report and financial reports received for the library, recreation department and 35th District Court at its regular meeting at 8 p.m. Monday.

NORTHVILLE Board of Education will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the board conference room at Old Village School.

TOWNSHIP PLANNING Commission meets in regular monthly session next Tuesday, July 27, at 8 p.m. in Northville Township Hall, 41600 Six Mile Road.

She suggested that the usefulness of the line being discussed is really tied more to the Haggerty Road sewer project than to Park Gardens. She asked if the water and sewer commission might not consider paying the $60,000 from the department's restricted fund, allowing the grant to be targeted to reduce the costs of the special assessment district.

Commissioner William Maguire also said that, as far as he could see, the proposal would only serve one-fourth of Park Gardens even when put on line.

Leiko argued, however, that an appeal for $60,000 to be assigned the estimated $1 million Park Gardens project in general is less likely to obtain approval. If the preferred proposal were rejected as non-eligible, he said, he would write the grant for general use in the area, but felt the chances of denial would be higher.

Commission chairman Robert Terwin said he understood McCarville's concern but felt that any method by which $60,000 might be obtained for the project would be beneficial.

"I understand what you're saying," he said. "We've just got to work from

Dining out

Northville has joined the growing number of communities offering continental-style dining outdoors. After getting approval of city council to operate an outdoor cafe during summer months, MacKinnon's has opened the Back Street Cafe behind the Main Street restaurant. Among those finding their way to the separate entrance on Mary Alexander Court recently were Bill Storbeck, left, above, and, at right, Edna Fleming and son Erik, 6, who obviously was enjoying dining under an umbrella on the trellised patio. # Youth's disappearance mystifies all

By KATHY LAVEY

Carrie Oswald, 17, is worried about her best friend. She has reason to be. Her friend hasn't been seen since May 20, and nobody knows where she is.

Not only is Carrie worried, she's angry. Angry because she thinks people have gotten the wrong idea about her friend.

Carrie's friend is Kellie Brownlee, a 17-year old West Bloomfield girl, who disappeared eight weeks ago, apparently while hitchhiking in Novi.

The circumstances of Kellie's disappearance, Carrie admits, don't make her friend look like a "good" teenager. But Carrie, a Northville High School student, insists that Kellie is not "bad," nor does she deserve the label "typical runaway" that some have applied to her.

Carrie, the daughter of the Robert Oswalds of 21745 Kildash, first transferred to Northville public schools from Our Lady of Victory, then attended Our Lady of Mercy in Farmington, but now is enrolled in Northville High. The girls became friends when both were attending Our Lady of Mercy High School, Carrie explains.

"They called her a typical runaway," said Carrie of news reports of Kellie's disappearance. "They said she did drugs. She didn't. She didn't like hanging around with people who did excessive drugs or drinking because she didn't like that. She saw too many close friends get messed up on drugs so she stayed away from them."

Carrie's insistence that Kellie has been unfairly stereotyped is backed up by Officer Thomas Nelson of the West Bloomfield police, who is working on the case.

"She's not a standard runaway," Nelson said. "She didn't tell anyone where she was going ... there is no clothes missing, she had only the clothes she was wearing ... that's not typical at all."

Also atypical, said Nelson, is the fact that Kellie hasn't contacted anyone.

"She would have called me at least or (her boyfriend)," said Carrie. "Just to say 'I'm okay, I'm safe.'"

That, said Nelson, forces police to investigate the possibility of foul play in the case. "There are two possibilities," he said. "One, that she's alive somewhere and hasn't called ... that's not typical of runaways." The other, he said, is foul play.

The last time Kellie was seen was when she put in several job applications at Twelve Oaks Mall, Nelson said. Through Carrie says someone saw Kellie in Walled Lake after her trip to Twelve Oaks, Nelson said the report is not verified. "Everything else is speculation," he said.

Though Carrie admits that Kellie had some "family problems," a characteristic of many runaways, Kellie had already moved away from her parents' West Bloomfield home and into a Walled Lake area apartment with the family of a friend. She had been there almost two months at the time of her disappearance.

"She liked Walled Lake," said Carrie. "She wanted to live there for a long time. She wouldn't want to leave."

One of the friends with whom Kellie was living agrees.

"I'm with Carrie," she said. "She wouldn't have just run away ... it's too important to her to have her family, her friends. In a sense she'd run away to here ... she was already away from

Sewer gets board approval

Township trustees gave the thumbs up sign to plans for federally-funded sewer improvements to the Rouge Valley system last week, even though, by the time the project is done, it is unlikely the township will be part of the system.

Engineer Ed McNeely told the board home.

"She liked it around here ... they went up to Grand Lake a lot, they would go to parties, go to the arcade and stuff."

Kellie's disappearance has recently received quite a bit of publicity — her parents appeared on television last week in a desperate appeal to anyone who may have seen their daughter, and articles on Brownlee's disappearance have appeared in several newspapers. However, Nelson reports no solid leads have developed.

"The longer time goes by, the more inclined we are to believe she's a victim of foul play," said Nelson.

Carrie said that Kellie's mother and grandmother are searching for her in California, one of the places she may have run away to — if she ran away at all. They've also checked with friends in Florida, but to no avail.

"I really miss her," said Carrie. "I'm worried about her. Ever time I drive by a field or a swamp or a patch of woods, I have to wonder. The first three weeks I swear I saw her a hundred times — in a car, across the street."

"I just wish she'd let us know ... I just wish we'd find out she's okay."

Audit shows rec department loses $2,600

Some kind of plan will have to be developed by the Northville Recreation Commission to show the state treasurer how it will eliminate its continuing budget deficit, an auditor from Plante & Moran announced at last week Wednesday's meeting.

The audit by Plante & Moran showed the recreation program had a deficit of $2,622 for the April 1, 1981, to March 31, 1982, budget year. The total program deficit now stands at $42,303. During the 1980-81 budget year, the recreation program ran a deficit of $6,613.

Kenneth Kunkel noted there is a state law which requires bodies who continue to run a deficit budget to file a plan with the state treasurer to show how they will eliminate the deficit.

"It doesn't have to be a one-year plan," Kunkel added.

He noted such plans are to be filed by the end of June, but, because the audit was not completed until recently and the state treasurer already is swamped with previous audits, there will be no problems with a late filing.

"They're not concerned if it's filed one day late or 30 days late," he said. "They just want to make sure you're making progress."

"I'm sure all of you would like to get this (deficit) off your backs. I work on a number of non-profit and charitable organizations, and there is no one way that is easy to raise money."

"I have a lot of sympathy for what you have before you," Kunkel added.

The plan can be constructed to cover a period of time, such as four years, but Kunkel did not have any specific ideas for the commissioners on how to get rid of the deficit.

"I really don't have any ideas, but I wish I did," he admitted.

However, Kunkel did point out a couple of items to the commission. He noted the sale of floor squares did not come through for the commission. The 1981-82 budget had targeted $39,400 in revenues through floor square sales, but only $296 was raised.

Also, the 50 cent surcharge applied to everyone participating in the program was not counted in the audit, Kunkel said, because it is a continuing fee and cannot be counted until the program is implemented. Even if the surcharge were counted in the audit, there still would have been a deficit of $600.

"The deficit also is eroding on the capital improvements through the community building," he added.

Some suggestions were made to Recreation Director Ed Kritz to help improve the accountability of cash receipts made through the program, Kunkel said.

One of the suggestions was to realign certain job responsibilities, if practical, to improve segregation of duties; this was especially applicable to the cash receipt functions. Another was to consider acquiring a cash register, while another was to consider a formal system to control cash collected at remote locations.

Gift salesmen cannot rent recreation building

By a single, direct interpretation, a problem between two groups of gift salesmen trying to rent the community building for the same time period in August was solved last week.

City Manager Steven Walters, who was called while on vacation, explained neither group, the Michigan Association of Gift Salesmen (M.A.G.S.) nor a private group of gift salesmen, could rent the community building because either one would have been for a commercial use in an area zoned residential.

Council liaison Carolann Ayers gave Walters' explanation to the recreation commission at its meeting last week Wednesday.

Thus, the commission averted a meeting with representatives of M.A.G.S. who were going to ask they be given the right to rent the building over the private group.

Recreation Director Edward Kritz explained to the commission that the problem arose last week Monday when a woman, who at first did not say she was representing a private group of gift salesmen, asked if the building could be rented for "an arts and crafts show" in mid-August.

When he questioned the woman again regarding what kind of show it was going to be, Kritz said she explained it was for a gift salesmen show.

"I then called over to M.A.G.S. to see if it had anything to do with their organization, and they told me 'no,' but said they would like to buy time during that period," Kritz explained.

M.A.G.S., which rents all of Northville Square for its operation, wanted to rent the building for one day, during the middle of the private group's five-day show, for a bi-annual membership meeting. Also, because M.A.G.S. had rented the building last year for a board meeting and party, it felt it should be given priority over the other group.

However, Kritz noted renting the building is on a first-come basis and he already reached a tentative agreement with the other group.

Thus, M.A.G.S. President David Alger went before city council last week Monday to seek some guidance in securing space in the community building for its meeting. Wanda Kozak, who also was at the council meeting, explained M.A.G.S. in the future was hoping to organize an additional show in the community building and make a profit on it.

Both were told to go the rec commission meeting because the community building is a shared city, township and school responsibility with the rec department solely responsible for leasing and determining rates.

Finally, Walters was tracked down in hopes of clearing up the situation.

It was noted specifically at the recreation meeting that antique and arts and crafts shows could still rent the building because they are quasi-type recreational uses of the building, council liaison Carolann Ayers said.

Doll exhibit at Plymouth Museum

An outstanding collection of apple-head dolls will be on exhibit at the Plymouth Historical Museum beginning tomorrow. The collection includes an Amish couple sitting on a church pew, Indians at a council meeting, a magician pulling a rabbit out of his hat, Santa Claus and much more.

Also on exhibit are collections of music boxes, sewing items, ducks, German Shepard dogs and cigarette lighters.

The Plymouth Historical Museum is open to the public from 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for children ages 11-17 and 25 cents for children 5-11.

Parson to Person...

Sunday Evening

Dr. James H. Luther

There are a number of things more entertaining than a Sunday Evening Service, like:

- television, sports or a party with friends!
- Maybe we could do something about that! Perhaps a committee could be appointed:
- a "Promote the Evening Service" committee;
- or, "Support Your Local Pastor" committee;
- even a "Church Entertainment Is Best" committee...
- But then again, Maybe we aren't in that business - the entertainment business. Come to think of it, I can't remember that word, "entertainment," in the Great Commission of our Lord.
- So, we'll not try to compete; just complete the task that Jesus gave: preaching, sharing, singing, and fellowship...
- Feeding the sheep! I hope you'll be back for supper next Sunday. It's far better than entertainment.

Township not buying on American plan...

By KEVIN WILSON

It looked like a sure thing. Spelled out on the township board of trustees agenda under the general heading "Resolutions" it said "Buy American." The item had been forwarded from the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Seeing a township board whose members are predominantly dependent on jobs in the U.S. auto industry, the casual onlooker might be forgiven the opinion that defeat of the resolution was as likely as a vote against apple pie.

And it wasn't defeated. It just wasn't approved. The board voted to "receive and file" the item — equivalent to taking no action at all.

Not only that, but it made the same decision twice — first in June when it arrived and again at the July 8 session when Clerk Susan Heintz had it placed on the agenda for reconsideration. She said she had been receiving calls all month from Richard Manning, county commissioner and the originator of the resolution passed by the county board April 1.

Manning has been stumping for the program ever since. In essence, his resolution calls for a commitment in government purchasing to American-made products. The prime example cited by proponents is the purchase of rail cars for the New York transit system.

Bombardier, a Canadian firm, received the contract to produce the rail cars and was chosen over Budd, an American firm. Bombardier's bid was aided by low interest financing (9.5 percent) offered through the Canadian government.

Manning, whose announced aim has been to have all the cities and townships in the county endorse the resolution, has been pressing hard on all those which have not done so.

But local officials were hard-pressed to see any advantage in endorsing the resolution, since it would affect only county purchasing, not their own.

According to Manning's resolution, the county would require that bidders for county or road commission purchase contracts include proof that either the materials were made in the U.S. by American labor or that the items bid are "absolutely unavailable from U.S. manufacturers."

The April 1 approval made the resolution county policy, irrespective of the actions of local units.

Township supervisor John MacDonald called the resolution "just another piece of paper, it wouldn't change anything (if the board of trustees were to pass it)." He noted that purchasers of American cars often find "the thing has an engine made in Brazil and other parts made all over the world."

Trustee Richard Allen, who works for Ford, pointed out the board has what amounts to a written policy that it does not generally endorse resolutions forwarded by another government. The record of the current board since taking office in 1980 has been consistent in that respect.

"For us to pass it doesn't do anything," Allen related. "It's just another piece of paper. We didn't vote against the thing, we just received and filed it as information received from someplace else. That's what we do with all of them."

When the board first reviewed the issue in June, residents in attendance likened such resolutions to "chain letters" sent from one government to others and board members noted that it is a rare month when the agenda does not include at least a few such items.

Trustee Thomas Cook, another Ford employee, moved to receive and file the resolutions for July (there were three others). Heintz objected, noting that "if we don't pass this, this man (Manning) is going to call me daily."

MacDonald offered to call Manning and ask that he back off and allow Heintz the time to do her job. The board of trustees voted 6-1 to receive and file the resolutions. Heintz was the only vote in opposition.

County press releases indicate Manning is receiving enthusiastic support from many quarters, including counties in other states, for the basic concept of the resolution. As for enlisting the endorsements of all Wayne County governments, however, the program appears to be falling short.

At last report, only 10 units of government had passed approval of the resolution, leaving Manning with more than 30 to cajole into compliance with his program. Regardless of what else happens in the county, Manning is sure to come up one short of his target — Northville Township has made its opinion clear twice now.

... And neither is the city

While Wayne County Commissioner Richard E. Manning's request that Northville City Council endorse the "Buy American" resolution passed by the county commission was on the agenda of city council's June 7 meeting, no action was taken.

Routinely, the council is faced with 10-12 communications at its meetings that often are in the form of resolutions adopted by other bodies.

The resolution committing the county to purchase goods and materials made by American labor within the United States was noted by the council without action being taken. Comment was made that the city, with additional cutbacks required by reduced track track returns, would not be making major purchases.

Joan McAllister reported this week that each council member has received a communication at home from Manning urging support of the "Buy American" concept. She said, however, she had not been contacted again by the commissioner.

Three attend engineering seminar

Three young women who will be seniors at Northville High School this fall tackled such projects as computer design and development of new synthetic materials at this summer's High School Engineering Institute at Michigan State University.

Carolyn Dragon, Jenny Olson and Michele Ryan attended the institute held June 19-26 to give promising high school sophomores and juniors the opportunity to learn about engineering through classes and hands-on experiences.

Dragon, the daughter of Betty and Tom Dragon, 21864 Bedford, is a member of the PomPon squad at NHS and plans to make engineering her career.

Olson, daughter of Karen and Jeryl Olson, 21734 Bathune, is interested in mathematics and drama.

Ryan, daughter of Sara and Terry Ryan, 16222 Purita, is involved in Pep Club and other NHS activities.

All three Northville High students are members of the National Honor Society.

Les Leone, director of the institute, says that, although most of the 125 students attending had a preconceived idea of what engineering is, they were surprised at the variety of different jobs in the field.

"While these students might know they have an interest or skill in the areas of math and science, many don't know how those skills can be applied in engineering," says Leone. "We try to convert that interest and skill into a certain career area."

During the eight-day session, students had an opportunity to hear overview presentations in computer science, as well as biomedical, civil, mechanical, agricultural and electrical engineering.

However, she wanted a jury trial. On April 27, a jury was selected and on May 26, Mrs. Lane appeared for trial bringing 12 character witnesses including Marquis owner Inge Zayti and the Reverend Lloyd Brasare.

Mrs. Lane was scheduled for arraignment in Livonia's 18th District Court April 22.

Never having needed a lawyer, she took the recommendation of a friend and hired a Farmington attorney. She claims she understood the attorney to say she would stand mute to the charges — pleading neither guilty nor innocent.

Late that afternoon Mrs. Lane's attorney and Robert E. Braezinski, Livonia's assistant city attorney, left the courtroom to try to work out a settlement to avoid the time and expense of a jury trial.

Mrs. Lane says her attorney told her a jury trial could jeopardize her case and told her she would be put on probation. In actuality, her attorney had worked out a deferred prosecution agreement.

Mrs. Lane says she volunteered to take a lie detector test but was turned down for unknown reasons.

"I was upset about the decision and kept asking myself why I was going on probation. I was innocent," she recalls.

Two days later, Mrs. Lane called her attorney and told him she had changed her mind about the prosecution.

On June 11, Mrs. Lane was back in court. On that day her attorney requested dismissal from the case because of "irreconcilable differences" between himself and his client — but tilled her $1,200 for legal fees.

Standing in her own defense, Mrs. Lane says she was "tired of fighting the system" and accepted the terms. She claims the presiding judge told her she would never do any better.

Her last day in court was November 12. At that time her case was dismissed and she was given back her fingerprints and records.

Mrs. Lane describes her case as "a travesty of justice." What has made it even more unbelievable are the circumstances which have developed since Mrs. Lane's ordeal began.

Six months following her arrest, the Crowley's security guard who arrested her, was himself arrested and confessed to planting evidence on another shopper. Now that shopper is suing Crowley's for $1 million for false arrest.

However, though the guard committed a felony, he "plea-bargained" the charge to a misdemeanor and received 18 months' probation, paid a $100 fine and $5 in court costs.

A few weeks later he was hired as a security guard at another major department store.

Mrs. Lane also has learned that she was never actually arraigned and that a plea was never entered on her behalf — therefore she could not be on probation.

A longtime Crowley's shopper, Mrs. Lane says she and her husband W. after went to see the firm's president Robert Winkler to discuss the case.

"I didn't believe Crowley's management was aware of what was going on at the Livonia store," she explains.

She says Winkler agreed to investigate the case and asked what the store could do for Mrs. Lane. "I told him all we wanted was the $1,200 in legal fees," she says.

The Lanes have never heard from Winkler or anyone in Crowley's management. Robert Winkler told The Record Monday he "thought the case was closed." However, he acknowledged that he knew depositions had been taken from Crowley's employees.

"Obviously, there is no way I can discuss this case if it is still in litigation," he said.

Mrs. Lane says she is not sure what her next move will be. She did not rule out filing a lawsuit but says she preferred not to comment any further on her future plans.

Mrs. Lane explains her ordeal has made her "much wiser."

"Women are so unknowledgeable about their rights and the law," she explains. "I'll never be that innocent of that trusting again."

"Knowing what I know now," she continues, "if the same thing happened to me again, I would stand there and demand they tell me what I took and would request a witness and a police officer be present."

"I never would go into a room alone," she says.

Mrs. Lane says her faith in the judicial system has deteriorated considerably since her ordeal. "The burden of proof is on the victim," she explains. "The belief that you are innocent until proven guilty is a farce."

She explains that her minister "hid the nail on the head."

"He said they took away my dignity — and he's right," she says. "I've always prided myself on my dignity."

"All summer long I kept saying 'how can they do this to me. I'm a law-abiding citizen.'"

Mrs. Lane says she hopes her story will alert women to what could possibly happen to them. That's why next Monday, July 26, she will appear on the "Sonja" show to tell her story. The show is aired at 9 a.m. on WDFW Channel 4.

While the trauma has left her exhausted, Mrs. Lane says she's now pulling herself together and is looking forward to celebrating her 38th wedding anniversary this December.

Ironically, her wedding ring was purchased 38 years ago from Crowley's.

Jaycees announce lumberjack results

Women as well as men were winners in the lumberjack contest that was part of the Fourth of July festivities in Mill Race Village sponsored by the Northville Jaycees.

Chairman Doug Boor announced the winners last week.

Judy Walsh and Deanne Wright won the Women's Cross Cut with a time of one minute, 40 seconds.

In the Men's Novice Event Jim and Ed Brodrick of Gallery of Flowers at 355 East Main won first place with a time of 42 seconds. Hamilton and Hamilton took second with time of one minute. Stevens and Hamilton won third with one minute, 20 seconds.

In the Men's Advanced Class Doug Boor and Ken Weber of Mountaintop Tree Company won in 26 seconds. Weber and Todd Vincent with an unofficial time of 35 seconds took second.

Boor thanks all participants and his assistant Weber for helping with set-up.

New reader at library

Have any microfilm you'd like to read? If you do, you can read it on the Novi Public Library's new microform reader and printer.

Purchased to go hand in hand with a Novi Historical Society project that involves microfilming and filing back issues of the Northville Record/Novi News, the microfilm reader can also be used for other library projects.

"When we get the microfilm done we've got the machine to read it," said Bill Gladden, historical society president. "It's a very valuable resource tool."

Library administrator Dianne Bish says the new machine replaces an older microfiche reader. "Before we had a small machine that only read fiche ... this one reads film and fiche and will make a dry copy of both," she said.

Bish said the microform reader will pave the way for the library to get microfilm collections of more newspapers.

Park Gardens seek swifter sewer action

By KEVIN WILSON

There has been a reversal in the debate between the township board and Park Gardens homeowners over planning for sewers in the subdivision — now it's the property owners leaning on the board to hasten processing of paper work.

For months — from November, 1981, until spring — board members responded to pleas for haste with the constant rejoinder to “bring in the petition.”

Property owners had to sign a special assessment district petition, agreeing to assume a major portion of the cost of the project, before further progress could be made, the township argued. Residents hoped to bring it in by February, but there were delays.

The petition was filed in May amid pledges from the board to "expedite the process" from that point on.

Last week, Park Gardens residents made clear that the township's progress in the past two months is not their idea of "expedited" behavior.

challenge them at that time and again at the public hearing.

The estimates are non-binding, however. The only solid action taken at the second session in the process is establishment of the public hearing date. The board's intent to proceed can be withdrawn until the third resolution is approved. Heintz called the third resolution the "point of no return."

She said the board would be "having special meetings along the way. We do not intend to wait for regular meetings."

Board discussion later, however, revolved around scheduling to make maximum progress within the regular meeting schedule. With the late August meeting, it was noted, McNeely would be able to establish a firm date for the hearing, which might be scheduled immediately prior to the board's regular September 9 session.

McCarville inquired whether delays might not press the bidding process into late fall and if construction could proceed in winter.

"The project could go on throughout the winter, as long as we don't have an extremely severe winter," McNeely said. "Generally, once you get through the frozen ground near the surface you can keep working. Last year we had sewer projects that went through the winter. Sure, you can do that."

Pressed for a commitment that the Park Gardens project would be conducted through the winter months, McNeely suggested McCarville "ask Sonny Elic." The meeting was the day prior to the firing of the Detroit weather broadcaster.

"If weather allows," McCarville asked, "could residents expect to see sewers in the ground by next spring?"

"Yes, certainly," the engineer said.

Other questioners learned that the method for dividing costs among the residents served will be recommended by McNeely for board approval. The variants available include straight division of cost between benefiting parcels, a charge per frontage foot, or a split between both methods.

"In this particular incidence," McNeely noted, "although the area is basically residential there is some commercial property. We'll have to give particular consideration to the commercial property affected and try to devise a fair method."

Park Gardens, a four-street subdivision in the southeast corner of the township, has suffered a high incidence of septic system failures for many years. In combination with a high water table the problem has led to judgements of a health threat at times. The sewer project will be partially funded through federal community block grants.

Cost is expected to be high due to geographic limitations which require that the sewer flow be routed uphill under pressure. Federal dollars are targeted toward that portion of the project.

where we're at right now."

The proposal was to go before the board of trustees at a special 7:30 p.m.

meeting Tuesday night, immediately prior to the board's joint session with the planning commission.

Lelko's conversation with grant administrators and the board meeting were after The Record press deadline.

Assessors begin work here

work here, plus whatever expenses are incurred.

He reiterated his faith in Roberts as an individual acquainted with the township and the recent assessment difficulties.

He also cited the credentials of both Roberts and the other man who will be working with him in the field.

Roberts and Tim O'Donnell are both class 4 assessors employed by Wayne County.

Assessors are ranked from class 1 to 4 by level of expertise and communities are similarly graded on the basis of total equalized valuation. The township was recently raised from class two to class three, requiring use of class three assessors. The class four ranking held by Roberts and McDowell is the highest.

O'Donnell, clerk Susan Heintz related, also has some experience with township properties because he conducted some of the book work required when a 20 percent assessment reduction was granted to the Park Gardens subdivision after the most recent board of review.

When completed, the new assessments will be employed first in the 1983 tax year.

Holiday duty costly to police

"It destroys our overtime budget," commented Northville police chief Rodney Cannon as he presented a report on city police costs for the Fourth of July celebration to city council at its July 12 meeting.

The report showed a total police department cost of $1,225.74 to cover officers at the parade, Mill Race activities and fireworks.

"I feel this expense should be shared with the Northville community, not solely from the police department budget," Cannon stated in the report.

He told the council that the July Fourth overtime coupled with that of the Memorial Day parade duty had been destructive to the budget.

Council member Paul Polino agreed that "it is a lot of money to come from the police budget," but added he feels the Memorial Day activity "is more a city function" than the July Fourth festivities.

While noting that five regular officers and one auxiliary officer were used to patrol the spectators on foot and to control traffic for the fireworks, it was pointed out that 2,000 people were estimated to have viewed the display.

Cannon's report showed 24 man hours (the six officers for four hours) were used on fireworks duty at a cost of $504.72, the report indicated.

For the parade Cannon listed 20 man hours, or eight officers at two and a half hours each. Six regulars and two auxiliaries were used to control traffic along the parade route at a cost of $649.50.

Two auxiliary officers were used to patrol the Mill Race for a total of eight hours, four each, at a cost of $71.52.

The council agreed to discuss with City Manager Steven Walters whether the expense should come from another budget.

Command officers get new contract from township

After more than one year of working without a contract, township police command officers have at last concluded a pact largely based upon the one patrol officers signed last fall.

The agreement with the township Command Officers Association (COA), which expires March 31, 1984, links sergeant salaries to those of patrol officers, setting them 10 percent higher. Lieutenants (of which the department has none now) will earn five percent more than sergeants. The union includes the department's three sergeants and one captain. Board of trustees approval of the pact came last Thursday night.

The captain's salary was set by the board when establishing the post recently at 10 percent above sergeant. The COA previously operated under a letter of agreement which was to expire in April 1, 1981, but has been used in the interim. In that agreement, lieutenants received 10 percent more than sergeants. This reduction in the margin between sergeant and lieutenant to five percent is the only major change from past practice, business manager David Lelko told the board last Thursday. There was no such post as captain when the older agreement was written.

Wage rates established by the agreement have already been implemented, Lelko said, under the percentage-above-patrol officer formula under effect earlier. Sergeant salary was set at $22,660 from April 1, 1981, to April 1, 1982.

In accordance with raises in the patrol officer pact, that was raised to roughly $24,220 April 1 of this year. The sergeant salary will continue to increase through the agreement, as patrol officers receive raises of two percent this October, five percent next April, and six percent the following October.

As did the patrolmen, command officers gained overtime pay of time and one-half, retroactive to April 1, 1982, reduction in "show-up time," increased allowance for accumulated vacation (up to 30 days), addition of a floating holiday and increased sick days for home care of family.

Added benefits in the COA pact not granted to patrol rank include an increased "uniform" allowance of $550 (was $525), permission to carry other kinds of guns, permission to inspect police personnel files, establishment of a compensation time bank (up to 20 days comp time in lieu of overtime), an added 30 days allowed in the sick day bank bringing it to 90 days, and compensation time for the carrying of communication paging equipment while off-duty. Between April 1, 1982, and March 31, 1983, those carrying pagers will receive five added days off. In the following year, when it is expected a lieutenant will be added to the force, pager compensation time is reduced to three days.

In related news, township police chief Kenneth Hardesty revealed July 8 that he wishes to make alterations to hiring requirements for the department. He told the board of trustees his review of hiring practices is in anticipation of adding two to three officers to the force next spring.

Changes would bring the hiring provisions into agreement with labor contracts and upgrade some requirements, he related.

The department will begin receiving added revenues from the tax increase approved by voters last November in the next budget year, beginning April 1, 1983. Hardesty said the goal is to insure there are two township patrol cars on the road 24 hours per day, requiring added personnel.

The board instructed the chief to bring a detailed list of the desired alterations up for its approval in the next few months.

Passes firearms course

City police Corporal Gary Callender recently completed a two-week course at the Detroit Firearm Instruction School at the Detroit Pistol Range.

The course taught Callender how to be a firearms instructor on the shooting range and in the classroom. He now is state certified as a firearms instructor, and he will be doing mostly departmental instruction.

One of the requirements to graduate from the course was to shoot "expert" on the shooting range. Callender scored 241 out of 250 in his first test and scored 242 out of 250 in his second test to complete the requirement.

Police Blotters

Stereo equipment target of thieves

In the township...

A Reading, Pennsylvania, man reported more than $500 worth of stereo equipment and tapes stolen from his car parked on Linwood Road July 15 and 16. The man who was staying with his parents at the Linwood address, told police the car was broken into and the equipment stolen overnight. Listed missing were a $200 Sony AM-FM stereo cassette unit, $200 Jensen tri-axial speakers, $250 worth (24) of cassette tapes and a $24 case for the tapes. Police furniture valued at more than $500 was reported stolen from a Northville resident between July 1 and 6, the owners told police. The man told police he heard noises in the driveway of his home near Edenderry and went out to investigate. While walking down the driveway between parked vehicles, the victim told police, he was punched in the face. His 20-year-old brother found the victim lying semi-conscious in the driveway with blood covering his face. The elder brother called police. The victim said he could remember nothing between the time he was hit and when his brother picked him up.

A 19-year-old Seven Mile resident told police he was punched in the face by an unknown person while investigating a suspicious sound at 1 a.m. Sunday. The man told police he heard noises in the driveway of his home near Edenderry and went out to investigate. While walking down the driveway between parked vehicles, the victim told police, he was punched in the face. His 20-year-old brother found the victim lying semi-conscious in the driveway with blood covering his face. The elder brother called police. The victim said he could remember nothing between the time he was hit and when his brother picked him up.

...In the city

Despite finding the suspect twice, a local youth has not recovered his Schwinn 24-inch five-speed bicycle which was stolen from the Chatham's store on Center Street July 12, city police report. The bike was valued at $150.

According to the report, the complainant said he parked his bike, unlocked, beneath a stairway at the rear of the Chatham's building. When he returned, the bike was missing. However, the complainant's twin brother came to the police station July 15 to report he had seen the suspect riding his brother's bike south on Center by the Burger Chef at 1:55 p.m. The suspect continued south on Center before cutting through the Arbor Drugs lot where the twin brother lost the suspect, the report indicated. The twin brother said he stopped the suspect to get his name, but was unsuccessful.

A hit-and-run driver damaged a township man's car on Haggerty south of Eight Mile July 13, police reports indicated.

The 22-year-old driver told police he was driving southbound on Haggerty shortly after 4 a.m. that day when a silver-blue or grey Ford shortbed pickup truck struck the right rear quarter panel of his car.

According to his account, the two were stopped at the Eight Mile light side-by-side with the truck in the right lane. As the road narrowed to one lane south of Eight Mile, the pickup moved over into the car, the driver told police. When he stopped beside the road shortly after the collision, the man said, the pickup continued south on Haggerty without stopping.

The man drove home before calling police. They found flakes of greenish paint on the damaged quarter panel of the vehicle. The driver did not obtain the truck's license number, so the flecks of paint constitute the primary evidence in the case.

The complainant came into the station 10 minutes later to report he saw the suspect on his bike in the Arbor Drugs lot at 2 p.m. The brothers were not together at the time of the sightings, police said. The suspect continued north on Hutton where complainant lost sight of him.

Minutes later, the complainant saw the suspect at Rayson and Center and continue north on Center. The complainant also stopped the suspect to ask for his name, but was unsuccessful, according to the report.

Unknown suspects stole a Brentwood 26-inch 10-speed bicycle from the Electric Light Room bike rack on West Seven Mile sometime July 14, police report. The bike valued at $140 was not locked.

Unknown suspects stole a $300 wrought iron lawn chair from a Battleford residence between July 13-14, police said.

Precinct delegates chosen at August 10 election, too

While attention is focused on the candidates for state and national elective offices on the August 10 primary ballot, there is another race that receives little attention.

Voters will select precinct delegates who, in theory at least, will represent them at the major party conventions this fall.

Running for precinct delegate is widely touted as a good entry level activity for those with an interest in politics, and many candidates for major offices can list a role as a convention delegate on their resumes.

Lost in the shadow of the major races, precinct delegate contests are often unknown to voters before they reach the polls. In fact, the posts are obscure enough that in many election precincts there is no candidate listed on the ballot.

"They can practically write themselves in, with family and friends voting," township clerk Susan J. Heintz said of those interested and living in precincts with no candidates.

Northville Township has 10 election precincts (the voter's precinct is listed on voter registration cards) while the city has two, one in each county.

One delegate from each precinct will be chosen for each party convention. There are no Democratic precinct delegate candidates listed on either city or township ballots, but write-ins are allowed.

Candidates whose names will appear on the August 10 ballot (all Republicans) include:

Township Precinct 1 — Timothy D. Lemon,
Precinct 2 — Kathleen L. McNally,
Precinct 3 — John M. Leinonen,
Precinct 5 — Myron Casey and Iva Louise Wolf,
Precinct 7 — Wesley A. Rogalski,
Marion K. Lockhart and Rise Burke,
Precinct 9 — Irving E.R. Benson,
Precinct 10 — Jean H. June and Timothy Walter Mizerowski.

There are no candidates' names on the ballot in township precincts 4, 6 and 8. Write-in candidates will likely win these posts, according to Heintz.

City voters in precinct 1 may choose between Velma Belasco and Steve Folino while in precinct 2 Robert Brueck is the only name on the ballot. Write-ins have been known to become delegates even in precincts where there are declared candidates, but they must work against the disadvantage of having their opponents' names printed on the ballot, election officials point out.

No rush on final payment to 35th District Court

Final $11,000 payment to the 35th District Court for 1981 operations will not have to be made in full prior to the August election, quelling the fears of township officials eyeing a late summer cash shortage.

Business Manager David Lelko reported to board members last Thursday that court administrator George Willand had agreed to accept some form of time payment for the unexpected billing.

"He was agreeable to whatever we could work out," Lelko said. Treasurer Richard Henningsen added that he and Lelko would conduct "an extensive review" of the township cash flow situation to determine a method of payment.

The $11,000 billing came after a court audit revealed both a cost overrun and an improper proportioning of cost between participating communities. Canton, auditors found, was overbilled extensively while both the city and township of Northville were underbilled.

Clerk Susan Heintz had requested an exploration of payment methods at the July 8 meeting of the board, noting that the upcoming election would require certain expenses.

She related concern that an immediate payment to the court would drain money from the election fund, squeezing the township bank accounts beyond safe levels.

Lelko's report July 15 eased that concern, she said.

To be ordained Episcopal priest

Burroughs executive fulfills 10-year dream Saturday

By JEANDAY

Ten years ago Michael J. Bedford, a Northville resident and Burroughs executive who manages communication standards at the corporation's world headquarters in Detroit, took the first steps toward a long-held dream.

With encouragement from his wife Mary and seven children, he began his studies at the Detroit School of Theology at St. Paul's Cathedral on Woodward Avenue in Detroit with the intention of becoming an Episcopal priest.

As such, he planned to serve a parish that could not afford its own priest when he retired from his job that presently takes him to many parts of the world to discuss and design standards with those in the computer and communications industry.

At 2 p.m. this Saturday the Reverend Bedford will see his dream materializing as he is ordained to the priesthood by the Right Reverend H. Irving Mayson, Suffragan Bishop of Michigan, at St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Church, 26431 West Chicago, in Redford.

After this ceremony, he officially will be "called" as rector of St. Elizabeth's where he has been serving since November 22, 1981, as minister-in-charge in a non-stipendiary capacity. He has had complete responsibility for administering the parish with the exception of celebrating the Eucharist, which, he explains, a deacon cannot do.

The Reverend Bedford had taken the first step toward his goal when he was one of six new deacons in the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan ordained on June 26, 1976. This ordination in the Cathedral Church of St. Paul in Detroit officiated by Bishop H. Coleman McGhee before 500 people gave him the right to the title The Reverend.

When he began his unique work-study program, the Reverend Bedford was a lay leader at his church, St. John's Episcopal at 574 South Sheldon in Plymouth. He continued to work in his home parish while taking courses in such subjects as theology, counseling and liturgy.

The 35-year veteran with Burroughs Corporation juggled his studies and church service with work that takes him to meet with others in the computer and communications industry to discuss and design standards that "guarantee communications among the world-growing population of computers."

He represents Burroughs on several national and international committees and is chairman of the International Standards Organizations committee on text processing and interchange in the rapidly developing word processing industry.

Bedford says it is his wife Mary who "holds things together and is a real support" both in his ministry and at home. He, in fact, rarely says "I" when referring to his ministry, but uses "we" as he says he relies heavily on her to fill many of the gaps left by his full-time secular work with Burroughs.

She emphasizes that she takes his calls and does his typing, but does not carry out his ministerial duties. For both of them, she feels, the new calling will be "an opportunity to serve more fully in an added challenge."

After completing his remaining courses at the School of Theology to qualify for ordination to the priesthood, the Reverend Bedford was graduated June 26, 1980. He passed his canonical examinations that month for the priesthood.

He continued as assistant at St. John's in Plymouth in a varied ministry of teaching and preaching.

In addition to the responsibility of preaching every third Sunday, he trained acolytes and lay leaders, conducted confirmation classes, worked in adult Christian education and did marriage counseling.

Last November he was assigned by The Right Reverend McGhee, Bishop of Michigan, as minister-in-charge at St. Elizabeth's.

After a six-month trial period in the parish "to be sure it would be a compatible marriage," he was recommended for ordination by the vestry of St. Elizabeth's. Interviews followed with the Commission on Ministry and the Standing Committee of the Diocese, and the recommendation was made to Bishop McGhee, who approved his ordination to the priesthood.

Of the seven Bedford children only three still are still at home with their parents at 1949 Beck, but all plan to be on hand for the ordination Saturday.

Son Paul is married and living in Plymouth with his wife and two children. Son Peter is married and teaching junior high in Alexandria, Virginia; his father visits often on frequent trips to Washington.

Daughter Maribel was graduated from Eastern Michigan University as a teacher and now is married and living in Howell.

Son John is just completing his degree in forestry at Michigan Technological University in Houghton. James has an associate degree from Schoolcraft and is planning to enter Wayne State University this fall.

Christopher has just been graduated with honors from Northville High School and will be studying meteorology at University of Michigan School of Engineering.

Son Charles continues in special education classes at Webster School in Livonia.

For the ordination service St. John's choir and bell choir will be providing music. The Reverend Robert S. Shank, its rector, will join with William Campbell, senior warden at St. Elizabeth's, to present the Reverend Bedford for ordination.

St. Elizabeth's new rector plans to continue at Burroughs until retirement, but he and the family will be leaving to live in his parish after 17 years in Northville.

Board to set millage rate

Establishment of a 1982 property tax millage rate will have to await the August 19 meeting of the township board of trustees.

At a special meeting July 15 called to consider the millage rate, the board voted to wait and hope for Michigan Tax Tribunal action on an appeal that could make a minor reduction in assessed values township-wide.

"I'd say we should wait as long as we can," said Treasurer Richard Henningsen, noting that tax tribunal action might not come in time to beat the early September deadline for reporting the projected millage rate to the state. But it might, and is worth waiting for if it does, he explained.

Should the tribunal find in the township's favor, millage rollbacks under the new truth in taxation law would not have to be as large. The goal is to have governments collect the same dollar amount as the year previous or go on record increasing taxes. To do so, the millage rate is linked to assessments and must be rolled back by the percentage by which valuations rise, or the government must take a vote "raising" taxes by taking advantage of property value increases.

The township board is leaning toward a rollback of the 2.98 mills applied last year to offset the increased assessments. How large a rollback is required will be affected by the tax tribunal decision.

City council taps Mitchell for commission

Northville City Council accepted the resignation of Maureen O'Callaghan from the Northville Arts Commission at its July 12 meeting — a little more than a month after having appointed her to a three-year term on June 7.

She explained a letter to council that she has just moved to Wheaton, Illinois.

The council then unanimously appointed Charles Mitchell to a term ending in 1985.

McCarthy sent to Philippines

McCarthy, who is with the Air Force in law enforcement, is assigned to Clarke Field for a four-year tour of duty. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McCarthy of Lake Angela, South Lyon. The McCarthys are formerly of Northville.

Our Opinions Council action violated act

Mayor Paul Vernon's letter to city council regarding the resignation of attorney Phil Ogilvie was a revelation in terms of seeing into the operations of the city government. Unfortunately, the letter raises more questions than it answers.

We are most concerned that council's decision to be rid of Ogilvie was made without benefit of an open meeting. While it first appeared the approach to Ogilvie was made independently by Vernon and councilman Burton DeRusha, Vernon's letter has it that council, as a whole, decided to ask for the attorney's resignation.

Under the open meetings law, council cannot make such a decision outside a meeting open to the public with someone taking minutes. The usual argument by governments that wish to skirt the law is that a "straw poll" or discussions among individuals, who at no time gathered in groups constituting a quorum, resulted in the decision.

Several state attorney general's opinions declare such methods as these in violation of the act, on the basis that the technique of reaching the decision is designed specifically to avoid public discussion. Moreover, "no action," to quote the act, may be taken without a public vote. Discussion is allowed in private at times, but action is never to be taken behind closed doors. We believe requesting the attorney's resignation not only constitutes action, but is arguably tantamount to dismissal.

In this particular incident, we find the law could not be clearer, since the attorney reports directly to council, not to the manager, the mayor or any individual council member. Therefore, only council as a whole could request a resignation.

This being the case, how did Vernon and DeRusha get their marching orders, there having been no public meeting at which council voted to drop the attorney? Presumably, the entire council, or a majority membership thereof, somehow made that decision without anyone having to take a public stand on it. Accepting a man's resignation is a much less controversial issue than is requesting it, and council had only to do the former.

While the law's provisions would allow any person to challenge the action taken illegally and have it reversed in court, we do not expect to see this happen, nor do we find it desirable. Council would have only to vote again, in public session, to accomplish the same end. Last week's vote to accept the resignation, in fact, would probably withstand any challenge.

What would be desirable is a council that obeys not only the letter, but the spirit of the open meetings act.

Goals for 'super'

Though he's been in the district only slightly more than two weeks, new School Superintendent George Bell already is finding himself hip-deep in the trials and tribulations of school district management.

At his first board of education meeting last week, Bell faced the wrath of angry citizens protesting increased spending and the high school's open campus policy. While these two issues constitute only part of the many areas to be reviewed by the board of education and administration in the coming year, there is no doubt they will stir considerable heated debate before they are resolved.

In addition to dealing with an irate citizenry, Bell also has had a preview of the complicated budget procedures of an out-of-formula district with no summer tax collection and separate state funding for the Institute Special Education Program. Then there is the issue of realigning the district's grade structure, examining future facility use and closing a school. From the sound of things, it appears Northville's new superintendent has his job cut out for him.

As the new chief executive of the Northville Public Schools, Bell will be setting the tone for the district in the coming years. Like any new official, Bell will be haunted by the legacies of his predecessors — both good and bad. It is too early yet to determine exactly what course of action Bell will take in his first year as superintendent. However, we believe careful consideration should be given to several issues currently facing the Northville schools and hope the new superintendent directs his administration to pay some long overdue attention to several problems plaguing the district.

Northville Public Schools will begin the 1982-83 school year in fairly sound financial shape. This certainly is a far cry from the economic crunch of last year when more than $700,000 was pared from the budget after the July millage election. While the district may not be facing the money woes of last year, we believe that fiscal restraint should be a top priority in the years to come. We believe the board of education will have to be less generous with administrative and staff salaries and hope there is a concerted effort among administrators to keep expenses down.

As a former high school principal, we hope Bell will be able to give the administration some direction in the problems plaguing the high school. Foremost will have to be a close examination of the open campus policy. The recent beating of a student in the school hallway brought to light the lack of control which prevails at the high school. Though a single incident should not be the primary reason for changing the open campus policy, we see little being done to prevent the same sort of unfortunate circumstance from happening again.

Bell comes to Northville with a respectable record of community involvement. While serving as superintendent of the Van Dyke Public Schools, he was actively involved in several community organizations, including the Warren Research and Development Council and the South Warren Neighborhood Improvement Organization. We hope Bell will continue the same type of community involvement in Northville. We cannot emphasize enough the importance of keeping the lines of communication open between the schools and the community.

Ford: we want your news

In the 19 months since Ford Motor Company announced the planned closing of the Northville valve plant, its layoffs and the subsequent decision to reopen, The Record has received clippings on the plant enclosed with notes from former residents living as far away as China, and from Boston, Pennsylvania, and Maine.

The waterwheel plant with its duck population seems to have put the community on the map with everyone but Ford officials. The Record covered the layoffs at the plant with comments of workers and pictures. Because reporter Kevin Wilson had made contacts with union workers as well as management, we were aware that the fight to keep the plant in Ford's future was not over. As rumors flew, it became routine to check with various public relations people before each issue to see if any decision had been made.

The week after we reported the Ford review still was underway, on March 17, Ford officials gathered at the valve plant to announce the future reopening. Because our weekly paper is published on Wednesday, the timing could not have been worse — we were a week late with the news although Wilson had the untold background story of local union official Norm Fultz' influence in the decision.

Needless to say, we protested to Ford, asking that The Record, the hometown newspaper where the plant is located, be given consideration when future announcements are made. June 30, after a Monday call to Ford, we reported that decision on what was to be manufactured at the plant and when, had been delayed. We strongly suspect that our call triggered some investigation by Ford public relations officials who were then aware that this was the time indicated for the decision. As we went to press, the company announced it was seeking input on suggested uses from the union and would open by October.

There's still a third news break to come — precisely when the plant is scheduled to resume operation and what it will produce. We hope Ford's corporate news division this time will remember the newspaper that has been reporting activities about the plant ever since Henry Ford I began operations here.

(Back on August 17, 1923, we noted the visit to Northville of Ford with friends Edison and Firestone.)

It has been rewarding to hear from former residents about Northville's national coverage. Lisa Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Webster, sent a clipping from the Morning Press of Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania, showing Marty Peters, a laid off employee beside a machine he used to run at the valve plant with the AP story of the reopening decision. "While looking through the morning paper," Lisa wrote, "I noticed this photo and happened to read the caption. To my surprise it was from Northville — my hometown! Thought I'd send it along to you with a little note telling you how glad I was to hear that the Ford plant will be reopening. I am currently working for the Press-Enterprise, Inc., as their public relations coordinator. We publish three newspapers — the Morning Press, Berwick Enterprise and Saturday/Sunday."

Susan Stine sent her parents the Frank Bosaks of Northville the lead story of February 14 in the Boston Sunday Globe that quoted The Record's reporting of the plant decision to transfer salaried workers to Dearborn, noting we said the plant apparently has lost its slim chance to be reopened but mentioning that dismantling had been "put on hold." Stine also notified us through her mother that as a resident of Appleton Street in Boston it had "none of our mess." An editorial last fall drew a comparison of community revitalizations.

Former Northville Record receptionist Marge Ercoli notified us from Maine that "the duck situation" had received coverage there with announcement that the city would continue to feed the ducks with food supplied by Ford. A copy of the February 23 China Post ran a UPI story that laid off workers at the Northville plant "got the ball rolling" by being the first union local to ratify the revised contract with Ford. The paper was passed along to us from W. Edward Wendover of the Plymouth Crier.

Since Lisa Dixon says her parents give her a subscription to The Record, our hope still is that she reads the final developments of the valve plant first in The Record.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

Bulletin: A lethal new weapon in the war between the sexes has been introduced by Philip Jerome of Sliger-Livingston Publications. The weapon, said Jerome, is called "The Column" and is so devastating it can reduce an irate wife to abject silence in a matter of seconds.

The power of the press. The pen is mightier than the sword.

I've heard those expressions countless times in the past and felt I had some understanding of just what they meant.

But ever since I've undertaken the responsibility of filling this corner of the editorial page every week, I've developed a new appreciation for just how powerful the press can really be.

Let's say, for example, that I've arrived home in the wee hours of the morning, the tell-tale odor of Demon Rum following me inexorably in through the door.

"It's two o'clock," comes the voice from the bedroom. "Where have you been?"

"It's that rotten city council again," I reply. "I'll never understand how they can hold such late meetings and still get to work on time in the morning."

The "rotten city council" ploy doesn't work anymore. She's heard it too many times before.

"Oh, I suppose they were drinking at the city council meeting," she responds, warming to the task of giving me the scolding I deserve.

"Besides, I called city hall and they told me the meeting tonight was canceled. And you have the audacity to come home at two in the morning, reeking of alcohol and blaming it on those hard-working city council members."

It's at moments like these when my new-found conjugal warfare weapon proves invaluable.

"Great stuff, my little turtledove," I interject enthusiastically. "I've still got my column to do and I need a good topic. Could you slow down a minute so I can take notes?"

At least that's how I think it will work. The truth of the matter is I haven't summoned up enough courage to try my new weapon yet out of a deep-rooted fear that the power of her fist may be stronger than the power of my pen.

Editorial opinions of The Record are developed and written by Editor Jean Day and staff members Kevin Wilson, Michele McElmurry and John Myers.

Wasn't lottery to aid schools, taxed homeowner asks

The Editor:
I feel I must speak out to our state legislative body — Republican and Democratic.

The property assessment value on our homes in Michigan is deceptive. My taxes in 1973 were $3,388 a year. This year, 1982, they are $3,384, an increase of $2.56 over a period of nine years.

I contested this increase to the local tax commission, but, of course, to no avail. It was obvious that the commission could have cared less. I wonder how many tax commissioners are in the real estate business?

We have many homes in this area that have been for sale for at least two years. People simply cannot sell them. If they do, they have to take tremendous losses by almost giving them away. I know of one case where a woman with three children has to sell her home because of our last tax increase of $400 a year. "What Price Glory" or it is the almighty quest for money better known as "greed."

Last year our school taxes increased $435. The first thing the school board did was to give its members a big raise. In our current economy where every newspaper article carries more stories of wage concessions, bankruptcies and lay-offs, this is really pathetic. If the school board cannot run the schools on the money currently allocated, it's high time for them to resign.

Initially, wasn't the state lottery set up to supply needed monies for local schools? "Oh, but of course, put it in the general fund. A general fund that also gives money for such really important things like new furniture and carpets for government offices — spend it, boys, spend it!"

Gentlemen, you were voted in to do a job. Start doing it or get voted out. You are in office for the people, not the lobbyists and big business to wine and dine you.

Can you not hear the people telling you of the unfair prices to heat and illuminate our homes? Be of honor — get rid of the unelectables. Time is running short.

Remember American History — remember Concord and Lexington. One of Thomas Jefferson's sayings — the tree of liberty needs a little fertilizer now and then.

Tesch — 1982 Kennedy — 1984

Warns that bricks can cause accidents

To the Editor:

I'm just wondering why bricks are placed just about everywhere nowadays. I know they add to the beauty of places of business and are easy to take care of. But they have to be checked every so often to see if they are loose or should be replaced. They also are very slippery when wet or are snow covered.

My point is that the bricks at the M.A.G.S. main entrance should be checked as there are a lot of loose ones and with all the people — senior citizens and handicaps — that enter M.A.G.S. and the Big Boy Restaurant someone could get hurt very bad if they stubbed a toe on a loose brick and fell.

That is just what happened to my husband. He was just getting so he could get around really great on his new leg. He had had diabetes for a long time, also had had a stroke. Then in December he had complication so had to have his left leg removed.

He was walking every day and doing great till July 5 when he walked out of Big Boy and stubbed his toe and went down.

If it wasn't for a young lady in the Big Boy who was looking out the window and saw him fall and gave the alarm, he could have done a lot more damage trying to get back on his feet. As it turned out, he had a broken left hip and, with the gang at Big Boy and the young lady, it was a clean break and needed a pin.

I want to thank all of the people who helped him till I got there with the car and wheel chair and got him to the emergency room when we found out the hip was broken.

He is on the mend and learning to walk with his leg all over again, and doing great.

He'll be back walking again up town very soon with the help of the Good Lord and all the prayers of our friends.

So, please be very careful when walking on those bricks, no matter where they are.

Thank you,
Doris Lobdell

First of all, to the Northville City Council and Mayor Paul Vernon and to the Northville Township Board and Supervisor John MacDonald for your continued support of our project; to the Northville Public Schools for your support and assistance with our barbecue and fireworks efforts; and to the A & P and Guemsey's for all special efforts for our barbecue.

Then, in no particular order, a special "thank you" to Matt Meyer who beat our clean-up crew to the high school hill, to Andy's Meat Hut, Long's Fancy Bath Boutique, Earl Keim Realty, Copy Boy Printers, The Northville Record, Ford Motor Company, the Northville Historical Society, and the Northville city police and fire departments for each one's assistance in our activities for the Fourth. Also, to the Northville Jaycee Auxiliary whose members are always there to lend a hand.

In addition, I'd like to publicly recognize a group of young men from the Jaycees who helped me out on this project: co-chairman Dick Kernozak; parade chairman Francis Olewnik; and barbecue, Bill Sherb, fireworks, Bob Cummings; manpower, Jim Totzkay; finance, Mike O'Brien; facilities, Mark Storm; raffle, Greg Dawson.

Finally, I'd like to thank the Northville community for your continued support of our project. Without your attendance and patronage this project would not take place. I thank one and all who attended any portion of our day-long activities. We hope you enjoyed yourselves. The Jaycees pledge to continue improving on the Fourth of July each year.

Sincerely,

Explains capsule theft destroyed class project

To the Editor:

I would just like to say a few words concerning the shocking story about the time capsule in the July 14 edition of The Northville Record.

I have not yet talked to the other students of Cooke Junior High's journalism class of 1982, but I'm sure that they all share my feelings.

We worked very hard on the time capsule, and we wanted nothing more than for it to turn out for the best. All of us talked and dreamed about the surprised faces of the generation of 2082. Sure, we all had the idea in the corner of our minds that maybe someone might dig it up too soon, but not 99 years and 11 months early.

We were not ready to face the disappointment after the effort we had put forth to contribute something to the students, faculty, and most, in my opinion, the community.

I don't think that anyone realizes the importance of this project to us, so not only is this letter meant to be a reprisal to the culprit(s) but a means of letting the public know the anguish that we feel over our loss.

Although there is no monetary value, there is great sentimental value which leads me to believe that one would only want to steal the capsule to hurt us. Maybe we will never know who the culprit(s) is or the reason for it, but this only goes to show how cruel one human being can be to another.

Proper Lens Care

Your camera's lens can only perform up to your expectations if it's spotlessly clean and free of fingerprints, lint and scratches. All lens damage is needless and easily avoidable.

First, you should have a clear protective lens filter plus a lens cap for all lenses.

Never allow your fingers to come in contact with your lens. Fingerprints will not only cause muddled pictures, they will etch themselves into the lens coating and do permanent damage.

Never use handkerchiefs or rags to clean your lens. They can cause scratches and nicks. Cotton and paper tissues can leave lint, which will cause poor pictures. Don't use the silicone polishing tissues or "sight savers" commonly sold for cleaning eyeglasses, as they can remove the coating on your lens.

For proper cleaning, use a soft sable-hair brush, lens tissue and cleaner and a rubber syringe blower.

Come in and see us about your lens care needs at 1-stop, 43220 Grand River, Novi. 348-9355.

Swinging into town

For little Sara Burger, 6, a visit to Grandma and Granpa Burger's house means a trip to the playground across from St. Paul's Lutheran Church. The little tyke, who was visiting her grandparents all the way from Cleveland, found the monkey bars were the perfect place to swing. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Northville in book of 'Michillaneous' facts

What's worth noting about Northville? Ask different people and you'll get different answers, but to Gary W. Bartknecht of Davison, Northville is noteworthy in two areas.

Bartknecht is the author of "Michillaneous" (272 pages, Friede Publications, $7.95) which he calls a "Michigan Book of Lists."

Along with the Oak Park, Dearborn, Southfield and South Redford, Northville rates as one of the five "most generous school districts."

During the 1977-78 school year, Michillaneous reports, Northville spent $2,551.06 in educational costs per pupil, just $111.10 behind the top-spending Oak Park.

On the other end of the scale, the five school districts that spent the least per pupil were Cass City, Ulyb, Lake City, Mattawan, and Vassar — each spent less than half the amount per pupil that Northville spent.

Northville resident Todd Nadeau also got listed in the book as one of "seven successful limb re-attachments."

According to the book, Nadeau cut off his hand with a power saw in September of 1979. The hand was successfully replaced by doctors at Detroit's Harper Hospital.

Not only does Northville make "Michillaneous", but surrounding communities including Wixom and Novi are included in different categories.

Wayne County is listed in 19 separate categories, including "unusual autopsies," (concerning charges leveled in 1975-76 of "body snatching" by Wayne County Morgue employees) "fantastically large awards," ($4 million to a Dearborn woman for unnecessary removal of a kidney) and as the oldest county in Michigan (incorporated in 1815).

Oakland County makes 14 lists, including "four most deadly tornadoes" (47 people were killed by an 1897 twister), and "four counties with the most septic tanks or cesspools."

Pool filter problem cancels swimming

plained that the custodian has not been available when needed and is difficult to locate.

"There is no maintenance. This is the worst facility," he said.

When asked if things are better when school is in session, Sullivan said, "just a little bit, but not that much better."

Hood said he has periodically talked with Sullivan about some of the problems, and had received the January letter.

Custodian availability was addressed last year in a memo, Hood said, to his staff about trying to keep in touch. He added he has done this again recently.

"We're trying to keep abreast of the situation...actually, we're trying to get ahead of (the problems)," Hood explained.

"When you think of how many hours the pool is in use during the summer, spring, winter and fall, it's surprising how many things are in good condition. I'm not trying to pat myself on the back or anything. On a normal day when school is in session, from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., that pool is in use about 12 to 14 hours a day," Hood added.

Commissioner Dave Llewellyn, the school board liaison, said he would take the matter to the board for a response.

In other items discussed by the commission, Recreation Director Ed Kricitz said logistics have been worked out to get prisoners from the Phoenix correctional facility to work on various fields. He said the prisoners would be brought to the community building where a township car would be used to transport the prisoners to the various fields. Kricitz said he would begin interviewing prisoners soon to work on the fields.

He reported that a two-year lease has been signed with the Thomson family for use of Thomson Field by the recreation department.

The Citizens Task Force Committee, which is primarily looking at ways to obtain land for the rec program, had a meeting recently, commissioner John Buckland reported. Three possible sites were discussed at the meeting, Buckland said.

The first on the list is 40 acres of land next to the new prison being built on Beck Road at Five Mile. William McLaughlin said he would talk to Governor William Milliken about the possibility of obtaining the land, Buckland reported.

The second area is the township fields east of Northville Road. These are a part of the vacated Wayne County Child Development Center which is being proposed as a senior village project. Larry Sheehan volunteered to talk with people from the Economic Development Corporation about the proposal, Buckland said.

The last area is some of the land on Fred Greenspan's partially undeveloped Colony III site. Bill Bohan was going to check into the possibility of a temporary lease, Buckland said.

Police warn area of check frauds

Police are warning churches and banks to beware of a con artist who asks ministers to stand behind his checks and then cashes the bad checks at local banks.

Novi police Corporal Jack Grubb said the suspect sought in connection with the bad-check scam is 38-year-old Kenneth R. Buyrholdt of Seattle, Washington. In the last four to five weeks, he is suspected of cashing $8,000-$9,000 in checks using the church and bank scam, Grubb said.

Novi police learned Buyrholdt was in the area when he went to a church recently and asked the secretary to see the minister. The man allegedly told the secretary he had just moved from Seattle where he had a successful insurance agency and wanted to start a similar business in Novi.

After securing the names of several local banks from the secretary, he went to the National Bank of Detroit office on Grand River and asked to open an account, offering to write a check for $5,000 so he could draw from it.

When the bank refused to allow him to draw from an account of that size without waiting 10-14 days for the check to clear, the man returned to the church and told the secretary he had $30,000 in an account in Seattle and did not understand why the bank would not cash his check.

Grubb said the man followed the secretary's suggestion and tried Manufacturer's Bank, which also refused to cash his check. He then returned to the church and allegedly told the secretary she could authorize his checks since the minister was not in.

Shortly later, Manufacturer's management called Novi police and said they had received a bank bulletin alerting them to watch for the suspect. After subsequent investigation, Grubb said that police found the man has a long record of arrests for larceny including stolen cars, forgery and counterfeiting.

Currently, there are two warrants for his arrest for sexual assault from the State of Washington and no-account checks from Holland, Michigan, Grubb reported.

New program lets 'little guys' get high interest rates

By KATHY LAVEY

It used to be that the luxury of a high interest rate in a money market savings or checking account was reserved for those who had more than a little money to invest.

Not any more. A new program at the Northville Community Federal Credit Union makes high-yield money market savings and checking accounts available to almost everyone, even people who don't have a lot of money to invest, according to manager Sherry Spaman and marketing director Christine Glaister.

"We're very excited about this program. It's the first of its kind, and it's for ordinary people, not the really wealthy," Glaister said last week.

Known as the Money Market Daily Dividend Account (MMDDA) and the Money Market Share Draft Account (MMSDA), the two new insured accounts can be offered only by credit unions, said Glaister.

Glaister explained that credit unions are able to offer the new types of account because they are the first segment of the finance industry to be deregulated by the government.

"Banks and savings and loan (associations) cannot offer this yet," she explained, because they have not yet been deregulated.

High interest rates and the protection of insurance through the National Credit Union Association are the main features of the new accounts, Glaister said.

Called a "multi-level" account, the MMDDA offers varying interest rates based on the amount of money in the account.

For example, an account with a balance that does not go below $7,500 a month earns interest at a rate two percent below the interest rate for treasury bills, or a recent average dividend just above 10 percent.

Accounts with a minimum balance of $3,000 have been earning just over seven percent interest, and those with a minimum of $1,000 earn a little over six percent, Glaister and Spaman explained.

According to Glaister, even the depositor who dips below the $1,000 minimum can earn six percent interest on the amount of money in the account, and they aren't "zapped" with a penalty charge for going below $1,000. In fact, a penalty isn't charged until the balance of the account is $400 or less.

"This account (the MMDDA) is perfect for businesses," Glaister said, "because they usually have enough money to keep the $7,500 balance and get the highest interest rate."

Unlike money market accounts at some brokerage houses, Glaister said, the MMDDAs are fully insured.

Union, including payroll deductions, Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs), direct deposit service, certificates of deposit, loans and savings accounts.

Affiliated with the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union, the Northville Community Federal Credit Union will celebrate its fifth anniversary in Northville next month.

Members must be residents of Northville, Plymouth or Canton at the time they join, but membership is unaffected by a subsequent move, Spaman explained.

According to Spaman, people seem to like the more personal service offered by the credit union.

"It's a folksy, friendly office," she explained. "People feel comfortable here."

"We really owe a lot to the people of this community, and to the clubs and organizations who have accounts with us," said Spaman. "We get a lot of support from the Northville community."

Business Briefs

THE ICE CREAM HOUSE at 588 Highland Avenue in the Prospect Hill Shopping Center in Milford recently celebrated its first year anniversary.

Owned by Richard and Joann Bruchhaber, the store sells Stroh's Ice Cream in 32 flavors, plus three flavors of soft serve ice cream, sandwiches and frozen Cokes.

There is seating for 24 inside the ice cream parlor, which has extended summer hours through October 31. It is open Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 10 p.m.

TWO LOCAL RESIDENTS have merged their talents to better serve their local communities. Frank Maisano of New Hudson and Jim Chain of South Lyon have combined Maisano's Italian Specialties, formerly of Livonia, and Towne Club Pop Center in Novi.

Frank and Jackie Maisano are now part owners and will manage the location at 26139 Novi Road, north of Grand River in Novi.

Maisano and Chain said the store will continue to offer quality soft drinks from Towne Club in numerous flavors which taste similar to major brands but at the economical price of $3.60 per case, along with potato chips and other snacks.

Maisano's Italian Specialties will offer Italian foods, such as their own homemade sausage, spaghetti sauce, fresh pizza dough and the makings for homemade pizzas, sandwiches, breakfast sausage, cheeses, pastas and numerous other food items.

The Maisanos also offer catering services and in the past have done the concession stand for the South Lyon Junior League All-star game.

The store will be offering a soup and sandwich specialty for lunch and looks forward to the continued support of surrounding communities.

FLIPPER McGEE'S LANDING is currently open for business in Whitmore Lake in the old Harbor Marina building at 9815 Main Street. The new business offers residents a variety of services, including a family entertainment center with electronic games.

The Landing also offers boat fuel, boat rentals, boat launchings, boat dockage, beverages, ice, live bait and tackle, party store items, sandwiches and boat storage. A liquor license and the sale of fishing licenses are anticipated in the near future.

The business is air conditioned and open from 5 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 5 a.m. to midnight on Fridays and Saturdays. Children under 15 years of age in the game room must be accompanied by a parent or guardian after 9 p.m.

STROH'S ICE CREAM PARLOUR AND RESTAURANT opened for business in South Lyon on July 3. The store now occupies the last vacancy in the original Brookdale Square shopping center at Nine Mile and Pontiac Trail.

Owned and operated by Green Oak Township residents Dennis and Darlene Swaney, the ice cream parlor offers a full line of creamy, cold delights. Swaney said ice cream specialties will be added to their offerings in the near future. The ice cream parlor also features deli-style sandwiches, homemade soups and salads. A typical lunch, consisting of sandwich, garnishes and beverages, costs about $3, according to the owners. Seating capacity is 32 persons. Carry-out orders are available.

A grand opening is being planned, but no date has yet been announced. Swaney said "kids of all ages" can have birthday parties at the parlor in the near future.

Stroh's Ice Cream Parlor is open from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday.

HAROLD HYLAND of Novi has qualified for membership in the prestigious Million Dollar Round Table (MDRT). He is a district representative for Lutheran Brotherhood, a fraternal insurance society.

The Million Dollar Round Table is an independent association of more than 15,000 life insurance agents, each of whom must meet strict ethical and production requirements to qualify.

Less than five percent of the world's life insurance agents are certified each year through high-level client service and production. Recognized internationally as the standard of life insurance sales performance, the MDRT's members represent more than 40 nations and territories and some 400 life insurance companies.

Hyland joined Lutheran Brotherhood in 1975 and offers life and health insurance plus a variety of financial services and other fraternal benefits to Lutherans in his area. He is associated with Lutheran Brotherhood's Karl Mueller Agency, headquartered in Rochester.

State chamber president blasts energy regulation proposal

It's ironic that our nation's sun parched states are casting brazen glances at the Great Lakes to quench their voracious thirst, according to James Barrett, president of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

Ironically because Michigan (which is virtually surrounded by four of the five Great Lakes and knows how vital adequate water supplies are to its economy) is actually considering another proposal that would similarly contribute to the collapse of another essential resource — its excellent energy supply system.

Barrett said Michigan citizens need to be aware that they are being asked to vote on a proposal that would encourage the exportation of future economic growth and harm, rather than help, Michigan's recovery.

The proposal, said Barrett, is the referendum initiative which is being pushed by the Michigan Citizens Lobby and Attorney General Frank Kelley, who has based part of his political career on opposing utilities. It will be on next November's ballot and will prohibit energy utilities from passing on to customers certain fuel and purchased power costs.

Barrett called the ballot proposal "another threat of over-regulation that will choke off the financial rating services to downgrade their credit ratings." He said the advent of the Citizens Lobby proposal has already caused Standard & Poor's, a credit rating agency, to place Michigan's three major utilities on a credit watch.

If approved by voters, the proposal would place heavy financial burdens on Michigan electric utilities and threaten the continued viability of our natural gas distribution companies, Barrett asserted. It would have a devastating effect on the customers they serve — residential, commercial, agricultural and industrial. That means all of us.

"Under current adjustment clauses," Barrett explained, "utilities may pass on to customers only the increased costs they must pay to purchase fuel. In the case of natural gas pipeline suppliers, the rates are set by federal law. The Kelley proposal would exempt Michigan from federal rulings. Since, then, would Michigan get its gas, where the Kelley proposal would not alter the natural gas pricing policies of the federal government?

"Timely recovery of increased fuel costs is necessary for Michigan's utilities to effectively keep pace with rapidly-changing energy costs and to provide dependable energy supplies," continued Barrett. "If utilities had to go through a full formal rate case hearing, now lasting an average of 13 months, it would be difficult for their rates to accurately reflect increasing costs of natural gas and other fuels."

To illustrate the point, Barrett noted that it's not unusual for a gas company to experience up to five major rate changes from its pipeline suppliers during the course of just one year. Rate case hearings are expensive and time consuming, adding to the overall costs of providing adequate and reliable energy supplies.

"And isn't that what it's all about...providing adequate and reliable energy supplies so that business can succeed and continue to provide jobs in Michigan?" he asked.

"Business, both large and small, will look to locate or expand in Michigan only if they can rely on sufficient energy supplies at rates fairly and appropriately set.

"Timely recovery of increased fuel costs is necessary for Michigan's utilities to effectively keep pace with rapidly-changing energy costs and to provide dependable energy supplies."

— James Barrett, president,
Michigan State Chamber of Commerce

"While Michigan has long enjoyed and benefitted from adequate water resources, we have come to take them for granted. Southern states, which are becoming more industrialized, are now beginning to realize how important water resources are to their economic future — just as they have long realized the importance of reliable energy supplies.

"On the other hand," he continued, "we have also come to take our energy supplies for granted. The state's utilities have done a good job of providing for Michigan's essential energy needs. Without adequate energy supplies, no state would be able to attract new business or generate new jobs."

Passage of the Kelley proposal, Barrett maintained, would force utilities to borrow to pay suppliers. This, of course, would mean that the high interest rates would be paid for through higher customer bills. Because of the high costs of financing, electric utilities and natural gas delivery systems would face severe crises — including the possible interruption of service.

Too many service interruptions would cause stores to close, companies to move out of state, farm prices to increase, jobs to dwindle and potential new business to locate elsewhere, he said. This would be detrimental to Michigan's economic recovery and development.

Barrett said the initiative petition will do nothing to cut energy costs. It will not alter the fact that fuel, gas and power supplies for Michigan must be purchased in the market place at competitive prices. Repeal of the adjustment clause will mean higher, not lower, energy bills for the state's consumers.

Barrett claims a better alternative to the Kelley proposal is the measure recently approved by both houses of the State Legislature. If, too, will be on the November ballot if signed by Governor Milliken. While this legislative measure also requires hearing before adjustment costs can be passed on to consumers, it deals with the entire issue in a fair and responsible manner without increasing costs or harming energy supplies.

Court's 'Due-on-sale' decision angers Realtors

The Supreme Court ruling permitting enforcement of due-on-sale mortgage provisions by federally-chartered savings and loan institutions dealt a serious blow to an already struggling real estate industry, according to the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR).

"We are still trying to sort out the total impact this decision will have for the local housing market," said WWOCBR President Lloyd Mason, "but it is obvious that the move poses new problems for the hopes of many would-be buyers and sellers."

Mason said first-time buyers will be among the first to feel the added crush growing out of the ruling. "Statistics show that nine out of 10 first-time buyers rely on some form of creative financing, such as assumed mortgages and land contract purchases," he said. "Such financing lowered monthly payments to restore targeted homes to an affordable level.

"Inasmuch as this decision will reduce these options, the opportunities for home ownership are depleted."

Mason predicted that many home sellers also will be caught in the crossfire with a reduced number of buyers in the market. Particularly hard-hit, he said, may be those who are unemployed and no longer able to afford present home payments.

Home sales up in June

Closed deals in June were up 42 percent over May 1982, according to Michael J. Bartlett, general sales manager of Real Estate One, Michigan's largest real estate company.

"Perhaps we now see light at the end of the tunnel," said Bartlett, "because June closings were the highest for our company since August 1981.

"As usual, over 80 percent of the sales in 58 metropolitan Detroit communities used the assumption of mortgage or land contract for financing. The median interest rate continued to be 11 percent with a high of 16.5 percent. The low was a sale on land contract with no interest.

The median sales price was $54,000, down from $56,500 the previous month, and the median down payment was $12,000, slightly above May's $10,011.

"For the first time we are seeing second mortgages being used to assist in financing," Bartlett concluded.

Real Estate One was formed in 1970 by the merger of four well known companies. The company operates offices in Orlando, Kansas City, St. Louis and Charlotte in addition to Metro Detroit.

"Hoping to realize their equity from their homes for a move to a more promising job location or simply to outwait the recession, they may have no alternative but to try to stage off foreclosure until a qualified buyer might appear," he said.

The WWOCBR president said some form of positive action must be taken immediately by Congress to provide protection for these homeowners and to restore the American dream of home ownership for millions of prospective buyers.

"The problem," said Mason, "is that there is too much talk of what can be done and too little action. We understand the Administration now supports expansion of state and local mortgage revenue bond programs. With federal tax exemption for such bonds, home loans could be provided at below market rates. While not a cure-all, it would certainly help.

"The President's Commission on Housing also has proposed a new system of individual housing accounts with contributions eligible for a credit against federal income taxes. Realtors have been pushing for this for more than three years.

"We also are urging exploration of other options such as the tax-free use of funds from Individual Retirement Accounts for home down payments.

"But with the usual record of study and debate in Congress, it could be months before any real relief is offered," he continued. "In the meantime, thousands of home sellers and buyers could be left out in the cold."

Mason said action to bring interest rates down to affordable levels would be the most productive step and could be aided by speedy passage of the Reconciliation Act for the First Budget Resolution.

"While we are not completely satisfied that Congress failed to follow our petition drive recommendation to hold budget deficits below $100 billion in the next fiscal year, it did pay attention and came close to the target," he said.

"But financial markets will not work to bring interest rates down until this earlier action is substantiated by voting the Reconciliation Act."

RECOMMENDED READING

Best sellers come and go. A current novel may enjoy a brief burst of fame as it hits the best seller list, only to be forgotten in a few short months. But the classics are with us always. And they find popularity with each new generation of book lovers. They are recommended reading down through the years. The classified pages of your weekly newspaper are classics in their own way... and belong with every wise person's recommended reading section.

Questions? Write to Attorney Larry Korn, care of Sliger-Livingston Publications, Post Office Box 168, Northville, Michigan 48167. Questions will be answered on a space-available basis. Answers in this column are directed at specific facts and may not apply in all situations.

Q. My son was seriously injured in an automobile accident. As a result, I have had to nurse him for almost a year. I feel that under our no-fault insurance policy, the insurance company should pay me for my services in nursing my son. The insurance company refuses to pay. What should I do to recover from my insurance company the monies I feel I am entitled to?

A. You should retain an attorney immediately to sue the insurance company for the benefits for the nursing services you are rendering to your son. In the case of Vandermarmer vs. American Fidelity Fire Insurance Company, the Michigan Court of Appeals held that the stepmother was entitled to recover for services that she rendered for her stepson's care, recovery or rehabilitation for a period of three years under the no-fault insurance act so long as she renders such services.

Q. I am 26 years old. My husband died last year and I have a two-year-old to raise. My assets consist of a house with an equity of $38,000 and approximately $40,000 in cash. Do I need a will?

A. Yes. In addition to a will, it might be advisable for you to have a testamentary trust giving a trustee the authority to sell your house and invest all your monies, with the income of the trust paying for the needs of your child until such time as she is 21 or 25 years old and able to handle her trust funds personally with responsibility. Also, in your will you should nominate a guardian and conservator for your minor child. Your will should also designate who you want to inherit your estate in the event your child predeceases you. These are a few of the reasons why it is extremely important that a widow with a minor child execute a will.

Q. I was riding my motorcycle and had the right of way on a through street when an automobile failed to stop for a stop sign and I was injured. I have undergone treatment from my doctor for almost six months and although my neck and back are still sore, my doctor does not think that I was injured seriously enough to collect damages for all my suffering. Can the other driver who caused the accident get away with this?

A. Under the Michigan no-fault law, your injuries must constitute a serious impairment of a bodily function in order for you to successfully sue and collect for "pain and suffering." If your injuries do not go beyond the threshold of serious impairment of bodily function or permanent disfigurement, your remedy under no-fault will be payment of your medical expenses by your no-fault insurance carrier.

The testimony of your doctor as to your disability must compel the conclusion by a preponderance of the evidence that your injuries meet the threshold requirements of the no-fault statute.

It would appear that your doctor feels his testimony would not be sufficient to conclude that there has been a serious impairment of a bodily function. We would therefore recommend that you do not start this lawsuit.

Q. About five years ago, my boyfriend was ordered to pay $15 per week for the support of our child through the Wayne County Friend of the Court. At that time I was receiving ADC from the Department of Social Services.

He is now employed with one of the big three automakers. I believe he takes home over $350 per week. What should I do to get him to pay more money for the support of our child?

A. You should immediately retain an attorney to file a motion to increase child support. This will be investigated by the Friend of the Court who undoubtedly will recommend that he pay 20 percent of his net income to you through the office of the Friend of the Court for the support of your child. You should be receiving anywhere from $50 to $60 per week.

If he is in arrears on his child support, you should ask the Friend of the Court to cite him for Contempt of court for non-payment of child support. The odds are that the judge will place him on a wage assignment to pay the arrearage and current support ordered by the court.

Q. I had an accident while driving a friend's car. The friend and I live in the same house. My friend's car was uninsured. I have insurance on my car and I asked my insurance company to provide me with the insurance protection that I paid for since I was driving a non-owned vehicle.

A. I am not entitled to insurance coverage while driving a non-owned automobile?

A. In State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company vs. Ruzicka, 412 Mich 321 (1982) Four Justices held that a non-owned automobile provision similar to the one in plaintiff's policy was unenforceable where the driver and the owner resided in the same household.

Q. I am the personal representative of my niece's estate. My niece died five years ago and the only asset in the estate is a house in a poor section of the city.

I am retired and cannot collect the rents. I cannot collect enough money to pay the taxes or maintain the house. What should I do?

A. I would suggest you make every effort to find a cash buyer for the house. If a cash buyer cannot be found, then I would make every effort to try to sell the house on land contract with a small down payment. If, however, the house is unsaleable and you no longer have the strength to act as personal representative, you should file a final motion on behalf of yourself as personal representative and include a motion for you to be discharged as personal representative of your niece's estate.

The judge will then appoint a public administrator to close the estate. If he cannot sell the house, the house will undoubtedly be abandoned and the city will take the property back for taxes.

Q. I am an unemployed veteran of World War II. I am losing my house because I did not have the money to catch up on my mortgage payments. Is there any relief that I could get as a veteran to stop the mortgage foreclosure?

A. If you do not pay the mortgage payments, the mortgage company will foreclose and ultimately the property will be sold and you may be subject to a deficiency judgement in the event that the sale price received is less than the amount you owe on the mortgage.

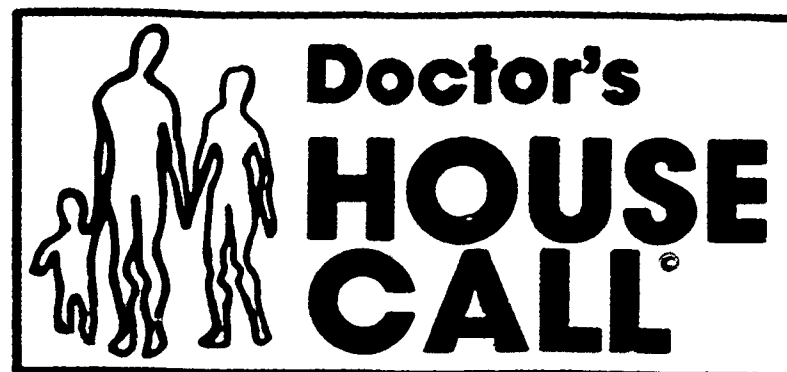

However, if you are a veteran of World War I, World War II, the Korean War or the Vietnam War please contact the Michigan Veteran's Trust Fund. They have an obligation to help veterans who are in need. The State of Michigan originally set aside $64 million for veterans to be helped on emergencies such as yours. They will assist you in catching up on your back payments, if there is any way possible for you to make the current payments necessary to save the house.

Q. We have a house in Detroit worth $15,000. A buyer wants to buy it for $13,000 with the understanding that he will make all repairs. What should I do to protect myself?

A. When you sell a house in the City of Detroit you have to obtain city certification as to the violations that exist on the property. Your offer to purchase should state that the buyer will take the house in an "as is" condition. There are no warranties or representations as to the condition of the property.

I would strongly suggest you obtain city certification from the Department of Building of Safety Engineering on the fourth floor in the City of Detroit. The amount of the down payment you receive is very important because if all your buyer has is enough money for closing costs and the small down payment the mortgage company requires, you would be left holding the bag with a lot of violations to clear up.

The mortgage company will not permit this deal to close until such time as all violations set forth in your city inspections have been completed. If the buyer has no money to make these repairs you might have to do them in order to close the mortgage. Also make sure your offer to purchase spells out specifically that the purchaser will pay all mortgage closing costs and prepaid items.

Q. I am due to have coronary arteriogram studies made. I have never understood just what this is, but I understand it involves taking X-rays of the vessels of the heart. How is it performed? Are there risks?

A. Coronary arteriography has been around for some time now and each day many people undergo the procedure you are to have. It provides a graphic picture of what is going on in your heart and the vessels (arteries) that supply blood to the heart. For example, a person with angina pectoris can be studied to learn a lot about the state of those vessels, how much blockage is there, etc. The procedure will not only diagnose blockage of the arteries but also the degree of blockage. This helps the doctor make decisions about therapy, whether arteries need to be bypassed, for example, and which ones.

Of all the other tools available to the doctor for such diagnosis, none is quite so definite as coronary arteriography, a procedure which began, really, back in 1929. In that year a physician, Werner Forssman, tried it on himself, and he suggested that it might be helpful someday for people like yourself.

Today, the procedure has been refined immensely. It is performed, of course, in a hospital, where the patient is carefully prepared and evaluated. Small tubes are inserted into arteries. Those in the groin or an arm are usually the most accessible, so they are used. This is relatively painless and is done under a local anesthesia, meaning you do not have to be put out. These tiny tubes are then manipulated inside the entry arteries and then directed into the arteries actually leading to the heart. They are moving with the flow of blood in that direction, which makes the procedure feasible. The catheter (tube) can be advanced to the heart chambers themselves.

Then, a special dye is injected into those arteries, and at the same time an X-ray movie begins grinding away. The result is a continuing display of the action of the heart and arteries.

Much concern is expressed by patients about the dye used, which permits a contrast background for the picture taking. It is similar to the kind of dye used for taking other X-ray pictures of organs — the kidneys, for example.

The typical coronary arteriogram will take approximately 45 minutes to one hour to perform. Are there risks? There are risks whenever you enter inside the body for whatever reason. There are certain risks in arteriography, but they are relatively low. The average risk percentage from this procedure is estimated at about .1 to .2 percent. No one likes risks, no matter how minuscule. But, from the standpoint of benefits received from such procedures, that percentage is considered quite small.

Arteriography is done frequently, and not only to learn about the heart and its arteries. These procedures have been refined to detect things like brain tumors and abscesses. Many patients are alive and well today because doctors have had such a valued diagnostic tool available.

If you have any concerns about your upcoming coronary arteriography, you should ask your physician to explain to you why it is being suggested and what he expects to be able to learn from it. Should you have remaining doubts, seek a second physician's opinion. Your first physician will not be offended, and you'll feel more comfortable should you proceed with the test.

(Song of the Poet)

The souls of they who rise at dawn behold the fragrant dewy lawn;
the souls of they who rise at nine sit placidly in warm sunshine;
the souls of they who rise at noon
remember last the misted moon;
the souls of they who rise at three the souls of they who rise at dusk

the souls of they who rise at night

It matters not what time they rise,

Freedom of speech
Is a wonderful thing
That most of us take for granted;
We rant and we rave,
Orate and sing
Or rhyme as though we're enchanted.

May not or may
Convey the meaning intended,
But if we're sincere
We have little to fear—
Our words can ere be up-ended.

Song for Mother Earth

When will the earth be green again?
When will the mountains, the forests, and the oceans sing again?
The sun and moon hide their face
Man has become earth's enemy
We poison our water
We poison our sky
Then have the nerve to ask God why
This is a song about Mother Earth
This is a song about our birth
We the children of Mother Earth and brothers indeed we all are
But as the eagle flies, so does time
What have we become, a world in hopeless despair?
Does God no longer care?
When will the sky be blue again
When will the sun, stars, and moon shine again?
Yes, this is a song for Mother Earth.

The Patriot's Dream

Around the hallowed Plymouth Rock
I saw a band of pilgrims stand;
From England, far across the sea
they came in search of liberty and a new home in a strange land.

I strolled upon the Concord green
Where a rude bridge once arched the flood;
The ancient bridge long since has gone,
The spirit born here lingers on
To wake the loyal patriot's blood.

With Washington at Valley Forge
I saw men die in freedom's cause;
Their sacrifice was not in vain
While modern minute-men remain
United to defend its laws.

At Gettysburg's historic site
Mid saber stroke and thundering gun;
The North and South in desperate strife—
A nation fighting for its life
Passed in review — freedom had won.

The guns are gone from Flanders Field,
Larks still sing bravely overhead;
The sentinel crosses vigils keep
Where resting in eternal sleep
Are bivouaced our honored dead.

Once more the despot's blood-stained hand
Caused freedom's flag to be unfurled;
Again our heroes crossed the sea
And on the shores of Normandy
Gave freedom's answer to the world.

No coward hand inscribed the scroll
That gave this Nation legal birth;
Eternal vigilance must be
The price we pay for liberty
Or it will perish from the earth.

Sleep, honored dead, a peaceful sleep
In the Valhalla of the brave!
We will not fail the rendezvous
With death and destiny, which you Kept with your all — the life you gave.

Grieving parents learn to cope — together

By MICHELE McELMURRY

The bright sunshine glistening through the family room windows of the Raymond Collins' home on Stanstead casts an eerie light over the two photographs in the gold tinted frames.

The young faces peering through the glass bear close resemblance — an only daughter and a youngest son — sister and brother.

For the Collins family, the images of these two young teenagers now are little more than haunting memories.

It's been almost two years since a garbage truck traveling eastbound on Eight Mile broadsided the maroon Granada driven by 17-year-old Marcia Collins, killing the Northville High school junior and her 15-year-old brother Brad.

The aftermath of their tragic deaths on that sunny day in August, 1980, has been a nightmarish hell for the family members and friends left to mourn their loss.

For Raymond and Gloria Collins, parents of Marcia and Brad, the past two years have been an endless ride on an emotional seesaw — often teetering on the brink of collapse.

They have been overwhelmed with a myriad of feelings — from shock and anger to bitterness and depression. The constant reminders — a fishing pole, a high school yearbook, a favorite record — have been symbols of their sorrowful loss.

Yet, through considerable understanding, compassion and sharing, Raymond and Gloria Collins are picking up the pieces of their lives. Over the past two years, they have learned to cope with the deaths of their two youngest children and now are reaching out to others who need to share similar grief over the loss of a child.

Sitting in the living room of her Northville Estates home, Gloria Collins appears calm and relaxed as she recounts the afternoon of August 8, 1980.

With three working teenagers, Mrs.

Collins explains she often ran a makeshift cab service, driving one child to work and picking up another on the way home.

The afternoon of August 8 was no different. Her youngest son Brad, who was working as a stockboy at the Homemaker Shop in Twelve Oaks Mall, called home around 1:15 p.m. to say he needed a ride. Her other son Mark had to leave for work by 2 p.m.

Mrs. Collins describes her youngest son as a pretty typical teenager. He was taking driver's education at the time and wanted to save money to buy a jeep after he got his license. He was supposed to start working a second job at Northville's Elias Brothers that night.

Working on her usual hectic time schedule, Mrs. Collins was frantically making lunch for Mark before dashing off to Twelve Oaks to pick up Brad.

Mrs. Collins explains it was her only

"I knew that I was not able to deal with the grieving. There never had been a tragedy in our family which compared to this."

daughter Marcia who came to the rescue.

"Marcia and Brad had always been close," she recalls. "They were close in age and liked doing things together."

"I had no problems with letting her pick him up at work."

Marcia, who was working at Elias Brothers, also was a Red Cross volunteer at Oakhill Nursing Home in Farmington.

"She really liked people and had a lot of compassion with people," Mrs. Collins explains. "As a 17-year-old, however, she mostly was interested in dating," her mother says with a smile.

At about 2 p.m., Mrs. Collins and her son Mark sat down in the family room to wait for Marcia and Brad's return.

Mrs. Collins says she knew something was wrong when it reached 2:15 p.m. "Marcia was never late," she explains. "I just couldn't understand why they weren't home yet."

Because of a railroad detour, Marcia and Brad Collins rerouted their return home via Randolph. They reached the Eight Mile and Randolph intersection — only slightly more than a mile from their home — just as a garbage truck came wheeling east down Eight Mile.

According to the police report and witnesses at the scene of the accident, the Collins' car apparently looked beyond the truck and proceeded into oncoming traffic. Despite the truck driver's attempts to alert the car by honking, it hit the Granada broadside.

Marcia and Brad, both knocked unconscious, were pinned inside the car for a short time before emergency medical technicians were able to get them free.

According to police at the scene of the accident, Brad apparently had been struck in the head by a structural beam which snapped at impact. He was in full cardiac arrest at the time he was removed from the car and immediately was rushed to Botsford Hospital.

Novi Ambulance medical technicians treated Marcia, who was in critical condition, before taking her to Botsford.

Both Marcia and Brad Collins were pronounced dead on arrival at Botsford Hospital. Cause of death was listed as multiple head and chest injuries. The time of the accident was reported as 1:52 p.m.

Sometime around 3 p.m., Northville police phoned the Collins' residence. According to Mrs. Collins, police told her about the accident and said both Marcia and Brad had been taken to Botsford.

"I didn't know about the railroad detour," she explains. "I thought the Novi police were calling."

Since Marcia had taken Mrs. Collins' car, the police picked her up and took her to the hospital. Before leaving, she phoned her husband, Raymond, a systems analyst supervisor at Ford Motor Company, and told him to meet her there.

"I didn't realize how serious it was," she explains. "I thought maybe only one of the children had been hurt."

Ironically, Mrs. Collins, a registered nurse, had worked at Botsford three years earlier.

"Having worked at the hospital, I knew what the procedure was in these types of incidents," she says. "After I met my husband, the doctors took us into an office around the corner — it was at that point that I knew they were dead."

Mrs. Collins explains that doctors "brought in tranquilizers for my husband and I" to help subdue the shock.

"I never got a clear picture of really what had happened," she recalls. "It was partly my own fault because I didn't ask any questions. All I wanted to do was get out of there — I wanted to escape."

Mrs. Collins says her immediate reaction to her children's deaths was shock. As for her husband, she explains "he immediately couldn't make decisions — about the funeral, work, everything — he just blocked it out."

Funeral services for Marcia and Brad Collins were held four days after the accident. They were buried side by side in Rural Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Collins explains that it was after the funeral, when the shock wore off, that reality began to set in.

"It was very hard at first," she explains, "especially when there were all kinds of reminders around."

"I remember going through the basement to find things to bring to the cottage, and I found a little piece of paper Marcia had written," she reflects. "It really got to me."

Following the accident, the Collins' oldest son David moved back home while their other son Mark left for Wyoming.

For the Collins family, the funeral came after the sympathy cards had been coming.

Local chapter aids bereaved families

Bereaved Parents, sponsored by the Women's Resource Center of Schoolcraft College, is open to all parents who have suffered the loss of a child — regardless of race, religion or financial ability.

The group meets from 8-10 p.m. the third Monday of each month in the Newman House, south of the main campus.

Participation is strictly voluntary; there are no dues.

The objective of Bereaved Parents is to provide support and friendship to sorrowing parents and to establish monthly meetings to share emotions and feelings regarding the grieving process.

The group also provides telephone contacts for especially stressful times such as holidays, birthdays, anniversaries, etc.

Reading materials and resource information is used to supplement meetings and participants also are put in contact with bereaved parents whose sorrow has lessened and who can provide hope for the future.

Persons interested in more information about Bereaved Parents should contact Gloria Collins at 348-1857.

Dental Dialogue

of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.

DENTAL IMPLANTS

Q. What are implants?

A. Actually dental implantology dates back as far as Egyptian times. Evidence of such dentistry has been found on unearthed mummies. With today's modern techniques the dentist imbeds a non-reactive material made up of metal or vitreous carbon directly into the patient's jawbone where teeth are missing. The implant becomes a permanent structure and the portion that extends acts as an anchor for a fixed bridge, a single crown, or even a support for dentures. These artificial teeth can then feel and function almost like natural ones. Implants promise to play a larger role in the future.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of

In Our Town

Crisan chauffeured royal entourage

By JEAN DAY

In three weeks Bob Crisan, a 1979 graduate of Northville High School, will be heading back early to Grand Valley College to resume football practice. Bob, who made the varsity traveling team his first year at Grand Valley, is the son of Wanda and Charlie Brooks of 900 Williamsburg. Because of his mother, he has a "royal experience" to relate to fellow students.

Through her work at Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Company, she heard from the Grand Rapids area dealer that there was some difficulty in getting official drivers for the visit of Her Majesty Queen Beatrix of the Netherlands to Michigan. Because Bob knew the Grand Rapids area from attending college there, she offered his name. He submitted a resume and passed security checks to become one of six official drivers for the queen and her entourage.

"She's a super lady," Crisan declares, telling how Queen Beatrix went through an official receiving line and then walked the length of the roped-off area to greet spectators at an outdoor reception. Crisan drove members of the group from Grand Rapids to Holland and to Calvin College during the three days — June 25-27 — Queen Beatrix and Prince Claus were here.

Crisan reports the queen showed real warmth as she visited Michigan, which has the largest concentration of residents of Dutch heritage outside the Netherlands. Governor William Milliken noted that the visit "signals the completion of 200 years of diplomatic ties which began at the time of our War of Independence." The Netherlands, the governor added, was the second country to recognize the sovereignty of the United States. "It is interesting to note," he commented on the visit, "that each of our countries is the largest single direct investor in the other."

Jane Martin's in fair booth 19

Jane Martin of 20138 Whipple may be an artist without work to sell by the end of summer. Her pencil sketches were featured in a two-woman show sponsored by the Northville Arts Commission in March. Beginning today, her work is on exhibit in the four-day Ann Arbor Street Art Fair in booth 19 on South University.

Mrs. Martin admits she is delighted "and really didn't expect to be accepted" the first year she applied for the nationally known, juried fair. She submitted five slides of her work, which is all original pencil drawings, and was one of 250 chosen from among 800 applicants. The list of exhibitors includes artists from New York, Pennsylvania, Missouri and Wisconsin as well as Canada.

The week following, the Northville artist expects to be in the Traverse City art show on the campus of Northwestern Michigan University — then she's signed for the Plymouth Fall Festival. She admits she's worried that she has enough of her pencil originals to show. The Ann Arbor fair alone draws an estimated 400,000 to that city for the "Queen of shows."

Parents cope with loss

the accident," she explains, "it was very hard for him to go back to work. He felt like everyone was avoiding him."

What made things more difficult, she notes, is that "people didn't even want to talk about it."

She explains that while her "closest friends seemed to shy away, the friends that weren't so close stepped in."

Like many couples, Raymond and Gloria Collins found themselves shying away from grieving together.

"My husband and I just didn't talk about it," Mrs. Collins explains.

It was this silent, solitary grieving which eventually led Gloria Collins to seek help outside her circle of family and friends.

"I knew that I was not able to deal with the grieving," she explains. "There never had been a tragedy in our family which compared to this."

In Fall, 1980, only a few months after the deaths of her children, Mrs. Collins began attending Ann Arbor's Compassionate Friends, a support group for parents who have suffered the loss of a child.

"My husband didn't want me to go," she explains, "in fact, he made my son Mark go with me to the first meeting. He thought I would fall apart."

Though Mrs. Collins did not fall apart at the meeting, she did find that many of the parents in the Ann Arbor group were not suffering recent child deaths and that much of their grief was different from her own.

In searching for another support group, Mrs. Collins found herself at the Southfield-based Bereaved Parents.

According to Mrs. Collins, Bereaved Parents — a self-help group for parents who have lost children — not only helped her in dealing with the loss of her children but also has given her a more positive outlook about the future.

The approach of Bereaved Parents is to share the feelings and emotions regarding the grief process in a positive framework and to promote a healthy outlook for the future.

After attending the Southfield group for almost a year, Gloria Collins, with the support of her husband, founded a new chapter of Bereaved Parents this April at Schoolcraft College.

The group, which meets the third Monday of each month at the Newman House, so far has attracted parents from the Northville, Novi, Livonia and Plymouth areas.

Mrs. Collins explains that most of the participants in the support groups she has attended over the past two years have been women. She says she hopes that her husband's presence in the newly-formed Schoolcraft chapter will initiate participation from fathers as well as mothers.

Mrs. Collins says that while both men and women suffer the same emotions over the loss of a child, men, traditionally, have been brought up to think they must hide their sorrow and keep their feelings inside.

These bottled up emotions ultimately lead to depression, she explains.

Mrs. Collins notes that while her "husband has been rather depressed over the whole thing," he is learning to share his grief openly.

She explains that Bereaved Parents not only helps parents with grieving but provides telephone contacts for especially stressful times — such as holidays, birthdays, etc.

She says she hopes that once the Bereaved Parents group gets underway, that they also can start a support group for siblings.

She adds she also hopes to get social workers involved in the group so that they can gain a better understanding of how to deal with parents and survivors of such tragedies.

Mrs. Collins says her outlook on life has changed considerably since the accident.

The experience, she says, has made her "more aware of other people and more compassionate."

"It's put life in perspective," she observes.

In addition to working with the Bereaved Parents group, Mrs. Collins also works as a substitute nurse in Northville's Institute Special Education Program.

Also, once a week, she goes to Rural Hill Cemetery to place flowers on the immaculately maintained gravestones of Marcia and Brad.

DR. AND MRS. PATRICK SMITH

Smith-Glenn vows exchanged

Karen Glenn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Glenn of 3840 Sanbury, became the bride of Dr. Patrick Smith in a double ring ceremony June 29 at First Presbyterian Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Smith of Grosse Ile.

Dr. Lawrence Chamberlain and Father Timothy Dambrowski officiated at the service. Samuel Willis Patterson, a professor of music at University of Michigan, sang Ave Marie and The Lord's Prayer. Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore an off-shoulder mink tulle gown, with a chapel train trimmed with imported Alencon lace and hand sewn seed pearls. Her Alencon lace cap held a white illusion veil.

The bride's sister Devon Glenn served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sisters Alison and Alisha Smith, Mrs. Jeffrey Smith and Mrs. Peter Ventemiglia.

The bride's attendants wore cloudy blue chiffon gowns with gathers and tucking at the sleeves and hem.

The bridegroom's brother Dr. Gregory Smith served as best man. Ushers were the bride's brother Gary Glenn, the bridegroom's brothers Paul and Glenn Smith and Craig Schepeler.

Approximately 200 guests attended a reception at Ioyl Wyld Golf Club following the ceremony. Out-of-town guests included those from California, Florida and New York.

The bride is a 1973 Northville High School graduate and was graduated from the University of Michigan School of Nursing in 1977. A member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, she currently is employed at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The bridegroom is a 1976 University of Michigan graduate and was graduated from University of Michigan School of Medicine in 1980. He currently is completing his residency program in orthopedic surgery at University Hospital.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple returned to Ann Arbor where they will reside.

Birth announced

Mr. and Mrs. Ray J. Casterline II of 332 South Rogers have named their new daughter Whitney Lauren. She was born July 16 at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor weighing eight pounds, six ounces.

The baby is being welcomed at home by three sisters, Courtney, 9, Kelley, 7, and Lindsay, 4.

Grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Russell M. Atchison and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Casterline, all of Northville. Mrs. Casterline is the former Roxanne Atchison and is a Montessori teacher.

Title picture becomes clearer in league softball races

With the season just past the halfway point, all three Northville adult softball league races are becoming clearer regarding who will battle for the title and who will be scrambling to make the playoffs.

No team has yet found a way to beat the Northville Jaycees as they continue to roll along the undefeated trail at 10-0 for first place in the National League. O'Sheehan's trails by two games at 8-2, while Sheehan's Little Caesars anchors third at 7-3.

Winner's Circle Bar holds a slim one game advantage over Sheehan's on the Green for first in the American League. Winner's Circle leads with a 10-1 mark, while Sheehan's follows closely at 9-2. Long Mechanical is staying in the hunt at 7-4.

The Women's League has developed into a two-team race as Getzie's Pub and Winner's Circle Bar are tied for the top spot at 7-3.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

The league-leading Jaycees needed a four-run sixth inning to down Urban's Partition 6-2 and record their 10th consecutive triumph.

Tom Rapson belted a double to start the winning rally for the Jaycees and scored on Martin Craig's double. He came home on Jim Hepler's single. Both Hepler and Mark Rhodes touched home on a two-run single by Bill Sherb.

Mark Sims was the top batsman for the losers with three singles, one run-batted-in and one run scored. Ron Maas added a single and a RBI. O'Sheehan's used a nine-run third inning to power itself to a 15-3 triumph over Phoenix X.C.F. and remain close on the heels of the league leaders.

All 10 starters for O'Sheehan's collected at least one hit, and nine players recorded at least one RBI. Joe Staknis paced the winners with three hits and two RBIs, while Bill Binder also added two RBIs.

Cliff Taylor cracked a triple and scored a run in the fourth, while Mike Hosey and Bill King each scored a run in the fifth for Phoenix.

It wasn't until the late innings that Belangers finally broke loose to secure an 11-7 triumph over St. Paul Lutheran. The winners scored four times in the fifth and three times in the sixth to break the game open.

Leading the hitting attack for the winners were Harvey Steffke, Pat Houlihan and Dave Kapehaski, all of whom collected two hits.

The tops batsman for the losers was Rob Bannatz who slammed a homerun and a single. Teammates John Mueller and Scott Balko each ripped a pair of singles.

The Eagles team remained near the top of the standings when it won its game over McNeely & Lincoln by forfeit.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Winner's Circle won a pair of contests last week with the first one coming over third-place Long's Mechanical 8-3. A six-run first inning was all Winner's Circle needed to win.

Craig Forhan and Bob McGuire were the big sticks at the plate for the winners. Forhan belted a three-run homer in the first inning and added a single while McGuire blasted a two-run round-tripper in the first and a solo homer in the third.

The losers were paced by two hits each from Rick Bingley, Larry Michalak and John Sinclair.

Winner's Circle pushed across three runs in the bottom of the sixth to secure a 7-4 come-from-behind triumph over J & S Steel.

Bob Smith belted a two-run homer in the sixth to key the rally and Lisowski cracked a run-scoring double to complete the comeback. Dave Zima slammed a two-run homer to highlight a three-run second.

Russ Barnes, Jerry Ismland, Gary Batzloff and Norm Kubitsky all knocked in runs for the losers.

J & S Steel scored single runs in each of the second, fourth and sixth innings to record a slim 3-1 triumph over Baber Roofing.

Kubitsky drove in two runs with two sacrifices and a single, while Ron White collected the other RBI with a single.

Aberdeen's had little trouble in downing Ductile Chrome Process 14-4 for its sixth win of the season.

The top run-producer for Aberdeen's was Jim O'Brien who drove in four runs, two of them resulting from a homer. Todd Eis knocked in pair of runs with a triple and single, while Paul Zubly slashed four hits and scored three times.

Rush also won a pair of contests last week as it first downed Canterbury Cleaners 8-7, and won a forfeit contest over the Junkyard Dogs.

Jim Martin showed some muscle in taking second in the heavyweight division

Two local arm wrestlers second

Seven local persons dared to test the "Monster" with an opponent. Two nearly came away a champion.

The "Monster" is a new form of arm wrestling which made its debut at Aberdeen's Sunday. In this type of arm wrestling, the contestants grab one end of a handle bar, instead of each other's hands.

Northville's Kurt Wolf was runner-up to Royal Oak's James Phillips in the flyweight division (150 pounds and under) in the contest sanctioned by the World Monster Association and co-sponsored by Michelob, of the Anheuser-Busch, Incorporated.

Jim Martin also finished second, but in the heavyweight division. He lost to Westland's Norm Labadie in the championship match.

Five other local contests competed but could not reach the finals in their weight divisions. Of those, William Foreman took third place honors in the flyweight division. Others competing were Norman Niles, Cathy Baker, Lisa Lafevre and Carl Baker.

Winning the men's lightweight division (151-175) was Randy Haass of Plymouth, while Westland's Paul Chapoff took top honors in the middleweight division (176-200).

In the women's division, Cynthia Steffka of Riverview won the lightweight division (135 and under), while Detroit's Renee Riopille won the open division (136 and over).

Approximately 22 arm wrestlers competed in the event.

Cubs capture G-League title; two races undecided

Despite losing their final game of the season, the Cubs still won the G-League championship. However, two other championship races have yet to be decided in F-League and E-League action.

The Mets downed the Cubs 7-3 last Thursday, but the Cubs clinched the G-League title last week Tuesday with a 14-1 triumph over the Giants.

The Mets finished in second place one game behind the Cubs. In the final contest triumph over the Cubs, the Mets were paced by Doug Meadows' double and two runs scored. The Cubs' hitting attack was led by Paul Smith's homerun, single and two runs-batted-in.

The homerun ball also helped the Cubs against the Giants as Roger Craske belted a round-tripper and scored three times. Teammate Rob Thomasson slatted three singles. The Giants were led by Mark Sealey's two singles.

The Braves won a 26-25 slugfest over the Astros. Leading the offense for the Braves were Paul Baird with three doubles and a single, Steve Workman with three singles and a double, and Reggie Means with a single, double and triple. The Astros were paced by three hits each from Steve Valentine and Derek Osborne.

The Braves, however, could not make a two wins for the week as they lost to the Pirates 7-5. The Pirates were paced by three-for-three performances from both Eddy Kruz and Heath Meyers, while the Braves were led by a three-run homer from Keith Smith and two hits from Robert Jameson.

It is still anybody's race as five teams continue to battle for the F-League championship as the season draws to a close.

There is a tug-of-war at the top with the Angels, Braves and Mets all tied for first place at 13-5, the Phillies second at 12-6, while the Expos have an outside shot at 4-1.

The Mets helped create the tug-of-war when they came from behind to top the Braves 7-5. A six-run seventh inning propelled the Mets to victory.

John Tuschner and Sean McLaughlin provided key hits for the Mets, and teammate Mike Jurek added two hits.

John Marc Anderson topped the Braves with three hits and two runs-batted-in. Scott Freeman and Chris Reister each had key hits for the Braves.

The Mets could have taken sole possession of first with a win over the Angels, but it was not meant to be as the Angels romped to a 12-4 victory to further complicate matters.

Excellent pitching by Kelly Bell and good hitting by Keith Dukaewicz powered the Angels. Bell allowed five hits in going the distance, while Dukaewicz belted two homers over the fence at Ford Field.

Fred Catill, Paul Newitt and Bell each added two hits for the winners.

The Phillies won a pair of contests to remain in the championship hunt. They trounced the Astros 12-4 for their first triumph of the week.

Jeff Harp and Dave Lividini each pounded three hits in the 25-out onslaught by the Phillies. Eric Terlecki, Tony Craig and Scott Trepanier each added two hits for the winners.

John Buger and Chris Hauser paced the Astros with two hits apiece.

Another strong 15-out attack powered the Phillies to a 19-9 whipping of the Giants for their ninth win of the year.

Joe Conway was the winning pitcher in relief of starter Lividini. Craig and Lividini each belted homers, and good defensive play by the entire Phillies team added to the victory.

Seven Giants players went hitless in a game played in the series.

Two more victories have helped the Phillies expand their E-League lead over their nearest rivals the Mets by three games.

Tim Kitting pitched a three-hit shutout against Novi's Saxonka for the Phillies' first victory. He also fanned 11 batters.

Greg Abraham ripped two doubles and a single to lead the Phillies' hitting attack, while Jerry O'Brien walked three times and scored twice.

Another excellent pitching performance by Jim Ziegler guided the Phillies to their second win of the week over the second-place Mets. He tossed a three-hitter and whiffed eight batters.

Robert Buger made three excellent defensive plays to hold the Mets at bay, while the hitting attack was paced by Abraham, Ziegler and Rob Willerer.

The Mets were led by Mike Davis, Dave Narr and Dan Perpick.

The Reds' Joe Mackle and Mike Weber combined to toss a two-hitter for a 1-0 triumph over Novi's Goat Farm.

Joe Crampton slatted three hits and knocked in a pair of runs to top the winners.

The Cubs' Paul Smith belts a homer in a losing effort

Mantle team wins three

It was a big week for the Northville Mickey Mantle baseball team as it won three of four contests last week. The only loss came against the undefeated Detroit P.A.L. team.

Northville ended the week with a thrilling 13-10 nine inning triumph over Plymouth Salem Sunday. The game went into extra innings with the score knotted at 9-all after seven innings.

Dave Longridge, who had two hits, slugged a single with two out in the ninth to score the winning runs. One of the key hits in the game came from Dan Nielsen who blasted a three-run homerun to tie the game early at 6-all. Steve Frellick added three hits and scored four times, while Mickey Newman doubled twice.

Key defensive plays were turned in by Todd Deal, Steve Schrader, Jerry Pawloski, John Quinn and Longridge to prevent Salem from scoring the winning runs.

Northville pitchers had some shaky moments on the mound as they issued 17 walks and eight hits. Good defensive plays were made to prevent extensive damage. Tim Ruffing secured his second victory of the year in relief.

Good defense, hitting and pitching were combined by Northville to thump a good Wayne squad 15-1 Saturday. Longridge supplied the hitting power with a homer, single and two doubles and five runs-batted-in.

Newman also slammed a homer to go along with his two hits and three RBIs. Steve Frellick added two hits and scored four times, while Mike Wissman collected two hits. Quinn also scored three times.

Bob Pegrum won his third game by hurling four innings and allowing one unearned run.

The squad's first victory of the week came against South Lyon 19-7 as Schrader was the winning pitcher for the second time this season.

Three were common for Pawloski who had three hits, scored three times and drove in three runs to pace the hitting attack. Wissman, Deal, Longridge, Newman and Schrader all collected two hits.

However, Northville bats were rather silent against Detroit P.A.L. as the squad could only muster two hits in 2-0 loss to the undefeated East Division leaders. Longridge and Schrader got the only hits for Northville. Good defense was played by both teams as each turned two double plays.

Basketball camp names winners

Northville's annual summer basketball camp ended on "Parents' Day" Tuesday with championships in free throw shooting and one-on-one play yet to be decided.

Steve Pade and Steve Pearce battled each other for the fourth through sixth grade camp one-on-one and free throw shooting titles.

In the seventh through ninth grade camp, Mike Hilfinger and Kevin Legel battled for the free throw championship, while Matt Hinds and Eric Gala battled for the one-on-one crown.

Team titles had already been decided by Tuesday with the Wolverines compiling a perfect 9-0 record to win the fourth through sixth grade camp title. Team members were Tim Hubbert, John Okasinski, John Pump, Chris Lemon, Pade and Pearce.

The Pistons won the seventh through ninth grade title with an 8-1 mark. Team members were Jeff Bainbridge, Kyle Boring, Fred Cahill, Mark Dozier, Mike Allan, Matt Spencer, David Skown, Stu Kissinger and Hilfinger.

THIS SUMMER ENJOY

THE KEY TO HEALTH

The spinal column supports the head that houses the brain and encases the spinal cord which sends out bundles of nerve fibers through openings between the vertebrae. This makes the spine the distributing center of the nerve system and the key to health.

OVER-LOOKED SUMMER INJURIES CAN BE FUTURE TROUBLE

Summertime usually means more time for outdoor leisure activities. Sports gardening or just puttering around the house offer ample opportunities for accidents, falls, bumps and sprains.

If you were in an accident and escaped with only a good shaking-up, a few cuts or bruises and no broken bones, you may have felt that no other harm could have happened that you could detect and that all was well and you were pretty lucky. Probably you were! Any accident could have been worse. Many persons involved in accidents, who escape without broken bones or serious external injuries, never give them another thought.

Many times one fails to remember that the spinal column must absorb much of the shock and punishment from every fall, accident or stain. In doing so, the jar or jolt might have been of such an invasive force that one or more of the spinal segments (bones of the spine or vertebrae) might have been moved out of their normal position and caused a pressure on the nerve system. Meanwhile our recent victim gets up, shrugs his shoulders and considers himself fortunate and goes on about his work.

Time passes on, and as we follow the activities of the individual involved in that accident, months or years ago, we find him not enjoying good health. Symptoms of many varieties may be present. Meanwhile all of this time, those little bones of the spine, jarred out of position by that accident have been squeezing and causing pressure on the nerve system. Naturally the organs and tissues which are supplied by these nerves could not function. (Energy over the nerve system is vital for their normal function.) Any kind of diagnosis or "Doctoring" without locating and correcting the cause is effort and money wasted.

The body never can function normally unless these bones of the spine are put back in their proper position allowing the pressure to be removed from the nerve system. Remember that the body has within itself all the necessary means to maintain health, and restore to health if sick, but the nerve system must be free from all pressure so that control can be maintained and the life force can flow free and uninterrupted from the brain to all tissues.

If you or one of your family is sick, look for the cause within. Once the cause of sickness is removed, the body can function normally and health can be restored. Have your spine checked for nerve pressure and if any exists, have it removed.

Dr. Mashike

Chiropractic Works . . It Gets Results . . and that's what's Important!

HEALTHIER & HAPPIER

I heard about Dr. Mashike through a friend that suggested my health problems could be helped with chiropractic care. When I started my chiropractic care, I had several health problems, severe back pain, frequent colds, and sinus trouble.

All of these problems interfered with my daily activities. This was really noticed once I started feeling better. After about three weeks of regular chiropractic adjustments, I was feeling much better. I now feel much more energetic and I also feel healthier and happier. I miss that good feeling if I can't keep an appointment.

My husband is also a patient now, so chiropractic is now a family affair. I've told many people how positive I am that chiropractors are great and I'm glad I found better health through Dr. Mashike.

Eileen Stadalsky

I FEEL FANTASTIC...

I first went to a chiropractor as a teenager when my parents took me. Recently I moved to Michigan from Ohio, and while trying to move my boat into the garage, I hurt my lower back. The pain in my low back became so severe after a few days that I couldn't bend over or stand without extreme pain.

Since I had been to a chiropractor before, I knew it was the way to correct the cause of the problem. Having just moved here from Ohio and not knowing who to see, an ad of Dr. Mashike's prompted me to come to his office. Almost immediately after my first adjustment there was a reduction in the pain and I was able to continue my daily routine. After about three weeks of chiropractic care the pain was completely gone.

Because of the results I have had with chiropractic, I recommend it to others for their health problems. In my case I feel chiropractic helped me where medical treatment couldn't have cured the problem.

Adjustments are only made after an examination and x-rays are studied to determine the cause of the problem. Chiropractic adjustments are painless, quick and very professional.

I feel fantastic!

CHIROPRACTIC BREAKTHROUGH

We are now using a new technique. It is called the "fifth cervical technique." It is a combination x-ray analysis, precise adjustment and before and after temperature graphing of the spine. The technique allows us to monitor precise control of acute spinal conditions. The use of the temperature graph allows us to determine when to make a corrective adjustment of the spine. Unlike x-rays, the graph can be used many times with zero exposure to radiation.

We are now using this system on all patients in severe pain, or those who have a long-standing condition which has not been helped by any other methods.

Not only do we correct "back problems," but conditions of eyes, ears, throat, lungs, stomach, etc., etc. This technique quickly removes pressure from pinched nerves, freeing impaired nerve flow, which restores the function of the body to normal.

This technique is a more precise, scientific approach to spinal correction than any other we know. It eliminates guesswork, speeds recovery and requires less exposure to x-ray. Those suffering from job-related injuries are back to work quicker, with less expense to employers than conventional medical care.

The neck is the most important area of the spine. Its curve MUST be correct, if not, even severe low back pain can result. The lower spine can be injected, medicated and adjusted forever with at best, only temporary results. This patient came to us after being treated elsewhere for low back pain. We corrected the neck in four weeks and the pain left.

This spinal correction was made by correcting the neck with our "fifth cervical technique." The patient's spine was never touched below the shoulders. The results again, are in four weeks. In another four weeks, after these x-rays, all signs of the original condition were gone.

A Typical Graphing Procedure

This young man was involved in a rear end collision and suffered a whiplash injury. Three weeks later, even before recheck x-rays were scheduled, his frequency of adjustments were reduced because the graphs indicated a near-complete correction, not only of the neck, but of the entire spine.

THIS TECHNIQUE CAN BRING QUICKER RESULTS FOR AUTO ACCIDENTS AND ON THE JOB INJURIES (WORKER'S COMP.)
