Sidewalk sale cheers

Northville High School Varsity Cheerleaders were a welcome site to bargain hunter Ray Olson of Plymouth at last Saturday's Sidewalk Sale. After browsing through the 178 booths situated along Main and Center, Olson was more than ready for homemade cookies and a glass of iced tea. Saturday's sale lured hundreds to Northville's downtown streets for antiques, arts and crafts and store bargains. While shoppers thronged the downtown area during the morning hours, crowds thinned by late afternoon. See Page 5-A for more photos by Steve Fecht.

Many contests wide open in primary vote Tuesday

City and township election officials are expecting a light to medium voter turnout for the August 10 statewide primaries.

Whatever number of electors make the trip to the polls, observers agree, they will find an opportunity to make some real changes in the shape of government as a result of reapportionment.

City Clerk Joan MacAllister said she is expecting a light turnout in the two voting precincts there, although "reapportionment presents an opportunity to pick some new (state) representatives" in both Oakland and Wayne County portions of the city.

Township Deputy Clerk Georgina Goss said expectations there are for a turnout of roughly 30 percent. "I don't think it's going to be a great big turnout, but I think it'll be fair. Even in an off-year primary the Democrats and the Republicans usually want to get in their say on the nominees."

Under primary rules, voters may select candidates from only one party. Casting "split ballots" that name candidates in two or more parties will disqualify the ballot. In addition to the two major party tickets, the Anderson Coalition will be listed, with hopes of qualifying for the November election.

Both city and township elections officials cited the importance of casting ballots under only one party designation, as spoiled ballots are most frequent in primary elections. Adherence to the single party includes the casting of votes for local precinct delegates to the party conventions.

There is also a non-partisan ballot to select judges for the courts of appeals and circuit courts. Wayne County voters also have one proposition to face — a proposed one year levy of one mill additional property tax to eliminate the county's projected budget deficit.

Like other voters throughout the state, local voters will select party nominees for the governor's race while Republicans will also pick a challenger for incumbent U.S. Senator Donald Riegle.

Congressman Carl Pursell also is up for re-election, and GOP voters in his realigned 2nd District will choose whether he or challenger Walt Long, of Jackson, will face Ann Arbor Democrat George Wahr Sallade in November. The district now includes Northville city and township, Plymouth, part of Jackson, Branch, Washtenaw and Lenawee counties as well as all of Hillsdale County.

Voters in the Oakland County portion of the city will have a hand in deciding whether to return William Broomfield, congressman since 1956, to the Republican nomination against challenger Roger Hall. Unopposed in the 18th Congressional District Democratic primary is Allen Sipher.

House race heats up at candidates' night

By KEVIN WILSON

Competitive fever between the three candidates for the Republican nomination to the 36th state house seat surfaced before a handful of campaign followers, press representatives and interested voters last week.

The occasion was a "Meet the Candidates' Night" sponsored by the Plymouth Jaycees at the Plymouth Cultural Center Thursday night, and while there were five candidates (including one Democrat and one Libertarian) the verbal warfare between the GOP hopefuls dominated the session.

The opening salvoes were fired as the candidates made eight-minute opening statements. Democrat R. William Joyner and Libertarian Keith Bilby (nominated at a party convention, and therefore not appearing on the primary ballot) were granted first speaking rights and then the Republicans began.

Ron Fisher, a lay minister from Open Door Church, delivered an inspired plea to those present to judge his candidacy on the basis of character, courage, and compassion rather than on the basis of resumes which "will more likely produce a candidate of professional skills but all too often presents a legislator of questionable virtue." Fisher also worked in a cut at attorneys who know the law but lack moral fiber.

Law's opening statement avoided mention of his opponents, and of his law degree. He emphasized instead the state's fiscal crisis, calling it "the most trying economic times since the Great Depression." He called for further working relationships between the state DNR and department of commerce, a growing economic development fund, business tax reductions, single business tax deductions up to 25 percent for research and development and other incentives to improve the business climate.

Law also repeated his campaign advocacy of "sunset legislation," property tax reductions, a shift in education funding to the sales tax, and crime and prison reform, including an extensive prison construction program.

Economics professor Wolfram was the last to make a statement, and set the tone for the coming exchanges as he calmly criticized Law's economic positions as unsound and the acknowledged leader's connections with a political power structure Wolfram blamed for the state's fiscal crisis.

"When I began this campaign," Wolfram said, "Gerry Law told me the people weren't capable of understand-

Officials honor city pioneer

By JEANDAY

Alice Ritchie remembers when she was a pioneer.

As she officially retired August 1 with 22 years of service to the city, the long-time Northville resident recalled being considered one when she became the first civilian employee of the police department. She was dispatcher and clerical worker under Chief Eugene King who had a force of five patrolmen.

"In the early days there were just Mary Alexander, Lillian Duerson and me in the city offices. At that time they were in a house (shortly after it was demolished and city hall was constructed on the site). We just grew from then."

Mary Alexander, for whom Mary Alexander Court is named, was long-time city clerk.

The most memorable day in her years with the city was February 10, 1965, Alice Ritchie says without hesitation.

She was on duty as police dispatcher that day, relaying messages and instructions shortly after noontime when it appeared the Northville branch of Detroit Federal Savings was about to be held up for the third time in about nine months.

In the apprehension of the suspect Chief King was shot and rushed to St. Mary Hospital where he was reported in critical condition.

"I don't think I'll ever forget it," says Mrs. Ritchie.

John Macauley, branch manager, first called, telling her he wanted an officer because a car was circling the building. It was not an emergency, he said. Dispatcher Ritchie radioed Officer William McGee to proceed. She next called Officer Louis Westfall, who was off duty, to help and notified Chief King who was at lunch.

Judy Hedlund, a branch employee, coming back from Cloverdale noticed the car and thought it was the same man who had robbed the savings and loan in September.

Shortly both officers and Chief King were in the chase. King stopped the man on Main near the Harold Bloom residence and took him into the police car where the suspect produced a gun and shot the chief, who later recovered.

Warren R. Wright of Corunna was handcuffed by McGee and later pleaded guilty.

Chief King left the Northville department in 1967. He died in Arizona in 1975. At the time, Mrs. Ritchie relates, the shooting was reported as contributing to his death at age 59.

After working for 15 years in the city police department, Mrs. Ritchie became clerk of the Public Works Department in December, 1975, working there until her retirement.

Three vie for Schoolcraft post

Northville resident John Leinonen has joined the list of candidates vying for the Schoolcraft College trustee post held by Nancie Blatt.

Leinonen, of 46425 Pickford, is one of three Northville residents to be interviewed by Schoolcraft trustees August 5, 10 or 12.

Other Northville candidates are Lois Winters of 1046 Bristol Court and Paul R. Dawson of 21219 Chigwidden.

Seventeen applications have been filed since the opening was announced. Blatt, whose resignation was effective July 31, stepped down from the board after accepting a job in the Chicago area.

Blatt was appointed to the board in 1973 to succeed Robert Geake, who had been elected to the State House of Representatives. Geake now is a state senator.

She was elected to full six-year terms in 1973 and 1979. The candidate appointed to replace her will serve until June, 1983, and could run for the final two years of her term.

Interviewed July 28 at the Schoolcraft trustees' meeting were Gerald J. Goode of Livonia, Sharon Sarris of Livonia and Mary Killeen.

Other candidates to be interviewed August 9, 10 and 12 include Wesley L. Berry, Jr. of Livonia, Mary Uhl of

Search underway for city attorney

Two interviews were held last week in the search for a new city attorney, City Manager Steven Walters said Tuesday.

Last month Mayor Paul Vernon had appointed himself and council member J. Burton DeRusha a screening committee for the initial selection. They are to bring their results back to council.

Walters said he has forwarded "two or three resumes" received in the mail to Vernon and understands Vernon has been "talking to two or three others."

Most, Walters said, involve firms who have a local attorney in the area or who are located nearby.

It was uncertain Tuesday whether the information would be on the council agenda for next Monday night's 8 p.m. meeting as Mayor Vernon was out of town.

The city officially is terminating services of Philip Ogilvie August 11 following the primary election August 10. He oversees the voting results. Ogilvie submitted his resignation in June, revealing that the mayor and DeRusha suggested he do so.

Currently, Charles Lowe of Plymouth is handling court cases for the city.

CITY COUNCIL at its meeting at 8 p.m. Monday will have a review of its insurance policies among the agenda items. The council had requested an assessment of the city's coverages to determine if it has sufficient policies. They now include separate coverages for the city, Allen Terrace and the recreation department community building.

NORTHVILLE High School students may pick up registration materials beginning August 9 at the high school main office.

DECISION DAY '82, a separate supplement covering the August 10 primary races, is included with this week's Record. Read it for biographies and statements of candidates and to determine new district boundaries. Other local primary information is in The Record today.

NORTHVILLE High School Class of 1984 will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. tomorrow in the high school cafeteria. All junior class members are encouraged to attend the meeting. Students requesting further information should contact Matt Meyer at 348-8195.

No incumbent in 36th district race

Under reapportionment Northville Township and the Wayne County portion of the city of Northville fall into the 36th District for selection of a state representative. The new district also includes the city and township of Plymouth and about half of Canton Township.

There is no incumbent in the race, as the present representatives in these communities are standing for reelection in other realigned districts (Jack Kirksey's 35th is in Livonia, for example). The Record staff interviewed the three candidates for the Republican nomination in the August 10 primary. Each was asked the same four questions. The resulting stories, written by reporter Kevin Wilson, were to appear in the election supplement included in today's editions of The Record. Because of the large number of Wayne County executive candidates and space limitations of the supplement, they appear here. Unopposed Democrat R. William Joyner is represented only by his biography.

The questions asked of the Republican candidates were:

1. Why are you the best candidate for the position?
2. What is your position on property tax reform?
3. How should public education be funded?
4. What can be done to improve the business climate in Michigan?

Ron Fisher-R

AGE: 39, Northville Township
OCCUPATION: Gauge maker, certified tool engineer, paralegal and clergyman.
EDUCATION: Attended Henry Ford Community College, two years; Central Bible College, one year. Continued education at Madonna College. 1962 graduate, Livonia Bentley High School.
BACKGROUND: Director, National Parents Coalition (recently formed, headquarters in Northville), Member Pro-Family Forum, area chairman Moral Majority, legal aid to Michigan District Church Council. Involved in several groups supporting parental rights of divorced fathers. Lay minister at Open Door Church. Candidate for Democratic nomination in 35th State House district in 1980, defeated by Barbara Sowers of Livonia.

Fisher said he believes that of the three candidates in the race, he best represents the interests of a growing conservative trend, particularly those of fundamentalist Christian groups.

His advantages, he said, include court room experience in family law. "I believe I have a better handle on the effects of law in the courts," Fisher said. "I think a lot of legislators pass laws and have no idea what effects they have when they reach the courts."

He represents himself as an expert on the issue of separation between church and state, and said this perspective would lead to better representation of his constituents.

He is "definitely for reform" of Michigan's property tax system, Fisher said. "We have to somehow relieve, or reduce, the existing burden on residential property."

He ties his position on property tax reform to support of a "voucher system" — the long-debated proposal to issue vouchers usable at private or public schools for reimbursement by the state.

Fisher said he believes the same conservative shift he expects to produce his major support will bring the voucher proposal back to the foreground.

He noted the opposition argument to the voucher system has been on constitutional grounds that separation of church and state would not allow a credit for tuition paid to a school associated with a religious institution.

He does not agree with that assessment, he said.

The inevitable reduction in property tax revenues that would follow from institution of a voucher system, he suggested, could be made up by an income tax increase "which is predicated on the assumption the public schools really need all that money."

Fisher said he does not believe the public schools need all the money they use, and connected that to a general argument in favor of "reducing or at least maintaining the size of government in this state."

He called for a general review of the entire educational system in the state, suggesting that exemptions from fire codes and other regulations should be granted private schools.

Unlike his stance in the 1980 campaign, Fisher said he would not advocate reductions in support to higher education. While in 1980 he contended the state overemphasized higher education, he said the situation has changed.

He also cited concern about evidence that fewer students are applying for federal aid in their pursuit of higher education, declining enrollments and the need for a skilled work force if an economic recovery is sought in Michigan as factors in his change of views.

Fisher said he supports elimination of the single business tax "to get that off the back of small business. We have a situation where small businesses post losses, or least make no profits, are still paying that tax. It's a regressive tax."

He also suggested the state could "go a little bit further on workers' compensation reform."

The state's unemployment system treats some employers unfairly, Fisher contends. He cites the example of businesses that carry 100 percent staffing throughout their history paying equivalent unemployment costs as businesses with a history of cyclical layoffs.

Another of Fisher's targets for reform is the state's "growing welfare burden. We have to bring our welfare benefits in line with adjoining states, particularly in regard to Indiana and Ohio."

During the course of his campaign, Fisher said, he has been surprised as he learned more about the state's relationship with local government. Discussing the recent cutback, and subsequent partial restoration of racetrack revenues, Fisher said "It amazes me some of the games state government plays with local government. There's a case where the local government has already spent the money for something the state mandates, and then they turn around and refuse the money."

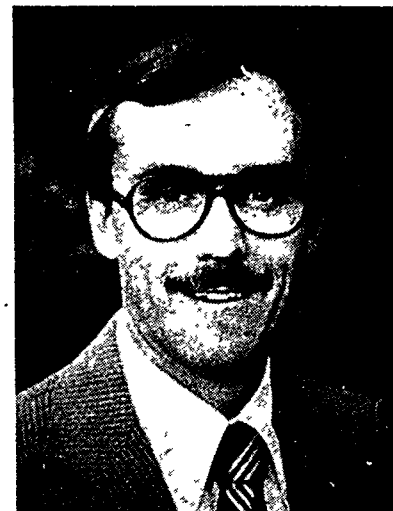

One way to address criminal problems, Fisher related, without going to the expense of a major prison construction program would be wider use of work programs for those convicted of misdemeanors.

"DeHoCo is virtually wall-to-wall with men serving time on misdemeanor charges," Fisher said in example. "Now it's costing the taxpayer to keep them there."

Among the convictions that should send a prisoner to work programs rather than prisons, Fisher indicated, would be non-payment of alimony or child support.

Gerald Law-R

AGE: 38, Plymouth Township
OCCUPATION: Credit Analyst, Ford Motor Credit Company, Dearborn, 11 years EDUCATION: B.S., Management, University of Detroit; MBA Finance, U-D; J.D., Wayne State University Law School
BACKGROUND: Plymouth Township Trustee (1978-present); former member township planning commission; Republican precinct delegate; Kiwanis Director; Jaycees; past vice president Wayne County Young Republicans; Hines Park Task Force; former mathematics teacher; member Y.M.C.A.; chamber of commerce; Plymouth Republican Club; and usher at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church.

GERALD H. LAW-R

Law cited his educational background in business and law, his practical experience in those fields as opposed to "professional politicians," and his role as an elected trustee as the reasons he believes he is the best candidate in this field.

He made particular note of his trustee position, saying it is "important for a representative to have an understanding of local government. Many do not have a good idea what we do there; so they do things that create problems at the local level."

He said he favors reform of the property tax system in Michigan, with an emphasis on changing the financing method for public education.

On average, Law noted, education accounts for 70 to 80 percent of the property tax bills.

"The townships are in there for their couple mills, and the cities for a little more," he said. "The county is at its full seven mills and I don't think they'll be able to get another one. But by and large it's education that's funded by the property tax."

"I would prefer that public education be shifted to the sales tax," he related.

He cited inequities in the assessment system as a primary reason to de-emphasize property taxes and related the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees ongoing appeal of county assessment practices as an example. The board's petition was rejected by the state tax tribunal, and Law said the decision would be appealed in the courts.

"The bulk of the tax has been shifted to the single-family homeowner," he said. The circuit-breaker that refunds property taxes through the income tax system has become ineffective with the latest tax hikes, he added, meaning many "seniors on fixed incomes are not getting the full break on property taxes." A shift of some magnitude to the sales tax, he said, would move some of the burden to tourists and, since sales tax does not apply to food or drugs any longer, would not weigh unduly on the poor.

"Asked what formula might be used to split education funding between the sales and property taxes, Law noted it would require a constitutional amendment and the formula would be dependent on "what you could sell" to voters. Under his proposal, he said, "the sales tax would be the major source of funding for public education. Enrichment programs and the like could go through the property tax."

Law also expects the next Legislature to address items designed to improve the business climate in the state.

Specific proposals include additional reform of the worker's compensation system. "I think our (compensation insurance) rates have to be competitive with surrounding states."

The more pressing issue, he said, is the unemployment compensation system. With a large federal penalty pending, Law said, both immediate and long-term revisions are necessary. "Whatever we have to do now to stop the bleeding," was his appraisal of the needed response.

He noted a split in the business community regarding what should be done. Law said "nobody can afford to pay back the debt to the federal government right now." The penalty would add a great deal to unemployment costs in the state, further eroding the business climate, he said.

"I don't think the federal government is going to write it off," he said. "It can't. There are several other states in the same situation and if they write one off they have to do it for all, and the federal government can't afford that."

He said responsible action by state officials could negotiate a "favorable repayment" agreement, however. He said he expects the Legislature to address the problem to some extent when it returns to Lansing after the primary, but that further reforms will surely be necessary in the coming year as well.

Another way to improve the business climate is under the direction of Lieutenant Governor James Brickley, Law said he believes, in the form of a review of the regulatory climate.

Law said he would support revisions to Michigan's Single Business Tax (SBT) but does not "advocate doing away with the SBT entirely." He would propose credits against the SBT for workers' compensation, unemployment compensation and investment in research and development.

He also said the SBT should be redrafted since in its present form "it was really written by the auto giants in their favor. Most jobs being created now are in small business — most high technology for example is small business — the days of the automotive giants are gone."

"The final thing we need to do is to promote the state," he added. "We have an anti-business reputation." Selling points in promoting business location in Michigan, he said, include natural resources, weather patterns, water, the labor force and "over the long run" where business executives would live, where their employees would live and similar items.

He said greater support of higher education is a part of improving the business climate. "Higher education is important for high technology business," he explained. "We need to retain the good professors who attract the research grants and things that are important to the location of high tech businesses."

Wolfram is basing his campaign on his perceived need for an economist's influence in Lansing.

"I think it's appalling the state is a fiscal disaster and it doesn't have to be," Wolfram said. "I think we can produce legislation that doesn't have to rely on lobbyists or special interests for information. We need a little bit of leadership up there."

He said his grounding in economics would enable him to draft responsible solutions to the state's fiscal woes his opponents could not devise without reliance on special interest groups and lobbyists. Enacting such legislation, he said, can be accomplished through the political structure if it is handled properly.

"If you have something you can make an analytical argument for, you make it hard for them to oppose it," Wolfram related. "Andrew Jackson once said 'One man with conviction is a majority.' I'd like to try that out. I think I can persuade a lot of votes (in the Legislature) with responsible legislation."

Property tax reform, Wolfram said, is called for primarily because of the burden it now places on residential uses. "Most of the shifts we have seen proposed are attempts to patch up a fiscal structure that needs more drastic reform."

Wolfram advocates a shift in financing of education to the sales tax cautioning that "you're not going to reduce your taxes, you won't get a cut in the total tax bill until other problems are addressed" but that reduction of the burden on homeowners is possible.

Some degree of school financing should come from the property tax, Wolfram contends, as part of socio-economic theory. "Part of the burden should be on the property tax because part of the value of your home is your schools. The traditional statement has been that you should spend a dollar toward schooling if it bids up the housing value a dollar."

"A good deal of the burden should be on the state, as a whole, also," he continued. "The argument is that when I educate my children, the state and businesses here benefit by gaining an educated labor source."

Wolfram places a high priority on education, particularly higher education. "I believe in equality of opportunity," he said. "Not necessarily in equality of results, but equality of opportunity. The worst waste of resources is the waste of minds."

He called for greater efforts to obtain federal aid to Michigan's education systems, revision of the state aid formula based "not only on need but also on benefit."

In order to improve the state's business climate, Wolfram said he would first advocate a 50 percent reduction in the single business tax rate. "You've got to broaden the base and reduce the rate. Eventually, I think you'd want to eliminate the SBT."

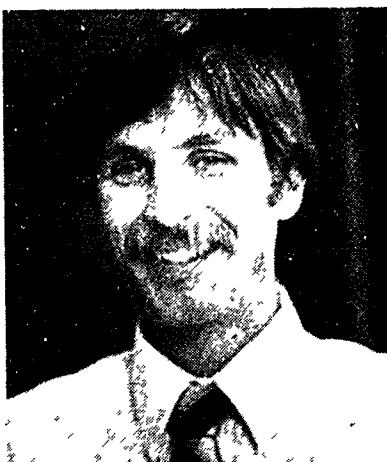

Like other candidates, he is concerned with the imminent imposition of a penalty tax on employers to cover the state system's debt to the federal government.

"We've got to somehow reduce that, we have to deal with the federal government," Wolfram said. Cleaning up the system in the state would involve, "A change in the measure of work-force experience, and a one-week waiting period would save the state millions and millions of dollars and wouldn't impose a burden on most people."

"We have to communicate to people that true job security is not that you get a lot of money when you're laid off," Wolfram continued. "True job security is that you can go out tomorrow and get another job."

While the reforms to the worker's compensation system last year helped, he said, Wolfram is an advocate of tighter restrictions on eligibility than exist today, expecting this would also save money for the state and employers.

"In addition, we have to worry about welfare expenditures," he said. "Michigan is above the national average and the expenditure has climbed rapidly in the past few years."

"We have to admit to people in our system that we made promises we can't afford to keep," Wolfram said. "We have to move to the average (benefit) of surrounding states. If times were better, maybe we could do better than that, but times aren't better and we can't."

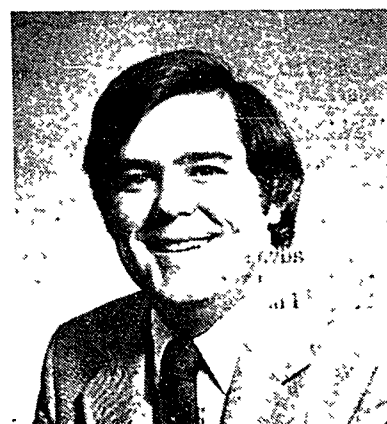

Acknowledging that his inexperience in political circles might put off some voters, Wolfram argued that his economics background includes a perspective for making political decisions.

"Economic issues lie behind most everything," Wolfram said. Letting traditional politicians deal with those problems has not worked, he said. "You can't believe what you get from the state legislature. Just sheer political nonsense. They propose tax cuts that actually raise taxes, for example."

"I really fear that if that (political) power structure is allowed to remain in place things can only get worse in this state."

"I think we need a crop of new people in there who have the knowledge and the ability to tackle those things another way."

What About the Missing Link?

Dr. James H.
Luther

Men have been searching for a link between man and the animals for generations. A number of such links have been found, accepted by intellectuals, and then discredited. An honest study of history reveals some incredible gullibility on the part of experts. Desire has ruled out reason in certain cases, because of man's zeal to find his true beginning.

Of course, it is quite natural for men to be curious about their roots. And this question of origin is simply an extension of that curiosity. Yet, it is sad that many answers are missed because of their simplicity. In clear terms, the Bible reveals that men were created by a direct act of God (Gen. 2:7ff). Moreover, we are created in God's "image," or "likeness" (Gen. 1:26).

Instead of searching in vain for a "link" to the animal kingdom, we should rejoice in our real heritage in being linked to God. Man has dignity and a certain nobility by virtue of his "createdness." He is not a cosmic accident, a result of time and chance. He has value, design, and purpose.

Jesus came to link us to God spiritually. Though we are fallen sinners, His death can become our salvation through personal faith. By receiving Christ as the Lord and Savior of your life, you can be linked to God in heaven. Then we not only would have a noble heritage, but also a glorious future.

Jaycees set Salem air show

Planes are expected to arrive at Salem Airport Sunday from all over Michigan for the Salem Air Show and Fly-In sponsored by the Northville Jaycees.

A special feature for visitors will be the flea market and garage sale, chairman Greg Dawson reports, for which 100 vendors have been signed up. This event will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A pancake breakfast will begin at 8 a.m., according to Dawson and continue until 11 a.m.

The all-day show will be at the Salem Airport located on Six Mile in Salem. Proceeds will go toward purchase of a Jaws for Life unit for local use. Jaws of Life is a mechanism used to assist in removing accident victims pinned in vehicles.

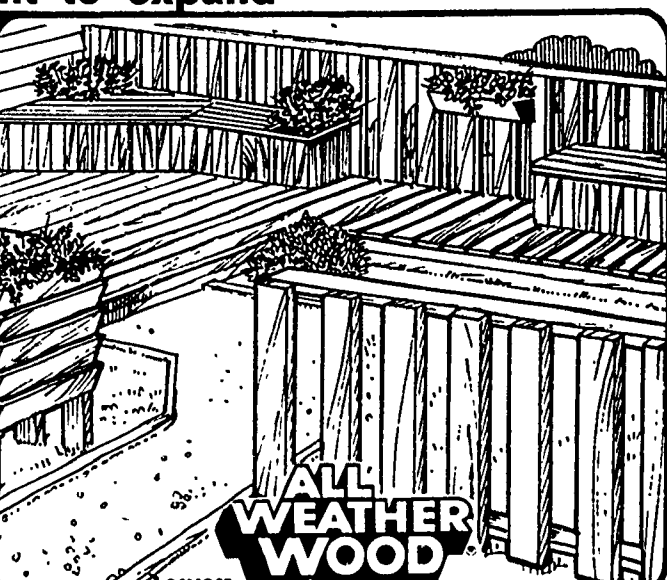

During the day there will be a parachute jump show and an ultra-light display and demonstration as well as a fly-over by Selfridge Air Force Base craft, U.S. Coast Guard air and sea units and a rescue helicopter.

Dawson adds there will be featured displays of experimental aircraft as well as vintage aircraft and U.S. Air Force and Navy exhibits.

Prizes are awaiting the oldest plane, most unique aircraft, pilot making the longest flight, oldest pilot and cutest co-pilot, Dawson announces as he invites residents to "come early and browse at the flea market."

Crowds jam downtown for sidewalk sale

Lots of sunshine and a cool breeze kept downtown sidewalks crowded with shoppers Saturday at the Northville Merchants' Association annual sidewalk sale.

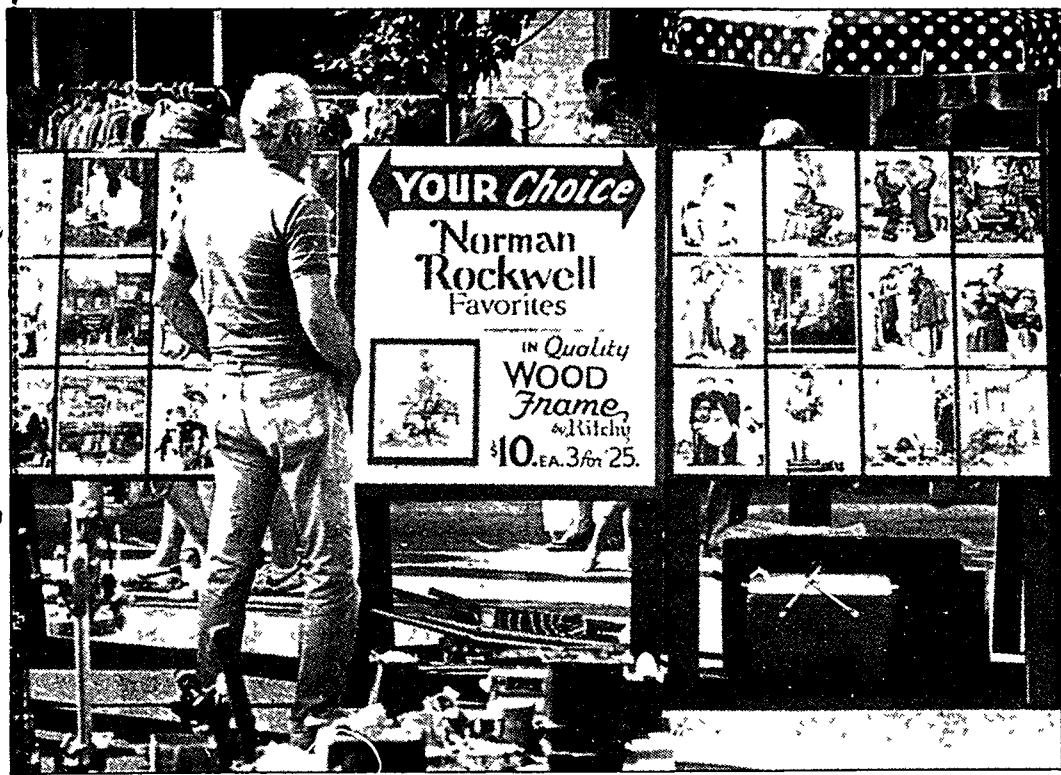

Saturday's sale, the first since the Mainstreet '78 project was completed, lured hundreds into the 178 booths filled with antiques, arts and crafts and sale items from downtown stores.

According to some observers, crowds were heavier during the morning hours. However, shoppers still managed to find bargains during the afternoon.

Many bookworms, such as Jenda Mills, at right, found the Friends of the Library booth to be filled with bargain paperbacks and hardcover editions.

One of the many booths located down the center of Main Street featured Norman Rockwell prints — which obviously caught the eye of a casual observer, below.

GOP hopefuls exchange barbs at candidates' night

dling the issues." During his intensive door-to-door campaigning since, Wolfram said, he felt he had found an informed and intelligent electorate fully capable of following his economic positions. Indicating that Law's more popularly discussed proposals are political compromises, Wolfram said "I understand at times compromise is necessary, but it's time to stop compromising our economic stability."

In his closing statement an hour later, Law acknowledged his position that "Michigan's greatest problem has been an apathetic electorate" but praised those present as an indication that perhaps "the people are becoming more knowledgeable about the issues."

In between, the most heated exchange involved Wolfram's charge in a Plymouth newspaper advertisement that Law had voted for a Plymouth Township budget that included deficit spending. The charge echoed Joyner's most frequently voiced criticism of Law, and an audience question was directed to both Wolfram and the Democrat asking what evidence they had to support the contention that the township was running a $200,000 deficit.

Joyner produced a clipping of a Plymouth Observer story published in April with the headline "Township passes budget (with deficit)" and said it quoted the township treasurer, a member of Law's campaign committee, that the budget included a deficit.

Law said the charge was false. "There is no $200,000 deficit in our budget," he said. "In fact, there's a surplus of $170,000."

Joyner and Wolfram both said they relied on the newspaper article and were "not privileged" to the inner workings of the government.

"I would think it would be a responsible right and duty of someone running for public office to go look at the township budget for themselves, it's a public document," Law countered.

The story in question notes that the budget approved by the Plymouth Township trustees projected revenues of $2.7 million and expenses of $2.9 million. It also quotes township supervisor Maurice Breen that the budget could be easily balanced by including more anticipated state revenue sharing income but that such a course "would not be practical."

Observer reporter Gary Cates, who wrote the April article, said Monday he understood "there was a deficit on paper. It'll be balanced by the end of the year. They didn't figure in all the revenue and the shifting of expenditures."

Law said after the debate that the story was the result of misconception by the township treasurer but that Wolfram's advertisement was a "sneer."

Wolfram said after the meeting that he "should have checked the budget" but was pressed for time.

His advertisement, asking voters to choose the "real Republican" did provide him the opportunity to score some points during the night, however.

Wolfram's charge that Law had "asked for support" of various labor groups while he did not (referring to candidate interviews with labor leaders which Law attended and Wolfram did not) prompted a question directed to Wolfram asking whether he "didn't want the support of working people."

"I do want labor support," he responded. "I've been going from door-to-door asking for worker support. I don't believe in asking support of the labor leadership."

"In Lansing I want to address workers compensation reforms, unemployment compensation reforms and the labor hierarchy's going to fight those," he continued. "We owe it to the people in the district to reform those things, and I don't want to owe anything to the labor hierarchy when those things come up."

He repeated his theme that workers must be made to understand "real job security is not that when you get laid off you get a lot of money. Real job security is when you can go out and get another job tomorrow." To create the latter situation, he argued, the business climate must improve.

Throughout the evening, the three Republicans attempted to differentiate themselves as often as possible. On pro-party tax reform, Law supported a Michigan Townships Association program that would relieve senior citizens of 100 percent of the property tax to schools and those under 65 from 75 percent of school taxes. It would replace two-thirds of the lost $1.5 billion revenues with a one cent sales tax hike and cut social spending $500 million.

Fisher advocated a "voucher system" for school financing and Wolfram said real tax reductions must await economic growth, but advocated a shift to sales tax to relieve the burden on residential property, earmarking of 30 percent of state general fund revenue to schools by 1989. Until there are more business taxpayers in the state, he cautioned, tax reforms can only shift the burden to make it more equitable.

Fisher addressed a question asking if "it is important for the public to know a candidate's sexual preference." He said "a public servant should be above reproach" in both public and private life. "I don't buy that. That there is sexual preference."

Only Bilby took up the opportunity to follow Fisher's remarks, saying sexual preference is a person's "own business" but that voters have a right to ask.

Similar responses came to a question regarding candidate's "Biblical convictions." Law said the question was not suitable to such a forum, Wolfram said he didn't think it important but that he was Roman Catholic for the information of those who do, and Fisher placed great importance on the issue saying "government has usurped divine providence" and only strong convictions could counter it.

All the candidates said they would have opposed the one percent income tax increase recently passed by the Legislature, and Wolfram said he first would have "Asked Governor Milliken how we got to this point. If I hired anyone to make projections and they were off by $6 billion I would fire the guy."

The statement drew applause but Law did not let that slap at the current administration, of which his brother is a member, go without notice. "In response to Mr. Wolfram's comment regarding firing the guy who made the estimate, the governor would have had to fire half the economists in the state. They've all been predicting an upturn for two years now."

Law, too, drew applause, and economist Wolfram laughed and acknowledged that "even we economists have differences of opinion."

Wolfram, last to open, was first to close. "It's not just the national economy causing economic problems in this state. It's not just the Democrats causing the problems. It's the political power structure that is at fault and it is time we replaced it with something else."

Law thanked his hosts, and made his compliments to the audience for its knowledge of the issues. Fisher called for a move to "make government the servant of the people and not an overlord."

Bilby said he did not care who the voters choose in the primary, except that votes now "encourage" the two major parties into expecting support that might be better served by the "principled approach" of Libertarians.

Joyner called for the audience to join him to become "a new force in Michigan politics."

Wide open races on primary ballot

As MacAllister noted, however, most of the interest locally is in the state house and senate races, where many incumbents have been districted out (or opted to run for other offices) and new faces are bidding for election.

The Wayne County executive race is an important one for city residents in Wayne County and township voters, as the county prepares to launch a new form of government in 1983 and gets its first look at potential leaders. The post is all-new, though some of the candidates' names may be familiar.

There are 10 Democrats and six Republicans seeking the executive nomination. Acknowledged leaders are Democrats William Lucas (county sheriff), Edward McNamara (Livonia mayor) and Mel Ravitz (Detroit city councilman). On the Republican side, most observers cite Robert FitzPatrick (Wayne County EDC director), Harry Stearnes (county public information officer) and J.C. Johnson as the leading lights.

Voters in the Wayne portion of Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth and Canton have three candidates to choose from in the GOP primary 36th State House race. Electors used to casting a vote for Jack Kirksey will find his name no longer appears here. Northville was dropped from the Livonia-centered 35th District and joins the 36th with Canton and Plymouth Townships plus the city of Plymouth.

Plymouth Township trustee Gerald Law, Canton resident Gary Wolfram (an economics professor at U-M Dearborn) and Northville Township resident Ron Fisher square off in the Republican primary to determine who will face Democrat William Joyner (Wayne County Commissioner of Plymouth Township) this November.

Oakland County voters reside in the 60th State house district, giving them a wide choice of potential Republican nominees that is certainly no less interesting than their neighbors to the south have.

Democrat Robert McCall is unopposed in the primary, but there is a pack of five Republicans looking to oppose him in November. They include Northville attorney Allen Ingle, Novi City Council member Martha Hoyer, and the former Novi planning commissioner and defeated 1981 mayoral candidate in that city, John Roethel.

Also running for the GOP nomination in the 60th is Highland Township supervisor Willis Bullard and Milford Realtor John Van Dyke.

Turning to the state senate contests, voters may find some names that are more familiar but no candidate has a cake walk to nomination.

The 15th District race will determine the state senator for the Oakland County portion of Northville, and again the present incumbent, Doug Ross, is not in it.

Six Democrats and five Republicans insure that 15th District residents have an ample range of candidates from which to choose regardless of party affiliation and the lack of a true incumbent (though some candidates are presently senators, they do not now represent this district) promises an interesting race in November.

The candidates in the 15th District senate contest include Democrats Jack Faxon and Dana Wilson (both hoping for reelection to the senate, though neither has represented this area before), plus Alan Feuer, Phillip Marcuse, Jacki Kaye Work and Dan Reedy.

Republican candidates are John Anderson, S. James Clarkson, Dave Pickering, Richard Corey and Markus Simon.

State Senator R. Robert Geake is facing Norman Kinzel in the new 6th State Senate District Republican primary that includes Canton Township, both Plymouths, Livonia, a portion of Redford and the Wayne area of Northville. The victor will face Democrat Noel Culbert, former Canton Township supervisor, who is unopposed in his party.

City pioneer honored

"I've worked practically all my life," she mentioned as she commented she was looking forward to "staying home and enjoying my house" in retirement.

A native Detroit, Mrs. Ritchie came to Northville in 1940 to work at Maybury Sanatorium, working in the accounting office first and then in personnel.

It was at Maybury that she met Harvey Ritchie.

"At that time, there was a store on the property owned by Elmer Wilson and called Wilson's Emporium. Harvey worked there and workers at Maybury shopped in the store."

The Ritchies were married in 1946, living on Main Street until they built their present home on Spring Drive in 1954.

They have one son James who lives in South Lyon.

Later, after Maybury was closed, Harvey Ritchie and his brother operated a laundry on Center, but Alice Ritchie says she never really worked there, but occasionally helped out.

She and her husband, who will continue to work for The Record printing plant, News Printing, have no big plans. "I just want to do the things around home I haven't done," says Alice Ritchie.

A retirement luncheon was held in city hall council room at noon Monday in Alice's honor. In addition to the buffet luncheon and retirement gifts, she was the recipient of a city council resolution thanking her for her service as a "loyal and competent employee and a valuable asset to the City of Northville..."

"Now therefore be it resolved, that the city council of the City of Northville, on behalf of all its citizens, does hereby express its sincere appreciation and thanks to Alice Ritchie for her many years of loyal and dedicated service to the community, and does hereby wish her many happy years in her well-deserved retirement."

The resolution was framed and ready for a special place at home.

A single sunflower in the garden of Joseph Bell at 539 Grace last week just kept bursting into bloom after bloom after bloom until there were 32 sunflowers on the single stalk. When the photographer arrived, the large, top flower braced by Bell was just beginning to wilt — but it had been out for a week. Bell isn't sure whether 32 blooms on one plant constitute a record, but he and his wife know it's quite a sight. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Flea market set at YWCA
 Spaces still are available for the September 11 YWCA flea market which will be held in the Northwest Branch YWCA parking lot, says co-chairman Karen Ross of Northville.

This fall flea market is being scheduled by requests of those participating in the annual market held in May. Ross reports that the spring market was attended by 2,000.

"It is an excellent way to sell your cast offs without having the fuss of people tramping in and out at your residence," adds co-chairman Elizabeth Williams of Redford.

Reservations for spaces at $8 may be made by applying at the Northwest Branch of the YWCA at 25940 Grand River. Information is available by calling 537-8500.

"Not only is it a good opportunity to sell your own things, but there are excellent buys on items you have been looking for yourself," reports Ross.

Bodnar receives conditional approval

The city planning commission conditionally approved site plans for Ron Bodnar's Copy Boy business on East Main Street at its meeting July 20. Commissioners approved the site plans based on Planning Consultant Ron Nino's memorandum.

Little discussion took place as Nino's memorandum explaining the changes Bodnar had made from his previous plan sufficed for the commissioners. Bodnar had no other comment than, "I believe we have complied with all the requests made previously."

Nino re-explained his memo to the commissioners. In it he said some variances had to be made with the width of the driveway in order to preserve certain trees.

The driveway is 20-feet wide at the entrance from Main Street and tapers to 16-feet and 12-feet. Nino said the narrowing effect occurs in an area that should not create any serious on-site congestion problems. However, one tree will have to be removed at the entrance/exit point to achieve the 20-foot width.

Regarding drainage on the property, Nino said the parking lot drainage should go to the dry well, while drainage on the driveway will go to Main Street. It was noted in the approval no drainage from hardsurfaced areas should drain on adjacent properties.

Also, light standards should not exceed 12-feet and should be shielded to avoid casting a glare on adjacent properties. The lights should provide a minimum of one foot candle power for the entire parking lot area.

Nino also said Bodnar would be reterracing part of the front yard as much as possible without destroying tree root structures.

"This is what we asked for; this is what we got," Nino said.

New registration cards issued to voters

Because redistricting has changed numbers and sometimes boundaries of voting districts for state voters, the Michigan election law requires that registered voters receive new registration record cards.

Voters in Northville Township and in the Wayne County portion of the city are voting in the August 10 primary for the first time in the Second Congressional district (same as previously), Sixth State Senate district (number change from 14th), 36th State Representative district (new alignment from 35th), and 10th District County Commissioner (number change only from 16th).

Voters in the Oakland County portion of the city will be voting in the 18th Congressional District (number change only from 19th), 15th State Senate district (same), 60th State Representative district (change from 24th) and 24th District County Commissioner (same).

The new notice registration cards from the township went in the mail last week along with an explanatory note from Susan J. Heintz, township clerk.

It states that the voter's precinct has not changed but that Michigan election law requires the clerk shall prepare and "send a corrected voter identification card to an elector affected by a change in United States representative, state senatorial, state representative or county commissioner district or precinct."

Cards for city voters were ordered two or three weeks ago, Clerk Joan McAllister said Monday, but have not been received from the printer, Doubleday in Oakland County.

If received on time before the primary, she said, they either will be mailed or distributed at the primary voting precincts.

Heintz noted that the cards are to be mailed by first class to the elector's registration address by provision of the election law. Because first class mail is returned if not deliverable, she explained, clerks then should be able to remove names of voters whose cards are returned as not deliverable from the voting lists.

Hall underdog to Broomfield for congress seat

Roger Hall knows he's the underdog in the race for the Republican nomination from the 18th U.S. Congressional district, which is the former 19th Congressional district in Oakland County. The Oakland County portion of the City of Northville votes this district.

Hall bills himself as "The Underdog" on campaign literature.

His opponent for the Republican nomination is William Broomfield, a U.S. Congressman since 1956 and the ranking minority member of the House Foreign Affairs committee.

The winner of the Republican primary will meet Allen Sipher, who is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Here's a look at the two Republican candidates: Broomfield's proposals for dealing with the current economic conditions are to cut federal spending, reduce bureaucracy, lower and simplify taxes and balance the budget. He says the dollars and decision-making authority must be returned to the private sector which will create "real jobs" and a recovery that will last.

Hall, 44 and a self-employed businessman, expresses similar sentiments. He claims the U.S. economy is the strongest in the world and will recover from its present state with time. A balanced budget must be the goal of every Congressman, he states, vowing to fight for the Balanced Budget Amendment.

On the subject of the Social Security System, Broomfield cites the need to strip away social welfare programs and restore it to a basic retirement program. He also says new sources of revenue must be found.

Hall said the public needs to feel confident that payments to people currently on Social Security will not be reduced and benefits will be available when they retire. Possible changes to protect the system, he suggests, include a gradual increase in retirement age, a new COLA formula and excluding federal employees from the system.

On the subject of the federal deficit, Broomfield maintains the current deficit is the root of the country's economic problems. The only cure, he said, is to cut spending dramatically. "Congress, which so far has mostly reduced the rate of spending increases, must begin making real cuts."

Hall also believes that the current deficit must be reduced, reiterating his support for the Balanced Budget Amendment. "When this passes," he said, "you will find that every program will be considered for cuts, including defense and entitlement programs. No program should be above review for cuts."

Democrats flock to 15th Senate race

With two incumbent state senators — Jack Faxon (D-Detroit) and Dana Wilson (D-Hazel Park) — seeking the nomination, the race for the Democratic nomination in the newly-created 15th District is one of the hottest around.

The 15th District includes Novi, Wixom, Northville (Oakland County portion of the city), Farmington and Farmington Hills as well as Southfield, Fairchamps Village, Ferndale, Royal Oak Township and Huntington Woods.

Faxon and Wilson are not the only Democratic candidates for the 15th District nomination. Also seeking the bid are Alan Feuer, Phillip Marcuse, Jacki Kaye Work and Dan Reedy.

The charges between the candidates have been flying hot and heavy. Faxon has charged that Wilson should have run in the Republican primary where his voting record would be much more consistent with the voters. Wilson defends his absence at candidates nights in the western portion of his district on the basis that he's been walking door-to-door with the "personal touch."

Both incumbents, Faxon and Wilson, have been attacked by two of their opponents, Feuer and Marcuse. Feuer, the former executive director of Common Cause in Michigan, charged that neither Faxon nor Wilson has supplied evidence that they reside in the district.

Marcuse, chairman of the Huntington Woods Traffic Control Committee and an Oakland County Circuit Court clerk, added that Faxon and Wilson are running to save their jobs and "have never represented the district."

Here's a look at each of the six candidates for the Democratic nomination from the 15th District:

- Jack Faxon, 46, has been a state senator since 1970 and presently is president pro tem of the senate. Asked to describe two of the major problems facing the state, he said: "The depressed economy, including unemployment and insufficient aid for all levels of education." As a solution he proposes diversification of the industrial-economic base and emphasis on state-federal funding for job retaining vocational education programs utilizing resources within the state's high schools, community college and universities.
- Alan Feuer, 29, is a former executive director of Common Cause of Michigan and led the drive to pass Michigan's Open Meetings Act. Feuer says the state's top need is to "make sense of the budget and make plans for the future. We fund the Silverdome while cutting aid to schools. We spend a third of road funds on new highways but can't repair old ones. Without enough money, we must have more sense."
- Philip R. Marcuse, 42, is a law student at Detroit College of Law and employed as a clerk by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge John N. O'Brien. He listed fiscal policy and crime as the state's two primary problems. "Until interest rates return to single digits, the state has to be extremely careful to keep its borrowing to a minimum. This means keeping spending no greater than income." Marcuse suggested that crime committed by prior offenders could be reduced by making bond relatable to past convictions.
- Daniel Reedy, 35, is a business agent and vice president of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union. The state's primary problems, he said, are the financial situation and jobs. "Sacrifices have to be made by everyone. It's not surprising that state employees refused concessions when you consider that the administration was raising unemployment benefits at the same time."

- Dana Wilson, 33, has been a state senator (16th District) from 1976-82. He also has served as a state representative (69th District) and on the Oakland County Board of Commissioners. The two major problems facing Michigan, he said, are attracting business to create jobs and maintaining the high quality of education in the state. "These two problems really go hand in hand," he said.
- Jacki Kaye Work, 40, is an accounting supervisor with the Charge Card Association. She identified the state's top problems as loss of jobs and industry and the criminal justice system. To improve the business climate she would eliminate the single business tax and reduce bureaucratic regulations. On the subject of crime, Work cited the need for legislation to ensure due punishment for criminals and protect victims' rights.

Rotary officer visits

Northville Rotary Club will receive a visit from Rotary International District 640 Governor Paul Ahrens at its noon luncheon meeting next Tuesday at First Presbyterian Church. It will be Ahrens' first visit to Northville as the district governor.

Ahrens is a Wyandotte resident and is vice president of Gail's Office Supply Company.

As district governor, he serves as the primary link between the individual Rotary clubs and the president of Rotary International, as well as being responsible for all clubs within District 640. Rotary International is an organization of business and professional men united worldwide who provide humanitarian service, encourage high ethical standards in all vocations and help build goodwill and peace in the world.

During the day, he will meet with club officers and committee chairmen to discuss plans and programs for the coming year, including local, district and international activities. He will be the speaker at the noon luncheon program.

Packed GOP field in 60th house race

One thing's for sure. Whoever wins election to the State House of Representatives from the 60th District will be a newcomer in Lansing.

The 60th District includes Novi, the Oakland County section of Northville, Lyon Township and the City of South Lyon along the southern boundary and then swings directly north through the townships of Milford, Highland, Rose, Holly and Groveland.

There's no competition for the Democratic nomination from the 60th District. The Democratic nominee will be Robert McCall, who is unopposed in the primary.

But the race for the Republican nomination is a different story, indeed, with five individuals vying for the right to face McCall in November.

The Republican race features three Novi-Northville area residents: Martha Hoyer, a member of the Novi City Council; John Roethel, a former member of the Novi planning board and an unsuccessful candidate (against Robert Schmid) in the 1981 Novi mayoral election; and Allen C. Ingle, an attorney who resides in the Oakland County portion of Northville.

The other two Republican candidates are Willis Bullard, an attorney and Highland Township supervisor, and John Van Dyke, a Realtor who owns his own company in Milford.

Here's a look at the five Republican candidates for state representative from the 60th district.

• Willis Bullard, Jr., 38, has been supervisor of Highland Township since 1980. An attorney, he is a member of the Huron Valley Arts Council and Oakland County Chamber of Commerce.

Bullard says jobs are the number one issue in Michigan today and the cost of doing business in Michigan must be improved to encourage job creation. Reforms in worker's compensation, unemployment compensation and the single business tax are urgently needed, he says.

Bullard also says the legislature should enact real property tax relief, not merely a tax shift. A backer of both Tisch I and Tisch II, he says the legislature should reduce "our absurdly high taxes" by reducing the property assessment ratio from 50 percent to a lesser figure.

To balance the state budget, Bullard would look to cut state programs. Spending priorities must be re-ordered, he says, away from welfare and back to quality education. He notes that the percentage of the state budget earmarked for elementary and secondary education "has shriveled from 29 to 15 percent since 1971."

• Martha Hoyer, a bookkeeper with Seneca Electric Company for 17 years, she has served on the Novi City Council since 1975 and is a former mayor pro tem. She also is Novi's delegate to SEMCOG and legislative liaison to the Michigan Municipal League.

Saying that Michigan suffers an 'anti-business' image, Hoyer maintains that revision of existing business and employment taxes to assure Michigan is competitive with other states is essential. She calls for a high technology promotion which provides credits against the single business tax for a percentage of amounts spent on wages and personal property since these firms are labor-intensive. "Increased deductions against the single business tax for capital expenditures and property acquisition are further incentives," she says.

On the subject of tax reform, she calls for a workable combination of reforms that include limiting assessments to less than 50 percent of true cash value, having the state pay a percentage of every bill, shifting school operating cost from property tax to local income tax and replacing parts of the property tax with increases in sales tax or state income tax. "The workable combination," she says, "must afford relief yet not interrupt the functioning of school districts and vital local services to taxpayers."

She would fund public education through a combination of state and local efforts, maintaining local controls. She said current trends must be reversed and the percentage of total state expenditures allocated to K-12 must be increased immediately.

• Allen C. Ingle, 61 and a practicing attorney for 32 years, resides in Northville. He is a former member of the Farmington Planning Board, the Governor's Safety Committee and the National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws. He is a past president of the Farmington Savings and Loan and has been active in the Michigan Justices Association and the Oakland County Judicial Association.

Ingle was attending a Trial Lawyer's Convention in Toronto when we submitted our request for information.

• John J. Roethel is a retired patent attorney with the Ford Motor Company. Long active in Republican party politics, he is a former member and chairman of the Novi Planning Board.

Roethel describes himself as "a passive candidate" and did not respond to our request for information.

• John Van Dyke is the owner of J. David Van Dyke, Incorporated Realtor in Milford. He is affiliated with the Milford Area Chamber of Commerce, Milford Rotary and the Western Wayne

"HE'S RIGHT ON THE ISSUES"

JOBS

"We have to take some positive steps to get Michigan's economy back in shape again. A large part of our problem is the poor business climate in Michigan today."

LAW wants to make Michigan more attractive for existing and new business to encourage diversification, expansion and jobs.

PROPERTY TAX RELIEF

"Inflation has taken the control over property tax growth out of the hands of the voters. The continuing inflationary rise in property values has resulted in spiraling tax bills. We must move ahead now to develop a program of relief for homeowners." LAW's intent is to restore that control to the voters where it belongs.

CRIME

"Stiff mandatory sentences for major drug dealers and legislation to allow adult courts to deal with juveniles committing violent felonies should be adopted."

In addition, the current practice of allowing "early release from prison" which lets many criminals get away without the punishment they deserve, should be eliminated."

36th DISTRICT REPUBLICAN

In Oakland County

Five hoping for GOP nod in 15th senate primary

An attorney, a former mayor of Southfield and a former aide to then-Congressman Gerald Ford are among the five candidates for the Republican nomination for the newly-created 15th State Senate District.

The attorney is John Anderson, a 31-year old Farmington resident. The former Southfield mayor is S. James Clarkson, 57, who also served as a district court judge. And the former aide to Ford in the U.S. Congress, is David Pickering, 29, who resides in Novi and believes it is time Novi had its own state senator.

Other candidates for the GOP nomination are Richard Corey, 48, who is owner of a three-store retail chain in Oakland and Wayne counties, and Markus Simon, 73, an unsuccessful state senate candidate in 1978.

The 15th state senate district includes Novi and Wixom as well as Farmington, Farmington Hills, Northville, Southfield, Lathrup Village, Ferndale, Royal Oak Township and Huntington Woods.

Here's a look at the five candidates for the Republican nomination for the 15th District state senate:

• John Anderson, 31, is an attorney in an Oakland County law firm and an executive board member of Industrial Michigan, an association devoted to encouraging business development in the state.

Anderson said he would reform or repeal the single business tax to eliminate the provision which requires payment of the tax even if the employer makes no profit. He also would reform the unemployment compensation system to make qualifying standards more strict by extending eligibility requirements from 18 to 20 weeks and reinitiating the "waiting week" to qualify for benefits. He would provide jobs by encouraging business development through tax incentives and reforms in costly government regulations.

• S. James Clarkson, 57, an attorney, is a former Southfield mayor and district court judge. He said the single business tax should be repealed and also called for repeal of personal property tax and income taxes not approved by the citizens. "The government cannot produce jobs or wealth, only encourage business to locate in Michigan and thus produce jobs," he said.

• Richard Corey, 48, is director of a large dental center and president/owner of a three-store retail chain in Oakland and Wayne counties.

Jobs, he said are the most important issue in this election. "Independent businesses provide more employment and more new jobs than any other type of business. Therefore, help must be given to the small, independent businessmen, so they will, once again, be in a position to give employment. This can be done by cutting worker's compensation and unemployment benefit costs, the single business tax and lowering the minimum wage, especially for those under age 20."

• David Pickering, 29, served as an aide to Gerald Ford when he was in the U.S. Congress and presently is assistant director of the Michigan Association of Recreational Vehicles and Campgrounds. He says there's a need to create a favorable environment for business to remain in Michigan and new industries to relocate in Michigan. "The cost of doing business in Michigan is among the highest in the nation," he said.

He said changes in unemployment compensation, workers compensation insurance and the single business tax are essential along with a reduction in unnecessary, unreasonable and unworkable regulations.

• Markus Simon, 73, ran unsuccessfully for the state senate in 1978. He has called for a constitutional amendment providing for non-partisan election of state legislatures and county commissions. He also would help agriculture, thereby encouraging creation of industries to process the state's farm products. Additionally, he sees the need for legislation to set aside supreme court decisions which widen claims under the workmen's compensation laws "beyond reason." The single business tax should be repealed, he said.

Madonna College receives federal grant

Madonna College of Livonia has received a $294,000 federal grant for its Madonna College Interpreting Program (MCIP).

The grant, from the United States Department of Education, will be used to help train approximately 75 skilled manual and oral interpreters for the deaf.

According to Ken Rust, chairman of Madonna's sign language study and interpreting department, interpreters assisted by the grant will be available within three years for employment in public and private agencies servicing the health, education, welfare, rehabilitation, employment and related needs of deaf people in this area.

Madonna currently has a nationally recognized sign language and interpreting department. Rust said the grant will expand courses offered by the department to meet the demands for interpreters in a variety of settings.

He said Madonna will provide workshops and training sessions to strengthen and expand the skills of in-service interpreters for interpreting in legal, medical, mental health and other specialized settings.

Madonna also will prepare printed materials and sponsor workshops to assist the deaf population and at least 500 service agencies in understanding the role, responsibilities and function of interpreters.

Madonna has actively recruited deaf and hearing-impaired students since 1975. It initiated an interpreting major leading to a bachelor or associate degree that same year.

There currently are 60 deaf or hearing-impaired students and two deaf instructors at the college.

Here's our candidate choices in local primary races

Northville residents will have an opportunity to select new political leadership as they vote in realigned districts in Tuesday's primary election — and could help make 1982 a watershed in Michigan politics.

We certainly hope so. We do not believe this is a year for politics as usual, nor do we think voters are receptive to that approach. These thoughts were foremost in our minds in the past two weeks as The Record staff interviewed the candidates vying for votes in the 36th District State House and 6th District State Senate races.

36th State Representative-Wolfram

Our selection of Gary Wolfram as the best choice for the Republican nomination in the 36th State House race may surprise some. Had any of us been asked in June to select the most viable candidate, our unanimous opinion would have been that Plymouth Township trustee Gerald Law had a deserved lock on the nomination. Since then, we have grown convinced that Wolfram is not only another choice, but the best one.

Like the many Northville voters who found Wolfram standing at their doorsteps these recent weeks, at our first contact with the unassuming economics professor we wondered what prompted him into politics and what he could possibly offer. His lack of political experience seemed an impossible handicap.

Yet as the race heated up we and others have been finding his proposals to remedy Michigan's economic problems innovative. There is some risk in this endorsement, and in voting for the candidate who remains an underdog despite what appears to be a closing gap between Wolfram and Law. We think, however, that the times dictate some risk-taking.

Wolfram's opponents include Ron Fisher of Northville Township, a lay minister at the Open Door Church who makes no bones about his expected support from fundamentalist Christian groups. We find these groups' ideas about the relationship between church and state unacceptable and do not believe they reflect the majority viewpoint in this district.

Granting Fisher his own constituents leaves most Northville voters to choose between Law, the acknowledged leader with support from most area officials, and Wolfram, a relative unknown only weeks ago who has impressed many of those same officials with his strong first-time-out campaign. He has made substantial gains in credibility without help from the powerful area leaders Law gathered into his camp in a pre-emptive drive before the district boundaries were even known. Despite Law's credentials as an attorney, businessman, in Plymouth Township government and as a community leader, we find we prefer economist Wolfram's stands on the issues.

Just as Wolfram argued from the beginning, the ideas put forward by this bright young man (who wrote a chapter in U-M's study "Michigan's Fiscal and Economic Structure," the "bible" for other state economic planners and in 1972 graduated summa cum laude with his bachelor's in economics and a Phi Beta Kappa key) simply make more sense than do the programs Law advances. Their Single Business Tax proposals provide a good contrast — Law proposes still more deductions that strike us as a patchwork response. Wolfram counters that the real solution is to slash the SBT rate in half while allowing fewer "outs." This proposal to spread the tax burden more equitably rather than granting exemptions to a select group (Law would allow a deduction for research and development that would be of no use to many small businesses, for example) seems to us a more responsible idea. It would reduce the disincentives to business locating in the state and treat those already here more fairly without further damaging the state's fiscal condition. Wolfram sees elimination of the SBT in the long term; Law has barely hinted at the possibility.

Wolfram, far left, listens to Law statement

The candidates' positions on reform of unemployment compensation and workers compensation systems are similar, if not identical. On property tax reform, again, the candidates seem close. Both would shift some of the weight of school financing to the sales tax, relieving the growing burden on residential property. But Wolfram appears more committed to education (citing it as an important factor if the state is to attract new business), and carefully avoids Law's advocacy of a $500 million cut in social spending to finance a tax reduction. Law did not specify where he might find a half billion dollar chunk to remove from a budget already slashed to ribbons (though both do call for a reduction in welfare benefits to the regional average).

Charging that politicians have lied about tax reform too often in the past, increasing taxes in the name of cutting them, Wolfram says real reductions in the total tax bill must await the arrival of more non-residential (i.e. business) property tax payers. It is a refreshing admission in a year when many candidates ask the voters to believe in a "magic wand" solution to Michigan's troubles.

While we find Law's unique advocacy of "sunset legislation" intriguing, we have concerns regarding Law's desire to have the Department of Natural Resources be more "cooperative" with the Department of Commerce when resources are one of the few aces Michigan has up its sleeve. We also find it disappointing that Law relies on lobbying groups, such as the Michigan Townships Association, to draft proposals for important legislation such as property tax reform.

Wolfram strongly supports revival of the Equal Rights Amendment; Law opposes ERA. Both oppose abortion in general and state-paid abortions specifically. Wolfram puts more emphasis on maintenance of the state's roads and public property than Law.

Our biggest doubt about Wolfram is whether he can be effective as a political newcomer in Lansing. We find evidence that he can in his growing strength on the campaign trail and believe he has demonstrated he is a "quick study" in the past two months.

Regardless of the victor's name come November, this area will be sending an untried legislator to Lansing. It is the inevitable price of losing the effective Jack Kirksey to reapportionment. Law would have a head start in terms of political connections and experience, but there will be many new faces in the house next year; so Wolfram's handicap would be minimal. We think Wolfram has the attributes to stand out among those needed new faces, and as the party's nominee could receive advice of political veterans that is missing in his present campaign.

Law's resume shows a political bent that tells us he would return, even if defeated in this election. We would not be disappointed if he did — he is a good candidate; we simply feel Gary Wolfram is a better one for Northville and Michigan under present conditions. We urge voters to study both candidate's positions carefully. There is a real choice. There may be again in November, when the GOP victor meets unopposed Democrat William Joyner.

6th State Senate-Geake

We support incumbent R. Robert Geake for the 6th district state senate race. Challenger Norman Kinzel is beyond his depth against Geake. Kinzel echoes the charge against Geake that "he's a nice guy, but..." without offering an alternative we find any better. Kinzel's continued presence in local politics, however, would not be unwelcome.

We endorse Geake in this race with the hope that if a Republican majority is elected to the Senate, he could make better use of his position in the powerful appropriations committee than he has in the recent past. The list of bills he has sponsored in the past session does not indicate he is making the most of his position. His strengths include high ratings from the state business community and regular availability to the district (despite some recent lapses in communication). We hope he will broaden his horizons in the next term, looking beyond the mental health system issues for which his background prepares him and take a greater leadership position in getting Michigan back on its feet. Employed properly, Geake's seniority could be a valuable asset. We believe he deserves the opportunity to try.

County Executive choices

One of the more unpredictable races of this election year is that for Wayne County executive. Depending upon the selection, the new executive could be one of the most powerful and effective persons in the state. The wrong pick could doom the long-sought after goal of reforming county government before it ever gets off the ground.

Based upon their respective records and what we know of the candidates, we would advise voters casting Democratic ballots to opt for Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara and those with a GOP ballot to tap Robert FitzPatrick as that party's nominee.

In the Democratic party the 10-candidate race has narrowed to the point where McNamara is virtually the only candidate with a chance to beat Sheriff William Lucas, who had a name recognition advantage going into the campaign. We do not find Lucas acceptable for this post. His administration of the sheriff's department, particularly during the recent fiscal crisis, does not bode well for his performance as an executive.

McNamara on the other hand has a very good record as mayor of our neighbor to the east and the ability to operate on a county-wide basis. With McNamara in office, we could be certain the man in charge knew the problems of the outlying communities in the county and the lack of services offered here. Lucas has been part of that very problem.

Many political pundits would have us believe the winner of the Democratic primary will be the winner in November, since Republicans have done so poorly in county-wide ballots lately. We are not so sure. With a candidate such as Robert FitzPatrick, director of the county Economic Development Corporation, on the other side, the Democratic nominee could face a legitimate challenge. FitzPatrick, too, has knowledge of this area through his involvement with plans to build a senior citizens' housing project on county-held land in Northville Township. He has proven administrative abilities in both private industry and government, and now in the quasi-public role of EDC director. His "Republican" credentials may be questionable, but he does appear to be more conservative than many of his Democratic peers.

While the crowded fields might confuse some voters, we think these two — McNamara and FitzPatrick — deserve top ranking on each side.

Oakland County choices

Voters are faced with an abundance of choices when they go to the polls in next Tuesday's primary — until one reaches the three Oakland County Commission races in our coverage area, which all are uncontested.

In arriving at our endorsements, some frustration with the incumbents, particularly on the state level, will be obvious. Although the problems with unemployment compensation, workman's compensation and the single business tax have been obvious for some time, previous legislatures have been guilty of doing too little, too late.

Here are our endorsements for Tuesday's primary.

State Senate

In the race for the 15th District state senate seat (Northville-Oakland, Novi and Wixom) we like Alan Feuer for the Democratic nomination and John Anderson for the Republican nomination. Feuer, a former executive director of Common Cause of Michigan, appears capable of making a greater contribution than either of the two re-districted incumbents, Jack Faxon and Dana Wilson.

Anderson is an attorney and an executive board member of Industrial Michigan, an association devoted to encouraging business development in the state. He is a bright, young candidate and has the best grasp of the issues among his Republican opponents.

State Representative

In the race for the Republican nomination in the 60th District state representative (Northville-Oakland, Novi), two candidates stand out — Martha Hoyer and Willis Bullard, Jr. Our choice is Martha Hoyer. Hoyer and Bullard both boast experience on the local level: Hoyer as a member of the Novi City Council since 1975 and Bullard as Highland Township supervisor since 1980. Although Bullard is impressive, we believe Hoyer's superior experience through SEMCOG, the Michigan Municipal League and the National League of Cities makes her a more-qualified candidate. She is knowledgeable and has unique ideas property tax reform and funding public education.

The high cost of higher education II:

If I may, I would like to add a little personal note to last week's column by Michele McElmurry. To refresh the memory a little bit, she noted that tuition costs at Michigan's institutions of higher learning have risen at such a rate that by the time this year's freshmen class graduates, the cumulative cost will have exceeded her earnings for the past two years.

My wife Debbi still has two years left at the University of Detroit Dental Hygiene school. Last week Wednesday, we found out how much it was going to cost to put her through school for the next two years, and I nearly fainted. It will cost more than what I make in one year. Just to give you an idea of the cost, tuition will be more than $5,000 each year, books and instruments near $800 and different kinds of fees amounting to $100. Remember, this does not even include room and board, which, fortunately, we do not have to pay.

With her scholarship money cut more than half, it was a rude awakening to learn we now need to raise a large amount of money through other sources to get her through school. It is now I can truly appreciate today's student who is trying to work his or her way through college.

Also, I better understand, and appreciate, today's parents who foot the bill to put their offspring through college. My parents did just that for me and my sister when we went to school. So, mom and dad, here is THANKS again for getting me through school.

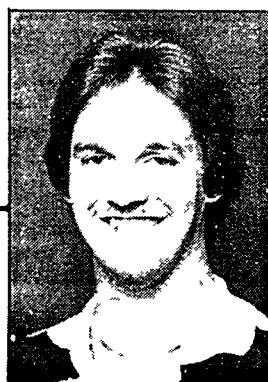

Maybe it is a little premature to talk about tailgate picnics. However, with the start of the football season only a month away it may not be a bad idea to do some pre-season thinking on the subject.

Part of any Saturday afternoon college football festivities should include a tailgate picnic. It's a great way to get ready for the game, and a great way to complete the afternoon after the game is over.

All during my senior year at Central Michigan University, my roommates and I had a tailgate picnic at every home game. We all chipped to buy the food and beer and invited everyone we knew to stop by for a drink and something to chow on before, during or after the game. Believe me, we had a lot of fun and I think the games were pretty good, too.

Now, both my family and my cousin's family (Kent currently is going to Michigan State University) are going to MSU October 23 for a football game complete with a tailgate picnic. We started confirming the plans Sunday because tickets have to be purchased early to handle a dozen of us — especially if we all want to sit together.

Later on we will start to work on what we would like to have to drink and eat because one is only limited by his or her imagination as to what there will be at a tailgate picnic.

Thanks given to helpers, chairman of Mantle tourney

To the Editor:
Family and friends of the Mickey Mantle Blue Team — I want to thank each one of you for your help and support in putting on the AABC Mickey Mantle District Tournament. It was a tremendous success made possible only by your involvement:

John and Prudy Quinn in directing concessions and the gate.

Dennis Nielsen, Ed Stephens, Dave Longridge and Lou Denhof in their team roles as official scorers, announcers and tournament officials.

Parks and Recreation for the setting up of the physical facilities and daily field preparation.

Jim Newman for his dual role as assistant director and coach.

Buddy Bell, Sarah Deal, Bill and Judy Bartling, Joan Newman, Alma Stephens, Judy Walsh, Todd and Jay Bartling, Sandy Nielsen, Marge and Karen Longridge, Margaret Denhof, Charlene Frellick, Brian Jennings, Doug Doyle, Bob and Judy Wissman, Dick Ryba, Chris and John Quinn, Judy Morgan, Leann and Jim Behen, Joe O'Doherty, Sue Schrader and Mike Nielsen for their time, help and involvement working on clean up, at the gate and in the concession stand.

Fred Cahill, Ron Jennings, Burger Chef, McDonalds, Paul Folino and John Collins for their donations to the program.

The ball boys and girls — Shawn Bales, Jenny Cass, Brian and Dean Frellick, Steve Ventura, Steve Nigro, Robert Richcreek, Chip Heath, Randy Jones, Bob Smith, Jimmey and Bridget O'Doherty and Danny Walsh.

Thank you very much.

To the parents and players of the Reds and Phillies E-League teams, please accept my apologies for causing postponement of your important play-off game on Wednesday, July 28, as well as my failure of notifying the coaches of the need to postpone the game.

You do not take the back seat to any other phase of Northville Junior Baseball; however, when there are commitments made to host a tournament and rain causes alternate game times and fields to be established, then other changes sometimes have to be made.

E-League has an equal part in the total Northville Junior Baseball/Softball Program.

Thank you again, Northville Mickey Mantle Blue parents, friends, coach and players for a fine season with a super climax.

Bob Frellick

To the Editor:

This past weekend a Mickey Mantle baseball tournament was held at the Northville High School field. This tournament for ages 15-16 drew teams from Detroit, Sterling Heights, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Blissfield, Union Lake as well as our Northville team.

Through the efforts of many energetic and diligent community members, including our school superintendent, approximately 160 ball players and between 500-1,000 spectators from those areas were able to indulge themselves in a four-day tournament of fine baseball.

My sincere thanks to all who volunteered their services or donated their products. Space and memory do not permit me to mention everyone; however, one man who has donated so much of his time and talents to the Northville community must be acknowledged. That man is Bob Frellick.

Bob was the tournament chairman who organized this very successful endeavor. He tirelessly planned not only the tournament but recruited key people to administer certain necessary functions peculiar to the tournament.

He has worked diligently to upgrade our athletic facilities (I mean to the point where he has personally maintained the baseball field at times.) Bob helped coach the Mantle team, coached a Fee Wee Reese team, is serving as president of the Northville Junior Baseball Association and is probably involved in other community activities I'm not aware of.

Northville — be grateful for a community-minded, enthusiastic, spirited citizen like Bob Frellick. Be also thankful we have a msn like Bob Frellick who relates well with young people and is an excellent role model for them.

We all enjoyed a very well run and well played baseball tournament though the efforts of many citizens, but the man who provided leadership for us all was Bob.

Thank you, Bob Frellick.

Explains resolution

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was directed to Record reporter Kevin Wilson, whose byline appeared on one of two news stories published July 21 regarding a "Buy American" resolution rejected by both township and city.)

To the Editor:

I read with interest your column in the issue of 7-21-82 with regard to the reaction of the township and city of Northville to a "Buy American" proposal which I have forwarded to all communities in Wayne County.

Apparently, some confusion exists in the purpose of the campaign to have a similar proposal adopted by local governments.

What I am seeking is to have each community join in adopting the proposal as it concerns their own purchasing policy. Apparently, there is belief that what is being sought is simply endorsement of county action.

As I noted in earlier correspondence (press releases), combined government spending in Michigan alone amounts to about $18.4 billion per year. If each unit whether county, city, township or school determined that projects they buy would be "American made", our joint efforts could substantially encourage new enterprise and the creation of jobs.

Whether it is uniforms for sanitation workers (made in Taiwan) or light bulb replacements (made in Japan) each purchase supports foreign business and creates foreign jobs.

While 16 percent of our citizens are without work and 2.2 million more have slipped to poverty level in just the past year, all of us and particularly those of use who manage government have to consider our priorities.

We should be in the front ranks of those who seek to get America and our cities back on their feet.

"Buy American" programs are just one of many steps we will have to take in the months ahead. I am going to continue to urge that we not stand immobilized but march forward in aid of our fellow citizens and jobs.

Sincerely,
Richard E. Manning
Wayne County Commissioner

Pleas for handrail

To the Editor:

I'm contemplating moving into the Allen Terrace Senior Citizens Apartments in the next 20-25 years ... unless before that time you form a posse and escort me out of town.

Assuming I'm able to move to the terrace, I have a request that'll hopefully make my life a lot easier and my visits to "Clock-Town Downtown" more enjoyable ... and more frequent.

Will someone please put a handrail along the sidewalk leading up to the parking area of Allen Terrace starting from the intersection of High and Elm streets?

I would greatly appreciate it ... but most importantly, there are countless citizens living in the terrace who would appreciate it more right now ... those who enjoy walking back and forth to town but find the walk very tiring and exhaustive.

Sure, there's a couple of benches along the way, but a handrail would be a welcome addition and most useful.

City fire inspections completed

Six routine fire inspections, 23 follow-up inspections and a special inspection were made in the city during June, Alan A. Matthews, city fire inspector, detailed in a report received by city council Monday.

Matthews stated that all buildings along east and south Main now have been inspected. He is continuing inspections in buildings on streets that connect to Main now.

A special inspection was made at Bob's Coin

Laundry, Matthews explained in a report made to City Manager Steven Walters, for the purpose of approving an arcade permit for one machine.

During the month, Matthews related, he had contacted several local businesses regarding the handling of fireworks and passed out literature from the State Fire Marshal's Division explaining state law on fireworks and listing fireworks approved for sale in Michigan.

"On my spot checks," he said, "I found no illegal fireworks."

"Basically, fireworks which have a D.O.T. label of Class C are legal, except anything which spins or moves along the ground or propels itself into the air or explodes, such as a firecracker, are illegal."

Injured workers lose benefits

Fifteen thousand injured men and women and their families will lose up to $7 million in benefits because the legislature failed to pass a budget before the summer recess, State Representative Jack Kirksey (R-Livonia/Northville) said Friday.

Nearly all the worker's compensation insurers and self insurers have stopped paying supplemental benefits to the injured workers within the past week on the grounds that the money to reimburse them has not been appropriated, Kirksey explained.

"Unfortunately, the refusal to deal with a budget before the fall has translated into measurable hardship for a significant number of people — injured men and women who before January had not received any kind of benefit increase from as far back as 1965," he said.

"Michigan's budget is being balanced on their backs and the blame falls squarely in the laps of House Democrats who obstructed every Republican effort to write a spending plan before September. Their actions have jeopardized not only the state's creditworthiness but the benefits of deserving people as well."

If the legislature had passed a 1983 budget in the beginning of July, as Republicans repeatedly urged, the reimbursement money would have been appropriated and the carriers could not have cut off benefits, Kirksey said.

"But without a budget, the insurers are within their rights under the law to stop benefit payments."

Geake scores 95 percent

State Senator Robert Geake (R-Northville) has scored 95 percent on legislation affecting Michigan's economic and job development during the 1981-82 legislative session, according to a voting record on business and job-related issues compiled by the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

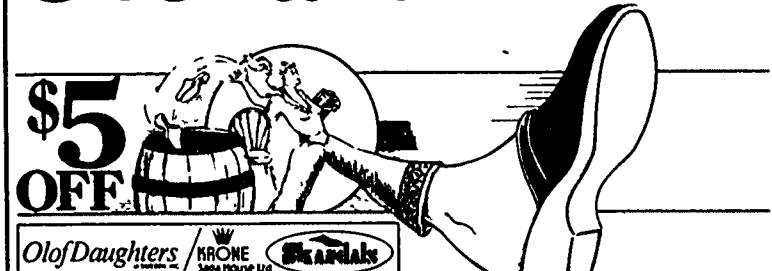

The voting record is published as a job providers' index in the state chamber's executive report, a monthly publication mailed to more than 6,000 member Michigan business firms. The index was compiled by the state chamber following a study of key legislative roll calls on a broad range of job-related issues.

The legislators were rated on whether they voted in accordance with the state chamber's position on all the votes they cast. Senators' scores ranged from a high of 100 percent to a low of 43 percent.

James Barrett, president of the state chamber, pointed out that while there are many important votes cast in the legislature, those selected for the state chamber's analysis were on issues vital to the job providers of Michigan.

Stop That Action!

When pictures blur, you can be sure that something's moving. Perhaps it's you. More likely it's your subject. Now's the time to start thinking about getting a "faster" low light camera.

"Fast" cameras have more precisely ground lenses that can be opened wider to let more light reach the film. This cuts the time in which the film will have to be exposed to receive an adequate amount of light. The shorter the exposure, the less movement it will record. Less expensive fixed shutter and lens cameras do not afford this flexibility.

You'll see many opportunities for great action pictures — your youngster splashing away happily in the backyard swimming pool, your puppy with all four legs spinning merrily in the air as he chases a thrown ball.

The more sophisticated camera will "freeze" that action for you. Many of these cameras are so automated that you have to do little more than point, focus and shoot.

Come in and let us show you these adjustable lens cameras at i-stop, 43220 Grand River, just east of Novi Road, 348-9355.

Folk re-emphasized at Huntington's benefit festival

Folk music fans will be flocking to Ford Field in Northville this weekend to attend the Sixth Annual Folk and Bluegrass Festival Benefit for Huntington's Disease.

Organizer Tom Rice, owner of the sponsoring Giffdler Music Store, said the festival will take on more of a folk flavor this year than in the recent past, though bluegrass fans will still find attractions in the two-day festival.

The festival opens at 1 p.m. this Saturday as Marie Schlegers sets the folk fans' feet tapping. The Saturday card includes Allen Z. and his dulcimer, Bluegrass Generation, Banjo Betsy Beckerman's folk music, Northern Comfort (an old time music band), local star folk guitarist-singer Neil Woodward, bluegrass-artists Wild clover, back to folk with Nexus and, as the 9 p.m. end of the day approaches, Flash in the Pan puts out bluegrass twang.

Sunday's list of performers, Rice states unequivocally, is simply "the best in the state of Michigan." Dean Rutledge, one of the state's favorites leads off at 1 p.m.

The afternoon slate also includes Josh White, Jr., certain to appear under contract this year. Other entertainers are the Ruff Water String Band, Home Grown Grass, Footloose, Calico and

Footloose is among festival entertainers

Just Friends. A little variety comes from the blues performances of Larry Stevens and then Rich and Maureen Del Grosso making a sandwich of folksy Calico.

Rice invites the public to bring picnic baskets, lawn chairs and prepare to enjoy two afternoons of fine music. "The atmosphere is the thing."

He warns that "it will rain, it has the past five years" so advises that those attending bring rainwear. "Maybe if everyone brings an umbrella, it won't rain," he laughed.

Rice never loses sight of the fact the concert is a benefit for the Huntington's Disease Foundation, which raises funds and conducts research into virtually all genetic neurological diseases.

Marjorie Guthrie, widow of folk-great Woody Guthrie who died of Huntington's, will not appear at the festival this year, Rice said. She offered to come, Rice said, but he decided her schedule was already too busy.

With the funds raised at events such as his, Rice explained, Guthrie operates the foundation, raising matching money from the federal government and dedicating it to research. The latest effort, he said, is aimed at DNA, the building block of life, in an effort to screen genetic disorders like Huntington's.

"I know times are tough," Rice said, explaining his minimum donation for entrance to the festival grounds ($4 for adults, $2 for children and seniors, babes in arms free). "We need some generosity. This money is what enables Marjorie to continue operation of the foundation. Maybe, just maybe, people can reach a little deeper to help more than that, but four dollars is a pittance as a minimum to see these people. They are donating their performances to the cause; we need people to help."

There will be concession stands and lavatories on the grounds, Rice related, and performers will on the same type of stage as was employed last year when the festival moved to Ford Field for the first time. Rice expects better sound this year, with a more professional technician at the helm in that department. Also appearing will be disc jockeys from WDET radio.

The annual gathering of the folk and bluegrass faithful in Northville got its start in Tom Rice's sister's love for music, and his desire to pay tribute to her after her death due to Huntington's disease.

Music, Rice related, is one of the few pleasures left those in the advanced stages of Huntington's and other genetic neurological disease. As the nervous system comes under attack by such diseases it erodes muscle control, limiting mobility, speech and eventually eroding the victims' control over their own bodies, Rice said, hearing is virtually the last refuge.

Rice's step-sister Donna took great pleasure in music in the last years of her life, the Giffdler owner explained. Just before her death after 10 years' af-liction, the music store owner said, he pledged to watch after her children who are also at risk of contracting the disorder.

Now, he related, Donna's daughter Laurie is teaching guitar at the Giffdler with him. "It's what Donna would really have wanted," he said. "She loved guitar."

So did Woody Guthrie, the folk music great who succumbed to Huntington's after a 15-year battle with his wife Marjorie at his side. Rice said Marjorie founded the Foundation to Combat Huntington's Disease as a result of her experience, and he devised his annual charity festivals out of a similar motive.

The foundation now is the largest dealing with all genetic neurological disorders, he said, and Marjorie Guthrie is at its center, gathering funds to fight the diseases on all fronts.

Five Republicans contend in 60th state house primary

County Board of Realtors.

Van Dyke said Michigan's business climate can be improved by emphasizing the importance of the private sector. "We need new land use policies and we need to run government like a business," he said, adding that regulations must be evaluated to balance environmental protection and economic growth.

Van Dyke believes the governor's economic recovery program is a first step in addressing the excessive costs of doing business in our state. Citing action on workmen's compensation, the single business tax and House Bill 5165 which establishes 'Economic Growth Areas,' he says each of these areas needs additional attention. He also says there's a need to address the unemployment compensation debt to the federal government.

On the subject of property tax reform, Van Dyke says a more equitable way of funding local government services must be found now. A supporter of the Tisch proposals, he said he would support a reduction of assessments to 33 percent of market value, provided a minimum amount of state funds are earmarked for public education and local government.

Short deadline leaves Ingle out

Allen C. Ingle, 61, a Republican candidate for the 60th state representative district, said Monday he was in Toronto, Canada attending a week-long trial lawyer's seminar (July 16-23) and did not receive the questionnaire from Sliger-Livingston Publications in time to respond for the primary tab deadline.

The Northville resident, who is a practicing attorney in Farmington, is not included in this week's primary tab due to the short deadline. Ingle has served on the Farmington Township planning Board, the Governor's Safety Committee and the National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws.

He served three terms as justice for the City of Farmington and is a past president of the Oakland County Judicial Association.

Ingle and his wife are the parents of four children, the youngest of whom is 16.

I'M MAD!

I'm Bob FitzPatrick, and I'm mad!

I'm mad that the partisan political brokers and the political hacks of Wayne County want to continue their interests, and themselves in office.

I'm mad that they want to preserve their positions at the hog trough of country government.

I'm mad that they are so cynical as to believe that they can fool you, the people who work and live in Wayne County, by hand-grooming their own partisan candidates to be the hand-servants of their whims and greed.

By their actions, they are laughing at you. And, in my book, that is no laughing matter.

Why I am a candidate

I'm running as a candidate for Executive of Wayne County because I want to knock heads, step on toes, and wrestle control of Wayne County government away from the free-spending, Las Vegas-junketing and cynical partisan politicians who have feathered their personal nests while you, as Wayne County citizens, have had to put up with loss of jobs, bankrupt businesses, higher taxes, poorer roads, inferior community services and arrogant public servants.

I filed to be the candidate of both the Democratic and Republican parties, because I believe the office of Wayne County Executive should be non-partisan. While every home rule vote of local government since 1908 has offered the people the choice of partisan or non-partisan government, only Wayne County was denied this right.

Right now, the political powers in Wayne County are fighting my efforts to shake down the bricks of their fiefdom and return Wayne County government to the representation of all the people.

I believe that is what you called for when you approved the new Wayne County Charter creating the office of Wayne County Executive.

I believe you called for a tough businessman to run the tough business of Wayne County government, and that is what my election will give you.

Why I am most qualified

I'm the only candidate for this office with any real experience in running county government.

The last time Wayne County balanced its budget and had a surplus was when I was Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners

I returned to private business eight years ago, and since that time Wayne County has been in the red, and the deficit, currently at $17.5 million, grows and grows and grows.

I was the first candidate who called for the reorganization of Wayne County government and the direct election of a county executive in 1971, and I am the only candidate in this race who is currently doing something about the problems of Wayne County... problems that others are just talking about.

What the No. 1 Issue Is

As the current Director of the Economic Development

Corporation of Wayne County and the Metropolitan Growth and Development Corporation, I am leading the effort to hold plants and jobs in Wayne County.

This is the effort that includes ACAP, the Automotive Community Adjustment Plan to expand and create new jobs, and the effort that will shortly create a Senior Citizens Village unlike any in the Mid-West, creating new housing for several thousand persons; as much as a million dollars in new tax revenues for Wayne County; and several thousand construction and permanent jobs.

And make no mistake about it, jobs is the No. 1 issue in this campaign.

Unless Wayne County citizens go back to work, Wayne County government won't work. You can not have public sector service if you don't have private sector jobs.

I've had 20 years as a business executive, and unless Wayne County has a County Executive who knows how to fry the fat of bureaucrats and hangers-on, and come up with the payroll, Wayne County won't work.

The job can be done, and jobs can be won!

But it won't be done by one-issue candidates or those representing one-city constituencies, and what you don't need is another politician to run Wayne County — you need an executive.

How you can help

Whether you live in Wayne County or do business in Wayne County, you pay taxes in Wayne County. You don't need your money wasted by controlled, partisan politicians who promise you anything to get elected and do nothing to create the business climate you need once they are in office.

I ask all Democrats, Republicans, and citizens of Wayne County to help me put Wayne County back to work.

Whether you've voted twenty times in the past, or this will be your first vote, I urge you to not be so cynical as to think your vote cannot make a difference in your life. It can. It will.

Together, we will create a new Alliance of Citizens for Wayne County, and you will have a County Executive and a County Government that you can be proud of and have confidence in.

Join me.

Volunteer to help me.

I am not running to get a job.

I am running to do a job!

Saying 'yes'

Using Michigan products and services was one of the goals at Sheraton Oaks

By PHILIP JEROME

The big band sounds of Woody Herman and his Thundering Herd blared away from the main banquet room.

Just beyond the lobby, guests gathered around the indoor swimming pool to listen to the unique rhythms of a steel drum band.

Out on the cedar deck by the outdoor swimming pool, guests sat at the canopied tables, occasionally walking over to the cabana bar to order another drink.

This wasn't just another party — it was the grand opening of the new Sheraton Oaks Hotel in Novi.

Located on the west side of Novi Road, just off I-96, the three-story, 220-room Sheraton Oaks is almost as long as the Renaissance Center is high. No expense has been spared to make it a first-class facility.

The opening of Sheraton Oaks represents something of a symbol of hope and optimism for Michigan which is still mired in the doldrums of recession.

But more than that, the owners of the new hotel — Gerry Abel, a former Detroit Red Wing and son of Red Wing great Sid Abel, and Tony Wisne of PICO, Investments, Inc. — have attempted to make Sheraton Oaks something of their own personal "Say Yes to Michigan" statement.

"That was definitely one of the objectives," said Raymond Biggs, director of public relations and marketing for the new $10 million facility. "We wanted to demonstrate our support for Michigan businesses by using local products whenever possible.

"There were times when we could have saved some money by going out-of-state to order supplies or equipment, but it was our objective to utilize products made in Michigan as much as we could.

"In the long run, it's good for them, good for us and good for the state."

Unique in its design and appointments, the three-story structure had John Turmala of Southfield as its architect. The contractor was Fordon Construction of Farmington. Furnishings were designed by Steve Mitchell, then with Mitchell & Weiss in Warren, and custom-made in the Wall Lake area.

Abel and Wisne even commissioned Robert Piepenburg, a noted artist from the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College, to create a 24-foot pylon fountain which serves as a dominant feature in the spacious atrium.

Even the pictures on the walls in the 220 rooms are originals, commissioned from an artist in Ann Arbor.

Now that the Sheraton Oaks is completed, it is providing employment for approximately 200 people on a continuing payroll.

The Sheraton Oaks features all the amenities one would expect to find in a Sheraton franchise, which uses the theme "We've got style" in its promotional campaign.

There are heated indoor and outdoor pools; sauna, whirlpool and exercise rooms; racquetball/handball courts; nightly live entertainment in Anthony's Lounge, first-run satellite movies in the rooms; airport limousine service and shuttle service to Twelve Oaks Mall.

A feature of the new hotel are the four executive suites with wetbars, fireplaces and Jacuzzi tubs for two.

Special attention has been paid to business clientele as the hotel offers multiple seminar and meeting rooms, an amphitheater equipped with audio-visual facilities and satellite teleconferencing with stenographic and copy services.

If there's an area in which Sheraton Oaks hopes to make its mark above all others, however, it's in the quality of its dining facilities.

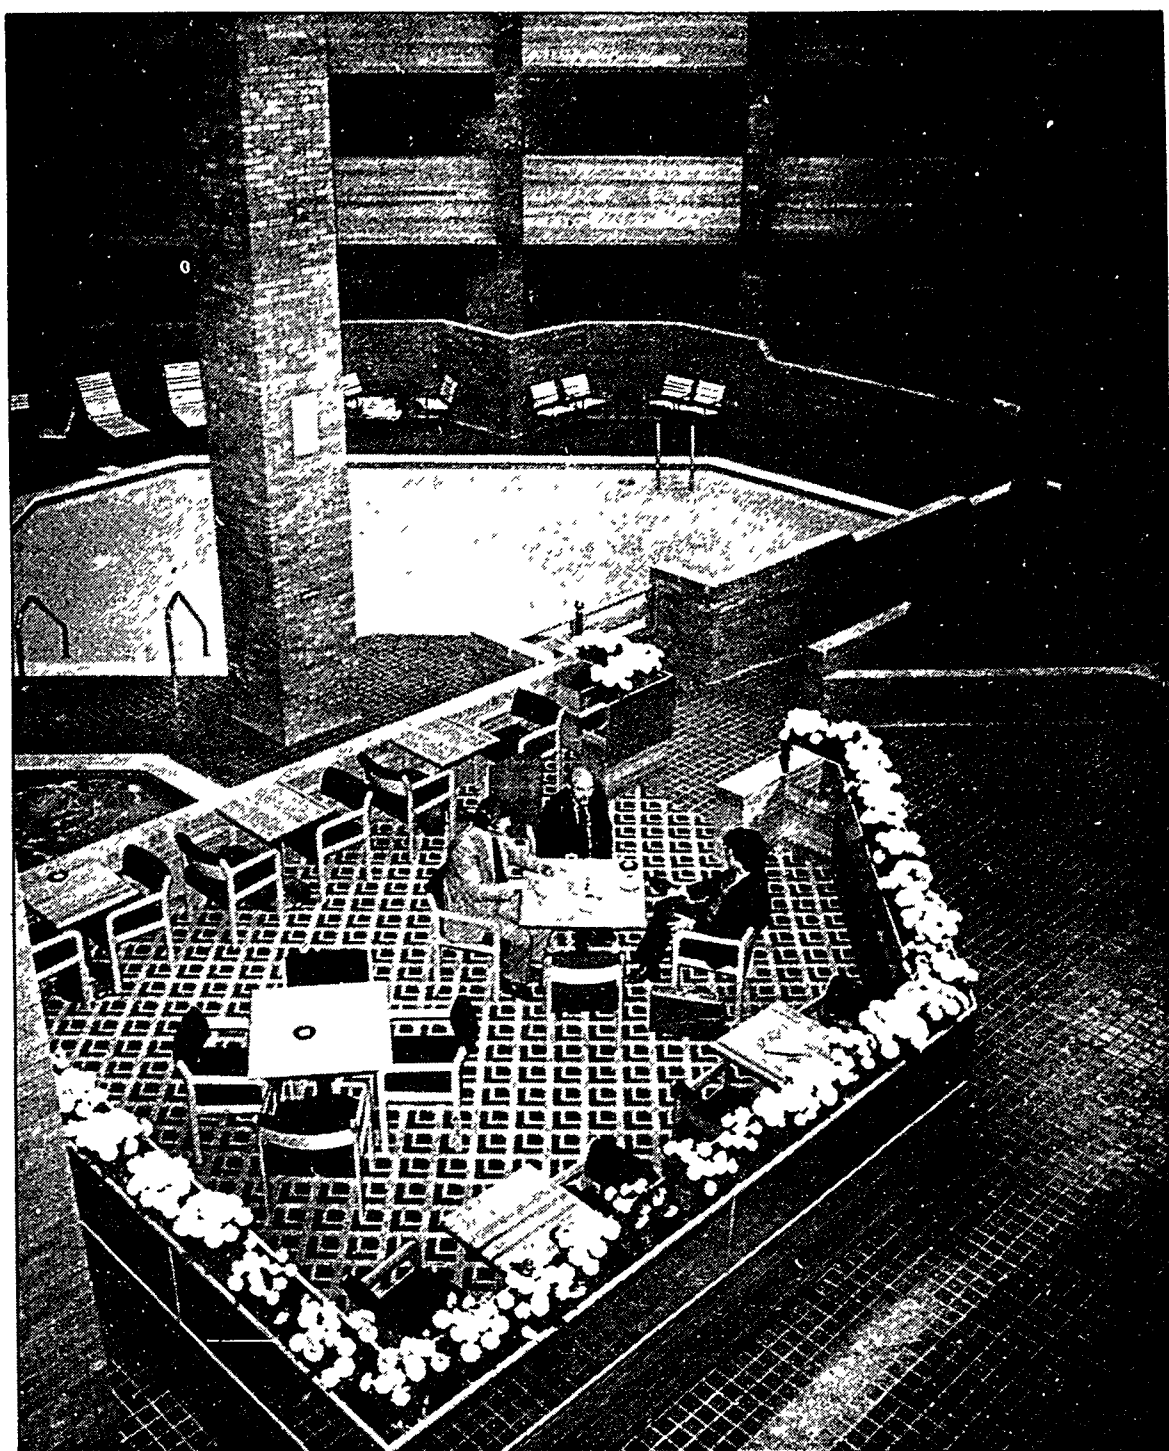

The executive chef is Remy Berdy, who formerly held the same position at the Michigan Inn where he was responsible for the highly-acclaimed Benchmark Restaurant.

Henrik Jensen, a Danish-born, European-trained chef who previously has worked at Fisher's 666, Machus Red Fox and La Rotisserie, is in charge of Anthony's — the Sheraton Oaks' main dining room.

And Peter Loren is the chef de patisserie. Loren's elaborate pastry tables win raves even from his accomplished compatriots in the kitchen.

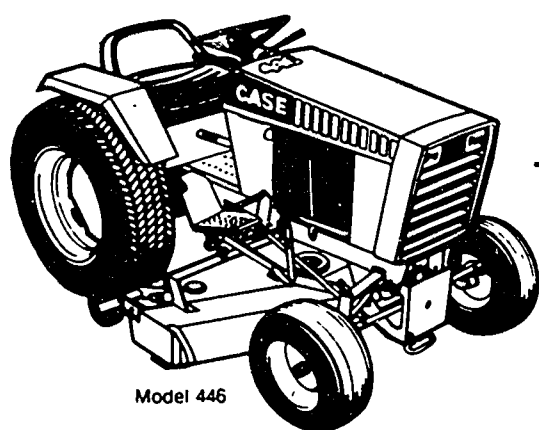

Sheraton Oaks' major claim to culinary fame, however, may well be Raphael's an exclusive 64-seat gourmet restaurant which is scheduled to open later this month. Chef de cuisine at Raphael's is Keith Famie, who has worked previously at The Lark and the Benchmark and is establishing an international reputation in the field of culinary arts.

"Raphael's is definitely going to be outstanding," remarked Biggs recently. "It's going to be a five-star restaurant — as good as or better than any other restaurant in the state."

Business Briefs

THOMAS G. PAYNE, a former Northville resident, has been named president of the J.L. Hudson Company, according to P. Gerald Mills, Hudson's chairman and chief executive officer.

Mills said Payne brings to Hudson's a record of outstanding achievement in the retail industry. Most recently as president and chief executive officer of John A. Brown, a department store chain in the southwest, Payne led the company during a period of growth and strong results.

At Hudson's, his responsibilities will include merchandising and marketing.

A native Detroit, Payne began his career in retailing in 1957 with Hudson's. He advanced through the stores and merchandising divisions of the company, serving as divisional merchandising manager of the Men's Division, general manager of Hudson's Southland store, and vice president and general merchandise manager of Hudson's Rain-bow Division.

Payne is a 1952 graduate of St. Mary of Redford High School and attended the University of Detroit. He and his wife Geraldine have five children, ages 10-21.

DR. NICHOLAS DOINIDIS of the Doinidis Chiropractic Clinic in Novi has attended a symposium in Orlando, Florida, on scoliosis (curvature of the spine) recently.

Chiropractic's leading authority on scoliosis, Dr. Fred H. Barge, spoke on new studies concerning this crippling ailment, which is eight times more prevalent in young girls than their male counterparts.

Dr. Barge serves on the board of two chiropractic colleges and is listed in "Who's Who in Chiropractic." His recent book completes a trilogy on chiropractic technique, all of which are being used in the curriculums of chiropractic colleges.

Dr. Doinidis plans to offer free scoliosis screening examinations for a period of one month as a public service.

LESTER MONGER of Walled Lake, a new vehicle salesman for Southfield Dodge, Inc., in Southfield, received an award for his individual performance in selling Chrysler Corporation products.

Monger has reached the Silver level of recognition in Chrysler's unique Sales Professionals Club. Specially-designed incentives are provided by the corporation for outstanding product knowledge and sales achievement at three performance levels — bronze, silver and gold. Membership in each level is determined by points earned for sales of new cars and trucks.

The program continues throughout the 1982 model sales year. The top 45 Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge retail sales personnel will win a trip to a three-day national sales convention.

DR. ROBERT YAGOOBIAN, who practices from the Professional Center Clinic at West Seven Mile in Northville, is one of a select group of American Foot Surgeons to be invited to visit professional counterparts in the Soviet Union and China during 1983.

The invitation, issued by the Ministries of Health from the host countries, asked the United States to send a small delegation to Moscow and Peking to observe and evaluate Soviet and Chinese procedures and share perspectives and methods regarding ambulatory foot surgery.

The invitation specially requested that the caliber of the delegation be high, "inasmuch as they must be able to effectively relate with ranking Soviet and Chinese health officials and clinical professionals."

Dr. Yagobian will be the only podiatrist from the State of Michigan in the American delegation, which is limited to 34 people. The invitation was issued through People-to-People International, the primary group used for foreign peoples to contact groups in the United States they wish to invite for professional contacts.

People-to-People International was originally formed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower as a non-political and non-profit organization to work outside governments to advance the cause of world peace through international friendships.

Small business group sets sites on additional legislative issues

Members of Michigan's largest small-business group are savoring the fruits of pro-business laws passed this summer before gearing up for a fall attack on critical issues still facing legislators when they roll-up their shirt sleeves in September.

According to Roger Haynes, director of governmental relations for more than 20,500 National Federal of Independent Business (NFIB) members, independent-business owners are spearheading a campaign for an equal-access-to-justice law, launching an assault to keep the six-month "temporary" personal income tax hike imposed on April Fool's Day temporary and cracking down on those goods and services the state does in-house that could be done better by private companies.

Haynes commended the state Legislature for two laws coming out of Lansing — a forms management program and a higher earnings threshold for businesses that pay the state's single-business tax.

Starting within the next six months and continuing through December 1984, 47,000 state-required forms will be reviewed monthly by a five-member committee for clarity, duplication and ease of reporting. Any forms not approved by the committee will "sunset" (expire) by January 1, 1985.

According to Haynes, the new law will be especially helpful in holding down costs associated with filling out multiple, lengthy state forms. "Small firms are sometimes forced to pass these costs on to consumers," he added.

A second "beachhead" for small-business was passage of a single-business tax reform measure that should make it more of a tax on profits. Starting January 1, 1984, the earnings exemption threshold will be increased to $6 million gross receipts or a reported business income of up to $45,000 to qualify for tax relief.

"This will give small firms a much-needed break. Under the old formula, the tax wasn't one on profits but an across-the-board tax that pushed business with a poor profit picture to the edge of the bankruptcy cliff," said Haynes. He commended the change as a good first step in distributing the tax burden more equitably. Until the new law takes effect, businesses must show gross receipts totalling less than $3 million or post income less than $300,000 to be exempt.

Haynes said NFIB/Michigan's fall "legislative hit list" includes winning a state version of the 1980 federal equal-access-to-justice law that gives small-business owners a chance to fight back against government agencies, making sure that the personal income tax increase drops to the March 31 level of 4.6 percent as it is supposed to, and eliminating state-government competition with private firms for goods and services.

A six-month emergency tax increase of one percent was imposed April 1 to temporarily offset the state's revenue shortfalls. It is scheduled to end September 30, but may see stiff floor debate. The small business community urges legislators to take a closer look at spending cuts when they return to tackle the budget in September.

Once more, Haynes reminded legislators, government competition remains a problem for smaller firms. "The state could replenish its coffers if it chose to contract with private companies for the goods and services it needs. Businesses can often do the job faster and cheaper."

'Less optimism about recovery'

At the first of the year most economists expected the economy to grow at a rate of about five percent during 1982, but that hope has long vanished and the new outlook is for continued sluggishness.

"I think we're less optimistic about how fast we'll come out of the recession than we were six months ago," said Lester V. Manderscheid, an agricultural economics professor at Michigan State University. "I think there's a lot of concern that we may be bouncing along at zero for a while instead of taking off."

"Maybe we'll grow in the second half of 1982 at an annual growth rate of around three percent in terms of output of goods and services."

He also points out that the rate of inflation has dropped to about six percent, that consumer spending rose in May and that consumer prices have risen less than seven percent since last year.

"This doesn't guarantee that we've started out of the recession, but on the balance, I think we can see the light at the end of the tunnel," Manderscheid said.

Though he concedes that some tough times are likely ahead, he said the last thing the economy needs is a "quick fix."

"I think there is a real concern that if we have major federal infusions into the economy, that quick fix will be quickly translated into inflation," Manderscheid said. "If we can ease out of the current economic situation gradually, we'll have a much better chance at long-term, steady growth in the economy without running into another round of inflation."

He said the Vietnam War is in part the cause of our current ills.

"We decided to have guns and butter and finance the way by creating credit and creating 'hidden inflation,'" Manderscheid said. "We are paying for that now. I hope we are learning that when we do things like that, one way or another, at one time or another, it will catch up with us."

Clowning around

You almost would have thought the circus was in town if you had stopped by the Kinney Shoe store at the Farmington Towne Shopping Center recently. It wasn't the circus, of course, but it was the second annual clown contest sponsored by Kinney Shoes. In the picture above, Gina Barducca of Novi gets a touch-up job from her mother, Laura. Brian Yoder (left) of Farmington Hills displays the winning clown smile which carried him to first place honors in the 7-9 year old division. For complete results of the contest, see the article at the bottom of this page. (Photos by Phil Jerome)

High-tech firm 'says yes' to site in Farmington Hills

Chalk up another victory for Michigan. Another company has decided to "say yes."

Robert Bosch, a $5.7 billion worldwide manufacturer of fuel-injection and electrical systems for the automotive industry, plans to open offices and an engineering laboratory in Farmington Hills in January.

The facility will be constructed on a 20-acre parcel off I-96 between Halsted and Haggerty roads near I-275.

Norman Berman, director of the Michigan Department of Commerce, said construction of the Robert Bosch R&D Automotive Applications Center "represents faith in the economic future of Michigan in the most encouraging way."

Berman added that the West German corporation's decision to locate in the Farmington-Novl area was "deliberate, careful and well-researched."

Sales, engineering and administrative groups currently operating in the corporation's Southfield office will move to the $4.8 million Farmington Hills site.

Marc Robling, supervisor of applications engineering and gasoline fuel injection for Robert Bosch, said the Farmington-Novl area was chosen because of its proximity to the firm's major customers.

"We're a high-technology corporation that's well-suited to the area," said Robling. "Another factor that influenced our decision is the availability of technically-disciplined people here."

At the outset, Robert Bosch will employ 30 specialized scientists and engineers from its existing facilities in Charleston, South Carolina; Chicago (headquarters); Piscataway, New Jersey; Salt Lake City, Utah; Madison Heights and New Bern, North Carolina.

Provided the auto industry gets back into gear, Robert Bosch eventually will expand its operations and employ up to 200 people at the Farmington Hills industrial park site.

The development represent Robert Bosch's commitment to furthering its penetration into the U.S. market, Roblings said. Currently, the company's fuel-injection systems are used by heavy equipment manufacturers John Deere and International Harvester as well as Volkswagen, Rolls Royce, BMW and Datsun.

In addition to automotive equipment ranging from air-conditioning compressors to fanfare horns and headlight-washing systems, the 96-year old company manufactures household appliances, packaging material, electromedical equipment, television cameras and bathroom and kitchen fixtures.

The decision to locate in Farmington Hills was cheered by members of the city's Economic Development Corporation, which has issued a $7 million bond for property acquisition, construction and equipment.

EDC President Robert McConnell views the deal as a satisfying victory because the Farmington Hills site was in stiff competition with others in Chicago and Charlotte, South Carolina.

"Bosch probably will employ 50-100 people and create a spin-off for supplier

— Marc Robling,
Robert Bosch Company

companies," said McConnell. "This will be a big feature in the profile of our community. It's kind of a perfect marriage."

The fact that Robert Bosch is a foreign interest conducting 85 percent of its research and development in Germany matters little to the Farmington Hills EDC.

"We look at the caliber of the company and the potential for growth in terms of tax base and employment," said McConnell.

Kinney Shoes announces winners of clown contest

Clowns from Novi and Farmington Hills split the top prizes in the second annual Clown Contest sponsored by the Kinney Shoe store at the Farmington Towne Shopping Center recently.

Alice Short, manager of the Kinney Shoe store in the center at Grand River and Halsted, reported that approximately 18 clowns vied for honors in three different age divisions.

Short and members of her staff joined in the spirit of the occasion by also donning clown regalia and passing out balloons.

Top prize in the two-year old division was won by Kendall Gecsei of Novi. Michelle Barducca of Novi finished second and Gina Barducca, also of Novi, finished third.

In the five-year old division, top honors were to Raymond Kastl of Farmington Hills. Steven Bassett of Novi was second and Michelle DeWitt of Novi was third.

Brian Yoder of Farmington Hills was the winner in the 7-9 year old division. Dianne Bassett of Novi was second and Tonia Greening of Livonia was third.

All Men are Equal

Red, yellow, black, and white
All men are equal in God's sight
Why do we love?
Why do we hate?
Why do we all too often hesitate to reach out to a brother or sister in need?
Why do we all too often just let them bleed?
Should we not do unto others?
Should we not treat all men as our brothers?
Do you believe in love and peace and kindness too?
Then, may the good Lord always bless you!
Buddy Dennis

Courage

Courage rises up within us
Courage brings us strength and peace.
Courage gives us poise and comfort
Courage brings us a release
From the worries and the fears
That would otherwise remain,
Courage brings us inspiration
For the goals we would attain.

Courage helps in our resistance
To negation in our lives;
Courage lifts us past temptation
And the evil it contrives,
Until we see the light more clearly
As it guides us on our way,
And we're thankful for the courage
That supports us, day by day.

Charles E. Hutton

In My Land

I met a man in this land where everything's green
like you've never seen and he said he was me and he tried to be free so I tried and I spied what I needed and I pleaded and one day it came and nothing's the same

i met a man
in my land where everything's green
like i've always seen and i said i was he and i said to be free

so he tried and he spied what he needed and he pleaded and one day it came
and nothing's the same.

As The Props Give

Over an emphasis,
you lead hurt in—and of all white wine ever drank; runs the sap down along, my doing here.
On hollow stairs jump mixed frogs...
meaning what I said,
and didn't;
a juggler of certainty, and substitutes.
I try the feelings, turned over.

Margaret O'Brien

They Can't See The Visions

Did you ever write a poem
That didn't make sense
To anyone else
But you?
When you had to write
What came to you—
And it sounded so right
And so very true?
Fear not, my friend
Your people and peers
If they don't see it as You do,
They can't see the visions
Of a mystical mind
Or feel the colors of the rainbow
Or hear the sands of time
Blowing free
Over a distant shore.

Lynne E. Harrison

Words of Wisdom

Drinking and driving don't mix
Think before you drink and drive
And bring them back alive.

Life is a gift from God
Don't abuse it
Or you might lose it.

May life be precious
And sweet and beautiful
To each and everyone of you...

Peace be with you!

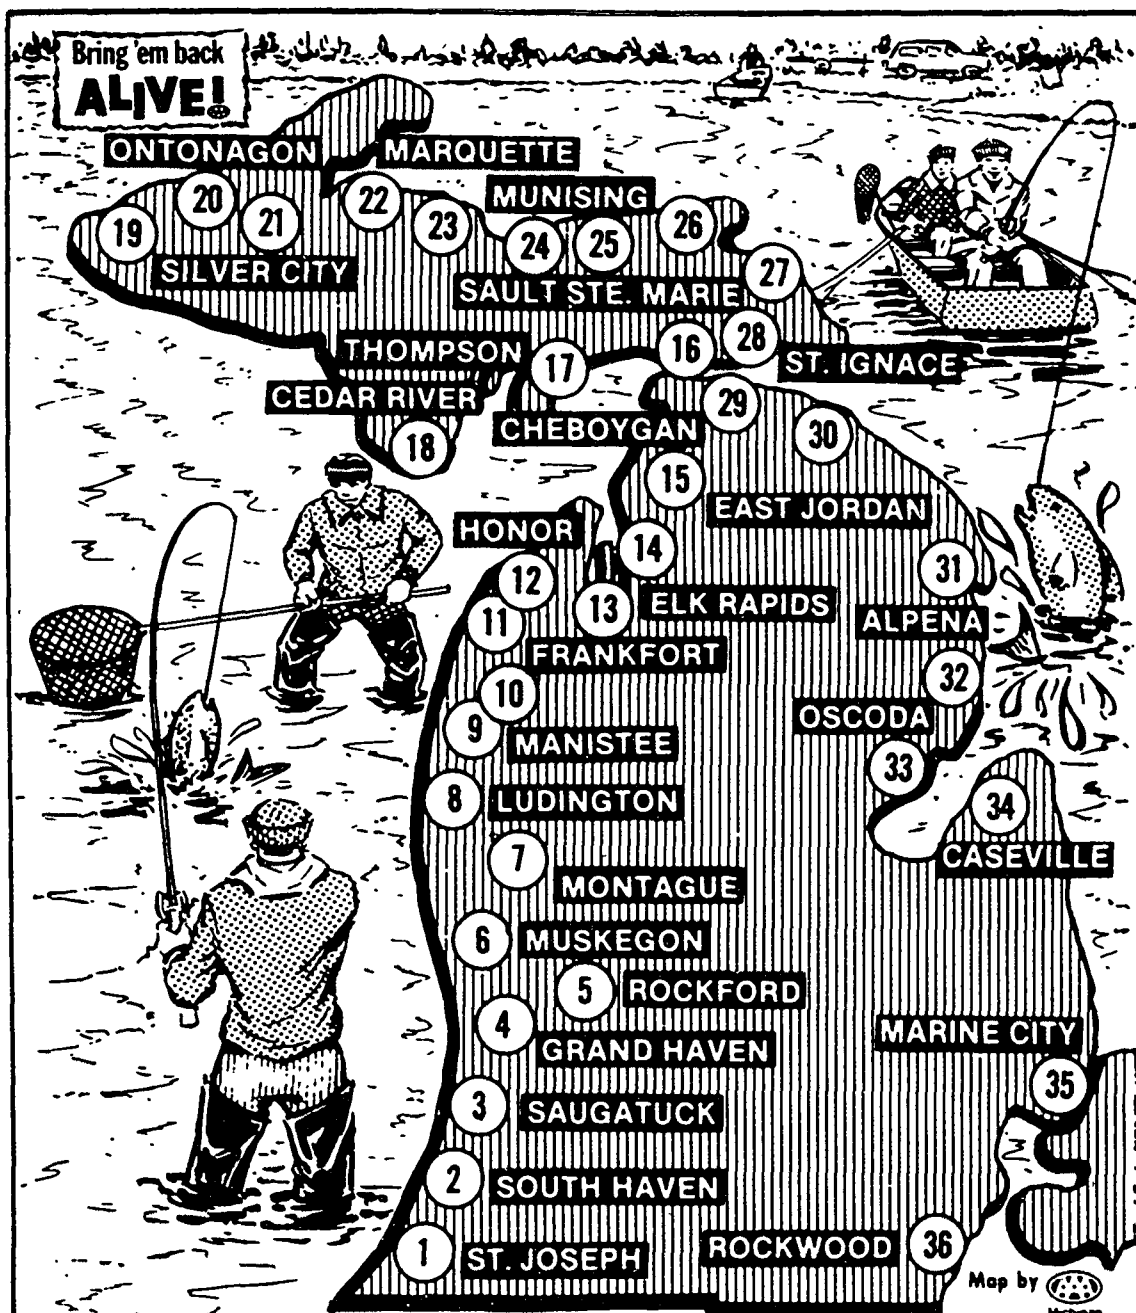

Buddy Dennis

In Laughing

In laughing
i have cried in living i have died in loving i have given in knowing i have risen and another day passes as my rose-colored glasses fade away with the lie to see the beauty of why

Local artists fare well in Ann Arbor show

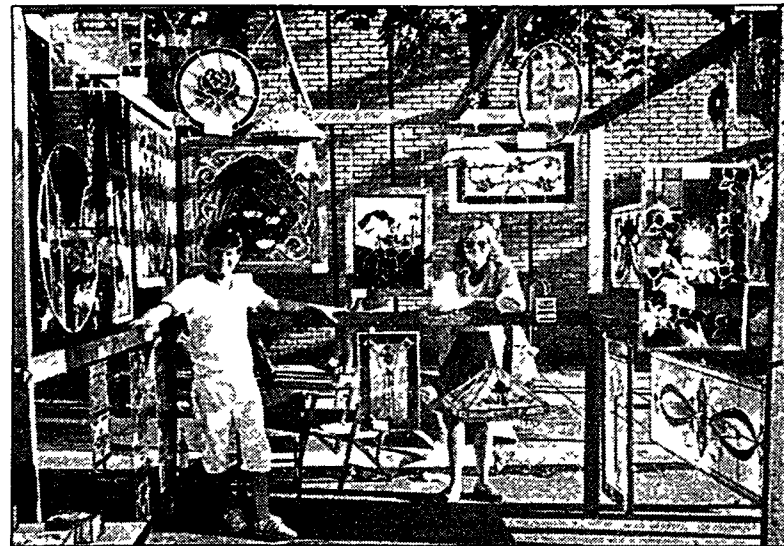

Northville residents browsing through the booths at this year's Ann Arbor Art Fair may have recognized a few familiar faces in the crowd.

Five local artists were exhibiting at this year's fair, held July 21-24 in downtown Ann Arbor. Braving the crowds and sweltering heat were Jane Martin, at left, of 20138 Whipple, Bill Thelen and Laurie Fowler, far below, of 201 Fairbrook and Tiffany Art Glass partners John Zawadski and Joe DeLoye, below.

Martin, who was exhibiting her pencil sketches for the first time in the juried Ann Arbor Street Fair, said her booth was packed the first two days but noted that crowds thinned out by Friday.

Laurie Fowler and Bill Thelen said their mixed media sculptures in metal, woven and suede materials were selling well. One prospective buyer was Sue Petosky of West Bloomfield, pictured with the artists.

Couples speak vows in double ring ceremonies

Wilton-Ryan

Kathy Ryan, daughter of former Northville residents Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ryan of Sarasota, Florida, became the bride of Dr. Gary Wilton in a garden ceremony July 10 at Botsford Inn in Farmington.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wilton of Westfield, New Jersey.

The Reverend Kenneth Davis officiated at the double ring ceremony. Soloist Randy Zdrojewski sang two selections during the ceremony and "The Center Stage," a barbershop quartet, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and also entertained at the reception.

Maid of honor was Sue Roberts of Costa Mesa, California, and matron of honor was the bride's sister-in-law Rachelle Ryan. Eileen Zierolf was bridesmaid.

The bridegroom's nephew, Gary Turi of Westfield, New Jersey, served as best man. Ushers were the bride's brother Rick Ryan and Bob Diller.

Following the ceremony, guests attended a reception on the lawn and a luncheon at the Botsford Inn Coach House. Out-of-town guests included those from California, Florida, Ohio, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The bride is a 1975 Northville High School graduate and was graduated this spring from Eastern Michigan University. She majored in special education and recreational therapy.

The bridegroom is a 1975 Cornell University graduate and was graduated from Cornell University Medical College in 1979. He currently is completing his final year of residency in radiology at University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Following a wedding trip to the Virgin Islands, the couple returned to Ann Arbor where they will reside.

Janke-Burton

Janice Lee Burton and Danny F. Janke were married the evening of June 12 at the First Presbyterian Church of South Lyon.

The Reverend John Mather performed the "double-ring ceremony" for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Burton of 421 South Ridge and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Janke of 221 Lottie Street, South Lyon.

The bride wore a white silk organza gown with an empire waist, scalloped hem A-line skirt, bishop sleeves and a Queen Anne neckline with Venice lace accents on bodice, sleeves and skirt. The dress had a cathedral train. She wore a Venice lace headpiece with a fingertip-length veil.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet with white roses, carnations, stephanotis and lavender day lilies surrounded by ivy.

Brenda Yonkin served her friend as matron of honor. She wore a lavender off-the-shoulder gown with a bustle back and carried a bouquet of lavender roses, day lilies, stephanotis and lace arranged around a hurricane candle lamp.

Bridesmaids were Sally Bennett, sister of the groom, Charlotte Hoskins, and Debbie Curry, cousins of the bride, and Denise Kellenberger, friend of the bride.

Marsha Stamper served as junior bridesmaid.

Kristina Yonkin and Kristi Perkins served as flower girls.

Fred Johnston served his friend as best man. Ushers were Kim Jones and Ken Jones, friends of the bridegroom, and Marvin, David and Kendall Burton, brothers of the bride. The bridegroom's nephew Billy Bennett served as junior usher.

A reception for 225 guests was held at the South Lyon VFW Hall.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of South Lyon High School. She is employed by 20th Century Fox Video in Farmington Hills.

Her husband, a 1974 graduate of South Lyon High School, is employed by Ford Motor Company in Livonia.

After a wedding trip to Williamsburg and Virginia Beach, Virginia, the newlyweds now live in New Hudson.

Singleton-Harhold

Northville resident Kathleen D. Harhold, daughter of Josephine L. Wilkins of Livonia, became the bride of Gary W. Singleton in a backyard ceremony at the couple's home July 10.

The bridegroom is the son of Donald and Lois Seitzinger of De Kalb, Illinois.

The double ring ceremony was officiated by Bishop Eldon R. Sherwood. The bride was escorted by her sisters Debra Harhold of Garden City and Donna and Elizabeth Wilkins of Northville. The bride's sister Elizabeth also sang "Wedding Song" during the ceremony and was accompanied by guitarist Karl Schmidt.

The bride's white chiffon Victorian gown was enhanced with a Venice lace bodice and matching Venice lace hat and veil. She carried a colonial-shaped bouquet of silk golden roses.

Helen Orick of Southgate was matron of honor. Her beige gown was styled with a pleated skirt, lace bodice and lace vest. She carried a heart-shaped spring bouquet of silk flowers. All bouquets were made by the bride.

The bridegroom's father Donald Seitzinger was best man.

A reception for 50 friends and relatives was held at the bride and bridegroom's home on Norton following the ceremony.

The bride is a 1975 Winston Churchill High School graduate. The bridegroom, who holds a Ph.D. in clinical psychology from Wayne State University, currently is employed as a division director at the Rehabilitation Institute of Detroit.

Following a wedding trip to St. Clair, the couple returned to Northville where they will make their home.

Chamber sets building open house

By JEAN DAY

Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, already operating from its new building at 195 East Main at the bend in the road by Northville well, is getting ready to show off the new facility at an open house Sunday, August 15, with the community invited to stop by.

President Betty Allen says there will be no formal ribbon-cutting dedication but those who contributed to the building will be special guests that afternoon. She's hoping many residents will come to inspect the newly completed building.

Comings and goings make news

Among those who have known for some time about the just-announced promotion of former Northville resident Thomas G. Payne to the presidency of The J.L. Hudson Company are close friends Northville Township Supervisor John MacDonald and his wife Ann. They recently visited the Payne family in Oklahoma City en route to Arizona and learned the good news.

Before moving two years ago to Oklahoma to become president and chief executive officer of John A. Brown, a department store chain in the southwest, Payne, his wife Geraldine and their five children, ages 10-21, lived on Morgan Circle.

Ann MacDonald reports they are house-hunting again in Northville and already have enrolled their younger children at Our Lady of Victory.

Shirley Davis, who moved with her husband Norman to Franklin, Tennessee, has been entertaining Northville visitors in their historic home. Last spring it was on the Franklin Town and Country Home Tour. Her visitors have included Sharon Lineman, Sharon DeAlexandris, Diane Ramsey and Cheryl Swayne. The Davises are reported "really liking Tennessee."

Mrs. Davis sends along word of other former residents, Jerry and Evelyn Benefield, who moved to Murfreesboro, Tennessee, last summer from Northville. He is a vice president for Nissan Motors. The Benefields hosted a private fund-raiser at their new home for Republican Congressman Robin Beard July 21. According to a Smyrna newspaper clipping sent along by Shirley Davis, Vice President George Bush was flying in to attend the party and a barbecue picnic.

Some observations — and a correction

"Civic Service" can be pulling weeds in a city flower bed — when you know your own garden also needs attention. Last month Evelyn Harper was one of the members of the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, on her knees pulling out grassy weeds from a Main Street plot. Thinking of her own yard at home, she murmured, "I just hope Fred (her husband) doesn't hear about this."

Northville's renovated downtown area apparently has been found to be a good driver education training ground. In addition to the Northville Public Schools' driver education car, in the last few days driver education cars marked Hudson's and Van Buren Schools have been seen maneuvering through town.

In reporting that the Beautification Council of Southeastern Michigan held its quarterly meeting here June 17 to see the Mainstreet '78 downtown renovation, The Record noted it was a "first time." Not so, corrects Norma Vernon, who remembers helping arrange a meeting in the Drawbridge Restaurant (now Open Door Church.) Even earlier, she recalls, when the building housed the Methodist church, the late Bea Carlson arranged a meeting there.

Retired businessman ordained

When Alvin Roy Garchow retired from Michigan Bell Telephone Company as an assistant vice president in 1979, and moved from Northville township to Fort Wayne, Indiana, he again became a student.

Thirty-one years after receiving his bachelor of business administration degree from University of Michigan, he received a master of arts in religion from Concordia Theological Seminary in Fort Wayne in May, 1981.

This was a first step into a long-desired, new career in the ministry. In July, 1981, he and his family moved to Grand Rapids to fulfill his vicarage requirements as pastor of Messiah and Christ the King congregations.

On June 13 at Messiah Lutheran Church in Grand Rapids, he was ordained into the ministry and installed as pastor of Messiah and Christ the King Lutheran churches.

Among those attending the ceremonies were Northville friends and former Michigan Bell co-workers, Richard C. Barron and Frank R. Zimmerman, and their wives.

Liturgist at the rites of ordination was the new pastor's son, the Reverend Paul H. Garchow, associate pastor, St. Paul Lutheran Church in Janesville, Wisconsin.

Mary Garchow, the Reverend Alvin Garchow's daughter, was organist. She and a married daughter Ruth Mackie were vocalists in the rites. The Reverend Garchow and his wife, the former Luella Kraft of Frankenmuth, have three sons and two daughters. In addition to Paul, Mary and Ruth, there are Stephen and Peter.

The Reverend Dr. Norbert H. Mueller, professor of pastoral theology and director of placement at Concordia Theological Seminary, came from Indiana to be preacher at the ordination service.

Born in Livonia, November 15, 1928, to Edgar and Cora Garchow, the Reverend Garchow attended St. Paul Lutheran School in Farmington.

He joined Michigan Bell in 1953, was transferred to American Telephone and Telegraph Company in Cooperstown, New York, in 1961 and to New York City in 1964. He returned to the area in 1966. The family lived on Nine Mile here.

Dental Dialogue

of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.
CHILDREN'S BAD HABITS

Q. What clues might tell me if my child is developing bad dental habits?

A. If your child has chapped lips often or if the lower lip is larger than the top one you might suspect that he is biting his lips. Another bad habit is biting the inside of the cheek. This is a hard one to spot, but look for a swollen flap of tissue inside the cheek. A common habit is nail biting, and if you find you never need to cut your child's fingernails this is probably the reason. You can detect a tongue thrust habit by watching your child swallow.

Be suspicious if the muscles of his chin wrinkle and the tongue pushes forward between the teeth.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of

Athletic Directors differ on changes in prep athlete

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In a series of articles, sports reporter John Myers will be examining the changes, attitudes and participation in sports of today's high school athlete. In this first segment, local athletic directors share their views on the subject.)

Athletes have changed over the years. There is no doubt about it, but how today's athlete has changed depends on with whom you discuss the subject.

Take for example the athletic directors from Northville, Novi and Walled Lake. Each one will agree athletes have changed in some ways, but their explanations differ greatly.

"Probably the biggest change there," offers NHS Athletic Director Ralph Redmond, "is the kids' awareness of the actual sport in terms of knowledge of the game and their advancement to college and university sports. Kids are much more knowledgeable of sports overall."

Despite the better awareness athletes have of sports, Redmond believes their dedication varies from time-to-time. Part of the blame lies with expectations, he says.

"I think we still have good kids, but I think sometimes the expectations aren't set for them. If the kids know what the expectations are, then the dedication will ride right along with it. But, when the expectations are not established, there's a little bit of falling from dedication," he explains.

"Because of the kids' knowledge of sports, they're looking for certain things. If the coach establishes good solid goals, and the kids know what to expect, then it all comes together," Redmond adds.

"I can remember, as a coach, the kids would shave their heads and there would be 9 and 10 (p.m.) curfews and they lived by the coach's rule year after

However, one aspect that is not the same at Novi is the three-sport athlete. "That experience starts in junior high because it's always the thing to do. The kids are not eligible for jobs. But more kids drop out of the program when they reach the 11th grade because they can pick and choose what they want to do."

"Most of the kids are playing two sports, because he may not have as much time to dedicate to three sports," Osborne notes.

There also is one other significant change in athletes both Redmond and Osborne note — their quest for a job. Both men realize what this can do to an athlete's high school career.

When students hit their junior year, most are being told to find employment and get some money, Osborne says. However, because of the depressed economy of today, he thinks this may have a direct relation to the increase in persons coming out for sports at Novi.

"The past two years the overall economy is affecting the kids. Jobs are harder to get and that may be why we're getting kids out for sports because they have more time," he offers.

The reverse can hold true, as Redmond explains. "A lot of individuals have to forfeit athletics because they need a job," he says.

Persons who pass up athletics for jobs will be missing an important part of their overall high school education, he adds.

"Unfortunately, the three years they have to spend in high school they will never be able to do over again," Redmond says.

Though it seems as if Northville and Novi athletes have made some big changes, such is not really the case in Walled Lake. Changes have been few in, athletes in Walled Lake, according to Tom Evans, who has been the athletic director for 31 years. There are about the same amount three-sport people as before, he says, but with one change.

"We have people going into the sports who are more specialized," he says.

This is due mostly to summer camps for just about every sport, Evans adds, so an athlete can refine his/her skills in the sports he/she likes best.

Summer camps and junior high programs are good, all three agree, but some words of caution are tossed in on how this area should be handled in relation to the athlete.

"It has to be a fun and rewarding situation," Evans explains. "If it is win at all costs at the kids' expense, that is not good."

"They (feeder programs) fill a gap that might not be offered at the high school," Redmond adds. "But, I would hate to see a recreation- or parent-sponsored program become so off-center or elaborate the high school programs become secondary. One area of concern is the program will offer more than the high school program offers."

"I would like for them to be kept in the proper perspective," he says. "There are both types of effects, but mostly positive," Osborne notes. "It can encourage you or it can turn you off."

Athletes also can be encouraged, or discouraged, about sports by their parents, and the athletic directors know this.

"Most of the (Northville) parents encourage their youngster to get involved in sports," Redmond offers. "However, I think they can go overboard sometimes, and then the kid might select something else from what his parents had in mind."

"Despite that, parents are going to encourage their kid. I think too many people have been burned," he adds.

Parents sometimes put a lot of pressure on their child which can drastically affect his/her attitude and participation in sports. The pressure, though, needs to be tempered with some supportiveness, and Osborne uses himself as an example.

"I'll be a lot nicer to your kids than to my own son," he says of his 12-year-old son Derek. "I get on his case, and he was feeling the pressure, but what I like about him was that he was always relaxed."

the changing athlete

THE ATHLETIC DIRECTORS

"I don't want to put more pressure on him, because he will do it at his own pace in spite of what I do to him. My wife has to remind me he is my own son and that he hasn't turned the corner yet, so don't screw it up."

"Hey, she's right," Osborne admits. Not only do parents have a great influence on their child, but so does the coach, according to Evans.

"Coaches have a great influence just by direction and what he does around the athletes," he explains.

Redmond agrees and notes the coach also is responsible for how strong his particular program will be.

"If the coach is sincere, congenial and has an interest in the kids, he is going to have a good program," he says.

Aside from influencing attitudes, coaches also can play a role in the athlete's decision to limit himself/herself to one sport.

"The coaches own personal philosophy will rub off on the kids," Osborne notes. "I heard about a baseball coach, not at our school, who did not like his players participating in football or basketball."

"That's not my personal feelings. I would like to see the three-sport athlete and also the other kids get an opportunity to participate in (other) sports," he adds.

Adds Evans, "Some coaches are stressing one sport, but I don't think that is the case in Walled Lake. At least I hope not."

Another area which can shape an athlete's views on sports, and his/her participation in them, is millage votes. Especially when the dark cloud hangs over them that sports, and extracurricular activities, could be cut if the vote does not pass.

Northville went through a tough millage vote last year. Voters defeated a renewal of 9.5 mills in April, but approved a revised 7-mill, three-year package July 28, just two weeks before the scheduled start of fall sports practice. Redmond had this to offer.

"Everybody stayed together last year," he says. "However, that is always tough on the kids and coaches alike. If you're always under the ax, I think nothing could devastate a program more."

"The kids have to be on edge, and there might be some negative attitudes," says Redmond, who also realizes some athletes may leave the school for a more stable situation when millage votes at his own school look bleak.

Until recently, Walled Lake's sports picture looked rather dim because of anticipated $3.2 million deficit for the school district. There were only going to be three boys' and three girls' sports at both Western and Central next year. However, that changed when the district gained additional revenues when the state imposed a factor on Oakland County.

"I can imagine what they are thinking," says Evans about the situation the athletes almost were facing. "Something else has been taken away from them."

"He's looking forward to the season — say tennis, golf, skiing — and it is just one more thing out of their education that is gone."

These problems have been unfamiliar to Novi, which has been in a pretty sound state the past few years. Osborne hopes it continues.

"Our program is strong, and I hope it will continue to be," he says. "Novi is a very supportive area. We have to be an attractive area with our total athletic and school program."

However, he realizes how a high school sports program can sour with millage defeats and how it affects the athletes.

Pinckney, a fellow Kensington Valley Conference school, suffered through a millage defeat last year which forced a play-for-pay system for both the senior and junior high program. Osborne says Pinckney, as a result, has seen a reduction in the quality of athletes coming out for high school sports.

Such occurrences are tough on most kids, Osborne says, and notes they will "lose a few steps" in their development.

Despite the changes and the different influences athletes have to put up with, the athletic directors note their athletes have a good attitude.

"I see a good attitude," Osborne relates. "I see the kids are more willing to work harder, and I say they work out more because of the facilities. However, some kids are going to do it and some are not going to do it."

"I think the attitude in Northville is very, very positive," Redmond concurs. "Most of the students are very appreciative of the coaches, the program and they're very supportive of the Booster Club which has donated dollars, manpower and spirit to the program."

"I think right now everybody is positive," he adds, "but not everybody has the same feeling."

year after year. Now you see, unfortunately, a tendency to break away. A lot of this depends on the coaches.

"I would have curfews," admits Redmond, who coached track and football at NHS from 1959-76 before becoming the AD six years ago, "and I would make calls to the athlete's home. I didn't want to talk to mom, dad or the younger sister. I wanted to talk to the young man. He didn't have to be sawing logs (sleeping) when I called."

"He could be watching television. Just so long as he was in the home at curfew time," Redmond continues. "Although, many of them were sawing logs (when I called)."

While athletes were expected home during the evening hours, it was a much different story by day — and it still is.

"Athletics in the old days was an area to get out of the house. It was a healthy, worthwhile experience, and it still is a healthy, worthwhile experience," Redmond says.

"That's hard to answer (changes in athletes)," says Novi AD John Osborne, who also coaches the school's football squad. "The faces are different, but pretty much everything else is the same."

Tough losses eliminate Mantle team

Two tough losses prevented the Northville Mickey Mantle team from claiming the American Amateur Baseball Federation district title during the weekend at the Northville High School diamond.

Northville was eliminated from the tournament by Ann Arbor in a 13-11 slugfest. The squad was unable to capitalize on Dave Longridge's hot hitting in the contest. He collected four hits, including his fifth homerun of the tournament, and drove in four runs.

Mickey Newman added three hits, while Bob Pegrum nailed two doubles and Jerry Pawloski added two hits. Northville pitchers had their troubles on the mound by allowing 11 hits and 10 walks.

Ann Arbor lost the district title to Little Caesars PAL, who now will travel to Coldwater this weekend for the state tournament.

Northville suffered its first loss of the double-elimination tournament to Little Caesars 8-7 in extra innings. Both Newman and Longridge clouted two-run homers in the game, but it was not enough to propel Northville to victory.

Newman had two hits and scored three times, while Steve Frellick added two hits. Northville committed six errors which led to seven unearned runs for Little Caesars. Greg Ryba pitched five innings of excellent relief, but he took the loss.

The squad opened the tournament with 15-7 thumping over Detroit PAL as Longridge slammed two homers and drove in three runs. Steve Schrader added a solo homer, while Pawloski had three hits and two runs-batted-in. Newman added two hits and an RBI.

Once again, Longridge was the key in helping Northville post a 2-1 victory over Union Lake in eight innings. Longridge tied the contest in the sixth on a homer. In the eighth, he singled, stole second and came home on Steve Schrader's single.

Tim Ruffing received credit for the win in relief of starter Chris Semic. Ruffing came on in the seventh with no outs, bases loaded and proceeded to strike out the side.

Newman topped the team in hitting for the tournament at .600, while Longridge batted .474. Both players were selected to a Westland team which is competing in another AABF tournament this weekend at Plymouth Salem High School.

Tankers garner third crown

For the third consecutive year, the Northville Swim Club captured the league championship as it easily outdistanced its opponents at the league meet Saturday at Burton Hollow.

Winning the league championship capped an undefeated season for Northville, which finished at 12-0. Over the past three years, the Swim Club has compiled an overall mark of 33-3.

Northville won the meet with a point total of 258, while Plymouth Colony was second at 193, host Burton Hollow third at 173, Fairway Farms fourth at 155 and Newburg fifth at 121.

Four club records were set at the meet with 68 personal best times turned in by the tankers. Doug Buell established two of the marks in the boys' 13-15 year old 100-meter individual medley (1:10.2) and the 50-meter butterfly (30.05).

Panowicz edged for long jump title

Northville's recreation track club came away without an individual winner at the Michigan State Youth Fitness meet which took place last Thursday at the Kensington Metropark near Milford.

The closest the Northville contingent came to an individual winner was Cindy Panowicz, who was the state champion in the long jump last year for girls' 12-13 year old. With only four long jumpers left, Panowicz's leap of 15-feet-9 looked good for victory in the girls' 13-14 year old division. However, a thincled from Detroit shocked everyone with a jump of 16-3 to win the event.

Carrie Lenaghan was edged by a tenth of a second in the semifinals of the 75-yard dash which placed her ninth overall in the girls' 13-14 division. Andrea Barber and Christy Lenaghan both missed a trip to the girls' 9-10 75 dash semifinals.

In the softball throw, Heather Sixt placed seventh overall in the girls' 11-12 group, while Carrie Isabell competed in the girls' 9-10 division.

Matt Smith placed fourth in the boys' 9-10 division in the 50-yard dash. However, he had to run the event four times, compared with three times for the rest of the finalists, because of a mix up in the semifinals. Billy Craig was nipped in the semifinals in the boys' 11-12 group, while the same happened to Tom Kemp in the boys' 13-14 division.

Grep Paler claimed eighth in the triple jump in the boys' 11-12 division, while Rich Naszradi competed in the boys' 13-14 group. Dan Magdich took sixth in the boys' 13-14 division long jump with a leap of 14-10. Paul Stoecklin competed in the boys' 11-12 division.

Ken Booth was outdistanced in the boys' 13-14 softball throw, while Kevin Legel claimed 14th in the chinning event in the boys' 13-14 group.

A dropped baton in the semifinals prevented the shuttle relay squad of Mark Kiraly, Scott Steckley, Wendy Buda and Kris Abitz from advancing to the finals in the 11-12 division. The team had a commanding lead for third, which would have qualified them for the finals, but a dropped baton dropped the squad to fourth place.

Northville's Joy Bruhowski took second place in the long jump with leap of 11-1/2 in the girls' 9-10 division.

The Northville squad also had another mini meet with four running events and one field event. Here are the results:

BOYS' 9-11 YEAR OLD

Matt Smith claimed first in the 100-yard dash (15.3); Mark Kiraly was second (15.7); Scott Steckley was third (15.9) and Jeff Cass fourth (16.9). Smith also won the 220-yard dash (32.8); Kiraly was second (33.4); Paler was third (34.4); Steckley was fourth (34.9) and Cass was fifth (38.2).

Greg Paler and Smith tied for first in the 50-yard low hurdles (7.8); Steckley was third (8.1); Kiraly was fourth (8.3) and Cass fifth (9.0). Kiraly and Paler claimed top honors in the high jump (4-

GIRLS' 9-10 YEAR OLD

Barber claimed the top spot in the 50 low hurdles (10.9), while Bohan was second (11.8). There was a three-way tie for first in the high jump between Barber, Bohan and Isabell (3-8).

BOYS' 12-13 YEAR OLD

Magdich's fourth first place came in the high jump (4-8), while Stoecklin was second (4-2) and Craig was third (3-8). Stoecklin won the 3,000-meter run (12:32.0), while Eric Dove was second (12:48.0).

GIRLS' 12-13 YEAR OLD

Sheehan's regains first in National League race

Sheehan's on the Green continues its mastery over Winner's Circle Bar as it downed Winner's Circle for the second time this season and moved back into first place in the National League in Northville adult softball action.

Sheehan's recorded a 12-6 triumph over Winner's Circle to regain the lead as the season heads into its final four weeks of action.

The Northville Jaycees continue to roll along the unbeaten path as they recorded two more wins last week to run their record to 13-0.

Winner's Circle Bar regained sole possession of first in the Women's League with Getzie's Pub only one game behind in second place.

Here are this week's results:

Richard D. Fessler-R
Mary M. Fowlie-R
David T. Nederlander-R

Richard D. Fessler-R

EDUCATION: Graduate of the University of Detroit Law School OCCUPATION: State Representative and private attorney

"Remove rules and regulations that are constricting growth and expansion of small and medium size business in Michigan. Repeal the Small Business Tax or amend it to a tax on profits only. Unemployment Compensation needs revision.

Property taxes on residential dwellings need to be reduced drastically. Remove the school operating millage from senior citizens. Earmark one percent of our sales tax revenue for K-12 education and reduce residential and farm land property tax proportions.

The state has a duty to place a funding floor at an established level under each student on a per capita basis per school district. The formulas which have been used for over a decade have not worked or proven to provide equity. It is time for a new approach. Funding should come from one percent earmarked sales tax, partially from property tax revenues and the balance from the general fund appropriation.

My experience and a proven record of representation of the people of my present legislative district and their needs; a voting record which reflects my views and my present constituents views in that I support job creation legislation for Michigan and I have continually fought to create an environment in Michigan conducive business growth and job creation; my educational background and my past and present work experience."

Mary M. Fowlie-R

EDUCATION: Graduate of the University of Michigan and the Detroit College of Law
OCCUPATION: Attorney with Standard Federal Savings and Loan Association in Troy
BACKGROUND: Served as legal counsel to the Michigan legislature.

"We must attract new business. To do that, we must lower the cost of doing business in Michigan. Unemployment compensation reform and tax reform will be necessary. Michigan has abundant natural resources and skilled labor. Those factors must be promoted.

Property tax reform is just a part of the larger picture of tax reform that is necessary. The whole structure needs to be reviewed including the Single Business Tax.

Public education should be funded by property tax revenues which are the most stable tax revenues. In these unstable economic times it is too dangerous to switch to income tax or sales tax revenues for public education funding.

I am an attorney with both government and private industry experience. I spent four years working as legal counsel to the Michigan legislature. There, I drafted legislation and learned how the system works. I am a woman, and the needs of women are not being addressed by the Michigan senate. I am a hard worker and I am willing to dedicate myself to helping to make life better in Michigan."

In the 17th State Senate District race, Gerald Tattersall-D, George G. Feuerman-D, and David T. Nederlander-R did not respond to the questionnaire.

E. Leonard Howarth-D

OCCUPATION: Attorney

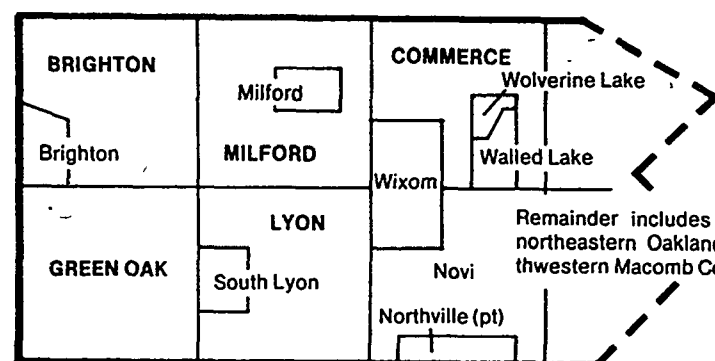

"Open the market and cut down on regulations. I don't mean favoring special interest groups. I would eliminate that totally.

The immediate thing is to take every public employee from the governor on down and cut their wages 15 percent across the board. Then quit taking the federal income tax out. If we cut the budget down then we could cut property tax.

We should provide more competition for private schools.

(I am the best candidate for this seat) because, one, my body temperature is 98.6. Two, I have a valid Michigan driver's license, and three, my blood pressure is 110/70."

U.S. REPRESENTATIVE (18th DISTRICT)

Allen J. Sipher-D

William S. Broomfield-R
Roger A. Hall-R

William Broomfield-R

AGE: 60

EDUCATION: Michigan State University
OCCUPATION: Member of U.S. Congress
BACKGROUND: Elected to U.S. Congress in 1956 and has been re-elected in all subsequent elections (26 years); is ranking minority member of Committee on Foreign Affairs; serves on Small Business Committee; elected to Michigan House of Representatives in 1948, 1950 and 1952, serving as Speaker Pro Tem in 1953; elected to Michigan State Senate in 1954; served on board of directors of Capitol Hill Club, 1969-79, and was president of Capitol Hill Club, 1969-74; served in 1982 as member of House Republican Task Force on Real Estate, Housing and Thrift Institutions.

"The inauguration of President Reagan set a new direction for the federal government. The election this fall will determine whether we have a Congress that will revert to the failed economic and social policies of the past or one that will continue to be concerned with promoting the free enterprise system and turning greater control over social programs back to state and local levels.

We must continue to cut and redirect federal spending in all areas, including defense, while also caring for our truly needy. We must also stick with stimulative tax incentives and maintain our efforts to bring down the deficit. These are the keys to reducing interest rates and getting our economy, and the jobs it controls, going again.

We must also be willing to take bold new steps in addressing social problems. The President's 'New Federalism' in many ways is such a step. However, in other ways it is a return to more traditional methods of doing things. It is a direction I basically support, for it is based on the ideas that there should be a clear and logical division of responsibility among the various levels of government. It means that people and governments closest to a problem can best determine how to meet it.

As one of the most senior Republicans in the House of Representatives, and as part of the House Republican leadership, I will work with and advise the Administration and my colleagues in the House as we continue in this new direction.

My work in the state legislature and the Congress has given me a breadth of experience and background in how government operates which I believe can continue to be useful to the people of my district and state.

For instance, I am continuing to work with my congressional colleagues to make sure the Defense Department gives special consideration to areas of high unemployment when awarding its $3 billion plus non-strategic goods and services contracts. I will also continue to promote our interests in legislation before the bureaucracy. Michigan's strengths and the skills of its people are great, but our story must continue to be told.

If I am re-elected, I will continue to use my experience and leadership position to assure our interests and concerns are heard in Washington."

Roger Hall-R

AGE: 45

EDUCATION: Portland (Washington) Electronics College

OCCUPATION: Self-employed as owner of manufacturing firm

BACKGROUND: Formerly vice-president of marketing for a subsidiary of Dana Corporation. Purchased product line from Dana Corporation and started own company. Is a veteran of U.S. Air Force.

"The U.S. now has a debt of $1.1 trillion. We pay over $100 billion a year just to service this debt. Next year our government will add up to $150 billion to the debt.

We must stop deficit spending. My basic aim in office is to support and push the Balanced Budget Amendment and to work toward less government spending before and after the ratification of the amendment. No program should be considered exempt from cuts, including social programs and defense spending.

The Balanced Budget Amendment will:

- force Congress to balance the budget except in national emergencies;
- add no more to the over trillion dollar debt and possibly reduce the debt if we have a surplus;
- reduce the government's participation in the money market (reduce interest rates);
- give the financial community the confidence to lower interest rates (reduce unemployment);
- give consumers and business the confidence to spend money and get the economy going (more employment); and
- give the Federal Reserve more control over inflation and interest rates.

The Balanced Budget Amendment is not a cure-all for our economic woes, but it will put us a giant step forward in controlling our economy.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE
(60th DISTRICT)

Robert E. McCall-D

-Willis Bullard, Jr.-R
Martha L. Hoyer-R
Allen C. Ingle-R
John J. Roethel-R
John Van Dyke-R

The effort to reduce overall federal spending does not lend itself to trying to increase federal spending in Michigan. However, I feel that a cooperative effort between the governor and all Michigan U.S. congressmen could help to bring new non-automotive business to this state. I would also like to see local manufacturing associations whose purpose would be to sell the products and services of their members to other states.

Currently, there are many automotive subcontractors who have vacant capacity but do not have the ability to market their products or services in other states. I believe that this could be accomplished without the use of government funds.

I am the best candidate for this office because I am a 'doer' and have no political debts or obligations to any individual or pressure groups."

OCCUPATION: Supervisor of Highland Township 1980-present

BACKGROUND: Attorney since 1971, Huron Valley Arts Council Member and Oakland County Chamber of Commerce member.

"Jobs are the number one issue in Michigan today! We must improve the business climate and encourage job creation by reducing the cost of doing business in our state. Further reforms in in the worker's compensation, unemployment compensation and single business tax laws are urgently required.

As Highland Township supervisor, I have worked to bring jobs into our community. We must create a climate in which current industries will decide to expand in Michigan and new businesses will locate here to further create jobs.

The people demand and the legislature should enact real property tax relief, not merely a tax shift. My dedication to a severe reduction in the property tax was demonstrated by support of the Tisch I proposal in 1978 and the Tisch II proposal in 1980. Since there will be no tax reduction proposals on the November election ballot, the legislature should act to reduce our absurdly high property taxes. This can be accomplished by reducing the property assessment ratio from 50 percent to a lesser figure.

The exact amount of the property tax reduction will depend on the general condition of the state budget. I support the goal of cutting property taxes by 50 percent over the next several years. We should first look to cuts in state programs to make up for the lost property tax revenues.

By reducing aid to schools the state has balanced its budget on the backs of education. Since 1971 the percentage of the state budget earmarked for elementary and secondary education has shriveled from 29 percent to 15 percent.

Our children deserve, and the future demands quality education. We must reorder our spending priorities away from welfare and back to quality education.

My experience as a township official for four years, and attorney for 10 years, gives me the best background of any candidate to serve as your new state representative. As Highland Township supervisor, I serve as the administrative head of a governmental unit composed of almost 17,000 citizens. In cooperation with the other six members of the Board of Trustees, I have led Highland government along the path of fiscal responsibility. The Highland Township Board has worked together to provide an efficiently run government without the personality conflicts which impeded Highland Township government in the past. As your new state representative, I would continue to serve the needs of the people of the 60th District in this same constructive spirit.

I sincerely believe that my election and the election of other 'new faces' to the legislature will make a difference. With your help, the direction of state government can be turned around so that state government will work for the people to create jobs and reduce unnecessarily burdensome property taxes."

"Michigan suffers from an 'anti-business' image. Revision of existing business and employment taxes to assure that Michigan is competitive with other states is essential. A high technology promotion must provide credits against the Single Business Tax (SBT) for a percentage of amounts spent on wages and personal property since these firms are labor-intensive. Increased deductions against SBT for capital expenditures and property acquisition are further incentives. Unless relief is provided, relocation of industry to Michigan will be thwarted by the Federal Unemployment Debt. Costs of Workman's Compensation Insurance are still not competitive in spite of recent reforms.

The concern of taxpayers is in the area of ever increasing assessments, further aggravated by state and/or county

1. Michigan must create jobs through business development with legislative incentives to attract new business and retain business already here. Costly government programs that discourage business development must also be eliminated or changed. Additionally, government must be forced to permanently cut spending.

2. Michigan must: Provide tax credits for new research and development and tax credits for increases in export sales to attract high technology job providers; allow workers compensation and unemployment compensation costs to be tax-deductible to encourage small businesses; provide tax abatement and financing assistance.

3. The single business tax must be amended or repealed to encourage a pro-job climate. Property taxes must be strictly limited. Personal taxes must be cut.

1. Depressed economy, including unemployment and insufficient aid for all levels of education. Diversification of industrial-economic base and emphasis on state-federal funding for job retraining vocational education programs utilizing resources within state's high schools, community colleges and universities.

2. Legislature has passed laws providing business tax relief, investing public pension money in job-creating enterprises, creating urban land assembly fund to attract new industry and offering high-technology research and development funds. Must now go further, including more business tax relief.

1. (A) The economy of the state must be restored and the thousands of unemployed workers have to get back to work. (B) The people of the state need immediate property tax relief. I would like to see a ceiling placed on valuations to keep....

2. For this state to attract new industries and business, we must make the business climate appetizing by repealing the single business tax, reducing workers compensation and unemployment costs. Michigan has to "go the extra mile" and be more than just competitive, we must....

3. Again, I would vote to repeal the single business tax, remove the temporary income tax increase and look to the practices businessmen have always had to use in private industry — not spending more than you take in. The people cannot stand any more taxes....

1. We must make sense of the budget, to make plans for the future. We fund the Silverdome while cutting aid to schools. We spend a third of road funds on new highways but can't repair old ones. Without enough money, we must have more sense.

2. Michigan offers incentives to new industries in most areas — but we must pass revisions to the single business tax that encourage research and development firms to locate here. And we must concentrate on our industrial strength — shifting auto resources to manufacturing, agricultural and energy machinery.

3. I support a more rational way to finance our schools — with less reliance on property taxes and more revenue from the state income tax, so that homeowners, both people who are working and those unemployed or on fixed incomes, are not forced from their homes.

1. (A) Until interest rates return to single digits, the state has to be extremely careful to keep its borrowing to a minimum. This means keeping spending no greater than income. (B) Crime committed by prior offenders can be reduced by making bond relatable to past convictions.

2. We should gear ourselves up to new kinds of manufacturing using modern materials and methods in modern products. The vast resources of our universities should be made available, perhaps by telecommunications, to all business subscribers. Tax rebates should be available for businesses meeting employment quotas.

3. Michigan needs the smaller businesses. Taxes should be a tool for encouraging their development. All business taxes should be examined from the viewpoint of the smaller businessman to determine if they actually are encouraging. Also, vehicle taxes should be enough to pay for roads.

1. (A) Jobs (unemployment): 68 percent current jobs, 90 percent of new jobs represented by small business. Improve business regulations, encourage new investment. (B) Big government: Growth rate higher than economy. Too many employed in government; wasteful, inefficient. Don't over-regulate, protect, legislate. Review to insure that program meets goals.

2. Cost of operating a business among highest. Make state attractive to investment. Further reform of single business tax, unemployment compensation and workers compensation. Remove costly, over-burdensome, unnecessary, unreasonable, unworkable regulations, legislation. Deregulation. Allow free enterprise matrix to provide equitable curve for business and consumers. Fine quality educational system.

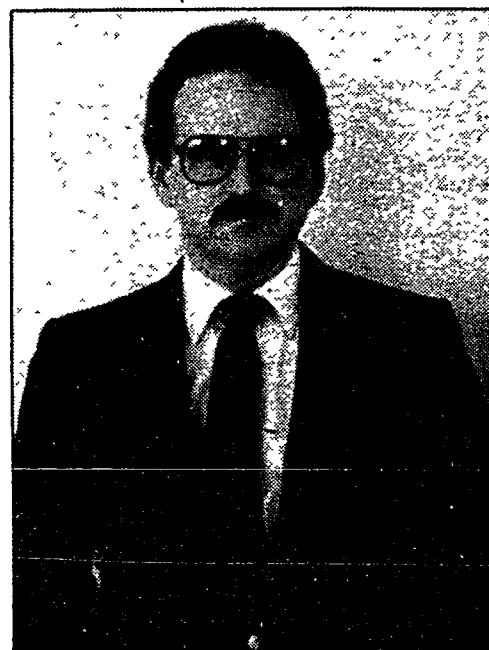

3. Growth in treasury should occur as economic recovery begins. Government should live within means. Property tax not based on ability to pay. Single business tax must be modified, based on profit. Tax dollars should be spent efficiently.

1. The financial situation of the state and jobs. Sacrifices have to be made by everyone. It's not surprising that state employees refused concessions when you consider that the administration was raising unemployment benefits at the same time.

2. First, we need to protect the existing businesses that have contributed to the state during these hard times. Tax incentives could be offered to businesses that are unique to Michigan, so that we can lessen our dependence on the auto industry.

3. I would favor a change in the criteria for assessing the value of our homes. As a homeowner, I understand the anger that all homeowners feel when the assessed value is more than they can get for their homes on the market.

Michigan are, specifically: (A) attracting business to Michigan to create jobs; (B) maintain the high quality of education in Michigan. These two problems really go hand in hand. To attract new business to Michigan, I have supported reforms in the single business tax...

2. I also support the sensible reduction and simplification of government regulation and "one-step" business license and permit centers to encourage expansion. By attracting new business to Michigan, we also will maintain the need for high-quality education and technological training that Michigan is already noted for.

3. I would modify the tax system by repealing the single business tax which would lift the burden on business and, therefore, strengthen the incentive to locate business in Michigan.

A demonstrated willingness to work full time at legislative duties and a better than 99.6 percent record on answering roll call votes — one of the best records in either house of the Michigan legislature.

Property tax relief continues to be one of my major concerns and I have supported a number of property tax cut measures during my tenure in Lansing. I voted against tax increase bills such as P.A. 114 (equalization by class). I believe that assessments should be reduced during a period of declining housing prices, and the state equalization process needs to be better defined and controlled by law. I introduced legislation to expand the benefits of the Homestead Property Tax Credit or "circuit breaker" program too.

I believe that public education should be funded through a one-third, one-third, one-third participation by local, state and federal governments. At the present time neither the state or federal governments is doing its share.

I believe the legislature must place a high priority on improving the business climate and thereby reducing unemployment. The four areas most in need of legislative reform are workers compensation, unemployment compensation, product liability and the Single Business Tax laws. In addition, we must redouble our efforts to diversify the state's economy, promoting new industries such as high technology and robotics while continuing to encourage Michigan's automobile, agriculture and tourism industries.

"I believe we are at a crossroad in our history. The last four years have been a steady deterioration in the economic health of our state.

People have seen their property taxes go up, in some cases by 60 percent. It is time we take education funding out of the property tax and finance it through the general fund. When a district wants more than the state can provide, it can vote a millage to its property tax.

We must also attract new business to the state, but at the present time there are few reasons why they would want to come here. We must reform unemployment insurance; revise the single business tax to a profit base, not sales; and continue to review workman's compensation. This is what has to be done.

The problem is the Senate, and in particular Senator Geake, has been unable to get the job done. It has been more interested in spending your money. In the last three years it has spent $1.2 million on postage. Senator Geake has been one of the top offenders, spending double the average.

Senator Geake takes political contributions from every special interest group he can find, including Michigan Consolidated Gas and Detroit Edison. How can a representative of the people do a good job when he owes so many political debts?

When it comes to leadership, he again comes up short. He has not sponsored one major bill that has become law. In fact, when the City of Northville needed a minor piece of legislation, he failed miserably.

I would like the opportunity to be your state senator. I am not in debt to anyone, I am financing my own campaign, compared to Senator Geake's $30,000 campaign fund. I believe you're the most important special interest group. I will not take you for granted as Senator Geake has. I will fight hard for important legislation to make your and your children's lives better. We can do better!"

From One Republican To Another:

- Like a night at the DRC, most politically-active community leaders are jockeying to pick a winning County Executive Candidate, and without exception, most have their money on the nose of one of the Democrats.
- As a news writer covering county politics I find it amazing that the very persons complaining the most about county assessments and labor contracts are the ones ready, willing, and able to replace what they have with more of the same.
- In 1974 the county budget was $360 million and the 7,000 county employees cost $90 million. Today the county budget is $286 million and the 4,000 county employees cost you $122 million. Union-backed Democrats have provided you with less service and more salaries at the negotiating table. The famous "manning clause" in the Deputy Sheriff contract, negotiated by union teams — one for you and one for them — just cost you $5 million this year and the loss of the road patrol.
- Even the Democratic national leaders are trying to disassociate themselves from the union because of these very problems. Think BEFORE you vote, then...

taxes and control the growth of government. As a member of the House Appropriations Committee, I've sought to balance the federal budget in a way that's fair for Michigan and the Midwest.

As a representative of Northville, I've sponsored state and national laws in such areas as economic recovery, business and job expansion, government efficiency, education, transportation, environment, and new energy sources.

I support the concept of keeping government as close to the people as efficiency allows. But we should move cautiously. It would not be responsible to ask state and local government to assume programs for which they have no revenues.

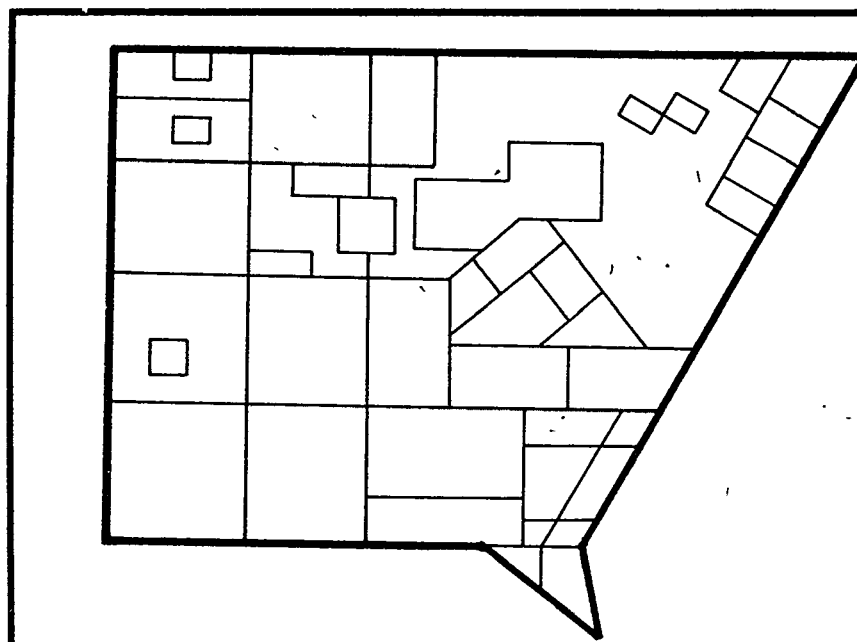

The key to balancing the federal budget is to reduce the rate of spending growth. No area of government spending should be exempt from examination, including the military.

Michigan actually does very well in many areas of the federal budget. The primary reason for our overall low return is in defense spending, where we rank 25th among the states. I'm working to correct this and was instrumental in passing a special program to make it possible for high unemployment areas, such as Michigan, to attract more defense supply contracts.

The defense department buys billions of dollars worth of desks, paper clips, vehicles, paint and other supplies every year. I'm trying to help our state and our excellent industries be more aggressive in seeking a larger share of this work. It would give us a better return on our tax dollars, without increasing overall spending, and also be a big boost to our economy.

county. I'd appoint only competent, unimpeachable persons to commissions, committees, boards. Both of these actions are within the powers of the Executive and, if done wisely, will produce the third and most important chance: an improved County image.

2) The Road Commission and the Department of Public Works are controlled by the County Executive who can recommend their reorganization and budget and appoint the Commissioners. The Drain Commissioner is separately elected but must submit his budget to and through the Executive. The budget is the control.

Answers: 1) Ask for resignation of appointed members of all Boards and Commissions. If we are beginning a new system, let us have new people involved. I'd implement an actual study of the retirement system; its cost to the general fund is seven tax dollars to each employee dollar. I'd begin implementation of reorganization of civil service.

2) Recommend Charter amendment, eliminating Drain Commissioner. Attempt to merge those duplicate engineering functions in drains, Department of Public Works, and Road Commission. There is a duplication of effort because of non-uniform classification of jobs. Attempt to put all similar functions in the D.P.W.

Answers: 1) Structurally, no changes other than those stipulated by the charter are planned initially. Fiscally and financially, all expenditures over a certain dollar amount would receive prior approval. All Functions within County Government would be impacted/alterd by this procedure.

2) The charter established the Drain Commissioner as an elective position, requires the Road Commissioner to perform only road construction and maintenance and leaves the P.W.D. unchanged. Therefore, I would need to know the Drain Commissioner's plans and their impact on county needs and the budget.

I would also recommend the merger of Register Deeds with the County Clerk of office.

2) To co-ordinate these departments I would require statistics concerning the progress of new and existing programs. If modification or termination are warranted,

2) Charter requires these programs be submitted for Chief Executive Office (CEO) approval six months in advance. mandated factors. Yet, there have been proposals to limit assessments to less than 50 percent of true cash value, to have the state pay a percentage of every bill, to shift school operating cost from property tax to local income tax and to replace parts of the property tax with increases in sales tax or state income tax; and none have won approval. We must seek a workable combination that will afford relief yet not interrupt the functioning of school districts and local services which are vital to the people who pay the taxes.

Public education should be funded through a combination of state and local efforts with controls always at the local level. However, for the past few years, the trend has been to ever declining state contribution leaving the shouldering of more of the burden to the local taxpayer through property taxes. The percentage of total state expenditures allocated to K-12 must be increased starting immediately.

The state aid per pupil must be critically analyzed. We must end state mandated factors that cause more local school taxes and less state aid.

My seven years as a councilmember, with four of those years as mayor pro-tem, have been years of providing leadership, facing issues head-on and making decisions in the best interest of the people I represent. My involvement has extended beyond local government to the regional level through the Council on Regional Development, a SEMCOG committee, to the state level through my involvement with the Michigan Municipal League and the national level through the National League of Cities. I feel that my years of experience and involvement at these levels have certainly prepared me for the position I seek."

"Michigan's business climate can be improved by emphasizing the importance of the private sector. We need new and creative land use policies. We need to run our government like a business. We must evaluate regulations and balance environmental protection and economic growth. Put the emphasis on strengthening the private sector and less dependence on government.

The governor's economic recovery program is a first step in addressing the excessive costs of doing business in our state. Legislation has been passed to lower workmen's compensation. Senate Bill 240, increasing the small business profit Single Business Tax credit, has passed. House Bill 5165, establishing 'Economic Growth Areas,' has passed the House and is now in the Senate. Each of these areas must have continued attention by the legislature, and we must also find a way to address the unemployment compensation debt to the Federal Government.

There have been many efforts at property tax reform in recent years, but no proposal has satisfied a majority. We must find a more equitable way of funding local government services, and this must be done now! I supported Tisch Proposal D and Tisch III. I would support a reduction of the A/V to 33 percent of market value, as long as a minimum amount of state funds could be earmarked for public education and local government.

If we continue with property tax as the sole method of funding education and local services, we must review the equalization process.

I do not support a tax shift. We must streamline state government. One of the first steps in slowing government growth and spending is to change the legislature to a part-time body. This would reduce cost as well as set an example of efficient and effective leadership.

Education is presently funded by local property taxes. If the local school district doesn't meet a minimum dollar amount per student from property taxes, the state government subsidizes the district through a complicated formula called 'state aid'. As property taxes increase locally, state aid decreases accordingly. In principle, this is a sound approach to funding public education, only if local governments, through balanced land use, can provide adequate tax revenues. However, we all know this has not worked in the State of Michigan.

Public education should be a major priority and the state must set aside a minimum number of dollars from other tax sources to fund the educational system, but it must allow for the local control. We have tax dollars being wasted in other areas that could be channeled to education.

Our party has five good candidates. I believe I am the best candidate because I have a broad business background and local government experience. I feel government must be run like a business. My involvement with local government and by business associations have given me the experience of working directly with city, township and village government. I am knowledgeable of the concerns of the people of the entire district: property taxes, education, alternate forms of housing, environment and senior citizen housing."

The adoption of the charter and the election of a county executive will result in more responsible county government and the ability to assign responsibility for both legislative and executive action.

Even though we will have a new administrative head, you still need a few experienced people who can recognize the pitfalls of the old bureaucracy, much of which will still be there, and those few individuals who have fought for the reforms and want to help them succeed.

(Dumas has been serving on special committee investigating civil service commission's actions in public works test): If the county is to continue to operate under the Civil Service Act, it must be an honest merit system with safeguards for the integrity of application, testing and appointment procedures for the sake of present and prospective employees as well as the taxpayers.

(Regarding development and expansion of business): It will require a continuing dialogue and cooperation between business, labor and community leaders.

Control of mounting taxes will be a primary goal whether by denying increases in the assessment factors or limiting millages.

The economic recovery of Wayne County and restoration of jobs depends upon the aggressive and creative cooperation of industry, labor and government.

Livonia Optimist Club; member of the Livonia Youth Commission-vocational scholarship committee and the Livonia Youth Assistance Program Community Action Council; Livonia Police Officers Association Political Action Committee; and member of the board of directors of the Juvenile Officers' Association of Michigan and Ontario.

I am seeking this office because of a sincere desire to represent the people of the 10th district under the newly adopted charter.

People voiced their overwhelming support for county reorganization, and I believe new faces and new blood are needed to make it successful.

The preamble to the new charter pledges to provide more efficient, responsive and accountable government. I can offer that. I don't think the present board can do it.

There's no conflict of interest, and I can be responsive. I have a flexible schedule (as a police officer).

The board in general has just sat back and hasn't done a thing about this (leaking of civil service test) — showing a lack of integrity.

I am pleased to announce that my candidacy has been endorsed by the Livonia Police Officers Association and the Livonia Firefighters Association. Prior endorsements include the Greater Detroit Building Trades Council and Wayne County Sheriffs' Local 502.

William Ryan-D

EDUCATION: Wayne High School

EMPLOYMENT: Manager, drive-in theater

A Livonia resident, Ryan is seeking the Democratic nomination from the 10th District.

Asked which programs he would cut and protect to bring county expenditures in line with revenues, Ryan said he would "maintain those services which protect the welfare and safety of the people."

Ryan also said he considers "the financial situation" to be the most critical problem facing the county. He said he would help solve that problem "by eliminating obvious waste and duplication and unnecessary jobs."

Walter Roesler-D

EMPLOYMENT: Owns hardware store in Detroit

BACKGROUND: Founder and president of Brightmoor Business Community Council; former president, Brightmoor Community Center; former vice chairman, Suburban West Community Center; chairman, Citizens Advisory Committee at Wayne County Community College; former advisor to Governor's Conference on Small Business and President's Conference on Small Business.

During his tenure as president of the Brightmoor Community Council, the group received grants from the City of Detroit for senior citizen home repair. The group also was instrumental in securing a Detroit police mini-station for the area.

Roesler served as president of the Brightmoor Community Center, a program funded by the United Foundation which provides arts and crafts and a hot lunch program for senior citizens, a day care center and a day camp for children.

Should he receive the Democratic nomination for the new 10th District seat, Roesler has pledged to:

1. Implement the new charter: "All expenditures will be thoroughly investigated to insure that critical services continue to be provided for; however, evaluations on each request will occur to insure that budget guidelines are withheld to insure that needless spending does not occur."

2. Dedicate time to constituents: "Dedicate my time and efforts as a full time commissioner, making myself available to my constituents and maintaining an office within the area."

Checking in

The voting process has come a long way from the days when you had to mark your ballot with a pencil and file it through the slit in the box. But one aspect remains unchanged despite punch cards and computerization — the checking in process. Election workers are still needed to make sure each citizen is registered and only votes once.
