Good weather seen as aiding primary vote

Voting's a family affair

Members of the Farkas family have made it a tradition to vote together — and did so early Tuesday in the primary. Marking their punch card ballots in Township Precinct No. 3 at Moraine Elementary School are, from left, Steve Farkas, daughter Denise, Mrs. Virginia Farkas, and daughter Donna. Election official Joan Bianchi, far left, waits to place their ballots in the official ballot box. The Farkases arrived shortly after Record photographer Steve Fecht about 9 a.m. yesterday. At that hour, officials said, about 35 had voted in the precinct.

Both city clerk Joan McAllister and township clerk Susan Heintz were delighted yesterday as primary election day weather proved ideal for getting out the vote.

"It's a perfect day," declared McAllister as she credited the sunny-but-cool weather with bringing out 25 percent of the city voters registered in Wayne County by 1:30 p.m.

Based on the early turnout, she predicted that she could have a 60 percent vote of the 3,977 registered voters in the city — but said she would be happy with 50 percent. She added, however, that she was aware voting in the city often fell off later in the day.

"It's nice and steady," she said of the Wayne county voting at city hall, noting that it was better than expected. A 10 to 20 percent vote statewide, she said, had been predicted.

A total of 103 absentee ballots had been cast in the Wayne County portion of the city and 55 in the Oakland County portion, McAllister reported, noting that she had her absentee board counting the Wayne County ballots by machine, a process she hoped would speed up the return.

She had a total of 17 election workers on duty with six working at each of the two precincts and the others on the absentee board.

Heintz reported 1,446 votes had been cast in the township by 1:15 p.m. In-

Parking deck tests ordered by council

Concerned about continuing deterioration of the downtown parking deck, Northville City Council Monday agreed to spend up to $5,000 for a preliminary analysis of its condition by Newyer, Tiseo and Hinds, Ltd., a Farmington firm of consulting engineers.

"We don't have a choice," commented council member G. Dewey Gardner in making the motion to appropriate the funds so that City Manager Steven Walters and city engineer Edward McNeely could explore what should be done.

McNeely warned that the city may be "talking about more serious deterioration in the future."

Saying he and Walters had met with K.R. Hinds of the firm, McNeely said the preliminary analysis would be to determine the soundness of the structure, assess the condition of the concrete and the ongoing corrosion of the reinforcing rods.

"They will tell if it is advantageous to rehabilitate, demolish or partially remove the offending part — then we can decide what course to follow," council was told.

McNeely told council he had worked with this firm previously and that it has a good reputation.

Council member Carolann Ayers noted that two years ago the city had hired Carl Walker and Associates "who took cores and supposedly did a structural analysis" when the deck was repaired then. She asked if their core reports could not be used in the new analysis.

In Hinds' proposal to the council, securing concrete cores for testing, evaluations and patching of core holes with high strength non-shrinkable grout was estimated at $600 for six cores.

Ayers questioned if the previous core report could not be used to save this money.

McNeely said he expected the previous cores had been destroyed in the testing. Using the prior report, he added, would be questionable. He compared engineers to doctors, saying each likes to take his own tests.

Walters also doubted if there were a previous assessment of the iron as that deterioration was not visible two years ago.

McNeely said the deck is "like a big erector set — if properly placed and if the reinforcing steel was properly protected, it probably is good."

Walters said the question has to be asked, "Is the deck going to collapse, and when?"

Hinds had submitted a comprehensive Phase I plan for the Cady Street deck which was estimated to cost $10,500. It noted that the work would not include any structural design, nor contract specifications for repair work, stating that professional services for the repair work would be Phase II.

Council was told that the $5,000 allocated Monday night could determine the deck condition so that the council could decide what course to follow.

If this review turns up information early, McNeely said, it might not cost the full $5,000. However, he said, the firm may want to be a bit cautious on giving an opinion of whether or not the deck is sound unless it has full documentation from the complete proposal outlined.

The proposal stated the survey, testing and evaluation of deteriorated areas, project coordination and engineering report would be made by Hinds' firm. The structural analysis would be done by McWilliam and Keckonen, Incorporated.

The survey in addition to evaluating condition of the concrete, which DPW workers have blocked off on the upper deck, will indicate the extent of cracking and spalling in the slab, columns and beams.

Corrosion of all visible reinforcing as well as by a process called the "half-cell method" will be evaluated.

The complete proposal also agrees to check causes of corrosion and to evaluate the structural integrity of the system.

The extent to which the deck can tolerate increased loads also will be determined.

Civil engineering is to be done by the city engineering firm.

As Paul Folino seconded the motion to appropriate $5,000 to begin the evaluation, he agreed something had to be done, asking the city manager if he had the money somewhere in the city's tight budget.

Council member J. Burton DeRusha pointed out, "the alternative is to close the deck."

Two years ago, when the deck was evaluated and repaired, the city's concern was in part that the deck was leaking.

The agreement to build the two-level parking deck between Mary Alexander Court and Cady east of Center was signed in November, 1970. Special parking assessments were set up to pay for the parking. Maintenance has been by the city DPW.

The deck was completed in 1971.

City hears Serkaian's plea for handrail

Nick Serkaian Monday night took his appeal for construction of a handrail along the driveway to Allen Terrace to city council.

For the past three years, he told council, he has watched senior citizens proceed up the hill with difficulty.

"Someone was thoughtful enough to put in benches," he said, "but it's very hard to climb this hill. Senior citizens can make it to town but many can't make it back to their apartments again."

He said he was speaking to council as the "voice" of residents.

Council member Carolann Ayers pointed out that there is a residents' council at Allen Terrace. She said she was "disturbed" if residents did not feel they could make their wishes and needs known through it.

"Allen Terrace," she explained, "has its own budget which the housing commission prioritizes."

She suggested the housing commission be contacted and given a chance to respond, "and possibly work through their budget for it."

Serkaian said he had received a letter from City Manager Steven Walters acknowledging his contribution of $25 to start a handrail fund, stating it has been placed in a trust account to hold for consideration of this project.

"Perhaps your interest will encourage others to contribute toward

'Many can't make it back to their apartments'

this project, enabling it to be accomplished in spite of the limited resources of the city at this time," Walters wrote.

Mayor Paul Vernon told Serkaian that "the city has helped (senior citizens)" and said he had never had anyone complain of the situation to him.

Council member J. Burton DeRusha told Serkaian that "good ideas should be accepted regardless of the source," adding that he had been planning to bring up the matter himself as a result of Serkaian's donation.

"I have been turned off by you at times," he admitted to Serkaian as he praised the project. Serkaian previously had been highly critical of the clock project for the center of Main Street, stating he felt it was a safety hazard.

Council member Paul Folino concurred with DeRusha that the handrail was a worthwhile project. He said he and his wife Mamie had decided to contribute.

Mary Ellen Patterson Hollis spoke from the audience to encourage the project, confirming that she had seen residents climb the drive with difficulty.

A comprehensive energy audit of Northville High School will get under way this fall following the Northville Board of Education's approval Monday to undertake the project in the hopes of conserving energy.

The board unanimously approved the administration's recommendation to contract Harley, Ellington, Pierce and Yee Associates to conduct an energy evaluation audit of the high school building this September.

Cost of the audit, which is not to exceed $14,950, is expected to be paid for in part by a grant from the National Energy Conservation Policy Act.

Northville Public Schools submitted a grant application last spring to the Michigan Department of Commerce for a Technical Assistance Grant to assess the energy efficiency of Northville High School.

The administration learned last week that Northville is among the 38 applicants which the state will recommend receive funds for an energy audit.

Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton told the board the award is a matching type grant that requires the receiving institution to match the money received by the federal government.

Upon Knighton's recommendation, the board unanimously agreed to match monies received from the National Energy Conservation Policy Act to the extent of $7,750.

Board vice president Karen Wilkinson called the federal grant monies a "bonanza" to the district's plans for an energy efficiency study of the high school.

School Superintendent George Bell noted the monies will allow the district to undergo the "first step of a feasibility study to determine what has to be done to the high school."

For the past year, the board's facilities sub-committee has been examining energy conservation measures, paying particular attention to the high school building.

Last spring the Facilities Committee approved an energy mini-audit of the high school to help identify areas where money could be saved.

Knighton told board members Monday that the district probably will not receive official notification that the federal government has funded the grant until sometime in September.

Should the grant be approved, it is expected that the energy audit conducted by Harley, Ellington, Pierce and Yee Associates will take approximately three months.

TOWNSHIP BOARD of trustees has postponed its regularly scheduled second Thursday meeting this month. The board will meet instead on the third Thursday, August 19. Postponement was to allow time for preparation following Tuesday's election.

Water bills misdated

An irate city water customer brought both bill and envelope in which it was mailed to city council Monday night. Edith Dunbar of 531 Main complained that the bill was postmarked July 30 and the due date without $5 penalty was August 6.

She said she had been on vacation and felt this was insufficient time allowed for payment.

City Manager Steven Walters quickly concurred, explaining that the date was a computer "typo" and should have read September 6.

He said the city had considered sending corrected bills to those receiving the one batch that was misdated but decided just to explain as water customers came in to pay. He assured Mrs. Dunbar that the penalty is not being charged.

He suggested that customers receiving misdated bills merely change the due date to 9-6-82 and pay them without penalty.

Mrs. Dunbar said she would be "glad to do so."

Council members agreed her complaint was unusual — most were objecting to the amount charge, it was noted.

Special graduate

Commencement at Old Village School always has held special meaning for the family, friends and teachers of its graduating students — and this year proved no different. Eight Old Village School students were awarded certificates last Friday as they marked the completion of their school days in Northville. Among the graduates were Andrew Burke, Claudia Donohoe, Robert Dozier, Carol Flannigan, Frederick Miller, Michael Santiago,

Pamela Shultz and Joseph Svejcar. Following the keynote address by ISEP Director Dr. Leonard Rezmierski, each student received farewell wishes from favorite staff members. For graduate Pamela Schultz and teacher Carol Campbell, above, graduation may have symbolized the end of many school days together — but certainly not the end of a long and caring friendship. ## Jaycees to host Summerfest

Northville Jaycees are completing plans for their first four-day Summerfest to be held August 26-29 at Northville Downs.

Admission and parking will be free, Jaycee Paul Baetz reports, noting that arcade and games booths are being operated by Pugh Shows Incorporated of Ohio, also operator of the Ohio State Fair.

He adds that admission to the Michigan State Fair "can run up to $7" to enjoy similar events.

Live entertainment will be featured in the Jaycees' beer tent which the Jaycees plan to keep open until 1 a.m. on the weekend. On the Friday night of the Summerfest Las Vegas-type "wheels" will operate from 8 p.m. until midnight.

A dunk tank will feature various special guests, Baetz announces. Tickets also are to be sold with prizes including a two-day, two-night trip to Atlantic City for two, and a wheelbarrow of cheer, among other gifts.

Hours will be 4 to 11 p.m. August 26; 4 p.m. to midnight, August 27; noon to midnight, August 28; and 1 to 11 p.m. August 29.

Baetz may be contacted for more information at 349-0945; or Mike Lang, 349-2133. Information on operating games at the Summerfest is available from Bruce Hackmann, 349-6465.

Local artists to show works

Three Northville artists will be exhibiting their works August 21 in two separate shows.

Photographer Rick Denomme of 42520 Lake Success will be among the 100 artists displaying works at the "Art at Meadow Brook" exhibit August 21-22 in the courtyard of Meadow Brook Hall on the east campus of Oakland University.

The sixth annual admission-free exhibit and sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day.

Works of 100 artists will line the circle drive and courtyard of the 100-room Tudor mansion in Rochester. Artists from Michigan, Ohio and Canada will exhibit their work in diverse media such as fiber art, painting, pottery, leather art, soft and hard sculpture, photography, graphics, glass, jewelry, iron work, marionettes and miniatures.

Refreshments will be available and Meadow Brook Hall's summer tea room will be open to those attending the show.

The exhibit-sale is being sponsored by Creative Council and further information may be obtained by calling 377-3140.

Northville artists Laurie Fowler and Bill Thelan will be displaying their fibers at the Ninth Annual Northfield Hills Condominium Association Art-on-the-Lake Show August 21 in Troy.

Exhibits will be on display and for sale from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Among the 65 artists exhibiting at the show will be weavers, potters, photographers, toy makers, jewelers, portrait painters, quilters, metal and wood sculptors and graphic artists.

Also included in this year's show will be a children's area featuring the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Puppetmobile.

There is no admission charge for the show. In case of rain, the show will be conducted August 22.

Declining
Love

Dr. James H.
Luther

One of the most unusual verses in the Bible was written to the church at Ephesus. Our Lord had to say to them: "Nevertheless, I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love" (Revelation 2:4). What is more tragic than declining love?

There is a warm and wonderful quality in young love. I enjoy asking a young man why he wishes to marry the girl beside him. He hesitates, blushes slightly, and says: "Because I love her with all my heart!" The future bride beams in response. Later I will stand with them and hear them pledge their undying love publicly. What an experience!

Yet, it is surpassed by the kind of love that grows through the passing years. God intended for love to grow.

But sometimes it declines, cools, shrivels! The church at Ephesus was a going church. But the believers there didn't love the Lord as they once had.

Was there a time when you loved Jesus more than you do today? Did you serve him more gladly? Were you more faithful? More dedicated?

Maybe you need the advise given to Ephesus: to return to that first love, rekindle it, and watch it grow.

Board approves community education pact

Northville residents will have an opportunity to participate in a variety of new programs, classes and workshops this fall when Northville's newly-revised community education program gets under way.

The Northville Board of Education Monday night approved School Superintendent George Bell's recommendation to enter a cooperative agreement with Garden City Public Schools for community and adult education services.

The consortium agreement marks the first time the Northville and Garden City school districts have shared community and adult education services and will provide Northville residents with a more varied and ample selection of programs.

Northville Public Schools formerly held a consortium agreement with the Plymouth school district. However, Bell told board members Monday that Plymouth currently is on the verge of going out of formula and that any agreement at this time would "not benefit either school district."

With the new agreement, Garden City Public Schools will serve as the administrative district with Northville serving as the facilitator of the community education program.

The program will include adult basic education, G.E.D. classes, high school completion classes, classes for post-graduates (under 20 as of September 1) and non-credit, leisure-time classes for adults.

Susan Couzens, who will continue in her role as community education facilitator, told the board Monday that program booklets will be available Monday, August 16.

She noted that Garden City's "expertise and manpower will benefit the Northville community" and will provide a much "broader" selection of programs for residents.

Bell said he was particularly interested in developing a more comprehensive senior citizens' program.

Swimming continues

Concerned that illegal swimming is continuing in the gravel pit off Griswold, city council member Paul Folino Monday asked city council what more could be done. He said he has received complaints that youngsters, like those above pictured by Record photographer Steve Fecht, are parking at the Mill Race Village parking lot and crossing Griswold to swim. City manager Steve Walters said the police have been writing tickets regularly and that the usual fine now is $50. Both city and township police patrol the gravel pit.

Restaurant sign stirs debate

How tall is too tall for a structure in Northville Township? Does a McDonald's golden arches sign 44-feet up set the limit, or would a 75-foot dome put a ceiling on township altitude?

While planners do most of their work on a horizontal plane, evaluating site plans of developments, at least two continuing discussions are centered on vertical matters.

The McDonald's arch exceeds height restrictions on commercial pylon signs in both present and earlier zoning law. But when the Five Mile fast food operation was constructed, the owners obtained a height variance from the zoning board of appeals (ZBA).

Claiming the ZBA operated beyond its authority, the planning commission has twice insisted that the restaurant's plans for a drive-through operation will not be approved until the sign is lowered. On the latest occasion, the commission made shortening of the sign a condition of preliminary approval of the site plan.

Attorney Roger Young appeared before the commission last week to argue that the commission was operating outside its legal authority to attempt reversal of the ZBA decision, noting that if the variance was granted illegally, the township could have appealed it on those grounds long ago.

He asked that the commission "review and reconsider" its position which he contended was "violative of Michigan law."

He added that the owners "feel the ZBA had some very good reasons for approving the sign." Among them, Young contended, was its visibility from the other side of the freeway overpass, providing an early warning to drivers to watch for restaurant traffic.

The owners' reluctance to lower the sign, he said, was based on economics. The single estimate they had for replacing the sign approached $35,000. Lowering the present sign, he said, was judged impossible by the single sign dealer consulted.

Visibility from the freeway and elsewhere, he added, "generates a lot of income," as would the drive-through operation once approved. Between the two effects, he argued, the owners would endure economic hardship if the commission did not alter its demand that the sign be lowered before granting approval of the drive-through.

Chairman Kenneth McLarty told Young he was under the impression that at the last meeting the owners indicated they believed "lowering the sign was worthy of their consideration."

He also outlined the commission's position, again, that the ZBA granted the variance illegally in the first place.

"I think, clearly, a good faith effort (to cooperate) on the part of the petitioners might effectuate a compromise," McLarty told Young.

Later in the meeting, commissioner Bernard Baldwin, who sits on the ZBA, related that the appeals board had before it a height variance request for Oasis Golf Center, which is immediately east of McDonald's.

The proposal to erect a "temporary structure" in the form of a 75-foot tall air dome during the winter months to allow use of the driving range did not seem to thrill commissioners, nor Baldwin.

"How can you do that (grant the variance) when you're beating the poor guy from McDonald's on a 44-foot sign," trustee liaison Richard Allen asked.

Commissioner William Bohan jokingly remarked that it wasn't a "poor guy" from McDonald's, referring to Young's remark that most, if not all, such operations are profitable.

The ZBA tabled the variance petition while it investigates other locations where such "temporary structures" are used and will consider the request again at a later meeting.

Sewer problem forces evacuation

Residents of the Northville Training Center on Seven Mile who were evacuated to an unused building at the Plymouth Center Sunday morning probably will return today, director James Hunt anticipated Monday.

The move, he explained, was the result of a sewer problem that has been solved.

"There were absolutely no problems with the evacuation of the 82 residents," he emphasized as he praised the cooperation of the training center staff. "We have very good employees and everybody at both places pitched in," he said.

The center residents have been occupying Kennedy Hall on the Plymouth grounds since sewage spilled out in crawl space at the Northville Training Center when a clean-out valve was opened.

Hunt reported that a representative of the Michigan Department of Public Health had been out to inspect the situation and that the corrections had been made.

When the clean-out valve was opened, he said, sewage that had not gone through the drain spilled out. Lime has been used, he added, assuring, "there is no contamination."

Reports that a similar evacuation had been held at Northville State Hospital arose, Director John Reynolds speculated Monday, because the hospital had conducted a tornado drill last Wednesday.

Whistles are set off, he explained, in such simulated disaster drills.

The hospital was trying out some different procedures, Reynolds' office reported.

Patients on upper floors go to the centers of the buildings while main floor patients are moved to the basement. No one, Reynolds said, goes outdoors in the drills.

He added the hospital periodically conducts fire drills and tornado alerts but had not done so recently.

Folk and bluegrass festival draws crowds

An estimated 1,000 music fans turned out last weekend to hear the likes of Josh White, Jr., Footloose, the Ruff Water String Band and a host of other performers at the Sixth Annual Folk and Bluegrass Festival Benefit for Huntington's Disease.

Festival organizer Tom Rice, owner of the sponsoring Giftfiddler Music

JOSH WHITE, JR.

Store, said he "was really happy" with the turnout in light of the many other activities going on concurrently throughout the area.

Rice said the two-day benefit raised an estimated $3,000 for the Huntington's Disease Foundation. The foundation raises funds and conducts research into virtually all genetic neurological diseases.

Those attending the festival were treated to some of the best folk and bluegrass music around. Among the featured performers were Marie Schlegers, Allen Z. and his dulcimer, Bluegrass Generation, Banjo Betsy Beckerman's folk music, Northern Comfort, Dean Rutledge, Home Grown Grass, Calico and Just Friends. Local folk guitarist-singer Neil Woodward also performed.

Sunny skies and warm weather helped bring out the crowds at Ford Field. Picnic baskets, lawn chairs and towels were scattered throughout the field as foot-stompin' fans soaked up the rays while listening to some of their favorite tunes.

The only person missing from this year's festival was Marjorie Guthrie, widow of folk-great Woody Guthrie, who died of Huntington's Disease.

Marjorie Guthrie, who has been seen at Northville's previous folk and bluegrass festivals, founded the Foundation to Combat Huntington's Disease as a result of her experience in helping her husband battle Huntington's.

Through her efforts, the foundation now is the largest dealing with all neurological disorders.

The Vargo Brothers — Dan, Tim and David — join in with harmonicas and juice harps

Folk and bluegrass fans from miles around gathered at Ford Field last weekend for the Sixth Annual Folk and Bluegrass Festival Benefit for Huntington's Disease. Taking in her favorite folk music was Dottie Kimpel, above, from California. Visiting friends in Ann Arbor, Dottie came to Northville Saturday to enjoy the likes of local artist Neil Woodward, Northern Comfort, Bluegrass Generation and a host of other performers. For those that forgot to pack a picnic snack, Rita Rice, wife of festival organizer Tom Rice, manned the ice cream and chicken truck. Gerry Wieske of Mount Clemens, at right, dips into an ice cream cone.

Q. How can I keep my mouth

A. The number one priority is to prevent cavities and gum disease. Outside of control of the diet and the use of fluor-

Arrests Wixom man

Trooper led on high-speed chase

A 27-year-old Wixom man was arraigned in 52nd District Court Friday on various charges resulting from a high-speed chase in a stolen vehicle with Northville Michigan State Police last Thursday, the department said.

Bruce Ireland was charged with possession of stolen property, fleeing and eluding police, felonious assault, driving with a suspended license and possession of marijuana, police said.

According to police, Ireland stole a 1979 Ford four-wheel pickup truck from a Salem Township residence at about 9 a.m. Thursday. A trooper on patrol spotted Ireland at M-102 and I-96 at which time a high-speed chase began.

Ireland appeared to be slowing down near the north shoulder of M-102, but proceeded to cut across the grass median onto eastbound I-96. He then crossed the median onto westbound I-96 when he again slowed down in an attempt to go onto the right shoulder.

However, Ireland hit the state police car which spun his car east on the west-bound lanes. Ireland continued until the truck became stuck in a ditch. He then fled the truck, but was caught by the trooper 100 yards away from the vehicle, police said.

Hospital patient killed

A 30-year-old white male patient from the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital was killed last Thursday when he jumped out in front of car on Seven Mile, Northville Michigan State Police said.

Police did not file any charges against James Paulson, 29, of Northville, who was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting Kenneth Ark of Dearborn. There were three witnesses at the accident who confirmed the driver's story, police said.

According to police, Paulson was traveling east on Seven Mile at about 1:10 p.m. when he saw Ark standing at the side of the road apparently hitchhiking. Paulson said Ark sprang out in front of the car as he drove by. According to Paulson, he did not have enough time to stop and ran over Ark, police said.

Hospital officials did not know at the time Ark was off hospital grounds, but told police Ark had ground privileges, a Northville MSP spokesperson said.

Police Blotter

Steepleview home stripped of appliances, shrubbery

In the township...

Various household items and shrubbery, worth $3,000, was taken from a Steepleview residence around May 31, a township police report said.

The witnesses said the man took some keys out of his pocket and used them one-by-one until the lock was open and then rode off with the bike, the report said.

Emeritus title conferred on Brasure

The Reverend Lloyd G. Brasure, who was minister of First Presbyterian Church of Northville for 19 years until his retirement in June, 1980, at the age of 68, will be recipient of the honorary title of Pastor Emeritus this Sunday.

The Service of Recognition and Acknowledgement will be at 9:30 a.m. in the sanctuary, Dr. Lawrence A. Chamberlain, who succeeded him as senior pastor of the church, announces.

An open invitation is being extended to everyone in the community who knows the Reverend Brasure to attend the service and reception to follow in the church fellowship hall.

The Reverend Brasure came to the Northville church the Sunday after Easter in April, 1961, from Petoskey. He had been minister of the Petoskey Presbyterian Church for a little more than 10 years.

He had served as a chaplain in World War II and also had been an assistant minister in the First Presbyterian Church of Flint and had served in Saginaw.

He was ordained in May, 1938, at Lake Superior Presbyterian Church in Iron Mountain. Born in Wisconsin in 1912, he was educated at Wheaton (Illinois) College and McCormick Seminary.

As he announced his retirement plans in July, 1979, the minister said he was doing so in order to give the church time to make an orderly transition to a new clergyman. He said one of his greatest satisfactions here had been to encourage joint ecumenical services, which had been held on Good Friday, Thanksgiving and at the Bicentennial.

During his ministry in Northville, the church Christian Education building was constructed in 1964 and the new sanctuary in 1970.

The church also expanded its staff with the Reverend Richard Henderson, now minister of Faith Presbyterian Church in Novi, serving as assistant. Others included the Reverend John Mishler, current assistant pastor.

The Reverend Brasure and his wife Doris now are living on Taft Road.

She is continuing to work as a nurse at St. Mary Hospital. He is actively serving in the Detroit Presbytery as an interim pastor in the Port Huron area.

The Brasures have four children, Neal, living in Bellevue, Nebraska; Wayne in Santa Maria, California; Diane (Mrs. James Edwardson) and Leslie Ann (Mrs. Tom Tuuri), both in Michigan.

Eagan family will return to Brazil

Donald Eagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eagan of 19520 Mann Court, will be returning to his missionary work in north-west Brazil with his wife Janet and three children next Tuesday.

Margaret Eagan reports that the family will be leaving August 17 for Brazil. Mrs. Eagan says their trip back to Brazil is a "miracle."

"A short time ago it seemed impossible because of governmental restrictions and low finances," she notes.

Donald, Janet and their children are staying with the Eagans until Tuesday.

Church plan approved

Plans for a new church and elementary school on the west side of Haggerty Road north of Five Mile received preliminary approval from the township planning commission last week.

Metropolitan Seventh Day Adventist Church representative Thomas Gott told the commission the adjustments to the plans advised by township consultants could be easily accommodated, paving the way for a "conditional" preliminary approval.

Plans showed a large cross-shaped church building, a 104-car parking area with two long driveways from Five Mile, a small school structure and an "ice pond" on the 10.8 acre parcel. There is no sewer service to the area, so septic systems are indicated.

Planning consultant Claude Coates advised that most requirements had been met, except that the state might require five rather than the four handicapped parking spaces indicated, a wall and 20-foot wide greenbelt would be needed on the north side of the parking area, the plan should show trees planted in the parking lot, and that, if a sign is to be erected, it should be shown on the plan.

Engineering consultant Edward McNeely advised that the topographic plan was deficient in detail, but that from the information shown he had concern about drainage. He told Gott the county road commission would have to approve the drainage plan as it relates to routing of stormwater to roadside ditches.

Police chief Kenneth Hardesty and others advised that the church may have to construct a deceleration lane on Haggerty Road to prevent traffic problems. Hardesty noted that the school operation (for church members only) would likely generate high traffic at times and that a nearby Montessori School could add to the problem. He suggested the Montessori site also have a deceleration lane.

Fire chief Robert Toms noted it was not a requirement, but he would "like to see hydrant protection for all schools."

Planners granted preliminary approval on condition the deficiencies are addressed in the second submittal of plans for review.

NAKED FURNITURE

After nearly nine months of hard labor, Doug Boor hopes to have the log cabin he has been building completed for an open house 2-6 p.m. Sunday. The cabin, being assembled at 640 Baseline, will be used as a temporary office for the Mountain Top Tree Company. Next summer the cabin will be relocated for use as a summer cottage. Boor (above right) proudly sits atop his nearly completed cabin. Construction on the two story cabin began in January, but it has been a slow process according to Boor. However, Boor noted he has received a lot of help from various people in getting certain tasks done for the cabin. The cabin has been built with Michigan White Pine trees. Boor said it takes a lot of time to complete the log fitting. He said it takes about one half hour to peel a log, and on a good day he explained he can scribe, cut and fit one log. Once that process is completed, the log is placed in the position above the wall. The notch and groove are traced along the length, and then are removed with a chain saw, ax and chisel until the log fits along the length. Boor demonstrates the use of the mallet and chisel (above left) and the ax (below) in getting the notches and grooves removed. The interior of the building will be furnished in lumber and logs from his tree service operations. Boor learned the art of building a log cabin from the Minnesota Trailbound School of Log Building. SEALED BIDS for the purchase of the above Tax Anticipation Notes will be received by the undersigned at the Office of the Superintendent, 501 West Main Street, Northville, Michigan 48167, until 11:30 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Daylight Time, on the 19th day of August, 1982, at which time and place the bids will be publicly opened and read. Award of the notes will be made by the Board at 7:30 o'clock, p.m., of August 19, 1982.

NOTE DETAILS: INTEREST RATE: PAYING AGENT AND PAYING AGENT FEES; AND DENOMINATION: The notes will be dated September 1, 1982, will mature April 1, 1983, and will bear interest at a rate not exceeding 18% per annum. Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company located in the State of Michigan to be designated by the original purchaser of the notes, which paying agent qualifies as such under the statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government, with paying agent fees, if any, to be paid by the purchaser of the notes. Denomination of the notes to be at the option of the purchaser.

PRIOR REDEMPTION: The notes shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

AWARD OF NOTES: for the purpose of awarding the notes, the interest cost of each bid will be computed on a 360-day year, 30-day month basis by determining, at the rate specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the notes from September 1, 1982, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The notes will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest dollar interest cost to the School District. No proposal for the purchase of less than all the notes or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

SECURITY: The loan is in anticipation of that portion of the OPERATING portion of the School Tax for the fiscal year July 1, 1982 to June 30, 1983, which is due and payable December 1, 1982. The Board of Education has voted and pledged as security for the tax note borrowing to levy taxes for school operating purposes, which taxes shall be due and payable December 1, 1982, in an amount NOT LESS than 200% of the amount of this tax note borrowing as approved by Municipal Finance Commission.

The Board of Education has created a separate depository account, the moneys to be deposited into the fund are specifically earmarked and will be used solely to pay the principal and interest on the notes when due, and has pledged to set aside in said fund, for the payment of principal and interest on the notes, a portion of each dollar of taxes remaining to be collected for the current fiscal year beginning July 1, 1982 which is not less than 125% of the percentage that the principal amount of the notes bears to the amount of taxes to be levied on December 1, 1982 and anticipated to be collected for operating expenses, delinquency in collections being taken into account, until the amount so set aside is sufficient for such payment, and the moneys in said fund shall be used for no other purpose.

The notes will be a General Obligation of the School District, and if tax collections are insufficient to pay the loan when due, the School District has pledged to use any and all other resources available for payment of such loan. The School District does not have the power to levy taxes for the payment of the notes in excess of its constitutional and statutory tax rate limits.

The rights or remedies of noteholders may be affected by bankruptcy laws or other creditor's rights legislation now existing or hereafter enacted.

ADDITIONAL BORROWING: The School District reserves the right to borrow additional moneys to meet operating expenses and payroll during the remainder of the fiscal year 1982/83. Any future borrowing against the December 1, 1982 operating taxes will be secured by a lien equal in standing to the lien herein created against such operating taxes.

GOOD FAITH: A certified or cashier's check in the amount of 2% of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the School District, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the notes. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail. The good faith check of the successful bidder will be immediately cashed and payment for the balance of the purchase price of the notes shall be made at the closing.

LEGAL OPINION: Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Thrun, Maatsch and Nordberg, P.C., attorneys of Lansing, Michigan, which opinion will be furnished without expense to the purchaser prior to the delivery thereof, approving the legality of the notes.

DELIVERY OF NOTES: The School District shall furnish notes ready for execution at its expense. Notes will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at a place located within the STATE OF MICHIGAN to be mutually agreed upon between the purchaser and the School District. The usual closing documents including a certificate that no litigation is pending affecting the issuance of the notes, will be delivered at the time of the delivery of the notes. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of the notes shall be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

THE RIGHT IS RESERVED TO REJECT ANY OR ALL BIDS. ENVELOPES containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for School District Notes".

Our Opinions

Chamber building — source of pride

This Sunday from 2-4 p.m. at a community open house the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce proudly is showing off its new building at 195 South Main. The pride is justified.

The attractive cottage serves as the chamber headquarters and also is an information center for visitors. That the building exists today is a tribute to the contributions of many local merchants and businesses. They have donated materials and time generously.

Most of all, the building should be a satisfaction to Betty Allen, chamber president, who saw the need for such a center and has worked tirelessly for it. She was able to get the right of way from the railroad to construct the building near the Northville well. Plans, materials and labor all were sought and received from chamber members and friends.

Sunday's open house is the culmination of this working together in a worthwhile, civic cause. Residents now can make the day a success by stopping in to see the new headquarters.

Nick's right

Like city council member J. Burton DeRusha, we don't always agree with the thinking of Nick Serkaian. This time, however, we join DeRusha in supporting the need for a handrail along the steep driveway to Allen Terrace senior citizens' center as the drive also is the path for pedestrians.

As DeRusha commented Monday night at city council, "good ideas should be accepted regardless of the source."

Because his mother-in-law has lived at Allen Terrace for more than three years and Serkaian has been a regular visitor, we feel he has witnessed the difficulty he described of senior citizens trying to climb the hill to return to their apartments.

We hope that personalities won't enter into investigating seriously the need for such a handrail and that the council will pursue the request through the Allen Terrace housing commission. As Nick Serkaian pointed out, it is not a big budget item. It could become a community project with individuals donating if it is not in the budget plans of the commission.

Perfect voting day

If early election voting figures yesterday continued until the polls closed at 8 p.m., after our deadline, the election turnout could prove better than expected.

Granted, as city clerk Joan McAllister observed, it was a "perfect election day" weather-wise — sunny and cool. However, voters who did go to the polls should be commended. This is a complex election with redistricting creating new alignments that must be understood. In addition, there were many candidates for some districts, as well as for governor and the new post of Wayne County executive.

Those who exercised their voting privilege and right today have the satisfaction of knowing they tried to help determine who will be on the November ballot. Those who did not, should not criticize. We all should begin now to study statements and stands of those successful candidates whose names will be on the ballot in November.

We're taking vacations for different reasons

Because producing a newspaper every week requires a certain number of inches of copy under all circumstances, vacations take extra cooperation from staffers on duty. This week sports writer John Myers is covering the township police beat as well as the city one, which he normally does.

John is filling in for township reporter Kevin Wilson whose vacation this week was timed to coincide with the birth of his and his wife Toni's first child. Sean Michael arrived last Wednesday at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn weighing seven-and-a-half pounds. All's well and we're offering congratulations.

The end of last week Michele McElmurry and John were taking all calls as I enjoyed an annual Canadian trip to the Shaw Festival at Niagara-on-the-Lake and Toronto.

I'd like to tell a bit about Niagara-on-the-Lake because so many ask, "why do you do the same thing every year?" In addition to being a reunion with a college friend, this mini-vacation is a return to one of the most attractive small towns in Ontario. Located at the tip of the Niagara peninsula, the town which now boasts three summer theater offerings is filled with Federal-design homes dating from the time it was the capital of the region.

Visitors stroll through shops filled with antiques, china and handcrafts along the main street — which has a clock tower in the middle of the street opposite the courthouse. (It tolls the time on the quarter-hour.) The cozy bar in the Prince of Wales Hotel is a popular stopping place for a drink or a buffet lunch. Built in 1864, the hotel has been restored elegantly and is a landmark of the Niagara Peninsula. The pace is easy.

Because there was no room at the Oban Inn when we first "discovered" the town about 1969, we were referred to one of the handsome early homes on Front Street — and have been fortunate enough to stay there ever since. It boasts a fine view of Fort Henry across the river in New York State. Guests sleep in poster or canopy beds in the antique-filled home.

In addition to such offerings as "Pygmalion" and "Camille" at the Festival Theatre, there is "The Desert Song" currently at the tiny royal George Theatre and "Too True To Be Good" at the Court House Theatre. Watching The Red Shadow lead a band of Arabs in "The Desert Song" is a light-hearted way to spend an evening, especially if you're old enough to remember Nelson Eddy.

A new-to-us stop en route to Niagara-on-the-Lake which my friend Kay and I would recommend is Port Dalhousie at St. Catharines. The Mansion Hotel is restored as a restaurant, one of several overlooking the boat moorings. It offers a very reasonable menu — especially considering the advantageous rate of exchange.

Incidentally, I wonder if many have had the experience of exchanging U.S. funds at a bank and finding there is a different, higher rate for traveler's checks? In Niagara-on-the-Lake the rate was 20 percent for a currency exchange and 24.8 for traveler's checks. This also proved to be the case in England last November.

The days last week were sunny and warm. In all, it was a treat before getting back to deadlines. Because we are a weekly, every Tuesday night becomes a "vacation" for me as the paper goes to press about 4:30 p.m. that afternoon. This week, however, that deadline presents a primary problem. It will be, too early for us to report election results. Since there are no local issues, outcomes on candidates will be district and state-wide. We'll report local returns next week.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

Evelyn Brown is one of my favorite people. Mrs. Brown is a teacher in the Walled Lake School District and, I suspect, a darn good one.

One of the reasons she's on my list of favorite people is that I regard her as a darn bright individual who's dedicated to her chosen profession, i.e. educating children.

I also like her because she is not at all reluctant about telling me when she thinks I'm wrong. What generally ensues is a discussion of the issues with Mrs. Brown attempting to show me where my logic has fallen apart.

One of our long-standing disagreements involves the Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) conducted every fall by the State Department of Education. It's the test administered to all fourth, seventh and tenth graders which measures performance on selected math and reading objectives.

Mrs. Brown doesn't like the fact that MEAP results are published in newspapers so the general public can use them to make comparisons between school districts.

Because it's summer and I haven't seen her for a couple of months, I was pleased to receive a letter last week with Mrs. Brown's name in the upper left-hand corner of the envelope.

A friendly correspondence? A cheery greeting? No way. The always-persistent Mrs. Brown was renewing her attack on the publication of MEAP scores by sending me an article written by a Southfield teacher which appeared in the November 26, 1979 edition of The Teacher's Voice. Not coincidentally, the article supported her viewpoint about MEAP scores.

Here's what it said: "Probably the most serious result of these comparisons is that, in an effort to raise scores and produce more favorable results, local districts surrender local control over their priorities. The people who write these tests decide what's important. The continued emphasis on reading and math may now be causing a de-emphasis of science and humanities."

Thanks, Evelyn. I needed that.

Allen Terrace handrail needed

To the Editor:

I am in complete agreement with Mr. N. Nick Serkaian's statement that a handrail is very much needed along the sidewalk leading up to the entrance of Allen Terrace from the corner of High and Elm streets.

Enclosed you will find money order in the amount of $10 made payable to the City of Northville for the High/Elm Street Handrail '82. I commend Mr. Serkaian for his idea. How beautiful it would be if each family in the area donated $1, $5, $10, or however much they could afford toward this project.

If enough money came in, perhaps the project could be done before winter. Most of our Allen Terrace residents that take walks would surely appreciate having a handrail, especially on their way back home.

I hope this worthy project can be done.

Sincerely,

Your Photos SELECTING A FILTER

Filters can improve your pictures. Here are some of the more versatile ones:

The "UV" or haze filter absorbs the ultra violet rays that make scenic or aerial photos take on a bluish tint. The "Skylight" filter also improves image clarity, but has a pink tint. It, too, eliminates haze.

A "polarizing" filter will dramatically improve contrast. At right angles to the sun this filter will make the sky a deeper blue, and clouds that seem hazy will become crisp and billowy. It can also be used to eliminate reflections on water and windows, so that the bottom of the stream, or a person behind a window, can be seen clearly.

All of these filters also offer extra lens protection when left on the camera, though it's advisable to remove the polarizer in low light situations. Many special effect filters are also available, such as star filters, and soft focus filters for portraits.

F-stop carries not only glass filters but also the new square creative filter systems.

Come in and see our selection at 43220 Grand River, Novi, just east of Novi Road, 348-9355.

cluded in the vote tally were 660 absentee ballots.

"I'm still going to be conservative," Heintz remarked. "We're looking at about a 30 percent turnout among the 10-11,000 voters in the township."

However, she noted that voting was going "smoothly" in all of the township's precincts. "They're out there voting," she exclaimed.

Heintz noted that more than 500 township voters had gone to the polls before 11 a.m. with many waiting in line before polls opened at 7 a.m.

Novi property bought

By PHILIP JEROME

The North will rise again.

That, at any rate, is the apparent belief of the developers of the Orchard Hill Place Professional Office Park, who announced last week that they have purchased an additional 81 acres immediately north of their property on the northwest corner of Eight Mile and Haggerty Road.

The additional 81 acres extends north to Nine Mile along the Haggerty Road frontage.

"I guess you could call it confidence in Novi and confidence in Michigan," said Joseph Gerak, spokesman for the Orchard Hill Place Partnership.

"We're talking to a lot of people all the time and think there's enough interest and enough impetus to make it a worthwhile investment at this time."

"We wouldn't have done it otherwise."

Gerak indicated that the property was purchased in order to extend the Orchard Hill Place Office Park, which contains roughly 89 acres. Orchard Hill Place currently is the site of two Fortune 500 companies — Digital Equipment Corporation and Norris Industries, and a regional headquarters for another Fortune 500 company, the Hewlett-Packard Company, is currently under construction.

In addition, Gerak has announced plans to construct a seven-story Hilton Hotel on the original 89-acre site.

The 81 additional acres purchased recently by the Orchard Hill Place Partnership is zoned R-3 (single family) and RM-1 (multiple family).

The Novi City Council and Planning Board have scheduled a joint public hearing for August 23 to consider a request to have the property rezoned to an OSC (office-service-commercial) designation. The original 89-acre site at Eight Mile and Haggerty Road already has the OSC designation.

The hearing will be held in the Novi Public Library at 8 p.m.

Gerak acknowledged that the decision to purchase 81 additional acres was based on confidence in the Michigan economy and the success to date of the Orchard Hill Place Professional Office Park.

"We've had good response to our project so far and there's more coming," he said. Gerak said the property was not acquired for a specific use, but added that "we thought we ought to be prepared on the basis of the interest that has been expressed."

"We sold an 11 acre parcel to Hewlett-Packard and we could not provide another 11 acre parcel on our original 89 acres even if the tenant came along," he said. "That's why we decided to purchase additional acreage."

"There's enough interest in Michigan and enough interest in Orchard Hill Place to make us think it was the proper thing to do. We have some impetus (in attracting quality companies to Orchard Hill Place) right now and wanted to make sure we could handle additional demand."

Gerak also indicated that the timetable still calls for construction of the Novi Hilton to begin this year. Site plans for the Hilton have not yet been submitted, but Gerak maintains there is still plenty of time to obtain site plan approval and break ground during the 1982 construction season.

The groundbreaking for Sheraton Oaks, for example, was held in November of 1980.

"We're still planning to break ground (on the Hilton) this year," he said. "Interest rates are beginning to drop and there's some indication that we may be able to obtain financing at a lower rate than initially anticipated."

For free concerts

Music enthusiasts flock to Twelve Oaks Mall

By PHILIP JEROME

It's early on a Tuesday night at Twelve Oaks Mall and already the people are starting to come in, some of them carrying their own lawn chairs. What's happening? It's another concert in the free Tuesday night concert series sponsored by Twelve Oaks Mall in conjunction with the Detroit Federation of Musicians Trust Fund. "They (Tuesday night concerts) have really been very successful," said Sheila Armstrong, sales promotion director for the regional shopping center. "We get between 1,000 and 1,500 people each week just to hear the concerts. Some of them bring their own lawn chairs and a lot of them end up dancing before the concert is over. "There are certain things I look forward to during the summer in Michigan, and one of them is music," she continued. "The concert series will definitely be continued next year, and I look forward to it continuing for a long, long while. "It's becoming a tradition at Twelve Oaks." The concerts are presented by Tony Russo, a professional conductor, trombonist and violinist as well as a renowned music educator in the Dearborn Public Schools. Russo has performed with the Detroit Concert Band and a wide variety of local dance bands. He also has performed at the Fisher Theater, Pine Knob, Meadowbrook and the Rooster Tail with the Johnny Trudell Band during the 1960s. Armstrong says it's difficult to classify Russo's music because it changes every week. One week he may appear with his concert band and then return the following week with a jazz combo. "The variety appeals to the people," she said. "There's a different program every week and I think people respond to the variety. It's all delightful, relaxing music." Russo's next appearance at Twelve Oaks will be next Tuesday at 6:45 p.m. when he brings in his concert band to present a salute to the Broadway stage. The band will perform selections from Rogers and Hammerstein, George Gershwin, Cole Porter, Eubie Blake and Vincent Youmans as well as favorites by John Philip Sousa. There will be two more concerts following next Tuesday's "Salute to Broadway." On August 24, Russo and his jazz combo will present "Music for a Wedding Reception" and on August 31 Russo will return with his concert band for an "all request" program. The 45-minute concerts are presented in the mall's center court every Tuesday at 6:45 p.m. and are free to the public. "It's a good show," observed Armstrong. "Tony Russo relates very well with the audience and everyone seems to have a good time."

Planners discuss asking board for injunction to halt development

The dispute between township planners and the Little Red Schoolhouse escalated a notch last week as the planning commission discussed asking the board of trustees to file for an injunction against further development at the Eight Mile school site. The recommendation was not taken up by the board at a special meeting Thursday night but may appear on the agenda August 19. Acting on the advice of the township attorney, building official Troy Milligan was prepared to issue a citation against the school for failure to file an adequate site plan prior to location of structures on the property. At issue is an ongoing disagreement regarding the extent of township jurisdiction over school sites. The school and its attorney maintain the state has pre-empted the field, taking virtually all jurisdiction away from local authorities. Township planning and building officials grant that most authority is vested in the state, but that local government maintains jurisdiction over site plans that govern the location and arrangement of buildings and other developments on the parcel.

also referred to a note from fire chief Robert Toms, regarding a proposed school in conjunction with a new Seventh Day Adventist Church, that advocated the location of fire hydrants near all school buildings. The state, Milligan said, does not even look for hydrants when inspecting. McLarty said he believed the schoolhouse was proceeding on the advice of its attorney under the assumption the township has no jurisdiction. He expressed concern that by September both the Little Red Schoolhouse/William Allan Academy complex and the Montessori school might be "fully operating schools, neither of which have approved site plans from this planning commission." As discussion continued, revolving around possible legal avenues available to the commission, several members expressed the idea that they "must take a stand." Board liaison Richard Allen said he did not like "the feeling of the treatment we're getting from these people." He said he personally felt legal action might be necessary, but that he could not speak for the entire board. "From the perspective of other board members, I think they might think about the cost of litigation, if it's worth it for this issue."

While arguing that the township has no authority, the school has submitted plans of the site "in a spirit of cooperation." The commission tabled consideration of the plan in June, saying the documents included too little information for review.

At its special session last Tuesday, the commission also instructed building inspector Troy Milligan not to grant any form of permit to Little Red Schoolhouse or to a Montessori School (being built on Haggetty Road) until the board had taken action. Local building permits are not required for schools, but plumbing, heating and electrical work do require permits.

The commission action was in immediate response to the discovery that the school has taken delivery on yet a third modular classroom structure. Despite a letter from school director Valerie Hambleton indicating that delivery of the structure was supposed to be delayed until after the August planning commission meeting, when site plans will next be reviewed, planners were critical of the news.

"It appears to me," said chairman Kenneth McLarty, "that Mrs. Hambleton has again taken it upon herself to place yet a third module on precisely the site we believe to be the best location for parking."

McLarty asked Milligan if he had any information regarding the new module, to which the building inspector responded that he had had conversation with representatives of the state fire marshal.

"The state has approved the setting of the third building there," he reported. "It's absolutely dumb that they did it, but they did."

Like the planners, Milligan said he thought the site was becoming overdeveloped for its size, restricting accessibility in case of emergency. He Commissioner Bernard Baldwin indicated he believed that in the absence of planning commission review, the Eight Mile property was being improperly used.

"I'm a little bit surprised," he said. "They explained to us they had an agreement with Maybury State Park for recreation needs. That really amounts to them buying a bunch of vehicle permits and cutting them up. I guess the state expects that would be about the equivalent to how many people are out there (using the park as school play area)."

"I feel the property is overbuilt as it is, without the third unit," he said. "There is not adequate recreation space on the grounds. I think a school like this is a fine thing to have in the township. But it shouldn't be on a piece of land so crowded that it's overflowing onto public property, and then, lo and behold, she drops another unit right in the middle of this."

Discussion followed regarding the commission's alternatives, which McLarty described as a "how do we eat this elephant" issue. "Do we ask the attorney to file an injunction on our own, do we recommend the board of trustees do it, and how much authority has Troy got on his own?"

After the decision to recommend the board take the action, Milligan explained that the township may have more control over the third building than it appears.

"The state thinks (the third modular building) is going to be a school, a classroom," Milligan said. "As I recall, she said earlier it would be a storage building for books and things. If that's the case, if it's not a school, if it's to be anything else, we have complete authority."

Local firm glamorizes kitchens, even for Kelly &amp; Co.

By KATHY LAVEY

Dan Mansfield and Gary Hancock at Mansfield Cabinets in Novi have kitchens for everybody — including television's "Kelly and Company."

Mansfield and Hancock, co-owners of the business established by Mansfield's father Clayton, got a frantic visit one July day from the property directors of the popular morning talk show, who said they needed a kitchen set for the next day's program.

Luckily, Mansfield said, he just happened to have a white and brown, modern-style "Omni" kitchen in his barn. They went and got it, made a few alterations and sent it to the studio. An oriental chef made noodles on it the next day over live television.

The property directors liked the Omni set so much they commissioned Mansfield Cabinets to build a permanent kitchen set for "Kelly and Company."

"We were willing to work with them and get what they wanted right away," said Mansfield. "That's what they liked about us."

Besides the occasional "Kelly and Company" set, Mansfield and Hancock supply and install all kinds of kitchen cabinetry. They carry lines of manufactured cabinets in three price ranges: Merrilat brand at the lower end, Schmidt in the middle range and Rutt cabinets for people with more money to spend.

They also custom-design and build entire kitchens "from little to large," says Hancock.

They're currently working on a kitchen in a 10,000 square foot home that will cost about $25,000 to complete, but Mansfield assures that the big spender is not their typical customer.

"We're more in tune to people with a minimum budget," he said. "We've built a lot of kitchens for less than $2,000 and everything between that and $25,000.

"We work closely with our customers in design and keep to their budgets," Mansfield said.

Kitchens are designed the way the customer wants them, not the way Mansfield and Hancock think they should be. Although the pair do make suggestions, they defer to the customer's wishes when designing the kitchen.

"We try to work with their ideas and not make every kitchen one that we like," said Mansfield. "We want it to be what they want."

Getting the design off paper and into the kitchen is an involved process, and last minute revisions are often made to better fit the space available or keep the project under budget.

Special finishing touches personalize many kitchens. An extra spice drawer was added for one couple who cooked often; a special rack was installed for a woman who complained of having to search the fold-out shelves in her Rutt cabinets for bottles of vitamins.

The same care that goes into design is carried out through construction and installation of the cabinets. Top formica is installed last to make a better counter edge; backsplashes are counter-toured to the walls of the kitchen for a perfect fit; workmen stay on the job until the customer is happy.

In fact, Mansfield and Hancock say they often get to know customers well because they see them so much and work with them so closely in designing their kitchens. "Most customers become our friends," said Mansfield. "Five years later, sometimes, we go back and fix things for them."

Having customers with kitchens they like, Mansfield admits, is great for business. Every kitchen built is an advertisement for Mansfield Cabinets, and much of their business comes from word-of-mouth referrals made by happy customers to their friends.

The kitchens that pull customers/friends into Mansfield Cabinets force Mansfield and Hancock to keep standards high to make sure those people stay happy. "We have to give them a real nice job," Mansfield said. "Just because they like us doesn't mean we can go out to their kitchen and slough off."

Business Briefs

BOB STONE, who recently joined the firm of Bruce Roy Realty, Inc., in Northville, made real estate sales in excess of $500,000 during July.

Stone was owner-broker of Realty Center, Inc., in Walled Lake. He sold the firm earlier this year and moved back to the Northville market. He attributes his success to the Bruce Roy office location and the busy traffic pattern of the beautifully-renovated City of Northville.

Stone has been consecutively employed in real estate sales for the past 14 years. Prior to his real estate career, he was owner-operator of his own insurance agency. He is founder and officer of the Follmer-Stone Investment Company, which was started in 1970.

Stone is a graduate of Chillicothe Agricultural College in Missouri. He resides in Northville with his wife, Myrna, who is employed by the Detroit Federal Savings and Loan on Center street.

MOUNTAINTOP TREE COMPANY in Northville will host an open house this Sunday (August 15) from 2-6 p.m.

Mountaintop Tree Company is located at 640 Baseline, next to the Northville Cider Mill.

Featured at the open house will be displays and information on disease control, insect damage, tree maintenance and integrated pest management.

Admission is free and everyone is invited to attend.

DeMattia Company constructs $2.5 million Coca-Cola center

Robert A. DeMattia of Northville, president of the R.A. DeMattia Company, has announced this his firm will begin construction of a $2.5 million distribution center for Coca-Cola in Van Buren Township.

Three familiar corporate names are "putting their money where their mouths are" in expressing confidence in Michigan's economic future, said DeMattia in announcing the project. Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company of America signed the purchase papers for $2.5 million worth of Economic Development Corporation bonds permitting the construction of the Coca-Cola distribution center. R.A. DeMattia is a real estate partner in the deal. Construction will begin next month.

Richard Headlee, president of Alexander

Hamilton Life Insurance Company, which is headquartered in Farmington Hills, said, "This significant investment by Alexander Hamilton Life helps continue jobs in Michigan and will help a respected company like Coca-Cola Bottlers of Detroit relocate into larger facilities."

Coca-Cola Bottlers of Detroit is an independently franchised firm with eight production and distribution facilities in six southeastern Michigan counties. It bottles and distributes Coca-Cola, Dr. Pepper, Squirt and Sunkist brands.

According to Joseph R. Serio, executive vice president of the bottling company, the new facility will be a 91,250 square foot distribution center on a 27-acre industrial site in Van Buren Township between Metropolitan Airport and Willow Run on I-275, a mile north of I-94.

Serio said the Van Buren Township distribution center will replace current distribution facilities of Coca-Cola Bottlers of Detroit in Livonia.

DeMattia said he was impressed and appreciative of the business attitude of the Van Buren Township elected officials.

"We've been putting this package together for months," said DeMattia, "and the township people have been aggressively cooperative in trying to win this distribution facility for Van Buren Township."

The new distribution center will be financed through the sale of $2.5 million Van Buren Township Economic Development Corporation bonds. R.A. DeMattia Company is a general partner in the lease agreement. Coca-Cola Bottlers of Detroit will operate and manage this distribution facility.

Van Buren Township Supervisor Patricia Cullin looks on as Richard Headlee, president of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company, signs purchase papers for $2.5 million worth of Economic Development Corporation bonds permitting construction of a Coca-Cola distribution center. Standing are Robert A. DeMattia (left), president of the R.A. DeMattia Company, and Donald C. Smith, executive vice president of Coca-Cola Bottlers of Detroit.

ROBERT A. DeMATTIA and F. Richard Duwel of Northville, president and vice-president of the R.A. DeMattia Company, announce construction of another facility in Metro-West Industrial Park at Five Mile and Sheldon Road in Plymouth Township.

The R.A. DeMattia Company broke ground August 9 for a 40,000 square foot regional office and distribution center for White and White, Inc., a division of White and White Surgical Supply and Pharmacies headquartered in Grand Rapids. Metro-West Industrial Park was designated under Public Act 198 as an Industrial Development District, enabling White and White, Inc. and any future construction in the park to qualify for tax abatement. Financing for the new facility is through a tax-free Industrial Development Bond issued through the Economic Development Corporation of Wayne County.

White and White, Inc. is presently located in Ann Arbor.

Freedom

Set the people free
Let them be happy and free
Like you and me
Thankful to be alive
Set the people free
Lost at sea
You know that's no way to be Thankful for what they have
Freedom — precious freedom
Oh the price we sometimes pay
Thank you God — for this another day
To live wild and free
Under the sun
Thank you God for my precious
Freedom

Buddy Dennis

Love and Misery

As I walk down this empty street
I find my mind and heart can't seem to meet

A cumbrous cross I can not bear
Coming home and searching to find you not there

I told you forever, and you agreed
But, now, it seem's that you lied

We were such a good pair around our friends
After hours we couldn't share

People said, they just can't believe
I was so blind I couldn't see

I only caught a glint of what was really there
So glad it's over, now I know that you really don't care

They say that love is blind, I thought I knew better
When they were right all the time

Now I'm here head hung low, a quite despair
People said you and me, we were the model pair

So why do we let things get in our way
Why do you let him fill your nights with hurt

Why do you inflict the pain I feel inside
By denying me the right to stand by you

Well now we're apart
You go your way I'll go mine

And no matter where we are or what we do
You'll remember me, and I'll remember you.

Bruce and Pam Clapham

The Birdie

A birdie lingered on my window
I was all alone
Not even a soul not a single
Eating on my phone

I saw the birdie smiled and said
Hello there how's your day
I'm wondering why you sing those things
That's what I want to say

The birdie glanced at me and chirped
Twee-diddle-twundle-blee
He said that meant "I like to sing"
And couldeth not I see

I said I spose you're right I said
Maybe I'm right along
If I could sing I know that I
Would chirp a singly song

He flapped his wings and looked around
To see if sky was clear
He winked and then he flapped away
The darling little dear
So if one day you meet my friend
Sitting on your window
then tell him I said hi to him
For I now have to go

(me-type)

The Old Home Town (Early 1900s)

The old home town was never much
For "putting on the dog",
Like having building codes and such
To raise a hen or hog.

Someone might just build a barn
To run a livery stable
While out in front, put up an inn
With bar and dining table.

They might just add a room or two
For renting in the summers,
Like covered porch with pleasant view
For visitors and drummers.

Across the street could be a store
For selling ice-cream cones and pop,
While over in one corner
A photo portrait shop!

Just outside, right on the lake
There'd be boats for rent by the hour or day;
Folks would come from near and far
To fish or swim on a holiday.

A simple life, we will admit
For kids and older folk as well;
They thrived on it, and so did we—
With generations yet to tell.

Charles E. Hutton

Detour

Leaving the Airport,
we took the wrong turn
in the rain,
left instead of right,
and in a flash of light
were off the super highway
that spread its lava
across the hills.

We took a left to midnight blue macadam
snaking around a ledge,
trees dripping down the gully
on the other side.
Three corkscrew miles
to bottom land
with road washed out,
here, there
by earlier spring rains.
And then the River,
fingering its banks
to rock its River People.

They had not changed in memory.
They were as they had always been,
humanity clinging to the edge
sustained by rain, by sun,
like fish, like corn.
Just one left turn
from the Airport,
that toy upon the hill
lost in a flash of light,
while they go on and on.

Martha Forstrom

9½ (At the Beach)

I watch
the guy's face,
on which,
a young girl
squints,
her bikini tight rope,
past.
His eyes;
a push — buttoned
jackpot,
light up —
who,
exchanges the spectacle.

Margaret O'Brien

Lost Roses

Shameful—
is love lost in the fog of illusion,
in fitful moods and moments of indecision,
in early hours of stubbornness,
and late hours of loneliness.

The touch untouched, the kiss unknissed,
the word unspoken, denies the light that warms—
amounting to hours of shameless passion misplaced over time.

In the darkness, in the frost,
roses cannot bloom and are lost
forever to time.
Shameful—

J.W.H.

The Sun

The sun will rise at the dawn of day.
It has a clock in its special way.
But time, it seems, passes quickly by,
When it sets again, as if, to die.

I Am the Sea

I am the sea
And you are the wind.
The wind ruffles the sea sometimes
But usually it blows
Gently across the miles
Of resting water
Which, in turn, waits
For this precious breath of life.

I am the stars
And you are the sun.
There are many stars
And even though they are beautiful independently,
They need a group about them
To achieve their full potential.
The sun is greater
Than all the stars
Just standing alone.

I am the night
And you are the day.
Day is bright
Cheery and hopeful.
It takes chances, makes decisions
And lives life to the fullest, basking
In the sun and light.
The night is dark
Seemingly desolate and forsaken
But I, like the night
Am calm, silent, and at peace with myself
And my world.
This shall stand up to a thousand eternities.

Lynne E. Harrison

Return to the 60's

Let's return to the sixties with the flower
children and hippies
Peace and love and brotherhood
Seek the good will of all mankind
With transcendental meditation for peace of mind
The Byrds, the Beatles, and acid heads
But who in the world ever thought God was dead?

(make love, not war)

Buddy Dennis

Sailor, Sailor

The deep, dark sea holds my awe,
with thundering white caps and swells.
Surging on, throwing briny spray,
able to compete with a thousand hells.

Lashing at a forlorn ship,
buffeting and pounding it from sight.
Another terrible storm,
that turns day into night.

Flashes of lightening fill the sky,
throwing grotesque shadows all 'round.
Setting the sea in a murderous rage,
crashing and flaring with a deafening sound.

There are times you must respect,
now, sailor, listen to my plea;
Remember the ocean's mighty strength,
and the deed it hath done to me.

Mike Hager

Grandma's Apple Pie

Apple pie and Grandma
Are words you came to know
'Way back when you were a child
A long, long time ago.

Grandma always helped you out
By cooking up a dish
Now for her specialty of old
Every day you wish.

Now Grandma's gone
And you remember
Her comforts with a sigh
But best of every one of them
Is Grandma's apple pie.

Lynne E. Harrison

Death?

Transfixed and alert,
I hear your sound,
it is a whisper in the wind.

Transfixed and aware,
your sound is gone, are you gone?
or has the wind changed direction?

J.W.H.

Sarah Lee

I wasn't ready for you to be
Not enough money to give you what you need
You are my little girl
You are my seed
You are gods gift of eternal life to me
The words I write can't describe
The way I feel for you inside
Your mother couldn't see
What bringing you into this world really meant to me
Our love for each other fell apart
Don't know about her, but I have a broken heart
She couldn't try, she could only cry
Didn't know how to end it
So she ran away
Haven't seen you since that day
She doesn't seem to care
She's stealing the hours you and I should share
In my heart there's a ray of hope
That when we meet again we'll be able to cope
With the feelings of despair
From the times when I was not there
There's no feelings any greater than the feelings
in me
For your my daughter Sarah Lee.

'Big Game' culminates Pee Wee baseball

Mark Ritter rips a hit

Parents and siblings packed the stands at Fish Hatchery Park for the "Big Game" last Thursday. The occasion was the World Series contest between the two Pee Wee baseball teams marking the end of six weeks of hard training.

Second year instructor Pete Wright conducted the three inning contest between the two 14-member teams, ages four to seven. The score? Well, the game supposedly ended in a 17-all tie. "But, we had a tie game last year," one player remarked. "No, no. I think it was 20-19," Wright replied.

Really, the score did not matter. What did was the players' opportunity to show their parents what they had learned during the six-week session.

Each player batted once in each of the three innings. Once all 14 members took a swing at the ball — placed on top of a batting tee — they took the field to show their fielding prowess to their parents.

Examples of this were two more fielders always battling for ground balls, while sometimes a stampede of eight players raced after a ball which bounced into the outfield. Such instances required Wright to yell, "Don't fight for it, now."

All through the game, though, Wright uttered such words of encouragement as "Nice hit. Atta boy, Mike." Or "Keep your eye on the ball (when hitting)." Or "Nice hit. Nice throw." Or "Nice play, Mark."

All of the players enjoyed the game and the six-week program. "I love it," John McLoud said enthusiastically. "I learned to hit and throw."

Dominic Frarassi proudly announced "I learned everything." Also, Molly McLoud, one of seven girls in the program, acknowledged she learned a lot, while Kim Kurzawa noted she improved her baseball skills. Stephanie Downs stuck up for equal rights when she boldly stated she was as good as the boys.

Wright explained the groups practiced hitting and fielding everyday, while learning a different position at each session.

Newcomers invite new residents to summer cook-out

By JEANDAY

While most groups adjourn for the summer, Northville Newcomers' board has been busy planning next year's calendar. The Newcomers also are getting ready for their annual summer party, which this year will have a "Dog & Suds" theme. Hosting the cook-out August 28 will be Bob and Jan Juhasz of Crydon Court.

From 7:30 p.m. until midnight, reports president Sharon Valance, there will be informal, "all-American fun with volleyball, dancing, hot dogs and apple pie." Dress, she adds, is casual and tennis shoes are a must. Reservations at $10 (and a dish to pass) are being taken by Janet Lord, 420-0153. The event is open to new residents who are interested in joining Newcomers as well as to third-year members who will become alumni in the fall, Mrs. Valance explains.

Next Newcomer event will be a fall membership coffee at 7:30 p.m. September 9 at First United Methodist Church.

Donovans depart — Paynes return

Marilyn Donovan, who has been a real estate salesperson for Rizzo Realty, has found a Northville Township home for Thomas Payne, whose promotion to the presidency of the J. L. Hudson Company is bringing the family back to Northville, — she sold the Paynes her own home on East Whipple.

"I didn't think of mine at all at first," she confided, but the secluded, wooded setting of the large ranch home appealed to the Paynes. They are enrolling their two younger children at nearby Our Lady of Victory while an older daughter will be attending Our Lady of Mercy High School.

In the midst of preparations for a garage sale this week, Marilyn Donovan added that, with son Bill and daughter Nancy, she will be moving the end of August to Sunset

Beach, California, just north of Huntington Beach. Her husband Robert has been working in California for some time, and son Michael is scheduled to leave in mid-August for Walnut Creek near San Francisco where he is affiliating with a law firm.

"I've moved many, many times," says Mrs. Donovan, "but this really is the hardest to leave — there are so many good friends." The Donovans are leaving almost exactly nine years after moving here in August, 1973. She has been an active member of the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, founding its horticultural therapy program.

Barbecue for Britishers, supper for bride-elect

Suzy Heinzman, daughter of the David Heinzmans, who is in her senior year as a physical education major at Eastern Michigan University, has been working in the Irish Hills this summer as director of health and training at Sauk Valley Farms sports camps near Brooklyn, Michigan.

Engagement announced

Mr. and Mrs. Curt J. Saurer of 201 South Ely announce the engagement of their daughter Claire Damian to David William Duey of Lakewood, Ohio.

He is the son of former Northville residents Mr. and Mrs. William L. Duey of Brighton.

The bride-elect is a 1973 Northville High School graduate. She received her bachelor of science degree in nursing in 1977 from the University of Michigan, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. She currently is employed as a nurse clinician with the Departments of Neurology and Community Health Nursing at University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Her fiancé also is a 1973 Northville High School graduate and currently is employed as a general manager with Chuck Muer Restaurants at Charley's Crab in Rocky River, Ohio. He soon will be relocated in the Detroit area. An October 16 wedding date has been set.

Her fiancé is a 1977 Franklin High School graduate and will receive a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering in August from Michigan Technological University.

A wedding date is set for September 17 at Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church.

Plymouth Symphony sponsors competition

The Plymouth Symphony Society, is sponsoring a Young Artist Competition for musicians interested in solo performance.

Contestants applying for the competition must be permanent residents of, or have parents who are permanent residents of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

Orchestral and piano contestants must be high school graduates ages 26 or younger as of December 31, 1982. Voice contestants should be 31 or younger as of December 31, 1982.

The prizes include two awards given in memory of Oliver H. Wagner, a former Plymouth Symphony Society board member. The first place winner will receive a $1,000 award, and the second place winner will receive a $500 award. Both winners will perform with the Plymouth Symphony Society February 6, 1983.

The contest is open to musicians in private study or enrolled in a degree program at a college, university or conservatory. The intent of this competition is to encourage young musicians who are not yet "seasoned" solo performers, sponsors explain. This does not necessarily exclude those who have soloed with a symphony orchestra but would eliminate full-time employees of nationally known orchestras or opera companies.

Preliminary auditions will be done by tapes. Live auditions for finalists will be held November 27.

A $20 fee and a tape of the contestant's musical selections should accompany the application. Tapes will be returned. Deadline for applications and tapes is October 8.

For an application and further information contact Mrs. Ralph R. Bozell, 45897 Denise, Plymouth or phone 455-6512.

Why does it cripple young girls?

Scoliosis (curvature of the spine) is a condition of the young, striking the 10-19 age group. We don't know why, but girls in this age group are eight times more likely than boys to contract this disease.

To aid in the fight against crippling scoliosis, we are offering as a public service,

Local coaches notice trend toward two-sport athlete

EDITOR'S NOTE: In a series of articles, sports reporter John Myers will be examining the changes, attitudes and participation in sports of today's high school athlete. In this second segment, local coaches share their views on the subject.

It was not uncommon for most high school athletes of 10 or 15 years ago to be involved in three sports. However, such is not the case with today's athlete as coaches cite various reasons for a shift toward the two-sport player.

Reasons offered by the coaches for the trend toward specializing in two sports, sometimes one, are pressure, time demands and just plain old "burning out."

Although Northville varsity football mentor Dennis Colligan would like athletes to participate in as many sports as possible, he realizes there is a through more experience. You don't compete as much with the kids anymore. You coach them, and not beat them," Fluter offers.

"Who has changed?" Walled Lake Western girls' track coach Sharon Young agrees. "Is it my expectations or is it their attitudes. Maybe it is some of each."

The 13-year coach also recognizes some athletes become more concerned about a job, making money and having a car than with participating in sports. Young emphatically states this is one of her pet peeves.

"They have to have a job, so they don't have time for sports. This is very bad for a couple of reasons. The kid who works for extra money or on a full-time basis I don't think is helping the family for extra money," Young explains.

"They work to get a stereo or make their car a really luxury item. They work for the luxury items. But, when they get out of high school, they are now on their own, and they have to pay rent, buy food, pay utilities and now they don't have as much money as in high school," she adds.

Therefore, she says she tries to tell her athletes that by being in sports they will learn responsibility, discipline and be better suited for the job market.

This quest for a job and money was something Colligan never thought he would run into at Northville. "For some reason, they have to have a job, and they have to have money. I'll bet we get three a year like that," he offers.

However, in those athletes who forego jobs and stay in sports, Colligan has noticed some physical changes.

"I think today's athletes, physically, are more capable to excel than athletes of a few years ago. The athletes of 10...15...20 years ago overcame the lack of facilities, weight training and lack of computer knowledge with guts and desire," he explains. "Hey, that was the thing to do."

A lack of "guts and desire" is what Walled Lake Central girls' volleyball coach Cathie Hirsch sees in today's athlete, who, she believes, has become more individualistic.

"I would say they are not as determined," she offers. "Also, a lot of them are individual oriented and aren't team oriented. They are out for personal goals and satisfaction."

While Northville girls' softball coach Mary Minor could not speak from an overall standpoint, she notes a significant change in her athletes — that they have better softball skills due to participating in a summer recreation program.

Because her athletes benefitted from participating in the summer program, Minor, as do other coaches, believes this is good experience for them.

"I definitely think they (summer programs) are good because it exposes them to the sport," she explains.

"The kid should be exposed to as much training as possible," says Novi girls' tennis coach Leslie MacDonald, "because they take what their doing best and digesting it."

"It's an advantage for us at Western because it allows for good fundamental training and early exposure to sports," Artley adds. "I think the kids want to develop a good mind and body."

While summer programs, and junior high feeder programs, have many benefits, some coaches note a few areas need to be tempered a bit.

"We have to be careful of burnout because kids have a tendency to do that," Colligan offers. "We have to know when to ease off the mandatory situations."

Not only does he believe coaches have to be careful of burnout, but also of the programs becoming more important than the high school varsity program.

One example Colligan cites is the Northville/Novi Colts little league football program. He says there is a Peanut Bowl game at the end of the year, a contest was played in the Silverdome in Pontiac last year, and all of the players' received jackets and sweatshirts.

"When they get into the junior high program, it's kind of a letdown. Also, there is nothing glorious about playing junior varsity football, but it's a stepping stone to the varsity," he notes. "They have certain levels of expectations (developed by summer programs), and they're not going to get them at the junior high level."

"But, I think it's a valuable experience," Colligan adds, "in terms of orientation in the sport and the teaching of techniques."

"Talk about a mini-society," Young comments of programs like little league football. "It's a big deal to them, but it's mostly a big deal to the parents. When they get through with the program, all of the sudden they're on the eighth grade football team which is next to nothing."

"How is that going to affect the kid? That's how I think we lose some kids because they are over-rewarded in little league," she adds. "But, I don't think we lose the really good athletes."

Another area which can affect an athlete's attitude and decision to participate in sports is parents. Coaches realize this and believe most parents are supportive of their offspring.

"I think a majority of them do a good job of watching and supervising their child's activities away from the field. I think they should be given a lot of credit," Fluter says.

While that is the consensus opinion of the coaches, a few note some parents are at the other end of the spectrum.

"I think we need to teach a class to teach parents how to deal with their youngster in sports. If we could put a glass bubble over the field or court, we would have an excellent game," Artley remarks.

"I think parents have to understand the game is the kids," he adds. "I think we need to sit down with parents and tell them to encourage their youngster, talk about things the team did, and talk about positive things the team did. Give constructive criticism as opposed to negative criticism."

"Parents shouldn't be involved in the analysis of team play and the child's play," Young says. "They follow the child through high school and still coach the child. It's a disservice to them (athletes)."

"(The parents) should be interested in the program and the aspect of it," she adds. "They shouldn't be telling the child how to do things. If there is a problem they should talk to the coach, but not with Sally."

Not only do parents influence an athlete, but also a coach's philosophy on winning will have some kind of an effect on the players.

Naturally, all of the coaches expressed a desire to win. But, they also stressed other factors a player should realize are as important to winning.

"We go into every meet with a goal in mind. Say it's to score 10 points if we haven't scored more than five against this team," Hirsch says. "If the team performs to the best of its ability, that is

"It's still a source of entertainment for the community. It will give everyone something to do," Fluter adds.

Sometimes a coach will have an athlete after school for almost six hours, he says, for either practice or a game. In a way, Fluter remarks, it is kind of like a free baby-sitting service

— Dennis Colligan,
NHS football coach

all I can ask. I've cried at times because we've played our best against a better team, but still lost."

"Winning and losing is there. It means everything, and it means nothing," McKenna offers. "I could care less, so long as the athlete gives her best. That's all you can ask for."

"You can learn as many lessons winning as you do losing," Minor adds.

Millage votes also can play a part in shaping an athlete's attitude, especially when threatened sports and extracurricular activities will be cut if the vote does not pass.

No one is more outspoken on the subject than Fluter. "I really don't know why, and I would like to write a column, story, editorial or something on this, people don't support the public schools. It's the best purchase anybody could make," he explains.

for the parents. "On top of that, I might teach them something," he says.

With all of these various influences working on athletes, and the changes they have made, coaches are split on the players' attitude.

"I think it's very positive...very competitive," Colligan says of Northville. "The kids are hard-working for the most part. Sure, you'll have some who think they can go through the motions to be a star, but most realize the importance of conditioning and preseason practice."

Some coaches, though, believe the athlete sometimes is really reflecting the attitude of themselves.

"Kids can reflect the coaches' attitude," McKenna adds. "You can't blame it all on the kids because it's a two-way street."

slight trend away from the three-sport athlete.

"I think the main reason is the great amount of pressure and time commitment of sports for the kids," the fourth-year coach says. "But, I don't think a student should be put in a position to specialize. A 15- or 16-year-old athlete who makes a decision to specialize will lose out on the benefits of playing in more than one sport."

"I still see players in two sports I think mainly because it is extremely difficult for a youngster to be in three sports because it is time consuming to develop themselves into good players for each sport," third year Walled Lake Western girls' basketball coach Roy Artley explains.

Walled Lake Central girls' cross country and track coach Brian McKenna notes the "burnout" factor in athletes. The third-year mentor notes athletes will stick to two sports, or one, to have some time to themselves and lessen the physical and academic demands.

"By specializing in their sport, they will not be whipped both physically and academically," he adds.

The trend at Novi, as boys' basketball coach Ron Fluter says, is to participate in two sports.

"Just about everybody plays two sports or more. (The athlete) will participate in football and basketball. Or basketball and baseball. Or football and baseball," the 10-year mentor explains. "At a bigger school, (specializing in one sport) might be the case."

Coaches' opinions on other changes in athletes, aside from more two-sport players, cover a wide range from who has really changed to better-conditioned athletes.

"I don't know if it so much the changes in the athletes as it is in the coaches. You (coaches) get wiser

Panowicz sets sights on Hershey's national track meet

By JOHN MYERS

This will be the one and only chance for Cindy Panowicz to strut her stuff at the Hershey National Track and Field Championships in Charleston, West Virginia, this weekend.

The meet is open to regional qualifiers nine through 14 years old, thus the 14-year-old Panowicz only will have this one chance to see how good she is in the country in the 400-meter dash.

By winning the 400 dash in the Hershey Michigan State meet July 9 at Michigan State University, Panowicz was selected to the 60-member Great Lakes regional squad to compete at the national meet.

She was one of eight Michigan tracksters named to the eight-state regional team which also includes Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin and Minnesota. All of the regional members received an all-expenses paid trip to Charleston for the national meet.

Her winning time in the state meet was 60.9, but what is most significant about the accomplishment is the fact she was not in top physical shape at the time, according to Northville Recreation track coach Brian Turnbull.

Now, she says her goal is to run about 58.9 at the national meet which would place her in the top three or four runners in the country.

Also, the 400 dash is not really Panowicz's best event as she rates the hurdles and 220-yard dash higher. "The hurdles I probably like the best," she says. "The 220 I also like a lot."

Panowicz narrowly missed winning the 200-meter dash at the state meet, coming in second only because Betty Moore of Detroit ran a faster time in a different heat. Moore also was named to the regional team.

Turnbull thought Panowicz could have won the 220 if the two ran against each other in the same race. Because of the size of the state meet, the runner's heat time was used to determine his/her final placing.

There is one other event Panowicz has excelled in as well — the running long jump. Until this year, she was the Michigan State Youth Fitness meet champion for three years in the running long jump.

In 1981, she won the title with a leap of 14-feet-6 for girls' 12-13 years old. The year before she jumped 14-11¼ for the same age group. And in 1979 she won the title for girls' 10-11 years old. However, this year she was bested by a thinclad from Detroit who jumped 16-feet-3 compared to Panowicz's 15-9 for girls' 14-15 years old.

"Speed and coordination are what make her successful in this event," Turnbull explains.

But, the Hershey national meet only has the standing broad jump which Panowicz placed second in state meet in this event.

Even if she had won the 200 dash and the standing broad jump, Panowicz would have been chosen to participate in one event because that is all one person is allowed to compete in at the national meet.

Thus, Panowicz has been working out seven days a week with Turnbull to get in the best possible shape for the national meet.

Despite all of this track success, Panowicz said she really has not thought about any future goals in the sport. "I'll just wait and see how well I do in high school," she relates.

If her summer rec track success is any indication, one can figure Panowicz to rank among one of the best in girls' track at Northville High School.

Jaycees capture National League crown

Northville Jaycees have clinched the National League title with their victory over St. Paul's Lutheran, while Sheehan's on the Green is close to locking up the American League championship in Northville adult softball action.

With their win over St. Paul's, the Jaycees not only won their 14th straight game but also the league crown. Even if the Jaycees were to lose their four remaining games, neither O'Sheehan's, Sheehan's Little Caesars nor Thermal Sash could grab a share of the title.

The magic number for Sheehan's on the Green is one — as that will be enough to clinch the American League crown. Sheehan's has a two game lead over Winner's Circle Bar and a three and a half game lead over Long Mechanical.

It is a two team race for the Women's League title as Winner's Circle Bar holds a slim one game lead over Getzie's Pub.

Here are this week's results:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

The Jaycees had little trouble in downing St. Paul's Lutheran 13-1 to clinch the league championship. The winners scored four times in the top of the first inning and were never headed.

Carl Lang and Tom Rapson each had big nights for the Jaycees at the plate. Lang belted a homerun, triple and had three runs-batted-in, while Rapson slammed a three-run homer. Paul Baetz added two singles and two RBIs.

St. Paul's was paced by Bob Bannatz's two hits and one RBI, while Ronnie Vince doubled and scored the team's lone run.

St. Paul's, however, came from behind to defeat Phoenix X.C.F. 15-4. Trailing 4-2 in the third, St. Paul's exploded for six runs and never looked back in sealing the triumph.

Wayne Loontjer and Vince each had three hits with Loontjer driving in two runs and Vince three. Bannatz banged two hits and had two RBIs.

Phoenix was led by two hits each from Paul DeLeeuw and Roy Rich. DeLeeuw and Mike Harrington each had one RBI.

Thermal Sash knocked off both O'Sheehan's and Sheehan's Little Caesars to move within a half game of the second-place clubs.

Thermal Sash used an 11-run third inning to power itself past O'Sheehan's 18-13. Mark Swayne and Gary Beason carried the big sticks for the winners. Swayne had two hits and five RBIs, while Beason slammed a homer, single and drove in four runs. John Hale and Greg Murphy each had three hits.

O'Sheehan's was led by Joe Stankis' three-run homer and Bill Binder's three hits. John Maffesoli and Jack Miannecki each belted two hits.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Sheehan's on the Green moved another step closer to the league title with its slim 5-2 victory over Rush. The winners were led by two hits each from Dan Thomas and Gary Reinwand, while Thomas, Tom Folino, Jeff Norton and Bill MacDonald each drove in a run.

Rush was paced by Steve Harris' double and RBI and Tom Mallon's single and RBI. Harris and Mike Nave scored the team's only runs.

Aberdeen's used the homerun ball to down Ductile Chrome Process 9-3. The winners were paced by Jerry Dettler's two homers and five RBIs and Todd Eis' four hits and two RBIs. Joey Cicchelli added a run-scoring double. Ductile was led by three hits from Rick Scott and a run-scoring single from Carl Ingrad. Baber Roofing used a six-run fourth inning to carry itself past the Junkyard Dogs 13-7. The winners were led by Tony Hamp's homer, double, single and three RBIs, Jim Watson's three hits and Joe Watson's two hits and one RBI.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE
Getzie's Pub came up with four runs in the bottom of the fifth to secure a slim 6-5 triumph over One Hour Martinizing and remain on the heels of Winner's Circle for first place. Getzie's was paced by two hits each from Robin McHardy, Kathy Holliman, Karen Marzonie and Beth Flack. Karen Mrowka drove in two runs, while Sharon Filips, Carol Brand, Theresa Meining and Marzonie each knocked in a run. Winner's Circle stayed in first place with a forfeit victory over Arnie Ford.

Michigan State Police Lieutenant Bill Tomczyk (far right) signals the start for (left to right) Steve Paredes and driver Elroy Ellison, Liz Young and Donald Vaningen, and Scott Paredes and Don Bouret at Northville Downs, again the site for the Third Annual "Discover Northville" Rotary Run. Tomczyk will start a larger group of runners, not persons seated in sulkies, for the September 25 race. There is a 10 and five kilometer race along with a one mile run for runners 12-years-old and younger.

Two local players key district wins

Dave Longridge and Mickey Newman were key figures in helping the Westland team win the National Junior Amateur Baseball Federation regional tournament in Plymouth this weekend. Longridge smashed a long homerun to power Westland over Utica 6-0 for the regional championship. Westland posted a 4-1 tournament record. The shortstop's homer was one of four hits, and he had three runs-batted-in during the tournament. Newman, switching between leftfield and firstbase, added five hits during the tournament. The Westland squad, which selected the players for this tournament, now will battle for the national title at the Plymouth Canton/Salem High School diamond starting Thursday. Other teams competing in the tournament aside from Westland and host Canton are Bayside, New York; Atlanta, Georgia; Baltimore, Maryland; and a team from Ohio.

Call Sears for 24-hour emergency installation (except Sundays and holidays) by our Authorized Installers. Or pick up your water heater and install it yourself. Installation extra.

*In accordance with U.S. Dept. of Energy Test Procedures, the operating cost was calculated on the basis of 64.3 gallons per day of hot water usage by a family of 4 with 90° F. temp. rise, with gas rate of 42.6¢ per therm (U.S. government 1981 national average cost figures). Savings were calculated by subtracting the operating cost of our Power Miser™ 8 40-gal. gas model from the cost of operating our standard 40-gal. gas water heaters. Savings may be more or less depending on your hot water usage and local utility rates.
