School board approves lower millage rate

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Despite more than $700,000 in cuts to last year's program and uncertainties in the current budget, the Northville Board of Education Monday night unanimously approved a millage levy of 31.9 mills for the 1982-83 school year.

— one mill less than the maximum authorized millage.

Some had speculated the board would seek the maximum authorized millage of 32.9 mills to compensate for reductions made during the 1981-82 school year. However, due to the district's fund equity — estimated at more than $1 million as of June 30 — the board opted to levy one mill less than the maximum. The one mill reduction amounts to approximately $315,000.

Prior to approving the establishment of next year's millage levy, the board unanimously approved a revised budget of approximately $11 million for the 1982-83 school year.

The budget revision represents an overall decrease of $157,000 over the budget approved at the board's June 29th meeting in taxation hearing. The decrease accounts for expenditure reductions in utilities, building insurance and data processing supplies.

Administrators noted that an additional expenditure amendment will be necessary after the fourth Friday student count in September to allocate for building and teaching supplies and library materials.

The 31.9 mill levy represents only a slight increase over last year's 31.4 mill levy. In comparison to the 1981-82 fiscal year, the total property tax levy will generate eight percent more revenue — five percent due to an increase in property values and three percent due to net additions of new property.

Other major revenue sources include interest income of $410,000, which administrators noted may need to be adjusted downward due to the current interest rate decline, an overhead contribution of $200,000 for the Institution Special Education Program and $70,000 in adult education reimbursements.

In recommending the millage levy to the board, School Superintendent George Bell said he was doing so with "some concerns" about the type of programming being offered.

Citing the cutbacks made after last year's millage election, Bell told the board "some reductions were made which are hurting you now."

"Some programs are not up to the level I'd like them to be," he said. "I think it's very possible I'll be back next year to ask for improvements in instruction."

If such improvements are requested for the 1983-84 program, the board has indicated it may have to levy part or all of this year's one mill reduction.

Board treasurer Jean Hansen, who also chairs the board's finance subcommittee, said that committee has been analyzing "where we would stand with different millage levies."

"We can live with a 31.9 millage rate," Hansen said. However, she pointed out that the approved millage levy will reduce the school district's

Board restricts open policy

The lid will be tightened on Northville High School's open campus policy this fall following the Northville Board of Education's unanimous approval of several procedural changes recommended by the administration.

Without abolishing the concept of the so-called "open campus" policy, the board of education approved modifications including the implementation of student I.D. cards, designated study hall areas, establishment of student hall monitors and the institution of a main office check-in system.

The procedural changes mark the first modifications in the high school's open campus policy in more than a decade.

In presenting the administration's recommendation to the board of education, School Superintendent George Bell said the intent of the proposed modifications was not to "take away" students' rights but to make students more accountable.

"Ninety-seven percent of the students at Northville High School have no problems with the open campus," Bell acknowledged. "Therefore, when we consider open campus we have to consider the rights of the 97 percent of the students."

"I'm not recommending to the board that you throw out the baby with the bath water," he said. "I just think we can make some immediate changes to alleviate the problems."

The open campus policy has been a thorn in the side of the school district for quite some time. Over the years, critics have pointed to the open campus policy as the cause of vandalism, excessive student absences and the high school's image problem.

While administrators have acknowledged that the open campus poses some public relations problems for the high school, many have defended the merits of the policy which allows students greater flexibility in scheduling and more self-responsibility.

Last June, however, the open campus policy came under sharp attack when high school student Chris Dimitroff was beaten in the school hallway by four youths from outside the district.

Attending Monday's board meeting were Chris' parents Boris and Suzanne Dimitroff. Both had approached the Township police seek armed bank robbers

Two men wearing masks robbed a branch of Michigan National Bank at Five Mile and Haggerty in Northville Township Friday morning, according to township police. The two escaped with an undetermined amount of money.

Captain Philip Presnell confirmed that the hold up occurred at 11:36 a.m. last Friday. He is conducting the township investigation. Also involved in the investigation are the FBI and Michigan State Police.

Two white males in their early 20s of medium build, one carrying a shotgun, conducted the robbery, according to police chief Kenneth Hardesty. No shots were fired during the hold up.

Livonia police recovered a white Dodge van used in the robbery one hour later on I-275 near Six Mile. It was turned over to the township force, which relayed the vehicle to state police for further examination. Hardesty said.

Hardesty said he could not confirm witness reports that one suspect stood in the lobby while the other jumped over the tellers' counter and collected money. Investigators said the men did not go into the bank vault. A bank audit was being conducted to determine the amount stolen.

Presnell said part of the investigation includes looking for possible links between the township robbery and recent similar hold ups in Novi and other locations. He indicated no such linkage could be made as of Monday.

Police are withholding other information regarding the case until the investigation is complete.

There is a $1,000 reward posted through the Detroit Clearinghouse Association for information leading to arrest of the bandits. Hardesty said the reward is automatically posted in all bank robbery cases.

Township rolls back taxation levy

Thanks to rollback provisions of the "truth in taxation" law township property owners will pay 3.56 mills tax to finance local government operations with December billings.

The amount is 0.58 mill higher than last year's millage levy, but would be even higher without the rollbacks accepted by the township board of trustees last Thursday.

The board approved a tax levy below the maximum allowable 3.68 level. Essentially, the rollback restricts tax collections for township general operations to the same dollar amount as last year, except for increases due to physical improvements to property and new construction.

Virtually all of the increase in township tax receipts is due to the voter-approved increase of 0.7 mill to be used strictly for police services. The total millage authorized is 3.7 (the 3.68 figure is a result of previously mandated Headlee amendment rollbacks). That amount includes one mill for general operations, 1.5 mills for police services, one-half mill for fire services and the new 0.7 mill levy.

Those amounts were rolled back to .94 general operations, 1.44 police, .48 fire and the full 0.7 mill new levy. All except the single mill for general operations were approved by voters during the past three years. The operating millage is that allocated to the township automatically by state law.

The rollbacks are designed to offset the increase in property valuation assessment. They apply only to the township millage, which comprises roughly five-to-seven percent of the total tax bill. School, county, park and community college taxes make up the rest of the bill and each governing body will set its own millage rate independently of the others.

When a body intends to levy the maximum allowable millage, it must vote to "increase" taxes by accepting the benefits of rising assessments.

Taxing authorities have it within their power to levy millage anywhere from the maximum authorized down to zero.

The township's decision to roll back millages was actually made several months ago, but the final establishment of exact millage rates awaited the out-

City welcomes Belanger's addition plans

Calling a proposal of Belanger, Incorporated, to expand its present Cady Street facilities "a positive development for the city in these difficult economic times," City Manager Steven Walters Monday asked city council to set a public hearing for September 13, its next meeting date, to set up an industrial development district.

As council complied, he explained that the firm which manufactures polishing and buffing wheels could then apply for a tax exemption certificate for the new building.

The planned building would be 40 by 100-feet and be located west of the present facility.

Walters stated that he is particularly pleased with pending expansions of Belanger, Incorporated, at 455 East Cady, as it had been rumored that the firm might move out of the area to expand.

Belanger applied for and received conditional site plan approval from the city planning commission August 17 as it revealed plans to add the new building adjacent to the present operation.

Reporting that he understands Belanger has been interested in a Carolina operation, Walters says he feels it is especially encouraging that the firm has decided to expand here, beginning an operation to manufacture abrasive equipment previously purchased.

The new operation, the firm has told the city, initially will employ four or five people with an additional crew to be added as needed.

In its notification to the city of the expansion plans, Belanger stated that it "has an urgent need for more manufacturing space" and plans to add a new building adjacent to the present one to "house a production line and auxiliary equipment to make abrasive materials for our flap wheel business and meet current customer obligations."

"In 1981 Belanger made tentative plans to set up a new plant in one of the southeastern states. This would supplement our facilities in Northville which service our major automotive accounts and related industries," the firm wrote in its application to the city, adding, "However, this past spring was a time of uncertain economic trends and a general business downturn. We did not feel it was time to begin a large capital spending program or to incur the added expense or relocating a trained work force to another geographical area."

Shortly after this decision was made, the company reported, it gained several new accounts, requiring more production capacity.

The company is explaining the project to the city board of appeals at a special session tonight as it asks for a setback variance. Arrangements also had been made for it to explain the project Tuesday to the Northville Historic District Commission which approves downtown changes.

Walters told council Monday night that the land would not be subject to the tax exemption under Act 198, Public Acts of 1974, but the building and equipment could be exempted from 50 percent of normal taxes for up to 12 years.

Without the expansion, it was pointed out, there would be no increase at all. The council in moving to publish for the hearing the establishment of an industrial development district also instructed that owners of the property in the district (only Belanger) be notified to comply with terms of the act.

NEWS BRIEFS

NEW GENERAL manager of Omnicom of Michigan is L. Elizabeth Seeley, also a vice president of the cable company serving both the city and township. She told city council Monday night she is replacing Peter Newell in the post. He has been promoted to Omnicom's corporate offices.

SUNFLOWERS ARE blooming in profusion this season. Gary Spencer of 717 Grace called last week to record that his family has one "with more than 32 flowers on one stem." Earlier, a neighbor's was pictured with 32 blooms.

ZONING BOARD of Appeals meets at 7:30 p.m. next Monday in Northville Township Hall, 41600 Six Mile Road. The agenda includes further consideration of a petition for a height variance to allow a temporary dome-like structure to be erected over the Oasis Golf Center to permit use during winter months.

PLANNING COMMISSION of Northville Township meets at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in township hall in regular monthly session. The agenda includes review of a new set of site plans for the Little Red Schoolhouse/William Allan Academy parcel on Eight Mile.

Janitorial service awarded city contract

Northville City Council unanimously awarded the contract for city hall janitorial services to the Company of Northville and Ann Arbor, low bidder among nine firms seeking the 12-month contract. The council upon recommendation of City Manager Steven Walters accepted the bid of $740 per month from the firm. It was submitted by Paul N. Hoffmann. The contract covers the city hall, police department and the library.

Unfinished basements draw safety concerns

Michigan's continued housing slump isn't just leaving holes in the pockets of builders. There are a few scattered about in the middle of uncompleted subdivisions as well.

The big holes are left where there were housing starts that never got finished, leaving open basements that raise concerns about safety of children and others.

Two such basements were drawn to the attention of the township board of trustees during its regular monthly session August 20.

One was brought to the board's attention by building inspector Troy Milligan, who asked board permission to have an unfinished basement filled with sand. The basement at lot 144 of the Lakes of Northville subdivision was posted as a condemned and unsafe structure three months ago.

In a letter to the board, Milligan noted that the "basement was poured last summer by Dembs Building Company. It is on a hillside lot with the rear of the basement in the hill. Consequently, the pressure at the rear is great. There has been no cap to help hold the walls, and temporary bracing has been removed (possibly vandalism). There are many large cracks in the back wall, making it unsafe in its present state."

Milligan related that the township has already pumped water out of the basement once at an expense of $100. The cost of filling the basement, he said, could be recovered by placing a tax lien on the property.

There are already several other liens on the property at present, he said. He told the board he recently learned there is a possibility the lot will soon be sold.

He was instructed to retain bids for the cost of filling the basement and report back to the board at its September session. If the lot has not sold by that time, discussion implied, the low bidder would be asked to fill the basement.

Copies of Milligan's letter asking permission to fill the basement were sent to four parties believed to have an interest in the parcel. None had replied prior to the board meeting, he said.

The Whisperwoods Homeowners' Association (WHO) directed a letter to the board asking action at an uncompleted building site in that subdivision. According to Milligan, sale of this lot seems imminent. In addition, it differs from the Lakes of Northville situation in that there is a fence around the open basement, he said.

"It's not a very good fence, it's a snow fence and it hasn't been maintained very well," Milligan said. "I think we could probably convince them (the builder/developers) to put up a better fence."

He said the lot had recently completed the repossession process and only re-entered the market within the month. The board directed Milligan to investigate the possibility of obtaining an improved fence arrangement from the owners and placed the item up for further consideration at the October meeting of the board of trustees.

Milligan explained that the usual reason for construction of a basement followed by a long delay before a home is erected on the site is that a buyer is found who chooses the lot, and the basement is poured. Then the buyer finds it impossible to sell his present home or to obtain a new mortgage (both results of the economic downturn) and backs out of the deal.

Builders are reluctant to complete any more houses "on spec" when sales are so poor, he related, and sometimes are simply unable to raise the money to build on speculation even if they wished to make the investment.

Considering the extent of the economic downturn, and particularly the housing slump, Milligan said the township might be considered lucky in only having four open basements in the entire community.

Paving the way

City interviews legal firms, pays Ogilvie

Emphasizing that he and council member J. Burton DeRusha have not been "screening" attorney applicants but collecting information, Mayor Paul Vernon told city council Monday that he and DeRusha had met with four interested firms and have four more to see.

The discussion followed council action to pay the final legal billings submitted by former city attorney Philip Ogilvie for extra services. His official service was terminated August 3 after the primary election.

The council at earlier sessions had indicated it expects to hire a legal firm rather than a single attorney. Some firms being considered for the vacant post, Vernon and DeRusha reported, have four on the staff while others have as many as 70 or 80. Vernon said that one large firm interviewed was legal counsel for Westland and Plymouth Township.

Vernon, asking permission to cut off interviews after the four pending, said he felt any one of the four firms interviewed "would be an excellent source." He added that he was sure three of the other four also would be.

The fee scales submitted, it was reported to council, ranged from as low as $35 if service was by a legal clerk to $50 to $80 an hour. None was higher, stated Vernon.

Because the litigation with Leon Bonner is continuing in Wayne County Circuit Court since his rejection of the mediation board's recommendation regarding land-locked property, the council indicated it felt some urgency in choosing a legal firm.

Because court suits were not included in the city attorney's monthly charges, the council voted unanimously to pay a bill submitted as the final one by Ogilvie Monday. It was for $1,799 and covered about nine months' activity in connection with suits brought against Northville and other cities in the Metropolitan area by the National Association of the Physically Handicapped.

The association had brought suits in all communities that did not have handicap ordinances.

The city since has passed the handicap ordinance and the courts have dismissed the action against Northville.

At its August 9 meeting the council had voted to pay Ogilvie $990 for services in the Bonner case.

DeRusha noted that the attorney's hourly rate had increased from $70 an hour to $80 in July last year and was informed this was correct. City manager Steven Walters was questioned about the size of the final billing. He said it was brought before council because it was the final one. He noted there had not been many large billings from the city attorney recently, except for the Bonner bill. Usually, he said, the additional billings appear among the bills paid listings which council members receive.

Millage reductions approved by board

come of a petition filed with the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

Arguing that the county had deleted a sale from its market studies (used to set assessments) the township had hoped to reduce property valuations for all homeowners, thereby reducing not only the township portion of taxes but the entire bill.

The tax tribunal rejected the argument, however, stating the local board of review had reduced assessments enough that the small error in the sales study had been offset.

The township board had the options of taking the case to the state court of appeals or of examining other alternatives. The board voted last week, on a motion by Trustee James Armstrong, to withdraw from legal action regarding the assessments.

Pursuing the case any further, Supervisor John MacDonald related, would likely consume more tax dollars for legal fees than taxpayers would recoup in a victory.

Still under consideration is the possibility of asking all homeowners who did not file appeals of their taxes last March to do so individually in December, when the board of review meets in special session.

Township legal advisors have indictated the latter route might be an acceptable way to "correct" the county's error, though there is some risk the county would reject the new appeals or penalize the entire township.

Clerk Susan Heintz noted that "the error will be corrected in future years, we did get some good out of (filing with the tax tribunal). The real problem would have come later on, when the error would be multiplied."

In a related matter, the board heard a report by Treasurer Richard Henningsen that county assessors are making strides toward completely new valuations for all township residential properties.

Henningsen said it appears the assessors will not confine their work to adjustments on subdivisions overall but will more closely approach the ideal of evaluating each residence individually.

He noted the assessors will likely evaluate typical units in such areas as Highland Lakes, then use those valuations as a base for adjusting valuations on all similar units, taking into consideration improvements and deletions as shown in township property records.

Henningsen said individual homeowners will be able to review those files after the assessments are done and prior to hearings by the board of review.

Tax collection charges continued by township

Taxpayers in Northville Township will continue to ante up the one percent collection fee on property tax bills this year, the board of trustees decided last week.

As it has been in the past few taxing seasons, the vote was 6-1 in favor of the collection fee, but the opposition vote previously cast by clerk Susan Heintz instead came from trustee Thomas L.P. Cook.

State law provides for the one percent fee to be paid the governmental agency handling tax collection. It is, theoretically, to offset the costs of acting as the collection agency for other governmental entities, such as local school districts, the county, parks programs and community colleges.

But the law also provides the option of eliminating the fee in communities with a paid treasurer, with the argument being that tax bills already include the costs of the treasurer's job.

Township treasurer Richard Henningsen, who recommended continuation of the one percent fee, will be paid $4,500 this year.

Henningsen recommended continuation of the fee for one year only, with reconsideration to come next summer. He said the revenue will be needed to cover costs of the collection, including the purchase of new computer software to handle the operation.

Heintz, who has long opposed the fee and voted against it the past two years, told the board she'd had a change of heart.

"Since I believe we will be one of the very few communities who roll back their millages this year," she said, "I do support this (fee) this year. We are rolling back our rates yet we still have to act as collection agency for everyone else. As Mr. Henningsen says, we will have to purchase that program and it gets expensive. I think the fee is justified."

Resident Bud Taylor lodged an objection to the board members' reasoning.

"When you bought the computer you said it was to save money, to cut down on overtime and the like," he said. "Now it seems you want to have it both ways, you bought the computer to save money and now you're using it as an excuse to raise revenues."

Board members responded that the program was a one-time cost, but unavoidable. They also noted costs incurred for materials and postage, for example, that would have to be paid from township revenues even though 95 percent of the taxes collected go to other agencies.

Cook made no comment during the discussion of the issue, but opposed the fee when it came to a roll call vote.

School board approves lower millage

present fund equity by about five percent.

The administration is anticipating that the district's fund equity will total approximately $593,000 by June 30, 1983 — about 5.37 percent of the total budget. Bell said the school district auditors have indicated that "five percent of the district's budget is a prudent fund equity for a district this size."

The administration and board of education held off on establishing its millage rate earlier this summer due to uncertainties regarding its fund equity and the outcome of a dispute between Washtenaw and Oakland counties and the State of Michigan.

The Northville Public School District has been battling with the state for more than a year over an Institution Special Education audit. The audit dispute still has not been resolved and has resulted in uncertainties regarding the amount of the district's fund equity.

Despite those uncertainties, however, the district was required to establish a millage levy by September 1 in accordance with truth in taxation provisions.

Board vice president Karen Wilkinson, told the board she supported the lesser mill levy, but warned there were "several unknowns" in regards to this year's program which could ultimately pose fiscal problems for the district.

"I guess I'm the only one who remembers when we returned millage to the electorate," Wilkinson said. "However, I also remember that there can be problems with that because cut-backs can come later."

Acknowledging the necessity for a lower millage in light of the difference in the economic climate of eight or nine years ago, Wilkinson said the board and administration should keep in mind certain factors which could soak up the district's fund equity.

She noted in particular the pending

Novi border dispute, dwindling state aid, cash flow problems, interest rate fluctuations and reserves for future high school plans.

The 1982-83 revised budget reflects a $35,000 increase in construction costs and a $25,000 increase in maintenance and operations. However, the administration noted that these costs most likely will be offset by a $60,000 increase in adult education revenue.

This year's budget also reflects significant capital outlay increases at the elementary, junior and senior high levels due to the purchase of computers for this 1982-83 program.

OCC sets registration for new year

Regular registration for the 1982 Fall semester at Oakland Community College will be held from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. August 30, 31 and September 1 according to an alphabetical schedule.

Classes for the Fall semester officially begin at 8 a.m. September 2.

Students may register at any one of the following OCC campus locations: the Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills (476-9400), the Auburn Hills Campus in Auburn Heights (852-1000), the Highland Lakes Campus in Union Lake (363-7191) and the Southeast/Royal Oak Campus in Royal Oak (542-1290).

Applications for the 1982 Fall semester currently are being accepted. New students should contact an admissions counselor at the campus of their choice for information on admission procedures.

NHS varsity cheerleaders capture best squad award

Northville High School's varsity cheerleaders came home with the first place award for best overall squad at the Michigan Sports School at Michigan State University August 8-13.

The Northville contingent bested 11 other varsity squad for the top award. Members of the squad are captain Sue Bosanko, co-captain Tracy Swope, Jody Folino, Suzanne Buist, Jill Anger, Beth Henningsen, Jean DuSablón, Amy Holland and Lisa Luoma.

had to bring a cheer from home, do a sideline chant, dance routine, camp cheer, tumbling act and three consecutive jumps. The squad also won the most spirited team award, and took second in the pom pon division.

The team also claimed some individual awards based on leadership, a cheer from home and three consecutive jumps. Anger took first, with Bosanko second, Buist and Swope tied for third and Folino fourth. Swope and Folino both won a special spirit award.

The varsity squad is coached by Licia McGuire.

Open campus policy revised at high school board earlier this summer following the assault on their son.

Boris Dimitroff told the board he was satisfied with the approved modifications but said he hoped they would be strictly enforced and that the board would periodically review the changes.

Superintendent Bell told the board that a committee of staff, students, parents and central office administrators will be formed to address the issue of open campus — exploring both positive and negative factors. He said a report will be prepared for the board no later than April 1, 1983.

Attending Monday's board meeting were several high school students including next year's Student Congress President Tom Yanoschik.

"I think most students would agree with a modified open campus policy," Yanoschik told the board. "Nobody feels comfortable with the old policy after last year's incident."

Yanoschik suggested that in addition to modifying the policy within the high school building, the board should also consider "tightening the policy in the parking lot."

Bell told the board and the audience that a parking lot attendant will be on duty next year.

Bell said he also hoped to see more visibility among high school staff members and administrators. "The high school principal should be in the hallways," Bell noted.

Bell said high school faculty members will be inserviced as to the mechanics of the proposal at their opening meeting September 2.

He said the school will be seeking out student volunteers to serve as hall monitors once the new academic year gets under way.

While provisions of the open campus policy met with the full approval of the board of education, some board members questioned whether the district should continue to refer to the policy as an "open campus."

Board secretary Chris Johnson said he "did not like the term 'open campus'" and added that "the board is doing itself a disservice by calling this an open campus."

While some board members concurred with Johnson's observation that the term "open campus" may no longer be appropriate, other board members pointed out that the concept of the open campus policy has not been abolished.

"The keynote to this whole thing is responsibility," board vice president Karen Wilkinson noted. "It is increased responsibility for students and staff. Everybody is sharing in the planning and implementation."

Good Citizens

Northville Michigan State Police Lieutenant William Tomczyk (left) presents Good Citizenship awards to Dennis Sparks and Fara D'Angelo (white jacket). It took state police six years to track down Sparks, of Dearborn, to give him his award. Sparks was cited for helping police nab a purse snatcher in Plymouth in December of 1976. Sparks saw, and pursued, a suspect who stole a purse from a woman. He recovered the purse, and helped police find the suspect at a nearby apartment complex. His identification of the suspect enabled police to make the arrest, in which the suspect admitted to the theft. D'Angelo, of Farmington, helped save the life of trooper Herta Hopton in December of 1981. Hopton had been struck by a passing motorist while involved in a patrol traffic stop incident on I-696 near Orchard Lake Road. D'Angelo stopped her car to assist the trooper. After evaluating the situation, D'Angelo radioed the Northville post from the trooper's car to give the location. She administered first aid which helped prevent serious bleeding and saved valuable time until an ambulance arrived. (Record photo by John Galloway)

Township man arrested

In the township...

Township police arrested an 18-year-old Bradner resident Saturday and charged him with violation of the local firearms ordinance.

According to police reports, the man was discovered walking the paths around Waterford Lake, firing a .36 caliber handgun into the ground.

The handgun was confiscated and a citation for violation of the ordinance, which prohibits discharge of a firearm within township limits, was issued the man. The citation demands a late September appearance before the 35th District Court.

Police seized six suspected marijuana plants found growing on a patio at a Jamestown Circle address August 17.

There have been no formal charges filed as yet. Parts of the suspect plants are being analyzed by the Michigan State Police crime lab to determine if they are, in fact, marijuana.

Police investigated the scene in response to third-party complaints. They found what were described as "five large and one small" plants growing in five buckets and a pot.

Thieves apparently used a bent coathanger to gain access to a Dunswood resident's car, from which $445 worth of goods were stolen August 17, according to police reports.

The owner told police the car was parked and locked in the Dunswood driveway at 11 p.m. August 16 and the items were missing from the interior at 7 a.m. the next day. There was no damage to the vehicle.

Stolen were a $220 portable electric typewriter and a new $235 gasoline-powered grass trimmer.

A nine-year-old Taylor girl suffered minor injuries in a three-car collision at Haggerty and Five Mile roads August 15, township police reports indicate.

Gary Bohn, 20, of Plymouth received a traffic citation for making an improper right turn, instigating the accident. According to the report, Bohn was driving southbound on Haggerty, north of Five Mile, and moved into the left through lane to avoid water on the road (coming from sprinklers at Michigan National Bank). Bohn then attempted a right turn onto Five Mile from the left lane.

He was struck broadside by a southbound pickup truck in the right lane driven by a Taylor man. The pickup spun, striking a car stopped in the left turn lane of eastbound Five Mile as the truck came to a stop.

The injured girl was one of seven children — aged 5-11 — riding in the cargo area of the pickup. There was a total of 10 persons in the truck.

The girl did not require immediate hospital attention and was taken for treatment afterward by family. No other injuries resulted from the accident.

Two rear hubcaps, valued at $140, were reported stolen from a 1978 Chrysler Cordoba parked at roadside August 18 and 19, police reports show.

...In the city

Unknown persons damaged ($879) a 1980 Oldsmobile Delta 88 parked in the Northville Laboratory lot between August 8-13, city police report.

The suspects kicked in the right front fender behind the wheel well, right door, right rear quarter panel and with the use of a sharp object, slashed the vinyl roof above the right rear window and down the side of the roof to the rear of the window, police said.

Dental Dialogue

of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.

WHICH IS WHICH?

Q. How can I tell which tooth is which?

monly known as a wisdom tooth.

A. Adult teeth can be easily identified by their shape. In fact, you can tell the difference by exploring with your tongue. In the front are the incisors. They are wedged shaped and are the cutting teeth. Next are the canines. They are long and pointed at the ends. Back of the canines are the bicusps. The cusp refers to a point on the biting surface. So a bicuspid would have two such points. Last are the tricusps (three points) or molars. And in most cases there is a third molar com-

Tonquish project could cost township

Sometimes it seems Northville Township is haunted by the specter of having roughly one-third of its area owned by state or county government.

That is certainly the case this week as township officials face a new problem caused by non-taxable property — there seems to be no way to assess public improvement costs against the beneficiaries.

At issue is a Wayne County-proposed improvement to the Tonquish Creek drain in order to resolve flooding problems in Canton Township, Plymouth Township, Plymouth and Northville Township. The creek is relied upon to carry away storm water but sometimes cannot do so.

The project, first proposed 10 years ago, would cost an estimated $7.6 million. The communities involved would each be assessed a "fair portion" of the cost of the improvement. In Northville Township's case, that portion is a relatively minuscule 2.34 percent.

The share is small because only a small area of the township lies in the Tonquish flood plain. Normally, the township would assess its portion of the cost against the benefitting landowners. But the benefitting landowners in this case are the State of Michigan (both Phoenix Correctional Institute and a proposed new prison are in the flood plain) and Wayne County (the western portion of the county child development center and the Plymouth home). Both are non-taxable entities.

Which could stick the township with an estimated $180,000 bill it could pay only by spreading the cost throughout the entire township. By comparison, one mill of property tax raises roughly $187,000 this year.

Township supervisor John MacDonald was to file official objection to the assessment at a Tuesday evening public hearing in Plymouth, called specifically to receive comments about the assessment split.

Township attorneys are attempting to get an answer from the state, it was revealed at last week's township board meeting, regarding the assessment methods.

"The question is," consulting engineer Edward McNeely related, "if you don't have the authority to tax the property, can you be assessed the costs?"

Documents prepared for the public hearing indicate the township's argument that the state and county should pick up the tab is not far out of line. Both entities are apportioned shares of the costs already, for the benefit the reduced flooding would presumably confer on state highways and county roads.

Flooding near the Tonquish has been a constant problem, particularly downstream from Northville, and the involved communities requested the county study in 1972. The assessment split is also to be used to cover the costs of that study.

Plymouth Township officials were also expected to lodge objections to the project in the Tuesday hearing. That community's leaders contend the cost of the project is beyond reach, particularly as they are assessed a large share of the total.

Park Gardens building permit rejected

Standing by its resolution that no building permits are to be issued in the Park Gardens subdivision for construction on lots where the county deems septic systems inadequate, the township board of trustees last week instructed building inspector Troy Milligan to reject a permit application. Milligan took the issue to the board after a Park Gardens homeowner applied for a permit to construct additional bedroom and living space. A county test indicated inadequate septic fields on the site.

Since there appeared to be progress toward installing sewers in the area, and the resolution requires rejection of such requests until the subdivision's problem with failing systems is solved, Milligan asked the board how he should handle the application.

Supervisor John MacDonald said he had "no problem" with issuance of a permit in this instance, but soon found he was one of few in the room who felt that way.

First to speak up were Mr. and Mrs. William Basse, residents of the subdivision. "Leave it alone until the sewers are in," said Shirley Basse. "If they've got a bad field, then they shouldn't get a permit."

When Milligan pointed out there were to be no additions to toilet or other water-use facilities, Bill Basse noted that "more room can handle more people, and more people means more load" on the septic system.

Township clerk Susan Heintz said she thought the permit application should be rejected.

"We passed a resolution that says until the problem is solved, there will be no permits in that situation," Heintz said. "I just think we ought to stand by that."

MacDonald said he believed the sewer installation is imminent and that forcing a delay in construction until it is complete could cost the property owner money in the form of increased costs.

Treasurer Richard Henningsen said he would support Heintz's position. "I don't think the cost is going to rise that much between now and the time the sewer goes in," Henningsen said.

Trustee C. James Armstrong also opted for rejection of the permit, saying "The next request we're going to get is for new construction, and if we've already violated our resolution then...?"

Casting an eye at the other board members, MacDonald told Milligan it appeared to be the consensus of the board that the application should be rejected until such time as the septic failure problem has been solved.

Local residents earn military recognition

One Northville resident has been commissioned a lieutenant in the United States Air Force, while another local resident has completed United States Army one station unit training.

David S. Wright has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas.

The lieutenant was selected through competitive examination for attendance at the school. Wright now will go to Williams Air Force Base in Arizona for undergraduate pilot training.

Wright is the son of Hugh D. Wright, 2025 Pauline Court, Ann Arbor, and Mardi M. Wright, 44739 North Hills Drive.

Private Michael J. Hillman has completed one station unit training at the Army Infantry School in Fort Benning, Georgia.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training. The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations.

Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Hillman is the son of Marilyn Bjorge, 16480 Whitehaven.

Henningsen eyes state cut impact

Township treasurer Richard Henningsen is keeping a wary eye on the township budget, he told the board of trustees last week. Governor William Milliken's recent announcement that a cut of some magnitude in state shared revenue payments is likely this September is of particular concern, Henningsen said.

"I've been watching our budget and it's close," he reported. At the end of July, he explained, the township was 33 percent of the way through the fiscal year and had made 33.4 percent of planned expenditures.

The difference, he said, represents an overexpenditure of roughly $6,000. Considering that the budget is "front-loaded" to some degree, Henningsen said those figures might be acceptable. But a greater-than-expected reduction in state shared revenues could cinch the belts even tighter in township hall.

Henningsen said he and business manager David, Leiko would be monitoring the budget and cash flow situation over the next two or three months to see what effects cuts in state aid would produce.

Leiko told the board the payment nominally due in September may not arrive until October, since the state has not only been cutting payments but delaying them in response to its own cash flow problems.

An added problem, Henningsen related, is that Wayne County's fiscal ill health may force it to postpone payment of delinquent property taxes.

SAD project hearings set September 9, 23

Bud Taylor, a Park Gardens resident, assailed the September 23 date as "too long" a period of time to wait. Noting that in earlier discussions the township had pledged to "expedite" the work on the project, he said, "I'd like to see it earlier. I think we're seeing a stall here. I do not consider that (date) expediting the project."

Asked if there were a particular reason for the delay, McNeely said he was to meet with Wayne County Department of Public Works (DPW) officials August 20. "Then I can react to their comments (about the plans) and prepare estimates."

The scope of the Park Gardens project, which will serve more than 160 residences and businesses, and must deal with unique topographic problems, requires intensive review with sewer authorities, he indicated.

McNeely had recommended a date "sometime after September 21" and the board chose September 23 as the date most suitable for attendance by all trustees. Selection of that date also allows further review of the project by the township water and sewer commission than would be possible earlier.

Plans to construct two sewer systems in Northville Township — one relatively small and the other rather large — will be discussed in two September public hearings.

The board of trustees scheduled a public hearing September 9 for consideration of comment regarding plans for a sewer line to serve a handful of homes on Edenderry Drive. If approved, the Edenderry project will be paid for by a special assessment district levying the cost against benefitting homeowners. It has been preliminarily assigned SAD number 11.

The next SAD, tentatively numbered 12, would then be for the project more commonly known as the Park Gardens sewer. A public hearing for SAD 12 was set for September 23, a date that drew criticism from affected homeowners in the audience.

Both dates were set according to recommendations from township consulting engineer Edward McNeely. The engineer said his recommendations were based on time needed to prepare detailed plans and cost estimates required by law to be available prior to the hearing.

Insurance consultant hired

Following a comprehensive review of all city insurance policies, Northville City Council was told by consultant Wade R. Waterman that the city generally is "in pretty good shape" with its coverages but has voids in some newer areas which have proved expensive to other Michigan communities.

Waterman, who is president of Governmental Risk Managers, Incorporated, of Redford pointed out there were some areas, such as insurance for valuable papers and records, that were not covered.

At their August 9 meeting the council members discussed such items as liability for "hot pursuit" by police and responses by the fire department. Council member Paul Folino said he would like to have an expert set up bids and specifications when the city next renews its policies.

Council members J. Burton DeRusha agreed, asking Waterman, if specifications were available by mid-September, if that would allow sufficient time for an analysis by January 1, 1983.

Waterman said it would and agreed to have a proposed contract for inurance consulting services at Monday's meeting.

Waterman presented a proposal Monday which was approved unanimously to prepare bid specifications, select agents to furnish bids and answer questions on the bids, review bids and make recommendations.

Waterman's charge of $300 for the service will include meetings with the council on the specifications.

The agreement noted that Waterman would not receive any commission on the contracts nor would he "participate in any placement activity" unless otherwise authorized.

In his detailed report August 9, Waterman warned that, based on experiences of other area cities, there is a "tremendous increase in litigation and potential for a major loss." He explained that this is the reason for many communities going to risk-management types of policies.

Waterman agreed with Mayor Paul Vernon's assessment following the hour-long review that the city "is reasonably well covered" but noted the high court awards made against such cities as Dearborn Heights and Troy.

Our Opinions

Chamber could aid in date keeping

As Northville Community Chamber of Commerce hosted an open house at its recently-completed building on Northville Road beside the well on August 15, it gained a new visibility which may extend the benefits it offers far beyond its membership.

With increased awareness by community organizations, it could become a clearing house to avoid conflicts of dates of major events — not only in Northville but in the west suburban area. Executive director Kay Keegan agrees that it does not help member businesses in the community to have the annual sidewalk sale held on the same day as Plymouth's — nor is it good for attendance to have Northville's folk and bluegrass festival the same weekend as Plymouth's or Novi's.

The Northville Chamber is a member of the West Suburban Area Council of Chambers which lists as one of its goals the fostering of communications between member chambers. Its initial goal has been to promote chamber unity in the West Suburban Metropolitan Area. With faithful attendance by member chambers, this is on the way.

Both Northville President Betty Allen and Keegan have been representing the local chamber. Other participating chambers are Belleville, Canton, Farmington, Livonia, Novi, Plymouth, Reford Township, Romulus, Wayne and Westland. It seems to us that, if local groups registered community events with their own chambers, they could be checked on an area calendar to see that they did not overlap.

This should insure greater attendance at these events and could even result in better promotion of them areawide. The resident who bemoaned lack of time to attend Plymouth's sidewalk sale July 31 after catching Northville's would not have had to make a choice had they been held on different Saturdays.

Kay Keegan indicates she's very willing to pass on information about our community events. The next step — the one which will make such a calendar listing effective — is up to sponsors of local activities. She has to be informed of such plans so that the information could be passed on. It seems to us this is worth trying.

The chamber number is 349-7640.

Yesterday's kids bought her candy

The obituary in last week's Record of H. Aline Hunt, who died August 13 at the age of 84, brought back memories of penny candy, all-day suckers, bubble gum and baseball cards to many who grew up in Northville. For years Mrs. Hunt waited on droves of youngsters who came into the store connected to her house at old Baseline and Center to buy treats.

Philip Jerome, editor of the Novi-Walled Lake News, remembers buying the gum that offered baseball cards from Mrs. Hunt 25 years ago. Since he kept his collection which contains some now-valuable cards, he recalled the store and its owner with special appreciation.

"You could buy penny candy there that you wouldn't find anywhere else," adds Jan Murany, mother of now-grown youngsters who considered "going to Mrs. Hunt's" a special treat when they were little. She mentions that Mrs. Hunt stocked skinny red and black licorice along with "all shapes and sizes of gum" that appealed especially to very young customers with pennies in their hands. Older students came in for pop. Mrs. Hunt declared most were "good kids" but was concerned that her store not become a hang-out.

A Northville native, Mrs. Hunt was the daughter of Robert and Catherine McCully. Her husband Carl died in 1975. By that time the store had closed — and high school students were driving down the hill headed for fast food stops.

Mrs. Hunt had been living in Whitehall Convalescent Center in Novi. She died without survivors a week before her 85th birthday. Her property had been purchased by Carol Geake, wife of State Senator R. Robert Geake, in 1976. He related Monday that in one of the boxes left in the home there was a Rotary notice considering Russell Amerman for membership. Mrs. Hunt's father had been a charter member of the Northville Rotary Club.

Donald Severance, who was Mrs. Hunt's attorney, remembers that his client had the reputation for making youngsters coming to her store "toe the mark" — there was to be no fooling around. They respected this, and many are the grown ups reminiscing now about the penny candy lady.

Aaaachhhooooooooo!

While this past weekend's cool, autumn-like weather may have been a letdown for the sun gods and beach freaks, it was a welcome change for those of us who detest hot, humid Michigan summers. As strange as it may sound, I tend to hibernate during the months of July and August. Just the thought of exposing my albino complexion among the bevy of bronzed beachcombers is enough to make me run for cover. My permanently frizzy hair is another matter.

Awakening Saturday to a crisp, cool 62-degree morning, I relished in the thought of hauling my wool sweaters out of the trunk and putting the afghan back on my bed. However, my hopes of enjoying the weekend were dashed only moments after jumping out from underneath the covers.

It first arrived with a sniffle. That's right, just a little tickle in the old nose. However, as the morning progressed, so did the sneezing, teary eyes and chest pains. By that evening I had gone through half a box of Kleenex. My nose looked as if it had been in a deep freeze.

For the remainder of the weekend I kept my face in a two-ply tissue, coming up for air only when I began turning a gruesome shade of blue. My contact lenses felt like tiddly winks in my swollen, red and watery eyes and my voice sounded like a long-distance operator from Indonesia.

Like millions of other Americans, I suffer from summertime's best known killjoy — allergies. This ailment, which still remains a mystery to many medical experts, is what keeps most people sniffing a good part of the year. It also keeps the drug manufacturers and paper products industries in business — not to mention the medical profession.

For those of us with a real aversion to ragweed, pollen and seasonal changes, medical experts are predicting that the next six weeks could do us in for life. In other words, it's time for everyone with a red nose to head to the Yukon.

Allergy sufferers are easily identifiable to the general populace. The wads of Kleenex bulging from our pockets and poking out of our purses set us apart from the rest of the crowd. We always look in a state of permanent distress with our swollen and teary eyes. We frequently are found in the decongestant and antihistamine section of the drug store — buying any product which has RELIEF scrawled in big letters across the front of the box.

The dilemma for many allergy sufferers is they have a hard time convincing those who don't sniffle and sneeze that allergies really are miserable. I'm constantly hearing remarks like, "Oh, it's all in your head" (You can say that again), or, "Just don't think about it and it will go away."

Having suffered from this malady for most of my life I can assure any skeptic that my red nose, scratchy throat and stinging eyes are not a figment of my imagination. However, I confess that I'm not always sure what sets it off. It could be the ragweed and the pollen, possibly the change in season. Maybe it's the cat. Could even be the thought of cleaning my room.

Speaking from experience, about the only redeeming quality I can find in spending June through October in a constant state of sniffles is that it serves as a great excuse for not having to mow the lawn, trim the yard, pick the weeds, clean my room...

Penny saved, Penny blown

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

I caught just a glimpse of the frightened mini-puff of yellow and white fur on the porch before it disappeared into the bushes.

"Are you sure it was a kitten?" she asked. "A real little one?"

I assured her that I know a kitten when I see one, even if it's only for a fraction of a second.

In retrospect, it was a mistake to tell her what I had seen. I should have known the lady I live with considers herself the patron saint of cats. She's the type of lady who someday will be considered eccentric for providing a home to millions of cats.

And soooooo, concerned about its ability to fend for itself in this hard, cruel world, she decided to set out some food for that wisp of a kitten. Which, in retrospect, was also a mistake.

Several days later, noting that one little kitten was eating a lot of food, she set up a blind and discovered shortly thereafter that what I had thought was one kitten was really two kittens — Bonnie and Clyde, she called them. "That's why they're eating so much food," she explained, actually pleased that she was now playing Mother Waddles to more than one cat.

But still the food bills mounted and so she returned to her blind recently to discover how two little critters were managing to eat so much food. Her findings were unnerving.

"I know why our cat food bills are going up so fast," she informed me one day. "We're not feeding two kittens anymore. We're now feeding Bonnie and Clyde, several neighborhood cats, a raccoon and a funny-looking black cat which has a big white stripe down its back — it may be a skunk."

I'm quite sure that God has a place in Heaven for people who are kind to animals and I'm also quite certain that one of those places is reserved for my lovely wife.

But, if I ever happen to stumble home around the time that funny-looking black cat with the big white stripe down its back is eating its share of my hard-earned cat food, I'm quite certain that there will be a vacancy in the place that previously had been reserved in my name.

Parent says rec department not fair to Karate Club

To the Editor:
As a parent of four minor children in Karate Club in Northville, I am extremely upset with the article that appeared in The Northville Record, Wednesday, August 18, page 2-A captioned, "Kricitzs, commission slate meeting."

Quote, "According to Kricitzs, the club owes the department more than $1,100 in back rent." The rent has been paid to date. However, a large portion of this money said due is as a result of our communication regarding this year's tournament held at the recreation center. Last year, the rec. center charged the association $240 for the day. This was for the use of the gym. This year, Mr. Kricitzs told the club there would be a slight increase. The club sent him $240 plus 20 percent additional for the use of the gym. Approximately one month later, the club got a bill for almost $700 for the use of the gym. I would consider this more than a slight increase.

It is also my understanding that the Karate Club pays approximately $300 per month for the rec. center. This covers Monday and Wednesday use from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. The real dispute is in the additional hours. We are charged $15 per hour for use of the gym. Mr. Kricitzs says we owe him for additional hours. We have our records. Mr. Kricitzs did not have his at the commission meeting.

It has been suggested by the Karate Club that we be charged a flat fee. Mr. Kricitzs will not talk about this proposal.

As far as the letters sent to Mr. White regarding back rent, I understand that these were form letters asking that the rent be paid on time. In this hard economic time, most landlords are glad to get paid even if a few days late.

My real objection to this article is that according to Kricitzs the Karate Club members are disrespectful, destructive, unsupervised and abusive to staff members.

My first question is, what staff members? As far as I can see...Just recently the rec. center has a young person on the premises in the evening. However, for the most part, there are no rec. staff people at the building during our rented time. In fact, the Karate people have their own keys to the building and open and lock the premises when leaving. The rec. center, recently, had to chain and lock the doors to keep us from using the building. I don't think I would give undesirables a key to my building if they were all that bad.

My family has been with the Karate Club at least four years. These people are extremely well behaved. When class is in session, no one leaves class. The young people are well mannered and respectful and helpful. I have had the entire club to my home on several occasions.

The article refers to parties held with alcoholic beverages without the permission of the department. And the way that the article is written a reader could assume that is a regular Monday and Wednesday event. The fact is, we have promotions approximately every six weeks. Yes, we have beer for adults, not minors. Yes, the rec. center knows because we give them a $50 deposit for the time used. And we pay for the time used. In fact, in the beginning, Mr. Kricitzs would frequent these promotions.

We have had, until recently, a good relationship with the rec. department. Perhaps too good. Because there are very few contracts and written agreements. This is not a good business arrangement for the Karate Club, the rec. center and for the community.

If the rec. center no longer wishes to serve the community by having the Karate Club as a part of the rec. department, they should end the relationship as a gentleman would, not as five-year-olds in a kindergarten class.

Just a note; my family was at the rec. department when the gym floor was not usable. We as a family, contributed to the floor repair as did anyone else that we could persuade.

Perhaps, as a community member, I would like to see better records kept, more contracts, less verbal agreements and more consideration toward dedicated people who are truly community minded people. This should be the rec. center motto.

A truly concerned parent,

Explains motivation for handrail project

To the Editor:

A few weeks ago I had occasion to visit Allen Terrace and was brought in to conversation with some of the residents.

After the usual "Hi, how are you? Nice day isn't it?" type of verbiage, one of the residents said... and this is an exact quote... "It's too nice of a day to stay here all day long. I only wish the walk back here would be easier — it's tough walking back up the hill. If I had a car, I'd be in town right now."

She and a few others expressed their feelings about the need of a handrail along the walk to the terrace, and I felt I would do something worthwhile for those who find it difficult walking back to their apartments.

I must add at this point that my wife's mother was NOT one of the ladies either on the veranda or in the lobby with whom I spoke. She was in her apartment on the fourth floor engrossed in her "soaps" and unaware that I was getting involved. And she didn't know of my concern until after I wrote to you enclosing a check for $25 as a gift to the city.

I am fully aware of protocol — procedure — and going through proper channels or chain of command. But I felt by writing to you I might get your support and this community's involvement in a worthy cause.

I thank you for your support and your suggestion that I attend the city council meeting and address my concern verbally. Following that meeting I read your editorial column, "Nick's right." Along with me I knew there were some Terrace residents happy to read that.

The power of the press and especially The Northville Record is obvious to all of us. That's why I came to you first. Secondly, the housing commission answers to the city council, and I attended that meeting to get the council members' support.

And thirdly, my hope was that our community would back us with contributions and donations to erect a handrail for the benefit of those residents who walk and don't own automobiles.

But after reading your paper last week and reading comments from some of the residents and administrators of the terrace, you'd think I was a criminal on a campaign to steal false teeth, hearing aids, or Ex-lax from the elderly.

1. I did not infer that Allen Terrace is an old-age home or nursing/convalescent center.

2. I'm not concerned with those residents (over 60 percent) who own automobiles. They don't need a handrail.

3. Nobody hired me to be the "voice" of anybody.

4. I didn't ask the city or housing commission to pay the cost of the proposed handrail. I asked for community support — in the giving of a gift — and was willing to be the first to donate, and most importantly —

5. Those few residents who don't own automobiles would enjoy the aid and safety that a handrail provides during summer and WINTER walks back and forth to town.

I admire the elderly who refuse to admit getting old even though they live in apartments thought out and designed by others for the specific safety and comfort of senior citizens.

As for my $25 donation, I'm going to ask the city to buy fertilizer with it and those who suggested a sky-lift or cable car, instead of a handrail, can spread it over the newly planted flowers and shrubs as they drive these new vehicles to and fro over the grounds of Allen Terrace.

Yours truly,
N. Nick Serkaian

Objects to new speeds along Haggerty Road

To the Editor:

I have been a resident of Haggerty Road between Five and Six Mile roads both before and after curbs and paving. I am sincere when I say that as rough and "chuck hole" riddled it was before paving, it was more acceptable than the racetrack it has become since it was paved.

I was out of town from August 5 through August 11. During my drive home on Haggerty South bound between Seven and Six Mile roads, I suddenly noticed that the speed limit signs had been increased to 45 miles per hour. The next morning I noticed that the speed limit had also been increased between Seven and Eight Mile roads. After second thought, I accepted in my mind that this was probably reasonable considering that between Six and Eight Mile roads was mostly vacant property, a state institution and a college campus.

As I stated before, since its paving, Haggerty, between Five and Six Mile has become a virtual racetrack. With a posted speed of 40 miles per hour, I am sure statistics would show that the average speed of cars has been 50. This portion of Haggerty is 90 percent residential, with no sidewalks.

During the school year, a large majority of cars do not even stop for a school bus picking up children for school. We all but applaud and shake the hand of the officer every time we witnessed a policeman stop and ticket a speeder. Now, apparently, it has become too much "trouble" or too embarrassing to have to catch so many people breaking the law; so they have taken the easy way out.

On Tuesday, August 17, my wife called me and said the road commission had just been through and the speed limit increased to 45 miles per hour on our portion of Haggerty.

What they should have done was post the speed limit at 25 miles per hour and maybe cars would limit their speed to 40. This, to me, is an example of how twisted our so-called judicial system has become. Instead of increasing the harshness of punishment to make people respect the law, we have reduced the effectiveness of prosecution in the mistaken pursuit of the preservation of the lawbreaker's "constitutional civil rights," irrespective of his or her total disregard for the rules, regulations and responsibilities set forth by that same constitution. A clear case of your classic double standard.

It is this same warped way of thinking that can support such a notion that inmates should be released into society early because they might have to be housed four to a cell; again, because respect for the law and fear of prosecution is not strong enough to keep people from committing crimes.

Sincerely,
John J. Auchincloss

Interested bridge enthusiasts who have not yet signed up to participate in the annual Northville Mothers' Club marathon tournament are asked to call Sarah Deal, 348-1129, or her assistant, Nancy May, 349-0049, as soon as possible.

Play begins in September and continues monthly through May in the tournament which is a benefit for Northville Public Schools. Club member Joy

Holloway explains that proceeds are earmarked for projects in the schools each year.

Newcomers to the community especially are invited to participate in the marathon as it is a "good way to get acquainted," she encourages.

Both couples and teams of women are invited to sign up. Schedules now are being prepared for both daytime and evening groups.

Midwest Bank Note move okayed by township board

Midwest Bank Note Company will move out of Northville Township into new headquarters on Five Mile in Plymouth Township, now that it has Northville's permission.

The township board of trustees granted its approval of the move, which will not cut into local tax receipts nor cost anyone a job, at its regular session August 19.

Board approval was necessary under Michigan Public Act 198 of 1974 since the firm is seeking a property tax abatement in Plymouth Township for construction of new facilities there. Abatement is not allowed without the consent of the governing body in the community being vacated.

George Zinn, an attorney representing Midwest Bank Note owners Mr. and Mrs. Nat Whiteside, said the move is "not what can be classified as a voluntary move."

The company, he explained, rents its present quarters at 16580 Northville

Road and those facilities will soon no longer suit the firm's needs. Expansion space on which Midwest had an option has been rented to another tenant, he said, and the new tenant may need Midwest's space in the future.

Zinn said the Whitesides plan to build their own quarters at the Five Mile road location. All 21 full-time and part-time jobs involved will be retained, he said. The Plymouth Township site was chosen because it retains accessibility for those employees, eight of whom are from the Northville-Northville Township community, four from Plymouth and the rest from other locales.

Since the company's present quarters are rented and will not be vacated, Zinn added, Northville Township does not stand to lose any tax revenue as a result of the move.

Trustees were quick to grant approval after making sure there was no tax loss to the community involved.

Andrews reappointed at Schoolcraft

Betty Andrews, assistant dean of continuing education at Schoolcraft College, has been reappointed as the college's representative for the National Identification Program for the Advancement of Women in Higher Education Administration.

Reappointed to the position she has held since 1977 by President Richard W. McDowell, Dean Andrews' duties include serving as liaison between the Office of Women in Higher Education of the American Council on Education and women administrators on Schoolcraft's campus, keeping them informed about programs for which they are eligible and encouraging senior-level women and men to serve as mentors and sponsors to women in middle-level administrative positions.

The goals of the organization stress the need for competent women administrators to be more than minimally involved in policy determination through state and national networks.

Gotta have art?

Milford store focuses on Michigan artists

Trickling water follows a circular line of leaves in this copper-enameled metal sculpture

Main Street Art, a small shop located at 432 Main Street in the village of Milford, is benefiting from the oldest form of advertising — "word of mouth."

Although Marion Betts opened her shop less than two months ago, she already has established a growing number of enthusiastic customers.

"I've always wanted to have a shop that offered something unique. I also want things priced so that anyone can come in and buy," Marion related.

Pottery, tiles, honeycomb beeswax candles, dried flowers — the shop unfolds its treasures like a peddler's pack of surprises.

All the items at Main Street Art have been created by Michigan artists. There is probably no other business quite like it.

Most gift and specialty shops offer a combination of manufactured items along with art and handmade crafts.

But Marion, an artist herself, saw a special need for an artists' market. She has been organizing and promoting major mall shows which feature many of the Michigan artists who now exhibit in her shop.

"I was invited to put together a four-day show for the Livonia Mall several years ago and it's just snowballed from there," Marion is now responsible for shows at Tel-12, Pontiac, Livonia, Westland and several outstate malls.

Her work involves all the details of running nine shows a year. All are selective, juried shows which give artists and craftsmen good exposure and a chance to sell their work.

From those contacts and the large number of Michigan artists she knows, Marion found herself thinking of an all-Michigan shop — a place for the best of all the work she had discovered.

Other than summer fairs, street sales and outdoor art affairs, there aren't too many year-round outlets for Michigan artists and craftsmen, she knew from first-hand experience.

This year, within a few weeks in June, all the pieces fell together. The result is Main Street Art, offering the best of Michigan art and craft work at affordable prices.

Wooden toys range from $1.50 to $8-10. Bird feeding "stations" crafted by Sharon and Roy Rucker of Wixom come in at least three styles, ranging from $8.95 to $17.49.

Crafted wooden wine racks, paintings, wall hangings, color photography and crystal-centered geodes fill Marion's shop. A fantastic, six-foot "Jack in the Beanstalk" sculpture fascinates visitors, regardless of age.

At the back of her shop, Marion has room for a studio where she offers classes in oil painting techniques.

"It takes time for a community or the area to know we're here," Marion commented. "It would be nice if this were one of those fairy-tale success stories, but in reality, success takes time."

But already, delighted customers who have discovered Main Street Art and its unique collection of work are busy spreading the word.

THOMAS DAVIS

DAVID WILSON

THOMAS J. DAVIS, staff engineer for engine development and emissions at Pontiac Motor Division, has been selected by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as an Alfred P. Sloan Fellow.

Davis will follow a 12-month study program which leads to a Master of Science degree in management at MIT's Alfred P. Sloan School of Management.

He began his Pontiac career in 1964 as a General Motors Institute student-in-training. Following his graduation in 1970, he was named a project engineer. He served in a variety of engineering positions before being named a staff engineer in 1980.

Davis resides in Milford with his wife and two children.

DAVID T. WILSON of Northville has been appointed by the Symons Corporation of Des Plaines, Illinois, to the position of account manager in the Detroit district. He will be responsible for the sales and service of all company products and systems in the western portion of the state.

A leading designer and manufacturer of concrete forming systems and accessories for commercial, industrial and residential construction, Symons Corporation has more than 80 years' experience in serving the construction industry.

Prior to his appointment Wilson had spent more than 18 months in the engineering department in the Detroit district. He currently is continuing his education on a part-time basis, working toward a degree in business management.

LINDA GAFFKA

DIANNE GRISWOLD

LINDA GAFFKA has joined the staff at David's Head Start Salon at 125 West Lake in South Lyon. A young woman with progressive ideas for her clientele, Gaffka has attended advanced training classes in haircutting and coloring in Detroit and the surrounding area.

A longtime area resident, Gaffka is a South Lyon High School graduate.

DIANNE GRISWOLD of Northville has been cited by Princeton Industries for having achieved an outstanding sales record by exceeding 70,000 product unit sales during the past year. Princeton Industries is the nation's leading fund-raising company.

Griswold received the award at a special presentation which concluded the firm's National Sales Seminar in Evansville, Indiana. A promotional consultant with Princeton Industries, she was among 28 of the company's approximately 200 sales people to receive this award.

Princeton Industries, a manufacturing firm, markets its products exclusively through fund-raising activities for school groups, athletic leagues and other non-profit organizations. These groups realized over $23 million through the company's programs during the past year.

KD KREATIONS, which opened recently at 111 East Lake in South Lyon, is filled with handmade creations of "high quality at reasonable prices," say owners Dee Larson (left) and Kathy Lauren.

Folk art, Gibson girl woodburnings, washable children's pillows, corn husk dolls, wooden rocking horses, puzzles and a wide variety of wall hangings and gifts are featured in the shop where all items are handmade.

The Redford Township owners, both with extensive backgrounds in arts and crafts, said they often drove through South Lyon to pick up materials at Boutique Trims and always had felt it would be a good town in which to start a small business.

While visiting L.J. Lintner's Kitchen Emporium, they noticed the building next door was vacant and opened their shop only a few weeks later. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays.

WILLIAM CLOGG, manager of Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi, has announced the appointment of 12 new store managers.

New store managers at Twelve Oaks are Jim Fujii (Olga's), Sam Hassan (The Wild Pair), Diane Fenrich (Children's Place), Ernie Myre (Pizza Place), Dan Shires (Magic Pan), Roselia Dewalt (LaPrima Music), Al Kinkade (Overland Trading Company), Pat Martin (Today), Mary Beard (Alcove), Barb Trimark (Brooks) and Steve Mar (Hardy Shoes).

MANUFACTURERS NATIONAL Corporation has declared a dividend of 30 cents per share to be paid September 30, 1982, to shareholders of record on September 1, 1982. The announcement was made by Dean E. Richardson, chairman.

Manufacturers National Corporation is a bank holding company with subsidiary banks in Novi as well as Detroit, Bay City, Coopersville, Lansing, Livonia, St. Clair Shores, Saline and Southfield. The corporation had total assets on June 30, 1982, of $5,067,827,000.

Northville woman wins laurels for direct sales

Nancy Ordowski of Northville was one of 20 women honored recently for outstanding achievement in direct sales. She was honored for her success in competition with some 17,000 independent consultants nationwide who sell the fine crystal and decorator accessories of Princess House, a leading direct sales firm.

Princess House executives presented Ordowski with a 14 karat gold dinner ring studded with diamonds and other precious jewels during an incentive trip to New Orleans.

The presentation honored Ordowski and the independent consultants who work with her throughout Michigan and northwest Ohio for achieving one of the best records in the nation in sales and introduction of new consultants during the past year.

Direct sales nationally is a growing career choice. The field has grown from a $2 billion industry in 1956 to $7 billion today, according to the Direct Selling Association in Washington D.C., with over five million people selling the products of some 150 direct sales firms including Princess House.

"Excellent profit options and flexible hours are the field's greatest assets," said Ordowski. "The career is particularly attractive to women looking for full or part-time career as well as a way to supplement an existing income." No previous sales experience or specific level of education is required.

Due to the convenience and the personal touch of in-home shopping, sales of products directly to consumers continue to be strong despite a slumping economy.

Industry figures show that close to 75 percent of all U.S. homes will be contacted by a direct salesperson during 1982 and a purchase will be made in half those homes.

Princess House, a Colgate-Palmolive company, is based in Massachusetts. Its products generally are sold through home demonstrations by a nationwide network of independent contractors like Ordowski.

Nancy Ordowski of Northville receives congratulations from Robert J. Haig, chief operating officer of Princess House, for outstanding sales achievement in direct sales.

Poetry . . .

Forget Him

Forget his name, forget his face
Forget his kiss, his warm embrace
Forget the love that you once knew
Remember he has someone new

Forget his charm, forget his grin
Forget that dimple on his chin
Forget the love that now is past
Remember he has her at last

Forget when they play your song
Forget you've cried the whole night long
Forget how it felt so right
Remember he's with her tonight

Forget the love that went so fast
Forget when he held you last
Forget you thought he'd leave you never Remember now he's gone forever.

Home Town Stranger

People of my home town
Are as real as they were, back when I knew them and they knew me,
Although I was younger than ten.

The difference is, now
I can walk down the street
And not see those that I know;
Seems odd but it's true
That the stranger is you—
As I think of the days long ago.

Charles E. Hutton

A Poem (original I'd say)

A tree is to life
I say in my own way
What happiness in mind
will wanted us to say

Comparing though it seems
To be a waste of time
I do know what I'm doing
With Prased poetic rhyme

The world is dying young
When thought for once a while
The song is hardly written
When tossed in the scrap pile
So when I try to say
A life is as to tree
Its exactly what I mean
Is life not what you see?

Don't be a heart breaker

Numerous studies have shown that many people who eat heart no evidence of heart disease increase their risk of heart attack by eating a daily diet high in saturated fats and cholesterol. Most people can reduce their risk of heart attack by controlling the amount of cholesterol rich foods and the amount and type of fats they eat. You also can reduce risk by avoiding overweight, exercising regularly, not smoking, and following medical advice if you have high blood pressure.

Parents offer supportive role to athletes

EDITOR'S NOTE: In a series of articles, sports reporter John Myers has been examining the changes, attitudes and participation in sports of today's high school athlete. In this final segment, the parents share their views on the subject.

It is quite obvious parents play an extremely important role in an athlete's decision to participate in sports. The athletic directors know it. The coaches know it. The athletes know it. The parents know it.

When talking about what kind of role they play, parents send through one message loud and clear — let the child decide what sport he/she will participate in and support it.

"I try to leave to my kids the role of what sports in which they will participate," says Jim Robins, whose daughter Sheri recently graduated from Northville High School and whose daughter Vicki now plays on the tennis team. He has a son Scott attending Ferris State College on a hockey scholarship.

"I just try to be supportive of what they're doing," he adds. "We feel the kids stay interested if the parents participate and watch their child. The kids seem to develop a high interest level when their parents participate."

"We don't influence them. It's strictly up to the boys or girls what sports they want to play," offers Pat Buttazzoni, who has had five children either play at or are playing now at Walled Lake Western.

"We just try to back them and play the supportive role," she says. "I think if they don't have much backing, they will lose interest."

"It's up to them," notes Donna Rembisz, who has one daughter in sports at Walled Lake Central and had four others play there.

"If it's not any fun for them, they will not participate. It has to be something they enjoy," she adds.

"Generally, we try to be supportive," says Gerald Shankel, whose daughter Cheryl recently graduated from Novi and who has a daughter Jill and son Steve at Novi.

Not only do they know they play an important role, but that a coach can be a determining factor in an athlete's decision to play in a sport.

"I think they have to have respect for the coach and vice versa," Rembisz notes. "If he is supportive of them, then that means a lot to an athlete."

Robins notes the time and the attitude of a coach can make a difference on an athlete's decision to play a particular sport. He also says the coach needs to be more low-keyed at game time because the players already will be tense for the contest.

"The coach has to keep encouraging the kid and stay low-keyed at game time," adds Robins, who coaches girls' softball and boys' hockey teams.

"I think it does," Shankel relates. "Especially in women's sports because the men are well-organized and the women are not as organized."

"I say at least 50-60 percent is up to the coach. Maybe even more," Buttazzoni explains. "If they (athletes) have a good relationship with the coach, they will enjoy the sport more. If they don't have a good relationship, then maybe they will quit."

the changing athlete

THE PARENTS

Most of the parents are happy with the coaches at the respective schools where their children play, and with their abilities.

"My kids have been lucky," Buttazzoni says. "They have had more like a friendship with the coach. It has not really been a coach/player relationship, but more like a friendship."

"I think they (coaches) devote a lot of time to the kids," she adds. "I think they give more of themselves than what the job requires."

However, Robins says he has a few complaints about some of the coaching over at Northville. He notes too many of the borderline players do not see enough action, especially at the junior high level. Thus, he believes they get discouraged and quit the sport.

"That's why some of the high school teams are hurting for numbers," he says.

His solution is that the coaches can still use a "win" philosophy while at the same time shuffling all of the players in and out of the game.

"You can put kids in and out of the game without hurting the team," Robins adds.

"I'm almost embarrassed when my kid plays almost the entire game and other players just get into the contest near the end for a few minutes of action," he explains.

Shankel said he did not have much to compare with, but believes he might have a better handle on the situation after daughter Cheryl completes her first year of softball at Western Michigan University.

"It might be easier for a female to coach a female team because the female coach can yell at the girls, whereas, it might be harder for the male (coach). However, that may not be entirely true since there are some successful female programs with male coaches," Shankel offers.

Other athletes, through peer group pressure, can have an influence on a some athletes' decision to play. The parents realize this can happen, but such was not the case with their offspring.

"Not my kids — because they are strong-willed," Buttazzoni says. "But, I do see it in other kids because of other friends."

However, she did relate a story about her son Angelo, who now attends Hillsdale College. One year he asked some friends to come out for the wrestling team because it was short some players.

"They were wrestlers who would not have come out otherwise," Buttazzoni said.

"There are certain cliques like that," Robins adds. "Some of the girls have to choose between the soccer program and the (softball) program in the springtime."

"It's tough," he admits.

Even with all these influences working on their offspring, the parents noted what they wanted their children to get out of sports was enjoyment.

"Lots of enjoyment," Rembisz emphasizes. "I hope they get out of it a good sense of sportsmanship. A clean, healthy body."

— Jim Robins, Northville parent

"Enjoyment. Exercise," Shankel offers. He also states there is a theory that sports helps people when they enter the business world. Therefore, Shankel hopes sports will help women work like teammates out in business.

In the case of his daughters, Robins hopes they enjoy sports, while he hopes his son can get the right break to make it into professional hockey someday.

"I just feel it will help them later in life," he explains. "To meet people and associate better with people in life."

"I would like them to learn sports is a lot like life," Buttazzoni says. "The rewards can be good. Sometimes you win, sometimes you lose. It's a carry over into life."

"I tell my boys 'The guy who works the hardest will win,'" she adds.

Sheehan's captures title; playoff picture settled

As the Northville adult softball league heads into its final week of action, the champions of both divisions have been decided, while all 14 playoff spots have been secured.

Sheehan's on the Green finally came up with the victory it needed to clinch the American League championship. Sheehan's downed Baber Roofing to win the title.

Single-elimination playoffs, which begin September 9, are conducted for the second through seventh place teams in each league. The survivor of the playoff will be the champion.

Playoff qualifiers in the American League include Long Mechanical, Winner's Circle Bar, Aberdeen's, J & S Steel, Rush, Canterbury Cleaners and Baber.

The Northville Jaycees wrapped up the National League title a few weeks ago. The team currently sports a 17-1, best in either league.

Playoff qualifiers from the National circuit include Thermal Sash, O'Sheehan's, Sheehan's Little Caesars, Urban's Partition, Eagles and Our Lady of Victory.

Over in the Women's League, Winner's Circle Bar needs just one more victory to claim the title over Getzie's Pub, which rests in second place two games behind the leader.

Here are this week's results:

Panowicz runs to second at nationals

Even if the lane assignments were different, Cindy Panowicz still was not sure if she could have won the 400-meter dash at the Hershey's National Track and Field Championships August 14 in Charleston, West Virginia.

Panowicz, who was part of the Great Lakes regional team, finished nearly two seconds behind the champion runner from New York in the race for 13-14 year old girls despite having to run the event from the extreme outside lane of the eight-lane track.

The New York runner, who drew lane number one, claimed first in a meet record time of 57.7, while Panowicz crossed the finish line in a 59.4 clocking. Since the runners are staggered at the start, running from the eighth lane was difficult for Panowicz because she nearly ran the entire race by herself, not knowing where her competitors were until the final straightaway.

"It was really hard," Panowicz related. "I had to run the whole race by myself. When I came around the last turn I couldn't see her (the New York runner) until we got into the straightaway."

"I saw that I was behind her and I tried to catch her," she added.

But the New York runner was too strong, and second was the best Panowicz could accomplish.

Even if Panowicz could have been placed in a lane assignment next to the New York runner, she admitted she was not sure if the victory could have been hers.

"I think it would have improved my time some, but I don't know if I could have beaten her," Panowicz offered.

The start of the race was not even a good one for Panowicz. According to her, she false started for the first time in her track career. In this meet, runners were allowed one false start before being disqualified if they false started again. "I really don't know what happened," Panowicz explained. "I guess maybe because I was really nervous, and the starter was way back behind me near the first runner, and it was hard for me to see and hear him."

Still, her time was nearly one and half seconds better than the one she posted at the Michigan State meet July 9 to qualify for the Great Lakes regional team.

According to her coach Brian Turnbull, the improvement the 14-year-old runner made was amazing since tenths of seconds are considered great improvements in races like the 400 dash.

Also, her second place finish was one of five captured by the Great Lakes team. Thus, it won the meet team championship and a plaque now hangs in the National Track and Field Hall of Fame distinguishing this feat.

The Great Lakes team winning the team championship over seven other regional squads came as a shock to most people, Panowicz said.

"Usually in the past California has had pretty good teams and won the team title," she explained. "We just did well."

The team was honored with the plaque at the banquet August 14, which capped a four-day all expenses paid trip for the participants, ages nine to 14.

in disposing Phoenix X.C.F. 10-0. The Jaycees never looked back in jumping out to a 4-0 lead after the first inning.

Carl Lang had a big night for the Jaycees with a homerun, single and three runs-batted-in. Martin Craig added three singles and two RBIs, while Mark Rhodes added two hits and an RBI.

Bill King paced the losers with two singles, while Roy Rich and Tom Roger each contributed singles.

Thermal Sash recorded two victories last week over McNeely & Lincoln and Belanger's to move into second place. Thermal Sash just slipped past McNeely 9-6 and it trimmed Belanger's 13-7.

Mike Lauck, John Hale, Gary Beason, Tim Frader and Dan Whitaker all connected for two hits in the win over McNeely. The losers were led by Bob Powell's three hits and two RBIs, while Ken Dwyer added two hits. Ed Smith had a run-scoring triple for McNeely as well.

Belanger's was led by Mike Webb's three hits and Pat Houlihan's two hits and RBI. Boye Gale singled, scored a run and knocked in a run for the losers.

O'Sheehan's shot down the Eagles 7-5 to remain in a hot battle with Thermal Sash for second place.

The winners were paced by Scott Dewitt's three hits and RBI. Teammates Ted Mohareff, Dick Berryman, Bill Binder and John McNally all collected two hits. The Eagles were paced by Tom Nye's two hits and two RBIs, while Paul Koslakiewicz added a single and two RBIs. Dan Zywick added two hits for the losers.

Little Caesars downed St. Paul Lutheran 9-2 to remain in the hunt for second place as the final week of the season draws to a close.

St. Paul's was led by John Mueller's double and RBI, while teammate Roger Schultz added two singles. Bob Bannatz added a run-scoring single.

Urban's Partition cruised past Belanger's 11-7 to keep an outside shot at second place. The winners were led by Tom Charboneau's homer, two singles and two RBIs, while Pat Breen collected three hits. Jim Stidham added two hits and two RBIs.

Belanger's was paced by the hitting of Mark Vivyan, who banged a homerun, single and drove in two runs. Harvey Steffke added two hits, while Webb singled, scored a run and drove in a run.

Our Lady of Victory assured itself of a .500 season when it downed St. Paul's 4-1. The winners were paced by Bill Johnson's three hits, while Ron Renault added two hits and Dave Penrod collected two RBIs.

St. Paul's was led by two round-trippers, a single and three RBIs from Bannatz. Mueller added two hits, while Kenn Cobb scored the only other run aside from Bannatz and Mueller.

The Eagles won a forfeit contest over P.S.I. Hydraulics.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Sheehan's wrapped up the league title with its 6-2 triumph over Baber Roofing. The winners were paced by the hitting of Pete Wright and Dan Thomas, each of whom had three hits. John Folino added a homerun, while Bill MacDonald added two hits.

Baber's was paced by two hits each from Jim Watson, Dave Austin and Tony Hamp.

Long Mechanical outslugged Winner's Circle Bar 13-11 to take a firm grip on second place in the league. The winners were paced by Bill Sinclair's homer, single and four RBIs, while Doug Wojay, Larry Michalak, John Bates and Jim Zayti all collected two hits.

Winner's Circle was led by Bob Smith's four-for-four performance, which included a pair of homers, and he drove in four runs. Keith Trumbull added two hits and three RBIs, while Gary Gerisch added two hits.

Aberdeen's withstood a furious seventh inning rally by J & S Steel to record a slim 9-8 victory and move into third place. J & S Steel scored seven times in the seventh, but it was not enough to pull out the victory.

Aberdeen's was paced by two hits each from Jim O'Brien, Jerry Detter, Todd Eis and Reven Reber. Fred Steinkoff pounded a solo homer.

The losers were paced by two hits each from Russ Barnes, Gary Batzloff, Dennis Belleperche, Norm Kubitsky, John Muir and Ron White.

Baber Roofing downed Canterbury Cleaners 6-1 behind the hitting of Rick Tarrow, who homered, singled and drove in two runs. Alan Kahler added two hits and two RBIs, while Dave Austin added a run-scoring single.

Canterbury was led by Jeff Mason's two hits, while teammate Mike Stratton added a run-scoring single. Brian Odom and Mike Kramer each collected a single for the losers.

The Junkyard Dogs recorded only their third win all season when they defeated Ductile Chrome Process 6-3. The winners were paced by Keith Spigarelli's three hits and two RBIs, while Jerry Menyhart added a single and two RBIs. John Adams had a run-scoring triple for the Junkyard Dogs.

Ductile was led by Ed Broderick's two hits and RBI, while Dave Sherman and Carl Ingrad each recorded an RBI.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Winner's Circle bar had little trouble downing One Hour Martinizing 18-3 to move one step closer to the title. Pat Brown carried the hot bat for the winners as she slapped a homer, double, single and drove in five runs.

Also connecting for homers were Louise Spigarelli and Laura Burke. Spigarelli added two singles and an RBI, while Burke slammed three singles, and had three RBIs. Debra Korte and Bonnie Schwan each had three hits.

The losers were led by two hits from Nancy Huntington, while Alisa Krinsky added a single and two RBIs. Cindy Langley added the only other single for the club.

Arnie Ford was led by Shelia Christensen's two-run single.

Parson to Person...
Who's Who
Dr. James H. Luther
Who am I? Where did I come from? Where am I going?
Personal identity is one of our most important personal needs. How do we relate to ourselves in the present, in our past, and in our future. The first two questions are the easiest to answer. The question "Where am I going?", takes our thoughts farther than the neighborhood mall. If we have such a firm grip on our identity in the present and past, why can't we assure ourselves of a safe and happy future?
For those who are in Christ these questions are more than answered. They are a source of comfort. Some are into business, or sports, or politics, or any other vocation on earth. Those who have the answer to their future are in Christ. The child of God is identified with God in Christ. When death comes to us it will not be important what we were into but WHO we are in.

Urban's wins Waterford tournament

Northville's Urban's Partition men's softball team swept through five games to capture the Waterford Double Elm tournament earlier this month. Urban's won four of the five games by two runs or less. The team downed Firebird Lanes, of Union Lake, 3-2 for the second time to take home the tournament title. Mike Weaver scored the winning run from second base on Tom Charboneau's sacrifice fly to deep centerfield. Weaver also added another hit to help pitcher Bob Clark record the win. Ed Maas and Bill Moore each added two hits apiece.

Firebird Lanes was Urban's first victim in the tournament as the champs slipped past the eventual runners-up for an 8-7 verdict. Larry Urban recorded the win in relief of Clark in the sixth inning.

Pat Carducci, who had three singles, drove in the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning. Vic Carducci added two singles and a triple, while Dean Alexander slapped four hits and had two runs-batted-in. Charboneau added three singles.

The only easy contest for Urban's was against St. John's of Hartland 15-7. Urban was the winning pitcher, while Alexander banged four singles, a triple and drove in two runs. Mark Sims added three singles and Moore connected for three singles and three RBIs.

Urban's had another close call but slipped past Able Concrete 9-7 behind winning pitcher Clark and Charboneau's three hits and two RBIs. Alexander ripped two hits and an RBI, while Weaver added a two hits, one for a triple, and knocked in two runs.

Vic Carducci had two hits and one RBI, while Sims cracked two triples and knocked in one run.

In the semifinal contest, Urban's trimmed Michael's Photo, of Waterford, 8-6 to make a winner of pitcher Urban, who aided his own cause with two hits and scored the tying run.

Boosters Club offers family sports passes

Family passes to all 1982-83 Northville High School and/or junior high school home athletic events now are available from the Northville Athletic Booster Club.

For $25, each member of a family will receive a non-transferable pass which will allow admittance to any home contest. This fee also includes a family membership in the Booster Club.

The Booster Club is active in promoting and maintaining sports in the Northville schools. The club has helped the sports program purchase videotapes, vests for the Pom Pon squad, uniforms for the junior varsity cheerleaders, lane lines for the pool, a pitching machine and batting cage.

The club also helped pay for repairs of the Universal weight machine, and sponsored a student at the Student Athletic Trainer Workshop which took place this summer.

For further information on obtaining the family pass, call Joyce Liddle at 348-2416 or Sarah Deal at 348-1129.

Stephens to play golf for SVSC

Northville's Bob Stephens is being counted on heavily to help the Saginaw Valley State College golf team improve last season's performance.

As a sophomore last season, Stephens was the fourth man on the squad. "We're excited about what Bob can do for our program in the next two years," coach Bob Becker said.

Saginaw Valley will be hard pressed to improve last season's performance. The Cardinals captured last year's Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference golf title, and placed 11th at the National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics national golf tournament at Burlington, North Carolina.

Becker is preparing the squad for the nationals at Fort Worth, Texas. He believes the team will be ready to make a run at the 1984 national championship since Saginaw Valley is hosting the national tournament.

The Cardinals, incidentally, have appeared in nine of the past 10 national tournaments.

Rotary Run slated

Runners and joggers should note there are two things different about the Third Annual "Discover Northville" Rotary Run this year.

First, the date. Unlike the past two years when the run was conducted in October, this year's run will take place Saturday, September 25, beginning at Northville Downs.

Second, there will be a one mile run for runners 12 years old and under in addition to the 10 kilometer and five kilometer races. The entry fee for all races is $6, and $9 after September 17.

Trophies will be awarded to the overall male and female winners in the 10 kilometer race with trophies for the top three runners and medals for the fourth and fifth place runners in each division. T-Shirts will be given to all entrants.

For more information, call Lieutenant William Tomczyk at 348-1505 or 420-2777.

Girls' softball clinic set

There will be a softball clinic for all interested girls between the ages of 15 and 18 years old from 6-9 p.m. Monday, August 30 at Ford Field.

The free registration period is from 5:30-6 p.m. with practice immediately following. The girls must be between 15 and 18 before September 1.

Clerk's leaving stamps for post card hobby

BETTY KUPSKY

Last Friday shortly after 12:30 p.m. Betty Kupsky was making her last stamp sale and starting to count her change drawer — while anticipating her retirement from the front desk at the Northville Post Office, a post she had held for seven or eight years. Before that she had worked mainly in the back sorting room.

"My house is a total wreck, I'm going to spend a year just sorting things out," she said of her immediate plans. Her home on Yerkes is the one in which she was born.

Noting that she was away for a few years, she said she has lived there since about 1937.

"It was our family home," she said, recalling that her father, Wallace Ross, had been active in the Boy Scouts locally and that both parents were workers in the First Presbyterian Church.

Betty Kupsky is a 1938 graduate of Northville High School.

Asked if she had seen many changes in the 13 years and seven months that she has worked for the post office, she replied she had. There are a lot of post office "regulars" that Mrs. Kupsky knows.

While Mrs. Kupsky remembers the days when the post office was located in a store front on Center by Schrader's, her work has been in the post office on Wing at Cady except for about six weeks years ago when she tried being a carrier.

"I couldn't stand that physically," she remembered, "so I asked to be called for clerk, but that took from 1964 to 1969."

She then qualified for the Civil Service post.

Betty Kupsky called herself a divorced widow, explaining that her former husband had died last January. She has two sons and two daughters from the marriage with all living in the area.

Daughter Margaret Messer lives with her family on Six Mile, son Lawrence F. lives on Griswold, daughter Jenny Stevens was married earlier this month with the newlyweds temporarily living with her mother, and son Floyd Jr. also is at home.

Mrs. Kupsky also has an older son Mervyn Bolton from an earlier marriage living near South Lyon on Milford Court.

She also has four grandsons.

Originally, Mrs. Kupsky was going to work two more years but found she could retire now and thinks it will be easier on her nerves as she finds the post office "pretty hectic at times."

She adds quickly that she has enjoyed her job, however, and considers the working conditions excellent. She had worked in factories during her earlier years, she recalled.

She also was a hobbyist for many years and thinks she probably will get back to her interests.

"I was into post cards quite a bit and helped organize the Wolverine Post Card Club in Detroit," she related. She also was affiliated with the All-State Hobby Club which, she said, covers "all kinds of hobbies."

Seminar focuses on job opportunities

By KATHY JENNINGS

When there are nearly one million unemployed people in southeastern Michigan is there any point in even looking for a job?

It takes self-assessment to determine how your skills can be transferred to a new field, and it might require retraining. But even in this market, if you know what you want, have the right attitude and are willing to work at it you will get a job.

The 1980s will be the decade of the survivors. It will be a time when people have to be more creative about where they are going and how they get there. Those who can meet the challenge will be employed.

That message came through loud and clear to the more than 600 people attending a recent conference for the unemployed offered by Schoolcraft College in cooperation with Dr. Sonya Friedman, Moving Ahead, Inc. and other concerned organizations.

Those attending the seminar could sit in on a variety of sessions ranging from retraining for new careers and financial aid to the power of positive thinking in obtaining jobs.

Seminars of this kind are being conducted throughout the metropolitan area this fall because of the crisis situation among the unemployed in Michigan, coordinators explained.

Keynote speaker Sonya Friedman urged the group to consider themselves as pioneers in a new age.

"Things will never be the way they were in the past. Life was routine and predictable," she said.

"Now the future is coming faster and faster, and many of us are not prepared for it. If we build barriers so we don't face change it makes it worse."

Just as farmers left the farm to take factory jobs and service positions, today's workers will find new lines of work, she said.

Friedman went on to list jobs that will be opening up in the future: jobs that didn't even exist 10 years ago.

By 1990, 1.5 million robots will be working. They will require robot engineers to design and maintain them, Friedman predicted. The demand for computers will create millions of new jobs by the year 2000. The laser will replace the tool and die maker. Energy conservation with a need for engineers and solar technicians will emerge. The medical profession will continue to expand, especially in the area of geriatrics as people live longer.

The population will double in the next 35 years, creating a tremendous demand for housing and housing rehabilitation. As women continue to enter and stay in the work force, child care will become a critical need, Friedman continued.

As work weeks are shortened and leisure time expands there will be a need for recreation planners.

But the wide variety of new fields of work will not be the only changes people will have to deal with, Friedman predicted.

There will be more divorces in the future, she said.

"You will have at least three spouses over a lifetime — one for romance, one for children and a third for companionship. Those who get married the fourth time will do it for masochism," she said jokingly.

Children born in 1982 will live, on the average, to age 83. In comparison, the life expectancy of people born in 1902 was 47.

Such adjustments caused Friedman to exclaim: "Future shock is today."

She went on to encourage the group to continue its job search.

"You people have survived an awful lot to get here today. You have to say: 'I'll take it from here and go on.' Living in a changing pattern isn't easy. But you can master it. It's scary and risky, but you can do it."

"Some of us will find ourselves in jobs where our bosses are 20 years younger than we are. Some will be working for women for the first time in our lives. And we won't like it."

"This is what's happening. And it's happening here in Michigan first. In other places they are still hoping it won't happen, but it is happening all over."

Urging the group to consider alternative careers as they seek employment, Friedman said: "This year I will be starting the 12th career of my adult life. I trained in one area and used it as a base, building with continued education."

"Choose a new role you would like to play in society," she said, encouraging people to seek a position they will find personally fulfilling.

"We all know what comes at the end we're going to have a long rest. The journey is what makes it all worthwhile. It doesn't matter what came before. What matters is what you do with the rest of your life, starting now."

"Once when you passed your 20s your life was over. Now we can look forward as opposed to looking over our shoulders."

Friedman related a story about how her father would not help her on a bus when she was three years old. He told her to help herself. When her father first related the story to her, in a recent reunion with the man, she was angry. But then she realized the value of his lesson.

"I hope someone extends a hand to you when you really need it and are failing. But I hope they allow you to go up the first step, so you know you can do it."

Tips for finding work

People get jobs by applying directly to an employer.

"But the unemployed people tend to be passive about everything," said David Olson, placement officer at Schoolcraft College. "They sit and wait for another one to drop on them."

There also are misunderstandings about placement, Olson said. "Among those who find jobs, 2.7 percent get it from a college placement office. In first place are those who apply directly to an employer."

"That's how people get jobs," Olson said.

In placing people his office doesn't "look at you as a set of skills, we look at you as an individual. That's how business looks at you, as an individual."

Olson said most people go out selling a few things: "Those things give you an edge; they're the ones that get you in the door so you can say: 'I'm an individual, the kind of human being you want to hire, not just a set of skills.'"

The placement officer emphasized the importance of finding a job that fits the individual.

"I don't believe in putting a person in a slot, just because a job is available."

"If you talk to 50 different people you will get 50 different projections of what is down the road. Be careful, think what is right for you."

"The point is not to be a chip floating in an ocean of business cycle. Get a job for yourself."

To find out what the right jobs are, Olson said: "Assess your interests, values, temperament, strengths, skills, aptitudes, accomplishments and physical characteristics. Assess your priorities."

"Once you know what you have to offer and want, you begin your job search," he said.

To the man who asked what he could do after spending 25 years in a job that no longer exists, Olson responded, "You retrain. You channel what you did into something else. You take your skills into a new field. We try to bring out what you have that might make you marketable."

In Our Town

Town Hall honors past chairman

By JEAN DAY

"She's held every job except treasurer," says Susie Korte of Northville Town Hall charter member Florence Booms who now is retiring from the board. She was honored by some 25 town hall committee members August 17 at a luncheon gathering at the home of chairman Reggie Hodson on Chigwidden in Northville Estates.

Mrs. Booms began her service to the project sponsored by Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Church as an usher. She served as chairman from 1977-79, earning a reputation for being "very organized." She since has served on the advisory board and with her husband Richard has been a sustaining member.

She's retiring from the committee now to have more time to spend with her husband who has retired. The couple has four married children as well as Mary and Tim still at home.

Mrs. Korte, long-time town hall publicity chairman who has worked with Florence Booms for years, regretted that she would be unable to be on hand for the party. She and her husband Francis were headed for a family reunion on a Wisconsin farm at the time.

Anniversary party really surprised the Turnbolls

The elaborate plans begun in April by their children to make the 40th anniversary celebration of Rita and Bruce Turnbull a complete surprise worked. "We really were amazed and had no idea," Rita Turnbull relates, telling how their five children and their families arranged the party.

The Turnbolls, who were married at Our Lady of Victory Church, had planned to go to their cottage the weekend of July 11 but postponed the trip because son Bob, a librarian at Concord College in West Virginia, had called to say he would be in the area. They were absolutely unaware of celebration plans, Mrs. Turnbull adds, because son Michael and his family had come earlier from Findlay, Ohio, bringing a cross-stitch marriage sampler his wife Kathy had worked in honor of the anniversary.

They were also on hand with children Megan and Matthew for the celebration along with Craig of Mt. Pleasant with friend Karen Coester; Brian, a senior at Eastern; and daughter Carol with husband Michael Norton of Lansing. The Turnbolls had breakfast at Botsford Inn (where they had had their wedding reception) and then arrived back at their home on Eaton Drive to find banners saluting them and a host of guests. The 75 family members and guests came from all over the state.

Bruce Turnbull was honored at the August 9 meeting of city council for his years of service on the city planning commission.

Boat launching highlights Gazlay family reunion

Biz and Fran Gazlay are back at their South Rogers home from Crystal Lake where they entertained their four children and eight grandchildren. A high point of the family reunion was the launching of a 40-year-old wooden boat which Fran Gazlay with sons Chris and Mark had been restoring for the last two months.

With the Gazlays at the lake were Mark from Detroit with Jay and Whitney; Julie from Danville, California, with Melissa and Emily; Chris and wife Cheryl from Northville with Cristen and Courtney; Martha and her husband Michael Conley from Marquette with Molly and Patrick. Dr. Conley's mother Mary Conley of Orchard Drive also came for a two-week visit.

Police ball will be held in September

Annual Northville Police Officers Association ball will be held this year on September 25 at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. Tickets at $15 a couple for the evening include beer and are available from association members, officer-treasurer William Harrison reports.

Florence Booms, right, is honored at party given by Reggie Hodson

College counselors list tips for finding employment

There are certain things an unemployed person should know.

A television special produced by WDIV-Channel 4, anchored by Mort Crim and presented as a workshop for persons attending the conference for the unemployed offered information on a variety of aspects facing the unemployed.

According to information gathered from job consultants, psychologists and others, the unemployed should know:

- If you become unemployed you should find out why you were laid off or fired. Your company may have another job for someone with your past experience or skills. Check with the personnel office. Then register with the Michigan Employment Securities Commission.

- Your main financial concerns should be food and shelter. Creditors will try to make arrangements for you. Don't take out a loan to pay off your outstanding bills, it could cause problems later.

- To cope with stress you should have a family conference — allow your spouse and children to be a part of the situation. You will get motivation and drive from them. You need to share with one another, you need support.

- Most people find jobs through friends, relatives, neighbors and co-workers.

- For every opening there are between 100-200 applicants. Ask people if they know of any openings. An employer will take a referral over an outside applicant.

- Focus your search to companies that are known to need your skills and abilities.

- Set a daily schedule of interviews. The more contacts you make the faster you will be employed.

- Market yourself as a whole person. If its relevant put it down in your resume, but don't barter your soul. You may want to tailor resumes to different companies.

- Be creative. Consider the possibility of coming up with your own job.

NOW EARN EXTRA INTEREST FROM YOUR LIFE INSURANCE WITHOUT LOSING PROTECTION.

INTRODUCING FIRST FEDERAL'S IDLE ASSETS® CERTIFICATES.

Now First Federal makes it easy for you to put your permanent life insurance policies' idle cash value to work. You can earn $350, $750, $1,000 or more while your total insurance protection remains the same, or may even increase (see chart).

Here's how First Federal's Idle Assets program works. The cash value of your insurance contracts is usually available at a low rate of interest, 5% or 6% in many cases. We estimate the cash you have available in your insurance contracts and show how this money can earn money-market-type interest for you in an Idle Assets Certificate of Deposit for 30 months.*

Certificates are available for a minimum of $1,000. The interest rate, which is determined when funds are received at First Federal and the account is opened, is guaranteed for the full term.

Your total insurance protection remains the same or may even increase (see chart).

You will also be provided with additional life insurance for the full 2½-year term in the amount of your certificate.

So come into your nearest First Federal office. And bring your life insurance policies. We'll do all the work and return your insurance policies on the spot. Then we'll put your idle assets to work!

Here's an example of how the Idle Assets program can improve your financial picture:

Face value of ordinary life insurance policy	$20,000
Estimated cash value	8,000
Interest earned on Idle Assets Certificate of Deposit (2½ years at 12%)	2,400
Cost of insurance loan (2½ years at 5%)	1,000
Your net earnings in 2½ years (total earned interest minus cost of loan)	$ 1,400

And the total amount available, should death of the insured occur during the term of the Idle Assets Certificate of Deposit, is also increased.

Original insurance policy minus loan amount	$12,000
Idle Assets Certificate of Deposit	8,000††
Idle Assets life insurance	8,000
Total amount available	$28,000

*Example interest rate, subject to change without notice.

††Plus earned interest, less any applicable early withdrawal penalty.

For purposes of illustration all figures are on a simple interest basis.

*Substantial penalty for early withdrawal from certificate savings accounts.

Maximum life insurance is $10,000 and is available only to persons under age 60 along with Accidental Death and Dismemberment.

(AD and D) insurance for Idle Assets deposits over $10,000. Only AD and D insurance is available to persons age 60 and over. Maximum AD and D insurance is $100,000. All insurance is subject to the terms and conditions contained in insurance certificates issued by the insurer, American International Life Assurance Company of New York, and becomes effective when the Idle Assets Certificate is opened.

Auditions slated at Schoolcraft

Auditions for musicians wishing to perform with Schoolcraft College's Wind Ensemble, Jazz Ensemble or new Vocal Jazz Ensemble will be held during the first two weeks in September.

The three ensembles rehearse and perform during the evening throughout the fall and winter.

The Vocal Jazz Choir, the college's newest ensemble, will begin Thursday evening rehearsals tomorrow. Directed by Bradley Bloom, the choir will perform popular music in the jazz style and will concertize throughout the winter and spring.

Membership in the ensemble will be based upon vocal ability, sight-reading competency and stage presence. In addition to singers, pianists, bassists and drummers are invited to audition.

The 44-piece Wind Ensemble is directed by Dr. Richard Saunders, Schoolcraft's Assistant Dean of Fine Arts and Sciences, and plays a broad range of concert band music. The ensemble, which rehearses from 7:30-10 p.m. Wednesdays, normally performs on 10 occasions each season. Auditions can be arranged by calling 591-6400, extension 510, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Directed by former Stan Kenton drummer Jerry McKenzie, the 22-piece Jazz Ensemble meets from 7-10 p.m. Mondays. Concerts also are scheduled on Mondays. The band plays a variety of jazz, swing and jazz-rock compositions. Open auditions are scheduled from 7-10 p.m. September 13 and 20 in Room F310 in the Forum Building.

Members in Schoolcraft's musical ensembles may enroll for regular college credit if they wish. If not, registration is through Continuing Education and the fee varies slightly with each ensemble.

Empathy training offered

Women interested in participating in the peer counseling training at the Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center are invited to call the Center at 591-6400, extension 432, by September 10, to arrange an appointment.

Group interviews will be held at 10 a.m. September 14 and 16. The eight-week empathy training course will meet from 9 a.m. to noon Mondays and Wednesdays beginning September 27.

Designed for those with an interest in helping women discover their potential, participants will study to develop empathy listening skills and problem-solving techniques. Participants pay for 2.5 institutional credits of instruction.
