City refutes 'waste' accusations

Calling accusations of waste in city government made last week by a laid-off city employee "irresponsible," Mayor Paul Vernon with city council members Monday night reviewed a point-by-point refutation from City Manager Steven Walters.

Last week Max Robertson, in a letter to The Record, stated he is one of five Department of Public Works (DPW) employees laid off because of lack of money and, therefore, was objecting to raises granted city administrators. He noted that the city is paying unemployment for him and another employee "not to work."

Walters stated, "the three DPW employees were laid off in October, 1981, because the job they did could be accomplished more economically and effectively by a refuse contractor."

He noted that Robertson "forgot to mention he was also the leader of the local employee union."

"Mr. Robertson was hired by the city in January, 1978, and became the chapter chairman of the DPW/clerical union under AFSME in July, 1979. During his tenure, he tried unsuccessfully to negotiate 'super seniority' for himself as union officer so he would be the last employee to be laid off," Walters said.

Walters reviewed that the clerical employees requested separation from the existing union but were refused.

"In October, 1981, the clerical employees filed a petition to decertify the union. This was done in an election in April, 1982. He added that the clerical employees since have formed a local employee association and settled a new contract."

"The DPW employees rejoined AFSME this month but are presently without a contract," he stated.

It was during this period, Walters pointed out, that the city decided to change from DPW refuse collection to contracted service (October, 1981). As a cost-saving measure, he said, three DPW sanitation operators were laid off.

"During his tenure, he tried unsuccessfully to negotiate 'super seniority' for himself as union officer so he would be the last employee to be laid off."

They were laid off, Walters emphasized, "because the job they did could be accomplished more economically and effectively by a refuse contractor. The labor contract provisions which Mr. Robertson so aggressively pursued helped to make this so. Two employees (Robertson and Jim Wilson) were laid off in April, 1982, in a financial cutback by the city."

Robertson said the city is paying him and one other laid off employee "$197 per week not to work while contracting with Green Ridge Nursery to do work we could be doing."

The compensation being paid Robertson and Wilson, required by law, "is less than half their cost as DPW employees," according to Walters, who added that, when their unemployment runs out, or they find other jobs, "the city will start saving full cost."

Green Ridge Nursery provides a tank truck, a water-fertilizer mixture and trained employees under a landscape contract with the city during the summer months. Walters said to call Robertson back to work "is not a practical nor economical alternative to this contracted service."

In the list of bills approved by council for payment Monday night was one for August service from Green Ridge at $198.

In his letter Robertson stated, "within the past 2½ years the city has paid approximately $18,000 to have two employees quit."

Walters reviewed that in January, 1980, the city settled a claim with DPW employee Larry Saunders, a rehired veteran, for $5,000 "to close a disability claim he had pressed with the union."

Through AFSME union an early retirement settlement was negotiated with clerical employee Martha Gross "to facilitate a clerical reorganization." This agreement cost the city $9,942 and was personally negotiated by

Village developer drops out

Backers of the Northville senior citizens village project have dropped first-pick developer Saperstein-Amurcon in favor of a second interested company, township supervisor John MacDonald told the board of trustees last week.

"The project is still alive, but Saperstein and Amurcon are sort of out of the picture," he said. "The Wayne County EDC and the county spent four months trying to negotiate the lease with these people. The EDC kept putting deadlines on it and moving the deadlines back when it looked like there might be progress."

After some time, MacDonald, himself a member of the county EDC, explained, "it became obvious the Saperstein thing was falling apart" and discussions began with Biltmore, one of two other firms that had presented proposals to the EDC.

The project is to provide housing for up to 1,300 seniors in a campus-like setting on abandoned Wayne County Child Development Center property. Renovation of some of the center buildings is anticipated, as is provision of medical services.

Biltmore's biggest advantage over the Saperstein joint venture proposal, MacDonald related, is that Biltmore relies very little on government financing and, at least when it made presentations several months ago, seemed to have private sector financing available.

"By October 20 we should have a good idea if Biltmore can get financing again," he said. "I remain optimistic. I think there was some over-optimism within the Saperstein group, particularly in regard to federal funding. There is a distinct lack of federal funds available."

While those who have seen the proposals from the firms, particularly the architectural drawings, have generally preferred the Saperstein concepts, MacDonald related, "presentations are just that: presentations."

The supervisor said he was certain Biltmore would be just as willing to cooperate with the township and its village preservation committee as was Saperstein.

Confirm city attorney arrangement

Procedure for handling city charges and police warrants that would require paperwork by the city attorney has been worked out satisfactorily, Police Chief Rodney Cannon reported to city council Monday night.

As the Detroit firm of Plunkett, Cooney, Rutt, Watters, Stanczyk and Pedersen represented by Northville resident James R. Kohl was selected as city attorney at a special council session October 11, stipulation was made that there be a resolution to the problem of the firm's Detroit location when police arraignments and warrants would be needed.

Omnicom begins pre-paying fees to communities

Township supervisor John MacDonald is supporting the formation of a "consortium" of communities served by Omnicom cable television franchises.

MacDonald told Omnicom's Betsy Seeley last Thursday that he was promoting the idea at weekly meetings of area supervisors in Plymouth.

The proposal was first made in the Plymouth/Canton communities but MacDonald's support was the first indication that the idea was spreading to Northville.

Essentially, the consortium would unite the Omnicom communities in dealings with the cable television operation and, it is thought, make it possible for Omnicom to deal with one group rather than seeking approval of every move from the five governments involved (Canton, Plymouth and Northville townships and the cities of Plymouth and Northville).

Seeley has said Omnicom would be supportive during research of the consortium concept.

MacDonald made his remarks during the township board meeting. Seeley was there to make a report on Omnicom operations. She also brought a $36,000 "pre-paid franchise fee" check. Seeley explained that the upfront cash is in lieu of quarterly payments of the franchise fee.

The amount of each quarterly fee will be subtracted from the $36,000 total until Omnicom again owes the township money and another "pre-paid fee" will be made, she related.

Seeley also presented a check to city

Cannon reported he and City Manager Steven Walters met with Kohl last Thursday and worked out arrangements.

If a person is arrested in the early morning hours before 6 a.m., Cannon said, Kohl would be advised at his Northville home and would receive information prior to leaving for his office.

He would then return the necessary forms to the police department by his law clerk before the close of the business day, allowing arraignment of a prisoner within legal time frame.

If an arrest is during the business day, the new city attorney would be contacted by telephone and information transmitted. He would return the paperwork to the police department on his way home.

"At the conclusion of our meeting it was noted that there will be a period of adjustment as well as trial and error," observed Cannon, adding, "I was impressed with Mr. Kohl and am confident about the police department/city attorney relationship."

As the information was accepted making the city attorney appointment official, Mayor Paul Vernon commented, "the arrangement should work out well."

Recalling that the council had committed itself to making the resolution of the vacant house on South Center the first order of business for the new city attorney, council members discussed the background of the situation.

Agreeing that it is a "complicated" situation, Walters agreed to outline the background for the new city attorney, submitting the information first to the city council at its next meeting November 1 for its approval.

JAMES R. KOHL

The house at 254 South Center was purchased by Northville Driving Club with the intention it would be torn down and the entire lot used for racetrack parking, a non-conforming use.

Question of whether the entire lot may be used in this manner will have to be resolved.

In the meantime, the vacant, boarded-up structure has brought strong objections to council from area residents.

Council member J. Burton DeRusha also requested that the city attorney be asked for an opinion on the extent of the city's responsibility for snow removal of sidewalks that are not in front of homes.

The situation exists in Lexington Commons where the walks were required for children walking to school.

Merchants hold Autumn Festival

Hayrides, pumpkin-painting, free cider and doughnuts and storewide sales all are part of the annual retail merchants' "Autumn in Northville" celebration slated this Friday and Saturday.

Shoppers will find pre-holiday bargains in most downtown stores Thursday through Saturday. Diana Fisher, president of the retail merchants association, says most stores will stay open until 9 p.m. Friday evening and will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Free cider and doughnuts has been provided by the retail merchants association for its downtown celebration. Loaded in front of the Margolis Theatre, Cider and doughnuts will be and will travel around Northville distributed by Northville Girl Scouts downtown area.

Free hayrides also will be available for youngsters of all ages starting at 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in the Town Square Park on Main Street. Northville Kiwanis Club also will host a pumpkin-painting contest for youngsters from 1-3 p.m. Saturday in the Town Square Park. Pumpkins will be supplied by the retail merchants.

All participants in the contest will receive ribbons, and gift certificates will be awarded the three artists creating the most unusual pumpkin designs.

For sale

City offers renovated house to high bidder

If City Manager Steve Walters sounds like a real estate salesman when he talks about "wet plaster walls you could hardly afford at this price today" or "tax-free provisions until next July" on the house the city owns at 311 South First, he is.

The city is in process of trying to sell the house — known as Kerr House when it was headquarters for senior citizen activities — that was moved from 211 Cady to its present location in 1981 when the post office expanded.

"Jim Cutler gave me pointers," says Walters as he itemizes improvements made in the house that DPW superintendent Ted Mapes thinks was built in the early 1950s by Harley Cole.

Purchased by the city in 1971 to be the senior citizens' facility, the house retained the name of the Kerr family that had built it. After construction of Allen Terrace, seniors' activities were transferred there. The house for a time was rented to the Montessori program.

When approval for the post office addition was granted, the city sold the property and made provision to move the house. Initially, the city planned to locate it on city-owned property at Randolph and High. It, however, listened to objections from neighboring residents who felt the one-story Cape Cod style house would look inappropriate amidst Victorian-era homes in the historic district.

The First Street property was purchased in July, 1981, from Harry and Dorothy Hartshorne who had bought the 66 by 147.9 foot lot and garage-type house then on it as an investment. It cost the city $29,500.

In the relocating process, the house acquired a new poured basement and sump pump, a new steel beam with three-inch round posts, new laundry tray and washing machine connections with connections for a basement bathroom roughed in.

A new gas furnace and hot water heater and electrical service with automatic circuit breakers were installed.

A new fireplace was built.

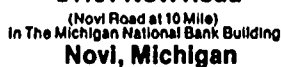

Under the new aluminum siding and trim was added exterior insulation. Replacing the previous brick siding with aluminum was done, according to Walters, "to blend in better with neighboring homes."

Active race dominates 36th District seat

By KEVIN WILSON

When Northville voters elect a new state representative November 2 they will have three unfamiliar names from which to choose on the ballot.

Republican Gerald Law, a Plymouth Township trustee; Democrat R. William Joyner, a Canton resident and Wayne County Commissioner; and Libertarian Keith Bilby, a Canton resident newcomer to politics, are all on Northville ballots for the first time.

"All are vying for the 36th District state house seat opened up by reapportionment. Realignment to reflect the 1980 census results moved incumbent Republican Jack Kirksey's 35th district eastward, away from Northville.

The new 36th includes Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township. The district also excludes incumbent Roy Smith, who previously represented the southern portion.

Lack of an incumbent, accompanied by lack of any record of voting patterns, has produced an active race with both major party candidates judging themselves possible victors, based upon strengths in different parts of the district.

Most observers note that Canton, with the greatest number of voters, also has the least consistent voting record in terms of party alliance and voter turnout.

While Law was winning the GOP primary in August, Joyner, unopposed, registered a strong showing in the southernmost reaches of the district where his name recognition as a county commissioner is high.

Law swept the Republican primary race, winning every community, with a landslide margin in Plymouth Township and strong showings in the City of Plymouth and both Northvilles. He also carried Canton's overall Republican vote by a smaller percentage over first-time politician Gary Wolfram, who makes his home there.

Bilby's vote-gathering powers will get their first test in the general election, as the Libertarian party nominated all its 100 state candidates at a spring convention. The party is gaining visibility in the state, particularly with its emphasis on tax reduction and smaller government.

Profiles of the three candidates for the 36th State House seat, containing information submitted by the contenders and gathered during Record staff interviews with each, are presented below.

KEITH BILBY

KEITH Z. BILBY, Lib.
AGE: 26; RESIDENCE: Plymouth
OCCUPATION: Engineer, Detroit Diesel Allison
EDUCATION: B.S. Mechanical Engineering, University of Michigan (1979); member Michigan Marching Band BACKGROUND: First run for elective office. Born Traverse City, grew up in Jackson where he attended public schools. Member, Libertarian Party Michigan State Central Committee. Lists activities as running, skiing, boating, listening to music and reading.

Bilby describes himself as a strong believer in the basic tenets of the Libertarian Party, but distinguishes himself from the more extreme element he calls "total abolitionists," referring to those who advocate speedy dismantling of government except for those elements providing for the common defense.

He said he emphasizes tax issues, under the Libertarian creed that most taxes are wrong because they violate the people's rights to the fruits of their labor. The first tax he would abolish, he said, would be the single business tax (SBT), then he would aim for reductions in the personal income tax.

The SBT, he said, not only violates the business operator's rights but those of consumers because the tax raises retail prices.

Bilby also advocates elimination of state K-12 public education. "We've got to get the state out of the education business," he said. "I'd work to eliminate the whole concept of state education."

"There is no such thing as a value-free education," he continued. "It's no accident that people educated in government schools are not highly knowledgeable about economics."

"It's just as important to separate the state from education as it is to separate the state and church."

Higher education, he said, would be urged to "become more independent, raise tuitions, do whatever it is they'd have to do to rely less upon the state" under a Libertarian program.

The aim, he said, is to see that "people who receive a service pay for that service."

By doing so, he explained, the taxes paid by citizens can be reduced or eliminated. Libertarians are needed in this arena, he said. "We don't have any leaders at all in Lansing as far as tax reduction is concerned," Bilby said. "We have people who vote against tax increases, but no one who really pushes 'or tax cuts'."

Three 'unknowns' vie for state house

Bilby said soil and water conservation is best accomplished by having those interested in the issues buy land to conserve it themselves. He said at present this approach does not work for air and water pollution problems, but said property rights for air and rivers could be established in the law in the future.

In the meantime, he would impose strict liability statutes to see that companies and individuals who introduce toxins to the public would be held monetarily responsible. He called the Super Fund program for toxic dump clean-ups "ridiculous" since it relies upon taxpayers rather than the violator to pay for cleanup.

Bilby said the "only proper function of government is to see that people's rights to life, liberty and property are protected."

He advocates a part-time state legislature "because it gives them less time to do us damage; and forces them to do something useful for eight to 10 months of the year."

Bilby contends the state unemployment system would be better off abolished with labor and management producing their own insurance systems in contracts. "The present system encourages employers to lay people off, it encourages people to stay off work."

Bilby also opposes the minimum wage law, saying it forces young people out of the market and robs them of work experience.

He backs the party platform to decriminalize a list of "victimless" crimes. "People own their own lives, as long as they are not harming anyone else the state should have no concern. Enforcement of these measures diverts resources from violent crime."

Drug use, prostitution and gambling are among the violations most frequently cited on the list of victimless crimes. Bilby notes decriminalization "is not my central concern" but if the issues came up his vote would be along the lines of the party belief.

He advocates immediate re-introduction of the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, noting "there are concerns that it would give Congress more power to do more mischief" but that Libertarians believe the rights of all persons should be properly spelled out in the Constitution.

He also is pro-choice, saying the abortion issue revolves around when human life begins and that his determination is that human life begins at birth.

In conclusion, Bilby noted the common Libertarian belief that "most of the programs we have were passed because there was a definite problem with a need for a solution." But the "easy route" of getting government involved was used too often, he said. "Had the government not gotten entangled with these things, we wouldn't have some of the other problems, and then we wouldn't have needed so many other programs."

The first step to rectify that situation, he said, "is to get rid of the solutions that aren't working." He blamed both major parties for the errors of the past, noting that Michigan has long had a Republican administration and Democratic Legislature. "We've got to stop choosing the lesser of two evils," he said.

Bilby said he knows it is an uphill fight for a third-party candidate, but said he believes people "ought to vote for what you want. If you want tax reduction, vote for a tax reduction candidate. It will show them what your concerns are. Both my opponents have held elective office, neither has distinguished himself in this area."

R. WILLIAM JOYNER, Dem.
AGE: 32; RESIDENCE: Plymouth Township
OCCUPATION: Wayne County Commissioner
EDUCATION: B.S. Secondary Education, Central Michigan University (1972)
BACKGROUND: Administrative assistant to the mayor, Livonia (1972-74); private industry (printing, advertising) 1975-77; appointed to fill unexpired county commission term 1978, reelected in 1980. Past president Optimist Club, Livonia and member Plymouth Optimist. Member Livonia, Plymouth and Canton Jaycees. Executive vice president Michigan Jaycees (1978); editor Michigan Jaycee magazine; public relations counsel to Jaycees. Member Plymouth Canton and Livonia chambers of commerce; chairman Plymouth Chamber Farmers Market Committee. Plymouth Jaycees man of the year, 1979.

Joyner said the principle concerns he hears from voters are taxes and the quality of education.

As part of a nine-point approach to improving Michigan's business climate, Joyner is aligning himself with those who would cut property taxes by transferring some education funding to a sales tax increase of one percent.

Advantages of the shift include transferring some of the load to tourists in the state, a "more equitable" tax distribution among residents of the state and, in the versions Joyner supports, a linked requirement earmarking 20 percent state support of education.

The latter is needed, he said, because state support of education has been slipping steadily over the past decade as it has received lower priority during cost-cutting procedures.

He is also supporting the idea of "front-loading" the property tax "circuit breaker" in state income tax law. The state would then pay a portion of the property tax bill from the income tax deductions it receives.

One advantage Joyner cited is that taxpayers would be better able to distinguish between the property and income tax burdens. The maximum $1,200 refund the state makes for eligible income taxpayers would be most useful when the property tax is paid, not several months afterward, he explained.

On the economic front, Joyner emphasizes programs to provide capital for new business and industry in the state, while providing tax incentives and reducing regulation.

Joyner said he supports an approach to revision of the state single business tax proposed by U-M Dearborn economist Gary Wolfram, who ran as a Republican in the 36th District primary.

Wolfram recommended a 50 percent reduction in the SBT rate while eliminating many of the deductions allowed under the law. Wolfram argued this would reduce the disincentive to business location here that the SBT represents without a sharp reduction in state revenues, since without deductions more businesses would pay the lower rate.

Joyner would also like to invest up to 2 percent of state pension funds in new capital ventures, "which allow young budding entrepreneurs to get a start here." He offered a "guess" that the fund would amount to $300 million.

He also advocates creation of an Economic Development Fund of $100 million from the sale of oil and gas rights on state lands.

Joyner said robotics will ultimately take jobs from the industries that employ many Michigan workers, but that development of high technology industry brings many peripheral service jobs with it.

Tax incentive bills and encouragement of research and development are "very vital" to improving the business climate, he said. Other points in Joyner's economic plan are:

- Establishment of one-stop business permit processes;
- Sunset paperwork and elimination of unneeded rules and regulations;
- Targeting state resources to capital investment;
- Encouraging the formation of local economic development networks.

Like many candidates this election year, Joyner is calling for a complete audit of state operations to target cost-saving possibilities.

Of environmental concerns, he said he is "intrigued" by Republican gubernatorial candidate Richard Headlee's proposal for elimination of the state DNR and creation of a department of tourism. Joyner said he is not yet ready to support that proposal in detail, but that it is one way to merge duplicate state efforts and reorganize what many see as an ineffective DNR.

In the same arena, Joyner said Michigan and other Great Lakes states should "build a shield around the lakes" since they are the region's greatest asset for the future.

Joyner "describes himself as a strong supporter and advocate" of the Equal Rights Amendment, with his first choice being a national ERA and support for a state version otherwise.

He said he is pro-choice and would oppose efforts to eliminate Medicaid abortions in the state.

Joyner also argues that as a member of the Democratic party he would be a member of the House majority next year, a prognosis few observers argue with, and that he would therefore be in a better position regarding committee assignments. He would also have a vote selecting the speaker of the house and a role in picking committee leaders. All of which, he contends, can be of benefit to the district.

Joyner said he believes a key issue in the campaign is "the disgust of people with politicians, with government. It's the 'Can I trust you?' issue."

He claimed his leadership style is to be more accessible, more visible and active than is Gerald Law, his Republican opponent.

He claims an advantage in dealing with a large number of constituents and in experience representing more than one government — both stemming from his county commissioner status.

"Rather than telling John or Jill to 'Call this phone number,'" he said, "I'd rather pick up the phone and work on the problem myself."

Pointing to his community activities in Plymouth and Canton, Joyner said his style is similar to public relations work (a charge Law levels as a criticism), and that he is not ashamed of it. "I think a public official has a responsibility for improving the image of his community," he said.

GERALD H. LAW, Rep.
OCCUPATION: Credit Analyst, Ford Motor Credit Company, Dearborn, 11 years.
EDUCATION: B.S. Management, University of Detroit; MBA Finance, U-D; J.D., Wayne State University Law School.
BACKGROUND: Plymouth Township trustee, 1978 to present; former member township planning commission; Republican precinct delegate; Kiwanis director; Jaycees; past vice president Wayne Young Republicans; Hines Park Task Force; former mathematics teacher; member Y.M.C.A.; chamber of commerce, Plymouth Republican Club, usher at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church.

Law is coming out swinging in this campaign, charging that both his opponents are being "irresponsible" in promising to cut taxes without detailing how they would make "massive" cuts in state spending to offset the revenue loss.

This charge he levels at his opponents' stands on the single business tax. He himself advocates a shift to the sales tax for financing of education very similar to the one Democrat Joyner supports. A one cent addition to the sales tax could remove 10 to 15 mills from the backs of property tax payers without being a burden to the less-advantaged since Michigan no longer collects sales tax on food and drugs, he said.

While the reduction in the property tax would mean more money in state coffers from income taxes due to reduced "circuit breaker" eligibility, Law said he would propose that those savings be earmarked for education.

"The people are not kidding anymore," he explained. "They can't pay property taxes like this. People are getting taxed out of their homes."

The property tax provides a stable base for school financing and Law said he would not advocate its total elimination. "Using the property tax alone has worn itself out," he said. "We've had a complete switch in the funding of education in the past decade. We're giving less (state) money to education and more to social services."

creased unemployment and added welfare caseloads," Law said. "Still, the formula for state aid is goofed up. Ninety percent of all districts should be in formula; it's ridiculous that places like Plymouth and Northville are going out of formula."

Law said the most frequently heard questions from voters regard taxes and education, with the link being made from taxes to the economy.

"Obviously, the first issue is creating a good economy," Law said. "The comments of my opponents on the SBT are irresponsible — they're saying things to attract attention, vote-getters."

Saying the SBT cuts proposed by Joyner and Bilby mean slashes of $500 million to $1 billion in state revenue, Law instead suggests some alterations — making the SBT apply to profits and providing more deductions for research and development purposes.

"I have not seen anybody show an alternative program that's any better than the Single Business Tax. We got the SBT because of complaints with the old systems," he said.

Law asserted that Michigan's economic potential — based on the available labor force, natural resources and other attributes — is one of the top three in the nation "next to California and Texas."

Reform of the unemployment and workers compensation systems is needed to make use of that potential, Law said, as will be regulatory reforms.

"It's going to take a period of time," he said. "We wrote those laws over the past 20 years to solve problems. Now some of them are causing problems. They should be reviewed."

Tax incentives are "marginal" factors in attracting business, according to a recent study Law cited, so he said he would rather emphasize other means of enticing business to locate here.

"There are a lot of industries that could thrive here," he said. "This is a union state, we can't ignore that, but this is also a state with a skilled labor force. Putting together a car isn't simple."

"The auto industry will never be the same as it was," he continued. "But we could have food processing, forestry, high technology. We don't have a good jobs situation because we've been spoiled by the auto industry and never pursued other industries."

After jobs creation and education, Law cites crime and the penal system among his priorities. Asserting that "a certain element of the prison population at any one time, say 10 percent" is made up of "hard-core" criminals with no hope of reform, Law said the task is to "remove them from society for long periods of time."

"If you're going to have minimum sentencing, if you're going to take those people out of society, you're going to have to pay for it," he said. "We're not worried about rehabilitation here. We're talking about removing them. The prisons should not be Holiday Inns, and the public should not have the perception that they are. We can't afford any frills (in new prisons)."

Environmentally, Law's primary concern is toxic waste dumps. "You have some irresponsible companies that dumped toxic wastes, or paid some fly-by-night transport operation that dumped it," he explained. "I have no problem with government getting very heavily involved in these situations."

Law said he is "not against" the Equal Rights Amendment. "I don't like to get into extremes, on either side. I would vote for it if it came up again." Reports during the primary that he was opposed to ERA were incorrect, he said.

Law is anti-abortion, an attitude he explained during the primary as a personal one arising in part from his Catholic faith. He would vote to ban state-paid medical abortions and would vote to override a governor's veto of such a bill, he said then.

Law said voters' choices in this election should center on the candidates' credibility.

Charging Joyner's words don't always match his actions, Law said the Democrat's voting record in Wayne County shows he supported the millage request on the August ballot and then failed to vote when county workforce reductions came up.

Preschool classes open

Each Friday is "Bring a Friend Play Day" in New Morning School's preschool program. This is an opportunity for interested parents to spend a morning with their preschooler at New Morning School at no charge.

New Morning School, a preschool through eighth grade child-centered school, is located on Haggerty Road, bordering Northville Township.

Preschool sessions meet each morning from 9-11:30 a.m. with parents choosing two or three days per week. Daycare also is available from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Children staying all day are included in the planned preschool program.

New Morning School offers parents co-op and non co-op options. Co-op parents are members of the school's board of directors and help with various aspects of the school including helping in the classroom.

Director Elaine Yagiela stresses that parents do not have to be available to help in the classroom to be a co-op member as many responsibilities can be worked around a parent's schedule.

Current rates are $4.75 per session (co-op), $6 per session (non co-op), Day Care $10 per day (co-op), $11 per day (non co-op). Arrangements can be made for less than the full day rates.

For more information or to register for "Bring a Friend Play Day," call Elaine Yagiela at 420-3331.

Fall Buffet tonight for YWCA

The YWCA of Western Wayne County is hosting a Fall Buffet this evening for all YWCA members involved in YWCA groups or clubs.

The dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. with a fashion show presented by Princess Smith of Enchante Boutique scheduled at 7 p.m.

The dinner will take place at the YWCA of Western Wayne County between John Daly and Beech Daly. Cost is $1.50 plus a recipe and a dish to pass.

For more information, contact the YWCA at 561-4110.

"Recreation Sings," a concert featuring the Novi "Choralaires," the Livonia Civic Chorus, the Dearborn Community Choral and the Farmington Community Chorus, will be held at 4 p.m. this Sunday at the Novi High School Fuerst Auditorium.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at the Novi Parks and Recreation Office and also will be available at the door the day of the performance.

Prices are $3 for adults and $2 for children under 12. All proceeds from the concert are to be donated to the National Institute for Burn Medicine in Ann Arbor.

The program is being sponsored by the Novi Jaycees. For further information, call 349-1976.

Smokey the Bear

Lucky little youngsters like the Allen sisters — three year old Nicki (on Smokey's lap) and five year old Heather — were able to meet and talk with Smokey the Bear at the Northville city fire department's annual open house October 9. Smokey the Bear was on hand to help explain the dangers of fire, and just be a part of the day-long festivities. Also, the fire department had all of its equipment on display in addition to films and other materials for people on how to prevent fires around the home. (Record photo by Steve Fecht)

City, township to join in ambulance bidding

Ambulance service to Northville city and township will be put out for bids.

The township last week joined the city in choosing not to execute a five-year renewal option in the current contract with Novi Ambulance. Township board members voted to join the city in seeking an ambulance provider to serve both communities under a single contract.

Novi Ambulance will be among those invited to submit bids for the joint service contract.

The township action came upon a proposal from the city made last month.

One motivating factor in putting the service up for bids was continued receipt of complaints from residents, Supervisor John MacDonald related earlier.

Details of the bidding process are to be developed in communications between city and township administrators. At Monday night's city council meeting the council received two letters commending the service of John Early and the Novi Ambulance firm. One was from the National Kidney Foundation in appreciation of Novi Ambulance providing a stand-by service during its October 17 Trail-a-Thon at Maybury Park.

The other was Northville recreation director Ed Kricitz thanking the firm for service during its May race and noting it will do so again in November at the next one.

Council observed that it has been receiving a rash of such letters, speculating they may have been solicited.

Mayor Vernon reported he had received a verbal complaint from a resident who said the ambulance company insisted on transporting a patient to Botsford Hospital instead of the Providence facility nearer in Novi.

She said charges amounted to $40 a mile. The council noted that the final amount could have been divided to come to that figure, but that charges are a $300 base fee and $15 a mile.

City manager refutes charges of 'irresponsible waste'

Robertson, both noted.

Robertson also had cited the waste and cost of water "running 24 hours a day at no cost" to approximately 75 users during the winter to avoid freezing.

"Northville, like many communities with older water systems has areas which can freeze in winter if they are static overnight during severe cold spells," Walters admitted.

He said there are 65 key locations that were allowed to bleed water during the 1981-82 winter. However, he declared, these customers were billed on an estimate of their metered use during the rest of the year.

Unbilled charges to the city of Detroit amounted to $7,670 last winter, Walters detailed.

"This is not enough to pay for the probable thawing out costs if the lines were allowed to freeze, and hardly enough to justify rebuilding many blocks of water mains and taps. The city's present policy, Walters felt, "is reasonable until water/sewer rates become high enough to justify rebuilding."

Robertson also had cited procedure in water main breaks "allowed to run for about a week."

Saying that "breaks occur in every month of the year and are repaired as soon as possible, although emergencies such as snow and ice control could delay a repair, Walters said the January, 1981, water bill was an increase of $5,975 over the previous year, not $10,000 higher as Robertson estimated.

Walters related that $2,724 was attributed to increased rates and that residents had used 12.3 percent more water.

In response to Robertson's comment that the DPW "has almost as many chiefs as Indians" with a superintendent, foreman, working foreman and clerk to "keep records for seven people," Walters declared, "only the superintendent and foreman are supervisors."

He said the working foreman is a union member who does the same work as equipment operators but may be in charge of the crew. The department, with supervisors, he pointed out, numbers 11 people. It is responsible for operations totaling $1,296,000 a year. Thus, he feels it is not overstuffed.

To the charge that the city still has a trash truck on which payments are being made, Walters answered that at the time the trash pick ups were contracted the city had two packers. An older one was sold, but the newer one was "subject to a bank loan" paid off last June. It is used, he said, to pick up trash the contractor is not required to — at special events and in storm damage.

He said the city paid Midwest Sanitation $103,908 during the first contract year. Noting the contract included commercial only for 10 months, he said the second year cost will be approximately $118,000. In conjunction, he said, the city purchased two front loader containers for pick ups at a cost of $600.

At Monday's meeting the council approved the bid of Contract Welding and Fabric of Bellview, Michigan, for seven six-yard front loading containers at a price of $2,835. DPW superintendent Ted Mapes told council that it was a replacement project with the decision made to use front loading containers holding six yards. At present, he said, the city has approximately 100 two-yard ones.

As a final comment to Robertson's charges, Walters noted that the cost of DPW collection for the same period would have been approximately $190,000 — "more than enough to cover unemployment cost and produce first year savings."

Robertson was in the audience Monday but made no comment. The information in reply was supplied by Walters just before the meeting to the council. Council members made few observations but agreed to the request of Mayor Vernon that Walters' statement be published in the official minutes in its entirety.

"Our citizens can and should question judgment decisions of city council, but letters that attack the character or integrity of city officials should not go unanswered," Vernon stated.

The rejuvenated 30-year-old house is complete with new porch, driveway and walks, Walters points out to prospective buyers.

The city has invested about $46,000 in the house, Walters says, including the lot purchase but not the actual move which was part of the post office purchase agreement.

"You can figure it has more than $15,000 in improvements," he adds.

Walters is showing the house at a series of open houses. The first was held Sunday. Others will be Wednesday from 3-5 p.m.; Sunday, 1-3 p.m.; Tuesday, 3-5 p.m. and Saturday, October 30, 1-3 p.m.

"But if these times aren't convenient," the city manager adds, "call for others."

The property tax advantage, he explains, occurs because the house has been tax exempt during city ownership. If it is purchased this year, it will not be added to the assessment roll until 1983, and the first tax bill will be due July 1, 1983. The first county tax bill will come due December 31, 1983. There are no back taxes or assessments due; therefore, none to pro-rate in closing.

Walters estimates the city summer taxes will be about $490, and the county taxes, $1,490.

Walters is hoping his salesmanship will result in the house being sold directly to an individual, but the city has made provision to pay a six percent commission to a broker who presents the best (net) offer before the 5 p.m. deadline November 1.

The offers will be opened and read in public at the deadline and then will be presented to city council for action at the 8 p.m. meeting that night.

While it is hoping for a cash deal, the city will consider a land contract, according to Walters, preferring five years or less with substantial down payment.

The asking price? Based on an appraisal estimate: $69,500 — but, like any real estate salesman, Walters is aware that "not too many sell at the asking price."

Assertiveness workshop scheduled

Assertiveness Training sessions will be conducted by Janet Fulgenzi from 7-9 p.m. Wednesdays beginning October 27 at St. John's Provincial Seminary.

The four-week workshop is open to anyone wishing to handle communications, conflict, anger, tenderness and conversation more effectively.

In addition to assertiveness training, Sister Janet will teach participants to deal with criticism and anger and learn how to handle positive feelings.

A faculty member at St. John's and a psychologist associated with Human Growth Center, Inc., in Ann Arbor, Sister Janet is the originator of St. John's Stress Management workshops and courses in "Coping With Crisis" and "Can I Be Angry and Still Be a Minister?"

For information about the workshop or registration, call 453-6200. Registrations will be accepted through October 21.

ELIZABETH LAPHAM KERR

A memorial service will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at First Presbyterian Church for Elizabeth Lapham Kerr, mother of Mrs. H.O. Evans of Northville.

Mrs. Kerr died Saturday at Wishing Well Manor convalescent home at 520 West Main.

She and her husband, the Reverend Dr. Milton Kerr, whom she married in 1974 in St. Petersburg, Florida, had moved to Trinity Retirement Home in Livonia in 1981 due to ill health.

Mrs. Kerr was born June 26, 1893, in Innshannon, County Cork, Ireland, to John and Esther (Beazley) Bateman.

She married Walter Lapham of Killarney in Trinity Episcopal Church of Dublin, Ireland, in 1921. They moved to Eldersley, Saskatchewan, Canada, in the 1920s. Their children, Gladys Evans and Vincent Lapham of Schaumburg, Illinois, were born in Canada.

The family moved to Mansfield, Illinois, in 1929. Mrs. Kerr was active in church work and in the Soroptimist Club in Champaign. Upon the death of her first husband, she moved to St. Petersburg in 1964 where she was an active member of Albright Methodist Church of St. Petersburg.

In addition to Dr. Kerr and her children she leaves six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The family has requested there be no flowers.

RAUNIE LANCASTER

Memorial service for Northville resident Raunie Lancaster will be held at 2 p.m. October 22 at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home.

Mrs. Lancaster died October 18 at Hospice of Southeastern Michigan. She was 67.

A 29-year employee of Chrysler, Mrs. Lancaster was born in Negaunee January 29, 1915. She was preceded in death by her husband Herman.

She is survived by her daughter Nancy Saastamoinen and three brothers.

MARIE A. McPHERSON

Funeral service for area resident Marie A. McPherson was held at 11 a.m. October 15 at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home. The Reverend John L. Mishler officiated. Burial was at Forest Lawn Cemetery in Detroit.

Mrs. McPherson died October 12 at St. Mary Hospital. Born in Lake Landen to Lawrence and Elvina (Trombley) Aubrey, she was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville and was a retired secretary for Warner Aircraft Corporation.

She was preceded in death by her husband Harold who died in 1976.

She is survived by many nieces and nephews including Nancy A. McGraw of Northville.

Weight control studied

A new approach to weight control will be discussed by Lorraine Stefano in an all-day workshop to be held October 30 at Schoolcraft College.

The workshop, scheduled from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Room B200 of the Liberal Arts Building, will show how even low-willpower, no self-control perpetual dieters can succeed at permanent weight control.

The workshop will explore relationships to food, the elimination of self-defeating behaviors and developing a positive self-concept.

For registration information, call the Women's Resource Center at 591-6400, extension 430. The workshop fee is $25.

Correction

An incorrect phone number was published in last week's story regarding interested boys wanting to join Boy Scout Troop 277 sponsored by Bushnell Congregational Church which meets at Silver Springs Elementary Wednesday nights.

The correct phone number to call Scoutmaster Harvey Seymour is 525-4206.

The Record regrets any inconvenience the error may have caused.

Nuclear weapons freeze proposed

Placed before Michigan voters in November is a chance to express their desire concerning an international issue: nuclear weapons.

Michigan's Proposal E calls for the United States to initiate nuclear weapons freeze agreements with the world's other nuclear weapons superpower, the USSR.

The law, if adopted, would require state officials to immediately convey the voters' desire for a nuclear freeze to President Ronald Reagan and other federal officials.

The adoption of the law would accrue two actions: Publicize the danger of nuclear war and the reduction of that danger via mutual agreement between the United States and USSR to establish a nuclear freeze.

It would also require state officials to urgently notify federal officials that the United States must propose a mutual freeze, entailing a moratorium on all nuclear weapons testing and development and compliance with verification procedures, and the transfer of funds from nuclear weapons production to civilian use.

While advocates and proponents of the proposal both admit the devastating effects of a nuclear holocaust, the ability to verify a weapons freeze is a point of controversy.

U.S. Congressman William Broomfield, Republican-Birmingham, opposes the proposal.

"I prefer a reduction on both sides," said Broomfield, whose 18th district includes parts of Oakland, Macomb and Livingston counties. "This is preferable rather than a freeze at a higher level. Verification is the hardest part of an agreement. Verifying that the other side is complying would be difficult." Michigan Nuclear Weapons Freeze has organized a formal campaign favoring the proposal and said Soviet compliance with a mutual freeze could be verified through existing U.S. technology.

"Both sides have enough weapons now to destroy the world many, many times over," said Pat Robertson, campaign coordinator for Michigan Nuclear Weapons Freeze. "A mutual freeze is verifiable—that's the nitty-gritty of this issue. The U.S. has the technology to monitor the activities of Russia. Our satellites can detect if they're cheating."

Beyond verification, Broomfield said an immediate freeze would leave the U.S. arsenal at a disadvantage.

"I am opposed to the wording of the proposal," said Broomfield. "If it were worded differently, there would be a different (voter) response. The other wording might be 'would you favor a nuclear freeze even if it left the U.S. at a disadvantage.'"

However, Robertson contends that U.S. nuclear capability is approximately equal to USSR capability and adds that a freeze would benefit civilians.

"Money spent on nuclear weapons can be better spent," said Robertson. "A U.S. News and World Report report indicated that nuclear weapons spending is capital intensive and that $1 billion spent in defense creates about 76,000 jobs. $1 billion provides 100,000 construction jobs. It can also provide 92,000 business sector jobs, 112,000 jobs in the health services, 187,000 education jobs or 154,000 health service jobs."

Utilities focus of Proposals D, G and H

Concern about the cost and control of public utilities and the rates they charge has prompted three of the seven proposals that will face Michigan voters on November 2.

At the center of all three proposals is the state's Public Service Commission, which regulates the utilities.

Two of the Proposals, D and H, are opposing solutions to the same issue—rate increases, particularly heretofore automatic rate increase adjustments allowing for the price a utility pays for fuel.

The third utility-related proposal, G, would let voters elect members to a five-member Public Service Commission. Currently, the three members of the commission are appointed by the governor and approved by the State Senate.

Proposal H is the utility-backed answer to Proposal D, which critics have labeled as "Dumb" in an extensive television campaign. Both D and H would abolish automatic rate adjustments, but their similarities end there.

D would require complete hearings on all costs of utility service, including fuel costs, and generally allow only one rate increase hearing at a time for each utility. D has the backing of the Michigan Citizens Lobby and Attorney General Frank Kelley.

Utility spokespeople and others who back H and oppose D say that the Michigan business community would be hamstrung if D passes.

While D backers argue that the proposal gives the public more control over spiraling utility costs, its opponents say D would prevent utilities from providing the energy that present and potential new businesses need to function.

Particularly galling to D opponents is the restriction on rate hearings that a utility can request. Rate hearings now take an average of 14 months to complete, they say. In addition to the costly delay, utilities will not be able to recover their operating costs as they are incurred, according to the utility-backed Citizens for Michigan Jobs and Energy.

Proposal H would prohibit some adjustment clauses and lets utilities recover "reasonable and prudent costs of fuel, purchased gas or purchased electricity" only after a full hearing; permit separate hearings simultaneously and prohibit legislative members from working for any Michigan utility for two years after leaving office.

Utility spokespeople say that D could be financially damaging to both consumers and utility stockholders.

Proposal G, which calls for the election of Public Service Commission members, is either a call for more public accountability or an invitation for demagoguery, depending on one's viewpoint.

G calls for the non-partisan election of five members to the commission for four-year terms with no more than three terms expiring at the same time.

Commission postpones drain improvements

Improvement of the Tonquish Creek drain system has been postponed indefinitely in the face of strong opposition from the communities involved, to the relief of township officials.

The Tonquish drain commission voted September 29 to "cease planning of and construction of the improvements" until such time as voters and the governments involved show more interest in paying for the extensive alterations proposed.

The drain begins in Northville Township, north of Five Mile between Beck and Ridge roads on state-owned property. It flows south through Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton.

Frequent flooding problems led to a request by the southern communities that the Wayne County Drain Commission improve the drain. That request 10 years ago resulted in an extensive plan proposed this summer. Three of the four communities asked to be deleted from the program when the high costs became apparent. Northville Township also urged that a more equitable cost split be made to reflect the government ownership of the affected property here.

Since the township could not tax the beneficiary, supervisor John MacDonald argued, the percentage of cost allocated here should be assessed against the state owner.

Cancellation of the Tonquish improvements does not let the communities off without a price, however, since the drain commission will recover its engineering, legal, administrative and publishing costs from the communities on the same cost split devised for the improvement itself.

Northville Township's share of the costs will be 2.8 percent of the total.

council Monday night in the amount of $20,333.42 prepayment under the same upfront terms as in the township. She anticipated the sum will be used up in "seven or eight years."

The prepayment policy addresses a problem the cable television operation faced in the Plymouth/Canton area. Canton's franchise agreement included "upfront" money while Plymouth's did not. But Plymouth's included a clause granting it whatever benefits Omnicom might grant to later franchise communities. The revised payment program strikes a middle ground.

Seeley also introduced Suzanne Skubick, who will be directing local programming operations, to both township and city officials. Skubick announced a new "Job Show" produced with the Michigan Employment Security Commission will be offered on cable channel 8.

She also said Omnicom "is going to be doing some new things with programming." Among them, she added, will be revision of the public access hours. The present 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. operation is difficult for working people, she explained, and an different hours will be established in the near future to address that problem.

Police Blotter

City police investigate two separate assault charges

In the city...

Two separate assault charges still are under investigation by city police after reports were filed last week. An assault and battery warrant is being sought by police in connection with an incident at the Electric Light Room, located on Seven Mile, that took place October 8.

According to the report, the complainant said she had her car parked in the Electric Light Room lot while her boyfriend was fixing the car.

A subject approached her, began using abusive language, challenged her to a fight and subsequently hit her in the face, the complainant said. The subject claims at this time the complainant backed her car up to attempt to strike her, the report said.

The subject said she sought shelter behind a dumpster. Subject contends the complainant started the incident by verbally assaulting her with obscenities, police said.

Police are investigating a felonious assault after an incident between a man and woman at a South Center Street residence sometime October 14.

Police talked with a witness, a 33-year-old Redford Township man and a 28-year-old Detroit woman at the station. According to the Detroit woman she went to the house to ask her girlfriend for some money she owed her. The woman said she was on the lease, but in the process of trying to have it removed after leaving home because of a problem with the girlfriend.

The Detroit woman said, when she went to the house, she was physically pushed out by the Redford man. She returned to her car to get a tire iron and went back to the house to break a window next to the door, the report said.

The man then came out and chased her, took the tire iron from her and knocked her down. She said the man then threatened her with the tire iron before breaking the rear window of the car, the report said.

The man said the woman came to the house to ask for the money, but didn't force her to leave. However, after the window broke, he did chase her. He explained she swung the tire iron at him which he took away from her, the report said.

He said he did not threaten her, but he did break the rear window of her car, the report said.

Police still are investigating a larceny from a building complainant in which an employee stole some blank company checks from Detroit Staple Company on Baseline October 8.

According to the report, the complainant said he was getting ready to close the business when the suspect said he would lock up because he was waiting for a phone call from a friend. The complainant said he then left.

Five days later the owner received a call from the suspect who said he was in Texas with the blank checks. Police found some of the checks had been cashed while others were still outstanding.

According to police, the suspect was last seen driving a 1974 red Impala wagon.

Police have issued a failure to license citation under the city ordinance to the owner of Noder's Jewelry, 101 East Main, after receiving several complaints from customers during the past month.

Police received their first complaint September 16 when a woman stated she was trying to get her ring back with no luck. An officer tried to talk with the owner, who lives in Lincoln Park, with no luck. It was discovered the owner changed his home phone number to a private listing. Police thus asked assistance from Lincoln Park police to contact the owner at his home, the report said.

Lincoln Park police contacted the owner and told him to call Northville City police. The owner finally called, was told of the situation and eventually returned the woman's ring. However, there have been six other complaints of persons who have not received their merchandise, the report said.

Police mailed a registered letter October 1 explaining the ordinance violation to the owner, and notifying him that he had 10 days to respond. However, nothing was done, and the city is now seeking prosecution under the ordinance, the report said.

...In the township

More than $1,200 worth of tools and equipment was stolen in a breaking-and-entering incident at a Seven Mile Road landscaping business overnight October 12, police reports show.

Three chain saws valued at a total of $650, a $450 brush cutter and a toolbox and tools valued at $150 were major items stolen from Sabra Landscapers between 6:30 p.m. October 12 and 8:15 a.m. October 13. A $40 battery charger was also stolen, and the thieves did $25 damage in the course of the break-in.

Police believe the burglars entered through garage-type doors on the building, prying a flap from the doors to do so. Once inside, the suspects knocked down a wooden interior door to gain access to office space upstairs, where the chain saws were kept.

A 1982 Ford Escort stolen from a city dealership was found partially stripped in a township field October 13.

Canton police provided a lead directing township police to the car. It was found several hundred yards south of Six Mile road in a field near Sheldon.

All four wheels had been removed, as had the spare tire, rear bumper, left taillight and right headlight. The car was identified as one owned by McDonald Ford's leasing operation. Police noted that the ignition switch had not been tampered with at all.

Township police are keeping an eye out for a suspected counterfeiter/forgery who passed a one dollar bill as a 10 at a Seven Mile grocery last Thursday.

Police were notified by the A&P manager after a customer noticed the $10 bill she received in change was a "bad bill" and returned it to the store 15 minutes after receiving it. It was actually a single. The forger had cut the numbers from the corners, pasting in the numbers from a $10 bill.

The teller described for police the customers immediately preceding the one who received the bill in change during the early evening of October 14.

Two motor home tires, valued at $170, were reported punctured overnight October 9 or 10.

The Fairbrook resident who owns the motor home told police the tires were intact at 11 a.m. October 9 and flat the next morning at 10 a.m. Puncture marks were found in the sidewalls.

A 1972 Plymouth Barracuda suffered $100 damage in the early morning hours October 15 when someone threw a rock through the driver's side window.

The Norton resident owner told police he heard glass breaking some time before 2 a.m. and that the window was definitely intact at 11 p.m. October 14.

Rec commission discusses site plans

Initial site plans for the proposed recreation use of surplus Detroit House of Corrections land turned over to the township could be ready by April of next year, it was announced at the Northville Recreation Commission meeting last week Wednesday.

The site plans can be made even though the township has not yet received voter approval to purchase the land for $1, Commissioner James Armstrong said.

Governor William Milliken signed a capital outlays bill which included the proposed $1 sale of 39 acres of surplus former DeHoCo land to the township for recreation use. Under state law, general law townships are prohibited from acquiring land without a vote of the electorate. The earliest the vote could come is possibly next spring if the rumored election regarding changes in the Wayne County Road Commission comes true.

The township earlier allocated $9,000 of federal community development block grant funds to do a study for a recreation park on the land. The 39 acres is the northernmost portion of the former DeHoCo property owned by the state.

Part of the initial site plans will cover topography and site plan with aerial survey; topographical map; site analysis including the physical limitations and possible developments; and soil analysis, Armstrong said.

He also explained if the commission wants to get funds from other community groups — like the Kiwanis, Lions and Jaycees who also are working on the project — it probably would be appropriate to start doing so now to get a working base for the spring.

In other recreation news, Recreation Director Edward Kritzev said the Karate Club lease had been terminated, and that the club left the building shortly after receiving the letter.

"There were a couple of reasons," said Kritzev of the club's lease termination. "Number one, the same thing started again in terms of excess stage hours. Number two, we actually need the time of the building and could use it for other entertainment activities."

The Karate Club was locked out of the community building back at the end of July over a dispute of back rent due. Building Supervisor Matt Sullivan, and Kritzev, two commission members and officers of the Karate Club met in August to settle the dispute.

Anderson, Faxon debate issues

By M.B. DILLON WARD

The two candidates for the 15th District State Senate seat recently got into a sparring match. During taping of a Southfield cable television show, challenger John Anderson, the Republican nominee for the post, squared off against Senator Jack Faxon, the Democratic nominee last elected to the legislature from a Detroit district.

Anderson admits Faxon has on-the-job experience, but contends the voting record of his opponent proves Faxon has the wrong kind of experience. Anderson charged Faxon with not being present during a number of votes of crucial importance to Michigan residents.

The charges came during the taping of "Mostly Business," a weekly television show that will air in Southfield October 19 on cable television. The men are competing for the 15th District Senate seat that includes Novi, Wixom, part of Northville, Farmington Hills, Farmington, Southfield, Lathrup Village, Huntington Woods, Ferndale and Oak Park.

Faxon, known for his strong support of the arts and education, countered Anderson's attack by saying his experience, particularly in the area of education, renders him an "extremely effective" legislator.

Faxon is president pro tem of the Senate and a 17-year veteran of the state legislature.

Anderson, a 31-year-old attorney with a prominent law firm, is chairman of the Southeastern Oakland County Boy Scout District; past vice-president of the Farmington Chamber of Commerce and a former manufacturing executive.

Anderson also sparked the political rivals' discussion on the state's ailing economy.

With regard to workers' compensation reforms, Faxon said, "we've just passed significant reforms that already have impacted the business community with a 20-percent reduction in premiums. Historically, people have blamed the users, not the insurers. What we've found is that insurers have easily made the reductions."

Contested Anderson: "He says 'we' made these changes in workers compensation laws. I'd like to point out that with respect to three key votes on workers' compensation, Jack Faxon was absent from the legislature."

"To me that demonstrates carelessness towards the single most important area of legislation affecting revitalization of the economy to come down the road in this legislative session."

Faxon said he was absent because he was in France on business related to Lycee International, a French school in Southfield where Faxon is headmaster.

"I was the first Michigan legislator ever to visit France upon the invitation of the French government," Faxon said. "The French made an investment of about a quarter million dollars in the school."

Faxon also defended his attendance record.

Said he: "It's important to know my attendance record puts me in the top five percent among my colleagues. The workers' comp votes would not have been affected by my absence or presence."

To that, Anderson said, "To say his vote wouldn't have made any difference, to me seems beyond belief."

Anderson advocates "the tightening of eligibility requirements for workers' compensation claimants in order to create a climate in which jobs may be developed."

"There's no question further reforms are needed," he said.

Temperatures in the studio again rose when the topic turned to small business.

"We've done things in the legislature to encourage new small businesses by reducing paperwork and setting up customized business training with local community colleges," said Faxon, referring to the "one-stop shopping" bill intended to ease regulatory burdens faced by small businesses.

"Jack Faxon gives the impression he supported that bill, when in fact he voted against it," Anderson said.

"He's misrepresenting the record," answered Faxon. "I'm speaking as a member of the legislature. Once legislation is effected, it's 'we' who share the responsibility."

Regarding the high cost of unemployment compensation, Faxon said the federal government must share sole blame for exacting excessive interest rates on the money Michigan has had to borrow to pay unemployment benefits. An effective unemployment compensation program is sorely needed, he added.

"We need to sustain families of the unemployed based on what they make," Faxon said. "Removing individuals' ability to support their families would be devastating to the economy."

Anderson called Faxon's shot at the federal administration "a smokescreen."

"While it's true our economic capacity has sole origin in the national or international economy," Anderson said, "to say we can do nothing at the state level is underestimating voters."

"I feel a sense of urgency about the problems facing Michigan. You may get tired of hearing it, but creating jobs is the key issue. If elected, I'll put my heart and soul into doing everything I can to put people back to work."

Faxon voted in favor of the state income tax hike, the open meetings act and a package of bills stipulating stricter penalties for drunk drivers. He is opposed to voluntary prayer in the schools and did not favor the recently passed workers' compensation laws.

Anderson said as a member of the legislature, he would have voted against the income tax hike and supported the workers' compensation reforms and drunk driving bills. He also opposes prayer in the schools.

Parson to Person...
The Most Dangerous Beast in the World
Dr. James H. Luther

The most dangerous beast known to man is the one that makes its den behind your teeth. It is your tongue!

James compares the tongue to a flame of fire (3:6). He warns that it is full of wickedness and can poison every part of the body. David prayed that the Lord would guard his mouth.

The tongue used to its greatest potential brings praise to God. The faithful Christian sings:

"Take my lips and let them move, at the impulse of Thy love."

The greatest contradiction in life is for a person to praise God and curse men. The height of hypocrisy is to use the tongue for both godliness and gossip. Like oil and water, they do not mix. Thus, Peter instructs us to cease from slander if we want to mature spiritually (1 Peter 2:1-2).

To use the tongue for good and God, we must follow guidelines. Here is a proverbial poem that helps:

"If your lips would keep from slips,
Five things observe with care:
Of whom you speak, to whom you speak,
And how, and when, and where."

The best instruction is given by the psalmist: "Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer (Psalm 19:14)."

Homecoming spirit

Northville High School students and staff members capped a week of homecoming festivities with the annual pre-homecoming game pep rally held last Friday in the NHS gym. In anticipation of Friday's game against Livonia Churchill, the Mustangs rallied together to show off some of that old high school spirit. Pep rally entertainment was provided by the high school's new corps of pom-pom boys (at right) whose routine brought thunderous applause from the pep rally crowd. Selection of the 1982 Homecoming King and Queen also was announced with honors going to Mike Kaley and Kim Assenmacher. Friday's pep rally preceded the annual homecoming float parade and competition. The NHS National Honors Society came away with the prize-winning float with the senior class taking second and the juniors taking third. Record photos by Steve Fecht.

NHS talent show begins tonight

After a six-year absence, the Northville High School Drama Club has revived its community-wide talent show with the first of its exceptional talents performing at 7 p.m. tonight in the high school auditorium.

Drama Director Kurt Kinde reports that tickets are still available for the four shows scheduled tonight through Saturday. Tickets are on sale at IV Seasons and at the high school.

Season passes for two persons are available for all four nights at $8. Individual passes for all four performances are $6. Individual tickets for single performances are $2.50 for adults and $2 for students.

Tonight's performance will highlight the "Coming up the Hill Gang." Kinde has announced that some 15 different acts with performers ranging in age from tots to ninth graders will display a bevy of talent.

The "On the Hill Gang," which includes students in grades 10-12, will perform at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

According to the NHS Drama Club, the competition in this category has been fierce. Some of the acts to perform tomorrow evening include students Dave Dore and Ian Schreier performing a musical piece on the piano and a jazz number performed by students Steve Kozler, Phil Benstein, Randy Chisnell, Dave Dore, Jeff Lauer and Ian Schreier.

There also will be a rock band consisting of Jeff Roberts, Bob Foster, Frank Nieto and Jeff Hooten and a fife and drum corp made up of Kevin Murry, Judy Bustamante, Matilda Francoeur and Scott Martin.

Solo acts will be performed by Betsy Buckmaster on flute and Lisa Sawyer on piano. Dance numbers include a duet by Joyce Fraser and Karyn Leech, a ballet solo by Lisa Ehler, modern dance number by Carolyn Dragon and a highland dance by Leslie Grover.

Songbird Paula Folino lends her throat as does Vince Ventura. Tom Yanoschik will give a dramatic reading and Brian Bidwell will mystify with his magic.

Northville's adult community, the "Over the Hill Gang," will take to the stage at 8 p.m. Friday evening.

The top three performances in the three divisions will be highlighted at 8 p.m. Saturday — the final night of the talent show — in the "King of the Hill" competition. Prizes for the best performances include a $100 first prize, $75 second and $50 third.

All performances will be held in the high school auditorium. For further information, contact Drama Director Kurt Kinde at 349-3400.

Northville High School has extended a community-wide invitation to the grand opening of its student store — the Hill-Top Shoppe — next Tuesday, October 26, in the high school cafeteria.

The Hill-Top Shoppe, which serves as an integral part of the high school's marketing program, closed in 1978 due to a lack of funds. The Northville Board of Education approved funding earlier this year for its reopening.

A ribbon cutting ceremony will take place at 8:30 a.m. Door prizes and refreshments also will be available.

More than 90 students from four high school business classes have been buying and pricing merchandise, selling advertising and setting up displays in anticipation of the retail shop's grand opening, according to teacher coordinator Wayne Saunders.

He pointed out that the purpose of the school store is to provide a real-life situation for students in the marketing program and to supplement classroom instruction.

He cited several benefits for students including comprehension of total store operation, exposure to real management decision-making, development of student interpersonal relationships, contact with vendors and suppliers and immediate hands-on experience.

Saunders said the objective of the school store as part of the marketing program is to provide students with an actual business atmosphere in which to teach marketing principles.

He noted it also helps students develop business-like procedures and attitudes as well as providing pre-employment training.

Classroom and store functions include sales, merchandising, advertising and display, operations, management and accounting.

Store supervisor will be Ann Hicks. Some of the merchandise offered for sale includes clothing, school supplies, novelty items, custom shirt designs and stuffed animals.

Merchandise in the Hill Top Shoppe will be available to all students and staff members as well as visitors to the high school.

The only candidate who will work for real reduction in state taxes and spending:

- ★ Repeal Single Business Tax - bring jobs back to Michigan!
- ★ Reduce Personal Income Tax - let people spend their own money!
- ★ Reduce public employee and welfare expenses to competitive levels!

Remember: the purpose of casting your vote is to influence government policy. If enough votes are cast for Libertarians, it will tell whomever is elected - Libertarian, Democrat, or Republican - that there are a lot of people who want the kind of reforms Libertarians are talking about. A vote for a Democrat or a Republican just tells them, "You're doing a wonderful job; keep giving us more of the same." That's wasting your vote.

Celeste Holm's a sparkling star at town hall opening

By JEANDAY

"I don't call show business a bent feather and a dirty sequin," observed Celeste Holm as she explained to her Northville Town Hall audience last Thursday that she finds it difficult in today's acting world to find material.

"I insist on doing what I believe in," the comedienne who achieved stardom with her portrayal of the lusty Ado Annie in "Oklahoma!" declared as she opened the 1982-83 Northville Town Hall season at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Mentioning "the obligatory nude scene" that seems to be demanded today, the actress recalled her feelings when she went to see "Hair."

"They were as pale before as earthenworms," she exclaimed before turning serious to say, however, "there is nothing more erotic than a beautiful body."

But general nudity?

"Like the hula hoop, I just keep hoping it will go away," commented the star.

"But I'm only a cockeyed optimist," she continued, breaking into song. Songs, with accompaniment by her pianist Michael O'Flarity, were interspersed throughout the program.

Wearing a black jumpsuit with white Elizabethan ruffling at the neckline and wrists, Celeste Holm still had the "star" quality that holds attention.

She repeated Flora Henderson's prediction early in her career that she would be a star "because you have what it is that makes people watch you and wait to see what you are going to do next."

As she recalled incidents of her career, she illustrated her feelings with sweeping arm movements, acting out the parts.

A still-trim grandmother of three and mother of two sons, she has been married to fellow actor Wesley Addy for 21 years.

She told her audience that she really had nine children — two the usual way "and seven that adopted us." She later explained that the others were young people in the theater who stayed with them at various times.

Asked how she "looks as lovely as ever," Holm detailed her beauty routine, emphasizing, "the most important thing is health" as she stressed "get enough rest."

With the same perky humor that punctuated her talk before the luncheon, she observed, "They say that no cream can go inside the skin, but I keep trying. I also do yoga and simple exercises my doctor gave me for about 10-15 minutes each morning.

"And I drink a lot of water — you know, they say, if you drink six glasses a day you will get your memory back."

In response to smiles from those attending the celebrity luncheon after the lecture, the durable star assured everyone she was, indeed, serious.

She stayed serious to agree that "unions have priced out much good theater, especially touring shows such as come to the Fisher in Detroit.

"The thing we need so badly," she said, "is writers who have something to say."

She feels that off-Broadway theater in New York is "where the action is now," suggesting "The Dining Room" and "The Geniuses" as worth seeing.

She recalled her commitment to the theater at about age three.

"My grandmother had a love of life, and when I was that young she took me to see Anna Pavlova as the sugarplum fairy in the 'Nutcracker Suite.' It was wonderful. People were smiling and I made up my mind to be part of that experience.

"I went home and announced I was going to be a dancer."

Holm related that her father had agreed to support her for four years after high school.

She admitted she never expected to be a star but was getting some good notices. She had appeared in "The Damask Cheek" and then auditioned for Richard Rodgers' musical version of "Green Grow the Lilacs."

"You have to make it look easy," she began as she told how she stumbled and fell on her face going onstage.

"Well, once you've fallen on your face, what's there to be nervous about?"

"Could you do that again?" asked Rodgers, "and could you sing more like a farm girl?"

Rock concert among upcoming events

Rock and roll will be presented by Valis from 9 p.m. to midnight this Friday at the Northville Community building. Admission is $2 and everyone is welcome to attend.

The first general membership meeting of the "FBC Alumni" is scheduled for 7 p.m. this Friday in the Providence Hospital Fisher Center Auditorium.

"FBC Alumni" is an organization of parents whose children have been born at Providence Hospital's Family Birthing Center. The group is being formed to support and publicize the Birthing Center and its program.

Planned activities for the "alumni" include providing information to families about the philosophy of family-centered birthing, fund raising for special purposes and offering volunteer assistance and support for families and the birthing center staff.

The meeting is open to all interested persons. Babysitting will be provided.

The Plymouth Childbirth Education Association is offering a Caesarean Orientation class at 7:30 p.m. November 1 at Newburgh Methodist Church in Livonia.

The class is an introduction for couples and it is recommended the class be attended early in pregnancy as birth films are shown and nutritional and pre-natal exercise information is given.

It is not necessary to register for the class, however, a $1 per couple fee is charged. For further information, call 459-7477.

'Oklahoma!' to 'Archie Bunker'—a varied career

"That was after all those years of voice training," said Holm, who recalled telling Rodgers she could even call a hog—and did. She demonstrated again last Thursday that she hadn't lost her "calling" voice, and brought applause from her town hall audience.

The Ado Annie role did bring her stardom.

"She sang the show stopper, 'I'm Just a Girl Who Can't Say No.'"

Was it her favorite part?

"Every part I loved while doing it. Anna in 'The King and I' was wonderful. I liked 'High Society' and 'The Tender Trap'—and loved being Aunt Polly in 'Tom Sawyer' and the fairy godmother in 'Cinderella.'"

"All About Eve" was one of the toughest—theater isn't really like that."

She confided that the producers plan she will be married again next season in "Archie Bunker's Place," but declined to say who her television husband will be as several actors still are being considered.

The star who has had many leading men, including Frank Sinatra, predictably was asked what it was like working with him.

"I have always gotten along well with children," she laughed, adding, "He's more mature since then, but we really had great fun together. If you're in any kind of difficulty, he's wonderful and a great help. I just love his singing."

Her most embarrassing moment?

"It may have been when I met the President of the United States in the ladies room," Holm smiled.

"It seems every year that the White House press photographers bring choice entertainment for their ball. We were invited to participate. I was seated next to Jimmy Durante in the Hilton ballroom, and he said, 'If you're doing to do anything, you girls better do it now before things begin.'"

"So we tripped like little tulips to the wash room. I knew where it was because I had found it that afternoon during rehearsal. What I didn't know was that for stag events, both rest rooms are men's rooms."

"As I entered, president was just coming out buttoning his fly. What do you do? I curtsied."

Later, she continued, when she looked at President Harry Truman as she sang, she completely forgot her words and turned scarlet.

"I apologized, saying to the audience, 'only the President and I know why.'"

Christmas music featured

The Schoolcraft College Community Choir will focus on Music for Christmas in a seven-week "mini season" starting October 26. Guest conductor Shirley Harden has scheduled the first rehearsal and auditions for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Room 310 of the Forum Building on the Schoolcraft College campus.

Harden, dean of the Detroit Community Music School, has taught music at Schoolcraft and the Livonia Public Schools. She also has conducted youth and adult choir festivals in Michigan and handbell festivals throughout the country.

Schoolcraft's Community Choir, designed for those with previous singing experience, represents a wide range of ages and musical backgrounds. Rehearsals combine sight singing, voice training, music theory, practice of concert music and a social coffee break.

For further information, contact choir member Shari Clason at 340-8175.

Busse is guest speaker

Dr. Ewald W. Busse, a nationally known expert on aging, will be the featured speaker this Friday at the third session of the Gerontology Today series sponsored by Madonna College in Livonia.

The seminar will be held from 1-4 p.m. in the St. Mary Hospital Auditorium.

Our Opinion

Ballot proposals each deserve careful consideration

'A' not too confusing to deserve voter okay

By the time many voters reach the proposals section of a typical Michigan "bedsheet" ballot they have become fed up with being asked to select judges, board of education members and university trustees from lists of unknown names. Then they hit a string of confusing proposals and the immediate temptation is to take the safe route and vote "no" all the way down.

It's a temptation all voters are aware of and many feel guilty about, and it's one we hope not too many will succumb to come November 2. Particularly in regard to proposal A, which on its merits should have passed in 1980 but did not, largely because of voter confusion.

Despite what a careful reading of the ballot language might indicate, 'A' is actually the simplest proposal up for voter action this go-around. It simply allows (not requires, allows) the state legislature to limit its members' immunity from civil prosecution.

That immunity was granted in the 1963 Constitution and is total in regard to civil (not criminal) processes while the legislature is in session and for five days before and after. In the 20 years since the immunity was included (to protect legislators from harassment that might have occurred or influence their activities) in the Constitution, two things have happened that make it necessary to allow reforms.

First, the legislature started meeting full time, virtually year-around and second, many minor traffic offenses were decriminalized and made into civil infractions. Never ones to miss a loophole, some of our less-admirable legislators have taken advantage of the two facts to avoid prosecution for traffic offenses, claiming legislative immunity.

Since civil action also includes law suits and the like, some of the more inventive House and Senate members have managed to dodge creditors seeking payment for services rendered at their homes. Clearly, this abuse of the privilege granted in the Constitution (when it was thought only a few months delay would be possible at most) demands alteration. To their credit, most legislators recognized this and set out to do so. But since the immunity is in the Constitution, they need voter approval of an amendment. Said amendment adds only the words "Except as provided by law..." to the beginning of the immunity clause.

Simple? We would hope so. We also hope that even the most confused voters would pause long enough to cast one "yes" vote at the top of the proposals list. It must be hard enough for the honest members of the legislature to work with the less-honorable examples that have wormed their ways into the ranks. The least we can do is help them clean their own house...and Senate. Vote "Yes" on Proposal A.

Troopers don't need 'B' and neither do citizens

Strong advocates of law and order might be tempted to cast a "yes" vote on state proposal B November 2, a proposed constitutional amendment setting minimum staffing levels for the state police department and establishing that department in the Constitution.

While more troopers sounds like a good idea for law, Proposal B has very little to do with order.

It would set the state police department apart from every other function of government by providing virtual immunity from layoffs and, by extension, significant spending reductions. That the department leadership itself opposes this creation of the troopers' union speaks volumes about the mess passage would create in administration of the department.

Since the amendment is not tied to any specific spending floor for the department, and entitles even more troopers than are currently on the job to positions with the force, it would likely force the layoff of hundreds of civilian employees. This serves the union's purposes well — its members would get jobs at the expense of those civilians. It does not serve the people of the state of Michigan. Troopers manning typewriters and filing cabinets do not make the streets any safer but draw more taxpayer dollars than do their civilian counterparts.

The amendment would attempt to forestall this situation by broadening police authority in the department, a clear attempt to create a few hundred jobs and expand the individual troopers' authority not by proving a need but by altering the basic document governing our state.

If, as the commercials have it, "D is dumb" then "B is bad." It's bad public policy, bad legislation and most certainly a bad proposal for inclusion the state Constitution. Vote "No" on B.

'C' to protect home sales even if courts disagree

Approving Proposal C could prove to be a losing battle for Michigan homeowners, but it is a battle we think should be joined because it there are elements of victory even in defeat.

At issue is the enforceability of the due-on-sale clause included in many home mortgages, particularly since 1976. When enforced, the clause allows the lending institution holding a mortgage to foreclose when the borrower sells his home to a third party. The advantage to the institution is obvious; it can then charge a new, presumably higher, interest rate on a new mortgage.

Also obvious is the disadvantage to the homeowner. With more and more lenders making enforcement of the clause routine, it becomes less and less likely that a home buyer or seller can expect to use financing employing mortgage assumption.

Proposal C would ban enforcement of the due-on-sale clause, siding with the interest of the homeowner/seller/buyer. While we can acknowledge that enforcement of the clause makes good business practice for lenders, we don't find a compelling argument for allowing the clause.

The interest rate on a 30 or 40-year mortgage presumably was set by the lender at what he found an advantageous figure for the period of the loan. That the borrower chooses to move 10 or 15 years later should not change that assumption. Recent economic facts of life may have made it difficult on lenders but that can be expected as a cost of doing business. The homebuyer who loses his job a year after signing the mortgage doesn't have much choice in sticking to the agreement; we don't see why the lender should be allowed such easy outs.

Proposal C is a bit more complicated than it sounds, though. Clouding the issue are two court decisions of recent years. In 1977 a Michigan Court of Appeals decision held that the due-on-sale clause could not be enforced unless the lender could show that the person assuming the mortgage represented an increased credit risk over the original buyer. This is a rationale allowed by Proposal C also. But this year the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that states cannot regulate the actions of federally-chartered lending institutions. Therefore, the court argued, federal savings and loans associations cannot be prevented from enforcing the due-on-sale clause.

So even if C is passed, as we strongly recommend, it may be eliminated by court action. So why pass it? First, since litigation to date has not been conclusive there is a chance that proper implementing legislation could let the law stand. And second, another part of the proposal would let homeowners make the best of what would be a bleak situation if these clauses are allowed to be enforced at the lenders' whim. This latter section would provide, in cases of foreclosure because of a due-on-sale clause, that the original borrower has up to 48 months to pay off the remaining debt. At present, only six months are allowed for the payoff. Homeowners would need the extra time if routine enforcement of the due-on-sale clause is allowed.

If such clauses are really a necessary part of doing business today, the courts will allow them. If so, passage of proposal C would do what can be done to protect all those who might one day like to sell their homes. If the courts decide against due-on-sale as a routine practice, Michigan residents would join those of 17 other states in being allowed to sell their homes with the present mortgage, so long as the buyer is a reasonable credit risk. Either way, we find the arguments for a "Yes" vote the best for Michigan homeowners and, ultimately, the state housing market as a whole.

Utility plans second-best to bill on governor's desk

Proposal D is not as "dumb" as its opponents might have you believe, but it certainly does not deserve voter approval come November 2. Neither does its legislature-proposed symbiotic twin, Proposal H.

Both proposals attempt to do something that needs to be done — eliminate automatic fuel cost adjustments for state utilities. These automatic increases (meaning no review by the Public Service Commission is required to raise rates) have been allowed only since 1973.

They made sense at the time. In the midst of the state's first confrontation with the current energy crisis, prices for natural gas and other fuels jumped faster than the PSC could act (which isn't surprising since Michigan's PSC is among the slowest reviewing agencies in the country). Without the automatic adjustments, reviewed annually, utilities would be forced to sell energy for less than they paid for it, or so it was feared.

We would be the last to argue that the crisis is past, that we can return to 1972 and ignore the possibility of another quick jump in fuel costs. But the ensuing years have allowed utilities, the PSC and consumers to adjust and reflect upon the automatic adjustments. In this "calm" period it is easy to see the ability automatically to increase rates whenever fuel costs rise eliminates a utility's incentive to shop around for the cheapest fuel available. If a supplier is priced a little higher, it is too easy to pass on the cost to consumers. The only other incentive to reduce cost is that high utility rates damage the business climate, reducing the market over the long term. This hardly has the significance of red ink on the current year's ledger.

So if we want to abolish automatic adjustments, why do we suggest 'no' votes on both Proposals D and H? Because neither is as responsible a solution as is a legislature-passed bill sitting on the governor's desk awaiting only the defeat of D and H. Proposal D, sponsored by Michigan Citizens Lobby, oversteps the mark by allowing only one rate hearing pending at a time. This slows an already ponderous PSC process unnecessarily, increasing business costs for the utilities. Those costs will ultimately be passed on to the consumer, partially or wholly negating the advantages of the proposal.

Proposal H was a rushed legislative response to Proposal D and, while it abolishes automatic rate increases, it receives just criticism from proposal D backers as a reworked version of the status quo. Our reading of the proposal indicates the only substantial difference would be notice and hearing on semi-automatic increases at more frequent intervals. Proposal H backers tout its ban on members of the legislature entering employment of utilities within two years of leaving public office. This clause applies only to the present (81st) legislature so is not as enticing as its backers claim.

House Bill 5527, approved after H was already on its way to the ballot, shows the clear effects of more working by the legislature. It requires more review of utility fuel purchasing practices and provides some funding (to counteract utility spending) for groups wishing to protest rate increases due to fuel costs before the PSC. Although approved by the legislature, the bill will not become law until the governor signs it and he is not likely to do so unless both D and H are defeated.

That the issue has attracted so much attention is clear. Evidence that has come to address the present rate-setting method. The best solution, however, will not be available unless voters defeat the two less-suitable proposals on the ballot. Vote "no" on both proposal D and H.

PSC elections not needed on long Michigan ballots

If there is a theme to the 1982 Michigan ballot proposals, it is the public frustration with continually rising utility costs. Not only are two of the proposals aimed at the utility rate process itself, Proposal G attempts to get at the people who make the decisions.

Proposal G would increase the size of the Michigan Public Service Commission from three members to five and, more importantly, provide that they be elected rather than appointed by the governor (with the Senate's advice and consent). Candidates would be nominated by party convention, elected at large on a non-partisan ballot.

What all this is supposed to accomplish is rather vague. Presumably, being able to wield a ballot punch or election booth lever over a name would make us feel better about rising fuel costs and the utilities' need to make a profit to stay in business. There is no evidence elected PSC members would reject rate increases more often than appointed ones. The present PSC can have only two members from one party, none can have a financial interest in utilities or public service. They are appointed for six year terms.

We see no compelling reason to add to the clutter of officials voted upon by the Michigan electorate. Few voters feel well-enough informed to pick the university trustees, judges, board of education members and whatnot already on the ballot. And the backers of Proposal G would add five PSC members elected every four years, on staggered terms? Do yourself a favor. Cast one "No" vote on Proposal G and be done with this idea.

Former Schoolcraft instructor deserves recognition

To the Editor:
I am writing (1.) to make corrections and comments as to area newspaper reports re. the proposals to name the Schoolcraft College Liberal Arts Building or Theater for the late Walter E. Lockhart, Schoolcraft instructor and (2.) to state his qualifications for being so honored.

Area newspapers have carried reports that the "campaign was mounted by his widow."

However, the proposal to name the Liberal Arts Building was originally suggested by former students of my husband — not by me.

Further, 600 Schoolcraft students, faculty, staff and alumni signed petitions circulated by students and college personnel requesting the Board of Trustees to name the building for Mr. Lockhart. Also, numerous people wrote and called the trustees in support of the building naming, including Dr. Lois Bader, M.S.U. and chair of the research commission, College Reading Association, Livonia City Councilman Robert Bennett, Wayne County Commissioner Mary Dumas, psychologist Dr. William Greenman, retired Schoolcraft vice president Robert Keene, Paul Louis, former educational TV consultant to the college, retired instructor Rex Moorhead, and recent president of the Schoolcraft College Board of Governors Robert Thompson.

The Campus Globe joined in the endorsement on September 13.

Area newspapers state that "the board's heritage committee counter-proposal was to name the Liberal Arts Theater for Lockhart, a compromise which failed to satisfy Lockhart supporters."

On behalf of those backers, Dr. Forrest Stevenson at the board meeting, August 25, declared, "We appreciate the board's willingness to name the theater for Walter, though we hope they will name the building for him." So we went on record as willing to accept the lesser honor.

After the Campus Globe endorsement, The Northville Record, September 29, correctly reports:

"...the Lockhart campaign has run into some behind-the-scenes political opposition;" that Lockhart was faculty advisor to the Collegiate Patriots' Club and looked upon by some liberal arts faculty members as a right-winger.

On September 22 the board withdrew the unanimous subcommittee's resolution for naming the theater for Walter Lockhart and voted unanimously to table it.

It is on the agenda for the October 27 board meeting.

The Heritage and Honors Subcommittee has established three criteria for awarding the honor of a building name to "outstanding citizens with special consideration for employees who have made a significant contribution and service to education, the college and its communities."

Walter qualified on all three bases for this honor. As to his educational achievement, he earned two master's degrees — in philosophy and educational psychology and completed most of his class work, with a 3.84 grade point average, toward a Ph.D. in educational psychology at Wayne State University.

He was a member of Phi Kappa Phi honor society.

Commencing in 1969, Mr. Lockhart taught philosophy, logic, advanced logic and general psychology at Schoolcraft.

His contribution to education and to the college are attested by his great popularity among students, for whom he served as a constructive role model. He regularly taught crowded classes: officially of 67, 58, 39, 30 and 28 students in winter '81.

Mr. Lockhart pioneered the logic (1970) and advanced logic curricula there and developed logic to five sections, again indicating his outstanding teaching and popularity.

Thus, on a campus where teaching is the heart of its existence, Walter Lockhart was an unusually effective instructor.

Further, his achievement in education is demonstrated by his co-authoring two research papers presented at the North Central Reading

Association conferences and published in the North Central Association Yearbook, 1980, and in "Professors of Reading."

Other research papers by Dr. Lois Bader (MSU) and Walter Lockhart will be published in the months ahead. She describes his research as "of the highest caliber" and states he will "undoubtedly become known nationally."

In 1981 Mr. Lockhart was working with Paul Louis in developing, with an area cable TV company, an experimental program series in which the former would have been the co-producer and video instructor. Mr. Louis considered that he would be an outstandingly effective TV teacher.

Walter Lockhart's dedication to the college and to education is also obvious as co-faculty advisor of the Christian Fellowship, where he taught and counseled. He was founder and advisor of the Collegiate Patriots' Club and those hike-athons raised $1,412 for a revolving student loan fund.

He also served the college on a number of committees and belonged to the Forum, MEA and NEA.

Besides his work on a cable TV logic course, Mr. Lockhart contributed to the community by his annual Patriots' Club Toys for Tots collections, his participation in political candidates' campaigns, and his service at Ward Presbyterian Church.

Thus, we see that Walter Lockhart qualifies in all three specified areas to have the Liberal Arts Building named for him.

No recipient of an honor at Schoolcraft College has received any comparable objective evidence of support for it, like his more than 600 advocates. Is it not time for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees to recognize the outstanding contributions of Walter E. Lockhart to education, the college and the community by naming the Liberal Arts Building (or theater) in his honor at its October 27 meeting?

They are great people. Thank you!

A special thanks to Al and Connie Qualman whose quick thinking and neighborly concern contacted the fire department. We are grateful for their many kindnesses.

We have enjoyed 12 years in neighborly Northville and continually find it a beautiful city in which to live.

Opposes sweeper noise

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the mayor who apparently did not receive my letter of last week, or just chose to ignore it, or maybe doesn't read well.

Nevertheless, I complained about your noisy, stinky street sweeper crawling through downtown Northville at 6 in the morning when us working people are trying to sleep.

So, seeing you haven't done a thing to correct this abominable situation I am going through other channels to get my message across.

Now, this is Monday morning, October 18, and the streets have been untouched Saturday and Sunday. The wind had swept every leaf off the roads over the weekend.

So, now your infernal machine goes at it once more. To add insult to injury, I am writing this communique at 7:15 a.m. today, and that — machine has made three passes up and down North Center Street, making sure that if there are any sound sleepers, they too would be awakened.

I wish you would spend a night in my apartment during the week, and maybe then you would realize why I feel so bitter.

Now, Sir, I've read somewhere that "you can't fight city hall," but I am going down fighting to disprove that statement. Maybe you could take up a collection to put a modern muffler on that smelly rig.

If I drove my car or truck through town making that much noise, I would promptly get ticketed for defective equipment, namely, a noisy muffler.

I would also be called in before the board against air pollution. Remember the Clean Air Act?

Now, I am very sorry that you have such little regard for the people of this town who elected you to be their mayor.

John Lazor

Appreciates assistance

To the Editor:

I wish to thank the Northville Fire Department for their immediate response to a fire call to our residence, Tuesday, October 12.

Even though they had to break in a locked door, they took great care in doing so and were very careful when moving furniture to open windows and in checking out each room. The efficiency, care and professionalism was outstanding.

Northville's Fire Department is composed of a great number of volunteer firemen. These citizens give up watching baseball world series, eating supper with families, and even sleep when duty calls to answer alarms at any hour, night or day, in all kinds of weather.

Kirksey lauds reform of drunk driving laws

By JACK KIRKSEY

Today there is a nationwide outcry to get drunk drivers off of America's highways. Cover stories in magazines and investigative reports on the evening news have documented a chronic national problem. Several groups, most notably Mothers Against Drunk Drivers (MADD), have emerged demanding reform. After months of debate, the Michigan Legislature last week joined 32 other states in toughening its drunk driving laws.

The legislation, which would take effect April 1, 1983, has several major provisions that crack down on drunk drivers. They include:

- Driving with a blood alcohol content of .010 or more would become an automatic violation of state law. Currently, that level is merely a presumption of drunkenness.

- Repeat offenders' licenses could be revoked for up to five years. The current law calls for a maximum two-year license suspension.

- Restricted licenses, now available to convicted drunk drivers for work or school would be harder to obtain.

- The penalty for refusing to take a breath test would be an immediate six-month license suspension, twice the current penalty.

Although I think the reform legislation is good, I think it could have been stronger. The bills were weakened by the defeat of two amendments making a refusal to submit to a breathalyzer test admissible in court.

The amendments, defeated by a House vote of 45-57, were intended for the main bill of the three-measure reform package.

Without these amendments a loophole has been created for drunk drivers. Now drunk drivers may refuse to take a breathalyzer test realizing they'll never get more than a relatively short suspension of their license.

The failure of the amendments could also present problems for already overworked prosecutors' staffs and could cause an increase in the number of plea bargains to lesser offenses. Prosecutors may have a hard time proving beyond a reasonable doubt that a person was driving under the influence if a suspect can refuse a breathalyzer test. Without the test, drunk drivers realize there may be no evidence of driving while intoxicated.

And although suspects may still be prosecuted, not all judges permit prosecutors to inform juries that the person on trial refused to take the test and some jurors then assume that if the person was in fact drunk, a test certainly would have been produced.

The legislature has established a generally good drunk driving law, but it has also made it harder for our police staffs and prosecutors to enforce it.

This reform legislation is long overdue. Accidents involving drunk drivers killed nearly 1,000 people and injured another 38,000 in Michigan last year alone.

Our reform package comes as the federal government is also considering tougher drunk driving laws. The House currently is debating a bill aimed at offering states incentive grants if they pass tough alcohol-traffic laws. The proposed legislation would establish a three-year, $125 million grant program to encourage states to set up comprehensive, coordinated drunk driver control programs.

I think that Michigan has made a good start at addressing the drunk driving problem, but the loopholes in the reform bills must be closed. Much more still needs to be done to improve the state's drunk driving laws, and I will work to see those changes enacted.

Supports Liberty Amendment

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter is a political statement by Gordon N. Beerbower, a Libertarian candidate in the 15th District State Senate race. The 15th District includes the Oakland County portion of the City of Northville.

To the Editor:

Many of the problems faced by the people of Michigan are caused by the Federal Reserve. The Republicans and Democrats ignored the United States Constitution when in 1913 Congress passed the Federal Reserve Act.

Congress had no authority to delegate their Constitutional duty (Art. I, Sect. 8) to coin money and regulate the value of money to the Federal Reserve, a privately owned corporation.

The Federal Reserve has never been audited nor has it ever had to pay any state or federal income taxes. The government has to pay interest on all Federal Reserve Notes which are in cir-ulation. Congress has no control over the Federal Reserve, it is the Federal Reserve which controls the government, and they are trying to put all the people under their control.

In all wars in the last 70 years, the winner has been the Federal Reserve Banks and their international banking friends. The countries involved have to borrow from the banks to help finance the war. Whoever wins or is defeated will have to payback to the banks, sometimes indefinitely, for the loans with interest. Our State Government must force Congress to abolish the Federal Reserve. I support the Liberty Amendment, which calls for repeal of the Federal Reserve Act of 1913 and repeal of the Federal Income Tax and has been endorsed by nine other states.

Salem special election set

With the November general election less than two weeks away, Salem Township voters are being asked to go to the polls for a special election this month.

At its October 5 meeting, the township board proposed to acquire some additional land adjacent to the present township hall/fire hall complex on Six Mile Road in the village. In accordance with state statute, qualified electors must be presented with a ballot question before this can take place.

The election is set for 8 p.m. tomorrow, October 21, at the township hall at 7912 Dickerson in Salem.

Township Clerk Nancy Geiger said an informational session is expected to precede the presentation of ballots to those who turn out.

Total price of the two desired lots, currently owned by Herbert and Frances Famuliner, is $32,000. Township Supervisor Floyd Taylor said the land is approximately one-quarter acre in size and the purchase would include the Famuliner's home and out-buildings.

"It will round out the full block of property where the (township) offices are so that the township will have room for both parking and building expansion in the future," Taylor said, adding that he is pleased with the prospect of the township's acquisition. "It should provide space for us for at least 20 years."

A more immediate reason for the board deciding to seek permission to purchase the property is the need for water at the office complex site where the old well has been causing problems for some time. A 400-foot well drilled there recently came up dry and the driller told the board that the best place to try again would be at the rear of the Famuliners' lots.

The Famuliners currently have a good well which would provide enough water for the complex, according to Taylor. He added that tying into the well almost immediately is a stipulation of the purchase agreement.

If the purchase is okayed, the Famuliners will have up to 18 months to move. They plan to construct a new home on property they own south of the township block if the purchase goes through, Taylor added.

Wording of the ballot question is as follows, according to Geiger: "Shall the Township of Salem appropriate the sum of $32,000 and authorize the township board to expend such funds to purchase the property located immediately adjacent to the township hall presently owned by Frances and Herbert Famuliner?"

Taylor and Geiger said appropriating the funds if the electorate gives permission will be no problem because the township has enough money in its treasury to cover the purchase without causing problems with the budget.

Protecting Your Lens

Without a doubt, the two most important filters you can place on your lens will also have the least effect.

Both your UV (Haze) filter and your Skylight 1A filters are primarily protective filters. When you've bought an expensive lens, a protective filter is cheap insurance both against breakage, should you bump the lens, and against scratches which can be caused simply by improper cleaning.

The skylight filter tends to warm up your pictures making certain colors more intense, such as facial tones. The UV has no visible effect. Both filters have a slight haze reducing capability.

By having a protective filter on a lens, not only will it absorb the impact of any unexpected blow, it also keeps you from having to clean the lens. Improper cleaning is a major reason for scratches plus destruction of the lens coatings.

Stop by F-Stop, 43220 Grand River in Novi today and we'll be happy to fit your lens with a protective filter. We also carry a complete line of accessory filters for all purposes.

Realtors cautious despite increase in home sales rate

Area Realtors are taking a wait-see attitude despite statistics which indicate the doldrums may be beginning to shake out of the existing home market.

The Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR) reported last week that sales of 771 homes by WWOCBR members during September marked a 13.9 percent improvement over a year ago — the second straight month bettering 1981.

Much of the sales gain of 94 units was concentrated in four communities — Northville, Novi, Farmington-Farmington Hills, and Livonia — which accounted for 60 percent of the total.

Novi led the way with 17 more sales in September 1982 than the same month last year, while Farmington-Farmington Hills was second with an increase of 15. Livonia showed an increase of 14 and Northville was up 10 units over year-ago figures.

Specifically, WWOCBR members reported closings on 29 homes in Novi in September 1982 as opposed to 12 closings the same month a year ago.

Year-to-date figures are still lagging behind last year, however. Some 180 homes have been sold in Novi through the first nine months of 1982 in comparison with 214 closings through the first nine months of 1981.

Jared Benedict of the WWOCBR also reported that average prices are showing an increase in Novi this year even though they're down in other WWOCBR communities.

The average selling price of a house in Novi in September was $72,431, an increase of approximately six percent over the average price of $68,117 in September 1981.

The average selling price of homes in Novi shows a smaller increase in year-to-date figures. The average price was $69,039 through the first nine months of the year — a slight improvement over the average selling price of $68,407 during the first nine months of 1981.

Local Realtors expressed cautious optimism about the sales reports, but emphasized that further reductions in interest rates and unemployment are required before the residential market shows any major improvement.

"We're seeing more activity," said Conrad Jakubowski of Rymal-Symes Realty. "Things have been getting better very slowly for the past couple of months."

"There's a lot of interest in Novi because we have an excellent school system and excellent community activities, and the homes are not as high-priced as Northville or Farmington Hills."

Jim Bress of Earl Keim Realty suggested the modest cost increase in Novi's residential market is somewhat misleading.

"The cheaper homes just aren't moving right now," he said. "The people selling their homes are people in the higher-priced units who have to sell because they've been transferred by their companies."

"There are some real bargains right now in the higher-priced units at the present time and the shrewd buyers are taking advantage of them."

Bress added, however, that there's some reason for optimism. The last quarter, he said, has been his best quarter since 1978.

"If movements in the prime and mortgage interest rates are not politically-motivated and continue to come down after the election, we could be in for a gang-buster fourth quarter," he said. "There are serious sellers and a lot of interested buyers out there right now."

Hartley Lenover of Century 21 also sees improvement in the residential market if interest rates continue to fall but does not anticipate any major improvement until the spring of 1983.

"Novi's a good location because of its fine schools, access to the expressways and selection of newer homes," he said. "Those are all positive points for new sales and re-sales."

All are factors also working in Northville's favor, where virtually all home sale activity is in the township, and the other top-ranked sales areas.

"Sales will pick up in the spring provided the current decline in interest rates continue next year."

NEWS BRIEFS

HAUNTED HOUSE: The Northville-Plymouth Jaycees will be inviting visitors to a spooky abode where ghosts, goblins and other mysterious creatures lurk starting Thursday through Halloween night. The house is at the old Wayne County Training Center school on Sheldon Road between Five and Six Mile. Hours are 7:30-10:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 7:30-11:30 p.m. Friday through Sunday.

NORTHVILLE BOARD of Education will hold its regular special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Northville High School. Among the agenda items to be considered by the board is a long-range plan for the school district.

THE CITY'S beautification commission will become established by resolution, to give flexibility, if a motion to repeal its existence under ordinance passes at a public hearing set for November 1. Mayor Vernon recommended the action to council Monday as "an opportunity to get more community involvement."

NORTHVILLE COLTS football banquet will be held November 3 at Schoolcraft College. The dinner will begin at 6 p.m. with the awards' presentation to follow. The donation is $6.50 per person. Guest speaker will be Detroit Lions defensive standout Ray Oldham. For more details, call Bill Felicelli at 348-3494.

Council hears sweeper anger

Local resident John Lazor may not know the name of the city's mayor, but his letter to "Mr. Garver" still caught the attention of Mayor Paul Vernon and the city commission Monday night.

Lazor, who previously had written a letter to the Readers Speak column of The Record without response, this time also addressed a communication directly to the mayor.

He strongly objected to the city street sweeping at 6 a.m.

City DPW superintendent Ted Mapes confirmed that city street sweeping does begin at 6 a.m. but said he has not received complaints and added that it is impossible to sweep later in the day when there is heavy traffic.

Lazor explained in his letter that his work shift ends at 2:30 a.m. and said that he doesn't get to bed until 3 a.m.

An apartment resident on North Center, he complained that the sweeper "comes right down in the center of town when we the people are trying to get some sleep. There are two hotels and two apartment buildings within two city blocks of the main four corners I happen to live in one of the apartments."

Lazor asked, "Now, can you imagine how I feel at this very moment — five minutes after six when the roar of that rig gets me up with its noise and the fumes from it waft into my apartment?"

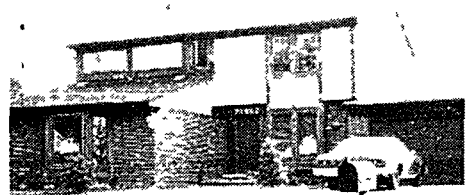

Discussion with Mapes revealed that the sweeper is not operated on weekends. He also said it takes only about five minutes for a sweeper to clear an area as it moves along.

The council felt the time could not be changed if the sweeping is to be accomplished without traffic interference.

Mayor Vernon volunteered to write Lazor explaining the situation.

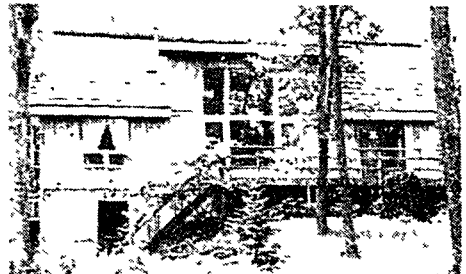

Council members facetiously suggested he might "sign (Judge James) Garber's name."

For those who plan to use investment returns for income purposes, longer-term certificates with guaranteed rates offer a sound advantage. Likewise, for the investor who does not want to be concerned with short term fluctuating investments, a high interest-earning 30 or 42 month certificate is the perfect answer. Your deposit of $500 or more can provide substantial earnings with interest paid quarterly. Rates are set periodically by the bank and the rate at which you open your certificate remains fixed until maturity. There is a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from all certificate accounts. So, for your investment protection get these high rates at Security Bank.

'Movieland' home rental business a winner

By ALICE DAVIES

So you like movies?
But you never have time?
You missed the ones you really wanted to see?
Well, in this place you could go crazy.

"Golden Pond," "Quest for Fire,"
"Star Wars" — they are all there, just waiting for you.

For five dollars you rent a film; for another five you get the VHS (Video Home System) player for a night.

At home, you hook the VHS to your own TV antenna lead, slide the film cassette into the VHS — and that's it.

No driving, no babysitter, your favorite chair and maybe even your own popcorn — all of this comes with your home movie rental.

Video Home Systems connect to your TV set and operate just like a tape recorder with a movie cassette — here's Burt Reynolds coming up

I totally underestimated the market. I was amazed how many people had equipment.

— Bill Wilson — movie rental business owner

Just think of the possibilities: you can arrange your own "Laurel and Hardy" festival, see "Harold and Maude" for the 17th time, revisit Tara in "Gone with the Wind," relive your first romance with whatever title fills that bill.

"Wizard of Oz" without commercials, "Sound of Music" hooked up to your own stereo for an added dimension in sound — it's all there waiting.

Bill Wilson says he opened his movie rental business almost by accident.
Also, he admits he is addicted to movies
— all kinds of movies.

Barely two years ago, Wilson was working long hours in his TV and stereo repair shop. "I could rarely watch television. One Tuesday night I was into 'Midway,' a great war movie. And then at 11 o'clock, they said it would be continued the following night!"

Frustrated, he told his wife he was going to buy a video recorder. That way, he reasoned, "I could watch what I wanted, when I wanted, as many times as I wanted."

Soon Wilson had picked up a number of film cassettes and decided to run an ad in the local paper on rentals.

"I totally underestimated the market. I was amazed how many people had their own equipment," Wilson remembers. This fall, with two film rental stores and a third one planned, he has discovered the market is even bigger than he imagined.

No more TV and stereo repair. In fact,

than two years, his "Movieland" business has taken off like a rocket.
Two stores, one north of Milford at 1246
Milford Road, another at 6111 East Grand River in Brighton, will soon be joined by a third in Waterford.

customers:

- no club or membership fees,
- film rental at $5 for two days,
- VHS machine rental at $5 per day.

There are deposits, of course, because films and equipment are valuable. But with a Master Card or Visa, even that is not a problem.

In Milford, store manager "Dennis B." says his customers are not any certain group or type. "Just anybody who enjoys movies for their own personal viewing."

As many as 1,500 films are available through the system, including the original first three episodes of the "Lone Ranger."

Dennis says he's seen most of them, and "Somewhere in Time" may be his all-time favorite. "I'm a sucker for a love story, I like the time-travel idea, and I love the Mackinac Island setting."

"Comedies? I liked 'Arthur,' and "Golden Pond" has some of the funniest lines I've ever heard," Dennis says. But one of his very favorites, one he never tires of seeing, is Disney's
"Dumbo."

In fact, "Movieland" sells a special birthday pack which contains both the colored full-length cassette and a big "Dumbo" mug. Disney films are always popular; so Dennis stocks a complete selection in the kids' section.

The real problem would be to start choosing which films to see first: fiction, westerns, adventure, comedy, musicals....

Book in advance, Dennis advises.
Some films almost always are in demand. Right now, an Arthur Hitchcock festival sounds appealing — something good and scary for the Hallowe'en season.

NEW OWNER — Nick Layow (left) recently purchased David's Head Start Beauty Salon at 125 West Lake, South Lyon, from David Sicary (right). Sicary, a Northville resident, started the salon seven years ago. He plans to relocate in North Miami, Florida, to enjoy the sunshine as well as continue in the hairdressing business. Layow, who resides in South Lyon with his wife, Dawn, and three children, said he expects to continue with the "same staff and high quality" that Sicary brought to South Lyon. The salon has three operators in addition to Layow as well as two assistants and a manicurist. The beauty salon will shortly become "Laeaux Group," in accordance with the original French spelling of the new owner's surname. Hours will remain the same: Thursdays and Fridays, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Mondays through Wednesdays, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; and Saturdays 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

DR. JAMES G. GEHA will be joining Dr. Burton C. Davis and Dr. Kenneth D. Poss of Podiatry Associates, P. C., as of November 15. Podiatry Associates has offices in Northville at Northville Medical Center, 331 North Center, and in Novi at Novi Ten Center, 41782 West Ten Mile, as well as others in Livonia and Detroit.

Dr. Geha was graduated with honors from the University of Detroit with a BS degree majoring in biology and chemistry. He completed his master of science degree in bio-chemistry. While attending U of D he instructed in the chemistry laboratory and became a member of Alpha Sigma Nu, a national professional honor society.

He continued his studies at Ohio College of Podiatric Medicine, becoming a member of Phi Alpha Pi, Podiatric Athletic Club, American College of Podopediatrics and American College of Foot Surgeons. He was a writer for "Footprints," a publication of the college.

He served an extensive internship at the Cleveland Clinic with Dr. Jesse R. Young, M.D., rotating through several departments including dermatology, rheumatology, peripheral vascular diseases and orthopedic surgery. Upon graduation in May, 1980, Dr. Geha received several awards, including the President's Award in recognition of service to the college and the podiatric profession; the Mildred E. Kaufman Memorial Award for proficiency in foot orthopedics and biochanics; Outstanding Young Men of American for 1980 by the U.S. Jaycees for professional achievement, superior leadership and exceptional service to the community.

After completing a surgical residency program in the greater Cleveland area at St. Vincent Charity Hospital, Woman's General Hospital and Huron Road Hospital, Dr. Geha was appointed chief of podiatric surgery at Kaiser Permanente in Cleveland. He also served as clinician and instructor at the Ohio College of Podiatric Medicine.

He reports he is anxious to return to the Detroit area and provide podiatric service to his home population.

SHARON SERRA, a Realtor Associate with the Northville-Novl office of Real Estate One, Inc., has exceeded $1 million in sold listings for the year, with a total production of more than $1½ million.

Darlene Schemanski, Associate Broker and sales manager, noted that Serra continues to offer superior service to her clients by staying up-to-date on all the financing in today's complex mortgage market. "By being aware of all the financing options, Ms. Serra maintains an extremely high ratio of listings taken to listings sold," said Schemanski.

Serra was licensed with Real Estate One, Inc., approximately two and a half years ago. Her total career production exceeds $4 million. She is active in the Novi community and resides with her husband and three sons in Village Oaks subdivision.

HELEN DRYSDALE, a Realtor Associate with the Northville-Novl office of Real Estate One, Inc., exceeded $1 million in production in September.

Darlene Schemanski, Associate Broker and sales manager, applauded her exemplary efforts, noting that Drysdale has been licensed 7½ years and has maintained a minimum of $1 million in sales in five of those years.

Drysdale and her husband, Bill, live in South Lyon and serve Northville, Novi and Farmington as well as the communities of South Lyon and Green Oak Township.

View classic cars at 12 Oaks

"Classics with Charisma," the third annual antique and classic automobile exhibition, is creating an aura of nostalgia at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi.

The exhibition continues through this Sunday. The special show features an array of vintage automobiles, which have been restored and cared for by their owners. The cars depict an era when glamor was the inspiration for design and meticulous handcraftsmanship.

This spectacular event is being presented in conjunction with Classic Auto Restoration in Farmington. Cash prizes will be awarded to participants by a panel of judges on the basis of overall aesthetic appeal. A duplicate prize to the car club of the winner's choice also will be awarded.

Participants will receive professional photographs of their cars; a commemorative plaque also will be presented to each participant.

"Classics with Charisma" also features an illustration exhibit of antique and classic cars by the renowned artist Dominic Pacitti of Dearborn. Pacitti has achieved extensive recognition from classic automobile enthusiasts for his renditions of old cars.

and avocation, Pacitti is an artist for Ford Motor Company and has his own classic car collection.

Area residents will have an opportunity to express their creativity in the "Classics with Charisma" photography contest. Photo shooting sessions will be held tomorrow (Thursday) from 7-9 p.m. and Saturday from 9-11 a.m. in center court.

Monte Nagler, well-known professional photographer, and Wally Donoghue from Classic Auto Restoration will be available to give winning photo tips to amateur photographers. Cameras and film will be on loan courtesy of Dunn's City Camera and the Twelve Oaks Teen Fashion Panel will model fashions from Gantos and Winkerman's during the sessions.

Also featured during the photography contest will be a Pentax representative to answer related questions. Cameras, cases and accessories are among the valuable prizes to be awarded to the winning entries.

Guardian announces record profits

Guardian Industries (NYSE) of Novi reported that it continued to achieve record-breaking performance in the third quarter.

The financial results were the highest for any quarter in the company's history, continuing a record of attaining year-to-year revenue and earning increases for 29 consecutive quarters.

Third-quarter revenues were at an all-time high of $113.8 million, 14.6 percent higher than the comparable three month period in 1981. For the first nine months, revenues totaled $302 million, an increase of 8.5 percent over last year.

Earnings were a record $11.6 million, 8.8 percent over the same period in 1981. For the first nine months of 1982, earnings totaled $26.2 million or 6.6 percent above last year.

All the company's major business areas showed progress during the third quarter, offsetting the negative effects of a decline in engineering fee income and higher interest costs.

Revenues of the company's combined glass operations increased 30 percent in the third quarter with significantly improved operating profits as compared to last year's third quarter.

Revenues from Guardian's glass manufacturing activities continued to be favorably influenced by the additional sales volume generated at the company's new Luxembourg float glass manufacturing facility.

The performance of Guardian's Photo Division continued to improve with profit margins significantly above the comparable year-earlier period. Further, Guardian's Insulation Division currently is operating at improved efficiency levels, contributing to overall corporate profitability in the third quarter.

Commenting on the third quarter performance, President and Chief Executive Officer William Davidson said, "Looking ahead at the final months of the year we are confident Guardian will achieve the revenue and earnings projections for 1982 forecasted in our mid-year shareholder's report, representing our seventh consecutive year of record performance."

"Our forecast, released in August, is for 1982 revenues and earnings to be within a range of $405 million to $415 million and $2.15 and $2.25 per share, respectively."

NEW MANAGEMENT — Ted and Barb Zebrowski (above), the new managers of Pontrail Apartments in South Lyon, have launched a campaign to improve the quality of their apartment complex. According to Ted, many landscaping changes have been completed, including a the installation of railroad ties and wood chips, seeding the lawn and installing a new sign. Ted and Barb, who began managing in July, are also working to improve the reputation of Pontrail through a tightening of the rules. Pontrail has a clubhouse and swimming pool and rents one-bedroom apartments from $270 and two-bedroom apartments from $310.

ERIC T. NICHOLS of Northville has been appointed a Special Agent with Northwestern Mutual Life (NML). A BS graduate majoring in finance, he passed the Michigan State Insurance licensing examination in February.

Nichols, who recently attended the annual NML meeting in Wisconsin, said he decided to join NML after evaluating the industry because of its fine history of performance for policy owners. He also said consumers should seek out an insurance professional whom they trust and like and who will provide continuing service.

NML is the largest company which specializes in life and disability insurance, Nichols said.

Nichols is licensed as a National Association Security Dealers Registered Representative which qualifies him to offer variable annuity contracts through NML Equity Services, Inc.

A Novi-Northville area native, Nichols is an associate with NML's Brighton office, Thomas N. Bacziewicz & Associates.

SOUTH LYON DENTIST RON EVASIC has taken a new associate, Dr. David Farlow. Farlow is a former implantology student of Evasic's. He graduated in the top 10 percent of his class at the University of Detroit School of Dentistry. Farlow, 26, also holds a Bachelor of Science degree in zoology from the University of Michigan.

Evasic said he has long searched for an associate with the same philosophies and concerns for patient care as his own. He said Farlow fills that bill.

Evasic said he will now take a sabbatical leave to further his education and endeavors in the field of implantology, with the hope of establishing a university affiliation in that field.

Evasic invites his patients to meet Farlow at the office, 204 Whipple, South Lyon. Farlow, his wife Jan and their three-month old daughter Nicole reside in South Lyon.

ASK THE LAWYER

Questions? Write to Attorney Larry Orin, care of Sliger-Livingston Publications, Post Office Box 160, Northville, Michigan 48167. Questions will be answered on a space-available basis. Answers in this column are directed at specific facts and may not apply in all situations.

Q. My boyfriend and I lived together for over five years. We bought a house and the title of the house shows that we own the property as husband and wife. My boyfriend died. We both intended that if he died I would get the house and if I died, he would get the house. Will I get the house if the deed shows that I am his wife even though we were not married?

A. Although you and your boyfriend lived together for five years, you are not husband and wife. Michigan is not a common law marriage state. In Michigan, in order to be married, you must have a marriage license and a civil ceremony.

If the deed to the house showed that you got title to the house as joint tenant with full rights of survivorship, survivor take all, and not as tenants in common, you would have been entitled to receive the title to the house as the survivor with joint tenancy.

However, I doubt that any right of survivorship would exist in a tenancy by the entireties where you were not married and no words otherwise expressed the right of survivorship.

You would, however, own half the house as tenant in common with your boyfriend. I would suggest you retain an attorney who is knowledgeable in real estate law and probate law to review the deed in question.

Q. I have loaned some money to my granddaughter and her husband. Her husband now wants a divorce. His name is on the paper that he signed when my granddaughter and her husband borrowed the money. I would like to know how I can collect my loan as I am a retiree and could really use the money that my granddaughter and her husband owe me.

A. If your granddaughter and her husband owe you $600 or less, you should file suit in the district court in the city where your granddaughter and her husband reside. Sue both your granddaughter and her husband.

If they owe you over $600, I would suggest you retain an attorney and start suit in district court for a money judgment as quickly as possible.

The judge will give you a judgment for the money that is owed to you and you will undoubtedly have to garnishee their paycheck or execute their assets if they do not pay you.

Chargers hand NHS bitter loss

It was a most bitter pill the Northville football team had to swallow on Homecoming night Friday. The Mustangs let a victory elude their grasp in the waning moments as Livonia Churchill came from behind to win 10-7 in a Western Lakes Activities Association match up.

"It was the most disappointing loss we've had in three years here — not since (Westland) John Glenn beat us three years ago," a dejected head coach Dennis Colligan noted.

The loss was the second straight, and fourth in the last five games, to put Northville at 2-4 overall and 1-3 in the Western Division. It was Churchill's first win of the season after five defeats, and first in the Western Division after three losses.

"We should have won the ballgame," Colligan noted.

And how right he was as the Mustangs blew numerous scoring opportunities deep in Churchill territory.

The Mustangs recovered three fumbles inside the Chargers' 20-yard line, but only came away with seven points. Quarterback Dave Longridge connected with Jim Thomson on a 16-yard touchdown pass after the Mustangs had recovered a fumble early in the second quarter.

Northville had a field goal blocked after another fumble recovery on the Churchill 19 in the second stanza, and the Chargers' intercepted a Longridge pass after Northville had recovered a fumble at the Churchill 20 in the same period.

"You know you're in trouble when you're down inside their 20 (yard line) three times and you only score once," Colligan related.

The Mustangs also intercepted two passes inside the Churchill 50-yard line, but failed to convert on either turnover. In addition, Northville took the opening kickoff and drove down to the Charger five before giving the ball over on downs.

The turning point in the ballgame, according to Colligan, was when Northville was forced to punt from its own 22-yard line with 5:42 remaining in the fourth quarter.

The ball was snapped over punter Thomson's head, who fell on the loose pigskin in the endzone for a Churchill safety. Thomson free kicked from his own 20, and Churchill took over on Northville's 47.

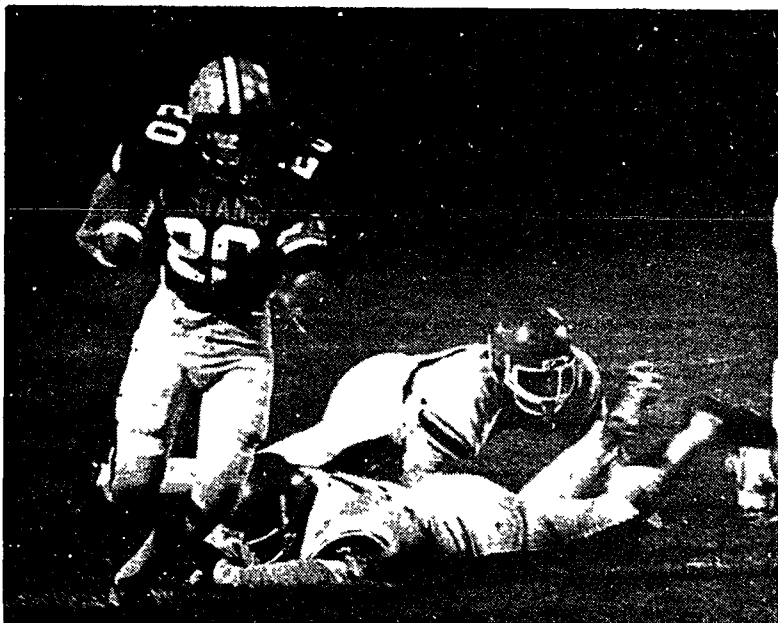

Six plays later, on fourth and 10 from the 35, quarterback John Stoitsiadis threw to Larry Blais, who hurdled over cornerback Steve Smith and ran into the endzone for an 8-7 Churchill lead with 2:42 left. The successful two-point conversion made it 10-7.

The Mustangs probably would have won if the Mustangs could have punted the ball away cleanly instead of giving up a safety, Colligan said.

"That really fired Churchill up because they were out of the game at that point," he explained.

Bad quarters hinder cagers twice

By JOHN MYERS

One bad quarter each against Plymouth Canton and Walled Lake Western turned relatively close basketball games into routs against the Northville girls' cage squad last week.

Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division rival Canton ran past Northville in the fourth quarter to post a 58-36 triumph last week Tuesday, while Western Division foe Western used a second-quarter rally to gain a 46-30 victory last Thursday.

Jenny Gans (52) and Pat Wazny (30) battle for the rebound

The double loss puts the Mustangs at 1-11 overall and 1-9 in the Western Division.

"Canton flat out ran us down in the fourth quarter," coach Rick Hurst related.

The Mustangs had only three guards available to run the three-guard offense, so Hurst noted his players were tired by the fourth period.

"They were in there too long," said the first-year coach, adding Kathy Korowin still was sidelined with a back injury.

In addition, Canton coach Phyllis Cunningham had enough reserves to keep her troops fresh for the fourth-stanza surge.

"Phyllis keeps coming at you in waves. She has more players than God," Hurst quipped.

The Mustangs kept within striking distance for the first three quarters. The Chiefs were ahead 10-7 after the initial period and up 21-16 at halftime. Canton expanded its lead to 37-29 before breaking away in the final quarter.

However, Hurst saw some bright spots. One was the better offensive stability and another was defensive pressure which caused the Chiefs to make some mistakes.

Northville rattled off three quick buckets at the start of the last stanza. The points were the result of stealing in-bound passes from Canton, and Hurst described this as "a big breakthrough."

"That did a world of good for us," he said. "But, it was after that when the fatigue started to show."

Northville actually held a 10-8 lead after the opening quarter against Western, but the roof fell in during the second period.

The Mustangs played decent basketball in the opening stanza, according to Hurst, and the Warriors' Val Hall netted all eight of their points.

However, Northville did a complete turnaround in the second quarter which saw the Warriors take a 22-12 halftime advantage.

The Mustangs committed numerous turnovers, had lay up baskets nullified by traveling calls and threw away in-bound passes. Things were not much better after the intermission as the Warriors outscored Northville 11-6 to take a 33-18 lead.

"We run into some problems in the second and third quarters," Hurst explained, "because we don't have enough complete players on the floor. We either have a lot of players that are solid dribblers but can't shoot; or we have a lot of players that are solid offensively but can't rebound."

The player combinations on the floor also affected the performance of the squad, and Hurst noted he should take some of the blame there.

"It's more my fault than the kids' fault. I had a bad mix out there. If we happen to get the right players on the floor at the same time, things start clicking for us," he related.

'Phyllis comes at you in waves. She has more players than God'

— Rick Hurst,
NHS cage coach

The play of Tracy Wilkinson, Sue Terwin and Julie Maliszewski received praise from Hurst.

"Julie now can handle the ball well enough to let the everybody get into the offensive (pattern)," he noted.

"Also, Tracy and Sue were able to get the ball 8 to 12 feet from the basket to do some things," Hurst added.

That was reflected in the scoring totals for Northville. Wilkinson was team high scorer in both contests with 13 against Canton and 14 against Western. Terwin netted nine against Canton and six against Western. Jenny Gans added five in the Canton contest.

The Mustangs were in action against Dearborn yesterday, and will host Lakes Division opponent Walled Lake Central at 6 p.m. Thursday. Northville also will host Western Division foe Livonia Churchill at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

FOOTBALL CONTEST

Enter Today! You May Be A Winner!

HERE ARE THE RULES

Take a plain piece of paper and number down the left hand side from 1 to 14.

You will notice that each square below is also numbered from 1 to 14 and each contains a football game to be staged this coming weekend. To complete your entry you must do the following:

- (1) After each number on your paper write the name of the sponsor of the corresponding square.
- (2) Following the sponsor's name—write the name of the winning team.
- (3) In addition you must pick the total points scored on the outcome of the game in square 14. This will be used in the case of a tie and then the contestant whose score is closest to the actual score will be declared the winner.

Be sure to write your name, address and phone number plainly on your piece of paper (your entry). In case of a tie, prize money will be split.

NOTE: Only ONE entry per HOUSEHOLD family per week. Prize money paid only to name on entry. PLEASE do not enter several times using friends' names. Such entries will be disqualified if discovered.

Copies of the contest will be posted at the Northville Record office at 104 W. Main, each week.

Entries should be addressed "Football Contest" Northville Record, 104 W. Main, Northville and must be postmarked or brought to our office no later than 5 p.m. each Friday.

JV gridders win

Paced by a fourth-quarter surge, the Northville junior varsity football team posted a 27-0 whitewashing of Livonia Churchill in a Western Lakes Activities Association battle last Thursday.

Doug Hartman hit Dave Denhof for a 27-yard touchdown pass, while Rick Van Buren added the clinching score with an eight-yard run in the final period.

Hartman also started the scoring with an 80-yard run in the opening stanza. Van Buren scored the first of his two six pointers in the second quarter on a five-yard run.

Hartman finished the game with 168 yards rushing on 19 attempts. Defensively, he had eight first hits and one fumble recovery and interception to lead the Mustangs.

Coaches Omar Harrison and John Horwath praised the work of center Scott Holloway, who had not played the position all season, but was forced into action against Churchill.

Because the Mustangs were without their number-one center, due to injury, and their second-string center, who was disqualified from the game in the first half, Holloway was pressed into duty for the second half.

Upsets were the norm rather than the exception in this week's Northville Record/Novi-Walled Lake News football contest.

However, Northville's Ken Booth survived enough of the upsets to take the $10 first-place prize. Booth picked eight correct answers and was closer to the total points scored tie-breaker to beat Bob Martin, who also had eight correct.

Booth selected 48 points while Martin picked 45 in the Ohio State/Illinois tie-breaker in which 47 total points were scored.

No less than 18 people tied for the $3 third-place prize with Livonia's Ed Odom emerging from the pack to win as he picked 47 points in the tie-breaker.

Of the 44 contestants, no one picked Tennessee to upset Alabama.

Soccer team's streak snapped by Canton

If there is any team aside from top-ranked Livonia Stevenson which has a whiff of the Northville boys' team, it is Plymouth Canton.

For the second time this season, the Chiefs scalped the Mustangs 3-1 last week Tuesday in a Western Lakes Activities Association battle. The loss snapped an eight-game unbeaten streak Northville had built since it last lost to Stevenson 5-2 September 15.

Northville rebounded, though, with a triumph over WLAAs rival Livonia Franklin 2-1 last Thursday. The split puts the Mustangs' overall mark at 11-4-1 and 7-3-1 in the Western Division of the WLAAs.

The defeat to Canton was one of the biggest disappointments of the season to the young Mustang squad. The Chiefs earlier in the season came from behind to beat Northville 3-2.

Thus, the Mustangs were looking for revenge on the Chiefs' home field. It wasn't meant to be as Canton came out of the blocks fast with a breakaway goal in the opening moments.

The Chiefs added two more tallies on goals by Jeff Metz before Greg Marshall booted in a penalty kick late in the game to avert the shutout.

Coaches Dan Swayne and Marvin Gans explained the Chiefs outlasted the Mustangs to ball, but also got away with a lot of pushing and shoving with only one official handling the contest. Both the coaches believed the game might have been different if Canton had not scored so early. Also, the coaches believed the team had not recovered fully from its game against Farmington Harrison in which Northville was hit with 30 offsides calls.

Still, Northville came back with an important win over Franklin to retain sole possession of first in the Western Division over Livonia Churchill by the slimmest of margins.

The Mustangs bolted out to a 2-0 halftime lead on goals by Dave Yarmouth and Brian Dragon. Metz lost his bid for the shutout when the Patriots tallied a goal late in the game.

The coaches noted the team played better against Franklin and the Mustangs went to the ball better than they did against Canton.

Northville had its opening Class A regional contest Monday against Stevenson, ranked first in the state.

The Mustangs had a non-league contest against Dearborn Edsel Ford yesterday and will host WLAAs Lakes Division foe North Farmington 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Then comes the showdown with Livonia Churchill at the Chargers' home field at 7 p.m. Tuesday. The winner most likely will take home the Western Division championship.

Harriers fall to Western

Kelly Wool continued to show teams last week why she is one of the better female cross country runners in the area.

The senior Northville harrier took seventh place at the Redford Union Invitational last week Tuesday, and was first across the line against Walled Lake Western last Friday, despite her team losing the meet.

Wool ran a 19:37 at the tough Cass Benton course to take seventh overall at the Redford Union meet. It was also her best time of the season at Cass Benton.

Kim Assenmacher was 20th at 21:02, Wendy Nuechterlein was 32nd at 21:29, Marge Wojcicki was 70th at 23:44 and Sharon Savageau was 93rd at 29:17 to round out the Mustang team.

"The girls didn't do that bad," coach Ed Gabrys said. "The girls' times have been dropping and they're healthy. They're ready for the league meet."

The boys' team did not do quite so well as the girls' as injuries and illnesses are hindering the squad, according to Gabrys.

Dave Nafe turned in his best performance as he was the first Mustang to finish at 18:08. Not too far behind was Jim Willoughby at 18:12. Also competing for Northville were Kurt Assenmacher (18:44), Mike Siefkin (18:46) and Ken Booth (18:52).

Northville ran against one of the better teams in the Western Lakes Activities Association in Western — a Western Division rival.

The Warrior boys' placed 10 men across the line before Northville's first man to take a 15-50 victory. The Warrior girls' bested the Mustangs 23-38. Northville's boys' stands at 4-3 overall and 3-2 in the Western Division.

The meet was conducted at Western's home course, thus times were about a minute slower than what would normally be run at Cass Benton, Gabrys explained.

Wool finished first at 20:31 for the girls' by at least a minute over Western's sister duo of Nancy and Besty Glagola. Nuechterlein was fourth at 22:02, while Wojcicki (25:00), Michele Ryan (30:39) and Savageau (31:03) took 10th, 11th and 12th, respectively.

Nafe was the first Mustang runner across at 18:59, while Willoughby was next at 19:10 and Assenmacher at 19:12. Chris Jones ran a 19:22, Pat Campbell a 19:29, Booth a 19:55 and Siefkin a 20:00.

Western, along with Livonia Churchill, are the toughest teams in the WLAAs, Gabrys said. "Western and Churchill have quality teams. We just don't have the people to go with them right now," he added.

Northville's freshmen and sophomore runners competed in the Westland John Glenn Invitational yesterday. The varsity will be battling Lakes Division foe Livonia Bentley at 4 p.m. Thursday at Cass Benton.

The WLAAs meet is at 4 p.m. Tuesday at Cass Benton.

NHS tankers swim past Farmington

Farmington became the fourth victim to fall to the Northville girls' swim team this fall as the Mustangs dunked the Falcons 73-54 last Thursday in a Western Lakes Activities Association cross-division match up.

Northville took seven of 11 first-place finishes in raising their overall mark to 4-2 and their WLAAs Western Division ledger to 2-1.

Because the Falcons do not have one of the stronger teams in the league, second-year coach Bill Dicks related many of the Mustang swimmers competed in different events to see what they could do.

"We had some people who had been working real hard who could show what they could do (in other events)," he said.

"They did a real good job. We had some courageous swimmers," Dicks added.

An example Dicks gave was in the 200-yard freestyle where Shawn Bales was in a head-to-head duel and pulled out the victory in the final 15 feet. She beat her Farmington opponent by less than two seconds.

Her triumph in the event was one of seven taken by Northville. Other individual firsts were taken by Kathy Bainbridge in 50-yard freestyle; Trish Settles in the 100-yard butterfly; Lisa Felicelli in the

The 200-yard medley relay team of Holly Sellen, Karen Brining, Felicelli and Settles also took first place.

Individual seconds were secured by Cathy Heitert in diving; Bainbridge in the 100 butterfly; Sellen in the 100 backstroke; and Cindy Panowicz in the 100-yard breaststroke. Also, the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Bales, Sellen, Tish Johnson and Kim McRae were runners-up.

Individual thirds were taken by McRae in diving and Kim Brining in the 100 freestyle. Also, the 200 medley relay squad of Khris Korowin, Kim Thompson, Kim Brining and Panowicz, while the 400 freestyle team of Bainbridge, Felicelli, Sue Vanderbok and Shelia Thompson took third.

Kim Herrington in the 200 freestyle, Jennifer Zollars in the 50 freestyle, Cathy Sawyer in the 500 freestyle and Linda Shott in the 100 breaststroke all came in fourth to complete the Northville scoring.

Northville had a non-league meet against Novi yesterday, and will travel to Western Division foe Livonia Churchill Thursday. Also, the Mustangs will host Lakes Division opponent Plymouth Salem October 28.

Churchill pins Homecoming loss on Mustangs

However, the players didn't give up, Colligan said, and that was proven in the Mustangs' last-ditch attempt to win the game.

Northville started from its own 27 with 2:40 to play and ran the ball effectively down to the Churchill 30 where it was second and seven.

Longridge hit tight end Mike Weber with a pass which fell two yards short of the first down. With the clock running, Longridge rifled a pass out-of-bounds to stop the clock, but Colligan accepted the blame on the play.

Northville was in its two-minute offense and Longridge is supposed to throw the ball out-of-bounds if a second play does not get the first down, he said. However, Colligan said he yelled for a quarterback sneak which Longridge apparently did not hear.

Colligan explained there should have been better communication on that series because Dimitroff was stopped inches short of the first down on the next play to prevent Northville an opportunity to win.

The Mustangs will look to get back on the winning track against Walled Lake Western at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The game will be played at Walled Lake Central's field on South Commerce Road.

NHS netters cop third at Western Lakes meet

It was the busiest week of action for the Northville girls' tennis team as the Mustangs competed in two dual meets in addition to the Western Lakes Activities Association and Class A regional meets.

The Mustangs split a pair of dual meets by downing Western Division rival Livonia Churchill 7-0 October 11, but dropping a 6-1 decision to non-league Brighton October 13. Also, the Mustangs placed third at the WLAA meet October 12 at Plymouth Canton and participated in the Class A regional in Ann Arbor October 15-16.

Northville completed its dual meet season with a 9-4 overall mark and a 6-3 ledger in the Western Division which tied them with Canton for second place behind champion Farmington Harrison.

We did a super job in the tournament," coach Uta Filkin related. The best showing for Northville came at first and second doubles where both teams came home with runner-up finishes.

The first tandem of Jackie Nicols and Denise Colovas, seeded third, won two matches over Canton and Western before losing to Salem in the finals.

The second pair of Jeannine Cook and Jean DuSablón, seeded second, defeated Farmington and Central before losing to Bentley in the finals.

The third doubles team of Amy Nieuwkoop and Vicki Robins, seeded second, won their first-round match over Stevenson but fell in the semifinals against Salem.

However, all three doubles teams were awarded Western Division championship flight medals for best record in their division.

Marnie Dillow was victorious in her second-round match against Central, but fell to Salem in the third round at first singles. The same happened to Gail Engelmeyer at second singles where she defeated Western in the second round but fell to Harrison in the third round.

Jill Stevens won her first-round third singles match against Western, but was ousted by Salem in the second round. Holly Hubbard beat Stevenson in her first-round fourth singles match, but lost to Salem in the second round.

Hubbard was seeded third, while both Dillow and Engelmeyer were seeded fourth.

Because of the cool, damp weather conditions Saturday, and the fact Northville played many matches during the week, it had some kind of effect on the team's regional performance, according to Filkin.

Dillow, Engelmeyer and Jennifer Trausch all fell in the first round. Trausch was filling in for Hubbard, who was out with an illness.

However, Stevens won matches over Jackson and Brighton before falling in the semifinals against Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Both the first and third doubles teams were defeated in the first round, but the team of Cook and DuSablón made one of the best showings in Northville's history at Ann Arbor.

The second doubles team won second and third round matches over Howell and Pioneer to reach the finals where it was ousted by Ann Arbor Huron in three sets 6-3, 3-6, 6-2.

Barden wrestles with medical career

By JOHN MYERS

After being one of the country's top collegiate grapplers during the early 1960s, John (Jack) Barden is wrestling with a new career.

Barden, a very modest fellow, now is a practicing Osteopathic doctor who recently started working two days a week in Dr. George Pappas' office in Northville Township located at 40666 Five Mile.

The 40-year-old Barden, who lives and has a practice in Belleville, did not like the IBM salesman job he landed after college, so he turned his attention toward medicine.

He hasn't regretted the decision one bit since his residency at the South Bend Osteopathic Hospital in South Bend, Indiana, from 1973-74. He studied at the Chicago College of Osteopathy from 1968-73.

"I'm one of the fortunate people because I like my work. I like to come to the office to do my work," Barden explained.

"I'm really excited about working with Dr. Pappas," he added. "I'm far ahead of where I expected to be at this point."

While he has not worked with as many athletes as he would like, Barden explains he gets more enjoyment out of helping his geriatric patients and small children.

"I think you really have to find something to fulfill your life," he offered.

Before Barden embarked on his medical career, he was a standout wrestler at the University of Michigan from 1959-63. He was the Big Ten heavyweight and national college champion in 1963 as well as being a four-time All American.

Barden added to his wrestling accomplishments by capturing the gold medal at the Pan American Games in 1963, and he took first place in the heavyweight division at the United States Olympic tryouts in 1964.

A minor knee injury and some personal problems prevented Barden from advancing to the final Olympic wrestling team in 1964.

The success he achieved in wrestling, as well as in his medical field thus far, Barden attributes to a philosophy he learned from former Michigan wrestling coach Clifford Keen.

"Work hard to get where you're going," he related. "It's hard not to (follow the philosophy). You have to decide what you're to do and then do it."

After giving up the wrestling career, Barden first landed a job with IBM. He wasn't happy, so he decided to enter the medical field because he saw some relationship to his sports background.

After completing the residency at South Bend Osteopathic Hospital, he stayed there to practice from 1974-79. During 1978, he became an assistant wrestling coach at Notre Dame University.

The Fighting Irish had their two best seasons while Barden worked with the team — mainly as an instructor of technique. Notre Dame was eighth and 13th in the country during his two seasons.

But, he became interested in moving back to Michigan because that's where it all began for him.

Mustang linkers eighth at regional Northville's boys' golf team finished the season on a respectable note when it placed eighth at the 20 team Class A regional at Burroughs Farms in Brighton Friday.

Coach Joe Blake's linkers shot an 18-hole team total of 332. Ann Arbor Pioneer took top honors with a 317 total. Farmington was second at 320. Redford Catholic Central was third (322), host Brighton was fourth (323), Walled Lake Western was fifth (326), Livonia Stevenson was sixth (328) and Walled Lake Central was seventh (331).

Bob Pegrum was the Mustangs' top linker with an 18-hole round of 79. Ray Nutter was next 82 and he was followed by Dave Pohlod (84), Bob Justus (86) and Kip Mack (88).

"As far as the 18-hole tournament events — the Midwestern and the regionals — I thought we played fairly well," Blake assessed.

"However, I thought we could have done better with our dual meet record," added Blake, referring to the team's final 7-6 overall and 5-4 Western Division mark in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"I was happy with Bob Pegrum. He showed a tremendous amount of improvement. Also, I was happy with the addition of Bob Justus, a transfer student from Indiana. I thought his contributions were unexpected, but I was pleased with them. And we had some help from Eric Morfe, a sophomore," he offered.

"I think we have a good nucleus for next season," Blake projected.

Colts invade Silverdome

Football was played at the Pontiac Silverdome Sunday afternoon. But, how could that be? Aren't the National Football League players still on strike against management. Yes they are, but that doesn't mean other teams cannot come into the Silverdome to play.

The Northville-Novi Colts junior football team took over where the Detroit Lions, and 27 other NFL teams, left off. The Colts battled the Westland Comets in a grid contest on the artificial turf of the Silverdome—the den of the Detroit Lions.

This is the second straight year the Colts have played in the Silverdome. Last year, the Colts played Romulus with two of their three teams going home victors. However, the Colts had to wait until the Lions were done with their regularly scheduled contest before taking to the carpet.

This season, the Colts were the main afternoon attraction with the NFL Players Association still on strike.

And like last year, two of the three Colts' teams went home with victories.

The freshmen squad started the day with 13-6 come-from-behind triumph over the Comets. Matt Smith scored both touchdowns on runs of 41 and one yard in the second half to spur the victory.

Smith set up his second six pointer with a 42 yard run. Steve Bastian scored the game's only extra point. He also had a key interception, as did Jeff Todd, to stop Westland drives deep in Colts territory. Jay Wardwell and Garnett Potter also played strong defensive games. The freshmen improved their record to 5-1 with the triumph.

The varsity also was victorious as the Colts blanked the Comets 20-0.

Again, Cerretani was the big gun offensively as he scored all three touchdowns and added one extra point. He started things off by running back the opening kickoff 73 yards for a score. Cerretani then scored on runs of 41 and two yards to cap the scoring.

Cerretani scored one extra point and threw to Tom Kiehus for the other.

Defensively, the varsity was led by interceptions by Allen Hite, Derek Osborne, Mike Quint and Cerretani. Also, quarterback sacks were recorded by Brad Eble, Dave Welch and John McRae.

The junior varsity was the only squad to go home a loser as the Comets defeated the Colts 26-6.

Bop Smith scored the lone Colts touchdown when he hauled in a 47-yard aerial from Scott Stephens in the second quarter. The Comets scored once in each of the four quarters.

Betty Lennox receives BPW honor

Those who believe the roles of mother, homemaker, businesswoman and civil servant definitely don't mix, most likely haven't met City Controller Betty Lennox.

At 60, this articulate and unassuming city official epitomizes what has come to be known as "superwoman." Though she most likely would not bestow this title upon herself, there are many who have found it appropriately describes her.

One group which has found Lennox's contributions to community service outstanding and her business achievements admirable is the Northville Business and Professional Women's Club which last Tuesday honored her as its Woman of the Year.

It only is the fourth such award presented by the Northville BPW and is announced in conjunction with National Businesswomen's Week which began October 17.

A former township clerk and supervisor, Lennox also is a member of the Northville Woman's Club. She has been keeping track of the city's accounts, payrolls and budgets as city controller for the past five years.

She also is a member of the Delegation for Friendship Among Women — a nonprofit organization promoting worldwide friendship among women.

Sitting in her office at City Hall, Lennox says she feels "honored" to have received the BPW award and contends her contributions to the community are due to her close ties with Northville.

A Michigan native, Lennox and her husband James moved to Northville in 1973. In 1974, Betty was appointed township clerk and less than a year later was unanimously appointed supervisor by her fellow board members to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Lawrence Wright.

While serving the township, Lennox worked extensively on the so-called "super sewer" project. However, her role as township supervisor came to an end when she lost the Republican primary election in 1976 to Wilson Grier.

Lennox admits her defeat in the primary "was very disappointing" and contends she lost the nomination because of her platform of city and township government consolidation.

"I felt that the city and township should be united as one government," she says. "It would be more cost effective."

While Lennox's service to the township came to an end after the '76 primary, her contributions to the community were far from over.

Less than two years after her primary defeat, Lennox was appointed city controller.

In describing her job, Lennox says she "enjoys the challenge of the whole thing."

As city controller she is in charge of all city investing, cash flow, payrolls, accounts payable and billings. She also works with state and federal auditors and City Manager Steve Walters on the annual budgets.

While Lennox contends she likes "working with figures," her other interests include travel, cooking and sewing.

"I also try golf," she says with a

The Lennox family moved to Northville from the East Coast, where Betty spent several years working in freelance food preparation in New York City. A Michigan State University home economics graduate, she prepared food for television commercials, magazine advertisements, pamphlets and brochures.

The same year the family moved to Northville, Betty also was invited to join the prestigious Delegation for Friendship Among Women. Membership in the organization currently totals 75 and is by invitation only.

Lennox notes that her membership in the organization has offered her the opportunity to travel to parts of the world often not accessible to tourists.

She was among the first group of Americans to visit the People's Republic of China in 1979 after the normalization of relations with the United States.

In 1974, she made a 17-day tour of the Middle East, visiting Egypt, Iran, Kuwait and Iraq. While in Egypt, she and the other American delegates met with a group of prominent Egyptian women dignitaries. That meeting subsequently led to a visit to Northville

WNFGA meeting here

Two hostess branches for the October 28 fall council meeting of the Michigan Division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Country Girls and Northville, are making plans to "showcase their town" for the event.

June Lafferty, meeting general chairman, reports they are doing so by holding the business meeting with guest speaker at the Victorian-style Marquis Theater on Main Street.

"This is being done to give everyone opportunity to see the results of the recent Mainstreet restoration," she explains.

Both branches have been active in this civic improvement project for the community and have invited Mayor Paul Vernon to greet division members.

A highlight of the business meeting at 9:45 a.m. following the 9 a.m. registration and coffee will be the guest speaker Mrs. Birthe Clausen, Frysinger Fellowship Exchangee from Denmark, who will be introduced by Phyllis Slattery, Michigan Division president.

Guests then will proceed to Meadowbrook Country Club at 12:30 p.m. for the luncheon program. Use of fresh and silk flowers in artistic displays will be demonstrated by G. Dewey Gardner and Louise Whittington.

Assisting Mrs. Lafferty on the committee are co-chairmen Molly Manley, president of the Northville Branch, and Zo Chisnell, president of the Country Girls Branch. Wilma Cushing, Michigan Division arts and crafts chairman and a member of the Northville Branch, is in charge of table decorations.

In Our Town

OLV celebrates 60th anniversary

By JEAN DAY

A gala dinner dance November 6 is the latest event celebrating the 60th anniversary of Our Lady of Victory Church. A special liturgy program October 5 officially marked the milestone of the church which now has 1500 members. The anniversary observance will continue through New Year's Eve.

Now members are getting their tickets for the anniversary dinner which begins with cocktails at 6 p.m. and is followed by dinner at 7 p.m. at the Monaghan Knights of Columbus in Livonia. Dancing will be from 8 p.m. until midnight. The event at $35 a couple also is open to friends of the congregation.

Highland Lakes fashion show's in great shape

Highland Lakes Women's Club's fall fashion show to be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the clubhouse has been a sellout since last month. Joining New Gal in Town and Van Dam's Lingerie shops in presenting the show will be Great Shape hair salon. The dessert show is the club's 10th. Shop owner Jean Van Dam is a Highland Lakes resident.

Ruth Collins, who now is finalizing details and will be introducing the show, and her husband were in a group of 20 Ford Motor Company people taking a late September trip to Alaska. She reported "no rain and just beautiful weather" at that time of year as they went by ship up the inside passage to Juneau. They went on to visit Skagway, Whitehorse and Anchorage, flying to Seattle and back home.

Woman's Club votes to resign from federation

Upon recommendation of its board of directors a motion was approved at last Friday's meeting of Northville Woman's Club to resign from the Metropolitan Detroit Federation. The club, begun in 1892, made the decision, President Phyllis Slattery explained, as the federation no longer has programs of area-wide interest. She added that the federation membership has shrunk during the last few years. The Northville club was the second oldest in the federation. Recommendation was made to investigate state federation membership.

Economist Leon Pratnicki, club speaker last Friday, proved to have as delightful a sense of humor as anticipated. When asked if he knew how to reach Northville, he responded, he did indeed — he comes here to fill his jugs at the well. As she reported the program information, publicity

Newcomers' events slated

"Fashion Frolic" is the theme of the annual Northville Newcomers dinner and fashion to be held at 6:30 p.m. November 9 at the Sheraton Oaks.

Models from Hudson's will present the fashion forecast for this winter and the coming holidays.

All Newcomer members, alumnae and guests are welcome to attend. Reservations at $13.50 per person should be made with Bobbi Stephens at 349-6383 by November 3. Group reservations up to 10 are encouraged.

Newcomers also are planning an American Graffiti dance to be held from 7:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. in the gym of the Northville Recreation Department.

Price is $15 per couple plus a dish to pass. Beer, wine and pop will be provided. For reservations and more information call Kathie Allen at 348-9798 before October 29. Dress is '50s and '60s.

OCC sponsors college day

Oakland Community College's WOMENCENTER will sponsor "Try College For A Day" at the college's Orchard Ridge campus next Thursday, October 28, from 8 a.m.-3 p.m. and 6-10 p.m.

The program will kickoff with coffee in the WOMENCENTER, J-Building, Room 308. Participants will be invited to visit morning, afternoon and evening classes at the college.

Those attending this special program are invited to bring a brown bag lunch or purchase lunch in the cafeteria at noon, and return to the WOMENCENTER, where staff members and students will be available to answer questions and provide assistance. Participants may also receive counseling for classes for the winter term.

Free childcare will be available by reservation only. For further information, call the WOMENCENTER at 476-9400, ext. 509.

BPW honors Betty Lennox

from the Egyptian women delegates during their tour of the United States in October, 1980.

In addition to her worldwide travels, Lennox and her husband also travel throughout the United States. With children in Maryland, Georgia and California, Lennox notes there are plenty of places to visit.

However, she notes she has had little time for traveling during the past few months. Most recently she has been hip-deep in city budget matters and has been preparing for the arrival of the new computer for the city offices.

"I keep myself busy," she comments, before heading off to meeting with the city auditors.

chairman Pearl Stephens had just returned from the family's summer home at Horton Bay near Petoskey. She mentioned that their grandson Peter, son of Carl and Karen Stephens, becomes a fifth generation to vacation in the home built by her husband's grandfather, a Methodist minister. Pearl and Carl are turning the home over to the younger generations and have remodeled a barn into a summer house for themselves.

Mrs. Stephens adds that she saw former Northville residents Andy and Bob Bogart in a Charlevoix restaurant. She is manager-buyer of a Charlevoix fashion shop.

Another former Northville resident, Dorothy Guido, now of Highland, was on hand for last Friday's program. As she busily took lecture notes, she explained she was doing so for a class at Madonna. She now is a junior there and expects to be graduated within two years.

Easterner wins quilt at Tivoli Fair

Tivoli Fair chairman Martha Nield and her committee were surprised when the winner of the quilt at the fair had a Pennsylvania address. A telephone call to Butler, Pennsylvania, to winner Annabelle Fleming revealed she is the mother of Sylvia Gucken and had been visiting when she attended the fair.

A Northville family is in the national news because of its pet. The Jay Zayti family Saint Bernard "Tootsie" is making news and winning $150 for daughter Christina. All last winter Inge Zayti relates, she was upset not to receive from her milkman the butter she ordered, especially since she kept getting billed for it.

Come spring, the family discovered the reason. As the snow melted, patches of yellow dotted the field around their home — where Tootsie had "buried" the butter in the snow. The National Inquirer accepted the information sent to its readers' column, and Christina received the prize and a visit from the paper to photograph the culprit.

LEARN HOW TO SAVE A LIFE!

As a community service, Botsford General Hospital will be offering a free training program for area citizens in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR). The ultimate purpose is to enable citizens to perform CPR for heart attack victims until emergency medical personnel arrive. Certified instructors will teach the course.

The one-session, 3 hour "Heart Saver" course will be offered the first Thursday of each month at 7:00 PM in the Community Room of the Botsford Administration & Education Building (immediately to the east of the hospital).

To pre-register (required), please call the Department of Health Promotion and Development at 471-8091, on Monday through Friday from 9:00 A.M. to 5 P.M. Class size is limited, so please register early. Botsford General Hospital is located at 28050 Grand River Ave., Farmington Hills 48024. (North of Grand River, behind the Botsford Inn).

Kosko-Jackson vows recited

MR. AND MRS. JEFFREY KOSKO

Janice L. Jackson, daughter of Joyce Jackson of Northville and Ray Jackson of Canton, exchanged marriage vows with Jeffrey R. Kosko October 1 at Martha Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kosko of Dearborn.

The double ring, candlelight service was officiated by the Reverend John Mishler of First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Escorted down the aisle by both parents, the bride wore a white lace gown embroidered with seed pearls and pearlized sequins. She carried a bouquet of handmade silk roses and azaleas.

Best men were Marc Maszara and the bridegroom's brother Bryan Kosko. Ushers were the bride's brother John Jackson and Dan Snyder.

The couple was escorted by carriage to a reception in the Lovett Hall ballroom. Approximately 80 guests were in attendance.

The bride is a Michigan State University graduate and currently is employed by Republic Airlines.

The bridegroom received his undergraduate degree from University of Michigan and his graduate degree from Central Michigan. He currently is employed as an engineer for Ford Motor Company.

Following a wedding trip to the Hawaii Islands, the newlyweds returned to West Dearborn where they will make their home.

Tied up

Margaret Weidner, at left, is all tied up in preparation for the annual Greens Mart sponsored by the Northville Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association. The group currently is accepting phone orders for its Christmas wreath sale held during Northville's Christmas Walk. The wreaths come in a variety of sizes and include pine cones and a color choice of all-weather velvet bows in red, gold and blue. Double wreaths finished on both sides also are available. Cost for regular wreaths is $6.75 for 18-inches, $9 for 26-inches, $13.25 for 30-inches, $19.75 for 36-inches and $28.50 for 46-48 inches. Double wreaths are $8.75 for 18-inches, $12.75 for 26-inches, $15.75 for 30-inches, $19.75 for 36-inches and $30 for 46-48 inches. Phone orders will be accepted through October 27 and can be made by calling 349-8472 or 349-7696 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. and 349-6841 or 349-1110 between 3 and 9 p.m. All orders must be pre-paid and should be picked up November 21 during the Christmas Walk at the Greens Mart booth next to The Record office. Checks should be made payable to Greens Mart, 46935 Dunsany, Northville. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

League hosts fashion show

The Plymouth Theatre Guild will present its Wrapped in Warmth fashion show featuring clothes for both men and women at 7:30 p.m. October 27 in the Waterman Center at Schoolcraft College.

Tickets at $8 per person, include wine, dessert and beverage and are on sale at Armbruster Bootery, Health Food Shoppe and me and mr. jones. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Fashions will be provided by John Smith, me and mr. jones, Maggie and me, Pendleton Shop, Sports Venture, Tadmore's and Roberts Fur Fair. Shoes and boots will be provided by Armbruster Bootery. Hair and makeup is courtesy of Beautiful People.

A drawing featuring a Garrison IV wood burning stove donated by Heat and Sweep also will be held at the show. Other drawing items include a cheese round from McCully Egg Company, a brass floor lamp from Sideways, Fox-tail scarf from Roberts Fur Fair, Maggie designed sweatshirt from Maggie and Me, scented drawer liners from Paper Parade, a ruffled shirt and tie from me and mr. jones, a men's shetland sweater from John Smith, a welcome sign from the Saltbox and a gift certificate from Plymouth Furniture.

Tickets for the drawing are available at Armbrusters, Health Food Shoppe, Heat and Sweep and from Crescendo members.

Models for the evening will be Sharon Davy, Judy Lore and her son Chris, Jean Neuhardt, Mary Smith, Janice Paulsen, Judy Moore, Judy Solberg, Nancy Meyers, Helen Bilyea, Millie Ferrari, Amy Crawford, Gillian Lyon, Richard Rhinehart, Dick Langley, Lance Miller and Roland Thomas.

Proceeds from the show will benefit the Plymouth Symphony. The fashion show is chaired by Dee Crawford and Karen Wagner, tickets and program by Sue Decker and Cathy Brenkert, posters by Mary Kehoe, decorations by Dorothy Shaffer and Sharon Davy, prizes by Cindy Merrifield and publicity by Carol Davis.

15% TAX BREAK!

Tell me about your high gas heating bills and I'll tell you how you can save up to 20%* with Ameri-Therm.

For years I've talked with people who are tired of wasting fuel and money. Gas rates keep going up, so they come to me for advice.

Every day, for homeowners like you, I correct the money-wasting problem of gas energy loss with Ameri-Therm® Vent Dampers.

The problem is very common:

When a furnace, boiler or water heater shuts off, warm air is quickly lost up the chimney. Energy escapes, but you still end up paying for it.

People want to save as much as they can, so I tell them to keep heat inside with an Ameri-Therm Vent Damper.

Ameri-Therm is the thermally actuated vent damper that's:

- Proven in millions of locations.
- Saves up to 20%* on fuel bills.
- Popular choice of American homeowners
- Five year limited warranty.
- Thermally actuated to operate efficiently with no wires, electricity, or other power source.
- Eligible for 15% tax credit
- Available for gas furnaces, boilers and water heaters

Fall is for planting

Shade Trees

Here's Why:

- Plant now and get a head start on spring and summer! Transplanting trees while they're dormant allows roots to grow this fall and results in more foliage produced in the spring.
- A well-landscaped yard can increase property value as much as 30% more than a house without green, growing plantings, according to recent studies.
- Real estate studies have shown that well-landscaped homes, especially those with beautiful trees, tend to sell faster and are more apt to be sold at the seller's 'asking price.'

They're on sale now!

Wednesday thru Saturday only;
 Sale ends Oct. 30th

WINTER DEFENSE SYSTEMS

MONITOR 30™

MONITOR 20™

THE NEW MONITOR™ HEATING SYSTEMS—KERO-SUN'S CONVENIENT SOLUTION TO THE HIGH COST OF HEATING LARGE AREAS.

All through the heating season there are two systems to save you money while you stay warm and comfortable. Kero-Sun® Monitor™ vented kerosene heating systems can heat an entire home or help your central heating system while you dial down the thermostat for big savings.

Monitor™ heating systems deliver 18,000 BTU's or 30,000 BTU's of pure heat (depending on model) with remarkable fuel efficiency. In fact, they're two of the most fuel-efficient heating systems in the world. Automatically regulating heat output to give you even, constant warmth. Convenient? Monitor™ systems can be connected to large outside fuel tanks, eliminating the need for daily fueling.

The Monitor™ heating systems provide enough heat to warm a big family room. An entire home addition. A home workshop or basement recreation room.

Compact. Easy to install. Virtually maintenance-free. Safety-tested and listed by Underwriters Laboratories.

MONITOR™ HEATING SYSTEMS SAVE YOU MONEY WHILE THEY KEEP YOU WARM.

85 HP Outboard & Trailer

FOR $5995
ONLY

This 16-footer is an all-new design. The engine is performance engineered, manufactured to Bayliner's exact specifications and perfectly mated to the boat. Likewise, the trailer is designed just for the boat and offers full hull support plus the easiest loading-unloading we've ever seen.

The affordability of this package should not lead you to think it is less than deluxe. Like our top-selling 1950 Capri, which has just been named BOAT OF THE YEAR by Powerboat magazine, this new 16 is loaded with equipment. And, it has been developed with the same degree of care that won our 19-footer Powerboat's top award for construction, styling, workmanship, handling, fuel economy and—most importantly—price.

EQUIPMENT INCLUDES:

- Pre-rigged with 85 hp. outboard
- Custom designed trailer
- Convertible top
- Stainless steel rails
- Deluxe instrumentation
- Deluxe interior with open bow seating
- Built-in water ski storage
- Horn
- Utilized construction with glassed-in bulkheads
- Ski Mirror
- Fire Extinguisher
