TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Festive Face

About 150 youngsters, like the magic marker artist above, showed up to demonstrate their artistic talent Saturday in a pumpkin-painting contest at the Merchants' Association Autumn Festival in Town Square Park. Cooperating in the project with the merchants was the Kiwanis Club. Youngsters were awarded ribbons for their pumpkin face designs. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

School board approves long-range plan

By MICHELE McELMURRY

After years of uncertainty and criticism over the future of Northville Public Schools, the board of education Monday night unanimously approved a long-range plan for the district which includes a renovation of Northville High School and a realignment of the present grade structure to a middle school concept.

The plan, proposed by School Superintendent George Bell at a public meeting October 5, will follow a timeline beginning with this school year. Completion of the projects — renovation of the high school and realignment of the grade structure — is planned for the 1985-86 school year.

In approving the plan, board president Douglas Whitaker mentioned that "public input has been quite supportive."

"On this plan we're as close to community consensus as we've ever been on anything," he noted.

However, board members cautioned that the plan must be flexible in order to be effective — and must include community support.

"The community has to be aware of how flexible this plan is and how dependable each component is on making it work," board secretary Chris Johnson said.

One of the major factors to making the plan a reality will be a bond issue campaign tentatively scheduled during the 1983 school year. A bond issue will be needed to secure funds for renovating the high school.

"The last thing I wanted to do when I took this job was to propose a bond issue and reconstruct the school district," Bell commented, after the board's approval of his plan.

However, he said a bond issue is essential to renovating the high school.

Bell's proposal was outlined to the public in response to a charge set forth

Plan service discussion set

A special meeting to discuss city planning consultant services has been called for 7 p.m. Monday prior to the regular city council meeting at 8 p.m.

At the written request of city planning consultant Ronald Nino, the meeting is expected to adjourn into closed session to discuss Nino's services. City Clerk Joan McAllister reported Tuesday.

City council member J. Burton DeRusha attended last week Tuesday's planning commission meeting and told planners that Mayor Paul Vernon had invited Nino to the November 1 council meeting to discuss his continuing as city planner.

He said members of the planning commission also were invited to be present.

Nino, who has his own planning consulting firm in Grand Blanc, was not at the planning commission meeting.

City officials have made no secret that they have had concerns recently about Nino's advice and attitude on matters coming before the planning commission.

At the October 19 meeting DeRusha told planners he had been disturbed during the discussions as applicants "should not be held hostage" to gain compliance on other matters when they seek approvals.

Earlier in the meeting the commission had questioned whether to grant site, landscape and architectural approval to Northville Laboratories, inasmuch as the proposed separate road to the laboratory had not been installed.

City Manager Steven Walters who also was present at the session told the commission the separate road was a matter the city had been handling with the Department of Natural Resources as an exchange of property with the Wayne County Road Commission was involved.

He questioned the commission's right to hold up approval on this basis, saying the road is a matter of time with regional approval being sought from Omaha.

Approval was granted.

As the planners discussed site, landscape and architectural approval for George Miller's paint and bump shop at 114 Highway, Walters reminded the commission that "site plan approval defines what has to be landscaped but not how."

Site approval was granted by a 5-1 vote with Jay Wendt voting against and chairman Lesa Buckland, Jerome Mittman, James Cutler, Luke Durst and William Demray approving.

Commenting that complaints about the planning commission have been carried to city council and himself, Vernon told council at the October 18 meeting, the planning consultant is directly responsible to city council.

"It is time we faced up and consider making a change in consulting service — it is an open-ended agreement."

He cited delays in approving Northville Laboratories addition and the problems Miller has encountered in putting in a paint booth at the High Street location as ways "we have been making it extremely difficult" to expand.

"I feel a situation has been created that is counterproductive to the city,"

Election interest high, clerks predict big vote

Absentee voter activity in city and township seems to indicate a heavy turnout at the polls November 2, according to the community clerks.

More than the usual number of city residents appear to be voting absentee in Tuesday's election, city clerk Joan McAllister said yesterday, reporting that 249 absentee ballots have been returned to date, 96 from the Oakland County portion of the city and 153 from the Wayne County section.

"They're coming in at the rate of 15-20 a day," she noted, mentioning this is more than usual.

She speculated that some residents may be requesting absentee ballots in order to be able to study the long "bed-sheets" at home.

"I hope the vote is going to be heavy, but it's hard to guess," she said, adding that she feels the proposals may bring out voters. The city has about 3,600 registered voters. McAllister recalled that the record absentee vote of 625 residents took place in the presidential election of 1978.

In the township Clerk Susan Heintz reported more than 800 absentee ballots are out, also heavier than normal. Heintz said the absentee count is the "leading indicator" of the turnout and based on the activity to date she expects 40 to 45 percent of the township's 8,563 registered voters will cast ballots by the time the polls close.

Absentee ballots may be obtained at city and township halls until 2 p.m. Saturday as the clerks' offices will remain open Saturday until then. Emergency-type ballots may be obtained until 4 p.m. Monday.

Each of the city's two polling places will be open Tuesday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Wayne County residents of the city vote at city hall; Oakland county city residents vote at Amerman Elementary School at Eight Mile and Center.

Although reapportionment has changed the local district numbers, township precinct divisions remain the same as before, Heintz noted. New voter registration cards sent during the summer give the polling place and precinct number, she added.

Township polling places, also open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., are: Precinct I at Moraine School, Eight Mile Road; Precinct II — Silver Springs Elementary, Silver Springs Road; Precinct III — Moraine school; Precinct IV — Meads Mill school, Franklin Road; Precinct V — Kings Mill Clubhouse; Precinct VI — Winchester School, Winchester Drive; Precinct VII — Meads Mill; Precincts VIII and IX — Silver Springs School and Precinct X — Winchester School.

Fire department sponsors party

A Halloween costume contest will be a highlight of the Halloween party given by the Northville City Fire Department beginning at 5 p.m. Sunday at the fire station at 215 West Main.

City firemen who sponsor the annual event are calling the party a "Red Alert!" — the name firefighters use for a top emergency.

There will be free popcorn, cotton candy and soft drinks for those attending.

All costumes must be original, not store-bought or rented, according to the judging rules. Judges will be Betty Allen, president of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, and Jack Hoffman, general manager of the Sliger-Livinston Publications.

Judging will be by age groups with the youngest, one-to-five year olds, competing at 7:15 p.m.; six-to-nine year olds at 7:30 p.m.; and 10-to-12 at 7:45 p.m.

Trophies are winners the first, second and third place winners in each of the three age categories.

Both the city and township have established Halloween trick-or-treat hours from 5-7 p.m. Sunday.

Stop the clock

Daylight savings time ends

This weekend Michigan residents, along with most of the nation, will get an extra hour to sleep — or drink — as daylight savings time ends for another year at 2 a.m. Sunday morning.

For most of us, in addition to the extra hour of sleep, the change back to eastern standard time means turning back clock hands throughout the house.

This feat is easier to accomplish with today's clocks — those made in the past 15 years — because most modern mechanisms are built to turn back or ahead, says Mel Anderson of Northville Watch and Clock Shop.

"But, if you don't know," he warns, "don't turn it backward."

Anderson's failproof advice to those in doubt is simple: "just stop the clock for an hour."

Anderson himself won't have any problem with the hundreds of clocks in his shop at 132 West Dunlap. While most are running, they are not set.

"The only one we keep on time is the jeweler's regulator," he says, pointing out the tall case clock behind the counter.

"Every clock with a pendulum is a 'regulator' because it can be regulated," he says, relating that "regulator" clocks of the past were produced to capitalize on the reputation of jewelers' regulators.

Anderson, who teaches clock repairing each winter in Northville Historical Society classes in Mill Race Historical Village, says it doesn't matter if a contemporary timepiece is electric, battery operated or a windup, the hands can be turned either way.

"The clocks you have to be careful with are those with alarm and striking mechanisms," he explains.

"You also may have to be careful of old electric clocks — those made in the '20s," he adds, but says those who remember to "stop the clock" for an hour before going to bed Saturday night won't have a problem.

Even those who don't re-set before retiring may not arrive an hour early for church the next morning. Anderson, in spite of being a clock expert, thinks "one of the most powerful timepieces is the human body. It has a terrific built-in alarm clock," he observes.

He also notes that one of the most popular-selling clocks today is the grandfather, or tall case, reproduction. This, he says, is because they are bargains, costing not too much more than a table clock.

"Many people," he says, "aren't aware that the floor clock capital of the world is in Zeeland, Michigan, where three companies — Howard Miller, Colonial and Trend — are producing them."

"This is where the old furniture factories were, and where there are fine wood craftsmen. Because these factories, too, have been affected by the slow economy," he says, "they have been reducing prices."

It's simple to stop the pendulum for an hour on such clocks.

Those who do go to bed with clocks adjusted to EST will find it's daylight when they wake up at 8 a.m. — the hour that was a dark 7 a.m. the day before.

Mill Race Village receives 'Orchid'

Mill Race Village and the Northville Historical Society Saturday were the recipients of an "orchid" in the Detroit Metropolitan area's first Orchids and Onions Community Service Program.

The Orchids and Onions program was initiated this year by the American Society of Interior Designers with the support of the Environmental Arts Advisory Committee of the Michigan Council for the Arts, the American Society of Landscape Architects and Designers Lighting Forum.

Purpose of the program is to give the public an opportunity to cite specific examples of local architecture and design for either an "orchid" or an "onion"—and more than 200 nominations were received from the public before five "orchid" and three "onion" winners were chosen by jury.

Mill Race Village was the third "orchid" winner announced in the brunch program held Saturday at the Edsel and Eleanor Ford House in Grosse Pointe Shores.

Accepting the award was Northville Historical Society President Francis Gazlay, who attended with his wife.

Welcoming guests at the luncheon was another Northville resident, Brian C. Collins, ASID, Michigan Chapter President, who had nominated the Mill Race Village for an orchid award.

The program speaker was Louis Cook, editorial writer of the Detroit Free Press and one of the jurors. Other jurors were Dennis Huguley, industrial designer; J.L. Hudson, Jr.; William Kessler, AIA; Steven Squillance, Illuminating Engineering Society; Gayle Camden, ASID; William Denler, FASID; and Karl H. Greimel, Dean of the School of Architecture at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Orchids also were presented to MacKenzie House and Preservation Wayne for historic preservation of the home of David MacKenzie, founder and first dean of Wayne State University;

New Center Commons for historic preservation of the 18-block neighborhood surrounding the Fisher and General Motors buildings;

Schervish, Vogel, Merz, Cardoza (architects) for historic preservation of a Woodbridge Carriage House restored by the firm for its offices;

Silver's, Incorporated, for historic preservation of the Manufacturers National Bank Building on Fort at Shelby which houses the office design and supply firm's national headquarters.

Onion awards went to Michigan National Bank of Detroit, Shelby branch, for graphic design and signage;

New Center One for planning solutions (for pedestrian skywalk—"no place for an eclectic look");

Washington Boulevard for planning solutions.

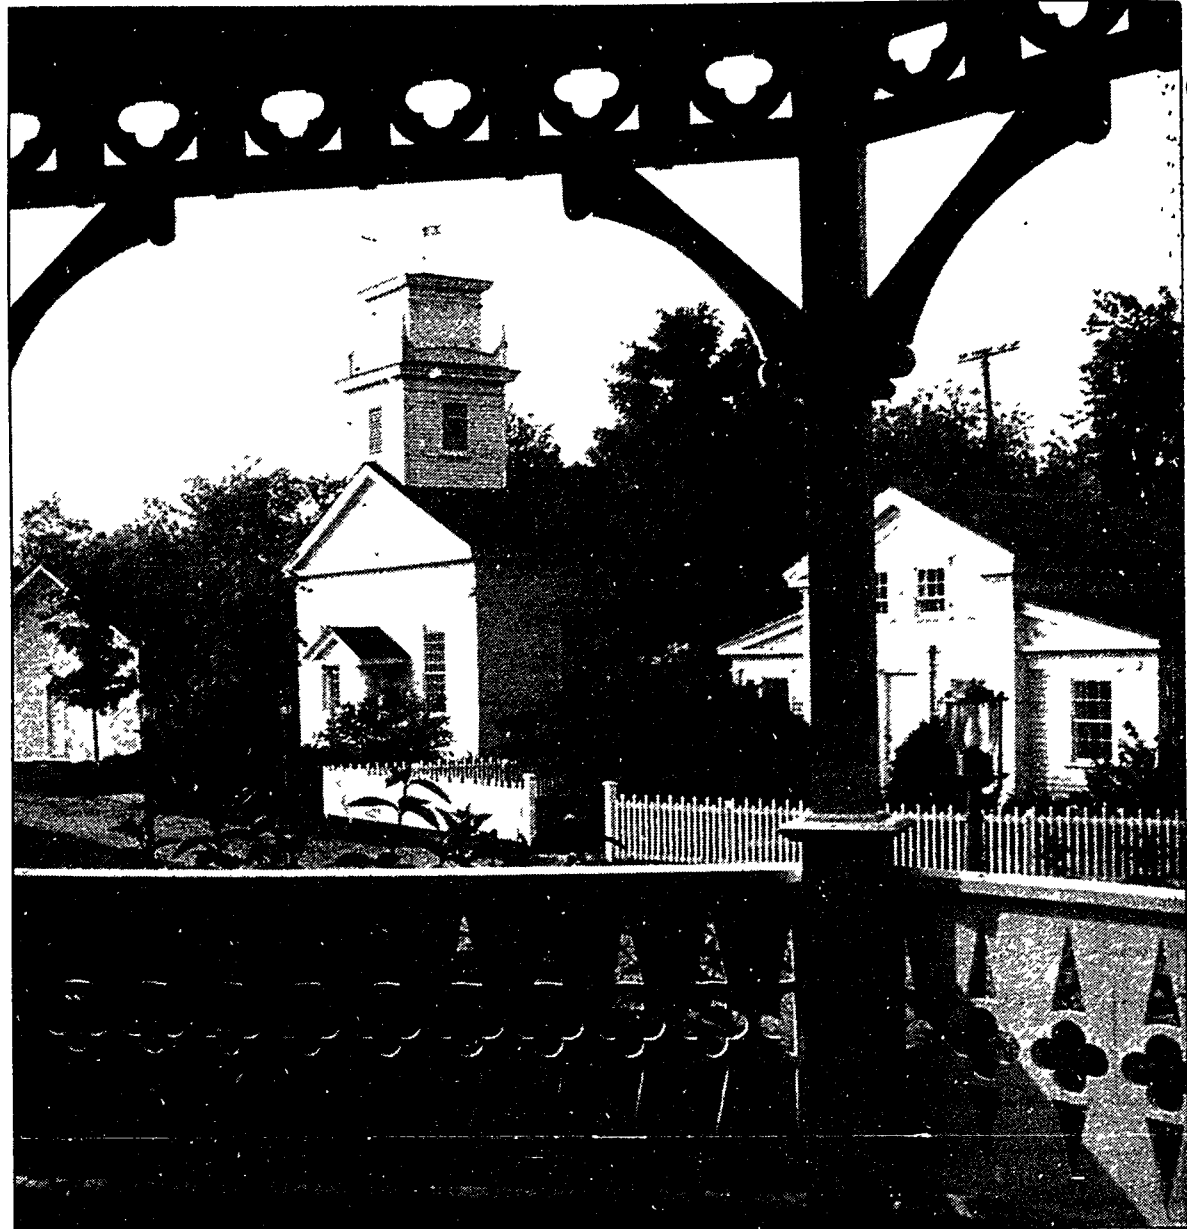

The Mill Race Village was lauded as, "An excellent effort of a small town historical society to relocate endangered buildings to a park-like setting."

The awards were presented by John Delle-Monache of WWJ-AM.

In awarding an "onion" to the Shelby branch of MNB, the jury noted, "The signage is inconsistent with the architecture of the building and attention given to restoring the building interior."

Of New Center One, the jury stated, "While the skywalks relate to the new building, they detract from the architecture of the General Motors and Fisher buildings."

In speaking of Washington Boulevard, the jury looked at ways of improving the project by strengthening the landscaping to "soften the massive red piping and altering lighting that creates excessive visual stimulation."

Mill Race Village and the Northville Historical Society were honored

"Historic preservation is a public concern and a trend across the country," said Orchid and Onions co-chairman Julie Baba, "as evidenced by the fact that all the orchids were given for historic preservation."

"We hope that this is something that will continue and be an example to others of what can be done."

It was noted that the Mill Race Historical Village was undertaken in 1972 by the historical society to preserve the community's Victorian past. As a result of this community-wide effort by volunteers, five buildings have been moved to the village. Its land was donated by Ford Motor Company whose valve plant is located across Griswold from the village.

Delle-Monache told the luncheon audience that a gristmill stood on the site in 1826 and that the name "Mill Race Village" was taken from the fact that the water which ran to the waterwheel was called a "race."

It was reported that the New School Church, built in 1825 by a splinter group of the Presbyterian Church, was the first building renovated. It was moved to the site in 1972 and now the Greek Revival style structure with columned entrance portico is used for meetings, classes, workshops and weddings.

Next door is the Hunter House built in 1851, cited as an example of basilica-type Greek Revival home found in this area. It was moved to the village in 1972.

It was noted that the Yerkes House, a classic Victorian carpenter gothic, at the end of the street, built in 1868, was moved to the village in 1975, and is used as a museum.

One-room Wash Oak School, built in 1873, was last used by students in 1966 and was moved to the village in 1975.

Last building moved to the site is the Victorian cottage house built in the 1890s and now used as a studio by the Mill Race Weavers' Guild. In 1979 shop students of John Glenn High School in Westland constructed the gazebo which is used as a bandstand.

Cook, in speaking of the orchid-winning restorations, observed, "When you can think of a good way to recycle, it's great."

Sparks flying in 36th House contest

By KEVIN WILSON

When election watchers in this area have heard the projections of victory in the races for governor and senator next Tuesday, all eyes will turn to the returns from Northville, Plymouth and Canton and the 36th District State House race.

The contest is considered a close one in a new district with uncertain party affiliation, though it likely leans toward Republicans.

Verbal sparring between Republican Gerald Law and Democrat William Joyner has been growing heated in these last weeks of the campaign and no one is ready to claim certain victory before the polls close next Tuesday.

Even Libertarian Keith Bilby, given little chance of victory, has been known to level a few pointed criticisms of his opponents in the race, but it is the Joyner-Law conflict that is attracting most of the attention.

Each regularly criticizes his opponent, particularly with regard to credibility and the candidates' records on spending and budget matters.

Law consistently charges that Joyner's proposals to cut taxes are "irresponsible" and not accompanied by specific proposals to reduce state spending or make up the lost revenue. Joyner's literature regularly states that Law has voted for a deficit spending budget as a Plymouth Township trustee and touts his own record opposing Wayne County deficit budgets as a commissioner.

At a League of Women Voters-sponsored candidates' night, Law charged that Joyner's much trumpeted refusal of a raise in his $1,500 county commission salary is a promise kept only in the breach — stating that county records show only $120 has been returned.

Analysis

"He's lying," Joyner said after the session, and noted that with several weeks left in the fiscal year he has yet to receive more salary than he did in the previous accounting period.

Joyner regularly strikes at the endorsement Law received from the United Auto Workers union (UAW). During an interview in The Record offices, Joyner said the endorsement went to Law because Joyner had opposed the UAW position in attempting to rein in the county road commission.

"I voted against the UAW positions in Wayne County," Joyner said. "I called for Michael Berry's resignation. If you want their endorsement, you better vote their way." He said the UAW selection was more an act of retribution than genuine support for Law.

Law, in a similar interview, argued that UAW leaders found Joyner too inconsistent, unpredictable, and difficult to communicate with. "I don't think there's anything wrong with a Republican having a UAW endorsement. There was no money attached to it." The union did send out a mailing to its members in the district endorsing Law, but did not make a cash contribution, Law reported.

"You have to deal with them," he said. "You can't ignore them. They're very strong and you have to have a rapport."

Law noted that the UAW support is the only union endorsement on his side of the ledger. Most of his supporters are local chambers of commerce and businesses, with a heavy dose of building trades and construction firms.

Joyner carries endorsements from the Michigan Teachers Association, the Northville Teachers Association, the AFL-CIO, Teamsters, the Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM), the Michigan Nurses Council, Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies and the Detroit Police Officers Association.

Of these, Joyner said, the only monetary support involved is $500 from the Teamsters and $250 from AFL-CIO. Union endorsements are communicated to the members and some, like the Northville Teachers, have conducted telephone canvasses supporting Joyner.

Law charged that the union affiliations were a key element in Joyner's county commission votes during this year's struggle to reduce spending. Joyner voted to place a one mill tax increase proposal on the August ballot as an alternative to county layoffs.

When the proposal was defeated and county layoffs again came up for a vote (pleas for employee concessions having failed), Joyner was absent. Law argued that it was Joyner's union support that led to his absence, while Joyner contended the vote timing was manipulated by his political opponents to insure his absence.

When the smoke clears, the candidates' platforms differ in several respects. Joyner presses for a 50 percent reduction in the state's single business tax with an eventual goal of eliminating it. Law contends the SBT needs some alterations, particularly emphasizing deductions for research and development and the like. Libertarian Bilby calls for total elimination of the SBT, saying the major parties do not really address the issue but only "tinker with it."

Joyner makes tax incentives a key part of his nine-point economic plan, while Law would offer incentives but gives them lower emphasis on the basis of a study showing they are not as effective as once believed.

Another portion of Joyner's economic plan — investment of up to two percent of state pension funds in new capital ventures — drew heated opposition from Law at the LWV candidate's night. "If anyone ever tries to invest your pension in risk ventures you tell them to keep their hands off," Law said.

Joyner calls himself a "strong advocate" of the Equal Rights Amendment and a pro-choice candidate who would oppose any effort to deny Medicaid funds for abortions. Law will go only so far as to say he "does not oppose" ERA and calls himself a "pro-life" candidate who opposes Medicaid abortion funding.

Both argue that their leadership style is more effective than the other's. Joyner depicts himself as the responsive candidate, while Law argues that he is the responsible one.

Joyner keys on high visibility in the community and cites active participation in Plymouth and Canton organizations during his terms as county commissioner and beforehand.

Law responds that Joyner is "nothing more than a public relations person" and lacks the understanding of the issues and reasoned consideration of proposals that Law argues make him the better candidate.

Joyner is counting on beating Law in the City of Plymouth and in Canton while gathering enough Plymouth Township and Northville area votes to stay close. If polls showing Democratic candidates leading in the governor and senator races hold true election day, Joyner could be helped by his party affiliation.

Law can probably count on strong support from Plymouth Township and, if he can prevent Joyner from making too large a dent in the Republican-dominated northern section of the district while staying within striking distance in Canton has strong prospects for victory.

Law could be assisted by a strong Headlee vote in the governor's race in the northern section, and most likely will receive a lift from Carl Pursell — the Republican Congressman who has consistently been the leading vote-getter in the region. Pursell's district does not include Canton.

Bilby, the only Libertarian actively campaigning in the area though there are several others on the ballot, is telling voters that even though his chances are slim, if they believe in Libertarian principles they should vote that way as a message to the major parties.

If his campaign makes an impact on the outcome, most observers agree it would be to Law's detriment, though Libertarian ideals contain elements of both conservative and liberal thought.

Whatever the outcome, those involved will know, even before the votes are tallied, that this time around there was a real contest for the 36th District state house seat.

Robertson disputes charges

Max Robertson, a city DPW employee laid off in a financial cutback by the city in April, 1982, last week took issue a report by City Manager Steven Walters to city council.

"Seniority for union representatives usually is part of a contract," Robertson said Friday in response to the charge that he had tried unsuccessfully to negotiate "super seniority" for himself as a union officer.

The charge was made by Walters to council as he detailed circumstances of the five city DPW layoffs — three because of the city's going to contractual rubbish collection and two last year in financial cutbacks.

Robertson stated that the seniority for a union official usually is written into a negotiated contract, but that it had not been in the city's AFSCME contract and he was trying to have it included.

"It would not have protected me," he stated, "because it would not have taken effect until the next union election."

Walters said the issue had not been discussed with other DPW employees, however, prior to being sought.

Robertson did not dispute Walters' statement that the city is saving money by contracting out the rubbish collection, at a cost of $103,908 during the first year contract and expected to be $118,000 during the second, but questioned the actual amount of savings. Walters said to have DPW collection would have cost approximately $190,000.

Robertson said, "I think it's important that everybody who worked on the (DPW) truck lived in Northville and spent their money in Northville."

He added that none of the Midwest sanitation employees is local.

He said union had had no objection to contracting the service if there had been no layoffs, as was indicated initially.

The grievance ongoing against the city, Robertson said, "is not regarding the contract but about how the layoffs were accomplished."

At the time of the layoffs both clerical and DPW workers were members of the AFSCME union, a situation now changed as clerical workers have decertified and formed a local association. The DPW workers recently voted to rejoin the union.

Robertson says the grievance still is in arbitration because the union charges the city did not follow the three-step grievance procedure, and failed to notify the union within the time period required after the initial step.

Robertson accused the city of helping the clerical workers in the process of decertifying and stated he understood legal fees for the MERC hearing were paid by the city.

City Manager Walters denied the accusation, stating that the clerical workers had withheld dues to the union during the negotiations and then had used this money themselves to pay their attorney.

18th Congressional

Sipher pinning upset hopes on Reaganomics

Allen Sipher, a Farmington Hills Democrat, is pinning his hopes for an upset in the race for the 18th District seat in U.S. Congress squarely on Reaganomics.

Sipher's opponent is a formidable one — William Broomfield, a Bloomfield Township Republican and a member of Congress since 1956.

Northville residents living in the Oakland County portion of the city will be voting on the candidates for the 18th District seat.

Broomfield is the ranking minority member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs and a member of the Small Business Committee. If re-elected he will be the senior Republican in the House of Representatives.

Although he has been active in Democratic party politics for 30 years, Sipher is making his first bid for elected office. He is the owner of Al-Mar Telephone Answering Service in Southfield.

Both candidates agree that Reaganomics is the key issue in this year's election.

Broomfield says he is campaigning on the same issues he's been elected on for the past 26 years — less government, less regulation and reduction of the federal deficit.

The last two years (under Reagan) have been among the most productive and gratifying of his 26 years in Congress, says Broomfield. "Many programs are being audited for the first time."

Broomfield also said he believes Reagan is on the right course with his economic policies, citing the reduction in interest rates and inflation as proof that the country is headed in the right direction. "There are no short cuts to curing our economic woes," he said. "If we ever want to sell automobiles and houses again, it won't be at the interest rates he (Reagan) inherited."

The key question in the 1982 Congressional race, Broomfield continues, is whether the country returns to the failed policies of the past or holds steady to a new course, a course that will create "real" jobs instead of social welfare jobs as exemplified by the CETA program.

"If Tip O'Neill and the liberal Democrats prevail," he warns, "I'm afraid we'll see a return to the old economic and social welfare policies that have put this country in the shape it's in today."

"I don't believe this country can stand any more taxes. We've got to reduce taxes so we can create real jobs."

Sipher admits that he entered the race simply because he did not want Broomfield to run unopposed. But he says he now sees a "glimmer of hope," a glimmer of hope based on the economy and Reaganomics.

Noting Broomfield's support of President Reagan's economic programs, Sipher said he believes Reaganomics "is sending this country right down the tubes."

In regard to Broomfield's high standing with the Small Business Administration, Sipher said Broomfield's advocacy of small business is driving small business out of business.

"Reaganomics is supply-side economics," said Sipher. "The theory is that you give tax breaks to corporations and the wealthy so they will make capital investments that create jobs."

"We've tried that now, but it hasn't worked," he said. The answer, according to Sipher, is "demand-side" economics. Instead of giving tax breaks to corporations and wealthy individuals, tax breaks should be given to the low and middle classes.

"They can't afford to save it; they have to spend it," he explained. "If they had the money, they would be buying things like automobiles and refrigerators that will start the assembly lines moving again."

"If the same tax cuts given to corporations and the wealthy had been given to the low and middle classes, there would be more spending and more confidence in the economy."

"Reaganomics has squeezed the guts out of this country," he adds, "but it's time to let up instead of insisting on more of the same."

Broomfield also points to his experience as a factor in his bid for re-election. Noting that he is the Ranking Minority Member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs and confers frequently with the president, he said his tenure in Congress gives him access to sources unavailable to newer Congressmen.

Additionally, Broomfield believes he has proven he is attentive to his constituents and has served them well. "You don't get elected to Congress as many consecutive terms as I have if you're not representing the people of the district," he said.

Sipher does not dispute the advantages of seniority, but suggests that Broomfield has too much influence in Washington.

"If Broomfield uses his seniority to promote policies which are bad for the country, we'd be better off if he didn't have all that influence," he said.

The two candidates also disagree on the nuclear freeze proposal. Broomfield said the United States currently is discussing three different arms reduction proposals with the Soviet Union. Reagan's proposal on long-range missiles, for example, calls for a one-third reduction in the nuclear arsenal as opposed to a freeze at current levels.

"Arms limitation and reduction are extremely complicated issues," said Broomfield. "I favor a reduction in the nuclear arsenal provided that it's verifiable and won't undermine the security of the country, but I'm afraid that voter approval of the nuclear freeze proposal would undercut the president's efforts and send the wrong message to the USSR."

Sipher, on the other hand, favors the nuclear freeze proposal. "We already have enough nuclear weapons to kill each other several times over," he said. "The money that we are pumping into more nuclear arms could be used for far better purposes."

Pursell faces Sallade in Second Congressional race

Extensive realignment of the 2nd U.S. Congressional district boundaries was made in the reapportionment plan (based on the 1980 census) being employed for the first time in this year's election.

Incumbent Plymouth Republican Carl Pursell finds himself in a district oriented more east-west than the old region. The district still includes Pursell's Plymouth-Northville-Livonia area home base and takes in Salem and Northfield townships on the way to its most populous area, Ann Arbor, from whence comes his opponent, Democrat George Wahr Sallade.

New to the district is much of western Washtenaw County, most of Jackson County (including Jackson itself), much of Lenawee County (including Tecumseh and part of Adrian), all of Hillsdale County and a portion of northeastern Branch County (including Quincy).

The old district, after extending west to Ann Arbor, dipped south and took in Monroe County.

The following biographical data and candidate profiles were drawn from information submitted by Pursell and Sallade and from interviews conducted with each candidate. Libertarian candidate Barbara McKenna has not waged a visible campaign in the northeastern portion of the district and was not interviewed.

Pursell, R., seeks reelection

CARL D. PURSELL
RESIDENCE: Plymouth; AGE: 49
OCCUPATION: U.S. Congressman
EDUCATION: BA, history and political science; MA, education administration, both from Eastern Michigan University. Honorary doctorates in law from Madonna College and Eastern; honorary doctorate in business and science, Cleary College.
BACKGROUND: Wayne County Commissioner, 1969-70; state senator (14th District) 1971-76; elected to U.S. Congress in 1976, defeating Dr. Edward Pierce; re-elected to third term in 1980. Serves on house appropriations committee and the labor, health and human services, and transportation subcommittees.

Pursell cites as key accomplishments his role as the only Michigan Republican on the House Appropriations Committee and as a leader of the so-called "gypsy moth" contingent of Republican legislators from the northeast and midwest.

He also emphasizes that he lives in the district, not in Washington, flying each weekend to his Plymouth home and family. "I'm the only Congressman in Michigan that I know of who lives in Michigan," he said. "A Congressman should be in the district, I believe that's what the framers of our Constitution meant to happen."

His concern for regional employment and economic revitalization, he said, is expressed in several legislative measures he has supported in his past three terms.

Pursell notes creation of a program to target defense contracts to high unemployment areas, initiation of a program encouraging investment of pension money within the state, support for rehabilitation tax credits to business, and transportation improvements among these.

Of the latter, he points to his role in obtaining a direct Amtrak rail route from Michigan to the east and an ongoing effort to improve the St. Lawrence Seaway to accommodate the larger vessels seen on the Great Lakes which are restricted from operating to the eastern seaboard.

Pursell depicts himself as a leader in attempting to gather Michigan officials at state and federal levels to "forge an agenda for this state and build a coalition based on those shared convictions."

While Sallade keys his campaign on opposition to the federal Republican administration, Pursell notes that he is not always in agreement with the Reagan plan. He supported original tax cut legislation and GOP budget plans in the past two years, but calls for a reduction of defense spending, particularly opposing deployment of the MX missile and B-1 bomber.

He said he does not support the methods being used by the administration in cutting the budget, either. "I'd rather see us take a percentage reduction across the board, including defense, rather than targeting programs as the White House has done," he said.

Pursell was a supporter of the balanced budget amendment, and said spending reductions are in order, arguing only with the administration's methods which he said "alienated" a lot of potential backers.

Pursell also supports the call for a nuclear arms freeze and voted accordingly when the issue came up in the House. "I think it's the people sending a message to the policy leaders of this country," Pursell explained. "We have a new message here, people are saying 'I am concerned about my children and my children's children.'"

He cautions that opposition to nuclear proliferation does not mean opposition to development of peaceful uses of nuclear power, noting his support for fusion research as an example. "There's an enormous distinction to be made," he said.

Pursell said one of the primary concerns of the next Congress should be addressing the problems of the social security program. He declined to support specific solutions, saying he would rather wait until a Congressional committee makes its recommendations.

He said he expects the issue to become "almost a class war" among various age groups of Americans and that the most likely solution will be a combination of benefits' reduction and payroll tax increases to restore social security to fiscal solvency.

Pursell said he believes America must reduce its dependency on government for such programs, noting social

Sallade, D., fights 'Reagan'

GEORGE WAHR SALLADE
RESIDENCE: Ann Arbor; AGE: 59;
EDUCATION: J.D., University of Michigan Law School;
OCCUPATION: Self-employed attorney, offices in Ann Arbor;
BACKGROUND: Member Ann Arbor City Council 1950-52, president of that council 1953-55. Member of the state legislature-R, 1956-62. Joined Democratic party in 1962. Has served as chairman Washtenaw County Democratic Committee and chairman of Second Congressional Democratic District Committee. Ran as Democratic candidate: for State Senate, 1966; state representative in 1968; state senate in 1970 and Washtenaw County prosecutor in 1972.

Sallade said he is running against Pursell because of the incumbent's "support of supply-side economics and his support of the president's budget and tax programs."

His opponent, Sallade charged, is "out of step with the '80s" and voters should select the Democrat as a

Senate district realigned but Geake still incumbent

Local voters will find the number has changed, but the incumbent's remained when they get to the state senate portion of the next Tuesday's ballot.

R. Robert Geake now hopes to retain a seat as 6th District state senator (instead of 14th) against challenging Democrat Noel Culbert of Canton.

Culbert's presence signals the biggest change in the district boundaries under reapportionment — the addition of the entirety of Canton Township, forming a district along the Canton-Plymouth-Northville axis with Livonia.

Canton also poses one of the more interesting sidelights to the campaign, since that community's recent voting history suggests many electors split ballots and few maintain a consistent party loyalty.

Culbert hinges his campaign hopes on that volatility and his better name recognition (he was once Canton supervisor, Geake has never represented the community). Geake, meanwhile, maintains he can carry Canton and that his new district should be a "safe" Republican one.

Interviews with both candidates and biographical data submitted by them were used to construct the following profiles. Libertarian candidate John Cruz has not campaigned actively and is not profiled.

Geake seeks reelection

R. ROBERT GEAKE
AGE: 46; RESIDENCE: Northville;
OCCUPATION: State Senator, formerly educational psychologist;
EDUCATION: B.S. Special Education, University of Michigan (1958); M.A. Guidance and Counseling, U-M (1959); PhD Education and Psychology, U-M (1962).
BACKGROUND: Elected to finish Carl Pursell's term as 14th District State Senator, 1977, re-elected 1978. Assistant Senate Minority Floor Leader, appropriations committee member. State representative, 35th District, elected 1972, 1974, 1976. Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees, 1969-72, was board chairman 1971-72.

Geake is campaigning on the premise that, as a senior Republican in what is likely to be a Republican-dominated Senate, he will be in a position to best "improve Michigan's economy" over the next four years.

The state economy is central to what Geake contends are the major issues in the eyes of his constituents. "Voters are concerned about two things," he said, "getting laid off and being able to sell their houses."

Concerns about schools, taxes and the deteriorating situation of the state's major cities are "all byproducts of the poor economy and the attendant state budget problems," he said.

Like most candidates for state office, Geake is calling for reform of the worker's compensation and unemployment compensation systems, noting "Michigan has lost more people in the past three years than any other state" and laying the blame for that emigration on the lack of jobs.

Geake said he would support efforts to revise the single business tax program so the tax applies only to profits but would oppose any effort to make up losses of state revenue from that change.

"I don't think it makes sense to increase taxes elsewhere," he said. "It doesn't do any good to move the taxes around if there is no reduction."

Instead, Geake said reductions should be made in state social services, specifically citing welfare and supporting Republican gubernatorial candidate Richard Headlee's call for "workfare."

The latter program would require welfare recipients to do work for the state in order to receive benefits.

"We've lost something in this country in terms of the work ethic," Geake said. Politicians have so often chosen to spend money on entitlement programs, buying votes, that "some people don't expect to have to work for a living."

Geake opposes reintroduction of an Equal Rights Amendment for women, saying he doesn't "see anything to be gained by giving the federal courts

Water, sewer issues dominate trustee agenda

Several unrelated water and sewer department concerns dominate the agenda of a special meeting of the board of trustees called for 7:30 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) in township hall.

Acceptance of a bid for construction of sewers on Edenderry; adjustments to the township ordinance governing the timing of sewer connections and commitment to an interim financing agreement for the "super sewer" project will all be considered by the board.

Also on the special meeting agenda is purchase of a water and sewer department vehicle to replace a 1975 truck and a request from the recreation department for a loan.

The water and sewer department last week recommended that the board accept the low bid of $44,981 submitted by J.L. Construction of Pontiac for installation of sewers in a special assessment district along Edenderry Drive.

Seven other firms bid on the project, with the next lowest being Pipe Specialists at $45,650. Other bids ranged from $33,730 to $78,055. The other bidders were A.V.S. Construction, Adamo Incorporated, M.D. Taddle, The Morrison Company, Lawrence M. Clark and Pacitto & Forest.

When the construction is completed, Edenderry residents could find they have up to two years before they have to connect their homes to the system instead of the 90 days under current law.

Police Blotter

Thieves damage automobile, bike

In the city...

Unknown suspects damaged a 1967 Ford Mustang and a 10-speed Rossberg bicycle which were parked in a West Main residence garage between October 19-20, city police report. Damage was placed at $200.

Scratches were found on the passenger side door and engine hood of the Mustang for $175 in damages. The rear wheel of a 10-speed Rossberg bicycle was bent for $25 in damages. According to the report, the suspects entered the garage through an unlocked door. Once inside, the suspects bent the rear wheel rim on the bike, and kicked the passenger door to cause some scratches. Also, it looked like someone walked on the engine hood, police said.

Unknown suspects stole two Team Murray bicycles, valued at $120 each, from the porch of a Canterbury residence sometime October 19, police said.

An unknown vehicle ran over three mailboxes, which were attached to one pole, at a Clement residence sometime October 15, police said. Damage was placed at $125.

...In the township

A $3,500 car stolen in Plymouth turned up abandoned on Beck Road between Six and Seven Mile roads October 19, according to township police reports.

Police were called to the scene that Wednesday afternoon by a resident's complaint that the vehicle was parked illegally. The 1978 red Chevette was found to have been stolen in Plymouth earlier in the week.

Police noted minor damage to the rear bumper and left rear quarter panel of the car. No keys were found, but the ignition system was intact, showing no signs of tampering.

The car was turned over to Plymouth police. In searching the scene, police found a 1982 Michigan license plate, not belonging to the stolen car.

There are no other leads in the case.

Faxon faces challenge

Jack Faxon, a Southfield Democrat who has served in the State Senate since 1970, and Republican Attorney John Anderson disagree on what the issues are in the 15th District state senate campaign.

The 15th District includes Novi, City of Northville (Oakland County portion), Wixom, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Southfield, Lathrup Village, Oak Park, Huntington Woods, Hazel Park and Ferndale.

"The issue as I see it, if there are any in this election, is the considerable turnover to be expected in both the House and Senate," says Faxon.

"It's important that experienced legislators return to provide guidance, and I feel my experience in the areas of appropriations, mental health, education, arts and retirement will be very helpful."

During his 18 years in the legislature (six years as a state representative and 12 years in the senate), Faxon has become known for his support of education and the arts. He is owner and headmaster of Lycee International, a French-American school in Southfield.

Formerly a business executive with a large manufacturing firm, Anderson is a former vice president of the Farmington/Farmington Hills Chamber of Commerce, director of the southeastern Oakland Boy Scout District and an executive board member of the Detroit Area Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Anderson believes the issues in the race are critical to the state's survival. Michigan is at a crossroads, he said.

"The state legislature has refused to face up to the difficult challenges of this state, which is the very reason we need a turnover," he said. "If things are going to turn around in Michigan, we can't send people back to Lansing who have cut their teeth on tax-spend mentality."

"If we do it, it may take generations to overcome," added Anderson, who refers to his opponent in press releases as "taxin' Faxon."

Faxon, whose former district was situated primarily in Detroit, points proudly to his record of sponsoring arts and education, which he calls "quality of life" issues.

He said his record in arts and education has gained him a reputation that spreads beyond his former district and has won support in many of the suburban communities which have been added to the redistricted 15th district.

"People in these times are looking for stability which can only be provided by someone who has the experience in the legislature which I have built up over the years," he said. "Incumbent legislators who chair key committees are in a position to be effective and produce results. I'm an old, respected and known hand. Experience is a big asset if it has been shown to be effective."

Anderson attacks Faxon's record on economic issues. He charges that his opponent was absent on votes to reform workers' compensation and voted against the "one-stop shopping bill" designed to relieve the regulatory load on small and medium-sized business.

"Experience counts unless it's the wrong kind of experience and that's what he has," said Anderson of his opponent. "The best way to address frustrations with the economy is to elect people committed to facing up to the problems. The question is who feels the deepest sense of urgency to step up to the challenge to try and turn the economy around."

Anderson says he supports reform of the Single Business Tax and would grant tax credits to employers who create new jobs. He also said the definition of "disability" in workers' compensation legislation needs to be tightened.

Sallade: Reagan is an issue

"midterm judgement" of the administration's performance.

Even when Pursell differs with the administration, Sallade suggested, in general he has supported Republican programs the challenger deems questionable.

The defense budget, he said, "is at least six percent too high. I would take the MX (missile), B-1 (bomber) and the neutron bomb and have them scrapped forthwith. If you take that, about $15 billion, and put it in a public works program you could put a lot of people back to work right away."

The public works program, targeted to improvement of roads, bridges and other infrastructure items, is a key of Sallade's economic proposal.

Sallade also called for creation of a "Redevelopment Bank Authority" to make federally-guaranteed loans to industry both for revitalization and new construction. "It would be a national Chrysler, Lockheed-type device," he said of the plan.

Sallade urges government incentive to create manufacturing jobs in opposition to the trend toward supply or service industry employment.

A third part of the Democrat's plan would be a moratorium on mortgage foreclosures for a period of "six months at least while we get people back to work." Sallade cites farm-lending agency loans as the most important to be affected by this program, since it is the government itself which forecloses on such farm mortgages. He said he expects a similar moratorium on all government-insured (FHA and VA) mortgages would also be needed.

While Sallade suggests the pressing economic issues in Michigan are more the concern of state government than of the federal government, he said "federal dollars should be targeted where unemployment is highest."

Sallade called for the federal government to "set minimum standards" of payment on entitlement programs "so you don't get into that scene of states competing with each other for people and industry. Reduce the competitive factor of those programs."

He said he supports "content legislation" requiring a proportion of imported products be made in the U.S. as a short-term solution to unemployment. Over the long term, he said, substantial revision of international trade agreements is needed.

Of the social security system, Sallade noted that it has started "borrowing" within the program and there is "certainly no reason that shouldn't go on." He cited demographic figures showing demands on the basic program declining after 1990 and the system running a surplus while "baby boom" citizens work and those born during the slower birth rate of the 1930s retire.

He suggested interfund borrowing through 1990 could be repaid from the surplus thereafter. The social security system should also "allow people to go back to work" while receiving benefits, so that they pay into the system while drawing from it.

Next to the economy, Sallade said, nuclear weapons constitute the most important issue of the campaign. Beyond supporting a nuclear weapons freeze, as does Pursell, Sallade suggests the "U.S. should renounce the use of nuclear arms as a first step or a second step in event of conventional war." This "no first strike" policy, he said, would "contribute to the peace process."

Sallade also said federal economic aid to colleges and students should be increased, and added that federal aid to elementary and secondary education should be considered.

Sallade summed up his opposition to current administration policies saying they showed a "lack of leadership from the White House."

"If government is pulled back from the environment, from its proper regulatory functions of all sorts, instead of things improving things are going to be much worse," he said.

Parson to Person...
THE PROBLEMS OF HALLOWEEN
Dr. James H. Luther

Serious problems are associated with this year's Halloween. A basic issue regarding this holiday involves the reality of demons and Satan, that which the Scripture refers to as "the rulers of the darkness of this world" (Eph. 6:12). Since Satan and his forces are indeed real, should we play with costumes that stereotype these creatures and to a real extent give false impressions about the spiritual dangers involved? At the risk of sounding like an extremist, may I suggest you encourage and endorse outlets that have positive images. This will be a safe and wise investment in the lives of children.

However, this year two unusual problems are encountered. First is the potential of some tragic spin-off of the Tylenol heartache. It is not enough to take the children only to homes of those you know because a friend may become an unwitting and unwilling accomplice in someone else's madness.

Moreover this year the event falls on Sunday evening. Since community leaders no longer give churches the courtesy of having such activities on Saturday night, this presents a conflict with the evening services.

This year our church is sponsoring a special Halloween "event." We will take children to preselected homes of certain members to receive homemade treats, and then bring them back for a special Sunday evening service. We refuse to sacrifice either fun, safety, or spiritual integrity. God combines righteousness with joy. That will be our aim on the 31st! Want to join us?

AMERMAN

October 13, 41 Amerman children and their parents were honored at a special program for grades K-4 to reward them for their efforts in completing Amerman's Summer Reading Program.

In order to receive this honor, parents and children had to work cooperatively during their summer vacation on various reading activities. The children received a letter each week with an activity to do with a book they had read. Some activities were to make puppets of a character and make a bookworm of all the books read over the summer.

At the program, each child received a "Reading Is Fundamental" badge presented by his or her parents, signifying their accomplishments. The children receiving awards were: Anthony Wen, Andy Norgren, Courtney Gazlay, Ann Ross, Alicia Gustaf, Erica Anderson, Erin Beebe, Sarah Carrington, Kevin Carter, Jenny Dickinson, Jenny Gesse, Jeff Kinnelly, David Valade, Angela Abbott, Julie Zwiesler, Ray Dufo, John Garr, Stephanie Davidovich, Jenny O'Flynn, John McGuire, Chris Nix, Tim Duff, Robbie Kinnelly, Allison Sieving, Dana Goscinski, Mari Kissingner, Brad Custer, Jennifer Sinkwitts, Erin Belloli, Jeff Berkaw, Karen Trepicone, Richard Walters, Lauren DiGrande, Alisa Belliston, Tim Norgren, Beth Ursel, Kristin Ross, Mike Lang, Mark Hilfinger, Tom Brain and Wendy Marsh.

Parent-teacher conferences will be held the week of November 1-5. Conference times will be scheduled for each student in the near future.

Our annual Book Fair will be held November 4-11 in the school library. November 4 and 5 are reserved for buying only by parents during conference times. Students will view and buy starting November 8. There will be books for all ages, including activity books

As part of the JES enrichment series, Louis Stout, a professor at the University of Michigan, will be giving a presentation of a horn collection to Amerman students on November 11. Stout begins his program showing the oldest of all horns, the shell, and progresses through the development of the horn to the modern instrument. There will be two presentations of the program beginning at 9:30 a.m.

skating party will be held from 6:30-8:30 p.m. November 16 at Skatin' Station in Canton. Admission is $3 per person; tickets will be sold at school the morning of the event, as well as at the door. The skating party is open to all Amerman students and families.

MORaine

Parent-teacher conferences will be held at Moraine November 3-5.

Moraine's PTA is planning an evening PTA meeting for December 6. Most PTA meetings recently have been held during morning hours, but a questionnaire to parents indicated sufficient interest to warrant an evening meeting. We hope many parents will attend this meeting.

PTA fund raisers have been much in evidence this fall. A successful Tupperware sale was held in conjunction with the open houses last month. Current Stationery products are being offered for sale this month, with proceeds going to PTA projects for the benefit of our students. Wendy Drost is this year's fund raising chairperson.

Save those soup labels! Last year Moraine students collected enough Campbell's product labels to enable us to add to our gym equipment. We are again asking parents and students to remember to save and bring in labels from Campbell's products (soups, pork and beans, etc.) so we can redeem them at the school year end for some useful school equipment.

Moraine's parent-child activity for November will be a swim party. Watch for details in the November school newsletter.

A room mothers' tea was held October 14 in Moraine library, coordinated by Carolyn Abramovich. Room mothers got their year's "assignments" which include helping on events such as those Halloween parties taking place in many classrooms this Friday.

more authority. An amendment would bring it (equal rights issues) before the federal courts. Federal judges are appointed for life and are not responsible to the public. I have no idea what mischief federal judges would do with an ERA."

He is a "pro-life" candidate who has consistently voted in favor of bills that would prohibit Medicaid from paying for abortions and has voted to override the governor's vetoes of those bills.

While calling for higher priority on education as part of the state budget, Geake says the reduction of state spending for education over the past few years is due to "the majority party insisting on maintaining welfare spending" and the present property tax system.

Geake said he would oppose efforts to consolidate school districts or to shift support for education to an increase in state sales tax. "I do not support any program that shifts control from the local to the state level," he explained.

As a member of the appropriations committee, Geake contends he will be in a position to further his priorities in regard to state spending over the next four years because of the expected shift to Republican control of the Senate (a result of reapportionment).

Culbert challenges

NOEL D. CULBERT

AGE: 35; RESIDENCE: Canton Township; OCCUPATION: Attorney, self-employed in Plymouth;

EDUCATION: Juris Doctorate, University of Detroit Law School, 1973. BA, Liberal Arts, Michigan Technological University, 1968.

BACKGROUND: Canton Township Supervisor, 1978-80. Nankin Transit Commissioner; Board of Directors Canton Economic Development Corporation; member Huron Valley rate-review committee; vice chairman Wayne County supervisor's association; Wayne County Waste Management Committee and co-chairperson of Canton Farmland Preservation Committee.

Echoing the refrain that "the most important issue is jobs" Culbert cautions that he is "not sure the state is in a position to do much about it in two or three years."

Instead, Culbert said a long-range program to diversify Michigan industry is needed. "The number one problem in Michigan is there are no goals for the economy," he explained.

The key question, he stressed, is "are we willing to make sacrifices to diversify our economy?"

Diversification, he said, requires creation of a capital pool to spur new investment, plus the regularly-cited reform of business tax and employee compensation systems.

"I'd like to see Michigan turn into a Mecca of banking interests," Culbert said, to bring investment capital into the state. So, while jobs is the key issue, he said, there is a need to lay a foundation first. "You just don't create jobs by government fiat."

Reform of the single business tax to make it apply only to profitable entities is one step Culbert advocated, and workers compensation needs "drastic reform" because "the insurance companies are milking it to the hilt."

He cites Canton Township's move into a self-insurance program as an example of the kind of response needed to the problem. Encouragement of self-insurance and "teaching the employee to be safety conscious" are the sorts of things he would like to see advanced, Culbert said.

The deteriorating state of Michigan's road system, is another issue Culbert believes is central to his campaign. With Michigan being "one of the very few states to allow these super-heavy trucks" Culbert suggested the state "either make them absorb some of the costs or, as a last resort, probably raise the gasoline tax. Unfortunately, we have to pay our own way."

Weight tax increases would be preferred, Culbert said, for their smaller inflationary impact on the individual, since the tax is paid only once annually.

Another change Culbert advocates is a shift in the state aid formula for public education. "The property tax system is an absolute joke," he said, noting the reduction in state support of education while property tax payers pick up more of the burden.

Awareness of how "state action moves costs into the local level" from his time as a supervisor is, among the assets Culbert cites in his campaign.

He would oppose paying for Medicaid abortions on grounds "as long as you let them know you're going to pay for it, they're going to go ahead and do it. Let the man who got her pregnant pay for it."

He is personally opposed to abortion in general, he said, but tells voters, "Who cares? The Supreme Court has ruled it is legal. I have my doubts, but I don't think I'll ever be called on to vote on that."

Culbert is a supporter of the Equal Rights Amendment and "can't understand why people would oppose it," he said.

Finally, he noted, he has grave concerns with the state's handling of toxic substances, landfills of all sorts, refuse and sludge. "That problem is a time bomb that's going to explode one of these days." He said the most recent legislation removes local control over such operations and gives it to the state and he is "very tired of other communities or the state shoving things down our throats."

Schools slate parent-teacher conferences

Next PTA board meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. November 16. All interested parents are encouraged to attend and participate in the meeting.

Look for information to be sent home in the next couple of weeks for our fall promotion from American Hickory Harvest and Tupperware. These promotions will help our holiday gift planning and will aid our PTA in funding programs throughout the balance of the school year.

We are pleased to have Charlie Anderson on the janitorial staff of Silver Springs.

Congratulations to Virginia Holderman and her committee for the excellent job they did during the recent open house dinner held during September and October. We enjoyed the best turnout ever (with the best food ever) to visit the classroom teachers and listen to the curriculum outlines for our children during this school year.

Tom Pallas again has performed in the Hawaii Tri-athlon only to beat last year's performance by more than two hours. Just to complete the course is an accomplishment. We are proud to have such an active teacher on our staff. Congratulations Tom!

WINCHESTER

November 1-5 will be a busy week at Winchester School. A Family Fun Night will be held Thursday, November 4 from 5:30-8 p.m. A two-piece pizza supper, including salad and beverage, will be served for $2.50 while a one piece dinner will cost $2. Dessert may be purchased at the accompanying bake sale, or an entire cake may be won by the lucky participants of this year's cake walk.

Bargain treasures will be awarded to the highest bidder at the silent auction. Thanks go to Karen Groves, Marilyn Huber, Sharon Morency, Roxanne Koche and Marion Wilcox for planning this fun-filled evening. Students will have an opportunity to view and order paperback books on display in the Media Center during Book Fair Week. Proceeds from the sale will be used to purchase additional library books. The student council will hold a Punt, Pass and Kick Contest for boys and a soccer kick for girls. Who will be our next governor? Winchester students will have a chance to vote for their choice during the mock election sponsored by student council. Parent conferences will also be held on Monday through Friday of that week.

Santa's storeroom is filling to the brim with handmade crafts for Santa's

Secret Store. These low-priced items for children's Christmas giving are prepared at weekly workshops under the direction of Linda Wesley, Joanne Brummett and Sharon Morency and may be purchased by the children during school hours on December 9-10.

Winchester's front hall now displays the newly-framed artwork of Jason Ord, Carrie Kordt, Chris Walker and Wendy Beech whose work was selected by art teacher Shirley Talmadge for this honor. Congratulations also to Heidi Robins who received a Physical Fitness award signed by President Reagan for her outstanding athletic performance.

New sounds can be heard through the halls as the fifth and sixth graders enthusiastically begin the Instrumental Music Program under the direction of Beverly Schellhase. Kindergartners were the stars of the show as their parents viewed slides of classroom activities at the parent education meeting October 21. One of the highlights for kindergartners so far this year has been a field trip to the Detroit Institute of Arts to view the puppet exhibit. Winchester's sixth graders also toured this exhibit. "Sincere" ghosts and goblins are in store for a surprise during the Halloween parties this Friday afternoon — a visit from the Great Pumpkin!

Winchester offers a grateful "thank you" to Nancy Trabin who has assumed the office of PTA President. Next PTA meeting is at 9:30 a.m. November 3.

COOKE

Friday Cooke's eighth grade students will be going on their first field trip. Arrangements have been made with the Detroit Institute of Arts to attend the live musical drama of "Jim Thorpe" as enacted by the Performing Arts Repertory Theatre of New York. Through the unusual blend of realism and ritual, students learn that his triumph and tragedies epitomize the history of the Indian condition. This play is recommended for social studies and physical education classes. The JES (PTO) generously has contributed $180 to defray expenses. There will also be a contribution of $1 per student.

October 29 is also the date of Cooke's Halloween celebration. Cider and doughnuts will be sold at both front and back doors from 2:30 p.m. until dismissal time.

Bagels are back! Jean Parkinson (348-0032) and Bev Warren (349-6217) will be selling bagels every other Thursday again this year. Anyone wishing to help sell please contact Bev or Jean.

Oranges and grapefruits now are being sold. Every student at Cooke will be selling fruit. Deliveries will be made the first week in December. Contact Cindy LaChance at 348-9077 if you have any questions concerning this fund raiser.

Our yearbook committee sponsored a dance October 26. Proceeds from the dance will be used to purchase film and other equipment needed for publishing the yearbooks. Orders for the yearbooks are being taken by any member of the committee. Mrs. Dorothea Bach is staff advisor of the club.

Our opinions

Tuesday vote could be most influential in years

Next Tuesday's general statewide election is likely to be the most important non-presidential year polling of this decade. While mid-term balloting generally are known for low voter turnouts, we urge Northville citizens to make 1982 an exception.

When Tuesday's victors go on to Lansing or Washington, there will be several new faces among them and even the old hands will be representing different constituencies. Reapportionment within the state has given local voters the opportunity to choose a new legislator, while nationwide reallocation of Congressional delegations (shifting power to the sunbelt) makes considered choices of our representatives to Washington more important.

While much attention rightfully is aimed toward the gubernatorial and senatorial races in Michigan, there may be votes farther down the ballot with more significant long-term effects. Even the outcome of votes on the ballot proposals can be important to the state's chances for recovery from the brink of economic disaster.

This week, we have endorsed candidates in the contested political races of most importance to Northville area voters. For the most part, our endorsements are the results of interviews conducted with the involved candidates and all represent the opinions of the entire Record staff

Regular readers will recall that last week we devoted this page to endorsements of the ballot proposals, excepting Proposal E, which is considered elsewhere on this page. As a reminder, these are our recommendations on the proposals:

Proposal A — Vote YES; Proposal B — NO; Proposal C — YES; Proposal D — NO; Proposal G — NO; Proposal H — NO.

We make our endorsements of both candidates and proposal votes with full recognition that there are those who will disagree with us, either entirely or on one or two issues. Regardless of the outcome, we urge all citizens to make time to go to the polls November 2 and express their views. We further urge that voters take the time within the next few days to study the issues and the candidates, taking advantage of the information supplied not only by news media but by civic organizations such as the League of Women Voters. Given the potential impact of this election on the state and, by extension, our communities, a low or uninformed turnout of the electorate is something we cannot afford.

Pursell still a leader

Incumbent CARL PURSELL has long been the leading voter-gatherer in this area, and we suspect that will be the case again next week. But we endorse Pursell's candidacy for other reasons than the fact that he is a winner.

In his past terms in the U.S. House of Representatives we believe Pursell has shown a quiet but forceful leadership style that depends more on reasoned consideration and constructive cooperation than grandstand ploys. He is one of the most respected and effective members of the Michigan delegation to the U.S. Congress.

Moreover, Pursell's experience and record of support looking after the interests of the neglected midwest and northeastern portions of the country will be more valuable than ever in the coming Congress. Reapportionment has removed one house member from the Michigan delegation and transferred some 17 seats from this region to the southwest. That shift in the balance of power can be detrimental to Michigan unless representatives like Pursell are present to combat it.

Staunch supporters of the Reagan administration might quibble with Pursell's credentials as a bona fide Republican. We find his independence an asset and believe it responsible for his reputation as a responsible legislator. Pursell is surely far more Republican than is George Sallade. The latter is an unreconstructed liberal Democrat the like of which is vanishing from the American scene. For every problem, Sallade has a government program, never recognizing that the proliferation of programs is much of the problem.

Those who find the words "gypsy moth" abhorrent are free, of course, to cast a Libertarian vote in this race. It is an alternative we cannot recommend, since candidate Barbara McKenna has not actively campaigned here, bringing into question her intent to serve all residents of the district. No such questions can be raised about Pursell, who we believe is not only the best congressional candidate but likely the most effective and qualified of all those on next Tuesday's ballot.

Geake has opportunity

When all the shouting is done there could very well be a Republican majority in the Michigan state senate next year and that likelihood creates an opportunity for R. ROBERT GEAKE to become a real leader.

Geake's seniority in the senate and his long held seat on the powerful appropriations committee offer the possibility that Northville's senator could become something he has not been — a standout among the 38 members of the senate.

We hope so. Geake has been known for his availability to constituents and presence in the district but has not been what one could call a major force in state government. In part, at least, that has been attributable to his membership in what has been a minority faction. The recent history of bi-partisan government with a moderate Republican governor and Democrat-controlled legislature left conservatives like Geake somewhat outside.

Even if, as the polls indicate, we move into 1983 under a Democratic governor, reapportionment makes it likely we will have a Republican senate, and a conservative Republican senate at that. That possibility sets the stage for some lively debate of key state issues, and we expect Geake will rise to the occasion.

Our endorsement of Geake does not come without consideration of his opponent — Democrat Noel Culbert. The former Canton supervisor is more conservative than his party affiliation would indicate, and he might have made a viable alternative to voters with more moderate views than Geake's. Unfortunately, we find Culbert's campaign lacks the focus and drive to convince us he would be more effective than Geake, particularly given the potential political situation in Lansing.

We continue to differ with Geake on some items — notably women's issues and, on occasion, budget and spending priorities. We also realize a substantial portion (we are not convinced it is a majority) of Northville voters agree with the senator on these issues. Given his past service to the district, his experience and the possibility of a lot of new faces in the legislature next year, we find Geake the best bet in 1982.

Tough choice in 36th

Of all the political races facing Northville voters next week, picking the best candidate in the 36th District House contest is the one giving most observers difficulty. Choosing Republican GERALD LAW over Democrat William Joyner and Libertarian Keith Bilby was probably the toughest decision made by our editorial board this election. Since none is an incumbent state legislator, our judgement was based largely on our campaign coverage with some consideration given Law's and Joyner's records in other areas of public service.

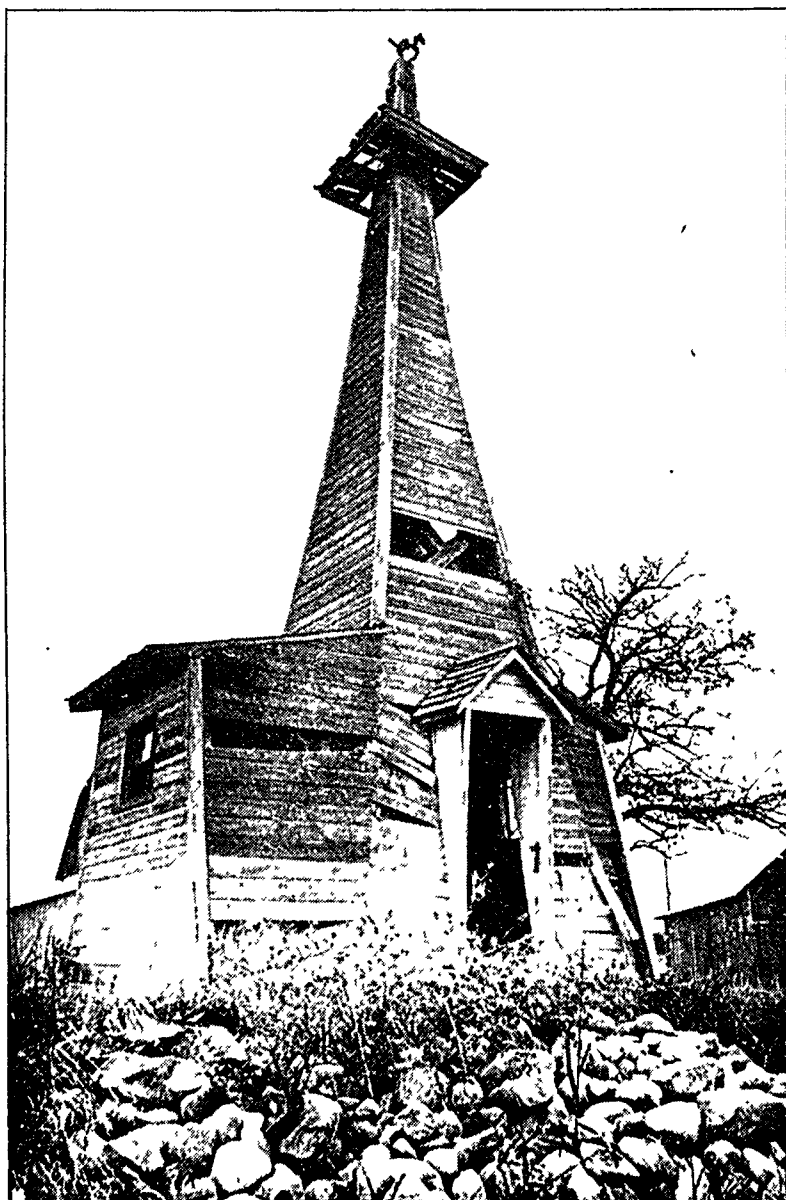

Both major party candidates have waged forceful campaigns, airing the issues and their stances on them at every opportunity and sometimes in heated fashion. Most debate has focused on the issues and, while a little mud has been thrown, the race never got as ugly as some feared in August when it was shaping up. Bilby has added interest to the campaign by raising issues the others would as soon ignore, but we find Libertarians in general hold views more extreme than those of most voters.

Our selection of Law is based on two perceptions — that he has a more clearly-stated agenda of goals for state government and that he more nearly represents the views of most Northville voters as we see them. We did not endorse Law during the primary, preferring some fresh ideas proposed by his opponent to the rather tired litany of responses to old problems that we saw in Law's platform. We also found him somewhat abrasive, rigid and had serious concerns about his ability to relate to constituents once elected.

During the general election campaign, Law has convinced us his program for state government is open to new ideas while remaining more tightly focused than Joyner's seemingly haphazard accumulation of proposals from all portions of the political spectrum. While we believe Joyner could well be a more accessible and, perhaps, more active legislator than his opponent, Law impresses us as the deeper and more reasoned candidate. The Republican also has communicated a more tolerant attitude toward those who might disagree with him than he did last August, which gives us assurance that he would be open to his constituents' needs and suggestions.

About Town

By STEVE FECHT

Wind power

Joyner, we must acknowledge, is an impressive candidate. His performance in the difficult role of Wayne County Commissioner is not above criticism but is far above average for that body. His drive and enthusiasm could be real assets in Lansing. We find, however, that Joyner overemphasizes the public relations aspect of the job of state representative and too often lifts key elements of his program from others. This latter habit particularly disturbs us because the proposals are often better as attention-getters than as legitimate responses to Michigan's problems. In the final analysis, Bill Joyner showed us more flash than substance and in the current economic climate we cannot settle for that.

Law impresses us with his understanding of the state's fiscal situation, no doubt a result of coaching by Republican leaders (among them his brother, currently a member of the governor's staff) but valuable nonetheless. His proposed responses to Michigan's economic woes never lose sight of the need to keep government itself solvent. The Republican's plan to fight crime by building prisons to house habitual criminals for long jail terms shows rare leadership qualities during a campaign. Law does not need this issue to win, in fact the cost of a prison-building program could alienate some voters; he brings it up because it is important.

Still, we harbor a few doubts about Law, particularly as regards his less-than-vigorous support of women's fight for equality; evidenced by his "will not oppose" stance on the equal rights amendment. We disagree with Law on the abortion issue, but it is a disagreement we have had with Jack Kirksey, and Kirksey is among the legislators we most respect. We think Law's position on teacher strikes interesting but in need of more thought — we trust the normal legislative process would weed out its more extreme aspects.

While choosing a representative from among three candidates who have never represented Northville before is difficult, it presents a genuine opportunity to send new blood to Lansing in the hope that state government will be improved. We believe Gerald Law is most likely to fulfill that hope.

Dumas deserves return

Based upon her past performance and the situation likely facing the next Wayne County Board of Commissioners, we endorse MARY DUMAS in the 10th County Commissioner district race.

While Dumas has been criticized for being more visible in her hometown of Livonia than in the Northville portion of her district, she has not ignored Northville's needs in the course of doing her job. Most recently, Dumas has been involved in efforts to aid the township's Park Gardens project.

With the county commission being reduced to 15 seats (from 27) and William Lucas practically assured of election as the county's first chief executive, we believe Dumas' experience could be a valuable asset. We are also concerned that the 15-member commission (eight from Detroit, seven outcounty) might easily be filled entirely by Democrats. Even granting that GOP backers are a minority in the county, we believe it is important their interests be represented on the board and find no one better qualified to do so than is Dumas.

Vote Yes on the freeze

As important as this election can be for the future of Michigan, there is one issue that overrides all others by striking directly at the gravest danger of all — nuclear war.

We urge a YES vote on Proposal E because we believe the call to a nuclear weapons freeze must be heard. As a referendum vote which, if passed, requires nothing more than communication from Lansing to Washington that the people of Michigan want the nuclear arms race stopped and brought under control, Proposal E holds much promise and no threat.

We are not ignorant of opposition to a nuclear freeze by those who hold that it could leave the Soviet Union with a strategic arms advantage, or that it would weaken America's negotiating position or for myriad other beliefs sincerely held. We simply believe the details of the debate fade to insignificance in the face of the threat posed by continued nuclear arms proliferation by the United States and the Soviet Union.

The threat is not just to American or Soviet citizens, nor is it a matter to be considered as a vast game in which there are winners and losers clearly delineated on a score board. In its most basic form, serious discussion of the nuclear arms race becomes a moral issue — in today's climate, it is The Moral Issue. Continued construction and deployment of nuclear weapons leads to only one conclusion: complete and utter destruction of the human race and perhaps all life on earth. Those who ignore this possibility — hoping we can limit nuclear exchanges or avoid war entirely — have merely buried their heads in sand.

Even if we grant the possibility of "limited" nuclear war, no one can deny the potential destructive power of the present level of nuclear armaments. Harboring that power to destroy everything in the name of furthering some political end, no matter how noble, is the most insanely immoral act we can imagine and corrupts whatever good might come of it.

Proposal E and the movement which spawned it (and several similar votes nationwide in the past two years) represent a message to leaders of our nation and the world at large that the people want the madness stopped. If freeze proponents sometimes sound trite in their arguments, simply stating opposition to something no one wants to see happen, it is because the issue itself is so simple.

Yet, somehow, the message has never gotten through to those who make the decisions to build these instruments of destruction. So we must tell them again. That democracy allows us to do so in such a way that it cannot be totally ignored increases our responsibility to make ourselves heard. At the risk of sounding trite ourselves, we must ask of those who harbor doubts about the freeze proposal: If not us, who? If not now, when? If something is not done soon, there may be no one else, ever.

Praises Mainstreet '78 downtown renovation project

To the Editor:
Hurray for Northville! The Downtown Renovation Project is a terrific success!
The town of Northville looks beautiful with its many new additions. The park, located on the corner of Dunlap and Main streets, is a great place to meet and socialize with neighbors and friends. The benches and lampposts along the sidewalk add a quaint quality to our city.

The new fronts on the shops are outstanding, making me want to shop here in my own town. The spectacular clock in the center of Main Street adds character to our once dismal-looking town. It even tells the correct time!

Thanks to all those responsible for "Mainstreet '78" and for giving us a downtown area we can point to with pride.

Sincerely,

says that it takes about five minutes to clean the road. Then, why in h is that rig still roaring down Main and Center street at 7:30 this very morning — in front of 146 North Center?

Now, in the first place, the whole idea of sweeping the roads is ridiculous! For five minutes after that blasphemous machine has awakened every sleeper in town, the roads are in the same condition as they were when the cleanup was started.

The only noticeable difference is the fact that the roads are wet.

All of the oil that has been dribbled from auto engines, all of the transmission fluid from leaking transmissions, and all of the permanent anti-freeze that has escaped from somebody's radiator are still there.

This whole idea of washing the roads is utterly stupid. Can anyone imagine this silly operation being carried on in a town five times the size of Our Town?

As I said in my first complaint, "So who the h--- needs the roads washed anyhow? For what?"

And now to end this little note. I do know the name of our mayor. I voted for Mayor Vernon. I also know Judge Garber. In fact, I was in court in Plymouth on an assignment a week ago.

The errors were not typographical; they were intended. Otherwise, I doubt that the two articles would have been published.

You all at The Northville Record please carry on with your good work, and I'll keep fighting until the last gasp from that noisy overgrown broom.

So, here and now, I defy anybody, including Mr. Vernon, to challenge my statements, all or any part of anything I have written. I will debate them in public if anyone so desires.

Mr. Mapes states that he hasn't had any complaints. He sure had one from me. In Print.

I have had numerous complaints from older folks who like to sleep in, and from young people who don't get in till early in the morning after a night out.

The complaints that I heard are what prompted me to write in the first place, together with the fact that the noise and smell were getting on my nerves.

I absolutely will not give up this fight, as this whole operation is nothing but a waste of our taxpayers' money, and puts this little town in a bad position as far as the Clean Air Act is concerned. If I have to, I will take this matter to the head of the E.P.A., the Environmental Protection Act.

Amen,
John Lazor

Donations needed

To the Editor:
My daughter, who lives in Ann Arbor, has asked me to write a letter to the people of Northville who care enough to help some children whose parents are unemployed.

She is doing this — not as a member of any organization — but because she cares. If you have any toys which can be repaired, or warm blankets or a few cans of food to donate, please leave them on the porch of 605 Grace, Northville.

There are many needy young mothers in Ann Arbor, and neither they nor their husbands can find a job. If you feel you can help, please leave your donation. There is a need, too, for warm clothing in good condition for children of all ages.

Thanks for any help you can give.

Sincerely,
Shirley Matthews

Sweeper's annoying

To the Editor:

I just read today's issue (October 20), and I want to say, "God bless whoever was responsible for publishing the article I sent in about that overgrown Bissell sweeper."

I feel very angry about this street cleaning (?) project. Now, Mr. Mapes

earlier this year by the board of education. The board requested in April that the school administration formulate a "long range facility use plan by October 1982 which would include ... a recommendation 'grade level realignment, identification of a building for closure and a definition of the impact of an increased use of district facilities by the ISE Program."

The board's recommendation complied with a Citizens' Advisory Committee directive requesting the administration to identify an elementary school for closing and study a restructuring of the grade structure to help offset the district's declining enrollment.

In proposing a restructuring of the present K-6, 7-9 and 10-12 grade structure to a middle school concept of K-5, 6-8 and 9-12, Bell said he believed children ages 10-14 (primarily grades 6-8) have more in common physically, socially, emotionally and academically.

"Middle school must be more student oriented," he said. "It must be patterned more along the philosophy of an elementary school — not a junior high school with little football players, little cheerleaders and little marching bands."

In response to board member concerns about consolidating the ninth grade into the high school, Bell said the administration will need to look at the educational needs of the students before approving an architectural study for renovation.

Board secretary Chris Johnson expressed concerns about overcrowding in the high school with the inclusion of ninth graders. He mentioned that at his first meeting as a school board member, the board approved a realignment of the middle school grade structure back to the K-6, 7-9 and 10-12 structure to alleviate the high school's overcrowding.

The high school's enrollment currently is slightly more than 1,000 students. Bell noted that the inclusion of the ninth graders in 1985 is expected to bring the enrollment to a little more than 1,200 students. He said the high school currently could facilitate that many students, but pointed out that the renovation will need to make the building more educationally sound for the volume of students it will be servicing.

"We'll need to build a program which meets the needs of the kids — not the building utilization," he said.

Bell said the administration will immediately begin studying the facility and curriculum needs of the district. Staff members are scheduled to begin planning for the middle school during the 1983-84 school year. The implementation of the grade level realignment is anticipated at the start of the 1985 school year.

"Northville kids are very sharp academically," Bell observed. "If we are really to meet the needs of these kids we must have a smooth transition to the middle school grade structure."

He also noted that Northville "is the kind of community that you can introduce sophisticated concepts earlier."

"This could be the most exciting thing thing that has happened to Northville kids in a long time."

Despite the Citizens' Advisory Committee's recommendation to close a school, Bell's plan includes a further expansion of the community education program which would require the use of all school facilities. He noted that the community education program currently utilizes 35 rooms in the district's schools.

Noting the increased enrollment in this fall's community education program — up 500 participants over last fall — Bell said he hopes to double the community education enrollment next year. He said such an increase should offset the decline in K-12 enrollment.

Bell also mentioned that should the district shut down a school, it would be necessary to move students in the Institution Special Education Program currently attending Livonia's Taft or Bryant School into the unused school facility. Northville currently leases space in the two Livonia Schools for its ISE Program.

In accordance with a Wayne County Task Force Report, school districts are prohibited from renting space from outside the district when space is available within the district.

One option outlined in the newly-approved long-range plan is consideration of closing a junior high school to house the ISE Program should the district's K-12 and ISEP enrollment continue to decline.

Bell noted that "the junior high schools are the least efficiently used of all the school facilities" and said the board must decide by October, 1984, whether to keep both junior high schools open or close one down and move ISEP into it.

The board also will decide next February whether to continue renting space in both Bryant and Taft Schools or close down its Taft operation and consolidate its ISE Program into Bryant. The board's decision will be based on enrollment figures.

Bell emphasized to board members that "by accepting this proposal you are not locked into a plan four years from now."

He said that the administration will continue to add to the long-range plan. Board trustee Glenna Davis echoed

Bell's remarks and said that "the fact that the plan appears flexible is the most positive thing about the plan."

In accepting the proposal, the board requested that periodic progress reports be built into the organizational plan and that timelines, procedures for citizen involvement and more detailed organizational planning be presented to the board as evolved.

The first step in the district's long-range plan is the completion of an energy audit of the high school conducted by Harley, Ellington, Pierce and Yee Associates.

The firm, which began its comprehensive energy study this fall, is expected to make a preliminary report to the administration the first part of November and will make a final presentation to the board early in December, according to Assistant Superintendent Burton Knighton.

Township loan sought

The long-financially-troubled joint Northville Community Recreation Department will ask the township board of trustees to advance a loan of $10,000 against the township's share of department financing.

The loan request is a item for board consideration at a special meeting at 8 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) in township hall.

Annual programming cycles in the department do not coincide with the budget years of township or city, leading to cashflow problems at this time each year. The department has borrowed from both city and township in the past to continue operations while waiting an early-year influx of cash from program fees.

Leading the fiscally-strapped department's difficulties is energy cost for operation of the community building on Main Street. Heating costs and maintenance of the building are major causes of a deficit in the department budget.

Recently, the department was required by the state to file a plan for reduction and eventual elimination of the deficit.

The cash flow difficulties are a less severe problem, yet the department was the focus of some conflict last year because of it. The township initially refused such a loan request when first approached last year. The city had forwarded the cash in previous years, and was called upon again while the township continued consideration of the loan.

Council member Paul Folino reported Miller had told him the city was "trying to drive me out of business."

Council liaison to the planning commission DeRusha told council "there is a fair amount of give and take in planning commission meetings as the planners seek to get persons to do what is desired voluntarily."

Council member G. Dewey Gardner

commented that it appeared some planning contact has been lost with the city and expressed the hope that planning commission appointees were not negatively oriented.

If this is the case, he agreed, "we are wrong in letting it happen."

Walters told council that "contracting authority" rests with it.

When council member Carolann Ayers suggested putting the matter on the next council agenda, DeRusha stated he then would like to be sure council "hears the other side" and it was agreed to ask Nino to attend.

Green Oak home built to capture sun heat

By JEFFREY LAPINSKI

Just as sure as the sun rises every morning, there's a way for homeowners to beat the high cost of living. Just ask Dave McGrath.

A resident of Green Oak Township in Livingston County, McGrath is an independent residential designer/builder with an eye on the sun. Along with his brother Tony, McGrath has designed and built passive solar homes that capture the free heat bathing the earth every day.

McGrath admits that passive solar homes are no secret, but he pointed out that he and his brother have an edge — they understand passive solar design and can turn that understanding into reality. Although passive solar is not new to Michigan, there are not that many competent people in the business, he added.

It can be done where there's no cost difference at all

McGrath is currently living in one of his designs on Crooked Lane, just west of South Lyon. The 2,300-square-foot home is a working example of passive solar principles. It features a two-story greenhouse, a two-story living room with a fireplace, extensive brickwork and lots of insulation.

To catch the greatest amount of sunlight, much of the southern face of the house is glass while the northern face is glassless to prevent heat loss.

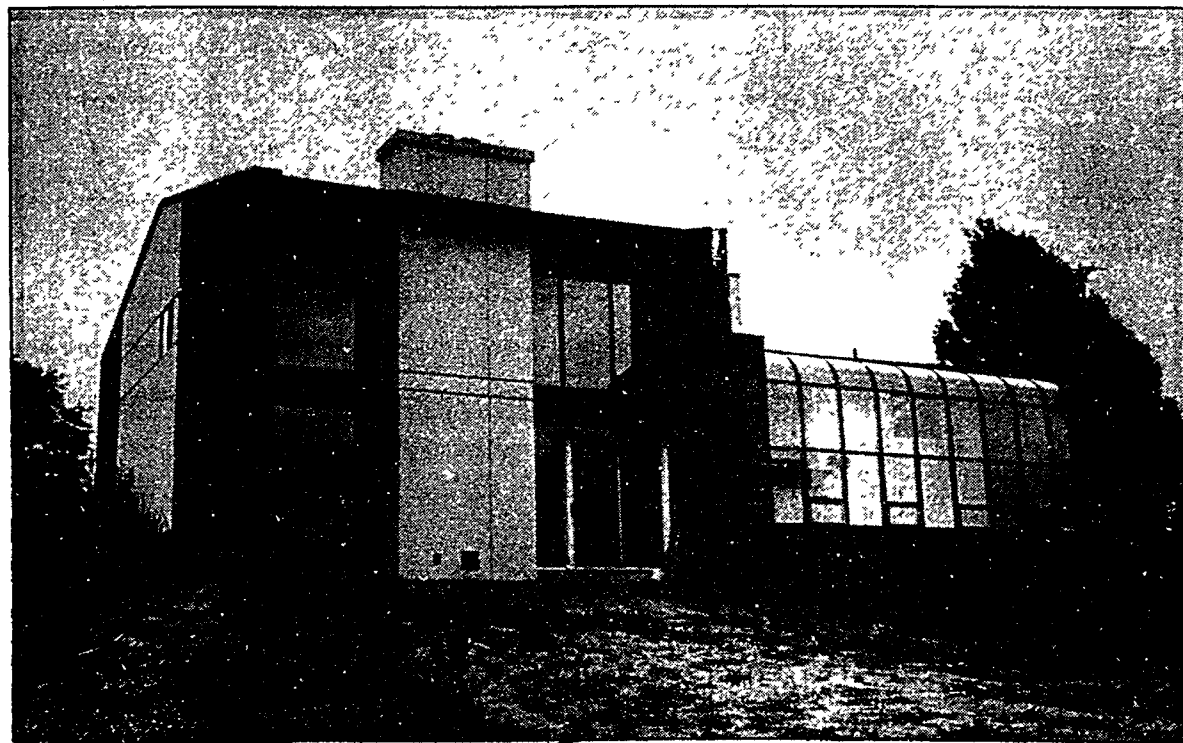

According to McGrath, the greenhouse is an example of isolated gain. That means it can be isolated from the rest of the house. When the greenhouse has excess heat, partitions can be opened to allow that heat to flow to the rest of the house. Conversely, when the greenhouse is cool, it can be isolated from the rest of the house. It is also vented to prevent excessive heat build-up in the summer.

The two-story windows that dominate the living room, along with the brick walls and concrete floors, serve as examples of direct gain. The sun pours through the windows and heats the brick and concrete, which serve as heat storage areas. When the house temperature cools, the heat radiates out of the brick and concrete. Simple physics, said McGrath.

McGrath has even noted the angle of the sun as it creeps further into the house with the different seasons. In the summer, with the sun high overhead, the living area remains mostly in shade. In the winter, with the sun low on the horizon, the living room is almost completely bathed in sunlight. Again, this was all planned by McGrath.

The scientific principles incorporated by McGrath do not, however, overshadow the structure's beauty. The kitchen and dining area are perched on a balcony over the greenhouse. The bedroom area also overlooks the living area. And much of the house is lit by sunlight.

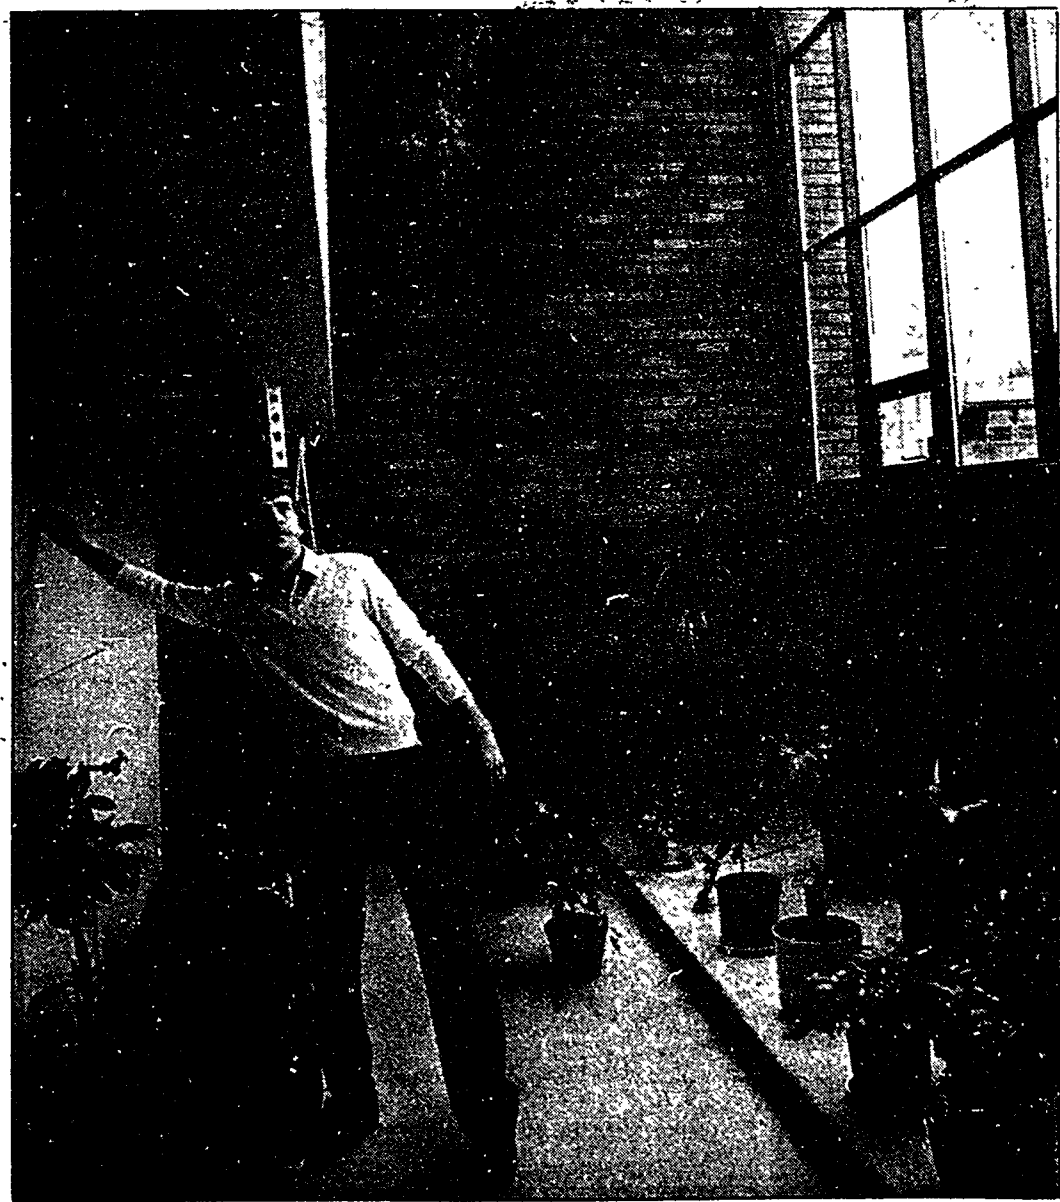

Another plus of the greenhouse was pointed out by McGrath. In the dead of winter, the greenhouse would give the home a "spring atmosphere," he said, adding that the plants even bloomed last February. "It's just incredible," he explained. "It's like our own little spr-

McGrath added that the design of the home did change his lifestyle. The main nag is getting used to fluctuations in temperature. McGrath and his wife rarely wear more sweaters now, but only until the house warms itself. Compensating for the occasional cool temperatures is McGrath's heating bills. The house is equipped with a conventional gas furnace but the last gas bill, which was received in March, amounted to just $40. And that also includes the gas range, dryer and hot water heater.

Of course, McGrath has had his challenges with the house, starting with the lot. Because of unstable soil conditions, McGrath had to build his home on pilings — a series of 33 12-inch wooden poles sunk 30 to 40 feet in the ground. The lot also has a steep grade and septic field is actually higher than the bottom floor, necessitating a sewage

The work involved in the house has also kept McGrath very busy. He started the house in July 1981, moved in last December and still has work to complete.

When asked about the cost of his home, McGrath pegged the price in the $80,000 to $90,000 range. However, he pointed out that without the greenhouse, the cost of his home and a conventional home are very similar. "It can be done where there's no cost difference at all," he said.

Realizing that $80,000-$90,000 may be a little steep for some home buyers, McGrath recently set out to design a low-cost passive solar home that would qualify for a low-interest loan through the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA). He said MSHDA would lend out mortgage money within certain restrictions. One restriction was a $68,000 maximum price tag for a home. Subtract the cost of a lot and the home itself would be limited to $50,000 to $55,000.

Those were the constraints McGrath worked under when he designed a smaller passive solar home.

"There's not a whole lot of ways to get the cost of a house down," McGrath admitted. Returning to the basic box form, however, McGrath designed a home with simplified construction, lower heating bills and the maximum use of space.

Unrolling his plans, McGrath explained his latest design. The home was rectangular in shape. Its northern face was halfway buried while the southern face was all glass, taking advantage of the sun's free heat.

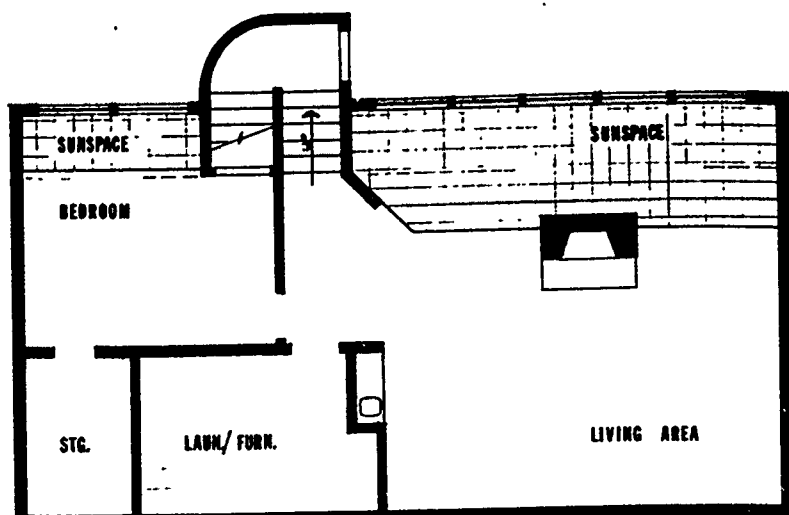

McGrath also made the maximum use of space by putting the living area on the lower floor in what normally would be the basement. Usually, McGrath said, the basement is just "one heckuva big closet" and an "untapped source of square footage." People do not live in basements because they are thought of as dark and cold.

But with walls of windows, McGrath was able to lighten up the lower floor and change it from a dark basement to a pleasant living space. "The whole thing is to open the basement up and be able to use that basement space," he added.

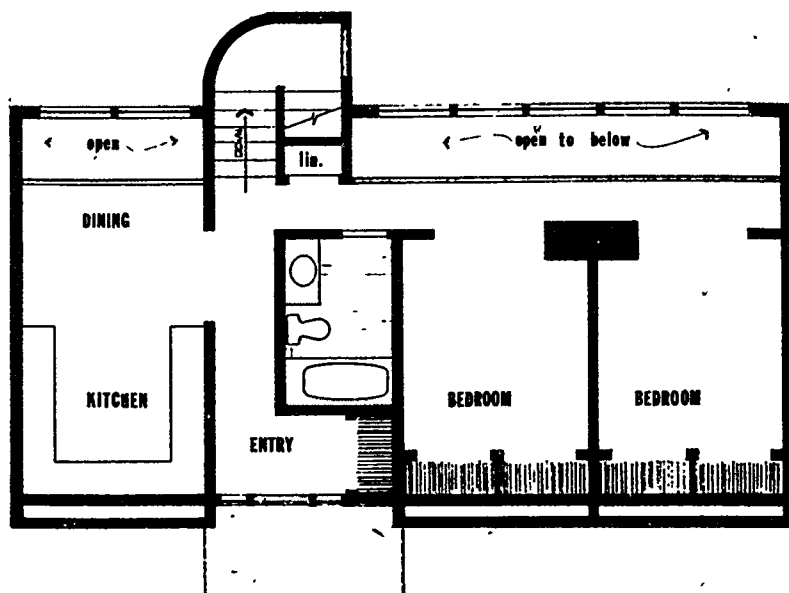

McGrath admits that the 942-square-foot house is small, but it is well done and utilizes passive solar techniques to cut the cost of living. "This is complete textbook passive solar design," he said, pointing to his plans. "This is right back to the basics. Not a whole lot of frills, but we're excited about it."

McGrath added that the smaller home, which met MSHDA standards, would be aimed both at the first-home buyer and the large-home owner seeking more efficient living space.

McGrath said his biggest problem right now is exposure. "People just don't know the services are here right now," he added. A graduate of the Lawrence Institute of Technology, McGrath works out of his home.

Nursing home lures employees by offering child care facility

Several staff members at Beverly Manor Nov would not be working if it weren't for a room at the nursing home decorated with "Smurfs," butterflies, ABCs and a rainbow.

In addition, some of the daily smiles and happiness experienced by the residents would be gone if the room did not exist.

The novelty is not the room, but the activity which takes place in it. The activity is child care, and while it's provided for the convenience of staff members, it's equally beneficial for the nursing home and residents.

"The child care program has been going on four years and has been successful from the start," reported Barb Jablonski, a social worker at the nursing home on Meadowbrook Road in Novi.

Staff members who are working can leave their children in the day care room with minimal expenses. It costs 40 cents per hour for one child and 10 cents for each additional child.

Children are provided with breakfast, lunch and dinner. And the facility also gives them cookies and juice or some kind of snack.

Nursery aides care for the children. Jablonski said it's considered a babysitting service and not a day care center because parents are within in the immediate area.

Aides work with the children on coordination and communication skills. Children have been taken on field trips to the zoo, airport and a tour of McDonald's.

The service is provided on the day and afternoon shifts. Employees notify the facility 24 hours in advance if they want babysitting services for their children during a particular shift.

The child care service is more than a convenience for parents, in many cases it allows them to work.

Julia Rice, a single parent who works in the medical records department, said the service permitted her to return to work right after having her second child. "If my kids are upset about something or become ill, I'm right here," she said. "I couldn't make it on my own without this service."

Michelle Sage, an RN with two children in the center, said the service is one of the reasons she decided to work at Beverly Manor.

Administrator Chris Bekish notes that staff turnover has decreased at Beverly Manor since the center was added. She said many employees with children discover they aren't coming out ahead by working and paying a babysitter; so they quit soon after they're hired.

Perhaps the greatest benefit of the child care program is the interaction it creates between residents and the children.

Activities Director Julie Smith said the elderly residents at Beverly Manor love children.

The kids think it's great, too. After all, where else can you have more than 100 grandmas and grandpas in one place at the same time.

CANINE CUTTER — It was indeed a true case of "puppy love" which took Barbara Mitchell away from her five-year career with the J.L. Hudson Company and into the dog grooming business. Owner and operator of the new Puppy Love Pet Salon at 157 East Main Street in Northville, Mitchell clips and grooms all breeds and sizes of dogs as well as cats. With the help of two assistants and her mother, who serves as receptionist, Mitchell reports that business has been steady since the shop's opening last month. Mitchell says dogs are bathed, shampooed, clipped and brushed during each visit and notes that her prices vary according to the size and breed of the dog and are competitive. Soft music is played while dogs are being groomed and Mitchell points out that cages and instruments are disinfected between visits. A six-foot glass door inside the shop allows pet owners to watch their dogs being groomed. However, for owners who would rather relax while their canine is being clipped, a reception area decorated with Chippendale furniture is available.

BEVERLY HOME HEALTH CARE of Novi, a new agency affiliated with Beverly Enterprises, has begun services in this area.

According to the director, Carol Hinkle, RN, BSN, the skilled nursing services, physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech therapy are available to all homebound patients. Services are covered by Medicare and other private insurances. Application has been made to serve Medicaid patients.

Home Health Care offers a choice for families who wish to care for a loved one at home instead of a nursing home. The nurse or therapist visits on an intermittent basis to instruct the patients and family in medications, wound care, exercise, diet, skin care, catheter care, etc. Home Health aides can assist the patient with personal care as needed.

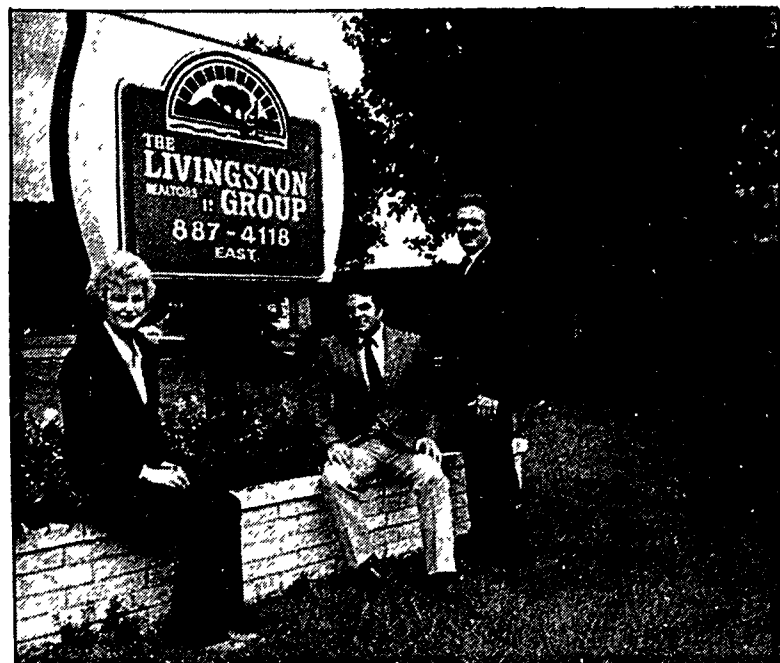

Hinkle comes to the agency with a wide variety of nursing service including one year as a staff field nurse in home health care. She graduated from Hurley Hospital School of Nursing in 1970 and continued her education at University of Michigan-Flint where she earned her BSN in 1981.

Another staff field nurse, Donna Connerly has 1½ years experience in home health care. Office Manager Laurie Rankin comes to the agency after three years in the Beverly Manor Personnel Department. Prior to that she was a nurses' aide at the Beverly facility.

LOCAL RESIDENTS Donald and Susan Baetens with their daughter Katie were the first customers at Manufacturers Bank of Novi's new Union Lake-Commerce office in Commerce Township. JUST the words, many thanks, do not seem adequate to express my gratitude for all the flowers, gifts and cards I received while in St. Joe's Hospital. Thank you all so very much, Eleanor Baker.

PERHAPS you sent a lovely card, a gift to McPherson Hospital or set quietly in a chair. Perhaps you sent a floral piece, if so we saw it there. Perhaps you spoke the kindest words as any friend would say. Perhaps you were not there at all, just thought of us that day. Whatever you did to console our hearts we Thank You so much, whatever the part. By the family of Mrs. Nanette Allen.

I don't want to be here anymore. But...
I don't want to be anywhere else either.
I don't want to be alone anymore. But...
I don't want to be tied down to anyone.
I don't want to be independent. But...
I don't want to be under anyone's thumb.
I don't want to be so self sufficient. But...
I don't want to be helpless.
I don't want to be awake so much. But...
I can't seem to sleep.
I don't want it to be daylight. But...
I'm afraid of the dark.
I don't feel like saying anything. But...
I want to talk to someone.
I don't want to keep up a front. But...
I can't let my real feelings show.
I don't want to be a clinging vine. But...
I want very much to be close to someone.
I don't really want to return to the past. But...
I am totally afraid of the future.
Please tell me,
Where do I go from here?

My Poem

My skiing trip is going to be fun
It will ruin my day if I don't see the sun

So finally I got on my skis
And found myself above the trees

I was traveling high on a ski lift
Then coming near a cold drift

I felt that it would never end
So I got off and slid again

Life

Life is rough,
Life is tough,
But what are we to do?

Just live it once,
Or maybe twice,
What else is there to do?

Just grin and bear,
all our faults,
It doesn't really matter.
It all turns out to be the same with these final moments at last.

Life will continue on,
Even when we've passed.

The First Sailing

Late night I'm a sailboat,
'Neath the dark, satin sky,
Straining, tethered to dock,
Sequined stars float right by.

Impatient lines beat a rhythm;
Gulls lured, perch, with awe.
No restraints on the new day,
For the wind is now law.

Regimental masts, with no sails, keep watch;
Such as sailors, waiting orders, stand tall.
Momentum comes sunrise, we move out with pride,
All hasten to follow dawn's call!

Steady breeze billows in bright color,
As I'm clothed by my rising sails.
We stitch through wave crests, and trim the squall lines,
Gracefully surging, like surfacing whales.

Searching for blue skies,
And warm trade wind breezes,
A gale tickles the main,
Then we catch her, to please us.

But Alas! The horizon glows red.
We come about, all at once, at a clip.
No regrets due a full day, so steady I go,
As we thread our way back, to my slip.

Who Knows It All?

Wouldn't you just love to be a genius?
Never to say "I don't know"?
Answering questions from everyone,
Winning on a T. V. show.

Wouldn't you just love to be an expert?
Facts at your own fingertips?
A memory like a computer,
Authoritative statements spilling from your

Wouldn't you just love to be famous?
Your name known from afar?

Maybe, just maybe, you ARE!

Dawn

Time and sunlight cascade together in the early morning hours.
The dove calls out her gentle tune, breaking the stillness ... her lone figure perched high in the trees
as if she alone, owned the universe in all its mighty expanse.

The wind rustles gently as others join her song of harmony ...
they sing of secrets new and alive,
lovely and enchanting ...
a new day ...
things unseen, untouched ...
calling to whoever would hear to step into the sunshine ... and greet the day
alive and waiting.

Lost Leaves

I wonder why people are so anxious to get rid of their leaves
Raking them up before they have yet lost their color
Piling them as a child does a pyramid of bright-colored blocks
And watching smoke rise to make our windows duller?

I wonder why people do not like the cornflake
crispness underfoot
That crunchy, crumbly brown after the color fades
But always seem impatient to comb the thick grass hair of leaves
While there remains only some frost-bitten blades.

Harvests

From the gardens of the past
We reap the harvest of today;
From seed we planted in life's soil
Grow flower or thistle, come what may.

The thought seeds nourished in our minds
Bear good or ill along the way,
Depending on the choice we make—
To serve or be served, cry or pray.

The light is there for those who seek;
Our step is but to meditate,
And thus, to cultivate our souls
To realize, and demonstrate.

Reflecting

The flowers on the hill bloom pink and white and yellow,
A girl strolls along hand in hand with her fellow.
The summer days drift slowly amid the clouds and starry night,
But we're too busy hurrying, to watch the birds
in flight.
Too soon it all has passed us by, the things we take for granted,
We never stopped to smell the flowers that other people planted.

Sue Cook

Frosty Morn

The winter seemed long. I was tired of the snow
Which once was so pretty, but no longer so.
The skies were so dreary; the trees were so bare.
The bushes were leafless; cold chills filled the air.

Then one day I woke to a beautiful sight.
The land was created anew overnight.
The shrubs were now glistening, frosty and white,
And long strands of diamonds, so shining and bright,
From willow trees hung from the sky to the ground.
This unearthly beauty was seen all around.

This breath taking wonder, which made the earth seem
So strange and unreal, like a fairy-land dream,
Had lasted a day and a half, then was gone;
Yet, in my mind's eye it will still linger on
To last till the winter is over; and then It's spring, and the earth comes alive once again.

Bales back in the pool while court decides fate

By JOHN MYERS

This has been a tougher season out of the pool than in it for Northville High School swimmer, Shawn Bales.

After transferring from Farmington Our Lady of Mercy High School this summer, the junior swimmer has had to deal with the fact she never knows when she will be declared eligible or ineligible to swim for the Mustang girls' swim team.

Currently, she has been declared eligible again by the First District Court of Appeals which reinstated the original restraining order granted by the Wayne County Circuit Court in late August. However, the Court of Appeals has yet to hear the case, after which time it could declare her ineligible again.

The crux of the issue here, though, is whether or not the MHSAA should have granted Bales a waiver to allow her to swim at Northville this fall after transferring from Farmington Mercy, a private parochial school.

According to the MHSAA transfer rule, a student transferring from one high school to another is ineligible to compete in an interscholastic contest for one semester; however, the student may be declared eligible if he/she falls under any one of the 12 exceptions.

It also states in the MHSAA Constitution its Executive Committee can set aside the effect of any eligibility rule if it fails to serve the purpose for which it is intended or causes an undue hardship.

Surowiec has been presenting to the courts Shawn should have been granted a waiver on the grounds transfer rule does not apply in this case and it causes an undue hardship, while the MHSAA has been standing firm in its decision.

Both Surowiec and Shawn's mother Alwynne Bales have explained they are not asking the transfer rule be changed, they just want to know why a waiver has not been granted when such a possibility exists.

"We're not saying there should be a different transfer rule. The (MHSAA) Constitution provides for a waiver procedure. Why have a rebuttal procedure when you're not going to use it," Surowiec related.

"We're not challenging the rule. We're saying 'Hey, it's on the books."

NHS gridders rebound to topple Western, 20-6

It started out to look like one of "those" games again for the Northville football team against Walled Lake Western Friday night.

"Those" meaning it's the kind of game where Northville has trouble getting the ball into the endzone and the opponent eventually ends up winning a close contest.

Not so this time. The Mustangs turned the tables on Western to spoil the Warriors' Homecoming 20-6 in a battle between two Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division foes.

Senior halfback Andy Dimitroff figured in all of the Northville scoring. He ran for two first-half touchdowns and threw for another in the fourth quarter to erase an early 6-0 Western lead.

Head coach Dennis Colligan noted this was an important win for the Mustangs after the bitter 10-7 Homecoming loss October 15 to previously winless Livonia Churchill.

"It was a must win. It meant a lot things for us," he said. "I think this proves how balanced the division is this year. But, the Churchill game is still haunting us."

"Instead of playing a close ballgame and losing, we played a close ballgame and won," Colligan added.

The start of the contest had all of the makings of another close loss for the Mustangs. Western stopped Northville on its initial drive, and gained huge amounts of yardage in its first three offensive plays before fumbling

Settles qualifies for state meet; tankers dunk two foes

By JOHN MYERS

About the only thing that went wrong with the Northville girls' swim team in its victories last week was that only one swimmer, instead of two, made the late qualifying mark.

The Mustang tankers easily handled on-league Novi 82-42 last week Tuesday and Western Lakes Activities Association rival Livonia Churchill 78-51 last Thursday.

Northville now stands at 6-2 overall and 3-1 in the WLAA Western Division.

"We had a lot of good swims from a lot of people," second-year head coach Bill Dicks said.

The only blemish on the week was that Kristin Nelson has to qualify all over again in the 500-yard freestyle for the state meet.

Nelson came in first in the 500 freestyle at 5:25.0 against Churchill, which was good enough to qualify her for the state meet. However, the meet official ruled Nelson jumped back in the pool after she finished her race, thus disqualifying her and forcing her to qualify in a different meet.

"It was unfortunate," Dicks lamented, "but she'll make the cut because she knows she can do it."

Trish Settles, though, did qualify for the state meet in the 50-yard freestyle as she took first in a time of 25.39. She also was first in the 100-yard butterfly (1:02.4) and was part of the winning 200-yard medley relay team along with Nelson, Shawn Bales and Kim Thompson (2:00.1).

Cindy Panowicz was the only other individual double winner as she took top honors in the 100-yard freestyle and the 100-yard backstroke.

The 400-yard freestyle relay team of Kim Brining, Dawn Biondi, Holly Sellen and Bales claimed first with a 4:20.1.

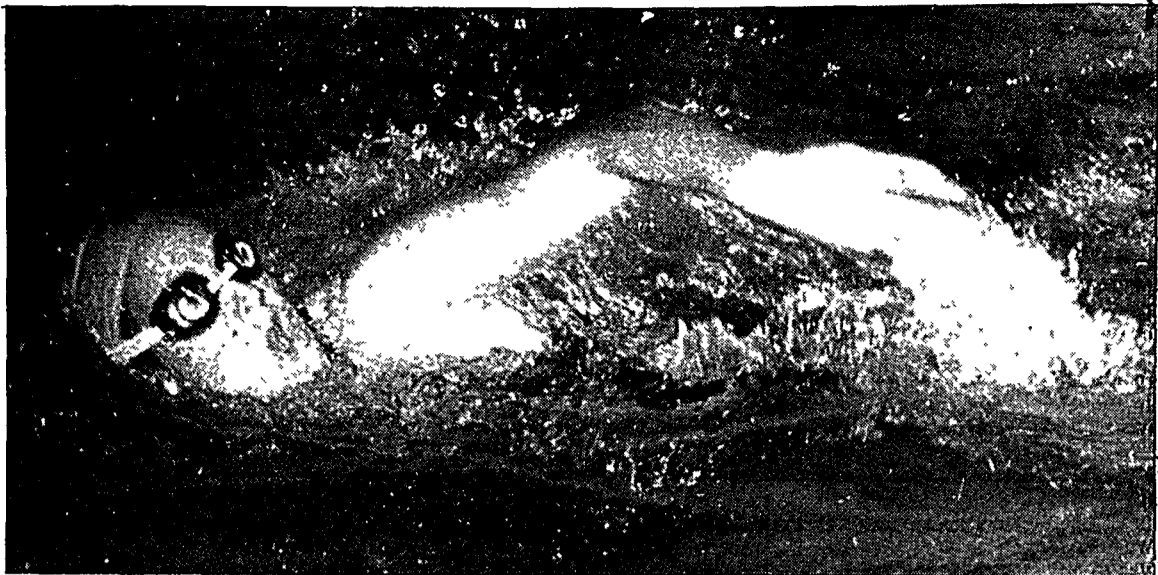

Other individual firsts were taken by Sellen in the 100-yard backstroke; Bainbridge in the 200-yard freestyle; Thompson in the 200-yard medley relay; and Mandy Waltz in diving.

The 200 medley relay squad of Jill Roth, Panowicz, Kim Herrington and Biondi began the string of second-place finishes. Cathy Heitert was runner-up in diving. Thompson did the same in the 100 butterfly as did Karen Brining in the 100 breaststroke.

The 400 freestyle relay team of Sue Vanderbok, Kathy Bainbridge, Khris Korowin and Roth placed third at 4:30.6. Individually, Herrington was third in the 200 individual medley as was Roth in the 100 backstroke. Sellen added a fourth in the 50 freestyle.

Northville would have taken first in every event against Novi, but freshman Lisa Felicelli, excited her relay team won, jumped into the pool to hug her teammate. Thus, both Mustang 400 freestyle relay teams were disqualified.

Northville will host WLAA Lakes Division foe Plymouth Salem at 7 p.m. Thursday before participating in the Westland John Glenn Invitational Friday and Saturday.

Trish Settles qualified for the state meet in the 50 freestyle

NHS gridders topple Western

However, Northville bogged down at the Western 37. Jim Thomson punted to the Warrior 15, but paced behind the running of Paul Imms, Western marched 85 yards for the score with Imms going the final five yards. The score came with only six seconds left in the opening period.

Imms set up the scoring run with a nifty 47-yard jaunt as Northville's Steve Smith raced from behind to make a touchdown-saving tackle.

"When we gave up the first (Western) touchdown, the kids decided it was not going to happen again," Colligan said. "Our kids decided to go. They weren't going to be denied, and not let Western in the endzone again."

Northville came right back after the kickoff when Dimitroff rammed 40 yards for a touchdown. The score was set-up by Ray McDonough's 20-yard tote, and it capped a six-play, 73-yard drive.

Dimitroff finished the evening with 119 yards on 22 carries, while McDonough picked up 55 valuable yards in eight attempts.

"I think a key was McDonough's runs up the middle, and he threw some good blocks (for Dimitroff)," Colligan praised.

While that was an important drive, Colligan admitted a blocked punt turned the game back into Northville's favor.

"The blocked punt was a big one. (Matt Meyer) saw an opening, got his arm in there and blocked it," Colligan offered. "I think Western got down after that."

After the touchdown, the Mustangs held Western in three plays to force a punt. Meyer bolted through the line to block a punt and give Northville the ball at the Warrior 20-yard line.

Five plays later Dimitroff bulled in from three yards to give Northville a 14-6 lead midway through the second quarter.

It was mostly Northville in the second half. The Mustangs took their first drive down to the Western six-yard line, but came away empty.

Unlike previous contests, it would turn out Northville really wouldn't need the score as the defense constantly harassed Western.

Northville forced two fumbles (three total) and intercepted one pass in the second half to snuff Western's offensive attack.

"I thought we probably had our best defensive effort of the season. We really put the clamps on them," Colligan declared. "Their (defensive unit) confidence was building throughout the game. Our pass defense was exceptional."

The work of assistant coaches Darrell Schumacher, Steve McDonald and John Colligan for developing the defensive game plan drew accolades from the fourth-year coach.

Northville sealed the contest when Dimitroff found Thomson on a 16-yard halfback option pass for another six-pointer. The score capped an eight-play, 50-yard drive with 8:20 to play.

The win snapped a two-game losing streak, and added another chapter to the already up-and-down season the Mustangs are going through.

"It's kind of ironic we could have such a seasaw season and still finish second in the division," Colligan assessed.

Friday is position night in the WLAA as the Mustangs will host Lakes Division foe Livonia Stevenson at 7:30 p.m.

"Stevenson is a good team. They're nothing to scoff at because they are big, strong and physical. They're a tough ballclub," Colligan assessed.

"It will be a ballgame where we have to prove we can play with the big boys," he added.

NHS cagers falter against Dearborn

By JOHN MYERS

The losses just keep mounting for the Northville girls' basketball team.

While defeat upon defeat was being bestowed on the Mustangs, coach Rick Hurst previously had been finding some improvements along the way.

Not so last week. Northville regressed instead of progressed in a 36-18 loss to non-league Dearborn last week Tuesday. In addition, the Mustangs were overpowered by a strong Walled Lake Central squad 60-23 in a Western Lakes Activities Association battle last Thursday.

"For the first time all year I was disappointed in the team (Tuesday)," the first-year mentor mused.

"We just came out flat," he added.

Even though Northville stayed close in the first half, Dearborn coasted to victory in the second half. Northville was down 8-5 after the first quarter and 17-14 at halftime. Dearborn was leading 24-16 going into the final stanza.

"They just ran over us in the second half," Hurst explained.

"They played a defense which we weren't used to at all. They were using a 1-2-2, and we weren't well prepared for it. It gave us a lot of trouble," he added.

Also giving the Mustangs troubles were numerous mental and physical errors in the second half.

"We just plain came apart in the second half," Hurst observed. "We committed a lot of unforced errors. We just broke down."

Also, Dearborn started to dominate the boards at both ends of the court to lead to the Mustangs' downfall in the second half. Still, Hurst was pleased with Northville's defense and first-half effort.

"We played reasonable defense. Dearborn was not a good shooting team. They would get the first shot and we would contest for the rebound. We held our own on the boards (in the first half), and ran our offense reasonably well.

"He (Dearborn coach) just kept switching defenses until he found the one he liked. Also, Dearborn started to dominate the boards in the second half," Hurst related.

Jenny Gans was the top Northville scorer with five points, while Denise Liddle and Julie Maliszewski added four apiece. Tracy Wilkinson had three points.

Lakes Division opponent Central was just a little too much for the Western Division Mustangs to handle last Thursday. The Vikings jumped to an 18-4 first-period lead and was ahead 34-8 at the half. Central headed into the final period with a 52-17 advantage.

"Walled Lake Central is a very capable team. They are big, strong and a lot of their players could run with the ball," Hurst noted.

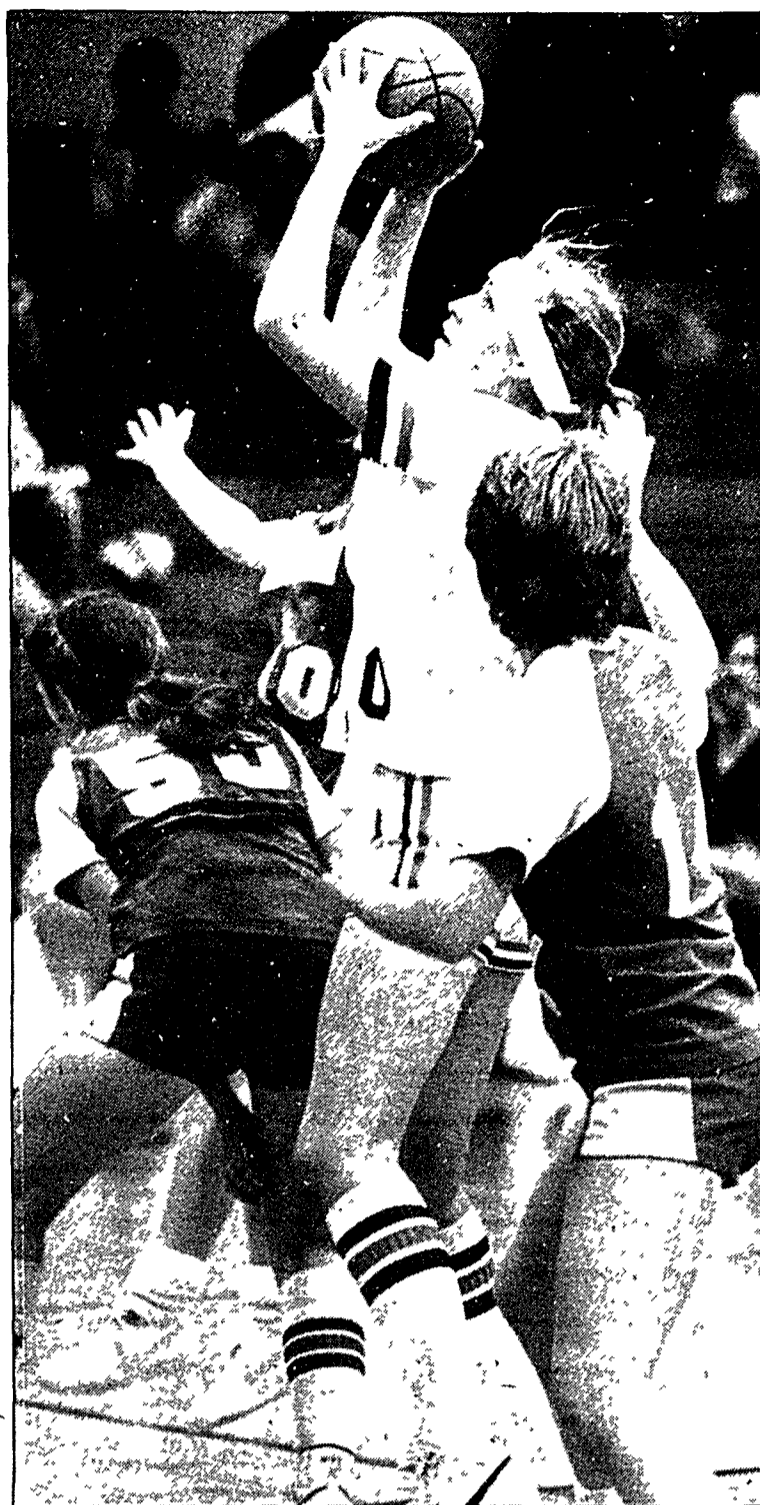

Northville was hurting (no pun intended) at its guard position for the Central contest. Kathy Korowin still was nursing her back injury, and Sue Terwin was bothered by painful shin splints which limited her running ability.

"She (Terwin) is crucial to our ball-handling and scoring. We're not the same team when she can't play," Hurst offered.

The best Terwin and Korowin could contribute against Central Thursday was to relieve teammates for a couple of minutes. "We were helpless," Hurst said.

Wilkinson topped the Mustangs with eight points, while Gans scored five. Wazny added four points.

Northville was in action against Western Division foe Livonia Churchill Tuesday, and travels to division leader Farmington Harrison Thursday.

Spartans oust booters from state tournament

This is a "do-or-die" week for the Northville boys' soccer team in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

The Mustangs would have to down both Western Division foes Livonia Churchill and Farmington Harrison for the divisional championship.

It's a difficult assignment for the Mustangs as they had to travel to Churchill Tuesday and Harrison at 4 p.m. Thursday.

Northville won both its earlier home contests with a 3-1 verdict over Churchill and a 3-2 decision over Harrison.

Co-coaches Dan Swayne and Marvin Gans explained the Mustangs have realized the importance of this week for sometime. In fact, the coaches said the team knew ahead of time this week would be for "all the marbles."

Last week saw the Mustangs be eliminated from the Michigan High School Athletic Association Class A regional tournament by top-ranked Livonia Stevenson 5-1.

The Spartans were too much for the young and inexperienced Mustangs to handle, the coaches said. Stevenson is an outstanding team, they added, and there probably is not a better team in the state.

Greg Marshall netted the lone Northville goal. Despite losing by four goals, the coaches said the Mustangs have nothing to be ashamed of in their performance against Stevenson.

Because the Mustangs can only play 18 regular-season games, the contest against Dearborn Edsel Ford last week Tuesday was changed to a scrimmage and the North Farmington contest last Thursday was canceled.

Northville had an easy time against Edsel Ford, winning 3-1. The coaches used the game as an opportunity to use all 31 players to keep them sharp for this week's contests.

Northville's record after the Stevenson contest is 11-5-1.

JV gridders tie Warriors

Northville's junior varsity football squad battled Walled Lake Western to a 6-all tie last Thursday in a Western Lakes Activities Association match-up.

The tie left the Mustangs in second place in the Western Division with a 3-3 overall and 2-2-1 divisional mark.

Both teams scored in the first quarter with Northville's score coming on a 71-yard jaunt by Phil Pendleton. However, Doug Hartman finished the evening as the Mustangs' leading ground gainer with 129 yards on 19 carries.

What hurt the Northville offense the most were five fumbles in Western territory.

Defensively, Northville was led by seven first hits from Mark Deal, Hartman and Pendleton.

Northville travels to Farmington at 3:45 p.m. Thursday for its last WLAA league contest. The winner of the position night game will take third-place overall in the WLAA.

Pallas finishes second Triathlon

By JOHN MYERS

Tom Pallas says this is definitely the last time. No way can a friend, or anyone else for that matter, talk him into participating again.

The Northville elementary physical education teacher, who was persuaded by a friend in May to enter again, proclaimed as much even though he improved his time at the October 9 World Hawaiian Iron Man Triathlon at Kailua-Kona, Hawaii.

The 34-year-old Hamtramck resident completed the 2.4 mile ocean swim, 112-mile bicycle ride and 26 mile, 386-yard marathon in 12 hours, 53 minutes. That was over two hours better than the time he recorded in his first triathlon in February of this year. Also, it placed him in the top 45 percent of the field of over 850 contestants.

"This is definitely the last time. It was tough again, but it is time to move on to something else," Pallas related.

It really was not any easier this time around, he added, just that there was "less apprehension about what lay ahead of you."

"You could do this 20 times, and it won't be any easier," he explained.

"There were people much better than I, and they didn't finish. There was one guy who finished 11th last year, who on the bike part at the 95-mile mark just put his bike down and waved for an ambulance," he recalled.

"Also, there was a marathoner who runs (that) event in about two and a half hours, and it took him over seven (in the triathlon)," Pallas added. "Anything can happen."

That "anything" almost happened to him. Within the first 100 yards of the ocean swim, Pallas almost quit. But the thought only entered his mind for a couple of seconds, he said.

"The first 100 yards are just a madhouse. There are 1,700 arms thrashing in the water, you swim over people, I had my goggles kicked, and the guy in front me threw up; so I had to swim through that," he recounted. "Things were too crazy."

But, he persevered. Because all three events come one after another, Pallas noted, "You have to take each event one at a time."

"I said to myself 'Okay, let's get to the turnaround boat and back. Then let's just work from there,'" he related.

It was over 100 degrees when he started the bike portion of the event. Therefore, he stopped at every five-mile aid station to get the water bottle filled; grab a cold sponge; and apply some sunscreen to prevent a severe sunburn.

Despite the extreme heat, Pallas said he improved his bike time from eight and a half hours in February to six hours, 53 minutes this time.

"(The improvement) was basically because of more training and more (actual road) miles," he said.

In the marathon portion, Pallas said he started with a nice, easy pace. After the first two and a half miles, though, he decided to quicken his pace "to see what I could do."

"I was more competitive. I was competing not only with myself, but also with the hot-shot group," Pallas offered.

"However, my thigh muscle turned to rock, and that has never happened to me before. So, I stood there for two or three minutes massaging it. After it was all right, I returned to a nice, easy pace," he said.

It also was during the marathon run Pallas met Julian Baroky from Oxford, Michigan. The two talked to each other the rest of the run, and finished arm-in-arm together.

"He was going to let me go across the line first, but I thought it would be kind of nice to go together," he said.

With two Triathlons under his belt in one year, Pallas has decided no more. What could top this, anyway?

"I don't think anything could top this," he noted. "I think I might try an ultra-marathon which is running 32, 50 or 100 miles (without stopping)."

"You only have to be good at running for the ultra-marathon, whereas you have to be good at three events for the Triathlon," he added.

But, this is definitely it?

"Well, maybe at least not for the next 15 years. I might try it again when I'm 50 years old or so," Pallas admitted.

Stay tuned.

Bentley reverses tables on harriers

Livonia Bentley turned the tables on the Northville boys' cross country team this week in a Western Lakes Activities Association meet last Thursday.

The Mustangs used to win their meets last year by taking the top three spots and then letting the opponent place its runner among the rest of the Northville harriers.

Just the opposite happened against Bentley for Northville. The Bulldogs took the top three spots while Northville took the next 11 places to win a 29-30 decision. The meet was conducted on Schoolcraft College's course.

The loss dropped the Mustangs to 3-3 in the Western Division of the WLAA and 4-4 overall.

The 11 Mustang runners all placed within one minute of each other, but coach Ed Gabrys said, "The front times could have been a little faster."

Jim Willoughby was the first Northville, and fourth overall, runner across the finish line at 17:04. Two seconds behind was Pat Campbell, while Mike Siefkin crossed the line at 17:22.

Siefkin, a sophomore, has been running a lot stronger in recent meets, Gabrys said.

Chris Jones came in at 17:29 and Ken Booth was hot on his heels at 17:30. Doug Doyle ran a 17:31 and Dave Nafe was clocked at 17:32.

Northville's top harrier, Jim O'Neill, has been bothered by a knee injury, but Gabrys said the junior runner probably would have run in yesterday's WLAA meet at Cass Benton.

The girl's team won its meet by forfeit.

Aside from the WLAA meet yesterday, the Mustangs will be participating in the Class A regional meet at Cass Benton Saturday. Those runners who do not compete in the regionals will compete in the Redford Union Reserve meet Friday at Cass Benton.

A middle-of-the-pack finish was what Gabrys was looking at for both the boys' and girls' teams. Livonia Churchill and Walled Lake Western were seen as the favorites by Gabrys, with Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem as the other top contenders.

"Looking over past results, we have to do two things. We have to have at least a half dozen people under 18 minutes and at least two people around 17 minutes," Gabrys said.

"If we can do that, we can finish up in the top five," he added.

"The girls have the same sort of chances (as the boys). They're healthy, and Kelly Wool should be able to place in the top three individually," Gabrys offered.

As for the regionals, Gabrys noted the team will be shooting for a middle-of-the-pack finish there as well.

The freshmen and sophomore Northville runners participated in the Westland John Glenn Invitational last week Tuesday. The Mustangs placed fifth out of eight teams with 134 points. Dearborn Fordson won the title.

The course was a little slower than the Cass Benton course, Gabrys said, and there was a lot of wind.

Siefkin was the top Northville runner with a 19:08, and he was followed by Booth at 19:32. Matt McDonough was next at 19:52, Rich Naszardi at 20:19 and John Huston at 20:38.

Bales back in the pool

Use it," Mrs. Bales added. However, both Mrs. Bales and Surowiec note the MHSAA has not been granting waivers to anyone. "They're not granting waivers to anyone. They are taking away years which cannot be replaced," Surowiec said.

Taking the case to the Court of Appeals came after the Wayne County Circuit Court judge dissolved his original restraining order in mid-September.

Surowiec went to the Circuit Court after the MHSAA turned down a request by the Northville Public School system to grant Bales a waiver this summer.

Northville Athletic Director Ralph Redmond said the school system presented the facts in the case, but was denied a waiver by the MHSAA.

In his brief to Judge Thomas Foley, Surowiec stated the transfer rule was established to discourage recruiting by schools within the MHSAA, and that the MHSAA has the authority to grant waivers under the Constitution.

Also, he noted the family had financial considerations in bringing Shawn back to Northville High School, a district in which the parents live and pay taxes to support the school.

Mrs. Bales stated other factors were considered aside from financial, which was one of the main reasons. Among the reasons were: the family is a taxpayer, academics, a local school situation for the children and ability to participate in the various activities, plus future college costs.

It also was pointed out by Surowiec that denying Shawn to swim this season would hinder her chances for a college scholarship, since recruiters rely on a swimmer's junior season to award scholarships. Thus, it would cause a hardship, he said.

Northville girls' swim coach Bill Dicks confirmed college recruiters rely on a swimmer's junior season, since scholarships are awarded during the swimmer's senior season.

Surowiec also claims the MHSAA breached its Constitution by not granting a waiver.

Foley granted a restraining order August 20 which made Shawn eligible for the start of the season. A hearing was scheduled for September 10, and it was after it Foley dissolved the order making Shawn ineligible.

"We have no idea why the Circuit Court judge dissolved it (the restraining order)," Surowiec said.

He said he had a couple of reasons. He said the right to participate in athletics in Michigan is included in an individual's right in education. It's not just a privilege," Surowiec offered. "He never stated why for the other reason."

Also, the attorneys for the Northville Board of Education and the MHSAA said to Foley, Surowiec explained, that if Shawn Bales failed to prevail in the case, Northville would have to forfeit all games in which she participated.

However, Surowiec noted there was a case in which the judge ruled if a student followed a lawful court order to participate and then failed to prevail, the school would not have to forfeit its games because the student was following a court order.

There have been other court cases this year challenging the transfer rule with the MHSAA being upheld in each instance.

But, Northville Superintendent George Bell believes more kids have been hurt by the transfer rule than helped. "It's been like throwing the baby out with the bath water," he said.

However, the Northville Board of Education has voted to support a resolution adopted by the Ann Arbor Board of Education. The board was named a defendant in the original case, but it is not challenging the appeal, according to Surowiec.

"The Ann Arbor superintendent has taken a stand with the MHSAA in that he is in favor of looking at and possibly changing rule 9 (transfer rule). His board was equally concerned and entered a resolution asking for other school boards to support the stand," Bell explained.

"I discussed it with our board which then voted to support the Ann Arbor resolution," he added.

"I have written a letter to Vern Norris (MHSAA director) saying I feel badly about taking a stand against the MHSAA, but I can't support the rule," Bell related.

If Norris should decide to re-examine the transfer rule, Bell said he would be happy to offer his assistance in any way.

The Ann Arbor Board will be presenting the resolution at the Michigan High School Association of School Boards conference November 2-4 in Grand Rapids, Bell said.

The resolution calls for the establishment of a more workable rule prior to the 1983-84 school year, Bell added.

The resolution states the current transfer rule unfairly denies an athlete from transferring for completely non-athletic reasons, he said.

Colt freshmen win sixth game

Only the Northville/Novi Colts freshmen squad scored a convincing victory over the Plymouth Steelers, while both the varsity and junior varsity squads lost to Plymouth Sunday.

Matt Smith keyed the freshmen triumph with two touchdowns and more than 100 yards rushing in the 24-6 verdict. The defense, led by Garnett Potter and Andy Wayne, kept the Steelers at bay while the special teams racked up the points.

Smith put the Colts in the lead with a 60-yard first quarter punt return. Wayne stopped a Steeler drive with a key pass interception.

The Steelers fumbled the second-half kickoff due to a jarring tackle by Potter and Mike MacDonell. Smith followed with a 46-yard touchdown run on a fake punt. Potter finished the afternoon with eight tackles.

The defense held tough and on the next possession Doug Cody scampered 15 yards on a fake reverse around left end. After the Steelers scored in the final stanza, Smith sealed the game with a 56-yard run on another fake punt.

The victory put the freshmen at 6-1.

The junior varsity lost a 26-6 decision to the Steelers, who capitalized on good field position throughout the contest.

Tom Whelan scored the lone Colts' touchdown, and he finished the afternoon with 40 yards on six carries. Bop Smith and Darin Johnson each had good defensive games. The junior varsity now is 2-4-1 for the season.

The varsity lost a tough 6-0 decision to Plymouth. All three teams finish the season against South Lyon Sunday.

Women dominate local football contest

Women dominated this week's Northville Record/Novi-Walled Lake News football contest as two of the three winners were women.

Judy Montgomery, of Northville, walked away with this week's $10 first-place prize as she correctly selected 11 of 14 winners. Her only misses were Northville upending Walled Lake Western; Plymouth Salem downing Walled Lake Central; and Toledo topping Bowling Green.

Four persons tied with 10 winners with Northville's Ken Booth taking the $5 second-place prize and Lathrup Village's Beverly Gunn taking the $3 third-place prize. Also, Northville's Finn O'Leary and Kip Mack had 10, but lost out in the total points tie-breaker. Booth predicted 47 total points and the correct answer was 57.

Junior football banquet set

The Northville Colts football banquet will be held Wednesday, November 3, at Schoolcraft College. Dinner will begin at 6 p.m. with the awards presentation to follow. The donation is $6.50 per person. The guest speaker will be Detroit Lions defensive standout Ray Oldham. For more information, call Bill Felicelli at 348-3494.

Bagels, too, at cheese co-op

Northville Cheese Cooperative, a success since a group of cost-conscious young women banded together in July, 1981, to save from one third to half the retail price of cheese, has been inching its way to becoming a general food cooperative.

The 70 women who pick up cheese orders at First Presbyterian each month have been able to add turkey roll, hard salami, canned ham, butter and margarine to their orders during the past months — all at considerable savings over retail.

Next came bagels — plain, raisin, cheese, egg, onion or salted. Paper goods, such as toilet paper and napkins, are available in bulk at savings.

Now the cooperative is exploring bulk purchases of natural foods — from white flour, honey, oats and natural peanut butter to dried fruits. Members interested have been placing orders for such items as real chocolate chips and pecans and dates with Mary Decker.

Right now, ordering must be in bulk, with minimums of 25 pounds of whole wheat flour or two pounds of raisins. However, Decker plans in the near future to take orders in lesser quantities, dividing amounts at the church each month in the same way the cheese is cut for members. Co-op members interested in ordering the natural foods will be asked to sign up for a second work day each quarter to divide the natural foods into orders, just as the cheeses now are cut to order and placed in grocery bags ready for members to pick up after noon on cutting Thursdays.

Natural peanut butter is $1 a pound; date pieces are $1.15 and raisins are $1.25.

Sharp cheddar cheese still is $2 a pound from the cooperative while cream cheese is $1.22 a pound and domestic swiss is ordered at $1.98 a pound.

It was the savings on popular American sliced, crumbled blue, colby, cottage, gouda, feta, parmesan and others that first inspired Sue Shepard to poll other mothers in the Northville Cooperative Nursery to see if there would be interest in a cooperative.

The cooperative was an instant success. Monthly cutting sessions were moved from homes to rooms rented in the basement of First Presbyterian Church. The membership was closed at 70 last March to keep the cooperative a manageable size. There presently is a waiting list of 42 and the co-op has offered to assist in forming a sister group.

Regular workers like Pat Rossing and Kathi Jerome explain the success of the idea, saying, it's always great to save money — and the co-op is a fun project for doing so.

FEARS ABOUT X-RAYS

Q. I'm worried about exposure to X-rays. Should I ask my dentist to use a lead apron?

A. First of all with today's X-ray equipment and modern techniques there is really no reason to worry about radiation exposure. In fact the head of the X-ray machine is itself lined with lead, and there is almost no stray leakage. Furthermore your dentist will evaluate your individual need for X-rays and eliminate any he feels are unnecessary. But as an extra precaution he may choose to use the lead bib or apron which is a shield made of plastic or rubber containing a sheet of lead foil. Voice your concern to him and I'm sure he'll do everything possible to allay your fears.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of Former resident to bring play here

By JEANDAY

"Key Exchange," a three-character comedy, reported just completing a long, successful run in New York, is coming next to Northville. Andy Walter, a native of Northville and Northville High School graduate, is responsible.

In association with Apple Core Productions, he announced last week that the play will be produced at the Northville Community Building November 11-14 and 18-21. It is being rehearsed in New York now. The Michigan production will be the first outside of New York and is being billed as a regional premiere.

"It's a joint venture into making a midwest playhouse," reports an enthusiastic Ed Kricitz. "The Northville recreation director recalls that Walter 'used to play in the Northville softball league.' He explains that Walter, who has been in New York for the past four years training as an actor at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, was in town last summer and asked if the recreation department would be interested. It was, and Kricitz hopes that plays can be produced regularly on the community building stage.

As producer of Apple Core Productions, Walter would like this first venture to be followed by future New York-based productions coming to Michigan.

The story line of "Key Exchange" involves two men and a woman who are bicycle enthusiasts who meet in Central Park for eight consecutive weekends. During that time, the problems of their personal relationships are revealed and ultimately resolved.

In addition to Walter, who will play one of the roles, two other former Michigan residents have been cast. Keith Kallen from Hamtramck and Candelora Versace from Bloomfield Hills have been assigned roles. Wayne McDonald, New York actor and set designer, will be production stage manager and Ronald Marquette, of New York, will direct. Reservations may be made by calling the community building at 349-0203.

Shower honors a special newcomer

Thelma Glatz never expected to be the honoree at a shower. Very few 76-year-olds do. However, neither do many have all their possessions go up in smoke in a moving van en route to their new home. This happened as Mrs. Glatz was relocating from Pennsylvania to Allen Terrace to be near her daughter, Isabelle Wiest.

The van had left Johnstown, Pennsylvania, her former home, and was in Streetsboro, Ohio, when the accident occurred.

"We were waiting for the phone to ring to direct the driver to Allen Terrace when, instead, we received the news of the fire," recalls Mrs. Wiest.

Mrs. Glatz, left with only the contents of two suitcases, soon found she has a lot of sympathetic new friends. Sheila Norgren and Eileen Wheeler co-hosted a miscellaneous shower October 14. Donna Kohs at city hall expained, "Everybody wanted to help — she has such a good attitude about everything, and she even lost her wedding pictures."

Mrs. Wiest added that one of the special helpers was Nelson Schrader. "He was terrific," she lauds, "taking her under his wing so patiently and was not at all concerned that she had not even transferred her banking at that point."

She adds that, in a strange coincidence, a sister who happened to live near the scene of the fire checked and discovered four old photograph albums intact that were from Mrs. Glatz' girlhood. She's sending them on. Right now, Mrs. Glatz is getting settled as much as possible in apartment 210 at Allen Terrace and is in the midst of trying to list the possessions that were lost in the fire.

Scottish writer has friends here

A letter from an M. Wilson in Dundee, Scotland, directed to Northville — with a West Mile Road address, was dispatched to the Jay Zayti home on Eight Mile last week by the post office. Since it was directed to a Scottish friend in care of Mrs. Gordon Snyder, who was not listed in the telephone book, Inge Zayti brought it to The Record to see if the owner could be located, noting that the addressee apparently lived on some mile road.

Staff members said, "If she's Scottish, Betty Cowie will know her." She didn't, but she reasoned, "If she's Scottish, she'll be in the Presbyterian directory. She was right. With this bit of detective work the letter was forwarded.

Mothers' Club slates two benefits three days apart

Two days after a "Holiday Walk" through homes of three Mothers' Club members, club members will be working at their annual Ski and Skate Sale being held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. November 6 at Cooke Junior High.

"It's really more than winter sports equipment," reports Joy Holloway, saying that other equipment, such as hockey or baseball paraphernalia, is welcome also. Anyone interested in selling unneeded sports items may bring them to the school from 4-7 p.m. November 5 or from 8-9 a.m. November 6. The club receives a 15 percent commission to be used for projects in the public schools. Anyone with a question about equipment may call Nancy May, 349-0049, or Sandy McRae, 348-2419.

The Holiday Walk is a first-time project of the club being done in cooperation with several florists who are professionally decorating the homes. It will be held from 2-6 p.m. November 4.

Homes and florists involved are Kathi Jerome's decorated by IV Seasons; JoAnn Kissel's by Donna and Lou's Hallmark and Heidi and Bill Ruehr of Plymouth; and Martha Lyons' by French's of Livonia. Tickets are $4 a person. The club reports that it is hoping the new project will be supported by local garden clubs, historical society and Northville Woman's Club with their members being especially invited.

Tell me about your high gas heating bills and I'll tell you how you can save up to 20%* with Ameri-Therm.

For years I've talked with people who are tired of wasting fuel and money. Gas rates keep going up, so they come to me for advice.

Every day for homeowners like you I correct the money-wasting problem of gas energy loss with Ameri-Therm® Vent Dampers.

The problem is very common:

When a furnace, boiler or water heater shuts off, warm air is quickly lost up the chimney. Energy escapes, but you still end up paying for it.

People want to save as much as they can — so I tell them to keep heat inside with an Ameri-Therm Vent Damper.

Ameri-Therm is the thermally actuated vent damper that's:

- Proven in millions of locations
- Saves up to 20%* on fuel bills
- Popular choice of American homeowners
- Five year limited warranty.
- Thermally actuated to operate efficiently with no wires, electricity, or other power source.
- Eligible for 15% tax credit.
- Available for gas furnaces, boilers and water heaters

One of the primary individuals in the development of Disneyland and Walt Disney World will conduct a one-day seminar on creativity November 9 at the Livonia Holiday Inn-West.

Mike Vance, considered by many to be among the nation's most creative thinkers, has served as Dean of the University of Disneyland — long recognized as one of America's finest training institutions.

Entitled "Adventures in Creative Leadership Seminar," the Vance workshop will be especially useful to business people, managers and community leaders and is open to the public.

Psychologist is guest at Woman's Club

The focus will be on "stress" at the November 5 meeting of Northville Woman's Club at First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Ruth Anne Needham of Canton will be discussing the subject at 1:30 p.m.

The speaker earned her doctorate from Temple University, Philadelphia, in 1976 in adult education. In doing so, she achieved two "firsts." She was the first person to do so, and also was the first woman, she reports, adding that she considers herself "a lifelong learner."

She is a Pennsylvania licensed psychologist. She has worked in several fields: teacher, guidance counselor, school psychologist, clinical psychologist, administrator and consultant in schools, hospitals, colleges and in private practice.

She has been a resource person to local, state and national organizations and a frequent speaker at training institutes and conferences. She lists her specialties as learning disabilities of adults and children and psychological aspects of adult learning and adjustment.

"I enjoy the challenge of new activities and vistas — I especially enjoy the creative use of leisure time," the psychologist states.

At this point in her life, she adds, she is serving on an advisory committee of the Plymouth Canton Schools, has conducted workshops on stress for her church and has been nominated to serve on the session. She is a member of the Plymouth Symphony League, and the Plymouth Rock and Mineral Club.

She mentions she is the "proud mother" of four children — three sons and a daughter — stepmother of another son, and grandmother of four. She says she likes to camp, fish, swim, collect antiques, travel and sew. Her husband Hal is a manager for the Detroit Area Computer Services, of Ford Aerospace and Communications Corporation.

Dr. Needham will be introduced by Mrs. Charles Peltz, program chairman of the day.

Choral competition slated

Choral groups throughout Michigan, from quartets to large church choirs and university and community choruses, are being invited to participate in the statewide competition of the 1983 Great American Choral Festival.

Organized last year by choral conductor-arranger Johnny Mann of "Stand Up and Cheer" fame, the initial competition attracted 400 choral groups nationally competing in 25 cities for $150,000 in cash prizes.

Michigan competition will be held February 11 and 12 in Plymouth, with the 130-member Plymouth Community Chorus serving as the host organization.

Competition, to be held in the Plymouth-Salem High School Auditorium, will be organized in age-related divisions and categories. Competition is open to church choirs, quartets and choruses of SPEBSQSA, the barbershop harmony society, and Sweet Adelines, Inc., the women's barbershop-style organization, civic chorales and choruses, junior high and high school choruses and swing choirs, college and university groups and other amateur groups with four or more members.

According to Plymouth Chorus Director Michael Gross, under the national contest regulations, competition will be limited to 36 groups on a first-registered basis.

Competitive sessions will be open to the public, as will a concurrent two-day "Music Fair," featuring chorus-oriented exhibits, demonstrations, mini-concerts and group singing.

State winners in the four main categories of the competition will receive $1,000 cash prizes and the right to advance to national competition where prize money ranges up to $10,000 for first-place winners.

The Plymouth Hilton will be official headquarters for the Michigan competition.

Rosemary Devereaux models cream-turquoise robe fashion

Style show's sellout success for Highland Lakes club

The 10th anniversary fashion show of Highland Lakes Women's Club last Thursday at Highland House was a sellout and a major fundraiser for the club project of providing holiday gifts for needy children.

Club president Izma Chmiel and show chairman Dorothy Felthouse were among members modeling fashions from Van Dam's Lingerie and New Gal in Town shops in Plymouth. Great Shape Salon and Spa in the complex at 620 Starkweather was responsible for models' hair fashions. This was the third year that the three shops had presented the popular show.

Other member models were

Rosemary Devereaux, Chris Hinkle, Jo Peterson, Jean Stabler and Dorothy Sitarski.

Jean Van Dam, a Highland Lakes resident, also has a shop in Renaissance Center in Detroit which recently moved to quarters on the main level. Amy Gunter of New Gal in Town was commentator for the dessert show which featured fashions for fall into winter, including after dark holiday wear.

Lavender was introduced as a popular robe fashion along with white and turquoise. Taffeta fashions for the holiday as well as daytime into-winter clothes were applauded by the audience.

Two accepted in symphony

Northville students Nicole Forman of 117 North Rogers and Ron Kepner of 46900 Stratford Court were among the 200 young musicians accepted into the Metropolitan Youth Symphony for the 1982-83 season.

The newly-formed group, which includes students in grades three through 12, is composed of string, concert and symphony orchestras. It was organized by parents of music students in the tri-county area and represents 31 communities.

Student musicians were recruited from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Troy, Northville, Farmington Hills, Birmingham, Grosse Ile, Bloomfield Hills, Clarkston, Keego Harbor, Livonia, Southfield and Madison Heights, as well as Windsor, Ontario, and 17 other cities.

The first concert of the 1982-83 season is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. November 20 at Southfield High School. The second concert is planned for February 26 at Southfield-Lathrup High School.

Items will be on sale for those looking for handmade Christmas gifts and participants will have an opportunity to investigate the YWCA Holiday Crafts programs that will be offered in November and December as part of the Northwest YWCA program.

CONGRESSMAN CARL PURSELL Leadership for Plymouth, Livonia and Northville

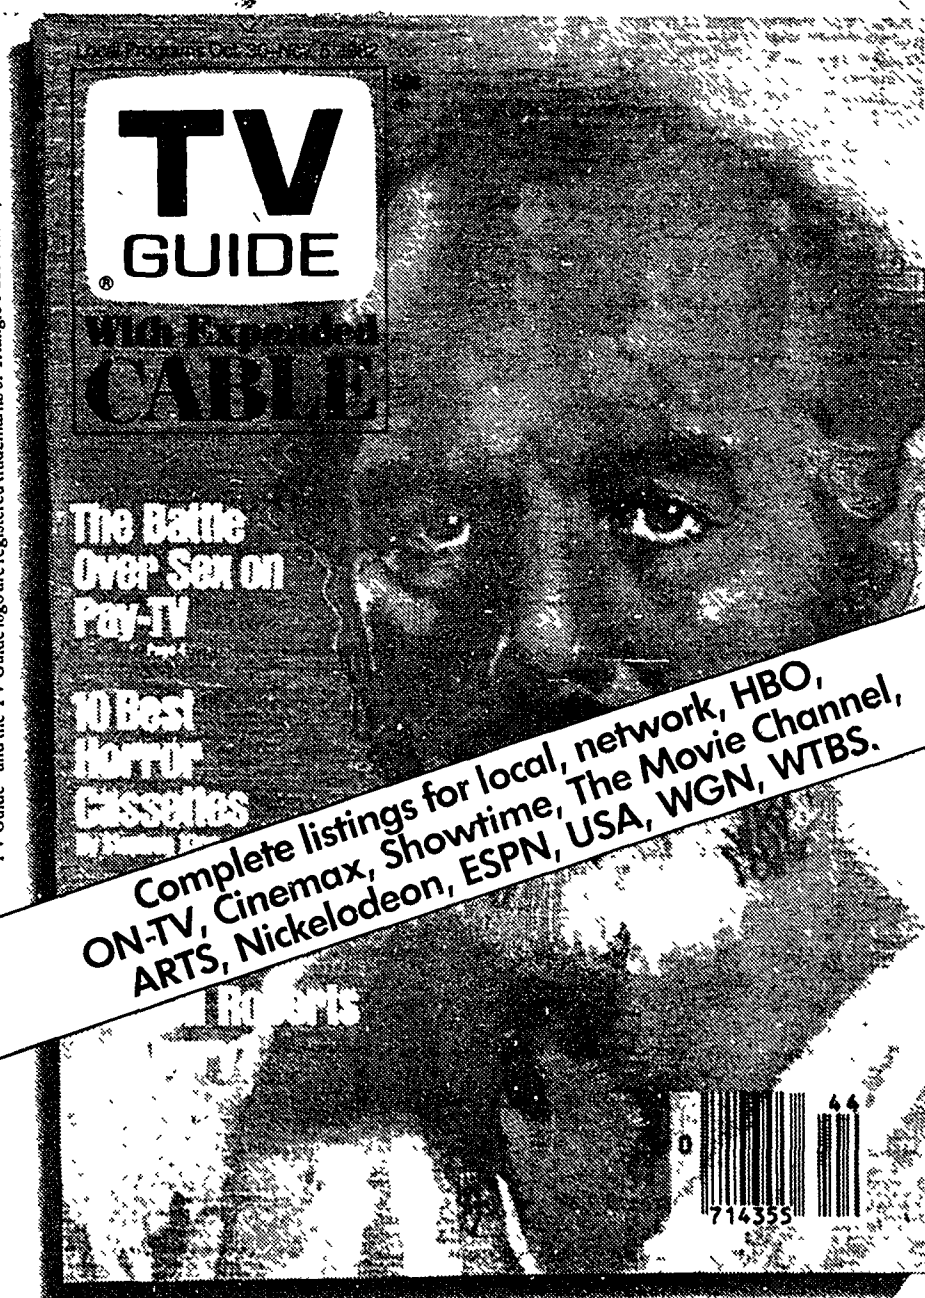

For 14 years, Carl Pursell has represented his home area of Plymouth/Livonia/Northville. As County Commissioner. As State Senator. And for the past 6 years as our Congressman. And while most Congressmen move their homes and families to Washington, D.C., Carl has remained here in Western Wayne County. He still returns home every week, to work directly with the people who chose him to be their representative. No "Potomac Fever" for our Congressman! In Congress, he voted to reduce your taxes. As a member of the Appropriations Committee, he's on the front lines of the effort to balance the budget. As a key spokesman for Michigan and the Midwest, his participation in policy discussions is often sought by the President and other congressional leaders. Yet Carl is one Congressman who remembers his first priority is to work for the people here at home. Carl Pursell has never lost touch with the people of Western Wayne County. He never will.

'Same Time, Next Year' presented November 5

Bernard Slade's romantic comedy "Same Time, Next Year," will be performed by the national touring company Alpha-Omega Players November 5 at the Livonia-West Holiday Inn.

Sponsored by the Schoolcraft College Student Activities Office, the play will be presented as a dinner theater. Dinner is at 7 p.m. and curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Tickets at $15 are available in advance only at the Schoolcraft College Activities Office.

Bernard Slade made his Broadway playwriting debut with "Same Time, Next Year." As an actor he began in his native Canada. In 1957, he tried his hand at playwriting for the first time and sold one of his works to the United States Steel Hour on TV.

Slade continued to write 20 more plays, some done on the three major American networks, others on Canadian TV, and had two plays produced in Canada, "Simon Gets Married" and "A Very Close Family."

After moving his family to Los Angeles, Slade went to work as a story editor on the TV series "Bewitched." He was then signed to a very profitable contract to create pilots of television series for Screen Gems and was responsible for initiating "The Partridge Family" and "The Flying Nun." Slade's credits also include a feature film, "Stand Up and Be Counted."

In 1974, Slade took a breather from television and began writing a play about lovers. The result was "Same Time, Next Year," which within six months of its completion had a producer, a director and a cast. On March 13, 1975, "Same Time, Next Year" opened on Broadway.

Slade's second Broadway entry was "Tribute," starring Jack Lemmon which ran for six months in 1978. Slade also wrote the screenplay for "Tribute" that starred Lemmon, Lee Remick and Colleen Dewhurst.

"Same Time, Next Year" was an immediate success in New York when it opened in March, 1975.

A year after one touring version of the play broke all house records at a Hollywood playhouse, another production was mounted with Carol Burnett and Dick Van Dyke — again breaking all previous receipt and attendance records.

After these two stars finished their limited one-month engagement, they were replaced by Diahann Carroll and Cleavon Little who continued in the play for four months. The film rights to the play were sold for $1 million plus a percentage. The movie was released in 1978 starring Ellen Burstyn and Alan Alda.

For further information about the Alpha-Omega Players production, call 591-6400, extension 380.
