Law sweeps 36th State House race

By KEVIN WILSON

Organization and a high voter-turnout carried Republican Gerald Law to a sweeping 60-40 victory over Democrat William Joyner in the 36th District State House election, putting the lie to predictions of a close contest.

Unofficial district totals showed Law with 15,144 votes to Joyner's 10,913 while Libertarian Keith Bilby gathered the support of 309 electors.

"I was simply blown out," Joyner acknowledged in a post-election interview. "It wasn't even close."

Law carried majorities in all five communities in the district — Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and most of Canton Township. The GOP candidate, a Plymouth Township trustee, ran strongest in Plymouth Township and both Northvilles. He eked out small margins in the city of Plymouth and Canton Township, where county commissioner Joyner was expected to do well.

"I'm really happy I did well in all the communities," Law said election night. He claimed victory on the basis of a grass-roots campaign, relying heavily on telephone canvasses and door-to-door campaigning.

Repeated Joyner references to a nearly unbeatable Republican "machine" in the district led to a Law rejoinder that his campaign staff was made up of "friends, neighbors and relatives."

Among the relatives is brother Robert Law, former state representative from Livonia, now an executive assistant to Governor William Milliken. Friends included many officials in local governments. Law also relied heavily on the support of subdivision homeowners associations in the townships, and said he expects to maintain those contacts after he goes to Lansing.

Law carried the expected heavy margins in staunchly Republican Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township, and virtually split the vote with Joyner in the city of Plymouth and Canton Township.

He spent much of the last month campaigning in Canton, expected to be Joyner's strong spot. The strategy worked, as Law took majorities in eight of the 14 Canton precincts in the district, plus the absentee count there,

Township vote favors Republican ticket

By KEVIN WILSON

Township electors held true to their traditional Republican voting patterns in last week's general elections — a tactic that proved successful on the local level but put them on the losing side statewide.

Interest in the election was demonstrated by the turnout of 5,152 electors, almost exactly 60 percent of the 8,532 registered in the township.

Voters gave local majorities to Democrats in only two races — for secretary of state and Wayne County executive, agreeing with the total count that showed Richard Austin and William Lucas with substantial margins of victory. Republican Richard Headlee was the local favorite for governor, and the GOP's Phil Ruppe was favored in the U.S. Senate race — both lost statewide.

Headlee was favored by 2,706 township voters, winning over Democrat James Blanchard by 1,648, and 83 chose independent Robert Tisch in the governor's race. Ruppe took 2,824 votes to victorious incumbent Donald Riegle's 1,838.

Congressman Carl Pursell and State Senator R. Robert Geake were leading vote-getters in the township, a pattern that carried throughout their districts and carried both to landslide victories over Democratic opponents.

Pursell garnered 3,704 votes to only 718 for Ann Arbor Democrat George Wahr Sallade, whom he beat district-wide 2-1 (106,379 to 52,427). Locally, Pursell had the highest vote total of all candidates on the township ballot, followed closely by Geake's 3,676 over Democrat Noel Culbert's 953.

Geake had a smaller margin in the full 6th Senate District count, defeating Canton's Culbert 54,616 to 30,236.

The township was also a stronghold for victorious Republican Gerald H. Law in the 36th State House race. Law took majorities in all five communities in the district and a 3-2 margin overall. Township voters chose Law 2-1 (see related story, page one).

In most races electors favored one candidate over the other by substantial margins with one exception being the race for Wayne County executive. William Lucas edged nominal Republican Robert FitzPatrick 2,475 votes to 2,000 on his way to a sweeping win county-wide.

FitzPatrick, a long-time Democrat running as a Republican, was given virtually no chance of victory in the election. If he were to carry the day in any area, however, most observers ex-

Governor tally low, proposals high

By KEVIN WILSON

There were some unusual voting patterns seen locally in the gubernatorial race won by Democrat James Blanchard. While township vote totals favored Republican Richard Headlee 3-2, there were several precincts in which only 75 percent or fewer of the total votes were cast in the governor's race.

In precinct nine, for instance, only 69 percent of the total number going to the polls cast votes in the gubernatorial race. Of the 5,152 total votes, only 4,437

(86 percent) were cast for Headlee, Blanchard or Robert Tisch.

"That's definitely out of the ordinary," Clerk Susan Heintz said. "Usually it's a top heavy ballot, and the total vote falls off as you go down the list."

More total votes were cast in the U.S. Senate, secretary of state, attorney general, state senate, state house and county executive races than in the gubernatorial contest.

Heintz speculated some moderate Republicans were put off by Headlee's stands on social issues but could not support Blanchard's Democratic program, so opted not to vote for governor.

Another oddity Heintz noted was the high proportion of votes cast on the seven ballot proposals. "They were fairly complex issues, and people often decide not to vote on them or to just vote 'no,'" Heintz explained. "But people seemed to really have definite opinions on these ones."

On the proposals township voters differed from those statewide only on Proposal C, banning enforcement of "due on sale" clauses in mortgages, which they favored by a small margin (2,398 to 2,347). Statewide, Proposal C was narrowly defeated.

Proposal A, allowing restriction of legislative immunity, received 3,451 'yes' votes and only 1,544 'no' in the township on its way to statewide approval. Proposal B, an amendment to the constitution to insure minimum state police staffing, was voted down 3,713 to 1,263 and lost statewide as well.

Township voters favored Proposal D 2,670 to 2,288: roughly the same proportion it passed by statewide. It will likely not take effect because proposal H was passed by a wider margin, just as it did locally. It received 2,976 'yes' to 1,853 'no' votes here.

The nuclear freeze issue, Proposal E, was approved with broad support statewide and township voters were no exception, favoring the advisory measure 2,858 to 1,995.

Establishment of an elected Public Service Commission was soundly thrashed 2,970 to 1,807 here and by a similar margin statewide.

Soccer shopper

After scrounging the Cooke Junior High gym, Evan Edwards, 1½, finally convinced his mom to buy him some soccer shoes at the Northville Mothers' Club Ski and Skate Swap last Saturday. In addition to winter sports equipment, shoppers also found terrific bargains on hockey, soccer and baseball paraphernalia. Though Evan probably won't fit into his new shoes for a few years to come, the purchase at least kept him occupied while mom did some shopping. For another Steve Fecht photo, see Page 2-A.

City election turnout 69 percent

By JEAN DAY

City residents in both Wayne and Oakland counties kept election workers busy at their respective polling places last Tuesday as sixty-nine percent of the city's 3630 registered voters pulled levers.

As is usual in the traditionally Republican community, the votes here were strongly for Richard Headlee-R for governor over James Blanchard-D, the statewide winner, 1488 to 877.

It was apparent that many voters split their ticket, however, choosing Richard Austin-D for secretary of state over Elizabeth Andrus-R, as did voters statewide, by 1312 to 988.

The vote for U.S. Senator was similar to the governor's race with Philip Ruppe-R winning locally, but not statewide, over Donald Riegle-D by 1397 to 994.

For attorney general, the vote was 1466 for L. Brooks Patterson-R to 913 for Frank J. Kelley-D who won statewide.

City voters in Wayne County voted in Carl Pursell-R almost four-to-one over George Wahr Sallade-D, 792 to 244, in the Second Congressional District, as did voters district-wide. They also gave 20 votes to Barbara McKenna, Libertarian candidate.

City voters in Oakland County voted for William S. Broomfield-R, winner in the 18th Congressional District race, over Allen J. Sipher-D, 918 to 252, and gave 10 votes to Joseph Cote, Libertarian.

Northville resident R. Robert Geake-R won locally as well as district-wide for state senator in the Sixth District (Wayne county voters) over Noel Culbert-D, 843 to 232, with Libertarian John Cruz taking 14 votes.

Oakland County city voters chose John Anderson-R over Jack Faxon for state senator in the 15th District, 802 to 357 with Libertarian Gordon Beerbower receiving 10 votes. Faxon was the district-wide winner, however.

In the strongly contested race for state representative in the 36th District (Wayne County) Gerald Law-R won locally as well as district-wide over William Joyner-D, 621 to 378, with Libertarian Keith Bilby taking 26 votes.

Schools report drop in average class size

Average class sizes in Northville Public Schools' regular K-12 program have dropped slightly for the 1982-83 school year, according to figures released by assistant superintendent Burton Knighton.

In a report presented to the board of education Monday night, Knighton noted that this year's class sizes at the kindergarten, elementary and senior high levels have declined in comparison to the 1981-82 school year. The only increase in class sizes was noted at the junior high level.

According to the report presented by Knighton, average class size at the kindergarten level is 21.2 students in comparison to last year's 22.8. At the elementary level, a slight drop to 27.1 students was reported this year in comparison to last year's 27.4.

A slight decline from 28.4 to 28.2 students was cited at the high school. At the junior high level, average class size increased from 26.7 students last year to 27.1 students this year.

Decline in student enrollment coupled with some reduction in teaching staff has contributed in part to the change in class sizes for the 1982-83 school year.

Knighton told board members that this year's student enrollment has declined by 117 students over last year, according to the unaudited Fourth Friday student count. Knighton also noted there has been a decline of 4.3 classroom teachers this year.

The largest decline in student enrollment occurred at the elementary and junior high level. Kindergarten and senior high enrollment is up slightly over last year.

Reductions in this year's teaching staff were made at the elementary and junior high level. However, this year the addition of an elementary instrumental music teacher and a secondary reading consultant has increased the size of the K-12 support staff.

The addition of a part-time career and job placement supervisor at the high school has slightly increased staff size at NHS.

The greatest staff decline in the district has occurred in the Institution Special Education Program with 22 fewer teachers and support staff members returning to classrooms this year.

The decline mostly is due to the drop in the ISEP student enrollment coupled with reductions in state funding.

Anticipating 300 students, Knighton said this year's ISEP enrollment fell approximately 25 students short of the district's earlier projections. However, he noted that the district is anticipating more students in the next few weeks and most likely enrollment will be back up to its anticipated count.

Selecting skis

Northville Mothers' Club annual Ski and Skate Swap last Saturday offered members of the Wobermin family an opportunity to check out some new skis. Bob Wobermin, at left, adjusts the bindings on skis for daughters Traci and Kim. The popular Mothers' Club sale offers terrific bargains on all kinds of sports equipment. The Mothers' Club receives 15 percent commission from the sale which goes towards projects in the schools.

Novi Ambulance takes case to township trustee board

Novi Ambulance proprietor John Early will carry his effort to have Northville continue receiving service from his firm to the township board of trustees Thursday night.

Early already appeared before city council urging execution of a five-year renewal option in the contract between Novi Ambulance and the city and township jointly.

Both communities have agreed to accept bids for the service jointly rather than renewing the option. Novi Ambulance is to be among the firms invited to submit bids for the contract.

Early submitted a letter to township supervisor John MacDonald, requesting the opportunity to appear before the board to express his company's concern about articles in this paper citing complaints against the operation and the township board's decision not to renew the option.

"As of this date (October 21) we have not been informed other than through newspapers that our option to renew would be declined," he wrote. The letter stated that the company would like to "give facts relevant to both sides of any complaints that have been received, and to answer any questions..."

Early also proposed that he submit materials relevant to the Advanced Life Support systems his firm operates in the area. Most recent complaints about the firm have centered on the charges for this service.

Registration slated at St. John's.

Canton voting influences house and senate outcomes

By KEVIN WILSON

Unofficial election returns already are being analyzed by local politicians and observers seeking the answer to the most frequently-asked question of the 1982 campaign here — what role will Canton Township play in the selection of state representatives and senators over the next decade?

Reapportionment placed most of Canton in the 36th state representative district with Northville and Plymouth. Previously, Northville shared a representative with Livonia while Plymouth and Canton were in a southern district.

Similarly, the new 6th Senate District parallels the old 14th except that Canton is included while some of the eastern portions of the district are dropped. Livonia is still in the 6th Senate District.

Given Canton's large population and its "independent" voting pattern, campaigners in both districts cited it as a potentially heavy influence on election outcomes. Prior to 1980, Canton leaned toward Democrats but never demonstrated the partisan loyalty of Republican Northville, for instance.

In what some believed was a fluke result attributable to a strong Reagan vote, Canton in 1980 heavily favored the GOP.

At first glance, it appears "The Canton Factor," as it came to be known in the months before last week's election, worked to the benefit of Republican candidates this year, despite an overall inclination toward Democrats there.

Given the strong GOP backing of Plymouth, Northville and, to a lesser extent, Livonia, Republican House and Senate candidates needed only to split Canton's independent voters to win in the new 6th Senate and 36th State House districts and that they did.

Cantonites supported such Democratic stalwarts as Congressman ballot — the community also gave Republican Gerald Law a slim victory in the 36th State House race.

They also opted for the new (to them)

News Analysis

Bill Ford and county executive-elect William Lucas, but favored Richard Headlee for governor 5-4 and gave U.S. Senator Donald Riegle the lowest vote total of the Democrats they favored. Republican Senate candidate Phil Ruppe was the top GOP vote-gatherer in Canton.

Despite some voter "fall-off" — a tendency to have fewer voters participating as they proceed down the name of State Senator R. Robert Geake often enough that Democrat Noel Culbert, once Canton's own supervisor, could not even stay close to Geake district-wide. Geake, like Law, took a slim victory over the Democratic opposition in Canton. The senate district includes all of Canton.

That streak of independence, however, combined with the large population of Canton, forces candidates for office to pay a great deal of attention to the charter township.

Although only 14 of Canton's 22 precincts are in the 36th House district, that community cast 8,600 votes in the race — more than the city of Plymouth (3,664) and Northville Township (4,415) combined (totals exclude third-party candidates). Plymouth Township, which lies completely within the district, was a few votes shy of 8,500 in the contest. The city of Northville, split at the county line, cast 999 votes in the Joyner-Law contest.

While Law campaigned district-wide, a large portion of his time was spent in the southern end of the district eroding what Democrat William Joyner expected to be strong Canton support.

Law could count on the Republican leanings of Northville and Plymouth Township, despite an intense effort by Joyner in this area. The difference was that Joyner had a tougher job convincing GOP-believers to back a Democrat than Law did convincing the ticket-splitters of Canton to opt for the Republican.

Joyner said he believes Canton will grow more and more Republican as a result of this election.

"I think they're firmly in the Republican camp now," he said. "They have a Republican senator and a Republican representative and the township board there is split 4-3 in favor of the GOP."

That perception is not yet borne out by the choices of the Canton electorate. Of 18 partisan elections, the township favored 10 Democrats and eight Republicans. Where Republican candidates got Canton's nod, it was only by narrow margins while Democratic vic-garnering 4,468 votes to Joyner's 4,072. "We worked really hard down there," Law said of the Canton vote.

Law's strength in the absentee count was consistent district-wide. Winning the absentee vote is generally considered indicative of better political organization, and Law said his campaign paid a lot of attention to absentee voters.

Law also denied Joyner the votes the Democrat hoped for in Plymouth, where the GOP candidate won 1,913 votes to 1,751.

"He (Joyner) really had to win Canton and do really well in Plymouth to have a shot," Law said Monday.

The real margin of victory came in the other three communities, where Law outpolled Joyner widely. In Plymouth Township, home to both, the Republican vote was 5,212 to Joyner's 3,224. Law swept every precinct there. The City of Northville, with only the Wayne County precinct included in the district, handed Law a 621-378 margin.

Northville Township was proportionately Law's strongest supporter at nearly 2-1 but also included one precinct that favored Joyner and another that split nearly 50-50.

Wide margins in the rest of the township gave Law a 2,930 to 1,488 margin, despite a Joyner majority in Precinct 7 (the Park Gardens area, where his township campaign coordinator lives) of 229-204 and a near-even split in Precinct 5 (King's Mill) where Law led by only six votes, 192-186.

Joyner said he was "surprised and happy" with the unexpected strength in those two township precincts. In a reverse on Law's Canton strategy, Joyner had devoted a lot of time trying to gather votes in his opponent's stronghold of Northville — it did not pay off nearly as well. Joyner noted he had no support from his party in this race and is left with a $9,000 campaign debt he hopes to erase with a December fundraiser.

Law, on the other hand, had full support of his party and the local membership. Tapped by the Republican district leadership before the reapportioned district lines were firm (although all indicators pointed to the present boundaries), he put away challenger Gary Wolfram, a political newcomer, rather handily in the August primary and set his sights on Lansing.

Law will take a leave of absence from his job as an analyst with Ford Credit when he begins his term in January. He noted during the campaign that the job as a legislator represents a salary reduction.

GOP flavor to city results

In the 60th District (Oakland County) state representative race city residents voted for the district winner Willis Bullard-R over Robert McCall-D, 822 to 296. Libertarian Roderick Schneider took 13 votes.

City voters in Wayne County went to city hall to split their vote again in the county executive race, giving William Lucas-D 614 votes to 457 for Robert Fitz-Patrick who was running as a Republican. Their vote agreed with the county-wide total. Libertarian John F. McEwan took 13 votes.

City voters in Wayne County went Republican, however, in the 10th county commission race, giving Mary Dumas 708 votes to 299 for William Ryan-D. Elected district-wide, Dumas will be the only Republican on the county commission. Libertarian Charles M. Jensen received 17 votes.

City voters in Oakland County chose John Calandro-R for 24th District Oakland County Commissioner by 818 over 299 for Celeste Miller-D. Calandro was the district winner.

District Court Judge James Garber, unopposed, received 527 votes from Wayne County precinct voters and 610 from Oakland County precinct voters.

By precinct in the state races, here's how city residents voted:

Precinct One, Wayne County (voting at city hall) — Governor, Headlee 663, Blanchard 440, James Phillips 2, Dick Jacobs 15, Tim Craine 1, Martin McLaughlin 0, Robert Tisch 18.

Secretary of State, Austin 639, Andrus 438, John Wagner 4, Brian Wright 10.

Attorney General, Kelley 469, Patterson 642 Robert Roddis 8.

U.S. Senator, Riegle 517, Ruppe 607, Daniel Eller 1, Bette Erwin 13, Steve Beumer 1, Helen Halyard 1.

Precinct Two, Oakland (voting at Amerman Elementary) —

Governor, Headlee 825, Blanchard 437, Phillips 5, Jacobs 13, Craine 1, McLaughlin 1, Tisch 33.

Secretary of State, Austin 673, Andrus 550, Wagner 5, Wright 12.

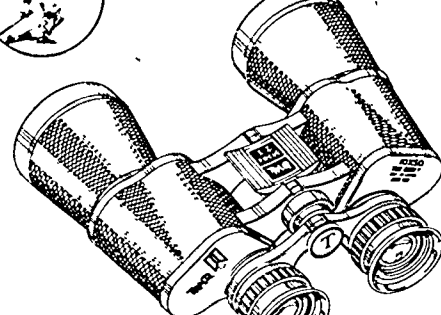

Attorney General Kelley 444, Patterson 824, Roddis 8.

Obituaries

ANTHONY BENDER

Northville Valve Plant retiree Anthony Bender, a Northville resident nearly 70 years, died at his Valencia Street home November 5 at age 86.

Mr. Bender was a Ford employee for 47 years, and a foreman at the Northville plant for 30 years. He lived in Northville continuously since 1913. He leaves his wife Jennie M. Bender, whom he wed January 18, 1914. Also surviving are sons Edward J. and Anthony, 11 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Mr. Bender was preceded in death by a daughter.

A member of Our Lady of Victory church and the Father Renaud Council, Knights of Columbus, Mr. Bender was born May 30, 1896, in Poland to Joachim Szweluck and Maria Bender. He leaves one brother in the U.S. and two sisters in Poland.

Visitation and a rosary Mass were at Casterline Funeral Home. Funeral services were at 10 a.m. Monday at Our Lady of Victory Church, with Father John O'Callaghan presiding. Entombment followed at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

ARILD C. LIE

Arild C. Lie, a processing engineer with General Motors' Hydromatic Division and a resident of the township for more than a decade, died November 2 at St. Joseph Hospital, Ann Arbor, at age 54.

Mr. Lie was born in Scotland January 12, 1928, to Arild C. and Margaret (Smith) Lie. He lived at 42270 Ludlow, Northville Township for approximately 11 years. He leaves his wife Kathleen, and daughters Brenda Lie, Barbara Pancoast of Westland, and Christine Nolte of Novi.

Funeral services were at 1 p.m. November 5 at Casterline Funeral Home, the Reverend Guenther Branstner of First United Methodist Church officiating. Burial followed the Friday services at Evergreen Cemetery, Detroit.

MELVIN W. RAMSEY

Burroughs retiree Melvin W. Ramsey, a resident of the Plymouth-Northville area since 1970, died October 31 at his Jamestown Circle home at age 66.

Mr. Ramsey worked for Burroughs 31 years, at the Plymouth plant since 1960. He retired in 1977.

He leaves his wife, Donna, stepson Jarod Thompson of Northville and daughter Mrs. Nancy (Donald) Hobley of Glen Arm, Maryland. He also leaves two grandchildren, Donald, Jr. and Christine Hobley.

Born September 9, 1916, in Georgetown Illinois, Mr. Ramsey moved to Plymouth in 1970 and to Northville in 1978. He was a member of First Baptist Church of Detroit, Plymouth Rock Lodge No. 47 F&AM; UAW local 1440; Chapter 115 O.E.S.; Scottish Rite; Pilgrim Shrine No. 55; White Shrine of Jerusalem; and Detroit Moslem Shrine.

Services were November 4 at First Baptist of Detroit, the Reverend Paul Aiello officiating. Funeral arrangements were by Schrader Funeral Home, Plymouth. Burial was at Acacia Park Cemetery, Birmingham.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society or Hospice Support Services, P.O. Box 383 Garden City, Michigan.

HERMAN W. SOMERSHORE

Retired businessman Herman W. Somershoe died at age 69 November 2 after a 15-month illness. Mr. Somershoe was vice president of sales for D.A.P. Inc. Building Supplies of Dayton, Ohio.

Born June 20, 1913, in Pennsylvania to William and Minerva (Wagner) Somershoe, he and his wife Beatrice, who survives Mr. Somershoe, were wed August 9, 1941.

He moved to 107 Haggerty Road, Plymouth, in 1981 and died at Hendry Convalescent Home there.

Survivors include son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Alan (Judith) H. Somershoe of Northville, two grandchildren, brothers George and William and sister Kathryn Parkinson.

Visitation was at Casterline Funeral Home. Funeral services were at 11 a.m. Saturday at First Presbyterian Church of Northville, the Reverend John Mishler officiating. Burial followed at Evergreen Cemetery, Detroit.

M. AGNES HEWITT

Homemaker M. Agnes Hewitt, a four-year resident of Northville and member of Our Lady of Victory Church, died November 3 at age 90. Death came at Dorvin Convalescent Center in Livonia following a three-month illness.

Mrs. Hewitt, whose husband John died in 1960, leaves daughter M. Agnes Beh of Northville, son John of Palos Verde, California, 10 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Born September 16, 1892, in Pennsylvania to Wenzeslaus and Winencya Siorski, Mrs. Hewitt lived at 401 High Street. She was memorialized at a wake service and visitation at Casterline Funeral Home.

Funeral services were at Our Lady of Victory at 10 a.m. Friday, Father Ron Thurner officiating. Burial was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Andy Walter, foreground, prepares for "Key Exchange" opening

'Key Exchange'

New York play opens here

By MICHELE McELMURRY

When Andy Walter left his Northville farm four years ago to study acting at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, his hometown most likely seemed the last place to debut as producer for a New York-based play.

However, the 1971 Northville High School graduate and former softball coach arrived in town Sunday to begin preparations for the opening of "Key Exchange," an off-Broadway play written by Kevin Wade.

The play, which received considerable acclaim during its successful New York run, will open this Thursday at the Northville Community Building. Subsequent performances are scheduled Friday through Sunday and November 18-21.

Walter describes "Key Exchange" as a story about "relationships and commitments." Set in New York's Central Park, the story focuses on the relationship between three bicycle enthusiasts — two men and a woman — who meet in the park over eight consecutive weekends. During that time the problems of their personal relationships are revealed and ultimately resolved.

"It's contemporary," Walter says of the play. "It's very 80sish. I didn't want to do anything too stylish my first time out."

In addition to producing the play, Walter also portrays one of the three central characters. The other two actors playing major roles also happen to be former Michigan residents. Actress Candelora Versace is a Michigan State University graduate from Bloomfield Hills and Keith Kallen of Hamtramck spent two years in theatre training at Wayne State University.

"I produced the play solely to bring it to Northville," Walter explains.

"I've always liked Northville and having grown up here I know a lot of people." Walter says "Key Exchange" will offer residents a rare opportunity to see an off-Broadway production performed by New York-based talent. In addition to Kallen and Versace, both former students at the American Academy, the play is being directed by New Yorker Ronald Marquette. New York actor and set designer, Wayne McDonald, is Production Stage Manager.

The Northville production will be the first seen outside of New York and is being billed as a regional premiere. The three-character comedy also is the subject of an upcoming film.

Walter explains the play was rehearsed in New York in association with Apple Core Productions. Since the movie rights were sold, he says, productions now are prohibited in the major markets such as New York, Los Angeles and Chicago.

In bringing the play to the Community building, Walter says he hopes to attract enough theatergoers to eventually continue using the facility for other events.

"New York is filled with incredible talent," he explains. "Many of these people are looking for work and would love an opportunity to come here."

Walter says the Community Building offers the perfect stage for his production and mentions that all his technical work as well as carpentry and electrical details are being completed by Northville residents.

"I even have students from the high school's drama club working as ushers," he adds. Walter conducted a seminar yesterday for Northville High School drama students.

Since his graduation from the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in February, 1981, Walter has performed in several off-Broadway productions as well as children's theatre.

Currently residing in Queens, New York, Walter says he has since recovered from the culture shock of moving from suburban Northville to the big city. "The culture (in New York) is unbelievable," he observed. "It really overwhelms you..."

While he says he relishes in the "unlimited experience available" to actors in New York, he notes that finding acting jobs often is close to impossible.

"A lot of people quit," he explains. "When I entered the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, there were 800 people in my class," he says. "I graduated with 34 people."

Depending on the success of "Key Exchange," Walter says he would like to continue to bring "top notch" talent to Northville in the years to come.

He notes that next summer he would like to "put together a company to tour the Midwest and East Coast."

A mailing list will be available at performances of "Key Exchange" for residents who wish to suggest future production ideas.

All performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Community Building. Tickets are $5.50 at the door and $5 in advance. Group discount rates also are available.

For further information, call the Northville Community Building at 349-0203.

Community band begins new season

Northville Community Band, composed of students and adults from Northville and surrounding communities, has entered its fourth season.

Under the direction of local merchant Janice Stevenson, the band provides students an opportunity to further their musical experience beyond the school setting and allows adults to practice instruments that might otherwise go unused.

Northville Community Band will perform in several concerts throughout December.

Performances are scheduled at Our Lady of Providence, the Felician Sisters Motherhouse in Livonia and Beverly Manor in Novi.

Also scheduled is a 6:30 p.m. concert December 15 at Twelve Oaks Mall and a 7:30 p.m. concert December 21 at Northville Plaza Mall.

Northville Community Band welcomes new instrumentalists to its ranks. Rehearsals are from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in the Cooke Junior High band room. For more information, call Jane Francoeur at 349-8242.

'Canton Factor' affects house, senate elections

tots got strong support.

Joyner said he was misled by earlier polling that indicated governor-elect James Blanchard and Riegle would do well in Canton. Expecting Canton's strong 1980 GOP vote was an aberration about to be reversed, he anticipated a strong victory in Canton.

It did not work out that way — instead of getting a ride on Blanchard's or Riegle's coattails, Joyner received fewer votes than either of them while both were losing.

As an indicator of Democratic vs. Republican strength in Canton, however, the Law-Joyner race is probably not reliable. While Law had the full support of his party, Joyner's campaign was only nominally Democratic. He actually campaigned more as an independent — what he called "a new breed of legislator."

He lost the UAW endorsement to Law, rarely if ever made reference to his party affiliation in his campaign literature, and was denied the active Culbert was the Democratic Supervisor of the township, deposed by the GOP sweep in 1980.

If Canton was to swing back to the Democratic side, it was supposed Culbert would be the beneficiary. Voter familiarity with his name was working in his favor, even without his party's expected comeback.

Even Gerald Law said he believed the Canton electorate "votes for who they know."

Unfortunately for those looking for an indicator of Canton's impact on the district, in the final analysis the 6th Senate contest is also unreliable.

By all accounts, Culbert's campaign was not well-organized, was poorly-funded and not conducted seriously.

By comparison Geake, a legislator for more than a decade and veteran campaigner worked the Canton region seriously, walking door-to-door with Law, and employing a large campaign treasure chest to canvass the township thoroughly.

In the Republican portions of the district, Geake also got a fast ride with Congressman Carl Pursell, whose enormous vote totals seemed to carry well into the state senate race — immediately below Pursell's on the ballot.

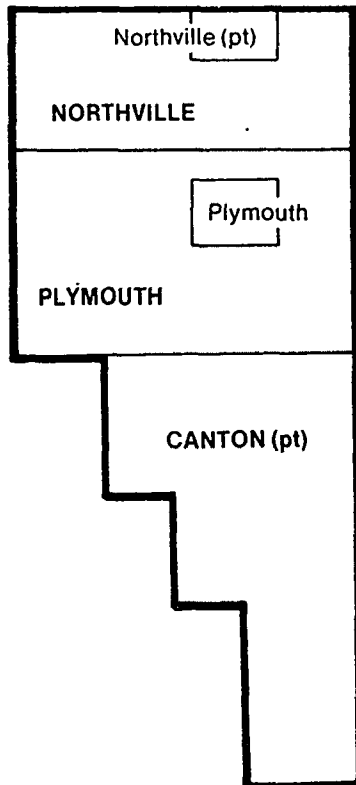

Ford was less of a benefit to Culbert. Ford's margin in Canton was smaller than Pursell's in the northern part of the district and Canton's ticket-splitters were easily willing to change parties mid-stream. In fact, a look at the top end of the ballot shows they had already switched back and forth a couple of times before they got to the Geake-Culbert choice.

What was demonstrated in Canton is that organized Republican campaigns can fight an overall Democratic inclination to a standoff, and that is good enough to win district-wide.

It was also seen that Canton's population, while significant, will not be enough to decide an election all alone. For instance, had Joyner received the kind of support a Geake does in Northville (highly unlikely from Canton voters), Canton would have given him a total of 6,000 votes to about 2,600 for Law.

Adding the 3,400 margin to the actual totals still leaves Law a slim victory. If Democrats are to have a shot at the 36th House and 6th Senate seats they will have to make better showings in Northville and Plymouth than did Joyner or Culbert, regardless of the Canton count.

Or, and this is a real possibility due to the outcome of last week's elections, they will have to redraw the district boundaries a little. The apportionment plan adopted in the courts just in time for this year's election will likely be altered by the (Democratic) legislature and governor before the next election. Republican failure to gain a Senate majority (they fell short by two seats) could end up costing the party more seats next time around.

support of his party. Advertisements pushing the Democratic ticket in the southern reaches of the district included statewide candidates and state senate candidate Noel Culbert, but made no reference to Joyner.

The Geake-Culbert outcome was as much a surprise to some observers as was the Joyner-Law result in Canton. Geake was relatively unknown in Canton at the beginning of the campaign;

City matches state vote

City residents going to the polls last Tuesday agreed with voters statewide on the ballot proposals in most instances.

Proposal A — permitting the Legislature to limit legislative immunity, YES 1603, NO 720.

Proposal B — constitutional amendment requiring minimum staffing for State Police, YES 542, NO 1779.

Proposal C — to prohibit due-on-sale mortgages, YES 1163, NO 1095.

Proposal D — banning automatic rate increases to cover a utility's increased costs, YES 1197, NO 1145.

Proposal E — state to petition federal government for a nuclear freeze, YES 1335, NO 976.

Proposal G — to elect public service commission members, YES 790, NO 1492.

Proposal H — abolishing automatic utility increase clauses, YES 1329, NO 962.

Heavy turnout favors GOP

pected it would be in the Northville-Plymouth portion of the county.

The other deviation from straight GOP support by township electors was a 2,875 to 1,738 edge given Democratic incumbent, Richard Austin over railroad executive Elizabeth Andrus in the secretary of state contest.

Although they rejected Headlee's chosen secretary of state candidate, township voters supported GOP attorney general contestant L. Brooks Patterson. The Oakland County prosecutor, who received substantial support here during the August gubernatorial primary, took 2,779 township votes to incumbent Kelley's 1,869.

The Republican leanings of northwest Wayne County will be expressed in that government, as township voters opted to return Mary Dumas to the county board of commissioners. Dumas's 10th District victory, including Livonia and Plymouth, makes her the only Republican on the newly restructured 15-member board. Of the 14 Democrats, no less than seven are new to the board.

Livonian Dumas received 3,076 votes here (third to Pursell and Geake) over Democrat William Ryan's 1,163 tally. District totals gave Dumas the nod, 32,398 to 17,993. All vote totals in this story are unofficial, pending conclusion of county and state canvassers' reports.

Veterans can seek review of discharge at Red Cross

Veterans with less than honorable discharges may have their cases reviewed in Detroit through November 19 by the Army Discharge Review Board. The board, stationed permanently at the Pentagon, is visiting the American Red Cross Southeastern Michigan Region chapter at 100 Mack Avenue, Detroit.

The six member traveling panel will review 71 less than honorable discharge cases within a 300 mile radius of Detroit. Years ago, many veterans received less than honorable discharges on grounds that have since been re-evaluated.

If a veteran's discharge is upgraded to honorable status he or she could become eligible for V.A. benefits previously denied. With assistance from the chapter, 1,209 veterans and their beneficiaries received a total of $4.5 million in benefits in 1981.

The Red Cross and other veterans service organizations will assist the veteran in preparing his case for review. They will also act as counsel for the veteran during the hearing process.

Anyone who has received less than honorable discharge from any branch of the service is entitled to a review. Application can be made by contacting the Red Cross or other veterans service organization.

Council names three to boards, commissions

Appointments to the recreation commission and zoning board of appeals were confirmed unanimously by Northville City Council at its November 1 meeting. Eugene Kunz was appointed to fill the unexpired term on the zoning board of appeals of Mary Conley who resigned.

Connie Cronin was named an alternate, replacing Joseph O'Doherty who took William Bingley's place as a member of board.

Douglas Drapal was appointed to complete the term of Bingley on the recreation commission. Bingley had resigned from both posts.

Both Bingley and Conley submitted their resignations earlier due to moves from the community.

Senior citizens dine on turkey

Annual turkey potluck for Northville Senior Citizens' Club will find members bringing a vegetable, salad, breads or dessert dish as they arrive at 6 p.m. Tuesday at First Presbyterian Church.

The turkey main course with potatoes and dressing will be provided.

Piano pupils of Bonnie McIntosh will present a recital program.

Club members recently voted to raise dues effective January 1, 1983, because of increased club activities.

A Christmas trip to Meadow Brook Hall has been scheduled by trip chairman Marie Knapp. The outing will include lunch at a restaurant near Pine Knob. Deadline for reservations is November 26. They may be made by calling 349-2230.

Lapham's has three winners

More than $800 worth of merchandise has been awarded during the first three days of a special 10-day "Wheel of Fortune" sale at Lapham's Men's Shop in downtown Northville, reported Scott Lapham Monday.

He noted there has been a winner each day since the promotion began Thursday.

Purchasers are entitled to a spin of the Wheel of Fortune, gaining discounts ranging from five to 100 percent on new holiday merchandise.

First winner at $405 was Norb Schifko who was spinning for his brother in Pennsylvania. He was followed by Bob Borg of Northville, a $245 winner, and by Ken Casey of Westland, a $235 winner.

Symphony concert upcoming

Saxophone soloist Donald Sinta will perform with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra at 4 p.m. November 21 in the Plymouth-Salem High School Auditorium.

Highlights of this concert will include a concerto and a fantasia for saxophone. The concerto for alto saxophone and string orchestra was written by Russian born Alexander Glazunov in 1933 — four years after his tour of the United States where he made his conductorial debut with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra on November 21, 1929.

The fantasia for tenor saxophone, three horns and string orchestra, Opus 630, was written by Heitor Villa-Lobos, Brazil's most acclaimed composer and academician. The fantasia features dance-like rhythms while making use of Brazilian folk music.

Saxophone virtuoso Donald Sinta formerly was with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Following his tenure with the symphony, he became a faculty member at Ithaca College in New York. In 1974, Sinta succeeded his longtime teacher Larry Teal as professor of saxophone at the University of Michigan.

He is an active recitalist and clinician and his technical mastery of his instrument has earned him more than 40 commissions or premieres by American composers, including two Pulitzer Prize winners.

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's program, under the direction of Johan van der Merwe, will open with Dvorak's Carnival Overture. Between the concerto and the fantasia, concertgoers also will hear Ravel's Alborado del Gracioso.

The concert will conclude with Mussorgsky's Suite, "Pictures at an Exhibition" transcribed for orchestra by Ravel.

Tickets for the concert will be available at the door. Single and season advance ticket sales are available at Four Seasons Flowers in Northville.

Single concert tickets for regular season concerts are $6 for adults and $3.50 for senior citizens and full-time college students. Students 12th grade and younger are admitted free.

There also will be free baby sitting for preschoolers during the concert.

The concert is made possible by a grant from the State of Michigan through the Michigan Council for the Arts, the Plymouth Symphony League and Ford Motor Company.

Gourmet workshop offered

Registrations currently are being accepted for three holiday design workshops scheduled in Schoolcraft College's new Culinary Arts Demonstration Laboratory.

The first workshop, focusing on tableside flambe cookery, will be offered from 7-10 p.m. November 29. Participants will learn the art of using liquors and cordials to flame meats, crepes, ice cream and other foods. Participants will assist in the preparation of Steak Dianne, Crepes Suzette, Bananas Foster and Cherries Jubilee. Cost for the workshop is $30.

A workshop in preparing canapes and hors d'oeuvres will be offered from 7-10 p.m. December 6. Preparations of special holiday canapes and snacks appropriate before dinner, a casual gathering or a formal party will be conducted at the workshop. Cost is $25.

A desserts and decorations workshop will be offered from 7-10 p.m. December 13. A variety of holiday pastries will be displayed as well as table and buffet decorations. Menus for parties and special occasions also will be covered. Cost is $25.

Participants can register for all three workshops for $70 or pay the individual workshop fee. To register, call the Office of Community Services at 591-6400, extension 409.

Scout aims to make Thanksgiving better

Carl Kinzel is looking for people who like to help people.

Carl, an eighth grader at Meads Mill Middle School and a member of Novi Boy Scout Troop 54, is working with Novi-Northville Fish to make sure everybody is able to enjoy a Thanksgiving dinner.

Specifically, he's helping Fish collect food to pass out to needy families in time for Thanksgiving.

He has made posters encouraging people to donate canned goods and non-perishables, and placed boxes underneath them at various locations around Novi and Northville.

What he's hoping is that people will share some of their food with people less fortunate than they.

Donation boxes have been placed at the A&P stores in Novi and Northville, Brown's Drugs in Novi, Novi United Methodist Church and Faith Community United Presbyterian Church in Novi.

Carl is working on the project as part of the requirements for a Life Rank Advancement in his Boy Scout Troop. He can be reached at 348-1868.

Schoolcraft will host large robotics seminar

Schoolcraft College will be the Michigan site for a seminar on robotics to be televised nationwide from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. December 7.

Offered by the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE), the seminar will provide an overview of robotics research as well as current and future applications. Instruction will be provided through one-way video and two-way audio hookups.

Seminars will be carried by satellite from the studios of South Carolina Educational Television in Columbia. Seminar instructors are Dr. James Albus of the National Bureau of Standards, Maurice Dunne of Ultimotion Inc., Michael Radeke of Cincinnati Milacron and Dr. Thomas Sheridan of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The seminar is especially designed for electrical and electronics engineers, computing engineers, engineering managers and long-range planners.

In addition to Schoolcraft and various university and company locations, the seminar will be offered in 15 major cities across the country. Registration fees are $125 for IEEE members and $175 for non-members.

The December 7 seminar will be held in Schoolcraft's Liberal Arts Conference Room which is being wired for the television drop and telephone hookups to allow participants to interact with the instructors.

Registrations must be received by Monday, November 15. For materials or further information, call Schoolcraft Community Services at 591-6400, extension 409.

Touring singing group to appear at college

The widely acclaimed Ann Arbor Cantata Singers, under the direction of Bradley Bloom, will present a workshop and concert this Saturday and Sunday at Schoolcraft College.

Bloom will conduct a workshop on stylistic interpretative ideas and gestures for the choral conductor at noon Saturday in room F310 of the Forum Building.

Concert admission is $4 for the general public and $3 for students. Tickets are available at the College Bookstore and at the door. For more information, call the Office of Community Services at 591-6400, extension 409.

Car, building door on Seven Mile reported vandalized

...in the city

Unknown suspects caused $300 damage to a steel door at the Northville Locksmith shop, West Seven Mile, between October 29 and November 1; city police report.

The complainant said the suspects backed a car into the side door of the building during the weekend, police said.

Unknown suspects caused $200 damage to a 1983 Lincoln Town Coupe while it was parked in the city hall lot sometime November 3, police said.

The suspects scratched the car with a key or nail from the driver's side door to the left rear panel, police said.

class. When he returned, the coat was gone, police said.

The face plate of the phone that morning. The phone was otherwise intact.

Police found two bullet holes, one with a portion of the bullet visible. The investigating officer estimated that the firearm involved was a small caliber weapon, perhaps a .22.

There were no witnesses to the incident. Michigan Bell replaced the phone and handed the damaged instrument over to police as evidence for the investigation.

...in the Township

Unknown suspects stole a $140 wire wheel cover and cap from a 1981 Buick parked at a Revere Court residence sometime November 4, police said.

Bullets fired into a pay telephone at Eckle's Gulf station at Seven Mile and Beck caused $300 damage to the phone, township police reports show.

The shooting was done some time between 8:15 p.m. October 27 and 10 a.m. October 28, the station owner told police. Bullet holes were discovered in

CITY OF NORTHVILLE SYNOPSIS

SYNOPSIS OF NORTHVILLE CITY COUNCIL MINUTES October 4, 1982

Mayor Pro tem Gardner called the regular meeting to order at 8 p.m.

ROLL CALL: Present: Ayers, DeRusha, Follino, Gardner, Absent: Vernon, exc.

MINUTES OF PREVIOUS MEETING: The Minutes of the Regular Meeting of September 20, 1982, were approved with change.

MINUTES OF BOARDS & COMMISSIONS: Were placed on file.

APPROVAL OF BILLS: It was moved and supported to approve the bills.

POLICE REPORT: The May Police Report was discussed.

Police Cars: It was moved and supported to purchase 2 police cars from McDonald Ford for the total price of $17,945.54.

FIRE REPORT: A summary of DPW Complaints regarding Trash Complaints regarding Midwestern Sanitation which was a history of the first year was presented. The complaints were minimal, about 2 per month and, in general, were from residents expecting more services than agreed upon, or misunderstandings of procedures.

The snow removal by DPW of sidewalks in Lexington Commons was also discussed.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITIZENS: Mr. Douglas Whitaker, appearing on behalf of the Board of Education, introduced Jean Hanson, Chairwoman, and George Bell, Superintendent of Northville Schools. Dr. Bell discussed the schools' summer tax collection which has been turned down in the past. He requested the City Council to name two members of the Council and one from administration to a committee to meet with school board and township trustees to discuss this.

Mayor Protem Gardner appointed the City Manager and Councilwoman Ayers and Councilman DeRusha to serve on committee.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER REPORT: None.

AGENDA REVISIONS: Ambulance Service amended up.

AMBULANCE SERVICE: City Council had received letters from Novi Ambulance and Northville Downs. Mr. Allen Ingie, Attorney for Novi Ambulance, explained his concerns re Community EMS. Mayor Protem Gardner thanked him for information.

PUBLIC HEARING: A Public Hearing was held on the Abatement of a Public Nuisance on the McDonald Orchard Property. The City Manager explained the City is holding the Public Hearing first in this case because of the security risk. He mentioned the owners of the property are in a dispute re a legal disagreement over a land contract and both groups have been contacted. It was moved and supported to authorize the abatement of a public nuisance and assessment therefrom to the property involved. Specifically, the demolition of a hazardous structure on property known as the McDonald Orchard.

NON-UNION SALARIES AND BENEFITS: It was moved and supported to adopt a resolution to set the salaries of the non-union employees as of July 1, 1982 as follows:

Police Chief to $34,652.00 (10%); DPW Superintendent to $34,236 (6.7%); DPW Foreman to $19,760 (6.7%); City Clerk to $24,294 (7.9%); Executive Secretary to $19,011 (7.9%); City Manager to $39,815 (7.9%); with fringe benefit adjustments as follows:

The Police Chief should receive the same benefits as provided in the NPOCA contract, the DPW Foreman should receive the same benefits as provided in the DPW employees contract, and all other administrative employees should receive the same benefits as provided in the NCEA contract, except that all should receive eleven (11) holidays not including the employee's birthday, and the Police Chief should take holidays off rather than be paid holiday pay.

The Library Commission and Housing Commission should be so advised.

RADIO EQUIPMENT FOR THE FIRE DEPARTMENT: It was moved and supported to waive bids as stated in Title 2, Chapter 2, Purchases and Sales, Section 2-202 (d) Purchases. It was also moved and supported to purchase a Moden 100 Encoder and 5 Monitor Dual Call Pager/Receivers at a cost of approximately $2,000.

ADJOURNMENT: Meeting adjourned at 11:40 pm.

Respectfully submitted, Joan G. McAllister, City Clerk

Police investigate pin in candy bar

said. "It was definitely unwrapped at some point after it left the factory. We don't know yet when that was, whether it was in the store or later on. The head of the pin was sticking out of the candy."

It was discovered by a 10-year-old township girl when she opened the candy at lunch while attending a private school in Plymouth November 2. The child had gone trick-or-treating in her Highland Lakes neighborhood.

As of Friday, police were not certain if the candy had been given out at Halloween or purchased by the family and were investigating the possibility that the pin may have been inserted by someone at the school. The latter, Hardesty said, was a "definite possibility."

Further details are being withheld until the investigation is completed.

Our Opinions

They deserve remembering

As they have for more years than anyone seems to remember, members of the Lloyd H. Green American Legion Post 147 will be serving a community breakfast this Thursday at the post home at 100 West Dunlap. Beginning at 6:30 a.m., they'll offer pancakes, sausage and beverage for as long as there's demand.

Years ago the tradition of businessmen and local residents getting together at the breakfast began as a way to spend a few moments in tribute to servicemen who weren't fortunate enough to return from Campiegne, France — and later from World War II, Korea and Vietnam.

Originally celebrated as Armistice Day to remember veterans of World War I on the 11th day of the 11th month when the war ended, the day now is known as Veterans' Day to honor Americans who died in defense of their country in all wars since 1776. Veterans' Day 1982 marks the fifth anniversary of the return of the observance to November 11. The 1968 Holiday Law that changed most national holidays to Mondays had moved the day to the fourth Monday in October — but it simply didn't work. The November 11 date holds such significance that Congress in 1975 returned the holiday to November 11, making the change effective in 1978 — the 60th anniversary of the World War I armistice.

Veterans' Day 1982 in Northville marks 30 years since the American Legion here held the breakfast as a fundraiser for a permanent memorial to the community's war dead. Through special efforts of village commissioners A.M. Allen and the late Claude Ely, the village had given a veterans' memorial plot in Rural Hill Cemetery a few months before, culminating an idea held by Ely and Legionnaire Charles Schoultz. The Legion with assistance from the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post was raising funds to develop the memorial plot.

This Thursday also will find a special Veterans' Day observance taking place on the front lawn of the Capitol Building in Lansing. Hundreds are expected to attend the dedication of one of the first Multi-Conflict Memorials erected to honor Michigan citizens who served in World War I, World War II, the Korean and Vietnam conflicts.

The memorial consists of four vertical slabs representing the four conflicts. A center slab with a Michigan seal topped by an eagle will rise 15 feet above the ground. The monument project was started in October of 1979 when the Michigan Legislature adopted a concurrent resolution to provide for such a permanent memorial. Fundraising to erect the memorial was from private sources.

In recent years attendance at memorial tributes has declined as most of us would rather forget about the war years. For those of us whose memories go back to World War II, the remembrances are not easy. Blue stars, signifying there was a serviceman on active duty, were changed to gold in windows as the war went on — announcing that serviceman would not be returning to become an engineer, or lawyer, or merchant. Some of those who did return were to live the rest of their lives strongly affected by the experience.

It is in the belief that such service deserves at least a moment's memory that the American Legion Post continues to serve the annual breakfast — and hopes you'll come.

Decision's good

When the Northville Arts Commission was formed in 1980, by resolution of city council, it was felt that it was a long overdue action. Most neighboring communities already had such organizations to promote the arts locally. At the request of the council, Cheryl Gazlay had agreed to organize the commission whose bylaws were adopted in September of 1980. She then served as first head of the commission which has had as many as 11 members and currently lists nine.

It has been a hard-working commission, dedicated to "involve the community in all phases of the arts." Enthusiastically, art shows in the Mill Race were planned as well as individual artists' shows at city hall. With an allocation from the city, the commission last summer sponsored weekly concerts in the park behind city hall, hoping to bring out families for an informal afternoon of music. Picnickers were encouraged.

But at its September 27 meeting the council was forced to look at the problem: hard work had gone into the activities and they had received publicity. However, attendance has not been good at these events. At one concert only families of performers and two commission members were present.

The decision was made to cease all public activity for the entire year of 1983. Beginning next January, the commission will work on short and long range goals. It will try to determine what the community wants and to formulate a long-range plan.

"We need to create an awareness of art in the community," explains commission spokesperson Susie Dimitroff

While the commission does not plan to sponsor public events next year, it does intend to be active in planning and in compiling a directory of local artists, who currently are being asked to register with the commission at city hall. Also in the plan will be the formation of a Friends of the Arts group to help sponsor events and determine community desires.

We believe the arts commission is on the right track. The concept of an arts commission is good, but it is self-defeating to have a fine group become discouraged from lack of acceptance for its projects. We feel it is necessary to have a long-range plan in place. Community support and awareness could come from a Friends group. In the upcoming 12 months, hopefully, those residents who see the value of promotion of arts in the community will come forward to help. The city clerk will be glad to pass on names to the council.

A look at the mail bag

Forty-six pieces of mail arrived on my desk last Monday morning. Granted the day after the weekend usually brings a larger volume than some week days, it's still a sizable batch. The disturbing aspect is that just nine items could be used in this newspaper.

When I first inherited this post from Jack Hoffman, I remember telling him enthusiastically how much I enjoyed receiving the editor's mail. After all, from childhood on we all have loved getting mail. Jack just smiled.

After two-and-a-half years I know why. It's frustrating to acquire so much material that has no local aspect. As a weekly newspaper, our strength is reporting news of the weddings, engagements, births and activities of the people who live in our community and covering the school news and meetings that take place in the city and township. This, we know, we do best because we're here.

When the mail contains a birth announcement, notice of a League of Women Voters meeting, an Army Air Force release about the serviceperson from a local family or news of the Wayne County board of commissioners, we're pleased. We should be sought out to publicize these happenings.

The frustrating portion is the tremendous waste of time, as well as the cost of sending out the releases. There's no question that the topics often are very interesting, but why not address the Professional Theater Program release from the University of Michigan announcing grants available to young playwrights and composers to English departments of high schools and colleges?

The news that Marcel Marceau, probably the greatest living mime, is coming to the Power Center for Performing Arts January 29 and 30 is exciting, but we don't have a theater section. In the past we have written about Christmas at Greenfield Village because so many residents here are antique-minded and enjoy the Victorian village. Its holiday season begins December 4 and runs through January 2. Demonstrations this year include rug braiding and hand coloring of Christmas cards.

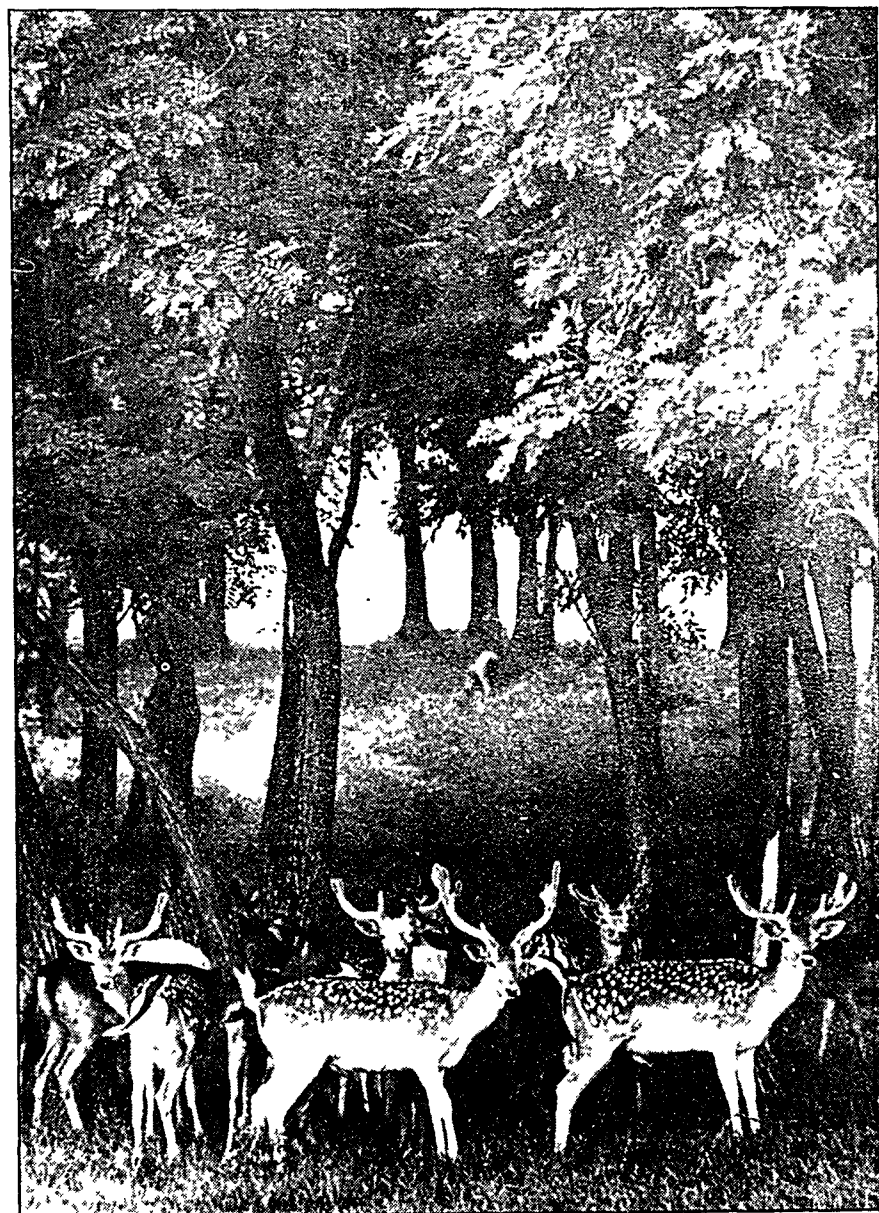

A notice from the University of Minnesota might have more fruitful results if it had been sent to a medical society publication. It announces a team of nationally known researchers is trying to determine whether lowering cholesterol will affect heart disease. It seeks people under 65 who have had their first and only heart attack within the past five years to participate in the program.

There are some items to be checked out. Why was an announcement of a business promotion sent to The Record? Why didn't the firm make a one-line notation that the person was a local resident if that were the case? One of the most fascinating pieces of information is contained in an Eastern Michigan University release — a professor of chemistry there is writing a paper on the Shroud of Turin, the mysterious cloth that religious leaders and philosophers have argued about for centuries. A couple of years ago, a former Northville resident, Kate Edgerton, was commissioned to weave a duplicate. I hope to be able to find out if there is a connection to the release.

Actually, I wouldn't miss opening the mail.

About Town

By JOHN GALLOWAY

Don't shoot!

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

A man likes to know where he stands at home. It's only fair.

And in all honesty, I have to admit I know how I rate. My gripe is that my official ranking is fourth.

Don't get me wrong. She hasn't come right out and said I'm number four, but it doesn't take a whole lot of deductive reasoning to figure out the present standings.

I was number two for a long time, rating behind our faithful cat in the official ratings. I could accept number two, but now it occurs to me that I've been dropped to fourth, lowered two notches by the mid-summer arrival of a pair of yellow-and-white kittens she calls Bonnie and Clyde.

How do I know I'm number four? Easy, all the telltale signs are there.

For example, I went looking for my favorite blue quilt the other night to keep warm while doing a little serious reading on the couch.

The only problem was that the blue quilt was nowhere to be found.

After rummaging through the house for 30 minutes or so, I finally popped the question.

"It's out on the porch," she replied.

"My blue quilt is on the porch? What's it doing out there?"

"It's in the box I made for the kittens," came the response. "It's starting to get cold outside and I thought they needed a warm place to sleep so I took your blue quilt and put it in a box for Bonnie and Clyde."

"They really like it, too," she added. "Doesn't it make you feel good to know your quilt is helping those poor little kittens stay warm this winter?"

Now, I like animals as much as the next fellow. And I suppose the old quilt is a small sacrifice to make while I'm warm inside the house so the kittens can stay warm outside.

The one thing that bothers me, though, is that I haven't been able to find my favorite wool sweater recently and, quite frankly, I'm a little afraid to ask where it is.

South Center zoning problem is city-wide concern

To the Editor:
I was distressed to learn at the city council meeting this Monday night (November 1) that Mayor Vernon feels the only citizens who care about the zoning problems involved at 254 South Center are the people in that immediate area.
He commented that people in his neighborhood were not concerned.
First, he is wrong; many people in Northville live outside the particular area in question have voiced concern. His assumption of a lack of concern of the Northville community demonstrates a poor basis for city council decision-making and may indicate he is out-of-touch with his constituency.

Second, everyone in Northville should be concerned if they aren't already. Primarily, they should be concerned because a lack of enforcement of zoning ordinances or any other ordinances affecting even the smallest parcel within Northville can affect the city as a whole.
Secondly, every citizen should monitor their elected officials. The experience of watching our city government deal with or choose not to deal with the situation has been a good lesson in assessing their performance and ascertaining if their decisions are for the good of the city.

The decision that they make regarding this particular problem with the Northville Driving Club and 254 South Center could have a far-reaching effect on the on the long-range development of the city as a whole.

And the bottom line is: the council has the final vote in these matters and we, as citizens, gave them that vote. I would hope we would all take an interest in how they cast them.

So, I repeat, Mayor Vernon is not being accurate; there are many people outside of the area surrounding the Northville Driving Club property who are concerned and waiting to see how the city council handles this problem.

I also urge anyone who lives in Northville and has felt this issue doesn't affect to take a closer look at the issue and at how it's being handled. You might be surprised at what you find. I was!

Respectfully submitted,
Laurie C. Fowler

In the six years I've lived in the township I've seen this coming. How do we get someone to redraw the precincts to better reflect the voting population?

Wake up, Susie Heintz! My wife really would like the opportunity to cast her vote in the next election. Incidentally, I'll bet 10 people took a look at that line and chose to walk away rather than wait. Do you blame them?

Voting criticized

To the Editor:

Isn't it about time someone in Northville Township pays attention to what we the voters need instead of what the numbers say?

I had the displeasure of exercising my right to vote on November 2 and arrived at the polling place directly after work at 7 p.m. I had called my wife and told her that I would vote and then come home and watch our infant daughter while she voted.

I stood in line for one hour before getting my ballot. I then had to wait 10 more minutes for a punch card booth to free up. The most perplexing part of this is that I live in Precinct Two and the whole time standing in line I watched maybe six people come and go from Precinct Eight. The election workers from this precinct looked bored to death.

No lines, and the best part is each precinct had five punch card booths. Get the picture?

I innocently asked an election worker why they couldn't move three of the booths over to Precinct Two to accommodate the crowd. She scoffed, "Each precinct has their own five and they can't be moved." Oh yeah? Says who?

DAR sponsors essay contest

The Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is sponsoring its annual American history essay contest for all Northville students in grades five through eight.

"Everyday Life in Early America" is the topic of this year's essay and will focus on the period of 1750-1850. Students are required to describe any one aspect of everyday life during that period and discuss how it differs from life today. Topics may include home, clothing, school, church, travel, communications, etc.

Essays written by fifth and sixth grade students should be 300-600 words in length. Seventh and eighth grade students should write 600-1,000 word essays. Words should be counted and totaled at the end of each essay.

A bibliography of all books, pamphlets, letters or other research material used in writing the essays must be included. A title page also is required and should include title of the

Education supported

To the Editor:

Why don't you and your readers visit your schools in your community? National Education Week is November 14-20.

A strong nation needs strong schools. During World War I the United States draft board found many men ineligible to serve their country for lack of education. Therefore, the American Legion sponsored the first Education Week in 1921.

Now is the time for parents of children to take special interest in the schools' curriculum.

There is a booklet called "Need a Lift" in every high school in Michigan. This booklet lists the scholarships available to students who qualify. These are not loans — they are scholarships. There are scholarships available from $500 to $2,000 if a student qualifies. Students wishing information should contact their school counselor.

Children and grandchildren of veterans are eligible to apply. Scholarship applications will be available at Northville High School, or the American Legion Auxiliary scholarship chairman may be contacted by calling 349-1132.

Remember, education begins in the home.

Try A "Doubler"

When you only have a couple inches of space left in your gadget bag, what could be the most effective use of that space?
Consider a tele-extender. Referred to as doublers or teleconverters, these small units fit between the body of your SLR camera and your normal or telephoto lens and will either double or triple the magnification of that lens, depending on whether you purchase a 2X or 3X extender.
New designs have made converters with 3 or more elements quite sharp when used with a good lens. The better ones are multicoated, just like your lenses.
One advantage of a converter over a longer lens is that you can still focus at the same minimum as your prime lens while doubling or tripling your image size. Some converters let you take out the elements and use the unit as an extension tube for macro work with your normal lens.
If you decide to go with a converter, keep in mind you will lose 2 stops of light with a 2X extender and 3 stops with a 3X. This means you'll have to open up your lens more or switch to a faster film to enable you to shoot at a faster shutter speed.
To learn more about extenders, stop by F-Stop Photo, 43220 Grand River, Novi and bring in your camera so you can try them.

On 'Night Watch'

Northville residents Peter Couse and Marie Capote rehearse their starring roles in "Night Watch," a dinner theater production opening Friday at Schoolcraft College Waterman Center. Capote is an insomniac who witnesses a middle of the night murder but her husband, played by Couse, and best friend choose not to believe her for questionable reasons. The play is directed by James R. Hartman, a professional of stage and film. Performances at 8 p.m. follow dinner at 6:30 p.m. this Friday and Saturday and November 19-20. Tickets are $12. Reservations are necessary and may be made by calling the college, 591-6400. Record photo by John Galloway.

Soccer enthusiasts aid college in getting field

By TIM RICHARD

How does a college develop a soccer field with electronic scoreboard, sound system, concession building and storage shed during a depression when budgets are being cut?

"Use of existing resources," smiles Dr. Marvin Gans, Schoolcraft College athletic director, adding, "People had fun doing it."

The project might have cost $50,000 if the community college had to pick up the tab itself. But between student efforts, a benefit banquet, cash donations, gifts of materials and talents, the soccer project was completed without college funds.

College trustees recently formally accepted the gifts, with warm praise for the several dozen donors.

"This is a strong soccer community," said Gans of northwestern Wayne County's high schools and the college itself.

"We had 3,100 players from all over Southeastern Michigan on Memorial Day weekend. Any Sunday there will be six or seven games going on here," he added.

Down the road, he said, is a collective dream of having a soccer facility that is unexcelled in the state. And if that dream takes shape, well, the water lines and electrical equipment are in place.

No fewer than 37 firms made gifts of flagpole materials, cement blocks, concrete, lumber, shingles, electrical equipment, dry walls, audio equipment, paint and windows. Some firms donated services, such as installation of equipment.

"Some of them would rather not be listed," Gans said. "Many didn't even want to bother giving an estimated value of the services." Such an estimate is necessary for income tax deduction purposes. It means those firms aren't planning to take such deductions.

Students of architectural drafting instructor John McManon did survey work and designed overall plans for underground, mechanical, electrical, concession and locker areas.

Civil technology students of Ron Simmons and Ray Anderson staked building and sewer lines.

Students Stu Galbraith and Fred Ellicott welded the scoreboard and college identification signs. The husband of another student installed 160 feet of sanitary sewer and graded the site.

Private citizens did carpentry, painting and electrical work.

Soccer teams from the community painted poles, raked, graded and seeded.

The athletic department benefit banquet raised $6,300. Another such banquet is scheduled for December 11, Gans said.

"Schoolcraft athletes operate the concession," said Gans, reporting the first two events raised $3,000. Proceeds help the college athletic program.

"We have water and sewer for future building. We also have power for night lighting."

"When you think of the University of Michigan, you think of football. One day it will be that when you think of soccer, you'll think Schoolcraft College," Gans proclaimed.

ADHESIVE STICKY SITUATION

Q. My dentures slip and make my mouth sore, should I use a denture adhesive?

too "sticky", schedule an appointment with your dentist.

A. Denture adhesives such as powders and creams when combined with water swell, become sticky and help keep dentures in place. They are sometimes helpful during the initial adjustment period for new denture wearers. However, unless you have a special situation such as a completely flat ridge of bone, adhesives should not be used on a permanent basis. They can actually mask a denture's ill fit and cause sore spots to develop. If your dentures slip and make your mouth sore, before the situation gets

College gears up to aid business, industry

By TIM RICHARD

When Richard McDowell was hired as president of Schoolcraft College in Livonia last year, he talked about "outreach" — helping business train employees and aiding southeastern Michigan's reindustrialization.

The program is nine months old, and last week trustees gave McDowell's staff high marks for the early efforts.

Highlights:

Since the first of the year, nearly 50 companies have been personally contacted. The result has been a general increase in awareness of the part of both the college and the business community.

Six individual program packages have been implemented, and another 12 are in the development stages.

The report came from Ron Griffith, dean of continuing education and community services, and Stuart Baker, coordinator of business and industry and the man whose job it is to "knock on doors," in McDowell's words.

"It takes a while," said Baker, "for them to understand what we mean by customized service to a business. We focus in on a company's specific needs."

"They're struggling," Baker said of the deep economic recession. "I'll walk through a plant with them, and they'll say, 'This is where we used to do that.'"

The six programs already launched are:

Holidome-Livonia West — employee selection and start-up training;

Cadillac Motor Car Division Livonia — trouble-shooting course for 27 technicians in digital electronics;

Fisher Body, Livonia — fundamentals of speech, Schoolcraft's communication arts 103;

Kroger Company — supervision, Schoolcraft's business 220;

University of Michigan — three chef refresher courses;

Westland Agency on Aging — life and work planning workshop.

In the works are a chef refresher course for the U.S. Army and Marines, an upgrading program for licensed practical nurses at Harper-Grace Hospital, start-up training for Hanlo Gauge, and "out-placement" services for Associated Spring.

Said Griffith: "You work from their needs, not from your shelf. You discuss their problems and concerns, and work backward from there."

The community college serving Northwestern Wayne County and parts of Oakland and Washtenaw counties surveyed its own faculty to see who might be interested in teaching in industry for supplemental pay. If no one on the faculty is available, then an outsider will be hired.

Sometimes an existing Schoolcraft course is used, as in the supervision and public speaking courses. Much of the time, the course is tailor-made to solve the company's problem.

"You have a three-way conversation — the company, the expert (instructor) and the college representative," said Griffith.

"We enter into a formal agreement to render services. Administrative costs are included in the total contract. Much of the instruction is on-site in the industry.

"There are 2,100 companies which have at least 10 employees," he said of the college district. The college targeted 50 as early prospects.

The college also has joined other agencies in training programs. Among its partners are the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation, which is working with automotive suppliers on a program of "Just in time" delivery; city industrial developers; and the Michigan Department of Education.

McDowell reported progress on another front: the Schoolcraft College Foundation, a nonprofit corporation which raises funds for scholarships and equipment.

Last year the foundation raised only $1,700 in new gifts, so McDowell set a goal of $15,000. He reported the foundation already has raised $17,000 and that he is revising his goal upward to $25,000.

SCHOOLCRAFT LANDMARK — A bell tower in front of the administration building on Haggerty between Seven and Six Mile roads serves as a familiar insignia for the community college.

Tell me about your high gas heating bills and I'll tell you how you can save up to 20%* with Ameri-Therm.

For years I've talked with people who are tired of wasting fuel and money. Gas rates keep going up, so they come to me for advice.

Every day, for homeowners like you, I correct the money-wasting problem of gas energy loss with Ameri-Therm® Vent Dampers.

The problem is very common:

When a furnace, boiler or water heater shuts off, warm air is quickly lost up the chimney. Energy escapes, but you still end up paying for it.

People want to save as much as they can, so I tell them to keep heat inside with an Ameri-Therm Vent Damper.

Ameri-Therm is the thermally actuated, vent damper that's:

- Proven in millions of locations.
- Saves up to 20%* on fuel bills.
- Popular choice of American homeowners.
- Five year limited warranty.
- Thermally actuated to operate efficiently with no wires, electricity, or other power source.
- Eligible for 15% tax credit.
- Available for gas furnaces, boilers and water heaters.

There was a special sentiment involved as Sheila Crawford, "Kitty" of the singing telegram team, is the former Sheila Mynk, daughter of the couple. Her singing partner "Kitty" is Lori Puzzuoli of Northville.

The girls say they meant every word of their jingle of tribute...noting that they've also been working as waitresses at the restaurant. Through that association, they formed their singing telegram business. They may be contacted at 348-0787.

Tankers clinch first divisional title

By JOHN MYERS

It was sweet revenge in a way for the Northville girls' swim team against Plymouth Canton last Thursday.

The Mustangs dunked the Chiefs 72-54 to claim the Western Division championship in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Last year, the 11-member Mustang squad lost the final Western Six Conference title to Canton by five points. This year, Northville was not to be denied and will now gear toward the WLAA championships slated November 18-19.

"It's a good feeling. The girls were real excited," declared second-year coach Bill Dicks of winning the divisional title.

"The girls did real well, and they swam well. There were some exceptions, but overall it was a good performance," he added.

"They were really motivated," Dicks offered. "They were pumped up for the meet. They felt good during warm-ups."

Both teams were missing one of their top swimmers, but Northville was able to overcome the absence of Lisa Felicelli, who was ill, because the Mustangs have better depth while the Chiefs were hindered by the loss of their number-one breaststroker, Dicks related. It is believed the Canton swimmer broke her toe, he added.

"If their top breaststroker had been there to swim, it would have been a 69-57 meet. We were able to cover our top swimmer because of depth. They were not able to do that," he explained.

Still, both teams swam well, according to Dicks.

The Mustangs' 200-yard medley relay squad of Shawn Bales, Kristen Nelson, Kim Thompson and Trish Settles was off a little in its winning time of 1:59.0, Dicks said, but the Mustangs picked up after the diving event.

Nelson won the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 56.4, and she won the race by her turns, Dicks noted. Nelson would consistently gain a quarter to half a body length on her opponent in each turn, he added.

Bales garnered first in the 100 backstroke with a 1:06.9 which is one her best times, but Dicks said the team has yet to taper for the league and state meets. Once the Mustangs begin to taper, times should fall, he added.

Other firsts gained by the Mustangs after the diving event were by Settles in the 500-yard freestyle (5:32.7), Cindy Panowicz in the 100-breaststroke (1:19.1) and the 400-yard freestyle relay squad of Kathy Bainbridge, Holly Sellen, Tish Johnson and Nelson (4:07.2).

Settles also grabbed a top finish in the 50-yard freestyle (25.5) before the diving event. Divers Mandy Waltz and Cathy Heitert had their best scores of the season even though they finished third (176.7) and fourth (163.85), respectively.

Northville grabbed five individual runner-up slots to help gain its victory. Thompson was second in both the 200-yard individual medley (2:26.6) and the 100-yard butterfly (1:04.6), while Bales was runner-up in the 200-yard freestyle (2:17.3). Bainbridge was second in the 100 backstroke (1:09.9), and Karen Brining claimed second in the 100 breaststroke (1:20.1).

Both the 200 medley relay team and the 400 freestyle relay team took thirds. Khrist Korwin, Kim Brining, Peggy Herald and Panowicz comprised the medley relay squad, while Kim Brining, Dawn Biondi, Herald and Korwin comprised the freestyle relay team.

Individually, Johnson took thirds in the 200 freestyle (2:19.0) and the 500 freestyle (6:25.3), while Panowicz was third in the 50 freestyle (27.5). Sellen claimed a third in the 100 freestyle (1:02.3).

Northville completed its scoring with a fourth place from Sellen in the 200 individual medley (2:37.1).

The Mustangs, 8-2 overall and 5-1 in the Western Division, will battle Lakes Division champion Livonia Stevenson at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Spartans' pool. That will be the final dual meet for Northville before the league meet the following week.

Gridders battle to end in defeat to Wildcats

By JOHN MYERS

It was like one of those classic Michigan-Ohio State football confrontations where usually the team that dominated the statistical side found itself on the losing end of the final score.

Such was the case when Northville battled Novi last Friday night in a season-ending non-league contest for both squads.

The Mustangs held the upper hand when came down to the final statistics, but it was the Wildcats who went home with a hard-earned 20-16 triumph.

Northville ran 69 offensive plays to Novi's 45, recorded 18 first downs to the Wildcats' 11 and managed 278 yards in total offense to Novi's 268. But it was Novi which capitalized on some Northville miscues to gain its fourth straight victory over the Mustangs and seventh in 12 meetings.

The four-point loss was typical of what the Mustangs have gone through in their 3-6 season. It was the fourth time Northville has lost a game by six points or less.

"I think we played as well as could be expected," offered a disheartened head coach Dennis Colligan.

"We had a couple of breakdowns, and that's going to happen with a young team. We played a lot of juniors and it showed," he added.

"I think the kids played well, but we came up short," Colligan related.

"They (Novi) capitalized on some mistakes. They have been doing that all year, but they didn't dominate the game," he said.

Cagers falter against Falcons

To say the least, this has been a long, hard season for the Northville girls' basketball team.

Only once in their past 16 games before last Thursday have the Mustangs been on the right end of the winning score. Northville's only victory came against winless Farmington, a fellow Western Lakes Activities Association member.

Therefore, it stood to reason the Mustangs had one of their better chances for victory in the consolation round of the WLAA tournament last Thursday against Farmington.

However, Northville couldn't get its shots to fall while Farmington ran off a third-quarter hot streak to gain a 27-19 triumph.

While the season was made a little longer by another loss, first-year coach Rick Hurst admires the team's ability to keep trying.

"The kids just keep bouncing back no matter what. They don't get beat down which is remarkable," he offered.

"I really feel for them," said Hurst of what the players are going through. "They don't deserve it."

The third quarter was the difference in the Farmington contest as the Falcons blew open a close game to take a commanding 22-11 lead into the final period.

"We lost our poise a little bit in the third quarter," Hurst said. "We lost a little of our intensity."

Northville had lead 4-3 after the first period, but fell behind 8-6 at halftime.

While Farmington was doing most things right, Northville was plagued by some turnovers and shots that would rattle in-and-out of the basket.

"They did try really hard to do things right. They were working so hard not to make a mistake, and then they would miss an open person by the basket; those kinds of things," Hurst explained.

"They just wanted to do so well, but then they would make some mental mistakes," he added.

As for the shots not falling for the squad, Hurst does not have a readily available answer.

"We have that continual problem to get the shots to go in. I don't know how to get away from it. It's a continual pattern where we put the ball up, but it just won't fall."

"I'm baffled by it," he replied.

There were some bright spots to come out of the game. Hurst praised the efforts of Pat Wanzey and Trisha Campbell.

"They both got involved in the offense more and took some shots," he said. "I was encouraged by their shooting. That was nice."

Hurst also was pleased with the way the squad ran the offense. "I thought they did a nice job of moving the ball around," he offered.

Family groups take second

There were a couple of family combinations who proved they could run with the best of the pack at the First Annual O'Sheehan's Fun Run Saturday.

The father and son team of Jim and Doug Doyle each took runner-up slots in their respective age groups in the five kilometer race, while the Huston family grabbed three second-place finishes in the five or 10 kilometer races.

Jim Doyle (26:23) was runner-up behind Westland's Charlie Weimer (21:04) in the men's 50-59 age group, while son Doug (20:12) took second behind Farmington Hills' Jim Ransweiler (18:44) in the men's 13-17 age bracket.

Judy Huston (27:18) was second behind Howell's Sue Schongala (24:34) in the women's 40-49 age bracket, while husband Richard (42:57) was runner-up behind Bloomfield Hills' Bob Rooney (40:06) in the men's 50-59 age bracket in the 10 kilometer race. Son John Huston (42:51) was second in the 10 kilometer race behind Northville's Chris Jones (39:17) in the 13-17 age group.

There were only two Northville winners in the five kilometer race. Karen Mill (24:22) won the women's 35-39 age bracket, while Rita Pederson (27:53) won the women's 50-59 age group.

Stacey Wielder (30:11) was second in the women's 12 and under age group, while Laura Droze (26:20) was runner-up in the women's 24-29 age group. Ron Poirier (21:42) was second in the men's 40-49 bracket.

There were six Northville winners in the 10 kilometer race. John Pohman (55:10) was first in the men's 12 and under group, while Tom Mallony (37:32) was first in the men's 40-49 age group. Mike Kowalski (38:53) was first in the men's 35-39 age group.

On the women's side, Bonnie Martin (44:50) won the 35-39 age bracket. Bea Flangah (50:21) took top honors in the 40-49 age group, while Midge Poirier (55:03) won the 50-59 age bracket.

The only other runner-up slot taken in the men's event was by Jim Hanson (40:48) in the 35-39 age group.

More than 175 runners competed in the event with one traveling from Illinois. Another participant was from Colorado.

The proceeds from the O'Sheehan's run were donated to the recreation program.

Wool garners eighth at state meet

Kelly Wool led a contingent of three Northville girls' cross country runners with an eighth-place finish in the individual race of the MHSAA Class A girls' state meet in Flint Saturday.

Making her first appearance in the event, the junior harrier crossed the finish line in 19:28. That was just two seconds behind the seventh-place runner, and she fell one place shy of making the All State squad, according to head coach Ed Gabrys.

"She probably made something like honorable mention, though," he added.

Also participating in the event were senior Kim Assenmacher and freshman Wendy Neuchterlein.

Neuchterlein placed 55th in the field with a 20:55, while Assenmacher, who was battling the flu, placed 75th. This was the second straight state meet appearance for Assenmacher, while it was the first time for Neuchterlein.

"I think considering everything overall, I was real pleased with them," Gabrys praised.

Wool, who was the Mustangs' top girls' runner all season, ran a good race while finishing in the second pack of runners across the line, Gabrys noted. The winning time was around 18:40.

The 19:28 time was faster than any time Wool had run on the tough Cass Benton course; however, Gabrys said the Flint Brookwood Golf Club course was somewhat flatter than the Mustangs' home course.

With her performance in this year's state meet, Gabrys believes Wool can garner one of the top seven places next year. He notes the junior runner is always looking for improvement no matter how she performs in a meet.

"That's the kind of runner you like to have," Gabrys commended.

In addition, Wool was selected to join the Michigan Track Club, coached by Walled Lake Central girls' cross country mentor Brian McKenna, at the Junior Olympics in Flint this weekend. Wool will be competing in the five kilometer race, Gabrys said.

Neuchterlein used a late surge to pass two runners just before the finish line for her 55th placing, Gabrys said.

"She ran pretty well. It's good for a freshman to get into a meet like this," he added.

Assenmacher still ran despite the flu

as this was her "swan song", according to Gabrys.

The times might have been even better if it were not for the weather Saturday.

"It was pretty cold and windy, which probably kept the times from improving. The girls had trouble keeping warm," he said

MHSAA petition denied

By JOHN MYERS

The First District Court of Appeals denied a motion presented by the Michigan High School Athletic Association requesting a rehearing regarding the restraining order allowing Northville's Shawn Bales to swim with the high school team.

The motion was filed approximately one week ago by the MHSAA, the Bales' attorney Gerald Surowiec said, with the Court of Appeals denying a rehearing on the basis the MHSAA did not have enough merit for it.

The court actually granted a motion by the MHSAA requesting an immediate consideration of the motion for a rehearing. But, the court denied the request for another rehearing.

Also, the Court of Appeals has asked the Wayne County Circuit Court to turn in the transcripts of the original hearing by January, said Surowiec, who has law offices in northwest Detroit and Farmington Hills.

Once the transcripts are filed, he said he will have 60 days to present his brief of the case. The MHSAA will then have 40 days in which to file its brief after his, Surowiec added.

The case was brought to the Court of Appeals when the Circuit Court in September dissolved a temporary restraining order allowing Bales to swim with the Northville girls' swim team.

The temporary restraining order was sought when the MHSAA denied a waiver request filed by the Northville Public Schools after Bales, a junior, transferred to NHS from Farmington Our Lady of Mercy this summer.

According to the MHSAA rules, a student transferring from one high school to another must sit out one semester before being declared eligible unless the student falls under one of the 12 exceptions.

Also, the MHSAA Constitution states its Executive Committee can grant waivers to students if the transfer rule fails to serve the purpose for which it is intended or causes an undue hardship.

Surowiec has been presenting to the courts that a waiver should have been granted because the MHSAA caused an undue hardship with its denial since the junior season is what college recruiters base scholarships on to prospective swimmers. Also, he claims the transfer rule fails to accomplish the purpose for which it is intended.

In another development, the Michigan Association of School Boards approved a resolution calling for the MHSAA to re-examine the transfer rule before the 1983-84 season.

The Northville Board of Education casts its approval for the resolution presented by the Ann Arbor Board of Education. Northville's board has already supported a resolution by the Ann Arbor board calling for support of other school boards to have the MHSAA to re-examine and possibly change the transfer rule.

The latest resolution was adopted at the Michigan Association of School Boards meeting in Grand Rapids last week. Northville Superintendent George Bell said the resolution is more of an advisory statement to the MHSAA that it should re-examine the transfer rule.

The ball now is in the MHSAA's court in terms of responding to the resolution, Bell continued, noting that the MHSAA will probably listen since the MASB is a powerful group.

Fame drops state title to Flint

Northville's under-19 girls' soccer team, the Fame, fell to the undefeated Flint Rowdies 4-1 Sunday for the Michigan Youth Soccer Association state championship at Bicentennial Park in Livonia.

The Fame, with a 7-2 overall record, could not sustain an offensive attack as the Rowdies midfielders controlled play at midfield through the contest, coach Jim Nowka said.

The Rowdies tallied all of their goals in the first half with two of the scores coming on penalty kicks. However, Nowka praised the efforts of goalie Belinda Cureton and the defensive work of Martina Millen.

Northville's only score came when Chris Krueberg netted the ball on a pass from Sue Borthwick.

The Fame still enjoyed a successful season, according to Nowka, as it won the divisional championship of the Great Lakes Soccer League under-19 girls' title.

Other members of the team include Angie Butterfield, Lisa Cahill, Denise Colovas, Connie Fogel, Chris Hanson, Janice Irwin, Tich Johnson, Khris Korowin, Amy Nieuwkoop, Julie Nowka, Joan Robson, Leighann Spaman and Kim Terwin.

One of the highlights of this year's soccer season was the Northville Cup championships between the local teams who participate in the West Suburban Soccer League.

The Pandas, coached by Dan McQuaid, defeated the Stompers 4-0 to claim the under-10 girls' title. The United, coached by Phil Stinson, defeated the Strikers in a shootout for the under-10 boys' crown. The shootout was necessary when regulation ended in a scoreless tie.

The Demons, coached by Bill Bohan and assisted by Joy Colizzi, blanked the Stompers 4-0 for the title under-12 girls' crown. The Citadel, coached by Stewart Kissinger and David Britton, downed the Raiders 3-2 for the under-12 boys' crown.

The Wildcats, coached by Stan Smalec, topped the Foxes 6-0 for the under-14 girls' title. The United, coached by John Baumann, tripped up the Arsenal 3-1 to claim the under-14 boys' crown.

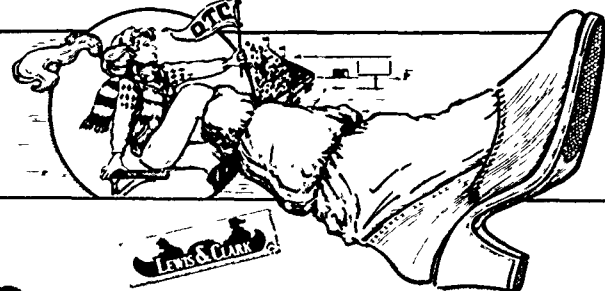

The Foxes, coached by Gene Fogel, clipped the Charlie's Angels 2-1 for the under-17 girls' crown. The Arsenal, coached by John Treanor, downed the Fury 3-1 to claim the under-16 boys' title.

The local teams also captured five divisional championships in the WSSL this year.

The Stompers, coached by Paul Holmberg and assisted by Sylvia Donkers, won the under-10 girls' divisional crown. The Demons won the under-12 girls' divisional crown.

The Wildcats won the under-14 girls' division title. The Foxes won the under-17 girls' divisional crown. The Fame, coached by Jim Nowka, won the Great Lakes Soccer League under-19 girls' divisional title.

NHS drops another close one

Northville took the opening kickoff and drove in 13 plays from its own 32-yard line to the Novi 11 where it stalled. Colligan summoned kicker Bill Kinaird who made good on a 29-yard field goal to give the Mustangs a 3-0 lead.

Novi was unable to mount a drive in its first possession. However, Eric Deline nailed a coffin corner punt down to the Northville two-yard line.

Two plays later, the Wildcats recovered a John Quinn fumble at the five. Novi's Rich Sinda bulled his way into the end zone on the next play for a 7-3 Novi lead.

Northville mounted another long 13-play drive but came away empty when quarterback Tom Yanoschik was sacked at the Novi 45.

Northville held Novi again, but was forced to punt from the Novi 42 six plays later. It was then "Air Osborne" got off the ground when Deline nailed a streaking Dave Williams for a 61-yard scoring bomb late in the second quarter. The Wildcats missed the extra point for a 13-3 advantage at halftime.

"You don't fumble at your own one-yard line and give up a big pass play and come out ahead at the end," Colligan lamented. "That was the difference in the first half."

The Mustangs capitalized on a break of its own in the third period when Williams fumbled a Jim Thomson punt at the Novi 30. Moments later, Yanoschik sneaked over from two yards out to pull Northville to within

'All in all it was a typical Northville-Novi game'

— Dennis Colligan,
Northville grid coach

three, 13-10.

Novi came right back with its only long drive of the game when Vince Meo broke a 12-yard draw play for a six-pointer to cap a 17-play, 73-yard march. It gave Novi a 20-10 early in the fourth quarter.

"I really believe that was the turning point of the game," Colligan declared.

"We knew the draw was coming. We knew a running play was coming," he added. "That (touchdown) broke our backs. That was kind of disheartening."

Another bad break came with 4:05 left when Tim Bunker intercepted a Yanoschik pass in the end zone to thwart a potential Northville touchdown.

The Mustangs put their final points in the board when Thomson caught a 20-yard scoring strike from Yanoschik as time ran out.

"All in all it was a typical Northville-Novi game. It was hard-hitting," Colligan observed.

Tempers on both sides did flare up late in third quarter, but Colligan credited himself and Wildcat head mentor John Osborne with preventing the situation from getting out of hand.

Northville was without the services of its top running back and linebacker in Andy Dimitroff for the game. The senior runner hurt his foot in the Livonia Stevenson contest the week before, and was unable to run on it against Novi.

Therefore, Colligan went to the air game as Yanoschik connected on 14 of 33 passes for 179 yards and one touchdown. Quinn hit on his only aerial for 17 yards. Northville only mustered 72 yards rushing.

Thomson led the receivers with six catches for 124 and a touchdown. He also was the leader defensively with 18 points. "It was his best performance by far," Colligan praised.

John Briningstool caught four aeriels for 31 yards, while Quinn hauled four for 30 yards. Other defensive leaders were Kevin Hite with 14 points and Ray McDonough with 13 points.

Dimitroff gains league honor

Senior Andy Dimitroff was the only Northville football player to be named to the All Western Lakes Activities Association grid squad last week.

Dimitroff was named along with Walled Lake Western's Paul Imms and league champion Farmington Harrison's John Miller as the All WLAA running backs.

WLAA champs Harrison, who are ranked number one in Class A, placed five players on the All WLAA squad. In addition to Miller were Dave Blackmer at kicker and linebacker, Jim Parkach at offensive lineman, Tim Smigelski at defensive lineman and Flen Baker at defensive back.

Lakes Division champion Plymouth Salem also had five players named to the All WLAA squad.

The Mustangs placed four players on the All Western Division team. Senior Ron Winters and junior Matt Meyer were named All Western Division offensive linemen, while senior Kevin Hite and junior John Quinn were placed on the All Western Division defensive squad as a linebacker and defensive back, respectively.

Northville also had four players placed on the Honorable Mention list. They were seniors Randy Kratt and Ray McDonough and juniors Mike Weber and Mike Wissman.

JV gridders top Wildcats, 34-0

Northville's junior varsity football team closed out its regular season with a convincing 34-0 shellacking of non-league Novi last Thursday.

The win gave the Mustangs a final overall mark of 4-4-1.

Northville exploded early on the Wildcats by scoring 14 points in both the first and second quarters. Rick Van Buren started the Mustangs rolling with a 55-yard first-quarter touchdown run. Doug Hartman added a 10-yard scoring run later in the period.

Jeff Bush extended the Northville lead to 21-0 when he caught a 41-yard scoring pass from Dave Denhof in the second quarter. Tim Millen completed the first-half scoring with an eight-yard run.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, but Millen put the final Northville points on the board in the final stanza when he raced five yards into the end zone for another Mustang six pointer.

Junior basketball continues sign-ups

There still are some openings left for the third through ninth grade boys' and girls' junior basketball program this winter. For more information, call 349-0203.

There will be educational volleyball registrations for returning teams this week. New teams may sign-up next week. For more information, call 349-0203.

There are no more openings or waiting list for the high school Mondays openings for the Northville Ski Club. 8:30-9:30 p.m. and Saturdays from noon until 2 p.m. and 4-6 p.m. The cost is 50 cents for one hour and $1 for two hours.

Odom wins grid contest

There was a rash of upsets in this week's Northville Record/Novi-Walled Lake News football.

However, Northville's Chris Odom survived enough of them to grab the $10 first-place prize money for the second consecutive week.

Odom selected nine correct answers of a possible 14. He was one of the 45 contestants who thought Michigan State would down Northwestern. No one thought the Wildcats would pull off the 28-24 upset. He also missed on Western Michigan downing Toledo, Clemson dumping North Carolina, Baylor topping Arkansas and Louisiana State stopping Alabama. All were upsets.

Seven persons all picked eight correct answers, with three persons tying for the $5 second place and $3 third place prize.

Novi's James Haas along with Kim Brining and Ron Demeter, both of Northville, all were within four points of the Northville-Novi total points tie-breaker of 36 actual points. They will divide equally the $8 in total prize money.

In all, 10 contestants had seven right, eight had six winners, 10 had five correct, eight had four winners and one had two right.

Cagers falter against Falcons

In the end, Hurst commended the performance of the winning Falcon squad. "I was really impressed with Farmington. They deserve a lot of credit," he said.

Northville continued its play in the consolation round of the WLAA tournament yesterday with a contest against Western Division champion Farmington Harrison on the Hawks' home floor.

The Mustangs will finish play in the WLAA tournament Friday probably against Walled Lake Western on the Warriors' home court. However, that still is subject to change, according to Hurst.

Northville finishes its regular season against non-league Novi at home at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Cooke basketball goes unbeaten

Not many teams are able to go through a season without losing a game, but that is exactly what the Cooke Junior High girls' seventh and eighth grade basketball team did this year.

Under the direction of Cy Nichols, the Cooke cagers posted an 8-0 overall mark. Two of those victories came over cross-town rival Meads Mill Junior High.

Leading the offensive efforts of Cooke were Susie Schrader and Roxanne Serkaian, who also was the team's best ball-handler, according to Nichols.

Serkaian tossed in 18 points in the first triumph over Meads Mill while Schrader netted 14 in the second victory.

Ann Griffiths and Joanne Hinds were two of the squad's steadiest rebounders, while Mary Fitzpatrick and Heather Martin were two of the top defensive players, Nichols said.

Other members of the team included Katie Fitzpatrick, Beth Parkinson, Jenny Stiner, Liz Dimitroff, Tracy Bell, Deanna Eusebi, Julie and Jenny Trausch and Lisa and Laura Oliver.

The Cooke squad handed Novi and Westland Marshall teams their only defeats all season, while Meads Mill lost only one other game aside from the two to Cooke, Nichols reported.

Swallow to compete at regional skating meet

Northville's Jerod Swallow will be competing in the Eastern Great Lakes Regional Figure Skating championships in Midland this weekend.

The 16-year-old skater will be paired with Shelly Propson in the novice pairs event and with Jodie Balogh in the novice dance competition.

Last year, Swallow and Balogh took third in the regionals and Midwestern championships in novice dance. Swallow also will be competing in the freestyle event.

If Swallow and his partners finish in the top three in their respective events, they will head to the Midwestern Championships in Denver in January.

Finding solutions to cope with stress

By MICHELE McELMURRY

It is sometimes referred to as a "dull edge" or "unseen killer." It can be brought about through excessive boredom or constant activity. While it often is associated with adults, its symptoms strike persons of all ages.

This affliction is known as stress and, according to psychologist Dr. Ruth Needham, it is a condition which often leaves its victim feeling helpless, overwhelmed and sometimes desperate.

Addressing Northville Woman's Club last Friday, Needham defined stress as "a non-specific response of the body to any demand put upon it."

In other words, she explained, "we crowd in so many things around us, that we don't have the time or energy to be the people we want to be."

She noted that most everyone suffers from stress in one form or another. However, she said the effect of stress on an individual's life primarily is related to attitude.

"Stress is not always nervous tension or influence of a threatening event or entirely bad," she said. "We need some stress in our lives to react to things."

However, she noted most people suffer from negative stress — or "distress" as it is commonly known. She cited "the change in the family" as one of the major forces of stress today.

She noted in particular that women trying to balance family and career tend to suffer considerable stress because of the demands they put upon themselves.

The mother of five children and three great-grandchildren, Needham said she is familiar with the stress which can be placed upon women who try to "do it all."

"We take on a burden we have no right to take on," she explained. "We're

She is a frequent speaker on stress and has conducted several workshops on the subject.

She noted in her discussion last Friday that many people aggravate a stressful condition by "overstimulating their bodies with coffee or nicotine or depressing themselves with alcohol or drugs."

To alleviate stress, she noted, "you

"Moderation is the key to being altruistic to others and egotistic to yourself," she said.

Making reference to Dr. Keith Schnert's book, entitled "Stress and Unstress," Needham mentioned several ways of alleviating stress.

Factors cited in Schnert's book include: understanding your own emotions, understanding the impact these emotions have on your health, knowing your spiritual needs, regular exercise, good diet, moderate or no alcohol, relaxation, change in daily routine and hobbies.

"It is important to have control in our lives," she said. "We have to know how to prioritize."

Friendships also play an important role in alleviating stress, Needham noted.

"Friendships have a high priority," she said. "Closeness with two or three people is more important than having casual friendships with many people."

"People need to be close and talk about their feelings," she added.

She cautioned those people who suffer from considerable stress to "put more control in their lives and organize themselves better."

"It's how we look at problems and solve them that counts," she said.

While some stress is normal for most people, she noted that "when a life is continually in upheaval, it will wear out sooner."

too hard on ourselves."

A Canton resident, Needham was the first person to receive a doctorate degree in adult education from Temple University in Philadelphia in 1976. She earned her doctorate at the age of 52.

A Pennsylvania licensed psychologist, she has worked as a guidance counselor, school and clinical psychologist, administrator, teacher and consultant to schools, colleges and hospitals.

have to know your own pace and your own limitations.

"Choose your own life goals," she suggested, "not somebody else's."

She used the term "altruistic egotism" as one means of dealing with stress. "By doing things to please other people you will please yourself," she noted.

However, Needham stressed the need "to do nice things for yourself" and to "avoid dangers and extremes."

Washington journalist to talk at Town Hall

Journalist Stan Cloud will be the featured speaker Thursday in the second presentation of this season's Northville Town Hall series at 11 a.m. at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Cloud, a noted expert on the U.S. presidency, was the last managing editor of the Washington Star before its closing in August, 1981. He was a correspondent and editor with Time magazine prior to his involvement in Time Incorporated's 1978-81 effort to save the capital's second newspaper.

Now working on a book dealing with the presidency and presidential campaigns, Cloud has been a journalist 25 years (with six years out for U.S. Navy service aboard destroyers in the Pacific and at the National Security Agency).

Cloud began his career with the Los Angeles Times, working full time while in college from 1954-58. Following his naval service, he worked two years covering politics in the courts at the Monterey Peninsula Herald.

In 1966 Cloud became editor of a local political magazine, "The Advocate" which he helped start. The magazine folded in 1968 and Cloud moved to San Francisco and Time's bureau there as a correspondent.

His work in San Francisco concentrated on the social upheavals of the late 1960s, including the rise of the Black Panthers, student demonstrations at Berkeley and the University of San Francisco, and the famous mutiny trial of the San Francisco Presidio.

Cloud was posted to Time's Moscow bureau in late 1969 (in part because he is fluent in Russian) but was expelled by the Soviet Union for journalistic "sins" in June, 1970. Time sent Cloud to Bangkok as bureau chief, covering the wars in Cambodia and Laos and assisting in Vietnam coverage.

In September, 1971, Cloud was named Saigon bureau chief and remained with the war until December, 1972, when he was moved to Washington, D.C., initially as a Senate correspondent.

While Cloud did some of the routine work of the assignment, much of his time was spent on coverage of Watergate, especially the Ervin Committee hearings which Cloud covered from start to finish. During that time, he developed several major scoops for Time and became intimately familiar with both the Watergate scandal and the behind-the-scenes workings of the Ervin committee.

STAN CLOUD

After Nixon's resignation in 1974, Cloud was assigned to national political coverage. At one time or another, he covered all the candidates. During this period he first met, traveled with and covered Jimmy Carter, becoming one of the first national reporters to pay attention to him and become convinced he would be a serious contender.

When Carter was elected, Cloud was assigned to the White House to cover the president. With the inauguration of Ronald Reagan, Cloud began to report on the new administration.

A celebrity luncheon follows the lecture for those season ticket holders who have made reservations.

In Our Town

Nobel Peace Prize nominee's father of local resident

BY JEANDAY

When Dr. Kenneth L. Pike spoke to Mary Rochon's class at Silver Springs Elementary a couple of years ago, most of the students identified him as Julie Ibach's grandfather.

They were listening, however, to one of the world's foremost linguists who has been called "the alphabet maker to the world."

This year Dr. Pike was nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize.

It was the first time in the 82-year history of the prize to name "the world's greatest living peacemaker" that a linguist had been nominated for the internationally prestigious prize. Dr. Pike's specialty is working with languages that never have been written.

"Papa's a very unique person," says his daughter Barbara. She and her husband David Ibach have lived in Northville with daughter Julie, 11, and son Benjamin, 9, for seven years. They are Highland Lakes residents on Dartmouth.

The Nobel Peace Prize was awarded in the area of nuclear science in mid-October. His daughter agrees that the nomination alone is a signal honor but observes, "The kinds of things Papa does are not a popular appeal. While he has taught so many people, it's a very quiet sort of thing."

She reveals that her father was nominated last February by U.S. Senator Alan Dixon-D. of Illinois. The nomination was seconded by United States and European educators. Barbara Ibach notes that the nomination itself is a document a couple of inches thick.

Although Dr. Pike, 70, has never negotiated a peace conference between warring nations and never halted a military advance, those who recommended him insist he'd done more than any other single person living today to foster world peace, reports the Summer Institute of Linguistics, Incorporated, an international organization in Dallas, which Dr. Pike helped found in 1942.

Through scientific studies in language, the institute explains, Dr. Pike has contributed to world peace "by giving nations and individuals the tools to communicate accurately, sensitively and comprehensively with each other." Dr. Pike's nomination was a joint one with the institute.

The Summer Institute specializes in writing alphabets for languages that have never been written and in teaching people to read. It also works to begin a literature for the people by developing primers, dictionaries and translating portions of the Bible.

Dr. Pike has been a trailblazer in field linguistics for nearly 50 years. Time after time, the institute explains, Dr. Pike and his colleagues have cracked language codes. Dr. Pike in the nomination was called "one of the scholarly giants of our age ..." and cited as having "personal knowledge of more languages than any other person, living or dead."

Another nomination stated, "He has introduced literacy to millions in distant areas of Latin America, Africa and Asia. I can't think of anyone who has contributed so much for the non-literates of the world."

Dr. Pike, born in Woodstock, Connecticut, started his language venture in 1935 when he went to Mexico to translate the Bible for Mixtec Indians.

He detected the language was tonal, but very little was known in the 1930s about analyzing tone. That was the beginning of the theoretical work that has made him one of the world's leading linguists. For him, the institute outlines, the clue to all languages is that there is structure and pattern in all of them.

Dr. Pike earned his Ph.D. from the University of Michigan in 1942 for his work in phonetics. He attempted to describe all the sounds of all the languages in the world. He taught at the university until retirement there in 1977. He was chairman of the Department of Linguistics his last two years.

Dr. Pike himself considers his greatest work to be in the field of grammar — "tagmemics" — a word he coined to describe what he believes are the universals of language and behavior.

The man whose work helps linguists begin to unravel the mysteries of previously unwritten languages still has time to spend with young people, his daughter remarks. Her children went to visit this summer at the University of Oklahoma where he was teaching.

Surprise party marks George Shoebridge's 90th

A surprise party was given for George Shoebridge to celebrate his 90th birthday. The open house was held at the home of his son Clifford at 303 Pennell Sunday afternoon, October 17. A Northville resident until 17 years ago, Mr. Shoebridge now lives at 560 Hill in Milford.

Sixty friends and relatives gathered for the celebration. Among the many cards was an unexpected greeting from President Ronald Reagan.

Mr. Shoebridge has a sister May living in Plymouth and a brother Earl in the West. His other son George died in 1975. He has five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Kathleen Leo's poetry's in "Threads"

Northville resident and poet Kathleen Leo is a contributor to "Mingled Threads," a new anthology by the writers' group of the Dearborn Branch of the American Association of University Women containing creative poetry and prose of 19 writers' group members.

The book has been lauded as "filled with creative imagery, with wit, wisdom, whimsy and warmth." Major funding was provided by a Research and Projects Grant from the Educational Foundation, AAUW, and an additional grant from the Dearborn Arts Council.

Published in honor of the Dearborn Branch 50th anniversary, the book will be introduced at a meet-the-authors party from 2-5 p.m. November 20 at the Henry Ford Centennial Library in Dearborn. Just in time for Christmas giving, the book is priced at $6.

Old-fashion crafts day planned for children

In the spirit of Christmases Past, Northville Historical Society will hold a children's Christmas gift workshop from 1-3 p.m. Saturday, December 4, in New School Church in Mill Race Village.

Children in grades 1-6 are invited to participate in an afternoon of fun and crafts.

The projects planned will be Christmas surprises. As in the past, youngsters will be making Early American decorations and gifts.

Planners Carole Jean Stockhausen and Lucia Danes are guaranteeing that all will leave with a shopping bag containing old-fashioned gifts wrapped and ready to hide away until Christmas.

Both former art teachers, they state that ample adult supervision will be provided by volunteers.

Due to space limitations, only the first 75 children enrolled can be accepted.

Enrollments may be made by sending the child's name, address and $6 check made payable to the Northville Historical Society to Children's Christmas Workshop, 218 West Dunlap, Northville. Registration deadline is November 24.

Parents are asked to park in the Griswold Street parking lot and walk children over the bridge to the New School Church directly ahead, and to pick them up the same way.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL BESH

MR. AND MRS. JOHN DOYLE II

Bride wears mother's gown

Susan Downey, John Doyle wed

Susan Lynn Downey, daughter of former Northville residents Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Downey of Norfolk, Massachusetts, became the bride of John Patrick Doyle II in a double ring ceremony September 11.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Patrick Doyle of 46975 Curtis.

The ceremony was held at First United Methodist Church of Northville with the Reverend Guenther Branstner and Father Ron Thurner officiating.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore her mother's ivory taffeta gown fashioned with a lace bodice and long sleeves. The skirt was enhanced with lace overlay, and a silk scalloped headpiece held the bride's fingertip veil.

She carried a bouquet of fresh white roses, ivory miniature carnations, stephanotis and a touch of pale peach silk forget-me-nots.

The bride placed a half-penny in her shoe for luck.

Mrs. Peter Gignac of Wixom was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister Mary Doyle of Northville and Elaine Smith of Northville.

The bride's attendants wore pale peach taffeta gowns fashioned with off-the-shoulder ruffles. Each carried a bouquet of peach silk roses, lilies, almond blossoms, ivory stephanotis and fresh baby's-breath.

Gregory Wood of Hermosa Beach, California, was best man. Groomsman were the bridegroom's brother Gerald Doyle of Northville and Gregory DeMarco of New Jersey.

Ushers were the bride's brother Kent Downey of Novi and the bridegroom's brothers Stephen Doyle of Denver, Colorado, and Christopher Doyle of Northville.

A reception for 125 guests followed the ceremony at Knights of Columbus Hall in Livonia. Out-of-town guests came from Massachusetts, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, Indiana, California and Colorado.

The couple met in 1978 while working at Friendly Ice Cream in Northville.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Northville High School and received her associate's degree in legal secretarial program from Schoolcraft College. She currently is employed as a secretary at McDonnell Douglas Corporation in St. Louis, Missouri.

The bridegroom is a Catholic Central High School graduate and received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Notre Dame. He currently is employed as an aerospace engineer for McDonnell Douglas Corporation in St. Louis.

The newlyweds are making their home in Maryland Heights, Missouri.

Girl Scouts schedule Job Fair

Huron Valley Girl Scout Council will sponsor a Job Fair for all area junior and senior high students from 9:15 a.m. to 2 p.m. this Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

The program, designed for students interested in summer jobs, full-time employment or after-school jobs, will include audio visual presentations and informal discussions with employers, armed forces recruiters and business experts.

Subjects to be discussed will include preparing a resume, interviews, succeeding on the job and managing money.

Cost for the program is $2 and participants should bring a brown bag lunch. Beverages will be provided.

Spitz, Besh vows read in fall rites

Linda Ellen Spitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spitz of Canton, and Paul Richard Besh of Northville exchanged marriage vows October 2 at St. Conrad's Catholic Church in Melvindale.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Besh of 41124 Stoneleigh. Officiating the ceremony was Father Gerard Hadad.

The bride's empire-style gown was enhanced with a Queen Anne neckline of lace and organza and extended into a chapel train. She wore a fingertip veil and carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's-breath with pink accents.

Wearing wine-colored organza gowns with matching wide-brimmed hats were matron of honor Sue Bonnell, maid of honor Lena Cox and bridesmaids Judy Spitz, the bride's sister, Cara Besh, the bridegroom's sister, and Shelly Bodenham. The bride's attendants carried bouquets of wine and pink silk flowers.

Serving as best man was the bridegroom's brother Jeff Besh. His cousins Don and Dan DiComo served as ushers along with Dan Geisler and Todd Taylor.

A reception was held at Northville American Legion Hall following the ceremony. An early morning breakfast was held at the Besh residence on Stoneleigh following the reception.

The bride is a 1980 Plymouth-Salem High School graduate. The bridegroom was graduated from Northville High School in 1975.

New babies welcomed

Announcement of the birth of Tiffany Crystal Bogart, born on her father's birthday October 17, comes from Red Lodge, Montana.
