Ford plant renovation ahead of schedule

By KEVIN WILSON

This holiday season is looking a lot brighter than last year's for those with a stake in the Ford Motor Company's Northville operation.

Renovation and reactivation of the waterwheel plant at the South Main bend is proceeding ahead of schedule and both labor and management are actively pursuing additional work to be done.

The "village industries" site Ford nearly shut down last December 23 now employs 41 hourly workers (as opposed to 25 last year at this time), with some assigned to a rack repair job while others prepare the plant for the fuel tank construction task that is to begin production in February. More than 240 were employed in November, 1980, when Ford initially announced its intention to close the plant.

Plant manager William Sherrick noted that Ford schedules as of September 1 (when the jobs were assigned to the former valve-making facility after the company decided to reopen the plant) called for rack repair work to start January 4, 1983.

Laborers began repairing the parts racks November 23, nearly six weeks ahead of schedule. The early start-up, Sherrick said, was made possible by faster-than-expected dismantling and removal of valve-making machinery and other plant renovations.

Sherrick said last week dismantling is 90 percent complete, the plant boiler has been converted to use natural gas instead of fuel oil, and the installation of fuel tank presses (15 machines) is 50 percent complete.

"All the work is being done by UAW members," Sherrick explained. "That's a departure for Ford, because normally a lot of this work would be contracted to outside suppliers. But the UAW workers have done it all — plumbing, electrical, pouring foundations for the new machines."

Last week, workers were completing a total rehabilitation of the drainage system in the floor at the west end of the building (built in 1956). Ford employees dug up the old system, replaced the plumbing and poured the concrete floors.

The immediate target, Sherrick and UAW local 896 president Norm Fultz explained, is the production of fuel tanks. While "job one" is to be February 21, Sherrick said the real challenge comes in June, when the plant will have to start meeting the deadlines of a production schedule.

"We'll be making fuel tanks for 57 models (of passenger vehicles) built over the past 14 years," Sherrick said. "Total volume will be roughly 71,000 tanks."

He noted there are many different types of tanks to be made, in volumes ranging from only 16 up to 4,780 each.

One anticipated problem, Sherrick and Fultz related, is that Northville Ford employees have no experience with fuel tank production, having worked their careers making valves.

"We've already started running some of our people through training in Dearborn," Sherrick said. "By June, we have to start a high production fuel tank for the Econoline (van) and the F-series trucks. We'll have to meet a production schedule for the first time then."

Financially, the little plant which must make it on its own under terms of the reopening is doing better than anticipated, Sherrick said. While it does not yet operate "in the black," start-up expenditures so far are below projections. Fultz and Sherrick proudly noted that the plant sold three of the five six-year-old Bendix valve-making machines at higher-than-anticipated prices. The machines were considered state-of-the-art when installed.

City joins ambulance service bid

Taking a step closer to an area-wide shared ambulance service, Northville City Council Monday night approved going out for bids jointly with the cities of Novi and Farmington and Northville Township.

Council member Carolann Ayers, who has served as the city's representative on an ad hoc committee for a year studying the feasibility of a regional emergency service, said she feels the city would be better served on a "regional basis."

The council studied the ad hoc committee report prepared for the City of Farmington.

The committee was authorized last year by the municipalities of Farmington Hills, Farmington, Novi, Northville and Northville Township to research the concept of a "regionalized" emergency medical service system for the communities. Since then, Ayers reported, Farmington Hills "felt it couldn't wait for service" and dropped out.

The committee was formed after citizen objections on present services and high costs were aired in the communities involved.

The committee's report was updated in October and outlines specifications to be used in seeking proposals for EMS service.

Those specifications, it was pointed out, intentionally have been left rather general to permit flexibility on the part of the ambulance services bidding for the contract.

The plan requires three locations where ambulances would be based, but does not specifically state the locations.

City Manager Steven Walters said the committee expects there would be one in Farmington, one in Novi and a shared base for Northville and Northville Township.

The council indicated it is "looking ahead" to be ready when the present contract with Novi Ambulance expires the end of February, 1983. It already has notified the firm it does not intend to renew the current service shared with the township.

Fast progress credited to labor relations plan

"This plant belongs to these people, and they know it," says Northville Ford plant manager Bill Sherrick, explaining the unique labor-management relations at the facility since its September 1 reopening.

When announcing that some laid off workers would soon be recalled, Ford vice president John Betti said the intent was to make the company's Northville facility a showcase for "new people programs" in the spirit of the labor agreement signed earlier in the year.

To hear Sherrick and Fultz tell it, the plant is as far ahead of schedule on that goal as it is in regards to production (see related story).

"We have two employee involvement meetings a month," Sherrick notes, eyeing the water wheel rotating outside his office window. "We use the following format for discussion: program status, financial status and progress, work remaining and scheduling, pursuit of additional business and a question-and-answer session."

While such discussions could easily become one-way lectures from management, Fultz and Sherrick agree there is real communication being conducted.

"I have an open door policy," Sherrick stresses. "Anyone can come in here and talk to me about anything. We operate on a team concept."

When they returned to work, employees were divided into three-man teams and have been assigned tasks on that basis.

Adds Fultz: "It's really paying off. It's working out better than I imagined. People are coming up with suggestions, and the thing is, the suggestions they're coming up with are saving us money."

He cites reduced fire extinguisher costs by switching from carbon dioxide to water and a lower-cost method of making electrical connections as examples of such suggestions.

"People are really aware of what's coming in and of how there isn't a lot of money," Fultz says. Employees pouring new concrete by the shipping ramps inquired whether the grade of lumber used for forms was not too high (and expensive), he notes. When checked, it was found the lumber "just happened to be a good batch. But people were aware and they question things and that's good. Before, they'd have just gone ahead and used whatever they got without even looking at it."

For low income

Township gets half of grant

By KEVIN WILSON

Low-income Park Gardens residents will be eligible for assistance in paying special assessment costs through a compromise arrangement adopted by county grants administrators December 2.

The compromise arose during reconsideration of a decision made last July to deny a township application for $70,000 in discretionary grant funding for sewer construction in the septic-failure plagued subdivision.

More than an hour was devoted to the advisory council's discussion of the matter in Melvindale City Hall and, when it was over, it was agreed that the township should receive $35,000 from the discretionary program to be applied toward SAD costs for low and moderate income residents of Park Gardens.

Another $35,000 is to be added from next year's basic community entitlement (a $99,000 allocation which the township has, in past years, devoted largely to Park Gardens).

According to block grants administration staffer Terry Jarvis, those seeking help would have to meet the standards of a "needs test" to assure that they have low-to-moderate income levels. As an example, he said, a family of four with income of $21,000 or less would be eligible.

Attending the session on the township's behalf were Supervisor John MacDonald (whose letter to the council prompted the reconsideration), business manager David Leiko and Park Gardens homeowners association vice president Liz McCarville. Also attending, though not speaking during the discussion, was county commissioner Mary Dumas and Denise Radtke of Congressman Carl Pursell's local office.

The compromise arrangement was devised as advisory council members attempted to salvage the validity of the points system used to allocate grant monies while acknowledging the needs of the Park Gardens project.

The proposal scored below the 240-point minimum used as a cutoff in staff deliberations, then reported to the council. Controversy arose over the summer when it was noted the Park Gardens program and a Sumpter Township proposal had been passed over while Grosse Pointe Woods got money for tree and flower-planting. The latter project had scored more than the 240 point minimum, but staff had recommended against its funding, citing its less-than-essential nature.

Asked if the Park Gardens project would have scored above the 240 level if it had been targeted for aid to low and moderate income families instead of simply reducing the entire SAD cost, Jarvis did some quick calculations and said it would have qualified.

That answered the concern of Melvindale Mayor Tom Coogan, chairing the Revision of regulations is nearing conclusion

Fees charged developers for review of subdivision plats would be increased an average 15 percent, and the fee schedule would be restructured under a proposal presented before the township planning commission last week.

Planning consultant Claude Coates and engineer Edward McNeely recommended the changes as the final alteration in an update of the township's subdivision regulations.

Increases in charges for plat reviews would cover increased costs incurred by the consultants and add to the township's administration receipts. Restructuring the schedule would eliminate the cost to the developer as a potential influence on planning commission deliberations.

Coates explained that under the present system, commissioners might be inclined to grant conditional approval (which allows issuance of building permits), instead of rejecting a plan because resubmittal of a rejected plan costs twice what review of a conditionally approved plan does.

Because of the alterations in the schedule, some specific fees would jump more than 25 percent while others would increase only 6 percent, but Coates said the overall cost to a developer would rise 15 percent.

The commission also opted to meet jointly with the township board of trustees January 18 to review the proposed alterations in subdivision regulations, of which the fee schedule is a part, before proceeding further. The cost of the review is covered by federal grant money applied toward planning projects. A percentage of the township's entitlement grants, most recently applied to the Park Gardens sewer project, is regularly assigned to planning purposes.

In other commission action:

— Final approval of site plans for the Metropolitan Seventh Day Adventist Church being erected on Haggerty Road was tabled until January while MSDA awaits letters of approval from county bodies.

— The commission canceled its regular December session, which would have been December 28.

— New member Jerry Chisnell, who takes his seat in January, was welcomed to the commission. Chairman Kenneth McLarty formally extended thanks to departing member Dorothy Gay "for her service on behalf of the planning commission" and "re-welcomed" reappointed members Marvin Gans and Pat Wright.

— McLarty noted that election of new officers will be conducted at the January meeting, and said he would prefer not to serve as chairman in 1983.

Hospital needs Santas

A lot of local "Santas" are needed if the more than 1,000 patients at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital on Seven Mile in Northville Township are going to have a Christmas celebration.

Attorney Philip Ogilvie, who has coordinated community-patient donations at the holiday season for many years, reports this week that he needs many more promises of help.

In past years, he explains, he has worked with the hospital's community relations representative Jean Batchelor to supply Christmas wishes of specific patients who otherwise would not be remembered.

Because there are so many at the hospital right now, and because the case loads change with greater frequency, it is impossible to assign requests of specific patients.

Therefore, residents are being asked to shop for patients of their choice, male or female, by age and size.

Because, Batchelor says, there are fewer state funds and more patients, help is greatly needed this year.

Ogilvie suggests buying shirts for men, blouses for women, and such stretch items as hats, gloves and socks that fit all. He says he and the staff also will shop for those who prefer to give money donations.

Gifts should be wrapped and labeled "from a friend," and may be taken to First Presbyterian Church, which is cooperating in the project, or to Ogilvie's office at 104 West Main. A note should be attached designating for whom the gift is intended (male or female and size).

The hospital asks that donors not include their names.

Northville Rotarians again this year are assisting with the project. Letters also have been sent to local churches. Ogilvie says Our Lady of Victory Church has agreed to help.

The wrapped gifts are needed by December 19.

Ogilvie would like those who will be bringing in gifts to call his office, 349-2600, this week, however; so that he has an indication of how many to expect. He noted he is concerned because response to the annual appeal is down while the need is greater.

Northville resident BRUCE TROJANOWSKI has been elected student government representative of Lawrence Institute of Technology's student chapter of the Society of Physics Students.

Trojanowski, a freshman in the electrical engineering program at LIT, also is a member of the American Chemical Society.

Northville resident DEBORA A. McDOUGALL is among the 33 Northwood Institute students named to the 1983 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

Students named to the publication are selected from more than 1,300 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

RANDALL RUTHERFORD, son of Freda Rutherford of Northville and Tom Rutherford of Marietta, Georgia, is chairman of Central Michigan University's Program Board.

Members of the Program Board plan and schedule concerts, lectures, films, performing arts and coffeehouse entertainment at the University.

Five Northville residents were among the 400 students at Michigan Technological University awarded degrees at Fall Commencement November 20.

Students receiving degrees included JOHN MICHAEL BEDFORD, B.S. in forestry; KRISTY ANN IFFERSON, A.A.S. in mechanical design technology; THOMAS WILLIAM PIETILA, B. in business administration; GARY L. SCHLAFF, B.S. in biological sciences and JAMES H. WESTON, B.S. in business administration.

Concert's this Sunday

The Novi Chamber Music Society will present a recital at Faith Community United Presbyterian Church in Novi this Sunday at 3 p.m. The church is located on Ten Mile between Novi and Taft roads.

Performing music by Beethoven and Brahms will be Alex Ross, violin; John Dunlap, cello; and Fontaine Lang, piano. For more information call 349-5666 or 349-7783.

A graduate of Syracuse University and the University of Michigan, John Dunlap performed with the Scola Cantorum in Switzerland and Ars Musica in Ann Arbor. Currently the director of the Ann Arbor Suzuki Institute, he has had articles published in American String Teacher and Suzuki Journal.

Alex Ross, a University of Michigan graduate, has performed at the Round Top Festival in Texas and been concertmaster of the Ann Arbor Chamber Orchestra and Plymouth Symphony. He currently teaches in Novi and Ann Arbor.

A Novi resident, Fontaine Lang graduated from the University of Texas and the University of Michigan with degrees in piano and chamber music. She has performed solos with area orchestras, recorded with Detroit Symphony members and performed in several chamber music series including Brunch with Bach, Cranbrook Music Series and Nightcap with Mozart. She teaches at the Detroit Community Music School and in Novi.

Downs activity encourages council

Sharply improved parimutuel handles at Jackson's Action at Northville Downs proved encouraging to city council Monday night although City Manager Steven Walters warned that the city has no idea when it will receive the track monies from the state.

As the city's budget problems were discussed, council members received a comparison of this year's track action with last from Walters which showed the average daily handle in November as $541,595 compared with $386,430 for November, 1981.

The city's statutory share of the amount was computed at $162,478 compared with $115,928 last year. The city's share of the fiscal year to date was tabbed at $228,709 compared with $164,858 last year at the same time.

Walters noted that there is no indication that the increased activity at the track won't continue, but pointed out the city last year learned the state does not feel an obligation to keep its commitment on track revenue returns.

In a discussion of the budget, he said the actual total, as of December receipts is short of projection by $20,775.

The council agreed the budget will require amending by January. Walters said the city will be able to survive without the anticipated track returns probably until the first payroll in February.

During an audit report from Plante and Moran earlier in the meeting, Ken Kunkel had commented, "It is hard for Lansing to understand how devastating

"Out of 60 cities (the firm audits) we haven't had anyone hit anywhere as hard."

— Ken Kunkel
Plante & Moran

it (cut in track returns) can be to a city this size.

"All you can do is try to ride it out." He told the council the city, without exception, has a "clean" audit but observed that "out of 60 cities (the firm audits) we haven't had anyone hit anywhere as hard."

The failure of the state to return anticipated track revenues, he said, creates a serious problem for which he saw a cure only through legislative action to restore revenues.

In addition to a $483,000 general fund deficit, largely due to lack of anticipated track returns, the city has a $76,000 deficit in the Downtown Development Authority fund.

Kunkel said this will be covered as the downtown tax base grows and anticipated the break-even point will be in two years.

Property taxes, he showed, now account for 56 percent of the city's revenue, compared with 41 percent last budget year.

Noting the city had increased taxes by two mills, Kunkel told the council, "you really are doing all within your power between cutting costs and raising revenue."

In the short haul, he added, the city is hurting because of such projects as the DDA, Allen Terrace senior citizens' facility and parking facility expansion, but he said, "you have a lot to show for your expenditures."

The DDA, he said, undoubtedly obtained the lowest interest rate for the Mainstreet 78 renovation of any municipality in the state. He said he feels such rates never will be available again to municipalities.

"It's good you did go ahead with all the projects," he confirmed.

In addition to the costs involved in policing Downs activity, the city is penalized with higher district court costs, council member J. Burton DeRusha pointed out.

In the program of shared costs based on use in 35th District Court, he noted that Northville which has about half the population of Plymouth has almost the same court costs, based on use.

Much of that use comes from race track activity noted in the monthly police reports, DeRusha said.

He suggested that consideration should be given by the city planning commission to alternate uses on a long-range master plan for the property.

A budget report on district court costs projected that from January 1 to June 30 of next year the city's share of added costs will be $17,310 based on revised formulas, which Walters said are to the city's advantage.

The police report of activity at the Downs listed 98 parking violations from October 18 through November 30 for vehicles parking in fire lanes.

The three page report of activity included 22 instances of police assisting persons who had locked themselves out of their cars.

This has become so common an occurrence, Police Chief Rodney Cannon told council, that all five police cars now are supplied with equipment to gain entry to locked vehicles.

He added that, for some, this is a mixed blessing. A recent Cleveland visitor to the track, he explained, asked for assistance in gaining entry to a rented car and later called again for tow service.

Cannon said some new General Motors cars have anti-theft devices that prevent starting when there has been forced entry.

"And the car rental agency wasn't responsible for the considerable repair cost," he commented.

Second floor residence sought in PBO

A request to permit residential use above the ground floor in conjunction with commercial/office use in the Professional, Business, Office (PBO) District was received by city council Monday night and referred to the city planning commission for a report.

Robert H. Stone of Follmer-Stone Associates real estate service, in a letter to the council, noted that the use was added to the zoning ordinance some time ago in the Central Business District (CBD) because "it was felt desirable to have second story residential uses mixed with the commercial in the downtown area."

At the council meeting, he noted that the PBO District contains many residential structures, most of which are two stories, and said that allowing the second story residential use "would facilitate the conversion of first floors to commercial, using existing structures."

Saying it is "economically more feasible," Stone added it would "encourage the use of the residential structures rather than their replacement with conventional commercial structures."

He stated it is impractical to convert two story houses to full commercial or office use because of barrier-free limitations.

It was pointed out that it is desirable to have residents living in the office buildings for added security during the night time hours.

His specific request is for property at 424 South Main.

City Manager Steven Walters told council the residential second floor use is permitted in the CBD if the space is half or less of the total.

"I think it has a lot of logic," he commented, "and probably makes use of residences as offices more feasible."

Walters felt the planning commission should consider the request. Council member J. Burton DeRusha stated he would like to "hear both sides" of the situation.

He recalled that when he was a youngster he lived over a bar with his family and "roller skated down the halls." To objections from below, he said, he mother replied that the activity below kept her awake at night; therefore, she did not feel bad about the daytime noise.

For such reasons, he said, he would like to consider pros and cons.

Cable TV channel airs groups singing carols

Alert Omnicom subscribers already may have noticed the community Christmas carols that began airing on OMNI-8 Monday, between regularly scheduled programs.

In addition, said Omnicom Community Affairs and Program Director Suzanne Skubick, a program featuring every community group that recorded a Christmas carol will be aired in the week before Christmas.

"Over the past few weeks we have taped numerous community organizations/groups singing their favorite Christmas tune. We have had a lot of fun giving the communities that we serve the opportunity to wish each other a Merry Christmas in this unique way," said Skubick.

The Omnicom programming staff recorded more than two dozen Christmas songs from such diverse groups as Brownies/Girl Scouts and Cub Scouts; Chambers of Commerce; League of Women Voters; Rotarians and many more.

"We hope our subscribers will watch OMNI-8 over the next few weeks to catch their friends and neighbors singing," Skubick said. In addition to breaks between regular programs, she said she is encouraging subscribers to watch the paper and the OMNI-8 program guide for the exact listing of days and times the entire collection of Christmas Carols will be aired.

"The programming staff of Omnicom would like to thank all the organizations/groups that participated in this year's Community Christmas Carol Singing Greeting. We plan to make this an annual event and we hope many more groups will sing out next year," she concluded.

Recipe correction

Those trying recipes from our Christmas Gift Guide published November 24 should take note of the following correction.

The recipe for Ginny Wood's Orange Walnut Date Bars (Page 7) should have included a cup of flour.

Mrs. Wood, a South Lyon resident, contacted the South Lyon Herald after noticing the missing ingredient.

For those who may not have seen our Christmas Gift Guide, we have reprinted the recipe for Ginny Wood's Orange Walnut Date Bars—flour included.

¾ C. brown sugar
½ C. margarine

¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. soda
1 egg
1 Tbsp. grated orange rind
2 Tbsp. orange juice
¼ C. nuts
½ C. chopped dates
1 C. flour

Pour in greased and floured 7 x 11-inch pan. Bake in 350-degree oven for 25-30 minutes. Frost with icing made of 1 cup confectioners sugar, 1 tablespoon orange juice, ¼ cup margarine, 1 teaspoon orange grated rind and ½ teaspoon of vanilla beaten well together.

City council to seek shared ambulance bids

Ayers explained that under the new contract it is hoped the service will "be a going concern" and not require subsidies.

Questioned whether there would be enough qualified ambulance firms in the area who could bid, Walters said that would not be a problem as he knows of at least three that are large enough, including the present service. He added that the township is expected to have the matter on its agenda for approval Thursday night.

General specifications which the committee recommended require that the bidder shall furnish Advanced Life Support Service and Ambulance Transportation Service in compliance with state health department regulations and policies as well as policies and regulations of Oakland County Council for EMS.

The specifications set forth minimum standard for the Advanced Life Support and Transportation Service for communities sharing the service. It is to be provided on a 24-hour a day basis, 365 days a year.

The bidder will be responsible for providing Workman's Compensation Insurance, motor vehicle insurance and bodily injury insurance in the amount of not less than $1 million for injury, including accidental death, to each person and motor vehicle insurance in the same amount, as well as $1 million professional liability insurance.

Term of the contract suggested by the committee is for five years to the extended with consent of the parties. Termination of the contract by one governmental unit does not require termination by the others.

Any violations of the service must be corrected within 60 days. Other requirements will include furnishing a listing of all personnel working in the service together with training received, a state license number, listing of all vehicles proposed to be used.

It specifies that each ambulance unit shall be staffed by a minimum of two Advanced Emergency Medical Technicians licensed by the Michigan Department of Health.

They will be required to cooperate with licensed EMS police or fire department personnel in the communities served.

As the motion to seek bids on the proposal was made by council member Paul Folino, Folino said he had studied it carefully and felt it covered the city's needs. The motion was seconded by council member J. Burton DeRusha and approved unanimously by the four members present. G. Dewey Gardner, mayor pro tem, presided in the absence of Mayor Paul Vernon.

When all communities have approved the recommendation, Walters said, the ad hoc committee will advertise for bids.

Farmington and Novi already had approved the proposal.

Trustees agenda has EMS, pension, building issues

Emergency medical service items dominate the agenda for Thursday's meeting of the township board of trustees.

John Early, owner of present provider Novi Ambulance, will appear personally before the board to present his argument to have the board execute a five-year renewal option in the present contract.

Early was to appear last month, but was delayed, so is scheduled under the board's old business. New business includes the report of an ad hoc study committee for four-community emergency medical service, and an expected board vote to join with the city, Novi and Farmington to seek proposals for EMS (see related story beginning on page one).

Also on the agenda is an appearance by Michigan Townships-Association representatives seeking to have Northville Township join their organization. The board dropped MTA membership last year in favor of a new organization of Chartered and Urban Townships (CUTA).

The board will also consider a letter from 35th District Court administrator George Wiland explaining a new book-keeping procedure that will end monthly payments to participating communities. Instead, the court system will retain the revenues and apply them against the community's costs with full accounting at year-end (December 31, 1983).

Wiland's letter explains that the move was approved by the advisory board, with township supervisor John MacDonald, Plymouth Township supervisor Maurice Breen, John Flodin and Henry Graper present. It is a response to the court's "tight cash flow position" he wrote.

Several building issues will also be considered under old business, including the Montessori School (where site plans are not yet approved), uncompleted homesites in Whisperwoods subdivision and a report on storage buildings on Ridge between Five and Six Mile roads.

Also to be considered is a study of the township's pension programs as outlined in a special meeting of the board last month.

Reappointments confirmed

Five members of city boards and commissions were reappointed to new terms Monday night by city council.

William Milne was named to a new three-year term on the Board of Review.

Robert Brueck was reappointed to the Economic Development Commission for a six-year term.

A. Malcolm Allen and Francis Gazlay were reappointed to three-year terms as members of the Northville Historic District Commission.

Jerry Mittman, who currently is a member of the city planning commission, had agreed to serve another two-year term on the recreation commission if the council wished. Pointing out it would be helpful to keep an experienced member on the commission, which has two new members now, council member Carolann Ayers recommended the appointment. It passed unanimously.

Howell resigns from commission

James N. Howell of Northville has resigned from the state's Air Pollution Control Commission, it was announced in Lansing December 1.

Governor William G.

Milliken has appointed Nicholas Kachman of Grosse Pointe Farms to fill out the remainder of his term expiring June 15, 1984. Kachman, manager of Air and Water Pollution Control with the Environmental Activities staff of the General Motors Corporation in Warren, will serve as an industry representative.

Little elves gather at Mill Race for Christmas gift workshop

Last Saturday afternoon, some 70 children in grades 1-6 gathered at New School Church in Mill Race Village for the Northville Historical Society's Annual Christmas Gift Workshop. Children participating in the workshop spent the afternoon making Early American decorations and gifts. For the group at right, the best part of the afternoon was tasting the peanut brittle. At left, workshop planner Carole Jean Stockhausen demonstrates candle dipping. When the workshop came to a close, each child left with a shopping bag full of old-fashioned gifts to put under the Christmas tree.

Hill Top Shoppe open Saturday

The Hill-Top Shoppe, Northville High School's student store, will be open to the public from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. The shop, located inside the high school cafeteria, will be offering free candy canes and coffee. A bake sale also will be held. Santa Claus will make a special appearance from 12:30-1:30 p.m. Children can have their pictures taken with Santa for a $1 donation. A coloring contest for children ages 3-6 and 7-10 will be held from 1:30-2:30 p.m. The winner in each group will receive a stuffed animal. The Hill-Top Shoppe carries a variety of merchandise including everything from hooded T-shirts and jackets to stuffed animals and Christmas gifts. A new feature of the store is custom T-shirt printing. Those unable to shop Saturday can visit the Hill-Top Shoppe between 7:30 a.m. and 1:45 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Low-income residents eligible for assistance session, who asked if an allocation to Park Gardens would not "throw out the scoring system."

Other council members said they believed there was added benefit in targeting the funds to lower income households, despite MacDonald's and McCarville's urging that the full $70,000 be applied toward the total project cost.

"Since you allocated your previous money spread across the entire SAD," said county commissioner Kay Beard (D-Inkster), "it seems now we should target the aid to the people who need it most."

Others said they had concern a great deal of money had already been appropriated to the project — more than $500,000 according to Jarvis. MacDonald noted the sewer installation is the biggest program to be funded through the grant system, and costs rose dramatically as time passed while the township attempted to accumulate several years' worth of grants.

"Maybe at one time it would seem we got too much money," he said, "as time went on, the price kept jumping ahead of the allocation."

As it became evident the council was leaning toward some appropriation to Park Gardens, the question became one of finding the money to do so from a fund that has been assigned since July.

Jarvis said the only source would be the excess discretionary funding assigned to housing rehabilitation programs last summer. No community had, as yet, applied for any of the $137,000 set aside for that purpose.

Another consideration was a staff determination that the township's monetary participation in the program was below par. Council member James Poole, supervisor of Canton Township, said, sarcastically, to MacDonald, "if I had a $1.4 million project going in my community, with half a million in grants and a SAD, heck, we'd throw in $76,000!"

The township, to date, has committed

$75,000 to the $1.375 million project. MacDonald said "there will be more township participation in this project," but did not mention any specifics.

Given the circumstances, many council members urged a split in the allocation, giving $35,000 in discretionary funds with the understanding that the township commit a similar amount from next year's entitlement grant and that "this project never again darken our doorway."

A motion by commissioner Woods that the council appropriate $70,000 was amended on an 8-4 vote to make the 50-50 split in the grant. Under parliamentary rules, the same vote approved the amended motion. It was evident immediately after the vote that several council members were confused on this point and thought they were voting only on the amendment and not on the general motion to allocate funds (Poole was among these).

Coogan ruled that the vote would stand.

Similar reconsideration of the grant application of Sumpter Township to be used for a geologic study of a landfill site where the owners may soon apply (a second time) for permission to dump hazardous waste in addition to the normal solid waste was denied on 6-6 tie vote. When the original request for $21,000 for the study was trimmed to $15,000, the request was again denied 6-6.

Sumpter's application received one point less than did Northville Township's in review (228-227) but the reconsideration discussion did not include any expressed concern about the point system's integrity, nor did entail the sort of "what if" alterations to the grant that quelled council concerns in the Park Gardens case.

Repeated efforts to have reconsideration of another rejected project — Melvindale's application to be applied to a library system — failed, even though the request was the only one to score above the 240 level yet receive no funding.

Defense is LWV topic

Colonel Otis Bryan of the U.S. Air Force will speak on military spending and national defense at Plymouth City Commission chambers on the second floor of Plymouth City Hall tomorrow (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting, which is open to all interested persons, is sponsored by the League of Women Voters (LWV) of Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi.

Colonel Bryan is chief of the Air Force issues team which decides Air Force priorities and then appears before Congress to request appropriations to fund the proposed projects. He will answer questions from the audience at the conclusion of his remarks.

Tomorrow's meeting will be the official kick-off of the local LWV's participation in a new national study by the LWV of the United States to evaluate national security policies and their impact on the nation's domestic programs and U.S. relationships with other nations.

Membership in the LWV is open to all citizens, men and women, of voting age. For more information call Michele Howard at 453-8542.

Lois Godfrey and 'Crittter' take an antique buggy ride home

The buggy ride from South Lyon taken by Lois Godfrey last week could have been a reenactment of one taken in 1900. The restored antique buggy is of that vintage says Mrs. Godfrey, wife of Dr. H. G. Godfrey, a Northville dentist. She had been eyeing the buggy for six years and finally last week Tuesday was able to buy it from Velmar Starr of South Lyon. On the trip home along Six Mile, she was accompanied by Larry Dalton of Farmington, an experienced horseman. Record photographer John Galloway photographed them as Mrs. Godfrey's Morgan horse Ensign-Bit-O-Spark pulled the buggy. "I really call him 'Crittter,'" she confides. The buggy was coveted, she adds, because it had been finely restored by Carl Holston of Westland Buggy Works. It now rests in the Godfrey garage at their home in Northville Estates beside a handsome antique sleigh.

LWV benefit

Making preparations for the League of Women Voters 8th Annual Wine and Cheese Benefit last Friday night were from left Johanne Fechter, Barbara Toor and hostess Jane Watts. The annual event sponsored by the LWV of Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novl was held at the Lakeside home of Jane and Price Watts in Northville Township. Proceeds from the annual event help support LWV voter education projects.

'Sentinal' to perform for AAUW

Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women will get into the swing of the holiday season when members are entertained by Sentinal, the award-winning Northville High School jazz band, at 7:30 p.m. December 14 at the Silver Springs Elementary School library.

Sentinal, formed this fall, includes group organizer Dave Dore at the keyboard, junior Ian Schrier on the drums, senior Phil Benstein on trumpet and juniors Jeff Lauer on trombone and Randy Chisnell and Steve Kozler on saxophone. All members have four to six years or more of experience and training on their instruments. The band's repertoire includes popular jazz, blues, Gospel, rock and Latin jazz.

Alice Chamberlain also will provide piano accompaniment for a Christmas carol sing-along after members have sampled finger food, hors d'oeuvres and other holiday delicacies shared around the Wassail bowl.

Any woman graduate of an accredited college or university is eligible to join AAUW. Anyone interested in joining or who would like more information about the Northville branch, call Jay Ward at 349-3456 or Jean Hansen at 348-6096.

Senior dinner slated

All members of the Northville Senior Citizens' Club are urged to attend the combined potluck dinner program and business meeting of the club at 6 p.m. next Tuesday in fellowship hall of First Presbyterian Church.

Vice President Robert Henning is asking members to make a special effort to attend in accordance with the wish of Mary Harsch, who said her late husband Clarence Harsch would have wanted the program to be held. Mr. Harsch, who was president of the Senior Citizens' Club died unexpectedly November 23.

An election of officers and a Christmas program will follow the potluck dinner.

Home service available

Federally subsidized in-home services for seniors 60 years old and older who live in Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton are available through the Plymouth Recreation Department.

Services offered include snow removal, lawn mowing, light housekeeping and personal care.

There is no charge for this program, but donations are encouraged.

Further information is available from the Plymouth Recreation Department at 455-6620.

Police Blotter

Two men rob city woman

In the City...

City police are looking for two white males in connection with a strong-arm robbery of a Northville woman at the Gas-n-Go on Eight Mile 12:30 p.m. December 3.

The men are believed to be between 20 and 30 years old, and one had a mustache. However, no clothing description was available, police said.

According to the report, the 19-year old Northville woman was making a call from the pay phone on the Gas-n-Go lot when she said she felt something on her shoulder.

When she turned around, two white males were standing behind her. One grabbed her, and she said she tried to get loose. However, that is all she remembers as the next thing she knew she was alone and she said she ran to her car and got inside, police said.

She told police she saw a grey pick-up truck pull away without its lights on. She went home, but returned to the police station with her parents to give her account of the incident, police said.

She told police her wallet and checkbook were missing from her purse.

resident was on vacation and left a key to the apartment with a neighbor, who told police she lost her wallet which had the keys inside.

Stolen from a storage closet and shelf in the master bedroom were a $175.30 caliber carbine, a $125.22 caliber Remington rifle with nylon stock, a $100 nine-shot .22 caliber revolver with six-inch barrel and a $125 pump action Mossberg 12-gauge shotgun with 30-inch barrel.

All the firearms were in good condition. The owner of the items said burglars also went through the drawers in the master bedroom, but only the weapons were noticed missing.

The theft occurred sometime between 3 p.m. November 28 and 11:15 p.m. the next day.

Two wheels and tires were stolen from a 1979 Buick Riviera parked in a Ridge Road garage December 2 or 3, police reports indicate.

The owner told police he parked the car at 9 p.m. December 2 and upon returning to the car at 5:30 p.m. the next day discovered the wheels had been removed. The two tires were valued at $100 each, and the wheel rims at $50 each.

Police arrested a 29-year-old Novi man on drunk driving charges in the early morning of December 4. Called to Eight Mile and Haggerty on a report that a car was parked in the roadway without lights on and with a broken windshield, police discovered a man in the front seat wearing no pants.

The police report notes that the man's car apparently hit a road sign, then came to rest on a traffic island in Eight Mile Road. Broken glass from the windshield inflicted many minor cuts to the man's body. Taken to the police station, he was offered medical attention but refused, except to have adhesive bandages applied to his cuts.

Breathalyzer tests revealed a blood alcohol level of 18 percent, the report states. Police could not find the man's pants, and noted that his underwear and shirt tails were wet with urine. He was given prisoner overalls, held overnight in the township lock-up and released on personal bond the next morning. Charges were for operation of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants at the scene of an injury accident.

Northville Michigan State Police handled reports of a water tower climber and a breaking and entering at the Plymouth Center last week.

After twice climbing the water tower at the Plymouth Center in two days, December 2-3, Randy Helton, 25, has been sent to the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital for evaluation, state police said. They are not seeking charges in the case. Helton first climbed the water tower

December 2 because he wished to see his sister in Detroit, police said.

Helton was on top of the tower when state police arrived, and he was screaming obscenities and spitting at officers. He also dared them to come up to get him, but he never threatened to jump, police said.

However, before the troopers arrived, Helton shouted obscenities at a safety officer from the center who tried talking with him, police said.

A case worker at the scene said Helton had been a patient of the center for the past 14 years who lately had been causing trouble by misbehaving, the report said.

The case worker said the center's director was on her way, and everyone should back away from the tower because if he was ignored he would come down. Troopers at the scene concurred, and pulled all vehicles to the township fire station where Helton could not see them.

After talking with the center director and the state police post's commander, in addition to some of the troopers, they said they would try to help Helton locate his sister so he could visit with her, the report said.

Helton came halfway down the ladder when he noticed a police officer and started back up the ladder. However, he was told the officers were not guards, but were there to help him. He came down and talked briefly with the commander and one trooper before being sent back to the center's administration building, the report said.

Helton also tried to climb the tower December 3, but was caught. That was when he was sent to Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital for evaluation, police said.

State police have arrested four 19 year old Plymouth youths in connection with breaking and entering abandoned buildings on the old Wayne County Child Development Center November 30.

All four youths are being charged with unlawful entry into a non-residence with intent to commit a larceny within, state police said.

According to the report, troopers were sent to the baseball field by the township fire station on Sheldon Road near Five Mile to investigate an abandoned vehicle.

Troopers suspected the unknown persons were probably exploring the buildings on the center's grounds. Two of the youths were arrested within an hour, and the other two were caught two hours later, the report said.

The youths said they were trying to take things of value but canceled their plans when one person saw the patrol car shining its spotlight in their direction, the report said.

Police confiscated a battery electric drill, hacksaw with replacement blade, screw drivers and numerous tools.

Parson to Person...

The Christmas Grinch: A Thief of Joy

Dr. James Luther

Most of us love fairy tales. I still enjoy them. But some have taken Santa Claus from the realm of make-believe and made him an Article of Faith. Some parents solemnly vow that he is real. Many individuals encourage children to put their trust in him.

Santa is presented as a Superhuman being who makes dreams come true. He is all-knowing and keeps track of our behavior from his "heaven" at the North Pole. Several things need to be considered in all of this:

1. Santa becomes a lie. Children know the difference between make-believe and a lie. How unnecessary it is for kids to gradually realize their parents are lying to them. It is vital to build a foundation of trust with them.
2. Christmas suffers. If the magic-maker and gift-bringer is a lie, what about the baby in the manger?
3. Greed is fed. A remote gift bringer can not be thanked. Moreover, even if children are bad, they still get the presents. Thus, Santa's sleigh delivers presents and takes away the reality of judgment and fairness.
4. Truth is denied. We are not accepted by God because of good works. Scripture presents salvation as a gift of God. Jesus came to die. He took our list of bad deeds and carried it to the cross, and said, "I'll die for this list." What love! What a gift!

Let's leave old Santa where he belongs, in the land of make-believe. He is fun when he is a fairy-tale. In the realm of reality, he becomes dangerous. Children know the difference!

Baby sitting service offered

Kinder Care Learning Center located at Eight Mile and Silver Spring Drive in Northville Township is offering low cost baby sitting as a Mothers' Helper Christmas service this Saturday.

It is donating proceeds of the Saturday service to the fight against Muscular Dystrophy, director Leslie May announces.

Any child between the ages of 2½ and 10 years old will be welcome at the center. Sitting fee of 50 cents an hour will be donated to the charity. Children staying during the lunch hour are to bring a sack lunch with them.

Arts and crafts projects, movies and cartoons are planned.

Reservations are necessary and may be made by calling the center at 348-1589.

Schoolcraft concert slated

The Schoolcraft College Wind Ensemble will present a Christmas concert at 8 p.m. December 22 in the Waterman Campus Center.

The 44-member ensemble will perform Christmas selections by Leroy Anderson, "The Stars and Stripes Forever" by John Philip Sousa, "Pictures at an Exhibition" by Modest Petrovich Moussorgsky, "The First Suite for Military Band" by Gustav Holst and other selections.

Featured soloist will be accordionist Karen Moody, who also plays flute in the ensemble. A national accordion champion, Moody also is recipient of the outstanding music student award at the college.

Admission is $3 for the general public and $2 for students.

Charley's 'special' helps project

Northville Charley's restaurant at 41122 Seven Mile in the township is participating a nationwide "Holiday Project" through which volunteer work to supply gifts to those in hospitals, senior citizens' and children's homes.

During the week of December 17-23 it will donate proceeds from a drink named "Santa's Helper" to the project.

In addition, there will be three door prizes given nightly: at 7 p.m. free drinks; 8 p.m. dinner for two; and 9 p.m. free dessert.

Rack repair started, fuel tanks coming to Ford plant poration, the firm which now supplies Ford with the engine valves formerly made in Northville, at a price Fultz said was near its cost when new. Two of the machines are stored at the plant, awaiting sale.

On the other side of the ledger, the plant acquired the necessary fuel tank presses from another Ford operation in Dearborn for only the cost of the transfer, instead of purchasing the machines on the open market. Northville employees are repairing and installing the machines.

Together, the fuel tank and rack repair jobs will occupy only one-third of the floor space in the plant, leaving room for more work to be brought in and, Sherrick noted, incentive to do so because the plant is underutilized.

"We are looking at additional business," he said. "I can't tell you details now — it's in the bidding stage and the programs are only studies right now. We have one big advantage (in competing for the business) and that's low overhead. Our one disadvantage is we have no rail spur."

Sherrick and Fultz said they are negotiating with the C&O Railroad to have a rail spur built to the plant. The rail firm is "very receptive," Sherrick said.

Details to work out include routing of the spur and location of loading ramps. Without rail cars, Fultz said, one job being sought would require five to six trucks an hour routed in and out of the plant. Transportation cost alone could take the Northville operation out of the picture. At present, the plant has only two loading docks, which would be insufficient for the traffic volume anticipated. The work would "fill most of the front end" of the plant, Fultz said.

With a cooperative and unique labor atmosphere at the plant (see related story), as demonstrated by progress to date, Sherrick said he has "no doubt" that Ford Motor Company will maintain its presence in Northville a longer than anyone would have expected one year ago.

Recently installed fuel tank press dwarfs Howard Trantham as he works on floor

Labor relations gets the credit

Absentee rates are virtually nil, Sherrick notes, citing an AWOL (absent without leave) rate of one-tenth of one percent.

The Northville plant is rather more independent from the parent company than is typical in the auto industry, and Sherrick says plans would make it moreso.

"This is like a corporation within a corporation," he says. "There will come a day when we get a computer in here, and we don't have to rely on anyone outside (the plant) — we'll be independent within the company."

While the employees' enthusiasm for the new relations system is evident in the work done so far, the manager is not without excitement for himself.

Having worked 20 years at Ford's Lima (Ohio) engine plant, followed by assignment to E. arborn Engine (Northville's "parent" facility still) Sherrick says, "This concept here is what I've always been looking for."

"Norm and I hope we're the turning point, the pivot, the start of something new in labor relations," he concludes. "It just goes to prove: when you treat people like human beings, they respond."

Wake service held for Richard Svatora

RICHARD WILLIAM SVATORA

Richard William Svatora, a 15-year resident of the community at 51370 West Six Mile died November 29 at St. Mary Hospital after a two-week illness following an accident. He was 55.

Father John O'Callaghan officiated at the service at 11 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of Victory Church where Mr. Svatora was a member. A wake service was held at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Casterline Funeral Home. Burial was in Rural Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Svatora was a salesman for J.L. Hudson Company and formerly lived in Farmington.

He was born November 25, 1927, in Royal Oak Township to James A. and Josephine (Senohrabek) Svatora. He married Lucina Bauerle February 28, 1949.

In addition to his wife, he leaves children Richard Jr. of Brighton, Thomas of Livonia, Mrs. Marie Runals of Romulus, Lucina Moomey of Brighton, Lawrence of Canton, Robert, Michael and Patricia of Northville.

He also leaves sisters Mrs. Rose Hedges of California and Mrs. Marie Enot of Florida, brothers James of California and Ronald of Harbor Springs, Michigan, and four grandchildren.

CARL K. HARAY

Funeral service for Carl K. Haray, 76, of Plymouth, a life resident of the area, was held at 1 p.m. last Thursday at Casterline Funeral Home. William Harfoot of the Plymouth Citadel of the Salvation Army officiated.

Burial was in Parkview Memorial Cemetery in Livonia.

Mr. Haray died November 30 at West Trail Nursing Home in Plymouth after an illness of several years.

He was born November 23, 1906, in Michigan to John and Rose (Mattey) Haray and had never married.

A retired railroad employee, he once managed a Ford Northville soft ball team.

MAUDE MARY ROTHERMEL

Funeral service for Northville resident Maude Mary Rothermel will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of Victory Church. The Reverend Ron Thurner will officiate, and burial will be at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

A four-year resident of Northville, Mrs. Rothermel died December 5 at Hendry Convalescent Center after a long illness. She was 89.

Born in Eau Claire, Wisconsin, July 9, 1893, to Edward and Anna (Doonan) Gormley, she was a homemaker and member of Our Lady of Victory Church.

Her husband, Edward August Rothermel, died June 16, 1970.

Mrs. Rothermel is survived by her son Thomas of Northville and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were made by Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home.

ELIZABETH D. SMITH

Funeral service for retired Detroit Public School teacher Elizabeth D. Smith, 79, was held at 1 p.m. December 7 at Casterline Funeral Home. The Reverend Guenther Branstner officiated, and burial was at Grand Lawn Cemetery in Detroit.

Mrs. Smith died December 4 at Providence Hospital.

Born in Defoe, Kentucky, September 26, 1902, to Charles and Flora (Clements) Damaree, she had moved to the area five years ago from Detroit. She was preceded in death by her husband John Smith in 1964. The couple had been married since 1927.

She is survived by her daughters Jeanne Federspill of Northville and Marilyn Balow of California.

Other survivors include her brother Garnett Demaree of Garden City and seven grandchildren.

Elsesser earns diploma

Lynn Elsesser of Northville, a graduate student at Eastern Michigan University, is one of 49 students who have received their diploma in an unusual program in business French offered in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Paris since 1976.

The university reports that its Department of Foreign Languages and Bilingual Studies has several unique aspects that set it apart from those of other universities and give EMU students the opportunity for an outstanding language education.

The program in business French initiated by Brigitte Muller, professor of French, was the only one of its kind in the nation when it began.

Passing the examination requires a working knowledge of commercial French, industry, economics, law and geography of the country.

Each section of the lengthy exam must be taken both orally and in written form.

In CCIP also offers a 300-level certificate in business French through EMU.

In addition, EMU is recognized as a regional testing center for proficiency in both German and Spanish. EMU also serves students of German from colleges and universities in Michigan, western Ontario, northern Ohio and northern Indiana as a testing center for basic proficiency certificate in German as a foreign language.

In the department's cooperative education exchange program qualified EMU students take classes and work from four to 12 months in full-time salaried cooperative education positions in West Germany, Spain or France. This program gives students direct contact with another culture and exposes them to daily life, academics and business working of that culture, explains department head John Hubbard.

Duns Scotus founder to address fellowship

Father Duane Stenzel, founder and director of the School of Evangelization at Duns Scotus College Seminary in Southfield, will be the guest speaker at the December 17 dinner meeting of the Northville-Plymouth-Livonia Chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship.

Ordained in 1954 as a Catholic Franciscan Priest, Father Stenzel subsequently founded the Charismatic Ministerial Fellowship in Louisville, Kentucky, and hosted a daily program entitled "The Inter Faith Hour," the radio voice of Inter Faith House, Inc., which he founded and also served as president.

In 1973, after teaming up with Protestant Ministers on a full time basis, his efforts, along with Baptist Ministers Dave Fisher, Steve Sampson and the Reverend and Mrs. Walter Standley culminated in the establishment of a retreat seminar team to promote interfaith study of the Scriptures.

In 1976, he joined the national faculty of the "Institute for Christian Living" which is sponsored by the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship, International.

The December 17 meeting at 8 p.m. follows dinner which will be served at the Sveden House Restaurant in Farmington Plaza.

The dinner is $6 per person and includes tax and gratuity. Both dinner and program are open to the public.

Reservations are required for the dinner and may be made by calling Daniel Beetler at 349-0006 or Earl Flynn at 348-3352 or send checks, payable to "FGBMF," P.O. Box 5332, Northville, 48167 by December 14.

FATHER DUANE STENZEL

Christmas program slated

First United Methodist Church of Northville will present its annual all-church Christmas program at 7 p.m. Sunday.

The first part of the program will be the Sunday School Christmas Pageant performed by children in preschool through sixth grade.

The second part will include a presentation of the "Christmas Rhapsody" by some 170 members of the church choirs.

"Christmas Rhapsody," a musical choral collection of both new and traditional Christmas music, will be performed by the Cherub Choir, Junior Choir, Youth Choir, Sanctuary Choir and Handbell Choir.

Instrumental accompaniment and dance also are incorporated.

Refreshments follow in Fellowship Hall, along with a visit from Santa Claus.

Spinnakers host holiday events

Spinnakers, a community-wide fellowship group for single adults of all ages, is planning three events to celebrate the Christmas season.

At 7:30 p.m. December 11, psychologist Keith Levick from the Jensen Counseling Clinic in Farmington will present a program entitled "How to be Happy During the Holidays" at First Presbyterian Church of Northville. Cost is $1.50 at the door and visitors are welcome.

A dinner and theater trip is scheduled December 18. The group will meet in Northville and carpool to Greektown for dinner. A Madrigal concert will follow. Estimated cost for the entire evening is $15. Reservations are necessary. For further information, call Ed Papciak at 420-0455.

A special Christmas invitation is extended to all singles to share a gala holiday evening with friends at 5 p.m. December 19.

Hors d'oeuvres and punch will highlight the get-together at a member's home in Livonia. For directions, call the church office at 349-0911.

Neighbors

It's especially because families come to us during their most difficult times that we feel our responsibility so deeply. We've formed some very close friendships here and after being a part of this community for so many years, our commitment to its people is stronger than ever.

Just as our own families know they can count on the support and friendship of our neighbors, we're proud that families here know they can feel confident in the services we provide.

Our Opinion

Norm Fultz is among Ford duck-suppliers

Ford's future here promising

Those dismayed by the latest economic news or despairing of the American auto industry's future need look no farther than the South Main bend for reason to hope. Ford Motor Company's Northville plant is busily proving that all the noise last spring about a "new era" in labor-management relations can be more than attention-getting rhetoric.

In their own humble way, the happenings at the plant confirm what many of us need to have confirmed: that Americans can still work together toward common goals, setting aside differences that would get in the way. Moreover, the progress made to date holds great promise for the future.

When was the last time you heard anyone seriously discussing construction of a new railroad siding, anywhere? More often, if anyone mentions the railroad at all, it is to note an old dilapidated siding, long ago abandoned, is being torn up. Or when did you last hear tell of an employee who complained that the materials he was given to do his job were too good?

These sorts of things are happening at the Northville plant. Assuredly, the facility is hardly typical. It is a small operation, where the lines of communication are easily held open. As presently arranged, Ford's apparent intent is to make the Northville plant a sort of in-house outside supplier — instead of outsourcing to other companies (or other countries), Ford will buy parts from a semi-independent plant within the fold that can match or beat the outsider's price.

If it works, this route could provide the shot in the arm America's auto industry needs to compete with imports while maintaining labor peace. We share the conviction of many that the auto industry will never be the employer it once was, but it need not concede so large a portion of its home market to foreign competitors.

The potential is easily seen on the small scale of the Northville plant, where, if all the hopes were to come true, there would not only be almost as many UAW jobs as once were provided there, but new work for railroad and trucking employees as well. We hope, along with manager Bill Sherrick, UAW local president Norm Fultz and the union membership, that Northville's waterwheel plant helps show the way to similar progress on a grander scale.

Weather squelches Christmas spirit

Random thoughts running through the mind:

Until this week, it has been truly uncanny how frequently we have experienced spring-like weather in this area throughout most of October, November and a few days this month. Normally, the famed "Indian Summer" weather hits around late October and then vanishes for good come November when "Old Man Winter" starts making his stand for what seems like an eternity.

However, this has not been the case this year. It seems the "Indian Summer" just won't go away. Every time it threatens to get bitterly cold around these parts — signaling winter is fast approaching — the spring-like weather makes a return visit for a couple more weeks. That's okay by me, and I'm sure everyone else doesn't mind it one bit. It almost gave me another opportunity to hit the golf course one last time in late October, but time would not permit. Oh well, maybe next year I'll get just as lucky. (Wishful thinking.)

Additionally, with all of the rain we have had the past two or three weeks, it is hard to believe this is late fall and not early spring. All the warm weather and rain has made me think that summer was just around the corner, not cold, snowy winter.

Speaking of all this warm weather and rain, it doesn't seem like it really can be Christmas time. This spring-like weather has made it seem like we should be preparing for the Easter Bunny, not Santa Claus' arrival.

rival December 25. I don't know about you, but that's the way I feel. Even with all of the stores, towns and cities decorated for Christmas, and the entrepreneurs trying to peddle their large selection of Christmas trees, it is hard for me to imagine the holiday season is quickly approaching.

Keeping in the holiday spirit, it bothers me some to see businesses haul out their Christmas decorations the day after Halloween. To me, that is a little early. I barely can handle those stores which start displaying Christmas decorations right around Thanksgiving. Understandably, they're preparing for their holiday push the day after Thanksgiving which supposedly is the biggest Christmas shopping day of the year. While that may be so, it seems as if all of this is starting to become a distraction to the Thanksgiving weekend and its meaning to people. Just one man's opinion.

There is a story in today's sports section about the record number of patrons going through the turnstiles at Northville Downs for the Jackson-at-Northville fall meet. Also amazing is the record betting handle being set. All of this in a state where unemployment has reached a record high and the economy is in a depressed state.

It's just hard to believe what is happening, and it will be interesting to see how well the Downs does for its winter meet starting in January. However, as it is pointed out in the story, people are always looking for quick ways to make some money. That is one thing that will never change, no matter how bad the economy.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

Dear Readers:

It's not often that I find it necessary to make a personal appeal, but I am now forced to make an exception.

I won't beat around the bush, either — all these requests for bound-editions of "The 1982 Collection of 'After the Fact'" by yours truly have got to stop.

Sure, I know it would make an ideal Christmas gift. I know your friends and relatives have probably told you it's the number one thing on their Christmas wish lists. And I know a bound-collection of "After the Fact" for 1982 would provide innumerable hours of light and informative reading entertainment.

But, quite frankly, the handsomely engraved volume with gold-embossed lettering does not exist.

Additionally, we've been getting complaints from the post office which has had to hire another carrier to deliver all your warm, intelligent requests to this office. And, I must admit, the "After the Fact" mailbag is literally overflowing with your cards and letters.

Incidentally, I hope to answer each and everyone of them in time for Christmas.

If you want to pin the blame on somebody, don't look at me. Lord knows I've tried.

I've offered this publishing coup to all the big companies. Simon & Schuster, McGraw-Hill, Ballantine, Bantam Books...but, believe it or not, they've all indicated they're not interested.

Even Marvel Comics turned me down.

You'll be happy to know, however, that I haven't given up. In fact, I plan to vigorously pursue a 1983 edition so you might want to beat the rush and place your order now. It's never too early, the early bird gets the worm and all that type of thing, you know.

There is a way you can help. How, you ask? Instead of writing to me, fire off a nasty letter to your favorite publishing house and demand that "The 1983 Collection of 'After the Fact'" by yours truly be ready in time for Christmas-giving next year.

Just think of how happy you'll make someone Christmas morning.

Kirksey chronicles Senate's action on employment bill

By JACK E. KIRKSEY

The Michigan Senate passed the unemployment compensation financing bill (Sub SB 892 as amended) December 2 by a vote of 28 to 8.

Here's what the Senate did:

1. SUITABLE WORK — an amendment offered by Senator Robert VanderLaan requiring a claimant to accept suitable work for wages equal to at least 60 percent of the individual's average weekly wage with the unemployment compensation system restoring the individual's average weekly wage to 80 percent of his previous employment. Failure to accept suitable work would disqualify the individual from employment benefits.

Unlike workers' compensation which is a long-term disability, unemployment benefits run for a relatively short period of time so the suitable work provision, although helpful and gratifying, is not nearly so important to employers as it was in the workers' compensation debates.

2. ALTERNATE EARNINGS — the provision allowing employees to qualify for benefits by earning $6,800 rather than work 20 weeks was removed from the bill.

3. SUNSET — The bill will sunset on December 31, 1987.

4. ADDITIONAL NEGATIVE-BALANCE EMPLOYER TAXES — Senator David Plawecki offered an amendment which was adopted placing additional steep taxes on some negative-balance employers. Under the amendment, if an employer has a negative balance in its experience account which exceeds the employer's taxable payroll, 25 percent of the amount of the negative balance due must be paid to the MESC each year until the negative balance is reduced to zero.

The commission was given the authority to reduce that 25 percent payment or fashion some alternative method of payment if the payment would impair the ability of the employer to continue in business. This tax would be in addition to the solvency tax and all other taxes.

5. SOLVENCY TAX — this was a concession to Ford which apparently has assuaged the hostility of the auto industry to the bill. Rather than a flat two percent solvency tax beginning in 1983, Sub S.B. 892 provides for a solvency tax of .5 percent in 1983, 1 percent in 1984, and 2 percent in all subsequent years. This will reduce the cost of the changes to employers by $67.5 million in 1983 and $49.5 million in 1984. The cost would remain at $104 million in 1985 and $113 million in 1986.

6. DECREASE IN WAGES EARNED TO QUALIFY — under the current law, an individual must earn 20 times the minimum wage to qualify for a credit week. Sub S.B. 892 had raised that qualification to 30 times the minimum wage for four years and then returned it 20 times the minimum wage in 1987.

Democrats in the Senate on a party-line vote amended the bill to return qualifications for a credit week to 20 times minimum wage. This will cost the system $84 million. Democrats said this was done because Democrats were successful in eliminating the alternate qualifier.

7. PRIVATE BUS DRIVERS CONTRACTING WITH PUBLIC SCHOOLS — an amendment was also attached to the bill disqualifying private employees who drive buses for a business transporting public school children in contract with the public schools from receiving benefits during school holidays or over the summer vacation. Thus, private bus drivers who drive for the public schools will be subject to the same disqualifications as public school employees.

This could make contractual relationships between schools and private bus companies considerably more attractive to both parties.

8. GRANDFATHER CLAUSE FOR CONTRACTORS — Senator Jack Fax-on offered an amendment which was accepted which would limit the contribution rate of a construction employer to 1982 rates with respect to wages paid on contracts set before January 1, 1983. The wage base increase of $6,000 to $7,000 which previously had been scheduled will apply to contractors, but they will not pay the solvency tax or other increases on employment based on contracts established before the effective date of Sub. S.B. 892.

The disappointing aspect of the Senate action was the willing admission by conservative Democrats and even some liberal Democrats that they would have supported co-pay and other employee concessions had the Governor taken a stand on those issues.

However, since the Governor announced his support for the package without those changes, they felt they did not have the proper political setting to support such concessions.

The battle in the House will be to keep the alternate qualifier out of the package and to keep suitable work in the package. Senator Plawecki has already urged the House Committee on Labor to remove all pro-employer concessions made in the Senate.

News from Lansing

Opposition to school tax collection explained

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

Many Michigan taxpayers could be paying their property taxes twice a year from now on, as a result of a bill passed last week by the Senate. I voted against the bill, which is HB 4150.

It offers school districts the option of collecting their portion of the tax in July, while the other taxes, for other local government functions, continue to be collected in December.

Some cities and townships have been doing that already — but at the discretion of the local elected officials, who must answer to the taxpayers. This new law further isolates the taxpayers from decisions affecting their dollar.

In Northville, city and township officials have been opposed to the concept, while school officials have generally favored it.

School lobbyists, apparent in abundance as we debated this controversial issue, have been trying to slide this fiscal maneuver through the Legislature for over a year. They cite two reasons: the December tax collection doesn't jive with their fiscal year, and they must borrow heavily in anticipation of the tax revenues and pay high interest costs.

As for the dates not matching up, it appears obvious to me that the schools are attempting to get their money early to ease this year's fiscal crisis. But what about next year?

No matter when they receive their money, that money must carry them through 12 months of expenses. No amount of jimmyming and fiscal gim-mickry is going to change that fact. It's time the schools began to get their financial house in order — without the use of these shifts and monetary sleight-of-hand maneuvers.

Secondly, the schools insist that this law will save them millions in interest charges and assorted borrowing costs. Unfortunately, they did not mention the costs to the taxpayer: what about the individuals who must borrow money to pay property taxes six months early or release investments early and lose their interest?

My colleagues who voted "yes" on this bill have passed on the schools' costs to the taxpayer. And who indeed is the school district supposed to represent besides the taxpayers?

Another key point: an amendment limiting the schools' right to borrow if they get their money was turned down. So nothing prevents the schools from continuing to borrow just as they do right now.

The new law, if it is signed by the Governor, will go into effect in April. It sets up procedure whereby the school district goes to the local government and, by resolution, asks cities and townships to collect school taxes in the summer.

Previously, the city or township officials had the right to refuse — and often did, in response to the sentiment of their constituents. Under the law, the local unit can still refuse, but then the school district or the county can have the county or a private agency collect the tax. The wishes of the taxpayers in the district are not considered.

An attempt to amend the law to let the taxpayers decide, through a local election, whether or not they want their school taxes collected six months early failed. One can't help but wonder why. Are some legislators afraid of letting our taxpayers have their day?

Windshire's no mere stable

Equestrian academy aim: teaching all to ride properly

By ALICE DAVIES

Windshire Equestrian Academy is something new in the Milford Township area, and is receiving what trainer Rex Beasaw describes as a "an excellent response."

Windshire isn't just a boarding stable, although former Detroit Lion Tom Tracy boards two horses there.

Windshire isn't just a place to take some riding classes, even though Beasaw counts Detroit sportswriter Bev Eckman and her daughter among his most successful students. (Eckman has gone on to play with the Detroit Polo Club.)

Nor is Windshire just a nice place to ride, even though it has a heated indoor arena for winter months and miles of trails that cut into Proud Lake Recreation Area for Sunday cross-country rides.

And Windshire certainly isn't the only stable to welcome school groups such as classes from the Walled Lake Outdoor Education Center.

Windshire's Beasaw, 34, is probably not the only trainer who works with handicapped persons such as a 28-year-old woman who is blind and a young boy suffering from Multiple Sclerosis.

Windshire, however, may be the only stable in this area to offer all of these things plus a long list of events, services and special opportunities for horse people of all ages.

Owners Mel and Joy Percival bought the 32-acre farm and opened Windshire for business barely one month ago in October, bringing Beasaw and a loyal following from a former location near Union Lake.

In the new location at 2552 Wixom Road about halfway between Milford Village and the City of Wixom, Beasaw says the move has not hurt and may have helped.

"We had a full schedule before we came. Many of our clients came along with us from our former location," he explained. With new people discovering Windshire in its new location, things are going very well.

All phases of riding, from beginning trail riding to advanced jumping and showing are part of the Windshire program.

According to the Percivals, "Windshire provides a training and recreational facility for the very beginning rider through the advanced rider in both English and Western riding."

Beasaw naturally emphasizes the training aspects. "Basically, our program is to teach anyone how to ride properly. We do train people, not just ride," he emphasized.

That training can come at a very small cost through Community School classes offered by both Huron Valley Schools and Walled Lake Schools. Private and semi-private lessons are also available.

For the person who reluctantly has thought that "someday" he or she would learn to ride, or at least try riding, Beasaw offers special help.

"We help persons evaluate themselves and what they want. Anyone can come out and just try riding and I work with them to develop a program that suits them," Beasaw related.

Some of the more unexpected services at Windshire include such things as trailering, show ring training, both adult and youth drill teams, Girl Scout and Boy Scout programs, photography and video taping.

Beginning December 5, a Winter Series of five Combined English and Western Shows will give riders a chance at competition and keeping in shape in spite of ice and snow outdoors. Points awarded at each event will be accumulated to select Year-End Awards, Beasaw said.

To take part, entrants bring their own horses and pay a basic five dollar entry fee. Windshire easily can accommodate 30 or more horses, Beasaw said, but it's still a good idea to call ahead to make arrangements.

Beasaw began riding at the age of four, rode on the Birmingham Outland Stables hunt team, on the horse team at military academy and for Western Michigan University. Although he considered law school, Beasaw said he chose life as a trainer because he enjoys people and likes what he is doing.

Realtors advise homeowners planning to sell to 'fix up'

Homeowners anticipating a move as economic recovery improves the housing market are advised to get their present property in top sales condition.

With a high number of current listings and a general easing of prices, strong competition and a buyer's market will persist in 1983, according to the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR).

"Buyers will continue to search for value," said WWOCBR President Lloyd Mason. "Some will be seeking homes in need of extensive repair that can be bought at rock bottom prices."

"But the majority will be seeking homes that won't require any added outlay of funds after down payment, closing costs and moving expenses are met."

Mason advises against extensive remodeling that will increase the asking price, but does urge that care be taken to assure everything is in good working order.

"As the time approaches when the home will be listed for sale, the seller should try to look at it from a prospective buyer's view," he said. "Such a look will likely uncover numerous small items that would cause loss of buyer interest, but would only take minimum cost to correct."

Included might be cracked window glass, peeling paint, broken or missing knobs or locks, loose tile or siding, torn screens and leaky faucets.

Mason said most homeowners can take care of these minor problems themselves, but might prefer to have carpets and drapes cleaned professionally.

"This pre-listing period also is a good time to start cleaning unneeded items out of basements, garages and closets," Mason continued. "Items with some value might be disposed of in a yard sale or at a flea market. Other accumulated material can be given away or left for trash pick-up bit by bit over several weeks."

Mason noted that particular attention should be given to fix-up measures that will help cut heating and cooling costs. Much of this type of expenditure can be claimed for income tax credit and receipts should be saved.

"Recent studies of overall housing costs in major metropolitan areas indicate utility costs add more than 20 percent to average mortgage principal and interest payments locally," said Mason.

"Sellers who can show they have taken steps to weatherproof their homes and have utility cost records to prove their effectiveness will score a big plus with buyers."

"The waning days of fall still permit time to make exterior repairs to the home and planted areas so they will give a good first impression whatever the season," Mason added.

SHIRLEY COWIE, Northville antique shop owner, will display her collection of old bisque dolls, antique doll trunks and wooden pull toys of another era at the Livonia Mall Doll, Toy and Miniature Show December 11 and 12 during mall hours. The mall is located on Seven Mile at Middlebelt.

Other booths in the show, for which there is no charge, will include teddy bears in several styles, doll house furniture and toys of wood, along with doll parts and accessories. Show co-ordinators are Kulifay and Siegert.

DONALD LEITH has been named director of OEM Sales for Cars & Concepts, a special vehicle manufacturing company in Brighton.

Leith joined the company in 1976 and has worked since 1978 in OEM Sales, serving as liaison between Cars & Concepts and Ford Motor Company product planning, marketing, purchasing and special vehicle engineering departments.

Leith has been instrumental in development of many Cars & Concepts/Ford Motor Company programs including the 1981-83 Mustang/Capri Skylite T-Roof and the current 1983 Mustang convertible.

Cars & Concepts provides design, engineering and manufacturing services for the automotive industry.

JAMES DONNAN, JR., vice president and senior community banking officer, has been named officer-in-charge of Manufacturers Bank's Northville Office and eight other branch offices in the northwest metropolitan area.

Donnan began his banking career with Industrial National Bank in 1947 and joined Manufacturers in 1953. Over the years he has managed offices located throughout the bank's branch system and from 1972 to 1978 was in charge of the Farmington Region group of offices. From 1978 to his current appointment, he was responsible for the Branch Department's Operations Division.

Donnan is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Banking, the University of Wisconsin Graduate School of Banking and the American Institute of Banking.

FINDERS KEEPERS, a quality consignment shop located at 557 South Lafayette in South Lyon, is celebrating the Christmas season with a grand opening December 1-18.

Area residents are invited to come and register for a drawing which will take place December 18 at 2 p.m. Top prize is the seductive doll named Belle, held by Elaine von Berge (back), one of the owners of the specialty shop. A $10 gift certificate is the second prize. No purchase is necessary to register.

Another of the trio of owners, Janice Sparks (seated) will be doing pastel portrait profiles just in time for Christmas giving. Sparks, a well-known area artist, will do the portraits for $3 unframed and $10 framed. Appointments for sittings can be made now during new store hours: Monday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. The shop is closed Sundays.

Finders Keepers features nearly new items such as Hummel and Rockwell articles, Art Deco, collectibles, dolls, bells, music boxes, glassware and small furniture, all on consignment. Some new gift items also are available, according to Joan Jones, (right) the third shop owner. Photo by John Galloway.

Real help for bladder control problems.

Depend®
Undergarments

So discreet and effective, we want you to try it

Free

Send only $1 to cover postage and handling, get 3 Depend Undergarments free. If you or someone you care for has a bladder control problem, you know how frustrating it can be finding the right protection.

Now there are Depend Undergarments for men and women. Depend is so discreet, comfortable and effective, you must wear it to know how well it works. So we're offering a free sample and a store coupon worth $1 on your first purchase of Depend.

BUTTON-ON ELASTIC STRAPS make it easy to put on and take off.

FORMFITTING DESIGN fits comfortably.

OPEN SIDES eliminate bulk. Unique shape puts protection where it's needed.

RECEPTACLE FOLD catches fluids, helps prevent run-off.

DISPOSABLE, SANITARY, CONVENIENT.

Depend

Depend is uniquely designed. Depend Undergarments have a one-piece construction for more comfort, closer fit, discreet protection.

A unique receptacle fold catches fluids. Then Depend's advanced absorbent system quickly draws fluids away from the skin, absorbs them thoroughly, helps lock fluids in so they can't squeeze out. Depend even has a water-proof wrap for complete protection.

You can have Depend. Use the order form below to get your Depend samples and coupon. Prove to yourself how discreet and effective protection can be.

Free sample offer. Three Depend® Undergarments.

Send this order form with $1 for postage and handling to receive a sample box of 3 Depend Undergarments and a coupon worth $1 off your next purchase.

Limit: one sample box per family, group or organization. Offer good only in the 50 United States. Void where prohibited or restricted by law.

Business Bureau tells 'how to give'—tax wise

The Better Business Bureau of Detroit and Eastern Michigan has assembled a collection of practical suggestions on how to "give wisely."

Called "Tips for Charitable Giving," the basic purpose of the tips, says BBB President Thomas F. Ashcraft, is to help donors who are receiving numerous appeals to make chaitable giving a function of both the head and the heart.

He adds that the need for "Tips" results from the stepped-up fund raising efforts of charities suffering due to recent Federal Government budget trimming.

It covers everything from examining financial statements to getting one's name off a mailing list.

For a copy of "Tips on Charitable Giving," send 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Better Business Bureau, Detroit and Eastern Michigan, 150 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, 48226.

Included is such general advice as:

- Write a check to the organization; don't give cash.
- Don't succumb to pressure to give money on the spot.
- Beware of appeals that bring tears to your eyes but tell you nothing of the charity and what it's doing about the problems it describes so well.
- Most importantly, says the BBB, before giving money or volunteer time find out as much as possible about the charity. Get literature on its programs and finances; don't be afraid to ask questions.

Tax off plates

Beginning January 1, 1983, the $2.50 Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) tax for renewing vehicle registrations no longer will be collected in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

The change is reflected in prepared vehicle renewal applications now being sent 45 days in advance to motorists in the three counties. The $2.50 SEMTA tax along with a $6 tax on titles has been collected in the three counties since 1977.

Happy Birthday, Jonathan

How did you know, Oh little Jon
Before you ever were born
Down deep in our hearts was a vacant spot
That needed your love to adorn?

We waited long to hear the news
What a happy, exciting day—
Said your mom and dad "We've a big surprise
—A baby is on his way!"

The months crept along
And we just couldn't wait
We dreamed and we planned as
We checked off each date.

Our shopping trips became delayed
And Grandpa said he knows
That he could always find Grandma
Among the baby clothes.

Although you know that he appears
Quite proper and sedate
Grandpa said that basketball
And jogging suits can't wait!

Your birthday time drew very near
And we waited for a call
Which would bring us news that you were here
My, how the time did crawl!

We waited and we waited Until came that Joyous Day
"Our baby Jonathan is here!"
We heard your Mommie say.

We jumped and clapped and ran around
And called up all our friends
And laughed and cried and then sat down
To make our traveling plans.

We knew we'd love you dearly
And admire all your charms,
But could we know the void you'd fill
When we held you in our arms?

And as you grew, our hearts grew too
And love filled every part
Your smile, your games, your baby talk
Completely won our heart!

And though the miles may keep us
So often far apart
They cannot take away the smile
That's etched within our heart.

Your baby hug can't leave us
Though it be in our mind's eye
And miles cannot erase a yawn or sleepy little sigh.

We know to keep you as you are
Would be an unwise quest
And so we trust your steps to God
And ask for you His best.

Just as God gave you to us
We give you back again
And pray that you will walk with Him
And know God as your friend.

One More Time

Here I go again.
Almost the same feeling.
A feeling of wanting to be loved,
and cared about.
A feeling of tenderness,
when he holds me tight.
And a feeling of love,
When he looks deep into my eyes.
Everything seems perfect while we're together.
So special and unique.
Life has only got a bright, sunny side
while we're together.
Those moments treasured forever,
in my heart.
Like a moonlit night, with his blond curls and brown eyes, sparkling, while he looks into my green eyes.
Sparkling in love.

Yesterday

Sitting by the water,
on a warm summer's night.
Remembering our past,
and how beautiful it was,
but will never be again.
For we had loved one another,
maybe too much.
We were too young to handle this love,
that was so special.
And so we broke apart,
leaving everything we had behind us.
All those memories,
of all the time we spent together.
It was the best thing I've ever had,
in all of my life,
But, it's gone now.

"Why Dad"

The words of why my ears rejoice at their questioning sound.
The answers to which I search my mind, knowing they must be found
How come and why and is it true, I hear most everyday
And watch as those little ears absorb each word
I say

Dad is there this, or is there that, and do monsters live in the sea
And Dad is it really true, what big brother has told me
How lucky can one man be to answer youths burning questions
They sit and beg you answer, quenching to learn a lesson

Do big bears bite, do fish eat bugs, can we have some marshmallows for the fire
On and on the questions come, never do they tire
With smiling lips and a wondering mind I search to fill their minds
And on and on I search, to answer these questions of all kinds

Put meaning in every answer, to make sure they understand
Seeing that they know the truth my answers do I plan
Each answer filled with love a waiting the payment near in sight
When those little arms wrap around my neck and they say, "I Love You Dad, Goodnight."

Truth

Lonely are they who do not know love...
for it is in love that we would find the knowledge of beauty...
the serenity of heart...
the passion of living and breathing each moment of thanks for the gift of each day...
and all the seasons
that gently lead our lives.

Happy Birth-Day Amy

On your 15th Birth-Day
On November 19
There are just a few things
I would like to say;
So here I go —
You've been kind
You've been sweet
You're just the cornet player that won't be beat.
So how good you are now
from near and far —
As far as I know
you've always played Loud!
So now that you know
How stuck-up you'll be
How we'll grow in band
Together we'll be.

Love will never Die

Christmas is a lonely time, when you lose someone dear.

Remembering the happiness,
when that someone was here.

You miss the bubbling laughter, and understanding too!

It seems like only yesterday,
when they would smile at you.

We sit around the table,
Our family close entwined.

Dinner set at every place,
sipping on our wine.

Our memories are precious,
They will never leave our mind.

For the person whom we loved,
that was loving, gentle and kind.

For they that loved us dearly,
I know if they were here,

They would say come on be happy,
At this special time of year.

I haven't really left you, don't tear yourself apart.

So have a Merry Christmas,
I'm right here in your heart.

Something Very Special

It wasn't so long ago that we all lived at home—
But then again it's been a while since we've been on our own.

Those days and years have passed on by more quickly than we planned,
Marriage gave us a new start with our own chosen man.
Children brought a fresh new love from God who only can.

And with those kids came unendless fears that a mother only knows,
For we worry in a different way to protect them from many woes.

But sisters feel a certain bond, even though it takes us separate ways,
For now and forever we'll always share our love, our cares, our days.

Though time will come and time will go with the setting sun,
May you always know that in my heart you are a special one.

Happy Birth-Day Diane

On your 15th Birth-Day
I would like to say,
"I'd like to come over and maybe to stay."
To you — no gift is necessary
For me — that just won't do
So how about a stationary?
to compromise — that might do.
To me — a gift will do
to show my love and friendship,
maybe a stuffed Smurf
I know that will do.
So now as a friend
I'd hope our friendship will last because as far as I see it
It's going to be a blast!

Cagers 'turn over' wins to Brooklyn, Milan

Northville's boys' basketball team overturned two victories to its opponents in the Milan Basketball Tournament during the weekend.

The Mustangs lost a heartbreaking 50-49 decision to eventual champion Brooklyn Columbia Central last Friday. Northville also fell to host Milan 69-55 in the consolation contest Saturday.

"I thought we should have been 1-1 after this tournament," head coach Tim Lutes said.

"I'm disappointed, but I'm facing the fact that it's going to take a lot of time (for the players) to get experience," he added.

"These are young players who will improve as the season goes on. After Christmas, watch out. We'll be tough," Lutes warned.

Turnovers, in addition to free throw shooting, was the key factor in the Mustangs' losses to Brooklyn Columbia Central and Milan.

Northville's young squad committed 39 turnovers against Central. "That's an all time high for a team I've been coaching in my nine varsity years," Lutes moaned.

"That was probably due to our inexperience," he added. "But, it wasn't a fast-paced game."

Also contributing to the loss was the fact Central had 25 free throw opportunities to the Mustangs' nine.

"We were not able to play good defense without reaching in. That's due to inexperience," Lutes explained.

The Mustangs only hit five of the nine attempts with junior Mike Weber connecting on two of two, while junior guard Mickey Newman nailed three of seven.

The Mustangs had a 9-6 lead after one period, but fell behind 21-18 at halftime. Brooklyn expanded its lead to 30-26 after three quarters.

Northville also was going against a senior-dominated team in Central — a team which had a definite height advantage.

"They (Central) were mainly more mobile, moved their feet better on defense and (had better) rebounding position," Lutes commended.

Newman was Northville's high scorer with 17 points, while Dave Longridge added eight and Steve Schrader six.

Turnovers and free throws again hurt the Mustangs against Milan.

Holding a 43-42 advantage going into the final period, Northville let it slip away by allowing Milan to the charity stripe 20 times in the last stanza. Northville had only 10 opportunities.

Jackson-at-Northville having big season

By JOHN MYERS

It would be understandable to think the Jackson-at-Northville harness horse racing season at the Downs this fall is not enjoying one of its banner years. Especially when one considers the record unemployment rate and depressed economy in Michigan.

Oh, to the contrary. At the meet's current pace, the Jackson Trotting Association is enjoying one of its best seasons since coming to the Downs in 1969.

"Right now, we're ahead 18.7 percent in attendance over last season, and we're ahead 26.5 percent in handle (betting money) over last year," public relations director Barry Leftkowitz said.

In actual numbers this means the current average nightly attendance is 2,775 compared with 1,935 of a year ago. The current average nightly betting handle is $515,111 compared with $407,277 of a year ago.

"We've been very, very successful,"

All-Area cage squads a good gift

Dear Santa:

We've been good, at least we tried. Our Christmas list isn't very long. All we want for Christmas are some girls who can play basketball like Pam Baker of South Lyon, Sue Rasinske and Jane Jordan of Novi, Fran Cullen of Walled Lake Western and Terese Saulski of Lakeland.

If these five aren't available, how about players like Kathy Sroka of Novi, Val Hall of Walled Lake Western, Tina Powers of Milford and Patty Fitzgerald and Caryn Lamb of Walled Lake Central?

If we get our wish, we'll be very happy.

All-Area
Basketball Coaches

This intercepted letter to the North Pole gives a hint to the make-up of the Sliger-Livingston East All-Area Girls' Basketball teams. The teams were picked by the sports editors of The Northville Record, The Milford Times, The Novi-Walled Lake News and The South Lyon Herald. The high schools covered by these newspapers include Northville, Novi, Walled Lake Central, Walled Lake Western, Milford, Lakeland, South Lyon and Whitmore Lake.

Indeed, if an area basketball coach had a Christmas wish, it would include talented players like these:

FIRST TEAM

If a coach were to make a Christmas list of players who could win league titles and make a strong run in the state playoffs, these are the players he'd probably request.

Novi coach Bill Ayotte received a nice surprise package in sophomore SUE RASINSKE, who transferred this year from Lansing Waverly. The 5-9 center was a key figure in helping Novi capture its first Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) title this season.

One of two unanimous All-KVC selections, Rasinske averaged 16 points and 11.3 rebounds per game, while hitting 54 percent of her shots from the floor.

Novi's JANE JORDAN would make a good gift at a guard position. Combining with Rasinske to give the Wildcats a formidable inside-outside punch, she was a key in guiding Novi to its best record (17-5) in five years. A 5-5 senior, she averaged 13 points per game, primarily on shots from the outside. Another unanimous All-KVC selection, Jordan is a first-team All-area choice for the second consecutive year.

If a coach asked Santa for a team player who is unselfish and does everything well, Walled Lake Western's FRAN CULLEN would be the perfect gift. A 6-0 senior forward, she averaged eight points and 11 rebounds per game, while playing outstanding defense in helping the Warriors post a 16-8 record.

An All-Western Division choice in the Western Lakes Activities Association, Cullen was an important cog in the Warriors' district championship season.

Naturally, the coach would want someone to complement Rasinske and Lakeland's TERESE SAULSKI would fill the bill. A 5-11 junior center, she was the main figure in keeping the Eagles in the KVC title hunt. She averaged 14.8 points and 13.7 rebounds per game in being named to the All-KVC first team. She also was a first team All-Area pick last year.

The last present a coach would need to fill out his "dream team" would be an off-guard to Jordan. Although South Lyon's PAM BAKER was a forward, she'd handle the slot nicely. The 5-9 junior averaged 12 points and 11.5 rebounds per game and was a scrapper in every game. She also was a first team All-KVC selection.

A second team All-Area choice last year, Baker led South Lyon back to respectability, as the Lions improved from 1-20 in 1981 to 11-12 this season.

SECOND TEAM

Walled Lake Central compiled a 15-8 record and captured a district title this season, and a big reason for that success was the play of 5-11 forwards CARYN LAMB and PATTY FITZGERALD.

The powerful duo practically owned the backboards when Central hit the floor. Lamb, a senior, pulled down 390 rebounds, an average of 16.9 per contest, while boosting her career total over the 1,000 mark.

She is the all-time leading rebounder at Central, was a four-year starter, and this year, in addition to her backboard work, chipped in an average of 9.6 points and 2.5 assists per game.

Fitzgerald topped the Vikings in scoring with 11.3 points per game, while pulling down 9.2 rebounds per contest. She was particularly tough on the offensive boards.

One of several talented sophomores on Walled Lake Western's roster this season was VAL HALL, a 6-2 center, who led the Warriors in scoring and rebounding.

Hall averaged 16 points and 17 rebounds per game for Western, and at times completely dominated underneath the hoop. She scored a season-high 26-points against Livonia Bentley and set a new school record with an incredible 32 rebounds in the district final against Livonia Franklin.

Hall, Lamb and Fitzgerald were all selected to All-Division squads in the Western Lakes Athletic Association.

A first-team All-KVC choice, TINA POWERS of Milford played a vital role in the Redskins' drive to a title showdown against Novi. Powers, a 5-4 senior forward, came back from an early-season injury to average 10.6 points and 5.4 rebounds per game. Spot time in two games after her injury brought down her averages.

Her outside shooting ability opened up opposing defenses, allowing the 'Skins to work the ball inside. Teams that could stop Powers generally had good success against Milford.

Novi's KATHY SROKA didn't have the numbers of teammates Jordan and Rasinske, but it's safe to say that the 5-5 senior point guard helped make her teammates stats possible.

Sroka ran the Wildcat offense, played good defense and dished off the ball to the team's inside players. She averaged 6.2 points, 3.2 rebounds, three steals and almost four assists per game, while earning a second-team All-KVC berth.

Considering the Northville boys' swim team only posted a 3-11 record last season, it may seem hard to believe coach Pete Talbot thinks this year's squad can compete for the new Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division title.

Why such optimism? For starters, he nearly has double the amount of tankers on this year's team (21) than the year before (12). Secondly, despite having just five seniors, Talbot is confident of the underclassmen's abilities.

"A lot of people have been asking me," said Talbot of his outlook. "It's hard to answer because we only have five seniors and a lot of new people."

"But, we have good new kids. They have a lot of potential," he added.

"We're going to be vastly improved because of that, and we'll be able to fill the events," Talbot offered.

Even though there are five seniors, four of them were key members of last season's squad.

Returning seniors to the squad are Jon Burchard, Tim Walker, Mickey Nader and Chris Behen, who qualified for the diving regionals last season. First-year senior Eric Wheatley joins the group.

The juniors are led by tri-captains Jeff Metz, Adam Swallow and Blake Anderson. Other swimmers include Mike Ventura, Vince Shimp and Dave Kehoe.

The sophomores comprise one-third of the squad with John Gass, Joel Grasley, Ron Johnston, Jeff Palowski, Drew Paredes, Tom Valade and Dave Wayne. Freshmen Jeff Bainbridge, Doug Buell and Dodis Mikalonis round out the team.

"With the addition of the sophomores, who can swim most events, and the three freshmen, they will help us out quite a bit," Talbot projected.

"Overall, the whole picture looks a lot better than last year," he added.

Anything would look better than a year ago as the Mustangs were simply outmanned with their 12-member squad. But how things change after one season.

The backstroke and breaststroke events will be two of the Mustangs' stronger events as will diving with Behen, Metz, Palowski and Grasley.

However, Northville will be seeking some sprint people to fill the 50- and 100-yard freestyle events.

"In the sprint races we have a few holes. Hopefully, somebody will step out of the pack and fill the spot," Talbot said.

Despite the lack of a sprinter at the present time, Talbot believes the Mustangs will be a balanced team throughout the line-up for dual meets.

Northville finished fourth in the final Western Six Conference meet last season, but Talbot believes the Mustangs can challenge for the WLAA Western Division crown.

Plymouth Canton, winner of the W-Six meet last year, lost a lot of seniors, and has a small team this season, while Farmington Harrison only has a couple of returning tankers, Talbot explained.

In comparing times with Livonia Churchill, Talbot foresees the Chargers and Mustangs as the divisional front-runners.

"It could come down between Churchill and Northville," he said.

As for the Lakes Division opponents, Talbot said this would be the stronger division. Farmington, Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem all will field good teams, he offered.

The Mustangs will be opening their season Monday against non-league Redford Union before participating in the Western Lakes Relays Saturday, December 16.

Grapplers pin down win over Falcons

Northville's wrestling team literally pinned down its initial triumph of the season when it topped Western Lakes Activities Association cross-division rival Farmington 54-23 last Thursday.

Actually, it was either get a pin or be pinned as 11 of the 12 weight classes were decided by pins. The Mustangs came out on top in this category as they pinned seven of 12 opponents. Northville was pinned four times and lost one weight class by decision.

Veteran coach Gary Emerson was satisfied with the Mustangs' opening-season performance.

"It was funny how fast the pins started coming. Once things got rolling in our direction, the kids got fired up," he explained.

Northville didn't start pulling away from Farmington until after the 132-pound weight class.

Farmington led 18-12 after the first five events as the Mustangs' Bruce Wolfram (98 pounds), Craig Stewart (119 pounds) and Kent Mathis (126 pounds) were all pinned, while Erwin Morfe (112 pounds) and Jim Assenmany (105 pounds) pinned their opponents.

Rob Wolfram got Northville back on track with a pin at 132 pounds. John Collins followed with another at 138 pounds, while Mike Lavette recorded his first varsity win with a pin at 145 pounds.

Ernie Bock made it four consecutive pins at 155 pounds, before Mike Collins lost an 18-2 decision at 167 pounds.

Northville finished with a flurry as Joel Vogt (185 pounds), Greg Baker (198 pounds) and Bryan Burguett (heavyweight) all recorded pins to seal the victory.

"Farmington is much the same as us, so I knew we would do well," Emerson said. "That (meet) turned out pretty good."

It was a whole different story at the tough Belleville Invitational Saturday as a majority of the Mustangs' first-year wrestlers got their feet wet in tournament competition.

A common occurrence for the Mustangs was losing matches by the slimmest of margins. Prime examples of this was Burguett losing one decision 12-11; Baker another 9-8; and Jay Letarte one 8-6 and another 5-3.

Most of that is due to the inexperience of the wrestlers, but Emerson noted the team will improve as time progresses to turn some of those losses into victories.

"We're working at it," he said.

"Some of the 10th graders will be having good seasons. Most of the guys will be around .500, so we expect to get better," he added.

Collins placed the highest by taking fourth at 138. Seeded fourth, he won his first match, but lost to the number-one seed and the number-three seed in the consolation finals.

"The competition was tough. It was like going to the state tournament," Emerson offered.

Bock won one of three matches. He lost his final match by a 3-0 count, but this was another tough weight division.

"He was close in all of his matches. However, the (155) and (138) were the two toughest weight classes," Emerson explained.

The only other Mustang to place was Vogt, who took fifth at 185. He lost his first match, but won his next two.

Mike Collins won one match by default, but lost two others at 167. Letarte also won one of three matches at 132. Burguett lost two of three, and slightly injured his knee in his final match.

The 12-11 loss Burguett suffered in his first match was termed by Emerson the longest heavyweight match he had seen. As for Burguett's knee injury, Emerson he would know more early this week.

Another wrestler who won one of three matches was Baker at 198, while Morfe did the same at 112 pounds.

Bruce Wolfram (98), Assenmany (105), Mathis (126) and Jay Anderson (145) all fell to defeat three times. Stewart was only able to wrestle in one match at 119, and he was defeated.

Northville's junior varsity also competed in a dual meet against Farmington with the Mustangs coming out ahead 45-36. Again, it was a case of get a pin or be pinned as 11 of 12 weight classes were decided by pins.

Matt Eaker (112), Keith Richie (126), Letarte (132), Mike Davis (138), Steve Smith (155) and Mike Bates all recorded pins, while Anderson (145) won a 4-2 decision to help gain the triumph.

Don Graham (98), Mike Strom (105), Dennis Nadeau (119), Dino Candella (167) and Don Unsworth (185) all were pinned by their Farmington opponents. Keith Sanders (119) and Dave Beardlee (155) were pinned in their respective exhibition matches.

The Mustangs have a busy week. They competed against Brighton and Howell Tuesday, and host WLAA Lakes Division foe Livonia Stevenson 6:30 p.m. Thursday. Also, Northville will compete in the Novi Invitational at 5 p.m. Friday.

Settles ninth at state meet

Though there may not have been any state championships for the four members of the Northville girls' swim team at the Michigan High School Athletic Association Class A meet during the weekend, they did make respectable showings in their events.

Senior Trish Settles gained the highest placing for Northville when she took ninth in the 50-yard freestyle. Her time of 25.33 put her in a dead heat with another tanker for eighth, but the computer ruled Settles ninth by .009 of a second.

She also swam in the 500-yard freestyle where she was 22nd with a 5:31.8.

"She didn't have one of her better swims," said head coach Bill Dicks of Settles' 50 freestyle performance.

"She didn't come off the wall well in her turns. She should have been in the top six. She has that kind of skill and ability to be in the top six," he said.

Kristin Nelsen also competed in the 500 freestyle where she placed 14th with a 5:25.2. Ironically, her time was better than those posted by two swimmers in the finals.

Because of snafus by coaches turning in times to the state, it was not discovered until an hour before the 200-yard freestyle that Nelsen also could have competed in that event.

It also was discovered she could have been in the 100-yard freestyle with her consideration time, but Dicks said she did not compete in either event because the discovery was made too close to the event's starting time.

Kim Thompson was the only other Northville tanker to compete in an individual event when she qualified for the 100-yard butterfly under her consideration time. She placed 24th with a 1:05.6.

"I think Kristin has a faster 500 (freestyle) time in her," Dicks noted. "Kim got a little excited and forgot to breathe sometimes. She lost two, almost three, seconds because she didn't get enough air."

Western basketball squad claims Team of the Year

Half way through the season, Walled Lake Western's record stood at 5-5. But since that time the Warriors have won 11 of 14 games to finish up at 16-8, claimed a MHSAA Class A District championship and advanced all the way to the finals of the regional tournament before falling to highly-rated Farmington Our Lady of Mercy.

As a result, the Warriors have been selected Sliger/Livingston Publications' "Team of the Year" for 1982.

The honor is particularly meaningful during a season in which Novi and Walled Lake Central also had outstanding basketball teams. Novi (17-5) won the Kensington Valley Conference championship, while Central (15-9) also claimed a district title before falling in the regionals.

Roy Artley, coach of the Warrior squad, was surprised neither at his team's mediocre start nor whirlwind finish.

"We knew at the start that it would take us a few games to hit our stride," he commented. "But we also knew we had a lot of talent here and it would just take a little while to gel."

Just two players — Fran Cullen, a 6-1 forward, and Cathy Artley, a 5-5 point guard — returned from the 1981 Warrior team which posted a 4-17 record.

They were joined this year, however, by a handful of talented sophomores that included 6-2 center Val Hall, 5-8 guard Nancy Leach, 5-7 forward Sue Baglow, 5-10 forward Sheri Davis and 6-0 center Carol Croll as well as Betty Gross, a 5-7 junior forward.

It proved to be an ideal mix. Despite a string of injuries that at one time or another kept Artley, Leach and Davis out of action, the Warriors continued to gain momentum as the season progressed.

By the time the playoffs rolled around, Western was in high gear, dispatching Northville by 12 points and Livonia Franklin by 16 points to win the district championship easily and then topping Temperance Bedford by six points in the first game of the regionals before falling to Mercy in the finals as Artley remained out of action with the flu.

Stars? Western had lots of them. Artley was the floor leader from her point guard position, Cullen was a tower of strength at forward and Hall led the team in both scoring and rebounds.

Leach was a defensive stalwart, Gross blossomed at the end of the season, Baglow made key contributions and no team ever had a more consistent, dependable reserve than Croll.

"I think one of the keys to our success

Milford's Palmer earns area coach honor

Although there were times when Milford basketball coach Don Palmer wondered if his young cagers were conspiring to kill him with mistakes, he knew from the start that patience was the key to bringing out the best in the talented youngsters.

"I've always had a rule that I never yell at a 10th grader, but this year, for the first time, I broke it," remarked Palmer, whose team featured three sophomore starters and a freshman as a third guard.

"It was the first time I ever got on sophomores. You try to be as patient as you can and do your yelling in practice," he said.

Obviously, Palmer's words sunk in. The Redskins, who at midseason were 4-3 in the Kensington Valley Conference, put together a six-game KVC win streak which carried them to a title showdown against Novi in the last game of the year.

Novi triumphed in that contest, 47-30, knocking the 'Skins into third place, but that lofty position and the 10-4 league mark were more than Palmer had expected from his inexperienced unit. The success of the Redskins has earned Palmer recognition as the Sliger-Livingston Publications' East Area Coach of the Year.

In addition to the sophomores, one MHS senior starter was in only her second season of basketball. Only Tina Powers, a 5-4 senior forward, combined game experience and upperclass standing.

"The kids went above my expectations," Palmer admitted. "I didn't think they'd finish that high because of their youth. I kept waiting for that bad game to show up and it never happened."

The emotional intensity of the Redskin cagers might have been responsible for that, Palmer felt. Once they found out they had an outside shot at the title, there was no stopping them.

"This group could really taste it. It was all right there on paper. There were a lot of ifs, but after Brighton beat Novi, they saw it could happen," he explained.

"A young team tends to be more emotional than a veteran team. We got good senior leadership and the sophomores got more and more confident as the season went on," he added.

A monstrous nonleague schedule left the Redskins with a 10-10 overall record, an improvement from last season's 7-13 mark, despite the loss of all but two of the top players.

"Obviously, any time a coach wins an award two things have to happen. One, you've got to have talented players, and two, you need some luck. Some close games went in the right column," Palmer stated.

Among those close wins were upset victories over Brighton and Lakeland during the 6-0 run at the end of the year. Those wins gave the team the title opportunity.

"I really am honored and thrilled to receive the award," said Palmer, a Michigan State grad, who also coaches the MHS boys' team. "I got my baptism to coaching in 1979 when we had that 20-4 girls' team (regional finalist) and an 0-20 season with the boys."

"Coaches are subjected to a lot of undue praise and criticism. It comes down to players. Our job is to guide them," he continued. "That year I was a genius.

then a few weeks later a bum, and I was still the same coach."

"In fact, I thought I did a better job with the 0-20 team," he added.

Palmer knows his work is cut out for him next year. No longer will the Redskins be a young unheralded team. They'll be one of the teams to beat in the KVC.

Of course, his players won't be sophomores anymore. So if nothing else, at least Palmer won't feel guilty about yelling at 10th graders.

Special recognition from the Sliger-Livingston sports editors goes to South Lyon coach Ron Shanks. Shanks inherited a team that went winless in regular season play last year, winning a tournament game en route to a 1-20 record.

But this season the Lions were no pushovers. With basically the same personnel, they racked up a 10-12 overall record, sprung two upsets on Brighton and began the task of rebuilding the program.

Shanks did an excellent job installing the new system at South Lyon and also deserves congratulations, the editors felt.

All-Area cage squad a good Christmas present

Without a doubt, there was an abundance of talent to choose from for this year's Sliger/Livingston Publications All-Area girls' basketball team.

So much talent, in fact, that some excellent area cage players were unable to crack the top 10 and, therefore, were placed on the honorable mention list.

One of those players was Northville's Tracy Wilkinson. The senior center averaged seven points and seven rebounds per game for the 1-20 Mustangs.

It was a tough year all around for Northville, but Wilkinson was one of the squad's better players night in and night out. For that, she earned honorable mention honors.

On the second team All-Area (clockwise from lower left) are Novi's Kathy Sroka, Milford's Tina Powers, Central's Caryn Lamb, Western's Val Hall and Central's Patty Fitzgerald.

Jackson meet setting new attendance, betting records

said Leftkovicz in a gross understatement.

There are a number of reasons for the Downs' new-found success this season — not the least of which is the new gimmick betting on every race.

In hopes of attracting better crowds and more betting handle, the Jackson Trotting Association was granted the right to present prefetas (picking the first two horses in exact order) and trifectas (picking the first three horses across the line) in every race.

"The only thing that sticks out in everybody's mind as to why we're doing so well is the trifectas and prefetas in every race," Leftkovicz explained.

"More than half the money bet each night is on trifectas," he added. "That has proved to be very successful."

"The main (reason) is the trifectas," Leftkovicz said.

The Jackson Trotting Association decided to go with the prefetas and trifectas in each race to offset the "Pick Six" gimmick betting at the Windsor Harness Raceway in Windsor, Ontario, Canada.

The object of the "Pick Six" gimmick bet is to select six winners in six races. If nobody wins, the betting pool carries over to the next evening. The pool must be awarded to someone after 10 days if nobody has won.

"It's much harder trying to pick winners in 10 races let alone six," Leftkovicz noted.

In addition, Windsor only offers four trifectas nightly. "The thing here is you don't have to wait around for specific races to make a little bit of a score. You can do it each race which is an advantage over the 'Pick Six,'" Leftkovicz offered.

Another factor in the success has been the spring-like weather much of the area has enjoyed throughout October, November and part of December.

"We went through no snow and no real cold weather for most of the season," Leftkovicz observed.

Also, Jackson-at-Northville runs 11 races Friday and Saturday nights which has some patrons sticking around a little longer, Leftkovicz said.

Additionally, the 7:30 p.m. post time, which is a half hour earlier than last season, has also help somewhat during the week, he added.

While this may come as little surprise, Leftkovicz acknowledges the eight-week professional football strike helped the meet as well.

Even though pro football is back in full swing, Leftkovicz said he could not tell what affect it was having on the meet.

If numbers are any indicator, the meet has not been hurt at all. During the strike, the meet set an all time high in betting handle November 6 with $765,611. Since then, the meet has had a couple of other over-$700,000 nights. The meet also had its best Tuesday night November 30 when more than $440,000 was bet.

As for attendance, the Jackson-at-Northville had its best night in three years November 27 when 6,111 patrons went through the turnstiles. That was more people at the track than there is in the city of Northville which has a population of 5,698.

Part of the reason for the large turnout, in which many were turned away at the door, was the Budweiser Clydesdale horses were at the track in addition to a free ski cap promotion, Leftkovicz explained.

But, the overriding factor in all of this success still comes down to the trifectas and prefetas in every race.

"It's funny. Pro football has helped us. The good weather has helped us. But Windsor has had good weather and the advantage of the pro football strike," Leftkovicz offered.

"But, the trifectas are the main factor of why we're doing so well," he added.

Another advantage helping the meet has been the quality and competitiveness of the races each night. "The races have been excellent," Leftkovicz noted.

Despite all of this, it still boggles one's mind as to how the Jackson-at-Northville meet is doing so well. Leftkovicz had a ready answer.

"There's always a shot for people to make money. People will always take chances," he explained. "They can do anything they want in each race. The can place a bet for win, place or show, the daily double, the trifecta, or the prefeta."

With 22 more racing days left, the Jackson-at-Northville meet will continue along its record-setting pace.

"We never dreamed we would do this well. Nothing like this," Leftkovicz related. "This is like a dream come true."

And the Jackson Trotting Association would like nothing more than for more dreams to come true in the future at Northville Downs.

Mustangs lose twice at Milan Tournament

"They made theirs, and we missed ours," Lutes said.

Milan connected on 25 of 41 free throw opportunities, while the Mustangs made good on 11 of 21 attempts.

Weber was the sharp-shooter from the line as he made five of six charity tosses. However, the rest of the squad only made six of 19.

"There's no excuse for that. We should have made more than that," Lutes lamented.

If the Mustangs could have made half of their missed one-and-one free throw opportunities, Lutes said he thought Northville could have possibly come out on top against Milan.

"You change around one statistic like that, and we would have won the game," he theorized.

Northville also committed an abundance of turnovers (33) in addition to letting Milan get second field goal attempts off missed first attempts.

"The third factor was we were pressuring them and they put up the quick shot like we wanted. But, we just never got the rebound, so Milan either got a second shot or was fouled on the rebound," Lutes offered.

"They were a senior team who knew how to put teams away. We simply didn't know how to put teams away," he added.

Milan jumped out to a 17-8 first-quarter lead and was ahead 30-25 at the intermission. Northville gained a 43-42 lead after three quarters, but could not hold on.

Longridge was the team's top scorer against Milan with 14 points. Schrader added 12 points, and eight rebounds, while Newman tossed in eight points. Dave Bach cleared the glass for 12 boards in two games.

Northville opens Western Lakes Activities Association at 6 p.m. Friday night when it hosts cross-division rival Farmington. Also, the Mustangs will battle Western Division foe Plymouth Canton at home at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

But before the Mustangs tangle with those two WLAA rivals, Lutes sees three areas of improvement.

"What we have to improve is number one the turnover area; number two the defensive area; and number three positioning and rebounding," he explained.

Northville Gators Swim Club continues December sign-ups

Classroom shopping helps students with gift buying

When it comes to Christmas shopping, students at Amerman Elementary School have found the easiest way to shop for mom, dad, little sis and Fido is right in their own classrooms. Last Wednesday and Thursday, Amerman students did some secret Christmas shopping at the school's annual Holiday Gift Shop sponsored by the PTA.

Gifts ranging in price from 15-cents to $3 were available to all Amerman shoppers — and a few little brothers and sisters who also came along.

Other elementary schools have been hosting gift shops throughout the week to help students with their Christmas buying.

Anne Fitzpatrick speaks vows

Anne C. Fitzpatrick, daughter of John and Sue Fitzpatrick of Northville, became the bride of Daniel Cekinovich, Jr., of San Diego, California, October 9 at First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham.

The bridegroom is the son of Ruth Cekinovich of Dallas, Texas, and Daniel Cekinovich of Lisbon, Ohio.

Susan Stenli of Warren was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's sisters Amy and Ellen Fitzpatrick, both of California, Julie Solomone, formerly Julie Faustyn of Northville, and Susan Fresard of West Palm Beach, Florida.

Best man was David Selak of Rocky River, Ohio. Ushers were the bridegroom's brother Michael of Dallas, Texas, Mark Blazeovic of Troy, Mark Adams of Farmington Hills and Tommy Warmus of Franklin.

A special reading during the ceremony was given by Nancy Dailey. A reception was held held at Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills following the ceremony.

The bride, a 1975 Northville High School graduate, is the assistant vice-president of American Way Life Insurance Company in Southfield.

The bridegroom, a 1965 Western Beaver High School graduate and marketing graduate of the University of Cincinnati, also is employed by American Way as the National Sales Manager.

Following a honeymoon in Barbados, the couple returned to West Bloomfield where they have made their home.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL CEKINOVICH

June wedding set

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Fuerthes of 1012 Grace announce the engagement of their daughter Kathleen to Michael A. Patriarca of Mentor, Ohio.

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Jerry Patriarca of Mentor.

The bride-elect is a Northville High School graduate and received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Dayton in 1981.

A member of Gamma Gamma Kappa sorority, she currently is regional marketing manager of Cardinal Service Inc.

Her fiancé, a Lake Catholic High School graduate, received a degree in accounting from University of Dayton in 1982. He currently is employed with Meader and Moore in Cleveland.

A June 18 wedding is planned.

Christmas shopping can aid causes

By JEANDAY

Christmas gifts and stocking stuffers from a mere 25 cents up are available from local organizations. Some in the range of $3 to $5 are real bargains — and all aid causes.

Here's our annual listing of items available for easy holiday giving from such groups as Northville Rotary, Northville Jaycees and Jaycettes, Northville Mothers' Club, Northville Historical Society and the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce.

Historical society offers new pictorial history

A pictorial history, "Early Northville," compiled by Laura Hixson and filled with pictures of the community taken years ago is a new offering of the Northville Historical Society. It has been selling fast at $5 ever since it was published this fall, says Virginia Hayward of the historical society. It is available at Bookstall on the Main or by mail (with a 75 cent mailing charge) from Northville Historical Society, P.O. Box 71, Northville, attention Virginia Hayward.

Sales have "just taken off," Mrs. Hayward mentions, noting that 200 copies have been sold since it appeared. "It's such a good gift item at a most reasonable price," she adds.

Still available from the society are both hard-bound and paperback copies of Jack Hoffman's book, "Northville — the First 100 years," at $13 and $9 respectively. The popular book on early Northville history now is in its second printing. It is filled with stories of early events and settlers.

The society also has available plates depicting the Mill Race Village at $7.95 and Christmas cards and note paper with scenes of the village by Northville artist Caroline Dunphy priced at 35 cents each, or three for $1. They may be purchased by calling Mrs. Hayward at 349-0408.

Chamber's selling Northville vehicle plates

A new item from chamber of commerce is a front vehicle plate with "Northville" in red and "Michigan" in blue on a white background with the well logo in blue. It's priced at $3, and chamber executive director Kay Keagan thinks it's a great gift idea for parents or grandparents. It's already popular with retirees and winter vacationers going south, she mentions.

Also available at the chamber building next to the well are commemorative bricks issued for the Mainstreet Dedication in May. They are identical to the bricks used decoratively downtown and are $5 each. Each has a label marking the dedication and date. Suggested uses: doorsteps and bookends.

The chamber is selling handy maps of the city and township for 25 cents each. They could be real "stocking stuffers." The chamber office is open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. weekdays. The license plates also are being sold by some chamber members, including Ed Jamieson at Travel Plans.

Mothers' Club cookbook's a bargain $5

The revised Northville Mothers' Club cookbook of 1981-82 proved so popular it has gone onto additional printings. Still priced at $5, it is on sale at Schrader's Furniture Store.

"They're right on the counter," reports club member Diane Schrader, mentioning that the cookbook contains some of the recipes members made for the bake sale held in conjunction with the club's ski and skate sale this fall.

Rotary's selling Christmas luminaries

Luminaries — those glowing bags that light the way to homes during the holiday season — are being sold by Northville Rotary. The custom, brought north from the Southwest, originally symbolized lighting the Christ child's way at Christmas.

The kits containing a dozen candles, paper bags and sand to anchor them along paths are priced at $6. They are available from Jim Allen at Allen Monuments, 580 South Main.

Jaycees have Northville T-shirts

Northville Jaycees still have a supply of "I Love Northville" T-shirts. They are $5 and may be purchased at Lapham's Men's Store.

"Our personal visits from Santa are great gifts for small children," Jaycee Ron Barnum suggests. Santa will make a personal appearance at a home or club program by appointment for $10 for a 15-minute visit. Each additional 15 minutes is $5. Debbie Anderson is taking appointments at 349-4426 (home) or 349-7110 (work).

Jaycettes' cookbook's loose-ring style

Northville Jaycettes are selling loose-ring cookbooks with bright yellow-and-white check covers. "You can hang them up by their rings," suggests Marty Barnum who is selling the books at $3.50 each, or two for $5.

The Jaycettes also have unusual "cards of concern" with "Joy" written on the front. Inside each is an attractive angel ornament made of jute. They are priced at $1 each, or four for $4 with an extra ornament included. Mrs. Barnum may be called at 349-8027 for both cards and cookbooks.

Dental Dialogue
of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.

IT'S A VICE

Q. My wife tells me I clench my teeth, is it really harmful?

A. Yes. Everyone should stop and think while reading or watching TV, "Am I clenching my teeth?" Many people have the habit of clenching and grinding when they are nervous or when they sleep. If you habitually clench you very likely will discover that your teeth will wear, become loose and you may develop gum problems. The membrane that surrounds the teeth is built to withstand the pressure caused by chewing food, but not for constant clenching and grinding. The teeth become wobbly in their sockets, pull away from the gums which eventually can lead to infection.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.
