Summer tax collection hearing scheduled

Northville Board of Education approved a resolution Monday night to hold a public hearing to determine whether to impose a summer property tax levy of half its annual school property taxes.

The public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. January 24 prior to the board's meeting at Silver Springs Elementary School.

School Superintendent George Bell told board members that in compliance with Public Act 333, the district was required to pass a resolution before February 1 stating their intentions to collect taxes in summer.

Public Act 333 enables school districts to impose a summer property tax levy of one-half or all of its annual school property taxes if township or city governments refuse to do so. The act was signed into law by former Gov-nor William Milliken on December 16.

Bell emphasized that a decision on whether to collect school property taxes in summer has not yet been determined.

"It would not be appropriate for us to make a decision before Wednesday's meeting or before the public hearing," Bell noted. School administrators will be meeting with city and township officials at 7:30 p.m. tonight to further discuss the possibility of a summer tax collection.

In a brief discussion before approving the resolution, Bell told the board that it was premature to make a decision on the summer property tax levy because of several "unknowns" in next year's budget.

Among those "unknowns" are several uncertainties about next year's program.

Bell said among the proposals he intends to bring to the board sometime before September is a revision of the high school graduation requirements and a change in the number of course hours for sophomores and juniors at the high school.

He predicted such revisions, if approved, most likely will mean additional staffing at the high school next September — which also means additional funding.

He pointed out the uncertainties with next year's teachers' salaries. The teacher contract signed in January, 1982, puts Northville teachers' salaries at a level comparable to those of 17 other school districts. Bell pointed out that five of those 17 school districts have not yet signed contracts for the 1982-83 school year.

Board members also pointed out that assessments in both the city and township are leveling off, making it even more difficult to make revenue predictions for the coming year.

Recognizing that the collection of school property taxes in July may cause a significant cash crunch for some taxpayers, board vice president Karen Wilkinson proposed the board examine the option of collecting summer taxes in July, 1984, rather than this summer.

Among the board's other concerns is the possibility of a bond issue proposal for the high school renovation this fall.

Board members noted that the bond issue would most likely come right on top of the summer tax collection — which could have an adverse effect on the proposal should taxpayers be faced with a cash flow problem.

While the board will be examining several options over the next few weeks, Bell said he hopes to have a more concise idea about next year's budget.

"Can we do all the things we want to do without a summer tax collection?" Bell asked the board. "I'd like to go on record as saying 'I don't know.'"

Bell proposed summer school property tax collections to city and township officials last August in the hopes of reducing interest expenses that, he says, have totaled nearly $1.8 million over the past decade.

"Our tax dollars are going to financial institutions," Bell said, "rather than to our regular program."

The Thomas family — Diane, Mark, Jesse and newborn Jennifer

Jennifer takes First Baby title

When Jennifer Lee Thomas starts her first day of school, in about, oh say, five years from now — she will find herself contending with being near the bottom of the roll in alphabetical order.

But in 1983, Jennifer Lee led the way to gain The Northville Record's title as first baby of the year.

Jennifer's parents Mark and Diane welcomed their new daughter bright and early last Saturday, January 8 at 3:30 a.m. in Grace Northwest Hospital. Jennifer, who has a brother Jesse, 2, weighed in at eight pounds-15½ ounces.

Mark Thomas was the first caller in The Record's contest after the deadline was extended last Friday.

The Thomases have been married three years. Mark is maintenance supervisor at Innsbrook Apartments, where they reside at 18689 Innsbrook. Diane is a computer supervisor for a Detroit law firm.

Jennifer was delivered Lamaze and Mark was excited about his new daughter, telling The Record, "I got to hold her before they took her to the nursery."

Jennifer Lee Thomas takes the title from Kevin Alexander Kless, who celebrated his first birthday January 4.

The Thomases will receive a number of prizes from local merchants including a Carter's gift set and a pair of shoes for Northville's newest citizen from Del's, a baby arrangement of fresh flowers from IV Seasons, a special gift for Northville's first mother from Freydl's and a haircut and blow dry for the new mother from Fashion Cellar.

Other prizes include a $10 gift certificate from The Little People Shoppe, 10 half-gallons of milk from Guernsey Farms Dairy, a $10 gift certificate for baby and mother from D & C, two pounds of homemade chocolates from Village Sweets 'n' Treats, a Burlington bassinet for Northville's first baby from TG&Y, a new sweater from The Marquis and an 8 x 10 baby portrait from Albright Photography.

Planners request PBO data

By STEPHEN CVENGROS

Northville City Planning Commission will evaluate floor space in existing structures before making a recommendation regarding residential housing in the city's downtown business area, it was decided at last week Tuesday's meeting of the commission.

Plan Consultant Ronald Nino suggested that the planners make their decision on minimum square foot requirements regardless of what currently exists in Northville business structures.

But both Council Member Burton DeRusha, liaison to the commission, and Carl Follmer of Follmer, Stone & Associates stressed to the planners the need to recognize existing floor space.

Nino pointedly told the plan commission that minimum floor space requirements for zoning classifications (i.e. 500 square feet to qualify as an efficiency, 650 square feet for a one-bedroom, etc.) should be maintained in reaching a recommendation regarding the Professional/Business/Office (PBO) District. The request to permit residential use above commercial and office in the PBO district was the subject of the discussion.

However, Follmer countered that such a decision "would mean any building that is there would have to be torn down — because I don't think any are 500 feet." He added that it was his belief that most of the existing buildings along Main and Center Streets did not have more than 400 square feet available on floors above street level, the focus for residential zoning in the business district.

DeRusha told the commission, "I'd like to see you folks examine the 450 square foot (requirement) and determine if it's an acceptable living space...It's really pointless to do it (change requirements) if you can't do it (on the structures that are existing)."

Nino was not opposed to the concept as a whole. In fact, he told the plan commission, "It makes good sense to allow residential use co-mingling with business."

Aside from upholding the square foot requirement, the consultant urged the planners to "discourage outside stairwells."

Nino queried Follmer as to why a different standard should exist for housing in the PBO district. Follmer countered, "because these are existing buildings." That thought followed the stated concerns of most plan commissioners and DeRusha.

The consultant insisted that an "owner will have to face that floor problem or go to the Board of Appeals for a variance" should the commission follow his advice.

But Nino indicated he did not believe a presentation before the Board of Appeals is as major a stumbling block as in some communities.

Nino classified Northville's appeals board as "lenient" when compared with similar bodies in other communities.

Council hears analysis of city sewer system

Final step in an evaluation of the City of Northville's sewer system and its facilities planning was taken Monday night as a public hearing was held in city council chambers to fulfill Federal requirements.

After studying the entire city, evaluating areas with on-site sewage disposal systems and actual sewers within the city's sanitary sewer system, the engineers' report concluded that it is in the best interests of the city not to rehabilitate its sewer system at this time.

The hearing before city council was attended only by city engineer Jack McNeely.

The consulting engineering firm of Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout, Limited, of Toledo prepared the plan. Project engineer Richard Engle and assistant project engineer Robert Cara have made reports to the council during the survey.

They were on hand Monday to make a final summation and answer questions.

The facilities plan was initiated in late 1979 as a result of the Huron Valley Wastewater Control System Facilities Plan recommendation that communities from Plymouth Township north to Commerce Township, including the City of Northville, conduct their own Sewer System Evaluation Survey.

Presently, it was pointed out, the Wayne County Interceptor cannot handle the flow which it receives. This is primarily due to the excess flow, in the form of infiltration/inflow which enters the Wayne County system.

The city sewer system, the engineers explained, was evaluated to determine whether it is more economical to rehabilitate the sewers and remove the infiltration/inflow than to rehabilitate the sewers and enlarge the Wayne

'Teed off' at winter!

There 'sno end in sight for some fanatic golfers

By STEPHEN CVENGROS

A quick glance through a travel brochure would readily list some of the top spots to get in some golf and keep the swing in shape for the forthcoming spring — Doral Country Club in Miami, Pebble Beach, Brooklane in Northville.

Brooklane in Northville? With the winter "drought" that's kept snow off the ground, there are more little, white balls with "Top Flite" imprinted on them filling the air than the usual array of snowballs that are sent airborne by impish children. And Brooklane Golf Course, located at Sheldon and Six Mile, is enjoying the outlandishly mild season before Old Man Winter gets his licks in.

The opportunity to tee off in mid-January has just become too big a lure to keep fanatic duffers away.

Brooklane's Golf Professional John Koch said that there have been golfers "just about everyday except for rain."

December 6 was the biggest day since the "normal" November 15 closing date. On that Monday, some 80 golfers found their way to Brooklane for what they probably thought would be their last strokes of the season. Little would they suspect that, more than a month later, conditions are still "up to par" for golfing.

"I've been here 14 seasons and this is first season that I can remember us being open this late," Koch said. "We're open all year-round. And we're trying to increase our indoor driving range, but that's been going downhill because people want to get out (doors)."

As an example of recent attendance, the course professional noted, "Last Sunday (January 2), we had about 20 people out here."

Koch has also been taking advantage of the late season.

"Yes, I played," he said. "We played in November, almost the whole month — we played every Saturday."

The course professional offered a few tips for winter duffers and explained the differences between playing during cold and warm weather.

"The only thing is keeping your hands warm, so the mis-hits off the club don't feel like they're ricocheting," he explained, adding, "You have to be free with your shoulders. I usually wear a cashmere sweater and a (down) vest." Koch noted that a number of the golfers have also been using hand warmers.

"It's also nice to keep the ball warm. It doesn't feel so hard," he added.

Don't be misled, while Brooklane is certainly making a few extra bucks off the extended season — so are its members.

Koch defined the clientele. "Basically, it's our same regular people. A lot of senior citizens are playing. Our membership is playing. In fact, our membership really got their money's worth this year. They played from about April until now — about eight months."

Brooklane will attempt to stay open "as long as there's not an accumulation of snow on the greens." But according to Koch, the Northville course will not stay open for "snow golfers," true fanatics that like postal workers will not be thwarted by mere weather changes. Once the snow is on the greens, Koch said there is a fear of damage to them — reason enough to close.

The normal opening date for Brooklane is April 1. And if Mother Nature cooperates it could be a short

Salem planners to discuss landfill

Two conditional use requests in Salem Township which have already drawn considerable opposition from a large group of area residents are slated for discussion at the January 17 meeting of the Salem Planning Commission, according to commission secretary Norma Schmeman.

One issue is the construction of an asphalt plant and expansion of sand and gravel mining and the landfill operated by Holloway Sand and Gravel at Six Mile and Napier. The other is a request by Pastor Ivan Speight to turn a large ranch-style residence on Tower Road into a combination church-parsonage.

A public hearing on both issues December 13 was attended by approximately 75 citizens. Land owners in close proximity to the two properties spoke out in opposition to the requests.

Monday's meeting, which is the regular quarterly session of the commission, is slated to begin at 8 p.m. at the township hall in Salem village.

Schmeman, who said the commission completed the taking of public comments on both issues at the December hearing, explained that she expects the commission will probably reach a determination on the church request at Monday's meeting but that the landfill request will probably only be "discussed further." The asphalt plant is an allowed conditional use in a general industrial area as requested by Holloway.

Under the township zoning ordinance, as explained by Commission Chairperson Donald Riddering, the commission has the authority to make the decision on the pastor's conditional use request. The final decision on the sand and gravel mining and landfill request lies with the township board, after receiving the recommendation of the planning commission, according to the ordinance.

Schmeman added that an election of officers for the commission for 1983 is also on Monday's agenda. Schmeman has served as secretary of the commission for the past 10 years. Riddering, a long-time member of the commission, was elected in the fall of 1982 to chair the group after William Hogg resigned the position. Ferman Rohraff, Salem Township trustee and liaison between the board and the commission, currently serves as vice-chairperson.

Nominations for officers will be made and voted on by the commissioners at Monday's meeting, Schmeman explained.

At annual meeting January 22

WJR's Dale Conquest will be chamber dinner guest

Speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce Saturday, January 22, at the Novi Sheraton Oaks will be WJR sportscaster Dale Conquest.

The program, at which Northville's Citizen of the Year is announced, will follow dinner at 7:30 p.m. There will be pre-dinner cocktail time beginning at 7 p.m.

Conquest, who joined WJR-AM in Detroit in January 1977, has reported on sports play-by-play, anchored two 15-minute sportscasts daily and WJR's "Sportswrap," a three-hour talk show.

He occasionally does play-by-play or color commentary for college and high school football and basketball, covers major golf tournaments, including the U.S. Open and PGA Championship, and does voice commercials and "voice over" for films.

Conquest's voice is familiar to sports fans as he covers the Tigers, Pistons, Lions, Red Wings plus college sports in Michigan.

From 1974 through 1976 he worked for the Mutual Broadcasting System in Washington, D.C., where his duties included anchoring Wide-Weekend-of-Sports, and 33 five-minute sports programs on weekends to some 525 radio stations around the country — in addition to daily sportscasts during the week and special assignments.

These included coverage of championship fights, part of play-by-play coverage for NFL football broadcasts, field coverage of major golf tournaments, anchor and field coverage of 1976 Olympics in Montreal and play-by-play of the U.S. basketball team, network commercials, and responsibility for a six-member staff.

From 1965 to 1974 he worked as television anchor in Columbia, Missouri, Columbus, Ohio (for three months) and in Cincinnati, Ohio. The stations were KOMU-TV, WTVN-TV and WKRC-TV. Other duties included play-by-play (WTVN-AM) of Ohio State football on 37-station radio network and play-by-play of Ohio State basketball for television.

Conquest says he also has had experience writing several articles for newspapers and holding the position of managing editor for Great Lakes Sports — Michigan and writing for the now-defunct publication. He adds that it is too bad it did not make it as it was a good publication.

"Over the years I have worked with or done programs with Dan Devine, Woody Hayes, Lindsey Nelson, Tom Harmon, Floyd Patterson and many others," recalls Conquest.

Conquest is married. He and his wife Michelle have three children, Morgan, whom he says is "eleven going on 21," Matthew, 9, and Lindsay Gail, 2.

DALE CONQUEST

Janis Stevenson, who is heading up arrangements assisted by Charlotte Spaman, reports there will be "lots of fun and prizes" in addition to the good food and program.

There also is a special reduced rate offered by the Sheraton Oaks Hotel for anyone attending the chamber dinner of $45, either single or double, for that night. Reservations should be placed directly with the hotel at 348-5000.

Dinner tickets are $20 a person with singles and couples invited. It is not necessary to be a member of the chamber to attend, stresses Kay Keegan, chamber executive director.

Tickets are on sale at the chamber office at 195 South Main between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. week days and also are available at Bookstall on the Main and the Bookstop in Northville Plaza Mall. They should be purchased before this Friday.

For additional information call the chamber at 349-7640.

The chamber is calling the evening "Community I Event of '83."

Chamber President Betty Allen reports that the tradition of having last year's Citizen of the Year announce this year's recipient will be continued. Jack Hoffman, last year's honoree, will preside over this year's presentation. He, Allen and G. Dewey Gardner are this year's judges. Six nominations were received by the December 31, 1982, deadline for nominations.

Annual election of directors will be held at the business meeting. Ed Jamieson, chairman of the nominating committee, reports there will be nominations for three directors for

Citizen committee formed

Northville Board of Education approved the formation of a citizens' committee Monday night to work with the staff and administration on the feasibility study for the Northville High School renovation project.

School Superintendent George Bell said he is hoping to select 12-15 citizens to help work on the feasibility study over the next few months.

He said he is looking for a cross section of the community and already has selected several community members to help with the study.

Bell noted he is looking for citizens with particular expertise in areas such as robotics, computers, word processing, energy savings, etc.

Citizens interested in volunteering for the committee should contact the Superintendent's office at 349-3400.

Hospice volunteers needed

Afternoon training classes for prospective volunteers at Hospice of Southeastern Michigan will begin January 18 at First Presbyterian Church.

Enrollment for the classes, which will meet for three hours each week for 10 weeks, is limited.

According to Hazel Maxwell, hospice director of volunteers, the training is designed to strengthen people's sharing and listening skills, expand their knowledge of the hospice concept and provide skills in being helpful to nurses.

Experienced volunteers will give new volunteers personal assistance in getting started in hospice work.

Persons interested in volunteering should contact the volunteer office at 559-9209 for more information.

Top seniors

Robert Walls, Leon Price and Melvin P. Mitchell, left to right, are among the newly-elected officers of the Northville Senior Citizens' club. Price will serve as president, while Mitchell and Walls will assist him as first- and second-vice presidents. Price, who replaced the late Clarence Harsh as club president, says he has "a good year ahead" planned for the club. His plans include restructuring the club, forming committees, establishing a board, and establishing a closer rapport with the Senior Citizens' Council. Other new club officers include Madel Price as secretary and Frances Collins as treasurer. The club, open to city and township residents over 60 years of age, now has about 190 members and welcomes all area seniors to join.

Clinic set for saxophone players

Saxophone players are invited to attend a free clinic by members of the Detroit Saxophone Quartet at 5 p.m. January 24 in Room F310 of the Forum Building on the Schoolcraft College campus.

The clinic will focus on individual performance and style and technique in ensemble performance.

The Quartet will perform in concert at 8 p.m. that evening in Room B500 of the Liberal Arts Theater. Tickets are $4 general admission and $3 for students and will be available at the door.

Police Blotter

Woman is struck by auto in evening accident

...In the City

An elderly Northville woman remained in intensive care at St. Mary Hospital Tuesday morning after she was struck by a car last Wednesday, according to Northville police.

Maude Huff, 74, of 401 High Street, was hit at about 5:30 p.m. on Dunlap Street near Arbor Drugs. Huff told police she was crossing Dunlap mid-block from south to north and was about two feet from the north curb when she saw a car out of the corner of her eye.

The car, driven by Lenore Troher of 344 North Ely, was westbound on Dunlap when it struck Huff.

A witness told police that Troher's car was slowing when it hit Huff. Police reports said Huff was wearing dark clothing and it was fairly dark at the time of the accident.

Police investigation of the accident is closed, with no charges brought against Troher.

A rash of larcenies from motor vehicles January 5 included the theft of more than $500 worth of speakers from eight buses parked in the Northville bus compound, police reports said.

Stolen from each of the eight unlocked buses were two 5x7 coaxial speakers. A two-way radio was cut from the dashboard of one bus and stashed beneath the driver's seat, reports said.

Thieves apparently entered the bus compound by cutting through the chain link fence surrounding the compound. Police found a cover for one of the speakers on the football field near the hole in the fence, reports said.

Township police searching for man who robbed store

Northville Township police are looking for a black male who held up the Six and Park party store at the corner of Six Mile and Northville roads Sunday afternoon, according to police chief Kenneth Hardesty.

Hardesty said the man entered the store alone about 2:50 p.m., produced a long-barreled blue steel revolver, announced a holdup, jumped over the counter and removed an undisclosed amount of currency from the cash register.

"He did threaten to kill the clerk in the store," Hardesty said.

He reported that police believe the man had a car waiting in the parking lot, perhaps driven by an accomplice.

"The store owner heard squealing tires ... we believe there was somebody in a vehicle waiting for him," Hardesty said.

Hardesty asked anyone in the vicinity at the time of the robbery who may

The speakers were stolen sometime between 7 p.m. January 4 and 5:30 a.m. January 5, police said.

About $250 worth of stereo equipment was stolen from a car and a van parked on Debra Street January 5, police reports said. Missing items included two pair of speakers valued at $140 and $60 and cassette tapes valued at $29. Knobs were also removed from the radio of one of the vehicles.

One resident reported hearing a "thud" at about 1 a.m., but did not see the parked vehicles or anyone in the neighborhood.

Two vans on North Ely Drive were burglarized of stereo equipment and tools to the tune of $535, also on January 5, police reports said.

Missing items from the unlocked vehicles included two CB radios, several speakers, a toolbox, tools, an air compressor in a tan plastic case. Approximately $10 in cash was missing from the ashtray of one of the vans.

...In the Township

A Northville Township woman received two threatening telephone calls from the same caller January 5, according to Northville Township police reports.

Police reports said a mid-morning caller threatened the woman that she would never see her child or her husband again. She received a second call two to three minutes later with the same message.

Reports said police called the school attended by the woman's child and asked teachers to keep an eye on the child.

Police also told the woman to log any future telephone calls of a similar nature she might receive, and to notify Michigan Bell of the call.

Police have no suspects in the matter, but are checking periodically on the residence.

Eight gallons of Olympic stain were taken from a Curtis Road garage, possibly by a former employee of the garage owner, according to police reports.

Reports said the stain was reported stolen from an unattached, unlocked garage at the residence January 6.

A former employee of the theft victim was identified as a suspect after he visited two lumber yards to try to exchange four gallons of the same type of stain as that stolen for another type of stain, reports said.

Reports speculated that the stain was to be used to coat a garage the suspect was constructing.

An 18-year old man told police he was "severely assaulted" by another 18-year-old township resident at a New Year's Eve party at the home of a mutual friend, police reports said.

According to police reports, the assault victim contacted police January 5 after attempting to "work out" the matter with his assailant.

Police reports said that the victim at that time had bruises around his eyes, a cut to the inside of his lower lip, and a laceration under his chin that appeared to have been sutured. The victim told police that his nose was also broken and that his injuries could be verified by medical records at St. Mary Hospital.

According to the victim's account of the incident, he was in the kitchen at the party at about 1 a.m. holding a conversation when another person arrived and "started an argument."

A fourth person, observing the argument, reports said, punched the victim in the face and knocked him down, then continued assaulting him until they wound up outside, where other partygoers pulled the two apart.

Witnesses stated that the victim never saw his assailant until after the assault was broken up.

Two witnesses then took the victim to the hospital, reports said.

As a homeowner you may qualify for a MICHIGAN NATIONAL BANK EQUI-LOAN

WHAT IS AN EQUI-LOAN?

An Equi-Loan is a second mortgage secured by the equity in your home. By using your home equity, you can borrow $3,000 or more with liberal repayment terms at simple interest rates. * An Equi-Loan is not a remortgage, but a second mortgage; it will therefore not alter your present mortgage or its rate.

The amount of equity in your home, by the way, is the difference between its appraised value and your first mortgage (if any). This equity provides the basis for borrowing a large amount of money at established simple interest rates with the maximum amount of the loan being determined by the size of your equity.

WITH A SIMPLE INTEREST EQUI-LOAN YOU HAVE THE OPTION OF SIGNIFICANTLY REDUCING THE AMOUNT OF INTEREST YOU PAY.

The earlier you pay back a simple interest loan, the less you'll pay in interest charges. So every time you make an early payment, or an additional payment, you are actually reducing the amount of interest you pay for your loan.

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE OF THE AMOUNT YOU CAN EXPECT TO BORROW.

Each transaction is different and subject to credit approval, however, we are flexible in our lending policy. In general, you can expect that the total of your first and second mortgage will amount to 70% of our valuation of your home. For Example:

Appraised Valuation $50,000
70%
Total Loan Value $35,000
1st Mortgage Bal. $25,000
Available for 2nd Mortgage $10,000

HERE'S HOW TO APPLY FOR AN EQUI-LOAN.

The procedure is much the same as it is for a personal loan. Simply take this ad to the installment loan department at Michigan National Bank West Metro. Or you can phone us at 421-4990 and discuss your plans with a trained loan executive. An appointment can be made if you like.

Widow details advantages and fun of uptown living

By KATHY LAVEY

Wrought iron light fixtures are suspended on chains from the nine-foot plaster ceiling. A hardwood floor peeks out from under the edge of the living room rug. A row of four windows looks down on a bustling street.

It's a classic downtown city apartment, but it's not in Chicago, New York, or Detroit — it's in Northville.

Margaret Lee has lived in one of the four apartments above Lapham's Men's Shop on Main Street for more than three years, and she insists that living upstairs, downtown is the perfect situation for her.

Lee, a 69-year-old widow, moved into the apartment after selling the Northville house where she lived for 30 years and raised her family.

"It (the apartment) is handy for someone like me or a single person or a young couple working," she said. "I could have gotten an apartment at Allen Terrace," she explained, "but I went up there and looked, and I wasn't sure I wanted to stay there. My friend saw a sign in the window (at Lapham's) and said 'why don't you look at it?' I did, and here I am."

Since she doesn't drive, Lee finds the apartment's downtown location "very convenient," and says she would recommend downtown apartment living "to anyone."

In fact, she's hard pressed to find anything about it she doesn't like, and has found small inconveniences easy to adapt to.

"(Traffic) noise bothered me the first year, but now I just block it out," she said. "You get used to it." When she found she missed the flower garden she

'If I get lonesome,
I get my coat
and go downstairs'

cultivated at her old home, Lee simply filled the building's back balcony with flowerboxes.

Lee also says the downtown area provides enough activity so that she never gets lonely or bored in her apartment, and its central location makes it easy for her to get almost everything she needs.

"If I get lonesome all I have to do is get my coat on and go downstairs," she said. "If I don't feel like cooking breakfast, I can go out and get some."

Lee adds that her apartment is perfect for people watching. "I can always see people down there," she said. "It's exciting. When I first moved in I would holler out the window at people I knew ... now I'm over that, but it is fun to watch them."

From her front windows, Lee can see nearly the entire downtown area, and reports it was "fun" watching the downtown renovation project take place. "It was dirty but it was worth it," she commented. "I like what they did." From the back balcony, Lee has a bird's eye view of Northville Downs. "I can see so much ... it (the apartment) is just a nice place to live."

Building owner Charles Lapham is just as glad to have Lee and his other three tenants in their apartments as Lee is to be there.

"I have fought for having residential (zoning) above businesses," he said. "There is so much going for it."

Lapham explained that having tenants above a store can help deter crime, that the insulation provided by the tenants' use of the upper story of the building keeps store heating costs lower, and that using upper floors for residential purposes just makes good business sense.

"The fact that you're getting the most use out of your property will entice people to come and invest in your town," he explained.

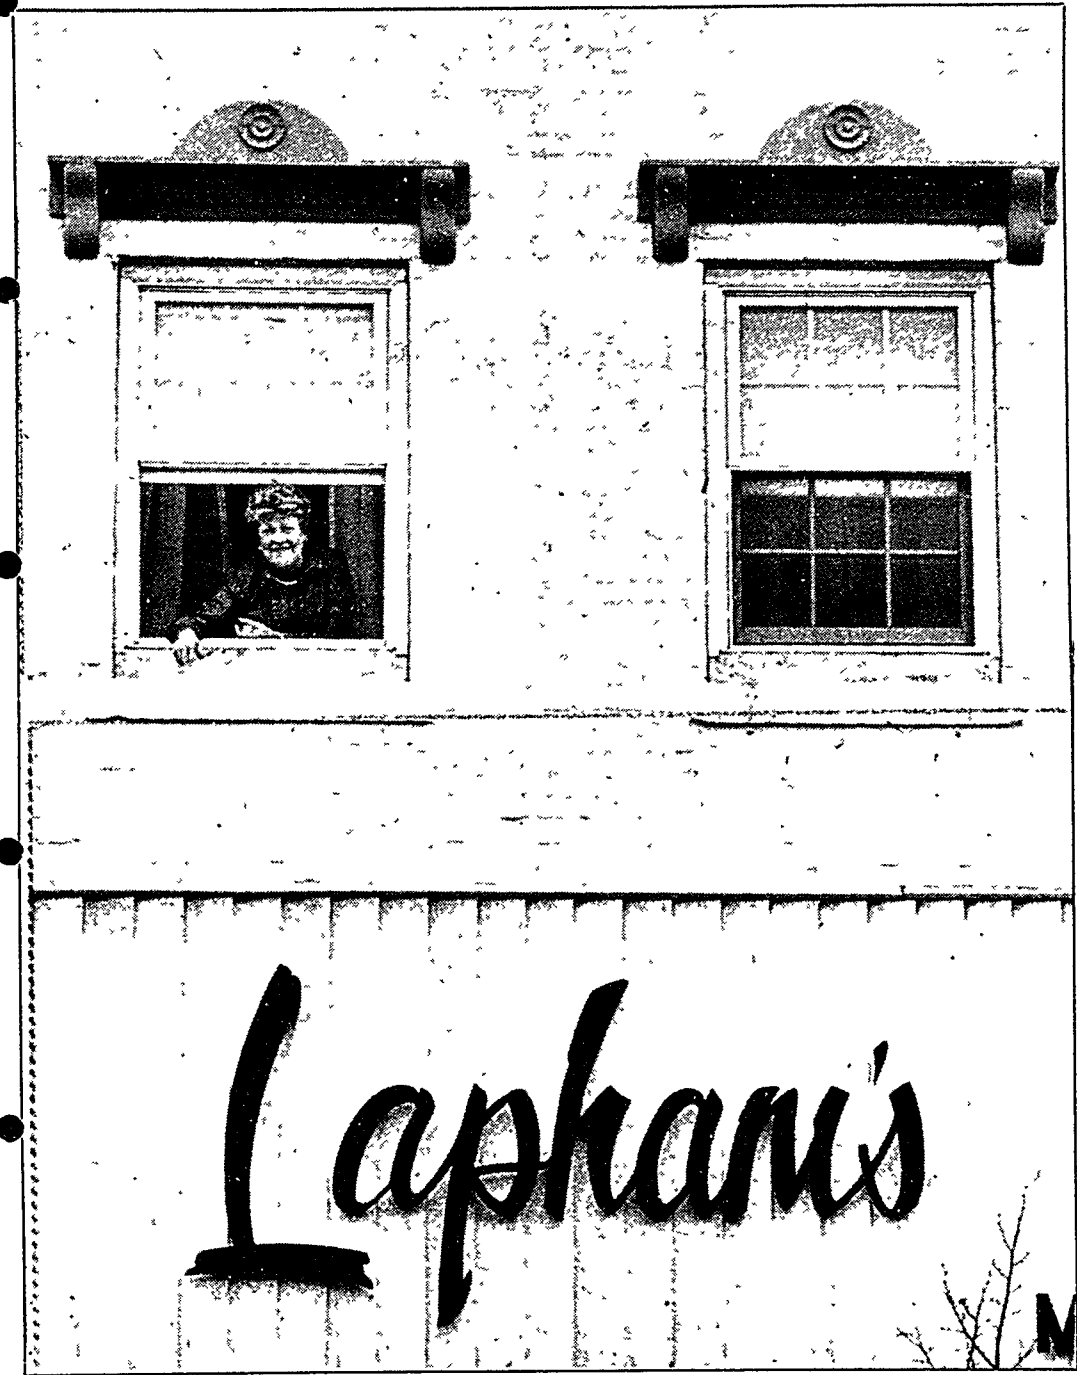

Since, he said, people are reluctant to visit businesses housed on second floors, "residential above commercial is a natural for getting the most use out of your property, and it's a nice combination for a certain segment of the population."

Lapham and his wife themselves lived above the store years ago. "While we did live there we did enjoy it," he said. "We found it very handy. Of course, if you like to mow lawns and trim trees it's not the place for you ... it's not a place for young married (couples) with children."

Planners discuss PBO use

disagreed with the suggestion of disallowing exterior stairwells to apartments above street level that would require a separate access.

"I have a little difficulty with excluding stairwells," Demray said. "I know full well what we're trying to avoid...I wish we could avoid satellite dishes...But if it can be pulled off architecturally, it should be allowed."

Demray added that such restrictions would have an adverse effect on interior floor plans. He recommended that staying away from exterior stairwells should be suggested, but "not cut hard and dry."

Nino also emphasized the importance of "maintaining the integrity of the business district."

"The idea is that we wouldn't want one stinking office in the corner with a multiple structure around it," the consultant pointed out as exactly what he hoped restrictions would prevent in the district.

Commissioner Stewart Kissinger noted the importance of maintaining "the architectural character of the street." He added that building inspectors would have to "look at it as mixed use."

The plan commission is expected to receive data on existing floor space in applicable buildings by its first February session.

City gets evaluation of facilities planning at hearing

County Interceptor and subsequent treatment facility.

The study concluded that it is in the best interests of the city not to rehabilitate the system.

Review board members chosen

Three members of the Salem Township Board of Review were re-appointed to three-year terms during the January 4 regular meeting of the Salem Township board.

Floyd Taylor recommended the re-appointment of Robert Barsuhn, Verne Lester and Anthony O'Kula and received the unanimous support of the board. In making the recommendation, Taylor said "they (the men) do a very good job."

Taylor suggested that the terms of two planning commissioners which were due to expire should be continued until the decisions on the conditional use permits on the Holloway mining and landfill extension request and Pastor Ivan Speight's church/parsonage request are decided. Again, the board went along with Taylor's recommendation.

The engineers reported that their analysis concluded that, although the soils are marginal for leach fields, the on-site systems currently are not creating health hazards or pollution problems.

The report also concluded Federal funds would not be available to the city even if these residents wanted sewers.

They pointed out the city has three areas of homes with septic systems, 110 homes in Northville Estates subdivision, 12 on West Main between Orchard and Clement, and 10 scattered throughout the city.

Forms, they said, had been sent to these homeowners regarding the effectiveness of the systems. They reported a "pretty remarkable" response of 75 returns from Northville Estates with only three homeowners indicating they had problems. Six of the West Main homeowners returned forms with only one reporting problems. In that instance, it was explained, the home had six occupants. The engineers said they saw few problems in homes with one or two occupants.

The engineers predicted in the future there will be isolated instances of leach field failures needing repairs. They suggested getting recommendations from county health departments (Oakland for Northville Estates, Wayne for the others) when this occurs.

Mayor Paul Vernon expressed his concerns that septic tank systems are considered by law "temporary solutions." The engineers agreed that when sewers are available in an area and are within 250 feet the home owner must tap in.

Council members pointed out that the city expects development adjacent to Northville Estates when the economy picks up. At that time, it was felt, the northern portion of the subdivision, at least, would gain sewers.

At the January 3 city council meeting, the engineers that Wayne County was going to revise its excess flow charges but pointed out it really "has no accurate way to measure this flow."

They concurred, however, that the revised method is "much fairer."

The city, whose existing cost averaged over the last eight quarters is $9,300, will have a 44 percent increase to $13,400 per quarter as proposed.

The township, they said, now has a $1,000 per quarter cost for excess flow which is proposed to go to $6,000, or a 500 percent increase.

They warned there will be another $1,000 charge to the city for the Wayne County Interceptor.

The engineers had prepared charts showing the charges for inflow and infiltration from the city. Currently, they said, the city is billed by the amount of water used.

Wayne county will proportion the excess flow to each community involved based on its percentages of water usage and the type of sanitary sewer systems, as, combined sewer areas, separate sewer areas which are connected to combined, separate sewer areas and separate sewer areas without footing drains.

The engineers explained they had done a cost analysis in accordance with Michigan DNR requirements and based on costs provided by the Wayne County DPW. They determined that 10 infiltration sources and no inflow sources would be cost-effective to remove but were told that Wayne County would not be using them in the revised rate structure.

The project was funded through a construction grants program with 75 percent paid by federal funds and five percent by state.

Traffic accident claims youth

A birthday celebration took a tragic turn for 20-year-old John Glen Bostwick, who was killed in the early morning hours of January 5 in a one-car accident on Nine Mile, just west of Currie, in Lyon Township.

Oakland County Sheriff's Department Accident Investigator Gary Holtz said alcohol and excessive speed caused the fatal accident which killed Bostwick, a 1980 graduate of South Lyon High School. Police reports indicate that Bostwick, who was born January 4, had been drinking with friends prior to the accident.

According to Holtz, Bostwick was operating a family-owned vehicle at speeds in excess of 55 miles per hour as he drove east-bound on Nine Mile. Bostwick lost control of the vehicle and skidded out of control, striking several trees on the north side of Nine Mile, according to the sheriff's department accident report. Bostwick was dead at the scene, according to Holtz.

Less than three hours before the accident, the South Lyon Department of Public Safety arrested Bostwick for drunken driving. According to the city police report, Bostwick was arrested at 12:45 a.m. after an officer observed him driving improperly at the intersection of Lafayette and Lake streets.

The officer took Bostwick to the city police station, where breathalyzer tests were administered, the official report states. The tests indicated Bostwick was under the influence of alcohol, according to the report.

Gerald Smith, head of the city's public safety department, said the officer talked to a parent on the telephone, who approved the release of Bostwick to an older brother. Smith said Bostwick was cited and released on personal bond.

Smith said standard departmental procedure was followed when Bostwick was released to his family.

"In the majority of cases, we hold drunk drivers for six hours because most of those arrested don't want others to know," Smith said. "However, we are not statutorily responsible to hold a person. Whenever we bring someone in, they are entitled to a phone call. Often, a call will be placed to the spouse or another responsible party. We certainly don't let them drive, but we will release them to the custody of a responsible adult.

"In Oakland County, we seek an alternative to incarceration because of the over-crowding at the county jail," Smith said. "If the driver is a juvenile, we immediately notify the parents and the subject is turned over to their parents immediately. In this instance, the subject was not a juvenile, but was a minor."

In Michigan, the legal drinking age is 21. Because Bostwick apparently obtained alcohol illegally, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department may continue its investigation of the circumstances of the accident, Holtz indicated.

Funeral services for Bostwick were held January 8 at Phillips Funeral Home in South Lyon. Bostwick resided in his family's Nine Mile Road residence in Lyon Township.

Divorce seminar scheduled

Northville's Community Education program will be offering a seminar this winter to help divorced parents discover the kinds of things children think and feel about divorce.

The eight-week seminar, entitled "Divorce and Your Child," will be conducted from 8-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays beginning January 25 at Silver Springs Elementary School.

The seminar, to be conducted by staff members from the University of Michigan Divorce Clinic, will focus on issues raised by children about divorce.

According to Silver Springs Principal Marcia Scarr, the seminar is designed to help parents deal with their children's concerns about divorce.

"It is not a therapy group," she emphasized. "The focus will be on how to handle children and situations."

Other areas to be discussed will be determined by the parents' interests.

Cost for the series is $60 with a reduced scale available.

For registration or information, call 348-1090.

Check for snowflakes ... has winter arrived yet?

By KATHY LAVEY

The snowflakes that have fallen in each of this winter's small flurries have had Northville residents crossing their fingers.

But they're doing it for two reasons — some want the snow to stay — and some want it to stay away.

So far this winter, those who dislike the white stuff have had little to complain about, with unseasonably warm temperatures and absolutely no snow accumulation.

While those people gleefully leave their boots in the closet for one more day, others are cursing the lack of snow that made Michigan's last winter so, er, memorable.

Take, for example, those people who wanted to go on holiday sleigh rides or spend their Christmas vacations on the cross country ski trails at Maybury State Park.

"We're all set up and ready to go," said Maybury assistant manager John Pettis. "We've got the ski trails ready and the concession all set up, but we are hurting from the lack of snow."

Pettis said that cross country skiing is one of the park's biggest draws from mid-December through spring. "Out attendance is way down." He noted that only about half as many people as projected are using the park this winter.

Not all potential park users are disappointed by the dearth of frozen rain — Pettis reported that winter park attendance figures are being salvaged by the park's new riding stable.

"We wouldn't have that many (in attendance) but we have the riding stable this year. People are out riding when they normally wouldn't be. We didn't have (the stable) last year and that's bringing some people in," he explained.

Although Pettis noted that some park users who originally made reservations for sleigh rides converted their outings to hayrides, demand for the fall-flavored hayrides in midwinter is still not very high.

"I just hope we get some (snow) here

"We've got the ski trails ready and the concession all set up, but we are hurting from the lack of snow."

John Pettis,
Maybury State Park

soon," he said on a rainy, warm Monday.

This year's unseasonable weather has been a boon Northville's Department of Public Works budget, according to Ted Mapes, DPW director, with the city so far saving money on road salt and overtime for workers who apply it.

"We certainly haven't used as much salt as we have in the past," Mapes reported. "Last year by now we had used 375 tons of salt — this year we've used about 50 tons." With salt at $20 per ton, that's a savings so far of $6,500 in salt alone.

Mapes said the DPW has been out salting the streets only about three times this year, and even then didn't cover the entire city, only "necessary" areas. "It's really a savings in overtime for the men," Mapes said. "Some of the guys would like to see (snow) to get the overtime."

However, Mapes noted that the DPW staff is down from last year and with fewer people working he himself is glad not to have the "extra burden" (so far) of snow.

Mapes said DPW employees who would normally be plowing snow are instead keeping busy cleaning sewers and patching pot holes — something they are normally unable to do during the winter months.

"We've been able to do some patching ... that's a tradeoff," he said. Mapes said that DPW workers were able to put up the city's Christmas decorations in only two days. That work is usually interrupted by snow-related DPW activities, he said.

DPW workers have also spent their empty winter working hours getting snowplowing equipment ready for the white stuff — when and if it finally comes.

"We've been just raring to go," he said.

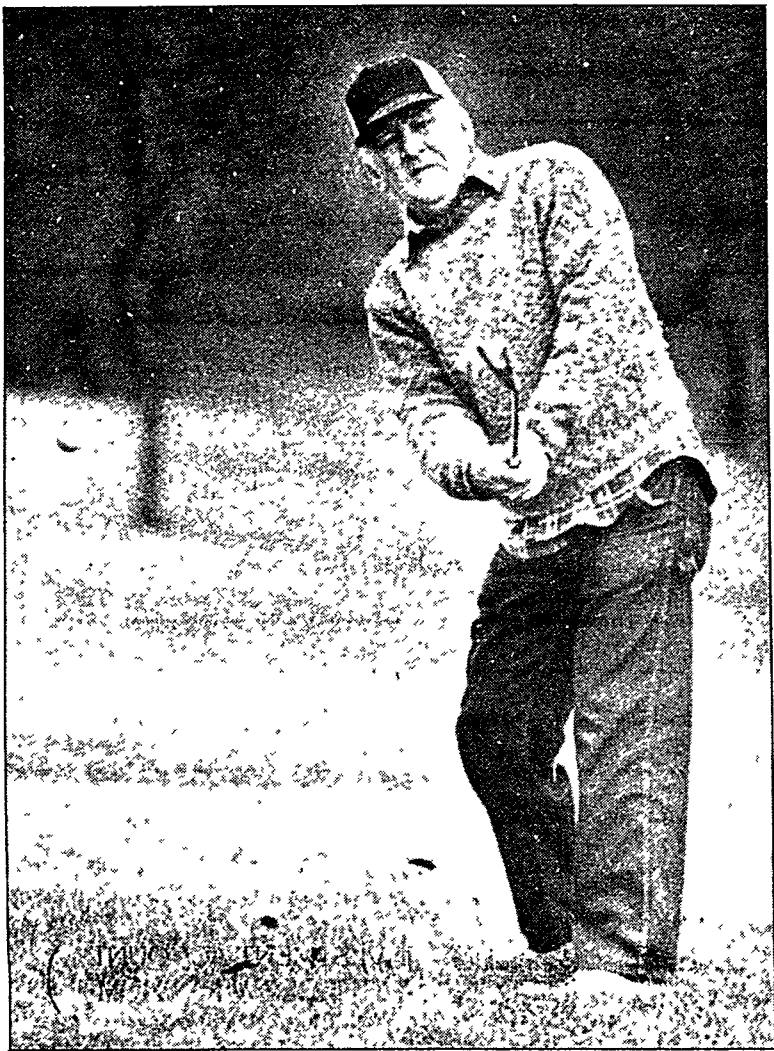

Many motorists, leery of the same blizzard gleefully awaited by the folks at Maybury State Park and the overtime-starved DPW employees, have gone ahead and winterized their cars anyway, say local service station operators.

"We always sell our snow tires before the snow comes," reported Sam Nigro, manager of Auto-Wize Tire and Service.

Even though many people have switched to all-season tires and no longer purchase snow tires, Nigro said that a snowstorm early in the season can stimulate some business.

"I don't think it's a real big influence to anyone," he said, "but I suppose it can influence some people who are driving around with bald tires. Even if they don't get snow tires they can make the change to all-season tires at this time of year."

Nigro said that, since Auto-Wize no longer stocks a lot of snow tires, those they did have are usually gone by October — at least a few weeks before the snow flies in a normal year and safe months before snow this season.

Golfers still swinging in unseasonal winter

enough off-season for some golfers to retain their swing.

"This year, it (opening day) was around April 6 or 8. We had six inches of snow," Koch noted, snickering. "We had a late start, but a late finish."

Any other characteristics that set these "polar bear" golfers apart from the summer breed?

Well, one — they're drinking a lot warmer concoctions after that 18th green.

"Normally, it's a lot of coffee, a lot of hot cider. But we still have our beer drinkers," Koch confided.

Our Opinions

Planners on track

The development of a Professional/Business/Office (PBO) District in the city that includes both office and residential use will require and deserves the type of thought needed in meshing the architectural elegance of older structures with housing standards that came into existence long after their construction.

City plan commissioners will face an important decision that could have far-reaching implications on the complexion of Northville's downtown in years to come.

The suggestion to permit residential use above business and professional offices in the PBO District is one that we support in concept. It has existed in fact in the center of town for years and has proved that having people living downtown certainly offers more security to businesses and building owners — a positive mark in our book.

But altering the city zoning concepts that took years to develop is not something that can or should be taken lightly — even if at the outset the reclassification appears minor. A number of commissioners and concerned citizens have noted the possibility of square foot requirements resulting in the destruction of existing structures to accommodate those standards. Those suggestions are not so far-fetched.

Plan Consultant Ronald Nino's concerns about those square foot requirements are valid. Should Northville ignore the high standards it has established for its residents to accommodate the dual use in PBO, it potentially faces a drop in those standards in other areas of the community. That's a concern for the safety, welfare and comfortable living style that Northville residents should expect.

The option presented of maintaining those standards and requiring building owners and developers to obtain variances from the Board of Appeals appears as the most viable solution to date.

Variances are commonly accepted in Northville, as pointed out by planner Charles Freydl. Consultant Nino, too, noted that gaining such a variance is not difficult in Northville.

We believe that the Plan Commission should examine the floor space requirements to determine, first, if they can reasonably be met. If they cannot, then, we urge the planners to uphold the higher requirements for floor space and zoning classification.

We understand that this creates more work for the Board of Appeals. But to maintain the integrity of the city is something that has taken too long to establish to throw away. The investment and commitment made by Northville to its downtown is something that will continue to exist for years to come.

Congratulations, Tina

Two years ago, Junior Achievement sponsors were so impressed by a 15-year-old sophomore from Northville High School that they named her the J.A. Young Businesswoman for Southeastern Michigan — a title not often bestowed upon one so young.

Last month, the same unassuming young woman once again made her mark — only this time in literary circles. On December 8, Wayne State University named Northville High School senior Tina Stoecklin the top winner in its Manuscript Day competition. The award for her collection of poetry was a $7,700 scholarship to WSU.

As a National Merit Scholarship semi-finalist, a member of the National Honor Society and active participant in the NHS Drama Club, Tina appears to be a model pupil. However, she readily admits that were it not for the guidance of her teacher Pat Dorrian Sandbothe, she may never have received the coveted award.

The WSU Manuscript Day honor was a first for Northville High School, as well as for English teacher Pat Dorrian Sandbothe. The 1976 Michigan Creative Writing Teacher of the Year, Dorrian has been the bulwark behind much of the prize-winning prose and poetry written her students. In fact, joining Tina as a Manuscript Day finalist was NHS senior Mike Ross — also Dorrian's pupil.

While we recognize that Tina is not the first Northville student to win an award, we believe this distinguished honor is evidence that "good things" are happening at Northville High School — particularly at a time when so many are critical.

To Tina Stoecklin, Mike Ross and Pat Dorrian Sandbothe we extend our sincere congratulations. We're proud of their achievements and hope others will recognize the good work going on in Northville Public Schools.

Help's here for children of divorce

From reading the most recent statistics, one almost would believe that divorce has become as American as apple pie and baseball. Researchers tell us that for every two marriages today, one ends in divorce.

No matter how you look at it, it's a rather grim reality. However, it's a reality which we all must face — regardless of whether it's penetrated through our front doors.

It's only been in the past decade that divorce has inched its way out of the closet. Twenty years ago, the mere mention of divorce drew as much fire and brimstone from social matrons as it did from the church pulpit.

While we have come to grips with the fact that men and women, or husbands and wives, if you will, don't always live happily ever after, society only is beginning to realize the ramifications of divorce on the family.

Government statistics indicate that in an average elementary or middle school classroom with approximately 30 students, some six to eight pupils may be going through the trauma of a family breakup. Such a trauma, understandably, has a marked effect on the children's performance in the classroom.

While many people scoff at statistics and brush them off by saying, "well, that doesn't happen in my neighborhood," the fact is that it happens everywhere. In Northville, school officials are seeing an increase in the number of students from one-parent homes — and the increasing problems faced by these children.

From the standpoint of one who underwent such a trauma at the tender age of 11, I have considerable empathy for those children trying to cope with what most likely seems like the worst possible happening in their young lives. However, I also have considerable empathy for their parents.

It is difficult and frustrating for parents and children to communicate with each other during what most often is a painful experience. It is hard for a father to explain to his seven-year-old that just because "Daddy" only visits on Sunday, it doesn't mean he isn't thinking about his child Monday through Saturday. It is equally hard for a child to tell his mother or father that he feels awkward at the annual school "Family Night" without both parents present.

The difficulty children have in communicating with their parents is coupled by the fact that children often blame themselves for divorce and often feel responsible for one parent's sudden departure — though in almost all cases this is far from the truth.

While there are no simple solutions to the problems caused by family breakups, divorced parents in Northville now have an opportunity to begin opening the lines of communication with their children.

Beginning January 25, staff members from the University of Michigan Divorce Clinic will be working with divorced parents who want to learn more about the kinds of things their children think and feel about divorce. The eight-week seminar, the first offered in Northville, will be held from 8-9:30 p.m. Tuesday evenings at Silver Springs Elementary School. Offered through Northville's Community Education Program, registration information can be obtained by calling 348-1090.

Those offering the clinic aren't promising any instant remedies to the problems caused by divorce. However, if it provides parents with some insight as to how their children think and feel — it may bring separated families closer together.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

I am fortunate to have an older brother who is possessed of great wisdom.

(David is not really my older brother, but he looks so much older that most people really believes he's my older brother and I don't want to do anything to correct the misconception. Please forget you've read this paragraph).

At any rate, my older-younger brother has a great propensity for spewing out pearls of wisdom that would make Confucius blush with pride.

My all-time favorite was when he took it upon himself to lecture the youngest brother in the Jerome clan about maturity.

"Just because today's your twenty-first birthday, don't get carried away and start thinking you're mature," he advised.

And then, apparently to interject personal experience into the sermon, he confessed that he had thought himself mature on the occasion of his twenty-first birthday as well.

"But I know better now," he continued. "True maturity doesn't set in until you're 28."

If you guessed that my older-younger brother was 28 when he issued this proclamation, you win a bottle of Geritol.

Of course, I recognized immediately the folly of the pronouncement. Being several years old than David, I was abundantly aware that true maturity didn't settle in until age 31.

I thought it was a good story, a good lesson. And I've always attempted to keep it in mind when dealing with people older than myself.

It upsets me when ideas or opinions are dismissed on the basis of age. If the opinion of an older person happens to disagree with my own, it's not fair to dismiss it as the thought of an old-timer.

By the same token, the reverse can be true. I fear older people too often dismiss the idealism of youth as lacking the wisdom of experience.

It's easy for me to express these ideas, of course, because I've finally arrived at the age when true maturity sets in. But I sometimes wonder what I'll think 10 years from now — when I'm really mature.

Our committee has been charged to monitor Northville Public Schools' progress in reaching the goal of full equal opportunity begun with the 1977-78 Title IX Self-Evaluation.

This charge has made us more aware of good efforts made in behalf of equal educational opportunity for students, and we wish to commend The Northville Record for their sports coverage of Northville High School sports teams—all teams.

We especially noticed the good pictorial coverage of the girls' basketball district game. Though Northville's team was not the winner, they represented the school well, and we know the community was interested in the pictures and the article covering this game.

Keep up the good work.

Lucas names Duane Egeland to engineer post

By TERI BANAS

Duane R. Egeland, 54, came out on top this week in a shuffling of executive positions in Wayne County government.

After five years as assistant director of the Wayne County Department of Public Works, the soft-spoken engineer from Livonia was named head of the department last Tuesday by county executive William Lucas.

Egeland, who became known as the county's chief salesman of the controversial $300 million Super Sewer project, admits even he was surprised by the announcement.

A supporter of Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara in his unsuccessful bid for the executive's job, Egeland said his contact with Lucas has been extremely limited. He first met Lucas last Monday night at Lucas' inaugural party at Roma Hall in Livonia.

The next morning he learned of his appointment in a mailed notice. He also learned of a staff meeting for all county department heads that evening.

Politics aside, Egeland's appointment is considered by many as a smart move. Egeland had served as engineering director and deputy managing director of the Wayne County Board of Public Works for the past five years, and has been a county employee for more than 20 years.

His training and education were in civil engineering. The man he replaced — Royce Smith, a political appointee — had been a township supervisor and member of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners before his appointment.

The department, which has some 166 employees, is responsible for the planning, design, construction, operation and maintenance of the county's extensive wastewater management programs.

Egeland said he talked to one of Lucas' aides, Jamiel Akhtar, before the appointment was made. Akhtar interviewed members of the public works department in search of a successor and he asked Egeland if he thought he could run the department, Egeland said.

A Detroit native, Egeland graduated from Michigan College of Mining and Technology in 1950 with a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering. He landed a job with the engineering consulting firm of Hubbell, Roth and Clark where he stayed for nine years. The firm was then located in Detroit and now is headquartered in Bloomfield Township.

Egeland left the consulting firm to work for the city of Livonia during its growth years. He worked in the city's engineering department at the same time that McNamara was a city council member. In Livonia, Egeland held the position of assistant city engineer.

Egeland began his career with the county in 1961 as a structural engineer for the Wayne County Road Commission. His first charge was to oversee a massive expansion project at the Wyandotte Wastewater Treatment Plant.

After some five years, he was named engineer of operations at the treatment plant. Following that he was promoted to assistant sanitation engineer in the department of public works.

A soft-spoken man, Egeland calls himself apolitical. When asked if he carries any political party allegiances, his first response was no, although, he added, he's probably a Democrat because "I come from a family of auto workers and was raised in Detroit. I believe strongly in unions, except I think they've become too powerful. I think there should be a balance."

He says one of his first directives from the new county executive is to carry a "lean" department budget, to which he says he's responded by declining to fill 10 previously budgeted slots in his department.

State Senator

In the state fire — but it's going to take resolve to fan them into flames.

The resolutions that we as legislators make for 1983 must be more than pipe dreams. Our actions during the coming months will determine whether Michigan gets rolling again or the last train rolls out.

We must gear up, first of all, to deal with our budget woes, not just through book juggling and tax increases, but in a sensible manner with an eye toward long-range goals. It's time to establish new policies that will create a better economic climate while fostering growth and stability.

Everyone's talking about "jobs," but these won't be manufactured out of wishes. The only way to create jobs is to stimulate business to hire, rehire, call back and promote our unemployed and underemployed. It's frightening that those with the highest level of skill — people we spent a lot of money training in our state-supported universities and factories — are the first to leave because they are the most qualified to find employment elsewhere.

The problems are there but let's view them instead in the more positive sense. As challenges. A challenge to balance our budget by setting sensible priorities for our dwindling revenues. To use the new funds that will be coming in from state and federal gas taxes for rebuilding our highway system into one of the best in the country. To stabilize the economic condition of our K-12 schools, colleges and universities. To strengthen our automotive and agricultural industries while stepping up efforts to diversify. To further promote Michigan's natural resources and products, and attract a larger share of the tourism trade.

And — most important — to get the best minds from business, labor, education and government together to cooperate and innovate ways to accomplish the goal of economic recovery.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC MEETING TO INSTITUTE A SUMMER PROPERTY TAX LEVY

FOR NORTHVILLE PUBLIC SCHOOLS
501 West Main
Northville, Michigan 48167
349-3400

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on January 24, 1983 at 7:00 o'clock p.m. at Silver Springs Elementary School, 19801 Silver Spring Drive, Northville, the Board of Education will hold a meeting at which will be offered for adoption a resolution to impose a summer property tax levy of one-half of its annual school tax levy upon property located within the school district.

Passage of the proposed resolution would result in the annual levy of school property taxes on July 1 against property located within the school district. The Board of Education, under Act 333, Public Acts of Michigan 1982, may impose a summer property tax levy of either one-half (1/2) or the total of annual school property taxes. If a summer property tax levy is imposed, the school district may enter into agreements with each city or township in which it lies, or a county treasurer, for collection of the summer property taxes, or may collect such taxes itself pursuant to said Act 333.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Christopher J. Johnson, Secretary

Kipfers retire to Upper Peninsula home

Eagle Harbor in Michigan's Upper Peninsula copper country is to be the retirement home of the James F. Kipfers.

Residents of Northville for about 30 years, the Kipfers moved from their home on Ely Court to Eagle Harbor in December as he retired as executive director of the Mental Health Association in Michigan.

Alice Kipfer, an art teacher in the Northville Public Schools, had taken an early retirement at the end of the 1979-80 school year. She had taught art at the high school, but was teaching in the elementary program when she retired.

James Kipfer officially retired December 31 with 28 years of service with the association.

Kipfer, who became executive director of the MHAM in 1973, also served for 13 years as a member of the part-time faculty of Wayne State University's College of Education.

He had been a member of the Northville Board of Education in the mid-1960s, serving until 1968.

A native of Indiana, Kipfer began his career in mental health in August, 1954, when Michigan hospitals for the mentally ill, he recalled, "warehoused some 22,000 patients and more than 2,000 people waited for a bed."

Kipfer said that the MHAM had "a major role in the revolution in mental health care in Michigan" during his 28-year tenure. In bringing Michigan's mental hospital census to today's figure below 5,000, Kipfer cited four major factors:

1. The advent of so-called mental health drugs which shortened hospital stay and made patients more manageable.
2. The adoption and growth of community mental health care close to home.
3. Greater recognition by the public and the legislature that mental illness was treatable and that patients were after all sick people with all the rights

Better Living Seminars set

"If one of your New Year's resolutions is to cut down, or cut meat out of your diet, you should learn how to make the transition sensibly," warns Dr. Arthur Weaver, associate professor of surgery at Wayne State University who conducts "Creative Cooking Without Meat" classes as part of Better Living Seminars.

A Northville Township resident, Dr. Weaver is scheduling four two-hour classes about adequacy of proteins, meal planning, cholesterol free dishes, low sugar desserts and more.

Classes are scheduled for 7 p.m. January 17, 20, 24 and 25 at Plymouth Canton High School, 8415 Canton Center in Canton.

The evening will include food samples for tasting, latest nutritional information and an audio-visual presentation.

Donations to cover cost of materials will be requested at each class although there will be no formal charge for the seminar.

Those interested in registering for the cooking school should write Better Living Seminars, P.O. Box 574, Plymouth, 48170, or call 459-2028 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. week days.

"Every year thousands of families decide to change their eating habits," says Dr. Weaver, noting there are many reasons for this. Some, he says, would like to cut down on the high fat in their diet while others are concerned with cholesterol, PBB and other additives fed to livestock, and still others "simply can't afford to buy meat."

Most nutrition experts and dieticians, he points out, agree that Americans eat too much meat and hard fat. The way to change those habits, he says, is to exchange red meats for vegetables and other protein sources.

His classes illustrate ways to do so.

of citizenship.

4. The good sense and appropriation of community placement in the community as a principal alternative to hospital care.

The changes of which he is most proud, Kipfer stated at retirement, are the advances made by Michigan in the treatment and care of our mentally ill adolescents and children.

During his career, following his graduation with an advanced degree from University of Michigan, Kipfer worked as a rehabilitation counselor in the state's tuberculosis hospital system, served as president of the Michigan Rehabilitation Association and functioned as a lobbyist for the Mental Health Association.

He directed the Michigan School Mental Health Project which had nationwide impact on the adoption of mental health principles in education and served on the executive committee of the American Psychiatric Society, National Mental Health Association Joint Information Service.

He is being succeeded as executive director of MHAM by Tom M. Sovine, 43, a Canton resident and the association's associate executive director for 3½ years. The association is a United Way agency dedicated to the prevention of mental illness, the promotion of mental health and the improved services for mentally ill children and adults in Michigan.

St. Mary asks for satellite

St. Mary Hospital in Livonia has applied to the Michigan Department of Public Health, Division of Health Facility Planning and Construction, for a certificate of need to establish a primary care facility at Five Mile and Beck roads.

The hospital satellite sought is for approximately 4,500 square feet to provide primary ambulatory care with basic x-ray and laboratory services.

Cost of the project is estimated at $556,250 in the application dated December 10, 1982. Completion target date is July, 1984.

Resident wins top honors in direct selling

For the second time within a year, Nancy Ordowski of Northville has received national honors for outstanding achievement in direct sales. She is one of some 20,000 independent contractors nationwide who sell the fine crystal and decorator accessories of Princess House, a leading direct sales firm.

She and the consultants who work with her throughout Michigan and northwest Ohio were honored for compiling the best record in the nation for sales and introduction of new consultants to the Princess House direct sales during the company's 1982 spring-summer campaign.

Ordowski, a resident of Dundalk Court in Northville, was presented a full-lead crystal replica of a sailboat by company executives during an incentive trip to Nassau before Christmas.

She was one of 38 men and women honored for outstanding sales and leadership. Earlier in 1982 she was honored for achieving a similar record during 1981.

Direct sales is reported a growing industry in excess of $7 billion nationally. The home party sales method used by Princess House and others is a popular sales technique.

The Direct Selling Association of Washington, D.C., reports that close to 100,000 individuals attend home parties every evening. It attributes their success to convenience and "the personal touch."

"While many people see direct sales as an excellent way to supplement an existing income, many of these people will eventually turn to the career full-time because of the excellent profit options, flexible hours and high esteem," says Ordowski.

Even in uncertain economic times, direct sales careers remain popular, she adds.

She attributes the popularity of direct sales to the fact that no previous experience or specific level of education is required and only a small outlay of money is needed to start one's own business.

Princess House, a Colgate-Palmolive company, is based in North Dighton, Massachusetts.

Tina Stoecklin

Young poet wins top honor

By MICHELE McELMURRY

*I see the ankle,
a single dune melting into a narrow beach sheathed in ribbed brown nylon corralled by a golden suede and blue corduroy sea.
What mysteries does this sock disguise?
I itch to embark on a voyage of discovery,
perhaps to reveal
gold-tipped hairs like seaweed growing sparse between marks made by nylon ribs like dune buggies across clean-shaven shore or hieroglyphics coaxed from the sand by a silver-tongued tide.*

TINA STOECKLIN

Though Tina Stoecklin claims she "just started writing poetry," the above poem seems to indicate that the Northville High School senior is far from being a poetic novice.

The poem, entitled "The Ankle," was among a collection of Stoecklin's poems recently awarded first place in the distinguished Manuscript Day sponsored by the Wayne State University English Department.

The award was a first for Northville High School, as well as for English teacher Pat Dorrian Sandbothe, who Tina claims provided the impetus for her work.

For her winning entry, Stoecklin received a $7,700 scholarship over four years to Wayne State.

"I've always wanted one of our kids to win," admits Dorrian, who perhaps is best known by her present and former students for her dedication and commitment to quality education.

She explains that in addition to Stoecklin, who was the top prize winner among the 64 finalists, another of her students Mike Ross took an honorable mention for a short story.

All finalists spent the day on Wayne State's campus having their work critiqued, hearing a poetry reading by WSU English professor Alvin Aubert and attending the matinee of the Hilberry Theatre production of "Ring Round the Moon."

Though Stoecklin says she was "totally surprised" about winning the award, it is not the first honor bestowed upon the 17-year-old student.

Two years ago Stoecklin was named the Junior Achievement Outstanding Businesswoman for Southeastern Michigan — quite a distinction for the then 15-year-old sophomore.

Still actively involved in JA, she currently is working on a newsletter to be distributed to Junior Achievement advisors.

In addition to her JA activities, she is a member of the NHS Drama Club, a violin and piano enthusiast, an avid reader and a member of the National Honor Society.

To top it all off, she also was among the five seniors named semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition.

With Stoecklin's varied interests, it seems only natural that she hopes to "get a broad education" when heading off to college. However, she admits that her recent writing success has given her some thoughts about "going into English."

Already accepted at the University of Michigan, Stoecklin also is looking at Emory University in Georgia, Grinnell College in Iowa, and — of course — Wayne State.

Stoecklin, whose family moved to Northville almost three years ago from Coral Springs, Florida, says she finds the English Department at Northville High School better than the one at her previous school.

However, "the curriculum only is as challenging as you make it," she observes.

According to the NHS senior, some of her most challenging work has come from her courses with Pat Dorrian Sandbothe.

A veteran of Dorrian's humanities and creative writing courses, Stoecklin currently is enrolled in her advanced composition class.

"Ms. Dorrian already wants me to do a short story," she notes.

The poetry Stoecklin submitted to Wayne State was written in Dorrian's creative writing class.

"That probably was my most productive season," Stoecklin says. "I had all those deadlines."

Among the poems written in class and included in the group submitted to Wayne State was "Singer, Stain Me Crimson."

*Singer, stain me crimson.
Swell stately melodies through my veins, weave me a tapestry of rich, baroque harmonies.*

*Singer, enamel me fuchsia.
Electrify me with rebellious phrases, bounce my toes through a rhythmic haze.*

*Singer, dye me indigo.
Stretch me across anguished octaves, wrench my nerves through discordant sobs.*

*Singer, dust me mauve.
Blanket me with silver serenades, ride away on a heathery trill.*

"Tina came to me well endowed," Dorrian says of her young pupil's writing abilities.

"She must have read a great deal as a little girl," Dorrian observes. "She is extremely sensitive and sharp."

In evaluating Stoecklin's writing, Dorrian describes her work as "extremely precise."

"She uses strong imagery and is willing to take chances; she is willing to express herself."

Stoecklin admits she works hard on her poetry, often doing several rewrites of her work. Dorrian attributes Tina's willingness to revise her poetry as a big part of her success.

Though currently taking a reprieve from poetry writing, Stoecklin says she's keeping herself busy in advanced composition.

As for Pat Dorrian, she readily admits she couldn't be more pleased.

"The students say that once I get a hold of them, I own them," she notes. "And they're absolutely right."

Fall ends 65 years of living in her childhood home

By JEAN DAY

Not many people get to live in their family home almost all their lives, observed Hazel Boyden in March, 1972, as she reminisced after being presented with a 50-year membership pin from Northville Woman's Club.

The home at 230 First Street had been her childhood one when she was Hazel Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perkins. After she married Horace Boyden, a Novi native, on June 2, 1916, they lived on Rogers and then, for two years, in Minnesota, before moving into her parental home again with her husband.

Even after his death in February, 1975, she continued to live alone in the house until a fall in October resulted in a broken pelvic bone. After a hospital stay, it was apparent she would never return to the house, which has been sold — reluctantly, reports her daughter Mary Louise Forester of Royal Oak.

Mrs. Forester adds that she and her brother Robert of Wayne have taken some family pieces, as her mother wished, but the rest of the furnishings will be sold at auction beginning at noon this Sunday.

Now 89, Mrs. Boyden is living at Middlebelt Nursing Centre and getting along "pretty well," Mrs. Forester says.

Mrs. Boyden through the years had been one of the community's most active residents. She was a charter member and president of the Northville Senior Citizens' Club formed in the mid-1960s, a member and long-time membership chairman of Northville Woman's Club, joining in 1921, and a member of Northville Methodist Church for more than 60 years.

She was married in the old Methodist Church and the Boydens marked their 55th wedding anniversary in the new Methodist church on West Eight Mile in June, 1971. At the time, she recalled their wedding trip on one of the old D & C boats.

Mrs. Boyden also was a writer on The Northville Record staff until her retirement in 1947. She continued to help new employees, like this writer, who didn't arrive on the scene until 1963. Her cheerful encouragement has been a great asset through the years.

Fountains celebrated holiday twice

The Christmas tree at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Fountain was decorated early — "just after Thanksgiving," says Mary Esther Fountain, who only removed the ornaments last weekend. She adds that this was possible because it is an artificial one. It was in place in time for the annual sherry party she and Anne Pyett co-hosted the Tuesday before Thanksgiving.

It stayed up for a belated Christmas celebration the Fountains had with daughter Esther and her fiancé Joe Melnik of Suttons Bay last Sunday. Esther, who is nursing on the pediatrics floor of St. Joseph Hospital, was not able to go west with her parents to celebrate Christmas with the rest of the family in Seattle.

They visited son Brian and his wife Cheryl, who live in the Seattle suburb of Kirkland near other former Northville residents John and Becky Jerome who dropped by during the holiday. Martha Whiteside, a former Northville resident who is a nurse in Seattle, also was in on the celebrating.

The Fountains' other son Don lives in Redmond, another Seattle suburb. He is working in a dental lab, his mother reports, and Brian is a Pearle Vision Center manager. In Washington, she adds, they were able to go cross country skiing in the Cascades, located an hour from Seattle, one day and then golf the next.

We'll be seeing wreaths for a while

Decorations of the Christmas season have been going up earlier — and staying in place longer. Wreaths and garlands still decorate many doorways around town, and Christmas lights twinkle on trees, inside and out.

Take a drive down any residential street these days, and it's apparent that more and more homeowners are leaving up holiday decorations, as one resident said, "to extend the season."

"It could be a custom being adopted from the East," observed Glad Evans, who says she is leaving both wreaths and garlanding around the front door. In Rochester, New York, she reports, homes remain decorated at least through February. She says she likes the idea as "it takes away from the bleakness of winter."

Dental Dialogue

of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.
FATHER OF DENTISTRY

Q. Who was the first "modern" dentist?

Thereafter the profession made tremendous strides.

A. In early times dentistry and medicine were one of the same. But during the 18th century in France, dentistry achieved an independent status. This was due to a man named Pierre Fouchard known as the "father" of modern dentistry. Fouchard was born in Paris and in 1761 wrote his famous book which reviewed the entire development of dentistry in all its phases and included his own observations and experiences. He pointed out the need for more study in all branches of dentistry and helped establish it on a firm scientific basis.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S. 24101 Novi Road, Novi 348-3100

The Northville Record

Mustangs ride past Western, 57-55

By STEPHEN CVENGROS

Only a "road rally" kept Northville's basketball team in the driver's seat of the Western Lakes Activities Association with a come from behind 57-55 win over Walled Lake Western last Friday.

Tim Lutes' young Mustangs courted with disaster before sealing the victory over Western, which it had led most of the contest on the Warriors' home court.

"Basically, it was a matter of we had a lead for most of the ball game. For the last four or five minutes, we really lost our poise. We broke down offensively and defensively," Lutes explained.

"We threw the ball away and let them have the lead. We didn't make them earn their points," Northville's coach assessed the match-up. "They did a good job of coming back, but we weren't playing a very poised game."

"I guess you could say a young club has the tendency to lose its poise on the road."

But despite momentarily losing the lead and its poise, the young Mustangs proved they had enough of what all young equines are eventually turned into — glue.

With approximately 25 seconds to go, Western took a one-point lead over the Mustangs. Northville's Bobby Pegrum went to the charity stripe and tossed in the front end of a one-and-one, before missing the bonus shot. But Mustang Scott Gala cleared the glass and pumped in his only field goal of the evening to put Northville on top to stay, 57-55.

Western had one more chance to tie the game, but a shot by the Warriors failed to fall. And the Mustangs pulled down the rebound and ran down the last eight seconds.

Northville had an opportunity to put the game away in the second stanza, tossing in 26 points — the Mustangs' highest output for a single quarter this year. But whatever magic Northville had discovered in the ball went a long way for Western — as the Warriors tallied 18 — giving both squads a searing 44 points for the quarter.

Junior center Steve Schrader put on a show in the second period putting in 17 points. But Western's Rob Wendland was paying attention to Schrader's clinic and added 16 points of his own.

"Basically, we were running our offense very well," the Northville coach said. "However, we just didn't do a good enough job in that quarter on defense."

"We had a good chance to pull away, but just didn't do the job in that quarter."

Lutes' charges came back after the intermission with the strategy of shutting down Wendland, after he had shown such a hot hand. And while they were successful keeping the Warrior sharpshooter from hitting the mark, the emphasis on Wendland opened the door for Kevin Boyle, who contributed 12 points to the Western scoreboard in the second half.

"We tried to make some defensive adjustments on Wendland in the second half," Lutes said, adding that the Mustangs shut him down to just six for the last two periods.

For the young Mustangs, it was an encouraging performance, according to Lutes, who claimed all young teams have to learn how to win on the road.

"Any win is great in the game of basketball. It's so hard to win on any opponent's floor," Lutes said. "I was a little disappointed because we are capable of much better basketball."

"We have to have more leadership from our guard handling the ball and get the ball to the right people — and in this situation they weren't."

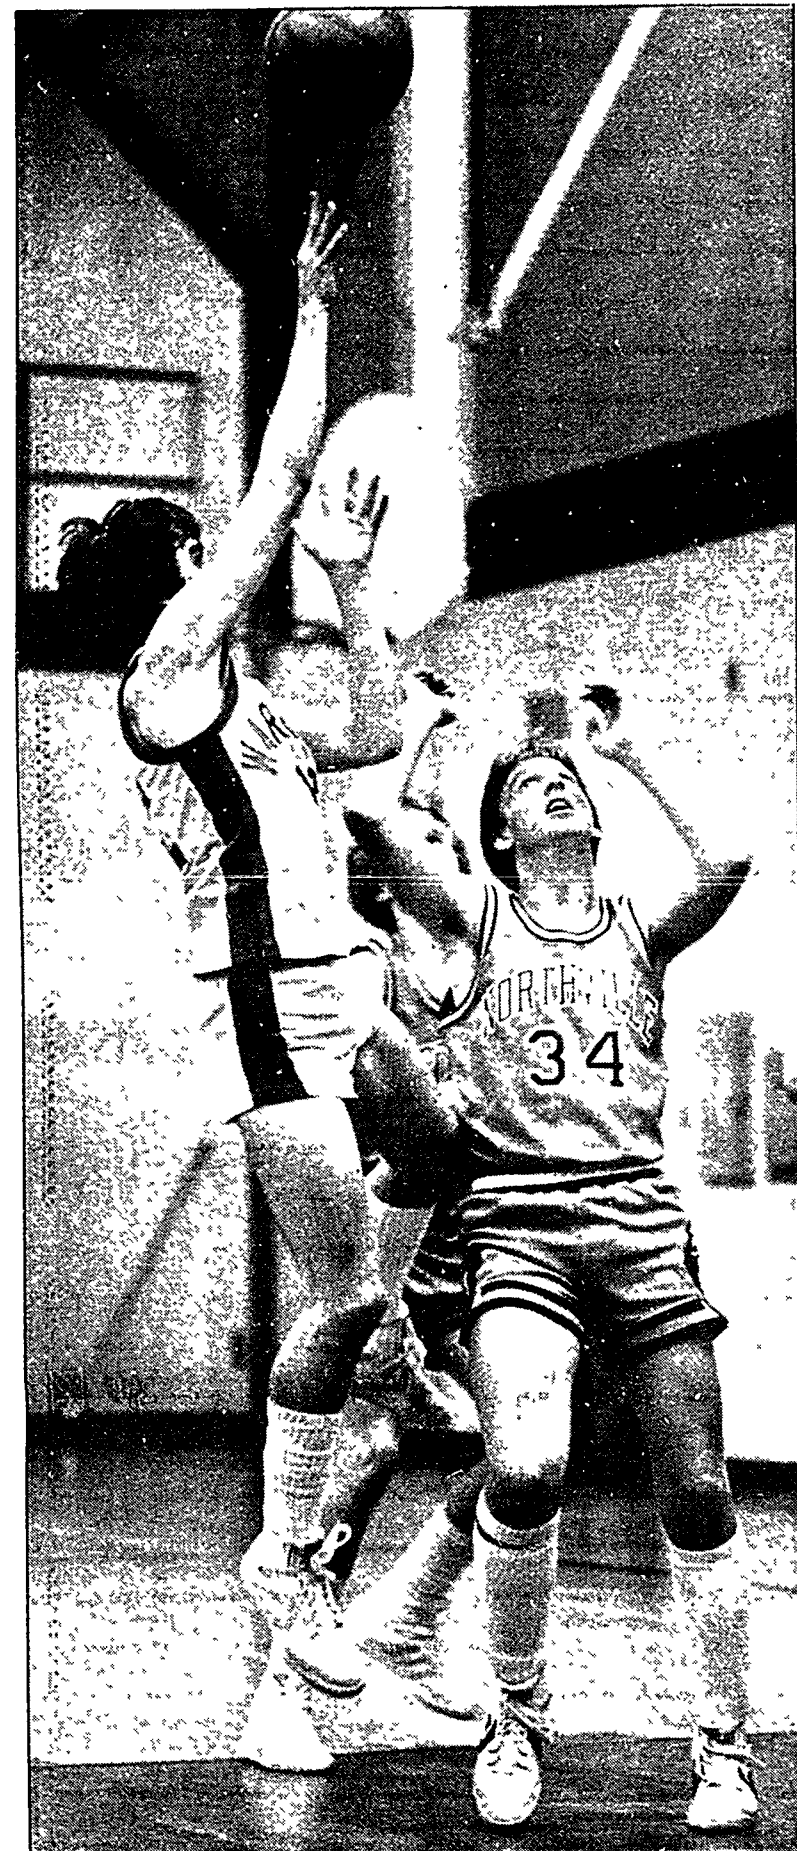

Lutes added, "I think they're capable of it, it's just something that they're going to have to work on."

Schrader finished the night with 26. Two other juniors Mike Weber and Mickey Newman each tossed in 10.

Schrader pulled down eight rebounds and Gala cleared seven for the Mustangs. Gala also had five assists (most of them to Schrader) and was praised by Lutes as having played "a good floor game."

The victory moved Northville into a tie with Livonia Churchill for their divisional lead. Both teams have a 3-1 record and tip-off at Churchill next Tuesday night.

This Friday, the Mustangs host Plymouth Salem in a 7:30 p.m. contest.

FIND OUT MORE ABOUT YOURSELF

We all have very special talents. They're called aptitudes and they determine what we can do best. You probably know people who play music without training or who repair an engine without formal education. These people have high aptitudes in areas of music and mechanics. Unfortunately, many people never learn to use their aptitudes. Many never find out where their talents lie.

The Armed Services have a special battery of tests which can determine your aptitude. It's called the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery — or ASVAB for short. The test is given in many schools — voluntarily and without charge. If you have an opportunity to take the test, it will tell you a lot about your abilities. About your aptitudes in Mechanical, Administrative, General and Electronic areas. The test can tell you if your aptitude qualifies you mentally for Air Force service and an area in which you may want to train and work.

Together with your high school diploma, the test results can mean a brighter future for you as an Air Force specialist — trained and experienced to perform important Air Force skills.

If you haven't taken the test, your high school counselor can tell you about it. Or if you're already out of school, an Air Force recruiter can tell you where you take the test. Do it for your country. Do it for yourself.

The ASVAB test can tell you a lot about yourself — facts you need to know regardless of your plans for the future. Maybe the Air Force could be part of that future, if you qualify.

Spikers hot and cold in Novi loss

If Northville volleyball coach Steve McDonald enrolls in some psychology courses, maybe it's because he's just trying to figure out the split personality of his team.

The Mustang spikers dropped two matches last week, but not without looking like two different teams.

In the Friday night match against rival Novi, Northville played like a team asleep dropping behind Novi 14-0 — before losing the opening game of the match 15-1.

But McDonald claims his volleyball squad got mad. And that anger converted into an inspiring second game that the Mustangs eventually dropped to the Wildcats in overtime, 16-14.

McDonald explained, "The girls got mad and played much better the second game. We just couldn't pull off a victory for the third game."

"In the first game, we just didn't play there. We were flat." Tracy Wilkinson had 10 spikes with nine of them good, including three aces to lead the way for Northville. Kim Petit had a fine performance serving knocking in all seven of her attempts. Cheryl Berryman also made good on her six serving attempts.

Earlier in the week, it had been much the same story for Northville. Farmington handed the Mustangs their first loss in a Wednesday contest, 10-15, 15-9 and 11-15.

"For an opening game, we didn't play real bad — but we didn't play real good. We had a chance to win the whole match, but ended up losing it," McDonald explained. "Myself and the girls felt pretty bad. We were ahead 10-4 in the last game, but just couldn't put it away."

Again, Northville's performance was not without its highlights. Judy Morgan and Petit both had good nights serving. Morgan kept 11 of her 14 serves playable; Petit was 15 for 17.

Leslie Kucher and Tracy Wilkinson led the spikers. Kucher knocked in 10 good hits with only four bad spikes. Wilkinson kept 10 of her 16 spike attempts in play. And Cindy Runyon had a good night setting, converting 27 of 28.

"Probably the biggest problem we had was passing," McDonald said. "They hustled and overall were good. We just had a mental lapse in the last game and just couldn't put it away (despite a 10-4 lead at one point)."

The Mustangs faced Plymouth Canton in a Monday contest, after our press time, looking for their first win.

Young matmen mauled by 'Dawgs, place sixth in Brighton tourney

Inexperience is turning out to be the third man on the mat for Gary Emerson's Northville wrestlers. And the adversary is getting the best of the Mustang matmen more often than not.

Livonia Bentley found out how that invisible rival the Northville squad is fighting can aid its opponents as it blew by the Mustangs, 50-21, last Thursday.

Emerson's wrestlers found their backs to the mat four straight matches, before senior Rob Wolfram pulled out a 6-5 decision against the Bulldogs. Bruce Wolfram (98), Ken Kehoe (105), Erwin Morfe (112) and Keith Richie (119) were each pinned by Bentley opponents in the first four consecutive match-ups of the night — to put the Mustangs down 24-0.

John Letarte (138) and Jay Anderson (145) took their men to the mat to each score pins. Other Mustang wrestlers Mike Davis (132), Joel Vogt (185) and Bryan Burgett (heavyweight) also fell victim to pins. Greg Barker (198) evaded a pin, but still dropped his match 12-5.

Emerson noted, "One of our big problems is we got pinned. Had we stayed off our backs, the match would have been a lot closer."

Assessing his opponents, the Northville coach added, "Bentley's first four people are extremely good. From there on they have some holes to fill. "We're only fielding three seniors in 10 weight classes. Last year's junior class was not as good, in general. We just don't have senior wrestlers."

Junior varsity wrestlers Dennis Nadeau (112), Ken Mathes (126) and Norm Estigoy (132) each scored pins. Don Unsworth (185) fell victim to a Bulldog pin.

Saturday's trip to the Brighton Invitational showed that inexperience may be a rival to deal with throughout the entire season.

Senior John Collins had the best showing for Northville. Collins placed second in the eight-team field. But as a team, the Mustangs finished sixth.

Teammates Rob Wolfram and Barker finished third at 126- and 198-pound weight classes, respectively. Emerson commented that Barker "had probably his best day."

Jim Assemany (98) and Ernie Bok (155) also placed, each finishing fourth in their weight divisions.

Emerson also noted that Richie, wrestling at 119, lost two matches in the last 10 seconds, which could have placed in the final place finishers.

"I think we moved up a little," Emerson assessed Saturday's performance compared with Thursday's. "Rob Wolfram probably wrestled the best he finished all year. If Morfe had wrestled at 105, (he couldn't meet weight requirements and had to move up to 112) he would have done better."

"Wolfram and Barker did extremely well. The rest of the guys did about where they're at (in experience). We're a lot of first-year wrestlers and we can do well against first-year wrestlers," the Northville coach said.

The dual meet loss drops the Mustangs to 1-4 overall and 1-3 in conference action. Northville next meets Walled Lake Western, and Emerson expects a tough uphill battle.

"Western's tough. They're going to be one of the better teams in the league," he said. "We'll really try and put on as good a show as we can."

Take only 2 firsts

Swimmers thrashed by Bulldogs

Northville took only two first-place finishes in dropping a dual swim meet to Brighton, 74-52. The Mustangs got victories from Jeff Metz and Adam Swallow in the home contest last Tuesday.

Metz led a 1-2 finish for the Mustangs in diving by accumulating 178.9 points. Jeff Pawlowski was runner-up in the event with a 144.4 tally.

Swallow earned his first with a 5:27.98 clocking in the 500-yard freestyle. Teammate Tom Valade finished third in the event touching home at 5:59.62.

Swallow also finished second in the 200-yard freestyle (2:01.4), just ahead of Mustang Darius Mikalonis (2:02.69). Mikalonis was runner-up in the 100-yard backstroke with a 1:05.27 time. Tim Walker finished third in the event at 1:06.0.

Vince Shimp turned in a second in the 100-yard freestyle (55.5) and was followed in fourth by Jeff Bainbridge (57.88).

Doug Buell and John Gass scored third and fourth place finishes in the 100-yard breast stroke with respective times of 1:11.2 and 1:16.67.

Buell also touched in second position in the 100-yard butterfly (1:00.36).

Ocelots holiday champs, Briggs tops nation

The Schoolcraft College men's basketball team ended 1982 with a bang. The Ocelots captured the Highland Park Community College Holiday Classic last week with a pair of victories, first over Muskegon CC (89-83), and then the host school in the finals (87-72).

Schoolcraft, coached by Rocky Watkins, is off to its best start ever. The Ocelots could gain a national ranking this week with a 13-1 record.

George Meriweather, a second-year guard from Detroit Northwestern, captured tournament MVP honors at Highland Park. He tallied 18 of his game-high 26 points in the first half as Schoolcraft captured the championship.

The Ocelots led by as many as 18 points in the second half, but Highland Park, behind the scoring of forward Will Nash, cut the deficit to five down the stretch.

"That's when we had to put it in high gear and hold them off," said Watkins.

Swingman Carlos Briggs, who leads the nation in scoring, and Livonia Stevenson grad Bill Keyes added 24 and 18 points, respectively, for the winners. Both Briggs and Keyes joined Meriweather on the All-Tourney squad.

Tom Niergarth scored a career high 22 points in the win over Muskegon, the Western Conference leaders. Schoolcraft led by as many as 18 points in the second half, only to have Muskegon charge back behind the shooting of Robert Allen.

But Niergarth got plenty of support as Briggs and Meriweather added 20 points each and Keyes bagged 15.

Allen, meanwhile, led all scorers with 36 points.

"That showed us we could play with the big guys," said Watkins. "They were a big and quick team."

On December 23 in a preliminary game at Eastern Michigan University's Bowen Field House, Schoolcraft edged Owen Technical, a four-year school in Toledo, 75-71.

Briggs tallied 29 points in the victory.

OLV wins, tied for 1st

Our Lady of Victory's seventh and eighth grade boys' basketball team upped its record to 9-2 with back-to-back wins over Detroit St. Christopher and Redford St. Robert Bellarmine.

The Cougars struggled with St. Christopher and held a narrow lead, 26-25, at the end of the third quarter. An early fourth quarter spurt put the game away for Our Lady of Victory, 36-29. Sean McLaughlin led the scoring for OLV with 16. Teammates Joe Brielmaier chipped in eight and Doug Martin tallied six points.

OLV's match-up with St. Robert was a different story. Coach John Brady emptied his bench before halftime with all 13 Cougars scoring. McLaughlin led the way again with 16 and Tom Orlovski threw in five, as OLV rolled, 45-21.

WOODLAND MEDICAL CENTERS

348-8000 NOVI

DETROIT 538-4700

WOODLAND = DIAGNOSIS + TREATMENT + CARE + CONCERN

Bernard Kohn's persistently upset stomach had been bothering him for several weeks. None of the home remedies he tried had alleviated his discomfort. He knew he should see a doctor for an examination. But Bernard was undecided. What type of doctor should he consult?

Loretta Johnson had recently taken a new job. One of the requirements of her employer was that she undergo a complete physical examination. The problem was, she had no regular physician and had not had a physical in years. Where could she go that would enable her to obtain the necessary exam within the short period of time before she began her new job. And would she have to waste valuable time running to laboratories around town for various tests?

At age 65, Tom Adams was accustomed to having a certain number of aches and pains to face in daily living. But he hadn't anticipated the daily torture he was enduring just from walking. His feet, especially his heels, were killing him! Tom realized he would have to see a doctor before he was forced to give up normal activity.

IN EACH OF THESE CASES, THE PEOPLE INVOLVED WERE EXPERIENCING EVERYDAY MEDICAL PROBLEMS THAT WHILE QUITE COMMON, REQUIRED ATTENTION. AND EACH RECEIVED THE EFFICIENT, THOROUGH AND CONVENIENT MEDICAL CARE THEY NEEDED FROM THEIR NEARBY WOODLAND MEDICAL CENTER.

When Bernard Kohn contacted the Center, Woodland's full-time patient advisor was able to direct him to a specialist in internal medicine.

She explained to Bernard that the internist had the broad diagnostic training and experience to be able to recognize and treat a variety of illnesses that could occur anywhere in the adult body. These could include intestinal problems, for example, or disorders of the muscles or internal organs such as the kidneys, or communicable diseases and many other general physical problems. The internist could also refer patients, if necessary, to another sub-specialist.

The advisor was aware that Bernard was concerned about his condition and somewhat nervous about seeing a new doctor. She was able to assure Bernard about the doctor's qualifications and at Bernard's request was able to tell him something about the physician's background.

Bernard, on the other hand, found the advisor to be quite pleasant and friendly and was pleased that she was so helpful and understanding. He appreciated the time she spent in discussing his problem and helping him to make an appointment with the physician who could best deal with his problem.

For Bernard, an examination and immediate and complete upper gastro-intestinal tests performed inside the Center, confirmed the fact that he had an ulcer. Within the day, his diagnosis had been completed, treatment was started and Bernard was able to obtain the medication the doctor prescribed from the pharmacy inside the Center.

Although Loretta Johnson had never been to Woodland before she was able to make an appointment for that same week with a general internist. And her appointment also, was made with the help of Woodland's patient advisor.

lem. Tom had heel spur's, bony growths on the bottom of each heel that while not life threatening, were painful and disabling.

The podiatrist immediately began a program of treatment for pain relief with the use of medication and supportive tapings. He made casts of Tom's feet from which he subsequently made custom-fitted inserts for Tom's shoes that relieved the strain and pressure from the bottom of his heels.

The podiatrist was also able to suggest that Tom register for a WOODLAND MEDICAL CENTER COMMUNITY HEALTH INFORMATION PROGRAM (CHIP) seminar on foot disorders, including subjects such as corn, callouses, bunions and heel spurs.

As part of a regularly scheduled, FREE series about health problems, the hour-and-half long program taught Tom about his condition and gave him complete information about its most effective treatment. And perhaps more importantly, he found out how to avoid future foot problems, particularly for someone his age.

Tom enjoyed the informal film and lecture session presented by a Woodland podiatrist. And he was able to receive immediate answers to some of the questions the speaker had raised in his mind.

Bernard, Loretta and Tom discovered what thousands of other successfully treated patients have discovered about Woodland during its 20-year history. The staff of Woodland Medical Centers are experts in complete health care. They offer quality, complete medical and dental care for the entire family whenever its needed. And the doctors of Woodland back their expertise with the most advanced technology and equipment available.
