Ford fuel tank labor agreement approved at plant

The first fuel tank at Ford Motor Company's Northville Water Wheel Plant was certified Tuesday, allowing the plant to start production immediately on automotive fuel tanks. J. William Sherrick, Northville plant manager, announced in a press conference at the plant at 9:30 a.m.

Scheduled to close a little more than a year ago, the former valve plant gained a new lease on life as production began yesterday on the automotive fuel tanks to service 1974-77 model LTD II and Cougar station wagons. The plant already is repairing steel shipping racks.

August, 1983, was targeted in the announcement as the date for production start up for high-volume production of fuel tanks for current model Ford Econoline Vans and F-Series pickups.

Announcement also was made that UAW Local 896 under president, Norm Fultz, ratified by a 97 percent margin an agreement that allows flexibility in work assignments and the capability for workers to acquire multiple skills.

Earlier this month, most production job classifications were replaced by a broader one called "quality technician" that encourages employees to learn new skills, it was revealed during yesterday's presentation.

Four trustees to be elected at college

Nominating petitions are available now for persons wishing to run for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees this June.

Four seats on the seven-member board will be up for election. Three are for six-year terms and the fourth is for two years.

Any qualified and registered voter of the college district is eligible to run for the board.

Petitions, which must be filed by 4 p.m. April 26, require signatures of at least 50 but not more than 200 qualified registered voters of the district. Petitions are available in the college president's office.

In addition to Northville, the college district includes the public school districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia and Plymouth-Canton, and a small part of Novi.

The two-year post is for the balance of the term vacated by the resignation of Nancie Blatt of Livonia last summer. Sharon L. Sarris of Livonia currently is filling the office by appointment of the board until the June election. When appointed, she indicated she would be interested in running for the remainder of the term.

The six-year terms to be filled in the election are those held by Harry G. Greenleaf, Rosina Raymond and Leonard E. Wozniak, all Livonia residents.

Other members of the board of trustees whose terms are not up are Michael Burley of Canton, Paul Kadish of Livonia and Laura Toy, board vice chairperson, of Livonia.

Plant events: from handshake to production

Yesterday's announcement of the start-up of automotive fuel tank production was the latest in a series of events that followed the November, 1981, plant closing.

Other highlights in the history of the reconsideration of the closing were:

- February 1982 — After a new national labor agreement was reached with the UAW, Ford President Donald E. Petersen promised with a handshake that the company would review the possibility of re-opening the plant.

- March 1982 — Harold A. Poling, executive vice president — North American Automotive Operations, announced the plant would be reopened to build fuel tanks for current and previous Ford cars and trucks and to repair steel shipping racks used by Ford plants throughout the ## College and district to share tax fees

Northville City Council indicated Monday night it would be willing to collect 1983 school summer taxes for Wayne County Intermediate School District and Schoolcraft Community College if the city can be authorized to deduct the collection fee from the summer tax.

Council voted to draft a letter and inform both of the cost to the city of collecting the summer taxes.

In a report introduced at the February 21 council meeting, City Manager Steven Walters indicated that the total cost to the city to collect the taxes would be $4,830. Walters reported that because of the small tax collection involved, 1.1 mills for ISD and 1.94 mills for the college, the collection costs will exceed the recommended one percent collection fee.

According to Walters, if 100 percent of the taxes were collected, only $2,530 would be generated for the one percent collection fee. If less than the full collection was received, the city would get less by applying the one percent fee.

Council expressed concern that because of the legal challenge against the collection fee process, the fee could be in question even if the city accepted it as sufficient.

The actual costs resulting from the summer school tax, in addition to the normal city costs, include $360 for tax bill printing, $1,520 in mailing preparations, $480 in postage, $1,140 in recycling and distribution and $1,330 for posting and return to the County.

"This summer school tax was not designed by anybody who knew the tax system," Walters said. "Should taxpayers have to pay an extra tax to permit them to pay their taxes early?"

Mayor Paul R. Vernon said the proposed $4,830 collection fee would be in effect for one year only. "A new agreement will be reached each year, for postage, labor and preparation of tax bills. We are not asking them to share the normal expenses of the collection, just the extra costs."

Council said there is a need to distinguish between city tax bills and the school taxes because of a difference in the dates that each bill is due. The school summer taxes are due September 15 and city tax bills are due August 31.

February patriots know their history

When Marilyn Kaestner's third graders at Amerman decided to study early American history, there wasn't much they left out. Dressed in Colonial costumes, with their own handmade hats and bonnets, students took on the guise of some of the American Revolution's most remembered participants including John Hancock, Ethan Allen, General LaFayette and

City planners amend PBO regulations

Northville City Planning Commission has approved a request to amend Professional-Business-Office (PBO) District regulations to allow residential use above the ground floor in conjunction with commercial and office uses.

Acting at its February 1 meeting, the planning commission decided that leisure space shall be provided for residential occupants based on 200 feet per dwelling unit.

The gross floor area of each dwelling (existing or new, not including common entryways and hallways) shall not be less than 450 square feet.

In addition, each dwelling unit shall not consist of less than two rooms plus a complete bathroom and shall include complete kitchen facilities.

Commissioner Fred Joels initiated the motion and was supported by Commissioner Jerry Mittman. The motion carried unanimously.

The Planning Commission also discussed a change in use of property owned by Paul Johnson at 335 North Center.

Johnson advised the commission that he would like to convert the upstairs into a one-bedroom apartment for his mother-in-law who will be spending the summer months with the Johnsons. The area is presently being used for storage purposes.

Planning Consultant Ronald Nino stated that the original site plan for the Johnsons' property, approved several years ago, showed 11 parking spaces. Nino further explained that upon investigation, he had discovered 12 spaces in count, but that 14 are needed before the Johnsons' site revision plan could be considered.

Nino did not question Johnson's right to request a site revision, but a waiver for the final two spaces would be needed before approval.

Johnson was advised to take the original plans and redraw them. He also was advised that parking would not be allowed in the front yard and that as far as Nino was concerned, there was no place to add the final two spaces. Johnson was hence informed that he would have to approach the Zoning Board of Appeals for a possible waiver.

The matter was to be on the next Planning Commission meeting agenda. Other topics discussed were a text amendment that would change the Floor Area Ratio (FAR) of buildings from 1.0 to 3.0.

Nino advised the commission that the FAR should be changed to 2.0 to allow 200 percent coverage of the lot.

Nino's proposal was upgraded to 3.0 when it was felt a 2.0 FAR ratio would leave a few buildings non-conforming.

Commissioner James Cutler, supported by Commissioner Jay Wendt, acted to recommend to City Council that Article 3, Schedule of Regulations, Section 3.01 Table-Schedule of Regulations, be amended to change the FAR from 1.0 to 3.0 in the CBD.

The motion was carried unanimously.

Minor discussions followed by Commissioner William Demray about whether a mansard roof is a wall or a roof. Demray advised the commission that a sign had been put on a roof in Northville and that a clear definition of the ordinance should be looked into.

Commissioner Demray also felt that Northville should act quickly on an ordinance to curb the rapid growth of antennae discs (dishes). He suggested some sort of applicant screening policy before "things get out of hand and every house in Northville has one."

Currently dishes are being used as cable television receptors, both legally and illegally.

At the February 22 meeting of the planners Site Landscaping and Architectural Approval for the building addition to the property of James Rea, 135 North Center and several zoning amendments were considered.

City council delays approval of project

Northville City Council voted to delay approval on the legal descriptions of the Northville Laboratory property eligible for assistance from the Economic Development Corporation (EDC).

At its meeting Monday night, council questioned the wording in the resolution of intent to issue revenue bonds, appoint additional directors and to designate the project area that had been approved by the EDC.

The Northville Laboratory project is being undertaken by The Rural Hill Company to improve and enlarge the building, facilities and site of the laboratory. The cost of the project is estimated at $750,000, which will be financed by revenue bonds.

Council member J. Burton DeRusha asked that the resolution be sent back to the EDC board for clarification or change.

DeRusha said he was concerned over the portion of the resolution which states: "The territory surrounding the Project Area will not be significantly affected by the Project because the surrounding territory either constitutes vacant land or is devoted to industrial or commercial uses; therefore, the EDC recommends to the City Council of the Municipality that it designate a Project District Area (as defined by the Act) having the same description as the Project Area."

DeRusha objected to the word "surrounding" in the resolution. "The development occurs on the east side, toward the parklands. There are apartments on the west side. I would like the EDC to clarify the area where the expansion is to occur. I'm in favor of not encumbering the project with more input, but it's an important matter to be dealt with now and not later. I'd be very happy to see this go through once it is clear," he said.

The Northville Laboratory project is expected to employ 11 additional people, and add to the tax base of the city and the school district.

School board approves education philosophy

After two years of discussions and redrafts, the Northville Board of Education gave its final approval February 14 to the district's new policy on Quality Education and Program Effectiveness.

The new policy, drafted by administrators, school board and staff members and citizens, was unanimously approved by the board.

In approving the policy, board president Douglas Whitaker noted the "board hopes this will be a dynamic document to be looked at by future boards..."

The definition of Policy No. 6120.1, reads as follows:

- Quality Education describes a dynamic and challenging curriculum. This comprehensive curriculum should exist in a supportive environment enabling each student to achieve maximum potential.
- Quality Education is characterized by:
  - A challenging learning program which includes well-defined goals and objectives.
  - well-defined statement of policies and guidelines for consistent implementation.
- process which provides for the effective participation of students, parents, staff and community.
- process which provides for effective communication among students, staff, parents and the community.
- strong leadership in management and instruction.
- High expectations of students and staff.
- Effective instructional methods.
- A staff and community which provide reinforcement and incentives for learning.
- Effective monitoring, evaluating, and improvement procedures for program, staff and students.
- A cooperative atmosphere which fosters high student and staff morale.
- Expectations for appropriate student behavior.
- Sufficient staff and resources used efficiently and appropriately.
- Safe and secure schools.
- Attractive, properly maintained, and clean schools.
- A well informed community that supports and participates in schools.

These characteristics will serve as an extension to the Philosophy of Education in developing curriculum policies and guidelines to insure program effectiveness.

Lapham heads Chamber

Scott Lapham was elected president of the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce at a board meeting February 17. He succeeds Betty Allen.

Clancy Ely was named vice president and Sherry Spaman treasurer. Janice Stevenson was reelected secretary.

Decision was made to hold the John Q. Public garage sale again this year on Saturday, May 14.

Kay Keegan, executive director of the chamber, said that after last year's sale merchants met and reported they "all had done business" during the sale.

Board grants Maple Hills extension

The proposed Maple Hills subdivision on Six Mile Road will be "grandfathered" under a repealed ordinance regarding set-backs and side yards because of action taken at the February 10 meeting of the Northville Township Board of Trustees.

Conceding that legal action which the township is engaged in with its former engineer contributed to delay and confusion in the housing development, the board granted Maple Hills a 12-month extension under the former ordinance.

Plans for Maple Hills began in June 1979 under ordinance 47, the original guidelines for lot size. Stage 2 approval, which is given when the subdivision is in final plat stages, was granted to Maple Hills by the board in October 1979.

Final plans for the development went to the township engineer where revisions were made. It was in this stage that the township terminated its agreement with the engineer, and approval for Maple Hills was delayed as a result of the action.

An amendment to the ordinance stated that where construction of public utilities began prior to the adoption of ordinance 77 or if tentative approval already had been granted, then prior guidelines would be acceptable in eligible housing developments.

A new zoning ordinance, Number 77, was adopted by the township on June 18, 1982. In R-3 districts, which include Maple Hills, the ordinance added five feet to front footage, 1800 feet to total lot size, five feet to front yards and two feet to total side yards.

The one-year extension was granted to Maple Hills because the board decided that forcing the developers to comply with the new ordinance would result in additional cost and delay in the construction of the subdivision. The board said the developer was not responsible for the confusion in final approval and should not be penalized with the new ordinance enforcement.

Church Women United set World Day of Prayer

Church Women United will celebrate the World Day of Prayer at 10 a.m. March 4 at First United Methodist Church of Northville.

The speaker of the day will be the Reverend Martha Cargo of St. Andrew's Methodist Church in Detroit. Her late husband was the former minister at the Northville Methodist Church.

The service for 1983 was written by Christian women from the island countries of the Caribbean on the theme, "New Persons in Christ." Representing a rich mixture of races and cultures, they are seeking a new Caribbean identity. The service reflects joy in the new-found independence of their nations and the new opportunities opening up to women socially, politically and within their churches.

Reverend Cargo is a graduate of Vanderbilt Seminary and the mother of five children. Participating in the celebration will be Faith Community Presbyterian Church, Church of the Holy Family and United Methodist Church from Novi and First Presbyterian Church, First United Methodist Church and Our Lady of Victory from Northville.

Church Women United is the Christian movement that brings together more than a half million Protestant, Roman Catholic or Orthodox women into one Christian "community of caring."

World Day of Prayer offerings make possible the mission of Church Women United, including the Intercontinental Grants for Mission program that funds national and international projects in support of the empowerment of women, human rights, justice and peace.

COMMUNITY FEDERAL CREDIT UNION'S IRA'S PAY 10%

When you can open an IRA almost anywhere, why not go where your money earns the highest interest?

Standard Federal S&L	9.25	9.50	8.122

National Bank of Detroit	9.00	9.25	9.000

NOTE: Actual yield may vary depending on how often interest is compounded. Rates are as of 2/19/83.

The reasons for opening an IRA are obvious.
What you contribute each year can be deducted from your income tax. You have until April 15, 1983 to open or add to your IRA and still deduct that amount from your 1982 income taxes.
And, interest earned on an IRA — along with the principal — is not taxed until you start withdrawals. By then, you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket.

The place to open an IRA is obvious too.
COMMUNITY Federal Credit Union's IRA's pay 10% interest monthly; compounded monthly, paid monthly. And COMMUNITY Federal has no minimum time limit deposit, so your funds are not locked up. Plus, there is no penalty charge for withdrawals for rollovers.

So given a choice, isn't COMMUNITY Federal Credit Union the best place to have your IRA?

...in the township

police report $8,500 in car parts, accessories and tools were taken from a rented building in the township.

The incident occurred sometime between February 17 and February 20. Among the items taken were $4,000 in tools, $2,500 worth of motor parts, wire rims valued at $1,500, buffing wheels and battery chargers.

Police said an employee discovered the theft. Police are questioning several suspects in relation to the incident.

In two separate incidents February 15, reports were taken by police regarding windows being shot out of two Northville school buses.

Police reports state the incidents occurred within two hours of each other while the buses were being driven southbound on Ridge Road.

Police questioned residents in the area, but no suspicious persons had been seen.

Both drivers reported hearing some object hit the side windows of the buses. None of the children in the buses was injured as a result of the incidents.

In another MDOP incident, police report that $1,000 in damage was done to a 1979 Buick Regal because of sugar poured into the gas tank.

The owner of the car told police he was not sure when the incident occurred. Attempts were being made to clean the gas tank, but if not successful, the engine would have to be replaced. There are no suspects at this time in connection with the incident.

A township resident reported to police February 16, that unknown suspects caused $100 in damages to an electric lamp post.

The complainant reported that the damage was done by rocks that were thrown at the lamp.

The owner of a 1978 Plymouth Arrow reported to police February 17 that the sideview mirror had been broken off his automobile.

Police have no suspects in the incident.

A Bradner Road resident reported to police February 14 the larceny of a tailgate from a 1978 Silverado.

Reports state that neighbors did not see any unusual activity at the time of the theft. Police report no fingerprints were available because of weather conditions.

In two related incidents involving the same juvenile, police report a larceny from a building and a breaking and entering of a residence at the Swan Harbor Apartments.

A larceny from a building at the apartments was reported to police February 9.

The manager reported that two master keys were stolen from his office. The report stated that the keys had been left on a desk in the office. The door had been unlocked at the time of the incident.

A juvenile, who had been apprehended by witnesses inside an apartment, said he had taken the master keys from a metal box outside the office.

In a report related to the juvenile larceny, police were called by witnesses when a 12 year old youth who had broken into one of the Swan Harbor apartments was apprehended while still inside, by the resident of the apartment.

The youth said he gained access to the apartment after he had taken a set of master keys from a metal box outside the manager's office.

The suspect took a cigar box full of coins from the apartment and $40 was later reported missing by the resident of the apartment.

The juvenile said he had taken the keys once before at Christmas and had entered another apartment, but had not taken anything. He said he had returned the keys before anyone had missed them.

A petition is being prepared in relation to the incident.

A township business was broken into February 18 police said.

According to reports, a routine building check disclosed that unknown suspects had broken a window and cut a screen to gain entrance to the business.

Police said $10 in coins and two apple pies valued at $5 were missing.

Fingerprints were taken at the scene. Police have no suspects.

...in the city

City police report a larceny from an auto at a Grace Street residence.

According to reports, a purse was stolen by an unknown person from the automobile on February 17. Approximately $40 was in the purse at the time.

A breaking and entering with force was reported to police on February 16.

Police said the manager of a Northville shop reported a wooden panel was knocked out of a garage door at the store. The manager took inventory and reported that nothing was missing from the shop.

Police report a larceny from an auto-parts or accessories, on February 16. The incident occurred at Northville Downs in the Horsemen's lot. A tire valued at $85 was taken from a 1981 pickup truck.

Senior citizen tax deferral

A senior citizen tax deferral for those who have not yet received their homestead rebates was approved by city council at its February 7 meeting.

In response to a memorandum from Donna Kohs in the city's tax department, the council voted to defer tax payments to March 15 for those senior citizens who filed homestead exemption forms on or before February 15 of this year.

In adopting the resolution, the council stipulated that the deferral may be granted if the senior citizens involved bring in their state homestead application forms.

Kensington schedules programs

State Police grab suspect

Michigan State Police report a larceny from the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital on Seven Mile Road in Northville Township.

According to Michigan State Police Sergeant Wayne Bullen, a suspect was arrested and charged with larceny from a building February 14.

Police reports state that Albert Bryant, Jr., of Grand Rapids allegedly took an undisclosed amount of money from an office near the snacks area at the hospital.

According to police, Bryant was at the hospital as an employee of a private extermination service hired by the state.

Reports said Bryant entered the snack area and proceeded to an office where a bank bag containing cash and coins had been left on a desk. An assistant in the snacks area told police she saw Bryant enter the office with a spray can.

The larceny was discovered when the manager of the snacks area returned to the office, took the bag and went to a bank to deposit the money. At that time, the manager found almost half the money missing from the bag.

State Police were called and confronted Bryant as he was leaving the hospital. Police said that the exact amount of money missing from the bag was found in Bryant's possession. The suspect told police he had found the money in the hospital.

Police said Bryant was charged with larceny from a building and an examination date was set for February 24 in 35th District Court.

The Trouble with Sundials

Dr. James Luther

An explorer uncovered an ancient sundial. Knowing its value, he restored it to its original condition and placed it in a museum, protected from the elements and shielded from the sun! Although he valued the sundial, he never used it.

Sadly, people often do that with the Bible. For many the Bible seems old hat. It is so commonplace that it takes effort to pick it up and study it. When one does get around to it, the reader may feel that the Scriptures deal only with the long ago and the far away.

Yet, nothing could be further from the truth. The wealth of information contained in God's Word speaks to this modern generation. Such dynamic truth is wonderfully practical for today's problems.

Catch the thrill that comes in committing your heart to Christ, and you will never be the same. If you once hear God speak to your need through the Bible, His voice will become so compelling that you will listen to it above all other voices.

Join us this Sunday to discover ancient truths for modern problems, when we study "David, Troubled King of Israel."

Projects will be judged on Tuesday and will be on display Wednesday evening for parents. The third annual Founders' Day dinner will be March 17. This year's honorees from Cooke will be Mary Freydl and Dave Longridge. Tickets can be purchased at the school office. Sue Hinds

That's the spirit seventh graders! They won the contest between the grades during Spirit Week and — for their efforts — free admittance to the school dance February 16. They enthusiastically participated in the Student Council-chosen themes of Button and Hat Day, Maroon and Gold Day, Preppy Day and Dress Up Day. Ninety-seven students made the Honor Roll with a grade point average of 3.5 or better! Meads Mill can boast a 2.81 grade point average for first semester. Tomorrow, February 24, there will be a bake sale at lunch time. March 12 is the date of the Band Festival.

Our Opinions

Willis Chapell, Norm Fultz and Carl Kerr inspect fuel tank

Better idea

Certification and commencement of the production of automotive fuel tanks at the Ford water wheel plant Tuesday was another step in a unique spirit of teamwork being developed at the plant in Northville. It brings the plant closer to high volume production scheduled for August of this year.

It also is continuing evidence that a handshake can change the direction of events. It was a year ago this month that Ford President Donald E. Petersen concluded the national labor agreement with the UAW and, shaking hands with UAW vice-president Donald Ephlin, promised the company would review the possibility of reopening the plant, the last of the water wheel plants begun by the first Henry Ford.

It was because of the conviction

College gap

Given the dissimilar population sizes of the communities that compose the Schoolcraft College district, it seems that a Northville resident has little chance of being elected to a seat on the board of trustees. At present, six of the seven board members are Livonia residents.

However, four posts are up for election in June. Three six-year terms now held by Harry G. Greenleaf, Rosina Raymond and Leonard E. Wozniak, all of Livonia, are to be filled. In addition, a two-year post for the balance of the term of Nancie Blatt, who resigned last summer, is up for election. Sharon L. Sarris of Livonia was appointed by the board to fill the vacancy until the election. She agreed to run for the remainder of the term when appointed.

As the board interviewed applicants for the post last August (there were three from Northville), we urged that it consider a Northville appointee and were disappointed when the appointment of Sarris left the board again with six of the seven members from Livonia. There has not been a trustee from Northville since R. Robert Geake, now a state senator, resigned when he was elected a state representative more than nine years ago. At the time, Blatt was named to fill out his term and subsequently was elected to two terms.

If there is a qualified Northville candidate willing to campaign, perhaps voters can do what the board was not willing to do — place a representative of our community on the board. Deadline for Norman Fultz, president of UAW local 896, that Ephlin was aware of local hopes for the plant's continuation. This month the company and the local agreed upon what is called an Ability Rate Progression, a variable pay scale, for a new quality technician production classification. Under the agreement, employees so classified qualify for pay increases on a five-level wage scale as they learn and become competent in more than one production task.

This agreement — even more than certification of the first fuel tank yesterday — could be the key to the scale of future operations at the plant. The ducks whose plight drew national attention as the plant was being closed are eclipsed by the union-management cooperation here. It's real news. We congratulate both again.

filing petitions is 4 p.m. April 26. They now are available from President Richard McDowell's office on campus.

We do not mean to imply that the current board has not acted in good faith. We believe it has tried to represent views of the entire district, but we also believe the college loses input from the districts it represents by not having residents of Clarenceville, Garden City or Northville on the board. Of the five K-12 school districts that compose the college district, Livonia has about half the population, Plymouth-Canton and Garden City about 40 percent and Clarenceville and Northville the remaining 10 percent.

At present, Harry R. Greenleaf, Rosina Raymond, Leonard E. Wozniak, Sharon Sarris, Paul Kadish and Laura Toy all are from Livonia with Michael Burley from Canton. Initially, when the college was founded there were representatives from the school districts it covers, but voting rules were changed on the premise that there was not "one man-one vote" representation by population.

Unfortunately, while the college has been fighting a "Livonia institution" image, trustees were not willing to give the appointment to a non-Livonian. A Northville resident (as any representative of the districts not now having a board member) would offer a two-way communication, bringing college news to the district and contributing input from the community. Let us hope there is interest in the four posts here.

Lessons of the press

With this being Newspaper in Education Week, it has occurred to me that perhaps this is a good time for those of us in the print media to sit back and reflect upon our roles as journalists. It is something we don't do often enough. We always seem to be too busy chasing down stories, covering meetings and cursing at our VDTs to take a good hard look at the newspaper business.

Currently, I'm in the midst of my own soul-searching. As one of a handful of newspaper reporters in Northville, I've been asked to address a group of junior high students in a few weeks regarding the nitty-gritty of being a reporter. This isn't the first time I've talked to a group of budding writers — and I'm sure it won't be the last. My colleagues have done the same. It comes with the job.

While this may seem like a simple enough task, I often find myself tongue-tied. Like many writers, I express myself best through the written word and am not accustomed to being the interviewee rather than the interviewer. As a reporter, I prefer to remain in the shadows, an observer looking in through a crack in the door.

People often wonder why reporters sit like deaf mutes through meetings of local governing bodies. The fact is that we are not participants in such meetings. We are there to report on what occurs during the meeting — not partake in it. I don't voice my opinions or shake my fist at local school board meetings because that is not what I'm there for. Like the old adage about children, reporters at public meetings should remain seen and not heard.

Another problem I'm confronted with in talking about my job is that I have few visual aids to help supplement any discussion. Unlike the firefighter with a bright red truck, heavy coat and helmet, the tools of my trade are a battered notebook and a collection of pens which seem to disappear in my overstuffed purse. While I certainly don't mind having students looking through my notebook, I sincerely doubt they can read it. The chicken scratch which appears on most pages looks more like a secret code from Tibet than the material for a news story.

What always strikes me as funny is the perception most people have of newspaper reporters. We're often perceived as being chain smoking, nervous types who seem to live on the run. People imagine us as wearing trench coats and pencils behind our ears with cigarettes dangling from our lips. While some of us may fit this mold, most of us do not.

I suppose the media itself can be blamed for distorting most people's views of journalists. In the age of Woodward and Bernstein, I suppose it's only natural for people to think that we meet secret sources in dark garages and bring down political figures with one fell swoop.

Yet, for most newspaper reporters, at least for this one, there is much more behind the myth than most people realize.

As members of the Fourth Estate, our purpose is to serve as a check on government and the like. We take it upon ourselves to defend the underdog, expose graft and corruption and stand by our conviction of the "people's right to know." The cornerstone of our existence lies in four simple words — "freedom of the press." While many contend we have abused that freedom, I would be hard pressed to find anyone who would support the abolition of that constitutional guarantee.

In the newspaper business, our job is not only to write about those who make the news, but those who live it — people like you.

About Town

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

I'm writing this column under protest. What I'd really like to be doing right now is oiling up the old baseball mitt in preparation for a game of catch.

If you've guessed that spring fever has laid claim to my soul, you're right. This is terrible. It's Monday afternoon; I still have several stories plus an editorial to write, not to mention my column, and all I can think about is how nice it would be to go out and play a little catch.

Unfortunately, I'm not the only one on my staff afflicted with the disorder. About an hour ago, my staff caught me walking out of the Winner's Circle, a local watering hole known far and wide for the quality of its Pac-Man machines.

"Just trying to clear my mind with a couple of games of Pac-Man so I can write my column," I explained sheepishly, embarrassed at being caught walking out of a bar during prime working hours.

Their response bothered me. "We know the feeling," they said. "We just took a walk around town; we can't get going either."

Now it's one thing for the boss to take a short break, but I have quite a different reaction when my staff starts taking extended hikes on Monday afternoon.

Monday afternoons, you see, are prime production time; deadline rolls around mid-way Tuesday and Monday is the last complete day for writing stories. When you can't write Monday, you just know Tuesdays will be difficult.

Actually, I'm disappointed with myself for having contracted this seasonal affliction. Back when I was in school, spring fever used to lay me out and render me useless for the remainder of the term. I tried to get straight A's early in the semester knowing I'd need them to carry me through the warm spring days when it was a metaphysical impossibility to engage in something so mundane as studying.

But I digress. Let's see, where was I? Oh, yes — spring fever ... have to write a column ... would rather play catch. I wonder if anyone would notice if I just didn't write a column this week?

Ford plant produces fuel tanks under new agreement

As employees become competent in more than one task, it was explained, they qualify for pay increases in a five-level wage scale (Ability Rated Progression) without being reclassified.

The plant re-opened last September after a six-month study showed it was suitable for fuel tank production and steel shipping rack repair. It had been closed in November, 1981, as an unprofitable operation after producing engine valves for more than 60 years.

"We've already begun repairing shipping racks and are ready to start making fuel tanks," said Sherrick in the announcement.

The meeting Tuesday included employees. Sherrick noted that such employee meetings are held every two to three weeks, usually in the cafeteria.

The meeting was moved to the plant's main floor, he said, to accommodate news media and visitors who included Mayor Paul Vernon and City Manager Steven Walters.

Sherrick was frank about costs to date, citing the fact that 35 percent of the plant start-up authorization ($2,979,000) has been expended but that the plant is "ahead" with 52 percent of the work required completed.

Max Jurosek, general manager of the Ford Engine Division, also spoke, praising the "tremendous amount of cooperation" at the plant. "What is happening here is unusual in our business," he told the employees, revealing that the plant is not expected to make a profit until the first quarter of 1984.

He said this is the only plant with this degree of employee involvement, challenging the workers to make quality products.

"We have a long way to go as this is an extremely competitive market today. Hopefully, by mid-summer we can announce additional work — I guarantee all the business you can handle at this plant," he summed up.

Afterward, in response to an employee question of why it would take six months, Jurosek explained that the company was choosing carefully the lines for the plant, making sure they were labor intensified.

Asked if he believes the plant ever again will have the maximum of 286 employees it at one time had, Sherrick said he doubted so as he didn't believe there would be three shifts again.

He pointed out the plant's "new beginning" is testimony to the success of the innovative "people programs" at the plant that have changed normal work rules and involve all employees in discussions concerning the products, new business opportunities and better ways of doing jobs.

"We talk bottom line with our employees," Sherrick stated. "For example, I'll share with them how many shipping racks we have to repair in a given day to break even on costs, and they'll come up with ways to do it, even though it means doing work they weren't asked to do in past times."

Fultz testified that the new system is working.

"From the day we re-opened, employees have come up with many ideas to save time and money," Fultz said. "Originally, the company had planned to hire outside contractors to tear down the old valve production equipment, refurbish the building and set up for repairing racks and producing fuel tanks.

"We suggested that all of the work be done by employees who had been on layoff from the plant. The company bought our idea and saved about $250,000. To make it happen, we had assemblers cleaning, cleaners ripping up cement, stock handlers painting, and so on. It was the only way to get the job done efficiently."

A new spirit of cooperation between management and workers has been cited by Fultz as the big change at the plant.

"We communicate," he said, "there is less 'we and they' in our conversation these days. We are a team dedicated to doing quality work and making money."

Dental Dialogue

of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S.
PLAQUE IS GUILTY

Q. What is the number one cause of tooth decay?

A. The major cause of decay is a sticky, slimy substance known as plaque. Because our mouths harbor bacteria, almost everyone suffers from some degree of plaque throughout their lives. The plaque clings to the enamel of the teeth and when food particles and sugar are fermented by the bacteria, they form an acid. This acid, if not removed regularly, will form a pit. Then more bacteria accumulate and eventually there is a hole that allows bacteria to invade the interior of a tooth and a cavity is born. The only way to stop this destruction is to remove the villain, plaque.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of A. Allen Tuchklaper, D.D.S., 4101 Novi Road, Novi 348-3100

MOT sends musical theatre on the road in Michigan

By MARYSPRY

Karen DiChiera told her audience how to understand the opening of Puccini's "La Boheme" — "Imagine guys in a fraternity who are 20 or 21 sitting around the house with nothing to do."

As director of education for the Michigan Opera Theatre (MOT), DiChiera used music, laughter and Italian to explain the upcoming season of MOT to members and guests of Northville Woman's Club at the February 4 meeting at First Presbyterian Church.

DiChiera gently led the audience through portions of "La Boheme" and Verdi's "MacBeth" with recordings, supplying translations of the Italian passages, and throwing out enough one-liners to keep her audience laughing as well as learning.

"You can say, 'I like "Evita," but I don't know if I like opera'.... but "Evita" is an opera.

"Opera is a piece of music using musical themes. They pertain to moods and speaking. The same music continues to develop throughout the opera."

MOT was formed 13 years ago by David and Karen DiChiera. It has become one of the top 14 largest professional opera companies in the United States.

The internationally renowned MOT was threatened with another name when it was being formed. "I thought 'Dave's Opera Company' sounded good, but nobody else liked it," DiChiera said. "We chose the name Michigan Opera Theatre because we don't see any distinction between a musical, an opera and an operetta.

"We want to get people involved in the arts because part of what the arts do is a service, and we are here to give."

Just what MOT can give has been limited by budget cutbacks in both the public and private sector. "Right now we are struggling just to offer our services."

MOT receives funding from the Michigan Council for the Arts, the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency, and through private funding.

DiChiera said the entire community can be involved in the arts with a program like MOT because it can offer a diverse selection of musical theater. "We need everyone. We need creators, performers, consumers and supporters. The arts don't have a mandatory retirement age or a set starting up age; so there is a place for everybody somewhere in the company."

"Opera is a piece of music using musical themes. They pertain to moods and speaking. The same music continues to develop throughout the opera."

— Karen DeChiera

The schedule this season reflects MOT's potpourri philosophy. "The Sound of Music" currently is in production, with "The Marriage of Figaro" and "Rumpelstiltskin" slated for presentation in five communities later in the season.

MOT's continuing commitment to personal interaction with people has meant an innovative and dramatic change for music in Michigan. The company puts on the guise of a traveling show and brings musical theater to individual communities.

"Opera in Residence," a program that features a week-long residency of the company in a community, has been in existence for 12 years. This year the tour includes a full production of Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro," performed in English. "Rumpelstiltskin," written by David and Karen DiChiera with Joan Hill, will be performed for elementary and mid-

Northville Historical Society plans progressive dinner

By JEAN DAY

Northville Historical Society is repeating a fund-raising success: a progressive dinner will be held Saturday, April 16, beginning with hors d'oeuvres at the Yerkes House in Mill Race Historical Village.

Heading arrangements again this year will be Sonja Lane, who says she's "going by last year's notes" and expects another sellout. Reservations will be limited to 120, the capacity of the Victorian house in the village. She adds that she's signing up homes in Edenderry and Shadbrook for the dinner but has not finalized arrangements for the dessert location.

Donation will be $11 a person and a passing dish. The money is a gift to the historical society and tax deductible, Mrs. Lane mentions. This event is open to the public as well as to society members. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Lane at 348-0628.

Date for the progressive dinner was set at the January board meeting of the society. The spring auction date will be April 30 with Bob Daniel in charge.

Membership chairman Kay Otton's records showed the society has a total of 424 paid members the beginning of this year. President Fran Gazlay, however, would like to have more and invites anyone interested to call him. In addition to craft classes and workshops in the spring, the society is making plans to complete the Wash-Oak Schoolhouse restoration in the village. Proceeds from the dinner will be used for this purpose. Harriet and Bob Welland, who are in charge of furnishing the school, have drawn up detailed plans for an authentic restoration of the 1873 building.

Newcomers are planning progressive luncheon

We suspect part of the appeal of progressive meals is that participants are dining in local homes, rather than in restaurant atmosphere, as well as doing so less expensively.

Northville Newcomers Ladies activity for March will be a progressive luncheon scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. March 9. Appetizer, main course and dessert are on the menu. Reservations at $4.50 may be made by calling Judi Amatangelo, 348-3746 through March 4.

Newcomer couples are off to Farmington for a "Racquet and Wally Ball" party March 19. Experienced racquetball players or learners are welcome to play while meeting new friends, explains Newcomer President Sharon Valrance. Wally Ball, a game similar to volleyball, is played on the racquetball court, she adds, encouraging members to "grap your tennis shoes and have some fun."

Reservations at $14 a couple, plus an appetizer, may be made with Laurie Slagter, 348-1213, through March 9. Beer, wine and pop will be provided.

Vernons bring souvenirs for Genittis

When Mayor and Mrs. Paul Vernon returned from attending the National Automobile Dealers' Association convention last Wednesday in Las Vegas, they had with them some special souvenirs from Battista's Hole-in-the-Wall there for the Genittis of Northville's Hole-in-the-Wall.

Because the restaurant in Las Vegas was located near the MGM Grand Hotel where they were staying, Norma Vernon explains, they ate there a couple of times during the week. As they prepared to leave after a dinner, she mentioned she would like to buy a postcard for the Northville counterpart.

Owner Battista Locatelli did better — he gave the Vernons huge posters as well as records for themselves and the Genittis. Host Battista, Mrs. Vernon learned, opened the restaurant in Nevada in 1970 with $17. With endorsements of people like Ed Sullivan, it grew to the present five rooms in which 300 diners are served a night. Accompanied by an accordionist, Battista is famous for breaking into song. His album, Mrs. Vernon adds, notes that he has been vocalist at many funerals of the famous, including funerals of Betty Grable and Mario Lanza.

'Making Your Money Grow' is Woman's Club topic

John K. Triller, senior vice president of Thomson Investment Services, a division of Thomson McKinnon Securities, with offices in Worthington, Ohio, near Columbus, will be guest speaker at the next meeting of Northville Woman's Club at 1:30 p.m. March 4. He will be introduced by William C. Sliger, program chairman Margie Davis announces.

Triller has been in financial planning for 18 years; his specialty is tax shelters.

Phyllis Slattery's presiding at state WNFGA meet

An old-fashioned town hall format has been chosen for the business session of the winter council meeting of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association this Thursday at Sheraton-Oaks in Novi. Phyllis Slattery of Northville, Michigan Division president, will preside as members ask specific questions of division chairmen at the 9:30 a.m. business session.

Following luncheon, Rita Kirschler, a member of the Pennsylvania Division and recipient of the Frysinger Fellowship, will talk on her experiences as the guest of the Danish Housewife Association in Denmark last fall.

Five branches hostessing the meeting are Apple Run, Lake Pointe Village, Livonia, Tonquish Creek and Trailwood.

Family welcomes newborn

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hosbach of Middleburg, Ohio, announce the birth of their son Christopher Michael January 27. He weighed nine pounds, nine ounces. He is welcomed at home by his brother Timothy, 2½. Grandparents are Northville residents Mr. and Mrs. Roy Singleton and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hosbach. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eich of Tawas City.

Mustangs surprise Churchill, 43-40

Bob Pegrum displays defensive prowess last week against Walled Lake Central Northville survived its first scoreless quarter of basketball since 1977 with a furious fourth quarter rally, and the Mustangs scrambled past lethargic Livonia Churchill, 43-40.

Churchill approached the February 15 dogfight having clinched first place in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Despite those lofty credentials and Northville's pointless third period (the Mustangs first such stanza since Walled Lake Central played shutout defense in the 1979 district tournaments), Churchill did not look the part of a champion and left thoughts of what "might have been" in the heads of Northville faithful.

"Our players were a little upset at themselves after the game," said Mustang mentor Tim Lutes. "They felt

"If we had played a more inspired first quarter against (Livonia) Bentley, we could have won that game and tied for the Western Division (title)."

— Tim Lutes,
Northville basketball coach

but if they had played just a little bit better during the middle of the season, that we could have, and should have won the division championship.

"If we had played a more inspired first quarter against (Livonia) Bentley," cited Lutes, "we could have won that game and tied for the Western Division. But that's water over the dam."

Northville lost to Livonia Bentley, the last-place team in the Lakes Division, 41-37, after falling behind 14-4 in an ice-cold first quarter shooting performance.

Regardless of the "ifs," "mights" and "maybes," the Mustangs have qualified for the WLAA championship playoffs that begin Friday. Exactly who Northville (7-5 WLAA, 8-8 overall) will play hinges on the outcome of last night's pivotal game at Farmington Harrison.

Patience on behalf of Northville allowed the home team to take a 23-20 lead into the lockerroom at intermission.

Then the nightmare began for Northville, as Churchill resorted to hard nosed defense and grind-it-out offense to outscore the Mustangs 9-0 for a 29-23 bulge after three periods.

Surprisingly, Lutes did not feel that his team was severely handicapped by the scoring drought.

"I did not realize we had not scored in that period until someone told me," said Lutes. "We took good shots and played sound defense, we just didn't

Western Lakes playoffs begin

The Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) is in its first year of existence, and one of the experiments adopted by the fledgling conference is a two-game guaranteed basketball tournament.

Scheduled to begin Friday at five Lakes Division sites around the league, only two games were set pending the final game of the conference season last night and a coin flip among the Lakes Division co-champions.

Walled Lake Western (0-13, 0-17) is set for a visit to Livonia Bentley (4-9, 6-10) and Western Division champion Livonia Churchill (9-4, 10-6) will travel to Walled Lake Central (5-8, 6-10).

Neither Western or Bentley is eligible for the tournament championship since they finished last in their respective Western and Lakes Divisions.

Northville's final WLAA contest at Farmington Harrison last night (after press time) had a direct bearing on where the Mustangs would open the eight-team championship tourney.

Currently in second place of the Western Division, a victory would send the Mustangs (7-5, 8-8) to play red-hot Farmington (5-8, 7-10) Friday. A loss would leave Northville tied with Plymouth Canton (7-6, 9-8) and force the second coin flip tiebreaker.

The winner of that coin flip between Northville and Canton would journey to Farmington, while the loser would visit the loser of the coin toss between Plymouth Salem (12-1, 15-2) and Livonia Stevenson (12-1, 15-2). The winner of the Salem-Stevenson flip would host Farmington Harrison.

Simply stating a confusing situation, if Northville won Tuesday evening, the Mustangs play Farmington, a matchup head coach Tim Lutes covets.

"We are playing our best basketball. The season is right now," Lutes said yesterday. "We are once again in control of our own destiny against Harrison. I would love to win and go to Farmington in the first round instead of having to play Salem or Stevenson. That would be tough, especially with our record on the road."

Northville is a very respectable 7-1 at home this season, but just 1-7 on foreign hardwood.

Ironically, one of the few predetermined aspects of this season's tournament are the odds against the Mustangs playing another home game. To qualify for that luxury, Northville will have to win its first round game and have a better record than its second round competition. Unfortunately, that will probably be Salem or Stevenson, barring an upset.

Detroit Lions 'Silver Rush' basketball invades N'ville

The Detroit Lions' "Silver Rush" basketball team will invade Northville High School Saturday, February 26, for a showdown against a faculty and administration "all-star" team.

Northville's Athletic Booster Club will sponsor the 8 p.m. event for which tickets can be purchased at Schrader's Home Furnishings, 111 North Center. Advance tickets can be purchased at $3 for adults and $2 for children under 18 years of age.

Tickets will be available at the door, but will cost an additional 50 cents per person.

Balancing act

Diane Hale has the necessary balance for her beam routine February 16 at Hartland. Hale has qualified for state regional competition March 11-12 in Coldwater along with four teammates. Against Hartland, Hale took a fourth on the uneven bars.

Northville gymnasts lose first

All good things must come to an end. Sad logic, but true in the case of Northville's previously undefeated gymnastics team that found itself on the short end of a 121.15-117.1 dual meet tally to Hartland.

Northville had won eight straight meets prior to the February 16 trip to Hartland, and members had visions of an unblemished season dancing in their heads.

Hartland, undefeated leaders of the Kensington Valley Conference, gave the Mustangs nothing but headaches despite an outstanding one woman show by Northville's Kathy Heitert.

Heitert, as she has all season, dominated the meet and won all four individual events and the all-around title with an impressive 33.45.

Hartland's balance paid dividends as only two Mustangs besides Heitert placed in the meet.

Amy Aaron took a third in vaulting (7.8) and Diane Hale claimed fourth in the uneven bars (7.05), as Northville slipped behind after the vaulting exercise and couldn't catch the powerful Eagles.

In the floor exercise, Heitert claimed her highest individual score of the meet with an 8.65. The outstanding Mustang junior also hit winning scores in the vault (8.4), uneven bars (8.3) and balance beam (8.15).

"We had a lot of problems tonight," said Mustang coach Debby Heck after the meet. "It was a troubled night with some girls out with the flu, but even though we lost, we did really well to get our last team qualifying score for the state tournament. So overall, I'd say we did what we set out to do."

For the record, Marianne Rothermel and Julie Cass were bitten by the flu bug, but, despite those casualties, Northville will now send five gymnasts (Heitert, Aaron, Hale, Tish Johnson and Wendy Wobermin) to the March 11-12 regional tournament in Coldwater.

"Our next two meets will be used mainly as preparation for the five gymnasts who qualified for the regionals," said Heck. "North Farmington (tonight) is tough. They are a very good team and were state champions two years ago. At least we will have a chance to compete on the same equipment as the (Western Lakes Activities Association) league championships are on.

North Farmington will host the WLAA championship meet Wednesday, March 2. It will be an afternoon affair.

Prior to that, Northville will face Farmington Harrison Friday in the final home meet of the year.

Top of the Key

There was quite a bit of bouncing around last week behind leader Chris King, who remains the number one scorer in the Sliger-Livingston Publications' East Area.

Positions two through five in the Top of the Key were shuffled, with Millford's Scott Goodpaster, a 6-0 forward, breaking out of a third-place tie to take second temporarily, after scoring 38 points in two games.

1. CHRIS KING, Novi, senior (16 games, 291 points) average 18.2.
2. SCOTT GOODPASTER, Millford, senior (16 games, 266 points) average 16.6.
3. HANK LINTON, South Lyon, senior (16 games, 258 points) average 16.1.
4. MIKE CARANO, South Lyon, senior (16 games, 257 points) average 16.1.
5. JIM ST. JOHN, Lakeland, senior (16 games, 246 points) average 15.4.
6. DEAN TERPSTRA, Walled Lake Central, senior (17 games, 240 points) 14.1.
7. BRENT DINAN, Novi, junior (16 games, 214 points) average 13.4.
8. MIKE LOGAN, South Lyon, senior (17 games, 202 points) average 11.9.
9. STEVE SCHRADER, Northville, junior (16 games, 188 points) average 11.8.
10. RICK GORDON, Millford, senior (14 games, 147 points) average 10.5.

Mustang swimmers dunk Novi

Every athletic team needs a breather once in awhile, but Northville's swimming team may have absorbed too much of the easy life in its 79-48 conquest of Novi February 15.

Plymouth Canton took advantage of a less than par Mustang performance two days later and escaped with a 72-55 victory.

Northville is now 5-6 overall and 2-4 in the Western Lakes Activities Association heading into tomorrow's meet at Livonia Stevenson.

Yesterday the Mustangs swam against rated Class B powerhouse Inkster Cherry Hill. Seniors Mickey Nader, Chris Behlen, Jon Burchard and Tim Walker were honored for their Mustang pool days.

Northville's relay teams paced the triumph over crosstown rival Novi in a meet Mustang coach

Pete Talbot designated to give his normal workhorses a rest.

Walker led off the 200-yard individual medley relay team of Nader, John Gass and Dave Wayne that won in 2:01.58 to open the meet.

Burchard, Ron Johnston, Jeff Bainbridge and Adam Swallow combined for a 3:45.33 triumph in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

In between relays, Johnston (200-yard freestyle), Burchard (50-yard freestyle), Jeff Pawlowski (diving), Swallow (500-yard freestyle), Walker (100-yard backstroke) and Behlen (100-yard breaststroke) all won individual races.

Mustang winners were scarce against Canton, with diver Jeff Metz taking his event on a personal high 183.40 and Doug Buell grabbing top honors in the 100-yard butterfly (59.8).

N'ville spikers 3-5 in tourney

Wayne Memorial, Michigan's top rated Class A volleyball team, gained another admirer Saturday at the Schoolcraft Invitational as it powered past Northville, 15-1 and 15-3.

"They are just a good team," said Mustang coach Steve McDopald, offering no excuses. "They deserve to be right where they are. Wayne is by far the best team we have played this season. It was a good learning experience for the girls."

Northville's tournament wasn't all for naught, however. The Mustangs split with three other teams in their five-team pool and finished a hard day's work with a 3-5 record.

In opening round action, Ida gained a split with a 15-9 second game score after the Mustangs had won the initial game by an identical score.

Northville also drew with Hazel Park, 3-15, 15-9, and Redford Union, 15-8, 3-15, to finish in a third place tie within the pool.

Earlier in the week, Northville had lost a key Western Lakes Activities Association battle with Walled Lake Western, 15-3, 13-15 and 9-15. With that loss, the Mustangs dropped to 3-3 in the WLAA (third in the Western Division) and 4-6 overall in the league. Northville is 5-8 in all games.

Oak Park provided the Mustangs with their fourth victory of the season February 16, falling victim to a strong Northville attack, 15-5 and 15-10.

A quartet of seldom-used players gave McDonald a moment of pleasure as Northville cleaned up on visiting Oak Park. Heather Davis, Christina Sjoberg, Connie Fogel and Maria Schroder delighted their coach with inspired play.

Against Western, McDonald's veterans gave good accounts of themselves, led by Judy Morgan's outstanding all-around performance. Tracey Wilkinson (11 good hits, eight of nine serves), Kris Feit (20-20 serves, four aces, 16 of 13 hits) and Kim Petit (eight of nine hits, seven of eight serves) and Cheryl Berryman (10-11 serves) were given special mention by their coach.

Northville began a busy week last Monday by hosting "rapidly improving" Walled Lake Central. Western Division leader Livonia Churchill will challenge the Mustangs tonight at 7 p.m.

February 28, Northville will close out its WLAA season with a match at Farmington Harrison and finish the regular season at home March 2 against Southfield.

Livonia Churchill ambushed, 43-40

score. It didn't bother me, and I know it didn't bother the kids. We felt we were still in the game."

How perceptively correct Lutes appeared when his Mustangs, behind Mike Weber's six-point fourth quarter, rallied for the victory.

Weber's three-point play with just under two minutes remaining knotted the game at 37-37. Twenty seconds later, the 6-foot-3 junior forward canned another field goal to put Northville on top for good.

Ironically, Weber's fourth period output was his entire point total for the evening. Steve Schrader led Northville in scoring with 12 points, followed by a career high 11 from point guard Dave Longridge.

"I think it's time it happened," Lutes said enthusiastically over the play of Longridge. "Dave is a good kid and after a whole season of varsity experience, he seems to finally be coming into his own. But I think that is true of the entire team. We are a junior-laden club, and it has taken us almost the whole season to jell. I think we are just starting to play our game."

Dave Riley led Churchill with 16 points, but 6-foot-6 skyscraper John Merner was held to 14 points before joining two teammates on the Livonia bench with five fouls.

Farmington Harrison closed out the Mustangs' regular season last night and Northville may not get another chance to view its team at home this season.

The only possibility of the Mustangs returning home would arise if Harrison could defeat either Livonia Stevenson or Plymouth Salem in the first round of the playoffs.
