Large number appeal to boards of review

Syd Harral, Clerk Susan Heintz, Supervisor John MacDonald, Thelma Houchins, Rae Campbell mail reassessment notices late Thursday

Township reassessment prompts some protests

Faced with an influx of requests for board of review appointments in the wake of notices of reassessment changes, Northville Township Monday expanded its schedule of meeting dates and extended hours of sessions already scheduled.

Residents began calling, the township office explained, as soon as they received adjusted assessment notices in the mail Friday or Saturday.

The notices were sent to residents whose assessments were either decreased or increased as a result of last year's reassessment in the township, clerk Susan Heintz said. Residents who do not receive a notice can assume, she added, that their assessment has stayed the same.

However, she noted, if a resident has moved, he may not have received his notice. Anyone wishing to check his assessment should call the township office, she suggested.

Township officials worked late Thursday mailing out the notices. When the assessment changes arrived from the Wayne County Assessor's Office last Wednesday, Heintz explained, it was noticed that there obviously were computer errors.

Arnold Roberts of the assessor's office inspected the notices Thursday morning, took them back to the Wayne

City adds fourth date to make appointments

Demand for appointments before the city board of review has prompted addition of a fourth date of property valuation assessment hearings March 17.

The board hears appeals of property assessments by appointment only. The March 17 date is in addition to previously scheduled sessions March 15, 22 and 24.

Donna Kohs, of the city controller's office, said Tuesday the March 15 schedule is virtually full unless hours are extended.

Interest in appealing assessments is strong from Lexington Condos, Kohs said, where notices of substantial assessment increases were delivered last week.

Assessment notices went only to those city property owners whose property valuations have been increased, she said, contrary to a news story that said all property owners would receive them.

No notices were sent where valuations have decreased, she said, though there were substantial decreases in Lexington North on both sides of Taft. "Some of those people are still making appointments to appeal, because they think the reduction has not gone far enough," Kohs said.

There have also been many requests for appointments from Wayne County

City to borrow $600,000 from next year's revenues

Borrowing of up to $600,000 from next year's city tax revenues to fund current year operations was approved by city council Monday night.

Sale of tax anticipation notes in that amount was approved after council heard a bleak report from city manager Steve Walters detailing the city's current financial difficulties.

Presenting a "worst case" projection of the city's budget status at the end of the current fiscal year June 30, Walters said the city could find itself nearly another $250,000 into the red this year.

The borrowing from next year's tax receipts must first be approved by the state's Municipal Finance Commission, which must approve issuance of the tax anticipation notes, first determining that borrowing is justified.

Walters said it would take four-to-six weeks to obtain MFC approval. Then the notes must be put up for bids. The winning bid will determine the interest rate on the notes, and therefore the ultimate cost of the borrowing.

Receipts from the note sale will be used to pay expenses in the current (1982-83) fiscal year ending June 30.

Similar notes were issued last year exceeding $340,000. Walters said he had anticipated borrowing of $500,000 this year, but increased the amount only Monday after learning of likely further delays in state shared revenue payments.

Repayment of the notes will be made from 1983-84 property tax receipts due in September.

When the 1982-83 budget was drafted, the city had hoped to reduce the $483,000 deficit left from 1981-82. While city expenditures likely will not exceed budget by more than a percentage point or two, Walters' report shows, revenues (primarily state shared revenues and racetrack taxes) will fall far short of the budgeted figures.

"I'm still skeptical we can keep the deficit even at last year's level," Walters told council.

The "worst case" he presented an-

Heads of the class

Northville High School's commencement ceremony could run a little longer this year in light of the number of students addressing the Class of '83. This year, an unprecedented 10 students have been named valedictorians — earning perfect 4.0 grade point averages for five semesters of their high school careers. The last semester is not calculated in the class ranking. According to principal George Aune, "this is a first for Northville High School."

School board gives Bell top rating

By MICHELE McELMURRY

In his first evaluation since taking the helm of the district eight months ago, School Superintendent George Bell earned an "outstanding" rating by the Northville Board of Education in all but two areas of school district management.

The board conducted Bell's evaluation Monday evening. The board traditionally evaluates the superintendent's performance prior to negotiating the administrator's contract for the coming year.

Evaluation ratings ranged from unsatisfactory to outstanding. Prior to discussing the specifics of each category on the evaluation, the board established "satisfactory" as average performance. However, board members agreed they were looking for a "more than average" performance from the district's top administrator.

The evaluation was divided into three categories: performance as chief executive of the board, performance as superintendent of schools and achievement of 1982-83 goals.

In his performance as chief executive of the board, the board concurred that Bell had fulfilled all seven requirements. Of the seven criteria for rating his performance as chief executive, the board felt some of Bell's strong suits were his recommendation of new policies to the board and his support of board of education policy and action to the public and staff.

In Bell's recommendation of new policies, board president Douglas Whitaker noted the superintendent's "concern for inventory control policy" and his formal engagement of Plante and Moran as the school district's auditors.

Board vice president Karen Wilkinson said she felt the "citizens' committees as well as the financial situations were handled quickly and well."

Regarding his support of the board's policies and actions, trustee Gerald Munro said he felt Bell "was in touch and in tune" with the school district.

Whitaker echoed Munro's remarks, while noting the superintendent "lets staff know when they have not done what is needed."

Board members also noted their satisfaction with Bell's ability to keep the board informed of his activities and decisions.

"I have always known when he's going to be out of the district, and he has kept me informed of confidential matters," Whitaker noted. "I also think he's (Bell) shown good judgment in passing up national conventions this year to stay in the district," he added.

Wilkinson, however, said she was concerned that the board may be asking too much of its superintendent.

"We've asked George to be in a lot of places," she noted.

However, Bell said he did not feel pressured by the board.

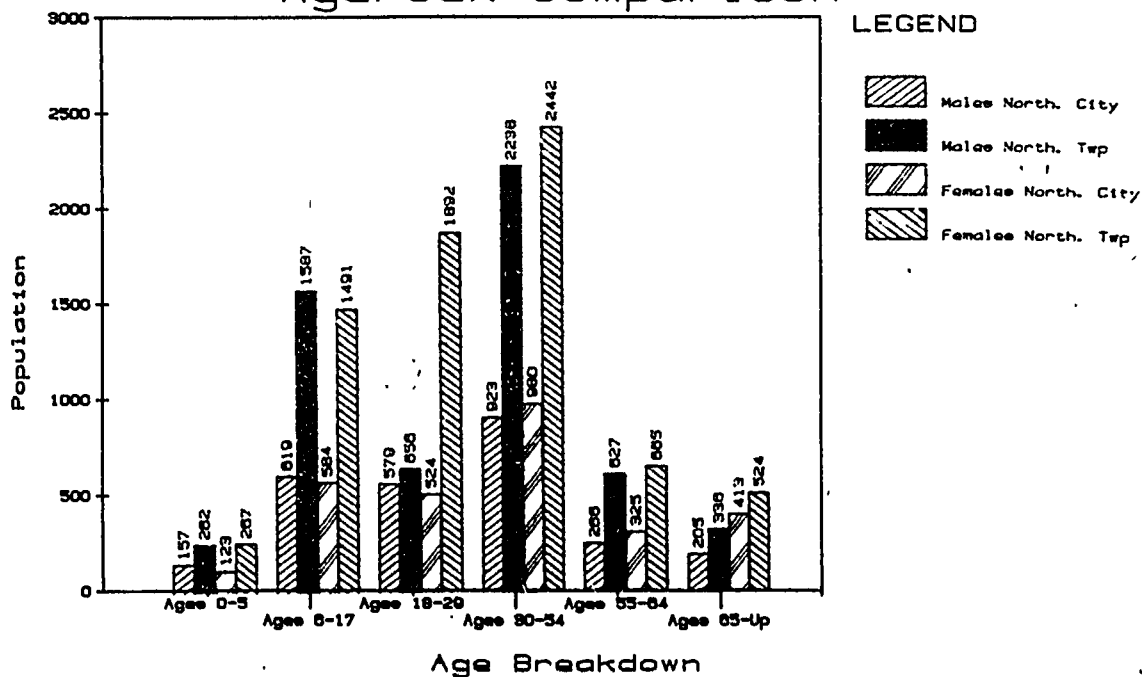

"I put pressure on myself," he said. "As a new superintendent I have been trying to have a lot of exposure to different groups."

"I feel the community has to trust me," he explained. "I'm exerting the pressure on myself."

Board members concurred that some improvement could be made in the amount of data and information provided to the board in its decision making process.

Moraine robotics

Gifted third graders at Moraine Elementary School have been up to their ears in robotics for the past few weeks. The students have been exploring robotics at the school's resource center by designing, planning and producing robot models to perform specific tasks. In addition to building their own robots, students also planned a display for parents and friends which included creative stories, posters, mobiles, filmstrips and tapes. The highlight of their studies was a "Robotics Evening" held February 28 for families and friends. Special guest for the evening was Hero I, a teaching robot developed by Heathkit and Zenith Corporation. Hero I and its master, Andrei Ealovega, demonstrated the robot's functions to students and guests. Pictured with their robots are front row from left Matt Rossing, Sean Kolassa, Wendy Carroll and Tim Duff. Back row from left are Beth Morelli, Dorothy Nelder, Drew Erickson and Kevin Worth. # Sewer renovation not cost effective, says consultant

Stating that it would not be cost effective at this time to repair the single area with excess infiltration or the two places with excessive inflow in the township's sewer system, representatives of Finkbeiner, Pettis and Strout, Limited, of Toledo, recommended to township officials last week that no improvements be made at this time.

Project engineer Richard Engle and assistant project engineer Dennis Kachmarsky conducted the public hearing March 2 at Northville Township Hall at the conclusion of their firm's facilities plan preparation for the township.

The study included non-sewered areas. The problems of Park Gardens Subdivision with the recommendation of a gravity sanitary sewer system to eliminate the present pollution problem and the potential health hazard are included in the report.

It was noted that the three-step process to do so is in progress, although Kachmarsky said no outside funding is available in connection with the report.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency required the township have a facilities plan as part of the Michigan Facilities Plan, initiated in late 1979.

The engineers pointed out that presently, the Wayne County Interceptor cannot handle the flow it receives, primarily due to excess flow in the form of infiltration/ inflow entering the Wayne County system.

As part of the facilities plan for the township, the evaluation was made that it is in the best interests of the township not to rehabilitate portions of the sewer system at this time.

Kachmarsky reported that only one of nine mini-systems had excess infiltration. This is the system in the Curtis Road area. Engle said it would be no real problem to repair but that the township would not get any credits for doing so from the county.

Water and sewer superintendent Walter Hollnety agreed it could be done within 24-48 hours if future grant monies could be so used.

Engle noted it could create a burden for residents if it were repaired now.

Excess inflow spots were pinpointed as part of King's Mill Cooperative and Seven Mile near the hospital. Repairs there also would not change county charges to the township, the township trustees were told.

The complete facilities plan now is on file at township hall and available for inspection, it was announced.

Lesa Buckland elected to chair commission

Lesa Buckland was reelected unanimously chairperson of the Northville City Planning Commission during the March 1 meeting at city hall.

Luke Durst was renamed vice chairman and Stewart Kissinger, secretary, for one-year terms on the nine-member commission.

Paul Johnson, 335 North Center, was given final approval by the commission to convert the upper floor of that unit into a residential living area for use by a relative.

Problems arose in Johnson's previous attempts to have his change of use plan approved when it was discovered by commission consultant Ronald Nino that there was an insufficient number of parking spaces.

Prior site plan for the property, originated in 1973, had been approved with an 11-space allotment. Under current parking ordinances, 14 spaces are required, according to Nino, while Johnson's property can only hold 12.

Discussion followed on an old tree that had been removed, therefore allowing a possible 13 parking spaces, according to Johnson.

The commission unanimously approved Johnson's addition with a 12 parking space minimum and a stipulation that he would cover an outside stairwell if deemed necessary by zoning board of appeals. Also, special measures will be taken to assure the future health of Johnson's remaining tree.

Several zoning text amendment changes were discussed and motioned for approval and will be sent on to city council for final adoption.

A substitution was proposed for Article 6, Site Development Plan Review Provisions of the Zoning Ordinance. The commission's new Article 6, concerning Site Development Plan Procedural and Approval Processes, is summed up by a general Statement of Purpose appearing under Section 6.01 of the proposed Article 6:

"The purpose of this section is to establish procedures for approval authorities and standards for the review and approval of site development plan applications as herein prescribed. This section is further intended to improve the environmental quality of developments in the City of Northville, to minimize the possibility that a particular development may have an adverse effect upon adjacent property, and further to ensure proper relationships between the development features as they relate to: traffic safety, service roads, driveways, parking areas, accessory buildings and uses, and open spaces. To these ends, the planning commission is hereby empowered by the city council and is given authority to establish procedures, standards and administrative rules whereby applicants are required to submit for approval a site development plan to the satisfaction of the planning commission, subject to the provisions herein, prior to the issuance of a building permit."

Basically, applications that were previously submitted to the commission with incomplete or outdated material will have to become substantially more complete before commission consideration and possible approval.

Additionally, the commission discussed the time consuming minor site development plans, such as those of Paul Johnson or James Rea, that have recently come before the commission; they would become inconsequential under an amended Article 6.

Rea had submitted a site landscaping and architectural plan for an addition to his building at 135 North Center that included requests for rear yard and floor-area ratio variances.

Commission consultant Nino recommended approval of the site plan conditionally on Rea's purchase of two additional parking spaces from city council and granting of approval of the variances from the zoning board of appeals. Rea obtained these variance approvals, and the commission unanimously voted that construction could begin.

The second revision of an article that was discussed and approved by a commission vote to be forwarded to city council for final adoption was Section 5.11, re: Plant Materials Prohibited and Landscape Specifications.

Under the revision, the following shrubs and trees may not be planted in the City of Northville: Box Elder, Horse Chestnut, Soft Maple, Poplars, Willows, Catalpa and Tree of Heaven.

Certain plant materials are deemed harmful to Northville's environment for various reasons, including appearance, amount of leaf pollution (in the case of Willow) and amount of cleanup and maintenance necessary to insure proper survival. The plan was basically an update on the previously adopted Section 5.11.

Both proposed substitutions were approved unanimously and forwarded to city council for further scrutiny.

The next meeting of the planning commission will be March 15 at City Hall.

The Hope Of Glory

Dr. James Luther

The Book of Genesis begins with "In the beginning God..." It ends with "...a coffin in Egypt." What a contrast! This is a clear reminder of the destructive power of sin. In the beginning, God had created a beautiful world, a lovely garden; and He made man in His image to enjoy that creation. Yet, sin entered a picture and death by sin. So, appropriately the book of beginnings closes with a sober tribute to the power of sin over human flesh, "for in Adam all die" (I Cor. 15:22).

But the coffin in Egypt is also a reminder of happier things as well. It speaks of faith. You see, Joseph believed that God would fulfill His promise to return Israel to her land. So, he gave orders for his embalmed body to be placed in a coffin to be ready for the return trip to the land of promise.

For 300 years it rested in Egypt, but the day came when Israel began the long march to the land of Abraham. The carved coffin did not remain in Egypt, for God's promise was fulfilled.

Our departed loved ones, who rest in Christ, will not remain in the grave. One day, just as promised, Jesus will return for His own. That is what Easter, spring, and the gospel story are all about. Are you one of Christ's own? Do you have "the Hope of Glory?" (Colossians 3:1-4).

Pension insurer retained, funds sent to new account

Northville Township Board of Trustees at a special meeting February 26, called to discuss employee pension provisions, voted to stay with the present insurer, Burnham and Flowers, but to change its funds into the Allocated Retirement Account of Manulife.

Business manager David Leiko reported he and township consultant Richard Ambler had studied plans and recommended the change to this type of account, which was not available when the pension plan was established.

He said service charges would be four to five percent less than at present and the account would earn an average of one percent more than at present.

Landfill neighbors charge improper excavation done

Is the large hole Holloway Sand and Gravel Company is digging near the rear of its landfill operation in Salem Township legal or not?

That question is being researched by township attorney, Margaret Austin, who promised township officials and interested residents February 28 to have an answer for them within 10 days.

Present at that February 28 meeting at the Salem Township offices were Salem Township Supervisor Floyd Taylor, Township Board Member Ferman Rohraff and Chief Inspector Fred Verran. Requesting the meeting were James Fulkerson, Karl Gierman, Edith Luedtke and Meroe Kaericher of the Salem Citizens Committee. They were represented by their attorney, Jacob Fahrner. Representing the Holloway Company were engineer Jim Everett and attorney James Brennan.

Austin identified the questions to be answered as:

- Whether a permit for the soil removal is required under the township ordinance?
- If so, does a permit exist?
- If no permit exists or if the existing permit is insufficient, what legal action should be taken by the township?

The citizens committee, formed to fight Holloway's proposed expansion of its landfill operation at Six Mile and Napier, requested the meeting after they had met with Taylor, Verran and Donald Riddering, chairperson of the township planning commission, on February 26. That group made a field inspection trip of the area in question on that date at the citizens' request.

Fulkerson and Gierman estimate the hole being excavated by Holloway at approximately 1,400 feet by 540 feet. They maintain the depth to be about 20 feet and have calculated that about 200 cubic yards of earth have been removed. The hole is located in an area west and south to the current Holloway landfill.

The residents maintain that according to the township ordinance, the Holloway Company would need a permit from the township to mine the area and that the township records show no such permit. The clay being taken from the hole is being used by Holloway as cover for each day's trash fill. A six-inch covering each night is required, according to Taylor.

During the February 28 meeting, the township's permit file for Holloway, the plat maps and certain site plans materials were reviewed. Since some maps were not included in the file, the township clerk has been charged with searching the files for the complete site plan submitted in connection with the landfill submittal several years ago.

Fulkerson, who said he brought the current mining question to Verran's attention as early as last June, believes that Holloway's original permit does not include the present excavation.

Brennan, however, said that the original submittal by Holloway to the township included this property as providing cover for the landfill. "It (the meeting) was pure bunk," Brennan said Friday. "It was an insult to Holloway and to the township. I was not impressed with the comments or the attitudes (of the citizens)."

"They are wrong that we were violating the ordinance. This particular tract was part of the original submittal. I believe the part of the ordinance (citizens refer to) purports to govern the removal of resources for commercial purposes (to sell it)."

The citizens group insists that no permit was issued by the township to allow the mining operation and that there is no record in the township files. They stated that there is no restoration plan for this acreage and that it is being mined illegally.

Fulkerson and Gierman stated that the citizens' concerns are that the operation is in violation of the township ordinances and causes devaluation of residences and properties on Chubb water table in the area. They also said they are concerned about what the mining will do to the

Wind quintet appearing at Schoolcraft March 20

Schoolcraft College will present the Pastiche Wind Quintet in a cabaret concert at 4 p.m. March 20 at the Livonia West Holiday Inn.

Meet Connie Bird

Director plans to expand senior citizen council role

Expansion and innovation will be the aim of new Northville senior citizen coordinator Connie Bird.

"I want to coordinate the existing programs, make them better and reach more senior citizens," Bird said. "We think there are a lot of people out there who could benefit from our services."

Bird has been the coordinator of the Northville Area Senior Citizen Advisory Council since October. The Council is made up of 16 representatives from area senior citizens' clubs and groups and is funded by the city and township.

The Council is located in the Board of Education building, 501 West Main, Room 204, the telephone number is 349-4140. Hours are 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The next scheduled meeting is at 10 a.m. this Friday. It is open to the public.

The Advisory Council sponsors and coordinates service programs, acts as a drop-in center and as an information and referral service for area citizens.

Before Bird took on the coordinator's position, she was a field consultant for an area agency on aging in Illinois, and headed a multi-purpose center on aging.

Bird said the lack of awareness is the biggest problem of the program. "We provide so many programs and services that would benefit people, but most seniors are not aware of what we offer."

"We have transportation for seniors to the grocery store, the bank or the drugstore. We bus once a month to an area mall, we go to travels to Tiger Day. Plymouth and we bus to Tiger Day.

"We have in-home services that we perform, such as chore services, where we do things around the house, we have personal care services and a homemakers' service, where we do things like laundry. We have a telecare service that is a daily phone call to the senior," she said.

The fiscal year for the Council begins in April, and Bird said a variety of new programs will go into effect at that time.

"We want to start a discount directory listing this year. That will list all the area stores that give discounts to seniors. The information and referral service will be expanded to include follow-ups too."

Bird is planning on introducing a monthly and an annual newsletter that will list programs and services.

She thinks the new separate budget for the program and the consolidation of programs and services will improve the capabilities of the council.

"We were under the recreation department and at that time things were just going along without any real coordination. Now, we're building up a response, but our biggest problem is communication. We really hope to get more seniors involved, to reach out to them.

"Our purpose is not solely to be a social organization. We are more interested in providing services. We think there are more people out there who need that," Bird said.

"Northville doesn't have a big senior program, but I know that there are needy seniors out there, and we could help."

Police Blotters

Burglars, would-be car thieves active in township

In the Township...

Burglars removed items valued at nearly $100,000 total from a Ladywood Court residence sometime between February 23 and 28, township police report.

Police have recovered a safe stolen in the burglary which contained papers valued at over $70,000. The papers were recovered, but other valuables in the safe were missing, as were the other items taken, including a family car.

According to police investigating the burglary, the owner was vacationing in Florida and a neighbor was watching the home in his absence. The neighbor noted everything was in order February 23, but the house had been ransacked when next examined February 28.

Police found evidence entry to the home was made through a basement window, which had been broken and pried open, apparently with a screwdriver.

There was evidence the culprit(s) had entered every room, rummaging through drawers and spreading belongings on the floors and furniture, according to police reports of the incident.

Stolen, in addition to the items in the fireproof safe, were a $2,000 1976 Chevrolet Malibu; five firearms (including rifles, shotguns and one handgun) valued at a total $1,550; a $300 microwave oven; and two 14-inch portable color televisions valued at $350 each.

The safe itself was valued at $150 and antique jewelry it contained at $2,500 to $3,000. Police are withholding further information while their investigation continues.

A burglary at Innsbrook 2 the weekend of February 27 to March 1 resulted in the theft of items valued at more than $3,400.

The owner told police he left the apartment at 8 p.m. February 27 with the doors locked. Upon his return March 1 at 6 p.m., he said, he found the door broken open and the interior ransacked.

The front door of the residence apparently was forced open, the police report states. Stereo component equipment (Kenwood receiver, Hiatchi turntable, Sharp tape deck and Sansul speakers) valued at $624 was stolen. Also stolen was a $430 19-inch color television, $800 video recorder, $200 Italian chess, Waterford crystal decanters and stemware together valued at $256, a $200 Oriental tablecloth, two $200 lamps, a $200 mantel clock, a $150 tool box and a $150 12-gauge double-barrel shotgun.

Camera equipment and other items valued at more than $1,000 were stolen in a March 4 burglary at a Haggerty Road residence, police reports indicate.

The owner told police he left the home at 9:15 a.m. and returned at noon to discover the door had been forced open and the house ransacked.

Missing were a $40 camera bag containing a $400 Canon AE-1 Program camera with f/1.4 lens, a $325 Tokina zoom lens, a $127 Tokina wide angle lens, $50 worth of lens filters, and a $40 flash unit. Also missing was a $50 jewelry box containing $25 worth of costume jewelry and six uncirculated silver dollars.

The jewelry box was later recovered when a Plymouth man found it in a trash can.

Thieves tried, tried and tried again to steal cars in the township between February 27 and March 2, but failed in all three attempts, according to police reports.

The first report of attempted auto theft was at Northville Forest Apartments, where the owner of a 1969 Plymouth Satellite four-door told police he parked his car February 27 at 8 a.m. only to return to it March 2 at noon to discover a rear door had been forced open and the ignition removed. The ignition switch was left on the driver's seat.

A Winchester resident attempting to enter a family car parked on the street at 4:35 a.m. March 2 noticed the interior light flicker on and off, then noticed a man in the driver's seat leaning toward the glovebox side of the car. The would-be thief kicked open the driver's door of the 1976 Oldsmobile Cutlass and fled on foot, leaving a hat with "Jack Daniel's" lettering on the vehicle floor. The vehicle's ignition had been damaged with some sort of tool.

Back at Northville Forest, the owner of a 1978 Chevrolet four-door told police the car had been entered sometime between 2 p.m. March 1 and 9:45 a.m. March 2. The car door had been unlocked with an unknown tool that had been forced between the door window and weatherstrip, the police report stated, and the ignition damaged.

At least two residents of the Northville Forest complex told police, after the fact, that they had heard an automobile horn sounding at regular intervals (in the manner of some anti-theft alarm systems) late March 1 or early March 2, but no reports of suspicious activity had been filed with the police department.

Damage to the three cars ranged from $5 to $300.

Two township drivers were injured in a two-car collision at Seven Mile and Silver Springs the afternoon of February 26.

Gene C. Bailey, 52, of Silver Springs suffered a cut on top of his head and was taken to Providence Hospital via Novi Ambulance.

The other driver, John P. Grotteau, 38, of Bloomcrest, was "shaken" according to the police report but refused medical treatment when offered.

According to the police report of the incident, Grotteau was driving his Buick Skyhawk westbound on Seven Mile entering the intersection at Silver Springs when Bailey, eastbound on Seven Mile in a Honda Accord, attempted a left turn onto Silver Spring in the path of the Buick.

Force of the impact drove the Honda sideways, over a curb and spun it such that it stopped facing westbound in the right hand lane against the curb. Damage was to the right front quarter of the Honda and left front quarter of the Buick.

Bailey was issued a citation for failure to yield to oncoming traffic.

... In the City

A $5,000 motorcycle was reported stolen from its Main Street parking site Sunday, city police report.

The Detroit resident owner of the 1981 Harley-Davidson said he parked it at 6 p.m. on Main between the M.A.G.S. building and the Winner's Circle bar, passing a chain through the front wheel and around a three-foot tall post to lock the bike in place.

The "full dress Harley" was gone when he returned at 8:15 p.m., police reported.

Nearly $4,000 worth of personal goods was stolen and another $1,000 damage done at a First Street residence February 9, it was reported March 2. The owner of the burglarized residence told police he waited until he had compiled a complete list of missing items before filing the report.

The 81-year-old owner of the home and one of his tenants left it at 9 a.m. February 9, the police report indicates, and found it ransacked on their return at 3 p.m.

Much of the property stolen belonged to the tenant, the report shows. Also lost was $1,000 worth of meat stored in a freezer which was unplugged during the burglary.

Missing were women's clothes totaling $414 value (cowgirl boots, shoes, sandals, slacks, newly purchased undergarments), $310 worth of men's clothes (a suit, 12 shirts, shoes), a $520 19-inch color television, a $500 stereo-eight track cassette unit, a $599 microwave oven (new in the box), $950 of assorted household goods, another $300 worth of household goods belonging to the other party, and assorted other items.

All told, value of the stolen goods was placed at $3,874.

The owner and his tenant both said they had locked the doors upon leaving, yet there was no sign of forcible entry, leading police to suspect the culprit had had access to a key at one time. The doors were unlocked when the pair returned to the home.

Motorcycle gear valued at more than $400 was stolen from its place in a rack on the cycle March 1, city police reported.

The owner told police he parked the Honda CL750 at Phil's 76 station at 1:30 p.m. and, when he returned at 4:30 p.m., found the $350 leather jacket and $70 leather gloves were no longer strapped into the rack.

Police will check homes on request of absent owner

A rash of breaking-and-entering complaints has prompted township police chief Kenneth Hardesty to remind citizens that the department will make routine checks on vacant homes if notified by the owners.

Hardesty noted at least one instance in which routine police checks of a home while the owners were away might have reduced or eliminated thefts at the dwelling.

"We've had five B & Es in the past week or so — often when people were away on vacation or left for the weekend," the chief said. "If they'd call us before they go and tell us when the house will be empty, we can make routine checks while they're gone.

"That doesn't mean, necessarily, they won't get robbed — we can't be there all the time. But if there is a break-in, we'd know sooner and could start working on it," he added. "In one case, I think (burglars) went back a couple of times — if we'd known the house was empty we might have prevented that."

While having a neighbor keep an eye on the house is also a good idea, Hardesty said, neighbors have other demands on their time and cannot check the home as frequently as the round-the-clock police service can.

County office and delivered new notices about 5 p.m.

Those were addressed that evening and mailed by midnight, Heintz reported.

About 3,000 were mailed, mostly to subdivisions where the reassessments largely took place. There were some land reassessments in non-subdivision areas, however, Heintz said. Township supervisor John MacDonald, clerk Heintz and other staff members worked after hours to make the mail deadline.

Heintz said she had expected the reassessments to contain reductions, but residents calling for appointments indicated there have been increases.

Increased areas, township officials noted, include Park Gardens, which received a 20 percent blanket reduction last year. Others are Northville Colony III and IV.

Only eight or 10 residents who had made appointments to appear before the board of review before receiving reassessment notices called to cancel, it was reported.

The revised Northville Township Board of Review schedule, in which the first session was held Tuesday, extended hours today to 8:50 p.m.

March 10 hours are 6 to 8:50 p.m.; March 11, 5:50 to 8:50 p.m.; March 12, 9 a.m. to noon, all are additions to the schedule Monday.

March 14 hours are 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. with an evening scheduled to be added if needed.

March 15 hours have been extended from 2 to 8:50 p.m.

March 16 from 6 to 8:50 p.m. also has been added.

"A lot of people have a legitimate right to come in if they are overassessed — that's the only way we know," said Heintz.

property owners, some of whom are still fighting increases imposed last year during a complete reassessment, Kohs said. When the board of review grants a valuation decrease, the reduction is only good for one year.

Despite the large number of appeals, overall property valuations have been reduced in both Wayne and Oakland Counties, Kohs said. Those property owners who have not received a notice of assessment change can assume reductions of between five and six percent in Oakland County and less than one percent in Wayne County.

The assessment reductions are reflected in a multiplier factor in both counties lower than last years. In Wayne, the new factor is expected to be 0.9938 (last year's factor was 1.0). The tentative multiplier in Oakland County is 1.0 — last year's was 1.06. Kohs noted the state could, as it did last year, increase the factor if it determines property has been undervalued.

Appointments for hearings before the board of review can be made by calling city hall at 349-1300, extension 216. Dates are March 15, 17, and 24 from 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 10 p.m. or March 22 from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Additional dates or hours may be added as demand warrants.

Bell rates 'outstanding' on school board evaluation

Whitaker said he felt material provided in the board's meeting packets was "sometimes a little light on back up."

Wilkinson said she felt more in-depth information could be provided in addressing the pros and cons of specific issues.

Another concern was that motions proposed on agenda items sometimes are incomplete. Trustee Glenna Davis said she felt "motions are not specific enough."

Bell earned highest praise in his performance as superintendent of schools. The board gave him the highest rating (outstanding) in five of the seven categories, while rating him "more than satisfactory" in the two remaining areas.

His best performances were cited in the areas of improvement of instructional program; student safety, health and well being; facility management and planning and community relations.

In the area of improvement in instructional programs, board treasurer Jean Hansen noted that the implementation of the six-hour day at the high school, the selection of high school department heads, the quality of work life program; the reinstitution of elementary instrumental music and the inservice day were a few of the "pluses in the district."

Davis said she liked that "the emphasis on Bell's long-range plan is based upon improvement of instructional program" — not just improvement of the high school structure.

Munro said he was impressed with Bell's "sincere interest in improving programs."

The board gave Bell an outstanding rating in the area of student safety, health and well being for his handling of last year's beating incident at the high school, the implementation of railings along the windows in the NHS corridors and improved discipline on school buses.

In his direction of facility management and planning, board members gave Bell kudos for several projects including the closing of Taft school, reorganization of the maintenance department and the implementation of the long range plan.

Trustee Munro also gave Bell credit for the improvement in staff attitudes.

Though the board gave Bell a "more than satisfactory" rating in the area of management of the district, board members had few criticisms of his performance in this area.

In fact, Hansen praised Bell for making "principals more responsible for things going on in the schools."

Johnson told Bell "the motivational approach seems to be working."

"You seem to know if the job is getting done or is not done," he said, noting that the business office is an good example of some of the improvements made in this area.

Last year, Bell recommended to the board the appointment of John Street as director of business and finance. Improvements made in the business office since Street's appointment will save the district from hiring a Supervisor of Accounting — which will mean a savings of more than $20,000.

Though the area of financial responsibility drew the most concerns from board members, the consensus rating in this area was "more than satisfactory."

Johnson told Bell he had "some feeling of uncomfortableness in this area."

"I'm concerned that the traditional source of revenue — the SEV and property taxes — is leveling off," he explained. "I'm concerned that we'll be dipping into the fund equity."

Johnson said he needed "a little more sensitivity" to what may occur in the coming year with regards to the budget.

Hansen echoed Johnson's remarks and said the board should start looking at possible cuts in next year's budget.

The board gave Bell its highest praise in the area of community relations. Citing his involvement with the community, his active participation in the Boosters and his sensitivity to the summer tax collection issue, trustee Munro said "this is the one area that really stands out."

Noting that improved community relations was among the district's 1982-83 goals, Wilkinson told the board "we can also rate ourselves because this is what we wanted."

In addition to the improvement in community relations, the board also gave Bell credit for his development of a long range plan for the district.

"I think this district is on an upbeat trend," Hansen noted in concluding the evaluation. "That can't be said for many other school districts."

City hope to reduce deficit destroyed by cuts

anticipated all state shared revenues due for the current year will be eliminated (except for that portion derived from the sales tax, which is mandated). Still due, he related, are income tax, single business tax and intangible tax shared revenues of $60,000. Governor James Blanchard has ordered a "hold" on those state payments to local governments.

Walters related that recent news had the state holding shared revenues "hostage for approval of the income tax increase" passed by the House last week and being considered in the Senate.

The budget analysis also anticipated a further cut of $125,400 from the parimutuel tax appropriation — that reduction atop the $350,000 already cut from the statutory amount due.

Noting that Northville Downs is having one of its best seasons on record (council member Paul Folino noted that last Saturday's handle was only the second in the track's history to exceed $800,000), Walters said it "will look ironic that the state will receive more from the track than it ever has, and give us less of it than it ever has."

The added cut in track revenues, he related, seems likely as the state reduces expenditures in the Department of Agriculture.

"There is evidence, in the questions they are asking us, that there are people up there (in Lansing) who don't know anything about the track revenues," Walters related.

Calls being received from the Senate Agriculture Committee and the from the Department of Agriculture itself, Walters said, show "widespread ignorance" about how the parimutuel tax program is supposed to work.

Questions raised, he said, included: "Does the track pay any property taxes? (no); and "Does the city provide any services to the track?" (many).

Walters said he was also asked to forward track reports for the past three fiscal years.

Avoidance of additional deficits in the current year depends upon full payment of the $550,000 track appropriation (already reduced from the $900,000 statutory amount), payment of all or $200,000, Walters said it "will look part of state shared revenues due, repayment to the public improvement fund of $204,000 loaned to other funds.

Our Opinions

E.A. Chapman leaves a gift

The Record learned of Erwin A. Chapman's death last Thursday from the president of Northville Historical Society, Fran Gazlay. It was natural that his fellow volunteers in the organization to which he made such great gifts of time and talent would be the first to know.

For the past 11 years "E.A.," as he was known to friends, had donated his services to the preservation of Northville's early history. He began scrapping paint, installing new flooring and wallpapering historic buildings moved to the Mill Race Historical Village with John Burkman and Don Sober at the age of 70 — a time when most retirees think it's time to quit such strenuous activity.

It was Mr. Chapman who built the model of the old library building on Wing Street, due to be demolished for construction of Northville Square, to help create interest in saving the building. It became the nucleus for the Mill Race Historical Village and now — renamed the New School Church for its original purpose — it is the meeting place for many organizations.

Because of Mr. Chapman and the other dedicated volunteers who regularly worked as many as three days a week on building projects, the Mill Race Historical Village exists today. We all are richer that Mr. Chapman and the others cared enough to make the Northville preservation one of the state's most outstanding.

Now is time to appeal tax

Taxpayers in the city and township who feel their property tax assessments are above actual market value should make appointments now to appear before their respective boards of review this month.

Anyone who recently purchased a home for less than the true market value placed on it by the assessor, not in a "duress" sale, or a resident aware that similar houses in a neighborhood are selling for less than his home's valuation can protest at the board of review hearings.

Because assessors sometimes make mistakes in recording structural features of a house, it is a good idea for property owners to check city or township records to see that building and lot dimensions are correct. One city resident, upon checking a year ago, discovered he was paying taxes on a garage he didn't own. He was credited with owning his neighbor's garage.

Taxpayers should first determine true cash value of their property and then compare that figure with the assessor's judgment of the valuation. The State Equalized Valuation is listed on all property tax statements or bills, and on notices of assessment increases. It is 50 percent of the assessor's judgment of a property's actual market value.

Any increases in assessed valuation were mailed to residents of both the city and township last week. Some already have been adjusted downward.

Both the city and township require that appointments be made to appear before the boards of review.

The first of four hearings scheduled in the township was held yesterday. The others are from 2 to 8:50 p.m. today; 6 to 8:50 p.m. Thursday; 5:50 to 8:50 p.m. Friday; 9 a.m. to noon, Saturday; 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. next Monday (with evening hours to be added if needed); 2 to 8:50 p.m. next Tuesday; and 6 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, March 16. Call the township clerk's office at 348-9000 to make an appointment. Township officials have promised to add still more hearings if there is a need.

City of Northville Board of Review hearings are set for 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 10 p.m. March 15, 17 and 24, and from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. March 22. Call 349-1300, extension 216, to make an appointment.

Residents who feel unfairly assessed must make their protests during these hearings — or miss the opportunity to reduce the amount of taxes paid for the entire year.

Anyone who feels the judgment from the local board of review is unsatisfactory has one further step to take. Appeal may be made to the Michigan Tax Tribunal, a body established through the Tax Tribunal Act of 1973, that operates independently of the state tax commission to hear appeals of judgments of the local boards of review. However, an appeal may not be taken before the tax tribunal unless it first was protested through the local board of appeal.

This must be done by the end of June during the year in which the appeal was initiated. Write to Tax Tribunal, Logan Center, 3222 South Logan, P.O. Box 30232, Lansing, MI 48909.

Reflections cast in a video tube

Like everyone, it seems, who has ever undergone a lengthy stay of inactivity in hospital or home, I tried mightily to avoid an over-reliance on the television during my recent absence.

In the final analysis, I don't know if I won by never once paying attention to the soaps and game shows or lost by giving in to football, Shogun, The Winds of War, and afternoon reruns of Woody Woodpecker, The Pink Panther, All in the Family, M*A*S*H and Barney Miller (the latter group rationalized with "laughter is the best medicine" thoughts).

Even that semi-limited approach to the glass teat left some strange side-effects. By watching at least twice the amount of TV to which I normally submit, I discovered its real power as both an advertising medium and (perhaps the same thing) generator of dissatisfaction.

In simpler terms, increased TV-watching shortly quadrupled my urge to acquire what comedian George Carlin calls "stuff." All the neat "stuff" in the commercials or surrounding the characters on the programs left me feeling like a kid in a candy store.

Amend that to read "a penniless kid in a gourmet candy store" and you start to understand the dissatisfaction. Between the added exposure to consumer goods and a precipitate drop in income (compounded by a foul-up in the doctor's paperwork that put a severe crimp in the old cash-flow) I felt like I had my nose up against a window watching diners at a feast to which I was denied entrance.

Mind you, we were never in real need — never missed a meal, never totally broke, never had to delay a necessary purchase at all — yet there was this pressing hunger to acquire luxury items that never seemed very important before. Big cars, home computers, video goodies of all shapes and sizes, expensive clothing, travel to exotic climes; all took form in my mind as "I need a (fill in the blank)" as opposed to my December mood of "Maybe it would nice to have (same item) some day."

This transformation accomplished itself with the aid of a 13-inch black-and-white squawk box on its last legs (yes, high on my list of "got to gets" was color and hooking up to cable).

Now, I'm not about to blame all this greed on television. When I don't feel well, I've learned to stay out of stores since my urge to indulge myself ("Poor me, I deserve something nice to cheer me up") is virtually independent of my checkbook balance.

What struck me was the contrast between the expensive stuff I lusted after and my limited means to acquire same. Although I don't entirely agree with the contention that there is no real poverty in America (which states that most of the world's poor would be delighted to live one step below our "poverty level") there is an undeniable element of truth to it. So why are our own poor so dissatisfied with their lot?

To some extent, my recent brief agonies tell me, it's because most of them are just privileged enough to look in the window but can't even find the door. This is hardly an original thought, but is one that takes on greater significance in light of our recent economic troubles.

If my small taste of the pain of denial is indicative, think how much worse it must be to see your shoeless child watch the world beamed into your living room dance in merry prosperity. I don't even want to think about what it would be like to be a full participant in the feast of consumption and then find yourself, seemingly overnight, stuck outside looking in.

The next time you find yourself turning numb at still another TV news story about America's "New Poor" take note of the material preceding and following it — perhaps, like me, you'll find your once-exhausted compassion revived. At the very least, you'll understand that, if you ever lose everything, the first item to go to the pawn shop should be the television.

Maybe that's what those luckier veterans of the Great Depression mean when they tell us: "We were poor alright, but we never knew it." Knowing it, I imagine, is what makes today's poor complain more than what the rest of us consider reasonable. And having writers like me telling them the problem is one of perceptions, I am certain, does not reduce their very real pain in the least.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

We were watching Queen Elizabeth's arrival aboard the royal yacht "Britannia" when the question popped into her mind.

Now everyone knows the good old queen is not exactly the dancy of the queen world. Not a bit like Nancy Reagan who keeps up with Dior, Cardin, Courtier and all those other Frenchmen.

Nope, the queen does exactly what she wants to do ... wears exactly what she wants to wear no matter how many Frenchmen call her frumpy, dowdy or matronly.

That's when she popped the question. "What do you think the queen carries in that handbag of hers?" she asked. "It looks more like a small suitcase than a purse."

Good question, I thought. And so I put it to the staff in the newsroom on Monday.

Somebody suggested she probably has a comb and a brush, maybe some Kleenex and definitely a rain bonnet.

Somebody else suggested spending change. But it still didn't seem like the queen would need a handbag that big just to carry a few incidentals like Kleenex and a rain bonnet.

The best suggestion was that the queen probably carried a spare crown in her purse. "You never know when you're going to be called on to knight somebody or ride in the royal carriage," came the suggestion.

That made as much sense as anything I heard. Even then, I had to wonder why the queen has to carry her own crown, much less her own handbag.

I know if I were the royal monarch, I wouldn't carry anything. I'd have my ladies in waiting do all the carrying; I'd just strut around trying to be regal and making plans for the palace game room.

Yessir, if I needed a spare around for emergency situations, I'd let Koo carry it for me. After all, how would it look for the King of England to be walking around carrying a purse?

E.A. Chapman, 81, leader in Mill Race restoration

Erwin A. Chapman of 239 High Street, whose family had pioneered in settling Novi, died March 3 at St. Mary Hospital after an illness of two years. He was 81.

Known as "E.A." in the community, Mr. Chapman was an active participant in the restoration of Mill Race Historical Village from its inception.

John Burkman, who was president of the Northville Historical Society during the beginning years of the Mill Race project, recalled this week that Mr. Chapman had been involved in the restoration work since 1971.

"He built the model for the old library building (now known as the New School Church in the village) that was put on display in the (Manufacturers) bank to encourage interest in its preservation," Burkman said, adding that at the time the building was scheduled to be demolished.

Mr. Chapman was born in Novi April 13, 1901, the son of Floyd J. and Clara (Hazen) Chapman. His pioneer great-grandfather Randall Chapman received the land grant for the family farm, located in the Taft-Ten Mile area, in 1825. It was signed by President Andrew Jackson.

After early education in the Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor schools, Mr. Chapman attended Northville High School. While enrolled in the University of Michigan School of Engineering, he played on the U-M football team.

He later returned to Northville and managed the Chapman orchards for many years before retiring. He and his wife Elizabeth are long-time residents of High Street.

Mr. Chapman was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville and of the Society of Mayflower Descendants.

In addition to his wife he leaves a son Greig L. of North Muskegon and two grandchildren. Granddaughter Christine E. is studying instrumental music at University of Michigan and grandson James G. is a high school student.

Mrs. Chapman, a retired English teacher in the Northville Public Schools, is the former Elizabeth Lapham. It was Dr. Mary Lapham, her father's second cousin, who gave the old library building to the community for a library. She also specified it was to be the meeting place for Northville Woman's Club.

The model built by Mr. Chapman is termed "a beautiful work of art" by Burkman. After the old building was moved to the historical village for preservation, both worked on its restoration.

"We did all the jobs — from woodwork to floors and windows — except for electrical and furnace work," Burkman reported. After the building was restored, both men continued their volunteer work in the Hunter and Yerkes houses.

Burkman remembered that they began in 1971, working together for several years three days a week. They then cut down to two days until two years ago when Mr. Chapman's health didn't permit it.

Private graveside services Tuesday in Rural Hill Cemetery were to follow cremation with Dr. Lawrence A. Chamberlain, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, officiating.

The family suggests that any memorial gifts may be sent to the First Presbyterian Church of Northville.

Response inadequate

To the Editor:

On January 30, 1983, I wrote a letter to the Governor with copies to the two representatives and two senators that represent us in Lansing. The Record kindly reprinted my letter in your February 2 issue.

I received replies from all, as expected. The Governor defended his tax increase with statistics but did not answer my proposal to cut spending and rescind the 1984 salary increase recommended by the State Compensation Commission and allowed to become law by refusal of the Legislature to bring the matter to the floor where they would have to vote on it.

Likewise, as expected, State Senator Faxon "bird dogged" the Governor with two more pages of statistics but did not answer my specific proposals.

By contrast, our representatives Willis Bullard and Gerald Law and State Senator Robert Geake addressed the specifics in my letter and pledged their resistance to any permanent tax increase — recognizing that we may have to suffer a temporary increase to help the state regain fiscal integrity.

My irritation with the Governor and Senator Faxon is that they seem unwilling to face the reality that nothing will be solved without correcting the underlying causes of our present fiscal dilemma.

Representative Bullard answered the issues raised in my letter and explained exactly what happened relative to the salary increases which I and all the taxpayers to whom I talked objected to, in the face of an almost certain tax increase.

A business that is losing money doesn't give out raises — unless they want to go broke faster. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.

Sincerely,
Robert F. Brueck

Geake charges tax rate link to unemployment is 'sham'

State Senator Robert Geake released a statement March 3 calling the House Democratic alternative to Governor Jim Blanchard's 38 percent permanent tax increase "a sham and a deliberate attempt to mislead the public."

The House-passed version, which received no Republican votes, is tied to an unemployment rate trigger. Under the formula used, the tax increase would roll back to the current 4.6 percent when the unemployment rate in Michigan drops below nine percent.

"To call this tax package temporary because it is tied to a nine percent unemployment trigger is a sham and a deliberate attempt to mislead the public," the statement from Geake's Lansing office read.

"Any tax increase that tends to restrict incentives for businesses to either locate or remain in Michigan, thus providing a disincentive for job creation, should not be tied to unemployment levels as a condition of rolling back the tax increase," it continued.

Geake called the House Democratic alternative only a variation of Blanchard's proposal, and said it would set off a period of excessive growth in state government.

"This so-called temporary tax increase would raise approximately $1.1 to $1.2 billion in new tax revenues in fiscal year 1984," Geake said. "This would represent a 25 percent increase in the growth rate of state expenditures."

Under this proposal, the General Fund/General Purpose Expenditures would rise from the current level of $4.7 billion to almost $7.5 billion in fiscal year 1987.

Geake joined his Republican colleagues in the senate in requesting that Blanchard release his 1984 fiscal year budget figures so that serious negotiations can begin in the senate regarding Michigan's fiscal problems.

"In his State of the State address Governor Blanchard said it was his goal to '...reduce absolutely the size of government in this state,'" Geake noted. "I agree with that goal. Therefore it is important for the Governor to release his 1984 budget priorities prior to the passage of any tax package. We must first deal with reductions in the cost and size of state government before we can deal with the issue of increasing state revenues through increased taxes."

"More taxes and increased state spending as proposed by the Blanchard-House Democrat tax plans are not the answer to Michigan's economic ills and high unemployment problems," Geake added.

"With the irresponsible action taken by House Democrats on Tuesday, the taxpayers of Michigan are now looking to the Senate for a responsible resolution to Michigan's long-term and short-term economic problems."

Housing market saved

By GERALD LAW
State Representative

The Michigan House of Representatives helped save Michigan's housing market last Wednesday when it voted to extend the current 11 percent interest rate ceiling for land contracts and second mortgages until December 31, 1984.

Had the Legislature failed to adopt H.B. 4125, the interest rate would have dropped to seven percent on March 1, and in today's financial market that would mean that land contracts would have become virtually extinct in Michigan. And that would have spelled disaster for Michigan's housing market, which is currently experiencing a dramatic upturn.

In recent weeks alone, real estate sales have been brisk in this state and across the nation. So impressive have these gains been that many economists have claimed the present recession over because real estate sales are regarded as a barometer of our economic condition.

Failure to extend the interest rate ceilings on land contracts would have thwarted any economic recovery in Michigan for months, if not years.

Surprisingly enough, passage of the extension was not easy. Republicans fought off an amendment, introduced by liberal Democrats, that would have placed Michigan in a non-competitive situation with neighboring states that would have led to the loss of much-needed capital improvement.

Basically, the amendment would have overridden the federal preemption on interest rate ceiling regulation, and option the state could take under provisions contained in the Federal Depository Institutions Deregulation and Monetary Control Act, passed by the U.S. Congress under President Carter in 1979.

All states have until April 1, 1983, to decide if they want to regulate their own interest rates, or rely on national and natural competitive forces on the market.

However, if Michigan is to become competitive again, it needs the economic freedom that the federal preemption would allow. By overriding that pre-emption, the state Legislature would suddenly become increasing more powerful because we would be setting the interest rates ourselves.

The State of Michigan, and the Michigan Legislature, has enough problems already without taking on the complex and sensitive procedures of setting interest rates. I think Michigan would do well to depend on the natural forces of competitive economy than to invent and maintain a cumbersome and inefficient economic environment that would probably seal Michigan's fiscal rate.

Law backs 'downsizing'

A resolution urging the Governor to appoint a council to study Michigan's higher education system and to recommend a course for the future has been introduced in the House.

State Representative Gerald H. Law (R-Plymouth, 36th District including Northville township and the city in the Wayne County portion), is the resolution's co-sponsor.

He said the measure would force "a hard look at downsizing higher education facilities to eliminate duplication rather than continuing across the board the cuts that are weakening the very core of our major institutions."

"Our finest universities have been seriously damaged by inadequate funding for nearly a decade," Law said, "and support will continue to be limited in the foreseeable future. I don't think we can afford to continue the policy of uniform reductions that has resulted in drastic program cutbacks on an uncoordinated basis."

Law said academic standards have been the hallmark of Michigan's higher education system and his proposed council would examine options for maintaining excellence in the face of declining enrollments and reduced state support.

Don't Say "Cheese"

Your picture should reflect the warmth and personality of your subjects. Here's how to take the phroness out of your snapshots of friends and relatives.

Don't overpose your subject. Too much fussing causes tenseness. Frozen expressions are sure to follow.

Don't order your subject to look directly into the camera. Avoid the unflattering head-on "mug shot." Instead of ordering your subject to grin broadly and say "cheese!" engage in light banter, be amusing, wait for that special warm expression before snapping the picture.

With today's fast lenses and films there's no need for your subject to squint into harsh head-on sun or artificial lighting. Wonderful snapshots are now possible in more subdued light.

Let your subject DO something interesting—read a book or arrange flowers, perhaps.

Move in closer to your subject. Pictures taken from eight feet away are usually stiff and uninteresting. Make sure the background in your photograph is interesting but uncluttered. It should help tell what the snapshot's all about.

Township planners approve bike path feasibility study

Complaining that bicycle paths for Northville Township had been discussed without any action taken ever since 1979, Marvin Gans urged fellow members of the township planning commission to recommend that a feasibility study be undertaken as soon as possible.

The motion to make the recommendation to the board of trustees passed unanimously at the commission's monthly meeting February 22.

Lab project endorsed in city council action

Northville Economic Development Corporation action designating the Northville Laboratory expansion project for EDC support was formally endorsed by city council Monday night.

Council accepted the EDC recommendation that the Northville Labs site be designated as a "Project District Area" as defined by the legislation which enables the EDC to issue tax-free bonds to fund the expansion.

Since the project does not involve a zoning change, taking of private property or changes to nearby housing, the council's action also waived legal requirements that a citizen's oversight council be created.

Waiver of the citizen's council requirement is allowed when the project is not expected to have substantial impact on private citizens living near an EDC project area.

The resolution approved by council also calls for the mayor to designate two additional EDC members to serve the duration of the Northville Lab expansion project.

Representatives of Northville Laboratory told council they expect to present plans for the project to the EDC within 30 days, and that land transfers with the county road commission were approved in February and the required deeds are being prepared. No cash exchange was involved in the property transfer, they related.

City Manager Steve Walters told council legal requirements for issuance of the $750,000 in municipal bonds to be used to pay for the expansion at Rural Hill Drive business requires a council to conduct a public hearing in the near future.

"...we should be doing something about this."

— Marvin Gans,
Township planner

With a link through the township from the existing bike path on the I-275, Gans said, cyclists could connect with the Hines Drive path "and ride the full 26-mile route."

Various routes were discussed with planning consultant Claude Coates of Vilcan-Leman and Associates suggesting a path from Maybury State Park along Beck to Eight Mile into the city and then along Seven Mile.

In response to questioning whether funds would be available, it was suggested that Congressman Carl Pursell be contacted as Gans reported the federal government has funds for non-motorized paths.

Saying he would hate to see the project bog down, Gans noted that "it should show on township plans so that people would know it exists."

Vice-chairman Bernard Baldwin, who presided in the absence of Richard Duwel, commented that the law has made sidewalks necessary in subdivisions and suggested bike paths could be required of developers.

As a first phase, Gans recommended a path on the north side of Six Mile from I-275 to Edward Hines parkway. From there, he said, there could be different options.

Commissioner William J. Bohan agreed that the bike paths had been studied since 1979, "but at no time was there a strategy to implement the project."

It was mentioned that the Jaycees had indicated an interest at one time in helping with a bike path project.

As the motion to begin a phase one plan was passed, Gans declared his satisfaction, saying he has felt strongly "we should be doing something about this."

Under old business the board voted to table again the request for final site plan approval for Metropolitan SDA Church being located on Haggerty as information requested was not ready.

At the request of Liz McCardell, topography discussion on Park Gardens was tabled until the township engineer could be present.

A summary of township subdivision regulations was to be published, rather than have the regulations printed in entirety before being adopted, the commission agreed.

Site plan consideration for Northville Montessori School was tabled until the March 29 meeting with commissioner Bohan suggesting that a final site plan then be inspected.

Final plan for a lot split requested by Donald Thomson for a 4.94 acre parcel on Beck Road was recommended for approval to the board after Coates reported the final plan meets setback requirements. A split into two parcels was requested.

The commission also had the review of township engineer Edward McNeely. The split was approved contingent on the inclusion of the setback and the preparation of required easement deeds.

Angelo Barile appeared before the commission, relating he had purchased property on Seven Mile in August, 1982, with the intention of opening a bakery. He objected that this is not possible under the present office-service zoning.

He indicated he felt misled, both by the zoning and the sale sign at the time. Baldwin explained that the restaurant provision in the zoning was only for restaurant use within an office for its staff. Commissioner Pat Wright commented she had seen the sign and agreed it was misleading.

Baldwin told Barile his recourse should be with the seller.

Barile questioned whether any consideration could be given to rezoning. Baldwin replied that he could file application but warned, "this board recommended the property remain residential."

The board of trustees later rezoned the property to office-service use.

Trustees to study step scale for township worker wages

Salaries as well as a "step" pay scale based on regular evaluations for township office employees is on the agenda for the next township budget study session at 9 a.m. this Saturday.

Members of the township board of trustees have met the past two Saturday mornings in study sessions to view department budgets and hear presentations of the administrators.

Last Saturday recreation, police and office budgets as well as those for township commissions and boards were studied.

Two weeks ago the board heard presentations of budgets of the library commission, senior citizens council and fire department.

Clerk Susan Heintz told board members she would like to set up salaries on a more businesslike basis as plans were made to consider salaries this Saturday.

"My goal is to get everyone on six-month increments and on evaluations," she explained, saying she and township business manager David Leiko have been concerned that there is no evaluation system at present.

At the suggestion of township consultant Richard Ambler, Leiko had prepared for the board a schedule of salaries of positions in other communities of similar size and characteristics.

Supervisor John MacDonald reported that Van Buren Township, which, he said, is near the size of Northville Township, had three times as many employees.

Recreation budget reduced, not increased, Kritcz says

Northville Recreation Department's budget for the approaching fiscal year will not increase $17,000 as incorrectly reported in last week's Record.

Ed Kritcz reports that his recreation department budget will actually decrease from $234,389 in 1982-83 to $225,271 in 1983-84, down $9,118 from a year ago.

Government contributions totaled $106,477 in '82-83 and will drop to $98,431 in '83-84. Income from fees collected will reach $126,840 in the coming year, down $1,082 from '82-83. All figures are budget proposals.

Additionally, Kritcz and Supervisor Pete Talbot are seeking a three percent raise under the proposed '83-84 budget plan. Last year both received no pay increase, thus three percent is the equivalent of a 1.5 percent raise over a two-year period.

Matt Sullivan, the number three man in the recreation department as Building Manager, is an hourly employee and is not affected by the three percent requested increase.

Music students to perform

Gitfiddler Music Shop students will be featured in concert at 7:30 p.m. this Friday in the Cooke Junior High School auditorium, Gitfiddler owner Tom Rice said.

"These are all music students who gathered up their courage and volunteered to perform whatever they could do," Rice explained. "There are no professionals, they're all novices — there'll be a lot of kids, a lot of guts."

The sixth annual student concert will last no later than 10 p.m., Rice said, and the students will do "a couple songs each, or so. I'll emcee. There'll be refreshments." Donations to cover costs will be accepted at the door, Rice said. "If we make any money, we'll do what we usually do with it — send it off to Huntington's (Disease research)."

Noting that there are fewer guitar and banjo performers than in years past and a large number of piano students, Rice said the featured musicians will include:

Piano students Julie Lautzenhieser, Maria Finly, Lori Finly, Jenny Finly, John McGuire, Florence McGuire, Rita Rice (Tom's wife), Brandon Jones and Heidi Jones (playing drum and piano).

Guitarists Rose McGuire, Michelle Stephan, Cris Katke, Cris Braue, Donna Donnelly, Dawn Donnelly and Kim Flower. Bands include Jeff Bush and Tim Munsell.

Violinist Jennifer Carey, bass guitarist Mike Santores and drummer Ken Hill round out the instrumental performers.

Vocalists Sara Nawrocki and Noreen McGuire will also perform.

Computing bowling scores mushroomed into business

By MARYSPRY

What hi-tech, multi-million dollar global operation masquerades as a small business in a tiny, cramped house in Milford?

Comm-Data Systems, Incorporated, is the culprit. The company has projected gross sales for 1983 of $2 to 7 million and a world-wide reputation as one of the leading producers of innovative computer software.

Larry Jones is the founder and owner of the three-year-old company. "I worked for IBM for 11 years so I was aware of computers, but from a big business aspect."

"I got into home computers because of bowling averages. My wife ran the Youth Bowling leagues and she had to calculate all the team averages. It usually took all day," he explained. "I knew there had to be an easier way; so I bought one of the first IBM PETS about five years ago and then I wrote a bowling program."

"The computer took a job that always took all day Sunday and cut it down to an hour. I began to realize then that computers were the coming thing," Jones explained.

Comm-Data Systems, Incorporated, began as a part-time business and rapidly expanded to a full-time operation.

"When we first started, somebody thought we were a computer dating service. Actually we're two companies. Comm-Data Systems is the retail end of the business involved in hardware. Comm-Data Computer House, Incorporated, is the software side of the operation," Jones said.

Computer hardware is the actual machine and keyboard. Software is a computer program. It is the series of instructions that command the computer.

Jones knows that there is a reluctance on the part of consumers to accept computers as an integral part of everyday life.

"There is still a certain fear of computers. People are afraid that the computer has an intelligence of its own. It does not. It's just a big lump of metal and circuits. It simply does what you tell it to do."

"Most people have already used a computer if they have played video games. And now some of the games use a keyboard. So they have already been introduced to a computer and they know how to use it. The next step is to utilize the computer to help around the home," he said.

According to Jones, most small businesses can use a computer. "Computers don't replace people, they just make businesses more profitable and efficient," he noted. "It makes manual tasks much easier and frees the employees for more important work."

"A computer can be programmed to track receivables, do forecasting on a weekly basis, invoicing, purchasing orders — just about anything," he added.

Comm-Data sells both the Commodore and the Victor computers and the compatible software.

"We know more about the Commodore than anyone in Michigan," he stated. "We sell it at a slightly higher price than the large chain stores, but the advantage in buying from us is that we can give the customer personal help and support and tell them anything they want to know."

"You need to buy from someone who knows. Once you learn, it's simple," he continued. "We also offer classes to people who want to know more about their computers, but couldn't get the right kind of information from another store."

The other hat Comm-Data wears is the production, marketing and distribution of software.

"Software becomes obsolete in two to three months," Jones explained. "It takes one month to produce and three weeks to get it marketable. When we first started, we used to take a tape and dump it into a Ziploc bag with a label, but we found out fast that the buyer didn't like that."

"We had to hire artists for the graphics, and change the package structure. You can't keep tiny and survive; you've got to go big."

"There are four types of software — educational, games, business and utilities. The utilities are things you can use around the house like balancing a checkbook or recipe conversions," he

Business Briefs

BENEDICT HARRINGTON, Jr.

FIL SUPERFISKY

BENEDICT W. HARRINGTON, Jr. of Northville has been named vice president-operations of Kingsway Department Stores, the city of Detroit's largest general merchandise retailer. He formerly was director of operations and toy merchandiser. The father of four, Harrington lives in Northville with his wife Mary Alice.

FIL SUPERFISKY received top honors from Rymal Symes Realtors as "salesman of the year" for 1982. Superfisky's total sales for 1982 topped $2.25 million. In announcing the honor, Rymal Symes President Conrad Jakubowski said Superfisky's "outstanding sales accomplishment for

1982 is particularly noteworthy because it was achieved during one of the worst periods of decline our industry has seen since the Great Depression. "Fil Superfisky's sales record is certainly a source of pride for Rymal Symes Company," Jakubowski continued, "but those who really benefitted most from Fil's efforts were his many customers and clients who were able to sell and purchase homes in 1982 through the diligence and expertise of Fil Superfisky."

FOOTE GRAVELY TRACTOR of Novi is carrying Gravelly's newest addition to its professional line of grounds maintenance equipment — the Pro Series. The Pro Series consists of three out-front mowers: The Pro Master-50, the Pro-40 and the Pro-50. Gravelly refers to its new series as "the time cutters" because their combination of durability, efficiency and ease of operation work to help the professional groundskeeper save time and money. Foote Gravelly Tractor is located at 46401 Grand River between Taft and Beck roads. The Pro-Master-50 has a unique, efficient design and is engineered to transfer weight to the drive wheels for better torque and stability and to perform like a conventional tractor on slopes. This makes the Pro Master-50 more effective on hills than other mowers of its type. The Pro-40 has unique transmission engineering with five forward speeds and reverse. The five speeds with single lever, on-the-go shifting and instant reverse provide an ideal ground speed for every operating condition. The Pro-50 offers all the versatility and maneuverability of the 40, but has some deluxe features as standard. These features include electric key ignition for operator convenience and a 16 horsepower, twin-cylinder Briggs & Stratton industrial/commercial engine with fuel pump to provide the power for the larger cut. A riding sulky is available as an option. The Pro Series complements the Gravelly System for professional grounds maintenance. The system includes two, three and four wheel tractors plus over 20 other attachments engineered to solve grounds maintenance problems.

SAPUTO'S CRAFT SHOPPE is now open for business in Walled Lake. The store is located at 105 East Walled Lake Drive near the Pontiac Trail intersection. Owners are Frank and Olive (above) Saputo, who have lived in Commerce Township since 1960. It is their first private business venture. Mrs. Saputo said she decided to open the craft shop because of her own interest in crafts. "I could never find the things I needed and figured nobody else could either," she explained. Saputo's Craft Shop carries all types of crafts and specializes in beads, chenille, pom poms, styrofoam, pearls and doll parts. The shop also carries various craft books as well as candlewicking materials and counted cross stitch supplies. A grand opening was held the first weekend in March. The shop is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. It's closed on Sundays.

Local St. Patrick's celebrations may rival Savannah's

When Irish eyes are smiling — sure and it's a time to celebrate.

On Saint Patrick's Day everyone's Irish and everyone celebrates. Some cities, however, have gained a reputation for their March 17 festivities. Chicago, where they put the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder, is known as the place where all those with even a scrap of Irish heritage dance in the streets, but the windy city has a formidable rival in the south. Savannah, Georgia, proudly claims to do justice to the birthday of the patron saint of Ireland with a host of activities. "We have a lot of people of Irish heritage," the receptionist at the prestigious 17 Hundred 90 Inn in Savannah's historic district explained when visitors were amazed that there didn't seem to be a vacant hotel or motel room in the entire city on March 17 a couple of years ago. The dining rooms there had been reserved completely for a private Irish Society party. "In addition, people come from as far away as Chicago to parade and celebrate here," she added. In the lobby of the Great Western any visitor was welcomed with a hug as a happy, milling crowd celebrated. At Savannah's De Soto Hilton cocktail lounge the music was loud and sentimental, with Irish ballads being called for by the celebrators. The hostess was wearing an Irish maid's costume and everyone wore a shamrock. A Savannah native related that he went to Florida in the winter but made it a point always to return by March 17 in order not to miss the fun. A seacoast city, Savannah was settled by General James Edward Oglethorpe and a band of Englishmen on February 12, 1733. During the next few years more British settlers joined them, along with Portuguese immigrants. Savannah Visitors' Center is located at 301 West Broad Street and supplies city maps. At 142 Bull Street is the handsome Juliette Gordon Low House, the birthplace of the founder of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. Locally, there may not be a St. Patrick's Day parade, but there will be celebrating as everyone from schoolchildren to office workers remember the "wearing o' the green." Area eating and drinking spots say they are putting the emphasis on everything Irish next week Thursday — with Irish stew and Irish coffee being featured. Larry Sheehan, owner of Sheehan's at 43333 Seven Mile near Northville Road and Sheehan's on the Green at 39500 Five Mile, reports that the Irish celebrations which used to take place at downtown

Detroit bars seem to have moved to the suburbs in recent years. In times past, he says, following Mass in downtown churches, the faithful made the rounds of downtown bars. Noting that many have closed, he says the celebrating now is in the suburbs. "From noon to midnight we were packed last year," he says. Again this year the Sheehan spots are giving out hats and decorations all day long. There will be corned beef and cabbage with boiled potatoes on the menu along with green beer. Sheehan adds that his menus always feature Irish stew — "not lamb stew, but real Irish stew made from a recipe of my mother's." Even restaurants with Italian or strictly American names are joining in the celebrating with Irish specialties. "Sure and there will be sing-alongs, too."

Swaney has been named IGA Store Manager of the Year from among the division's 186 stores. He was secretly nominated for the award by Michael (left) and Steven (right) Showerman, owners of Showerman's IGA stores in South Lyon and Ann Arbor. The Showermans said that the 25-year-old Swaney had been employed by them in the South Lyon store off and on for the past 10 years.

Swaney also earned two other awards recently: a Caribbean trip received for his winning display in a national Campbell Soup contest and a top award for a display for the annual Super Foods shopping spree contest. The Manager of the Year plaque was presented during a luncheon at Jimmy II Restaurant in South Lyon.

NANCY McCLATCHEY CUSICK has been promoted to assistant vice president of Hall Management Company, an affiliate of Hall Real Estate Group, based in Southfield. The promotion, effective in January, was announced jointly by Ronald P. Berlin, president of Hall Real Estate Group, and Gerald Manko, senior vice president of Hall Management Company.

Associated with Hall Real Estate Group since 1975, Cusick has held responsible positions at several of its apartment complexes. Most recently, she was manager of Appletree Apartments, a 382 unit complex in Ypsilanti. She was credited with being instrumental in turning the formerly financially and physically distressed property into a highly successful operation. She now will oversee operations at several apartment properties in the Flint area.

Hall Real Estate Group limited partnerships currently own and operate approximately 17,500 apartment units, with complexes in Florida, Georgia, Indiana, North Carolina, Ohio and Texas, in addition to Michigan.

Comm-Data Systems grows with home computer sales

added. Jones has 15 part-time employees, many of them high-school students. "Kids are not afraid of computers," Jones said. "We're doing ourselves and the kids a favor by having them work here."

There are 22 stores in Michigan affiliated with Comm-Data and several hundred dealers and schools are currently purchasing software from the company. "Right now we're running at full tilt, and if the economy picked up we would be going berserk," Jones laughed.

While Jones thinks that the costs of computers will not drop much below current levels, he knows that the capabilities of the computers are limitless.

"One of the best things it can do is teach your kid," he commented. "But the biggest use in the next three years will be the ability of a home computer to attach to a telephone and talk to another computer. It will be able to do banking, shopping, stocks, reservations... the possibilities are endless. "In the next two to three years, people will not go to work. They will still be employed by the same company, but they will be doing their office work at home on their own schedule. It will save energy, there will be great flexibility of time and people will be with their families more. General Motors is now doing that on a trial basis and it's working," he added.

Jones says, "The future is with us right now — and we control it. Just think, one computer in a home can play Space Invaders, balance a checkbook, control heating and cooling and let us go to the office all without ever leaving home."

Comm-Data Systems, Incorporated, is located in Milford on 320 West Summit, just south of the Post and Paddock Restaurant. The telephone number is 685-0113.

COMERICA INCORPORATED has reported earnings for the fourth quarter and the year. Income before securities gains and losses was $11.7 million in the fourth quarter, an increase of 32 percent over the $8.9 million reported the same period last year.

Consolidated income before securities gains and losses for 1982 was $42.1 million on a primary basis compared to $36 million in 1981, a 17 percent increase.

According to Chairman Donald R. Mandich, the improved earnings resulted from higher levels of earning assets. This caused an improvement in net interest income which combined with higher levels of non-interest income to more than offset increases in operating expenses.

Mandich noted further that public acceptance of Comerica's money market savings account "COD Super Savings" has been tremendous with almost $600 million being attracted by the end of 1982.

EMERICH GRINBAUM, M.D., has announced the opening of a new family medical practice at the Novi Health Center. The health center is located in the Novi Ten Shopping Mall at Ten Mile and Meadowbrook Road.

Dr. Grinbaum graduated from Uzhgorod University Medical School in Russia in 1955 and practiced Internal Medicine in Russia until 1978. He moved to the United States in January 1979 and resumed his medical practice in Detroit in 1981 after having passed required examinations and training programs.

Comprehensive medical service is provided at the health center, including laboratory, x-ray, Holter monitor, treadmill, pulmonary function test, minor surgery and family planning.

Office hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

MARY KAY COSMETICS, INCORPORATED has announced the appointment of Gae Weir of Milford (above, right, with senior director Pam Weinland) to the position of sales director. She achieved the position following a three-month qualification period during which she developed a personal unit of beauty consultants and exceeded specific company sales goals.

Her formal appointment came in January at a ceremony at the Howell Holiday Inn, attended by 95 area consultants and guests. Weir, who joined Mary Kay Cosmetics in 1979, will be the leader of her unit, one of 3,500 sales directors for the firm.

ANNIE NICHOLS

CARL KUTZLI

ANNIE NICHOLS, owner and associate broker of Nichols Realty, Inc., has been honored for obtaining sales of approximately $1.5 million during 1982.

During an extremely difficult real estate year, Nichols made this mark while being office manager and closer. She also has been notified by the UNRA Wayne-Oakland County Realtor Board that she again has obtained membership in the Top 10 Percent Sales Club in all three memberships: dollar volume, listings sold and sales units. Mrs. Nichols was initiated in the Million Dollar Club in 1976.

Neil A. Nichols, Associate Broker, who made the announcement, also noted that Nichols Realty, Inc., is celebrating its fifth anniversary. According to National Realtor Association statistics and contrary to popular belief, over 80 percent of all real estate companies in the United States are small, independent company such as Nichols Realty.

Nichols noted that the company had started in the 1978 boom and had sailed through the recession. He said 1983 appeared to be an excellent year for home sales as the public could now afford mortgage interest rates and is anxious to obtain housing it has wanted for the last several years.

CARL KUTZLI, president of the Highland-based Agnew Machine Company, has completed the first of three intensive three-week courses, entitled, "The Smaller Company Management Program," at the Harvard Business School.

The program is designed to give the chief executive officers of small, rapidly-growing businesses an array of general management skills and insights.

Ninety-four officers from around the world attended the session. Kutzli was the only participant from Michigan, and the only one heading a metalworking company. He will attend sessions in January, 1984 and 1985, to complete the program.

CONSTRUCTION TESTING & Inspection, Inc., of Novi has announced the appointment of Dr. P.D. Deo, Ph.D. and P.E., as a principal of the company. Dr. Deo also will act as director of engineering and hydrogeologic services for the Novi-based firm.

Construction Testing and Inspection, Inc., provides full-range professional engineering and testing services in the areas of sub-surface investigation, soils and foundations, pavements, hydrogeology, sanitary landfills, construction quality control, mineral resources evaluation, and evaluation of steel and welded structures.

The firm operates through its two divisions named American Geotechnical and Hydrogeologic Engineers and Materials Testing and Inspection. It has offices in Novi and Ann Arbor.

SYLVIA'S APPAREL IN HIGHLAND has moved to a new location at 2946 East Highland Road, in order to offer customers more selection. The store, which recently celebrated its second anniversary, carries both formal and casual clothing for women.

Hard-to-find sizes are available, and special sizes can be ordered at no extra charge, according to store owner Sylvia Sue Kotulak. One-day service is available on alterations.

Full lines of clothing and accessories are available from a large number of designers and manufacturers. Exercise and jogging outfits are now available. The new location allows customers more sizes and lines from which to choose, plus better parking, Kotulak said.

Sylvia's is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, and until 7:30 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday.

Handicapped Source offers special aids

When an auto accident left James Abbey's brother handicapped three years ago, there were few computer equipment sources available to help the young man function with his disability.

"It was very difficult to find sources of equipment," Abbey relates. "We had to start evaluating his handicap and ways we could use computers."

As a result of his experience in dealing with his brother's handicap, Abbey formed The Handicapped's Source, a wide-base system of sales and distribution for computer products and services for the handicapped.

Currently working out of his Northville home, Abbey has spent the past nine months compiling a catalogue of computer and electronic-based products specifically developed for the disabled.

The Handicapped's Source, a division of Intelligent Consumer Electronics, offers products and services and customization of products to suit individual needs.

"We work as a central point for providing software and hardware," Abbey explains. "We're an information base."

A marketing sales manager for Texas Instruments, Abbey says he has been able to line up vendors and manufacturers willing to distribute computer and electronic parts.

The services offered by The Handicapped's Source include software customization, physical hardware mounting services, conversion of systems to different computers, complementary products from IBM, Apple, Radio Shack, Texas Instruments, etc.

Computer customization is equipped to handle systems which include hearing, speech and language aids, learning disability and mental retardation aids, vision aids and movement and neuromuscular support systems.

The Handicapped's Source also provides consultation services to its clients as well as information searches in most areas of handicapped aids and rehabilitation products and services.

Abbey explains that while software for the handicapped traditionally has been "very costly and very customized," it now is cheaper and computers are more portable.

To help the handicapped feel more comfortable with computers, Abbey also has written a book, titled, "How Can I Use Computers?"

The book is available at the Bookstop in Northville for $2.50.

Abbey explains he already has had "hundreds of requests" for the catalogue, which lists the software and hardware parts available.

Abbey notes that, while his main thrust is distribution, he has designed a few programs.

Persons interested in more information about The Handicapped's Source can contact Abbey at 526 Langfield, Northville, 48167 or at 348-2793.

We helped the Torturos when fire destroyed their home. Who can you turn to?

The Torturos weren't covered by any insurance. Red Cross found them a place to stay. We gave them food, warm jackets and winter boots.

Most people think it takes a major disaster like a flood, a hurricane or an earthquake for the Red Cross to respond. But Michael and Phyllis Torturo know differently. Their Red Cross disaster relief didn't stop with just food, clothing and shelter. We helped them re-establish their source of income.

Then showed them how to use those funds to obtain a trailer home for their family.

What if the next fire in town destroys your home? Who can you count on to lend a helping hand? You can count on us.

We'll Help. Will You?

Friends

When we truly met, I knew there was something different about you.
There was a joining even then.
You speak volumes with your eyes.
You are a listener, as I happily discovered.
You have a clarity of mind unclouded by emotionalism, but the feeling shows in your eyes, those eyes.
And more than once you have brought me through.
You complete me in a quiet way that helps me find my way through the labyrinth.
I need and use your strength and perspective and humor to keep me going.
Someday I will do the same for you, if I can.
If you close your eyes and let yourself, you can feel the bond between us, for it is almost a tangible thing.
It is an invisible silken thread that stretches to the limits of our wanderings, but it cannot break.
And when you need me, I will know.
And when you need me, I will be there.
And what more is love between friends?
Beverly Hover

Storm Tossed

Will I forever be besiged with uncertainties
Will I ever be blessed with the joy security brings
Will calm, peace, and contentment ever be my companion
Will life end in a flurry of confusion?

Or will a turning of the tide bring this capricious shallow into tranquil waters, and the sunrise of tomorrow, in radiance, Dissipate the murky gloom
May its luminous afterglow Give warmth, and faith, where doubt once lurked
May this soul find its depth in cheerfulness and inspiration.
Agnes Caldwell

How About A Little Help?

How do I pray?
What can I say
For one who needs
A friend today?
"God is your friend
Your companion, your lover,
And a whole lot more
As you will discover

Whenever you pause
And let yourself go
To receive His blessing
As in Spirit you grow."

Try it sometime,
You have nothing to lose
But the time in itself
That it takes you to choose.

Charles E. Hutton

Commands

Command me to bow, Sire,
And I shall kneel before Thy Presence,

Command me to speak, Sire,
And I shall proclaim Your Justice.

Command me to eat, Sire,
And I shall feast on Your Bread and Wine.

Command me to teach, Sire,
And I shall instruct from the Book of Thy Word.

Command me to cry, Sire,
And I shall weep for mercy at the wrong doing of men's sins.

Command me to silence, Sire,
And I shall quiet my thoughts of ingratitude.

Command me to thank Thee, Sire,
And I shall acknowledge Thy gifts before Heaven and earth.

Command me to love You, Sire,
And I shall give Thee myself.
Barbara Karnafel Orto

Billy the Kid

The kid was a legend by some I've been told
To some he's a killer, to all he was bold
To say people liked him would be telling a lie
Because he was born twenty men would soon die
His life in a shamble, he lived on the run
The tool of his trade was a pearl handled gun
On a hot summer morning into Tombstone he came
He met this old marshall and asked him his name
He said "It's Pat Garrett, what's yours my friend?"
He answered "Bill Bonnie, your friend 'til the end."
He smiled at him quickly and gave him a wink
To the saloon he walked quickly and ordered a drink.
In time they were good friends, the talk of the town
Wherever Pat was, Billy was somewhere around
No more did he fight, he walked a straight line
I'll obey all the rules, your laws I'll make mine
He worked on it hard and things sure looked great
But Billy was destined to meet his ill fate
One morning it happened, his friend was found dead
In a mad rage young Billy went out of his head
He strapped on his gun and rode out to find
Who killed this old man, this good friend of mine
In time he found out the name of the man
Don't kill him Billy, let the law take this man
But Billy's hot temper controlled his right hand
He drew out his pistol and shot his 21st man
He knew Pat was coming, on this you could bet
They met in a saloon hands clammy and wet
They both drew their pistols, only one gun would roar
And Billy fell down in a heap on the floor
Pat walked over to Billy with tears in his eye
"You're faster than I am, why didn't you try?"
But Billy's friendship was true to the end
And could never draw down on Pat Garrett his friend.
Frank Cionti, Jr.

Part Time Cat

Mrs. Parson's part time cat, carousing down Nickle Lane. Arriving on the porch he sat, sniffing geraniums in disdain.

Brought in with glowing smiles, a saucer set out to please. Curling up on the faded tiles, content with sausage and cheese.

Wash Oak School to reopen in 100th year

By JEAN DAY

Back in 1873 students at Wash Oak School learned there were 37 states in the union symbolized by the 37 stars in the flag.

The second week in May this year Moraine elementary youngsters may be learning the same history lesson as two reproduction flags are on view — in the one-room classroom and outside on a new flagpole in front of the schoolhouse in Mill Race Historical Village.

Members of the fourth-fifth grade split class of Judy Higbee, dressed like their counterparts of 100 years ago, will be sliding into authentic reproductions of desks that would have been used when the school was new.

"We think this could become the most used building in the Mill Race," say the four volunteer curators who have been responsible for researching and obtaining authentic furnishings for the schoolhouse that has been restored and painted an antique Williamsburg gray-green.

'We think this could become the most used building in the Mill Race.'

— Kay Otton

—volunteer curator

Kay and Doug Otton and Harriet and Bob Welland all have a hard time containing their enthusiasm for the project to which they have devoted hours. They inspected other restored school buildings, including the Scotch Settlement and Miller schools in Greenfield Village, obtaining from the village the design for the school desks that students in Ken Harrison's shop class have been making.

Harrison, a fellow member of the Northville Historical Society with the Ottons and Wellands, previously had his students in Westland build the gazebo in Mill Race Village as a class project.

An antique schoolmaster's slant-top desk of the period is being sought for the school. The committee already has a pledge from Silver Springs Questers to buy the desk when a suitable one is found.

The trim building with new floor and roof, electricity and heat is a far cry from the shell that was moved to the Mill Race Historical Village November 12, 1975. Wash Oak School had been discovered by historical society past president John Burkman in 1974, sitting abandoned in a field on the west side of Currie Road south of Eight Mile.

It was the second school on the site, the first having done up in flames. This school was built in 1873 and used until 1966 when area residents voted to become part of the South Lyon school system. Students had come from Washtenaw and Oakland counties, hence its name, and the property had been donated for school use.

When the school closed, it reverted to private ownership and the property was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. George Rigby, then residents of Kings Mill, for a vacation home.

When they were transferred to Cleveland, they donated the school to the historical society and house mover C. L. Hofess, who had moved other buildings to the historical village, donated his services to bring it to the village.

That was just in time to save the structure. Its roof had been partially burned and had to be removed before the trip to town. Burkman noted that the building was worth saving because "old schoolhouses are hard to come by." The original plan for the village included a school.

Northville Mothers' Club adopted the building as its Bicentennial project as major repairs began. A new foundation was built and the school placed upon it. It acquired electricity and heat as well as new windows, walls and blackboards. The Wellands and the Ottons, all

Benefits help buy furnishings

Northville Historical Society's desire to mark the 100th anniversary of the Wash Oak School by having the building now in the Mill Race Historical Village completely restored takes one important thing in addition to the tremendous amount of volunteer hours donated: money.

The curators of the schoolhouse, Doug and Kay Otton and Bob and Harriet Welland, have compiled a list of furnishings needed to recreate the setting of an 1873 school. Their cost estimate for furnishings is $4,707. This is for furnishings and textbooks as labor largely has been volunteered.

Others in the active historical society now are doing their part with fund-raisers to make their designs come true.

First upcoming fundraiser is the society's progressive dinner April 16. JoAnn Dalziel, 349-5166, is taking reservations through March 26 at $11 a person.

Anyone in the community may help by donating to the society's auction to be held in the Mill Race on July 4. Neil Nichols has volunteered to be the auctioneer with proceeds earmarked for the schoolhouse. Residents are asked to save items and to bring them to the schoolhouse just before the auction.

Northville Historical Society's share of home tour profits also will be used for school furnishings. The tour, held on alternate years, will be September 22. It is co-sponsored with the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church.

Mothers' Club's compiling new local telephone book

By JEAN DAY

Residents who are holding their 1981-82 Northville community telephone directories together with tape will be glad to know Northville Mothers' Club is in process of compiling a new 1983-84 directory. The local directory with listings of residents living in the Northville Public School District is produced on alternate years by the club.

The project originated in 1968 as a community service under chairmanship of former club members Barb Schwendemann and Janice Murany. Like the others, the current directory will be distributed free to residents this fall.

Heading arrangements for the new directory are Carol Townsend, Phyllis Kennedy and Judy Somershoe. At this time they are soliciting advertising for the directory — which pays for costs of printing and distribution, as well as making a profit for club projects in the Northville schools. Mrs. Townsend may be contacted at 349-5989 for advertising information.

Presently there are members, she says, from Northville and Plymouth, many of whom studied under Ellen Wilson, who teaches the craft in Northville Historical Society classes. By meeting regularly, Mrs. Luckett says, members will be able to confer and accomplish projects. She mentions she hopes to complete her one-fourth done Oriental rug.

Irwin Weil to address Northville Town Hall

Northwestern University professor Irwin Weil will be guest speaker at the Northville Town Hall lecture at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Plymouth-Hilton Inn.

IRWIN WEIL

Weil, a former professor at Brandeis and Harvard, has the distinction of being one of the few Americans to have taught at two Soviet universities, in Moscow and Leningrad, as an American guest professor.

In addition, he pursued his own research at the Soviet Academy of Sciences, the Institute of World Literature in Moscow and the Institute of Russian Literature in Leningrad.

Educated at the University of Chicago and Harvard, Weil also had experience in college and professional theatre. He was a director at the University of Chicago Theatre and worked with German expressionist director Erwin Piscator at two New York theatres.

Speaking fluent Russian, Weil worked for a time at the Library of Congress with one of the greatest lawyers of pre-revolutionary Russia, Eugene M. Kulischer.

A self-taught guitarist, Weil uses his trained voice to sing American, Russian, Hebrew and Yiddish, French, German and Italian folksongs. In 1948, during a trip to postwar France, Weil traveled on bicycle and traded his performances for lodging and meals.

Born and raised in Cincinnati, Ohio, he is the son of Sidney Weil, former owner of the Cincinnati Reds baseball team.

Weil has spent considerable time among Western European colleges and students in Ireland, England, France, Germany, Austria and Italy.

He has served on the governing boards of the American National Organizations for Slavic Studies and was the United States representative and founding member of the International Organization. He also serves on the Research Committee of the American Council of Learned Societies.

His lecture will be followed by a luncheon.

Northville Town Hall will conclude its 1982-83 season April 14 with actress Polly Bergen as its guest.

Reunion, Yanover catch reported from Florida

Former Northville resident and local supermarket manager Edward Barnes who now makes his home in Ellenton, Florida, has been the prime mover in getting retirees and vacationers together for an annual Florida winter reunion. He reports that this year's event recently drew 53 to the Crown House in Bradenton.

The Metropolitan South Florida Fishing Tournament's director relays word that Robert Yanover, of 43243 West Eight Mile, has earned a gamefish release award in the 48th annual tournament currently being held.

Yanover caught and released a sailfish in the 12-pound division while fishing with Captain Bob Jansen aboard the Shearwater in Key Largo. The tournament ends April 17.

There's a new hooking group in town

Curators seek donations for school

retired except Kay Otton (appropriately a teacher), spent hours finding such items as blackboard paint. They say only one paint company in the country makes it today.

They have purchased a reproduction stove from Sears that is being placed as it would have been 100 years ago in the building. They mention that the door will be bolted shut for safety reasons.

Reproduction oil lamps on brackets were installed last month.

The historical society has an old bell that is to be installed in a bellfry of the schoolhouse.

Reproduction slates and slate pencils were purchased in part by Old Post Road Questers.

But the committee now is actively seeking donations for such items as a wood box and such stove accessories as a poker, hod and ash shovel. The committee admits it would like to find an authentic teacher's handbell, McGuffey Readers, primer through sixth grade, and Webster's Elementary Speller.

If an antique bucket and dipper can't be found, the committee knows it can purchase a reproduction, but would prefer to have antiques — and an antique bench to hold them. A dunce stool and pictures of Lincoln and Washington also are needed.

Donations of antique maps of Michigan, Oakland and Washtenaw counties and Salem Township to the year 1873 would be most welcome, the researchers report, as would a shoe scrapper to place by the entry, a clock, inkwell and pen, broom and dustpan, a Bible, pump, games of the period and that oil hickory stick.

Anyone interested in giving such items to the school project may contact the Ottos at 348-3619 or the Wellands at 349-5803.

Gifts donated by individuals are tax deductible, but appraisals for tax purposes must be secured by the donors.

The curators have a sewing project also; they are hoping to find volunteers to sew aprons and vests for visiting students to wear.

Last week Moraine parents whose children will be initiating the new building in May met with their teacher. She shared the lesson plan for the week and explained that it won't be all readin', writin' and 'rithmetic — they also will be making "stone soup" and gingerbread cookies.

Church music director makes first recording

David Heinzman, director of music at First Presbyterian Church in Northville since 1978, is adding to his reputation as a concert organist and workshop clinician. His first recording, "Organ Werks," is just out.

It will be distributed by Rodgers Organ Company, an international company based in Hillsboro, Oregon, which is a division of CBS, Incorporated.

Producing the record, he says, has opened up a completely new career avenue for him.

Four organs were used in the recording, which is half pipe organ and half electronic.

Among the featured singers on the recording is John P. Merrifield, a Northville resident, whose tenor voice is familiar at the Presbyterian Church here where he often is soloist. Merrifield sings two selections from the Messiah, "Comfort Ye" and "Every Valley," by George Frederick Handel on the record. It also includes a trio for oboe, bassoon and organ with Lorelei Crawford, oboe, and Roger L. Maki, bassoon, in "Simple Gifts" arranged by Virgil Fox.

Third feature on side two is "Joyful, Joyful" arranged by Diane Bish.

Side one is "Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor" and Chorale Prelude "Savior of the Nations, Come," by J.S. Bach.

Heinzman, now 24, is a graduate of Northville High School and University of Michigan where he studied organ performance with Professor Robert Glasgow.

DAVID HEINZMAN

His parents are Northville residents, but he now lives in Royal Oak where he is employed as church organ consultant by Musical Heritage, Incorporated, which features exclusively Rodgers organs.

Ripaldi is fellowship guest

Dr. Thomas E. Ripaldi of Farmington Hills will be the guest speaker at the March 18 dinner meeting of the Northville-Plymouth-Livonia Chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship.

Aside from his regular vocation as a professor of psychology at Oakland Community College, he also serves as a Clinical Psychologist with a Christian Ministry at Brightmoor Tabernacle in Southfield.

His talk, based on his soon-to-be published book, "Upward Bound," will be his testimony of how the personal experience of being born again made a profound change in his life.

The meeting at 8 p.m. follows dinner at the Sweden House Restaurant in Farmington Plaza.

The dinner is $6 per person which includes tax and gratuity. Both dinner and program are open to the public.

Reservations are required for the dinner and may be made by calling Daniel Beutler at 349-0006 or Earl Flynn at 348-3352 or send checks, payable to "FGBMF," P.O. Box 5332, Northville, 48167 by March 14.

Weekend retreat planned

The Ministry With Singles committee of the Presbytery of Detroit is sponsoring a weekend retreat for single adults at Camp Grindley March 18-20.

Theme for the weekend is "Intimacy and the Single." The program will be presented by the Reverend Dick Milford, senior pastor of the Grosse Ile Presbyterian Church. Milford, presently a visiting fellow at Princeton Theological Seminary, is doing research on biblical and theological studies in intimacy.

The weekend events will include recreation, group discussions, sing-alongs, worship, hiking and an opportunity to meet new and single friends.

The camp is located near Pinckney and carpooling can be arranged. Cost for the weekend is $27.50 and includes registration, meals and lodging. For reservation information, call the Presbytery office week days from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 345-6550.

Salem's Dave Houle passes away from Mike Weber's defense

Northville's Schrader given All-West honors

Steve Schrader, Northville's six-foot-five tower of strength, has been named to the Western Lakes Activities Association West Division first-team by a vote of conference coaches.

Schrader, a junior who averaged 11.3 points and just under 10 rebounds per game this season for the 10-10 Mustangs, headed the five-member West squad that included classmate Craig Hunter (6-4) of Livonia Churchill, Wes Jones (6-2 senior) of Farmington Harrison, Ron Rienas (6-1 senior) of Plymouth Canton and Dave Riley (6-0 senior) of Churchill.

Northville's Mike Weber, a six-foot-two junior, was accorded WLAA honorable mention status.

Plymouth Salem and Livonia Stevenson, co-champions of the Lakes Division, dominated post-season honors in division and conference elections.

Dave Houle, a six-foot-five senior center headed for Michigan State on a football scholarship, joined teammate Glenn Medalle (6-1 senior) on the exclusive five-member All-WLAA team.

Stevenson also placed a pair of performers on the elite squad, including famous baseball namesake Pete Rose, a six-foot-one senior. Tom Domanko (6-7 junior), who had previously been named to the Detroit News all-suburban third-team, joined Houle and Livonia Churchill's six-foot-six intimidator John Merner on the all-conference front line.

Mustangs begin district play tonight

Northville's free sailing basketball ship ran aground into the Rocks March 1, and Plymouth Salem sank the Mustangs Western Lakes Activities Association championship dreams with a 63-47 decision.

Salem's victory on its home court sent the Rocks into the WLAA championship game with Livonia Stevenson where the Plymouth squad won its ninth league title in 10 seasons Saturday, 67-60.

Salem takes WLAA championship game

By DON NEWSTED

Hercules met Samson for the Western Lakes Activities Association basketball championship Saturday with the winner being 1,000 partisans who ventured into the arena on a brilliant afternoon to witness the colossus confrontation.

Plymouth Salem and Livonia Stevenson, co-champions of the Lakes Division for 1982-83 and owners of identical 17-2 seasonal marks, battled tooth and nail for 32 minutes of hand-to-hand combat before Salem's John Cohen slew Stevenson with 16 second-half points for a 67-60 victory.

Salem's victory was a tribute to the depth of coach Fred Thomann's Rocks who won despite the loss of granite cornerstones Dave Houle and Glenn Medalle to fouls in the fourth quarter.

Thomann has now won nine conference titles since his arrival at Salem 11 years ago, missing his initial season as headmaster (1972-73) and last season (1981-82) with a junior-laden squad. Included were an amazing eight consecutive Suburban 8 championships (1973-1980).

Cohen's timely arrival into the fray coincided with Houle's fourth foul at 6:05 of the third quarter and Stevenson narrowly ahead in the see-saw affair, 31-29.

Barely one minute later, Medalle, who had been selected to shadow Stevenson's high-scoring junior Tom Domanko, picked up his fourth foul, placing him abruptly at Houle's side on the pines, forcing Thomann to test his bench strength.

When Houle reentered the game at 6:35 of the fourth quarter and Cohen's scoring heroics were through, Salem was in complete control of the contest with a lead it would never relinquish, 50-45.

Stevenson managed to close the gap to two points on a Pete Rose 20-foot jump shot at 2:11 to make it 57-55, but Medalle's follow-up basket and two free throws each by Cohen and Matt Broderick clinched the victory for the Rocks.

Cohen's 16 points led Salem and earned the six-foot-four senior the WLAA Most Valuable Player award in the championship game.

Houle contributed 15 points and 11 rebounds to Salem's balanced arsenal which included 10 points each from Medalle and Broderick, and 11 from another bench member Marvin Zurek.

Domanko led Stevenson with 17 markers, with Gary Mexicotte adding 13 and Rose 12.

The victory gave Salem a two to one advantage in the bitter rivalry. Stevenson had won the January 7 contest at Salem, 49-48, but the Rocks had rebounded for a 55-50 triumph early last month.

Salem had advanced to the championship game on its home court with a 63-47 slashing of Northville, while Stevenson was taking Livonia Churchill 53-43 to advance to the showdown.

"It came down to our eight men against their five," Thomann said after the game. "Everyone we went to on the bench made a contribution. John Cohen was just sensational. We handled their best shot and gave them ours."

"It's been a marvelous 20 games," continued the successful mentor.

Northville, winners of two straight before hitting Salem's immovable team, moved into the consolation game with Livonia Churchill Thursday only to lose once again to the West Division champs, 75-42.

"We came out flat against Churchill," said Mustang coach Tim Lutes. "They shocked us with their intensity, and John Merner dominated the game at each end. We were never really in the game."

Churchill took a quick 22-8 first quarter lead, stretched it to 35-20 at the half and sent the fans to the exits early with a 20-9 third quarter that gave the Livonians a commanding 55-29 bulge.

Merner silenced Northville's Steve Schrader with seven points and scored a game high 17 himself. Craig Hunter hit 12 and Steve Judankless had 11 for Churchill.

Steve Frellick led the Mustangs with eight points.

Against Salem, Northville may have played its "game of the year" according to Lutes, but still came up short of the Rocks.

Bob Pegrum led a second half Northville rush that kept the game close with all 13 of his points. Scott Gala and Steve Frellick added eight and seven points, respectively.

Glenn Medalle led Plymouth with 16 and Dave Houle had 14, as Salem moved out to a 28-14 lead that couldn't be increased against the never-say-die Mustangs. Salem outscored Northville just 35-33 in the second stanza.

Lutes now has the unenviable task of preparing his all-junior team for a probable rematch with Salem in Wednesday's district tournament at Plymouth Salem. Northville will play the winner of Monday's Salem-Wayne Memorial game (after press time) at 7:30 p.m.

Friday's district finals will be 7:30 in Salem's beautiful home lair.

Northville swims sixth

Plymouth Salem dominated the 1982-83 Western Lakes Activities Association swimming championships last Friday and glided to a 275-190 victory over runnerup Farmington.

Northville's youthful squad, under the guidance of Pete Talbot, swam home sixth in the 10-team field with 107 points.

Following Salem and Farmington, Plymouth Canton was third with 152 points, Livonia Stevenson had 141, Livonia Churchill 127, Northville 107, Farmington Harrison 86, Livonia Bentley 76, Walled Lake Central 10 and Walled Lake Western 0.

Individually, Northville did not win any events nor did it place anyone second. Doug Buell, one of Talbot's prize freshmen, turned in an outstanding, personal best performance in the 100-yard butterfly to finish third in 58.64. Buell also took a ninth in the 200-yard individual medley (2:11.90) and was a member of the sixth place (1:49.81) 200-yard medley relay team.

Jeff Bainbridge, another freshman with a great future as a Mustang, was also a member of the 200-yard medley team and was sixth in the 100-yard backstroke in 1:01.52.

Northville's other placers include Adam Swallow (eighth, 200-freestyle, 1:56.86 and fourth, 500-freestyle, 5:14.26), Ron Johnson (ninth, 50-freestyle, 23.85), Darius Mikalonis (ninth, 100-backstroke, 1:03.91), Mickey Nader (ninth, 100-breaststroke, 1:09.40) along with divers Jeff Metz (fourth, 219.50), Chris Behlen (eighth, 213.20), Jeff Palowski (ninth, 194.20) and Joel Grasely (10th, 188.95).

Our Lady of Victory cagers capture regional

Northville Our Lady of Victory's seventh and eighth grade basketball team has advanced to the CYO Archdiocesan Tournament final four with a 37-36 decision over Detroit St. Christopher in Sunday's regional championship at Detroit Benedictine High School.

OLV, 19-5 on the season, advances to tomorrow's semi-final showdown with St. Leo's of Detroit, a 59-45 victor over Dearborn Sacred Heart, at University of Detroit High School. Game time is 8 p.m.

Sean McLaughlin led the Cougars to only their second semi-final berth in history with 13 points against stubborn St. Christopher.

Northville grabbed a 22-18 intermission advantage they never relinquished, but needed a charity toss from Joel Brielmaier with six seconds left to ice the win. St. Christopher scored a meaningless basket at the buzzer.

Tom Orlowski aided McLaughlin with 10 points, Doug Martin had eight, John Larabel six and Brielmaier two. Earlier in the week, OLV had disposed of Detroit St. Scholastica, 41-27.

Orlowski's rebounding domination helped send Northville out to a quick 11-2 first quarter advantage. Detroit cut the margin to four on the strength of a tough full court press, but McLaughlin poured in 10 fourth period points to wrap up the victory.

McLaughlin had a game high 18 points and 14 rebounds. Orlowski scored a career high 10 points and snared 15 rebounds. Martin chipped in with eight points and Brielmaier had five.

Sunday's tournament finals will be held at Grosse Pointe St. Paul.

Cheryl Berryman digs out a spike for the Mustangs

Pre-district match

Mustang spikers ousted by Brighton

Bowing gracefully to Brighton's scrappy volleyball team, Northville's season came to an abrupt conclusion March 2 with a 15-13, 15-10 loss to the Bulldogs.

Brighton's victory in the pre-district encounter at Northville High School qualified the Bulldogs for district play where they once again finished second to perennial Kensington Valley Conference powerhouse Howell.

Steve McDonald's Mustangs remained on the sidelines following the defeat to lick the wounds of a somewhat disappointing 6-11 season.

"This was kind of a frustrating season," McDonald said in retrospect. "During the last two weeks we played our best volleyball of the season, but we ran into some pretty stiff competition and only won two matches."

"I expected to have a winning season, and I think the girls did too," continued McDonald. "We had some games that could have gone the other way, but didn't. I expected to have a winning season, but unfortunately, things didn't work out that way."

Northville's final week began bright enough with a hard-fought, 13-15, 15-10, 15-9 conquest of Farmington Harrison. The Mustangs concluded their Western Lakes Activities Association season with a 4-9 overall mark and 4-4 within the division.

McDonald's high expectations for his 1982-83 squad hinged on his seven member senior class that comprised the better portion of his starting lineup. Playing in their final prep volleyball match for the Mustangs were Tracey Wilkinson, Leslie Kucher, Jenny Gans, Judy Morgan, Christina Sjoberg, Kris Petit and Connie Fogel.

"This was a different group of kids," said McDonald in analysis. "I expected more leadership out of several people, but it never materialized."

Gymnasts third in WLAA

Kathy Heitert's elevation into the elitist society of Olympic gymnastic hopeful Barrie Muzbeck became somewhat of a nightmare for the talented Northville junior.

Muzbeck, a Walled Lake Western junior who has actively competed on the international gymnastics circuit and is currently the seventh-ranked woman in the United States, completely dominated the Western Lakes Activities Association championship meet and left Heitert without a medal for the day.

Western's one-woman show was not enough to win the Western Division title though, as Northville's balance and an inspiring performance by Heitert captured that honor.

Northville outpointed Western 121.1 to 119.85 to win the divisional crown.

North Farmington, the host for the March 2 championships, won the overall WLAA title with a 125.7 score. Farmington trailed with 121.3, narrowly edging the Mustangs for second place, but it was Muzbeck's participation that had everyone mumbling to themselves.

"I think they all felt they were being cheated," said Mustang coach Debby Heck. "They (the gymnasts) knew they didn't have a chance to win with Barrie Muzbeck in the meet, and it put a damper on things."

"The kids felt it was unfair for Muzbeck to compete," Heck continued. "Most of them have worked the entire season to prepare for this meet, and she comes in at mid-season to take all the glory. But she had the right to be there. She is eligible, and you can't knock her for wanting to participate."

Muzbeck's glory included four individual firsts and the all-around title that, according to Heck, would've been won by Heitert in her absence.

Heitert's afternoon was not all for naught, as she took divisional seconds in the all-around competition (33.85), vault (8.55), balance beam (8.45), uneven bars (8.45) and a third in the floor exercise (8.4).

Muzbeck won every event with spectacular scores normally associated with "elite" classification gymnasts. The talent-laden junior topped the field in the all-around (37.9), vault (9.55), uneven bars (9.4), balance beam (9.45) and floor exercise (9.5).

With scores like those, nobody could challenge Muzbeck for conference honors either. Heitert dropped to third all-around in the conference behind Muzbeck and Farmington's Josephine Smith (34.9).

Smith also nudged Heitert to a conference fourth in the beam competition, while North Farmington's Kim Edwards (8.55) and Plymouth Canton's Linda Beale (8.45) slipped ahead of the Mustang in the floor exercise. All of Heitert's other placings carried over to the conference standings.

Diane Hale, a Northville sophomore and one of the youngest athletes at the WLAA championships, gave a sterling performance in several divisional routines.

Hale's 7.7 in the floor exercise placed her fourth, and a 7.75 in the uneven bars was also good for fourth in that event. Hale's afternoon was completed by a seventh in the vault (7.5) and a fifth all-around (29.6), second highest on the team.

Heck praised her youthful tumbler, who ranked 13th overall in the conference all-around, eighth in uneven bars and ninth in floor exercise.

Amy Aaron was sixth all-around in the division (28.75) and 14th overall. Wendy Wobermin placed seventh in the division (28.00) and 15th overall.

Wobermin's 8.0 balance beam routine was her highest score ever and placed her third in the division and fifth overall.

Aaron excelled in several events, highlighted by a divisional fifth in the balance beam (7.5, 10th overall), a fifth in the vault (8.0, ninth overall) and an eighth in the uneven bars (6.05, no placing overall).

Tish Johnson added a sixth in the division in the balance beam, placed 12th overall.

Northville will take its WLAA championship act southwestward March 11-12 for the MHSAA regional at Coldwater, a tournament where no Mustang has ever placed high enough to qualify for the prestigious state finals.

Plymouth Canton will host the state championships March 18.
