Ambulance changed

Northville residents who call police for emergency medical assistance are now being served by Community Emergency Medical Service (CEMS).

Novi Ambulance, which formerly provided the service, vacated its subsidized Northville premises Tuesday, May 3, only hours after the city council voted to join with the township, Novi and Farmington in a regional contract with the Botsford Hospital-based CEMS.

Only Farmington was served by CEMS before last week, but Novi Ambulance notified the other three communities early May 3 it would not respond to police calls unless the communities agreed to assume liability for unpaid ambulance bills, according to the administrators.

Northville's joint city-township agreement with Novi Ambulance expired in March, though Novi Ambulance president John Early had indicated he would continue service until notified that it was no longer needed.

"Fortunately Community was ready to go (Tuesday morning)," said township business manager David Leiko last week. "We started routing calls to them almost immediately."

The service agreement is not yet completed, and Leiko said Community is providing Northville ambulances from its Plymouth facilities. He said CEMS representatives toured the quarters at the Wayne County Child Development Center (a former fire hall) that were vacated by Novi Ambulance.

City and township paid for renovations to the building and paid utility bills for Novi Ambulance, but do not plan to subsidize the rent-free quarters for CEMS.

Novi Ambulance has not abandoned Northville operation, however. Ambulance workers distributed flyers advertising Novi Ambulance service in town last week. One flyer included a $10 off coupon while another urged people to call Novi Ambulance directly instead of calling police emergency dispatchers.

The latter states that CEMS service is more expensive than Novi Ambulance, using the rates bid by the two firms when competing for the regional

Rochester mayor visits Northville in exchange

Rochester Mayor Tom Werth will be filling in for Northville Mayor Paul Vernon next Monday, and vice versa.

The mayors will trade cities for a Government Day observance during Michigan Week, May 14-21.

While in Rochester, Vernon and his wife Norma will be accompanied by city council member J. Burton DeRusha and his wife Bobbie, council member Carolann Ayers and DPW chief Ted Mapes.

Werth and his wife Joan will be joined in Northville by Rochester City attorney Arthur Cox and his wife Pat.

The delegation from Northville will be taken on a tour of Meadow Brook Hall, the 100-room Tudor mansion on the campus of Oakland University built in 1926 by Matilda Dodge, widow of automobile pioneer John Dodge. The visitors will be viewing its famed, marble-arched ballroom, antique needlepoint draperies and 24 fireplaces.

They also will tour the Leader Dog for the Blind school — both Rochester highlights.

Rochester, with a population of about 7,200 is somewhat larger than Northville with a population of 5,698. An eastern suburb of Pontiac reached via Rochester Road off I-75 by those traveling northbound, the community is the home of Oakland University.

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra is a major attraction at the Meadow Brook Music Festival, held from late June to early September each year.

Werth will be greeted by Mayor Pro Tem G. Dewey Gardner, council member Paul Folino and City Manager Steven Walters and his wife Marty as well as Michigan Week chairman Anne Brueck and her husband Bob.

Walters said Monday night the Werths plan to room in this area Sunday

NASA tentative agreement approved by school board

By MICHELE McELMURRY

For the first time in its seven-year history, the Northville Association of School Administrators has signed a tentative three-year agreement prior to the expiration of its current contract June 30.

Plagued by a history of late settlements, the N.A.S.A. pre-ratified a new agreement last Thursday by an overwhelming majority of its members.

Northville Board of Education unanimously approved the tentative contract at its Monday night meeting.

Assista. Superintendent Burton Knighton told the board the administration began informal talks with the building administrators' union in mid-March. A tentative agreement was reached March 3.

He noted the new three-year agreement is without language changes except in the areas of salary and fringe benefits. A 2½ percent salary increase across the board was approved for the first year, with a 2½ percent tax shelter annuity payment from the individual's annual salary made to the annuity of the employee's choice, effective February 1, 1984.

The only other compensation change is the addition of vision care coverage should the district enter into a vision care program.

The new agreement covers the period from July 1, 1983, to June 30, 1986. While salary and fringe benefits have been agreed upon for the first year, the second and third year salary and fringe benefit areas have been left open for negotiations.

Though she voted in favor of approving the N.A.S.A. agreement, board vice president Karen Wilkinson said she had reservations about approving the contract with the salary openers.

"I'm really frustrated by contracts settled salary-wise for one-year," she said. "I don't like salary openers."

However, she added, "the only light at the end of the tunnel is that we are settled for the first time prior to the expiration date."

Superintendent George Bell, who sat in on the N.A.S.A. contract talks, told the board he "was very pleased with the professional tone of the negotiations."

"I think in ratifying this contract, they have shown a desire to change what has gone on before," he said. "I don't see the salary open as a problem."

Since organizing into a union in the spring of 1976, N.A.S.A. has been troubled by rocky negotiations. Its first contract, which covered the period from 1976 to 1978, was not agreed upon until November 1977 with negotiations taking more than a year.

The pattern of late settlements has been characteristic of negotiations with N.A.S.A. over the past six years, with agreements taking up to a year or more of table bargaining.

Student events slated Saturday

Northville Public School students will observe Michigan Week with art displayed downtown and an entertainment program in the town square Saturday during the garage sale.

Student art will be displayed all week May 12-19 in merchant windows throughout downtown.

Elementary, junior high and high school students will entertain with musical and physical education department shows in the square from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. this Saturday.

Included will be bands, choirs and ensembles from the all the schools and physical education classes from the elementaries and high school.

Game of Northville debuts

There's a new game in town — "Northville."

Called Wheeler-Dealer, the Game of Northville, it strongly resembles Monopoly and is making its debut at the City Garage Sale this Saturday.

If you play your cards right, you could end up owning MacKinnon's or Northville Charley's.

The properties aren't the Boardwalk or Park Place but Genitti's and Village Sweets N' Treats.

The game is patterned after Monopoly, but properties around the board bear names of local businesses. A player can go around the corner, landing on Allen Terrace or in the Mill Race Village.

Rather than buying houses and hotels, the players learn to invest wisely in the "Commodities Exchange."

"It's a remembrance of Northville and will be a great Father's Day gift," says an enthusiastic Jay Ward, president of the Northville-Novl Branch of AAUW which is marketing the game locally as a benefit for its scholarship fund.

The branch has 600 copies of the game, designed to be played by two to six players. The rules stress playing fast and loose with money and property. The money involved is much more than a Monopoly player ever dreamed of — players start with $100,000.

The game sells for $10 with the amount including a $5 a donation for the scholarship fund.

The game is the invention of a Michigan man, Mike Kuzma of Allen Park, who has been selling it to Jaycees and other organizations as fundraisers. Money is raised to cover printing costs by selling spaces on the board to local businesses. Prices ranged from $100 to $150 for the popular Boardwalk-type spots. "They sold right away," Ward recalls.

"It was so easy to sell," the AAUW sponsors report. Working with President Ward have been Harriet Sawyer, who is president-elect of the Michigan Division and a dual member of Plymouth and Northville branches, and game chairpersons Carol Lower and Jean Hansen.

The women say they had a special assist from Walter Ellis of Bookstall on the Main who aided with reducing and designing local merchants' logos.

The AAUW donated one spot to the Northville Public Library.

Merchants whose squares players will land on as the dice is thrown are, in addition to Genitti's, Sweets N' Treats, MacKinnon's and Northville Charley's, are Marquis Boutique, One-Ten West Salon, O'Sheen's Tavern, Northville Camera Shop, Guernsey Dairy, Manufacturers Bank, Bookstop, Canterbury Cleaners, Giftfiddler, Casterline Funeral Home, Inc., Uptown Shops, Schrader's, Custard Time, Good Time Party Store, Del's Shoes and Clothing, Black's Hardware, Fashion

Others are Sheenan's Little Caesar's, David Jerome, attorney, Speedy Printing, IV Seasons Flowers and Gifts and Bookstall on the Main.

The game is being marketed in some 34 states. Other Michigan cities with local versions of the game include Livonia, Plymouth, Monroe, Jackson and Ypsilanti.

Northville's game will be available at the AAUW booth Saturday located in front of Del's. It is a double space with the AAUW also holding a paperback book sale. The members again will be selling the Game of Northville on the Fourth of July in Mill Race Historical Village.

Local businesses serving as outlets for the game include Genitti's, Northville Pharmacy, Good Time Party Store, Canterbury Cleaners, Bookstop, Bookstall on the Main, Two's Company (one of the Uptown Shops) and the Northville Public Library.

NEWS BRIEFS

NORTHVILLE Board of Education has scheduled a study session for 7:30 p.m. May 18 in the board of education conference room to receive the final report and recommendations of the Citizens Advisory Committee working on the high school feasibility study.

CIVIC CONCERN committee formed to assist local residents in need of assistance during the current economic situation will meet at 2 p.m. today at Bruce Roy Realty. Anyone in need of such aid is invited to contact Ann Roy at the real estate office at 349-8700.

SUMMER HOURS will be among items on the agenda for the Northville Township Board of Trustees' meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in township hall. Water and sewer rate changes and rebuilding of the fire department pumper truck also are to be discussed.

SCHOOLCRAFT College Foundation is holding an art sale from 1-5 p.m. this Sunday in the Waterman Center on campus. The sale, open to the public, will include approximately 400 oil paintings as well as miscellaneous items. The art works are being donated by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Lee of Canton.

Service begins through CEMS, no contract yet contract. Novi Ambulance is not bound to those bid rates, though CEMS is. Officials of the four governments indicated they preferred CEMS service despite the higher rates.

The contract being negotiated between the four communities and CEMS applies only to calls routed through police emergency dispatchers in the communities. Novi Ambulance is licensed to operate in the area, regardless of which firm(s) the cities choose to deal with directly.

City manager Steven Walters told council members Monday night Novi Ambulance owner John Early had contacted city offices this week to ask where he might open an ambulance quarters in the city. He was told, Walters said, that a general commercial zoning district would be most appropriate though ambulance operations are not specifically allowed or disallowed in any zoning category.

During contract deliberations, Early revealed his firm has contracts to provide service at Northville Downs, Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital and Phoenix Correctional Institution (on Five Mile in the township). Novi Ambulance is also one of the firms contacted by Michigan State Police in this area.

The switch to CEMS took place similarly in Novi last week, with service initially provided from Farmington bases. An advanced life support unit was stationed in Novi by the end of the day May 3.

night "so they can get an early start without having to drive here first."

Local festivities will begin with a flag-raising ceremony at 9 a.m. at city hall by the police and girl scouts.

At 10 a.m. the group will tour the M.A.G.S. building with a visit to the new chamber of commerce building and a walk through town following.

The city officials and visitors will be guests of Northville Rotary for lunch at noon at First Presbyterian Church when beautification awards will be presented. For this event, Rotary is changing its meeting day from Tuesday.

In the afternoon the visitors will tour Mill Race Historical Village and Allen Terrace.

In mid-afternoon, at the request of the Rochester mayor, there will be an intermission at MacKinnon's patio. Werth, who has visited Northville previously, asked for this pause, saying he has wanted to sit on the patio.

Vernon said Werth has been to Northville twice in the past year — having been part of a delegation hosted by the beautification commission and later returning to examine the downtown renovation project.

In the evening the two delegations will meet for dinner in Rochester to compare experiences and cities. The dinner is Rochester's annual awards program.

Downtown financing nears break-even on tax receipts

Mainstreet '78 financing arrangements are working out as planned, city manager Steven Walters told city council Monday night during a budget hearing.

"Captured" tax receipts targeted toward payment for the project totaled $145,800 against a bonded debt payment of roughly $150,000, Walters said.

Given a three percent valuation increase in the downtown (Wayne County commercial property is the only class experiencing a tax increase next year — all others reduce), Walters said the financing will nearly cover next year's bond payment.

"And we haven't seen, really, the first new construction," Walters said. "Most of the improvements, so far, have been of the remodeling or replacement type. The bank is new construction, but it really just replaces the old Dodge dealership.

"As soon as we get any new construction, (the captured tax receipt) goes over the top and the project is paying for itself. After that, it repays the shortfall from previous years pretty swiftly."

The DDA bonds that paid for the downtown renovation were issued in 1979 and total $1.6 million. The DDA owes the city public improvement fund roughly $200,000, Walters said during budget discussion, from earlier bond payments and other expenses. "That couple hundred thousand represents a paper asset to the public improvement fund that isn't really available yet," he told council.

Council members noted Clancy Ely in the audience and that plans for a doughnut shop to be added to the Snow Hardware/Ely Oil property would represent the new construction Walters spoke about.

May workshops scheduled

Registrations for Northville Public Schools Community Education workshops still are available for residents interested in participating in a variety of classes.

Upcoming workshops offered this month include antique glassware, antique ink wells, figures of dance and textiles of yesteryear.

The antique glassware workshop, offered from 9-10:30 a.m. Tuesdays, May 17 and 24, will focus on the history of glass and how it came into patterned glass, cut glass and crystal. Participants will study the Cambridge, Heisey and Fostoria glass-making companies. Cranberry, milk glass and custard glass also will be discussed.

Cost for the workshop is $6 and participants should bring pencil and paper to class.

Antique Ink Wells, offered from 9-10:30 a.m. Thursdays, May 19 and 26 at Silver Springs, will offer participants a history of ink wells. There will be a slide presentation as well as many examples of metal, glass, porcelain, wood and brass ink wells. Cost for the two-session workshop is $6.

A one-day workshop on the Figures of the Dance will be offered from 7-8:30 p.m. May 19 at Old Village School.

The workshop will focus on the development of modern dance in the 20th century. The lecture demonstration will emphasize history and relate modern dance to other artistic mediums including music, literature and the visual arts. Cost for the workshop is $4.

Participants will learn the characteristics and care of antique fabrics and lace in the Textiles of Yester-year workshop to be offered from 7-9 p.m. May 16 at Northville High School.

A discussion of sewing tools will include bobbins and thimbles. Cost for the workshop is $5.

Persons interested in registering for the workshops should contact the community education office at 349-3400.

Kensington park offers farm tours

One of the most popular attractions in southeastern Michigan is Kensington Farm Center in Kensington Metropark near Millford.

The farm has a variety of farm animals, including cows, sheep, goats, pigs, chickens, ducks and geese. The animals are housed in fenced enclosures, and have a small barn for shelter. Baby animals are kept in an old barn.

School and civic groups have an opportunity to take a special tour.

For additional information, contact the Kensington Farm Center, phone 685-9105 or park offices at 685-1561.

Budget of $2.5 million presented for public hearing

By KEVIN WILSON

Stable millage rates and expected gains against a deficit of nearly $500,000 are major features of the city's 1983-84 budget, which council Monday approved for public hearing May 23.

The $2.54 million budget is reduced from the 1982-83 budget of $2.7 million, but larger than projected actual '82-83 spending of $2.3 million.

Revenue shortfalls in the current year will result in an additional $17,500 deficit, bringing the total to $496,000, despite greatly reduced spending, according to the budget document.

Forecasting a rebound in state shared revenue (offsetting a small loss in property tax receipts due to falling residential property values) the budget projects a reserve of $224,000 to be applied against the deficit. Spending levels, for the most part, are the same as last year's.

"There are no wage increases shown in the budget," city manager Steven Walters said. "That's because you have generally been unable to progress against the deficit so there is no money there for salary improvement."

That analysis likely reflects the city's negotiating position as it enters contract talks with its police and municipal workers unions. All the contracts are due for renewal at the beginning of the fiscal year.

In reviews of non-general fund budgets, council approved a rent increase at Allen Terrace and found the water department will likely be able to repair the water tower this year.

Allen Terrace rents are to rise from the current $330 to $352 July 1, following council approval Monday. Housing director Fran Yoakam said rents were not increased last winter when Social Security payments rose. City policy has been to schedule rent increases with benefit increases.

Walters said the six month time delay can be interpreted two ways. "Are we raising rents six months ahead of the next social security increase, or six months behind the last one? It's just in how you look at it."

Yoakam reported a larger number of Allen Terrace residents receiving Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) rent subsidies, reducing the load on the city trust fund that assists other renters.

Allen Terrace residents were encouraged to apply for MSHDA assistance, which pays a portion of the rent dependent on the renter's income. Last year at this time, Yoakam said, 30 residents received such assistance.

This year the number is 47 with several applications pending.

Since rental contracts require 30 days notice for increases, and extensive paper work is needed to prepare them, Yoakam sought and received council approval for the rent increase. Had she waited for budget approval, the time constraints would have prevented July 1 implementation, she explained.

Walters told council the water department should be able to afford its water tower repair project by year-end. Solicitation for bids is likely this summer, he said, with the work to be done in late August or in September, after peak water usage months.

The general fund may loan money for the project to the water fund, Walters explained, if it can be reasonably expected that the water fund will make enough to cover the bid cost by year end.

Mayor Paul Vernon, noting that the budget calls for no major street repairs or resurfacing, supported a suggestion that planning begin for such work in succeeding years.

"We have to create a street surfacing program," Walters said. "This is probably the year to do it. This isn't the year to finance it, but it is certainly the year to plan for it."

Street resurfacing and major repairs have been among the expenditures cut in the past two years. Vernon said that the work cannot be put off indefinitely.

"It probably should be a four or five year program," council member Paul Folino suggested.

"It really should be an ongoing project," Vernon responded.

"We tried to do that once, but the city budget kept getting cut and we didn't have the money to keep it up," Folino said.

"Then you wind up having to do it, and you still don't have the money," concluded Vernon.

Holle addresses church banquet

The Reverend Reginald H. Holle, Bishop of the Michigan District of The American Lutheran Church and a Springfield Court resident, was the featured speaker at the 25th anniversary banquet of St. John Lutheran Church in Farmington.

A native of Texas, Bishop Holle was elected to head the 220 congregations of the Michigan District in May, 1978.

Holle attended Lutheran College in Sequin, and Capital University in Columbus, Ohio, from which he was graduated in 1946.

Upon completion of his seminary training at Trinity Lutheran Seminary in Columbus, he was ordained into the Lutheran ministry and served parishes in Sandusky and Parma, Ohio, and Detroit.

While serving his parish in Parma, Holle completed work for his doctor of ministry degree from Wittenberg University.

Schoolcraft hosts single parent seminars

Tomorrow, May 12, is the last chance to register for the Community Education and Community Services spring and summer sessions at Schoolcraft College.

Course adjustments also must be made by tomorrow. Registrations will be taken from 3-8 p.m. in the Student Affairs Building.

There will be a fee for new registrations, but no fee for course adjustments.

Class schedules are available at the Office of Instruction. For information, call 591-6400, extension 400.

Two Saturday morning workshops for single parents will be offered at Schoolcraft College from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. May 21 and June 4.

"Single Parents are People Too," to be offered May 21, will help participants redefine themselves as individuals.

Issues to be addressed include self-esteem, personal relationships, loneliness and dating.

The June 4 workshop, "Reducing Parent-Child Conflict," aims to help single parents understand basic stages of child development (birth through teens), special problems of single-parent/child relationships and to improve communication skills — listening and speaking.

The fee for each workshop is $20. For further information, call 591-6400, extension 409.

Professional Development for Nurses, an introduction to physical assessment of major systems, will be offered from 8:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. May 20 and June 3 at Schoolcraft College.

The course is intended for R.N.'s, L.P.N.'s and second-year nursing students. Fee is $80 and includes lunch.

The instructor is Nancy Brimhall, RN, BA, MA, inservice instructor at St. Mary Hospital, who will be assisted by skills laboratory supervisors.

Participants will practice assessment techniques on each other with supervision. The course introduces techniques of inspection, palpation, percussion and auscultation.

Systems covered include stethoscope and a penlight. For more information, call 591-6400, extension 409.

Court hearing's today on Holloway request in Salem

Attorneys for Salem Township and Holloway Sand and Gravel are due to appear in Judge Henry T. Conlin's Washtenaw County Circuit courtroom at 2 p.m. today for a "motion" hearing. The hearing is on Holloway's request for a temporary order allowing the company to operate an asphalt plant in an industrially-zoned area south and west of its present landfill operation at Six Mile and Napier. It was rescheduled from May 5 due to the illness last week of Judge Conlin, according to Margaret Austin, attorney for the township. Holloway is suing the township board and planning commission in an attempt to reverse a recent decision by the two bodies to deny the company permits to set up the asphalt plant, to mine sand and gravel and to expand its landfill on 168 acres adjacent to the present operation. John Brennan, attorney for Holloway, said Friday that postponement of the hearing causes problems for the gravel company since spring is the beginning of the asphalt season and Holloway has a large road contract to fulfill with Washtenaw County. "Obviously, it causes problems for the public as they are the consumers (of the use of the aggregate) and they are the ones who ultimately get hurt," Brennan said. The attorney added that although he hoped the judge would make a decision as soon as possible, he does not "presume to tell the court what to do." Nancy Geiger, Salem Township clerk, has also been subpoenaed to appear at the hearing. Holloway's attorney was critical of the township's record-keeping system

Brennan added that he had taken a deposition last week from Donald Riddering, head of the Salem Township Planning Commission. But he had been unable as yet to get depositions from Norma Schmemman, planning commission secretary, and from Susan Bejin, another member of the commission. The Holloway attorney added that the planning commission has not yet honored his request for copies of tapes of the February 21 planning commission meeting.

and said some papers he considers important to the case are missing from the township's file. "There was a letter from Austin telling the township that in her opinion the asphalt plant is a permitted use in the zoning district where we want to put it," Brennan said. "That letter is missing and so is a copy of the petition which citizens presented at a February planning commission meeting. That should be a part of the planning commission's file but it is not there."

MTA attorney tells Salem people should vote on leases

The people of Salem Township are entitled to a vote before any more township property can be leased to a company or individual, according to a letter from Michigan Township Association attorney Herbert H. Norton.

The letter, read at the May 3 regular meeting of the board, was in answer to a request by the township board for clarification of several issues raised by Salem Township residents at the March annual meeting.

Citizens had sought to pass several motions on a variety of issues and were told by Township Supervisor Floyd Taylor that, in most instances, their motions can be legally considered only "advisory." Taylor promised, however, that the board would seek legal advice on the issues.

Norton's letter states that it does require a vote of the people before township property can be leased to a private firm or individual. The township currently leases 77 acres of property to Holloway Sand and Gravel Company which is constructing a ski slope of trash and earth at Napier and Six Mile. Leasing was entered into by the board as part of the overall agreement which was designed to make the entire ski slope township property when it is completed.

Holloway, through its attorney John Brennan, has filed suit in Washtenaw Circuit Court seeking to set aside that agreement and the agreement which gave the township the original 77 acres several years ago. Norton agreed with the township board that the citizens' other concerns could be considered merely advisory. They include:

- Keeping of all township records only in the township hall.
- Purchase of a public address system for the township hall.
- Use of the hall for meetings by local civic groups. • A request for the township vote on Washtenaw County's short- and long-term solid waste plan to be taken at the annual meeting.

• A move for more stringent enforcement of the township zoning ordinance in order to preserve the ecology of the area and protect the citizens.

Norton said in all these instances, the township board has the final decision. When a citizen asked if the treasurer would continue to keep the tax records in his home, Township Treasurer Russell Knight replied that as a part-time treasurer he would carry on according to past practice. He added that a copy of the tax roll is also available at the township hall for those who wish to look at it.

Taylor acknowledged that a public address system for the hall might have merit and that the board would probably discuss it at the June 7 meeting.

Karl Gierman, co-chairperson of the Concerned Citizens Group, asked when the township board would be voting on the Washtenaw County solid waste plan. Taylor said that would probably be coming up in June also since the deadline for all Washtenaw County municipalities to approve or disapprove the plan is July 8.

The present Holloway landfill is on the short-term county plan and expansion of the fill appears on the county's long-term plan. Area residents have sought since December to block a requested 168-acre expansion of the Holloway operation.

Both the Salem board and its planning commission voted recently to deny Holloway's request, as well as the company's request for sand and gravel mining permits and establishment of an asphalt plant on the acreage.

Holloway's court suit seeks to reverse all of these actions.

Salem village seeks sewer aid

After 15 years of trying to get government aid for a sanitary sewer system in Salem village, the township board has new hope of achieving that goal.

The Salem Township board voted unanimously at its May 3 meeting to file an application with the Michigan Small Cities Housing Program in Lansing for a housing rehabilitation grant. Township Clerk Nancy Geiger confirmed that the application has been completed and filed.

The township was cited in 1968 for water pollution in the village. The board tried unsuccessfully several times since then to earn approval from both federal and state sources for sewer grant funds of up to 80 percent of the total cost of installing a sewer system. All of the homes in the village currently have their own wells and septic systems.

Geiger said the new grant being applied for would be at no cost to the township. She explained there are apparently two fundings available, one for $115,000 for 32 homes and, one for $125,000. There would also be a grant of $8,000 for administration costs, the clerk said.

Parson to Person...

Dr. James Luther

Cults are not new to Christianity! They have clustered around the truth since the days of the New Testament. Paul warned young Timothy to instruct his people about the danger of cults (1 Tim. 4:1-6).

What can we do about the cults abounding today? First, know why you believe! It is not enough to know what you believe. If you do not have a clear Bible basis for each belief, get help immediately!

Beware of allowing a cultist to become your teacher! Notice the Bible's stern words of warning: "If any man preach any other Gospel unto you than what you have received, let him be accursed" (Galatians 1:9).

Next, do not be swayed by false teaching simply because you do not know answers to their arguments. False teaching is born by taking Bible verses out of context. Cultists are trained to use certain verses to shake you. Seek assistance from someone with knowledge of the total teaching of Scripture.

Remember, people are most vulnerable when NOT active in personal Bible reading and study. Get involved with a Bible-believing church. "Cultivate" spiritual health and you will never fall victim to the disease of a cult.

Salem planners study private road ordinance

An ordinance governing private streets and roads will be the subject for a special meeting of the Salem Township Planning Commission May 23.

The township board at its May 3 meeting asked that the commission proceed with work on an amendment to the zoning ordinance which would spell out specifications for private roads.

Township Supervisor Floyd Taylor noted that if the ordinance does become a reality it would only apply to new private roads, not to those already in use. Such ordinances usually require that the private road be 66 feet wide and be built to county road specifications, Taylor said. He added that in most townships having similar ordinances, no building permits are issued until the access road is brought up to required specifications.

Access for emergency vehicles, width of roads, cul-de-sacs for turning and muddy spring conditions were all mentioned as reasons why an ordinance is needed.

Updating of application forms used by the township in a variety of areas such as building construction and zoning applications will also be addressed at the planning commission's special meeting, according to Ferman Rohraff, who is the liaison between the two bodies.

In other action at its May 3 meeting, the township board voted unanimously to enter into written mutual aid agreements with adjoining fire departments in Washtenaw County as requested by the county.

The board will also seek input from Oakland and Wayne County departments with which they now have verbal mutual aid agreements. Board members said, however, that the absence of a written agreement would not prevent the township from continuing with mutual aid.

Bound for a new congregation is Reverend John Mishler

Reception Sunday

Mishler leaving for East Detroit church

In appreciation of his more than four years of service at First Presbyterian Church of Northville, the Reverend John L. Mishler is being honored at a farewell reception at 12:30 p.m. Sunday in the fellowship hall of the church.

He already has begun his duties as the pastor of Covenant Presbyterian Church of East Detroit.

"It's really a joy," he comments of his new assignment, explaining that Covenant Presbyterian is a small church in the City of East Detroit at Stephens and the I-94 expressway.

The minister adds that "it's a beautiful little church about 25 years old."

He was assigned to its pulpit, which had been vacant for two years except for part-time ministers, by the Detroit Presbytery for redevelopment of the church.

His call to be assistant minister of First Presbyterian Church, however, always will hold a special significance. He assumed his duties in August, 1978, after receiving his master's degree in divinity from Columbia Theological Seminary at Decatur, in the Atlanta, Georgia, area. On December 10, 1978, he was ordained here.

The Reverend Lloyd Brasure, now pastor emeritus of the church, officiated and commented at the time that this was the first ordination in many years at the Northville church.

The Reverend Mishler became associate pastor of the church May 2, 1982.

At a special meeting April 17 the congregation voted to grant his request to dissolve the pastoral relationship with the church on April 24 so that he might accept the new post.

At the reception this Sunday the minister and his wife, Beth Baergen, will receive farewell wishes from the congregation in a reception line. In addition to Dr. Lawrence A. Chamberlain, senior pastor of the church, there will be greetings from Reverend Brasure, Larry McMellen, former interim pastor at the church, and the Reverend David Byers, minister of visitation.

Elders Jean June and John Merrifield will speak, and there will be a presentation by Al Qualman. Ninth through 12th graders at the church, with whom the Reverend Mishler worked, will present a skit. Refreshments will be supplied by the women's association.

John and Beth Mishler came to Northville from Atlanta. During his three years at seminary he had served at the large Trinity Presbyterian Church in Atlanta. Originally from Ohio, the Reverend Mishler first received a BA degree in management at Florida Presbyterian College (now Eckerd College) in St. Petersburg.

The Mishlers met in Florida and were married there about 10 years ago. She has a master's degree in social work with specialization in criminal justice from University of Florida at Gainesville. She has been attending Wayne State University Law School while working for the Internal Revenue Service in Detroit. After living first in an apartment here, the couple bought a home in Redford Township which is now for sale pending a move to East Detroit.

Hooten to be a U.S. Navy nuclear power instructor

David P. Hooten, a 1979 Northville High School graduate, has been accepted as an instructor at the U.S. Navy's Nuclear Power School in Orlando.

The 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hooten of Winchester Drive in Northville is a senior at the University of Michigan — Dearborn. He will graduate in December and attend six weeks of Naval Officer indoctrination at Newport, Rhode Island.

As a naval officer, he will report to Orlando where he will instruct courses in math, physics heat transfer and fluid flow to the Navy's enlisted Nuclear Power students.

Hooten is earning bachelor of science degrees in electrical engineering and in mathematics. He is a member of Tau Beta Pi, the national engineering honor society, and vice president of the Inter-University Christian Fellowship on the UM-D campus.

He enlisted February 17 after a successful interview with Admiral Kincaid R. McKee, director of the Naval Nuclear Propulsion Program. His recruiter is Lieutenant Jeffrey Stevenson, Brodhead Naval Armory, Detroit.

David Hooten has two brothers. Jeffrey, 18, recently completed his freshman year at UM-D. Andrew, 13, is a seventh grader at Mead Mills Junior High. His father is an employee of the Ford Motor Company Diversified Products Technical Center in Dearborn.

Canoe trips offered by Metroparks

Spring is a wonderful time of year to enjoy a canoe trip along the Huron River in southeastern Michigan.

One of the most popular routes begins on the Huron River southwest of Pontiac, through Milford and Kent Lake in Kensington Metropark, the Hamburg Area, Hudson Mills and Delhi Metroparks northwest of Ann Arbor and on to Belleville and Lake Erie.

There are several overnight campsites administered by Huron-Clinton Metroparks, available by advance permit with charges $1 per canoe up to five ($5 maximum).

Canoe rental service is now available at Delhi Metropark northwest of Ann Arbor, with advance reservations suggested during busy spring weekends and the summer months. Two trips are available: Hudson Mills to Delhi Metropark — $14 — or Dexter-Huron Metropark to Delhi Metropark — $8, plus deposit charge ($10).

For details, call Skip's Canoe Rental Service — phone 769-8686 — or Hudson Mills Metropark — phone 426-8211 (Dexter).

In Uniform

Airman Jody D. Lauber, daughter of Ben A. Lauber of 20252 Longwood Court, Northville, and Judith Lauber of Belmont, California, has completed Air Force basic training and been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

Lauber will now receive specialized instruction in the medical services field.

During six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, Lauber studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Lauber is a 1979 Northville High School graduate.

Yellow tulips create bright splash of gold around town clock

All spaces sold for giant sale on downtown streets Saturday

Northville's annual city garage sale this Saturday promises to be a day for fun and bargains.

In addition to the 185 spaces completely sold out to individuals and local organizations, there will be an auction in the center of town and continuous entertainment in the town square by the clock.

The sale sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce officially begins at 9 a.m. and lasts until 5 p.m. Main and Center streets will be blocked off downtown during the sale hours.

Chamber president Scott Lapham and his father Charles, however, plan to be on hand much earlier, marking street spaces with tire chalk before spaceholders arrive with their flea market wares.

"This chalk," says the younger Lapham, "will not be erased by rain." However, no rain date had been set by press time as good weather is being predicted.

The auction is a repeat attraction from last year. It is being conducted by Auction Arena in the intersection of Main and Center streets from noon to 4 p.m. Anyone with items to be placed on the auction block should make arrangements regarding price with the auctioneers on the site at 10 a.m., Lapham advises.

Northville Kiwanis Club, he notes, will be accepting donations at its booth in front of the Little People's Shop. Donors will receive tax deductible credit. Anyone who has a donation and cannot bring it to the booth the day of the sale may call Frank Skinner, club president, at 349-4216, John Genitti, 349-0915, or Jack Hoffman, 349-4094.

Lapham reports there will be "lots of food" on sale at booths during the day. Other organizations taking spaces include Northville Rotary, Knights of Columbus, Northville Cooperative Nursery and a Lions Club.

Large items that will be in the "flea market" include freezers and lawn mowers, Lapham has been told.

Proceeds from the sale of the 185 spaces at $15 each are used for expenses of the sponsoring chamber. Spaceholders retain all their profits. Chamber executive secretary Kay Keegan reports that the summer flea market held at Northville Downs also will be an attraction Saturday.

In celebration of the beginning of Michigan Week a spring festival will be presented in the town square park east of Northville Downs. Sponsored by the fine arts and physical education departments of the Northville Public Schools, the festival will include music by the school choir and bands as well as dance programs.

Lapham adds that he "squeezed in" a card table-size space the beginning of the week for a group seeking signatures on petitions for Governor James Blanchard's recall.

Sherrill Cannon with photograph in current exhibit

Artists' work in gallery show in Northville through month

Work of two artists is being featured at Northville Art Gallery at 224 South Main through May 28.

Hand-colored photographs taken by Sherrill Cannon and fabric-inspired stoneware by Jamie Fine are being shown in the exhibit which opened with a reception for the artists last weekend.

Cannon, who has been a photographer for 10 years, is displaying photographs taken in the Southwest and Florida. She was a photographic intern at The Record for two years while a student at Northville High School, working with chief photographer James Galbraith. She continued with the newspaper for more than two additional years. She recently was graduated from University of Michigan.

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and 1-4 p.m. Saturday.

Don't bank in the mail box

A Northville businessman who inadvertently dropped a bank deposit along with some letters into the mail box by Arbor Drugs last Thursday night at 4:30 p.m. was first in line at the Northville Post Office last Friday morning — hoping to retrieve his bank deposit.

However, mail collected in Northville in the final afternoon pick-up is bagged and sent directly to Detroit for sorting. As of Tuesday morning, the deposit of checks for more than $100 had not been located.

"The unfortunate thing is that he waited until the next morning," explained Dennis Downie, superintendent of local postal operations.

"This happens a lot," he added, stressing that anyone depositing anything unintentionally in a local mail box should notify the Northville Post Office right away.

"If we had known that night," he said, "we could have retrieved the deposit from the bag before the truck left for Detroit." A check of the Detroit Post Office claims and inquiry department Tuesday did not locate the missing deposit, but Downie was told that if there is no outside identification on material dropped in a letter box, it is sent to the dead letter office. There it is opened. He said then the deposit likely would be sent to the bank.

The businessman who asked to be unidentified said he did not realize until later what he had done and would be checking his bank. "Just don't use my name — I don't want my wife to know," he said.

VIRGINIA M. GOTRO

Funeral service for Virginia M. Gotro, 65, was held at 11 a.m. Monday at Casterline Funeral Home in Northville with the Reverend Richard Griffith of Novi United Methodist Church officiating.

Burial was in Oakland Hills Cemetery in Novi.

Mrs. Gotro died at her home in Plymouth May 6 after a year's illness.

A former resident of Northville, she had been an area resident for 30 years. She was a member of the Plymouth Girls All Stars Bowling League and Plymouth Elks No. 1780.

She was born December 15, 1917, in Port Huron to Wellington and Anna (Kelly) London. She married Robert D. Gotro February 22, 1946.

In addition to her husband she leaves three sons, Robert A. of Plymouth, David K. Reed and Charles G. Reed, both of Highland; and six grandchildren.

Born in Novi, July 8, 1895, to Wesley and Mertie (Clark) Kenner, he had spent his life in the area.

He is survived by his wife Myrtle Taylor Kenner of Milford, whom he married in 1920.

He also is survived by his daughter Mrs. Betty Sutton of Northville, his two sisters Maude Decker and Myrl Gowman of Pittsford, 10 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his daughter Irlene Holmes and his son Perry.

ROSS W. KENNER

Funeral service for area resident Ross W. Kenner was held at 1 p.m. April 28 at Casterline Funeral Home. The Reverend Robert Taylor officiated. Burial was at Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens.

Mr. Kenner died April 26 at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. He was 87.

News from Lansing

By R. ROBERT GEAKE
State Senator

Emotions are running high and anti-tax sentiment is fueling a statewide drive to oust Governor James Blanchard from office. I can't say that I blame the voters for being upset. I am not too happy myself.

But elected officials should not be recalled simply because we do not agree with their decisions.

The decision to raise the state income tax by 38 percent was a grievous one. I'm proud of my "no" vote, and still chafing at the way the hike was jostled through the legislative process by a one-sided legislature. But I don't want to see Governor Blanchard, or any other public official, for that matter, recalled on the basis of decisions their constituents gave them the authority to make.

I happen to believe they were wrong, but as Voltaire said, "I disapprove of what you say but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

The recall process was established as a drastic measure, a vehicle of punishment for elected officials guilty of crime or personal wrongdoing. Recall elections are rife with recrimination and rhetoric. They are painful for the official and unhealthy for the community. They're also costly for the taxpayer: A statewide recall election would be a multi-million dollar proposition. Recalls take a great deal of time and attention away from the goals of good government, and concentrate too much energy on the purely political.

Recalls are getting out of hand. From 1979 to 1982, there were 117 such elections held on the local level in Michigan, and they're on the increase. A recall attempt of a state officer has yet to succeed, mainly because of the large number of petition signatures required in a relatively short time. The "Recall Blanchard" proponents, for example, must obtain 706,002 valid signatures in 90 days to see their issue on the ballot.

Maybe they'll do it. Most likely they won't. But one way or the other, I do not think recalls are the solution. They're part of the problem. And the problem, as I see it, is this: Not enough people vote. Many of those who do vote don't take time to read and understand the issues. Not enough voters are thoroughly knowledgeable of the candidates — their voting records, experience and philosophies.

We have established a democratic elections process that has served us well. We should take better advantage of it. The people of Michigan made their decisions last November. The candidates they chose should be allowed to have a complete term in which to face the many difficult decisions to come before them.

If recalls become the order of the day, the entire legislative process will suffer. More elected officials will begin to shy away from weighty matters, leading to inaction and an even slower moving system. We could witness more selective absenteeism during controversial votes and suffer a legislature preoccupied with its political future.

The people of Michigan elected a Democratic legislature and governor. Although I happen to be a Republican, I believe those officials deserve an opportunity to serve without the distraction and aggravation of recalls and special elections.

Dental Dialogue
of A. Allen Tuchklapfer, D.D.S.

TEETH DETECTIVES

Q. Can our teeth tell difference in temperature, size, or taste?
A. Even though we can safely say our teeth are truly remarkable, it is interesting to note that they can't tell whether it's ice cream or hot tea we are consuming. We may experience pain when we bite into something hot or cold but that's because of the temperature receptors we have in our tongue and lips. Teeth can however sense the size of whatever is between them. They are so sensitive in fact, they can detect the finest grit. This ability belongs to the pressure receptors that are located in the periodontal fiber. Of course, it's not possible for our teeth to tell us if a food is sweet or sour, or even if we like it. That is the job of a group of cells commonly known as taste buds.

Bogus $20 bill discovered, may be more, officials say

In the City...

Area merchants and consumers are advised to be alert to possible bogus bills circulating in the community. Last week, a counterfeit 20-dollar bill was discovered to have passed not only through the hands of a Northville resident, but through the Northville branch of National Bank of Detroit, 42901 Seven Mile Road.

According to reports from the city police department, one counterfeit bill was discovered being passed at Arbor Drugs, 133 East Dunlap, Monday of last week. Upon questioning, the passer stated he had been issued the bill at the Northville NBD branch.

"It could have come from anywhere," said Donna Scott, branch manager. Asked if it were likely more were circulating in the area, Scott replied, "It's possible. There seems to be an increase in all types of counterfeiting."

Differences in the cut of the bills are barely discernable, but the coloring of the counterfeits is a shade lighter than legal tender, a difference hardly visible unless compared side-by-side to a normal bill.

The counterfeit bill has been forwarded to the U.S. Secret Service for further investigation, and a city police spokesperson said it was expected the federal agency would report back to local police following a lengthy investigation process. Northville Chamber of Commerce merchants were notified of the counterfeit bill, and police have requested further public notice.

In the Township...

A 24-year-old Westland man was arrested by township police May 5 on charges of distributing and being in possession of a controlled substance.

The subject was picked up by township police around 6:30 p.m. in the Innsbrook parking area.

According to police reports, an officer was dispatched to the area following a report by an Innsbrook employee who said the suspect asked him if he wanted to purchase mescaline.

Arriving at the scene, the officer found the suspect, Rickey Dale Houck, and a female passenger sitting in a 1963

AMC.

Upon approaching the driver's door, the officer found a fixed blade knife and a plastic bag of pink pills on the floor board.

Both items were confiscated and police contacted the complaining witness, who identified Houck as the man who tried to sell him mescaline.

The suspect was arrested and taken into custody by township police. A LEIN (Law Enforcement Information Network) check showed that the suspect was wanted by Westland police on a traffic warrant.

The suspect was held on $100 bond before being picked-up by Westland police.

The Western Michigan Poison Center identified the pills in the bag as fake amphetamines and diet capsules.

A 1979 Triumph was reported stolen from Northville Charley's parking lot May 5, according to township police.

An East Lansing woman told police she parked and locked her vehicle at Northville Charley's around 7:30 p.m.

Upon returning around 10 p.m. she discovered the car was missing.

The license plate was checked in LEIN and entered as impounded by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The vehicle was found the same evening in Lyon Township by the Oakland County New Hudson substation.

Missing from the vehicle was the hood, trunk lid, spare tire, engine, transmission, exhaust system, sunroof, glass and radio. The report stated everything was carefully unbolted and removed with nothing cut or damaged.

A grease fire at a Northville Road residence May 6 caused an estimated $500 in damage to the kitchen area of the home, according to township police.

Police were dispatched to the home around 2:30 p.m. on a report of a kitchen fire.

The fire apparently started when a pan of grease caught fire. The overhead stove vent was the most damaged area. No injuries were reported and the incident was turned over to the Township Fire Department.

Northville resident KIM HENSTOCK was among the 63 members of Ferris State College's Concert Choir recently conducting its annual spring tour with concerts at Cadillac, Frankfort, Manistee and Newaygo High Schools.

Ferris' Concert Choir, under the direction of William Donahue, performed a variety of choral music ranging from Mozart to contemporary pop.

Northville resident JILL BERQUIST recently received the Sigma Alpha Iota College Honor Award from the Albion College music department.

Berquist, an Albion College senior majoring in English and anthropology, was honored for her contribution to the musical sorority — both in music and scholarship.

Berquist is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George R. Berquist of 41979 Banbury Court.

JEANNIE BERGERS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bergers of 21298 Eastfarm, was among the 100 students initiated into Tower Guard and Mortar Board in Michigan State University's annual May Morning Sing April 29.

The traditional ceremony required that parents, roommates and friends deliver the unsuspecting initiates to the 7 a.m. ceremony at Beaumont Tower on the MSU campus.

Students were greeted by Moses Turner, MSU vice president for student affairs and services, serenaded by the MSU Singing Statesmen and presented with roses. Approximately 250 people were on hand to witness the ceremony.

Tower Guard, a service honorary established in 1935, selects outstanding freshmen on the basis of high academic achievement, good character and a willingness to serve.

Woman injured in Seven Mile accident

A 17-year-old Brighton woman was listed in guarded condition at St. Mary Hospital Tuesday morning, following an accident Saturday on Seven Mile Road involving a semi-truck and a hearse.

Connie Elaine Villenellue of Brighton was a passenger in the hearse driven by Glen LeRoy Hysell, 32, of Woodland Drive.

According to township police, a semi heading westbound on Seven Mile Road hit the side of the eastbound hearse as it started to make a left turn onto Gerald.

According to the police report, Ronald Simcheck, the driver of the semi, told police the truck started to veer left as he hit the brake to turn.

The accident occurred around 6:40 p.m. Saturday. Both Hysell and Villenellue were taken to St. Mary Hospital. No injuries to the driver of the semi were listed in the police report.

Township police still are investigating the accident.

Our Opinions

Beware of risk

While the city budget now being prepared includes increases in neither taxes nor expenses, we hope everyone involved recognizes the risks inherent when keeping spending at last year's levels.

It is not that spending was extravagant last year (or the year before, for that matter) but that income fell far short of projections. Having collected less than $1 million in racetrack revenues over the past two years combined, the city's 1983-84 budget projects receipt of $800,000 in the coming year. The projection may be realistic, but here lies the risk.

State cuts in parimutuel tax payments to cities (not to mention reductions in other forms of state shared revenue) reduced Northville's income against projections by over $300,000 in 1981-82 and by a similar amount in '82-83. The cuts led directly to a $479,000 deficit at the end of the last year, likely to grow by something less than $20,000 by the end of the current fiscal year next month. Given two successive years of revenue shortfall, many would decide to reduce projections for the third year.

There are several good reasons the city is, instead, budgeting with the expectation that payments will return to normal. The rebound in the economy is one, and so is the belief that, given the recent state income tax increase, the governor and legislature are likely to be more generous with racetrack cities.

City manager Steven Walters has argued that reducing services, especially police service, to the track violates the law that mandates the track payments. Also, the city could not credibly argue that it needs the money from the track if it had already gone ahead and cut services in the expectation of reduced revenues. In this scenario, if the city reduces revenue projections expecting a cut, it becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy by inviting such a reduction.

The crux of the issue is that law requires the state pay 20 percent (up to $900,000) of the parimutuel tax receipts back to the city in exchange for services (police, traffic control, road upkeep and the like). Yet, the attorney general has ruled precedence is given a requirement that no monies be disbursed from the general fund without the legislature having passed an appropriation approving the expense.

As a result of the attorney general's stance, Lansing has been free to "find" general fund revenue for its own uses by appropriating less to racetrack cities — regardless of the legislative 20 percent formula (which makes no allowance for smaller payments). In 1982-83, the percentage would have sent the city $876,000 — it has been appropriated less than $500,000.

For all the reasons mentioned above (economic rebound, income tax rise and justifiable expense), it may be safe to anticipate a 1983-84 appropriation of $800,000 (or even 20 percent). We would remind city budget planners, however, that the governor's budget outline gives priorities to social services, mental health, education and corrections while making no mention of local government.

What is unsound is to continue indefinitely what has become an annual guessing game involving more than 20 percent of the city's general fund revenue. This year it may work out — but what happens the next time the state experiences a budget crunch? Now that legislators are used to the idea, will they be tempted to divert $1 million a year (taking all the tracks into account) out of revenues due cities into the state general fund to cover pet projects? Any reduction in the year's receipts would harm the city's ability to pay off the accumulated debt.

From this perspective, one logical alternative is to take the issue to court and let a judge decide whether the enabling legislation or the appropriations rule is the determining factor. The city is exploring this avenue, with the idea other racetrack cities could join in a class action. Such a suit may have political ramifications that make it a "last resort" solution, but continued uncertainty is intolerable. The suit deserves consideration.

Certainty of incoming revenues might be reached through a court decision or through revised legislation. Both routes have risks. A legislative floor debate could result in a bill sharing less parimutuel tax (say 10 or 15 percent, or with a lower cap) or containing other undesirable restrictions.

It is the uncertainty of the political process that has thrust the city into this guessing game. So long as Lansing is free to retain whatever portion of the parimutuel tax it feels is necessary, while contrarily being required to pay a certain figure, Northville will be unable to make a reliable projection of its income for the coming year. While a court may agree with the attorney general, even such a "negative" decision would put revenue projections on firmer ground.

If we are to go into the 1983-84 fiscal year with questionable revenue projections, as seems likely, let us do so with our eyes open and determine that this situation will not be allowed to continue. Another round of cuts should lead either to a spending (service) reduction, or positive action to resolve the uncertainty.

Don't miss it

For eight hours this Saturday — barring an uninvited thunderstorm — the City Garage Sale will take over the center of downtown. Sponsored by the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce, the event is a fundraiser for the chamber, but, more than that, it's a day for residents to enjoy.

Browsing for bargains among the 186 booths along Main and Center is a big part of the fun. Conceived by the chamber as a way for residents to "spring clean" and be rid of unwanted items, the sale also is a social event with neighbors who haven't chatted all winter meeting on Main Street.

Some special attractions are included in this year's sale. The Northville AAUW is introducing The Game of Northville, a monopoly-like board game with local businesses featured. Proceeds are to be used for scholarships to graduating seniors at Northville High School. Northville Kiwanis is accepting merchandise donations at its booth — to be sold to raise funds for youth projects.

In the town square by the clock continuous entertainment will be provided by students in a spring festival of the arts. The sale is the first event here of Michigan Week, which will continue next Monday with the traditional Mayor Exchange Day. Come to town — and have fun saying Yes to Northville.

Off the record

Remembering life on the farm

Almost a century of living has left her nearly blind — the thick lenses of her glasses camouflaging the pale blues eyes which have watched the world through its decades of change.

She's much smaller than I ever remember — her frail body merely a silhouette of the strong, confident woman posing before the camera in her shirtwaist and highbuttoned shoes.

At 92, my grandmother is beginning to show her age. Though I always have thought of her as ageless, I now realize that Father Time has caught up with her — turning her walk into a shuffle and her hair the color of snow.

Though her stature has diminished, she has retained the indelible spirit which has carried her through life. For as many years as I can remember, she has been the backbone of the McElmurry clan — the driving force which holds most of us together. Perhaps that is why her name seems so well-suited — Era.

I always have considered my grandmother to be among the last of the pioneer women. Born in 1890 in the Missouri countryside, she has lived a life unknown to my generation. She spent the best part of her life working the land. Her hands, with the veins twisting through her fingers like blue rivers, are evidence of a lifetime of hard work.

She learned to cook when she was eight-years-old — standing on a box to reach the wood-burning stove. Her mother, plagued by sickness, relied on her eldest daughter to cook for the fieldhands on the family farm.

A farmer's daughter, she became a farmer's wife when she married my grandfather in 1910. They were married in the front room of a home in Charleston, Missouri, on a blustery winter day. They had met at church, where she played the piano and he drove a handsome buggy.

I always have loved to listen to my grandmother's stories. Perhaps, it is because I have some recollection of the life my grandparents shared together before my grandfather's death almost 20 years ago.

On the corner of Schoolcraft and Merriman Roads, which now is paved by I-696, my grandparents lived on a small three-acre farm. Though it wasn't much of a place, it looked like the entire countryside to a small child brought up among the row houses and paved driveways of the suburbs.

I often spent weekends with my grandparents — following on the heels of grandfather as he fed the chickens, watching my grandmother can the peaches from the tree in the back and learning to shuck the corn from the fields.

I still can hear the sound of the screen door slamming against its wood frame — the spring snapping it back into place. I used to sit in bed and listen to the shrill whistle of the train as it roared past the house and watch the sunset from my bedroom window.

When I awoke in the morning, my grandfather already would be off in the fields while my grandmother would be cooking breakfast in the kitchen. She'd listen to the news on an old radio which sat on top of the icebox, and from my seat at the table I could see the clothes drying on the line out back.

My grandparents came from sturdy stock. Their strength seemed to come from the land they toiled — despite the many hardships wrought to their life by droughts and blight. They never expected much, but seemed to have so much to give. Together, they raised five children, worked a small farm and took any job they could find to put food on the table. They managed to get by — hardships and all.

The recollections of that farm are among my most vivid childhood memories. Though my grandparents never had material wealth, they were richer in other ways. For one thing, they had each other.

Though she's been alone now for nearly 20 years, my grandmother still retains her spirit. She's an inspiration for her many grandchildren, great-grandchildren and even great-great-grandchildren. I only hope that after she's gone, someone will carry on the legacy.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

Thinking up names for new columns tends to be a somewhat challenging exercise.

We usually sit around my office, throwing out ideas until someone comes up with something that we generally all like.

The best person I ever saw at thinking up column names was David Ray. A few years ago, a reporter named Steve Bell was trying to think up a name for his column in the Novi-Walled Lake paper. Ray was magnificent, throwing out such gems as "Tropic of Novi" and "Stopping by Twelve Oaks on a Snowy Evening" before Bell finally settled on "A Random Sample."

I've always felt the title of my own column was pretty good and made the mistake of saying so in front of my staff during a recent column-naming session.

"I like it because it has a double-meaning," I said.

I could tell by the blank looks that they hadn't realized there was a double meaning to "After the fact."

"Look," I explained, "it can mean 'After the fact,' as in 'too little, too late' or it can mean 'After the fact' as in 'in hot pursuit of the truth.' Get it?"

Bewildered looks greeted my explanation. Finally someone dared ask what truth has ever been hotly pursued in "After the fact."

"I don't believe it," I responded. "I'm always in hot pursuit of the truth. 'After the fact' deals in a semi-humorous vein with the great issues confronting suburban man. Man versus machine, man versus his lawn, man versus his wife."

I could see a faint glow of recognition crossing their faces. They were beginning to understand. "Oh, something like, man versus time, man versus deadline, man versus senility."

A humble man with only modest expectations of others, I leaned back in my chair and sighed, secure in the knowledge that they at least had grasped the concept.

Genitti's defended on application for liquor license

To the Editor:
We would like to thank John and Toni Genitti for the family restaurant service they provide for our community. Where else can you take a group of 60 after a fund raiser?

Who else in Northville can cater full course meals to 100 people in your own home?

And where else in Northville can you feel comfortable sending your children to lunch alone?

Certainly not in Getzie's or the Winner's Circle.

Because someone is successful, or attempts to provide this community with variety, and meet its many needs, should they be penalized? I'm sure the Genittis are not trying to prey on the alcoholic dependencies of people, but instead just add a little more flair to the already terrific dining they provide.

After all, isn't the object of Mainstreet 78 to bring more people into town and increase the level of interest in Northville? Haven't the Genittis done just that? Ask the people from Franklin, Birmingham, West Bloomfield and those from the Michigan Gift Association (M.A.G.S.) who wait for reservations and stand in line to get into the Hole in the Wall.

It is about time that all of Northville begin working together to make our community one of unity and cooperation! There is room for a variety of eating and entertaining establishments in our town.

Ray and Roxanne
Casterline

To the Editor:
We are writing to express our support of the Genitti family as they apply for a Class C report liquor license. We have enjoyed eating and shopping at their establishment for a long time.

The variety of changes that the Genittis have made in their business shows how progressive and innovative they are. They offer a most desirable selection of goods and services. Countless people have enjoyed the food and atmosphere at the Hole-in-the-Wall. It most certainly does NOT have any resemblance to a "junkyard!"

If any of your readers have not yet visited Genitti's, we urge them to do so and enjoy the decor, the antiques, the friendliness, and especially the food.

Very truly yours,
George and Carole Miller

Blood drive organizers thank donors, church

To the Editor:
On behalf of the American Red Cross and the Northville Jayettes, we would like to thank all the blood donors that took part in the Northville Community Drive.

I would also like to thank all the businesses that gladly displayed our posters and allowed their employees to donate during working hours. I would especially like to thank the First Presbyterian Church for the use of their facilities.

We had a very successful drive!
Thank you.

Cabbagetown group warns of rezoning

To the Editor:
While the Cabbagetown Residents' Association has most recently been involved with playground and traffic issues, we have always been interested in zoning. In fact, the association was founded in response to some zoning issues in our area several years ago. (Cabbagetown is located east of Center and south of Eight Mile)

We would like to call the attention of Northville homeowners to an important meeting of the (city) planning commission on Tuesday, May 17. This meeting will be a public hearing on the question of rezoning properties near Northville Downs on Center and Fairbrook from residential to B.P.O. (Business, Professional, Office).

Although not blindly opposed to the judicious and appropriate rezoning of property, we are concerned that certain commitments made at council meetings in November, 1982, be kept.

Also, we are curious as to how far this proposed rezoning will be extended or expanded. For example, the proposed greenbelt on the disputed Center Street property that was to limit parking and to soften its visual impact has not been created.

Throughout the racing season, parking was from sidewalk to lot line with greater density in numbers than existed before. This is in clear violation of both the stated intent of council and the legal opinion of the new city attorney — which held that the non-conforming parking of cars could NOT be expanded in this residential zone.

All residential property owners should be concerned that Northville remain a pleasant community with a viable business and commercial base. Commercial viability need not result in the erosion of residential areas and its effects on property values.

Rezoning large blocks of residential property to commercial or related uses impacts not only the immediate neighborhoods in which these properties are located, but ultimately every neighborhood in Northville.

Resident participation sought for Field Day

To the Editor:
On Sunday, July 3, the Northville Community Recreation Commission is planning a Field Day.

Events will include field events for children and youth, honorary events for various local officials and groups, and sponsorship events.

The main purpose of this day is to reduce the large deficit which resulted when the Rec Building needed many repairs. The money is to be raised primarily through the sponsorship program.

However, there is another purpose. It is hoped that this event will bring the people of the Northville community together for a day of family fun.

Northville is fortunate to have a wonderful Fourth of July planned for us every year. It is hoped that the July 3rd Field Day will add to it — not detract. Now there will be even more reason to stay in town for the weekend.

The committee is working hard on the plans, and all decisions have not been made yet. The rain date of July 4th is tentative and, if held then, only the sponsorship events will take place. This would be to honor commitments made.

We are trying to be objective in working with all groups — city and township governments, churches, Jaycees, and schools, etc.

If anyone has suggestions, we want to hear them. There will be more information as decisions are made and the big day draws near.

Representatives back GOP economic recovery plans

Republican State Representatives Gerald Law of Plymouth and Willis Bullard of Milford, both representing portions of Northville, are supporting their party's economic development plan, according to a release from Law's office.

The release says the plan is a "thorough, comprehensive approach to revitalizing Michigan businesses and putting people back to work."

Product of several months' development, the plan represents the house GOP agenda for stimulation of an economic recovery.

A special Republican task force has been reviewing state government with the idea of streamlining regulations and enacting laws to enhance business and job opportunities.

The plan includes 38 specific proposals, addressing the three major concerns of regulatory reform, reducing business costs and the development of long-range policies, according to Law and Bullard.

Although workers and unemployment compensation reforms were enacted last year, the representatives said the changes will not be effective unless administered properly.

"And we still need to tighten the definition of disability in workers' compensation and end the automatic increases in unemployment benefits. These types of policies are difficult to enact, but we can't lose sight of the long range benefit because of the short term political difficulties involved."

The plan calls for program review (sunset legislation) in order to oversee regulatory functions to be sure they are appropriate and not overly burdensome.

Law and Bullard said the state's prevailing wage law should be repealed because it acts as a disincentive to projects subsidized by economic development corporations. They added that the state should adopt policies to stimulate creation of new permanent jobs.

"Unemployment in Michigan is a staggering problem that has thrown our economy into a tailspin. But we can't address that issue solely by providing public works programs," the representatives' statement said. "We'll support coordinated job-training efforts, and the use of state pension funds and bonding authority to provide capital for investment."

"But we also need new and innovative ideas, such as partially forgiving state loans for engineering and science student who work in Michigan after being educated here."

They also supported easing the restrictions on contracts between university professors and business to reverse the brain drain of researchers who leave the state's schools for the private sector.

"Michigan is at a crossroads," their statement concluded. "We can continue the policies of the past that have discouraged business expansion and increased joblessness. Or we can take a new, bold and creative approach to solving old problems. We think the Republican agenda is a good start, and we hope to see it enacted this session."

Objects to motorcycle noise in Beacon Woods

To the Editor:
Regarding the editor's comments (Spring's in the air — noisily, April 27) concerning motorcycle noise in the township: in view of the fact that there may be some new homeowners in the area, it might be timely for the police department to publish the rules regarding cycles and noise.

The noise on Woodhill Road and in Beacon Woods subdivision is especially bad.

Thank you,

Bill would extend act used for Mainstreet '78

State Representative Willis Bullard, Jr. (R-60th District) has co-sponsored legislation, introduced recently in the Michigan House of Representatives, that would extend for two years provisions in the Commercial Redevelopment Act that allow participating communities to attract new business development through property tax exemptions.

Bullard explained that the current language in the law that allows the exemptions, provided at the discretion of local units of government, will expire on December 31, 1983. The legislation that Bullard is co-sponsoring would extend the exemptions until December 31, 1985.

"When the Commercial Redevelopment Act was passed in 1978, the Legislature could not predict the length of the current recession," Bullard stated. "It now appears that the two year extension is mandatory if Michigan is to participate in the economic recovery, because the next two years will be our only hope in attracting new industry and jobs to Michigan."

Bullard said that the law now allows local units of government to exempt new businesses, or businesses adding on or expanding facilities, from paying property taxes.

"The auto industry is no longer a guarantee of full employment even during prosperous economic times," Bullard concluded. "This proposed extension of the sunset date would come at a time when the Commercial Redevelopment Act is needed most, and adoption of the extension is imperative if Michigan intends to create more jobs and get the state back on sound economic footing."

Bullard joins subcommittee on local government funds

State representative Willis Bullard, Jr., whose Oakland County district includes a portion of the City of Northville, has been appointed a member of a newly-formed House Taxation Subcommittee on local government financing.

A former Highland Township supervisor, the freshman legislator is the only subcommittee member with municipal government experience.

The subcommittee was organized to review existing Michigan programs in such areas as revenue sharing, property taxes, special millages and bonding. The panel is also charged with reviewing handle local government financing.

"One of the most important questions this subcommittee has been asked to answer is if local government and school financing systems of other states could be used in Michigan," Bullard said.

"My years on the local level should help me during my tenure on this panel," he said. "I look forward to the challenge of working with my fellow subcommittee members in analyzing local government and school financing and perhaps finding more adequate and equitable ways of providing local revenue."

CITY OF NORTHVILLE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

PROPOSED 1983 CITY PROPERTY TAX LEVY AND PROPOSED 1983-84 CITY BUDGET INCLUDING FEDERAL REVENUE SHARING

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 215 W. Main Street, at 8:00 p.m., E.D.S.T., on Monday, May 23, 1983, for the purpose of receiving testimony and discussing the proposed 1983 City tax levy and the proposed 1983-84 City Budget, including the use of federal revenue sharing funds.

Proposed 1983 Millage Rates:

The following statements are provided in compliance with Public Act 5 of 1982, as amended, and Public Act 2 of 1968, as amended:
The 1983 operating millage levy for the City of Northville is proposed to be 15.68 mills, the same rate which was levied in 1982.
The 1983 millage levy for South Main Street Paving is proposed to be 0.50 mills, the same rate which was levied in 1982.
The 1983 millage rate for the Randolph Drain Project is proposed to be 1.20 mills, the same rate which was levied in 1982.
The City Council has authority under the City Charter to set the operating millage rate within its maximum allowed millage rate, which was 19.25 mills in 1982.

Anticipated Equalization Factors:

The 1983 equalization factor for Oakland County is expected to be 1.00 for all classes. The 1982 Oakland Factor, after equalization by the State Tax Commission, was 1.06 for all classes.
The 1983 equalization factor for Wayne County is expected to be 0.9938 for residential, 1.0297 for commercial and 1.0000 for industrial. The 1982 Wayne factor was 1.0000 for all classes.

Federal Revenue Sharing Funds:

A hearing on the use of Federal Revenue Sharing Funds was held on May 2, 1983. Following that hearing, the City Council determined to use the 1983-84 Federal Revenue Sharing Funds toward the 1983-84 payment on the aerial fire truck.

The 1983-84 City Budget is proposed as follows:

General Fund Revenues:
Property taxes		$1,245,500
State-shared Rev.		290,200
Licenses, fees		18,000
Fines, forfeits		10,100
Sales & Services		33,100
Miscellaneous		109,000
Inter-fund Reimb.		832,130
Revenue Total		$2,538,030
General Fund Expenditures:
Legislative/Judicial		$ 32,400
Administrative		292,400
Buildings & Grounds		147,400
Police Department		722,990
Fire & Inspection		149,870
Public Works		361,000
Recreation & Cultural		114,350
Other Division		493,320
Reserve for Prior Deficit		224,320
Expenditure Total		$2,538,030

The Major and Local Street Funds are proposed as follows:

Revenues:	Major Street Fund	Local Street Fund
Gas & Weight Taxes	$80,000	$32,000
Local Contributions	$3,700	$2,520
Expenditures:	$133,700	$124,520

Transfers between Appropriations:
As provided in the State Uniform Budgeting and Accounting Act, the general appropriations resolution is proposed to allow the City Manager to transfer up to ten percent (10%) of each appropriation to any other appropriation within each fund, but not between funds.

Copies of Proposed Budget Available:

Other funds are not included in the general appropriations resolution. In accordance with the State Uniform Budgeting and Accounting Act, but are included for information in the 1983-84 City Budget Document. These funds include the Equipment Fund, the Water and Sewer Fund, the Public Improvements Fund, the Parking Fund, the Special Assessment Fund and the Allen Terrace Operating Fund.

A complete copy of the 1983-84 City Budget Document is available for public inspection at the City Clerk's Office during regular business hours. In addition, a limited number of copies are available to be checked out for review by City residents at home.

Studio is also a show room

By MARY SPRY

Soft colors, beautiful fabrics, and a well-defined look are the first impressions of Sherian Square Interiors.

Sherry Shaw, interior designer and owner of Sherian Square, has created a professional yet relaxed atmosphere in her new business surroundings in Milford. She has coordinated an interior design studio and a showroom in one setting.

The design studio is the result of years of work, study and planning.

"It has taken a long time to reach this point. My mother and I had a small crafts shop in Walled Lake for several years, but I realized there was only so much that could be done in the crafts area. I've always been interested in design, so we sold the shop and I started working out of my home," she said.

A member of the Interior Design Association, Sherry worked out of her home for three years before deciding to move her business into its present location.

And as a Milford resident, Sherry wanted to locate the business in the area. "I've been looking for a long time in Milford, and I was driving by and noticed that this building was vacant."

The renovation of the building took two months and each step of the work was the result of careful planning. The soft gray exterior was chosen to blend with the surrounding area. The interior was designed with goals of maximum space utilization, energy efficiency and noise reduction.

Although all the goals were accomplished, it is the blending of the colors, fabrics and practical layout of the interior that is the most noticeable feature. Sherry's flexible design philosophy is evident throughout the studio. She designs for both private residences and businesses. "I enjoy design and the challenges that go along with it in both areas," she commented.

"With the economy, most people are staying put and redecorating their present homes. I can offer new ideas and there are always problem areas that need a solution. You can pull together a really nice look that isn't that expensive.

"It takes a little bit of study and getting acquainted with the client and many people pretty much have an idea of what they need to redesign their home," Sherry explained.

"My role is to get an idea of the homeowner and the space. The type of design doesn't matter. I don't suggest they should get rid of everything they live with. I work with the client, it's their home and it is not for me to convince them to do something else."

According to Sherry, consulting with a designer can mean a change as simple as rearranging existing furniture or it can be as dramatic as a total renovation of a home's interior.

"The size of the home doesn't matter, I could walk into a one room home and

PAUL J. SERWINEK

Serwinek is the president of Insurance Advisors, Incorporated, an independent agency in Union Lake.

THE NEW SHERATON OAKS HOTEL in Novi has won an Award of Excellence from the Sheraton Corporation for "outstanding interior atmosphere and design."

The award, presented annually to selective new and/or renovated hotel properties, was presented by Joseph McInerney, president of Sheraton Inns, Incorporated, during the Sheraton Midwest Regional Council meeting in Missouri. Accepting the award on behalf of the Sheraton Oaks were hotel administrators Raymond P. Biggs and Shelby Fox.

The hotel interior, which features a soaring central atrium and contemporary appointments in oak, brass and varying shades of burgundy, was coordinated by local designer Stephen Mitchell.

McInerney cited the Sheraton Oaks as an "... example of excellence in designing 'livable' space: warm, lush and wholly in tune with a modern, suburban environment."

The Sheraton Oaks is located at I-96 and Novi Road, opposite Twelve Oaks Mall.

PAUL FOLINO, State Farm Insurance Companies agent in Northville, has been named to the Legion of Honor, one of the company's most prestigious recognition groups.

To qualify, an agent must achieve high-quality standards in all aspects of the business, as the firm has determined Folino has done in 22 years with State Farm.

A resident of the city of Northville, Folino is a member of the city council.

THE BAIT STOP SPORTS SHOP is ready for the fishing season. Located in New Hudson at 57010 Grand River, at the corner of Milford Road, the Bait Stop Sports Shop offers live bait and tackle, according to manager Jerry Noble. Bait includes minnows, crawlers and red worms. All types of tackle are sold, such as rods, reels and minnow buckets. Hours are 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday-Friday. Noble said the hours will change to accommodate the different fishing seasons. The phone number there is (313) 437-6088.

JUDY BELL of Northville recently attended a week-long session in education, training and motivation at the international headquarters of Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. in Dallas.

Bell was recently appointed director-in-qualification and the Dallas training is to prepare her for the position of independent sales director.

She now begins a three-month qualification period. After meeting performance standards, she will be eligible for appointment as sales director August 1.

FIL SUPERFISKY of Rymal Symes Realtors in Novi is leading a one-man housing sales recovery. During the first four months of 1983, Superfisky has achieved over $2 million in sales.

In announcing Superfisky's outstanding sales record, Rymal Symes President Conrad Jakubowski reported that his $2 million first quarter helped push Rymal Symes' total first quarter sales volume up 127 percent over the same period a year ago.

"While the real estate industry in general is experiencing something of an increase in business this year, Superfisky and his colleagues at Rymal Symes got a real headstart on the recovery by using the slow period of the past 2 1/2 years to strengthen their skills and abilities," said Jakubowski. "They were all charged up and ready to seize the opportunity when it occurred."

Jakubowski also said the outstanding success of Superfisky and other Rymal Symes associates is particularly pleasing in light of the fact the company is celebrating its 60th anniversary and beginning a second successful 60 years "with a truly spectacular start."

THE PHONE BOOTH, 314 North Main Street, Milford, is a new business that offers customers a chance to buy telephones instead of renting them.

The Phone Booth offers phones in such styles as; cordless, traditional, answering machines and phone accessories. A customer can see a demonstration of the phone and try it out before purchasing it.

Phones made by Uniden, Panasonic, ITT and Tele-concept are featured brands the store carries. The store is open Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., and until 8 p.m. on Fridays.

HIGHLAND-MILFORD FOOT SPECIALISTS has set up shop at 1183 South Millford Road, Highland.

The new office offers a wide variety of services for a range of foot problems, including; fractures, sprains, corns, callouses, bunions, second surgical opinions, and office and hospital surgery for adults' and children's foot problems.

Dr. H. Lefkowitz and Dr. I. Steiner are both doctors of podiatry. The office is located in Lakeview Plaza along with a number of other medical specialists.

SEVERSON'S MILL in New Hudson is planning a May 15 Grand opening celebration. The public is welcome to attend the celebration, which begins at 9 a.m. and ends at 6 p.m. Door prizes will be presented and refreshments will be available. Located at 56675 Shepo, near Grand River, the site is the former New Hudson Elevator. The old mill was recently purchased by Dick and David Griffith and Marv Severson.

One of the oldest mills in the area, the building was restored and upgraded by the three partners. Severson's Mill carries a complete line of animal food, medicine and pet supplies.

Custom mixing and blending is the primary feature of the business, which attempts to meet any special needs of its customers.

Severson is a siding contractor from South Lyon. Northville resident Dick Griffith lives on a farm and raises animals. David Griffith, of Brighton, owns a carpet, drapery cleaning and manufacturing business in Detroit.

Severson's Mill is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

SOUPS AND SANDWICHES are served delicatessen style at The Deli at Novi's Twelve Oaks Mall.

Located on the lower level near JCPenney's, The Deli is the third such restaurant in the metro Detroit area and features a variety of home cooked soups, fresh fruit salads and combination sandwiches with the highest quality meats. Diet plates, fresh shrimp, blintzes and kosher-style delicacies such as lox, corn beef, pastrami and bagels also are available.

Decorative party trays are made at The Deli with the finest artistic quality. With a choice of meats, cheeses and fruits, party trays provide convenience to entertaining.

A contemporary setting of bright green and white, accented with wicker, pottery and a nuevo art decor, creates a refreshing and efficient atmosphere. The Deli offers prompt and efficient service with quick carry-out service to accommodate shoppers.

The Deli is open 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Comp 'error' draws lawsuit

The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce filed suit last week to force the state Bureau of Worker's Disability Compensation to correct an error the chamber says could cost state employers $1.5 million if allowed to stand.

The suit, filed in Lansing Circuit Court May 3, seeks to make the bureau revise the state average weekly wage figure, on which maximum disability benefits are based.

The state average weekly wage of $358.89 was miscalculated by the Michigan Employment Security Commission as $365.56, the chamber contends. As a result, the maximum benefit (defined as 90 percent of the average wage) should be $323, not $330, said Rick Grattan, the chamber's general counsel.

"Despite the obvious MESC mistake, the bureau of worker's disability compensation and the attorney general have refused to correct a very costly error that could result in hundreds of Michigan job providers being required to pay some $1.5 million in worker's compensation benefits in 1983," Grattan said.

The $1.5 million figure is a cost estimate based on the annual equivalent of 5,800 claimants at or near the maximum and receiving overpayments of about $7 per week.

The state attorney general has interpreted the Workers' Disability Compensation Act in such a way that the average weekly wage determination will stand as determined by MESC.

"It is unconscionable that the state expects employers to cover its mistakes and continue to overpay workers' comp benefits," Grattan said. "We are particularly disappointed in the refusal to correct this mistake. It is hard to imagine that an error resulting in an underpayment of $1.5 million would not have been corrected.

"Despite recent progress toward workers' compensation reform, the current situation could easily become a major setback in our efforts to emphasize the more positive aspects of doing business in Michigan.

"The last thing Michigan's still-notorious work comp system needs is this kind of publicity," he concluded. "Hopefully, the matter will soon be resolved."

State honors small business leaders

Michigan observances of national Small Business Week began Monday with day-long activities highlighted by an awards ceremony at the Hilton Inn in Lansing.

Honored at the luncheon were two Michigan persons honored at the national level: Steven Adkovat, editor of the Business Monday section of the Detroit Free Press — National Media Advocate of the Year; and Adeline Laforet of Southfield, owner of Pro-Care One, Inc. — National Women-In-Business Advocate of the Year.

Honored as state leaders were Lawrence Burks of Midland, executive vice president of Chemical Bank & Trust — Michigan Banker Advocate; Walter McMurry of Detroit, president of the Southeastern Michigan Business Development Center — Minority Advocate; Albert Splading of Southfield, president Financial Graphics Corporation — Accountant Advocate.

Also: Richard McLellan of Lansing, partner in Dykema, Gossett, Spencer, Goodnow and Trigg — Michigan

Lawyer Advocate of the Year; and R. Dale Moretz of Jackson, owner of Mid-American Products, Inc. — Small Business Person of the Year.

Raymond L. Hirschman, state district director of the U.S. Small Business Administration, said "the success of these individuals shows that the small business community can respond to the challenges of today's economic conditions with innovative methods to help improve the climate for business in Michigan."

The awards luncheon was followed by an update and question and answer session on the status of priority recommendations formulated at the 1981 Michigan Conference on Small Business.

Workshops followed featuring 45 minute concurrent programs on five topics: exporting, state financing, federal procurement, SBA services, and federal R & D opportunities. Each program was presented twice.

State senators and representatives discussed small business issues on an informal basis at a legislative reception in the late afternoon.

The event was co-sponsored by the Independent Business Association, Michigan Manufacturer's Association, Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, National Federation of Independent Businesses, Office of Economic Development — Michigan Department of Commerce, Small Business Advisory Council and U.S. Small Business Administration.

He issues challenge

By JAMES BARRETT
President
Michigan State Chamber of Commerce

With May 8-14 being proclaimed National Small Business Week by President Reagan, now is the time to recognize Michigan's entrepreneurs. On behalf of our more than 6,400 members, I salute the numerous accomplishments and achievements of small business people throughout Michigan.

This year's theme, "There's No Business Like Small Business," is especially appropriate because through development of various patents, innovations, inventions and jobs, small business has contributed greatly to Michigan's economic and social structure.

And, keep in mind, every one of today's large business firms started its private enterprise journey as yesterday's small business.

Michigan's entrepreneurs and small business owners are among the most dynamic and innovative leaders in the business community, as well as in the communities which they live and do business.

Their consistent willingness to confront uncertainty with creativity and determination prepares Michigan to face the challenges ahead. They are truly a competitive, vital segment of our economy.

In fact, a recent U.S. Small Business Administration study concludes that, while 1982 was a difficult year for business overall, declines in sales, profits and employment were not as damaging to the small business sector as they were to large businesses.

A major reason for this commendable performance is attributed to careful control of costs by small businesses. The study also found that it is the small firms which retain employees longer than do large firms during recessionary periods.

In Michigan, small business has made a remarkable contribution to the economy. Between 1960 and 1976, of all new jobs created in Michigan 79 percent were in firms classified as small business.

Of the approximate 200,000 registered firms in this state today, some 95 percent fit the description of small business and employ fewer than 100 people each. Collectively, they employ about 59 percent of Michigan's total non-farm work force.

In addition, they play a critical role as satellite suppliers to large industry. One large corporation, for example, reports about 89 percent of its Michigan-made products are supplied by firms having fewer than 100 employees.

In the future, Michigan can expect that a substantial majority of all new jobs will come from small business.

While offering recognition for their accomplishments, I also take this opportunity to present a challenge to the state's small business community.

I urge small business owners in Michigan to become more active participants in the legislative and political processes. There is a need to affect legislative and regulatory change.

Small business people working together through local chambers of commerce, other community groups and statewide organizations, such as the State Chamber, must demand that the Michigan legislature be more responsive to job development through efforts to keep legislative and regulatory costs competitive with those in other states.

We all have the same goal — economic development and the creation of jobs in Michigan — and small business owners are in a great position to help ensure that the bureaucrats, the legislature and the governor do their share to attain that goal.

Census to survey employees

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of May 16-21, said Robert G. McWilliam, director of the bureau's Detroit regional office.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the May survey will include others concerning pension and retirement plan coverage.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically-designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the country. Employment and unemployment statistics are used to provide a continuing measure of the national economic health.

In March, the survey indicated of the 110.5 million people in the civilian work force, 99.1 million were employed. The national unemployment rate was 10.3 percent, one-tenth of a point lower than in February.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is, by law, kept strictly confidential and results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Jouppi to address CPAs

Arvid F. Jouppi, nationally-known financial analyst on the automotive industry and world auto-related economics, will be among the speakers at a Current Accounting Issues Conference May 17.

Sponsored by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants (MACPA), the conference is at Long's Convention Center in Lansing.

Jouppi, president of Arvid Jouppi Associates, Inc., Grosse Pointe Farms, will speak on "The World Car is Here — Can World Accounting be Far Behind?"

The one-day CPA conference will also feature speakers David Landsittel, CPA and chairman of the auditing standards board of the American Institute of CPAs and Abraham J. Briloff, CPA and distinguished professor of accountancy, City University of New York.

The program begins with 8 a.m. registration and will include workshop sessions on technical topics concerning CPAs and their practices.

be excited about the design. I'm appealing to people and their needs. Almost anyone looking into design can afford the medium price range. You can find quality at a higher price, but many excellent designs can be found at the medium price range. I want to offer things that will appeal to a variety of people," she continued.

Sherry has designed her studio with the idea of offering a huge selection of merchandise in an uncluttered setting.

Individual samples of wallpaper are on file so that the customer can have a single sheet to take home instead of having to carry around the traditionally unmanageable books. The files are color coordinated in an effort to simplify the selection.

Custom-made furniture samples are on display along with a large fabric selection.

An unusually large selection of prints are available for order and picture framing is another service that is offered.

Great inventions are no strangers to Michigan. Products created in the state range from the Kellogg brothers' corn flakes, Fred Sanders' chocolate ice cream soda, Frank Gerber's baby food and August Fruehauf's semi-trailer to Henry Ford's Model T assembly line and Dow Chemical's Saran Wrap and Styrofoam.

Several state groups have joined to recognize innovation and its role in the state economy through the creation of the Governor's New Product Award Program.

The first awards will be presented at part of Michigan Week celebration May 14-21.

Sponsors of the award are the Michigan Department of Commerce, Michigan Manufacturer's Association, Michigan Society of Professional Engineers and the Greater Michigan Foundation.

The state purpose of the award is "to recognize excellence in engineering, design and manufacture of new products for their merit and contribution to the well-being and economic strength of the State of Michigan."

The program is intended to stimulate and encourage greater use of technology and engineering talent in development of new products.

Any new product, machine, process or material developed totally or in part in Michigan may be entered (entries for this year's award closed last week). The product must have been on the market at least one year but no more than five years.

Judging is by representatives of the four sponsoring agencies along with representatives from Michigan engineering schools.

Winners of this year's competition will be presented by Paula Blanchard, the state's first lady and Michigan Week Ambassador at the noon meeting of the Economic Club of Detroit Monday, May 16 at Cobo Hall.

Winners will be invited to display their products at Cobo through the end of Michigan Week May 21.

Is bankruptcy really 'easy way out?'

By MICHELLE ODOBINA
Special Writer

Bankruptcy filings, whose numbers have increased in the past couple of years, have caused pain and shock for the individuals and business owners who suffer property or business loss. They also have become controversial.

The person, whether businessman or consumer, who files for bankruptcy suffers one of the worst problems he or she can face outside of health or marital problems, said Jerome B. Greenbaum, Southfield attorney and West Bloomfield resident.

Greenbaum is one of a couple of dozen Detroit-area attorneys specializing in insolvency cases. He counsels corporate clients, specifically in retail trade, to seek alternatives outside bankruptcy court.

On behalf of his debtor clients, he travels to New York to negotiate settlements with creditors centered there.

Greenbaum has been practicing law 20 years and prior to establishing Greenbaum, Greenbaum and Gold was an assistant U.S. attorney in Detroit.

His father's law firm also specialized in insolvency and Greenbaum recalls clients coming to the family home to protect their anonymity.

He said the philosophy of this country's bankruptcy code, adopted from English practice, is to give the person a fresh start.

Greenbaum responded to several questions dealing with bankruptcy.

• Do you feel the bankruptcy procedure is being abused?

It's true that the recent recodification of the Bankruptcy Act... makes bankruptcy more palatable to a lot of people. Some of its provisions eased up the burdens on debtors and allowed them to keep more of their property than they would ordinarily have kept.

People in the credit field, especially, have said that bankruptcy is being abused because of the easing of the burden on the debtor. But, I don't think so, and I'm not saying the prior act was too restrictive.

I think the increase in filings probably has more to do with the current economic conditions and is also due to high interest rates and the problems that causes.

I think bankruptcy is the last resort to most people, and I don't think anyone takes the step lightly.

• How would you advise someone afraid of the stigma of bankruptcy?

When somebody comes to us, we explore the alternatives to bankruptcy. Sometimes, we have to advise... there isn't really an alternative.

We deal very forthrightly with the problem of the stigma, or the alleged stigma. Sometimes the debtor won't bring it up, but it's always an issue we address. We want to let them know at the beginning what they're facing.

I suppose bankruptcy is becoming a little like divorce as opposed to the way it was viewed 20 years

'Sometimes, we have to advise...there isn't really an alternative.'

— Jerome B. Greenbaum
Insolvency Attorney

ago. Bankruptcy is sometimes a necessity that occurs through no fault of the debtor.

That's not to say some people don't get themselves into a situation knowing they can pull that bankruptcy chain if they have to.

Some people get into a situation in a consumer sense of having lost a job. In terms of business, sometimes a man has had a business 30 or 40 years and the neighborhood changes — a plant closes nearby, redlining by manufacturers or banks, any one of a number of things.

Through no fault of his own, he has to seek the assistance of an insolvency proceeding of some type which might include bankruptcy.

• Describe how you advise corporate clients.

Probably the first thing we would do would be to find out initially how pressured they are by creditors. For instance, I ask them whether they have several judgments against them, whether the landlord is evicting them, whether the bank is in the process of foreclosing on a loan and threatening to take all the business assets that were used to secure the loan.

If the answer to those questions is "yes" probably we would have to seek the assistance of a bankruptcy court. Once a bankruptcy petition is filed, there is an automatic stay on all these various types of proceedings.

Then the debtor has an opportunity to reorganize or even to liquidate if that's what he wants to do. But at least there is time to deal with his problem without the pressure of his telephone ringing or the bailiff appearing at the door.

On the other hand, an astute business person will realize that his best opportunity for salvaging the business is to seek legal assistance at an early stage. When that person comes to us, we can generally help him without resorting to the delays and expenses of a bankruptcy court.

• Do you think there's a do-it-yourself bankruptcy kit or is it best to seek a lawyer's advice?

It's always interesting to me that most people wouldn't attempt to do their own brain surgery or extract their own teeth, but so many people think that they can help themselves (at law).

The bankruptcy code is so technical that even lawyers have a difficult time getting through the procedure. For the lay person, I'd say bankruptcy is really not possible to get through without difficulty.

I'd say that some of the people who come to us have been former do-it-yourselfers and gotten themselves into difficulty. Sometimes, when a creditor sees that a debtor is trying to extricate himself, he will jump the gun, start the lawsuit, get a judgement and all the assets because he knows the debtor doesn't have a lawyer.

And that's why, on the whole, it's a dangerous practice. If it works, he's a hero. If it doesn't work, he's out of business. The penalty for him failing is so severe that in my opinion it isn't worth taking the risk.

• What are some of the questions that come up most often when you're counseling someone?

Well, the question most-often asked is "Are you sure this will work?" The other questions run the gamut, generally involving specifics of the clients' own business.

• What do you think of the retail trade through dealings with your clients?

Well, for most part, rosy. This isn't any comment on the retail business in general, because in our area the retail business hasn't been very good. But, by the time the debtor is finished, they end up in most cases paying a percentage of their debts to their creditors, retaining the store and their inventory and going back in business without any liability or debts whatsoever.

We have found — and I say almost without exception — that with every debtor who gets into difficulty, in addition to having a problem such as economic climate, there is usually something that they've been doing wrong.

Sometimes they haven't been watching their overhead. Sometimes it's because they opened a second or third store when they weren't properly capitalized to do it and they tried to run it on the creditors' money.

Or, sometimes management is the problem. A father will be running a store, and he'll take his son in. When the father is from the old school and the son is from the new school and they can't see eye to eye, pretty soon the ship, or the business we call a ship, is going in two directions and there is no captain. Divisiveness of management is sometimes a problem, so there's always something.

Generally — and before I ever look at a balance sheet — I talk to the client in order to find out something about the business. From experience, I can usually pick up on what the problem is. Then we spend as much time in working out the details of the creditor's arrangement as we do on resolving the problem that put him into the insolvency situation in the first place.

Hobbies need budgeting, too state CPA group recommends

PREPARED BY THE MICHIGAN ASSOCIATION OF CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS

Hobbies are meant to be relaxing diversions that allow you to forget life's harsh realities. But for some, a hobby induces financial irresponsibility.

Eager to complete a set of stamps or acquire a missing volume, many collectors go overboard in their spending. So, if your hobby fills your leisure time but also tempts you to spend the grocery money, here are some guidelines from the Michigan Association of CPAs.

Rule One: Budget. CPAs suggest applying a business approach to preparing your budget. Find out how much is being spent, using last year's spending as a guide.

Identify all costs relating to your hobby, including magazines, club dues or travel to hobby conventions. Confronting the total spent can be unnerving, but could help make you more practical.

Knowing last year's expenses may lead to economies that could breathe new life into your hobby. For example, you might discover buying supplies on a piecemeal basis put a drain on your resources. Opting to buy a full year's worth of glue at once may save money.

For some hobbyists, impulse buying is a terminal disorder. Buying economically, much as a skilled purchase agent does for a business, is beneficial. Like a professional, you can wait for special sales, buy off-season and plan ahead so expenses are spread out.

Collectors are probably best advised to put money into fewer items of higher value. CPAs generally agree such an approach adds to the luster of a collection, and offers better potential for increasing the collection's value.

Some collections have a way of generating their own costs. Antiques, for example, often need special cleaning, restoring or repairs.

Storing a collection often poses another challenge. Apart from living space a hobby takes up, some collections require costly protective measures, like photographs which are best stored in acid-free framing materials or plastic sleeves.

An important move is to insure a collection against casualty or theft losses. But the current law limits the amount of law that qualifies for a tax deduction. The loss must exceed 10 percent of adjusted gross annual income, after a $100 exemption.

Whatever fate awaits, it is a good idea to have a collection professionally appraised. Photographs are especially useful when questions of insurance or tax loss come up.

Disposing of a collection always raises tax issues. If the collection is sold, the gain is subject to federal income tax rules. If donated to an accredited charity or non-profit group, and its value substantiated with written appraisals, it may bring a tax deduction.

Women in Accounting May 23 speaker set

Bill Belaney will deliver an address on "Automated Banking on the Move" at the American Society of Women Accountants dinner meeting Tuesday, May 24. The meeting is at Eden Glen, 2085 W. Big Beaver in Troy with fellowship at 5:30 and dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Belaney is executive vice president of marketing for Pontiac

State Bank. He was previously public relations director for T & C Federal Credit Union and was also a radio broadcaster with his own news show in Columbus, Ohio. He holds a graduate degree from Ohio State University.

All women interested in the field of accounting are welcome to attend. For information or reservations, call Shirley Freden, 261-5511.

State offers many maritime marvels

(Information supplied by Michigan Travel Bureau, Department of Commerce)

Michigan's coastline — longer than the U.S. Atlantic Seaboard — provides travelers with a broad range of seagoing attractions.

Included are floating museums, dinner cruise ships and tours aboard vessels in some of the state's historic and scenic waters.

A natural starting point for a nautical tour of Michigan, the state travel commission suggests, is at Sault Ste. Marie, on the northeastern coast of the Upper Peninsula.

The city has been an important center of maritime commerce since the 17th century and the Soo Locks linking Lakes Superior and Huron is the busiest locking system in the world.

Soo Locks Tour Boats take visitors on a 10-mile, two-hour narrated journey from Lake Huron to Superior and back through the locks, occasionally in company of a Great Lakes or ocean-going vessel.

Just downriver from the locks the Great Lakes ore carrier S.S. Valley Camp is permanently moored as a maritime museum and monument to sailors of the inland seas. Aboard the 550-foot vessel the bridge, crew's quarters, galley and engine room can be toured. One cargo hold below decks includes graphic displays, paintings, ship models and artifacts demonstrating the history of Great Lakes shipping.

From Hulbert or Soo Junction stern-wheel riverboat trips offer, among other attractions, the sight of the famous Tahquamenon Falls. The Tom Sawyer Riverboat and Toonerville Trolley both combine excursions on the Tahquamenon River with narrow-gauge train rides through the Lake Superior National Forest.

cruising tour boats. The towering, multi-hued sandstone formations are visible only from offshore and three tour boats were designed and built solely for that purpose.

Their 2.5 hour, 37-mile voyages take visitors and shutterbugs past colorful natural precipices, caves and natural sculptures with names like Chapel Rock, Battleship Alley and Rainbow Cave.

Great Lakes maritime enthusiasts are drawn to Menominee in the western Upper Peninsula by the "mystery ship" Alvin Clark — dredged from the depths of Green Bay after more than a century on the bottom of Lake Michigan. The Clark is a 218-ton schooner that sailed the lakes in the mid-19th century and is now listed in the National Register of Historic Places.

The reconstructed armed-sloop Welcome (identical to its 18th century namesake) performs a similar function in Mackinaw City. The original 55-foot Welcome was built in 1775 as a private trading vessel and was later purchased by the British to supply Fort Michilimackinac.

Lower Peninsula travelers can look into two double-decked stern-wheel riverboats offering two-hour excursions through the historic Au Sable River Valley. The Au Sable River Queens travel two separate stretches of the river.

The last of the Great Lakes luxury cruise ships lies moored at Douglas as a floating museum. The S.S. Keewatin is 350-feet of preserved steamship from the days when passengers strolled spacious decks, dined in a mahogany-paneled dining room and gathered socially in a two-story lounge with stained-glass skylights.

Among other unique vessels, the Saugatuck Chain Ferry has its own claim to fame — the only hand-cranked ferry on the lakes. Another one-of-a-kind is the Ironton Ferry on Lake Charlevoix, which according to Ripley is the world's shortest.

There are dozens of other nautical attractions in the state — from the Dossin Great Lakes Museum on Belle Isle to light houses in the far reaches of the U.P. — on all four coasts and on inland lakes and waterways. The travel bureau of the Michigan Department of Commerce can deliver more information. Write the Michigan Travel Bureau, P.O. Box 30226, Lansing, MI, 48909.

Botsford Inn listed in three travel tour guides

Three travel guidebooks list the Botsford Inn in 1983 editions. To be listed in the Mobil Travel Guide, American Express Guide to Country Inns, and Country Inns and Back Roads requires inspections of the establishment by independent, trained, impartial inspectors.

Innkeeper John Ahnut said "we are especially proud to have met such high standards for ratings and listings," noting that the Mobil guide has been compared to the famed Guide-Michelin.

Originally a stagecoach stop along the Indian trail to Lansing and west in the 1800s, the inn expanded under ownership of the Botsfords.

Purchased by Henry Ford in 1924 (because he'd met his wife at a dance there), the inn changed hands again in 1951 when the Anhtuts bought it, modernizing and expanding the existing facilities, adding the coach house, while retaining the flavor of early times.

Recent improvements have included the 1982 installation of a sprinkler system serving the entire Inn and its auxiliary buildings. Smoke detectors and sprinklers throughout make the Botsford one of only four percent so thoroughly protected.

Comment cards to solicit guest suggestions were introduced last week. A computerized energy management system was installed last year and reduced costs 25 percent on the first two billings.

Renovation plans include remodeling of guest rooms adjacent to the lobby in individual themes retaining the historic atmosphere. Down pillows and comforters are to be provided in each room in what Anhut called examples of "understated luxury and impeccable good taste."

He reports an on-going assessment of how the inn relates to its corporate/business clientele. An evaluation system has already resulted in numerous changes, Anhut said, adding that he is working more closely with clients in response to their desires.

Travel awards tickets sold

Advance ticket sales are under way for Michigan's tenth annual Governor's Ambassador/Embassy of Tourism Awards luncheon, Michigan Travel Commission chairperson William McLaughlin said.

Tickets are $20 per person and are available from the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce.

Ambassador awards are presented to individuals and Embassy awards to organizations who have significantly contributed to or assisted in the promotion of Michigan as a convention or vacation destination.

Luncheon and awards program will be Tuesday, May 17 at the Marriott Inn, Ann Arbor. Deadline for advance ticket purchases is May 13. Checks should be made payable to State of Michigan and orders mailed to Tickets, Travel Industry Awards, P.O. box 30226, Lansing, MI 48909.

'Lure' book touts Michigan

The State Travel Bureau in the Department of Commerce has available a four-color, slick 92-page magazine to be used as a "lure" book.

The publication will be sent out in response to inquiries to the Travel Bureau, P.O. Box 30226, Lansing, MI 48909 as a companion to other information requested.

The state office of economic development will also use it to demonstrate the state's quality of life to out-of-state businesses considering location here.

Bridge Builders

Come heavenly Muse, and let Thy lute inspire
Terrestrial poet with Celestial fire;
While mortal hand records with quickened pen Fond recollections of a time that's been.
For those whose race of life is nearly run
As shadows deepen with descending sun,
There is no treasure that they hold more dear than hallowed memories of the yester-year.

Mellowed by time, the mind returns to youth
On misty wings that half conceal the truth:
In the Utopia of by-gone days
There's nothing to remember but to praise;
Then as romantic fires to embers turn
The flaming youth become their deep concern.
Gone are the days of Virtue, Honor, Truth—
The motivation of their fancied youth.

The greybeard views today with jaundiced eye
And sees the past as "Golden Yesterday",
Eroding time oft dulls the once keen mind
And to our misadventures makes us blind.
"The present generation moves too fast",
Sternly proclaim the patriarchs of the past;
"From our traditions they would fain be freed Rushing to ruin with impetuous speed".

The ancient sire would not perjure his years
With the intent to mislead listening ears,
But memory, by time may be betrayed
Vice becomes Virtue — Sunshine becomes Shade.

While the frail flame of life flickers and burns Age most retains that for which age most yearns,
And builds a bridge to the nostalgic past
Youth bridges chasms to the future — vast.

Reason and truth would rectify this plight
And calls upon the builders to unite.
Such independent bridges make a trap
To bring about a "generation gap".
Were it not better to have linked the two
And thus perceive with unobstructed view?
Wisdom of years, combined with youthful fire
Could well awaken old Timotheus' lyre!
Russell Bingley

Love

Love does not criticize the lover's faults but delights in changing to heart's content, inadequacies unannounced.

Archie D. Dalgliesh

Wooded Green

Walking in a mountain woodland, the dark hush surrounds me.
Spongy dead leaves cushion each step,
and moss covers tree trunks, long fallen.

I hear the rustle of moving leaves as small animals hurry about the business of living. Maybe they heard me and didn't know, I only want to share this quiet retreat from the blazing July sun.

This cool green oasis so far removed from the rush of modern living. Unchanged for centuries, a peaceful haven to which I will return. My hidden paradise.

Agnes Caldwell

Offering to An Editor

He must have an antipathy
To my outworn asperity;
For by his own antipathy
He leaves no room for charity.
And so I'll will to Tweedledee
The whole of my disparity,
He'll match it with a snickersnee
And chalk it to celerity.

F.A. Hasenau

Spring Signs

I'd like to Daisy-loop a cloud
While bird songs cheered me on Announcing "Spring" as any clown
Before flown kites are gone.

But weather won't comply with us
Most sadly we have found;
Sudden snow edges on car doors
That day; — dusts frosting on the ground.

Heart Ache

The clock whispered one;
the rose water replied the same.
Shutting the endless book she read,
she gently laid it down.
The cup of tea had grown cold, yet she drank its bitter taste.
Rising she opened a curtain, holding its bronze cloth lightly.
Sighing for the day was dreary, like the room where she stood.
A heaviness claimed the air, that stifled hope of what could be.
She leaned against a bookcase, and waited for time to pass.

Deborah Pate

Running Rabbit Test

She's busy dying easter eggs and speaking a million words bout the nicest people and easter meals and ecumenical services at her church an egg a loaf
a glass of wine a wafer and a serving line
a thousand plates a million people gonna sit down and enjoy an ecumenical meal easter baskets on saturday weave her time and thoughts away from where she knows she oughta be in search of her identity at midnight packing easter eggs packing them in jelly beans to hide in parks for kids to find firmly she draws the line
when she refuses to be bunny queen of someone else's wildest dreams she folds in to join the drive sabotaged by community minds who emphasizes the common heart and questions those who stand apart by running down the wildest road in search of things that can't be told who live in no community and balance on peripheries who never dyed an easter egg but plant the seeds for all the change.

The Lion

The lion prowls
With careful and mighty steps
Man prowls
Stumbling and tripping towards his goal.

The lion sets his boundaries
Personal territory is an instinct
Man sets his boundaries
Those which create war and self-indulgence.

The lion protects
His family and the weak Man protects
Selfishly guarding his possessions.

The lion is fierce Survival is innate
Man is fierce
To conquer in another man's cause.

The lion knows not about cause and effect
He lives as man and nature permits
Man knows of cause and effect
So why does her perform the way he does?

Mother-By-Marriage

(Happy Mother's Day)
Now is the time when all the tribute is paid to
mothers of the world, Blessed are they!
Not much praise is the mother-in-law given,
She's often critized for what she has to say
And many times she feels in the way!
This is my chance to come to her rescue!
Many of her thoughts are wise and true,
And if it seems like she's interfering, it's because she loves you!
So mothers of the world reap your just rewards, But please move over a little to share the spotlight
with a mother-in-law for today and tonight!

Kathy Zammit

Can You Imagine...?

Little green gremlin's grins
Peeking 'tween the blades
Of gangling grass and mushroom sta
Growing in the shade.

Lizards licking bits of air,
Leaping over logs,
Lazily lolling in the sun,
Or playing hopscotch with the frogs.

Janet Sackman

Moonlight Dance

She moves softly
her image caught momentarily by some passerby in the night...
most do not know of her intense beauty.

She is the lonely dance of night's serenade...
She looks for each tomorrow,
enveloped by the cloak of night.
awaiting the dawn.

Moms, daughters model at Cooke

Cooke Junior High mothers and daughters were treated to a look at the latest spring fashions last Thursday afternoon — thanks to the school's PTA.

PTA members hosted Cooke's Third Annual Luncheon and Fashion Show with five Cooke students and their mothers modeling new spring looks.

Luncheon menu included Maurice salad, rolls and cherry tarts. Fashions for Thursday's show were provided by Fashion Cents and Mylo's, both of Farmington, with shoes by Nusrata's. Hair styles were by RJ Styling Studio of Northville.

PTA Coordinating Council President Cindy LaChance delivered the opening remarks and introduced commentator Rachael Oliver of Fashion Cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Nell L. Lincoln of 18910 Beck announce the engagement of their daughter Amy Kathryn to Andrew William Wiseman of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. James of Wiseman of Cincinnati.

The bride-elect is a 1978 Northville High School graduate. She received her degree from Albion College in 1982. She also attended Waseda University in Tokyo, Japan.

She is a member of Kappa Delta social sorority and is employed by the Farmington School District as a Japanese bilingual aide.

Her fiancé is a 1978 Walnut Hills High School graduate. He received his degree from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1982 and also attended Waseda University in Tokyo.

He is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity and is employed by Chrysler Military Sales Corporation.

An autumn wedding is planned in Tokyo, where the couple met.

Youth symphony concert slated

The Livonia Youth Symphony Society's 25th Annual Spring Pops Concert and Ice Cream Social will be held at 7 p.m. this Sunday at Churchill High School in Livonia.

The season's final regular concert, under the direction of Donald Lewsader, will include nearly 300 young musicians in three separate orchestras.

The concert will open with the String Orchestra, under the direction of Janita Hauk, performing Bartok's Romanian Folk Dances, Boccherini's Quintettino and Reed's Skilana Notturmo for strings, with harp played by Kristen Agresta.

Harvey Felder will conduct the Concert Orchestra in selections from "Superman" by John Williams and Finlandia by Sibelius.

The final segment of the program will feature the Symphony Orchestra under Donald Lewsader with soloist Flavio Verani, artist-in-residence at Oakland University, who will join the orchestra in a performance of Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue. Mendelssohn's Nocturne from Midsummer Night's Dream also will be performed. The program will conclude with Chabrier's Espana, directed by assistant conductor Michael Adelson.

Tickets, at $4 for general admission and $3 for students and senior citizens, are available at the door. For further information, call 349-3432.

JOSEPH LYONS, LORIANN HALLINEN

Couple sets date

Mrs. Esther Hallinen of Trenary announces the engagement of her daughter Loriann Marie to Joseph De Lisle Lyons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. Lyons of 19815 Smock.

The bride-elect is the daughter of the late Hans Hallinen. She is a Trenary High School graduate and attends Northern Michigan University.

Her fiancé is a Northville High School graduate and attended Northern Michigan University, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Tau.

Lisa Willis, daughter of former Northville residents Jack and Betty Willis of Jerome, exchanged marriage vows with Richard Rappa March 12 at the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Judy and Walt Palmer.

The bridegroom is the son of Dick and Blanche Rappa of Seymour, Connecticut.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister Judy Palmer. Best man was Ken Kepich.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony with approximately 60 guests attending from Michigan, Connecticut and Florida.

The bride is a University of Michigan graduate and is employed as a production editor with Globe Communications in West Palm Beach, Florida.

The bridegroom is employed with Sikorsky Aircraft, a division of United Technologies.

The newlyweds honeymooned at EPCOT and reside in Jupiter, Florida.

RICHARD AND LISA WILLIS RAPPA

Girl Scouts honor volunteer

Northville resident Kathie Landrum was among the six adult volunteers of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council awarded a Presidential Goal Award at the Council's recognition dinner recently at Weber's Inn in Ann Arbor.

The awards were presented to individuals or organizations making major contributions toward achieving the council's corporate goals.

Landrum is actively involved in Girl Scouting in Northville, serving as chairman of the volunteer personnel committee, a media representative and formerly as a troop service director.

The recognition dinner was centered around the theme, "World of the Valley" in recognition of the council's 25th anniversary.

Northville resident Nancy Hammond was among 13 representatives of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council attending a National Program Conference sponsored by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. April 9 and 10 in Columbus, Ohio.

Centered around the theme, "We Found a New World," the conference focused on new materials and strategies for effective delivery of the Girl Scout program.

The Columbus program conference was one of eight held during April and May in cities coast to coast.

Camping sessions for inexperienced campers as well as advanced campers are available this summer for girls at Camp Linden, a 400-acre site of lakes and rolling hills located near Linden in Livingston county.

This year Camp Linden, owned and operated by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, has added a nine-day session to its one and two week sessions.

Registration at Camp Linden is open to all girls who have finished third through 12th grade, whether or not they are Girl Scout members.

Cost for a one-week session is $65, the nine-day session is $90 and the two-week session is $130. There is an additional $15 charge for non-Scouts.

Girls interested in the camping program, which runs June 16 through August 19, should contact the Huron Valley Girl Scout office at 483-2370 for a brochure and application form.

In Our Town

New officers installed

By JEAN DAY

The notebooks and records of Northville Newcomers changed hands informally Monday as new officers took command at a wine and hors d'oeuvres gathering at the home of outgoing president Sharon Valrance. The joint meeting of old and new boards is a Newcomer tradition.

New president Joan Hursey and her board were introduced to the membership at a spring tea last Thursday in the Mill Race Historical Village. The annual event was attended by 47 Newcomers.

New president Hursey already has had lots of Newcomer experience, having been on the board for two years as secretary and as couple activities chairperson.

Other new officers and committee heads are Marlene Bentham, vice president; Jean Stevens, secretary; Kay Raby, treasurer; Alice Patterson, membership; Linda Ord, art; Judi Amtangelo, Mary Duncan, ladies day events; Gerri Dent, Kathy Levinson, couple events; Cheryl Green, Kathy Selinsky, interest groups; Karen Winowiecki, Dot Yetso, newsletter.

Sharon Valrance won't find any lack of things to do as she completes her presidential duties. She already is busy as co-chairperson of the Northville Home Tour set for September 22. She represents the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church, which co-sponsors the tour with Northville Historical Society. Cheryl Gazlay is representing the historical society. They presently are completing selecting homes for the tour held on alternate years.

This is the time to get TH funds for charities

May 31 is the deadline for organizations to make application for funding for charitable purposes from Northville Town Hall Board of Awards, warns chairman Frances Mattison. It has become a tradition for town hall to share its profits equally with Our Ladies League of Our Lady of Victory Church, which sponsors the series, and the communities which support it.

Organizations wishing funds should send requests specifying the purpose for which they are needed to Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville, attention Board of Awards chairman.

Last year about $3,500 was distributed to organizations. Town hall board anticipates the sum will be only a little less this year. Among organizations receiving funds in the past include King's Daughters, Friends of the Library, Plymouth Symphony, Northville Community Band and First Step.

Newcomer President Sharon Valrance, right, introduces successor Joan Hursey

NOW, Being a Non-Smoker Can Do More than Just Improve Your Health

It Can Reduce Your Homeowners Insurance Rates By 10%, Too!

We've known for years that not smoking was a good idea for health reasons, and now, it's a good idea for homeowners insurance reasons, too. Citizens Insurance Company of America is offering a 10% discount on homeowners insurance for non-smoking households.

All you have to do to qualify is to verify that no one residing in your home has smoked for the past year, and your Citizens homeowners premium is reduced by 10%. It's that simple.

For all details on the Citizens 10% discount for non-smoking homeowners, stop in or call your local Citizens Agent today.

Neighbors

It's especially because families come to us during their most difficult times that we feel our responsibility so deeply. We've formed some very close friendships here and after being a part of this community for so many years, our commitment to its people is stronger than ever.

Just as our own families know they can count on the support and friendship of our neighbors, we're proud that families here know they can feel confident in the services we provide.

Surprise

Our Lady of Victory teacher Terry Alcocer certainly was surprised last Friday when she entered her classroom after lunch. Her third grade students hosted a surprise baby shower for their favorite teacher, complete with balloons, crepe paper and a cake decorated with a stork. The students presented their teacher with a "Mother and Child" statue as well as personal gifts. Ms. Alcocer's last day will be Friday. Record photo by John Galloway.

Maybe We're Not Magicians. . .

...but we do have some nifty little tricks for getting clothes spruced up. Takes experience like ours.

Local resident chairs DSO Showhouse benefit

Northville resident Brian Collins is serving as chairman of the American Society of Interior Designers Showhouse to benefit the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The second Detroit Symphony ASID Showhouse is a $1.5 million, 25-room home located in Bloomfield Township on the former James Couzens estate called Wabek — an Indian word which means "the best place."

The Showhouse will be open for tours May 24 through June 22 to benefit the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Built by the Malcolm Leventen Corporation, the new 10,000-square-foot house will be decorated by 26 members of the Michigan Chapter of the American Society of Interior Designers, who will add some $1 million in furnishings.

Among the home's outstanding features are an "island plantation" solarium and a three-story foyer with a curved oak staircase.

Special features will include the Music Box Boutique, the Greenery and The Tea Room. Pottery and other handcrafted items by Michigan artisans also will be offered during the month-long tours.

was designed by landscape architecture students at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

The fund raiser for the DSO is sponsored by the Detroit Symphony League, the Women's Association for the DSO and the Michigan Chapter of the American Society of Interior Designers. Television sponsor is WJBK-TV.

Symphony chairman for the event is Helen Peterson of Bloomfield Hills. Loretta Miles of Bloomfield Hills is Showhouse coordinator.

The Showhouse is located at 1711 Morningside Way in Wabek North, Bloomfield Township.

Showhouse hours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, noon to 6 p.m. Sunday and 6-9 p.m. Thursday. The Showhouse will be closed Monday.

Ticket prices are $4 through May 23 and $5 at the door. Groups of 20 or more will be admitted at $3.50 per person. Tickets are available at Hudson's and other CTC outlets or by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Detroit Symphony ASID Showhouse, P.O. Box 36262, Grosse Pointe, 48236.

For more information, call 446-0950, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Applicants sought for BPW award

Northville Business and Professional Women's Club still is seeking applicants for its Bea Carlson Womanhood Award.

Any woman interested in entering or re-entering the job market or a working woman wishing to advance her career through education still has time to apply.

The monies are to be used by the recipient for any expenses she may incur while attending classes relative to her career choice. These may be tuition, transportation, babysitting, books, etc.

The applicant is to have a financial need and be a resident of the City of Northville or have a Northville mailing address.

Applications are available at the Bookstall on the Main, 116 East Main, and the Bookstop, 42309 Seven Mile.

Completed forms are to be returned to either of the locations no later than 5 p.m. May 27.

Shooting at Noon is for Cowboys

If you shoot all your scenics during broad daylight you'll get nice shots but you are limiting when you can shoot. The time for beautiful, romantic scenics is when the sun is low and golden. Try just after sunup some day — look for a scene with long shadows and golden light. Shoot with the sun to the side so you can see a beautiful shading on your subjects. You might even try some backlit scenes, opening up a stop or so to "look into" the shadows.

If you're not a morning person, try late afternoon. Start when the light is golden and continue right through dusk. When it starts to get too dark for hand-holding your camera, get out your tripod and cable release. Dusk and sunset photos can also be beautiful. Try exposing a few frames about 1/2 to 1 stop under what the meter calls for, so you get the feeling of darkness in some of your prints.

This is a time when the grain and contrast of high-speed film might add something to your pictures, and the extra speed will give you more time before you need a tripod. See us for suggestions on tripods and fast film at f-stop, 43220 Grand River, Novi, 348-9335.

FREE VIC-20 COMPUTER!!

Now, when you use Hite or Kodak Film Processing from f-stop, you'll get bonus points good for VIC 20 and Timex Sinclair Computers; Autolocus Cameras, CB bases, "Walkman" type stereos and dozens of other prizes. Bring in this ad and we will double your bonus points on all accompanying rolls. Double bonus point offer expires June 30. Stop in for complete details!

NOTICE TO NORTHVILLE TOWNSHIP RESIDENTS

NOVI CHRISTIAN SCHOOL ENCOURAGES PARENT INVOLVEMENT

We consistently encourage parents to become involved in the educational process and training of their children. Our staff seeks to develop open communication and close ties with the home. Our Parent Teacher Fellowships, conferences, sports events, and special programs promote parent participation. We encourage faithful church attendance. True education involves the total child. We therefore believe we must maintain the unbroken triangle of home, church, and school.

Top talkers

In keeping with its seven-year record as one of the top forensics teams in the state, Cooke Junior High School tied for second place in team awards at the state forensics tournament April 30 at the University of Michigan. Winners are from left Jill Kilner, sixth place in humorous interpretation; Anne Grif-fith, fourth place in informative speaking; Laura Hepler, third place in serious interpretation; Lukas Kakageorgiou, second place in extempore speaking; Don Norton, sixth place in extempore speaking and Beth Ross, fourth place in impromptu speaking. Not pictured is Maureen Clancy, who took third place in impromptu speaking. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Word winners

in storytelling; Kim Abraham, second place winner in original oratory and seventh grader Lisa Hyatt, who took sixth place and a superior rating in storytelling. All other Meads Mill students competing won certificates of excellence. Record photo by Steve Fecht.

Slattery to preside at WNFGA meet

Northville resident Phyllis Slattery, president of the Michigan Division of Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will preside at the WNFGA state meeting May 18 at the Northfield Hilton Inn in Troy.

Four Birmingham area branches of the WNFGA will host the spring council and annual meeting. Theme for this year's meeting is "Violets in the Spring." Speaker Jane Wait, horticulture chairman, will give an informal talk about spring growing tips.

Her discussion will be followed by an awards presentation to be given by awards chairman Mrs. Pauline Porter. Awards will be given to those branches who have competed and excelled in the various fields of endeavor sponsored by WNFGA, such as Civic Improvement, Horticultural Therapy, Flower Shows and Scholarships.

Registration and coffee will be at 9 a.m. with a business session scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Luncheon and program will be held at 12:30 p.m.

PTG ends season with 'Same Time, Next Year'

Northville resident Patricia Bray is working as assistant director and stage manager in the Plymouth Theatre Guild's final production of its 1982-83 season, "Same Time, Next Year."

The Bernard Slade comedy will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at Central Middle School in Plymouth.

The two-person cast includes Carole McNulty, a Livonia resident and former PTG board member, and Michael Rothaar, a Garden City resident who has worked in stage, radio and TV productions.

Plymouth resident Al LaCroix is directing the production with Clemie Cyburt of Westland producing.

That Was The Year That Was

The first part of May marks our 15th year in business in the Farmington area. At this time, I would like to personally thank the many customers who helped me grow into the largest office supply in the Farmington area. In 1968, I started with 1,000 square feet. Today we have 14,000 square feet of area to give not only a fine selection of office supplies and office furniture, but good old fashioned service as well.

I thought you might be interested in some 1968 trivia: my children were 7-5-2 years of age; the mayor of Farmington was Wilbur V. The Northville Record

3 Straight! Mustang 9 buck rivals

Northville has another bunch of winners on its hands — the baseball team.

Tell that to somebody who remembers the 1982 crew and you'll get an askance look. The Mustangs went 1-7 in Western Lakes action last season, although their overall record of 8-13 indicated it was simply a tough league they were in.

But coach Fred Holdsworth's 1982 strategy of playing the youngsters to gain experience is starting to pay off, even against WLAAs rivals. Last week, the Mustangs nabbed three league wins to up their season and league mark to 4-2, right on the heels of Western division leaders Plymouth Canton and Walled Lake Western, both 5-1.

Northville 15, Livonia Churchill 4

The Mustangs assembled six runs in the first inning, three in the second, two in the third, and four in the fourth to turn back the Chargers and even their season mark at 2-2. The biggest blow for Northville came from junior infielder Bob Pegrum, who socked a three-run homer in the fourth inning.

Mustang hitters stung Churchill pitching for 13 hits and the Chargers committed three costly errors, all of which resulted in Northville runs. Jerry Pawlowski's two-RBI single in the third and second baseman Mickey Newman's two-RBI double in the third were the only other RBI hits for Northville.

The Chargers touched starter Jim Thomson for back-to-back hits in the first inning, and Holdsworth quickly went to the bullpen, attributing the move to Thomson's sore arm. Tim Ruffing had some initial control problems, yielding five straight walks and a two-RBI double before settling down, and Holdsworth eventually called on Dan Nielsen and left-hander Doug Doyle to mop things up. Doyle picked up his first varsity win with three innings of scoreless relief.

Northville 3, Farmington 2

Right-hander Pegrum went all the way for the Mustangs to pick up his first win of the season, scattering 11 Falcon hits while yielding only one earned run.

"They left a lot of men on base," Holdsworth noted, "but Bob was tough in the clutch." Pegrum did not issue a walk and struck out two, leaving the hard work to the sometimes-unreliable Mustang defense, who played well despite two errors.

The first five innings were scoreless, then Farmington jumped ahead 2-0 in the sixth on two errors and a single. But in the bottom half of the inning, Northville's Todd Bartling, Andy Dimitroff, Dave Longridge (two RBI) and Steve Schrader (one RBI) combined hits for all three runs.

The Falcons threatened in the top of seventh, loading the bases with two out, but Pegrum got the last hitter on a pop-up to shortstop to end the game. "We breathed a sigh of relief," Holdsworth said.

Northville 9, Farmington Harrison 8

Trailing 8-1, the Mustangs rallied for six runs in the sixth inning, four coming on substitute outfielder Greg Anusbigian's grand slam homer over the left field wall — then added two more in the bottom of the seventh on clutch RBI singles by Todd Deal and Chris Behen for the win.

Newman's second inning solo round-tripper was the Mustangs' only scoring until the sixth, when Hawk pitchers served up three straight walks to open the inning. Deal's ground-out scored the first run, Behen singled home another, and Frelick walked to re-load the bases.

Then Anusbigian, a seldom-seen senior — at least up till now — inserted in the lineup in the middle of the game, ripped a one-out pitch out of the park.

"You've got to respect someone who can come into the ballgame and do something like that," Holdsworth commented. "He's a fine kid, a good competitor for us."

Ruffing, relieving for starter Nielsen, picked up the win after Nielsen had worked five innings, yielding six runs on six hits and striking out four. Ruffing gave up two runs on four hits and struck out one — and allowed no walks. Amazingly, the Mustangs committed six errors in the ballgame and only one came back to haunt them.

Late inning rallies notch softball win

The Mustang softball squad highlighted an otherwise disappointing trio of games last week with a rollicking come-from-behind 13-12 win over Livonia Churchill last Wednesday. The thriller was sandwiched, however, by disappointing slugfest losses to WLAAs rivals Farmington and Farmington Harrison, so the Mustangs will redouble their efforts at improving their defense and pitching.

Northville 13, Livonia Churchill 12

Down 10-3 in the bottom of the sixth, with on-again, off-again showers threatening to call off the remainder of the game, the Mustangs started smashing the ball in the last two innings, rallying for five runs on singles by outfielders Pat Wazny, Vicki Robins, and infielders Beth LaPlante, Trish Settles, and Judy Morgan, with Charger errors thrown in for measure.

Churchill threatened to put the game out of reach once more by adding two more runs in the seventh, but as coach Mary Minor said later, "The girls really wanted it and they didn't give up."

The Mustangs put the first three runners on in the bottom of the seventh, all three coming home on Charger errors and an RBI single by Sue Keiser, who picked up her second win of the year. Shortstop Cheryl Berryman socked a grounder to the mound to score Robins from third and tie the score. Then third baseman Jan Roberts — who had made a nice play on a hot grounder with the bases loaded in the top of the seventh to save at least one run — singled a two-strike pitch into left and advanced to second on a passed ball.

The stage was set. Beth LaPlante blooped a single down the right field line and Roberts flew home with the winning run standing up.

It was spectacular — if not highly polished — softball. It's not surprising "We want a hit (We'll take a walk)" is one of the young squad's favorite chants.

"Why can't they do it in the first inning?" sighed coach Minor as Roberts came home.

Against Farmington the day before and against Farmington Harrison the following Friday, they didn't do it at all.

Northville 13, Farmington 14

The previously dormant Mustang bats erupted in the game against the Falcons, with Keiser, Morgan and LaPlante registering RBI singles and first baseman Settles knocking in two runs on a third-inning triple. But starter LaPlante and Keiser in relief — together with some defensive mistakes — let the Falcon offense run wild this time, and Farmington edged the Mustangs 14-13.

"The game was almost exactly the opposite of our game against Churchill," Minor noted.

Northville 8, Farmington Harrison 12

In the 12-8 loss to the Harrison Hawks on Friday, errors came home to roost. "We should have won that one and we easily could have," said Minor, who took plenty of notes in the contest.

Soccer squad stomps 2 state-ranked rivals

By B.J. MARTIN

The Mustang soccer squad threw the state rankings into limbo last week posting wins over Plymouth Salem, rated fourth in the state, and Livonia Churchill, rated number two.

You see, Northville wasn't supposed to be so good, and garnered a number six ranking, even after sweeping the Schoolcraft tournament title over the more highly-rated WIAA soccer powers.

So guess who Northville faces today? Numero uno.

Livonia Bentley. "They've been rolling over everyone," observed Mustang coach Ron Meteyer. "They even beat Churchill 3-0, so I expect this one will be a real fine game."

The Mustangs have momentum last week Northville topped North Farmington 4-1, Salem 1-0 and Churchill 1-0. Although the low scoring offensive output of the latter two games has Meteyer somewhat concerned, he said his trio of excellent defenders has been doing a remarkable job of protecting the Northville goal.

Northville 4, North Farmington 1

goalie Leigh Ann Spaman's head that briefly tied the game in the first half.

They have talent, but not much teamwork," Meteyer noted.

Sue Terwin notched the first Mustang goal on a penalty shot, awarded after a Raider defender was called for tripping Terwin. Josh Johnson followed at the 22-minute mark as she walked in a lob cross on an indirect kick taken by Kathy Korowin. Sue was hot that day, Meteyer declared, and indeed, the striker came through with another goal 19 minutes into the second half. Taking a quick pass from leading scorer Lisa Cahill, Terwin broke down the right side of the field and rocketed a shot into the net from 18 yards out. Kelly Coutts tallied the last goal 12 minutes later, nabbing the rebound of a shot by Sue Borthwick and shipping it easily in the right side.

The battles against tougher rivals later in the week, however, provided the defense a chance to shine.

Northville 1, Plymouth Salem 0

Salem was anxious to prove that the Mustangs' "upset" over the Rocks in the Schoolcraft tournament was a fluke, but the two teams' second encounter last Wednesday was eerily reminiscent of the first. Again the only score in the game came on a second-half goal by the amazing Cahill.

Cahill's tally came 12 minutes into the second half when she received a clearing pass from back Chris Kreutzberg, who registered an outstanding game, according to Meteyer. Cahill doubled to the left past a defender, then uncorked a hard left-footed shot (Cahill has remarkable ambidexterity in her lower limbs) into the left corner just out of the reach of the charging Salem goalie.

Meteyer credited the hard-as-nails Northville defense with neutralizing the threat of Salem's highly-touted speedy front line. In fact, Northville wound up outshooting the Rocks by a whopping 19-5 margin.

"Kim Petit and Kim May have developed into a good support duo for (all-state sweeper back) Martina Millen," Meteyer said. "Martina is just too fast for opponents to get by and Petit and May have great speed and do a good job of covering up. So while other teams may have outstanding offensive players, they're not intimidated."

"That was an outstanding game as far as the quality of play," Meteyer added. "Very clean play, well refereed. There was a lot of good feeling between the two teams, I think."

Jenny Gans turned in a superior job in the nets, in particular looking sharp on two Salem breakaways she snuffed efficiently.

Northville 1, Livonia Churchill 0

The defensive trio of Millen, May and Petit turned in a particularly strong game Friday against the Chargers, who were without the services of their two top offensive players — Terri Zieches and Kim Vatica, laid low by illness and injury.

"They did a very good job of adapting to the changing offensive setups Churchill was throwing at them," Meteyer claimed of his "defensive triangle."

Although dangerous Charger forward Doreen Dudash gave Northville a couple of heart-stopping scares deep in the Mustang end, the pressure eased in the first period when Cahill came through again.

This time Cahill again took a pass from Kreutzberg and cut to the left, but instead of going to the left, she drove a low, hard shot into the right corner.

The goal came at 18 minutes into the first half and shifted the pressure of the game onto Churchill. "We were relieved," Meteyer admitted.

Gans again got the call in the nets and made several point-blank saves that kept Northville in the game.

"I use Jenny and Leigh Ann in different situations," Meteyer explained. "Jenny's got better hands and plays a more physical kind of game, while Leigh Ann is a little less steady, but a little quicker."

THE SCOTTS DIFFERENCE™

Turf Builder® fertilizer is engineered just for lawns. Other so-called lawn fertilizers are crude mixes of farm fertilizers.

They force-feed grass so it grows very tall, very fast. Your lawn doesn't need that, and neither do you—unless you love to mow. But Scotts® (and only Scotts) bonds a unique, controlled-release nitrogen with other lawn nutrients, to feed your lawn safely and steadily, as it needs it.

You can't get all that from "bargain" brands. You can only get it in a bag that says Scotts. Because we don't make fertilizer for anyone else.

No wonder Scotts guarantees your satisfaction absolutely. Our products are that much better. And we care that much about your success with your lawn.

Women tracksters roll to 3-1 mark

On last year's Mustang women's track squad, the expression "much improved" was something of a euphemism — the team did not do so well, compiling a 0-7, 0-5 WLAA record. Just how far the team has really improved under the coaching duo of 1979 Northville grads Ann Dayton and Miles Couyoumjian was evident last week as the Mustangs posted two more wins to bring their dual-meet season mark to 3-1 and 2-0 in league competition.

Northville 97, Redford Thurston 26

Most dramatic in demonstrating the improvement was the squad's showing against non-league opponent Redford Thurston Tuesday of last week. Last season, Thurston swatted the Mustangs 80-41, but this time around, it was all Northville's show — the Mustangs outpointed Thurston 97-26.

It was a less-than-spectacular meet — Northville took firsts in all events except shot and discus. Highlighting the contest were 1-2-3 Mustang sweeps of the 100 and 220 yard dash (Becky Baumann, Laura Chamberlain and Kerry Lenaghan, all underclassmen, finished in that order in both events), and sophomore Cindy Panowicz's three first-place finishes in the 110 and 330 yard hurdles and the 440 yard dash.

Northville 57, Plymouth Canton 56

The squad posted much better performances against the Chiefs — best of all was Panowicz's spectacular 16'11½" long jump, shattering the Mustang record set in 1978 by Dayton's former teammate, Lissa Carter. Panowicz led a sweep of the event, with Erin Ryan and Baumann posting personal bests of 14'11½" and 14'9¾" respectively.

Also taking a field event first was sophomore Jenny Trausch's 4'10" high jump (freshman Jill Stiles took second with 4'8"), while Kim Campbell showed improvement in the shot with a 25'11" heave, good for second, and Margie Wojcicki registered a 65'4" toss in the discus, good for third.

Dayton credits Couyoumjian for the team's improvement in the field events, where, she said, his knowledge of techniques in the various events is a very big help.

Panowicz again added firsts in the 110 and 330 hurdles, while freshman Lynn Bills took seconds in both with personal best times of 16.5 and 52.66 seconds.

Panowicz netted a key victory in the 220 yard dash, completing the course in 27.8, with Baumann taking third in 28.7.

The 440-relay team of Lenaghan, Ryan, Chamberlain and Baumann posted its best time of the year, 55.04 seconds. Wool again was a double winner in the mile and two-mile — her victory in the latter in 12:50.0 and freshman Wendy Nuechterlein's second-place showing in 13:04.33 assured the Mustang win.

Adding points in other running events were senior Kim Assenmacher, who took second in the quarter-mile in 66.67 seconds, a personal best; Nuechterlein's second in the mile in 5:58.3; and Trausch's second and Nelson's third-place finishes in the 880 in 2:39.56 and 2:42.19, respectively.

Northville capped the week by traveling to the Cardinal Relays at Michigan Center high school. Against some tough competition, the squad placed seventh of eight teams, with the best performances turned in by the long jump relay ("We should have won it," said Dayton), which placed third, and the 880 relay, which placed fourth in 1:52.1, less than one second off the pace of the school record.

The women's varsity hosts league rival Livonia Bentley tomorrow at 4 p.m., and will face Novi at home Monday.

Men's team splits 2 in track action

The Northville boys' track team finally notched its first win of the season, walloping Redford Thurston 90-33 before going down to its second league loss in as many meets, this time to Plymouth Canton 74-58.

The good news — Mark Knoth and Joel Vogt are "on schedule" edging their times down toward regional competitive levels. The bad news — Northville's number two shot put man, senior Randy Kratt, will be sidelined for at least two weeks by a pulled hamstring muscle.

"That's kind of sad," observed head coach Gary Polley. "Randy had just gotten up over 40 feet and with the Jackson Relays this week, if he'd been healthy we would probably do well in the shot relay."

Northville 90, Redford Thurston 33

By the meet with Thurston Tuesday of last week, the Mustangs had grown accustomed to inclement weather affecting track conditions. "We've had only one good day for track all season," lamented Polley. "That day we had rain and hail and the times definitely were affected."

Northville placed first in every event but the high jump and the 400 meter relay against Thurston, with top high jumper Mike Beltz managing only a 5'3" leap for second, and the relay quartet disqualified due to a false start.

Beltz registered a personal best in the discus with a throw of 108'9", Tim Jackson taking second with 96'8". Randy Bach's 44'3" captured the shot put, while Kratt took second with 37'11".

Beltz took the pole vault, going 9'6" while teammate Mike Quinn went 9 feet for the first time to place third.

Knoth swept both hurdle events, taking the 110 meter hurdle in 15.6 and the 300 lows in 41.6. Kurt Assenmacher took third in the former in 18.3 and John Briningstool added a second in the 330 in 42.5.

Vogt was a triple winner, clocking an 11.5, 100 meters, 24.4 in the 200 meters and a personal-best 52.4 in the 400. Sophomore classmate Randy Eppers took third in a close 100 with an 11.8 clocking and second in the 200 in 24.7. John Letarte took third in the 400 in 58.0.

John Klokenga led a sweep of the 800 in 2:08.4, with Jim Willoughby taking second in 2:11.4 and freshman Peter Lehr swiping third in 2:17.9.

Northville 58, Plymouth Canton 74

In spite of the WLAA loss, Polley was much more satisfied with the squad's performance against the Chiefs. "The kids gave their all in this one. They went beyond their ability, they gave it 110 percent," Polley said.

The outcome of the meet came down to performances in the final two events, the two-mile and the mile relay. But the Canton distance ace kicked past all three of Northville's two-mile entries on the gun lap to ice the win, while the Chiefs nipped the Mustang mile relay foursome by a second.

Notching a personal best was Knoth with a 14.9 120-yard highs time, adding a first in the 330 lows in 41.5. Vogt again dominated the sprints with wins in the 100, 220 and 440. "Joel can long jump, too," Polley said, "but since he hurt his ankle a while back he's had to lay off — he's too good in other places and the long jump is kind of hard on your ankle. But he was popping 18 foot jumps easily."

Bach picked up his best throw ever in the shot put, hefting the sphere 48½" for first place while Kratt, in spite of his hamstring pull notched a 40'5" effort. The teams exchanged victories in the sprint relays, Northville taking the 880 relay in 1:37.4 and Canton taking the 440 relay by 0.6 seconds with a 47.1. Northville's 47.7 was a season-best. O'Neil and Rich Nazradi finished together in the two mile, O'Neil second in 10:57.0 and Nazradi third in 10:57.6.

Northville capped last week's activities by registering 8 points at the Observerland relays at Redford Union high school. Seven came on Knoth's third-place finish in the highs, Knoth clocking a 16.1 on the muddy track. The remaining point came from the four mile relay where assistant coach Brian Turnbull's coaching expertise and hard work by the runners paid off — the quartet of Mustang distance specialists placed sixth out of 17 teams. Each completing a leg in the relay were Pat Campbell, Jim Willoughby, Rich Nazradi and Jim O'Neil.

It's no fluke — the Mustang varsity tennis squad is simply having one of its best seasons in years.

Last week the netter crew raised its season mark to 3-1 in conference play, 7-1 overall, with easy 6-1 wins over WLAA rival Livonia Churchill and down-the-road Kensington Valley Conference nemesis Novi.

During the rain-delayed match against Churchill last Wednesday, only one of the six individual match wins went to three sets. Still struggling in the number two, seed slot in singles and picking up the loss was Chris Sixt, who fell to Churchill's Todd Holland 2-6, 4-6.

"Chris has been a doubles player until this season and I really needed him in singles," said Mustang coach Dick Norton. "He's shown a good deal of improvement as a singles player and I think he'll end up being a better player for it in the long run even though he's losing a few matches now."

"The kids have been playing pretty well," Norton continued. "I'm pleased with the consistency of our doubles teams. As far as how we'll end up this season — I think we'll know this week. We have some pretty big matches coming up."

Topping the list of Norton's singles crew is Arvind Sreedharan, who bested

Charger Andy Vassallo 6-1, 6-3, incorporating some of the aggressive moves Norton has urged Sreedharan to use in his conservative baseline game.

Rich Vach beat Dave Pierini in three sets, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 and Scott Werdell outpointed Jeff Zigulis 6-0, 7-5 to round out singles competition.

In doubles, first seeds Omer Anisoglu and Rich Schohl took John Neff and Mark Weaver 6-1, 6-1; Brant Nicholas and John Huston beat Mike House and Brad Buszardi 6-2, 6-2; Philip Dutkiewicz and Dave Jelso knocked off Mike Gould and Tom Packera.

Novi, who hosted the Mustangs on Friday, is in a rebuilding season and has been taking its lumps while coach Dave Haywood attempts to develop his younger players.

Most of the Mustangs were right on top of their game in the gusty winds, however, and rolled over the Wildcats easily. Sreedharan took Rusty Benoit 6-1, 6-1; Sixt beat Hasnaim Punja 6-0, 6-3; Werdell topped Eric Gunderson 6-0, 6-1, with Sixt registering a loss to Scott Haynes in second seed, 2-6, 6-7.

Anisoglu and Schohl beat Wayne Beyea and Chris Viers 6-4, 6-3; Nicholas and Huston bested Doug Palmer and Kurt Krueger and Dutkiewicz and Jelso slammed Mark Boksha and Matt Davio 6-0, 6-1.

Extending himself

Rich Schohl has been called on to perform both singles and doubles duty for the Mustang varsity tennis squad.

Northville link

Wildcats are tops in Warren soccer tourney

Congratulations to the Northville Wildcats Under-14 girls soccer team for capturing their division championship at the second annual Warren Youth Soccer Tournament.

More than 140 teams competed in the tournament in April, and the Wildcats posted playoff wins over Warren, Flint and Detroit teams, with goalkeeper Tricia Ducker posting three shutouts.

Other members of the championship squad are: Denise Akrousch, Julie and Jacqui Trausch, Michelle Cross, Kim Flading, Nicki Grasley, Jodi Smalec, Lisa Irwin, Daren Baird, Stacey Murdock, Michele Morgano, Jenny Nieuwkoop, Sue Swienckowski, Theresa Wilhelm, Jill Gallagher and Julie Anger. The team is coached by Dianne and Stan Smalec.

can make a note of the good things and bad things I see out there — after the games and at practices I use that for a guide on what to work on," she explained.

Keiser pitched well and went all the way in the loss, but errors offset some hard hitting by strong-armed junior Berryman (during infield warmups each inning, Berryman's throws to first pop like firecrackers when caught) and by Roberts, who is emerging as a consistent hitter for the Mustangs.

The week's activity dropped the Mustangs to a 2-4 overall and WLAA record, with games against tough league rivals Plymouth Canton and Walled Lake Western scheduled this week.

Your COUNTRY DAY Surroundings. . .

The academic classrooms, Day Camp and Sports Camp facilities are located on 40-wood ridge acres and playing fields at Thirteen Mile Road and Lahser in the lovely Beverly Hills district of suburban Birmingham. The campus includes numerous springs, the Rouge River at its source, tree shaded hills and nature trails with a variety of wildlife. A beautiful outdoor, heated swimming pool for all levels of swimming ability, two full size gymnasiums, wrestling and strength training rooms, game stadium, soccer-lacrosse fields, two baseball diamonds, an all-weather track and nine tennis courts. Archery ranges, a playground with swings; slide, merry-go-round compliment the campgrounds. On rainy days, the indoor facilities are extensive enough to accommodate the entire camp with a variety of activities.

Summers Are For Everyone

We invite you to explore the many exciting opportunities of our summer programs. Country Day is committed to excellence in providing the most meaningful and enjoyable academic, athletic, and Day Camp experiences possible. Each summer, from June to mid-August, hundreds of students and campers learn, enjoy and have fun as they participate in the unique DCDS summer programs. Country Day is proud of its outstanding staff. It includes the finest teachers-coaches and counselors, all dedicated to providing professional instruction, positive coaching, caring supervision, and guidance.

Medical Policy . . . Each camper should have his/her own medical insurance. Any serious accident or illness will be treated at Beaumont Hospital with parental permission. Our experienced camp Medical Director, on duty each day, will handle minor injuries. Current physical examination forms must be on file.

Rules and Regulations . . . All children are required to comply with the rules of Detroit Country Day School and the Day Camp. Any violation or abuse of these rules and regulations may cause immediate dismissal from the program without refund.

In the academic program, boys may wear casual clothes in good taste, including sport shirts with collars, and slacks. Girls are expected to wear dresses or skirts and blouses. Neither boys nor girls may wear shorts of any kind or blue jeans.

ENRICHMENT and TUTORIAL PROGRAM

DATES: June 27 - July 29
TIMES: 8:30 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.
GRADES: 5 - 12, Coeducational
COST: $425.00
DIRECTOR: Gerald T. Hansen, B.A., M.A.
 Assistant Headmaster

MATHEMATICS:

An individualized mathematics program is designed for each student based on diagnostic test results. Emphasis is placed on identifiable weaknesses. Arithmetic, Pre-Algebra, Algebra I and II, Geometry, Trigonometry and College Algebra.

This program offers courses for the "gifted" and the "talented" student as well as specialized remedial programs for students to improve fundamental skills. Diagnostic tests are used to individualize courses of study, within a maximum of twelve students per class. Each student is tutored and will work at his own pace. Courses may be taken for credit.

WRITING WORKSHOP:

Individualized instruction stresses grammar, sentence construction, outlining, paragraph formulation, spelling, note taking and summarizing skills, practice in writing clear and concise answers to essay questions and expository writing. Emphasis will be placed on improving basic units of thought into forceful paragraphs for good oral and written communication.

DEVELOPMENTAL READING:

The course is designed to provide instruction to the student who has specific reading problems rather than a generalized remedial condition. Parents can spot the student: he doesn't like to read, he reads slowly and with great strain, he reads quickly but doesn't seem to know what he's read, and/or he does poorly in the subjects like history, science and math. Our answer to these problems is to have the students work on their own weaknesses with professional guidance. They will move on their own schedule designed as a result of test scores in specific areas.

COLLEGE BOARD PREPARATORY COURSE (SAT, PSAT)

DATES: June 27 - July 22
TIMES: 9:00 a.m. - 11:00 a.m.
GRADES: 10, 11, 12
COST: $235.00

The course evaluates the three areas of academic skills that the College Board tests. Emphasis is placed on the type and form of questions that appear on College Boards to familiarize students with content and test taking skills requisite for success in taking these examinations. The specific content areas covered are analogies, antonyms, reading comprehension, sentence completion, writing ability (grammar), general math, algebra, geometry, data sufficiency problems and quantitative comparisons. The course cannot train students to take specific tests, but it will help improve their knowledge of skills so they can achieve higher scores.

MAJOR THEMES IN LITERATURE

DATES: June 27 - July 29
TIMES: 10:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.
GRADES: 10 - 12
COST: $270.00

A five-week summer school English course which will meet from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon, five days a week for students entering 10th, 11th or 12th grades. Intended for those students who would like to strengthen their reading and writing skills or for those students who need to pick up an extra 1/2 semester English credit. Emphasis is placed on reading and discussing in depth critical ideas, learning and applying specific terms for literary analysis, writing five major analytical and research papers, and expanding vocabulary precision. The following authors and works will be among those studied: Thomas Hardy's Tess of the D'Urbervilles, Arthur Miller's Death of a Salesman or All My Sons, John Steinbeck's Grapes of Wrath, Shakespeare's Macbeth, and Henrik Ibsen's The Wild Duck.

ENRICHMENT MATHEMATICS and COMPUTER PROGRAMMING

DATES: June 27 - July 8
TIMES: 8:30 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.
GRADES: 5 - 8
COST: $200.00

This program will include mathematical enrichment topics as they apply to the computer. Students will be taught using the language BASIC on the schools' Apple Computers. Material will be available for those students who are beginning in computer programming as well as for those who have had extensive mathematics and computer programming. A field trip to a large computer facility will be planned.

STUDY SKILLS PROGRAM

DATES: June 27 - July 29
TIMES: 8:30 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.
GRADES: 5 - 9 (Coeducational)
COST: $425.00
DIRECTOR: John E. Gilbert, B.A., M.A.
 Assistant to the Headmaster

Effective study skills are essential for academic progress. Productive study habits, attitudes, and skills distinguish a good student from a poor student. The Study Skills Program is designed to develop and improve the English and mathematics skills and habits of good, average, and below average students. A scientific approach to study can produce an improved quality of work, a greater enjoyment of school, less anxiety, and more leisure time. Regular Detroit Country Day School faculty and staff are an integral part of this program. This is our 18th summer of offering quality instruction in study skills.

ENGLISH: There is an extensive and intensive examination of the whys, hows, whens, and wheres of proper study. Organizational, reading, writing, research, speaking, and listening skills are investigated, reviewed, and applied in this portion of the program.

MATHEMATICS: Basic fundamentals are stressed. Strengths and weaknesses are determined through diagnostic testing and a program is then designed to help eliminate deficiencies and extend abilities. The study skills unique to mathematics are thoroughly enforced.

The daily schedule includes two eighty minute classes, a thirty minute combination tutorial and study period, and a twenty minute recess. In order to recognize individual differences and to allow for a more efficient learning program, students are grouped according to ability; the size of groups is limited. Grouping is determined by testing during the first week of the program.

Parent-teacher conferences are scheduled during the third week of the program. A written report is sent to the parents at the end of the program. Reports on students who are not enrolled at Detroit Country Day School will be sent to their respective schools upon written request from the parents.

All books and an original set of supplies will be provided as part of the tuition cost and will remain the property of the student.

DATES: June 27 - July 29
TIMES: 8:30 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.
GRADES: Kindergarten - 4th
COST: $395.00
DIRECTOR: Joseph D'Angelo, B.A., M.A.
 Director of Lower School

A unique program designed to strengthen children in basic elementary skills. The class day is structured to give attention to the following disciplines:

READING READINESS SKILLS (K-1):

Includes covering initial and final consonants, blends and digraphs, short and long vowels, sequencing, visual and auditory discrimination, listening skills and sight vocabulary.

READING:

Comprehension, oral and independent reading will be stressed. Attention will be given to spelling and growth in vocabulary.

WRITING SKILLS:

Correct use of grammar, sentence structure and creative writing techniques will be developed.

MATHEMATICS:

Covered will be simple to complex addition and subtraction, multiplication, division, problem solving, decimal place value, and reading and interpreting tables and graphs.

HANDWRITING:

Instruction stresses formation of letters, neatness and legibility of written work.

COMPUTERS:

Daily use of computers will give additional opportunities to both tutorial and enrichment students in several subject areas.

Children are grouped by their skill levels and emphasis is geared to meet the different needs of each child. The maximum number in each section will not exceed 12.

TOT LOT PROGRAM

DATES: June 13 - July 15
TIMES: 9:30 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.
AGES: 3 - 5
COST: $350.00
DIRECTOR: Cathy Ann Rudner, B.Ed.,
 Montessori Certificate; A.M.I., M.A.
 (Reading; Kindergarten Teacher, DCDS)

This carefully planned five week program stimulates its participants to develop within themselves an excellent foundation for creative learning. The daily activities include reading readiness, cooking, arts and crafts, gardening, outdoor play, science observation, creative music and story telling. Located in the Kindergarten Building south of the Learning Center, a typical day consists of:

9:30-10:00 Greeting and Activity Center Time
 10:00-10:30 Reading Readiness — appropriate to age level
 10:30-10:45 Snack
 10:45-11:30 Arts and Crafts or Cooking (a cookbook will be made)
 10:30-12:00 Outdoor games on a fully equipped playground. Gardening: each child will have a plot for planting.
 12:00 Closing: parents pick up in classroom.

HEALTH FORMS: Will be sent to the applicants. Forms must be received by the Program Director no later than June 3.

CLOTHING: Comfortable clothing appropriate to weather conditions. All clothing must be labeled with name. An extra set of clothing may be brought the first day in case of accidents. Bring an apron for cooking experience.
