Cable group sought

Formation of a cable television consortium to oversee operations of Omnicom Cablevision in five communities is being advocated by Plymouth Township.

The Plymouth Township board decided in April to pursue formation of the consortium, and will soon ask Canton Township, the city of Plymouth, Northville and Northville Township to join.

Plymouth Township had reports from a cable task force and its attorney suggesting Omnicom's performance could be improved. Last week, the Plymouth Township board approved a job description for the proposed hiring of an independent consultant and asked Supervisor Maurice Breen to contact the other four communities.

While Plymouth and Canton have often discussed the cable consortium concept in the past, there has never been action taken. The southern portion of Omnicom's five-community service area was wired first, with the city and township of Northville done most recently.

Complaints about service and programming have been frequent in the Plymouth-Canton area, less so in the Northville area.

Both city manager Steven Walters and township business manager David Lelko said they had not been contacted in regard to the consortium proposal as of Tuesday morning.

Walters said he had been following the issue in Plymouth newspapers over the past several months and, through discussion with Omnicom representatives, understood "they have no problems with dealing with whatever group might wish to form."

During an earlier discussion of the issue, Omnicom officers indicated a consortium might simplify operations. Under the present arrangement, each of the communities has its own cable ordinance outlining the firm's responsibilities under independently negotiated franchise agreements.

While Plymouth Township officials said a consortium group would "oversee" cable operations and public access programming, Omnicom stated its own responsibility for administering the operation.

While saying they would have no problems working with a consortium, Omnicom officials advised they view it as an advisory rather than a regulatory agency.

Last week Plymouth Township adopted a proposed job description for a cable consultant to be passed along to the consortium.

Such a consultant would, according to the outline:

- Prepare a comparative study of the services and prices offered in six to 10 southeast Michigan communities with cable television;
- Advise officials of the precise nature of their authority over cable service or pricing;
- Recommend revisions to the cable ordinances in accordance with the conclusions.

Six vie for two school seats

In the upcoming June 13 board of education election, six candidates will be vying for two four-year seats in one of the most contested school board elections in recent history.

Candidates will be seeking election to the two board seats to be vacated in June by trustee David Llewellyn and board president Douglas Whitaker, who announced his candidacy for re-election March 28.

Llewellyn's decision not to seek another term on the board will leave at least one seat to be filled by a newcomer.

In addition to Whitaker, others seeking election to the board are Russell L. Dore, 409 Larry; Patrick Coyne, 19651 Pierson; James Petrie, 16346 Appleby Lane; Robert Bondy, 46400 Pickford; and Robert E. Blanton, II, 19827 Scenic Harbor.

The Record will publish candidates' interviews in the June 8 issue. Biographies on each of the six candidates are as follows:

DOUGLAS WHITAKER, currently Deputy Director of the Wayne-Oakland Library Federation, is seeking election to his third term. He was first elected to a two-year term on the board in 1977 after serving four months as an appointed member. He was elected to a full four-year term in 1979.

Currently serving as president of the board of education, he has lived in the community 15 years. He and his wife Karel have three children — Stephen, 23, Daniel, 21, and Mary, 13, who is a student at Cooke Junior High School.

Whitaker holds both bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Minnesota.

RUSSELL DORE, 46, is making his second election bid for a school board seat. A contender in the 1982 school board race, he was defeated by incumbents Karen Wilkinson and Glenna Davis.

Manager of Training and Education for Fruehauf Corporation, Dore was among the 39 residents serving on the Citizens' Advisory Committee for the Northville High School Renovation Feasibility Study.

85 applications filed for NHS principal post

Northville school administrators currently are in the process of screening approximately 85 applications filed for the principal's post at Northville High School.

Filing deadline for the post to be vacated by George Aune was May 20.

According to Superintendent George Bell, the administrative cabinet will select the top 10 candidates for the post before turning over its choices to a six-member selection committee.

The selection committee, which will review the 10 finalists, consists of assistant superintendents Nancy Soper and Burton Knighton, Winchester Elementary School Principal Milt Jacobi, a high school teacher and student and one parent.

The selection committee will interview and individually rank the top 10 candidates. Based upon the ranking of the committee, the field of candidates will be narrowed to the top three, who then will be referred to the superintendent.

Bell will make a final recommendation to the board of education.

Bell said he is hoping to select a new high school principal by July 1. The board is seeking a replacement for Aune, whose request for an administrative transfer was approved by the board March 28.

Aune, who has headed the high school since 1977, was appointed liaison to the Garden City/Northville Community Education Consortium at the May 23 board of education meeting.

In his new position, Aune will head the Northville Regional Psychiatric Center educational program to be taken over by the Garden City Consortium next year.

The program will include high school completion courses, as well as G.E.D. preparation. In addition, Aune will assist in the general community education program along with the summer school and driver education programs.

Aune's salary for the 1983-84 school year will be completely funded by Garden City. He also will be working under a one year contract with evaluation to occur in March.

Blanchard foes gather in Novi, plan rally

By B.J. MARTIN

About 50 area supporters of the drive to recall Governor James Blanchard congregated at Novi's Middle School South on Taft Road last Thursday.

"Congregate" might indeed be the best verb to describe the gathering. The fire-and-brimstone was of a political, rather than a religious, nature, and there was a box for contributions instead of a collection plate, but it was clear outstate coordinator of the "Recall Blanchard" campaign Nancy Young was speaking to the faithful.

There were about half as many people as chairs, but the numbers seemed to please Young, who has been working in counties across the state to convert the masses. "This is a grass-roots movement that has just had a tremendous response," she told the audience.

"You're going to see a whole new change in the way this state is going to be run," Young added. By trade a Christmas-tree farmer from St. Charles, Michigan, Young explained she grew interested in the campaign after reading a report prepared by the state auditor general's office documenting fiscal waste in Michigan government programs.

"I testified before a state senate hearing on the auditor's report," she said, "and the report shows where we can clearly save millions of dollars that are being wasted in non-working programs. And I asked them (state senators) what they would do about it. I asked if any of them had even read it.

County coordinator Shannon Rossler

No reaction."

In particular, Young pointed out the auditor's condemnation of the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) as "the biggest scandal program we have."

She went on to criticize administration of foster-care facilities by state agencies, increases in legislative and gubernatorial salaries, and she referred to editorials in the Detroit News critical of the Blanchard administration.

Further, Young cited developments of recall efforts for a number of "freespending" state senators and representatives as indicative of how seriously grass-roots efforts were making inroads in influencing voting taxpayers.

"We can thank Governor Blanchard for one thing, anyway," Young continued. "He has opened up a lot of eyes. No matter what happens, we will have replaced at least some of the people who are responsible for these problems."

Besides testifying before the Michigan Senate, Young said she has also been involved in mobilizing 12 of the 43 counties in which organized recall efforts have been set up.

The campaign appears to be a well-promoted and well-organized effort, reflecting local staffers' claims last week that business people in Northville and Novi have been supportive of the drive. There are "Recall Blanchard" logos on t-shirts and buttons that reflect a cohesive marketing plan.

In the literature being distributed to accompany the local petition campaign is a sheet that decries the administration's approval of greater percentage spending increases in the department of social services than for education, calling the public's perception of Blanchard as an adherent to education as a top spending priority a "product of misconceptions."

Education is described as being "one of the lesser priorities for fiscal year 1984," the report claimed — although in fact education ranked above all priorities except social services, even according to the flier.

The anti-Blanchard factions have their work cut out for them. No Michigan governor has ever been recalled and Blanchard had a clear lead in the November election. But recall campaigners believe taxpayer anger at the 38 percent state income tax

Grand Prix workers gear up for Sunday

By KEVIN WILSON

When the green flag drops Friday to release the first race car onto Detroit's revised Grand Prix course, public attention will focus upon the cars, drivers and jet-set personalities drawn for this international event.

But staging a Grand Prix takes more than a bundle of money, a few racing teams and a suitable length of pavement. Hundreds of volunteers, drawn together by a passion for motorsport, play supporting roles in the drama.

And backing up those roughly 600 volunteer members of the Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) is the task assigned Bill Braund of Northville, whose 15-member equipment crew includes four other Northville residents.

As the sanctioning body, SCCA actually runs the Grand Prix races promoted by others. The best workers from across the country will work the Grand Prix, with the hosting Detroit Region SCCA responsible for organization.

Gathering the needed equipment — from brooms to fire extinguishers, spray paint to tin snips — and making sure each of six crash trucks and each crew of workers stationed at the 20 corners is fully-supplied makes for weeks of preliminary work, Braund explained.

A 20-year member of SCCA, Braund said he was a "sort of trouble-shooter" last year without a defined role and was asked back to head up the equipment crew this year. The position as chief of equipment didn't exist last year, but the tasks grouped under the assignment showed up as loose ends that needed tying up.

"One of our big jobs is to get lunch out to the corner workers," Braund explains. "The usual situation at an SCCA event is on a closed race course where the workers can walk in from their posts and pick up lunch at a timing tower or something."

"They couldn't do that last year, and we hadn't thought of it, so there was a little problem," he says. "Lunch time came up the first day and we saw the problem, so I had the tower call each corner and find out how many lunches they needed, took a truck out and delivered them."

"There were 829 lunches to deliver each day. By the last day we pretty much had it ironed out, and this year it should go pretty smoothly."

"We've reduced the number of workers somewhat, so there'll probably be around 600 this time, and we're ready for them."

And the corner workers, whose jobs are to respond to emergencies, wave signal flags as needed and keep the

Anti-Blanchard rally planned in Livonia

Citizen turnout encouraged recall organizers

Rural Hill increase approved

Burial at Rural Hill Cemetery will cost more beginning July 1 under a fee schedule approved by city council May 23.

Increased to cover rising expenses of operating the cemetery the new fee schedule replaces one adopted in October, 1980.

Charge for a standard lot will be $300 and for a baby grave in a section reserved for that purpose, $125. The latter includes opening and closing of the grave, setting the casket and grass. At present, the charges are $250 and $120.

Opening and closing of a standard grave on week days, prior to 3 p.m. will cost $225 with $50 additional for a weekday service arriving after 3 p.m. The current fee is $175 plus $50 after 3 p.m.

Saturdays, President's Day, Good Friday, Veteran's Day, the Friday after Thanksgiving and the day before Christmas openings will cost $325. They are now $250.

Welfare burials cost $335 including lot, opening and closing, the same as currently.

All opening, closing and lot costs are to be paid before the time of the service.

City manager Steven Walters said the non-standard opening fees reflect the city's need to pay overtime during those hours.

No openings and closings will be offered Sundays, New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving or Christmas Day.

A note on the fee schedule points out setting and sealing of a vault and tent and equipment are to be supplied by the company furnishing the vault and paid directly to the vault company by the funeral home.

Juvenile and single-grave purchases at reduced rates were eliminated from the new schedule.

Walters supported the fee proposal with an accounting of costs incurred in opening and closing a grave. During regular business hours, the city cost was placed at $222, on weekends and holidays at $302.40.

Walters also presented a comparison of the old rates with those at Oakland Hills in Novi, Glen Eden in Livonia, Riverside in Plymouth and Parkview in Livonia.

All four had charges in excess of those at Rural Hill and the new fee schedule leaves Rural Hill among the two or three with lowest charges.

increase, pushed by Blanchard and supported by majorities in the state senate and house, will provide the impetus for the drive.

Proponents of the recall plan to have considerably more signatures on the petitions than the 760,000 required to put the recall question on a special referendum ballot. As the signatures are expected to be carefully reviewed by the state attorney general's office, organizers hope to bring in over a million signatures to ensure at least three-quarters will be official.

Petition forms were distributed to the few dozen people who remained at the rally for the address by Young.

The next step, representatives of the organization say, is a tri-county rally planned to take place at the City Park next to city hall in Livonia Sunday, June 12, at 2 p.m. One of the rally's organizers, Oakland County coordinator Shannon Rossler, claimed that a previous rally in Livonia last May drew 400 participants and that more were expected this time around.

DeRusha, Gardner oppose field day

By KEVIN WILSON

Plans for a July 3 Community Field Day will have to go forward without participation from some city council members, organizer Liz McCarville was told last week.

McCarville, a recreation commissioner, appeared before city council May 23 to ask its members to participate in the program being planned to defray some of the department deficit.

Before making her presentation, McCarville was asked by council member Burton DeRusha to explain the scheduling of the event on Sunday, when it conflicts with church attendance and activities.

"My first reaction was that you've chosen the wrong day," said DeRusha. "I think it's wrong for a government-supported activity to conflict with people's priorities on that day."

McCarville noted that the holiday falls on a Monday this year and that the field day is to be connected with the holiday celebration. When asked if this meant another day would be selected in future years, McCarville said that had not been determined.

When DeRusha asked why Saturday would not be a better choice, McCarville said an effort was made to avoid conflicts with as many groups as possible.

"I'm sure the merchants would not appreciate us leading all the activity out of town (to the high school grounds) during the holiday Saturday," McCarville said. Pressed for a commitment that the event would not be scheduled on Sundays in future years, she said: "All my life, every field day event I ever attended, from the time I was little, has been on a Sunday."

Asked what plans have been made in event of rain, DeRusha was told all activities would be cancelled except for fund-raising field events under the sponsorship program. School pupils are being asked to solicit pledges of money for athletic performances during the field day and McCarville said organizers would ask the students to fulfill their commitments though it rained.

"If they've signed up for a 50-yard dash, say, they could come any time during the day and run it," she said. "We'd have people there to confirm that they fulfilled their promise so that the sponsors would know."

Scheduled activities in the afternoon include competitions between city and township fire and police departments, the board of education and teachers, and city and township officials.

McCarville said she was requesting participation in a spoon race, tug of war and a balloon bust between 1 and 2 p.m.

DeRusha said he had a previous commitment to his church and would not be able to attend. Council member Dewey Gardner said he agreed with DeRusha that a government-sponsored activity should not conflict with church events and indicated he would not participate either. Mayor Paul Vernon expressed some doubt about the early afternoon hours, to which McCarville responded that rescheduling was still possible.

She asked that council members contact her within the next few days to give a firm understanding of who would and would not be participating.

Later in the meeting, council member Carolann Ayers, also a recreation commissioner, defended the Sunday scheduling, noting that an event of this size requires the cooperation of many groups.

She also requested and received permission to use city signs to promote the sponsorship program sign-up June 3-12 and the field day itself June 25-July 3. Noting that the Jaycees would likely request use of the signs during the latter period to promote July Fourth activity, she indicated the recreation commission and Jaycees may be able to work out a joint use of the signs.

Gearing up for the Grand Prix track clear, will be prepared for those foreseeable problems with equipment supplied by Braund's crew.

A final pre-race week meeting was held at Braund's Orchard Street home last week to finalize the equipment crews preparations.

Others from Northville in the 15-member crew include Braund's wife, Kathy, and Mark Buinicon-to, Bob Cummings and Ray Foulkrod. Braund said he selected a large proportion of Northville workers to facilitate planning meetings.

Having conducted one Grand Prix, Braund says the SCCA will be better prepared this year and expects smoother operation for fewer delays.

As an example, he noted that as schedule changes were made last year, it was discovered there was no bulletin board available to announce them.

"I always carry a knife, and a big black marker and a pencil with some masking tape rolled around it," he said. "So I took some cardboard boxes and cut them up and made bulletin boards out of them and hung them between the porta-johns. Seemed to work okay."

Being alert also helped solve another problem last year, Braund said. One of the primary access areas to the track was blocked by a pile of tires belonging to the French Renault team.

"They didn't have their interpreter with them, and we were trying to get them to move the tires," Braund explained. "They couldn't understand us. At least, they claimed not to understand us, though I think they knew what we wanted. But I remembered one of the corner workers, when she was checking in, said she had gone to school in France."

"We got hold of her and brought her in and she let them know what we wanted. It got the tires moved from a very important access route."

READY TO GO — Equipment crew of volunteer SCCA members gathered at the home of chief Bill Braund (with last year's Grand Prix poster) for a final planning session last week. In middle row are Northville residents Mark Buinicon-to, Bob Cummings and Ray Foulkrod. Flanking Braund, Dan DeFerraris and John Kemper and in back row, Chuck Padden, John Sulek, Jim Jackson and Grant Wilcox all display gear they distribute to corner workers before race. Group members hope to make it home in time to see the late night tape-delayed broadcast of the race, but will be busy dismantling course well into the evening. Photo by Steve Fecht

Airman James P. Traud, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Traud of 7550 West Seven Mile, Northville, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force environmental support specialist course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

Graduates of the course studied water and waste treatment processes and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Traud will now serve at Andersen air force Base, Guam, with the 43rd Civil Engineering Squadron. He is a 1978 graduate of South Lyon High School.

Five seek two-year college trustee post

Five candidates are seeking a single two-year term on the Schoolcraft College board of trustees June 13.

Winner will complete two years of a term to which Nancie Blatt was elected. After Blatt resigned to move to Chicago, the remaining board members last year appointed Sharon Sarris, who is seeking reelection.

In recent weeks, the candidates have been invited to forums before the Livonia and Garden City PTA councils.

The following are questions asked by the audience:

1. What contacts have you had with Schoolcraft College (other than serving on the board of trustees)?
2. How do you feel about the "governance" issue — the current system of electing the seven trustees at-large?
3. Most of you have had interviews with the Faculty Forum (instructors' union). What was your impression? What did you learn?

WESLEY BERRY, JR. of Livonia is making his second election bid for the board. He operates Wesley Berry Floral Companies in two locations and is director of instruction for the Professional Florists Institute, a private vocational school.

"Taxpayers have been taxed to the point of breaking, and I favor no increase at any level of government," said Berry, an officer of the Livonia Republican Club, former condo association president and member of the Jaycees, Elks, Rotary and a Masonic lodge.

Berry did not attend the two PTA council meetings, but provided his answers at a third gathering.

1. Berry took two business classes at Schoolcraft. He finds three in 10 Schoolcraft students "took classes where they thought their credits were transferrable, but weren't" and faults the counseling program.

2. On governance, he said, "We live in a society where the majority rules, and 3,200 of the 6,000 votes in this election will come from Livonia. We should elect good people, tried and true. But I'm not going to act as a Livonian against Northville."

3. "I declined (to be interviewed by the Faculty Forum) because I was so insulted about the way they handled it last time (1981). They tried to bait me into making promises I couldn't make. They wanted a seat on the board. You can't have members of a union sitting on the board during collective bargaining, where they can learn your offers and counter-offers."

JOHN C. BURKHARDT of Northville has been an administrator for 10 years at Oakland University, Michigan State University, Saginaw Valley State College and now Eastern Michigan University, where he is director of health service.

He said the college needs "objective, neutral, professional leadership — someone who can help the president share priorities the board must choose between."

Burkhardt has a B.A. in psychology from Oakland University and an M.A. in education from Michigan State and is writing his dissertation for a doctorate from the University of Michigan. He was not present at meetings when questions were raised.

J. CHRISTOPHER ROTTA, 25, of Northville, is "single and unemployed." He has an associate of arts degree at Schoolcraft in 1978 and expects to receive a second associate degree in computer science this June.

"I can offer a viable alternative to the status quo and fulfill the students' need for representation."

1. "I have been a student at Schoolcraft six of the last eight years," he said, adding he has used the culinary and Waterman Center facilities.

2. Rotta noted the last Northville resident to serve on the Schoolcraft board was current state Senator Robert Geake. "Every school district within the college district deserves representation. In the early days, they fought a war over 'taxation without representation.' If that's good enough for George Washington, it's good enough for me."

3. "I really enjoyed it (the Faculty Forum interview). They thought they could bamboozle me. They were trying to find my attitude toward labor and management-labor equations. I said board meetings should not be a rubber-stamp arrangement. That seemed to go over, but I have no idea whether I'll get their endorsement."

SHARON SARRIS, 37, Livonia, has served on the Schoolcraft board since her appointment in 1982. She owns a consulting firm called The Sarris Group, formerly was a franchise manager for Harron Cable TV in Southfield, taught high school in Livonia for 13 years and was a consultant in staff development for the Michigan Department of Education from 1979-82.

The Livonia Jaycee Auxiliary named her 1977 Livonia woman of the year, and the Michigan Jaycees named her one of five outstanding young women in the state. Other activities have included the Livonia Youth Commission, Western Wayne County YWCA board and co-chair of the Second District Women's Political Caucus.

1. Her involvement with Schoolcraft includes taking phys ed and community service classes, working on a millage campaign and "working with people on the board." As a Livonia teacher, she "encouraged people to take programs there." She attended a community college in Benton Harbor.

2. On the board apportionment Sarris said, "I don't put it down as an issue. It seems to have happened since I was appointed." She said having a representative from each of the five school districts "doesn't guarantee they will bring any ideas to the board."

3. "I don't believe I learned anything new (from the Faculty Forum interview). They noted the adversarial relationship between the faculty and the past administration."

MARK E. STEINHAEUER of Livonia has provided no background and attended no candidates' meetings since filing for the post.

Veterans march Memorial Day under threatening skies

Rainy, chilling weather was blamed for a smaller-than-usual turnout for the Memorial Day parade and cemetery ceremony Monday.

While the rain held off for the 10 a.m. parade through downtown to Rural Hill Cemetery, it began to pour down during traditional ceremonies at the Veterans' Plot.

Two bands — The U.S. Army Reserve Band and Northville High School marching band — played in the parade.

In addition to veterans from American Legion Post 147 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012, who annually are in charge of arrangements, marchers included Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Cub Scouts, Northville Masonic Lodge Knights Templar and local dignitaries.

General James Pelton, U.S. Army Reserves, was the keynote speaker in the cemetery ceremony.

Mayor Paul Vernon also paid a tribute to those who did not return from service. He along with council members J. Burton DeRusha and Paul Folino represented the city.

Township supervisor John MacDonald also gave a brief speech in tribute to those who had given their lives in service before the shivering audience in the cemetery.

Graves in the veterans' plot — now marked with a wrought iron entrance arch — were decorated with American flags. Throughout the cemetery families had decorated graves with geraniums and other fresh flowers.

After ceremonies in the cemetery, at the bridge entrance for those who lost their lives at sea and at Oakwood Cemetery on Cady Street, marchers disbanded in the M.A.G.S. parking lot and continued to Dunlap and Center where Casterline Funeral Home distributed free ice cream bars to marchers and spectators.

Ray J. Casterline II said fewer than the usual number were given out, attributing the smaller crowd to the wet weather.

Check Your Camera Before You Use It!

Here are some camera checks you can do yourself: Open the back of your empty camera. Set the aperture wide open and the shutter speed to 1 second or the next faster. On your automatic camera, put it on "B" (bulb) setting. Looking through the back of the camera, cock and fire the shutter several times, changing aperture each time. See that the aperture DOES stop down.

Now set the aperture to about f8 and vary your shutter speeds from 1 second to 1/1000, you should see the difference in the light through the lens.

Point your automatic camera at some light source and vary the aperture as you fire it off. You should see the shutter speed vary.

Set up your flash. Set the camera to sync speed and, with the back of the camera open, fire off a shot at a nearby light-colored wall. You should see the whole circle of the lens opening through the camera back.

At ASA 100, a light meter should show about f11 1/2 to f6 at 1/125 as an early June daylight exposure. If your camera or hand-held meter shows that or within 1 stop of that, you are okay until you have run a test roll through your camera to be certain. Check your meters against each other. They should all be within 1 stop of each other.

Measure the distance to some object and focus the camera on it. The distance indicator should show somewhere near that figure.

489 drivers ticketed over holiday weekend

Michigan State Police assigned to the Northville post ticketed 489 drivers over the Memorial Day weekend during Operation C.A.R.E. (combined accident reduction effort).

Troopers at the Northville Post worked 72 hours overtime patrol during the period from 2 p.m. Friday to 9 p.m. Monday, spokesperson Bob Garcia reported.

While primary coverage was given on freeways, particularly I-275 from I-94 to I-696 and I-96 from Novi to Kensington, state police also issued two citations for drunk driving in the Northville area and responded to one property damage accident.

One driver was cited for drunk driving in Novi, two in Lyon Township, Garcia reported. Other accidents were in Novi and Wixom.

Primary targets of the holiday weekend C.A.R.E. program, funded by federal grant, were to arrest drunk drivers, slow down speeders and help motorists with car trouble.

Originating in a cooperative effort of Indiana and Michigan State Police on the July 4 weekend of 1977, the C.A.R.E. program swiftly came to involve all 48 contiguous states.

The increased patrols and higher visibility of police on major arteries is credited with a more than 60 percent reduction in annual holiday weekend accidents and a 30 percent reduction in fatalities, state police said.

In the city...

A California lawyer was arraigned in 35th district court yesterday on charges of writing an account-closed check with a Northville address for legal expenses at Milan Federal Penitentiary.

According to police reports, Sandra Louise Larson, 28, of LaJolla, California, wrote a Michigan National Bank, West Oakland, check for $722.50 to Certified Shorthand Reporters, Ann Arbor, in payment for a deposition done at the penitentiary.

She was arrested by Milan police Monday and taken to Oakland County Jail to face her arraignment yesterday morning.

The owner of a 1974 Ford Mustang reported last week the passenger door window of his car had been broken by someone between 12:05 and 1:10 p.m. Thursday, May 26, while the car was parked in the back lot of Northville High School.

City police report no suspects in connection with the incident.

A damaged mailbox was reported last week by the resident of a home on the 700 block of Springfield last week. According to the mailbox owner, a young white female in a 1983 Chevrolet Camaro struck the mailbox while east-bound on Springfield on Saturday, May 21, between 6:47 and 6:59 p.m. She then drove off, the owner said.

The collision destroyed the mounting post and damaged the mailbox. City police report no suspects in connection with the incident.

Microphones and mike stands were reported stolen from the First Presbyterian Church, Northville, sometime between 7 p.m. Saturday, May 21, and 7 p.m. the following day.

The microphones were taken from the pulpit area of the church, and no value has been established for their worth as of yet. There are no suspects in connection with the incident, police report.

In the township...

An Eiffel Tower, valued at an estimated $500, was reported stolen from the 15th hole of the miniature golf course at Oasis Golf Center May 23, township police report.

The complainant told police that sometime between 11 p.m. May 22 and 5 p.m. May 23, unknown subjects removed the tower from the 15th hole.

The tower was held in place with screws and no forcible entry was observed, police report.

The suspects apparently climbed the fence to remove the tower. The complainant has no suspects in the incident.

The Northville Record

West Point graduates one, enrolls another

By KEVIN WILSON

It might be called "the Northville connection" to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Even as John Bock, a 1979 Northville High School graduate was joining the long grey line of West Point graduates last week, Tom Yanoschik of this year's NHS class was preparing to begin his cadet basic training July 1, first step in to his freshman, or "plebe" year, at the academy.

Both won their appointments to the more than 180-year-old institution similarly, with Congressman William S. Broomfield making nominations based, in part, on recommendation of Mayor Paul Vernon.

Vernon also assisted in the appointment of Phil Beaudoin, of the class of 1981, to the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado, where he will enter his third year soon.

Another route to the Air Force Academy was taken by Connie Foegel of this year's NHS class. Nominated by U.S. Senator Carl Levin, Foegel is believed to be the first female to win appointment from Northville. The academy's have accepted women since 1976. (A story about Foegel's appointment will appear in next week's Record).

Winning the appointment as one three allotted from Broomfield's 27 nominations (and one of nearly 13,000 applicants West Point had to choose from nationwide) was the culmination of four years' effort for Yanoschik, who tailored his high school activities on the requirements.

The idea of attending the school was "at first a romantic kind of thing," he explained. "I've always been interested in the military and the possibilities of it as a career."

Yanoschik set his sights on military training while in the ninth grade after attending a meeting — "really a recruitment-type session" — conducted annually at Brother Rice for high school students. By this summer, he was attending a similar program for academy-bound seniors.

"The man talking was really inspirational, it was a stirring presentation," Yanoschik recalled of the earlier session.

Told West Point did not select on the basis of high grades alone, nor solely because of athletic ability or other singular traits, but on "how good you are as an all-around student," he participated in extra-curricular activities that showed leadership ability. He took part in Rotary's Student Law Day each May (most recently as State Police Post Commander) and in Wolverine Boys State — and performed well enough that he made an impression on the mayor.

Yanoschik also is president of the Student Congress at NHS, was vice president last year, and attended a leadership camp at the University of Michigan, while maintaining above-average grades in a curriculum built around the academy's needs.

His romantic notions of studying at the school that has produced America's greatest military minds for nearly two centuries are already changing in the face of the challenge facing the 17-year-old.

A more realistic view of life as a cadet began forming, Yanoschik said, after an Easter-recess visit to the campus.

"Adults tend to romanticize it more than any of the cadets or the students (at high school) do," he says.

Not that Yanoschik is newly-immune to the aura of history at the New York grounds.

"When I got there, on the campus in the spring, I stood there and looked around at all the buildings and, it sort of hits you — 'Wow, I'm here, the same place Grant went, walking where Patton walked.' The cadets tell me that wears off pretty quickly."

Yanoschik is preparing himself for his introduction to military discipline in that first year at the academy — the "plebe" year experience that accounts for many of the popular notions, and misconceptions, about West Point, he says.

"I tell my fellow (NHS) students I'm going to West Point, and they don't understand it, you tell them about the first year and it's alien to them. They say 'why do you want to do that?'" he explains.

"But talking to the cadets already there was a really good experience, they say you never understand it until you actually live through it. It's a once-in-a-lifetime experience that will stay with you 'til you die."

Acknowledging that he speaks as "a 17-year-old with no outside commitments" Yanoschik says he expects to make a career of the military. Accepting the appointment commits the cadet to five years as an officer after graduation.

"West Point doesn't educate you to have you serve five years and leave," he says. "If you're going for the free education (and $480 a month), you're going for the wrong reason. If you're going to study engineering, there are other engineering schools. The sole purpose of the academy is to produce soldiers. If you don't want to be a soldier, it's the wrong place."

"I had someone point out to me the other day that if you continue in the military and retire after 20 years you're still only 40 — that's plenty of time left to go into another career."

Had he not received the West Point appointment, Yanoschik was prepared to take an alternate route into an officership in the military. He won ROTC scholarships at U-M and Notre Dame and says he probably would have gone to Notre Dame and gone into the U.S. Marine Corps.

When interviewing for ROTC scholarships, Yanoschik was told "10-15 years ago if you asked for one, you got it, because there was no one else, but now it's gotten really competitive."

His own appointment to West Point, Yanoschik says, seems to have inspired more interest in military careers among high school students. "I think its given a few juniors more to think about."

Those hoping to win an appointment to one of the military academies had best start soon. It's been just about a year since Yanoschik began the application process by writing letters to his congressman (Broomfield) and to Michigan's two U.S. Senators.

Each requests additional information, such as the letters from Vernon that both Bock and Yanoschik credit with carrying great weight with Broomfield. Yanoschik also noted assistance from William McLaughlin, president of the Detroit Visitors and Convention Bureau and Northville resident.

"By October, 1982, I had completed my files," Yanoschik explains, "then I had to go to an interview with Senator (Carl) Levin's and (Donald) Riegle's committees."

As his application was screened, Yanoschik said important entries were those leadership activities he had been told about at the Brother Rice meeting.

He notes his class will be one of the first to be allowed to graduate from West Point with majors outside the engineering field and thinks he may choose management "because as an officer that's mostly what you do — manage men."

And when the military looks for officers to manage men, it traditionally looks to the graduates of West Point first.

Residents volunteer a total of 7000 hours at hospital

By JEAN DAY

Eleven Northville residents have received awards for hours of volunteer service at Providence Hospital. The volunteer corps elected officers and gave the awards for hours of service to the hospital staff and patients in May.

Sharon Lineman was the greatest contributor in hours of service among the Northville volunteers — and was among the highest of the 600-member organization — with 3,000 hours.

Carol Crabill and Mary Doyle each contributed 1,000 while Olivia Doohan, Audrey Hinchey and Dolores Janick each volunteered 500 hours during the past year.

City council member Carolann Ayers volunteered 100 hours as did Elsie Elsholz, Virginia Kochans, Addleen Powers and Edith Zecker. Novi resident Geraldine Flowers was elected to the board of the group as bylaws chairperson.

Armstrongs fete Nancy (Nirider) Einstein

Nancy (Nirider) Einstein, who grew up in Northville, was in town last month to attend a shower in her honor. She and her husband, Dr. Norman Einstein, are expecting their first child in early July. The luncheon shower was given by her sister-in-law Lisa Nirider and her mother Mrs. James Armstrong at the home of the latter on Thornapple.

Among the 25 guests was Denise Radtke, a Michigan field representative for Congressman Carl Pursell who worked with Nancy when she was a member of the congressman's Washington, D.C. staff. She worked for Congressman Pursell following her graduation from Michigan State University with a political science major. While working in Washington, she began her law studies at University of Baltimore and is to receive her law degree June 10.

Other shower guests included Steffi Harty of Cincinnati who attended with her mother Mrs. Bernard Bach and Lisa Engles of Royal Oak who came with her mother Mrs. Harold Wright. Arlene Nirider, who recently married Nancy's father, Essie Nirider, came from Torch Lake.

Nancy was telling friends about their upcoming move to Lenoir, near Hickory, North Carolina, where they have bought a large, old home. Dr. Einstein will be in private practice there associated with a local hospital. Nancy also hopes to practice law after getting settled. She returned to Washington with many gifts for the expected arrival — including a play pen from her father.

Eyes tell color secrets, clubwomen told

By JEAN DAY

The ancient art of physiognomy — the study of facial features — is being revived by color-conscious women as a means of choosing their most flattering clothes and makeup.

"It's a way to determine one's best colors," Claudia Richter told members of Highland Lakes Women's Club at their May 19 meeting.

In a program, "Artistry of Color," the Brighton resident told club members, "While it is true you can wear all colors the difference is in intensity."

The women placing the accent on color analysis borrow from physiognomy the study of eye patterns in determining types.

Richter explained that people can be divided into "seasonal" types — spring, summer, fall and winter.

It is important to find the one in which a woman is most comfortable, she emphasized.

Eye patterns, viewed through a magnifying glass, she said, can determine this "season."

She showed slides indicating autumn is a flecked eye pattern; winter, a spoke design; spring, a sunburst; and summer, a marbled pattern.

In a professional color analysis revealing such information, Richter and others who are promoting this process use Artistry cosmetics made by Amway. While new in this part of the country, they say it has been in use in California for 20 years.

Proper use of color in makeup and clothing, Highland Lakes members were told, can soften facial features and "bring out natural beauty."

Richter advocated using a translucent powder and focusing a great deal of interest on the eye area.

"I used to want to ask my baby sitter how to do it," she told members as she discussed use of eye shadow and liner. Mascara, she said, can be used to add fullness to lashes.

For blusher and lips, she said, the "season" color with which a woman identifies can determine the shade.

Pale pastels are summer shades while earth tones are autumn.

Cool tones are winter and contrasting ones are spring.

"When you find your 'season' color, you can add other colors not in your season — and all this can apply to home and decorating, such as to accessories like throw pillows."

"Spring" people, the speaker stated, have a radiance — colors glow — they add a bubbling look and may be faddish or extroverted. "They love being with people."

"Summer" people, she continued, are the fair-skinned ones in soft pastels — they love details.

"Autumn" is warmth and leadership ability. These people wear earth tones, are dependable and strong in personality.

"Winter" is elegance, black and white. "They are diamonds, Cadillacs and quiet. The winter person would rather stay home by the fireside with the family. Artists and actresses are winter people."

Richter used sheets of color, much like construction paper, against the skin tones of volunteers to show how by placing them against skin devoid of makeup it is possible to determine which colors drain the complexion — or add luster.

The analysis, she said, can build confidence "as you see dramatic changes occur."

"It's fun and you feel good about yourself as you find your special rainbow of colors," she concluded.

Seminary earns accreditation

St. John's Provincial Seminary has received a 10-year renewal of accreditation by the North Central Association and the Association of Theological Schools in the United States and Canada. The seminary is the only accredited graduate theologate in southeastern Michigan.

Father Robert Byrne, president-rector of the seminary, made the announcement after receiving the April 29 notification from the Executive Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Other than the goals identified by St. John's in its self-study, no additional recommendations or directives were submitted by either accrediting agency.

The North Central Association accredits the ability of the institution to offer quality programs. Earlier this year, the Association of Theological Schools in a similar action accredited the degree programs — the Master of Divinity for a 10-year period; the Master of Theological Studies with preliminary approval until St. John's submits documentation this fall of its two-year experience in granting the MTS.

The reaffirmation of these accreditations followed a four-day, on-site evaluation conducted October 24-27 by visitation teams from the NCA and ATS.

St. John's was established in 1949 by the Bishops of Michigan to prepare men for the priesthood in what now are the state's seven diocese — Detroit, Gaylord, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Marquette and Saginaw.

Since 1976, the seminary has been open to women as well as men. More than 10 percent of the students are members of other-than-Roman Catholic denominations.

Novi church completes area survey

Good Shepherd Evangelical Lutheran Church in Novi recently released a survey of more than 5,000 Northville residents in regard to their views about church issues.

Pastor Gené E. Jahnke

Of all those responding to the poll, 77 percent said they regularly attend church.

Bloodmobile's in area

A Red Cross Bloodmobile will be stationed at Providence Hospital in Novi from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. June 15 for persons who wish to donate blood.

The Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Services needs 1,000 units of blood per day to meet blood demands at 75 area hospitals. Blood can be donated by anyone between the ages of 17 and 65 who is in general good health and weighs at least 110 pounds.

For an appointment, call Nellie Grimwade at 471-0300, extension 200 or 202.

indicated that Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Novi, which is affiliated with the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod, may conduct additional polls of a similar nature in the future.

The 125-year-old Wisconsin Synod has been described by Lutheran observers as the "church most uncompromising in its dedication to confessional Lutheranism."

The church body is comprised of 1,150 congregations throughout the United States and maintains one of the largest elementary school systems among protestant church bodies.

In addition to its seminary, it maintains three colleges and 19 Lutheran high schools.

Our Opinions

Recall not way to effect change

Circulation of petitions favoring the recall of Governor James Blanchard strikes us as a particularly inappropriate use of this right to referendum.

While the applicable law allows recall for most any reason petitioners may choose, this extreme method of expressing displeasure with an elected official has traditionally been limited to those guilty of malfeasance or misfeasance in office.

The current drive aimed against the governor is merely the latest in a recent spate of recall efforts that ignore these guidelines. Admittedly not defined in law, the parameters represent what has been a social consensus that the divisiveness of a recall should only be tolerated in the most extreme need.

We fail to see that need in the current instance. The income tax hike proposed, supported and signed into law by the governor may have been a mistake — it may even have been a breach of campaign promises — but hardly represents abuse of his office. It was accomplished within the powers vested in the governor's office, in full view of the public and with the cooperation of a majority of the duly-elected government.

If that government has failed the people who elected it, our form of democracy offers frequent opportunities to voice displeasure at the ballot box. State house members face election every two years, senators and the governor every four. When we elect them, we expect them to lead. If they don't do so, or do so poorly, we vote them out at the next election.

Early recalls such as the one proposed cut the ground out from under that process. If our leaders make unpopular decisions — which are more likely in the early part of a term than in the later months — and are recalled as a matter of course, the process is so disrupted as to create chaos. What elected official would dare make a tough decision, knowing it would be opposed by at least a sizable minority, with the threat of recall so imminent?

We've not taken a stand on the income tax issue itself, for we find it irrelevant to the matter at hand. As disagreeable as it may be, and accepting, for now, the word of recall advocates who claim the governor broke his word by supporting it prior to an audit of state operations and again when budgeting the new revenue, passage of the tax increase was, without doubt, a legitimate function of the government and its officers.

If the mere unpopularity of a measure, or the accusation that campaign promises were broken, were considered adequate grounds for recall of an elected official, we doubt there is one in the state who withstand a cursory examination of voting records.

Odds are the recall drive will fail even to place the issue on the ballot — advocates of such a costly special election face an enormous challenge in gathering the required signatures in the time-span allowed.

Those opposed to the tax increase may believe the recall drive is worth attempting anyway, because it so clearly communicates their outrage. The anger could well have been expressed in letters to the governor and legislators or, even more clearly, at the ballot boxes in the next election. The cost of the recall drive, in terms of dividing the populace and in erosion of the customary limits on the method, is too high to be treated so lightly.

Branster's words influenced many

Next week in Adrian at the Methodist conference the transfer of the Reverend Guenther C. Branster from First United Methodist Church of Northville to St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Bloomfield Hills will be announced officially.

His congregation, however, has known since the announcement was made in his church April 26. He will be preaching his final two sermons at 10 a.m. next Sunday and the following one, June 12. The latter also is the traditional confirmation Sunday in the church. He and his family will be honored at an informal reception from 7-9 p.m. June 10 at the church.

During his 15 years in the Northville Methodist church this minister has become known for the quality of his sermons. In fact, as he commented when the transfer news was released, Branster understands he was tapped for the new post because he is known as "a pulpit man."

His tenure with the Northville church is the longest in its 149-year history. He saw the expansion of the church to its new location on Eight Mile at Taft in 1970. Initially, services were held in the Christian Education building until the sanctuary was built in 1977.

During his years at the church, the minister has made contributions to the entire community. His addresses to high school graduates, his Good Friday sermons invariably contained messages to make the listeners think.

One of Branster's most commented on prayers was the breakfast one delivered when Governor William Milliken came to dedicate the Main Street '78 project May 21 of last year. He saluted the "men and women willing to take high visibility positions in state and community, who despite personal disadvantages are willing to make decisions that cannot possibly please all factions. For this kind of courage, sometimes walking hand-in-hand with drudgery, we are grateful."

The Reverend Branster concluded that prayer with the request, "Use us in the building of a better world." In his time in Northville his clearly thought out, well-phrased comments have helped many aspire to this goal.

We think they will be effective in his new pulpit — to which he goes with many good wishes.

Family dinner's precarious treat

Some time ago, I read that the decay of the American family was due, in part, to the fact that the family dinner is now a thing of the past. If I recall, this profound statement was made by either Jerry Falwell, Phyllis Schlafly or some obscure sociologist. Regardless, at the time it struck me as rather funny — now I find it hysterical.

I don't dispute the fact that the "family dinner" no longer is the daily ritual it was 20 years. After all, families with two working parents and kids in umpteen after-school activities hardly have the time — or energy — for the customary fanfare of a family dinner. Microwaves, Stouffers, and fast food also have aided families on various dinner shifts.

However, from my own experience, I firmly believe that "dinner shifts" may have saved the American family rather than destroyed it.

Let me explain. In my house, family dinner is held about once every two weeks — or whenever my mother goes to the grocery store. It is essential that we have the family dinner within at least 28.5 hours after the groceries have been placed in the pantry. If we fail to meet the time deadline, there simply is no food left.

My younger brother, (who at 23 still considers himself a growing boy), has no problem consuming a week's worth of groceries in mere hours. We actually have considered putting a revolving door between the pantry and refrigerator to assist him in his kitchen adventures.

Therefore, on those rare occasions when there is enough food left in the house to scrape up something for dinner, my mother will take out an ad in the newspaper to announce she is cooking.

Finding the right time to hold "family dinner" is another problem. In addition to working around work schedules, night meetings and the like, we also have to make sure we can catch my brother between episodes of M*A*S*H reruns or at least during the commercials. If our timing is off, there is one empty place at the table.

Eating with my vegetarian sister is also an experience. If dinner consists of anything other than tossed salad, Jello or rice, we'll hear about. For instance, if there is any "meat" on the table, she'll calmly sit down at her place, look my mother straight in the eye and retort "So, I see you're eating slaughtered cows, again." It makes for enlightening dinner conversation.

Actually, the only truly appreciative dinner companion is our dog Sandy, who sits on the nearest vacant chair waiting for someone to serve her.

With the energy it takes to prepare family dinner in our house, it's no wonder everyone scatters when it's time to do the dishes.

Illegal parking gets editor ticket

By ROLLY PETERSON
Executive Editor

Greetings. You are in the wonderful town of Northville.

This seemed to be the invitation Northville, with its renovated and very attractive downtown, was offering me. For 10 days since coming to town as a substitute editor the flowers enchanted me, the clean sweep of the streets and the convenient parking beckoned.

Until Thursday . . . As I left the office and jumped into my car, what to my wondering eyes should appear but a traffic ticket under my washer blade. "What for?" I exclaimed as a dropped back into the car seat.

For parking — and I sheepishly admit this — in a parking space reserved for the handicapped. Of course, I was righteously indignant, until I stepped out of the car and saw the sign on the post above my car and then I backed out of the space and saw the sign of the handicapped painted on the asphalt.

There in the parking lot, as it so happened, appeared Jack Hoffman, general manager of Sliger/Livingston Publications, Mike Preville, the advertising director, and Dick Aginian, the big boss who is president of the company that owns Sliger/Livingston.

"Jack, you've got a lot of pull in this town," I yelled to him. "What can you do about this?"

He took one look at the ticket and laughed heartily. "Haw, haw, haw, haw," he said, "you got caught."

"Why don't you write something obscene on the ticket, if that will help," advised Preville.

Dick Aginian came over. "I know a good attorney you could hire" and he might have added the word, "cheap," but I can't clearly recall. His not-so-subtle comment was in reference to my wife who happens to be an attorney.

Nice bunch of helpful guys, they are. Twenty-five smackers! Yup, that's what it costs for depriving the handicapped of that space.

Then, as I drove home, inspiration struck. I'm innocent. I know it. But how can I convince city officials and the court? The answer: write a plaintive plea.

Dear Compassionate: Many times I have witnessed others parking in spaces reserved for the handicapped. I abhor the practice and agree they should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

But those people knowingly parked in those spaces. If I had recognized as I parked in that spot that it was for the handicapped, I assure you I would never have parked there.

If intent means anything — and I unders-

Opposes recall of Governor Blanchard

To the Editor:

As a respondent in the only recall of its president in more than 100 years of B...ton incorporation, I feel that my unique experience has provided an insight unknown to many who would recall Governor (James) Blanchard.

I am well aware of how unfairly recall may be used to discredit public officials. The law does not require that a petition be truthful, only that it be in legal form. Charges may range from vague and shadowy to callow/disregard of fact. The voters make their own determination.

The recall was originally intended to protect against the tyranny of elected officials and if properly exercised is to be commended, but it should never become an instrument of injustice available to every malcontent.

It is not meant to be invoked except where there is evidence of crime or malfeasance of office. Malfeasance in law is "the performance of some injurious act which the party contracted not to do, or had no right to do."

Governor Blanchard is guilty of neither. He may have made a bad mistake and displeased many (me, too) by unwise judgement, but that is not sufficient to warrant recall, which implies malfeasance or crime.

I did not support Mr. Blanchard's candidacy for office, but I do support his right to remain in office until proven guilty for cause or the expiration of his elected term.

So what have we accomplished if we recall Mr. Blanchard? Mostly to increase an already overburdened budget. There is no guarantee of improvement.

The Governor is not alone responsible for this ill-timed legislation. What about the members of the house who supported him? Should not they also be recalled? If every time a dissident group or dissatisfied minority spearheaded a recall, how far could that project us down the road to chaos and anarchy?

Liberty, Freedom and due process of law is being challenged for survival throughout the world. Will we contribute to its demise by abandoning a responsible citizenship to hysteria and the demagogic promise of a paradise to come?

We all agree there is great need for change of direction, but I doubt this is the best way to achieve it. Recall is divisive and leaves scars. Let's stop short of such action and send a competent committee to Lansing with the "handwriting on the wall — petitions" and see the governor made aware of their implication. Surely he would not need a Daniel to interpret them. I would predict a swift and retroactive repeal.

Each candidate deserves our appreciation and respect for their willingness to participate in such a challenging endeavor. Remember we will be able to vote for four candidates in the college board election on Monday, June 13.

Lauds child care class, high school teacher

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Mrs. Tibble's child care classes for a wonderful experience.

They have been running a preschool for the past four weeks. This has been a positive experience for several three and four year olds, including our daughter, Jessica.

She is going to be one disappointed little girl when Tuesday comes and there is no "school."

The classes were very organized, well thought out with clever projects and interesting activities. Jessica tells me that one of the snacks was "fun to make and pour down the sink."

The high school students were courteous, and supervised the preschoolers in a warm, professional manner. I'm thrilled that they were Jessica's first encounter with "teachers."

I would like to thank Mrs. Tibble for all the work she did to coordinate the program. May I recommend to her that each of her students get an "A" for a job very well done.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Debbie Kinde

Parson to Person...

Hands

What stories hands can tell - the gentle hands of a mother with her baby, the calloused hands holding a plow, wrinkled hands knitting material, skilled hands of a musician or surgeon!

God's Word has much to say about hands. Matt. 26:57 tells of hands of rejection that "Laid hold on Jesus." See the hands of men weaving a crown of thorns. Other hands place a cross upon his back. Hands of rejection strike his face, pull his beard, apply the lash, and nail his body to the cross. Oh, sad picture, as human hands fashion the instrument of our Savior's death.

But there are also hands of faith, hands of love. In John 20:26-28, the resurrected Christ invites men to "touch me and believe." They who touched him had all doubts vanish and fears flee away.

Those who continue living in darkness and doubt, do so because they refuse to reach out to Jesus. No life is complete until it is touched by Him. The riches and honors of this world can never bring complete fulfillment, but to touch the Son of God brings "joy unspeakable and full of glory."

What kind of hands do you have?

Schoolcraft trustee election is June 13

To the Editor:

The Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees election will be held on Monday, June 13. Surprisingly, a grand total of 13 candidates have decided to campaign for four positions on the board.

Voters will be able to select three candidates for the term of six years. We can also vote for one candidate to serve for the term of two years.

The college district includes the school districts of Northville, Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City and Clarenceville. Candidates run at-large, which in effect, requires an enormous amount of effort and money. To the tand it is important to any case — I am innocent of any wrongdoing. But I am a law-abiding citizen and therefore submit my $25, knowing that you will recognize my case as valid and unusual and refund the $25.

Most apologetically, Rolly Peterson.

Well, maybe that won't work.

I could send a bouquet of flowers to the arresting officer and/or the judge, I thought, but the court may frown on that practice. And maybe they don't like flowers.

Another inspiration. Write this column and plead my case. City officials and the court immediately will notice my innocence. Or, on second thought, maybe they won't.

Finally, I pounced on the solution. Use the power of the press. Force the powers-that-be to overturn the ticket. Appeal to readers. They are fair-minded, understanding. They won't permit this injustice to go unnoticed. The innocent shall not suffer.

So I beg you to write letters to The Northville Record showing your compassion for my plight. It doesn't matter if you live in Brighton or Walled Lake. Let your voice speak out for justice.

I rest my case.

And let's not have any snide remarks about me being mentally handicapped.

Omnicom adds subscribers

Omnicom of Michigan continued to gain subscribers in City of Northville during the first quarter of 1983, according to statistics reported to city council last week.

There were 886 subscribers in the city as of March 31; an increase from the 842 tallied at the end of last year.

Fees paid by its Northville customers put $55,060 in the Omnicom till during the quarter. Under the franchise agreement, the city receives a 3 percent fee or $1,652.

Omnicom last year "prepaid" franchise fees amounting to $20,000, so the amount due the city is credited against that early payment.

A balance of $15,625 remains, meaning Omnicom would pay no additional fees, at the present rate, for another two years.

SECRETARY, BOARD OF EDUCATION

At Schoolcraft

Eight vie for three seats in June election

Eight candidates are seeking three six-year terms on the Schoolcraft College board of trustees June 13.

So far, the campaign has been largely one of personal qualifications. One exception: the fact that six of the seven current trustees are residents of the Livonia school district. One is from Plymouth-Canton and none is from Clarenceville, Garden City or Northville.

In recent weeks, the candidates have been invited to forums before the Livonia and Garden City PTA councils. To those who attended, the audience asked the following questions:

1. What contact have you had with Schoolcraft College (other than serving on the board of trustees)?
2. How do you feel about the "governance" issue — the current system of electing the seven trustees at-large?
3. Most of you have had interviews with the Faculty Forum (instructors' union). What was your impression? What did you learn?

MARY BREEN, 49, of Plymouth Township, has been assistant principal in the Livonia school district for seven years, the last two at Stevenson High School and admits — "I've never been happy with being just a teacher or housewife." She has been an educator for 23 years.

1. As a civic worker, Breen has "worked on millage campaigns for Schoolcraft" and as an administrator has "encouraged students to attend Schoolcraft. It will give everybody an educational opportunity." She also attended a community college — Henry Ford — before attending Wayne State, Eastern Michigan and Michigan State universities.

2. "I feel part of both communities," said the Plymouth Township resident who works in Livonia. "We are a total district, not just individual communities ... We should not think of ourselves as separate entities."

3. "Over the years, I've become tired of hearing about teachers here — administrators here — kids here. We should be one, big happy family. Too many times we've worried about being at odds."

GERALD L. COX, Garden City, served a term on the Schoolcraft board (1973-79). He taught and was a department head in Detroit schools for two decades and currently is a licensed insurance agent with the Arnold L. Fine Agency.

His campaign has emphasized the community college's role in Michigan's economic redevelopment, specifically advocating improved facilities, including one for fine and performing arts.

1. Cox serves on the board of the Schoolcraft College Foundation, "an area where every community can be represented."

2. One of Cox's chief issues is that six of the seven Schoolcraft trustees are from Livonia, with about half the college district's population. "As long as there are at-large elections, we're bound to be dominated by the city to the north," he said to a hometown audience. He has not proposed a specific solution but has prodded the board to address the question.

3. He warns that the strike issue "is not over yet. I'll keep coming back until we do something about the laws in this state. The board is on one side, the teachers on the other ... Quite frankly, I don't expect to get their endorsement."

DARYL DELABBO, 29, is director of administrative services and assessor of Garden City, where he has worked five years. He is president-elect of the local Kiwanis. Delabbo has taught part-time at Detroit College of Business and Wayne State University's continuing education program. His degrees are from Aquinas College and Wayne State.

He says his city experience gives him a grasp of "declining resources in the face of increasing demands for services," adding, "There are no major issues. That's a credit to this board."

1. Delabbo has taken a computer class at Schoolcraft and has an intern who is a full-time student in criminal justice.

2. He puts much distance between himself and Cox on the representation issue, saying, "I don't think Garden City has been neglected by the college. The board has done an admirable job representing all communities. A person should be elected on his or her merits. I think my qualifications can stand on their own."

3. The Faculty Forum was interested in his views on labor relations and management — "What would I do in the event of a strike? Individually, I would do nothing ... The best thing a board member could do is be fair and reasonable."

HARVEY A. FAILOR, Canton, is retired after 36 years in education, the last 18 as principal of Fordson High School in Dearborn, where he supervised the five-year renovation of the building. He has been active in professional groups, served on the search committee for a president of Henry Ford Community College and has been a Sunday school superintendent.

"I decided to run for the Schoolcraft board because of a sincere interest, 36 years of experience and because, after retiring, there's a void in my life," Failor said.

He was not present when the questions on governance and the Faculty Forum were asked.

Failor says he sees Schoolcraft as having a major role in "continuing education and life-long learning." He added that "I fully subscribe to the prescribed mission of Schoolcraft College — an educational, cultural and recreational center dedicated to meeting the challenges of a changing society."

BRYAN GRAHAM, 20, of Livonia, is a student at the University of Michigan-Dearborn majoring in international studies and systems engineering. He offers to bring a "student perspective" to the Schoolcraft board.

1. "I have never been a student at Schoolcraft, and I have no conflict of interest. I have used the physical education building and library. Schoolcraft has a very good library."

2. "I see Dr. Cox's point. I don't think things will change ... If people feel threatened by Livonia, that's a legitimate concern."

3. Forum leaders "were preoccupied with economics" after striking in 1980. "They asked, 'What would you do for the faculty?' — along those lines." Graham also found them interested in a fine arts building and how Schoolcraft would coordinate its efforts with Livonia. "I don't hold out a lot of hope for getting their endorsement," he said.

HARRY GREENLEAF, 46, of Livonia, has been chairperson of the board for four years and is seeking his second six-year term. He is a supervisor in organization planning and salary administration for the central staffs of Ford Motor Company. Greenleaf is also a former two-chairman of the Second Congressional District Republican organization.

1. Greenleaf ran for the board in 1975 and was elected in 1977 but was not otherwise involved with the college. He taught math part-time in an upstate New York college and more recently taught personnel management at Henry Ford Community College.

2. He advocates the "Delta plan" whereby trustees would be nominated from equal-sized sub-districts but run at-large. "It's not ideal or perfect, but it is tested and it has been upheld by the Supreme Court," Greenleaf said the Schoolcraft board has been sensitive to the needs of Garden City and other communities. They have had "input" if not direct representation. "If I had to depend on the Livonia vote, I wouldn't have been elected."

3. The Faculty Forum seemed to have "a set of questions for each candidate." He sensed they wanted "a more participative style" of management.

MYRON KASEY, Northville, has not appeared at a candidates' forum.

ROSINA RAYMOND, of Livonia, has taught foreign language and genealogy in a variety of educational institutions, has been active in the Livonia Library Commission and Democratic politics, and is seeking her third six-year term.

"I've known the college for 22 years," she said. "We have added the wonderful Women's Resource Center. We are going to the people — Garden City, Northville, Plymouth-Canton. We are growing; we are solvent; we have a balanced budget."

1. Her work with Schoolcraft began with two campaigns for its founding and a millage campaign. "I was involved in all of those campaigns. I did not win my first one, either," she said of an unsuccessful bid for her 1971 victory.

2. "Livonia has not dominated" Schoolcraft, she said, noting that prior to reapportionment, the Plymouth school district had had half the Schoolcraft seats. She supported a smaller district reapportionment plan.

Raymond also strongly supported a nine-member board, a system whereby smaller K-12 districts would have a better chance of placing candidates on the Schoolcraft board. She added, "I am willing to look at the Delta plan again."

3. She had not yet been interviewed by the Faculty Forum at the time the question was asked.

The Northville Record

Soccer squad ties for first WLAA crown

Thank you, Plymouth Canton. The scrappy Chargers gave Northville a tie for first place in the Western Lakes Activities Association standings by tying Livonia Bentley 2-2 last Thursday night. The tie left Bentley with a 10-0-3 record on the season while Northville finished 11-1-1. Under the league scoring system, the two teams finished with an identical number of points and gave the 1983 Mustangs the school's first league championship in boys or girls soccer.

Earlier in the week, the Mustangs had cemented their entrenchment atop the Western Division standings in the league by posting three wins to close out the team's regular season. But Mustang coach Ron Meteyer had not held out much hope of an upset over the Bulldogs.

"I'm flabbergasted," he said after receiving news of the game Thursday night. "I got a call from the Churchill coach and he was congratulating me. He had to tell me three times before I believed him."

"I've always told the girls that you have to go out and do it yourselves, nobody's going to win for you. But what can I say I guess we finally got a break."

Last week also saw the Mustang season-scoring record broken by junior striker Lisa Cahill. The talented Cahill scored five goals in the last three games to finish the season with 30 goals, breaking Marge Muller's record of 26 goals set in 1982.

NORTHVILLE 2
LIVONIA CHURCHILL 1

"Ever since we lost the state playoff game the girls have been playing really loose," Meteyer said. It took 13 minutes for the loose Mustangs to take a 1-0 lead on Tish Johnson's hard drive from 12 yards out that deflected off a defender's legs into the Charger net. "It would have scored anyway," Meteyer said.

Churchill posted an equalizer early in the second half, but Meteyer said the Mustangs were cool. Johnson found Cahill open for a pass and Cahill was acting under orders from Meteyer to feel free to use her talent to dribble around defenders. Cahill dribbled past three and buried a 10-yarder for the winning goal.

Mustangs co-champs in West

The race for first in WLAA western division tennis wound up being a high-strung one.

But Northville's netters brought home a one-third share of the divisional crown with a 4-3 match victory over Farmington Harrison Monday of last week, and finished up the season with a tie for second — first in their division — in the league tournament last Friday.

The week's activity left the Mustangs with a 12-2 overall record, 7-2 in conference play with losses to Plymouth Canton and Livonia Stevenson the Mustangs' only shortcomings.

NORTHVILLE 4
FARMINGTON HARRISON 3

Harrison singles players made short work of the Mustangs with only Rich Schohl managing a win for Northville. First single Arvind Sreedharan fell 0-6, 0-6 to the league's best player, Adam Gordon. Schohl in second singles knocked off Brad Hack, while Rick Vach and Tim Campbell lost in straight sets in third and fourth.

As usual, it was the doubles teams that came through. Chris Sixt and Omer Anisoglu recovered from a 2-6 first-match defeat to best Tony Feldstein and Rick Morrison 6-0, 6-3. John Huston and Brandt Nicholas won in second singles 6-2, 4-6 and 6-1 while Keith Dutkiewicz and Dirk Nowka came through 6-3, 6-1 in third.

At the WLAA playoffs last weekend, Sreedharan avenged a defeat by Jonas Palm of Plymouth Canton earlier in the season to take top division honors at first singles, 6-3, 6-1 (He lost the league final to Gordon in straight sets).

But Sreedharan was only one of a host of Mustangs to claim all-division honors at the tourney (Farmington Harrison, Canton and Northville wound up tied for second in the tourney with 12 points each, and sharing the division honors, since Livonia Stevenson was unchallenged kingpin from the Lakes division).

Also claiming all-division honors were all three Mustang doubles teams. Schohl and Anisoglu made it to the league finals with straight set wins, while the doubles teams of Huston and Nicholas and Dutkiewicz and Nowka were also easy winners until the finals.

"It's true it would be nicer to have won the division championship outright," observed Mustang coach Dick Norton. "A tie is like kissing your sister, I guess. But I'm really proud of the way our doubles teams came through for us this year and of the improvement we've shown in singles."

Among the Mustangs more impressive records were registered by individuals both in singles and doubles. Anisoglu finished at 11-7, Schohl at 13-6 and Dave Jelso at 13-3 before a deep cut sidelined Jelso for the season two weekends ago.

Baseball diagnosis

An 11-4 drubbing last week by Farmington Harrison dashed Northville's hopes of sharing top billing in the Western Lakes league's tough western division. The Mustangs finished a very good 10-4 season (12-5 overall), but Plymouth Canton was just that much tougher, finishing at 11-2, while Walled Lake Western wrapped up its season at 10-3.

But the season's not over, and that's what keeps the EKG plugged in. The Mustangs kept their MHSAA district playoff hopes alive with a 5-2 come-from-behind-extra-inning-heart-stopper over North Farmington last Friday.

Holdsworth's crew will return to the operating table this Saturday at Plymouth Canton to take on the winner of this week's Milford-Farmington game in the district playoffs.

NORTHVILLE 4
FARMINGTON HARRISON 11

The Hawks jumped all over uncharacteristically vulnerable Mustang starter Jim Thomson Monday. Thomson had been 4-1 going into the ballgame, but the Hawks were hot, rapping out six hits and rolling up eight runs — five earned — in Thomson's six innings of work.

Infielder Mickey Newman was almost a one-man show on offense for the Mustangs, collecting an RBI double, a single and a solo home run to pace the Northville hitting attack. Dan Nielsen added an RBI single as did Mike Kaley, while ever-steady Andy Dimitroff picked up two hits.

NORTHVILLE 5
LIVONIA FRANKLIN 4

It was an RBI single in the eighth inning by Doug Doyle that gave the junior his fourth win in four decisions in the opener of a double-header against Franklin Wednesday, but the Mustangs nearly booted the game away after zipping ahead 4-0 in the first inning.

That lead lasted until the seventh, when the Patriots mounted a four-run rally to tie the ballgame off tiring starter Dan Nielsen, who had pitched brilliantly up till then.

Nielsen worked six and one-third innings, yielding six hits, striking out six and walking one. Doyle's game-winning single scored, yes, Newman, who had reached base on a double. Also adding RBI hits were Dimitroff and Newman again.

NORTHVILLE 4
LIVONIA FRANKLIN 11

Maybe the less said the better. Holdsworth experimented with a number of lineup changes and pitching assignments in the non-league nightcap, preparing his team for the game Friday while reviewing the crop of young talent for next season. Dimitroff picked up two hits to keep him well above .400 for the season. Steve Marrone (0-1) got the loss.

Lisa Cahill breaks scoring mark

Tina Millen sweeps backfield

thville got complete game domination from the defense, shutting off any North Farmington scoring threat.

Cahill got tied Muller's record on a solo breakaway effort, notching the first at 13 minutes. Midfielder Jan Irwin intercepted a clearing kick with a full volley out of the air to ram home the second at 25. A goal by Sue Terwin on a long pass from Sue Borthwick noched the third.

Three minutes later, Kathy Korowin drilled an upper right corner penalty shot after Cahill had been fouled to make it 4-0. Things quieted down until 23 minutes into the second half, when Cahill turned left, shot right and beat the Raider goalie cleanly.

Posting the final was senior Jenny Gans, Mustang goalkeeper, who Meteyer assigned to line duty during the second half. Gans took a perfect cross from Kim Pettit giving Gans the ball right in front of the Raider net and Gans drilled it home for the 6-0 score.

NORTHVILLE 8

FARMINGTON HARRISON 0
The Mustangs season finale figured to be a relatively easy game, although the Hawks had scored as many goals as anyone else this season in the two teams' last encounter, a 9-3 Mustang win.

But this time Harrison's offense wasn't even a factor, as Northville's offense made any Harrison scoring moot.

Mustang tracksters can't hurdle Western

In a way, the loss to Walled Lake Western last Wednesday that finished up the Northville boys' dual-meet track season was appropriate.

It contained all the elements that had led to disappointments during the regular season — disqualifications, unavailable athletes, near-miss efforts — as well as those that were redeeming, including excellent effort and dramatic improvement.

As of now the only thing that goes in the books, however, is the Mustangs' record — 0-5 WLAA, 1-7 overall.

NORTHVILLE 60
WALLED LAKE WESTERN 72

There are several things the Mustangs can point to as setbacks in this meet — including sprinter Joel Vogt's trombone talent, and the Northville's fifth disqualification of the season. Coach Gary Polley was displeased with both.

Vogt, you see, was tied up with commitments to the high school band and unavailable to the team again, after he had also missed the regional tournament the previous weekend. The Mustangs wound up losing at least one event he likely could have won.

"He could have walked in first in the 440," Polley said. Indeed, a first place there, another place in the 220 (a Vogt specialty), and a win by the disqualified 880 relay team would have given Northville the meet.

The disqualification? According to Polley, the 880 relay team was disqualified for one runner's cutting off an opponent despite the fact that the runner stayed in his own lane. "The referee ruled that he leaned into one of their guys in the turn," Polley said, exasperated. "Of course you lean in a turn."

"In eight years of high school coaching, this (season) is the first time I've seen this number of disqualifications. At the states and regionals that kind of thing happens, but I've never seen our best runners get DQ'd so much."

Polley got all he could ask from his runners during the meet. Mustang sprinters completely dominated their events, sweeping the 100 yard dash — Randy Eppers in 10.6, Norm Estigoy in 10.65 and John Quinn in 10.8. Eppers added a first in the 220, but the Mustangs could get no more points out of the event.

Senior Mike Beltz — a candidate for the team's best athlete with his versatility in field events — turned in one of his best efforts of the season, taking second in the discus (122'2"), his season-best, second in the high jump (5'6"), second in the pole vault (10 feet) and anchoring the winning 440 relay with a dramatic final kick to win by a nose in 47.2 while the Warrior foursome clocked in at 47.3 (Eppers, Estigoy and Quinn were the first three legs).

Mark Knoth, the Mustang hurdler par excellence who will represent Northville in the MHSAA state finals, posted easy wins in the high and low hurdles. The team's only other individual-event winners at the Western meet were shot put man Dave Bach, the team's other state-qualifier, who heaved a 49'9", John Kloggkenga in the 880, Jim O'Neil in the two-mile (10:47.0), and Eppers, who won the 220 in 24.2.

Other point-scorers for Northville were Randy Kratt in the shot (second with his season-best 42'10"), John Letarte in the long jump (second in 18'1") and 440 (third in 55 flat).

First-year coach Polley, who was recently given notice his job with the Northville school district would be discontinued for budget reasons at the end of the year, announced last week he accepted a teaching post at Howard City High School, just west of Grand Rapids. He will coach girls varsity basketball at the school.

He said he would miss seeing this year's team, composed of many talented young athletes, develop into a more competitive unit next year. "They're going to miss some of their seniors, especially Mike (Beltz), Dave Bach and Randy Kratt, but they'll still have Joel Vogt and Mark Knoth along with a lot of others who've made great improvements this year."

Softball 9 get good pitching

"I definitely was really proud of the way the team has been playing lately," said Northville varsity softball coach Mary Minor. "The ones who came to the game, anyway."

Coach Minor didn't mean to make the compliment backhanded, but a more stern mentor might have. There were a few faces missing from the varsity softball team's 4-0 loss to South Lyon in the pre-district qualifier Friday night — the main culprit not injury or illness, but prom night.

"It probably wouldn't have made much of a difference," Minor shrugged philosophically. "They have an excellent pitcher in Debbie Wongstrom. She has an athletic scholarship to U-M, and she was just really tough."

NORTHVILLE 11
FARMINGTON HARRISON 3

Everything fell into place for the Mustangs during their encounter with the Hawks the previous Monday. Sue Keiser again demonstrated excellent control, scattering four hits and three walks en route to one of her best pitching performances of the season.

The Mustangs picked up three runs in the second, one in the third, three in the fourth and four in the fifth to wrap up the contest. Shortstop Cheryl Berryman had two RBIs on a single and a sacrifice fly, while Keiser, Pat Wazny, Nancy LaPlante and Jan Roberts all added up RBI hits in the lopsided win. Roberts and Wazny each socking a triple in the contest.

NORTHVILLE 0
SOUTH LYON 4

Keiser again pitched an excellent game on Friday — none of the Kensington Valley Conference champion Lions' runs were earned and Keiser allowed only seven hits throughout the contest. But Wongstrom was just plain awesome, retiring the side in order four straight times and stifling Mustang bats repeatedly.

Kim Campbell goes for distance

Girl thinclads fall to Warriors

Make that 4-2. Walled Lake Western handed Northville its second league loss in a 78-48 dual meet and Mustang girls coach Ann Dayton said it is perhaps best forgotten.

It has been a taxing month. The girls were undefeated in league play going into the last two weeks of the season (the squad is now 5-3 in dual meets overall), with several very close meets recently.

But Dayton predicts the girls will be back on track — literally and figuratively — this week after resting up over the Memorial Day weekend. They'll need the rest, with the season's big one coming up today, the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) league meet at Livonia Churchill. Field event competition will begin at 4 p.m., with track preliminaries at 5:30 p.m. and finals at 7 p.m.

Plymouth Salem is one of the favorites at the meet; while Northville will need a superior effort to be competitive with the top teams.

NORTHVILLE 48 WALLED LAKE WESTERN 78

It was a pretty anticlimatic way to finish the dual-meet season, as the Warriors scrambled to a comfortable lead in field events to post the victory Wednesday, May 25. Coach Ann Dayton didn't even want to discuss most of the times in running events. "It's been a long, hard season," she said the next day. "I think the girls are ready for a break."

Cindy Panowicz, preparing for state championship competition in both hurdle events and the 220 yard dash this Friday, completed her usual triple victory in the long jump (16'5"), the 110 hurdles and the 330 hurdles. Kelly Wool was an easy winner in the two mile, with Wendy Nuechterlein taking second. Wool took second in the mile and Nuechterlein third, with subpar times in the four-lap event.

Jennifer Trausch and Kristen Nelsen were 1-2 finishers in the half-mile, Trausch in 2:40.3 and Nelsen in 2:41.0.

Becky Baumann's effectiveness in the sprints was affected by a nasty spill at the regionals the previous weekend, but Laura Chamberlain took third in the 100 (12.4) and the 220 (28.3), right behind Baumann in 28.0.

Also adding thirds were Samantha Barber in the high jump (4-8), Lynn Bills in both hurdle events, Kim Assenmacher in the 440, and Margie Wojocki in the shot put with a personal best of 24 feet even. Although Wojocki's discus pitch of 72'4½" did not place, it too was a personal best.

Meads Mill takes first

Northville Meads Mill Junior High copped top honors at a three-way junior high regional track meet held at Northville High School last week, the Meads Mill thinclads rolling up 100 points to Inkster Cherry Hill's 49 and Northville Cooke Junior High's 46.

Leading the way for Meads Mill was Nick Morris, the only three-ribbon winner of the meet. Nick took first in the long jump (15'9½"), the 75 yard dash (9.0 seconds), and barely missed first in the 100 also, finishing just one-tenth of a second behind Cherry Hill's Scott Baringer.

Robin Strunk was also a very impressive runner for Meads Mill, placing first in the girls' 60 yard hurdles, then finishing second by one-tenth second in the boys 100-yard hurdles and second in the high jump, where Robin went 4'8", just behind Cooke's Tony Briningstool, who cleared 4'10".

Cooke's only two other winners were Sue Schrader, who won the girls' shot put at 24'7", and Joe Pilarz, who won the boys' mile run in 6:01.8.

Meads Mill's other winners included Jason Hill in a close two-mile run (12:07), Dave Townsend in the 60-yard high hurdles (10.3) and the 100-yard lows (13.5), Kirk Kabel in a fast 880 of 2:28.3 (beating Cooke's Paul Stoeklin by a hair), Erin Holmberg in the girls' 220, and Scott Paredes in the 440.

Collecting additional individual-event ribbons for the Meads Mill were Steve Paredes, Scott's twin brother (440), Chris George, Michelle Cross, Susie Rahimi (sprints), Erica Nelson, and Dave Oganowski (long distances).

Net tourney set

Schoolcraft College will host its Ninth Annual Men's Open Tennis Tournament Thursday, June 9, through Sunday, June 12.

The tournament is offered through the summer tennis program sponsored by the Office of Community Services in an effort to increase community use of the College's 12 championship tennis courts.

Entry fee is $5 for singles and $8 for doubles, and deadline for enter is Tuesday, June 7, at 10 p.m.

To obtain a registration form or more information, call pro Chuck Volland at the Tennis House, 591-6392, after 4 p.m. weekdays and after 9 a.m. on weekends. Schoolcraft College is located on Haggerty Road between Six and Seven Mile Roads in Livonia.

'Sister acts' boost Ladywood

While the Northville High School girls soccer team has been reaping plenty of headlines, there's another talented group of kickers who feature a cast of home-grown talent — namely Livonia Ladywood.

Ladywood finished first in the western division of the 10-team Expressway Girls Soccer League. Under coach Chuck Cordero, the team compiled a league record of 5-1-3, and performed admirably in MHSAA playoff action, making it to the district final against Livonia Franklin.

As to the home-grown talent, there are three Northville sets of sisters: Julie and all-leaguer Jane Moylan, Sandra and twins Carla and Lisa Vincenti, and captain Lisa and Linda Bogotaitis. Joining the sister acts are second team all-league goalie Donna Schlacter (who allowed only 13 goals in the 7-2-3 overall season), first team all-league forward Anne Schwartz, and freshmen Laura Daly, Laurie Ryba and Mary Coseo.

The Northville Wildcats U-14 girls soccer team won its division championship in the Canton invitational soccer tournament last weekend with 2-1 wins in both an exciting semifinal and in the final over the Livonia Avengers.

Adding timely scoring for the Wildcats were strikers Kim Flading and Karen Baird, while coach Stan Smalec commended defenders Nicki Grasley and Michelle Cross and goalkeeper Tricia Ducker for preserving the victory in the final.

Riches found in rags

ANNE S. BAIRD

Former Northville resident Anne S. Baird has recently published a book about junk.

"Junking: Be a Junk Millionaire," tells why one man's junk may be another man's treasure.

The book, published by Holland House Press in Northville, tells how to cash-in on items often thought to belong in a trash can. Old newspapers can bring in big bucks, bits and pieces of lumber can turn into a child's play house and don't even think of throwing out your deposit cans, or someone else will cash them in, warns Baird.

She also reveals the tricks of economizing. Saving "collectables" is an easy one. Here Baird explains why what people don't know can hurt them. Items that may be of high value to a specialized collector might be thrown away, because they are looked upon as useless.

A comic book collector may pay a lot of money for an old comic book that has no value to a non-collector.

"Junking Be a Junk Millionaire," describes junk as items of growing value and treats the buying and selling of junk as a business. Baird explains the different methods. Everything from having a garage sell to selling on consignment.

The problems a person may confront when junking are also addressed, along with some possible solutions.

If a piece isn't moving, prices may need to be lowered, says Baird. If the item still isn't sellable Baird also gives some hints on what to do with it.

Baird lived on Six Mile Road with her parents while attending Mercy College. She later graduated from Western Michigan University. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. James Hasenau, still reside in the area.

Presently Anne lives in Plainwell, a town just north of Kalamazoo, Michigan, where she is a wife, homemaker and special education teacher.

"Junking Be a Junk Millionaire," is available by mail through the Holland House Press, Box 42, Northville, MI 48167 at $8.95 plus $1 for postage costs.

Sees need for more organized effort

More coordination in promotion of Michigan is needed, the chairman of the Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association told members at an annual meeting May 11.

Gerald Van Wyke, re-elected chairman at the Meadow Brook Hall session, spoke to representatives of the tourism industry from 11 counties in southeast Michigan.

"He said the state's tourist industry can become the most important catalyst to economic redevelopment if it tries harder and become better-organized."

Van Wyke, a Birmingham resident and Detroit attorney, said the Say Yes to Michigan campaign, now in its second year, is yielding benefits to the state and that the need now is to carry the enthusiasm generated by the campaign another step.

"Michigan is doing an excellent job marketing itself," he said, "but needs to expand its scope by including all aspects of the quality of life in our state and by developing a coordinated promotional approach."

"Recreation, leisure, culture and the arts and tourism-related groups and associations ought to be working together to plan how they can work more closely," he said.

He called for a state-wide conference of all interested tourism and recreation parties to plan strategy for the rest of the decade.

He noted the state house of representatives committee on tourism and recreation has established a tourism advisory group with the aim of developing statewide tourism policy.

"This is an important development because it means the industry is clearly recognized by the legislature as being of vital economic importance," Van Wyke said.

The TTA chairman emphasized that the primary attraction in marketing the state as a travel destination is Michigan itself.

"Our state's blend of woods, waters, beaches and man-made accommodations and attractions is a conglomerate resource and unlike some manufacturing plants, will not be relocating," he said.

He said too few Michigan business persons and residents are unaware of the economic importance of tourism to a stable state economy.

"Tourism is now either our second or third largest industry, depending upon whose claim you believe," he said. "The important thing is that it is labor intensive."

Last chance for CPAs

CPAs seeking relicensure hours before the July 1 deadline have a final opportunity in the June 10-12 CPA Weekend program offered by the Oakland University Division of Continuing Education, co-sponsored by the school of economics and management.

This offering is especially important in 1983, the biennial reporting year for CPE (continuing professional education) hours. Forty CPE hours for each of the previous two years must be earned by June 30 to obtain relicensure.

Up to 20 CPE hours can be earned in the Oakland University classes, covering a wide variety of subjects: economic forecasting, retirement funding, performance appraisal, bankruptcy and FASB and SAS industry pronouncements as well as classes in writing clearly and in advertising one's firm.

Tuition is $15 per class, plus $15 registration. Computer classes are double sessions at $30 and $45. Enrollees can take as many classes as needed. Classes are conducted on campus, off I-75 near Rochester. For registration information, call the Continuing Education office, 377-3120 between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

COMMUNITY FEDERAL CREDIT UNION is now offering Northville, Plymouth and Canton businesses a commercial account. This new account features a Share Draft program (credit union checking) and Master Card/Visa receipt processing, the credit union announced.

Other features of the new program include a night depository, deposit for withholding on employee wages, ready fund availability and competitive fees. The commercial accounts can be serviced starting in June at Community Federal Credit Union offices in Northville, Plymouth and Canton.

"WEARABLE ART AND ADORNMENTS" is the title of a Designers-in-Touch exhibit of fiber arts at Traditional Handcrafts, 154 Mary Alexander Court, off Main Street in downtown Northville. The exhibit features the work of 10 artists.

HOLLOWAY CONSTRUCTION Company, Wixom, was the low bidder at $9,165,593 on a project of the Michigan Department of Transportation to complete the new M-21 in Lapeer, it was announced in Lansing. The entire project calls for construction of another 7.7 miles of new M-21 Freeway in Lapeer County.

The May 18 bid-taking was the largest by MDOT in recent years. Fifty projects totaling approximately $43.3 million were let out to low bidders. The projects are for improvements of Michigan's highways and airports in 31 counties.

General improvements in the bid-taking include repairs and upgrading along 11 miles of I-696 Freeway from the interchange with dual I-96/I-275 east in the cities of Novi, Farmington Hills and Southfield by Ajax Paving Industries of Madison Heights at a cost of $2,731,500.

start a grapevine

Just say the word to the right people and soon it's all over town. That's how the grapevine works. But there's one way to spread the word even faster — with a Sliger/Livingston Green Sheet Classified Ad.

When you are looking for something to buy, or have something to sell, tell about it with a want ad. Your story will go out to a million people just the way you tell it. And that's SOME grapevine.
