Krictz resigns recreation department post

This year's audit results were not completed in time for last week's meeting, although at least a preliminary report had been expected. Representatives of Plante and Moran auditing firm said the audit would be available for next month's commission

While there are differences of opinion about the accountability for the continuing losses, commissioner Gary Sixt made a point of asking Talbot to begin adding a comparitive index to the monthly director's report to the commission, comparing this year's budget to 1982 figures

"We've got to pick up after the horse is out of the barn," he said. When asked after the meeting whether commissioners had actually requested Krictz's resignation, Sylvestre replied they had not.

In fact, Sylvestre said during the meeting the resignation was something of a surprise. When latecoming visitors arrived at the meeting, he briefed them about the resignation, describing it as a "bombshell."

In his letter of resignation, Krictzs said he would be available for consultation to the department on a part-time basis to create a smooth transition of personnel in the department.

"Furthermore," his letter, dated
June 8, stated: "I would like to thank the members of the commission both past and present for their interest in community recreation. I do wish the continued success of the department and its personnel in the future growth of the Northville Community Recreation Department."

A 1972 graduate of Wayne State

University where he majored in physical education, Krictzs inherited the department director's job in 1977 following the resignation of Chuck Froberger, under whom Krictzs had served as assistant director.

Since that time, the responsibilities of the director have been expanded among them are regular reports to the commission and occasionally to other local government units, along with overseeing program implementation, community relations, development of new programs and other duties.

It's still fun selling, folks, but it may be fattening as well.

Not only did I return to Jim Cowie's Old Northville Popcorn Company for more popcorn (maple butter, this time) but also had lunch at MacKinnon's uptown. Delicious!

By now I've stopped in most establishments in Northville, including the Seven Mile area, to talk printing, everything from business cards right through newspaper flyers. If I missed you, I apologize. Give us a call here at the plant if we can be of service, or just drop in and introduce vourself.

This week I tackled the Nine Mile-Novi Industrial Park area. Lots of smiling faces and pleasant greetings. A smile costs nothing, but creates much. It was lunchtime again — do I dare stop at the White House Manor? Well, I did, but only long enough to introduce myself. Self-restraint: that's what's needed in this on-the-road job.

A salsesman shouldn't drive a dirty car so on Saturday I broke down and visited Randy Mayer's Novi Auto Wash. Now there's a man who really likes his work! I was all through with wash and wax when he approached me.

"I hate to have a customer go away thinking she's gotten a bad wash job", he said. "I want to point out you have tar splattered on the paint above the wheels. If you'll pull over, I'll clean it off for you.'

Now there's a salesman for you!

We've really got a lot going on right now down at the plant. Since taking over the composition and sheetfed departments from The Northville Record last January, we have been planning extensive renovation. Have you noticed our flashy new sign, particularly at night when lit? That was

Step 2 involved ordering, installing and training operators for all new computerized typesetting equipment, If you like computers, come see what

Step 3 was adding some lovely watercolors to our bare walls, done by Barb Johnson, wife of one of our supervisors. So much talent there.

I'll update you on future improvements when completed. We've got more to come. I'll keep you posted, too, on the Open House date. But you don't have to wait 'till then; come on down any time between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

In addition to printing programs, booklets, flyers, etc., we also print more than 40 different newspapers a week and operate 24 hours a day Monday through Friday.

Lost a present?

If "Cindy and Len" who probably were mar-ried somewhere in this area last Saturday are missing one of their wedding presents, Ginny Burnham may have it for them. Mrs. Burnham reports she was following a car decorated with tissue paper flowers and tin cans in typical fashion for newlyweds about 8:30 p.m. when a package fell off the back of the car. 'It was a square package wrapped in silver, and we realized it must be a wedding present,' she reported Monday. "They probably were excited and placed in on the back of the car and then forgot to put it in."

"We followed the trail of tissue paper flowers that were dropping from the car all the way from Nine Mile between the railroad tracks and Meadowbrook to Halstead and then lost it," she Monday Mrs. Burnham called several area churches without success, trying to find where "Cindy and Len" were wed.

She has not opened the gift, but a shake revealed it does not seem to be broken. However, if "Cindy and Len" — the names on the gift card — will call Mrs. Burnham at 349-2218, they'll be able to find out.

Offer bible school

Our Lady of Victory Church will offer a vacation Bible school for children four years of age through the sixth grade July 11-15.

Schools propose maximum millage

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Facing a 4.4 percent or $439,000 decrease in the State Equalized Valuation (SEV), the Northville Board of Education has proposed to levy the maximum authorized 32.9 mills during the 1983-84 school year — a mill increase over last year's levy of 31.9

Business and Finance Director John Street noted at the board's meeting Monday night that even by levying the maximum authorized millage, the district still will be left with an SEV decrease of approximately 1.5 percent.

However, to balance next year's approved budget of $11.2 million, the board opted Monday to use approximately $780,000 of the district's present $1.4 million fund equity.

The board unanimously approved the adoption of the 1983-84 general fund budget calling for appropriations of revenue of $10.4 million, fund equity of $783,000 and expenditures of $11.2 million. Absent from Monday's meeting were trustees Gerald Munro and David Llewellvn.

However, the adopted budget only is considered preliminary because of uncertainties in staffing and enrollment levels. Final budget adoption is required by November 1.

Last year's hefty fund equity balance of approximately $1 million prompted the board to levy one mill less than the maximum authorized 32.9 mills. The one mill reduction amounted to approximately $315,000.

However, board members noted that this year the maximum authorized millage will be needed to offset the decreased SEV and rising program

Board treasurer Jean Hansen, who also chairs the board's finance subcommittee, noted that "one of the most important decisions the board made was to use the fund equity instead of having $700,000 in cuts.

Board vice president Karen Wikinson echoed Hansen's remarks adding that the "heavy impact (of budget expenditures) is specifically on the instructional program ... that's why we've dipped into the fund equity.

The two main capital outlay areas instuctional and operations — have been budgeted at $50,000 each. Operations largest planned expenditure is for vehicle replacement. Additional expenditures are planned for specialty tools, lawn mower and snow thrower and other similar equipment.

Instructional capital outlay will be used for building equipment and additional computer hardware.

Instructional fringe benefits and other fringe benefits show a combined increase of about six percent, which includes 12.5 percent for hospitalization and a 33 percent decrease for unemployment compensation.

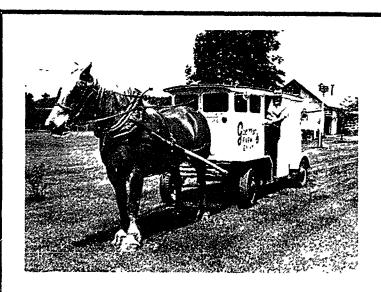

In addition to the adoption of the K-12 general fund budget, the board also approved preliminary expenditures of $3.4 million for the Institution Special Education Program and $974,000 for the Wayne County Center Program.

Kiwanis plans outing to annual Tiger event

Up to 50 handicapped children and senior citizens of Northville, sponsored by the Northville Kiwanis Club, will attend the eighth annual "Kiwanis-Handicapped Day with the Tigers" Sunday, July

Pre-game ceremonies will honor Ernie Harwell, "Voice of the Tigers," for his service to the handicapped, and will feature Tyronne Hamilton, talented blind musician singing the National An-

And for the second consecutive year, the Northville High School Band will perform on the field through arrangements by Mitchell Deeb, secretary of the Northville Kiwanis Club and a past lieutenant governor of Kiwanis.

"Northville's band did a splendid job last year and we're really delighted to have them back again this year," said Deeb.

As part of its participation in the event, which attracts handicapped children and seniors from throughout the state, the Northville club will bus participants from the Northville area to the game. Most of the youngsters are members of the bowling program conducted here by the club for the past several years.

The game also will be a Tiger autograph day.

"Although it will be exciting for the Kiwanians, their families and their friends to root our Tigers to a victory over the Oakland A's, the principal reason for sponsorship of this event by the Kiwanis Council of Southeast Michigan is to share the day with as many handicapped and forgotten senior citizens as possbile," explained Deeb, a key organizer and backer of the annual Tiger game.

Cost of selected reserve seats will be only $7.50. he said, "but it is suggested that Kiwanis friends and business associates wishing to sponsor a handicapped or senior citizen, the donation should be $10 to help defray cost of transportation, hot dog, etc. But any amount of donation would be helpful.

Interested persons are urged to contact Deeb at

Northville bowlers in the Kiwanis program here recently completed another exciting season, capped by the annual tournament between Northville

The local bowling program for handicapped children, first of its kind sponsored in Michigan by Kiwanis, was duplicated in Holt by former Northville resident Hugh Lockhart, a professor at Michigan State University.

Following the death of Kiwanian John Steimel, late postmaster in Northville, local Kiwanians established the John Steimel Memorial Trophy going to the winner of the Northville-Holt contest.

Northville bowlers won the trophy for the first two years of its existence, but this spring Holt children won it. Two handicapped children rolled games over 200.

Among other activities sponsored by the Northville club are:

Financial backing for the Northville band, support of local high school students to the Christian Athletes camp, payment for hearing/speech therapy for local children, Boys/Girls State, downtown Northville activities to focus attention Northville's rejuvenated central business district, and participation in the upcoming Recreation Department field day (July 3) at the high

A major new commitment of the club is the financing and creation of a ball field on the recreational land recently donated to the township by the state.

Persons wishing to channel their civic responsibilities through Kiwanis are invited to become members. The club meets weekly at 6:30 p.m. at Aberdeen's restaurant on Northville Road just south of Seven Mile. Club president is Frank Skin-

Doughnut shop plans approved by planners

Expansion plans at the Ely/Snow Hardware building received condiional site plan approval from the city planning commission last week.

The addition, expected to be used for a doughnut shop, will roughly parallel North Center Street.

Approval had been delayed pending resolution of uncertainties surrounding the city's policy calling for widening of North Center when property owners make improvements.

City manager Steven Walters told ommissioners the expected solution is at hand, with the city engineer to present plans to city council next week. The building addition will not conflict with the road-widening plan, he said.

As commissioners expressed concern that Ely's plans indicate road widening would be paid for by a special assess-ment district (SAD) while no suchdistrict exists, Walters said the road issue "seems to be headed for a SAD." The commission sought assurances that the road widening would be done even if no SAD is approved.

Site plan approval cleared the way for issuance of building permits, with the commission requiring the owner to file a parking lot lighting plan meeting city standards before issuance of occupancy permits. Also required is approval from the city engineer of storm drainage plans.

Commissioner Jay Wendt said he was concerned about the parking lot traffic pattern, where plans show a single, narrower driveway near the Fox Photo booth in the lot.

"I think you may get cars backing up in there and onto North Center," he said. The only extended response came from commissioner James Cutler, who said "economic pressure" on the owners will probably force a different layout.

"If it is too difficult to get in and out, he'll probably move the photo booth or change it in some way, because people won't go there if it's too hard to park," ffices considered in industrial zone

An application for office zoning on a Griswold Street parcel has prompted a city planning commission study of how best to allow such uses in an industrial Petitioner Jack Doheny told the commission he wished to construct an office building on the north shore of Lake Success but that the use was not allowed in his PR-1 zoning district. He therefore desires PBO classification on roughly one-half of the property, he said, while retaining the industrial zoning on the western half.

Railroad right-of-way.
Immediately adjacent land in the township is zoned RM for multiplefamily housing - a sliver of land of undetermined ownership between Doheny's parcel and the railroad is also Planning consultant Ronald Nino recommended approval of the rezoning, and said splitting the zoning on Doheny's parcel would provide a good transitional use between housing in the township and industry in the city.

"You would be acting as a good neighbor to the township," Nino said. "It also should be considered that Griswold is a major route into the city and that office zoning would create a more attractive entry than would industrial."

City councilmember Burton DeRusha, who attends planning sessions as a liaison to council, said he agreed the construction of an office building on the parcel was a desirable use, but suggested it be allowed through ordinance amendment allowing office uses in PR-1 rather than by rezoning.
"It concerns me that this would be

'spot zoning," DeRusha said. "I am afraid we may be setting a precedent by rezoning this one piece when the master plan calls for industrial all the way through.'

He also said that, in the course of studying the project, he had found "a great demand out there" for office buildings including relatively large storage (warehouse) areas.

"All kinds of sales and distribution operations can use buildings that are primarily office structures but include maybe 500 to 600 square feet of warehouse," he said.

"As far as we can tell, your zoning ordinances don't permit this in either industrial or office classes.'

City manager Steven Walters noted that smaller storage areas are allowed in PBO while the PR-1 class allows small office areas accessory to a warehouse.

'Most warehouses have a small office but primarily function as warehouses, while many office buildings have small storage areas," he confirmed. "But we really have no place to put a group of offices, say, attached to a warehouse."

Nino said it is generally more appropriate to change zoning rather than to amend ordinances to suit immediate needs. He said his initial reaction is to prefer rezoning over ordinance reviits latest thinking." In regard to the spot zoning issue, Nino said the standard interpretation of spot zoning "implies a privilege to one property owner not accorded surrounding property owners. Privilege implies a monetary advantage."

Such a monetary advantage is clear, he explained, in a case where commercial zoning is allowed in the middle of a residential area.

"There is no question that that is spot zoning," Nino said. "It is less clear when you're talking about industrial to commercial or between commercial in an industrial zone represents monetary advantage and therefore spot zoning is vague."

DeRusha suggested the commission at least examine the possibility of an ordinance amendment allowing office and warehouse areas to co-exist in an industrial zone, not only for Doheny's parcel but in response to the need for such structures cited earlier in the meeting.

The commission voted to table Doheny's request while investigating whether rezoning or ordinance amendment was the most appropriate way to allow an office use.

After the meeting, Nino said he was not as strongly opposed to ordinance amendment as he had been initially. noting that the PBO class had recently been expanded to allow some commercial and residential uses that are probably not appropriate for Doheny's parcel.

He, Walters and DeRusha discussed a revision to the PR-1 ordinance to allow larger office areas than are now permitted while prohibiting the other uses allowed in PBO.

Assaults top township complaints John Hancock

In the township...

Police are seeking four persons believed to have committed felonious assault with a motor vehicle June 7, according to police reports.

The victim of the assault told police he was mowing roadside grass on a riding mower on the south side of Six Mile Road east of Bradner when a red Ford pickup truck began passing him repeatedly. When the 1968 or '69 truck first passed, the Livonia man reported, one of two persons in the truck bed pointed a pistol at him. The truck turned and passed again, repeating the pass four times. On the fourth occasion, the victim told police, he was hit in the right shoulder by an object he believed was a BB fired from the pistol.

He told police he turned the lawn mower south on Winchester, then slowed to turn onto Banbury when the truck passed again, this time swerving toward him so as to force him off the road and over the curb.

The man described four persons in the truck, two in the cab and two in the truck bed. He also supplied other information regarding the vehicle. The victim said he did not know the persons in the truck, whom he described as being one female and three males in their 20s.

A 16-year-old Northville High School student was allegedly beaten near a Seven Mile Road arcade

The youth, an Eight Mile Road resident, reported he was at the Bee Hive Arcade Saturday night when he spotted someone wearing a jacket that appeared similar to one recently stolen from his school locker.

He approached the other person and asked where he had obtained the jacket. Told it had been stolen from the high school, the victim demanded its

An argument ensued, with the two ending up outside Auto-Wize, where, the victim said, the other person turned and struck him in the face. A fistfight ensued, concluding when a third party kicked the 16-year-old in the face.

The youth spotted a vehicle leaving the area which he described to police, who continue to investigate the assault and battery complaint.

A Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital security officer filed a felonious assault complaint against a hospital patient after an incident June 10. According to the police report, the patient was an escapee from Ward C-14 of the hospital. When approached as she made her way east on Seven Mile, near Meadowbrook, the patient refused to return to the hospital with security officers.

As the first officer on the scene approached her, the woman struck him in the jaw and ran. Additional security officers arrived to assist. According to their accounts, the woman picked up a 15-pound chunk of concrete from the roadside and held it over her head, threatening to kill anyone who attempted to stop her from going home.

When an additional support officer arrived, the woman allegedly ran toward the nearest officer and hurled the concrete at him. He dodged the missile, charged her and handcuffed her.

According to the report, the investigating police officer spoke with a hospital doctor who revealed the patient had only two hours before been allowed off the ward. She had, the doctor told police, been committed by court order for 60 days after Detroit police found her wandering Belle Isle, unable to care for herself. She had previously been at Ypsilanti State Hospital, where the violent mentally ill are housed, following a stabbing incident, the doctor told police.

under construction in the Greenridge subdivision, police reports state.

A Woodbend resident witnessed the malicious destruction June 4 and told police he saw two young males, about age 13, playing in the yard of the construction site. He said he saw the two pick up 2x4 lumber and walk inside the unfinished house, then heard loud banging noises and saw holes in the exterior sheathing. The youths fled on bicycles when he approached, the witness told police. The owner said the 10 fourfoot by eight-foot Thermoply panels that were damaged were valued at more than $50 apiece.

A $400 stereo system was reported stolen from an Innsbrook apartment June 6 or 7.

The owner told police he went to work at 2:30 p.m. June 6, securing all doors and windows. Upon his return at 2 a.m. June 7, he said, he found he was unable to enter the front door because the safety chain had been latched from inside.

Going around to the back, the owner told police, he found the glass doorwall closed but unlocked. Inside, he noted the Airline AM-FM cassette stereo missing, as well as pocket change from a night table and two bottles of soda pop from the refrigerator.

Police later ascertained entry was made by lifting the doorwall out of its tracks.

Two persons were injured in a three-car, chain reaction collision at Northville Road and Seven Mile June 9, according to police reports.

Two cars northbound on Northville Road were stopped at a red light at Seven Mile, police reports indicate, when Julius Liebing, of Jamestown Circle, ran into the back of the second car, pushing it into the first car in line.

The driver of the middle car, John Walter, of South Lyon told police he was stopped at the light, heard the squeal of tires and was struck in the rear. His car then hit one driven by Jeffrey Pike, of Novi Injured was Elizabeth Liebing, of Jamestown Circle, who was a passenger in the Liebing car and Walter, driver of the middle car. Both suffered visible injuries (cuts, abrasions or bruises) that did not require immediate medical attention and both opted to seek their own rather than summon an ambulance, according to the report.

Driver Liebing was issued a citation for failure to stop within assured clear distance ahead. He told police he had not seen the stopped car in front of him until too late, but had attempted to stop. The police report said his car left approximately 20 feet of skid marks on the pavement before colliding with the Walter vehicle.

The silver 1977 Ford Pinto reported stolen from the driveway of a home on Summerside in the city last week was recovered later that afternoon, according to city police reports.

The owner of the car was notified at 12:45 p.m. Monday, June 6, that the Oakland County Sheriff's office had found the car parked on Chubb Road between Nine and Ten Mile roads in Lyon Township. The tires and wheels, including the spare, had been taken, and the car had been left running. A pencil was wedged between the brake and accelerator to hold down the gas pedal. The windshield wipers

Repair to crosswalks will wait another year waiting for similar improvements at other intersections will have to wait a while longer.

The bricks have settled somewhat below the level of adjacent roadway, creating a bump for cars driving Main or Center Streets. Bricks were relaid in the two crosswalks nearest the clock last month and brought up to pavement

City council member Paul Folino last week noted the improvements made near the clock and asked city manager Steven Walters when the other crosswalks would be done.

Walters said he does not anticipate any work being done on them this year. "I think we'd be better waiting a year," Walters said, apologizing for having left the impression, during earlier reports, that all crosswalks would be Folino said he thought some of the bumps, particularly at Main and Center streets, were becoming very noticeable when driving.

But Walters said some further settling may be anticipated and that the city would be better to wait a year so that the base is fully packed before raising the bricks to pavement level.

"The (bumps) are no worse than many of the manhole covers we have around town," Walters said. "They're noticeable, but they aren't going to do any damage to cars or anything like that. If we fix it this year, it may settle more and we'd have to do it again next

Folino said he thought some of the manhole covers around town "could use some work, too."

During city budget sessions, council contract (at no added expense) due to evidence the brickwork had been flaw-continuing budget deficit has resulted in delays in needed maintenance and upkeep of city streets. Credit requirements updated at NHS

By MICHELE McELMURRY

Art, music, foreign language, home economics and other former electives will become part of the required high school curriculum next year, following the board of education's unanimous approval Monday to update the district's graduation requirements.

In accordance with the recommenda-tion of the adminstration, the board approved a "gradual increase" in gradua-tion requirements beginning next

In an outline presented to the board, sophomores (Class of '86) entering Northville High School next September will be the first class required to meet the new 170 credit requirement. The high school currently requires students to maintain 150 credits by the end of their

Next year's seniors (Class of '84) will maintain the 150 credit minimum with juniors (Class of '85) required to meet a 160 credit minimum by the end of their

Administrators emphasized that the 170 credit requirement is a minimum and that a student completing six classes each year could earn 180

Upon the recommendation of high school department chairpersons, the 170-credit requirement will mean an additional 20 credits in former electives such as art, music, business education, home economics, industrial technology and foreign language.

Other credit requirement changes include an additional 10 credits of math totaling 20 credits in grades 9-12 and a required composition class in English.

Though she approved the recom-mended change in the high school re-quirements, board vice president Karen Wilkinson said she was concerned that the math "minimum is too

She acknowledged that it "was a very personal thing," but said she felt that more math credits should be required at the high school level. Board treasurer Jean Hansen echoed Wilkinson's remarks, adding that she hoped the counseling staff would encourage students to schedule more math credits.

The 20-credit math requirement is equivalent to two years of math in grades 9-12. Currently students only are required to take one year of math.

The change in the district's graduation requirements goes along with the administration's approval last March to institute a six-hour day at the high school beginning with the 1983-84 school

Currently, high school students only are required to take five courses. Beginning next September, however, sophomores and juniors will be required to enroll in six classes each semester. Seniors will be required to enroll in five classes each semester or a combination six and four, provided they have earned a minimum of 100 credit hours by September.

In presenting an outline of the new requirements, high school principal George Aune noted that most students - particularly the college-bound - "meet the 20 credit requirement now."

"For instance," he said, "the math requirement we are recommending now, in essence has been followed the last couple of years."

In approving the recommended change in requirements, the board acknowledged that an evaluation of the proposed changes will be needed over the next few years,

School Superintendent George Bell cautioned the board about instituting too many requirements in the high school curriculum.

"I think you have to be aware that everytime you put in a requirement, you kill an elective," he noted. Aune reiterated Bell's comment, noting that "Northville High School is a comprehensive high school. While many kids go on to college, many also go into the work place."

Rezoning denied on North Center

Application for office zoning of the parcel of land at the southeast corner of Eight Mile and North Center was rejected by city planners last week.

The planning commission voted unanimously to recommend city council deny the request for rezoning from R-1 to PBO after hearing from an audience of an estimated 50 persons opposed to the

In rejecting the petition, the commission also rejected the recommendation of its consultant, Ronald Nino, that the parcel be rezoned to R-2, allowing two-family residences. Commissioner Jerome Mittman noted that the petitioner, Denis Roux, had stated he did not desire R-2 zoning.

The petition will be routed to city council, which generally accepts the recommendations of the planning commission but is not bound to do so.

Audience members opposed to the rezoning cited increased traffic and expansion of commercial districts as primary concerns. In a letter to the commission, Nino stated the change to PBO would constitute "spot zoning" in that it would confer a privilege on one property not allowed on surrounding properties. The spot zoning concern was also expressed by audience members, who said they feared allowing commercial uses into a residential area would result in eventual expansion with the downtown commercial zoning eventually stretching all the way north along Center to Eight Mile.

Ken Harrison of Rayson and several others noted the "spot zoning" that would result by placing a PBO parcel at the corner with all surrounding property in residential classes and said expansion of the zone might be expected not only on North Center but along Eight Mile as well. Doug Adams of 760 North Center told commissioners "our house was originally down by Rizzo Realty — they were going to tear it down when Chatham and that commercial development came in. It has historical value and it was moved. Now, you want to come up to Eight Mile and put commercial property there, too, where it degrades the historical value of our house."

Adams also agreed with other North Center and Grace Street residents that the likely use of an alley easement to provide access to offices at the corner would result in additional traffic.

"We're right across the street from the high school driveway. They already use our driveway to cut through to the alley and out to Grace," Adams related. "If they can get through to Eight Mile, there will be even more of that."

He said he has a 2½ year old who "can't play in his own front yard because of the all the traffic."

Like other residents, he did not agree with

Roux's contention that office zoning would be the best use of the property because it would create less traffic than would business zoning.

Carol and Dave McLaughlin, who live across the street from the parcel in question, noted that a medical complex could be built in PBO zoning, and it would generate a great deal of traffic at already-congested intersection.

Other residents told of very long waits to make left turns into their North Center driveways because of traffic backed up from the light at Eight

In his report to the commission, Nino said a "prudent buyer" would not want the parcel for single family residential use, but that commercial uses were inappropriate.

A higher-density residential classification would be appropriate, he told the commissioners, saying that two, two-family structures could be built on

But Roux had earlier stated that he thought multiple family structures were inappropriate at the location because they attract transients and that such residents would not be wanted near the high school.

Donations sought to furnish schoolhouse

Visitors to Mill Race Historical Village during Fourth of July festivities will find Wash Oak Schoolhouse looking very much as it might have in 1873.

That date, explains Harriet Welland. is when the schoolhouse was constructed; so historical society workers are taking the building and furnishings back to that time.

From 37-star flag to the 32 student desks, furnishings have been researched by Harriet and Bob Welland and Kay and Doug Otton.

Recent acquisitions given by two local Quester chapters are the schoolteacher's desk and the teacher's brass hand bell. Both gifts are antiques of the 1873 period. The hand bell has been donated by the Bell Foundry Questers, and the desk by Silver Springs Questers.

"We're still accepting donations for the school," Harriet Welland reports, mentioning such items as a water bucket and bench as she recalls that students would have gotten their water from an outside pump in 1873.

Pictures, especially of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln from the period, maps, school books and a the schoolhouse will be open as part of clock are among other wanted items.

Northville Historical Society will be making as many purchases as possible to complete the furnishing and has earmarked proceeds from the auction being held in the Mill Race July 4 for the project.

Contributions for the auction are being accepted the next three Saturday mornings in the Mill Race.

"Items don't have to be antiques for the auction. We're accepting household discards — everything but clothing," Mrs. Welland explains. Donors will be given receipts for tax purposes, she

At the annual meeting of the Northville Historical Society May 19 the school curators reported other news of the schoolhouse project. The Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women had accepted the proposal that it develop, as a work project, a curriculum for the school.

It will be developed for the early grades and will be authentic to the 1873 date. The branch expects to have it ready at the end of the fall semester.

'We've really tried to be as authentic as possible and to stick to 1873," the Wellands declare, mentioning that they currently are planning to have aprons for girls and jackets for boys who attend school at Wash Oak.

For Harriet Welland the research is inspired by personal memories.

'I went to one in Missouri, and my parents did before me," she recalls as she talks about the schoolhouse. She adds that an outhouse at that time was part of the picture. "We had a threeholer and from it we went to the pump," she remembers.

It went against tradition, but, when the flags were ordered for the schoolhouse in the village, the decision was made to have the one outside made of nyon. The one that hangs inside, however, is cotton.

Anyone interested in donating an antique to the school is invited to call Harriet Welland, 349-5803, or Kay Otton,

"THE OLD MAN"

Everyone is born with a nature that is given to sin. That old nature never improves. Even after conversion, it struggles against the work of God: "For the flesh struggles against the spirit, and the spirit against the flesh. . .so that you cannot do the things you should (Gal. 5:17)

The Bible tells us how the old nature shows itself: "adultery, uncleaness, idolatry, sorcery, hatred, strife, jealousy, anger, heresies, envy, murder, drunkenness, and the like (Gal. 5:19-21)." We all live with these tendencies and temptations each to a lesser or greater extent depending on the individual.

Discouraging? Not necessarily! You see, a true believer in Christ is equipped for victory over "the old man." When a person is saved, he becomes a partaker of God's nature (II Peter 1:4). His body is then the temple of the Lord. Thus, God's power is available for Stop trying to improve "the old man." Instead, surrender your life to the new nature (God's power) within us. Seek God's grace to live a victorious Christian life.

Fire runs approved

Township fire chief Robert Toms received permission at last Thursday's board of trustees meeting to take the township's rescue vehicle on fire runs for a six-month trial period.

Arguing that "we have the rig and can give aid on the spot," Toms told the trustees, "we have excellent rapport with Community (designated township ambulance service) and can assist as we're often the first responders.' Saying he had given Toms' request a lot of thought, Supervisor John E. MacDonald said he was willing to authorize the vehicle's use on a trial

Clerk Susan Heintz questioned whether it would be a duplication of service with Community and, if so, who would pay.

Toms assured the board that there would be no extra cost involved to the township as the vehicle would be driven by firemen and emphasized, "we do not want to haul anybody.'

The firemen, he explained, are trained to give irst aid and would be working with Community personnel.

Concern was expressed, however, that firemen giving first aid could not also be fire fighters inasmuch as sanitary conditions have to be maintained in the rescue vehicle.

Asked if the township insurance covered the use, business manager David Leiko said it does. .

Treasurer Richard Henningsen said he felt "some concern that it could be a duplication of ser-

Our Opinions

Krictzs' resignation: A good way to leave

The resignaton of Recreation Department Director Ed Krictzs will be viewed with mixed emotions in the Northville community, but backers and critics alike have to admit he's doing it with class.

His willingness to make the transition to a new administration of the department as smooth as possible is commendable. Recreation Commission Chairman L.T. Sylvestre has noted it's a bad time of year to go looking for a new chief, as the department gears up for summer activities.

Krictzs has overseen a remarkable expansion in the department-owned grounds and facilities and should be commended for his role in making them available to sports enthusiasts in the community.

Program Supervisor Pete Talbot appears to be a competent, hard-working staffer, and we expect he'll do a good job as interim director. We wish both Krictzs and Talbot luck.

As the recreation commission prepares to seek a new director, it is absolutely essential that well-thought-out guideslines be established for candidates. This also is the time for the commission to have in place a complete job description.

The commission in drafting selection criteria must decide what professional background will be required — how much experience will be acceptable.

The job description must detail the director's accountability to both the city and township. It must include budget responsibilities and fund-raising expected as well as sports and recreation programs wanted. Youth summer programs and arts and crafts, if desired, should be included.

With the qualifications and job description set the commission then will have to interview candidates, keeping in mind that the candidate selected must be able to work with both city and township governments to provide the best recreation program possible for the entire community. The caliber of the program will depend on how well the commission attacks the task now at hand.

Patience pays off

Maybe patience does pay off after all.

The frustration of Park Gardens residents who have spent the better part of two years trying to get sewers installed in their neighborhood should be somewhat assuaged by the knowledge that the low interest rates offered on the SAD bonds Tuesday were unimaginable a year ago.

Interest rates on bond issues are said to reflect the bidder's perception of the governing administration, with lower rates offered those solid enough to convince the investor that risk is minimized. If so, the township is to be congratulated on the implications of Tuesday's bidding.

Now, we can all cross our fingers and hope for similar good news next month when construction bids are opened. Throughout the process, Park Gardens residents have been told the slump in the building trades could result in lowered construction costs. With building now on the rebound, awarding of a contract can come none too soon.

After the long wait, it may turn out that timing on the project is nearly perfect. The recent decline in interest rates that help restrain bonding costs is also prompting revival in the construction industry, but the building trades can hardly be said to have reached full recovery. With any luck, there will be some hungry companies out there offering a good price on this most-pressing of township projects.

Ironically, even as the township is rounding the bend into the final stages of the Park Gardens project, the installation of an interceptor sewer in Haggerty Road is also rapidly approaching reality. The progress of that long-awaited alternative routing (still some years off) is ample justification for the time taken by the township to re-engineer the Park Gardens project to take advantage of a Haggerty outlet. That interest rates fell and (we hope) construction costs remained stable during the interim is something of a bonus.

Congratulations!

This Friday evening, some 320 Northville High School seniors will make their final trek across the Mustang football field in the school's 114th commencement ceremony.

After 13 years of everything from show and tell and spelling bees to pre-calculus and world literature, the Class of '83 is about to take its final bow. Though it's been a long and sometimes arduous journey, these students have prevailed through determination and hard work. The diplomas they receive Friday evening are well-deserved.

Though Friday's commencement symbolizes the end of their school days in Northville, graduation also marks a new beginning for the students in this hard-working class. There are 102 honor graduates in this Class of '83 who have achieved 3.0 or better grade point averages during their high school career. While many will go on to further their education, others will be heading into the job market.

We wish them well in their future pursuits and extend our congratulations for a job well done.

To the Northville High School Class of '83, best wishes and good luck.

Flags dress up Main downtown

Anyone coming into town Tuesday could take pride in the way Northville observed Flag Day. Except for the fact that they contain 50 stars on the blue field, the flags fluttering in the bright sunshine gave Main Street a patriotic, early-this-century look. The display of our country's flags along Main Street, moreover, is not a routine project of the DPW or police department.

When the Main Street.'78 beautification project was under way, City Manager Steven Walters recalls, local American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars representatives requested permission from the city to install permanent flag holders. When it was not possible to attach them to the tree guards along Main, pole holders were placed in flower beds, around the clock island and in the town park on Main.

Well before 8 a.m. Tuesday the flags were in place, reminding us all of Flag Day. Officially, by action of Congress, the 21 days between June 14 and July 4 have been set aside "as a period to honor America in public gatherings and activities at which the people can celebrate and honor their country in an appropriate manner."

The downtown beautification continues to be a major project with ornamental fencing now added. Norma Vernon reports that the beautification commission used the balance of its budget to have the decorative black iron fencing installed in the town park and along plantings in city parking areas. Charles Huff, she notes, working with Ted Mapes and the city DPW did an excellent job. The fencing and additional plantings of flowers and shrubs continue to contribute to the attractiveness of the

This beautification project would have been impossible without the volunteer service of members of Country Girls and the Northville Branch of the Woman's Farm and Garden Association, as well as the Girl Scouts.

There's more to come, too, Mrs. Vernon adds, as the VFW Post has reaffirmed its interest in beautification of the boulevard area on South Main. When parking areas are completed at the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce Building by the Northville well, the chamber headquarters also will be landscaped.

Town watchers have more than civic organizations' projects to observe. The building at the northeast corner of Main and Center in the heart of town is undergoing a major renovation as Orin Jewelers prepare to open. Sidewalk superintendents have viewed workmen removing the former show windows and entrance, revealing early construction. Until later "modernizations" were removed, the handsome second-floor windows have gone unnoticed. Look up to see their stonework and the latticework in the top panes. New first-floor windows are being constructed with etching appropriate to the building.

The Northville Merchants Association is doing its part to call attention to the town's attractiveness by planning a series of summer events to bring both residents and visitors to the community. A "Summersong" festival next weekend, June 24 and 25, will utilize the sidewalks and parks for arts and crafts displays. Merchants will have specials to make coming into town even more worth while. Don't miss it.

At times, he can only shake head

By ROLLY PETERSON
Executive Editor

I call them head shakers. About all you can do in this business once you have made a goof is shake your head in disbelief, profusely apologize, renew efforts to assure it doesn't happen again and pray a lot.

Jack Hoffman, the general manager of Sliger/Livingston Publications, was the first newsman to warn me of what I shall call the recurring nightmare and the mistake syndrome.

Let's talk about the mistake syndrome first. Jack would pick up the paper on Wednesday, the day of publication, and look through it. If he detected a mistake, he would utter some bleep words and slam the paper down. He wouldn't look any further.

"If there's one mistake, I know there are others," he would proclaim in anguish. My experience has borne out Jack's observation. Find one mistake and there are bound to be others. Don't ask me why this happens. My only explanation is, we all have bad weeks.

The recurring nightmare is another faux pas that will shake a newsman to his roots. If a news story or ad about the Novi Jaycees, for instance, is wrong the first time, the chances are that group will be victimized again through repeated errors. I've found that three is the magic number. If it happens once, it will happen two more times. Don't ask me why. It just happens that way.

The error pops up despite concerted efforts to correct the initial error.

We had a beauty when I was editor of the Brighton Argus. Hartland Township had scheduled a public hearing on a proposed K mart development. The first time we lost the ad and it didn't appear in the paper. The second time we printed the wrong public hearing date and the third time, we failed to publish the required number of weeks.

The township re-scheduled the public hearing for the umpteenth time and this time we got it right. Everybody, and I mean everybody working on the Argus at the time, checked to make sure the ad was right and that it appeared as scheduled in the paper. Finally the public hearing was held—three months after it had been originally scheduled.

The editorial and production departments have fouled matters, too. One of the most embarrassing recurrences happened shortly after Bill Sliger, former owner of most of Sliger/Livingston papers, purchased the Brighton Argus in 1969.

The Argus wasn't much of a paper under the previous owner. And the paper followed some practices that were totally unacceptable to us. Rather than cover school board meetings by having a reporter present, the paper would rely on the superintendent coming in the office the morning after the meeting and conveying what happened.

Bill Sliger and I told the superintendent that old practice would end. We would have a

Supports curb on spending

By GERALD LAW State Representative

The Michigan House missed an opportunity last week to control the growth of government spending when it rejected several Republican amendments that would have limited state departments to an eight percent spending increase for 1983-84.

Had the Republican compromise plan been adopted, the state could have saved approximately $117 million next year. Despite the continued public outcry to curb government growth, the big spenders have once again found new ways to spend new revenues from new tax dollars.

A strong argument for curbing spending this coming year is the nation's current low inflation rate of 3.9 percent. The Republican plan of an 8 percent cap was double the inflation rate - a compromise level we found to be reasonable and responsible.

Although Governor Blanchard promised an austere, continuation budget, his proposed 12.8 percent increase is more than triple the inflation rate. I find no justification for such excessive growth. This tremendous spending plan will have ominous results. Fiscal agency experts estimate a $530 million deficit by 1985 if we continue to spend at such an increased rate. There will be tremendous pressure for another tax increase in a couple of years to finance state government growth if we continue this trend. The Department of Social Services budget provides a good example of how the Republican plan could have cut spending while still providing necessary services. Under our 8 percent increase, the DSS budget would have been 4.8 percent smaller than the Appropriations Committee recommendation.

But that wouldn't have meant a cut in benefits to the needy. Instead, the DSS bureaucracy and health care providers could have absorbed those cuts and taxpayers would have saved almost $90 reporter at every meeting and we would take the responsibility for publishing factual stories. The superintendent wasn't too happy, but we weren't there to curry his favor. Our job was to report accurately.

House action on the DSS budget last week climaxed the first round of debate over the 1983-84 fiscal plan proposed by the Governor.

The first goof was colossal. We printed that there were two millage issues on the ballot; there was one, a combined renewal and new. Immediately we published hand notices for distribution throughout the district that pointed out the error.

The second time, a headline appeared over a school board story that had no relationship to the story. And the third time, which found the superintendent in my office glowering smugly, we published a factually correct story except the paragraphs had been scrambled by the production department. The story was unintelligible, much to my chagrin.

One might conclude from these goofs that errors are rampant. They aren't. Considering the volume of stories and pictures we print under deadline pressure, it's amazing there are so few errors. I only wish we would never

That is not the Webster's Dictionary definition but one given by Roberta Bearup, owner of The Village Florist in

The Village Florist celebrated its eighth anniversary this past Mother's Day at a new location, 401 North Main Street. The new shop is located across the street from the old one.

The reason we moved was to offer a wider selection of plants, silk and dried arrangements, and gift items," said

Bearup, who owns and runs the business with her daughter Michelle Sadler, started the business eight years ago after her children had completed school.

After working at the Four Seasons florist in Brighton, Sadler was interested in opening a florist shop. Bearup decided it was a good idea to open a shop in Milford.

The Village Florist offers a wide variety of fresh-cut flowers, green plants, flowering plants, cacti, and terrariums with sand paintings. It also features dish gardens, and silk and dried centerpleces.

The new shop does arrangements for special occassions; corsages, wedding flowers and funeral arrangements.

Extended jobless pay ends

Nearly 56,000 Michigan workers now receiving extended unemployment benefits will lose them after June 11 because the state will no longer qualify

The federal-state Extended Benefit program (EB) is triggered by a 13week moving average insured unemployment rate (IUR) which fell below the 6 percent level recently. When the IUR is above that level, state workers are eligible for up to 13 additional weeks of benefits after expiration of regular state unemployment benefits (26-weeks maximum). With an IUR below 6 percent, it automatically ends.

Despite the loss of the EB program, according to S. Martin Taylor, MESC director, those currently receiving or about to receive EB will not see any immediate loss in benefits.

"The Federal Supplementary Compensation (FSC) program will remain in effect at least through September," Taylor said. "Most of those now receiving or about to receive EB will immediately move into the FSC program and will avoid any interruption in their benefit payments."

The federally-funded FSC, due to end in September, provides jobless benefits for those who exhaust both regular state benefits and EB. Without an EB program, Michigan will move directly into the FSC program once they exhaust regular benefits.

Currently, there are about 135,000 workers in the state receiving FSC.

The EB program is funded by both state and federal taxes and is programmed to trigger in at high levels of unemployment.

The week ending June 11 is the last for which MESC can pay EB, Taylor said. Because of the bi-weekly reporting system, some claimants will get their last EB checks as early as June 13 or'as late as June 24.

The drop of IUR below 6 percent could also cause some FSC recipients to lose from one to four weeks of thse benefits. For new FSC claims after June 5, the maximum entitlement is 12

February 28, 1982 to March, 1983, the EB program paid out over $437.9 million in benefits. It starts and remains in effect when the IUR is six percent or higher or when it five percent or higher and at least 20 percent higher than the average for the two previous

If a state fails to meet both criteria. EB payments must stop for a period of at least 13 weeks.

The IUR is the ratio of those claiming regular unemployment benefits to thse covered by state unemployment insurance law. The labor force unemployment estimate released by MESC monthose in the labor force (those looking for work and those working). The new IUR for the period ending May 21 is 5.86 percent and is not 20 percent higher than the two-year average.

The unemployment rate for April is 15.5 percent.

Taylor said the state IUR has been dropping steadily since February due to a decline in unemployment insurance claims. He attributed the claims drop to fewer layoffs in the state and to workers either returning to work or exhausting their benefits.

Michigan had been one of 22 states paying EB to its jobless

Unemployment falls second month in state

Michigan's jobless rate dropped for levels. the second consecutive month in May, falling to 14.7 percent from April's 15.5 percent. After seasonal adjustments, the rate remained steady at 14.9 percent in both months.

The figures are labor force estimates released by the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) last Director S. Martin Taylor said there were 25,000 fewer jobless workers in the state during May, with the unemployment total dropping to 641,000.

Despite the decrease, unemployment in Michigan was worse than the yearago level of 14.3 percent when 614,000 were out of work.

Seasonal variations usually cause a drop in unemployment statewide between April and May.

May employment gains were registered in construction, retail trade and service industries. Some job gains were also seen in the auto industry, where employment reached year-ago

Total employment in the state rose by 114,000 in May, reaching 3,736,000 - the highest since July, 1982. The state labor force also grew last month, with the added 89,000 bringing the total to 4,377,000.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, only 4,000 additional workers were added to the unemployment rolls, making Nationally, the seasonally adjusted figure for the civilian labor force fell to 10.1 percent from 10.2 percent in April. The number of unemployed workers nationwide fell by 136,000 to 11,192,000.

Traditional Guernsey Father's Day party readied

Guernsey Farms Dairy of Northville will conduct its annual Fathers Day Celebration Sunday, June 19 from noon to 4 p.m.

Featured is an old-fashioned milk wagon drawn by Belgian show horses as part of an outdoor party. Offered are a free ice cream cone for dad, horsedrawn wagon rides, 20 percent off all chicken orders and an open house tour of the dairy plant.

The latter is the last remaining operating dairy plant in Northville, which has connections with the milk industry going back a full century or more to the early days of condensing.

John McGuire bought into the dairy in 1945, gave it its present name and moved it to 21300 Novi Road in 1965. He still owns the dairy, which is family-run.

SHOWERMAN'S IGA in Brookdale Square, South Lyon annouces five winners in the annual Fun Journey Contest. Receiving top votes in the contest were: Christi Harrah, daughter of Sharon and Harold Harrah of South Lyon; David Westphal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Westphal, South Lyon; Susie Misslitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Misslitz, Northville; Dean Beckstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beckstein, South Lyon, and Kenneth Novotny, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Novotny, Whitmore Lake.

The South Lyon winners will join 235 other boys and girls on a twoday, all-expense paid trip to Cedar Point and Sea World with an overnight stay and an evening of entertainment. They leave June 21 by chartered bus for the Ohio fun journey.

The contest is held by election and votes are recorded by customers who write a chosen candidate's name on their cash register tapes. These are then deposited in special ballot boxes set up in area IGA stores. Winners are those receiving the most votes.

TWO EMPLOYEES of Showerman's IGA in Brookdale Square, South Lyon, have won top places in a Kraft, Incorporated foods display contest which featured a new car as a customer grand prize.

Maximillian Akemann, grocery manager at the store, and Michael McCarthy, dairy manager, took first place in the Great Lakes Region in the Kraft contest and second place in the national retail display contest. The display was set up in conjunction with the "Nobody Cooks Like You" contest.

PARK-U-PICK Strawberry Farm, 8779 Dixboro Road, between Six and Seven Mile roads, south of South Lyon, is ready to begin its 18th strawberry season with expanded acreage and plenty of berries, according to owners Delores and Russell Park.

Delores Park planted her first acre of strawberries (5,000 plants) on her hands and knees in 1964 with the encouragement of her fatherin-law, John Park of Westland. The berries did well on the Dixboro Road farm and each year the Parks have expanded until they are now at 30 acres (150,000 plants planted by machine).

Park said he expects to open to the public around June 15-20. Since most of their customers prefer picking and paying by the quart rather than the pound, the Parks furnish a convenient five-quart lug that customers take along at no extra charge. Mrs. Park said their berries will be about six days late this year due to the cool spring, but she expects a good crop. Best berries for freezing are the ones that ripen from June 20 on, according to this "master grower."

Park, who recently retired from his regular employment to join his wife full time in management of the strawberry farm, said their goal over the years has been to provide a quality strawberry for jams, jellies, freezing and eating, to make it convenient for customers to park close to their picking area, to pick each row every third day, to provide clean berries by mulching the fields, to offer a fast check-out system for paying and to be courteous.

Attendance at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Dearborn is up 42.2 percent against year ago figures in the first quarter of 1983.

The Edison Institute, of which both are a part, announced last week that 85,940 visitors toured the indoor-outdoor museum complex in the first three months of the year - an increase of more than 25,000 over the 1982

Museum officials credited the increase to the introduction of three special event weekends at the museum, the opening of a museum hands-on activities center, an aggressive marketing and publicity program and a mild winter.

Tax breaks encourage renovation of older buildings

Renovating historic buildings, once a hobby of wealthy homeowners, is attracting business people and investors in a big way, according to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accoun-

Aging buildings are reborn as profitable commercial real estate: redbrick factories are being transformed into offices, mills by quiet streams into shopping malls and restaurants, and schools into apartment houses.

The trend reflects the economic advantage of rebuilding and generous federal and local tax breaks, the MAC-PA notes. According to IRS figures, qualified spending for rehabilitation of historic buildings totaled $800 million last year and could reach an annual level of $2 billion by 1985.

Renovation, often cheaper and faster than new construction, can put buildings back into active use within two years after plans are drawn, compared with the four or five years often needed to construct a new building.

One of the biggest tax breaks available is a 25 percent investment tax credit for rehabilitation of certified historic structures. To qualify, such structures must be listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or in some way contribute to an historic district.

Savings are not limited to rehabilitation of historic structures, the CPA group advises. For instance, a 20 percent investment tax credit is available on buildings more than 40 years old and a 15 percent credit for those more than Rehabilitation tax credits, allowed for investments in income-producing property, are taken during the year the building is put in service.

To get a renovation tax credit, renovation costs during a 24-month period have to exceed the greater of $5,000 or the adjusted cost basis of a building.

For instance, if a building sells for $150,000 with $50,000 of that allocated to land, more than $100,000 must be spent on rehabilitation in order to qualify for buildings.

Savings don't end with the credit, however. In the past a building owner had to take a depreciation write-off over the period of a building's useful life — generally set at between 25 and 50 years. Now, since buildings are assigned a 15-year depreciation schedule, the owner takes a larger deduction each

This deprecitation tax benefit was changed by 1982 legislation. As a result, the depreciation base is computed by subtracting half the rehabilitation tax credit from the adjusted base of the building.

In other words, if the building is worth more than $300,000 (the $100,000 cost plus $200,000 for rehabilitation) the depreciation base is $275,000 ($300,000 minus half the rehabiliation credit). The straight-line depreciation is $18,333

But that's not all, the CPA group advises. In many cases still another tax incentive is available to historic

The owner may "donate" the facade of the building to a local government or non-profit preservation group and take a charitable donation deduction for its assessed value. This means the owner surrenders his right to change its appearance in any way. It also reduces the depreciable base for tax purposes.

The U.S. Department of Interior has guidelines for historic rehabilitation. However, some guidelines may limit rehabilitation plans and add to costs. For example, they require 75 percent of the building's original walls remain standing.

The building's original height must be maintained, so while an attic may be converted into storerooms, the addition of a floor is not permitted. Replacement of architectural details such as cornices or railings must be made from materials resembling the originals; new windows must preserve the design of the old ones.

Finally, CPAs advise realistic budgeting for any rehabilitation project. In maintaining a building's

Refinance high interest home mortgages

Given an opportunity to invest a few thousand dollars now and save tens of thousands of dollars later, most people would give the matter serious thought. Those holding mortgages assumed a year or two ago when interest rates were as high as 18 percent have just this opportunity to save money down the Refinancing a high-interest mortgate now that interest rates are down to 13 percent and lower may be advantageous, according to the Michigan Association of Public Accountants.

The Federal Housing Administration (FHA) estimates as many as 40 percent of its recent mortgage applications have come from homeowners wishing to refinance.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which keeps tabs on mortgages financed through the country's savings and loans, notes that the monthly value of loan closings for refinancing grew from $592 million in September, 1982 to more than $2 billion in March, 1983.

To decide if refinancing is worthwhile, calculate all costs and savings expected, both imediate and long-term. Before going through the arithmetic, CPAs advise, keep in mind it's useful only if plans are to live in the home for at least two to three years.

In general, refinancing is a smart move if the difference between the current mortgage rate and the new one amounts to two percent or more. To be safe, CPAs and lenders advise a spread of three percentage points or more.

Refinancing actually means getting a new mortgage. This is true even when refinancing with the same lender. Because it is new, the borrower is subject to various closing fees - including a new appraisal, title search or update, bank attorney charges, and often the expense of a new credit in- If a 30-year, $60,000 mortgage at 18 pervestigation — that could total between $300 and $900.

Closing fees the second time around, however, are generally lower. It should also be easier to convince the lender to issue a new mortgage because the borrower has an established payment

In addition, the lender may be willing to refinance because it will not have to tie up any new money in the deal.

It is likely the borrower will be asked to pay "points" when refinancing. A point is one percent of the amount borrowed, paid to the lender at the start of the loan. Although lenders have no statutory right to charge points, most do so as a matter of course

The average charge is three to four points on a home mortgage, so a $60,000 mortgage will require $1,800 to $2,400 up front.

On top of that, the borrower may be charged a prepayment penalty on the old mortgage, which is typically three or four percent. So, if there is $58,000 outstanding on the old mortgage, the prepayment penalty could be $1,740 to

In this hypothetical case, the total refinancing cost would be between $3,840 and $5,620.

Ireland's ahead for this 'Rose of Tralee'

By JEAN DAY

Because Patricia Rahilly's father, the late Daniel Rahilly, was born in County Kerry, Ireland, she was eligible to enter the international contest in which a Rose of Tralee beauty queen is chosen each August in the Irish town of Tralee.

She is making plans for the trip to Ireland after winning the Michigan Rose of Tralee crown, title and trip in a competition sponsored by the Gaelic League of Detroit May 14. There were 20 contestants in the event for the Irish community of Detroit and Michigan. Nineteen-year-old Patricia's hoping her mother Bernadette will be making the trip, too, as her father's relatives still live there.

A graduate of Ladywood, Patricia, is a student at University of Detroit. Northridge apartment residents, the Rahillys have lived in Northville almost 10 years.

Patricia will be entering the 25th Rose of Tralee competition, an event that grew from a romantic tale into one of the largest festivals in the world, lasting five days and including parades, massed bands and entertainment.

The town of Tralee lies in the southwest corner of Ireland. It is a market town with a population of 17,000. A Rose of Tralee has been chosen since the traditional carnivals of the 1950s, held in conjunction with a two-day horseracing meet in August, were revamped by an enterprising group of five townspeople into a festival.

Instead of a run-of-the mill carnival queen there would be a Rose of Tralee based on a romantic story of the 1840s. The tragic love affair of the son of a merchant prince who fell in love with a servant girl but went to India to distinguish himself in battle has been immortalized by John McCormack. It relates that he finally returned to Tralee the evening of her funeral.

Initially, the contestants had to be born in Tralee, or their parents must have been. Today any girl with Irish ancestry is free to enter. Entrants come from the United States, Canada and New Zealand, explains Northville's Rose of Tralee. For Patricia, there is a special sentiment — her late father's family knows she is coming and will be waiting to see her as she dons her green formal to represent Michigan in Tralee.

Sheila Knight researched family history in Scotland

"I met the cousins I had been corresponding with all my adult life," relates Sheila Knight who with her husband Russell returned to their home on Carpenter after a month-long visit to Scotland and England last week.

Their visits to relatives and researching Mrs. Knight's family took them to such places as Loanhead, Pathhead in Midlothian, Auchtermuchty and the border towns of Selkirk and Kelso as well as to London, Edinburgh and St. Andrew's. Mrs. Knight reports she found the tombstones of her grandparents on the geneological expedition as well as birthplaces of her parents, aunts and uncles. The Knights also toured the castles and ruins of Britain before returning via Prestwick.

Reverend Eric Hammar's in Methodist pulpit

Members of First United Methodist Church in Northville will be getting acquainted with their new minister, the Reverend Eric Hammar, and his family this Sunday.

He will be preaching at 9:30 a.m. as the church begins its summer time

The minister and his wife Florence came here from the Saginaw area where he has been Saginaw Bay District Superintendent for the state United Methodist Church, a position he has held for about seven years.

After meeting his new congregation, the Hammars will leave two days later, June 21, on a long-anticipated trip to the Scandinavian countries where both have family roots.

During this period, the church will have visiting speakers from the Methodist Conference.

The Reverend Hammar is the son of a Methodist pastor, Karl J. Hammar, pastor of the Central United Methodist Church of Escanaba, Michigan, from

He was graduated from Escanaba High School in 1947 and attended Michigan State University, graduating with honors in June 1951, in sociology and anthropology. He attended Garrett Theological Seminary in Evanston, Illinois, 1951-54, graduating with a Master of Divinity degree.

From there he spent four years in a traveling parish position in Stephenson, Wisconsin, before transferring to White Pine, Ontonagon, for one year and then to Ishpeming for nine years prior to a move to Orchard Lake United Methodist Church of Farmington Hills worship together.

After 10 years of service there, He became Saginaw Bay District Superintendent. In that position, he was responsible for the supervision of 86 congregations numbering 23,000 members and supervised the work of 62 district clergy.

During his ministry at Ishpeming, the Reverend Hammar saw a merger with a Finnish Methodist Church begun and a half-million dollar sanctuary, educational and fellowship facility completed in a church relocation program.

While he was at Orchard Lake United Methodist Church, an associate pastor was hired in cooperation with Nardin Park United Methodist Church, and Reverend Hammar was instrumental in forming the Farmington-West Bloomfield larger parish, including Orchard, West Bloomfield, Nardin Park and First United Methodist churches.

He is a past member of Kiwanis Club, board of directors' member for Michigan Epilepsy Center and Foundation and a board of directors' member for Michigan Combined Health Services for the Upper Peninsula.

He and his wife Florence, an Escanaba resident, were married in 1952. They have four children — Eric Karl, a teacher in the Farmington area school system; Stephen Wesley and David Blair, both graduate students at MSU; and Judith Ann, a student at Northern Michigan University.

Mustang softball players honored

Northville seniors Jan Roberts and Nancy LaPlante were named this week to the secondteam all-area softball squad in the Sliger-Livingston Newspapers East circulation area, including Northville, Novi, South Lyon, Milford, Milford Lakeland and Walled Lake Western high schools.

LaPlante, the Mustangs' leading hitter with a .304 batting average, was named to the second team as an outfielder. Over the '83 season, she connected for 14 hits to lead the team in that Consistently able to make contact with the ball, LaPlante struck out only twice in 46 trips to the plate this season. She stole four bases.

Perhaps the Mustangs' quickest player, third baseman Jan Roberts carried only a .200 average for the season, but tied for the team lead in walks with 17, giving her an on-base percentage of .436. She also tied for the team lead in stolen bases with 10. She was one of only two Mustangs to hit a home run, and collected two doubles and a triple on the season.

Named as honorable mention players were first baseman Trish Settles, a senior, pitcher Sue Keiser, a senior, and shortstop Cheryl Berryman, a junior.

Settles was second on the team with a .286 batting average, going 12 for 42 at the plate, with eight of those 12 hits going for doubles.

Berryman had a home run and a double among her eight hits for the year, hitting at a .237 clip. She had seven stolen bases

Keiser anchored the Mustang pitching staff, striking out 23 for the season, but holding opponents to a .247 overal batting average. On offense, she collected seven singles on the season for a .175 batting average, and had seven stolen

MVP honor's 'natural' to Millen

Maybe more than any other sport, soccer allows its participants' in-dividual characters to be visible almost immediately - often the way a player approaches the game has a lot to do with his or her personality.

In the case of Martina Millen, a senior at Northville, this certainly is true. Twice named an all-state defender and this year officially acknowledged as Michigan's most valuable female soccer player, her skills are visible almost immediately during a game - even when she is nowhere near the ball.

It's not just that she's particularly adept at ball control or that she's a physically imposing Amazon. Look at her picture. Relaxed. Confident. That's precisely the way she plays.

She is intense; she concentrates, all right. But she plays a controlled game, turning on her superior quickness only when the situation calls for it. She thinks about the game on the field and positions herself well, anchoring the defense, helping her teammates position themselves to best advantage.

"Other teams completely have to redesign their offenses because of observes Northville varsity coach Ron Meteyer. "That gives you a big psychological edge right from the

In short, she's what the nose-to-thegrindstone soccer player hates to acknowledge - a "natural."

"I'm really pretty lazy," Martina insists. While even she would made the games and practices," she acknowledge she's lazy only compared to the most dedicated athletes, in a often the best defenders are the ones who seem the most lazy, since attacking teams try to avoid going up against

"I've been running since I was a little kid in West Virginia," she says. "I used to win all sorts of little awards - you know, 50-yard dash and things like that. But I don't run regularly. It's not really a religion for me.'

That's partly why her selection as the state's most valuable player, announced last week, surprised Martina and her family — she has eight siblings, four boys and four girls.

Another reason her selecton was a surprise was that she has played the entire season with a painful ankle injury hampering her mobility and speed. Also, defenders are rarely singled out for such attention. The honor is even more special since it was awarded by what coach Ron Meteyer says is the first unanimous vote of the coaches' selection panel.

Since forwards, above all, have to score goals, the number of goals they pick up in a season is generally a good way to evaluate their talent. But defenders rarely score goals - Martina's only scoring has come when Meteyer assigned her line duty in a runaway win - and when the coaches can unanimously acknowledge a defender as the state's top player, it's a sign of a very unusual amount of talent.

Martina gives a lot of credit to former coach Jim Nowka. "He's the one who made sure I signed up all the time and

As to where her talent will lead, that is a different story. Martina will attend Schoolcraft College in the fall, despite the fact she is willing to listen to a soccer scholaship offer from another college. Trouble is, there aren't very many colleges that hand out soccer scholarships to women, and she hasn't heard from any that do.

Martina shrugs it off. "I really love the game, and I do wish there was a way I could keep playing it. I'm going to study audiology at Schoolcraft,

Is she a good science student, then? "No," she laughs. "I'm very interested in it though, because I'd like to work with hearing-impaired kids. I like kids a lot, and I'd really like to get into coaching soccer, too.'

Soccer, she thinks, is one of the sports in which women have made particularly strong gains. Indeed, watching a women's team like Northville is a real eye-opener for someone who hasn't followed the development of women's soccer - and women's sports in general — very carefully. There is just as much rugged, physical play as in any boys' game.

"Boys have a little more talent dribbling and shooting-wise," she concedes.
"But it's not like we just kick and chase the ball." She pauses, then gives a mischievous laugh and adds, "I think we play for blood more than they do, though.'

With Martina in nearby Livonia this year, local soccer fans still will be able easily to watch her play. That comes

A "free" car wash on behalf of the Northville High School cheerleading teams will be held at the Detroit Federal Savings Bank building parking lot, Northville, this Saturday, between 9 a.m. and 4

Donations are requested, with proceeds going to the cheerleading teams.

Carwash cash Northville boy makes good on MSU crew team to refer to as a "specimen."

He was no 98-pound weakling when he enrolled at Michigan State University last fall. Captain of the Northville Mustang varsity football team in 1981, Faustyn's six-foot frame had always had a good proportion of muscle. At least he thought so.

Then, a little outsized by the behemoth linemen on the Michigan State football team, Faustyn signed up with the university crew team.

"When I was playing high school foot-ball," Faustyn says, "I thought I was in top shape. But it was nothing like this." It's true team rowing is a somewhat obscure sport in comparison with some of the more popular team sports. But it has an almost irresistable appeal

Team rowing is done in four and eight-man "shells," long slender boats, with each crew member working an oar on alternate sides of the shell. Perched ends great year at state tilt

Scott Faustyn is what sport buffs like in the rear of the shell is the lightweight coxswain. Typically, in cartoons about the sport, the coxswain is regarded with amusement, bossing around hulking musclemen at the oars. But Faustyn, definitely an oarsman, considers the coxswain the most important member of the unit, since timing is all-important. The races vary in length, but often fall between 1,500 and 2,000 meters — roughly a little less than a mile to a mile and a half. Brawn certainly counts for a great deal in the sport, but timing is just as important. Even small differences in the rhythm of their strokes can chip important seconds off a speedy

"The shell has to be perfectly balanced," Faustyn explains. "It's important to have a 'set shell," he adds, using one of the sport's particular turns of phrase. Another one he uses is "catching a crab," or falling out of rhythm with one's stroke. There is also "power ten," meaning ten or twenty (usually twenty) particularly rapid strokes."

At the beginning of each race a starter traditionally uses the French expression, "Et-vous pret?" meaning "Are you ready%" Then he calls out "Partez," French for "Take off."

A good crew typically takes only eight strokes, or thereabouts, to reach peak speed. The difficult part of the race, however, is maintaining that speed. A good crew member must have rippling muscles from torso to fingertips, a cast-iron cardiovascular system and an almost narcotic imperviousness

Training sessions are often even more grueling, with a day's workout occasionally including 10 1,000-meter

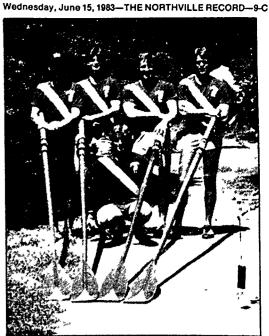

"sprints," among other exercises.
"It's not a regular sport," Faustyn says. "The university can't afford it. But we train harder than any other team, except maybe the football team. Even during the off season I do a lot of running, including up and down steps, lift weights, work out on the Pollywog (a machine specifically designed for crew muscle training). For the pleasure of such training, Faustyn forks over $500 per school year. One might suppose a streak of masochism is also a prerequisite for the

"Well, I really enjoy the travel aspect of crew," he says. "We spent spring training in Tampa, Florida, and we've gone to tournaments in Wisconsin and Pennsylvania."

The four-man team Faustyn rows on (as its youngest member) is one of the nation's top teams. They took 11th of between 65-70 entries (Faustyn's estimate) at the Dad Vails Nationals in Philadelphia, and won the 12-team Great Lakes Invitationals hosted by Michigan State. Faustyn hopes to do better next year against the strong eastern teams where crew is a more firmly established sport.

5 Mustangs given divisional honors

Five members of the 1983 Northville Mustang varsity baseball team were named to post-season all-star teams by a panel of coaches from the Western Lakes Activities Association. One Mustang, Jerry Pawlowski, was named to the all-division first team while four more were named to the second team.

'How we got where we did (one game out of first in the division with a 13-6 overall record) without anyone on the first team, I can't figure out," grumbled Northville baseball coach Fred Holdsworth. And indeed, there were some surprises, both in omissions and inclusions. But Holdsworth can console himself that time is on his side despite the departure of a few key players with graduation — three of the post-season honorees will return next season.

Pawlowski's outfield spot on the allwest squad is really not much of a surprise - he connected for 12 RBI with a .319 batting average, including two home runs and seven doubles.

Leading off the second-team alldivision unit is senior Andy Dimitroff. Dimitroff, who has seen time behind the plate, on the mound and in the designated hitter slot, led the team in batting average (.420), and socked in 16 runs. Seven doubles and a triple were included in his 21 hits, second on the team. He added eight stolen bases this

Dave Longridge, named to the second team as an outfielder, acquired a reputation for clutch hitting. Although he hit only .182 on the season, his bat was almost always hot when runs were needed. He had 17 RBI for the season to lead the team. He finished the year with one home run and 11 walks.

At second base Mickey Newman won second team honors. The senior hit .310 for the year, with two home runs and

Rounding out the list is pitcher Jim Thomson, who finished the year at 5-3 after a heart-breaking loss in the district final ending the Mustangs season. Up to that point, Thomson had been one of the toughest moundsmen for the Mustangs, both in relief and starting duties, keeping his ERA under 3.00 while striking out 29 hitters in 33 in-

Split opens Gold's Mantle ball year

Northville's "Gold" Mickey Mantle League (15-16) entry in the Little Caesar's Travel League split in its first two games of the season last week.

Bouncing back from a 22-2 drubbing by North Farmington, the Gold squad topped Southfield by an 8-3 score Saturday.
It was Mark Olsen's RBI double in the fifth inning that broke a 3-3 deadlock, while a two-run home run blast to deep left center in the sixth by Dave Kehoe provided the insurance runs Chris Woodman scored two of the Gold runs.

Starter Rob Workman took the win, teaming with Todd Knickerbocker, who turned in two and twothirds innings of relief, to scatter only five Southfield hits.
