School's out

Anyone near the vicinity of Winchester Elementary School last Thursday most likely heard the sounds of summer. At approximately 3:30 p.m. the doors were opened to let restless students out for the eagerly-awaited summer vacation. Winchester kindergartners, above, appear up in arms over the prospect of donning their thongs, grabbing their towels and heading for the nearest pool or lake. For now, it's time to put away pencils, books and lunch boxes. Summer has begun. Record photo by John Galloway.

NHS gets new principal

Only a year after hiring George Bell as the district's superintendent, Northville Public Schools will get another top administrator from the Wayne-Westland School District.

David Bolitho, 35, assistant principal at Westland's John Glenn High School, received the board of education's unanimous approval Monday to take over the principal's post at Northville High School.

The board approved Bolitho's appointment in a special call meeting.

Bolitho, assistant principal at John Glenn since 1974, was Bell's top choice for the post from a field of four finalists. Others interviewed for the post were Ed Jaworowicz, principal of White Lake Junior High School in Milford; William Haak, principal of Pinckney Community High School and Ronald Cowden, principal of Manistee High School.

In recommending Bolitho's appointment to the board, Bell said it was his "sincere belief that he can make the high school what the community and staff wants it to be."

Bell made his selection last week after interviewing the top finalists in their districts. The four finalists for the post were chosen from a field of more than 50 applicants. Though 85 applications had been filed for the principal's post, only 50 were accompanied by the proper materials.

In accepting the Northville High

DAVID BOLITHO

School principal's post, Bolitho will be leaving a 12-year career with the Wayne-Westland school district.

Prior to taking the assistant principal's post at John Glenn, Bolitho served as a social science instructor as well as an adult education and alternative education instructor in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools.

While assistant principal at John Glenn, Bolitho served as chairman of the annual Glenn Gras Spring Festival, an all-school event which encompassed every facet of the school community including parents, students, staff members, merchants and city government to help booster clubs raise funds for program improvements and scholarship awards.

He also was responsible for the student activities program, scheduling and in the development and facilitation of a computer assisted high school attendance policy.

He holds a bachelor of science and master of arts degree from Eastern Michigan University and also has completed the course work for his doctoral degree in Educational Leadership from Wayne State University.

He is a member of the Wayne-Westland Building Administrator's Association, the Michigan and National Associations for Secondary School Principals and is a trustee at Timothy Lutheran Church in Livonia.

He lives in Westland with his wife Christine and two children Marc, 10, and Christina, 7.

Bolitho will take over as NHS principal when George Aune steps down from the post.

Aune, who requested an administrative transfer last March, will serve as liaison to the Garden City-Northville Community Education Consortium beginning next fall.

In his new position, Aune will head the Northville Regional Psychiatric Center educational program to be taken over by the Garden City Consortium.

Comerica awarded tax notes

Comerica of Detroit was low bidder for the sale of Northville city tax anticipation notes, at an effective interest rate of 6.9521 percent, and was awarded the notes by city council Monday night.

The notes, in the amount of $400,000, constitute borrowing from 1983-84 tax revenues to cover 1982-83 expenditures, which by law must be paid by the end of the fiscal year, June 30. The city is carrying a $480,000 budget deficit generated last year (see related story). Revenue from the note sale allows the city to show a "balanced" year-end budget.

Approval of the sale by the state Municipal Finance Commission (a division of the treasury department) was June 7, with the MFC requiring not only the mandatory submittal of a deficit elimination plan but indicating it expects frequent consultations between its staff and city administrators.

City Manager Steven Walters earlier characterized the conditions as notice that the state will be paying particular attention to the city's fiscal performance in the coming year.

Other bidders on the notes were State Savings Bank of Fenton (effective interest 7.13 percent); Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith (7.64 percent); and Manufacturers Bank (7.29 percent).

Noting that the Comerica bid (which must be accepted as the lowest by MFC rules) was the only one with effective interest below the 7 percent level, Walters said the organization is "trying to be responsive to the community" since establishing a branch here.

"We've seen that with the donation they made to the recreation department and they really went after this (note sale)," he said.

Township funds road treatments

Calcium chloride treatments to reduce dust are being applied to some 16 miles of local county roads at township cost today, Wednesday.

The application of the dust palliative at a cost of nearly $10,000 was authorized by the township board of trustees last Tuesday at a special meeting. The same day, a county commissioner charged that the county road commission should be paying for at least one such treatment each summer.

Due to cost considerations, the township has reduced the treatments to one application (from two) each summer in recent years and had been hesitant to ask the county to do the work too early in the season for fear roads would deteriorate and pose a problem in late summer, after funds had already been spent.

The delay led to a large number of complaints brought to the board's attention at its regular June 9 meeting.

Saying they receive more calls objecting to dusty roads than on any other township business, officials even considered the possibility of watering down the gravel roads when dust is most severe.

Trustee Richard Allen, who resides on one of the roads to be treated, suggested the best time for a single chloride application would be early July. Judging by the number of complaints, business manager David Leiko said, the application would have to be moved up.

The board voted last Tuesday to do the work "as soon as possible," said clerk Susan Heintz.

"We hand-walked the check through on Wednesday and took it to the county immediately," Heintz added. "They are grading the roads today (Monday) and the chloride will go down Wednesday."

The road commission contracts for the purchase of the chloride and makes the application, charging back its costs to the townships. Without the township's agreement to pay, the road commission will not apply the treatment.

Township water and sewer department superintendent Walter Holmquist noted that it is important to keep an eye on the weather when scheduling the treatments.

Summersong festival events open Friday downtown

Summersong, the downtown merchants' festival this weekend to welcome summer, is the result of merchants, arts and crafts people and "just friends" pulling together to have a celebration, says Toni Genitti who has been heading up arrangements.

The two-day festival celebrating the season (which officially began Tuesday evening) will open Friday with merchants and arts and crafts people displaying wares on the sidewalks and in the downtown park areas. A bandstand will be erected in the town square to provide entertainment in line with the musical theme.

Merchants and interested business people have contributed toward the festival as sponsors. Their funding will provide musical entertainment throughout the event, which is slated from 5 to 11 p.m. Friday and from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday.

Putting the song in "summersong" will be the band Speed Limit Friday from 4 to 7 p.m., followed by Joe Sharp and the Dixie Land Band from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. Nonstop entertainment all day Saturday, including a strolling accordion player with balloons, will keep the rhythm going.

A dance contest for young and old is planned Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m. in the Dunlap street parking lot. At 7 p.m. an outdoor dance party begins with the big band sound prevailing until 11 p.m.

A senior citizen art exhibit is planned. The women of St. Paul's Lutheran Church are taking over the park area at Main and Hutton for "St. Paul's goes to town."

Even businesses in Novi, South Lyon and Walled Lake are participating. Nancy Bonfield, who owns and operates Budgeting Systems in Novi Plaza, has been coordinating a special Salute to Northville from businesses in these communities.

She is taking over the park area by the Open Door Church on Center where booths will be set up by merchants from these communities. They include Kidon's Country Market, Shipoto's Craft Shop, J. L. Litner's Kitchen Emporium, Folk Art With Love and B.B. Crafts. They will be offering information and also selling their wares, Bonfield says.

The Northville Community Chamber of Commerce has aided the festival with a donation also.

"Everyone's welcome," Genitti emphasizes, inviting craftspersons to contact her. She is the new treasurer of the Northville Retail Merchants Association.

Hi Mom!

Wearing his cap and gown and a wide grin on his face, Northville High School senior David Arwady gets ready to take his place among the 312 students receiving diplomas in last Friday's commencement exercises. The Class of '83 was awarded diplomas in the 114th Northville High School commencement ceremony. For more on last Friday's commencement, see Page 6-A. Record photo by John Galloway.

Amended city budget reflects lower deficit

By KEVIN WILSON

Final budget amendments passed by Northville City Council Monday reflect minor gains against the on-going budget deficit of nearly $500,000.

City Manager Steven Walters said the city can expect to run roughly $2,300 in the black on 1982-83 operations, bringing the deficit carried over from last year down that amount to total $479,867. The gain is some $3,300 over the year-end figures projected in the recently approved 1983-84 budget document.

Walters said that last Saturday he was projecting a gain of $20,000, but found an additional $17,600 owing the 35th District Court Monday. The amount, representing the city's share of the court's 1982 deficit, came as something of a surprise, he indicated.

Only a month ago, Walters was telling council there was a risk of sinking further into the red ink by as much as $18,000, which would have carried the deficit over the $500,000 mark.

Major budget amendments made Monday include the court payment, a $22,300 increase in expected property tax revenues, and increased expenditures for administration (up $40,000), public works ($6,800) and other activities ($7,800).

Officially giving up hope of collecting the $367,000 slashed from the city's share of parimutuel taxes generated by Northville Downs, council amended the budget to reflect the loss of that revenue. The lost income had been targeted for elimination of the deficit (which resulted from a similar loss of revenue the previous year).

"We pretty much broke even on the year," Walters told council in presenting the amendments needed. "There is a minor gain—at least we didn't go farther into deficit, which we had feared may happen."

While the city did gain against the deficit, it came nowhere near the projected $425,000 reserve it had hoped to build to apply against the shortfall, the major causes being the lost revenues. Although the city's major budget problems are the result of lost revenues expected from the state (another $30,000 due in general revenue sharing was also slashed), Walters told council the Municipal Finance Commission was not "sympathetic" when approving the city's sale of tax anticipation notes to cover the deficit (see related story).

"They treated us pretty much as the villains in this thing," he said. "If you read the documentation from them, it's as if they're saying 'Look what you've done to yourself.'"

The outlook for the coming year is as yet uncertain in this regard, he added. While in Lansing on the tax anticipation note issue, Walters attended a meeting of the subcommittee on agriculture appropriations, where the share of racetrack revenue allocated Northville was the same as last year's state payment — $432,700. The subcommittee's recommendation is one of many sent the general appropriations committee.

The 1983-84 city budget anticipates receipt of $800,000 from this source. "There is still a vast difference between the positions of our legislators and the subcommittee on agriculture," Walters reported. "Hopefully, there can be some advantageous compromise made in the general appropriations committee."

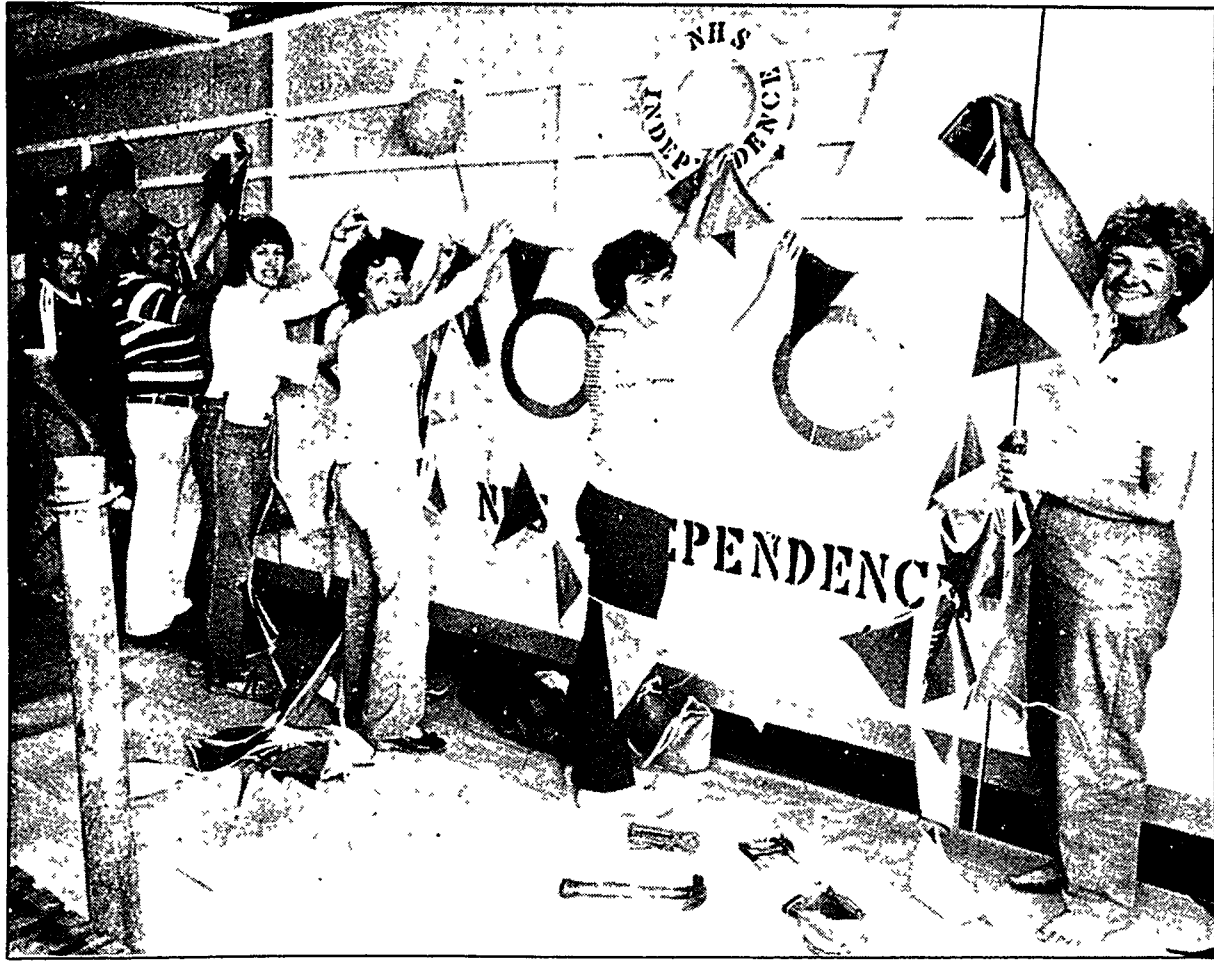

Council member Burton DeRusha called it "interesting" that while one could say the "state and court put us into this (deficit), neither is very sympathetic about what they've done."

"If you look at it without those problems, we've managed the budget very well."

NEWS BRIEFS

CITY COUNCIL changed its first July meeting date to Tuesday, July 5 at 8 p.m. The regular first Monday scheduling would have required a meeting on the Fourth of July holiday.

STARTING TIME for the July 4 parade will be 10 a.m. with bands, marchers, cars and floats leaving Northville Downs parking lot then to follow the parade route along Main past the judging stands at city hall. A listing of parade entrants and the route will appear in next week's Record along with a calendar of holiday activities.

Sailing away

Parents of students in the Class of '83 spent most of Friday decorating the high school in preparation for the NHS Senior Class Party. The theme of this year's all-night event was "Sail Away" and students attending Friday's party found themselves sailing aboard a cruise ship. Co-chairmen of this year's event were Glenda Buist and Mary Pohlod. Parents working on decorations for the "NHS Independence" at left, are from left, Carl Trano, Tom Stoecklin, Eric Hoffmeister, Rita Stoecklin, Jan Schemanske, Julie Luoma and Sue Anger. Taking a breather from the day's activities are below, front row from left, Cathy Ehlert, Vernice Lyons, Pat Kitchen, Jim Kitchen, Glene Ellcessor and Ron Ehlert. Back row, from left, are Mike Lyons, Carola Caroselli, Ginny Panowicz, Joan Sellen, Sara Ryan and Suzanne Kaley. Record photos by Steve Fecht.

Midge's Meanderings

by Midge Haynic

This new on-the-road selling job really is fun. Unfortunately for the pocketbook, buying is fun, too. So far I've acquired 2 pairs of shoes, 4 new outfits, 1 weed whacker, 3 restaurant lunches, 2 bags popcorn, 2 new sink faucets (installed), 2 manicures and possibly an oil well. Hey, who's selling to whom?

Last week I attended my first Northville Chamber of Commerce meeting and sat next to an old friend and past president of the Chamber, Betty Allen. The meeting, chaired by President Scott Lapham, was friendly, concise and businesslike. Attending also for the first time was our new jeweler, David Beyer, of Orin Jewelers. His store on the 4 corners will open July 5th. Drop in and say, "Welcome".

Toni Genitti, as treasurer of the Retail Merchants' Association, has been working hard to compile Northville's annual map brochure, which we will be printing this week. Toni's second name is "energy-plus".

As any salesman will tell you, no potential sale is ever passed up — hardly ever. So when I received a call from a "hopeful" to sign a printing contract, I was delighted. The phone conversation went something like this:

"Midge, I haven't got time to come to Northville, meet you and sign the contract. How about you meeting me at noon tomorrow at the Bar at Grand River and Greenfield?"

Dubiously, I agreed. But all turned out well: the boss came with me, the contract was delivered, and we left a happy, new customer.

Got a sticky printing problem? Call Helpful Harvey or me at 349-6130. In the unlikely event we don't have the solution, we have the resources of Printing Industries of Michigan on which to call.

This is the time of year when I try to visit the purchasing agents at all the local colleges. It's a good idea, I've found, to re-introduce our services and re-educate myself on their needs.

Last Wednesday I started with Oakland University in Rochester and within this next week will end with the University of Michigan. We have printed their DAILY here for years, but it never hurts to touch base every once in a while.

COMPOSITION SPECIAL
We are in the process of putting together a comprehensive type sample book for our customers. Among special features with our new equipment are pseudo-italic in various degrees of slant (left or right) and reverse type. Both can be used with all conventional, non-italic faces as well. Contact Ernie Brown or me, for no obligation typesetting quotes at 349-6130. Helpful Harvey, of course, is always here, too.

I'm on the road again and will be in touch, friends, next week.

Road widening next likely project

The next large-scale road project in the city is likely to be widening of North Center between Dunlap and Lake streets, with council Monday ordering a study of such a project with a view toward assessing benefitting property owners for the work.

Widening of that length of roadway has been Northville city policy for some years, with property owners required to add roughly one lane of pavement as each parcel undergoes development.

This "piecemeal" approach, however, may no longer be appropriate, City Manager Steven Walters and engineer Edward McNeely told council Monday.

"We're to the point now where you have much of the road widened with little pieces jutting out at one or two lots in a block," Walters said. "Some of those parcels may never develop much beyond what they are now, so the present system would never require widening there."

Consideration of the issue was "forced," Walters said, by development at the Ely/Snow Hardware parcel. "We had to figure out what to do, basically, between Dunlap and Randolph so we could determine how his parcel would

'We're to the point now where you have much of the road widened with little pieces jutting out...'

—Steve Walters

relate to the rest."

North of Randolph, McNeely explained, the project is a straight-forward affair of simple widening to four lanes. Key to the road plan is from Randolph to Dunlap, where he proposed the road be widened roughly 30 inches on each side.

This would create a "funnel" effect as cars travel North Center, with four-lane pavement north of Randolph, three lanes south to Dunlap and two lanes through town. A left turn lane would be created in the center of the three-lane block for use by southbound traffic turning east on Dunlap and northbound traffic turning west onto Randolph.

Early discussion of the issue anticipated that the location of the savings and loan building at Dunlap and North Center would pose a problem, but McNeely said physical measurement showed 17 feet between building and curb, leaving more than enough room for the widening.

As for accomplishing the widening as a single special assessment project, McNeely noted several advantages to this approach. Several utility poles on the east side of North Center north of Dunlap could be moved en masse, with the possibility most could be removed entirely.

"If we continue the piecemeal approach, those poles would move back one at a time and probably stay," he said. "If we widen all at once and call the utility and say 'We have 10 poles to relocate,' they can look at it as an entire system."

Another advantage to a single-stroke widening would be the opportunity to address a storm drainage problem near the point where the Randolph Drain crosses the street.

"If we widen all at once, it is a fairly simple matter to address the drainage and assess it across the district," he said. "If you do it piecemeal, either it (drainage) will never get done, or one property owner is going to get quite a whack in the head when it comes time."

Councilmember Burton DeRusha made the motion to "see this through and investigate the project as a special assessment."

Council's approval set in motion a McNeely study of preliminary engineering, eventual cost estimates and outlining of affected property.

The report could provide reason for the city to create a special assessment district, which would be subject to several public hearings and a series of council approvals.

Council rejects plan for cable consortium

By KEVIN WILSON

If Plymouth Township's bid to organize a cable television consortium to oversee Omnicon operations is to succeed, it will have to do so without the cooperation of the city of Northville.

With several of its members making statements opposing the proposal, city council Monday night elected to take a "no action" stance on the request from Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen that Northville join in such a group.

"They appear to be having a lot more troubles with Omnicon than we are, to consider this," said Mayor Paul Vernon.

Councilmember Carolann Ayers said she found the idea of hiring a cable consultant — one of the major goals of the consortium proposal — a poor one. "I don't see any need for that — we have mechanisms to respond to problems as it is."

Plymouth Township is leading the consortium proposal, asking the adjacent communities of Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth and Canton Township (all served by Omnicon) to join. Both Plymouth and Canton township boards have been critical of Omnicon operations — particularly in regard to local programming and community services.

But Northville's council appears willing to let Omnicon administer its operation without any government oversight beyond that contained in franchise agreements.

"I think that's their business," said councilmember Burton DeRusha. "It's a business and I think government ought to stay out of it as much as possible."

No Parking

Mill Race tow-away zone created

Parking at the Mill Race Village for other than historical village events will result in ticketing and towing of the vehicle soon as the result of a traffic control order approved by the Northville City Council Monday.

Responding to complaints that the lot is being used by those illegally swimming at the nearby Griswold gravel pit, the council approved the recommendation of Police Chief Rodney Cannon that the lot be posted as a tow-away zone.

City Manager Steve Walters said residents of the area had complained that those parking at the village would often change clothes in or just outside their cars, then trespass through their properties to gain access to Lake Success.

In an effort to control the trespassing done by swimmers violating the posted ban on use of the pit, city and township police have strictly enforced parking bans on nearby streets. With the summer season, both forces are frequently called upon to clear the trespassers from the fenced-in lake. A swimmer was injured at the pit only last week (see Police Blotter).

Fireworks laws clarified by police

Fourth of July celebrations are fast approaching, leading to a boom in fireworks sales.

In an effort to clear up the annual confusion over which types of fireworks are legal and which are not, Michigan State Police last week offered some precautions, suggestions and definitions to help make the holiday both legal and safe.

Not all "DOT Class C" labeled fireworks are legal for Michigan consumer use. The only fireworks devices that can be sold at retail and used by the general public are the following:

Toy paper caps, wire sparklers (size 1/4 or less), flitter sparklers, toy snakes, toy smoke devices, toy trick noise makers, cone fountains and cylinder fountains.

Devices other than those noted are illegal for sale or use unless proper permits are obtained from the local governing body. Fireworks that send a projectile into the air, spin, twirl or emit an audible signal (excluding paper caps and trick noise makers mentioned above) are illegal.

Local jurisdictions should be contacted to determine if there are more restrictive ordinances.

Police suggest the following precautions be taken when using fireworks:

- Make sure the devices are legal for use under both state and local law;
- Check for a manufacturer's label on all fireworks devices and instructions for proper use — illegally manufactured items seldom have either;
- Carefully follow the instructions;
- Provide adult supervision for children — do not allow very young children to handle fireworks;
- Light only one device at a time;
- Ignite fireworks only outdoors and away from buildings or combustible materials;
- Do not attempt to alter the device or use in a manner other than intended.

During 1982 there were 219 reported fires due to fireworks, resulting in a property loss of $142,461, state police report.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, there were 8,500 fireworks-related injuries treated at hospital emergency rooms nationwide last year.

Dental Emergency

Q. What is considered a true dental emergency?

A. Usually when a patient experiences sudden severe pain, when a tooth has been knocked completely out, or when there is uncommon bleeding after dental surgery. In these situations you are entitled to immediate attention by your dentist, even if it happens to be the weekend. Of course, if you've had pain for several days and don't get around to calling your dentist until Sunday morning, don't expect a lot of sympathy. But most dentists will work you into their weekday schedules, or if it's a weekend make arrangements to open their office for you. Sometimes a pain prescription can see you through until Monday when the office is open. If you have an emergency and can't reach your dentist, go to your nearest hospital emergency room.

'Special' residents compete in talent show

By KEN VOYLES

The stage was brightly outlined by colorful flags and a festive atmosphere ran through the audience of 250 at Novi High's auditorium Saturday as mentally impaired citizens stepped into the performing arts spotlight.

Normally unrecognized, the 19 acts that were part of the first local Performing Arts Talent Contest for mentally impaired and physically handicapped citizens evoked both tears and smiles and sent a surge of pride through the enthusiastic audience.

The flags, part of the heraldry of the show's sponsor, Alhambra Caravan (Manresa No. 217), provided the backdrop as individuals and groups delighted both the audience and themselves playing musical instruments, singing and performing diversified acts.

Artists traveled from as far as Flint to perform Saturday.

Novi, Walled Lake and Northville were well represented by three individuals and two groups.

Like the Special Olympics for handicapped athletes, the contest had no losers, only winners, both on stage and among the sometimes awed audience, which included many mentally impaired citizens. Five local judges passed out awards which included trophies and ribbons.

Two groups from Our Lady of Providence, a home for mentally impaired girls located in Northville Township, won first and second place trophies in the instrument group category.

For the OLP Band it was their first time on stage. The group, which includes Susan Walters, Jean Schmuck, Dawn Schott, Linda Pineau, Mary Beth Beltra, Elizabeth Murphy, Laurie Luneack and Rhonda Stark, took home a first place trophy. They performed "You Light Up My Life" and "Ike & Mike" on wind and percussion instruments.

The OLP Handbell Choir of Veronica Brent, Elizabeth Murphy, Pearl Sturgis, Jean Schmuck, Linda Pineau, Rhonda Stark, Corie Branoff, Mary Beth Beltra, Mary Beth Neuerburg and Dawn Schott performed an elegant "God Bless America" and two other numbers to win second place. They have performed in public before.

Novi's Allen Boggs and David Hollis each won second place trophies for their efforts. Boggs performed a two-song pantomime of Elvis Presley and was second in diversified arts, while Hollis disco danced to a pair of funk songs and scored a second place in dance.

For Hollis it was his first time on stage, whereas Boggs has performed through the Oakland County Association for Retarded Citizens.

Amy Sommerville, a 13-year-old Walled Lake resident, was another local youth to compete as an individual in Saturday's show. She performed Chopin and the "Minute Waltz," using her right arm. Amy is blind, partially paralyzed and is unable to use her left arm. She has played the piano for more than four years.

Her nimble piano renditions earned a second place trophy in instrument solo. Another piano performer, Michael Turner of Detroit, was first.

Delighted with her effort, Amy said that she felt "better" after having performed for the first time in a talent contest before such a large number of people.

Touching moments and moments of hilarity were all part of the program, which gave many of the performers their first chance to display their talents before an audience.

Despite minor technical problems, Ed Donoghue beamed over the show's success.

"We are really happy with tonight. The kids were just beautiful," he said. "And the audience was great. You've got to have the people in the audience applauding."

Donoghue, deputy regional director of the Alhambra local in Northville, was a prime mover in organizing the event. His interest was peaked by a similar show by the Oakland ARC.

"I was the only one of the group ever to have seen this kind of show before. It was last November through the Oakland ARC. There were 15 acts and I was so impressed I came back to my Alhambra group and asked for money to put on a similar show," said Donoghue.

Donoghue's organization provided about $1,300 to put on the show. Alhambra gives all the money it raises through various projects to help retarded citizens. The group meets in the basement of Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville.

Plans are already being considered to stage a talent contest next year. "We'll probably have it in May. A lot of our performers depend on their teachers to be with them, and June is a bad time for that with so many vacations," Donoghue said.

Summer readers

Class gift

Before bidding their final farewell to Northville High School, students in the Class of '83 presented the school with the traditional senior class gift. This year's class presented the school with two wooden benches for the front courtyard and a $160 check for the library. The check is to be used to purchase a

Sentimental farewell

The Reverend Guenther C. Branstner, his wife Ginny and Rosella Lee, right, recall a special association at the farewell reception honoring the Branstners given June 10 at First United Methodist Church. Mrs. Lee's father was the Reverend Branstner's first pastor at the Methodist church Branstner attended while growing up in Flint. More than 250 church members and friends wished the Branstners well at the reception, including former parishioners who returned from Kalamazoo and out-of-state for the event. Senior past presidents of the United Methodist Women assisted at the reception table. The minister, who had been at the Northville church for 15 years, has been transferred to St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Bloomfield Hills.

Final farewell

Graduation seems to bring out the emotional side in most people — and last Friday was no exception when the Class of '83 took its place among the graduates of Northville High School. Before taking her place in line, Mary Raeburn, above center, gets some assistance in putting on her corsage from Sheryl Zuby, left and and Martina Miller. At right, Superintendent

SEMTA offers card for seniors, handicapped

For the second consecutive year, the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) will provide senior citizens and handicapped persons in the tri-county area with special half-fare SEMTA photo-identification cards at no cost.

The special passes enabled the handicapped or aged 65 or over to ride any regularly scheduled SEMTA bus on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays or during weekday hours of 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. at half fare. The passes are good on Detroit Department of Transportation (D-DOT) buses. SEMTA customer representatives come to site where a group of people want applications, which are processed at no cost. Customer representatives take photographs for the passes at the meeting site. Normally, a $1 application fee is charged and the applicant must supply the photograph.

To schedule a SEMTA representative visit, those working with groups of senior citizens or handicappers should contact the SEMTA public affairs office, 256-8765. The caller should be able to tell how many cards will be needed and at least two preferred dates for the visit. A minimum of 20 persons is required for a group session.

Persons eligible for a pass but unable to visit a site where they will be processed may request an application by the calling the toll-free suburban customer information number, 1-800-462-5161. A TDD line for the deaf and hearing impaired is at 256-8663.

Completed applications, with a one-inch square photo, should be mailed to SEMTA, P.O. Box 333, Detroit, MI 48231.

Livonia man injured in mishap at township gravel pit

In the township...

A 22-year-old Livonia resident suffered a cracked vertebra and kidney damage June 13 while swimming in Lake Success — more commonly known as the Griswold gravel pit — according to township police.

Witnesses at the scene told police that the victim, James Miller, was swinging on a rope attached to a tree. They further noted that the victim let go of the rope too soon, landing on a tree.

Northville Township Fire Department was dispatched to the accident area to assist Community EMS.

After being pulled from the water by a backboard, the victim was taken to St. Mary Hospital.

Police dispatched to the accident site reported the victim was sitting up and conscious. The victim told police he had feeling in his arms, legs and neck, but could not move.

The victim was discharged from St. Mary June 17 and is recuperating at his home. At this time, Miller appears to have no permanent damage as a result of the accident, according to police.

A $150 gold watch was reported stolen from a 74-year-old Lagoon Court resident sometime between 1 p.m. June 16 and 9 a.m. June 17, township police report.

The complainant told police two white males, described as being between 25 and 30 years of age, came to her home claiming they were there to clean carpets.

The complainant said she thought the men were from the Highland Lakes Association and allowed them into her home.

She told police the two men brought in a machine and proceeded upstairs to clean the carpets. She said she could hear the machine running and noted the suspects stayed about a half hour.

The following morning she noticed the gold watch missing and contacted township police.

Officers dispatched to the scene noted the carpets did not appear to have been cleaned. A dispatcher's check with the Highland Lakes Association revealed that no one was sent to clean carpets.

Complainant was unable to give a vehicle description or other information.

A $295 Schwinn LeTour boy's 10-speed bicycle was stolen from the garage of a Ladywood residence sometime between 1 and 7 a.m. June 16, township police report.

The complainant told police she found her garage door partially open the morning of June 16 and noticed the bicycle missing.

The complainant also said a moped was found outside the garage and that a second Schwinn bicycle was taken out of the garage and found on the next door neighbor's lawn. The bike had been disassembled with parts scattered on the lawn and street.

The complainant said the garage door was closed, but not locked and there was no sign of forced entry.

A bicycle belonging to another neighbor also was found on the lawn of the complainant's next door neighbor.

There are no suspects at this time.

Two statues, estimated at $400 each, were reported stolen from Oasis Golf Center on Five Mile sometime between 11:30 p.m. June 14 and 7 a.m. June 15, police report.

The complainant told police unknown suspects stole Mr. Ranger and Boo Boo Bear from the putt-putt golf course sometime during the early morning hours of June 15.

The complainant does not have any witnesses or suspects at this time.

Northville Township police have notified Northville City, Plymouth and Livonia police departments about the incident.

In the city...

A number of old wood roof brackets, sculptured in "dog-leg" style, and one gallon of brown exterior house paint were stolen from the rear of Copy-Boy Print Center, 342 East Main Street at about 8 a.m. Friday.

According to a witness, a white male driving a "dark full-sized car" pulled up to the rear of the building, loaded the materials valued at $395 into the car, and drove off. She had made no effort to stop the theft, she told police, because she thought the items were in a trash pile.

City police report no suspects in connection with the incident.

Two minor larcenies were reported last week — headlight shades valued at $20 were stolen from a 1974 Pontiac parked in the front circle drive of Northville High School between 1:10 and 2 p.m. Thursday, June 16; and a green 75-foot garden hose valued at $8 was stolen from a home on Wing Street.

Police urge caution with mopeds

Several changes in the state motor vehicle code regarding mopeds took effect as of 1:20 p.m. June 16, according to Michigan State Police.

The changes are the result of Public Act 91, recently passed by the state legislature.

As outlined by state police, the changes are:

- The allowable horsepower of mopeds is increased from 1.5 to 2.0.
- Maximum speed of operation is increased from 25 to 30 mph for mopeds.
- The power drive system shall not require that the operator shift gears.
- The pedal requirement is eliminated.
- Wearing of a helmet is required for moped operators under age 19.
- Retail dealers are required to obtain the registration of the moped in the purchaser's name.

Larry Santos will perform Saturday
Northville's Larry Santos to perform

Among the performers at the "Wheels of Freedom" auto show and parade Saturday in Detroit and Windsor will be Northville resident Larry Santos.

Known from his role on the popular "Hot Fudge" children's television show, recordings and as voice of many of the best-known commercials, Santos will be performing at the afternoon portion of the show in Detroit's New Center area.

The fourth annual event begins at 9 a.m. in Windsor where cars will be on display until noon accompanied by a pancake breakfast and entertainment by the Canadian Armed Forces Vimy Band, the Windsor Police Pipe Band, and the Hometown String Band.

After a parade through Windsor, the caravan of historic cars travels through the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel and up Woodward to the New Center area, where the automobiles will be on display in front of the GM and Fisher Buildings.

Afternoon performers, in addition to Santos, include the Detroit Police Department's "Blue Pigs," barbershop quartet The Primachords, the Northwestern High School Jazz Ensemble and the Redford Township Unicycle Club.

The event is one of 50 in the weeklong 25th International Freedom Festival which begins Friday. Cars are selected from applications taken from antique car owners in the U.S. and Canada.

They will be judged by a panel of authorities and celebrities based on public appeal, style and beauty of restoration.

They will parade in chronological order, with seven trophies being awarded, one per decade from the 1900s through the 1960s, and another for cars built since 1970 through 1983. Another eight special trophies are also to be awarded.

Maybe We're Not Magicians... but we do have some nifty little tricks for getting clothes spruced up. Takes experience like ours.

Holloway continues court fight for Salem expansion

It's back to the courtroom for attorneys representing Salem Township and the Holloway Sand and Gravel Company as the firm continues its battle to obtain a sand and gravel mining permit from the township.

Attorney John Brennan, representing

Holloway, said last week that he has filed an application with the Washtenaw County Circuit Court for a "summary judgment" allowing the company to use the resources on its 168-acre parcel lying adjacent on the west to the current landfill/ski-slope operation at Six Mile and Napier.

Holloway has been trying unsuccessfully since last fall to obtain permits for expansion of its sand and gravel and landfill operations in Salem Township. Both the township board and its planning commission denied the requests and Holloway has filed suit seeking to reverse the denials.

A third request for an asphalt plant at the rear of the parcel was also denied at the township level. However, on May 11, Circuit Court Judge Henry T. Conlin found that there is "a substantial likelihood that Holloway's request for an asphalt plant will ultimately prevail" in the lawsuit.

The judge granted Holloway's request for a temporary order allowing establishment of the asphalt plant during the "pendancy" of the lawsuit.

During that May hearing, Conlin said he "could find no substantial likelihood that Holloway would prevail in the mining suit" and so did not grant "relief" to the company in the manner of a temporary mining permit.

"There have been subsequent developments which caused me to file the request for summary judgment," Brennan explained.

The attorney added that he is basing this subsequent request on answers he received during the taking of depositions from three members of the Salem Township Planning Commission. Depositions were taken from Donald Riddering, chairperson of the commission, on April 28 and from commission secretary Norma Schmeman and commission member Susan Bejin on May 20, Brennan said.

"If we don't get the summary judgment," the attorney explained, "Holloway will have to haul all the gravel a considerable distance to the plant. That is costly and also will cause more truck traffic for area residents."

The attorney added that if the summary judgment is not forthcoming, he will be asking Conlin to advance the Holloway/Salem case on his docket so that it can be heard more quickly. He noted that no dates have been set for hearing of either the original suit or the summary judgment request.

In addition, Brennan said he now has "about eight hours" of recorded tapes from the Salem Planning Commission meetings during which the Holloway requests were discussed. Previously, a Holloway request to review the tapes had been refused by Schmeman on advice of Margaret Austin, township attorney.

DNR to review Salem landfill plan at meeting Friday

Holloway Sand and Gravel Company's request for an additional landfill in Salem Township will be the subject of a state commission meeting in Lansing June 24.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has slated a public meeting of its Resource Recovery Commission at 9 a.m. Friday, June 24 to discuss the landfill and nearby Salem Airport. The session will take place in conference room 1-B of the Olin Baker Building, 3500 North Logan, Lansing.

Elmore Eltzroth, geologist with the DNR, emphasized that, while the meeting is open to the public, it is not a public hearing.

"The commissioners will be reviewing the information concerning the Salem Airport and the impact the landfill proposal might have on it," Eltzroth explained. He added that there have been some revisions in the plan but they mean increased protection for the public and therefore do not require a public hearing.

Eltzroth was a member of the three-man DNR hearing team which held a public hearing on the Holloway landfill in Salem April 19. At that hearing, residents were given the opportunity for input on the landfill proposal which involves a 168-acre parcel lying adjacent on the west to the present Holloway landfill/ski-slope operation at Six Mile and Napier.

At that time, Eltzroth said the DNR director must make a decision on the Holloway request by June 18 or a permit would automatically be issued according to regulations. However, Eltzroth corrected that date, saying the director has until July 12 to take action, according to the statutory regulations.

Eltzroth reported that the Washtenaw County Department of Health has officially recommended approval of the landfill request. He added that the health department did not address the airport question in its considerations.

The Holloway expansion appears in Washtenaw County's short- and long-term solid waste disposal plan. According to Public Act 641, the county must have a solid waste plan approved by two-thirds (19) of the 28 municipalities within Washtenaw County by July 8.

The Salem Township board will consider the solid waste plan resolution at its July 5 meeting, according to Township Supervisor Floyd Taylor.

Jack Durbin, director of public works for Washtenaw County, said 18 units of government have approved the plan as of June 10.

In addition to the other questions concerning the landfill, Eltzroth noted another possible problem. "The situation now is that the access road (to the landfill) may change and that may make it more difficult to accept," he said.

Eltzroth explained that it is possible Holloway may have to alter the entrance to the expanded area so that trucks and equipment would enter from Six Mile instead of Napier, where they currently enter. If this happens, it might change the impact on the public and possibly cause a denial since a Six Mile Road entrance was not covered in the public hearing, Eltzroth said.

If the Holloway plan is denied, the company would have six months to file an amended plan, according to Eltzroth.

Dust-ridden backroads cause health, auto woes

"Pray for a touch of rain, and then a dry spell after (the application) for three or four days," he said. Consultations with weather forecasts were to precede final authorization of the treatments.

The Wayne County Road Commission is responsible for maintenance on roughly 10 miles of "major roads" in the township which are gravel. These include Five and Six Mile west of Sheldon.

The county used to treat more than 13 miles of major roads while splitting the cost with the township for another 13 miles of so-called local county roads. The local roads are actually the county's and the road commission receives all transportation tax revenue generated by them.

In recent years, the road commission transferred the full cost of local road treatment to the local governments and this year, Holinoty said, determined that another three miles of roadway was the township's rather than the county's responsibility. He cited West Main as an example of a road the commission used to call a major street and now says is a local road.

The changes have meant a steady increase in the township's cost for the treatments and a reduction in the service those living on gravel roads receive.

Leiko noted that with the township cost approaching $10,000 from the general fund, people living on paved roads also were paying the costs (through their property taxes).

Supervisor John MacDonald suggested that residents on gravel roads who wish to have additional chloride treatments beyond those the township affords might investigate paying for them by special assessment.

Meanwhile, a county commissioner charged the road commission has abandoned its responsibility to treat dust-clogged township roads.

Commissioner Milton Mack drove a resolution through the Public Works Committee of the county commission urging the road commission reinstate the practice of making at least one application of chloride at county expense (monetarily equivalent to making two applications sharing the cost with townships).

The county public information office reported the road commission had reduced spending on local road systems from $4.2 million in 1982 to $3.4 million in 1983 — an $800,000 reduction.

According to the public information office, the road commission admitted that its income from the Michigan Transportation Fund had not been reduced over the year, but maintained it is operating from a budget that is the same as last year's and will be the same next year.

Road Commissioners offered Mack a compromise position in which they would match funds with the townships up to a maximum $400,000 next year.

Further discussion had the road commissioners revealing the total cost of treatments last year was less than $400,000 (and borne by the townships) while admitting they, not the townships, are ultimately responsible for the condition of county local roads.

"If the road commission can spend an additional $400,000 on local roads next year, with the same budget, they can do it this year," Mack responded. "The road commission's claim of lacking funds just doesn't add up."

Local officials urge ending state's presidential primary

Local governments are joining in a movement to abolish the Michigan presidential primary and revise voter registration rules.

Both the township board and city council recently passed resolutions urging the state legislature to abolish Michigan's preferential presidential primary and to alter the "inactive voter" file rules.

Stating the primary is meaningless and expensive, township clerk Susan Heintz and city clerk Joan McAllister urged the governing bodies to support efforts to have it abolished. A major responsibility of municipal and township clerks under Michigan law is to conduct elections and maintain voter registration files.

Both Heintz and McAllister stressed the costs incurred by local government to comply with state requirements.

In doing so, they joined other local clerks across the state in opposing the presidential primary. Since Michigan's primary does not require voters to declare a party affiliation, it has been criticized as an inaccurate method of choosing candidates.

"It's nothing more than a popularity contest," McAllister said, noting that voter turnout for primaries has been low. "Maybe if it was earlier in the year, and not a preferential primary but a meaningful one, it would be worth it. I'd like to see people vote more in primaries, because that's when they have a real choice. But given the way our state is, I just think there are better uses for our time and money."

In 1980, Michigan Democrats opted out of primary participation and Republicans are expected to do so also in 1984. With neither major party using the primary to determine delegate selection to national conventions, the state primary would amount to little more than a poll.

Heintz placed the township cost of the presidential primary on a par with other elections at $3,000 to $4,000. Although the state repays the cost to local governments, Heintz recalled that it took over one year to receive reimbursement of costs following the 1980 primary.

The state has more recently refused to cover the full costs of special votes if the local government "piggybacks" a local issue on the same ballot.

Of greater concern to clerks, however, is the inactive voter file. When a voter moves or dies, they argue, it takes far too long to remove the name from the files.

If a registered voter does not vote for four years, a card is mailed to the listed address notifying the voter that the registration is about to be moved into the inactive file unless the clerk is contacted.

"These people are usually either dead or moved away," McAllister said. "In all the time I've been here, of all the notices I've sent, there were only two times somebody contacted me and said they didn't want their registration changed."

Lacking such a response, the name is moved to the inactive file, where, in the absence of documented cause for removal, it must be maintained for six years. If the voter returns to the polls at some time in those six years, McAllister said, the name is returned to the active file.

"All you have to do is vote and your registration stays active," she said.

Names may be removed from the list if the clerk has received an official notice from another jurisdiction, or the county, that the voter has registered there. The notice to the voter must still be mailed to the old address, however, as a confirmation step.

After six years on the inactive file, and yet another postcard notification to the voter, names are moved into still a third list of cancelled registrations. This list is kept another 10 years.

Heintz said the township has three and one-half file cabinets full of inactive and cancelled registrations. The active voter registration in Northville Township totals 8,700. There are over 8,000 names in the inactive and cancelled files, with slightly more cancelled than inactive registrations.

McAllister estimated 500 on the city's inactive file and "thousands" of closed registrations. Active registrations are estimated at 3,850.

Keeping the lists "takes a lot of work, a lot of man-hours and postage," McAllister said. "When I think of what it means to a little city like Northville, and then try to imagine what it must be like for a Detroit, or a Livonia or Dearborn, I think the time and money could be better spent elsewhere."

McAllister said she would prefer to see the law altered to eliminate the inactive file and move registrations directly from the active to the closed files after five years inactivity.

"If there is no vote in five years, which would include two presidential elections, I'd like to see them moved straight from active to closed," she said. "You'd still send a notice, and keep it for say, five or 10 years. You'd get rid of one postage cost and reduce the length of time they're kept."

The five-year's inactivity, she said, should be taken as evidence the voter has either died, moved or opted out of the political process. "That's two presidential elections, if they're going to vote, they're going to vote in one of them," she said.

Besides which, she added, it has become much easier to register to vote since it can be done at any secretary of state's office.

Our Opinions

Education quality study is well-timed

Northville Board of Education's decision last week to update the district's graduation requirements is appropriately timed. With the board currently studying the components of the feasibility study for the renovation of Northville High School, an examination of its curriculum is necessary.

An update of the high school graduation requirements has been in the planning stages since the board's decision to implement a six-hour day at the high school. The twofold purpose in mandating a full class schedule was to offer students a more varied curriculum as well as tighten the lid on the school's open campus policy.

Just as we supported the board's decision to require a six-hour day, we also concur with its recent approval to update the graduation requirements. The administration should be commended for making the requirement update a priority this past school year. It also is encouraging to note that the curriculum change is not etched in stone. The board's decision to continue a review of the district's curriculum will allow flexibility.

While the curriculum update coincides with the district's proposed renovation of the high school, it also follows on the heels of a report recently released by the National Commission on Excellence in Education. The commission's report, filed in early May, gave the nation's school districts little more than a passing grade.

The report revealed the deterioration of standards in our nation's schools and recommended a host of reforms to remedy the situation. Among the commission's recommendations were a required four years of English, three years of math, science and social studies and a half-year of computer science for all students. It also recommended two years of foreign language for the college-bound.

While the commission's study certainly is not a reflection of all schools, it is imperative that the public be aware of the findings in that report. What concerns us most is the commission's conclusion that education today does not surpass that of previous generations — and in some cases does not even come close.

We realize that Northville long has prided itself on its desire for high standards and understand that most students — particularly the college-bound — enroll in more than the minimum required classes. We believe it is essential that all students benefit from a challenging curriculum and hope the district continues to strive for excellence.

Deteriorating roads pose dust problems

One must sympathize with those residents of gravel roads in the township who are already subject to clouds of dust with every passing vehicle. Over the years, they had come to expect their roads would be treated to reduce the dust twice each year — and found that barely adequate.

Now, they are told they must settle for one such treatment, probably in mid-season, and tolerate abysmal conditions both in the early and later months. Poor roads are not only an inconvenience requiring incessant housecleaning; they extract a terrible toll on automobiles as well. For those with respiratory ailments, the clouds of dust are a genuine health hazard.

Yet, one must also sympathize with the township officials in whose laps all complaints land. With the county road commission curtailing its maintenance of the roadways (virtually all roads in the township are actually the county's) at an increasing cost to the township, they are unable to solve the problem without massive expenditures that would inevitably increase taxes and bring charges of empire-building. Ironically, as this issue was coming to a head in the township the county board of commissioners revealed the road commission — one of the more flagrant empire-builders anywhere — has sufficient money to provide a second dust treatment from its funds but will not do so.

This is hardly a surprise. There may be advantages for the township as part of Wayne County, but the road commission is most certainly not one of them. In fact, the spectacle of the road commission transferring its legitimate costs to other units of government has become so common that many observers simply shrug their shoulders at the latest example. It is one of the better reasons to support county executive William Lucas' efforts to bring the road commission under stricter control.

In the meantime, residents of the gravel roads may expect some short-term improvement of their situation. As the roads deteriorate later this summer, however, they would do well to direct their complaints to the road commission and other portions of county government rather than the township. In fact, they would do better to begin immediately, and keep it up until either the Wayne County Road Commission is brought to its senses or the roads are paved. Judging by past performance, we would be hard put to guess which would come first.

Lessons on star-shooting

There is something about graduation ceremonies which always seem to get to me. Maybe it's the eager anticipation reflected on the faces of those clad in caps and gowns or perhaps it's just the excitement of the whole affair.

Needless to say, last Friday's NHS commencement once again put me in a reflective mood. Tripping down nostalgia lane, I kept thinking about my own graduation from high school seven years ago. Though it seems like it was sometime back in the Dark Ages, I now realize it wasn't that long ago.

My high school graduation was very similar to the last three I have attended in Northville. In fact, the address given by the salutatorians and valedictorians even sounded familiar. There was much similarity in the speeches given by this year's valedictorians — and understandably so. All reflected on the times they shared together at Northville High School and what made their three years at NHS particularly special.

I remember the valedictorian and salutatorian of my graduating class delivering that same sort of speech. At that time, it was important for us to remember the best parts of our high school years. However, the one thing missing from my graduation — and what seems to be missing from most others — are some words of wisdom about what lies ahead for those closing the doors on 12 years of lunch boxes, book reports and gym lockers.

I think the best commencement address I have yet to hear was delivered at my younger sister's graduation two weeks ago. The student making the address was not the top in his class but was selected by faculty and students on the basis of his public speaking abilities.

His address was titled "Happiness" and carried with it a message which everyone should take to heart. The gist of his speech was as simplistic as its title — success only can be measured by the happiness it brings.

To often, we lose sight of happiness in our quest for success. As high school graduates, we are told to shoot for the stars. We believe that anything is attainable through hard work and determination. However, there is a price to be paid when one starts grabbing at the sky.

Like most of my high school classmates — and like most of Northville High School's Class of '83 — I headed for college three months after my graduation. Highly-motivated and over-anxious, I was ready to knock the world's socks off. However, after four years of blue book exams, keggers, all-night study sessions and campus hoopla, I changed my tune — or at least lowered it an octave.

My initial major of political science and international relations fell to the wayside when I finally decided to pursue what I really wanted to do. My decision to become a newspaper reporter certainly wasn't made on the basis of a hefty salary and corporate perks. I entered into the field because I wanted to write.

To the Class of '83, best wishes. When you're shooting for the stars, remember its acceptable to fall flat on your face every once in while. Chances are that you will learn more from your mistakes than from your achievements.

Most importantly, be happy.

Hot rod or heap, a car's a character

By ROLLY PETERSON
Executive Editor

BMX baby

Cars have personality. The first one, like one's first love, is always hard to forget. A Plymouth Fury, a hand-me-down from Lord knows where, my first car cost me all of $200. The body was in good shape, considering the vehicle's age. I suspect I got a deal because the color was deplorable — a musty grey. Who in his right mind would select such a vehicle out of the dealer showroom?

This was a spunky car with drunken characteristics. When pulling away from a stoplight or stopping for one, the car would lurch ahead or lurch to a stop, bobbing up and down. The shocks were shot and roadability was poor at best.

Spunky died early one morning. As I was motoring to school in Ann Arbor two years after his purchase, Spunky screamed in agony as the sound of metal against metal surged through him. He had thrown a rod.

Old Red wasn't much better. I inherited him from my dad. He was old when I got him and older when he died, with an insatiable appetite for gasoline and oil. I can still remember and feel those cold or hot, as the case might be, clear plastic seat covers in that brilliant white and red Mercury.

Old Red was traded for a slightly younger Ford Fairlane. Feeble was its name. It never had much spunk. It crawled away from stoplights and had to travel downhill to gather momentum.

Next came my foreign connection. First, a Volkswagen, then a Toyota, then a Datsun. Buggy was the name of the Volks. Besides being a used bug, it bugged me by breaking down at the most inconvenient times. The Toyota's name was Stall. If there was any moisture in the air, even a drop, that vehicle wouldn't start. Or it would flat-out stop on the expressway. The Datsun, like the other imports, gave me mileage and traveled miles down the road. But don't mention Dot to my wife. She hated every mile of it, claiming she felt every pebble on the expressway.

Now, I have graduated to two larger cars. Soft Blue is the Oldsmobile that my wife drives. A four-door, it is a hot rod in disguise with disgusting horsepower under her hood. Goldie may be a misnomer, but that's the name of my gentle stationwagon. She is long on rust and, I'm afraid, not long for this world.

Spunky, Old Red, Buggy, Soft Blue. They all have a place in my life. Who will be next?

Commencement proceedings a 'mess,' reader declares

To the Editor:
There we sat, in the loveliest setting for a graduation you could ask for, all green under a sunny, cloudless sky, everything in the Northville High stadium clean and neat and in order.

Then the ceremony began, and gracefulness, decorum, dignity—not to mention competence—left the arena.

Whoever organized that graduation couldn't organize a two-car funeral. The band played "Pomp and Circumstance" for a full five minutes before anyone told the graduates to start their ragged, overlong march around the field. Since there was no crowd control a large crowd of parents and friends met them as they turned in to their seats, embracing, chatting, taking pictures, wandering about.

When the ceremony started the graduates started their shenanigans—shouting at whoever was talking over the microphone, booing people they didn't like, setting off fireworks, bouncing beach balls back and forth. When Dr. Campbell tried to take away someone's beach ball, she was booed by doting relatives in the audience.

The awarding of diplomas took four times as long as it needed to, apparently so parents could get extra video footage and so that bored students could caterwaul, tap dance or bellow, each in his turn before the assembled multitude.

Two days earlier, we had watched 550 students graduate in a simple, dignified ceremony at another school. In Northville, it took two hours to graduate 320 youngsters in a ceremony bereft of dignity, decorum or managerial competence. A truly bush-league operation.

Are we alone, in Northville, in wanting to see a dignified graduation for our three remaining children? Is there no one else who wants the kids to behave at their graduation, and save the partying for afterwards? The party afterwards at the high school was a model of cooperation, hard work by parents and staff, and good fun. But the graduation was a mess.

Yours truly,
David and Carolyn Totten

Knighton criticized for 'poor judgment'

To the Editor:

Last Friday night I had the pleasant and also unpleasant experience of being present at the Northville High School graduation.

The pleasant part was being able to see 321 young people get the diplomas they have been striving for for many years. I wish good luck and happiness to all of them.

The unpleasant part can be attributed to the assistant superintendent of Northville Schools, Dr. Burton Knighton.

A young man was standing at the fence clearing waiting for his sister when she got her diploma. He had also cheered earlier for some of her friends.

Evidently, Dr. Knighton has never known the joy of having a member of his family graduate, or he has soon forgotten.

Not only did he embarrass this young man by getting the police after him, but he also ruined a happy night for his entire family and friends.

Since this young man did not use any profanity, I could not believe Dr. Knighton would show such little understanding for the spirit of the occasion.

Not only should we be ashamed that such a man has a job in our school system, but we should all apologize to the class of 1983 for an "adult" acting like this on their special night.

Also, I think the young man and his family deserve an apology from Dr. Knighton and the school board for the embarrassment and unhappiness that they endured as a result of Dr. Knighton's very poor judgement and bad temper.

Lets hope the future graduates of Northville High School and their families will not be subjected to the same humiliation as they reach this turning point in their life.

I hope Dr. Knighton has had ample time since Friday to think about what he has done to this family and realize how wrong he was.

A very disappointed,
Northville High School graduate

Trish Settles' name back on our honor roll

To the Editor:

Our daughter, Patricia Settles, is among the 102 honor students graduating from Northville High School this year. Also, she was one of the students who received a Certificate of Recognition from the Michigan Competitive Scholarship Program.

Trish's name was omitted from both lists in your article of June 15. We're very proud of her accomplishments and think she is deserving of recognition.

Thank you.
Maureen Settles

Editor's Note: The Record agrees and regrets the omission. Congratulations, Trish.

Seniors thank party planners for success

To the Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the parents who worked so hard on the party held for seniors last Friday at Northville High School. The parents planned for the party since January and it turned out to be a big success. When we look back on our high school year that night will certainly stand out because of the excellent job done. Thank you parents, we appreciate it.

Jaycees looking for new projects

The Northville Jaycees are asking the community for suggestions regarding civic projects which might be interested in having the organization's help in running or assisting them.

New president Gregory J. Dawson explains that, in the past, the Jaycees have run many civic projects, including the July 4th celebration, the Christmas Toys for Tots and the Easter Egg Hunt.

They also have been assisting senior citizens in their move into Allen Terrace and have participated in the Rouge River clean-up, among other special projects.

They are interested in any projects that would aid the Northville Community, Dawson says.

Suggestions should be sent to The Northville Jaycees, P.O. Box 241, Northville.

Law criticizes Blanchard's budget

By GERALD LAW
State Representative

Aid to education, as a percentage of the state general fund, will be at its lowest point in the past 10 years when Governor James Blanchard's new budget for the next fiscal year goes into effect.

When the Governor unveiled his budget for fiscal 1983-84 last month, much was made of the fact that public education, from K-12 through higher education, would receive up to 21 percent more under his plan.

But a closer look shows that while this year's education budget is 28 percent of the general fund, Blanchard intends to move this back to 26 percent. I think this reflects an attitude taken by the Governor and the Democrats in the Legislature that education is less important this year than it was last year, or certainly less significant than the 44 percent of the state budget which education received for the 1975-76 school year.

In 1975 the budget for social services was 39 percent of the state budget. This year it is receiving 35 percent and next year, the Democrats will raise that to 40 percent. Meanwhile, education was getting 44 percent of the budget in 1975 and this year 28 percent. Next year the Governor wants to reduce that further to 26 percent.

It is a trend that must be reversed, but it is difficult to do when teachers and educators ignore what the Governor is doing, or trying to do to our public education system.

Most Republican legislators are becoming more and more disenchanted with the Michigan Education Association and other special interest groups that are supposedly the watchdogs of education.

They will all tell you that the Governor's proposed budget is the best ever. What this new budget really represents is a vivid illustration that the state is unwilling to return education as a top priority in state government. In my opinion, the public and particularly the education community has been duped again by the Democrats who control every aspect of state government.

Republicans in the state legislature will continue to fight for education in Lansing, even though the majority party in the house and senate has made it clear to us all that education just isn't as important as it used to be.

Agency offers services

Senior citizens who are in need of services can be referred to agencies which provide help to the elderly at little or no charge. The Senior Citizen Information and Referral Network, funded by the Out-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging 1-C, is a free service provided to persons 60 years of age and older and is also available to spouses, children and neighbors of elderly persons in need of help.

Some of the areas of help which are available and to which the Network can make referrals are: home-delivered meals for the home-bound, health screening, personal care and homemaker service, minor home repair, small chore work, etc. Most of the agencies which provide these services do not usually charge for the service.

Local residents are invited to call the Network at 422-1052.

Double scissor beam roof construction gives Barnstormer restaurant room to hang a plane above diners

Barnstormer restaurant takes wing

By CINDY HOOGLASIAN

"There are very few things in life which you plan that actually turn out the way you expect them to," restaurateur Mary Ann Zander reflected, "but this has met and exceeded our expectations."

"This" is the impressive new Barnstormer restaurant, owned by Nicholas and Mary Ann Zander of Green Oak Township. The Barnstormer is a renovated 4½-story barn, located on M-36, just west of U.S.-23 in Green Oak.

It has taken eight years and thousands of man-hours to make the Barnstormer live up to the Zanders' expectations, but all the hard work and planning was worth it, Mary Ann said. The couple also credit the Green Oak Township Board for their help and cooperation in making a long-time dream become a reality.

If there's one thing the Barnstormer has in abundance, apart from ample seating, it's atmosphere.

Perhaps the most eye-catching "decoration" displayed in the Barnstormer is a 1946 Aircoque which is suspended from the "barn's" ceiling. With the engine removed, the airplane weighs 500 pounds, Mary Ann said. Children get a particular kick out of watching the functional propellers swirl around and the plane's lights operate.

The Aircoque is "piloted" by a moustachioed manikin—whose "brother" can be seen perched behind the wheel of a 1931 Alfa Romeo roadster, on display on the first-floor bar.

The plane was purchased from a medical doctor in Utah, disassembled and reconstructed within the Barnstormer, Mary Ann said.

The Alfa Romeo made its final road journey from Buffalo, New York to Green Oak Township so it could be admired by the throngs which "storm" the Barnstormer weekly.

Authenticity is of high priority in the Barnstormer, and to add just the right antique touches, the Zanders roamed throughout Michigan and the world, collecting rustic pieces for inclusion in the restaurant.

Six barns from this area were leveled so Zander could obtain an-lique barnwood to adorn the interior. Folks from Saline, Milford, Lyon Township, Hamburg and Washtenaw County can find bits and pieces of the barns from their communities on display at the Barnstormer.

Nicholas and Mary Ann Zander put eight years into project

"This restaurant is part of many people," Zander said. The crown-like light fixture hanging above the entryway came from the now-defunct Drawbridge Inn of Northville, Zander said. It's twin is located elsewhere in the restaurant. Also adorning the entrance is a 160-year-old Jewel glass window, made in England. A bit of Grosse Pointe is found in the spacious, 350-seat banquet room in the form of a back bar, dating from 1887.

Barnstormer offers dining on all three levels and there's even a game room to entertain the youngsters while Mom and Dad enjoy a few moments alone.

Area joblessness down

All but one of Michigan's 13 major labor market areas reported drops in their jobless rates during April, the MESC reported June 10.

The one that did not show a decrease, the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area (including all of Washtenaw County), remained stable, and already had the lowest unemployment rate in the state.

The release of labor force estimates for the state's major labor market areas follows the release of statewide data by several weeks. In May, MESC reported the April jobless rate was 15.5 percent, down from March's 17.0 percent rate.

The latest release breaks down statewide data into the 13 major market areas.

The Washtenaw County rate of 11.1 percent for both March and April was the lowest recorded in the state.

Highest unemployment continued to be in the 15-county Upper Peninsula, despite a March-April decline from 24.3 percent to 22.2 percent.

The largest decline was in the Flint area, where unemployment fell from 19.4 percent in March to "only" 17.2 percent in April.

Figures for March and April in the Detroit Wayne market area, including all of Wayne, Oakland, Livingston, Macomb, St. Clair and Lapeer counties, matched the statewide averages almost exactly. The area March figure was 17.1 percent falling to 15.4 percent in April.

"Employment climbed in all 13 labor market areas," MESC director S. Martin Taylor said. "Normally, some seasonal hiring begins and employment picks up statewide with the arrival of warmer weather in April. In fact, this year we had some significant job gains as almost every industry in the state reported increased hiring."

Along with the employment gains, each of the areas also had gains in their total labor forces as workers began entering the job market.

April unemployment figures for other labor market areas, with March statistics in parentheses:

• Battle Creek (Barry and Calhoun counties) — 15.3 percent (16.8); • Bay City (Bay County) — 17.8, (19.6); • Benton Harbor (Berrien County) — 17.3, (18.8); • Grand Rapids (Kent and Ottawa counties) — 12.4, (13.8); • Jackson (Jackson County) — 17.5, (18.8); • Kalamazoo-Portage (Kalamazoo, Van Buren counties) — 11.7, (12.8); • Lansing (Clinton, Eaton, Ingham and Ionia counties) — 11.2, (12.3); • Muskegon-Norton Shores-Muskegon Heights — 18.9, (20.9); • Saginaw (Saginaw County) — 15.5, (17.5).

SUBS-N-STUFF, Don Glander's newly opened restaurant in Wall Lake offers a different kind of submarine sandwich.

"There aren't any real sub shops in town. Most of those sandwiches called subs are just lunch meat sandwiches," said Glander, a 35-year-old resident of Wall Lake. "We blend the cheeses and meats in our subs so that when they are heated it all blends together for a great tasting sandwich."

Subs-n-Stuff has been open for about two weeks. It is open daily except Mondays.

Glander and his wife Nancy own the business on Pontiac Trail just west of Commerce Road.

Glander has been in the food business for over 20 years. He opened his shop so that he could have his own place. "I just got tired of working for other people. I wanted to work for myself," he said.

The eatery offers a full line of subs and sandwiches and will provide free delivery for orders over $10. "Everything is fresh. We even get special buns made every day," said Glander.

The business is open until 10 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday, until midnight on Friday and Saturday and until 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Henry Ford Hospital
PLYMOUTH CENTER
Physicians Services
For Children & Adults
Opening Fall 1983
and to be in the neighborhood

The facility is scheduled to open in early October, according to Roger Leavenworth, hospital spokesman.

The $300,000 building is expected to house 10 examination rooms plus x-ray and laboratory facilities. Leavenworth said the clinic will be offering primary care physician services.

Henry Ford Hospital plans to have three doctors at the 4,000 square foot facility. They will be practicing adult internal medicine, pediatrics and adolescent medicine and obstetrics and gynecology.

"There won't be emergency room facilities; however, we will be offering extended hours in the evening and on Saturdays," Leavenworth explained.

Henry Ford Hospital is building the Plymouth clinic as part of its program of offering medical services at suburban locations.

"All the demographics point to western Wayne County as one of the fastest growing, healthiest areas," Leavenworth said. The hospital already has clinics in Dearborn, West Bloomfield, Troy and two in Sterling Heights.

The Plymouth clinic designed by architect David Schaff is a 3,800-square foot single-story building in colonial style to blend with city architecture.

It is planned, the hospital said, to offer primary care physicians' services to residents of Plymouth, Northville and Canton.

Solar panels dominate upper wall

HANSON & STRECKER Energy System, Incorporated of South Lyon offers homeowners many methods of conserving costly energy. Owned by Andrew P. Hanson of Ann Arbor and John Strecker of South Lyon, the firm markets a wide line of energy-saving products and represents Universal Energy products based in Cheboygan. The firm also markets American Solar King solar collectors for hot water and an energy-saving inside window system that stops air infiltration called The Conservator.

Hanson and Strecker Energy Systems also market the Solarwall. Strecker is the president of the corporation and Hanson is the vice president.

"We're really pleased with how our first Solarwall system in the South Lyon area turned out," Hanson said. "It actually makes the home look more attractive and the owners will save a lot on their heating expenses."

The Solarwall system is at 919 Norchester in South Lyon, Strecker said. Because the sun takes a lower path across the sky in the winter months, the lower, slanting rays are collected by the Solarwall, Hanson said.

"The solar collectors are installed on the south-facing wall of the building, so the sun's winter rays shine directly in the collector to maximize solar gain," Hanson said.

"In the summertime, the Solarwall becomes less efficient for two simple reasons," Strecker explained. "One is that the sun is much higher in the sky, so many of the sun's rays bounce off the face of the collector. The second reason is a principle known as thermosiphoning. That's a fancy way of saying that heat rises in relation to the temperature of the air around it. On a cold day, a column of warm air rises very quickly. That same column of air, when surrounded by warm air, rises much more slowly. In addition, we turn off the fan that vents the warm air into the home."

Sales representatives will come to the home or business by appointment. Hanson & Strecker Energy Systems is located at 127 East Lake in South Lyon.

Preparation needed for career shift

If you're disenchanted with your job or where you live, you can always start over again with a different job or a different neighborhood. Starting over may not be easy, but others have taken the plunge found that shifting around has its own rewards.

It will take planning, and some shrewd evaluation of what you really want to do or where you really want to go, a realistic budget, and more than a little gumption, notes the Michigan Association of CPAs.

Although there are no reliable figures on how much money to spend, it's reasonable to say the more you have of each, the better off you'll be.

Planning should begin with evaluating your current net worth, CPAs suggest. Start by drawing up a personal financial statement, listing assets and liabilities. Once you subtract your total debts from the value of your savings and and property, you'll know your net worth.

That figure can be translated into how much you can afford to spend, and how much you may be able to borrow, if necessary, when you start over.

Next, set up a budget. How much would a move cost? How long can you subsist between jobs? How much must you spend on a new place to live, or to open the doors of a new business?

CPAs recommend asking trade associations for information about the costs of certain businesses. Chambers of commerce can usually give you useful information. Local banks and even moving companies are also reliable sources of information about a city and its economy.

Depending on circumstance, making plans for starting over can cut two ways, the CPA group said. The increasing number of two-income couples may discourage one spouse's planning because the other spouse may not be willing to sacrifice a good job to move.

However, two incomes can work in one spouse's favor. A psychologist recently traded his practice for a small medical services company. He says the decision to take on the business was easier because of back-up from a working spouse.

The expenses of putting a business on its feet absorbed some of their funds for leisure activities, he said. As part of the planning for the business, he closed credit card accounts.

Another couple who planned for years before leaving their old jobs and starting a business began by spending annual vacations visiting communities looking for a restaurant they could run in a town they would enjoy.

Before buying a restaurant, one spouse took correspondence courses in restaurant management while the other studied accounting at a community college. Buying the restaurant meant selling their home and borrowing on insurance policies.

Restaurant in a barn takes off in first week

Banquet facilities are ample, Mary Ann noted, with three rooms and a deck/balcony from which to choose. More than 50 parties have already been scheduled since the Barnstormer opened June 1. Mary Ann said the place is becoming a popular spot for non-traditional wedding ceremonies and receptions. One small room accommodates 45 people, while the Michigan Sportsman's loft can seat another 45 or so. The loft is complete with a grand piano and a collection of animal trophies. The Zanders say there is plenty of display space, and want their customers to contribute trophies, game or sports, for temporary display.

Equally as pleasing to the Zanders as the building's appearance is the quality of food, drink and service offered by the Barnstormer.

The staff of 72 was selected from 1,500 applicants, some from well-recognized and notable area restaurants. Most employees are from the immediate area, they said. Co-ordinating such a large staff, which Mary Ann likened to an All-Star team, presented a few problems during the opening weekend, when some 1,500 people "stormed" the Barnstormer. The Zanders were overwhelmed by the attendance, particularly since they had not advertised the restaurant's opening.

"We never expected this response," Mary Ann said. "A lot of people in the area have been watching and waiting for us to open, and I guess they just found out on their own."

"In the short time we have been open," Zander said, "this place has touched 20 people that I know of. Customers tell us stories about their adventures in this barn when they were children. We had one woman tell us that she was playing with matches here as a child and nearly burned the place down. Others remember square dancing here, or going to antique sales in the barn."

Offering a wide variety of food, the Barnstormer's house specialty is prime rib, served with horseradish sauce, Mary Ann explained. The dinner menu features a selection of appetizers, seafood and shell fish, pizza, Italian food, salads, sandwiches and favorite beef dishes. A children's menu is offered for those 10 and under. Entree prices range from $3.95 to $18.95. The latter is a dinner for two, the Barnstormer Sizzler Steak. Daily dinner specials are also featured.

At lunch, a soup and sandwich or soup and salad may appeal to many. Selections change daily. A selection of sandwiches ranging from $3.50 for a stacked corned beef to $7.95 for a steak sandwich are also available. Lunch specialties ranging from $2.95 to $8.95 are offered. Salads, pizza and a child's menu are also among the fare.

Hours are from 11 a.m. until 2 a.m. Tuesday through Friday; 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. until 8 p.m. Sunday. The Barnstormer is closed Mondays.

The Zanders said the emphasis at the Barnstormer is on family dining and a casual atmosphere. Weekend reservations are recommended, Mary Ann said. For further information or reservations call the Barnstormer at 449-2023.

Sears has Olympics forms

Ticket applications for the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics became available last week at Sears stores in the Detroit area, according to L.L. Trttenero, Detroit group manager.

Applications — one to a family or household — may be picked up at the customer convenience centers of Sears stores during regular business hours.

The application brochure includes a description of competitions, schedule of events, prices and instructions as well as order form.

"Sears is providing only the application forms for Olympic tickets," Trttenero explained. "The buyer must mail the application form with a check, money order or charge card number directly to the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee, which will send tickets in June of next year."

New guide shows area highlights

Putting more fun into your summer without a lot of travelling is easy according to the Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association. Simply order a copy of its new guidebook to the Southeast Michigan region entitled "Summerfun."

Hot off the presses, the new guide is a complete description of travel attractions and accommodations in the 11-county region and includes information about many things to see and do with the entire family.

While targeted toward vacation and recreation users, the guidebook also contains information useful to business traveler, tour groups and meeting planners, according to SMTTA president Sidney Baker.

Printed in four-color, the guide contains information on all sorts of activities, from festivals and fairs to special races, boating, camping, park areas, dining, cultural attractions, history and more.

To obtain a copy, visit the association office at 64 Park Street in Troy or pick it up at travel outlets throughout the state. Mail order including $1 for postage and handling may be sent to P.O. Box 1509, Troy, MI 48099.

Bicycle tour routes between hostels mapped

Bicyclists living in Michigan can begin a touring vacation literally at their doorsteps with the aid of hostels. Michigan has one of the nation's most extensive systems of hostels, 32 in all, located statewide. Now, they've been connected by a series of "Suggested Bicycle Routes."

Designed by American Youth Hostels, the routes have been selected for compatibility with bicycle travel. Except for an occasional quarter mile stretch of unavoidable gravel, all roads used are hard-surfaced.

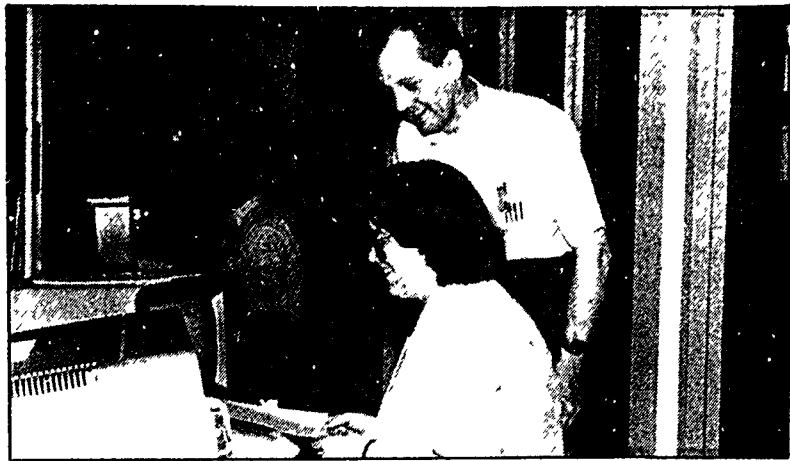

Heavily trafficked roads are also avoided whenever possible, allowing the bicycle tourist to enjoy the scenery rather than nervously concentrate on the rear view mirror.

The suggested routes also pass through small towns on a fairly regular basis, providing opportunities for rest and snack stops. Finally, they are designed to make best advantage of the state's abundant scenic resources.

The routes have been mapped so that each connects one of Michigan's hostels with another. The distances vary from under 40 miles to over 90. Most are in the 50 to 70 mile range. Each map indicates the hostels it connects and approximate distance between the two.

The sets of maps, called Bicyclists Overnight Bag, are now available at the Detroit Council of American Youth Hostels for $3 per set, plus $1 for tax and postage. Write the AYH office at 3024 Coolidge in Berkley, MI 48072 or call 545-0511 for more information.

GM workers in computer classes

Fifty General Motors employees at the Fisher Body-Livonia plant are learning about computers in a 12-week course at Madonna College. The students include the second-ranked plant employee and other salaried personnel.

Taught in two locations — the Fisher Body Plymouth Road facility and the college's computer laboratory — the class is an introduction to computers that alternates weekly between the sites.

"There was a need to make our employees comfortable with CRTs (cathode ray tubes) and help them find out what a computer can do," said Gene Brach, supervisor of employment, education and training.

"We already have some systems in place in the plant for material control, production, personnel record-keeping and payroll," Brach added. Some are in-house, others connect on-line to the Warren Tech Center.

A variety of hardware is used, with the prospect of acquiring another 50 computers in the near future.

the fairy godmother's secret is out!

Don't let that "magic wand" fool you! She's tried to make us believe that with a wave of that wand, she can turn pumpkins into carriages, mice into white horses and rags into white gowns. But we know she's just like the rest of us! When we want to turn a baby crib into cash... an older car into a new one... or change from sales clerk to doctor's receptionist... the only magic wand we hold in our hand is a telephone receiver and the only thing we wave is our index finger as we dial the Classified Department of our newspaper! It's like magic the way good things come true for us with the help of Want Ads. And besides, we have a strong feeling that's the way the fairy godmother makes all her magic, too!

Surprise for special teacher

Winchester Elementary teacher Diane Vanston was in for quite a surprise the Friday before school let out. Mrs. Vanston, who is expecting her first child at the end of July, was given a surprise shower by her first and second grade class. Among the gifts given to the expectant mother were a car seat, a booklet of advice written by her students, a corsage, bouquet of flowers and a blanket with her students' names sewn into squares (far right). The children also presented their teacher with a tape recording of the shower. A teacher at Winchester for seven years, Mrs. Vanston will be taking a one-year leave before returning to her teaching post.

Couple united in OLV ceremony

Lois J. Taylor, daughter of George and Joan Taylor of 902 Ely Court, exchanged marriage vows and rings with Calvin D. Davidson in a 5 p.m. ceremony May 20 at Our Lady of Victory Church.

The bridegroom is the son of John and Pat Davidson of Big Rapids.

Father John O'Callaghan officiated at the service.

The bride's gown of Chantilly lace designed by Alfred Angelo was fashioned with a high neckline with a double ruffle of lace encircling the shoulders to form a deep yoke. Lace ruffles also edged the long sleeves, and tiers of lace formed the skirt which cascaded into a semi-cathedral train. A floral wreath held her illusion veil.

The bride carried an old-fashioned bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath edged with lace and tied with pink and white satin streamers.

Karen Leavy, a friend of the bride, was honor maid in a pink gown. She carried a matching colonial bouquet.

Jesse Davidson was best man for his brother. Ushers were another brother Joe Davidson and a cousin Gary Thebo.

A dinner reception for 75 guests followed at Botsford Inn in Farmington Hills. Guests attended from Florida and Northern Michigan.

After a late June wedding trip to North Canada, the newlyweds are making their home in Plymouth.

Lonnn-Pauley speak vows May 7

Lynne J. Pauley, daughter of James and Ilene Pauley of Ladywood Drive, became the bride of Victor John Lonn, son of Victor and Betty Lonn of Opoplo, May 7 at First United Methodist Church.

The double ring ceremony was officiated by the Reverend Guenther Branstner. Vocalist Donald Gallop, Sr., sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Longer" and was accompanied by Donald Gallop Jr.

The bride wore a white chiffon over taffeta gown with re-embroidered Alencon lace edging the fitted bodice, illusion neckline and Cathedral train. Her crown headpiece was a duplicate of the one worn by her mother.

The bridegroom's brother-in-law Robert Annette was best man. Ushers were the bride's brother-in-law Richard Ciaramitaro, Frank Feger, Brent Ashby, Frand DePina, James French and Tim Kabel. The bridegroom's nephew Rodney Harper was ringbearer.

Her bouquet was fashioned after the flowers carried by the Princess of Wales at her wedding.

The bride's sister Cathy Ciaramitaro served as matron of honor and wore a lavender voile waltz-length gown and carried a lavender and pink nosegay.

Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister Judy Annette, Colleen Feger, Cindy Ashby, Sherrie Burk and the bride's cousins Karen Manzella and Jennifer Pauley. The attendants wore pink voile waltz-length gowns fashioned after the matron-of-honor's and each carried a pink and lavender nosegay.

The bride's niece Tracie Ciaramitaro was flower girl.

A reception for 250 guests was held at Madonna College immediately following the ceremony. Out-of-state guests came from Florida, Illinois and Massachusetts.

The bride is a 1979 Northville High School graduate and was graduated from University of Michigan in dental hygiene in 1982. She is employed at the office of Dr. N. Green in Southfield.

The bridegroom is a 1976 Northville High School graduate and attends Schoolcraft College. He is employed at Valeron Corporation in Troy.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the newlyweds returned to Northville where they will make their home.

Special Olympics honors students

She's boosting cruise to aid institute

By JEAN DAY

When the Bob-Lo boat departs on the second International Moonlight Cruise on the Detroit River at 8:30 p.m. this Friday night, among the passengers will be Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cuolahan of Northville. Rigmor Cuolahan is hoping other local residents will plan to join them on the cruise featuring the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra. Sponsored by the International Institute, the cruise is the kick-off event of the Windsor-Detroit International Freedom Festival.

Mrs. Cuolahan, who moved to 1148 Concord in Northville two years ago, has been involved at the International Institute for 15 years and currently is serving on its board of directors. A native of Norway, she remembers attending an Old World Market years ago — and volunteering to help the institute which provides services to new immigrants, including English and citizenship classes.

She's enthusiastic about the Bob-Lo cruise which aids the institute. As supporters of the institute board the chartered boat, the Sons of Ukraine will be playing international music on the dock at 7:30 p.m. The cruise with dancing to the Big Band Dorsey sound will last from 8:30-11:30 p.m. Tickets are available in advance at $14.75 at CTC outlets, Hudson stores and the International Institute located at 111 East Kirby at John R. They'll also be sold at the dock June 24 for $15.75.

The wedding present's in newlyweds' hands

Thanks to Ginny Burnham, a newly wed couple had a missing wedding present returned. Mrs. Burnham called The Record last week to report that she had been following a car decorated with tissue flowers and tin cans in typical wedding fashion when she saw a package fall off the back.

Apparently, the newlyweds had intended to place it in the car but had forgotten in the excitement. She rescued the silver-wrapped present with card addressed to "Cindy and Len" and followed a trail of tissue flowers along Nine Mile to Halstead before losing it.

Her story in last week's Record was noticed by a friend of the couple, who called the bridegroom. A Novi resident of Country Cousins Mobile Home Park, he appreciatively retrieved the present last week. The Gallaghers — Cindy and Len — had thought they left the present at their reception at White House Manor. They had returned there twice, hoping to recover the gift — which had been from his boss.

Gwen Marburger takes over presidency

After a flower sale last month to raise funds for two student grants-in-aid, the Life Member Group of Northville Mothers' Club elected officers for the coming year. Gwen Marburger assumed the presidency from Jeanne Ambler. Naomi Atchinson is secretary, and Terry Secord treasurer.

At the honors program at Northville High School June 9 the club presented the grant awards of $600 each to Karen Golen and Patricia Mills. The club, which meets only three to four times a year, raises the scholarship funds with the plant sale and a fall auction. Members are women who previously had been members of Northville Mothers' Club for at least 10 years.

Date for the auction benefit was set for October 10. Guests will be invited.

Cruising

Northville resident Rigmor Cuolahan and Co-commander David Hwang will welcome guests aboard the Bob-lo cruise sponsored by the International Institute this Friday. Mrs. Cuolahan is a board member at the institute.

It's especially because families come to us during their most difficult times that we feel our responsibility so deeply. We've formed some very close friendships here and after being a part of this community for so many years, our commitment to its people is stronger than ever.

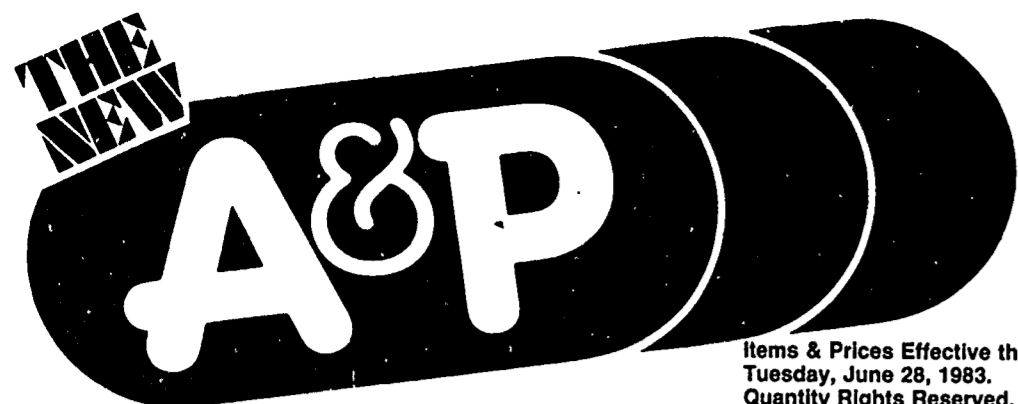

Just as our own families know they can count on the support and friendship of our neighbors, we're proud that families here know they can feel confident in the services we provide.

The Northville Record

Timmberrr! All-area squad packs lumber

This year's All-Area baseball team would make an excellent cast for a "Walking Tall, 1983" movie. The 1983 Sliger-Livingston East All-Area baseball team is stacked with big hitters after big hitter. These guys carried some big sticks in leading their teams this season. The combined team records in league play of the players on the All-Area first team for this past season was 41-14.

Leading the way is Lakeland's Jim St. John. The senior batted .446 for the year, cracked seven home runs and had a team record 33 RBI. He was superb behind the plate at cutting down runners attempting to steal.

"Jim is the best catcher we've ever had, no doubt about it," stated Lakeland Coach Jerry Ganzel.

St. John also led the team in runs with 29 and stolen bases with nine. He is the catcher on the 1983 All-Kensington Valley Conference team. St. John batted .529 in league play.

Holding down the corners on the infield are first baseman Chuck Swartz of Milford and Walled Lake Western's Mitch Panczyk at third.

Panczyk batted .448 with a team record 35 hits. The senior smashed five home runs, one triple, seven doubles and collected 27 RBI.

"If I had to pick any batter to hit with runners on base, I wouldn't hesitate to go with Mitch," said WLW Coach Chuck Apap.

Panczyk is on the All-Oakland County team and the All-Region 12 first team as selected by the coaches. He is a certain All-Western Lakes Activities Association pick.

Swartz, a senior, batted .343 for Milford. He led the Redskins in RBI with 18. An All-KVC first team selection this year, Swartz scored 10 runs and drew 10 walks.

The All-Area's double-play combination of Dom Izzo and Mike Bulgarelli would make any team envious.

Izzo, a senior, played second base for Lakeland this season. Izzo batted .420 and scored 21 runs for the high-powered Eagle offense. He also took part in 14 double plays in KVC action.

Walled Lake Western's Bulgarelli is the All-Area shortstop. The senior batted an even .500, with 30 hits in 60 at bats.

Bulgarelli had 10 RBI, scored 10 runs and stole 12 bases during the season. He had an on-base percentage of .600.

The first team's outfield has three "Sultans of Swat."

Milford's Scott Goodpaster leads the way with a .424 average. Th senior had seven stolen bases, scored nine runs and had 10 RBI. He also was a perfect six for six executing sacrifice bunts.

Joining Goodpaster is Lakeland's Steve Stokes. Stokes did not make an error in the outfield this past season. He batted .360, .423 in KVC play. Stokes knocked in nine runs for the Eagles.

Rounding out the trio is Novi's Tim Bunker. The senior had some impressive numbers at the plate. He batted .357, had 20 RBI, and stole 12 bases. He also collected 20 walks in 1983.

All three outfielders are All-KVC first team selections.

While this is a team of hitters, the first team's two pitchers had outstanding seasons.

Sophomore Dan Gabriele of Walled Lake Western had an 8-1 record. He pitched six complete games and mowed down a team record 102 batters. Gabriele's ERA was 1.98 as he set five school records for pitching.

Gabriele was voted the "Outstanding Pitcher" at the 16-team George Gary Tournament. In keeping with the rest of the first team, he also batted .316 for the season.

Lakeland's Doug Woods was a perfect 6-0 in KVC action in leading the Eagles to the KVC title. The senior had a 2.40 ERA.

"Doug threw real well for us in the league," said Ganzel.

4 Mustangs on 2nd unit

Mustang coach Fred Holdsworth said it a couple weeks ago: "How we got where we did without anybody on the all-league team I sure don't know."

It's really a backhanded tribute to the balance of the Mustang baseball squad. While no one made the first team Sliger-Livingston All Area baseball team, Northville boasts four players on the second team.

ANDY DIMITROFF was an easy choice at outfield. The senior, recipient of the "Athlete of the Year" award at Northville High School, also pitched, caught and played infield for the Mustangs, while terrorizing opponents at the plate.

Dimitroff packed a .420 batting average, getting on base 33 times this season. He led the team with 21 hits and 16 RBI. Dimitroff made second team all-area last year at the catching slot, hitting .396 in 1982.

At catcher on the second team is TODD BARTLING, a .357 hitter who collected 20 hits this year. He led the 1982 squad with 16 RBI while packing a .317 batting average. Blessed with a rocket arm and good hands behind the plate, Bartling also saw duty at DH this season.

the nod at the second team pitching slot. Named to the second-team all-division squad, Thomson finished the regular season with a 5-2 mark. Overall, he allowed just 28 hits and 20 earned runs in his appearances this year.

Rounding out the second-teamers from Northville was second baseman MICKEY NEWMAN, who had two homers among his 18 hits this season. A junior, Newman hit .310 for the year, with six doubles and 12 runs.

Given honorable mention status was junior JERRY PAWLOWSKI, who came on strong late in the season with timely hitting. Pawlowski's bat was hottest when the Mustangs needed it most, rapping out crucial hits in the district playoffs.

Junior DOUG DOYLE, a hard-throwing lefthander with a sharp sinking curve who was 4-0 before a sore arm prevented him from finishing the year, was also named to the honorable mention squad.

Andy D. awarded "Athlete of Year"

By B.J. MARTIN

Not too many people were surprised that Andy Dimitroff was awarded Northville High School's "Athlete of the Year" honors last week.

Andy's record speaks for itself. Last football season — his third on the varsity — he rushed for 947 yards in 147 carries at halfback while doubling at middle linebacker, where he recorded 47 first hits and 25 assists.

This spring he capped his high school sports career by leading the Mustang baseball team to within one game of the Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division championship, hitting .420 at the plate and amassing an impressive bunch of statistics testifying to his speed and power on offense.

His third varsity baseball season proved to be his best. Andy knocked in 16 RBI to lead the team, while scoring 13 runs with 21 hits. Called upon to catch, pitch, play infield and outfield and DH, Andy continually came through. He was the biggest reason for the dramatic reversal of the Mustang ball team this year.

He was no slouch as a junior, either. On the 1982 Mustang squad, Andy hit .396 with one home run.

"He had an outstanding season," remarked coach Fred Holdsworth. "He was probably our best ballplayer. If you want to talk talent, he's got it."

But it was news to Andy he received the award. Like many of his senior classmates, his invitation to the NHS awards banquet arrived at his house late.

"Yeah, we got it in the mail a day after the banquet," he said this week. Nonetheless, the award plaque, bronze on wood, eventually made it to Andy.

At 5'10", 180 pounds, he's solid as a marble statue, but still possesses quickness, agility and an ability to accelerate rapidly.

Courted by Central Michigan University, Western and Eastern Michigan also, Andy settled on Grand Valley State College this fall.

"(Central, Western and Eastern) all wanted me to go out for football as a walk-on," he shrugged. "They'd only give me a scholarship if I made the team, and then that would be next year."

He opted for Grand Valley State when the college offered him a partial scholarship for football, covering half his tuition, that could be increased depending on his success at the sport following the fall season. A former teammate, lineman Vince Candela is currently enrolled at the college.

Andy will take a crack at both the football and baseball teams while undertaking a business major.

For the past few years, he has excelled on various Northville summer recreation baseball teams. Several of his teammates will be knocking the ball around in Connie Mack leagues this summer, but with the financial pressures of college hanging over him, Andy will sit out the summer baseball season to work at a plant in Detroit.

Northville's Stephens paces Cardinal golf

Northville native Bob Stephens and Kevin Klemet of Novi recently completed their third seasons with the Saginaw Valley State College golf team.

Stephens, a business major, closed out his season with a four-round 301 performance at the NAIA national tournament. He was low man for the Cardinals at the tourney held June 7-10 at Woodhaven Country Club, Fort Worth, Texas.

"Bob was probably our most consistent performer," observed golf coach Bob Becker. "He started the season as our number two man and finished as our number one man. He gave us a successful performance at the nationals."

Klemet, also a business major, shot a 311 to finish his season.

The Cardinals placed 13th in the tournament with a team score of 1215. Cameron University, Oklahoma, won the national championships with a score of 1141.

"We had a good year, but I'm very disappointed we didn't finish higher in the nationals," Becker said.

Mack 9 sweeps 4

Rebounding from two losses opening week, the Northville Connie Mack (age 17-18) baseball squad posted four wins last week to boost its season mark to 4-2.

On Tuesday, Todd Bartling led Northville to a 9-4 win over Hartland by driving in five runs with a double and home run. Mickey Newman also homered in the contest, while Bob Pegrum added two hits.

Northville knocked off previously undefeated Westland 5-4 the following Thursday. Newman won the game with a long homer as Bob Pegrum picked up the victory with six solid innings on the mound.

Northville capped the week by sweeping a doubleheader against Wayne Saturday. Altogether, Northville put together 30 hits throughout the twinbill.

Dave Longridge led the way in the 14-8 opener with four hits and two RBI. Todd Bartling and Jeff Metz each collected three hits and three RBI. Chipping in with two hits were Steve Schrader, Steve Frellick and Newman.

In the second game, Frellick smacked two doubles and a single to drive in five runs in the 11-7 win. Todd Deal, Bartling and Dave Longridge each collected two hits.

The key blow came in the sixth inning when Newman snapped a 7-7 deadlock by driving in Longridge with the winning run. Frellick followed with a bases-loaded double for the three insurance runs.

'Gold' team splits

Northville's Gold Mickey Mantle (age 15-16) baseball team stayed at the .500 mark on the season with a win and a loss last week, falling to Southgate 7-2 on Thursday and topping North Farmington 7-6 Saturday.

Todd Knickerbocker's record fell to 1-1 with Thursday's loss. Dave Kehoe and Chris Woodman came through with back-to-back RBI hits in the first inning for Northville's only scoring.

Mark Olsen broke a 6-6 tie in the seventh inning in Saturday's game with the game-winning run off a North Farmington error.

Jeff Gorman's two-run single in the sixth inning gave Northville a 6-2 lead going into the bottom of the sixth. But a four-run North Farmington rally tied the score.

The 2-2 Gold team will host Allen Park at Cass Benton Park, off Edward Hines Drive just south of Seven Mile Road tomorrow (Thursday) at 6:30 p.m.

Gans named Mustangs' top female athlete

By B.J. MARTIN

"I don't have time to sit around and watch sports," said Jenny Gans when asked why she's such a terrible sports quiz contestant. "I don't like being a spectator. I'd rather get out and play something."

The Northville High School senior had been awarded Northville's "Athlete of the Year" honor last week and was sitting at Cloverdale's downtown sipping on an iced tea for a brief interview. She discussed her life with sports, past and present, but mostly she seemed restless, anxious to get on with the future.

As to the past, Jenny's life has been interwoven with athletics more by fate than by will. The daughter of Schoolcraft College athletic director Dr. Marvin Gans, she was interested in sports as far back as she can remember.

"Dad was very good about not pressuring me about sports," she said. "He introduced me to them, sure, but it was always up to me whether to get involved." Add to that the fact Jenny's mother is a gym teacher and two older brothers Russ and Derek, who were both good athletes, and one can see why Jenny and athletics have been and will be inseparable for a long while.

"Dad used to take me to watch them at swim meets," Jenny recalled, "and I'd always be asking him, 'Can I do that, too?'"

Well, she did. Jenny began swimming and playing basketball in junior high, and her desire to compete in a number of sports mushroomed. In her sophomore year, she made the varsity soccer team and was most valuable player of both the junior varsity basketball and volleyball teams, acting as captain of the latter.

The next year, she played at the varsity level in all three sports, earning all-league honors in volleyball. In her senior year, she repeated as a three-letter winner, and was named most valuable player on the volleyball team. On each of those teams she developed a reputation as the spunky one. She'd boost or rip her teammates, argue with a coach, keep the chatter flowing and usually seemed to be acknowledged as a spokesperson for each team.

That's in keeping with Jenny's outgoing personality. Named "Spirit Queen" during the basketball season for her activities to boost team spirit, she also seems to be around, mostly as a leader, for all kinds of activities. This year she chaired the "Super-Dance" for MD between Novi and Northville — an event that raised $18,000.

She is also active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, an interdenominational group, and on fund-raising drives right now to bankroll a trip to Sweden with her summer soccer team, the Flip Rowdies.

"By the way, we're now selling plastic garbage bags to raise money," she said. "You might mention that."

Jenny added she was "excited" about the prospect of traveling to Sweden after the Rowdies had played host to a team of visiting Swedes last year. "We're going to get a group rate and stay with some of the families of the players who came over here," she said.

What now for Jenny? She has the blueprint in her mind. After finding she had applied too late in the year for West Point (not so unusual, considering the number of different activities she has had on her mind), she was accepted at Central Michigan University. She plans to play on CMU's soccer club team — preferably not at goalie, where she spent most of this season.

"I prefer playing halfback or fullback," she said. "In the goal, there's a feeling of helplessness when you see someone on offense or defense miss a play they should have had. If you're out there, you're there to make the play yourself."

Boostered by an excellent defense this season, Gans teamed with Leigh Ann Spaman in goal to register one of the most impressive goals-against averages anywhere in the state. The Mustangs allowed only 15 goals all season long.

The Central field hockey coach has also been in touch with Jenny, and the idea of trying the sport appeals to her. "I think I might give it a try," she said.

Jenny plans to transfer to West Point for its academic discipline, which, she thinks, will improve her studies. She is a National Merit semifinalist.

What does she want to do when she grows up? "I'm interested in coaching," she said. "At Central, I'm going to study sports medicine."

Yes, but eventually? "I want to be an athletic director," she said with a smile.

Ex-Red Wing Unger featured at Inkster Arena hockey clinic

Registrations are still being accepted for the Gary Unger Summer Hockey and Conditioning School, scheduled for August 15-20 and 22-27 at the Inkster Civic Arena.

Sessions are scheduled for Mite through Midget divisions.

Unger, an "iron man" of hockey (914 consecutive NHL games) has played with Detroit and is currently with the Edmonton Oilers team. He will be on the ice for all sessions. Guest instructors and a fine "core staff" will provide a fun learning experience. For further information, contact the Arena (located near Michigan Ave. and Inkster Road) at 562-0130.

Will Mustangs switch to KVC?

Northville High School may switch athletic league affiliation beginning with the 1984-1985 school year, if recent developments in the Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) are any indication.

Northville currently is a member of the Western Lakes Athletic Association (WLAA), a 10-team league of high schools from Farmington, Livonia, Plymouth, Walled Lake and Northville.

The KVC now comprises Milford and Milford Lakeland, Brighton, Novi, South Lyon, Howell, Brighton, Hartland and Pinckney. But directors of Pinckney High School recently received notice their application to the Southeastern Conference (SEC) to request membership had been accepted by principals of the league's high schools.

Pinckney, a charter member of the KVC, had sought its league switch in order to compete against smaller schools, and should its change to the SEC be approved by its school board, an opening would exist in the KVC.

Northville wants to fill that opening. "We have a standing letter of inquiry," commented Northville Athletic Director Ralph Redmond, who submitted the letter last fall. "If there is to be a vacancy, I would recommend to the school board we apply for it."

"The school sizes (in the KVC) we'd fit into a lot better," he added last week. "Our enrollment is a little smaller than the other schools in the WLAA. Not that our kids aren't doing a very competitive job, but these are all big Class A schools."

"Look at Plymouth. Their schools have 2,800 or so students, Livonia, 2,400. . . We have only about 1,000, or a whopping 1,300 with the ninth graders."

The KVC is currently made up of three Class B schools and five Class A. Pinckney has taken some lumps in league results, but overall, the league has had a fairly good balance, with Milford Lakeland dominating most sports throughout the year.

Redmond said a drawback to the league change would be increased transportation costs. Most of the WLAA teams are located close by, while Howell, Brighton and Milford are considerably less handy.

Should Pinckney make the move, and should KVC teams want to maintain an eight-team league ("Eight teams is obviously the best size for us," said Huron Valley Schools Athletic Director Bruce Gilbert), Northville would need approval of a majority of the league's high school principals to go ahead with the new alignment.

Gilbert said a number of factors would influence principals regarding Northville's application of acceptance. "We won't let in anyone that comes along," he said. "In our activities league Northville would have to have common interests in other things, (for example) bands, cheerleading and other issues."

"What will happen if Pinckney goes, I expect, will be that people from Northville will make a presentation of their offer and (KVC school representatives) will get together to talk about that," he added.

Gilbert recently said he was disappointed and surprised at Pinckney's departure. "My own reaction is I hope they're happy," he said. "But I think they have shown they can compete (in the KVC) if they want to. . . This was just beginning to be a good league. I hate to see them pull out. I wish they would have given it more time."

According to Brighton Area Schools Athletic Director Duke Williams, the KVC has received no inquiries for joining the league since Northville's last fall.

10-km, fun run planned July 4

The Walled Lake Jaycees and Miller Beer will sponsor a July 4 10-kilometer (6.2-mile) run around the perimeter of Walled Lake, with a two-mile "fun run" immediately following.

The race will begin and end at Mercer Beach on East Lake Drive, with the course winding around the lake along Walled Lake, East Lake and West Lake drives and down Pontiac Trail. Starting time is 10 a.m.

Contestants must register for the run (entry fee: $6) by Saturday, July 2. For information on how to register, call 669-4133.

Cheers!
